Talk Over Talk

Congressman George Mahon center, reviews highlights of his luncheon speech Saturday at the Ramada Inn with several officials and delegates of the West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council. From left, Mayor George Zachariah; Col. J. H. Sherwood, base commander, Webb Air Force Base; C. O. Layne, director of the office of Defense and Disaster Relief, Austin; Rep. Mahon; Bill Parker, regional director of the Office of Civil Defense, Denton; and W. D. Berry, president of the West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council and director of the Big Spring-Howard County Civil Defense Department.

NO CHOICE, MAHON SAYS

Civil Defense May Bow To War Effort Spending

By JERRY ADAMS

In light of Viet Nam war costs, civil defense and other programs may have to be cut down, Congressman George Mahon, 19th District, told the West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council Conference Saturday at the Ramada Inn.

Congressman Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said the next session of Congress should screen all proposals for new funds carefully and take a firm stand against all unnecessary or marginal spending.

"A policy of fiscal caution is important from the standpoint of the war effort and from the standpoint of the threat of inflation," he said.

POLICY STATEMENT

His repeated reference to rising defense spending left little doubt that his emphasis on cutting other programs amounts to a policy statement from the chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

He said he fully supports President Johnson's stand in Viet Nam.

"We must achieve victory," he said. "There is no acceptable alternative."

Mahon said that a nuclear attack from Red China was more probable than one from Russia. The seeming futility of trying to defend against an all-out nuclear attack has caused the downgrading of civil defense measures, he said.

WARNING ON CHINA

Red China should not be misled about U.S. intentions to bomb Red China should that country put troops into Viet Nam as it did into Korea, he warned. Targets could be Chinese industry and atomic installations.

The congressman forecast that costs of the Southeast Asia commitments may go as high as $9 billion in the next budget.

The national defense budget will move sharply toward $60 billion but not necessarily to that figure, Mahon said.

"The necessity of this course is regrettable, but despite our interest in economy and our concern over spending we must and we will provide the necessary funds for the armed forces of the United States," he concluded.

The West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council heard Bill Parker, regional director of civil defense, Denton, at the morning session. Parker's address was "Your Civil Defense—1966."

ON PROGRAM

Also on the morning program was C. O. Layne, director of the Office of Defense and Disaster Relief, Austin. Layne spoke on the state's role in civil defense.

W. D. Berry, president of the West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense Council and director of the Big Spring-Howard County Civil Defense department, presided over the all-day session, which was attended by nearly 60 persons active in civil defense in the West Texas-New Mexico area.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND OPENS; YOUR GIFT WILL BE WELCOMED

Again it is the time of year to remember needy children, as you plan your own holiday joys. The Herald again is joining with City Firemen in the distribution of toys and Yuletide goodies to youngsters in families that have been certified as being in distress.

Your gift will finance toy repair, provide some delights for the youngsters, and whatever surplus goes directly to buy milk, ice and food for sick people and hungry children. Not a dime goes for administrative expense, it all goes to helping those who need it.

The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND is hereby officially opened, and it has $15 on hand from two anonymous givers as a "starter." If you want to help spread the joy of the Yuletide, please send your gift along now. Make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, and send them to The Herald for grateful acknowledgment.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

We waited a long time for the first frost of the season, but it was a solid one. It probably will go in the records as Nov. 28, but the freeze really came the next morning with eight hours of 25-degree temperature. For the most part, leaves were killed, and that's what cotton farmers longed for. If the weather continues fair and warm, by the middle of this week strippers may begin their assault on fields. When they get in full swing, gins may be covered in an avalanche of cotton.

* * *

Another weather development brought .24 of an inch of moisture, falling mostly as a slow drizzle. While some feared it could damage the crop, they were probably overly apprehensive. Just to have rain wash off last week's dust was a double blessing.

Our congressman, Rep. George Mahon, sounded a few somber notes here Saturday in addressing a West Texas-New Mexico Civil Defense conference. CD is gaining in public support, but he warned that war in Viet Nam may claim major attention, fiscally and militarily. With the nation already $8 billion in the red for this fiscal year, it may be necessary to sink another six or eight billion dollars more in the war effort. As House appropriations chairman, he ought to know.

Stanton school officials won the first round of their defense of decisions in electing a faculty last spring. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Stewart, who had taught in the Negro school there, were not rehired when consolidation eliminated need for their services. They claimed discrimination and filed a case in federal court. The court held for the school district all the way.

One thing none of us like to admit is failure, but it looks as if that may be the word for our United Fund effort. Note we did not say the United Fund failed or those who worked so hard for it. Rather it appears that hundreds upon hundreds of citizens here failed United Fund, and in so doing have failed their community.

Webb AFB had a distinguished visitor Saturday to do the honors for Class 66-D which graduated after completing pilot training requirements. He was Maj. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of the ATC. Gen. Momyer honored us last year by serving as a speaker for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Take time out this afternoon to attend the open house for the new Dora Roberts Health Center Building. The Roberts Foundation made possible the site and the building, and friends of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center rallied with a sizeable amount of equipment. This is one of the finest set ups in all of West Texas, and a world of good will come from the Rehabilitation Center and the city-county health center operations.

Laborer Killed In Traffic Mishap

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — Harvey Jones, 20, Palestine Negro laboror, died in traffic Saturday. Police said his car ran a stop light and was hit broadside by a trailer truck at the crossing of US 79 and Loop 256.

Planes Collide In Air, Five Known Dead

NORTH SALEM, N.Y. (AP) —Two incoming airliners collided Saturday in a gray autumn sky 11,000 feet above New York City's northern suburbs. One plane crashed but the other stayed aloft; and the death toll was surprisingly light.

Of 110 persons aboard the two aircraft, only five were known dead, according to police officials on the scene.

RECALLS DISASTER

The emergency was reminiscent of aviation's worst disaster, the 1960 collision of two airliners over New York that claimed 134 lives.

The skipper of an Eastern Airlines four-engined propeller driven Constellation, en route to Newark, N.J., from Boston, fought off a spin, calmed his passengers, then pancaked into an uninhabited hillside. The ship exploded in flames but most of the 52 persons aboard escaped with their lives. The EAL plane was flight 853.

"We've been hit by another plane and we're going to make a crash landing," the EAL pilot advised his passengers, giving them time to fasten seat belts.

The other pilot, at the controls of a Trans World Airlines Boeing 707 jet flight 42 from San Francisco, 30 feet of his left wing ripped away, his brakes knocked out, made it to Kennedy Airport, after announcing over his intercom system:

LANDS SMOOTHLY

"It's not as bad as it looks."

The TWA jetliner landed smoothly, using less than a third of the runway. The only injury among 58 persons aboard was a stewardess who had a bloody nose.

Among passengers aboard the TWA plane was Bernard Donovan, superintendent of New York City Schools.

"Thank God, our pilots were expert and brought us in," Donovan said. "I can tell you everybody on that plane applauded as we landed."

Passengers aboard the two planes reported momentary hysteria but no real panic as the pilots maneuvered them in the chilling moments that followed the collision.

3RD IN MONTH

The crash was the third in less than a month involving airliners coming in for what appeared to be routine landings. An American Airlines Boeing 727 went down near Covington, Ky., Nov. 8 with a loss of 58 lives, and on Nov. 11, a United Airlines 727 went down while landing at Salt Lake City, Utah, with 43 killed.

Betty Owens, 24, of Boston, emerged unscathed with her 14-months-old son from the EAL Constellation after its fiery pancake landing.

"The pilot told us over the loudspeaker to get ready for a crash landing," she said. "We had a chance to get our seat belts fastened. Everybody did.

BREAKS OPEN

"I don't know how we got out. I was in the back of the plane and it just broke open and I got out. People outside were hollering for the people to get back from the plane."

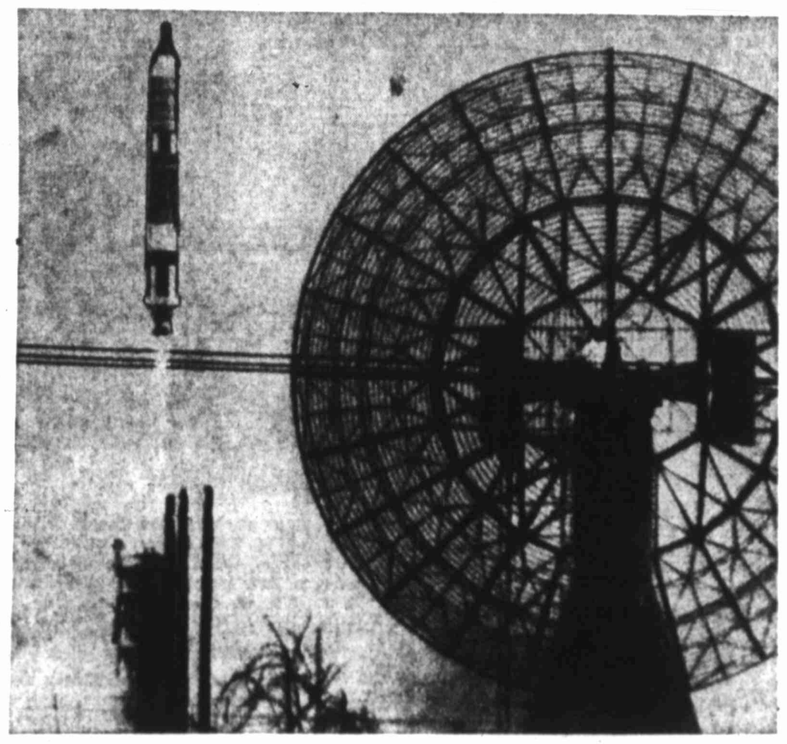

UF Misses Its Goal

The United Fund campaign office closed Friday evening, and it looks like a five per cent cut for 14 participating agencies.

The campaign had produced $94,806.13 when the office was shut down, and this leaves it $5,158.73 short of the goal. It took $800 in gifts the final day to whittle the margin to that figure.

There are some gifts still coming, however, and Lester Morton, United Fund president, pleaded with Big Spring and Howard County residents to mail contributions to United Fund, Box 24, or 614 Permian Building.

"Every penny we can get will be just that much less that we will have to deprive these humanitarian agencies," he said. "Don't underestimate how desperately your help is still needed."

Off And Running

The huge Titan rocket, at left, carrying Gemini 7 spacecraft on its projected 14-day space flight roars off the pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla., Saturday in front of a huge tracking antenna at the space complex. Aboard the spacecraft were Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell who started their flight by flying formation with the 19-foot second stage of the rocket for nearly 17 minutes. They hope to rendezvous with Gemini 6 after the second spacecraft is launched Dec. 13. (AP Wirephoto)

FAKE $20s PASSED HERE

Former Big Spring Man Held In Bogus Bill Case

By SAM BLACKBURN

Publication in The Herald of the serial number on bogus $20 bills passed in Big Spring has led to the arrest of a 50-year-old former Big Spring resident and the detention of his son and daughter-in-law.

John Whitt, 50, who formerly lived here and also briefly in Stanton, has been arrested in Mississippi and charged with conspiracy, according to Martin County Deputy Sheriff G. B. Therwanger, who broke the case.

RECOVERS BILLS

The deputy's enterprise also led to recovery of 21 counterfeit bills identical with those passed here.

Therwanger said that the son, who is only 17, and his 16-year-old bride, have been detained by federal authorities, but no charges have been filed nor are they in actual custody.

"A merchant here took a twenty and noted that the serial number was the same as that on bad bills which had circulated in Big Spring. He called me," said Therwanger.

COUPLE QUIZZED

"He told me who had passed the bill and I went out to see the three he mentioned. The old man had gone to Mississippi, but the two youngsters were there.

"I asked them a few questions and then took them to the courthouse. They gave me statements and handed over 17 of the bogus bills. I went to three other business places they had mentioned, and recovered three more twenties.

"I called the U.S. Secret Service, but the agents told me to keep quiet about the matter until they had rounded up the father.

ARREST SUSPECT

"Friday the federal officers told me they had arrested and charged him."

The spurious $20 showing up in Big Spring had been distributed by another relative, according to Therwanger. The counterfeit bills, said to be unusually good imitations, had been brought here from Mississippi.

Therwanger said that none of those involved in the passing knew anything about the printing operation. One of them had bought the "green goods."

Whitt had operated service stations in Big Spring and in Stanton.

Center's Twin Opening Today

Double opening of the new Howard County Rehabilitation Center and City-County Health Unit, two separate operations in the Dora Roberts Health Center, will commence at 1:30 p.m. today, with introduction of special guests by Robert W. Whipkey, master of ceremonies, at the Center.

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, will give the invocation.

THANK DONORS

Whipkey will make a short talk, thanking the donors and contributors to the Center, located at 306 W. 3rd.

Big Spring High School Band will play selections, and Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club will help with the ceremonies.

Among the dignitaries invited to the opening will be the county-city commissioners.

Jaycee - Ettes will serve as guides for visitors, and Mrs. Larry Crow and Mrs. Clyde Angel will register guests.

Climax of the brief ceremony will be ribbon-cutting, by Horace Garrett, chairman of the board of the Dora Roberts Foundation, which supplied funds for the building.

COMBINES SERVICES

Only recently completed, the Center combines the services of a county health unit and a rehabilitative center in one physical plant. The two units are entirely separate, however, financially—the county and city supply funds for the health unit, while the Rehabilitation Center relies on donations.

Operations within both units have been under way for some time, though the parking lots for each facility have only been completed recently.

The public will be invited to tour both facilities after the ribbon-cutting until 5 p.m.

Skies Clear Across State

By The Associated Press

Clearing weather pushed slowly to the southeast over Texas, chasing fog, mist and nearly all clouds from the skies Saturday.

Slightly warmer weather came with the fair skies.

Some very light rain persisted in the southern tip of Texas and a few clouds floated above the coastal plains.

The Weather Bureau said the rains would cease in the Lower Rio Grande Valley during the night.

Mild afternoons and chilly nights were forecast. All the state should be fair Sunday, except for the Rio Grande Valley, the Weather Bureau said.

Craft Heads For Record On Schedule

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Their spirits high, Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell dashed into space Saturday. They flew formation with their spent rocket and overcame a fuel cell problem, pressing on toward a world record 14 days in orbit.

"How do you like it up there?" mission control asked.

"It's great," said Borman.

"Outstanding," said Lovell.

PRESSURE DIFFICULTY

The fuel cell problem involved an indicator light that wouldn't go off—indicating pressure difficulties in the electricity-producing system.

But after some tests, engineers in mission control reported they were convinced that the trouble was not in the fuel cell, only in the light.

At any rate, flight officials were never concerned about the chance of ending early the intended 5.1 million-mile mission.

(More space stories on P. 6-A)

For about 17 minutes, Borman and Lovell—making their space debut—flew close to the 27-foot second stage of the Titan 2 rocket that shot them into space—a preview of more important formation flights to come.

ON SCHEDULE

The countdown and the blast off of Gemini 7 were perfect—right on schedule. The Titan booster rose from the pad at 1:30 p.m. Big Spring time and cut through the murky Florida sky over Cape Kennedy.

"You're right down the slot, Gemini 7," was the radio report from earth.

"That's the best news I've heard," replied command pilot Lt. Col. Borman of the Air Force.

While they flew in formation with the spent rocket, Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell kept the big casing in sight, saw it venting unused nitrogen propellant, and said "it looked good."

The power problem came up just after the Gemini 7 entered orbit. Pressure from one of the oxygen tanks feeding the fuel cell power supply system was falling. After trying to heat the tank to build up pressure, the pilots were told to splice in the tank which provides them with oxygen to breathe.

NOT ENDANGERED

They did, and the pressure went up to satisfactory levels. It is not expected to endanger the flight. The same trouble threatened the eight-day flight of Gemini 5 briefly and the splicing method was worked into the present flight to counteract such a possibility.

At Cape Kennedy, Fla., inspectors went out immediately to survey the damage to Launch Pad 19 — and found it minimal.

That means there will be little trouble in erecting another Titan 2 rocket and the Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft in time for the scheduled Gemini 6 blastoff Dec. 13 — nine days from now.

Piloted by Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, Gemini 6 will search out and come within feet of Gemini 7. Then the two spacecraft will fly in formation for some six hours.

U. S. Barracks Bombing By Viet Reds Deplored

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Security men expressed fear Saturday the bombing of the Hotel Metropole, a U.S. enlisted men's barracks in downtown Saigon, is but the beginning of a Viet Cong campaign of terror and sabotage to mark a Red anniversary.

The anniversary is the fifth birthday Dec. 20 of the Viet Cong's Hanoi-backed political agency, the National Liberation Front.

The predawn Metropole strike killed 11 persons—two Americans, a New Zealand artilleryman and eight Vietnamese.

Authorities reported 72 Americans, three New Zealanders and about 100 Vietnamese were wounded. The small band of raiders escaped, apparently unhurt.

FEAR EXPRESSED

"The attack on the Metropole billet may be just the first," said one source among Americans charged with helping Vietnamese security agents detect and combat such terrorist operations.

Whatever the developments, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge denounced this latest in dozens of Saigon bombings as diabolical.

"It was sheer wanton terrorism, as was the killing and wounding of Vietnamese men, women and children who lived and worked nearby," said Lodge as U.S. Navy Seabees set about clearing away the rubble.

Field action flared again in spots after a three-day lull and there was an ominous report that two Viet Cong battalions have circled near the southern edge of Saigon after some diversionary brushes with government forces.

This force, perhaps 800 strong, may be aiming for a giant oil and gas storage center operated for Shell, Esso and Caltex at Nha Be, five miles from the city limits. Closer in is the American military Starcom communications center, which is guarded by U.S. troops and armor.

ANOTHER THREAT

Informed military sources told of another threat. They said four regiments of North Vietnamese regulars have moved into positions on a broad arc roughly 60 miles north of Saigon, with the western flank anchored near the Cambodian frontier. Five other such regiments are supposed to be in the mountains farther north.

Perhaps seeking the North Vietnamese or associated Viet Cong elements, U.S. Air Force B52 jet bombers from Guam bombed two areas about 50 miles northwest of Saigon.

Guerrillas attacked a group of three hamlets on the coastal plain south of Quang Ngai city, 330 miles northeast of Saigon. A U.S. Navy destroyer helped out the hamlet militiamen with a rain of five-inch shells and a Vietnamese company rushed to their relief. The fighting raged into the night.

A Mekong River Delta outpost 80 miles south of Saigon, garrisoned by one company of government troops, came under a heavy attack by a guerrilla force of about the same size. Government casualties, mostly from Red mortar fire, were reported to be moderate. Three Viet Cong were killed.

At the same time a multibattalion detachment of Vietnamese army regulars reported killing 17 Viet Cong on a search operation 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

Tide Has Turned, Adm. Sharp Says

HONOLULU (AP) — Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp Jr., America's top military man in the Pacific, says the "tide has turned" against the Communists in South Viet Nam.

"We are not losing any more," said Sharp, who had talked with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and top U.S. commanders and toured Marine installations in South Viet Nam.

Community Mental Health Units Pushed

AUSTIN (AP) — Some 25 Texas cities have shown interest in establishing community mental health and retardation centers under a program enacted by the last legislature.

Dr. Shervert Frazier made the report to the State Board for Mental Health. The board appointed him state mental health commissioner Oct. 29.

The legislature appropriated $1.35 million for grants to cities wishing to set up mental health centers.

AWAIT GUIDELINES

"By the next meeting we should have guidelines for definite lines of inquiry," Frazier said. He said eligibility standards for the grants must be established and communities must be informed how to apply for the aid.

Central to the new law that established the mental health board is the concept that the mentally ill and retarded should be treated near their homes insofar as possible.

Frazier told the board he had accepted the $22,500-a-year job as a "matter of considerable seriousness" and pledged the board his "best efforts."

RIGHT ANSWERS

"I persist in my feeling that getting the right answers for the problems of this department is necessary for the citizens of Texas," the psychiatrist said.

He said the board, its staff and administrators need to keep the agency's goals in mind: Teaching, healing and helping the mentally ill and retarded; restoring them to their communities when they are rehabilitated; seeking the causes of the two mental cripplers and working toward their prevention.

African Unity Bloc Warns It May Sever Britain Ties

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Members of the Organization of African Unity voted Friday night to break off diplomatic relations with Britain unless the British crush the Rhodesian rebellion by Dec. 15.

The OAU's Council of Ministers also decided to have its 36 member states slap a total economic blockade on Rhodesia, cut off all communications, bar planes from flying over their territory to Rhodesia, block all Rhodesian bank accounts and declare Rhodesian travel documents void.

OAU Secretary-General Diallo Telli said all decisions were voted unanimously by the 35 countries whose foreign ministers are attending the conference.

A British official, commenting on the threat to cut diplomatic ties, said it was one thing to decide on this "but it's something quite different to implement it."

OAU members belonging to the British Commonwealth include Ghana, Nigeria, Tanzania, Kenya and Zambia. If they broke diplomatic relations with Britain they would stand to lose trading and other Commonwealth benefits.

Other leading OAU members not in the Commonwealth include the United Arab Republic, Algeria, Tunisia, Guinea and Ethiopia.

There was no immediate reaction from the British government in London to the OAU threat to cut off diplomatic relations.

The British have limited their action so far to sending warplanes to Zambia to defend the Kariba Dam, on the Rhodesian-Zambian border, which supplies electric power to Zambia's copper belt.

Check Division Hits High Level

Sheriff A. N. Standard reported that the worthless check department hit an exceptionally high mark in recovery of payments for the month. There were 315 checks processed in November, and 291 were paid. This is 92 per cent of the total.

The department collected a total of $5,351.63. This brings the total recovered by the department since its establishment several years ago to $154,885.

Some of the money was repaid directly to the merchants this past month he said. Actual collections in the office were $4,715. This compared with $2,622.68 for the same month a year ago, $2,717.51 for November 1963 and $2,304 for the same month in 1962.

Twenty - one misdemeanor check charges were filed in the county court, and one felony complaint was lodged in the 118th District Court.

The county jail cook served 1,164 meals to inmates during November at an average per meal food cost of about 15 cents, he said Saturday. Grocery bill for the jail was $191.98 for the month. There were 78 prisoners in the jail during November.

District To Try For First Lake Land Buys

Initial contacts for land purchases for the lake project at Robert Lee will be made this week.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District's land committee, headed by H. W. Wright, Big Spring, gave the green light after reviewing first land appraisals in an on-site meeting at the end of last week. O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, and R. A. Schooling, lake superintendent who will handle much of the land negotiations, will make the contacts as rapidly as appraisers furnish information on the tracts.

Efforts will be made to secure land at the dam site first. This will run into several thousand acres. More than 16,000 acres of land may be required before the basin is complete.

P. C. Harbour, Odessa, and R. D. Fields, Snyder went with Wright, Ivie and Schooling on a complete tour of the basin in order to make themselves familiar with the various problems.

