TYPEWRITER IS STOLEN FROM FRED CULLUM

The click-click-click of a "hunt and punch" typist probably will be the only clue through which sheriff's officers will be able to trace the thief or thieves who some time last night broke into the Cullum & Son garage, Francis and Cuyler-sts, and stole a typewriter.

The word mill was the only thing missing when the burglary was discovered by a night watchman shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. The safe had been left open and the money had been removed before the garage was closed for the night, Sheriff Earl Talley said today.

The sheriff said entrance to the garage was gained by breaking a window and unlatching it at the rear of the building.

'NO COMPROMISES' WITH FOR ARE SEEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt's inaugural address left Congress wondering today how much social legislation will be attempted at this session and where it will lead in the differences between the administration and the Supreme Court.

Leaders of both major parties hailed his speech as a noteworthy statement of ideals. All sides construed his stand as a notice of "no compromise" and aggressive action.

Key Democrats expected to be called to the White House soon for conferences on such specific problems as wage and hour standards, crop control, slum clearance, farm tenancy and possibly a broad program for other economic readjustments.

Intentions were to go ahead as in the first administration, in the face of Supreme Court rulings if need be. The justice department and several non-governmental sources in touch with the White House were rushing studies of business regulation.

YOUNG SLAYER OF POLICEMAN ADMITS CRIME

MONROE, Mich., Jan. 21 (AP)—Alcide (Frenchy) Benoit, 24, pleaded innocent in municipal court today on a charge of shooting to death State Policeman Richards F. Hammond. He was held for trial in circuit court.

Chewing gum laconically, Benoit came to court hand-cuffed to a state trooper. He waived examination and Muncipal Judge John F. Faucher at once ordered him held for trial.

The youthful paroled convict, captured after a 20-hour manhunt, told how he killed Michigan state policeman Richards F. Hammond and then handcuffed the officer's body to a rural mailbox.

County Prosecutor Francis Ready announced the confession of the 24-year old black-haired gunman shortly after Benoit's desperate game of hide-and-seek over sleet-covered country areas with officers of three states and the federal government ended in Monroe—a short distance from the spot where he abducted trooper Hammond at midnight Tuesday.

Benoit said he struck Hammond with a pistol and forced the officer to follow the convict's instructions.

Five miles southeast of Erie, Mich., after the car with the officer and suspect was ditched, "I made Hammond stop," Benoit was quoted as confessing. "Then I got out and put one of the handcuffs on his wrists. When I tried to get him out of the car he put up a fight and we rolled over on the ground. I could see he was getting the best of me. Then I fired during the scuffle and he got limp. I cuffed his hands around the post (of the mail box)."

BATTLES RAGE IN AIR AND ON GROUND TODAY

NEUTRALITY EFFORTS AT STANDSTILL AGAIN

(By The Associated Press)

Air and ground battles broke with new violence on the Madrid and Malaga fronts of warring Spain today.

Neutrality efforts stood stockstill. But Italy and Germany will inform Great Britain shortly, it was learned, that foreign financial aid and propaganda must be eliminated from Spain along with foreign volunteers.

The League of Nations council met at Geneva to discuss both the need of Germany for raw materials and Spanish government protests against alleged Italo-German violation of its sovereignty.

Fascist and Socialist airplanes fought a machine gun battle over Madrid. Fascist insurgents struck back at the Socialist government ground forces for an almost-successful attack on the "Hill of Angels" south of Madrid.

Insurgent planes bombed southern Malaga, on the sea, laying the groundwork for assault by storm. Socialist defenders of Malaga and reinforced insurgent armies resumed a battle close to nearby Marbella.

From Valencia, the Spanish government announced the Spanish gold reserve was under guard in Spain. There have ben reports the bullion had been shipped abroad.

'ANGEL OF BROADWAY' SLAPS EX-POLICEMAN

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP) — Willed Andrews, attorney for Aimee Semple McPherson, said today he would ask a court order to make Rheba Crawford complete her deposition.

The former "Angel of Broadway" stormed out of his office yesterday while Andrews was taking a deposition in her $1,080,000 slander suit against the Angelus Temple evangelist.

As she went, she slapped Harry F. Comber, former Clemente police chief and now employed by Andrews as an investigator and bodyguard.

"I spoke to her real nice," reported Comber, "and she socked me."

"I don't know why I did it," Miss Crawford said later, "unless it was because of all those untrue things they were hinting at. It's the first time I ever lost my temper."

The break came as Andrews was questioning her about city politics and asked, "Didn't you say, 'the underworld and gamblers would be glad to pay'—"

Miss Crawford jumped to her feet. "I'm not going to stay here and be insulted. Besides, didn't you tell me you had all the Catholic judges in Los Angeles under your control?"

"I never said anything like that," retorted Andrews. "You're telling a lie."

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

This mother sat beside the radio, listening intently to the inauguration broadcast. She did not want to miss a word. The parade was in progress. "Here come the cadets from West Point!" said the announcer. Martial music was heard, and the mother's blood warmed and quickened.

"If you listen closely," said the announcer, "perhaps you can hear the footsteps of the cadets as they march!" She listened but heard no sound of marching feet. (One of those marching cadets was her son, Alfred Walton! She sent loving glances at two photographs of her son, setting on pieces of furniture in the room. One of the pictures showed him in his uniform.) The announcer was calling one of the boys out of the marching ranks to the microphone. Perhaps it might be her son. She had not seen him nor heard his voice in three years. Perhaps it might be her son! She waited a breathless few seconds, and then breathed. No. That voice was not her son's. The marching music died away; the announcer said, "here come the Middies!"

A new cold spell which sent the mercury skidding to a minimum of 6 above zero here at 6 o'clock this morning had begun moderating some this afternoon with promises from the weatherman it would not be so cold tonight and tomorrow.

The thermometer fluid dropped 19 degrees during the night.

At noon today it had climbed five points in six hours to 11 above as the new cold wave moved out of the Panhandle to points south.

In Pampa the cold, blown out of the Rockies, was accompanied by light flurries of snow.

(By The Associated Press)

A severe cold wave, slowly forcing its way southward, brought snow flurries and near-zero weather to the Texas Panhandle today.

Light snow was falling over the Plains region around Amarillo.

The temperature was down to 6 above zero at Amarillo.

The new blast of winter failed to spread as rapidly over north Texas last night as weather bureau observers expected, due to a low pressure area over central and south Texas.

A low barometer reading of 29.64 was taken at Del Rio this morning. The weather bureau said the low pressure area centered over the Rio Grande valley.

Virtually all south Texas was overcast today and mist and rain were dampening the northern part in advance of the cold wave. North Texas temperatures for the most part were relatively high this morning but had little chance of remaining long above freezing.

Borger reported a temperature decline from 40 degrees last night to

STATE ASKED TO MAINTAIN McLEAN ROAD

RAILROAD COMMISSION IS ADDRESSED BY JUDGE WHITE

State maintenance of the undesignated Gray county road from Pampa to McLean by the way of LeFors was sought by commissioners' court today in a letter sent to the Texas Railroad Commission by County Judge Sherman White.

The request was made following an application of a trucking company to operate a carrier line from Childress to Pampa over Highways 4, 152 and 75, and over the un-numbered hard-surfaced road through McLean and LeFors to Pampa.

The court's letter to Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the commission, reads in part:

"The commissioners court of Gray county wishes to make this statement to the Railroad Commission of Texas relative to the above application and all other similar applications now pending or that may be filed with the Railroad Commission for a permit to operate as a common carrier over an un-numbered hard surfaced road from McLean to Pampa via LeFors:

Pope Pius Takes Turn for Worse

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 21. (AP)—Pope Pius XI, weakened by a bad night and increasing pain, was reported by informed quarters today to have taken another turn for the worse.

The holy father's suffering was said to be greatest in his left leg where the circulation was extremely poor.

The pontiff was described as bearing his pain with great fortitude, but attendants quoted him as saying:

"The pains are atrocious!

"There is, perhaps, no word in the dictionary that can really describe them."

Former King Alfonso of Spain called at the Vatican where he was received by Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state. Alfonso expressed hope for the pontiff's recovery.

Trade Treaties Are Advocated

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — President Roosevelt urged Congress today to continue the administration reciprocal trade treaty program as a means of promoting "durable peace" and a "balanced economic recovery."

His appeal was made in a letter to Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means committee, before which Secretary Hull appeared in person to ask passage of a measure extending the trade policy three years.

Mr. Roosevelt said the nation's "vigorous initiative in the field of liberalization of commercial policies has been an important factor in arresting the world trend toward national economic isolation, which seemed almost irresistible three years ago."

Asserting the task was by no means finished, Mr. Roosevelt said "emergency conditions" still exist in international trade relations and excessive barriers continue to operate against American trade.

"Their reduction," he wrote, "continues to be an essential requirement of a full and balanced economic recovery for our country.

"In the period which lies immediately ahead, our ability to act swiftly and effectively in the field of commercial policy will be indispensable, if the present favorable and promising trend toward a normalization and expansion of international trade, upon a friendly and constructive basis of fair-dealing and equal treatment, is to go forward."

Hull told the committee the resolution extending the President's power to make reciprocal agreements provided an opportunity for "vital accomplishment."

PARTY LEADER MAKES OFFER TO KILL SELF

WOULD COMMIT HARI-KARI IF CHARGE IS UNPROVED

TOKYO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Kunimatsu Hamada, leader of the Seiyukai, second largest party in the Japanese parliament, offered tonight to kill himself if his accusations that military leaders are interefering with the government were disproved.

His threat to commit hara-kiri climaxed an angry discussion with Count Juichi Terauchi, minister of war, over what Hamada described as the army's desire to dictate to the political administration.

The first round of Japan's parliamentary fight was a staggering blow to the government of Premier Koki Hirota. It sent him to the emperor's palace, where he obtained a two-day suspension of the turbulent diet.

Members of both houses mercilessly pilloried both cabinet and army as pro-fascists, leaning toward distatorship, neglecting the welfare of the people and pursuing a secret and suicidal foreign policy, especially in the government's anti-communist alliance with Germany.

From the moment the house of representatives convened at 1 p. m. until it adjourned at 6:20, Hirota, Foreign Minister Hachiro Orita, War Minister Terauchi and Finance Minister Elichi Baba were attacked fiercely, constantly interrupted, booed and derided with such violence that the chamber was thrown into uproar.

The party leader insisted on examination of the stenographic transcript of his remarks after Count Terauchi charged him with "insulting the army." Hamada warned the war minister if the accusation could not be confirmed, he (Terauchi) "must assume full responsibility."

The heated session adjourned shortly afterward and Premier Koki Hirota, assailed by opposition leaders controlling a majority of the membership, went to the palace to report to Emperor Hirohita.

On the premier's request, the emperior issued an imperial decree suspending diet sessions for two days.

Hamada charged the government, under the influence of a military clique, had bribed the diet to obtain passage of a bill creating two new army divisions. Premier Hirota denied the allegation.

The members earlier had booed

Bates, widely known criminologist who has directed the federal prison bureau since 1930, will become executive director of the Boys' Club of America, Inc.

The attorney general made public a letter to Bates from President Roosevelt, which said that "in common with all who are familiar with your work in the department of justice, I sincerely regret the administration is to be deprived of the fine public service you have rendered with much marked distinction.

"The type of work you are about to undertake is of vital importance and presents a congenial task for which, in every way, you are abundantly qualified," the letter added.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

BUT WHAT ABOUT HIGH HATS?

NEW YORK (AP)—In order that women's bicycle riding may not interfere with their attendance at the opera, the Cycle Trades of America members, in convention, approved a Parisian evening gown "of harem type."

One of the chief features of the gown will be jeweled ankle clips, designed to keep the chiffon and stuff out of the sprockets.

"We think," said L. N. Southmayd, general manager of the association, "the women will like the clips so well that they will leave them on for the faster dances—like the rumba."

General Motors Strike Headed For Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The General Motors strike appeared today to be heading rapidly toward the White House despite renewed conferences between Secretary Perkins and each of the opposing forces.

Miss Perkins arranged another meeting with Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., General Motors president, after they failed yesterday to reach an agreement for resuming negotiations between the corporation and the United Automobile Workers of America.

Her nine-hour conference with John L. Lewis, whose committee for industrial organization is backing the strike, also was unproductive of a peace plan.

The labor secretary said in a statement last night:

"Governor Murphy (of Michigan) and I are striving to bring about the resumption of negotiations on fair and honorable terms that will assure a proper and mutually satisfactory settlement.

"We have hopes negotiations may be resumed and satisfactorily concluded."

Many labor leaders expressed the belief the President would take a hand if an agreement were not reached soon.

Hitler Convenes Reich to Announce 2 Cabinet Decrees

BERLIN, Jan. 21 (AP) — The forthcoming session of the reichstag has been called, it was learned today, to hear two cabinet decress initiating the change of Germany into a fully federalized state.

A high official of Chancellor Hitler's official family said the reichstag would be used as a platform from which to announce the decrees to be passed by the cabinet shortly before the session.

The laws, he said, were merely preliminary to a compresensive rearrangement of Germany which will be announced four years hence.

At that time—coinciding roughly with the end of the four year plan to make Germany economically self-sufficient—the old state lines will disappear completely and the country will be reorganized by "gaus" or districts based on similarity of customs, dialect, origin, etc.

