Heavy Damage Reported As Destructive Winds Hit Texas

Oil Field Of Eastern Area Biggest Loser

More Than $500,000 Property Loss Estimated; Hangars At Tyler, Longview Wrecked And Planes Damaged

Hail Also Falls

Dust Clouds Roll Into Northeast Texas; Fine Crops Are Hard Hit And Some Fields Are Totally Ruined

(By The Associated Press)

TYLER, March 24. — Destructive winds and hail ripped through Texas today, causing more than $500,000 property damage at Tyler, Longview, Kilgore and other points in the rich oil field.

Hangars were wrecked at the Tyler and Longview airports, and three planes, blown half a mile from the Kilgore airport, were pitched up on a house and damaged badly. Three other planes were battered at Longview.

Roofs Carried Away

The howling wind carried away roofs, stripped telephone lines from poles and smashed plate glass windows at Tyler. The havoc was increased by pelting hail which tore through automobile tops and roofs.

LOSS MOUNTING

TYLER, March 24.—Damages from a hail, wind and rain storm in East Texas today were estimated tonight at nearly $1,500,000, after rebuilding and repair work started at Tyler, Longview, Kilgore and other places. A shortage of building material loomed as lumber and hardware establishments reported they had "sold out" all supplies. Many rush orders for delivery from mills and manufacturers were booked.

Hail stones piled up a foot deep in front of buildings at Tyler and caused torrents of water in the streets to flood basements, adding to the damage.

Telephone repair crews reported more than 400 instances of line trouble and there was considerable difficulty for a time checking on the extent of losses in outlying districts, cut off from communication with the city.

Derricks Are Toppled

Oil derricks toppled over and trees were torn out by the roots, flying through the air and landing on buildings at Kilgore. The storm forced a heavy oil truck into a ditch near Tyler.

Dust clouds rolled into northeast Texas on the wings of the violent storm. Dust was reported at points as widely separated as Dallas, Corsicans, Palestine and Paris.

The raging wind brought despair to East Texas tomato and fruit growers, who reported their fine crops hard hit. Some fields were described as totally ruined while all in the affected area were damaged.

Planes Are Damaged

Parts of the Longview hangar, which was demolished, were blown 300 yards, and lumber from it caved in on six planes, damaging three of

Pioneer Of Floyd County Is Victim

FLOYDADA, March 24 (Special) —Stricken anew Friday with paralysis, four weeks from the time she first had suffered that condition, Mrs. Josie Moore, 74, who had lived in Floyd county 28 years, died at 9:40 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Moore, who was born Aug. 18, 1862, in McLennan county, will be sent there for burial in Oakwood cemetery after rites to be read under auspices of the Baptist church here at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. She had been affiliated with that denomination numerous years.

Survivors are: Seven sons, Louie F. Moore, deputy county clerk of Lubbock, W. R. Moore of Waco, Frank L. Moore, O. J. Moore and Lemond Moore, all of Floydada, C. F. Moore of Sweetwater, and H. B. Moore of Bellevue; a daughter, Mrs. E. E. Boothe of Floydada, and two brothers, Dade Frost of Lamesa and Nobe Frost of O'Donnell.

A son-in-law, J. M. Denman, lives at 1923 Thirteenth street, Lubbock.

Only Two Names Are Listed On Ballot For School Vote

Ballot for the Lubbock Independent School district board election April 4 held only the names of W. B. Atkins and Maple Wilson, candidates for reelection, when the deadline for filing was passed at midnight Tuesday.

The two incumbents had filed Tuesday a week ago at the office of A. C. Jackson, schools manager.

The polling place was set at City hall by action of the school board Feb. 20.

Tardy Cold Wave Is Noted Tuesday

Silt Clouds Roll Toward Great Lakes And Crisp, Clear Weather Seen In Southwest

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, March 24. — A tardy cold wave gripped the west and southwest tonight as silt clouds from yesterday's dust storm rolled eastward to the great lakes.

Visibility at Grand Rapids, Mich., was reduced to a mile and a half this afternoon by dust clouds, carried from the southwest on high winds. The silt left a gritty film in Chicago, St. Louis and Central Missouri, extending south to East Texas.

Clear Weather Seen

Crisp, clear weather followed a beneficial snow storm in much of the "dust bowl" where the silt storm, worst of the season, blew yesterday.

Winter-like weather descended on Oklahoma. All the western section of the state felt the chill of a snow storm that blanketed the "blow lands" of southeastern Colorado yesterday. Wheat farmers in the Colorado-Oklahoma region saw a renewed hope for crops in the storm.

Western Kansas was under snow but weather observers said it was insufficient to be of much benefit to crops.

Fruit Is Damaged

Freezing temperatures damaged fruit in southern New Mexico.

The mercury dropped to a low of 17 degrees above zero in parts of the Oklahoma Panhandle as the skies cleared off dust. Harry F. Wahlgren, federal weather observer, said a killing frost might visit the north and central sections of the state.

Chilly breezes, blown off snow storms in the west, routed spring-like temperatures from eastern Kansas and western Missouri.

There were cool rains in South Central Missouri where a tornado killed four persons and left 40 families homeless yesterday.

Completion Of Study On Tax Plan Is Near

New Processing Taxes To Be Considered; Open Hearings On Tax Bill To Be Started By Committee Monday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 24 — A house ways and means sub-committee virtually completed its study of President Roosevelt's $792,000,000 revenue program today with a decision that new processing taxes should be "considered."

The group voted to include such levies in discussions before the full committee at open hearings which will start next Monday.

Likely To Be Cut

Subcommitteemen expressed the view that processing taxes would be omitted from the actual tax bill unless the hearings disclosed that other revenue sources would not produce the anticipated yields or the full committee made broad changes in the money-raising plans of the subcommittee.

The sub-committee will recommend that:

1. Net corporate income be taxed on the basis of percentages held back for surpluses to yield around $591,000,000.

2. The windfall tax be placed at 90 per cent of unpaid or refunded processing taxes, with a prospective yield of around $100,000,000.

Continue Profit Tax

3. About $83,000,000 be obtained by continuing the present excess profit tax through the present fiscal year of corporations, and maintaining the capital stock tax at half the existing rates through next June 30.

As the subcommittee wound up its involved task, except for formal approval of the wording of the report, income tax collections for the first time in the present fiscal year pushed beyond the billion dollar figure.

Stenographer Weeps After Murder Trial Is Launched

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP)—Dazed and weeping, a comely stenographer today heard the beginning of testimony designed to send her to the electric chair because she ended an illicit office romance with bullets.

Several times the 31-year-old college-educated defendant, Vera Stretz, appeared on the verge of collapse as the state began unfolding evidence in support of its charge that she murdered Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, German industrialist, wartime flying ace, and father of two children.

Henry Ford Says Curtailment Is Violation Of Natural Laws; He Declares Farmers Will Surely Suffer

Project Disclosed

Says Restriction Is Product Of Those Interested Only In Own Profit By Keeping Prices At High Level

(By The Associated Press)

WAYS, Ga., March 24.—Crop curtailment was denounced by Henry Ford today as a violation of natural laws and the "security of plenty."

"If the farmers allow land to lie idle, they'll suffer," the automobile manufacturer said in disclosing a project here in his program for correlation of agriculture and industry.

Lessens War Chances

In an interview at his 75,000-acre plantation "Cherry Hill," Ford said the use of leisure in agricultural pursuits, besides providing economic security, serves to keep people out of trouble and lessens the chances of war.

"The only way to end war is to make people fear it," he said, adding war in this country is controlled by 25 or 30 individuals.

He charged they are real "public enemies" and should be tracked down just as other public enemies.

For Own Profit

The motor magnate said crop restriction was the brain child of the "underneath government," which he explained was a government composed of persons interested in their own profit, and one the people could not see.

"People are fatheads to let them get away with it," he said.

"Raise something, look to the land. The minute you make produce cheap, someone will find new uses for it."

He said financiers are interested in crop control to keep prices up so they could make more money.

Eighty-Eight Teams Are To Enter Contests At College

Eighty-eight teams from 33 schools of this section have notified Texas Technological college they will enter vocational agricultural contests to be conducted at the college Monday, said Dean A. H. Leidigh of the agricultural division.

More entries are expected than in any former contest, Dean Leidigh said. Approximately 90 teams from 35 schools competed last year. Three students compose each team.

Five contests will be conducted: Dairy cattle, farm shop, livestock, plant production and grain judging, and poultry.

Ray C. Mowery, acting head of the animal husbandry department, will be general superintendent of the show and will be assisted by O. T. Ryan, vocational agricultural supervisor of the area, with headquarters at the college. Ray L. Chappelle, vocational agricultural teacher trainer at the college, and others.

New Oil Land Being Opened

Two Large Tracts Of Oklahoma City Residential Property Opened To Oil Drilling As Result Of Voting

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 24. — Two large tracts of Oklahoma City residential district property were opened to oil drilling today by an overwhelming vote for extension in a special municipal election.

Forces seeking extension of the vast Oklahoma City oil field were victorious in their efforts to include in the drilling zone a tract more than a mile square directly north of the state capitol and another several blocks north of the state capitol and another several blocks to the southeast.

Vote Is Announced

The unofficial vote in 147 out of the city's 153 election precincts:

For extension north of the capitol 13,840; against 9,614.

For extension southeast of the capitol 14,076; against 9,515.

Governor E. W. Marland, who appealed to the city's electorate to vote against extension which he said would drain state lands of valuable oil deposits, declared tonight after the vote that he would protect oil rights on the state capitol and mansion property "in any way I can." He added he would not use military law immediately.

Legal Authority To Collect Tax On Liquor Is Challenged

EL PASO, March 24. (AP)—El Paso legislators tonight challenged the legal authority of the Texas liquor control commission to collect a 20 cents a quart tax on duty free liquor brought into El Paso from Juarez, Mexico.

State Representative Harold Hankamer said the state is prohibited by the constitution from levying or collecting an "import tax."

State Rep. William E. Clayton, pointed out that the state measure provides "for a tax on sale of liquor, not on possession."

Prosecution Fails Again In Effort To Convict Lamson

SAN JOSE, Calif., March 24. (AP) —A determined prosecution failed again today in its repeated efforts to convict David A. Lamson, former Stanford university press official, of murder in the mystifying death of his attractive young wife, Aileene.

Hopelessly deadlocked, the five women and seven men comprising the third trial jury was discharged after 36 hours of deliberating. It has been out since last Friday noon and had taken ten ballots.

Oklahoma City Fliers Are Planning For Lengthy Hop

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 24. (AP) A 30,000 mile flight was projected tonight by two Oklahoma City fliers as a memorial to the late Will Rogers and Wiley Post.

Claiming they already had financial backing, Lewis F. Green and Burrell Tibbs said they would hop off in July on a 56-day trip which would carry them twice across the Atlantic and into 38 nations.

Long-And-Short-Haul Repeal Bill Sent Along To Senate

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP)— The house today sent the controverted rail long-and-short-haul repeal bill along to the senate by a 215 to 41 standing vote.

The bill would permit railroads to charge less for a long haul than for a shorter one over the same route in the same direction on only a 3 to 1 vote for the measure.

CLAIMED BY DEATH

HOUSTON, March 24. (AP)—Ellison Van Hoose, director of the First Presbyterian church choir here, who was prominent in southern music circles and as an operatic singer had sung before the crowned heads of Europe, died in a Houston hospital this morning.

Investigation For Flood Area Asked

Permanent Program To Prevent Disasters In Future Sought By Congress Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 24.—House members from flood swept eastern states today asked for a congressional investigation to determine what federal rehabilitation measures are necessary and to map a permanent program to prevent future disasters.

They introduced a resolution which would authorize Speaker Byrns and Vice-President Garner to name a joint senate-house committee of ten per to make the study and to recommend legislation before this session. The committee would be given $35,000 for the inquiry.

This development climaxed a day of developments here which saw administration proponents of soil conservation step directly into the flood picture.