Meanwhile, other phases of the lake project are proceeding steadily. The additional core drilling needed on the northwest flank of the dam has been completed and reports are expected momentarily. Colorado State University, which is building a scale model of the designed spillway for detailed testing, advised that the morning glory spillway, conduit, and spilling basin had been constructed and the vertical bin will be in place by Dec. 9. Actual tests may begin by the end of the month.

In terms of time, surveying of the basin area is about 50 per cent complete, Ivie estimated.

Driving Fine

Arlen Edward Lewis, charged with driving with a suspended drivers license, was fined $25 and costs when he entered a guilty plea in Howard County court on Friday afternoon. He paid and was released from custody.

No Freeze, But Frost Reported

Officially, the temperature Saturday morning was 35 degrees, but many residents of Big Spring insisted there was frost much in evidence soon after sunrise. They reported windshields were coated over with thin skims of ice.

The U.S. Experiment Station reported the high on Friday was 62 degrees.

If another freeze did develop over the county it will be approved by the cotton farmers. Cold, dry weather is what they want now to get the cotton stripping in full swing.

Store Prepares Annual Yule Party For Patients

Patients at the Big Spring State Hospital will make their third annual Christmas shopping visit to the F. W. Woolworth store on Tuesday night.

Howard County Junior College buses will pick up the first load of patients at the hospital at 7 p.m. These will be brought to the Woolworth store where they will be served coffee and cookies and given an opportunity to "shop" for Christmas gifts. As soon as the first bus load has been entertained, a second load will arrive. The process will be repeated until all of the patients who are able to participate have had their chance to visit the store.

Herman Bauer, store manager, said that most of his staff will be on hand to help with the party and that the lunch counter will be operating for the entertainment of the guests.

The party is being arranged by the hospital staff and in the past has proved a popular feature with the patients at this season.

The store will not be open to the general public but only for the entertainment of the special guests.

Federal Employe Total Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of federal employes climbed 11,810 from September to October, the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures reported Saturday in its monthly statement.

Civilian agencies increased their pay rolls by 5,306 and military agencies by 6,506 in October, the committee said. The total federal employment of 2,528,696, however, was nearly 14,000 less than the 2,542,590 on the pay roll at the beginning of the fiscal year last July 1.

Masons Honor Past Masters

Staked Plains Masonic Lodge No. 598 will hold a special dinner meeting Monday, honoring 35 past masters of the lodge.

Past master Walton Morrison will speak on the history of the lodge.

Several out-of-town past masters will be present for the occasion. Among them is W. V. Nichols, Linden, Tenn., the oldest past master of the lodge. Nichols was master in 1917-1918.

W. S. Satterwhite, Lamesa, the second oldest past master, also will be present. Satterwhite was lodge master in 1921-22.

R. E. Mitchell, Big Spring, the youngest past master and the present master Bob P. Kennedy, Big Spring, also will be present, according to T. R. Morris, lodge secretary.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the banquet room of the Masonic Temple, 221½ Main St., and will be followed by the regular business meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Included in the ceremonies will be the presentation of past masters aprons to 17 past masters.

Gary Crosby, Wife To Seek Reconciliation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Entertainer Gary Crosby and his wife will attempt to save their five-year marriage, but both have legal actions pending.

Crosby and his wife, Barbara, agreed Friday to go together to Los Angeles Conciliation Court after their attorneys worked out a temporary support plan under which he would pay her $510 a month, plus the mortgage and taxes on their home.

Mrs. Crosby went to court Friday to ask for "reasonable" alimony and child support pending trial of her separate maintenance suit. Crosby, eldest son of singer Bing Crosby, is contesting her action and is asking for a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Oil Firm Offices Will Consolidate

TULSA (AP)—Pan American Petroleum Corp. said Saturday its division offices in Oklahoma City and Fort Worth will be consolidated at Fort Worth Jan. 1.

The Fort Worth office is responsible for operations in the North Texas-New Mexico area.

T&P To Protest Sale Of Trackage

Texas and Pacific Railway Company's board of directors Friday voted to oppose vigorously the Union Pacific-Rock Island railroad merger applications and the proposed sale of the Rock Island's southern trackage to the Southern Pacific. These proposals imperil T&P and its ability to serve the public, they said.

The T&P board empowered company officers to take all steps necessary to fight the proposed merger, including seeking to obtain trackage rights over the Southern Pacific from El Paso, Texas, to the West Coast.

The resolution pointed up that the application of the Southern Pacific to purchase part of the Rock Island, particularly the line from Tucumcari, N.M., to Kansas City, Mo., threatens to destroy the integrity of an agreement establishing Texas and Pacific with the SP as one continuous line through the El Paso gateway to the West Coast.

Texas and Pacific, created by Congress in 1871 to form a southern transcontinental railroad, did not complete its westward construction but did establish with the Southern Pacific, through the Gould-Huntington Agreement, this continuous line of railroad to California.

Missouri Pacific, T&P's parent company, intervened earlier in protest to the Interstate Commerce Commission against these merger applications.

Ozona Girl Is Injured

Terry Lee Lackey, 12, Ozona, was admitted to the Cowper Hospital and Clinic Saturday morning for treatment of lacerations and bruises. She had been injured when the 1962 station wagon in which she was riding with her brother, Larry Arthur Lackey, 17, also of Ozona, flipped over 16 miles south of Big Spring on FM 33. Her condition is not regarded as serious.

Arvin Henry, highway patrolman who investigated the wreck, said it happened about 8:55 a.m. in Glasscock County. The Lackeys were en route to Big Spring to visit relatives in a hospital here.

Young Lackey, a navy man, was driving. He lost control of the car when he reached back into the rear seat area to get a package for his young sister. Lackey was not injured.

Henry Fonda, 60, Takes 5th Bride, Age 33

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) —Actor Henry Fonda, 60, has taken as his fifth bride, Shirlee Adams, 33, a former airlines hostess.

They were married Friday in the chambers of Supreme Court Justice Edwin R. Lynde, who told them: "I've been marrying couples for 10 years and have never had one break apart. I don't expect you to, either."

It was the first marriage for Miss Adams, daughter of Ruth Magill of Aurora, Ill.

After the wedding the pair returned to New York, where Fonda made a regular appearance Friday night in the Broadway comedy "Generation."

Blast In Germany Kills Two Miners

HERNE, Germany (AP) — A coal mine explosion Friday killed two miners and injured three others. The explosion occurred about 2,300 feet below the ground in a shaft of the "Friedrich the "Great" coal mine, property of the Ilseder Huette concern.

The explosion was the third in 10 days in Ruhr Valley mines. The previous blasts claimed four lives.

U.S. Monetary Policies Will Be Lambasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A broad attack on the Johnson administration's monetary policies is being planned by the American Farm Bureau Federation, the farm group with the largest membership.

The criticism will be launched at the bureau's convention opening at Chicago Dec. 12. The issue is expected to occupy about as much attention as more specific issues involving agriculture.

INADEQUATE INCOME

For years, Farm Bureau leaders have contended that inadequate farm income should be attributed to failure of the government to stablize the economy.

These leaders point out that cash receipts from sale of farm products have climbed to a record high of around $40 billion a year. But gains in gross income have been offset by increases in farm production costs. Agriculture Department reports show that since 1960, farm product prices have risen 4 per cent, but that prices of goods and services used by farmers in production and in family living have gone up 8 per cent.

Pledge For Man On Moon By '70 Aided

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Two high-spirited rookie astronauts — anxious for their first dash into space Saturday — aimed at a world record 14-days in orbit and lonely duty as a target for a Gemini "hunter" spacecraft.

If both flights succeed, they will log man's first rendezvous in space — a complicated series of maneuvers that will pave the way to the moon.

The two spaceships — Gemini 7 and Gemini 6 — will fly in formation for some six hours nearly 200 miles above the earth.

Blast off for Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. in their well-stocked Gemini 7 was on schedule at 1:30 p.m. Big Spring time Saturday.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Major Thomas P. Stafford will take off in pursuit Dec. 13 aboard Gemini 6 — nearly nine days later.

The United States is pledged to land a man on the moon by 1970—and hopefully before the Soviet Union can. The ability to chase down and hook up with a space target is essential to the U.S. effort.

The U.S. plan calls for orbiting a motorship around the moon, sending a small two-man space cab to the moon's surface. To get back home, those first moon explorers will have to fly back up to the mothership in their space cab, and link up with it for the return trip to earth.

LEAD OVER USSR

Besides the medical and flying lessons, the flights of Geminis 6 and 7 will give the United States an even wider lead over the Soviet Union in man hours in space and other space records.

The United States took that lead when astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. flew an eight-day mission in late August of this year.

That flight gave the United States a man hour total of 639 hours, 48 minutes. If both Gemini 6 and Gemini 7 fly full missions, the U.S. total will grow to 1,392 hours, 18 minutes. The Soviet Union has logged 507 hours, 16 minutes.

But by other measures, the Soviet Union has a wide lead over the United States in the moon race. It has orbited more poundage, has bigger rockets and bigger spaceships.

MONDAY LANDING

The Soviet program to explore the moon with unmanned spacecraft is also ahead of a much-delayed U.S. program. The Soviets hope to land their Luna 8 space probe on the moon Monday—a soft landing by a robot device to radio back precisely what the moon's surface is like.

Gemini 7 differs greatly from Gemini 6. It carries the tricky fuel cell system for power, while Gemini 6 carries batteries. Gemini 6 carries radar, Gemini 7 does not. With all of its extra supplies, Gemini 7 is the heaviest U.S. spacecraft to date. At 7,250 pounds, it is 250 pounds heavier than previous Geminis.

The two astronauts, both 37, have been closely watched by doctors in the past few weeks — and will be under strict medical supervision throughout the flight and for at least 11 days afterwards. After 14 days in space, doctors want to know exactly how their bodies react.

MEDICAL FLIGHT

Gemini 7 is primarily a medical flight. It aims to tell whether there is any health problem arising out of 14 days of weightlessness — the time span of the longest flight now planned in the Apollo moon program.

Can the human body take the lazy living of space for 14 days and return in good shape to the rigors of gravity life on earth?

There were some signs from past flights that the heart, the skeleton and the blood of an astronaut change during long-term flight — adapting to weightlessness and inactivity.

For Gemini 6 pilots Schirra and Stafford, the test is a new kind of flying — pushing their craft around with small rockets, making maneuvers that will cover hundreds of thousands of miles in space.

FIRST RENDEZVOUS

If they succeed, they will have logged man's first rendezvous between two controllable spacecraft.

This would be a long overdue satisfaction. Both top pilots, they trained longer in flight simulators on the ground than any previous astronaut team.

They were set on Oct. 25 to chase after a target rocket, find it and link up with it in a severe test of space maneuvering.

But the target rocket blew up in the first minutes of its flight — and Schirra and Stafford had to climb down from their fueled Titan 2 rocket to wait for another chance.

That chance comes Dec. 13 — with the Gemini 7 flight nearly nine days old. Schirra and Stafford, are due to blast off at 9:34 a.m. in their Gemini 6 hunter spacecraft, chase down the Gemini 7 and fly within a few feet of it.

By that time the extra heavy Gemini 7 spaceship will remain locked in a 186-mile high circular orbit — mostly ignored by mission control — when the Gemini 6 sistership sets off in pursuit.

LOWER ORBIT

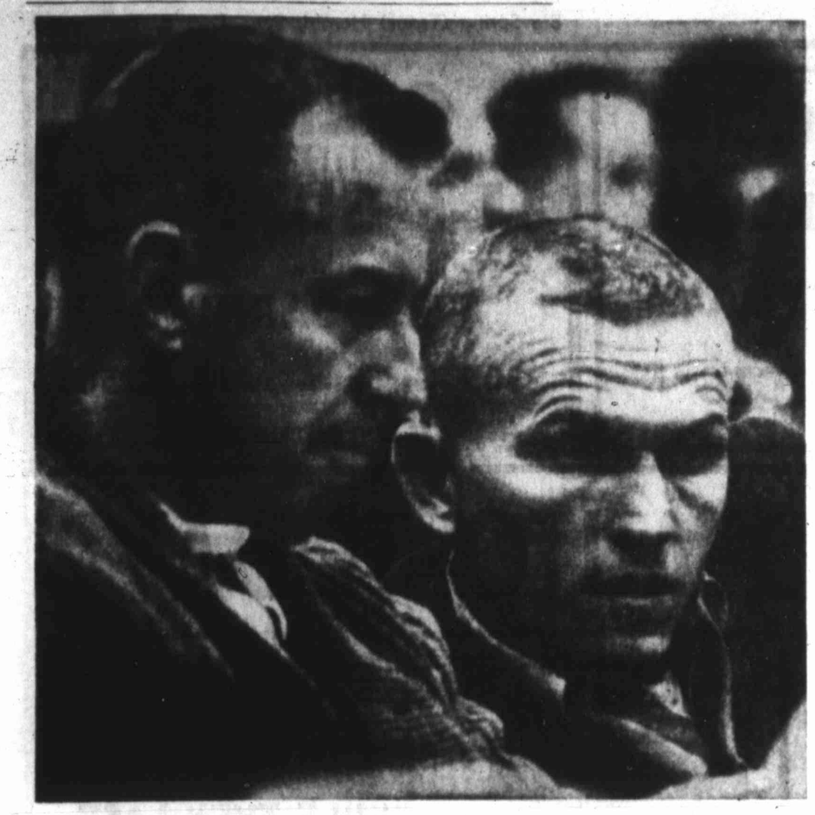

Gemini 6, guided by Schirra mostly, will go into a lower orbit — some 1,200 miles behind Gemini 7. The lower orbit will mean a quicker circuit of the earth—and a slow catch-up to Gemini 7.

By steps, Schirra will boost the Gemini 6 orbit to nearly match the orbit of Gemini 7.

Some 180 miles away, Schirra will spot the Gemini 7 with his radar and follow the signals and his visual sightings in to rendezvous.

Then the two spaceships will fly in formation for perhaps six hours.

That will mean more than space history. It will spell out man's ability to fly in space—and Schirra and Stafford will literally write a handbook on space flight when they return to earth. It will form the basis of space flight training for man's eventual flight to the moon.

Many Surprises Ahead?

U. S. Manned Flight Lead Now 10 To 8

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Gemini 7 has given the United States a 10-8 lead over the Soviet Union in the number of manned space flights.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell, Jr. became the 22nd and 23rd persons to make a space flight. The United States now has 12 astronauts with space flight experience, compared to 11 Russian cosmonauts.

Gemini 7 is the third two-man U.S. mission. The Soviet Union has had two two-man flights and one three-man flight. Six one-man flights by each nation preceded the multimanned missions.

The 17 manned flights that preceded Gemini 7:

'Shakey' In Space Not A Bit Jittery

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — He's affectionately known as Jim "Shakey" Lovell to his fellow astronauts. And he could well become the first father in history to actually be in orbit as his wife gives birth.

But James A. Lovell Jr., father of three, has not shown any signs of prematernity jitters, even with the possibility a fourth child may arrive while he is on the 14-day Gemini 7 space flight.

He says his wife is not too concerned either.

"As an old Navy wife, she just takes it all in stride," Lovell said.

A dyed-in-the-wool Navy man with a hearty laugh and outgoing personality, Lovell rarely passes an opportunity to pop a wisecrack, especially when it is intended as a jibe at the Army's West Point.

WEST POINTER

The Naval Academy graduate has as his command pilot on the flight West Pointer Frank Borman.

If Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford are successful in their attempt to rendezvous with the Gemini 7, Borman will be hopelessly outnumbered. Stafford and Schirra also are graduates of Annapolis.

If nothing else, Lovell cracked, "The Spirit of 76" — the double Gemini flight — could turn into a "Beat Army rally."

Like many of the astronauts, Lovell, a 37-year-old Navy lieutenant commander, developed his interest in airplanes as a child. But his real interest was rockets.

HOMEMADE ROCKETS

However, he found that the rockets he built as a teenager at his home in Milwaukee, Wis., were not reliable. He narrowly escaped injury when one homemade rocket exploded on the launch pad.

Born March 25, 1928, in Cleveland, Ohio, Lovell lived in Ohio only a year, then spent most of his childhood in Milwaukee, where he played football in high school.

He went out for football at the University of Wisconsin, but says he didn't weigh enough.

He attended Wisconsin and was in the aviation midshipman program. Then he entered flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

"During my first two months in pre-flight training, I received my appointment to the Naval Academy," he said. "After much debate over whether to stay in flight training or go to the academy, I finally decided I was going to make the Navy a career, so I took the appointment."

Lovell, who applied for an astronaut's job even before the original seven Mercury astronauts were named, was among the second group that joined the program in September, 1962.

Through all his laughing and joking, Lovell emerges as a dedicated pilot. While some people think the two astronauts might get bored during two weeks in space, he says: "It's ridiculous not to take advantage of every second you have up there to learn something."

NERVOUS ENERGY

One space agency official said the nickname "Shakey" grew from the fact that Borman has nervous energy that makes him "flutter around like a flea" while looking for things to do.

A former test pilot at the Navy Air Test Center in Patuxent River, Md., Lovell has logged 2,600 hours flying time.

The blond-haired, blue-eyed sailing enthusiast keeps his 5-foot-11 frame a trim 165 pounds. He also likes golf, swimming, handball and tennis.

He married the former Marilyn Gerlach of Milwaukee, his high school sweetheart, the day he graduated from the Naval Academy.

Lovell is a son of Mrs. Blanch Lovell of Edgewater Beach, Fla. His father died when he was a child.

Honors Distributed During Graduation Of Webb Class

Thirty-six members of Class 66-D received their certificates of Aeronautical Rating from Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of Air Training Command, during ceremonies Saturday at the Wing Review at Webb Air Force Base.

Gen. Momyer also presented two Outstanding Unit Awards, an Air Force Medal, and two Commendation Medals. Col A. F. Taute, wing commander, presented the graduates with the silver wings of the Air Force.

FAREWELL

It was a farewell review for Col. Taute, who departs Monday for an assignment with the North American Defense Command at Colorado Springs. He will be succeeded here by Col. Chester J. Butcher.

Class 66-D entered pilot training at Webb November 16, 1964. One of its members, Air Cadet Mohamed Dahhou, is the first Moroccan to graduate from pilot training in the United States.

At a Dining-In honoring the class held Friday evening, class awards went to:

Academic Training Award and Commander's Trophy to 2nd Lt. George A. Rabey; Officer's Training Award to 2nd Lt. Paul H. Horst; and Flying Training Award to 2nd Lt. William R. Sutton.

UNITS HONORED

Accepting the Outstanding Unit Award Saturday for the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron, from Gen. Momyer, was the squadron commander, Maj James R. Hamilton. The citation read: "The 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron . . . distinguished itself by exceptionally meritorious service in support of the Undergraduate Pilot Training Program. From Jan. 1, 1964, to March 1, 1965, the personnel of the 3560th FMS performed their mission in an exemplary manner by providing superior maintenance support to the flying training mission. Further, the high quality of maintenance effectiveness and efficiency significantly aided the continued excellence of the Webb Air Force Base flying safety program. The singularly distinctive accomplishments of all members of the 3560th FMS reflect great credit upon themselves and the Air Force."

Accepting the Outstanding Unit Award for the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, from Gen. Momyer, was the squadron commander, Maj Hans P. N. Gammel. The citation read: "The 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron distinguished itself by exceptionally meritorious service in support of the Undergraduate Pilot Training Program. Further, the high quality of maintenance effectiveness and efficiency significantly aided the continued excellence of the Webb Air Force Base flying safety program. The singularly distinctive accomplishments of all members of the 3560th OMS reflect great credit upon themselves and the Air Force.

AIR MEDAL

The citation accompanying the Air Medal, which went to Airman 1.C. Francisco Alvarado, Saturday, read: "Airman Alvarado distinguished himself by meritorious achievement while participating in sustained aerial flight as a combat crew member in Southeast Asia on June 8, 1965. Outstanding airmanship and courage were exhibited in the successful accomplishment of an important mission under extremely hazardous conditions, including the continuous possibility of hostile ground fire. The professional ability and outstanding accomplishments of Airman Alvarado reflect great credit upon himself and the U.S. Air Force.

COMMENDATIONS

The citation accompanying the Commendation Medal, which went to S. Sgt. Thomas W. Priddy Jr., read: ". . . distinguished himself by meritorious service as non-commissioned officer in charge, Quality Control Division, Base Fuels Supply, 51 Supply Squadron, Naha Air Base, Okinawa, from Jan. 29, 1963 to July 7, 1965. The distinctive accomplishments of Sgt. Priddy reflect credit upon himself and the Air Force.

The final award, given by Gen. Momyer went to Airman 1.C. Carlos T. Jerez. It was a Commendation Medal, with a citation which read: "Airman Jerez distinguished himself by meritorious service as a medical services specialist, while assigned to the treatment room of the Military Clinic, USAF Hospital, Clark AB, from March 24, 1964, to Sept. 1, 1965. Sentence Set For Contempt

DALLAS (AP) — Marion Barnett, previously convicted of fraud in a $4 million oil promotion scheme, was sentenced Friday to six months for criminal contempt of an injunction issued against him.

U. S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes stayed the sentence until Jan. 2. On May 23, 1963, Mrs. Hughes permanently enjoined Barnett from violations of the registration provision of the Securities Act in the operation of Arrowhead Oil and Gas Inc., of Dallas.

Barnett was indicted in June, 1964, charged with promoting a fraudulent scheme in the sale of fractional undivided working interests of oil and gas leases.

HAIL AND FAREWELL

OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF BIG SPRING.

Dear Friends:

The time has come to bid farewell to the City of Big Spring. In saying goodbye, I would like to salute the citizens of this community, and thank them for the warm support and congeniality they have shown to Webb Air Force Base.

My family and I hold many fond memories of our years here, and it is very difficult for us to leave.

Because of the transitory military way of life many communities show little interest in military affairs and personnel. This is not the case in Big Spring, Texas.

I speak without reservation in saying that this community, more than any other, fosters a feeling of civic awareness and hometown attachment in its military members.

For this, we are most grateful, and because of it, we are most proud to tell others that Big Spring is our home.

Sincerely,
A. F. TAUTE, Colonel, USAF
Commander

Cotton Stripping Is Halted By Drizzle, Damage Is Slight

Cotton stripping came to a halt Wednesday and Thursday and was not able to resume as the week ended, due to the persistent drizzle which left the fields saturated.

However, through Friday, Howard County gins had handled 6,487 bales of the crop. This is 16 per cent of the total. The estimate still stands at 40,000 to 45,000 bales.

Heavy frosts of last week killed the leaves on perhaps 97 per cent of the crop. The only areas where good kill was not reported was on the high country around Coahoma.

Bulk of the fields, if the sun comes out and holds as it was Friday, will be ready for the strippers by mid-December.

Farmers are waiting for the frost - killed leaves to drop from the plants and clear the way for the strippers to be put to work in full force.

Additional moisture at this time will do damage alike to the total crop and to the quality of the cotton. It is not thought that the light showers of last week caused too much damage. If a bright sun will come out and bear down for two or three days, what moisture is in the lint will be evaporated before it can do much harm.

