SERIES SECRET RAIDS STAGED DURING 24-HOUR PERIOD WITH RENTED HOUSE FOR JAIL USE

AMARILLO, Texas, Feb. 13. (AP)—Thirty-nine Amarilloans were under charges of liquor law violation here tonight as the result of a 24-hour secret roundup conducted by federal agents, assisted by Potter county officers. The suspects were taken to a residence rented by the federal investigators and held until arraigned this afternoon before a United States commissioner.

It was the city's largest liquor drive.

"Depression" bonds were set at $500 in each case, though some of the defendants were previous offenders. Five druggists, seven women, one blind man and three negroes were among the defendants. Every defendant was charged with sale and possession of intoxicating liquor and 13 had transportation as an additional charge. Ten furnished bond late today. The remainder were remanded to the county jail until Monday morning.

The roundup was conducted under direction of Claude B. Cooper, Dallas, deputy administrator of prohibition of North Texas. Five special agents were used in addition to a corps of local prohibition agents and deputies sheriff. Three weeks of investigations preceded the drive that began Friday night. The work was conducted so quietly that only today did knowledge of the widespread raids become known.

SENATE GROUP TAKES HAND IN HURLEY CLASH

CONTROVERSY HALTS COMMITTEE HEARING

Both Agree to Withdraw Statements Impugning Integrity Other

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Senators assumed the role of peace negotiators today to bring secretary Hurley and Senator King, Democrat, Utah, together after a turbulent clash on Philippine independence.

Stalking out of the committee room asserting he would not stay to be "called a liar," the war department head broke up a senate hearing on the question after a dramatic battle of words with King.

Later in the day when other senators brought them together at the office of Chairman Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, both Hurley and King agreed to withdraw any statements impunging the integrity of the other.

In the tense atmosphere of the crowded committee room where Hurley had clashed sharply with King and other Democratic advocates of Philippine independence two days before, the storm broke suddenly.

Fireworks Start

After a series of sharp interchanges with King, Hurley exclaimed:

"You have absolutely in every question you have asked me tried to distort what I have said."

"I resent that statement as untrue, as some of your statements

Judge Bond was confined to his home here today because of his injuries but his condition was not serious. He was beaten about the head. The attack allegedly occurred in the sheriff's office.

The attack was believed to have been the result of Chambers being suspended by Judge Bond as court bailiff for contempt of court.

HERE'S HOW THE NEW POSTOFFICE BUILDING LOOKS

Daily changes are noted in the half-block on Tenth and Lamar where the new federal building is under construction. Initial work was begun Nov. 1, 1931, and operations have continued since then except for five days during the winter months. Construction is keeping pace with the normal expectancy rate as set by the federal treasury department engineer, Miles E. Myers.

Feb. 1, the building was 20.74 per cent completed. The normal expectancy to that date was 21.5 per cent. Form work is two-thirds completed; second floor slabbing is four-fifths completed; and structural steel placing is one-fourth completed.

Saturday the structure was advanced to the stage where columns that will support the third floor were being placed. It will be a four story and basement building. Voelcker & Dixon are the architects, and the Underhill Construction company is the contractor.

RELATIVE OF ABE LINCOLN FREE ON BOND

PINEVILLE, Ky., Feb. 13. (US)—Mrs. Clarina Michelson, 50, of Boston, distant relative of Abraham Lincoln, who was held with 10 others in the Bell county jail on a charge of criminal syndicalism, obtained her release late today on $10,000 bond.

Threatened with pneumonia developing from an attack of laryngitis, Mrs. Michelson was taken immediately after her release in an ambulance to Knoxville, Tenn., hospital.

Earlier today, County Attorney Walter Smith had blocked a move to release her when a nurse had pleaded that Mrs. Michelson's condition required hospital treatment.

A Louisville attorney, however, signed the bonds and the woman who said she was "fighting for the freedom of white slaves," referring to the distressed families of Kentucky coal miners, was removed from jail.

Five of the six other women held on criminal syndicalism charges are reported ill. Julia Parker, Mrs. Dorothy Weber, Norma Martin and Mrs. Margaret Fontaine have developed ailments since their confinement in jail.

Mechanic Killed in Freak Double Crash Goodyear Baby Blimp

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (US)—Crippled in a driving gale, the Goodyear baby blimp Columbia, which has flown throughout the nation, crashed twice in a freak accident here today, killing her mechanic and seriously injuring the dirigible's pilot.

The blimp, carrying John Blair, the mechanic, and Prescott Dixon, the pilot, wrecked its motor when it came down from its daily flight over the city this morning to refuel. Before the men could scramble out, the helium-laden bag swooped up into the air, driven by the swift wind.

For five hours, the men battled 1,500 feet in mid-air to bring the blimp down again to its hangar at Holmes airport. Thousands watched the tragic drama from the ground. Finally about 1:40 p. m., the gale seemed to let up and Dixon nosed her downward.

The ship came down diving with a new blast of wind at its tail and plunged to earth with a crash that mangled Blair to death and ripped the blimp in the center.

And then before anything could

STUDY SALES TAX PROPOSAL

Sub-Committee "Sold" On Idea Says Rainey

WASHINGTON Feb. 13. (US)—Hundreds of articles, excluding food and other absolute necessities, would be included in a selective manufacturers' sales tax which a house ways and means subcommittee today had under consideration.

Every member of the subcommittee has been "sold" on the idea that such a tax system would be a good one, provided it can be worked administratively, Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, chairman, said.

With the aid of treasury and commerce department officials, the Rainey subcommittee is proceeding with the sales tax plan and so far has not discovered anything to indicate the plan would not work as well here as it has in Canada and other countries.

HOOVER ASKED TO TAKE SALARY CUT

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 13 (INS)—President Hoover today was asked to take a 10 per cent salary cut as an example for all federal employes in a letter from Patrick F. Kielty, insurance executive here.

Kielty suggested to the president that similar wage cuts for all employes of federal, state and municipal governments would substitute prosperity for national bankruptcy.

APPEAL FILED FROM DECISION ACREAGE CASE

WACO, Texas, Feb. 13. (AP)—Tom Tyson, county attorney of Robertson county, today filed an appeal from the ruling of District Judge W. C. Davis of Bryan holding the cotton acreage reduction law unconstitutional. The appeal was filed in the 10th court of civil appeals here.

Relative to a statement attributed to J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, that he would not appeal, Tyson said:

"The law states it shall be the duty of county and district attorneys to enforce it. . . . I filed suit in an attempt to enforce the law and am appealing it. I didn't ask anybody if I should enforce the truck laws and when injunctions were granted I didn't ask anybody if I should appeal."

The acreage curtailment statute would prevent any farmer from planting to cotton this year more than 30 per cent of the total land he had in cultivation last year.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON BILL GRANTING PENSION WIDOWS AND CHILDREN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (UP)—The house pension committee today reported favorably on the Gasque bill granting uniform pension to widows and minor children of veterans of all United States foreign wars.

It is estimated that the new bill, if it becomes law, will cost federal government more than $345,000,000 during the first year of its operation.

The bill would grant pensions of $20 a month to veterans' widows under 40 years of age, $30 per month until the 50th year, $40 per month from the 50th to the 70th year and $50 per month thereafter.

An allowance of $6 per month for each child of a deceased veteran under 16 years of age would also be paid.

JAPANESE TRANSPORTS LAND UNDER NOSES OF SILENT CHINESE GUNS

(By The Associated Press)

Chinese sources circulated unsupported reports today that 1,300 Japanese soldiers had been killed or captured in a repulsed attack at Woosung, Chinese stronghold outside of Shanghai.

Ten thousand fighting men and great stocks of war munitions were being unloaded by the Japanese on the docks of Shanghai.

The 16th day of hostilities on the Chapei battlefront there opened with an echoing boom of big guns.

Chiang Kai-Shek, former president of China and head of its military forces, was reported at Pukow, having arrived to direct German-trained national guards in resisting any Japanese advance along the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

The reinforcements, fully equipped with every implement of modern warfare, steamed up the Whangpoo river on seven transports which passed under the noses of silent Chinese guns at the Woosung forts.

To Open Offensive

The Japanese military authorities announced they expected to start their big drive "at the earliest possible moment," but it was believed there would be additional diplomatic maneuvering before the push began.

Numerous tanks were landed to assist the Japanese in their assault on the Chinese machine gun nests infesting the criss-cross of trenches in Chapei.

Fifteen Japanese infantrymen, under the command of a sergeant, made a quick raid across Woosung creek. They captured one Chinese soldier before they were driven back by rifle fire.

There was a blizzard at Woosung and air activity was impeded, but occasional bombs were dropped on the forts.

Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai, post-warrior commanding the Chinese forces, declared he had 25,000 men ready to fight it out till the last man dropped.

United States marines had their hands full with swarms of Chinese

Charges of robbery with firearms and assault to murder against two Dallas men will be submitted to the grand jury. The two men are brothers, Clifford G. Fitzsimmons, here and Rollin James Fitzsimmons, reported near death in Methodist hospital, Dallas. They were captured in Dallas late Friday night. Clifford Fitzsimmons has refused to make any statement, although both he and his brother have been identified by witnesses to the holdup of the Western Auto Supply company in the downtown section here.

The two wounded officers are reported improved. They are City Detective A. C. Howerton, shot in the right arm, Policeman R. H. Burks, wounded in the right hip.

CORSICANA, Texas, Feb. 13. (AP)—Coroner John B. Jones returned a verdict late today in connection with the fatal shooting of John Beck, 58, cashier of the Frost National bank, ruling that death was caused by pistol wounds "seemingly self-inflicted or accidental."

Beck, who had been prominent in Navarro county banking for a quarter of a century, was found shot to death in the bank yesterday. A pistol lay by his side.

CHINESE HURL CONFLICTS INTO LEAGUE'S FACE

Demand Something Be Done to Settle War Before League Loses Caste

ADDRESS OVERSHADOWS ALL PREVIOUS ORATORY

Claims Success or Failure of Body Depends on Action Now

(Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

GENEVA, Feb. 13.—China today hurled the far eastern conflict into the face of the League of Nation's disarmament conference and demanded that something be done to settle the Orient's semi-private war before the league loses caste all over the world.

Dr. W. W. Yen's forceful declaration gave the delegates more food for thought than all the plans and programs previously presented. His clarity of thought, perfection of English and excellent delivery made his speech stand out as the best the conference has yet heard, overshadowing the oratory of the representatives of the great powers.

His demand that unless the conference acts upon the situation in China it might as well adjourn, and his subtle warning that "brute force is to be restored to its throne" made the conference gasp. He told the conference plainly:

"Upon all these things will be constructed a new Orientation of China's foreign policy, for we shall know then exactly where we stand."

Even as Yen was riding the pious league for its tepid attitude toward respecting the covenant it has so loudly been proclaiming for a decade, Sir John Hope Simon, league expert in far away Shanghai loaned to China as director of flood relief, telegraphed Geneva:

"I protest in the name of humani-

Estimated Two More Weeks Will Be Required for Arguments in Suit to Oust Oil Companies From the State

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—At least two more weeks of arguments on law questions are ahead of the Travis county district court considering the state's suit to oust major oil companies from Texas for alleged anti-trust law violations, was estimated today.

After the law points have been disposed of then will come trial of the main suit, with George E. Shelwey, Austion attorney, meanwhile to take testimony under appointment of Judge J. D. Moore, in whose court the case is pending, at such places and time he may designate.

Arguments on jurisdiction of the court in entering default judgment against three of the defendants were not completed when the court recessed last night until next Wednesday.

The pending motion, if granted, would give the state default judgment for $1,074,000 in penalties against the Socony-Vacuum corporation of New York and the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and California and forbid them from doing business in Texas. Should the motion be denied on grounds the defendants were not within jurisdiction of the courts, those defendants would definitely be out of the suit. Default judgment was proposed when those defendants failed to answer the state's allegations, made against them and 14 other concerns and associations, claiming they had formed a combination to dominate the business of marketing gasoline and petroleum products.

The case has been under consideration here since Feb. 2.

Stock Market Again Soars Upward In Feverish Week-End Session With Gain Values Five Billion Two Days

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—The stock market surged upward with increased vigor today in the most feverish week-end session in nearly two years, to the dissonant accompaniment of cheers from bulls and groans from bears.

The powerful anti-deflation tonic administered by the proposal to liberate the federal reserve system had by no means turned stale over yesterday's market holiday, but rather appeared to have increased in potency.

Net gains in most leading issues ranged from $2 to $14.50 a share, and several issues in which bears found themselves painfully pinched zoomed upward even more spectacularly than they did during the sweeping upsurge of Thursday.

Price averages indicated a gain in quoted values of more than $5,000,000,000 during the two sessions of swift recovery, restoring the general level of prices close to the peak of mid-January. Several leading issues, including U. S. Steel and American Telephone registered new high levels for 1932.

The turnover in stocks of 2,626,120 shares was the largest for a two-hour Saturday session since May 3, 1930, when 4,867,530 shares were traded in a swiftly declining market. Trading was at the pace of 6,500,000 shares for a full five-hour session. The ticker fell a few minutes in arrears at times.

Commodities and bonds also moved forward, although more modestly. Several bonds gained $10 to $60 per bond of $1,000 face value. Wheat futures advanced about two points a bushel, and cotton, 60 to 80 cents a bale.

DEMOCRATIC CHIEFS PLEAD FOR HARMONY

Slogan Put Forward by Supporters Franklin Roosevelt

FARLEY AND CUMMINGS ARE BUSY AT CAPITAL

Friends of Other Candidates Busy Preparing for Campaign

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Calls for harmony went up from national Democratic leaders here today and the 1932 presidential campaign gathered momentum in the new moves throughout the nation.

The leaders of the new "aggressive" drive for nomination of Governor Roosevelt of New York—now out in front—put forward the harmony slogan after a new round of conferences on Capitol hill.

The harmony call is apparently the answer of the Roosevelt clan to the plea of Jouett Shouse, right-hand man of Chairman Raskob of the national committee, for uninstructed delegations to the national convention.

James A. Farley, counselor of Roosevelt and chairman of the New York state Democratic committee, joined Homer S. Cummings, of Connecticut, in pressing the Roosevelt drive today at hte capitol.

Down in Louisiana, however, the state central committee decided to send an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic convention. Governor Sterling of Texas declared for Speaker Garner for the nomination.

Governor Murray Flies

Governor Murray, of Oklahoma, filed at the last minute in North Dakota in opposition to Governor Roosevelt. He determined also to go into Roosevelt territory in Georgia, Oregon and South Dakota.

The Republican presidential campaign, meanwhile, was marking time, with the Hoover drive picking up endorsements from various state central committees. The president and Senator Johnson, of California, let the last day for filing in North Dakota go by.

Senators Harrison of Mississippi, and Hull of Tennessee, issued the pleas for party harmony today after conferences with Cummings. Harrison was a worker for Alfred E. Smith in 1928 but has not declared so far. He is regarded as friendly to the Roosevelt campaign.

Cummings and Hull had a luncheon conference today with 10 senators from the South and West, including Robinson, of Arkansas, the vice presidential nominee with Smith in 1928. Robinson, too, is saying nothing about candidacies now.

Farley Busy in House

Farley was busy over in the house with the New York congressional delegation. Asked if the state delegation would be for Roosevelt he replied "New York will be all right when the time comes." He predicted the nomination of Roosevelt on the first ballot.

Both Harrison and Hull referred to the 1924 convention when Smith and William G. McAdoo fought it out for more than 100 ballots.

"The Democratic party tasted the bitter pill of defeat in 1924," said Harrison, "because of the intense rivalry of candidates for the nomination and the deep-seated hatreds engendered in that intra-party conflict. The party can not afford and, in my opinion, will not permit a repetition of that political fiasco."

Senator Hull who is actively enrolled in the Roosevelt movement issued a statement saying:

"This year the Democratic party must not return to the conditions of 1924, when on account of group antagonisms, divergent views and the clash of individual ambitions, it was rendered helpless to function."

Attend Luncheon

Those who attended the Cummings luncheon today besides Hull and Robinson included Senators Bratton, New Mexico; Fletcher and Trammell, Florida; Stephens, Mississippi; Kendrick, Wyoming; King, Utah; Costigan, Colorado; George, Georgia; and Neely, West Virginia.

In two days of luncheon conferences Cummings has visited with senatorial representatives from 19 states, including principally the South and West.

Up in New England friends of Alfred E. Smith are getting busy with Governor Ely of Massachusetts preparing to carry a campaign for the 1928 presidential nominee in both New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

The East with its big-vote states and the Middle West still remain the battle grounds for the Democratic contest. Roosevelt workers are active in Pennsylvania. A decision on Smith's leaders in that state is awaited.

STRONG UPWARD TREND LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE

LONDON, Feb. 13. (INS)—The strong upward tendency noticed on the London stock exchange during the last few days continued throughout the short session today.

Stock prices were buoyant, while foreign bonds also reflected the more encouraging tone. German 7 per cent's recorded a gain of 2 points to 75½.

International developments were held chiefly responsible for the continued rise, although formal announcement of the Lausanne reparations conference came too late to affect today's trading. Stock market observers will watch Monday's session with interest to see whether crystallization of the long-awaited conference will result in further price gains.

The pound sterling opened at $3.44¾ and closed unchanged.

TYLER, Texas, Feb. 13. (AP)—William Pierson, 5, was killed today when struck by an automobile on the highway, five miles southwest of Chandler. The child had been sent to the mailbox.

Severe Floods Wipe Out Seven Eskimo Villages

NOME, Alaska, Feb. 13. (AP)—Delayed reports reaching here today said severe floods wiped out seven Eskimo villages just before last Christmas, with loss of many lives, in the isolated country on the mainland east of Nelson island.

The whole district, from Nelson island north to Cape Romanoff, was flooded, with high ocean tides overflowing the shore and adding to the destruction, the letter said. With little high country into which to escape, the Eskimos were trapped. The Eskimos engage in fishing, hunting and trapping, living in villages.

At about the time of the disaster, high water and floods occurred here and along the southern coast of the Seward peninsula and all along Norton sound.

With the Bering sea more or less free of ice as late as the first of the year, high tides, sea ice and flooded streams forced abandonment of numerous villages and camps all along Norton sound and drove inhabitants to seek higher country.

SENATE GROUP HAS HAND HURLEY ROW

have been," shot back King from his place near the head of the Long committee table.

"Of course," said Hurley his voice rising, "you can conduct star chamber proceedings in here and call me a liar but you can not say it and let me remain here, because you are a member of the United States senate. And I have not stated an untruth and I decline to let you call me a liar."

"I have not," said King.

"I will not remain before this committee and permit it," shouted Hurley.

"All right," said King.

Strides Toward Door

Leaping to his feet, Hurley, in ringing tones, exclaimed "now you can run your star chamber proceedings in here and browbeat your witnesses, but you must not call me a liar and permit me to take it. I have taken just about all I can stand from this committee. You won't permit the truth to be told."

The stalwart chief of the war department was striding toward the door as he shouted, "I told you in the beginning that the objective of the United States was three-fold; that it was the social, economic and political development of these islands for independence."

"Now you distort everything that I say, and then call me a liar. Now you can have your meeting. I will not appear before a committee where I have got to be called a liar."

In the silence that followed his exit, the senators looked at each other for a moment without speaking.

Then Senator King turned to Chairman Bingham and said "That ends this session, does it?" Bingham declared the hearings closed and the group went into executive session.

Earlier Secretary Hurley had been accused by Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, one of the independence advocates, of making "a stump speech" when asked to reply to a "simple question."

"When I say anything here," Hurley exclaimed, "if it appears in opposition to the profound wisdom of you gentlemen, it is a stump speech but what you gentlemen say is the height of statesmanship."

refugees who attempted to get through the heavily guarded boundaries of the internatiocnal settlement, where they believed they would be safe from Japanese shells and bombs.

In Canton families of the Chinese commanders at Shanghai said officers in the field had made provision for their wives and children and were determined to resist "to the bitter end."

The United States consular office at Nanking announced most of the remaining American citizens would be evacuated immediately. Fifty-three Americans, including 14 women, still were there.

Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, former president of China and commander of the nation's armies, conferred at Punkow, across the Yangtze from Nanking, with other military commanders.

Tokyo reported the last units of army reinforcements would arrive in Shanghai early next week and unless armistice negotiations were concluded the big push would be launched.

Grave concern over menace to the international settlement was expressed in Washington following receipt of dispatches from the American consul general telling of massing of troops for the expected drive.

Mexico's Position

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—The interest of all the nations and peoples of North America are in many respects inalterably allied, the newspaper Excelsior declared editorially today, and for that reason, it added, in case of trouble between the United States and Japan, Mexico should incline toward America, in spite of her traditional friendship for Japan.

The editorial was prompted by denials here and in Washington that Mexico and the United States had a secret treaty or understanding in the far eastern matter.

"The interests of a nation on this continent are more vital to us than those of one outside it," the editorial said. "In case of trouble between United States and Japan we think Mexico should incline toward the former."

The editorial said it was "ridiculous," however, to believe that any secret understanding or treaty existed between the two governments. "Our country never has celebrated a secret alliance with another or followed the foreign policy of any other nation. We have always respected the rights of others and asked only the same treatment..."

Neutrals Worried

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The grave concern of neutrals at Shanghai that the rising stream of Chinese and Japanese reinforcements may sweep into the international settlements in impending major engagements was reflected in terse dispatches today from Consul General Cunningham.

Reporting to the state department that both sides were bringing up fresh troops, Cunningham said, "these reinforcements are by no means reassuring to the settlement, as the stronger the resistance the more determined the offensive."

Japan is increasing its naval and aerial, as well as its land forces. It is the air forces, apparently which give the residents of the international settlement the most concern.

In spite of the promise of Admiral Nomura, commanding the Japanese operations, that bombing planes would not be permitted to fly over the American sector of the international settlement, Admiral M. M. Taylor advised the navy department today that two such planes appeared over the American territory about 9 o'clock the morning of Feb. 12. Admiral Nomura had asked that the numbers of offending planes be reported to him and Admiral Taylor advised Japanese officials the planes bore numbers 342 and 343.

Enforcement of the Kellogg pact by an economic boycott for violating nations is provided for in a resoluation introduced in the house today by Representative Morton D. Hull, Republican, Illinois.

The same question came up on the senate side when Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee replied to the demands of the world peace foundation for a boycott against Japan with a warning that such action "would in all probability be a step toward war."

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14. (Sunday)—Seven Japanese transports that steamed up the Whangpoo last night under the very noses of silent Chinese guns at the Woosung forts began discharging 10,000 fighting men and great loads of war munitions on the Shanghai docks this morning.

The Japanese expeditionary force brought along a large number of tanks which will be used to crush the strong Chinese machine gun positions in the vast network of trenches in Chapei.

These new transports, coming on the heels of six troopships that arrived Friday, were convoyed by four cruisers, seven destroyers, and six torpedo boats. They were crowded to the rails with stocky sons of Japan, trained to do the goose-step as well as the old German army, and—what is more important—equipped with every implement of modern warfare.

Bombing Continues

The ease with which they entered the Whangpoo indicated one thing to military observers; although the Chinese still held the Woosung forts after tons of shells and airplane bombs have been rained on them, the long Japanese bombardment apparently put the guns of the fortress out of commission. Military commentators agreed that the Chinese scarcely would have permitted the big troop movement if their guns had been in shape to send the transports to the bottom of the river.

Although Japanese military authorities announced they expected their big drive to start "at the earliest possible moment," it was believed there would be additional diplomatic maneuvering before the guns and tanks prepared the way for assault lines of Japanese bayonets.

The Chinese made good use of the let-up necessitated by the blizzard. Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai, the poet-warrior commanding the defenders, rearranged his front lines and reserves in order that he might be prepared to meet the impending Japanese thrust and turn it back. General Tsai declared he had 25,000 men ready for the action.

Hope for Truce

Lieut. Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, who is in command of all Japanese land operations, arrived Saturday with his staff aboard the Mikasa Maru a short time before the seven transports.

Japanese leaders declared they still had hopes that General Sai and other Chinese leaders would accept an armistice which would make their big push unnecessary. Chinese circles expected General Uyeda to deliver an ultimatum, and they asserted this expectation had stiffened the determination of their 19th army to fight it out to the last man.

The Chinese declared they had advance knowledge of Japanese reinforcement movements and increased their own strength accordingly. A dispatch from Peiping said the valor of the 19th had stimulated recruiting to such an extent that more than 200,000 volunteers had offered themselves for Shanghai service.

American troops in the international settlement raised new protections against shells and air bombs. San dbag emplacements along Soochow were made higher and thicker. Officers also took steps to keep their men warm. Brick ovens were installed in the posts for the benefit of sentries on duty during these cold, wet nights.

Volunteer Indian Traffic Director Hollywood Hides When Victory For U. S. Makes Him 'Heap Much Richer'

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13. (US)—Jackson Barnett, 82-year-old Creek Indian, went into hiding today—because he's $696,050 richer than he was yesterday.

The aged red skin, probably one of America's richest Indians, has been acting as an unofficial traffic guide at a residential corner here, but he temporarily abandoned his post and sought the comfortable seclusion of his Hollywood mansion when news of his new wealth arrived from New York.

Uncle Sam won the $696,050 for Barnett after 10 years of litigation to recover a "gift" of liberty bonds which the Indian deeded to the American Baptist Home Mission society shortly after the discovery of oil on his government land in Oklahoma.

Barnett's wealth is now estimated at $2,000,000 and if the government succeeds in its impending move to annul his marriage to a white woman it will probably be increased by another half million.

For several years now, the aged Indian has been directing traffic here—simply from the pure joy of directing. He gets no pay for it. His bent old figure is well-known by motorists.

General Improvement in Business Expected Result of Bill to Expand Credit Facilities of Reserve Bank

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (US)—Reduction in bank failures and improvement in business conditions generally, as likely results of the Steagall-Glass bill to expand the credit facilities of the federal reserve system, were forecast in a report of the house banking committee issued today.

President Hoover is expected to have the measure for his approval by the end of next week., Indications were the house will pass it Monday and the senate on Tuesday, though they may differ on features, which would force it to conference.

Speaker Garner today had under consideration the passage of the bill under a rule permitting only 40 minutes debate. This procedure requires a two-thirds majority to pass the bill. It is expected to pass by even a larger margin.

With the senate slated to reach a final vote on the La Follette-Costigan federal aid bill Monday, the way was believed clear for consideration of the Steagall-Glass bill Tuesday. As leaders of both major parties are committed to the principle of the bill, no difficulty in obtaining its passage in the senate was anticipated.

Representative Steagall, Democrat of Alabama, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, in his report to the house accompanying the bill, said:

"The purpose is to afford a means of relief to banks that find themselves in urgent need of accommodations when willing to enter into joint liability.

"It is believed that this bill, without undue expansion, will result in easier credit, which will aid in ending bank failures and in improving business conditions generally."

MECHANIC KILLED IN BLIMP CRASH

be done to hold the Columbia down, the wind shifted and up she went again with Pilot Dixon, grim-faced and tense, still grasping the controls.

For seven miles, the gale drove the helpless blimp along the Long Island beach until in final desperation, Dixon decided to open the petcocks and let us the helium.

She came hurtling down once more—this time faster than before. Dixon jumped as she neared the earth. He was crushed in the fall and rushed to a hospital.

For the last few months it has been flying above New York City every day. And more recently night flights were inaugurated during which the purr of her motor and the vari-colored lights which spelled "Goodyear" along her cigar-like bag, became familiar sights in the sky.

DEMAND $1,000 RANSOM FOR SARANAC LAKE MAN

SARANC LAKE, N. Y., Feb. 13. (AP)—A letter demanding a ransom of $1,000 for the return of Harry Blagden, who disappeared from Lake Placid club last Thursday, was received today by Thomas Blagden Jr., brother of the missing man. Relatives went to Lake Placid with $1,000. Blagden, in his letter, said he was writing it with one of his captors holding a pistol at his head.

CHINESE DELEGATE APPEALS TO LEAGUE

ity against the Japanese air bombardment of a flood refugee camp with over 8,000 refugees. On Feb. 5, a woman and a boy were killed, four were wounded and several others died of fright.

"The camp was again bombed on Feb. 6, and 48 were killed. The bombing continued the next day. It was was not only inhuman but from a military standpoint it was useless."

China and her troubles dominated Geneva for the day, and started conferences within conferences about the best way of tackling the problem which, if not solved, will admittedly wreck the disarmament ship. The league council talked about the Memel incident, content to wait until Monday when China alone will demand the convocation of the league assembly.

Dr. Yen, despite the council's hope that China would not toss the spitting, scratching oriental war into the lap of the disarmament conference, did just that. Following the representatives of Canada, Hungary and Latvia to the rostrum, Dr. Yen declared:

Greatest Crisis

"To no nation here represented has the problem of armaments so terrible a meaning as it has to the people of China. We are facing the greatest national crisis in our modern history.

