GOP Pledges Tax Cut In Draft Of Party Platform

REPAVING TWENTY-SIXTH STREET—One of Snyder's most urgent street paving jobs has been started. It is repaving of Twenty-sixth St., from Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific tracks east to Avenue F. Workmen and machines are shown above tearing out the old pavement so that a new roadbed can be prepared for new curb-to curb paving. The project is being done with paving bond money voted early this year by Snyderites. The job should be completed in less than two weeks. (Lee Watson Photograph)

Traffic Signal Light System Bought Here

A contract for purchase of a traffic signal light synchronization system was made by the city council last night with Cummings Supply Co. of Abilene on the low bid submitted for the project.

In the special meeting the council also studied the proposed city budget for the next fiscal year, which will begin Oct. 1. Public hearing on the budget has been set for Sept. 10.

The traffic signal controller system includes a master control unit and individual control units for the lights and inter-connecting cable. With the new system the city will be able to synchronize the lights so that traffic can move through town without stopping, and so that all nine lights in the system can be turned red in all directions when fire fighting equipment is making an emergency run. Cost of the lighting equipment will be $4,990.75. City employes will install the system.

Appointment of Forest G. Sears, former mayor, to serve out the unexpired term of R. A. (Skeet) Schooling on the board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District was made by the council.

Sears will serve until May of next year, when Schooling's term would have ended. Schooling resigned from the board of directors to accept a position as superintendent of Lake J. B. Thomas, which is operated by the CRMWD.

Other members of the CRMWD board from Snyder are W. J. Ely, Lyle Deffebach, and James Rosser.

Final estimate was approved on the water system extension contract with the Charles Ramsey Co. Ramsey Co. installed 6,519 feet of 10-inch pipe, 3,904 feet of six-inch pipe, 109 feet of two and one-fourth inch pipe, and 2,760 feet of 12-inch pipe for a fotal cost of $50,964.73.

Purchase of a carload, 7,800 linear feet, of two and one-fourth cast iron water pipe for a cost of $.6819 per foot was approved by the council. Low bid on the pipe was accepted from the Rohan Co., Waco.

Other bidders were Morrison Supply Co., Viking Supply Co., and McWane Pipe Co.

The pipe will be used to supplement the present water system and to replace smaller pipe which has been overloaded by continued addition of consumers.

"As many as 14 residences are now tied to three-fourths inch distribution line in some parts of town," Roy Dunlap, city manager, said.

Land Bought Near Field

The county commissioners court yesterday purchased slightly more than 16 acres of right-of-way north of Winston Field, the county airport.

The right-of-way will not have any construction on it, and its purchase was for clearance purposes only, to keep the approach to the present north-south runway clear of obstructions. The purchase price was $250 per acre.

The property is 500 feet wide and about 1,600 feet long. It is across the road north of the airport and was owned by Carroll Moore. The court made the agreement that the land could be grazed or farmed as long as Moore or his wife live, but nothing can be constructed on the property.

No recent progress was reported on the new east-west runway to be built at the field, authorized in a bond issue several weeks ago. Engineering work has been in progress for some time on that project, but no additional land has been purchased for the extra runway.

Dallas Polio Fatality

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Bruce McIver, 30, died yesterday, the first Dallas polio fatality this year. Her husband is director of the student work department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Support In Suez Sought By West

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three made a concentrated drive for Asian and Middle Eastern support of their proposal for international operation of the Suez Canal today, but India's V. K. Krishna Menon warned that Egypt would reject the plan.

Menon, who visited President Nasser in Cairo before coming to the conference, told a press conference the Western plan was "entirely impracticable."

The Indian envoy yesterday put a compromise proposal before the 22-nation conference called to deal with the Suez dispute. The Indian plan would give Egypt full control of the 103-mile waterway, with an international body to act only in a consultative and advisory capacity.

Menon said the plan presented by Secretary of State Dulles — for an international board to operate the canal with Egyptian participation—in effect would internationalize the present canal company. Nasser announced July 26 Egypt had nationalized the canal company.

An authoritative Egyptian source in London declined comment on the U. S. and Indian plans. But he said Egypt is satisfied "the British and French are having second thoughts about the use o. force."

In Cairo, however, the authoritative newspaper Al Akhbar said India's proposals were generally acceptable to Egypt. The paper gave a chilly reception to the U.S. plan.

Menon said he understood Egypt would accept internationaization of the Suez only if all the world's major international waterways were to be included in a general scheme of multination control.

Otherwise, he added, Egypt may well ask: "Why pick on us?"

The reply of the British, French and Americans was to arrange separate talks today with almost every Asian and Middle Eastern delegation chief at the conference. British Prime Minister Eden invited Menon to lunch.

An authorative British source said there was virtually no hope of a compromise between the Western and Indian proposals. But Aklalov Habtewold, Ethiopia's foreigh minister, disclosed that, with the support of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, an effort would be made to amend the Western proposals.

The amendment, he said, "will not change their character, but will make them more approachable to the Indian draft and more acceptable to Egypt."

Russia, Indonesia and Ceylon appeared certain to side with India in opposition to the Western plan. But Western diplomats were guardedly optimistic that at least 16 nations attending the conference would support the plan presented by Dulles.

State Soldier Is Back From Soviet Zone

BERLIN (AP) — The U.S. Army said today Pvt. Philip E. Morand, 42, of Dallas, Tex., appears to be in good health after a stay of nearly eight years in Communist territory.

A spokesman said Morand is nevertheless undergoing a physical examination at the local Army hospital.

"According to preliminary medical reports, Morand appears to be in good health," the spokesman said. "He is to be transferred to the guardhouse as soon as the examination is over."

Morand will remain in the guardhouse while the Army decides whether he should be court-martialed on desertion charges.

He surrendered to local authorities last week, after having been absent from his post in Linz, Austria, since Nov. 3, 1948. He said he had spent the years in the Soviet zone of Austria, Communist Hungary, and Communist East Germany.

He told Army authorities he has no next of kin, but that he lived at 1323 Michigan Avd., Dallas, before enlisting in the Army in May of 1948. He said his former wife lived at 6227 Belmont Ave., Dallas.

Adlai Attacks Langlie's Talk

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson today accused Republican Keynoter Gov. Arthur Langlie of having "shamelessly confused facts and falsehoods" in his address to the GOP National Convention last hight.

The Democratic presidential nominee called the Washington State Republican governor's address "another example of the administration's smug, self-righteous complacency."

He said Gov. Langlie accused him in 1952 of having run up a large deficit in Illinois when he actually "left the state with a large treasury balance" without raising general revenue taxes.

"I recall no apology from the gentleman and last night's performance did not enhance my respect for his accuracy."

Ike Heading For Frisco

WASHINGTON (AP)—A beaming President Eisenhower headed today for San Francisco where the Republican National Convention eagerly waited to nominate him for a second term.

An overnight rain had let up but the skies were overcast as Eisenhower took off at 12:16 p.m. aboard his private plane Columbine III.

There was no indication whether he would have something to say publicly or privately about the question of a running mate.

Whatever role the President may take in filling the No. 2 spot however, all signs pointed to the convention renominating Vice President Nixon.

Eisenhower smiled happily as he arrived at the military terminal at Washington National Airport.

He picked up each of his four grandchildren and kissed them goodby. To grandson David, he said, "Hey, where did you get that sweater?" It was bright red.

Eisenhower was described by his personal physician Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, as feeling "on top of the world."

Eisenhower was dressed in a brown suit and tie. Mrs. Eisenhower was entirely in gray.

The presidential party left the White House in a cavalcade to the applause of about 150 tourists who had waited at the southwest gate.

He waved and smiled from the car as onlookers yelled "Goodby Ike," and "Here we go, Ike."

Traffic in both directions had been halted by police all the way from the White House, down Constitution Ave., across Memorial Bridge and thence along the Mt. Vernon Parkway to the airport.

At each corner a small crowd had collected and halted motorists stepped out of cars to watch and wave.

Soviet Aims Said Same

DALLAS, Aug. 21 (AP)—The president of the American Bar Assn. today said the Russians may be wearing a new mask but their aims are the same as always.

Smythe Gambrell of Atlanta, who returned last week from a tour of Russia, arrived last night for conferences preceding the annual meeting of the American Bar Assn., which opens Aug. 27.

Gambrell and a group of other attorneys spent several weeks in Russia to analyze the system of law and general governmental operations of the Soviets.

"The Russians use different strategy now because they have more enemies than friends," he said.

He said the new Communist approach is "more menacing than ever," and he warned against a letdown in this country's vigilance.

FIREMEN TOUCH OFF FIRE HERE

Firemen were called out about 11:30 o'clock this morning, not to fight a fire but to start one. Operators of Jones Drive-In Grocery on the Lamesa highway in west Snyder saw a rattle snake run in a patch of weeds near the grocery, and called the fire department to come to the rescue.

Rather than wade into the weed patch to rout the snake, firemen set fire to it.

"We never saw the snake, but we are pretty sure he left the vicinity," D. A. Porter, fire chief, said.

The fire truck stood by until the fire went out.

GOP Urged To Get Congress Control

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Republicans were summoned today to "work and fight" to regain control of Congress and "eliminate the political opposition that has prevented the drama of Republican progress from being played to the fullest."

That call to battle was sounded by House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts in a speech prepared for his installation late today as permanent chairman of the GOP National Convention.

"The setback suffered in 1954 when the control of Congress slipped from our hands will not happen again," Martin said.

"Never again must we allow complacency to become the plague of our political faith."

Martin, who was speaker of the House when the GOP held a majority there is 1947-1948 and 1953-1954, said Ameriea needs a Republican Congress "just as it must have and is going to have a Republican president and vice president for the next four years."

The Massachusetts Republican, presiding over his fifth party convention, predicted that "millions of Democrat and independent voters" would join with the GOP this fall and "share with us in this election victory in 1956."

