COURT ASKS JURY PROBE OF JAIL BREAK HERE

BOTH HOUSES PASS CHANGED PRISON BILL

Original Measure Hardly Recognizable After Alterations

COMMISSION OF NINE

Governor Expected to Sign Measure as Voted By Legislators

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—Penitentiary concentration legislation became a finished business after more than two years of controversy in the Texas legislature tonight.

It now is up to Governor Moody whether a commission of nine citizens, independent of the prison board, shall decide whether it is practicable to centralize the now widely-scattered system on some site of present state owned properties.

The house tonight concurred, 105 to 7, in the senate amendments to its bill.

Okeh Expected

Legislators close to the governor said he would sign the bill.

Under amendments attached by Senators A. J. Wirtz of Seguin and C. C. Small of Wellington, the governor would name a commission of nine to make a survey of present properties and if it found a practicable site thereon it would direct the prison board to effect the concentration.

If the commission decides property owned by the state is not suitable, then the lieutenant governor would appoint three senators and the speaker of the house five representatives to act with the prison board in a survey of the state with a view to recommending a site. A report and recommendations then would be made to the governor who would submit them to the legislature for ratification.

The original house bill directed concentration on some property now owned by the state.

SENATE MAKES MANY CHANGES

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—After turning down a substitute offered by Senator Holbrook of Galveston, the senate today finally passed the house prison concentration bill.

The bill was amended so that it scarcely was recognizable. The measure was engrossed, and then passed after the constitutional rules were suspended. The vote on final passage of the bill was 25 to 1 with two pairs.

Holbrook's substitute was rejected by a vote of 14 to 12. Just before the vote on final passage of the house bill, he offered an amendment to strike out the enacting clause but was met with a chorus of "noes."

Under the bill passed the prison board will not have authority to sell any lands without legislative sanction. That provision was offered by Pollard of Tyler and was accepted, 15 to 8.

Witt of Waco, who last night caused an amendment to be inserted permitting the board to sell any of the property, opposed Pollard's proposal. He said its effect would be to postpone definite concentration action until another session.

Faulty Fire Door and Damaged Steam Pipe Blamed for Fatal Blast

Death Toll in Cleveland Clinic Disaster Nears 140 as Probe Locates Cause of Explosion

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 16. (US)—A fire door that would not close—a damaged steam pipe that belched forth heat—a deafening blast, deadly gas fumes emanting from the X-ray storage room, and 126 people who were seeking life's greatest gift, health, were wafted into eternity.

This was the picture painted today by investigators who searched through the ruins of the Cleveland Clinic, Dr. George W. Crile's nationally known medical center, in an effort to determine if criminal negligence was responsible for the second greatest disaster in the city's history.

Stone walls and stairways, immaculate white cots and bedding were painted with the carnival colors of the Hallowe'en season, yellow and black, by the nitrogen dioxide gasses that escaped from the X-ray plate store room because the fire door would not close and rapidly spread throughout the hospital to trap doctors, nurses and patients.

While city, county, state and government officials were launching separate investigations, a corps of doctors were making a valiant battle to stay the greedy hand of death that was threatening to run the death total to 140.

Their lungs harboring the deadly gasses that already have claimed 126 lives, more than a score of "living corpses" are now standing on the threshold of eternity. Blood transfusions have been made, but the majority of the victims have failed to respond to treatments.

CAVALRY SENT ON RIOT DUTY

Militia in Strike District Is Reinforced

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., May 16. (UP)—Additional troops, including a force of cavalry, were ordered to Elizabethton tonight to meet the threat of new riots in the textile workers' strike.

Blood was shed in the streets today when strikers and national guardsmen clashed, the water main was dynamited and nearly 100 persons were arrested for picketing.

Mobilization of more troops was ordered as it became apparent the large force of special officers and militiamen already on duty here would be unable to cope with the crisis. The additional forces are expected to arrive tomorrow.

Elizabethton was forced to go through the day without water, as a result of the dynamiting of its water system. The 16-inch water pipe was blown up at Valley Forge at the point where it crosses Doe river, three miles east of here.

Trees were felled blocking Gap Creek road during the night, and today national guardsmen used tear bombs in routing pickets at Valley Forge. Nearly 100 prisoners were taken after a non-union mill worker drove his car through a crowd of strikers picketing the state line highway. Three persons were injured and others knocked down when struck by the car.

Sheriff J. M. Moreland has asked Adjutant General W. C. Boyd to declare martial law in the strike area. Reports from Nashville said this could not be done without a special act of the legislature.

Prominent Denton Attorney Shot Fatally While Alone in Office

DENTON, Texas, May 16. (UP)—J. W. Sullivan, one of the most prominent attorneys of North Texas, shot himself in his private office this afternoon. He died about 20 minutes later in the hospital.

Sullivan, who was a member of the law firm of Sullivan, Steer & Minor, was alone in the office at the time of the shooting. He had been in ill health for several years and was said to be despondent over a fear that he was gradually going blind.

No funeral arrangements have been made as yet, although it is thought the body will be taken to Kentucky, his former home, for burial.

Sullivan was prominent in both state and national politics. He had held but one public office, however, that of county attorney of Denton county, for two terms, starting in 1896.

He was a delegate to the Democratic national convention three times, the first at Baltimore in 1912 when Woodrow Wilson was nominated. He was also a presidential elector in that election. He was active in Texas politics in campaigning for his law partner, Fred Minor, who was speaker pro tem of the house of representatives, at the last regular session during the sickness of Speaker Barron.

Sullivan was born in Tarrolton, Ky., and graduated from Virginia Military institute and Washington and Lee university. He moved to Denton in 1892 and had lived here since that time.

He was married in 1910 to Miss Marie Adams, who, with a daughter, Wilana, survives him.

WTCC MEETING AT EL PASO IS SET FOR JULY

Seymour Delegates Select Paducah for 1930 District Convention

RAIL LINES URGED

Organization Policies Are Outlined in Series Of Resolutions

By LOUIS T. HAMLETT
Record News Staff Correspondent

SEYMOUR, Texas, May 16.—Paducah was selected as the 1930 convention city of the lower Panhandle district of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the meeting of that organization here Thursday.

It was announced by President Andy Bourland that the dates for the state convention at El Paso this year would be July 2-3-4 provided those dates met with the approval of the executive board and the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

Won't Wait for Hoover

The desirability of postponing the convention until October in the hopes of having President Hoover attend was discussed, but the general opinion was that the president probably would be unable to accept the invitation. It had been learned that President Hoover could not make the trip during July but might be able to visit Texas next fall.

A pageant celebrating the Butterfield stage route which ran from St. Louis to San Francisco by way of Texas will be presented at the convention, according to Homer D. Wade, general manager.

The committee on resolutions was appointed Thursday morning as follows: Judge I. O. Newton, Seymour; Ray Nicholls, Vernon; Roy E. Smith, Knox City; R. P. Hall, Electra; D. Payne, Stamford; B. D. Donnell, Wichita Falls; and G. R. McNeill, Archer City.

Resolutions presented at the afternoon session included the encouragement of the further railway development in West Texas, the enactment of laws to protect water and irrigation rights, approval of the plan for increased salaries for the governor and members of the legislature and an endorsement of the present automobile license fee and gasoline tax system.

McGowan Makes Talk

T. N. Bell, director from Crowell, presided at the meeting. Judge I. O. Newton gave the address of welcome and R. P. Hall of Electra, responded. Addresses during the morning session were made by President Andy Bourland of Vernon, and Col. C. C. French of Fort Worth.

In the afternoon G. C. McGown, Wichita county agent, talked on dairy development in the lower Panhandle.

BOY DROWNS IN QUANAH LAKE

Youth, 13, Fails to Swim Across Pond

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 16.—Exhausted in an attempt to display his prowess as a swimmer before a group of playmates, Elbert Holder, 13, was drowned today in a large pond located near the Quanah laundry and known as the Denver lake.

Elbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Holder of this city, was playing with several boys of about his age when he met his death in an effort to swim across the pond, recently enlarged by heavy rains. The boys had constructed a small raft and started out to cross the lake on the craft when the Holder boy told his companions he would swim the distance.

He had reached the deepest point in the pond when his strength gave out, his companions said later. The other boys summoned aid when the drowning boy went under but it was more than an hour before his body was recovered.

Firemen and others used grapling hooks but the body was not located until a motor boat was brought to the pond. A pulmotor was used in resuscitation efforts.

The Holder family recently moved to Quanah from a farm near Goodlett. At the time of the accident Mrs. Holder was at Acme attending sick relatives and Mr. Holder and an older son were working at Estelline. All were called home.

Burial will be at Goodlet, probably Friday.

Broken Crankshafts In Two Rear Engines Halt Atlantic Trip

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 17. (AP)—(Friday)—The Zeppelin works received word early this morning that the Graf Zeppelin with two of its five motors out of commission was making slow headway against a strong wind but was nearing the estuary of the Rhone river.

(Copyright, 1929, By Universal Service) Special Radio Dispatch

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN May 16.—The Graf Zeppelin, 12 hours out on its second transatlantic flight, was forced to return to Friedrichshafen tonight by motor trouble in the rear gondolas.

When we finally headed back toward our base, and made the turn complete, we were about 20 miles southeast of Cape De La Nao, whic is one of the numerous capes jutting into the western Mediterranean on the southeast coast of Spain. The cape itself is between the ports of Valencia and Alicante, and about 350 miles northeast of the rock of Gribraltar.

Passengers "Lost"

Most of the passengers were hazy about their position, and many believed that the blue waters of the Mediterranean below us were those of the broad Atlantic. It was only after we had headed back over Spanish soil that we finally became acquainted with the exact spot where the incident occurred.

We had already passed over the cape and over the Mediterranean sea, when Dr. Eckener made the announcement. As he quieted the passengers, we all had qualms, fearing for our lives as we coasted along slowly through the sky.

Eckener Upheld

After he said quietly, after dinner, that we would have to turn back, unless we wanted to make the trip with this risk ever present, we all went into a huddle around the tables of the dining room, and all cast our votes with the old airdog, who expressed the hope we would be on the Graf when it was repaired and started for America.

The shock of the announcement was destinct. At first Dr. Eckener did not tell us we had motor trouble, only making a soft statement that we were compelled to turn back.

As Dr. Eckener tried to quiet our fears—for we instinctively felt that something had gone wrong—the drone of the motors sounded. At that time, the two rear motors had been shut down, and we were just creeping through the air.

HUEY P. LONG WINS HIS CASE

Backers of Governor Wreck Impeachment Plans

BATON ROUGE, La., May 16. (AP)—Without one word of testimony being taken, the Louisiana senate court of impeachment today released Gov. Huey P. Long from charges of high crimes and misdemeanors.

Just as the prosecution was ready to present its first witness, Senator Philip H. Gilbert, lawyer and a Long supporter, presented to the court a motion to adjourn sine die. The motion carried the signatures of 15 senators, saying that regardless of the testimony they would vote to acquit the governor as they considered the impeachment proceedings unconstitutional.

Caucus Held

Faced with a certain loss of their case as the 15 senators, constituting more than the one-third of the 39 membership, could prevent conviction, the prosecutors threw the senate into a recess and called a caucus of the remaining 24 senators.

They discussed the situation and emerged with a declaration signed by all 24 concurring in the motion to adjourn, deploring the attitude of the 15 Long supporters and expressing the opinion that it would be futile to proceed with the trial.

Thus, shortly after noon the court of impeachment dissolved and the first impeachment attempt ever aimed at a governor of Louisiana was brought to a formal close. Adjournment was taken amid light handclaps and some low cheers, but most of the senators and spectators accepted the result in silence.

Long Is Happy

While the court was adjourning, Governor Long was in his office on the floor below the senate chamber surrounded by friends and relatives. His young wife came in, threw her arms around his neck, and then telephoned the news to their children in Shreveport. The governor was happy, calling out greetings to callers and signing his name for autograph hunters:

"Governor of Louisiana by the grace of the people."

ONE KILLED, TWO WOUNDED IN JAIL BATTLE

Allen's Use of Pistol Held In Line of His Duty By Verdict

CHANGES SUGGESTED

County Judge Would Cover Cells With Wire Net As Safety Measure

In a court of injuiry verdict which exonerated W. W. Allen, jailer, from all blame, O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, Thursday demanded a thorough grand jury investigation of the part played by every prisoner implicated in the attempted jail break which Thursday morning cost the life of Raymond Sellers and resulted in the wounding of two other prisoners who joined him in the rush for freedom.

Sellers, a 23-year-old youth under sentences aggregating seven years for car theft, was instantly killed when the jailer "came up firing" from the attack of four prisoners in the vestibule of a first floor "tank" at breakfast time Thursday. T. O. Cagle, 21, under a half a dozen burglary indictments, and Collie Bruner, 21, under a 10-year sentence, received minor wounds as Mr. Allen continued his defense. Jack Stewart, accused of participation in the attack, surrendered when the firing began. The wounded men are expected to recover. Stewart continues to occupy his old cell in the county jail.

Verdict Returned

The verdict returned after a court of inquiry called within a few hours of the shooting did not recommend the immediate filing of any complaints on the setting of new bonds, the justice explaining that Stewart, Cagle, and Bruner are all in custody and will remain in the Wichita county jail under other charges until the next session of the grand jury. No special grand jury will be summoned, Sam Spence, district attorney, announced Thursday, but a transcript of the testimony of the court and of the verdict of the judge, will be laid before the investigators at their next session.

