May Day...

Annual Senior Center fund-raiser is Saturday

It's time again for the May Day celebration, Scurry County Senior Center's annual fund-raiser.

Entertainment, food and an opportunity to purchase hand-crafted items are highlights of the event, held throughout the afternoon and early evening Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum.

Activities begin at 2 o'clock, when the arts and crafts booth opens with a large assortment of hand-crafted items. Other booths will feature home-baked goods.

Local merchants have donated a variety of items which can be purchased in a silent auction that goes on all afternoon.

In addition, various entertainment groups will be singing and foot stomping throughout the day. Scheduled to perform are the Hoss Clayton Band, the Sparkle City Liners, the Deep Creek Cloggers and the Kitchen Band.

There's no charge for admission.

A barbecue dinner, with brisket cooked by the Mobil Cooking Team, will be served from 4:30 until 6 o'clock. Tickets are $5 a plate and can be purchased at the dinner.

The auction begins at 6:30, giving May Day goers the opportunity to buy hand-crafted quilts, afghans, dolls and baby quilts.

Grady and Molly Morris will serve as auctioneers.

All funds raised through May Day go to support the Senior Center.

SWCD presents conservation awards

An area farmer, rancher and educator were honored Thursday night as the Upper Colorado Soil & Water Conservation District held its annual awards banquet.

The district also recognized winners of its poster and essay contests and had a couple of special presentations.

Jon Derouen, a cotton producer who farms in southeast Scurry County, was the district's Conservation Farmer for the year. The award was presented by board member Ted Crenwelge in the absence of last year's recipients, Weldon and Eicke Perry.

Conservation Rancher was Brent Murphy, who raises cattle in southeast Borden County near Lake J.B. Thomas. The award was presented by last year's recipient, Joe Canon.

Conservation Educator was Joyce Lionberger, third grade teacher with Hermleigh ISD. Presenting the award was last year's recipient, Kay Echols.

A special presentation was made in memory of the late Leon Sterling, who was a director on the Upper Colorado SWCD board for 22 years.

Essay award winners, both from Borden County ISD, were Lindsey Smith, first place, and Micah Hensley, second.

Poster winners in the urban division were Northeast Elementary students Jacy Beccue, first; Nicky Alvarez, second; and Jerrica Gutierrez, third.

Selected as top poster winners in the rural division were Hermleigh students Mike Barrera, first; Jeffery Bilbrey, second; and Kelvin Doggett, third.

Von Roeder Seed Farms received the outstanding sponsor award, accepted by Max von Roeder. His father, Nolan von Roeder, was instrumental in getting the conservation district formed in the early 1940s and was a charter member.

Board member Max Jones gave the welcome and chairman Jimmy McMillan made the introductions and gave the invocation. Other board members are Crenwelge, John Anderson and Myron Calley. Becky Robinson is clerk for the district.

Trustee elections are Saturday

Scurry County citizens go to the polls Saturday to decide who will be their voice in matters pertaining to the education of their children, and in some cases, themselves.

At stake are four trustee positions: two on the Snyder ISD board and one each on the Ira ISD board and Western Texas College board.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. There are two voting locations — City Hall for the WTC and Snyder ISD elections and Ira Community Center for the Ira ISD election.

Citizens voting in the Ira ISD election and junior college district election will have to go to both locations.

Voters must have a valid voter registration card and reside within the boundaries of the particular public school or college district in which they wish to cast a ballot.

Candidates for Place 4 in the election for Western Texas College board are incumbent Dr. Jay Kidd, the current board president, and Dr. James Hanks, a local chiropractor. Carolyn Barbee is uncontested for Place 5.

Snyder ISD will be filling two at-large positions. Seeking seats on the board are incumbent Luann Burleson, TDCJ Lt. Danny Bass and Windham School District deputy regional director Bill Moss.

At Ira, Place 7 incumbent Doug White is being challenged by Ira Pump & Supply general manager Carl Smith. Place 6 incumbent Keith Clements is unopposed.

Early voting concluded Tuesday with 93 ballots cast in the WTC election, 82 in the Snyder ISD election and 23 in the Ira ISD election.

Hermleigh ISD and Snyder City Council waived elections this year because they had no contested candidates.

City council OKs ordinance pertaining to delinquent billing

Snyder City Council met for less than an hour Thursday afternoon and approved the second reading of two ordinances, including one that shortens the time customers have to pay delinquent bills.

"It's an effort to keep the city from writing off some $20,000 in bad debt in our utility department," Mayor David Holt said of the ordinance.

The new city edict shortens the time for delinquent payment of utility bills from 45 days to approximately 28.

Notice of delinquent utility bills will now be mailed to a customer within 20 days of the due date and the city will give a customer a minimum of seven days written notice of its intent to discontinue service due to non-payment.

Previously, the notice went out 10 days following the second month's billing.

WTC honors grads in courtyard tonight

Western Texas College will hold graduation ceremonies at 7:30 this evening in the central courtyard, followed by a reception in the Student Center.

The student address — "Choices, Challenges and Champions" — will be presented by sophomores Chelci Beaird, Celestine Akinyi Otuoro and Jennifer Shuttlesworth.

Dr. David Kattes, Faculty Association president, will offer the faculty response.

Degrees and certificates will be awarded by college vice president Bettie McQueen and the president of the board of trustees, Dr. Jay Kidd.

Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, will give the introductions, a special recognition and opening and closing remarks.

Snyder students receiving an associate in arts degree include Judy Diami Bartels, Tina Arun Bhakta, Carmen Clement, Julie J. Clinkinbeard, Andrea Claire Corkran, Patricia Diana Dennis, Vanessa Michelle Early, Melissa Diane Garvin and Jason Greene.

Area students receiving an associate in arts degree include Jeraldene "Deana" Azlin, Mitzie Elaine Cribbs and Mark Allen Miles, all of Colorado City; Leslie Paige Burelsmith, Tatum, N.M.; Lance Adam Gaillard, Texhoma, Okla; Jarett J. Granich, Los Alamos, N.M.; Patrick L. Hancock and Cody Springer, Aspermont; and Shana McCoy Hrbacek and Carmen C. Zarate, Sweetwater.

Also, Sahala A. McCloy, Morse; Celestine Akinyi Otuoro, Kisumu, Kenya; Charla Ann Rains, Hermleigh; and Jennifer Lynn Shuttlesworth, Lubbock.

