Mrs. Steakley 'Outstanding' Club Woman

Outstanding club woman for Sixth District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, is Mrs. H. Jene Steakley.

The prominent Colorado City club woman — the president of Mitchell County Federation of Women's Clubs — was awarded the honor Tuesday at the district convention in Sweetwater.

In addition to the district recognition, Mrs. Steakley automatically becomes a candidate in state competition that in May will determine the outstanding club woman for all Texas.

The award to Mrs. Steakley was one of several outstanding honors for Colorado City at the Sweetwater convention. Previously announced as the district's outstanding family were Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Rhode and daughters, who also automatically become candidates for Texas' outstanding family.

Mrs. Steakley, wife of a dentist and mother of three sons, is a member of 1949 Study Club. She is serving her second consecutive term as president of the county federation. In '49 Club she has served in every office, including the presidency.

She is a member of First Baptist Church, where she is teacher for an intermediate girls' class, member of the church choir, Women's Missionary Union and active in Baptist Training Union. In June she will serve as principal for her church's Vacation Bible School.

In addition the club woman is incoming president of Primary School Parent-Teacher Association and president-elect of this district's Dental Auxiliary.

New Pipeline Terminal

Wichita Falls Saturday marked the opening of Trust Pipeline Company's new petroleum-products terminal. The new line places the area "on tap" from Cosden Petroleum's refinery at Big Spring and its Col-Tex plant at Colorado City. Gasolines and other finished products will arrive at the terminal's 180,000-barrel segregated-storage facilities for further distribution.

Building Projects Revealed

Plans for construction of two new major service stations in the near future in the 400 block of Walnut St., according to Oscar Sherman of Sherman Oil Co., Phillips distributor in the Colorado City area.

A new Phillips 66 station is scheduled for construction in the near future in the 400 block of Walnut St., according to Oscar Sherman of Sherman Oil Co., Phillips distributor in the Colorado City area.

Sherman also said that a Phillips station on E. Second St., which was gutted by fire four weeks ago will be rebuilt and reopened.

The fire-damaged station was operated by Jake Bain. Property for the new Phillips station has been obtained on the west side of Walnut St., next to Better Cleaners. Three houses which now occupy the half-block of property will be moved.

Also scheduled for construction within the next few months in a Magnolia service station. It will be built on the site of an old Col-Tex warehouse and an old Magnolia station on E. Second St., according to L. L. Comer, local Magnolia wholesaler.

The old Col-Tex warehouse is being removed at present. The existing service station will also be removed to make way for the new building.

Pipeline Will Link Col-Tex Refinery to Wichita Falls

Wichita Falls was linked officially with the refineries of Cosden Petroleum Corporation Saturday, when public open house was held there at Trust Pipeline Company's new products-pipeline terminal.

Official ceremonies from 3 until 6 p.m. led mark the opening of the new six-inch pipeline and 180,000-barrel segregated storage center.

The pipeline will deliver a variety of petroleum products direct from Cosden's 30,000-barrel-per-day refinery at Big Spring and from the Col-Tex refinery at Colorado City.

Regular and Ethyl gasoline, diesel fuels, and other finished petroleum products will be piped to Wichita Falls for further distribution.

Products fed into the line are prevented from mixing by constant pressures maintained from both ends of the pipe. Extra pressure behind the load keeps products moving.

In addition to marketing their own products under the company names, both Cosden and Col-Tex (a subsidiary company) do "custom refining" for other major marketers. These various brands will be moved to Wichita Falls through the new pipeline.

The line also supplies a similar terminal at Abilene and delivers jet fuels to Webb

Air Force Base at Big Spring and Dyess Air Force Base at Abilene.

It is said, in effect, to place the Big Spring and Colorado City refineries "on tap" for the Wichita Falls area.

In addition to automotive and aviation gasoline, jet fuels, heating fuels, and asphalt, the Colorado City and Big Spring plants produce a growing number of petrochemicals.

Labor Survey Will Be Held Here by TEC

Texas Employment Commission will make a labor-market area survey here within the next six weeks at the request of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, it was announced this week.

A district analyst from the TEC will be in Colorado for two days to make the survey. Findings will be incorporated with an industrial and business survey.

The object of the survey is to learn what classes of labor are available here, pay rates and types of business which could be supported here from the labor standpoint, chamber officials said.

School Board, City Council Vote Set For This Week

Elections Tuesday, Saturday

Colorado City residents will go to the polls twice this week to choose three city councilmen and two school board members.

City elections are scheduled Tuesday at city hall with between 400 and 500 voters expected to turn out to cast their ballots, according to J. F. Merritt, city secretary.

This would represent a sizable increase over the 1957 city voting turnout when only 181 citizens voted in city elections.

Four candidates have filed for the three council posts including two incumbent councilmen, Sie Hamm and Trevor Crawford.