It is said by the Texas Employment Office that the crop, to all practical purposes, is 100 per cent open. A few bolls remain to burst on the heels of the freeze but in general, the fields are dry for stripping.

The same sort of weather that prevailed here covered the entire area. Ginning in all of the Howard County area counties was slowed as the week ended.

Frosts had been reported in all of the counties and the grand rush of the cotton harvest is expected to develop within a week or 10 days.

Dawson County has already ginned 55,240 bales and estimates it will have no problem reaching the 160,000 bale crop set for it.

Glasscock County has ginned 66 per cent of its estimated crop of 12,000 bales. Ginnings in this county stood at 8,025 Friday.

Martin County has 51 per cent of its 30,000 estimate ginned, but the Midland TEC office estimated the 30,000 figure was too low. The cotton, which had been regarded as hailbeaten, is turning out a lot better than expected. Ginnings were 8,025 through Friday.

Midland County, with only 15,000 bales in the fields, has already ginned 4,891.

Sweetwater TEC said the gins in the four counties it serves have been stalled by the rain. The rain amounted to as much as .60 inch in many fields.

Scurry has ginned 12,737 bales of its crop. Mitchell ginnings were 6,537 through Friday. Nolan reported 5,922 bales ginned, and Fisher 15,490 of its estimated crop of 40,000 bales.

Ruling Upholds Stanton's School Board On All Points

PECOS — Melvin S. Stewart and his wife, Chrstine, Negro school teachers, failed completely in their presentation before the U. S. District Court in Pecos to show cause why an injunction to force the Stanton School Board to rehire them should be issued. The decision was announced Friday.

Judge D. W. Suttle, who presided in the hearing said in his opinion:

"Until and unless the evidence establishes that the failure to re-employ plaintiffs was because of their color or race, the plaintiffs have failed to prove their case, and having so failed in their proof, equitable relief by way of injunction or otherwise must be denied."

The two teachers, who had formerly taught in the Stanton Negro school, were not rehired when the school staff was organized for the 1965-66 term. They filed federal court action alleging racial discrimination.

The Stanton school district board and Stanton School Supt. Burl Clinton were named defendants.

The case has been watched with interest because it is regarded as a test of one phase of the civil rights struggle.

"Evidence in the case," said the court, "does not support and certainly does not require a finding that Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and members of their race and class were wrongfully displaced and refused employment by the Stanton School District because of their membership in the Negro race."

The suit came about when the Stanton schools, complying with federal laws, consolidated the Negro and white schools. The plaintiffs were not rehired to continue teaching, and they alleged this was because they were Negroes. They also pleaded no other Negro teachers were hired.

The school replied that the couple was not rehired because the consolidation left no need for their services.

The court failed to support a single one of the plaintiff's contentions.

Judge Suttle said that the court cannot substitute its judgment for that of the school board or the superintendent of the schools "on the wisdom or expediency of rehiring or refraining from hiring any particular teacher or teachers." The court noted it was its duty to determine if there was sufficient basis for the board's action. Judge Suttle added he had found there was sufficient basis for the action taken by the board.

Bridge Going Up In Europe

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Europe's longest suspension bridge is taking on a finished look.

The 150-foot center section was put into place last week, leaving about 300 feet of side spans to be filled before the 3,323-foot bridge is complete.

It will cross the mouth of the Tagus River, linking Portugal's industrial north and agricultural south. Four traffic lanes will handle 6,000 vehicles an hour. A dozen ferries will be retired. Later the government plans to add a double-track railway to end a detour around the estuary.

Total cost is $75 million. A contract with U.S. Steel was signed in 1962, incorporating a $55-million loan from the Export-Import Bank to be amortized in 20 years. It's expected the bridge will be operating in April.

Painter Picasso Said Recovering

PARIS (AP) — Painter Pablo Picasso is reported recuperating in "an extremely satisfactory manner" after a gall bladder operation two weeks ago.

A team of Paris surgeons waited until Friday to disclose the operation because the 84-year-old artist had demanded the "maximum effort in protecting his privacy," they said.

Pythians To Hold Annual Roll Call

The Pythian Home at Weatherford, shown above, will be the beneficiary of the annual roll call of the Frontier Lodge No. 43, Knights of Pythias, 1407 Lancaster, at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Hugo Horstmann, superintendent of the home, will be here for the occasion.

Ruth Rhoten, sponsored at the home by knights and Pythian sisters in Big Spring, also is due to be a guest. By answering the annual roll call, members make their gifts to the Thanksgiving-Christmas fund for the children. There are 83 children in the home.

Republicans Hopeful Of Small Senate Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Campaigning for most of the 35 Senate seats at stake next year already is under way with Republicans given small chance of strengthening their lopsided minority position by much.

GOP campaign strategists at the Capitol said Saturday they are hopeful of making a net gain of two or three seats in the 1966 races. They now have 32 senators, contrasted with 68 Democrats.

But spokesmen for the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee profess to be confident they will pick up at least two additional seats net for a total of 70.

WIDE MARGIN

The Democratic margin already is the widest since the New Deal days of the 1930s. In the 1937-38 Congress, 75 of the 96 senators were Democrats.

With one exception, all of the 35 incumbents are expected to run for re-election next year.

The one senator who has announced plans to retire is an Oregon Democrat, Maurine B. Neuberger, one of the two women members.

This is a state where Republicans assert they are most confident of gaining a seat if Gov. Mark O. Hatfield runs for the post as they expect.

They say there also are good GOP prospects to win seats now held by Democratic Sens. Lee Metcalf, Montana, Paul H. Douglas, Illinois, Ross Bass, Tennessee, Thomas J. McIntyre, New Hampshire, Pat McNamara, Michigan, and Fred R. Harris, Oklahoma.

STRONG POTENTIALS

The Republican strategists believe Gov. George Romney in Michigan and Charles H. Percy in Illinois would be strong contenders if they decide to run for the Senate.

And, as a sign of the changing political climate in the South, the Republicans believe their prospects there are far better than in earlier years.

For example, they contend that the GOP might pick up an Alabama seat by defeating veteran Sen. John J. Sparkman. The Republicans think Rep. James D. Martin may take on Sparkman if Gov. George C. Wallace stays out of the Senate picture. Martin came close in a race against Sen. Lister Hill in 1962.

Democrats believe they are odds-on favorites to win the post now held by Sen. John G. Tower of Texas. This is President Johnson's old Senate seat.

In addition, they rate their chances good in the races involving Sens. Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming, Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska, Jack Miller, Iowa, Gordon Allott, Colorado, and J. Caleb Boggs, Delaware.

Confab Slated On Anti-Poverty

AUSTIN (AP) — About 200 anti-poverty workers are expected here Wednesday for a two-day conference sponsored by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

William Crook, regional director, said delegates will be local poverty war directors of small towns and rural areas in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Court Order Halts Strike By Trainmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike of railway trainmen hit overnight operations of the Southern Railway System, but a federal court ordered a halt to the walkout Saturday.

The railroad said a temporary restraining order was issued early Saturday by U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott in Georgia and was served on representatives of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at Macon, Ga., at 6:30 a.m.

Announcing issuance of the court order, the railroad said normal operation of trains would be resumed as rapidly as possible.

'Slip Of Paper' Is Huge Check

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sid Stuttin, 60, a supervisor at a construction job in downtown Los Angeles, picked up a slip of paper. It was a check for $4,801,231.64.

The check was from the Bank of California to the Federal Reserve Bank. Stuttin's boss called the bank. Said Assistant Vice President Lloyd L. Aubert Jr.: "We didn't even know it was missing."

Five Younger Men Pitted Against De Gaulle Today

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's pride and prestige are on the line Sunday in France's first popular presidential election in modern times. Despite predictions for gloomy, rainy weather over most of the country, a record turnout is expected.

The aloof 75-year-old president, seeking a second seven-year term, has told the voters their choice is between stability and chaos. He says he offers stability and that chaos would result from his defeat.

Five younger opponents from all sections of the political spectrum have been critically dissecting De Gaulle's policies with sledgehammer insistence for the past three weeks. The three principal opponents have said they would retain De Gaulle's strong executive constitution, and denied there was any danger of slipping back to the instability of the Fourth Republic.

SEEK RUNOFF

With no hope of winning an outright victory Sunday, the opposition candidates have been concentrating their efforts on getting a collective 50 per cent of the vote to force a runoff election.

When the campaign opened three weeks ago, De Gaulle was an overwhelming favorite to win easily on the first try. Since then his percentage of the vote has slipped steadily in the polls as the other candidates became better known through addresses over national television and radio networks.

In a runoff election, De Gaulle still can be counted almost a sure winner. But his pride would be badly bruised by failure to win on the first ballot. Some of his aides have said he might retire if he did not win on the first round, but other intimates have denied this.

HIS OPPONENTS

The opposition candidates are:

Francois Mitterrand, 49, supported by Communists, Socialists and the left wing of the Radical Socialist party. If Mitterrand could hold all the votes of these three parties he would have 44 per cent. But the polls give him only 24-27 per cent.

Jean Lecanuet, 45, former president of the leftist Catholic Popular Republican Movement. Lecanuet has been styling himself the "French Kennedy." He started the campaign as a virtually unknown senator but a well-organized high-publicity campaign stirred tremendous interest. The polls say he should get 15-20 per cent.

Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, 58, a right-wing lawyer who has solid support from the Algerian repatriates. The polls predict Tixier-Vignancour will get 4.5-7.5 per cent.

Pierre Marcilhacy, 55, lawyer and senator who is supported by the small Liberal party. Marcilhacy is given about 2 per cent by the polls.

Marcel Barbu, 58, entered the race mostly to get a chance to speak on radio and television. He will lose his $2,000 deposit if he fails to get 5 per cent of the vote, but he seems to think the price is worth the publicity. He is given about 5 per cent in the polls.

North Viet Chief Writes American

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Linus Pauling says he has written President Johnson urging him to "find the way to achieve the goal of a cease-fire and a peaceful settlement" in Viet Nam.

He said Friday four points in a letter he received from Ho Chi Minh, president of North Viet Nam, were statements of goals Ho hopes to achieve in negotiations and not preconditions to negotiations.

Pauling, a scientist and Nobel Peace Prize winner, and several associates had written Ho appealing for a cease-fire.

Power Failure Data On Way

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — A 60-page report on the vast Northeast power blackout Nov. 9, including recommendations on how to keep it from happening again, is on the way to President Johnson.

The report by the Federal Power Commission is expected to reach Johnson Sunday and will be made public Monday.

Johnson will have a chance to look it over before FPC Chairman Joseph C. Swidler Jr. arrives at the LBJ Ranch Monday to discuss it with the President. Swidler was in over-all charge of the investigation.

PREVENT RECURRENCE

Since U.S. and Canadian officials already know what caused the blackout, chief interest in the report is likely to be in recommendations for preventing a recurrence.

Johnson, still recuperating from his Oct. 8 gall bladder-kidney stone operation, was spending a quiet day on the ranch. Acting press secretary Joseph Laitin said the President got in some paper work, some relaxing and some visiting.

Johnson watched the launching of Gemini 7 and its two-man crew by television during the afternoon. An aide stood by holding open a telephone circuit to Cape Kenned , Fla., and officials there periodically passed along word that all was going well.

The windup of the Northeast power failure investigation comes at a time when FPC officials still are looking into a more recent blackout in the Southwest.

EL PASO AREA

The El Paso area of West Texas, southern New Mexico and parts of Mexico went dark Thursday night when a natural gas regulator went haywire. FPC experts still are trying to determine what went wrong with the regulator.

Johnson already has received from Swidler a preliminary report on the Northeast blackout, but his call for the full report and his summoning of Swidler to the LBJ Ranch indicates he wants to know more about it.

U.S. and Canadian officials said Nov. 15 that the power failure was triggered by a broken relay — an automatic switching device — in a Canadian power plant near Niagara Falls.

SOUTHERN ONTARIO

Ross Strike, chairman of the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission which operates the power system on the Niagara River, said the relay was in the system's Sir Adam Beck plant No. 2 at Queenston, a southern Ontario village. FPC officials agreed with this.

Food Service Group Stages Own Banquet

The people who dedicate nine months out of the year preparing meals for the 3,000 students in the Big Spring School District took time out Saturday night to have a meal themselves. It was the eighth annual Big Spring School Food Service Christmas party, held at the Gay Hill Cafeteria.

Approximately 75 people attended. The cafeteria was decorated with blue and green lights, and strips of cedar laced each table.

Mrs. Nathan Stallcup, president of the Big Spring chapter of the Food Service Association, introduced special guests, including Mrs. Nancy Annen, cafeteria director; school superintendent Sam Anderson and Mrs. Anderson; Dr. and Mrs. Len Ainsworth, assistant superintendent of schools; the director of business for the school district, Pat Murphy and his wife; and school officials Don Crockett and Bill Gray and their wives. Each school official was presented a fruit cake that had been prepared by Big Spring cafeteria workers.

District Has Wide Margin

Unseasonably warm weather had its effect on water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District during November.

The district pumped to its customers 767,893,474 gallons of water during the month, or approximately 73,000,000 more than for November of 1964. This represented a 10.59 per cent gain, one of the widest margins of the year and reversed a slight decline in trends for the past several months. This also put the district past the 10 billion mark on deliveries once more and with assurance the 11 billion mark will be topped.

Through 11 months deliveries have amounted to 10,571,621,638 gallons, or 2.52 per cent off last year's record pace. There is a good prospect that the district will end the year close to 11¼ billion gallons, which would be about two per cent below 1964.

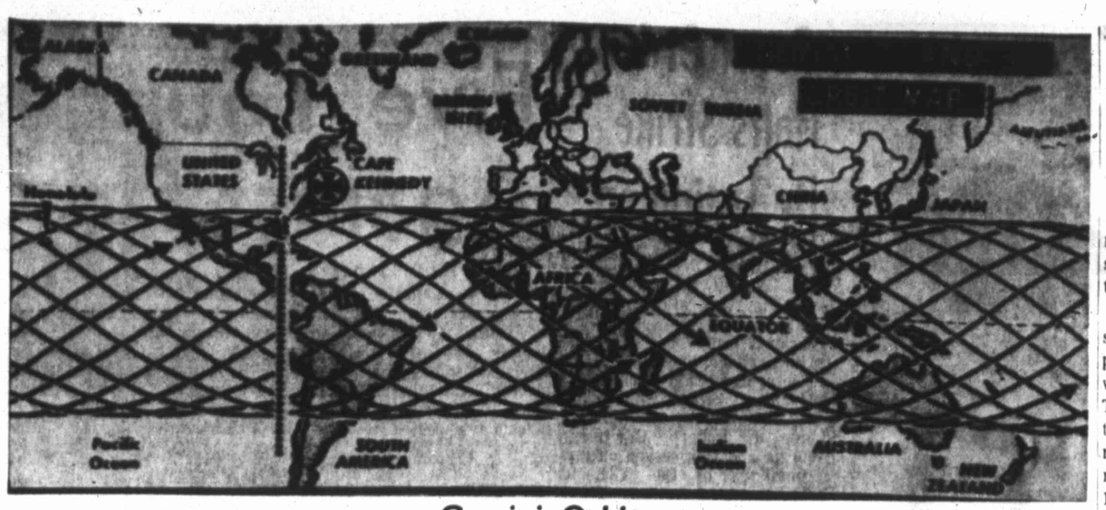

Member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder took 452,194,600 gallons in November, a gain of 9.62 per cent. Oil companies required 315,698,874, a gain of 12.01 per cent.

Odessa used 229,480,000 gallons, up 7.83 per cent; Big Spring 174,334,000,up 7.25 per cent; Snyder 48,380,600, up 30.28 per cent. The big gainer among the oil companies was Sun Oil, which took 104,417,000 gallons for a 51.43 per cent gain, but then part of this was due to the addition of the Perkins - Prothro unit to the Sun Oil contract.

plex maneuver, paving the way to the moon.

After Lovell strips off his space suit, he may remain in his long underwear for up to a day to test the comfort of shirt sleeve flight in the Gemini cabin. After that, he and Borman have permission to take turns — during noncritical stages on the flight. One of them always remaining in the protective space suit. A sudden, massive loss of cabin pressure due to perhaps a large puncture would mean instant death for the unprotected crewman.

Lovell may become a father in space. His wife Marilyn is expecting their fourth child within the next few weeks. She remained at home near the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston during the shot, watching on television. Earlier she went to church.

FAMILY WATCHES

Borman's wife, Susan, and their two sons waited out a morning rain, then saw the Gemini 7 burn its way through the 13,000-foot high overcast.

Parents Ired Over Showing Of Pro-Cong Film In School

NEW YORK (AP) — A pro-Viet Cong movie shown at Bayside High School to stimulate discussion among students stirred up an angry protest Saturday among parents.

"I would like to see the sponsors of this film explain the reason for showing it to the wives and parents of soldiers whose hands were tied behind their backs and were shot by the Viet Cong," one father told the Long Island Star-Journal.

DEFENDS IT

But the school defended it as suitable for the purpose for which it as intended.

The controversy came on the heels of another involving the 5,000-student public school in Queens. The first concerned a new policy allowing students to refuse to sing the fourth stanza of "America," after a 16-year-old girl complained that it amounted to a prayer.

The film, "A Visit to the National Liberation Front in South Viet Nam," was shown after school Friday by a student discussion club known as "The Forum." The principal, some teachers and student leaders had screened it in advance.

PRO-RED GROUP

The club borrowed the movie from the May 2nd Movement, a pro-Castro and pro-Red China organization.

Where this organization obtained it was not learned.

The club planned to follow the showing with a discussion. But so many students attended that all could not see it at first, so the discussion period was eliminated and it was shown again.

"The movie is definitely not something to shout about," said the club president, Stewart Gedal, "but is something to kick off a discussion and question and answer period which we hope we can hold for all Bayside High School students within two weeks in the auditorium. It's obviously a nice piece of propaganda and it contains half-truths."

CLEARLY IDENTIFIED

National television networks have shown Communist Vietnamese films, clearly identified as such, on news programs.

Gertrude Waldeyer, acting principal at Bayside, said she and other school authorities had decided that it was not improper for the club to show the film.

She described it as slanted and propaganda.

Earlier Friday, Mrs. Waldeyer announced the new policy concerning "America" after conferring with the board of education. The verse which the unidentified girl contended violated the Supreme Court ruling against required prayer in schools says:

"Our father's God, to Thee, author of liberty, to Thee we sing: long may our land be bright with freedom's holy light; protect us by Thy might; great God, our king."

Shriners Seek Entertainer

Big Spring Shrine Club is in search of someone with a talent for entertaining—a magician, a ventriloquist or some similiarly talented individual — who will help at the club's annual Christmas party for handicapped kids.

D. A. Brazel, president of the club, said that invitations have been dispatched to 40 or more boys and girls who are crippled and otherwise physically handicap . They are being invited to a Dec. 18 party at the Cosden Country Club. A turkey dinner with all the trimmings along h gifts for each guest is planned.

Shriners als want special entertainment for their young guests. That's why they want to contact anyone with an act which would appeal to children.

The boys and girls have been informed that a Shriner, wearing his red fez, will call for them at their homes between 11:30 a.m. and 11:45 a.m. on Dec. 18. After the party the young guests will be returned to their homes by the Shriners.

Brazel asked any entertainer who can help out in this event to contact him at AM 4-5873 or call Ted Groeb at AM 3-2333.

Small Dip In Case Load

November saw a reduction of six in the total number of cases of all kinds on file in the office of Fern Cox, district court clerk. When the month began, there were 969 cases; when it ended 963.

Divorces, always the most active file in the office, dropped four for the month. There were 219 at the outset and 215 when the month ended. Only 17 new cases were filed in November, which is fewer than usual. The court granted 18 decrees and dismissed three.

One new annulment case reached the court during November to bring the total to 12. None were handled so the file gained one.

Tax cases were unchanged for the month—313 at the first and the same number when the month ended.

There were 37 new civil cases, other than divorce or tax, filed in November. The month began with 372 cases on hand. Five were disposed of by jury trial and 25 by the court. Five were dismissed. The result was an increase of two for the period with 374 on hand as of Dec. 1.

Criminal cases dropped from 54 to 49. Four were tried before the court. One was dismissed. The total at the end of the month was 49.

Trading Heaviest For Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market had a turbulent and scrambled week on the heaviest trading in history.

Volume soared to 45,130,625 shares from 28,385,240 in the prior, four-day trading week which was reduced by the Thanksgiving day holiday. The turnover topped the previous record of 44.7 million shares made for the week ended Oct. 16 — which was the largest since early November 1929.

RECORD YEAR

Wall Street, however, is in its third straight record year for volume, so it is only natural to expect volume records to fall during given weeks and months.

Price-wise, the market did not do much of anything. The market was filled with cross currents every day. Confusion was compounded by long term profit taking, tax-loss switching, reinvestment and speculation in a continual new crop of lower priced favorites.

The Dow Jones industrial average took an insignificant loss of 2.06 at 946.10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 to 353.3 —also a minor move, but the first weekly gain for this average in four weeks.

Of 1,565 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 720 fell and 697 rose.

"NOT WARRANTED"

The street had some basis for encouragement early in the week when Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said that money rate boosts as a defense against inflation are not warranted yet, in spite of the large rise in federal spending.

Steel production eased slightly in the latest week but the figures on new factory orders showed an increase. Unemployment was down and new car sales in November were reported far above the previous record for the month.

Toward the end of the week President Johnson told business leaders that the U.S. economy is headed for another record year in 1966 and he urged wage price restraint to help achieve that goal without inflation.

Bond prices dropped sharply during the past week as pressure mounted in the money markets for higher interest yields, despite government pleas to keep interest rates down. U.S. Treasury bond prices dropped across the entire list.

Man'd Think Losing His Key Was A Crime

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Alphonso A. Monaco's method of going home — breaking in — blew up a real tempest in his personal teapot, sheriff's deputies report.

Monaco, 38, was flushed from his apartment Friday by 25 deputies armed with shotguns and clad in gas masks. Monaco, not having a mask, crawled from the apartment, into which four tear gas bombs had been lobbed.

He was booked at the county jail on suspicion of burglary—before officers noticed the apartment was Monaco's. He had lost his key and had to break in.

While breaking in, he was spotted by an off-duty detective who blew the whistle.

"It was an unfortunate episode," a deputy said, "but we had no choice in our handling of the situation."

Charges against Monaco were dropped.

Lakeview Street Opening Work

A bulldozer in the foreground shaved off a dirt corner while a tractor in the distance mixed in stabilizing material as work progressed on the Northwest Sixth to Northwest Seventh street to Lakeview School last week.

New Street Opening Awaits T&P Approval Of Easement

By TOM BARRY

"We would have the street opened now," Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said Thursday, "if we had heard from the railroad people on our request for an easement across it."

