

Traffic Toll Runs High

By The Associated Press
The nation's heavy Christmas holiday traffic killed more than 300 persons.
The toll was 301 for the 48-hour period from midnight Monday to midnight Christmas Day (local time).
Fatalities were heaviest during the actual holiday Wednesday. Tuesday's toll at midnight, EST, had reached 83, and by midnight on the West Coast it was 100. More than two-thirds of the deaths were counted on Christmas Day.
Adverse driving conditions in many localities apparently contributed to the high number of deaths.
At least 24 persons died in traffic accidents in Texas during a 24-hour Christmas count by the Associated Press.
Driving conditions during the midnight-to-midnight tabulation were almost perfect. The AP started the count at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday and continued it until midnight Wednesday.
Across the United States, a total of 287 persons died in a similar 24-hour count of traffic fatalities. California had the dubious distinction of counting even more traffic deaths than Texas—32.
The Texas fatalities included: Mrs. Charles Edmund Hill, 44, of Fort Worth was killed Wednesday night when she was struck by an automobile at an intersection on Fort Worth's northside.
Boyd Virgil McIntyre, 51, of Plains, was killed in a car-pedestrian accident Tuesday near Plains on a county road.

Mrs. Oma Freeman, about 67, of Houston and her daughter, Mrs. Robbie F. Goolsbee, 48, of Woodville were killed and three others injured Wednesday in a head-on auto collision south of Nome in Jefferson County.
Four-year-old Chris Douglas of the Farmington community in Grayson County was fatally injured Wednesday in a traffic accident near Van Alstyne. He was riding on a trailer hauling a piano when the trailer came unhitched and dropped to the ground. The boy was crushed between the piano and the trailer.
Jack Webster Murray, 39, of near Melissa, was struck and killed by a car Wednesday night as he walked on State Highway 289 about one mile west of Plano.
Killed in a 2:30 a. m. one-car accident 4.3 miles east of Smithville Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Woody Paul Vaughn Jr., of Houston. Investigators said the driver apparently dozed at the wheel.

and the car overturned. Miss Ruthie V. Risner, 34, was killed at Dallas about 1:30 a. m. Wednesday when struck by a car as she stepped from another car.

Erhard Bolstered By Market Crisis

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard heads for West Germany and the other member nations—Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.
Erhard stubbornly refused to accept a unified agricultural policy De Gaulle wants until the French president made concessions. Erhard pressed De Gaulle into supporting a U.S.-favored liberal approach on the coming international tariff negotiations in Geneva.
Although De Gaulle warned that the Common Market might break up, Erhard refused to be rattled. Puffing slowly on a big, black cigar, his trademark, Erhard predicted a solution would be found.
It was Monday, after a prolonged foreign ministers' conference in Brussels. De Gaulle agreed to the joint tariff stand, Erhard made concessions in farm policy.
The result, enthusiastically received in Bonn, boosted Erhard's chances for re-election in 1965, and strengthened his hand in dealing with Johnson.

More British Troops Dispatched To Cyprus

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain ordered more troops to Cyprus today as a conflict between the Greek Cypriot and Turkish minority threatened to engulf NATO allies Greece and Turkey in open conflict.
Greece asked for an extraordinary session in Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's permanent council to discuss the crisis. Informal sources in Paris said the council met secretly Wednesday. The Cyprus government already has sent a complaint to the United Nations.
The Turkish government ordered two jet fighters to make warning flights over Cyprus Christmas Day after accusing Greek Cypriots of massing Turkish Cypriots in communal fighting that has been raging since last Saturday.
Then as the fighting died down to sporadic firing, the office of President Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community, asserted six Turkish navy vessels had taken up positions off Cyprus.
President Cemal Gursel of Turkey also expressed grave concern, accused the Greek Cypriots of a massacre, and appealed to President Johnson and other world leaders to intervene.

The situation was being watched closely in both London and Washington. Greece and Turkey, long at odds over Cyprus, guard the Far Eastern flank of the Atlantic Alliance.
Johnson was watching developments from his Texas ranch. Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Britain interrupted a Christmas vacation to return to London.
What prompted Makarios to send a complaint to the U. N. Security Council was the flight of the Turkish jets and the movement of some of Turkey's 650-man garrison on Cyprus into the Turkish Cypriot quarter of this capital.
The Greeks promptly moved part of their 850 soldiers stationed on Cyprus into the Greek Cypriot section, thus setting the stage for a possible confrontation.
In an attempt to head off trouble, the diplomats of Britain, Greece and Turkey met with Makarios and decided to put British, Greek and Turkish forces in Cyprus under a unified command headed by a British, a commune announced.
There are about 10,000 British servicemen on Cyprus, stationed here as in the case of the Greek and Turkish garrisons under the treaty of 1960 making Cyprus an independent member of the British Commonwealth.
Johnson told newsmen at his Texas ranch he had conferred by telephone with Secretary of State Dean Rusk two or three times on the situation.
"We have a situation developing there and we are watching it very carefully," Johnson said. "We have 1,700 citizens on that island."
State Department sources said in Washington no evacuation orders have been issued to U.S. citizens, but Americans in Greek areas have been advised to move to more centrally located points in case evacuation is deemed advisable.
The fighting arose from Turkish opposition to Makarios' proposals to amend the Cyprus constitution. The Turks claim the amendments would weaken their rights.

Berlin Killing Doesn't Deter Yule Visits

BERLIN (AP)—About 50,000 West Berliners crossed into East Berlin by noon today despite the Christmas Day killing of a young East German who tried to escape over the Berlin wall.
"The Christmas murder on the Berlin wall overshadowed our joy at the Christmas meeting in the city," said West Germany's minister for all-German affairs, Erich Mende.
"But with the day after Christmas also a holiday, the flow of visitors to relatives in the Communist sector continued at flood tide. When the gates opened at 6 a. m., the line was two blocks long at one crossing point. There was no change in the friendly attitude of East German guards reported under orders to "keep smiling" when the 16-day visiting period began last week by agreement between the West Berlin city government and East Germany's Red regime.
"But now you see their real face," a young Red Cross worker on duty at a crossing point said. "Here they smile and there they shoot."
Less than a mile from the Oberbaum Bridge control point an East German guard shot Paul Schulz, 18, in the back Wednesday as he sat entangled in barbed wire atop the concrete wall.
As loudspeakers blared Christmas music from the East German radio, the wounded youth toppled from the 9-foot wall into the arms of a West Berlin policeman. A companion, also 18, made it safely to the West, but Schulz died six hours later in a West Berlin hospital.

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's population stood at 96,160,000 as of Oct. 1, making Japan the seventh most populated nation in the world, the government's statistics office reported Wednesday. This was an increase of 978,300 persons over the previous year.

Holiday Season Gives LBJ No Respite From Problems

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson is keeping tabs on national and international problems while vacationing at his ranch here.
The President's guest today was former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee. Johnson said he wanted to "get his counsel on a number of national problems." These were not specified, and there was speculation that the Democratic politician may be in line for a federal post.
Johnson also was keeping in touch with the explosive situation in Cyprus, where fighting has erupted between Turks and Greeks. Developments on the island prompted two Wednesday telephone conferences Wednesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.
The pressure of official business during the holiday stay at the LBJ ranch was evidenced, too, by a new directive in which Johnson ordered a cutback in federal jobs within the next 18 months.
In discussing Cyprus with newsmen, Johnson said: "We have a situation developing there and we are watching it very carefully."
Aides reported that Johnson strongly supported efforts by the British, Greek and Turkish governments to stabilize the situation.
In ordering a cut in the federal payroll roll, Johnson told agency heads:
"Even though nothing like this has happened in the last decade, I am still unconvinced that we are getting the maximum possible output per employee. I believe we can do better."
He said every department and agency would get personnel checked sports jacket and orange cowboy boots.
He even had time to lease another 40 acres "more stamping ground" to add to the Johnson holdings of 400 acres adjoining the placid Pedernales River.
Johnson kept the family's turkey dinner waiting while he hounded with the press, whom he invited to take holiday pictures of the family. And he conducted the crowd of some 50 reporters and photographers on a tour of the 12-room stone and frame ranch house where the Johnsons' Christmas presents waited under an eight-foot cedar tree in his comfortable ground-floor office.
The weather was in the balmy 70s, but a heated outdoor swimming pool, covered with blue plastic "to keep the range pants, green and brown leaves out," was not used.

Lakonia Voyage Tragedy Is Told

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
LONDON (AP) — England bundled up against a cold snap as the 20,314-ton Greek liner Lakonia slipped out of Southampton, headed for Madeira, the Canary Islands—and sunshine—on Christmas cruise.

An atmosphere of calm gentility and folksy cheer pervaded the ship as the 651 passengers—most of the British—and 377 crew, set out Dec. 18. Half the passengers had signed for the full 5-week voyage, paying up to $1,655. The rest were going to the islands.

It was to be a lazy, sunny Christmas. Breakfast in bed, tea in a tapestry-hung lounge. In the evening, they dressed for dinner.

On Friday, Dec. 20, the first day out, there was a boat drill. No one seems to remember exactly how it was conducted. The crew had been through a boat drill before sailing. Capt. Daniel Jones of the British Sea Transport Department was told by his inspectors that it was "very satisfactory." They did not conduct a formal inspection of the ship. It carried a Greek certificate of seaworthiness.

Sunday, in one lounge the ship's social director had organized a party for young people.

Family Plans Trip Home To Moscow

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Nina Pozdnev is spending her last full day in the United States today, a little fearful of Friday's trip that will take her home to Moscow.

But her fears have nothing to do with politics or economics or any of the "ics" or "isms" that separate two nations.

Mrs. Pozdnev gets airside, and, as she says, Moscow is a long way from Portsmouth.

Mrs. Pozdnev, a shy pleasant teacher, her husband, Victor, and their two children have been spending the Christmas holidays as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James McKenzie and the city of Portsmouth. Their trip was sponsored by the Portsmouth Junior Chamber of Commerce as a project to help call "Operation Peace on Earth."

Awaiting the Pozdnevs at their return home are days of wrapping packages, setting up and decorating a fir tree, visiting friends and celebrating a time of good cheer.

It will be the celebration of the new year, much in the same way Americans carry out the nonreligious aspects of Christmas.

But this year, the Pozdnev children, especially Olga, 6, also were paid a visit from Santa Claus. Beneath the large Christmas tree in the McKenzie's living room Christmas morning, Olga found three dolls, doll clothes and two pairs of shoes.