Seeking election to the council for the first time are Garland Green and Matt Graham.

Councilman Jeff Taylor, a veteran of more than six years on the city governing body, will not run for re-election. He has served for three terms.

Crawford, who is seeking his third term on the council, has served as mayor for the past year. The office of mayor is not an elected position. The mayor is picked by members of the council.

Hamm seeks his second term as councilman. Green is a local employee of Sun Oil Co. and Graham is a Colorado City barber. Councilmen are elected for two-year terms.

Voting hours for the city election have been set for 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday, Merritt said.

Election officials include Mrs. Roy Porter, election judge, and Mrs. R. B. Baker, Mrs. J. A. Sadler Jr. and Mrs. J. T. Holley, clerks.

School board elections will be held Saturday at city hall, according to J. W. Watson, school district tax collector.

Four candidates are seeking two positions on the

P-TA Delegates Conclude Successful Two-Day Meet

Parents, teachers and school administrators from a 12-county West Texas area closed a two-day district P-TA conference here Friday afternoon.

Highlights of the annual Parent-Teacher meeting included a Thursday night banquet in Civic House, a president's luncheon at noon Friday, a youth panel discussion and various workshops and study sessions devoted to various phases of P-TA work, youth development, civil defense, educational relations and education for family living. A crowd of 155 persons attended the Thursday night banquet to hear an address by Mrs. Leon Price of Dallas, national P-TA publicity chairman.

Colorado City School Superintendent Frank W. Wilson acted as master of ceremonies at the banquet.

Mrs. Price spoke on "What is Education," emphasizing the importance of "the head, the heart and the hand" in educating children.

Presiding at the banquet was Mrs. Elmer Payne of Sweetwater, president of the 16th P-TA District.

Other banquet highlights included a welcoming address by Ernest Larmer, manager of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, and presentation of life memberships by Mrs. Joe Satter of Colorado City.

The only local member receiving a life membership was John Watson, veteran principal of Colorado City's Primary School.

In a Friday panel discussion by five Big Spring High School students and in a mass workshop which followed, principal topics of discussion were problems of curriculum in public schools and juvenile delinquency.

The student panel discussed the effects of publicity in newspapers and radio on the delinquency problem and the amount of fault lying with parents.

Students expressed the opinion that high schools did not offer enough required subjects and that many subjects were practically useless to the high school graduate in everyday life.

FOR COTTON SOIL BANK

ASC May Accept More Agreements

Mitchell County farmers, committee no later than April who are interested in participating in the 1958 cotton soil bank, but who did not file an agreement or register on the request ledger may still be permitted to participate in the program, it was revealed Saturday.

However, interested cotton farmers will be required to meet several conditions before participating in the soil bank program, according to Allen W. Worley, manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

The only cases in which the county ASC committee may accept agreements after the applicable closing date from farmers who did not file an agreement or were not registered are cases in which farmers meet the following condition, Worley said.

(1) The farmer must file a certification saying that he took positive action in an attempt to participate and showing that this action was taken during the regular sign-up period. The certification must be filed with the county ASC committee.

(2) The completed certificate must be received by the Lamesa Rites for Mrs. C. G. Walker

Mrs. C. G. Walker, a former resident of Colorado City, died suddenly at her home near Lamesa Friday after suffering a heart attack.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Church of Christ in Lamesa and burial was in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Mrs. Walker was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Sam Hale of Colorado City.

BOOK OF MEMORIES — Mrs. Bryan Porter turns through a scrapbook she is compiling from Col-Tex Refining Company's "Meet the Seniors" advertising in the Record.

LORAIN FARMERS TO TRY CROP EXPERIMENT

Seventeen farmers from the Loraine area Friday attended a meeting which may change the agricultural future of Mitchell County.

The group met in Loraine with Joe Cole of Lubbock, a vegetable specialist for the State Agriculture Extension Service, to discuss the possibilities of introducing vegetables as another major money crop in the county.

According to Assistant County Agent Al Byrd, certain soil types in the Loraine area would prove ideal for growing vegetables commercially — under irrigation.

Tentatively planned for tests by county farmers are sweet potatoes, onions, tomatoes, cantaloupes, cucumbers and black-eyed peas.

Byrd explained that a number of problems face farmers who plan to try to grow commercial vegetable crops. Main stumbling blocks, he said, are lack of a market and lack of capital for many farmers.

He added, however, that there is a possibility of establishing a suitable market after experiments show whether vegetables can be commercially profitable here.

Unique Scrapbook Composed of Ads

Clippings from newspapers often find their way into scrapbooks.

But Mrs. Bryan Porter, 905 Walnut, is adding a new wrinkle to the custom.

She's making an entire scrapbook from newspaper clippings. And the contents are advertisements.

