District 2 A Grid Games Set for 1974

Realignment of Interscholastic League District 2-A was completed in a meeting of school superintendents and head coaches Monday, October 22, in Clarendon.

Changes were announced by Supt. Thayne Amonett.

Shamrock dropped from District 2-AA to 2-A, to again become a conference opponent of the Skyrockets. Valley High School dropped from 2-A to Class B.

This will give a better balanced district, although some of the weaker teams may find Shamrock a more formidable opponent than the district formerly offered.

Wellington will continue to have Childress and Hollis as non-conference opponents, and

Cotton Harvest Opens in North Part of County

The first bale of 1973 cotton harvested north of Salt Fork River was brought to the Lutie Gin by Miss Lenora Phillips of Dozier, according to Joe Frank Knoll, manager.

Miss Phillips both owns and operates the land on which the cotton was grown, and she and two sisters, Miss Beatrice Phillips and Miss Irene Phillips hand-pulled the bale. They also hauled it to the gin.

Mr. Knoll said Miss Lenora Phillips had approximately 1960 pounds of seed cotton and got a 495 pound bale with about 830 pounds of seed.

This was dryland cotton of the Paymaster 202 variety, and should yield about one-half bale per acre, Mr. Knoll believes.

He estimated that most of the cotton in that part of the county would average between one-half and three-fourths bale per acre, with some yielding as much as a bale. The yield on irrigated land should be higher.

It will be another 10 days to two weeks before the cotton harvest opens up in the north half of the county.

Mr. Knoll said he plans to operate the gin around the clock if he can get the help.

He has two ginners, Pete Kirkland, with Bill Kirkland as second ginner. He is looking for hands to round out the crew.

President Writes to Quail Science Class

The Seventh Grade Science Class of Quail School has received a letter from President Richard M. Nixon praising them for their study of ecology.

This was in response to their own letter to the president, expressing their interest in the problem of air pollution caused by trash burning and disposal.

The study was directed by their teacher, Mrs. Jeanine Allen.

The President's letter read: I was greatly encouraged to learn from your letter that you share my concern for the quality of life in America. Perhaps the greatest gift we can leave to future Americans is a cleaner, purer environment. Simply in setting

ONE STALK, 160 BOLLS

Many of the bolls on this 4-foot tall cotton stalk are hidden by leaves, but Pat Ford, bookkeeper at the Dodson Co-op Enterprises, and owner Herschel Tabor counted 160. All are large, mature bolls and if left in the field would have opened. A little figuring revealed that an acre of cotton with every stalk like this one would yield around 11 bales. Mr. Tabor farms around 800 acres of cotton.

County Votes on Amendments Tues.

Qualified voters of Collingsworth County, along with those from throughout the state, will ballot on 9 proposed constitutional amendments at the general election Tuesday, November 6.

There will be only one voting box for the entire county, and it will be at Bura Handley Community Center in Wellington.

There are some who question the need for passing these amendments, with the meeting of the constitutional convention only a short time away.

It is pointed out, however, that the passage or rejection of these amendments will let the framers of the new constitution know precisely what the states desires are on them.

Mrs. Bill Hatch will be the election judge, and the polls will be open during the regular election hours of 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

No absentee votes had been cast Tuesday evening, October 20, and the deadline for voting absentee is Friday, November 2, according to Mrs. Beth Adams, deputy county clerk.

The team has two more games before they wind down the season, and one of these involves a change of the schedule, the coach said.

Wellington JV will travel to Claude Thursday, November 8. The final game, scheduled with McLean, had to be cancelled as that school does not have a B team.

Instead, the Canadian Junior Varsity will come here Thursday, November 15, for a 7:30 p.m. game at Powell Field.

Back to the Memphis game, little is known of that team, except that they have a lot of speed and quickness, and Wellington probably will be outweighed again.

"We will have to be up for it and I think we will be," said Coach Hicks. Wellington now has a 5-2 record and is undefeated in district play.

Jessie Roberson, Dodson Business Man, Dies Friday

Jessie Roberson, 64, owner of Dodson Cafe, died in Collingsworth General Hospital at 7:00 p.m. Friday, October 26, after an extended period of ill health.

A resident of Dodson since 1945, he had been active in the community and in the business affairs of the town. With Mrs. Roberson, he had brought recognition to their cafe from throughout this section of the Panhandle.

Mr. Roberson was born May 23, 1909, at Plano, the son of John and Mattie Dawson Roberson. He was married to Miss Nellie Halford on April 1, 1932, in Texico, New Mexico. They lived at Amarillo before coming to Dodson.

He was an active member of the Baptist Church.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson. Officiating were the

Former County Man Called by Baptists

A clergyman who spent his childhood at Quail is returning as pastor of First Baptist Church in Wellington.

He is the Rev. Jack Boyett of Amarillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Boyett of Quail.

His first meeting with members as their pastor was at the Wednesday night prayer service.

On Sunday, Nov. 4, a dinner at the church will honor Rev. and Mrs. Boyett and their family.

It will be served in the fellowship hall immediately after the morning service.