Also, Ricky Lynn Partain, Panhandle; Wade Micah Robertson, Ballinger; Otis Gary Shepherd III, Lubbock; Curtis Southerland, Electra; Michael Wade Turner, Mineral Wells; Dena Williams and Fluvanna.

Receiving certificates in technology are Heath Bankston of Mason, Eva Franco Barrera of Colorado City, Junichi Kikkawa of Japan and Josefina Espinoza, Mary E. Hagins and Connie Z. Martinez of Snyder.

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, said a Brownie troop recently visited a nursing home.

When one of the young girls returned home, she was giving her mother all the details. "I saw a 103-year-old woman and a man who was 104."

Amazed, the mother asked show she knew their ages.

The girl replied in a tone that implied that the answer should have been obvious:

"Mom, it was on their doors."

Doctors remove heart tumor, re-implant heart

HOUSTON (AP) — For maybe the first time anywhere, doctors say, a human heart has been removed, rebuilt and successfully reimplanted.

Guy Altmann, 20, of Covington, La., is recuperating in Methodist Hospital following a six-hour operation Monday in which his heart had to come out so doctors could remove a malignant tumor inside it.

Altmann, an electrical engineering major at Texas A&M, knew the risks of the surgery but also knew he would die without it, said his mother, Teresa Keyser.

Her son read all he could about the subject and "makes sure the doctors and nurses know what they're doing," she said Thursday.

She would not let reporters into his hospital room because of his weakened condition.

Dr. Michael J. Reardon, chief of heart and chest surgery at Methodist and Baylor College of Medicine, said Altmann may be able to leave the hospital next week to recover at a facility near his hometown.

"He has youth and determination going for him," Reardon said. But he cautioned that it may be two months before he regains full strength.

Altmann's heart was stopped with chemicals, removed and put into a bucket of ice and water, where the tumor was cut away.

The damaged valve was then replaced by one made of swine tissue, and the damaged wall of the chamber, where the tumor had been attached, was rebuilt using tissue from a cow's pericardium — the sac that contains the heart.

Animal tissue, chemically treated to prevent rejection by the patient's immune system, is routinely used in heart surgery.

A "sizable part" of the atrial wall was damaged and removed, but its coronary arteries were kept and were shown by biopsy to be cancer-free, Reardon said.

The doctors said that to the best of their knowledge, all cancerous tissue was removed.

The rare "autotransplant" was performed by a team from Methodist and Baylor. The actual procedure was done by Reardon, chief of heart and chest surgery for the two institutions, and Dr. John C. Baldwin, their chief of surgery.

Also taking part were cardiologist Dr. Clement De Felice and anesthesiologist Dr. Roy Sheinbaum.

Ms. Keyser said her son underwent surgery in Louisiana to remove a tumor from his shoulder before the one on his heart was detected. Doctors now believe the cancer originated in Altmann's heart and spread to his shoulder, Reardon said.

Part of the heart tumor was removed in August at Touro Infirmary in New Orleans, but the doctors there understood that it would grow back, the Houston Chronicle reported.

In early March, De Felice said, Altmann suffered a stroke after a small piece of the tumor broke off and lodged in his brain. For a time, he could not move an arm and a leg.

The danger of further strokes and eventual heart failure made total removal imperative because this type of tumor responds poorly to chemotherapy and radiology, Reardon said.

A videotape of an ultrasound image taken before the surgery showed the lemon-size tumor, called a fibrous histiocytoma, bouncing up and down with each heartbeat inside Altmann's heart.

Baldwin said the operation combined several of Methodist's and Baylor's special skills, including heart transplantation, cardiology, the construction of artificial valves and tissue replacement.

James McDougal's death ruled natural

DALLAS (AP) — Imprisoned Whitewater figure James B. McDougal had an abnormal amount of the antidepressant drug Prozac in his system, but he died last month of natural causes, a medical examiner said Thursday.

McDougal, who had been ill for years, was in solitary confinement in Fort Worth, Texas, when he died March 8. Tarrant County Medical Examiner Nizam Peerwani ruled the death was from sudden cardiac failure.

"In our opinion, there is no indication of foul play, no indication of poisons," Peerwani said Thursday. "We are pretty confident that he died of natural causes."

But the medical examiner said McDougal's Prozac dosage in prison had been about three times the usual amount of 20 milligrams daily.

"Anything above therapeutic levels is toxic, when a patient begins exhibiting symptoms," said Peerwani. "But Prozac is considered a safe drug and this was not in the lethal range."

He said he did not know McDougal's psychiatric history and could not explain why the prison and medical staff administered such a large dosage to treat his depression.

But the Federal Bureau of Prisons said McDougal was advised on his prescription, which was proper.

"The level of Prozac that was prescribed was within his medical needs and the amount of medication that he was on did not contribute to his death," said Daniel R. Dunne, prison bureau spokesman in Washington.

"My understanding is that it is a normal level, especially if you have someone that has requested to be on medication," he said.

Sue Beasley, a Federal Medical Center spokeswoman, declined to comment.

Toxicological tests ordered on McDougal's blood and a histological examination of his tissue took more than a month, said Peerwani.

"We were studying all different types of possible causes; we looked for heavy metal poisons and that took some time," he said.

McDougal, a former friend and business partner of Clinton's, was in an isolated jail cell in the Federal Medical Center on Fort Worth's south side when he collapsed.

The executor of his Arkansas estate said that, because conspiracy theories about the high-profile prisoner's death had been expected, the autopsy results were a comfort.

"Jim had so many, many multiple problems that his life was very tenuous," said Claudia Riley of Arkadelphia. "He had talked about this from time to time. So I don't think we can be surprised — regretful, but not surprised.

"We should be grateful of what they are saying — that there was nothing extremely amiss," she said.

McDougal, 57, had been on other medications for a variety of health problems, including a heart ailment and the high blood pressure.

He was serving a three-year prison sentence for conspiracy to defraud the government. Fellow Whitewater figure Susan McDougal is his ex-wife.

"I hope that he has found a peaceful passage," Ms. Riley said.

Ira to host UIL contests

Ira will be hosting the zone elementary and junior high literary meet Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

The meet will start at 1 p.m. with contests getting underway at 1:30 each day and continuing until about 7 o'clock.

Classes will be dismissed at 1 p.m., and the buses will run five minutes after the final bell.

Ira students will have next Friday off because teachers will have an in-service day.