Meanwhile, the trial of Cagle, set for next Monday morning in the 89th district court, will be called on schedule, the district attorney announced after a conference with physicians at the Wichita General hospital. Cagle is charged with burglarizing six Wichita Falls residences. He is also under two state and two federal charges for car theft, according to testimony introduced at the court of inquiry Thursday. The wounded man will be able to return to the jail and attend his trial before Monday, attending physicians told the officials Thursday afternoon.

Cagle Claims Leadership

Sheriff W. G. Bralley said Thursday afternoon that Cagle had announced himself as the organizer of the plan of escape. Cagle was quoted as saying that he had told the others: "I'm going to take a

Legislative Fight Threatened Over Committee Report Censuring Robison

AUSTIN, May 16. (AP)—Severe censure of land commissioner J. T. Robison, contained in the report of the joint house and senate investigating committee submitted today, tonight had caused the tenseness of a possible legislative fight.

Speaker W. S. Barrow and other house leaders were endeavoring to dissuade Woodruff of Decatur, and others, in an announced intention of bringing the matter to the floor through a resolution bearing on findings of the committee.

The resolution was sent to the speaker soon after the report had been read but was held in abeyance.

Woodruff said he intended to insist on putting it before the house and that he was having it rewritten for that purpose.

Although refraining from submitting any suggestions as to what action the legislature "should take concerning the acts of the land commissioner," the committee report charged that the manner in which Mr. Robison handled the "one cent per acre fund" collected from purchasers of state land to defray expenses of administering the reappraisement act of 1925, was "inexcusable, unwarranted and unjustified; that the same involves an unsound policy and should not be countenanced by any public official in the discharge of the duties of his office.

BROKEN PIPE CAUSES BLAST

Steamfitter Questioned By Coroner

Fire Lieutenant John Walsh and Fireman Andrew Homrocky, George Jusko and Peter Rogers, first to arrive on the scene, are in a serious condition.

Coroner A. J. Pearse has concurred with other official investigators that cause of the disaster was attributable to two reasons.

It is agreed that the explosion resulted when escaping heat from a pipe left unguarded by a workman caused spontaneous combustion, which ignited X-ray films.

The gasses and fire would have been confined to the storage room had not an obstruction kept the massive, metallic door, only entrance to the X-ray room, open after the blast.

The door is gauged by a thermometer, which releases it when the temperature in the room mounts to a certain point. The thermometer arrangement worked when the fire started, but the arm that releases the door was obstructed by a steam pipe that passes above.

Investigators discovered that the door could be closed and opened by hand, but that the mechanical arrangement was made worthless because of the steam pipe.

Steamfitter Held

When the heat in the storage room became intense the automatic arm dropped on the steam pipe and the door remained open. Had it closed, the gasses would have been shut off from other parts of the clinic and forced to the street through a ventilator.

A steamfitter, Buffey Boggs, who was sent early yesterday to repair the steam pipe, was held in "technical custody" by the coroner after he had been questioned.

Boggs told investigators that he arrived at the clinic and examined the leaky pipe. It was very hot so he left the job for a short time to let it cool off. Smoke was curling around the ceiling and steam escaping from the pipe when he returned.

He ripped a fire extinguisher from the wall and played a stream upon the ceiling.

When the water came in contact with the ceiling, Boggs told the coroner, a terrific explosion hurled him to the floor. Crawling on his hands and knees toward an exit, he attempted to reach the street. A second explosion occurred, pitching him through a window.

Asked why he had not closed the door leading into the storage room, Boggs stated that the door was open when he arrived and that he had left it open.

SHAMROCK, Texas, May 16.—(UP)—Jess Atchison, Shamrock, is having a hard time convincing people he is still alive.

When one of the charred bodies could not be identified as any other person and Atchison could not be located, it was presumed by fire officials that he had been a fire victim.

CLEBURNE, Texas, May 16.—(AP)—One chance in a million won, according to Mrs. Gladys Campbell, in recovering $900 worth of jewelry lost in the sewer.

Mrs. Campbell was uncertain where she lost her diamond and sapphire studded bar pin and platinum bracelet, but she recalled having them last in her pajama's pocket, wrapped in a small red handkerchief.

Thinking she might possibly have lost them in the bath room, she notified Superintendent T. B. Sims of the sewage system. The wife of the attendant at the sewage plant found them, uninjured, wrapped in the handkerchief and caught in the septic tank at the plant.

chance on getting killed and get out of here. You can come with me if you want to."

According totestimony introduced in the hearing, Mr. Allen, accompanied by the negro cook and two negro trustees, had opened the door of the first floor vestibule bringing breakfast to the prisoners at the time of the initial attack. Four bars behind a heavy post had been sawed at the floor, allowing room for one man at a time to escape into the secondary inclosure. Cagle stepped from behind the post as the jailer swung open the door, and the two men, grappling, went at once to the floor. The jailer succeeded in taking out a dirk, carried in a sheath beneath his shirt, but Cagle grabbed the knife blade. The struggling men rolled into the baskets of food, broken glass from milk bottles cutting Mr. Allen's neck as he fought.

The attack of Bruner and Sellers followed, the testimony showed. The prisoners were armed with a sock stuffed tightly with hard bars of soap, with an iron bar, and with a knife, the witnesses said. The bar was in the hands of Sellers, John Riggs, negro cook, testified.

"Came Up Firing"

Mr. Allen said that he managed to free himself from the onslaught of at least three of the men and that he "came up firing." The first shot went through the heart of Sellers, resulting in instant death. The second struck Cagle, administering minor flesh wounds. Bruner, shot through the hips, went down next. Stewart called out his surrender. Nick Preston, negro trusty, went under a bunk. W. G. Bralley, followed shortly by Frank Morgan, constable, R. V. Gwinn, justice of the peace, and members of the police department, all arrived on the scene to help control the prisoners.

The wounded men were taken to the Wichita General hospital for treatment. Mr. Allen submitted to first aid treatment for his cuts and bruises but went on with his day's work. The body of Sellers was taken to the Hines mortuary, where it is being held until word can be received from relatives. A letter to Sellers from his mother in Ladysmith, Wis., was received in the office of the sheriff Thursday afternoon and was put in the hands of the undertakers.

Sellers, a former student of law at the University of Wisconsin, tried and lost the only case of his brief career when he defended himself against charges of automobile theft here several months ago. He was first arrested last September for the theft of a car belonging to T. S. Thompson, 1001 Tenth street. He was given a three year suspended sentence upon a plea of guilty. Within 24 hours after his release he was arrested a second time, accused of the theft of an automobile belonging to Mrs. E. S. Carey, 1508 Tilden street. He denied his guilt and pleaded his own case in the second trial. He was convicted and sentenced to two years imprisonment, the former suspension being automatically revoked.

Tried Own Case

An appeal which he himself had been preparing was recently withdrawn and he had given notice of the acceptance of his sentence. Penitentiary officials were on their way here Thursday to remove him to the state prison, it was understood.

Bruner was recently sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary for the second offense in the theft of an automobile. Stewart was indicted in connection with the recent robbery of the Wooten Grocery company.

Marrs Urges Jail Changes

John P. Marrs, county judge, announced Thursday afternon that he would immediately call the attention of the county commissioners court to the need for additional safety devices at the jail. Faced with the discovery of a collection of about 30 small saws, found in a search of the jail after the tragedy, the judge declared that his own recommendation to the court would be the inclosure of the "tanks" on each floor with a fine steel mesh, making the passage of tools and other weapons impossible. He suggested that no visitors, even attorneys, be allowed within the inclosure. He said that he would ask Mr. Allen, Sheriff Bralley and other officials to visit the court Monday and explain the needs.

Mr. Bralley indicated Thursday afternoon that he expected the shooting to result in changes in and additions to the jail equipment. His testimony in the hearing showed the registration of 70 prisoners Thursday, and he said later that he expected to talk with officials about the advisability of adding a new guard to the sheriff's force in order to take care of the situation. He explained that the law does not allow the appointment of an assistant jailer.

DANGERS LURK IN BATHROOM

Perils of Tub Listed By Medical Authority

"Is bathing harmful?" asks Dr. Guy Hinsdale of Hot Springs, Va., writing in The Journal of the American Medical association, and appends his own reply:

"That depends."

He classifies this set of possibly fatal bathroom accidents:

1.—Falls on slippery places in the bathroom; falls on getting in or out of the tub or cabinet.

2.—Faintness or vertigo in getting in or out of the tub or cabinet.

3.—Epileptic convulsions.

4.—Syncope from heart disease.

5.—Apoplexy.

6. Drowning in the tub.

7. Scalding in the tub.

8.—Cabinet burn.

9.—Scalding in mistake for cold shower.

10.—Deaths in a Turkish bath.

11.—Dangers of a continuous bath.

12.—Death from electrical shock while in the bath or bathroom.

13.—Death from escaping gas in the bathroom.

14.—Drowning in surf, rivers or lakes.

15.—Winter bathing in northern waters; cold plunges.

16. Misuse of accessories, such as hot water bag.

"Like every other measure used for man's benefit there is in connection with it an unseen danger that may destroy in a moment all the good that otherwise one might derive from a fundamentally useful therapeutic measure," says the doctor.

He cites many instances of death incidental to bathing, among them that of John L. Sullivan, the Boston "strong boy," "champion of champions," and concludes:

"The one lesson to be derived from all this is that 'eternal vigilance is the price of safety.'"

Coleman Threshing Season Approaches

Special to The Record News

COLEMAN, Texas, May 16.—Wheat and oats in Coleman county are ripening rapidly and threshing will likely be in full flast by the end of this month in some places. Most predictions are that record crops will be harvested. High winds that dried out the ground did some damage and in some parts of the county there has not been sufficient rainfall to mature the crops as well as anticipated.

The county as a whole, however, is in better condition than it has been in many years. Berries are ripening and going on the markets, grass on ranges is luxuriant, cotton planting is nearly completed and good stands are seen in fields that are growing.

To Make Even Inexpensive Glass and China Sparkle

Simple New Way Does Wonders And Is Kind To Pretty Hands—Use Any Ordinary Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kinds; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.

Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleansing preparation called CLIMALENE to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.

This preparation is a grease dissolvent, while soap is, strictly speaking, a grease. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.

Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.

Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

A clear skin is irresistible

... in fact, popularity depends upon it

THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the hearts of men.

First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red-blood-cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

Daughters of Nile Entertain With Lovely Dinner and Ceremonial

In a private dining room at the Wichita club, Shelomi temple, Daughters of the Nile, gave a lovely dinner Friday night for the members, candidates and husbands. Baskets of briar roses, blue larkspur, and double pink poppies were placed at intervals down the table and large baskets of the same lovely flowers surrounded the room. The library at Zundelowitz was started by funds saved by the old Civic league and for that reason the pioneer members are banqueted each year.

Mesdames A. H. Carrigan, Charles Pogenpohl and T. B. Smock made talks, and H. A. Glass, principal of the school talked informally, revealing that 1,000 volumes had been added to the school this year.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

A Bachelor, Taken Seriously

Three married women had simultaneously discovered that the only bachelor present had rather unusual ideas about love and life and that in other ways, too, he was different from the general run of man.

"Love?" he repeated, by way of refuting an easy generalization one of the married women had expressed. "I'm not sure that there is such a thing as love!"

The three women grew tense with excitement, like bird-dogs freezing for a "point." There was resentment and indignation, too, in their attitude. They demanded an explanation.

"What you call love," the bachelor answered, "and what people have always accepted as love, is any number of things except love.

"Let us, for example, compare what you call love with that chair over there. After all, it is a very comfortable chair. It was made by a man who was a realist and who knew what he was about. That chair will still be a chair a year from now, five years from now, because it was intelligently conceived and intelligently put together.

"But is the average love affair intelligently conceived and organized? In other words, is love real? And who can say that what two people consider love will still be love a year from now, five years from now, as that chair will still be a chair at the same time?

"Love, my dears, is nothing more than a device or illusion which people use to justify and glorify the workings of nature."

"Well," said one of the women, "I don't think any of us will agree with you. But let me ask you another question. Have you ever been in love?"

"Before I reached mental maturity I thought I was. In those days I was potentially capable of falling in 'love' with almost every attractive girl I met."

"And are you incapable now?"

"If you insist upon love being an emotional ecstacy or frenzy, I plead incapability. That, you know, is approximately what you think love is or, at least, should be. I prefer that calmness which is based upon understanding and is, therefore, more likely to endure, rather than an emotional hysteria which necessarily must be like a flame and can live only just so long."

"H-mm-mm!" said one of the ladies.

"H-mm-mm!" said another.

"H-mm-mm!" said the third; and there was admiration in their tones for the man with whom they could not agree.

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

Latin Teacher At Zundy Honored By National Bureau

Mrs. Gaines B. Hall, teacher of Latin in Zundelowitz Junior High school, has worked out an exploratory course in Latin, which has been used for the past two years in the junior schools of Wichita Falls, and has been so satisfactory that there are now more than 100 children enrolled in the Latin department, which included only the seventh and eighth grades.

Word has just been received that this course has been accepted for publication and distribution by the service bureau of classical teachers.

The service bureau is maintained by the American Classical league, which is the highest authorty in the United States upon matters pertaining to classical subjects. The recognition of Mrs. Hall's work is a distinct honor, since it makes possible the distribution of the course to all teachers of Latin in the nation, and this type of work has heretofore been attempted by only a limited numbers of schools.