"Confident in their armaments, people confuse might with right, the result is imperialism which forbids and destroys good understanding. This proved true in Europe in 1914 and is being proved true in Asia today.

"It has been said that confidence in the league has signally decreased since the Manchuria dispute began. My people demand that the nations which affixed their signatures to solemn instruments fulfil their obligations. This is the situation, ladies and gentlemen, and what do you intend to do about it? Is brute force again to be restored to its throne? Upon your answers to these questions will depend the success of failure of the disarmament conference."

It is learned meanwhile that the league council is anxious to have the United States attend the assembly meeting when it is called and is planning inducements to Washington. The American delegates are doubtful if Minister Hugh Wilson will be permitted by Washington to sit in on the assembly.

CURFEW LAW INVOKED RESULT OF THREE FIRES SOUTH CAROLINA TOWN

ELLOREE, S. C., Feb. 13. (AP)—Mayor E. E. Gasque of Elloree today invoked a curfew law here after the burning of two negro school buildings, a negro church and a subsequent threat to burn another church.

Any persons on the streets of this small town between midnight and 5 a. m. will be subject to arrest.

A note, a bottle of gasoline and several matches were found on the steps of the negro Methodist church yesterday. The note said that if Arthur Daniels, principal of the negro high school, did not leave Elloree, the church would be burned.

SIX CENT REDUCTION IN TRAVIS COUNTY TAX RATE

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (INS)—A six-cent reduction in the Travis county tax rate for 1932 was announced today by the county commissioners court. This year's levy will be at the rate of 84 cents on the $100 valuation instead of 90 cents, the 1931 rate.

A pay-as-you-go policy has improved the financial condition of the county government and has enabled the commissioners court to reduce the rate by six cents, officials explained.

SLIGHT BLAZE IN HOUSE WING NATIONAL CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (US)—Fire started in the house wing of the capitol today, but was extinguished before damage was done.

Oil soaked rags in an enclosed cubby-hole under a stairway caught fire, presumably by spontaneous combustion.

Smoke drifted up one flight to the house lobby, but did not interfere with proceedings in the house.

Remnants of two corduroy roads 100 years old were found at Norwalk, Ohio, at a depth of 14 feet.

Senator Blames Financial Chiefs For 'Wet' Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (US)—The fight against prohibition is being carried on by financial powers who wish to dodge taxes, Senator Smith W. Brookhart declared tonight. Speaking over the radio, he assailed the Association Against Prohibition, saying:

"This association was set up by a small number of big financial men who are heavy income tax payers because they are heavy profiteers upon the labor and earnings of the people. They were, in fact, an association of tax dodgers looking for an opportunity to transfer their taxes to the backs of the laboring people by the nullification of the 18th amendment."

In concluding, the senator said: "The fight is over now, so far as the constitution and the law is concerned. There is no vital question left except that of enforcement, and enforcement is improving."

Officers Receive Order to Deliver Body Man Killed

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., Feb. 13. (US)—Signed "Hersh" with no further identification, a message purporting to come from the father of Harry Simms, slain New York Communist speaker, was received by authorities here tonight. Simms was shot and killed by a coal mine guard.

The message sent from New York directed the police to turn Simms' body over to representatives of the central strike committee of the National Miners' union who would ship the body home following memorial services in the coal field.

A special guard was kept over the body today following a warning received from Joe Weber at Knoxville, Tenn., that plans were under way to steal the body from a local undertaking parlor. Weber is head of the Kentucky-Tennessee Miners union district. The body had been thought to be that of Weber following the shooting.

FARMERS EXPECTED TO APPLY FOR LOANS OF $5,000,000 IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Feb. 13. (AP)—Owen W. Sherrill of Georgetown, member of the Texas advisory committee to the federal reconstruction finance corporation, said today Texas farmers probably would seek immediately $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in loans under the agricultural intermediate credit plan of the corporation.

Sherrill had just returned from Washington where, with J. E. McDonald, state secretary of agriculture and Texas congressmen, he conferred with federal officials relative to handling farm credits in Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

He said the three states would be cared for through the Dallas regional office, instead of the St. Louis office, as originally planned.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO WED FILED BY BROKER AND MRS. LUCY DOHENY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13. (US)—Evading attention by secretly visiting the office of County Clerk L. E. Lampton instead of going to the marriage license bureau, Mrs. Lucy Smith Doheny, widow of Edward Lawrence Doheny Jr. and Leigh McMaster Battson, San Francisco broker, today filed their notice of intention to wed.

Lampton himself brought the documents to the bureau, after Mrs. Doheny and Battson had filled them out.

Mrs. Doheny gave her age as 38 years and her occupation as housekeeper. Battson listed himself as 40 years old, and divorced.

The marriage is to take place at noon on Thursday in the English drawing room of Mrs. Doheny's home in Beverly Hills, with Dr. Robert Freeman of Pasadena officiating.

Noted Banker Explains Several Benefits Immediately Apparent in Provisions Proposed Relief Bill

By CHARLES J. M'GUIRK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (INS)—The almost hysterical relief with which the banking interests of the United States have greeted the Glass-Steagall bill now pending before congress, was explained today by one of America's foremost financiers in an hour and a half interview with this correspondent.

He declared that several benefits would be immediately apparent.

1. It will restore the confidence of the country in its banks.

2. It will stop, by this return of confidence, the hoarding which has drained more than a billion and a half in currency from circulation and sent it into hiding.

3. It will keep the United States on the gold standard from which it inevitably would have departed unless this or some similar method had been devised to increase its credit reserve.

Will Release Large Sum

4. It will immediately release more than a billion dollars by making available the $800,000,000 in government securities acquired by the Federal Reserve bank in the open market but "frozen" now by present inadequate legislation.

5. It will give to the Federal Reserve bank the power to control the money market to a certain extent.

6. It will increase the supply of our free gold from $498,000,000 to $1,319,000,000 and puts the United States in position to carry on even if all the foreign-owned free gold now in our banks should be withdrawn.

7. It is, as he expressed it, "A new strong horse hitched up with the Reserve Finance corporation and will eliminate fear of bank failures, restore confidence and in turn will assure not only the return of hoarded currency but insure against further withdrawal of currency for hoarding. In other words, it eliminates fear from the king's seat."

Will Resore Ratio

8. It will restore the present abnormal ratio of 80 per cent gold and 20 per cent of eligible paper to the normal ratio of 40 per cent gold and 60 per cent eligible paper upon which our currency system is based under the law.

The financier, one of the most powerful in the country, gave the interview only after he had received definite assurances that his name and identity would not be revealed. Receiving this assurance, he discussed the Glass-Steagall bill, the events which have led up to its framing and the way it will influence finance and the world markets.

"To understand the Glass-Steagall bill and its probable effects upon the present grave crisis," he said. "You must realize that two great leaks were bleeding our currency white. They were the gigantic withdrawals of foreign-owned gold from the deposit of United States banks and the withdrawal of currency from the banks for purposes of hoarding."

WHETHER FLAMING YOUTH?

As Told to Bessie K. Roberts

By DR. CURTIS REESE

(Copyright by Public Ledger)

DR. CURTIS REESE

"The battles of the immediate future will be in the field of sex, which has been so misunderstood and undervalued as a source of spiritual power.

This is the conviction expressed by Dr. Curtis W. Reese, head of Abraham Lincoln Center, Chicago, successor to the renowned Jenkin Lloyd Jones. In a recent book, "Humanist Religion," Dr. Reese touches on the perfectibility of man's nature and the concern of humanism with all human well-being. In an interview with me he stressed the humanist attitude toward youth and some of the problems arising out of modern life.

Humanism he defines as a "philosophy of human well-being on the basis of man's inherent needs and aspirations, whether biological or mental, material or spiritual." It is his belief that within natural limits we can actually control our world, so as to make possible a satisfactory life for all mankind.

"What will be the mental, moral and physical effect of the swift modern tempo on the offspring of the flapper, the ultramodern and revolting youth?" I asked him.

"There will be no physical effect on the offspring of ultra-moderns and revolting youth, nor mental either. But as to the moral, the social inheritance, there will be a marked effect. The present generation is experimenting, creating new cultural norms. The whole tendency is toward a more wholesome attitude toward life. Modern youth is so much more frank and open and altogether fine about matters than former generations, it seems to me."

"What would you say about the crimes for which modern youth is being tried from time to time?"

"With the jealousy motive reduced there will be fewer, not more, crimes. And it is the tendency of modern youth to lack jealousy. These sporadic crimes are played up more than ever before in history. They just seem like more."

"What do you think is the folly of this generation?" I wanted to know.

"The tendency for momentary pleasure. The mistaking of the satisfying for the satisfactory. This age seems to lack the abiding idea of harmony and balance of satisfactions. The pace is too swift. This generation of youth is making the adjustments and it is a difficult matter. They have a big job."

"How does this generation differ from previous generations?" I asked him.

"Each age considers the other age old fashioned. Baby carriages were once considered revolutionary. Men said that if God had intended that babies should be wheeled around, women would have been equipped with wheels. New ideas are always considered revolutionary by some. There are always those who oppose progress. They are the ones who can't understand modern youth.

"It seems to me that the changing mores of our times are going to lead to a fuller life. There were too many repressions and prohibitions in the social practices of the past. The slogan of this era is expression instead of repression. The whole tendency will lead to the development of more normal types."

"What do you think is the dangerous age?"

"Well, it's a mistake to think that all youths are radical and age conservative. That is not always true. Sometimes the reverse is true, in fact. I should say that the dangerous age is that age when the individual ceases to make readjustments of his ideals and values. It has nothing to do with the calendar. It might have something to do with the arteries," said Dr. Reese, twinkling.

"What is the cause of the laxness of morals about which we bear so much wailing?"

"Of course the so-called moral laxness is, after all, a temporary matter. There are styles in sinning just as in everything else. And styles in everything change. If there were no legal or ecclesiastical restrictions on sex conduct I do not believe that promiscuity would result. Most people want to be decent. Women want respect and love. Bans never do any good."

Dr. Reese is interested in all modern movements directed toward a freedom from taboos. He believes in the teachings of Ben Lindsey. He thinks the total effect of Puritanism was bad. It put a ban on pleasure and classed everything that came under its head as evil. It has taken civilization years to work out of this influence. Much of the conservatism today smacks of the Puritan influence.

Modern youth, Dr. Reese thinks, is making experimental quests. "The newer mind thinks of nothing so little as of certainty. In fact, he rather doubts whether any certainty exists. He feels the thrill of novelty."

The next generation, he says, by virtue of the humanist inheritance, will be able to consider such ideas as these: "What of a warless world? What of industry operated for the good of all? What of free peoples working out their own destiny? What of a new generation reared in possession of the culture of all times. . . . ? What of minds free of the fears that haunt them—fear of the past that presses upon them, fear of the overarching unknown, fear of the plagues that waste the body and the mind, fear of fear itself?"

The next generation are the heirs of all the ages, according to this philosopher. They have the greatest inheritance of all times. He makes one envy them their opportunities, and he is hopeful about the outcome of the experimental quest of modern youth.

Next—Charles Francis Coe.

COPPER PRICES ADVANCE BETTER FEELING SHOWN

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Copper prices today reflected the better feeling displayed by commodity and security markets and there was a moderate advance in prices.

Customs smelters raised the quotations for foreign shipments to 6⅜ cents a pound against the previous price of 6⅛, and the domestic to 6¼ cents. In the domestic market the metal has been selling for 6 cents a pound.

Aerial Picketing Used in Lockout Century Pilots

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. (INS)—Introducing aerial picketing this aeronautical innovation today was the latest development in the dispute between the century air lines and 21 "locked out" pilots.

An aerial "sandwick board" flew over Chicago after taxiing back and forth on the runway at the airport where the century planes arrive and depart.

Piloted by Michael Caffarelo, the picket plane on its fuselage bore the painted words: "Century is unfair to pilots."

Explaining this novel method of picketing, David Behncke, president of the Air Line Pilots' association, said:

"We don't believe in violence, but we want our message carried before the public and we have chosen our own modern way of doing it."

The 21 flyers were discharged by Century Air lines after they had threatened to strike against a new wage scale calling for an approximate 40 per cent reduction.

MOTHER SAILS TO MAKE INQUIRY INTO DAUGHTER'S DEATH

NAPLES, Italy, Feb. 13. (AP)—Mrs. Mabel E. Cook, of Boston, Mass., sailed for home this afternoon on the Conte Biancamano to investigate mysterious developments in connection with the death of her daughter, Elizabeth Barrett Cook, aboard the steamship Chinese Prince between Naples and Gibraltar last week.

Another daughter, Louise Cook, sailed with her mother.

Just before Elizabeth Barrett Cook left Naples Feb. 4, Mrs. Cook said the girl received a cablegram from Boston saying her fiance, St. George Arnold, had died after an operation for appendicitis and advising her "on no account to return home."

Yesterday, Mrs. Cook said, she herself received a cablegram, signed with the name St. George Arnold, expressing condolences over Elizabeth's death.

Miss Cook sailed for home Feb. 4, in spite of the injunction in the cablegram telling of her fiance's death and Mrs. Cook was notified later by steamship officials that she had died of pneumonia on board the steamer. Mrs. Cook ordered the body buried at Gibraltar.

Mounties Follow Demented Trapper To Arctic Wastes

AKLAVIK, N. W. T., Feb. 13. (UP)—The dogged trial of Albert Johnson, demented trapper fleeing before the pursuit of a royal Canadian mounted police posse, entered the blizzard swept barrens of the Yukon today.

A radio message from his two closest pursuers indicated that the ever slowing flight had scaled the mountain divide separating the northwest territory from the Yukon.

The men were Quartermaster R. F. Riddell and Sergt. Hersey of the Royal Canadian mounted police. They were tracking the crazed woodsman who has defied the corps six weeks, killed one officer and wounded another.

Only the piercing wind and thunderous cracking of ice in the 50 degrees below zero temperature broke the silence as the men mushed forward. But as their eyes strained to follow the tracks, drift-obscured and almost invisible in the perpetual twilight of the northern winter, they saw the footsteps slowly shortening.

It signified, they reported by radio, the beginning of the end. Johnson, driven mad by the isolation of the wild country, is weakening. His frantic flight is almost over. Though the constables traveled as swiftly as possible, they feared their quarry would succumb to the bitter cold and starvation before they capture him.

HUNDREDS OF FRIENDS PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO ELECTRA SCHOOL GIRL

Clark Russell, pastor, officiated with Totten Brothers in charge. E. E. Rogers, principal of the high school, told of her activities in school. Members of the senior class of which she was a member, the faculty, and Rainbow Girls attended in a body.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elige Reed, two brothers, Elige Jr., and James Ralph Reed who reside on the Waggoner ranch where Mr. Reed is foreman.

CHAIRS NEEDED AT BOYS' CLUB DIRECTOR SAYS

By MARVIN ROBERTSON
Director Wichita Falls Boys Club

One of the greatest sayings of Jesus is in reference to children and it is, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for such is the kingdom of heaven." Jesus loved little children and wanted them to be brought up to love Him and to live right.

The Wichita Falls Boys club, through the help of the public, is trying to live up to Christ's teachings. A call was made through the newspapers the other day for tables, divans, and chairs for the club and a wonderful response was received.

The following people have made the club a much better place for the boys to come to through their donations: Mrs. C. A. Hall, 1640 Collins, gave the club a duofold, library table, card table and a heater; the Freear Furniture company donated a fine three-piece wicker suite; Mrs. Frank Humphrey, 2201 Brown, gave two card tables; Mrs. H. T. Stewart, 1006 California, one card table, and Miss Joyce Samuels a leather upholstered duofold.

The library of the club consists of two rooms and in one the wicker suite and the duofold of Mrs. Hall's make an exceptional reading room with plenty of seats for the boys. In the other room, where the books are located, the leather duofold will be placed, where the boys can select the book that they want to read.

Although the club received far more fine furniture than was expected, it did not receive a single chair for the game rooms. We have plenty of tables now but in order that the boys may sit down and play their games, we must have a number of folding or straight chairs and then the club will be equipped far better than any of the members or the director has ever dreamed of. Any one who has an extra chair or two is asked to call the club Sunday morning between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 12 o'clock, or Monday between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m. and Monday night from 7 to 9:30 o'clock. The phone number is 2-0047.

Since the club takes care of a boy's leisure hours, which is in fact a teaching of Jesus, we want to thank the people again that have donated the furniture to the club which plays such a great part in helping to take care of the boys.

'Dead' Woman Dies From Exposure on Table at Morgue

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 13. (INS)—Exposure on an operating table in the city morgue caused the death of Mrs. Esther Falk, 32, seven hours after she had been received as "dead."

That the woman lived seven hours after she was pronounced dead was established by an autopsy today as authorities began an investigation to fix responsibility for her exposure on the morgue table.

Coroner Henry Grundman admitted that no physician had made a preliminary examination of the woman before she was received at the morgue as "dead" and allowed to lie on the table during all those hours when efforts to revive her might have been made.

Mrs. Falk was found in a pool in a vacant lot near her home, her legs submerged through a thin layer of ice. Believed to have been dead, she was taken to the morgue where, some time later, Dr. E. L. Miloslavich, county pathologist, arrived to conduct an autopsy.

Dr. Miloslavich discovered "a spark of life" in the woman just as he was about to begin his autopsy. He summoned the Falk family physician, Dr. Geral E. Sullivan, and a fire department rescue squad. The firemen worked frantically for two hours with a mechanical inhalator, but failed to revive the woman.

Upon completion of a post-mortem examination, Dr. Miloslavich and Dr. Sullivan announced that the exposure on the morgue table caused death.

GUY HILL SELECTED MOST USEFUL CITIZEN IN SHAMROCK CONTEST

SHAMROCK, Feb. 13.—After 10 days of most intensive balloting in a contest to determine Shamrock's most useful citizen during 1931, Guy Hill, secretary of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce, was declared winner by an overwhelming majority.

Hill was awarded the honor because of his outstanding work in many local activities. During the past year Hill served as secretary of the chamber of commerce, manager of Retail Merchants association, secretary of united charities, secretary of Shamrock Gas and Oil Board of Trade, and service officer of the American Legion post. He was elected president of the Panhandle Secretaries association, composed of secretaries of chambers of the Panhandle, more than a year ago.

Hill is also recognized as a great booster for Shamrock everywhere he goes by his ability to make friends and is known as Guy to everyone who has met him as many as two times.

Official Who Helped Build First Collingsworth County Courthouse Helps Plan Opening of New One

By JIMMIE GILLENTINE

WELLINGTON, Texas, Feb. 13.—Climaxing a picturesque career of pioneer hardships, cowboy feuds, fast gun play, and the gradual spread of civilization into the lawless Panhandle country of West Texas, Judge P. W. Myers, justice of peace, will terminate his 40th year as a public official of Collingsworth county in the new courthouse, which will be completed in Wellington on March 1. During the past half century, Judge Myers has held the offices of county judge, deputy sheriff, county commissioner, and justice of peace. He began his service as a public officer in 1892, two years after the county was formed, and holds the distinction of being the second judge of the county and of completing his first term in the first courthouse of the county.

JUDGE P. W. MYERS

Judge Myers came to Collingsworth county in the early 80's when there were only 10 families in the entire 200,000 acres of what is now Collingsworth county. Today, he is the only living citizen of the county who was here when he arrived. Like the other cowboys, nesters and settlers, he grew with the county and in his own words, "Lived by his gun and Bible."

"An awful lot of people were killed in those early days," Judge Myers said. "In fact, when you consider the scarcity of people, the number killed was appalling. Someone was killed almost every week and many times, I have expected to 'go over the river' any minute.

Cowboy Feud in 90's

"The most shooting that this county ever saw was during the cowboy feud of the 90's. During this time men were killed on the slightest pretext and it got so bad that families would even take a crack at their kin. There was a breach between the ranchers on the north and the nestors on the south and with the installation of the county in 1890, the breach opened into a regular cowboy feud.

"In the first place, Wellington is not supposed to be the county seat of Collingsworth county at all. Pearl City (now extinct) was chosen as the county seat and hundreds of dollars were lost by the settlers over the change of the location.

"The north section of the county was first populated by the Rocking Chair outfit, a ranch owned by Edward Majorbanks, Baron of Tweedmouth, and John Campbell Gordon Hamilton, Earl of Aberdeen. Both of these men were of England and although neither of them ever saw the land more than twice, they planned to establish a huge estate in the Panhandle; their initial purchase extended through Wellington, Shamrock, Salisbury and Aberdeen.

"The south side of the county was settled mostly by nesters and farmers. Naturally, these two groups did not like each other because of the nature of their occupation and fact that the north section was controlled by foreigners did not help the situation. Before the county was formed, however, we got along pretty well.

"One day John Drew, foreman of the Rocking Chair, rode over and told the south side that he would choose two members of a committee if they would select three representatives. Charles Roberts, R. A. Dysert and myself were selected to represent the south side, while Frank Newsome and "Daddy" Holmes were chosen to represent the north. The committee met and chose Pearl City as the county seat of Collingsworth county.

Many of the landowners of the county purchased lots at Pearl City and some went even so far as to bring in loads of settlers to enlarge the town. When the time came, however, the north side group broke over and refused to stand hitched on the election. They were encouraged by a group of Childress business men, headed by Sam Britt, E. T. O'Neil, and Sam McCall. All of the cowboys on the Rocking Chair were moved over the line and voted for Wellington. The result was that the south side lost the election. For several years following the election, both sides prepared for and planned on a pitched battle, but it never occurred.

First Saloon

"I remember the first business establishment in Wellington—it was a saloon, operated by A. F. Swafford. I guess you could hardly expect a town which was founded through a feud and where the first business establishment was a saloon, to be a peaceful place—and it certainly was not.

"When I was deputy sheriff, they used to exchange shots in the old courthouse occasionally, and in several of the banisters of the old courthouse may be found holes where the cowboys of old shot it out. About the worst scare I ever had was when a mob attacked six of us one day to take a prisoner from the jail, which was then located in the courthouse. We built a barricade in the sheriff's office, loaded our guns and decided to 'go over the river' if it came to a showdown. They never did attack us, however, but for several hours, no official dared show his head from the inside of the old building."

Naturally, there were numerous incidents and although Judge Myers was hesitant to relate them, he did tell the following episode with zest:

"About 1890, while Wellington was still a village and there were very few people in the county, it was customary for the ranchers who had cattle running on the range to club together at certain times of the year for a general roundup, each rancher furnishing the number of cowboys necessary to do the work. On this special occasion, they were camped north of Wellington and there were so many that a beef had to be killed daily to feed them. Late one evening, the cowboy, whose duty it was to kill the beef, made a bad shot and the fun began. Several other cowboys went to the aid of their companion with guns, ropes and dogs. Naturally, the shooting, yelling, and barking created quite a disturbance.

Fake Indian Raid

"One of the nearby farmers saw the rise of dust and confusion. His first thought was Indians. Without waiting for further investigation, he ran, mounted a mule, placed others in his family on ponies and made haste to warn his neighbors. He spread the news as he traveled along and upon arriving at Wellington, decided that the place was not safe, so he headed for Salisbury, 20 miles distant. He spread the news and finally reached the town after having ridden one of his mounts to death. Salisbury had wire communications, so they wired Memphis, Fort Worth, and other points to protect themselves. A general call was made for rangers and the inhabitants of other small towns banded themselves together for protection.

"When the cowboys came into Wellington, cowboy like, they humored the joke and told of a terrible fight that had taken place, stating that they had whipped the Indians and turned them back to the reservation, when in fact there was not an Indian this side of the Wichita mountains. It was several days before the citizens learned that this Indian raid was only the imagination of a scared man."

During his nine years of service as deputy sheriff, Judge Myers also recalls many thrilling episodes in dealing with criminals during the lawless 90's.

No Opposition

When questioned about moving into the new courthouse, he said:

"It will never mean the same to me that the old one did. The people of the county built the old courthouse with their own hands. A kiln was erected at Buck creek and the bricks that went into the structure were made of native clay. When it was finished, we thought we had about the best courthouse in all the world. I guess it is rather sentimental, but I do want to serve in the new one—just to say that I have served in them both."

Nor do the people of Collingsworth county begrudge him the privilege. Although every other office in the county is sought by five and six candidates, Judge Myers has no opponent in the ensuing election. He gave the earlier years of his life to the developing of the county and he gave the latter part of his life in keeping it honest, just and civil.

As the oldest living pioneer citizen of the county residing here at the present day, he has the little village of Fresno named by him and also holds the honor of being the second postmaster in this section of West Texas.

He watched the Panhandle grow from a cattle country into one of the most fertile sections of agricultural land in Texas, over 49,000 bales of cotton having been produced during the current season, and has long since laid away his guns—but he still abides by his Bible—going to church each Sunday and stands to the old and young as a staunch advocate of justice and a guardian of the law.

BURK GETS NEXT DISTRICT MEET OF AMERICAN LEGION

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Feb. 13.—The American Legion Oscar Frye post No. 264, of Burkburnett, secured the convention of the 13th district, which will be held here in October. The exact date is to be set later, but if possible it will be arranged to be held at the same time as the monthly rodeo, in order that this exhibition will furnish a big part of the entertainment feature for one day.

The local post was represented at the last district meeting, held in Denton by District Commander Steve Marchand. Vice Commander T. Marshall and Adjutant H. R. Hayes. Members of Pat Carrigan post of Wichita Falls pledged themselves to assist in entertaining the visitors in Burkburnett at the convention.

At the last meeting of the local legion post, an interesting program was presented with W. D. Bent as chairman. Peggy Jane Graves gave a tap dancing exhibition and Jack McWilliams played several piano numbers. Misses Ramey Gene High and Ruth Willis sang several songs with Miss Isabelle Johnson accompanying them at the piano. Mrs. Leo Foster sang several songs accompanied by Mrs. W. D. Bent. The principal address was made by Rabbi Schwab, chaplain of the Pat Carrigan post at Wichita Falls. A talk was also made by Butler Westerfield, superintendent of Burkburnett public schools.

It's All Dream Ruth Judd Tells Elderly Parents

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 13. (INS)—"It's all a dream; it's all a dream," murmured Ruth Judd, convicted "double trunk" murderess to her elderly parents, the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, as they visited her today in her jail cell.

Mrs. Judd, accused of killing Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson, whose bodies were shipped in trunks to Los Angeles, and doomed to die on the gallows by verdict of a jury, cannot understand she is to hang, her husband, Dr. W. C. Judd, explained.

"Ruth doesn't realize what it's all about," Dr. Judd said. "If she is sane she is the most collected or bravest person I've ever seen."

Mrs. Judd's attorneys said they would advance "ten good reasons and maybe more" in their motion for a new trial. The obtained affidavits to show that certain members of the condemning jury were prejudiced before the trial started.

Judge Howard Speakman on Feb. 23 formally will sentence Mrs. Judd to be hanged in the state prison at Florence.

Rapid Expansion of Construction Activities in Chicago Forecast by Wage Cut Building Trades Unions

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. (INS)—A rapid expansion of Chicago's construction activities was forecast today as a happy consequence of the 20 per cent wage reduction voluntarily accepted by the city's 31 building trades unions.

The pay cut will go into effect March 1 and the reduced scale will last for one year. It will affect 150,000 organized workers.

Agreement on the reduction was reached yesterday at a conference between the arbitration board of the Building Construction Employers' association and the building trades council, representing the unions.

It was said to be the first time in Chicago's industrial history that representatives of employers and employes in a major business signed a compact affecting wages without resort to prolonged bickering, strikes or lockouts. The conference, it was revealed today, proceeded in a spirit of amity and mutual willingness to cooperate in the revival of a dropping industry.

In accepting the 12-month decrease the unions waived the employment contracts now in force, calling for maintenance of the present wage scale until 1934.

To Help All Lines

Declaring that the wage slash will have far-reaching effects in numerous industries closely dependent on construction, Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the building trades council, hailed the agreement as a precursor of prosperity.

"The building trades council and its affiliated unions are more than anxious to do their part in restoring confidence," he said. "If the action in voluntarily reducing wages will assist in accomplishing this result, we will indeed feel the action was justified."

Banking and business leaders of the city joined contractors and architects in praising the voluntary reduction as a powerful incentive to increased construction activity because of lower labor costs.

The employers' association had requested the union to accept a 25 per cent decrease, but labor's offer to take a 20 per cent reduction prompted the immediate withdrawal of the original demand.

Praising labor's sacrifice, Oscar W. Rosenthal, president of the Builders' association, said:

"The voluntary reduction of wages should have a decided effect on business. Efficiency of labor is high, material prices are exceedingly low and this action should make building costs attractive to the public."

Five years ago building permits in Chicago totalled $30,000,000 a month on the average, whereas during the past month permits aggregated only $329,800.

The winner of each of these unique contests will be awarded a round trip ticket to Amarillo where they may participate at the stock show for cash prizes and merchandise.