Lillard referred to the construction going on the new access cut - through from Northwest Sixth to Northwest Seventh approved a short time ago by city commissioners at the behest of school officials after the city and school board were beseiged by protests of Northside United, a group formed after the closing of that area's only other school, Kate Morrison Elementary.

Work on the street began shortly after right-of-way was negotiated on the land used, and has progressed rapidly, up to a point.

The street stops short at the railroad crossing just east of Lakeview School, a crossing that must be made to complete the street.

Railroad crossing there is a spur rarely used by Texas & Pacific Railway Co. but nonetheless, an easement is required before the city can proceed with the street. City officials requested the easement sometime ago, but no reply has been received from headquarters of the railroad company. The deal was not negotiated locally, but was referred to high officials in the company through local T&P representatives.

The street will not be paved, a condition of the purchase of right-of-way from the Denton Estate. However, it will be "stabilized," a process whereby an asphalt mixture is blended with surface of the dirt road to form a fairly stable surface, not prone to becoming muddy or washing out, except where there is a sharp incline.

The process has been used in a number of streets in Big Spring, with a considerable success. It is not permanent, but requires renewal from time to time. It has the virtues of being cheap and is better than not ing, for it keeps down dust and mud and will hold up under traffic.

Highway Department To Open Bids Wednesday

Texas State Highway Commission is scheduled to open bids next Wednesday in Austin on the FM 700 north extension, Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the department, said Friday. He said that the project should actually get under way by the middle of January.

The job calls for the construction of 2.78 miles of paved highway, identical in type with that on the present segment of FM 700 from IS 20 west and south to rejoin US 80 near the Webb AFB.

The state has set aside $435,000 for the job, Smoot said. The new road will begin at the present terminus of FM 700 on IS 20 and go north and a little west to join SH 350 at the point where the Gail road intersects.

The road is to be built along a 200 foot right of way and is slated as the first slab of a four-lane highway ultimately to be constructed on FM 700.

The county acquired the needed right of way and Lee Porter, county judge, said that all is cleared for the state to move in on the job. Only a payment to Texas Electric Service Co. remains to be handled and the judge said this is merely a formality and is being delayed by the problem of proper documentation.

Smoot said the road will be a 24 - foot paved slab with two 8-foot paved shoulders. Structures will have to be built to cross the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. tracks. Smoot said there is considerable grade work to be done on the route.

Three Sergeants Are Commended

Three retiring Webb AFB noncommissioned officers have been awarded the Air Force Comendation Medal for meritorious service in their positions. All retired Tuesday.

M. Sgt. Elmer H. Pittman, maintenance superintendent of Detachment 18, Western Air Rescue Center, was awarded the medal for his outstanding managerial and supervisory abilities which aided the successful accomplishment of the detachment's mission during a period of critical manpower shortage. Sgt. Pittman was assigned to the detachment in February, 1964.

M. Sgt. Willis M. Parker, noncommissioned officer in charge of 420A Field Training Detachment, was awarded the medal for his outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership which aided in identifying problem areas in the field of technical training, and in developing and using research projects capable of solving these problems.

M. Sgt. Cecil T. Mallory, first sergeant to Headquarters Squadron, 3560th Air Base Group, was first sergeant from Sept. 17, 1963, to Sept. 15, 1965. He was cited for his outstanding ability and knowledge in squadron administration and his high standards of performance, behavior, and appearance which have resulted in a decrease in the squadron incident rate, an increase in OJT effectiveness to excellent, and an increase in squadron barracks rating to excellent.

Wreckage Of Pact Viewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1954 Geneva agreement, by which Viet Nam was divided, is one of the most thoroughly violated pacts in history.

Both sides in the Viet Nam war say they want the agreement carried out, even now. But each side accuses the other of wholesale violations.

Despite this situation, suggestions regularly appear, usually from critics of the U.S. policy in Viet Nam, that provisions of the 1954 pact could yet be the basis for a peace settlement.

But, says Secretary of State Dean Rusk: "These people on the other side won't even come to the conference table to try to bring the situation back to those basic agreements."

Duty Extension In Viet Limited To Thirty Days

WASHINGTON (AP) —Gen. William C. Westmoreland has the authority to extend tours of duty for U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam "for any length of time if he requires it for combat necessity," the Defense Department said Friday.

But, a spokesman added, the commander of U.S. forces has said that "his policy is not to exceed 30 days" of added duty in Viet Nam.

The question arose out of reports by some parents or Army personnel that their sons had written that they had been ordered to stay on for three extra months.

The usual tour in Viet Nam for combat personnel is one year, but some voluntarily extend their service beyond that time.

Burns Will Try To Get Forfeited Bonds

A serious attempt to collect three forfeited bonds in 118th District Court has been initiated by Wayne Burns, district attorney, in suits for judgment nisi filed in the court Friday.

Many bonds have been declared forfeited over the years in the local courts, observers say, but no really business - like effort to force the bondsmen to pay off has been pushed. No forfeited bonds have ever been collected.

Burns had said he intends to go through with the present cases.

The bonds forfeited were in the cases of Ramon Nunez, forgery, $1,500; Maximo Cuellar, assault with intent to kill, $7,500, and Jessie L. Collins, theft, $1,500.

Burns said that under the law, the filing of action to collect on the bonds becomes a civil rather than a criminal matter.

He said that the suits name the principal and his sureties.

In the Nunez case, the sureties are J. N. Barrera and Thomas Marquez Jr.

The sureties in the Collins and Cuellar cases are George Thomas and Leslie Thomas.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, said that citations have been prepared against the sureties.

Burns explained that the bondsmen now have until Jan. 24 in which to file their answers. He said the state law sets up acceptable defenses which can be offered to evade the collection of the bonds.

The Collins case recalled a repercussion touching on another inmate in the county jail. Collins was a jail mate of Higino Soto, under 25-year-sentence for bank robbery. Soto, according to the sheriff's office, had received $150 from friends or relatives in Puerto Rico. He allegedly gave this money to Collins to pay for the bond so that the latter could be released. Once out of jail, Collins disappeared.

At the time the bond was issued, Soto himself was before the court alleging that he was a pauper, with no funds for the employment of a lawyer. The court appointed a lawyer at the expense of the county. It was then discovered that all the time, Soto had money on deposit with the sheriff — the money he so blithely gave to his pal, Collins, to pay for the latter's bond.

Some talk was heard for a time that additional charges of perjury might be filed against Soto, but they were not filed.

Buildup Of OAS Strength Doubted

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The Organization of American States voted itself a face-lifting last week, but some members doubt whether new strength will accompany the new look.

In two weeks of meetings the foreign ministers of 19 countries drew up plans to streamline the organization but shied away from putting teeth into its charter.

The only acrimonious debate of the meeting came over a clause assigning peacekeeping duties to the political council of the OAS. The fact that this was not a commitment but only a suggestion for further study by a committee drafting amendments to the charter did not reduce the heat of the debate.

Recommended charter reforms call for annual meetings of the hemisphere's foreign ministers, a restructuring of the OAS' political, economic and social, and educational and cultural councils, giving each equal status, and a reduction in the terms of office of the secretary-general.

As the conference wound up its business many delegates privately expressed skepticism that the annual meetings will come off. Others predicted that if they do take place they won't accomplish much.

The reorganization of the three councils elevates the non-political groups to the level of the political one but it leaves the latter with the same limited powers it's had all along.

A U.S. suggestion that the secretary-general and the council be given broader powers similar to those of their U.N. counterparts met with such negative reaction that it was never formally brought up.

Reducing the secretary-general's term from 10 years to 5 will leave him just as powerless as incumbent Jose A. Mora who is little more than the highly paid administrator of the OAS secretariat.

Even though the conference was called to strengthen the OAS, delegates were reluctant to take any step that could be deemed controversial. In fact they worked out a "consensus rule" under which no proposal would be adopted without unanimous approval.

HCJC GRADUATES NEW CLASS OF VOCATIONAL NURSES
Certificates and pins presented in Friday ceremonies

January Draft At 38,280

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next month's draft quota is about 2,000 below the December call but remains at a high level.

The Pentagon Friday asked the Selective Service System to induct 38,280 men next month.

This compares with 40,200 in the December call.

January marks the fifth straight month of high draft calls growing out of President Johnson's order to build up the regular armed forces by 340,000 men to a new total of just under 3 million by next summer.

The Marine Corps, which canceled a 5,000-man draft quota for December when enlistments boomed, will have to take draftees in January. A total of 8,980 young men will be drafted for the Marine Corps.

The other 29,300 inducted in January will serve in the Army. The Army's portion of buildup is 235,000 men.

The Navy and the Air Force do not plan to draw on Selective Service next month.

Fifteen Candidates Get Vocational Nurse Status

Fifteen vocational nurses were graduated in ceremonies held at Howard County Junior College auditorium Friday evening.

The event climaxed a year of academic and on-the-job training under the direction of Mrs. Johnnie Amos, instructor.

Rev. Leo K. Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church, brought an inspirational address to the graduates. Mrs. Amos presented the vocational nurse pins to the candidates, and Dr. Dawson DeFiney, administrative dean at HCJC, presented the certificates, which was followed by the VN pledge.

In the second row are Esther Barnes, Allie Moser, Janel Awtry, Viola Nelson, Mrs. Amos (the instructor), Grace Wyatt, Martha Stuteville, Helen Cross and Gladys Wilkinson.

Moon Data Balloon Up

LITCHFIELD PARK, Ariz. (AP) — Scientists have overcome technical difficulties and sent a 300-foot balloon on its way above the ozone layer to gather new information about the moon.

The balloon launch is part of the University of Arizona's Project Polariscope, which will carry telescopes, infra-red detector devices and photographic equipment to a hoped-for altitude of 113,000 feet.

The scheduled 4 p.m. takeoff time Friday was delayed about an hour for correction of a malfunction in the balloon's radio equipment, which will transmit commands from earth for control of the experiments.

If the flight is successful the balloon will come down in the Texas Panhandle next week.

Vatican Meet Bishops Vote On Schema

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The bishops of the Vatican Ecumenican Council started voting Saturday on their modern world problems schema, which condemns nuclear arms and urges birth control studies.

Initial results indicated it would get mass approval despite last-minute pressures against it.

The prelates took 11 votes today on individual parts of the schema. The final over-all vote will be taken Monday.

IN RECESS

Results of the voting on the nuclear arms and birth control sections were not announced before the council recessed.

But one significant vote result was announced: that the section on atheism had been approved by 2,103 to 131.

It was also announced Saturday that the council gave a final decisive vote of approval to its schema on the priestly life, upholding celibacy for Roman Catholic priests and extending the working priest movement to all countries.

The result of the vote, taker two days ago, was 2,243 to 11.

Some among the 2,300 prelates had been campaigning for rejection of the world problems schema.

VOTE RESULTS

Five vote results were announced Saturday. The outcome of the other six—including those on birth control and nuclear arms — will be revealed Monday.

The final vote on Monday is the only remaining business for the council in working session.

It is scheduled to meet in public session Tuesday to proclaim four decrees and then conclude on Wednesday with a final closing ceremony.

The four decrees are on religious liberty, missionary activity, the priestly life and the modern world schema.

Police Chief Jay Banks will open the morning session Monday with an introduction to the new code. Howard County Sheriff Aubrey Standard and Leo Hull, assistant police chief, will present the general provisions of the code, the duties of officers, and courts and criminal jurisdiction.

Featured on Tuesday's program will be Ralph Caton, judge of 118th Judicial District, whose topic will be "Habeas Corpus." Other speakers will be attorney Lanny Hamby and City Attorney John Burgess.

Wayne Burns, district attorney, 118th Judicial District, and Dee Jon Davis, Howard County's attorney, will speak on "Searches and Seizures" at Wednesday's session.

Thursday's session will feature City Judge William Eyssen Jr., whose topic will be "Justice and Corporation Courts." State Representative Roger D. Brown, an attorney, will speak on "The Trial and Its Incidents," also on the morning program.

Cotton Volume Jumps, But Grade, Quality Falter

Grades of the 5,600 samples received from Glasscock, Howard, Martin, and Midland counties improved last week, according to B. B. Manly Jr., at the cotton classing office in Abilene. About 35,800 samples were processed at the U.S.D.A. office, which brought the season classing total to 216,500. That is approximately half of the estimated total for the season.

As soon as the freeze killed cotton becomes dry enough for machine harvesters, gins in the counties west of Abilene are expected to operate at capacity and sample receipts at the classing office should reach their peak. Producers are urged to delay harvesting until the cotton is thoroughly dry.

For the first time since late in October, the amount of white cotton totaled more than the light spotted cotton in the four county area. The percentage classed in each color category was, 55 white, 41 light spotted, and 4 in spotted. Predominant grades were: middling white, 44 per cent; strict low middling white, 9 per cent; and middling light spotted, 34 per cent.

Staple lengths were steady with better than 90 per cent called 31-32 and shorter. Micronaire readings have shown more loss than any other quality factor in the past few weeks. Last week 25 per cent of the samples miked below 3.5.

The cotton market became more sluggish. Little demand was shown for middling light spotted cotton. Buyers prefered not to buy white cotton. Strict low middling light spotted and lower grades of cotton drew strongest demand; however, it was off slightly from the previous weeks. These qualities grossed producers $2.00 to $4.50 per bale above the applicable loan rates.

Classing Staff To Be Increased At Lamesa Office

LAMESA — The number of classer's on duty will be increased to 10 from the present seven classers next week, according to J. N. Brevard, officer-in-charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Lamesa Classing Office.

The season's total was brought to 57,650 samples classed as 12,531 samples were classed this week.

According to the Consumer & Marketing Service, Cotton Division report the predominate grade this week was middling light spotted with 44 per cent being such. A further breakdown show's middling 19 per cent; strict low middling 22 per cent; strict low middling light spotted 8 per cent.

The predominate staple was 15-16 inch with 60 per cent, 29-32 inch 22 per cent; 31-32 inch 12 per cent. Micronaire readings declined slightly this week with 79 per cent falling in the desired range of 3.6 to 4.8.

Prices quoted on the Lubbock spot market Dec. 1, were middling light spotted — 15-16 inch, 26.50; middling light spotted — 31-32 inch, 27.00; strict low middling light spotted, 15-16 inch, 25.85.

Nuclear Test Year's Biggest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest announced nuclear test this year was conducted underground Friday at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site, the AEC reported.

It was described as a blast of intermediate yield, meaning the explosive force was equal to that of 200,000 to one-million tons of TNT.

The test was the 22nd announced weapons-related one of 1965. In addition there have been one blast in the Plowshare program for development of peaceful uses of nuclear energy and one in the series aimed at development of detection methods.

Permian Piledriver

Permian Uses Interceptions, Fumbles For Easy Victory

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Odessa Permian used four fumble recoveries, three pass interceptions and a 92-yard kickoff return by Mike Jordan to eliminate Lubbock Monterey 29-12 in the Class AAAA schoolboy football quarterfinals Saturday before 19,000 fans.

A punt hit a Monterey defender in the head and Permian recovered on the seven to set up the first touchdown. Billy Dale, who ran for 140 yards on 26 carries during the afternoon, crashed over from the three.

Early in the second period, David Byerly kicked a 29-yard field goal to make it 10-0 Permian.

A fumble recovery on the Permian 20 set up the next touchdown with Tony Conley climaxing an 80-yard drive by going over from the Monterey five.

That made it 16-0 and Jordan took the third period kickoff on his eight and went the distance. Byerly converted and it was 23-0.

Monterey scored in the third period when Randy Bowlin's pass bounced away from a Permian defender into the hands of Bob Gobin, who completed a 60-yard scoring play.

Permian scored its final touchdown late in the third quarter when Conley smashed over from the one.

Monterey's final score came with three minutes left when Bowlin passed to Rodney McLeod for 14 yards.

Permian rushed for 249 yards but got nothing in the air and Monterey had 349 yards total offense. Bowlin completed 15 of 35 passes for 267 yards.

HAMILTON HORSE

Chickasha Dan Wins Futurity, Sets Record

DALLAS — Chickasha Dan, owned and ridden by Dr. Allen R. Hamilton, of Big Spring, came from behind with a masterful performance tonight to win the championship of the fourth annual National Cutting Horse Association Futurity.

Not only that, but Chickasha Dan won more money than any previous winner. His dramatic showing Saturday in the final round won him $6,019.75. He had picked up $639.40 in the preliminaries and $470.00 in the semi-finals, making a total of $7,279.15 for the show.

There were still more firsts connected with his victory. This was his first time for Dr. Hamilton to enter a mount in the futurity, and this was the first time that an owner had ever ridden his horse to the championship.

Chickasha Dan was back in the all-important round for the 15 finalists out of 98 horses rolled around. Christmas Fancy, owned by Barney Liles of Memphis, Tenn., had racked up 217 points and seemingly had the title wrapped up when Dr. Hamilton rode Chickasha Dan into the arena for the show's final entry. The ride was an electrifying one, and judges totalled it for 218 points.

Chickasha Dan is sired by King Glo and is out of Chickasha Ann. This marked the third time out of four years that sons of King Glo have won the show. In the first one Money's Glo won, followed the next year by Chickasha Glo.

Besides money winnings, Dr. Hamilton received a championship trophy which he will keep, and the revolving B. A. Skipper Jr. Memorial Trophy. He also got a saddle from the Ryon Company in Fort Worth. The show is limited to 3-year-olds who are making their debut in competition.

Texans Outlast Ol Miss Cagers

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas broke up a nip-and-tuck basketball game in the final 4½ minutes Saturday and won over Mississippi 80-71 as the score was tied eight times and the lead changed hands 10 times.

The Longhorns took the lead for keeps with 4:37 left when Mickey White hit from the right side to give Texas a 66-65 bulge.

The Longhorns went on to score nine more points before Mississippi could count again and had it sacked up 75-65 with two minutes remaining.

Dumas Upset By Brownwood

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Walter Croft's extra point and a penalty that robbed Dumas of one proved the difference today as Brownwood shot down the No. 1 team of Class AAA schoolboy football 7-6.

The Brownwood victory could be placed in the category of upset since the Lions were No. 2 in the state, but it was a battle of undefeated, untied teams—the feature game of the day.

Brownwood rolled into the semifinals where it will meet Weatherford next week.

Brownwood scored with only 23 seconds left in the half, marching 65 yards in five plays. David Henley passed six yards to Kirk Wall for the touchdown and Croft split the goal posts with the extra point that decided the issue.

Dumas scored in the final period on a 53-yard surge in nine plays. Glenn Bonner passed to Wayne Harkrider for 11 yards and the score. Marshall Rigdon kicked the extra point but Dumas was penalized for holding and on the second try Rigdon was short.

Dumas was ahead on penetrations 2-1 but as the game ended Brownwood was on the Dumas 21-yard line, just inches shy of a penetration which it didn't need anyway.

Brownwood ran for 192 yards and passed for 69. Dumas rushed for 91 and threw for 43.

Razorbacks Beat Missouri, 75-62

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas used a balanced attack Saturday, held at least a 10-point lead most of the way and defeated Missouri 75-62 in an intersectional basketball game.

It was the Razorbacks' first victory over Missouri since 1962 and evened the series at eight victories apiece.

Steers Win Third Place

PLAINVIEW — Big Springers won a thriller for third place in the Plainview Invitational Tournament here Saturday night after blowing a big lead. The score: 52-50.

The Steers also got a man, Robert Jackson, on the all-tournament team.

Going into third period, Big Spring had a 16-point lead, but with 50 seconds left in the quarter, Plainview had knotted it 44-44. Then with 3:31 left on the clock, Plainview went ahead 48-46, but Big Spring knotted it. James Angel sank one with 1:58 remaining to give Plainview a 50-48 edge. Terrazas dropped one one through to tie it with 1:14 remaining. Both teams stalled, and with 30 seconds showing, Plainview tried a shot that missed. Big Spring passed it around until 3 seconds were left. Joe Jaure shot and missed, but Thomas tipped it in at the buzzer for the 52-50 victory.

The Steers uncovered their finest offensive effort of the season in bombing coach Allen Simpson's old school, Borger, in second round play Friday night, 76-62.

In that one, the Longhorns built up a 14-6 advantage at the end of the first period and widened that to 29-27 at half time.

Simon Terrazas and Paul Thomas each scored 19 points for Big Spring while two other Steers, Joe Jaure and Robert Jackson, each hit in double figures.

Odessa Permian blasted Lubbock Monterey 29-12 to furnish the third team in the semifinals of Class AAAA schoolboy football Saturday.

But the shocker was a 7-6 triumph by Brownwood over mighty Dumas, the No. 1 team of Class AAA.

Permian will meet Texarkana, the AAAA championship favorite, in the semifinals. Texarkana advanced Friday night with a 21-6 victory over Dallas Hillcrest.

Freeport Brazosport beat Houston Jones 28-15 Friday night and the only result needed to finish out the semifinal bracket was the Corsicana-San Antonio Lee clash at Austin Saturday night.

Half of the semifinal bracket was completed in the Class AAA with Brownwood's victory in the feature game of the day.

Weatherford beat Nacogdoches 34-6 Friday night and will meet Brownwood.

Bridge City and Bay City clashed at Baytown and Del Rio was at San Marcos Saturday night to complete the semifinal bracket.

Classes AA and A's semifinals were to be rounded out Saturday night.

Plano beat DeKalb 22-0 and Needville downed Bellville 17-7 Friday night in Class AA. Iowa Park and Fredericksburg clashed at Abilene and Edna and Bishop at Refugio Saturday night in the other quarterfinals.

Keller walloped Forney 22-0 and Three Rivers trampled Smithville 35-0 in the Class A quarterfinals Friday night. Saturday night White Deer and Coahoma battled at Plainview and Wills Point met Rogers at Hillsboro.

First add schoolboy football (n21) x x x at Hillsboro.

Two semifinal games were set Saturday night.

Odessa Permian and Texarkana will play their Class AAAA game at Fort Worth Saturday at 2 p.m.

Brownwood and Weatherford will meet at Brownwood Saturday at 2 p.m. in their Class AAA semifinal.

PLAINVIEW — Like a team that was in a hurry to catch a train, White Deer sandbagged the Coahoma Bulldogs, 27-23, here Saturday night before 3,500 fans and drove on into the semifinals of the Class A football playoffs.

In a game that was all offense, the difference was a hardrunning fullback with the name of Vernon Marlar. Coahoma appeared physically tired after three and one-half months of football but fought back with a fourth period surge that almost paid off in victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, Coahoma got on the scoreboard first when halfback Eddie Torres raced wide from the three-yard line on a fourth-down play. A short time earlier Mike Mosley had kicked a 25-yard field goal but White Deer was off sides on the play and the Bulldogs elected to take the penalty.

Coahoma drove 29 yards in nine plays after Lawrence Lepard recovered a fumble by the Bucks' Charles Smith. After Torres caught the touchdown Mosley kicked the point. White Deer then proceeded to score twice before the half was out, Marlar plunging one yard to climax a 44-yard march. Johnny Mooney kicked the point to make it 7-7. White Deer scored in the last 90 seconds of the second quarter to take what proved to be the permanent lead.