The area of waste forest land is as large as the combined states of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

Reader's Club Entertains Friends With Program and Play

"The Wonder Hat," a fantasy written by Ben Hecht and Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, was an artistic achievement of the Readers' club Thursday night at the home of Judge and Mrs. W. M. Moore, Number 4 Crestway.

Entering the lovely home, a receiving line composed of Judge and Mrs. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Rhea, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrell and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Pagin, greeted the handsomely gowned guests.

The hall in that home is a beautiful place with no drapery or bit of furniture that is not fitted to its setting. The handsome stairway is a picture from the door. The drawing room with high arched walls all in cream and deep ivory had little decoration and needed none. The double wrought iron baskets in the corners of the stage were filled with a green vine and yellow flowers that toned into the ivory and ecru of the room.

The following program was given:

"Sweetheart of All My Dreams," and theme song from Broadway Melodies, "You Were Meant for Me," by Katherine and Elizabeth Weldon, accompanied by Edward Smith.

Piano number, "Liebestraum," Erle Ward.

Indian Song, Eloise Hawkins, accompanied by Katherine Sullivan.

Grecian Dance, Ona Belle Britton.

Song, "An Old Guitar, an Old Refrain," Jean Fisk, accompanied by Miss Minnie Baker.

The program was given in the drawing room. The club had anticipated giving it outdoors, but as Mrs. Pagin said in her gracious little speech of introduction, the Moores were kinder than the weather man. A low stage was improvised at one end of the long room and it was set as Hyde Park, all the actors entering from behind a red brick wall.

The characters in the play were: Columbine ....Mrs. E. L. Fulton Harlequin .....Marguerite Fisher Pierrot .....Nell Duffy Punchinello ..Mrs. Claude Ruffner Margot ....Mrs. Sterling Crumpler

Mrs. Fulton made a lovely and graceful Columbine and was a perfect actress. Harlequin, played by Miss Marguerite Fisher, was all graceful sophistication until he finally had to love Columbine. Nell Duffy made a most graceful little Pierrot, and created real mirth when Harlequin took revenge by seeming to thrust a pin into him. Margot, played by Mrs. Sterling Crumpler, was a perfect little pink English briar rose. Her part was well acted and she had the English coloring. As Punchinello, Mrs. Claude Ruffner made the hit of the evening. Her call of "New Loves For Old," and her market for all dead dreams gave Punchinello's touch of pathos, while her wonderful acting brought out all the mirth of the part.

After the play was finished, a delicious refreshment plate was served to about 150 guests. There are 20 club members and each invited friends. The evening will live long for all who had the pleasure of hearing the program and seeing the play.

"Dirty ring around the washtubs" is a dangerous sign

IT MEANS the clothes aren't snowy white. It means there's dirt in them. It means scum forms when you put soap in the water. And that means you're using hard water. Scum always forms in hard water.

What to do? Soften the water with Melo and it is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. No dirty ring forms. The clothes wash snowy white. Delightful suds. And you use only ⅓ or ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used in hard water. Get rid of that dirty ring! Get rid of it by buying and using Melo. Get Melo at your grocer's.

DIX TELLS WHY CHILDREN PAY

"Greatest Pleasure in Life," Writer Says

Are Children Worthwhile?—How to Make a Husband Provide a Real Home for His Wife. Do Men or Women Take Love More Seriously?

Dear Miss Dix—My husband is very anxious for children, but I don't want any. Bringing them into the world involves a lot of suffering and danger on the woman's part and after that she has practically to devote her life to them for the next 10 or 12 years. They cost a lot of money to rear and then like as not they turn out badly and are a disgrace to you instead of a comfort. I can't see where children pay. —M. B. P.

Answer—That is because you have never had any children, Mrs. M. B. P. By the same token a blind man does not know how beautiful a sunset may be nor does a deaf man realize how ravishing the music of a symphony orchestra is. Once you held your own baby in the crook of your arm and felt the thrill of its little hand clinging to yours you would know how children pay.

Of course, they cost a lot. So does everything else that is worth having. There is nothing for nothing in this hard-boiled old world of ours. We have always got to settle with the fiddler. We have to pay for even living, and if we sat down and figured out everything to the last detail perhaps we would not find it worthwhile to live at all.

You have to pay for the food you eat by your labor in buying and cooking it. You have to pay for your home by never-ending labor in keeping it clean and sweet. You have to pay for your husband by making many sacrifices of your own taste and comfort. You have to pay for your friends by courtesy and consideration. For everything you get you have to pay.

Children won't cost you more than any other luxury, except for the great initial price of child birth. That is a great price, but it is one that a brave woman faces with a high heart for the reward it brings her, while as for the danger, it is scarcely to be regarded in these days when we think nothing of risking our necks in automobiles and crossing the streets and going up in airplanes.

As to why children are worth while, consider these points: First, they are the greatest pleasure in life. You may see nothing particularly fascinating and alluring in a little, red-faced, squirming infant that belongs to someone else, but when it is your own baby you will see ineffable beauty in a countenance that looks like a cross between a cream cheese and a lobster and you will spend hours in which you are thrilled at watching it breathe.

Every whimper that it makes will be the music of the spheres in your ears, and when it says "mama" for the first time you will be so excited you will want to have it broadcast over the radio to a waiting world. Seeing a little child's mind develop is the most fascinating sport that you will ever engage in, and if you miss that you will have cut yourself out of one of the greatest pleasures in life.

Next, children pay because they give us an interest in life. When you get along toward middle age and after you will have sort of lost interest in yourself. You won't be as keen about having things or doing things as you used to be. Your story is told and you know that you will never do any of the wonderful things that you used to dream of doing when you were young.

But if you have children you can live your life over again in them. You will find it is a lot more fun to buy frilly clothes for a pretty young daughter than to spend your money on finery for a fat, middle-aged old woman who looks about the same in everything. You will get lots more kick out of buying a sport car for a young son who will be simply wild over it than you will out of getting this year's model for yourself. And you will believe that John and Mary are geniuses who are going to make the grade that you never could quite negotiate.

Listen to mother brag about Mary's beaux. Listen to father boast of the success that John is making. They still have an interest in life, something vital that the childless people haven't got.

Children pay because they are the real tie that binds a husband and wife together. Many a woman's hold on her husband is through her children. But for them he would leave her and go to some woman who is more truly his mate than she is. And if a husband and wife really love each other, then the children make them truly one, because they are bound together by a vital interest that they have in common and by the memories of cradles they have bent over, of sick beds they have watched beside, of a million hopes and fears and ambitions they have shared together.

Oh, yes, children pay, Mrs. M. B. P., even in a financial sense. Look about you and see the old parents who but for their children would be in almshouses. Look about you and see the old parents whose children are making their last days sweet and beautiful with love and devotion and who but for them would be lonely old men and women at the mercy of hirelings.

The woman who refuses to bear children robs herself. She robs her country and she robs her husband. She cheats on nature. If she did not mean to give her husband children she had no right to marry. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married eight years to a man who is very kind and devoted to me and whom I love very much, but during all of this time we have lived in one housekeeping room. It isn't because we cannot afford something better, as my husband makes a good salary and we have no children, but he has found that I am tidy and can get along this way and although he is always promising to give me a home, he never does it. Now living in this way has got on my nerves and I feel that I can't stand it any longer. So what would you advise? —RODAH.

Answer—That is easy, Rodah. You have the remedy in your own hands. Quit being neat and orderly and keeping everything tucked away. Let your one room get so cluttered up with the cooking utensils and the dishes and the food and the clothes that your husband will have to have a search warrant to find a clean shirt, and it will get on his nerves and he will get you a better place to live.

I attribute much of the divorce and domestic infelicity of the day to the little two-by-four flats and housekeeping rooms in which so many people are forced to live. Also, it is responsible for the hoodlumism of the modern children.

People who have to live crowded up together with no privacy, no space for their personal belongings, no room of their own to which they can go and be quiet and get themselves together are bound to irritate each other and rub each other the wrong way. We need elbow room spiritually just as much as we do physically, and the reason there used to be more happy homes than there are now was because they were bigger homes.

There are times, Rodah, when patience ceases to be a virtue. That hour has struck for you. Tell your husband that if he wants an amiable and pleasant wife he will have to get you a real home with plenty of closet space that is big enough to be happy in.—DOROTHY DIX.

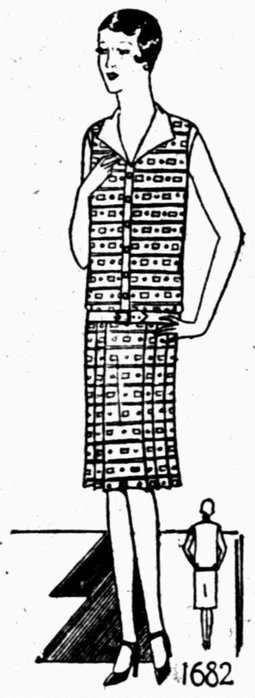

Dear Miss Dix—Who takes love more seriously, men or women? —K. T.

Answer—According to the poet, "man's love is of man's life a thing apart, 'tis womans' whole existence."

But you can't answer that question definitely. It all depends on the individual man and woman, but as a general thing I think women love more than men do. —DOROTHY DIX.

Bone Diggers Hunt Relics in New Field

ABILENE, Texas, May 16.—(AP)—Long an object of study by geologists, the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos river in Kent county has attracted the attention of archaeologists, who hope to find there evidence of pre-Pueblo culture.

Dr. W. C. Holden, of McMurry college has led an expedition into Kent county, where two ancient Indian villages were excavated. Many artifacts were found, but no permanent habitations. What was at first believed to be pre-Pueblo masonry when excavated turned out to be a natural formation. The villages were of an agricultural people, believed to be very old as there was two feet of soil on the ruins and it could have been deposited only by aeolian action. Fragments of pottery similar to pre-Pueblo art was uncovered.

Kent county is a virgin field for the archaeologist. The nearest known ruins are 300 miles to the north.

AT YOUR DEALER'S

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, May 15. (US)—Advertisements for lonely people, matrimonial enterprises that get husbands for girls, who can't get them for themselves. And now that spring is here they seem to be redoubling their efforts.

Women who wouldn't touch a stray dog, much less let him into their kitchen, write letters (object matrimony) to men they never saw. They don't know but what they are born in asylums and are penitentiary bound. And strange enough, they don't seem to care.

I answered one of the "come on ads" to see what the prize box contained. You send a dollar (cut rate for spring) and you get a long list of names. Then you do your own work. You write and they write and you meet and whatever happens is no responsibility of the dollar man.

And on this application for membership to a club that guarantees to keep sending you names till you get a husband, they ask if you are married. Just among other things. Not so important I imagine, but it goes along with the color of your eyes and your religion, your street number and your income.

The man who runs the "club," says he can't give you free service any more than a merchant can give you "free merchandise." You send a dollar. You don't see the club founder, you don't see anybody. It's all in the dark. Your letter even goes to a private post-office box. And needless to say you never see your dollar again. The only difference between this and picking your own names at random, without the dollar, is that the club steers you up against the same kind of a cayuse as yourself maybe more. And what you'd want of him I can't imagine.

The letter tells me that some of the "members" have "pleasing bank accounts" and others have merely "their sunny dispositions and good looks." Maybe some of the girls had "pleasing bank accounts" till they met the men with only good looks and nice dispositions. Who knows!

The unfunny part of it is that these mysterious club organizers deal with women who are affiliated with loneliness, and who are not capable of looking after themselves. They make no investigations of members except to know their income, the color of their eyes and a few such minor details, and for some reason or other, those with limited imaginations think that because it's called "a club" it's different from picking up somebody in a city park.

But as long as they are aborning them one a minute, somebody will keep thinking of ways to get at least $1 out of each of them.

The lonely women can go to church and meet friends, or they can go to settlement houses and find out how to meet people in the same walks of life who need companionship. But anybody who takes a dollar to introduce you to somebody they never saw—

Well—the insane asylums are crowded and I suppose it can't be helped. But the way to find out if you are crazy is to get lonely, read some of these blind advertisements and see if you have an urge to write seriously to one of them. If you have, visit an alienist.

You're welcome. Remember "the best things in life are free."

COWBOY SEES VALUES GROW

'Buck' Richards Once Sold West Texas 'Plot'

BRADY, Texas, May 16. (AP)—A Texas cowpuncher who 33 years ago invested his savings of 25 years to purchase a half a section of land, but sold it because "it wasn't enough to graze a cow pony," today ranks as one of Texas' foremost breeders of registered Hereford cattle.

The erstwhile cowpuncher is F. M. "Buck" Richards of Brady, owner of a 12,000-acre ranch, and a thousand pure-bred whitefaced steers.

Richards has no apologies to make for his present ranch holdings, consisting of some of the best pasturage in the state. Besides his registered cattle, he owns a thousand long haired Angora goats of excellent breed type, and a hundred pedigreed sheep.

The quiet unassuming breeder sprang into prominence four years ago when he ventured his first exhibit to the Fort Worth Fat Stock show—a carload of fattened Hereford calves—and won the championship award. Two years later he added grand champion to his laurels, when his calves were declared the best animals over every age and breed in the same show. Since then he has been a consistent winner in numerous other exhibitions.

"Buck" was born in Sherman, Texas, 78 years ago. At the age of 16, he landed his first cattle job near his home town. Within two years he was made "boss." He resigned this position, however, just before his 21st birthday and "hit the trail" for the Brady territory, where "at that time nobody owned land," the rancher said.

"There were no fences and the whole country was wide open. We put all of our money into cattle, and did not bother about paying land taxes—or income taxes either," he related.

Richards said he would not like to go back to those "good old days." It was the march of civilization which brought him prosperity, he added.

