Crops of Roosevelt County Saved by Rains of Past Week

During the past week, showers almost daily have supplied the much needed moisture for the crops of Roosevelt County.

In the Dora and Elda sections the rain has been heavy, and one day the latter part of last week, it was feared that the railroad track would be washed out below Elda.

Showers have continued almost daily, and from every section of the county crops are reported to be in good condition.

After making a survey of the county, Coe Howard made the statement, that while the production per acre would not be as great as last year, the tonnage would be considerable in excess of that of 1929.

Geo. McCormick of Rogers stated Monday that his crop was much better than last year, and would make much better yield.

Ralph R. Will, county agent, stated the latter part of last week, that crops all over the county were in good shape and would produce a good yield.

While the drought caused considerable uneasiness among the farmers of the county, the rains came in the nick of time, and Roosevelt county will maintain her record as the banner farming county of the state.

In the Portales valley, the irrigated crops are producing heavily, and the products are finding a ready market in Texas and Oklahoma City, trucks being used as a means of transportation.

The bean crop is extra good and there are around 1000 acres of beans.

Over a thousand acres of tomatoes will be ready for market in the next two weeks.

The onion crop has been harvested, and there are now over 20 car loads in storage. These are of extra quality, and should bring the growers a good price.

The Canteloupe crop is now coming onto the market and will produce many dollars in revenues for the farmers of the valley.

The grapes are ripe, and are bringing a good price.

Prominent Speakers For Dairy Exhibit

The Entertainment Committee for the Dairy and Live Stock Show has secured a number of prominent men to appear on the speaking program on the last day of the Show, September 20th.

Governor R. C. Tilson and United States Senator Sam G. Bratton have stated that they will be here and will make addresses.

Dr. H. L. Kent, President of the New Mexico Agricultural College has responded favorably to an invitation to attend and speak. The following is a quotation from Dr. Kent's letter:

"After my experience at Portales last year I will be more than glad to accept, partly because I had a good time and enjoyed my contacts there, but largely because of the fine show that was put on last year and because I think that Show is making a real contribution to the development of Eastern New Mexico agriculture."

In addition to these speakers the Portales School Band will appear on the program.

Portales Beans to Ft. Worth-Dallas

The Portales Valley Bean crop is finding a ready market at Ft. Worth and Dallas.

Everyday from three to ten trucks from Ft. Worth, Dallas, and Weatherford Texas are on the street of Portales which go back loaded with Portales beans.

This truck market is proving of value to the Portales Valley farmers, and is also extending the market for the products of the valley.

When the tomato crop comes in many trucks will be loaded daily for these markets.

Out-Door Revival Meeting by Church of Christ at Portales

Beginning Saturday night of this week W. A. Kercheville of Post, Texas will begin a revival meeting. The location will be on main street on vacant lots, East of Carr Lumber Company.

The evangelist named above held a successful meeting here last winter in spite of many disadvantages so the coming meeting promises to be a great success.

We welcome everybody!

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Thomas B. Sowell, Pastor

All services Sunday at the regular hours. Sunday school is going fine and we need you with us.

A great audience last Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour help us make it even better Sunday.

A good day for those who come with us and every body welcome.

Tom Moody Has A Good Crop

A visit to the farm of Tom Moody on Sunday was a surprise.

Tom has a fine crop of tomatoes, beans and sweet potatoes.

From an acre of corn he has sold $60.00 worth of roasting ears, given a number of his friends and had plenty for his home use.

He will soon cut the corn for roughage, and replant in wheat for winter pasturage.

He has a fine bunch of hogs to consume the waste, and will receive a fair profit in this line.

Will Address Cotton Farmers

The organization director of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, Mr. Herman Deterich, of Dallas, will be in Portales Saturday, August 16th and will address the cotton farmers at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 1:30 p. m.

The Texas Association extend its marketing activities into New Mexico provided there is sufficient demand on the part of farmers here. It is a strong organization, financed by the Federal Farm Board and it already controls a large part of the Texas crop.

At the meeting on August 16th Mr. Deterich will explain the plan for financing and marketing cotton for the coming season.

The outlook for cotton prices for the coming season will also be discussed.

All cotton farmers are invited to attend.

Only Two Day Left to Register

Many citizens of New Mexico—both men and women—may lose their right to vote at the fall election this year through failing to register or to see that the registration books in their respective precincts carry their names.

There are but two days left for registration—two Saturdays, August 16 and 23. In precincts where there were not more than 100 voters cast at the last election there is but one day—Saturday, August 23.

The Portales Valley News urges every citizen, as fulfillment of a public duty to register or to see that his or her name is on the registration books. The names of voters at the last general election should, according to law be carried forward to the new lists but errors sometimes occur and there is a possibility that some names might be dropped unless every citizen determines whether his or her name is on the new list.

One member of a family may register other members of the same family and it is urged that in each family, where all cannot appear personally for registration, one member be delegated to see that the family registration is made.

Your vote may be vital to the welfare of your county and state this fall. Do not place yourself in a position where you cannot vote through failure to register if you do not know the location of the registration place call or telephone this paper and the information will be given you gladly.

But above all, remember that the remaining date for registration are August, 16 and 23.