Mrs. Herman Belew is head of the hospitality committee, and others on it are Mrs. Albert Fulcher and Mrs. Harold Keller.

Rev. Boyett will move his family here in about a week. He is a former pastor of Bell Avenue

Bank Assets Near $18.5 Million, Highest in County's History

Combined assets in the two Wellington banks have reached $18,474,479.35. The highest point ever in the financial history of Collingsworth County.

It is, however, a little more than $5 million dollars above the combined assets a year ago, a comparison of the two years show. The figure at that date was $13,304,067.77.

Deposits have climbed proportionately, now standing at $16,992,651.62, according to figures revealed at the time of the bank call at the close of business October 17.

Deposits a year ago were nearly $5 million dollars below this, also, $12,067,041.95.

With October 17 assets approaching $18.5 million, bank officers and others close to the financial condition of the county believe this can reach an astonishing $20,000,000 in assets by the end of this year.

Whether it does depends on when county farmers sell their cotton crop. It is entirely possible that a sizable portion of the crop will not be sold until after the first of the year. In that case, the wealth of the county may not be reflected until the first quarter bank call in March. Irregardless of when the $20 million figure is topped, the potential lies in Collingsworth County.

While this call reflects some of the farm program money from summer, as well as the best crop in several years, it includes no more than one-half the grain sorghum crop and none of the cotton crop whatsoever.

None of the cotton crop was shown in the bank reports a year ago either.

The deposits reflect a steady rise through the last seven-year period and this month's figure is nearly $10 million above the deposits when the rise started. They are also $6 million above the deposit figure of 1969, when they were $10,835,455.69. This, too reflected another spectacular rise in the county's banking history.

October 1965 figures were less than half those this year, $7,390,846.07.

A significant amount of the current deposits, $8,168,945, are in demand deposits of customers of the Wellington State Bank and City State Bank. This is almost two million dollars more than the demand deposit figure a year ago.

Loans and discounts amount to $9,254,607. up around $3.5 million from the October 1, 1972 figure.

Undivided profits are up around, $50,000, now standing at $400,552.35.

Dodson Legion Auxiliary Sets Annual Dinner

The Dodson American Legion Auxiliary will hold its annual Veterans Day Dinner Saturday, November 10, Mrs. Frances Martin, secretary, has announced.

The hours of serving will be 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., she said.

All members are selling tickets for $2.00 each.

The dinner will be at the American Legion Building on Main Street in Dodson.

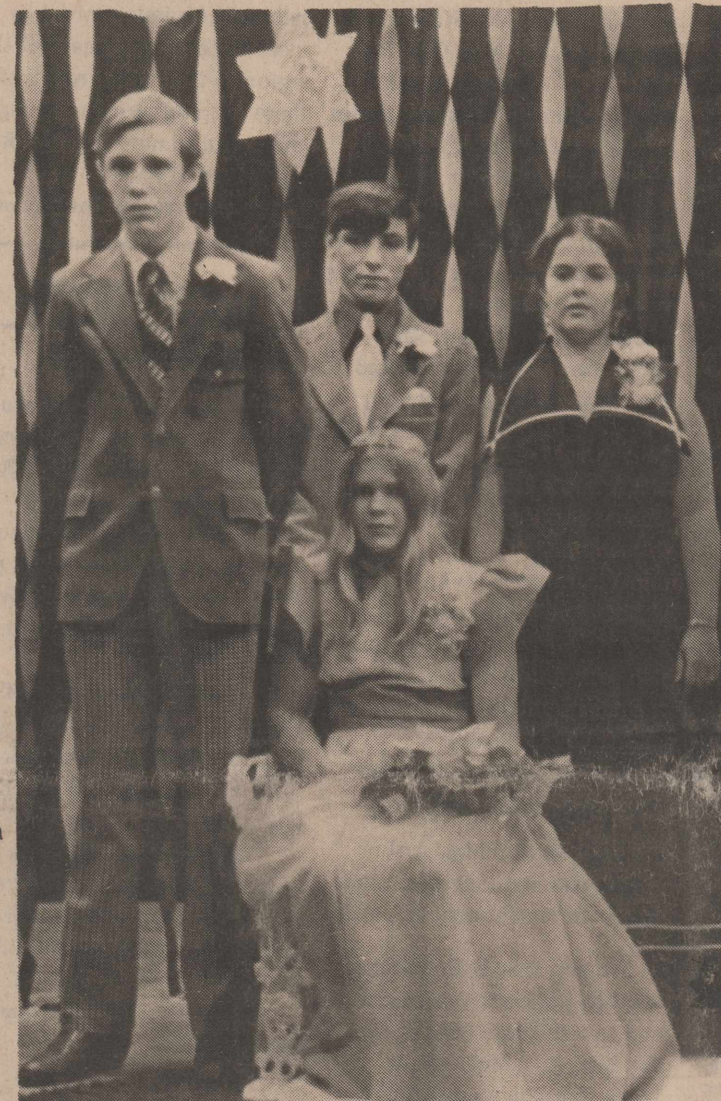

President of the Auxiliary this year is Mrs. Sylvia Claiborne of Hollis.