Martin dwelt at length on what he said were the accomplishments of the Republicans in the fields of "peace, progress and prosperity" since the Eisenhower administration took office in 1953.

At no point did he directly mention the Democratic party, but he said that "for many years prior to our victory in 1952, we struggled as a minority party to overturn . . . those forces bent on creating an alien, socialist state in America."

"We halted state socialism," he declared. "We now have it on the run. We will keep it on the run."

Later in his speech, he said, "Few of you. . .want to return this nation to the leadership of the past that despoiled our heritage with the indelible stains of corruption and communism," adding:

"We do not want another taste of the raw deals."

Martin described the Republicans as "salesmen of the future."

"The product we must carry to each doorstep in the land is the finest that has never been created by a political party," he said.

"It is untarnished by failure. It shines with the bright record of one of the greatest men ever produced in this nation — Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Martin reminded the convention that Eisenhower has asked for a Republican Congress, and he added: "We must give it to him."

Hagerty Says Wait And See

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters today he still does not know whether President Eisenhower would have any announcement concerning the vice presidency on his arrival in San Francisco.

Hagerty advised newsmen to "Wait and see." That's what he is doing, Hagerty said.

Thus he disposed of a variety of reports from San Francisco, including stories that Eisenhower would have a news conference there this evening; that he would invite all vice prsidential aspirants who might want to challenge Vice President Nixon for the nomination to visit the presidential suite at the St. Francis Hotel; and that he would declare the No. 2 position open to any qualified Republican.

Pioneer Is Dead

ATLANTA (AP)—Butane gas pioneer M. J. LaDue, 65, died yesterday. He was founder and president of the Gas Equipment Supply Co. in Atlanta and the Gas Equipment Co. in Dallas.

Western Electric Talks Deadlocked

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators for the Western Electric Co. and the Communication Workers of America were deadlocked today over a new contract covering 18,000 telephone installation workers in 44 states.

A session ended last night with the next talk left subject to call by either side. Another meeting today was likely, although none was scheduled.

The possibility of a strike and disruption of long distance telephone service remained.

Joseph Dunne, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, said a walkout could occur at any time, at the discretion of the union's national office.

Unauthorized pickets appeared yesterday at Charlotte, N.C., and Greenville, S.C. Dunne said the picketing was premature and unauthorized, and added: "There has been no official call for a strike."

A one-year contract between the union and Western Electric, the manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone System, expired Saturay. A strike had been authorized by the union but the CWA agreed to work under terms of the expired contract as negotiations continued.

The CWA installers affected work in central telephone exchanges of the Bell System.

"We are very unhappy," Dunne said.

The company's attitude toward the latest snag was:

"We are still hopeful agreement can be reached by continued bargaining, considering the progress that has been made in the last three or four days."

Dunne said the union was reluctant to call a strike and make 200,000 workers idle. His figure was based on the assumption that CWA picket lines would be respected by other telephone workers.

Both company and union negotiators modified wage proposals yesterday.

Dunne said the union cut its wage increase demand from 18 cents an hour to 15.

A Western Electric spokesman would only report a company "counteroffer."

Dunne said company negotiators had suggested an "average" increase—as contrasted to the union's demand for an across-the-board increase—of 7.7 cents an hour.

A union spokesman said the company's new offer, ranging from 6 to 9 cents an hour, was 0.7 cent more than the company's original offer.

Dunne said "the proposal is absolutely and totally unacceptable."

He said present hourly wages rise automatically over 5½ years from $1.38 to $2.26, with contract merit raises up to $2.70.

The union is demanding also a union shop, hospitalization benefits, longer vacations and elimination of geographical wage differentials which give workers in the North 12 cents more an hour than those in the South.

Sound Tax Plan Asked

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Republicans held out to the nation's voters today a campaign pledge to cut taxes for low and middle income families and for small independent businesses.

The promise was contained in the completed draft of the GOP platform expected to be approved by the party's convention today.

The draft pledged continued efforts to reduce government expenditures, to balance the budget and to reduce the national debt. It then said that — consistent with these primary aims—taxes should be cut "with particular consideration for low and middle income families."

It promised continued study to correct tax inequities and to initate "a sound policy of tax reductions" to encourage small independent business.

In saying they were for a tax cut, the Republicans never said how it should be accomplished. They did not get as specific as the Democratic pledge at their Chicago convention last week to raise the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800.

The proposed GOP platform cautioned that government economy, no matter how desirable, should not come at the price of a weakened national defense. On the question of defense it pledged to "maintain and improve" America's air, sea and land power.

Release of the full platform text today—minus the preamble which platform committee Chairman Prescott Bush, senator from Connecticut, is holding up until he reads it at the convention—also revealed the GOP position on government integrity, national resources and atomic energy.

Planks on foreign policy, labor, agriculture and civil rights were previously released.

The civil rights plank achieved a compromise that left both North and South not completely satisfied but confident they had a party declaration they "can live with." On this point, the platform promised continued federal, state and local efforts to end racial discrimination.

Republican platform drafters avoided, as did the Democrats, charting much new ground on the racial problem.

Support was expressed for the Supreme Court decision which outlawed segregation by race in the public schools. But nothing concrete was stated in the way of how the court decision is to be enforced.

The GOP plank said all branches of the federal government should lend their support "in every legal manner" to see that racial equality will be "steadily achieved." The Democratic platform had similarly stated that ending racial discrimination is a federal, as well as state and local, responsibility.

The Republican farm plank declared that farmers have confidence in President Eisenhower and his agricultural policies. The platform made clear the GOP will bid for farm votes this year on a promise to continue and expand present Eisenhower administration farm policies and to reduce government controls.

There was some grumbling among delegates that the GOP civil rights plank went "to far" toward one side or the other in the North-South controversy. But nobody appeared too mad over the compromise language.

The GOP plank expressed agreement with the Supreme Court that school desegregation should be accomplished with "all deliberate speed" and added:

"We believe that true progress can be attained through intelligent study, understanding, education and good will."

Water Given Attention In Dallas Meet

DALLAS (AP)—The water problem is getting its share of attention at the annual meeting of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws here this week.

Chairman Joe Barrett of the Water Conservation Committee, said his group is drafting a uniform water-usage law for all states. He said such a law could provide long-range benefits for the drought-stricken Southwest by keeping its underground water supply built up through proper use and conservation.

He said research figures show a great drop in the Southwest's underground water storage, a decline that will continue unless conservation methods are employed.

"This underground water is being mined out faster than nature can replenish it for supplemental irrigation and municipal use," he said.

Barrett, an attorney from Jonesboro, Ark., said the purpose of the law his group is trying to draft is "to reach some means by which available water supplies may be put to the best economic use." He said the law primarily would set up a balance between agricultural, municipal, industrial and recreational use.

He said the law may include some limitation methods on underground usage with provision for replenishing this source since there is a dangerous diminishing of underground water supplies.

OLD NORTH WIND HAS COLD BREATH

The first "norther" of the season continued its assault on the mercury last night when a chilly 56 degrees was logged for the minimum temperature.

Brisk north winds endured late Monday, but unlike Sunday night, there was no cloud cover to cushion the blast.

Monday's high reading was 88 degrees, and the thermometer was expected to inch upward another notch today as the cool spell moved southward.

Plan To Seat Liberal Demos Formed In District Caucus

SWEETWATER—A plan for securing seats for liberal Democratic delegates from contested counties was formulated in a caucus of delegates from the 24th Senatorial district held last night in Sweetwater.

The caucus was composed of 32 delegates from the 13 counties in the 24th Senatorial district of Texas.

Purpose of the caucus was to devise a plan to prevent what the caucusers termed an attempt by conservatives to make a "big steal" of the convention which is to be held in Fort Worth Sept. 11.

The convention will be held to choose a new State Democratic Executive Committee.

The plan devised in last night's caucus calls for the 24th district to send an advance party to Fort Worth the week prior to the convention and set up a headquarters to learn plans of cetion of the present executive committee and the convention's credentials committee, which rules on seating of disputed delegations.

Robert R. Patterson, Snyder, representative to the state legislature from the 90th Legislative District, was elected by the caucussers to head the advance party to Fort Worth.

Patterson is to go to Fort Worth five days before the convention. Two delegates from each county in the district are to join Patterson at least two days prior to the convention which will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 11.

Delegates to the Sweetwater caucus from Scurry County last night were Patterson, Frank A. Wilson, county Democratic chairman, Lee Watson and Ray Houpt, delegates to the state convention.

Dallas Perkins, Abilene, organization chairman for the 24th district, presided at last night's meeting.

The caucussers adopted unanimously an almost verbatim resolution from the Scurry County convention which calls for the governor-elect, state executive committee, and credentials committee to seat the duly elected delegates from the various counties. A disputed delegation from Nolan County resulted from a rump convention which broke away from the county Democratic convention held on primary election day.

Motion to send an advance party to Fort Worth was made by Johnny Ammons, Roby, and was seconded by Jess Sorrells, Abilene.

Delegates were present from all but three counties in the 24th senitorial district.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Flowing Strike, Finals In Garza

A rank wildcat in South Garza County has been completed as a flowing discovery from the middle Strawn lime.

The new field opener, Neville G. Penrose of Fort Worth and R. S. (Dick) Anderson of Midland, No. 1-X Miller, was finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 326 barrels of 37 gravity oil, through a 24-inch choke and perforations from 7,616 to 7,624 feet. Completion was natural.

Gas-oil ratio was 600-1 and tubing pressure 175 pounds.

A failure in the Ellenburger, No. 1-X Miller also developed flowing oil from a section in the lower Strawn. That possible producing zone will remain closed off for the time being.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 39, block 6, H&GN survey, three miles west of Justiceburg.

Woods Petroleum Corp. of Oklahoma City has announced drillsite for a 7,750-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat in South Kent County.