On the one hand, Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, asserted that if the "squandering" of soil through floods, dust storms and other waste was not stopped the United States would have "less than 100 years of virile national existence" left.

On the other, Secretary Wallace declared in a radio address that a proper soil conservation program would act as a flood preventative and "often be the margin between high water and destructive floods."

Funds Contributed

Other flood developments included:

The Red Cross announced that $1,474,000 had been contributed to its $3,000,000 relief fund, but reported that the disaster had been worse than at first thought. Instead of 40,000 families, the organization said a total of 82,000 were in need of rehabilitation.

Secretary Ickes ordered public works directors in 20 states to survey flood damage to PWA projects and other public property and report to him as quickly as possible.

Representative Walter (D-Pa.) introduced a bill calling for $30,000,000 to set up a Delaware river valley authority to harness flood waters, generate power, and improve navigation.

City Politics Stimulated By New Aspirants

Commission Places Sought By J. A. Fortenberry And W. G. McMillan; Election Is Set For Tuesday, April 7

With biennial elections less than two weeks away, Lubbock's municipal political pot began to simmer last night with the announcement of two new aspirants for commissionerships. They are:

W. G. McMillan, building contractor, and J. A. Fortenberry, wholesale oil and gasoline dealer.

McMillan, resident of Lubbock for the past 11 years, widely known in business, civic and sports circles, is a candidate for Place 2 on the commission. Fortenberry, for a half dozen years identified with the oil and gas business and holder of considerable property, also is well known in business, civic and religious realms.

Seven Men In Field

Entry of Fortenberry and McMillan hiked the total number of city candidates to seven, seeking three places—the mayoralty and two commissionerships. All three places are being contested.

Place 4, sought by Fortenberry, is the post vacated by B. E. Needles who is running for mayor, and was previously announced for Monday by J. W. Ross. Place 2, sought by McMillan, has two other candidates, J. C. 'Cash' Royalty, incumbent completing his fourth year on the commission, and A. J. Huckabee, who announced last Sunday.

Murder Charge Against Girl In Oklahoma Being Dismissed

SHAWNEE, Okla., March 24. (AP) Murder charges against Beatrice Wolf, 19-year-old Coalgate girl, in the "hamburger slaying" of W. E. Burr, 35, of Ada, were dismissed today by Pottawatomie county officials.

Trial of the girl last November resulted in a hung jury.

Burr was stabbed through the heart at a tourist cabin last July 1.

Miss Wolf testified at her trial Burr had threatened to choke her when she refused to eat a proffered hamburger.

Three School Students Are Dead; Are Trapped By Creek

SHELL LAKE, Wis., March 24 (AP) Trapped in back waters of a swollen creek when their car plunged from the flooded roadway, three high school students drowned near here today.

The victims: Ripley Dopp, 17; his sister, Imogene, 15, and Betty Sanders, 16.

Winds Nullify An Attempt To Restrain Static

CAPRICIOUS winds nullified a farmer's attempt to battle by science fire hazards induced by static electricity—with resulting loss of 25,000 bundles of stacked feed.

Elliott Jones, like other farmers, stretched a strand of barbed wire on his stack to prevent its blowing away in the buffeting wind currents, but, unlike many others, he "grounded" the ends of the conductor—shoving a plow blade into the ground on one side and tying to a wagon wheel on the other.

Enter The Wind

This would have been all right, scientifically, but entered the influence of wind. Sand was blown out from under the ground connections. The wire became surcharged with static.

Marble Board Ban Protested By Big Group

Several Hundred Persons Are In Crowd Storming Dallas City Hall; Halt Demanded In Police Drive

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 24—City councilmen moved uneasily in their seats today when several hundred cafe owners, waitresses and marble machine operators stormed the city hall demanding a police drive against coin gambling devices be stopped.

Unable to accommodate the crowd in their own chambers, councilmen moved their meeting to the city auditorium.

Here spokesmen clamored for "justice," against the police drive, protesting that seizure of marble boards and other coin-operated devices was ruining them.

Cafes Are Closed

Reports were that a number of cafes were closed in order that owners might attend the protest meeting.

The council siege was precipitated by a drive started last week which resulted in nearly every machine in the city being removed or padlocked.

Police heads maintained their stand today that they would not discontinue picking up the machines unless juries failed to convict operators or court injunctions were secured to prevent their interference with the devices.

Bids On Construction Over Texas Received On Tuesday

The state highway commission received bids Tuesday on construction in 14 counties and advertised for bids April 7 and 8 on another section of an emergency program estimated to cost $2,800,000, said the Associated Press at Austin.

Included in projects advertised for April 7 were two South Plains constructions:

Floyd county: 10 miles of caliche base and triple asphalt surface from Floydada to the Hale county line, and Lockney loop on highway 28.

Dawson county: 5.9 miles grading and drainage structures from Sparenburg to highway 9.

America Gets Rich Chances

Many Americans Are Richer By Drawings In The Irish Sweepstakes; Big Race Is Set For Friday

(By The Associated Press)

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 24.—The great flag-bedecked Irish hospitals sweepstake drum, manned by squads of pretty nurses, sent a golden stream of about $1,120,000 to America today.

Tomorrow the drum, which looks like a gigantic churn, rolls on to finish the draw. Tonight 325 Americans and their relatives were richer by about $3,600 each as a result of tickets pulled out of the drum today in Dublin city hall.

To Win Thousands

A fortunate few of those will win thousands of dollars more, inasmuch as 27 Americans hold tickets on five hot Grand National favorites in the race at Aintree Friday, on which the draw is based.

Americans won almost 45 per cent of the 725 prizes drawn today, indicating the United States is now buying about half of the tickets sold in the sweeps, started in 1930. In this, the 17th draw, a total of 2,491,162 pounds sterling was collected.

Sherman Man Is Brushing Up On Figures To Divide Cash

SHERMAN, March 24 (AP)—S. L. Talley, Sherman funeral director, was brushing up on his arithmetic today.

The Central State bank, in process of liquidation, notified Talley to appear and receive the account belonging to an estate of which he was administrator.

Answering the summons, he received two cents.

There are 144 creditors awaiting division of the money. Notification of the creditors at present postal rates presents an additional problem.

Principals In Sensational Wife-Swapping Case Married

LAS VEGAS, Nev., March 24 (AP)— Barton Sewell, millionaire Beverly Hills sportsman, and Mrs. Jane Scholtz Emerson, former Denver society girl, obtained a license to wed today shortly after she divorced Walter W. Emerson, Hollywood writer and actor.

The three and Mrs. Sewell figured in the sensational so-called "wife-swapping" case a year ago in Los Angeles, the first of several court actions involving the two couples.

Poor Old Texas U. Just Has To Have Cash For A Museum

WASHINGTON, March 24 (AP) — The senate banking and currency committee approved today the bill of Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex) to authorize issuance of five new series of half dollars for the Texas Centennial.

Proceeds from the sale of the coins would be used to construct a memorial museum on the campus of the University of Texas.

ACTION IS DELAYED

TRENTON, N. J., March 24. (AP)— Governor Harold G. Hoffman said today he will not accept or reject the invitation of Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon to interview him in his Bronx home until he has conferred with Attorney General David T. Wilentz.

Dictator Says That Germany To Stand Pat

Vital Features Of Proposals Made By Former Allies Are Rejected On Grounds They Are Unendurable

Policies Flayed

Positive Proposals Offered Britain Still Held Can Be Found

BY WADE WERN
Associated Press Foreign S

BERLIN, March 24.—Adolf Hitler oratorically and diplomatically rejected the Locarno program of four former World war allies tonight and told Europe he is standing pat.

Europe's statesmen will have to surrender their post-war assumptions that "German weakness can be relied upon as a constant factor in international relations," he told a cheering audience of 20,000 at the huge Deutschlande Halle.

Reply Is Published

At the same time the official news agency published the German reply rejecting vital features of the Locarno powers' proposals as "based on new discrimination, unendurable for a great nation, and upon a renewed attempt to establish the inequality of Germany."

"Every attempt to introduce a reorganization of Europe with the old methods of the hate-filled division of nations into the more privileged and the less privileged, the defamed and the honorable, or into those dictating and those subject to dictation, must—because it is undertaken under the same old destructive assumptions—lead to the same result: that is, the new solution will be no better than the old," said the German answer.

And in practically the same words Der Fuehrer said it from the platform.

Hope Is Held Out

The text of the formal answer, however, held out hope for further negotiations by promising that "positive proposals" along with a "comprehensive statement" of Germany's position would be submitted to the British government next Tuesday.

This will be after Sunday's reichstag election, in the interest of which Hitler spoke tonight, one of the series of a dozen campaign addresses he is making.

When he went to the huge hall he was cheered by half a million people who had been released early from offices and shops.

Speaks Of Power

Hitler opened with his usual reference to his 14-year-long struggle toward power. Now that power has been achieved, he said proudly, "I do not hide myself from people—

Guard Furnished For Kay Francis

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 24. (AP)—An armed guard has been assigned to Kay Francis, movie actress, because of the receipt by her of a threatening letter believed to be the work of a crank.

Miss Francis' studio turned the letter over to Los Angeles police in addition to dispatching a studio guard to her home.

The letter, described by studio officials as "rambling and probably the work of a psychopathic person," was delivered to Miss Francis' home by a young girl last night.

Pythian Grand Chancellor Is Speaker In City Tuesday

John W. Birdwell, grand chancellor of the state lodge of Knights of Pythias, was principal speaker Tuesday night at the Lubbock club's Castle hall upon occasion of an official visit here. He discussed the organization's orphanage at Weatherford and duties of Pythianism.

Fifty attended, including W. L. Pirtle of Forney, C. H. Christian, Earnest Stewart and Reece Tye, all of Paducah, C. W. Crawford of Rockdale, and J. C. McKenzie of Mobile, Ala., lodges.

Refreshments were served.

Post Rotarians Hosts To Old Timers Of Eight Counties At Annual Affair

(By Staff Correspondent)

POST, March 24.—Old timers from eight West Texas counties outside of Garza gathered here tonight to recall early days and to again tell the stories of the old west at the 11th annual reunion sponsored by the Post Rotary club. The program was held in the new Post High school gymnasium with a banquet preceding the program.

About 120 old timers were registered, coming from Crosby, Dickens, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Scurry, Swisher and Tom Green counties as well as Garza. Some of the group arrived early in the afternoon and spent several hours looking up old friends and early day acquaintances.

The program began at 8 o'clock with the invocation given by Rev. Clarence Bounds, Methodist pastor. V. (Shorty) Greenfield, Rotary club president, was in charge. While sup-

Unidentified Negro Burned To Death When House Goes Up In Flames Here

A NEGRO known vaguely as "White Eye" burned in a fire that broke out in 200-block Eighteenth street a few minutes after midnight this morning.

The blackened body of the man, variously estimated to be from 30 to 40 years old, was found in a back room of a shack firemen said.

Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg examined the body in his capacity of coroner and rendered a decision of "death by suffocation."

The body was taken to Calvin C. Quigley undertaking establishment, negro undertaking agency of Sanders Funeral home. His features, though not unrecognizable, were badly charred. No vestige of clothing except for rolled-up shirt sleeves and part of his collar remained.

Negroes in the flats said the man worked for a cafe here, that he only recently had removed here from Lorenzo, that

The Woman's Angle

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

THE program for the district convention of Texas Federation of Women's club which meets here for a three-day period, beginning Monday, has been sent to the printer, the pageant has been named and last minute preparations are being made for entertaining the hundreds of women who will be here.

• • •

If you have a spare bedroom won't you be generous when the housing committee women call you? It's not that they are going to beg you to help them; it's as much your obligation as theirs. Lubbock has promised to entertain the convention and delegates and visitors must be housed. If Lubbock is to retain her title as a hospitable city, it behooves her citizens to get back of the housing committee, of which Mrs. George Smallwood is chairman.

