

Dam burst kills at least 37

Bible College tragedy

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — Searchers logged through debris-littered red mud in search of more bodies today in the wreckage of a low-lying campus area where at least 37 persons died after a torrent of water burst from an earthen dam and smashed through the pastoral setting of a small Bible college.

About 45 persons were injured. At midmorning, Stephens County Hospital administrator J. W. Warren said that the bodies of two persons reported missing had been found. But he said later he had been "misinformed."

Twenty youngsters, children of students or faculty members at the Toccoa Falls Bible College, were among those who died when the floodwaters hit at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. Most of the other victims were students or teachers at the college. Two volunteer firemen who were trying to reach the college's housing area to give the only warning of the flood also died.

Some of the students who died were trapped in a four-story men's dormitory, which had 40 residents. Twelve of the 45 persons injured were hospitalized. The path of destruction was described as about 2 1/2 miles long and 1,500 feet wide, most of it near the area where a creek, fed by a reservoir, makes a sharp turn at the foot of two hills in the campus community called Toccoa Falls, about two miles outside the northeastern Georgia community of Toccoa. Two trailer parks nestled at the foot of the hills, primary housing areas for married students, were leveled.

Eldon Elsberry, a volunteer fireman, said he and two other firemen saw the water cascade down Toccoa Creek about 1:30 a.m.

"I looked up and I saw red water that was really starting to move," he said. "We ran and got into a Jeep. We were going to turn the sirens on and wake people up."

He said the Jeep was swamped before they could cross a bridge to a trailer park. Elsberry got hold of a small tree but his partners were lost.

"I woke up last night and heard a noise and the lights went out," said one young man who recounted the disaster at memorial services Sunday. "I grabbed my wife and kids. I knew God had us in his hands."

First Lady Rosalynn Carter, who flew from Washington, was among those who inspected the disaster scene on Sunday. She later said the scene was "indescribable." She told a news conference, "It's a terrible tragedy." She visited survivors at a hospital, touching their arms and whispering encouragement.

She told Toccoa's 9,000 residents and the college students that President Carter had promised federal assistance. Gov. George Busbee, who also inspected the flood area, said the dam that broke above Toccoa Falls had been declared a high-hazard dam by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The hazard designation does not mean such dams are structurally unsafe but that if they break, damage would be significant, a corps spokesman said.

The dam was constructed in 1940 to provide water and electrical power to the college, although in recent years it has been used only as a recreation area.

Students and faculty members held a memorial service Sunday. One young woman prayed, "Help Rick to be found, Lord, dead or alive. Not knowing is hard."

Another young woman asked prayers for a friend whose husband and daughter were missing. She prayed, "Put your arms around her."

Rain had fallen intermittently in the Southeast and northern Georgia in particular since Wednesday. The National Weather Service reported three inches of rainfall in Athens, Ga., about 40 miles from Toccoa Falls, fell Saturday.

Nine other persons, six of them children, died in flood-related incidents in North Carolina over the weekend.

The heavy rainfall weakened the Toccoa Falls Dam, sending tons of water from the 80-acre lake down the 186-foot Toccoa Falls and into the creek, which meanders through the campus area.

"There was this awful screaming and the ripping of metal," said Bill Stacy, 19, who lived in a mobile home with his parents, two brothers and a sister. "It is a miracle, but we all got out, and my parents helped hunt for the bodies later."

LAST MINUTE CHECK — Donna Harding, employed by the county clerk's office, checks voting machines which will be used in Tuesday's election here, before they are sent to the various precincts around the county. Voting hours will be from 7 a.m., until 7 p.m.

Carter postpones his foreign tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has postponed his foreign trip set for later this month because he wants to remain in Washington while Congress considers his energy program.

The State Department announcement today of Carter's decision confirms earlier reports that the president was going to scrap the tour of nine nations. The announcement also indicated Carter would make the trip later.

The announcement by Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said the governments of the nine nations had been informed of Carter's decision over the weekend.

Carter indicated in his postponement message to the nine foreign governments that he hoped a mutually convenient date could be found for a visit in the "near future," according to Vance's statement.

Carter had been scheduled to visit Venezuela, Brazil, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia, Iran, India, Poland, France, and Belgium from Nov. 22 to Dec. 2.

Carter asserted in his postponement message that his personal involvement was "vital" to the development of sound energy legislation, Vance said.

Vance added that Carter considers passage of the administration's energy program "crucial to the overall health of the American economy and of great importance to all energy-producing and energy-consuming nations."

Carter had said repeatedly that he would postpone his planned travels if Congress was still considering his energy program.

The four-continent trip was to have included visits to the four leading sources of U.S. oil imports: the four — Iran, Saudi Arabia, Venezuela and Nigeria — are members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Carter had been expected to press the OPEC members to hold the line on prices, arguing that any price hike would endanger the world economy.

The 13-nation members of OPEC meet in Venezuela next month to weigh a possible price increase.

Man shot following attack

BY MARJ CARPENTER GARDEN CITY — Tiburcio Griego Santome, 37, was killed Sunday night after he apparently attacked a sheriff and a former law enforcement officer inside the sheriff's car as he was being taken to jail in Garden City.

Santome had been arrested around 7:30 p.m. at the St. Lawrence Festival where a number of witnesses said he was creating a disturbance, according to information from Rick Hamby, district attorney, who is investigating the shooting. The charge was to be drunk and disturbance according to Hamk.

At least nine persons shot

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — At least nine persons were shot in the French Quarter and two locations near downtown today within the period of an hour, and a suspect was arrested, police said. There were no reports of deaths.

The suspect was taken into custody near a downtown brokerage office where police said four of the victims were wounded.

Police said some of the victims were apparently seriously wounded.

For Tuesday's election

Big voter turnout seen

According to County Clerk Margaret Ray, Howard County's 44 absentee ballots cast indicate that Tuesday's election might result in a better turnout here than the rest of the state.

"We have had more absentee ballots cast than either San Angelo or Midland," said Mrs. Ray, "and while the experts are predicting only a 12 per cent turnout, I believe we will have about 2,500 voters out."

Mrs. Ray pointed out that the last constitutional election, which was held in 1975, polled over 3,000 voters. She said that Howard County has 17,016 voters registered for the upcoming election.

The difference between this county and others is a special addition to the ballot here. The special issue, if passed, would authorize the county commissioners to appropriate from the general fund up to five cents per $100 valuation for the purpose of advertising and promoting the growth and development of Howard County.

The money would be drawn only at the discretion of the commissioners court and would be expended through a five-man board appointed by the commissioners.

There is some dispute over whether the proposal would result in a tax increase. There is no increase mandated in the proposal itself, but some commissioners have said that the amount of money which might be requested by industrial promoters might make a tax increase necessary.

Statewide, there are seven amendments which will be up for voter approval. They include amendments affecting the state's legal system (numbers one, three, and seven), an amendment to loosen automated banking restrictions (number six), amendments which would benefit specific non-profit groups (numbers two and four), and an amendment to create an association which may assess fees for the promotion of agricultural and marine products (number five).

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday. Voters will need to produce their voter registration card at the polls. If they have lost or misplaced their cards, they may sign an affidavit to that effect at the polling place.

Attorney Roger Brown, who sponsored the addition, said, "This is one of the most important elections Howard County voters will have to face. I believe the attempt to get new industry could lead to an increase in the tax base, which would not cause an increase in taxes. This item is very vital to this community at this particular time."

State and local officials predict a light voter turnout for Tuesday's election that will decide the fate of seven state constitutional amendments as well as numerous local issues and races.

Houston and Dallas, where local controversies have heightened voter interest, are expected to provide most of the votes. Polling is from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. The Texas Election Bureau estimates about 20 percent of Texas' 5.9 million eligible voters will cast ballots.

Pedestrian is killed

Eugene Marvin Shepard, 50, Odessa, was killed at 7 p.m. Saturday night as he stepped out in front of a passing car on the north service road of IS-20 in front of the Blue Top Package Store three miles east of Big Spring.

The passing vehicle, driven by Kay Gibson Wilson, Rt. 1 Box 73, was headed east on the service road when, according to reports, Shepard walked in front of the car. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Bob West. No charges have been filed.

This is the fifth county traffic fatality of the year, according to a Highway Patrol spokesman.

Services were held at 1 p.m. today at Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home, Odessa with Sam Uratell officiating. Burial will be in Prospect.

He married Martha Williams March 6.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; three daughters, Miss Sandra Shepard, Phoenix, Ariz., Miss Katherine Shepard, Wilmington, N.C., and Miss Susan Shepard, Phoenix, Ariz.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Shepard, Wilmington, N.C.; four sisters; three step-daughters, Miss Cathy Hales, Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Deann Honea, Amarillo, Miss Beverley Hogan, Odessa; seven grandchildren.