Quarterback Philip Hart passed 43 yards to end Ronnie Anderson, who went on in for the score. The drive went 70 yards in six plays.

Mooney's kick for the point failed. In the third the Bucks cranked up to go 58 yards in six plays, Marlar getting the score on the one-yard line. The try for the points failed.

White Deer went farther ahead after Don Williams recovered a Coahoma fumble on the Bulldogs 31. Marlar got the score from 25 yards out. A pass from Hart to Monty Hawp produced two extra points.

With 13 seconds left in the third quarter, Tony Butler plunged two yards for Coahoma. That drive carried 81 yards in 8 plays, after which Torres raced wide for two extra points.

The Bulldogs dominated play in the fourth, benefitting from a wind at their backs. With 3:04 left in the game, the pass from Marshall Williams to Howard Gregory resulted in a seven-yard touchdown.

On that offensive, Coahoma drove 72 yards in six plays. Johnny Gibson then ran wide for two extra points.

Coahoma had one more chance at the ball and hacked out yardage to White Deer's 33 before a fumble on the next-to-last play of the game exploded their hopes.

The Bulldogs, in losing their first game in 13 starts and their second ever under Coach Spike Dykes, got a great defensive effort out of Lawrence Lepard.

Fumbles hurt Coahoma badly. They lost four, one of them turning into a White Deer touchdown, and another which killed their last hopes.

B-Cagers Capture Third At Snyder

SNYDER — Overcoming a cold start, the Big Spring B team rallied to swamp Midland Lee and take third place in the Snyder Invitational Basketball tournament here Saturday evening, 61-50.

Earlier the Shorthorns had been knocked out of the title chase by Lubbock Monterey 56-55. The Big Spring lads nursed a 45-43 lead at the end of the third period. Late Saturday evening Monterey held a 10 lead over Lubbock High B-teamers and seemed headed to the championship. Andrews took consolation 49-46 over Snyder.

Wayne Johnson and Danny Clendenin of Big Spring were named to the all-tournament team. In the third-place game, Midland Lee jumped to a 10-0 lead before Big Spring could get going. By the end of the quarter the Shorthorns had narrowed it to 10-14, then went ahead 29-25 at the half. A sizzling third canto gave them a 53-36 lead, and Coach Oakey Hagood emptied the bench in the final round.

In first round play Friday, the Shorthorns flattened Snyder by a score of 43-36.

Snyder jumped into an 8-0 point lead before Big Spring could untrack and led at the end of the opening period, 10-8. After that it was all Big Spring, however.

Wayne Johnson banged away for 11 points to lead the Shorthorns. Almond had the same number for Snyder.

Okla. State Ends Drouth

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Little Charles Durkee kicked a 35-yard field goal in the final two minutes Saturday to give Oklahoma State a 17-16 victory over traditional rival Oklahoma and end 19 years of football frustration for the Cowboys.

Durkee's field goal gave the Cowboys their first victory over the Sooners since 1945 and nullified a brilliant effort by Oklahoma's Ron Shotts.

Shotts, a 206-pound halfback with flashing speed, gained 163 yards on 28 carries and appeared to have assured the Sooners of continued supremacy in the series when he booted a 27-yard field goal with 3:56 left in the game.

However, the Cowboys came back on the passing of quarterback Glenn Baxter to move within field goal range for Durkee's climactic kick.

LAMESA — By the margin of one penetration, the Garden City Bearkats won Regional eight-man football honors by defeating Dawson here Friday night.

The score ended at 8-8 but the Bearkats, after calling on a great defense to stop Dawson in the final two minutes of play on their own one-yard line, penetrated Dawson's 15-yard line four times to only three intrusions for the Dragons.

Dawson scored first when a Garden City back fumbled in the end zone. The ball was recovered by the Dragons' Jimmy Winford for a touchdown.

Dawson failed to convert but was grated a questionable safety later in the period when a Garden City back was accused of intentionally grounding a pass.

Garden City finally got on the scoreboard in the third period on a 14-yard pass from Vernon Newsom to Walter Taylor. The pass climaxed a 45-yard drive. A pass from Newsom to Michael Hoch accounted for the two-extra points.

In the second period, Newsom suffered an injured knee and had to leave the game. He was used sparingly on offense and none at all on defense thereafter but his replacement at the linebacker's spot on defense, Robert Hillger, did a tremendous job. He came within one tackle of making as many contacts as any other player on the team.

Garden City registered two penetrations in the second period, going to the Dawson two on one occasion and again to the enemy four.

On the first series, the Bearkats had a touchdown called back when a penalty for illegal motion was called against them.

The Bearkats got their other two penetrations in the third period, once going as far as Dawson's ten before losing the ball.

Dawson's penetrations came in the first (twice) and in the fourth.

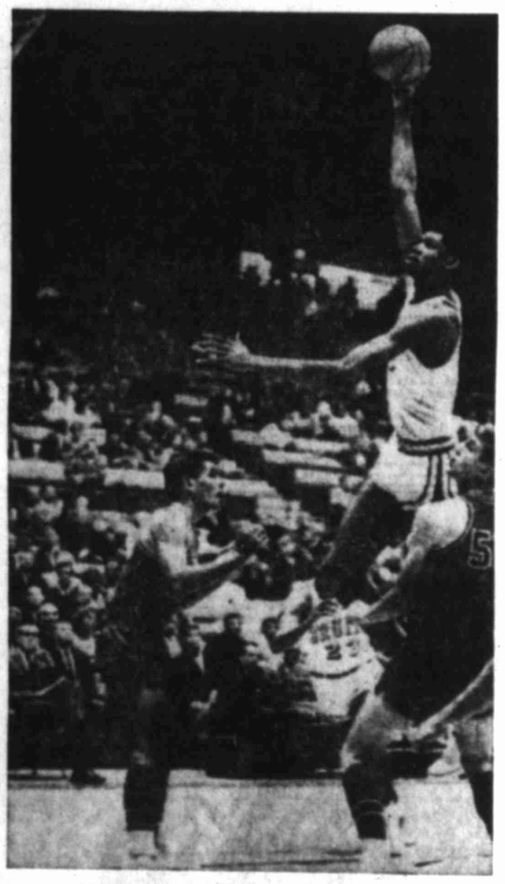

Wayne Trantham played perhaps his finest game ever on defense for Garden City. It was he that stopped Dawson on a fourth-down play that kept the Dragons from going in for a score late in the fourth.

So fierce was the Garden City defense that Dawson had a minus five yards in total offense the first half.

Garden City thus ended its first perfect season in history with a record of 12 wins and no losses. Dawson wound up with a 8-2 mark.

Lew Alcindor As Frosh Star

Lew Alcindor, the 7-foot 1-inch New Yorker whose high school play last year had college recruiters drooling to get him, towers over the other players as he fires a basket for the UCLA Frosh, at Los Angeles Friday night. The Frosh, with Alcindor scoring 23, beat Orange Coast Junior College 119-43. Last week Alcindor led the freshman team to an easy win over the UCLA varsity.

Two Texans Facing Big Challenges In Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Texans Jim Hall and Hap Sharp, who dominated last year's Bahamas Speed Week program, must contend this year with a couple of New Zealanders in what shapes up as a record breaking climax to the world road racing calendar.

Hall and Sharp, wealthy oil men who were the toasts of the U.S. courses this year in their powerful Chaparral Formula cars, have been tabbed narrow favorites in Sunday's 252-mile Nassau Trophy race, final big event on the 1965 schedule.

Sharing the attention of an expected 35,000 tourists, however, will be little Bruce McLaren, a 28-year-old veteran of the world Grand Prix circuit, and 22-year-old Chris Amon, both of New Zealand.

McLaren, who ran second to one of Hall's Chaparrals in this race last year, put himself into contention Friday when he ran away from the Texans to win the 112-mile Governor's Trophy race at a record 104.624 miles per hour.

After the first lap over the 4.5 mile Oakes Field course, Hall and Sharp never were close and McLaren cruised to win the second of the Island's three big races. Hall had throttle trouble and finished seventh. Sharp finished second. With only three laps to go, he trailed McLaren by as much as 28 seconds.

The 5-8 Amon, making his first appearance in Nassau, logged 103 miles on the unfamiliar course Friday in winning the Grand Prix for Formula Vee cars. He set a new record of 79.885 m.p.h. for the 23 laps.

Amon, who will team with McLaren on the Grand Prix circuit next year in Formula 1 cars McLaren will build, will drive a Ford Grand Touring experimental car Sunday. He was running third Friday when he had to quit with mechanical trouble.

Also among the favorites is A. J. Foyt, driving a new Lotus Ford which he built only two weeks ago. The two-time Indianapolis champion ran three laps in Friday's race, then withdrew. He said later there were no problems with the car and he expects it to be a contender.

The winner will receive $5,000 from a purse totaling about $20,000.

Roderick To Pass Up Final Season

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — John Roderick, the 9.3 100-yard dashman who became a football flanker at Southern Methodist, will pass up his last year of eligibility to play with Miami of the American Football League.

Roderick signed a two-year contract with a bonus yesterday and said he had changed his mind about playing out his string at Southern Methodist because of the big offer.

He didn't reveal the amount of the contract but Coach Hayden Fry of SMU said it was "unbelievable."

Big Money Year For Sam Snead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — At 52, Sam Snead has wound up his biggest financial year on the Professional Golfers' Association tour — $36,889.

Although he won more than 80 championships on the PGA circuit and twice was the leading money winner, Snead never had won as much official money in a single season as he did in 1965.

His biggest check this year was $11,000 when he won the greater Greensboro Open for the eighth time and became the oldest man to win a tour championship.

As leading money winner, he collected $31,593 in official tourneys in 1949 and $35,758 in 1950.

Conference To Eye Report On Aggies

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—The report of a private investigating agency on the departure of some 70 scholarship athletes from Texas A&M is expected to highlight the winter meeting of the Southwest Conference next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Conference secretary Howard Grubbs would neither confirm nor deny that the investigation of A&M had even been made and he discounted that "consideration of reports submitted by the conference investigative agency" appearing on the agenda was particularly significant.

During the summer, Texas A&M Coach Gene Stallings denied that the boys were told to leave and that any undue pressure was brought to cause them to do so.

NCAA rules forbid an athlete on scholarship being dropped by a college, whether he plans to compete in athletics or not, except by disciplinary action from the school or academic trouble.

The investigative agency employed by the conference to look into reports of rules violations was known to have been at Texas A&M, but it could not be ascertained if it visited any other member school in the conference.

If nothing develops from this investigation, then the conference meeting could be about the dullest yet, although it would have to go some to be less newsworthy than the spring meeting at College Station.

About all the faculty committee, governing body of the conference, could think up to do then was to ban disturbing noise, like the shooting of cannon, at conference football games.

Adjustment of the starting date for pre-season football practice will be discussed. Next year Southern Methodist opens classes the first Monday in September, the earliest that any school has ever started. The football coaches want at least 10 days of two-a-day practice and they can't have it while school is in session.

Therefore the conference fathers will consider a rule that will permit the start of football earlier than Sept. 1 if necessary.

The NCAA rules it can start Sept. 1, two weeks before classes, or 14 days before the first game, whichever is earliest.

The committee also will discuss holding tennis and golf championship competition April 28-30 instead of May 6-7, when the conference meet is scheduled next spring, so as not to conflict with the Texas Interscholastic League meet, which is being held at the same time in Austin.

All schools were permitted to extend their spring training beyond April 7 this year when Texas A&M asked for the concession, since it had just brought in a new coach. The committee will consider making this a permanent rule.

A review of recruiting problems is on the agenda but there appears to be no particularly significant matter up for decision. This is a routine item on all agendas.

A number of applications of athletes, who were injured before they could get in much competition, for alleviation of eligibility will be considered.

This concerns whether an athlete, who has been injured before he could play as much as one game, is to have that year charged against him. Terry Southall, the Baylor quarterback who got a broken leg in the third game of the season and missed all of conference action, apparently will not be considered since no application was submitted for him.

Coaches and athletic directors meet Thursday morning. Athletic directors, coaches and business managers will hold a session Friday morning and the faculty representatives open their meeting Friday afternoon.

The faculty committee meets again Friday night and makes a report Saturday morning.

Three All-Americans Are Named To South's Squad

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Three All-America players head up the South squad announced Saturday for the 17th annual Senior Bowl football game in Mobile Jan. 8.

They are Alabama center Paul Crane, Florida end Charley Casey and Tennessee linebacker Frank Emanuel. In addition, Auburn linebacker Bill Cody, Kentucky tackle Sam Ball and Mississippi guard Stan Hindman, all second-team All-Americas, were selected.

Of the 27 players on the squad, 19 were drafted in the top five rounds by teams in the National and American Football Leagues.

Six were first-round draft choice, including Texas A.&I. quarterback Randy Johnson, by Atlanta; Sam Ball, Baltimore; and Stan Hindman, San Francisco, all of the NFL; and Kentucky back Roger Bird, Oakland; Mississippi back Mike Dennis, Buffalo; and LSU lineman Dave McCormick, Boston, all of the AFL.

Crane will be joined by three of his Alabama teammates — quarterback Steve Sloan, fullback Steve Bowman and halfback David Ray.

The South's eight interior linemen will average 6-foot-4 243 pounds. The tallest is West Texas State's George Allen at 6-7 and 250, and the heaviest is Southern Mississippi's John Mangum at 6-3 and 270.

Casey, whose 58 catches for 869 yards and eight touchdowns led the Southeastern Conference in pass receiving, heads a group of four outstanding South ends. Others are Bobby Crockett of Arkansas, Rick Kestner of Kentucky and Chuck Drulis of Duke.

Sloan and Johnson, a little All-America first-team selection at Texas A.&I., will give the South two outstanding passers.

Bowman, who led the SEC in rushing with 770 yards, will share the fullback duties with Mississippi State's 220-pound Hoyle Granger.

The South will be coached by the New York Jets' Weeb Ewbank.

The North squad, to be coached by Mike Holovak of the Boston Patriots, will be announced next week.

Bears, Colts Tangle In Crucial Battle

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It will be H-hour in the National Football League's Western Conference Sunday.

H stands for George Halas' hot and hard-nosed Chicago Bears and the hurting and home-team Baltimore Colts, which meet in the key game.

Should Baltimore win and Green Bay lose to Minnesota, then the Colts will repeat as conference champions.

But if Baltimore loses and Green Bay wins, then the Colts will be just one-half game ahead of the Packers and 1½ in front of the Bears with two games remaining.

One of these two games has Green Bay at Baltimore Dec. 12.

Other games Sunday feature the mad scramble for second place in the Eastern Conference.

Washington is at Cleveland, which has clinched the eastern crown; Pittsburgh is at New York; Los Angeles plays at St. Louis; Dallas meets the Eagles in Philadelphia; and Detroit is at San Francisco.

New York, St. Louis and Washington are tied for second with 5-6 records while Dallas and Philadelphia are one game back.

In the American League, Buffalo plays at Houston and Denver is at Oakland in the only games.

The Colts, who handed Chicago its only loss in the last eight games Nov. 7, are four-point favorites to win again.

However, they are not as healthy as they were Nov. 7. Linebacker Don Shinnick was lost for the season in the first Bear game, which the Colts won 26-21 after leading 17-0, and quarterback Johnny Unitas has been bothered by a bad back ever since.

Defensive end Ordell Braase, who missed one game and was in for only two plays in the 24-24 tie with Detroit on Thanksgiving Day, again is a doubtful starter. Tackle Billy Ray Smith will move to Braase's spot if needed. And Guy Reese will take over at tackle.

Linebackers Dennis Gaubatz and Ted Davis are set to play despite sprained ankles.

The Bears, on the other hand have their bruising defensive unit in top shape. The only question mark on the offensive team is fullback Ron Bull, who has a leg injury.

Green Bay will have the home field advantage in its must game against the Vikings.

The Packers had a chance to move within one-half game of Baltimore last week but lost to the lowly Los Angeles Rams as their offense faltered once again.

Although the Vikings have lost three straight by big scores, they could all but wreck Green Bay's title hopes if they catch the Packers looking ahead to their game with Baltimore.

Of the three teams tied for second in the East, Washington probably will have the toughest assignment in Cleveland.

The champion Browns won't be lacking for incentive since it will be their last appearance before the home folks this season, and their great fullback, Jimmy Brown, is nearing another record.

Jimmy has 19 touchdowns and needs only two more to break the season mark of 20 set last year by Baltimore's Lenny Moore. He would like to do it at home.

San Francisco and Detroit virtually have no chance at second place in the West, but a San Francisco victory over the Lions could move the 49ers into a third place tie with Chicago if the Bears lose.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

West Is Lauded

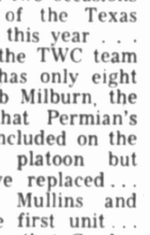

By Tommy Hart

When here with his Texas Western freshman basketball team the past week, coach Moe Iba expressed the conviction that Big Spring's Charley West is "the finest athlete on the TWC campus" . . . Charley helped ace quarterback Billy Stevens set all kinds of passing records for the Sun Bowl-bound Miners, catching six passes for gains totaling 125 yards, two of which he carried in for touchdowns (against Xavier) . . . Charley also intercepted four passes for 94 yards runback and another TD, returned six kickoffs for a total of 85 yards and ran back six punts for 35 yards . . . His real value to the TWC team, however, was on defense . . . West and fellow-Big Springer Buster Barnes will appear against TCU in the Dec. 31 Sun Bowl game . . . Iba picks the Miners to topple the Frogs, by the way, pointing to Stevens' remarkable passing record — 196 completions in 432 attempts for gains totaling 3,032 yards and 21 touchdowns . . . TCU probably can play a three-man line against TWC, however, because the Miners only gained a net of 442 yards all year rushing the ball . . . That averages out to 44.2 yards per game . . . Incidentally, David (Daddy D) Lattin, the 6-7 Negro who wrecked HCJC on two occasions last year, is now a mainstay of the Texas Western varsity basketball team this year . . . Phil Harris, high-point man for the TWC team against HCJC the other night, has only eight digits on his two hands . . . Bob Milburn, the San Angelo scribe, contends that Permian's Tony Conley should have been included on the All-District 2-AAAA offensive platoon but doesn't say who he should have replaced . . . Two San Angelo boys, Gary Mullins and Frankie Stringer, also made the first unit . . . Dallas Baptist wound up winning that Garden City, Kansas, Junior College tournament defeating Cameron, Okla., in the finals, 78-72 . . . HCJC copped third place in the same meet . . . No all-tournament team was selected by tournament officials, who had weighed complaints that some of the boys named to last year's elite club couldn't even make their teams' traveling squads later on in the season . . . The crowds the the Garden City meet were very poor the last two days, incidentally, mainly because all Kansas-based teams were eliminated in the first round.

ESTRADA

* * *

Wonder if those Lubbock fight officials know yet that Elisio Estrada and Marciano Rivas, who met in a preliminary bout on the recent card featuring a match between Roy Rogers and Joe Hudson are in the same fight stable? . . . Both fight under the banner of Martin County's Melton McMorries . . . The boys themselves were wrongly billed on the card (Estrada, who won, was identified as Raco Robles) . . . Estrada, 19, has a 15-1-1 ring . . . Rivas, 24, has had 32 fights . . . Bobby Pherigo is the Coahoma boy who tackled Sonora's Eddie Howell so hard in that playoff game at San Angelo that Howell had to leave the game for repairs . . . San Angelo officials estimate that it cost the Board of Civic Development and the Chamber of Commerce there $750 to stage two high school playoff games on successive nights but they figure the outlay was worth it in added business, as well as favorable publicity . . . They'll seek all the playoff games in the future they can get . . . Max Bumgardner, the Angelo State College football mentor, says quarterback Laney Cook of Sonora is one of the better schoolboy prospects he's seen and Cook is only a junior . . . Spike Dykes, the Coahoma mentor, would have flipped with White Deer coaches and used Big Spring as a home site in event he had won, had the White Deer people agreed to use Amarillo as a home base — but the coaches of the Bucks insisted on designating Borger as their base of operations . . . So the two factions agreed on Plainview as a neutral field . . . El Paso, with a 6-6 pivot man named Tommy Isaac, figures to be the best of District 1-AAAA's basketball teams . . . Bobby Dodd, the Georgia Tech football mentor, has been given 18 automobiles by grateful alumni since he first hired on there . . . Ex-Texas Tech aide Wade Walker will likely get the call if Tonto Coleman turns down the offer to become Southeastern Conference commissioner . . . Charles Turnbow, the 6-5 one-time rebounder for South Plains College at Levelland, has a good shot at a starting berth with the University of Texas cagers this season.

Two Greyhounds On All-Opponent

PORTALES, N.M. — Two Eastern New Mexico University football players have been selected to the all - opponent team of the Central State College Bronchos, Edmond, Okla.

Quarterback Benjy Dial, Farwell, Tex., an honorable mention All - American, and end Jim Martin, Clovis, are both listed on the all - opponent offensive team for the Central State squad.

The Greyhounds of Eastern defeated the Bronchos 26-7 in the third game of the 1965 season. In that contest, Dial completed 19 of 32 passing attempts for 221 yards and four touchdowns. Martin caught six passes for 82 yards and two of the six-pointers.

In announcing the all - opponent team, Central State coach Phil Ball said in a letter to Hound coach B. B. Lees: "I want to congratulate Jim Martin and Benjy Dial on their selection and all of you on your fine football team."

Four other players of teams scheduled both by the Greyhounds and the Bronchos this year were chosen for the Central State all - opponent team. They are guard Leon Stewart of Northwestern Oklahoma and three members of the Southwestern Oklahoma team — guards James Poole and Dennis Skinner and halfback, Mutual Bryant.

Oakland Leans On Newcomer Larry Todd

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — "He's the best "I've ever seen," said Houston's veteran quarterback, George Blanda.

"Whatever his name is."

Blanda, whose pro career spans 16 seasons and two pro leagues, was talking about Larry Todd, the controversial running back from Arizona State who until three weeks ago was collecting knowledge and splinters on the Oakland bench.

But Blanda's seen him now, and the rest of the American Football League has been made aware of Todd's abilities by his vital contributions in the Raiders' attempts to overtake front-running San Diego in the Western Division race.

The Raiders, with a 6-4-1 record, will continue Operation Overhaul in Sunday's game against Denver. Buffalo, which already has clinched the Eastern title, will be at Houston in the only other game scheduled.

The Chargers were 6-2-3 going into Saturday's game against New York.

Todd, who became involved in one of last year's signing incidents when he chose to pass up another year of eligibility at Arizona State to play pro football, at first was unable to crack the Raiders' starting backfield with Clem Daniels and Roger Hagberg holding the running back spots.

But Todd went to work three weeks ago, and in two games has gained 163 yards in 28 carries for a 5.8 average, caught five passes for 61 yards and climbed into the No. 5 spot in kickoff returns with 11 for 268 yards and a 24.4 average.