Proposed Platform Of GOP

By OVID A. MARTIN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Here are the highlights of the 1956 platform as proposed to the Republican National Convention:

TAXATION AND FISCAL POLICY—Pledged tax reductions insofar as they are consistent with a balanced federal budget. Special attention would be given small and middle income families and small independent enterprises.

It promised further reductions in government spending, maintenance of a "sound" dollar and an "atmosphere" that would be conducive to business expansion. It also pledged aid in developing a safer aviation industry and sponsorship of a modenrized merchant marine fleet.

It pledged "improvement" of present government efforts to aid small business—expanded participation in government buying programs, loans and "reasonable" rates, additional technical research and changes in antitrust laws to facilitate their enforcement.

LABOR — Promised a revision and improvement of the controversial Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act, and an extension of the federal prevailing minimum wage law.

It said the Eisenhower administration has enforced "more vigorously and effictively than ever before" the laws which protect working standards.

HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE—Promised to support with "vigorous action" programs designed to promote the physical, mental and spiritual welfare of the people. It promised to make new efforts to enact a federal assistance program for schools.

The party said it will seek extension and perfection of a "sound" Social Security system and continue to support housing programs.

AGRICULTURE — It endorsed Eisenhower administration farm programs featuring flexible price supports and a soil bank program to reduce production of surplus crops. It promised to work toward "full freedom instead of toward more regimentation, developing voluntary rather than oppressive farm programs."

As in 1952, the party set as its goal "full parity" for agriculture in the market place rather than in the form of government subsidies.

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS —Promised a more efficient government and the maintenance of an employe security program that would assure that government workers are of unquestioned loyalty and trustworthiness.

It promised further efforts to get government out of business, to improve the postal service and the "nonpolitical" Civil Service system. Immediate statehood for Alaska and Hawaii was pledged. Self-government, national suffrage and representation in Congress were favored for the District of Columbia.

CIVIL RIGHTS — The Party "accepted" the Supreme Court decision banning racial segregation in public schools and concurred with the court's conclusion that its ruling should be accomplished with "all deliberate speed" through local federal courts.

It opposed use of force or violence by any group or agency to carry out desegregation, but called for use of "every legal means" by all branches of the government to end discrimination.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—Called for continuance of the collective security system as a basis for U.S. foreign policy. In the Near East, it favored a policy of "impartial friendship" for the Arab states and Israel. But it expressed determination to maintain Israel as a free state.

The platform claimed the Eisenhower administration and advanced the cause of peace through its military and economic aid to friendly countries and by stands taken by the President at the Geneva Big Four conference. It said Soviet Russia now recognizes that the United States is dedicated to peace, but that it will not try to "purchase it at the price of freedom."

DEFENSE — Pledged to maintain a strong military establishment so long as U. S. security and the peace of the world require it. It declared the United States has the strongest striking force in the world.

RESOURCES—Expressed pride in the administration programs for conserving natural resources, and endorsed the Eisenhower policy of developing them in partnership with private interests.

ATOMIC ENERGY — Pledged "continuous, vigorous" development of atomic energy both for defense and peaceful uses. It said that until the Republican came into power, a "stalemate" existed and only an arms race with the prospect of eventual catastrophe faced the world.

Suez Talks Give Cooling Off Time

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Surface indications are that the 22-nation conference on the Suez Canal crisis already is a failure. But it has not been a total loss. Most likely it is just the forerunner of more conferences to come.

In this respect, the conference has contributed something valuable. It has provided a cooling off period and a situation which still could lead to highly unpleasant consequences in the Middle East.

The United States, speaking for the Western Big Three, has presented one plan for the future of the lifeline waterway. India representing the neutralist voices of the cold war, has presented another. Before the conference is over, new refinements may be added.

There is no question but that Egypt will reject the Western for a Suez Canal Board which in effect would internationalize the company. Egypt might be persuaded to accept an Indian proposal given Egypt full control over the 103-mile canal, with an international body serving only in advisory or consultative capacity. In displaying a favorable attitude toward the Indian proposal, Egypt has acknowledged the vital international interests in the canal.

But the conference was carried out without the participation of Egypt, and it was thus foredoomed to general failure. There is hardly any authority in international law for a decision on the future of territory of a sovereign state.

If there is any winner in the conference thus far, it is the Soviet Union, by a slight margin. But even the Soviet Union has its problems in this respect. It is being cautions.

The Soviet Union supports the idea of a new conference of all nations involved, including all the Communist nations, all the Arab nations of the Middle East, and Egypt herself. The wily Soviet foreign minister, Dmitri Shepilov, is now in a position to claim victory no matter what the result of this meeting. If it results in a broader conference, that was the original Soviet proposal. If it results in a majority resolution begging Egypt to accept internationalization, the Russians can say this was dictated to an automatic majority by the "imperialists" of the United States and Britain. The Russians have already made it plain they think this conference can take no legal decisions.

But the Soviet problem is not a simple one. At this moment the Russians do not want — and cannot afford — a new open break with the United States, and thus Shepilov and the Soviet press have avoided attacking the United States directly in the controversy.

The Russians apparently have taken note of the ugly prospects for them in the Middle East of an explosion which could hardly be confined to that area of the world. They seem to recognize that the United States must stand by its Allies in the West. Thus the Russians are making cautions, anticolonial capital of the situation while attempting to keep it within safe bounds.

Water Rate Report To Be Given Tuesday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal water District have been called for a special meeting in Big Spring Thursday to receive a water rate report.

R. T. Piner, Big Spring, president of the district, said that the meeting had been called for 12 noon at the Settles Hotel. It will be preceded at 10 a.m. by a meeting of the Water Rate committee headed by J. L. Rhoades of Odessa and with Willard Sullivan of Big Spring and Lyle Deffebach of Snyder as other members.

Under terms of the indenture, the pattern of rate making by the district will change on Jan. 1, 1957, E. V. Spence, general manager, said that some member cities had requested as early action on the proposed schedule as soon as possible in order to help them with financing and planning of internal affairs.

Slaying Is Linked With Acid Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—The district attorney's office today linked a 23-year-old truck loader, charged with homicide in a fatal barroom stabbing, with the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

At the arraignment of Hugh Francis Drescher, Asst. Dist. Atty. Carl Vergari asserted "this charge is connected with the Victor Riesel case and the recent homicide of Abe Telvi."

He made the statement but did not elaborate during an argument over a date for further hearing for Drescher, who surrendered yesterday. Drescher was charged with the fatal stabbing of Benjamin Weinberg, 45, last Jan. 14.

Drescher also had been wanted for questioning in the killing of truck driver Fred Mischner last Saturday.

Both Drescher and Mischner were pals of the 22-year-old Telvi, who, the FBI said, hurled the acid into Riesel's face last April and then was killed because some acid thrown at Riesel's face splashed on Telvi's face, scarring him and making him suspect.

In an effort to confirm the FBI assertion that Telvi was scarred by acid, the district attorney's office was preparing to obtain a court order to exhume Telvi's body.

When the FBI announced that Telvi was Risesel's assailent they also announced the arrest of Joseph P. Carlino, 43, who they said arranged for Telvi to hurl the acid at Riesel to prevent the newsman from testifying before federal grand jury about labor racketeering.

Also arrested was Gondolfo Miranti, 37. The FBI said Miranti shadowed Riesel and pointed him out to Telvi.

Four others were arrested as material witness. These included George and Della Moore of Youngstown, Ohio, who allegedly hid Telvi at their home after the acid throwing and before he returned to New York and was shot to death.

The Moores, held in $50,000 bail each, were brought here today and taken to the U. S. attorney's office for questioning.

Drescher gave himself up yesterday after a detective went to the home of a cousin of Drescher's in Keansburg, N. J., on Sunday and told the cousin "let him surrender before he winds up in the morgue."

J. RAY MARTIN
A Seasoned Lawyer Who Knows Both Sides

... FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

J. RAY MARTIN is a 36-year-old native Texan and veteran making his first request for public service, as your District Attorney, after his opponent has had two terms of one good job and now seeks to stay on the public payroll four more years. A regular change of elected officials serves the public interest best. J. RAY MARTIN is qualified by experience in Snyder and by education at North Texas State College and Columbia University. He can, and he will, serve you well.

J. RAY MARTIN has never set his eye on, coveted, or sought political backing for the office of District Judge; nor has he sought to "promote" himself into the job of any official whose trust and confidence he enjoyed and professed to "help" with advice and assistance. As your District Attorney, J. RAY MARTIN will not seek to run anybody's office, except his own—through the Grand Jury, or otherwise. J. RAY MARTIN shoots square with everyone, in the courtroom and out.

J. RAY MARTIN is the only candidate who has been FOR: "Liberty and Justice Equally Under the Law." He will respect the rights and dignity of every citizen in court. Every experienced lawyer knows that many defendants are ignorant of their rights in court, or do not have funds to hire a lawyer—so they plead "guilty." J. RAY MARTIN will not abuse the powers of his office to oppress such persons so that he may build a lop-sided record of convictions for political self-promotion.

WITH THOSE WHOSE BUSINESS IT IS TO KNOW AND BE INFORMED ABOUT THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE IN OUR DISTRICT COURT, MORE AND MORE PEOPLE ARE SAYING EVERY DAY—

The New Stevenson

When Adlai Stevenson took Florida away from Estes Kefauver by none too convincing a margin in the primary it was a do-or-die turning point in his drive for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination. When he overwhelmed Kefauver with an avalanche of votes in California he was "in."

Until that moment a great many Democrats, and particularly the top-flight leaders of the party, had doubts about Adlai's vote-getting ability. The people were seeing a new Adlai, an Adlai not afraid to mix it with all comers, to get out and glad-hand one and all and appear to be having the time of his life doing it.