With many entrants in both events having been made a large crowd is expected in Shamrock Feb. 19. Several amusement features will be used to relieve the monotony of the contests, one of them being a greased pig race in which the boy who captures the well greased pig will be allowed to keep it.

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 13.—A total of 1,955 poll tax receipts were issued in Knox county this year, a final recheck of records has disclosed, according to Miss Sarah Wright, county tax collector. Munday leads other communities with 408, with Knox City second with 370. First tabulations indicated a total of only 1,750 poll tax receipts for the county.

J. MONTGOMERY NAMED SERVICE GROUP LEADER

A. E. Kelly Appoints Workers for Chamber of Commerce New Committee

TO RENDER AID TO ALL OF NEARBY COMMUNITIES

Plan to Cooperate in All Matters Considered of Area-Wide Interest

A new activity of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce to be known as the "Trade Area Development Service" was announced Saturday by President Albert E. Kelly. Its purpose is to render friendly aid to other communities of Northern Texas and Southwest Oklahoma in the solution of their own development problems and to cooperate with such communities in all matters of area-wide interest. Julian Montgomery, of the engineering firm of Montgomery & Ward, will be chairman of the committee in charge of this work.

"This new activity is neither trade extension nor good will work," declared Mr. Montgomery. "It is to be a real development service in every sense of the word. We have come to realize that Wichita Falls can grow and prosper only in the degree that other parts of this area develop and thrive. If we can help bring about greater development in other parts of our trade area, we will be helping ourselves in a substantial way. Our services will be offered with the frank understanding that our own community and the community we seek to serve will mutually benefit from our efforts.

"In other words, our aim will be to help create increased buying power in the territory served by Wichita Falls. It will then be up to local firms to offer service and value which will entitle them to their share of this increased business.

"The committee in charge of this work is made up of men who are experienced in development work and many of them are specialists in certain lines. The committee will be assisted by staff members of the chamber of commerce and by other citizens in a position to help.

How Service Given

"The committee's services will be given to other towns only on their own request. They will be under no obligation for it, and it will be given without any cost to them. Among other activities, we will be pleased to assist in the organization of local commercial organizations and in planning their activities. In other words, all of the facilities of our own city and its chamber of commerce will be made available to other towns in this area.

"The committee will also organize a speakers' bureau in order that well informed and entertaining speakers may be available when calls for such services are received."

The first meeting of the new "trade area development service" committee has been called for next Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. in the chamber of commerce offices.

Homecoming of Governor Murray To Collinsville Next Thursday to Include Huge Triumphal Procession

COLLINSVILLE, Texas, Feb. 13.—The homecoming of William H. Murray to Collinsville next Thursday afternoon is to be a triumphal procession through two states.

Governor Murray is to speak at Collinsville at 1 p. m. and in the gathering that hears him will be old timers who can recall his birth in this community in 1869.

Oklahoma and Texas admirers of the Oklahoma executive, whose candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president is being promoted have been invited to gather at Durant, Okla., and proceed in a gigantic parade to Collinsville. Murray admirers expect the parade to be one of the biggest demonstrations of the kind ever made in the Southwest. They expect it to stretch in a continuous line from Durant to Collinsville, a distance of more than 40 miles. Sheriffs, mayors and marshals are expected to head the delegations from their respective towns and counties.

Moving and talking pictures are to be taken. There will be a hookup for broadcasting through a national radio chain and representatives of newspapers and press associations are expected to report the address of Governor Murray and describe the scene.

OATHS OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO MELLON AND MILLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon solemnly pronounced the words "I do," and a moment later they were echoed by Ogden Mills.

"That isn't a marriage ceremony. It's a divorce," observed Mellon, as he leaned over and signed his name, amid a burst of laughter.

Whatever it was, the ceremony had made Mellon ambassador to England and Mills secretary of the treasury. It was held yesterday afternoon at quitting time, after the man who managed the treasury under three presidents finished signing his last letters from that office and cleared the desk for his successor.

Quite a gathering witnessed the transfer. General Dawes, who left the London diplomatic post to run the reconstruction corporation; Gov. Eugene Meyer of the federal reserve board; Lawrence Richey, representing President Hoover, were in the crowd. After the formalities, the visitors made the event a reception by filing in a handshaking line to congratulate them both.

Arthur A. Ballantine became undersecretary of the treasury at the same time, taking the oath that permitted him to advance to the place vacated by Mills.

BRYAN IN DENVER FOR SILVER CONFERENCE TO BE CONVENED MONDAY

DENVER, Feb. 13. (UP)—William Jennings Bryan Jr., son of the great commoner, was in Denver today to show the economic world a silver lining to its clouds of depression. He was here for his silver conference which opens Monday.

Twenty-four years ago his father came to Denver to resume leadership of the Democratic party, and lost when he went down to defeat before opponents of his 16 to 1.

Viewing silver as the keystone of the economic problem of today, the younger Bryan seeks to open an educational campaign to convince the world that silver must be re-established as money.

He will depend upon the logic of his premises to re-establish silver coinage, rather than silver-tongued oratory as did his father.

"The gold standard," he declared, "has obviously failed. This is an outgrowth of insufficient gold production and maldistribution of that metal between countries."

Hoover Blamed For Attacks on Gov. Roosevelt

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 13. (INS)—Responsibility for the Republican plan for a sweeping legislative investigation of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's regime at Albany today was laid squarely on the White House door step by Senator John J. Dunnigan, Democratic senate chief.

"Of course orders from Washington must be obeyed," Dunnigan declared in a statement. "Mr. Hoover unquestionably realizes that he must have New York state behind him if he wishes to occupy the White House for another four years. Mr. Hoover further realizes that he will be unable to defeat Governor Roosevelt if our chief executive is his opponent."

After charging that official Washington ordered the Republican controlled legislature of New York to "try and get something on Roosevelt," Dunnigan said the new slogan of the Republican party in this state is:

"Beat Roosevelt now instead of in November."

He predicted the investigation will be turned "into another propaganda bureau for the re-election of Hoover and whoever the Republicans nominate for governor."

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow," with Ruth Chatterton and Paul Lukas, comes to the Majestic theater next Friday.

Majestic Has 'Lovers Courageous' Wheeler and Woolsey for Tuesday 'Girl of the Rio' at State Sunday

Robert Montgomery is the captivating star of "Lovers Courageous," a charming new Metro-Goldwyn, Mayer offering now playing at the Majestic.

Montgomery fans go wild over this dashing romance in which Madge Evans is the girl 'of his dreams. Together they make as pleasing a romantic team as ever appeared on the screen. They evoke a ring of sincerity in their performances that is delightful.

The story is an original by Frederick Lonsdale, noted British playwright, who penned it especially for Montgomery, we are told. It is strikingly simple and 'real and thoroughly enjoyable.

The picture is superbly mounted and the background and camera treatment are splendidly fitted to the theme.

In addition you will see, "Quit Your Kicking," an act, "The Putter," with Bobby Jones and Fox news in sound.

"Peach-O'-Reno"

Their latest cinematic fun riot is "Peach-O'-Reno," starting next Tuesday at the Majestic. This time the great comedy team represents a firm of Reno divorce lawyers, and the picture is an hilarious take-off on the wide-open town.

The two star comedians, who have appeared in many notable film comedies, satirize Reno and its chief industry with enthusiasm and a rollicking sense of humor.

The picture is more lavishly produced than previous Wheeler-Woolsey films, with elaborate courtroom, night club and the jazziest of office sets seen in some time.

To add to your enjoyment you will see, "Voice of Hollywood," a novelty; "One Good Turn," a comedy; "Russian Lullaby," a screen song and Paramount news in sound.

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow"

Paul Lukas' latest featured role, with Ruth Chatterton in "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," marks the fourth time he has appeared opposite the star. He supported her in "Anybody's Woman," "The Right to Love" and "Unfaithful." "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," a picturization of the successful Broadway stage show of a year ago, will be featured at the Majestic next Friday.

To make your evening complete you will see the best of short subjects and Fox news in sound.

"GIRL OF THE RIO" COMES TO STATE THEATER SUNDAY

Vibrant with the personality of a new and lovelier Dolores Del Rio, the star's new picture opens at the State Sunday for a three-day engagement. Returning to the screen after an absence of nearly two years, due to illness, Delores Del Rio brings a story typical of her own colorful life, "Girl of the Rio" adapted from the famous Willard Mack stage play, "The Dove." The supporting cast includes Leo Carillo and Norman Foster, with Foster playing the romantic male lead and Carillo the border rancher whose power and riches ruled an entire countryside.

The story is a dramatic one—yet powerful in entertainment value. Del Rio, in the role of "The Dove" is forced by circumstances to sing and dance in a riotous cafe just across the border from the U. S. The crossing of lives of this young American gambler, the Mexican rancher and the cafe entertainer furnish the plot of the story. The star makes the portrait of the cafe entertainer a dramatic canvas of conflicting moods—at one time subdued and afraid, and when the emergency occurs, a forceful defender of her lover.

"Are These Our Children"

"Are These Our Children" comes to the State Wednesday for a three day run. The featured players are Rochelle Hudson, Eric Linden and Arline Judge. "Are These Our Children" is Wesley Ruggles' drama of 20th century youth, acclaimed by critics as being the first film ever to honestly portray modern youth. One New York critic states that it challenges the conventionality of motion picture tradition in its clinical analysis of today's youth.

Starkly realistic, the film sweeps on with the vital story of high school boys and girls who share their first tastes of life and who whirl giddily through mature experiences all oblivious of its consequences.

Saturday George O'Brien and Sally Eilers will be seen in "Holy Terror," playing for one day only.

Longing to Look Into Faces Brings Jolson Back to Footlights and to Wichita Falls in 'The Wonder Bar'

AL JOLSON

After five years in the talking films, Al Jolson, sans "Mammy," sans blackface, comes to Memorial auditorium for one night, Friday, March 11, according to H. C. Cheshire, local manager. Time was when the New York Winter Garden kept his name up in lights almost continuously, but that was before the pictures took both Al and the Winter Garden. The vehicle that brings him back is the continental combination of musical comedy, drama, revue and cabaret, "The Wonder Bar," which invades our city for the first time.

"I wanted to see audiences for a while," he says. "The old applause has been missing for five years. I want to hear it again. You make a picture, and that's that. Then you start to make another one. They tell you the first one was a wow in Kalamazoo, Boston and a hundred other towns. They tell you the people cheered in New York, but how do I know, when I'm in California? I guess it's sentiment. Those big salary checks leave something wanting, and it's not salary?"

Looking back at newspaper files, it's amusing to note that when Al Jolson first appeared on Broadway in "La Belle Paree," a Winter Garden spectacle, the critics paid little attention to him. The only reviewer who mentioned him said: "He is a rather sad imitation of Bert Williams. He should remove his blackface and get a job somewhere." Three years later he was one of the highest paid performers in the world, and was still donning sepia. Having acquired that amazing self-confidence which is characteristic of his style, he began evincing a friendly interest in the audience, with whom he exchanged gags and greetings. This is the phase of his work that he found sadly lacking in Hollywood.

Five years in Hollywood have not changed Jolson. He still takes an avid interest in every phase of a play's production from engaging the cast to designing the costumes. He reaches rehearsals before the others and is the last one to leave. He even writes his own second verses for all the songs. Now Al has 30 stooges in "The Wonder Bar"—ladies and gentlemen ranging all the way from a real Russian prince and German countess to tumblers who make a heroic attempt to fracture a vertebrae at each performance, but who haven't succeeded up to the present writing. These are the things that drew Jolson back to the stage. He finds Hollywood too impersonal as a steady residence, too intent on trying to get somewhere to be much of a playground for one of our most enthusiastic playboys. Impromptu happenings fascinate him, while he finds that grinding cameras become terrible bores.

Jolson's large supporting cast, numbering over 75, is a splendid one and includes such noted international artists of renown as Claire Windsor, Luana Alcaniz, Walter Armitage, Patsy Kelly, Auguste Aramini, Leonid Kinskey, Dagmar Oakland, Antonina Fechner, Renee Cartier, Frank Green, Clayton Estes, Laura Pierpont, Viola Gillette, Jay Williams, Frank Jerome, Ernest Lambert, Henry Morrell, Clarence Harvey, Mangini Brothers, Roman Arnoldoff, Akin Tamiroff, Al Segal, Michael Dalmatoff, Rita Montaner, Hugo Brucken, Bertha Walden, Leo Hoyt, Irene McBride, Sheila Harling, Agatha Johann and others.

"The Wonder Bar" has been adapted by Irving Caesar and Aben Kandel from the original of Geza Herzceg and Karl Farkas; the melodious score is by Robert Katscher; the dances by John Pierce and the settings by Watson Barratt. The production owes its fine direction to William Mollison, a continental director of note. The big orchestra will be under the direction of Martin Freed.

Smedley D. Butler, Fiery Marine, To Speak of Sino-Japanese War At Auditorium Here Wednesday

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., retired, is to speak on the Sino-Japanese war at the Memorial auditorium Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 8:15 p. m., under the auspices of the uniformed bodies of Maskat temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.

A parade will be held in the afternoon and a band concert by the Maskat band, under the direction of Gerald Pond, together with the American Legion drum corps, under the direction of Milton Gaines, will be given at the auditorium preceding General Butler's lecture.

The most absorbing news today has to do with the war between China and Japan. Regardless of how much interest we may have in the far eastern situation, very few of us have a clear understanding of the motives and issues between the two nations, or of what is going on behind the scenes in the orient. The dispatches from the war zone give only the daily happenings and nothing of the real causes of the conflict.

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler of the marines, who probably, next to General Pershing, is America's best known and best loved soldier, is an authority on the fighting in China, as he has done a lot of it there himself. Ever since the Boxer troubles many years ago, up to very recently, General Butler has from time to time been in command of fighting forces in China.

As a young officer at the time of the Boxer rebellion and the attack on the foreign legations at Peking, he distinguished himself by rescuing a wounded British Tommy from between the firing lines, for which act he was offered the British Victoria cross, a medal that is awarded only to those who have exhibited exceptional bravery under fire.

Only just a few years ago he was again in active command of marines in the so-called Chinese "nationalist" war.

Not only is General Butler familiar with the Chinese and Japanese situation generally, but he is also familiar with our foreign relations in all parts of the world, as he has seen active fighting service in Cuba, Mexico at Vera Cruz, the Philippines, Nicaragua, Haiti and France. These experiences enable him to speak with great authority on our foreign relations the world over, as well as in China and Japan.

General Butler holds two congressional medals of honor for bravery, the army distinguished service medal, the navy distinguished service medal and a brevet medal.

The line of march for the parade and the various organizations taking part in it, as well as the other speakers at the auditorium, will be announced later in the week.

Marx Brothers in 'Monkey Business' Featured at Gem

Where did the Marx Brothers get those comical names with the "o" endings? Did they make them up themselves; pick them out by numerology; get them from their childhood playmates—or what?

The answer was revealed by the boys themselves in Hollywood recently while working on their latest laugh-production, "Monkey Business," which comes to the Gem theater on Sunday for a two-day run.

The names were the idea of Art Fisher, famous vodvillian, and at one time a leading monologist of the stage. The Marxmen have been thankful to Fisher ever since, for he has done them a valuable service in showmanship.

It happened this way:

The boys were playing an engagement as the Four Nightingales when they appeared with Fisher in a vodvil house in Peoria, Ill. Fisher saw striking characteristics in each of the comics, and he nicknamed them as follows—Groucho, because he was always serious, on stage and off—Harpo, because of his harp-playing—Chico, because Fisher said he was the chicken-eating champion of the world—Gummo, because he always wore rubbers (often called "gum boots" in the early days).

The brothers adopted the names as trade-marks and there are few persons today who know what their original names were. When Gummo left the stage to go into business, and the youngest brother of the family joined the act, he was called Zeppo because of a balloon dance he used to do on the stage.

Sister Governor Would Toss Bone To Republicans

DALLAS, Feb. 13. (AP)—Miss Florence Sterling of Houston, sister of Texas' governor, today asked the regional Women's Christian Temperance union convention "Why should we make prohibition a campaign issue when we are concerned more about efficiency in government, the lowering of taxes and the return of prosperity?

"The 18th amendment is in the constitution to stay, so let us quit worrying about its repeal," she told delegates. "Let us throw back to the Republicans the 'wet and dry' bone they have tossed to us for several years. Let them gnaw on it for a spell."

The convention expressed itself as opposed to any effort to "short circuit" the regular constitutional process for amending the constitution by national referendum on the question of repeal of the 18th amendment.

Mrs. Nellie G. Burgher of Missouri, national W. C. T. U. leader, emphasized the fact the 18th amendment and its observance and enforcement is the principal plank in the organization's platform.

Rogers Visits Japan's Hollywood Where More Pictures Are Made Than U. S. and Average Cost $5,000

And here comes this big car.

By WILL ROGERS

Tokyo, by mail.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I prowl, and this is the prowlingest Country there is to prowl in. These Japanese they sure do try to do things up in real European or western style. Got to tell you about the Hotel we, (when I say We, I mean Floyd Gibbons and I, he come over on the same boat with me,) well its called the Imperial. Its built of bricks but its low and rambling. Its freaky looking but you kinder like it after awhile. It of course was built by an American Architect, but it was the only thing that stood up during the Earthquake.

These Japanese have a real City here, about two and a half million, and it almost connects with Yokohoma another big City and their principal seaport. They are of course excited over the war in China. These Japanese take their wars serious, they go in em to win em. Of course all the Propaganda you get here is on their side, naturally, they feel they got a lot of money invested in that Country and they want to be in charge of things so they can supervise the things their way.

Course the whole thing is so mixed up with Treatys, and secret agreements and Understandings, that nobody knows head or tail to who's claim is any good.

A Great Movie Country

Well, this is a great Movie Country. They make more movies here than they do at home, and naturally I wanted to see some of the Studio's. You know the old Gag, when a Motorman is off he visits another Motorman and rides with him. Well being off from the Studio for a couple of months before I was to start another Picture why naturally I must go see somebody else make em. But they have a lot of Studios over here, so Mr. Dwight Davis, the Governor General of the Phillipines and his very lovely Daughter who were on their way back home, were here at the time and they wanted to see a Japanese Studio too, so we got our Company's Representative, in charge of Fox Pictures out here and he arranged it.

Well we finally got out there. Of course it was a pretty sad lot after seeing the tremendous things at home. But yet it had the same stuff at that. Mind you they make their Pictures at an average cost of five thousand Dollars, where our cheapest will run $150,000. But they do a good job with what they have. They dident happen to be shooting that morning, said they had worked the night before, that sounded kinder natural. But we had tea, that was the minute we went in. They sure will load you up on tea if you do any visiting around. Just at the drop of the hat somebody will start bringing in tea. They started out to try and scare up some of the Stars. You know they have favorites over there just like ours, and some of em are big drawing cards. Well we walked all around among the old buildings, you know theirs are all silent pictures, they have only made one or two Talkies, they dont like em so well, only the foreign ones.

Then they dug up a Screen Star and she was pretty. They had a Camera man that followed us around just like they do at home, where he is on publicity and snaps everything in the world and they will never be used. I often wondered what they do with all the Pictures over home that Photographers take and that are never used.

None of them spoke any English and none of us any Japanese. But we bowed and giggled and pointed, and drank more tea, and had a fine time and I had quite a thrill of visiting a Japanese Studio. Course then I did a lot of Picture going in what little time I had there. They get our Pictures out there right soon after they are released, and the Stars that are big here are over there too. Chevalier's latest was there. These Japanese sure will try anything, and get away with it. Everything at home we make or do, or wear, they got here, and make it.

Rickashas and Autos

Course they got lots of automobiles around Tokio, and good paved streets. But what gives you a scare is to be in one of these Rickasha's and have em be going right down the middle of the street among about a million others and then coming right at you, and a driver that is not sure he knows where he is going coming at you in an Automobile. Here you are sitting up there in this frail little contraption. Nothing ahead of you but this Bird hauling it, and here comes this big car lumbering at you. Sometimes I have seen em missed by three and four inches. I quit riding in em, I says to myself if two things is going to meet me for being the biggest one, so I got into the car.

Then the Bycicles, you never in all your born days saw as many Bycicles. Fords were never as thick as Bycicles are over here, and carry stuff on em? Say they will move your grand piano any day and do it on a Bycicle. A person riding along over here on one without anything is just practically dead heading in empty. They have always got a Billiard Table, or a stove or bed, or a couple of mattresses on the wheel with em. There is lots of green over here even at this time of the year, and they do love flowers. They all got a little flower of some kind, they can make what they got go a long way, and they are awful neat and clean. There is a lot of fine qualities about em, and they are just about the most ambitious folks you ever saw. They are for progress, no matter what it is. All this has been done in fifty years, and they are proud to show you their Country, and if you ever want to make a real trip dont overlook em.

TWO MUNDAY YOUTHS HURT IN ACCIDENTS

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 16.—Two Munday youths were recovering Saturday from minor injuries sustained in accidents which seriously endangered them.

J. C. Phillips Jr. was severely bruised when he fell into the blades of a team-drawn stalk cutter while working on his father's farm near town. Friends said the fact that the team stopped instead of attempting to run when he lost his footing and fell against them as his leg was caught in the blade cylinder probably saved his life.

Lloyd Bowden was burned about the face when an automobile caught fire while he was driving it. He was burned as he leaped from the car, he reported.

RIO TIRE COMPANY WILL DEMONSTRATE NEW AIRWHEEL TYPE

A demonstration of the new Goodyear Airwheel tire—those big, pillow-like balloons which make automobiles look and feel as though they were riding on comfortable rubber doughnuts, will be given by the Rio Tire company, local Goodyear dealers, Tuesday, it was announced Saturday by Vic Wisely, manager.

A service truck, the type that is so familiar to motorists here—and so welcome when they have trouble on the road—will exhibit the new type of tires and demonstrate their advantages on downtown streets and at the dealer's store at Eighth and Travis.

Mr. Wisely invites all Wichita Falls motorists to see the new tires and to stop at the store for complete information about them. "Of course," he added, "there will be no obligation whatever. We are only too glad to give information and answer questions about the new Airwheels."

"Fifteen of the popular makes of cars can now be fitted with the new Goodyear Airwheel tire," he said, explaining that the new type tire is made at present in four sizes: 6.50-16; 7.50-15; 8.25-15 and 9.00-13. The first three sizes are available with the new silent all-weather tread design which eliminates hum or rumble.

"Air pressure in the new tires," he said, "varies with the weight of the car and the size of the tire used. On the 6.50-16, for instance, which is the suggested tire for Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth, the pressure is from 12 to 15 pounds of air. In the 9.00-13 the pressure ranges from 8 to 12 pounds.

"Made up in complete units of Airwheel tire, tube and discs the new equipment is ready to slip on the axles of 15 makes of cars."

TENNANT IN RACE FOR PLACE TEXAS RAIL COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 13. (INS)—Formal announcement of his candidacy for the railroad commission was made today by Roy I. Tennant of Austin and Temple, who retired Jan. 1 after six years' service as a member of the state board of control.

In a brief statement Tennant invited closest scrutiny of "my personal life as well as my official conduct during six years as a member of the board of control" as constituting his platform.

"It is my purpose to make an active and thorough campaign and to come face to face with as many of Texas citizens as I possibly can," he said. "I will from time to time let the people know just how I stand on any of the problems with which the railroad commission is called upon to deal.

"If elected to the office of railroad commissioner, I will give that same careful, conscientious and energetic devotion to the duties of the office as I did during the six years that I served the people as a member of the board of control."

BIG REDUCTION IN COTTON ACREAGE OF KNOX COUNTY SURE

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 16.—Regardless whether the higher courts eventually hold the Texas cotton acreage reduction law invalid, the effect upon acreage planted in the crop in Knox county will be negligible, according to W. E. Jones, county farm agent.

Farmers, with few exceptions, already have made their plans and Jones predicts that not more than 30 per cent as much land will be planted this year as last—law or no law.

Most of the land released from cotton, he said, probably will be put in feedstuffs, and a high percentage of that will be fed on the farm.

YOUNG NEGRO CONFESSES TO KILLING CHILD

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13. (AP)—Police announced tonight that Willy Brown, 16-year-old negro, has confessed he strangled 7-year-old Dorothy Lutz and then attacked her.

The child's body was found last Monday in a second story bedroom of a vacant house at 1021 North Americk street, 10 doors from her home. She had been missing five days.

Brown was arrested yesterday, police revealed, two days after he disappeared from his home. He lived in the rear of the house in which the Lutz child's body was found and had been under surveillance.

His confession came, police said, after he had been subjected to hours of questioning by Superintendent of Police Joseph Le Strange and Detective Captain Harry Heanley.

It said in part:

"I coaxed her into the house on a promise to give her a skipping rope. I choked her and then attacked her.

"I was then in the neighborhood until Wednesday but the sight of so many cops around scared me and I ran away."

ROSE CULTURE

By V. S. HILLOCK, Texas Authority

This is the fourth of a series of articles on the cultivation of roses, prepared especially for The Associated Press by an outstanding authority.

Housewives as Propagators

By V. S. HILLOCK

Many housewives propagate plants for their own rose gardens from cuttings, or slips, taken from their own plants and from the plants of their friends. Such cuttings are often planted to an abnormal depth and the resultant plants are patently sluggish. Frequently they are quite worthless, being without the required vigor to re-establish their root systems close beneath the surface of the soil.

Outside of the specie roses, few varieties exist that are not more vigorous if properly propagated as budded plants. Yet the lamentable fact remains that with distressing frequency roses are so propagated commercially that the finished product leaves much to be desired.

Cuttings from teas, hybrid-teas, hybrid-perpetuals, climbers and specie roses frequently produce worth while plants of considerable vigor on their own roots. But, to insure vigor, plants so propagated should be transplanted when one year old. Having been propagated from cuttings, they are abnormal plants and should be given aid in their efforts to attain normality.

In the process of replanting, such home-grown, own-root plants should be set on cones of dirt with roots striking obliquely downward along the sides of the cones. The cones should be so high that, after settling, the plants will stand with roots springing from a point approximately one inch below the surface of the soil.

Such replanted plants will then stand in the model of the seedling, nature's model rose. They will be vigorous. From new and vigorous roots, new canes will spring. Each new cane and the root from which it springs will constitute a new plant which, barring accident, will continue in existence after all portions of the original plant have returned to dust.

Such new shoots springing from new and vigorous roots are nature's renewal shoots. In such manner nature has renewed her roses throughout the ages, renewed them in never ending cycles. Standing in the model of the seedling, the rose knows no end except catastrophe.

Plant shallow.

UNEMPLOYED TAKE PREMIER'S PIPE

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Feb. 13. (UP) — Premier Sir Richard Squires was smoking his pipe when he strolled down the steps of the courthouse building today.

Then the unemployed man put the pipe in his own mouth and puffing at it, walked away.

DEMPSEY GETS OFFERS FOR AUSTRALIA BOUTS

The Hon. Hugh D. McIntosh, who promoted the Jack Johnson-Tommy Burns championship fight in Sydney in 1908, has cabled here that he wants Dempsey to appear in Sydney in three fights—or more if Dempsey chooses. His offer will be cabled to Dempsey in a few days.

McIntosh is quite certain that he can get Primo Carnera to journey to Australia and meet Dempsey there. If not, he would put Jack in with any other logical foemen.

Dempsey long has been a heroic figure in Australia and has had many chances to go there, either on tour or to take on some heavyweight. McIntosh is certain that Dempsey can draw an enormous gate in the land where boxing enthusiasm is high and where there has not been a really great fight in nearly two decades.

Rental Library May Loan Films Without Charge

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13. (AP)—If an experiment being tried here proves successful free motion pictures for home projections soon will be available to everyone.

The National Film library, in operation less than two months, loans film without charge. It is only necessary to have a .16 millimeter, or home size, projector of which there are many at reasonable prices on the market.

Cost of the film and expenses of the library are paid through the medium of advertising. At the beginning of each subject there is an advertisement which appears on the screen for about a minute.

Heretofore motion pictures in the home have been a luxury that only few could afford. Both the cost of projecters and the rental of film for an evening's entertainment have made parlor movies prohibitive for the average person.

The free film library is the idea of Harry C. Leavitt, a Los Angeles man who has been in the film rental business for several years.

The National Film library has a variety of subjects, ranging from educational film to comedies and dramas. The latter are mostly pictures made several years ago, starring former film favorites whom most persons are delighted to see again. Other classifications are sports, travelogs, animated cartoons, popular science, natural history and health and hygiene.

R. C. Hazel is a telegraph operator. Joseph DeWitt Hazel operated a dental laboratory.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Additional suits against some of the defendants named today by the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company in its plea in New York for $75,000,000 damages were predicted in a statement issued here under the name of Frank P. Parish, president, and the directors.

Parish said a company representative here in making the statement public, was on his way to Washington and would be accompanied by attorneys. The company spokesman declined to permit use of his name or outline the reason for Parish's visit.

