At Least 40 Believed Dead In Rio Air Crash

Steady There, Girl

Weather cold enough to take advantage of a Christmas present finally came Wednesday afternoon, but it found Robbie Gray short on practice. Mr. and Mrs. Zack Gray, 1317 Tucson, had given their daughters an ice rink and ice skates. Robbie, however, found that ice skating requires some steadying hands as well as practice. She gets help from Pat Weaver, left, and Mike Weaver, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, and her sister, Linda Gray.

DOWN TO 8 DEGREES

Cold, Snow Chill City

Operation Deep Freeze moved into Big Spring Wednesday night.

Riding on the heels of snow which fell almost continuously Wednesday, the temperature toppled to 8 degrees Thursday morning.

Bright sun and blue skies today may be short-lived, the weatherman said. Cloudy and cold weather was forecast for tonight with a good possibility of snow flurries resuming on Friday. The thermometer may rise to 18 today and get no higher than 35 Friday.

COLDEST DAY

Today was the coldest Feb. 24 on record here. Previous low for the day was 16 degrees in 1959. Today was also the coldest day of the current winter and the most frigid since 5 degrees on Jan. 4-5, 1959.

The biting 8-degree night came after a cold day which saw the mercury hold to 25 degrees. Some of the snow which fell with intermittent intensity was still on the ground Thursday but a bright sun was shining. The moisture content of yesterday's snow fall was set at .06 inch by the U. S. Experiment Station.

Agriculturally the freeze was not what was wanted, according to Jimmy Taylor, county agent.

HARD ON PASTURES

It came at a time, he explained, when pastures were showing the first faint signs of life. Weeds and grass which are badly needed by livestock this spring were beginning to sprout; the freeze will kill many of these and slow down the development of others.

Some shrubs and fruit trees had begun to bud, Taylor said. He did not believe the freeze would do heavy damage to these if they were protected but there is a probability some early flowers and early blossoming shrubs will be hurt. Some fruit trees had begun to bud. Those will be damaged.

The only possible benefit he sees from the cold and he is inclined to regard this at a minor blessing—the freeze may have diminished some of the insect pests which will cause trouble later on in the season. He does not think the cold was sufficient to destroy any majority of these insects.

NEED SUNSHINE

"There's a good supply of moisture in the ground now and what would have been the best for us would have been a good long period of warm sunshiny weather," said Taylor.

Big Spring seems to have escaped more lightly from the present cold spell than many other cities.

There were no serious accidents or tragedies developing from the cold. Some damage to plumbing was indicated. A few cars not properly safeguarded, froze up. No fires developed—although these are not uncommon in intervals of extreme cold.

The cold did work additional hardship on the more needy residents of the community—a hardship reflected in the rush of applications for help to charitable agencies.

MORE AID APPEALS

Aid appeals have taken a sharp rise this month according to officials of local churches and the Salvation Army.

Churches report that the cold weather has caused increased appeals for coats, shoes and blankets. One church reports that numerous transients have requested meals and money for transportation.

Captain James Jay of the Salvation Army states that cases needing food and clothing since Jan. 1st exceed figures listed for the same time a year ago.

"The current cold spell," Jay adds, "is the main cause for the rise. Thursday, our day to issue clothing, we had about 30 families about twice as many as we normally have."

Jay points out that men's clothing is severely needed as is children's clothing and footwear.

Wintry Snow, Sleet Deal Hard Blows

By The Associated Press

Wintry snow and sleet storms, dealing crippling blows as they swept across Southwest sections, spread into the Ohio and Lower Mississippi Valleys today.

Most of Texas was staggered by the violent weather, the worst in a series of storms this winter. Zero cold invaded the South Plains, which was covered in some areas with a seven-inch snowfall.

Hundreds of families in East Texas were without heat or electricity because of power failures and natural gas line breaks. Scores of schools remained closed.

Snowstorms also belted eastern New Mexico, southern Oklahoma and Arkansas Wednesday. Falls ranged up to six inches in southern and central New Mexico and parts of Arkansas. The first snow in nine years fell in Texarkana, Ark.

Warnings of heavy snow — four inches or more — were issued by the Weather Bureau for areas in a band 100 to 200 miles wide from Arkansas northeast through southeast Missouri, most of Kentucky and southeast Ohio.

Rain and freezing rain which pelted northern sections of Louisiana and Mississippi and central and west Tennessee were expected to change to snow in many areas. The snow line extended into southern parts of Illinois and Indiana, with snow in prospect for other parts of the two states.

U.S. Navy Band Members Aboard

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A plane carrying U.S. Navy musicians collided over Guanabara Bay here today with a Brazilian commercial plane. There were indications of 40 or more deaths in the crash of the two planes.

The collision took place in sight of Sugar Loaf Mountain, in the bay area where President Eisenhower paraded Wednesday. The President was in Sao Paulo, Brazil, today when the collision took place.

The Brazilian air force said it believed 40 men were aboard a DC4 plane carrying the Navy musicians. But in Washington the White House said the plane carried 27 Navy Band and Orchestra members and a crew of 7.

Several survivors were reported, but first indications were that some of these came from the commercial plane.

The Navy plane was described as a DC4 and the commercial plane as a C47 or DC3 of the Real Line, a major domestic carrier in Brazil.

President Eisenhower was in Sao Paulo today when the collision occurred.

Reports from the Rio Yacht Club, near the scene of the collision, said some musical instruments had been pulled from the water along with nine bodies.

A U.S. Marine band came to Rio last week and participated Wednesday in the parade honoring Eisenhower. It was to have flown to Buenos Aires, Argentina, today to take part in ceremonies honoring President Eisenhower there Friday.

Water Service Interruption Set

Residents on the south edge of the city will be without water for about four or five hours one day next week.

Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said the water service interruption is necessary to install two valves and re-locate a 14-inch line through the Coronado Hills subdivision.

Specific areas affected by the shut-off are the Lockhart and Douglas Additions. Dunn said all residents who are being affected by the work will be notified by mail, prior to the shut-off.

"Interruption of service will be kept to a minimum," Dunn added.

River Hearing Recess Called

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Board of Water Engineers called a two weeks recess in the Trinity River hearing Wednesday.

There were some indications compromise talks may be under way between Houston and the San Jacinto River Authority.

Sao Paulo Cheers As Ike Rides In Rain

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — President Eisenhower doffed his gray felt hat and rode bareheaded in a heavy rain today to acknowledge the cheers of a half million or more fans in this industrial heart of Brazil. Confetti and ticker tape littered drenched streets.

Later at a luncheon Eisenhower extolled the free-enterprise system and pledged continued U. S. support for Brazil's economic development.

Opportunity without discrimination is a vital aspect of democracy in both Brazil and the United States, he said, and freedom in the long run yields the most productive economic system ever devised by man.

"Our socially conscious private-enterprise system benefits all the people, owners and workers alike," he said. "It has resulted in high productivity, high consumption, high wages, and a reasonable return on investment. Balanced progress is our watchword."

Eisenhower pledged that "within our financial and economic capacity, we shall continue to support Brazilian development." Brazil has received more than 2½ billion dollars in U. S. public and private credits.

A thousand guests attended the luncheon, sponsored by the Commercial Assn., the Industrial Assn. and the Rural Society. These big trade organizations include among their members businessmen who manage branch factories for U.S. and European companies manufacturing their products here for Brazilian distribution.

Brazilians danced, jumped and shouted in the rain in their enthusiasm over Eisenhower's visit. The temperature was 70.

There was no police estimate of the crowd's size, but the best guesses ran to at least half a million. There were probably not so many as welcomed Eisenhower in Rio de Janeiro Wednesday, but the Paulistas made up for this in enthusiasm. The cities are of comparable size, about three million each.

Eisenhower flew from Rio de Janeiro under overcast skies to spend 6½ hours in this Brazilian Chicago, 220 miles southwest of Rio. He goes to Argentina Friday.

A drizzling rain started soon after the President's motorcade left the airport. It was a downpour by the time the procession reached the Praza Bandeira, or Flag Plaza, where thousands had gathered to see him. Some had umbrellas, most did not.

DOFFS HAT

Eisenhower donned a raincoat, doffed his hat and waved.

Considering the weather, it was a big turnout.

Eisenhower on arrival reported he had heard Sao Paulo is the fastest growing city in the world. He said in a brief greeting speech it was a personal pleasure to have the chance to "witness first-hand the mighty achievement of this fabulous community."

His schedule included the placing of a wreath on a memorial to Brazilians who died as soldiers in his European command in World War II. Eisenhower termed this a "very special and, to me, deeply moving mission to perform in your city."

Gov. Carlos Alberto Carvalho Pinto of Sao Paulo State, Brazil's most populous and richest state, and the city's mayor, Adhemar de Barros, welcomed Eisenhower and his party at Congonhas Airport.

SLOW PARADE

After military honors, Eisenhower and the governor entered an open car and moved off slowly behind a motorcycle escort for a parade through the city's streets to the governor's official residence, Campos Eliseos—Elysian Fields. Even in the vicinity of the airport spectators lined the curbs.

Around the plaza, thousands of grammar and high school children lined the route. Many of them wore school uniforms. Spectators waved flags of the United States and Brazil.

Blue-uniformed city police lined the big square, spotted at intervals about 10 feet apart.

Just before the President's car arrived, a band struck up "God Bless America."

The President's big jetliner was left in Rio, and the trusty old Columbine III was brought out for the 220-mile flight from Rio to Sao Paulo. The local Congonhas Airport is built into the side of a hill and cannot handle airliner-size jets.

IMPRESSIVE VIEW

The skyline of the bustling provincial capital is the most impressive view to one of the fastest growing cities in the world.

The 36-story Banco de Estado, alongside the presidential route, is the tallest building in Brazil.

A fast, over-all view of the city was arranged for Eisenhower.

The route of his motorcade from the airport lay through the picturesque residential district — the Jardim Paulista.

Another undisturbed conference was arranged by Eisenhower and President Juscelino Kubitschek for the hour's trip back to Rio. But the two Presidents were expected to deal with world problems and hemispheric affairs in a general way only, leaving the details of U.S.-Brazilian matters to Secretary of State Christian Herter and Foreign Minister Horacio Lafer. They remained in Rio to confer.

Eisenhower was reported standing up well under the heat and humid weather he has encountered since he began his Latin-American visit in Puerto Rico Monday. He was beamingly pleased at the giant welcome Rio gave him on his arrival there Wednesday.

Ice Storm Causes Damage In Texas

By The Associated Press

Texans fought back Thursday against the most destructive sweep of bitter weather of the season.

The blizzard and ice storm which developed Wednesday dropped temperatures to as low as an unofficial 16 degrees below zero and covered parts of East Texas with damaging ice.

At least two persons died because of slick roads, and traffic pileups occurred almost everywhere in the snow-ice zone.

Thursday's bright sun shone on drivers inching their way along hazardous streets and roads, and on electric power linemen struggling without sleep to restore service in East Texas.

Reese Strong, assistant manager of the Rusk County Electric Co-Op called it the worst ice storm in the co-op history because it was so widespread.

Strong said it may be two or three weeks before power can be restored to all the 75 per cent of the agency's customers whose lines went down.

WIDE DAMAGE

Damage stretched from Northeast Texas, where forests suffered from the weight of ice, to the lower Rio Grande Valley, where the Brownsville Weather Bureau said the tomato crop probably was a total loss. Other Valley observers, however, said it is too early to tell the amount of damage, but feared more freezing weather Thursday night.

The Weather Bureau said more snow may move into the state Friday.

The blizzard deposited from an inch to 7 inches of snow from El Paso on the extreme west to the Louisiana line on the extreme east. In East Texas, the bitter storm left heavy ice in the Rusk-Cherokee - Gregg - Harrison-Smith counties area.

The mercury plunged to an official 13 degrees below zero at Muleshoe northwest of Lubbock, and to an unofficial 16 below on a ranch near Muleshoe. It was the coldest since 21 below was registered there Feb. 8, 1933.

Cleburne reported the coldest weather in nine years with a drop to 12 degrees. At dawn, all parts of the state reported below freezing readings.

Almost all schools closed in the worst part of the cold belt.

Many homes in the ice area suffered intermittent loss of power where they had any at all.

Pine forests around Marshall apparently suffered badly from broken limbs. Many pine seedlings broke, and others were bent to the ground by the weight.

C. V. Fagan and Bud Johnson drowned Thursday when their car skidded off a creek bridge near Marshall. The two Negroes resided at Harlton.

The Texas Open Golf tournament started as scheduled in San Antonio after a threat of postponement. The Henderson - Navarro junior college basketball game at Corsicana was cancelled. North Texas State at Denton postponed a triangular track meet.

Deepest snow piled up at two widely separated points—7-inches in the Lubbock area and 6 at Texarkana. The Panhandle generally was under a blanket of an inch.

Other representative snow depths included Childress 4 inches, Dallas 2 inches, Abilene, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells and Sherman one inch.

As the sun deceptively beamed down Thursday, the wave of accidents spread. And even where no accidents occurred, slipping of cars caused traffic jams both on highways and city streets.

Power failures and natural gas line breaks caused misery in East Texas. Ice snapped electric cables and halted delivery of gas for heating.

Thousands of homes were without electricity, which many used for heating, and hundreds of persons sought refuge with friends or huddled in cold homes.

The severest cold was in West Texas where there was no disruption of power or gas service.

The cold caused a gas line malfunction in the southern part of Longview, in East Texas, and 400 to 500 families were without heat for hours.

Springer Proposes Zoning Revisions

Zoning is a comprehensive plan to meet a community's needs, Marvin Springer told 38 Big Springers attending the Master Plan Steering Committee meeting Wednesday.

Springer, the city planner, was in Big Spring to discuss zoning and he made specific proposals for revision of the city's zoning ordinance. His discussion and recommendations tended to be conservative as members of the committee called for more strict zoning measures.

CHURCH PARKING

This was apparent when the audience discussed required parking space for churches. Springer hesitated to ask churches to provide ample parking. Several members said such requirements should be included. A straw vote indicated the membership split about 50-50 on the matter.

Floyd Parsons suggested a special zone might be included for the types of businesses that would be allowed in school neighborhoods. He said some kinds of retail sales were detrimental to schools and they should be controlled.

13 DISTRICTS

Springer's recommendation would include 13 different zones or districts within Big Spring. The city currently has nine. He had his recommended zones listed and explained each of them in detail. He also displayed a multi-colored map, indicating where these zones would likely fall.

A "parking zone," limited to parking space for businesses is one of the new districts in his recommendations. Another is an "office zone," limited to office-type businesses such as doctors, insurance men, etc.

Still another is "planned districts," where the planning and zoning commission would work with a developer in planning an entire shopping center.