Neer See Many Old Timers on Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Ed J. Neer and Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Neer and Marie returned Thursday from a 6000 mile trip through the western states and Canada. They went as far north as Victoria, Canada.

While in Medford Oregon the Neers saw India Humphrey an old time of Portales. He and his son are in the grocery business. They asked to be remembered to their old friends in Portales.

As they passed through California they visited with C. O. Leach family and the Harold Rogers family. Mrs. Rogers was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leach. Mr. Leach and his son Harold are in the furniture business in San Francisco. Mr. Leach was one of the early pioneers here. He was postmaster and business man in Portales for years. Mr. Rogers was cashier of the First National Bank in Portales for a number of years.

In San Francisco the Neers were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Reagan Conley. Mr. Conley passed his boyhood days in Portales. He is manager of the biggest department stores in California.

While at Long Beach they were entertained at a Kiwanis Luncheon by Emery Hoglan who was for a long time manager of the Joyce-Fruit Co. in Portales. He is now proprietor of a mammoth wholesale cash & carry grocery business at Long Beach.

Mr. Neer says that he saw no place either in the other states visited or in Canada that looked to him as Portales and Portales valley.

"Pistol Pete," Jail Breaker Captured at Plainview, Tues.

Tuesday afternoon Sheriff Jernigan received a telephone communication from the officers at Plainview, Texas, announcing the capture of "Pistol Pete" who escaped from the Roosevelt county jail several weeks ago, during the jail delivery.

"Pistol Pete" was facing a Federal charge, and officers have been scouring the country for him since the jail break.

It was the general opinion that he had made his escape to old Mexico.

Sheriff Jernigan left Tuesday night for Plainview to bring the prisoner back to this county.

Portales Products Going to New York

Harve Baker reported to the News last Friday that he had received an order for his foot powder from Miss Helen Wells, Batavia, New York.

He has had orders from many places, including Boston, Baltimore, Bangor, Me., Minneapolis, and other places in Arizona, but this is the first time he recalls an order coming from New York.

MRS. JACK FULBRIGHT

Friends in Portales were notified Saturday morning of the death of Mrs. Fulbright which occurred in the hospital in Fort Worth, Texas early Saturday morning.

Mrs. Fulbright had been a resident of Portales about a year and had endeared herself to the friends she had made during that length of time because she was a lady of intellect and culture.

She was born in Wichita Falls, Texas, where her father is a prominent physician, and received some of her education in that state but went to Boston for her finishing degrees.

After her marriage she went to Fayetteville, Arkansas to live and it was to that city that her body was carried from Fort Worth for interment on Sunday.

Mrs. Fulbright was taken ill several weeks ago and went to the hospital for treatment and after returning home grew worse. She returned for further treatment but friends were unaware that her condition might be so serious and were shocked when the news of her death came last Saturday.

Logan, N. M., Bank Held Up And Robbed of $1,000.00, on Tuesday

LOGAN, August 12—Reed McFarland, bookkeeper, his sister Hazel McFarland, and a customer, T. C. Chance spent five minutes locked in the vault of the McFarland Brothers Bank today while two bewhiskered robbers made off with $1,000 of the bank's cash.

The young McFarlands are the children of Simm McFarland, who with his brother, J. S. McFarland, owns the bank.

About noon today a stranger walked into the bank and presented a check which he wanted cashed. The check was not endorsed and McFarland turned his back for a moment to refer to a record.

Both Enter Bank When he turned around he found himself looking into the barrel of a revolver leveled at him across the counter. At that moment the second robber entered from a side door and leveled a revolver on Miss McFarland who was working at a desk in the rear of the bank.

The brother and sister were backed up against the wall and were covered by one robber while the other scooped up $1,000 in cash from the counter. While the men were working T. C. Chance, a customer, walked into the bank and he joined the brother and sister in the line against the wall.

Worked Like Experts Young McFarland said the men worked with precision, and after cleaning the counter one man tried to get the rest of the money inside the vault but could not open the inner door.

The trio was forced into the bank vault, and the men fled from the bank after locking the door.

J. S. McFarland, cashier, returned about five minutes later, and finding Reed and Hazel gone and the counters stripped of the cash, sensed what had happened and went to work on the vault. He said he had been away from the bank only about ten minutes.

Want Hot Springs Charges Quashed

Albuquerque, Aug 12—Five more defendants in the Hot Springs liquor conspiracy case, today filed a motion in federal court to quash the indictment returned against them by the recent grand jury. Sixteen of the 24 indicted have now filed motions seeking to have the indictments quashed.

Virtually the same reasons to quash are stated in the two motions. No competent evidence has been given tending to prove the men guilty of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, nor of unlawful possession, transportation and sales of liquor, the motions state.

Defendants who filed motions today are Ralph W. Daniels, merchant; Charles H. Bryson, pool hall proprietor; J. F. Christian and John Martin, store employees and Sam Winningham.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dixon and two children Billy and Florence came over from Albuquerque and have been visiting in the home of Mrs. Dixon's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fairley. They will visit the Caverns before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Fields, Grace Doris and Nolan spent the first of the week at Abernathy and the Texas points prospecting.

Tom Wright Makes Record Bean Crop

Tuesday of this week Tom Wright picked 60 baskets or 1800 pounds of beans from one acre. This was the second picking.