PLANS ARE LAID

WE know something of the scheming and planning that has gone on back of the meeting that it may go over without any hitches. And Mrs. W. A. Jackson as president of the City Federation, host, is a past master at pouring oil on troubled waters. The necessary finances have been raised without any great hue and strife, headquarters [illegible] established and chairmen [illegible]nd chairmen of that been [illegible]ed with due credit.

• • •

[illegible]re proud of the club leaders [illegible]ubbock and think they will gain [illegible] friends for the city during the [illegible]ree-day meeting.

• • •

NAMING THE PAGEANT

A PIONEER, Miss Delia Wilkinson, named the pageant "The Spirit of Texas," which we think is a good title at a time when there is so much talk about discrimination against West Texas.

• • •

A NEW PLANT

DID you know that a carrot makes a pretty pot plant? You plant it in water with pebbles to weight it down, much the same way as you would a sweet potato. Trim the top and plant it as you would a water bulb. The plant is effective in a black bowl.

• • •

WE ARE REMEMBERED

THE society department desk is graced with an immense bowl of violets, the gift of Mrs. W. G. McMillan. In addition to enjoying their beauty, we're charmed at the thought that any one thinks enough of us to dig flowers that grow as low to the ground as violets.

• • •

COLORING AND CLOTHES

BROWN-haired and dark-eyed women are in the habit of wearing brown clothes that match, or nearly match, their hair and eyes, which we have been informed creates a pretty monotonous effect. Well it may be monotonous all right, but it's also pretty, we believe.

• • •

The brunette is cautioned to wear a bright scarf and gay boutonniere which provides contrast and breaks the line of brown from head to foot.

• • •

Gray, another popular spring color, calls for bright accessories, too. Red, violet or green hat and gloves give gray zest and keep it from making one's skin appear pale and faded.

• • •

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

VERY light and extremely intense blues are flattering to almost all blondes. For brunettes, dusty blues with gray undertones, are best. If one's gray hair is even faintly yellowish, she should avoid yellow, especially the widely discussed chamois shades.

• • •

Speaking of grays we have seen three Lubbockites who have spring outfits of gray that are flattering. Mrs. Bradford Knapp, wife of the Tech president, has a gray knitted suit with which she wears fresh violets and her gray hat has a bunch of artificial flowers. Mrs. Lottie Boles Hilton has a gray street dress that is flattering with her lovely gray hair and W. G. (Bill) McMillan has a gray suit, with a faint stripe, and a new gray hat. Noticing how nice he looks, we wondered why Mr. McMillan until recently has confined his suits to blue.

T. J. Day Is Complimented On Seventy-First Birthday

T. J. Day was complimented on his recent 71st birthday when his children and their families called at his home near Lubbock. Dinner was served.

Attending were Robert Day and family, Hollon Day and family, R. C. Day and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. McNeal, all of near Floydada, and Casey Day and family of near Slaton.

Five Federated Study Clubs Have Meetings In Afternoon

Convention Is Main Subject

Junior And Senior Twentieth Century, Athenaeum, Junior Woman's And Sorosit Units Meet On Tuesday

Business pertinent to the seventh district, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, spring convention in Lubbock next week was a predominating feature of five federated club meetings Tuesday afternoon. Four of the clubs had guest speakers for their programs.

Mrs. King Leader

Mrs. Arch King was program leader at a meeting of Junior Lubbock Woman's club at Seaman hall. Mrs. C. J. Rollo reviewed Stark Young's "So Red the Rose"; Mrs. H. A. Welmaker, guest speaker, talked on "Painters of Bluebonnets", and Mrs. C. J. Bell gave a life sketch of Ethelbert Nevin. Elton Plowman sang "Mighty Lak a Rose" (Nevin) with piano accompaniment by Miss Myrtle Dunn.

Twenty-five members were present.

Pitts Is Speaker

Judge E. L. Pitts discussed "Security From Crime" at a meeting of Sorosis club in the home of Mrs. F. A. Kennedy, 2433 Twenty-second street. Mrs. J. C. Reynolds talked on "Elimination of Traffic Hazards". Subject of the afternoon's program was "Individual Quest For Security". About 20 members were present.

Doctor Holden Talks

Dr. W. C. Holden, acting head of the history department at Texas Technological college, spoke on "West Texas' Part in the Centennial Celebration" Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of Athenaeum club at Hotel Lubbock. He was introduced by the program leader, Mrs. S. B. Haynes. A business period followed the talk. Mrs. M. L. Shepherd was named delegate to the convention.

Drama Is Subject

Donald Murphy, associate professor of English at Texas Technological college, continued a series of lectures on modern drama at a meeting of Junior Twentieth Century club in the college engineering building. A short business meeting followed the talk.

Speedy Trial To Be Sought

Case Of Houston Youth Will Be Carried Directly To The Grand Jury; Is Charged In Salesman's Death

HOUSTON, March 24. (AP) — The state will seek a speedy trial for Vince Boss, 20-year-old Houston youth, charged with slaying R. W. Albert, 33-year-old Brenham cheese salesman. The case will be referred directly to the grand jury.

Boss was arrested at a hotel here Monday and signed a statement 12 hours later, officers said.

He said he had ridden to Houston from Hempstead three times with Albert. Saturday night when they were a few miles this side of Fairbanks Albert stopped the truck, Boss said.

Was Stooping Over

"He got out and was stooping over to pick up a quarter when I hit him on the head with a tire iron that he always kept in the cab of the truck," officers quoted Boss as saying in his statement. "That knocked him out and I shoved his body into the cheese compartment and locked the door. I drove the truck toward Houston for about half an hour and then I thought I smelled something burning.

"I stopped and opened the door to the icebox. Albert was thrashing around half-dazed and he was shouting 'let me out of here.' I hit him several more times with the tire iron, and then cut his throat with a jack knife. Then I took his wallet. There was $129 in it."

Jack Grace Free After Bond Made

Jack Grace Tuesday afternoon was at Liberty after posting two bonds which had been reduced from $2,250 to $1,250 after he had been charged with keeping a room for gambling purposes.

Grace, arrested about 9:30 o'clock Monday night after a Lubbock man told officers he had lost $165 in a dice game, pleaded not guilty when arraigned first before Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg on a charge of gambling. Bond of $250 was set in the case and trial was scheduled Monday.

A few minutes later the second complaint was filed. Grace waived examining trial, and Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg set bond of $2,000 pending grand jury action.

The Lubbock man who tipped officers signed both complaints, which were drawn by County Attorney Jess C. Levens.

Two other persons were charged with gambling and paid fines of $1 and costs each. They were Tom Owens and Clyde Jennings.

The second complaint against Grace, about 35, specifically charges he kept a room "for the purpose of being used as place to bet and wager with dice" and "as a place where people did then and there resort to gamble, bet, and wager on games played with dice."

Short, Interesting Bits Of News From City And Area

Corporate communion, united thank offering, is to be held in Creighton chapel at Seaman hall this morning at 10 a. m. The service is a semi-annual affair.

Examining board for the Friday night Lubbock district court of honor will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at Boy Scout headquarters in City hall in charge of James L. White. Applicants for first and second class ranks and for merit badges will be examined.

A 15- or a 16-year-old boy Tuesday was charged in the court of J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace, with theft of an automobile pump. The complaint will be transferred to juvenile court.

Technically he was not charged, but County Attorney Jess C. Levens Tuesday afternoon found himself docketed on a criminal ledger with possession for purpose of sale of whisky—10 pints of it, to be exact. Similarity of initials caused the mistake, which was hastily corrected. Levens, as a matter of fact, had drawn the complaint!

Henry Wynn and J. C. Brown jointly were charged Monday with possession for purpose of sale of 10 pints of whisky. The alleged offense, the charge alleged, happened on or about March 14. Sam Fort, police identifications officer, was complainant. Jess C. Levens, county attorney, filed the charge in county court.

This complaint was pigeon-holed pending settlement out of court. Two families in southeast Lubbock became involved in controversy anent liberties allegedly taken by pigeons owned by one with a water barrel under a windmill owned by the other. Police suggested the difficulty could be settled without litigation.

Department officials and representatives from the Veterans bureau will be on a program of a 19th district American Legion convention April 4 and 5 at Colorado, said C. B. Quante, executive committeeman of Brownfield, who urged attendance from each post of the district.

A 99th district court jury which had heard testimony in the case of Mrs. Carrie L. Robinson and I. A. Stephens against Mrs. Rosa Segal and I. Miller and wife Tuesday afternoon returned an instructed verdict for plaintiffs. E. N. Baker, foreman, signed the jury report. Formal judgment had not been signed by Judge Clark M. Mullican. The suit was based on an option clause, which was not allowed as enforceable because no mention of rental price was made.

Critical illness of a heart ailment Tuesday afternoon was terminated when H. R. Pickens, about 60, brother of Mrs. W. R. Spencer of 2121 Sixteenth street in Lubbock, died at his home at Temple. Mrs. Spencer had been with him two weeks. Pickens, who had visited Lubbock numerous times and who was said to have owned property here at the time of his death, is survived by his widow, one son, Howard Pickens, jr., and two other sisters, Mrs. Octavia Butler of Fort Worth and Mrs. J. H. Gambrell of Dallas. Funeral rites will be read at Temple this afternoon. Mrs. Spencer is the widow of the late District Judge Spencer.

A man who had not entered pleadings Tuesday afternoon was held by police in connection with investigation into theft from Clark Drug store recently. Transfer to county authorities was expected. Don Reeder, assistant police chief, and Lewis Kittrell, City patrolman, made the arrest.

Another Body Being Exhumed

Viscera Is Sent To Dallas Where It Will Be Examined For Poison; Mother Charged In Another Death

GREENVILLE, March 24. (AP) — The body of Dorothy Lou McCasland, 12, was exhumed from the Pleasant Grove cemetery near Cumby in Hopkins county today and the viscera sent to Dallas where it will be examined for traces of poison.

Mrs. Velma Patterson, the child's mother, faces a charge of murder in the death of another daughter, Billie Fae McCasland, 11, whose body was disinterred last week. Dr. Landon C. Moore, Dallas, reported he found poison in the viscera.

The children died in January and February of this year, both reportedly, of intestinal influenza.

Mrs. Patterson was denied bond by Judge Charles Berry yesterday, and her trial was set for April 13.

District Attorney Henry Pharr and Deputy Sheriff V. L. Delaney took the child's organ to Dallas for examination. They said Dr. Moore probably would submit a report late this week.

Borah And Harvard Professor Differ Over Threat Of Chain Store Monopoly

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP) — Senator Borah (R-Ida.) and a Harvard professor differed at a senate judiciary subcommittee hearing today over whether chain stores threatened to bring about monopoly.

The hearing was on a bill introduced jointly by Senators Borah and Van Nuys (R-Ind.) to prohibit undue discrimination in prices between large dealers and smaller dealers.

"The object of this bill is to protect the independent merchant," Borah said, "so he may have the same rebate as granted the larger purchaser."

Agrees With Aim

Dr. Malcolm McNair, teacher in the Harvard Business school, said he agreed with the aim of the bill but saw "no danger" of the chain store obtaining a monopoly by crowding out the independent merchant.

"We should distinguish," he said, "between the big business which reduces consumer power by monopolistic prices, and those big businesses which increase consumer power by reducing costs of distribution."

McNair said the principal problem of business was to reduce distribution costs. Chain stores have done that, he said, by combining the function of the wholesaler and retailer.

Did you ever notice the difference in the aroma of Chesterfield tobacco?

Every person who knows about tobacco will understand this... for to get a pleasing aroma is just like getting a pleasing taste from fruit.

Mild ripe tobaccos, home-grown, and welded with the right kind of tobacco from far-off Greece and Turkey (Samsoun, Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla)...

...that's why Chesterfield has a more pleasing aroma.

