Browder Is Showered With Rotten Eggs In Terre Haute

Citizens Block Radio Station's Entrances And Let Communist Candidate "Have It" As He Attempts To Make Air Speech

(By The Associated Press)

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 20—Citizens blocked both front and rear entrances to radio station WBOW here tonight, hurled rotten eggs at Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president, and prevented him from entering the station to make a scheduled radio campaign speech.

At least one person was believed to have been cut in a fight at the foot of the enclosed stairway leading to the radio station. A man was seen with blood streaming from his back.

Browder left the radio station after he had been showered with the rotten eggs and apparently returned to his hotel.

From the hotel room Browder sent word he would not make any further attempt to give the speech tonight but would take the matter up in the courts tomorrow.

Several hundred persons jammed around both front and rear stairways to the radio station an hour before the Communist candidate was scheduled to make his appearance. As Browder appeared the shower of rotten eggs began.

Several fights broke out in the crowd, and one photographer had his camera knocked from his hands. As he climbed to the top of an automobile to take a picture of the crowd there were shouts of "break up that camera," and the crowd surged around him.

Browder announced his intention to give up plans for the speech just five minutes before he was scheduled to go on the air. One of his attorneys remained in the crowd at the radio station stairway attempting to gain an entrance to the building.

Browder, after his return to his hotel, conferred by telephone with Communist national headquarters in New York and informed officials there he had been prevented by "mob violence" from making the speech.

He said a protest would be sent to President Roosevelt, saying a candidate for president had been prevented from making a speech and that "mobs are taking charge in Indiana and there is no chance for redress."

First Grange Chapter For Area Formed

Farmers Of Southwest Ward Community Organize First Group In West Texas After Hearing Representative

By FRED GRIFFIN

ORGANIZATION of West Texas' first chapter of the National Grange was perfected last night when 75 Lubbock county residents gathered at the Southwest Ward school, seven miles from Lubbock.

Charter members elected Vaughn E. Wilson Grange master; W. O. Perkins, secretary; and R. L. Burdette, Lubbock High school vocational agriculture teacher, lecturer. Before the group voted in favor of organization, Harold W. Gaulrapp, National Grange field representative, outlined history and functions of the farmers' association.

Purpose Three-Fold

Purposes of the organization are three-fold, Gaulrapp said. It promotes social, education, and legislative development, as provided in a "Declaration of Purposes" written in 1873, seven years after the Grange was organized in South Carolina.

Each chapter of the Grange must have at least four women members, Gaulrapp stated. They are in charge of home economic and home beautification projects and of the social welfare portion of the Grange program. Educational phases include literary programs and co-operation with schools and boys' farm groups, the national representative pointed out.

Outlines Work In Texas

Describing briefly development, decline and revival of the National Grange, Gaulrapp outlined his work in Texas, which began nearly two years ago in Gonzales county. After explaining immediate aims of the Texas state grange, he answered questions concerning the plan.

W. C. "Brigham" Young, vocational agriculture teachers at Slaton, acted as secretary until Perkins was elected. Other officers are to be selected at the next meeting, it was stated. The chapter will meet twice each month.

Steps toward organization in the county were initiated by Burdette and other vocational agriculture teachers, whose requests brought Gaulrapp here this week. He is to conduct a similar meeting at the Shallowater community house this evening. Other granges will probably be organized later this week at Slaton, Idalou, Roosevelt, and Lorenzo, Burdette predicted.

Members who paid initiatory fees last night were: W. M. Ross, S. J. Pascal, W. H. Daley, W. N. Perkins, C. H. Hudson, J. T. Collie, J. M. Taylor Mrs. Leonard Cole, Mrs. L. E. Biffle, Mr. and Mrs. Burdette, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Perkins, and Wilson.

Editors Asked To Saturday Program

Approximately 100 newspaper editors of West Texas have been invited to attend a luncheon, program and inspection of Texas Technological college buildings here Saturday afternoon and to top off their visit by seeing the Texas Tech-Centenary football game that night.

Invitations went out from Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of the college, Chas. A. Guy, publisher of Avalanche-Journal newspapers, and Cecil Horne, head of the journalism department at the college.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock at Lubbock hotel, through courtesy of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. A two-hour tour of the college plant will include visits to the girls dormitory, a museum under construction, textile engineering and mechanical engineering buildings, the printing shop and the Toreador office, agricultural and home economics departments.

Editors will be guests of the college at the game.

Sen. G. H. Nelson and Rep. J. Doyle Settle have been invited to speak.

Tax Receipts Are Increased

Internal Revenue Department Reports Collections Higher By $164,000,000 Over First Quarter Of 1935

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Marking up increases in receipts from 48 to 65 classes of taxes, the internal revenue bureau reported today its total collections for the first quarter of this fiscal year climbed $164,000,000 over the same period a year ago.

The increase, a rise of almost 20 per cent, pushed aggregate collections to $1,009,994,623. This compares with $845,471,253 in the corresponding period last year.

First Time Since 1928

Treasury officials said it was the first time since 1928 that first-quarter collections had exceeded $1,000,000. The receipts, however, were below the January-March quarter last year, when collections aggregated $1,079,000,000.

Leading the upturn last quarter were receipts from corporate and individual income, capital stock, liquor, cigarette, gasoline and automobile levies. Increases of a million dollars, or more, were reported in 18 tax categories.

The biggest puncture in the picture of climbing revenues came in the agricultural adjustment tax column. These levies produced $40,855,548 in the first quarter of last year but, because of invalidation by the supreme court, contributed nothing this year.

REDUCE REQUIREMENTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Directors of the board of trade today reduced initial margins required on grain trading. Hereafter the minimum will be six cents a bushel instead of eight cents on wheat, corn, rye, barley and soybeans, and three cents instead of four cents a bushel on oats.

Spur Youth's Words Given In Testimony

"That Did It," Harold Karr Of Spur Says McArthur Said As He Held Up His Fist After Aged Man Had Been Beaten

(By The Associated Press)

FLOYDADA, Oct. 20. — Harold Karr of Spur testified in Everett McArthur's murder trial today that McArthur held up a clenched fist and said "that did it" when asked who had beaten "Uncle" Ben Speegle at Matador last Nov. 22.

Speegle, 60, was found dying in a cabin at his tourist camp. Dr. Albert C. Traweek, jr., said he had been choked, his jaws fractured and several vertebrae in his neck dislocated.

Found Two In Car

Karr said he left a dice game at the tourist camp and found McArthur and Melvin Ensey in the front seat of his car with "Speegle in the back seat bloody and beaten up." He said he helped lift the body from the car.

Mrs. O. E. Rains of Wichita Falls and her 13-year-old son, O. E. Rains, jr., identified the defendant as the man they said visited their cabin and cursed and threatened Mrs. Rains prior to Speegle's death.

Breathing With Difficulty

Raymond Harris of Spur testified Speegle was breathing with difficulty when he was removed from the Karr automobile.

Other state witnesses were E. H. Thornton of Matador and Jack Price of Rotan. Price testified he knocked Speegle down in an altercation during a dice game. He said Speegle threatened him and struck at him.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McArthur of Spur, parents of the 23-year-old defendant, were in the courtroom.

Sheriff J. L. Koonsman of Dickens county testified McArthur had blood on his clothing when he was arrested the day after Speegle's death.

Dallas Contractor Low On Lynn Job

Morgan Construction company of Dallas, with a bid of $51,111, was low bidder for a Lynn county project entailing 7.9 miles caliche base course and triple asphalt surfacing on highway 9 from 3.7 miles north of Tahoka north, announced the Associated Press from Austin Tuesday after the highway department had tabulated low bids totalling $966,670 in 14 counties.

Resignation Of McMahon From Tax Appeals Board Accepted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of Stephen J. McMahon as a member of the board of tax appeals, effective Nov. 1. McMahon has been a member since 1929. The White House said he submitted his resignation Oct. 7 and planned to practice law privately

Los Angeles Outdoor Audience Told Federal Spending Has Been Abused; Decries New Deal's "Punitive Taxation"

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—Gov. Alf M. Landon accused the New Deal of "undermining" individual liberty and "tampering" with basic Democratic principles in demanding tonight that President Roosevelt be ousted in behalf of a "return to our constitution."

Before an open-air audience in the Los Angeles Coliseum, the presidential nominee climaxed his West coast dash with an assertion that Mr. Roosevelt's re-election would be interpreted as an endorsement of policies Landon said had "abused" the power of government and threatened "our independence."

"Must Be Defeated"

"If we are to preserve our American form of government," the Republican candidate said, "this administration must be defeated."

The Kansan said congressional investigations "have budded and blossomed in unusual and rank profusion" during the Roosevelt administration. Some listeners interpreted his remarks as referring to the house investigation of Dr. F. E. Townsend's old age pension movement, when the governor said:

"Recently, a congressional investigation has been carried on for what seems to be purely political ends. In this case the thinly veiled purpose apparently was to discredit a political movement which the controlling party wished to crush."

Dr. Townsend has urged follow-

Smith's Move Creates Split

Union And Townsend Parties Announce Severed Whatever Relationship They Had With Nationalist Organizer

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 — Both the Union party and the Townsend National Recovery plan organization issued formal statements tonight announcing they were severing relations with the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, who announced in New York the formation of a nationalist movement.

Mr. mith, one time associate of the late Huey P. Long, joined the Townsend organization last June, when he was appointed to the national board of directors, and later followed its founder, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, in supporting William Lemke, presidential candidate of the Union party.

In a signed statement, Dr. Townsend set forth:

"The Townsend organization is American in its foundation and ideals and I do not propose to allow any person with dictatorship tendencies, whether they be under the guise of the New Deal or nationalization, to stampede the Townsend movement in whole or in part into even partial endorsement. . . ."

"I do know, however, that nationalism and centralization are both definite trends towards Fascism. As a matter of principle, his (Smith's) connection with our national recovery organization must be automatically severed."

State Socialistic Brand Of Politics In Landon's Past?

Photostatic Records Waved By Ickes Allege GOP Candidate Tried To Put Over Great $35,000,000 State-Owned Gas Line

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—Secretary Ickes said tonight Governor Landon last year was a "state Socialist," advocating state-owned telephone and natural gas distribution systems.

In a nationwide radio speech entitled "Is Landon Sincere?" Ickes read what he said was a letter to him from Landon Feb. 7, 1935, suggesting loans to states for "public state-wide telephone systems."

A few months before that, Ickes said, Landon sent William Allen White to Washington with a secret proposal to spend $35,000,000 for construction of a natural gas pipe line as a state enterprise to "market that natural gas in competition with private industry."

State Socialist Turns

Asserting Landon was now a self-proclaimed "champion of private initiative," Ickes asked:

"How does it happen that the state Socialist of 1935 is the Republican candidate for president in 1936 on a platform of uncontrolled private initiative? Is it possible that the governor of Kansas was willing to tear his principles from the shallow soil in which they were rooted because of the lure of the greatest office in the world?"

The speech was broadcast under auspices of the progressive national committee, which sent to newspapers along with copies of the speech photostats of the purported letter, and photographs of Samuel Insull, Chicago utility operator, wearing a Landon button in his coat lapel.

The letter, on official state stationery, said:

"If you do not have the authority

Fascists Near Spain Capital In Final Push

Motorized Columns Within 24 Miles Of Madrid And Gaze On City In Distance; Prepare For Its Capture

(By The Associated Press)

WITH INSURGENT ARMIES, Spain, Oct. 20.—Motorized columns of Fascist insurgents tonight swung the tips of their crescent-shaped line closer to Madrid.

The northwestern point of the Fascist half-moon rested on the heights commanding El Escorial, about 24 miles from Madrid.

The southern tip was driven toward Aranjuez strategic rail center about the same distance due south of the government capital.

TO CONTINUE RECOGNITION

MOSCOW, Oct. 20. (AP)—Russia will continue recognition of the present Spanish Madrid government, an authoritative spokesman said tonight, even if the seat of the government should be transferred to Barcelona or if the president and leaders should flee Spain.

(President Manual Azana, who with three cabinet ministers arrived in Barcelona from Madrid Monday night, today was reported to have visited the Aragon front "to instill courage into the government defenders.")

The Kremlin does not believe the insurgents will win in Spain, this source said, even though the Fascist ring tonight was less than 20 miles from Madrid.

Arc Swings Southeast

From El Escorial the arc of the Fascist swung in a southeasterly direction near Navalcarnero and through Illescas, bending around sharply to strike off at Aranjuez.

The two major objectives of the insurgent military commanders were El Escorial and Navalcarnero, the only two strongly defended cities held by the government immediately outside Madrid.

After battering government redoubts with artillery bombardments, the Fascists scaled the heights outside El Escorial, and gazed on Madrid in the distance.

Sweating gun crews and horses dragged field pieces up to the newly won positions, and bombardment of El Escorial was begun.

At Illescas the Fascist commanders devoted their energies to mopping-up maneuvers to prepare their area for the final Madrid march.

Pennsylvania Boy Wins FFA Award

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20 (AP)—Clayton Hackman, jr., 19, Myerstown, Pa., tonight was named the Star Farmer of America for 1936 and given the Kansas City Weekly Star's $500 award at the American Royal Livestock show.

The judges, meeting recently in Washington, picked Hackman as having the best record of 64 who this year received the degree of American Farmer, highest honor bestowed by the Future Farmers of America, an organization of more than 100,000 farm boy students in vocational agricultural high schools.

Hip, Hip, Hooray! Old Idea Of Encasing Broken Bone In Cast Outlawed; Nail It Up!

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20. (AP)—A new operation in which two broken parts of the thigh bone near the hip socket are nailed together to promote quick healing was described today to the American College of Surgeons.

The operation regarded by surgeons as quicker and easier than use of a plaster cast, was reported by Dr. M. N. Smith-Peterson of Massachusetts General hospital, Boston.

As a result of the operation patients with such fractures of the femur, or thigh bone, have been dismissed from the hospital and sent back to work in from four to five weeks, while the ordinary plaster cast method necessitates about six months of hospitalization, Dr. Smith-Petersen declared.

Sen. James Couzens Thought To Be In Critical Condition

DETROIT, Oct. 20. (AP)—Senator James Couzens, ill in Harper hospital with uremic poisoning, remained in a critical condition tonight, his physician said in reporting no change in his condition.

Dr. Hugo Freund, the physician of the 64-year-old veteran of the senate, said earlier his condition was such that there would be no immediate change, but indicated that one might come tomorrow.

Music Drive Is Praised By Local People

Enthusiasm Is Displayed In Campaign For Members In Civic Music Association; To Bring Artists Here

Enthusiasm for the first annual membership drive of the South Plains Civic Music association is evident by the growing sales of memberships to out-of-town people as well as local residents, Miss Murl Springsted of New York, promoter of the campaign, reported late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garrard of Tahoka were the first to apply for memberships at the headquarters Tuesday morning in the pine room of Hotel Lubbock.

Testimonials Given

Testimonials given by prominent Lubbock citizens show the spirit with which Lubbock is accepting this new campaign. A statement made by Rev. W. R. Vivrett, pastor of the First Christian church, reads, "The South Plains Civic Music Association offers to the people of the South Plains the opportunity for rich cultural development at a minimum of expense and maximum of talent. World famous artists will bring to this area the best in the music world.