For Anatoly, 16, there was an American football and a miniature auto racing set. Pozdnev, an automotive engineer in Moscow, received shirts and ties. Presents for Mrs. Pozdnev included shoes, a coat and sweater.

For the McKenzie family there were records, caviar, books and toys.

Expressing her joy for the trip and how grateful she was for the friendliness of the people of Portsmouth, Mrs. Pozdnev also indicated a bit of homesickness.

"We Russians have a saying," she said. "To be guests, good; to go home, better."

THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES

ple—they came dressed as hobos. There was carol singing in another lounge, a movie in the third. Most older passengers had retired; Monday was to be a big day of sightseeing in Madeira.

Just before 11 p.m. a steward spotted smoke seeping under the doors of the ship's barber shop. He flung open the doors and fell back before flames.

The fire raced through passageways toward the state-rooms.

Capt. Mathias Zarba, a veteran of 15 years with the Greek Line, was sitting in the main saloon. He raced toward the door.

Ivor S. Buchanan, an American, and his wife Dorothy had retired early. He pulled a suit over his pajamas. She put his coat over her slip. "What a hell of a time to have a fire drill," he thought.

In the radio room, operator Alexis Kalogridis switched to the automatic emergency transmitter and began tapping out: "Fire spreading up. Prepare evacuation on ship." It was 11:30 p.m.

At 22 minutes after midnight Kalogridis sent out the final, anguished call: "SOS from Lakonia last time. I cannot stay any more in the wireless station. We are leaving the ship. Please immediate assistance. Please help."

Then he dashed to the lifeboat deck, already crowded with passengers and crew milling about in pajamas and anything they had thrown on. The women still wore their jewelry and evening gowns.

Whether the confusion merited the name of panic—as some passengers claimed—was a matter of dispute. There were contrasting reports of heroism and hectic scrambling.

The swimming pool attendant tied a rope to his feet, had himself lowered head downward and pulled several children from smoke-filled cabins.

Buchanan and his wife got into the boat, almost lowered on top of it. Pressed against the windward side of the ship by swells, those aboard pushed the boat aft and rowed for the open sea.

Communication between passengers and the Greek and German crew broke down because of language difficulties. To M. R. Lovat of London the babbling was disgraceful—"the crew screamed their head off for five solid hours."

Smoke prevented the lowering of four boats. Others swamped in the swells. When the last boat was away, about 80 passengers and 40 crew members were still aboard.

They huddled on the after deck all night, but as flames spread aft, they were ordered to leave. Gerd Pankrope, a pursuer, was in this group. He said most of those who perished probably were in it, too.

Last to leave was the captain. One passenger said she saw him wandering around with the master of a Belgian freighter saw the captain pacing alone on the tilting deck and sent a boat to pick him up.

The flames that killed the Lakonia saved her passengers. Said Capt. Jose Barrera of the Argentine freighter Salta: "We got the wrong position and could have missed the Lakonia. But the fire guided us in like a lighthouse."

The Salta was the heroine of the sea drama. First on the scene, she picked up 475 survivors.

As dawn broke Monday, the Atlantic waters were crowded with rescue ships. The Lakonia was a drifting, burning ghost ship, a magnet for salvage tugs.

The British aircraft carrier Centaur put an engineer board by helicopter. He found the quarterdeck and two decks below burned away, and the superstructure caved in amidships. But the hull seemed sound and the ship ready for a refit.

The Lakonia's owners announced today that 896 persons were known to have been saved from the disaster, 96 were known dead and 36 still were accounted for. This added to 1,028, in contrast to previous reports that said 1,036 were aboard.

A spokesman for the Greek Line said some crew members failed to show up for the sailing from Southampton Dec. 19.

Rise Noted In Cost Of Public School

By G. K. HODENFIELD
A.P. Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The average cost of educating a child in the public schools this school year is $352, an increase of $17 or 5 per cent over last year, the magazine School Management reported today.

The magazine said only $7 of the increase will be spent for better education, with the other $10 being used simply to offset the effects of inflation.

The magazine's annual survey, directed by Dr. Orlando F. Furno, director of research for Baltimore city schools.

Furno estimates that public schools across the country will spend $20.3 billion this school year, including the costs of school transportation, building and equipping new schools, and paying off old school debts.

The average cost per student for bus transportation is $16, and Furno said the school districts will spend $47 per student for new school construction this school year. These costs are in addition to the $352 per-pupil expenditure.

School debts, mostly long-term bonds for school construction, totaled $388 per student in the average school district as of last Sept. 1. Almost 10 per cent of the country's school districts were in debt $1,000 for each pupil enrolled.

The magazine said New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are spending the top per-pupil figure, $482. This is about 42 per cent above the national average.

The magazine said only 10 per cent of the nation's school districts have salary scales which make it possible for classroom teachers to earn more than $9,500 a year.

The average teacher will earn $5,837 this school year, school management said. The average starting salary was listed as $4,600 and the average maximum salary, $7,207.

Saves Five Brothers From Death In Fire

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Eleven-year-old Antonio Francisco Raudales Wednesday saved the lives of five of his brothers while the family house was destroyed by fire.

Another brother, Manuel, died. His charred body was found in the ruins.

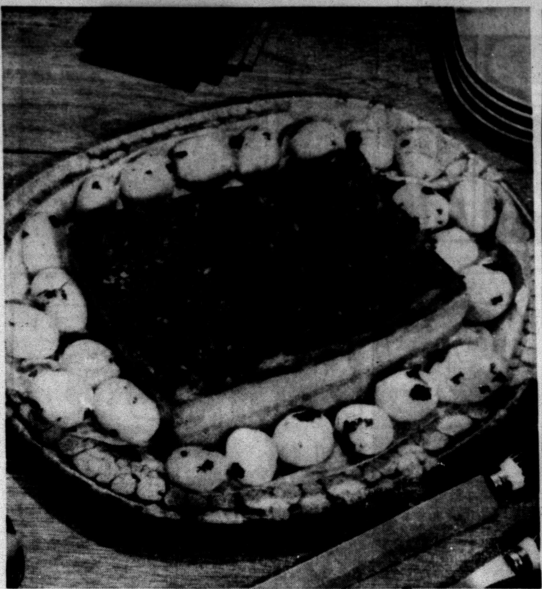

The family's house was built of a cardboard and frame shanty in one of Mexico's worst slums, Colonia Morelos.

Authorities were not able to ascertain the cause of the fire. Antonio Francisco entered the burning house twice to bring his smaller brothers to safety.

BAKED BACON, modern version of an ancient favorite. A succulent piece of lean bacon, topped with a spicy stuffing mixture and baked, is a perfect entree for any menu.

An Ancestor's Favorite

Cooking from antique cook-books. In 1658 the recipe was called, "A Gammon of Bacon Baked." Today it is called, "Baked Bacon." Here, the recipe is a modern translation of this favorite of our ancestors.

Fur Goes Underfoot

AP Newsfeatures

If artists can create masterpieces with old beer cans, match covers and lipsticks, why can't they transform bits and pieces of furs into luxurious dimensions of art?

Jacques Kaplan, an imaginative furrier, experimented with the idea successfully to the delight of his friends. Then he began to paint fuzzy pelts.

Now his latest project is fur-art underfoot. He is commissioning well-known American artists to conceive of new designs for artistic fur rugs which he hopes to market this spring.

The age-old conflict between comfort and practicality seems to be solving itself in the instance of ladies' lingerie even before it has gotten a good start.

Perfect techniques with stretch cottons promised non-cutting shoulder straps, as well as bras and slips that give with body expansion and still retain their shape.

However, the dandy features seemed to rule out any aesthetic treatments, such as lace. Recently the lace industry corrected this impression by announcing that it has also found a way to put a little give and take in its fancy fabric.

Still, the stretch lace on stretch lingerie will require a stretched budget for the woman who wants it. The lace itself costs twice as much as the already old-fashioned non-stretch kind.

Leather swim-suits are just around the corner for one well-known maker.

Years ago a bathing beauty would have done more sinking than swimming in such a suit. However, recent technological improvements have produced a lightweight, malleable leather which kisses off water and retains its (and the wearer's) shape.

Big beach favorite for the lady-in-waiting is the destringing blouse over boyie shorts. The silhouette is deceptively flattering.

A-line tunics are better for sun bathing than submerging.

Jacqueline Kennedy probably gave Glimp's a jolt recently when she had one of her secretaries call Macy's Department Store, New York, to order a copy of a Yves St. Laurent dress. The White House was billed the $39.95 price.

Wrapping up in a bath towel is such a cozy, provocative way of not-quite-dressing that women are loathe to give it up for the conventional apparel required for street appearance. No wonder then that the better known towel companies got into the fashion business. They have an eager market for these slinky ankle-length terry cloth shifts which have more shape than the towel but are almost as casual.

The terry wardrobes for at home and the beach are lively with vivid floral prints and stripes.

Tucker-Graham Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker of Newark, Tex., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Maude, to Leslie Dean Graham. The wedding took place Dec. 20.

The bridegroom is the son of Andrew F. Graham, formerly of Snyder who now lives in Rhine, Tex. The couple will live in Newark where he is associated with the bride's father in the construction business.

Mrs. Bynum Honors New Mexico Guests

Mrs. Glendon Bynum, 309 Fifteenth Street, was hostess at a party Sunday, Dec. 22, honoring her house guests, Debra and Gladys DeBusk of Portales, N.M.

The house was decorated with Christmas decorations, and the serving table was laid with a lace cloth. Cookies and fruit punch were served.

The guests were entertained with home movies. Favors were coloring books and ball point pens. About 10 guests attended.

Sour Cream Fudge

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup cultured sour cream
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

In a heavy saucepan mix together the sugar, sour cream, corn syrup, butter and cocoa. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil. Then cook, stirring occasionally, until temperature reaches 238 degrees on a candy thermometer or until a small amount of mixture dropped in to very cold water forms a soft ball that flattens on removal from water. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Let cool to 110 degrees (lukewarm). Beat until fudge begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Stir in nuts. Turn into a greased 8-inch square pan. Cut into squares when cool. Makes about 1 1/4 pounds.

Interested in something different for Sunday brunch? Serve scallops and mushrooms. For a touch of luxury, make the cream sauce with light cream rather than with the usual milk.

Baked Bacon

(Serves 8)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. 1/2-pound piece of good Irish bacon or heavy lean American bacon

2/3 cup chopped parsley
1 1/2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing
2 eggs
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
1/4 teaspoon sage
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1/4 teaspoon cracked pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup raisins (seedless)

2 cups broth in which the bacon was simmered

Wash the bacon in warm water, scrubbing the rind quite well. Put the bacon into a saucepan and cover with cold water. Bring very slowly to the boiling point (this will take at least 1 1/4 hours.)