Springer told the committee he would incorporate their ideas into a written ordinance and return with it for presentation in about 30 days. He also plans to report, on thoroughfares and other land use.

SUBCOMMITTEES

In the business session, Dr. J. E. Hogan suggested that subcommittees be named to work on specific details of the master plan.

"This will get more people involved in the plan and help get the information before the people," he said.

The group approved this plan and Dr. Hogan named the members of the planning and zoning commission and the zoning board of adjustment to a "zoning subcommittee."

Living Costs Take Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower prices for clothing, new cars, eggs and most meats brought a slight decline in living costs in January.

It was the second straight monthly dip in the government's living cost index.

Even so, the index is still just a little under its record high.

And, although down from December, the January living cost level was a record high for a January.

The Labor Department reported today the index dropped one-tenth of one per cent in January to 125.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. This is the lowest living cost level since September but it is 1.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The slight change will have this effect on wages of various workers whose union contracts provide for wage adjustments geared to the index:

Wages of about 60,000 workers in aircraft and farm machinery industries will be reduced, in most cases by one cent an hour.

About 14,000 trucking industry workers will receive a one per cent hour raise on a different adjustment basis.

There will be no wage change for about one million workers in the auto and related products industries.

The Labor Department also reported that spendable earnings of factory workers remained at a record high in January. This is contrary to the seasonal tendency and is despite a rise of one-half of one per cent in the social security tax.

Spendable earnings—or net paychecks after tax deductions—averaged $82.33 a week in January for a worker heading a family of four, and $74.74 for the single worker.

Compared with a year earlier these earnings were up about $3.50 a week or 4½ per cent.

Precise Maneuvering Marks Rights Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some political maneuvering with the precision of a ballet dance is going on behind the facade of the Senate's marathon debate on civil rights legislation.

While one Dixie speaker after another cries out against what many of them call the "lynching" of the South, members on both sides are huddling behind the ornate closed doors of the cloakrooms to plot fresh political strategy.

The timing of a motion to limit debate is of paramount concern in these conferences.

The senators talked on for more than 12½ hours before quitting Wednesday night, and Southerners threatened to prevent committee meetings and tie up all other Senate business in retaliation for the lengthened sessions.

The principal question facing civil rights advocates is: How long should the thus far one-sided debate be permitted to spin off the weary hours before a parliamentary move is made to curb it?

The question for Southern opponents is: How long do we have to carry the burden of talking, talking before the other side tries to demonstrate it has the votes to end our filibuster in a manner in which the folks at home can't blame us?

For the Southerners the problem is largely one of conserving their physical strength and vocal chords by time-delaying parliamentary tactics until the other side moves.

For the civil rights advocates, the problem of timing is much more complicated.

Almost without exception senators are proud that theirs is one legislative body left in the world in which a man ordinarily can talk as long as he likes about any subject he chooses.

As a result, it is difficult to get many of them to vote to curb the speaking privilege. A few won't cast such a vote under any circumstances.

Because of this, the timing will have to be exact to get the required two-thirds of those voting to cut off debate on the civil rights matter. A successful vote can come only after most senators believe it has been demonstrated to the public there is no other way to break a filibuster.

This naturally calls for around-the-clock sessions, which Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas says will start next Monday. These are geared to leave the impression that without a debate-ending vote, a determined little band of Southerners can keep the Senate tied up permanently and prevent any action on civil rights.

The Southerners would be happy if this were true. But most of them concede privately that they haven't the manpower nor the long distance speakers to buck for any length of time a full fledged effort to wear them out. Some of their best marathon talkers aren't as young as they used to be.

By way of demonstrating their determination to the home folks, they intend to use every parliamentary delaying device. One of these is for each Dixie speaker, when he concludes, to note the absence of a quorum.

Carole's Attorney Risks Finch's Life To Save Client

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorney has painted a hypothetical picture suggesting her surgeon lover could be guilty of murdering his wife but that Carole is innocent.

Some observers saw the lawyer's imaginary anecdote for the jury Wednesday—in which he did not mention Dr. R. Bernard Finch by name—as a last-ditch effort to save Carole even at the doctor's expense.

But defense lawyers insisted there was no break in their ranks.

The defense took over final arguments after a prosecutor declared the lovers hoped to solve their financial and romantic problems with "one shot in the back" of Mrs. Finch.

The 42-year-old society surgeon and his 23-year-old mistress are charged with murdering his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina last July 18.

Carole's counsel, Robert A. Neeb, who resumes his summation today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree.

"And supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

"Maybe I lent him some money, and I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it out with the tenant.

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere in my car and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have trouble with this fellow.' And he says, 'Bring the paper bag in.'

"And I bring it in, and he gets into an argument — he gets into an altercation, and maybe it turns out there is a weapon in the bag, and the tenant gets shot.

"Am I guilty of murder? No, I am not, because I didn't have a knowledgeful, intentional participation in the event which was unlawful.

"You have to answer this question in this case, as far as Carole Tregoff is concerned.

"Unless you believe ... that when the car was moving from Las Vegas to West Covina ... Carole Tregoff had in her mind an intent to kill, she is entitled to an acquittal of the charge of murder in this case."

Finch and Miss Tregoff drove in her car from Las Vegas, Nev., to the Finch house the night of the slaying. They say they went there to discuss a divorce with Mrs. Finch. The doctor testified the gun discharged accidentally as he tried to throw it away after snatching it from his wife.

Carole testified she carried the doctor's attache case, called a "murder kit" by the prosecution, from the car to the Finch house because it contained a flashlight the doctor wanted. Finch says the case, containing a carving knife, hypodermics, sleep-inducing drugs and other items, was one he was preparing for use on emergency calls.

Girl Hit By Car, But Not Hurt Seriously

Sylvia Polanco, 16, was not considered seriously hurt as the result of an automobile mishap this morning. She was struck about 7:45 a.m. by an automobile driven by Raul Ortega, 817 NW 4th, at 6th and N. Gregg.

A River ambulance carried her to Malone-Hogan Hospital where attendants planned to take X-rays this morning. Police said she was dragged about 15 feet.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Polanco, 411 NW 10th.

Two other accidents were reported during the last 24 hours. However, neither involved injuries or serious damage to the vehicles.

Delbert Vaughn, 1807 Runnels, and R. L. Lasater, 802½ E. 12th, were involved in a crash at the high school.

Charles D. Vieregge, 1111 N. Gregg, and Jimmy Emmett Baker, Forsan, were in collision in the 3200 block of U. S. 80.

Remote-Controlled Vehicle May Be First Moon Visitor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A remotely controlled "roving vehicle" may be the first device to explore the surface of the moon.

As described by Robert Jastrow of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the moon rover in its more advanced form may be powered by solar cells.

"During each fortnight-long lunar day it may then crawl slowly over the lunar surface, collecting data samples and analyzing local conditions as it proceeds," Jastrow told the Geological Society of Washington Wednesday night.

"It will hibernate during the lunar night, and come to life again at each lunar dawn."

Jastrow conceded that it would be a formidable task to build a reliable vehicle that would rove in a vacuum under extreme temperature variations, performing physical and chemical tests as it proceeds, and controlled by an operator on the earth a quarter of a million miles away.

Jastrow, head of the theoretical division of NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center here, said that before the moon can be surveyed properly its surface must be studied close up with optical systems.

This may be done by satellites orbiting near the moon or by packages designed to crash-land on the moon, Jastrow said, with results being transmitted to the earth by television.

The first phase of an intensive study of the moon's terrain already has been completed, another speaker reported. Dr. Arnold C. Mason told of a joint project with the Army map service to map the moon's surface.

The knowledge gained, Mason said, will help in selection of the best possible landing site on the moon. Stereoscopic methods have been used to study the elevations of the moon's mountains and valleys.

Little Hope Seen To Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — With little hope of success, House Democratic leaders scheduled a vote today on whether to override President Eisenhower's veto on antipollution bill.

Indications were they would fall 10 or more votes short of the two-thirds needed to enact the multi-million dollar measure into law over the President's objections.

The bill would authorize federal grants of 90 million dollars a year for 10 years to help municipalities build sewage treatment plants. Present law, not affected by the veto, sets the limit at 50 million a year.

Eisenhower objected to the proposed increased use of federal funds for the program, and said the job of clearing pollution from the nation's streams is primarily the responsibility of state and local governments. He has urged that the present program of federal grants be curtailed and eventually ended.

It's the first veto of 1960 and the 158th since President Eisenhower took office in 1953. Only once, last year on a big public works appropriations bill, has Congress overridden President Eisenhower.

Most Republicans, and a sizable group of Southern Democrats, were expected to provide enough votes to uphold the antipollution bill veto. They figured that 140 votes to sustain would be sufficient, since it would require 290 to override under those conditions. The present House membership is 431, but seldom do more than 400 members show up to vote.

When the bill was passed last year, the vote was 253-142, eleven short of two-thirds. Voting against it were 114 Republicans and 28 Democrats. For it were 226 Democrats and 27 Republicans.

Many of the Republicans who originally supported the measure were expected to side with the President and vote to sustain him today, while fewer than half the Democrats who originally opposed the bill were expected to change their position.

The vetoed measure would broaden the 1956 pollution control law by boosting to 900 million dollars the total of federal funds that could be spent. The original act set a 500 million limit, or 50 million each year.

The new measure also would raise to $450,000 the maximum federal grant for any project. The present limit is $250,000.

The Senate, which passed the bill last year by vote of 61-27 — more than two-thirds — will get no chance to act on the veto if the House sustains the President.

CTC Chairmen To Be Installed

Eight committee chairmen will be installed during the regular meeting of the Citizens Traffic Commission today. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., according to James Eubanks, executive secretary, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Arrested

A Detroit prosecutor ordered the immediate arrest of Mrs. Nellie Lassiter, 38-year-old ex-model, on charges of conspiracy to murder in the death of her husband. Mrs. Lassiter has been a spectator at the current trial of two men in the slaying of her husband.

HCJC Faculty Goes To Austin

Students get the weekend off but not the faculty when Howard County Junior College suspends operations Friday.

Faculty members, headed by Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, will go to Austin for the meeting of the Texas Junior College Association and the Texas Junior College Teachers Association.

Dr. Marvin Baker, assistant to the HCJC president, is vice president of the state association and has several parts on the program. Half a dozen members of the HCJC faculty are either on sectional programs or preside over them.

After classes this evening, HCJC will be closed until Monday morning. The state meet sessions begin Friday afternoon and terminate Saturday afternoon.

Club Readies Griddle Irons

Kiwanians were "casing the joint" at their luncheon today at the Howard County Junior College SUB.

The luncheon was shifted to that site in order that members could go over final details of the annual pancake supper starting there today at 5 p.m. and continuing to 9 p.m.

Marvin Baker, president of the Kiwanis Club, said that with the return of bright sunshine on Thursday morning, the prospects for a record turnout of pancake eaters is anticipated.

Advance ticket sales have been brisk and the club is preparing for a record number of customers.

Griddles and other special equipment for preparing the big supper were being moved into the Student Union kitchen Thursday afternoon. The bacon committee was slated to report at 2 p.m. to begin cooking operations.

Vast quantities of pancake batter were to be prepared and all of the other preliminaries for the event cleared away.

Baker pointed out that the Student Union offers a number of special advantages over the high school where these annual suppers have been held in the past. There is more parking space available. The access and exit facilities to the cafeteria are better than at the high school and more diners can be served at one time. Tickets are available at the door.

Guard Chief Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lt. Gen. William G. Price, 90, commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard from 1919-1933, died Wednesday.

Berserk Rifleman Kills 4, Is Cut Down By Troopers

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Why sharpshooter Daniel Raymond killed four passersby and wounded five others before being shot dead himself remained a mystery today to residents in the nearby mountain community of Chalkhill.

Although Raymond's wife indicated the shooting spree was touched off by his "nervousness," there were no clear-cut answers.

State police, protected by a tank, cut down the 42-year-old Raymond with a hail of machine gun bullets as he fled his burning home, climaxing a lengthy battle. Incendiary and tear gas bombs lobbed from the tank had set the home afire.

The mountaineer saw a doctor only Feb. 16 because he was nervous, his wife said.

Raymond, a pipeline walker for a natural gas company, had a reputation among the mountain folk in this southwestern Pennsylvania area for being a crack shot. He did his lethal shooting from the second story of his home, located about 50 feet from a rural road.

CHILDREN UNHARMED

Police shut off the road to all traffic, but this didn't stop Raymond. For the full nine hours he shot at almost everything that moved—cars and trucks. Only once did he fail to fire at a moving vehicle. This was a school bus carrying about 50 youngsters.

"He might have been reloading when the school bus passed," said a state trooper. "We'll never know why he didn't fire at those kiddies."

Veteran state troopers hugged the tank as it opened fire. They, too, peppered the house with volley after volley. Finally, the berserk Raymond tried to make a run for it. He ran a few feet, then dropped as the machine gun bullets cut through his body.

Those killed by Raymond were:

Mary Frances Sissler, 61, and Edna Maes, 53, both of Ohiopyle, Pa.; William Burd, 49-year-old highway department worker from Farmington, Pa.; and May Maust of Farmington, Pa.

Wounded were: Harry Cromwell, 31, of Ohiopyle; Lawrece Swenglish, 18, of Haddonville, Pa.; Carlus Maust, 22, husband of Mrs. Maust, and two Maust children, Mary, 3, and Eddie, 18 months.

Raymond was armed with two rifles, one with a telescopic sight.

NEVER KNOW

Police said they probably never will know just what triggered the tragedy although Raymond had been "acting nervous." His wife said he set fire to their living room about 12 hours before the shooting began. She said he doused the fire but she was frightened and took her three children to stay overnight with with neighbors.

This was the chain of events as pieced together by police:

Burd and his helper, Robert Richey, drove their cindering truck past the Raymond home about 8 a.m. Raymond shouted at them from a second-story window, asking them to cinder his driveway. Glad to oblige, Richey jumped to the ground to spread the cinders.

Suddenly, Raymond appeared at the window again. He opened fire, hitting Burd twice. Richey dove for cover. Burd managed to start the truck but it crashed into a tree 100 yards away.

Two motorists, George Smalley, 30, and Joseph Pickens, went to Burd's aid. They were not hit by Raymond. Burd died en route to a hospital.

BRAVE VOLUNTEERS

Swenglish was hit next as a shot pierced his windshield. A fire truck with volunteers braved rifle fire to rescue him. He was in a Pittsburgh hospital where his left eye was removed Wednesday night.

Then along came a car driven by Harry Cromwell, 31, of Ohioground to a halt. He stayed in the car for what he said seemed an "eternity." He was in fair condition at a hospital.

