Marchers Trudge On To San Juan

By WALTER GRAY

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Farm workers trudged toward San Juan today in the final 10 miles of a Lower Rio Grande Valley march seeking to enlist public support of their demands for higher pay.

They expected Roman Catholic Bishop Humberto Medeiros of Brownsville to say mass at a San Juan church after their arrival.

A spokesman said he also would issue a statement dealing with church policy and the labor situation.

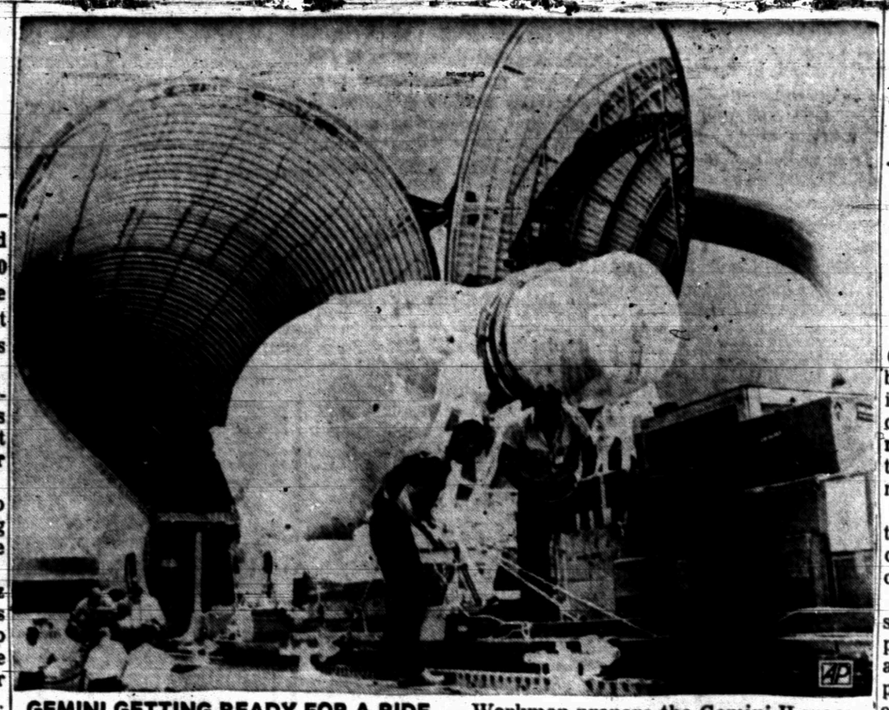

Edinburg Mayor Al Ramirez left a hospital where he is recuperating with a broken hip to meet the marchers at the edge of town. They ate a supper prepared by Edinburg residents.

There were about 120 walking single file as the day's 24-mile journey from Mission was completed. Much of the distance was traversed in 90 — degree weather.

Those taking part represent a union which struck June 1 in Starr County over demands that melon field workers be paid $1.25 an hour, compared to the 85 cents to $1 they now earn. Growers obtained a court order against picketing and say the strike has not affected their harvest.

Ramirez, who was injured in an automobile accident, rode in an ambulance to welcome the marchers.

"If you do succeed and this area improves in the direction that you want it to improve," the Edinburg mayor told them, "we will all lead better lives."

Machinists' Strike Cripples 5 Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A machinists union strike crippled operations of five major airlines today.

More than 35,000 members of AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists began walking off their jobs at 6 a.m. local time. A half hour later a spokesman announced the five airlines-Eastern, Northwest, National, Trans World and United —had canceled all originating flights.

In some cases, the spokesman said, through flights were continuing to their final destinations.

Picket lines formed at New York, Washington and other airports in the populous Eastern section of the nation at 6 a.m. EDT. The strike then spread westward from one time zone to the next.

The five airlines normally carry more than 150,000 passengers daily, according to an airlines survey, on flights bankneting the United States and spanning the globe.

Last-ditch negotiations failed to resolve the labor dispute that began last year.

At his Texas Ranch, President Johnson deplored the failure of the union and airlines to reach agreement on wages and other issue. He ordered the Civil Aeronautics Board to work to minimize inconvenience to the public and told the Defense Department to report immediately on any problems that arise.

The union said, however, that all IAM workers involved in military aircraft contracts would remain on the job.

Johnson also asked Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien to use every means of moving the mails as rapidly as possible. The President was especially concerned that there be no delay in mail to servicemen in Viet Nam.

The five airlines serve 231 cities in the United States and 23 cities abroad. Their 94,000 employees represent about 64 per cent of the industry's total employment. In terms of revenue passenger miles the five firms account for 61 per cent of domestic trunk airline operations.

The airlines said that if no substitute services were provided, the strike would leave 68 cities without trunk air service.

Navy Reports Depots Virtually Wiped Out

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. fighter-bombers blasted oil, rail and missile sites in North Viet Nam Thursday, dodged Communist MIGs and missiles and knocked out four torpedo boats, the U. S. command reported.

In a day of furious air action, two American planes were shot down. The pilot of one was rescued; the other is missing.

The four torpedo boats were spotted by reconnaissance planes near a coastal island about 30 miles southeast of Haiphong. The Navy said the camouflaged boats opened fire.

Three attack flights were launched from the carriers Constellation and Hancock. They reported sinking two of the torpedo boats trying to flee, heavily damaging another and leaving the fourth beached and burning. It was the third attack on North Vietnamese torpedo boats within a week.

Both U. S. and Vietnamese military headquarters reported only minor skirmishes in the ground war in South Viet Nam. A U. S. spokesman said there was no significant contact with the enemy in the past 24 hours.

The Navy reported that its planes which raided the Haiphong fuel depot Thursday had just about finished the destruction of the port facilities for unloading and storing oil—including two vital oil-pumping stations—following the first attack there 10 days ago. The announcement indicated only about six per cent of the installation still remained.

Besides the followup Haiphong strike, U.S. planes Thursday blasted an oil dump 35 miles north of Hanoi, another 43 miles southeast of Vinh and a missile site 20 miles northeast of Haiphong. The Air Force also reported destroying 26 boxcars, damaging 48 and cutting the tracks in 28 places.

U.S. Navy and Air Force planes flew a total of 77 missions Thursday. A spokesman said there were about 250 individual plane strikes. The air losses brought the number of American planes shot down since the start of the air war on Feb. 7, 1965, to 282.

The pilot rescued uninjured from the sea by helicopter was identified as Lt. Cmdr. William J. Isenhour of Lemoore, Calif., whose Navy A4 Skyhawk was part of the attack force against the Haiphong depot.

The other plane, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief, was shot down by antiaircraft fire 90 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The Strategic Air Command's B52s kept up their two-a-day raids in South Viet Nam. One wave of the Guam-based bombers struck a Viet Cong camp 120 miles west-southwest of Saigon. Another formation hit an enemy concetration 60 miles north-northwest of the capital.

Other U.S. planes flew 359 sorties in the South Thursday. The fliers claimed destruction or damage to 530 structures and killing 41 enemy soldiers. South Vietnamese pilots flew 290 sorties.

Two MIG21s, the best jets in the North Vietnamese air force, jumped a flight of Air Force Thunderchiefs 35 miles north-northwest of Hanoi Thursday. One of the MIGs uncorked two air-to-air missiles but they exploded harmlessly some distance from the American fighter-bombers, a spokesman said.

The encounter broke off without damage to either side, he said.

No Response To Proposal On Viet Nam

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

LONDON (AP) — The U. S. and Communist governments were silent today on Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's proposal for an immediate Geneva conference and the end of American bombing of North Viet Nam.

Mrs. Gandhi proposed Thursday that convening of the conference be followed by a truce and that a settlement include the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Viet Nam and guarantees of neutral independence for Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

There "can be no military solution in Viet Nam" and there is no alternative to a peaceful settlement, she said in a broadcast before leaving for talks with leaders of the United Arab Republic, Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union. She arrived in Cairo today to meet with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Most foreign governments, were informed of Mrs. Gandhi's proposal in advance. She also sent a personal letter to President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam.

The crux of her proposal was another Geneva conference of the type held in 1954 to negotiate an end to the French Indochina War. The agreements reached at that conference are theoretically still in force and Britain and the Soviet Union remain the conference cochairmen.

Mrs. Gandhi said the cochairmen, instead of debating how the warring nations could be brought to the negotiating table, should immediately convene another meeting at Geneva.