WAR ON HANDBILLS

In the city of Southgate, near Los Angeles, an ordinance was a-which was aimed directly at the glorified handbill put out by the angeles Downtown Shopping News. The merchants of Southgate that the circulation of the advertisements of the larger businesses was unfair to their stores. With the assistance of the city, they secured the passage of the ordinance.
The distributor of the Shopping Guide was arrested and fined for violation of the ordinance and paid the fine. Then he threatened to appeal to the appellate court, but it was only a threat. It is now known that the case will not be carried further and the fine is to be taken out of the circulation area.
Handbills ordinances should be passed by every city. As a rule, handbills litter the streets and yards and a curse to the city beautifiers. In many cities the parked automobiles are made receptacles for handbills, and the average car owner sweeps the litter out when he gets in his car. The city pays the street sweeper to pick it up.
Free distribution shopping guides depend on quantity distribution of their value. On the theory that "unless advertising paid there be no advertising," far too many merchants place copy in almost every vehicle that sends a salesman to their doors. In the face of an open-handed policy, the publishers of newspapers, the legitimate and best vehicle for carrying store news to the public, should insist themselves in securing protection for the merchants and themselves by the ordinance route—Gallup Herald.

WHY THE NEED OF A NEW COURT HOUSE?

During the next two weeks many of the citizens of the county will be in Portales attending court.
This would be a good time for them to investigate the conditions of the court house.
They will find that the records of the county are in serious danger.
The present building of concrete blocks will not resist fire, but will crumble from intense heat.
In case of fire the loss to every citizen of the county would be greater than the cost of bonding for a court house and jail.
There are some that favor remodeling the old building.
This would be almost as costly as building a new fireproof building.
Roosevelt county is in dire need of a courthouse that will house the records of the county and give safety to the records of the county.
By building a court house and jail at one time the tax payers will be saved much money, and would advance the interests of the county to a great extent.
This and next week would be a good time for every tax payer to familiarize themselves with the condition of their court house and

THE PAYNE MURDER CASE

The Payne Murder case at Amarillo, Texas, is one of the most famous crimes in the history of the United States. It is paralleled only by the case at Farwell, several years ago, in which Hassell killed his wife and buried her in a dug-out and the case at Colorado, which happened about fifteen years ago, where a man murdered his son and made soap of the body.
Payne was a man above ordinary intelligence, while in both cases the criminals were of low mentality.
Justice will be meted out to Payne, and the electric chair will be his fate.
While this case baffled the police for months, the desire of the public to manufacture evidence placing the crime on some one else, is undoing.
Crime does not pay, and sooner or later the criminal is usually punished for his crime.
That a man of Payne's intelligence would deliberately plot to kill his wife and children is unbelievable, yet his confession proves beyond a doubt that the crime had been well planned for a year of the development of our community.

bers. The department's position will put an end to the proposals to liberalize regulations to the extent that the publishers' advertising business would be imperiled. The official statement follows:

While there may be some advantages in the plan suggested by you, the disadvantages of the procedure add such as to make its adoption impracticable and inexpedient.

Among the objections to the acceptance of unaddressed mail, the following are cited:
Not only is there no provision of law authorizing the acceptance of unaddressed matter, but the various statutes pertaining to mail matter contemplate that it shall be addressed. This requirement has been long established and has constituted a fixed policy as evidenced by the regulations on subject declaring unaddressed matter to be unmailable and prohibiting the delivery of such matter. (Paragraph 1 (b), section 469, Postal Laws and Regulations.)

The acceptance of unaddressed matter would result in much confusion, particularly in the case of its being misrouted or in the event of packages becoming untied and the individual pieces scattered in the mails.

It would place upon the postal service the responsibility of selecting the particular individuals to whom the matter is to be delivered and a function clearly the duty of the sender. The assumption of this responsibility by the postal service would undoubtedly lead to complaints of all kinds from the senders of matter concerning its delivery, failure of delivery, duplication, etc.

Would Flood Mails
The plan would subject the patrons of the postal service to an average of advertising matter of all descriptions and the mails would be flooded with this class of matter. It is believed that should the bars be let down in this manner the increase in advertising matter of classes would be so enormous that it would be necessary greatly to increase space, facilities and personnel in order to handle this class of mail with reasonable promptness and without delay to mail of much greater importance, including letters and newspapers.

To require city letter carriers to make every possible stop along their routes would seriously interfere with the handling of the regular mails and entail a tremendous amount of labor and expense. The employment of extra carriers would undoubtedly be necessary in many instances.

The adoption of the plan would open wide the door to the promiscuous circulation of advertising matter of all sorts. The department could not refuse to accept any mailable matter and the general distribution as contemplated would not only result in abuse, but make the postal service a mere distributor of circulars, samples and similar matter.

Communications are frequently received from the public complaining that too much undesirable advertising matter is now carried in the mails and forced upon those who do not want it. If provision should be made for handling unaddressed mail, the amount of this class of advertising matter would be largely increased and the public would consequently complain all the more. The adoption of the plan would also arouse widespread criticism from publishers and newspapers, advertising agencies, local business men and others who would feel that the Post Office department is going out of its way to assist their competitors and take business away from the local interests.