Fifty-Five Texas Tech Grid Candidates Open Spring Training Grind Today

Game With Sul Ross To Serve As Big Climax

Dutchy Smith To Direct Grid Class With Help Of Harold Crites, Mule Dowell And Ed McKeever Till April 1

Six weeks of official spring football training gets underway at Texas Tech at 4 o'clock this afternoon when upwards of 55 candidates for the 1936 varsity eleven will take the field.

In the absence of Head Coach Pete Cawthon, spring training will start under the direction of Line Coach Dutchy Smith. Cawthon is visiting the spring training camps of Notre Dame and Purdue, will return here April 1.

Until Cawthon's return, the backfield candidates will be put through the paces by three former well-known Matador athletes — Mule Dowell, professional player of the Chicago Cardinals; Harold Crites and Ed McKeever. Dowell and Crites are considered two of the most outstanding backs ever to attend Tech, and McKeever one of the smartest quarterbacks. Smith will deal directly with the linemen.

Game On April 24

Spring training will be climaxed on April 24 with a regulation intercollegiate game. The Sul Ross Loboes again will invade the local field for a spring test, making a total of eleven games on Tech's 1936 program, seven of which will be played on the home gridiron.

In a pre-spring training statement yesterday, Coach Smith said: "We expect to put on the finest and most complete spring practice season ever attempted here. We need much fundamental work, and this phase will not be overlooked at any time. Nothing will be left undone in an effort to have the Red Raiders ready for the 1936 season. The boys seem very anxious to get started."

They Believe In It

Tech coaches, strong believers in spring training, still attribute some of their 1935 hard luck to last spring's unsatisfactory spring work. Scarcely two weeks of the scheduled six were spent in actual practice, due to constant sandstorms and otherwise unfavorable weather. "We did not learn enough fundamentals," the coaches said, "in so short a time."

The first two weeks of the current training season will be devoted exclusively to primary requirements, to the rudiments, to the rock-bottom fundamentals of football. After that, four weeks of offensive work will be done, mixed in, no doubt with defensive practice. Plans of attack, however, are stressed in spring training, with the regular fall season coming in for the bulk of defensive work.

Tech Trio To Texas Relays

Coach Huffman To Take Cowan, Case And Farmer To Austin Friday; Matadors Compete Against Stars

Coach Berl Huffman and his 3-man track team which wound up in fifth place in the university division of the Southwestern Exposition track and field meet at Fort Worth last Saturday, will invade Austin Friday to participate in the annual Texas Relays.

Maurice Cowan, Lubbock product whose leap of 12 feet was good enough to win the pole vault event at Fort Worth Saturday but who has cleared the bar at a considerably higher mark in practice and competition, will represent Tech in the event Saturday at Austin.

Case In 3,000 Meter

John Case, who finished a very close second in the mile run at Fort Worth, will bear the Tech colors in the 3,000-meter run at the Texas Relays. The event, comparing with the two-mile run, is one of the features of the Relays, and will be entered by some of the country's most popular distance runners.

Marsh Farmer, the one-armed hurdler from Fort Worth who ran a good high hurdle race at the Exposition, is the third member of the team.

More than 1,000 athletes are expected to enter the renewal of the Texas Relays, one of the top-ranking meets in the country.

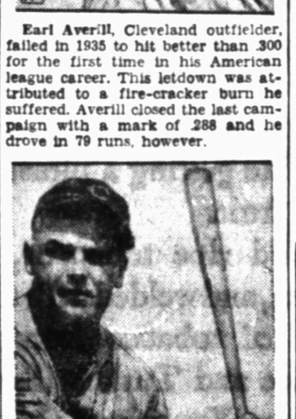

The following animals have been used for transportation purposes in America: oxen, buffaloes, horses, dogs, reindeer, mules, camels, white-tailed deer, and elephants.

★★★LOOKING AT★★★ THE STARS

Indians

Bill Knickerbocker, Cleveland's 24-year-old shortstop, is looking forward to a banner season in 1936 after having fallen victim to appendicitis on the training trip a year ago. Although handicapped by this illness, he compiled a batting average of .298 in 1935 and fielded well.

Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians is one of the leading right-hand hurlers in the majors, young in years—26—but a veteran in service. He won 20 games in 1934 and 22 in 1935, ranking fifth in effectiveness among the American league regulars. Harder pitched in the last two inter-league all-star games.

Earl Averill, Cleveland outfielder, failed in 1935 to hit better than .300 for the first time in his American league career. This letdown was attributed to a fire-cracker burn he suffered. Averill closed the last campaign with a mark of .288 and he drove in 79 runs, however.

Joe Vosmik, a product of the Cleveland sand-lots, fulfilled his ambition to play for the home-town Indians. Joe was beaten out of the American league batting championship on the last day of the 1935 season by Buddy Myers of Washington, the Clevelander finishing one-half point behind.

Indians Stake Hopes On Trio Of Batterymen

Cleveland Manager Confident His Team Capable Of Doing Big League Stunts; Up To Allen, Pytlak, Blaeholder

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 24. Manager Steve O'Neill thinks his Cleveland Indians may rise or fall on the performance of three men this season.

The question marks are Frankie Pytlak, first string catcher; Johnny Allen, right-hand pitcher obtained from the New York Yankees, and George Blaeholder, veteran hurler picked up from the Philadelphia Athletics.

"If these fellows come through we'll have a club as good as any in the American League, and with an equal chance to finish on top," O'Neill predicted today.

O'Neill Brought 'Em Up

Generally picked as a pennant contender last season, the Indians, handicapped by injuries and illness, wound up a poor third. And this was accomplished only by a stretch drive begun after O'Neill took over the managerial reins from Walter Johnson early in August. At that time the club was floundering about in fifth place.

This year O'Neill believes it will be different, if Pytlak can bear the brunt of the catching; if Allen can continue to tame the Tigers and if Blaeholder can salvage enough of his fast ball to perform creditably in relief roles.

The Indians have been up against it for a catcher ever since Luke Sewell was traded to Washington in 1933. Pytlak is capable enough when he feels good, but he has been forced to quit the club in the middle of the last two campaigns because of his health.

After a round of a number of clinics and specialists Pytlak has convinced himself his trouble is largely mental and he has told O'Neill he can be counted on to catch most of the Tribe's 154 games.

Lineup Is Settled

Except for the pitchers and catchers, the Indian lineup is all settled. Hal Trosky, fourth in runs batted in last year, will be back on first, with Roy Hughes at second, Bill Knickerbocker at short and Odell (Bad News) Hale at third. Lou Berger will be carried as utility infielder.

The 1935 outfield will be kept intact. Earl Averill and Joe Vosmik, two of the best hitters in the American League, are slated for center and left, with Bruce Campbell in right. Milton Galatzer, a holdover and Jimmy Gleason, a recruit from the New Orleans Pelicans, will be kept as reserves.

Picard And Wood To Play In Centennial Pro-Amateur Tilt

DALLAS, March 24. (AP)—Two of the nation's ranking professional golfers, Henry Picard and Craig Wood, will compete with leading amateur and professional golfers of the Southwest in the Texas Centennial pro-amateur 36-hole tournament over the Dallas Country club course April 13.

Professional George Aulbach said today Picard, the lanky Hershey, Pa., professional who has been the most consistent money winner of the winter meets, and Wood, veteran campaigner, had definitely entered.

Picard selected David (Spec) Goldman, runner-up for the National amateur title in 1934, as his partner while Wood asked to be paired with Reynolds Smith, stocky little semi-finalist of the 1934 amateur.

EXHIBITION RESULTS

RED SOX 5; CARDINALS 3

BRADENTON, Fla., March 24. (AP) The Boston Red Sox scored five runs in a big fifth inning featured by Rick Ferrell's home run with two on base to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition baseball game today, 5 to 3. Wes Ferrell and Walberg hurled for the Sox.

GIANTS 15; CUBS 4

DOTHAN, Ala., March 24. (AP) — The New York Giants, with Manager Bill Terry and Hank Leiber making their 1936 debuts, rounded out 20 hits today as they defeated the Chicago Cubs 15 to 4. Ott, Whitehead and Danning hit homers for the Giants and Demaree banked one for the Cubs.

SENATORS 4; MILLERS 5

DELAND, Fla., March 24. (AP) — Two first inning home runs by Miles and Powell failed to give the Senators a win over Minneapolis today. The Griffmen lost 5 to 4.

PHILS WIN SIXTH

LAKE WALES, Fla., March 24. (AP) The Phillies defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 12 to 9 today for their sixth straight victory in the exhibition series.

Eighteen lusty hits, including three triples and two doubles, bounded off the bats of the Phils.

BROWNS 2; BREWERS 1

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 24. (AP)—Newark of the International league battled the St. Louis Browns on even terms for nine innings today, then collapsed in the tenth, the Browns winning 2 to 1 in an exhibition game.

DODGERS 3; RANKEES 0

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24. (AP)—George Earnshaw and Tom Baker combined to hold the New York Yankees to one hit today as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated their inter-borough rivals 3 to 0 in an exhibition game. The Dodgers got five safe blows off Lefty Gomez and Walter Brown.

TIGERS 4; BEES 3

LAKELAND, Fla., March 24. (AP) A wild pitch by Ray Benge after two were out let Ray Hayworth in with the winning run in the last of the ninth today as the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Bees 4 to 3 in an exhibition game here.

REDS 5; ATHLETICS 4

TAMPA, Fla., March 24. (AP)—Connie Mack sent Kelley the whole route against Cincinnati today and while the young pitcher held the Reds to five hits, his wildness and his teammates' errors combined to give Cincinnati a 5 to 4 victory over Philadelphia. It was the Reds' fourth exhibition game defeat of the Athletics.

Jack Munger May Be Texas' Only Delegate To 'Masters'

DALLAS, March 24. (AP) — Jack Munger, youthful Dallas golf star, probably will be Texas' lone amateur entrant in the Bobby Jones Masters invitation golf tournament at Augusta, Ga., April 2-5.

Munger said today he would leave here next Tuesday for the tournament.

Ed White, National intercollegiate champion and a student of the University of Texas, also was invited to participate but was uncertain today whether he would leave his studies and make the trip.

Haddock Ready To Face Greek George Poulos

Detroit Grappler Accepts The Challenge By Disgruntled Greek; Bulldog Jackson To Make Appearance

TONIGHT'S CARD

Main Event — George Poulos, New York, vs. Dale Haddock, Detroit. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Semi-final — Bulldog Jackson, Alaska, vs. Hy Sharman, Salt Lake City. One fall or 30-minute time limit.

Curtain raiser—Al Szasz, St. Louis, vs. Ernie Arthur, Toronto. One fall or 20-minute time limit.

And that, suggests Promoter Sled Allen, should satisfy, temporarily at least, local fandom's thirst for blood and thunder in the rassling ring.

It does promise a lot of action and a busy day for the referee.

Poulos, the unlucky Greek who got off on the wrong foot so far as officials in this circuit were concerned, raved and ranted and offered to fight Haddock without a referee and "winner take all" of the purse. Haddock didn't take advantage of the offer, but finally agreed to meet Poulos—again.

"Or For Nothing"

"I would have wrestled him for nothing," insisted Poulos, "if necessary."

The Adonis-like Greek is firmly convinced that he has been unjustly victimized since his arrival here. He believes lack of unbiased referees has worked against him. Last Wednesday night in Lubbock, for instance, he whipped the veteran Ray Meyers to a frazzle in the main event, but lost the match when the referee, who was Dale Haddock, awarded the second fall to Meyers on a foul and virtually duplicated the act in the third fall, holding Poulos while Meyers pinned him.

Haddock and Poulos were matched in a main event at Amarillo last Thursday night. Poulos went after Haddock with a vengeance, spared nothing, was getting the best of the argument through excessive use of foul tactics, rough and dirty tricks. He was opposing two men, the referee being constantly in his way, and he lost.

His temper to the boiling point, Poulos dogged the matchmakers until Sled Allen booked him for a main go here tonight. And so it is. Fans who watched their private warfare during the main event last week are wondering what will happen tonight, particularly if the referee "lets 'em go."