Mrs. Maes and Mrs. Sissler were next. Their car apparently went off the road when it was hit by rifle fire. They were shot as they tried to run. Their bodies lay on the road until Raymond was shot to death.

Now came the car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Maust and their two children. A shot rang out. Mrs. Maust collapsed against her husband. She was dead. Then Maust and his children were wounded. The car ground to a halt.

Maust cowered on the floor for hours with his children. Hours later police found the car. Maust and his kiddies were in fair condition.

"I knew something like this was going to happen," Mrs. Raymond told police after the shootings began. She said that before she fled her husband had bathed several times, and drank several pots of tea. When she asked him why he had bathed so often, she said he replied: "After I get rid of you I want to be clean when they pick me up."

Cons Cheer The Villain

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The scene was tense Shakespeare.

As Othello throttled Desdemona someone in the audience shouted, "don't do it, buddy, they'll send you to jail."

"You just don't know what to expect," said Dr. Lewin Goff in retrospect. His University of Kansas players had presented scenes from "Othello," "Brigadoon" and "Teahouse of the August Moon" to an audience of 900 inmates at Leavenworth Federal Prison.

The convicts cheered the villain in Othello and booed the hero—except when he strangled the heroine.

Polling Places For Vote Announced

Elbow and Forsan school patrons will go to the polls on Saturday to vote on a proposal to consolidate the two school districts.

Voting places are to be set up in each of the school buildings. Announcement was made that Elbow voters will cast their ballots in the school building proper and not in the gym as is the usual case in elections in this district.

At Forsan, the voting place will be in the high school.

Residents of the two districts say there has been relatively little discussion of the election since the petitions were filed to initiate the election. In general, a relatively light vote can be expected. This is based, residents of the two districts explained, on the lack of any organized opposition to the proposal.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Observance Of Girl Scout Week Planned

LAMESA — National Girl Scout Week, March 6-12, will have special activities here.

A parade is scheduled for downtown Lamesa at 4:30 p.m. Monday with Brownies Intermediate and Senior Troops of the city participating. Floats in the parade will depict the various program fields in scouting and will be made by various troops in the city.

Plans for the parade highlighted a Monday morning meeting of Girl Scout troop leaders from the North and South Neighborhoods at the Girl Scout Hut.

The annual sale of Girl Scout cookies will begin Friday, March 4 and continue through Girl Scout Week, said Mrs. W. D. Pratt, district chairman.

Brucellosis Tests To Be Outlined

Testing of Howard County cattle for brucellosis will get in action next Tuesday.

Several months ago, livestock producers of the county petitioned the Texas Animal Health Commission to designate the county as a Modified Certified Brucellosis Control area. The petition was granted and crews of state veterinarians will move into the county this weekend to begin the county-wide testing of herds.

Preliminary to the actual start of the testing will be a meeting at the Howard County Junior College Auditorium on Monday at 2 p.m. At this meeting, the state men will explain the program to be followed and emphasize the role of the stock owner in the enterprise.

Under the plan, every person who owns one or more cows will be affected. The testing of stock for brucellosis will be county wide. The law requires that every head of dairy cattle, and all registered cattle be given the test. Twenty per cent of all range cattle over three years of age must also be tested.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, is sending letters to more than 600 farmers and ranchers in the area calling attention to this meeting and urging that they make every effort to be present.

The state crews will explain in detail just how the tests will be made. They will come equipped with portable barriers to erect suitable pens for the testing where a farmer has no such facilities.

Taylor said that the crews will move out into the field on Tuesday and that the testing will continue until every herd, large and small has been checked.

He said that brucellosis is a relatively rare disease in this county. There has been an increase in the disease elsewhere, however, and the testing of Howard County herds is a step to eliminate the possibility of such spread in this county.

Cattle which are found to be infected with the disease will be branded on the jaw and must be destroyed.

County Court Jury Gets Testimony In DWI Allegation

Johnny H. Williams, charged with DWI, was on trial in Howard County Court on Thursday morning. A jury had been selected and evidence was being presented at 11 a.m.

One more day remains of the current jury docket in the Howard County court. So far, only one case has been tried.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, said that two defendants who had failed to answer when their cases were called last Monday afternoon showed up this morning. They are Louisiana Scott and Dillard White. Charges against the two allege unauthorized beverage possession on licensed premises.

Burns was informed that the two defendants had no attorney and that they were prepared to act as their own lawyers.

Politics And Pie Set At Gay Hill

Howard County's initial political rally of the current campaign will be staged at Gay Hill School on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The school is to sponsor a pie and cake auction, and candidates are being invited to be present. The sponsors said that arrangements will be made for each candidate to have an opportunity to address the crowd.

Improving weather conditions on Thursday cheered the sponsors of the rally. They anticipate a record turnout of Gay Hill community and other residents.

Ad Man Named For Brewing Co.

Jerry Knight has been named advertising representative for the Southwestern division of Falstaff Brewing Corp. with headquarters in the Galveston offices of the company, according to Barry Sullivan, division advertising manager.

Knight has been employed by the firm since August, 1948 and moves to Galveston from the company's plant in Fort Wayne, Ind., where he had served in the same capacity since Falstaff purchased the plant there in 1954. He is a native of St. Louis, attended Washington University there, and served as a sergeant in the United States Marine Corps during World War II.

Knight assumed his duties with the company in Texas on Feb. 15.

Leukemia Claims Little Girl, But She Got Cherished Wish

Funeral services for the little girl who wanted to see Disneyland before she died were held this morning at Brownsville.

Thanks to a host of Big Springers, who contributed about $2,000, Cheryl Jane Crossland made the trip to California and toured Disneyland before succumbing to leukemia, dreaded blood disease.

Her plight was first announced by a story in the Herald Aug. 14. Her father, J. L. Crossland, was out of work and could not furnish money for the trip or needed medical care. The next day, offers of blood, money and clothing flooded to the Crossland's apartment at 205 Nolan.

Following an appeal by radio station KBYG, a total of about $2,000 was raised and the trip became a possibility. Doctors at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston approved and the family made the trip. Crossland later found work in the Galveston area, so the family could be together.

Monday, "Suzie" Crossland, age 5, lost her battle with leukemia in the Galveston hospital. Services were at 10 a.m. today in the Portway Baptist Church at Brownsville, the Rev. H. E. Wyckoff officiating. Burial was to be in Rose Lawn cemetery with Darling Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Crossland, she is survived by three sisters, Sherry Lynn, Christy Lee and Doris Marie; two brothers, Jimmy Lee and Ronnie Lee, all at home; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milles, Desota, Ill. and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Tatum, Big Spring; and a great-aunt, Mrs. T. A. Beade, Clyde.

Make Best Use Of Scouting Units, Ministers Are Urged

When churches sponsor scouting units they ought to make them an integral part of the church program, E. C. Hogan, associate director of Protestant relations for the Boy Scouts of America, told a gathering of ministers here Tuesday.

Sponsorship of a Scout unit or units means that the church owns that unit lock-stock-and-barrel, said Hogan. It sets the policies for the pack, troop or post, and for that reason Hogan suggested that the units be administered under the church's system or commission for education.

The unit can become a feeder for the church by interesting unchurched boys, he said, and it should be an instrument for holding boys in a church-centered program that will enable the church to extend and make more effective its program of religious training.

Beyond the regular Cub, Scout and Explorer program, closer ties between boys, the church and the pastor can be developed through the God and Country awards, Hogan explained. No one but the boy's own pastor can pass a boy through the stages of this special award, and no one can make the award except the boy's church. The pastor has the privilege of altering or extending the requirements as he sees fit, Hogan added.

The ideal situation is for a sponsoring church to furnish its own leadership, or certainly to make sure that its members are in the majority on all committees, and to have a strong institutional representative who will relate church policies to the administration of the scouting program in that church.

Hogan spoke to ministers from Big Spring, Colorado City, Coahoma and Snyder at the gathering. Here for the session were P. V. Thorson, Midland, area executive, and Woody Smith, assistant area executive. The meeting was held on the HCJC campus.

Jury Returns Guilty Verdict

A Howard County Court jury deliberated 15 minutes Wednesday afternoon before bringing in a verdict of guilty against Melicio Sarmiento, charged with DWI. It assessed his punishment at a fine of $50 and three days in jail—the minimum penalty for DWI.

The case was tried on Wednesday afternoon and was the first case to go to a jury this week, although the docket was supposed to get under way on Tuesday morning.

Sarmiento's case was initially scheduled as the first to be tried but on Tuesday George Thomas, the defendant's attorney, was ill and the case had to be postponed.

Thomas filed a motion of a new trial as soon as the jury had reported. His client was allowed to continue at liberty on bond pending action on this motion.

A case alleging malicious mischief against Margarito Ortega was called up for trial Wednesday morning but the prosecuting witness declined to testify against the defendant.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Wednesday was a day to sit at the window with a cup of coffee and watch the wind blow the snow. However, later in the day if the window was facing west, it was hard to see the blowing snow for the sun in your eyes.

* * *

It's a long way from Framingham, Mass. especially when a couple is looking for the warmth of Texas sunshine and finds snow and one of the state's coldest periods. MR. AND MRS. FRANK NEAL are here to spend a month in the home of their sister and her family, MR. AND MRS. GEORGE GRIMES; their visit began with the cold and snowy weather. Another guest will be another sister, MRS. ELLA BRILEY of Childress, who plans to spend several weeks here. BUNKY GRIMES, NTSC student, will join the family for the weekend.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ELY JACOBS who have never been grandparents before, became grandparents twice Tuesday night when twin sons were born to MR. AND MRS. ROBERT ROBERTSON in Lubbock. Mrs. Robertson is the former Lucy Jacobs. The boys, who hadn't been given names yesterday morning, weighed 5 pounds, 14 ounces and 4 pounds, 10 ounces. Mrs. Jacobs has been in Lubbock with her daughter for the past two weeks.

* * *

MRS. FRANK L. TUCKER, who has been visiting in the home of MR. AND MRS. ROSS BARTLETT for the past two weeks, will leave Friday for her home in Dallas.

* * *

MRS. HART PHILLIPS and MRS. JACK JOHNSON are in Dallas marketing for Hemphill-Wells Co.

* * *

If the weather doesn't change their plans, MR. AND MRS. GLEN HANCOCK and MRS. WAYNE TOLLETT will leave Friday for Lawton, Okla., where they will visit Wayne Tollett who is stationed at Fort Sill.

* * *

The weather may have kept some people home, but the women who buy groceries on Wednesday were busily buying, weather or not. One woman, probably remembering the lines 'If winter comes, can spring be far behind?', was purchasing flower seed.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Uses Artificial Nails To Cover Broken Ones

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—"I think there is no sure way of growing nails," Kathleen Hughes confessed. "You have to experiment until you find what works for you. I had terrible trouble with mine until I became pregnant and had to take calcium tablets. And also someone suggested wearing artificial nails as a kind of protective covering. Before that I tried wearing multiple layers of polish and going without polish but still my nails didn't grow."

"Are the artificial nails hard to put on?" I asked.

"No, not if you shape them properly before attaching them," she replied.

She held out her hand and asked me to guess which finger had the false nail. It had been applied so skillfully I could not detect it.

Kathleen laughed. "Practice makes perfect, but when I am working I like to have my nails all the same length."

We were chatting on the "Hotel de Paree" set at CBS and she was wearing a figure-revealing costume.

"May I compliment you on getting your figure back!"

"The doctor made me diet and allowed me to exercise during my pregnancy, so it was not a problem to get my body back into shape. It's the girls who wait too long and let the sag in their muscles set that have a hard time.

"I was very good about doing my set-ups and my knee-bends, and I was wearing my old clothes in a very short time," she added.

"What's your favorite glamour trick?" I wanted to know.

"I used to have a terrible time with eyebrow pencils not having a sharp enough point to make the kind of eye-liner I liked. A make-up man suggested I soften my brush in a little lanolin lotion, rub this on the tip of my eyebrow pencil and paint on a line. It stays beautifully and gives me much more control, and the line is a perfect match for my eyebrows.

"Another thing that has helped my appearance enormously is an improvememt in my posture. I had an unattractive way of walking when I was in school, but I practiced balancing a book on my head until I could move with coordination. Little by little I learned to walk with grace and rhythm," she concluded.

Fingernail Tips

Kathleen Hughes feels that if you have problem nails you should experiment until you find the right method of making them grow. She is a TV actress on CBS' "Hotel de Paree."

Barber Finds Men Gossip Openly; Women Whisper

CALGARY, Alta. (AP)—A woman who has been a barber for 25 years says she prefers men to women as customers.

"In so many cases women come into a salon looking like Zasu Pitts and expect to leave looking like Marilyn Monroe," says June Grant.

"Of course, you get the odd fussy man too, but mostly they're much easier to please and much friendlier too.

"It's funny, you know. Men always hesitate a little before coming in for the first time. They pace back and forth in front of the shop five or six times and peer in the window. I guess they're a little scared."

Mrs. Grant says barbering is "earning a living the hard way."

She recalls one of her worst days when 17 yelling, fighting little boys made a blue Monday for her.

She can show a scar or two where a rambunctious youngster has planted his teeth. There's a big one on her arm where Eric Nesterenko, now with Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, bit her when he was a young tike.

There were five men in the shop while Mrs. Grant was being interviewed.

"They gossip just as much as women do. But they're open about it. Women whisper very softly so no one will hear them. But actually they want everyone to know what they're saying.

"The men talk freely and even get very loud at times. Especially when there's an election or something like that coming up. There's always a good argument around here. They really growl at each other."

When Mrs. Grant first entered the profession, barbering was fairly common for women.

"There just don't seem to be any these days though. I think it's because most women are scared. I don't know what they're frightened of, mind you. There are lots of nice people around. I've never had any trouble at all."

Mrs. Grant has a husband in the Army and two daughters, one in university, the other in grade school.

"They think it's fine that I work. They realize that to keep mother happy, they'll have to let her work."

"I'd rather cut hair than eat."

Mrs. Morgan Honored At Birthday Party

A surprise birthday party was given for Mrs. J. M. Morgan Wednesday evening by members of the BPODoes following their meeting at the Elks Hall. She is the lodge mother.

The party was a bit early; Mrs. Morgan will be 88 years old on March 2, but the occasion was set for the night of the regular session of the lodge.

Mrs. Joe Clark paid tribute to the honored guest, who was presented with a variety of gifts. A cake with a large red candle was served during the evening.

* * *

In the business meeting, the pro tem officers were Mrs. Julius Zodin, senior counselor, and Mrs. Morris Prager, outer guard.

Mrs. Joe Nixon and Mrs. Ralph Fox were elected to membership. Projects for fund-raising were discussed by the group.