The company brought suit today in United States district court in New York against the following for damages, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law:

Bettor Ready To Admit He Took On Tough Assignment

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13. (AP)—William R. Crissey apparently has found his $2,000 bet that he could dine with President Hoover, golf with Bobby Jones and John D. Rockefeller and motor with the Prince of Wales, was a tough assignment.

He made the bet last February and recently he was reported "somewhere in Europe" trying to get his automobile ride with the prince.

To date he has accomplished only one of his four tasks—he dined with the president at a banquet.

The last heard from him, Raymond Bailey, who took part of the bet, says, was that Crissey was on the other side of the Atlantic—still trying. Bailey admitted he thinks his money "is safe" if and when Crissey returns.

TIMMONS APPOINTED PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN FOR GARNER CAMPAIGN

SEVERAL CHANGES ARE MADE IN CITY POLICE DEPARTMENT

In an effort to reduce expenses in maintenance of the Wichita Falls police department, several minor changes that are to become effective Monday have been made, according to Dick Morris, police chief.

The office of traffic captain, now held by Johnny Sewell, has been abolished. Sewell will become a member of the day traffic force, Chief Morris said.

W. E. McDonald, night desk sergeant, will be promoted to the rank of night police captain. Motorcycle Officer C. S. Carlisle will become night desk sergeant as an aide to McDonald. Carlisle will also answer short calls, the chief stated.

In addition to the present changes, other "shiftings around" are to be expected within the next few weeks.

There will be no changes in the day detective staff, the remainder of the day traffic department, the night foot patrol nor the night scout patrols, Chief Morris said.

AS THE GAMBLERS VIEW IT

The individuals who accept bets on presidential races are not infallible in their guesses. They erred in 1916, when they gave odds on Judge Hughes to defeat President Wilson. But they are right much more often than they are wrong, and it wouldn't be profitable to go against their judgment year in and year out.

According to a Universal Service dispatch from New York, they are willing to give you odds of eight to one that John Garner will not be the Democratic nominee; not long ago they would have given odds of 15 to one. The New York gamblers are ready to bet four to one that Ritchie will not be nominated, but only three to one against Smith.

A recent United Press dispatch from St. Louis told of odds of three to two against Governor Roosevelt. The New York odds are four to one. The St. Louis odds against either Smith or Ritchie are three to one; against Melvin Traylor they are 15 to 1. And if you think Governor Murray of Oklahoma will be nominated, you can get a bet of 50 to 1, which is nice odds. The St. Louis gamblers seem to think more of Governor Roosevelt than those of Wall street. Not long ago they were ready to bet only even money against him; now, since Smith's announcement, they offer three to two. They offer the same odds against Garner that they do against Baker, eight to one.

You may give odds to the gamblers if you want to bet that Hoover will be nominated.

Men who make a business of such things are sometimes wrong, but they do not place their money blindly. Their odds are a fairly accurate reflection of the political situation.

THE FARMER'S FIRST OBJECTIVE

At the balanced farming conference at Vernon last Wednesday, the keynote was sounded by L. T. Hunter, county agent of Hardeman county, when he said that the first thing for the farmer to think about this year was the food supply for his own household. The farmer who uses part of his land to produce his groceries is going to do much less worrying about his cash crop than the one who gambles—and gambles in the word—on his family's food supply.

It is a point that deserves all the emphasis that can be given it. Dairy farmers aren't making any money at present, but milk, butter and cheese cost money at the store. There isn't any money in poultry-raising just now, but the family that has eggs and chicken for its table is a long way from going hungry. There are very few truck crops that can be grown with any assurance of a profitable market, but by concentrating on the vegetables that can be canned or otherwise kept, the farm family can raise much of what it must consume during the year. Hogs and beef cattle are at the lowest prices in years when one tries to sell them, but they are worth just as much, as food for the family, as they ever were.

The question this year is not one of making money. There is no cash crop that can be planted with the promise that it will pay for the cost of production when it is harvested. But every farm, rightly conducted, can make most of the living for its occupants. And while a living may not be much in return for the season's work, it may also be more than the city dweller gets.

THE SCAVENGER SCHOOL OF WRITING

The current issue of Collier's Weekly contains an article by Arthur Train dealing with recent publications that attacked President Hoover. A scurrilous book entitled "The Strange Career of Mr. Hoover Under Two Flags," is the best known of these publications and may be considered typical of all of them. It undertakes to show that Mr. Hoover is a British citizen; that some of the mining operations with which he was connected as an engineer were shady; that he was involved in some questionable financial transactions; that he was really helping the Germans when he was in charge of Belgian relief.

Mr. Train goes into these charges in considerable detail, showing the utter falsehood of each. By magnifying irrelevant facts and ignoring relevant ones, the author had given some semblance of plausibility to his allegations. Mr. Train not only presents the facts in full, but he is able to show that the writer himself did not believe them.

This generation has witnessed the development of what might be termed the scavenger school of writing. Some of the books dealing with President Harding are the products of that school. Some magazines are the work of its pupils. The latter are trained to paw through the garbage for their sustenance. It is unfortunate that reputable writers and reputable magazines have to dignify such efforts by replaying to them, but justice demands that the true facts be made known.

THE DALLAM COUNTY BOND ISSUE

Dallam county's courageous step in voting $360,000 in highway bonds means that an important stretch of highway No. 5 is to be paved. When Dallam's part of this route is completed, Hartley, Moore, Armstrong and Donley counties will be the only ones remaining, between Henrietta and the New Mexico line, in which the road is not an all-weather one. Potter county is now completing its stretch of the highway, and the work in Childress county is almost finished. The Colorado-to-Gulf highway is not very far from the day when it will be a surfaced road from Texline to tidewater.

Highway No. 5 swings eastward at Henrietta toward Gainesville. The attitude of the highway commission points to the early paving of that portion of the road.

The Dallam bond issue, $360,000, seems small in proportion to the highway mileage to be improved, but there is every reason to believe that state and federal appropriations will be very liberal, in view of the importance of the roads to be paved. It took some intestinal fortitude on the part of Dallam's taxpayers to vote bonds under present conditions, but probably they will have no occasion to regret it.

GETTING ON KENTUCKY'S NERVES

Members of a group of writers from New York who visited the troubled coal mining region of Kentucky have been arrested and banished from the state. Some of them were roughly treated in the process. Some others were jailed.

The suspicion is pretty strong that the writers came to foment trouble rather than to administer relief, which was their ostensible purpose. But Kentucky has increased the shame that already encompassed it, by its treatment of them. Force is a poor weapon for Kentucky to be using. The more use Kentucky makes of it, the deeper becomes the conviction that justice is not being done. A state that is dealing fairly and decently with strikers would not need to be so timid of visitors, whatever their mission. If visiting writers get on its nerves, the best way to regain composure is to set the house in order.

A survey conducted by a Chicago department store reveals that 39 per cent of the husbands help their wives with the dishes. The other 61 per cent must have been prevaricators.

Would you say that the hoarders' money was about to get socked?

QUESTIONS FOR THE 1932 CAMPAIGN

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

In the campaigns of the last 10 years all sorts of issues have been interjected.

Rum!

Romanism!

Religious regularity!

Internationalism!

I want today to set down some questions which, although I have doubtless discussed all of them at one time or another, seem pertinent as we enter a campaign year.

Who, save the frightened custodians of its vested interests, remains to argue the value of a swashbuckling nationalism running amuck in a world that has become unavoidably interdependent?

Who can still believe that the economic life of the United States can be made and kept secure if its interrelations with the rest of the world are ignored?

Who can longer worship, save with tongue in cheek, at the shrine of a weather-cock politics that turns with every wind and whim?

Who is still so blind as to believe that capitalism can meet the challenge of communism save by serving the masses better than any alternative can serve them?

Who is left to believe that religion should be insulated from secular affairs and made the secret luxury of the saint?

Who is willing to deny that we must accept responsibility for our trusteeship of the character of the next generation?

Who thinks we dare trust our civilization in the gamble of another world war?

Who is foolish enough to damn as pacifist the man who works faithfully to rid the social and economic life of the world of the things that make for war?

Unpolitical as some of these may sound, they are questions that great statesmanship must face and fathom.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

To the Lord our God belong mercies and forgiveness, though we have rebelled against him.—Daniel 9:9.

Not Guilty

I declare myself in full accord
With Mr. Hoover's plea, "don't hoard,"
He can send somebody to search my socks,
And examine what's in my little tin box,
They can search my house from roof to ground
And I'll split, fifty-fifty, on whatever's found,
My sins are numerous, are I fear,
But this is one time I'm in the clear.

The president asked Will Rogers to write some anti-hoarding jokes, but Will can't write one any better than the one already published.

The way those students out at Tech got sore at the minister, you'd think he had said something about their team.

Pessimistic Poem About Weather

Oh, the weather is glorious at present,
But we're gonna have some that's quite unpleasant,
Just now, it's lovely and adorable,
But some's coming up that'll be deplorable,
Better enjoy it while it's salubrious,
'Cause what's ahead is plumb lugubrious.

As we understand Al Smith's attitude, he doesn't exactly give in. He just promises not to struggle.

What with Shanghai, and congress and disarmament and all, Bill Murray hasn't made the front page for three or four days.

Politics

Whenever election year rolls around and the candidates announce and the ballyhoo starts, we invariably find ourself encompassed by black pessimisms regarding the outcome. In other years we sometimes think we can discover signs of improvement in governmental affairs, but when the campaigns get under way we become convinced that things are just as bad as bad can be and that they aren't ever going to get any better.

Our highly original observation is that the trouble isn't so much with the men we elect as with the system under which they have to work. What we really need is something on the order of what our remote ancestors had, back in the days when Europe was a wilderness, before folks began to get civilized. Each tribe had its own government then; and the more you study the kind of government they had, and the way it worked, the more apparent its merits become.

Their system was to pick out the most competent man in the tribe and make him chief and let him run things. That was all there was to it. He had the authority and he had the responsibility. If things rocked along all right, he got the credit. If they went wrong, he had to take the blame. Folks didn't bother with conventions and nominations and such things. They simply agreed on who was to be boss and told him to start bossing.

The Recall

In order to keep him from feeling too chesty and trying to make the taxes too high or employing too many of his relatives around the courthouse, they had what has since come to be known as the recall, only their method was different. When they decided that things were not being run right and that it was time to elect a new boss, they put the recall into effect. It was very simple. It consisted merely of taking the chief out for a walk and neglecting to bring him back. Oh, they might bring back a lock of his hair, or something like that, for his widow to keep as a memento, but that would be all.

A delegation of voters would make up their minds what to do, and then go call on the chief.

"What's on your minds, boys?" he would ask, in that genial way that office-holders always have.

"The recall," one of them would say.

"Why, what's the matter now?" he would ask.

"Well, the hunting has been bad and the crops haven't been doing so well, and some of that bunch from the other side of the mountain have been carrying off some of our women, and one thing and another, so we've decided to have the recall."

"Well, all right, if you've made up your minds. I'll be right with you. And one of you please tell the old lady that my insurance policy is in the left-hand top drawer of the sewing machine."

And so he would pass out of the picture with little disturbance, and somebody else would become chief in his place.

But there wouldn't be any disorderly scramble for the job. Each of the aspirants for the place would realize that, sooner or later, the recall would be invoked on him in his turn, and such a thought would enable him to restrain his political ambitions. And the guy that did get it was apt to watch his step and do his best.

The One-Way Ticket

The ancient Greeks, who were right smart folks in many respects, although somewhat too broad-minded in matters of morals, had a different system operated on the same general principle. When they decided that somebody had held office long enough, they didn't bump him off. Instead, they intimated to him that travel was educational and that the world was a sizable place, and that it might be well for him to do a little touring in foreign parts. Their name for it was ostracism, which means, roughly, "buy yourself a ticket to someplace else, and we don't mean a round-trip ticket, either."

As a general rule, the official to whom this advice was given caught the first train out, leaving word where to send his trunk. The smart ones kept their trunks packed and ready.

It often happened that after the official had taken the hint and done a little traveling, they would send for him to come and take his old job back. They appreciated him more and he appreciated them more, and they would get along better.

We aren't trying to intimate that our governmental troubles are due to the fact that some folks stay on the job too long. That isn't our meaning. We just wanted to comment upon some ancient ideas that seemed to us to have considerable merit. That was all.

Probably the next time somebody tells the Japs the Chinese won't fight, they'll wait until the Chinese tell 'em.

The 'Hiking' Season Is On!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana has introduced a bill which, as William Jennings Bryan and the Democratic party proposed in 1896, would monetize silver at the ratio of 16 ounces of silver to one ounce of gold.

A dozen plans involving the restoration of silver are contained in other bills offered in congress, each backed by a large or small segment of expert opinion. They are advanced as recipes for a restoration of the silver industry and a restoration of prosperity. The arguments for some seem to place more emphasis on the one aim than on the other.

Senator Wheeler says that he is not concerned with the state of the silver mining industry, but only with the restoration of prosperity.

In order to understand the Wheeler bill you must know what the bill provides. It says this:

By law, "the proportional value of silver to gold in all coins . . . shall be as 16 to 1, according to quantity of weight, of pure silver or pure gold; that is to say, every 16 pounds weight of pure silver shall be of equal value in all payments with one pound weight of pure gold, and so in proportion as to any greater or less quantities of the respective metals . . . There shall be free coinage of both gold and silver, at the ratio fixed in this act . . ." And all laws relative to gold shall apply equally, as far as practicable, to silver. The present gold dollar shall continue to be the standard unit of value.

"Other countries have gone or are going off the gold standard," says Wheeler, "and the countries which go off can not trade with the countries which stay on because the rate of exchange makes it impossible. The farmers in this country who raise wheat or cotton must sell on the European market in competition with Canada, Australia, Argentina or India. They receive the same amount of money, but it is discounted 25 or 30 per cent when it comes back to this country."

Wheeler admitted that the strongest support for his bill came from members of congress representing the farming and silver-producing states. The same thing was true, of course, in the eighties and nineties. Bimetallism, he says frankly, would deflate the gold dollar and allow the farms to pay off their debts with comparative ease. In fact, he says, it will help every debtor in the country.

At present, of course, silver is acceptable at the mints for its market value—around 30 cents an ounce. If remonetized at 16 to 1 it would bring about $1.29 an ounce. But gold is similarly given an abitrary value, according to Wheeler, because the mints of the world are now open to it. It is impossible to summarize his arguments in this space—or those of the bills opponents—but here are some of Wheeler's high spots:

"Sixty per cent of the people of the world use silver for money. Remonetization of silver would enhance the purchasing power of the Orient and of Latin America. It would raise the purchasing power of our farmers and stimulate every business activity.

"We will have to choose between going off the gold standard and bimetallism. Every one now agrees that we need a certain amount of inflation. But whereas there is no limit to inflation if we go off the gold standard and depend on paper money there is an automatic limitation in bimetallism because of the limited supply of gold.

"And for 500 years the average of production has been about 14 of silver to one of gold. Every one admits that there is not enough gold in the world today to provide a basis for our currency. Europe can make us go off the gold standard whenever it likes—simply by withdrawing her gold."

Goiter

This disease has been found in every country in the world, and many theories have been advanced as to its cause. For a long time it was supposed that the absence of iodine in food was responsible for this condition, and this idea is still being exploited by manufacturers in many parts of the country, but this cannot be the true cause of goiter since it is present in the female sex about six times as frequently as in the male, and both sexes presumably consume about the same amount of iodine. The fact that goiter is very prevalent in Switzerland and in other mountainous districts where people do not obtain much iodine in their drinking water or food has been frequently used as proof of this statement. However, along the Jersey coast and in many parts of Japan, where iodine is plentifully supplied in both food and drinking water, goiter is frequently found. Excessive use of starch seems to be an important factor in producing enlargement of the thyroid gland.

It is a well known fact that the thyroid gland is slightly larger in women than in men, and this gland becomes swollen at various periods in a woman's life. In fact, many goiters in women originate and are associated with some type of female derangement; possibly one-sixth of the cases of women or about an equal number of the cases of men can be traced to toxic substances that accumulate in the thyroid gland and cause it to become enlarged.

The thyroid is one of the ductless glands that have furnished material for much research and probably more is known about the action of the thyroid than of the other ductless glands, such as the pituitary, adrenal, or gonads. This little organ, situated at the base of the throat in front of the windpipe, is shaped very much like two small kidneys, one at either side and connected together in front below the Adam's apple. Experiments tend to prove that it is a regulator of other glands, too much thyroid secretion speeding up, and too little causing a slowing down. A person affected with too much thyroid secretion will have a pulse of 130 or over, which is probably the most dangerous effect from the thyroid.

Nearly 5,000,000 people in the United States suffer from some form of thyroid trouble, and most of them are in the hyper-thyroid or too much thyroid secretion class. It is one of the principal causes of heart trouble which claimed over 12,000 lives in California alone during a period of one year.

This friendly little gland can become your greatest enemy if it is irritated by toxemia. If your nervousness is increasing and your heart action more rapid, your little thyroid may be responsible.

There are many forms of thyroid derangement, but the two most common types are called simple goiter and exophthalmic goiter. The simple goiter is easily noticed as the thyroid gland becomes many times larger than normal. Even the laymen can recognize this trouble by the enlargement in front of the neck.

In some of the mountainous districts of Europe, Japan and Oregon the enlargement of the thyroid may be so great that it hangs down like a large sack in front of the neck.

Most cases of goiter can be corrected by dietetic measures alone, and I will be glad to send any one interested instructions for the treatment of this disorder if he will send me a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this newspaper.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dried Lima Beans

Question—N. C. writes: "Having but little means, I would like to use the dried kidney beans or the limas. Will you kindly instruct me as to which of the two is best, and if about an hour's slow boiling would be about right, and if a little soda would make them less gassy."

Answer—Dried limas are a little less gas forming than the other beans and are much more alkaline forming. They should be very well cooked if they are to be digestible. Beans always have a tendency to produce flatulence. I do not advise the use of soda in beans.

Pin Worms

Question—Mrs. G. asks: "Will you please give your advice on pin worms both in adults and children? And how to treat them. Are they serious?"

Answer—Pin worms are not particularly injurious but indicate an unclean condition of your colon which you can quickly get rid of through a short course of enemas, using them at least twice daily for several days.

Plants in the Sick Room

Question—V. V. K. inquires: "Will you please tell me if house plants are in any way injurious to a sick person?"

Answer—Most green leaf plants are not injurious to a sick person; in fact, during the day they throw off oxygen and are really beneficial. However, the odor from some flowering plants may be oppressive to the patient. At night small amount of carbon dioxide is thrown off from the leaves of plants, but not enough to be injurious.

IN NEW YORK with Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK.—Henry Bache Smith, champion long distance librettist of the world, chuckled at the notion that his venerable "Robin Hood" could still pack in the Broadway crowds.

Smith, now in his 70's and dwelling quietly on the fringe of Riverside drive, will probably never be equaled for versatility of effort or quantity of output.

Who doesn't remember "The Fortune Teller," or "Foxy Quiller," or "Rob Roy," "Countess Maritza," "The Highwayman," "Robin Hood," "The Spring Maid" and about a hundred or more others?

All turned out by the eminent Mr. Smith!

"We were far from certain about the success of 'Robin Hood,'" he recollected. "The public didn't take to it. Ever hear the story of how it came to be written?

"No! Well, I had been working on Chicago newspapers, doing drama and music reviews and some straight reporting. I'd gone there from my home town, which is Buffalo. Well, the Gilbert and Sullivan stuff was all the rage. And an outfit known as the Chicago Choir company was organized to do a road routine.

"Reginald de Koven, the composer, was living in Chicago and I knew him pretty well. I had gone out with the Chicago troupe and we were playing Minneapolis when 'n barged De Koven, trying to sell managers liked it. So I happened to run into him on the street and told him I had the book of an opera I'd like him to see. We agreed to wait until we got back to Chi.

"And that's how we first began to collaborate."

"Now we'll get around to 'Robin Hood.'

"Eugene Field was running a column on a Chicago paper—and what a column that was. I used to see him around the office a lot and we used to talk together about books and poems. He said that I should get a better slant on the old ballad style of writing. So he brought me a copy of the old Robin Hood ballads by Ritson.

"That gave me the big idea. Why not a book for a music show with Robin Hood as the hero? So I went to work—and I had turned out the book in three weeks! It wasn't that I wanted to turn out a quick job. We had no choice in the matter. Our contract was just about up. We had to go at top speed to get our work done while the paper was still worth something.

"The Bostonians, one of the most important light opera groups of the day, weren't particularly keen about the piece—but they put it on. And there you are. About 43 years have passed since then, and the tunes are as familiar as ever. You can't turn on a radio program without hearing 'Brown October Ale' or one of the other numbers."

Nor can you.

Notes about personalities—Lannie Ross, one of the better radio tenors—if not among the best known—tells me he was a Yale track star four years ago. . . . He held a record for the 440 and was Olympic games material. . . . He tossed over athletics for the concert stage.

And John Fogarty, the Irish radio warbler, is a Wyoming lad. . . . The tale goes that he ran away from home at 16 to join the A. E. F. in the world war. . . . When he came back he was a second lieutenant. . . . His voice attracted attention and he's been singing ever since.

City Physician Urges Citizens To Avoid Colds

A statement thanking the people of Wichita Falls for their aid in curbing the influenza epidemic and urging them to continue safety measures was issued Saturday by Dr. R. B. Wolford, city physician, as follows:

"In the past three weeks we have been having a very trying time in our city but by the wholehearted cooperation of our entire citizenship we have avoided what otherwise might have proven much more serious. Although we have had several thousand cases of influenza the percentage of serious results has been very small, which in my opinion is due to cooperative work by all in trying to curb its spread. Now that the worst is over we should not abandon the preventive measures that we have used but continue to use precaution against cold and all like diseases but in doing this there is no reason for remaining away from public gatherings in places where proper ventilation and heating is supervised. There is always more danger in small places that are not properly ventilated than in regular meeting places. And by a common sense program of living we can continue to protect ourselves and our citizenship and by using the methods that we have practiced in the past three weeks we can make and keep our city a very safe place to live in. It has been very gratifying to see the response of our citizenship to suggested health measures."

QUARANTINE THREE CASES DURING PAST WEEK HERE

Three cases of contagious disease were quarantined during the past week by Dr. R. B. Wolford, city physician, as follows: Diphtheria, one case; chicken pox, one, and cerebro-spinal meningitis, one.

Water Districts Collect $183,526 During January

Collection of current and delinquent taxes by the two water improvement districts during January totaled $183,526 as follows: District No. 1, current taxes, $121,486.20; delinquent, $33,262.59; district No. 2 current, $23,190.27; delinquent, $5,586.94.

These figures were announced by W. C. Martin, water district tax assessor and collector, who also called the attention of taxpayers to the fact that the deadline for payment of the first half of 1931 taxes had been extended to March 1. The time limit for paying the second half of water district taxes without penalty is Aug. 1.

Nearly $40,000 in delinquent taxes was collected during January, due to the fact that interest and penalty on back taxes was waived during that month.

The class voted to give baskets of food and a collection of clothing to needy families.

Mrs. J. O. Vinson was in charge of the social hour when a number of interesting games, each featuring the patriotic theme, were played. A gracious message of welcome was given by Mrs. Vinson to new members and to visitors, and the program was closed with two pretty original verse readings by Mrs. G. A. McWhirter.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

WITH Ash Wednesday already past, and everything in cherry pie order for the big charity ball to be given at the Wichita club Monday night, Feb. 22, and for the George-Martha luncheon at the Forum clubhouse, Thursday, we are at last convinced that spring is here and that now we can begin to think about our yards, vegetables and flower gardens once more. And while I am talking about yards and gardens, I am reminded of an interesting letter received from my friend Kitty, to whom I write each week regardless of whether there are any answers forthcoming or not. Her letter is so full of "pep" and the spirit of spring and gardening that I will pass it on to you for the wealth of information that it contains and for the pleasure I am sure you will receive from reading it. She begins: "Dear Peggy" and continues as follows: "Won't you be surprised to hear from me so soon? I'm simply 'bubbling over' with good news. Whom do you suppose walked in on me the other day? Betty from Wichita Falls. Of course I had to hear all about you and the bunch there. But Peggy, I can't get over Betty. You know she always impressed one as being a listless disinterested kind of person as a girl, but the years have certainly been kind to her, and she has developed into one of the most interesting, entertaining, wide-awake women I have met in a long time. She seems to have taken a new lease on life—she's so enthusiastic and like all enthusiastic people—its contagious. She has taken up gardening with a zeal. She is as you remember one of the officers of the garden club of Wichita Falls, and how her eyes did glow and sparkle and then take on that dreamy look when she talked about what the garden lovers in that city are doing.

"WHAT would you say if I should 'blow in' on you for the Garden club luncheon at the Forum clubhouse Thursday, Feb. 25? Really, I don't know how I could stay away. Betty is a friend of Mrs. P. F. Gwynn (who is chairman of the program committee) and she was telling her all about it. She says that Mrs. J. C. A. Guest is going to give a talk on the plants, trees and shrubs that George Washington loved and planted on Mount Vernon—imagine Peggy! How could any woman miss that? Betty says that Mrs. Guest's name on any program spells a treat for the listeners, and such a subject—won't my beauty loving soul revel in it?

"MRS. C. D. SHAMBURGER is in charge of the decorations and they will all carry out the Washington birthday motif and after the feature talk there will be the interesting round table discussion for which Garden club is famous. The members get such interesting suggestions from each other in these round table talks—you know what class of folks attend the dear school of experience, and the good experiences of garden lovers are passed on to each other. How interesting these discussions must be!

"I have been reading with a great deal of interest the instructive articles appearing in your paper on rose culture and I understand that these are put out by the Federated Garden clubs of Texas, and sponsored by your local Garden club.

"BETTY says that Mrs. C. E. McCutchen and Mrs. Orville Bullington are on the grounds committee of the Woman's Forum and they have all kinds of interesting plans for beautifying the grounds at the clubhouse this year. Some of which they only hint at in that pleasantly mysterious way, but more later. In the meantime they are asking for every one who has any kind of shrubs (evergreens especially) to get in touch with them and to allow them to plant them on the Forum clubhouse yards.

"DEAR MRS W. W. COOK, whose name is always associated with all forms of beauty (spiritual and physical) is chairman of the conservation committee and she says that they are stressing the planting of native trees and shrubs and asking that the school children be not only cautioned against the wanton waste of wild flowers, but be taught a true appreciation of their beauty. She is carrying this beautiful thought into the schools that when the children go on botany hikes, etc., that they take packages of hardy annuals which seed themselves, such as phlox, bluebonnets, etc., and scatter them along the hillside.

"BETTY also says that Mrs. Luther Wright and her committee is planning a plant exchange for the middle of March, and that every one in Wichita Falls is invited to cooperate and receive the benefit derived from such a helpful event. The plan is for each gardener, to bring in her surplus plants and shrubs and exchange them (at a nominal sum) for some other plant or shrub of which she is in need—the money to go to the Garden club.

"BUT, PEGGY, I have saved my two best items until the last. Mrs. Bert Bean is chairman of the extension committee of the Garden club and she talks most enthusiastically of two small neighborhood garden clubs that are being formed. One in the Sibley-Taylor addition, and the other in the Scotland park suburb where as many as seven members of a neighborhood who are garden lovers get together and form a small garden club. They notify Mrs. Bert Bean ahead of time and she and some of her committee meet with them and help them to organize and give good ideas and suggestions they have gleaned from the parent organization. The Garden club of the Woman's Forum. Just think of the glorious possibilities of making your whole city

Each guest was to see who could make the longest list of words from valentine, and matrimony. Martha Britain came first in this. Stanmore Langford was most successful in finding the largest number of candy hearts in the treasure hunt. Dorothy Ferguson and Martha Nell May showed most speed in putting together a comic valentine puzzle. GERALDINE P.-T. A. TO HAVE PROGRAM

HOLLIDAY, Texas, Feb. 13.—Geraldine P.-T. A. will have the "Founders Day" program in the school auditorium, Feb. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

An interesting program has been planned. W. D. Biggs will give the devotional. A candle lighting ceremony in charge of Miss Hallie V. Welch will be one of the main features of the evening. Thirty-five candles will adorn the birthday cake, which will be lighted in honor or the national, state, district and local individuals who have carried forward the work of child welfare.

A silver offering, which is used for extension work in the national and state parent-teacher associations will be taken.

The birthday cake will be served by the hostesses, Mesdames H. S. Pankhurst, G. C. Haralson and J. M. Willison.

RECORD NEWS PATTERNS

In the diversified spring frock collections, printed fabrics, liberally used, impart a feminine and fresh aspect that we welcome most heartily. In both silk and cotton groups, one finds neat tailored designs spaced rather far apart. Two or three colors are prominent . . . namely, melon red, yellow-green and blue. Perhaps it is the facility with which these are used on light and dark grounds that makes them so desirable. Beige and griege are the most important ground colors and some of the colorful designs on these soft tones make the selection of fabrics for spring a perfect joy. In silks, black grounds, too, continue their smart, gayly printed way.