Promoter Allen had hoped to obtain the services of Dutch Mantell as referee for the main event, and possibly the semi-final tonight, but nothing definite had been announced early last night.

The semi-final is due to give the official fully as much trouble as the main event, because here are two rowdy fellows who are expected to be at each others throats in no half-hearted manner.

Bulldog Jackson, unhandsome sourdough from the north country, is said to be the originator of rough rassling tactics. A lumberjack in Alaska, a log-roller in Oregon, a

So What Would He Do To A Rassler?

Many and varied are the pursuits which Bulldog Jackson, now a leather-neck rassler from Alaska, has pursued—even to deep sea diving and octopus wrangling. The above picture shows the new big bad boy of the wrestling ring in a diver's suit all tangled up with a rival of the deep. Tonight his rival is a mere man, but a tough one, Hy Sharman of Salt Lake City.

Champion Tulsa Stenos Lead Way Into Third Round Women's AAU Tourney

WICHITA, Kas., March 24. (AP)—The defending champion Tulsa Stenos, continuing their crisp, accurate passing attack, went into the third round of the Women's National A.A.U. basketball tournament tonight. They defeated Kansas City Centers, 44 to 12.

The Oklahomans featured a fast break and plays in which Alberta Williams Beck, tall center, was the pivotal point under the goal.

The tall Des Moines A.I.B. sextet opened second round play with a 30 to 14 victory over Topeka, Kas.

Salt Lake City Wins

The seeded Salt Lake City Auerbachs, who drew a first-round bye, made an impressive debut by defeating Eldorado, Kas., 30 to 16.

The Little Rock Flyers, a seeded team and rated a dangerous title contender, ran into a buzz saw in the Nashville, Tenn., sextet. Both teams drew byes in the first round.

Little Rock managed to eke out a 36 to 31 victory by virtue of a third period spurt and ability to check a furious Nashville rally in the closing minutes.

The Shreveport combination of Evah May Stirlen, a 6 foot 2 1-2 inch forward and guard and Opal Hill, trim sharpshooting forward, was too much for a peppy little team from Enka, N. C., and the Louisiana team won 34 to 27.

Galveston Team Loses

In the first major upset of the tournament the Lambuth College team of Jackson, Tenn., eliminated the Galveston Ramblers 20 to 16 in a game which packed as many thrills as any other game so far.

Irish Sweepstakes Divides $1,120,000 With Americans

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 24. (AP) — The great flag-bedecked Irish hospitals sweepstake drum, manned by squads of pretty nurses, rooting, tooting out-of-door he-man in Canada and a deep-sea diver off the West Coast, the Bulldog is expected to show something of the unique in rough grappling.

Jackson's foe is not one to back away from danger nor beg for mercy. He is the redoubtable and uncouth Hy Sharman from Salt Lake City.

Al Szasz Returns

Al Szasz, the pleasant little Hungarian from St. Louis, returns to the local ring after several weeks of work in the El Paso district and farther west. He's the only "clean" battler on the card, but he can't stay that way and get far against Ernie Arthur, battle-scarred veteran from Canada.

The show starts at 8 o'clock. Admission is the same. Reservations may be made at Hotel Lubbock drugstore until six o'clock this afternoon, after which the line forms to the right at the Auditorium door.

College Teams Renew Efforts In Cage Joust

Five Places In Olympic Trial Tournament At New York Are Awaiting Winners Of Region Battles This Week

NEW YORK, March 24. (AP) — Passing lightly over the question of whether they have any real chance of making the trip to Berlin, leading college basketball outfits plunge anew into competition tomorrow night with berths in the final Olympic tryouts here next month at stake.

Six places still are open for the finals in Madison Square Garden starting April 3. Five will go to college outfits and one to the National Y. M. C. A. champion to be crowned this week at Peoria, Ill. The other two berths already have been won by the McPherson, (Kans.) Globe Refiners and Hollywood Universals, national A. A. U. champions and runners-up respectively.

Kansas Plays Utah

F. C. (Phog) Allen's undefeated Kansas Jayhawks and the Utah State Aggies, winners of the No. 7 and No. 8 sectional tourneys respectively, open a two-out-of-three series at Kansas City tomorrow night, with the ultimate survivors moving into the final tryouts.

At the same time, Western State Teachers of Bowling Green, Ky., representing District No. 3, and the Arkansas Razorbacks, Southwest conference title-holder and District No. 4 standard-bearers, clash at Little Rock in a similar series.

At Seattle, Stanford, Pacific Coast conference champions, Oregon State, Washington and Southern California, all are bidding for the right to represent District No. 9 and 10. Stanford will meet Oregon State and Washington will tackle Southern California in the opening games, with the winners swinging into action Thursday night.

De Paul In Race

The other two college finalists will be decided at Chicago and Philadelphia.

At Chicago, De Paul and Minnesota, representing Districts No. 5 and 6, open a two-out-of-three series Thursday night.

Niagara university, No. 1 winner, and Temple, the survivor in District No. 2, will play one game Friday at Philadelphia to determine which shall move on to New York.

Gallows Takes Killer Of Six

Former Kentucky Feudist Is Hanged By Federal Government; Sentenced In Death Of Federal Agent

INDIANAPOLIS, March 24. (AP)—George W. Barrett, grey-haired former Kentucky feudist, alleged killer of at least six persons during his 55 strife-ridden years, was hanged by the federal government today, two minutes after midnight, for the murder of a federal agent.

The execution was carried out in a tented scaffold room in the Marion county jailyard under the direction of Phil Hanna, portly Epworth, Ill., farmer who had officiated at the 68 other executions and calls himself "the humane hangman." Arthur Reeves, diminutive deputy sheriff, pulled the trap at 12:02. Ten minutes later Barrett was pronounced dead.

The murder for which Barrett was executed was that of Nelson B. Klein, federal agent, at West College Corner, Ind., last August 16. Klein was shot down as he sought to arrest Barrett on a stolen car charge. Barrett pleaded at his trial he mistook Klein for a feudist seeking his life.

The hanging was the first by the government since pioneer days and it may be the last. The senate judiciary committee yesterday approved a bill by Senator Van Nuys, of Indiana, which would make possible execution by electrocution.

Automobile Tags Go Slowly Here

Contrasting estimates were made Tuesday afternoon by the county assessor-collector's department as it considered possibility for "last minute" rushes to get drivers licenses and plates for automobiles. Deadline for each is midnight April 1.

"We have issued approximately 20,000 drivers licenses already," said H. B. Bryan, deputy in the office of Hurley Carpenter, who said approximately 22,000 forms originally had been mailed here. "Issuance in that department seems well in hand," said Bryan.

On the other hand, issuance of from 300 to 400 automobile license plates daily will be required to obviate cluttered buying on the last day, said Bryan. "The public has been slow in purchasing tags," he said.

Today is likely to exhaust a supply of applications for drivers licenses. Despite the fact two orders have been made for them, only 100, approximately, remained Tuesday night, said Bryan.

Balance In City's Fund Is Reported; Expenses Heavy

Expenditures for an eleven-month period of the fiscal year have left a balance of $669.44 in the city's general fund, according to figures through Feb. 29 compiled by D. D. Martin, city auditor. Expenses ran $305,749.20 of an available amount of $306,418.64.

Approximately $11,000 which had been taken from the general fund for paving of Seventeenth street and Avenue V has been transferred from a paving fund to replenish the general fund, Martin said. It had been hoped the general fund would stand paving expenses, although they were not included in the budget for the fiscal year ending this month. Amount left in the general fund as of Feb. 29 was $4,559.72 under that proposed in the budget.

Expenditures exceeded budget figures mainly as result of paving operations, although increased revenues from municipal utility sources offset a further difference of budget figures from actual figures, Martin said.

Large Number Of Exhibits Expected For Quality Meat Show On March 31

Visions of difficulty in handling numerous exhibits of a sixth annual Plains Quality Meat show here March 30 to April 1, oddly enough, encouraged C. C. Jobson and his committee in charge of livestock and cured meat departments, said Jobson after a meeting Tuesday night in the chamber of commerce.

It was explained that so many exhibits in the lamb division would be here that concern as to where they would be placed had been expressed. Decision was made to use part of the poultry and the agricultural building for that purpose, the overflow to be accommodated in livestock sheds.

Never has a meat show here had to go outside the livestock and swine barns to house exhibits, it was explained.

The committee discussed detailed handling of entries, assignment of space, tagging of livestock, making of orders for sales, and other routine plans.

Ten of 11 members of the committee attended, Jason O. Gordon, county agent of Farwell, coming from there; C. F. Jones coming from Tahoka, where he is county agent; Lawrence Shipman driving from New Deal, where he is a vocational agriculture teacher; Ralph Howe coming from Crosbyton, where he is county agent, and Joe Williams driving from Lamesa, where he is county agent. Other committeemen were Chas. King, assistant county agent of Lubbock, Ray Chappelle of Texas Technological college, and R. L. Burdette of Lubbock public schools. Durwood H. Bradley, general chairman of the show, and Garnet Reeves of the chamber of commerce also attended.

Initial Enrollment Of Ten Persons Noted For Course

Initial enrollment of 10 persons, largely composed of teachers in Lubbock city schools, Tuesday night met with efforts to establish a new course in elements of art composition for teachers in elementary grades.

The session was held at Texas Technological college. Also represented were Lubbock residents and persons from Crosby county. It is expected that Brownfield teachers may become affiliated.

Mrs. C. E. Hooper of the department of architecture and allied arts of Tech will be in charge of the course, which will prepare teachers for teaching art and others to express themselves through simple mediums of art and to build a background of art appreciation, said J. F. McDonald, director of the extension department of the college.

Further enrollment may be made next Tuesday night. The course will be conducted each week that night until mid-May.

CCC Camp News

O. J. Sexton, district manager of Western Union, Monday night addressed members of CCC camp on history of the communications company.

Fifteen patients from other camps in the Lubbock district and who have been receiving hospitalization for mumps are recovering normally, the camp infirmary reported. Five have recovered to an extent they will return to their companies today. Greatest number of patients at one time was 26.

William D. Jones has returned to camp after visiting several days with his family at Tahoka.

Benny Grettner, assistant to the camp educational adviser, is building desks needed in company headquarters.

To abet fire protection, five new two and one-half gallon extinguishers of the soda and acid type have been procured and will be installed in the various buildings, bringing the total number in camp to 19. Trucks and ambulances are equipped with smaller extinguishers.

CAR THEFT REPORTED

A 1933 Ford sedan Tuesday night was reported stolen at Slaton, said Lubbock police. Owner's name was not learned.

Texas Tech Loses In Debate Joust

Texas Technological college Monday night lost its first intersectional tilt with University of Southern California, its debating team dropping a two to one judges' decision before a large crowd in the auditorium of the engineering building here.

Arthur Groman, adjudged two first and one third, edged out Clay Thompson of Tech for first place in a rating of speakers. Thompson, whose record this year has been enviable, received two seconds and a first, thus rating second only technically. Homer Bell was the other west coast debater, Alton Hankins Tech's other representative.

The question debated was: Resolved that congress should have the power by a two-thirds majority to override decisions of the supreme court declaring acts of congress unconstitutional.

The winners represented the affirmative, said Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, Tech debate coach.

The visiting team was congratulatory of the large number of paid admissions, asserting they are unaccustomed to such interest when gate charge is required.

Judges were Kenneth E. Oberholtzer, Robert J. Allen, and Rev. Lyle S. Barnett, all of Lubbock.

TO CONCLUDE REVIVAL

Ten-day revival services conducted at Central Baptist church by Dr. D. N. Jackson of Texarkana, Ark., will be concluded by services beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The minister, author of numerous books and editor of his church's magazine, will speak on "What Must I Do To Be Saved." A baptismal service will follow his address, said Rev. Jeff D. Welch, pastor.