Skim carefully and simmer gently until tender, or for about 1 1/4 hours.

When cooked, remove from the water and, with the aid of a sharp knife, take off the bacon skin. Score the underside and stretch the bacon out flat in a baking dish.

Make a mixture of the herb-seasoned stuffing, parsley and raisins (washed in warm water), and increase seasoning by adding the cloves, marjoram, sage, thyme, cracked pepper, and salt.

Beat 2 eggs together with 1/4 cup cold water, and stir into the crumbs' mixture. Spread over the bacon. Add 2 cups broth in which the bacon was cooked, and place in a moderate (350 degrees) oven.

Cook, basting occasionally, for about 45 minutes, or until all the juice has evaporated.

Serve on a hot platter, to be cut crosswise in thin slices. Accompany with plain boiled potatoes, cabbage and sweet gherkin pickles.

An Easy Soup Offers Savory Old-Time Taste

In these days of convenience foods, the popular dish of Grandmother's day... a simmering pot of homemade soup... is becoming more and more of a rarity. These savory soups meant such excitement with enticing aromas filling the house. You can recapture some of that old-time goodness with this easy homemade soup suited to our modern pace. Ground beef and condensed consommé cut down kitchen tasks, says home economist Reba Staggs.

Easy Vegetable Soup

1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
1 bay leaf
1 large onion, sliced
1/2 cup sliced celery
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed consommé
1 1/2 cups water
1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) tomatoes
1 package (10 ounces) frozen baby lima beans

Brown ground beef in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine ground beef, salt, bay leaf, onion, celery, consommé, water and tomatoes. Cover tightly and cook slowly 2 hours. Add lima beans, bring to a boil and continue simmering 30 minutes or until beans are done. Discard bay leaf. 6 to 8 servings.

President Johnson Requests Americans Send No Pets

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, a dog lover but still a man of prudence, has asked that Americans not flood the White House with gifts of dogs and other animals.
He has asked that Americans not flood the White House with gifts of dogs and other animals. Specifically, the President accepted the gift of a white collie from a 9-year-old Illinois girl, but asked at the same time that others who want to send animal gifts to give them instead to children or institutions in their own communities.
The first family already had two Beagles and two Beagles just by themselves are a lot of dogs.
Every first family has been deluged with gifts, some of them probably to the point of embarrassment. No one likes to return a gift, or to refuse one that is well-meant, even if it is not particularly wanted and has to be fed.
The John F. Kennedys, having two small children, were particularly showered with pets, but they always seemed to have room for one more.
In addition to three ponies, the Kennedys were honored with dogs galore, the most famous being Pushinka, the offspring of a Soviet space dog. She was a gift from Premier Khrushchev. Other Kennedy dogs included Charlie, a Welsh terrier; an Irish wolfhound, various cockers, a German shepherd and some pups born to Pushinka and Charlie.

Dogs have always been the most popular presidential pets, beginning with George Washington. An exception to the dog-maniac line was President Harry S. Truman, but his friends were always quick to point out that he had nothing against dogs.
A White House dog that figured in politics was Fala, a lively Scottie belonging to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. In the 1944 presidential campaign, some critics of FDR charged that a destroyer was sent to the Aleutian Islands at heavy expense to the taxpayers after Fala allegedly had been left behind in one of the President's trips.
Roosevelt turned the tables in a radio broadcast, still remembered as a campaign masterpiece, which poked ridicule at politicians who stooped to attack "my little dog, Fala."

During the first world war the White House grounds were pasture for a flock of sheep. President Woodrow Wilson had a double purpose: to help keep the grass trimmed and to provide wool that could be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross.
President William McKinley had a parrot which, so it has been chronicled, could whistle "Yankee Doodle Dandy."
And President William Howard Taft owned a Jersey cow named Pauline.
The President inspected his cattle, took flowers to neighbors, entertained relatives, led 50 newsmen and photographers on a tour of his 12-room house, rode in a speedboat and ate a big turkey dinner.
In another Texas city, thousands of spectators passed in silence at the Dallas intersection where an assassin's bullets struck President Kennedy, hardly more than a month ago. Some 15,000 persons filed past the President's grave in Washington's Arlington National Cemetery.
In Palm Beach, Fla., Mrs. Kennedy attended a private Mass at the home of her father-in-law, Joseph P. Kennedy. Her children, Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, remained at home, but later exchanged gifts at their grandfather's home.

At Christmas Peace Still Eludes World

By The Associated Press
Christians observed their 19th Christmas since World War II with prayers and rejoicing despite fresh signs that universal peace remains an elusive goal. Communist border guards shot and killed an East German youth trying to escape over the Berlin wall while Red loudspeakers played Christmas music for more than 65,000 West Berliners pouring through the barrier into East Berlin.
Less than 500 miles from the land of Christ's birth, Greeks and Turks threatened to renew their civil war on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus. Two Turkish jet fighters buzzed the island providing additional fuel for what appeared to be an international crisis in the making.
In Cairo, the Egyptian press and radio reported the Arab world had warmly received President Gamal Abdel Nasser's plans for an Arab summit meeting to consider ways of preventing Israel from diverting waters of the Jordan River.
In South Viet Nam, fighting continued despite Communist proclamation of a 24-hour Christmas cease-fire.
Yet Christians still dreamed of peace as they marked the birth of the Prince of Peace.
In an act symbolic of Christ's concern for the humble, Pope Paul VI of the Roman Catholic Church celebrated Mass in a poor workers' section of Rome, heavily populated by Communists, and prayed at the bedside of a paralyzed woman. Thousands cheered when he accepted the gift of a lamb, itself an offering of peace.
More than 10,000 pilgrims flocked to Bethlehem to worship in the Judean hillside town where Christ was born.
Along the icy tundra line dividing North and South Korea, U.S. soldiers hoisted a huge electric sign toward the Communists saying "Merry Christmas." The Reds replied with Christmas carols and propaganda over their loudspeakers.
With much of the United States covered by snow, Americans at home enjoyed a white Christmas. But near Johnson City, Tex., where President Johnson spent Christmas with his family at the LBJ Ranch, the temperatures were in the 80s.

Junior Editors Quiz on ONIONS

QUESTION: Why do we cry when we cut onions?

ANSWER: Nothing unpleasant has happened to Jane in our picture; she was simply helping her mother get dinner by peeling some onions. The onion, while being a delicious vegetable, has a strong taste and smell. The plants contain an oil which can vaporize, or mix with the air, when one cuts or peels onions. In the nose, there are nerves connected with the eyes. The vapor affects these nerves which in turn agitate the tear glands, causing tears to flow. Such tears are one of nature's protective devices which work whether or not we ask them to.

Tears are very useful to clean and lubricate the eyeballs; actually, each time we blink, a little tear film is sucked out from the tear glands behind the eyelids and passes over the eye. Tears keep the strong onion vapor from irritating the eye. Real crying is caused by strong emotions tightening muscles around the tear glands, causing tears to be squeezed out.

FOR YOU TO DO: Check on how often you blink; you will probably find it happens every few seconds. Then check how wonderful it is to have such faithful little eye washers, who keep your vision clear all the time without your having to do anything about it!

(Lash Koe Weyand of Manhattan, Kan., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

The Snyder Tigers are in the annual Caprock Tournament today to participate in the annual Caprock Tournament. Snyder was scheduled to meet the powerful Midland Bulldogs of District 3-AAAA at 3 p.m.

If the Tigers win they will play their third win of the season, having defeated Hamlin twice. They have lost six.

Following the Caprock tournament, Snyder will be off until Jan. 7 when the Tigers will journey to Hamlin. The Tigers will then host Stamford Jan. 10 in the final non-district action of the season.

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Alie Sherman is leaving the fashion footwear for Sunday's National Football League title game to the individual choice of his New York Giants.

If WRigley Field in Chicago is frozen, the choice of shoes could be vital.

A number of Giants have said they would wear sneakers if the field of the conventional cleats if frozen conditions prevail. The team will take along several frozen pairs of sneakers.

"I'm leaving that up to the players," Sherman said on Wednesday about the shoe problem. "Anyone who wants to wear sneakers may do it."

The condition of the field, of course, could help determine the outcome of the Giants' clash with the Bears. One expert sized it up this way:

"If it snows or rains, the odds undoubtedly will switch in favor of the Bears. If it is cold and the field is frozen, it will be in favor of the team with the best passing attack and that gives the Giants and Y. A. Tittle the edge. The passing team has the advantage because the receiver knows where he's going to go and can get that vital step on the defender. Of course, the Bears can pass, too."

Coaches Chosen For Hula Bowl Game

HONOLULU (AP)—Oregon's Len Casanova and Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue will coach the North team this year in Honolulu's Hula Bowl football game at Honolulu Stadium on Jan. 4, the game committee announced today.

Woman Golfer Gets High Canadian Honor

TORONTO (AP)—Marlene Stewart Streib, winner of three major women's golf tournaments in a 1963 comeback, was selected today as Canada's outstanding woman athlete for the year.

When the ceremony is over the Texas Sports Hall of Fame will have grown to 41 members.

The Texas Sports Hall of Fame exhibit, which has members of its members, will be dedicated at the State Fair of Texas Jan. 1.

Holovak worked his Patriots out on a snowy practice field in Boston Wednesday and emphasized, "It will give us a preview of coming attractions. It might surprise us and turn out that the weather is less than frozen, but we're going on the assumption that we'll be playing on a frozen field."

Then he threw in some psychological warfare.

"A frozen field could put us behind the eight-ball. No question about it, a frozen field will help the Bills a lot more than it will help us. In fact, it's made to order for them."

Holovak based that fact on the different styles of Buffalo's coach Gilchrist and Boston's Larry Garrison, the leading ground gamers for each team.

"I'm concerned about the weather," said Saban after sending his team through a workout in a Buffalo area. "If Larry Garrison, the leading ground gamers for each team, floating concerns us most."

"A hard, frozen field," said Holovak, "would be better for Gilchrist's style than Garrison's since Larry is a cutter and is best on a fast field. Gilchrist is a power runner—effective in any weather. And he should be particularly hard to stop on a frozen field."

Holovak said he also thought a frozen field would give the Bills an advantage to stress their passing.

Saban, however, wasn't about to concede the Bills would have all the advantages, but admitted Buffalo might have a surprise.

Holovak worked his Patriots out on a snowy practice field in Boston Wednesday and emphasized, "It will give us a preview of coming attractions. It might surprise us and turn out that the weather is less than frozen, but we're going on the assumption that we'll be playing on a frozen field."