After the comprehensive unification of Germany, the nazi spokesman said, Air Minister Hermann Goerin, Der Fuehrer's chief aide, will automatically become reichschancellor or minister-president.

(Reports have been current for some months Hitler was planning to turn over the political direction of the reich to Goering, retaining only his position as Fuehrer, or "leader" of the German people.)

FAVORS MARLAND PARLEY.

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he would be glad to talk over with Governor E. W. Marland of Oklahoma means of increasing taxes on natural resources. "I have had no communication from Governor Marland," Allred said, "but I will be very happy to meet with him any time. Since he has suggested the meeting I think further suggestions on what should be done should come from him."

FUTURE ACTIVITIES OF LEGION POST OUTLINED

American Legion members last night conducted a strictly business session in which plans for many future activities were outlined and William Heskew was elected junior-vice-commander of the Pampa post.

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will handle publicity for the President's ball here. Meetings will be held to map plans, it was decided.

Plans were made for the post to take part in:

Urging everyone to pay poll tax despite this being an "off" election year. Many important matters are scheduled to come before the people during the year, it was pointed out.

Holding of a Bowery Ball at the hut on the night of Feb. 6, open to members and guests at $1 per couple.

Repaying a visit of Canadian post on next Tuesday night with members of auxiliary also making the trip to dance and banquet.

Urging Pampa merchants to begin a "buy at home" campaign. A meeting of interested merchants will be called in the near future.

Getting rid of Elizabeth, the post donkey, in the best financial manner.

CALVERT COMPLETING COMMITTEE SELECTION

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—The legislature adjourned today until Monday to give Robert C. Calvert, house speaker, time to complete committee selections.

The house was powerless to progress on legislation until its committees had been chosen. The only one named so far was that on privileges, suffrage and election. Calvert gave it preference so it might start consideration of a contest on the Cleburne district seat.

The Senate heard brief but sharp argument on the highly controversial proposal to ratify the federal child labor amendment. It adopted a motion by T. J. Holbrook of Galveston to re-refer the resolution from the labor committee to the committee on constitutional amendments.

The number of bills in the two branches continued to grow. Among the latest introduced was one by Rep. Lonnie Alsup of Carthage to require governing bodies of state colleges to establish book depositories for students and another by Rep. J. Doyle Settle of Abernathy to abolish the statute of limitations on suits for collections of school and road district taxes.

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Johnnie Walker, indicted in Dallas by a federal grand jury this week on narcotic charges, remained under special guard in a hospital here this morning. He is reported suffering from pneumonia. Local officers located Walker in the hospital yesterday and assigned a guard to his room on instructions from U. S. Marshal Red Wright of Fort Worth. The San Angeloan was one of 14 arrested in a drive in which authorities said $150,000 worth of narcotics were seized.

'SILLY SYMPHONY OF AIR' TO BE PRESENTED BY KPDN IN PROGRAM

By means of specially produced electrical transcriptions made in the motion picture colony in Hollywood, KPDN will present a virtual "Silly Symphony of the Air" starting Monday, Jan. 25, from 5 to 5:15 o'clock. The programs are called "Once Upon a Time."

Special music, motion picture singers, the Walt Disney and Paramount male quartet and famed character impersonators are featured in this series of delightfully whimsical fairy tales and fables which were produced for radio presentation by Gerald L. King, president of Standard Radio, Inc., Hollywood.

Each of the quarter hour broadcasts is a complete story in itself, dramatized by the finest cast of radio and motion picture artists ever assembled in a recording studio.

Four principal characters are featured throughout the series. There is Wrinkles, King of the Squirrels; The Wise Old Owl, Croakus the Frog, and the Fairy Queen. Such stories as Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp, Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, Goldilocks and the Three Bears, and The Little Red Hen are but a few of the many delightful tales which will be heard on KPDN at the times indicated above.

The first story to be heard will be the magic tale of Goldilocks and the Three Bears, in which Golidlocks eats the Little Bear's porridge, breaks the chair and is finally caught sleeping in the Tiny Wee Bear's bed.

The initial broadcast will be from 5 to 5:15 o'clock Monday afternoon, Jan. 25, according to Mel Marshall, program director and production manager.

A slight earthquake in the early construction of the Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco rocked the 746-foot towers so much that the workmen became ill.

RANGE CONSERVATION PROGRAM WILL APPLY ONLY IN WEST TEXAS

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 21 (AP)—Provisions of the 1937 government range conservation program will apply in Texas only to range lands in the western part of the state, the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee announced.

The committee will administer the program. It is designed to encourage adoption of range improvement practices.

Re-seeding of grasses by deferred grazing, under which up to 25 per cent of ranch land may be withheld from grazing for six months starting May 1, wasl isted among practices entitling ranchmen to participate.

Other approved practices were contour listing, construction of terrace ridges, dams, earthen tanks and reservoirs, establishment of fire guards, eradication of rodents, and rescuing land from cactus, mesquite and other unwanted growth.

As applied to farm lands, the program reduced the penalty for not planting the minimum of soil-conserving crops from an average of $12 an acre to a flat rate of $3 an acre, the committee announced.

County agricultural agents have been notified of major changes and will learn details after representatives of the southern region of the A. A. A. meet here January 27.

CENTRAL IDAHO COLD AT 52 BELOW ZERO

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21. (AP)—Winter kept the west shackled in icy bonds today as temperatures ranged downward from zero.

It was 52 below at Elk City in the heart of rugged Central Idaho and the sub-artic cold extended south to the Mexican border.

Southern California, where citrus growers fought frost with fire, was a comparatively warm spot though freezing weather prevailed.

Five deaths were attributed to this week's cold siege, two in Montana, two in Colorado and one in northern California.

Daring rescuers mushed through blinding snow to bring an appendicitis-stricken miner, Frederick White, to Okanogan, Wash. He was transported by dog sled from the Azurite mine and transferred to an automobile at Robinson Creek.

California citrus groves, where crops worth $112,000,000 were harvested last year, were protected again last night by widespread smudging. Shipping cooperatives estimated an earlier cold spell this month cost 20,000 cars of oranges, lemons and grapefruit.

Valiant Dog Team Takes Washington Miner to Hospital

OKANOGAN, Wash., Jan. 21. (AP)—Valiant dog teams defeated the Cascade mountains' deep snows to save Fred White, 25-year-old miner, from an appendicitis operation in the wilds and place him today between the sheets of a hospital bed.

White arrived at a hospital here last night for an appendectomy today.

Hospital attendants said the operation was delayed because he suffered "some shock" from a 60-mile journey by dog team, bobsled, automobile and ambulance from the Azurite mine, 8,000 feet up in the mountains.

Dr. E. P. Murdock, who climbed to the mine last Saturday and then called for aid, prepared to perform the appendectomy. He had hesitated to operate at the mine because the altitude increased the patient's gastric pressure.

Strapped to a sled, White, accompanied by Dr. Murdock, was taken from the mine at daybreak on the first 11-mile lap to Horsehaven Station.

Father Coughlin's Bishop Succumbs

DETROIT, Jan. 21. (AP)—Laity and clergy — Father Charles E. Coughlin prominent among them—mourned today the death of the Most Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Detroit.

Lost to Father Coughlin, himself more familiar to the public than his church superior, was a counselor and outspoken defender of his right to free speech.

Bishop Gallagher, 70, diocesan head since 1918, died suddenly last night from complications following a streptococcus infection, and Father Coughlin, at his Royal Oak, Mich., home, said:

"I have lost the best friend outside of my family."

The nation knew Bishop Gallagher best for his defense of Father Coughlin during the heat of the recent political campaign while the priest berated the Roosevelt administration.

Bishop Gallagher, son of Irish immigrants, was born Nov. 18, 1866, in Auburn, Mich. He obtained his advanced education for the priesthood at Mungret college, near Dimerick, Ireland, and the Royal Imperial University of Innsbruck in the Tyrol.

FLORIDA, DON'T LOOK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Old Man Winter—a seldom seen and decidedly unwanted guest in this city of widely advertised sunshine—at last has won official recognition. The city council appropriated $2,000 to furnish outdoor laborers with red flannel underwear, woolen socks and other garments capable of withstanding the rigors of a Southern California winter.

14,000 EXECUTED.

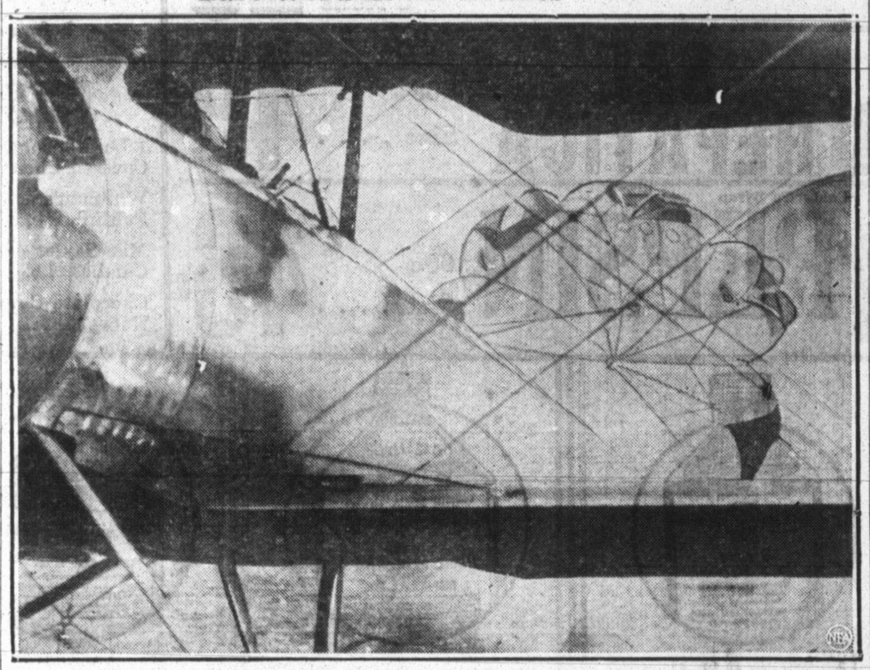

BAYONNE, France, Jan. 21 (AP)—Fourteen thousand persons have been executed by Spanish Fascists in Navarre province since the beginning of the Spanish civil war, the Basque nationalist government at Bilbao charged today.

Pittsburgh Faces Peril in General Flood Sweep

With floods raging in a dozen states, Pittsburgh was gripped by fear of repetition of 1936 deluge damage when waters of the swollen Monongahela and Allegheny rivers swirled into downtown streets and store basements. The picture above shows a flooded section on River avenue, at Ninth street, with the B. & O. tracks inundated. Police stood by to evacuate residents near the rivers, if need arose.

Last Word in Air Brakes

The most literal version of air brakes yet seen is submitted by a Japanese inventor. Designed to slow landing aircraft, the pilot merely releases a parachute attached to the tail of the plane, and the ship is braked for a stop in a quarter of the distance usually required. The idea, ex-landing in small fields, is being given a tryout (above) at the Susaki, Japan, airport.

They Framed Reorganization Plan

Here are the three men who drafted the monumental plan for government reorganization, an outline of which was presented by President Roosevelt to Congress. In jovial mood, with weighty facts and figures temporarily shelved, are shown, left to right, Dr. Luther Gulick, Louis Brownlow, and Dr. Charles E. Merriam. Brownlow, a former city manager, has been director of the Public Administration Clearing House of Chicago; Merriam won renown as professor of political science at Chicago University; and Gulick is director of the Institute of Public Administration. All have won fame as administrators in city and state government.

There is one death to every million passenger-miles on air lines, statistics show, and one death to every billion railroad passenger-miles.

Statistics show that each year some 100,000 persons are killed and 9,500,000 injured in accidents in America.

MIDCONTINENT FLOOD AREA GROWING LARGER

(By The Associated Press)

The flood area of the midcontinent grew wider today as overburdened rivers, swelled anew by rains, sent surplus water over thousands of acres of farm land and menaced life and property in many communities.

Unofficial estimates indicated at least 20,000 persons were driven from their homes by surging flood waters. Coast guard units, the Red Cross, American Legion forces, and an infantry unit joined civil authorities in aiding refugees.

Hazleton, Ind., bore the brunt of the flood's latest onslaught. The village was inundated to a depth of 12 feet when the White river broke through a levee. More than 200 families fled to higher ground.

Several hundred families evacuated Evansville, Ind., where the rising Ohio river threatened destruction. Some 1,600 persons were homeless in Cincinnati while 1,000 families were routed by Ohio river waters that covered 50 city blocks in nearby Newport, Ky., thirty blocks in Dayton, Ky., a city of 10,000 population, were submerged.

ANGLETON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Three women were credited today with capturing an escaped convict. Shortly after Mrs. G. P. Munson told a prison guard yesterday she had not seen Lowell Hawkins, who escaped earlier in the day, the fugitive appeared at her back door. She grabbed a gun and leveled it at Hawkins. Her daughter Laura obtained another gun and her sister-in-law, Mrs. G. P. Munson, Jr., went for the guard.

OIL DEVELOPMENT MAY STAY GOULD FORECAST OF TEXAS GHOST CITY

JEFFERSON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The forecast of oil development is dissipating the prophecy Jay Gould, railroad builder, laid upon Jefferson.