Then, too, the psychological effect on post office personnel must also be considered. The present handling of definitely addressed articles has produced among employees a high regard for the sanctity of mail matter and its delivery to specific addresses. There is a well defined exactness among post office personnel concerning the delivery of an article to its addressee. This fine, wholesome spirit continues to prevail and it is of the greatest importance that nothing be introduced that would diminish it in the least, particularly among the carrier personnel. Any lowering of this regard for the sanctity and inviolability of addressed mail ensuing by reason of the acceptance of unaddressed mail would be a decided loss to the service that could not be compensated in any way.

While the department is desirous of extending to its patrons every convenience and facility consistent with the proper and efficient conduct of the service, the objections to the suggested procedure are so many, and it contemplates such a radical departure from the long-standing principle that the plan is regarded as wholly impracticable and inexpedient.

PORTALES SWEET POTATOES MAY CONTRIBUTE SHARE TO KEEPING MEN CLOTHED

NEW YORK. — A dash of American sweet potato are next on the list of prospective scientific wonders. New United States bureau of standard researches which aim to put sweet potatoes and other southern agricultural crops into the textile industry, and boost the southern pine as a source of paper, were announced Tuesday by Theodore Swann, of Birmingham, Ala., vice-chairman of the Alabama industrial development board.

The bureau begins work next month on both projects, co-operating with Alabama Polytechnic Institute for Textiles and the University of Alabama for paper.

Starch is to be the sweet potato contribution to what the well dressed man will wear. Known principally in collars as something that melts, starch is also a chemical with many other qualities, from food and glue-like adhesive to explosives and artificial silks, and it is particularly indispensable in weaving.

It serves first as a protective coating, called sizing, which guards threads from wearing or losing their nap as they rub in the weaving process. In some goods the starch is removed after weaving by using chemicals. But it also may be retained in the finished product to enrich color, enhance sheen, make threads full-bodied by filling in the microscopic nicks and hollows, or produce a texture more agreeable to the sense of touch.

America textile mills use 250 million pounds of starch annually, mainly made from Irish potatoes, wheat and corn. Millions of dollars worth of this starch is imported. The American sweet potato, with a 20 to 25 per cent starch content, offers the south another economic opportunity if it can be made into the textile starch.

There may develop also sweet potato Christmas cards and sweet potato correspondence notes, for starch is used in the finishing process of these and many other grades of paper.

"This investigation," says a prospectus of the bureau of standards, "will have to do primarily with the starches found in the crops grown in the south."

As shown by the fall bulletin of the New Mexico Normal University, which has just been published, the normal University here is looking forward to 1930-31 as the most successful year in its thirty-six years history as a college of higher learning.

We are appreciative of the friends of our father and family who were solicitous of his comforts and generous with their efforts to make his last days peaceful and pleasant.

the jail apart and escape. Some morning the jailer is going to wake up and find that some petty thief has stolen the entire jail, block at a time.

Its walls are bulging. Its cells are insecure. Its roof leaks, or rather in no way interferes with the rain.

Chalk lines should be run around the jail lot and signs put up so that the prisoners would know that as long as they remain behind the chalk lines that they are in jail.

Then again, some bright morning the tax payers of the county are going to wake up and view a pile of wrecked concrete blocks with a number of prisoners buried beneath. They will be called upon to pay heavy damages.

No, we do not need a new jail—just put the prisoners on their honor and turn them loose. It would be safer for all concerned.

Keep the Condition of Jail a Secret

Some things Portales and Roosevelt county are willing to advertise to the world, but when it comes to the county jail the readers of the News are requested to give it no publicity, as it would look bad for the county to have the public at large to know that as a jail, the building in this county bearing that name, is nothing more than a wrecked shack.

Not for any consideration would the county have the gangsters of Chicago know that if they were arrested and put in the Roosevelt county jail that they would not be served fried chicken, because they might use the bones to pry

50 Years' Use of Black-Draught

"About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Portersville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since, when I needed a medicine for constipation. I have used this remedy all my married life, in raising my children. I have used Black-Draught for heartburn, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation. I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache. By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

Longs
It has been some time since I have seen any contribution from Longs Community.
We shared in the good rain last week and crops especially the later crops are looking fine now. The early crops are injured perhaps 30 per cent from the drought.
Health is splendid, some are plowing wheat land some are sowing turnips and carrots, and mustard. Much interest is manifest in the dairy industry here as farmers seem to think that dairying will tide them over the drought because Daisy will purchase feed to feed herself and help furnish food for the family too.
Our Sunday School is going over the top with L. A. Pruitt as Supr. Our song class under the instruction of Prof Morgan of Amarillo, and Prof. Tobor of Causey is perhaps the greatest both in progress and numbers ever organized in our county. We had a great singing Sunday night. More than 300 present.
The small children deserve much praise for the excellent way they render their part in the work.
We regret to learn that Grandpa and Grandma Zimm are intending to leave for California soon. Their presence in the Sunday School will be missed.