PATTERN 1153

Here is a charming frock to be made of printed crepe . . . georgette, roma, canton or flat crepe . . . and daintily trimmed with narrow lace edging. You'll find lace on many of the loveliest warm weather frocks, white, cream or dyed to match your fabric. The cape collar, free in back, continues in front to the waistline where it forms a softly crushed girdle. The skirt is decidedly slenderizing with its slim panels and snug hip sections. The pert bow of one loop and two ends is a Parisian touch you'll adore on this exquisite model. Sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 40. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards of 39-inch fabric, 2¼ yards of ½-inch lace.

PATTERN 1106

For the junior miss, or the youthful matron, this very smart little model of simple lines may be run up in an hour or two as there are but four parts to the pattern. A perfect frock for the beginner! Particularly interesting are the scalloped details at neck, sleeves and skirt joining. The pert bow of ribbon gives opportunity for chic color contrast. You could use shantung, broadcloth, cotton mesh, wash silk or wool crepe very nicely in solid color or print. Sizes 12 to 20 and 32 to 42. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 36-inch fabric, 1 yard of ribbon.

These models are very easy to make as each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size.

Send 15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Parent-Teacher Units to Have Program Tuesday

Reagan and Zundelowitz Junior High Schools and the High School and Junior College P.-T. A. units will have a joint meeting at the Junior college auditorium Tuesday afternoon featuring "Founder's Day" with an unusual program. Mrs. H. M. Campbell will give the devotional and Mrs. Harry ten Brink will make a brief talk. Mrs. Fred Sehmann will have charge of the program and Miss Margaret Morgan will review the life of George Washington.

Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan has arranged a beautiful operetta entitled "In a Doll Shop." The shopkeeper is John Haggard; the accompanists, Lucille Snyder and Hellen Smith.

The scene is in a French doll shop where beautiful dolls are on display. Ruth Fergerson, charming dancer, bursts through a huge rose and the opening number is a clever and vivacious drill by the wooden soldiers trained and directed by Miss Davida Olinger. A toe tap dance by Faith Galmiche as a wooden soldier will be given a chorus of girls in old-fashioned costumes, will sing an old French rondo, "Amaryllis" and the same chorus will sing an action song entitled "I Can't Do This Sum," with Alice Marrs as the teacher. A duet with Lois Fisk as a French maid and George Napier as an Englishman, will be cleverly acted and will add zest to the performance.

The entire chorus will sing "When a Maid Comes Knocking at Your Heart," also "The Funeral March of the Marionette," when Louise Brackett, a doll, falls from the counter. Hellen Gardner and Frances Robinson are featured in "When a Maid Comes Knocking at Your Heart." A violin duet will be played by Joyce Eason and Peggy Williamson in old-fashioned costume, assisted by Elizabeth Taylor playing the flute. These will precede the girls' glee club number.

Those taking part in play are Mary Arwood, Frances Billingsley, Melba Ruth Baumgartner, Madge Caldwell, Anita Clark, Goldie Combs, Marguerite Crain, Kathleene Dennis, Mary Faye Evans, Agnes Gonzales, Annie Mary Hampton, Georgia Howle, Bessie Pauline Huddleston, Dorothy Johnson, Lorene Kent, Melba King, Lena May Lesley, Evelyn Marquand, Melba Miller, Lucille Murchison, Maurine Nash, Lowana Preslar, Eleanor Roder, Martha Kate Romey, Rudell Seals, Ollie Mae Sikes Virginia Evelyn Smith, Lucille Snyder, Mary Southerland, Ruth Taff, Elizabeth Turner, Grace Warman, Adene Wood, Sally Bancroft, Elsie Faye Barron, Loudelle Bridges, Marguerite Burkman, Lois Campbell, Irma Cline, Katherine Cox, Gertrude Fields, Mary Belle Franks, Jeanne Gullahorn, Irene Hamilton, Lorrane Hamilton, Sibyl Herring, Marjorie Loveless, Letha McKenley, Rolene Mathews, Nancy Jane May, Doris Perry, Gladys Rosser, Gussie Lee Stevenson, Velma Swoope, Eleanor Taylor, Jessie Warren, Juanita Allred, Anette Beeman, Audrey Bowman, Louise Brackett, Mazie Bradhorn, Faith Galmiche, Laureta Glidewell, Hellen Gardner, Irene Green, Katherine Haggard, Patsy Lou Hearn, Dessie Lee Hill, Cleo Kolb, Charlotte Lewis, Deba Parker, Nina B. His Nose Knew

Recently a holdup man robbed a blind man in a Los Angeles crowd. Later the blind man detected the suspect in a crowded courtroom by scent. He recognized the "smell" of the man as that of the one who robbed him.

How Doctors Fight FAT

Medical science finds that lack of a certain gland secretion is a great cause of obesity. Food that should create energy goes to excess fat. People slow down and gain weight. Now doctors the world over supply that lacking factor. Instead of starving people, they combat the cause of fat. Abnormal figures, in late years, have been disappearing fast.

That modern method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now almost everyone has friends who know and show the delightful effects of Marmola.

If you overweigh, go try Marmola. All druggists supply it, and a book in each box tells you all about it. Start Marmola now and watch results.

VARSITY NEWS

By BETTY LOVE RUGELEY

AUSTIN.—The society people of Austin and the co-eds of the University of Texas are experiencing the most exciting and interesting series of activities of the social season.

To begin with 1,066 students have been declared by the dean to be eligible for social rushing by campus fraternities and sororities. Eligibility is determined by the scholastic standing of the students.

Of the 450 girls who are eligible, and who will probably take an active part in rush week this year are Mary Virginia Barron, Dorothy Bennett, Ruth Bruce, Velma Jane Meyners, Bertha Mae Kruger, Marjorie Vincent, Betsy Lea, Ann Wright, and Mrs. Alice Welty Ward Helen Cline of Wichita Falls, Dorothy Bunkley of Stamford, Betty Montgomery of Chillicothe and Doris Bell and Annie Margaret Gilmer of Graham.

The girls will have six rush dates, three afternoon, and three night, with the interested sororities, on Feb. 17, 18, and 19. They will sign pledge cards on Friday evening, and on Saturday, Feb. 20, they will be on silence until that night at which time they will report to the sorority house of their choice.

About 600 men are eligible for fraternity rushing and of these Maurice Allred, Henry Hall, and Aaron Krueger of Wichita Falls, Tom Bunkley, and Frank Morrow, of Stamford, Ed Chunn of Electra, and Howard Jones, of Decatur, are listed.

The rush period for men will consist of the single day of Feb. 22, a school holiday, at which time the men will have six dates during the day, and pledging in the evening.

After Saturday of this week, there will be no communication at all between eligible people and fraternity people until the official rush dates.

Might I mention that Frank Morrow, of Stamford, not only had pledge grades, but that he was also given credit for having very high scholastic standing.

Saturday will be the last day for the co-eds to select a wardrobe for the style show contest. One girl from each sorority will act as models and display the winning wardrobes on Feb. 16, at the Paramount theater. Now more than ever girls are interested in clothes, clothes for rush week, clothes for Easter, clothes for every spring occasion. And it is typically spring in Austin. It has been too warm for coats, and too sunshiny for anything but white and bright spring colors.

The charity ball and dinner given by the Settlement club at the Driskill hotel on Monday was attended by more than 600 people of Austin. It was extremely colorful, carrying out a night club motif, with special features on the program. Many Wichita Falls people enjoyed this affair.

Everything is in readiness for the Junior Helping Hand tea to be held at the Driskill hotel on Saturday afternoon. Tea will be served throughout the evening, and music will be furnished by Fred Gardner's orchestra. Many university girls, and their escorts will serve as models for the spring style show which will be the feature of the evening.

The selection of the Cactus beauties has been taking place on the campus the last three days. Each dormitory, each boarding house, each sorority will be allowed to have a certain number of representatives for the beauty section of the university Cactus.

Miss Helen Lyles, of Grace hall, whose home is in Stamford, has been selected as one of the beauties to represent her dormitory. Besides being the beauty, Miss Lyles is president of the dormitory council, and also president of the Episcopal Students Sunday club.

Sometimes the good news comes with the bad. Last week several robberies of university residences were reported, but it became really serious when Maurice Allred, of Wichita Falls, and Douglas Smith, of Iowa Park, reported that their room had been robbed, and they had lost several suits of clothes, a handbag, some odd pieces of clothing, and a little cash.

The flu epidemic has finally gotten to Austin after sweeping the northern territory. So many university students are ill that the neighborhood hospitals are unable to accommodate any more.

We were sorry to hear that Frances Bone had been called to her home in Wichita Falls, and will probably be unable to return to the university next semester. Miss Bone says that she may enter junior college for the remainder of the semester and return for her university work in the summer.

A report from John Flynn has finally come. He has withdrawn from the university and is enrolled at St. Edwards on the Hill. St. Edwards has affiliated work with the university and often takes some of the varsity students. Mr. Flynn was a member of the Men's Glee club while in the university and he has been asked to sing at several of the parties for rush week.

Many of the university chapels observed Ash Wednesday this year with some form of student service. At All Saints Episcopal church the services are being led by Bishop E. C. Seaman, of the diocese of North Texas. Student workers who have been interested in the observance of Holy week are going to petition the dean for the abolishment of any social activities during that week.

The Rev. Everett Jones, of Waco, who has been a visitor in Wichita Falls on several occasions is visiting the St. David's church this week.

On Friday night the Sunday club held its pre-lenten dance at the Gregg house. Many university students attended the affair, and among them were Velma Jane Meyner, of Wichita Falls, Helen Lyles, of Stamford, Bill Strong, formerly of Wichita Falls, Bob Crocker, and Hamlin Rugeley, of Wichita Falls.

With students still enrolling, it is possible that the registration will reach the 6,500 mark. There has been no official check of the people who have withdrawn from school.

The Daily Texan carried an account of the recent marriage of Miss Jonnie Morgan, of Wichita Falls, who formerly lived in Austin, and also attended the university. Many of Miss Morgan's ex-students are in the university at present and have asked to be remembered to her.

Word has been received of the marriage of Mary Helen Racey to Fred R. Marshall of Salt Lake City, Utah. Mr. and Mrs. Racey are both ex-students of Texas and they plan to make their home in Utah.

And with nothing especially in view, Dell Hatchitt, and Bill Hood, Ruth Bruce, and Aaron Krueger, strolled nonchalantly into psychology class.

On Friday, Feb. 19, the girls of the women's building will have open house and an informal dance for their friends. Misses Ruth Bruce, Ann Wright, and Velma Jane Meyners, of Wichita Falls, are residents of the women's building.

Launching the new building program of the university, work has begun on a workshop which will serve as storehouse and headquarters for the contractor who has charge of the heating system for the new buildings.

Twenty-four new students were placed on the ranking list of freshmen after a preliminary check of students eligible for membership in Phi Eta Sigma, honorary scholastic society for freshman men. Milton Eliot, of Wichita Falls, was one of the freshman men to receive this honor.

With Wilson Elkins leading the Longhorn cagers, they were able to defeat the S. M. U. Mustangs by a score of 29 to 17. This is indeed a help since we were beaten so severely at the hands of the Horned Frogs from T. C. U.

At the co-op Bill Warren put in his hours giving new students their books and sent them on their way, now he is busy getting rid of his many clever valentines, and other greetings.

The writer wishes to extend the greetings of valentine season to her readers in Wichita Falls and vicinity.

beautiful by the formation of such neighborhood clubs. Such a helpful, unselfish spirit of your women, to love to share. But a true garden lover couldn't be a selfish person, could they Peggy?

"THIS letter, I fear, is working up to a grand climax. When Betty told me of your senior Garden club of which Mrs. J. C. Mytinger is chairman, was sponsoring the formation of junior garden clubs in every school in Wichita Falls, it sounded too good to be true. She said that Mrs. Floyd Randel was chairman of the junior clubs and that nine schools including the Alamo, Austin, Barwise, Benjamin Franklin, Huey, Reagan Junior high, Fannin, Crockett and Bowie, had already organized and were planning a tree planting program for Feb. 19 in observation of the Washington bicentennial. These trees were given to the schools by Mr. Downing of the Wichita nursery through the senior club.

"THE schools each have a representative from their Junior Garden club who meet with Mrs. Randel, and they are now entering a spirited contest of flowers and vegetable gardens. Valuable awards will be given by the senior club to the school and the individuals who have the best garden among the junior members.

"WHY, PEGGY, did you know that Betty could talk all day about the work of that organization and I could be her attentive listener. But she only stopped between trains, so won't you please write me more about the Garden club? I shall see you at the luncheon on the 25th and we shall hear all about the beauties of Mount Vernon.

"Devotedly,
"KITTY."

Now after reading a letter like that, I am thinking there is only one thing for me to do, and that is to go home, get my spade fork and go to work at manual labor.

Isbell, chairman of the county federation, was a guest and outlined a beautification program to be worked out through the demonstration clubs.

Mrs. Ed Dunn read an interesting paper on the ideal bedroom, and Miss Ethel Luise Webb showed many pretty patterns for rugs, and gave instructions for making them.

Those present were Mesdames Sam Raley, G. R. Rambo, Sudie McCreary, J. W. Wright, L. A. Wooten, E. M. Teeters, Wm. Fisher, B. W. Scruggs, C. H. Rinehart, R. A. Yeager, G. G. Bowen, F. E. Epworth League All Star Cast Presents Play

"All Entangled," the three-act comedy produced by the Epworth League players at the Scotland Methodist church Friday evening, proved to be a delightful story of married life softened with a touch of a love story and was well received by the audience. This was the first of a series of presentations for the play. Monday evening the play will be given at the Floral Heights Methodist church.

Particularly pleasing was the violin ensemble of leaguers directed by Miss Loraine Mathis. The masterful way the ensemble handled several difficult numbers brought rounds of applause. The ensemble will take its place as one of Wichita Falls' excellent musical organizations. They will play at each of the performances of the play.

Acting honors could be described as about even among the players. The cast showed the results of training and gave a smooth performance despite the change of some of the characters during the last week on account of illness. It was announced that the original arrangement of the cast would be followed at the Monday evening performance.

In the characters of Mr. and Mrs. Penrose, Lloyd Bland and Miss Beverly Calhoun gave an excellent portrayal of a dominating wife and a meek husband. Their daughter Ruth, played by Miss Alice Sides and Ruth's sweetheart, Harry Baxter, played by Valdon Brownlee; together with Katie, the maid, played by Miss Ines Terrall, complete the Penrose household. Doctor Sopher, their pastor, played by Drew McCulley and his daughter, Georgia, played by Miss Reetha Mae Neal, are constant visitors to the Penrose household. Upon the arrival of Calvin Spangler, Mr. Penrose's nephew, played by Weldon Johnson, things begin to happen at the Penrose home until they are all so entangled that Mr. Penrose decides life no longer holds a future to him and prepares to end it all. His implications with Officer Rafferty, played by Henry Barton, provide a high spot in the play. However, our hero, Calvin Sangler, brings eace and quietude once again to the Penrose home.

Harold White, producer of the play, announced that Miss Martha Johnson would be seen as Georgia Sopher and Miss Edith McClure would play the part of Ruth Penrose at the Monday evening performance. Miss Reetha Mae Neal will take the part of the maid.

The young peoples department of the Floral Heights Methodist church is sponsoring the play and violin ensemble at the Monday evening performance. The musical program will begin at 8 p. m. and the curtain will rise at 8:15.

LADIES BIBLE CLASS HAS MONTHLY MEETING

Members of the Ladies Bible class of the First Methodist church met in their class room Thursday afternoon in regular monthly session. Mesdames Hardesty McNeely, W. A. Stuckey, W. W. Noe and Mary White were hostesses, and Mrs. J. B. Stokes, the president, who has been ill for some time, was able to be present.

A clever skit in costume was presented by Mrs. W. W. Noe as Martha Washington and Mrs. McNeely as George, and Mrs. W. J. Nolen told in an interesting manner about her trip to Mt. Vernon which she made about five years ago.

In the business session, clothing, quilt scraps and tops were donated by class members and by Mrs. Herbert Karrenbrock for pupils in Mrs. Alma Daniels' class, and a ceiling fan and floor lamp was ordered for the class room.

A lovely refreshment plate carrying out the valentine colors and motif, was served to Mesdames J. B. Stokes, J. A. Shepherd, W. C. Hightower, Bertha Reed, J. M. Brown, H. C. Gill, A. E. Cox, Frances Rahl, R. E. Humphrey, W. J. Hurley, J. E. Lee, J. A. Stevenson, C. B. Haynie, H. A. Randell, A. B. Lipscomb, Elsie Lanfair, J. L. Conn, R. L. Ward and W. J. Nolen.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Executive Board

The executive board of the local council will meet at the Wichita club at 12 o'clock on Wednesday of this week. A full attendance is desired.

Beautification Course

The second class in the "home beautification course" for Camp Fire Girls will meet at Freear's on Saturday of this week. This course is in connection with the 1932 birthday theme which centers on the home. Girls who complete the course of three classes will receive certificates. Ivan Murchison is giving the instruction. A study of furnishings in Freear's beautiful store is an inspiration in itself. Each group has been assigned an exhibit room to furnish during the birthday week of March 13 to 19. Those who missed the first class may make up the work and still be eligible for the certificate.

Sympathy

Camp Fire Girls were grieved to learn of the death of Miss Zona Younkin at her home in Denver, on Feb. 6, after an illness of many months.

Wichita Falls Camp Fire Girls will remember Miss Younkin for her splendid help with the birthday music last year and later, as director of the glee club. Sympathy is here expressed to her sister, Mrs. E. D. Steward, former guardian and accompanist for glee club which met each week at her home on Tilden street.

Tanokiwin Group

Members of the Tanokiwin group had an interesting meeting at Austin school on Tuesday afternoon with their guardian, Mrs. S. L. Conn. Talks were given by the girls on Washington, Mozart, Alexander Hamilton and St. Valentine, all of whose birthdays are celebrated in January and February.

Plans were discussed for the 1932 birthday with setting up of exhibit room at Freear's. This week members will report on Abraham Lincoln, Charles Dickens, Charles Lamb, Thomas Edison and Mendelssohn.

Acancan Group

Members of the Acancan group of Reagan Junior high met with the guardian, Miss Leska Howard on Wednesday afternoon for a short business session. Plans were made to hold a rummage sale on Saturday of this week to raise money for the group dues. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was shown over the plans for setting up the living room exhibit at Freear's. Some 10 members were present.

Adi-Iwah Group

The Adi-Iwah group had a most enjoyable meeting at the home of Florence Frazer, 2168 Avenue H on Wednesday evening. The hostess earned two home craft honor beads, one of which will be applied toward her birthday honor—1029: Plan and carry out an evening's social program, getting others to assist and making each person responsible for some particular feature. No. 1015: Have a party of 10 with refreshments costing not more than $2.50, keeping accounts.

Margaret Davis gave the history of valentine, tracing its origin to the earliest times. Florence added an ancient myth in connection with the day. Thelma Simmons, Florence and Mrs. Michaux, guardian, each put on a contest as their contribution to the program.

Mrs. Florence Frazer assisted her daughter with the serving of delicious cake and cream carrying out the valentine motif. Mrs. Frazer will be the assistant guardian of the group.

The group meets this week at the home of Mary Elizabeth Largin, 1808 Kemp boulevard at 6 p. m.

Oawakiya Group

Members of the Oawakiya group met at the home of Mrs. Frank Schram, guardian, on Wednesday afternoon. A program committee of Lois Schram, Ruth Van Wormer, Willie Mae and Maurine Bralley, was selected to outline programs for the group. A meeting of the committee was held on Saturday afternoon after the discussion of home beautification at Freear's.

Nowetompatimmin

C. A. R. Chapter Will Present Colonial Play

Members of the Martha Jefferson chapter, Children of the American Revolution, are celebrating the George Washington bicentennial with a colonial play entitled "Mistress Penelope," which will be presented at the First Methodist church educational building Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

The play is a one-act comedy portraying the adventures of a young American scout endeavoring to get through the British lines with important papers for General Washington.

The action takes place in an early American school taught by the courageous little Quakeress, Mistress Penelope, and the cast of characters includes the entire chapter, assisted by Joe Witherspoon.

The play is directed by Mrs. Sterling Crumpler assisted by Mrs. W. J. Burt, president of the Martha Jefferson chapter.

The role of Mistress Penelope is taken by Josephine Bell; the American soldier, John Weatherford, will be played by Joe Witherspoon; the English officer, Maj. Maurice Cumberland, by Wilma Jane Burt; the Hessian soldier, Sergt. Van Blitzen, by Annie de Montel, and the mischievous schoolboy, William Banks, by Charles Wilson.

The remainder of the cast who are pupils in the colonial school will answer roll call with their genuine ancestoral names. These include Dorothy Apple, Lucille Waggoner, Margaret Wilson, Dorothy and Jane McGown, Mary and Anabelle Harrell, Katherine Reid, Billy Sue Burt, Helen de Montel, Mary Hyatt, Patsy McGregor, Jodelle Gaines and Vollie Jeane Cain.

The play will be presented in costume and with colonial setting.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES AS TEXANS SEE THEM

Glimpses of the Great and Near Great

RETURN TO YESTERDAY, by Ford Madox Ford. Published by Horace Liveright. $4.00.

Mr. Ford, whose real name, it seems, is Hueffer, has here undertaken a task which is comparable to eggs and violin playing. That is to say, it must be either good or bad. His "Return to Yesterday" is a collection of the reminiscences, sketches and adventures that a busy literary life has produced. That sort of thing is either the dreariest reading imaginable, or it is the most diverting. In this instance, it is the latter.

You are given a quantity of autobiographical material, although Mr. Ford keeps his own personality pretty much on the side-lines. You are given glimpses, beguiling and otherwise, of such greats and near-greats as Henry James, Conrad, Kipling, W. H. Hudson, Stephen Crane, H. G. Wells, Oscar Wilde, Samuel Butler, George B. Shaw, Lord Northcliffe, John Galsworthy, Emile Zola, Thomas Hardy, Arnold Bennett, Bonar Law, William E. Gladstone, Ramsay McDonald, John Bright and John Morley. None of these is allowed to become boresome, unless it be Conrad, who draws more than his allotment of space and attention.

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone had the habit of taking a hot-water bottle filled with beef tea to bed with them. From time to time during the night, they drank the tea; how they kept their feet warm after it was all consumed is not explained. At 6 a. m. the statesman would sit up in bed and partake of a little snack consisting of grilled chicken and a glass of sherry with egg beaten into it. That, on top of the beef tea, sufficed to sustain him until 8 a. m. when he ate his regular breakfast.

The book reminds you somehow of a man cleaning out an old desk, and stopping to tell the story of each letter, each knick-knack, that he finds. It is a full desk, for Ford has done considerable living in his three-score years.

He quits the company of notables every now and then to devote a chapter to some lowly folk he has encountered in his agricultural adventures. He presents the drama of their sordid lives in a most engaging way. There are precious few folks who have not tasted adventure of some kind that is worth the telling.

It is not a book to sit down and read through in an evening. Rather, it is one on which to browse from time to time. Those who have found Mr. Ford's novels difficult, (as this reviewer has) will be agreeably surprised to discover how pleasingly he can write when he deals in reminiscence and literary rambles. —JOHN GOULD.

With the Magazines

By L. N. C.

If any man thinks the Delineator is merely a fashion book (which it probably started out to be), he is much mistaken. None other than William Lyon Phelps, erudiate professor, and editor of Scribner's fascinating "As I Like It," writes in the February Delineator, an appreciation of Edith Wharton, the first woman in the world to receive from Yale the honorary degree of doctor of letters. Mr. Phelps says:

"Just as the audience at an entertaining play in the theater is composed of two classes—those who are purely receptive, are content to be entertained by the plot and ask for nothing more; and those who have the double delight of being entertained and of watching the display of skill in constructive art; so in reading a new novel by Edith Wharton, we may simply enjoy it as a story, and enjoy it we shall, since she is never dull; but we may also, while still following the narrative with pleasure, develop our own minds by contact with hers.

"What then shall we look for? Well, we shall see how imaginary persons are made real by creative art; how they develop as tested by what we know of human nature; how beautiful may be the rhythm of English prose, when written by an author who knows the value of words, and their relation to one another; how enormously important in a novel—or in any work of art—is the principle of selection, where everything superfluous is omitted; how a good novel in its construction is like a beautiful building, where the proportions of the separate parts are properly maintained. Finally, we may have the elevation of the spirit which comes from association with writers of intelligence, cultivation and sincerity."

And we will confess that not Edith Wharton, but Willa Cather, is the writer who develops our mind by contact.

In the February issue of Scribners, the magazine in which Mr. Phelps conducts "As I Like It," each month, Edith Wharton has a short novel, "Her Son." You might like it. We did not. Why write only of the ugly side of lives?

The Pathfinder has some nice merry-go-round stuff. For instance, "The Hoover reconstruction finance corporation rents quarters at $150,000 a year . . . Not far away postal clerks are furnished with the backs of old envelopes as memo paper . . . The bureau of efficiency is probing abuse of autos marked "for official use only."

"Local Methodist churches will loan chairs for private parties provided they are not used for card playing. (But if they could see what was drunk while people were seated in them!)"

The Pathfinder also compares the price of prayers in congress. The chaplain in the house and in the senate receive $1,680 each per year. Their duties, the magazine quotes a schoolboy as stating, are to "look over all the congressmen and then pray for the country." They have very little to do, and some solons have figured out that the prayers of the Methodist Dr. Montgomery, chaplain in the house, which are inclined to be shorter than those of the Episcopal chaplain to the senate, cost about $5 per word.

It's not only laughs, however, that one finds in The Pathfinder. It is rich in facts. Read them yourself.

"Below Manufacturing Costs," by Jesse Ramaford Sprague, in the current Saturday Evening Post, gives the merchants away to us. Written from direct information, the article is of real interest.

This William Faulkner of Mississippi is an American Mercury writer. In the February issue, he has a story, "Centaur in Brass." Mr. Faulkner knows his real southern negroes and it seems he knows the low class whites. The story is crudely fascinating. It is beautifully written, with perfect diction and a vision that might be so well turned to a greater subject. Mr. Faulkner has power; but like so many post war writers, Mr. Faulkner lacks what we of the mauve decade, would call ideals and dreams.

As beautifully written an article as one could find is the story of Chicago in the March McCalls, under "Land of the Pilgrim's Pride." Morris Markey writes of Chicago, the urgent city. "Crowning the Middle Empire, and holding the key to the vast golden prairies reaching endlessly toward the setting sun, Chicago stands, dramatically poised, a colossal monument to civic pride."

"What's Going on This Month," in the March McCalls, is the feature of which we wrote in the February magazine—one more than worth the price of the magazine. Heywood Broun in his article on the stage of the month, writes "Sinning Against Cinderella." Mr. Broun remarks "It is a pity that playwrights, like race horses, quite often tire in the stretch. The ability to sprint is far more common than the capacity to hold the pace over a distance of ground. Eugene O'Neill has popularized the marathon in the theater, but most of our playwrights find even the three act form just a shade too long. It is unfortunate that custom provides no place for the one hour drama." Then the writer proceeds to praise the beauty of the first act in Ferenc Molnar's "The Good Fairy," and says that the playwright had nothing more to say and took two acts to prove it.

We cannot refrain from quoting a long story from The Talk of the Town in the Feb. 6, New Yorker. It may be quite encouraging to buyers of $1.98 hats to know there's still such a market as the one of which the editor writes. And according to the writer, the buyers of these hats come from towns that, according to what we have heard, have been hard hit.

The Talk of the Town says:

"Nat Clark, who does a tidy business in expensive hats for ladies was talking to us the other day about the general situation. Things haven't fallen off as much as you might think. Nate still sticks to $35 as the minimum price for a hat, and he still has a lot of ladies whose hat bills for one calendar year run into the thousands—one of them as high as nine thousand. Most customers of this type are from out of town: Atlanta, Memphis, Canton, Akron, and places like that.

"A big rubber lady from Akron came into Nate's shop not long back, bearing in her arms a teddy bear. It was her daughter's. She had just had five dresses made for the teddy, she explained, and she wanted Nate to create five suitable hats to go with the gowns. He got in touch with the firm that had made the dresses (after she had gone) to get a line on things, made the five hats, and sent them to Akron with a bill for $175, his minimum. A few days later he got a telegram: "Teddy bear loves the sweet hats." Nate says she isn't crazy—just seems so."

The Pictorial Review has an editorial page filled with political news or, perhaps we should say, with news about politically important people. George Washington in all his colonial dignity makes the central figure for the headline. We wonder at times, if the celebration of the George Washington bi-centennial, which began so early in the year, will continue unabated to the end.