From that moment there could be hardly any doubt about the outcome at Chicago. Even the Stevenson luck was on the mend, for Harry Truman's extraordinary conduct at Chicago accomplished something of incalculable value to Adlai Stevenson—it destroyed any chance the GOP might have to "run" Truman and the Truman administration again, just as the Democrats had "run" Hoover time after time.

Stevenson's unprecedented gesture of throwing the vice presidential nomination wide open, and the connotations it bore, was a strategic masterstroke. The vice presidency, he said, had become an office of such vital importance that only the people who chose the presidential nominee himself should make the choice of his runningmate. His seemingly casual reference to the fact that one vice president in five had been called on to take over the reins of government carried its own commentary. No more was said or needed to be said.

His enemies accuse him of adapting President Eisenhower's policy of "moderation" to his own needs. If so, time about is fair play; Mr. Eisenhower's Republican foes accused him of taking over the Democratic program almost literally.

In any case, moderation and party unity swept the boards. Perhaps people are tired of violent argument and vituperative forensics. If the 1956 campaign is to be a contest of the soft impeachment and the down-played billingsgate, Adlai Stevenson will be able to hold his own.

Even his sense of humor, which was derided in 1952, may come in handy this year. A people in the mood for moderation may find it charming and relaxing.

Faster Proceedings

The nominating speeches at Chicago had run for hours on end, so that when the calling of the roll to see how the delegations stood on the presidential nomination began it was almost an anti-climax.

The roll-call was finished in thirty minutes, a refreshing contrast to the 1952 performance of both parties. This extraordinary performance was the result of careful plans rigorously adhered to. Heretofore a single delegation, when that state's name was called, could stall the proceedings almost indefinitely while disputing delegates wrangled among themselves over no more, perhaps, than half a vote. All the limelight boys wanted to get into the act, and they usually did.

This time the rules provided that when there was any dispute inside a state delegation when its name was called, the state was passed over for the moment and a representative of the permanent chairman was sent out to arbitrate the dispute, or at least await a final decision within the delegation.

Only one state gave any trouble, Idaho. There was a loud objection when the chairman of the delegation announced the vote, and Idaho was passed for the time being without delay. What the row was about nobody outside the delegation knew, or cared. Under the old rules it might have tied down the convention several minutes while the delegation was polled individually.

Many of the state chairmen simply announced the vote without comment. Others wanted to get in a plug for the wonders and glories of their state, and did so. Under the old rules, it was possible for a delegation chairman to make a regular speech by way of displaying his oratorial prowess and praising his delegation's choice.

Nominating and seconding speeches could be reduced without impairing the processes of democracy in the slightest degree. There were nine nominations, each with its supporting seconds, at Chicago.

Truman Sticks To Role Of Politician, And His Power In Party Dims Rapidly

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Insofar as there is anything mysterious about Mr. Truman at the Chicago convention it is because we think of him as a former President of the United States, who stands in a high place, and who has reached an age where he is himself no longer ambitious for power. The fact of the matter is that the image of the ex-President doesn't fit Mr. Truman. He came to Chicago to seize control of the machinery of the Democratic party and to make himself the top political boss. He lost his control of the party when Stevenson was nominated in 1952, and what he tried was bold and ruthless attemp to recover that control.

Mr. Truman himself warned us some little time before the convention that he was not an elder statesman, a role which he regards with contempt, but a practical politician. Nobody quite believed him. There is an aura which clings to men who have been President of the United States. None of us can ever ignore it, and Mr. Truman's remarks were taken to be more evidence of his modesty, his homespun, folksy, whimsical and charming earthiness. His words were in fact literally true. Forget that he has been President of the United States. Forget that he has had every honor that his party can bestow upon him. Forget that he is 72 years old. What remains is the normal professional politician who would rather control the party machinery, though he loses the election, than win the election under a candidate who will deprive him of his control of the party machinery.

In this role, that of a political boss fighting for the control of his party, Mr. Truman's behavior in Chicago was standard practice and quite normal. His main objective has not been to nominate Harriman, or to show the Democrats how to win the election. His main objective has been to stop and to destroy Stevenson. Why? Because Stevenson is at the head of a new generation of Democratic leaders, of the young governors and the young legislators, who are now taking over the Democratic party. The nomination of Stevenson will mark the end of Truman's power, as distinguished from his influence, in the affairs of the Democratic party.

The argument that he has used against Stevenson is that he does not think Stevenson can win against Eisenhower. This is the most deadly argument that can be used in a political convention. In 1952 it was the argument that destroyed Taft in the contest with Eisenhower. But to be deadly, it must be used on behalf of a candidate, such as Eisenhower in 1952, who is unquestionably stronger than his rival. Otherwise it is a mere device, and that is what it was when used by Truman against Stevenson in behalf of Harriman. For awhile it may be very doubtful whether anyone can defeat Eisenhower, there is no objective evidence of any kind to indicate that Harriman is as strong a national candidate as is Stevenson. Indeed there is every reason to believe that Harriman would divide the regular Democrats and do nothing to win back, much to repel, the Democrats who voted for Eisenhower.

• • •

The outstanding fact of the Harriman candidacy was that it has no life of its own, has never been tested outside of New York, and depended upon the political power that Mr. Truman could exert. When a professional politician like Mr. Truman backs a weak candidacy, which has never been put to any popular test, it is a sure sign that he is more interested in who controls the party than he is in who wins the election.

• • •

At this writing there is good reason to think that Mr. Truman has failed and that the control of the Democratic party will pass to the new generation under Stevenson's leadership. Both American parties are coalitions, and in the Democratic party the coalition of the new generation was hammered out discussions, ostensibly about the platform, but really about how the political leaders of the new South, with its industrial expansio are to live and work with the political leaders of the North, with its mounting urbanization.

Hollywood Today

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Women with too large bosoms, including Anita Ekberg and myself, look too matronly, we don't look well in clothes."

Marie Windsor matter-of-factly dropped this heretical bombshell the other day in this capital of reverence for the bountiful bosom.

The scene: An "ad art" session in a photo studio. I'd dropped in to see how they get those sexy, sensational shots of lovers clinching, murderers waving daggers, etc., that urge you from the movie pages to rush to the nearest theater for something!—Stupendous!!

"Left three-quarters," Lex Barker was instructing the photographer, simultaneously swiveling his rugged profile for such an almost full-face exposure, which he obviously considered his best angle.

I asked Miss Windsor, awaiting her turn at the camera, what she usually thinks when she sees her lovely likeness on a movie page.

"I usually check my nose," she said, explaining that too much profile exposes a bump on it which I hadn't noticed. "Then my bosom and whether I held my stomach in. After that I read the caption."

Bosom? What's wrong with it? I inquired alertly, and Marie dropped her bombshell. It's not that her 38-inch chest is, per se, objectionable, she explained, but that her 34-inch "rib cage"—the anatomy between bosom and waist—makes it seem unduly prominent. "Most women with a 38 bosom have a 36 rib cage," she added. "I've considered wearing false rib cages."

Lex, between poses, told me actors "hate" these still sessions. "They're long and dull and boring. Lana feels the same way," added Barker the husband of Lana Turner.

Marie said, "I don't mind them too much because you're allowed to offer your own ideas for poses. When I was a fashion model they said, 'just sit. We'll do the thinking.'"

Anne Bancroft dissented: "I used to be a model, too. I became an actress to get away from this." She complained too that some shots are irrelevent: "Once Victor Mature had to carry me in his arms, with the bosom of my dress torn. It had nothing to do with the story."

Juryman Makes Long Walk All For Nothing

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—A 40-year-old lawn worker and ex-marine twice walked 22 miles at a clip one week to fulfill his obligations as a juryman.

Russell S. Bradbury arranged for rides from his home in Gulfport to this county seat when called for jury duty. Two nights he could not get rides back home and walked the 22 miles to Gulfport, taking about seven hours each time.

After all his faithful attendance in court, Bradbury was dismissed at the end of the week without having been chosen to serve on a single jury.

Foreign Dignitaries Show Enthusiasm For Democratic Party In United States

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

SAN FRANCISCO — Back in Chicago at the Democratic Convention, I never did find out exactly how many foreign dignitaries were guests of the "people's party" in America — but there were plenty.

One list, put out by the Democratic National Committee publicity division, rather astonishingly included the name of G. L. Mehta, Ambassador of India, as a "Democratic notable." There were quite a few others, mostly British and West Europeans, and many didn't hesitate to say that they were for practically any Democrat and dead against a Republican ticket of Eisenhower and Nixon.

It's a free country, and one of the advantages of freedom in this case is that the American people get to know their political parties as others see them. The "world" undoubtedly has joined the Democrats. When the Democratic keynoter, Governor Frank Clement of Tennessee, kept self-praising the "people's party," this meant to many foreigners a global free-for-all fraternity. They know the Democrats to be the party of lend-lease, international alliances, foreign aid and even World Statism.

India is a Democratic State, even if Indiana is not. Old England will never desert the memory of FDR, even if New England goes for Ike. West Europe will never forget, as much as the Western States would like to, that a Democrat once said the Rhine River is America's eastern frontier.

Oddly, the foreigners who make free within our party system don't like us to mess around theirs. Earlier this summer there was a New York Times story by Felix Belair out of Oslo, Norway, telling how an American official hit a cold front of unwelcome when he tried to visit a political convention of Norsemen. All you can say is that most of our allies, even in Europe, are still "backward nations" in matters of political freedoms, and that the bowing down we still do to the Old World is a colonial attitude that lingers in the strangest places.

The foreign delegation is automatically against the Republican party because of its alleged nationalism, which means that the GOP is too American for the "world." Alien visitors at Chicago told at least one reporter that they felt disturbed about the President's health, distrustful of the Vice President's latent isolationism and fearful that anybody else picked on the GOP ticket would be even more nationalistic than Richard Nixon. In short, the "world" is pretty testy toward the Republican party and we can expect to hear more about this overseas disapproval of Early Americanism before November.