THE EDITOR AS SEEN BY A SCHOOL BOY
From a school boy's essay on "The Editor." "I don't know how a newspaper got into the world and I don't think God does, for he ain't got nothing to say about them in the Bible. I think the editor is the missing link we read of, and that he stayed in the business until after the flood came up and has been busy ever since."
"If an editor makes a mistake, folks say he ought to be hung; but if the doctors makes a mistake he buries it, and people don't say nothing because they can't read Latin. When the editor makes mistakes there is a big lawsuit and swearing, and a big fuss, but if the doctor makes a mistake there is a funeral with flower and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or anyone else knowing what it means, but if the editor uses one he has to spell it."
If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit, but if the editor goes, he gets a charge of buckshot. Any college can make doctors to order, but editors have to be born. Ex-?

Mrs. A. W. Freeman was hostess last Thursday to the members of the Methodist Missionary Society.

With Grant Withers
A gripping, thrilling, entertaining murder and newspaper story.

Don't Miss It!

Mrs. Charles Brown left this week for Kansas where she will spend the remainder of the vacation with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Carlson. Mr. Brown remained in New Mexico and will spend the time between now and the opening of school on a fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. White and family were visitors in Portales from Melrose Tuesday. Their niece and nephew Elsie May and Haskell White went home with them to visit for a week.

SOCIETY and Club

DINNER IN CLOVIS
Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Judevine invited their friends Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Buchanan to dinner with them in Clovis Sunday evening. The two families drove to that city and enjoyed the very delicious supper which was served at the Murray Cafe.

CAFETERIA SUPPER
Judge and Mrs. T. E. Mears, Miss Kate McManaway, Eldridge Mears and Mrs. James Christy were guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Camp last Sunday evening at a very informal supper served at six thirty. The friends had been invited to a lawn supper but the rain prevented serving the meal out door and therefore the supper was served cafeteria style and enjoyed in the living room.

Radio programs added to the pleasant conversations of the evening.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING

The members of the American Legion held the regular meeting of that organization at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Monday evening of this week.

Among the matters of business to be considered was the selection of delegates to the State Convention which meets in Gallup on August 26 and 27. The men chosen are Tom Jernigan, Roy Wheeler, W. A. Angley, R. R. Will, Luther Thomas, Houston Wausen, and Henry Taylor.

The Legion voted to sponsor the organization of a United Charities for Portales. They will work in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce and the churches in the perfecting of such a society.

The government was agreed to place head stones at the graves of all soldiers of the World War in those instances where no markets have previously been placed. This matter was placed in the hands of Roy Wheeler, H. E. Taylor and Ed Copeland to be determined and reported.

After all matters had been given due consideration the men were invited to the banquet room of the building and there they united with the Ladies Auxiliary in a watermelon feast. There were about forty men present at the Monday evening gathering.

SMART SET CLUB

On Monday evening the Smart Set Club ate supper at Jeff Cutler's cafe and then formed a line party to the Portales Theatre. The same group enjoyed a bridge and dance at the home of Marie Neer.

Members of the Club are: Frances Estelle Bryant, Jeffie Hunter, Nadine Brown, Margaret Perry, Maynor Hayes and Marie Neer.

OPENS COUNTRY HOME

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Watson have moved to the pretty country home of Mr. Watson's parents on the Elida highway about six miles from Portales and plan to live there during the next four years while Mr. and Mrs. Watson Sr. are absent from the state.

This is one of the pretty new modern homes to have been built in the Portales Valley during the past year and is a very attractive home.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson dedicated their new home Sunday evening with a dinner party to a number of their friends.

The large dining room was attractive with the pretty furnishings and the table was most inviting with its appointments and decorations. Music and radio programs filled the evening hours following the very delicious dinner which was served at seven o'clock. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stone, Misses Sybil Lyons, Mae Watts, Iris Ribble, Lucile Wurster, Messrs. Paul Wurster, Phillip Johnson, Ray Bonner and Harold Sweetland.

DAIRYMEN'S BANQUET

W. K. Judevine, manager of the Portales Creamery of the Midwest Dairies, entertained the board of directors and station agents of the Roosevelt County Dairymen's Protective Association with a banquet at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last Thursday at the noon hour.

The very delicious dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of the Christian church.

Count Agent R. R. Will was invited to serve as toastmaster and introduced the gentlemen who had been assigned places upon the program. These men advanced some splendid suggestions for the betterment of the dairy business of the county and also for the strengthening of the association.

All are fully aware of the great possibilities opening in Roosevelt county for the growth of dairy business which ultimately results in the increase and enlargement of the local industries.

Mr. Judevine organized the present creamery some two years ago and that institution has developed until it has become aligned with one of the large creameries of the south west and with the cooperation of the Dairymen's Association is manufacturing thousands of pounds of butter in Portales each day.

Those persons enjoying the occasion with Mr. and Mrs. Judevine were U. S. Frazee, John Creek, D. A. Gordon, W. H. Nicklas, H. V. Young, A. F. Jones, and the following station agent, Percy Adams, Pepp, F. R. Roe and R. L. Hall of Dora, C. M. Sullins of Portales and Grant Gordon from Floyd.

MRS. N. B. DeARMOND

The Nazarene church in Portales was filled Tuesday afternoon when friends gathered to attend the funeral services of Mrs. N. B. DeArmond who passed away at the home of her son in Ardmore, Okla., on August 9th, 1930.