"I highly recommend this association as a means toward the realization of a finer culture and an appreciation for the good things of this life."

Welcome New Method

Mrs. A. W. McKee, president of the Lubbock Music club states: "In the early years of the Lubbock Music Club, we toiled ceaselessly to bring good artists to Lubbock—Percy Grainger, Madam Margaret Matzenauer, Zimbalist and others—as many of you will recall, and this club is happy to have a part in bringing the same type of art to Lubbock under a new method, and so I heartily endorse the C. M. A."

Teams and captains of the South Plains Civic Music association are urged to attend an important mid-week check-up meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Hotel Lubbock, the president has announced. A final check-up meeting will be Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the hotel.

Amy Mollison And Jim Are To Solo In Their Marital Course

CHELSFIELD, England, Oct. 20. (AP)—Mr. Amy Mollison, aviatrix, said tonight she and her flying husband, Jim, have decided solo-ing is the best marital course for each of them.

Mrs. Mollison, holder of long distance flight records, made her statement after a forced landing here had wrecked her plane and broken her nose.

"I have for the past month heard rumors about Jim and my friendship," she said. "Jim is going his way and I am going mine and I shall fly under my own name as Amy Johnson."

LANDON REPLIES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 20. (AP) Gov. Alf M. Landon tonight characterized Secretary Ickes' description of him as a "state socialist" as "typical of the confusion" in the New Deal and asserted "this attack is like the losing team throwing the ball around wildly attempting to score."

"Up to date the administration's spokesmen have been attacking me on the ground I was a puppet of big business. Now they attack me on the ground that I am a socialist and the enemy of big business.

"This is typical of the confusion and contradictory policies that have characterized this administration from its beginning."

Winter Grasps Some Sections

Rocky Mountain, North Central Plains States Tuesday Swept By Snow, Sleet And Major Drops Of Temperature

(By The Associated Press)

Wintry weather, with snow, sleet and falling temperatures, swept over the northern Rocky Mountain and the north central plains states Tuesday night.

Four inches of snow were recorded at Marshall, in southwestern Minnesota and at Lake Preston, S. D.

Snow also fell in Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, western Nebraska and western Kansas. A blanket four inches deep covered the ground at Lander, Wyo.

Low Readings Registered

Temperatures fell rapidly. O'Neill, Neb., had a 31-degree reading. The temperature at Goodland, Kas., at 7 p. m. was 34 degrees.

A 36-mile-an-hour wind was recorded at several Nebraska points, including North Platte, Norfolk, Cozad, Grand Island and Big Springs.

GOOD CROWD SEEN

Bill Differs Sharply From House's Form

Measure Will Raise Estimated $10,000,000 Annual For Old Age Pensions; Action Puts Session's Purpose Nearer

Vote Is 24 To 5

Provisions In House Measure Stricken Out And Others Are Added; Agreement Is To Be Next Step

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. — The senate finally passed an omnibus tax bill today, pushing nearer to accomplishment of the dual purpose for which Governor James V. Allred called a special session of the legislature.

The vote for passage of the bill, which differed sharply from the form in which it previously had been approved in the house of representatives, was 24 to 5.

Provisions Stricken, Added

Some provisions in the house measure had been stricken out entirely, others had been altered and some the senate had added on its own account.

Senator Clint Small estimated it would raise approximately $10,000,000, about the amount the authors of the house measure had said their bill would yield.

Would Revise Law

The amendment on which a storm was regarded as certain to break in the house of representatives would revise the old age assistance law to restrict aid to those in strict need, abolish the old age pension commission and place administration under the board of control.

Senator Small, author of the amendment, said the revision would cut the pension bill in half and put old age assistance on a finance basis that the state could bear.

The course of the bill lay back toward the house where a point of order was certain to be raised that the Small amendment not only changed the purpose of the house bill but was not within the call of the governor. Attitude of Speaker Coke Stevenson, of vital importance, was eagerly awaited.

During the day, the house killed a resolution requesting the governor to say whether he had intended to submit the question of amending the pension law and to give his views of deliberalization.

Rep. Kenneth McCalla of Houston, author of the resolution, said he wanted to eliminate the growing conflict between the two chambers, but other members said the governor's message was plain that he had not submitted such a matter.

Some concern was heard that the addition of the Small amendment and opposition in the house to it might result in failure to obtain a tax bill of any sort. Governor Allred reiterated that unless there was

Flu Vaccine Said To Be Perfected

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20 (AP) — The first vaccine for influenza has been trained on 30 human beings with 100 per cent success at the Rockefeller institute in New York.

This fact was announced to the American Public Health association here today as the "preliminary skirmish" in promises to be a successful campaign to mitigate the ravages of influenza and possibly to abolish the great flu epidemics as effectively as yellow fever and the black death.

Thomas Francis, jr., M. D., of the Rockefeller institute, described the influenza vaccine. It is made in the laboratory from highly purified flu virus, the "agent" which causes the disease.

Before the human experiments, he said, vaccination tests on mice gave these animals immunity equal to that which follows an attack of flu. How complete this immunity is and how long it lasts in mice or men is still unknown. But in the human being two months after vaccination the immunity indications are both strong and undiminished.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, Famous As Instructor Of Helen Keller, Is Dead

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. — The woman Helen Keller knew as "teacher" for 50 years died today, leaving her famous blind and deaf protege praying for strength to "endure the silent dark until she smiles on me again."

"Teacher" was Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, 70, who devoted her life to explaining the world to a young girl who could not see, or hear, or speak.

Mrs. Macy died in the Forst Hills, Long Island, home she and Miss Keller shared with a secretary, Miss Polly Thomson. She suffered a heart attack four days ago.

At the final flutter of her teacher's heart, Helen was "writing" desperately in Mrs. Macy's palm with her fingertips, trying to call her old friend back to consciousness.

One week hence, teacher and pupil were to have received the Theodore Roosevelt medals for "a cooperative achievement of heroic character and far-reach-

State And County Officers Probing Alleged Traffic In Negro Laborers

CLIPPED and significant warning of state and county authorites Tuesday night was directed at an increasing custom of transporting negroes into the South Plains area and unloading them on cotton farmers for an alleged price including "fare and food in transit."

Cap Moore, deputy sheriff, and Jack Reaves, state highway patrolman, ordered a man to release 12 negroes he had brought here from Dallas, after they had investigated stories told by six of the 12.

The officers said the negroes, part of an original load of 28 that started for the South Plains Sunday from Dallas and whose number was increased to 32 after reaching Fort Worth, told them they had been kept in a trailer attached to an automobile since Sunday and had not been provided beds on which to sleep.

They related they, or some of them, had not been given enough to eat.

A group of six said it had jumped from the trailer when

The editorial is "On Choosing a Husband" and is too good to quote partially, so we are using it all:

"Strange as it may seem, the American Automobile Association feels impelled to offer advice on choosing a husband. A woman, it says, can learn something about the character and disposition of a prospective husband by noting the way it which he drives his automobile. A ride with him through heavy traffic is supposed to reveal traits of character likely to predominate at the home fireside.

"Does he show at the wheel violent temper, jittery nerves, undue timidity, or a sense of courtesy, fair play and sportsmanship?

"A driver who hogs the road is likely to be selfish in his manner of living. If he does not hesitate to force other cars out of the way in order to squeeze his own vehicle through a slight opening in traffic, he may be disposed to a ruthlessness that will bear watching, although this may indicate also traits of character that will keep him well up front in the race for success. If, however, he jams his own or the other fellow's fender in picking his opening, good judgment may be lacking. Does he blow his horn like a madman if the car up ahead doesn't fairly leap with the green light? If so, he may be marked down as one likely to slam the doors or throw the dishes at the slightest provocation. Does he drive with excessive timidity? If so, the chances are the job he's got is the best he will ever have.

Politics And Women Talked

Dr. W. A. Jackson Is Speaker At Woman's Forum Meeting At Badger Home; Programs Vary At Meetings

As Tuesday afternoon is largely study club day in Lubbock, yesterday saw four excellent programs at as many well attended meetings.

"The Modern Woman In Politics" was studied by the Lubbock Woman's forum at a meeting in the home of Mrs. R. W. Badger, 1812 Fourteenth street. Assistant hostesses were Mesdames W. B. Pool and Gradie Bownds. Mrs. Robert Crawford was leader for dicussion of the following topics:

Dr. Jackson Talks

"Modern Woman's Responsibility in Politics". Dr. W. A. Jackson, guest speaker; "Who Is Who Among Our National Congresswomen", Mrs. Harvey Turnbough; "Our First Lady", Mrs. Badger. Mrs. Chester Elliott played a piano solo.

The club decided to sponsor a benefit bridge November 17, time and place for which will be announced later. Reservations for the affair may be made with Mesdames Elliott and W. R. Hudson.

Refreshments were served in the dining room from a table decorated with marigolds and orange cand'es. Mrs. Paul Barrier poured tea.

Twenty members, including a new one, Mrs. Henrie Mast, and a guest, Mrs. Turner Adams, were present.

In Ryan Home

The Shakespeare club met with Mesdames O. T. Ryan and H. M. Gibson at the home of the former, 2923 Twenty-third street, for a program on "Antony and Cleopatra", led by Mrs. J. W. Kolb. Mrs. Cliff Widener discussed "Ancient Egypt As a Power"; Mrs. E. J. Lowrey discussed the keynote of and dramatic action in the play; Mrs. R. T. Campbell talked on "The Ptolemies and Cleopatra's Early History" and Mrs. O. A. Terry discussed writing materials of the Egyptians.

The club voted to participate in an all-club Christmas welfare project which is to be sponsored here.

Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Wright Kerr, new members, attended for the first time. All other members, except one, were present.

Mrs. Evans Presides

Mrs. George R. Bean, 1614 Nineteenth street, was hostess to the 1933 Study club. Mrs. A. W. Evans presided for a short business meeting in which Mrs. M. E. Ogden was received as a member. She also presided for the following program on "America Goes West":

"The First Great Westward Trek", Mrs. W. S. McDonald; "Economic Origin of Jeffersonian Democracy", Mrs. Evans.

Seventeen members and a guest, Mrs. Charles Hvass, were present.

The club will meet November 3 with Mrs. John R. Hall, 2020 Main street.

Miss Cecil Hukel Of Slaton Is Wed

SLATON, Oct. 20 (Special)—The marriage of Miss Cecil Hukel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hukel, and Weldon Boyd, son of Jess Boyd of Petersburg, took place Saturday afternoon at Tucumcari, N. M., with a Church of Christ minister officiating.

Guests were sisters of the bride and bridegroom, Miss Wilma Hukel and Miss Mary Ellen Boyd, and Miss Virginia Wisdom of Clarendon.

Mrs. Boyd was graduated from Clarendon Junior college in 1930 and is a former student of Texas Technological college, Lubbock. She has taught in Petersburg schools the past four years.

Mr. Boyd attended Tech three years and is employed with a government surveying corps at Tucumcari. They are at home at 623 Fourth street in that city.

On Friday before her marriage, the bride-elect was honored at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Mrs. B. W. Jones in Slaton by Mesdames Jones, J. C. Burton, Herbert Gaither, Joe Webb and Miss Cleo Wolfe.

Miss Winifred Gaither received the guests and Miss Josephine Wolfe presided at the bride's book. Decorations and plate favors featured a Halloween theme.

A program consisting of piano numbers by Mrs. Ernest Short, vocal solo by Miss Wilma Hukel, accompanied by Mrs. Short at the piano, and a reading by Miss Mina Louise Garland was presented.

Pumpkin pie and coffee were served to about 40 guests.

College Groups Are Planning Entertainments To Precede And Follow Football Game During End Of Week

Further proving that fall is a delightful time of the year, the Centenary-Texas Tech football game will be sidelighted by numerous social events planned by college clubs and other groups to entertain ex-students and other guests in the city.

Foremost, of course, is the homecoming banquet that will be served at 6 o'clock Sat. night in the Tech women's residence hall. Invitations have been extended to a number of special guests. Holmes Webb of Abilene, president of the alumni and ex-students association will be here to preside as toastmaster.

To Give Coffee

Las Chaparritas club is planning a coffee at the F. R. Friend residence, 2005 Broadway, from 4 until 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, honoring alumnae. Pledges will be introduced.

Wilmot Eaton is chairman of arrangements for a dinner Silver Key club, a stag organization, is planning for 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. About 80 men are expected to attend the affair.

There will be a luncheon for Sans Souci club members Saturday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock in the ball room of the Hilton hotel. Miss Mary Katherine Agerton is making arrangements.

Los Camaradas club is planning a dinner for 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Aztec room and the Women's Athletic association has planned a breakfast for 9 o'clock that morning at the hotel. Invitations have been extended to former members. Misses Zella Riegel and Margaret Baskin are making plans for this homecoming event.

Ko-Shari club patronesses have planned a barbecue Saturday afternoon in honor of active and alumnae club members and pledges and their escorts. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock in the backyard of the W. A. Jackson home.

Other clubs, including D. F. D. and Centaur, have made tentative plans for homecoming affairs.

Las Leales club is making arrangements for a Sunday breakfast in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel. Miss Hazel Pollard is chairman.

Queen Race Being Held At Sanders

Excitement is running high at Sanders school this week as contestants vie for honors of being queen of the carnival at Sanders school October 30.

Margaret Faye Stagner is leading the race and runnerups are Laverne Johnson, Bettie Lou Youngblood, Elizabeth McDougal, Kathryn McIlhaney, Lucille Ham, Capitola Tollison and Grace Burrows, all of whom are in the sixth grade or under.

Votes are cast at one cent each. The winner will be crowned the night before Halloween at the carnival which is being sponsored by the Sanders Parent-Teacher association.

Chairman of the arrangements committee is Mrs. Bill McMurray, assisted by Miss Lois Mangum of the Sanders faculty and Mesdames C. R. Knee, John Haddock and Viola Reed.

The series is sponsored locally by the City Parent-Teacher council for the seventh district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Smart, Becoming Suit Is Initial Item In College Girl's Wardrobe

That a smart, becoming suit should be the first selection for a campus wardrobe, all Tech co-eds are agreed.

They like sweaters and skirts and low heeled oxfords for laboratory work and cross-campus hiking. They believe the most useful type of dress after school hours is a silk dress that will do for teas, dinner in town, and dates.

The average wardrobe includes four skirts, several different colored blouses and sweaters, two tailored suits, two evening dresses and the choice is black, low heeled slippers for evening and school and high heels for her bright colored dress, one brown hat, one black hat, and one colored hat.

Dad Says "No"

"We like fur coats but the season is so short we can't convince Dad that we need them," some of the girls say.

There are two schools of thought on sleeping apparel: Some prefer fluffy feminine gowns while others buy pongee or seersucker pajamas. Tailored silk robes predominate in the wardrobes. Every closet holds galoshes and raincoats bought during the recent rainy season and every girl possesses a bathing cap for the shower baths.

"Of course I bring clothes left over from last year," says the Tech co-ed.