Then he threw in some psychological warfare.

"A frozen field could put us behind the eight-ball. No question about it, a frozen field will help the Bills a lot more than it will help us. In fact, it's made to order for them."

Holovak based that fact on the different styles of Buffalo's coach Gilchrist and Boston's Larry Garrison, the leading ground gamers for each team.

Staubach Sees Bowl Game As Chance Of A Lifetime

DALLAS (AP)—"It is the chance of a lifetime," said Roger Staubach.

The top college player of the year was speaking of the Cotton Bowl football game his Navy team will play with Texas next Wednesday.

Staubach quarterbacked the Navy team that had a 9-1 season, was picked as No. 2 in the nation and given the opportunity of playing national champion Texas.

The tall, handsome Heisman Trophy winner and All-American on everybody's team, flew into Dallas Wednesday night. He was with the advance guard as the Middles assembled at the site of the Cotton Bowl game to start the final stage of their training.

"We are looking forward to this game with great anticipation," said Staubach. "I am sure Texas players feel the same way, that it is an opportunity that comes only once in a lifetime."

Roger was a trifle grim as he expressed confidence in Navy's ability to beat Texas and lay an unofficial claim to the national championship.

"There is no question but that Texas is No. 1," he said. "My opinion isn't necessary. The sports writers picked Texas as No. 1 and they did it with careful consideration."

He said he saw Texas against

Both Shrine Teams Are Pass-Happy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—It's beginning to look like if anyone on either the East or West teams wants to run with the ball this Saturday they're going to have to catch it first.

Both West Coach Jim Sutherland, formerly of Washington State, and his East counterpart, Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, have kept their squads running through pass patterns in practices for the Shrine game in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

In all star games such as this where preparation time is minimal, passes are normally predominant. But indications are that even some of the time running backs on both teams will get their starts downfield mainly from screen and swing passes instead of handoffs.

The East has scheduled a no-contest drill for today. The West coaching staff is thinking about a little body bruising. But the West had by far the more severe workout on Christmas—a 24-hour grind with no intermissions for the toughest practice yet.

About the only departure Christmas from the emphasis on passing still kept the ball in the air. The East worked on punting with left-footed guard Joe O'Donnell of Michigan getting his full 240 pounds behind one boot which traveled 71 yards in the air. Iowa's Mike Reilly, also a guard who kicks with his left foot, punted a few footballs far down the field.

"We're set for anything," declared Mollenkopf. "If the West throws a right-handed pitcher at us we can send in a left-footed kicker. Just like baseball, you know."

Paul Krause of Iowa kicks with the right foot. He'll be the place kicker for the East, if plans work out.

Davis Cup Action

Ralston Wins; Chuck Loses

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Unpredictable Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., won his American tennis ace Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., lost today as the United States and Australia's defenders ti 1-1 in the opening singles of the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

Ralston, slender, 21-year-old University of Southern California junior, pulled out of a tailspin to overcome 19-year-old John Newcombe, a surprise starter, 6-4, 6-1, 3-6, 4-6, 7-5, in the opening match of the best-of-five series for the storied Cup, symbol of world tennis supremacy.

Ror Emerson, 27, the Australian champion, downed McKinley, 22, the Wimbledon king from Trinity University of Texas, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 7-6 to even the competition before a capacity crowd of 7,000 in the Memorial Drive Stadium.

The outcome probably will be decided by the doubles match Friday in which Emerson and 30-year-old Neale Fraser will take on Ralston and McKinley. On Saturday, Ralston, who has been playing superbly in Australia, will meet Emerson and McKinley will oppose Newcombe.

Before the opening singles, the Americans, making their first appearance in the Challenge Round since losing to Australia 3-2 at Forest Hills, N.Y., in 1959, were favored to end the Aussies' four-year hold on the Cup. The Australians have won the trophy over Italy, the U.S. with triumphs over Italy in 1960 and 1961 and over Mexico in 1962.

Ralston blew three match points when he was leading 5-3 in the fifth set. Newcombe pulled up to 5-5 but his inexperience proved costly when, with Ralston leading 6-5, he double-faulted to give Ralston match point. This time Ralston didn't fail.

Emerson made a tremendous comeback in the third set after losing the first two with McKinley. The rangy Queenslander seemed to be on the way out after losing the second set and trailing 1-4 and 3-5 in the third. But he steadied his nerves and his service, and then broke McKinley's service in the 10th and 12th games to win.

In the fourth set, Emerson, sensing victory, raced off to a 4-1 lead. He could do no wrong. Then his game faltered and McKinley came storming back to tie the set at 5-5. But that was the stock collegian's last gasp. Emerson once again settled down, held service and made the key service break for victory.

Alabama's Players To Lose Extra Weight

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's football players will lose any extra poundage put on by Christmas turkey day as they resume workouts for their Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl date with Mississippi.

Coach Paul Bryant has warned the clash could be the "greatest mismatch in bowl history." If team play isn't improved.

Bryant said a lot of time will be spent on "learning how to block people," and other heavy contract work. This will keep any kinks left in the Tigers from their four-day Christmas holiday break.

The 'Bama squad leaves Mobile Monday morning for New Orleans for an afternoon workout pulled up to 5-5 but his

Rocky's Tactics To Be Altered

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is abandoning attacks on Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in his GOP presidential nomination drive. The New York governor, only announced candidate for the nomination, resumes campaigning with a Jan. 3 Portsmouth, N.H., speech after a month's political moratorium following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The sweeping political changes brought about by the probability that President Johnson will head the 1964 Democratic ticket are expected to be reflected in altered campaign tactics by Rockefeller.

In the period preceding Kennedy's death, Rockefeller gave about equal time to attacking Goldwater for his conservative views and to lambasting Kennedy for what the governor said was the President's failure to live up to his 1960 promises on civil rights, action to end unemployment and to get the country moving faster economically. Rockefeller was said by associates to be planning in the Portsmouth speech to lay down in broad terms the reasons he is running for the nomination and what he would hope to do if he were elected president.

The decision to abandon attacks on Goldwater apparently stems from the belief in the Rockefeller camp that the Arizona senator has become a less attractive candidate against Johnson than he would have been against Kennedy.

The Rockefeller people are making no claims that the governor has passed Goldwater in popular support among Republicans. But they think the field is now wide open and there would not be much profit in continuing to single out one man as a target among many who may be contenders for the nomination.

This could change, of course, if the March 10 New Hampshire primary narrows to a Rockefeller-Goldwater contest.

Rockefeller's associates don't believe there is much political mileage in attacking Johnson at this point. That can come later, after the new President has begun to make his own record. But there would be little to peg such attacks on in the New Hampshire campaigning.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

IXTAPAN, Mexico — I have been lying here in the hammock reading a very scientific article which is entitled "Don't Worry" and it has me pretty worried.

The problem involved seems to be that scientists are not in close agreement about whether we should or should not worry. One doctor writes that the happy person is free from worries, or as nearly free as possible. Another authority on the subject writes (in the same article, mind you) that the happy man is one who has just a healthy amount of worry.

Now just how much is a "healthy amount" of worry? To try and reach a conclusion of some sort, I discussed the matter with Elpidio (our gardener) a fellow who runs a kind of general store here and several people who walked along the street past our spread.

Elpidio wasn't quite sure what worry was. So I explained that it is a type of anxiety about things like taxes, maladjustment in social roles, an increase in negative feelings and trying to keep the female members of your family more or less in line.

Possibly he thought about it but he went across the yard whistling and trimmed the bushes. (Later, he confided that he hadn't the faintest idea what I was talking about.)

The general storekeeper suggested a "healthy amount" of worry might be like poison — a dose not big enough to kill you but which would leave you only partially conscious and disinterested.

Of the passersby, 78 per cent seemed to have a rather care-free attitude about everything. They felt a healthy amount of worry was in the same category as a healthy amount of leprosy, which would be none at all.

One fellow, in a somewhat unsteady condition, answered my question by saying he was lost from a fiesta he had gone to and was worried that it might end before he could find his way back.

Unfortunately I've lost my notes on the other answers and thus the controversy rages with me. Mexicans, however, do not seem to worry about whether they should worry or not. They are inclined to take things in stride, which could be bad in case the second doctor is correct in his theory.

Since science has a split opinion on this subject, why can't people be schizophrenic about it also? Perhaps the most simple approach to living would be to accept both theories by (1) not having any worries at all and (2) developing a healthy amount in order to improve personal and collective efficiency.

Using as a basis the opinions of the doctors who put together the worry article and that of a mechanic down the street who put together the front end of my car last week, I have drawn up several exercises which may be used free of charge by all readers and - or editors who are in good standing with the publisher.

1. Get out of bed at 2:15 each morning, sit in the middle of the floor with crossed legs (yours) and ask yourself, "Will I meet a tragic death, be in-

Two Texas Lassies In Competition

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Marion Diane Holbrook of Dallas and Jeanne Wehmer of Dallas are Texas' representatives among the 20 finalists who arrive Saturday to compete for the title of 1964 Maid of Cotton.

Thirteen cotton-growing states are represented in the final competition Sunday and Monday.

The winner, who will start a seven-month international tour with an appearance in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, will be named Monday night.

Miss Holbrook, who has brown eyes and brown hair, is a junior majoring in psychology at the University of Texas, where she is a member of Orange jackets, angel flight and is Delta Gamma's representative to Pan Hellenic. She was secretary of the freshman council during her first year at the University and last year was freshman co-ordinator.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holbrook of Dallas, she is a graduate of Highland Park High School.

Miss Wehmer, a blue-eyed blonde, was Miss Corpus Christi of 1963. An expert twirler, she is a Texas state with the Longhorn Band at the University of Texas, where she is now a freshman. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wehmer of Mathis, she was an honor student, class officer, and FFA sweetheart at Mathis High School.

New Mexico's entry in the Maid of Cotton contest, Suzie Appleton, a strawberry blonde from Deming, attends McMurtry College at Abilene, Tex. She is a junior at McMurtry and a junior senator in the student association. She formerly was an American field service exchange student to Italy.

Tippit Family In Traffic Accident
PARIS (AP) — Mrs. J. D. Tippit and her three children were in a traffic accident in Paris Wednesday night. The two cars were damaged but no one was hurt.

Mrs. Tippit, widow of the Dallas policeman shot and killed Nov. 22 less than an hour after President Kennedy was assassinated, and her children were en route to Clarksville, Tex., to visit Tippit's father.

Dalbert Powers, Paris businessman and driver of the other car, was alone.