"I offer these proposals as no more than an idea," Mrs. Gandhi said. "India is committed to a peaceful solution and not to any particular solution. We would be willing to support any alternative proposal that offers hope of success."

India is the chairman of the International Control Commission set up to oversee application of the provisions of the 1954 conference. Its other members are Canada and Poland.

Mrs. Gandhi proposed that the commission supervise the truce while the conference was in session. She indicated she felt the commission should be strengthened and said India would be willing to accept "whatever additional responsibility this might entail."

Prisoners Stage Riot

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A riot broke out today at the Maryland penitentiary in Baltimore.

Officials said inmates had set some buildings on fire. At least 150 Baltimore city policemen were ordered to the scene. Fighting broke out in the north yard of the prison, officials said.

There was no immediate word on how many of the prison's 1,460 inmates were involved.

One prisoner and four guards were slightly injured in a scuffle at the penitentiary Thursday but Warden Roger B. Copinger Jr. had reported the situation outwardly calm this morning.

Vernon L. Pepersack, state commissioner of correction, said a group of prisoners, after Thursday's scuffle, tried to incite about 800 others to riot in a recreation yard by accusing the guards of treating the prisoner brutally.

Tunnel Cave-In Traps 65 Workers

UTSUNOMIYA, Japan (AP)— A cave-in at an irrigation tunnel trapped about 65 workers near here today and 19 of them were found dead in a gas-filled pocket, police reported.

Rescue workers frantically cleared away debris and managed to bring out 32 workers, five of whom were reported in serious condition.

Trio Quizzed In 2 Slayings

SAN ANTONIO (AP)— Three suspects arrested here Thursday in the slaying of a Breckenridge man and questioned about an almost identical San Antonio slaying remained in jail Friday without bond.

The three men, Claude Dean Edwards, 22, Ronald Wilhelm, 21, and Gene McCain, 20, were arrested after the Stephens County sheriff's office issued an arrest order for the trio, describing them as "possibly armed and very dangerous." A justice of the peace here ordered them held without bond on charges of murder.

The man slain in Breckenridge was Clarence Swaim, 55, a service station attendant whose body was found Monday. The body of a San Antonio service station attendant, Alvin Fay Carnes, 26, was found Thursday morning a few hours after the station where he was the night attendant was found abandoned and its cash drawer empty.

Bexar County Sheriff's Capt. Tony Morin said the three were not charged in the death of Carnes, but were questioned about it.

Officers said Carnes, a bridegroom of three weeks, had been shot in the back, apparently after an abduction and robbery.

The service station where Carnes worked was found abandoned by a passerby at about 2 a.m. His body was found about 8:30 a.m. by a highway department employe in a pasture in northwest Bexar County.

Officers said about $200 was missing from the station, but no money was found with the body.

Wilhelm and McCain were arrested by officers as they rode in a car on San Antonio's southside. Edwards was arrested shortly afterward at a nearby motel Morin said none of the men were armed when they were arrested.

Mrs. Carnes said she had been worried about the safety of her husband just hours before he was found dead. She told newsmen she rode a bus to the station at 10 p.m. and tried to convince him to quit his night job. He persuaded her to allow a fellow employe to drive her home and stayed at the station.

Acreage In Cotton Takes Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that land planted to cotton this year totaled 10,567,000 acres, 25 per cent less than last year. This was the smallest acreage in nearly 100 years.

Texas acreage was placed at 4,400,000, or 75.2 per cent of last year's plantings.

No forecast on production was given, but assuming the yield equaled last year's average of 506 pounds per planted acre, the crop would be about one bale per acre or a total of about 10,567,000 bales. Last year's crop was 14,956,000 bales.

The government cotton control program offered payments to farmers for greatly reducing plantings because surpluses have climbed to a record high of 16.7 million bales.

The government sought a reduction in production this year which would permit the movement of some of the surplus into markets.

The first official forecast of this year's production will be issued Aug. 8.

Last year's planted acreage was 14,153,000. This compared with 15,728,000 for the 1960-64 average. Not all of the planted acreage is harvested. During the 1960-64 period, an average of 4.9 per cent was not harvested.

Showers Spread Over N. Texas

By The Associated Press

Showers coursed northward through a wide area of North Central and Northeast Texas today while streams in parts of South Texas remained swollen from deluges of the day before.

Despite the moisture, forecasts called for continued hot weather in all parts of the state.

Mostly light shower activity started developing before daylight at scattered points north of a line linking Tyler, Wills Point and Roanoke.

The moisture belt gradually widened to as much as 150 miles as the showers traveled toward the north along a front stretching from Eastland to near Gainesville and Paris.

Sharp rises still tumbled down the Frio and Nueces rivers in South Texas as a result of unpredicted downpours which dumped as much as 7 inches of rain Thursday in a rural area north of Leakey, in Real County.

Warnings were issued for campers in low areas of Garner State Park, where the Frio went on a five-foot rise, and for ranchers to safeguard livestock against possible flash flooding.

Brisk showers elsewhere Thursday brought rainfall measuring more than an inch at a number of points in South and Central Texas.

Little change in the weather was in prospect. Widely scattered showers were expected through Saturday in most sections.

Northwest Texas: Partly cloudy and warm tonight and Saturday. Widely scattered showers in extreme south today and tonight. Widely scattered thunderstorms in northwest Panhandle tonight. A few showers in southeast late Saturday. Low tonight 65 to 75. High Saturday 94 to 100.

Coast: South and southeast winds 8 to 18 knots tonight and Saturday.

South Central and Southeast Texas: Partly cloudy and warm tonight and Saturday with a few showers mainly during afternoons. Low tonight 74 to 82. High Saturday 86 to 98.

Southwest Texas, east of Pecos: Partly cloudy and warm tonight and Saturday with widely scattered showers, mainly in afternoons.

Beatles Hit Texas Timber

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—An outbreak of southern pine bark beetles has spread across 3.5 million acres of the state's timber land, the Texas Forest Service said today.

Leroy Williamson, head of the forest pest control section, said the outbreak was the worst since 1963 when 8.2 million cubic feet of timber were destroyed.

He said the outbreak could not reach the disastrous proportions of a 1962 epidemic which destroyed 23.5 million cubic feet of timber.

He said the beetles, which kill pines by girdling beneath the bark, have spread from the coastal timber area as far north as the southern sections of Sabine, San Augustine, Angelina and Trinity counties.

The infested area is bordered on the west by Montgomery County and the Sabine River on the east.

Williamson said in an effort to hold down the damage, the service is spotting infested areas by air and reporting them to landowners.

To fight the beetle, landowners must cut infested trees and spray them with an insectide.

Texas' Share Of Draft Quota Upped

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' share of the national draft quota of 31,300 men for September is 1,585, state headquarters said today.

The July quota has been increased from 1,284 to 1,381, and the August quota has been increased from 1,636 to 1,837.

Previous monthly quotas for Texas this year were: June 878, May 1,927, April 979, March 1,068, February 1,372, and January, 1475.

WINS NEW POWERS

Hoffa Remains Firmly At Helm

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa sat more firmly in the drivers seat of the giant union today after being voted a new five-year term and perhaps the greatest power ever held by a labor leader.

"We are at the wheel," the triumphant Hoffa told nearly 2,000 convention delegates who ignored his 13-years impending prison sentences and re-elected him and other top union officials without a whisper of opposition.

Lionized as "the world's greatest labor leader," a "champion of champions," and "the greatest tiger of them all," Hoffa went promptly back to work.

"I'll be in my office in the morning," Hoffa, 53, said after ending the four-day convention he dominated with only a smattering of opposition on a few issues.

He urged the delegates to get behind the Teamster hierarchy and work for the benefit of the union's 1.7-million members and their families.

Among the benefits Hoffa won for himself were a $25,000 wage increase, to $100,000 a year; approval to pay his $1 million-plus in legal expenses, and a union constitution rewritten to guarantee him nearly air-tight job security even if he goes to jail.

And Hoffa gathered into his hands broad new authority to negotiate national, industry-wide and area-wide contracts in which all union locals must join if a majority of locals approve.

In a parting shot at his "enemies" — in which he lumped Congress, government, courts, business, the nation's press and broadcasting industries and some other unions — Hoffa said the Teamsters would re-enter the AFL-CIO only on their own terms. He demanded "no loss of jurisdiction" and the right to continue "organizing the unorganized."