Mrs. DeArmond has well been termed the "Sainted Woman" and her life was filled with deeds of consideration and love. She has been a devoted Christian since she was twelve years of age and has indeed lived the life which she professed. Some several years ago she became interested in the Nazarene church and he departed the passing of Sister DeArmond as one who toiled faithfully, and long in the vineyard and then lay down to rest in the Lord's care. When tired with the trials of the day it is sweet to lie down and rest and thus has been the life of this good woman. She loved humanity and was earnest in her endeavors to help save a sinful world.

Mrs. DeArmond was born in Ohio May 24th, 1863. In young life she was married to Mr. Still, son, Charles Still, survives his mother from this union. After the death of Mr. Still the young widow married Mr. DeArmond and they enjoyed a long and happy Christian life. Mrs. John Skinner of Portales is the only child of that marriage now living. Mr. DeArmond died in February of 1929 and Tuesday his wife was placed beside him in the Portales cemetery.

The pall bearers were young men to whom she had been a wonderful inspiration. They were A. M. Marsh, George Whitson, R. C. Lewis, Homer Nelson, J. A. Sanders and Clarence Rice.

Several relatives from other states were here to attend the services. The profusion of pretty flowers were evidences of the love and respect the friends held for this lovely Christian character. Wheeler and Johnson were in charge of the interment services at the cemetery.

MIDWAY BAPTIST REVIVAL

Sunday evening closed one of the greatest revivals ever held at Midway, New Mexico. The church was much revived and the entire community was greatly blessed. Some people seem to believe that the old time shouting doesn't go with religion any more but when people get right with God, and souls are being born into the Kingdom of Christ, they shout today as in times past. There were 25 accessions to the church, with others to follow soon. Rev. Strickland of Texico, did the preaching. I can say he is a real old time gospel preacher. He preaches the truth, and his messages are clothed with the mighty power of the Holy Spirit.

At the close of the meeting an offering was taken for Bro. Strickland which amounted to $70.00 in cash. One of our good deacons, Bor. Billberry, who had 10 fine jersey heifers, said one of them belong to the Lord and he presented it to Rev. Strickland. It was great to see people render unto the Lord the tit that rightly belongs to him.

The pastor with two of our young preacher boys who are members with us, Bro. Ollin Corder, and Bro. Theodore Billberry, were made happy by being the recipients of old fashion pounding. Many good things were given us, which we greatly appreciated.

Almo Starkey, Pastor.

Drouth Has No Terrors For The Portales Valley Farmers

While the national drought is taking its toll from the farmers all over the United States, the farmers of the Portales Valley are harvesting abundant crops of onions, beans, melons, grapes alfalfa, sweet potatoes, sorghum and other irrigated crops.

In many instances the returns exceed $500.00 per acre.

The Portales Valley is one of the finest irrigation sections in the United States, and yet there is room for many more farmers.

The farmers from the drouth stricken areas will turn to the relief of irrigation, and the Portales Valley is their best bet.

The valley offers good living conditions, splendid schools and churches, good farming lands and cheap irrigation.

By irrigation, the farmer is relieved from the heartrending waiting for the rains. He cranks up his pump, maintains and water flows down the rows, supplying the life giving moisture for his crops.

The farming operations in the valley are in their infancy.

The sweet potato industry has won national recognition, and the tomato crop is becoming larger each year.

The bean crop now in its third year, is proving very profitable, and with the services of the canner, the beans and tomatoes always find a sure market at a profit to the growers.

The grape and cherry industry is growing larger each year, and many new vineyards and orchards are going in.

The Portales Valley grapes and cherries are of excellent quality, and find a ready market, many trucks coming in from the plains of Texas for these and other valley products.

Alfalfa is cut from five to seven times in one season and makes a good tonnage, supplying one of the best dairy feeds.

The poultry industry in the valley has grown to such an extent that it is now one of the major operations in the valley.

The dairying industry in the Portales Valley as well as in the dry land farms of Roosevelt county has grown to such proportions that Roosevelt county has been rightly named the egg basket and butter tub of New Mexico.

Farmers desiring to change location, will do well to visit the Portales Valley and see what is now being done on the irrigated farms.

Land is selling at a reasonable figure and the opportunities are great for the progressive farmer, who wishes to get away from the risk of farming without irrigation.

Grateful Lady Pays Tribute To New Konjola

Now Giving This New And Different Medicine To Her Children—Read Her Statement.

MRS. J. D. RHYNE

There is a reason why Konjola is America's best known medicine, and that reason can be summed up in just three words—Konjola makes good, even when all else tried has failed. Consider, as a typical example of Konjola's 32 ingredients at work, the case of Mrs. J. D. Rhyne, 616 East Eleventh street Amarillo, who says:

"I was in a terrible condition for many years, with constipation, nervousness, indigestion and kidney and liver ill. It seemed no use to try medicines and treatments further, for I kept growing worse right along. I lost weight and had headaches and dizzy spells and bilious attacks. Food causes indigestion, and many a night I lay awake until two or three o'clock. But words can not express my surprise over what Konjola did for me. All of my ills have vanished and now I am giving Konjola to my children and my husband is about to start the treatment."

Konjola is a medicine for all the family; old and young. That is why Konjola is a household word in tens of thousands of American homes.

Konjola is sold in Portales, New Mexico, at the ew Mexico Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

We are also glad to see Mr. O. B. Sherman improving from a fractured rib caused by a fall from a horse.