Anyone wishing to donate baked goods for the hospitality room is asked to contact Tammy Shirley.

Youths arrested

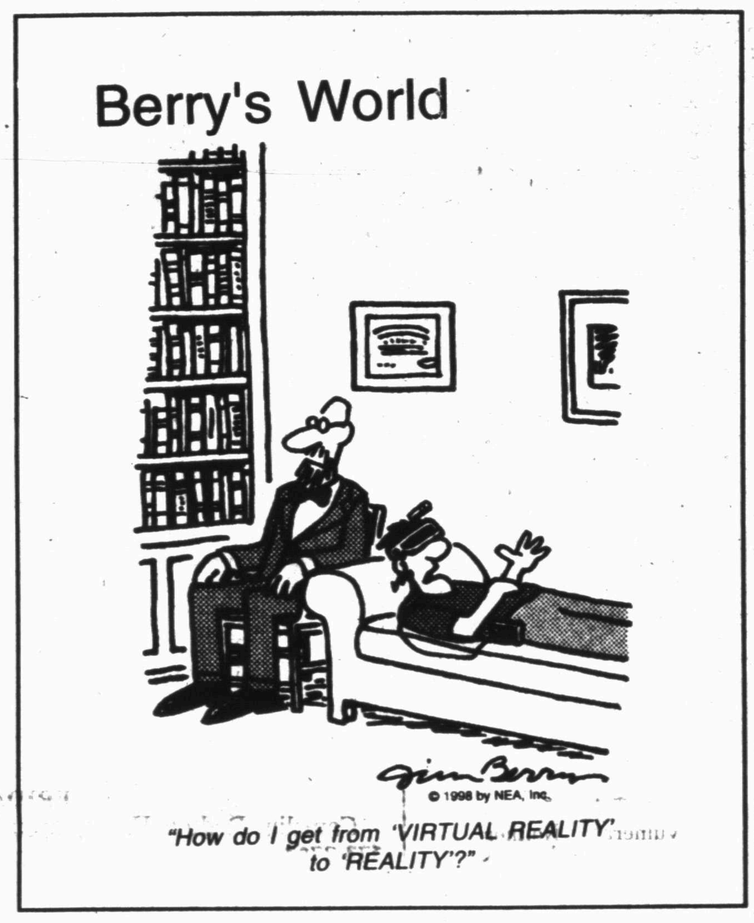

DEPOE BAY, Ore. (AP) — Three teen-agers were arrested after they allegedly fired shots at a school bus carrying six students. No one was injured.

Shots were fired from a nearby wooded area as the bus dropped students off after school Thursday, police said. Windows in the bus were broken in the gunfire.

Three people were seen running from the scene. Two 16-year-olds and a 14-year-old, all of Depoe Bay on the Oregon coast, were arrested an hour later and taken to the Lincoln County Juvenile Detention Facility.

Authorities did not say what the motive was for the shooting. One of the teens was a regular rider on the bus, police said.

Coverage of suicide provokes debate, apology

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The camera didn't blink as Daniel V. Jones stopped on the freeway overpass, unfurled a banner, waved a gun, set fire to himself and then put a bullet in his head.

Viewers, on the other hand, were horrified by the live images and furious at television stations that failed to cut away as Jones killed himself Thursday.

"It's part of the unfortunate danger of live television," KCBS news director Larry Peret said. "When you have a guy with a shotgun in the back of his pickup and the freeway closed, that's a news story."

Cameras were trained on Jones, 40, for nearly an hour as he sat in the truck sipping from a can and petting a dog on the seat next to him. He got out of the truck at least twice to unfurl the banner, which read: "HMO's are in it for the money. Live free, love safe or die."

Rush hour traffic was backed up for miles on several of the area's busiest freeways.

The man leaped from his truck when it burst into flames, leaving the dog behind. He pulled off his burning clothes, went to the edge of the overpass as if to jump, then backed off, picked up a shotgun and shot himself.

Some TV stations airing the scene live were unable to edit the graphic action, though KCBS cut to a wide-angle shot as Jones appeared about to jump.

"We did not anticipate this man's actions in time to cut away, and we deeply regret that any of our viewers saw this tragedy on our air," KNBC said in a statement. The KNBC feed was shown nationally by the MSNBC cable news channel.

KTLA and KTTV had interrupted children's programming to cover the incident.

KTLA asked viewers for "their understanding" for the upsetting and distressing images that can be broadcast in live news coverage. The station said it wouldn't replay the incident.

An unidentified receptionist at KCAL-TV quoted in today's Los Angeles Times said the station received at least 120 calls during the incident, most asking the station to cut away.

Researchers look for anthrax antidote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Researchers are moving closer to finding drugs to disarm anthrax and make the deadly bacteria useless as a weapon.

In a study published today in the journal Science, researchers report they have discovered how anthrax toxin destroys cells and rapidly causes death. This puts science closer to finding an antitoxin, or inhibitor drug, that would block the deadly work of the bacteria, said Dr. George F. Vande Woude of the National Cancer Institute.

"An inhibitor drug would make anthrax as a weapon as useful as a water pistol," said Vande Woude, a co-author of the study in Science.

Experts consider anthrax-based biological weapons to be major threats to military personnel and civilians. Bioterrorism weapons using anthrax or other bacteria are easier to make and distribute than nuclear weapons, and anthrax bombs are a major concern of U.N. weapons inspectors working in Iraq.

Attorney General Janet Reno and FBI Director Louis J. Freeh warned Congress last week that U.S. civilian targets are vulnerable to biological terrorism. Some in Congress have said classified studies suggest such an attack on American civilians could occur within a decade.

The military is inoculating all of its troops against anthrax, using a vaccine that would prevent infection from the disease. However, the vaccine is not 100 percent effective and most civilians do not receive these shots.

Anthrax is a rapid and highly effective killer. When it infects, the bacteria produces a toxin, or poison, that attacks cells.

"The only treatment now for anthrax is to give massive, massive amounts of antibiotics," said Nicholas S. Duesbery of the cancer institute. "You have to give it almost immediately after exposure. If you give it 24 hours later, it is too late. Your patient is dead."

Anthrax toxin consists of three proteins, and early research showed that one of the proteins, called lethal factor, or LF, was the major cause of cell death. But what science didn't know until now is how LF killed the cells.