Hoffa's chief worry now is the outcome of his Supreme Court appeal of an 8-year jury-tampering sentence, which could threaten his carefully built empire if he lands in jail.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please, please print this in your column. It may save my marriage. I can't mention any names as I don't want to ruin my husband's good name, but he has been seeing another woman.

I hope that woman reads this and has a conscience and a woman's heart and ask her to PLEASE stop seeing my husband as I love him very much.

It just about kills me to know that someone else has taken my place with him. I have always been true to my husband and have been a good wife and mother. I would do anything for him, Abby. We have four children who love him, too. I am in hopes that the woman believes in God and will stop seeing my husband.

PRAYING

DEAR PRAYING: Your husband's conscience won't take orders from the "other" woman's heart. Try to reach your husband's sense of decency, morality, responsibility, and honor. He is not being held captive, you know.

Don't nag, beg, or drive him out of your home with threats or hysterics. Make every effort to reason calmly with him until he comes to his senses. And keep praying.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 16-year-old girl who has read your column for years but I've never seen a problem like mine. I know I am too forward with the boys, but I can't help making a fool of myself.

I am always bumping into them accidentally, on purpose, being loud, and making silly remarks that aren't ladylike. I flirt and try to be real cute, but am always saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. Afterwards I see what I did wrong and I feel just awful. I don't want to be known as a flirt and boy-chaser, Abby. I sure need your help. How can I overcome this?

BOY CHASER

DEAR BOY CHASER: You are intelligent to realize what your problem is and honest to admit it. Now in order to overcome your forwardness, bear this in mind: When you are in the company of boys, THINK before you speak.

Don't talk because you HAVE TO SAY SOMETHING, talk because you HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY. If you sit as a lady, walk as a lady, and talk as a lady you will soon be considered one.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband kept nagging me to let HIM do the marketing because he thought I spent too much for what I got. Well, I let him do the shopping one day, and he came home with the biggest eggs I had ever seen. I asked him where he got them, and he said from a farmer out near where he worked. He asked me to boil two for his lunch bucket the next day. I did, and when he came home from work he said, "I never tasted anything so terrible as those eggs in all my life.

"They were DUCK EGGS. I was biting into everything I could get my hands on all day long trying to get that awful taste out of my mouth."

So, Abby, please tell women who have husbands who think they can do their wives' jobs as well as their own to just tune the poor boobs out. From now on, my husband does his job and I do mine.

State Board Is Praised

BEAUMONT (AP)—"There is no greater sin than to support mediocrity in education," Dr. Jack Kenny Williams, newly appointed Texas commissioner of higher education, said here.

Williams said he has been impressed by three things about Texas' education system: The magnitude of the job ahead; the obvious administrative excellence of college presidents, regents and other officials, and the determination of the Texas state government to attain excellence in higher education.

"The desire for excellence is exemplified in the tremendous ability of the citizens who make up the Texas College Coordinating Board," Williams said. "No state exceeds Texas in the high quality membership of its educational board."

He said he sees three functions of education:

"To educate our young men and women as professionals and good citizens; to engage in basic and applied research, and to engage in programs of public service."

Officers End Game Of Musical Mowers

BEAUMONT (AP)—A game of "musical lawnmowers," as played by two brothers, aged 9 and 10, was brought to an abrupt end recently by Beaumont Detective Ray Yaw.

The boys engaged in the amusing (for them) practice of taking a lawnmower from one house and leaving it at another, taking the mower from the second house and abandoning it at a third...ad infinitum.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

GUADALAJARA, MEXICO—On April 10, 1530, Juan de Onate and Nuno Beltran de Guzman founded the Villa del Espiritu Santo in the Valley of Nochistlan.

This being a conversational mouth full, the Spaniards later renamed it Guadalajara. After one of their cities in Spain.

The name comes from the Arabian language—Wadil ad-Jara—and means rocky river.

But Guadalajara looks like anything except a rocky river. The antique city has been dressed up and redecorated.

Streets were widened and new buildings put up to replace many of the old ones torn down. It is a modern, open looking city that has the aspect of some of the U.S. western cities. In places.

There still are many colonial landmarks here and Guadalajara is a curious mixture of the old and the modern.

The expedition which founded this city had more adventure enroute than they found when they got here.

After the fall of Mexico City in 1521, Hernan Cortes and his captains began looking around to study the incorporation of all the kingdoms which had or had not been subjected by the Aztecs. This quest led them to all parts of Mexico.

Nuno Beltran de Guzman organized an expedition of horsemen, cavalry troops and several thousand Mexican and Indian auxiliary troops and headed for this territory.

Their first goal was the kingdom of Michoacan, inhabited by the Purepecha Indians (also called Tarasans) whom the Aztecs had never been able to whip.

The Spaniards founded a series of villages and towns along the way and gradually occupied the new territory. When they got to Michoacan, they paid a visit to King Caltzontzin. And suggested he call up 10,000 warriors for their army and give them all his treasures.

The king was not in favor of these things and he said so in a loud voice. Captain Beltran de Guzman got furious. He dragged the king to death behind a horse, burned his body and scattered the ashes in a river.

This was to discourage any further opposition to his ambitions. And having thus won the Kingdom of Michoacan, Beltran de Guzman moved against Cuitzeo where he defeated the indians after a rugged battle and then marched on to the present State of Jalisco.

From Jalisco he sent expeditions to other regions to establish other towns and villages. And ordered Juan de Onate to remain in the Nochistlan Valley and set up the village of Espiritu Santo.

After everything was in order, Beltran de Guzman visited Espiritu Santo and promptly objected to the site. He ordered Onate to look for a more appropriate place.

Another spot was selected: Tlacotan, between the Verde and Santiago Rivers. But some years later the Spaniards decided it did not meet the needs of the populations. Espiritu Santo got moved again, this time to the Atemajac Valley...

Juan de Onate got permission to rename it Guadalajara after the city in Spain which was the birthplace of Beltran de Guzman.

None of these events are evident as you drive down the broad avenues of Guadalajara today. There is a large American colony here. And the local folks are mighty proud of their city which they call The Pearl of the West.

And it seems like a pearl. Shining and peaceful with none of the violence of the old days peeking through the curtain of history.

Police Quell New Rioting

PATERSON, N.N. (AP)— A hundred helmeted policemen quelled a Negro bottle-and rock throwing disturbance Thursday night.

Police said that following a half-hour, street-corner speech Howard Carter, [illegible] of the Passaic County Chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, a small group of Negroes began hurling bottles and rocks. Several store windows were smashed.

The violence was a fleeting echo of the three days of rioting by Negroes in this northern New Jersey city two summers ago.

Policemen found 300 empty bottles on one roof and smashed them with their clubs.

In his speech, Carter called for solidarity against the "white power structure" of the city and for the Negroes' "right to make their own decisions." He urged Negroes to march to City Hall today to register to vote.

Medicare Hike Mostly On Paper

By The Associated Press

After the first week of medicare, the nation's hospitals generally report they have much more paper work but not many more patients.

A survey in 12 major cities indicates that the number of 65-and-over patients entering hospitals has been mostly normal since the program of hospital insurance under Social Security went into effect July 1. Only Atlanta, with a 10 per cent gain, reported a significant increase.

"After all it's still the doctor who says when a patient should be admitted to a hospital," said Dr. Robert M. Hazen of Kansas City, advancing one reason for medicare's calm start.

Others given by hospital administrators included the availability of private medical insurance and other public health care, and the fact that medicare went into effect in summer, a normally slow time for hospitals.

In New York, said Dr. S. Da[illegible] Promise, assistant director of Mt. Sinai Hospital, the city "has long made it a practice to give medical care to all people. The payoff is that we don't have any greater demand now than before."

The hospital's director of admissions, Nat Lewis, said: "The urgency, the scare has passed. Anything that comes now is simply a matter of procedure and that can be worked out. Our only impact here is paper."

That was the major impact also at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, where head clerk Barbara Maton said her dozen helpers are "up to here in forms, perforated tape and problems."

Some hospital people warned that the future course of medicare may not run as smoothly as the past week.

John Brewer, chairman of the Southern California Council of Hospitals, pointed out that in Los Angeles, fall is a more popular time than [illegible] for elective surgery.