Proceeds from the dinner will go into a fund with which the Auxiliary will complete the interior finishing of the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Martin explained that the building is 100 feet in length, but at present only about 70 feet has been finished, including the kitchen.

More space is needed for some of the meetings held here, for these include many community events, it was explained.

Plans now are to finish the entire building.

SAMNORWOOD ROYALTY

Rockets, Memphis Meet in Key Game

Wellington Skyrockets travel to Memphis Friday night, November 2, for one of the major games of the season.

"The Cyclone will be similar to Clarendon," said Coach James Williams. "They have good size in their linemen and they are exceptionally quick."

The team has been playing a stunning brand of football in recent weeks, even during their defeat at the hands of Clarendon Bronchos.

"They will be up for us. They will be playing their Homecoming Game against the Skyrockets, and they still have a chance to win the district title," continued Coach Williams.

The Clarendon game was the key tilt for the Memphis Cyclone. Sports writers praised the team.

"I've never seen a regular season game played with such intensity nor executed so well," wrote one. The loss to Clarendon was by only one point, 13-12.

The Cyclone then rolled over the Wheeler Mustangs 42-7 Friday, October 25. Four of the touchdowns came in the second quarter, and three were by Cyclone quarterback Wayne Davis.

Davis tosses the ball well and has two excellent receivers in the Cyclone ends, Ronnie Brown and Ben Smith. While they are basically a running team, they can pass when the occasion arises.

Memphis runs out of the I formation, with a well balanced attack. On defense, they run a 5-man front.

Physically, the Rockets are in good condition, with only Jim Bob Nall still ailing with a sore knee. The team is up from its victory over Valley. Even before that game ended, the Skyrockets were thinking about their next contest — with Memphis.

Museum Exhibit at Annual State Meet

AUSTIN — Members of the Collingsworth County Historical Survey Committee recently attended the annual meeting of the Texas Historical Commission held in Fort Worth Oct. 26 and 27.

County committee delegates attending from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Drake.

They took with them an exhibit from the Collingsworth County Historical Museum to be set up in the County Exhibits display room.

"We were pleased with the comments," said Mrs. Drake.

They also visited with Dennis J. Bartz, director of interpretation for the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History, who visited Wellington recently to make recommendations concerning this museum.

Mr. and Mrs. Drake also met Winifred Small Jones (Mrs. John Jones) of Houston, who is a preserver for the Museum of Science and History. She, too, generously offered to advise and help the Collingsworth Museum any way she can, Mrs. Drake said.

Families See Kin Honored at WTSU

Two county couples attended the recent annual Distinguished Alumni Banquet at West Texas State University, when a member of their family was one of the two who were honored.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Camp, Kloeette and Jeffrey of Dodson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pegram of Quail.

One of those honored was Mr. Pegram's niece, Dr. Ivy M. Parker of Austin. The other alumni recognized was Dr. Robert DeWitt Leachman of Houston.

Dr. Parker, now retired after a career as research engineer for Plantation Pipe Line Company, has never lived here, but has visited a number of times.

She received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from WT in 1928, after graduating from high school at Tucumcari, N.M. She went on to earn her masters and Ph.D in chemistry from the University of Texas. She was the first woman in the school's history to receive a doctorate in the subject.

The publication, Petroleum Today, summed up her career in an article published a few years ago. It said in part:

"The little gray-haired lady in the sky blue baseball cap strolls through the forest of gleaming steel pipe, past banks of giant motors, for all the world as though she belongs

The class suggested that since many people were unwilling to go to the extra trouble required to sort out trash and return reusable and recyclable materials, legislation might offer a solution. They inquired if it might be possible to require all manufacturers to use materials which could be recycled and to charge a high deposit on containers to encourage their return. The class also mentioned making the sorting of trash mandatory in all areas.

The letter concerning pollution was composed by Elma Estrada, Donna Langley, Mike Guthrie, Bill Kennedy, Ricky Needham and David Torrez.

No. 5 would provide that counties and cities bordering on the Gulf of Mexico may levy a tax for the construction of sea walls and breakwaters upon the vote of a majority of the resident taxpayers voting in an election called for the purpose.

No. 6 would grant the district court the general jurisdiction of a probate court in addition to the jurisdiction otherwise conferred on it by law in probate proceedings. It would also authorize the legislature to adjust the jurisdiction of the courts in probate matters, to adopt rules for such courts relating to probate matters and provide for appeals in probate matters.

No. 7 would provide an additional $100 million in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the Veterans' Land Board. This money is loaned, proponents of the bill point out, and it comes back to the Land Board plus interest.

No. 8 would authorize and require cities, towns and villages to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on their general obligations hereinafter issued.

No. 9 would authorize the legislature to exempt certain water supply corporations and cooperatives from the property tax on certain facilities.

there. She does.

"Hi, Doc," a burly workman shouts. She grins and waves, but she maintains her steady pace. Often she stops, examines a gauge, checks a valve, scribbles a line in her ever-present notebook. All along the 3,200 mile course of the pipelines, wherever it emerges from its underground bed, Dr. Ivy Parker is very much at home.