Vande Woude, Duesbery and their colleagues found that LF disrupts a signaling system in cells called the MAP-Kinase-Kinase (MAP-K-K) pathway. When this system is blocked, said Duesbery, a cell "is cut off from the world." Its metabolism shuts down and it can no longer divide. The toxin also causes the massive release of an inflammation protein and destruction of immune system cells called macrophages.

The result, said Duesbery, is rapid shock and death. In laboratory experiments, he said, "rats are quite dead within just 40 minutes" when injected with anthrax toxin.

Col. Arthur M. Friedlander, an Army anthrax researcher, said the discovery is significant in understanding how anthrax kills, but he cautioned that it may take more than a single antitoxin to disarm the disease.

Your Birthday

Saturday, May 2, 1998

Advancement in your chosen field of endeavor is a strong probability in the year ahead. If this occurs, your remuneration will be in proportion to your contributions, the size of which will be up to you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strides can be made today where your career is concerned, but be realistic regarding your level of expectation. Don't let your desire extend beyond your reach. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you might have second thoughts regarding a hastily agreed-upon arrangement. If you feel there are inequities, try to correct them now.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In any commercial transaction in which you participate today, be careful the price isn't raised or the terms altered after the deal is set.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Partnership arrangements must be handled with both intelligence and tact today. If there isn't a union of purpose, the measures taken could be counterproductive.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Little of value will be accomplished today if your ego impels you to defend your mistakes instead of facing and correcting them. Play it smart and own up to them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not a good day to play favorites. Friends may be a trifle more sensitive than usual. Anyone you neglect isn't likely to forget the slight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your present objectives can be gratified today without resorting to tactics you wouldn't be proud to tell associates you used.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If a clever friend gives you a good idea today, try to utilize it in the manner in which it is outlined. If you make alterations, it could lessen its effectiveness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be careful of financial involvements today in which you are required to make a greater investment than the other participants. If it starts off wrong, it could end up wrong.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There's a possibility you might misinterpret the motives of someone today who goes out of his/her way to be cooperative. Be sure your suspicions have a sound basis.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's not a wise policy to gossip with co-workers today. Something a superior told you in confidence might be accidentally revealed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be reasonably safe today in taking chances on things you've carefully thought through. However, if you exceed a calculated risk you might be asking for trouble.

Watch those entries

What did Oscar Wilde say when, upon entering the Customs Hall in New York, he was asked, "Do you have anything to declare?"

Apart from keeping track of losers and tricks, you must watch your entries. This is especially true against tough defenders in today's deal. You are in four hearts. West leads the spade queen. How many losers do you have? What is your line of play?

Over West's takeout double, if North had a normal two-no-trump response, he would have redoubled. So, his two no-trump can be used to show a limit raise in partner's suit: 10-12 support points and four-plus trumps. (Some use two no-trump as showing a limit raise or more. Others use a three-no-trump response as showing a game-forcing raise. An immediate jump raise of one heart to three hearts over West's double is pre-emptive: a weak hand with four trumps.)

You have four losers: one in each suit. And if you play a trump immediately, you should lose those tricks. Somehow, you must avoid that spade loser. One option is to lead a diamond to dummy's jack, hoping West has both the king and queen. But it is much better to build up a discard in clubs. However, a veteran West will duck the first round of clubs, winning the second only when dummy will be out of the suit. So, you must win trick one in the dummy. Then play a club to drive out West's ace. When you win the second spade trick, you are in hand, able to discard dummy's spade loser on your third club. Now lead a trump. In a moment, you will ruff your spade loser in the dummy.

Oscar Wilde replied, "I have nothing to declare except my genius."

To Keep Your Comfort Up And Your Energy Costs Down, You Need Three Things.
(Four If You Count The Super Handyman.)

When it comes to around-the-house projects, expert fixer-upper Al Carrell is used to doling out advice on his nationally syndicated show. And when asked about replacing older heating and air conditioning equipment, you'll find he has some definite opinions.

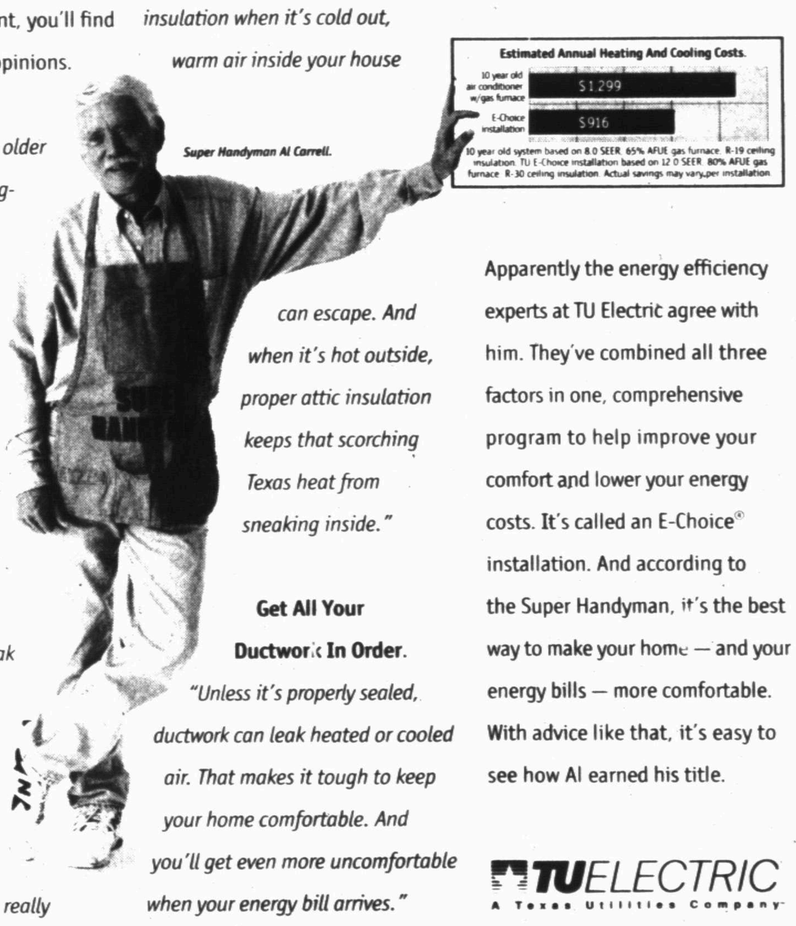

"If you're replacing an older system, look at the long-term solution. This is one time you don't want a quick fix," he will tell you with a knowing smile.