Odds And Ends

Several girls bring riding habits and bathing suits. Some of them bring smocks and aprons. Many of them bring lounging pajamas of corduroy and satin.

"I buy my heels to fit my dates," one girl asserted displaying four pair of evening slippers with different height heels.

The Tech girls admit that they don't keep an account of the money spent for clothes during the school year. They expressed the opinion that they spent from $100 to $350 a year.

Priscilla Club Takes New Name At Tuesday Meeting

Name of the Priscilla was changed to the Happy 12 Forty-Two club Tuesday afternoon at a meeting in the home of Mrs. H. B. Adams, 1311 Ninth street.

The club planned a Halloween party for November 3 at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. I. S. Doak, 1007 Avneue M. Husbands will be guests.

Mrs. J. E. Carter was a guest at the meeting. Members attending were Mesdames C. A. Henderson, George Kinyon, Alton Lindey, Lilla Ford and Doak.

Mrs. George Berry Will Be Leader Of Convention Unit

Mrs. George Berry division vice-president of the American Legion auxiliary of Texas, will leave Saturday to preside at a school of instruction sponsored Sunday at Sweetwater as a part of a 17th district Legion and auxiliary convention there Saturday and Sunday. She has been asked to preside in the place of the state president who will be unable to attend. A school of instruction is to be conducted in every district in the state organization during October and November, Mrs. Berry said.

Ugly Corns
REMOVED WITHOUT CORN PADS
by mixture of 6 ingredients including
CASTOR OIL
Say goodbye to dangerous razors and clumsy corn-pads. Thousands of corn-sufferers now rave about a new liquid called NOXACORN. It acts in three ways:—
First, Noxacorn helps to relieve pain. Second, It forms a thin protective film over the corn. Third, It loosens even deep-rooted corns so they come out with ease.
HOW IT WORKS
A few drops help relieve pain
Corn soon starts to loosen
Out comes corn in a few days
The six ingredients in Noxacorn are well known:—camphor, iodine, benzocaine, hydrogen salicylate (the "mother" of aspirin), nitro-cotton and castor oil. Noxacorn is approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. Easy directions in package. 35¢ bottle saves untold misery. Your money back if it fails. NOXACORN

Meters To Be Installed Soon

Official Of Dual Parking Meter Company Is Expected To Arrive Here Thursday To Arrange Installation

Arrival of an official of the Dual Parking Meter company of Oklahoma City Thursday, as indicated in a letter to city officials, is expected to expedite plans for placing meters in operation here soon after October 31, first date an establishing ordinance takes effect. Installation is to be made by the company.

Preliminary specifications are being drawn in the office of city engineer, and hundreds of studs similar to those inset at intersections are in storage at the city's warehouse for marking stalls along the 10 sides of blocks meters will be installed.

Improvements made in the devices since City commission contracted last June to purchase 350 of them and since a shipment of 200 was sent here and then reshipped to Kansas City will be incorporated in the machines to operate here, the letter stated.

Near Tragedy On Recent Train To Dallas Is Told By Official

What might have been a tragedy on one of the special trains that went from this section to Dallas and the Centennial, was narrowly averted on the return trip late Friday night, near Bennett, 50 miles west of Fort Worth, Ralph Trolinger, traveling passenger agent of the Santa Fe, said today.

"Some youngster, just whom we never could learn, pulled the air cord at Bennett and broke the train," he said. "The conductor was just starting to cross from one vestibule over to another, when the knuckle on the air hose broke, cutting the two cars apart. If he had taken a few more steps he would have fallen beneath the cars and would have been killed."

The affair occured just after the train had stopped for water and it had just begun to pick up speed. The special immediately stopped and two hours was consumed in switching the car with the broken hose to the rear of the train. Railroad officials never could determine who, presumably a boy, had pulled the air cord.

Memorial Tower To Men Who Drew Black Beans Is To Be Dedicated On Next Sunday

LA GRANGE, Oct. 20. (AP)—The state's highest officials will gather Sunday at Monument Hill to dedicate the $10,000 memorial tower to men who drew black beans—meaning execution—during Texas' punitive expedition to Mexico in 1842.

George Lenert, LaGrange, master of ceremonies, said Gov. James V. Allred, Attorney Gen. William McCraw, Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul and State Senator L. J. Sulak would speak.

Following dedication of the state-donated memorial, Bishop C. E. Byrnes of Galveston will deliver a sermon celebrating the Sacred Heart Parish's golden jubilee. Senator Sulak will direct ceremonies during the afternoon at which all former priests of the parish will speak.

Court's Decision Releases Funds To Members Of Pool

MIDLAND, Mich., Oct. 20. (AP) — A circuit court decision that Michigan's first oil royalty pool was "voidable at the discretion of the subscribers" left Porter township farmers ready today to share in the distribution of between $500,000 and $1,000,000 in impounded funds.

Judge Ray Hart ruled yesterday that the melon should be distributed to the farmers who paid it into the pool. His opinion said there had been neither fraud nor misrepresentation in the organization of the Porter Royalty Pool, Inc., in which 154 Porter township farmers agreed to pool one-half of any oil royalties they might receive.

The judge ruled, however, that the intention of the organizers had been to form a corporation which required the approval of the state securities commission and because this approval had not been obtained, the agreements were voidable.

The most recent survey showed that producing wells had been drilled on property of 104 of the 154 signers.

Paving Project In Plainview To Be Suspended For Picking

Paving projects underway in Plainview by the city and Works Progress administration will be suspended Saturday to permit workers to take private employment in cotton fields, W. E. Burke, supervisor of the district division of projects and planning, said yesterday afternoon.

The projects employ 78 workers at present. The shutdown will cover a period of one month, or until the demand for pickers has ceased, Burke said.

Co-Eds In Tech Dormitories Go In For Trinkets; Color Brightens Room Walls

Personalities are revealed, and characters, habits, ideals, hobbies, the family tree, and boy friends are uncovered upon entering the dormitory rooms of the co-eds of Texas Techonological college.

The Western theme is favored in a number of the girls' rooms with pots of cacti, miniature sombreros, rugs, serapes, donkeys, pottery, and wastebaskets woven from colored straw into Mexican designs. Indian and Mexican pictures, many of which are drawn and painted by Tech students, adorn the walls of these rooms. In one room were found book-ends carved by natives of Mexico City and a string of painted gourds hanging in a corner.

Color Schemes Vary

Various color schemes are carried out in other rooms with the prevalent color of the rugs, curtains, and bed-spreads harmonizing; Many dresser scarfs, bed-spreads, window curtains, and pillows embroidered by the co-eds are seen in the rooms.

No two rooms are arranged exactly alike, but the majority contain approximately the same trinkets, pictures, and sunbonnet quilts, spinning wheels, monkeys, Indian trinkets, donkeys, cats, and novelty clocks.

Pennants On Walls

Pennants from high schools all over the country were eclipsed by the red and black Texas Tech pennants which are given place of honor on dormitory walls. Stickers and pictures brighten the windows, both inside and out. Mottoes, serious and silly, portray the owners' feelings.

Improvised clothes lines of every description are found in each room. Cords, ropes, and fishing poles are used to dry girls' things.

Twenty-Five-Cent Charge On Galveston Ferry Is Ordered

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. (AP)—The state highway commission today ordered a 25-cent charge applied to the Galveston-Bolivar ferry, effective Nov. 1, and agreed to seek $198,000 additional PWA grants for overcosts in the Galveston causeway.

The commission also agreed to apply for $89,000 additional PWA grants for overcosts on the Neches river bridge in Jefferson county.

The ferry charge, to be applied to each vehicle regardless of the number of passengers, was ordered after the Galveston commissioners court, appearing before the commission, voted three to two for a ferry charge to end "abuses." However, the court, as a whole later voted to support the commission in its new policy.

Judgment Of $2,500 Is To Be Awarded Mrs. Eubanks And Her Child As Result Of Fatal Accident Of Husband

An agreed judgment whereby Mrs. Claudie Eubanks and her minor daughter, Betty Jane, 14, will receive $2,500 from H. L. Schwalbe of the Inter-State Contracting company was entered in 99th district court before Judge E. L. Pitts yesterday.

The settlement was made before the court ruled on legal proceedings argued yesterday by attorneys, whether action was based on the law of contracts or torts.

Costs Are Assessed

Of the judgment, $2,200 was decreed to Mrs. Eubanks, who brought the suit in 1931 following the death of her husband, Fletcher S. Eubanks, of Lubbock, killed April 9 when his automobile plunged down an embankment where the underpass on highway 9 two miles south of Monroe was under construction. The daughter was awarded $300 to be paid into the registry of the court. Cost and a $25 attorney's fee to Burton S. Burks, appointed attorney ad litem for the minor child, were assessed against the defendants.

Jack Randal, on the bench for Judge Pitts who disqualified himself yesterday because of a previous sitting on the case in county court, later in the morning ordered continuance of the contest case of the will of Charlotte Pool Shrupshire on motion of a contestant. The action was reset for November 23.

A civil jury impanelled for the week was dismissed by Presiding Judge Randal on request of Judge Pitts.

HEARING IS RESET

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. (AP)—Hearing of the state's suit against the Ortiz Oil company, charging overproduction of oil and seeking approximately $1,000,000 penalties, has been reset for Nov. 16.

Failure of a state witness to appear caused the resetting, Assistant Attorney General C. M. Kennedy, said.

The state will ask that a temporary injunction restarining overproduction by permanent, in addition to asking penalties, Kennedy said.

Garrard Expresses Appreciation For City's Response

Appreciation for Lubbock's "generous response" to the Democratic campaign for funds was expressed Tuesday by Tom Garrard, chairman of the campaign in the 19th congressional district.

In a letter to the Morning Avalanche, Chairman Garrard, of Tahoka, said:

"As chairman of the 19th congressional district, composed of 25 West Texas counties, I am glad to report that most of the counties are responding almost as liberally as Lubbock county. Dawson county is the only county of the district that has raised its full quota. Lynn county has raised about 75 per cent of its quota and we hope to get the balance in the coming week.

"I wish again to thank the people of Lubbock county and express the hope that they will go over the top for Roosevelt and Garner within the next week."

Women Enthusiastic After Making Trip To Manila On Philippine Clipper Flight

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 20. (AP)—The first three women to fly across the Pacific ocean from Honolulu, were enthusiastic today about the journey in Pan American Airways' Philippine Clipper.

"It's amazing to realize we have come here from the United States in 61 hours when it ordinarily takes three weeks," said Mrs. C. V. Whitney, wife of one of the airways directors.

"The most outstanding thing from a woman's point of view was the absolute comfort which surrounded us at such completely isolated places as tiny Wake and Midway islands."

Asked about the best clothes to wear on a trans-Pacific flight, she advised:

"Take light things, especially silks that won't crush. Also carry a light coat."

Mrs. William G. McAdoo, wife of California's junior senator was fatigued from the journey but praised the comforts of the flying Clipper.

Mrs. Juan Trippe left the plane after it landed today praising her husband who is president of Pan American.

Not Night Owls
Artificial Light Is Warned Against

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20. (AP)—The hen primarily is a home biddy and the bright lights and night work to which modern poultry raisers submit her will one day prove her undoing, T. W. Noland, director of the Missouri Poultry show, warns.

Those chicken ranchers who use artificial light to make their hens lay eggs soon will have nothing but trouble — and a flock of dead chickens, he declared.

The egg-laying machinery of a hen is geared to a certain speed beyond which it cannot be accelerated safely, said Noland.

"The hen can't stand late hours. Keeping her up all night is bad. She will die from the strain."

Ann Repeats Her Charges In Plea

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20. (AP)—The custody contest between Ann Harding and her ex-husband, Harry Bannister, today found the blonde film actress repeating charge that Bannister is not fit to care for their daughter.

"As far as I know," Miss Harding set forth in an affidavit, "he does not devote any time to serious business matters and earns no money. I struggle for my living. He does not keep me."

The affidavit was filed here in behalf of Miss Harding by her attorney, Roland Rich Woolley, in connection with a petition asking court permission to keep seven-year-old Jane Bannister with her in England until May, 1937.

The actress is working for an English motion picture concern. Under a court order issued several months ago, Miss Harding must return Jane to California before next December 10.

Miss Harding must remain abroad longer than she anticipated, she said in the affidavit, because of illness and delays in her screen work.

"I submit very respectfully that is to Jane's interest to remain with her mother," the affidavit read.

Baltimore Sun To Support Roosevelt

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20. (AP)—Dean Acheson, former under secretary of the treasury, announced in a letter to the Sun today that he would vote for President Roosevelt's reelection.

Acheson, named to the treasury post in May, 1933, resigned in November of that year, never giving a public reason, though it was reported at the time he was not in sympathy with the Roosevelt administration.

In the letter, he said that recent speeches of Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee for president, and of John Hamilton, Republican campaign manager, had "decided" his vote.

Woman Appointed Executive Secretary For Gov. Moeur

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 20. (AP)—Gov. B. B. Moeur has appointed Mrs. Myrtle Harris as his executive secretary to succeed Herbert Hotchkiss, resigned.

Mrs. Harris expressed the belief she was the only woman in the nation to hold such a position, she had been the governor's assistant secretary since he took office in 1933.

Westerner-Harvester Game Is "Stand-Out" In This Week's District Clashes

Dope 'Favors' Locals But It's Feeble Figure

Coaches And Players Smart Enough To Know Comparative Scores Don't Count When "Big Three" Teams Meet

Second place in the District 1, Class 3 Interscholastic league football race, as well as Amarillo's most respected foe for championship honors, is due to be settled Friday afternoon at Pampa when the Lubbock High Westerners meet Coach Odus Mitchell's Pampa Harvesters in the opening "conference" game for either team.

Members of the district's so-called "big three," Lubbock and Pampa are expected to stage a duel in which football "dope" is a feeble figure in the most important game of the week for this section of the league.

Westerners "Favored"

On the basis of comparative scores, etc., the Westerners are "favored" over their dread green and gold opponents of Pampa. But this doesn't go in the Westerner workouts. The coaches and the players are smart enough to know that dope doesn't count when District 1 teams get together.

Pampa was favored last year over a hapless and almost helpless Lubbock team, but Lubbock's 6 to 0 victory was more decisive than the score. The game was played here before the homefolks, and that helped a lot. This year it is to be played before the Harvesters' homefolks, and there's a difference.

To Have Full Strength

It appears now that Coach Weldon Chapman will be able to toss his full strength, which is tied up in eleven good men and hardy, against Pampa. If and when one of the eleven goes, there is none of equal power to take his place. Reserve power is a missing quantity in the Westerner camp.

Walter "Daniel" Webster, rookie 175-pound halfback who is learning fast in his first season at high school football, still limped in yesterday's drill with a heavily bandaged ankle, but unless all signs go wrong, he'll be in the starting lineup Friday afternoon. Babe Ritchie, crowded almost out of the picture by the heavy Oklahoma gridders last week, seems up to his usual self, and is counted as a starter. Harold Ingley, speed wagon of the Lubbock backfield, who was ushered out of last week's game under annoying circumstances, appears to be none the worse off for his heroics in the losing game. He is Lubbock's big hope for scores against Pampa.