WICHITA MAN GAINED 20 LBS. BY TAKING ORGATONE

"It's Simply Amazing How Quickly This New Medicine Brought Me Relief," Says W. A. Roenfeldt

"Just give me Orgatone and you may have all the other medicines," said W. A. Roenfeldt residing at 118 Henrietta street, and owner of the W. A. Roenfeldt Auto Painting Co., 118 Henrietta street, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"Those who have not seen me since I began taking Orgatone," continued Mr. Roenfeldt, "would hardly know me on first sight. I have undergone such a change. Why, do you know, I actually gained 20 pounds and only took four bottles. It hardly sounds reasonable, but it's the truth.

"I had been suffering misery for 3 years with my stomach. Everything I would eat would just lay heavy on my stomach without digesting it. Then the food would sour and form gas until I was simply miserable from bloating. I had bilious and dizzy spells and got to the point where I was in a bad run-down condition. I was just about disgusted with taking medicine, for nothing seemed to help me and I thought my case was hopeless, but somehow, I decided to try Orgatone, when I heard everybody praising it so much.

"Well, sir, they haven't said half enough for this medicine. I have only taken four bottles so far, but it sure has fixed me up. All my stomach and indigestion troubles have disappeared. I am no longer dizzy and bilious, in fact I feel like a new man.

"I eat anything I want. It all tastes good and don't hurt me a particle. No more bloating or gas and no sign of a pain anywhere now. The truth of the matter is that I just feel good all over all the time now."

"I'll boost Orgatone the longest day I live and I only wish I could find words to express my gratitude for what this wonderful medicine has done for me."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Wichita Falls, exclusively by the Allison's Drug Co., under the personal direction of a special Orgatone nurse, who charges nothing for her theories on health and hygiene.—Adv.

"It's Quite a Distance, But MY Boys Can Make It"

IN June Cosmopolitan begins the Autobiography of Calvin Coolidge. You who have read Mr. Coolidge's human documents in Cosmopolitan will be glad to know that, in the same simple, human vein, he will tell the story of his entire career.

You will trace with him his pioneer ancestry and find forbears who show traces of Indian blood.

You will live with him in the five-room cottage in which he was born; you will gather with his neighbors in his father's country store, the annual rent of which was $40; you will meet the quarrelsome blacksmith who could throw a horse to the ground, but who was kind to the little boy; you will see the beautiful young mother concerning whom he has written an undying tribute.

In succeeding installments you will go with him to quaint Black River Academy; you will see him make his first oration.

You will follow him to Amherst and sit with him under spiritually minded professors. You will hear him tell of a college prank and, while he veils the culprit, you will suspect him of being guilty.

You will see him enter a law office and live as a law student, on $30 a month. You will bend with him over the books that molded his literary standards; you will see him win a gold medal for the best essay on "The Principles Fought for in the American Revolution."

You will see him meet Miss Goodhue and glimpse the romance which makes her Mrs. Calvin Coolidge. You will note with deep interest his affectionate words about his wife.

You will follow him through his career as Governor, through the dramatic Boston police strike, through the administration of President Harding—and into the White House.

Ray Long, Editor of Cosmopolitan, well describes Mr. Coolidge's narrative when he says, "It is one of the most touching and one of the most inspiring stories of our country ever penned."

We are crowding our presses to capacity each month in an effort to insure that all may get Cosmopolitan, but the demand grows constantly. The early buyer, however, is never disappointed! Get your June Cosmopolitan today.

DOCTOR TELLS BLAST HORROR

Physician Watches Wife Die In Agony From Gas

CHICAGO, May 16. (INS)—"She—she was horribly burned. The gas attacks the tissues—she was bleeding at the mouth and nose and eyes. She couldn't speak—but oh! God help her! She was conscious!

"She was conscious for two hours. For two hours I worked over her, there on the hospital lawn. And then—then, at the last—her raw, bleeding lips twisted themselves into a smile. And I felt her squeeze my hand, and—and so—she died."

That was the story told today upon his return here with the body of his wife, Florence, by Dr. William G. Epstein, one of the best known surgeons in St. Bernard's hospital and a survivor of the Cleveland clinic disaster.

Couple on Vacation

"My wife and I," he stated, "were on our vacation. We had left our two children, Mary Virginia, 8, and Billy, 6, at home with their nurse.

"We were on our way East, and stopped off in Cleveland on the spur of the moment. I wanted to visit the clinic there, and my wife decided to have her throat examined. She was not ill, but her throat had been troubling her, and she thought this was a good opportunity to have it looked over.

"I left her in the hospital, where she was to be examined, and I went out and went over to another building about 200 feet away. I was in there when the explosion occurred.

"It was a terrific blast. My first thought was for my wife. I ran like a madman to the hospital building. I could see the yellowish-black gas rolling out of the windows.

"I—I didn't know what it was, then—and I didn't care. All I knew—all I could think of—was that Florence was in there.

"There were screams—terrible screams—coming from the building. All around me, people were running towards the place.

"The discipline in the hospital must have been wonderful. Indeed, now that I think of it, it was even more than that—it was stark heroism.

Rescues Begin Quickly

"Remember, I was in a building only 200 feet away—and I was running like mad. Yet by the time I reached the entrance to the hospital—by the time I had covered those 200 feet—the rescue work already had begun and nurses, doctors and internes who had escaped the gas were staggering out with the victims.

"I rushed past them into the building. Luckily, I had been there before several times and knew my way around. I knew where to find my wife.

"I rushed into the room. She—she was lying on the floor. The cloud of gas had passed over her. She—her appearance—oh, it—it was too horrible to describe!

"That gas is awful stuff. It bites into the skin like acid—worse than acid, because acid at least is localized. This gas eats into the tissues—and eats and eats!

"And—and so I found her. Her mouth was bleeding—her eyes and nose were bleeding. She couldn't speak.

"'Florence! Florence!' I cried, and picked her up in my arms.

"She moaned—dreadfully.

"I carried her out onto the lawn outside the building. There were scores of others there already. The place was a welter of blood and strangled groans and screams.

"I—I could do nothing. I did everything—everything. I tell you—that I could do with the limited means at my command! I brought every ounce of ability—everything I ever learned or even heard of—to bear. It—oh, it was useless.

"I didn't—didn't even have a needle to—to ease her pain.

"Yes, there I was, in the very shadows of one of the best known hospitals in America—in the center of a city of nearly 2,000,000 people—me!—me, a surgeon! And my wife dying—dreadfully—and there wasn't anything I could do!"

"She—she knew that I was there. She was brave—so brave! And all around us there were other bodies lying out on the grass—and other kneeling figures like myself—helpless."

Eckener Turns Zeppelin Back

but that the crankshafts which controlled the two motors in the rear had snapped, and that we could make speed enough to "get to America by Sunday morning," as he put it.

We gazed at each other, alarmed, of course, but all trying to show some latent signs of courage. Mrs. Pierce, who had knitted her brows when she learned of the trouble, relieved us all with her sighing comment:

"Well, I had hoped to have Sunday breakfast, at least, with my husband and mother. I guess that's all off, now."

Of course, none of us could add another word, and as Dr. Eckener assured us that we could make our berth at Friedrichshafen safely, although at a slow rate of speed, we all quieted down and decided that "turn about was fair play," if not the best.

All Show Worry

Although we all showed some sign of worry, no one is really afraid, but there is bound to be a bit of nervousness exhibited in such a tense corner. Outside of the momentary shock, and the little running around that we all did, everything soon began to go smoothly on the Zeppelin itself.

We all gathered in the main saloon and stared at each other, and then all burst into nervous laughter. We sat around and discussed the incident, and all expressed appreciation of Dr. Eckener's advice and solicitude. That he wanted to turn back in the face of the disappointment such a defeat would mean to him, is a great gesture, and one that places the stamp of human service upon this great air commander.

High Sugar Tariff Advocates Are Heard

WASHINGTON, May 16. (AP)—Advocates of the proposed higher tariff of $2.40 a pound on Cuban sugar had their inning today in the house as the first week of general debate on the Republican tariff bill ended. The measure is not expected to be taken up for amendment until next week.

Rush for Marriage Licenses Begins As Date for Sterner Law Nears

The first gust in the inflation of the marriage license market, expected in the last few weeks before the new license law goes into effect on June 12, was noted in the office of Miss Elizabeth Hall, couny clerk, Thursday when eight certificates were issued with in a few hours.

The new law requires that licenses be obtained three days before the wedding itself can take place and calls for a physician's certificate of health for the groom. Miss Hall has also been informed that the licenses under the new law will cost prospective bridegrooms $2 instead of the present $1.50, but she has not yet verified this rumor of a rise in prices.

Both the very young and the comparatively mature were among the applicants for admission into the state of matrimony Thursday. A boy of 20 and a girl of 17 applied and were admitted, after the parents of the couple had personally appeared to give their consent. Then there was another "boy" of 67 with his 47 year old bride, this time from Oklahoma, whose names were inscribed on the list.

Although Miss Hall is not planning to secure extra help or take any other measures to meet the demand, she admitted Thursday that she is anticipating a run on the marriage license book within the next six weeks, with a rather dull season ahead after that.

Two Young Artists Delight Audience In Jos. Rabinowitz's Farewell Recital

By FRIEDA van EMDEN
Written Epecially for The Record News

Josehp Rabinowitz, giving a farewell recital, before continuing his studies in New York, played to a large and very appreciative audience at the Junior college auditorium Thursday night. For once the town has backed up one of its own promising artists, showing interest in his welfare and in his art. It was a very satisfying recital Joe Rabinowitz, the violinist and our own young contralto Harriett Bradley set a standard for the town. We are getting beyond the pure money-making stage, the second generation is finding the leisure for true artistic development. Wichita Falls had the good luck to attract some outstanding teachers some years ago and the result of their pioneering bore fruit last night.

Admirable Tone

I feel rather sentimental about Jo, because going downtown in the morning I would meet him half way up Tenth street rain or shine on his bicycle, carrying his violin to take a lesson. One particularly cold and sleety morning I rememebr stopping him, to ask him, if he would not leave his violin in my car, so I could bring it to his teacher, Mr. Nelson, for him. So I felt rather personal satisfaction, when I heard him play so beautifully last night.

His first number, the "Sonata in A Major" by Handel, opened his program and from the first one was impressed by his sostenuto, demonstating clearly that he has the rare gift of fully bringing out the singing quality of his instrument. His tone throughout was admirable. His execution in the next number the "Cavatina" by Hollaender showed a mature security, rather surprising in so young an artist.

His next number the "Czipra" gave a chance to show some technical brilliancy.

In the "Legenda" by Wieniawski, beloved by all concert artists, his infallible double-stops elicited favorable comment.

His rendition of both "Liebesleid" and "Chanson Triste" showed a spark of true romance. In "Elli, Elli," arranged by Seidel, he made one feel the despairing tragedy in this age-old melody.

He closed with the ever popular "Liebesfreud," playing it in a dashing style.

After his first group he gave as an encore Kreisler's "Old Refrain."

Accompanist Praised

In Mrs. Pauline Slaughter he had artistic support. She has played often with him and knows how to adopt herself as a background to a violin, which is the highest compliment, that can be paid to an accompanist.

Miss Harriett Bradley's voice seemed to fit in with a violin program. It is so smooth and even, of such surprising richness and purity. It is the kind of voice that lingers in one's memory. She gave but three numbers and as an encore sang "Trees," which her teacher Schumann-Heink also sang for us a few weeks ago. Miss Bradley is leaving Wichita Falls for a while, just like Joe Rabinowitz. Miss Bradley was accompanied by Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff, who always does excellent work.

The Rev. Dr. Schwab introduced the two young artists to their audience and laid emphasis upon the credit that goes to Mr. Ethel Allen Nelson as a teacher.

Joe Rabinowitz will play at the recital of Mr. Nelson's pupils May 27.

JURY FAILS TO SETTLE SUIT

Sherrod Ranch Case Again Ends in Mistrial

The third trial of a suit brought by the City National Bank against Eugene Sherrod, seeking the cancellation of a deed to the 1,400 acres of the Sherrod ranch, ended in another mistrial Thursday when Judge P. A. Martin dismissed a deadlocked jury.

The case was remanded for a new trial on an appeal from the original verdict, returned in favor of the plaintiff. The second trial resulted in a hung jury and the third met the same result Thursday.

Judge Martin was reluctant to release the jurors, and excused them after he learned that the vote stood six to six on three of the four issues involved and four to eight on the fourth. Individual members of the body joined the foreman in declaring that any further effort at a decision was hopeless.

The bank is seeking the cancellation of a deed of the ranch land made to Mrs. Sherrod, alleging in indebtedness with a prior claim. The defense was based largely on the Mr. Sherrod's assertion that he deeded the land to his wife in payment of a debt he owed her for stenographic and other business services.

Rickard's Effects Go Under Hammer

Today it was Day who presided at the sale of Tex's household effects, the furniture he had hoped to install in a "real home in Florida."

Tex's famous chair made of 12 steer horns, his steel desk, made for the late President Harding, the head of an Amazon head-hunter, and his autographed photographs are some of the items that are to go under the hammer.

'Sunshine' Dress Rehearsal Shows Thorough Preparation of Cast

Advance reservations reported by the ticket sales committee Thursday night indicated that the musical comdy, "Sunshine," which is to be presented at the Memorial auditorium Friday night under the auspices of the Optimist club, will be given to an unusually large audience.