In doing so, he has given every indication that he is following in the footsteps of two other players who were in the same Arizona State backfield — Tony Lorick, now with the Baltimore Colts, and Charlie Taylor of Washington, the Rookie of the Year in the National League last season.

Todd joins Fred Biletnikoff, a flanker who has caught 21 passes for 315 yards in five games for the Raiders, as Oakland's late entries in the AFL'S Rookie of the Year derby.

Others considered among the top rookies are quarterback Joe Namath and defensive end Verlon Biggs of New York, tight end Jim Whalen of Boston, Kansas City flanker Otis Taylor, tight end Paul Costa of Buffalo, San Diego running back Gene Foster, linebacker John Bramlett and running back Wendell Hayes of Denver and Houston linebacker.

Denver 4-7 and last in the West, has put together a strong running attack with Hayes and Cookie Gilchrist but the Broncos have not had consistent quarterbacking.

The Bills will try Bobby Smith at halfback with Wray Carlton moving to the fullback spot and Billy Joe getting a rest since they have clinched their second straight Eastern title.

The Oilers, in a battle with New York for the runner-up spot in the East, have been employing both Blanda and sophomore Don Trull at quarterback.

Excess Of Boys Costs Clemson

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Clemson University has 18 too many football and basketball players on scholarship and it has cost the Tigers a $2,500 fine by the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Commissioner Jim Weaver of the ACC announced the penalty Friday, saying Clemson informed the conference office it had violated a conference rule limiting football and basketball scholarships to 140.

Grid Star's Son Signs Contract

Olie Cordill Jr., son of a one-time Big Spring High School football star, has been signed to a contract by the Cleveland Browns of the NFL.

Young Cordill, whose father was a halfback here in the early '30's and who later played for Rice, was a split end and defensive back for Memphis State the past season.

Texarkana, Keller Post Playoff Wins

By The Associated Press

Texarkana hurdled the Dallas Hillcrest menace in style Friday night and enhanced its status as favorite to win the Class AAAA schoolboy football championship.

Furthering its reputation for being able to muster the big shots in the clutch, Texarkana, under the expert guidance of its quarterback, Joe Norwood, lashed Hillcrest 21-6 and advanced to the semifinals.

Norwood ran 67 yards for one touchdown, scored another by smashing over from the one and passed to Ronnie Mitchell for the third. Norwood also kicked three extra points.

Hillcrest had held the Tigers scoreless in the first half and came closest to tallying itself when Bob Bearden missed a field goal.

Freeport Brazosport remained unbeaten as it clouted Houston Jones 28-15 in the lower bracket of Class AAAA, with David Pratt running for three touchdowns and throwing for the other.

In Class AAA, Weatherford strapped Nacogdoches 34-6. Ronnie Colliflower passed for two touchdowns and Dave Davis ran for 81 yards in leading the Kangaroos to their triumph.

Weatherford intercepted four Nacogdoches passes and turned three of them into touchdowns.

Plano scored the first three times it had the ball and went on to a 22-0 victory over DeKalb while Needville knocked over Bellville 17-7 in Class AA quarterfinal games.

Johnny Griggs scored the first two touchdowns and Billy Fondren ran for the other in Plano's victory over DeKalb.

Needville, with only a tie to mar its record, won its 12th game of the season in toppling Bellville. Ronald Pope scored two touchdowns and Paul Wenzel kicked a field goal for the Needville scoring.

Keller did the unbelievable by scoring 15 points in the last 3½ minutes to break out of a 7-7 tie and beat Forney 22-7, while favorite Three Rivers bounced Smithville 35-0 to reach the semifinals of Class A.

Joe Gutierrez was the big man for Three Rivers as he scored three touchdowns while rushing for 113 yards. David Franke passed for the other two scores.

Second Lt. Terry C. Isaacson, now stationed at Webb AFB, graduated from the U.S. Air Force Academy in 1964 with a bachelor of science degree in military science and one of the most outstanding athletic records in the history of the academy.

In 1962, '63 and '64, Lt. Isaacson was on the All - American Wrestling team in the 167-pound weight class. In 1962 he received an honorable mention All - American in football as a quarterback. In 1963 he made several first team All-American teams as quarterback.

During his football career at the academy, Lt. Isaacson set a record with 278 yards total offense against UCLA in 1963. He also set the record for total plays for the 1963 season with 309.

Last Oct. 7 Lt. Isaacson came to Webb AFB as an instructor pilot assigned to the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron. He had undergone pilot instructor training at Randolph AFB, Tex. In a recent interview he said that he enjoys flying as much as athletics.

When asked his opinion of this year's USAF Academy Falcons football team, Lt. Isaacson stated that "They haven't had a great won-lost record, but in my opinion, they've had a great season."

Lt. Isaacson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger G. Isaacson of Tallahassee, Florida. He is married to the former Barbara Allen of Colorado Springs, Colo.

Howard Twilley Claims Eight Football Records

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Twilley, Tulsa's little end with the big list of records, is the first player to win the major college football scoring and pass receiving championships in the same season.

The 1915 All-America end, who stands just 5-foot-10, scored 127 points and caught 134 passes for 1,779 yards and 16 touchdowns in 10 games.

Statistics released Saturday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association showed Floyd Little, Syracuse's breakaway halfback, second in scoring with 114 points while Chuck Hughes of Texas Western was the runner-up in receiving with 79 catches for 1,519 yards and 12 touchdowns.

Besides his touchdowns, Twilley got his other points on 23 of 29 conversion kicks and four two-point conversion catches. Last year when he also won the receiving crown, the missed the scoring title by one point.

The senior from Galena, Tex., also set eight major-college pass-catching records. They are:

Most passes caught in a game, 19; caught in a season, 134; caught in a career, 261; touchdown passes caught in a game, 5; season TD receptions, 16; career TD receptions, 32; pass-receiving yards in a season, 1,779; and career pass receiving yards, 3,343.

Ticket Supply Gets Critical

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tickets are selling so fast for the United States Open Golf Tournament next summer that the San Francisco Olympic Club is worried.

The limit is 20,000 per day for the tournament June 16-19 inclusive. Already one-third of the tickets are gone.

Lou Fazackerly, co-chairman of the ticket committee, said, "We're afraid that a number of Northern Californians will wait until spring to order tickets and then be miffed when none are available."

Houston Tries To End Streak Against Bills

HOUSTON (AP)—The Buffalo Bills, with the American Football League Eastern Division title already in their pocket, clash Sunday with the Houston Oilers, a team that usually gives the defending champions a tough time.

The Oilers presently are in a four game losing streak, but Houston has whipped Buffalo seven times in the last 11 starts. Houston also is one of only two clubs to whip the Bills this season.

The Bills with an 8-2-1 record won the Eastern Division title last week as the Oilers and the New York Jets both lost and eliminated themselves from the race.

Coach Lou Saban's Bills now have a December 26 date with the Western Division winner when Buffalo will seek its second straight AFL championship.

The Oilers, now 4-7, whipped Buffalo 19-17 early this season at Buffalo.

In that meeting, Houston's offense was guided by veteran quarterback George Blanda but the Bills may see a lot of sophomore Don Trull.

Trull, a former Baylor University star, directed Houston through most of its game last week against Kansas City and drove the club for two fourth quarter touchdowns in a losing cause.

The Bills are also expected to see a lot of Houston's Ode Burrell, smallest starting halfback in the league at 180 pounds. He is the Oilers' leading ground gainer with a 4.6 yard average.

The Bills' 278-pound per man defensive line has been tough on running backs, however, allowing enemy ball carriers only 3.1 yards per carry.

The Oilers still have a chance for second place in the Eastern Division. New York currently is in second place with a 4-6-1 mark. The Jets play San Diego Sunday.

Vols Trip UCLA In Pre-Bowl Tilt

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Dewey Warren rewrote the Cinderella football yarn Saturday and led seventh-ranked Tennessee on a 65-yard touchdown drive that beat fifth-ranked UCLA 37-34 in a battle of bowl-bound teams.

Warren scored the winning touchdown with 39 seconds left in the game before a screaming crowd of 44,495 fans.

The Vols passing attack was spectacular throughout the game, and Warren completed 19 of 27 passes for 274 yards. He had two strings of seven straight completions and fired two touchdown passes.

End Johnny Mills caught 10 passes for 141 yards.

Playing completely out of character, the Vols exploded for three first-half touchdowns, but UCLA bounced back with a 21-point third period and led 34-29 with 3½ minutes left in the game.

Warren set new Tennessee marks for the most pass attempts, the most completions and the most yards gained by passing in the contest with UCLA, which plays in the Rose Bowl against top ranked Michigan State New Year's Day.

Tennessee, headed for a Dec. 18 game with Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl, had figured to be only a dark horse in the Southeastern Conference race this season, but molded a stubborn defense. Until meeting UCLA, the Vols had yielded only seven touchdowns.

The dramatic game-winning touchdown began at the Vol 35. Completing passes to Mills and tailback Walter Chadwick, Warren guided the Vols to the UCLA one in nine plays. On fourth down, Warren called an option play off left tackle and plunged into the end zone.

But the drar had not ended. UCLA returned the kickoff and advanced past midfield. A pass from sophomore Gary Beban was intercepted by Bob Petrella, who returned it 49 yards before he was tackled into the UCLA bench.

A melee broke out and coaches of both teams had to seperate the players as the game ended.

Speaker For QBC Banquet

Penn State Bests Maryland By 19-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) —Penn State capitalized on its own mistakes and Maryland's too Saturday to score a 19-7 football victory in a game which shared national television time with the Gemini space shot from Cape Kennedy.

The Nittany Lions turned a pass interception into a touchdown in the first quarter. Fullback Dave McNaughton smashed through the Maryland line on three straight five-yard carries after Dick Gingrich had intercepted and returned the ball to the Maryland 15.

In the second quarter, halfback Mike Erwin sped 65 yards for a touchdown after recovering a bouncing forward fumble by Penn State's Bill Rettig. Rettig was hit about the 17 shortly after crossing the line of scrimmage on the freak play, which covered 86 yards.

The Lions made it 19-0 with a 39-yard drive capped by an eight-yard burst through the line by Dick Nye in the third period.

Maryland's lone touchdown came in the fourth quarter on a 28-yard pass from Jim Corcoran to wingback Bruce Springer, who caught it between two Penn State defenders at the two and went into the end zone.

It was the end to a dismal season for both teams, which had started the year with bright prospects. Penn State ended 5-5, marking the first time in 16 years that Coach Rip Engle has not had a winning season.

Maryland's finish was 4-6 and was likely to increase the already broad speculation that it was Coach Tum Nugent's last year with the Terps since coming here from Florida State in 1959. His seven-year record is 36-34.

For most of the first half, viewers on NBC saw a split-screen view of the game and preliminaries of the space shot at Cape Kennedy. The television network cut away from the football game for the Gemini launch alone, returning to the contest in the third period.

Col. Taute's Last Webb Review For Class 66-D

Webb AFB's graduation day carried special significance. For members of Class 66-D it was the day to receive their wings. For the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron and the 3560th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, it was a day to receive Outstanding Unit Awards. For Airman 1. C. Francisco Alvarado, there was a citation accompanying the Air Medal. For S.Sgt. Thomas W. Priddy Jr., there was a citation accompanying his Commendation Medal; and there was another Commendation Medal for Airman 1.C. Carlos T. Jerez.

For the 3560th Wing Commander at Webb, Col. A. F. Taute, it was the final graduation and wing review. Colonel Taute and his family will depart Monday for an assignment with the North American Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo. Colonel Taute has been in command here since February, 1964, and has been nominated for the rank of brigadier general.

And to top it all, the commander of the Air Training Command, Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, was on hand to preside over the review and hand out the honors.

Saturday's review followed a special Dining-In Friday evening, when Colonel Taute was honored, and special awards were distributed to members of Class 66-D. Some pictures of the activities are presented on this page.

Birmingham Leaders 'Adopt' Army's Fighting 1st Division

Jerez

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "What can we as patriotic Americans do to boost the morale of American fighting men in Viet Nam and offset the draft card burnings, the marches and other anti-Viet Nam demonstrations?"

City fathers of this steel metropolis asked themselves this question and came up with this answer: Officially adopt the 1st Infantry Division — the Big Red One — which is in the thick of the fighting.

The idea caught on and the Army liked it so well it sent the No. 1 enlisted man in the division — Sgt. Major William O. Wooldridge — to Birmingham to accept the adoption officially.

How well did it work?

The proud city fathers reflected on these expressions of recognition for the Sergeant Major Saturday:

—Seventy thousand persons attending the Auburn-Alabama football game stood and applauded while Wooldridge, a striking figure in his blue uniform resplendent with gold stripes, walked the length of the football field to salute the Stars and Stripes.

—A shy Avondale School sixth grader looked up at the big sergeant when he visited her school and asked: "What can we do for the Big Red One?" It was a question repeated a thousand times.

—More than 750 persons including Gov. George C. Wallace turned out for the adoption ceremonies.

Birmingham's official and civic leaders had watched the demonstrations with mounting indignation while more than 20 Alabama families received telegrams reporting the deaths of sons, husbands and fathers fighting in far-away Southeast Asia.

One platoon leader from Birmingham who died on a search and destroy mission had written his young wife:

"I know I am working for the protection of our country — you and the boys. I'm willing to sacrifice [illegible] end. What is wrong with America today? Can't they see?"

Birmingham's response was community-wide. The quickly formed adoption steering committee included among its members Crawford Johnson III, president of the Birmingham Area Chamber of Commerce; Donald Stafford, president of the Birmingham Labor Council (AFL-CIO), and Dr. John Nixon, president of the Alabama Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who is a local dentist.

Planners had a major break. Maj. Gen. William A. Cunningham, commander of the 4th Army Corps with headquarters here, was a former Big Red One chief of staff. He also was a West Point classmate of Maj. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commander of the First. Together, they cut a lot of red tape.

Adoption planners flew the sergeant's wife and three of his five children — the others couldn't leave school — to share the reception for Wooldridge.

"I thought I would be met at the airport by one or two officials and that would be it," Wooldridge said later. "I was overwhelmed."

Instead a crowd of several hundred cheered. City Council President M.E. Wiggins and County Commission President Cooper Green headed dignitaries greeting him.

Dianna Foster and Laurie Thompson of Brownie Troop 552 presented roses to Mrs. Wooldridge and letters of encouragement to the sergeant. Yes, everybody was there.

Mrs. Wooldridge said before she returned to Junction City, Kan., that she would like to live here when the sergeant retired. And Wooldridge shouted as he hurried aboard an airliner for his return to war in Viet Nam, "I'm coming back."

Man Killed, Hit By Two Autos

MARSHALL (AP)—Lawrence Pero, Dallas Negro, died in traffic Friday night, struck in swift succession by two small cars.

Highway Patrolman Bud Taylor said Pero apparently had car trouble, stopped and stepped onto US 80 just west of Marshall to seek help. Taylor said a car driven by Robert Lee Duvall of Mesquite hit Pero and knocked him into the opposite lane.

Pero was hit almost at once, the officer said, by another car driven by Jimmy Wolff of Longview, an army recruiter at Shreveport. With Wolff was his bride of about one hour.

Cold In North Italy Blamed In Deaths

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Police said Saturday three persons have died of exposure in the past two days because of cold in northern Italy.

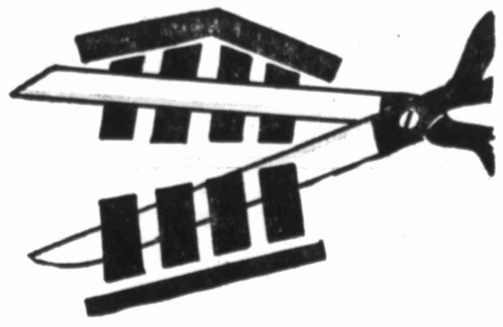

Grain Futures Market Makes Gains In Week

CHICAGO (AP)—Demand was general and well sustained in the grain futures market last week and all commodities closed with substantial gains over the preceding week.

The advance, the broadest in several months, added more than 7 cents a bushel to some soybean contracts and more than 5 cents for new crop wheat. Corn moved up 5 cents at the extreme, oats and rye more than 2 cents.

An expanding volume of commercial buying started the run-up. As gains advanced a cent or so they appeared to have run into accumulations of buy orders to stop losses on short commitments. That speeded the advance and floor speculators added to the strength by reinstating long positions.

At the end of the week, wheat was 3⅜-7⅛ cents a bushel higher than a week ago, December $1.63; corn 3¼-5 cents higher, December $1.21⅛-21; oats 3¼-2⅛ higher, December 71¼ cents; rye 2⅜-2¾ higher, December $1.20⅜; soybeans 6¼-7¼ higher, January $2.62¾-63.

Cut the college problem down to size

It's too big, too important to let slide.

The problem: Colleges are facing greatly increased enrollments every year.

But they may not be able to afford the facilities, equipment and qualified teachers to train these potential leaders.

That makes it our problem.

We urgently need leaders to plan wise use of our national resources, manpower and human skills.

A loss in leadership would be a threat to our economy. It would affect jobs, opportunities, living standards.

Keep our leaders coming, by helping colleges meet the cost of educating them. Give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

NEW HYDEAL FACILITY TURNS OUR CYCLOHEXANE AND MORE BENZENE
Novel processes used in turning out remarkably pure products for Cosden and El Paso

Cosden's Newest Facility Starts Up Smoothly

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company's new three-part operating facility has gone on stream without a hitch.

To be known as Hydeal, the facility has added cyclohexane to Cosden's growing list of petrochemicals, and it has substantially boosted the production of benzene.

The unit is located just northwest of the polystyrene plant. Dan Greenwood, foreman, heads the 15-man team which will operate it.

The facility consists of a Hydeal, a Hydrar, and a pretreatment section for the hydrogen gas required by the two units. Both are UOP processes and were constructed by Procon Incorporated.

REMARKABLY PURE

Benzene is hydrogenated to form cyclohexane at the Hydrar, which came on stream with remarkable smoothness Nov. 12. The very first sample of the initial run produced 99.76 per cent purity product.

On Nov. 29, the Hydeal unit to hydrodealkylate toluene into benzene also started up efficiently. For three days beforehand the crew had been drying out the refractory in the heater to keep it from cracking or being damaged under the tremendous heat to which it would be subjected.

Cosden has a contract to provide El Paso Natural Gas Products Company of Odessa with cyclohexane which in turn will be converted by El Paso into adipic acid and hexamethylenediamine, primary raw materials of nylon 6-6.

Cosden will also furnish a substantial quantity of benzene to El Paso for production of ethylbenzene. El Paso uses most of this ethylbenzene for production of styrenemonomer in its own plant. El Paso will also supply Cosden some ethylbenzene for the latter's processing into styrene monomer and ultimately polystyrene.

PRODUCT EXCHANGE

Plans for this project were announced in September 1964 when Cosden made known that it was expanding its polystyrene manufacture to 60 million pounds a year and its styrene production to 120 million pounds annually.

At that time the cost of the new facility was estimated at $3,000,000, and the exchange of products between Cosden and El Paso was pegged at $50,000,000 over a six-year period. The start-up date was slightly behind the estimates of a year before, but they were well ahead of the effective date of Jan. 1, 1966 for the cyclohexane contract with El Paso.

Wayne Vaughn, chemical superintendent, and W. D. Broughton, assistant chief engineer pointed out some features of the new facility. For example, it utilizes the first cooling unit of its type in the Big Spring complex; it is of single rather than dual flow design. All process streams at the Hydeal are cooled by air rather than by water.

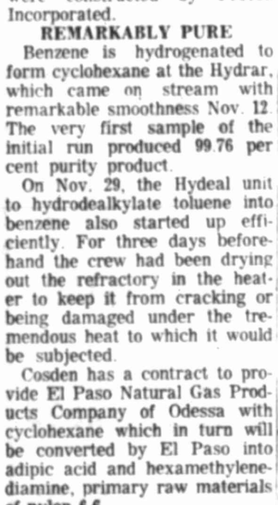

They explained that the hydrogen supply for the Hydeal is gathered through a piping system from all over the plant, including the platformers, unifiners and the off gas from the styrene unit. It is compressed and delivered to the pretreatment section.

Compressors for the facility are located north of the cooling unit, and are designed to function in the open. The absence of walls and ceiling is a safety feature.

Controls for the Hydeal are pneumatic rather than electronic. The control room is housed in a concrete tile structure with overhanging roof which provides protection against glare.

Feedstock for the newcomer comes from the BTX unit, which fractionates an aromatic mixture yielded from straight-run naphtha emanating from the crude units.

Lysle Owen, resident UOP representative, was in charge of start-up for the Hydeal. Cosden's operating team had been in training weeks ahead in preparation.

FRANK T. ARNER

As an A Craftsman, Frank T. Arner works in Cosden's welding shop. He learned the craft there after transferring in January 1952 from his job as a tank car repairman. November 13 marked his 15th anniversary with the company.

Arner was born in Ryan, Oklahoma and graduated from high school there. He attended Oklahoma State University when it was Oklahoma A & M. Entering the Army in 1944, he spent 18 months in the 30th Infantry Division as a machine gunner, emerging with a bronze star. He participated in the invasion of Normandy, the Ardennes campaign, Battle of the Bulge.

Moving to Big Spring, he married a localite, Sue Vastine, on November 13, 1945. She is a nineteen-year employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., where she is a business representative. Her mother, Mrs. Anna Vastine, makes her home with the couple. All three are devoted to the family pet, a 9-year-old pekingese named Prissy.

Music is a consuming hobby of Arner's. He recalls with pleasure the opportunity of playing the pipe organ in Kaiser Wilhelm's castle while sightseeing after the war. At the Arner home at 1002 Howell, he derives hours of pleasure from playing all types of music but especially classical, on his Wurlitzer concert organ. Twelve years of formal piano tutelage are to his advantage.

He is pianist for the Kentwood Methodist Church and Mrs. Arner sings in the choir. As a matter of fact, both are charter members of Kentwood church, which was organized in their home.

Nuclear Energy Use On Agenda Of Oil Meet

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Use of nuclear energy in oil exploration and a report from a member of President Johnson's new public land law review commission will be top items on the agenda as oil and gas conservationists from 33 states meet here the next four days.

Members of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, weighty but powerless body which includes state regulatory officials and leaders of the petroleum industry, started registering Saturday for their annual meeting.

Attendance is expected to top 700, including the governors of at least five states.

Byron Mock of Salt Lake City, vice chairman of the new review commission, will address the compact's public lands committee Monday.

President Johnson appointed Mock two months ago. The commission will look into all laws affecting public lands. There has been some indication Mock and other members may broaden their studies to go into oil imports and examine the industry's 27.5 per cent depletion tax allowance.

Three representatives of the U.S. Bureau of Mines will appear Monday at another committee session to talk about "Project Gasbuggy," which will experiment with nuclear explosions for the first time in search of gas or oil deposits.