Even if one does not agree with the cutting editorials that Mr. Mencken writes in The American Mercury, he may find pleasure in reading Americana. Moral remonstrance in the Maryland Conservationist, reads:

"Out of a clear sky, on Sunday evening, Chief Deputy Game Warden Charles A. Smith was shot down in his tracks by a member of his family, very uncalled for."

Knowing nothing of music, we adore the music review in The American Mercury "The Music Room." For who would not find charm in bars of music that adorn the pages. It reminds us of the times when as a small girl, we sat on an organ bench and picked out the notes from songs in little, old-fashioned song books.

Pilots Show Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—At the close of 1931 there were more licensed airplane pilots in the United States than there were planes, a report from the aeronautics branch of the U. S. department of commerce shows. There were more than 17,700 licensed pilots, and only 10,780 planes. New York had the largest number of planes and California the largest number of pilots.

Warns Aviators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—U. S. pilots who contemplate going to China for positions should think twice before they go, the U. S. department of commerce warns. Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, reports that the posters appearing in various sections of the United States and Canada, offering promising positions, are misleading.

Cabell Hates New York—'Hokum' Irritates Him

By GILBERT SWAN

NEW YORK.—Branch Cabell, who once was James Branch Cabell (rhymes with babble), doubtless wishes that he was back in Poictseme among the fabulous characters of his many books.

Anywhere, except New York! It may even be possible that he regrets having become a realist. Cabell has had realism thrust close to his extremely cartoonable nose.

At a corner table sat George Jean Nathan, who when animated can almost rival Eddie Cantor's wide-eyed look. . . . Next was Claire Brokaw, the lovely Social Register gal from Vanity Fair" and author of "Stuffed Shirts." . . . Then the red-bearded, poised Ernest Boyd. . . . Burton Rascoe, back from a long illness on the Pacific coast.

Sauntering through the room, the towering, humorous Henrik Van Loon, biographer and historian, who loves to tell newspaper men about those off-tone slips that occur in headlines. . . . And what a collection of amazing ones he has.

Frieda Innescourt, charming actress, joins in with tales of funny stage experiences. . . . Plump and Cupid-smiled W. E. Woodward, who isn't one-tenth as serious as several of his books. . . . Joseph Wood Krutch, perhaps one of the most brilliant young writing men of the day, with his Tennessee accent and his hair slicked in the middle, giving him an almost boyish appearance. . . . And nervous because he has to talk for two minutes over the radio.

Six-foot William Rose Benet, whom you'd never take to be a fine poet from outward appearances. . . . More like a gentleman just in from a bank or a broker's office.

Thatcher Thayer, who has suddenly become a best seller and a young writer to be reckoned with. . . . But, somehow, reminding you of the smallest tumbler in one of those "ally-oop" acts! . . . Never without a grin and given to quiet clowning.

"Finally, in a smaller back room—the lion!

His hair is reddish and combed back with a leonine sort of pomp, drawing back from slightly graying temples. . . . Cabell stands with arms crossed, feet spread, as though getting a stance against the crowd of autograph hunters, welcomers and merely curious.

His greeting is quiet and southern. . . . He is calm and serious of face, laughing chiefly about the eyes.

He drove to New York in a dusty car. . . . He comes to Manhattan only when there is no escape. . . . He prefers to live quietly on his Virginia estate. . . . And you can't blame him . . . The "hokum" surrounding the salesmanship of famous folk appears to irritate him. . . He refused, for instance, to make a radio speech after he had written it. . . . Some one else had to read it.

After all, he had written 18 years before he was "recognized." . . . Mark Twain had enjoyed his early work. . . . So had Theodore Roosevelt, but readers in general knew little about him. . . . Burton Rascoe, writing on a Chicago paper, reviewed "Cream of the Jest" and grew so enthusiastic about Cabell that attention was attracted.

Eighty-Mile Picture

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—New long-distance photographic equipment of the army air corps permits a picture to be taken within a range of 80 miles. From an altitude of 15,000 feet, an exposure will cover a width of 15 miles and an area of about 126 square miles. The entire cities of Philadelphia and Camden, with parts of Trenton and Staten Island, N. Y., were recently taken in one shot.

The BOOK SURVEY

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer

If you have a comfortable feeling that all is for the best in the best of all possible worlds, you might find it stimulating to read "World Chaos: the Responsibility of Science," by William McDougall. This slim little book, which Covici-Friede is offering for $1.25, will jar you out of your complacency in no time at all.

Mr. McDougall looks at the sky and finds it very dark. We have developed a magnificent civilization, he says, but it is lop-sided, and if the lop-sidedness isn't remedied speedily the whole business will capsize. We have developed the physical sciences in splendid style, but we have almost totally ignored the social sciences—such things as economics, sociology, psychology and political science—and the result is apt to be disastrous.

His book, then, is a plea for the development of the social sciences. In no other way, he says, can we avert the catastrophe that lowers on the horizon. He wants to see research in the social sciences endowed and pushed forward as enthusiastically as has been the case with physics, chemistry and astronomy, and he is gloomily confident that if it isn't we shall forthwhile tumble into the pit that has been digged beside our pathway.

All in all, "World Chaos" is a disturbing book, written by a man of acute intelligence. You'll find it very much worth your while.

Darrow Tells Life Story

A brooding sort of melancholy pervades "The Story of My Life," by Clarence Darrow. The famous criminal lawyer here sets down the full account of his long battle for justice, tolerance and human decency, and tells how it was that he cast himself in that role instead of becoming—as he started out to be—a well-paid corporation lawyer.

His book is much like himself; that is, it is kindly, rather sad, shot through with dour misgivings as to the value of any human aspirations, quick to take offense at oppression and injustice, and somehow very engaging and appealing.

He tells of his boyhood in Ohio; of his early struggles in Chicago as a fledgling lawyer; of his association with Governor Altgeld of Illinois, the "eagle forgotten"; of the Idaho mine war, of the McNamara case, of the Leopold-Loeb trial, of the Dayton evolution trial, of all the sharp fights that have made his name famous. The manner of his telling is chatty, discursive, highly informal, and the whole makes a book of rare charm and deep interest.

"The Story of My Life" is published by Scribners, and costs $3.50.

Novel Is Worth Reading

Claude Houghton—if you read "I Am Jonathan Scrivener" you'll remember him with interest—is another writer who indulges in deep pessimism. His new novel, "Chaos Is Come Again," casts an appraising eye at the state of England and finds it very bad.

Claude Houghton . . . his new book, "Chaos Is Come Again," puts modern life under the microscope . . . it has many shortcomings, but is distinctly worth reading.

As a novel, it has serious defects. A young tutor gets a job with a decaying county family, whose individual members are as peculiar a gang as you will find anywhere in contemporary fiction; and the plot itself is slow-moving, frequently rather incredible and, on the whole, poorly contrived. But through the mouths of these characters Mr. Houghton discusses the break-up of England's traditions and the decay of her civilization, and exhibits a good deal of accumen in the process.

If you are looking for a regular novel, "Chaos Is Come Agian" will disappoint you. But it does put modern life under the microscope in an intelligent manner, and if you don't mind exercising your brain you'll find the book worth while.

The book is offered by Doubleday, Doran & Co., and costs $2.50.

Foch Was Not Napoleon

"Foch—The Man of Orleans," by Capt. B. H. Liddell Hart, is the best biography of the famous soldier that I have seen. The author, military critic for the London Times, subjects the allied generalissimo to a painstaking critical scrutiny and offers a new estimate of the man's abilities.

Foch, he finds, was possessed by two characteristics; an ineradicable fondness for the offensive in warfare, and the ability to believe that things were just as he wanted them to be. During the first part of the war, these were disastrous traits. They cost many, many lives and brought France close to disaster. But in 1918 they became invaluable to the allied cause and brought victory.

Capt. Liddell Hart is no "debunker," anxious to gain a reputation by taking pot-shots at a great figure. If he finds that Foch was not, after all, a second Napoleon, he is nevertheless ready to testify to the man's undeniable greatness. His book is extremely well-written, and I think you'll find it very interesting.

LITERARY KNOT-HOLE

By LORENA DRUMMOND

A Menace of Deviltry and Artistry

In his "Circus," the devilishly delightful Peter Arno presents a third series of those hilarious and more or less ribald drawings which have made his name a byword in every sophisticated American home.

Arno is credited with being one of the pioneers, if not the pioneer, in the recent revival of comic drawings which depend on a single catch-line for their effectiveness. Foremost in the field of humor for many years was the "college comic," the two-line gag accompanied by a drawing which was included solely for ornamental purposes, for more frequently than not it had no apparent relation to the joke appended. Now even in the college humorous publications, this particular manifestation of humor is being crowded out by the many imitations of Arno's splashy sketches captioned with a single sentence, usually a remark by one of the characters in the drawing.

Many of the drawings included in "Circus" were first printed in the New Yorker Magazine, which first sponsored Arno's work, and others are here affording merriment to his admirers for the first time. Included are a number of untitled drawings, mainly of figures in action.

This delightful melange of deviltry and artistry is available through the courtesy of Horace Liveright, Inc., of New York City, the modest tariff of $3 a volume. This company has also prepared a de luxe edition, limited to 100 copies, with special binding and autobiographed by the artist, for people who wish to pay $10 per book.—By G. G., University of Texas.

A New Western Literature

If this book, "The Range Robbers," is any sample of the new trend in western novels, such novels are destined to reach newer and greater heights than at any time previous. Just as the movies brought their blood and thunder westerns down to earth, the novelists have—at least Oliver Strange has—combined with realism all the thrills and excitement of western range life to an amazing degree.

The tale is swift moving, wasting little time on descriptions yet giving the true western atmosphere. The characters are not puppets, but hardened pony-guiders from the Y-Z ranch. The story centers around the arrival of an unknown at the Y-Z ranch, and concerns his involved search for the rustlers that are stripping the country of cattle.

Trial of tribulation a-plenty are in store for the newcomer, and from time to time every one doubts his right to be the central figure—even the readers, but as all good westerns go, he succeeds in his purpose. But not so fast—it is not that simple. Oliver Strange brings him through so many complex and menacing situations that the reader begins to prepare for a tragic ending. And there is no hint of the ending and its implications until the last pages of the book.

Lovers of westerns and those who have never taken to such writings will find the book smooth, interesting, and sincere in every respect. Mr. Strange has done an admirable piece of work in this book, and it is easy to see that it was not written in a week. Instead his entire scheme has been well worked out and effectively presented.

It has the atmosphere of the West coming chiefly from the dialog of the characters instead of from description, which is an outstanding improvement in itself. The plot is well-constructed, and believe it or not, it is different.

It is easy to recommend Oliver Strange's "The Range Robbers" to lovers of action novels and well-constructed books in general. Perhaps it will give you faith once more that in some of the now degenerated and demoralized western fiction that is running off the presses, you will find more books like it—well done and artistically written. It so affects this reader, at least—By D. B. Hardeman, University of Texas.

A Choice of the Literary Guild

James Branch Cabell has given us a new book whose author he calls Branch Cabell for the reason that he wishes to establish a definite break between his first 18 works and those that may come after—"These Restless Heads" being the first of them; and thus, Cabell protects himself from posterity who ignorantly or carelessly might destroy the unity of the series of his compositions by including or excluding without regard for the plan and sentiment of its maker. Cabell is doubly protected: "These Restless Heads" is not a story of strange figures and other lands but a group of related essays picturing a southern gentleman's great-great-grandson, one James Branch Cabell, writer, who, safe at 50, may comment on himself and things near at hand. Cabell makes a background for himself upon a spring morning, a summer day, an autumn afternoon, and winter's night. He speculates leisurely upon whatever claims his attention, the scene changing with the seasons.

We learn that James Branch Cabell is the proper son of his gentle folk ancestors; he is leisurely, comfortable, and served. He is conceited, but excusably, since no author is worth his salt who is not. In keeping with the literary tradition, in his youth he was as immoral as becomes a young artist, but very nicely so at "Rockbridge Alum," a resort "for the diverse pleasuring of the aristocracy of birth and wealth." Yet our author cannot claim entire conventionality in the regulation of his love life, for he has become the father of five legitimate children and of five legitimate grandchildren. He has his home, his car, his butler; and he pays his taxes. But his babbitism is forgivable since one who is a "generous practitioner of the art of writing" and who "has mastered his prose style" should be permitted such regularity. The early days of youth and love brought rewards; from the perfected memories of them have come "Beyond Life," "Figures of Earth," "The Silver Stallion," "Domnei," "Chivalry," "Jurgen," and the rest. These all deal with nonsense, which is well, for it is unwise to use as one's subject the practical problems that seem important in this day because, as its age passes, the work is no longer meaningful and must die. If one keeps his thoughts in the never, never land, there will be no temporal dictator to say when they shall no longer live. However, our author did not follow this plan because of the logic in it; he must write of nonsense because that is what his muse distates. Aesrid, our lady of compromise, is a pretty good god after all. She brings us comforts and success. It is very nice at 50 to have left one's hot-blooded periods behind; to be not overly concerned about anything; to be able to retire to the privacy of one's library and to have there one's own works; to be secure, with the winds closed out and the warmth of the fireside within.

Woolcott's Favorites

Alexander Woolcott, writing in McCall's Magazine, notes the fact that 10 of his particular favorites were included in the new list of Modern library titles. "With only $10 to expend on food for your mind," he writes, "think of being able to stack up all these books, and still have some change left to drop into the next Salvation Army tambourine you happen to pass by! The mere setting down of the titles has afflicted me with an itch to buy the lot and to get on a boat with them tomorrow!" Mr. Woolcott's list was:

"The Way of All Flesh," by Samuel Butler; "Wuthering Heights," by Emily Bronte; "The Brothers Karamazov," by Dostoyevsky; "The Old Wives' Tale," by Arnold Bennett; "Lord Jim," by Joseph Conrad; "South Wind," by Norman Douglas; "The Garden Party," by Katherine Mansfield; "Of Human Bondage," by Somerset Maugham; "Tono Bungay," by H. G. Wells; "Death Comes for the Archbishop," by Willa Cather.

Speaking of Influence

William Faulkner recently ordered all of the Dostoyevsky titles in the Modern library series. "I have seen several reviews of my books in which a Dostoyevsky influence was found," he wrote to Bennett Cerf, "but I have never read Dostoyevsky, and I would like to see the animal."

HARRY SOSNIK TO LEAD OWN BAND IN RADIO BROADCAST

Harry Sosnik, pianist and composer, whose arrangements have been featured by America's foremost orchestras, will lead his own 20-piece band in the inaugural broadcast of the new weekly series over the WABC-Columbia network beginning Sunday, Feb. 14, from 7 to 7:30 p. m., central standard time.

Ray McDermott, Francis Bastow, George Howard and John Ravencroft—for two years identified as "The King's Jesters" with Paul Whiteman's band—will be an added attraction in this series which will be presented at the same time each Sunday. This quartet specializes in rapid changes from vocal to instrumental harmony, and each of the four is an accomplished performer on any one of a half dozen instruments.

Sosnik is the composer of several well known piano solos including "Tranquility" and "Modern Satire," and his arrangements have been used by Ben Bernie, Whiteman, Coon-Sanders and other well known bands. In the present series he will present symphonic arrangements of current hits.

Harold Bauer Will Be Soloist With Concert Broadcast of Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra Sunday Feb. 14

Harold Bauer will be heard as soloist with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra a second time when the concert in Carnegie hall is broadcast through the WABC-Columbia network from 2 to 4 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Feb. 14, with Bruno Walter conducting.

The great Anglo-American pianist, who was a concert violinist up to the age of 30, when he took up the keyboard instrument at the instance of Paderewski, will play the solo part in Schumann's concerto in A minor, Opus 54. When he began this work, the composer had no intention of writing a concerto, and at first wrote only an allegro which he proposed to publish as a fantasia for piano and orchestra.

After the intermission, during which Olin Downes, distinguished music critic, will comment on the works comprising the program, Bruno Walter will conduct the orchestra in Mahler's fifth symphony. Composed in 1901, this work has not been heard in New York for almost five years, since the Philharmonic society performance under Mengelberg. It is in two parts, of which the first and second movements constitute one, and the remaining three movements the other.

Bruno Walter tells of a dream he once had, when preparing Mahler works for performance, in which he saw the composer striving upward at constantly shifting points of a mountain, and he applies this to an interpretation of Mahler's several symphonies. After the struggling of the second and third, there was a "truce" in the fourth, whilst in the fifth "the life of the earth surges so much more tremendously, and demands to be traversed."

SYRACUSE SYMPHONY TO GIVE CONCERT PROGRAM

Vladimir Shavitch will conduct the Syracuse Symphony orchestra in a full-length concert to be broadcast through the WABC-Columbia network from 1:30 to 3:00 p. m. C. S. T. Saturday, Feb. 20.

Founded in 1920, the Syracuse symphony has grown rapidly since 1924 under the direction of Vladimir Shavitch until it now ranks among the most important orchestras in the country. Among the distinguished artists who have appeared with it as soloists are Hofmann, Gabrilowitsch, Respighi, Prokofieff and Szigeti.

RADCLIFFE CHORAL SOCIETY TO GIVE PROGRAM MONDAY

The Radcliffe Choral society, under the direction of George Wallace Woodworth, tutor in music at both Radcliffe and Harvard universities, will be heard in the third of a series of seven concerts, featuring the glee clubs and choirs of leading American women's colleges to be broadcast over WABC and the Columbia network, Monday, Feb. 15, from 2:45 to 3 p. m., central standard time. Selections from grand opera and light opera sources will make up the varied program.

Professor Woodworth, in addition to directing the Radcliffe Choral society, is the conductor of the Pierian Sodality orchestra of Harvard and the organizer and leader of the Bach Cantata club of Cambridge. After receiving his M. A. in music at Harvard, Woodworth journeyed to England to study conducting with Malcolm Sargent and to continue his study of the organ with Henry Ley. At the present time he offers a course in Bach at both Harvard and Radcliffe.

The Radcliffe Choral society has a membership of about 200 voices. Each year it gives concerts in neighboring preparatory schools, and joins the Harvard Glee club in the Christmas carol services held in the Sanders theater at Boston. Since 1921 the Choral society has given public performances in collaboration with the Boston Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Serge Koussevitsky. An outstanding concert in this series was the Bach festival held in March of last year, in which both the Harvard Glee club and the Radcliffe society collaborated with the orchestra.

SNOWBALL AND SUNSHINE IS NEW RADIO PROGRAM OVER COLUMBIA CHAIN

"Snowball and Sunshine," a new five-day-a-week radio program dramatising the comedy and pathos in the lives of an indolent southern negro preacher and his thrifty, hard-working wife, will be introduced over the Dixie network of the Columbia Broadcasting system on Monday, Feb. 15, in the 6 to 6:15 p. m., central standard time, period. The program will be heard at the same time thereafter daily except Saturday and Sunday.

James H. Dodgen and Mrs. Dodgen, natives of Atlanta, Ga., will be the featured players.

The main scene running through the programs as they are heard on the air is laid in an employment agency operated by the preacher and his wife as their main occupation, the preacher's preaching being a side-line not calculated to keep the wolf from the door.

ELEVEN COUNTRIES TO LISTEN IN ON COLUMBIA CHAIN

Eleven countries, including five which have not previously participated in broadcasts from the United States to Europe, will hear a program of spirituals by the A Cappella chorus and Jubilee singers of Fisk university which will be heard simultaneously in the United States and Canada through the WABC-Columbia network from 3:00 to 3:30 p. m. C. S. T. Monday, Feb. 15.

Originating in Nashville, Tenn., the program will be transmitted by short wave to Rugby, England, and distributed from there by telephone wires to London, Paris, Vienna, Budapest, Prague and Rome, where previous "Hello Europe!" programs have been heard, and which in turn serve as distribution points for the networks in each country.

Newcomers to the international hook-up which also will be linked in for this broadcast are Holland, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, so that it actually will be broadcast in countries with a population totalling 316,000,000 and will be audible to listeners in many other adjacent and nearby states. DX fans throughout the world will be able to pick up from Columbia's two short-wave stations, W2XE in New York and W3XAU, Philadelphia.

JEANETTE VREELAND TO BE HEARD IN SECOND OF COLUMBIA CONCERT BILLS

Jeannette Vreeland, American-born soprano who has appeared with the great symphony orchestras throughout the United States, will be heard in the second program of the Columbia concerts series to be presented at 5:30 p. m., central standard time, Sunday, Feb. 14, through the WABC-Columbia network.

The orchestral part of the program and accompaniments for Miss Vreeland's selections will be furnished by the Columbia Concert orchestra under the baton of Howard Barlow, who has chosen the "Ride of the Valkyries" to open the half-hour presentation.

Miss Vreeland's first solo will be the striking aria "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio," from Verdi's opera, "La Forza del Destino," while her second group is in marked contrast, containing "A Memory" by Rudolph Ganz, and Herbert Brewer's fantasy, "The Fairy Pipers." The program will conclude with a vocal group in which Richard Strauss' "Zueignung" ("Dedication") will provide the finale.

For every 1,000 persons in the United States there are about 186 cows.

Alex Gray Will Sing Gershwin's New Popular Hit

Alex Gray, baritone, and Nat Shilkret's orchestra will introduce George Gershwin's new song, "You've Got What Gets Me" with, "Music That Satisfies" over the WABC-Columbia network Monday, Feb. 15, at 9:30 p. m., central standard time.

Gershwin's tune, the second of a series presented exclusively by the Chesterfield co-stars, will be featured several times during the remainder of February. Thereafter they will offer special compositions twice each month from the outstanding song writers of the country.

The Gershwin number is a sprightly fox trot by the composer who immortalized the American jazz idiom with the "Rhapsody in Blue" and who recently wrote the music for the Broadway hit, "Of Thee I Sing." It will be played and sung exclusively on "Music That Satisfies" for two weeks and then released for the use of others.

New numbers from the song-writing team of DeSylva, Brown & Henderson and from Walter Donaldson will be introduced during March.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Robert L. Ripley

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON—Lincoln's Phenomenal Memory: The schools which Lincoln attendend (three in Kentucky and two in Indiana) gave him a total of less than 12 months of schooling. But it was during his school years in southwestern Indiana that he began to train his memory to hold page after page of verse and prose. Lincoln's intentness of interest and the power of concentration with which he studied, pondered over, and saturated himself with the contents of the books of his youth, led the development of a memory so phenomenal and so photographic in its capacity that it enabled him to retain forever their contents. It enabled him to attend church in the morning and then repeat word for word the sermon of the pulpit to those members of his family who had been unable to be present. The list of books he assimilated completely is based on Lincoln's own asseverations made either in public or from the speaker's platform. What he read and re-read until he absorbed it into his nature exerted a powerful influence upon his subsequent career, and helped shape the historical events with which Lincoln is identified. The size of his hat was ascertained recently as 6¾, said to be the smallest of any president. The Largest Check Ever Drawn: The check for $146,000,000, representing the purchase price of the Dodge Brothers interests, was the consummation of the largest single cash transaction in industrial history. $56,000,000 of that money represented the intangible asset of "good will" in the firm. The public reacted favorably to the change of ownership by promptly absorbing $160,000,000 in new securities issued by the new owners.

THE LOOKOUT

BY AL PARKER

It may all go up in smoke and not amount to a thing, but this meeting of the Izaak Walton league Tuesday night has all the earmarks of being something worthwhile. Its purpose is to see what, if anything, can be done about the quail; if the bobwhite can be brought back to something like its oldtime prevalence here. It doesn't happen to be one of those things that can be done by "all those favoring the motion let it be known by raising the right hand." If any material good is to come from the efforts of the sportsmen, it will be only through a period of years of hard thinking, the same kind of work and some expense. The latter item might be eliminated entirely if a sufficient number of quail enthusiasts will join in and lend their unstinted support to the movement. If only a few of those most interested answer the call, there's not much chance of success.

Probably the most important item that will be gone into at Tuesday night's meeting will be the proper system of distribution. It is far easier to get the quail than it is to distribute them where they will do the most good. The state game, fish and oyster commission distributes quail in limited quantity each year, and it is quite possible that a substantial number of birds can be obtained from this source. We doubt if the sportsmen of any section of the state have been quite as active and useful to the cause of wild life conservation as those of this immediate territory. There is no section more deserving of the consideration of the state department.

Backyard "quail" hatcheries are being fostered in some states as one of the most likely plans to bring back the birds. Experiments extending back over quite a few years have provided much valuable information on artificial propagation, and while the raising of quail still is not a simple matter, it has progressed steadily and has been proven practicable. For the sportsman so turned, the "backyard hatcheries" serve a double purpose. It is a hobby as interesting to those so inclined as anything of which we can call to mind, and it serves the useful purpose of helping to bring back the quail. The idea has not been developed as yet to the extent of accomplishing a great deal in the way of returning the quail, but it certainly has its possibilities.

Getting nearer home, one can find evidence of the success of the "backyard hatchery" in the case of the pheasant. Elsewhere in this department is a story of the success encountered by Hubert "Hoot" Lesley and Dr. W. T. Wells in their experiments with the "chink." They started in the spring of 1930 with 16 eggs. Today their flock consists of 33 adult birds, and they expect to liberate somewhere between 150 and 250 pheasants this spring in the hope of getting this grand bird started in this territory. This experiment is only half proven, however, for the pheasants have not been tested in the wild state. If they will prosper as they have in many other states, it will not take this year's crop long to multiply sufficiently to provide some shooting in the section in which they are "planted."

The pheasant is well on the way to becoming America's premier game bird, and he is strictly an importation. He has prospered where native game birds, including the quail, have failed dismally in their battle to hold their own against man and natural enemies. In some respects the pheasant is the finest of all game birds. We have heard it argued that he is an even sportier bird than our bobwhite. Our own view is that no bird as big as the pheasant can rate with the quail as a sporting proposition. But maybe that's because we've never even seen a pheasant in the wild state, much less tried to knock 'em down. Those who have had experience with the ringneck aver that his size is deceptive in the extreme, probably mainly because of the long tail, and is not nearly as simple a target as would seem.

The pheasant has quite a few qualities that rank him as a more desirable bird than the quail from the standpoint of the hunting sportsman. But the crowning advantage is his ability to prosper where the quail has had such tough sledding as to face extinction. There are reasons why the pheasant is better fitted to fight his battle of life. He is much better equipped to ward off his natural enemies. A cock pheasant is one of the gamest birds that flies. Stories have been told of his victories over hawks when the two locked in mortal combat. His diet is more varied and he does not have the difficulty of the bobwhite in staving off starvation, particularly when the weather element enters into the picture.

A score in favor of the pheasant, pointed out by Lesley, is that cock and hen are immediately distinguishable to the hunter in the field. And that is more important than it may appear on the surface. It is possible to confine the shooting to the roosters in the open season. The hunter cannot distinguish between the male and female of the bobwhite on the rise, and protection of the hens is impossible. The quail, too, is monogamous, while old Mr. Pheasant is not nearly so particular. Pheasants, we understand, are much harder for dogs to handle and consequently much more difficult for the hunter to kill. Undisturbed pheasants will sit tight, but a good dog is required to handle 'em under even those conditions, and pheasants that are constantly being disturbed by the hunter lead the best of dogs even worse than a dog's life, as the old saying goes.

Whether any attempt will be made at Tuesday night's meeting to get the pheasant started on a larger scale hereabouts is unknown, but the opportunity will be presented for some really constructive action in this respect. Ben G. Oneal, president of the Wichita Falls chapter, has made the session an open affair and has invited all sportsmen interested in game birds, both in Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory, to be present Tuesday night. It is a project in which all sportsmen should be interested; sufficiently interested to attend the meeting.

Holton's Scoring Machine Defeats Bomarton Easily

The Wichita Falls business men's volley ball team defeated the Henrietta Knights of Pythias in three straight games, and boxing and wrestling matches between the halves of the cage skirmish and following it were staged by members of C. C. Frazee's Junior college and high school gymnasium classes.

A fast-breaking, accurate-passing Bomarton team kept pace with the Coyotes through the first period, but when Brandon, Reeves and Janeway put on full steam in the second period the Pack soon had a safe lead rolled up.

Sailors on Defense

Superior height of the Coyotes and their ability to take the ball off the backboards was a telling factor in keeping the invading Sailors on the defensive through most of the game. Raynes at center and Burns at guard were leading lights in the game stand the invaders made.

The score at the end of the first period was 10 to 8, Bomarton jumping into the lead when Raynes lobbed in the first two-pointer. Janeway tied it with a neat angle shot, and McElroy dropped in a free throw to give the visitors a 3 to 2 advantage. Reeves then sank two from under the hoop, and the Coyotes were out in front, never to be headed.

Brandon went on a spree at the start of the second quarter and dropped in three quick goals to bring the count to 16 to 8. The Coyote captain registered seven goals before the end of the half, and the count at rest time was 30 to 16.

The third quarter was Bomarton's best, and the invaders held the home club to only eight points, but in so doing could get but two and the period ended, 38 to 18.