BOY TRUCK RAISER

Clarence Franse, the eleven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Franse has demonstrated the success a boy of his age may realize upon an irrigated piece of land if he applies proper energy.

Mr. Franse and his family moved to their acreage in north Portales during the later part of last year so this was the first improvement upon the place.

Clarence was given the management of the 2 1-2 acres which he planted to vegetables, corn and melons. He was not of sufficient weight to start the engine for irrigation, so his father did this labor for him then went to his own duties in town and the lad was left to regulate his own ditches and water his crop.

He was also interested in the beauty of the home and so planned for a flower garden and started a bermuda lawn in front of the house.

All the vegetation has grown, in response to the splendid care and now the surroundings of the home are attractive and the garden furnishes a supply of food for the table.

An other demonstration of the possibilities lying within the Portales valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Eivens and their little daughter came over from Tulla, Texas and spent a portion of Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yates and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Muncy.

Chicago Couple Off to Circle Globe In Tiny Schooner Bought With Savings

THE determination of young couples these days to save closely so that they may enjoy the luxuries later on, strikes young Robert H. Cook, of Chicago, and his pretty wife, Lenore, as a rather prosaic way of beginning married life.

The good ship Swordfish and two of her crew who plan to circle the globe in three years. Mrs. Robert H. Cook, left, and her husband, right, owners . . . "set for three years of fun."

A Near Mishap
And apparently they have found it, for they are now planning a trip around the world—and in their own boat.

Little attention might have been given the Cooks had they not nearly come to grief steering their good ship Swordfish into the port of Buffalo the other day.

Mistaking the channel there, they steered their 46-foot sailing schooner into the rough waters of the Niagara river and then came abruptly upon a sand reef. A coast guard cutter, lying nearby, dashed to their rescue.

It was then that the Cooks, bronzed and enthusiastic, told something of their trip, their aspirations, and how they purchased the schooner for their earnings.

Saved for "Real Time"
Mrs. Cook first revealed a bit of the philosophy which induced her and Mr. Cook to make the trip: "We could see," she reflected, "that in 10 years we might have a bigger house and better car than our neighbors, but that would be all, and we didn't want that anyway. So we saved up for a real time."

"We watched every nickel," Robert had a good job and so did I. And we got our eye on this boat for a year around the world."

"She was too expensive even to dream about until a storm came along and partly wrecked its side. Then we got her, repaired the damage easily—and here we are all set for three years of fun."

The Swordfish left from Chicago, but before their trip to Buffalo was half over two members of the party asked to be dropped off. Besides the Cooks, only 21-year-old Donald Dickson, a friend, now remains. Cook expects to add another to his crew, however, before attempting the Atlantic.

Tarry in South Seas
From Buffalo the Swordfish will be directed down the Atlantic to the Panama Canal and thence across the Pacific in the course of the trade winds. They figure it will take them a month to go from the Galapagos islands to the South Sea Islands, where they plan to remain a year.

From the South Sea Islands the Swordfish will head for Australia, go north to the Asiatic coast, following the Indian peninsula, and then take the northwest passage to the Mediterranean. After a cruise around Europe, the adventuresome crew will then think about sailing home.

Aside from the auxiliary motor with which the Swordfish is equipped, the travelers are prepared for other emergencies. Stored in the hold are several hundred dollars' worth of canned foods and firearms.

Loyal Chicagoans, the Cooks have so planned their itinerary that they will return to their native city in time for the World Fair.

that an age of scandalous corruption, these hermits did much to minutes to win a side bet and a free onlooker.

The last of this type of pillar-standers dates from the sixteenth century, a Rutilianan. Kelly, though not to do penance, first sat on a flagpole in Hollywood in January, 1924. On the gilded ball of a flagpole he sat for thirteen hours and thirteen minutes to win a side bet and a fee from the movie company that wanted him to do it as a publicity stunt.

Today marks the twenty-eight day that Kelly has been aloft at Atlantic City. He is sixty-seven years, eleven months and seven days behind the record.

PORTALES VALLEY NEWS $1.50

Publicity is Being Watched by P. O.

Washington, Aug. 4.—A Campaign was started by the post office department today to halt use of advertising publicity as straight reading matter in newspapers.

"The post office department is determined to put an end to the practice of certain advertisers and advertising concerns in 'black-jacking' many newspaper publishers into printing as straight reading matter or for editorial use publicity material which comes within the category of advertisements," the department stated.

The department warned that compliance with such attempts might constitute violation of the law. Complaints have been received from a number of publishers, the department said, and an investigation resulted.

Third Assistant Postmaster General Tilson said some advertising concerns are offering publicity articles to be inserted as reading matter on the understanding that if they are not used display advertising might not be given the paper. He said the postal laws require such matter to be marked as advertising and that it is chargeable with zone rates of postage. Failure to mark such matter as advertising is punishable by fines of up to $500, Tilson said.

Shipwreck Kelly is a Piker And Tree-Sitters Ditto, When You Consider Simeon's Record

Original Flagpole Habline Stood on A Pillar for Thirty-Seven Years in the Long, Long Ago

New York—When Alvin Kelly, better known as "Shipwreck" hear this he will probably become so discouraged that he will climb down from his flagpole at Atlantic City, where he has been perched 34 days, and go to work.