The dress rehearsal of the production was held in the auditorium Thursday night and lent material support to statements that have been made recently by Optimist club officials attesting the thorough preparation of the cast under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Street Orr.

Double Romance

"Sunshine," as it will be presented Friday night, is Mrs. Orr's revision of an interpretation originated by William B. Hare. Spoken parts are much more extensive than those usually heard in musical comedy, and contribute a well-defined plot which is said to have adequate continuity, culminating in the evolution of a double romance.

The three-act play has its setting on the lawn of the Sunshine sanitarium in the vicinity of New York. Its principals represent certain prominent types of sufferers, each apparently impressed with the peculiar merits of his own particular ailment.

Baldwin Montgomery has been cast as Buddy Brady, whose arm failed under too strenuous activity on the diamond and placed him in position to suffer a heart attack. Mora Katherine Douglas portrays a nurse who has been charged with the care of H. O. Rupnow's Mr. Butternip, who liked bonded stuff. Paul Barnett will impersonate Major Kellicut, whose outstanding characteristic is the "root of all evil." Mrs. Bunch McGann, who features the well-known "organ recital," will be played by Florence Hawkins Inge. Other principals are Mary Jo Ellis, Mable Edmonds Hines, Walden Spencer, Ellen Beauchamp Trotten, Jennie Louise Hindman, Lucile Rivers Hepderson, Clarice Pitman and Geraldine Jackson. Paul Putty and Rex Curtis will be ring bearers in the finals, Divie Potter Chenault and Eloise Curtis flower girls, and Cornelia Conner and Roberts Fisher, train bearers.

Following the dress rehearsal, Mrs. Orr expressed appreciation not only of the preparation made by the principals, but for the large chorus which is to be used.

"Frankly, I never had the pleasure of working with a more beautiful or intelligent group of girls than the young ladies who comprise the ballet in 'Sunshine,'" commented Virginia Street Orr, the director, in discussing the progress of "Sunshine" Thursday. "They are positively beautiful, every one of them; graceful, and highly intelligent. It is a pleasure to work with them and I am sure that the chorus work in 'Sunshine' is going to be one of the biggest hits ever registered in Wichita Falls."

The members of the "Sunshine Chorus" are Zaidee McKinney, Babetta Jospeh, Don Ruth Coffee, Fern Holstein, Adonell Massie, Lois Hulsey, Genevieve Fritz, Helen Brookins, Marguerite Holland, Dorothy Allison, Neva Hodges, Doris Brown, Dolores Peavy, Louise Carpenter, Cecelia Terrell, Edna Bobo, Mary Catherine Gould, Reva Ray Brown, Mabelle Moore, Carrie Marlowe, Katherine Hawley, Kathleen Colligan, Betty Love Rugeley, Goldie Coombs, Evelyn Johnson, Dorothy Steiner, Frances Gaskin, Dorothy Parker, Helen Moulder, Phoebe Jane Filgo, Lucille Harper and Wilma Brown.

A large number of persons who have bought tickets for the performance have not yet exchanged those tickets for reserved seat checks, according to Ira D. Brown, Optimist club secretary. He urged that such purchasers call at the Renfro Drug store, Eighth and Scott, Friday and secure reservations. Net proceeds of the production are to be used in carrying out the under-privileged boys' work program of the Optimist club.

Are You Run Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals.

Mr. Joseph A. Culver, of 812 S. Main St., Muskogee, Okla., says: "I was a nervous wreck and forced myself to work and eat. I felt like quitting work before the day was up. On taking Tanlac, my appetite picked up so I could eat anything, soon slept well and gained 10 lbs."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, pains, nausea, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, barks and herbs, nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. HE CAN'T EAT MEDALS

Daily Editorial

IN 1923, Michael Donaldson had eleven cents, an insatiate appetite and no job in sight.

Business couldn't use him—Mike was too nervous. Slamming doors and sudden noises upset his equilibrium—a hang-over, as it were, from certain experiences in foreign parts.

Perhaps some of your friends returned from the same trip without the calm and poise, or all the legs and arms and eyes they carried across seas.

Donaldson, as you doubtlessly don't recall, got messed up while salvaging six gun-smashed men on a French hillside.

He also got various decorations, congressional mention and a special parade at Governor's Island—none of which he needed half as badly as steady employment.

But governments, especially ours, have a habit of forgetting that heroes can't subsist on glory.

It's much cheaper to pay national debts of obligation with citations, bronze disks and lapel buttons.

The system leaves so much more money available for pork-barrel postoffices and dredging the creek at Wambasuti.

Consequently, no student of Washington's legislative trends is surprised to learn how Lieut. Dan Edwards, acclaimed by legion vote as the supreme hero of the great war, recently broke down on the streets after pounding the pavements in search of work.

Edwards also discovered that there is no nourishment in hurrahs, resolutions and bits of ribbon.

Pawn-brokers were long ago aware of that.

At almost any sale of unredeemed pledges, so minded folks may purchase for a few pennies, mementoes which courage has gathered on every field of valor, from the Pathan Passes to Belleau Wood.

THERE COMES a time when desperation can't afford the insignias of distinction, notably when rents are overdue and stomach walls are rubbing together.

Dan Edwards might have staved off extremity for at least a week by dickering with the junk-man—he owned enough fancy metal to tide over thus far.

A little while back, the outstanding ambition of high commands seemed concentrated on loading him down with crosses.

France gave him the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre with Palms and the Medaille Militaire.

Britain, Belgium, Italy, Serbia, Portugal and Roumania fast followed suit.

With nine assorted bayonet and gunshot wounds, he held an advance position, without food, water or comrades, for three appalling days. And after escaping from the hospital, rejoining his outfit at Soissons, where, despite the loss of an arm and a leg and with twenty additional body wounds, he killed and captured four each of the enemy.

They brought home what was left of him and, in compensation, Uncle Sam added the Congressional Medal of Honor, Wild Bill Donovan and Sergeant Alvin York got the other ones. Which goes to show what exclusive affairs these are.

However, they don't confer the privilege of eating free, or buying shoes, smokes and overcoats on special credit terms.

Likewise, they aren't passkeys to private offices or recommendations for civil promotion.

In fact, frat pins seem much more effective, and a kind word from a ward-heeler or congressman apparently goes farther than the goldenest note on the trumpet of military fame.

The record doesn't include the double cross with Edwards' collection—but his callous countrymen have, none the less, pinned it on him.

Shame on a democracy that won't furnish opportunity when a proud, mutilated veteran and international celebrity pleads a chance to earn his living without recourse to a tin cup or a tray of shoe strings.

The fly, as a germ carrier, is said to be capable of doing more harm than a mad elephant.

America is a country where a young man takes a course in pharmacy in order to be able to sell gooseliver sandwiches.

Statistics offered by Northwestern university show the men are dumber than the girls. Are there no good-looking co-eds at that school?

Dr. Charles Olivier says New York City might be wiped out in an instant if chance happened to direct a meteor to that spot. There's an idea for Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

Our Industrial Era Has Some Dark Pockets

THIS COUNTRY has fallen into the habit, lately, of gauging its well being strictly by industrial statistics. If the figures show that factories are busy, employment is plentiful and wages and dividends are high, we take it for granted that everything is all right with us. It sometimes seems as if the only calamity that could really touch our hearts would be an industrial setback.

Since figures of that kind are so all-important, therefore, you might take time to look at a few industrial statistics that were given a group of senators in Washington the other day.

There arrived in the capital city a group of workers from the southern textile mills, ready to tell about their work and their pay. Among them was one Jennie Green, an underfed little girl who looked about eight years, but who said she was 14.

Jennie is a wage earner—a spinner in the textile mills. She works 60 hours a week, and is paid precisely $4.95 every Saturday.

Then there was a grown man—Robert Litolff, who has worked in the mills for 30 years. The high mark of his career came when he got a weekly wage of $13.10. Lately, however, he has been working part time and drawing $5.40 a week.

Then there was Myrtle Sproud, who is 20 and who works 60 hours a week for pay that averages between $8 and $11; and there was Mrs. Bertha Crawford, who supports three children by working 61 hours a week for $16.62.

Those, if you please, are industrial statistics of 1929. They do not look so nice, perhaps, alongside of the glittering figures of the automobile trade, the steel trade, the aluminum industry or the gorgeous rows of figures by which the department of commerce charts our ever-rising total of exports; but they belong there, anyhow, and they are probably the most important of the bunch.

They are important for this reason; they prove that there is something very terribly wrong somewhere—a matter that our worship of statistics tends to make us overlook.

In many ways our industrial civilization is a thing to be proud of. Our absorption in the figures which reflect its greatness is largely justified, since there are indications that it will be able to solve some pressing social problems for us. But it has some very dark pockets in it, as this business of the textile workers shows.

Our biggest job is to tackle those dark pockets and make them as light as the other spaces of our factory system. We cannot afford to let them stay as they are.

William Green on Labor Conditions

WILLIAM GREEN is president of the American Federation of Labor. He is a staunch Baptist, a staunch prohibitionist, a staunch Republican and a very able successor to the late Samuel Gompers.

William Green appeared before a senate investigating committee. Speaking of labor trouble in southern industrial centers, he said: "Textile operatives work from 50 to 60 hours a week in southern mills. They receive low wages. They are compelled to strike to bring about higher standards of living. Their organizers were driven out of the mill towns by representative citizens, soldiers armed with machine guns terrorized the strikers and altogether the conditions are not lovely."

Lest we forget, these striking textile workers are not foreigners. They are not the children of foreigners. They are not the grandchildren of foreigners. They are the descendants of the pioneers who landed on these shores long before the coming of the war for American independence.

Old slave states are becoming industrial states. They are becoming great manufacturing states and now the ancient war is on in these former slave states between the employers and their white employes. There is a new South, there is a new civilization, but the problems that await solution are as old as the industrial age of man.

Garner and the Farmer

MINORITY LEADER JOHN N. GARNER of Texas is potshotting the Republican tariff bill. He potshotted Chairman Halley of the Republican ways and means committee in a running debate as to the merits of the bill. This is what he said to the chairman while debate on the merits and demerits of the bill was uppermost:

"If you had left the rates where they were on manufactures and raised agriculture rates to what they ought to be I would have voted for this bill; but you gave agriculture one or two tidbits and it will cost the farmer $100,000,000 to $500,000,000 a year more to buy what he will have to have."

Lawmaking is getting to be a hazardous job. If there is a Doubting Thomas he is advised to watch the daily performances of the national solons and then get a close-up of the state solons under the big dome in the city of Austin. National solons ignored the president in constructing the tariff as well as the farm relief measures. State solons have ignored the recommendations of the governor of the commonwealth.

Conditions are hazy under the big dome of the national capitol; conditions are amazing under the big dome of the state capitol.

GETTING HIM ON THE TELEPHONE

("Telephonic communication with airplanes, railroad trains and ships at sea soon will be a reality."—News item.)

PHILLIPS

Business man: Miss Klotzmeyer, see if you can get Mr. Wrexingham—Guthrie D. H. Wrexingham—on the telephone.

Secretary: I tried his home, sir, and he isn't there.

Business man: Did they say where he could be found?

Secretary: No sir.

Business man: Well, ring up the Twentieth Century. He said something about making a cross-country railroad trip.

Secretary (after a brief interval): I just got the train and Mr. Wrexingham is not aboard.

Business man: He's a great fellow for taking ocean trips without much notice . . . always sails on the Majestic. You might get the Majestic on the phone and see if he's there. She's about in midocean now.

(Five minutes elapse).

Business man (impatiently): Well, haven't you got the Majestic yet?

Secretary: Not yet, sir.

Business man: This telephone service is awful. Fancy a ship being only about 1,500 miles at sea and a long wait like this to get her by telephone! Well, cancel the call, and ring up the transcontinental airplane and see if by any chance he is there.

Secretary: Which transcontinental plane?

Business man: Oh, telephone 'em all. It's very important that I reach him.

Secretary (after about 15 minutes): I've rung them all, sir, and Mr. Wrexingham is not aboard. They say there's a Mr. Breckenridge, a Guthrie R. Breckenridge, aboard the Great Gull over Omaha. He's a little bored and would relish a chance to talk to anybody.

Business man: Don't be silly. I want Mr. Wrexingham. I have it! Try the Meadowbrook club.

Secretary (presently): I've just had the steward on the phone and he says Mr. Wrexingham is out playing polo.

Business man: Good! Get him on the phone at once.

Secretary: But how?

Business man: Telephone his horse.

Secretary (after an inquiry): It's impossible to get him, sir.

Business man: Why?

Secretary: There are no telephones on the horses.

Business man (indignantly): That's a nice situation! What good is the telephone service in this country, anyhow?

The Complaint

The United States navy has developed a shell that will show colors when it makes a hit. You can almost hear a disgruntled enemy admiral complaining, "Hey! What's the idea hitting me with red? I ordered light blue."

"Well," says Ima Dodo, speaking of the telephonic communication between airplanes and offices, "the phone booths on an airship ought to be cooler anyhow."

Speaking about new clubs, another one was formed this week which eclipses in its exclusiveness, so far as the theatrical world is concerned, the organization known as "The Tormentors." The latest club is called "The Hustlers" and my spies inform me that among those who have signed the charter membership roll are Arch Selwyn, Sam Harris, George White, Adolph Zukor, Jesse Lasky, Rae Goetz, and Dr. Lou Shur.