REUNION held by 1941 graduating class of Snyder High School.

Heroic Battle Of Britain

EAGLE DAY. By Richard Collier.

The Battle of Britain was the attempt of the German Luftwaffe to knock out the Royal Air Force, by drawing it into so many murderous sorties that its strength would be lost, as a preliminary to a German invasion plotted under the title "Operation Sea Lion."

As Collier says in his highly colorful account of this heroic struggle, the historians do not agree on the span of the battle. The author has chosen the six weeks from Aug. 6 to Sept. 15, 1940. The first big strike was on Aug. 13, "Eagle Day." By Sept. 15 German losses of aircraft and pilots had mounted so high that two days later "Sea Lion" was postponed indefinitely.

This book does not pretend to be a complete account of all the battle's aspects. It is a book of heroes in the flesh. It gives a running story that incorporates the exploits of individuals—not only the fighter pilots (many of them hastily trained), but also the ground personnel and civilians who were involved in the desperate warfare in the air.

There are eye-witness stories from some of the Hurricane and Spitfire pilots who survived, and other accounts of many who did not. There are tales of fliers bailing out over the Channel, where rescue operations were virtually nonexistent. There are stories of farmers and mechanics capturing parachuting Germans; of tense moments in defense plotting rooms; of the strategical blunders, communications failures and technical mistakes of the Germans; of an heroic return to safety by a badly burned RAF pilot; of the stoic calm of most ground personnel—Collier notes the exceptions — amid plunging bombs.

This is a dramatic, personalized story of one of Britain's finest hours. Like several other recent war books, such as "Is Paris Burning?", "The Last 100 Days" and "The Last Battle," it has the electrical urgency of you - are - there thrills and anguish.

Ice cream is a good all around dessert, no matter what the occasion. . .good for children and adults alike. Use it often!

From colonial days, ice cream has been a part of American life. Though Dolley Madison is credited with giving First Lady sanction to ice cream for dessert, it's known that George Washington gave Martha a gift of two ice cream pots, the early equipment for ice cream making. No matter what form it takes, most Americans would wholeheartedly agree with the colonial dinner guest who wrote: "Among the rareties was Ice Cream which eat Most Deliciously."

It's better to use a small skillet (6 to 8 inches) than a griddle when you are making thin Frenchtype pancakes. Hold the hot well-buttered skillet off the heat as you pour in the batter, then swirl the skillet so that the batter covers the bottom. Cook the pancakes quickly.

Silver Anniversary Held By Graduates

The graduating class of 1941 held their 'Silver Anniversary" reunion Friday and Saturday, July 1-2, with a full slate of activities.

Friday night activities started with a barbecue for the graduates and their families in the Towle Park barn with approximately 125 in attendance. The exes enjoyed introducing their families, talking about grandchildren and exchanging stories of years past. Many had not seen other class mates in 25 years.

Saturday morning the group gathered at the park barn for an informal get-to-gether with friends of the exes dropping by to say hello and enjoying a cup of coffee. Saturday evening the exes met at the Country Club for dinner as a finale of the reunion.

Invocation was given by James Neal. Jimmie Wells of Glendale, Calif. was master of ceremonies. He asked each class member to introduce his husband or wife and to give an account of his locality, work, children and grandchildren. Letters were read from members who were unable to attend.

Rev. Truman Barnett of Los Angeles, Calif. and Jimmie Wells received a large ovation for coming the fartherest to attend the reunion, 1300 miles. Rev. Barnett had not been back for a reunion in 25 years.

There were 85 graduates in the class of "41", with 43 attending the festivities. Sixty-four exes and guests attended the dinner.

Previous meetings of the class were in 1951 and 1961. The members voted to meet again in 1969.

Those attending the reunion were teachers, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stanfield and F. H. (Pop) Patterson of Snyder.

Class members were: Mr. and Mrs. Thayne Mebane, Bill Line, Thula Mae Whatley, LaRue Williamson, Allene Massingill, Kenneth Wilson, Avanell Keller, Johnie B. Chambers, Wernette Lloyd, Dorothy Ferguson, Lewes Wills, Ornetha Walton, Jeanne Bullard, Marshall Erwin, Thadine Harless, Mildred Clark, Buena Jackson, Arthur McDowell, Irene DeShazo, Bobby Hale, Talmage Bynum and Sherman Merritt, all of Snyder; Alice Lane of Overton, Truman Barnett of Los Angeles, Calif., Helen Chambers of Colorado City, Harlice Dorman of Austin, Frances Hammit of Midland, Jimmie Wells of Glendale, Calif., Glenn Snyder of Odessa, Carolyn Lawless of Fort Worth, Fred Ronan of Lamesa, Lance Mullins of Dallas, Lloyd McGlaun of Big Spring, Leslie Stewart of Castroville, Tex., Doyle Bynum of Dallas, Marvell Watkins of Fort Worth, James Neal of Paint Rock, Tex., Oleta Ikard of Odessa, Olan Moore of Midland, Donald Ray Scott of Richardson, and Dale Reed of Dallas.

Whiz-Bang Foreign Adventure

SHOOTING SCRIPT. By Aavin Lyall.

Lyall has emerged as one of the better practitioners of the art of writing the international adventurer bit. This genre is a lot more subtle than the corny TV Western gunslinger formula, and just as full of the debonair spirit of do-or-die as the better spy novels. He has a nice dramatic touch.

The hero is Keith Carr, a former RAF fighter pilot in Korea, who has subsided into the tame business—unprofitable—or running a free-lance plane service in Jamaica, with one cargo plane.

So he gets hired to do some camera flying for a movie outfit on location, run by an actor-producer who has made millions in horse opera movies. But that's only a dodge. Carr's real assignment is to run an old bomber on a raid to cripple a handful of jets belonging to a dictator-ridden bananna republic where the movie guy has a fortune sequestered. There are complications, the bananna republic has hired one of Carr's old Korean buddies, a big Australian pilot, to run its jets.

There are lots of hairbreadth fights and escapes in the air and on the ground; a hurricane; a body of the next dictator's son, a bit of sex from Hollywood, disguised as a lawyer; a shrug for the nosey intrusion of the FBI; and — well, a thoroughly adept round of plot switches. The aviation atmosphere is utterly natural and convincing.

Lyall's investiveness in the whing-whang adventure department is well aided by his smooth dialogue, which includes some smartly amusing flip-cracks. Very entertaining.

Mess Up In The Mix Up

STEPPING WESTWARD. By Malcolm Bradbury.

The theme of Bradbury's novel is a variant on the perennial form of the satire on college faculties. His target is the fashionable campus bit these days, the appointment of a writer in residence who is supposed to serve as a cultural catalyst for a couple of semesters.

He gives the comedy an international complexity by having Benedict Arnold U. (somewhere in the American West) import a writer from England. He turns out to be a two-bit novelist from the Midlands, one James Walker, a wishy-washy type who lacks conviction or the power to make decisions, one of those mixed - up characters full of fancy ideas and emotional immaturity.

To carry out the satire, the author has caricatured the uncouth American professors trying to ape English ways. That's a fair bit of game. Unfortunately he has used too many hoary cliches (was this for his British audience?); the simian football player, the grammar-murdering head of the English Department, the cornball politician presiding over the school. And many other comic strip figures.

Then he has introduced a more serious theme, academic freedom, but messes it up somewhat by pretending it shows the difference between the British and American ideas of liberalism. He does it by having Walker—finally getting a little starch in his makeup—question the requirement that professors sign a loyalty oath.

Bradbury is an accomplished writer, and his comic situations are amusing. But it does seem that while creating—intentionally—a confused hero, he also has written a rather confused book.

Ice cream lovers anywhere will go for Cake a la Mode with Mint Sauce. It combines one layer of chocolate cake and a pint of softened vanilla ice cream with a creamy peppermint-marshmallow sauce. For the sauce, stir 2 tablespoons light cream into a cup of marshmallow creme. Then stir in 3 tablespoons of crushed peppermint candy. Now, put it all together. Spread the layer of cake with the ice cream, cut the cake into wedges, and top with the minty marshmallow sauce. Sprinkle on top with more crushed peppermint candy. Kids of all ages love it!

WOMEN'S CALENDAR

SUNDAY

Duplicate bridge at Snyder Country Club, 1:30 p.m. Open.