Viet Nam's War On Reds Continues Taking Grim Toll

EDITOR'S NOTE—The continuing struggle against Communists in South Viet Nam takes a grim toll reported in communications that reduce death to a statistic. Sometimes overlooked is the human impact of sudden death. The wife of a U.S. Army officer in Saigon describes in this story for The Associated Press the terrible loss a statistic represents for a young Vietnamese bride.

By ELSE BAKER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—It seemed to be an ordinary night. We retired early and didn't hear the ring of the bell that heralded the news.

The next morning I came downstairs to find our No. 1 housemaid in tears. I didn't have to ask. She blurted out: "Oh, mam, boy that marry Dieu, he's no more. He die."

Dieu is our No. 2 maid, a robust, jolly, fun-loving girl of 19, young enough not to have learned to hide her feelings very well. I attended her wedding to Long, a young Vietnamese marine, last August—such a short time ago.

My heart broke when Dieu stumbled into my arms sobbing, "Mam, mam, they say Long won't come back. No more Long and Dieu."

It was one of the biggest offensives against the Communist Viet Cong, an attack on an enemy stronghold so close to Saigon that we could hear the artillery fire from our house for three days.

Statistically, the losses were small—14 wounded the first day, one killed and 9 wounded the second day.

The one killed on the second day was Long.

Just a few weeks before, our house was one of the most beautiful and happiest in Saigon. Dieu could hardly wait for dinner to be completed so that she could pedal off on her bicycle to be with her husband. I've never seen a happier young girl than Dieu in the days before Long's outfit was pulled out for the attack.

Now it was over and we were faced with the reality of his death.

She told me the funeral would be held quickly and that the first thing to do was to give flowers. The second thing was to donate money, a custom which she told me the government would pay the cost of the funeral but that I should tell the money was to help meet burial costs.

In Viet Nam, red is the color for marriage, white for death. So we went to the market to buy white clothes in which to dress Long for burial and for Dieu to wear as his widow.

Finally, Long's body was escorted in a white sheet. The top was nailed on the coffin. Then the Vietnamese flag was draped across it. Offerings of fruit and money were made to the young widow. An officer from Long's company stood at attention at the head of the coffin. As we stood there, a helicopter flew overhead, circled slowly, then landed on the hospital grounds nearby. It carried another load of wounded from the body lay, funeral preparations front.

The Rhode Island Police extended Hawaii, Connecticut and Massachusetts boast the best records among the states in regular speed checks — and the ensuring public safety — with help from the state's highway patrolmen.

Much of the credit for Hawaii's low traffic toll is given to the incentive program to encourage safe driving is used by the state's largest city, Honolulu.

"The whole objective is to make the public safety conscious," says Lt. Eugene Fletcher, head of the traffic accident investigation bureau of the Honolulu police.

The incentive program to encourage safe driving is used by the state's largest city, Honolulu.

"If there are no traffic fatalities for 75 days, we give the motorists a reward by closing the parking meters for a day," said Dr. P. J. Police Chief George Martin.

Hawaii is not faced with three factors that contribute to many traffic deaths on the mainland — speed, fatigue and the out-of-state driver.

"The chief state highway engineer, John Myatt, said, 'The motorists are familiar with the highways and this is a big point. The greatest speed limit on the island of Oahu is 45 miles an hour,' he said.

"Fatigue isn't a problem here because you could go around the island of Oahu in four or five hours without pushing it," Fletcher added.

Hawaii recorded no traffic deaths last year. Seventy-one occurred on Oahu, which has 80 per cent of the state's population.

Coordinating the battle against traffic accidents in Connecticut is the 21-member Connecticut Safety Commission — citizens appointed by the governor.

Three Es are in effect: Educating the public, engineering better roads and enforcing motor vehicle and pedestrian laws. Safety officials depend heavily on newspapers, radio and television to carry their message to the people. Representatives of state agencies speak at schools and civic events. Newsletters on safety are widely distributed.

The safety commission and state police coordinate statewide regional traffic safety conferences. The commission sponsors a conference of community and state safety officials.

In 1962 Americans consumed 640 pounds of dairy products apiece.

Mrs. Ervin died at 5:30 a.m. Dec. 26 at Methodist Memorial Hospital in Lubbock.

Born March 27, 1911 in Pampa County, Mrs. Ervin was married Dec. 27, 1941 at Gatesville. She had lived at Ranger before moving to Scurry County in 1942.

The funeral services will be held at the Hermligh Methodist Church of which Mrs. Ervin was a member, with the pastor, the Rev. T. H. Taylor, officiating. Burial will be in the Hermligh Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Mrs. Ervin is survived by her husband; Willard; one daughter, Mrs. Billie Ruth Way of Sweetwater; one son Walter Jack of Hermligh; three sisters, Mrs. A. A. Emerson of Sherman, Mrs. Lloyd Reeves of Hermligh, and Mrs. Melvin Smith of Jacksonville; three brothers, Neal of Shamokin, Pa., Walter Dean of San Antonio, and Lynn of Del Rio; her father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Johnson of Ira.

Palbearers will be Jim Farr, Quist Wilfers, Doug Vineyard, R. C. Young, Fred Campbell and Nathan Campbell.

private sales of U.S. wheat to Russia. Soviet negotiators, however, have been hailing at the American terms.

The Russians have objected particularly to the U.S. requirement that part of the grain be shipped on U.S. vessels, whose rates are higher than those of foreign shippers.

The U.S. traders who applied for the licenses were said to have indicated that the Russians were proposing to pay cash. This would appear to rule out complications over extending credit to them, although the licenses did not specifically require cash.

The shipping requirement has been the bigger stumbling block in the lengthy wheat discussions. The Soviets reportedly have not made much ado about demanding credit.

If the sales go through, they could be a forerunner of even bigger shipments.

The Soviets have shown interest in buying a total of some $550 million of U.S. grain.

Probe Asked In Disaster Of Lakonia

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home is studying demands for a full British inquiry into the Lakonia ship disaster.

Latest figures issued by the ship's Greek owners put the number of known survivors at 901, the dead at 96 and the missing at 31.

The Greek Line said no official list of the dead and missing would be issued before Wednesday morning to permit double checking.

The prime minister agreed Thursday night to consider the demand of Patrick Gordon Walker, Labor party spokesman on foreign affairs, for a British inquiry.

Most British newspapers supported the demand.

Gordon Walker said the British government should inquire into the tragedy because most of the Lakonia's 651 passengers were British and the cruise was organized by agents in Britain.

Texas 'White House' Astir With Foreign, US Problems

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Foreign affairs dominated President Johnson's activities today as he keeps watch on the Cyprus crisis and prepares for talks with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany.

Erhard is the first major European leader to hold full-scale talks with the new American President. He flies in to Houston this afternoon and begins two days of conferences at the U.S. Ranch Saturday.

Summoned to the holiday White House in the Texas hill country today were half a dozen Washington officials including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

McCone's mission was described as a routine one to brief the President on developments abroad — on Cyprus and elsewhere. From Rusk Johnson was to hear about Cyprus and the two-day Erhard visit that began Saturday.

Freeman was assigned to help Johnson discuss farm trade problems with the new German chancellor.

Foreign affairs have held a priority position in Johnson's official routine since Thursday afternoon.

He created then a nine-man governmental committee to make a hurry-up study of the beleaguered foreign aid program and recommend basic structural changes.

The holiday White House made public a series of personal messages in which Johnson appealed for a quick halt to "this terrible fraternal strife" between Turks and Greeks on Cyprus.

In letters to Archbishop Makarios, president of Cyprus; Vice President Fazil Kutchuk and President Cemal Gursel of Turkey, Johnson pledged complete support for any reasonable action to halt the Cypriot bloodletting.

The Foreign Aid Committee, headed by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, was given Jan. 15 to look at Cyprus, arms, economize, simplify and strengthen them.

Erhard's Texas talks are expected to range from trade and European Common Market problems to West German military aid. Western negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Domestic concerns were not entirely forgotten, however. Johnson also took time to nominate the father of 3-year-old Lyndon Abell to be an assistant postmaster general.

Young Abell's father, Tyler Abell, is the husband of Beth Clements Abell, social secretary to Lady Bird Johnson. He has worked for the Post Office Department since 1961.

The chief executive said the appointment was proposed by Postmaster General John Gronouski.

Erhard's meeting with Johnson is one of a series of conferences he is holding with Western leaders. In November he met with French President Charles de Gaulle. On Jan. 15 he travels to Britain and on Jan. 27 to Italy, two countries which also have new men at the heads of their governments.

He did.

Unaided British Troops Patrol Nicosia's Streets Turk Troops Are Delayed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British patrols moved through Nicosia today to keep the peace on explosive Cyprus, but disagreement delayed plans for Greek and Turkish soldiers to join them.

At the southeast port of Larnaca, a British soldier was shot and slightly wounded in the shoulder while on a similar patrol. The patrols are designed primarily for the protection of British civilians.

In Nicosia, however, the British were waved through roadblocks of both Greek and Turkish armed Cypriots, whose fighting in five bloody days beginning last Saturday caused grave international concern.

Commanders of the British, Greek and Turkish garrisons stationed on this eastern Mediterranean island met in the morning but were unable to agree on the composition of the mixed patrols.

"We have British patrols out, whose primary purpose is to protect British families," Lt. Gen. P. G. Young, British army commander on Cyprus, told reporters after the meeting.

Young said there were no Greek and Turkish army patrols out and it would take longer to organize them because of language difficulties.

The small Turkish and Greek army garrisons remained at opposite ends of this capital. Their movement from their treaty bases into Nicosia Christmas Day led to fears of a showdown that might embroil Greece and Turkey, both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Greek and Turkish Cypriots generally have observed the Christmas Day cease-fire, ending a conflict that began Saturday with an exchange of gunfire between a Greek Cypriot police patrol and Turkish Cypriots.

But a few shots still could be heard at times from the north-east sector of the border dividing the Greek and Turkish sectors of Nicosia as the first British column entered the Turkish sector.

The government of Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president, appealed for public cooperation with the joint Greek-Turkish-British patrols "so that the task of the forces in assisting in restoration of law and order may be more effectively achieved."

The latest eruption of fighting in the long antagonism between the Mediterranean island's Greek majority and Turkish minority aroused growing international concern.

Cyprus asked for a meeting of the U.N. Security Council, charging Turkey with aggression and use of force. Turkey denied the charges.

Britain ordered 1,000 infantrymen flown to Cyprus to reinforce the 10,000-man British garrison, who are mostly Royal Air Force personnel untrained for street fighting.