"Her title with Plantation Pipe Line Company is research engineer, but Dr. Parker is a specialist. She is among the nation's leading experts on the subject of rust—or more properly, corrosion—and she has spent the last three decades doing battle against this insidious enemy of steel. She travels thousands of miles each year searching out signs of corrosion along the pipeline, developing techniques and devices to overcome the enemy."

Railroads Brought Hospitals to Area

Besides transporting people and materials to the West, Texas railroads often brought the first health care to this part of the nation. Railroad hospitals were often the first ones to be built. As time passed, these railroad hospitals evolved to meet the changing needs of this region so that today many of these hospitals are now being channeled to new uses, marking an end of an era.

how to have a successful GARAGE SALE!

Garage Sales as a way of disposing of unwanted items around the house are growing in popularity because they are a fun way of turning property into cash while making new friends. Here are a few ways of helping to insure that your garage sale produces the type of results you want.

Plan ahead. Look around your home for unwanted items.

Make a list of the items you want to sell.

Price each item realistically. Items can be priced easily by using short lengths of masking tape on which you write the price. Make the figures as large and legible as possible to avoid questions during the sale. Put sizes of clothing on the price stickers. If you are selling a lot of books, records or other like items you may want to group them on a table with a sign that offers "Any item on this table 50¢."

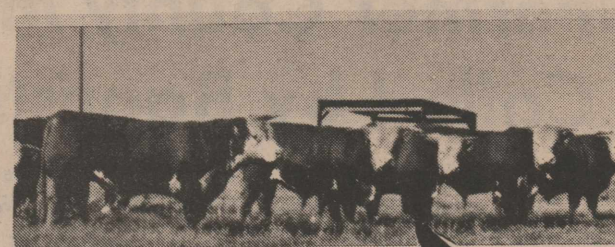

Prepare the garage or other area where the sale is to be held.

Everything should be clean and displayed as neatly as possible.

During the hours of the sale be sure garage doors are open and someone is in attendance.

Be sure to have a small amount of money on hand so that you can make change for your customers.

Advertise your sale.

Study Club Begins Year's Programs With a Peek at Future of Gardens

Members of 1924 Study Club met October 25 with Mrs. R.R. Crawley as hostess at her Bowie Street home.

With the year's theme of "Spotlighting Americana," emphasis for this first regular meeting of the club year was placed on "Ecological America." The program leader was the chairman of the Conservation Department, Mrs. Dee Coleman. Her presentation was entitled "A Look into Gardenings' Crystal Ball."

Questions elaborated on in unusual ways were these: What changes in gardening are coming? What are the New Concepts? What are the new opportunities? Answers varied from forecasting a floral paradise to fearing that mechanical birds will eat plastic worms from synthetic grass.

Mrs. Coleman said that backyard gardens and front yard lawns of Main Street, U.S.A. will get more emphasis as pollution increases.

Horticulturalists predict a revolution in relation to plants and people, she said. Predictions also say that man will increase his appreciation of the role plants play on this planet.

The president, Mrs. Ralph Owens, welcomed three new members: Mrs. Sam Gholson, Mrs. Benson Long, and Mrs. Mike Smith. Other new members will be presented at another meeting.

Mrs. Felts pointed out steps necessary to construct garments of plaid fabric that look professional. She noted that some fabrics have even plaids while others have uneven plaids. Those with uneven plaids must be cut with the top of each pattern piece in the same direction when laying out the pattern for cutting.

A method demonstration was given by Mrs. Felts to show a simple method for lining a top or blouse and for putting in one piece facings. Those attending were:

Mrs. Russell Hill, Mrs. Auburn Keller, Mrs. Roland Mayhugh, Mrs. Kirby Campbell, and Mrs. James Boswell.

Questions People Ask About the Catholic Church

Q. What is the derivation of the name "Jesus"?
A. It means "Saviour" in Christian usage. It comes from the Aramaic and Hebrew "Yeshua" and "Joshua", meaning "Yahweh is salvation" . . .

Q. Why do you never comment on other faiths in your column?

A. I think it would be very inappropriate to do so. I am a Catholic priest, so the only faith I am a so-called "expert" in would obviously be the Faith given to us by Our Blessed Lord Himself. I leave the comments on other faiths to my dear friends and reverend colleagues, the ministers of those faiths. I am sure they would feel equally inadequate to comment on the Catholic Church.

Col. Alexander Ends 25 Years in Military

Colonel John T. Alexander retired from active duty at Fort Dix, New Jersey on August 31, after a military of some 25 years that included service in both the Army and Navy.

He and Mrs. Alexander have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander and with her mother, Mrs. Hugh Jones of Childress.

They were joined by their daughter, Mrs. Bryan Mitchell and children, Jamie and Monte, of Dallas.

Col. Alexander's initial tour of duty was in the Navy from 1944 to 1946. He entered the Army in 1950 as a Distinguished Military Graduate of the University of Texas.

Overseas duty included Navy service in the Pacific Theatre, with Army service in Vietnam, Korea, and Germany. He had, in fact, four tours of duty in Germany.