Bearing Down More

Yesterday's workout was somewhat stiffer than the Monday afternoon exercises. The players, all who were able, were called upon for heavy scrimmage duty, and it lasted until almost dark. The reserves ran Pampa plays against the "varsity," which were stopped on most occasions. But then the Westerner reserves aren't Pampa, and as the Harvesters will apply them Friday afternoon, there'll be a difference.

Tickets for the game, offered at one dollar each, moved rather slowly yesterday. A block of several hundred are on sale at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers.

A special train will leave Lubbock at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, and Westerner rooters are urged to clamber aboard. The round trip rate is $2.65. The train returns to the local Santa Fe station at 10 o'clock Friday night. The Lubbock-Pampa game was moved up 24 hours so as not to conflict with the Texas Tech-Centenary Homecoming classic at Texas Tech Stadium Saturday night.

ILLINOIS GAME STARVING

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Starvation is causing the death of 70 per cent of Illinois' wild game, says J. C. McConaha, state conservation department inspector.

Tech-Centenary Game Looms As Most Colorful Of Year; Gentlemen Strong

Homecoming Game To Be Raiders' Toughest Assignment But They Are Preparing; Comparisons Opposing Players Made

Faced with one of their toughest assignments of the season, if not the very toughest, Texas Tech's Red Raider pigskinners pleased their coaches yesterday with a spirited, frolicsome defensive workout against the punt and single wingback formations used by the Centenary Gentlemen.

The Gents are Tech's opponents

"COWBOY" HOHMANN

Saturday night in the Homecoming feature at the new stadium, and the game looms as one of the most colorful, most important of the season.

With the Red Raiders in good physical condition, even after yesterday's terrifying workout in which bruising body blocks, thigh-cracking tackles and shoestring catches were performed by the first stringers, it becomes appropriate for some of the Gents to be introduced, analyzed and compared.

Two linemen and a back are considered today; three stars who made a definite impression upon Head Coach Pete Cawthon when he scouted the Arizona - Centenary game Saturday night. The linemen are Charlie Haygood, guard; Bob Decker, tackle, and Cowboy Hohmann, a former guard now running at quarterback.

Hohmann is the bow-legged rascal who plays the quarterback and blocking position for the Gents, and who is exceptionally fast for his bow-legs. Not an extremely heavy fellow, Hohmann gets the blocking job done in good order. Even at that, he weighs 184 pounds, which is considerably heavier than Tech's quarterbacks, Captain Demp Cannon or Charley Duval. He is advertised as Centenary's "noble experiment," having been shifted from a regular guard position to the quarterback slot. "The Cowboy is one of the smartest men that ever hit the Centenary gridiron, and an excellent blocker and a good pass receiver," is the tag fixed to Hohmann's sketch.

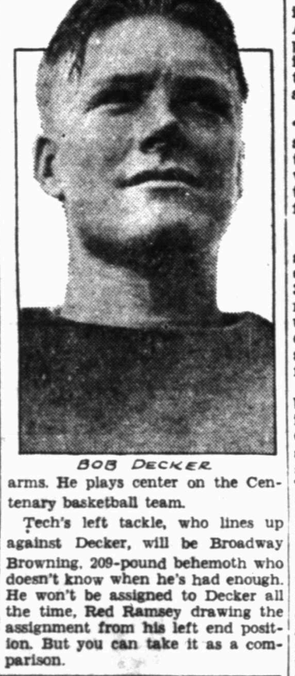

CHARLIE HAYGOOD

"The fans will get a big kick out of watching the colorful, bow-legged fellow streaking down the field. He came here from Chicago, but intends to make Shreveport his permanent home," the bulletin continues.

Left guard on the Centenary club is Charley Haygood, a 198-pound hustler, 23 years old and standing 5 feet, 8 inches high. He is "noisy, but a power-house on defense, and a good man on all types of defensive plays. A better than average offensive guard and excellent on rushing the passer and a genuine battler. He captained the 1931 Byrd team of Shreveport that won the state prep title."

Opposite Haygood on the Tech regular team will be Tech's Pedro Owens, 185-pound demon at right guard, who is giving Line Captain Louis Jones a battle for top recognition at the guard positions.

Bob Decker, a young giant from Wichita Falls, is one of Centenary's and Coach Curtis Parker's most cherished young gentlemen. He plays right tackle, weighs 200 pounds and stands 6 feet, 1 inch high. Coach Cawthon of Tech was particularly impressed with Decker's work against Arizona, and is telling his linemen to beware of the big Gent tackle. Decker is playing his first year as a regular, but was advanced last year as one of the best linemen, potentially, that Centenary ever had. His work thus far has borne out the premonitions. He replaces the great Sid Binion at right tackle. He is built like a heavyweight boxer, with huge shoulders and arms. He plays center on the Centenary basketball team.

Tech's left tackle, who lines up against Decker, will be Broadway Browning, 209-pound behemoth who doesn't know when he's had enough. He won't be assigned to Decker all the time, Red Ramsey drawing the assignment from his left end position. But you can take it as a comparison.

This Guy Groux Must Be Plenty Good

St. Mary's Football Press Agent Turns Out Some Pretty Tall Tales About Ace Passers Of Galloping Gaels Team

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. — Tom Foudy, St. Mary's football press agent, stampeded the New York football writers' weekly luncheon meeting today with tales of the Galloping Gaels.

Edward "Slip" Madigan, the Gaels' guide, sends him ahead to "build up" the other team. The Bell Ringers are doyn for an engagement with Fordham in the Polo grounds Saturday.

"Once," he said, "'Slip' told me to tell Tom Lieb to 'build up' his Loyola team on the coast. 'Tell him to do something about it so that it will look like an even-Stephen affair before the game,'" he said. "They almost beat us. So I'm not saying anything this time."

"It's a great team Madigan is bringing east for the meeting with the Rams," Foudy said.

"We've got a halfback, Lester Groux, (pronounced grew)—we call him 'Just' Groux—who is the greatest forward passer in the game," proclaimed Foudy. "He can throw that ball 80 yards without the aid of wind and 90 to 100 yards with a slight following breeze.

Groux's favorite stunt is to stand on the 50-yard line and pitch the ball at a nickel on a stake at the goal line.

"Yes sir, he hits the stake and knocks the nickel off—the first player ever to hit a nickel from 50 yards," boasted Foudy.

"How come you used a nickel?" some one asked.

"Nobody had a dime," he replied.

The gridiron Gaels acquired their cleverness from Madigan.

"The college permits the team only ten class-day cuts a semester," Foudy said. "This trip, including a game with Marquette in Chicago next week will take 14 days, but Madigan ingeniously took advantage of two holidays, All Saints and All Souls days, as well as two Sundays, so the boys just get under the wire."

"Don't forget Nov. 3 is election day," somebody reminded him.

'Extra Show' Is Offered In Mat Program

Four Matches Instead Of The Usual Three Will Be Given In Weekly Program Tonight At Auditorium

TONIGHT'S LINEUP

Curtain raiser—Joe Maynez, Jaurez, Mexico, vs. Joe Bauer, Milwaukee. One fall or 15 minutes.

Special event—Jerry Marcus, Brooklyn, N. Y., vs. Bob Cummings, San Francisco. One fall or 20 minutes.

Semi-final—Yaqui Joe, Sonora, Mexico, vs. Buck O'Neil, Toledo, Ohio. One fall or 20 minutes.

Main event—Dale Haddock, Detroit, vs. Herb Parks, Vancouver, B. C. Two out of three falls, or 2-hour time limit.

Time—8 o'clock; Auditorium.

An "extra show" at no extra cost is advertised by Promoter Sled Allen for his Auditorium wrestling program tonight, with four matches instead of the usual three and featured by the debut of a couple of strangers.

The main event promises to be a "carry on" affair from last week's semi-final, and if it is that, customers who saw their scrap last week no doubt will have nothing to take back after telling their friends about it.

Put On A Show

Parks and Haddock really put on a show for the folks last Wednesday night in the semi-final, going 38 minutes in one of the fastest, most colorful scraps ever pulled off under Allen's reign here. Parks had one of his best nights, going tough against the a la Sailor Watkins efforts of his adversary from Detroit.

Yaqui Joe, the veteran Indian, bumps into an ambitious youngster in his semi-final go with Buck O'Neil, the Irisher who made quite an impression upon local spectators a year ago in a brief visit here. Time on the semi-final has been cut down ten minutes in order to allow for a couple of warm-up bouts that may be more than that.

Cummings Meets Marcus

Bob Cummings probably will have his hands full with the Jewish fighter from Brooklyn, Jerry Marcus. The Marcus lad is heralded as somewhat of a terror, and his act is expected to go over big with fans who like blood and thunder in their wrestling.

Joe Maynez comes from the professional bullrings of Mexico, and has appeared in Jaurez fights, against man and beast. He gets a try-out here against Jittery Joe Bauer, the comic German who takes his work most seriously.

One-Man Cheering Section Is Boasted

"Tarzan Of Chapel Hill" Makes 'Em All Listen When His Vocal Chords Rip Off His Far Famed, Barking Screech

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A million voices, pitched from low bass to high C, bellow and screech throughout the nation's football stadiums these fall Saturday afternoons, but the greatest one-man cheering section of them all is the "Tarzan of Chapel Hill."

"Tarzan" is Lath Morris, a native Texan whose famous yell is as much a part of North Carolina football equipment as shoe strings. Down in Farmville, N. C., Lath works for a leaf tobacco farm firm during the week, leaves home for the football games on Saturday, and swings into his vocal stride.

He says it costs him more to attend games than anybody in North Carolina because he has to buy his wife, who disapproves of his goings on, a $50 dress for every trip.

Weighing over 200 pounds and measuring about six feet, "Tarzan" is easy to spot in the stands or on the sidelines. On his chest he wears a gold football, presented to him for quarterback duty with the undefeated Blinn Memorial college team in Texas 14 years ago.

"Tarzan" announces his arrival in the stadium, just before the kick-off, by rising somewhere in the Tar Heel student section and ripping off his far famed, barking screech.

That yell, informs E. C. Daniel of the Raleigh News and Observer, can be heard above a brace of bands.

"Tarzan" then strides down the center aisle, hurdles the stadium wall and strips for action. Off comes his overcoat, hat, coat, vest and necktie.

At the Duke-North Carolina State game at Raleigh last season, played on the coldest football day of the year, "Tarzan" mounted the cheer leaders' rostrum. Bets were laid in the press box that he wouldn't shed a stitch. But off came his clothes, right down to his shirt.

Favorites Win In Women's Golf Tilt

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20. (AP) — Favorites won today in the first round of the Texas Women's Open Golf tournament at the River Crest Country club.

Mildred Babe Didrikson, the professional club swinger, came through by a 6-4 count over Mrs. Hattie Collins of Fort Worth. The Babe had a fine 38 on the front nine.

Mrs. Charles Newbold of Wichita, Kas., won by the same margin over Mrs. W. H. Ainsworth of Houston. Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, the defending champion, defeated Mrs. H. V. Cardona of Fort Worth 6 -5.

Mrs. George Thompson, jr., of River Crest and Mrs. Lee Parrish of Tulsa hooked up in the warmest duel. They finished the regular distance all even. On the first extra hole Mrs. Thompson won.

Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin and Mrs. John Parnell of Dallas, the state muny champion, had a thriller, Miss Urbantke finally winning one up. Mrs. J. Lee Wilson of San Antonio came through in another hot match, beating Mrs. Dean Stacy of Oklahoma City 2-1.

Mrs. David C. Gaut, the veteran contender from Memphis, Tenn., posted a fine 39 on the backside. Her steady shooting was too much for Mrs. John Mays of Fort Worth 5-4. Edna Saenger, one of the favorites from Shreveport, took a 7-5 victory from Mrs. R. L. Bowen of Fort Worth. Helen Dittweiler, the Washington, D. C., star, won an uphill fight from Elizabeth Dunscomb of Memphis 5-4.

Joe E. Brown Buys Two Head Of Thoroughbred Race Nags

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 20. (AP)—Joe E. Brown, film comedian, through his Kentucky agent, Jim Headley, bought two of the 147 head of breed stock and yearlings sold at the opening day of the thoroughbred horse auction at the annual Lexington sales paddock.

He paid $2,100 for a bay colt by High Time-Zunelle and $1,200 for a brown filly by St. Henry-Miss Minerva.

The total first day's receipts were $155,125, an average of $1 055, more than a 100 per cent increase over the opening day of last year's sales.

Ice crystals, sometimes 18 inches across, are found in caves in the Ural mountains. They are said to be the largest in the world.

Gopher Coach Insists Team Due For Fall

"Take Your Pick—Take Couple Of Picks," Bierman Says Regarding Five Remaining Foes Of Minnesota

(By The Associated Press)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 20. — Who will stop Minnesota's galloping Gophers?

Coach Bernie Bierman points to the five remaining games on the schedule and says: "Take your pick—take a couple of picks."

In fact, Mr. Bierman has been trying from the start of the season to convince the grid experts "the Gophers will lose at least three games."

Cites Law Of Averages

The law of averages will be on the side of Purdue, Northwestern, Iowa, University of Texas and Wisconsin when the Gophers aim their slashing power attack, aided by half a dozen fleet backs, at these foes. Minnesota has defeated the Washington huskies, Nebraska and Michigan this season.

Minnesota's amazing victory string now stands at 20 straight wins and 27 games without defeat. They were tied in 1933.

Pressure Weighs Heavily

The pressure of adding to that record undoubtedly weighs heavily on the thundering herd, and additional pressure is heaped on them by each succeeding foe, pointing all season at just one thing—to knock off those Gophers.

Even Minnesota fans, used to seeing the 1934 and 1935 Gopher machine run up high scores, asked if "the Gophers were slipping" when they just edged by Washington 14 to 7 and Nebraska 7 to 0. They forgot the Gophers were playing two of the top flight teams of the nation.

Jacobs Is Getting Ready To Reap Another Harvest With Balasamo; He's All Signed

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—Mike Jacobs, who made a fortune with Joe Louis, is getting ready to reap another harvest of gold with the good right hand of young Harry Balsamo, new middleweight sensation.

Since the former subway barkeman deftly polished off Eric Seelig with a startling one-round knockout last week to place himself definitely on the list of title contenders, offers for his services have poured in from every direction.

Even the Far West, where Freddie Steele, ruler of the 160-pound division, makes headquarters, is bidding for a glimpse of the lad whose hitting power is compared to that of the Brown Bomber.

Jacobs, who tied Louis to a long term contract the moment the negro showed signs of developing into a box office attraction, has done the same with Balsamo.

For the next five years the Italian will do all his fighting for Jacobs. Balsamo is owned and managed by two New York busines men, but it is he up to the head of the 20th Century Sporting club to say when, where and who the youngster fights.

Balsamo will go to the post in the Hippodrome Oct. 28 against Babe Risko, former middleweight champion. After that he will be booked for headline fights in other cities.

Acquisition Of Warneke Not Solution To Card Troubles, Frisch Says; P. Dean Worry

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—The acquisition of Lonnie Warneke has helped but not solved the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching problem, Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cards, said today.

"Getting Warneke doesn't tell me how Paul Dean will go next year," Frisch said.