This latest Broadway club has some strange rules. The applicant must agree to attend every weekly meeting. Initiation demands that he shall truthfully answer each question—which accounts for the small membership to date. And it is a sin against the club to attend without the companionship of a woman. Lou Holtz refused to do this, maintaining that a woman is only a woman, but a good club is a refuge from the weaker, but persisting sex, and as a result he was fired from membership.

A friend takes me to task for my constant and consistent references to the poor theatrical season in New York. He claims it was not a poor season.

All I know is what is dished up to me by the experts. For instance, the latest compilation by Variety says that 129 plays were produced in New York up to and including March 10 and that no fewer than 90 of them were total failures. The figures are based upon financial returns, for, as St. John Ervine said, it would be impossible to make a list of successes and failures of any value on any other basis.

Naturally, I am not a treatrical doctor and do not know why the season was a failure. My guess, reiterated in this column before, is that all the failures were bad shows—although it does not necessarily follow that all the successes were good ones.

Also, I have a suspicion that the theatrical public is getting sick and tired of shows which base their merit on realism, on doctrines, on "ideas" and on everything else but the premise that a show, like any work of art, should reflect life in an entertaining manner.

Elsie Janis, they say, is going to quit the stage for writing. It is a sorry decision. We have today too many people who gained a personality in one field trying to exploit it in the literary field.

Writing is not the legitimate enterprise for everybody. Miss Janis may be a splendid actress but she has not at any time demonstrated a particular aptitude for writing. Perhaps, though, she has been encouraged by reading all the stories ostensibly written by baseball stars, prize fight champions, polo experts, and admirals of the navy.

PURCHASE OF BRIDGES URGED

Holloway Proposes Joint Action by States

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 16. (INS)—Purchase of existing interstate toll bridges by joint action of Oklahoma and Texas was recommended by Gov. William J. Holloway in his message delivered to the legislature convening in special session today.

Construction of additional bridges by joint interstate action should be authorized, the governor suggested, the new structures to be free to public use or operated as toll bridges until the construction cost is reimbursed.

Specific legislation permitting reciprocal recognition of automobile licenses issued by other states was recommended, this growing out of a current situation along the Kansas-Oklahoma border where local officers have been systematically arresting out-of-state truck drivers who cross the state lines daily.

Other subjects opened up by the governor include judicial reform, runoff primary, consolidation of control boards for state schools highway legislation generally, butaxation, creation of a state tax commission, pardon and parole board.

A latter special session will be called, the governor promised, for submission of a constitutional amendment authorizing a huge bond issue for road construction.

Purification of Water At Hollis Is Planned

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., May 16.—Hollis is looking forward for pure city water again soon. The presence of bacteria known as "Colon Bicili" was found by sending a sample to Oklahoma City for a careful analysis. This bacteria was thought to be caused by decay of broken root particles when willow roots were removed from the water collecting lines at the reservoir, at the Tea Cross springs where Hollis gets its water supply.

When the city councilmen found that the city water was infected they immediately ordered a chlorinator which will be installed as soon as possible.

Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, May 19:

Sunday—Breakfast: Eggs poached in milk, served on melba toast, stewed figs. Lunch: Escalloped potatoes, asparagus, salad of head lettuce. Dinner: Baked chicken, shredded wheat biscuit dressing, buttered beets, spinach, salad of raw celery, pineapple sponge.

Monday—Breakfast: Crisp waffle, with a little maple syrup, one coddled egg, *apple sauce. Lunch: Pint of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates. Dinner: Minced chicken in tomato jelly (chicken left from Sunday), fresh green peas, cooked greens, salad of grated carrots, cup custard.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins, with peanut butter, stewed prunes. Lunch: Stewed tomatoes (left from last night), baked egg plant, salad of raw spinach. Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, string beans, mashed turnips, salad of grated raw carrots on lettuce, peach whip.

Wednesday—Breakfast: French omelet, melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch: Oranges as desired. Dinner: Broiled fillet of sole, green peas, McCoy salad, (tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce), no dessert.

Thursday — Breakfast: Berries (canned and drained of all sugary juice), glass of milk. Lunch: Baked or broiled potato, cooked lettuce, ripe olives. Dinner—Roast mutton, baked ground beets and carrots, molded vegetable salad (green peas and string beans), ice cream.

Friday—Breakfast: Baked eggs, retoasted shredded wheat biscuit, pear sauce. Lunch: Raw apples as desired, with handful of pecans. Dinner: Baked fillet of fish, asparagus, salad of sliced tomatoes, plain jello or jell-well, no cream.

Saturday—Breakfast: Cottage cheese, pineapple, re-toasted triscuit. Lunch: Spaghetti, boiled in plain water and seasoned only with butter, string beans, salad of raw celery. Dinner: Roast pork, cooked spinach, steamed carrots, salad of shredded raw cabbage and parsley, apricot whip.

*Apple sauce: Quarter and core, but do not peel, the desired number of apples. Place in earthen or glass baking dish without any water, cover tightly, and bake on the shelf of a slow oven until soft enough to whip into a foamy mixture. Set aside to cool, and place in the icebox until ready to serve. This slow, even cooking brings out the natural fruit sugar, and apples prepared in this manner are much superior in flavor and food value to those which are hurriedly boiled on top of the stone, and to which sugar and water are added.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Urine Sometimes Not Clear

Question—Isabel asks: "What could cause the urine to be clear and a straw color one day and the next day to be quite thick and milky? I feel all right. What vegetables are best for the kidneys, also what fruits?"

Answer—The change in the color of the urine depends upon the kind of food you use and the amount of liquid taken. Sometimes a large amount of phosphates appear in the urine because of nervousness. These do not come from any particular food, but make the urine look milky. There are no foods which can be considered "best" for the kidneys. The main thing is to stop injuring the kidneys through making them eliminate too many poisons created from inharmonious food combinations.

Ptosis of the Stomach

Question—Mrs. R. H. asks: "What is a ptosis of the stomach, what causes same, and what can be done for such a condition?"

Answer—Ptosis of the stomach simply means prolapsus of the stomach. This is caused through a weakening of the abdominal muscles and a stretching of the ligaments attached to the stomach. A cure can be achieved through strengthening the abdominal muscles and increasing the functional tone of all the abdominal organs.

Radium and X-Ray Treatments

Question—H. J. G. writes: "I wish you would explain to me about radium treatments. Of what benefit are they? Also, what benefit is derived from an X-ray treatment, where you lie on a couch with your clothing on?"

Answer—Radium and X-ray treatments are given in an attempt to cure abnormal growths, such as tumors and cancers. Such treatments have not been highly successful and, in fact, results have been very disappointing. The X-ray treatment can be given through the clothing, but this is seldom done.

Olney Men Discuss Street Light Plans

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, May 16.—Two joint meetings of the street light committees from the city council and the chamber of commerce were held in the chamber of commerce rooms here Tuesday, the first meeting in the morning and a second Tuesday evening. The committees are endeavoring to lay out a street light system that will light up every street in Olney.

The proposed system will include about 100 lights with approximately one-half this number of uniform standards. The remaining lights will be of the overhead suspension or mast-arm type. The exact number of each was not fully decided upon at the meetings Tuesday.

Another meeting will be held Friday at which time a representative from the light company will attend. The committee will attempt to enter into contract for the system at that time.

SPUDDERS BAT SHEA OFF HILL

Jim's Men Score 5 in 1st; Ump Banishes Newnam

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Pat Newnam did some bad guessing yesterday. The skipper of the San Antonio Indians selected Pat Shea to oppose the Spudders in the opener of the three-game series out at the lot. That was Newnam's first mistake, for the Gallowaymen hammered the veteran righthander off the hill in the very first inning. The Spudders tallied five runs, thanks to six base smacks, five off Shea, in that hectic first round, to eventually win the pastime 7 to 5.

Mr. Newnam's second piece of poor guessing was in saying too much, or saying whatever he did say too vehemently, to Umpire Donnelly. For that breach of etiquette, which occurred in the Spudders' big first round, he was banished from the ball park.

They'll Serve Tea Next

It seems, judging by the haste in which the umpires chase managers and players, that J. Doak Roberts has instructed his arbiters to rule with a hand of iron. Unnecessary bickering slows up play and is not to be tolerated, of course. But the manager has the right to hustle out on the field and ask what's what and why and it seemed that Pat had legitimate cause to talk to Mr. Donnelly.

Anyhow, passing years evidently have NOT mellowed Pat Newnam.

Glaser, another righthander, stopped the Spudders after one hit had been made off him in the first round which scored a runner put on base by Shea. In fact, only six hits were made off Glaser the rest of the route. But two of those blows were bunched in the fifth to score a tally and loose work by his comrades gave the Spuds their final marker in the eighth.

Milt Steengrafe toiled for Jim Galloway and for the first time in several starts got some decent support. The Spudders played errorless behind Milt's very good chucking, the second consecutive day they did not have a boot.

Dick Sullivan Stars

Except for the seventh round, when the Indians made four hits to tally a cluster of three runs, and the ninth, in which they counted one, Milt breezed along with his big lead, pitching cannily and well. This despite 10 knocks made by the hostiles.

The home gang hammered out 12 hits with every one of them except Fitzgerald getting a blow. Dashing Dick Sullivan clouted a double and single, drove home two runners and scored a pair himself, thus accounting for four of the seven tallies.

Andrews, Bennett and Swenson also each banged a brace of knocks.

Ballew was the leader of the Tribal offensive, with three hits, including a double. Meyers and Glaser smacked two hits apiece and Jim Riley smote a triple that scored two comrades.

Indians Score in First

The Indians tallied in the first inning. Ballew doubled to left after one was out. Riley walked. Both runners advanced while Andrews was throwing out Wetzel. Nason hit safely to deep short, scoring Ballew and sending Riley to third. Riley was out at the plate on an attempted double steal, Crouch to Benton to Crouch.

Galloway's men made six hits count for five runs in their half, in which Shea was batted off the hill and Newman banished. Benton led off with a single to left. Andrews dumped a hit which Donnelly called fair, advancing Benton to second. It was then that the Indian chief was chased. Fitzgerald lifted to Nason. Bennett singled to left, scoring Benton and sending Andrews to second. Sullivan doubled to left, scoring Andrews and Bennett. Swenson hit to center, tallying Sullivan. Galloway strolled. Glaser replaced Shea. Crouch singled to center, scoring Swenson. Steengrafe sacrificed, advancing Galloway to third and Crouch to second. Ballew tossed out Benton.

Sullivan and Swenson conspired to score a tally in the fifth. Sully doubled to center after two were out, stole second and scampered home on Wally's single to left, which Nason booted and permitted Swede to go to second.

Tribe Threatens

The Indians threatened in the seventh with three runs. Meyers singled to center after one was out. Glaser was safe on a hit to short, Meyers going to second. Tate forced Glaser, Andrews to Benton, Meyers taking third. Andrews was slow in getting the ball away and forced Benton to make a too-hurried throw for a double play. Ballew singled to left, his third hit, scoring Meyers and advancing Tate to third. Riley tripled to the right field wall, scoring Tate and Ballew. Andrews took Wetzel's lift.

Loose defensive play gave the Spudders a tally in the eighth. Swenson, first up, was safe on Tate's boot of his grounder and went to second on Joe's wild throw. Galloway dropped a Texas leaguer into right, Swenson going to third. Riley dropped Crouch's pop but forced Galloway at second on a throw to Ballew. Steengrafe forced Crouch. Flippen to Ballew. Swenson scoring.

San Antonio scored in the ninth. Meyers started it with a single to right. Glaser skied to Bennett. Tate walked. Fitzgerald went to the fence in right center to haul down Ballew's smash. Meyers going to third. Meyers tallied and Tate went to second on a wild pitch. Bennett was under Riley's hoist.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Smith or Wiltse will chuck for the Spudders today.

Mouder, a righthander, probably will be Newnam's choice.

The Indians rival the Spudders in the resplendency of attire. Colorful regalia adds to attractiveness of ball clubs.

Swenson made a corking stop and throw on Glaser's bounder in the fifth.

Wetzel provided the fielding feature of the day, however, when he speared a smash by Benton in the sixth while running toward the fence at top speed.

Benton continued his sparkling work at second base. He handled eight chances flawlessly, some of them difficult.

Flippen played a corking game. The Tribe shortfielder accepted seven chances without a misplay.

The Spudders moved into fifth place by winning yesterday and the Indians fell to sixth, the Tribe holding a mathematical lead over the seventh-place Cats.

Umpire Bus Estill left town yesterday. Nealie Vaught worked in his place.

MUDDY TRACK LOOMS LIKELY

Favored Blue Larkspur And Clyde Van Dusen Ready

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16. (UP) Twenty-one thoroughbreds were considered probable starters today in the fifty-fifth running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday. Wet or dry, the field is expected to number at least 20.

Prospects of a fast track were lessened today when the weather continued partly cloudy, and the track, while slowly drying out, still remained muddy.

The oval has received a thorough soaking the last few days and it will take strenuous work by track employes to get it into first class shape even should the weather take a turn for the better.

Blue Larkspur at 3 to 1

Col. E. R. Bradley's Blue Larkspur and H. P. Gardner's Clyde Van Dusen, first and second choices, respectively, have reached the peak of their training and probably will not be given anything but light gallops to keep them on edge. Blue Larkspur is quoted at 3 to 1 and Clyde Van Dusen 5 to 1.

Several Derby candidates had workouts in the mud today over the full mile and a quarter distance. Folking breezed the Derby distance in 2:15, Voltear breezed it in 2:16 1-5, while the Nut negotiated it in 2:15 4-5, driving. Plumbago went a mile in 1:48, breezing.