The Atomic Energy Commission and El Paso Natural Gas Co. tentatively plan to carry out the Gasbuggy experiment next fall near Farmington, N.M.

The compact commission also will hear a report on the new Texas pooling law. This statute gives the Texas Railroad Commission authority to require all operators in a reservoir to operate it as a single unit if they fail to pool voluntarily.

Five governors registered in advance for the compact session. They are Govs. John Connally, D-Tex.; Tim Babcock, R-Mont.; Clifford Hansen, R-Wyo.; Frank Morrison, D-Nebr., and Reb. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla.

Offshore Production Now Over 4 Million Bbl. Day

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP)—World crude oil production from offshore installations now exceeds four million barrels a day.

This is equivalent to about 16 per cent of the world total outside Communist bloc nations.

"The future undoubtedly will see this percentage substantially increased," Dr. Charles Jones, president of the Humble Oil & Refining Co., said last week.

He said about one-sixth of the world's proved oil reserves lie offshore.

Jones made his status report on offshore production trends at a New York City industrial seminar.

He suggested that oil and other industries intensify planning and research aimed at developing mineral resources lying beyond the continental shelf. Delay, he said, could mean possible loss of such resources to faster moving foreign countries and to foreign industry.

The recently ratified treaty of the international convention on the continental shelf grants the right to develop resources beyond the shelf "to those nations who first develop the technology to exploit them."

"We may be facing an international underwater treasure hunt with the winner's share going to the country with the best sea science," said Jones, who holds a doctor of philosophy degree in chemistry.

"Considering the social and economic potential of the ocean, this country's industry cannot afford to remain becalmed by indifference."

Humble, the domestic operator for the Standard Oil Co., completed its first offshore oil discovery in 1948 off the Louisiana coast. Since then Humble has pushed its explorations to a record water depth of 632 feet.

Jones said exploration at this and greater depths will require evolution of new concepts that will challenge the imagination and creativity of businessmen.

"We are already drilling in deeper water than human beings can really effectively operate," he said. "The recent Sealab experiment will help tell us some of the things we must know, but there is much more to be learned."

Jones said ocean exploration offers many potential benefits in addition to possible discovery of oil and gas.

Humble's offshore searches for oil led to the 1958 discovery of major sulphur deposits under 45 feet of water six miles from the Louisiana coast. The sulphur was in the caprock of a salt dome 1,700 feet below the floor of the Gulf of Mexico.

Much oil has been produced from such geological formations along the Louisiana and Texas coast, both onshore and offshore.

Jones said industries should become more interested in the potential wealth that lies within ocean waters and below ocean floors with an objective of exploring "anywhere in any ocean in the world."

Such potentials, he said, included phosphorite and manganese.

A California scientist has estimated 1½ billion tons of phosphorite, a key component in fertilizers, can be found 200 to 1,000 feet off the Pacific Coast.

"As an example of the potential value of metals on the sea floor, there are some concentrations of manganese modules on the bottom that may be worth up to $10 million a square mile," Jones said.

"At present, the United States imports almost all of the manganese used in steel."

Holiday Inn Features Fashions From Zack's

The last fashion show, until the first Thursday in February, was presented this week by Zack's at Holiday Inn. The informal modeling has been presented each Thursday during the noon hour since the first of September and will resume as usual after the holiday season.

The shows were begun by Zack's with Junior Woman's Forum members as models but other models have been added as the popularity of the shows increased.

Thursdays showing began with Mrs. Roger Mercer modeling washable nylon stretch pants in bright yellow and smartly cuffed. She completed the casual attire with a long-sleeved yellow knit top, patterned all over in a darker tone and with a small band of ribbing at the neckline and cuffs. Her accent was a triangular scarf of varigated blue and green chiffon, and her slippers were gold kid. Mrs. Mercer's second costume was a straight-line yellow wool dress with big box pleats beginning at mid-thigh. The sleeveless dress was warmed with a matching stole, reversible in white.

Mrs. Neil Sorensen appeared in a casual white wool suit, the skirt with a single front pleat and the tailored jacket accented with navy stitching and buttons. Companion pieces were the navy and white diagonal-patterned sweater and matching over-the-knee socks. Her ankle boots were white. In a different mood, Mrs. Sorensen showed the young, modern look in festive wear for evening. Her gay formal had a bodice of pink faille with scooped neckline dipping low in the back. The bodice ended in a tiny ruffle topped with a black satin band circling the waist to end in a pouf bow at the side. The long skirt was striped in black and pink.

The black beauty look was shown by Mrs. Earl Zetsche who paraded in black tapered pants, a cotton blend with herringbone pattern. With it, she used a striking black wool sweater with all-over sprinkling of embroidered flowers in pink, blue, green and yellow. The neckline and three - quarter-length sleeves were edged in scalloped crochet. In her second appearance, Mrs. Zetsche wore a white three-piece suit of textured wool knit. The Chanel influence was seen in the edging of red and navy crochet on the jacket which had double false pockets and bright gold military buttons. The simple shell was styled with long sleeves.

Mrs. Ted Ferrell was ready for the festive season in an apple green chiffon 'after - five sheath, the bare look of the shoulders modestly draped to a shoulder bow and flowing panel. For more informal activity, she modeled a pant set in Paris pink with the Mondrian effect evident in the blocked top edged in white with a wide green band circling the bodice.

The Mondrian look was achieved by Mrs. Raymond Oliverson who was attired in a sophisticated black and white slack set. The pant was of white nylon sharkskin, lined, and slit Chinese-style at the ankles. With it she wore a black top with belled sleeves bound in white and the front featuring circled screened print.

To conclude the show, Mrs. Oliverson appeared in a long white crepe skirt, slit to the knee at one side and topped with an imported shell with knit base completely covered with iridescents. The top was fashioned with high neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves and a band of white pearls and crystals at the bottom. Mrs. Oliverson carried a matching set of gloves and bag accented with white pearls.

Members of the nominating committee were Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, Mrs. A. Swartz, Mrs. Galbraith, Mrs. Guilford Jones, Mrs. McMahon and Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Moss welcomed the guests, Mrs. T. A. Thigpen, Mrs. M. M. Hines, Mrs. Ray Boren, Mrs. Grover Cunningham, Mrs. C. T. Domer, Mrs. Charles Neefe and Mrs. Quin Grigsby. The centerpiece was won by Mrs. Raymond Tollett.

Peggye McCormick Weds B. L. Smith

STANTON (SC)—Miss Peggye Joyce McCormick exchanged wedding vows with B. L. Smith Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Ross Payne, pastor of a Baptist church in Midland, officiated for the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Carr, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Smith, Rt. 1, Midland.

Baskets of white gladioli flanked the altar, and traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Roy Pickett, organist, and Mrs. Jack H. Woodrow, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, wore a formal-length gown of white bridal satin. The dress featured a scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. The skirt was highlighted with a front panel of Alencon lace and five tiers of lace flowing to the floor. She wore a veil of illusion and carried a bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Sandra Wilkes was maid of honor, and Miss Christine Woodrow was the bridesmaid.

The attendants wore identical dresses of blue brocade designed with fitted jackets and bell-shaped skirts. Their bouquets were of white carnations.

Glen Smith, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Terry Carr and Glenn Lawson.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride's traveling costume was a white linen suit and white accessories. The couple will reside in Midland.

The bride is a senior at Stanton High School where she is a member of the Future Homemakers of America, journalism staff and pep squad. The bridegroom attended Midland High School.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the church fellowship hall where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

Mrs. Glen Smith, Odessa, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was in charge of the register.

VOLUNTARY STERILIZATION

Birth Control People Don't Mention

By KATHIE DIBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Doctors avoid it. Welfare workers rarely advise it and men are afraid of it, but 100,000 persons undergo voluntarily sterilization operations each year in the United States.

"Though they welcome the procedure, it is not something people like to talk about," said Hugh Moore, president of the Association for Voluntary Sterilization, a group formed to promote sterilization as a means of birth control.

Sterilization has some distinguished backers.

"Until we get an absolutely foolproof birth control device, there is a place for sterilization in families which are completely certain they have filled the family size," said Dr. Alan Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood-World Population.

The AVS has launched a $200,000 yearly program to promote and propagandize the benefits and facts of sterilization. One of its main targets is the medical profession itself.

LEGAL IN 50 STATES

Many doctors believe they might be subject to malpractice suits or criminal prosecution, Moore said, even though the American Medical Association said in 1961 that physicians ran no greater legal risk with a sterilization than with any other operation.

"Voluntary sterilization is legal in all 50 states," said Harriet F. Pilpel, AVS's legal counsel, at a recent conference.

However, Connecticut and Utah do restrict voluntary sterilization to cases of medical necessity.

Coupled with the fear of legal action is the ignorance of many doctors on how to actually perform the simple sterilization operation on the male.

The operation, a vasectomy, can be done in the doctor's office in about 15 minutes.

"There aren't even any stitches," Moore said. "All you need is a piece of adhesive tape."

Nonetheless, Dr. William Ferber of the AVS's medical committee, said "medical students are not informed about vasectomies."

Welfare agencies in many states are handicapped by administrative or state regulations which forbid welfare workers to give out birth control information unless the client requests it.

NOT AVAILABLE TO ALL

"There are ways to get around this, of course," one welfare worker said. "You ask questions like: Just how many more children are you planning on having? This can lead to their requesting information."

The association wants the state welfare departments to include sterilization in their list of alternatives to children. Few do now.

"Sterilization is the Rolls Royce of the birth control methods," said R. Eugene Brown, commissioner of the North Carolina Board of Public Welfare. "It's not available to everyone."

A sterilization operation costs about $200 for a woman and $75 for a man.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) expressly forbids the use of federal funds for sterilization, although funds will be used for other methods of birth control.

The association protested to Sargent Shriver, OEO chairman, contending the ruling was an "arbitrary and unjustifiable discrimination against one of the legitimate, medically approved and widely used contraceptive methods."

Louis M. Groh, director of the Wyoming Department of Public Welfare, said many welfare recipients "have been denied opportunity to obtain birth control devices. Sterilization is part of a large sprectrum of these devices and public welfare recipients should have a choice."

EASIER FOR MEN

The AVS emphasizes that the male should undergo the operation rather than the female because it is simpler for him.

"The thing we have to sell to men is that it is not castration—the old bugaboo," Moore said.

No organs are removed in the operation and Moore said studies show that couples actually derive greater satisfaction from marital relations because there is no fear of pregnancy.

"The so-called irrevocability also prevents many men from undergoing sterilization," Moore said.

However, fertility can be restored in at least half of the cases and research is being done at Columbia University on a new operation that has proved completely reversible in animals.

Moore, who claims he coined the expression "population explosion" in a pamphlet published 10 years ago, says "the statistics are utterly frightening as to what will happen unless an effective means of population control is found.

"Sterilization is one of the methods of birth control and it is a permanent method. "It is vital where the pill or other contraceptive measures are impractical."

Announce Winners In Card Play

Seven tables were in play for the duplicate bridge games held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at Big Spring Country Club.

North-south winners were Mrs. Wally Slate and George Pike, first; Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. B. B. Badger, second; and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, third.

Winners in the east-west position were Mrs. Dan Greenwood and Mrs. J. J. Havens, first; Mrs. J. H. Fish and Mrs. A. Swartz, second; and Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Don Newsom, third.

George Pike announced that the Wednesday and Friday games will be for Master Points, and that the game at Cosden Country Club will be the third Sunday, Dec. 19, instead of the fourth.

Boss Night Slated By PBX Club

Tentative plans for a "Bosses Night" dinner were discussed at the Thursday evening meeting of the PBX Club of Big Spring. The members met at the snack bar of the Cosden Oil and Chemical Company building. Mrs. John Simunovic presided in the absence of Mrs. Fern Smith, president.

A report was given on the state hospital patient the club will sponsor with clothes and canteen money.

Refreshments were served to the nine members present, and Christmas gifts were exchanged. A supply of Christmas candy, which the club is selling as a fund - raising project, was distributed.

Care For Winter Bulbs Correctly

When forcing bulbs this winter, keep each variety together in the same clay pot, as expert Holland and U.S. growers do.

A six-inch clay azalea pot will hold six tulip bulbs, three large daffodil bulbs or three hyacinths. Set each type of bulb so that at least half is covered with a proper garden soil mixture.

Music Is Fun

Easy-to-play musical instruments are popular with even the youngest children and are an excellent way to introduce them to the fun of music.

Christmas Hope Chest May Lead To Orange Blossoms

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Plan to put your Christmas loot in a hope chest.

And make sure you spread the word, far and near.

If you broadcast it to family and friends, perhaps they'll plan their gifts with a different viewpoint.

It will give aged aunts and grannies ideas, and put them to work crocheting bedspreads, quilts, afghans, initialing bed linens, making samplers.

These things may not be ready for Christmas but a promise of a handmade bedspread should be worth waiting for.

There has never been a greater need for a hope chest with so many early marriages and with young people marrying so impulsively before they've collected a pot holder or a candy thermometer. What's more, many newlyweds are so busy organizing ordinary articles and objects later, that they never get the pretty little things, that are fun in a home.

When planning a hope chest, before you have orange blossoms in your eyes, put your emphasis on home flattery. You may as well, while you can.

Mom and dad could begin a silver service with a place setting or a fork. Every little bit counts.

Here are some ideas for short-range and long - range projects that may suggest assignments for particular friends or relatives.

RUGS: Needlepoint, hooked and braided are attractive additions to any home. Braided rugs are easiest and show quick results, but needlepoint and hooked rugs look more important.

BEDSPREADS: Quilting is an art that is still popular with many ladies. Crocheting is a long range program, one that grandmothers like because they can see a finished square within a short time. Some crocheted bedspreads take a year. Some grannies work on a one-a-day square and with a last minute spurt can finish one in about a year.

WINDOW HANDINGS: Crewel embroidery on linen may be spaced out with large borders between the design so that it can be rolled up and cut when you know how you will use it. Space between the design may be filled in later. If it isn't used at windows, the crewel work may be used to make handsome upholstery seats (on dining room chairs) and for cushions and throw pillows. Large over-all pieces can be used handsomely on chairs.

Every home needs one or more objects that look absolutely useless to other people and give husbands something to complain about. Meanwhile, they're conversation pieces. These are items to think of when your friends say, 'I don't know what to give you.'

These wonderfully semi - useless things are to be found at all auctions in every price range and include:

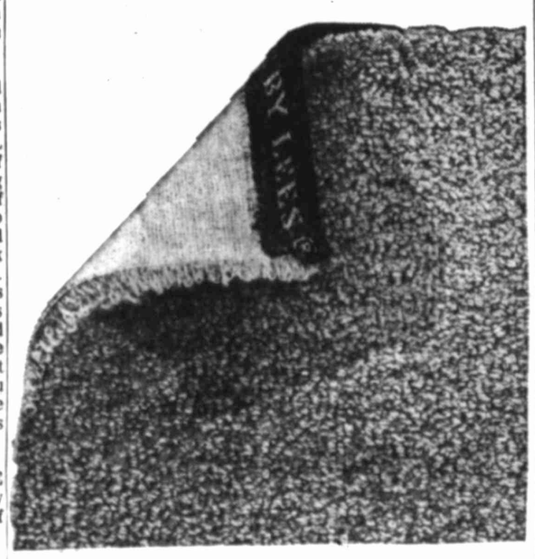

Old - fashioned sad irons, pudding pans, spice grinders and keys that may be used as decoration. Horse brasses (available for a dollar up); kerosene lamps (useful when there is a power shortage) colored glass that can look pretty in a window.

New hope chests should be selected to fit into one's personal taste for traditional or contemporary furnishings. Country styles are popular decorated with folk art and contemporary chests have sliding doors and space built to record-album size. Chests can store blankets and clothes and become extra seats at windows or may be used as coffee table or for hi-fi equipment.

Hopefully Yours

This handsome early American chest is loaded with Christmas loot. It may be used by the bride for extra storage space or hi-fi.

If you have just given up and don't have any will power when it comes to goodies try this recipe for pralines which BILL UNGER says works out fine if you are fast with the dipping spoon. It takes three cups of sugar, one cup of buttermilk, two teaspoons soda. This should come to a rolling boil and cook between eight and ten minutes. It will turn brown so if it starts to turn brown before the time is up take it of. the heat and add two cups pecans. Be sure the nuts are not cold because that hardens the candy before you can possibly get ready for the dropping off into patties. It's really good candy.

Make Luncheon Decorations

Surveying their handiwork as members of the decoration committee for the Thursday luncheon of the Officers Wives Club are, from left, Mrs. H. D. Padden III, Mrs. W. T. Hascall and Mrs. W. V. Keenan. For the monthly OWC event, they followed an old-fashioned Christmas theme.

Old Fashion Yule Sets Scene For Luncheon

The Yule season was welcomed with an old fashion motif at the Thursday luncheon of the Officers Wives Club at the Webb AFB Open Mess.

A turn of the century atmosphere was created in the serving area by centering each table with brightly-decorated baskets filled with cookies, candy and nuts.

A gingerbread house, complete with rail fence and white trim, marked the president's chair at the main table. The table was further enhanced with a large frozen turkey and a ham, each tied with green and red bows, placed on the table corners. A Christmas tree with all the trimmings completed the decorations.

A program of Christmas carols was presented by the Howard County Junior College Choir under the direction of Gary Ebensberger. Accompanied by Harlen Thornton, pianist, the group sang, "May Thy Holy Spirit," "Song of Praise, Song of Thanksgiving," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing," and other traditional Christmas songs. Miss Cynthia Pond, soloist, sang "Ava Maria."

The event was sponsored by wives of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron with Mrs. H. G. Padden III, as chairman. Mrs. W. V. Keenan Jr. was co-chairman, and Mrs. W. T. Hascall was in charge of decorations. They were assisted by Mrs. Jon Pierson, program; Mrs. Thomas Hujar, menu; Mrs. Robert O'Day, publicity.

Prayer Week Ends Friday

The week of Prayer for Foreign Missions, conducted by the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church, ended Friday after daily meetings since Monday.

The Monday program, under the direction of the Lucille Reagan Circle, was "My Life," with Mrs. Glen Faison presiding. On Tuesday, Mrs. G. G. Morehead was in charge of the Johnnie O'Brien Circle program entitled "My Prayer."

The Wednesday meeting was held in conjunction with the regular prayer meeting. A film, "My Home," was shown by the Evening Circle with Mrs. F. C. Gambill being assisted by the Young Woman's Auxiliary.

"My Money" was the Thursday program given by the Mary Willis Circle with Mrs. J. P. Gordon in charge.

The final program, Friday, was called "My All" and was under the direction of the Helen Jean Parks Circle with Mrs. R. F. Polk presiding. The meetings were also for the benefit of the Lottie Moon Christmas offering.

Silk Ribbon Takes Part In Fashion

Paris designers are using Swiss silk ribbons to create Mondrian geometry, or to add feminine touches to otherwise simple clothes.

Frequently, as with Balmain, the dress is divided into two equal parts by a ribbon belt, making the short skirt exactly the same length as the bodice with its lowered waistline. Balmain also emphasizes the diagonal line on a long muslin evening dress with a stripe of ribbon.

Lanvin places a white satin ribbon bow at the front of a bolero of lace and worked-in ostrich. Patou puts little ribbon bows on the heels of shoes. Dior ties wide gros-grain ribbon into bows on collars. Most of the new back drapery is held by ribbon bows at the neck, the waist or above the knees.

Cleaning Aid Told For White Shoes

CLEVELAND — Many people dislike white shoes once they were polished because they can not keep the polish off the soles and heel tips of the shoes.

Wipe petroleum jelly on the edges of the soles before polishing the shoes. After polishing a shoe wipe off the jelly and any stray polish comes off with it.

Shoes look like new again.

Toothpaste Wins Low Foam Test

You've been using special low-sudsing detergents in your automatic washing machine for years now. And, if you have an electric toothbrush you will probably be using a low-foam toothpaste soon, based on the same principle as the low-suds soap.

The new toothpaste features low abrasive and foaming action to compensate for the power brushes rapid action. This should certainly protect many a bathroom mirror and innocent chin. A special ingredient (and you know every toothpaste has one) is claimed to give teeth greater brightness. And what about fewer cavities? They dared to ignore that subject.

New Flare Told In Suit Coats

It's quite a coup to beat winter at its own game, and this year the "Little-Overcoat-Suit" is the way to win the "cold" war. In most parts of the country, winter hangs on so interminably that even the best-loved coat begins to pall.

As a change of pace for any above - freezing day, why not consider the new suit fashion where the jacket is cut like an abbreviated winter coat? The most heroic are made of true coating fabrics: Fleece, melton, twill or thick tweed.

These longer-jacket suits offer (besides a vast amount of chic) a free-and-easy way of dressing, a welcome relief from the burden of lugging a full-length coat about on hyper-active days.

GREAT-GREAT-GREAT-GRANDAD'S TOMBSTONE

Living Room Conversation Piece

By SAM BLACKBURN

A young Sand Springs housewife is looking with special eagerness to a forthcoming Christmas visit in her mother's home in Fort Worth.

Her excitement is more than that normally generated by a holiday visit. She wants to see something new (or is old?) which her mother has on display in the living room.

"Of course," she said, "I may be wrong, but I doubt if you will find a similar object on display in any other living room in all of Texas."

She is likely correct.

TOMBSTONE

What she will inspect is the original tombstone, carved 110 years ago to mark the grave of her great - great - great - grandfather. The stone, strange to relate, never made it to the grave it was intended to mark. And the grave itself is lost and no one knows exactly where it is.

Why the marker never reached its intended destination, and how it happens a century later it has come into the possession of a descendant of the man for whom it was carved, is quite a story.

The tombstone, although some the worse for the wear 110 years have placed upon it, is still very much in existence and is the proud possession of the great-great-granddaughter of the man whose grave it was to have marked.

The Sand Springs housewife is Mrs. H. C. Rowden. She is the daughter of Mrs. Thelma Duty McKinney, who lives in Fort Worth. And the tombstone-in-the-parlor is that of Phillip Duty. This man lived from July 22, 1799 until July 18, 1855.

TRACES HISTORY

"Mother has always been interested in tracing the history of her family," said Mrs. Rowden. "She has found that her great - great - grandfather — my great - great - great - grandfather—once held considerable land and slaves near Clarksville in Red River County. That was back in the early 1800s. His wife, who was Sarah Clark, was the daughter of James Clark, who founded Clarksville."

After her husband's death, Mrs. Duty probated his estate and sold the land and slaves in order to divide the property among Duty's heirs. She also ordered a tombstone for her husband's grave — the selfsame stone which now reposes in the living room at Mrs. McKinney's residence.

Mrs. Rowden says her mother has established that the tombstone was duly shipped from New Orleans via the Red River to the long-ago abandoned Port Roland Landing near Clarksville.

Here, said the Sand Springs woman, develops one of the mysteries.

After the stone and other articles had been unloaded, old Red River went on a rampage and covered the shipment with a deep layer of sand.