"I don't know what's wrong with Paul now, but I think his trouble is in his mind. Maybe he's got too much money."

Ready to pack South on a fishing trip, Frankie was jovially pessimistic.

"Sure I think Warneke will help us or I wouldn't have been in favor of the deal, but we still need more pitching."

Frisch referred to the trade that sent First Baseman Jim "Ripper" Collins and Pitcher Leroy Parmelee to the Chicago Cubs for Warneke. He pointed out that both Warneke and Parmelee have been troubled by injuries in the last year and are therefore unknown quantities.

Last season Parmelee injured a finger on his throwing hand and Warneke injured his arm in the 1935 World series.

Lou Gehrig Offers His Talent To Hollywood; He Is Willing To Play In "Tarzan" Roles

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—Lou Gehrig has offered his talent to Hollywood.

He is willing temporarily to swap the "iron man" monicker for "Tarzan."

Christy Walsh, business manager of the Yankees' home run king, heard they're going to produce a series of Tarzan pictures in the cinema capital and with the veteran Tarzan, Johnny Weissmuller, reported on the sidelines, suggested the home run king for the role.

"Afraid of animals?" asked Lou. "No! At least I'm not agraid of Tigers—I've faced many of 'em in 12 years of baseball—but those lions, well, we'll have to wait and see."

Gehrig's movie venture is a nebulous stage. Walsh wrote Sol Lesser, Hollywood producer, who said, they'd never seen Lou other than in a flannel baseball suit. So pictures now are in the mail.

"I guess the public's entitled to a look at my body," said Lou, blushing at the idea of appearing in only a skimpy leopard cloth.

Lou said he was interested, financially and artistically. He supposes they'll try and work in something about baseball, but just what and how in a jungle setting he can't say.

Democrat Fund Nearing Goal

Slightly More Than $1,300 Is Contributed By Lubbock And Steering Committee Expects Successful Conclusion

Slightly more than $1,300 had been collected through Tuesday by a Democratic steering committee charged with receiving financial contributions to be diverted to the national Democratic committee for reelection of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner.

Booths conducted last Saturday will be set up again on the streets this Saturday, said L. C. Ellis, county chairman. He said A. C. Jackson, chairman of the steering committee, expects the drive to come to successful conclusion, but that "those who have not made donations should seek out the committee immediately and do so."

Urges Listening To FDR

Ellis said Roy Miller of Austin, state director of finances for the Reelect Roosevelt and Garner campaign, had wired Tom Garrard of Tahoka, district chairman of that organization, that President Roosevelt will make a radio address tonight beginning at 9 o'clock and that every Democrat should listen in if possible.

Symbolic of those who are doing their bit; a 75-year-old woman Tuesday sent 50 cents to the steering committee, expressing her hope she was "not too late; I want to do my small part."

Roy Westbrook Resigns As President Of Panther Club

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20. (AP)—Roy Westbrook, president of the Fort Worth baseball team of the Texas league for three years, announced his resignation at a meeting of directors here today. He gave press of other business as the reason.

All directors were re-elected and another meeting was set for Thursday to make plans for refinancing the club. The Cats are reported to have lost $23,000 the past season.

Fate of Cecil Coombs, business manager, and Homer Peel, playing manager, may be decided at the meeting.

Twenty-Five 2-Year-Olds Are Nominated For Inaugural Race

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Oct. 20. (AP)—Twenty-five two-year-olds had been nominated tonight for the Texas Jockey clubs inaugural handicap at Arlington Downs Thursday—the shove off of a 33-day fall meet.

A. G. Tarn's Mr. Blaze drew top impost of 119 pounds for the six furlong feature. Camisado, one of two J. D. Norris entries, was given 116 pounds and the Three D's stock farm favorite, Heelfly, was assigned 114 pounds.

It Will Be "Slingin' Sam" Vs. "Chunkin' Charlie" Saturday

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 20. (AP)—It will be "Slingin' Sammy" against "Chunkin' Charlie" when Mississippi State's Maroons and Texas Christian's Horned Frogs tie up at Dallas Saturday in an intersectional affair.

Recognizing the danger wrapped up in the tossing arm of the Frogs' great triple threat back, Sammy Baugh, Coach Ralph Sasse has groomed his passer de luxe, Charlie Armstrong, for the clash.

San Angelo Youth Treated For Pneumonia After Game

BOSTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Woodrow Wilson, 21, San Angelo, Texas, who hospital officials said was a member of the West Point football squad, was under treatment today for pneumonia at the Massachusetts general hospital.

Hospital officials said he was brought to the institution Saturday night after the Harvard-Army game, which was played in a deluge of rain.

All real amber, which is a mineralized resin from a certain extinct tree, is said to be at least 600,000 years old.

Here And There--In Brief

Short, Interesting Bits Of News From City And Area

Victor H. Lindsey, attorney of 1514 Avenue M, early Tuesday night suffered a slight mishap to his right hand when he was brushed by a car driven by M. S. Parks of 1520 Ave. K. The accident happened at 1022 Broadway and Avenue J. Lindsey was given emergency treatment at West Texas hospital.

Ralph Noble appealed Tuesday to county court against a fine of $25 assessed Saturday in city police court for vagrancy. Appeal bond of $25 was executed.

Horace Williams, negro, was slashed by Etta Thomas, 23-year-old negro woman, but his "feelings" were not hurt, apparently. Tuesday he arranged the woman's release from City jail after paying $5 of a penalty of $15 assessed her and making deferred payment bond for the remainder.

Bond of $1,000 was set by J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, Tuesday for Delmas Bailey, charged with burglary about Sept. 21 of a house occupied by a man named Norman. Sam W. Fort, police identifications officer, swore to the complaint before Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney. Don Reeder, assistant police chief, and Chas. Chase, patrolman, made the arrest Oct. 19.

Bond of $1,000 was set for W. C. White, negro, upon arraignment Tuesday before J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, on a charge of burglarizing another negro's house. The justice also set a similar bond for Richard A. Bussell, charged with theft from the person, and the boy's father and another surety arranged it. The father came here from Swisher county.

None was injured at approximately 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when machines driven by Giles Connell, Post banker and cattleman, and Dr. J. W. Rollo of Lubbock were in collision at Seventeenth street and Avenue P. Chief of Police H. L. Johnston was riding with Dr. Rollo. Slight damage was done to both machines.

Jury verdict for plaintiff was returned at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in county court civil action of Geraldine King against W. O. McCullough, suit for damages and for possession of personal property.

A trap set at Montgomery Ward's store Tuesday morning to catch a Mexican shoplifter failed. Officials telephoned police a man they were sure had taken hose there Monday had returned to the store, presumably bent on taking more merchandise. Nothing was taken.

An alleged hit-and-run motorist ran into his bicycle at Broadway and Avenue M, slowed down, then drove on, police were informed by A. L. Cox, jr., about 17, of near Lubbock. He said a pickup (Dodge) figured in the collision and he identified to police the last three digits of the license number.

J. W. Baber Tuesday reported to police theft of his bicycle.

Officers for the coming year will be named at a meeting of the Kiwanis club Thursday noon at Hotel Lubbock. The election was postponed because the nominating committee was unable to complete its report last week it was said.

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, bids for construction of a $60,000 school building at Wolfforth, for Frenship rural high school district will be opened, E. R. Haskins, superintendent, said. About 14 contractors are expected to submit bids although 17 or 18 have asked for plans.

Sixty-five WPA project workers in Bailey county will be released Thursday for approximately three weeks to go to the cotton fields for private employment, district headquarters announced yesterday. The [illegible] road improvements south of Muleshoe to Needmore store, is the only WPA project operating in Bailey county.

A 9 3-4 pound girl was born at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayslip of Shallowater route 1, Clark-Key clinic reports.

Sunday school teachers of the First Presbyterian church will meet tonight at the church for a monthly worker's conference. Paul Laverty, general superintendent, is to preside.

Reed and Snyder, Whiteface, sold 28 steers Monday at Fort Worth for $8 per hundred pounds. The animals averaged 942 pounds each. They topped the market.

County Agent C. C. Jobson is leaving this morning for Plainview to attend a meeting of county agents and others to draw up a score card for turkey judging. The card will be used in connection with the coming dressed turkey show in December. A dressed turkey school is to be held this afternoon also. George P. McCarthy, College Station, will conduct it.

Bishop H. A. Boaz, Fort Worth, is presiding over the annual New Mexico conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, which opens in Clovis this morning, Rev. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder, said yesterday. The conference closes Sunday night and Bishop Boaz will be in Lubbock Monday.

G. D. Thatcher, Chicago, special representative of Lions International, is to go to Brownfield today to meet with the club there. He is making Lubbock his headquarters while visiting clubs in this section. Yesterday noon he visited the Lubbock club and last night the Plainview club.

Posey will sponsor a program over KFYO Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mrs. C. Z. Fine member of the Posey school staff and L. K. Hart a farmer, will be in charge of the program to be given by residents of the community.

M. E. Furore Kicked Up By Mother And Father Of Mexican Girl They Charge Improperly Held

A house divided—with a distinct Mexican tang—Tuesday afternoon engaged attention of peace authorities here.

Grady Harriet and Cap Moore, deputies sheriff, were in the Mexican section looking for court witnesses. A Mexican woman and her husband "flagged" them down and asked for assistance in claiming her 12-year-old daughter from the child's aunt, a sister of the man.

The two understood the deputies to tell them to go ahead and get the child. They grabbed the handle of a door of a coupe in which the girl and her aunt sat and began tugging.

The two inside the car resisted by holding to the door's glass. The glass broke and the two suffered several deep cuts.

Before J. T. Trigg, justice of peace, could "get over" to the principals he had no jurisdiction in the case, that since the girl was a juvenile her case automatically came under direction of J. J. Dillard, county judge, the child's mother and father had blurted out in pigeon English flavored with rapid-fire Spanish the girl was being trained for prostitution and that the aunt had a habit of getting her drunk and encouraging the practice.

The aunt just as vigorously denied the accusations.

Before she was locked in jail for the night, pending arraignment before Judge Dillard, the girl sobbed and clung to her aunt, a buxom woman who asked the sheriff whether she might send her up steaks for her meal.

The girl, said the aunt, "say she ees 12, but I think she may be 15."

Deputy Sheriff Cap Moore said the woman came from Taylor, and that the parents of the girl have been picking cotton here.

Republican Candidate Against McCrea Files Statement In Black Legion Case Intervening For Defendants

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—An assistant state attorney-general, asserting Wayne County Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea had taken the oath of the Black Legion, intervened today in a common pleas court examination of 30 alleged night-riders charged with criminal syndicalism.

Chester P. O'Hara, representing the state, presented six affidavits in support of his statement. O'Hara is Republican candidate for the office of prosecutor, to which McCrea seeks re-election.

Attended Initiation

One affidavit signed by Elvis Clark stated that in July, 1934, he "attended a meeting of the Black Legion . . . and saw the said Duncan C. McCrea . . . initiated into the Black Legion . . . and this deponent (Clark) took an active part in this initiation."

McCrea was not present in the courtroom today and could not be reached for comment.

Identical With Others

Clark's affidavit continued: "The work that was given and the oath that was administered to Duncan C. McCrea on this occasion was identical with the work and oath given to every candidate who was taken into the Black Legion."

A grand jury reported this oath to contain a pledge "to vote for any man regardless of party affiliation, and to lie to protect a member: both when ordered by a superior officer" under threat of death.

McCrea, who first pressed the inquiry into the several crimes attributed to the hooded order after it was uncovered by the killing of Charles A. Poole, has termed charges he was a member "political bunk," but admitted he might have signed a membership application unwittingly while he was campaigning for office in 1934.

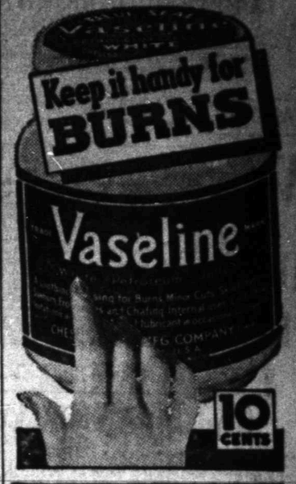

Church Official Is To Make Visit To Lubbock October 30

Rev. O. D. Fulton, Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the board of fordign missions of the Presbyterian church in the United States, is to be in Lubbock Friday, October 30, for conferences and meetings at the First Presbyterian church. Announcement of the coming was made by Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor.

A missionary on leave is expected to accompany the official, although just who will be with him has not been announced. He is expected to meet with the women's auxiliary during the afternoon and probably with the men of the church that night.

The Smith Of Yesterday

PERSONS who have seen the news reel currently showing at the Palace theater must like the Editor of The Morning Avalanche, have been shocked at the evident inroads of age on the physical person of Alfred E. Smith during the past four years.

Shown making his epochal New York speech, in which he urged the election of Alfred M. Landon, the erstwhile Democratic leader looks in the film fully 10 to 15 years older than he did in 1932, when he fought his "last ditch" battle against the presidential nomination of his one-time friend and ally, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Perhaps the cinema is playing a trick upon both Mr. Smith and the people who view the news reel.

Perhaps the lighting was poor, the camera not correctly adjusted, or maybe the "shots" were taken at wrong angles. But to the casual observer, ex-Governor Smith looks much, much older than he ever has before.

Regardless of what may be the individual's view of Mr. Smith as a public figure, and regardless of what any of us may think about his desertion of the party which honored him with its highest nomination, it is sad to see any man of the calibre of the New Yorker nearing the end of his public life. Friend and foe, alike, we believe, would rather remember the "Man In The Brown Derby" as his old, reliant, forceful self than as a tired, aging man whom circumstances have forced to the sidelines.

Leaving partisan politics out of the question, Mr. Smith has been one of the leading public men of our times.

He has been a tower of strength in the Democratic party both in his home state and in the nation as a whole.

A free swinging, straight-from-the-shoulder punching champion of liberality in an era when intolerence had all but throttled the life from the bill of rights, Al Smith will go down in American history not as the man who "bolted" his party; not as the first Democratic presidential candidate since reconstruction days to fail to carry the Solid South; not as the man who quaffed deep of the cup of disappointment but, instead, as a politician who eschewed hypocrisy and guile and as a great public man who, in his hey-dey, represented the will of a very appreciable slice of the public.

We hope to see no more pictures of Al Smith like those on the silver screen this week.

Because he has been a very great American we'd rather remember him as he was up to the 1932 Democratic convention in Chicago—vibrant, matching wits with the best brains of his time, in full command of his side of every discussion, in short, as the man Frank Roosevelt fittingly dubbed "The Happy Warrior."

A FITTING RECOGNITION

Texas Technological college and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce is doing a fine thing, we think, in entertaining West Texas and Eastern New Mexico newspapermen and women with a special luncheon and football party here next Saturday, when the Matadors and Centenary feature the homecoming program.

The men and women invited here for a luncheon program, an inspection of the college plant and the ball game are all friends of Texas Tech, of Lubbock and its various area-wide institutions.