Three D's Entry Ready

The Three D stables' Panchio loomed as a probable starter when he defeated a good band of horses at seven furlongs today, running the distance over a slow track in 1:25⅘. Boris, another Derby candidate, was second, and Typhoon third.

Karl Eitel and Minotaur were given their final Derby preps between races today. Karl Eitel, owned by J. J. Coughlin, was sent a mile and a quarter in 2:09 2-5. Minotaur breezed the Derby route under strong restraint in 2:13 1-5.

Chicago boasts of probably the strongest contingent of probable starters, with Minotaur, Windy City, Karl Eitel and McGongile regarded as almost certain to go to the barrier. Minotaur was purchased recently by J. R. Thompson Jr., from Charles Graffagnini of New Orleans and McGongile was bought by Stuyvesant Peabody from C. H. Knebelkamp.

Longhorns Rally to Nip Rice and Retain Lead

PASSING YEARS may have mellowed Pat Newnam, but they have taken nothing of the fighting spirit from the picturesque manager of the San Antonio Indians. Identified with the Texas league since more than a score years ago, Newnam's is one of the outstanding personalities in the ancient and honorable history of the Lone Star state loop. And the dominating characteristic of Pat Newnam in his extensive association with the Texas league has been his will to win.

It was 20 years ago that I first learned of the pugnacious figure of Pat Newnam. And to learn was to hate. I was a barefoot batboy of the Oklahoma City club, then a member of the Texas league, and which, incidentally, at that time was a class B circuit. Oklahoma City, managed by Jay Andrews, peace to his ashes, was fighting Houston for the pennant, and they met in a decisive series late in the season in the Oklahoma town.

Houston was managed by Hunter Hill, and its first baseman was Newnam. A precious pair to confront umpires, were Newnam and Hill. And Jay Andrews and George Kelsey of the Oklahoma City club were no better.

That series, and eventually the pennant, was won by Houston. And it was due in no small measure to the play and fighting spirit of Pat Newnam. In my boyish heart, broken by the defeat of my idols, I conceived an intense bitterness for Pat Newnam and Hunter Hill and all those of that Houston club.

THE YEARS that have mellowed Pat Newnam have also tempered this writer. I still love for my home team, now the Spudders, to win. As ardently as when I was a 9-year-old kid. But with that desire to win also has come recognition of the spirit and skill of opposing players and managers.

And so has come admiration for this baseball man of the old school.

Pat Newnam, I salute you.

"The Graf Zeppelin has taken off," shouted the telegraph editor.

"Taken off what," queried the office dumbbell.

JIM GALLOWAY has retained six rookies to help make the fight for the Texas league pennant the rest of the way. The kids who survived the reduction of the roster when the final day's grace to cut to 18 expired yesterday, are Cy Smith, Chick Galeria and Bill Goff, pitchers; Jack Crouch, catcher; Ray Andrews, infielder, and Dick Sullivan, outfielder.

A fine crop of youngsters, and they should be of great aid in the Spudders' upward climb, with more than one of them viewed as potential major leaguers.

CROUCH IS one of the finest young catchers who have broken in the Texas league in many a year. Goff hurled brilliant ball Wednesday in beating the league-leading Waco Cubs with seven hits. Smith and Galeria have at various times shown high promise.

Shoved into the lineup on his first day of reporting, Andrews made a pleasing debut. He looks like a fine prospect, though shortstop may not be his natural position.

Dick Sullivan continues to play aggressive, heads-up baseball, and also to display a fine mechanical game that has left nothing to be desired.

Verily, Mr. Galloway hath wisely chosen his juveniles.

Hagen Will Play Golf With Prince of Wales

MOORTOWN, Leeds, May 16.—Walter Hagen, American winner of the British open championship, will shoot 18 holes with the Prince of Wales over a London course, either Saturday afternoon or Sunday.

The SPORTLIGHT

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1929, New York Tribune Inc.; Trademark Registered, U. S. Patent Office)

Hagen in the U. S. Open

"I believe Hagen would win the next U. S. open at Winged Foot," remarked a veteran pro recently, "if the championship happened to be played through high winds and hard rains."

There is something in this comment. Not so much that Hagen can control a golf ball so much better than most stars under these conditions, but that he accepts adverse conditions with a philosophy that few know. And while the others are stewing and fretting and worrying about high winds and heavy rains, Hagen is using up his time in playing golf. Few golfers accept all the conditions that go with golf as Hagen does—the cuppy lie—the heel print—all penalties that attend a mistake—the tough breaks that are part of the game—the putt that lips the cup and stays out.

"Why get bothered over missing a shot," he once said, in a discussion of golf temperament. "I expect to miss six or seven shots at least every round. I always do. So when I flub a drive or hook a mashie I can't see that it is anything to worry about. I look on it as one of the shots I expected to miss before the round started. And after all, there is always a chance to recover, and if you don't there is always one putt left to help things out. It is always funny to me to see duffers have over missed shots when they must have known before they started from the first tee that they were going to miss 20 or 30 or maybe 40 before the round was over."

In addition to a fine golf swing Hagen has shown the value of concentration and determination and the vast importance of not being discouraged. He had been the hardest competitor to discourage that sport has known. A bad beating bothers him less than any other leading star. That, also, he seems to consider as part of the game once in a while. Certainly his 15-year record has been one of the main chapters in sporting history, and his play over British links has been one of the most spectacular achievements any game has yet to show. To golf skill he has added a cool head and a stout heart and that trio is always something to beat.

Pitching vs. Batting

Dear Sir: Addie Joss once remarked that pitching was 80 per cent of baseball. When Joss was one of the American league pitching stars the statement was correct. But the Yankees are discounting it in present-day baseball. With a one-man pitching staff they have fought their way back to the top through sheer destructive power. Unless American league pitchers can find a better system for stopping Ruth, Gehrig, Meusel, Combs and Lazzeri, the Yankees are likely to rush to a fourth consecutive pennant with one of the poorest pitching staffs ever in the majors.

The Yankees, last year, were discussing the merits of the various teams that had won pennants for Col. Jacob Ruppert. The players voted the 1923 club the best. But Miller Huggins picked the team of 1927 and 1928.

"Give me destruction," said the mite manager. And who can say he was wrong. G. H. Q.

Another Coming Heavy

Dear Sir: Another promising heavyweight is budding out in the near Middle West. He is Emmett Rocco, of Elwood, Pa. Recently he shellacked Johnny Risko. The baker boy no longer is a great heavyweight, but still is a good trial horse for any ambitious youngster. Rocco is lacking the science of boxing, but is a good hitter and willing mixer. Which is what the customers demand in a heavy.

—REGIS PITT.

The Roughest Game

There has always been some sort of argument as to whether football, boxing or wrestling was the rougher game. A large number of votes were cast in behalf of the grappling pachyderms. But Gus Sonnenberg, the old Dartmouth football player, has proved that football has it all over wrestling. Gus has become wrestling champion by introducing football tactics. In a recent match he merely got a quick start, dived at his opponent, rammed his head into said opponent's abdomen and the battle was over.

Sonenberg, using this same football system, could make most of the heavyweights jump out of the ring. There wouldn't even be a contest. And yet any number of our heavyweights are the most expert wrestlers in the business, knowing every hold and every grip that the old game carries.

The Weather He Knows

Horton Smith failed to set Muirfield on fire, but the young Missouri entry was a long way from the warmer winds and the fairer skies of his native heath.

It might be recalled that Hagen finished fifty-fifth in his first crack at British golf, so young Smith's lapse under the new and harrowing conditions is nothing to wonder at.

His showing at Muirfield will have no connection with his showing at Winged Foot, where he will again be some one to take into account. And he won't care how hot the June sun is after the cold winds and rains that came ripping in across the Scottish dunes.

Texans Will Attend Plains Highway Meet

ABILENE, Texas, May 16.—(AP)—Texas will be represented at the Great Plains Highway association convention in North Platte, Neb., June 5-6, according to G. B. Whitten, chairman of the highway, committee of the local chamber of commerce. Last year's convention was held in Abilene.

The Great Plains Highway, originating at Regina, Sask., Canada, comes down to the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, entering Texas at Perryton. It runs through Childress, Paducah, Abilene, San Antonio and on to Laredo. Much of the mileage in Texas is already paved or has been provided for. Evidently it is hoped the road will be a link in the continuous highway from Canada, across the United States, Mexico and Central America into the lands of the Incas. It follows an almost straight line from Regina to Laredo. Efforts will be made at North Platte to have the road federalized as a unit, it was said.

Childress Firemen Battle With Sparrows

CHILDRESS, Texas, May 16.—(AP)—Firemen of the Childress fire department were forced to fight sparrows instead of flames recently.

The situation arose when a flock of birds found their way into the fire fighter's sleeping quarters at the city hall and started in to disturb their slumber. The irate men caused the flock to beat a hasty retreat.

PERMIAN GIVEN 5 BIG WELLS

New Production for Week Is 83,000 Barrels Daily

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 16.—New production in the Permian basin of West Texas showed a big reversal last week, five wells completed in three counties rating a total of 83,304.48 barrels daily compared with nine wells completed in four counties for only 2,236 barrels the week before.

One well in Pecos county, Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental No. 26-A Yates, gauging 3,423.52 barrels on a proration test upon completion, provided 82,164.48 barrels of the week's total. Without it the aggregate would have dropped below that of the preceding week, for Howard county completed only three wells good for 900 barrels and Ward county one producer rating 240 barrels a day.

Failures exceeded producers last week, numbering nine, the same number as the week before when dusters and producers tied. Two tests were abandoned dry in Jones county and one each in Andrews, Borden, Brewster, Howard, Irion, Upton and Winkler. One Pecos county location was abandoned.

PADUCAH GETS WTCC MEETING

District Convention Meets At Seymour

be presented to the state meeting in El Paso follow:

1. We note with great interest the plans of several railway systems to extend their lines in various sections of West Texas. Realizing the need for more railroad facilities in this section we command these systems for their enterprise and express the opinion that the parent organization should give its endorsement and encouragement to any extension plans or undertakings that are assisting in getting practical railway connections to all sections of West Texas.

2. We record this convention as favorable to the proper adjustments of our taxation situation and the enactment of laws that will insure uniformity thereof. We express conviction, however, that radical changes in our taxation laws without due consideration would be injurious to the constructive development of our state, and we therefore congrtaulate the special session of the 41st legislature in the wisdom shown in its refusal to pass such laws as the income tax measure, the gross production tax, the intangible tax and others submitted at the special session recently.

Water Protection

3. We appeal to our state legislature to fix a definite policy that will give absolute assurance to the protection of our sacred water rights and one that will forever safeguard waters for municipal and domestic uses and for irrigation purposes.

4. We do not believe that there is a demand for a radical change in registration fees on automobiles, and express the further belief that a three cent gasoline tax will afford sufficient revenue to supplement registration fees in order to maintain our present system of financing our highways. It is our thought, however, that the sovereign voters of Texas should be permitted to pass upon the question of a constitutional amendment submitting a bond issue for the construction and maintenance of our highways.

5. We pledge this convention to the policy of increased salaries for the governor and members of the legislature, and to that end we favor the adoption of a constitutional amendment that would guarantee these increased salaries.

6. We direct attention to the approach of the decennial census. We pledge ourselves to do everything within our power to see that the proper accounting is made to the end that our resources which have grown so marvelously within the last 10 years may be exploited to the world. We also recommend that the parent organization exert its energy to the end that a re-apportionment be made in West Texas in order that this section may have its just representation in the state legislature and in congress.

7. We call upon our state legislature to make adequate appropriations for the proper maintenance of our West Texas institutions which are growing in the most unusual manner.

To Aid Dairying

8. The dairy and poultry industry bids fair to become a great source of wealth in this section of the state. We therefore pledge the membership of this convention to lend every encouragement along these lines. We also commend the agricultural department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for its constructive work in urging the necessity for terracing, and the conservation of our soils.

9. We give cordial endorsement to the efforts now being made to secure the attendance of President Hoover of the United States and Gil of Mexico at our annual convention to be in El Paso. We commit this convention to the efforts of making this the greatest event ever held in the Southwest.

10. We give our heartiest approval to the efforts being put forth by President Bourland and the staff of workers of the organization for their untiring efforts in the development of West Texas, and we pledge our continued cooperation to the president, manager and the staff.

11. We express our most cordial appreciation of the continued and successful efforts of the press in its great work in the development and exploitation of West Texas.

12. We extend our thorough and hearty appreciation to the citizenship of Seymour for the cordial reception extended those attending this convention. We are especially greatful to the Lions club of Seymour for the opportunity extended in connection with the enjoyment of the fish fry as the concluding courtesy of this occasion.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 16. (AP)—A firmer position and some rather unfavorable features in the weather news appeared chiefly responsible for the development of a steadier tone in the cotton market here today. Early advances of 15 or 20 points were followed by moderate reactions, but the market steadied up again, reaching the best prices of the day in the late trading. July sold up to 18.73 and closed at 18.69, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 15 to 27 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 5 points. There was enough selling to cause some irregularity around the initial prices, but the comparatively light offerings were quite readily absorbed, and the market worked up to 19.48 for May and 18.78 for December contracts before the end of the morning, or about 15 to 21 points net higher.

Prices reacted 6 or 7 points from the best, but the outlook for further showers in some sections of the South and cooler weather with the possibility of frost in western portions of North Carolina, brought in buying on the declines. The demand was by no means active or aggressive, but offerings were light enough to suggest that the market had been pretty well liquidated and the highest levels of the day were reached in the late trading. May sold up to 19.52 and December to 18.83 or 19 to 26 points net higher and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best.

