PURCELL DISQUALIFIED

O'Daniel Is Eligible To Run, Demo Panel Rules

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—Former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel is eligible to run again for governor as a Democrat, a party subcommittee ruled unanimously Saturday.

In a split decision, the State Democratic Executive Committee's legal sub-panel also held that Dist. Judge Graham Purcell, Wichita Falls, is not qualified to be a candidate for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The subcommittee's recommendations must be acted upon by the full meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee here Monday before they become final.

Judge Purcell told newsmen he would seek to mandamus the SDEC if it follows the subcommittee's recommendation that he is not qualified to become a candidate for nomination to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The subcommittee met for less than an hour to hear arguments on disputes, then reached its decisions in a two-hour closed meeting.

Its sessions was a preliminary to a full meeting of the SDEC Monday when the names of candidates in the July 26 primary will be certified.

O'Daniel, former governor and senator, was challenged on grounds that he took the party loyalty pledge as a voter in the 1956 Democratic primary, then violated it in the general election.

In the other dispute, Judge K. K. Woodley of the Court of Criminal Appeals, seeking re-election, questioned the right of Dist. Judge Graham Purcell to seek the democratic nomination. Woodley says the Constitution requires 10 years of service as a judge or lawyer. Purcell says 7 years is enough under the law.

A top worker in O'Daniel's campaign for governor scoffed at reports that O'Daniel would voluntarily withdraw from the race. Jim Fritts of Austin, Travis County manager for O'Daniel, said the rumors were "ridiculous."

He helped set up an O'Daniel headquarters in downtown Austin.

"This doesn't look like withdrawal to you does it?" Fritts asked, pointing to desks, tables and telephones being set up.

He added that he did not know "what the committee may do to him."

Fritts was referring to the challenge on O'Daniel's eligibility to run as a Democrat. He intimated that if the executive committee should bar O'Daniel, that court action would follow.

The decision on O'Daniel was based on a June 6 letter the former governor and senator sent to party officials, declaring that he was a Democrat when he filed for a place on the ballot. O'Daniel said that he was "still a Democrat" and that he expects to participate in the July 26 primary "and to abide by the decision of said Democratic primary."

The subcommittee also recommended that filing fees paid by Alvis Vandygriff, Austin, and Don Booker, Orange, who had been candidates for governor but who have withdrawn, not be refunded.

The subcommittee session was a preliminary to the general SDEC committee meeting Monday.

No one appeared to speak in behalf of O'Daniel. Chairman H. O. Woodward read his letter.

The subcommittee said that "in view of Mr. O'Daniel's letter x x x statint that he is a Democrat and will abide by the decision of the Democratic primary it is the opinion of this subcommittee that under the holding of Love vs. Wilcox by the Supreme Court of Texas, Mr. O'Daniel is entitled to be certified as a candidate x x x." The Love vs. Wilcox case was one in which the court held in effect that a past deviation from the party line could not bar a candidate if he later re-aligned himself with the party.

Congress Expected To Revise Much Of Legislative Program

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) predicted Saturday Congress will approve major parts of the administration's legislative program, but probably not in the form President Eisenhower wants.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he believes compromises will be necessary on Eisenhower's defense reorganization, reciprocal trade, and foreign aid requests.

He said a House bill creating a civilian space agency is likely to be revised by the Senate. He expressed the belief the administration's hold-the-line tax legislation may be approved without much change.

"When Congress finishes its work, I believe that most of the major measures proposed by the President will be enacted," he said in an interview. "But I am afraid some of them are not going to be in a form entirely pleasing to him."

On defense reorganization, Bridges said he is convinced that Eisenhower will lose out in his demand that the secretaries of the armed forces and the chiefs of staff be barred from appealing to Congress if the secretary of defense transfers functions from one service to another.

"There is no question that the right of the secretaries and joint chiefs to come to Congress will be preserved," Bridges said.

Eisenhower has listed his defense reorganization plan, as originally proposed, as one of "four commandments"—the major matters on which he says he wants congressional action.

In a conference with a group of GOP house members Friday, Eisenhower also urged enactment of the foreign aid and reciprocal trade programs. He called for "a reasonable attitude" on antirecession measures, reiterating his opposition to general tax cuts and any large scale public works program.

Bridges said somewhat improved economic conditions indicate to him that there will be no massive public works spending bills enacted in this session.

But he said the Senate is certain to make basic changes in Eisenhower's proposal to extend the reciprocal trade program for five years.

"The term of the extension certainly will be limited," he said. "A half dozen approaches also are under study which would provide more protection from import competition than the President originally suggested."

Texan's Body Is Found In Pecos River

COWLES, N.M. (AP)—Two national guardsmen probing debris in the flooding Pecos River found the body of Leo Konesko, 59, Abernathy, Tex., Saturday.

Konesko fell into the upper Pecos near this mountain resort community last Tuesday. Officials said they found wire stretched along a bridge pulled away, and said they believed the Texas farmer fell off the bridge at that point while fishing.

The body was found about one mile downstream from the bridge. National guardsmen Alfonso Martinez and Leroy Garcia of Las Vegas found the body about one-half mile below a debris-cluttered jam of trees and logs which had fallen in the river.

Searchers probed in the jam and freed debris which floated downstream. Officers said the body apparently was freed with the debris.

Macmillan Arrives For Talks

By JOHN M. Hightower

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew into Washington Saturday to talk over with President Eisenhower such world issues as the French political crisis and a possible summit conference with Russ-

Macmillan characterized the sessions as informal talks with the President, an old acquaintance.

Relations between Washington and London are generally more harmonious than in recent years.

But U.S. officials said they expect Macmillan in conferences starting Monday to urge Eisenhower to endorse increased Western trade with the Soviet Union, to move as rapidly as possible toward a summit conference, and to strengthen Western machinery for waging the economic cold war.

Both British and U.S. diplomats indicated Premier Charles de Gaulle of France would be informed about the discussions and whatever understandings are reached.

There was speculation Macmillan might fly to Paris after the Washington talks. Another possibility was that Eisenhower and Macmillan would publicly declare their interest in meeting De Gaulle when he has time.

Macmillan came from London aboard a new Britannia jet-prop airliner accompanied by his wife and a party of 12. A faulty engine forced the plane to turn back to London Friday night, and Macmillan reached Washington about three hours behind schedule.

Secretary of State Dulles will sit in on the first meeting with Eisenhower Monday afternoon.

Dulles, who arranged a private dinner at his home Saturday night for the Prime Minister and Lady Dorothy Macmillan, met the plane here.

Macmillan and he then engaged in the familiar diplomatic game of talking down the importance of the meeting. If nothing much is accomplished, such a preliminary is supposed to reduce disappointment. If some important decision is made, officials can claim it was planned that way all along.

Macmillan said his chief purpose in coming here "is to make a pilgrimage to my mother's state, Indiana." He will speak at De Pauw University at Greencastle Sunday.

Double-Deck Traffic, Autos Under Ground Are Forecast

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 2000 A. D., a mere 42 years from now—

Autos will be barred from downtown—above ground, at least.

Low cost housing projects built in the 1940s and 1950s will have become slums and bulldozed out of existence.

Electric power will be generated by the sun's rays and transmitted without wires.

Main highways will be double-decked, autos above and trucks below, and the highways will be equipped with built-in heating elements to melt ice and snow.

These predictions on the turn of the millenium will be sealed into the cornerstone of the new headquarters building of the Associated General Contractors of America.

On Tuesday Vice President Nixon will dedicate the structure and place in the cornerstone a chest holding the forecasts by editors of architectural, engineering and construction journals.

"The nobility of the city will return," said the prediction of Joseph Watterson, editor of The Journal of the American Institute of Architects.

"Through the suppression of traffic and the creation of neighborhoods, communal life will return to the streets, similar to that of the medieval cities. The city will come into its proper place in the scheme of life, as a delightful place to live and to work. . . ."

The editors see city-center traffic carried on fast, clean transit lines in depressed rights of way, or high in the air; they will carry car owners to the fringes of the city where their autos will wait in municipal garages.

Business centers will be rebuilt with spreading buildings—and some skyscrapers, retained largely for prestige or historical interest—set in landscaped malls.

Highways of the 21st century will be built, according to Col. W. A. Hardenbergh, editor of Public Works magazine, fusing earth and stone on the spot with portable atomic reactors to form the road foundation.

While nuclear fuel may be the chief energy source in the rest of the world, George B. Roscoe, editor of Qualified Contractor magazine believes North America may generally skip atomic power.

Coal, oil, and gas are abundant here, Roscoe reasoned, so this continent may move directly to solar energy for heating homes and running smokeless factories.

Plant Closed To Prepare For Strike

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Petroleum Chemicals Inc., started closing down its four plants here Saturday in preparation for a union strike set for Monday.

F. M. Simpson, New Orleans, vice president and general manager of PCI, said the Lake Charles Metal Trades Council notified the company it would set up picket lines at the plants Monday.

The company said the union reached a deadlock on a new contract Friday after several months of negotiations. The old contract ran out in April.

Simpson said wages and fringe benefits were not an issue in the negotiations. He said the union was seeking "feather-bedding" clauses that included stand-by workers and technical matters.

About 500 union employes of PCI would be affected by the strike in the four plants. One plant produces butadiene used in synthetic rubber, another produces chemicals used in anti-freeze, and the others make ammonia and ethylene.

PCI is owned by Cities Service Co. and Continental Oil Co.

Announcement that a Post Office sub-station will be established in the southwest part of town holds a promise of easing an inconvenient situation. The additional facility apparently stems from the increase in postal rates voted recently by Congress. The sub-station is due to be opened for business on Aug. 1, date the new postal rates go into effect.

However, the sub-station will hardly eliminate the need for improved facilities for the main Post Office. It will make it easier for local residents to dispatch mail, and, in the case of postal facilities, we are thankful for crumbs around here.

Concern over heavy demands for services at Cogdell Memorial Hospital have been voiced intermittently during recent months, and the hospital board has laid the groundwork for some concrete study of the situation. The employment of a consulting firm to make a survey appears to be a sound preliminary step. When the survey is completed, the board, along with interested citizens, should be able to chart a sound course for the future.

Like a bolt from the blue, the City Council was reminded of a dormant project the other day. Telegrams advising that the Federal Housing Administration had approved a slum clearance program for Snyder came simultaneously from Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Rep. George Mahon. The action was taken in connection with a low-rent housing proposal the city had under study several weeks ago. Following a public meeting, the council decided against any such local development at that time.

The new Scurry County Library opened for business last Monday and immediately became a popular spot in the community. Campaign Activity Due To Speed Up

By GARTH JONES

Campaign activity in the Texas governor and the senate races takes a spurt next week although at least two principals still haven't made their official opening speeches.

In the governor's campaign, state Sen. Henry Gonzalez plans an opening rally Monday night in San Antonio with the proceedings televised in the San Antonio, Houston, Austin, Harlingen, Corpus Christi, Beaumont and Fort Worth-Dallas areas.

Gov. Price Daniel plans officially to open his re-election campaign with a statewide radio speech the last week of June. He has scheduled a number of what he calls non-political appearances throughout the state.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough celebrates his 55th birthday at his home in Austin Sunday with an informal cake-and-punch reception in his honor planned for 4 p.m. at his state headquarters. Monday, Yarborough will speak in Galveston to the Southwest convention of the Order of Ahepa, an organization of Americans of Greek descent.

Yarborough has not been able to schedule an official opening speech because of Congress is still in session.

Yarborough appeared Saturday at the Pioneer Days celebration in Fort Worth.

Senatorial candidate William Blakley closed up a 20-county East Texas swing in Nacogdoches Saturday. He will go to Port Arthur Monday afternoon for a public reception, then to an evening meeting in Beaumont. Another reception is scheduled Tuesday night in Beaumont following a day of hand-shaking in Beaumont, Orange, Port Neches, and other cities of the area.

The Weather Bureau said some showers might have lingered in northeast Texas and in the El Paso area but that generally skies were cloudless.

Afternoon temperatures ranged from 101 at Presidio to 87 at Corpus Christi. Most were in the 90s.

Dallas caught .93 of an inch Saturday afternoon to bring its total rainfall for the day to 1.06.

Opinions Vary On Khrushchev Offer

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev's offer for a billion-dollar trade deal with the United States was interpreted by many Westerners here Saturday as evidence the Soviet Premier is determined to raise the standard of living in Russia, whatever the propaganda cost.

Other Westerners in Moscow, however, looked on the bid as a Khrushchev coup in his over-all campaign for peaceful coexistance with the West.

Khrushchev acknowledged any large scale Soviet-U.S. trade would hinge on long term credits from the United States. But Westerners in Moscow see little prospect the U.S. Congress would approve such credits.

The main argument likely to be raised in the United States is that credits would only release further Kremlin credits for underdeveloped countries, a field in which the Soviet Union is competing with the United States.

One of the main political advantages of Khrushchev's offer is believed to be the stimulating effect it is expected to have on West European countries which now might start a rush to get ahead of the United States in doing business with Russia.

Khrushchev got a pat on the back for his offer from the Soviet newspapers Pravda and Izvestia.

"Only the inveterate enemies of international cooperation can be satisfied with the present conditions of trade between the Soviet Union and the United States," said Pravda.

Izvestia, in a similar front page editorial, said:

"The Soviet Union and other members of the Socialist bloc are countering the antihuman, anti-people's motto of the aggressive NATO bloc, 'Let us arm', with a motto of its own: 'Let us trade'.

Both papers said Russia has enough resources of its own to realize its program, but they added that U.S. materials and equipment would speed up the process for development in the Soviet Union.