Year after year they give freely of their time and their newspaper space—which to them is money—in publicizing the college, the Panhandle-South Plains fair, the West Tex-New Mex market week programs and all the other things carried on here for the benefit of the entire section. For their kindly interest and generous aid, it is fitting that they be recognized not only once, but as often as possible, by the city and the college.

Collectively, West Texas and Eastern New Mexico newspapermen and women can make or break any sort of a program held in their territory. That they have collectively chosen to help make Texas Tech and the other area-wide institutions has been of great aid. We are glad to see them especially invited to Lubbock and public cognizance taken of their neighborliness.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

I will love thee, O Lord, my strength. The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer: my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.

I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies.—Psalms: XVIII: 1-4.

GENERAL GRANT

Ulysses S. Grant was made a general of the Army on July 25, 1866, after the Civil War. He was the second to hold that army rank, having been preceded by George Washington on June 15, 1775. Eight more generals have held this rank since General Grant.

STINGLESS MOSQUITOES

A new race of the stingless varieties is being propaganted, the Academy of sciences in France was assured recently by Professor Louis Eugene Bouvier, who presented the work of Dr. Legendre.

This modern mosquito, known to his Latin-speaking scientific friends as "culex pupiens", was found by Dr. Legendre in the northern part of France. For two years he has cultivated them in the Pons region, west of Marseilles, and they are replacing their stinging brethren so effectively that there is hope of an era when mosquitoes will be in good repute.

SALUTE TO Love

by Rachel Mack © 1936 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MAJOR SAM MEED, kindly, indolent, lives on a run-down Blue Grass farm with his two orphaned granddaughters, CAROLINE MEED and Katherine Meed called Kate. The Major wastes his money in drink.

Kate is engaged to MORGAN PRENTISS, but when EVE ELWELL comes home from college, bringing a visitor, Morgan breaks a date with Kate to attend a party given by Eve. Kate forgives him, being much in love, and defends him when Caroline blames him.

The sisters plan to go to Louisville next day with old ZEKE, a family servant, to deliver four hams ordered from the Meed farm. Major Meed comes home intoxicated, having spent a much-needed $5 bill. The girls rely greatly on ALTHY, elderly Negro cook who is Zeke's wife.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III

That night the Major was ill and delirious. Althy and Zeke helped the girls care for him in his big downstairs bedroom. The two servants would take turn at coming in from their cabin in the yard, anxious to help the old sinner in his extremity.

Caroline, about midnight, leaned her head against the wall and wept with weariness and vexation. "It's all such a waste!" she sobbed. "Such a wicked waste! He hasn't any health or strength to spare. He hasn't any money at all, hardly. And yet he spends it all going on sprees!"

Kate put a comforting hand on her sister's shoulder, turned suddenly. "What's he raving about now?" she asked.

They listened. The Major was no longer dashing up San Juan Hill with his Colonel. He had left the Spanish-American War behind. He had finished also with the World War in which he had lost his only son, the girls' father. He was now loudly declaiming about "the mortgage" and some "young upstart from the mountains" who was "about to get the farm." And then his voice died away and reason returned to his eyes.

Kate leaned over the bed and felt his forehead. "Gran'dad," she said clearly, "can you take some broth now?"

He smiled at her and nodded weakly.

Althy, who was standing at the foot of the bed, met Kate's eye and hurried from the room. The worst was now over, they knew. He would take the broth from Althy's hand as obediently and gratefully as a child. Then he would sleep.

It was well after midnight when the girls went upstairs to bed, but their desire to go to Louisville had not abated. They would be up at 5, they decided, in order to meet Zeke's 7 o'clock departure.

The morning routine was rushed through with a touch of excitement. The Major slept heavily while the rest of the household did the chores. A few minutes before 7 the sedan was ready to start, the girls seated in the back, Zeke at the wheel and the four carefully wrapped hams packed amongst them.

Kate said, "I think it's going to be a nice day, Caroline."

"Meaning the weather?" asked her sister.

"That and everything," Kate answered. "Do you think, darling, there's any chance of my getting a new dress for the Dalton dance Thursday night? The old green organdie's a sickly mess."

Caroline said, "There's about as much chance of that, honey, as of my getting my senior year at the university."

Kate forgot the dress. "Pood old C'line! Would you really be willing to go back and finish after you've been out a year?"

"Would I!" whispered Caroline feelingly.

Kate said, "I didn't realize it meant so much to you . . . How much would it cost?"

Caroline answered promptly as if she'd thought it out long ago, "I could do it on $500. Living in one of the co-operative cottages, I mean. If I could get my degree, maybe I could get a good job and help with the finances."

Kate said passionately, "Gran'dad ought to raise the money for you! I'm going to talk to him about it—"

The conversation was not finished, for a most startling reason. They were emerging on the highway and Zeke was shifting gears; suddenly there was a roar, a crash of sound and an impact. The Meed sedan careened and turned completely over, landing, miraculously, on its four wheels.

For a few moments there was a queer, heavy silence. Then a jumble of sounds, discordantly blended, strange voice was cursing in a foreign language. Zeke was praying in a freightened, singsong monotone. Kate was leaning over her still sister and calling frantically, "Are you hurt, Caroline? Are you? Are you?"

The owner of the profane voice got out of a big black sedan—the sedan that had struck the Mead car—and approached them. He jerked at the door. When he had gotten it open he pulled Zeke from the car and made him stand upright.

He shook the old Negro and said excitedly, "One of 'em's hurt! Gimme a hand here!" He spoke with a foreign accent.

Caroline opened her eyes and rubbed her head. "Where am I?" she asked, looking at her sister in bewilderment.

"Oh, darling!" Kate cried. "You can speak! We're on the state pike. Right by the big gate. Somebody ran into us. I think it only struck our fender, but it turned us over and around. Do you think something's broken, Caroline? Some of your bones, I mean?"

Caroline moaned, shifting her shoulders. "All of 'em," she answered with an effort at levity. "At least it feels that way."

Kate laughed hysterically. Then she looked up to see the dark, heavy stranger peering at them. Afterward, trying to describe him to her grandfather, she said, "He had a shuttered face and tailored clothes. He was chewing a cigar."

She said to this man now, "Get us out of here! Get us both out! There's something heavy on my foot!"

The dark foreigner got them out. He was efficient and rather dynamic. He worked rapidly. "We don't want a crowd gathering," he said, panting a little.

"No," agreed Kate. She and Caroline straightened themselves and took a few experimental steps. "I seem to be all in a piece. How about you, Caroline?" Kate asked anxiously.

"I'm all right, too," said Caroline. "Except for a knot on my head. I think that's what made me faint."

Over at the side of the road Zeke continued to pray, loudly and ardently, and to intersperse his petitions with the wod 'ham."

"What's he saying?" asked the stranger jerking his thumb in Zeke's direction.

Kate explained. "We were taking some baked hams to a club restaurant in Louisville. They're due early this morning. Zeke's thanking God that we weren't killed and asking Him how we're going to get the hams there on time."

"Oh yeah," said the heavy man, chewing his cigar. "It is important? I mean, have you gotta get 'em there?"

Kate nodded, looking at him with aversion. She did not know who had been at fault in the accident. Probably Zeke, in coming out on the highway. She only knew they must get the baked hams to the Pendennis Club as they had contracted to do. She said decisively to her trembling sister, "Let's stand here and hail somebody to pick up Zeke and the hams—"

"No!" said the dark stranger, making a quick decision. "Leave it to me. I'll take the old man and your stuff myself. I'll pay damages on your car, too. Stand over there by the gate while I look it over. Stand well back out of the road."

The girls and Zeke obeyed. Kate whispered to Caroline, 'So it was his fault! And he admits it! Pinch me if I'm dreaming."

While they waited near the stone gate, the man made an expert investigation of the car he had damaged. He tried the motor, which, strange to say, still ran. He examined the lights, the windshield, the windows, the chassis. He used tools from his own car in the investigation. When he had finished he returned the tools to his car, wiped his hands on a flashy handkerchief from his coat pocket, and approached them.

Sensing Kate's leadership, he addressed her. "Fifty dollars will fix it up. The motor ain't hurt. You'll need a new fender and a few other little repairs." He drew a roll of bills from his pocket and skinned off the top one. Kate saw that it was actually $50, and thanked him.

A passing roadster slowed to a stop and the stranger waved it on. "No help needed!" he called. A truck, following immediately after, received the same information. To Kate he said confidently, "No use dragging other people into this. It's our business. Yeah?"

When the road was clear again

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ira Bennett

MAYBE it's the radio, maybe political hoax-smiths have lost their ancient art, but it's noted that in recent years the campaign "roor-back" doesn't rear its horried head as it did of yore. Along with the "whispering campaign," it has gone to the rendezvous with oblivion.

Instantaneous communication throughout the country works both ways. It starts sensations with amazing quickness—but it kills them off just as quickly.

It would be very difficult now for a mad wag to draw a compromising letter from a foreign diplomat, such as sent Sackville West, British minister, out of the country, ably assisted by Grover Cleveland's boot. Whispering campaigns, such as the yarn that Harding was of negro descent, are scotched by dragging them into the open.

OPEN: Mysterious winks, suggestive shrugs, and veiled hints that a tremendous underground vote is to smash all preconceived estimates of the November result seem to be based on thin air.

A strong drift of Republicans back to the party is conceded. Some Jeffersonian defection from the New Deal is note. Hopes are built upon supposed religious and racial emotions and antipathies. But the investigations of practiced and impartial political analysts fail to uncover any "underground" movement of magnitude—unless it be that of first voters to the radio voice they prefer.

These fact-finding men say that both big parties have laid their cards on the table. No issues are hidden. Many voters see Roosevelt and Landon in person. All of them can hear their voices. It seems to be an open fight.

PERHAPS: Senator Lonergan's campaign expense probe committee pursues peculiar tactics. It has a corps of investigators at work. They have turned in plenty of material with which the committee could begin hearings. No hearings have been held. Prospects now are that the committee will merely issue "statements." These statements have all reflected upon alleged Republican misdoings and remain silent on such matters as rumored political manipulation of Hopkins' Works Progress forces in Pennsylvania.

Subpoenas will be issued against certain unnamed parties unless they voluntarily appear. That statement is made by Senator Lonergan.

Partisanship by the committee in its operations thus far have caused many observers to discount its work in the remainder of the campaign. But it may be that the committee is taking the long-range view, accumulating material with which to prosecute actual violators of the Corrupt Practices act.

UNMOVED: Another committee is quiescent—Senator La Follette's one-man investigation of alleged industrial espionage and coercion of labor. He waits for court action in the case of officers of the Railway Audit and Inspection company, who are charged with contumacy. Leisurely court action may prolong the proceedings until long after the election.

Enough was brought out by the La Follette committee to show that many large industrial concerns take precautions against possible disorders during strikes. They keep an eye on labor unions, too, through special agents. On their side, union leaders try to keep thoroughly posted as to the plans of employers.

No information forthcoming from the inquiry seems to have had an influence upon voters. Labor men learned nothing new.

SIDESTEP: In some states farmers are asking for particulars on rival farm-relief programs. They have heard general propositions, but they can't be sure that any definite program has been decided upon by either Roosevelt or Landon.

One thing that keeps farmers in doubt is the talk of a change of spirit in the new Congress. The idea prevails that no matter who is elected, the glad free days of outright cash benefits are over, or will be as soon as Congress begins to wrangle with the White House over appropriations.

Congress has never been found failing when it came to helping the farmer. The difficulty now, as some farmers see it, is that disputes over farm programs will give many Congressmen a chance to sidestep or postpone big-time farm relief.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NO matter whether Roosevelt or Landon is elected financial sharps are betting that the next President will ask Congress to extend his authority to revalue the dollar down to a 50 cent limit—and that Congress will grant the request. This power expires in January unless renewed.

There is even a possibility that executive authority in this respect will be broadened to give the President a wider range in which to revalue.

Sources who predict this move do not imply that either Landon or Roosevelt would necessarily use such power. But "gentlemen's agreements" do break down at times, and current teamwork between Uncle Sam, John Bull and Marianne rests on a tenuous base. If anything goes wrong, our government would be critically handicapped in protecting our interests unless it had as much freedom of monetary movement as the British and French have.

BLAME. New York dairy farmers have been getting their checks for September milk in the last few days and—as this column predicted—they aren't a bit happy about them. Normally the price received in October is better than that of September, but Sheffield producers are getting 14 cents per hundred pounds less than they did a month ago, and Dairymen's League farmers seven cents less. However, prices to producers are still markedly higher than they were before September.

Despite widespread discontent, a general milk strike is unlikely. This is due to the intervention of nature. Late rains have improved pasturage to such an extent that current milk production is running around 30 pounds more per day per dairy than the average for October. This is discouraging to strike sentiment because the fact that a larger supply of milk than usual is available would make such a strike more costly to participating farmers and less likely to succeed in the end.

But the political repercussions of this month's cut in the price of milk to producers may have an important bearing on the state—and national—elections. Rightly or wrongly, because of his intervention on behalf of consumers, most dairy farmers blame their setback on Governor Lehman. Indications are that they will crowd to the polls to vote against him (and, by that token, against Roosevelt).

DOUBT: Reports have been flying thick and fast about a big "sit-down" strike in WPA to be staged before election. Don't take them too seriously.

The leader of the insurrectionist element is David Lasser, who has more of a flair for headlines than for organization. Careful scouting indicates that he may be able to kick up a noisy fuss in a few local situations, but nothing worth noticing on a national scale.

Lasser claims around a million followers. Insiders doubt that he actually commands the allegiance of one-tenth that number.

START: For the first time since Tammay Comptroller Frank J. Taylor of New York City took office, he and Fusion Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia have had a real tiff. Hitherto Taylor has been diplomacy itself in dealing with the quick-tempered mayor.

Significantly, the disagreement was about the city's acceptance of a $400,000 loan and grant from PWA to build an electric generating plant for Brooklyn College. Taylor objected to furthering the cause of public ownership in this manner, and most of his colleagues on the Board of Estimate agreed with him.

Political sharps see in Taylor's assumption of leadership the deft start of the campaign to bring Tammany back to the seats of the mighty in the 1937 city election.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Can't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better."—Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and constipation. Mark Halsey Drug. Adv.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN, No. 75

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Jahla will be punished; you will be rewarded," roared Lulimi, who was grateful to the subchief Bobolo. Lulimi had invited many of his chosen henchmen to the impending ceremonies, and he would have been highly embarrassed had there been no human meat for the feast.

Still he was unsatisfied with only one victim for the cannibalistic orgy. "We will delay three days," he said; "then the white giant may be again in our grasp." "The white giant is powerful,' called a voice nearby; "and I have come a long way to warn against him."

The voice was that of Sobito, who had just entered the hall. Sobito the witch-doctor was indeed a Leopard Man, as Tarzan had deduced during their encounter at Tumbai. Now Lulimi merely chuckled: "The white one maybe mighty, but who is mightier than Lulimi? . . .

. . At that moment, the Jungle Lord's might was about to be put to a supreme test. He was determined to reach the island temple, though his watery path was studded with ferocious servitors of death. Slowly, cautiously, he waded into the crocodile-infested river!