A five-year service pin was presented to Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, who has served as treasurer and pianist. The name of Mrs. Joe Flock was called for the attendance prize, but she was not present.

* * *

For the Founders Day tea given Sunday at the lodge hall, decorations were in purple and gold.

Mrs. Glen Gale, Mrs. Bill Ragsdale, Mrs. S. V. Jordan and Mrs. Zodin formed the receiving line. Mrs. A. E. Walker was at the register; serving was done by Mrs. Bill Gray and Mrs. Clark.

Trees Need Good Diet For Growth

A balanced diet for trees looks something like the label on a vitamin bottle. The formula: high potency nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, plus a host of "trace" minerals, including iron, magnesium, zinc and boron.

So if you are one of the many home owners planning to dish out victuals to woody pets, don't serve them just any fertilizer this spring. Above all, make sure their blueplate specials are high in nitrogen content.

Take it from Homer L. Jacobs, research director of the Davey Tree Expert Co., nitrogen is the most important growth factor by far. He says the most effective tree food should have this element in the proportion of three parts to one part each of phosphorus and potash. Lesser ratios may result in malnutrition.

Trees are hungry for nitrogen, even in the so-called dormant season. They absorb this essential in nitrate form around the calendar. Experimenters find that phosphorus and potash are important in those unusual cases where soil may be deficient in them.

Because of their continuing need for nitrogen, arboreal friends cannot wait for slow-acting materials to release it. For instance, bone meal, tankage or cottonseed meal may make the nitrogen available when it is too late to do any good.

Feeding has many advantages. It speeds growth, increases tree resistance to insects and disease and builds added winter hardiness and summer drought protection.

Jayhawks Wind Up Regular Campaign

Prestige will be the only thing at stake when Howard County Junior College winds up its regular basketball season in an 8 o'clock engagement with Odessa College here this evening.

HCJC has already won the West Zone championship — its first in five years. Odessa lost all chance to win a spot in the State playoffs by dropping a 92-76 decision to Frank Phillips of Borger in Borger earlier this week.

The game ended a four-game winning skein for the Wranglers.

Tommy McMorris, star targeteer for the Wranglers, has missed the last two games due to the flu. He'll probably be poised for action this evening.

Form usually goes out the window when HCJC and Odessa meet. The Jayhawks can invariably expect a rugged time of it when they take the court against Larry McCulloch's outfit.

In the previous meeting between the two clubs, played in Odessa, HCJC scored nine points in the final two minutes of play to nip the Wranglers, 74-73. The Hawks seemed hopelessly beaten until they found the scoring range in those fading seconds.

Odessa brings a 12-10 won-lost record here. HCJC has won 24 of 27 assignments and has yet to lose on the home court.

The contest will serve as a final warmup for the Big Spring team prior to the Texas Junior College Conference tournament, which starts here Monday and extends through the following day.

McMorris, over the season, has averaged 14.7 points a game, having counted a total of 307 points. He's the only Wrangler among the top ten scorers.

Other Odessa starters are due to be Johnny Capps, Mike Shaddock, Kenneth Morse and Dave Kaminski.

Kaminski is a boy from Indiana who has been of great service to the Odessans since he joined the club at midterm.

HCJC's regulars saw only about 20 minutes of action against Lubbock Christian here the other night. The locals won that one by 30 points.

Probable starters tonight will be Bob Shirey, Harold Henson, Larry Cruise, Jimmy Evans and Tom Garrison.

Henson leads the Hawks in scoring with a 17.7 points-per-game average. Cruise and Garrison also rank in the top ten within the zone, Cruise with a 14.8 average and Garrison, who is averaging 14.2.

Steerette Set-Up

One of Big Spring High's top set-ups is Carol Phillips, who was to see action today as the Steerettes tackled Colorado City at 11 o'clock this morning in the 15th Annual Big Spring High School Volleyball Tournament. The meet runs today through Saturday. The Steerettes, state AAAA champions a year ago, are rated as one of the four tourney favorites.

Three State Champs Are Entered In Local Meet

Big Spring's annual volleyball tournament, which begins today, has three state champions listed in the pairings.

At the Abilene State Meet last year, Imperial took honors in the class B division and will face Big Lake tonight at 7 o'clock.

Pecos, the defending state AAA champ, drew a bye in the first round and will probably meet Snyder at 1 p.m. Friday.

State champ in the AAAA division is Big Spring and the Steerettes are one of the favorites in the pre-tourney listings.

The tournament is sponsored this year by Big Spring High School and trophies will be presented to the winner, runner-up, the third place team and the consolation winner.

A trophy will also be given to the beauty choice in the tournament. Outstanding spiker, outstanding set and high point server will receive awards along with the 12 all-tournament members.

Semi-final games at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. will probably see as much keen competition as the finals because the four favorites are due to clash in these two contests.

Swedes In Tie With Russians At S. Valley

By MURRAY ROSE

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Sweden's resounding upset tie with the Soviet Union's defending hockey champions has restored some zip to the Winter Olympics. It pointed up today's clash between America's dark horse forces and Canada's beefed-up sextet.

"With a break we could go all the way," said Jack Riley of Army, the coach of the Yank puckchasers. "We have hopes of knocking off the Russians. We beat Canada in 1956 and maybe we can do it again."

The Americans, who trounced Germany 9-1 for their second second straight victory Wednesday, had decisively beaten Sweden 6-3 in the first round of the round robin tournament. Canada whaled Czechoslovakia 4-0 after Sweden's sextet held the Soviets to a 2-2 draw.

It was the first time in Olympic competition that the Soviet skaters had to settle for less than a win. They went unbeaten four years ago, whipping both Canada and the U.S.A.

The host team takes on Canada at 6:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time). In the other games the Soviets play Germany at 4 p.m. and Sweden faces Czechoslovakia at 9 p.m. The other playoff matches of the tourney will be played Saturday, when the Yanks meet the Soviets, and Sunday, when the Soviets and Canada collide.

A crowd of about 7,500 was in the 8,500-seat Blyth Arena for the Soviet-Sweden clash and capacity crowds were expected for the remaining big ones.

Bill Cleary, 25-year-old Boston insurance man and veteran of the 1956 Olympic team, scored four goals, three of them on solo dashes, and received credit for two assists in the rout of Germany. Nils Nilsson, a 23-year-old salesman, blasted the two goals that earned Sweden the tie.

Hockey was taken over as the major lure here as the Soviets continue to roll up their overwhelming point score in the unofficial team race. The Soviets, with five gold medals, have 120 points. Germany is second with 52½ points, the U.S.A. third with 44 and Sweden fourth with 39.

In the two finals Wednesday, the Soviets collected their fifth gold medal on Eugeni Grishin's world-record equalling 40.3-second performance in the 500-meter speed skating, and Austria, the stronghold of Alpine skiing, finally won its first championship.

Ernst Hinterseer, a 27-year-old Austrian farmer and a last-minute replacement for one of his nation's disappointing aces, made two trips down the tricky 67-gate KT22 mountain course in a total of 2:08.9 to beat his countryman, 20-year-old Hias Leitner, by 1.4 seconds in the men's slalom. The 1,935-foot course dropped 708 feet.

Grishin, a 28-year-old Army lieutenant, stumbled on his last turn but still managed to equal his world record and Olympic winning time of 1956. Bill Disney, 27-year-old rug cleaner from Alhambra, Calif., was second in 40.3 seconds. Grishin's teammate, Rafael Grach, won the bronze medal in 40.4.

Dic McDermott of Essexville, Mich., was seventh in 40.9 and Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., tied for tenth in 41.2.

In the slalom, the Americans wound up this way: 9th, Tom Corcoran, Beaconsfield, Quebec, 2:14.7 and 37th, Frank Brown, McCall, Idaho, 3:01.3. Charles Ferries, Houghton, Mich., originally finished 12th in 2:18.2, but was disqualified. Jim Barrier, of Kalispell, Montana, failed to finish the second run. He had 1:13.4 for the first descent.

Sands, Barnhart Vie On Tuesday

Sands and Barnhart clash in a girls' bi-district playoff game here Tuesday night.

Details for the contest remain to be worked out but it will probably be in the high school gymnasium.

Officials met at Sterling City last night to arrange the site and the time for the contest.

Bad Weather A Threat To Texas Open Meet

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Wintry and threatening weather raised serious doubts whether the $20,000 Texas Open, one of the oldest golf tournaments on the winter tour, would start on schedule today.

A sweeping Norther covered much of Texas with ice and snow yesterday and this area was promised snow or rain today.

Officials crossed their fingers and put off a decision until daylight on whether the 150 golfers will tee off today.

Rain, cold and high winds have harried the touring players in tune-up rounds. However, Arnold Palmer, established as the favorite, posted a 3-under-par 68 at the pro-amateur earlier this week at the shorter Oak Hills course.

Scheduled to take part in the tournament on the 6,729-yard Fort Sam Houston course beside Palmer are Fred Hawkins, Bob Goalby and Mike Souchak.

Rex Baxter, Texas golfer at Fort Sam Houston, had a 5-under-par 67 over the Fort Sam Houston course this week.

Palmer is top money winner of the year with $16,122, Hawkins is next with $8,103 and Goalby has won $7,905.

Former Texas Open champions playing in the tournament include E. J. Harrison, Chandler Harper, Jay Hebert, Tony Holguin, Jack Burke, Wes Ellis, the hometown boy who won the title last year, Souchak, Doug Ford, George Bayer, Billy Maxwell, Al Besselink, Johnny Pott, Johnny Palmer, Dave Ragan, Frank Stranahan and Australian Norman Von Nida. Jack Fleck withdrew yesterday because of a sore foot.

Harper and Souchak are the record holders. Harper had a 189 for 54 holes in 1954 and Souchak shot 257 for 72 holes in 1955.

For 36 of its 39 years the tournament was held at the Brackenridge Park course. It was held at the Fort Sam Houston course for the first time in 1956 with Littler winning it with 276. This year's course is 200 yards longer.

The move to Fort Sam Houston was made to meet objections of golfers to "pitch and putt" Brackenridge Park with its rubber mat tees. Although the change was made to please the golfers there are more top players staying out this year than last year.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis, the Howard County Junior College track and field mentor, is a little put out with one of his more promising tracksters, who is not training with the same enthusiasm he showed prior to the Christmas holidays.

The young man has great potential but thus far has shown no great desire to succeed—and desire is what distinguishes the mediocre from the champions.

• • • •

Clyde Brownlow, the South Plains JC eager, suffered a blow in the solar plexus when he was injured in that game with HCJC here last Saturday night.

The young man collapsed because he was having trouble breathing normally. It takes a while to recover, after experiencing a blow in that vicinity of the breathing diaphram.

Add the name of Homer Norton to those one-time athletic personalities who are now in politics.

The former Texas A&M coach is trying for a place on the Rosenburg city council. Norton operates a motel there.

• • • •

Even when coaching at an AAA school, Emmett McKenzie, the new head football coach here, believed in booking all the AAAA teams possible as non-conference foes.

His Nederland team last season won ten straight games before yielding to Houston Lamar in bi-district play, 20-14.

His players still think they should have won that outing. On one occasion, Nederland tried to punt out from its own ten but the ball slithered off the booter's toe and traveled only one yard. Lamar drove to a TD.

Deep in Lamar territory on another push in the third quarter, the Bulldogs failed by inches to make a first down.

Lamar had the Nederland team down 20-0 at half time but the final two periods were all Nederland.

Perhaps Nederland's top win came over Istrouma High of Baton Rouge, La., state champion of that great commonwealth. Nederland won, 20-18. Istrouma later defeated another Texas power, Port Arthur, 7-0.

The Bulldogs have met Istrouma in each of the past four seasons and have won three of the games. The only time Istrouma held the upper hand in the series was the lone year it failed to win the state championship in Louisiana.

Last fall, Nederland opened with a 25-6 victory over Orange and then proceeded to beat Port Neches, 14-0; University High of Waco, 29-21; Istrouma; South Park of Baumont, 33-6; Lufkin, 24-0; Beaumont High, 55-0; Silsbee, 64-6; Vidor, 28-0; and French High of Beaumont, 21-11, before running into Lamar.

Sisbee, Vidor and Beaumont French were conference opponents of Nederland. French steps up to Class AAAA next season but the conference is adding three other schools.

Incidentally, Elwood Kettler, the former Texas A&M quarterback, was moved up as head coach at Nederland the same night the school board formally accepted McKenzie's resignation.

Pairings Set For JC Meet

The field has been completed and the pairings set for the annual Texas Junior College Conference's Basketball tournament, which takes place here Monday and Tuesday.

Frank Phillips of Borger became the eighth team to qualify for the tournament when it defeated Odessa College earlier this week.

Champions and runnersup in each of the four zones making up the conference are eligible to bid for the crown.

The schedule pits champions against runnersup from another zone in each of the first round games.

Monday's schedule:

Navarro of Corsicana (Zone I champion) vs. Allen Academy of Bryan (Zone III runnerup), 1:30 p.m.; South Texas of Houston (Zone I champion) vs. Frank Phillips of Borger (Zone IV runnerup), 3:30 p.m.; Panola of Carthage (Zone III champion) vs. Blinn of Brenham (Zone II runnerup) and HCJC of Big Spring (Zone IV champion) vs. Schreiner of Kerrville (Zone I runnerup3, 9 p.m.

HCJC may have the toughest game, by far, of the champions who see action in the first round.

The Jayhawks beat the Schreiner team in the finals of the San Antonio Tournament back in December but only by three points.

South Texas, which has lost only one game in 25 starts this season, is favored to capture the crown.

HCJC competed in last year's meet, finishing in fourth place. The tournament was held at Corsicana.

Semi-finals in the single elimination tournament are down for Tuesday morning. Third place will be determined in a 7 p.m. game Tuesday while the finals begin at 9 p.m.

Playoff Field To Be Cut To Four This Weekend

By The Associated Press

The eight teams still in the running for the 1960 Class AAAA schoolboy basketball crown will be cut to a four-entry field this weekend in regional playoffs.

The conflicts will set the stage for the state tournament here March 3-4-5.

A new champion is a certainty, since Pampa, winner of the crown in 1958 and 1959, lost out in District 3-AAAA competition.

Borger, which took the 3-AAAA title, faces Midland in the game that will name the Region I-AAAA champion and established the favorite in this year's state competition.

Midland rolled up the fanciest record in the state and the best in the school's history as the Bulldogs breezed through 30 straight games including a 77-52 victory over El Paso Austin in bi-district play.

Officials of Midland and Borger planned to set the time and place of the game Thursday.

The Region III-AAA crown will be decided Friday night in the clash between Houston Jesse Jones and Beaumont South Park at the Lamar Tech gym in Beaumont.