His assignments included tours with the 2nd Armored Division; 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team; Office of the Provost Marshal General, Headquarters, Department of the Army; U.S. Army Military Police School; U.S. Army Combat Developments Command; and with a number of military police units.

Command assignments included the 709th Military Police Battalion in Germany and the 93rd Military Police Battalion and 16th Military Police Group in Vietnam. His last active duty assignment was as Provost Marshal, U.S. Theatre Army Support Command in Germany.

Col. Alexander's decorations have included the Legion of Merit, with Oak Leaf Cluster; Meritorious Service Medal, with Oak Leaf Cluster; Air Medal; and Army Commendation Medal, with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Mrs. Alexander is a former Childress girl, Betty Alexander, and the couple married after he had completed a year in the University of Texas. Their daughter, Kathy, was born while he was still a student.

She has accompanied her husband to those assignments where this was possible, as well as to the four tours at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

She has been active in those organizations in which Army wives work, and in March received recognition for her leadership in the Army Community Service at Worms, Germany.

She had spent around 35 hours a week with that organization, increasing its volunteer workers from three to more than 40, with 15 additional women on call when needed.

She inaugurated and carried out a number of projects which were needed on the post and with the base school.

The couple's retirement home will be in Augusta, Georgia, with frequent visits to Dallas to see their daughter and grandchildren, to Wellington to be with his parents and sister, Mrs. V.K. Orr, Jr., and to Childress to visit her mother.

Home Management

By Mrs. Arla Felts

Provide nutritious snacks for this football season's "arm-chair quarterbacks."

These television-viewers and other family members can consume up to half of a day's food in the form of snacks, Mrs. Arla Felts, County Extension Agent, noted.

If they reach mainly for soda pop, potato chips and cookies in the home "concession stand," they'll get plenty of calories but not many vitamins, minerals or protein.

To simplify matters, set aside one shelf in the refrigerator and cabinet especially for snacks and quick meals. Let it be known that family members can come here first when hungry or thirsty.

Keep plenty of fruit juices, cold water and milk around. To keep milk costs down, use dry milk mixed with water. Add chocolate, vanilla or fruit flavors to make it "special."

Other favorite milk foods offer food value as well as good taste -- such as ice cream, puddings, cheese and yogurt.

Fresh fruits and vegetables also provide delightful -- but nutritious -- snacks.

For convenience, fix raw vegetable strips and slices about once a week -- and keep them in the refrigerator crisper. Include carrots, celery, turnips, green peppers, cucumbers, cauliflower, bananas, apples and oranges. They're simple-to-fix, easy-to-eat and high in food value.

If sandwiches make up part of the team's snack menu, keep bowls of egg and tuna salad handy in the refrigerator. Also keep peanut butter within easy reach.

Cheese and crackers -- as well as cheese sandwiches -- provide nutrition-packed snacks for nibblers.

So, keep nutrition in mind when stocking up with snacks, the agent advised.

Jr. Varsity Downs Childress 21 to 6

Wellington Junior Varsity defeated the Childress Junior Varsity 21-6, to underscore the Skyrocket victory over the Bobcats earlier in the season.

The game was played at Childress.

Coach James Hicks' boys kicked off to open play, but the Wellington defense held Childress to three downs and they had to punt. The JV received the ball on their own 35 and drove to mid-field, where they also stalled.

Childress then received the ball deep in their own territory, and again were unable to move the ball. As they attempted to kick the ball, Don Allred came up the middle and blocked the punt on the Childress 15.

The first Wellington touchdown came seconds later on a 15-yard pass from Shane Tarver to Edward Thomas. Ricky Ford kicked the extra point.

Wellington blocked Childress punts twice more before the half, but couldn't score.

With 50 seconds left before the half, Childress broke an off tackle play on the Wellington 40 and carried the ball to the 20. Then with the ball on the Wellington 15, Childress scored on a bootleg pass. The attempt to go for two points failed.

The ball changed hands several times when play was resumed after the half. With two minutes to go in the third quarter, and with Childress on the Wellington 30, they ran an option play and Rocket defensive quarterback Ricky Ford forced their quarterback to pitch the ball. Richard Sims cut in front of the Childress receiver to catch the toss and run 70 yards for the touchdown. Ford again kicked the extra point to make it 14-6.

Midway in the fourth period, Richard Sims again broke off tackle for 30 yards and the touchdown. Ford again kicked the extra point to make the score 21-6.

Two defensive standouts appeared in the game, Coach Hicks said. These were Victor Aguero and Ford. On the offense, Randall Sims also intercepted two Childress passes.

"As a team, the junior varsity caused Childress to make several fumbles, and in all there were 7 turn-overs by the much larger opponents," said coach, adding that when the teams came on the field, Wellington with 19 players and Childress with 53, it looked like the Rocket JV was lining up against the Dallas Cowboys.

"But the kids went over there with the attitude that they were going to do the job and that is what they did," Hicks declared.

Mrs. Callie Jane Baker, 69, a long-time Quail resident before moving to Hedley 8 years ago, died in Hall County Hospital early Tuesday, October 23.