Self-Styled Tough Guy Asks Mercy Before His Execution

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, UTAH (AP) — Bartan Kay Kirkham, who scorned religion and family, asked God to forgive him Saturday an instant before he died in the hangman's noose.

His last words were the first of remorse he had uttered publicly since he was condmened to die for the murder of grocery clerk David Frame, 50.

But otherwise, Kirkham, 21, lived to the end the hardcase reputation he had striven so carefully to build during two years' imprisonment.

"I've asked God to forgive me," Kirkham told Sheriff George Beckstead through the black hood that shrouded his head and shoulders.

Then as Beckstead stepped back, an iron lever was pulled, and Kirkham plunged six feet through a trapdoor of the 11-foot pine board gallows.

The body hung for 14 minutes, almost concealed by the burlap and canvas covering around the bottom of the structure. Then Dr. W. C. Knott pronounced Kirkham officially dead.

Kirkham had declined to ask for religious comfort during his final hours. He had scoffed at suggestions that he should be remorseful for the slaying of Frame and Mrs. Ruth Webster, 38, during a holdup Aug. 11, 1956. Kirkham never was tried for Mrs. Webster's death.

Kirkham saw a movie with his parents, ate pizza and ice cream, and bade the parents farewell just before midnight. Then with an audience of prison guards, chaplains, and some newsmen he spent the night jovially playing classical piano music and cracking macabre jokes about his impending execution.

For Kirkham, it was the final act of the tough guy role he had played and gloried in since his conviction and his choice of death by hanging.

Only during a final hearing Wednesday did he waver. Then he asked for a commutation of his death sentence and outside psychiatric treatment. His plea was rejected.

Cotton Men Seek Better Markets

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—The 19th annual American Cotton Congress closed Saturday with a plea to the administration for legislation to help cotton farmers sell their product.

Burris C. Jackson, Hillsboro, general chairman of the congress, said "We need a bill passed to get a one price system for cotton the same for domestic mills as it is sold to foreign mills."

"And we need to get a bill passed to get more acreage for the cotton farmer," Jackson said in his closing address.

"We have agreed to appeal to spokesmen for other crops to help us get this greatly needed legislation."

Jackson said, "Americans know how to grow cotton better than anyone else in the world but sure haven't been able to sell it."

Earnest Carpenter, manager of the cotton dept. of Greenwood Mills, Greenwood, S.C., said cotton "is being cleaned to the point of no return."

He said cotton that has been over-heated and over-ginned to bring it up to middling and strict middling in grade doesn't have the inherrent value of strict middling and middling.

"Repeated tests show that very often the grades of yarn and fabrics produced decrease as the grade of cotton goes up—where the increase in grades is due to excess cleaning and drying," he said.

OIL ROUNDUP

Import Estimates Varying Widely

HOUSTON (AP) Many formulas are being used in the dispute over oil imports.

As a result, current estimates of the oil being brought into the United States can range from 700,000 to 1,400,000 barrels a day and still be fairly accurate.

Most backers of proposed mandatory controls over oil imports contend petroleum products as well as crude oil should be included in the estimates. Government agencies and the importers prefer to eliminate products to varying degrees.

The voluntary curtailment program established by President Eisenhower last July was aimed at the high level of crude imports and was not designed to limit products. This week, however, the program was broadened to include unfinished gasoline and other unfinished products.

Government officials said the new order was designed to prevent circumvention of the efforts to curtail crude imports.

The order probably will broaden the variety of formulas not in use.

American Petroleum Institute (API) reports indicate the level of crude imports, at least to a limited degree, affected the level of products imports even before the current dispute developed after the end of the 1956-57 Suez Canal crisis.

The API statistical reports indicate that increased crude imports normally mean decreased products imports, that products take a jump when crude receipts fall. The reports reflect no definite ratio but the fluctuations are rather sharp.

For example, total imports the four weeks ending Jan. 6, 1956, averaged 1,471,900 barrels a day. This included 849,600 barrels of crude and 622,300 barrels of products.

For a similar period ending July 13, 1956, total imports had changed vey little, with a daily average of 1,446,400 barrels. The crude-products ratio, however, had changed. Crude passed the million mark the first time, averaging 1,065,900 barrels a day. Products imports averaged only 380,500 a day.

Three weeks after the voluntary program was established, crude imports averaged a record 1,269,100 barrels a day for the four weeks ending Aug. 16, 1957. Products averaged 391,200.

By late December, the curtailment efforts had cut crude imports to 934,600 barrels a day but products had risen to 564,100. The report for the four weeks ending May 23 indicated little change, placing crude at 959,500 a day, products at 578,900.

Capt. Matthew Carson, administrator of the curtailment, told Texas Independent Oil Operators last month that 86 per cent of products imports are residual heating oils.

Spurt Is Noted In Gas Well Completions

AUSTIN (AP)— The Railroad Commission reported Saturday another spurt in gas well completions in Texas.

A total of 1,036 gas wells have been completed this year, 34 this week, as compared to 820 last year.

Oil well completions totaled 5,914 compared to 7,137 with 206 coming the past seven days.

There were 82 dry holes, bringing the year total to 2,830 compared with 3,460 in 1957.

In unproven territory, 10 oil and 1 gas wildcats were recorded, upping the year's marks to 174 and 40. This compared to 243 and 50 last year. Fifty three attempts in unproven territory were dry this week, increasing the year's total to 1,709 as compared to last year's 2,068.

The total average calendar day oil allowable showed a 5,918 barrel increase over last Saturday's 2,465,795 barrels.

A total of 140 wells were plugged, bringing the year's mark to 4,446 compared to 5,046.

Spouse Says Deborah Is Being Enticed

LONDON (AP)—Deborah Kerr's husband today accused Hollywood screen writer Peter Viertel of enticement of the actress.

Husband Anthony Bartley, a former Royal Air Force flier, said he was trying to "preserve and safeguard my marriage and to protct my children."

Bartley's lawyer said in a statement they had "issued a writ against Mr. Viertel alleging enticement." They did not say what further legal action was intended. But under British law, a writ is issued as the first step in a civil action. It is a warning that the defendant may be liable for damages.

Bartley and the 36-year-old sophisticated lady of the films had for 12 years been regarded as movieland's happiest couple until she disclosed their separation a week ago.

Miss Kerr and Viertel are both in Vienna working on a movie. Viertel, 37, has denied rumors of a romance as "nonsense and pure malarkey."

Bartley, 38, served as his wife's manager in the early years of their marriage before going into TV and films himself as a producer.

Bartley and Miss Kerr have two daughters, Melanie, 11, and Francesca, 9. They are with their father in England. Bartley has taken legal steps to make them wards of a British court to prevent their being taken out of the country.

Both Miss Kerr and Bartley have said they hope to resolve their marital differences without a divorce.

UAW Tries To Quell Strike Sentiment

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers attempted Saturday to quell strike sentiment among Chrysler workers and hold them on the job during the uneasy labor truce in the auto industry.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther's aides appealed to a meeting of 500 stewards and shop committeemen from Chrysler plants to avoid repetition of incidents that Friday resulted in the shutdown of two Chrysler plants here.

Angered by limitations put on them by the company during the first week of no-contract operations, some stewards and committeemen demanded immediate strike action.

Art Hughes, head of the UAW's bargaining team in Chrysler contract talks, told newsmen he believed Chrysler workers will stay on the job next week.

The union also has announced that General Motors and Ford will be held accountable in final settlements for anything the union considers to be undue hardships put on members while working without contracts.

An average of 3,000 prisoners are paroled from jail to the Salvation Army each year.

Maj. Gen. Carl Phinney of Dallas, division commander, said the training will be the hardest in peacetime history.

"By the end of the week we expect to qualify for combat every man in the division in all basic training subjects," Phinney said.

Few States Leap Into Relief Plan

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The states are showing little inclination to rush into the Eisenhower administration's emergency unemployment relief program.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress for $665,700,000 to finance the program—on the assumption that all states will come into it and that 2,650,000 eligible unemployed will draw additional benefits for an average of 8½ weeks.

An Associated Press survey shows that some states definitely plan to sign up—Pennsylvania Friday became the first state to do so—but that some want no part of the program. A great many more don't know what they are going to do. A number will reach decisions in the next few days.

Asst. Secretary of Labor Newell Brown predicted Thursday that all but a few of the states will go along.

The greatest pressure to lengthen the period of payments naturally has built up in states with big populations and comparatively heavy unemployment.

In addition to Pennsylvania, governors of six states already have taken steps, or probably will, toward participation in the program. The states: New York, Michigan, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Maryland and Indiana.

Connecticut has extended its period of jobless payments without federal aid. Ohio and Illinois also may use their own reserve funds instead of obtaining federal loans, and possibly the Michigan legislature will take this course.

About half the states can participate in the federal program only if they amend their constitutions, hold referendums—Rhode Island has one coming up Tuesday—or get specific authority from their legislatures.

In many instances it would be necessary for the governors to call special sessions to obtain legislative action. A number already have issued calls and several are considering doing so.

A few have no intention of summoning legislatures to special sessions. Some states, chiefly in the West and South, report that unemployment and economic conditions appear to be improving. In Kansas, unemployment has dropped below the 1957 level.

The federal law, signed by President Eisenhower Wednesday, takes effect June 19 and expires next April 1. States may take advantage of it or not, as they choose.

In participating states, insured workers who have exhausted their benefits through prolonged unemployment will have the duration of payments extended 50 per cent. In states now paying benefits for 20 weeks, for example, the extension thus will be for another 10 weeks.

Bids On Auto Reconsidered

The Snyder school board, in a special meeting held Friday, decided to reconsider bids on a car to be purchased for use of the newly-appointed superintendent.

The board earlier in the week had accepted a bid on a Buick submitted by Canyon Buick-Pontiac, Inc., but the firm later informed the board that it could not make delivery in time.

The board will reconsider bids of the middle line cars Tuesday night, and it decided also to accept bids from motor firms here on the top body styles of the three low-priced cars.

The car to be purchased must have an eight-cylinder motor, air conditioning, and power equipment.

The regular board meeting is scheduled Tuesday night.

Stock Market Plugs On To New Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market plugged forward to a succession of new 1958 highs this week in active trading.

On four of the five trading days the average hit new peaks for the year. Only on Wednesday did the market pause to consolidate its gains and wind up unchanged on balance.

No sensational rise was recorded on any single day. Monday's was the largest. This session followed the three-day Memorial Day weekend. During this market recess the French crisis was resolved, for the time, at least.

The steels and other industrials gained ground moderately but a large variety of miscellaneous issues pushed forward. Both blue chips and the cheaper secondary issues were in demand.

Volume swelled to 13,529,631 shares for the week, the largest since the week ended May 10.

The rails also made good progress, establishing a new 1958 high of their own. They were helped by a general feeling in Wall Street that despite conflicting statements in Washington, they were bound to get some financial relief before the session of Congress ends.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.50 to its new high of $172.60, reaching the highest level since last Sept. 18.

Market analysts commented continually about the fresh supplies of money seeking investment in stocks and this was ascribed as one of the main reasons for the market's resiliency.

Memory Book Given School

The Junior High School Parent-Teacher's Association unit has presented a picture memory book to the school.

It was dedicated to assistant principal, Robert L. Smith, and was inscribed "To a man of exceptional understanding concerning the problems that face us, and a friend to all."

The book presents a panoramic view of the programs activities and personalities at Snyder Junior High School last year.

The memory book was regarded by a committee headed by Mrs. Scott Casey. Other committee members were Mrs. J. Elmo Crowder, Mrs. Chris Morris, Mrs. W. M. Peebles, Mrs. G. Edward Bolger, Mrs. Ned White, Dillard Teel and Ralph Laswell.

Panhandle Wells Bought

DALLAS (AP)—An interest in 14 producing oil and gas wells in Hutchinson County in the Texas Panhandle has been bought by Landa Oil Co. for $150,000 cash.

The purchase involves half of the working interest in three productive leases and about 400 acres. The interest was bought from Carter & Carter of San Antonio.

The wells produce about 150 gross barrels of oil per day and about 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas from the Moore County lime formation.

OUR VIEW

Union Popularity Declines

The recession and a resulting build-up of stocks in the automobile industry have put Walter Reuther and his United Automobile Workers Union in a ticklish bargaining position as they try for new contracts with car-making firms.

However, labor unions in general are facing additional problems which apparently are not directly related to the recession and which may be of more lasting impression.

The Wall Street Journal has noted that labor unions are suffering increasingly higher casualties in elections supervised by the National Labor Relations Board. These elections are conducted to give workers in a given firm an opportunity to decide whether they want a union to serve as their bargaining agent. In some cases there are elections which enable workers to decide whether they want a union to discontinue its service as bargaining agent.

Elections of the latter type nearly always result in defeat for the union, because they are not called in the first place until a substantial number of workers in a plant becomes disgruntled with the union. Thus, when they petition for an election, there usually is enough grievance to result in severing of relations with the unions involved.

But the unions have been losing an increasing number of the other type of elections. Workers are turning down bids by the unions, preferring to continue without union ties.

As a basis for its observations, the Wall Street Journal cites statistics showing that in 1949-50, the unions won 83 per cent of such elections. Last year the figure had dropped to 63 per cent, and there are indications that the downward trend will continue.

Union leaders say the figures are simply indicative of the fact that they have long had the "easy" shops unionized, and that only the "hard" ones are left. Others suggest that union funds used for political purposes, support of social plans which workers disagree with, revelation by congressional committees of splotches on union records, and other factors are responsible.

Whatever the reasons, labor unions are encountering problems which they had not faced since World War II.