Roast shoulder of veal makes a fine meat for Sunday dinner. Buy the shoulder boned and rolled. After rubbing the surface of the meat with olive oil, salt and pepper, roast it in a maodrate oven for about 30 minutes to the pound. When the shoulder is carved, the slices tend to fall apart, but that's a mere trifle.

THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER!

Parading Of Captive Pilots Spotlights Sensitive Issue

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hanoi's latest parading of captured U.S. fliers has underlined again for Washington policymakers one of the most sensitive issues thus far of the Viet Nam war — the treatment of American prisoners.

A State Department count shows 34 U.S. servicemen are in Red hands and 233 are missing. The outlook is for bigger figures as the fighting continues.

The problem is sensitive for U.S. strategists because it directly involves American lives — and because they have found no sure way of safeguarding the prisoners' welfare.

But even with this drawback, U.S. officials cautiously acknowledge that American GI's in North Viet Nam do not appear to be getting the worst possible treatment from their captors.

A number of reports filtering out indicates that the Americans are faring about the same as other prisoners in North Viet Nam — not good food and medical attention by U.S. measurement, but about on a par with that accorded Asians.

North Viet Nam is a signatory to the 1949 Geneva convention providing for humane treatment of prisoners of war. But Hanoi says the captured Americans are war criminals, not subject to the Geneva rules.

Although Hanoi has hinted at war crimes trials for U.S. prisoners, it has not yet conducted any. Nor is it known to have executed any of the Americans.

North Vietnamese have been captured in the South. But Hanoi does not acknowledge its forces are fighting in South Viet Nam, so it has spurned the idea of prisoner exchange or a deal on reciprocal good treatment.

This still falls short of what Washington would like done for the captives, and roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman has been put in charge of U.S. efforts to improve their lot.

U.S. strategy at this point is to push these efforts at low key through various diplomatic channels, rather than hammering publicly at Hanoi and possibly risking something worse for the prisoners.

Thursday, for instance, the State Department gave no more than a set response — when asked — to Hanoi's broadcast account of U.S. airmen being marched in handcuffs through crowded streets.

A spokesman described it as "disregard" of North Viet Nam's obligation under the Geneva convention ban against "intimidation," "insults" and exposure to "public curiosity" against prisoners of war.

But the spokesman declined to say whether Washington was protesting the North Vietnamese action. Nor would he name any of the steps which, he said, are being taken continuously in behalf of the prisoners.

One of these steps has been an effort by Harriman to enlist help from the International Red Cross Committee. Harriman has reported that the Red Cross group has agreed to make further attempts to aid U.S. captives.

So far, it was reported, the North Vietnamese have refused access by International Red Cross representatives to the prisoners. They also are said to have failed to turn in lists of captives required under the Geneva regulations.

Some mail is getting through. The Red Cross committee says an average of 50 letters a week are going to the prisoners from friends and relatives.

Partly in hope of reciprocal action in the North, the United States has encouraged humane treatment and visits by Red Cross representatives to prisoners in South Viet Nam. And it has sought quietly from time to time to discourage executions by the Saigon regime of captured Communists.

In the U.S. view, the fact that there is no declared war in Viet Nam does not make the Geneva convention inapplicable. The convention stipulates that its provisions apply both in cases of "declared war" and in "any other armed conflict" between the signatories. The United States and South Viet Nam are signatories along with North Viet Nam.

As for war crimes trials in Hanoi, the U.S. position is that this would be 'utterly unwarranted and a deliberate evasion" of the Geneva rules.

Who Wants To Become A Millionaire?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Who wants to be a millionaire?

It hardly seems worth the trouble anymore.

There was a time when becoming a millionaire was one of the great American dreams. It was the most popular symbol of success.

When you made a million dollars you were a king of the hill, a Horatio Alger hero, a captain of industry. Everybody knew you. As you passed through the streets people stepped out of the way and whispered to each other in awe: "There goes Alonzo Q. Grubb. He's a millionaire."

A million dollars to the average man represented the acme of wealth. That was the biggest figure his mind could grasp.

How could a man hope to become a millionaire? In countless interviews every millionaire gave the same simple stern formula "Hard work and thrift."

Today it's much easier. You can do it by writing a naughty book. Even racehorses become millionaires.

In America's gilded past a million dollars enabled a man to live a life of splendor. He could dwell in a penthouse, have a place in the country with five servants, ride in a chauffeur-piloted limousine, own a yacht, subsist on champagne and oysters, subsidize a chorus girl, and buy a politician or two when necessary.

How innocent the world must have been in those days. But that palmy past is over.

Today a man with only one million dollars to his name is a rather pitable figure. He falls in an in-between class — too well-to-do to qualify for the federal poverty program, too poor to hobnob with the really rich.

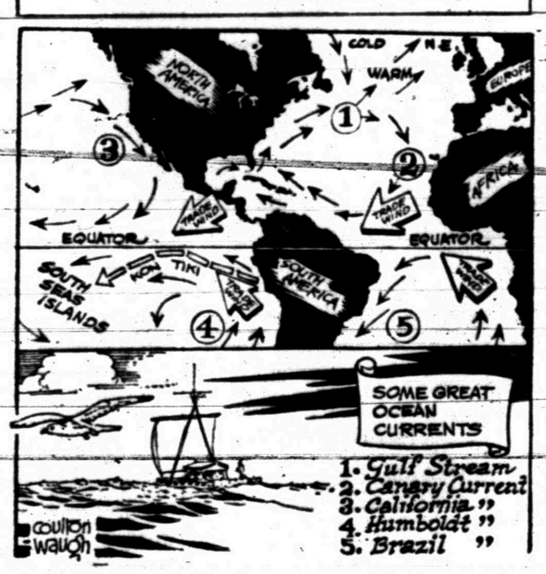

The ideal now is the multi-multimillionaire, the billionaire, the guy who keeps a money shredder in his basement because it is easier to shred up his old cash at home than face the nuisance of having to cart it to the bank.

But consider the plight of the one-million millionaire who wants to conserve his small pile and live off the income. He can't afford to live like a millionaire at all.

If he invests it cautiously, it can probably only bring him about 5 per cent over the long haul. That's $50,000, of which say $15,000 goes into the government till.

This leaves him a measly $35,000 free and clear. That may keep him out of the breadline, but if he wants a Rolls-Royce he'll have to buy it on the instalment till.

Junior Editors Quiz on OCEAN CURRENTS

QUESTION: What causes ocean currents?

• • •

ANSWER: Five great ocean currents are shown in our picture. Notice that those north of the equator (1, 2 and 3) turn around clockwise, while those below the equator (4, 5) revolve counter-clockwise. This is because of the push given them by the trade winds (white arrows). These winds blow steadily from the northeast, close to the equator, and from the southeast below it. The push of the winds is the main cause of ocean currents. But the spinning of the earth on its axis, from west to east, also affects them, since it turns moving things to the right in the northern hemisphere and to the left in the southern. Uneven heating of ocean water by the sun also affects ocean currents, as does the various shapes of land masses and coastlines. Notice that some of the warm water from the Gulf Stream fans out toward northern Europe, bringing a mild climate along with it. This current is called the Gulf Stream because some of the already warmish water finds its way into the Gulf of Mexico, where the sun warms it still further.

Mantle HR Stops Boston

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle, who has trouble adjusting to Yankee Stadium after returning from a road trip, adjusted just in time to save the Yankees from further embarrassment.

"I never like coming back here," Mantle said after New York defeated Boston 5-2 Thursday night. "It's tough adjusting to this park. You always try to pull the ball."

Try or not to pull the ball, that's exactly what Mantle did with two out in the ninth inning, and it sailed into the right-field seats for a three-run homer.

The blast, only Mantle's second hit in 18 at bats since returning to New York July 4 after a road trip in which he hit eight homers in six games, kept the last-place Red Sox from sweeping the four-game series.

This year, for the first time since 1953 Mantle was not named to the American League All-Star team, but he has no regrets.

"I can use the rest," he said. "Those other guys deserve it more. I just had that one hot week."

In the only other AL action, the Chicago White Sox defeated Washington 8-5 and Detroit edged Minnesota 4-3.

San Francisco beat Cincinnati 7-5, the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 4-3, the New York Mets downed Philadelphia 9-6 and Los Angeles nipped Atlanta 3-2 in the only National League games.