Austin Stephen F. Austin and San Antonio Brackenridge will play Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Texas Lutheran College gym in Seguin for the Region IV-AAAA championship.

Texarkana and Dallas South Oak Cliff will meet in another regional playoff Friday night at Dallas.

Bonnies Keep Winning Ways On Cage Court

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Bonaventure keeps building one of college basketball's top winning streaks while establishing Tom and Sam Stith as the most prolific brother pair on the court.

With Tom Stith nailing 29 points, including two clutch fielders in the last 80 seconds, and brother Sam Stith adding 16, the Bonnies raced to their 13th straight Wednesday night — a 76-70 squeaker over tough Duquesne.

Now 16-3 and 10th-ranked nationally, the Bonnies have only to negotiate Niagara, St. Vincent (Pa) and Canisius to carry a string of 16 into the NIT opening March 10.

At the same time, the Stith brothers from Brooklyn have just about wrapped up the title of the highest scoring brother pair in all major college history.

Tom, a 6-5 junior, has a 31.8 average while Sam, a 6-2 senior and a brilliant playmaker, is averaging 19.5 — a brother pace of 50.3. The NCAA service bureau's records show only four high scoring brother acts in the last 25 years with Johnny and Eddie O'Brien of Seattle the record family pair with a combined 45.1 per-game average in 1953.

Villanova and Dayton, slumping NIT teams, added victories while St. Joseph's (Pa) and Kansas State built their credentials toward NCAA-tournament berths in the night's other important games.

Villanova broke a three-game losing string and built its record to 18-4 with a 74-52 rout of Toledo of the Mid-American conference. Dayton (17-6) also snapped a string of three losses and severed Xavier of Ohio's six-game win streak, 91-82.

St. Joseph's (17-5) tied idle LaSalle for the Middle Atlantic conference lead at 6-1 with an effortless 83-63 whipping of Bucknell and can clinch the title with its extra game — against Lafayette next week. Kansas State, after its third straight Big Eight conference championship and NCAA berth, thumped co-leader Kansas 68-57, dumping the Jayhawks into a three-way second place tie with Colorado and Oklahoma. The Sooners joined the company Wednesday night, beating Oklahoma State 59-53.

Temple nipped Lafayette 70-67, and Eddie Goldberg rallied Syracuse to an 83-71 decision over Colgate.

Ronnie Johnson's steal and court-long drive gave South Carolina a 66-65 Atlantic Coast conference victory over Clemson, and Rutgers exploded for 20 points in a five-minute overtime to nail Fordham, 98-84. Maine (16-2) set a school mark for victories in a season, whipping Bates 54-49.

Removed From Scene

Policemen drag Mrs. Ruth E. Tinsley, 58, away from the scene of a picketing of a Richmond, Va., department store after she refused to obey a police request to move on. Mrs. Tinsley, wife of a former president of the Richmond branch of the NAACP, was arrested as police attempted to keep pedestrians moving after Virginia Union University students picketed the store.

Argentines Drop Search For Sub

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Argentine navy has given up trying to trap a mystery submarine many Argentines doubt ever existed.

Navy Secretary Gaston Clement Wednesday night announced an end to search operations in Golfo Nuevo, where the navy had said the sub was hiding. Clement said no contact had been made with the intruder for several days.

An all-out search was launched after ships reported detecting a submarine in the south coast gulf Jan. 30. The bulk of Argentina's naval forces blockaded the 20-by-40-mile gulf and dropped depth charges repeatedly.

Machines May Oust High Labor Costs, Says Walker

COLORADO CITY — Over 200 farmers and businessmen attended an all-day session devoted to farm problems in today's economy here Wednesday.

The occasion was the third Agri-Business Conference, sponsored by the T&P Railroad, the Chamber of Commerce and West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Sessions were held at the Civic House.

Speakers included John G. McHaney, of Texas A&M.; Earl Sargent, KWFT, Wichita Falls; Bruce Frazier, KEDY-TV, Big Spring; Dooley Dawson, bank vice president from Houston; and Loyan Walker of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Walker told the group that the difficulty of obtaining farm labor would speed the trend to more mechanization in farming, pointing out that the Department of Labor is restricting the importation of Mexican labor until next harvest season.

He added that regulations concerning the use of bracero labor would become more and more rigid, gradually pricing the Mexican worker out of the farm labor market.

Dawson warned farmers and ranchers that "we are going to have to produce what the market demands," pointing out that the outlook for the future indicated more specialization in farming and more attention to producing a custom made agricultural product.

As an example of progress in agriculture, Bruce Frazier said West Texas had moved from the Stone Age to the Atomic Age in less than 100 years.

Less than a century ago, Indians were cultivating crops with stone implements in this area, he said.

TEC Parley To End Today

Texas Employment Commission workers from more than a score of West Texas cities moved into the final day of a two day's conference on farm labor placement here today. The 50 TEC employes and officials are considering procedure and regulations dealing with handling the farm labor problem.

The meeting opened on Wednesday at the Settles Hotel. It was to come to a close at noon today.

Officials from the TEC state office in Austin were on hand to go over any changes or revisions of prevailing regulations dealing with transient farm labor. The TEC terms these meetings as training sessions.

Principal speakers on the two day program were Henry LeBlanc, chief farm placement division TEC, Joe Manahan, Bill May, John Reagor and Parker Taylor.

'Miss Clara' Has 40 Years With WTCC

ABILENE—Forty years of service as a staff member of the 132-county West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be completed Friday by Mrs. Fred W. Bussell.

"Miss Clara," as she is affectionately known throughout West Texas, joined the regional chamber only one year after its organization. Headquarters at that time were in Stamford.

"No organization of any kind ever had a more loyal or valuable staff member than our Mrs. Bussell," according to WTCC President R. C. Jordan, Amarillo.

"She is indispensable," is the way Fred H. Husbands, executive vice president for the past 10 years, puts it.

Travel and planning problems of some of the other staff members frequently impose heavy workloads on the office force on short notice, and Mrs. Bussell often remains at work at night and throughout weekends and holidays operating printing, folding and addressing machinery.

She will admit that she works just as hard now as she did that very first day with the WTCC.

During the 40 years, Mrs. Bussell has seen many changes in the day-by-day effort of the regional chamber, but she says the basic purpose and program has "always been for the times and the territory."

Born Clara Lively in Ballinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Lively, the WTCC's office manager attended high school in Lubbock, moving from there with her family to Stamford. She was graduated from Draughon's Business College in Abilene.

When headquarters of the WTCC moved from Stamford to the Old Federal Building in Abilene on Nov. 26, 1937, she moved with it.

On Dec. 21, 1947, the WTCC's "Miss Clara" was married to Fred Bussell, a native of Massachusetts. They met while he was serving at Camp Barkleley in Abilene, and he is now a full-fledged West Texan.

Mrs. Bussell is well known to many Big Spring people, having operated the WTCC's pre-convention office here twice for periods of several weeks.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

One of the most famous bank robberies in the history of Texas crime occurred on this day in 1896 when the City National Bank of Wichita Falls was held up by two outlaws.

Cashier Frank Dorsey was killed by the bandits and bookeeper H. H. Langord wounded.

The guilty pair were Foster Crawford and Kid Lewis, two rather boastful bandits who operated for a time with the Kid Jennings gang in Oklahoma. They threatened banks ahead of time with their intentions of robbery, and Rangers under Capt. Bill McDonald came to Wichita Falls to protect banks there. After 10 days it was decided Crawford and Lewis had no real intentions of holding up any bank in that city and the Rangers left. The train bearing the Rangers had hardly pulled out of the station when Crawford and Lewis invaded the bank. The Rangers were recalled and the grim pursuit began. Lewis and Crawford were trying to steal two horses from a wheat field when detected. They were surrounded in a thicket and captured.

They were confined in the Wichita Falls jail, but not for long. As soon as the Rangers left, the citizens of that city took matters in their own hands. They stormed the jail, took Crawford and Lewis out, and strung them up to a telephone pole.

Some effort was made to convict the lynchers but all those charged in the hanging were dismissed as "not guilty."

The name Kid Lewis was an alias. His real name is not on record.

Wayland Exes To Organize Tonight

PLAINVIEW — Former Wayland Baptist College students residing in the Permian Basin area will hold their first organizational meeting at 7:15 p.m. today at the Western Hills Restaurant in Odessa, according to Walter M. Lassiter, executive secretary, Association of Former Students.

Ex-students from Midland, Kermit, Andrews, Crane, Lamesa, Pecos, Big Spring, Rankin, Snyder, Monahans, Seminole, Odessa and other nearby towns are expected at the dinner meeting for the purpose of organizing an alumni club in the area. Election of officers and discussion of club projects for the coming year are planned for the business session.

THEY TAKE ANYTHING, EVEN IF IT IS TIED DOWN

Someone is stealing a county road bridge.

L. J. Davidson, county commissioner, notified Sheriff Miller Harris today that four pieces of angle iron, approximately 30 feet long, which were railings on a bridge over Wild Horse Creek, have been stolen.

The bridge, located on the old Vincent highway, has been in place for many years. The four heavy pieces of steel taken sometime over the weekend were railings. They were attached to upright standards set in concrete. A hack saw had been used to cut the railings loose from the standards.

Davidson said the road is not heavily travelled anymore. It formerly served the Vincent community and was an important county highway. Harris and his deputies are investigating.

Former Big Spring Woman Livens Memory Of Helper

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The name Brackenridge, known to countless thousands who have strolled through San Antonio's famed Brackenridge Park, has a deep significance for Mrs. Eric H. Schwartze, 75-year-old widow of a noted doctor.

She has dedicated a lifetime to perpetuating the memory of M. Eleanor Brackenridge, and in doing so has spread a bit of goodwill among many people throughout a troubled world.

Her inspiration stemmed from financial aid received as a student at old CIA college for women in Denton more than a half century ago. The aid came from one of the scholarships established by Miss Mary Eleanor Brackenridge. Miss Brackenridge, whose family gave the park to San Antonio, was a member of the CIA board of regents.

ENGLISH TEACHER

Upon leaving CIA in 1910, the then Annie Andrews taught high school English in Beaumont for five years, then went to the University of Illinois for advanced work.

Soon she became Mrs. Eric H. Schwartze, wife of a physician and surgeon who did pioneering cancer research after they moved to Washington in 1916. One of their sons is Dr. Eric H. Schartze, now a practicing physician in Waco. The other is Navy Cmdr. George Schwartze.

Since she left college, Mrs. Schwartze has helped organize many M. Brackenridge clubs over the country, all dedicated to setting up scholarships for international student exchanges.

Each year on March 7 these clubs observe "Friendship Day" in honor of the birth of Miss Brackenridge, who was born March 7, 1837 and died in 1924, just short of her 88th birthday.

The National M. Eleanor Brackenridge Club will celebrate the occasion here two days early this year. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex) is the scheduled speaker at a luncheon gathering. Representatives of the Brazilian and some other embassies are expected to attend.

FRIENDSHIP DAY

In some years the Voice of America makes a recording of the annual "Friendship Day" talks and broadcasts them to various parts of the world.

Mrs. Schwartze, born in Big Spring where her father Tom Andrews was the first prosecuting attorney, lives in a home overlooking the Potomac River.

She spends her spare time delving into historical matters—she's a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Recently she learned that in the building of a sprawling new hospital on the old Soldiers' Home grounds here, a few graves in an old cemetery had to be moved.

One of these graves was that of the grandfather of Miss Eleanor Brackenridge. Born in 1769, he was the first Presbyterian minister to hold a pastorate in the District of Columbia and he also served as a chaplain in Congress.

In her reaearch, Mrs. Schwartze learned that the Rev. John Brackenridge as a boy had seen his mother and father and sister slaughtered by Indians in a remote Pennsylvania community. His son, John Adams Brackenridge, the father of Miss Eleanor, moved to Jackson County, Tex., just before the Civil War and died soon thereafter. The family then moved to San Antonio.

* * *

Tom G. Andrews, father of Mrs. Eric H. Schwartze, was Howard County's first county attorney as well as its first district attorney.

The minutes of the Howard County commissioners court for the first year the county came into existence—1882—contain the brief notation "Tom G. Andrews appointed county attorney at salary of $300 per year." The date was Aug. 12.

He seems to have served as county attorney through 1884 and perhaps through 1886 in this office. Election returns for the Nov. 2, 1886 record him as the victor in the race for district attorney of the old 132nd Judicial District.

He did not seek re-election, it seems, in 1888. His name is not in the list of candidates in this election.

Return Of Unused Acreage Is Asked

April 8 is the final date for a farmer to surrender any of his cotton allotment he does not intend to use, but Gabe Hammack, ASC office manager, doesn't expect any such surrenders.

"We have had only one farmer to relinquish a part of his allotment in the past five years," Hammack said. "We notify the Howard County farmers that they are permitted to surrender any unused portion of their allotment, but there are seldom any takers.

"On the contrary, most of them would like to have more acres and a great many will plant even more than their allotment."

In the northeastern part of Texas, deadline for turning back unused cotton allotments is March 4. Under the law, (applicable here as well) 75 per cent of an allotment must be planted, or in the soil bank or released for others to use. If the owner does not comply, he will have his next year's allotment cut 25 per cent. Such cuts in allotments would continue from year to year if the owner fails to use or release his allotment. Ultimately his entire allotment will have been used up.

This does not happen in West Texas, Hammack says. This year, the total cotton acreage for Howard county is 69,740 acres. This represents a 4 per cent reduction over the allotment for 1959.

In Northeastern Texas, where conditions are vastly different from West Texas, it is estimated there may be as many as 200,000 acres of alloted cotton land which will be available to reassignment to other growers.

The April 8 deadline will also mark the final date the farmers in this area who want increased allotments may make application. They can be given more acreage, provided other growers have surrendered a part of their allotment.

Growers can release unused acreage for a year or permanently. They are urged to turn unused acreage back to the ASC for redistribution within the county and to help the county hold its total allotment.

Indians Get Bad Film Deal Says Actor

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the American Indian getting a bum break from Hollywood? Nineteen tribal chiefs think so. So does today's most successful screen Indian.

Recently 19 chiefs of Oklahoma tribes sent letters to the President, the secretary of the interior, the FCC chairman, Oklahoma congressmen and others decrying the way Indians are portrayed by the film makers. They drew hearty support from Michael Ansara.

Mike is no more Indian than Danny Thomas. Like Danny, his forebears came from the tiny country of Lebanon (by sheer coincidence, Mike was reared in Lebanon, N.H.

He was a dramatic actor — played in the movie "Julius Caesar," enacted Judas in "The Robe." But his broad face and big build made him ideal for Indian roles. He was chosen out of 100 to portray the famous chief Cochise in the TV series, "Broken Arrow." Now he is starring as the full-blooded Indian who is U.S. marshal in another series, "Law of the Plainsman."