Texans Warned Of 'Foreign' Stocks

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) — State Securities Commissioner William King said Saturday unscrupulous, fast talking stock salesmen from outside the state are trying to sell worthless securities to Texas buyers.

He advised purchasers to seek the help of the securities board if an unknown dealer tries to sell stock by telephone.

An investigation has been launched following tips in Lubbock, San Antonio, Austin and Dallas. King said:

"I believe sales have been made in other cities also. The thing that bothers me is the ones we don't know about. So many people just don't know about the fact the state has a securities board to furnish them information."

He said most calls came from New York and New Jersey and his office first began getting complaints about a month ago.

"Rare metals is the gimmick used now by the boiler room boys," he said.

No indictments have been returned but King said Gov. Price Daniel had promised he would seek extradition of anyone so charged.

The commissioner said certain operations by telephone are illegal in the promotion of stock. Section 9-C of the new securities act provides that "The commissioner shall require all offers for sale of securities to be made through and by a prospectus," a report on the financial and operational aspects of the company.

"You can't stuff a prospectus through the telephone," King said.

"People should buy from reputable dealers they know will be in business next year. . . They should beware of securities offered by strangers who promise spectacular profits. If you buy a car, you lift the hood and kick the tires. When you buy securities, the least you should do is to see a good prospectus.

"There are many good security buys now. The trouble is people who are stung with a bad dealer will start putting their money in a shoe box where it's eaten up by inflation. Putting money in a good business benefits the whole country."

Galveston Better Off, Wilson Says

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson asserted Saturday Galveston is more prosperous now, a year after his crackdown on the isle's multimillion dollar gambling and vice activities.

"I have always been confident that illegal activities are an economic parasite," he said. "The prosperous condition will exist as long as they keep illegal activities suppressed."

A year ago Sunday, 60 Texas Rangers and 23 assistant attorneys general swept down on Galveston's well-attended bars, brothels and gambling casinos. With a legal broom shoving 63 injunctions, Wilson's staff closed the plush port city's gambling clubs.

Wilson said Galveston authorities told him the crackdown was good for legitimate business. He issued a statement Saturday quoting:

John McCray, Galveston Progress Committee president —"The crackdown was one of the best things to happen to Galveston. We are moving forward to a better sound economy, the people are responding magnificently and we feel the future is unlimited."

Police Chief Gene Benson —"The lid is still on tight. Our biggest problem now is traffic. We are having a record tourist season."

Chamber of Commerce President Ed Schreiber—"Galveston's annual Splash Day last month brought in 150,000 people, the biggest Splash Day in history."

Wilson said that from June 1957 to May 1958 there were 1,489 building permits issued for a total $4,251,422. Galveston building inspector Oscar Miller said it compares to 1,345 permits for $3,997,662 last year.

Impressed by the steady flow of tourists, David Leavell, vice president and general manager of the Galveston News-Tribune, told Wilson, "We feel very good in Galveston. More high school seniors came here this year than ever before. They came from as far as Kansas."

W. P. Ludwig Jr., a member of the vice killing grand jury, said, "Galveston is a better place to do business and have recreation as a result of the elimination of undesirable elements."

Wilson said two new motels have been constructed in "new Galveston to take care of the station wagon crowd, predominantly families with small children."

Ministers also are pleased.

"We never thought it would be possible to do what Judge Wilson did," said the Rev. Harry Burch, minister of Paul's Union Church. "He has made decency popular."

Farmers Of World Work By Decree

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are relatively few farmers in the world who do not farm by government decree of one kind or another.

Hardly a week passes without a government somewhere passing a law or issuing a decree affecting producers within its supervision—and many times producers outside.

It is one of the task of the U.S. Foreign Agricultural Service to keep abreast of these acts of government intervention in the business of producing food and fiber crops.

The U. S. government, which itself exercises considerable control over farmers in this country, needs to keep on top of such developments so that it can quickly adjust its own production and farm export programs to changing conditions.

To keep the public informed of what governments the world over are doing about agriculture, the service issues a weekly report outlining them and other world trade and production developments.

Many of the actions taken by foreign countries are designed to protect their domestic producers against foreign competitors. Some are aimed at controlling imports and use of foreign exchange abroad. Some are designed to force changes in consumer eating habits. Some are issued to carry out international political policies.

Typical of many recent government orders is one issued by the Venezuelan government cutting imports of flour by 50 per cent to protect an expanding domestic flour milling industry. The government said it wanted self-sufficiency in this field.

Another example is a recent decree of the Peruvian government requiring some of that country's rich lands to be shifted from such export crops as cotton and sugar to food crops. The government wants to reduce food imports.

To protect its own and dominion producers, the British government has asked Sweden and Finland to eliminate export subsidies on butter moving to Britain or to restrict shippers.

To protect its consumers against high prices for domestic olive oil, the government of Greece has been importing soybean oil as a substitute.

The Spanish government has raised the export prices for that country's filberts and almonds in a move to bolster producer returns.

The Swiss government has imposed an import fee on livestock feed grains.

Yugoslavia has put an embargo on export of dry beans in a move to halt rising prices in the home market.

The Colombian government is helping build a factory to renovate agricultural and industrial machinery.

Denmark has lowered the compulsory amounts of domestic wheat and rye in flour produced in that country.

A ban on cow slaughter by the Indian government has been upheld by the Indian Supreme Court.

Austria is trying to reduce production of surplus milk by lowering dairymen's prices.

Girl Wooed By Peron Is Now A Bride

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Nelly Rivas, the shapely teen-ager who was wooed by dictator Juan D. Peron, donned a simple beige dress and a lace shawl Friday and became the bride of a clerk in the U.S. Embassy. He is an Argentine.

Nelly, now 19, popped suddenly into the news in 1955 when Peron was kicked out as dictator. Letters found among Peron's belongings revealed a romance between the two.

She was only 13—the daughter of a poor Argentine living near the presidential palace — when Person first spotted her. He took her into the palace and lavished upon her furs and jewels that once belonged to his late wife, Eva. But her father said today:

"The past is the past. That episode in her life is all over. She's married now and wants to start a new life."

Her new life is Carlos Ramil, 24, who works in the accounting department of the U.S. Embassy. He has taken a leave of absence of several weeks.

Key Plants Grasses In Sudan Stubble

A recent planting of grass was completed on 130 acres of old cropland by Weldon Key, stockfarmer west of the Dermott community.

Key used a system of providing a dead litter cover crop.

A mixture of switch grass, sideoats grama, and King Ranch bluestem was drilled into a dead stubble of sudangrass. Key used a grass drill owned by the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District.

Experimental grass planting s and hard-won experiences of many farmers and ranchers in this part of the state have shown that more consistant results and better stands of grass may be achieved when cover crops of high-residue-producing plants, such as sorghums, sudan, or millet, are grown the year prior to planting the grass.

These crops are grown to provide a protective stubble and dead litter, into which the grass is drilled. This offers many advantages which aid in getting good initial stands of grass.

The dead litter cover helps prevent surface crusting and rapid soil moisture evaporation. It provides a firm seedbed, helps control spring weeds growth, protects the small grass seedling, keeps moisture close to the surface, and prevents wind erosion damage.

The cover crops should not be grased and should be protected from fire or other damage so the maximum tonnage of litter will be left on the land. The plants should be mowed or shredded in early fall to prevent seed formation and a possible competitive volunteer seed crop the following spring.

Further information and technical assistance is available along this line from the local representatives of the Soil Conservation Service.

Most Of Cattle Country Now Has Bright Prospects

By The Associated Press

From pastures to wallets, everything is green again in most of the cattle country.

From Kansas west to Utah and south to the Rio Grande this spring it's a story of lush pastures, well-filled ponds and higher prices. These combined mean bigger and better herds and more of them.

That's a sharp turnabout from two years ago when the cattleman figured the grass was greener on the other side of the fence—only there wasn't any grass. Seven years of drought had just about wrecked him. Some ranchers were driven to selling off their breeding stock and turning to other fields of activity.

The drought began breaking last year. Good rain and snowfalls continued through the winter. Now nearly all ranges are abundantly green. Costly supplementary feeding has been curtailed sharply.

Cheering news comes from Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Arizona. Only in the northern ranges, like those of Montana, are conditions unfavorable.

"The cattlemen are very encouraged," says Harley Brewer of the Agriculture Department's crop and livestock reporting service at Phoenix, Ariz. "The range situation is better than for many years."

"The whole country looks good," echoes Parley Jensen, managing editor of the New Mexico Stockman, official publication of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Assn. "We've had lots of rain, ranges are in good shape, prices are excellent and the general outlook for cattlemen is wonderful."

Colorado was one of the hardest-hit cattle states. A few years ago vast reaches in that state had been turned into virtual waste land, with fences and trees buried by wind-driven sands. So the optimism there is tempered with caution.

"A steady build-up over the next three years may get things back to normal," says W. C. Crew, president of the Denver Union Stockyards. "This year producers are trying to build up the herds. Their financial progress depends not only on sustained livestock values but on the rancher's profit margin as well. It will take a good three years."

As to prices, Radford Hall of Denver, executive secretary of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., says he is optimistic that they will remain stable, even through the summer.

"Kansas livestock men are in pretty good spirits at present," says Roy Freeland, secretary of the Kansas Board of Agriculture. "They are feeling a cautious optimism about present prices and about present feed and pasture prospects."

Kansas, with its blue stem grass, is a favorite feeding spot for the Western cattlemen. Here stock is brought for finishing before marketing. Now these pastures are rated at 88 per cent of normal. A year ago they were only 71 per cent normal and at the peak of the drought, two years ago, the rating was down to 55 per cent.

Most Texas ranges and pastures are in excellent shape. A survey of district farm agents shows cattle on pasture ranges by mid-May were raed fair to good and improving along the Gulf coast, where there was a hard winter; and slick-fat in other sections of the state.

The April 1 cattle-on-feed report for Texas showed 103,000 head. This was 43 per cent greater than the number on feed on the same date last year.

The Agricultural Marketing Service said on April 1 that "curtailed marketing coupled with an increased number of replacements during the quarter accounted for the higher level of operations compared with a year earlier."

"Texas feeders intend to market cattle at a much slower rate than a year ago," the agency added. That means a lot of herd rebuilding.

Oklahoma stockmen base their optimism on higher cattle prices, an good supplies of feed, hay and stock water. D. R. Pittman, Department of Agriculture statistician at Oklahoma City, said the improved conditions are contributing to ranchers holding back female stock in an attempt to build up foundation herds.

Gets Degree, Family, Too

PLAINVIEW (AP) — Bettie Phipps Craig's B. A. degree and three babies in five years is a new kind of record at Wayland Baptist College.

Invitations to graduation and announcements of Dianne Rose's birth went out in the same envelopes recently.

Bettie is Mrs. Wood Burton Craig of Sunray, ex., and Sacramento, Calif., who received her degree with a major in home and family life education this week.

In 1953, Mrs. Craig came to Wayland. She was nominated for homecoming queen and campus beauty queen, sang with the Baptist Student Union choir and worked part time in the office of dean of students.

That year she met Wood Burton Craig, who was working for a B.S. degree but eager to get on with his farming operations.

They were married in the summer of 1954 and after three months on the farm returned to Plainview to continue their studies.

Cotton Measuring To Start Soon Here

Cotton measuring will get underway in Scurry County within about a week, the county Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office announced this weekend.

Henry Burchett, county ASC office manager, said the ASC will attempt to have 20 cotton reporters in the field measuring, and the first round will probably take about 30 days.

The reporters will be working in all parts of the county.

Burchett said farmers are urged to be available when the cotton reporters call at their farms.

Sputnik III To Be Seen In Morning

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The rocket satellite of Sputnik III is due to make its first morning appearances over the United States during the next few days, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said today.

It will be visible briefly at about 5:20 a.m. EST Sunday to residents in the southern tip of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana and western Cuba.

The rocket will be coming out of the twilight over Central America and disappear in the bright sky over the Gulf of Mexico.

Monday morning the rocket satellite will cross Southern Mexico at 5:48 a.m. EST and disappear into the bright sky over the southern Texas-Louisiana border two minutes later. This passage should be visible in much of south and eastern Texas and a small part of southwestern Louisiana.

By next week the morning passages will be visible to most of the United States. In all cases the carrier rocket will be traveling in a south-southwest to north-northeast direction in its predawn appearances.

The Smithsonian estimates that Sputnik III, the wedge-shaped ton-and-a-half satellite equipped with instruments, is trailing the rocket satellite by about a full lap around the world.

The rocket is ahead because, presenting more air resistance, it falls lower, has a shorter course around the world, and is traveling faster, due to the increased pull of gravity.

Malenkov Running Plant

VIENNA (AP)—Georgi Malenkov, the purged former Soviet premier, is still running a hydroelectric plant at UST Kamenogorsk in remote central Asia, his boss said Saturday.

A. S. Pavlenko, the Soviet Union's minister for power stations, was asked the whereabouts of his former chief at a news conference at the end of an 11-day inspection of Austrian power plants.

"Malenkov is director of a hydroelectric works at UST Kamenogorsk in Kazakhstan Province," was Pavlenko's terse reply. That disposed of the subject.

The visit Pavlenko made here was on an invitation originally extended to Malenkov, when the latter was minister for power stations after his ouster as premier. Malenkov accepted the invitation but was exiled from Moscow last July before he could come.

Supports Are Set On Barley And Oats

Support prices have been set for 97 cents, less storage, on 1958 barley and 69 cents, less storage, on 1958 oats, according to Henry Burchett, county office manager for the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office.

Public storage facilities for the grains are full, however, and storing must be handled by farmers themselves if they are to get loans on the two crops. Elevators are buying the grains but not storing them.