Going into the bottom of the ninth at Yankee Stadium, the Red Sox had a 2-0 lead, built when Tony Conigliaro scored on a force out in the fourth and singled home a run in the ninth.

Then after one out, Rollie Sheldon walked two Yankees and Don McMahon came in to pitch. Pinch hitter Jake Gibbs singled home a run and moved the other runner to third. Tom Tresh followed with a sacrifice fly to tie it. Then after Bobby Richardson singled, Mantle unloaded his 16th homer of the season.

Bill Freehan singled in the sixth and scored on a ground out as Detroit ended a five-game losing streak and snapped a three-game winning string for the Twins.

Al Kaline hit a two-run homer, his 18th, and Willie Horton doubled home a run for the Tigers. Rich Rollins hit his sixth homer and Harmon Killebrew belted his 16th and doubled home another run for the Twins.

The White Sox built up an 8-0 lead behind Tommy John and then held on to edge the Senators, who scored three runs in the seventh and a pair in the eighth.

John Romano hit two doubles and drove in a pair of runs and Don Buford and Tommy Agee each got three hits for Chicago. Don Lock homered for the Senators.

Indians, Cardinals In FL Wins

The Cardinals beat the Braves 6-4 and the Indians downed the White Sox 16-2 in Farm League games played Thursday night.

The Cards scored three runs in the fourth inning and two in the fifth to take the win over the Braves. The Braves scored three times in the fifth inning, but left three men stranded in the sixth without scoring. Singles by Jimmy Williams and Danny Andrews brought in the deciding runs for the Cardinals.

The Indians scored freely in every inning while allowing only two runs in the first inning to the White Sox in their victory. Floyd Jackson scored four times in the four inning affair while Terry Vasquez had two key singles. Jimmy Nail also had two hits. Jackson was the winning pitcher.

Buffs Top Braves With One-Hitter

Wesley Bishop pitched a one-hit shutout against the Braves and the Buffs launched a 10 hit attack to win the Thursday night Pony League game 6-0.

Bishop struck out 13 batters in the seven inning he worked and allowed only one hit. Bishop retired the first four men to face him before Orville Schwartz doubled in the second inning. Bishop then retired 10 men in a row before walking Bid Cooper in the fifth inning.

Brad Morgan lead the Buff's hitting attack with a double and two singles while driving in two runs. He also scored twice. The Buffs scored once in the fourth, twice in the first and three in the fifth innings for the victory. Bishop drove in what proved to be the winning run in the first inning with a single.

Canyon Gun Club Range News

The Canyon Gun Club will hold match No. 13 at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, July 10, at the Club range.

Rules call for hunting rifles of .243 caliber and up with 6-power scope, standard stocks, with 5 x 5 shot at targets 100 yards distance from benchrest.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three shooters.

Texas Western, upset winner over Kentucky in the NCAA basketball final, won 28 out of 29 games [illegible]

LADIES INVITATIONAL — Dixie Crosby, left Colleene Butler, center, and Leota Burris are shown registering for the Ladies Invitational which is to be held July 12 at the Snyder Country Club. The golf tournament will be a one day affair, and all ladies are invited to participate.

Nicklaus Holds One-Stroke Lead

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Jack Nicklaus denies he's a slow golf player — it's just that he doesn't like officials putting a stopwatch on him.

"You can't play golf with a policeman hanging over you," said the blond master from Columbus, Ohio.

Leading the field by one stroke on 137 at the halfway stage of the British Open Golf Championship starting the third round today, Nicklaus paused — but not on the course — to explain how he feels about slow play.

"At the U.S. Open in San Francisco last month they tried to speed up play by badgering the golfers and even putting the clock on them," Nicklaus said.

"Some rounds were taking 5½ hours and obviously the U.S.G.A. was right to speed up play. But the methods were wrong."

Big Jack had no complaints on this score against the Royal and Ancient Golf Club which runs the British Open. His rounds thus far at Muirfield have taken about 3½ hours, and that has been about average.

"That seems just about right to me," Nicklaus said.

Gerald Micklem, chairman of the British championship committee, commented: "There has been absolutely no need to urge the players on. I think Americans tend to play faster over here than they do at home."

Two men who disagreed slightly about the speediness of play in this championship were Arnold Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player.

Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., shot a disappointing 72 in the second round after a sizzling 33 on the outward nine. He ran into a jam at the seventh hole and from then on had to wait for every shot.

"It certainly didn't help my game," he said.

Player said he found it impossible to play quickly on a course with so much rough that lots of time and effort had to be spent on finding and clearing stray shots.

Going into the two final rounds, Nicklaus held a one-stroke lead over England's Peter Butler. Two shots back were Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., Harold Henning of South Africa and Kel Nagle of Australia.

The last pair out today in what shaped up as the feature of the third round were Nicklaus and Butler.

Braves, Indians Win LL Contests

The Indians posted their second straight shutout 9-0 against the White Sox and the Braves clipped the Cardinals 7-3 in Little Lague games played Thursday night.

Butch Buchanan spun a one-hit shutout for the Indians, and struck out 10 White Sox batters. Buchanan allowed one hit in the first inning to Scotty Sullivan with two outs then went five innings without giving up a hit. Buchanan retired the last nine men to face him in order. Carlos Cisnero and Jackie Murray both homered for the Indians. Murray had three hits-double, single and homer. The Indians collected 10 hits in the rout.

N. C. Smith singled and homered for the Braves to lead the seven run attack against the Cardinals. The Braves scored three runs in the second and fourth innings to easily grab the win. Mark Hargrove was the winning pitcher, and allowed six hits and three runs. Randy Rodgers collected three of the six Cardinal safeties. The Braves had only five hits with their offensive attack.

Richey, Ralston In Net Quarterfinals

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Defending champion Cliff Richey of Dallas and top-seeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., take on seeded foreign contenders today in quarter-finals of the Western Tennis Tournament.

Richey, seeded No. 2 among the Americans, faces Ray Moore of South Africa, No. 4 foreign seed. Ralston goes against Mike Belkin of Canada, No. 3 among the foreign entrants.

Joaquin Loyo-Mayo of Mexico, No. 6, foreign seed, plays unseeded Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis. Two other unseeded players, Turner Howard of Knoxville, Tenn., and Bobby Brien of Australia, round out the quarter-final bracket.

Richey, Moore and Loyo-Mayo played third-round matches Thursday, and only Moore had trouble. He needed three sets to defeat Bill Lenoir of Tucson, Ariz., the 1963 Western champion and the No. 8 seed, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2.

Richey won from Sherwood Stewart of Baytown, Tex., 6-3, 6-3, and Loyo-Mayo defeated John Powless of Madison, Wis., 6-2, 6-0.

Astros Use Miscues For 5-1 Verdict

By The Associated Press

For two straight years the Texas Leaguers have thrown away their all-star game to the Houston Astros in the last inning.

Last year they waited until the 11th to make their bobbles so Houston might win 5-1.

Thursday night at Arlington it was the ninth inning when an error by Roy Majtyka of Arkansas on a double play ball opened the gates for three unearned Houston runs. The Astros won 7-6.

The winning run actually was balked in by Leo Newton, Arkansas pitcher.

Texas Leaguers entered the ninth leading 6-4. Then came disaster.

Houston pounded three hits in the ninth, Nate Colbert's double driving in two runs.

Bill Heath's homer in the seventh brought in two runs and got Houston back in the game. The Astros then trailed only 3-4. Ron Brand drove in Lee Maye in the eighth to tie the score.

Then the Texas Leaguers got two runs on a triple by Doug Rader of Amarillo, following a double by Tom Hutton of Albuquerque, and a sacrifice fly by Don Wilkinson of El Paso.

That set the stage for the Texas Leaguers' downfall in the ninth. Don Arlich, who worked the last inning in relief of Aurelio Monteagudo, was the winning pitcher.

Pat House of Austin started for the Texas Leaguers and pitched a perfect game for three innings. He surrendered a run in the fourth and left with the score tied 1-1.

Wayne Granger of Arkansas, who went on in the eighth, was the losing pitcher. He left the winning run on base.

A crowd of 10,434 saw the game—only about 200 fewer than last year despite rains during the day. The weather kept about 2,000 away, according to League President Hugh Finnerty.

The clubs return tonight to the Texas League race, being led by Arkansas, with Dallas-Fort Worth at Austin, Arkansas at Albuquerque and Amarillo at El Paso.