In 1873 Gould, incensed at his failure to obtain right-of-way for his Texas and Pacific, legend attributes to him a prediction of Jefferson's downfall. "Bats will roost in your belfries, grass grow in the streets, and trees thrust branches through moldering buildings," he forecast for the city of 30,000 population.

Across the ledger of the famous old Excelsior Hotel Gould wrote in bold letters still visible, "The end of Jefferson."

The prophecy almost was realized. Railroads took away the city's preeminence as a shipping point, water fell so low in the Cypress river that steamboats could no longer navigate to its docks, and the population dwindled. Located in an unproductive county, harassed by depression and bonded debt, Jefferson was in a serious plight.

At low ebb an optimist looking for oil where he could find it, thrust down a drill on the Texas side opposite the Rodessa, La., oil field and brought in a substantial producer. The play extended into Marion county, of which Jefferson is the seat. Gould rarely paid for rights-of-way as much as lease and royalty seekers gave for acreage and mineral.

Land values revived, taxes became easier to collect, and when drilling began the town's population rose from 2,500 to more than 3,000 in less than a year. Population increase continues in the new year.

The dead hand of the famous financier appears to have been stayed.

TRAYNOR SAYS BROWNS BENEFITTED IN TRADE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 21 (AP)—Harold (Pie) Traynor, the Pittsburgh Pirates manager, thinks the St. Louis Browns came away out on top in the recent player swap with the Cleveland Indians.

The Browns traded Julius Solters, Ivy Andrews and Lynn Lary for the Indians' Oral Hildebrand, Joe Vosmik and Billy Knickerbocker.

"Those boys at St. Louis knew what they were doing," Traynor said while a guest of the Indiana house of representatives.

Vosmik? "He wasn't so hot last year but you can look for a big season in 1937; the records show he has a great year every other season," the Pirates' chieftain explained.

Hildebrand? "Everyone thinks Hildebrand is a potential 20-game winner; maybe the change in atmosphere will do him good."

Knickerbocker? "A swell ball player." Traynor said Knickerbocker's mediocre season last year probably could be traced to an appendicitis operation.

Solters, Andrews and Lary? "Good ball players, but the Indians came out second best."

Expose of Boxcar Burglary Gang Is Claimed by Agent

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21 (AP)—A. E. Kerr, special agent for the Frisco Lines, claimed today exposure of a box car burglary gang which had operated in Texas, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois since last July.

Kerr said six men and a woman, arrested at Houston Jan. 1, were held at Conroe, Liberty and Richmond in connection with the theft of 68 cases of cigarettes in the four states. He said burglaries occurred at Conroe, Liberty, Gladewater, Longview, and Richmond in Texas, Pittsburgh, Kas., Sedalia, Mo., and in Illinois.

The agent quoted the 34-year-old reputed leader of the gang, who was held at Liberty, as relating a visit to cigarette plants at Richmond, Va., and Winston Salem, N. C., to study loading methods. Kerr said the man had been convicted on similar charges in Arkansas and was released from the Arkansas prison in July.

Kerr said the loot usually was sold 500 miles from the scene of the burglaries.

PAY HIKE FOR APPLING.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Luke Appling, the major league batting champion in 1936, has a salary increase coming, Owner J. Louis Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox, agrees, but they are having a little game getting together on the size of the boost. Appling, who played shortstop and topped both major leagues in hitting with a .388 average, has asked $20,000 for 1937. He received about $12,000 last year. Comiskey thinks a contract calling for about $15,000 and a bonus clause would be sufficient.

Organized resistance to the C. I. O. effort to unionize steel employes is typified by this Weirton, W. Va., scene. Members of the Weirton Security League and of the employes' representation plan are shown in a rally preliminary to a parade which brought out 2000 autos and nearly 9000 Weirton Steel employes who were off shift at the time. Other defiant banners read "We don't want a dictator—we can think for ourselves!" Weirton is regarded as a center-point of opposition to the C. I. O. in the steel industry.

Huge Citrus Crop Is Grave Problem

McALLEN, Jan. 21 (AP)—Disposal of the nation's huge grapefruit crop—estimated at 10,000,000 boxes in excess of "normal production"—was described today as a grave problem to citrus growing regions.

The solution undertaken was a national selling campaign by the National Association of Food Chain Stores throught its 37,000 affiliated stores.

The grapefruit crop this season, currently going to market from groves in the lower Rio Grande valley, Florida, California and Arizona, was reported to be approximately 29,000,000 boxes.

"The No. 1 surplus problem of the country," the Department of Agriculture was quoted as saying, "is how to market this excessive crop."

John A. Logan, executive vice-president of the National Association of Food Chains, said more than $1,000,000 would be spent by the food chain companies on newspaper advertising alone during the seven-week period ending February 25 and another $1,000,000 would be spent for store display materials to encourage buyers to consume grapefruit.

It acts within 10 minutes to stop gas pains and soreness, bloat and belching. It will not gripe or nauseate you like many liver medicines. It will work the bile from the liver as black as ink. Van-Tage will relieve acid conditions and make the digestive organs sweet and clean and give quick relief from indigestion, bloating, sour stomach, shortness of breath and dyspepsia.

IT WILL give you the greatest appetite you EVER HAD IN YOUR LIFE.

Van-Tage will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys and flush out quantities of impurities that may have become dammed up inside, causing BACKACHE, SHARP PAINS and RISING AT NIGHT.

It will make your liver more active; will clear away old bile deposits, thus relieving spells of biliousness and sick headache.

Rheumatism is often caused by acid arising from stomach hyperacidity. Neuritis is also many times traceable to an acid stomach which poisons the nerves.

IT WILL clear up skin eruptions that are caused by the impurities in the organs, will overcome the sallowness or "muddiness" that is due to sluggish liver, work to restore the ROSY GLOW of HEALTH into your cheeks.

Van-Tage will act on your stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, build you up in general and make you LOOK, ACT and FEEL like a DIFFERENT MAN or WOMAN, years younger than your real age.

Son Born Tuesday To 'Daffy' Deans

DALLAS, Jan. 21 (AP)—One-half of the talkative Dean brothers—Dizzy and Daffy—has quieted down just when the noise should be loudest.

Paul (Daffy) Dean, gangling St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, not much at "this publicity business," neglected to tell sports writer friends until today that a son was born to his attractive wife Tuesday night.

Hospital attendants reported the future mound hero and his mother were "doing splendidly."

Paul, voluntarily retired last year after an ailing arm kept him from pitching, planned to confer with Branch Rickey, Cardinal boss, here today over his 1937 salary terms. Rickey was here to address a luncheon club.

Receipts Do Not Represent Entire Funds Taken In

In connection with the release yesterday of County Auditor Ray Wilson's annual report of county finances for 1936, it was explained today that receipts shown under the officers' salary fund do not represent the entire amounts taken in by the respective offices.

The figures shown in this particular break-down represent money turned into the salary fund by the office and also show money spent from the salary fund.

For instance, only civil fees collected by a justice of the peace are turned over to the salary fund. Trial fees go to the general fund and fines to the road and bridge fund.

The report therefore showed, as an example, that receipts from Judge E. F. Young's court were only $10.20 as far as the officers' salary fund is concerned. Actually Judge Young took in a total from all sources of $2,194.04 and his office spent only $1,490.22 in 1936.

Perry, who lost three straight to Vines in Boston, forced the Californian into numerous errors and several wild streaks.

SOME RIVERS REACH FLOOD CREST OF '13

PROPERTY LOSS AND HUMAN MISERY MOUNT

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy rains increased sharply today the river menace to widespread east and central west areas, driving some streams to crests which threatened to equal record floods of 1913.

Property loss and human misery mounted with the rising waters. In Cincinnati alone police estimated damage in excess of $1,000,000.

Thousands abandoned Ohio valley homes and sought refuge on higher lands. Hundreds banded together to maintain dikes and levees, while others formed emergency crews to transfer merchandise from perilled areas.

The flood covered miles of land in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Maryland, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Missouri, and Arkansas. Yellow waters crept up city streets and flooded basements in scores of communities.

Riding high an an accumulation of heavy rains, the Ohio river descended on Portsmouth, Ohio, and caused City Manager Frank Sheehan to warn all residents, except those in hilltop districts, to prepare to leave homes and business houses. The city has a population of more than 40,000.

The river rose two-tenths of a foot an hour at Cincinnati toward a crest the weather bureau said might equal that of the 1913 inundation, which cost southwestern Ohio millions of dollars.

At Memphis, Tenn., United States engineers strengthened forces for a battle with the highest known flood stages in the history of the Mississippi river.

The engineers expressed confidence the gigantic levee system, erected by the government after the 1927 flood disaster in the valley, will hold against the onrushing waters in its first "acid test."

The big stream went nearly a foot above technical 34-foot flood level at Memphis. The levee system is built to withstand a stage of from 45 to 50 feet on the Memphis gauge. Meteorologists feel the eventual crest will be well within the limitations. But all concerned agreed a fight was in store.

The village of New Richmond, 30 miles east of Cincinnati, sent a call for aid and boats and crews were dispatched to evacuate families surrounded by water. Fifteen hundred families already had left their homes in northern Kentucky cities.

Indicative of the sweep of the flood was a report that 1,500 of the 2,000 houses in New Richmond were flooded. Water swirled five feet deep in the streets.

Almost the entire population of Aurora, Ind., worked to remove stocks from stores. Fire sirens brought them from their beds at midnight.

Bursting through a levee, White river waters took over the village of Hazelton, Ind. Its 500 residents stood on hills and surveyed the wreckage.

Flood waters swept over the Kentucky lowlands, in some places reaching the 1933 mark, driving hundreds from their homes and derailing a Louisville and Nashville train at Slaughters. The national guard was mustered in Frankfort to assist evacuation of areas flooded by the Kentucky river.

8 above zero this morning. Snow flurries whitened the plains.

Abilene's minimum was 32, and it was raining there. The moisture glazed on the streets as it froze

El Paso was the only point reporting clear weather. The mercury there was 34.

At Wichita Falls it was 24 and cloudy. Dallas, with mist turning into light, steady rain, had a minimum of 45 but it was gradually getting colder.

Moderate temperatures prevailed to the south and east, Palestine not going below 70 and Austin's low being 68. It was cloudy at both places.

At Lubbock temperatures dropped to 19 degrees. Snow flurries fell at Olney and temperatures plummeted from 28 degrees at 7 a. m. to 20 three hours later. A strong north wind accompanied the chill.

The United States weather bureau said freezing weather would extend nearly to the coast, and temperatures in the central and northern portions of the state would tobbogan as the chill winds swept toward the Gulf.

Condition of Mrs. Chris Baer, seriously ill in St. Anthony's hospital in Amarillo, was unchanged today. Her daughter, Mrs. Steve Oats, and son, Franklin Baer, and Mrs. Louie Behrends visited her yesterday.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP—A rather weary stock market received late stimulation today when the steels, including U. S. and Bethlehem, rallied a point or more under a burst of buying in the final hour.

Automotive issues, with the exception of General Motors, also stiffened and many other earlier indifferent leaders stepped out on the upside for gains ranging from fractions to 2. Transfers were around 3,000,000 shares.

OIL FORECAST IS MADE BY BUREAU OF MINES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines forecast today a daily average production of 3,068,600 barrels of crude oil would be required to meet demand during February.

This is 70,200 barrels higher than the January estimate, but about 70,000 barrels below present actual production.

The bureau reported the daily average production was about 13,120,000 barrels during December, with stocks of domestic crude declining at the rate of close to 30,000,000 barrels daily, indicating a daily demand of about 3,150,000 barrels.

The bureau estimated the current rate of production at 2,140,000 barrels daily.

Laughter and groans mingled with the boos when Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita tried to explain the negotiations between Japan and Germany that resulted in their recent anti-communist accord.

A hostile reception also was given Finance Minsiter Eiichi Baba who defended the government's huge budget and measure he said were taken to lighten the burden of the masses from soaring commodity prices.

"Shame on you. We cannot accept such an explanation," shouted members of the parties which have combined to attack the government.

Another volley of jibes and laughter was directed at Premier Hirota when he declared "the government is sincerely determined" to obtain enforcement of stricter army discipline and execution of administrative reforms.

Unprecedented police reserves were on guard both inside and out, especially massing their strength to protect Hirota and Arita.

Perkins Describes Principal Barrier To Strike Parley

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Secretary Perkins said today occupation of Fisher body plants in Flint, Mich., by sit-down strikers was the "principal barrier" to resumption of negotiations between the General Motors Corporation and the United Automobile Workers.

Before resuming her efforts to being corporation officials and the union together, Miss Perkins told reporters one of the main reasons for the failure of Governor Murphy's proposed negotiations in Detroit to materialize had been swept aside. That reason, she said, was the "Flint alliance episode."

William S. Knudsen, General Motors vice president, notified the Flint alliance—composed of non-union employes—Saturday night that he would confer with them Tuesday.

The United Automobile Workers immediately accused General Motors of "bad faith" and the negotiations scheduled for Monday did not take place.

The union then refused to evacuate the Flint plants.

BRUTALITY IN STATE PRISON IS DESCRIBED

TWO CONVICTS GIVEN ADDITIONAL TERMS AT HUNTSVILLE

HUNTSVILLE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Pete Hennessey and Lacy Wingfield, 24-year-old convicts, were under additional sentences of five years each today for slaying Hubert Woodall, Eastham prison farm building tender, last May 10.