Those who want to store their wheat and secure the loan may get information at the ASC office.

Boys State Set To Open In Capital

AUSTIN (AP)—Leading Texas high school juniors will gather here next week to organize the annual Boys State modeled after the state government.

Some 538 boys will meet here Sunday through Saturday. Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion at the University of Texas, will be directed by Dr. Firman Haynie of Borger.

Showers Bring Relief, But General Rain Still Needed

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Scattered showers brought a little relief to Texas crops and ranges but a general rain is needed for topsoil now drying fast from high temperatures and growing crops, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said Saturday.

"Crops made much growth during the week and prospects still are bright," director John Hutchison said. "But rain is needed, especially for late planted crops and for continuing the abundance of grazing for livestock."

Combining of small grain and baling of hay is going top speed in much of the state and these farmers want rain to hold off for a while, he added.

Reports from district farm agents contained these other highlights:

Although range grass for grazing is decreasing, livestock is in good condition and owners are storing a bumper crop of good winter feed.

Cotton varies from squaring and blooming in the south to planting about finished in the Panhandle and South Plains. Much early season poisoning is being done to halt insect damage.

East Texas plums and blackberries are beginning to move to market. Early peaches are due to start next week.

"A good rain will be needed to insure a high yield of cotton in South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley," agent Joe Rothe said at Weslaco. "Some spotted showers fell in the Valley, but it's too early to know their benefit. Corn and grain sorghum is making good growth. The tomato harvest is about 60 per cent complete with a disappointing market. Livestock is in good condition."

Wheat and other small grain in the Panhandle is maturing very rapidly and additional moisture is needed for a high yield of plump grain. Sorghums are being planted with enough moisture to insure good germination, but the acreage is much lower than last year. Cotton and vegetable acreage is about planted. Native pastures are providing excellent grazing, but grasshoppers, hatching by the millions, pose a threat to ranges and crops. Some control measures have been started.

In the South Plains, where local rains and hail did some damage, about 90 per cent of the cotton acreage has been planted, but some acreage will require rain before the seed germinate. There's heavy thrip infestation and controls are being applied. A very small per cent of the sorghum acreage is up, and much planting is in progress. Some wheat is being irrigated. Range grasses are growing well but will need rain in another week or two.

Far West Texas had some scattered showers but hot weather is drying the surface. Crop and grass growth remains good. Livestock is in good condition. There's some shortage of farm and ranch labor.

Topsoil in deep East Texas is very dry and a general rain is needed, especially for late crops. Early crops made good growth, and pastures and cattle are in good condition. Hay is being baled.

The Rolling Plains' small grain harvest and baling of hay are moving into top speed with oat yields as high as 100 bushels an acre reported in Haskell County, James Simmons said at Vernon. While some sections have surface moisture, annual grasses are depleting fast in many areas. Livestock is in good condition. There's some army worm damage to cotton and late wheat.

Many sections of North Texas would benefit from a light rain for topsoil moisture, but where the small grain harvest is starting farmers hope the rain will hold off. Small grain prospects still are good, but drying spring grasses offer less grazing.

Field work in northeast Texas is in full swing as crops make fair progress and much hay is baled, but a good general rain is needed. Tomatoes are far behind schedule and the acreage is much lower than last year. Cattle are in good condition.

Yields of 50 to 80 bushels per acre of small grain are being harvested in the San Saba area with up to 90 bushels in the San Angelo ared. Some rain would help but small grain farmers want dry weather. Cotton and grain sorghum growth has been excellent with the warm weather. Shearing is about complete, wool marketing is about normal as the price is about 20 cents below incentive level, and milk-fat lambs are being shipped to market. Range grass growth is slowing as weeds die, but livestock is in excellent condition.

Central Texas' big oat crop is ripening fast and combines and hay balers are going at full speed. Corn and sorghum are growing and a rain would help cotton. Cotton insect controls are being applied.

Gulf coast area crops continue to make good growth but the topsoil is generally dry despite some showers. Corn is tasseling, sorghum is blooming, about one-third of the cotton is squaring and rice planting is about complete. Vegetables are moving to market. Pastures need rain.

South Central Texas' flax harvest has hit its peak with 20-21 bushels an acre. Other crops are making progress. Livestock conditions are good and the market normal, but cattlemen are holding on to replacement stock. Crop prospects continue good, but a good, general rain is needed for corn and sorghum.

Churchill Is Speaker For Ag Workers

Dr. F. M. Churchill, head of the agriculture department at Abilene Christian College, will be speaker Tuesday at the monthly meeting of the Agriculture Workers Council of Scurry, Nolan, Mitchell, and Fisher Counties.

The breakfast meeting will be at 6:45 a.m. Tuesday at the Blue-bonnet Hotel in Sweetwater.

The Agriculture Workers Council is open to farmers or others interested in agriculture, and Bentley Baize of Snyder, president, urged any interested to attend the Tuesday meeting.

Jailbreakers Are Caught

KILGORE (AP) — Police capturned two Longview jailbreakers trying to break into a Mayfield, Ky., supermarket early today, Sheriff Noble Crawford reported.

He said Mayfield Police Chief Floyd Stokes notified him a third Longview fugitive, who apparently acted as lookout, escaped.

Crawford said officers caught Roy Hearne, 28, of Longview and C. L. Eubanks Jr., 25, of Dallas on the roof of the Mayfield store.

The other man, identified by Stokes as Lester Schrum, 25, of Freeport, Tex., fled in a car.

Crawford was advised the three apparently was driving a car stolen at Quitman. It disappeared the day after they broke out of jail in Longview early this week with three other prisoners.

Another of the escapees, Gene McCollum, 28, of Longview, was caught earlier.

Soviets Hold Initiative

MOSCOW (AP)—Western diplomats said Saturday the Soviet bunion holds the initiative in diplomatic discussions on a summit conference and they have no indication of the next step.

They said the recent completion of visits by U. S., British, and French ambassadors to Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko put the next move up to the Kremlin.

One diplomatic source said, however, that "it looks as if the ambassadors and Gromyko are coming to grips with the subject at hand after a long period of sparring."

The main purpose of the diplomatic discussions is to arrange for a meeting of foreign ministers, who in turn would lay the groundwork for a summit meeting of government heads.

Crash Kills Guard Pilot

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Colorado Air National Guard pilot was killed today when his Sabre Jet crashed and exploded during an aerial acrobatic performance.

Name of the pilot was not disclosed immediately by Air Force officials.

The plane was part of the "Minute Men" acrobatic team performing for a group of West Point cadets. It crashed in a residential area near Wright Patterson Air Force Base and exploded. Parts of the wreckage were thrown over the area but no structure was hit or damaged. Firemen were called to extinguish the flames in the wreckage of the plane.

Cause of the crash was not determined.

Accident Fatal

AUSTIN (AP)—The Department of Public Safety said Saturday that Ramalo Rodrigues of Rocksprings was killed about 3:30 a.m. when a pickup truck overturned 12 miles east of Del Rio.

Starkweather Ordered To Die In Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Charles Starkweather, 19-year-old killer, who has admitted involvement in 11 slayings, was ordered today to die in the electric chair Dec. 17, 1958.

District Judge Harry Spencer, who presided at the trial of Starkweather for the slaying of Robert Jense, 17, of Bennet, Neb., fixed the date for the carrying out of the sentence prescribed by the jury which convicted Starkweather after overruling his application for a new trial.

The judge then ordered a transcript of the proceedings delivered to the Nebraska Supreme Court for an automatic review of the case.

The Supreme Court could delay or set aside the execution order.

Starkweather looked Judge Spencer straight in the eye when the judge announced the execution date.

When Spencer asked him if there was any reason why sentence should not be pronounced, Starkweather shook his head vigorously and replied "No."

Starkweather's attorney had listed 17 reasons why they thought a new trial should be granted, the principal ones being that they felt the state had failed to prove Starkweather's sanity and that the guilty verdict and death sentence were the result of "passion and prejudice."

A plea of innocent by reason of insanity had been entered for Starkweather.

Caril Fugate, Starkweather's 14-year-old girl companion on the January killing spree, still awaits trial. She also was charged with first degree murder.

Daniel Asks Water Report

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel asked the State Board of Water Engineers Saturday to complete its preliminary report on the statewide water research and planning program by Dec. 1.

The program was authorized by the Legislature in November.

Daniel also suggested that the board ask every city in Texas to outline present water supplies, present needs and estimated future requirements projected for the years 1975 and 2000. Agricultural groups and principal industries also would be asked to give their present and future needs.

The governor, in a letter to Durwood Manford, chairman of the state board of water engineers commented on "the excellent progress which has been made on the 'mock-up' report and plans for Texas water development in which the federal agencies have participated at the request of Sen. Lyndon Johnson and in which your board has participated at my request."

The 'mock-up' report will be ready June 30 for Johnson.

Akins Clamoring For Match With Basilio

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Akins, the new king of the welters, clamors for Carmen Basilio but Carmen pines for revenge and a potful of cash in a third match with Ray Robinson.

Akins, a hometown success at the ripe boxing age of 30, engraved Basilio in his future plans after erasing Vince Martinez with ease Friday night for the welterweight crown.

Eddie Yawitz, Akins' co-manager, said St. Louis or Syracuse, N. Y., Basilio's stamping grounds, would be logical for a title fight. That's if Basilio is interested in dropping down to the welters again and trying to reclaim the crown he gave up last September in winning the middleweight title from Robinson. In their second bout Robinson reclaimed the crown.

"Bring on Basilio," Yawitz hummed after Akins destroyed Martinez, the 29-year-old Paterson, N. J., boxer who had never been stopped before.

Basilio saw the match at the St. Louis arena. He said it only proved to him that Akins beat Martinez. As to whether he would be willing to meet Akins, Carmen just shrugged his shoulders and said he was more interested in Robinson.

Akins, who recently picked up a purse for only $52, made $31,000 Friday night. Two days before the fight he predicted that Matinez would last half as long as Isaac Logart did when Akins fought him in the welterweight elimination.

Logart was stopped late in the sixth round and Martinez was through on a technical knockout at 52 seconds of the fourth round.

A crowd of 9,777 paid $62,810 and saw Akins crack over a right hand to the jaw in the opening seconds of the first round after Vince carelessly left himself open.

That one punch ruined Vince, who eventually was decked seven times—the last time like pack of badly shuffled cards.

Akins is a real puncher and he can bang away with either hand. He has an unusually long reach (73 inches) for a 5-9 welterweight, because of his inconsistency, Virgil never had been a big favorite with the fans although he can be a shifty, aggressive fighter when he is "on." Too many "off" nights almost ruined his career.

Akins' record is an unconvincing 48-17-1 in a career marked by erratic performances. Charley Baxyer stopped him in three rounds in his second pro fifth; April 5, 1948, and Phil Kim stopped him in 10 rounds at Chicago, Aug. 29, 1953. Many of his 17 defeats have been blamed on tender hands and eyes. Over one stretch from 1952 to 1954 he dropped four in a row to Johnny Saxton, Joe Miceli, Johnny Gonsalves, and Kim.

Herbert Shoots 71 As Golf Day Goal

TULSA (AP) — National PGA Champion Lionel Hebert shot a one-over par 71 at the Southern Hills Country Club course Saturday to set the scoring pattern for the nation's golfers on National Golf Day.

The sturdy LaFayette, La., shotmaker beat National Open Champion Dick Mayer by five shots over the course where the 58th Open Championship of the United States Golf Assn., will be played starting next Thursday.

National Golf Day is sponsored by the Professional Golfers Assn. and players throughout the land contribute $1 to play, matching their scores based on handicaps against Hebert's score. The money goes to various charities and the caddy scholarship program sponsored by the PGA. Those who beat Hebert get medals.

In the past, the National Open champion played with the women's national champion but the system was revised this year to provide a more competitive test.

Hebert's score over the 6,907 yard rolling, tree-dotted layout with its par of 35-35—70 was considered a good effort because the PGA champ was taking only his second crack at the course.

Meyer encountered difficulty on the front nine and soared to a 41 but steadied his game to shoot par coming in.

Hebert was out in 36, one over, and matched standard figures on the back, finishing strongly with birdies on the 16th and 17th holes after Mayer had narrowed his lead to 2 after 15 holes. Hebert also parred the tough 468-yard 18th with a four to pick up another stroke as Mayer missed the green with his second shot.

Hebert gave a gallery of almost 1,000 a thrill on the first hole as he drilled in a birdie three with a 6-foot putt while Mayer struggled out of a trap to get a bogie. This gave the Louisianan a lead he never relinquished.

He rolled in a 15-foot putt for another birdie on the par three 177-yard sixth hole after a double bogey six on the second hole ruined his chances to beat par on the outgoing nine.

Wright Lead Narrows In Fem Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mickey Wright, who fired sub-par 69s in the first two rounds of the Ladies PGA tournament, lost her magic touch Saturday in scoring a 6-over-par 76 that halved her once-wide margin to four strokes with only 18 holes left in the 72-hole medal event.

The long, straight drives that carried her to a comfortable lead after 36 holes began going astray in Saturday's third round on the short but tricky layout at nearby Churchill Valley Country Club.

Mickey's inaccuracy and difficulties on the greens gave Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., an opportunity to gain valuable ground.

Miss Hanson, the 1955 winner of one of the women's major crowns, shot a 72 to go with previous rounds of 72 and 74 for a 218 total.

Miss Crocker went out in 39, but recorded two birdies on the treacherous back nine for a 32 and and a 71. She shares second place with Beverly at 218.

Mickey bogied seven holes and birdied only one. She takes a 214 total into Sunday's final round on the par 36-36—70, 6,025-yard layout.

Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kan., picked up four strokes with a fine 72 that gave her a 54-hole total of 220.

Dickson Wins For Athletics

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dependable Murray Dickson, the oldest active pitcher in the major leagues, hurled steady five-hit ball to get second-place Kansas City back to its winning ways with a 5-2 win over the Baltimore Orioles Saturday.

He slipped only one, tossing a home-run ball to Baltimore pitcher Jack Harshman with one aboard. The Orioles' other four hits were scattered and confined.

As it turned out, the Athletics won the game in the first inning. After Bill Hunter lined out and Bill Tuttle struck out, Hector Lopez got on with a hard smash to short and Bob Cerv singled to center. Then Vic Power homored for the winning margin.

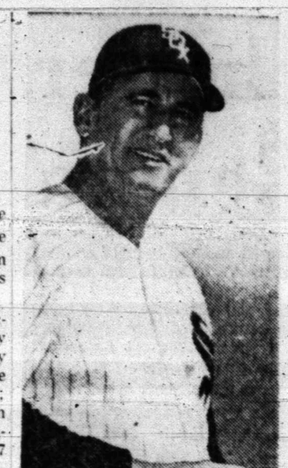
Cards Face Damage Suit

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A $50,000 damage suit was filed Saturday against the St. Louis Cardinals by a 75-year-old man who was hit by a baseball outside of Busch Stadium Tuesday night.

The suit was brought by Louis Scher of St. Louis. He was on the way to the park to see the Cardinals play Pittsburgh when he said a ball hit in batting practice went over the pavailion roof and struck him on the right shoulder.

Scher said in the suit that he was knocked down and suffered a hip injury. The suit, filed in Circuit Court, alleged negligence by the Cardinals and Anheuser-Busch, Inc., owners of the stadium.



AL LOPEZ

Single In 1930 Put Lopez Over

By AL LOPEZ
Written for NEA Newsfeatures

CHICAGO - I got my big hit the first spring I caught in the big leagues. It was in 1930 when I broke in with Brooklyn for my first full season. The Dodgers were playing the New York Giants in Ebbets Field and Fred Fitzsimmons was pitching. I made two hits in four trips.

The next day the Dodgers met the Giants in the Polo Grounds and I went four for five, all singles.

I think that the first hit in the big leagues is a thing a fellow always remembers. Mine was a single.

In 1928, just after I had finished the season with Macon and had passed my 20th birthday, the Dodgers brought me up. I caught batting practice the last few days of the season.

Then one day Burleigh Grimes was pitching for the Dodgers. Nobody wanted any part of his spitball, especially the catchers. Then somebody on the bench said to Uncle Robbie (Manager Wilbert Robinson)

"Let the kid catch." And Robbie did. I got in three games and went 0 for 12.

So that first hit in 1930-and the five others in two days-enabled me to catch regularly with the Dodgers until after the 1935 season when they traded me to Boston.

(Editor's Note: Al Lopez played in 1950 bit league games between 1930 and 1947. He managed Cleveland for six years and now is managing the Chicago White Sox for his second season.)

Hernandez In Batting Lead

By The Associated Press

Freddie Hernandez of Artesia sets a terrific batting pace in the bustling Sophomore League.

Hernandez has a gaudy .469 average in 28 games and leads in hits with 45 and doubles with 9. He tops in total bases with 71.

Jim Tanner of Plainview leads in homers with 8, Ken Bryant of Hobbs and Tanner are tied for the lead in runs batted in with 33 and Duncan Capbell of San Angelo has the most triples — 5.

Ervin Moore of Plainview and John Ahrems of Hobbs have the most pitching victories — 5 each. Moore boasts the top earned run average, 2.00.

Vince di Giulio of Plainview is the strike-out leader, fanning 67.

Twenty-two batters are hitting .300 or better, with four of 6: .400.

Midland tops in team batting with .287. Artesia is second with .280.

Berra's Home Run Wins For Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra provided the power Saturday as the runaway New York Yankees blasted Cleveland for the fourth straight time. The score was 6-3.

The squat Yankee catcher drove in four runs, three of them with a tie-breaking home run in the sixth inning. That was all the league-leaders and Whitey Ford needed.

The lefthanded pitcher was reached for 10 hits, but he went all the way for his sixth straight victory and his seventh of the season. He has lost two.

Lefty Don Mossi (4-5) was the victim of Yogi's game-winning blow. The score was 2-all when the Yanks broke loose for four runs in the sixth.

Sinovic Leads Loop Hitters

By The Associated Press

Dick Sinovic, Austin's steady clouting outfielder, leads the Texas League in batting with .370 but the fellow who produces the most with his batting is Mike Lutz of Corpus Christi.

Mike tops in nomers with 11, runs batted in with 44 and hits with 67. He is batting .349.

Bill Parsons of Victoria leads the circuit in doubles with 18 and triples with 7.

A cool 25 players are hitting .300 or above with Don Miles of Victoria the only one above .400. He is hitting .407 but has played in only seven games and gone to bat only 27 times.

Marcelino Solis of Fort Worth leads the pitchers with a perfect 8-0 record. Bob Greenwood of Tulsa, with a 7-3 record, leads in strikeouts with 65.

McMullin Is Open Leader

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Lean John McMullin rallied on the back nine when the pressure was the strongest Saturday and swept in with a 1-under-par 69 for 198 and a 3-stroke lead in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

McMullin, the tall young man from Fair Oaks, Calif., appeared to be bowing to the tensity of the situation as he shot the first seven holes of the third round three over par. But he birdied 8, 9 and 10, added another birdie on 17 then laid up for a conceded par putt on 18.

The crowd thought McMullin, making his first tour and after his first high place in a tournament, might crack in this round, which, he, himself, called the most crucial of them all, but he didn't.

In fact, it was the pursuers who wilted. Tommy Bolt of Paradise, Fla., who started Saturday's third round with 130 to McMullin's 129 had a 1-over-par 71. He stayed in second place at 201.

Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, who was third with 132, shot a 72.

Tied for third place as the tournament goes into its final round Sunday will be Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.; Earl Stewart Jr. of Dallas, Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y., and Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., all with 203.

The round Saturday was played under lowering skies and the scores generally were highest of the tournament over the 6,469-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Indians Blank Tigers For Third Place In Tournament

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

AUSTIN — The Port Neches Indians took advantage of 10 bases on balls issued by Tiger pitching here Friday to hand the Bengals their second straight shutout in the state tournament, 9-0.

The victory gave the Indians the consolation championship of Class 3A which the Tigers had won here last year.

The Indians mixed in five Tiger errors and six base hits with the 10 free passes to turn the game into a rout.

the South an Antonio Bobcats, could do very little better against the Indians, the black and golders collecting only two hits.

However, the Tigers did get good wood on the ball off the servings of John Harms of Port Neches but Harms teammates gobbled up several would-be hits with fine defensive work.

Snyder's only two hits against the Indians were singles by Kenny Drake in the first inning and Richard Mahan in the third.

Tiger starter Dick Hayes did right well until the sixth when two walks and his own error got him in a jam that eventually turned a close game into a marathon.

Hayes gave up only one hit the first five innings, a run scoring single by Jerry Begnaud in the third.

But the bottom fell out on Hayes and the Tigers in the sixth. Mike Bernard led with a walk and before the inning was over the Indians had shoved five runs across with three Tiger pitchers seeing action.

Hayes might have gotten out of the sixth inning without damage except for his error on a sacrifice bunt. Harms followed Bernard with a bunt in front of the plate and Hayes threw to second in plenty of time to retire Bernard but his throw was high, the ball rolling into centerfield, Bernard taking third on the overthrow.

Dick then got Begnaud on strikes but when he walked Charles Guidry to load the bases, Tim Roberts was summoned from the bull pen to take over. Bobby Felder greeted Roberts with a triple to clear the bases and that just about iced the decision for the Port Neches crew.

The Indians added two more runs in the sixth to make it a 5-run explosion and then scored two unearned markers in the seventh to wrap it up. Terry Lee finished up for the Tigers.

Coach Speedy Moffett played 15 of the 16 players on his squad in the game. Only Norman Gladson, who hurled the tournament opener, failed to get in for the Tigers against the Indians.

The most dangerous scoring threats by the Tigers came in the first two innings. In the first, Neil Boyd got life on an error when third baseman Richard Bolyard failed to come up with his scorching ground ball.

Then Kenny Drake singled to put runners on first and second with one away. But the rally died when Coleman John and David Hale hit into forceouts at third.

In the second, Jimmy Allen was awarded first on catcher's interference to lead off. Allen swiped second but that's as far as he got. Johnny Drake and Gary Vice hit long drives to center that centerfielder Robert Woodruff made nice running catches on, and Hayes grounded out to leave Allen stranded at second.

The Tigers never got a runner past first after the second inning. Mahan led with a single in the third but was picked off first. That was the last time the Tigers got the leadoff man on bases.

Hale walked with one away in the fourth. John got aboard by an error in the sixth with two away and pinchhitter Carroll Wylie walked with two away in the seventh but all were left stranded.

The shutout was only the fourth of the season over the 35-game route this season, two of which were administered here in the tournament. The Tigers thus wound up with an 18-17 season record.

Plews' Blow Propels Sens Over Tigers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herb Plews' bases-loaded single in the last half of the ninth inning Saturday score Rocky Bridges and gave the Washington Senators a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The victory lifted the Senators out of the American League cellar and into fourth place.

Washington was outhit, 12-7, and had been held hitless for five straight innings by Detroit relievers Tom Morgan and Herb Moford before they broke loose in the ninth.

Bridges greeted Moford in the ninth with a single. Then, after Ken Aspromonte sacrificed, Julio becquer was walked purposely to set up a double-play situation. Moford made two wide pitches to pinchhitter Neil Chrisley and Vito Valentinetti was summoned from the Detroit bullpen. Valentinetti completed the walk to Chrisley, filling the bases.

Plews then sent a long drive to left on the first pitch and it fell safely ending the game.

White Sox, Giants In LL Victories

The White Sox and Giants posted wins Friday night in Little League action here.

The Giants ran over the Cardinals 6-1 in the National League, while the White Sox downed the Athletics 7-3 in the American.

The Cardinals first batter in the game, Rob Hall, singled and later score to get the only Card run. Two runs singled in by J. D. Allen put the Giants ahead in the bottom of the first, and from then on they had the game. The only extra base hit was by Dock Rinehart of the Giants in the third.

Allen was winning pitcher, allowing five hits and one walk while striking out five. The loser, Kenneth Deike, struck out eight and gave up four hits and three walks.

In the other game, both loser Craig Stokes and winner Robert Foree got a lot of strikeouts, Foree nine and Stokes 10. Foree allowed seven hits and walked two, while Stokes gave up five hits and walked three.

The Athletics score one run in each of the first three innings, one of which was doubled home by Lewis Jones, who hit two doubles during the night.

But the White Sox broke loose in the last three innings, scoring one each in the fourth and fifth and managing five on two hits in the sixth.

Akins Fights, Then Serves As Second

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Akins just couldn't get enough of that arena ring Friday night. After he had won the world welterweight title by knocking out Vince Martinez, he came back to second his heavyweight stablemate, LeRoy Malcolm of St. Louis.

When he climbed into the ring with a little patch at the side of his right eye, a ringsider yelled:

"Hey Virge, what did ya do, hit yourself?"

Akins proved to be a better fighter than second. Malcolm lost a decision to Joe Hemphill of Chicago in four rounds.

Pearl Pollard, 6-foot-10 University of Utah basketball player, is thinking about becoming a professional boxer after graduation.

Campanella's Cruiser Sold

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (AP)—Crippled Roy Campanella's $47,000 41-foot cabin cruiser was sold at auction Saturday for $20,500.

There were only five bidders in the crowd of 50 for the auction at the Glen Cove Marina. An agent for Irving Weiss, a New York auto dealer, made the highest bid for the twin - engined, custom built boat which can sleep eight.

Campanella had named the boat "Princess" for one of his daughters. It was built two years ago.

The 36 - year - old Los Angeles catcher was forced to sell as the result of the auto accident which fraczured his neck last January.

Still paralyzed in the legs, Campanella is being treated at the New York University - Bellevue Medical Center.

Blaik Says Army Team Will 'Open Up' In 1958 Season

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) - "It will be an interesting football season for us," Col. Earl (Red) Blaik was saying in his office at the U.S. Military Academy. 'We will have to open up more because we're in the same boat as last season. Every opponent we meet next fall has it on us in depth.

"Last year we had six men who played 60 minutes of every game. We lost eight of those men who started in the Navy game. That's anything but an ideal setup.

"I think it's ideal when you have depth. You have better competition for positions, especially at quarterback. I feel better when we have three or four quarterbacks.

"Our quarterback next fall may be Joe Caldwell, a 158 pounder from Miami, Fla. He comes from the same high school that gave us Arnold Tucker. If Caldwell could run as fast as Tucker he'd be a great quarterback. He throws well. Caldwell was hurt last season."

The 20-year-old redhead suffered a broken jaw in 1957 spring practice and then injured a knee. His only effort was three incomplete passes in the opener against Nebraska.

Frank Gibson, a 197-pound plebe from Bellaire, Ohio, could be the surprise. He has three Army football seasons ahead of him and showed well in spring practice. He might move ahead of Jim Dougalas of Luzerne, Pa., and Bob Rudesill of Chattanooga, Tenn., who have two seasons ahead. Dougalas completed three of 11 passes for one touchdown while getting in three games last year. Rudesill threw only one pass in the Nebraska game, the only time he saw action.

Of course, Bob Anderson, who set an academy yardage record as a sophomore last fall and who will team with Captain Pete Dawkins at the halfback spots, will be called on to do some passing.