Foyt Auto To Race In Pyote

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Veteran race driver A. J. Foyt of Houston said Thursday he will enter his Lotus Ford in the Tumbleweed Two race at Pyote this weekend.

Foyt's machine is to be driven by Freddy Van Burean of Mexco City as Foyt is recovering from injuries suffered in a recent race.

The Tumbleweed Two at Pyote, 40 miles west of Odessa, is sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America.

ST. LOUIS AP)—The St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association announced Thursday they had signed Dick Snyder of Davidson College.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins announced today the signing of flanker Bobby Mitchell for the 1966 National Football League season.

Mitchell, in his fifth year, led the Redskins in pass receiving last year for the fourth consecutive season with 60 for 867 yards [illegible] touchdowns.

Drysdale Bats LA Past Atlanta, 3-2

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Good hit, no throw.

That's the story of Don Drysdale's latest effort, but the hitting overcame the throwing and enabled Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers to overcome Atlanta 3-2 Thursday night.

Drysdale, who has had numerous pitching problems this season, added some more to his list in the first 4½ innings against the Braves, throwing wild twice and hitting a batter once. In the last four innings, though, the hitting took over as he rapped singles three times.

The big right-hander's difficulties started in the third inning with two Braves on base and two out. Drysdale tried to pick Frank Bolling off second, but the throw went wide and the Braves had two runners in scoring position.

Drysdale then hit Mack Jones with a pitch, loading the bases, before Hank Aaron cracked a two-run single.

The Dodgers' onetime ace uncorked another wild pickoff throw with a man on and two out in the fifth, but this time he pitched out of it.

Drysdale the hitter then took over. He led off the bottom of the fifth with a single and reached second, then led off the seventh with a single and reached third. But Los Angeles didn't get a run either time.

He persisted, though, and one of his hits finally produced a run. With the game tied 2-2, Wes Parker at third and two out in the eighth inning, Drysdale grounded to short and beat it out for a run-scoring single.

In other National League games Thursday, San Francisco outslugged Cincinnati 7-5, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 5-4 and New York topped Philadelphia 9-6.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Minnesota 4-3, New York downed Boston 5-2 and Chicago defeated Washington 8-5.

Drysdale, winning his sixth game against 11 losses, left for a pinch runner after his third hit. He allowed five hits in eight innings, and Phil Regan stopped Atlanta in the ninth. Maury Wills had a run-producing single for the Dodgers while Jim Lefebvre contributed a sacrifice fly.

Cincinnati grabbed a 5-0 lead over San Francisco, but the Giants roared back on two-run homers by Tito Fuentes, Willie Mays and Cap Peterson. Tom Haller added a bases-empty homer for the Giants while Leo Cardenas connected with two on for the Reds.

Pittsburgh led Chicago 3-0, but the Cubs came from behind, too. A three-run rally in the seventh gave them a 5-3 margin. Ernie Banks doubled in the first run, and Byron Browne singled across the second and scored the third on Randy Hundley's sacrifice fly.

New York blew a five-run lead, saw Philadelphia tie the game 6-6 on Bob Uecker's eighth-inning homer, but then won it with three runs in the ninth. Al Luplow doubled in the tie-breaking run for the Mets, and Larry Elliot's double brought in two more runs.

Club Owners Favor Merger

By BERNIE KENNEDY

DEROIT (AP)—While certain individuals may remain unhappy over the concessions made to the National League, American Football League owners as a group feel the recently announced merger is good for pro football.

"Sure, there were a few owners who were unhappy with the idea of giving money to certain NFL clubs as part of the merger agreement," Boston Patriots' owner Bill Sullivan said.

"But the only thing we've all got to realize is that when you are part of a league, you have to go along with what the league decides. You can't go off by yourself. Who would you play?" he continued.

Sullivan, one of three AFL owners who worked on the merger plans with the NFL committee, said the final vote for the merger was 9-0.

"The persons who felt hurt most were those who were packing their own places and were making money despite close competition with another team. I can't blame them for squawking about giving money away. None of us feel happy when we have to do it," he concluded.

Commissioner Al Davis, who said when the meetings started he had made up his mind about whether to remain in his present position but would wait for 10 days to two weeks before making an announcement, did not allow himself to be trapped into making a premature statement.

Dean Strack In Tie For Odessa Lead

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—George Clark and Dean Strack, both of Midland, stroked their way to an 11-under-par 61 to take the first round lead at the 18th annual Odessa Pro-Am Thursday.

Clark, the Midland Country Club pro, and Strack, a dentist, took a one stroke lead over Bo Wininger of Las Vegas and Bobby French of Midland.

Clark had five birdies on the front nine and Strack added one on the back nine, Strack had four birdies and Clark threw in one to give them their 61.

Wininger and French missed a tie for the lead when they had a bogey on the par 3 ninth hole. After both missed the green, they were unable to chip close enough to make their par putts.

Wininger finished with a flourish, with a birdie on 16, an eagle on 17 and a birdie on 18.

Charles Coody of Fort Worth and Richard Patton of Midland are two strikes back at 63.

Celebrities Dean Martin and Don Cherry found the going tough and wound up with a two-under-par 70.

Tight Money Slows Sales Of Homes

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —John and his wife had made up their minds. They would take the $30,000 house in the neighborhood where they thought their children would have a better chance. The down payment of $3,000 had finally been scraped together. Monthly payments on the mortgage would be pretty high for them; but they thought they could swing it, just barely.

"Sorry," said the real estate agent. You should have come back a month ago. Now, the only possible source for the money to finance the purchase is asking a down payment of $6,000. And the interest on the mortgage has gone from 5.5 per cent to 6.5 per cent. Money's tight, you know."

John and his wife and the children are staying in the old neighborhood.

On the other side of the country, an aggressive junior executive was being moved to a new post. Joe was happy at the promotion. His family were reconciled to leaving their friends and the home his wife liked so much. A buyer had been lined up for it.

But just before the deed was to be signed, the would-be buyer backed out. He still liked the house. But to swing the deal for him, the lender of the mortgage money was now asking much more in down payment and carrying charges that would put the monthly payments beyond the stretching point of the prospect's income—even if the asking price for the house was shaved. The lender had explained it was hard to find any money, even costlier money, for the deal—and the going interest rates for everything were up, way up.

Much the same thing is reported here and there by professional builders. The financial institutions that carry them while they build and hunt for home buyers are hard to deal with just now. Banks and savings and loan associations say they're short of funds to lend. They also are fearful that home buyers able to handle the costlier mortgages may prove few and far between.

Tight money is coming as a shock to many folk because the money supply actually is bigger than ever before. But there's a booming demand for credit to run a booming economy. Businessmen are competing for loans. Government agencies and private corporations are selling securities—and competing for any available money.

Homes are still being sold, and still being built. But financial institutions that traditionally lend the money for the purchase of homes are finding it harder to get more deposits, because people with idle money can get higher returns by depositing elsewhere, or buying securities.

Nine Texans Die In Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)— Nine Texas men were included Thursday in a list of U.S. military personnel killed in action in Viet Nam during the week ending July 2.

The list, issued by the Defense Department, included seven Army and two Marine Corps enlisted men.

Army personnel listed were Pfc. Ronald E. McBeth, Abilene, Spec. 4 Harry T. Richwjdson Jr., Daingerfield Pfc. C. Forsbach, Waco, Sgt. Jack D. Johnson, Copperas Cove, Pfc. Ledell Willis, Galveston, Sgt. Roy D. Bailey, Fort Worth, and Spec. 4 Benjamin Ornelas, San Antonio.

Marine Corps personnel listed were Lance Cpl. Alberto A. Avalos, Brownsville, and Cpl. Davie E. Reyner, Houston.

Building Boasts Dead-End Tunnel

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a basement in the $87-million Rayburn House Office Building, a tunnel stretches from a freight elevator 95 feet into a concrete dead end.

Unlike the adjoining pedestrian corridor from the Rayburn building to the neighboring Longworth House Office Building, the tunnel goes nowhere. It isn't used for anything either.

"It was put in initially at the request of the Post Office Department in case they wanted to put in a conveyor system" from the Longworth Post Office to the Rayburn building, says James H. Banks, second assistant architect of the Capitol.

"But they're not ready to use it," Banks added in an interview. "The volume doesn't justify it."