Grapple Results

Winners in the four weight divisions in wrestling were Bedford Cunningham of the 180-pound class, C. W. Miller, 150 pounds; John Fore, 140 pounds, and Kermit Ashby, 110 pounds.

Cunningham won his title by virtue of a one fall, seven-minute match with Jack West. In the 150-pound class Miller wrestled twice to win the title, throwing Ralph Davis in two minutes, then beat Sammy White by decision, after White had gone into the finals by throwing Melvin Rogers in two minutes and 45 seconds.

Fore won the 140-pound class championship by throwing Bill Yeargin in two minutes and 30 seconds. Ashy took a decision over Frank Hager to go into the 110-pound finals, then won a decision over Jack Campbell.

Three fast three-round boxing bouts ended in draw decisions. The first of the trio was a pair of 115 pounders, Tom Durkin and George Frazier. A. J. McCarty and A. G. Fletcher battled to a draw. F. L. and O. M. Heath gave a pleasing display of "brotherly love" in a fast four-round draw. Both the last two matches were 150-pounders.

A. J. McCarty and Jack Campbell, well-known tumbling team, gave a performance which was well applauded by the fans.

Wichitans Meet With Success In Raising Pheasants in Backyard

If, within the next half dozen years, Wichita Falls sportsmen are able to drive less than 100 miles from the city and return with a fine bag of ringneck pheasants, they may have to thank Hubert "Hoot" Lesley and Dr. W. T. Wells for the privilege, as these two men are pioneering the way to introduction of this splendid game bird to this section.

Lesley and Wells started their present flock of 33 birds in the spring of 1930 with 16 eggs and no pheasants, and this spring and summer they hope to liberate between 150 and 200 birds as the start of wild flocks that will provide sport for man and dog in years ot come. With quail rapidly disappearing in all parts of the country, the pheasant is steadily assuming the importance of America's foremost game bird, and that it is receiving attention in Wichita Falls, even on so small a scale, should be of great interest to sportsmen of the entire section.

Wichita Falls' pioneers in the art of "backyard production" of pheasants were not sure of themselves when they purchased the one setting of eggs in the spring of 1930, but their success in increasing the flock and the promise of this year's substantial hatch have converted both to the belief that THE upland game bird of the future is the pheasant.

Silkies Help Cause

The original setting of pheasant eggs was hatched under an ordinary hen, and from the 16 eggs three hens and a cock were raised to maturity. Last spring the "hatchery" stock was augmented by the addition of Japanese silkie bantams, queer looking little creatures with long, fine, silk like feathers, and rated among the most efficient of all chickens in the science of rearing their families. These little hens did the task so well last year that the pheasant flock has now grown to 22 hens and 11 cocks.

Lesley maintains that pheasants are even easier to raise than chickens because they are hardier and less susceptible to disease. But to let "Hoot" tell it:

"Absolute cleanlinees is necessary, but no more so I'd say than in the successful raising of chickens, and we find our pheasants are no more trouble or expensive than chickens would be. An enclosed pen is preferred, but clipped wings will prevent the pheasants from flying out of pens not roofed. These pens should be strung loosely with regular poultry wire and the top cross pieces of as light construction as possible, as taut wire and heavy timbers will enhance the chance of fatalities and injuries when frightened birds fly into the top and sides. An ideal arrangements is the provision of two and even three pens, with one freshly sewn in greenstuff always available. However, this is not necessary, if the rations include enough green food.

Busy Layers

"The pheasant hen starts laying early in the spring and continues almost without a halt until moulting time. The seasonal production per hen always is more than 50 eggs and often more than 100. The bantam hens can cover 15 or 16 eggs and they are nearly always ready for the setting job. Individual nests are made in earth filled boxes. The surface is covered with green sod, the grass cut out and a shallow bowl scooped into the earth to fit the eggs. The ground about the base of the box is sprinkled every day or so to keep the grass in the nest green and the eggs properly warm and moist.

"The eggs hatch in 26 days and for the first two days the chicks are fed nothing but crumbled hard-boiled eggs. After that they require only the same care as baby chickens, except that unusual precautions against filth must be followed. Each hen and her brood are given a movable pen, about six feet long and three and one-half feet wide. A regularly changed green floor for these pens is necessary and we shift them daily over a patch of wheat. Bermuda grass would serve the same purpose. Water and food is changed at least once every day and the troughs scalded as often.

"The youngsters start flying when they are five or six days old and soon are able to shift for themselves without the attention of the silkie hen. Then they are moved to the larger pen, and there they require no more care than chickens. They seldom will go into any sort of structure and their preferred cover is a shock of corn or other grain stalks. These are used for roosts as well as for cover."

Prospers Everywhere

Lesley and Wells have made arrangements to "plant" the entire production of young birds this year on desirable tracts of land that will not be open to hunters, at least until the birds have been given a chance to multiply. In their new habitat the pheasants will be caged in wire pens and fed and watered at least 10 days to become acclimated before they are finally liberated.

The pheasant enthusiast can produce many reasons for his belief that this fine fowl eventually will supplant the quail as the Southwest's principal game bird. He has prospered in practically every part of the country to which he has been introduced. The pheasant that has been hunted is much more difficult for even the best of bird dogs to handle. He is much hardier and much easier to protect than the quail. It is possible to set up closed seasons on the females, as the cock and hen can be distinguished the minute the birds come into sight. And since the pheasant, unlike the quail, is not a monogamist, this is a major factor in his favor in considering his qualities to hold his own in the wild state. To compare the two birds from an epicurean standpoint would serve only to start an argument. Both rank near the top of the list.

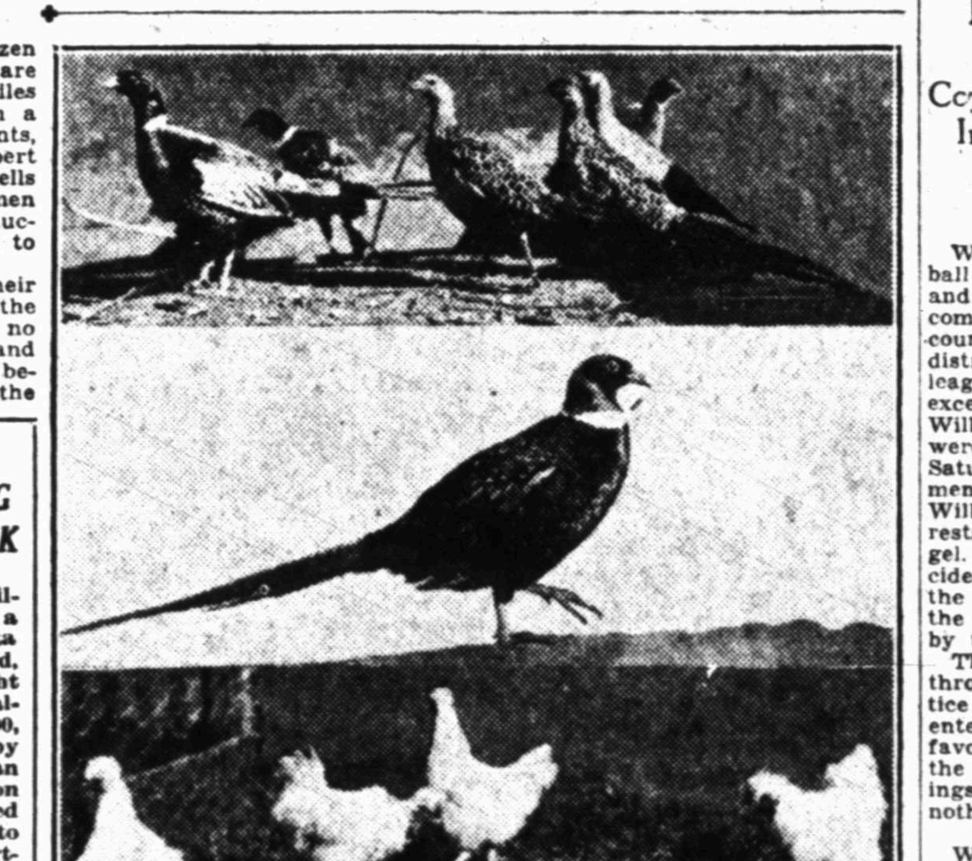

Introduction of the pheasant into Texas as a game bird is handicapped by a state law that prevents their sale within the state, and it also is necessary to obtain a special permit from the state game, fish and ayster commission to raise them in captivity.

And exactly where are "Hoot" and "Doc" sewing these pheasant seed? That's the only part of the story they refuse to tell!

PHEASANT TO RECEIVE ATTENTION AT MEETING SPORTSMEN THIS WEEK

The pheasant and the possibilities of its introduction on a larger scale into the Wichita Falls section as a game bird, will be discussed Tuesday night at a called session of Izaak Walton league chapter No. 100, which has been announced by President Ben G. Oneal as an open meeting, with every person interested in game birds urged to be present. The meeting is to be held in the 78th district courtroom at the county courthouse, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

The Ikes are hopeful of starting as early as possible a definite campaign toward restoration of the quail in the Wichita Falls territory, and the possibility of a similar project toward establishing the pheasant will be considered.

"Backyard Hatchery" Views

Upper view shows one corner of the pen and a small group of both hens and cocks of the Lesley-Wells flock of 33 ringnecks that has been produced in two years from a start of 16 eggs and no birds.

In the center is shown a young cock of last spring's hatch in all his brilliant plumage and streamer tale.

An integral part of the "backyard hatchery" is the flock of Japanese silkie bantams, four of which are shown in the lower view. The bantams hatch the pheasant eggs and mother the chicks until they are able to shift for themselves.

Fifty-Eight Wichitans Spudder Stockholders

The task of "selling the Spudders" to Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory has begun in earnest, with the chamber of commerce organization to foster the movement completely molded and just about ready to go to work. A final meeting of the committee chairmen with Dr. Everett Jones, general chairman, was held last week and the junior chamber of commerce group is scheduled to meet Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the chamber of commerce offices with Chairman J. D. Dale.

The opening gun in the campaign was fired when Dr. Jones explained at length to his co-workers that "the Wichita Falls Baseball club still is very much an institution belonging to this entire territory, and that the impression that the team is owned elsewhere is only partially true."

"Why, there is a list of stockholders as long as your arm over in Guy Airey's office who are financially interested in this baseball business, and every one of them a resident of Wichita Falls," he declared. "While it is true that controlling stock is held by the owners of the St. Louis American league club, there is still a goodly sum of Wichita Falls money invested in that baseball plant at the foot of Seventh street and in the players that Mr. McEvoy, William Huff and Airey have lined up for us to watch this season."

Stockholders Listed

Thereupon, the inquiring reporter shifted the scene to the Spudder offices and discovered that the length of the stockholders' list described by Dr. Jones was not exaggerated. There are exactly 58 stockholders, individuals, estates and businesses financially interested in the Wichita Falls Baseball club, the name under which the Texas league club is operated here.

From other sources it has been learned that Wichita Falls interests own more than $20,000 of stock in the company—and that's an amount not to be sneezed at these days and times.

The complete list of stockholders other than McEvoy and Phil Ball of the St. Louis Browns' organization follows: J. A. Kemp estate, W. H. Newell, C. E. McCutchen, Bass & Dillard, Mrs. Duncan Brown, J. C. Murphree, trustee, Wm. E. Huff, W. H. Street, Wayne Hammon, Britt Cranfill, Horrace Robbins, C. H. Clark, C. S. Patterson, J. W. Nossett, C. J. Pate, Perkins-Timberlake, C. W. Snider, C. B. Woods, J. S. Bridwell, W. B. McClurkan Co., E. G. Hill estate, T. O. Shappell, W. R. Ferguson, P. B. M. Co., J. C. Mytinger, trustee, A. L. Huey, Guy Airey, Eugene Leopold, W. L. Moore, J. A. Richolt, J. M. Bradshaw, C. D. Shamburger, Dr. Everett Jones, J. J. Perkins, W. W. Anderson, Sam Kruger, Joe Long Jr., W. N. Maer, J. H. Martin, McConnell Bros., R. E. Shepherd, D. W. Young, H. A. Mosher, W. F. Weeks, R. O. Harvey, Miss M. R. Kerr, W. N. Bonner, W. D. Phillips, P. S. Richardson, L. E. Stone, John Swartz, R. H. Peterson, R. C. Anderson, L. E. Cowling, Mrs. D. A. Phillips, J. R. Hughes, Wichita Hardware Co., J. A. Kemp Jr.

New Player Added

The campaign workers were given something to talk about Saturday with the announcement of the purchase by the Wichita Falls club of Harry Green, outfielder-first baseman, from the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast league, representing the first deal of major importance negotiated by the club since the acquisition of Hank Severeid to take over the managerial reins.

While the little known here of the newcomer's record indicates he is not in the class of proven material, he adds experience the squad, and provides a bit of protection for the first base job that has been vacant since the sale of Buck Stanton to the Browns. Roy Sabin, a semi-pro, is the only first sacker on the squad, unless Green can be so classified, and in the 123 games in which he participated in 1930 only 34 were at first base, while 80 were in the outfield.

Green had a big hitting season with the Hollywood club two years ago, turning in a mark of 3.29, and Spudder officials undoubtedly are basing their purchase of his contract on this display rather than that of last season in which he batted only .237 in 84 games.

F. H. Methodists And Christians In Feature Tilt

Sunday School League Teams in Second Week of Race Tuesday

The meeting of the Floral Heights Methodist and Highland Heights Christians Tuesday night tops the program of the Wichita Falls Sunday school basket ball league on the Floral Heights Presbyterian church court. Both of these teams got away to flying starts in the last half race last week with impressive victories, and their meeting Tuesday night will be closely watched. While Floral Heights Methodist were rolling up an impressive score against Temple Israel to keep up the dizzy pace they have set for the past three weeks, Highland Heights Christians were winning a well played game from the rejuvenated Floral Heights Presbyterians.

The first game of the weekly triple-header brings together the crack first half champions, First Christians, who have yet to lose a game in the Sunday School league, against the Floral Heights Presbyterians. Last week the Presbyterians played 'a whale of a game against the crack Highland Heights Christians who have lost but one game this season in league play, and the Presbyterians are likely to make things tough for the Christians Tuesday night.

The second game on the schedule brings together the fast little team of midgets representing the East Side Presbyterian church and the Temple Israel five. The Presbyterians last week lost to First Christians and Tuesday night will be hot on the trail of revenge for his loss. The Temple five is in the midst of a big slump, but is confident of breaking out of it this week and making the race hot for all the others.

Jim "What-a-Man" Janeway, First Christians' scoring ace, continues to draw away from the rest of the field, and in the six games has piled up the impressive mark of 123 points, Janeway has flipped in no less than 54 field goals and 15 free pitches in amassing his great record.

District Titular Tournament Opens Here Friday Morn

Coyotes and Electra Slated In Opening Scrap; Final Saturday Night

Wichita Falls' premier basket ball event is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, when the Coyotes compete with monarchs of nine counties for the championship of district No. 4 of the interscholastic league. All of the competing teams except the representatives from Wilbarger and Archer counties were known with the completion Saturday of all county tournaments. Harrold is the favorite in Wilbarger, while the Archer title rests between Holliday and Megargel. Games Monday night will decide these two races to complete the roster of teams to battle for the district throne, held last year by the Nocona Indians.

The Coyotes, after wading through the most successful practice campaign in many years, will enter the tournament as a slight favorite, though they have drawn the most difficult spot in the pairings, and face a schedule that lacks nothing of championship caliber.

Electra First

Wichita Falls and Electra, the latter as champion of Wichita county, are scheduled in the opening contest at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. Nocona and Olney take the court at 10:50 o'clock and at 12:40 Masters and Bomarton mix it. The schedule then halts while the district girls' volley ball teams take the court during the afternoon until 7:30 Friday night. The winner of the Wichita Falls-Electra duel plays the Jack county champions in this second round game, and one hour later the champions of Archer county play the winner of the Nocona-Olney game.

Semifinals are scheduled for Saturday morning, starting at 9 o'clock. Wichita Falls, Electra, Nocona, Olney and the Jack county representative make up the upper bracket, while in the lower are Petrolia, Bomarton, Masters and the champions of Archer and Wilbarger counties.

Only the final game is scheduled for Saturday night, but the final in girls' volley ball will be staged as a preliminary, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Ticket Sale Plan

The complete volley ball program has not been arranged, as the schools were given through Saturday to turn in their entries to B. M. Dinsmore of Electra, district athletic director, and school officials here have not yet received the roster of entries. It is expected, however, that the preliminaries will be disposed of between Friday afternoon's and Friday night's basket ball games. If not successful, the prelims will be carried over to Saturday afternoon.

A ticket sale plan making the purchase of season tickets particularly attractive was announced Saturday by A. K. Presson, who is in charge of that feature of the meet. Season tickets for adults will be sold at $1 each, while single games will cost both adults and students 25 cents and the Friday and Saturday night double-headers 35 cents each. Students' season tickets will be sold at 50 cents.

KING QUINTET DEFEATS MEDICINE MOUND TO WIN HARDEMAN COUNTY MEET

King will rapresent this county in the district tournament at Childress next week-end.

The finals game was a thriller from start to finish with the victors holding a slight margin of lead all the way. The score at the half was King 10, Medicine Mound 7.

Longhorns Score One-Point Margin Over Aggie Quint

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 13. (AP)—The University of Arkansas Razorbacks Saturday night helped themselves and Baylor in the torrid Southwest conference cage race by beating Texas Christian, 37-24. The third place Porkers jumped ahead at the start and never let up.

The second place Christians made only one threat, and then they could not get closer to the Porkers than six points behind. Murphy, guard, and Doc Sexton, center, led the Arkansas attack and the entire time played well in every department.

Sexton took the tipoff from Ad Dietzel nearly every time and scored 10 points. Murphy accounted for an equal number of tallies and his defensive play was brilliant.

Buster Brannon was the outstanding player for the invaders. The Horned Frog guard was largely responsible for holding down the Razorback total and scored five points before leaving the court on fouls.

As a result of Saturday night's game, Baylor is the only team in the conference with only one defeat. Texas Christian has two and Arkansas three.

Longhorns 32, Aggies 31

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—The University of Texas Longhorns won a thrilling basket ball contest from the Texas A. & M. Aggies here Saturday night by the score of 32-31.

With the Aggies one point in the lead and a few seconds to go, Ed Price, Texas guard, leaped high into the air to sink a field goal for the points which won for the Longhorns.

At the opening of the second half, the Aggies staged one of their sensational comebacks, to creep alongside, then to pass the Steers by one point.

Both teams' defense tightened, and it appeared the Aggies were about to score their first conference victory of the season, when Price spoiled their chances by his field goal.

CHALK HILL 1,000-BARRELER LEADS WEEK'S COMPLETIONS

Archer County Producer Followed By Other Wells in North Young and Wichita County Fields During Week

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Progress in the development of the district's oil areas during the past week was marked by the completion of several good wells, the best of which was the Deep Oil-Lindsay No. 2 L. F. Wilson in the northwest corner of east 80 acres out of block 119, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county, flowing natural at the rate of 1,000 barrels from the new 2200-foot pay at Chalk Hill. Other good producers were brought in from the shallow pools in the north Young field, averaging from 35 to 100 barrels each. In Wichita county C. W. Clark and others finished their No. 2 Munger in block 31, W. V. F. L., northeast of the K. M. A. field, making 35 barrels from the 1038-foot sand.

Offsetting the completion of these producers were many failures or dry holes, Young and Archer counties each contributing to the number of dusters.

Ten new locations were staked out, these being scattered over the various counties of the district.

A review of operations showed approximately 20 wells drilling, both the wildcat and proven tracts being favored by the operators, while a number of others will commence drilling the first of this week.

Development in the wildcat territory northwest of Newcastle in Young county was slowed up by the bringing in of a couple of dry holes by the Hamilton and others' No. 1 Clifton and Wellman farms.

Activity, which had been at its lowest in the Wichita county fields for some time, picked up during the week by the staking out of a few new locations. The favored section is located in the old Sunshine Hill pool northeast of Electra six miles, where some nice shallow wells have been brought in in the past month.

Despite the completion of several good wells, the curtailment plan in the district continued to keep down the daily pipe line runs for the week. A total of 47,474 barrels was maintained daily in the nine counties of the district, a slight gain of 31 barrels compared with the previous seven-day run. Four pools in the North Texas division averaged 5,353 barrels, a gain of 137 barrels over the run in the week ending Feb. 6, 1932.

GAS BOOTLEGGING OBJECT OF DRIVE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Records of Pennsylvania's department of revenue, made available recently to the American Petroleum institute, indicate that the cooperative drive of the state and petroleum industry against gasoline bootlegging and other forms of gasoline tax evasion resulted in a $6,000,000 increase in revenues from this tax in 1931 alone.

The records reveal a gallonage increase of 18.7 per cent in 1931 over 1930. Allowing 5 per cent for the normal increase in the state, although it is believed that actually, due to business conditions there was no increase at all, there is left an unusual increase of 13.7 per cent. This is equivalent to a gain of 120,867,404 gallons of gasoline, which, at the prevailing tax rate of three cents per gallon produced for the state treasury $3,626,022.12 that otherwise would have gone to gasoline bootleggers and tax evaders.

The bureau reports finding a condition of delinquent gasoline taxes of unchecked gallonage "almost beyond description." It said that in attempting to check bootlegging business it was necessary to resort to railroad audits because such books as reflected true conditions were destroyed or hidden by the tax evaders. On those it was possible to check, determinations exceeding $1,000,000 were filed. Practically none has been paid to date because of litigation started to delay criminal prosecutions and efforts to collect civilly and it is believed an organized gang of tax evaders and bootleggers has been trying to gain time in the hope of effecting some sort of settlement.

The department in 1931 made determinations in excess of the normal increase of between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000, of which it reported collecting $3,500,000. The increased gallonage of 1931 over 1930 is reported as equal to more than $5,000,000 at three cents per gallon, and if to this figure is added the determinations of more than $1,000,000 not yet paid, there will be an increase for 1931 over 1930 of more than $6,000,000. This represents a gain of about 20 per cent, taking into consideration moneys collected and deposited and those determined and not collected.

It was explained that little hope is entertained of collecting the $1,000,000 arrears because the bootleggers have so arranged their status as to afford the state little opportunity to collect, but it is believed to give a definite picture of what the petroleum industry had to combat in the way of competition in years prior to 1931.

It was added that conditions found to be so bad in 1931 unquestionably were worse in 1929, 1928 and 1927 because of the greater degree of prosperity in those years, and the improvement in 1931 is ascribed largely to the interest and cooperation of the industry in aiding the state to eliminate gasoline bootleggers and tax evaders.

PLANS MADE FOR MUNDAY POULTRY AND FARM EVENTS

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 13.—Preparations have been made here to entertain probably the largest out of town crowds of the year next Friday and Saturday when a two-day short farm course and the annual Munday poultry and pet show will be held, according to R. B. Rawls, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

More than 80 exhibitors are expected to participate in the poultry show, including some from Wichita and Jones county, Rawls said. Classes have been established for all standard breeds, and four ribbons will be given in the cockerel, pen, hen and pullet divisions of each breed.

Lectures by four farm authorities of national reputation will feature the farm course. They are H. S. Mobley, Miss Grace Marion Smith, L. A. Hawkins and John M. Hannon. Three sessions of the course will be held each day, that of Friday morning being especially designed for school children.

Independent Oil Men to Meet in Midland Feb. 19

The first public meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas to be held in West Texas in 1932 will be in the Scharbauer hotel, Midland, on the night of Feb. 19.

J. R. Parten, president of the association, and a producer and royalty owner in West Texas, and Charles S. Richardson, vice president of the association for the royalty owners, and also a large royalty owner in West Texas, will deliver the main addresses.

The addresses will cover the effect on the royalty owner and land owners should Texas pass a statute limiting production to "market demand" or establishing compulsory unitization or creating the acreage content theory of oil ownership.

The meeting is important to the owners of the land and the producers of oil in West Texas undeveloped areas. A large crowd is expected.

SCHOOLS SOLVE MONEY PROBLEMS AT MUNDAY

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 13.—Definite assurance that the Munday city schools have safely weathered the most difficult financial problems to be encountered since the town was established was given at special meeting of the school board during which it was announced that an eight-month term is assured, according to the assertion Saturday of H. H. Riley, city superintendent. The board voted to extend the time for paying current school taxes without penalty or interest until April 1. Since school opened in September, salaries of teachers have been paid on the basis of half script and half cash. The financial outlook has sufficiently improved, it was announced, that the script issued to the teachers and subsequently used by them as a medium of exchange will not be accepted in settlement of school taxes.

TEXAS COMPANY WELL EXTENDS BEE CO. AREA

The Texas company has extended the Pettus field of Bee county, in Southwest Texas, at its No. 3 Gremmel, now flowing 65 barrels an hour at 3893 feet. The well stretches the field 500 feet to the southwest.

McMurray and others No. 1 Ray, a south offset, is also flowing approximately the same amount of oil and at the same level.

ACTIVITY NEW DUNCAN FIELD IS INCREASING

Producer Completed and Drilling Started on Two New Tests

NEW LOCATION STAKED OUT DURING PAST WEEK

Hundred and Fifty Barreler Extends Production to North and East

DUNCAN, Okla., Feb. 13.—Drilling was started on two tests, a new producer was completed and a new location staked out to mark developments in the new center of oil activity five miles south and two west of Duncan during the last week.

The major development was the completion of the P. L. Gilbert and associates' No. 1 Green, in the SW SW SE NE of 2-2s-8w, which flowed and swabbed 52 barrels in seven and one-half hours and was estimated good for between 150 and 175 barrels a day. Sand is from 1368 to 1376 feet and the well extends the 1360-foot pay two locations north and one east.

Ed Chamberlain and associates have completed derrick and slush pits for their No. 1 C. P. Parker, in the NE NE SE SE of 11-2s-8w, a mile south of the center of activity.

The Dunmar Oil company is rigging up rotary tools for its No. 1 Donham, in the NW NE NE of 11-2s-8w, quarter of a mile south of production.

The Continental Oil company was drilling at 1380 feet in its No. 2 Dare, in the NW SW SE of 2-2s-8w, south offset to the P. L. Gilbert and associates' No. 1 Dare, which made a 100-barrel well at 1360 feet. The Conoco No. 2 Dare topped sand at 1363 feet but it was dry. Drilling is being continued for the 1433-foot sand which made gas production in the Conoco No. 1 Dare, on the first location east.

J. C. Chambers and associates are rigging up rotary tools for their No. 1 Jewell Pollard, in the NW SE SE of 2-2s-8w, east offset to the Conoco No. 1 Dare.

Fishing Job Abandoned

M. C. Brown and associates failed to complete a fishing job and abandoned their No. 1 Thompson, in the NE SE SW of 35-1s-8w, at 2040 feet.

H. J. Brown and the K. D. Oil company have given up a long fishing job in their No. 2 Hightower, in the SW SW SE SE of 15-3s-5w, in the shallow field southwest of the town of Loco, and are plugging back to test gas sand at 400 feet. The well had broken gas sand at 900 to 950 feet.

Branch & Dameron were drilling at 820 feet in their No. 1 Dameron, in the SE SW NE of 11-3s-6w, a wildcat southeast of Comanche.

Will H. Smith still is shut down at 740 feet in his No. 1 Ridgeway, in the NW NE SE of 17-3s-4w, a wildcat two miles south and two east of Loco.

PETITION SEEKING HIGHER GAS RATE FILED AT MUNDAY

MUNDAY, Texas, Feb. 13.—A petition seeking authority to establish a new scale of rates for domestic gas more than double the present schedule has been filed with the city council on behalf of the Stamford and Western Gas company, according to information given Saturday by C. L. Mayes, mayor.

The new schedule proposes a net charge of $2.22 for the first 1,000 cubic feet, $1.75 for the second 1,000 and $1.50 for all above that quantity. The present net rate is 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet up to 25,000 feet.

The rate change is the second to be proposed by the gas company within a period of a few weeks. One filed several weeks ago proposed a schedule scaling downward from $1.50 for the first 1,000 to 50 cents for quantities above 8,000 feet. Both petitions were taken under advisement by the council.

Officials of the gas company served notice that the issue will be taken to the state railroad commission unless the rate change is approved by the council.

Reject Bill to Reduce Salaries Of Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The senate civil service committee today rejected bills by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to cut the salaries of members of congress and the cabinet and to eliminate the allowances of mileage to members of congress.

Another Borah measure proposing graduated reductions in salaries of government workers was referred to a subcommittee headed by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, a foe of the proposed cuts in pay.

Also, the bill of Borah to slash the salaries of members of the farm board was turned over to a subcommittee headed by Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, for further study.

The action of the senate committee of which Dale, Republican, Vermont, is chairman is expected to doom the salary reduction measures, but Borah is going to seek a record vote on the legislation in the senate.