Five minutes after the verdict was announced yesterday, Hennessey broke away from Deputy Sheriff Kent Odom. The convict slipped on wet ground 30 feet away, however, and the officer recaptured him.

Wingfield and Hennessey, both 24, on trial for murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Hubert Woodall, Eastham prison farm building tender, May 10, 1936, heard fellow convicts testify yesterday Woodall treated prison inmates brutally.

George Droddy, 23, long-term convict from Wose and Comal counties, said Woodall threatened Wingfield the day of the alleged killing.

Droddy said several convicts were playing poker when the building tender came up and said:

"'Lacy, I told him I would kill you if I caught you fooling around in this building.'

"Then he cut at Lacy," Droddy said, "and Pete (Hennessey) hit Woodall on the head with his fist."

The witness said Wingfield then drew his knife and stabbed the building tender, inflicting the wound which proved fatal two weeks later. He said Woodall pursued the two convicts around the dormitory in spite of his hurt.

Droddy said Woodall had beaten Hennessey and Wingfield with a blackjack about two weeks before in the dining room.

Droddy said Woodall had also threatened other convicts.

"He told me," said Droddy, "'I am going to kill you, beat you to death.' He told us he was going to kill us all, that it was part of his duty to whip us. When he desired he would beat up on us."

Robert Clark, Youngstown, Ohio, and Gus Honicker of Montague county, gave approximately the same testimony as Droddy.

Prosecutors tried unsuccessfully to make the convict-witnesses admit they had fabricated their stories of the fray in advance of the trial and that they were prejudiced against Woodall.

Newspaper men asked Wingfield why he had cut tendons in his legs not long ago.

"I had ben whipped by too many trace chains," he said. "I figured I'd be killed before long."

He said after the mutilation guards made him crawl 100 feet to the hospital, meanwhile, beating him.

Wingfield said when convicts refused to work Thanksgiving guards lined up in front of the building and shot one convict in the neck and another in the chest.

"Another boy had his arm broken with a club," he said, "but they made him go to work in the fields anyway."

MODERN RODEO STARS BETTER THAN WADDIES OF OLD DAYS, CLAIM

DENVER, Jan. 21 (AP)—The modern rodeo cowboy is tops in the top hand business, even though his "life" as a star is short. He'd put the best waddies of the "old days" in the shade.

That's the verdict of Homer Holcomb, tanbark corral star who turned to clowning at big time spur and saddle shows.

"The rodeo performer today has to be a real he-man athlete," explained Holcomb, a tall, sinewy westerner with broad shoulders, as he pulled on his boots for a performance at Denver's National Western Stock Show and Rodeo today.

"He has to train hard—and keep training. Most of all he has to keep riding or he won't last.

"A rodeo cowboy has only a few years at the top at best—like a baseball player. You never see a gray-haired cowboy in a show.

"I don't suppose bronc riders today have any more natural ability than the ones twenty or thirty years ago," he said, "but they're more skilled. They have to be—because there's more competition."

Widow Challenges Report of Bureau

DALLAS, Jan. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Donald Walbridge, widow of the pilot of a Braniff Airways plane which crashed here Dec. 23, killing six employes of the line, challenged today the Bureau of Air Commerce's report blaming the accident "probably" on Walbridge's inexperience in handling that particular type of ship.

"Everyone knows the cause of that crash is still a mystery," Mrs. Walbridge said. "The Bureau of Air Commerce drew its ridiculous conclusions because it knew those who could refute the statements were dead—and dead men have no answer.

"My husband was a pilot of long standing and with a perfect record. There is no earthly reason to believe he was inexperienced in handling the twin-motored planes either functioning perfectly or in crippled condition as that plane seemed to be.

"I want to take issue with those investigators because I believe the honest thing to do would be to admit they could not ascertain the reason for the accident."

Chapter VIII

Paul was not long in discovering that whatever yachting he did on the waters of Bay St. Francis he would do alone.

Ardath received the news of his purchase of the sloop with a murmured, "Oh, darling, how nice!" and she dutifully made a tour of inspection with him, exclaiming prettily over the little boat's compact and robust beauty; but she very quickly made it clear that she was content to admire the craft from a safe and stable vantage point on the shore.

He did persuade her to go for one sail out into the bay. A stiff southerly breeze was blowing, and when the boat heeled over and dipped its lee rail under the foam Ardath squealed with panic and gripped Paul's arm desperately. Furthermore, when they got out into the open and met the long swell from beyond Cape Roman, she became extremely seasick and miserable. Thereafter, Paul went to the boat alone.

He himself was as delighted with the boat as he had expected to be. Voluble Jonas Coffin had not overstated its qualities; it was sturdy and rugged, it showed a neat turn of speed, and it rode the waves with a light buoyancy that spoke well of its qualities as a deep sea cruiser. True to his promise, Paul renamed it "Irene," with a smile for the quaint New Englander from whom he had bought it.

And he found, as the weeks passed, that the boat was not only a diversion but a place of refuge.

For it was becoming increasingly hard to pretend that life at the villa was going along smoothly. There seemed to be a thousand little sources of irritation that had not existed before; irritations that grew out of his own, steadily mounting dissatisfaction with the life he was leading.

The Countess di Marco and Reggie Van Twyne seemed to be underfoot constantly. He and Ardath would be finishing breakfast on the balcony; a motor would hum in the drive, they would hear footsteps on the gravel, and there would be the countess' voice, inexpressibly gay and cheerful—"Hello, darlings, are you up?" And presently she would be on the balcony with them, exquisitely groomed and always looking a little artificial, perching on the table and inundating them with the details of so-and-so's party or what's-her-name's divorce; and the first thing Paul knew the countess and Ardath would be planning some excursion or fete together and he would find himself drawn along after them like a helpless skiff eddying in the wake of an ocean-going tug.

Or if the countess failed to show up, Reggie was sure to appear. He would saunter up the lawn from the beach, grinning and impudently sure of his welcome, with his weary, old-young face looking like the face of a depraved cherub; he would say, airily, "Hello, soaks," and sprawl on the grass before them; and then, before he knew quite how it had happened, Paul would find that he and Ardath had hurried upstairs to change their clothes for a motor trip to Juan les Pins or some place.

There were dozens of villas along the coast, and Paul and Ardath had dined, teaed, danced, lunched and gone to costume balls, it seemed, in each one of them—and had, in turn, presided at similar functions in the Villa San Margarete in return. There were half a score of casinos, night clubs and similar attractions within two hours ride of the villa; Paul was familiar with all of them by now, knew them to the distraction of boredom, could remember in his sleep just how the head waiter in each one flourished his menu card, just how each exile-from-Broadway blues singer rolled her eyes, just how each trap drummer tossed his sticks in the air and caught them again.

"Aren't we," he asked Ardath one afternoon, as they emerged from their dip in the sea and made their way to the villa, "aren't we seeing just a little more than we really need to of these people?"

She did not answer until they had reached the door of her dressing room. She let him follow her in, and tossed her beach robe over a chair.

"Dearest, need we go all over that again?" she asked wearily. "We can't vegitate here in solitude, you know. And these people are nice. You used to like them . . . back in Northumbra."

He had, indeed, Paul reflected. The contrast which they gave to the unending stuffiness of palace life had seemed infinitely refreshing. But now . . . .

"I know," he said. "And yet—must we see them all the time?"

She removed her bathing cap and inspected her coiffure carefully.

"Would you prefer to go to Paris and mingle with the guests of the Duc de Montmiral?" she said. Paul flushed, remembering the mortifying outcome of his last effort to transfer his allegiance to a more serious class of society.

"After all," she said, "there's no harm in these people. Is it such a crime to get a little pleasure in life? Is it wrong to be lighthearted?"

Paul frowned thoughtfully.

"There is harm in some of them," he said. "Reggie Van Twyne's little excursion to that waterfront dive in Marseilles last week wasn't exactly the essence of childish innocence. And those two ballet dancers the countess has—"

"Oh," she cried angrily, "can't we be a little broadminded?"

And so it went; an argument that hung on, like a sullen thunder cloud that will not break, to darken the rest of the day for them. For they did not seem to be able to let an argument drop, these days. Now and then they had an outright quarrel. There were reconciliations afterward, of course—feverish reconciliations, in which they strained to each other, exhausted their vocabulary of endearments, and tried pathetically in a frenzy of love-making to reassure themselves that everything was not as it had been, and it grew harder each week to disguise the fact.

It was about this time that Paul fell into the habit of spending a night on his sloop now and then. The first time he did it followed a more than ordinarily heated spat with Ardath; sulkily, he collected sleeping garments and toilet articles and went down to the snug little cabin of the Irene. He awoke next morning, feeling unaccountably free and lighthearted.

He tried that remedy rather often, in succeeding weeks. Ardath seemed puzzled, at first, but she never uttered a word of protest. Paul began to suspect that as long as she was left free to guide them through the tortuous maze followed by the Countess de Marco and Reggie Van Twyne, she did not care greatly what he did. And his boat came more and more to seem like a haven to which he could escape at intervals and renew his strength.

It was after one of these nights on the Irene that Paul unintentionally brought about one of their sharpest quarrels.

The morning was bright and fresh. His body was tingling from his plunge in the bay; and he strode up to the villa whistling cheerfully, feeling that life was simple, after all. He went to Ardath's bedroom. She was propped up among the pillows, glancing at the morning mail and sipping a cup of tea from a bed tray.

Paul sat down beside her and slipped his arm about her shoulders.

"Dearest," he said. She smiled and nuzzled his chest playfully,

"I had a caller this morning on the boat," he said. "A little ragamuffin named Pierre. He's about 10 years old. His father runs that little tobacco shop at the end of the quay. Pierre swam all the way out to the boat to see me—it must have been half a mile. He came aboard as naked as a cherub. I put my bathrobe on him and we sat there and discussed the fishing business. He suggested that I take the Irene and go into the trade in earnest; he offered to be my manager and said he'd look out for my interests ashore and see that I got the best prices."

He grinned. "He's a great kid." Then he tightened his arm about her. "Ardath—couldn't we have a boy of our own?"

She said nothing. If she stiffened slightly beneath his arm he did not notice, so intent was he on developing the idea that had come to him.

"What a place to bring up a youngster!" he said. "He'd grow up brown as an Arab and strong as an ox. We could get a tutor down here, and when he was older he could go back to Northumbra to school. And we—we'd have some point to our lives, then, something real and great to bind us together and—"

"Paul!" she said, drawing away and turning to face him. "Are you insane?"

He stopped, taken completely aback, and stared at her.

"A baby!" she repeated. "Paul, what are you thinking of!"

He looked at her in mounting dismay.

"All because some street urchin swam out to your old boat! Paul, what could we do with a child if we had one? How could we bring up one here? And besides—" she put a hand on his wrist—"I'm getting on for 40, Paul. I'm not one of these healthy farm women. I'm—" she looked down at her slim, delicate body—"I couldn't. It might kill me."

Little red spots were glowing in her cheeks. Paul sat for a long minute, looking into her eyes, reading there nothing but defiance and angry surprise. At last he stood up.

"I'm sorry," he said, coldly. "I won't mention it again."

As he went to the balcony to wait for breakfast he let himself feel, for the first time since he had left Northumbra, that giving up his throne had been a terrible and irreparable mistake.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Rep. W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, dean of the legislature, served notice he will again introduce his sales tax proposal at the general session.

His bill, proposing a levy of one-half of one per cent on all retail transactions, died in committee at the special session last fall.

Pope says Texas ultimately will approve a sales tax "because it falls on everybody alike and is the fairest of taxes." He argues such a tax would leave most other sources of revenue to the cities and counties.

Gov. Allred probably will deliver a series of messages to the legislature. He thinks a message sometimes receives attention in inverse ration to its bulk and discussion of many subjects in a single document may create confusion.

Organized teachers of Texas are getting set to persuade the legislature to create a teachers retirement plan.

A constitutional amendment was adopted last summer authorizing the legislature to provide for retirement, but an enabling law will be necessary to put it into efefct.

A committee of the Texas State Teachers Association plans a meeting to draft a bill.

The Senate committee which investigated laws have prepared a bill, which Senator Olin Van Zandt of Tioga, a member, estimated would cost the state about $2,500,000 a year. Teachers would pay a little more than that out of their salaries.

Under the Senate bill, cost of administration would be borne by the teachers, and the amount they put up above that cost would be matched by the state.

Participation by teachers would be mandatory.

Rep. Wilson Fox of Taylor is expected to re-offer a constitutional amendment substituting a unicameral legislature for the traditional two chamber form.

Probably other members will have similar resolutions, several of which created considerable discussion at the session two years ago but got nowhere.

Proponents of a unicameral legislature argue it would make for greater efficiensy in government, while opponents claim it would destroy checks, found desirable from long experience, to inadvisable legislation.

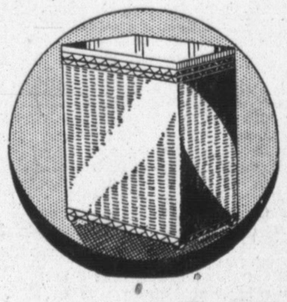

The 45th legislature is composed entirely of men, the first time in years a Texas legislature has not had a woman member.