Put Aging Equipment Out To Pasture.
"Actually, for your heating and cooling system to run at its peak efficiency, your equipment should have a SEER (Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio) of at least 12.0. That can really help cut costs. But new equipment alone won't cut it."

The Importance Of Being Insulated.
"If you don't have enough attic insulation when it's cold out, warm air inside your house can escape. And when it's hot outside, proper attic insulation keeps that scorching Texas heat from sneaking inside."

Get All Your Ductwork In Order.
"Unless it's properly sealed, ductwork can leak heated or cooled air. That makes it tough to keep your home comfortable. And you'll get even more uncomfortable when your energy bill arrives."

He Who Hesitates. . .
"Don't wait until your equipment goes out to deal with your heating and cooling system. Find a dealer who believes in the three factor philosophy."

Apparently the energy efficiency experts at TU Electric agree with him. They've combined all three factors in one, comprehensive program to help improve your comfort and lower your energy costs. It's called an E-Choice® installation. And according to the Super Handyman, it's the best way to make your home — and your energy bills — more comfortable. With advice like that, it's easy to see how Al earned his title.

Tigers look to turn the tables on 'Dogs

After almost five weeks and a total of 27 games, District 2-4A still remains without a baseball title holder.

The Snyder Tigers will try to put an end to that tonight when they host Plainview at 7:30 at Moffett Field.

Snyder, 7-2 in district play and 22-5 overall, enter the contest tied atop the standings with Frenship, with Levelland lurking only one game back at 6-3.

While the Tigers will be battling the Bulldogs, Frenship hosts 0-9 Lamesa and Levelland visits Estacado. Wins by Snyder and Frenship would force the two squads to meet Tuesday to decide the top seed out of 2-4A.

However, a victory by Levelland combined with losses from Snyder and Frenship would force a three-way log jam for first place at 7-3.

In that situation, two squads (determined by coinflip) would match-up Monday night with the winner facing the remaining ballclub Tuesday for the top spot.

Added into the mix of tonight's contest is the revenge factor.

Snyder fell to Plainview, 8-4, back on April 14 when the Bulldogs only had three wins on their record.

Snyder ace Clay Berryman, unavailable in the last meeting due to pitching 19 innings the week before, will be on the hill tonight for the Tigers.

Snyder is fresh off a 5-1 win over Estacado on Tuesday, while Plainview's only victories after topping the Tigers have come against last-place Lamesa.

Detroit ends Texas' winning streak

DETROIT (AP) — Despite finishing the month with a win, Detroit was happy to see April end.

Brian Moehler pitched a six-hitter and Damion Easley drove in four runs as the Tigers beat Texas 7-2 Thursday, stopping the Rangers' five-game winning streak. The Tigers, 5-18 in April, won for just the third time in 16 games.

"I think all of us are glad this month's over," Detroit manager Buddy Bell said. "But Mo's pitched pretty well his last three starts, and today the offense picked us up and we had a good day in the field We keep expecting to go on some kind of roll. Hopefully we can do that now."

The Rangers, meanwhile, went 18-7 in April, setting a club record for wins in the month. They also scored 180 runs, a major league record for April.

"We had been scoring a lot of runs," said Will Clark, "but you'll run into days like today where either you hit the ball right at people or you get a very well-pitched game against you, and that's exactly what happened today."

Moehler (2-2) struck out six and walked two in his third career complete game in 39 starts. Five of the hits came in the second, when Clark hit a solo homer, his fourth.

"Mo was pretty much in command all day long," Bell said. "He took advantage of the strike zone and changed speeds very well."

It was Detroit's first complete game since Scott Sanders pitched a one-hitter against Texas last Sept. 9.

"In the bullpen warming up I didn't feel good at all," Moehler said. "If you'd told me then I was going to throw a complete game, I would've said you were crazy."

Easley had three of Detroit's 14 hits, including a three-run homer and an RBI single. His six home runs and 13 RBIs lead the Tigers.

"I just hope we can string some wins together now," Easley said. "We just need to play well consistently."

Bobby Witt (3-1) failed to last five innings for the first time this season, allowing seven runs and 11 hits in four-plus innings.

Witt, whose ERA rose to 6.60, also allowed seven runs last Saturday against Kansas City.

Easley's homer, the Tigers' first three-run shot this season, followed Joe Randa's first-inning single and Bobby Higginson's walk and just cleared the fence in right-center.

Clark's third homer in four games started a two-run, four-hit second. Bill Haselman added an RBI single, and Texas loaded the bases with one out before Mark McLemore grounded into a double play.

WTC pair in first place at Tarleton

STEPHENVILLE — After the first performance of the Tarleton State University College Rodeo, Western Texas College had two wranglers in first place.

Westerner Chad Maynard was first in the bareback riding with 79 points while Kyle Bowers was sitting third in the same event with 64 points.

In goat tying, WTC's Tona Wright was leading the field with a time of 8.6 while Paige Burelsmith was fourth, being clocked at 10.1.

In calf roping, Ryan Rickles was timed in 11.8 for a second place in the standings. Joe Ross Jameson, with a time of 12.9, was in fourth place.

In breakaway roping, Paige Burelsmith was in second with a time of 3.1 while Shelly York was seventh in the standings with a time of 4.6.

As the final rodeo of the regular season continues today and Saturday, WTC will be attempt to assure itself a berth in the national finals rodeo to be held June 16-20 in Rapid City, S.D.

Going into the Tarleton rodeo, WTC women were in first place in the team standings and the men were in second place.

Sports Briefs

Lions Club tourney

Snyder Lions Club Golf Scramble will be held Saturday at Western Texas College. Tee times are 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

SCC scramble and MGA

A members' scramble is held each Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at Snyder Country Club. Tuesday's prize has been carried over for three weeks. At 5:30 p.m. each Thursday, the Men's Golf Association has a 9-hole event. The Thursday format varies.

The weekly Tuesday play day will begin at 9:30. Format will be low net foursome — back nine. A luncheon and business meeting will follow play.

Softball sign-ups

The final sign-up meeting for men's and women's softball leagues will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Snyder Lanes. All team managers need to be in attendance.

For more information call Chris Maxfield at 573-6862 (daytime) or 573-4332 (evening).

SHS to face Ft. Stockton

Without a District 2-4A softball schedule, the Lady Tigers have in a sense played 31 warm-up games.