Says Ansara: "I agree the Indians have been treated badly in movies and TV, just as they were treated badly in history.

"With the advent of the Western film, the Indian became a stereotype as the villain. I think it's wrong. I even object to the childhood game of cowboys and Indians, because it means the Indians are automatically the villians."

Ansara agrees with the Oklahoma chiefs in their proposal that the way to counteract the libels against the Indians is to present a TV series depicting their way of life.

"I would like to see a series that would deal with the Indians as human beings," said the actor.

Elks Plan For District Meet

The Big Spring Elks lodge held its regular session Tuesday night and discussed plans for celebration of its 10th anniversary as a lodge of Elks.

The anniversary, March 17, will coincide with the annual district convention of the Texas Elks here on March 19-20.

Elks and their wives and lodge dignitaries from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, are due here for the meeting. Local Elks and their guests will have a dinner and dance in the club rooms on Saturday evening, with music by the "Bel-Air Quintet."

Next morning, the business session will convene at 9:30 o'clock with state vice president Clifford Ashton of Midland in charge. State president Forest Gathright, Austin, is scheduled to attend.

In other business Tuesday, the lodge initiated C. R. Moad and Jerry Peters as new members, and conducted the traditional "Lodge of Sorrow" for lodge-brother, J. Y. Robb, who died recently. The lodge also made a donation to the Texas Elks Crippled Childrens Hospital in his memory.

Another 'Founder' Leaves VA Service

Comes March 1; Carl K. Cornwell goes.

Actually, Carl Cornwell put in his last day with the Veterans Administration on Nov. 10, 1959, but his retirement does not become official until March 1. Meanwhile, he's using up his sick leave for the simple reason he hasn't been too well.

His retirement further reduces the dwindling core of the "founders," for he was one of those on the staff when the hospital opened here June 10, 1950. Dr. Houston Zinn, Hayes Bacus, Russ Hoover, Carlton Carr, Mrs. Ina B. Fitts, Bessie Love and Helen Ulhorn were the only others he can recall being around when he transferred here from Dallas where he had been on the VA hospital staff for four years.

CARL K. CORNWELL

Mr. Cornwell, who now is 66, has no immediate plans but he may eventually settle near his son, J. E. Cornwell, 171 Crestridge Dr., Garland. Prior to his VA connection, Mr. Cornwell was with Standard Oil and Gas Exploration Company as a gravity meter operator, and he may want to get his hands back in this field. As a vocational nurse, he can follow that calling if he wishes.

Having had a busy life — and that includes a stretch of operating a 400-acre Ellis County farm and a dairy at the same time during the days of short supplies and shorter help during World War II — he's not looking for anything rigorous.

Mr. Cornwell was born at Waxachie in Ellis County and attended Maypearl schools and Tyler Business College prior to entering the Army in World War I. Later he went into business for himself. His exhausting experience on the farm during World War II turned his attention to a career in nursing service with the VA, and he's never regretted it.

Appeals Mailed

Final appeals to those who may have overlooked mailing their checks for Christmas seals have been mailed by the Howard County Tuberculosis Association.

Tht association is about one-fourth shy of its $6,000 goal to finance the program of work laid out for this year.

The notices are simply appeals for those who may have forgotten to make their customary response, said association officials.

Equal Taxation For Co-Ops Urged At Meeting In City

An appeal for a fair tax on cooperatives was placed before a group of Big Spring business men Wednesday.

Spokesmen for the Public Information Committee of the Cotton Industries talked to a luncheon gathering at the Desert Sands Restaurant, urging prompt contacts with congressmen to bring about equality in taxation.

Speakers included W. P. Denman of Paris, assistant manager of the Lamar Cotton Oil Co., and John Williams of Waco, with Swift and Co. oil mill.

Denman reviewed the tax situation as it affects cooperatives, explaining that a 1951 act and subsequent court rulings exempted cooperatives from any taxation, and also permitted them to credit earnings to members through book certificates that are not taxable.

ON SAME BASIS

"We are not against co-ops," said Denman. "They serve a fine purpose. We are not against their members. We feel, however, that they, as business operations, should be assessed taxes on the same basis as the private corporations with whom they compete."

His group, Denman said, is advocating legislation which would provide that a cooperative pay out cash in the year in which it is earned, or pay the regular corporate rate on retained earnings.

He reviewed statistics on two West Texas concerns, a privately-operated cotton oil mill at Lamesa and a cooperative mill at Lubbock. The Lamesa mill, he said, over an average of five years, had a gross profit of $2.71 per cottonseed ton, had to pay federal corporation taxes of $1.20 per ton, leaving a net of $1.51 per ton. The Lubbock co-op showed a five year average net of $8 per cottonseed ton. It, of course, paid no federal corporation taxes.

"This means," said the speaker, "that such private corporations must sell out to the co-ops or go out of business. It's that simple."

The present tax exemption simply gives an unjustified advantage to the co-op over private enterprise competitors, he said.

Williams showed that cooperatives are no longer small groups of farmers banded together for marketing their produce, but have become giant business enterprises, affecting all lines of business. Trade associations of every description, he said, are lined up in a current campaign to bring about equal taxation.

Script Banned

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The government moving picture bureau says the script for Yul Brynner's "The Magnificent Seven" must be altered or permission will not be given to produce the film in Mexico.

An official said parts of the picture show Mexico in a bad light. It deals with bandits in the days of the Revolution. Brynner is now in Mexico and had planned to start shooting shortly.

Record Bids Submitted On Tidelands

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Record smashing bids of $285,180,648 were made Wednesday for oil leases in submerged lands off the Texas and Louisiana coast by oil companies.

Gulf Socony submitted the highest bid for a single tract, an offer of $11,112,000 for an area off the Louisiana coast.

The Shell Oil Co. entered the most bids, and offered $5,911,200 for 5,700 acres in Block 288 of the Galveston area. The bid broke down to $1,026.25 an acre. The Shell offer was the highest made for a Texas lease.

Louisiana submerged lands, involving 300 tracts comprising 1,500,000 acres, brought an aggregate bid of $249,248,616.

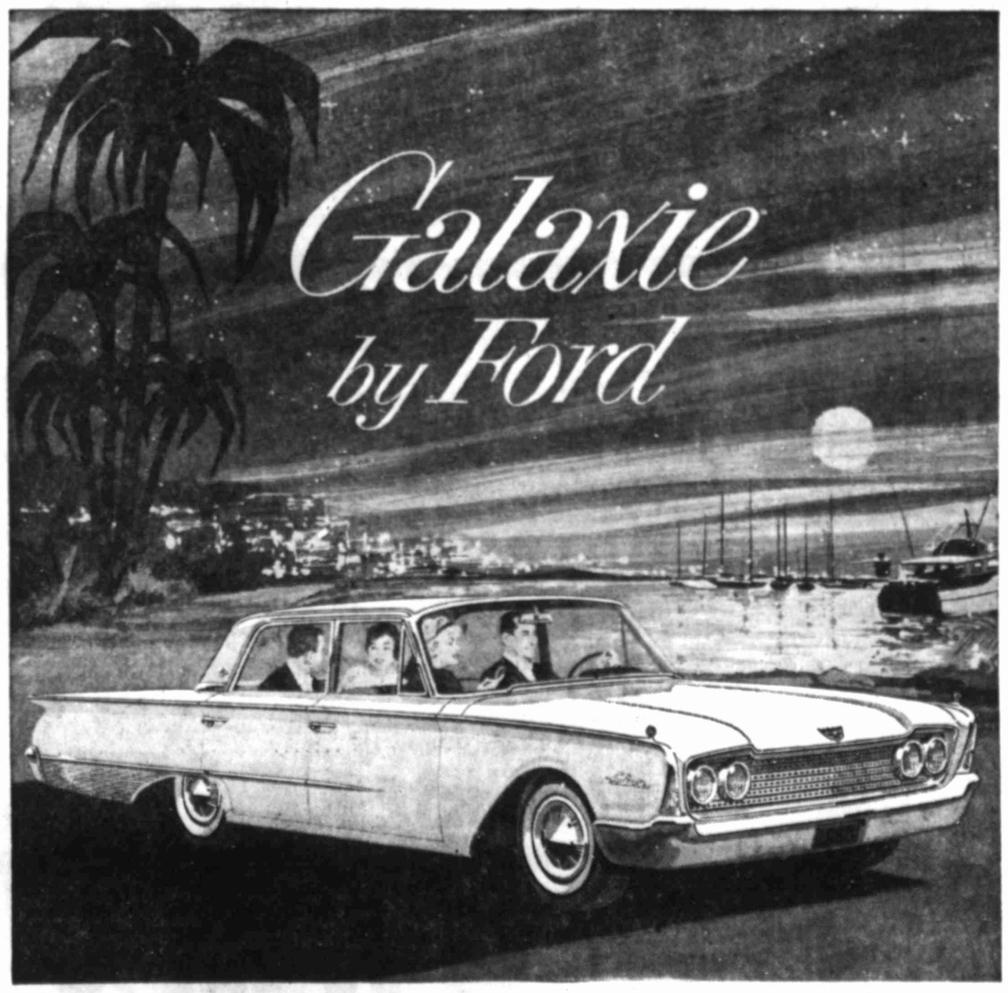

The 97 tracts up for 5-year leases off the Texas coast brought bids of $35,732,031.

Most of the land under consideration is in the area involved in a dispute between the states and the federal government. The issue over the lands' ownership is still before federal courts and all money received from leases is put in escrow until the courts reach a decision.

The Gulf company's offer of $11,112,000 was for 5,000 acres in Block 48 of the South Marsh Island Area, formerly known as State Lease 340.

Liven Winter Meals With Colorful Yams

Fresh yams make winter meals colorful, nutritious and appetizing. These southern beauties are plentiful now, just released from the loving care of Cajun growers. With large amounts of vitamin A, they fill a major need in the menu when other colorful vegetables may not be available in abundance. Yams and ham are popular companions for supper during cold weather months of January and February. These two new recipes are easy on the eye, easy to prepare, and oh, so easy to eat!

YAM STUFFED HAM
(Makes 6 servings)

- 1¼ cups mashed cooked yams, or 1 can (1 lb.) yams, drained and mashed
- 2 tbsps. orange juice
- 2 tsps. salt
- 6 slices boiled ham, about ¼-in. thick
- 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 2 tbsps. all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 cup orange juice
- ¼ cup raisins

Combine yams, 2 tablespoons orange juice and 1 tsp. salt; blend. Spread on ham; roll up jelly-roll fashion. Fasten with toothpicks. Arrange in 9x9x2-inch baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine. Add flour, mustard and remaining 1 teaspoon salt and blend. Gradually add 1 cup orange juice and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add raisins and cook 5 minutes. Serve sauce with ham rolls.

SWEET AND SOUR YAM AND BACON SKILLET
(Makes 4 servings)

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 lb. Canadian bacon, diced
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 large green pepper, chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- ½ cup vinegar
- 1-3 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
- 4 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and halved, or
- 1 can (1-lb.) yams, drained
- 1 tbsp. cornstarch
- 2 tbsps. water

Melt butter or margarine. Add bacon, onion, green pepper and salt and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until bacon is browned on all sides. Add vinegar and brown sugar; mix well. Cover and cook 10 minutes. Add yams and cook 10 minutes. Combine cornstarch with water; blend. Gradually add cornstarch mixture to yam mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Brightly Colored Punch Is A Treat

Great for two small punch bowls! If you have only one, borrow the other.

- 2 bottles (each 4-5 quart) sauterne
- 1 bottle (1 quart) champagne
- 2 pkgs. (each 10 ounces) frozen sliced sweetened strawberries
- 2 ice rings (frozen in 1-pint metal ring molds with 6 maraschino cherries in each)

Have sauterne and champagne chilled. About an hour before serving turn frozen strawberries into 2 small punch bowls with sauterne.

At serving time, add ice rings; pour half the champagne into each bowl; stir gently. Serve at once. Makes 12 to 16 servings — about ½ cup each, with seconds.

Full House Audience

Mrs. W. M. Dorough, wife of the pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, reads Bible stories to her active daughters, Sharon, 6, and Linda, 8, surrounded by their doll collection. Many of the dolls come in sets of two since the blonde-haired preacher's children are so close to the same age.

Preacher's Wife Likes Life In A Parsonage

By SHERI WEBBER

Preachers' wives often have a hectic time.

Take the case of Mrs. W. M. Dorough, wife of the pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Her oldest little girl, Linda, was born while the church was having a district meeting. Sharon was born while the church they were pastoring was having a revival.

One of the things Mrs. Dorough enjoys most is meeting people, so the life of a minister's wife suits her perfectly.

She met her husband while attending Bethany Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla., a suburb of Oklahoma City. He was a junior while dark-haired Velma was a freshman.

After two years of dating, the couple was married when he graduated from the school.

"I got my MRS degree," Mrs. Dorough laughs. Her studies in college dealt primarily with music, and she plays the piano "when there is no one else to do it."

Teen-agers are a major interest in the ministry of the Doroughs. The Rev. Dorough is the district leader of the youth organization of the Nazarene Church, and Mrs. Dorough teaches the intermediate Sunday school class in the local church.

"We have always felt this was a special field of work for us," says Velma Dorough.

It is hard to find time for a hobby, but the housewife enjoys sewing. For her daughters' room at the beautiful three bedroom parsonage on Lancaster, Mrs. Dorough has made the colorful curtains and bedspread. Linda, who is an 8-year-old second grader at Park Hill, and Sharon, an energetic blonde who will be 6 in March, have filled their portion of the house with dolls. Bride dolls; tiny little Indian dolls; life-size realistic-looking little girl dolls, and rag dolls lie on the bed, sit in chairs, and hang on the walls along with teddy bears and stuffed rabbits.

Velma, who is a native of Paul's Valley, Okla., also crochets but hasn't found much time for it recently. Pieces of her work may be seen in the large living room of the brick house.

In the early days of Dorough's ministry, the young preacher's wife found it necessary to watch her budget. One of the recipes that the couple who started their life's work when he was bearely 21 and she was 19, enjoyed while in their first pastorate at Bryan was hot tamale pie.

Other recipes she has picked up while they were in Pasadena, a city on the outskirts of Houston, Grassland, and Amarillo, where they resided for six years.