EARL BLAIK

Anderson and Dawki accounted for 25 touchdowns as Army's new scorning twins last fall. Anderson is a solid triple threat for he can pass, run, kick and receive. Dawkins will be graduated next June and would like nothing better than to captain a winning team. Fullback Harry Walters also will be putting in his third and last football season for the Cadets.

With ends such as Don Usry, Bill Carpenter and Jack Morrison it is easy to understand why Blaik plans to go more for the aerial game. Then, of course, Dawkins caught 11 passes for 225 yards and Anderson pulled down six for 82 yards.

Usry, 6-foot-3 from Cleburne, Tex. has two seasons left. Morrison is 6-foot-2 from Austintown, Ohio, Carpenter, 6-foot-2 from Springfield, Pa. was sidlined most of last season following a jeep accident. Potentially he is a great pass catcher and has two campaigns left.

Only Bob Novogratz, 2-pound guard from Northampton, Pa., is back from the lineman who started against Navy. However guard Chu Lytle, tackles Maurice Hilliard and Ed Bagdonas and center Bill Rowe aren't exactly the Lord Fauntleroy type.

Come fall they will be putting in their final seasons. They weigh between 198 and 210 pounds and all are 6-foot-2 except Bagdonas. He only goes to 6-foot-1.

Coach Blaik, after 17 seasons, most of them winning ones, could be putting in his last two seasons here. His contract expires after 1959. This fall could find Army with a hard-running and fast-passing team that could mean another contract for the 60-year-old mentor.

Frisco Wins For Lead Of Half A Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Al Worthington pitched no-hit ball for four innings in relief Saturday and the San Ffancisco Giants, despite hitless Willie Mays, got 10 safeties for a 7-3 victory over Cincinnati before a crowd of 20,297.

The decision moved San Francisco into a one-half game lead over Milwaukee, which plays a night game in Los Angeles. A Braves victory would restore them to first place.

Mays, after a sensational week, and hitting .433 going into Saturday's game, cooled off, although he was credited with two runs batted in. His batting average is still a lusty .424.

The Giants climbed on four Redleg pitchers. Starter Joe Nuxhall took the loss, his third against two victories. The triumph was Worthington's fourth. Three Cincinnati errors helped the Giants.

Davis Not Lucky In Record Try

HOUSTON (AP) — Glenn Davis of Ohio State qualified easily but drew the outside sixth lane for Saturday night's Meet of Champions 440-yard dash finals in which he hopes to set a new world's record.

Davis, the Big Ten champion who tied Jim Lea's world mark of 45.8 two weeks ago, placed third in the first qualifying heat behind Jim Norton, Penn State, and James Segrest, Abilene Christian. The three were so close and so far ahead the timers gave all three 48.2s.

Norman Jehle, University of Houston freshman, led the second heat with a 48.0. Also qualifying were Deloss Dodds, Kansas State, and Jim Casteel, Florida State.

An ankle injury on his third jump may have deprived Jack Smyth, Houston, of a new record in the hop, step, and jump, but he defended his title successfully with a distance of 46 feet, 9½ inches. Smyth has had a 49-9 this season, compared to his 1957 meet record of 48 feet 10¾ inches.

Mike Lindsay, Oklahoma freshman from London, waited until his final try to cut loose with the winning toss in the discus. The toss struck the 165-foot marker and was measured officially as 164 feet, 2 inches.

Bobby Hartquist of outhwestern Louisiana Institute won the javelin with a toss of 216 feet 1¼ inches.

Bosox Trip Chicago, 7-6

BOSTON (AP)—Boston catcher Lou Berberet lined a seventh-inning bases-loaded double into center field Saturday that paid off in a 7-6 triumph over Chicago.

Jim Ladis made a valiant try for the catch but the sinking drive dropped directly in front of him, scoring three runs.

The deciding blow came at the expense of veteran right-hander Early Wynn, making his first relief appearance of the season after 11 starts.

The White Sox got one run back in the ninth when Nellie Fox tripled and scored on Sherm Lollard's double near the top of the left field wall off winner Ike Delock.

The victory was Delock's second in as many days in relief.

New Sport: Weld Self Into Auto

DALLAS (AP) — A big Fort Worth salesman who took a cramped 5,048-mile trip, while welded into a midget car for 30 days and nights looked for a bath Saturday.

"I'm more interested in a bath than anything else," husky John Pappas told newsmen when he pulled into Dallas in his little car — just 30 miles from home.

Pappas started his tour 30 days ago as the result of a $5 bet with a Dallas friend, Roy Tucker Jr. The doors were welded shut on the little car and there was no way he could get out.

But Pappas didn't need to get out to collect a little money for the American Cancer Society as he went along. "As long as I was going to prove that I could stay in a car for a month, I just decided to try to collect something," he said.

But the generosity of the crowds didn't match their curiosity, he said. Although his tour took him through New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and across the border into Mexico, he collected only $150 for the cancer society.

The car was specially fitted for all Pappas' needs except bathing and shaving. He grew a nice red beard while he drove and talked up cancer collections when a crowd gathered to look at the strange car, a man welded inside.

Palermo Is Put In Jail

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank (Blinky) Palermo, under subpoena as a witness in a New York grand jury investigation of professional boxing, was arrested Friday night by police assigned to the Virgil Akins-Vince Martinez welterweight title fight.

Palermo, a Philadelphia boxing manager widely known in the fight game, spent the night in the police holdover and was released this morning.

Capt. John Doherty, whose detective squad keeps an eye on known gamblers and individuals connected with boxing, arrested Palermo and Abe Sands of Paterson, N. J., after the fight.

The pair was arrested about two miles from the arena, where Akins defeated Marintez for the crown.

Palermo was booked suspected of gambling, although he denied making any bets on the fight.

Sands was held for questioning and also released. He denied betting on the fight.

UPSETS DERBY WINNER TIM TAM

Cavan Takes Belmont Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Cavan achieved one of racing's greatest upsets Saturday by easily winning the $114,600-Belmont Stakes as Tim Tam—Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner—pulled up lame after a vain effort to become the ninth colt in history to win the triple crown.

It was the second straight year that a foreign-bred horse whipped the American horses in the rugged mile and one half classic for three year olds. Gallant Man, foaled in England but raised in Ireland where Cavan was born, won the Belmont a year ago.

Cavan, owned by Joseph E. O'Connell of Boston, took charge rounding the bend leading into the homestretch. Then he drew off to beat Tim Tam by six lengths.

Tim Tam, a prohibitive 3-20 favorite of a crowd of 44,025 to give Calumet Farm its third Belmont and triple crown, tried valiantly but could do no better than second place. It was another 5½ lengths back to C. V. Whitney's Flamingo, who took third money by three-quarters of a length over the Wheatley stable's Nasco.

The crowd, biggest Belmont gathering since 52,668 turned out to watch Phalanx win in 1947, roared as Cavan and Timmy battled into the final turn. Then many of the shouts turned to groans when it was evident Tim Tam was through an eighth of a mile from the finish.

Ismael Valenzuela, who won the Derby and Preakness aboard the colt, whipped his mount. Tim Tam swerved slightly but everyone knew he wasn't going to make the winner's circle this time. He went on down to the first turn where Valenzuela dismounted and removed the saddle. The colt limped from the track without returning to the regular unsaddling area in front of the winner's circle.

Five weeks ago Tim Tam collected Kentucky roses at Churchill Downs. Three weeks ago Maryland black-eyed susans were draped over Tim Tam at Pimlico. But the white carnations which blankets a Belmont winner went to an Irish galloper who only last week romped off with the Peter Pan Handcap here and set up his remarkable Belmont knockout.

Pete Aderson, a 27-year-old native of Southampton, N.Y., rode Cavan. As the second choice, Cavan paid $11.80, $2.40 and $2.10. Tim Tam, who was seeking his ninth straight victory, returned $2.10 and $2.10. Flamingo also was $2.10 to show.

Cavan, a chestnut son of Mossborough-Willow Ann by Solario, was clocked in 2:30 1-5 on a fast track.

Pirates Decision Cubs In 10th, 8-6

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Freese, a Pittsburgh bench warmer with a .118 batting average, started a three-run 10th inning with a pinch homer Saturday as the Pirates snapped a five game losing streak by defeating the Chicago Cubs 8-6.

Freese's home run also helped little Elroy Face to his first win of the year working as the second of four Pirate pitchers but Frank Thomas was the big bat man in the Pittsburgh triumph.

Thomas hit his 15th and 16th homers plus a run-making single to drive in five runs and lift his RBI total to 49.

The Pirates smashed four homers, accounting for six of their eight runs. Bill Virdon also hit a home run for the Bucs.

Bobby Thomson and Dale Long hit homers for the Cubs. It was Thomson's fourth, and Long's fifth.

Phils Whack Cards, 15-6

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A former St. Louis Cardinal, Rip Repulski, back to torment the Red Birds by driving in five runs in a free-swinging 15-6 Philadelphia Phillie defeat of the Cards Saturday.

The Phils teed off on five Cardinal pitchers for 17 hits and the Red Bird hurlers gave up 13 walks. The defeat ended a four-game Cardinal winning streak.

The loss was given to Lindy McDaniel, who lasted less than one inning. The winner, Curt Simmons now is 5-6. For McDaniel, it meant a fifth loss while winning three.

Bueno Upsets His Teammate In Match

BEAUMONT (AP)—Lean, bronzed Pedro Bueno of Lamar Tech upset top-seeded teammate James Schmidt in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics' Tennis Tournament Saturday, defeating him 7-9, 8-6, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 to gain the singles championship.

Schmidt gained revenge for the upset in the doubles finals, however, as he teamed with Eugene Saller to defeat Bueno and Armandon Ferla in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Host Lamar Tech clinched an unprecedented fourth straight tennis title Friday by advancing all its players into the final round.

It all boiled down to a swapping of titles, since Schmidt had won the singles crown in 1955 and 1956, while Bueno had won shares of the doubles trophy in 1956 and 1957.

Phillips, Dodgers Win Pony Games

The Phillies and Dodgers emerged victors in two close Pony League games played here Friday night.

The Phils got by the Red Sox 5-3 with a three-run sixth inning, while the Dodgers broke a seventh inning tie with one run in the bottom of that frame to beat the Tigers 10-9.

The Phils ran behind until the fifth inning of their game. After the Red Sox got two runs in the second when Darrell Rains homered with one on base, the Phils got one run in the third and tied the game with one in the fifth when Weldon Ware doubled Luke Nigliazzo home.

In the sixth, two Red Sox errors meant three runs for the Phillies. The Sox got one run on an error in the seventh but were still two behind.

Bob Pena, winning hurler, went six innings for three hits, four bases on balls, and 13 strikeouts. In the final frame, Lewis Herndon gave up no hits and one walk while fanning one. Loser Charles Gladson allowed five hits and three walks, striking out one in six innings. Jerry Guthrie, his replacement, allowed no hits and one walk in the final inning.

Both starting pitchers had trouble in the other game, with the Tigers scoring five runs and the Dodgers four in the first inning. The Dodgers got three more in the second, going ahead 7-5. Each team got a run in the third and one in the fifth.

But the Tigers caught up in the top of the seventh, doubled in by Steve Free. Larry McNair brought in John Thompson in the bottom of that inning to break the tie and give the Dodgers the win.

Keith Moreland, who pitched the last six and one-third innings, was winner. He struck out 10, walked two, and allowed four hits. Thompson, who started the game, allowed three hits and two walks, striking out none.

Loser Ed Car Foree went five innings for three hits, one walk, and four strikeouts. Bubba Fleming, who started the game, allowed two hits and four walks and struck out three.

MR. AND MRS. DOSS RAY SMYRL
. . . married May 28

Yvonne Carpenter Marries Doss Ray Smyrl May 28

Miss Yvonne Carpenter became the bride of Doss Ray Smyrl in a single ring wedding ceremony held May 28 at 6:30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Carpenter, 2204 Forty-first Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Smyrl, route 3, Snyder.

The Rev. A. J. Martin, pastor of the Avenue D Baptist Church conducted the wedding ceremony.

The bride wore a blue and white dacron dress with white accessories.

Her bouquet was white carnations.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Barbara Ann Carpenter, who wore a pink cotton satin dress with a bouquet of white carnations.

A reception followed the wedding in the home of the bride's parents.

Decorations were white stock with greenery for the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Galveston they will make their home at 2602 Avenue M.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School, and the groom is employed by McDonald's Texaco Station here.

Out of town guests for the wedding included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. N. Carpenter.

Shish Kebobs

Shish kebobs a bit skittish? No problem keeping meat cubes on a skewer, but vegetables may split and slide off. Try threading the vegetables this way: If a small hollow is cut at each end of the vegetable to cat as a guide for the skewer, they are less likely to fall off the skewers during cooking. Slip cooked vegetables and meat from skewer into a hot frankfurter bun which has been heated on grill.

AUGUST WEDDING SET—Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Curry, Route 2, Arlington, Tex., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Curry, above, to Delbert Coy Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hess, of Hermleigh.

Delbert Hess, Arlington Girl To Marry In August

Delbert Coy Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hess, Hermleigh, will be married to Miss Patricia Ann Curry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Curry of Route 2, Arlington, Tex., on August 30.

The wedding will take place at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Aug. 30, in the Arlington First Methodist Church. A reception will follow in the fellowshiphall of the church.

Miss Curry is a graduate of Arlington State College. She is a June graduate of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where she is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta, and Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Hess is a graduate of Hermleigh High School, and will receive his degree from Texas Tech in August.

He is a member of Aplha Tau Omega, Alpha Zeta, and Phi Kappa Phi.