The contest they've been warming up for comes tonight when Snyder battles Ft. Stockton in the area round of the playoffs at 7 p.m. at Bill Williams Complex in Midland.

The Lady Tigers carry a 16-15 record into the ballgame, while the Prowlers are 13-12 after topping El Paso Riverside in its bi-district match-up.

Tascosa coach to replace Tasker

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — Amarillo Tascosa High School basketball coach Russell Gilmore sounded like a coach about to make a move.

And it's probably to Hobbs.

He would not confirm a report Thursday night that he has been offered the head coaching job at Hobbs High School, but he didn't deny it either.

Facing boycott, Springer show will cut out violence

CHICAGO (AP) — On the next Jerry Springer: Peace, love and happiness?

Under pressure from community activists who called "The Jerry Springer Show" a pornographic slugfest, the show's producer-distributor announced Thursday that it "will eliminate all physical violence from the series."

That means no more of the fistfights and shoving matches that became a daily ritual and, some say, helped propel the show to the top of the daytime talk-show heap.

The agreement came a week after Fox Broadcasting Co.'s Chicago station picked up the show when the local NBC affiliate dropped it because of its increasingly tawdry content.

But along with show, Fox's WFLD also inherited a boycott led by the Rev. Michael Pfleger, an activist Roman Catholic priest who decried the "nudity, the degradation of women, the obscenity" depicted on the show.

Pfleger said his boycott succeeded in getting at least two big advertisers to abandon Springer's show on NBC's WMAQ-TV, and WFLD management faced a similar threat.

The no-violence agreement also follows allegations by former guests who said they were coached and the fights staged.

Real or not, Pfleger said the fights had no place on TV.

"It's a wake-up call for television," he said after meeting for 2½ hours with Springer executives and WFLD. "This kind of trash television has got to go."

Studios USA Network, the show's producer and distributor, declined to comment beyond a brief statement: "Studios USA and WFLD met today with members of Chicago's religious community to discuss concerns regarding 'The Jerry Springer Show.' Studios USA confirmed that it will eliminate all physical violence from the series."

Laurie Fried, a spokeswoman for the show, said Springer was traveling and unavailable for comment. WFLD, which plans to begin airing the show in Chicago on June 8, had no comment.

Pfleger said producers also agreed to edit out fights in shows that have already been filmed but not aired.

In its early years, the 7-year-old show actually focused on talk, and violence "was kind of the dessert," Ryan said. "Now it's the whole meat of the show."

Ryan predicted the show's ratings will drop with the violence gone, and said the producers "are going to have to be very, very creative in coming up with topics that are titillating."

Pfleger said that while the violence was his main concern, he also urged the producers to clean up the rest of the show.

"They believe that when this (violent) element stops, the others will stop with it," Pfleger said. "I think we will see a different show."

Newsmagazines slate interviews with stars

NEW YORK (AP) — It doesn't take much imagination to figure which network newsmagazines are interviewing the departing stars of which network's comedies in the next two weeks.

CBS "60 Minutes" correspondent Mike Wallace profiles "Murphy Brown" star Candice Bergen on Sunday night. Her sitcom airs its final episode on CBS on May 18.

Next week, Diane Sawyer of ABC's "PrimeTime Live" will interview Ellen DeGeneres, who is angry that ABC canceled her show. The final "Ellen" airs May 13. And Katie Couric interviews Jerry Seinfeld on "Dateline NBC" on May 12, two nights before NBC airs the final two-hour "Seinfeld."

News divisions argued Thursday that interviews of their networks' stars are newsworthy. Critics said the arrangement blurred the line between news and entertainment and raises the question of whether news shows are being used as promotional forums.

All of the interviews and final shows air during a "sweeps" period when television ratings are monitored closely to set advertising rates.

"This is undermining the credibility of all TV news. People are beginning to see the news as an entertainment medium instead of an information medium," said Danny Schechter, author of "The More You Watch, the Less You Know," a book about television news.

Business pressures are overriding journalistic considerations, he said.

Sawyer interviewed DeGeneres on "PrimeTime Live" last year when the comedian came out as a lesbian, but this week's interview is likely to be more contentious. DeGeneres complained that ABC canceled "Ellen" because of unhappiness over gay-themed story lines. Sawyer will also interview ABC President Robert Iger.

ABC News would probably be more vulnerable to criticism if it did not cover the story about "Ellen," news division spokeswoman Eileen Murphy said.

"We think Ellen is a news story and I don't think anyone would argue with us," she said. "Frankly, there are a lot of people at this network who would prefer that we would not do it."

"60 Minutes" talks to Bergen because "it's a good story," executive producer Don Hewitt said. "We should have done it a long time ago."

Hewitt said he wasn't aware that it was a sweeps month. "60 Minutes" was criticized in February, also a sweeps month, for running a piece on religious content of television shows that focused on CBS's own "Touched By an Angel."

Man rejected for bank loan, kills one

CARMEL, Ind. (AP) — Penny Schmidt was just doing her job when she told a man his loan application had been rejected.

She even went a step further: As the man left the KeyBank branch in this affluent Indianapolis suburb and headed out into the morning rain Thursday, she followed to offer him an umbrella.

Antione Whitehead went back into the bank and gunned her down, shot three other workers and took an undisclosed amount of money, police said.

A manhunt ended about six hours later when Whitehead, crouched in a tree top two blocks from the bank, shot himself to death as police moved in.

"The victim that was killed was not giving any sort of trouble to this man," Carmel Police Chief Michael Fogerty said of Schmidt, a 32-year-old branch manager. "She wasn't being argumentative. From what I've seen, he came up and executed her."

The shooting was followed less than an hour later by a bank holdup a few miles away in Indianapolis. A suspect in that robbery was critically injured after he was shot by police.

The FBI said the two robberies apparently were unconnected.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Sonia Leerkamp said the surviving victims of the KeyBank shooting believed Whitehead had applied for a loan Wednesday.

Shortly after the KeyBank opened for business Thursday, Schmidt told Whitehead, 19, his application had been denied and he walked out. She started after him with an umbrella but before she got there, he turned around, walked back into the bank and opened fire.

"It almost appeared the money was an afterthought," Leerkamp said.

One of the three other victims, Janice Guffey, 52, of Noblesville, was shot in the neck and hand and was in critical condition. The others were in fair condition.