Offbeat: Formula found

MILAN, Italy (AP) — City officials think they may have found a formula for ridding the artistic downtown area of pigeons. After experiments with contraceptives, bans on tourists' feeding the birds, and attempts to capture and transfer them elsewhere, the experts have come up with a chemical that gives the pigeons itchy feet. A recent test of the British-made product "Scarescrow" on the cornices and eaves of Milan's Merchant Palace forced the pigeons to fly to other roosts in the city.

Municipal experts said a battle has been won, but several months more will be needed to extend the chemical campaign to other sections and prove its effectiveness. Even then, they say, other control methods will have to be combined with the itchy feet.

Probe into murder of reporter pushed

Two guilty in bomb slaying

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — All the conspirators have not been identified yet, chief prosecutor William Schafer III says, but the state eventually will prosecute all those responsible for the death of newsman Don Bolles.

"We have always maintained that there's a small band of conspirators," Schafer said. "As I said before, we don't have all the conspirators, but we will."

A Superior Court jury convicted suburban plumber James Robison and Phoenix contractor Max Dunlap of first-degree murder and conspiracy Sunday afternoon in the Arizona Republic reporter's death. The conspiracy conviction also included the plot to kill Arizona Attorney General Bruce Babbitt and Al "King Alfonso" Lizanetz, 51, a former employee of multimillion liquor wholesaler Kemper Marley Sr., whose name has figured prominently in the investigation of Bolles' murder.

Robison and Dunlap face possible execution by gas when Superior Court Judge Howard Thompson pronounces sentence Dec. 6.

Bolles was fatally injured June 2, 1976, when a bomb exploded beneath his car as he backed from a space in the Clarandon House hotel parking lot. He mumbled the names "Adamson," "Emprise," and "Mafia" to passersby as he lay on the pavement.

Hospitalized 11 days before his death, Bolles lost both legs and an arm to infection.

Robison, 55, and Dunlap, 48, were arrested Jan. 15, after John Harvey Adamson admitted his role in the car-bomb slaying.

Adamson, the state's key witness in the murder trial, admitted planting a homemade dynamite bomb beneath Bolles' car after luring him to the mid-Phoenix hotel with a false news tip. Adamson claimed Robison triggered the blast with a radio-control transmitter.

Dunlap, Adamson testified, hired him to kill Bolles, Babbitt and Lizanetz. Babbitt was reportedly a target because of an antitrust suit against the liquor industry and Lizanetz because of his constant barrage of letters to legislators reporting alleged Marley crimes.

Adamson said Dunlap told him Marley would finance the assassinations.

Neither Babbitt nor Lizanetz was harmed.

Phoenix police detective Jon Sellers, chief state investigator, said after court, "We have got some new information as a result of the trial. This gives us more avenues of investigation, leading towards more conspirators. This isn't the end."

As the verdict was announced for Dunlap, his eldest daughter, Pam, burst into sobs and threw her arms around her mother, Barbara.

Several of Dunlap's five daughters and two sons cried.

Mrs. Dunlap clutched the back of the court bench and closed her eyes. Occasionally, she said, "Hush, children. This is not the place."

Dunlap struck the defense table with a hesitant fist after the verdict was read and looked toward his family.

Pam Dunlap reached toward her father as he was ushered out the door and pleaded, "Can't we speak with him?"

The deputy responded with a brusque, "No, not now."

Dunlap said, "They won't let me talk to you kids. Everything is normal. I'll see you later."

The stocky Robison contained his feelings and said to his court-appointed attorney, David Derickson, "That's the breaks."

Derickson, who tried to prove Robison was across town at the time Adamson claimed the plumber met him, said he was "extremely disappointed."

"I can't believe that 12 people could not find sufficient doubt in the evidence presented to return a verdict of not guilty," Derickson said.

John Savoy, assistant defense attorney for Dunlap, said, "The verdict was wrong. They refused to let in evidence concerning the defense theories of why Bolles was killed."

Paul Smith of Boston, head of Dunlap's defense team, contended Phoenix attorney Neal Roberts was behind the of Ramecorp, Inc. Emprise owns all six of the state's greyhound tracks and one horse racing track. It was the target was the subject of several of Bolles' investigative pieces.

Two of those articles were read to the jury during eight weeks of testimony, but Thompson barred other references.

Adamson explained to the jury during his eight days on the witness stand that Marley wanted Bolles killed because of articles the reporter wrote that spoiled Marley's 1976 appointment to the State Racing Commission.

Marley was not charged and strongly denied any involvement when he testified during Dunlap's defense. Marley said he did not want the post to begin with, but was pressured into accepting, Marley called Bolles "just another reporter," one of many covering Marley's activities, and said he "didn't pay any attention" to Bolles' articles.

During closing arguments, Schafer called Marley's commission defeat "ignoble," and said, "Don Bolles was writing and dredging up old things from the past. Bolles is the only one who sticks out like that...What really made Mr. Marley mad was not that he didn't get the appointment, but the way he didn't get it."

In a brief press conference shortly after the court session, Babbitt, himself allegedly marked for death, said he was "very happy about the jury verdict."

Babbitt said Schafer would try to prove during the Dec. 5 pre-sentence hearing that circumstances warrant the death penalty.

By statute, Babbitt said, five standards justify the death sentence and Schafer will try to show four of those exist. They are:

1—if one of the defendants has a previous violent felony conviction. Robison was convicted earlier this year in the beating of a Scottsdale talent agent.

2—if the defendants knowingly created a grave risk of death to other persons besides the victim.

3—if there was payment involved in the crime.

4—if the offense was committed in an especially heinous, cruel or depraved manner.

Babbitt said, "The murder file remains open. We will do everything humanly possible to bring to justice everyone involved in this outrageous and heinous act."

Babbitt would not name additional suspects, but said the trial evidence would be considered carefully before any arrests are made.

"I think the complete extent of this case will only be known many months down the road," Babbitt said.

"But," he added, "two more have gone down today, continuing the process."

must hold hearings on any reduced service proposal, then issue an advisory opinion before the change could take place.

Cutting deliveries to five a week would save an estimated $412 million a year, which in turn would help hold down postal rate increases, the service says.

The Postal Service is now trying to sort out conflicting results from three polls designed to show whether the public wants Saturday mail deliveries continued.

So far, about 80 percent of the people responding to each poll say they could do without Saturday delivery. But two of those polls found less than half the respondents approved of the cutback.

"We are still studying the results and we have not made up our minds one way or the other," Bolger said.

In September, the House voted 377 to 9 to ask the Postal Service to continue six-day delivery. Legislation to prohibit delivery cutbacks, which has received committee approval, is expected to reach the House floor early next year.

The Postal Service announced it was "seriously considering" the cutback in April.

Preliminary figures by the Agriculture Department for October show that on an all-catt basis retail beef prices averaged slightly more than $1.39 a pound, up a fraction of a cent from September.

More significantly, the figures showed that toward the end of last month beef prices were going up further to more than $1.41 a pound. In October of last year, as producers continued to thin their herds, beef prices at the supermarket were under $1.34 a pound.

Although beef prices are expected to go up further, the increases may be erratic and small because of large competing supplies of pork and poultry, according to department experts. No one has predicted yet that prices will match or exceed the record of $1.61 a pound for

Prospects very bright for selling more wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farmer-supported trade group says that prospects are "very bright" for selling more U.S. wheat to Latin American countries.

Michael L. Hall, president of Great Plains Wheat Inc., said that during a recent three-week trip to 10 countries in Central and South America he found evidence that the United States can "resume the position of being the predominate supplier of wheat" to them.

Hall said that "it is increasingly clear that the other traditional suppliers of wheat to these countries will not be able to ship the quantities of wheat they exported to Latin America in 1977."

The other suppliers include Canada and Australia, where this year's wheat crops are smaller than had been expected.

World milk production

WASHINGTON (AP) — World milk production this year is increasing another 2 percent, meaning that global stockpiles of surplus dairy products will continue to grow, according to the Agriculture Department.

An annual survey of 36 major dairy countries points to a total output of about 195.4 million metric tons of milk, up 2 percent from 387.2 million tons in 1976, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

The report said the main contributors to the increase are the Soviet Union, countries in the European Common Market and the United States, in that order.

"Australia and Canada have been successful in their efforts to cut output, but the results only partially offset production increases in most other countries," the report said.

Fog, high, gusty winds and rain mixed with sleet prompted the National Weather Service to issue traveler's advisories for two areas of Texas early today.

The fog was reported in an area from the Dallas-Fort Worth area southward to the Port Arthur area. The NWS office at Port Arthur warned that fog in that area would likely reduce visibility to near zero and dense fog was reported in the Houston area.

In far West Texas, high, gusty winds with rain mixed with sleet prompted the NWS to issue a warning for that area. The rain mixed with sleet was reported in the Sierra Blanca area of West Texas.