Summer Picnic

Picnic to please the summer through. Family members may differ about the picnics they like. Some like them hot, and some like cold foods. Plan to please those who enjoy the cook-it-over-the-coals way, to be eaten out-of-hand from a bun. Another week, take a traditional ready-to-eat sandwich and fruit basket. If to father, a picnic centers around a hot casserole, tote it, and give the gentleman what he wants. For outdoor eating enjoy these pic-kwicky ideas.

Doneness Test

The proof of doneness for chickens or turkeys roasted on a barbecue pit is the internal temperature of the bread stuffing in the bird. It's no trick to insert a meat therometer through the skin between the first and second ribs. The temperature for stuffed chicken or turkey should reach 160 degrees F.

Miss Carol Sue Clark Marries John Edly Reed In Double Ring Ceremony Here Friday Night

Miss Carol Sue Clark became the bride of John Edly Reed in a double-ring wedding ceremony held in the First Baptist Church here at 8 o'clock Friday night.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Clark Jr., 2800 Westridge, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mr. Harry H. Reed, 106 Peach Street.

Vows were repeated before the Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The bride's father, G. B. Clark Jr., gave the bride in marriage.

The bride wore a traditional gown of white silk organza and lace, fashioned with a portrait neck line traced with scallops of lace and tiny folds of tulle dotted with sequins and pearls. The brief sleeves were complimented by short white kid gloves. From her slightly elongated bodice a deep over skirt of organza edged with double rows of lace scallops fell over a tulle flounce which extended into a court train. Her triple tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a regal crown of pearlized orange blossoms.

The bride's flowers were a cascade bouquet centered with an orchid encircled by white roses, stephanoties and lily-of-the-valley.

Both the maid of honor, Miss Jane Joyce, 2709 Twenty-eighth Street, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Herbert Reed, 3610 Avenue B, were dressed in identical waltz length gowns of romance blue silk organza. Their flowers were colonial bouquets.

The four bridesmaids wore identical waltz length gowns of mist blue silk organza with colonial bouquets.

They were Juanez Teaff, 2013 Avenue Z, Pat Wade, Route 3, Clinta Blackard, 2209 Thirtieth Street, and Connie Connell, Snyder.

Terry Worley, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white silk organza costume made like the bridesmaid's costumes.

Best man was Herbert Reed, brother of the groom.

Ushers were Milton Ham, Joe Reaves, Tom Falls all of Snyder, and Bob Ward, Monahans.

The altar of the church was decorated with an arch of greenery flanked by baskets of gladiola and candelabra. The aisles were decorated with white candles and gladiola.

Mrs. N. N. Rodgers, organist, played Lohrengren's Bridal Chorus for the processional, and accompanied Mrs. John Casebier, soloist, who sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." The recessional by Mrs. Rodgers was from "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream," By Mendelssohn.

A reception followed the wedding in the Martha Ann Women's Club, where the bride's table and the groom's table were decorated in white and silver motif.

Mrs. W. A. McGlaun Sr. presided at one of the tables, and Mrs. Mable Belsher at the other. They are aunts of the bride.

A tiered wedding cake was served.

Mrs. J. W. Headstream, cousin of the bride, presided at the bride's book.

Mrs. Wayne Williams, aunt of the bride, served punch at the reception.

Two of the groom's aunts, Mrs. Mary Lawson, Dallas, and Mrs. G. K. Lemmons, Snyder, presided at the coffee service.

The bride's house party was attended by Jo Ann Miller, Judy Broman, Toni Best, Doris Lewis, Molly Carroll, Dana Scarborough and Mrs. Ray Courtney.

For their wedding trip to Lake Murry, Okla., the bride wore a black and white cotton tweed suit.

Both the bride and groom 1957 graduates of Snyder High School, and both are sophomore students at Texas Technological College Lubbock, where they will return to school next Fall.

The bride is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Lambda Delta sororities. The groom is majoring in business administration, and is a pledge of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

They will make their home here at 2008½ Thirtieth Street when they return from their wedding trip.

Miss Joann Merket, Jackie Dee Pylant Honored With Gift Shower Friday Night

A short program with the theme "This is Your Life," depicted scenes in the life of the honoree from birth through old age, portrayed through a series of "living pictures," each framed by a tall white ivy-covered arch. Musical readings for each scene of the tableaux were presented by Miss Helen Jo Laster and Mrs. C. B. Underwood, with Mrs. O. N. Lasttner Jr. at the piano.

The centerpiece featured a miniature bride and groom standing in front of a white satin and floral bridal arch, with a background of tall pink tapers. Pink satin streamers were inscribed "Joann" and "Jackie" in silver glitter. The white cake squares were decorated with pink flowers, and an ice wedding ring floated in pink punch in the large crystal punchbowl. Plate flavors inscribed with the legend "Joann and Jackie — June 13th," featured tiny pink flowers tied to the white light pink dotted-swiss nylon frock, bow in the back, the streamers of which extended to the hemline. Her corsage was a darker shade of pink.

She had been honored earlier with a popcorn party by the girls of Hardin-Simmons University in her domitory there.

Popcorn and punch were served by Patsy Powers, Delma Franklin, Zelma Franklin, Carolyn Utt, Daisy Brown, Nita Swiendell, Sue Jean Loftis, Mattie Faye Thurman, Jeanne Rudd, Linda Banks, and Juanita Embry.

Prevent Burning

No thermostats or fuel controls have been invented for charcoal broiling. To prevent burning, it's a matter of frequent turning. To warm bread or rolls, place them in a pan or wrap in foil and set at side of grill where heat is not too intense. Turn once or twice for even heating. Little heat passes over the top of the pan or package.

MRS. JAY COLLIE FISH

Dr. Jay Collie Fish And Miss Sally Bailey Married In Ballinger Last Night At 7 O'Clock

Miss Sally Bailey became the bride of Dr. Jay Collie Fish at 6 o'clock last night in the First Methodist Church in Ballinger, after which a garden reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson Bailey, 601 Fifth Street, Ballinger.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Collie Fish of Snyder.

Mrs. Charles Hambrick, organist played for prenuptial music, "To An Evening Star," "Ave Maria," "My Heart To Thy Sweet Voice."

As the candles were lighted, she played Schubert's "Traumerei" and "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach. The recessional was from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by Mendlessohn.

Mrs. Hambrick accompanied Bill McCook when he sang, "Love Old Sweet Song," by Mallay, and Lt. Russell Gregory of Waco, who sang "O Perfect Love," by Fox, "Iche Liebe Dich," by Grieg, and and "The Wedding Prayer."

The altar was appointed with a brass epergne filled with white calla lillies and white stock, flanked on either side by candelabra with tall cathedral candle. Emerald foliage and smilax entwined wrought iron candelabra with burning tapers on each side of the wrought iron priedieu laid with a white suede pillow. The altar rail was festooned in green smilax and woodwardia fern with three candle groupings on either side. The bridal path of white damask was marked by tall candleabra with burning tapers, entwined with emerald foliage.

The Rev. James L. Christensen, minister of the First Christian Church in San Angelo, read the marriage vows.

Gale Erickson, Fort Leonard Mo., served Dr. Fish as best man. Groomsmen were: Dr. Paul Cochran, Los Angeles, Calif., Giegfried Pertl, of Willersdorf, Austria, and Charles Lee McCook, Abilene, cousin of the bride. Ushers were Tim Kirksey, San Antonio, Dr. Charles Craig, Dr. Leroy Boriack, both of Corpus Christi, Jackson McNeill, Nederland, Dr. John Edward Cogan, Houston, and Dr. Charles F. Miss Ann Fish, Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Mrs. Charles F. Bailey, Jr., was matron of honor. Other bridal attendants were Pamela Price and Sandy Lynch. Their floor length gowns of white tafeta organdy were fashioned with low neck lines, cap sleeves, countour bodice, with white taffeta cumberbunds. The butterfly bow in the back rested on wide streamers that fell to deep hem lines of the bouffant skirts. They wore long white gloves, and Princess crowns from which hung face veils. Their fans of old ivory satin and lace were showered with white elfie roses and stephanotis, and were tied with green velvet ribbons.

Strewing rose petals were Kathlene Mahoney of Dallas, cousin of the bride, and Cindy Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harris of Ballinger. Their white-taffeta organdy dresses and small Princess crowns matched those worn by adult attendants. Pages for the bride and bridegroom were John Brian Purifoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Purifory of Fort Worth, and Mark Fuqua, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fuqua of Ballinger.

They carried the wedding rings on the stamens of calla Lilies. To Rossini's Bridal March, the Bride was escorted to the altar by her father, and was given in marriage by her parents. Her gown, from the House of Bianchi, was magnolia silk peaude soie. The portrait neckline of Alencon lace was embroidered in mother of pearl pailettes and simulated seed pearls. The sculptured bodice dramatically spread into a bell skirt with a sweeping court train. The sleeves were shirred to three-quarter length and she wore short white gloves.

Her fingertip veil was worn by her aunt, Mrs. W. B. Halley, fifty-two years ago when she was married to the late Dr. W. B. Halley. It fell from a diminutive Swedish Queen's crown of simulated seed pearls. She carried a mother of pearl and point de Venice lace fan from her own collection of antique fans. It was overlaid with white sweetheart roses and showered with valley lilies tied with ribbons from her mother's wedding bouquet. She wore in her shoe a six-pence from Jamaica and a four leaf-clover with her wedding date, a gift from her nephew, Charles F. Bailey III.

The mother of the bride wore a Cahill gown of glacier blue Chantilly lace embroidered in mother of pearl sequins. She wore long white gloves and a picture hat of glacier blue horse hair with velvet trim. Her bag was topped with a single pink glamelia.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a Frank Starr original of sky blue lace and chiffon. She wore a matching lace hat with white gloves and carried a nosegay of yellow roses.

At the garden reception, the bride's table was laid in an appliqued and embroidered organdy cloth from Switzerland. The white cake was four tiers, each tier supported by porcelain columns and decked with pastel floral confections. The centerpiece was white roses and white stock in porcelain. The punch was ladled from a porcelain and gold antique bowl.

The bridegroom's table was laid with a wheat-tone damask. His rectangular chocolate cake was three tiered and was garnished with purple, green and blue grapes cascading from the top and surrounding the base. The centerpiece was a top hat, a gold headed cane, a boutonniere, and the late Dr. W. B. Halley's wedding gloves. Coffee was served from the silver service. Salad, sandwiches, nuts and candy mints were served from both tables.

Serving at the bride's table were Miss Sarah Northington of Dallas, and Mrs. Rucker Northington of Lampasas, cousin and aunt of the bride, Mrs. Luther Rector of McCauley, and Mrs. Al Purifoy of Fort Worth. Assisting were: Mrs. W. B. Hodges, Jr., Mrs. Earl Zetsche of Houston; Mrs. Gayle Klipple of San Antonio, Mrs. Bill Coleman of Lubbock, Mrs. Delmar Poss of San Angelo, Mrs. Bill Jenkins of Dallas, Misses Sarah Chandler, Delle Tisdale and Karol Kirk of Austin.

Serving at the bridegroom's table were Mmes. Elmo McCook, Abilene, Oletha Mitchell and Virgie Harris, both of Snyder. Others assisting in serving were: Mmes. Doyle St. John, Gale Erickson, Paul Cochran, Charles Craig, Marvin Overton III of Galveston. Misses Jacqueline Martin of Snyder, Pat Tisdale, Mary St. John, Midge Adair, Pamela Price and Sandy Lynch of Snyder.

Assisting the wedding party and parents of the bridal couple in receiving were Mrs. W. B. Halley, aunt of the bride, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey, Jr., and Mrs. J. C. Hunt of Dallas, aunt of the bride.

Mrs. Charles Mahoney of Dallas cousin of the bride, and Mrs. William Harris registered guests. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Price were assisted by Mrs. O. H. Chandler and Mrs. Bailey Mack in displaying gifts.

Others in the houseparty were Mmes. Troy Simpson, Joe Forman, Mary Leathers of Novice, Frank Flynt, W. B. Woody, Charles O. Harris of San Angelo, Ray Fuqua, Cal-Adair, E. Y. Bailey, Gene Heidenheimer, Lloyd Johnson, Ted Tisdale, H. H. Hammer, J. L. Ohlhausen and M. T. Camp.

The bride wore away a Paul Sachs original in navy sheer with white pigue trim. Her wig hat was curled with feathers. She wore white gloves and navy accessories.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, Dr. and Mrs. Fish will return to Snyder and Ballinger for short visits with their parents before motoring to Philadelphia, Pa., where Dr. Fish will intern in Philadelphia General Hospital for one year.

Mrs. Fish is a graduate of Christian College, Columbia, Missouri, and the University of Texas School of Medical Technology. Dr. Fish attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and graduated from Texas University Medical School in Galveston.

Dr. and Mrs. Oren H. Chandler and daughter, Sarah, hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening in their home on Broadway.

Bridal white floral arrangements were used on tables laid with white linen. Silver and crystal appointments were used for the buffet menu.

Roast Corn

Serve it hot and husky straight from the coals. Sweet corn to be roasted, is tender if soaked in salted cold water for 30 minutes to an hour. Drain. Place unhusked ears on grill over hot coals. Turn every 5 minutes. Roast about 15 minutes, or until husks are brown. By this time the corn will be tender and hot. To serve: Peel husks down, but not off, butter and salt. Eat banana fashion. Perfect with grilled minute steaks eaten between hot hamburger buns warmed at the side of the grill.