Wholesalers Are Arriving In City

Advance guard of wholesalers to show wares here Thursday through the remainder of the week at a 12th semi-annual West-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing market arrived Tuesday, and today's registration is expected to approximate 80, said the chamber of commerce late Tuesday night.

At least 60 lines will be represented in displays set up in the two principal hotels, it was estimated.

A salesman who had been "calling on the trade" in New Mexico arrived Tuesday with the explanation: "So many retailers in New Mexico refused to buy until seeing displays at Lubbock I decided to come here and set up one for myself."

Numerous retailers from the South Plains and eastern New Mexico are expected here Thursday and Friday, especially.

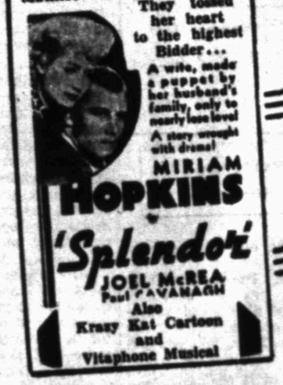

Hotels are preparing for the influx of buyers, taking out furniture in rooms in which samples will be displayed. Some exhibits may be viewed this evening, it is expected.

Flood Control Is Needed

A WISECRACK that has been going the rounds among aggie students at Texas Tech is to the effect that the federal government should declare the northeastern flood section as "marginal lands" and move the people who live there down in this country, where we have land under foot and sometimes in the air, as well.

But all foolishness to one side, the section recently ravished by water has frequently been laid waste before, although only once in modern history has the toll been as great or greater. Flood control in New England, Pennsylvania and adjoining states presents a problem of major importance, not to the affected areas alone, but to the balance of the country as well.

As little as we may think of it, down here two thousand miles away, the flood havoc in the northeast has its repercussions right in our own section. As a matter of fact, it has its effect everywhere in the country, due to the heavy individual losses to thousands, which losses will be mirrored in depleted buying power.

Merely reading the newspaper accounts of the flood does not bring home to us the fact that hundreds of small merchants, for instance, have been damaged beyond financial repair; it does not bring home to us the terrific loss in household and farm furnishings and tools; neither does the flood's terrible psychological effect strike home. Unless we think about the situation and try, as best we can to picture it in our mind's eye, we cannot possibly realize one-tenth of the cost of the sweeping waters.

Unless the cost is absolutely prohibitive, methods of flood control must be worked out all through the stricken areas so a reoccurrence of last week's debacle will be made, once and for all, an impossibility. The task is one to stagger even the best of our engineers and the ingenuity of our federal and state administrators.

THE CCC AND OUR FRIENDS

The victory of Democratic Senators and Representatives in their tussle with President Roosevelt in the matter of curtailing CCC camps and projects, indicates that Congress has dropped the policy of accepting, without question, orders from the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's advisors who convinced the President that evacuation of CCC camps could be called an "economy" move and would help get him votes next November, erred. Congress saw the error, forced the President to see it and saved, for another year at least, the best and most productive relief agency yet devised by the nation.

Incidentally, the Representative from this section, George H. Mahon, and our great and good friend in the upper house, Senator Tom Connally, rendered yoeman service to the CCC cause as a whole, and to Lubbock's efforts to assure completion of the MacKenzie park project, in particular.

We won't be able to show Senator Connally our appreciation at the polls until 1940—although we can remember his help—but we will be able to say "thank you with ballots" to Congressman Mahon this summer.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

TOBY RYAN, 19, works behind the jewelry counter of a large Manhattan department store. She poses for a photograph to be used in a store advertisement and MARTY HIATT, the photographer, tells her she has a "camera face."

Toby goes to dinner with BILL BRANDT, who works in an advertising agency.

A few days later Toby loses her job, due to the scheming of jealous MAURINE BALL, also employed in the jewelry department.

Toby's efforts to find another job are fruitless. Then she meets Marty Hiatt again. He sends her to BEN BLAKE, manager of a model agency. Blake tells her that in order to register as a model she must have photographs.

Toby, lacking $25 to have the photographs made, says she has changed her mind.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

Ben Blake said, "Do you mean you've changed your mind or you haven't the money?"

Toby met his gaze. "I haven't the $25," she said. "Even if I had a job, a regular one—and I haven't — it would take months for me to save that much. I'll just have to forget about it. I'm sorry."

"Wait a minute," Blake interrupted. "Maybe we can do something about this."

"But, Mr. Blake—"

He did not seem to hear her. Picking up the telephone, he said to the operator, "Get Marty Hiatt on the wire for me."

Toby exclaimed insistently, "Oh, I couldn't ask him—!"

Blake raised one hand, silencing her. "You let me handle this," he said. "Sit down."

Toby obeyed. A minute later Blake was speaking into the telephone again. "Marty?" he said. "How'r you? Yes — yes, I've been talking to her. She's here now." For several moments he listened, now and then making monosyllabic answers. Presently, he said, "Listen, Marty, are you doing that Worthingale job? You are? Well, here's what I was thinking about. How about using Miss Ryan on that job and, instead of paying her, let her have some of the photographs? Could you do that? Well, I though—yes, sure. Yes. Wait a minute: I'll ask her—"

Blake turned to Toby, "Marty says he can use you on a job this afternoon. He's willing to let you have some of the pictures instead of paying you. Is that all right?"

"Oh, yes, Mr. Blake!"

"Could you go over to his studio this afternoon?"

"I can go any time."

• • •

Blake spoke into the telephone again. "It's all right, Marty," he said. "She'll be there. What time do you want her? Four o'clock. Okay. Thanks, Marty. I'll be seeing you in a day or so. Yes—goodbye."

He put down the telephone, pushing it aside. "Well," he said, "that's that. Hiatt will make the pictures and turn them over to me. Of course I can't promise that we're going to be able to get you work as a model. It all depends on how well you photograph. The pictures will be the test."

Toby said, "I don't know how to thank you—"

"Never mind about that," Blake cut in. "Wait until we see how those pictures turn out. Hiatt wants you at his studio at four o'clock." He glanced at his wrist watch. "You've a little time yet. Maybe there're some questions you want to ask about this business."

"There are," Toby admitted. "You see, I don't know anything about it at all. I didn't even know there was a place like the Model's League until Mr. Hiatt told me."

"Well," Blake crossed one knee over the other and settled back comfortably. "In the first place, the regular price for modeling is $5 an hour. That's for photographic work. Artists' models pose three hours for $5. That's why most of the girls would rather work for photographers. Some girls—the ones most in demand—are paid three and four times the regular rate. We have six on our lists who have yearly contracts with a cigaret company that pays them $1,000 not to pose for any other cigaret manufacturer. Besides the $1,000, the girls are paid for all the modeling they do, and they can work for as many other advertisers as they please—but no other cigaret company. Some of these girls earn as much as $5,000 and $6,000 a year. Of course there aren't many of them. I believe I forgot to tell you that we charge 10 per cent of all fees for our services."

He reached for a large leather-bound book on the corner of his desk, and handed it to Toby.

"Here," he said, "is our model book. Maybe you'd like to look through it."

• • •

Toby opened the book and turned the pages. Each was made up of reproductions of photographs. There were girls of all types—blond and brunet; tall and aristocratic-looking; small and vivacious; girls who looked like "the outdoor type" and girls who were like orchids; girls posing in evening wraps, in bathing suits, in riding habits. Beneath the pictures were descriptions of each girl, giving the color of her hair and eyes, her height, weight and the sizes of dresses, hats, shoes, gloves, etc., she wore.

"What do these letters mean?" Toby asked, pointing to a line that read 'A-B-H-L-M-N-O-P."

"That's a code," Blake told her, "for convenience. "A means 'Camera experience', O means that particular girl has beautiful legs. Some models are willing to pose in bathing suits, lingerie and so on, and others are not. Some will do medicinal advertising and some won't. The code tells. These books go to photographic studios and advertising agencies. From it they select the models they want and telephone us. We get in touch with the girls, make appointments and do the rest. See how it works?"

Toby nodded. "I'm beginning to," she said. "Mr. Blake, do you really think I can do it—pose, like these other girls—"

He smiled. "I'll tell you after I've seen those photographs," he said. "But you'd better be getting along now. Know where Hiatt's studio is?"

She said she did not and Blake told her how to reach the place. The address was within walking distance. Toby hurried away and 15 minutes later was stepping from another elevator into another hallway.

She found the studio and entered without hesitation. A girl sitting at a desk, looked up and asked whom she wished to see.

Toby said, "I want to see Mr. Hiatt. I'm Toby Ryan—"

"Oh, yes, Miss Ryan," the girl said quickly. "Go right on in. He's expecting you."

Toby entered a large room, unfurnished except for a curious assortment of chairs, a bench and table at one end. There was a camera, facing a small raised platform. On either side of the platform were lights such as those Toby had seen when she posed for the photographs at Bergman's. A tall basket of artificial flowers, an iron railing and several strips of linoleum were the only other objects in the room.

A tall young man was working away over one of the lights. He raised his head and Toby asked hesitantly, "Is Mr. Hiatt here?"

The tall young man motioned toward a door. "Back there," he said. "He'll be out in a minute or so."

Toby waited. Presently Marty Hiatt, coatless, his sleeves rolled to the elbows and his red hair somewhat ruffled, appeared. "Hello," he said, addressing Toby. "So you got here."

"I hope I'm not late—"

Hiatt said, "You're on time all right." He went on, "Mary'll show you the dresses you're to wear. There are three of them. It doesn't make any difference which you put on first. We're to shoot all of them. Oh, Mary—"

The girl from the outer office entered and led Toby to a tiny dressing room. Across one end of the room, on bars, several dresses were hanging.

"You wear size 12, don't you?" Mary asked. "Here they are." She pointed out three light-colored summer frocks, hanging side by side.

"Anything else you want, let me know," Mary added and then disappeared.

Toby surveyed the dresses. There was a green and white checked seersucker, a printed voile and a two-piece, bright blue linen with a round white collar and bow tie.

With no hesitation Toby slipped the linen over her head. It fitted perfectly. Toby, gazing at her reflection, smiled. The dress was becoming, as she had known it would be.

Ten minutes later she was on the platform before the camera. The lights blazed down on her with their scorching heat. She took the pose as Hiatt instructed and felt awkward. Toby told herself earnestly, "Everything depends on this. I've got to make good now! I've got to—"

And then suddenly everything began to go wrong. Hiatt was shouting instructions at his assistant. He shouted at Toby, too. "No, no!" he said, "Not like that. Can't you be more natural? You look wooden, stiff. No, it won't do—"

A light, poised precariously, started to fall and the assistant caught it barely in the nick of time.

When the lights were in place again Hiatt said, "Now again. Please, Miss Ryan. PLEASE—!"

Toby took the pose. It wasn't right this time either, and she knew it. She felt stiff, strained. She tried to smile, but the lights blinded her and made her squint. This was nothing like the time she had posed at Bergman's. It hadn't seemed important then and it had been easy. Now when so much depended on it, she was panic-stricken, helpless.

Hiatt, behind the camera, said wearily, "Let's try it from the other side. Maybe that will be better. Turn you head—"

Toby turned. Startled, her eyes met those of a young man standing in the doorway. He was staring at her intently. All at once, with a quick flush of color, Toby recognized him.

Duties As State Highway Inspector Will Be Started

Duties as state highway inspector are to be begun here April 1 by W. W. Legg, Big Spring, who was promoted from a patrolman, W. E. Renfrow, state patrolman here, said.

Another uniformed officer, from Fort Worth, also is expected to begin his duties the same date. His name is unknown to local officers, Mr. Renfrow said.

Within another month, it is expected two more uniformed officers will be sent here, making a total of six men for this district. In addition, John C. Keller, stationed here, is remaining and he, with Inspector Legg, will make a total of eight men.

Recently the state highway patrol force was enlarged. The state is divided into districts, with an inspector in charge of each district.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

HENRY WALLACE'S energetic young men have run into acres of troubles in setting up the new AAA program, although they won't admit it publicly.