Rep. Helen Moore of Texas City, the only woman in the last legislature, did not seek re-election because, she said, the position required too much time.

GIRLS' ACTIVITIES

Girls as well as boys make up the youth of Pampa.

Everybody knows this, but the fact often is overlooked when plans for the welfare of young Pampans are discussed. "Boys' work" has become a familiar phrase; nobody ever mentions girls' work. Annual campaigns raise funds to carry on a program benefiting boys; the girls get along as best they can.

Asked the reason, a Pampan might carelessly reply that girls are taken care of at home, but a moment's consideration would show the fallacy there. Girls no more spend all their time at home today than do boys; they are as eager for amusement and sport and adventure as are their brothers, and as likely to seek it where it can be found. Girls of 'teen-age are seldom found primly stitching samplers — why should they?

They are preparing for a life not to be spent entirely in the home. Most of them must choose a vocation and work as hard to make a living and a successful life as would a boy in the same circumstances. They need just as much guidance and help as boys.

Leaving out the question of the girl's individual needs, the city would do well to remember that improving its young manhood may be futile unless its girlhood is improved too. Boys trained in an expensive program are easily influenced by girls whose training has been ignored.

While waiting for somebody to do something about it, there is an immediate step that individuals interested in girls may take. A training class for Girl Scout leaders is scheduled here this month, and those willing to give some of their time to this girls' organization are urged to enrol. Opportunities for a Girl Scouting program here are shown in the one troop which has for the past two years had consistent leadership—its membership list is crowded, and its attendance record is impressive, in spite of the lack of public recognition, competition with other strong troops, and large courts of honor, such as aid interest in the boy's troops.

Other troops have disbanded because of lack of leadership. Anyone who wants to see some equal privileges for girls in Pampa is invited to attend the training class to learn of the duties, then assist some group of girls in character forming activities.

AMERICAN EDITORS CAN SAY WHAT THEY THINK

P. Milton Smith, aging editor of a California weekly newspaper, is not going to have to go to jail after all, even if he did call President Roosevelt a mountebank.

The grist of news is made up of many little items, some of them passing odd; but somehow the one about Mr. Smith strikes us as one of the most reassuring of recent months.

For here, once more, we have the court upholding the old right of the newspaper editor to say what he thinks about the politician. And if you think that right isn't important, consider what has happened in Italy, in Germany, and in Russia, where the right has disappeared.

Mr. Smith himself may not be particularly important, and neither is his opinion of Mr. Roosevelt. But that he should have the privilege of expressing that opinion as vehemently as the rules of decency permit is in the highest degree important.

It was late in November of last year that Mr. Smith sat down at his typewriter in the editorial sanctum of the Mountain View Weekly Register-Leader and undertook to get a peeve off his mind.

President Roosevelt, he wrote, is "a man universally hated for a smiling hypocrite, a mountebank of the lowest order, and the biggest 'false alarm' since the creation of man."

These strong words descended into the soul of a patriotic reader of the paper and rankled there. After due thought, the reader filed a complaint and had Editor Smith arrested on a charge of criminal libel.

But the case lasted only long enough to get the names of the parties involved onto the press association wires. It got into court the other day and was promptly thrown out on the ground that the language complained of did not go beyond the bounds of proper editorial discretion.

It is hard to see how anyone familiar with American laws of libel could have expected anything else. For if our press is to be free in any real sense, it must be permitted to express any opinion it cares to hold about any officeholder in the land—even though that opinion is grotesquely at variance with the majority opinion of the citizens.

For here is a thing we often forget about the freedom of the press: if it means anything at all, it means that an editor has a right to be wrong—to be willfully, flagrantly, cock-eyedly wrong, if he chooses.

His readers can stop reading his paper, if they please; they cannot have him shut up by law, unless they are ready to throw overboard the whole structure of American freedom.

What Editor Smith thinks of President Roosevelt doesn't matter. His right to say what he thinks, however, matters tremendously to everyone who has any regard for the republic's tradition of liberty.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION

KPDN listeners throughout the entire Texas Panhandle yesterday were doubly thrilled when they heard the excellent re-broadcast of the Inaugural Day events from both the United States and the Netherlands; and when they heard the magic words identifying a famous coast-to-coast network:

"This is the Columbia Broadcasting System."

To give credit where it is due, yesterday's re-broadcasts were made possible to listeners of the Daily NEWS station through the generosity and the courtesy of Herbert Akerberg, executive vice president of that far-flung network—The Columbia Broadcasting System — and Emil Gough, executive vice president of Hearst Radio, Inc., which owns and operates the 5,000 watt Oklahoma City station, KOMA, under the general managership of young and energetic Neal Barrett. These three radio officials cooperated in making it possible for Panhandle listeners to hear this outstanding series of re-broadcasts via the CBS which is famed for its production of special events.

From the voices of H. V. Kaltenborn, Boake Carter, Bob Trout and his staff, to the ringing of the carrillon bells in Amsterdam and the voice of President Roosevelt, the broadcasts moved swiftly, clearly and with the customary brilliance of production which marks the CBS. KPDN realizes full well that Mr. Akerberg's permission in no way set a precedent for any future broadcasts from Columbia, but KPDN and, we believe, the entire group of Texas Panhandle listeners express their appreciation to the men who made the re-broadcasts possible.

There are opera singers, too, with a sense of humor. Giovanni Martinelli says it's true that cigarets "never make his throat sore," because he has never smoked one in his life.

Washington Letter

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—A negro messenger recently was observed staggering across Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House, heavily laden with a pile of bound, typewritten pages about two feet high.

If it had been known in time what he was carrying, he almost certainly would have been waylaid by 10 cabinet members, a hundred bureau chiefs and commissioners, and a small army of other New Deal officials.

For the messenger's load was the report of the president's committee on reorganization of government—consisting of Louis Brownlow, Charles E. Merriam, and Luther Gulick.

Significance of this doesn't rest in the curious fact that the report wasn't toted in a taxi or a government wagon, but in the insistence of those who saw the pile that only a small portion of the committee's actual report has been transmitted to Congress.

Roosevelt gave Congress only 47 pages, which laid down general principles and outlined specifically only those broad, major changes recommended by the committee which require congressional action.

* * *

The actual program for regrouping more than a hundred government agencies, commissions, and bureaus—including such big ones as WPA, PWA, Social Security, CCC, and TVA—there is every reason to believe, is locked up in the president's desk for use after Congress gives him power to use it.

An enormous amount of subterranean lobbying, directed at the White House, already has begun. Many officials suspect they know what's in the suppressed bulk of the Brownlow report and are bringing such pressure as they can in case where they don't like it.

Roosevelt seeks to give the impression that, aside from creation of the Social Welfare and Public Works Departments, the White House secretariat expansion, and other phases of his congressional message, the program isn't worked out—implying that nothing else is a final decision.

* * *

Neatly and as if without guile, the president, in his special press conference on reorganization, sought to spike the guns of Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, chairman of a Senate committee on reorganization, who keeps insisting that hundreds of millions of dollars can be saved through pruning and reorganization.

Explaining why no appreciable saving could be made without elimination or curtailment of federal functions—by "doing less work," which is not a matter of reorganization—the president suggested that by consolidation of overlapping functions the federal government probably could save proportionately as much as states which had reorganized their governments "with great public acclaim."

He mentioned New York, Maine, Virginia, and other states. Then he said that in no case did any state reduce expenses more than 1½ per cent through reorganization, or less than ½ per cent.

Byrd's chief claim as a reorganization expert rests on the fact that, as governor, he supervised a consolidation in Virginia which merged 95 departments into 11 departments and two agencies.

Roosevelt didn't say whether Virginia had saved 1½ per cent or ½ per cent, but no correspondent was so dull-witted as to miss the point.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK — Helen Broderick, like Dorothy Parker, can utter extremely telling criticisms when the occasion seems to warrant them.

Becoming famished during recent rehearsals of her Twin Star program, this actress wife of Melvyn Douglas ordered lunch from a nearby delicatessen. The appetizers were elegant but when she came to the steak sandwich she beckoned to a page.

"Son," she said, "run across the street and get me an onion sandwich. And while you are there tell the chef I'm having this steak tanned and designed into a wallet for Victor Moore."

Withal their excessive temperamental natures and exacting attitudes, singers seldom insure themselves against laryngitis, or other ailments of the throat. Indeed, they are a most careless tribe. Lauritz Melchoir smokes innumerable big black cigars before an operatic or concert engagement. Elisabeth Rethberg thinks nothing of romping hatless through the snow. Ezio Pinza strides about town with wintry blasts howling through his open coat.

On the other hand, Eugene Ormandy — who conducts from memory—was offered a policy that guarantees his presence of mind during important engagements with the Philadelphia orchestra. The salesman beat a hasty exist upon reading a story that it took Ormandy five years to remember who borrowed his violin.

Which reminds that I arrived at a reception recently just in time to hear Jascha Heifetz say:

"Of course, my Strad and Guarnerius are insured heavily, but I have never had five cents insurance on my fingers."

"You haven't, Jascha?"

"Insurance on my hand would make me self-conscious," he explained. "It bothers an artist to think too much of his technical equipment."

Ferde Grofe, composer of the "Grand Canyon Suite," has planned a startling innovation for his Carnegie Hall concert late in January. A 60-piece orchestra will present a series of hitherto unplayed manuscripts, including his "Ode to Will Rogers," which has never been heard away from the privacy of his home.

But, the highlight of his concert will be a new suite, "Hollywood Ballet," in which Fred Astaire will be represented by trap drum and ocarino, Greta Garbo by bull fiddle, and—but he's keeping the rest of his caricatures a secret. It ought to be fun—if Hollywood can take it.

Most of Manhattan's fortune tellers now use champagne bubbles instead of tea leaves.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

SORE MUSCLES

When muscles are sore, no matter what the cause may be, warmth, massage, liniment and rest will yield beneficial results. But if prevention of recurrence and permanent relief are desired, the cause of the muscular soreness must be defined and, where possible, eliminated.

Stiff and sore muscles are technically called fibrositis. In this condition there is an exudation, that is, an escape of fluids, usually serum, into the muscle tissues and into the tendons and ligaments. On careful examination of the affected muscles with the finger tips, small nodules may be felt within the muscles proper and around their attachments to the bony structures.

The fibrositis causes aching pains, often severe. The pain becomes worse when the involved muscles are stretched.

The common causes of fibrositis are chill, injury, fatigue and infection. When all the muscles of the body ache, or as one is likely to say, "ache all over," it is a "general fabrositis." In such a case we must look for some focus of infection as its possible source. Diseased tonsils, diseased teeth or sinus infection may be responsible for the periodic appearance of generalized fibrositis.

Chill will causes fibrositis of muscles that are on stretch and also when it operates for a long time on muscles that are fatigued. Thus, a tired man asleep in a draft or in cool air may fall an easy victim.

Acute or chronic fatigue, bad posture, work that requires much bending, faulty position when asleep, violent physical exercise at the end of the day when the muscles are already tired, may bring on fibrositis.

Lumbago is a form of fibrositis. Occasionally the muscles between the ribs become affected. In this condition the symptoms resemble those of pleurisy.

The essential treatment of fibrositis is local. Massage is of value. This should be administered gently at first, more vigorously later. Massage should be followed by complete rest and warmth.

Symptomatic treatment is, however, not enough. The underlying cause of the fabrositis should be sought and eliminated.

Talks to parents

EQUALITY.

By Brooke Peters Church.

Reading descriptions of the households of New England three generations ago, one is struck again and again by the freedom and democracy of family life.

In the average household of any breeding, there was no tyranny of old or young. Children were given their share of free expression with due deference granted to the wider experience of maturity. There was no self-consciousness about it. No one started a movement for the freeing of children from oppressive parents. Psychology was still in its infancy, and Child Culture had not been invented.

Possibly because children were not yet put under the microscope and regarded as a separate species, they had more of a chance to be individuals. And because fathers and mothers were busy at work of some importance, whether farming, manufacture, teaching, or running the house, the children regarded them as individuals, instead of cogs in the machinery of child welfare.

We of this generation are inclined to look back with scorn at the dark ages when children were accepted as necessary gifts of God, and permitted to grow up any which way. Out of that haphazard background, however, came men and women of world renown.

From babyhood up, the child was an integral part of family life. He took part in its duties, shared its pleasures, and was a separate entity, with likes and dislikes, and personal tastes and peculairities.

Today much is given to children as a group, and little or nothing is asked of them in return. Children and parents both have lost inestimably as a result. There can be no exchange of thought between different species, which is what the older and younger generations have become.

Plans were announced for piping Gray county gas southward, to Memphis, Wellington, and other cities off the plains.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS.

HOLLYWOOD—He seemed such a "normal" young man, so pleasantly normal. After two hours or so with him—a visit intended to produce "copy"—I got back to the mill and started to write about him. After half an hour I gave it up and wrote about something else.

I might have written, of course, about his ranch life, or his ship models, or his being "on the wagon." He had asked me out to his place—10 acres in Encino—for lunch.

It was a nice little place, set back from the road. It had a shielded badminton court, and further back was the barnyard, with pigs and goats, chickens and ducks lazing away a golden summer noon. Off a piece was the orchard—walnuts mainly, as I recall it.