From his ranch in Texas, President Johnson appealed to Cypriots to make any sacrifice to end "this terrible fraternal strife."

He also promised "to support any and all actions" by Britain, Greece and Turkey to achieve peace.

The conflict also caused deep concern at the headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris. Both Turkey and Greece are NATO members. An open breach between them over Cyprus would weaken the alliance's eastern flank. NATO's permanent council met Christmas to consider the crisis.

In addition to the British troops, there are 550 Greek soldiers and 650 Turkish troops on the island under the 1960 treaty granting Cyprus independence from Britain.

Since a Christmas Eve ceasefire, the fighting has simmered down to infrequent bursts of shooting.

Snyder Man Is Killed In Rig Mishap

Funeral services have been set for 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Hermligh for Larry Gale Calvert, 21, who was killed early this morning in a drilling rig accident near Ackerly.

Calvert, whose home is at 804 Twenty-third Street in Hermligh, was reportedly killed instantly when a pin came out of a set of tongs, allowing them to spin. He was struck in the back.

His twin brother, Gary, who was also working on the floor of the rig, was also struck and knocked from the floor. He was brought to Cogdell hospital by the rig's tool pusher. Gary's injuries were not believed to be serious. He has been placed in traction at the hospital.

Born July 4, 1942, in Muleshoe, Mr. Calvert had been a resident of Hermligh before moving to Snyder.

He is survived by his wife, Alice; two daughters, Sherry Gayle, 3, and Judy Lynn, 2; Walker, Labor party spokesman on foreign affairs, for a British inquiry.

Most British newspapers supported the demand.

Gordon Walker said the British government should inquire into the tragedy because most of the Lakonia's 651 passengers were British and the cruise was organized by agents in Britain.

Won't Oppose Trial Delay For Ruby

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade will not oppose a defense request for a week delay of the Jack Ruby murder trial. Ruby is charged with killing Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of killing President Kennedy.

Ruby's lawyers will ask Judge Joe Brown to postpone the trial from Feb. 3 to Feb. 10 "because of conflict."

Wade said Thursday he will agree to the delay provided court records show it was granted at the request of defense lawyers.

Wade commented: "We are ready for trial and want the case tried as soon as possible. But we realize we could not block a postponement if the defense requests it since this is the first time the case has been set."

Embassy In Sofia Stoned

VIENNA (AP) — Anti-American demonstrators using icicles and ice chunks from the street smashed all windows on the first three floors of the U.S. legation in Sofia, Bulgaria, today. The demonstrators overturned four American cars outside.

In Washington, the U.S. government said it planned an immediate protest to the Bulgarian government which recently had been warming its relations with the United States.

Reports reaching here by telephone from the U.S. legation mentioned no casualties among the legation staff.

The Bulgarian news agency BTA said the demonstration was in protest against alleged U.S. employment of a former Bulgarian diplomat, Ivan Asen Christov Georgiev, as a spy.

"The demonstration was of university students and young people who expressed their indignation at the traitorous activity of the spy," BTA said.

Georgiev, No. 2 man of Communist Bulgaria's U.N. delegation from 1959 to 1961, pleaded guilty before Bulgaria's Supreme Court Thursday to spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. He implied that he expected the death penalty.

The legation spokesman said he felt Bulgarian police "took their time" in getting to the legation to drive off the demonstrators. He pointed out that a militiaman is stationed in front of the building at all times and has a telephone with which to summon aid if needed.

He said the demonstration began shortly after 11 a.m. but the police did not arrive until 11:45. Then they slowly began to force the demonstrators away.

By 12:15, the spokesman said, the situation appeared under control, and the crowd had been driven to the ends of the street on which the legation is located.

But "the demonstrators are still down the street and we think it would be unwise for any American to try to leave," he added.

The spokesman said a protest would be made to the Bulgarian Foreign Ministry. The American minister, Mrs. Eugene Anderson, is in the United States.

It was the first Bulgarian demonstration against the United States reported in almost two years.

On April 19, 1961, hundreds rallied in front of the legation to protest the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba. They hurled stones at the building and smashed windows.

In recent months Bulgarian Communist leaders have repeatedly hinted they would like better relations with the United States.

Disputers Solicit Philippine Aid

MANILA (AP) — The United States and Thailand, which border Cambodia and have historic disputes with it.

The foreign ministers of Cambodia and South Viet Nam are meeting in Saigon in an attempt to restore diplomatic relations severed last August after the late President Ngo Dinh Diem's troops raided Buddhist pagodas in Viet Nam. Sihanouk is a Buddhist.

Much of the deteriorating U.S.-Cambodian relationship results from Sihanouk's belief that the United States, along with its Vietnamese allies, is backing the movement of Cambodian rebels. The United States has denied any complicity.

U.S.-Cambodian relations deteriorated rapidly after the Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, announced Nov. 19 he would accept no more American aid and ordered U.S. military and economic personnel to leave his Southeast Asian nation. There have been fears in the West that Cambodia is drifting toward Communist China.

Lopez said he conferred twice with U.S. Ambassador William E. Stevenson, and the Philippine ambassador in South Viet Nam has been in contact with the Philippine consulate general in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital.

In Washington, U.S. sources said Filipino President Diosdado Macapagal offered the use of his good offices last Friday. But indications are the United States is approaching the matter cautiously since it also involves U.S. relations with pro-Western South Viet Nam and

Salvo Seen As 'Hat In Ring'

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's sudden salvo at President Johnson may be a signal that the Arizona Republican has decided to plunge into the 1964 presidential race.

"I guess the senator's running again," White House press secretary Pierre Salinger remarked to newsmen at Austin, Tex.

Johnson, vacationing at his ranch near Johnson City, Tex., had no comment on Goldwater's charge that the President had unfairly put pressure on Congress in his fight over the foreign aid money bill.

Seek Source Of Alcohol

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Home-icide detectives are seeking the source of wood alcohol which has killed 20 men in the last four days on Philadelphia's skid row.

Dr. Joseph W. Spelman, city medical examiner, said he believed the alcohol came from a single source.

Most of the victims, said Dr. Spelman, were found in rooming houses or hotels. In many of their rooms, investigators found liquor bottles containing small amounts of liquid which was 50 to 75 per cent wood alcohol, he said.

Spelman said that from Jan. 1 until last Monday there had been but three fatal cases of wood alcohol poisoning reported. He said the sudden increase led him to believe a single source was involved.

Last year about 20 men were killed in New York City by wood alcohol poisoning.

Rally Enduring In Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market extended its post-Christmas rally into a second session early this afternoon.

A number of key issues picked up a point or nearly a point, although generally the price level was below the morning's best. The trading pace was speedier than Thursday when volume fell to a four-month low.

Market analysts began talking about a belated yearend rally in the final sessions of the year.

At noon, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was ahead 1.3 at 285.4 with industrials up 2.0, rails up .7 and utilities up 4.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 3.4 at 763.56.

Among the wide-ranging issues, Xerox retained a gain of about 7 from an earlier advance of around 10. IBM was ahead about 4 compared with a 6-point bulge early in the session.

In the business news background was a rise in the consumer price index to a record high in November.

Airline and rail issues again

Observers noted that Goldwater, figured by the polls as the front runner among possible GOP presidential contenders before the Nov. 22 assassination of John F. Kennedy, had begun jabbing at Johnson at least two weeks ahead of his previously announced schedule.

In a Dec. 5 interview, Goldwater announced a "major reassessment" of his plans and said that he would wait until after Johnson's State of the Union address Jan. 8 before assessing the new President.

Noting that Johnson would start to establish his own record at that time, Goldwater said that "shortly thereafter the Republican party will begin to praise or criticize."

With Thursday's blast, sent to Senate Republicans on his Phoenix home where he is recuperating from minor surgery, Goldwater came out swinging at both Johnson's policies and his methods.

"I deeply resent the President's attempts to play politics with Christmas by stampeding votes on the highly questionable foreign aid bill," he said, adding that Johnson was "trying to treat congressmen as his personal errand boys."

The arm-wrestling of Senate members to bring them into town to do nothing but rubber stamp the executive's demand is rash and altogether out of order," Goldwater continued.

He referred to plans for a Senate meeting Monday to give final congressional approval to the $3-billion foreign aid money bill for the year that started last July 1.

Steeles were quiet with major steelmakers picking up small fractions.

Chrysler was up and down all morning. At one time the price was off a point and soon after it was up just as much. It retained a slight upside edge.

Ford and Studebaker also gained small fractions while GM was unchanged.

American Crystal Sugar surged upward by 3 points. Central Aguirre, Holly Sugar and South Puerto Rico gained fractions.

Consolidated Natural Gas fell about 1 while GE added about 1. The company announced changes in its divisional setup.

DuPont was ahead more than 2 1/2. Merck about 1 1/4.

U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Meets And Adjourns In Only Two Seconds

WASHINGTON (AP)—It took only two seconds today for the Senate to convene and adjourn until 10 a.m. Monday when it will act on final passage of the controversial $3-billion foreign aid bill. That action will pave the way for adjournment until Jan. 7.

The pro forma session was adjourned by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., almost as soon as he came down as presiding officer. The previous record of a three-second session, established last July 5, was tied Aug. 3.

Only Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis.; Thomas Morse, D-Ore.; and Wayne H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the GOP whip, were on hand when the quick ceremony took place. Under previous agreement, no business was permitted. The session was necessary to comply with Senate rules requiring a meeting every three days.

American farmers use a third as much steel as the United States auto industry.

Flies Presidential Flag, But He's 'Still Just Folks'

By ERNEST STROMBERGER

Associated Press Writer

JOHNSON CITY (AP)—President Lyndon Johnson has replaced the Texas flag on his ranch flagstaff with the presidential banner, but he still is just a neighbor to the farmers and ranchers who live nearby.

His neighbors say the only change for them is a bigger pride in Johnson and fewer visits to his LBJ Ranch. Some report that out-of-state friends are anxious to visit them so they can see the Texas White House.

Texas highway patrolmen are making sure the narrow farm roads in front of the Johnson ranch house don't become jammed with the increased number of tourists. The road is posted with rare "no parking" signs, and the patrolmen allow no stopping.

The landscaped bank of the Pedernales River leading to the ranch house is brightly lit at night. All ranch entrances are guarded.

The security measures make no difference to one Johnson neighbor, Ernest Hodges.

Hodges said he waves to the Secret Service men in a guard shack on the property line separating his and the Johnson ranch as he goes about his work.

Demands Ouster Of Supermarket Chains

DENVER (AP)—The ouster of supermarket chains from the food processing industry has been demanded by Paul Swisher, Colorado agriculture commissioner.