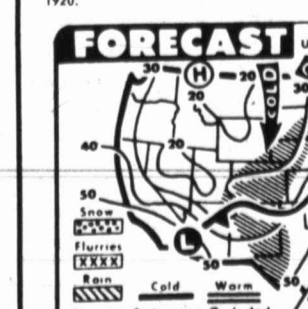

Skies were partly cloudy over West Texas early today and mostly clear over the eastern half of the state.

Early morning temperature readings ranged from the middle 40s in the Panhandle to the upper 60s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Some early morning readings included 48 at Amarillo, 54 at Wichita Falls, 57 at Texarkana, 59 at Dallas, 55 at San Antonio, 54 at Lufkin, 57 at Houston, 63 at Corpus Christi, 69 at Brownsville, 63 at Del Rio, 56 at San Angelo, 45 at El Paso and 51 at Lubbock.

Polls differ on ending Saturday mail deliveries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service, considering an end to Saturday mail deliveries, may allow them to continue in some rural areas.

The provision would be aimed at parts of the country where weekly newspapers often are delivered on Saturday. Urban areas would probably not be eligible.

"One of the things that we have under consideration is to give rural areas that need Saturday delivery a local option," Deputy Postmaster General William Bolger said in an interview.

Bolger called the proposal "one of the major issues" under consideration in the event deliveries are cut to five days a week.

He said any cutback would not take place for at least several months because the Postal Rate Commission must hold hearings on any reduced service proposal, then issue an advisory opinion before the change could take place.

Babbitt would not name additional suspects, but said the trial evidence would be considered carefully before any arrests are made.

"I think the complete extent of this case will only be known many months down the road," Babbitt said.

"But," he added, "two more have gone down today, continuing the process."

Well done, says visitor of report

Milt Fletcher of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce was an interesting guy. He was in Big Spring last week on an inspection visit as part of an effort by the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce to get national accreditation.

THE CHAMBER already had done a self-analysis and large report, along with suggested changes and a timetable for them, as part of the accreditation process.

Fletcher said Big Spring's report was very well done, and his visit would only result in "nit picking."

"Nits, you know, will grow faster than you can pick them," he said in his humorous way.

Fletcher's inspection visit is part of the accreditation "verification" process.

Or as he bluntly phrased it, "To make sure you guys aren't lying to us."

He spent a good part of his day in Big Spring walking the streets and talking to people about the town and the chamber.

In a luncheon report of the chamber's Board of Directors last Thursday, Fletcher said that the number one concern that he found in the community was that of attracting new industry to replace the jobs lost by the closing of Webb AIF Force Base.

No surprises there. He had nothing but praise for the chamber's task force, headed by Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, which did the self-analysis. The analysis involved lots of chamber members and resulted in some new directions for the organization.

Fletcher said that the self-analysis is the most valuable part of the accreditation process, and that has proven to be true.

The chamber's proposed program of work for the coming year was based, in large part, on that analysis.

FLETCHER WILL return to Washington, D.C., and make his report. Later this month, the accreditation board will decide whether or not to accept the Big Spring chamber.

Chamber officials hope that the accreditation can be approved in time for the annual chamber banquet in January.

Fletcher wouldn't say what he will recommend about Big Spring in his report, but he did say:

"Bill Albright (the chamber's manager) can smile at himself each morning when he shaves."

A way with words

Around the rim

Danny Reagan

I am using this space to tell all the kids in Mrs. Werrell's first grade class that it was really me that jumped out of the closet on Halloween and not the real Dracula. The real Dracula spends most of his time out at one mile lake with the alleged mosquitoes.

Speaking of kids (flow, flow), they will (in deep freeze now) be writing this today:

"You put a question mark at the end of a sentence to show that your voice should go up?"

"Poultry has a singular, known as chicken."

"WE SHOULD always say deer when we mean two or more deers."

"One of the unusualities about my family is that my cousin also happens to be the son of my father's sister."

"It is often only a matter of fate as to whether a person is a genius or not. I, for example, (knowing what I do) would be one had I only been born 1,000 years ago."

"Barn swallows, naturally, have rather large mouths."

"Newton noticed that anything at rest tended to remain at rest. For this, he grew famous."

"Light travels faster in hot weather than it does in cold. In the summer it gets here before 6:00."

"Heated air moves faster, but so would we all."

"Two great forces are constantly opposing each other. They are known as gravity and the centrifical force. There will always be wars and rumors of wars as long as these two forces are allowed to exist."

"Fish can drown in air. That is true. So, we are even."

"Galileo proved beyond a doubt that heavy things and light ones fall at the same speed. Of course the world has changed since then."

"In the old days they had good Indians and bad Indians. The bad Indians were the ones that shot back."

"General Custer was killed in the Battle of the Little Big Horn. This proved to be his undoing."

"Unfortunately, the depression happened just as everybody was out of work."

"In the winter, if the pioneers found any sugar-maple trees, they would send somebody out in the cold to get his. Then they would get the sap and boil him in syrup and sugar. I know this sounds cruel, but times were hard then."

"The moon is really a satellite. But I and a lot of other people still catch ourselves calling it 'moon.'"

"Some people can tell what time it is by looking at the sun, but I have never been able to make out the numbers."

"The air keeps the sun from burning us, but smart people rub some stuff on themselves in summer just the same." "For the benefit of mankind" means to think of your children. Or if you don't have any, then your children's children and theirs and on as far as you can think."

"Capital punishment should not be used in the training of little children."

"One good thing about the king system over the president's is many of them have the same first name so all you have to remember is what comes after — VII, VIII, X and the like."

"The good kind of ministers are in church, and the other kind are in government."

"ALTHOUGH AMERICA is spread rather thin in other places, it is good and thick in the Rocky Mountain area."

"It used to be thought that we had 48 states in America. Then someone counted again and there was 50."

"While passing through Kansas, a typhoon is really not a hurricane but a tornado."

"Most people live in Rhode Island than is possible."

"Although there was once no water in the Gulf of Mexico, the people who named it somehow knew that water was coming."

"Until the missionaries came, the cannibals ate each other."

"Man is really faster than we might think. Nerve signals can travel to the brain at about 200 miles an hour! Unfortunately, we have not yet thought out how to run that fast with our ourselves."

"Though we don't know it all yet, mankind is learning about good health. We know, for example that in order to live forever we need only... This is as far as we have learned so far."

"Stay on the left side if you walk down a street. Don't let them get you from behind."

"A million is bigger than the largest known whale."

"An ancestor is an extinct relative."

"The chief value of the Japanese Beetle is yet to be discovered."

"In the zebra we see how nature so wonderfully protects through protective coloration. It is presently threatened with extinction."

"In looking at a drop of water under a microscope, we find that there are twice as many H's as O's."

"One way to tell for sure if a sweater is of wool is to hold it over a flame. If it burnt slowly, it was wool."

"By titling his poem 'Leaves of Grass' Walt Whitman let us know it is poetry that is coming. If the title says something impossible, we can know it is poetry and to get ready for it."

"I have always wondered if Robin Hood and Ridding Hood were related."

"In just a few short years, Tommy Hart became a sensation overnight."

Bitter SALT

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A bruising collision last month behind closed doors between Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and a Senate subcommittee poses a SALT dilemma for President Carter that could dwarf his other difficulties.

Vance's performance before the Armed Services subcommittee headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson bordered on the disastrous. No master of the subject, the Secretary could not reassure the Senators about new U.S. concessions in strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) with the Soviet Union. Not only did this clarify Jackson's role as nearly certainly opposing a SALT II treaty (allied with conservative Republicans), but some fence-sitting Democrats joined him.

THE RESULT: SALT II is not merely "in trouble," as the White House concedes, but surely would fail ratification in the Senate today. Since nobody believes the Russians will retreat on issues tentatively decided at Geneva, it is impossible now to renegotiate a treaty more to the Senate's liking. So, the apparent alternative to defeat in the Senate is for the President to put SALT on the shelf for now.

But to do that, Mr. Carter would have to renege on his promise, made on the political barnstorming trail last month, of a SALT II agreement within weeks. Besides, his national security advisers believe reason and ratification will ultimately come in the Senate. Obviously, the White House has no conception of the mood on Capitol Hill.

But Cy Vance has. "I was amazed how tough, really brutal, Scoop (Jackson) was on Vance," a Republican on the subcommittee told us. Conservative Republican Senators who had feared that Jackson would bow to party loyalty and support the treaty were reassured.

Jackson was not the only Democrat to upbraid Vance. Georgia's Sen. Sam Nunn tongue-lashed Vance for avowed ignorance of an alleged U.S. offer to renounce the neutron bomb. Nunn lectured the Secretary of State that he should know, even if he does not know.

Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, the ex-astronaut but no hard-liner in the Senate, assailed inadequate verification of Russian compliance with SALT II. Unless he can be satisfied, Glenn will be another Democrat voting against the treaty.

ONLY A FEW SUCH Democrats are needed to reach the 34 votes required to reject the treaty in light of heavy Republican opposition — perhaps 28 out of 38 Republican Senators.

The elusive Senate Republican leader, Howard Baker, has signalled which way he is going by signing up Dr. Fred Ikle, who as U.S. disarmament chief battled Secretary of State Henry Kissinger over SALT at the end of the Ford administration. In the October issue of Fortune, Ikle argues against arms control "at the price of jeopardizing the nation's independence and future" — a theme expected in a forthcoming speech by Baker.

To convince Senators that U.S. concessions at Geneva do not actually endanger the nation's future, a virtuoso performance by Vance before the Jackson subcommittee was needed. It was anything but that, as seen by Vance's response to this question: will the SALT II limit of 800 multiple-warhead ICBMs (intercontinental ballistic missiles) insure survival of U.S. Minuteman missile survival of U.S. Minuteman missiles?

Yes, said the Secretary of State, a "study" proves it. Jackson directed Vance to supply it. But at the next hearing, Vance confessed there is no "study" — only separate "assurances" about the Minuteman.

Many causes of protein in urine

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told I have protein in my urine. Just what does this indicate? Why do I need further tests once a test has shown this? I have a rather high blood pressure (140 over 90), and am on medicine for that. — Mrs. R.S.

Proteinuria (protein in the urine) can mean a lot of things, and it's a valuable clue in several ailments. On the other hand it may have little significance. Depends on many factors — when it was found, how much, what kind of protein?

White blood cells, for example, can mean an infection somewhere in the urinary tract. Red cells can mean ulceration. The shapes of the tiny masses seen under a microscope can be a clue as to where they originated.

Protein can be present in one test and be absent in another. The first sample in the morning may show no protein. The second voiding of the day may show it. That's called "orthostatic proteinuria." Roughly translated, it means urine protein that appears after you've been up and around awhile. A rise in the protein can be expected after an injury or after surgery, even during periods of great excitement.

You can see why your doctor wants further tests, probably one based on urine samples taken over a 24-hour period. He will probably tell you to be sure the samples are not contaminated, as with vaginal discharge. That can throw off the results. A simple cleansing of the area before urinating will take care of that.

Your present blood pressure is not especially high, but it probably was before you started taking medicine for it. Certain kidney disorders can cause high blood pressure, so your doctor probably wants to investigate that.

Sounds as though your doctor is being quite thorough. Follow his advice about further tests.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What exactly is scabies, and what do you come from? A dermatologist told my son he has it. He itches all the time and breaks out with a rash. He uses a lotion, but it has been going on for two months and he still has not gotten rid of them. Is there some other cure? — Mrs. K.F.

Scabies is caused by a mite that burrows into the skin. It leaves a red trail that itches badly. It usually appears on exposed skin, particularly the arms (not on the face).

You didn't mention the kind of lotion, but I suspect it is one commonly used and usually effective. It sometimes must be repeated. I cannot speculate on the stubbornness your son has. You should know that the mite can hide in bed clothing and underclothing. It is highly contagious, so it's possible your son is being reinfected by a playmate or from his clothing or bedding. Boil the sheets and the clothing. If this doesn't work you had best return to the dermatologist for another evaluation of the itching.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is sciatica a disease? — H.H.

No. It's a painful symptom of a nerve problem, just as, for example, angina pectoris is a painful symptom of a blood vessel problem. In sciatica it's the symptom of a nerve disturbance, the "sciatic" nerve — the one that serves the back, thigh, legs. The actual term is sciatic neuritis.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a 45-year-old woman in excellent health. For about a month I've noticed a strange throbbing just below the rib on the right side of my body. When I wear a fitted skirt I can see it "beat." The first time I noticed it was after exercising at a spa (the first steps I'd done in a long time). — Mrs. B.A.R.

Most likely a spasm or quivering of an abdominal muscle. The exercising could have made a muscle irritable. No harm. Just go about the situps a bit more cautiously for now.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told to take Inderal for my chest pains. Can you tell me what it is, and whether I have to take it forever. I am 64. — A.C.

This is a brand of propranolol hydrochloride. It's chief use is to regulate a rapid heart rate. It is also used for high blood pressure. The nature and location of your chest pain is not mentioned. Medication for hypertension and heart irregularity usually must be taken indefinitely.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

First I should say that I enjoy Marj Carpenter's "Ridin' Fence" column and that, being from the Rio Grande Valley, am also fascinated by tales of the bandit days. However, in Sunday's column, an opinion is expressed (as fact) that I feel to be not only unnecessarily divisive but inaccurate. To wit, "The USA won, but Mexico has almost taken that territory between the Nueces and Rio Grande back without firing in that area and control all the municipal governments, school boards, county commissioners court, and other groups."

I suppose that my strongest initial response to this statement is that the "we-they" attitude with regard to persons of differing ethnic backgrounds should be minimized rather than stressed. But much more important than my personal convictions is the FACT that the "Tex Mex" cited are U.S. citizens who are subject to taxation, military service, and other obligations and privileges associated with such citizenship.

Their ascendancy to power in South Texas has no bearing on the sovereignty of the US over that area; the portion of Texas south of the Nueces is no more a defacto part of Mexico than is Louisiana a possession of France. Finally, I can find it no more disconcerting that the majority faction has gained political control of South Texas than the majority faction (i.e. WASP) retains such control in West Texas — such majority rule is an inherent and praiseworthy aspect of our American system of government.

Training in Texas

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — With a great show of disapproval, the United States cut off foreign aid in 1973 to Uganda's brutal dictator Idi Amin. Yet a dozen of his crack airborne police are now receiving helicopter training in Texas.

We learned about the Ugandan training mission from an intercepted cable sent by the chief of the police airwing, G.M. Sematimba, to the Ugandan United Nations ambassador, K.Y. Kinene.

THE CABLE WAS sent from Entebbe, site of the famed Israeli commando raid that freed hostages held by hijackers. It confides that the police pilots will get "advanced flight training and pilot ground school at Bell Helicopter Company, Fort Worth, Texas."

"Their training should run approximately five weeks," reports the cable. Thereafter, "They will proceed for further training at Oak Grove Flight School (also in Fort Worth) for approximately six weeks."

We reached one of the Ugandan pilots, Cypria Isoke, who told us the trainees arrived in Fort Worth on October 25. All are police pilots, he said; none is military.

They could never have been admitted into this country without quiet State Department assistance. Because the U.S. embassy in Uganda has been closed down, the pilots had to get their entry visas through the U.S. embassy in neighboring Kenya.

Amin has an ugly reputation for battering his victims to death with sledge hammers. The hammers have been wielded usually by his security men in the special "State Research" and "Public Safety" units, not by the police.

Yet official sources say the police have participated in Amin's repression. They operate at least nine Bell helicopters, which were sent unarmed to Uganda. But they could easily have been converted into paramilitary aircraft, which could be used for chasing down dissidents in the bush and whisking kidnap victims from one torture site to another.

Once the 12 Ugandans complete their helicopter training, another U.S. agency, the Federal Aviation Administration, is expected to test and license them. At the FAA, a spokesman said there are no FAA regulations to block such a license.

In addition to the police helicopter pilots, three commercial pilots from Uganda are in training at Daytona Beach, Fla. One is sponsored under a personal contract with Idi Amin himself.

A confidential investigation by Rep. Don Pease, D-Ohio, has also uncovered a $4 million contract to provide Amin with a satellite communications system. The contract is held by the Harris Corporation, a Cleveland firm, which has a branch in Florida training about a dozen Ugandan technicians.

But Amin received his biggest U.S. bonanza from coffee dealers who paid the dictator $121.6 million for his coffee during the first five months of this year.

The outraged Pease fired off a private letter to the State Department, charging that the coffee payments provided "the lion's share of revenue for Amin." The madcap ruler then used the money, complained Pease, "to bankroll his armed forces."

OUR SOURCES SAY that Amin uses his U.S. dollars also to pay U.S. technicians in Uganda, to purchase communications equipment from U.S. firms and to pamper himself and friends with whiskey, perfumes and other luxuries.

Footnote: A State Department visa official said there is no restriction against issuing visas to the Ugandans. The Ugandan ambassador to the United Nations didn't return our calls. A spokesman at the Uganda mission said the training was a "private matter."

MEDICAL GROUPE: Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., bolstered by $9,000 in campaign contributions last year from doctors and medical groups, is leading the charge against national health insurance.

With his lance aimed at Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., Bauman galloped into the arena and stirred up a great cloud of dust. But after the dust had cleared, the quixotic Bauman sat, unhorsed, upon the ground.