She came with her husband, the late Creed Baker, and their children to Wellington in 1942, and moved to Quail in 1945. They farmed there until Mr. Baker's death September 13, 1963, and two years later, in 1965, she moved to Hedley.

Born at Locust Grove, Oklahoma, April 21, 1904, she was the daughter of Tom F. and Lillie Mae Price Eddings. She and Mr. Baker were married June 30, 1921, at Parker, Oklahoma, and lived in that state until they came here.

Mrs. Baker was a member of the Church of Christ.

Funeral services were conducted at 3:00 p.m. Thursday in Hedley Church of Christ, with Bright Newhouse, minister, officiating. Burial was in Quail Cemetery under the direction of Spicer Funeral Home of Memphis.

Valley Downs Eighth Grade

Wellington Eighth Grade lost to Valley 8-6 there Thursday night, October 25.

Wellington's lone score came mid-way in the third period, however the Firecrackers scored twice more during the game but the touchdowns were called back.

Arnie Ingram crossed the goal line each of the three times. Valley did not threaten until the last seconds of the game, after Wellington fumbled to them on the Firecracker 25 yard line. They drove down to the four yard line with four seconds left and scored on the fourth down. The ball was run over for the two points.

Ingram's first touchdown to be called back came on the first play from scrimmage.

The second was at the beginning of the third period.

The score that stood came on an end run from 30 yards out, but the try for extra point was not good, according to Coach Carroll Nunnelley.

Baker of Wellington, Paul James Baker of Amarillo, and Ronnie Dean Baker of Tampa, Fla.

Other survivors are a brother, Tommy Eddings of California; four sisters, Mrs. Johnny Yotes of Calif., Mrs. Blanche Brown of Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Myrtle Gwinn of Coalgate, Okla., and Mrs. Mabel Scifres of Ringling, Okla. There are 43 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Most County People Have A Stake in Amendments

More Collingsworth County people than you might think have a personal stake or considerable interest in the outcome of the 9 amendments to be voted on Tuesday.

We urge that you vote your conviction in this election.

All single adults owning property have a stake in Amendments No. 2, which concerns homestead protection for them and in No. 3 which would extend the $3,000 ad valorem tax exemption to homesteads of unmarried adults.

It is possible that the county could be concerned with No. 4, which proposes that certain requirements be established relative to creating certain conservation and reclamation districts.

Every property owner in the county should be concerned with No. 6, which proposes changes in handling of probate matters. He should study it closely and determine if he does or does not want it.

Veterans have a stake in No. 7 which would provide $100 million in bonds for the Veterans' Land Fund.

No. 8 would enable the city, along with all others, to levy ad valorem taxes to pay its general obligations, as defined in the proposed amendment.

Everyone on the Samnorwood Water System would be affected by Amendment No. 9, which would give tax relief on certain properties for this type of system.

Altogether, a lot of Collingsworth people are directly affected by these 7 proposed amendments.

Of the other two, the first proposes annual regular sessions of the legislature. Only Amendment No. 5 does not concern us, as it pertains to Gulf Coast cities.

Stillborn Idea

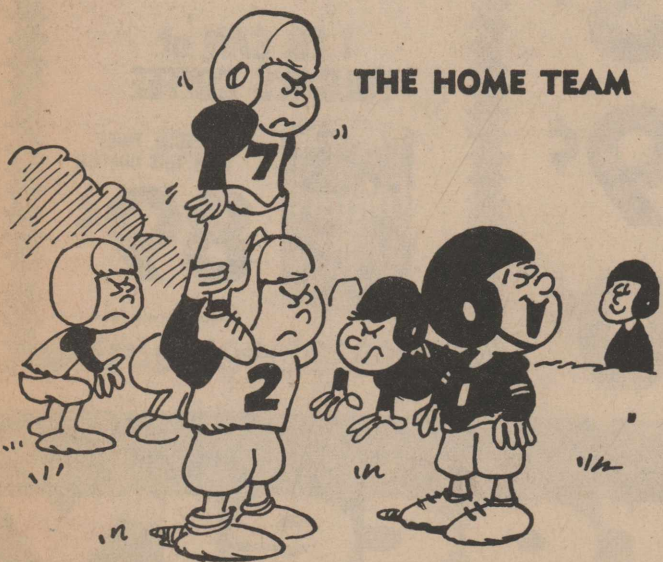

According to those rosy predictions of our scientific future that were a popular feature of Sunday supplements back in the 1930s and '40s, by now we should all have a television/telephone in the house.

Alas, Ma Bell has come a cropper. After disappointing test results in Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Washington, American Telephone and Telegraph Co. has sent its Picturephone back to the drawing board, reports Electronics magazine.

It's not that the thing doesn't work. It's the high cost - $86.50 a month for 109 Chicago customers and about twice that for the handful of Pittsburgh and Washington users - and the corresponding lack of customer demand for the service.

As a result, AT&T is redesigning the system to add flexibility in the few instances where it has met a need. Among successful applications is in Cook County Hospital, where the Picturephone has been used to transmit images of patients or x-ray and other tests to doctors elsewhere in the building. The Chicago sheriff's office also uses Picturephones to speed bonding procedures by sending pictures of prisoners to the night bond court instead of transporting the actual people.