The major difficulty lies in the fact that payments for soil conservation afford no control over production. Preliminary reports of acreage to be sown in basic crops foreshadow the same sort of surpluses that sent prices down to starvation levels in 1932. Farmers have been quick to sense that the new system will furnish federal handouts but not permanent high prices for their crops. They see no long-time future for agriculture in the new set-up. Moreover, it penalizes the thrifty, soil-saving grower and benefits the wastrel of land.

Redistribution of benefits has also caused complaints. New England, which hatched the lawsuit that upset the original AAA, will get three times what it did under the old program. The West, which stood loyally by the first AAA, will suffer. But the Wallacers are the most philosophic, far-seeing group at the Capital and they expect to straighten out these problems some day. Meanwhile, the new system will serve until after the November election.

• • •

WAITING: Third partyites have definitely deferred their "big push" until 1940. Although they might muster a formidable group in 1936, recent conferences here and elsewhere have resulted in the decision that leftists of all shades cannot combine forces until either Republican capitalism or Roosevelt New Dealism have been given a further trial.

Few people realize the extent of the demand and desire for a party-of-the-left which will outradicalize FDR. It comprises such influential figures as the La Follettes of Wisconsin, Shipstead and Olson of Minnesota, Mayor LaGuardia of New York, Gerald Nye and half a dozen other Senators. Allied organizers are Prof. John Dewey of Columbia, ex-Senator Bingham's young son and numerous intellectuals in the colleges. They have both money and brains and they are bent on a complete rebuilding of our political and economic structure.

Although not optimistic, they have agreed to give FDR another chance provided he is reelected. But what they really expect is a collapse of the going system before 1940 and a popular demand for a new party. Then they expect to step in as saviours of the nation. Sounds fantastic but stranger things have happened.

• • •

BUILDUPS: Two Republican presidential candidates are striving for that high prize simply to regain prestige which may insure their reelection to their present Senate seats. The two are Senators Borah and Dickinson.

Neither expects to be nominated at Cleveland. But both have got in bad their agricultural bailiwicks by their attacks on the administration's farm program. Mr. Borah will face a popular vote-getter in Gov. Ben Ross, and the latter has been given every reinforcement the Democrats could think up, including a CCC force of more than 9,000 who ought to show their gratitude to the White House by voting against the Senator. At least half a dozen Republicans may oppose Mr. Dickinson for the senatorial nomination and he will need extra help to stave them off.

But if they can remain in the presidential balloting for a few rounds, it may enhance their standing at home. Even if they don't return to the Senate, a few votes at Cleveland may build them up enough for a Cabinet post—Borah, say, for Secretary of State and Dickinson for the agricultural post now held by a fellow-Iowan.

• • •

DOUBLING: An unknown casualty of Senator Black's lobby investigation was George Brobeck, who used to be legislative representative for the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Brobeck was given signal credit for passage of the bonus over President's veto.

When Mr. Black's sleuths began to pore over seized Western Union telegrams, they came upon one from Brobeck to legionnaires in Alabama. It said that Mr. Black's attitude on overriding the veto was doubtful and urged the vets back home to "turn on the heat." The Senator from Alabama subsequently cast his ballot for the bonus and against the President.

Then Mr. Brobeck was lugged before the committee and it was disclosed that he received $100 a week from certain public utilities while working for the veterans. He lost his job with the soldiers' outfit as soon as he stepped off the stand.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE Landon opposition—both Democratic and Republican—is gleeful about the governor's refusal to call a special session of the Kansas legislature to consider a state social security act.

New York insiders understand the real reason for Landon's reluctance is that he has been told the Democratic member of the legislature would concentrate on the state prohibition issue in order to focus national attention on his dryness. The governor wants that question let alone at this juncture.

But Kansas can't qualify for the benefits of the Federal Social security act unless it enacts a state law to tie in with it. That is impossible unless the governor summons the lawmakers. If he doesn't he will be charged with obstructing social security — which would raise hob with the efforts of his backers to paint him as a liberal. So New Dealers and left-wing G. O. P.-ers figure they have him in a hole either way.

• • •

DISCREDIT: A number of ministers in most of the Protestant denominations are becoming interested in the anti-Hearst movement. Quite a few of them are teaming up behind the scenes with educators who are organizing a fight on the publisher.

For years Hearst has headed the editorial page of some of his newspapers with Biblical texts chosen by ministers. The names of the churchmen who make the selections are also printed. Ministers of standing in New York will no longer cooperate with the Hearst press in this manner. Furthermore, those who do so are likely to get letters from distinguished colleagues pointing out the impropriety of lending the prestige of the church to a publisher whose policies foment international discord and "violate the first principles of Christianity."

This may seem a trivial reprisal—but it's symptomatic of deep-seated resentment among men of the cloth against Hearstian activities. Those who should know say it's only a first step in a widespread church campaign to discredit Hearst.

• • •

CONSCIOUS: The remarkable increase in income tax receipts recently reported will be a great help to FDR in prettying up the appearance of his budget. It's a luscious apple—but it has a worm.

Conservatives figure that the more taxes people are able and obliged to shell out the more conscious they will be of the high cost of boondoggling. This consoling thought almost offsets their March 15th pain in the pocketbook.

• • •

PROMINENT: A new organization called the Progressive Intercollegiate Alumni association is worth watching.

The association is designed to strengthen the hand of teaching leaders in their battle against reactionary influences in education. Its announced purposes include the protection of civil liberties and democratic rights wherever they may be endangered on the university front and "opposition to Fascism in any of its manifestations."

The background of the group is such as to indicate that it will attain prominence even though its membership remains relatively small.

A Sign That Spring Is In The Air Is Reported Here

A sign that spring has arrived was reported by Don L. Jones, superintendent of state experiment sub-station, Tuesday.

"Frank Gaines, while going over some sacks in the store room, found a black widow spider," Mr. Jones said. "He brought it into the office and after a careful examination, pronounced it one of the dangerous black widows. I guess that is a sign that spring has finally arrived."

The calendar last Friday announced formal arrival of spring.

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS, No. 159

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Strangely, Tarzan's band met no resistance in the temple, and they came out into the courtyard, where the Baalites had just arrived. Garetie was raging, for he had followed in the belief that Niarchus was leading him from the crater. Now he realized his fatal error.

Soon Niarchus was on his knees, gazing imploringly at the Fiery Pillar as the leaden cover rose slowly. "O Baal, god of blood and fire, save thy people," the high priest pleaded. And into this strange tableau sprang Tarzan, and advanced on the evil Garetie.

Garetie knew that either he or Tarzan must die. He seized Niarchus's knife and rushed desperately at the ape-man. Smiling grimly, Tarzan dodged and clutched him from behind. Then he raised the brute high above his head and flung him powerfully against the Fiery Pillar!

His head struck the column and he fell down lifeless. Thus was justice done. Boris Garetie had sacrificed many lives to his greed for the priceless monolith, and now it had brought death to him. But the blood-thirst of the god of the Fiery Pillar was not yet slaked!

Over One Hundred Families

Bought homes from us last year, and not a one would sell the property for anything like what they paid for them.

You, I am sure know the properties we are offering are priced much lower than they are worth, and you also know your rent will be higher and higher from now on, so what excuse can you give for not buying either 2402 22nd. St. at $2,500.00; 2704 22nd St. at $2,500.00; 2514 23rd St. at $2,500.00; 1906 27th, at $2,250.00; 1924 Dixie Drive at $2,000.00; 2214 18th St., at $2,850.00, or 1615 18th St. at $2,350.00.

Have a real 6-room brick home on Broadway, for $5,500.00, with $1,000.00 cash, balance payable in 15 years at 6 per cent interest.

Any of the above homes can be bought for one-tenth cash, balance small monthly payments at 6 percent interest., payable on or before.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Randall county, on the 6th day of March, 1936, by the clerk of said Court for the sum of Three Hundred Seventy Nine and 33-100 Dollars and costs of suit, under a judgment rendered, in favor of Anna I. Hibbets in a certain cause in said Court, No. 1433 and styled Anna I. Hibbets vs. J. W. Dixon and placed in my hands for service, I, Tom Abel as Sheriff of Lubbock county, Texas, did on the 10th day of March, 1936, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Lubbock county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit:

All of Lot No. Three (3), in Block No. One Hundred Thirteen (113) of the Overton Addition to the town of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas, and levied upon as the property of J. W. Dixon and that on the first Tuesday in April, 1936, the same being the 7th day of said month, at the Court House door of Lubbock county, in the City of Lubbock, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said J. W. Dixon.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Avalanche-Journal, a newspaper published in Lubbock county.

Witness my hand, this 10th day of March, 1936.

TOM ABEL,
Sheriff Lubbock County, Texas.
By J. F. CARPENTER, Deputy.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas; County of Lubbock.

By virtue of an Order of Sale issued out of the 72nd District Court of Lubbock county, Texas, on the 4th day of March, 1936, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 17th day of December, 1931, in Cause No. 4404 in favor of L. H. McLarty and Paul M. Crouch against Tom R. WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 24. (AP)—A late burst of selling in the stock market today dragged shares down irregularly for net losses of 1 to 3 or more points.

Stocks got away to a steady start with gains of fractions to a point or so.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market closed down .7 of a point at 62.3. Transactions totaled 1,965,540 shares compared with 1,708,560 on Monday.

Industrials suffered the widest drop, utilities the next widest, while the rails held unchanged at 36.1 in terms of the average of 15 stocks.

Two factors provided background for the late selling, some said. First was the sharp break in Italian securities on Mussolini's decree for nationalization of industry.

The other, which pointed in the same direction, was the vote of the League of Nations council to adjourn without waiting for the expected reply of Hitler on the Rhineland situation.

U. S. government and domestic corporation bonds were generally higher.

Appropriations made by Congress for running the U. S. government during 1932 totaled $4,674,073,917.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 24. (AP)—Strength in the March position failed to hold other months up on the cotton market today and futures ended the session irregularly lower.

Considerable buying by trade interests in the spot month brought a mild advance and March closed at 11.40, the top for the day. Transferring of hedges from May to new crop months aided this option and it closed only a point lower at 10.97. Oct. at 10.13, Dec. at 10.11 and Jan. at 10.13 were off four points on the average.

Excluding the flurry of business in March, the market was a quiet trading affair.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 24. (AP)—Cotton continued quiet and prices moved irregularly within a narrow range today. The close was steady at a net advance of 1 point on March but generally unchanged to 7 points lower.

Near months were relatively steady from the start on trade buying and covering. The later deliveries were easy under scattering liquidation combined with some foreign and southern selling.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, March 24. (AP)—Estimates of cattle receipts at midwestern markets were posted at 35,800, against 33,171 last Tuesday. Chicago realized 11.00 and Omaha 10.75 for weighty steers. Majority of steers and yearlings offered around the circuit cashed from 7.00@8.50. Light heifers brought 9.25 and several loads all weights noted from 7.50@8.50.

Generally steady to 25c lower rates prevailed in hogs. St. Louis scored 10.90 for the day's top.

Fat lambs cleared at steady to 15c higher rates. Bulk of good to choice fed lambs brought 9.75@10.25, with several loads 10.35@10.40. Most ewes were on value to sell from 4.50@5.25. Feeding and shearing lambs bulked from 9.00@9.80.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, March 24. (AP) (USDA)—Hogs 2,300; top 10.20 paid freely by packers for good to choice 180-290 lb. averages; packing sows steady, mostly 8.50.

Cattle 2,000; calves 900; several loads good fed steers and yearlings 7.00@8.00; 787 lb. heifers 7.50; fat cows above 5.00.

Sheep 1,300; spring lambs 9.50; fat yearlings 8.00; 3-year-old fat wethers 5.00.

per was being served to about 150 persons, the Post High school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Beverly Vaughan, played. Greenfield welcomed the club guests.