He Slept Late.

Our host, looking very athletic as all good screen actors should, had been sleeping late that morning and was clad informally in sweater and slacks and bedroom slippers. There were two other guests, and he was chatting away, sipping soda pop himself but offering heartier appetizers to the visitors.

Under triple interrogation, he gave forth—with becoming modesty, self-ridicule and some wit—various anecdotes about his entrance into pictures, his previous career on the stage, and so on. It was clear that he was taking his career in stride, neither too seriously nor too lightly.

At luncheon the talk was mostly of ship models. He had some beauties on display, and he talked with glowing enthusiasm about their relative perfections and flaws. He collected them, but did not try to build them himself. I remember now there was general laughter when our host, who kept bachelor quarters, rang for dessert and was told there wasn't any because he had forgotten to mention it.

"Running a house," he sighed, "is complicated business."

Nobody wanted dessert, anyway, and after a while he and I, leaving the others, went on a tour of inspection. He showed me all his animals and discoursed upon the habits of squab and lovebirds.

Liked the Farm.

"I like it out here," he said. "It's away from everything, and yet close in. I'm not a real farmer, though. I have a man who takes care of things. I just rent the place—but I love it. It's peaceful. . . ."

That, I assumed, was because real tragedy had struck at him a few months before. His wife had committed suicide because, he said, she could not break into films. We didn't talk about that.

Back at the mill, as I said, it was tough winnowing anything worth writing about out of those two hours. He was a nice guy, getting ahead in pictures, but after all—a hundred actors live on little ranches, collect things, go periodically "on the wagon" and like animals. I skipped it until another day.

Next I heard about him he had eloped to Yuma with a leading lady, and after that—well, you read about it the other day.

His name, of course, was Ross Alexander.

LUBBOCK'S BEST BASKETBALL TEAM IN YEARS TO PLAY HERE TONIGHT

ABERNATHY TO PLAY HERE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

PLAINVIEW TO BE FOE ON SATURDAY EVENING

The Westerner basketball team which will clash with the Pampa Harvesters at the local gym at 7:30 o'clock this evening, stands out as one of the best cage aggregations Lubbock high school has boasted in the last few years, and has attracted quite a following on the South Plains, according to reports from the Hub City.

Some of the largest crowds ever to attend high school games at Lubbock have watched previous encounters this season. The Westerner gymnasium is usually packed for games in which the Westerners play, according to the Lubbock Journal. The Westerners usually win.

The Panhandle Basketball league season will open tonight with Coach Goober Keyes' Lubbock Westerners combating the Harvesters of Coach Odus Mitchell. Coach Keyes will probably start his usual first string combination, consisting of L. D. Venable and Virgle Simmons at forwards, H. P. Ford at Center, Ralph Letsinger and Arvie Lee Oden at guards.

The Westerner starters include regulars from last season's team and 1936 lettermen. Venable, Letsinger and Oden were 1936 starters and Simmons and Ford were substitutes.

Comprising the Panhandle league are the Class A football schools—Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview, Pampa, Borger. The teams play a round robin schedule for the championship, which has no bearing on the Texas Interscholastic league race. Pampa has won the class A title the last three years, and the Interscholastic title for the same period.

The Abernathy quintet which won the district tournament at Lubbock last year, will play here tomorrow night. The Abernathy club gave the Harvesters an impressive whipping when the Pampans took a South Plains junket Christmas. Leading the Abernathy team is probably the tallest and best center in the Panhandle. He also hits the basket with amazing frequency and from incredible positions.

The improvement of the Harvesters should stand out in the game against Abernathy tomorrow night. The Abernathy boys almost doubled the score on the Pampans on their home court, the count being 31 to 16. Abernathy is still favored, but is not expected to win by a big margin. Lubbock lays claim to the best team on the South Plains, and the Westerners believe they could swamp Plainview, Abernathy, Lamesa or any other club South Plains coaches can muster.

The Plainview Bulldogs will be here Saturday night for the Harvesters' second Panhandle league game.

The Pampa team will not play again until next Tuesday night when McLean's Tigers will play a return game here.

Claude Heiskell, Harvester guard, may not be in the starting lineup tonight. He was suffering from a bad cold and did not report for practice yesterday afternoon. If Heiskell does not start, Richard Kilgore will. The rest of the lineup will probably find Dewey and Cox at the forward positions, Ayer at center and Reynolds at guard.

The revised schedule as announced by Coach Mitchell follows:

Jan. 22—Abernathy—here.
Jan. 23—Plainview—here.
Jan. 25—Borger—there.
Jan. 26—McLean—here.
Jan. 29—Amarillo—there.
Feb. 2 — Phillips (Whittenburg) — there.
Feb. 4—Tulia—here.
Feb. 5 — Lubbock—there.
Feb. 6—Plainview—there.
Feb. 9—Panhandle—here.
Feb. 12—Amarillo—here.
Feb. 13—Floydada—here.
Feb. 19-20—district meet—here.

FAMED COACH EMPLOYS MAN TO MAN DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Clair Lee, Long Island University basketball coach, is one man who does not hold the newest is always the best.

He goes back to the first official rules for the basis of the system which has carried his court teams to victory in all but 12 of their 121 games since he came to the New York institution in 1931.

His current five boasted 43 straight victories until beaten by Stanford's zone defense, and has won 49 of its last 50 games.

While not opposing the zone defense which features set blocks, fast breaks and following the ball rather than the man, Bee's team stresses a man-for-man defense as an argument for his style of play. He refers to the first official rules, published in 1894 and edited by Dr. James Naismith, originator of the game at Springfield college, which counseled:

"When the opponents have the ball, stick to your man like glue."

RAMS WIN 27-22

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Texas Wesleyan college Rams found their goal-shooting range last night as they turned back the Daniel Baker Hill Billies 27 to 22. "Red" Rutledge, Ram guard, sparked the Wessleyan attack with brilliant floor work. Pigg of T. W. C. was high scorer with 11 points.

The American flag was hoisted over Wake Island, in mid-Pacific, July 4, 1898, by Gen. F. V. Greene.

Phillips Oilers Win 32 To 26 Game At Shamrock

HOPKINS, Jan. 21 (AP)—Hopkins basketball teams split games in Shamrock Tuesday night, the Whirlwinds taking a 40 to 10 beating by the Shamrock school team and the Phillips 66 Oilers winning a 32 to 26 game from the Shamrock Independents.

McLemore looped 20 points for the Shamrock school team. Buice, Purcell, Holmes and Harris comprised the starting lineup. Isaacs, Caperton, Howell and Brown were substitutes.

Hopkins played the game with Haughwout, S. Cox, Termin, Keil and Stone.

The Windom brothers led the Phillips attack in the nightcap affair. Weston, Baccus, Monroe, Laycock and R. Dewey were other Oilers in the lineup.

Moss and Rush were the Irish leading lights. Walker, Kavanaugh and Bland rounded out the team.

Last night the Hopkins Whirlwinds won a spectacular 17 to 15 game from the LeFors juniors, in an overtime period.

Sport Sparks

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Jan. 21 (AP)—Repeat on a previous forecast: Look for Blair Cherry of Amarillo as Dana X. Bible's right hand man at the University of Texas. . The Golden Sandstorm coach recently remarked he would take the Texas assistant's post only under Bible.

Lutcher Stark(chairman of the Texas regents, favors paying the University president $25,000 annually and the athletic head $15,000. . . . Lloyd Gregory, Houston Post, columning: "The opportunity to employ a man of Bible's character seldom comes to any school. . . It is true University of Texas will have to pay well for his services. . . . Bible is well worth whatever it takes to get him. . . He wants no dealings with boys who come to college merely to play football. . . He believes football always should be secondary to class work."

Out of thes mass of letters received by Fort Worth's Star-Telegram in a contest to determine what Sammy Baugh should do with himself, comes this note from Venus, Texas. . . "Go back to Mesquite county, Sammy, and enter politics . . . West Texas is a big country and needs its big boys." Few remembers that Baugh is some shakes as a box fighter. . . He once fought on the same card with Jack Dempsey at Abilene.

Eighteen-year-old, 234 - pound Babe Ritchie, Lubbock high school football star, is the sensation of the Golden Gloves amateur fight tourney. . . He humiliated two Texas Tech footballers in the West Texas elimination bouts, flooring both Jesse Browning, Red Raider tackle, and Red Ramsey, a Little All-America end. . . Ritchie stands six feet four inches and ring veterans say he shows promise.

Tiny "Slick" Thompson, 115 pounds, five foot, five inch forward on Fort Worth's Polytechnic high school team, is one of the sharpest goal shooters in schoolboy circles. . . He roped 14 points in his last appearance again W. K. Stripling high. . . Shoots most of his points one-handed and back over his head.

Burly Joe Routt, Texas A. & M.'s All-America guard who once was his county wrestling champion and who quit boxing at Aggieland because of absence of competition, withdrew from the Golden Gloves tourney because of a badly swollen hand. . . Bone specialists advised him against fighting. . . He has one more year of football. . . Bill Harris, Hardin-Simmons ' veteran end, has signed a pro contract with the New York Giants and Pete Tyler, his halfback teammate, will try it with the Chicago Cards. . . Herschel (Mule) Stockston, bulky McMurry tackle, get a tryout with the Cards also. . . Strong Central Texas teams have entered the Temple Telegram's annual high school cage tourney Saturday.

'BEET WICHITA FALLS EVERY GAIM,' RICKARD WROTE PAL

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP)—The late Tex Rickard, who braved the dangers of Alaska to find gold and later became the dauntless premier showman of the world, didn't want his "ma" to know he had gone to the Yukon.

That intimate fact and numerous others are revealed in letters written 40 years ago by Rickard from Juneau, Alaska, to his boyhood chum, E. S. Matlock, now of Phoenix.

They are written in an almost illegible scrawl and the spelling is poor.

When 27 years old Rickard left his job as town marshal of Henrietta, Tex., to follow the Alaskan gold rush.

A letter written Dec. 9, 1895, from Juneau told how he acquired his nickname, "Tex."

"Dear old friend:

"We had a jolly good trip. This country is like old times. Everybody has money.

"By the way, I have got a nick naim. The people on the boat cald me Tex and everybody in Juneau calls me that and it will stay with me as long as I stay here."

His next letter to Matlock is dated Feb. 22, 1896, shortly before he left for the Yukon.

"I am going to leave here on the 15th of April," he wrote. "I am going to the Yukon. Don't tell Ma I am going to the Yukon. I told her I would not go and I don't want her to know it until I get ready to go.

"Well, I guess you boys will soon commence to play ball. Don't let Wichita Falls beet you all. I want you all to beet them every gaim this year and do Bowie the same."

Matlock said today Jack Dempsey, who rose to fame during the height had asked for one of the yellowed, crumbling letters as a keepsake but Matlock declined to part with them.

FIELD TRIALS ARE POPULAR

WEST TEXAS MAY GO IN FOR SPORT, SAYS WRITER

HOUSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Prexy Anderson, sports writer for the Abilene Morning News, says West Texas may go in for field trials next winter. He says F. L. Pinkston, owner of a blooded liver and white pointer, is backing a move to inaugurate the out-door sport somewhere in the vicinity of Abilene.

"Other cities of the section are bird-dog conscious," Anderson says. "One of the best known breeders of Irish setters in the United States is Mose Newman of Sweetwater, who has 50 or 60 dogs. Lee Hansen of Big Spring is the owner of Hi Tene Tony, 10-year-old Lewellen setter that five or six years ago was chicken and quail champion. Another 'dog rancher' of note is John Francis Brown of Wingate who interests himself in both setters and pointers."

Among owners of fine bird-dogs at Abilene are Bob Rankin, Pat Hennigan, John Higdon, Herman McDaniel, Dr. G. M. Gillespie, Earl Guitar, R. J. Jones, and W. D. Johnson.

Few dogs from West Texas have been entered in the state's various field trials—at Bethel, Jacksonville, King Ranch, Goliad, Blessing and elsewhere, but quail hunting is a popular sport in that section. Perhaps one of the best blooded dogs in Texas is Bob Rankin's Abilene Seaview Rex, two and a half-year old grandson of famous Seaview Rex.

South and East Texas are full of fine bird-dogs and the rapidly-increasing interest in field trials is reflected in the growing entry-list in the various events. In Houston the subject of pointers and setters is as popular as that of speckled trout and black bass.

The Texas field trials club had trouble with its big event at Bethel, bad weather causing postponements. The delays made dog owners restless. Many of the dogs entered came from other states.

The Derden plantation, on which the Texas club has its courses, is a fine quail preserve. The birds are protected all year and the supply is increased by importation, or "planting."

One of the largest private game preserves in the nation is near Wellington in Collingsworth county on the famous Cottonwood ranch. Quail, wild turkey, and other game are fed and protected. No permits are granted for hunting except to friends of the owners. The Cottonwood, founded by the late Col. William E. Hughes, originally was part of the wide-spread Mill Iron ranch. Of Scottish ancestry, Col. Hughes decreed hunting regulations along the line of tradition among his people in Scotland.

One rule was that birds should not be killed in excess of table needs. The tradition still exists. A granddaughter of Col. Hughes, the former Clifton Springer who married L. M. Hughes, son of the Colonel's banking partner, owns the ranch. Although hunting is not allowed, the big preserve is worth a lot to Panhandle nimrods. It is over-run with quail and many of the birds wander from the preserve and increase the quail stock in a wide section.