The rest of us, however, will have to make do with the old-fashioned instrument for as far ahead as anyone can . . . picture.

"I think they're starting to panic, gang!"

AUSTIN, TEX. -- Some 230,000 aged, blind and disabled receiving state aid are being notified they will get final welfare checks from the State Welfare Department in December.

The federal government assumes responsibility for their assistance January 1, under the new Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program administered by the Social Security Administration.

Medical and social services and food stamps for eligible persons will remain the responsibility of the state welfare agency.

The elderly who get Social Security checks will continue to receive them along with a second check from SSI if they qualify under the federal program.

Most recipients will get higher assistance payments under SSI. Some, however, will receive less. Residents of nursing homes or institutions will remain eligible for medical assistance.

The State Welfare Department will continue to furnish the needy with glasses, dentures, hearing aids, prescribed drugs, medical services and food stamps if they qualify.

Eighty-four per cent will receive more money; two per cent will lose assistance altogether; reductions can be expected by nine per cent and five per cent will get about the same amount.

In most cases of loss or reduction, benefits will be compensated through state-administrated social services programs like foster care for the aged and homemaker and chore services enabling people to remain in their own homes rather than enter nursing homes.

SSI recipients can get food stamps if their amount of benefits is not greater than the amount of welfare grants added

MARIJUANA CASES TO GET REVIEW -- Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he will seek a case-by-case review of some 800 persons serving prison time for possession of marijuana.

Briscoe promised a policy statement when the Court of Criminal Appeals finalizes its ruling that resentencing provisions of a new drug law which sought to permit sentences of present inmates to be shortened. The new law lowers first offense marijuana possession penalties to a misdemeanor.

The Governor indicated he will ask the Board of Pardons and Paroles to make recommendations to him in each case for possible pardon or executive clemency. Preference will go to first offenders sentenced for possession of small amounts of marijuana.

Meanwhile, Briscoe differed with some of his top supporters on priority for distribution of funds from his big October 30 fund-raising dinner. Dinner co-chairman Joe Kilgore said the "first commitment" on the expected $750,000 or more will be to Briscoe's 1974 re-election campaign. Briscoe said he is not yet a candidate, and his idea of first priority financially is retiring the deficit from his two prior campaigns (which once ran as high as $800,000).

Tax Exemption Asked on Rural Water Systems

AUSTIN—A plan for the development of rural Texas was revealed here today that includes a recommendation that non-profit water supply corporations be exempt from property taxes.

The plan is the result of an 18 month study by the Texas Rural Development Commission and it was made public during the Governor's Conference of Rural Development. The conference marked the official end of the Commission's activities.

The recommendation related to non-profit water supply corporations is included in the General Government section of the Commissions report. A proposed amendment to the Texas Constitution, number nine, will appear on the November 6 ballot that will give the Texas Legislature the authority to write legislation exempting non-profit water supply corporations from property or ad valorem taxes. Explaining its stand on the issue, the Commission report stated, "This taxation, now greatly hindering rural development because of the constraints it places on developing water sources, does not take into account the vital fact that non-profit water corporations are in business just to serve the members domestic water.

These corporations are owned by the people they serve and operate in a manner similar to municipal systems and water districts but they are taxed and do not have the power to tax."

Other major features of the Commission's report include Economic Development, Housing, Natural Resources, Transportation, Health, Education and Human Resources.

Insurance plans for older persons will be explained and evaluated by Sam Mormino, insurance consultant for the National Retired Teachers Association, at a meeting of the Collingsworth County RTA unit at 12 noon, Nov. 6 at 1907 Dalhart Street, Wellington, in the home of Mrs. Dee Coleman.

Members of NRTA who are interested in insurance matters will be welcomed at the meeting. A question-and-answer period will provide opportunities for individual cases to be explored.

Retired educators interested in attending the luncheon and meeting should contact Mrs. Myrtle Hill or Mrs. Coleman.

Farm Bureau States Stand On Amendments

Farm Bureau has definite positions on two of the nine proposed amendments to be voted on in Nov. 6 general election, according to Ronnie Hartman of Wellington, president of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau.

These are propositions No. 1 and No. 9, the county leader said.

Amendment No. 1 provides for annual regular sessions of the Legislature and provides for an annual salary of $15,000 and a per diem allowance of $18 for members of the Legislature.

Farm Bureau policy is against annual regular sessions, Hartman said. He added that the organization has no policy regarding legislators' salaries.

Amendment No. 9 authorizes the Legislature to exempt certain water supply corporations and cooperatives from the property tax on certain facilities. Farm Bureau favors this amendment, the County Farm Bureau president said.

Farm Bureau state policy is adopted each year in Texas Farm Bureau annual meetings, the local farm leader said. Voting delegates from counties comprise the House of Delegates

Deck's DIDACTICS

—by Deskins Wells

THE role of the farmer and rancher is little understood by too many residents of the metropolitan areas. This is unfortunate. There must be a better understanding of the necessity of providing the producer of food and fiber with an adequate income and one that does not fluctuate too widely.