Police set up roadblocks and began searching the woods near the bank, using dogs and an infrared camera from a TV news helicopter. Three schools nearby locked their doors, allowing no one in or out.

They stumbled upon Whitehead after an officer bent down under a tree to pick something up and another officer spotted Whitehead in the branches.

After police surrounded the tree, they heard a single gunshot. They fired rubber bullets to stun Whitehead in case he was still alive. It took authorities more than two hours to free the body from a tangle of branches.

Whitehead had a gun matching the description of the one used in the KeyBank robbery and shootings.

Less than an hour after the shooting, a man entered a Peoples bank a few miles away in Indianapolis, herded several employees and customers into the vault area, and fled in a customer's car with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Police shot the suspect, identified as Dayon Mikal Miller, 19, of Indianapolis. He was in critical condition at Wishard Memorial Hospital.

Vegetarian lunch served

ROME (AP) — School children in Rome may not have heard of Linda McCartney, but they know what she did: She cut the meat out of their lunches Thursday.

Children at several public schools in Rome got a vegetarian lunch on Thursday to honor the memory of the late McCartney. Most said the food was OK, but weren't sure who they were honoring.

McCartney, a 1960s rock music photographer who married ex-Beatle Paul McCartney, died of cancer April 17 at age 56.

During her life, McCartney campaigned for vegetarianism and successfully built a multimillion-dollar food business based on vegetables.

Can statin drugs cause muscle damage?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've read in your column that the "statin" drugs used to lower cholesterol can cause muscle damage. My doctor says that you're wrong and printed the warning only to scare readers.

DEAR READER: Nothing I write is calculated to frighten readers. However, ALL medicines have side effects and risks, and I believe that an informed public is a worthwhile goal.

The "statin" drugs are useful and unquestionably save lives. Such drugs include Lipitor, Zocor, Pravachol, Lescol and Mevacor. However, a small percentage of patients who are prescribed these medications can suffer from a potentially dangerous complication, known as rhabdomyolysis. When this unusual side effect occurs, muscle tissue breaks apart and releases substances that can block the kidneys, leading to renal failure. This is why the drugs' manufacturers warn patients to be alert to any muscle pain, tenderness or weakness. If such symptoms appear, immediate medical attention (including special blood tests) is mandatory. In addition, the statin drugs can also cause liver inflammation. Thus, patients on these medicines must undergo periodic blood tests for liver function.

I didn't make this up. The warnings are clearly printed in the Physicians' Desk Reference and should be shared with anybody who is prescribed statin medications. Your doctor is behind in his reading.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicine." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am an 18-year-old, 360-pound boy who wants to be a size 10 blond female. I will pay anything to have a sex-change operation. What is the price range?

DEAR READER: Maybe you would be more comfortable with your image if you were a 150-pound male. But I don't want to open up a can of worms about gender orientation. There are surgeons who do this kind of work, at fantastic fees (in the tens of thousands of dollars), but I don't think any of them would touch you at 360 pounds. Also, you would have to go through an extensive and intense period of counseling and treatment with female hormones. With your present size, you would merely become an obese female, and I doubt that your social life would improve at all. If you eventually choose to become a size 10 female, you'll first have to become a size 10 male. Take the first step by getting yourself on an effective weight-reduction diet. Once you've slimmed down, rethink the entire issue.

Womanizing Husband Should Use Protection With His Wife

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1998 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My problem is very complex, and I hope you and your readers can help. "John" and I have been married for almost 20 years. It's the third marriage for both of us. We both have children from previous marriages; all of them have caused us major problems through the years, but that's another letter.

John is a womanizer and always has been — here in town and when he travels for his job in the United States and foreign countries, which is often. While he has traveled, I have filled my time completing my higher education.

My problem: I am terrified of catching HIV or some other STD, and I want to know how I can convince John to use protection with me. I doubt that he uses protection in the field.

Divorce is out of the question. We are in our early 50s, and we're both executives in the same large corporation, have a beautiful home and a lot invested in the future.

My friends can offer no advice, and I'm at a loss for a way to approach this and still maintain my marriage. I know I can't be the only wife in this position, and need help badly.

WORRIED IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR WORRIED: If your husband refuses to use a condom, you should know that a condom for women was invented a few years ago. Discuss this with your gynecologist or pharmacist. Since he has no qualms about putting your well-being in jeopardy, be direct with your husband and tell him, "No protection — no sex."

***

DEAR ABBY: I have been reading your column since I was a teenager and have enjoyed it thoroughly. I have a complaint that I don't recall having seen in your column.

Announcements have begun to appear in church bulletins, etc., about special events for Mother's Day. These events are for mothers and daughters only; sons are excluded.

I am the mother of two wonderful sons, 14 and 15, who have brought me more happiness than I ever dreamed possible. My husband and I would rather spend time with our sons than with anyone else. They are quick-witted, intelligent, caring young men.

I used to be very involved in the church, helping with flower arrangements, food and planning for the mother-daughter banquets. During one of these banquets, I found myself in a room full of mothers who were with their daughters, and it made me feel very left out. I found it ironic that my husband was home with our sons while I was celebrating the event of motherhood without the very children who make it possible for me to celebrate the day at all! I have never attended another mother-daughter banquet.

Mothers and sons have a unique relationship. I understand that some outings should be for mothers and daughters only; however, the time to plan these events is not on or around Mother's Day. The only mother-daughter relationship I will ever enjoy is the one between my mother and me. Our relationship has been wonderful, but my mother understands that I cannot attend mother-daughter functions anymore because my sons are what my celebration is about.

On Father's Day, festivities revolve around both father-sons and father-daughters, but things seem to have stalled where mother-sons are concerned.

When mothers are honored, all mothers should be included.

CINDY JENSEN-MICKLER, SIMPSONVILLE, S.C.

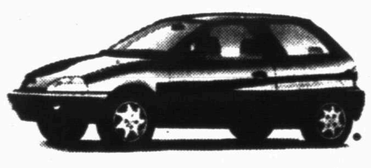

DEAR CINDY: You have a point. Since change must begin somewhere, why not begin with you in your own neighborhood or church? Organize a mother-son banquet, or at the very least, persuade the committee to change mother-daughter banquets to mother-children events. The ball is in your court.

Executive privilege fight...

Starr drawing parallels to Watergate

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — With his own fight over executive privilege raging in secret, Whitewater independent counsel Kenneth Starr today drew parallels between his plight and Watergate prosecutors and declared the law presumes "the public has a right" to critical evidence.