Port receipts today, 2,402. U. S. Port stocks, 1,220,500. Exports, 14,392, making 7,527,007 so far this season.

MARKET STREET RAILWAY COMPANY

Five Year Record

The Market Street Railway Co., organized under the laws of California in 1893 has a consolidation of 11 street railways in the city and county of San Francisco. The company controls six subsidiary companies. The concern operates a comprehensive system of about 271 miles of single track with a number of bus lines and has direct competition from the Municipal Railway, controlled by the city.

The Market Street Railway is controlled by the Standard Gas & Electric Co., and managed by the Byllesby Engineering Management corporation. The voters of San Francisco have adopted a charter amendment making possible the purchase of the lines by the city. The systems' franchises expire from 1929 to 1952 and in view of this situation a committee has been appointed by the city to study transportation problems and arrange a comprehensive program of development. In 1928 the voters defeated an amendment which would have given the company an indeterminate franchise.

Total operating revenues had been fairly stable since 1921 but there were declines in 1926 and 1927. In 1927 net income was $258,156. This compared with $427,715 in 1926. Funded debt debt amounts to $11,001,500. Capital stock outstanding includes $11,618,500 in 6 per cent cumulative prior preference non redeemable stock of $100 par value; $4,986,850 in 6 per cent cumulative preferred none redeemable stock of $100 par; $4,673,700 in 6 per cent non cumulative second preferred non redeemable stock of $100 par and $10,647,000 in common of $100 par.

All classes of stock have equal voting power. No dividends are now being paid on any issue. Accumulated dividends on the prior preference stock on Dec. 1, 1928 amounted to 40 per cent. On the preferred stock 46 per cent. As of Jan. 1, 1928 total current assets were $1,036,279. Current liabilities were $761,276. Net working capital was $275,003, and book value on the common stock $68.87 a share.

Stock Market Welcomes News Of No Change in Rediscount Rate

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 16. (US)—"No change in the rediscount rate" was the welcome news sent out after the close of another irregular market in which specialties again featured under the influence of individual developments.

Fear of a higher rate hung over the market throughout and offset the effect of easing in the call rate from renewal of 14 per cent to closing of 8. Some loans were made on the outside, late in the day, at as low as 6 per cent.

Sparks Withington advanced 8¾, Fleischmann 2⅞, Peoples Gas 3¼, North American company 4¾, and Continental Insurance 3¼. Steel and other standard industries held to a very narrow range while the oils and coppers moved forward fractionally on the average. Rails remained irregular and finished slightly lower. Turnover was held down to the 3,500,000 share level.

Fleischmann buying followed the report that merger negotiations had reached the stage where official announcemnt should be made in the next week or so. The bankers who have working control of the company, it was claimed, had been in touch with important interests in two leading food companies. Shattuck's ability to hold a leading place in the industrial list was due to a report of its expansion campaign as told of here. Demand was added to by special advice issued by one of the largest stock exchange firms which compared the stock to Montgomery Ward's position of a year ago. When Shattuck completes the planned additions to its chain of "Schraffts'" stores, it is estimated its earning power will be more than doubled.

Those interested in By-Products Coke were less active but continued to express highly optimistic sentiment as to the outlook for the stock. They looked for more activity before the meeting scheduled for next week.

Better support given the copper shares followed an expression of opinion in the trade that the price of the metal would be stabilized around 18 cents. A new group was reported interested in Anaconda while Kennecott buying was attributed to Newmont mining interests. The Newmont people also were said to be quietly picking up Texas Gulf Sulphur on reactions.

American Tobacco was the subject of more favorable advices. Warnings were said to have held up during the period of price cutting so that increased income was forecast for the remainder of the year as the turn in the price trend would be shown by announcement of higher cigaret prices soon.

Further talk was heard of the possibility of control of Missouri Pacific showing up in the hands of the Van Sweringen interests. This group was declared to have been steadily accumulating the stock and the convertible bonds for the last several weeks. If they were able to get a sizeable block of stock they would be in a position to embarrass the old insiders, for there has been considerable dissatisfaction on the part of minority stockholders for the past several months.

Erie stock has been quietly picked up in recent weeks also as a further gain in earnings is confidently forecast for the current half year that should result in dividend payment before long. Those usually most familiar with railroad affairs, however, do not look for any important activity in the stocks until after the O'Fallon decision is out of the way.

Maintenance of the rediscount rate at 5 per cent offsets the $14,000,000 increase in brokers' loans. The gain in borrowings, it is claimed, was due to the new issues sold during the week but the reserve's statement showed that loans of local banks were reduced $4,000,000 while those for out of town banks dropped $9,000,000. Loans for the account of others, representing corporation funds advanced to stock market speculators, increased $26,000,000.

So it would seem that new financing did not cause the increase and also that the reserve is not having any success in keeping corporate funds out of the call market. So long as high rates prevail corporations with idle money will loan it in the call market. With the mid-month turnover of funds completed lower rates should prevail and may have more effect in influencing liquidation than the high rates of past weeks.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 16. (AP)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was marked by another break in fat lambs prices. General declines of 25 to 50c were put into effect, both springers and fed offerings sharing the loss. Aged stock moved slowly at steady to 25c lower figures.

Hogs received a further setback of 5 to 25c.

Values at most markets well under the $11 mark. Firm prices were maintained on the better grades of fed steers and yearlings, but at a few points some weak spots developed on the off-quality kind. Chicago scored $14.65 on choice light and medium weight steers while choice mixed yearlings in Kansas City reached $14.60.

Other commodities unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, May 16. (AP)—Indications that frost has done no damage anywhere to wheat tended to ease values down today, despite a forecast of more frost tonight.

Considerable selling of future deliveries was done against simultaneous buying of corn.

Wheat closed heavy, ⅛ to ⅞c net lower, corn at ½c decline to 1c advance, oats ¼c off to a shade up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5c.

About the only conspicuous factor today tending to favor friends of higher prices for wheat was smallness of receipts.

Corn was relatively steady. Oats were unsettled, country offerings showing a little increase but vessel charters being made for 250,000 bushels to go to Buffalo.

Provisions averaged slightly easier, sympathizing with downturns in the value of hogs to the season's lowest level.

CHICK SEASON ONE OF BEST

Johnson Sells Million From Hatchery Here

Almost 1,000,000 baby White Leghorn chicks have been shipped from the M. Johnson poultry ranch near this city to all parts of the United States since the first of this year, according to information given Thursday.

Mr. Johnson estimated that approximately 500,000 of these birds were placed in Texas, a large portion of the remainder in states adjoining this one. The incubating season which is now closing was much better than that of 1928 and one of the best in the history of Mr. Johnson's long experience in the business, it was stated.

About 1,000 of the laying hens used during the last six months are now being sold, and will be replaced with pullets selected from the earliest hatches of the present year. The total number of hens to be carried through the year for the next incubating season, which opens about Jan. 1, will approximate 12,000. It was indicated that one or more incubators probably will remain active throughout the remainder of 1929. About 450 dozen eggs being gathered daily now.

During the last week, more than 2,000 chicks have been delivered to the Weeks small farm community for stocking various small tracts, it was said, making a total of more than 4,000 chickens from the Johnson ranch that have been placed on small farms in the recently opened Weeks area.

COAST-TO-COAST AIR LINE TO SERVE WICHITA

AVIATORS HERE FOR SURVEY

New Service Would Link With Railroads

Possibility of the early establishment of coast-to-coast air line passenger and express service through Wichita Falls was seen in the visit here Thursday afternoon of Robert W. Cantwell, chief pilot, and A. F. Winn, special representative of the Southwest Air Fast Express, according to chamber of commerce officials and other citizens who greeted the two fliers at the Municipal airport at 3:30 o'clock.

The service proposed by the Southwest Air Fast Express concern would provide travel by air from St. Louis to Sweetwater by way of Oklahoma City and Wichita Falls, thence by Pullman over the Texas & Pacific railway to El Paso, where connection would be made with air lines to Los Angeles, according to the two officials.

A suggestion of the schedule of travel which would be offered by the new service was given as follows: Leave Wichita Falls 3 p. m., arrive Los Angeles 3 p. m. the following day. Returning, one-day trip, arriving in Wichita Falls about 8:30 a. m., in St. Louis about 2:30 p. m., and into Chicago the same evening.

Connections with regularly established fast air lines from St. Louis or Chicago to eastern points would link New York and Los Angeles with almost uninterrupted travel on a fast schedule, it was stated.

According to Mr. Cantwell, four tri-motored ships, equipped with Wasp engines, will be used in the proposed through service.

Mr. Winn and Mr. Cantwell are engaged in pioneer trip, investigating terminal facilities and other conditions pertinent to the plans of their company. They left about 4:30 p. m. for Sweetwater, accompanied by Jerry Vinson, a director of the Junior chamber of commerce here.

Mr. Winn and Mr. Cantwell stated they will pay another visit to Wichita Falls within the next few days in order to confer with chamber of commerce officials.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cantwell, parents of Robert W. Cantwell; R. O. Harvey, Walter Nelson Jr., James W. Chatham, John Barnard, Jerry Vinson and other local citizens were in the party which met the visiting fliers at Kell field.

Indian Students Close Tour Of North Texas With Program Here

Many Hear Performers During Trek Sponsored by Chamber of Commerce at Lawton

Concluding an extensive tour of North Texas begun last Sunday, under the auspices of the Lawton, Okla., chamber of commerce, a party of Indian boys and girls from the Indian school at Fort Sill presented a one hour program from station KGKO Thursday night.

The group consists of 18 full-blood Indians, among them nine Kiowa boys, eight Comanche girls, and one girl from the Sioux tribes. They are in charge of John E. Shields, superintendent of the school, Miss Audrey Carr, directress, and H. A. Stroud, secretary of the Lawton Chamber of commerce.

Radio Program

Features of the program given here Thursday night were solos by Miss Inez Ecoffey, soprano, who made a lasting impression locally when the same group appeared before the high school and Junior college student bodies about a month ago, and a war dance given by Charles Tsoodle and Percy Anaquah. This was said to be the first time, so far as those in charge of the party could ascertain, that an Indian war dance ever had been presented by radio. Mixed glee club and male quartet numbers also were included in the program.

The party left Lawton last Sunday, and on Monday appeared before the high school assemblies in Henrietta, Bellevue, Bowie, and Decatur. On Monday night they broadcast a program through station WBAP at Fort Worth. They sang Tuesday morning at the high school in Weatherford. Stopping in Mineral Wells for lunch, they were besieged with requests from guests at the Crazy hotel for an entertainment, and presented a full program in that establishment. Tuesday afternoon they gave their program in Ranger, and on the same evening were put on the air through station KFYO at Abilene.

On Wednesday morning the Indian entertainers gave a 50-minute program before the students of Simmons' university, and in the afternoon appeared at the high schools in Cisco and Eastland. An open air entertainment was presented on the streets of Eastland Wednesday night, with an audience of almost 1,000 people, it was stated.

While the party was in Fort Worth, the Comanche members staged a ceremonial for the initiation of Mr. Stroud as a member of their tribe, conferring upon him the Comanche equivalent of "Big Eagle." At the same time, Dana Foyette was adopted by the Kiowa's and given the name of "Red Teepee."

Active Students

The boys and girls making up the group all were raised in Southwest Oklahoma, Mr. Stroud said. They are in the seventh and eighth grades, practically all of the girls being members of the 4-H club, and all of the nine boys being members of the football, track, and baseball teams of the school. The athletic teams are coached by George Levi, of the family which has contributed stars to the Haskell Indians of recent years.

The tour, which was completely financed by the Lawton chamber of commerce, had for its primary objective the dissemination of information relative to the burden imposed on Oklahoma's school system by the fact that all Indian lands are non-taxable. One-half of the Indians in the United States live in Oklahoma, it was stated, and the great reduction in taxes for maintenance of schools constitutes a federal problem, according to the leaders of the Oklahoma party. A second purpose of the trip, Mr. Stroud stated, was to afford the students an opportunity for travel and acquaintance with other peoples.

To keep their schools clean, the London county council employs 3,000 charwomen.

NEGRO HELD FOR BURGLARY

Boy Arrested for Entering Two Homes

Charges of burglary were filed Thursday afternoon against Frink Houston, 17-year-old negro, charged with the theft of two wrist watches from Wichita Falls homes within the past week. The second watch, taken from the home of Thomas Ballard, 1515 Ninth street, was returned to Mrs. Mary Newsom, its owner, before she had discovered its loss. Houston was arrested and the watches recovered by Luke Hart and Pat Allen, city detectives.

In a signed statement made to George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, Houston said he entered the home of J. F. Wright, 711 Baylor street, on the afternoon of May 9. A watch which he secured there was later "soaked" for $4, he declared, although he estimated its value at $45. The second watch, he said, was taken from the Ballard home on Tuesday, May 14.

Rotarians Urged To Attend Convention

Talks by Dr. J. W. Cantwell and Walter D. Cline, urging local Rotarians to attend the convention of Rotary International in Dallas late this month featured the regular weekly meeting Thursday noon at the Kemp hotel.

L. H. Estes, representing the trade trip committees of the chamber of commerce, spoke on behalf of more reservations for the South Plains trip to be made next week.

T. S. Pitts, J. B. Whitehead, Geoffrey Brown and C. W. McCloskey, comprising the Pitts sand and gravel fiddle band which recently won the fiddle band contest conducted by station KGKO, gave several musical numbers.