World Production of Oil Drops 42,000,000 Barrels During 1931

Official figures cabled to world petroleum of New York and London by governments of the various oil producing countries reveal that curtailment efforts in 1931 resulted in a drop of 42,370,768 barrels in world oil production as compared with 1930. This reduction was accomplished in spite of an increase of over 30,000,000 barrels in the output of Russia and Rumania.

This substantial cut in production is regarded as an encouraging step towards attaining a balanced position in the oil industry and is due mainly to curtailment programs in the United States and Venezuela. Officially enforced proration in East Texas, Oklahoma and California was the only thing that saved the United States from producing a record breaking flood of petroleum.

Russia's planned output for 1931 was 192,500,000 barrels, but equipment and transportation difficulties prevented it from exceeding 156,342,900 barrels. This compares with the 1930 output of 129,956,417 barrels and the additional supply of 26,387,483 barrels has proved a disturbing factor in the international petroleum market.

Venezuela, for the first time since oil has been produced commercially within its borders, shows a very substantial reduction, dropping from 141,652,832 barrels in 1930 to 120,069,462 barrels in 1931. This curtailment of 21,583,370 barrels has been made possible by reason of production—or at least exports—being almost entirely in the hands of half a dozen big companies.

Rumania, by increasing crude oil output to over 46,000,000 barrels in 1931, takes fourth place in world production but this position has been attained only by the financial ruin of independent producers and heavy losses to the major companies. Rumanian crude and refined products have been dumped on European markets and at least three tanker shipments of gasoline have been made to the United States, where the price of domestic motor fuel is already the lowest in history.

Mexico's production for 1931 was the lowest since 1916. Her output was a little over 33,000,000 barrels. In 1921 Mexico produced 193,397,587 barrels, which will indicate how greatly she has fallen in importance in the world picture of oil. Nevertheless, she still holds sixth place, the Dutch East Indies following closely with an output of 32,791,685 barrels, compared with 38,722,250 barrels in 1930.

Geraldine Farrar Will Be Heard on Radio Sunday

From now on her voice will be heard only over the radio—singing, she said today, the songs that people ask for and really want to hear.

She has no schedule of concerts before her but will sing from time to time and, in her own words, "not too frequently."

"When I was 19 years old," Miss Farrar said today, "I made up my mind to quit singing in opera when I was 40 and to retire from the concert stage at 50.

Miss Farrar appeared for the last time on a concert stage in Carnegie hall last November.

"I had decided months ago that the Carnegie hall concert would be my last," she said, "and I had thought of saying so that night. I decided not to do it then—it would have seemed too sensational, perhaps, and undignified."

Not weariness, but the desire for change, together with the promise she made herself in her girlhood, is responsible for her decision, she said.

She talked of the radio and of her interest in singing to an unseen audience. When she sings tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. over WEAF-NBC, it will be the fourth time she has sung over the radio. She will sing a hymn and some folk songs, playing her own accompaniment.

STUDEBAKER SHOP OPENED 80 YEARS AGO SOUTH BEND

By S. L. M'CLURE

Feb. 16, 1852, Henry and Clem Studebaker opened a small blacksmith shop in South Bend, Ind. Their entire assets consisted of $68 and two sets of blacksmith tools. Today, the Studebaker corporation, with total net assets of $100,000,000, celebrates its 18th anniversary—oldest and one of the big four of automobile transportation.

America was young when the Studebaker brothers turned their craft to the building of vehicles. Gold had just been discovered in California and the rush of the 50's was on. Adventures, following the rainbow trail, sought wagons for the long overland journey, which could stand up under the abuse of the trip in which breakdown meant disaster.

These early pioneers gave the Studebaker brothers their start—and their reputation—and the wagons they turned out spread their name and fame as vehicle builders.

That a concern should remain in business for four-score years is in itself quite unusual. A survey of American business today reveals few of the enterprises which flourished 80 years ago—less than 100. According to an accepted authority, of that number only a very small per cent still are engaged in the same field of endeavor in which they started.

Changing times and changing modes have brought oblivion to most of the pioneers of American business. To Studebaker, however, changing customs and conditions have meant increased opportunity—and growth. When the railroads doomed the prairie schooner, Studebaker changed with the times and entered the field of fine carriages and farm wagons, becoming the world's largest producer. With the advent of the automobile, Studebaker, instead of expiring with the carriage era, forged ahead to become even more distinguished in this new form of transportation.

The spirit of leadership which has stimulated Studebaker's growth is perhaps most conspicuous in the developments of recent years. In 1926, when "any good car" was practically assured of popular reception by the public, Studebaker instituted facilities for research and experiment far ahead of its time. More than a million dollars was invested in a proving ground and another million in a research laboratory where new developments and improvements in motor cars could be evolved and preproved before being released to the public.

Pioneering Bears Fruit

This pioneering soon bore fruit. Within a short time, Studebaker cars won and still hold all the highest stock car speed and endurance records; more than all other manufacturers combined.

Again in 1930, was manifested this creed of progress. Free wheeling developed and perfected by Studebaker's engineering corps was introduced to American motordom. Perhaps the greatest tribute to the success and popularity of this principle was the fact that within less than 18 months practically all the rest of the industry had followed Studebaker's lead.

The most recent and perhaps the most important of Studebaker's innovations is their new standard of safety introduced in the triumphant new Studebakers of 1932. This new standard is a total of numerous features which many authorities believe will become the future yardstick for automotive safety.

Studebaker has earned and paid its common stock dividend for the last 17 years—a tribute to the sales volume made possible by an acceptance of the product by the American buying public and also the capable management of the corporation under the leadership of its president, A. R. Erskine.

An unusual record climaxed by the present expansion program started after its 75th birthday whereby the Studebaker corporation has become a holding company for its various subsidiaries, Pierce-Arrow, Studebaker, Rockne and S. P. A. trucks. This complete coverage of the market being obtained without the capital stock having been increased, which eliminates heavy dividend requirements and permits Studebaker to successfully compete in the value market of 1932.

Thus, throughout its 80 years of history, Studebaker has maintained faith with its traditions of progressive and honest building. Thus, although oldest of the world's builders of transportation, Studebaker has kept ever young by keeping ahead of the times.

PHILADELPHIA MAN IS KIDNAPED AND ROBBED

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13. (INS)—Bernard H. Brodsky, president of the Philadelphia Wool and Hide corporation, was kidnaped from in front of the company's mill in North Philadelphia this afternoon and robbed of a $2,650 pay roll. A half hour later Brodsky was released.

Baering Down on News With 'Baer'

Some of the holiday favors took a queer shape. They weren't all hearts and they weren't all flowers.

Andy Mellon's was a long steamboat ticket to London. He suspects that it came from President Hoover. But it was practically anonymous outside of being on White House writing paper.

The Japanese remembered the spirit of the day by bombing the whiskers off the Oriental front. Wall street gave itself a 2,500,000-share day. The biggest since the top fell out of the market and took the bottom with it.

Jake Ruppert sent a great big lovely message to Babe Ruth. It was a picture of a buzz saw clipping a bank roll. Jake had better cut out the valentines and try an injunction.

Nothing arrived at Democratic national headquarters. They're hoping the valentines will be blank checks from the honorable John Raskob.

Editor Publishes Picture Son and Appeals to Floyd

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 13. (AP)—The winsome picture of a 7-year-old boy, "his head finely shaped, his eyes frank and finely set, his chin square and full of character," was the inset to an editorial by Walter M. Harrison, printed today on the front page of the Oklahoma City Times.

The editorial, addressed to Charles Floyd, was an appeal to Oklahoma's "public enemy No. 1" and bandit leader, wanted in half a dozen states on robbery and murder charges. The picture was that of Jackie, Floyd's son, who unwittingly told officers in Tulsa this week that a photograph of the fugitive was "my daddy."

"Desperate killer though you may be," Harrison wrote, "you remain a hero to one human being in this world.

"When Jackie, your 7-year-old son, identified your picture as 'my daddy,' he spoke with the pride of possession. He knows your strong arms, your rough play. He tinges with happiness when he sees you coming and he wonders why you go away so unceremoniously and stay so long."

MAN CAUGHT SOON AFTER BANKING FIRM ROBBED

TIFFIN, Ohio, Feb. 13. (AP)—A youth said to be one of the three who kidnaped two officers of the new Riegel Banking company, nine miles west of here, today was captured less than two hours later when the fleeing trio's automobile was wrecked. Most of the loot, estimated at $1,200, was recovered.

The captured youth gave his name as Tom Dooley, 24, of Lynchberg, W. Va. He said he did not know who his companions were and that he met them in Texas.

Troop committeemen that care to can attend and bring their wives or sweethearts.

Troop Fifteen

Troop 15 met at Highland Heights Christian church with Jack Rudy as scoutmaster. Herbert Bulkley, junior assistant scoutmaster, had charge of the meeting. Twenty-two boys were present. Several new boys just joined the troop were present. Three boys have agreed to be ready for first class tests and seven for second class at the next board of review.

Board of Review

The exact date for the next board of review has not been set but will be made before next week and announcement will be made to troops at their next meeting. A big public presentation of badges is planned by the new chairman of the court of honor, Rev. F. E. Crutchfield and parents can accompany the boys to this public meeting. A big affair is planned for each meeting, the details to be announced in next Sunday's paper.

Troop Twenty

Troop 20 met at First Southern Presbyterian church with A. B. Lupher in charge. A surprise chili supper was served and games were played. Plans were made for three patrols and each patrol will recruit until there are eight in each patrol, then a new patrol will be formed. Three boys promised to be ready for the next board of review.

Don Ross, deputy scout commissioner, has handed in a report and has suggested that two training courses be started as soon as possible, one on scoutmastership and one on program making. The leadership training committee will be glad to have these recommendations and will be able to report at the next meeting of the executive committee.

Troop Two

Troop two met at First Methodist church with 28 boys present. This troop has recently recruited 12 younger boys and great progress is being made by these new boys. The Eagle Scouts of this troop, numbering 17, have all re-registered and will assist Bill McClure, scoutmaster, in keeping his troop to the front. Plants were discussed for an overnite hike. A knot tying contest was held. The game period included boxing matches. The meeting adjourned with the scout oath.

Moving Picture

Don Ross will take his moving picture, "The Scout Trail," to Graham Sunday night to be used in conjunction with the "Re-dedication" services of the Boy Scout troops of Graham. Cooper Waters will accompany Mr. Ross. Stops will be made at Archer City, Olney and Newcastle.

Troop Twelve

Troop 12 under the leadership of Dan Martin met at Grace Methodist church with 15 boys present. Several of the old time members were present. Joe Perry, who has agreed to come back and help the troop, was there. Cooper Waters, the only Eagle Scout of the troop, has also agreed to give more time to pushing the troop. At instruction periods Glenn Wharton showed the boys how to feather arrows. Charles Ross gave instruction in signalling, using flashlight and buzzer. Two new boys were present wanting to join the troop. After a game period the troop adjourned.

Substitute Scoutmaster

For a long time need has been felt for a man of experience to act as substitute scoutmaster to help out when scoutmasters have to be away from their troop or when they want to visit some of the other troops for ideas, etc. It has at last been accomplished by Douglas Parker, a former scoutmaster of Vernon, agreeing to take over the job. He will be available for relief duty, but he must know about the troop he is to serve not later than Wednesday of the week he is to serve.

Troop Ten

Troop 10 under the leadership of Paul Woodward, the scoutmaster, took his troop to the camp grounds at Weeks park and cooked supper and enjoyed games around the council ring fire. Fourteen boys were present. Chief Creighton was guest of the troop. Hot cakes were served and all enjoyed them immensely.

Troop Sixteen

Troop 16, under the leadership of Kenneth Erwin, met at First Baptist church. Roy Crocker, the senior patrol leader, had charge of the meeting. The meeting was opened with the pledge of allegiance, which was followed by announcements. Patrol meetings were held, after which special presentation ceremonies were held and Don Ross, deputy scout commissioner, presented the following badges: Albert Moller received three merit badges and life badge and Hebrert Moller received one merit badge. After an inter-patrol contest the meeting adjourned with the scoutmasters' benediction.

TIMES' MARKET REPORT

BRISK ADVANCE IN PRICE FOR STOCKS ON ACTIVE BUYING

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—The stock market made the most of its better spirits today, racing merrily upward in a rally that improved on Thursday's gains and that produced the largest Saturday turnover since May 3, 1930. Transactions amounted to 2,626,120 shares.

Although the average rise of 5.4 points was only fractionally better than the previous session's, many issues showed much wider advances, largely because shorts whose position had been rendered acutely serious were forced to cover in a market unmistakably bullish.

The upward push was also accelerated by traders anxious to be on the winning side, but whatever the forces behind the drive were, its results were hardly open to argument.

Those who had felt new legislation for widening federal reserve eligibility might spell inflation were told over the holiday that such was not the purpose of the measure's sponsors. Nevertheless, there seemed to be a feeling that if deflation was to be arrested, some change, however mild, in the other direction was likely, and that security prices should anticipate this expansion. Perhaps, too, the market in the last two days has been trying to discount coming seasonal improvement in business.

Closes Near Top

It was a strong, lively market from the opening and it closed near the top. Net gains in sizeable number of stocks were reckoned in two figures, while advances of 3 to 7 points were common. Union Pacific outstripped Auburn with an extreme rise of 21⅛ points, nine of which it gave up. The small floating supply of American Telephone was actively bid for and the stock clambered to 134 compared with Wednesday's low of 109¾. Its close was 132¾, up 14⅛.

U. S. Steel came within an eighth of 50. The 5-point net gain was approximated by Du Pont and Westinghouse and exceeded, to the extent of a point or two, by Allied Chemical, Coca-Cola, Western Union, Consolidated Gas and American Can. Santa Fe and People's Gas closed about 10 points higher. Auburn's contribution was a net rise of 13¾.

New York Central, able to show 49 cents a share for 1931 despite the last quarter deficit, rose 5¼ and finished a point under the high. Southern Pacific, with a dividend meeting scheduled for next week, was less energetic.

Willingness to Hope

Wall street has embarked on this rally with a realization that business so far has shown no improvement, but the recovery in stocks emphasizes a willingness and readiness to hope. Ford's manufacturing program, involving the recall of thousands of workmen, was announced at a strategic moment, it is believed certainly it gave the steel industry needed encouragement. Youngstown district plants will start next week at 38 per cent of capacity against 35 per cent from last Monday.

Advices from abroad indicated that the proposed expansion of the federal reserve credit base had been received with general favor, although some uncertainty appeared to exist in France. Foreign exchange rates have not acted as though Europe was greatly troubled by rumors of inflation here. There has been some hardening against the dollar, but nothing to compare with the strength that accompanied discussions of our antideflation program when the policy was in its first stages.

BUOYANT SESSION FOR BOND MARKET WITH PRICE GAINS

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Although eclipsed somewhat by spurting stock prices, the bond market today climbed aboard the ascending chariot and gave what dealers described as an exceptionally good account of itself.

In the buoyant brief session various issues added from 1 to 6 points to their recent railies and trading was the most active since Dec. 19, with sales totaling $6,635,000. The average for 60 corporate securities advanced 7-10 of a point.

Virtually all classes of mortgages joined in the move to higher levels, but the lower grade speculative rail liens occupied the center of interest. The higher priced carriers, however, were not neglected and a number of these showed gains of from fractions of 2 or more points.

Advances were especially noticeable in some bonds of Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Canadian Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Nickel Plate, Boston & Maine, Chesapeake & Ohio, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Erie, Denver & Rio Grande, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific, Frisco, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Wabash.

The utilities and industrials were somewhat more restrained than the rails, but many of them exhibited pronounced strength, especially loans of the communications companies.

The United States government list recorded moderate gains throughout. The foreign section also displayed a firm tone. German government issues were up around 2 points. South Americans advanced as a whole and Japanese liens were steady.

Dry Goods Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Cotton goods are firmer in the gray goods division on the strength of reports of an assurance of better balanced production in 1932.

Fancy wash fabrics are moving better. New rayon lines are selling more freely. Silks are moving moderately. Spring coatings and dress goods are selling steadily. Men's wear lines are still quiet. Burlaps were steadier.

EXPORT BUSINESS IN WHEAT CARRIES ALL GRAIN HIGHER

CHICAGO, Feb. 13. (AP)—Big export business in wheat added to the impetus of credit expansion and of stock market bouyancy today, and took all grain values aloft.

It was estimated 3,000,000 bushels or more of North American wheat had been bought for shipment overseas, including substantial quantities of United States hard winter wheat to go to France and Greece. Jumps in securities, together with expectance of speedy enactment of proposed banking legislation at Washington were regarded by most grain traders as indicating that business generally would be stimulated.

Wheat scored a maximum gain of 2⅜ cents a bushel, and closed strong 1⅜@2¼c higher than Thursday's finish, corn 1¼@1⅜c up, oats ⅝@1c advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 17 to 35 cents.

Corn and oats shared in wheat strength. There was active buying of corn future deliveries. Country offerings of corn were smaller, in spite of higher prices.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May 59⅜@59⅝c, 63⅛@63⅝c; July 60⅝@60⅞c, 64⅛@64⅛c; Sept. 62⅛c, 65⅝c. Corn—May 40⅛@40⅜c; 42⅞c; July 42⅛c, 45c.

FURTHER ADVANCES IN COTTON MARKET AS DEMAND ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—The more optimistic view of general business prospects inspired by the proposed banking legislation in Washington was reflected by a further broadening of interest and additional advances in cotton today.

May contracts sold up to 6.97 or 20 points above Thursday's closing quotations and $1.70 per bale above the low price of last Thursday morning. May closed at 6.91, or about 6 points off from the best, under realizing and the final tone of the market was barely steady at net gains of 12 to 16 points.

The market opened very steady at an advance of 13 to 16 points on an active general demand, partly reflecting a sharp over-holiday advance in Liverpool.

The early action of the stock market seemed to increase confidence and buying included a considerable demand from the trade as well as a further broadening of commission house interest and active covering. March contracts sold up to 7.77 and October to 7.34 with active months generally showing net gains of about 16 to 20 points, but these prices attracted realizing and southern selling coming partly through brokers who are supposed to have represented the cooperative interests. This was sufficient to supply the demand and closing quotations showed reactions of 4 to 6 points from the best.

The trade buying was said to come partly through houses with Liverpool and continental connections and there were rumors during the morning that some continental interests who had been holding off in the hope of lower prices were among the early buyers.

Brokers who sometimes operate for Japanese account were credited with buying early but later were said to be selling. The report of the census bureau placing domestic consumption for January at 435,337 bales compared with 450,117 last year seemed about in line with expectations and without appreciable effect on the market.

Liverpool cables reported covering with Bombay and continental trade buying and good trade calling in that market supplied by realising at the advance. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 196,000 bales against 82,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 13. (AP)—Great activity featured today's short week-end cotton session and prices advanced in sympathy with the fresh bulge in the stock market showing at the highest levels of the day an advance of three-quarters of a dollar a bale.

A decided jump in the Liverpool markets at the opening was responsible for an initial gain of 9 to 12 points and prices continued to advance after start on the sharp further upturn in stocks until gains of 15 to 18 points were shown over the previous close. Profit taking for over the week-end led to a reaction of 3 to 4 points near the end but the market closed steady, showing net gains for the day of 11 to 12 points.

The opening was excited as Liverpool cables came in 9 to 10 penny points better than due and private cables from that market stated that the continent and Bombay as well as the trade bought with good trade calling and some realizing. Manchester cabled that there were good cloth sales to India and Egypt.

March closed at 6.75, up 13 points net for the day, May at 6.92, up 12 points net and July at 7:08, up 11 points net.

Port receipts 15,781, for season 8,036,216, last season 7,833,736. Exports 7,647, for season 5,327,959, last season 4,604,914. Port stock 4,904,868, last year 4,189,090. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 182,710, last year 81,293. Spot sales at southern markets 32,837, last year 15,909.

Liverpool Cotton

WICHITANS TO SELECT MAYOR TWO ALDERMEN

ELECTION CITY OFFICERS WILL BE CALLED APRIL 5

Walter Curlee Mentioned as Probable Candidate for Mayor's Office

Citizens of Wichita Falls will elect a mayor and two aldermen April 5. The two-year terms of Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. and Aldermen J. N. Prothro and J. S. Bridwell expire in April. None of of the three has definitely announced whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election.

The only outside name introduced into city politics so far is that of Walter S. Curlee, prominent realtor, who has been mentioned as a probable candidate for mayor.

The three holdover aldermen, who have another 12 months to serve, are C. E. McCutchen, J. M. Spoonts and R. O. Harvey.

Mr. Bridwell was appointed two months ago to fill the unexpired term of E. H. Eddleman, who resigned when he accepted a position as executive secretary of the Texas Oil and Gas Conservation association, with headquarters in Fort Worth.

March 5, 30 days before the election date, is the deadline for filing petitions for the placing of candidates' names on the city ballot. In order to enter a candidate in the race a petition must bear the signatures of 100 qualified voters.

The city council on Feb. 29 will call the election, name officers for each polling place and designate the polling places.

All supplies for the election except ballots have already been received by the city clerk's office.

The mayor draws a salary of $22.50 per month and the aldermen $9 each. Salaries were set at $25 and $10 when the city-manager form of government went into effect here and these were reduced 10 per cent when that cut was made in the pay checks of all city employes.

The births of seven boys and four girls were reported to the city health department during the past week as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. James Reguet Irion Jr., 1518 Twenty-sixth, boy, James Reguet III, Feb. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shuler Dubose, 1618 Harrison, girl, Mary Lynn, Feb. 3.

Rev. W. R. White To Hold Services Lamar Ave. Church

Rev. W. R. White, until recently executive secretary of the Baptist general convention of Texas, but now pastor of the Broadway Baptist church of Fort Worth, will be with the Lamar Avenue Baptist church for a week of preaching on the general theme of "The New Testament Christian," it was announced Saturday.

The subjects of his daily talks will be "Life's Program," "Life's Essentials," "Life's Problems," "Life's Tests," "Life's Larger Relationships," and "Life's Destiny." These will be used at the evening services, the morning subjects will be announced later. Mr. White will be assisted by T. D. Carroll, who will be in charge of the music. Services will begin Monday and the public is invited to attend, according to the pastor, Rev. Sidney F. Martin.

Wednesday noon the speaker will address the Optimist club at its regular weekly meeting.

Pressure Cooker Technique to Be Shown Next Week

A new kind of cooking school at which the relatively new technique of the pressure cooker will be explained and demonstrated will be held every day next week at the Sears, Roebuck & Co., retail department store, Eleventh and Scott. Hours will be 10 o'clock in the morning, 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and 7 o'clock Saturday evening.

The talks and demonstrations will be given by J. L. Murphy, noted dietitian and specialist in home economics. Cooking will be done before each audience and each detail of the process minutely explained, after which the food will be served to the audience. There will also be a question and answer period, at which time any points about the cooker not made clear will be fully explained. Wichita Falls women are cordially invited to attend.

This method of cooking has been endorsed by colleges, universities, doctors and dietetic clinics; it was recommended by the U. S. department of agriculture as the only safe method for cold pack canning.

"Not only may vegetables and meats be cooked deliciously in their own juices in pressure cookers, but a considerable saving in time and fuel may be effected through their use," said Mr. Murphy. "Health-giving minerals such as lime, iron, potash and others are preserved in pressure cooked foods.

"In addition, almost a whole meal may be cooked in a pressure cooker with an absolute minimum of trouble. Everything from poultry to meat roasts—from vegetables to desserts may be cooked together without any odor or heat escaping into the kitchen. Sauerkraut may be cooked with a rice pudding and the pudding won't pick up the kraut's odor. Pressure cooking is one of the important contributions of the age to the science of food preparation."

PROGRAM COMPLETE FOR THIRD WORLD FELLOWSHIP MEET HERE THIS WEEK AT FIRST CHRISTIAN

The third annual World Fellowship meet will be held in Wichita Falls at the First First Christian church, Feb. 19, 20 and 21. The first to be held in Texas was at the Magnolia Avenue Christian church, Fort Worth, in March, 1930, and the second one was held at the Greenville Avenue Christian church, Dallas, in March, 1931.

Delegates from the missionary circles and Triangle clubs, Christian Endeavor societies of the Christian churches in Texas are coming. Already more than 100 delegates are assured, and preparation is being made for even a larger number.

The program is now complete. Mrs. Ora L. Shepherd, secretary in the department of missionary organizations of the United Christian Missionary society of the Disciples of Christ, Indianapolis, Ind., will make several addresses. She is described as a woman of rare personality and unusual ability. For several years she did field work for the United Society in Texas and Oklahoma, with headquarters at Dallas. She was received graciously by the churches and was in great demand as a speaker in the pulpits and before various church gatherings.

Other Addresses

Another real treat will be the addresses given by Rev. Rex D. Hopper who, with his wife and family, have been missionaries, in Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America. Others who will speak are Dr. H. The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

The week passed more quickly than Ruth had dared to think that it would. Her identity was carefully shielded. She was glad when the last note of the last song died away. Then she remembered that now she wouldn't have the exhilaration of the nightly performances to take her mind from herself. It would be worse, much worse, than the week that was ending.

Her family had made no effort to communicate with her. A box of her things had come, though. Sally had sent her the lamp, the etchings, a tea set, some spoons, her books, quite as though she wanted Ruth to know that she was being banished entirely. Ruth welcomed the treasures. She appreciated their coming, although she knew Sally had not sent them in a kindly spirit. She found material for cushions—Chinese red and black and ivory in a heavy silk—and made the covers for the pillows she bought. She purchased a gay lamp.

She tried to forget that she had known Joe Raynor very well in his interne days. She found a picture of him, taken at the hospital. He was younger looking. Gay, laughing. She tore it in two. Then she tore it again. But after that she got out some heavy paper and mucilage and pasted the pieces together. She couldn't quite make the face look natural. It had a whimsical one-side effect, as though the boy in the picture laughed at her.

Sue and Jack, meantime, were established in their house. The cobbled walks and the green swinging gate to the garden, the ship's lantern at the entrance, the dormer windows of the kitchen, had become Sue's world.

She was happy. She looked at her glowing face in the mirrors sometimes and tried to make herself believe that she was really married to Jack. Living in a story-book sort of house. Getting Jack's breakfast. Making the coffee, squeezing the oranges for orange juice, or preparing grapefruit with round red cherries in the heart of it; making toast—or muffins, when she had time. Now and then enlarging the menu to include bacon, golden crisp, and eggs—wondering what to have for dinner. Sue admitted that she liked being domestic. She was glad that she was through with typewriters and carbon copies and all the rest of it.

She told this to Ruth one day and Ruth smiled, rather tremulously, and then asked her if she heard about Sally and Joe Raynor.

Because Sue knew that Ruth would dislike sympathy, she touched lightly on the subject. Ruth had been grateful. She hadn't much work to do at school, either. The health of the town seemed to be improving.

When the office of the board of education called her and asked if she would mind substituting for a fifth grade teacher in a settlement school for a few days, she welcomed the change.

Assuring the Protection of Life Insurance Money

Many a man buys life insurance to protect his family's future, without ever considering how much need there may be of protecting the insurance money.

This "lump of money" often comes as a "young fortune" to those who have had experience only with moderate incomes. At once, so many things seem possible. But unwise expenditures, ill-advised investments, unsecured loans to friends and relatives, often wipe out what was intended as a protection. The disaster the insurer thought to avoid becomes inevitable.

Life insurance can be made a real protection by making the policy payable to this bank as your trustee. A separate trust agreement can instruct us how to pay out and administer the fund. You can make this arrangement with your insurance already in force, or when you are taking out new policies. The fund will be administered according to sound business principles and by careful and skillful management made to pay a regular income to those for whom you would provide.

THE 100% INVESTMENT

What investment during the past three years has remained at 100%? Can you name one?

Corporation Bonds, Municipal Bonds, Stocks, Real Estate—yes, even Liberty Bonds—all have fluctuated. But, there is one investment—your Certificate of Deposit or a Savings Account—in a well-managed bank in your community, that remains at 100 cents on the dollar and is available whenever you need it.

City National Bank

John G. Lonsdale, Past President of the American Bankers Association, once said:

Mr. Lonsdale's statement has wide endorsement among the prominent business men of today.

"Life Insurance Trust Is the Best Way to Conserve It"

This statement of Mr. Lonsdale also voices the opinion of presidents of leading banking institutions and of great life insurance companies.

THE ADVANTAGES of having your own life insurance placed in trust with us, as trustee, are:

—the principal will be invested in securities selected after careful scrutiny and deliberation;

—the income will be paid to those you name, periodically, as you direct;

—to meet unusual family situations that you can not anticipate, you also can instruct us to use parts of the principal as may be required.

There is no set form for a Life Insurance Trust. But one can be made to order to meet your purposes and to take care of the needs of your family.

Give us your financial measurements and we can help you lay out a plan that will conform to them and to the future needs of your family.