$10,000 GOLF TOURNEY MAY BE HELD IN CHI

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Chicago will brighten the summer campaign of the boys who play golf for a living with an open tournament that may offer as much as $10,000 in prize money.

The event, 72 holes of medal play, will be staged in June by the Chicago district golf association, probably the week following the national open title battle at the Oakland Hills country club near Detroit. The open will be played June 10-12, and the C. D. G. A. board of directors, which approved the plan last night, figures to catch the championship field on the first bounce.

Details, the site, date and the amount of money to be used as a lure, will be settled Jan. 28 at a meeting of representatives of the association's 57 member clubs. Firing probably will start June 17, with four days of action at 18 holes each. However, the start may be delayed until June 18, with two 18-hole days and a final assignment of 36 holes.

QUAIL CAGERS BEAT McLEAN

THREE GAMES PLAYED AT McLEAN ON TUESDAY

McLEAN, Jan. 22.—Three snappy basketball games were played in the high school gymnasium Tuesday night with Quail providing the opposition. The Quail boys and girls won games from McLean while the McLean Independents took a battle from the visiting independents.

The scores:

Quail girls 44, McLean girls 17.
Quail boys 28, McLean boys 18.
Quail independents 26, McLean independents 32.

Despite the fact that Julia McCarty of McLean looped 15 points, her teammates were unable to stave off the Quail sharpshooters, led by Thurman with 20 points and followed by Weaver with 12. Lee and Atkinson looped the remaining points.

Young, Tidwell, McCarty, V. Clemmons, M. L. Clemmons, Gunn and Cramer rounded out the McLean sextet.

Cleveland, Quail's ace marksman, proved too much for the Tigers. He made 11 points to lead the scoring. Sanders followed with 8, followed by Robinson 4, Melton 3, Coldiron 2.

McLean lined up with Terrell 5, Bogan 3, Floyd 4, Dwight 3, Hiel 2.

McLean's Independents gained a victory through smooth handling of the ball and Hill's deadly shooting for 13 points. Reynolds and Brodies added 8 each. Barker, Ward, Hicks and J. Ward rounded out the lineup.

Bradley looped 12 points for McLean and Gausnell had one less. Sanders, Robinson, Melton, Graham, Cleveland and Coldiron were other Quail players.

FOOTBALL SWEATERS GIVEN GRID PLAYERS

McLEAN, Jan. 21—Football sweaters were given members of the McLean Tiger football team in a special chapel program. The regulars received black slip-on sweaters with a gold M. Reserve sweaters were gold with a black M.

Those receiving black were: Williams, Laswell, Overton, Barnes, Wingo, Hess, Dwight, Nicholson, Norman, Hiel, Humphries, Finley, Bogan; reserves: Mantooth, Ivey, Turner, McCarty, Jones, Wells.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Harry Kipke is temporarily off the spot at Michigan but the fight's not over. . . By a strange and sudden reversal of public opinion, the wolves are now howling at Fielding Yost. . . In the middle of the hulabaloo to replace Kipke, H. G. Salsinger, sports columnist of the Detroit News, wrote: "Kipke may have been head coach in public theory but never in fact. Yost remained in supreme command. He selected Kipkpe's assistants and ruled the style of play." . . Immediately sentiment changed. . . Kipke was signed for another year, and alumni screamed at Yost to keep hands off. . . Don't let anybody tell you that Vines-Perry series is just an act. . . They both like to win too well. . . The golfing wanderers are complaining that Ralph Guldahl is playing much too slowly. . . Clark Griffith, Senators' chief, has declared war on Catcher Shanty Hogan. . . "Griff" has issued orders that Hogan will either report to spring training weighing less than 225 pounds or pay his own training expenses until he gets to 225.

George Halas of the Chicago football Bears is angling for Nello Falaschi, the 212-pound Santa Clara quarterback. . . You might as well have the full name: It's Robert William Andrew Feller. . . And boy, that's worth plenty in the right spot.

Until Harold "Bud" Foster became a star athlete and subsequently Wisconsin's basketball coach, his greatest claim to fame was that he was about the biggest baby ever born in Kansas. . . He weighed 13 3-4 pounds, and if you don't believe it, run down to Newton, Kas., some day and ask the natives. . . Sam Parks, one of the nicest guys who ever missed a putt, has taken some unmerciful criticism since he won the 1935 national open. . . But the worst crack of all came the other day from a coast scribe who accused Sam of getting married so that he'd have somebody to watch him play in the tournaments.

Tests at the Missouri College of Agriculture showed a bushel of ground wheat is approximately 20 per cent more valuable as a hog feed than a bushel of corn.

CHERRY MIGHT BE ASSISTANT TO DANA BIBLE

STATEMENT PROMISED BY MEMBER OF BOARD

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 21 (AP)—A protracted secret consultation between Dana X. Bible, Nebraska football coach, and University of Texas officials led many to believe today the veteran mentor would be the Longhorn coach next year.

On the other hand, there were those who believed the drawn-out conference which started yesterday had struck a snag which might result in declaring all negotiations off.

H. H. Weinert of Seguin, chairman of the board of regents' athletic committee, promised a statement today.

Should the university fail to employ Bible, J. C. Dolley, chairman of the athletic council, said that body would renew its search for a suitable candidate to recommend to the board.

A suggested bone of contention was President H. Y. Benedict's known objection to a coach's salary higher than his own of $8,000 or the highest-paid professor's of $5,000 a year. Bible was reported to have asked $15,000 with an ample amount for assistants plus a contract of from five to 10 years. The board recently approved paying a high salary to a coach.

Bible's teams have won 147 games, tied 16 and lost 42. At Texas A. & M. college, where he coached from 1917 to 1928, inclusively, his elevens won five southwest conference championships. His Nebraska teams won six out of eight Big Six conference titles.

The University of Nebraska was reported to be making no effort to retain him by topping Texas' offer. Bible had said he was well satisfied with his position as director of the Cornhuskers' athletic activities.

One development was a conference between Bible and Ted Twomey, first assistant to Jack Chevigny, retired, which gave rise to speculation as to whether Twomey might be retained as line coach. Twomey's contract expired Dec. 31. He was, until last week, an applicant for the head coaching job, but withdrew.

A rumor was that Blair Cherry, coach of the Amarillo state high school champions, would be employed as freshman coach. Cherry also applied for the coaching position and was thought by some to be an alternate to Bible in the council's recommendations to the board.

WARRIOR FOOTBALLERS ARE GIVEN SWEATERS

MIAMI, Jan. 21 — Members of the Miami Warrior football squad were surprised in chapel this week when they were presented with sweaters. The boys were unaware that the awards had been contemplated this year.

Coach Claude Daniels presented the following boys with sweaters:

Lewis Locke, Franklin Russell, Newt Craig, Frank Craig, J. W. Thompson, Jack Osborne, Bill Bursley, LeRoy Murry, Bryce Hubbard, R. D. Drumm; managers sweaters and Coach Daniels. Joe Boyd, Jr., was also awarded a sweater and it was sent to him at Paducah where he moved with his parents before the close of the football season.

FAMED POLO PLAYERS VISIT LLANO FRIENDS

LLANO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Cecil Smith and W. H. (Rube) Williams, famous ex-cowboy polo players, en route to California, visited relatives here recently. Smith, Texas' top-ranking star, will play polo on the Pacific coast the next few months on a team with Charles B. Wrightsman, three-goal player of Houston with whom he teamed in England, and in Florida last winter.

Other members of the team, Smith said, will be Eric H. Tyrrell-Martin, eight-goal player and captain of the British team in the international series last summer, and Laddie Sanford, Long Island star.

Smith recently was raised from eight to nine goals by the United States Polo Association handicap committee, but holds a ten-goal rating under British handicapping.

Wrightsman recently shipped 11 ponies, including several from Argentina, from San Antonio to California. Smith shipped 10 mounts, and Williams 15. J. B. Gilmore, five-goal player, will be with Williams, in California, his string numbering 15. The mounts of Smith, Williams and Gilmore were bought in the ranching section of Texas last fall and schooled at George Miller's field at San Antonio.

The Texas stars will return to San Antonio early in April and in May will ship east for the summer polo season on Long Island. Smith and Williams are scions of pioneer ranching families of Llano.

Kansas is named after a tribe of Sioux Indians, the name signifying "People of the South Wind."

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. Is "Mukewater" a creek in Brown county, an Indian name? T. G.

A. The creek was named for Mukewaka, an Indian chief, "Muke, water" being the Texas version.

Q. What is meant by a "running brand" used by some early cattlemen? H. L.

A. A "running brand" was one made with a small rod, the letters, figures, signs or symbols being written on the animals with the red hot end of the rod, instead of being stamped on with a red hot design.

Q. Why was Midland so named? K. B.

A. Because of its location midway between Fort Worth and El Paso, being by rail exactly 307 miles from both places.

Q. Where is Quemado valley and what does the name mean? U. K. L.

A. It is in Maverick county. Quemado is a Spanish word meaning "burnt." There is a tradition, due to appearance of the soil, that the valley was "burnt" over in a volcanic eruption centuries ago.

Q. Why was Austin selected to command the "Volunteer Army of Texas" of 1835? H. L. B.

A. There was much rivalry and jealousy among leading Texans best versed in military affairs, who were seeking their own advancement, and while he admittedly knew little of such things, and was wholly without experience, Austin was selected to keep the greatest harmony in the "Army."

Q. What were the original counties of the Republic of Texas? R. B.

A. Austin, Brazoria, Bexar, Sabine, Gonzales, Goliad, Harrisburg, Jasper, Jefferson, Liberty, Matagorda, Mina, Nacogdoches, Red River, Victoria, San Augustine, Shelby, Refugio, San Patricio, Washington, Milam, Jackson, Colorado.

Informed banking opinion is that clearing house institutions outside of the larger cities are planning to reduce interest rates on time deposits. The move is already afoot where banks can't find suitable loans for funds on hand. Another factor is the small return obtained from existing investments. Larger cities will not act on interest rates until they see what the results are from the move in smaller places.

CUTTING

A price war has broken out in the can container manufacturing industry. This is factual despite the fact that officials of Continental Can, American Can, and National Can refuse to admit it. According to those in the trade the battle has only started.

Crown Cork & Seal is in the field with a new Philadelphia plant. It's capacity is currently 7,500,000 cans daily. But that will be enlarged. The plant is operated as the Crown Can Company—which is a subsidiary. And Owens Bottle, too, is in the tin container industry.

Trade reports are that Crown Can is offering deliveries at $1 per carload lot under prices quoted by the Big Three. Owens Bottle will do likewise. Insiders say that the price cutting will account for lower revenues to the Big Three manufacturers. Thus the bad market action of the Continental Can and American Can shares is explained.

★ ★ ★

ADVANCE

Steel wire prices are to be increased from $3 to $5 per ton. Those companies which will benefit most are Gulf States Steel, Pittsburgh Steel, Continental Steel and Keystone Steel & Wire. The latter will reap the lion's share since close to 75 per cent of its output is steel wire. The advance is expected to be announced within the next thirty days.

★ ★ ★

DENIED

Rumors have been flying hard and fast about a pending American Woolen recapitalization plan. The dope was that it would be announced most any day. On this gossip the preferred shares spurted rather sharply. They fell sharply when no official confirmation could be obtained. The issue carries accumulations of $60 a share.

An informed source disclosed that there's nothing new in the picture. It was confidentially disclosed that directors of the organization have not discussed the matter in any formal way calling for recapitalization action.

★ ★ ★

CAFERUL

The search for liberal income which was formerly concentrated in rail bonds has been switched into second-grade utilities. There's investment buying reported coming into that section of the list. This because political fears overhanging the industry have worn off. Another contributing factor for the renewed interest is the knowledge in underwriting houses that many issues are to be refunded. Since quite a few of the list can be bought below call price levels there's some buying for appreciation possibilities. But—bond dealers warn—the friendly attitude towards the utility securities will fade should the administration again show signs of a yardstick rate fight.

SPECULATIVE

As a steel organization O. A. Smith has been doing nicely. Due to the mechanization of its plants the organizations isn't expected to be troubled by labor difficulties. The new interest in the shares is attributed to other than steel producing reasons. Here's the inside story: The company has gone into the mining business. Of course for ore but not the kind used in steel production. It is developing a gold mining lease in Nevada. Insiders say that progress made this far is encouraging. Based upon gold production possibilities there has been speculative buying of the shares.

★ ★ ★

BETTER

This is the time of the year when speculative attention turns to the farm implement shares. The approach of spring means increased deliveries to dealers. Since higher commodity prices rule, increased planting is anticipated. Earnings for 1935 were the best since 1930. Farm implement trade insiders are of the opinion that 1937 will be a banner year for income. They expect the 1936 nets to be bettered by at least twenty per cent.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Regardless of fact that Ford is to manufacture his tire requirements Firestone will not be least affected . . . Chrysler and Ford Motors took advantage of General Motors' labor difficulties—the GM loss can't be regained . . . . Chesapeake & Ohio's net was $5.50 a share—so disclosed in this column as early as first week in December . . . Martin-Perry all set to manufacture asbestos-filled steel-insulated wall board . . . E. W. Bliss to open its Cleveland plant to fill $1,000,000 United States Steel contract—company netted $1.20 last year . . . Burroughs Adding Machine dividend to be lifted . . . Canada Dry's earnings coming from increased sales and not credit collections . . . R. H. Macy will show $2.80 a share for fiscal year ending January 31 . . . American Can and Continental Can have lost their long-pull following . . .