In a speech prepared to be delivered to a bar association here, Starr noted he was speaking on the same day that 24 years ago the Nixon White House invoked executive privilege to stop prosecutors from listening to tapes made by a secret Oval Office recording system. Nixon's effort was unsuccessful.

"I have chosen a topic that has currency now, as it did then, the issue of executive privilege," Starr said in 12-pages of remarks that gave a professor's history of an issue that now affects his own criminal investigation.

Starr promised, "I am going to do my best to steer clear of the controversy" he is fighting in secret court hearings over President Clinton's decision to invoke executive privilege to block some aide's testimony before a grand jury.

Weaving famous quotes from the Watergate era throughout, the prosecutor made clear that a president cannot keep information secret from court proceedings.

"As the Supreme Court said in United States vs. Nixon, the public has a right to every man's evidence, except for those persons protected by a constitutional, common-law or statutory privilege," Starr said.

To further make his point, Starr also borrowed a famous quote from a fellow Texan, Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

"Watergate taught the nation two valuable lessons, lessons that are especially appropriate for us to recall," he said. "First, our Constitution works. And second, no one — absolutely no one — is above the law."

Continuing to draw parallels to Watergate, Starr noted that Jaworski spoke to the same Texas bar association 24 years ago.

Jaworski ultimately won his battle in a landmark Supreme Court decision that defined when executive privilege was appropriate for a president to invoke.

Emergency spending bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unable to persuade House Republicans to help the International Monetary Fund, a retreating President Clinton signed an emergency bill today that provides $6 billion to victims of winter storms and to U.S. troops in the Persian Gulf and Bosnia.

The House and Senate both approved the measure late Thursday, sending it to Clinton without the $18 billion he wanted for the IMF and the $900 million he sought for unpaid dues to the United Nations. Rather than cast a veto as aides had threatened, Clinton signed the measure into law this morning, said Linda Ricci, spokeswoman for the White House Office of Management and Budget.

Clinton reminded lawmakers of the unfinished business.

"I call on Congress to step up to its responsibility and renew our commitment to the International Monetary Fund and to pay our United Nations dues," he said at a White House news conference earlier Thursday. "I am confident we can do this in a bipartisan fashion."

The House approved the measure 242-163. Voting for it were 50 Democrats and 192 Republicans; voting against were 141 Democrats, 21 Republicans and one independent.

Senate passage came later in the evening, 88-11. Forty-eight Republicans and 40 Democrats voted for it, while six Republicans and five Democrats were opposed.

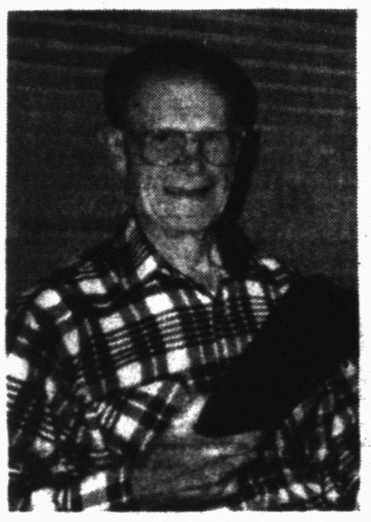

Clinton chose not to delay funds for soldiers and disaster victims in an election-year veto battle over a position few politicians are willing to fight for: more foreign aid.

Even though the GOP-controlled Senate overwhelming backed Clinton's request for money to help the IMF support Asia's faltering economies, House Republicans opposed it.

They were led by conservatives who have linked it to their drive to ban aid to organizations that lobby for eased abortion laws overseas. House leaders have promised a vote on the IMF funds later this year, but they made sure it was omitted from the bill sent Clinton on Thursday.

"These issues will be addressed, but it won't be today," House Appropriations Committee Chairman Bob Livingston, R-La., said.

Obituaries

Chester Nussey

Chester Nussey

1920-1998

A "Celebration of Life" service for Chester Marvin Nussey will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Wright Colonial Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. Danny Williams, pastor of the Lighthouse Assembly of God Church, will officiate.

Cremation is planned. Mr. Nussey, 77, died Thursday, April 30, at his home in Snyder.

Born Nov. 6, 1920 in Highland Park, Mich., to Arthur and Carrie Nussey, he married Doreen Tyrell on July, 9, 1955 in St. Thomas, Ontario Canada. She died in 1987.

Survivors include a daughter, Bonnie L. Nussey of Snyder; a son and daughter-in-law, Dr. Gary and Cynthia Nussey of Snyder; a sister, Mildred Fox of Wildwood, Fla.; a brother, Lloyd Nussey of Brooksville, Fla.; four grandchildren, Sandra Nussey, Andria Nussey, Krista Nussey and James Nussey, all of Snyder.

The family will receive friends at Wright Colonial Funeral Home from 2 until 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Activity light for law officers

Activity was light for local law enforcement personnel Thursday as less than three dozen calls were handled by dispatchers.

Deputies are investigating a burglary of a residence reported by Brian Danforth on FM 1607 at 8:27 a.m. Equipment used in the manufacturing of "funny teeth" was taken.

In other activity, two people were arrested, including one who chose to lay out a fine in jail.

A 25-year-old male was taken into custody at Municipal Court to lay out a fine for public intoxication, no liability insurance and no driver's license.

The fire department responded to a small trash fire in Dunn at 4:40 p.m.

Council

As a result of the change, the city has delayed turning off utility service for those who had received a cut-off date of April 30. The time has been extended until May 5, Carolyn House, director of utilities, said this morning.

Council members also approved pass-through costs at the city's landfill for the disposal of tires.

The other ordinance approved Thursday cancelled Saturday's city election and declared each candidate to be duly elected to their respective offices. They are Vernest Tippens, District 1; Jerry Webb, District 2; I.E. Martin, District 4; and at-large representative Terry Martin.

There were no candidates for District 3.

Holt presided at the meeting. All members were in attendance, to include Tippens, Webb, I.E. Martin, Terry Martin and Dayton Robertson.

The Emmaus Road Day 4

You resisted at first. Then came the fellowship, praise, ministry, and day four. But it doesn't have to end. It should be everyday. We provide a family atmosphere, contemporary worship, positive, uplifting messages—every week. If you don't have a church home, come give us a try. A nursery and children's church are provided. The Emmaus Road can be a life-style in a real-life.