STUFFED SWEET POTATOES

- 8 boiled sweet potatoes
- 1 cup crushed pineapple
- 2 tbsps. orange juice
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup pecans
- Dash of nutmeg
- Marshmallows (if desired)

Peel the boiled potatoes. Scoop out 2 tablespoons of pulp, leaving rest of pulp to form a shell. Add the scooped-out pulp to the rest of the ingredients; mix thoroughly. Stuff each potato shell with the mixture, placing a marshmallow on top. Bake 35-40 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

HOT TAMALE PIE

- 6 cups boiling water
- 2 fups corn meal
- 2 tbsps. cooking fat
- 1 lb. hamburger meat or chili meat
- 1 onion, chopped
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- Salt, pepper, chili powder, and paprika to taste

Sift corn meal slowly into rapidly boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook 15 minutes.

Brown hamburger meat and chopped onions in hot fat. Add tomatoes; season to taste. Simmer for 10 minutes.

Fill well-oiled baking pan with alternate layers of corn meal and meat mixture. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

Prepare gelatin in cup of hot water and cup of juice from cherries. Add cherries to mixture after partly jelled. Combine softened cream cheese with nuts to form small balls (½-inch in diameter.) Combine cream cheese balls with partly jelled gelatin, leaving half of the cheese balls on top surface of gelatin. Allow mixture to jell thoroughly.

QUICK CARAMEL CORN

- 2 quarts hot pop corn
- 2 tbsps. butter

A Devotional For Today

We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. (1 John 3:14.)
PRAYER: Almighty God, Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, forgive us for not seeking the welfare and happiness of others. Make us better neighbors. Increase brotherly love in our home and community. Help us to live together as one great family in sympathy and helpfulness. In the name of Jesus, our Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven .... Amen."

Bar Debates Ticklish Issue

A battle developed at the American Bar Association's mid-year meeting in Chicago Monday when a group of members called on the ABA to reverse its 13-year stand in opposition to the Connally Reservation to U. S. ratification of the International Court of Justice.

Arguing that "a revised foreign situation" called for ABA's withdrawal of opposition to the Connally Reservation, Roy E. Willy of Sioux Falls, S. D., told newsmen:

"It's self-evident we don't have the whole-hearted cooperation of the Iron Curtain countries in the World Court. Until such time as world affairs are more settled, there should be no surrender of our domestic rights and privileges to a foreign court on which we have minority representation."

Another of like mind, Barnabus Sears of Chicago, said abolition of the Connally proviso "would be surrendering the few rights we have left to judges who don't believe in our form of government."

The Connally Reservation was introduced by Sen. Tom Connally of Texas when U. S. ratification of the World Court proposal came up, in 1946. The Texan was at that time chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. His Reservation says simply that the U. S. reserves the right to decide what is a domestic matter and what is an international matter subject to World Court jurisdiction.

How much chance would we have of retaining exclusive control of the Panama Canal should the matter be submitted to the World Court in which we had only one of 20 judges and Russia controlled three or four?

The Eisenhower Administration has endorsed repeal of the Connally Reservation, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) has introduced the repealer.

Americans Use Health Services More

Health Information Foundation notes that the typical American family now spends about $294 annually for personal health services, or 42 per cent more than it did five years ago.

Contrary to popular view, this increase is not primarily due to rising costs, but to increased use of services. Rising costs, while real, are only secondary in the overall increase.

HIF made the study, in connection with the University of Chicago's public opinion research center, covering the years 1957-58. The comparison is with a comparable survey made five years earlier.

An "increase in use," the Foundation points out, may not necessarily mean an increase in quantity. It may mean a more expensive type of service, such as consultation with a specialist, a private room in a hospital, or a more complex form of medication.

The two groups at the ends of the age cycle, children under six and persons over 65, increased their medical services by about 45 per cent during the five-year period, or two per cent above average for all those in between.

Foundation president George Bugbee found this showing "particularly gratifying" at "younger ages because early treatment is likely to ward off more serious trouble in later life, at the older ages because there has been so much discussion recently as to whether people 65 and over utilize services at an adequate rate.

The largest single component of spending for health in the period under survey was for the services of physicians, 34 per cent. Next came hospitals, 23 per cent; drugs and medication 20 per cent; dental services, 15 per cent; and other factors 8 per cent.

The Defense Issue: Who Is Correct?

WASHINGTON — Politicians are supposed to be pretty good at picking out issues for an election campaign, but sometimes they fumble the ball. It is beginning to look now as if that's what is going to happen to the Democrats on the "missile gap" and defense issue.

For the critics can't have it both ways —they can't be in the position of urging the American government to accelerate its missile program and at the same time declare that nuclear tests must be abandoned and disarmament negotiations speeded up.

A POLITICAL PARTY can't be arguing persuasively for more defense on the theory that war is imminent in the next two or three years and at the same time be blaming the administration for not bringing about disarmament. In fact, some Democrats have insisted that the United States should abandon its nuclear testing whether or not the Russians agree to inspection.

What will the mood of the electorate be next autumn? Will the public be so scared of the prospect of war that it will wish to punish the administration in power for not having built "enough" missiles for our armed forces? Will the voters believe the President when he says our over-all defense is adequate as a deterrent against attack and that we are not relying on the missile alone or on any one weapon? He isn't running for re-election and will, therefore, wield a powerful influence.

Presumably the Democratic candidates are betting on the idea that the country will vote the Republican administration out of power for allegedly having failed to close the "missile gap."

BUT WHAT WILL the Republicans be saying in answer? Already they are getting out charts and tables showing that the Democrats were in charge of the executive branch of the government to January 1953, and they spent for missiles a total of only $1,155,000,000 from 1947 through the fiscal year 1951.

As for the Republicans, in the fiscal year 1953 they spent $1,116,000,000 on missile programs, and every year thereafter they increased the amounts, so that in 1956 they were spending $2,270,000,000. In 1957 they spent $4,470,000,000 and added to this until they reached nearly $7,000,000,000 in 1959. They have almost the same amount scheduled for the fiscal year 1960.

If money is everything and if "budgetary considerations" should have been disregarded heretofore, then the query is what happened between 1947 and 1953 when it is presumed the Soviets got their start?

Also, since the hydrogen bomb is the key to vast destructive power today, why was there a "lag" in developing the H-bomb? Several years elapsed while a battle went on inside the Truman administration against developing the H-bomb as Russia moved on with her tests. One of the principal scientists in our government who argued against developing the H-bomb was later declared a "security risk," not because of any act of disloyalty on his part but because of his indiscretions in mingling with Communists.

ANYWAY, THE H-BOMB "lag" is the most serious of all, and if the "missile lag" is to be a campaign issue, it could be that the whole messy story may be revived about how America was held back from developing the H-bomb when we had a start of several years over the Russians.

The principal inconsistency, however, among those who are playing the defense issue so hard in party politics is that no candidate can afford to be pictured as a future President who will be concentrating on how to build up more and more military power at a time when supposedly the world is anxious for disarmament and a ban on nuclear weapons, including missiles.

WHEN PRESIDENT Eisenhower visits the Soviet Union next June, will the reception he gets tend to emphasize peace as the mood of the hour or will he be looked upon as the representative of a country that is trying to make up its mind which political party is the better "missile rattler"?

Politically speaking, war has never been a good issue for any presidential candidate except when the nation is already in one. Both before a war and after a war, there is a popular feeling against the party that is accused of making a war or is later charged with having "dragged us into war."

"Peace and prosperity" is to be the Republican slogan in the coming campaign, and the Democrats will be smart if they use their energies to try to convince the country that there will be neither a war nor a serious disturbance to the economy if they win the elections.

Search For Iron Ore

NEW YORK (AP)—The American steel industry is on a global hunt for new sources of iron ore to offset the depletion of the richer deposits in Minnesota's Mesabi range, traditional source of food for the nation's blast furnaces.

Steelways, publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, says the industry has invested more than two billion dollars into this project in the last 10 years in Canada, Venezuela, Chile, Peru, Brazil and Liberia.

SUCH A PRETTY RAINBOW

The World Today

At The Base Of The Headache

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are two methods of treating a headache. You can use drugs to suppress the pain or you can tackle the underlying cause.

The current debate over the adequacy of U.S. defenses seems to be concerned with nothing more than temporary relief from pain.

For the one defense issue seems to be: Is the administration's reluctance to increase military spending reducing this nation to a second-class power?

Broadly speaking, the Republicans hold that defense spending is adequate, while the Democrats take an opposite view.

APPARENTLY LOST IN this election year argument is the possibility that the United States is spending enough money, but is not spending it wisely. Why?

From the time men first employed sticks and stones in battle, new weapons have been introduced in warfare so slowly it became an axiom that each new war was fought with weapons developed late in the last.

That axiom no longer applies.

It is true that long-range missiles were introduced by the Germans in World War II. The United States introduced nuclear weapons.

But there is no one alive who has any first-hand knowledge of a war in which missiles would deliver thermonuclear warheads at 16,000 miles per hour.

All the military experience accumulated over 5,000 years of recorded history is now obsolescent, if not altogether obsolete, where this new weapon is concerned.

YET EACH PARTICIPANT in the current political defense debate must rely on military men, the supposed experts, for guidance. Each can turn up a military man who can support his point of view.

And that points up the underlying cause of the headache.

The United States is trying to cope with defense problems that are totally new by employing a military machine designed to fight World War II.

The military men themselves, accustomed to thinking in terms of service, Army, Navy and Air Force, cannot agree on what needs to be done.

In principle, many of these uniformed advisers agree that enough money is being spent, but they disagree on how it should be spent and the priorities assigned to the spending. Each thinks his service should have more to meet certain contingencies.

In the current defense debate, few men of major public stature have yet raised the question whether the entire defense structure shouldn't be overhauled and streamlined.

Briefly, few have raised the question whether new means should not be found to cope with an entirely new situation, a situation unprecedented in all history.

Words For The Barber

NEW YORK (AP) —Remarks that barbers get tired of hearing —or overhearing:

"Well, hair today—gone tomorrow, eh Tony?"

"Just a little off the top."

"The place hasn't been the same since you let in women and quit subscribing to the Police Gazette."

"If this stuff is so good, Tony, why are you so bald?"

"Who do you like in the seventh at Hialeah today?"

"Keep it high in the back. I've got a short neck."

"Never mind the stickum—just a little water."

"I came in to get my ears lowered, Tony."

"Remember when a guy could get a shave and a haircut for two bits? Those were the good old old days."

"I asked for a haircut—not a scalping."

"Just take a little off the sides."

"Who cuts your hair, Tony — your wife?"

"Part it down the middle, Tony. My wife says every block ought to have an alley."

"If I want you political opinions I'll ask for them."

"See any gray ones up there?"

"There ought to be a special price for us baldies. I only got half the hair I used to—and you charge me four times as much."

"Why should I have to make an appointment? Are you a barber or a brain surgeon?"

"Baldness runs in my family. My uncle looked like a bowling ball at 19."

"You took off too much. How about putting a little back on?"

"What do you do with all that hair on the floor—sell it to mattress manufacturers?"

"Be careful with the mustache. It took me a year to grow it."

"How come you barbers never elected Yul Brynner man of the year?"

"What's you hair-raising story for today, Tony?"

"Save your breath, Tony. I've got my hearing aid turned off."

Enlarged Lymph Nodes Indicate Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you comment on swollen lymph glands in the neck? — A.B.:

The blood steam carries nutrition to the body cells, and carries away waste and infection. What happens to infected material? The lymphatic system filters them!

Lymph nodes (or lymph glands) are in many parts of the body, the neck, armpits, groin, above the elbow, within the abdomen, at the root of the lungs.

Germs are carried to these nodes, and special cells usually destroy them. Ordinarily the nodes are small. When they become very active, they enlarge — the commonest example probably is the swelling of glands in the neck from chronic tonsillitis, or swollen nodes in the armpit due to infection in the hand, arm or fingers.

In children, infected tonsils or teeth are commonest causes.

As the infection subsides, the lymph nodes go down in size, often become so small they cannot be felt. Again, however, repeated bouts of infection may leave the nodes permanently enlarged so they can be felt, although the soreness disappears.

That is the principal answer to swollen lymph glands, and may range from minor to major importance, depending on the underlying cause. German measles, a trivial matter except in early pregancy, enlarges nodes in the back of the neck. But enlarged glands also occur from such serious diseases as tuberculosis and other generalized infections.

The other category of enlarged glands involves diseases which attach to the lymph nodes themselves, Hodgkins disease, leukemia, lymphoma; or the presence of cancer near the node, as an enlarged node in the airmpit resulting from cancer of the breast.

Anyway, you cannot always be certain, immediately, what is causing the enlargement of a lymph node. In a child, or an adult of reasonably good health, the swelling is usually the result of the lymph node being busy filtering out infection.

This may be true in other cases, too, of course, for that is the basic purpose of the nodes. Still, in older people a single gland that tends to get larger should at least stir up some suspicion that some ailment other than a transient infection is at work — or, for that matter, a chronic infection.

A blood count should be made, to see whether leukemia is present, for instance. If that and other investigations do not disclose the cause of the enlargement, then a trace of the gland tissue should be removed (a biopsy, that is) with microscopic examination to determine whether one of these other diseases of the lymph glands is present.

The lymph glands are useful organs indeed, and besides their assigned task they can (by swelling) indicate that something is wrong somewhere. But it is just as well to know that the glands themselves can fall victim to disease. That is the exception, not the rule.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am an elderly man and retired, but I have always been too much of a smoker. I am nervous and spit up phlegm and cough a lot. Do you know of anything that would help me? — M. W."

Frankly, yes. It's not too late to quit smoking. An examination, including an X-ray of the chest, is certainly in order.

Afflicted with arthritis? You may find relief if you follow the advice given in my pamphlet, "Don't Quit Because of Arthritis." To receive your copy, write to me for it in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

The Walking Man

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —"I've become such an oddity," said Dr. Orrin E. Klapp, sociology professor at San Diego State College, "that children call me the walking man."

He walks the two miles from his home to the college each day instead of riding in his automobile. He feels that "it is sad in a way" that this should make him seem different.

Hitting All Bases

OCEAN CITY, N. J. (AP) — Arthur Watkins, this resort's public relations manager, stays on the job no matter where he is.

While on vacation, Watkins stopped off in Casablanca and presented Cherif Moulay Hassan El Alaoui, a member of the royal family of Morocco, with a certificate naming him "Honorary Commodore of Ocean City."

Out Of The Past

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— About 300 million years ago, says the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, a vast inland sea extended from what is now Lake Erie south across Ohio to West Virginia. It deposited salt up to 300 feet thick in some places and this is now the basic ingredient for about 14,000 manufacturing and industrial processes.

Around The Rim

Things Ain't Where They Seem

I have always supposed, until recently, that the art of surveying is an exact science. And, in the last analysis, I suppose it is. But to the unlearned eye, it appears pretty doubtful at times.

For instance, those in the know tell me that the Crawford Hotel is sitting about two feet in the street. Most anyone who has been in the vicinity can testify that the hotel is right where it has always been. But apparently, it is difficult to prove.