Mrs. Porter, who manages the Porter Insurance Agency, for almost a year has been carefully clipping and saving Col-Tex Refining Company's weekly ad series in the Record that publicizes the refinery's "senior" employees.

Every advertisement each relates personal data and company service of a "senior" employee is placed in plastic folders. And each folder is placed in the large scrapbook.

For the Porter family the scrapbook will be a cherished record of personal memories for many years to come. Mr. Porter this summer will begin his 31st year as a member of the Col-Tex refinery staff.

"And he's worked all those years with everyone of those who are in the 'senior' series," Mrs. Porter emphasized. The Porters are not the only family in Colorado City who are regularly clipping the Col-Tex ads for safe and treasured keeping. Others have told the Record they are also compiling

SECOND FIRE IN WEEK

Friday Flames Destroy Home

Flames raged in the Colorado City area for the second time in a week early Friday afternoon when a blaze ignited from a leaky cookstove totally destroyed a Baptist parsonage at Buford community north of here.

The house, occupied by Rev. Kenneth Andress, pastor of the Buford Church, his wife and two small children, burned to the ground. Most of the family's personal belongings were engulfed in the sudden flames.

Neither the house nor its contents were insured.

The blaze was reported to city firemen at about 12:30 p.m. Firefighters fought a losing battle with the flames for more than an hour.

Only a few clothes and several articles of furniture were saved from the burning house, Mrs. Andress told the Record Saturday.

She said the fire apparently started from a leak in the kitchen stove, while Andress was attempting to repair it. The stove exploded but no one was injured.

The family had lived in the parsonage for a little more than one year.

A damage estimate was not available, but loss was expected to run to several thousands of dollars.

The fire came six days after a blaze last Saturday night which badly damaged the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hannum.

The house was owned by Brunson Gregory.

Damage to the contents of the Hannum home was set at around $8,000. Damage to the house itself ran about $5,600.

Flames broke out at the Hannum home at about 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

City firemen also answered two other calls Friday. Both were minor and no damage was recorded in either.

WHEN A CRISIS COMES

- ... or your car won't start
- ... or you run out of clean shirts

• DO YOU saddle up and take a day off to get the matter taken care of in the City, or do you write to a catalog house for help?

• OF COURSE NOT. Likely you hardly recognize these and similar predicaments as crises.

• Because YOU'VE GOT NEIGHBORS, right here in Colorado City ... with their skill and their money invested in establishments able to take most of your troubles on their own shoulders so quickly that you scarcely notice they are difficulties at all.

But how many skilled craftsmen, and good business men, and good neighbors, and good workers in civic and church affairs, and good taxpayers ... how many of these have cut down their stocks, laid off employees, or left the country ... because all you were buying from them was the things you couldn't wait to get somewhere else ... and how many will leave in the future to go where your money is going?

Lions Hear Report On Camp for Blind

Colorado City Lions received a report for rehabilitation of newly blind adults. Franklin Johnson of Colorado City, who attended the camp for four months, talked from September through May to the Lions Club Friday at regular weekly luncheon in Civic House.

Johnson, who had partial sight for years before losing all sight, said the Lions' camp is "doing a wonderful job."

He said the camp is well-equipped for the job of rehabilitation. Johnson spent four months in November through February—but said the average person spends only three months.

"It's educational, interesting and helps you to gain confidence that you might have lost when you lost your sight," Johnson added.

The blind are taught cabinet making and various other phases of woodwork; arts and crafts; how to travel about in a city with only the aid of your hand-cane; braille, typing and cooking.

Trained workers, including psychologists, work with the adults who are striving to become accustomed to "the world of the blind," Johnson said.

The Lions' camp is one of 13 in the U. S. working to rehabilitate the blind.

Joe Earnest, a member of the local club, reported on his recent visit to the camp at Kerrville.

M. N. Caddell, state director of the camp from District 2-T-2, had charge of the program and reminded the local Lions that each pays $3 per year in dues to support the camp.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Gift Tea Fetes Eleanor Addison

Miss Eleanor Carole Addison, bride-elect of James M. Seward, was complimented at a gift tea Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Max Caddell.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Caddell, Mrs. Charles Summers, Mrs. Luther Harrison and Miss Joy Ward. Mrs. Caddell greeted guests and introduced the honoree and her mother, Mrs. L. N. Addison.

Mrs. Harrison presided at the registry and directed guests to the display room. Miss Ward displayed gifts. The honoree, Miss Addison, wore a chemise dress of light gray taffeta, fashioned with a white Peter Pan collar and complimented by a white carnation corsage.

Refreshment table was laid with a white linen cloth. Appointments were silver and crystal.

Mrs. Summers presided at the silver service.

An arrangement of white ranunculus with white tulle and plumosus, flanked by white tapers in silver candle holders, decorated the serving table.