"This is the first I ever knew what that was there for; I often wondered about it," said House Postmaster H.H. Morris when told the architect's office said the corridor had been intended for a mail conveyer system.

"We wouldn't have been much in favor of it in the first place," Morris added. 'They tried it over in the Senate Office Building but it just didn't work. Air currents would blow the letters off the belt. There wasn't any recommendation from us."

A Post Office Department spokesman concluded, "We could have suggested consideration that they might put something like that in." But he added: "It would be entirely up to the Capitol architect."

Any conveyer system using the tunnel would have to pass through a room that houses large heating and air-conditioning equipment in order to reach the Longworth Post Office two stories higher.

Banks said it was correct that the architect's office made the final decision. "We thought it was a good idea," he said. "I still think it's a good idea."

Whatever its original purpose, the tunnel today lies virtually empty. About half the floor is painted, about two-thirds of the walls.

Two doors, numbered G3-15 and G3-15A, are propped open and tourists frequently wander in by mistake. The doors are marked "fire door, keep closed."

"It's a tunnel," said David Foutz, second assistant superintendent of House office buildings when asked what the tunnel is used for now. "What do you want to know about it for," he asked a reporter. "You people will just write stories about it."

Banks, No. 3 man under Capitol architect J. George Stewart and assistant Mario E. Campioli, said he thought the tunnel would be used for storage. "We always needed more storage places," he said.

Told that the only thing in the tunnel at present is a broken whisky bottle, Banks laughed: "Well, somebody used it for something."

"The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." Psalm 14:1.

It is not a comforting thought,
at least,
To know in body we're kin to the beast.
In spirit, there is a kinship to God,
Or else we're base as the poorest of sod,
And though mind and virtue we ever confine,
We're a cry in the night without the devine!

Balloon Lands In Arizona

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — Officials at the National Center for Atmospheric Research said a giant balloon launched in Texas to study gamma ray activity came down on schedule Thursday near Apache Lake, Ariz.

The balloon was launched here Wednesday. It was filled with 10.6 million cubic feet of helium and carried an instrument package.

In charge of the project was Dr. Glenn Frye of the Case Institute of Technology at Cleveland, Ohio.

A "spark chamber," also to study gamma rays, was to be lifted aloft by a five million cubic feet-capacity balloon today.

The balloon was to sail over the El Paso area and should return to the ground after an all-day flight.

Director of the project is Dr. Bill McDonald of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of Cal Tech, Pasadena, Calif.

Officials at the research center said the balloons ascend to about 130,000 feet.

SMU Professor To Probe Historic Site

DALLAS (AP) —The Canadian government has hired a Southern Methodist University professor, Dr. Edward B. Jelks, to probe the ruins of an historic site at St. John's, Newfoundland.

Jelks, a professor of anthropology, began investigating the site last summer. St. John's consists of a series of batteries at the military installation in existence from 1790 to 1850 near Signal Hill, the oldest city in North America.

Named Vidor Chief

VIDOR, Tex. (AP)—Walter Billingsley, former Lufkin police chief and Orange County deputy sheriff, has been named as the first full-time police chief of this town of 5,000 east of Beaumont.

Prof Sees Disturbance In Religion

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Death of "God" movement reflects the disturbed state of mind of younger religionists in the United States, a Baptist professor of theology said here Thursday.

Speaking at the Baylor Ministers Conference in Bible and Theology, Dr. James Lee Garrett, professor of theology at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Lousville, Ky., branded the movement as lacking in biblical and historical depth.

Many have tried to explain the "God is Dead" advocates as men reacting to neo-orthodoxy, he said.

"It is not just a reaction alone to certain theological movements of the past," Garrett said.

"I don't think any Christian Theology is worth its salt unless it has its rootage in the Bible and the Christian church," Garrett said.

Garrett quoted T. T. Altizer, professor at Emory University, as saying: "We must recognize that the death of God is an historical event, that God has died in our time and our history and our existence."

"When pressed for when God died and under what circumstances, Altizer has not been so explicit," he said.

Praises Port Arthur Industrial Climate

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—The president of Gulf Oil Corp., a native of Port Arthur, said that the industrial climate in this Southeast Texas city was once so poor that Gulf considered moving its refinery to another city.

"But you have made great changes," said Bob Rawls Dorsey in an address here recently. "The situation that existed in Port Arthur several years ago no longer exists and the city now appears ready to develop to its full potential."

Gulf operates a major refining complex here.

Kelly Plans New Schedule

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. AP)—"Increasing logistic demands in support of air operations in Southeast Asia" will force Kelly Air Force Base air operations maintenance shops to begin seven-day, 2-hour schedules for the first time since World War II, the base commander said Thursday.

The new schedule is to begin Sunday, said Maj. Gen. Frank E. Rouse, San Antonio air material area commander.

The schedule change, he said, would affect only Kelly shops which are "required to provide high priority support and fast response to the needs in Viet Nam.

The overhauling and modification of B52 bombers and management and overhaul of aircraft engines and radar and electronics systems are among the functions of Kelly shops.

About 1,400 of the base's 10,000 maintenance personnel will be involved in the new schedule, an Air Force spokesman said. About 500 trainees recently hired will soon be integrated into the work force.

FCC Approves New Lubbock TV Station

WASHINGTON AP)— The Federal Communications Commission Thursday approved two requests for an additional television station and an FM station and announced receipt of an application for an FM station.

Approved were requests from Inter-American Radio, Inc., for an FM station on 101.9 megacycles at San Antonio, and a request from KJJJ—TV, Lubbock, to operate a television station on channel 28.

An application was received from KDSX, Inc., of Sherman-Denison, for an FM station on 101.7 megacycles, the FCC said.

Landmark Decision Due

LEVELLAND, Tex. (AP) "In my opinion, it is a case of great magnitude," Dist. Judge M.C. Ledbetter said Thursday after two days of testimony as to whether an oil company can use underground water for secondary petroleum recovery.

Many observers feel the decision will be a landmark in West Texas.

Ledbetter took the matter under advisement and did not indicate when he might hand down a ruling.

An injunction is sought by the Sun Oil Co. to prevent Ernest Whitaker, a Hockley County farmer, from interfering with plans for using water to flood an oil pool under the farm.

A lease giving Sun the right to use water and wood on the property is held by the oil firm.

The case has been watched closely by oil and agriculture interests. It could set a far-reaching legal precedent.

High Plains Water Conservation Dist. No. 1 has entered the suit as an intervener. It contends that such use would tend to deplete the valuable Ogallala underground water formation, used extensively for irrigation on the High Plains of West Texas.

North Central Texas Approves Flood Study

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) —A $31,500 study to evaluate water, sewage and flood control needs for the next five to 10 years has been approved for the North Central Texas area by the Regional Planning Commission.

The study will be finished by early fall, Harold F. Wise-Robert Gladestone & Associates told th ecommission Thursday.

Included in the study will be a 10-county area.

It Says Right Here

We are travellers on the way. We want to arrive. We want good directions; we have not been this way before; we shall go on the path but once. How important, then, that we follow the right directions! Serious men have been crying through the centuries, "Which way shall I take?" Here is a man who has found it. Listen, look, read, with Him.

It's an old guide-book and a good one. Its commands come with the authority of Heaven to earth, of God to man, of eternity to time. Centuries of human experience have declared them right. Your own soul recognizes their right to control. Be quiet and know the good and the true and the right. Hear the challenge!

Thou shalt worship! Our neighbors and family command, "Thou shalt work"; more important still is the ancient and imperious word, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God." Thou shalt keep the Sabbath! Be sure that you hold something sacred; some place, some time, some Person. Else all life becomes common, that is, secular or vulgar. Thou shalt honor! Whom shall we honor? Answer: the people nearest and dearest to you, the everyday folks with whom you live, and to whom you owe so much. Thou shalt not murder! But also, "Thou shalt not hate thy brother." Thou shalt not commit adultery! But also, "Thou shalt not lust," since the evil desire comes first. Thou shalt not steal! But also, thou shalt not covet or desire what belongs to another.

Aren't you glad for these clear clarion calls to conscience? Have you come to the place where you change the wording and say, "I must?" I must worship; I must keep holy days; I must honor my parents; I must be clean of thought and purpose. Change the second person to the first; "thou" to "I". God's commandments become my commandments, God's way becomes my way... "it says right here."

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial arm molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