Swisher warned Thursday that, whether or not the chains are barred from processing, consumers may face eventual increases in prices for agricultural products. He said removing supermarkets from the processing industry is a necessary step to grant relief to farmers and stockmen caught in a cost-sales price squeeze.

Mishap Investigated

The Snyder police department investigated a mishap at 8:02 a.m. today at Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue M.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: He is 55 and divorced. She is 50 and has never been married. They have been going steady for nine years. She has a furnished apartment and he lives in a rooming house. About a year ago she took him in as a "boarder."

She claims that there is nothing wrong with it because he is only a boarder and not a roomer. They go everywhere together. Her father objects and so do her sisters and brothers. She is ruining the family name. What can be done about it?

A SISTER
DEAR SISTER: Nothing. It is entirely possible that the man is only a rumormonger.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 and am engaged to marry a fine man of 29. He is a college graduate and very intelligent. He is a fault is that he isn't very particular about his appearance. Sometimes his shirts are not ironed, or he could have buttons missing from his shirt or jacket, or his shoes aren't shined. Or maybe he will have a few spots on his clothing. This doesn't bother him, and it doesn't bother me, either — but it does bother my mother. She says I should tell him he shouldn't go around looking like that. I think I should wait until after we're married and then it will be my responsibility to see that his shirts are ironed, and his clothes are clean and have buttons. What do you think?

NOT BOTHERED
DEAR NOT: If neither you nor he is "bothered" about his careless appearance, wait until after you are married and then try "teaching" him up. But don't be surprised if you find him careless about his person in other ways.

Living Costs Still Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs, as measured by the government, rose two-tenths of one per cent in November to a new high.

The Labor Department reported today that the increase resulted mainly from higher housing and food costs, although prices of many other goods and services also advanced.

The November consumer price index, at 107.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average, was 1.3 per cent above a year earlier.

The figure means that consumer items which could be bought for $10 in the 1957-59 period now cost $10.74.

Food prices, which usually decline in November, increased 0.2 per cent. Advances in prices of fresh fruits and vegetables, and sugar were the principal factors. Fresh vegetables were up 7.8 per cent and sugar rose 6.7 per cent.

Housing costs advanced 0.3 per cent during November.

In a companion report, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported a 2-cent rise in averaged hourly earnings of factory workers to $2.49 an hour.

Take home pay—gross earnings less Social Security and federal income taxes—rose by 46 cents to $88.77 a week for workers with three dependents. A worker without dependents received $80.93. In each case, this represented a gain over a year ago of about $2.50.

Hodges agreed with Simon Burg, another neighboring farmer and rancher, that Johnson will remain "the same old Lyndon."

Burg said he didn't visit Johnson because he wants to "let him relax."

Plan New 1964 Wheat Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Should Congress authorize a new wheat program for 1964, all growers would be given an opportunity to participate in it, Agriculture Department officials said today.

The winter wheat portion of the crop, already has been planted.

Under plans advocated by a number of farm organizations and generally favored by government farm leaders, participation would require that the 1964 crop harvested acreage be no larger than acreage planting allotments set last spring under a new control plan advocated by the Kennedy administration but rejected by growers at a referendum.

Benefits under these plans would include supplementary payments on the production of farms in compliance with allotments. A large percentage of the winter wheat farmers did not overplant allotments, so they would be eligible automatically for the payments. Those who overplanted could plow up their excess acres and become eligible.

Under a plan advocated by the American Farm Bureau federation, all allotments would be dropped and price supports would be raised — for all wheat — from the present prospects of a 1964 crop average of $1.25 a bushel to around $1.45. Under the program as it stands now, price supports are limited to those in compliance with planting allotments.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED— Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams have been invited to an Open House Sunday, Dec. 29, at the couple's home on the Roby Highway. The Open House is being given by the children of Mr. and Mrs. Williams to honor their parents on the occasion of their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary. Hours have been set from 2 to 5 p.m.

How Long Can You Not Think About You?

THE McLANDRESS DIMENSION. By Mark Epernay.

The uses of this small book are twofold. You can get some chuckles out of it in the reading, and then you can make smart conversation about it the next cocktail hour.

The author pretends to be a journalist describing the learned investigations of a Dr. Herschel McLandress. But "Epernay" has been identified as the Harvard economist John Kenneth Galbraith, who has held a number of important assignments in the Kennedy administration.

The imaginary Dr. McLandress has invented an index to measure the average length of time a subject's attention can be diverted from his own personality. If he is self-centered, he has a low coefficient of a few minutes.

There is a lot of fun in reading off the coefficients of many celebrities in dozens of fields of endeavor (the Rev. Martin Luther King, 4 hours; Richard M. Nixon, 3 seconds; and Prof. Galbraith himself sets a low among government people at 1 minute, 15 seconds).

Equally amusing is McLandress' formula for measuring status in what he calls the American Sociometric Peirage. With mock academic jargon, he sets up Maximum Prestige Horizons for various occupations, and then rates some well-known individuals within these classifications.

For good measure the learned doctor sets up a consulting center to provide pat, double-talk answers on international questions, for the use of big business executives participating — for prestige purposes — in campus seminars on deep-dish problems.

These and other gambits provide the author with broad gauge opportunities for satire. But he also has a deft way of slipping in some more subtle, sly digs. And don't overlook the fact that in using this mock academic format he has concocted a pretty devastating burlesque of the so-called behavioral sciences.

Mince Pie

Flaky pastry for 2-crust 8-inch pie.

1 jar (1 pound, 2½ ounces) rum and brandy-flavored mince-meat.

1 medium tart apple (pared, cored, and chopped fine)

4 teaspoons grated orange rind

Roll out half of pastry ½-inch thick; line an 8-inch pie plate with it. Roll out remaining pastry for lattice top and cut into ½-inch strips.

Mix together the mince-meat, apple and orange rind. Spread over bottom crust. Weave pastry strips lattice - fashion over mince-meat. Trim bottom crust and fold over or under strips to seal, form a high rim and flute. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until pastry is brown. If made ahead, reheat before serving. Note: We like to place a strip of foil around the edge of the pie when it goes into the oven, removing it toward the end of the baking time.

Meaty Party Snacks

When planning party tidbits for a open house or New Year's party prepare several kinds of meat snacks. They are not only satisfying, but so many different kinds can be created.

Leftover Turkey Sandwiches

A delicious way to use up some of the leftover holiday turkey is in cheese 'n' turkey sandwiches.

The cheese and turkey sandwiches are made of crusty Italian rolls and have a zesty creamy smooth sauce. Fresh, ripe tomato slices top the turkey and turn the sandwich into a nutritious, hearty meal.

The sauce for the sandwiches is economical because it is basically leftover gravy. The gravy gets its extra special flavor from the zesty American blue cheese. American blue cheese, too, is economical, and a little bit goes a long way.

CHEESE 'N' TURKEY SANDWICHES (Makes 3)

2 cups leftover turkey gravy (1 package cream cheese (8 ounces))

¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1½ ounces)

1 teaspoon minced onion

Sliced turkey — enough for 3 sandwiches

Sliced tomatoes — enough for 3 sandwiches

3 Italian rolls split and toasted Parsley flakes

Paprika

Gradually blend gravy and onion into cheeses and heat stirring constantly. Arrange turkey and tomatoes on rolls. Pour hot gravy over sandwiches; sprinkle with parsley and paprika. Makes 3 open face sandwiches.

New Spanish Rice

1 can (1 pound and 3 or 4 ounce) tomatoes

Water

1 cup converted-type rice

1 envelope (1½ ounces) chicken noodle soup mix with pieces of chicken

½ cup green pepper, cut into strips

½ cup grated cheddar cheese, not packed down

Drain and break up tomatoes. Add enough water to tomato liquid to make 2½ cups. Mix together the tomatoes, uncooked rice, soup mix (just as it comes from the envelope) and green pepper strips in a 2½ quart casserole. Pour in tomato liquid; cover. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven, stirring occasionally, until rice is tender, 40 to 60 minutes. Sprinkle mixture with grated cheese. Bake, uncovered, until cheese is melted, about 5 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Erhard Will Be Served This Cake

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—A Texas German chocolate cake is on the Saturday luncheon menu for German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's visit here with President Johnson.

The cake, topped with coconut-pecan frosting, is made from a recipe brought here by early pioneers of German descent who founded nearby Fredericksburg in 1846.

Here's the recipe:

4 oz. German sweet chocolate

¼ cup boiling water

1 cup butter or margarine

2 cups sugar

4 egg yolks unbeaten

2½ cups sifted cake flour

¼ teaspoon salt

1 cup buttermilk

1 teaspoon baking soda

4 egg whites stiffly beaten

1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate in boiling water and cool. Cream butter and sugar until fluffy add egg yolks one at a time and beat well after each. Add melted chocolate and vanilla. Mix well. Sift together flour, salt and soda, add alternately with buttermilk to chocolate mixture. Beat well until smooth. Fold in white, pour into three deep eight or nine-inch layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 to 40 minutes. Cool.

Coconut pecan frosting

Combine one cup evaporated milk, 1 cup sugar, 3 egg yolks, ½ cup butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cook and stir over medium heat until

¼ cup butter

¼ cup water

so part of buds are attached to part of stems; there should be about 5 cups. In a 10-inch skillet melt the butter. Toss the cauliflowers in it; sprinkle with water and salt. Cover and boil gently for 5 to 10 minutes or until tender, turning cauliflower over a few times; try to have stalk ends at bottom of pan. Liquid should be evaporated. Sprinkle with parsley. Now Comes The Time For New Tags For That Auto

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — About the time you get Christmas paid for, it will be time for another annual expense — automobile tags.

This is an item that has been going up generally, with more and more cities and towns getting into the act along with the states.

The top charges run as high as $7.95, in Oklahoma, and $69.35, in Minnesota.

A mass of information has been gathered about car tags by the American Automobile Association and the National Geographic Society.

For one thing, there seems to be a trend toward making the tags good for more than one year. Nineteen states now issue stickers or tabs instead of requiring an annual replacement of plates.

Also, more states each year are using reflective plates. These cost a little extra to make, how much depending on how many years they are supposed to last.

The average cost of manufacture runs about 15 to 20 cents. Nearly all are made by prison labor. The size is now a standard 12 by 6 inches, after many years of variety.

Various states like to use the tags to advertise their special qualities or attractions. Only in frequently is there any objection from car owners, but it was reported recently that one citizen threatened to go to court to prevent New York from advertising its world fair on his 1964 plates.