Foreigners don't like Republicans, and it might be supposed that the Republican delegates gathered here would awaken to the fact that act accordingly. Some political precincts just don't respond to patronage, and so it seems to be abroad. The India to which the Republican Administration sent John Sherman Cooper, the Italy which got Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, the Iceland which got "protection" from Polar bandits, the Franch whose country American troops guarded while its army was off practicing imperialism in Indochina and North Africa — they're all going Democratic in 1956, despite all that a Republican Administration would do to hold them.

This ought to prove something to the GOP delegates assembled here, but I am not hopeful. If the delegates are of a mind to discover what political trends are among us, they need not even look abroad. Since the first of this year there has been a wholesale tumbling of home-grown liberalissimos. The internationalist Senator from Georgia, Walter George, has been handed his walking papers. The internationalist Senator from Wisconsin, Alexander Wiley, was rejected for renomination by the State Republican Convention. The liberalist Governor of Indiana, George Craig, was overthrown in an intra-Republican fracas by Senator William Jenner. Still more recently, the pro-Labor Governor of Kansas, Fred Hall, was defeated for renomination in a Republican primary.

This is the trend of the nation. It presents a strong likelihood that the American people are much more nationalistic than either party, although nearer the one which the foreigners don't like.

Republicans Discover That Eggheads Can Cast Ballots

By INEZ ROBB

SAN FRANCISCO — It is with the greatest effort at self-control that I forcibly prevent myself this day from writing "Eggheads of the nation, arise! You have only your yolks to lose!"

For the big political news here, as the Republicans assemble beside the Golden Gate (where else?), is that the egghead, at long last, is about to come into his own, even into a position of respect and influence in the GOP.

Only four years ago the word "egghead" was coined by the Republicans as a term of obliquy and scorn to describe the double-domes and space-thinkers attracted to the standard of Adlai Stevenson. And so sensitive were the Stevenson forces to ridicule on high-brow grounds that last week during the Democratic convention, the Stevenson brain trust deleted from the Stevenson campaign song the following line: "He's the egghead who brings home the bacon."

But now the GOP has organized an Eggheads for Eisenhower Committee, for the express purpose of committing larceny upon a one-despised Democratic stronghold.

"What has caused this about-face, this change of heart?" I asked at GOP headquarters today.

"We discovered that eggheads could vote," said a Republican spokesman. "And a vote for the GOP is a vote for the GOP. Furthermore, we learned that the Republican party is also tainted with egg-headism. So we have decided to make the best of the situation."

As a result, Helen Hayes, toast of Broadway, and Arthur Larson have been drafted to lead the GOP egghead movement. Mr. Larson is the measure of the extent to which the Grand Old Party is willing to go to woo the egghead vote.

Mr. Larson is not only an author, a highly suspicious circumstance in itself, but a Rhodes scholar, an honor which was formerly with subversion in parts of the Republican Midwest. However, Mr. Larson has proved his loyalty by writing an egghead book that will be a party manual for the 1956 campaign, a volume called "A Republican Looks at His Party." To put it bluntly, he looks upon it with favor.

With the Republicans courting the egghead and Adlai Stevenson once more destiny's tot on the Democratic side of the street, the egghead for the first time is in a position to sell his vote for a good price, possibly enough for a haircut. Four-to-five minute eggheads may even be able to boost the price to include a shave and a shine.

In 1952, the egghead had no place to go but Democratic or home. He was a sort of political D. P. But the sudden GOP discovery that eggheads enjoy the franchise, too, in 1956, give them a choice of nests.

Convention Won't Be Same Without Slogan Inventor

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Death has claimed "Slogan" Smythe, the only Republican in history who looked like two Democratic U.S. presidents.

Things won't be the same without him at the GOP convention in San Francisco next week.

J. Henry Smythe, who became America's first professional sloganeer (he coined 100,000 slogans), has been a leading figure—perhaps character is a better word — at Republican National Conventions for more than half a century.

As some men are fire buffs, Smythe, who never sought or held public office, became a political buff.

At his first Republican convention in 1904 he leaped to the platform during a lull and bellowed through a megaphone:

"Hurrah for Teddy Roosevelt."

The roar of applause that followed set fire to young Smythe's mild soul. He never again achieved the spotlight, but he could no more stay away from a Republican convention than a toper could turn away from a bottle.

Although ostensibly a publisher of children's books and a creator of trade mark names and advertising slogans, his real interests were in political conventions and, as he put it himself, "the promotion of patriotism."

One of his crusades that has so far failed: His attempt to get the Unkown Soldier named to the hall of fame.

But Smythe, who in middle age developed a passion to look like someone else (anyone who was famous), did achieve another goal after a friend remarked, "you look like Benjamin Franklin."

He got a number of governors to declare special days honoring Franklin and was instrumental in getting Franklin's profile on the half dollar.

A peculiar thing happened to Smythe in the 1940's. He began to look like Franklin D. Roosevelt. The resemblance was so striking at the 1948 GOP convention that many delegates did a startled double-take as Smythe went by. They thought "that man" was still haunting them.

Smythe, far from being annoyed, was flattered to be told he looked like FDR. Perhaps the only public figure in American history he did not want to look like was Aaron Burr.

A few months ago, thin and enfeebled from a long illness, he came into my office, turned his head sidewise and asked:

"Who do I look like now?"

I confessed I wasn't sure, and he said wistfully:

"Many people now tell me I look exactly like Woodrow Wilson."

And, by gosh, he did!

Smythe, a bachelor, died all alone in Bellevue Hospital this week, far from the convention excitement he loved.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Demo Committeewoman Active Wife And Mother

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Katie Louchheim, chairman of women's activities, Democratic National Committee, recently observed the 30th anniversary of her marriage to a man who doesn't gripe at a neglected hole in his sock, her extensive travels away from home or her consummate interest in politics.

"Home," Walter Louchheim, a successful financial consultant, says humorously, "is just an extension of the Democratic National Committee."

Louchheim has followed his wife's interest in politics which she began 15 years ago as a volunteer in the women's division of the committee during the second Roosevelt presidential campaign. He's vastly proud of her ability. Having a double career in the family has added interest and zest to their life.

The Louchheims live in a beautiful residence in historic Georgetown where they raised two daughters, Mary, who is now Mrs. Robert Coulson of New York, and Judith, who is an assistant teacher of the Buckingham School, Cambridge, Mass. The Coulsons have two children — Cotton, going on four and Diedre, born last December.

Katie and her husband share many interests, music and art among them. They used to play a lot of championship tennis, but now they get their exercise in long walks together — mornings to their adjacent offices, back home in the evenings and sometimes before retiring.

Katie, who is also Democratic National Committeewoman for the District of Columbia, says she expects to grab a few days' rest over the Labor Day weekend at the Louchheims' summer place on Cape Cod before plunging into the pre-election campaign.

"I regret I have only one wife to give to the Democratic Party," Walter Louchheim once quipped on winding up a speech at a dinner in his wife's honor.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE PAPER DOLLS. By Laura Beheler. Houghton Mifflin.

Sands Chutney, Agnes Eaves, Dan Davis are the young people Ida wants for friends.

As this first novel opens, she is a problem child with problem parents. William and Ella sometimes hide in their room, lock the door and fall into curious, disturbing silences; what is worse, they wrangle noisily and William, leaving Ella in tears, drives off in anger. They are object lessons for Ida; I will never let a boy make me cry, she promises Sands, Agnes and Dan, and I will never marry!

Ella confidently tells her she'll change her mind, and it is true that once in a while her pretending weakens and she is shocked out of her dreaming. She does in fact live somewhat in the real world, in school, with a girl Jo, with boys quandary of their mystifying teens. Her parents get a divorce and she stays with her mother. With the start of war a sailor, Allen Brady, takes her out in his car. He wants to marry her, and at moments day and night she needs him desperately; she follows him to New York, she meets other people, like Wally, who commands her: Marry, tear up those dolls, grow up!

The world of the flesh, of marriage and responsibility, of a shared and matured life, beckons to Ida. But she has created for herself another home, a make-believe would shared up invincibly by her wild childish fancies She is trapped in the prison of the too active mind and the too soaring imagination. This is a notable story of the play of a sinister force, an evil and malignant thing which, in reverse, can be salutary and beneficial.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY HAS done it again.

The 1956 Sooner football brochure is out and a quick glance at the coming schedule of the Sooners shows that, for the 'umpteenth' time in as many years, the Oklahomans have one of the nation's softest schedules among major col-lege teams.

Sports scribes from all over the United States have been rapping The Sooners for their weak schedules year after year but actually they have themselves to blame for it.

The Sooners, so long as they can keep their high rating in major college football weak schedule or no, will continue to line up breathers.

So, until the scribes stop recognizing those 50-0 wallopings OU hands "Poduncf University" or the like, you can look for the Sooners to come up with a soft schedule each year.

Only 2 Toughies On '56 Slate

It's true that the Sooners do line up a couple of powers each year but no more. If the Sooners can get by Notre Dame and Texas this year, they'll have another unbeaten season.

The other eight schools on the '56 Sooner slate do not stand a chance against the Sooners.

Only two schools on the Sooner schedule this fall, Notre Dame and Colorado, had better than a .500 season last year. Colorado just got over the mark with a 6-4 slate. Notre Dame had an 8-2 record.

Perhaps some of these teams will be stronger this fall but none are expected to be improved enough to take up the slack.

Two schools on the '56 schedule of the Sooners, Iowa State and Missouri, won only one game last fall and another, Oklahoma A&M, captured only two decisions. The '55 records for the other Sooner opponents this fall showed Texas with 5-5; Nebraska, 5-5; Kansas State, 4-6; Kansas, 3-6-1; and North Carolina with 3-7.

The total 1955 won-lost record of all 10 Sooner foes this season showed 38 wins against 59 defeats and two ties for a .394 percentage.