RECENTLY, THE CITY commission took official action to state that a building on 5th St. is not in the street. I could see the building was not in the street and most other passersby could do the same. But surveyors, and two of them had a crack at it, could not prove it wasn't. By proclamation, the building is not in the street.

But one of the most complicated situations has been the problem of the Birdwell Park vicinity. All of this problem has not been due to surveying as some of it resulted from various deed differences.

At any rate, when the city and school district planned to make improvements in the area, it was difficult to tell who owned what land. More than that, various deeds overlapped and practically all of them were in disagreement.

THE CITY, THE COUNTY, the school district, the YMCA, and the VFW all have land in this area. To settle the problem, one surveyor was given the chore of tackling the job to find out who owned what.

This was finally settled, more by agreement than anything else. But it was proved that the city has a street that makes a right angle turn. It is 8th St. which bisects the acreage.

To straighten out the street, the city is negotiating to swap a small tract with the school district and obtain another small tract (.03 of an acre) from the VFW. This will settle that problem.

IT APPEARS THAT some of the YMCA property runs into the street. Just a small plot, but it looks confusing when seen on the map.

The city has almost completed work on an extension of 7th St. through the Boydstun school grounds. The school district dedicated the land and Seventh will curve across school property to intersect with 8th. Planning this extension pointed out the other problems in this area.

One other good came from the re-survey of this area. The city plans to lease a large tract across the street from the YMCA to the Crippled Children's organigation (The lease will probably be one dollar per year.)

GETTING BACK downtown, something should be done to get that hotel out of the street. I expect any day to hear that an accident was caused by a motorist trying to dodge tha hotel.

I've discussed the matter with several engineers and they have good reasons for the shift. Still, something should be done to get things back where they were. Apparently, the buildings haven't moved. Just the lines on maps.

Turns Out We're All Big-Hearted

For a people accused on all hands of crass materialism, the citizens of the U. S. A. still manage to shell out money in prodigal profusion for an almost infinite variety of charitable purposes.

In 1959, for example, John Q. Public, his sisters and his cousins and aunts gave to philanthropic causes the staggering sum of $7.8 billion. At least it staggers me. That sum is slightly more than it cost to run the whole Federal government in 1935, just 25 years ago.

Indeed, American giving in 1959 may be nearer the $9-billion mark when estates are settled and bequests to philanthropic causes are added to the bundle.

FOR THESE STATISTICS and the revealing ones that follow, I am indebted to the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, Inc., a group of 30 of the largest fund-raising organizations throughout the United States.

The fact that 50 per cent of these give-away billions raised last year went to the support of religion does not impress me half so much as a throw-away statistic buried in the association's "fact sheet."

"It is estimated that 63 per cent of the U. S. population claim membership in a religious body compared with 23 per cent 100 years ago," the fact sheet reports. Yet the stories of religious laxity and of non-church affiliation have been so persistent in the past 40 years that I'll wager a cookie that any American, if asked whether more citizens had church affiliation now or a century ago, would have answered instantly that church affiliation had seriously eroded in the past hundred years.

THE TOTAL OF FUNDS given to religious causes in America in 1959 adds up to $3.9 billion. The association also estimates that the churches, synagogues and temples of this country have property and endowment valued at $14.6 billion, which is a tidy nest egg in any language.

I'd like to make another wager: I'll bet that John Q. Public gives so automatically and anonymously to charitable causes that he is convinced the great bulk of giving in the U. S. A. is done by foundations, corporations and charitable bequests.

In that conviction, John couldn't be more mistaken. It is good old John himself who contributes the overwhelming majority of funds given to charity annually. Of the $7.8 billion so far credited to 1959, John coughed up the really incredible sum of $6.1 billion. Corporations and firms came through with $526,000,000; foundations with $700,000,000, and charitable bequests with $510,000,000.

THERE IS ANOTHER awesome statistic, vouched for by the association, that one - quarter or 25 per cent of the total assets of the world's private philanthropies, now estimated at $240 billion, are held in the United States. And these assets are estimated to be increasing at eight per cent a year.

In the year just past, 16 per cent of philanthropic giving was earmarked for welfare, recreational and character-building agencies; 15 per cent for education (an increase of three per cent over 1958); 14 per cent for health, four per cent to foundations (paid into endowment funds) and one per cent for miscellaneous charities.

TOTAL VOLUNTARY support of higher education is around $900,000,000 now, but the association estimates "the needs of higher education are expected to exceed $9 billion annually for all purposes by 1969-70. Some $2 billion may be expected from private sources" by that date!

I wish I had room for more of this fascinating anatomy of American giving to good causes. What these statistics reveal so poignantly is that John Q. Public is at heart a tireless do-gooder, animated by an unspoken conviction that he is his brother's keeper.

Confusion Over Nuclear Weapon Policy

WASHINGTON — Nothing more extraordinary for confusion, uncertainty and a heavy air of mystery has occurred in this Administration than the mixup over sharing nuclear weapons with America's NATO allies. It was a fine example of marching up the hill, under a cloak of strictest secrecy, and then retreating in embarrassed disorder.

If President Eisenhower was aware of this sudden foray into a new area of policy and its objectives, he showed no sign of it. In fact, to the discomfiture of high officials in the Pentagon who had initiated it, whether knowingly or unknowingly, he signalled the retreat.

Insofar as it can be sorted out behind the screen of secrecy, here it what happened:

A TOP SECRET PAPER was submitted to the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy with the sanction of high officials in the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission. It proposed that the United States share the custody of nuclear weapons with the British. This was in relation to the intermediate-range ballistic missile bases and also for an airborne alert.

The contention was that only in this way could the greatest speed and efficiency be achieved in the event of the need for a retataliatory strike. Under the law as currently interpreted, a United States agent must keep custody of nuclear weapons at overseas bases.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS were startled at the proposal itself, since its implications were so far reaching. But what was more startling was the view that the President had the authority to do this under his "inherent powers" despite the law.

The whole question of the sharing of nuclear weapons and nuclear information was thoroughly threshed out when the basic atomic energy law was amended in 1958. At the request of the Administration, closer cooperation with America's allies was approved. But on the insistence of committee members fearful that the "nuclear club" would be expanded, the provision that weapons must be retained in American custody was kept in the law.

QUESTIONING OF Administration witnesses following the unveiling of the secret proposal seemed to confirm one of the deepest doubts of committee members. If nuclear weapons could be put in the hands of the British, they could hardly be withheld from other allies.

Having furnished Britain with a squadron of Thor intermediate-range missiles, manned by the Royal Air Force, this country is in process of installing similar missile squadrons in Turkey and Italy.

SHORTLY AFTER a hint of what had been proposed to the joint committee appeared, President Eisenhower was asked about sharing atomic weapons with allies. To the chagrin of those who had carefully thought out and worked up the "inherent powers" theory, the President replied:

"As far as giving away bombs, this cannot be done under existing law."

Since then it has been made clear that the Administration will not ask for a change in the law, realizing it would precipitate a long controversy. But joint committee members are not sure that this really ends the effort to give weapons to the British.

The law requires that custody of atomic weapons be vested in a civilian, and a representative of the Atomic Energy Commission is designated by the President. But since the President also has the power to turn weapons over to the Defense Department, it has been determined that the captain of an American ship or submarine can be the AEC representative by White House order. He thus has the dual role of commander and Presidential guardian under law.

WHY, IT IS BEING ASKED, could not a Royal Air Force lieutenant be given the same designation? This would make it possible to keep British fighter bombers in the air on a ready alert as a supplement to the ballistic-missile deterrent.

If that should be done under the "inherent power" of the Presidency, it would be with the tightest secrecy restrictions. The joint committee would not be informed and presumably America's other allies would have no knowledge of this step. They would not be in a position, therefore, to claim the same privilege.

But nothing could illustrate more dramatically how decisions taken in total secrecy enlarge the area of nuclear-weapons control. And at the same time, the risk of accidental war is inevitably increased.

Fire Hoses Halt Tennessee Race Riot

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Fire hoses and the threat of police billy clubs cooled tempers of thousands of racially tense Negroes and whites who stormed Chattanooga's downtown area for the second straight day.

Twenty persons — eleven Negroes and nine whites — were arrested Wednesday. Police said pistols were taken from three of them.

The mass of humanity was several times larger but the day's violence did not match the bitter fighting that flared Tuesday when gangs of belligerent white youths challenged Negro demonstrations for integrated lunch counter service.

Elsewhere in the South the situation was relatively quiet on the sitdown front that spread from a demonstration in Greensboro, N.C., more than two weeks ago.

In Charlotte, N.C., a Negro boy and girl were served lunch at a department store counter reserved for whites. A store official said the couple's light skin apparently caused them to be mistaken for white because the store's segregated counter policy was unchanged.

Both houses of the Virginia Legislature quickly passed three tresspass bills. The emergency measures were proposed by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. to thwart lunch counter sitdown by Negroes.

Tennessee already has a law on its books forbidding integrated service in restaurants.

Chattanooga officials conferred after Wednesday's disorder and announced new plans for handling the situation here.

Police Commissioner H. P. Dunlap announced that his department would not permit any large assemblies of persons to parade or congregate in the downtown area today.

Since the crowds have consisted mostly of teen-agers, gathering after classes were dismissed for the day, School Supt. John W. Letson offered to keep schools in session until 6 p.m. School now dismisses at 3:30 p.m. Letson's suggestion was not put into immediate effect.

Nimitz Praises Defense Posture

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fleet Adm. Chester Nimitz, 75, and starting today on 76, finds the United States' defense posture reassuring.

At a birthday banquet Wednesday night, the retired commander of Pacific naval forces in World War II was lauded as "the senior statesman of the sea" and praised for distinguished service.

"It is reassuring to be told by the secretary of defense that U.S. defenses are so powerful and alert that no aggressor would dare attack unless led by a madman," he told the 600 guests.

Nimitz said earlier—in a telephone interview with friends in Honolulu—that after all these years he could not see how the United States could have improved on the Pacific strategy that brought victory in 1945.

At Pearl Harbor, the Navy dedicated 75 trees at the main gate of the Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard as "living candles" commemorating Nimitz' birthday.

Cuba Restless

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Cuban exile said Wednesday that if Cuba would "open its doors" there would be a mass exodus of citizens from the island.

DEAR ABBY

BAD SYSTEM

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married to Sam for nine years. We have four children, which is the reason why I am still married to him. He started to chase the first year we were married. I told my mother and she said, "Pay no attention to it. Let him get it out of his system."

After nine years, he still has as much in his system as ever. Does a man ever get it all out of his system?

TIRED OF WAITING

DEAR TIRED: Tell him in no uncertain terms that you love him, don't want to share him, will not put up with it—THEN see what else he has in his system.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am so mad the tears are blinding me as I write this. My brother Ed is marrying a girl he's gone with for a long time. They asked our older brother Paul to be best man. Paul was injured in the war and is in a wheel chair.

The wedding is a week away. All the tuxedos are rented. Yesterday the bride told Ed that she changed her mind about having Paul for best man and she wants him to ask somebody else. She says she doesn't want Paul coming down the aisle in a wheel chair because she's afraid everybody will be looking at Paul and not at her.

Ed hasn't the heart to tell Paul he can't be best man. The bride won't give in and her parents are backing her up. What should we do about this mess?

SISTER OF ED AND PAUL

DEAR SISTER: This is strictly Ed's business. He alone will have to decide whether he cares enough for this girl to select another best man and break the news to his disabled brother. Perhaps the incident of the best man was the best thing that could have happened to the groom.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my married daughter. She has a nice husband. We also have a 15-year-old daughter who is in the 10th grade. She is a cheer leader and is very popular at school.

Whenever I buy my 15-year-old girl something and the married daughter sees it, she makes some remark like, "You never bought ME clothes like that!" She doesn't realize that times were not so good then. It has gotten so that whenever we know the married daughter is coming over, we hide anything we bought for the 15-year-old. It doesn't do any good though, because she snoops through all the closets and drawers and finds it anyway.

I heard that other mothers have had this trouble. Maybe you can help them and me, too, with a suitable solution.

NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: Stop hiding things! You owe your married daughter no explanations or apologies. Simply tell her that you can afford more now than you could when she was fifteen.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO JOHN DOE: A person with an emotional problem has no way of knowing how serious it is until he goes to a psychiatrist. The fact that he has the intelligence to seek help is a credit to him. Too bad so many people prefer to go through life mixed up.

Bible Prof Urges Open Door For Negro Preachers

ABILENE (AP) — A professor of Bible and religious education said Wednesday that colleges operated by members of the Church of Christ should admit the denomination's Negro preachers to graduate study.

Carl Spain, a member of the faculty of Abilene Christian College and also preacher of the Hillcrest Church of Christ in Abilene, made the statement in commenting on his speech prepared for delivery today at the annual Bible Lectureship of the college.

The Churches of Christ have no central government and hold no annual conventions as do other denominations. The Bible Lectureship, now in its 42nd year, is the group's largest meeting. Some 9,000 preachers, church officials and members from throughout the United States and some foreign countries are attending the 1960 program on the theme of "Christian Faith in the Modern World."

In discussing present day challenges to Christian morals, Spain said in his prepared text:

"You drive one of our own preachers to denominational schools where he can get credit for his work and refuse to let him take Bible or credit in your own schools because the color of his skin is dark."

He said colleges of other denominations and state universities and some public schools in Texas admit Negroes and asked "are we moral cowards on this issue?"

Mixed Married Called No Goal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Racial intermarriage is not the goal of integrationists, says the leader of the Montgomery, Ala., Negroes' successful boycott against segregated buses.

"The basic aim is to be the white man's brother, not his brother-in-law," the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. told a news conference Wednesday.

Fort Worth Beatniks Hold Political Rally

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Local beatniks, warmed by their little cups of coffee, climbed from their cellars Wednesday night to hold an outdoor political rally on the coldest, most miserable night of the year.

About 150 beats gathered at Burk Burnett Park to push the campaigns of Pete "The Hero" Gill and "Big" Mike Callaway, running for Democratic precinct chairmanships.

Signs of "We Like Mike" were held aloft by some who have heard Mike read poetry.

The star of the show was an eagle held aloft by artist Don Pottratz who pronounced: "Let there be weirdness."

Mike warned "if they slap a city tax on expresso, we'll stage such a coffee party on the banks of the Trinity (River) that it will make the Boston Tea Party look like an outing of Sunday afternoon Girl Scouts."

Three young anti-beats showed up with signs reading:

"Beatniks go home if you have a home."

"Down with the unwashed masses."

"Ridiculous."

The rally lasted 45 minutes and then the beats headed for the coffee houses when the cover charge was lifted for the night.