He attacked Kennedy in a fundraising letter emblazoned with his congressional letterhead. "Ted Kennedy is pushing a socialized medicine bill to pay for free abortions for anyone who wants one," charged Bauman. Kennedy called the letter "an outright misrepresentation of the facts."

Bauman claimed that, under Kennedy's bill, "The federal government will decide what medical care you need." Kennedy said the doctors would continue to make all medical decisions for their patients.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I was interested in the news reports about your visit to Hungary. Were you really free to preach the Gospel in that country? — M.Q.

DEAR M.Q.: There were no restrictions placed upon my preaching of the Gospel in Hungary. I did not go as a political emissary, but as an ambassador of Jesus Christ. I was thrilled to find many real believers, and everywhere I went to speak there were large crowds. Most of the public meetings were in churches, although one meeting was outside, at a church youth camp. It was estimated that over 15,000 people came to that meeting. A large number of people indicated a desire to follow Jesus Christ. Our visit to Hungary will always be one of the unforgettable events of my ministry.

Christians in Hungary live under a government that is officially atheistic in its beliefs. While the situation is not ideal for either church or state, there is an understanding. Churches are open and people are free to attend them. I was thrilled to see how important the Bible is to Christians there; whenever a Bible passage was read, I would see large numbers of people following along in their Bibles. I found the Hungarian Christians active in their witness and concerned about being faithful to Christ.

Wherever I go in the world I find that people are basically the same, regardless of the differences in their social and political backgrounds. All men are sinners, and all men need to know God through faith in Jesus Christ. And whenever people respond to the Gospel, Christ brings them new life and purpose as they seek to live for Him.

White rats wear casts to aid study

HOUSTON (AP) — Unfortunate white rats have been forced by scientists to run unending mazes, smoke countless packs of cigarettes and ingest massive doses of saccharin. Now the rats are wearing casts on their legs in a study of muscle atrophy.

Dr. Frank Booth says most people have "always assumed" the muscle loss sustained during prolonged periods of bed rests and use of casts while broken limbs healed could be totally reversed.

But Booth, professor of physiology at the University of Texas Medical School at Houston, says tests with rats indicate differently.

And he believes the tests could lead to new methods of treatment and rehabilitation designed to reduce the amount of damages humans suffer to their muscles.

Booth says his tests have shown that up to half of the research rats' muscle mass can be lost in only three weeks of inactivity. The early tests are part of a three-year project supported by the National Institute of Health.

Protein synthesis necessary for normal muscle mass to continue developing begins to decline "within three hours of putting the rats in leg casts," he added.

While no one knows the cause "for atrophy or degeneration of muscles in humans, Booth said he is optimistic his studies will indicate it may be due to the breakdown in protein synthesis.

"Muscle proteins are continually being replaced, so if you have one gram of muscle, half (of that gram) will be replaced normally by new protein in just one week," he said.

"However, whatever triggers this replacement seems to break down when the muscle is not used and the protein does not get replaced."

In an effort to isolate the biochemical triggering mechanism responsible for the protein breakdown, Booth has put casts on the back legs of several white rats and examines the atrophy process.

"Some orthopedic specialists are becoming aware of the apparent reduction in muscle damage when some mobility is allowed," Booth said. "And they are using limited mobility casts which cover the joints and allow for minimal movement."

Booth also is doing a project funded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in which long-time gravity loss is being observed. The major aspect of this specific work involves minimum stimulation of the muscles in casts to see if that will significantly slow the atrophying process.

The NASA scientists want to know about the muscle atrophy to determine exactly how much simulated exercise, such as stationary bike riding, should be done during long space flights.

Booth said rats in casts for 30 days took at least 60 more days to recover most of their original muscle mass. "This recovery time may be longer in humans," he said.

Gallop
gobblers

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — They waddled, wobbled and gobbled, but with plenty of prodding from their handlers, most contestants finished the first Turkey Tech Grand Prix with feathers flying.

The plump birds and their handlers had to run a course under a three-foot high bar, through a puddle of water and down a lane wide enough for one bird.

On the back side of the U-shaped course, handlers carried their turkeys over a haystack, put them down and then prodded the birds toward the finish line.

The prizes for winning went to humans, and the gobblers faced the gloomy outlook of being carved up for Thanksgiving dinner in less than three weeks.

Critical year for TSTA

'The Future is Now' is organization's theme

BY DUSTY RICHARD
The District XVIII Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) Convention got off the ground with a dinner and meeting of the House of Delegates Thursday night.

Members of the House of Delegates are elected by all TSTA members to represent them at the House of Delegates meeting, which is the highest governing body of District XVIII. There is one delegate for every 25 members, and they pass resolutions to be taken to the state convention which will be in Dallas this year.

During his welcome speech, Lynn Hise, superintendent of the Big Spring School District and President of District XVIII, recalled the last convention of educators held in Big Spring.

"It was in 1961; there was an ice storm, and everyone could not get into the Municipal Auditorium — well, the weatherman has promised us good weather for this one, and even though the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum is not finished, I'm sure everyone will fit in!"

TSTA organize our strength." Hise presented Mrs. Harrell with a gift of a book picturing every courthouse in Texas, "The Texas Courthouse."

A motion which did not carry, however, was one to change the day of the annual meeting from Friday to Monday to afford coaches and other teachers who are busy on Friday a chance to attend the convention.

Ode to Abby

DEAR ABBY:
Roses are red,
Rabbis are kosher,
If it weren't for Dear Abby,
We'd all be much gauchier.
Try that on your piccolo.

FRANK KLOCK

DEAR FRANK: Your poem arrived during the Holy Days, so I tried it on my ram's horn. It was beautiful!

DEAR ABBY: As far as I'm concerned, that self-proclaimed "liberated" woman who thought her boyfriend should pay for her birth control pills is far from liberated.

Her attitude is typical of most "liberated" women. They prefer to open their own doors and light their own cigarettes, but when it comes to money—the liberation's over!

Most men spend between $15 and $25 for an evening out. Multiply that by the number of times they go out during the month and it's a lot more than the $3 or $4 a month she pays for birth control pills.

When was the last time this girl picked up the tab for an evening out? And when did she last invite him over for dinner? And when was the last time they used HER car on a date?

I think she should pay for her birth control pills, don't you?

REALISTIC

DEAR REALISTIC: Not necessarily. A man who's asked to shell out for his girlfriend's birth control pills would be a fool to refuse. It's peanuts compared to what his monkeyshines could cost in terms of child support.

DEAR ABBY: I sympathize with HOT STUFF ON THE HILL—the 19-year-old girl who has passes made at her because she has a 38 bust. Well, I'm only 5 feet tall and I also have a 38 bust. I've had it since high school, and I've suffered terribly because of it. Blouses and dresses go to 11. I used a safety pin for every space in between. Sweaters at least stretched, but I had to wear a size much bigger in the shoulders so I wouldn't look like I was on the wall.

I'm now a happily married mother, but I still get comments from men I didn't know existed until we were face to face. Therefore, I know it wasn't my language or the look in my eye that provoked their passes.

I'm not ugly, but I'm no beauty queen either. My oversized bust has embarrassed me since I was 13. I get catcalls, whistles and even dirty remarks from men when I pass.

Abby, those women who feel cheated because they're small-busted should walk a mile in my bra.

38 AND HATES IT

DEAR ABBY: Apropos complaints from wives and other relatives who are obliged to listen to stories told by some of us oldsters, may I come to the defense of some of my fellow storytellers with the following:

I once heard a very entertaining gentleman who was up in years say, "Don't stop me if you've heard this one. There is no reason why a good story should not be enjoyed more than once. Imagine how little good music there would be in the world if, for example, a conductor refused to play Beethoven, Tchaikovsky or Mozart because his audience had probably heard it before."

GRAMPS

DEAR GRAMPS: Beautiful! Play it again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S.M. IN MPLS: Don't quit trying. Sometimes it's the last key in the bunch that opens the door.

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Morris Greenwood, Odessa; and Deanne O'Rourke, Sanderson, were all elected to the auditing committee.

The standing committees all gave their reports while the ballots for officers were being counted. These committees included instructional services, teacher education and professional standards, legislative, public relations, teacher personal services, human relations, professional rights and responsibilities, necrology, resolutions, constitution and bylaws and the special committees.

During the legislative committee report, a motion was carried to support legislation that would raise teachers' salaries by at least 10 per cent above the national average of $12,700. Another motion to instruct the state TSTA committee to try to raise sick leave substitute pay from $15 to $25 a day also carried.

A motion which did not carry, however, was one to change the day of the annual meeting from Friday to Monday to afford coaches and other teachers who are busy on Friday a chance to attend the convention.

The meeting was adjourned at 9 p.m.

During an interview after the House of Delegates meeting, State TSTA president Carolyn Harrell said that one of the greatest problems facing teachers today is discipline.