WHAT IS PUPIL DILATION AND HOW IS IT PRODUCED? Nature provided muscles to regulate the size of the pupil to control the amount of light entering the eye in proportion to the intensity of the light. Excessive light is very injurious. Reaction of the pupil is to contract, reducing the amount of light entering the eye. Light of less than normal intensity necessitates more light entering the eyes, to maintain normal or near normal vision. These muscles act involuntarily.

Fixed abnormal pupil dilation is produced by a drug instilled into the eyes which paralizes the muscles hence Nature is interferred with, preventing the regulation of the size of the pupil as required by light stimulation. In this condition, eyes cannot be used for near work. Remember this, no drug can refract light or the human eye. Our Modern Scentific Optometrical Eye Examinations Are Safe and Free From Pupil Dilation.

Roy McDaniels To Be Buried Today

Body of Roy McDaniels, formerly with the Texas Utilities company at Crosbyton, arrived in Lubbock Tuesday from Taft, Calif. Mr. McDaniels died there Thursday of pneumonia which resulted from inhaling gas following an explosion while he was working with an electrical refrigerator several weeks ago.

Funeral services are planned this afternoon at the Crosbyton Baptist church. Rev. C. E. Dick will officiate. Exact hour of services had not been announced last night. Arrangements are in charge of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock and Aynes Funeral home of Crosbyton.

He is survived by his wife, who accompanied the body for services, his mother, Mrs. T. K. McDaniels of Crosbyton, and eseveral brothers and sisters. Burial will be in Crosbyton cemetery.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP)—An advance in utility and oil shares today helped keep a leisurely retreat in other sectors of the stock market within narrow bounds.

Demand for oil shares broadened out toward the finish. Standard Oil of New Jersey advanced 1¾ to 67 and gains of fractions to a point were hung up for Standard of Indiana, Seaboard, Texas Corp. and Atlantic Refining. Third quarter earnings reports have drawn attention to the better times petroleum companies have been enjoying.

Generally he urge to sell stocks following the recent advance appeared to have the upper hand. Leading steels, rails and metals lost fractions to more than 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed .3 of a point lower at 71.2.

Trading contracted after a rather active first hour Transfers fell to 1,668,662 shares from 1,888,130 in the preceding session.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. (AP)—Reports of crop improvement in western Texas brought a small deline in futures prices today.

Losses were held to 25 cents a bale, with near months suffering most of the pressure. The price swing never exceeded 7 points at any time during the day. Trading was dull.

The easier tone appeared at the first call and persisted until the final bell when Dec. closed at 11.86, Jan. at 11.85, May at 11.97 and July at 11.95, Oct. 1937, changed hands at 11.57 during the day, reflecting a considerable narrowing of the premium between the near and distant months.

Liverpool was first to circulate the reports of a bigger crop in the American belt, and foreign markets were lower. English traders apparently believe the fine weather in the past month mae a 12,000,000-bale American yiel a possibility. Bearing out this contention was an advice from he Lubbock section of northwest Texas that the crop there looked more like 398,000 bales than the previous lower estimate. Dallas also wired spot houses that an increase in the Texas yield was highly probable.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton at ten southern spot markets today was 12.11 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20. (AP) — Favorable weather in the south brought increased liquidation into cotton today but offers were absorbed on moderate recessions.

January sold off from 11.93@11.84 and closed at 11.87 with final prices of 3 to 8 points net lower.

East Liverpool cables, foreign and hedge selling met mill price fixing at the opening with nearby postions 1 to 2 ponts higher and later months unchanged to 5 lower.

The cotton godds markets were quieter but spot interests reported continued inquiry for actual cotton.

Exports today 25,664, making a total of 1,269,189 for the season. Port receipts 71,322, U. S. port stocks 2,397,252.

Sen. Sheppard Received No Money For Reelection, Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, who tops all others in length of service in congress, today filed the first senatorial report of the campaign on money received and spent for his reelection.

"None" was his answer in each instance.

The corrupt practices act requires that senators file with the senate secretary a preliminary report not less than 10 days before an election and a final report within 30 days after.

"Calisthenics" comes from a combination of Greek words meaning "beautiful" and "strength."

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 20. (AP)—Although trade on western slaughter steers was less active than Monday, a moderate supply sold on a generally steady price basis.

Medium to good short feds were fairly numerous from 7.50@8.25, with a limited showing of medium grassers from 6.00@7.00. Grass heifers bulked at 4.50@5.75. Small lots of good heavy Colorado ows realized 5.50@6.00. Choie Colorado stokers realized 7.10.

Shipping demand was narrow and a general decline of 10 to 15 cents was enforced in hog prices. Packers paid up to 9.65 for choice medium-weight butchers.

Fat lambs advanced 10 to 15 cents with sheep holding about steady. Choice range lambs advanced 10 to 15 cents with sheep holding about steady. Choice range lambs sold up to 8.90, while 8.75 secured best natives.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20. (AP) (USDA) — Hogs 1,000; top 9.65 paid by packers and small killers⅛ packing sows steady, mostly 8.50@8.75, few at 9.00.

Cattle 2,800; calves 2,000; package of good 995-lb. long yearling steers 8.25; good fat cows 4.25@4.75; few around 5.00; good fat calves 5.00@6.00.

Negroes Released

the car slowed in front of a service station Tuesday night. They said they had been hauled all over this section of the country, to Big Spring and to Midland, and that their women folk were "tired out".

Authorities said some of the negroes were ill and that "it was worse than jail".

One negro said the man who had been forced to release them had said in Dallas he and his father owned a 400-acre farm that had 100 bales of cotton already open, and that they would not be forced to look for work when they reached the South Plains.

Instead, it was explained, the man took them to Big Spring and Midland, getting rid of a few at each place, and had been to several towns of this section, as well.

"Three of us was auctioned off for $18.75 just over there by the jail this afternoon," said one of them.

"The man charges $4 for us and on top of that charger farmers for what we et coming here. We had to stay out all night in the dew and cold ever since we left Dallas. He kept tellin' us he had plenty of cabins on his farm, but somehow we didn't see none."

Authorities said close watch would be kept of such alleged practice here in order to safeguard farmers from paying exhorbitant prices for farm laborers, and to protect laborers, as well.

Both Reaves and Moore indicated investigation was to be continued today. Whether charges might be filed had not been determined.

NEGRO GOES AMUCK

A 33-year-old negro believed to have been affected by a mental disorder Tuesday afternoon was taken from Wylie's Drug store, 1007 Main street, to the police station and, later, was transferred to county jail. An employe in the kitchen of the drug store, the negro began tossing glasses and spoons and otherwise acted irresponsible. En route to the store, he jerked a white man's cigar from him. When county officers, Deputies Sheriff Parum Posey and Cap Moore, transferred him he struck a City patrolman and insisted he wanted to drive the automobile used in transporting him. He was locked in county jail only after a row over who would operate the jail's elevator.

INJURED IN WRECK

J. Tildon Rabon was treated Tuesday night at Lubbock sanitarium for injuries suffered in a 7:40 o'clock collision of his automobile at Broadway and Avenue O with a machine police said was driven by Mrs.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Wheat prices averaged slightly higher today, helped by some improvement of milling demand here.

For the most part, however, the wheat trade was virtually just marking time, with no decided movement of values either up or down. There was only a light volume of business, and the extremes of fluctuations kept within a range of less than a cent a bushel.

Wheat futures in Chicago closed irregular, ¼ lower to ⅜ higher compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.14⅜@1.14½, May 1.13⅛@1.13¼, July 98¾@98⅞, orn unchanged to ½ up, Dec. 93⅜@93½, May 89½-¾89¼, July 86, oats at ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance, Dec. 40¼, and rye unchanged to ¼ dearer, Dec. 82. Provisions results varied from 10 cents setback to 12 cents bulge.

Corn, oats and rye displayed relative firmness. Forecasts indicates that rain turning to snow over much of the corn belt would tend to retard husking.

Provisions as a rule were lower, influenced by downturns of hog values.

"Teacher" Is Dead

ing significance."

It was 49 years ago that Anne Sullivan, then a pupil-teacher at the Perkins institute for the blind in Boston, first was called to the side of seven-year-old Helen Keller, who had been deprived of three of her senses by a childhood illness.

Anne Sullivan, daughter of Irish immigrants, was born in Springfield, Mass., 14 years before Helen Keller. She was almost blind, and operations gave her only enough sight to read course print. But she attended school for deaf and blind children under Laura Bridgman, star pupil of Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe, the first physician to break the wall of silence and darkness for a deaf and blind person.

When she was 20 years old, she began her experiment with Helen Keller. It was a baffling task. She would spell out words into Helen's palm with her fingers. Helen repeated the signals, with no idea what they meant. Finally the teacher held Helen's one hand under a pump and spelled "water" in the other. It worked.

Helen went to school, and learned to talk. She went to Radliffe college, and was graduated "cum laude." She learned to know famous men—John Greenleaf Whittier, Edward Everette Hale, Mark Twain—and soon became famous herself. She went on to honor after honor, with the faithful teacher always by her side, spelling out conversations, translating textbooks at night at the risk of her own vision.

Tie Transcends Romance

The tie between the two women was stronger than the tie of romance. Helen was wooed once, but broke off the affair when her teacher protested. Anne married, but separated from her husband after a short time.

Teacher and pupil spent their last years together in care of Secretary Polly Thompson, for neither of them could see. They always were active at the head of movements to aid the blind.

A few years ago Mrs. Macy's own eyesight, never strong, began to fail. Miss Keller then became the teacher and Mrs. Macy the pupil. Mrs. Macy had forgotten the Braille system, but Miss Keller remembered.

Although always reluctant to share the honors bestowed on her pupil, Mrs. Macy nevertheless as widely acclaimed for her achievement.

Talley Wingham of Spur, He suffered a nose injury. Mrs. Wingham was visiting her mother at 1717 Main street, said investigators.

R. L. Laxson, jr., injured in a bicycle-automobile collision Sunday afternoon was improved considerably this morning, it was apparent to surgeons at Lubbock sanitarium.

Efforts Made To Bring Gypsy Smith Here For Services

Plans for the coming to Lubbock some time next year, of Gypsy Smith, world-famous evangelist who is holding a two weeks meeting in Abilene, have been discussed with him by two local ministers. Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, chairman of the ministeral alliance, last week talked to him at Abilene and this week Dr. J. M. Lewis.

The evangelist told the ministers his plans to return in the winter to England, his, home, where he will spend three months. He devotes about nine months of each year in America, holding revival meetings.

On his return, next spring, the minister has four or five meetings scheduled ahead of one in Lubbock, including one in El Paso. He has all of his engagements booked up to sailing time.

Gypsy Smith is a Romany gypsy. He was converted while a boy, and traveled with his father for many years over England. The two men were known as "Gypsy Smith" and "Young Gypsy Smith." After the death of the former the young man dropped the name "Young." He has been preaching for 60 years and is now 76 years old.

Collections Insufficient For Usual State Warrants Call

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. (AP)—The treasury announced today collections were insufficient for the usual monthly call of general revenue and Confederate pension warrants.

It is paying general revenue warrants up to No. 131,507, to those issued prior to Sept. 1, 1936.

The treasury also is purchasing Confederate pension warrants up to and including the Sept. 1935 issue, provided they have not been discounted, and paying those up to and including the Sept. 1934 issue regardless of discount.

More Than 1,200 Cotton Pool Checks Are Being Distributed

More than 1,200 cotton pool checks, amounting in all to $13,539.74, are being distributed this week, County Agent C. C. Jobson said yesterday.

The checks averaged $10.65. They were in payment for cotton sold during the 1935 cotton pool. Payments ranged from three cents upward. But 17 per cent of the pool was sold.

Music Drive

and development of Tech, has become the Educational Center of West Texas. It can also be made the Musical Center. I am sure that the South Plains Civic Music association, properly supported, can be a factor in this development.

"A man of international acquaintance recently said: 'In a gathering of representatives from many nations, many tongues are spoken. It is practically impossible for any one to understand all of these tongues, but there is one language that is understood by all, and this is MUSIC,' W. W. Rix, business man, stated.

Miss Margaret Huff, music teacher, testifies: "In the years since the World War, Lubbock has grown from a western village into a western metropolis. Her neighboring villages to the east and west, north and south, have not lagged behind. Today the South Plains is filled with numerous towns of the highest class of citizenry.

"Always has the teaching of music been well patronized. The great distance from musical centers has handicapped the sponsors of good musical attractions.

"Today the South Plains Civic Music association has come to us to make possible the fulfillment of this deeply needed part of our musical life.

"Every person interested in the cultural growth of this part of Texas should with eagerness grasp this national aid, offered us through the South Plains Music association to bring the best to our doors."

What Lubbock Needs

"The one thing that Lubbock needs to lift itself up to the highest level of a real city, is to put over the South Plains Civic Music association," states Miss Mary Dunn, music teacher.

One hundred 50 workers are canvassing Lubbock this week in an effort to complete membership in the association.

Reds In Little Red Schools Question In Bishop's Mind

GALVESTON, Oct. 20. (AP) — Bishop Robert E. Lucey of Amarillo, said tonight he wanted to know whether the "red" in the little red school house had anything to do with Communism.

"In an estimable publication," he told delegates to the National Council of Catholic Women," I read this: " 'There are professors in our land who are deliberately trying to undermine Christian civilization and culture.' In the article mention was made of the little red school house, which, I presume, stamps those students as Communists."

YOUTH IS ACQUITTED

WALTERS, Okla., Oct. 20. (AP) — Clifton Zachary, 15-year-old farm boy who asserted he shot his father, Grady Zachary, last June 17 "because of fear," was acquitted by a county court jury today of a charge of juvenile delinquency.

PROJECTS APPROVED

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 20. (AP) — Congressman Milton H. West said today a PWA loan and grant to finance a $279,000 improvement, increasing by one-third the terminal facilities of the Port of Brownsville, had been approved.

FILE INTENTIONS NOTICE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20. (AP)—Notice of intention to wed was filed today by William H. Wilson, scenarict, and Sue Carol, film actress and former wife of Nick Stuart, who left the screen to lead an orchestra.

Vicious Animal
Frank Buck Kicked By Texas Horse

AMITYVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 20. (AP)—Frank Buck, the bring 'em-back-alive man, was in the hospital today nursing hurts inflicted not by a lion or tiger, but by a West Texas cow horse.

The man who has crossed paths with black leopards, pythons, cobras and other less genteel members of the animal kingdom in his search for zoo specimens, said he was mounting the horse when an automobile backed into its withers.

Buck let go all holds as the horse reared, and in the ensuing scuffle he was kicked on the leg.

He bought the animal, from his own homeland, West Texas, at the current rodeo in New York ten days ago.

under the PWA to make loans to states for public state-wide telephone systems, may I suggest that it would be a sound public policy to obtain this authority."

After reading the letter, Ickes commented:

"There may be those unkind enough to think that, in the light of this letter, as a rugged individualist Governor Landon looks very much like a state Socialist. On February 7, 1935, the man who now has the hardihood to pose as a champion of individual initiative in business was an avowed advocate of the principle of state telephone systems."

Maintained Air Of Secrecy

The natural gas proposal, Ickes said, was broached to him by White, Emporia, Kas., editor, in Dec. 1931.