PREPARING FOR HAWAIIAN TRIP—The four Snyder school teachers above and a fifth member of the group will leave June 16 on a trip through the Western U. S. and to Hiwaii. Nurses Hear Dr. Jones

The Scurry County Nurses Club heard Dr. Wilton N. Jones, as guest speaker for the club's last meeting of the season.

The meeting was held in the reception room of the Medical Arts Clinic Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Jones spoke on the subject of "Mood Changing Drugs." It was referred to as a very interesting and informative lecture.

Present were Mrs. Ruby Lee, Mrs. Pansy Ray, Mrs. Edna Cockrell, Mrs. Joe Pierce, Mrs. Edith Hungerford, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith, Mrs. Virginia Dickenson, Mrs. Opal McClosky, Mrs. Maurine Pilcher, Miss Margie Hardin, Mrs. Joanne Norred, Mrs. Betty Seeker, Miss Leah Davis, Mrs. Ruth Steinbert, Mrs. Edith Jones and Miss Estella Davis.

Officers for the next year were elected at a previous meeting.

They are: Mrs. Ruby Lee, president; Mrs. Edith Jones, first vice president; Mrs. Eula Williams, second vice president; Mrs. Pansy Ray, secretary; Mrs. Leota Hamblin, treasurer.

The executive committee include Mrs. Edith Jones, membership chairman; Mrs. Eula Williams, program chairman; Mrs. Joanne Norred, publicity and press chairman; Mrs. Opal Robinson, recreation and social committee chairman; and Miss Marge Hardin, legislation and revision committee chairman.

Mrs. Jewel Smith and Mrs. Oma Lee Spears will work with the Future Nurses Club during the next school year.

The next meeting will be held the first Tuesday in September.

Spare Spareribs

If spareribs are to be grilled over the coals, do not cut the ribs into sections. Rather, weave a skewer through the whole cut of pork. Rotate over hot coals — a slow fire — for about 7½ hours, or until tender and brown. Baste with barbecue sauce during cooking. To know if meat is done, cut a slit near the bone or in the center of the piece. No redness should remain. Good eating with the ribs are chunky servings of buttered French bread. Be sure to wrap it in heavy foil and warm on the grill.

Being ungraceful when sitting at home may carry over into a social situation. And you may find yourself sprawling over someone's sofa or at a dinner table. Women should sit with hands quiet and legs gracefully crossed at the ankles to avoid hiking skirts to embarrassing positions.

Snyder Teachers Plan Trip To West Coast And Hiwaii

Four Snyder school teachers and a fifth girl will leave June 16 for a one-month trip through the Western U.S. and to Hiwaii.

They are Colleen Soles, Lynn Reedy, Mary Jo Harrell and Camille Cloud, and Letty Thornton. Miss Thornton lives at Trinity, Tex. and is a spring graduate of Sam Houston State College.

They will go by automobile to the west coast, then by boat to Catalina Island, and Hiwaii. They will fly back from the Hiwaiian Islands to the west coast after they complete their tour of the islands.

The first day of their trip they plan to go to El Paso, then on to Palm Springs, Los Angeles, and Long Beech, later in the week.

They will go to Catalina for a weekend, then plan to sail aboard the S. S. Lei Lani for Hiwaii on June 29. They will fly back to the west coast on July 14, and arrive back in Snyder about July 20, after a sight seeing trip through the Western states.

Young girls may overdo things when first discovering perfume. In a fragrance, as in dress and manners, teen-agers should enhance their youthful vivacity and charm with light floral bouquets. Leave richer, deeper fragrances for the more mature woman.

LOS ANGELES has become baseball mad since its acquisition of the former Brooklyn Dodgers, as evidence by actor Richard Egan's organizing a softball game on the streets of downtown Los Angeles for a group of youngsters watching him perform before the cameras in "Voice in the Mirror." Here he takes his turn at bat with fellow-actor Arthur O'Connell serving as umpire.

MacArthur Is Doing Well With Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Young James MacArthur, who quit college because he was "vegetating," is getting plenty of action with his dramatic career.

He's not so sure his mother, Helen Hayes, approved. But he quit Harvard, anyway.

"I went back last fall," said Jim, who was entering his sophomore year. "But I just couldn't get engrossed with what I was doing. I was just vegetating.

"I dropped out after two months because I thought it was foolish to continue when I wasn't getting much out of it. I've known too many guys who have done that for four years.

"I haven't given up college entirely. I may go back some day."

It doesn't look too likely. For one thing, he got himself engaged to his school sweetheart, Joyce Bulifant. Jim said it may be "one of those long engagements," but you never can tell.

Then there is the matter of his career, which is doing nicely. He is in Hollywood to do a Studio One drama with Franchot Tone and Kim Hunter.

He leaves immediately for New York and flies to Europe, where he'll do a bit of touring. In July, he reports to Switzerland to star in Walt Disney's "Third Man on the Mountain." Then in the fall he has a Broadway play he would like to do.

That doesn't sound as if he'll be returning to the ivied halls.

"Some of the most educated people have never been to college," Jim reasoned. He added that his mother never went past high school although she holds 11 honorary degrees.

One of the reasons he may have left Harvard was that the university has no undergraduate drama courses.

He told of visiting the famed Actor's Studio in New York, where actors did a scene, then criticized each other. He felt the actors were unable to communicate with each other. On the other hand, he wasn't so sure they were able to understand the learned critique of the studio major domo, Lee Strasberg.

Problems In Own TV Show

AMUSEMENT

By PAT BOONE

NEW YORK (AP) — When you get a television show of your own, as it happened to me this year, there's a question refrain that comes with it: "How's it doing?" meaning, What's the rating?

In my case there was a second refrain that went with the first like a Siamese twin: "Why do you do it?" Meaning, Why with all the load of rehearsing and performing the weekly show, making recordings, personal appearances, filming and the rest, did you decide to continue at Columbia University until you got your degree?

What good will a college degree do you or your show? Or maybe it's just a publicity stunt?

You don't make the Dean's list by just showing up at class with a bright smile. Man, I just don't dig that college degree business. What'll it do for you? Man, right now, you've got it made.

I've tried answering, explaining. And sometimes I think I've made my point. But I'm not sure. So I just have to go on doing my days in the way that feels right for me and my family—a wife and four daughters.

I know what they mean when they say, "You've got it made." But I don't believe I've got it made by things outside me—by name or fame or ratings or possessions or even a college degree. Finally, you only "have it made" by what you are, by what you have in you.

Long before I found I could make my way as a singer, I wanted to teach. Working with youngsters was my ambition when I started at North Texas State College. It still is. Maybe someday I'll be able to do it directly in the classroom. Right now, in every way I can — through the show, through talks with youth groups, through correspondence.

Doing this is a responsibility. Just as being a father is a responsibility. Just as being a citizen. To handle these responsibilities and to handle them maturely, I need to know as much as I can learn and keep on learning. College is one of the preparations I can make to meet this constant responsibility.

Roz Tricks Her Husband

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rosalind Russell, a blonde for the first time in her life, played a gag on her husband—but she doesn't advise other wives to try it.

Roz had a hair bleach for the movie version of "Auntie Mame."

Two Texans Get Leads

GALVESTON (AP)—Two Texans will play the leads in an off-Broadway production this fall of a play by a fellow Texan.

Valgene Massey of West Columbia, Tex., is the playwright and the show is "Chapparral," dealing with Texans in Texas.

Cast in the lead roles are Rip Torn of Austin and Ann Hamilton of Galveston, former University of Texas classmates who formerly appeared together on the Austin campus under Massey's direction.

Torn since has gained professional stature through national television appearances. He and Massey are co-producers of "Chapparral," which will open in September.

Miss Hamilton, whose career started at 14 in Little Theater work here, now is doing her first Manhattan show. Last year she played summer stock roles in the New York Catskills.

Douglas Has It Figured

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kirk Douglas, often nominated but never a winner of an Academy award, says this is why:

"It's because there are no Nazis in Germany."

Asked to elaborate, Kirk added: "When I was in Germany I never met a person who had been a Nazi—yet there must have been plenty. A few years ago when I was nominated for 'Lust for Life' I never met an Academy member who voted for Yul Brynner.

CBS Spends Plenty On Lawrence Welk

By JAMES BACON

OCEAN PARK, Calif. (AP) — It isn't often that one television network will invest millions in the star of a rival network.

But it's happening here.

The Columbia Broadcasting System and the Los Angeles Turf Club are spending 10 million dollars to turn 40 acres of beach property into a "Disneyland-by-the-sea."

When it opens July 1, its biggest attractions will be the Pacific and bandleader Lawrence Welk, a headliner on CBS's rival ABC-TV.

CBS and the Turf Club, which operates Santa Anita racetrack and Lake Arrowhead resort, made a survey before picking the site in the middle of a blighted area between Santa Monica and Los Angeles.

"We found that tourists coming to California want most to see three things — the Pacific Ocean, Welk and Disneyland," says a park spokesman. "Hollywood is fourth."

CBS and the Turf Club paid almost a million dollars to buy the land. And they got Welk's personal appearance contract in the deal.

The Pacific Ocean was thrown in free.

Welk came to the Aragon Ballroom here about five years ago for a month's engagement. He's still going strong with several years to go on his contract.

With the ocean and Welk going with the real estate, the park's operators started building a nautical Disneyland.

There will be such attractions as a realistic South Sea isle complete with erupting volcano and a jungle train that will pull visitors through the island while monkeys throw coconuts at the passengers.

The train trip will even go into the crater of the volcano where erupting geysers and a simulated earthquake should scare the daylights out of passengers.

A miniature freeway will be built over the ocean for youngsters to drive miniature cars. An ocean skyway ride will take visitors in gondolas high over the Pacific.

And there will be a realistic space trip to Mars where passengers will disembark on the "planet" and get an out-of-this-world feeling.

Junior Editors Quiz on MIND READING

QUESTION: Can a person read your mind?

• • •

ANSWER: At the theater a professional mind reader sometimes claims he can tell what a person in the audience is thinking about.

Some scientists say it is possible for one mind to influence another, but what you see on the stage usually is an exhibition of muscle reading or some form of sleight of hand.

For example, the mind reader has the person hide an object someplace in the room. Then he places the subject's hand on his own forehead or arm and takes tentative steps in several directions. If the subject is thinking deeply about the hiding place, he usually involuntarily moves toward the hidden object when the mind reader moves in that direction.

Sleight of hand is used when the mind reader has a subject write something on a piece of paper. The mind reader apparently tears up the paper and then reveals the subject's words one way or another. Actually, the showman has ripped up a dummy piece of paper while hiding the real one so he can read it.

There are other methods of fake mind reading which use secret codes between the showman and his assistant, who can, in the case of the written words, see what was written on the paper.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is a young boy playing at reading his sister's mind. Try making up such a game, with everybody present taking turns as "mind readers."

The Gardeners Corner

To get more mileage out of your bulbs, whether they are expensive tulips or daffodils or masses of grape hyacinths, help them along after they've finished blooming by cutting off the faded flowers.

Unless the old flowers are removed, nature allows seed pods to form. This draws heavily from the reserve strength of the bulbs and affects the quality of the blooms the following season.

On the other hand, every bit of foliage should be allowed to remain on the plants. No matter how unsightly it appears to be, it should be left alone until it is dry and brittle, and then it can be easily twisted from the bulbs. If the green leaves are sheered off now, just to make your garden neat and tidy, the bulbs will go "blind" and there will be no flowers next year. The leaves help nourish the bulbs so the the embryo blooms can be formed this summer for next year's flower crop.

According to the Ortho Educational Service, this is the ideal time to feed bulbs to improve the crop of blooms for '59. Approved garden hose spray guns, such as the Ortho lawn sprayer can be used to apply liquid fish fertilizer fish fertilizer fast and efficiently. This non-burning plant food goes to work soon, so that the plants will be fattened up for next year.

Perhaps you've had the experience of cultivating clumps of daffodils whose flowers got smaller and smaller each succeeding year. Much of this trouble could have been avoided with proper feeding immediately after the blooming season.

A frequently-asked question is this one: How often is it necessary to lift and divide members of the narcissus tribe — daffodils, jonquils, and such?

Normally they can be left alone for four or five years, because they will stand summer moisture without rotting. This is easily proven by the fact that many of the finest daffodils come from the British Isles where summer rains are common.

There is argument, even between the experts, whether tulips should be left in the ground or not. Since the bulbs give prize blooms the first year,then shorter stemmed ones the second season, it seems reasonable to lift the bulbs and relegate them to cut flower patches the following year. In the heavy traffic parts of the garden, it's best to replant with fresh tulip bulbs each season.

Such bulbs are grape hyacinths, wood hyacinths and others of this class may be left to naturalize for three to five years without necessity of division.

In small gardens, where the space occupied by bulbous plants of any kind are needed for summer annuals, it is safe to lift the bulbs now with a clump of soil. These can be transferred quickly to a v-shaped trench, kept watered, and there they'll have a chance to cure in the normal manner. These bulbs can be dug along in July and August, exposed to the drying rays of the sun for a day or two, and then stored in flats in a cool, dry garage to await bulb planting time in the fall. Botano dust should be applied liberally to the bulbs during this summer hiatus to prevent aphids and other pests.

With an increase in electric appliances in homes housewives should watch for danger signals of overloading. Otherwise, there is a threat of fire or other trouble. If your lights flicker, fuses blow and the TV dims when another appliance is turned on, have an electrician check your wiring.

The popular lunchtime snack the sandwich, was invented by the Earl of Snadwich in the 1700's the Earl loved to play cards so much that he wouldn't stop to go to the dining room to eat. He had slices of meat put between two slices of bread to eat while he continued playing.

The game, rummy, gets its name from the British word, "rum," which means odd or queer.