"The lack of discipline in students today is a critical issue all over the nation. It is because of the times and the things that are accepted today. Another problem is overcrowded classrooms — teachers are very concerned about that because the effectiveness of the teacher is decreased when class sizes get out of hand."

She said that there is not one student-teacher ratio that would work with every situation. Smaller classes are needed for slow learners and very gifted children.

"I guess the maximum would be 20-25 to one, ideally, but children are individuals, and it depends on the circumstances."

Mrs. Harrell graduated from the University of Texas at Austin with a B.B.A. and M.B.A., and is currently on a one-year leave of absence from Gonzales High School, where she is a business teacher and chairman of the Business Department.

She said that she has an apartment in Austin and her husband lives in their home in Gonzales.

"I'm away from home much of the time, but my husband is busy in the cattle business, too, and he's used to it because I was very active before I was elected state president." She said that because it is only a 65-mile drive to Gonzales from Austin, she gets home about once a week, and sometimes her husband comes to Austin. "We have dates."

Pokes chop down beanstalk

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — From left to right, they are Too Tall Jones, Jethro Pugh, Randy White and Harvey Martin — the Dallas Cowboys' defensive line. Spell it Doomsday, like the defense the Cowboys rode to a Super Bowl championship in 1972. Joe Pisarcik, quarterback of the New York Giants, had a chance to meet each of them on a personal basis Sunday as the unbeaten Cowboys scored a 24-10 victory, running their National Football League winning streak to eight games.

Between them, the four linemen had six of the eight sacks that Pisarcik suffered. Linebacker Tom Henderson and safety Randy Hughes recorded the others.

"We just kept coming, like we always do," said White. "I don't key on anything. I just keep coming."

Pisarcik, an alert quarterback, noticed all the Dallas visitors.

"We called our extra pass-blocking 'Joe Protection,'" he said. "It really means the backs stay back to help the ends. But Dallas messed us up by calling delayed blitzes all the time."

"Then there is 'the Henderson problem'" Pisarcik continued. "He's so quick I'd look up and say, 'What are you doing here?'"

Henderson, who had a piece of six tackles to go with his sack, understood Pisarcik's dilemma.

"Our defense dominates a game," he said. "I feel sorry for the teams we play."

The Giants, of course, can use all the sympathy they can get. From the Cowboys, all they got was trouble.

With Dallas defenders swarming all over him, Pisarcik was able to complete only 6 of 17 passes for 61 yards, but when you deduct the 59 yards he lost on those eight sacks, New York's net air gain came to just 2 yards.

Roger Staubach had a comfortable 15 completions for the Cowboys, including three long ones to Drew Pearson that kept Dallas scoring drives moving.

Pearson's catches were, for 25, 23 and 41 yards, stretching his streak to 39 games in which he has had at least one reception.

His first catch, on a third-and-15 play, kept the Cowboys moving in a drive that was completed by Staubach's 5-yard TD pass to Billy Joe DuPree. Then Pearson grabbed the 23-yarder in a drive helped by a long pass interference call against New York's Bill Bryant and climaxed by Tony Dorsett's 1-yard TD plunge.

Pearson's third grab for 41 yards came with the Cowboys en route to Efron Herrera's 35-yard field goal.

Dallas' first TD came when Jay Saldi recovered a fumbled punt at the 8-yard line and took it into the end zone. The Giants got a 51-yard field goal by Joe Danelo and a 1-yard TD by Bobby Hammond, who set up the score with a 28-yard punt return.

Colts host Skins

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts entertain the Washington Redskins in Monday night's National Football League television special, a forum which provides both head coaches with their weekly psychological ploys.

The Redskins have rolled up an imposing 9-1 record in the Monday night telecasts, a bit of trivia which Baltimore Coach Ted Marchbroda of the Colts molded into a post-Halloween horror story for the Colts.

George Allen of Washington, always looking for an edge to fire his "Over The Hill" gang, undoubtedly reminded the Redskins that it would be nice to maintain the Monday night hex.

The lure of a resumption of the neighborhood rivalry, dormant since 1973, produced a sellout of 60,000 fans who'd rather be in Memorial Stadium than watch the battle on the screen (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EST).

Marchbroda, who served nine years as an assistant under Allen at Los Angeles and Washington, has his own theory as to why the Redskins have excelled on Monday nights.

"George always prepares his teams well," Marchbroda said, "and playing on Monday gives him an extra day to prepare."

At the moment, the Redskins need all the help they can get. With a 4-3 record, they're already three games behind the Dallas Cowboys in the NFC East and are one of four teams with the same record fighting for an NFC wildcard playoff berth.

Baltimore, although leading the AFC East with a 6-1 mark, can ill afford to lose. If the Colts fail to win their third straight division championship, they could miss the playoffs because of the few losses suffered by several AFC teams.

Washington, given an offensive boost with Joe Theismann at quarterback last week, is expected to be bolstered on defense this week by the return of injured linebacker Chris Hanburger.

Thiesmann, replacing Billy Kilmer, complete 16 of 24 passes for 218 yards and two touchdowns in a 23-17 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Colts were hopeful that defensive tackle Joe Ehrmann would be ready for action after missing five weeks with a broken left hand.

On offense, Baltimore lost right guard Elmer Collett during the week when continuing back pains forced Marchbroda to place the 33-year-old veteran on the injured reserve list.

Oilers demolish Bears

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's 47-0 massacre of Chicago in a National Football League game Sunday brimmed over with the stuff that dreams are made of.

Kenny Burrough, Houston's cat-quick wide receiver, normally sees single coverage only in his dreams.

As for the Bears, the whole game was a nightmare. Burrough rubbed his eyes in disbelief and pinched himself to be sure he was awake before hauling in touchdown bombs of 85 and 43 yards from Dan Pastorini as the Oilers returned the big play to an offense that had long been given up for dead.

The satisfying victory, which ended a three game losing streak, evened Houston's record at 4-4 and kept them in the running for the American Football Conference's Central Division title. Chicago fell to a 3-5 record. The 6-3 Burrough, one of the most dangerous receivers in the NFL because of his speed, beat the single coverage of 5-8 Bear defensive back Virgil Livers on both of his touchdown receptions.

"I don't know what they were doing but I appreciated it," said Burrough, who finished the game with six receptions for 180 yards. "I haven't seen that much single coverage in three or four years."

Burrough's 85-yarder was the first of two first half Houston explosions that allowed the Oilers to sprint to a 17-0 halftime lead. The other was Billy Johnson's 61-yard end around for a touchdown. Toni Fritsch kicked a 29-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Referring to Burrough's 85-yard TD, Oiler Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips said "Livers couldn't have caught Kenny with a dip net." The Oilers drove for their first touchdown of the third quarter, climaxed by Don Hardeman's one-yard plunge, before the razzle dazzle started again. Burrough scooped up a low pass from Pastorini for his 43 yard score in the third period.

"Man to man on Kenny?" asked Pastorini, who hit 11 of 18 passes for 246 yards and the two TDs. "I'll take that any day. We had to open up and, with the protection I had today, we could do it. My protection was better than any I've seen in professional football."

On the first play of the fourth quarter Gregg Bingham picked up a fumble by Walter Payton and ran 34 yards for his first touchdown since high school.

Chicago retreated to its dressing room in complete shock.

Big SWC duel coming up

By the Associated Press

The Southwest Conference football race reaches another critical crossroads Saturday at College Station.

Eighth-ranked Arkansas, fresh off a 35-9 blistering of the Baylor Bears, comes callin' at Kyle Field—one of the more in-hospitable places on earth if you aren't wearing a Texas Aggie uniform.

Arkansas and the rested Aggies, who were idle, are the only survivors of a rigorous SWC elimination derby which now has top-ranked Texas alone atop the ladder with a 5-0 ledger.

Texas A&M is 4-0 and Arkansas is 4-1. Enough said.

If Arkansas loses, the Razorbacks can dream dreams of going bowling but it won't be in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2 as the SWC host team. Of course, the Aggies can afford a loss and still make it into high cotton with a spotless bib the rest of the way, including victory over the Longhorns Nov. 26—also in Kyle Field.

Texas A&M last appeared in the Cotton Bowl in 1967 so if things end in a three-way tie between Arkansas and Texas, the Aggies get the nod because both the Razorbacks and Longhorns have visited the post-season classic since the Cadets defeated Alabama.

Texas whipped Houston 35-21 and the top-ranked Longhorns host outmanned Texas Christian, a 49-17 loser to Texas Tech, this Saturday in Memorial Stadium.

The Longhorns meet Baylor in two weeks before the annual unholy war against the Aggies.

The other games on the 10th week of the SWC campaign will be just for fun and possibly a bowl bid for Texas Tech. The Red Raiders are 3-2 in SWC play but own a respectable 6-2 overall margin.