"Enjoining great secrecy because the governor of Kansas did not want his colleagues in the oil business to get wind of it," Ickes said, "Mr. White unfolded a plan by which Kansas, as a state enterprise, would build a pipe line to the natural gas fields in southwestern Kansas and market that natural gas in competition with private industry.

"It also developed later that Governor Landon did not propose to take the people of his state into his confidence until it was too late for them to block his ambitious plan. 'Mum' was to be the word until 'private initiative' Landon could develop his conspiracy against his oil supporters and the public utilities of Kansas by putting his state government into business in direct competition with them. The cost of Mr. Landon's little pipe dream would be $35,000,000."

Landon Had It All Fixed

Landon called on him later, Ickes said, and conferred with several members of the PWA legal staff about the gas plan.

"The plan that Governor Landon was at such pain to conceal from the citizens of his state," Ickes said, "involved the setting up of a private corporation, capitalized at $35,000,000, to go into the gas business in Kansas without permitting the people to have advance knowledge of his intention.

"He, as governor, would dictate the policies of this corporation through dummy directors. Candidate Landon is against dictators, you know.

"In the files of the Public Works administration there is incontrovertible proof of this scheme," Ickes said. "We have copies of the proposed charter and by-laws of this corporation . . . .

Interest Lost Suddenly

"No formal application for this project, which should have threatened with bankruptcy certain public utilities in the state of Kansas, was ever filed. Why, I do not pretend to say, but it is significant that Governor Landon first began to be talked of as a possible Republican candidate for president just about the time that he appeared to lose interest in a project that he himself had initiated . . . .

"On the face of such a record, I submit that the sincerity of Governor Landon may properly be questioned. Up to the time that the Republican party, desperately in need of a candidate—oh Lord, any candidate—to pit against Roosevelt, selected him, Governor Landon had gone farther on the road toward state Socialism than any other responsible public official in the United States."

Jericho And Claude Gaps Are Paved; Controversies Ended

AMARILLO, Oct. 20. (AP)—Two of the most troublesome highway gaps in the Panhandle—Highway 5 between here and Claude and the famed Jericho gap on U. S. Highway 66 east of here—have been paved.

Completion of the Amarillo-Claude link provides a continuous stretch of paving from the New Mexico line at Texline to the Gulf coast, through Fort Worth or Dallas.

Jericho gap has been a source of controversy for many years and is the last stretch of U. S. 66 east of Amarillo to be paved. Chief cause for the trouble was failure to obtain right-of-way.

CASE GOES TO JURY

ROBERT LEE, Oct. 20. (AP)—Arguments of attorneys ended at 9:30 tonight, and the case of Opal Lillian Stewart, charged with murder of Ed Smith, Rankin banker, July 7, 1935, went to the jury. There was little prospect of a verdict tonight.

Senate Passes Tax Measure

Omnibus Bill, Differing From One Approved By House, Is Passed Tuesday; Agreement In Conference Hoped For a tax bill he positively would not call another special session. Some members commented that if the tax bill and the revision amendment were finally agreed upon by both houses there would be no need for another session.

Boost Rate On Gas

The senate did not increase the 37 1-2 per cent additional levies on oil and sulphur voted by the house, but boosted the rate on natural gas to three per cent of value. The house voted for two and three-fourths per cent while the present rate is two per cent.

Senator Small said the senate increase on gas would add $75,000 annually to the $150,000 addition which the house rate would provide. The oil tax now yields about $8,000,000 annually and the higher rate on crude was estimated to bring in $3,000,000 more.

Knock Out Other Levies

The senate knocked out of the house bill proposed levies on hotel rooms and cafes, cigars, malt syrups, mineral water and certain sports.

It reduced the levy on pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing approved by the house, but boosted the house rate on insurance companies to provide $1,000,000 additional revenue.

The senate voted to tax marble and slot machines but inserted a provision that any illegal machines should not be legalized by the tax.

New Levies Listed

Other new levies in the senate bill included: one-twelfth of one per cent per pound on carbon black up to four cents and above that price three per cent of value; two per cent on gross receipts of oil well cementing companies and 20 per cent of the value of prizes at "bank nights."

An amendment by Senator Joe Hill of Henderson adopted authorized the state board of mineral development to lease rights-of-way on state highways for oil and gas development.

The author said the proposal would raise form $5,000,000 to $7,000,000 a year.

Sales Tax Proposal Killed

Shortly before passing the omnibus bill, the senate snowed under a sales tax substitute by Senator Roy Sanderford of Belton, 19 to 8 with one pair.

The senate also voted down a proposition of Senator W. R. Poage of Waco to increase taxes on natural resources and abolish the ad valorem tax.

The house meanwhile sent the senate two more tax bills. One would give the state one-half instead of one-fourth of the track's ten per cent "take" on horse race bets and the other would place a levy of a half cent a pound on carbon black.

Makes Impassioned Appeal

Rep. Pat Dwyer of San Antonio made an impassioned appeal for approval of his bill to levy a tax of $5,000 a year on horse race bookmaking establishments.

Rep. Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill wanted to know if Dwyer would accept an amendment to legalize and place a $5,000 tax on burglary, but Dwyer answered that the suggestion was not germane.

Prospects for passage of Rep. J. Franklin Speaks' "single-shot" tax bill on sulphur were dimmed when the house postponed floor consideration of it. Speaks likely won't be able to bring it up until Wednesday or later.

Landon's Talk

ers unable to vote for William Lemke, Union party presidential candidate, to support Landon.

Making the first major address of his campaign for the presidency, Landon said abuse of spending leads to abuse of the right to borrow and that "abuse of the right to borrow is the first step to inflation, and is a direct threat to all those who by thrift have accumulated savings."

The candidate contended many New Deal tax bills were designed, not to raise revenue, but "to force the non-conformer into line, to threaten him with destructive and punitive taxation."

Landon said that in resenting "any criticism," the administration "actually attempted to bring the Supreme court into disrepute" when the court "declared its methods unconstitutional."

"Even the president," he asserted, "joined in this shameful attack on men who were only doing their duty—men sworn to uphold the constitution of the United States. . . . Fortunately the Supreme court had the prestige and the integrity to withstand the abuses that were heaped upon it. But for the private citizen it was not so easy. . . . It is little wonder that many fell into line."

he said briskly, "Well, let's move the meat to my car and get goin'. I can't fool around."

This was done, but just as Zeke was about to step into the stranger's automobile, Kate surprised Caroline by saying, "I'd rather Zeke stayed here with our car. My sister and I will go into town with you and deliver the hams. Is your car all right."

It appeared that it was. The luxurious big machine with an eastern license had suffered nothing but a loosened fender and broken headlights. Presently they were moving off. From the back seat Kate and Caroline waved encouragingly to Zeke who was looking after them anxiously.

"Poor old fellow," Caroline said. "He's more dazed than I am. I hope he'll have sense enough to go and call a garage."

For five miles, perhaps, no one spoke. Then the man said adbruptly, "You'll have some spare parts stolen. I'm afraid, while the old man's telephoning." His tone implied that he was sorry but could do nothing about it.

A few more miles in silence, and Kate made a discovery. "Oh,' dear!" she wailed. "One ham's a wreck! Gravel's worked through where the paper's torn!"

"Cooked ham?" came an interested query from the front.

"Yes," answered Kate. "Can't you smell it? Slow baked."

Suddenly the man was looking back at them, a slender, shining knife in his hand. "Cut me a hunk!" he commanded. "I haven't had time to eat since yesterday noon."

Kate took the knife, gingerly. She began to cut the ham. She knew the man had stolen their license plates. She was wondering what she should do.

No Paralysis Here In Year

Check-Up Tuesday After Reports From Oklahoma Area Reveals No Cases Here In More Than Year

"There have been no cases of infantile paralysis in Lubbock for over a year", Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, said yesterday.

A check with physicians at the Lubbock sanitarium, West Texas hospital, Clark-Key clinic, and Lubbock clinic brought similar statements from them.

This survey was made after press reports from Tulsa stated that Everett Pope, president of the Tulsa school board, asked Monday for a report from the chairman of the health board on whether schools should be closed because of the death of one child and the illness of 20 others of infantile paralysis. Most of the cases were in rural districts about the city.

Projects Of Fire Group Described

The local group of Camp Fire girls, named Taminina, an Indian word meaning friends, will conduct its fourth meeting of the year Saturday at the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Jesse Q. Sealey, chief guardian of the group, has directed them for the past four years. Miss Marilyn Riggs is assistant guardian. The officers are: Bernice Keeton, president; Mary Ellen Jordan, vice-president and reporter; Kitty Moore, secretary-treasurer; and Joan Scott, sergeant-at-arms. The Sorosis class of the Methodist church are sponsors of the organization.

Work On Second Rank

The 15 members, girls between the ages of 12 and 14 years, are working now to obtain the Firemakers rank, the second rank. The highest rank is that of the Torchbearers, and the lowest the Woodgatherer. The girls expect to pass the first two ranks by March.

A birthday drive, a campaign for new members to complete the allowed enrollment of 20 members, is being staged. This drive will end December 1.

The Torchbearer's rank is based on the knowledge of seven different crafts; handicraft, the art of bead and leather work; camp craft, which includes building fires, cooking, and general knowledge of camping; nature craft, in which the girls learn names of flowers, trees, and birds; home craft, the ability to cook, sew, and keep house; health craft, participating in sports and caring for the body; business craft, the keeping of a budget; citizenship craft, which teaches the girls to take part in civic affairs. When a girl has completed work in one craft she is given a colored bead, representing that craft.

Have Indian Names

Each Camp Fire girl has an Indian name. Indian symbolism is carried out in the beaded headbands, designed and made by the girls themselves, and in the ceremonial dresses, worn only at camp fire ceremonies. Every two or three months the group has a council fire where the girls receive local honors. At the end of every six months the grand council is held and the ranks are awarded.

Social activities of the Camp Fire girls incude an annual Christmas twilight tea for their mothers, parties, hikes, and camping trips. Last summer the group made a camping trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Bits Of News Gathered On Oil Development In Area

TO CONTINUE TESTING

Further testing of Cascade-Honolulu-Devonion No. 1 Duggan, et al, Cochran county wildcat was expected to begin today, including a plugging back from 5,087 feet in order to shut off a half bailer of water reported at a point two feet higher. Whether the water is salt or sulphur has not been determined. The well was drilled to 5,080 feet Saturday and left for 24 hours, swabbing dry to show 56 barrels of oil. Deepened to 5,085 feet the test made a 20-minute head following the bailer, with 60 barrels the estimated flow. The water at 5,085 feet was struck 1,390 feet below sea level and 893 feet below the brown lime. Top of the water in the L. P. Bennett No. 1 Yoakum county pool opener and nearest producer, was at 5,280 feet. It was shut off.

DOWN 4,668 IN LIME

Dewey Davis No. 1 of Stanolind was last reported drilling at 4,668 feet in lime. It is in section 18, block A-21, public school lands, south of Seminole, Gaines county and about a mile and a half from the Kirk, the county's only producer.

DRILLING RESUMED

Drilling ahead after a long session of inactivity while a bit fishing job was under way, Texas company No. 1 Bob Slaughter, Hockley county wildcat southwest of Levelland, was reported below 3,015 feet. It is 725 feet from the south and 606 feet from the west line of labor 83, league 38, Zavalla county school land, near Sundown, on the Bob Slaughter tract.

HITTING GAS STREAKS

Offset to Gaines county's only gasser, Amerada No. 1-A Averitt, northwest of Seminole, was drilling below 4,291 feet, in anhydrite, red beds and gas streaks. It has encountered a number of gas pockets, much the same as the Averitt No. 1, of Walsh & Adams. Location is in the same section, 228, block G. W. T. Ry. survey.

New Peak For Graded Staple Wool Is Set At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 20. (AP)—A new peak for 1936 graded staple wool of twelve-months growth west of the Mississippi river had been established today in the sale of one-half million pounds by the Sonora Wool & Mohair Co. to Jack Allison of San Angelo, representing Munro-Kincaid-Edgehill Co., of Boston.

French combing wool from the Sonora firm's graded fleeces, more than 800,000 pounds, had been sold earlier to J. M. Lea of San Angelo, representing Draper & Co., for 32 5-8 cents.

In excess of four million pounds of wool out of Texas' fall crop of seven million pounds has been sold. Only about 250,000 pounds of eight-months spring growth remains unsold. Last sales were at 30 cents.

Texas Exports Are Increased

Figures For First 8 Months Of This Year Show Total Of $160,322,856; 3 Offices El Paso, Galveston, Santone

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. — The commerce department announced today the value of exports through Texas' three customs districts so far this year have been slightly higher than 1935 while the value of imports dropped considerably.

For the first eight months of 1936, the department said exports from El Paso, Galveston and San Antonio totalled 160,322,856, compared with $160,064,845 the same period last year. The import totals were $21,013,107 and $25,994,480, respectively.

A drop from $27,684,455 in the value of exports clearing the San Antonio office to $23,878,178 this year was more than offset by a jump from $127,140,844 to $131,708,205 at Galveston. El Paso's total dropped from $5,239,546 to $4,636,473.

The 1935 and 1936 eight-month total of imports were: El Paso, $1,686,742 and $1,346,878; Galveston, $19,579288 and $16,527.122; San Antonio, $4,628,450 and $3,139.107.

Lions Field Worker Visits At Club; Music Plan Explained

Honored by the unexpected presence of a Lions International field representative, the Lubbock club yesterday noon ousted President H. C. Pender from the chair to permit G. D. Thatcher, Chicago, to preside over the weekly session at noon in the Hilton hotel. Mr Thatcher is here for a week, making Lubbock his headquarters, in visiting local clubs.

Sam McMillan was program chairman for the day C. C. Craig, song leader, at the request of the acting president, led in several numbers.

F. A. Kleinschmidt introduced Miss Merl Sprinsted, New York City, a field representative of the concert department of the National Broadcasting company, the Civic Concert Service, Inc., who spoke on formation of the proposed South Plains Civic Music association. She explained the service of her organization, adding that most of the great musicians of the nation are under contract to one of the two nation-wide broadcasting groups.

Texas has 12 such groups as is being formed here. Dallas has had one for six years with 2,600 members; Fort Worth, 1,500 members; Waco and many other towns, from a thousand on up.

La Ventana Keeps Its Standing As First-Class Book

La Ventana, Texas, Technological college yearbook, maintained its standing as a first-class college annual in the 1935-36 National Scholastic Press association critical service, Winston Reeves, 1937 editor, announced yesterday.

The volume, edited by Bruce Zorns, now assistant cashier of a Brownfield bank, scored 755 points of a possible 1000. Association officials placed a 700-point score the average. First class honor rating carries a grade of "excellent" in the critical scorebook Reeves received.

La Ventana scored above average in special sections, editing, and makeup. Other general points considered in the judging were: plan of the book, mechanical phases, general effect, and financial status. Critics gave the book highest possible scores on its cover, engraving, and paper stock.

Last scholastic year was the second time La Ventana officials had entered the book in the critical service. It was awarded first class honor ratings in 1935, when Howard Reed, Lubbock, was editor.