We'd be the last to say the Sooners aren't a powerhouse in football. But we think that a team should play a "representative" schedule before being recognized as the top team in the nation.

A team that plays a gruelling schedule where it has to be "fixed up" for each game is going to lose some games regardless of how strong it might be.

As we see it from here, Oklahoma will have to be "up" for only two games this fall, Notre Dame and Texas. The rest of the time the Sooners will be able to play under wraps.

Bud Hasn't Been Given 'Supreme' Test

Bud Wilkinson, Sooner coach, to be sure, is one of the country's top college coaches.

Actually, though, he hasn't been given a "supreme" test as a head coach. All of his head coaching days have been spent at Soonerland, he having coached the Sooners nine season.

Each year Bud has been at OU, the Sooners have had a schedule that resembles the '56 slate. In other words he was virtually assured of no worse than an 8-2 record before each season began.

As long as the Sooners are in the Big 7, they will never be able to get around their soft scheduling as six of their games each year are Big 7 affairs.

It's always good to win a game but it appears to us that the Sooner fans would get tired of going to games they know the opposition doesn't have a Chinaman's chance of winning.

If there be any Sooner exes or fans here, we don't expect you to agree with us. But, until someone proves otherwise, we'll have to continue our belief that the Sooners haven't "earned" their way to the top in the football world.

'Showdown' Tilt In City Loop Tonight

The "chips" will be on the line tonight when Snyder Furniture takes on Hermleigh in a City League contest at Towle Memorial Park.

Hermleigh, currently leading the league with a 6-1 record, can clinch both the Second Half and seasonal crown by winning tonight. Snyder Furniture owns a 5-2 record in the Second Half race and must win tonight to stay in the title picture.

Each team has only one game remaining after tonight's tilt. Snyder Furniture, -thus, even if she won her final game and Hermleigh lost its finale, couldn't catch the Hermleigh nine if she loses tonight.

Since Hermleigh won the First Half title she could sew up the seasonal crown with a victory tonight. The first and second half winners are to meet in a best two-out-of three game series for the season title.

Snyder Furniture will be looking for its first win of the season off Hermleigh. The two teams have met six times this season, four in the First Half and two in the Second Half, with Hermleigh emerging victorious in each game.

Lanky Dwayne Prince will likely be assigned the task of ending the Hermleigh hex for the Furniture nine tonight. Opposing him will likely be Bermon Corbell.

Standing in reserve for Snyder Furniture and who could possible draw the starting assignment will be Lee Gatewood. Ted Masters and Grady Gafford will be standing if Corbell encounters trouble.

Game time tonight will be 8 o'clock.

In last night's game, Sun Oil evened its second half record at 4-4 by romping to a 19-2 victory over Ira.

Don Ballard pitched and batted Sun Oil to victory. Ballard stopped Ira on five hits and blanked them until the seventh when the losers scored both of their tallies. Ballard struckout eight and didn't walk a man.

At the plate, Ballard slammed out four hits in five trips to lead the Oilers' 21-hit attack.

Gehrig Garrison, Sun centerfielder, slammed the game's only homerun. Garrison homered leading off in the fourth.

Sun scored in every inning but the fourth. The big innings for the Oilers were the second and seventh with six runs in each.

Bonus Babies Paying Off For Chicubs

CHICAGO (AP)—It took the Chicago Cubs a long time to lay the money on the line for "bonus babies" but they've wasted none in collecting dividends.

"We're just tickled to death over them," said Manager Stan Hack when asked what he though about pitchers Don Kaiser, Moe Drabowsky and infielder Jerry Kindall — a trio of 21-year-olds who have shown great promise.

They cost an estimated $150,000.

It wasn't until last year that the Cubs finally broke down and went into the bonus market with the signing of Don Kaiser, a 6-5 right-hander from Ada, Okla. Don didn't see much action until he started against Brooklyn this year when he turned back the world champions with a two-hitter.

Since then he has been a regular.

Next came Kindall, who was signed off the University of Minnesota campus in June. Less than a month ago Drabowsky was coaxed to sign, leaving Trinity College and Hartford, Conn., to don a Cub uniform.

Kindall was pressed into action when shortstop Ernie Banks suffered a hand infection a couple of weeks ago and has done an excellent job. But Drabowski is the newest phenom.

Moe hurled seven innings in an exhibition against the White Sox and gave up only two hits. He so impressed Hack that the Cub pilot decided to start him against the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night.

"I didn't tell him he was going to pitch until shortly before the game started," Hack said. "I didn't want him to lose any sleep."

Ken Guettler TL's MVP

DALLAS (AP) — Ken Guettler, who clubbed more Texas League home runs than anyone before, is the player of the year in the Class AA circuit.

Guettler, stocky Shreveport outfielder with spectacle and the handicap of a short right arm, hit his fifty-sixth home run Aug. 12. It erased the record of 55 set in 1924 by Clarence Kraft at Fort Worth.

Pension Approved

CINCINNATI (AP)—A new pension plan providing greater payments and fringe benefits was unanimously approved yesterday by representatives of the 16 major league baseball teams.

BIG CHIEF—Bill Houston, above, ex-Hermleigh Cardinal football star, figures heavily in the 1956 McMurry Indian football plans. Houston will play his fourth and final year for the Indians this fall. Houston, a center, is one of only four starters returning from the '55 Indian team.

Ex-Card Star In 4th Year At McM

ABILENE, Aug 21 (Spl) — Bill (Rattler) Houston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Houston of Hermleigh, will embark on his fourth and final season of college football with the McMurry Indians when fall practice opens here Sept. 1.

The 205-pound ex-Hermleigh High School Cardinal star will be a key man, and one of the most experienced performers, in the McMurry team of 1955 which won eight out of 10 games and wound up with the second-best record among Texas colleges and universities.

The Hermleigh athlete earned three football letters in high school, was captain of the team, and received all-district honors in 1953. He also participated in basketball and baseball.

The McMurry team, with 60 candidates expected to report for opening drills, faces a double tough schedule in the coming campaign.

Young Tommy Ellis, starting his first year as head coach of the Indians, will have 14 letterman returning. McMurry lost six all-conference starters by graduation. Ellis' assistants are Elmo Cummins and Stan Burnman. Pete Shotwell is athletic director at McMurry.

In spite of the heavy loss of veterans, Ellis could have one of the best small-college football teams of the country again this year.

McMurry backers believe the Indians will have perhaps the best backfield combination since the 1947-50 heyday of little All-American Brad Rowland, with depth and experience at every position.

Big question mark is defensive ability and depth in the Indian line, which was heaviest hit by graduation.

The McMurry schedule includes Abilene Christian at Abilene Sept. 15, West Texas State at Canyon Sept. 22, Texas A&I at Abilene Sept. 29, Midwestern at Abilene Oct. 6, New Mexico A & M at Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 12, Corpus Christi at Abilene Oct. 20, Howard Payne at Brownwood Nov. 3, North Texas State at Denton Nov. 10, Chattanooga at Chattanooga Nov. 16, and Southern State (Ark.) at Abilene Nov. 23.

The Jasper, Tex., Steers beat the Ripley, W. Va., Independents, 10-2 and the Case Grande, Ariz., Cotton Kings topped the Agnier, N.C., Pearidges 8-6 in 10 innings in first-round games.

Old Casey A Worried Man Despite Lead

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Any manager with a 8½-game bulge over his closest rival with a little more than a month to go in the season should be in a happy frame of mind.

Is Casey Stengel, the wizened pilot of the New York Yankees?

Of course not.

The professor is worried about multitudinous problems. He has so many woes, you'd think his team was fighting for the basement instead of rolling along in front of the American League.

The Yanks open a two-game set with the second-place Cleveland Indians tonight, and Tribe Manager Al Lopez is going to make his last stab at stopping them. He's tossing Herb Score against them tonight and Early Wynn tomorrow.

"And what did Score and Wynn do to us on our last trip to Cleveland?" asked the Professor.

"I'll tell you what they did to us. Score shut us out 4-0 with four hits and Wynn shut us out 5-0 with three hits.

"After we won the first one of that series and celebrated my birthday at the same time, we up and lost the next three."

The professor didn't name names, but among his worries were Mickey Mantle's worst slump of the season, Whitey Ford's stiff shoulder, his starting pitchers in general 38 complete efforts in 110 games and his righty hitters in general who were stopped cold by Baltimore Sunday.

"No," he growled, "I don't think our lead is big enough unless we straighten out during our last home stand.

"And look who's coming in Sunday. Detroit. You think they're against us in the Stadium. When they get to New York, they always play like they're in the World Series.

"They've beaten us six times in the Stadium and we've beaten them only three times. I don't know why they're twice as good as we are in our own park, but they are."

IN STRETCH RUN

The Heat Is On Dodgers, Reds

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Nobody's won the pennant yet in that hectic National League race, but as of today the pressure definitely is on Brooklyn and Cincinnati while the first-place Milwaukee Braves, loaded with the best pitching in the league, play it cool behind Burdette, Spahn and Buhl.

Those three top the NL's earned run averages. Lew Burdette has managed to knock off Cincinnati's contending Redlegs four times without defeat. Bob Buhl has beaten Brooklyn's world champion Dodgers six times without a loss.

Warren Spahn and Burdette combined to salvage an important split in the four-game series at Cincinnati. Spahn quieted the ambitious Redlegs Sunday, then came back in relief to get the final out as Burdette beat them 3-1 on a five-hitter last night.

TheB raves lack the Redlegs' power, but they again made their blows pay off in the series finale, riding in on home runs by Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock although held to just four hits by Brooks Lawrence.

It was the only game scheduled in either league and hoisted the Braves into a 2½-game lead as they return to Milwaukee for a home stand. Brooklyn, slated to play five games against the Redlegs and Braves in five straight days this weekend, has a one-game bulge over the third-place Cincys at the moment.