Tech is at SMU. Should the Red Raiders down the Mustangs, they could be in line for a bowl bid the next week by knocking off Houston which shared the SWC co-championship with Tech last year.

Rice is at Baylor while Houston is idle.

Hawks fly tonight

The Howard College Hawks open their 1977-78 basketball season tonight at 8 o'clock in Hawk Gym against the visiting Laredo Junior College Golden Palminos.

The contest will be preceded by a game between the Hawk Queens and Ranger at 6 p.m. Laredo comes to town with a 2-0 record, following a Saturday 72-62 win over very strong Alvin Junior College.

The Golden Palminos may be going without the services of their big man who scored 30 points in their opener and 25 in the Alvin game. He twisted his ankle during the Saturday night contest.

The Preybirds are extremely healthy. "We had a short one-hour workout Sunday night," said Head Coach Harold Wilder. "They look snappy. I think we're more fit than we've been in months."

The Hawks had worked out for two solid weeks without a rest prior to Saturday. The Hawks will start big Joe Cooper, 6-11, at center; Casey Williams, 6-4, and Russell Sublet, 6-4, at guards; and Eugene Williams, 6-6 and Allen Bonds, 6-4, at forwards.

Wilder urges all area roundball fans to "pack poverty pavillion".

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you will be wise to consider your relations with other persons and to do whatever is possible to have more harmony with them. Ideal time for entertaining congenials.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Come to a better understanding with outside contacts and all goes better for you. A civic affair can be helpful to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study that work ahead of you and then handle it in a most efficient manner. Be careful of your reputation at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to engage in amusements and relieve tensions during spare hours. Try to please the one you love and be happier.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do some entertaining of people you like, and become a more popular person. Be charming with close ties.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Confer with an expert who can give you the advice you need so that you can advance more quickly in your career. Avoid a troublemaker.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make long-range plans for the future and seek the support of a higher-up who can help you in your line of endeavor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The planets are favorable for you going after your cherished wishes and gaining them easily now. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can now figure out what has been puzzling to you and come up with the right answers. Express happiness with mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go after personal aims now and gain them easily. Stop wasting time with one who is a deterrent to your progress.

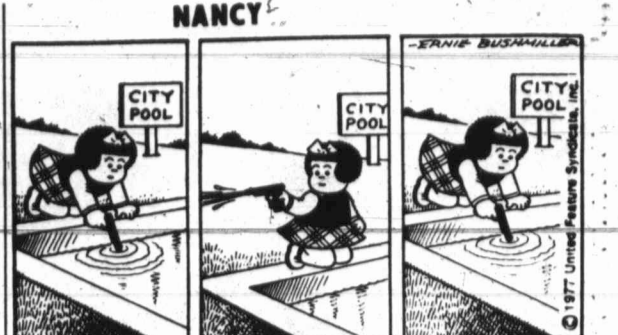

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Consider what should be done to advance in career matters, and then do it. Avoid one who talks too much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a better way to express a fine talent you have. Contact influential persons who can help you in career matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make arrangements to improve your financial situation. Know the depth of your devotion to loved one during spare time.

Crowd not 'jazzy' enough

By the Associated Press
Elvin Hayes was apologizing to his Washington Bullets teammates, castigating himself for the paltry 52 rebounds he'd contributed in six previous games.

Nearby, a near-record crowd was filling into the Superdome to see the hometown Jazz, who had acquired a surprising habit of winning in this National Basketball Association season. The fans numbered 26,474, the third largest crowd in NBA history, but it didn't help the Jazz.

"It's something I felt I had to do," Hayes said Sunday. "I've been standing back, thinking, 'Let someone else do it.' I felt I owed my teammates an apology and told them I was sorry."

Then Hayes backed up his apology with 21 points and 20 rebounds as the Bullets broke the Jazz habit and disappointed—all of those fans, 108-97.

In other NBA action, the New York Knicks downed the Los Angeles Lakers 106-102, the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Indiana Pacers 108-106 and the Kansas City Kings defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 99-83.

New York 106, Los Angeles 102

Jim McMillian burst out of a shooting slump — one that had cut deeply into his playing time for more than a year — to score a season-high 22 points for the Knicks, 10 of them in the fourth quarter. His 20-foot jumper with 6:59 remaining put the Knicks ahead to stay at 89-88.

McMillian led a troupe of five Knicks who scored in double figures, including Bob McAdoo with 18, Earl Monroe with 17, rookie Ray Williams with 12 and Lonnie Shelton with 11.

The Knicks never trailed in the first half, leaving the floor with a 67-57 advantage.

Portland 108, Indiana 106

The Trail Blazers put down a late Pacer rebellion that trimmed their lead to two points three times in the final five minutes as Dave Twardzik scored 22 points and Bill Walton added 21.

Indiana's Dan Roundfield reduced the margin to 108-106 on a three-point play with 21 seconds to go.

BIG RED TOUCHDOWN! — Coahoma Bulldog Junior Fullback Tracy Frazier (42) barges into the endzone last Friday night against the Stamford Bulldogs in Big Red's final home game of the season. Coahoma, with only one district loss for the year, easily defeated the visitors 34-14. CHS rounds out its 1977 campaign this Friday on the road against Merkel.

A&I second only to Okies

KINGSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Texas A&I's quest for football immortality was dealt a death blow Saturday night when East Texas State knifed the Javelinas 7-6, ending the nation's longest collegiate unbeaten streak.

"There is a lot of difference in one point," understated A&I coach Fred Jonas. "I know our kids wanted to just cry their eyes out after the game was over but they kept their heads high and shook the hands of the East Texas players and were real men about it."

Since the final game of the 1973 season, the Javelinas had steadily marched over opponents and appeared headed for the record books as the team with the lengthiest string of unbeaten games.

But the East Texas State loss stopped the Javs at the threshold, A&I's 46-game unbeaten streak will go into the books as the second-best in modern collegiate football history, behind the 48-game string compiled by the Bud Wilkinson-coached Oklahoma squads of 1953-57.

The all-time record belongs to the 1920-25 California squad that compiled 50 straight—46 wins and four ties.

Following a 28-0 loss to Howard Payne on Nov. 10, 1973, The Javs marched to 42 consecutive victories, second only to Oklahoma's 47 and besting the previous state record of 30 set by Darrell Royal's Texas teams of 1968-70.

The Javs won an unprecedented three straight national (NAIA) titles during their reign and could still qualify for the playoffs this season.

Who needs O.J. anyway?

By the Associated Press
O.J. who? The Buffalo Bills, who lost superstar O.J. Simpson for the season with a knee injury last week, have found a new running star in Roland Hooks, who rambled for 155 yards Sunday to help the Bills upset the New England Patriots 24-14 in National Football League action.

"They pulled themselves together," said Buffalo Coach Jim Ringo, whose team put on its best offensive show of the season despite the absence of Simpson. "They knew it wouldn't do any good to panic."

"We had something to prove — that we weren't the worst team in pro football," said Hooks. "We had to get our self respect back."

It was only Buffalo's second victory in eight starts, and it left New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks confused and upset.

That was the first victory for a National Conference team over one from the American Conference this season. The AFC holds a 10-1 lead.

St. Louis, Cincinnati and San Francisco also posted upsets, the Cardinals whipping the Minnesota Vikings 27-7, the Bengals edging the Cleveland Browns 10-7 and the 49ers beating the Atlanta Falcons 10-3.

But mighty Dallas easily survived the rash of upsets, defeating the New York Giants 24-10 to raise its record to 8-0, the only unbeaten mark in the NFL.

Oakland and Denver remained in a tie for the lead passes. Errol Mann kicked three field goals and Willie Brown intercepted two passes.

Broncos 21, Steelers 7

Denver's Orange Crush defense allowed Pittsburgh across' midfield only three times as the Broncos kept pace with Oakland.

Special teams star Rick Upchurch provided the offensive spark, returning five punts for a team-record 167 yards including an 87-yard scamper for a touchdown. That was the first punt return for a touchdown against the Steelers since 1969.

Chiefs 20, Packers 10

Ed Podolak rushed for 98 yards and one touchdown as the Chiefs won their first game under interim coach Bettis, who took over after popular Paul Wiggin was fired on Monday.

Rams 31, Bucs 0

It was the 22nd consecutive loss for the Bucs and spoiled the homecoming of Tampa Bay Coach John McKay, who had been a highly successful college coach at Southern Cal before going pro. Pat Haden, a Southern Cal grad, threw two touchdowns as the Rams, 5-3, moved to a one-game lead over Atlanta in the NFC West.

Runners finish high

The Big Spring Steers cross-country teams finished second place in both girls and boys varsity competition here Saturday. The girls noted the highest finish for the Steer teams this season.