Registration of autos began in 1901, in New York State. The need was obvious — to help identify a car that was stolen or involved in an accident. At the beginning the revenue didn't amount to much — $1 a car.

There has always been a special appeal in low numbers, these usually being reserved for top state officials. Peculiar combinations also are popular.

A Wisconsin man named Ole Lee managed to get plates numbered 337-370 which he put on upside down, to spell his name. Mickey Mantle, whose baseball uniform carries the number 7, got plates with the number 7-T-T-T-T. Heavyweight boxer Rocky Marciano once had the letters KO.

By paying an extra fee Connecticut car owners have been allowed to get special combinations of four letters. Two teenage friends had jalopies that sported rock and roll. A man named Krout was happy with tags reading sour.

Minimum Wages Up For Mexican Labor

MEXICO CITY (AP) — New 1964-65 minimum wage scales for Mexican workers, effective Jan. 1, show a general increase but officials say this will not cause inflation.

Instead, says Gilberto Loyo, president of the national commission for minimum wages, they will help the economy by boosting buying power throughout the nation.

Increases and scales vary by section. Although city workers get the highest salaries, the most substantial increases were granted farm workers.

In Mexico City, the scale for city workers went up from $1.40 a day to $1.72.

Four Texans Hurt In Plane Crash

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — Four residents of Texas were injured Thursday night when a private plane ripped through a power line and crashed at the Greenwood airport.

The injured were L. E. Yankee, pilot, his son, Joe Michael Yankee, and Dr. G. W. Smith and Smith's son, all of Clarendon.

Love It—But Don't Say 'Frisco'

By HAROLD V. STREETER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ah, San Francisco — cable cars, bridges, Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf.
Even Soviet Premier Khrushchev fell in love with the city by the Golden Gate, spawned back in 1949 by a capitalistic rush for gold.

Let's have a closer look. At the turn of the century, 13 lines sent dozens of them clanking and clanging over the hills. Today there are 27 cars in daily service. And they are one big financial headache.

All repairs and all spare parts have to be homemade. It would be cheaper to use buses. A hard core of defenders, known as the Citizens' Committee to Save the Cable Cars, stands firm at the turntables just during anybody to junk them.

Bridges: More than 21 million car trips are checked off yearly at the toll gates of the 4,200-foot $35-million Golden Gate Bridge. More than 40 million are recorded over the 8½-mile $77.2 million San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. They're a life-blood trade artery, no question about that.

But there's another side of the picture. They doomed a city approach which was relaxed and eye-gripping — the ferries. And patrolmen are busy trying to keep people from jumping off them. Since the Bay bridge opened in 1936 and the Golden Gate in 1937, the known total death leaps exceed 300. It's an unavoidable price of progress.

Chinatown: You haven't really lived until you've been packed like a sardine amongst thousands in narrow Grant Avenue at the Chinese New Year parade — the man-footed, cloth-covered dragon, popping firecrackers spilling the ear drums.

Maybe you were among the couple of million who poured more than $115 million in tourist money into San Francisco this year. But if you stopped in a Chinatown store to pack off an oriental tidbit as a souvenir, turn it over and look at the bottom. The Red Chinese "bamboo curtain" being what it is, chances are you will read: "Made in Japan."

Over at Fishermen's Wharf, only the wharf stays the same. The fish and the more change. Time was when the bay shrimp were so succulent and distinctive that maestro Arthur Fiedler swore he could tell by the taste the difference between North Bay and South Bay shrimp. He can't any more. The bay shrimp vanished.

There's one other thing. If you are talking about a railroad, okay; but if about the city — don't call it Frisco.

Mexico Financier Dies
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Carlos Oriani Noguera, 61, financier who founded the airline that became the government owned Aeromexico of Mexico, died of a heart attack in city jail Christmas night.

He was being held on a charge of fraud brought by Yolanda Gasca, former wife of composer Agustín Lara. She had accused him of taking some of her jewels.

Junior Editors Quiz on INSECTS

QUESTION: How does one tell a moth from a butterfly?

ANSWER: Moths and butterflies both belong to the important order of insects, the Lepidoptera, and resemble each other in many ways. Both are caterpillars in the larva stage, and there is no general rule for distinguishing the moth caterpillars from the butterfly ones. But the adult insects, except for one group, are quite different when they spread their wings.

The butterfly usually flies by day. When they rest, butterflies usually fold their wings, holding them up over the back. (B) Their bodies are thin; the this antennae end in a knob. (A) Butterfly caterpillars make a hard shell, or chrysalis, in which they pass the resting stage before they emerge with wings. (C) By contrast, the moth is a creature of dusk and darkness. He rests with the wings flat down. He has a thick, tubby body and has wide, feathery antennae. Moth caterpillars spin a silken case, or cocoon. In general, butterflies have brighter and more jewel-like colors than moths, which generally are colored soft brown or gray.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can find some cocoons or a butterfly chrysalis. Put them in a box with some twigs. When they emerge, it is thrilling to see them come out of their little cases, climb up a twig and dry their beautiful new wings.

(John Vose Goff of Charlottesville, Va., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper and you may win a set too.)

Pope's Visit May Promote Closer Ties

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A noted Muslim scholar hopes Pope Paul's pilgrimage to the Holy Land next week will promote more sympathetic understanding among Christians and Moslems, linked by many common beliefs but separated by wide gulfs.

Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, a leading authority on Islam, predicts the pontiff will be received by Moslems with deep respect, because sayings of the Prophet Mohammed enjoin his followers to honor those who have honored among their own people.

Zafrullah Khan, former United Nations General Assembly president and former foreign minister of Pakistan, is now a member of the International Court. He believes the great religions gradually are drawing closer, and he hopes the papal visit will help that process.

Pope Paul will travel through Israel, which regards itself as the national home of all Jews, and through neighboring Jordan, whose population is predominantly Moslem and ruled by a young king claiming descent from the prophet.

Islam, the religion of the Moslems, comes from the Arabic word Aslama, meaning submit. Moslems come from the same root, and means one who has submitted. The Koran, Islam's bible, is the body of revelations from God to his prophet, Mohammed. But Mohammed was mortal. Moslems do not consider him divine.

What separates Islam and Christianity, both cradled in the Holy Land? Zafrullah Khan says the greatest difference is in how they regard Jesus Christ.

To Christians in general, Jesus the Messiah is the Son of God, one of the Holy Trinity of Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

To Moslems, Jesus is an honored prophet, but not the Son of God except in the sense that all men are God's children. To Moslems, belief in a trinity is to imply that there is more than one God.

Both Christians and Moslems revere the Jewish prophets of the Old Testament. Both believe in a judgment day and life after death, both believe Jesus is in heaven and has access to God. But there are differences.

The Moslems have no priesthood. Islam has imams—leaders, and teachers, but it is the most secular of religions.

To Moslems, the emphasis is on a god of power. The idea of a god of love is less evident than in Christianity.

Watch Night Party At 1st Baptist

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A changing pattern of religious relationships in the United States emerged in 1963.

In communities across the nation, Protestants and Roman Catholics began coming together, often praying together, and in some fields, working together.

This was, on the hometown scene, the big religious story of the year.

The Watch Night program of the First Baptist Church will get underway at 7 with a covered fish supper and the discussion of the significance of the Tabernacle in the Wilderness led by the Pastor.

Mrs. Wayland Walton is planning a series of games and booths for all ages. The following people will assist her in this period of fun: Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Longbottom, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Groseclose, Helen Greenway, Sam Chorn, Mr. Wayland Walton, Clarence Reese, Mrs. Wilson Howell, and Mrs. Bill Maynard and Carol.

The film will be shown after the game time.

The church will watch the old year out and the new year in by a session of prayer in the auditorium.

Meanwhile, the paid pilot, the or no attention to an unrestricted supply of food, water, and, in some instances, the presence of potential girl friends or boy-friends—a setup which the scientists said "should have permitted a mouse to eat, drink and be merry" if it cared to do so.

In summing up the possible significance of the observations, the scientists said: "People frequently ask experimenters whether they really think humans behave like mice. One wonders if humans would find the solution of completely new problems as self-rewarding as mice find the exploration of complex mazes.

"If so, it might be more effective to motivate humans with challenging problems rather than with tangible rewards."

ing ourselves to changing norms and ways. We tolerate, and allow our children to be formed by, pictures that habituate them to crime and violence, to the heroism of flaunting a gun, and to taking the law into their own hands. We patronize products sold by appeals to the lowest common denominator of the public mind. We make idols of screen celebrities who delight in breaking up home after home. We give not only money but honors to writers who peddle sexual stimulation. We pass in wonder by some of the modern art exhibited in our museums, and we dare not speak out against it as turning out stomachs with the odor of decay. Our ears are defecated and cacophonous music, but we fearfully recall that Beethoven was condemned by traditionalists, and without protest, we go to be defecated and insulted again. We hear the wits laugh at the old copybook maxims, and we haven't the nerve to say that those maxims are still true.

Let us speak out. Let public opinion resume its function as an indispensable aid in transmitting standards and transforming the savage into a citizen. We shall be charged with hypocrisy, because we too are sinners; the sins of our past will be exhumed and flung into our faces. We shall be called timid and senile reactionaries. Yes, we are guilty with the rest; we have been silent too long; and part of our tardy righteousness may well be due to the lessened flow of sap in our flesh. No matter, let us speak out.

Committee To Hear Mrs. Oswald

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Marina Oswald will be available to appear before the presidential committee investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, John M. Thorne, her attorney, says.

"We feel it is in the national interest," Thorne said Thursday night. He said she would cooperate in every way possible.

He said that J. B. Rankin, chief counsel for the committee, had inquired as to Mrs. Oswald's availability.

Thorne said it was his understanding that Mrs. Oswald would appear before the committee in either Dallas or Washington but that no date had been set.

The 22-year-old widow of Lee Harvey Oswald and her two small daughters are living at an undisclosed site in the Dallas-Fort Worth area under protection of the Secret Service.

It was revealed Thursday that Mrs. Oswald suffered an attack of influenza last week and that she and her children received Christmas presents from all over the world.

The 100-pound, Russian-born woman attended midnight mass in nearby Grand Prairie on Christmas Eve and was visited by a brother-in-law, Robert Oswald, and his family on Christmas Day.

She visited her husband's grave on Christmas Eve, also, and placed flowers on it. It was her fourth pilgrimage to the burial site.

Her business adviser was requested by the young widow to get a flat stone marker for her grave on the outskirts of Fort Worth.

"I want a cross and some small flowers to put on the stone," she said.