UNDER such circumstances, it is refreshing to note the response to Gov. Dolph Briscoe's recent Texas Rural Development Conference. Gov. Briscoe is probably the most rural oriented governor the state has had in many years. He recognizes the importance of maintaining a stable economy in the county seat towns and rural communities if the people in the cities are to be clothed and fed. He knows the well being of the rural communities is essential to the progress and development of the state as a whole.

HIS RURAL Development Conference was a constructive step in keeping young people on the farm and bringing more young people back to the smaller towns. There is a good way of life in these towns and rural communities and the young people know it. More of them will return if worthwhile opportunities for a decent livelihood are available.

LAST OCTOBER I wrote as follows about wild geese being disorganized by a jet plane: "THE OTHER evening I was out in the yard gathering pecans when a jet plane passed overhead I paid little attention to the familiar sound; but right after that I heard the excited cries of geese. I rushed to a clear spot and saw a great number of birds flying north. Since they were not in the V formation, I thought at first that they were ducks; but when I heard the excited cries of disturbed geese and they were still flying north in utter disarray. There were far more birds in the air than the average migratory flight of geese.

ABOUT a mile northeast of Wellington they circled and started south still in a broken pattern I watched as they continued south until they were out of sight. As they grew dim in the distance it seemed to me that they were forming into two groups and resuming the familiar V pattern. Do you suppose the jet scrambled two flights of geese and got them mixed? I hope someone else saw the event.

LATER I asked if anyone else had seen the flight; but I did not receive any comment until spring of this year. Mrs. Emil Kersten told me that she and Emil saw the wildly flying geese going north and then going south and both of them were of the opinion that the geese reformed into two separate flights before they disappeared in the evening sky.

IT was October 30 and 31 of last year that an ice storm took out 240 poles in the Greenbelt system on a contour running from Claude past Groom to Alanreed and Laketon. The damage affected 1,000 miles of electric lines.

MERRITT JAMES brought the Leader force some large succulent turnips raised in his back yard. They were planted July 12. All his neighbors told him that was too early but the yield was abundant and the turnips are delectable. Louise offered to share them with the rest of the people on the Leader staff and only one even likes turnips. That is one advantage of being the boss of a business. You may not get all the gravy; but you do get most of the turnips.

Skyrocket Band Begins Annual Fruit Cake Sale

servations in this column during the past nine months. In fact they were so generous that you will need to ask Pat about them. Perhaps Pat thought that after the Oklahoma-Texas game that us old Texas grads had better stick together or else we will be stuck separately.

Cates Attends Conference on Rural Affairs

State Representative Phil Cates attended the Governor's Conference on Rural Development in Austin last Tuesday, October 23.

The purpose of the Conference was to inform the legislators attending of ways to assist local governments in providing essential public services for their citizens, and overcoming financial, social, and environmental problems.

Several workshop sessions were held in order for the legislators to become more familiar with problems in rural development. Workshops that were held included Economic Development, Housing, Natural Resources, Transportation, Health, Education, Human Resources, and General Government.

Representative Cates commented, "Governor Briscoe is exerting positive leadership through programs such as the Conference on Rural Development. This is impressive that in this day and time, when absence of strong leadership at certain levels of government is rampant, our governor exerts this interest in our rural problems and needs."

Representative Cates will again be in Austin on November 1 to attend the presentation of the proposed new Constitution to the House of Representatives.

Scholarship Fund Honors Dan Jones

COLLEGE STATION — A $10,000 scholarship fund has been established at Texas A&M University in memory of Dan F. Jones, son of Dr. and Mrs. E.K. Jones of Amarillo.

Young Jones was a graduate student at A&M when he died Dec. 29, 1971.

He was born in Wellington and lived here as a child.

The Dan F. Jones Memorial Endowment Scholarship will be awarded to a student enrolled in the master of agriculture degree program in feedlot management or related fields.

Dan Jones, who died of a cerebral hemorrhage, was only a semester away from receiving his master's degree at the time of his death. He had planned to remain at Texas A&M and work toward a doctorate. He had specialized in feedlot management and was president of the Junior T-Bone Club.

"Dan's devotion to the cattle industry prompted his family to begin the endowment fund," said Robert L. Walker, A&M development director who co-ordinated establishment of the scholarship. "Many of his friends have contributed to the fund with the hope that Dan's interest and work can be carried on by others."

Dr. Lowell Schake, associate professor of animal science at A&M, said the endowment would be invaluable in encouraging undergraduate students to continue their formal education in animal science beyond the bachelor's degree.

In presenting the gift to Texas A&M Dr. and Mrs. Jones said, "We hope this fund encourages and helps ambitious young men to further their education and receive graduate degrees in the field that Dan loved so much and at the same time, be a lasting meaningful and worthy memorial to our son."

A graduate of Amarillo High School, Dan Jones received his bachelor of science degree in biology from The College of Santa Fe in 1970. He was married to the former Patricia Ann (Tisha) O'Neill of Alexandria, Va., while both were students in Santa Fe. She received her bachelor of arts degree in English at Texas A&M in December 1971.