In the varsity girls division, the individual winner was Annabell Norin of Brownfield with a time of 13:05 for the two-mile course. Leaders for the young Steer girls teams were freshman Donna Diliberts (13:56 for 2nd place), Linda Moss (sr., 6th 14:49), Cathy Weeks (fish 10th, 15:20), Tiffany Whiteside (fish 13th 15:49), Tammy Woodard (sr. 16th, 17:16), Tammy Denton (jr. 17:28, 18th), Connie Jackson (sr. 19th, 17:32) and Jodi Parnell (fish 22nd, 18:10).

In the team totals, the girls were a very close second to Brownfield, losing only by three points.

The Jr. Varsity division for boys was dominated by team champion San Angelo.

The Steer Jr. Varsity, hard hit by injury and illness, was still represented by good showings from Kirk Mancill (jr. 15th, 11:45), Kevin Wolfe (soph. 17th, 11:49), John Petty (jr. 21th, 12:00) and Mark Moses (soph. 25th, 12:28).

The varsity boys finished second, giving the Steers their best finish in the last decade. The Steers have been improving with every meet and now stand as the third best team in district 5-4A.

Top finishers for the "Horns were Craig Neighbors (sr. 9th 10:33), Steve Trevino (jr., 15th, 10:41), James Martin (sr., 17th, 10:51), Lorenzo Martinez (jr., 23rd, 11:08), and Gary Jewell (jr., 26th, 11:41).

The Steers travel to San Angelo next week, then to Abilene on Nov. 18 and finally back to San Angelo for the district meet on Nov. 23.

NEW FACE ON SIDELINES — Actress-photographer Candice Bergen, standing behind Los Angeles Rams running back John Cappelletti who is sitting on the bench, prepares to photograph Rams quarterback, Joe Namath, during action Sunday in Los Angeles. Bergen, who is well known for her photographic works, is doing an essay on Joe Namath.

Hospital beds could be rationed under plan Ridin' fence

Hospital beds and services will be rationed if Department of Health, Education and Welfare (DHEW) proposed "standards" are adopted.

So said O. Ray Hurst, president, Texas Hospital Association (THA), Austin, as he described the DHEW proposals published in the Federal Register last Sept. 23.

Hurst went on to point out that these proposed regulations mean that within five years Texas will be required to reduce the number of hospital beds by approximately 17,500.

Hurst stated that "such loss of beds coupled with previously announced ceilings on allowable patient days means that one in every four patients that need to be admitted to hospital will be turned away."

He pointed out that this will be accomplished by forcing the closure of entire hospitals or portions of hospitals.

The proposed guidelines as published will require hospitals to have an occupancy rate of at least 80 per cent overall. Also a hospital must have in order to maintain obstetrics services, a minimum of 500 deliveries per year (2,000 in or near cities over 100,000).

Hospitals will be required to comply with special restrictions on open heart surgery, cancer therapy, renal dialysis and cardiac diagnostic procedures. In addition, there are geographic restrictions on service that are available to a community within 45 minutes travel time.

Hurst pointed out that "a part of the stated purpose of these proposed guidelines is to reduce health care cost while improving the care of patients, yet no consideration is given to the medical needs of the community. The THA Statewide Hospital Productivity Center that has been in operation for two (2) years has saved Texas patients over $100 million dollars. This type of voluntary system could be used as an example of efficiency by the private sector without Federal mandates for limiting and rationing of quality health care."

DHEW is giving the public, hospitals and physicians until Nov. 22, to comment on these proposals. Comments will be received by Health Resources Administration, Room 10-22, 3700 EastWest Highway, Hyattsville, Maryland 20782.

Hurst said "THA is encouraging all persons interested in the continued availability in Texas of quality health care to respond to these proposed limitations. Although these proposals are from the bureaucrats, no doubt U.S. Senators and Congressmen will be interested in the public's views on these limitations and the rationing of health care."

THA is the Austin based trade association of hospitals in Texas with over 700 institutional members.

Guy James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovis James, Box 32, Coahoma, was received into the Knights social club. James, a junior animal science major, is a 1975 graduate of Coahoma High School.

with Marj Carpenter

In Sunday's Big Spring Herald, we had a special farm and ranch section. While working on stories for that section I began to think about the importance of the farmers and ranchers to America.

The old saying of "An Army travels on its stomach" also applies in peace time. The importance of food and fiber to the strength of America is hard to tabulate.

It is so fiercely important. Both groups have been getting the short end of the stick lately and somehow somebody needs to get Washington's attention. The same applies to the energy producers - the oil men.

How all the bureaucrats have become the heroes and the farmers, ranchers, and oilmen the villains is beyond me.

I got to thinking about how hard the early settlers fought to take hold around Big Spring and how hard the ranchers and farmers have worked ever since and I got a little bit angry.

Look at Bud Roberts who was directed to Moss Springs southeast of Big Spring by buffalo hunters in the 1870s.

The possession of live water in those days determined a man's right to pasturage and Roberts made the spring his base of operations. He later had to move when the site was claimed by Will Wardell and Frank Biler.

He moved up the draw a mile and a half and dug the first well in Howard County and set up camp. For many years, the family and the descendants continued to ranch that land.

Then take the story of Dave Rhoton. The Civil War saw his family lose everything in the border state of Tennessee. His father died of pneumonia in an enemy prison camp in Rock Island. Fatherless and homeless, young David was taken in by an uncle, Marion Rhoton in Austin. He worked in a dairy and began to learn cattle.

He became a cowpuncher and helped with such cattle drives as when the Millett and Marby outfit drove 1,000 head to Ft. Sill in Indian Territory. In September 1879, Rhoton settled on Champion Creek in what is now Mitchell County where he worked two and a half years for Biler and Wardell.

Later he came to Moss Springs and entered in the sheep business. He then moved up by the railroad at latan and built a wool house for storage.

While living at latan, he married Miss Fannie Robinson, whose father was one of the first cotton planters in Howard County. Their home was open to the traveling cowhand, and they kept many a one overnight.

The big social occasion of the year was a Fourth of July picnic at Klondike on Beal's Creek. After Rhoton built his fences, fencing in 130 sections, he became both a sheep and cattle farmer. He voted in both the election that organized Mitchell County in 1889 and voted in the election which resulted in the creation of Howard County on June 15, 1882.

These are just two of the early settlers. But I just got to thinking about them and wondering what they would think of the cattleman's plight or the farmer's plight today.

I didn't know the two gentlemen but I have a feeling they might turn the sky blue with deleted expletives.

Hustle 3 Whopping tax boost

By Bill Albright
Executive Vice President,
Big Spring Area Ch. of Commerce
Industrial Growth and Development

This week, I'm going to call to your attention some very significant items that require your attention and your action. First I want to quote a friend of mine.

"The Carter energy program, when it becomes law, will represent the most significant increase in the middle-class American's tax burden in terms of taxes paid by individuals alone, $132 billion would be initially collected - the equivalent of an across the board 15 per cent tax increase. When you consider the indirect taxes being placed on business, which will have to be passed on to consumers, this federal tax increase is really closer to 25 per cent."

"When all things are considered, American families are going to be hit with additional taxes and costs that average $1,500 every year, and for all this added expense Texans will now experience the same shortages that have become a way of life in the North. In a state awash in oil and natural gas, it is criminal that millions of Texans could be unemployed as a result of federally mandated shortages."

"While the Administration has repeatedly emphasized that these taxes will be rebated, the fact is that in most cases they will not be returned. What your 25 per cent tax increase will buy is a 20,000-man "Energy Bureaucracy", welfare reform, and National Health Insurance. What we have is not an energy bill, it is a tax bill. The American taxpayer is going to see the largest tax increases in history over the next five years as a result of this Energy Bill."

What the country really needed was an energy plan that relied more on increasing our energy supplies than on reducing our standard of living. From Congressman James Collins of Texas.

Obviously, this is a major problem. What needs to be done at this time is to let our legislators in Washington know that we recognize the importance of an "Energy Bill", but we really need one that will help to increase our energy supplies. Better do it in the next day or two or it just might be too late!

Some of us may be letting our community down! Yep - and if you're guilty - there's still time to do something about it. The United Way is vital to many youth oriented programs. These programs like Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and YMCA do much to help keep the young people active in worthwhile activities. These are character building programs and many of our present community leaders are products of UNITED WAY funded organizations.

To support these and other fine groups, requires many dollars and lots of adult time and effort. Most of us claim we're too busy to help. But at least you can put some dollars to work and keep these programs alive.

It's really surprising how little money each of us needs to give. Just one hour's pay for each month - figure it out - it's really a very small amount but oh, it's so important. One hundred per cent achievement of our goal represents real pride in Big Spring. Won't you show your pride and make the UNITED WAY work for all of us. Call 75201 and get on the "UNITED WAY BAND WAGON." You'll feel better to be a part of the program - but you'd better HUSTLE! HUSTLE! HUSTLE!