Mathews' 28th home run followed a two-out second-inning triple by Hank Aaron that broke through Lawrence's hitless spell. Then Adcock hammered his 30th homer with two out in the sixth for the Braves' third hit off the 16-7 right-hander, who now has lost five of his last six decisions.

Burdette was rolling along on a three-hit shutout for eight innings. Then rookie Frank Robinson walloped his 30th homer to lead off the ninth. A walk followed, but Ted Kluszewski hit into a double play that eased the situation for Burdette.

But when Wally Post lined a single, Manager Fred Haney waved in southpaw Spahn. He got Ed Bailey on a game-ending grounder. That nailed Burdette's 16th success against seven defeats and put his ERA at 2.46 — tops in the majors.

Extension Is Okayed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Water Board granted the Trinity River Authority of Dallas today a 2½-year extension on its presentation to construct Lake Liberty and approve the issuance of two bond issues.

Bond issues approved:

Orange County Water District 2 of West Orange, $110,000 to pay outstanding notes on original $250,000 bond issue of November, 1953, and to construct extensions to water and sewage system at an estimated cost of $50,470.

Travis-Williamson Counties Water District 1, near Austin, $250,000 for additional water facilities.

The board granted a part of a request for five acre feet of water from Spring Creek, a tributary of Colorado River in Irion County near San Angelo. L. H. Hicks and L. W. Puckitt Jr., both of San Angelo, requested to pump the water from Aug. 15 to Nov. 15, for oil well drilling operations.

Interview In Death Cell

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—Flaudell Fite said in a death cell interview today that he had seen a vision in which a voice told him God stood between him and the electric chair. He has been on what he called a "penitence fast" since Friday.

Fite, 27, a negro, is scheduled to die in the chair Thursday. He was convicted of raping a Garland girl, 17, on July 9.

"God showed me three folded sheets to reveal to me that I would be freed," he said. "It's not over yet. Even if I get to the electric chair, I'm going to strap myself in, if God lets it go that far. And if it goes that far, I don't believe it will work."

Fite said he had not had food or drink since Friday "in remission of my sins." Death cell guards said he had returned all food.

Draft Move Is Slated

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Constitution Party invited Coleman Andrews, former U.S. commissioner of internal revenue today to testify before the party's platform committee at its national convention Aug. 27-28 in Fort Worth.

Philip Eubank, chairman of the convention committee, said Andrews is being urged to testify on the party's plank for income tax repeal.

Andrews, a critic of the federal income tax program since leaving the commissioner post, is also being boomed for a draft move as the party's presidential nominee, if he is available, Eubank said.

Eubank said a Texan is being considered as the party's vice presidential nominee, but declined to identify him.

Good Chance For Demo Victory Says Rayburn

BONHAM (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn, back at his ranch for a rest, said "I believe that we have a good ticket and stand a good chance to win in November."

"The convention was one of the most successful that I have attended," he said.

"All the Democrats from the North, East, South and West seem to be working together again in harmony. Everybody in the South appears to be wanting to get back into the Democratic party for the 1956 campaign."

Rayburn said he would start a speaking tour for Adlai Stevenson late in September or early in October.

There is more washing and ironing to be done, supplying the crisp, clean clothes your family needs during wilting summer weather.

Because there are more and bigger jobs for me to do during extremely hot dry weather, most electric service bills are higher during such periods. HAPPY NIXONS ARRIVE—All smiles and showered with confetti, Vice President and Mrs. Nixon walk to their car after arriving in San Francisco for the Republican national convention. Hundreds of supporters carried signs and banners urging his renomination.

Nixon May Get California Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Nixon, already assured renomination support from many state delegations, seemed certain to add today that of his home state of California.

That he hasn't bagged California before this was attributable to Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's insistent refusal to endorse him until, or unless, President Eisenhower designates his choice of a running mate.

A Knight lieutenant conceded the governor probably couldn't prevent California from joining the Nixon bandwagon.

Eisenhower's scheduled arrival from Washington late today heightened interest in the vice presidential question—the only one with a trace of suspense in a convention overwhelmed with harmony.

Nixon said he planned to meet the plane, but emphasized to newsmen he has had no communication of any kind from Eisenhower on the selection of the nominee for the No. 2 job.

The California delegation —controlled one-third each by Knight, land— agreed upon the governor as chairman but voted to adopt the unit rule.

The action made it a foregone conclusion the state's convention vote, second in size only to New York's, would swing to Nixon. Knowland already has come out vigorously for his former senate colleague.

Nixon continued to avoid any mention of Harold E. Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament aid who took a leave to campaign for Massachusetts' Gov. Christian A. Herter for vice president. Herter repeated he is not seeking to take Nixon's place.

Dope Ring Is Smashed

ROME (AP) — Lebanese customs officers working with U.S. narcotics agents have smashed a big ring which smuggled dope into the United States and fostered herion addition in Lebanon, it was disclosed here today.

Charles Siragusa, U. S. Bureau of Narcotics district commissioner for Europe and the Middle East, said the ring was smashed with seizure of a heroin laboratory in Beirut. He said the raid was directed by Capt. Edmond Azizi of the Beirut customs last Saturday.

The raiders seized 26 pounds of pure heroin. Siragusa declined to value the seizure. In New York, police normially rate illegan herion as worth about $5,000 a pound on the illegal wholesale market. Adulterated and sold to addicts at retail prices, the Beirut seizure would have been worth about 3½ million dollars.

Light Vote Is Forecast

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A light vote was forecast today in Wyoming's primary election. The only statewide contest is a four-way race for the Democratic nomination for Congress.

The incumbent, Rep. Keith Thomson, is unopposed in the GOP primary.

Seeking the Democratic nomination are Jerry A. O'Callaghan, er-year-old University of Wyoming professor; State Sen. A. M. Downey, 56-year-old Glendo rancher-machinist; Mrs. Dora Belle Harris, 66-year-old grandmother who barricaded a county road for nearly two years to protest a right-of-way award; and George W. K. Posvar, Casper rancher.

FEW SHOWERS FORECAST

Twister Sweeps Over State

By The Associated Press

Only a few showers in the extreme south were forecast Tuesday in the wake of the cold front which refreshed Texas.

The front kicked up heavy rains and one tornado in the south last night. The twister was sighted between Mission and Sullivan City near the Rio Grande. The Weather Bureau said it passed into Mexico without causing any damage or injuries.

San Antonio got 2.32 inches of rain, heaviest since June of 1951. Rainfall of up to 3.50 inches fell in the Hill Country. Fredericksburg, which had only two inches in eight months, got .40. Ingram got 2.70, Meusebach 3.50, Junction 1.86 and Castroville 3.50.

The Weather Bureau reported a squally area about 35 miles wide between Mission and Rio Grande City Monday night. The Brownsville Weather Bureau said the Rio Grande would rise swiftly between Mission and the Gulf. No flooding was expected.

Rains of up to an inch and a half fell between Mission and Rio Grande City Monday.

The twister passed over Los Ebanos, in western Hidalgo County, but didn't touch the ground.

Forecasts called for rising temperatures. Dawn readings ranged from 79 degrees at Kingsville to 52 at Amarillo.

Showers were reported early Tuesday at El Paso, Corpus Christi and Laredo. Skies were clear over North Central Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere.

Alice had the only 100 degree reading Monday, in sharp contrast to the days of 105 and higher readings over much of the state last week.

Dalhart had the low maximum of 67 Monday.

There was a touch of autumn in the air today as cool air from Canada spread over wide areas in the central and northeast sections of the country.

Soil Bank Payments Are Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soil bank payments for 1956 to total a maximum of 261 million dollars for the 558,098 agreements signed to cover 12,300,000 acres were announced yesterday by the Department of Agriculture.

Final figures showed 441,018 farms covered by these agreements under the 1956 acreage reserve program of the soil bank.

The program primarily is to reduce production of the basic crops of wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts and corn.

Corn producers signed the largest number of agreements—370,161 covering 5,450,194 acres on which they can earn a maximum of $180,629,284.

Wheat producers came second with 162,574 agreements for 5,654,507 acres of which they can earn a total of $44,490,882.

Cotton agreements totaled 95,954. They cover 1,113,789 acres with maximum payments of $27,281,778. Other agreements:

Peanuts—5,303 agreements for 43,645 acres with payments of $591,437;

Rice—1,112 agreements for 28,003 acres with maximum payments of $1,386,667.

Simple Robbery Staged By Rider

BALTIMORE (AP)—It was so, so simple.

The man thumbed a ride with Roy Lenard of West Trout, La., who was driving his truck east through the city. Lenard explained this to police yesterday.

He asked to see the driver's registration card. Lenard simply handed him his wallet.

That made it so simple the hitchhiker simply hopped out, wallet in hand, and disappeared. The wallet contained $162.

Yarborough Hurls Charge In Land Case

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Ralph Yarborough charged again last night that his opponent for governor, Sen. Price Daniel, was involved in the insurance and veterans land scandals.

Yarborough said more than 100 million dollars had been lost by investors in insurance firms in 10 years. He said Daniel approved 31 of the firms while he was attorney general.

Yarborough also charged that Daniel, as attorney general, was warned by the state auditor in 1949 that something was wrong at the Land Office. Yarborough said Daniel never answered the letter. He charged there were 95 "crooked deals" pulled during Daniel's term in the attorney general's office and "I just don't see how he missed them."

The Austin lawyer also asserted that a vote of "more than 5-1 for the junior senator in the domain of the "Duke of Duval," George Parr, was evidence of "machine politics." He referred to Duval County in South Texas.

Yarborough said the runoff is a "case of the people of Texas vs. the political machine, with its crown prince, the junior senator."

Yarborough told a drought meeting attended by farmers and ranchers he would push for direct cash benefits for relief and long range planning for the recurring dry cycles.

He said the Roman empire used to feed upon the North African "bread basket" which is now a desert "because they didn't protect the soil."