Sharon Steel's 1936 net ran close to $3 a share—not included in any pending steel company mergers . . . Public active in 'cheap metals' hoping for big profits—Big Boys getting out of good ones . . . Northern Pacific to place orders for 2,000 gondola cars . . . Airplane shares moving against adverse news which isn't favorable signal marketwise—shows speculative activity . . . Outlook for Purity Bakeries is better . . Investment trusts benefit from price advance in shares of Westinghouse Electric and General Electric—held positions for many months . . . And, that General Food netted "well over $2.50 a share for 1936"—payrolls last year were largest in company's history.

HURLING IS NATIONAL GAME IN IRELAND THE YEAR AROUND

WASHINGTON, Jan 21 (AP) — Although the Irish say they originated baseball, the game isn't played in Ireland now.

The Irish trace baseball to their own game of rounders. This is similar to baseball, except that the ball is hit with the hands instead of a bat.

Hurling is the national game in Ireland. The Irish say hockey is just an effeminate form of hurling.

Hurling, a fast game, requiring physical strength and stamina as well as speed, is played the year round, with men and boys participating in every little village. There are district and national championships and the best team enters international competition. The all-Ireland championship attracts 55,000 fans to Dublin. And two-bits American will buy a good seat.

Although rugby and soccer football are played, Gaelic football is favored. There are 15 men on a side and the ball must be batted, not thrown. There is some golf, quite a bit of tennis and a little boxing.

Water sports are popular along the seacoast of Brazil, while soccer football is played generally inland.

Bicycling and bicycle races have many enthusiasts in France, Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands. Soccer football is the chief sport in France.

Soccer is the outstanding sport in Italy and Peru.

Equestrian sports are liked in Mexico. Basketball, American football and swimming also are popular. Bullfights sometime draw crowds of 30,000.

Ice hockey is played by thousands in Canada.

Baseball has made great advances in Japan, where virtually every school and college has a team. The best teams in the 52 provinces meet in the summer in an elimination series for the Japanese championship.

Soccer, Rugby football and cricket are popular in England.

In Finland the youngsters enjoy running.

The Indian paintbrush is the state flower of Wyoming.

Dizzy Dean Brags About Golf Skill

SARASOTA, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP)—Dizzy Dean avowed today he would "show them guys what golfing is"—meaning the other 32 baseball stars who sought the national baseball players golf championship.

With becoming modesty Dizzy said that next to himself he thought Lloyd Brown had the best chance to win the tournament opening today. He backed his belief by paying $80 for the Cleveland pitcher's chance in the players' pool.

Wesley Ferrell, Boston Red Sox hurler, is defnding the Powel Crosley trophy. Eighteen holes will be played daily, with the finals on Sunday.

The players, from both major and minor leagues, include two brother combinations, Wes and Rick Ferrell, of the Boston Red Sox, and Paul and Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh.

LON MORRIS WINS

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Lnn Morris Bearcats grabbed an early lead and coasted to a 43124 victory over the Kilgore Junior College Rangers last night. Harmon of Lon Morris was high scorer with 14 points.

Jim Thompson, Indiana university junior from Fort Wayne, rides a 20-year-old horse to and from school each day.

TOWNSEND BENEFICIARY STILL HAS $86 LEFT

CHELAN, Wash., Jan. 21 (AP) — Cash in his jeans, food in the pantry and hay in the barn, 63-year old C. C. Fleming, the nation's first $200 Townsend beneficiary, declared today: "We've never been so happy in all our lives."

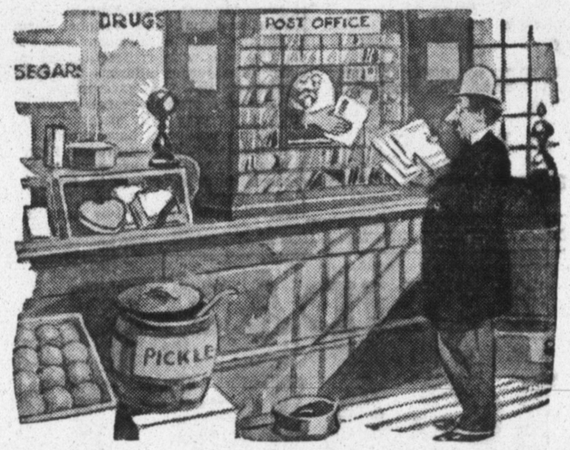

"We" is the lean-jawed, unemployed apple orchard worker and his 58-year old wife, who together have spent in four days $113.39 of the $200 allotted them in a Townsend plan experiment.

A "prettied up" wife, the best clothes he has had in years and the prospect of $86.61 yet to spend put a smile on the thin, drawn features of the aged man who boasted:

"I could give that fellow Clark Gable a run for his money—if mother would only let me get away."

Fan mail continued to pour in today by the hundreds for the Flemings and Isom Lamb, Chelan county Townsend supervisor who contributed the $200 and said he would guarantee $1,000 more to continue the experiment for five more months. The letters came from every state and included appeals for other $200 trials, praise, criticism and suggestions.

Secretary Wallace Tells How Crop Insurance Would Help Farmer Beat Weather

In September President Roosevelt appointed Secretary Wallace chairman of a committee to prepare a plan of crop insurance. This committee has made its report which will receive consideration by Congress this year. In this article, prepared at the request of The AP Feature Service, Secretary Wallace discusses the background of this important subject.

BY HENRY A. WALLACE,
Secretary of Agriculture.

If houses never burned there would be no need for fire insurance. If acres planted to crops produced consistently each year there would be no need for crop insurance.

But we know that drouths, floods, hail, and other manifestations of bad weather occur somewhere every year—and in recent years have affected numerous farms over vast areas. The result is that the question, "What will the harvest be?" is a very real one with farmers throughout each producing season.

We have seen production of many crops swing from heavy surpluses with prices at starvation levels to small output with prices relatively high. I believe that most of us have been impressed by these sharp swings in the farm production pendulum and we have wondered why something was not done to balance off the bad years with the good years.

Crop insurance has been brought forward as a device to supply a combination of insurance with storage of commodity reserves so as to provide greater security for farm producers and city consumers, particularly in the case of those crops where the swings in production are most marked.

Would Start With Wheat.

Crop failures, either resulting from drouth or other catastrophes, mean that people will suffer; that often they are in the most acute need and that the government must grant assistance to tide them over. The expenditures of the government for carrying on this function either through feed loans, seed loans, relief, or by other methods, have become very high.

The President's committee gave very careful study to the whole subject of crop insurance. It conferred with farmers, representatives of state, regional, and national farm organizations, with insurance experts and with representatives of the warehousing industry. It recommended that the government inaugurate a crop insurance program, beginning only with wheat.

Wheat producers have shown the most interest of any group of producers. They have expressed themselves most vigorously in favor of such a program. I believe there is something to be gained by beginning with only one commodity. It will be well to gain some practical experience with the workings of a crop insurance program before the program is applied to other crops.

Reserve For Lean Years.

I believe that there is a real possibility that a decade or two hence crop insurance together with devices to provide an "ever normal granary" of our major food and fiber crops will be in general use in the United States. Other progressive nations will doubtless also adopt some such method to provide their producers with greater security and their consumers with assurance of adequate reserves.

In view of past failures where relatively small attempts were made by private companies to insure prices as well as yields, the committee recommended only yield insurance. In other words, the plan would provide farmers with an opportunity to insure against low yields due to bad weather but it would not offer insurance against price changes. Under this plan the payment of both premiums and losses should be in kind or cash equivalent.

HOW CROP INSURANCE WOULD WORK.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are salient points in Secretary Wallace's crop insurance proposal:

1. The program would begin with wheat only.
2. In good years, farmers would pay insurance premiums in cash or wheat.
3. In bad years, they would get back cash or wheat.
4. They would be insured a crop up to perhaps 75 per cent of an average yield.
5. Their insurance rates would vary according to the risks their land held.
6. Participation in the plan would be on a purely voluntary basis.

It would have the effect of storing up reserves of wheat in years of large crops and releasing them in years of smaller crops. This would tend to reduce the fluctuations in the market supply and the fluctuations in the price of wheat. It would provide the country assurance that in case of severe crop failure the reserve of wheat would be on hand.

Insurance On Average Yield.

Cost of storing grain should be borne by the government because the program would be of advantage to the public generally. Overhead administration costs of crop insurance should also be borne by the government for the same reason while local costs plus the actual costs of indemnifying crop losses should be borne by farmers.

Local administration, the committee recommended, should be in the hands of county and local committees established for administration of the soil conservation and domestic allotment acts. These committees have demonstrated real ability.

The amount of insurance on any farm would be determined by the average yield on that farm over a period of the last six years. The farmer applying for the insurance—and such application would be entirely voluntary—would be insured a yield up to perhaps 75 per cent of his average yield.

If his yield during the year when he was insured should be less than the coverage specified in his policy, he would be paid the difference between what he actually produced and the amount for which he was insured. He would be paid in kind or in cash. His losses might be paid by granting the farmer a warehouse cerificate covering stored grain due him which he could sell as he saw fit. But he would bear any storage costs after the time set for settlement. That would be fair.

Varied Risks Figured.

We recommended that the premium rate should be determined on the basis of two factors—the loss experience on the individual farm insured and the loss experience of the county or area. As proposed the plan would not transfer the losses of incompetent and industrious farmers.

Farmers on good land would not be required to pay the losses of farmers on poor land. Wheat areas of high and regular production would not have to pay the losses of areas of low and uncertain production.

Costs of crop insurance for wheat would vary considerably as the loss experience varies considerably over the nation. Where risks were highest costs would be highest. Where rates would appear to be prohibitive the risk would appear to be so high as hardly to justify the use of the land for the production of wheat. Such land might better be devoted to some other use, perhaps permanently retired from crop production.

Stability of Prices.

The recommended plan will permit farmers to pay premiums in years of large crops. This would be a sensible arrangement. By paying the premiums in years of plentiful production, an additional outlet for surplus wheat would be furnished, thus contributing to greater stability of prices in those years. This would tend to reduce fluctuations in prices and income.

The program of crop insurance recomemnded in this report is not conceived of as a substitute for any farm program now being administered by the department of agriculture. It would be supplementary to other programs. It is not intended to meet problems of production adjustment and soil conservation but rather to meet the very serious problems arising from fluctuations in production. It is intended to help gain for farmers a basis for obtaining protection against risks even as we have seen protection for risks in industry and other zones of activity built up one by one.

THE white-tail deer was of great economic value to the early settlers of the eastern United States. Its flesh was one of the most reliable staples in the food supply. Yet, today, in spite of the heavy annual toll, the white-tail continues to thrive within sight of New York City, in the most densely populated areas of the United States.

ROBL'S DUCKS FLY FAR AND WIDE FROM KANSAS PRESERVE

BY HAL BOYLE.

ELLINWOD, Kas. (AP)—Three pintail ducks that swam together on the placid waters of a small lake near here in the spring of 1928 were shot that fall—on or near three different oceans.

They were three of some 11,000 ducks banded by Frank W. Robl, a deputy game warden, since he established his migratory bord refuge here in 1924.

One duck was shot in South Carolina on the Atlantic seaboard. The second was killed near San Diego, Calif., on the shores of the Pacific. The third was brought down near Deering, Alaska, on the Arctic ocean.

He Feeds 'Em.

This is only one of many curious facts discovered by Robl in his hobby of charting the migratory habits of waterfowl. He bands the birds for pastime and buys them feed out of his own pocket. The 3½-acre tract of lakes and windbreaks on his farm annually is a haven, a sort of crossroads of the skyways, for thousands of wayfaring ducks.

To band the birds Robl first catches them in wire netting traps into which they are lured by feed. A metal cylinder or band, supplied by the U. S. biological survey, is then fastened on the leg just above the foot. On each band is stamped a number with the request that the hunter report his kill to the biological survey.

Drakes More Plentiful.

Ducks banded by Robl have been taken in 28 of the United States, 15 Mexican states, eight Canadian provinces, Alaska, Cuba, and Honduras, Central America, and the Island of Trinidad off the coast of Venezuela, South America, 1,922 miles from the Florida mainland.

Robl's records disclose that in nearly all species of ducks the drakes far outnumber the females. In one year he banded 62 male and 34 female pintails, 296 male and 84 female blue-winged teal and 42 male and 10 female green-winged teal.

A mallard duck carried one of Robl's bands for the longest time on record—six years and eight months. The shortest life after release was five minutes. On March 15, 1931, a mallard was banded and liberated. A prairie eagle swooped down and killed it a quarter of a mile from the refuge.

Of 804 returns received by Robl, a pintail traveled the farthest in the shortest time before it was killed. It was banded March 9, 1929, and was killed at Nome, Alaska, May 19, 1929.

A black widow spider kept in a bottle at Beaumont, Texas, proved its hardiness. It lived nine weeks without food and during that time spun a web and hatched several score young spiders.