Hundreds of other flagpole sitters, young and old in various sections of the United States may follow suit and thus end the farcical endurance contests that have today reached the climax of absurdity.

Everybody is doing it, according to dispatches from the principal news centers. Historians at Columbia university have accumulated a great mass of material which shows that the flagpole sitting champion was won temporarily in the fifth century by a man with a record of thirty-seven years.

For the first five or six centuries there were many imitators of the original "Shipwreck" until one man set up a new record for flagpole sitting with a mark of sixty-seven years, which was exceeded by another of sixty eight, probably the world's championship, all-time record.

Let Mr. Kelly Quest

These records are fully authenticated. Kelly may travel to Morn- ing-side Heights if he wishes and find them inscribed in the original Syrian language or if that tongue bothers him, in Latin, Greek Arabic, Coptic, with translations into German and English.

The original "Shipwreck" Kelly was a Syrian named Simeon who was afterwards nicknamed Stylites, which means apillar, pillars being the ancient equivalents of the modern flagpoles.

Simeon was a shepherd boy. He was a small-town lad, born in the village of Sis in northern Syria, some time between 385 and 390 A. D.

When he was sixteen he entered a monastery near Antioch and became so devout that he roused the ire of his colleagues, who were not so ascetic themselves.

At the age of twenty-six, after various stunts, including one in which he buried himself to his neck in a trench and remained in that position many years, Simeon went to Tennesse, fifty miles northeast of Antioch, and here built himself a pillar six feet high, on which he stood erect for months at a time.

Drew a Big Galley
Thousands and thousands of visitors, some of them from as far away as Spain and Britain, traveled across the deserts to see him and get his views on questions of the lay on the beauty of the Clara Bow of the time, on the tariff, and whether it was still possible to get and good Scotch, or whatever was the prevailing beverage.

These questions annoyed Simeon no end. So after six or seven years of them he decided to build higher. Without getting off his pillar he managed to increase the height by degrees until finally it was sixty feet high or about the height of a six-story building. The top was only three feet in circumference with a low balustrade around it.

For favored guests, including newspaper men, Simeon had a ladder built and he transacted all business with a dumbwaiter arrangement upon which he had his groceries conveyed to the top. He ate only one meal a week and lent at nothing at all.

For those he did not wish to see Simeon would either send down word that he was in conference or he would write a letter. His correspondents including all of the famous men of the era, including the Emperor Theodosius.

Some of his letters are still preserved in the British Museum, written in a peculiar scrawling hand, for that was before the days of the portable typewriter.

He Wrote Hot Letters
Most of the letters were in theological subjects and exerted strong influence. On one occasion when the Jews of the neighborhood seemed likely to have their synagogues confiscated, Simeon wrote a hot note to the Emperor and the action was reconsidered.

The last thirty-seven years of his life were spent on the pillar. Most of the time he stood erect, particularly in the last thirty years, when the pillar was at the sixty foot altitude.

His activities—or lack of activity—was given the widest publicity. So when in July, 485, it became known that he was dying many thousands of pilgrims journeyed to his pillar to hear his last words. He seemed to get better in August, but on September 2 of that year he died.

The Emperor sent troops to guard the body on a cortege to Antioch after Constantinople herself had pleaded that the funeral should take place there. To Antioch, however, went the honor and the obsequies were on a magnificent scale. For many years his grave was the goal for pilgrims. For a long time the body was excellently preserved, and contemporaries though relic hunters stole his teeth as souvenirs.

Stood For 68 Years
Simeon the Elder had many imitators and in the following century arose a Simeon the Younger, who started his pillar standing when he was a boy. His pillar, too was near Antioch, and he remained on top for sixty-eight years, though his record is not entirely flawless.

Occasionally, he would move to a new pillar and to do that he had to climb down to the ground. Speaking generally, however, he is generally looked upon by the pundits as holding the record.

Another Simeon, known as Simeon the Third, standing on a pillar near Hecga, was on his way to a new high record when he was struck by lightning.

The only one who approached endurance mark of Simeon the rouse deep religious feeling in the sixth century, who built himself a pillar near Adrainpole in Paphlagonia and stood upright for fifty-three years. Finally his feet gave out and for the last fourteen years he reclined on his side, making a total of sixty-seven year on his ancient penhouse.

Most of these pillars were erected in the warmer climates of the Near East, safely sheltered from the high winds and cold weather of the coasts.

But a hermit named Daniel set up his pillar near Constantinople and stood in it many, many years, exposed to snow, ice and rain. Emperor Leo finally persuaded him to accept a covering for the top of the pillar and here Daniel lived until he was eighty.

Original Mystry Man
He was one of the mystery men of the country, for nobody was ever able to find out how he got his food.

So numerous there after became the stylites that a sect of them was founded. They expressed their asceticism in many different forms, in addition to standing on pillars. One anchorite, for example, had himself suspended in a barrel hanging ten feet above the ground from two poles and here he remained ten years.

These hermits did not always meet with approval. One of them, near Treves, France, who built himself a pillar, was forced by his bishop to come down and the pillar was destroyed.

Most of them, however, were regarded as holy men, sincere and devout, and the historians point out