Bryan J. Williams, jr., sang; Bill Thomas entertained with chalk pictures, including one of Jay B. Slaughter, past president; Mrs. Slaughter and Gilbert Gollehorn sang two Texas Centennial numbers. After a silent tribute to the departed pioneers, J. A. (Peg) Moreland, well known radio entertainer, presented a program of songs over his own broadcasting system. Jim Anderson was announcer.

O. D. Cardwell was master of ceremonies, introducing a number of old timers and others, who spoke briefly. Rollie C. Burns, Lubbock, was the first speaker. Others included State Senator G. H. Nelson, Tahoka; Gary White, Post; G. F. Maxey, Graham Chapel; Jim Weatherford, Tahoka.

Mayor Ross Edwards of Lubbock played several numbers on his violin. John Mason danced a jig and Mr. White, known as "The Irishman with a Red Nose," sang an old-time cowboy song. Riley Rigley of Matador and Case Wellington, Post, played a violin and guitar duet.

At the close of the program old timers enjoyed an hour or more of old time square dances. Mayor Edwards, a former Post resident, was one of those furnishing the music.

From Lubbock, besides Mr. Burns and Mayor Edwards were: Dr. W. C. Holden, Dr. C. J. Wagner, Chalk Brown and Albert Taylor.

Three years and seven days ago a similar amount of feed burned there, with attendant loss of house and barn, said firemen.

Jones said next time he would sink his ground connections "down to water."

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 24. (AP) — Charging that hopes of moisture relief for crops in drouth regions southwest had proved a relative failure gave wheat values a general upward trend today.

Wheat closed firm, ⅛ to ⅞ above yesterday's finish, May 97⅞@97⅝, July 87⅞, corn ⅛ to ⅞ up, May 60⅞, oats ⅛ to ⅞ advanced, and provisions showing 5 cents to 15 cents gain.

As finally appraised by wheat traders, the only dry sections which had received adequate expected overnight moisture were northwest Kansas, western Nebraska and eastern Colorado.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat prices upturns.

Provisions averaged higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, March 24. (AP)—Demand for grain at Fort Worth was slow today. Estimated receipts were: Wheat 3 cars, corn 3, and sorghums 2. Wheat No. 1 red winter 1.17½@1.18½; wheat No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 1.15½@1.30½. Barley No. 2 nom. 49@51; sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. nom. 1.00@1.03; No. 2 white kafir nom. 99@1.01; corn (shelled, Texas billing) No. 2 white 78@79; oats No. 2 red 34½@35½.

Wage Scale More Equal To That Of Men Is Being Asked

DALLAS, March 24. (AP) — The Woman's Missionary council of the Southern Methodist Episcopal church, South, adopted a report here today demanding a wage scale for women more equal to that of men in the business and professional world.

The report stressed a demand that, ultimately women be qualified for full ordination to preach, if training and ability justifies.

Columbia, S. C., was chosen as the next convention city, and a budget of $748,209 was adopted for 1937.

Miss Noreen Dunn of Nashville, daughter of the Rev. S. C. Dunn of the West Texas conference, was named secretary of the children's work.

Today's gathering ended a five-day conference of the council.

In post war years, said Der Fuehrer, the world became accustomed to a Germany weak, divided and obsessed with an inferiority complex.

"It finally came to regard the German weakness as a constant factor in international equations. This we have changed. We want peace, but the world must not confuse our will for peace with a lack of the character of our predecessors."

Birthday To Be Observed

Tenth Annual Party Of East Texas Chamber Of Commerce Planned At Longview; Date Set March 26

LONGVIEW, March 24. (AP)—Plans for the tenth annual birthday party of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, to be held in Longview March 26, are practically completed.

At noon a complimentary luncheon will be given to the officers, directors, and county councilors of the East Texas chambers; also presidents and managers of local chambers in the East Texas territory.

Following the luncheon a business session of the directors will be held, at which time membership quotas for the year will be set, and definite plans announced for the annual convention to be held in Houston, May 3, 4, 5.

To Conduct Tour

During the afternoon the Longview Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct a tour of the oil fields; an informal reception for the visiting ladies will be given by the various ladies' organizations of Longview.

The honor banquet, honoring R. W. Kelly, one of the organizers, and past president of the East Texas chamber, will be held in the gymnasium of the Senior High school.

R. L. Thornton, Dallas, W. N. Blanton, Houston, will be the principal speakers.

This celebration is sponsored jointly by Huntsville and Longview.

Educational Activities Are Said Blocked Over Mexico

LAREDO, March 24. (AP)—Advices to the border tonight said about 700 school teachers in Tamaulipas, Mexico, had discontinued all educational activities in Tampico, Ciudad Madero, Villa Gonselas and Nuevo Laredo.

The reports said the action was a protest against the state department of education because of failure to pay teachers back salaries as promised by Governor Canseco about a month ago when teachers went on a state-wide strike.

Kiwanis Club To Meet Today In Luncheon With Rotarians

Owing to a conflict of dates, the Kiwanis club will meet today at the Hotel Lubbock, with the Rotary club, President Ray C. Mowery announced yesterday.

The two clubs meet at noon. The program will be in charge of the Rotary club.

In making his announcement, Mr. Fortenberry said: "I never before have sought public office. I do not seek it now on the basis of political ambition. Since I have lived here, Lubbock people have been good to me in every way and through work on the commission I believe I can render the city, as a whole, a service in return."

"Lubbock is standing on the threshold of a period of expansion which, in my opinion, will be the greatest in our history," said McMillan last night. "It is my hope, if elected to the commission, to be able to render a public service commensurate with the privileges and opportunities of Lubbock citizenship."

The election will be held two weeks from yesterday — Tuesday, April 7.

Appeal To Buy Offered Here

Lubbock Citizens Are Asked To Cooperate In Sixth Annual Quality Meat Show To Be Held Here

An appeal to Lubbock citizens to assist in the sixth annual Lubbock Quality Meat Show's annual sale Wednesday, April 1, by buying calves, pigs and sheep, was issued yesterday by the sales promotion committee of the show. The statement came after a meeting of the committee at the chamber of commerce.

E. J. (Jack) Parsons, chairman of the group, asked that business men and concerns make a special effort to cooperate. The show is one of the attractions of this section and is the oldest meat show in the southwest.

Prize winning animals in all divisions are sold on the closing day of the sale.

Must Reward Efforts

"Youths who will enter livestock in the show have been feeding their animals for a long period of time with the idea of bringing them to the Lubbock show," Parsons declared, "and unless their efforts are rewarded future entries and enthusiasm might not be obtained."

Record-breaking entries in the divisions are expected, and of necessity more orders for sale will be necessary this year, it was said.

Discuss Problems

The committee checked over the number of entries received thus far from various counties, and discussed problems attendant to staging the show.

Purchase of scales to allow weighing on the fair-grounds, where the show will be held, was authorized and a sub-committee of S. E. Cone, and I. E. Barr appointed to arrange details of the transaction and to attempt installation in time for this year's show. Heretofore animals have been weighed at local packing plants.

A meeting of the committee will be held again Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at the chamber of commerce offices. Members are each to invite several persons to attend. Division of the members present into groups for soliciting more orders at the sale is expected.

Present Tuesday were, in addition to three named previously, Richard Roberts, C. C. Jobson, Jot Smyth and Garnet O. Reeves.

Dr. W. M. Pearce To Preside At Conference Here Tonight

Dr. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder of Lubbock Methodist district, will preside for a quarterly conference at First Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock.

Reports will be made from officials and department heads of First and Asbury Methodist churches.

The meeting, which is open to the congregations, is the second conference for the church year.

West Texans Are Urged To Keep All Material In Area And Arrange Return

West Texans are urged to keep museum material in West Texas and to arrange for return of items they loan to the Centennial in letters sent from Texas Technological college to civic organizations and newspapers over the section.

"If we are not alert we may find the country practically stripped of valuable items which should be preserved in the region of their origin," according to the statement, sent from the office of Dr. Bradford Knapp, Tech president.

Statement Is Quoted

The statement follows:

"The Texas Centennial at Dallas is conducting an extensive campaign through the schools of the state for the purpose of obtaining museum material and valuable records and documents of all kinds. The bringing of such materials and data out of hiding is a commendable enterprise in connection with the Centennial celebration. However, the Texas Technological college would like to utter a word of suggestion to all our friends in West Texas. An appropriation has already been made for a museum on the campus of Texas Technological college in which we expect, in cooperation with the people of this entire area, to house the historical, scientific, and arehaeological collections obtainable in this area of the state, including also a collection of its art and its literature.

"The Texas Technological college is in harmony with the whole thought and purpose of the Centennial celebration but does not believe that the ultimate place of keeping of these priceless collections of Northwest Texas should be four to five hundred miles away from the place of their origin. Therefore, inasmuch as we shall soon have a museum on the campus of Texas Technological college in which a large number of our people representing many counties are thoroughly interested, we urge all persons in this region who may have museum materials, to take care in lending these items to the Centennial to see that the arrangements provide that the materials be returned to the owners in order that they may eventually find lodgment in a West Texas museum. If we are not alert we may find the country practically stripped of valuable items which should be preserved in the region of their origin. All we are asking is that you protect your loaning of these precious documents and materials, whatever they may be, by insisting that they be returned to you for future disposition."

Construction of a museum on the Tech campus recently was authorized by the West Texas Museum association. The Centennial commission board of control appropriated $25,000 for the structure.

Trustees Will Open Bids On Tahoka School Construction

Trustees of the Tahoka Independent school district are to open bids today on completion of the grade school structure there. The meeting is being held in Tahoka at the board's offices.

Virgil Shell, Lubbock contractor, has the job of erecting the foundation. He is making good progress. Bids are to be opened on the superstructure.

A combination grade school building, with a gymnasium, is to be erected.

Large Attendance Expected At Loyalty Banquet In City

A large attendance of members of the First Presbyterian church is expected tonight for the annual Loyalty banquet to be held in the social rooms starting at 7 o'clock.

Following serving of the meal there will be a special program and talks by several officers and members of the church. Ladies of the church will serve the meal.

Four Girls Dead In Oklahoma Fire

BEGGS, Okla., March 24. (AP)—Four negro girls, workers on a National Youth administration project, were burned to death and two others were injured seriously here today when gasoline they were using to clean athletic uniforms was ignited in the gymnasium of Beggs negro school.

The dead: Ethel Rado; Katie Mae Hardman; Hazel Furch, and Eva Lee Johns.

The injured: Ethel Edwards, and Lessie Cooper.

All lived in or near Beggs.

Damage to the building was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Snowfall For Dust Section

Western Edge Of Oklahoma's Dust Area Gets Light Fall Of Moisture; Mercury Drops And Sand Clears

GUYMON, Okla., March 24. (AP)—Light snow fall early today in Cimarron county, at the western edge of the dusty Oklahoma Panhandle, as temperatures dropped and dust cleared from the air.

The light snow at Boise City was accompanied by an abrupt dip in the mercury from 42 late yesterday to 17 above early today.

There was no prospect of genuine moisture relief over the Oklahoma dust bowl, however. Skies were clear at Guymon where the mercury sank to 20 during the night.

Fine silt from yesterday's duster, which spread from the Panhandle to central and eastern Oklahoma, settled on the streets at Bartlesville. As far south as Clinton the temperature dropped to two degrees above freezing.

Harry F. Wahlgren, federal weatherman, warned a heavy to killing frost might blight fruit crops of northern and central Oklahoma tonight.

Six Journalism Students Are Accepted Into Society

Six journalism students of Senior High school have been accepted into the membership of Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists, it was learned from Miss Marion Betts, sponsor. This group will make up the charter membership of the Lubbock High school chapter.

Students thus honored are: Flora May Betts and T. J. Harris, co-editors; John B. Rountree, business manager; and Rosemary Harlan, Clyrene Kyle, and Frances Wilson. Executive secretary Edward Nell especially commended the excellent editorial work of Misses Kyle and Betts. Miss Kyle was recently awarded first place in an editorial contest at Panhandle Press convention.