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 8 proposing an amendment to the constitution of the State of Texas, amending Section 48a, Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to authorize needed changes in and revision of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas; providing that this section shall not amend, alter, or repeal Section 63 of Article 16 of the Constitution of Texas as adopted November, 1954, or any enabling legislation passed pursuant thereto; providing for the necessary election, form of ballot, proclamation, and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 48a of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 48a. In addition to the powers given the Legislature by Section 51 of this Article III, it shall have the right to levy taxes to establish a fund to provide retirement, disability and death benefits for persons employed in the public schools, colleges and universities supported wholly or partly by the State; provided that the amount contributed by the State to such fund each year shall be equal to the aggregate amount required by law to be paid into the fund by such employees, and shall not exceed at any time six per centum (6%) of the compensation paid to such each person by the State and/or school districts, and shall in no one (1) year exceed the sum of Five Hundred Four Dollars ($504.00) for any such person; and provided that no person shall be eligible for retirement who has not rendered ten years of creditable service in such employment, and in no case shall any person retire before either attaining the age fifty-five (55) or completing thirty (30) years of creditable service, but shall be entitled to refund of moneys paid into the fund.

Each voter shall mark out one of said clauses on the ballot leaving the one expressing his vote on the proposed amendment. If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast were in favor of said amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution and be effective from the date of determination of such result and the Governor's proclamation thereof.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 48-b, Article III of the Constitution of Texas, be amended so that the same will hereafter read as follows:

"Section 48-b. Educational Plans Made

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Harvey Higle ministrator of veterans affairs, said yesterday the VA is preparing to put into effect a program to provide higher education for the children of veterans who died from service-connected causes.

Higley told the national Disabled American Veterans convention the program was recently approved by Congress. He said VA lawyers are busy interpreting the law and formulating rules for its operation.

Higley said his office is busy with work involved in the extension of the GI loan guaranty legislation. Congress extended the deadline for applications to July 27, 1958, with another year after that date allowed for processing applications received before the deadline.

He said his office is organizing a survey team to plan for continued operation of the McKinney Veterans Hospital. The hospital was originally scheduled to be closed, but recently received a two million dollar appropriation.

Party Hunts For Airplane

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—Silence cloaked efforts today of a ground search party trying to reach wreckage in the Utah wilds sighted by fliers seeking a trace of a plane missing since last Thusday.

The party was on an 11,000-foot mountain 40 miles southwest of Hanksville, Utah.

Several of the 50 pilots particlpating in a four-state search spotted silver-and-yellow wreckage on the slopes of the peak Sunday and said it might be that of the missing plane, which vanished on a flight from Grand Junction to Phoenix. Aboard were Robert Pruess, vice president of the Continental Uranium Co.; Mrs. Ruth Owens, a company secretary; and two young brothers, Ted and Bill Lewis. All are from Grand Junction.

Market Is Low Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned lower again today.

Losses of a dollar or more were scattered through the list in early trading.

Virtually all major divisions shared in the downturn, with the coppers and oils leading the way.

In metals, Anaconda lost 2 points and Kennecott on copper price reductions.

Union Carbide was off a point and Du Pont 1¼. Bethlehem Steel yielded 1⅝.

Also lower by a point or more were General Dynamics, Zenith, General Electric, General Cable, Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum.

The Suez crisis once again cast its shadow over the international oil division. Gulf lost 2 and Royal Dutch 1.

Daniel Urges Fight Against Work Of 'Outside Groups'

By WHITEY SAWYER

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel showed the strain of the long campaign for governor but managed to come up with fire as he urged campaign workers last night to get out the vote to combat what he called the "paid employes" of "outside organizations."

Daniel spoke to about 200 campaign workers.

"Paid workers of the opposition are filling the mails with some of the trashiest, dirtiest campaign material I have ever seen," Daniel said. He said the material consisted of marked ballots for Yarborough, slanderous statements, and misrepresentations of his Senate voting record.

He said the NAACP supported Yarborough and kept referring to "paid employes" of "these organizations" working against him. Daniel charged that Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, was supporting Yarborough and that Reuther was supplying money to the NAACP to fight segregation in Southern schools.

He drew his biggest applause from the enthusiastic audience when he said he didn't want Reuther running Texas.

"I know these outfits (the CIO and NAACP) are not for Texas," Daniel said.

The senator complained of a sore throat and rarely raised his voice.

He said he was proud of his lead of 160,000 votes in the first primary. He said it was the largest lead any candidate ever took into a runoff.

But he warned, "We should not let our vote July 28 cause us to be overconfident."

"I think we need to work hard all this week and all day Saturday," Daniel added.

He urged his supporters to "take at least one person to the polls who didn't vote for Price Daniel in the first campaign."

"We certainly welcome their support," Daniel said of those who voted for other candidates in the first primary.

Daniel ridiculed opposition statements about how much money he was spending. He said the opposition had charged that five million dollars had been poured into his campaign. Daniel said no such money had reached hm yet.

Daniel said he was sure that both Negroes and whites want "separate but equal" schools and said he would fight against integration by the "use of any force." He drew another loud ovation.

Epic Ocean Trip Ended

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — Three bearded Frenchmen stepped ashore from a long raft today after an epic 89-day drift across the Atlantic from Canada. They said they'd go home "in a big boat."

Hundreds of vacationers cheered as the raft L'Egare II—"The Lost One" — glided peacefully under tow into this Cornish port at the end of the 3,000-mile journey.

"We are crazy Frenchmen, yes?" yelled Henri Beaudot, 29-year-old leader of the expedition.

Beaudot and three companions set out on their 13 by 17-foot raft of rope-tied cedar logs from Halifax, N.S., May 24. One man sickened 380 miles out in the Atlantic and a fishing boat took him back to Canada. Gaston Vanacker, 31, and Marc Modena, 27, made it across with their leader.

Dulles Is Praised By Critical Paper

LONDON (AP)—The liberal Manchester Guardian, frequently critical of Secretary of State Dulles, praised him today for "great service" to the world in the Suez crisis.

The newspaper said the Dulles plan for solving the dispute with Egypt was "admirably conceived."

"In putting it before the conference, Mr. Dulles made a speech of tact and moderation which was firm but courteous to Egypt," the Guardian said. "He has done great service to the Western powers — and to the world — in the past three weeks."

Defense Near Completion In Lubbock Trial

LUBBOCK (AP) — Judge Robert Bean said he was informed the defense probably would complete presentation of evidence today in the B. R. Sheffield veterans land trial.

Mrs. F. C. McConnell of Austin, director of the Scottish Rite Dormitory for Women at the University of Texas, testified yesterday the minutes of an executive committee meeting dated Aug. 25, 1953, showed Bascom Giles, then land commissioner, was present. Giles was a dormitory committee member. He is serving a prison term for fraudulent veterans land deals.

Stanley Stribling, a San Angelo real estate man, had testified he saw Sheffield and Giles in a hotel room the night of Aug. 25, 1953. He said they discussed veterans land deals.

The defense also attacked Stribling's testimony that he stayed at a motel or with relatives in Austin that night. They presented testimony and telegrams from Austin motel operators stating that Stribling wasn't registered that night.

Two Israeli Soldiers Killed During Clash

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)— A military spokesman said two Israeli soldiers were killed today in an hour's clash inside Jordan, the second along the frontier in four days.

The spokesman said three Jordanian national guardsmen were wounded when a 30-man Israeli force attacked with a mortar and automatic weapons at a village near Jenin, in southwest Jordan.

Texan Says South Given More Consideration At Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thad Hutcheson of Houston, Texas member of the Republican national convention platform committee, said today the South was given more consideration in drafting the 1956 platform than ever before at a GOP conclave.

"I think it is very significant in the light of the effort to build up a two-party system in the South and Southwest," Hutcheson said.

"I don't mean to say we wrote the platform. We didn't. But, especially on the matters of great concern to us, we were given a hearing, and you will find traces of our influence in the final product."

The platform is to be adopted at the convention's third session today but the planks already have been made public.

Hutcheson was co-chairman of a group of Southern delegates on the platform committee which caucused last week and then presented a solid front when the committee got down to the actual writing job.

He said that group functioned so well there was talk of meetings in the years ahead to further the GOP cause in the South.

The Texan cited the civil rights plank in the platform as one on which the Southern group caucus clearly exerted some influence.

Some Northern Republicans submitted a draft for this plank which called for all-out endorsement of the Supreme Court anti-segregation decision along with measures to enforce it.

The final version was much closer to the middle of the road. It says the GOP "accepts" the decision and wants it carried out with "all deliberate speed" but in accordance with varying local conditons.

Hutcheson said "You find in this language the spirit of gradualism and moderation of President Eisenhower himself.

"It is not what either the North or the South would have written if either had its own way. But I think it is generally acceptable to Texans.

"We recognize the Supreme Court decision as the law of the land. But we want its implementation left up to local courts, and we want consideration for the feelings of the local communities."

The Houston delegate said views of the South also affected the planks on curtailment of federal spending, tax reduction and encroachment on states' rights.

Asked if the platform endorsement of Eisenhower's program of flexible farm price supports would find favor in the Lone Star State, Hutcheson said he believed it would.

"Texas farmers and cattlemen don't want to be dependent on federal controls and handouts," he said.

But he added that some form of aid was needed for those sections hard hit by drought.

John Adams of Harlingen, chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, said messages received by Texans "from people we know" urge the delegation to support Vice President Nixon for renominaiton.

A few telegrams are being received asking that Nixon be dropped from the ticket but, said Adams, "these are either from people we never heard of, or are signed 'housewife' or something like that."

Early Segregation Trial Turned Down

DALLAS (AP)—An early trial of the Dallas school segregation case was denied yesterday and the Dallas School Board was advised to confer with the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People on gradual integration.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell said he would set the trial date Sept. 10.

The suit was brought on behalf of 24 Negro children who sought admission to white schools.