White napkins, printed in silver, were encribed with names "Ellie and Jim," and the traditional wedding bells. Cookies, mints, salted nuts and coffee were served to approximately 30 guests.

Methodists Slare Week Of Service

Easter Holy Week revival services have been scheduled at First Methodist Church starting Sunday, according to Rev. Clarence Collins, minister.

Services will open Sunday morning with a sermon entitled "When Christ Comes to Colorado City." Topic for Sunday evening services will be "The Religion of the Upper Room."

Services will also be held Monday through Thursday nights at the church, Collins said.

All evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Topic for the Easter morning service at the church will be "The Religion of Easter."

Evening Easter services will feature "Memories of Easter Morn," an Easter cantata, which will be presented by the First Methodist Church Choir under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Garrett, with Mrs. Claude Hooks as organist.

The public is invited to attend all services, Collins said.

College Team Speaks to Methodists

A student "deputation team" from McMurry College in Abilene presented the program last Sunday at St. Luke Methodist Church.

Those featured on the team were Miss Mary Echols, Rex Williams and Charles McAdoo. Attending with the team was their sponsor, Wilson Long, a mathematics teacher at McMurry.

"The Trip of Life" was the theme of the Sunday morning sermon presented by Rex Williams.

Charles McAdoo taught the Senior Sunday School Class with the Senior Class of First Methodist Church attending as guests.

Miss Echols was teacher for the adult class.

Following the morning services the team and their sponsor were guests for dinner in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jack Berg.

Miss Harvey added that "physical status can be improved measurably—even in as short a period as one year—by a regime of better dietaries and better practices in storage, preparation and cooking of food."

"It isn't necessary to be a food expert to assure balanced meals," she said. "If all the essential groups are included daily in reasonable proper proportions. Those proportions depending on the individual age, sex, size and activities."

Miss Harvey submitted the following groups of food as a pattern for proper eating: (1) milk and cheese; (2) meat, poultry and fish; (3) egg; (4) dried beans, peas, nuts and peanut butter; (5) leafy green and yellow vegetables; (6) citrus fruits and tomatoes; (7) potatoes; (8) other fruits and vegetables; (9) cereals; (10) fats; (11) sugar.

Announcing...

The "Live Better Electrically" Medallion Home Program

"Live Better Electrically" Medallions soon will be available for use in this area to identify new homes meeting modern requirements for Better Living Electrically.

Purpose of the Medallion Home Program, a national program recently announced, is to establish standards for "Live Better Electrically" homes, and to provide permanent recognition markers for those homes which meet qualifications announced locally in connection with the national program.

Only newly constructed homes with basic electric appliances for comfort and convenience... homes that meet modern requirements for light-for-living... and those equipped with full HOUSEPOWER wiring will qualify for the Medallions. Full details of the Medallion Home Program can be obtained from your builder or from Texas Electric Service Company.

Medallion Designed to Identify Homes Meeting Electrical Standards for Modern Living

When you buy or build a new home, be sure it is designed and equipped for Better Living Electrically. Check with your builder or Texas Electric Service Company and see that the home qualifies for the "Live Better Electrically" Medallion. This attractive metal medallion, shown above, is three inches in diameter and is designed to be set into the walls, steps or sidewalk of your new home. It will be a distinctive "hallmark of excellence" that establishes your home as one equipped for Better Living Electrically.

HARVEY L. JONES

the 'Seniors' at Col-Tex

This is the 52nd in a new series of special Col-Tex presentations recognizing long and valued service of those employees who have been associated with Col-Tex 20 years or longer. Col-Tex is proud of its workers who have contributed their efforts so many years for the company's success.

Harvey L. Jones is another Col-Tex Refining Company "senior" who contributes off-duty hours to the welfare of his community. And community service is where it often counts the most—the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department.

On the job at Col-Tex Refinery, Jones is a No. 1 operator for the crude still. His duty is to see that all products of the plant are kept in exact grade as they are manufactured.

His key work is backed by 15-years of continuous experience on the Col-Tex staff. His service began Nov. 4, 1942, and includes every phase of crude still operation.

Jones, who resides with his family at 621 Cypress, moved to Colorado City in 1934 from Clarksville to live with a sister, Mrs. J. T. Vest. For four years he was engaged in farming, then worked at town jobs before joining the Col-Tex "family."

He and the former Lois Andrews were married here in 1937. They are parents now of three children—H. L., 17, a senior at Colorado High; Linda, a sophomore, and Robert, 7.

The family is active in Oak Street Baptist Church, where Mr. Jones is a deacon and Mrs. Jones is church clerk. Mr. Jones also is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Fishing—the trotline kind—is a recreation that all the Joneses enjoy. Infact, the men of the house have to hurry to beat mom and Linda out to the lake when good fishing weather is at hand.