LOST IN SILT

The slab of marble with its legend "Phillip Duty, born July 22, 1799, died July 18, 1855," was so deeply embedded in the river silt that it remained hidden until half a century had passed. Sometime back in 1910 or thereabouts, Mrs. Rowden has been informed, Edd Bonham, then a lad of about 10 years, was digging for fish worms on the river bank. His shovel struck something hard and he unearthed the long-lost tombstone.

Bonham, now living in Clarksville and a former mayor of that city, kept the old souvenir of his youthful experience.

A few weeks ago, Mrs. Rowden said, her mother heard the stone was still in existence. She made a trip to Clarksville to investigate. She located Bonham and asked if she could see—and photograph—the stone.

"She told him why she was so interested," said Mrs. Rowden, "and he said she could not only take a picture of the stone, but that she could have it if she wanted it."

Mrs. McKinney told her daughter that her husband, "nearly fell out of a chair when I called to tell him I was bringing a tombstone home."

NEW HUNT

Now, said Mrs. Rowden, her mother is off on a new hunt. She is seeking the spot where the late Phillip Duty was buried.

"And she will probably find it too," mused Mrs. Rowden. "Once she sets out on a thing like this, it's hard to discourage her."

Meantime, Mr. Duty's unused tombstone occupies a place of honor in the living room at the home of his great-great-granddaughter.

West Texans To Tour Coast, Valley Areas

ABILENE — A 150 or more West Texas farmers, ranchers, and businessmen will visit South Texas, the Gulf Coast, and Lower Rio Grande Valley area Feb. 20-25 as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce holds a special agricultural development tour into those areas.

The tour is being set up to give the West Texans a good look at both the industrial and agricultural picture from Houston into the Valley, with a special look at ranching operations on the King Ranch and the Armstrong Ranch between Kingsville and Brownsville.

W. H. (Bill) Lance of Perryton, chairman of the WTCC Agriculture Committee, announced the tour. Dennis Lilly, Brownfield banker, is chairman of the subcommittee which is making tour arrangements and plans.

Travel will be by rail, with Santa Fe Railway making arrangements for the West Texas Chamber, Lance said. Pullmans will originate at Amarillo, Lubbock and Fort Worth.

Some of the highlights of the tour will be a visit to the Houston industrial complex along the ship channel and shipping facilities where West Texas-grown agricultural products are exported — cotton, grain sorghum, wheat, and other crops.

The West Texas group will see the new livestock facilities of the Houston Fat Stock Show, located near the famous Astrodome. They will visit agriculture operations of the Department of Corrections at Sugarland and learn the techniques being used there on the prison farms.

Tentative plans call for a visit to the famous King Ranch to observe ranch management techniques, plus a visit to the nearby Armstrong Ranch to observe a sale of Santa Gertrudis cattle — the first time any of the Armstrong stock will have been offered to the public.

The touring group will then move into the Lower Rio Grande Valley to see vegetable production, cotton, grain sorghum, and other crops adaptable to West Texas. Arrangements in this area are being handled by the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Brownsville Chamber.

Lot Of Patience To Make Tiny Church Of Seashells

By SAM BLACKBURN

First of all, you have to have a lot of patience.

And a whole heck of a lot of assorted seashells of the smaller and more colorful kind—that come from the remote corners of the earth.

Then you go to work with thin sheets of mahogany, pots of glue, clever fingers and plenty of time. Three months time—to be exact.

COMPLETE

When you have finished you may have a miniature church, complete with steeple, windows, altars, pews and people. And the outer surface of your little church, from the foundation to the peak of the steeple, will be completely covered with tiny white and iridescent shells.

At least that is how the glittering little church, which is soon to be a Christmas display at the Texas Electric Service Company office, was built.

The creator of the little church is B. E. Haston, a retired automobile mechanic. He lives at 1210 Frazier.

'I built the little church in 1960," he said. "First of all I ordered a large quantity of assorted small seashells. I got these in Florida.

"I had to have thousands of the shells. The roof is entirely covered with small identical shells which I think come from somewhere in Asia. The walls are made of shells of other types.

THREE MONTHS

"I built the little structure in my workshop and then I set about gluing the shells to the walls and roof. It took me three months to finish the job.

"I wanted to put stained glass windows in it but I couldn't get the kind I needed. I fixed one-half the roof so it could be lifted up to replace burned out lights (the church is wired for electricity).

"I took a red cedar post and worked it down to the heart. The core of the post I used to cut out the pews and the altar.

"I found the figures of the right size and placed them in their seats."

Haston said that he doesn't do this sort of work any longer.

"You have to have a workshop," he said, "And I do not have one now."

GOLD STAR WINNERS TO BE HONORED
Robbie Haney (left) and Jane Murphy of Howard County

Gold Star Winners Will Be Honored

Robbie Haney and Jane Murphy, Howard County's 4-H Club Gold Star boy and girl for 1965, will join the boys and girls from 20 other South Plains counties Monday night at the annual Gold Star Banquet in Lubbock.

The annual dinner will be in the Memorial Hall of the First Methodist Church in Lubbock. Dinner is at 7 p.m.

Robbie and Jane, who were selected for the highest 4-H Club honors a county can award, will be accompanied by a sizable group of well-wishers to the banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Haney and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Murphy, their parents, will accompany them.

Also on hand will be two of Jane's younger brothers and sisters. Others to be on hand will include Herb Helbig, county agent; Mrs. Catherine Crawford, home demonstration agent; Mary Alice Ward, assistant home demonstration agent; Mrs. Frances Zant, who was a 4-H Club leader for Jane, and Martha Couch, who was last year's Gold Star girl.

Four hundred are expected at the banquet. Regan Brown, Texas A&M, extension sociologist, will be the speaker and will discuss the meaning of the 4-H Club pledge.

Ralph Wayne, state representative from Plainview, will be master of ceremonies and Jesse George, state representative from Brownfield, will be narrator during the awards presentation.

Twelve South Plains rural electric co-ops sponsor these annual dinners. The Morton Symphonies will entertain.

Bugler Has His Hands Full

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) —David Hyndman, 22, a bugler in the Territorial Army, wanted somewhere to practice.

Home was out because his father didn't appreciate the sounds from the bugle.

Thus it was that Constable John Bell, patrolling his midnight beat, heard a buggle call and saw Pvt. Hyndman driving a car with one hand and blowing the bugle held firmly in the other.

Bell arrested the bugler on a charge of driving without proper control.

"It was the only way I could think of to get in a little practice without annoying people," he said.

Magistrate Arthur Dodd commended the bugler for his enthusiasm but fined him $14.

MEN — WOMEN

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

Dear Abby

Nice Words Welcome

DEAR ABBY: I don't have much of a problem, but I would like your opinion on this. When I paid my doctor bill, I enclosed a little note to my doctor telling him how much I appreciated his services.

A friend of mine said I was foolish for doing such a thing—that all a doctor was interested in from his patients, was the fee. I can't believe that. I thought he was such a wonderful doctor because of what he did for me I wanted him to know how I felt. Did I do wrong?

MRS. R.

DEAR MRS. R.: Not in MY book. Doctors are people, and they do more than "sell" their services. A good doctor gives comfort, compassion, encouragement, hope and peace of mind. You can pay for shots, pills, treatment and surgery. But the only way to express appreciation for that which isn't on the bill is a simple "thank you."

(P.S. But don't forget to enclose your check.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I disagree on a very serious matter. We have a 15-year-old daughter who has been a handful ever since she was 12. She is very big for her age, and boy crazy. The good Lord is surely watching over her or she'd have been in trouble more than once. A fellow who is 22 wants to marry her, and she wants to quit school and marry him. She needs our signatures. The man is a common laborer but he seems like a decent sort. He came to us and asked for her hand like a gentleman. My wife says we should sign and get her married so we won't have to worry about her anymore. I say she should know him longer because I'm afraid this marriage won't stick and we'll have her back in a year with a kid. She's only gone with him six weeks. We want your opinion.

WORRIED FATHER

DEAR FATHER: I hope your wife listens to you. Of all the reasons to sign for a 15-year-old to marry, your wife's is the poorest.

More people buy Chevrolets? Yes!

Than any other make car? Yes!

Any other? Yes!

There must be reasons. Sure!

Name ten. OK:

1. All these comforts are available: steering wheels that tilt or tilt and telescope; AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio, first ever offered in cars; and Strato-bucket seats (to give you just a sampling).
2. Comfortron automatic heating and cooling you can order—Just dial the temperature and turn it on; Comfortron automatically keeps you comfortable no matter what the weather outside.
3. More engine choices—the widest horsepower range available: the 425-hp Turbo-Jet V8 in Chevrolet and Corvette to a 90-hp four in Chevy II.
4. Body by Fisher—Craftsmanship by the world's best known coachmakers with everything from luxurious interiors to the long luster Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish.
5. Self-cleaning rocker panels flush out salt and other corrosives with rainwater, dry themselves with outside air—another way Chevrolet takes extra care so you needn't bother.
6. A hushed and gentled ride with body mounts designed to isolate vibration better and shock absorbers matched to body style—coupe, sedan, convertible, wagon.
7. America's only rear-engined car; Corvair, with more weight over the driving wheels where you need it and less on the steering wheels where you don't.
8. America's only true sports car; Corvette; with fully independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes and engines you can order up to 427 cubic inches.
9. Higher resale value—Chevrolets traditionally are worth more at trade-in time because more people want Chevrolets . . . new or used.
10. All these safety features standard now: seat belts, front and rear; padded dash and sun visors; outside mirror (use it always before passing); shatter-resistant inside mirror; 2-speed electric windshield wipers for better visibility in a downpour; windshield washers; back-up lights.

A Devotional For The Day

Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall ll his name Immanuel. (Isaiah 7:14)

PRAYER: We worship Thee, our heavenly King, who didst come to earth as the long-awaited Messiah and hast given Thy life that we may live with Thee in that heavenly kingdom. Help us to reach out to those who sit in darkness, that they may see the great light. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

OAS Reform

One solid improvement likely to come out of the current effort to reform the inter-American system is the proposal to strengthen the legislative branch of the Organization of American States. That would be done by prescribing annual inter-American foreign ministers conferences, on a fixed date with rotation of the meeting locations among the hemispheric nations.

The OAS charter now calls for an inter-American conference every five years, but postponements have prevented a session being held since 1954. As a result, the various OAS agencies have lacked needed supervision, and the prestige and effectiveness of the OAS itself have waned.

Certainly inter-American issues are sufficiently expanding and pressing to justify an annual policy-making conference. Nothing can be gained, and much damage can be done, by trying to sweep controversial issues under the rug by postponing such conferences. Furthermore, the principle of equality and the feeling of meaningful participation would alike be enhanced by systematic rotation of the conferences.

The time has come when the United States should recognize, sincerely, that it no longer can or should dominate the inter-American system. Continued attempts to do so can only lessen U.S. influence in Latin America by aggravating injured feelings of national pride. We should be willing to face annual inter-American conferences, however inexpedient the timing may seem.

The Christmas Season

The Christmas season is upon us, and we are all caught up in the promotion of it.

Yet it's possible for you to still gain maximum good from this happy time and thus avoid the cynicism which seizes so many who are blinded by the tinsel and deafened by the roar of the market place.

The greatest insurance is also the greatest assurance. Take time to sit down and reflect upon what this joyous occasion means. One spiritually stimulating tonic would be daily devotions or even daily reading of Scriptures concerning the nativity.

Another is time-tested as an expression of reflecting the spirit of Him from whom Christmas is named. That is simply making it a time of sharing with others, and especially with those who may be less fortunate than you in material blessings. Do this without a sense of satisfying an obligation and without thought of recognition, reward or a balm to conscience through conformance. Do it because you want to.

And if you want to, there are countless opportunities. May we suggest at least four which have been around a long, long time. One is the traditional Christmas seals, and by using them you can help give better health and perhaps life to many throughout the year. Another is the Salvation Army Christmas fund, either by dropping coins and bills into the kettle or mailing a substantial check to the citadel. A third is the firemen's toy project, to which you can give old or unused toys. A fourth is the Christmas Cheer Fund which helps needy cases at the Yuletide, and then helps with other necessities during the year.

'IT'S THE ONE ON TOP THAT'S HURTING'

Around The Rim

The Mister And Missus Team

DEAR RUFE:

Leaving git-tars and fiddles out of it, the best thing you can use for music culture is a pianna. Take two of 'em, nudged up shoulder to shoulder, and you have about doubled it.

Then take a couple of people — a man and a lady, that is—who get at them keyboards with no nonsense, and you have got it with a capital C.

THESE PEOPLE showed up the other night, under different names, but they really are Mister and Missus who must have more harmony (get it?) in their home than most folks. I guess they love each other, but they shore love their piannas, and it showed.

They could bang them things a dozen different ways. First off they sat down at the same pianna, and I thought for a little while they was going to get their arms so wrapped up that nothing would come out straight. But it did.

THE MAN was on the offside, the lady was on the onside. It seemed to me for awhile that he was letting her do most of the work, the way men around the house generally do. He would just thump at the low end, while she had to do a lot of bending to take care of all the high end.

That was just for one piece, though, and then they got at them separate piannas, looking at one another, and here they went.

LOOKED LIKE, for the second-quarter, he was still mostly at the low end and she was at the high end, but some folks say one is just as tough as the other. What they did was enjoy some kind of feeling of being together, which is what any husband and wife should do, especially if they are pianna players.

Well, they gave out with the rippling music, and the slow music, and the quiet music, and the trilling music, and all that. Some of it sounded like a little brook running over rocks, some of it like a breeze dancing through the tall pines, some of it like waves lapping up on the seashore. You know what I mean?

IT WASN'T until the last half that they really got mad at the piannas, when they began to hit the keyboards hard enough to make the house jump, and wake up some of the uncultured ones.

I suppose you would say it got better as it went along, and the Mister and Missus kept playing 'til they gave everybody nearly enough. It's time to stop when the crowd has had nearly enough.

'COURSE, THERE'S no use saying the feller had on his forked tail coat. That's standard. But one thing, Rufe, lady pianna players dress prettier than ladies in orchestras. This one was in green velvet and how about that? She looked like what you might call a cameo.

These people were pretty dignified about it all, which made it all the more cultural.

At the half-time, I saw one little feller who had been listening with big ears. Said he had been taking pianna for two months, but "Gol-lee!" he said. That's what you would have said, too, Rufe, "Gol-lee!."

Your friend,
ZEKE

Birth-Control Information

WASHINGTON—The debate over the part government should play—or not play—in spreading birth-control information has been heated up by the newest proposal for a far-reaching program.

THE CALL for a "substantial expansion" of support by the federal government, making available $100,000,000 a year to countries seeking help in controlling the population explosion, came from a White House advisory panel. One of many recommendations made at the Conference on International Cooperation, it was in the opinion of a number of the conferees fundamental to hopes for stability and orderly development in vast areas where new mouths to feed are multiplying far faster than food to sustain them.

THE PROPOSAL by the panel will give an added push to what promises to be one of the most disputed pieces of legislation before the next session of Congress. That is Sen. Ernest Gruening's bill to make birth-control information available at home and abroad "on request" by states and foreign governments. The key words are "on request," with the senator from Alaska and the bill's co-sponsors stressing that the aim is to give those who desire it a free choice on how to plan the size of their families.

ONE OF THE co-sponsors is Sen. Philip Hart (D., Mich.) a Roman Catholic. Asked about his stand on the bill, Hart said that he favored the spread of birth-control information on the broadest possible scale.

"How that information is to be used," he added, "or whether it will be used, must be a matter of moral judgment for each individual. The fact that Janey (Mrs. Hart) and I have eight children perhaps gives you some information of how we personally feel about the subject. But I don't think that I can — or should — impose my moral judgments on others . . ."

SEN. HART believes that public policy and private morality can coexist, which is why he is sponsoring the measure. In the course of 15 hearings Gruening's Government Operations subcommittee on foreign aid has heard 36 witnesses.

One of the most impressive witnesses was Alberto Lleras Camargo, former president of Colombia, currently chairman of Vision, Latin-America's largest news magazine, and recognized as an outstanding statesman. Speaking of the wild growth of Latin-American cities as the populations zoom upward, Lleras Camargo told the committee:

". . . WHAT HAS caused the crisis is the speed at which Latin-America's population has been growing. If the population increase were not proceeding at such an inordinate rate the problem would be manageable. But . . . it is beyond manageable proportions and certainly beyond the capacity of Latin Americans to cope with it. Latin America is breeding misery, revolution, perhaps famine and many other potentially disastrous problems in proportions that exceed our imagination even in the age of thermonuclear war. The only way to solve these problems is through population control . . .

This is the conclusion most observers traveling in Latin America have reached. In some Latin-American countries the net rate of increase exceeds that of India or Egypt.

A GREAT DEAL turns on Pope Paul's commission on the birth control issue. There have been reports, including the Pope's interpolation in his U.N. speech, of a more conservative attitude based on past church teachings. But the position of the church, which sanctions only the rhythm method of birth control, is unchanged. And if the forthcoming report stands on past teachings the likelihood of any action by Congress will be, to say the least, remote.

A New Tack For Administered Prosperity

Phase One of "administered prosperity" is finished—or nearly so. It began in January 1961. In his personally delivered state-of-the-union message to a Joint Session of Congress, President John F. Kennedy declared:

"Economic prophecy is at best an uncertain art — as demonstrated by the prediction one year ago from this same podium that 1960 would be, and I quote, 'the most prosperous year in our history.'

"Forecasts of continued slack and only slightly reduced unemployment have been made with alarming unanimity — and this administration does not intend to stand helplessly by.

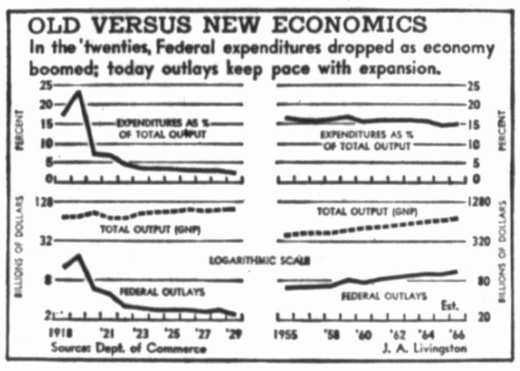

"WE CANNOT afford to waste idle hours and empty plants while awaiting the end of the recession. We must show what a free economy can do—to reduce unemployment, to put unused capacity to work, to spur new productivity and to foster higher economic growth . . ."

President Kennedy used fiscal policy freely as an economic energizer. He could increase government spending—and he did (see chart). He could reduce taxes—and he did. His success created President Johnson's problem. Phase Two of administered prosperity calls for a far more delicate touch than Phase One.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is up against inflation. Demand presses against supply. Unemployment has dropped to 4.2 per cent of the labor force. Prices are rising.

In January, 1961, the Wholesale Price Index registered 101.0. Four years later, in January, 1965, the index again registered 101.0. No argument there—stability.

True, the Consumer Price Index (cost of living) advanced from 103.8 to 108.9. But the stability of the Wholesale Price Index discounted—cast doubt on the validity of—the cost-of-living advance. No longer is this tenable. Since January, the Wholesale Price Index has advanced to 103.1, or 2 per cent in nine months. And the Consumer Price Index has advanced 1.4 per cent in the same period.

IN A TALK in May, Gardner Ackley, chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, officially blessed the term "New Economics," saying: "The new economics of fiscal policy insists that the great power of the federal government . . . should be consciously used . . . to keep the GNP growing steadily at a level close to our full potential."

Two 12-year intervals — 1918 through 1929 and 1955 through 1966 projected—contrast the New Economics with the Old. After World War I the federal government withdrew from participation in prosperity. Expenditures dropped (see chart). But since World War II the government has not been able to keep its hands off the economy.

President Eisenhower did not use the budget deliberately to promote economic growth, but social and military needs forced him to boost expenditures. And President Kennedy and Johnson had no hesitation in using the federal purse to stimulate production and thus to reduce unemployment.

IN THAT SAME May speech, Ackley anticipated today's presidential dilemma, saying: At times it will be necessary to use "fiscal policy to curb overexhuberant private demand, to avoid outrunning potential output and creating inflationary pressures." But can he?

The President is hampered. Because of Viet Nam, he is not master of his own counting house. Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler estimates that the new budget will provide an "additional stimulus" to the economy. The deficit will approach eight billions. "The situation calls for careful watching."

IF THE BOND market is to be trusted, it calls for more than watching. Bond prices have been falling. Interest rates have been rising. The market is saying: "Credit must be tightened. Monetary restraint is necessary." Phase Two of administered prosperity calls for a different course than Phase One.

The administration has been slow to accept the "judgment" of the marketplace—either in respect to interest rates or aluminum or copper prices. With a heritage of Texas populism, the President fears the use of monetary policy to curb price advances. Restraint might cause unemployment. It might result in a recession. This happened before.

SO THE White House administers prosperity ad hoc, by poke, and by gosh, gentlemen, don't do that. How long can the President keep this up — and prices down?

David Lawrence

Dissent And Treason

WASHINGTON — What's the difference between the "right of dissent" and the alleged right to commit acts that amount to treason?

Individuals have been carrying enemy flags in demonstrations around the White House. Public speeches are being made calling on the United States, in effect, to surrender in Viet Nam. Yet America's young men are dying by the hundreds in Viet Nam, and the big question is how many more will have to be sacrificed because the enemy thinks the people of the United States want their government to accept peace at almost any price.

ARTHUR GOLDBERG, American Ambassador to the United Nations, evidently felt that these demonstrations were important enough for him to discuss in an address at the White House Conference on International Cooperation. But, while he warns the enemy not to misunderstand the right of dissent in America as a sign of weakness in foreign policy, he places his emphasis on the constitutional right of freedom of speech. President Johnson said the same thing last weekend. The Constitution, however, defines treason as follows:

"TREASON AGAINST the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort."

Many of the persons who are engaging in demonstrations are actually giving "aid and comfort" to the enemy. They are encouraging the enemy to prolong the conflict, because Hanoi will continue to believe that the war is unsupported by public opinion in America. Mr. Goldberg tried in his speech to belittle the importance of the dissent. He said:

"I DO NOT subscribe to the idea that the grave problems of today demand unanimity of opinion. We are a mature people and we should not fear dissent. It is, of course, more powerful when its aims are constructive, but we in our free and open society must live with it even when the opposite is true. If we do not, we face the danger of embracing for our own those ends we fight to prevent abroad.

"But our adversaries should not take the American right to dissent as a sign of weakness or wavering of purpose. Rather they should regard it as a sign of our virility as a nation and a source of strength both at home and wherever we are committed . . .

"PEIPING AND HANOI, therefore, should make no mistake about our basic unity of purpose in opposing force or be misled by a freedom they do not understand."

Mr. Goldberg's effort to defend freedom of speech was, of course, well intentioned. But too many people are ignoring the fact that a war is going on in Viet Nam and that in wartime the right of dissent is narrowed considerably because the duty to preserve American lives supersedes everything else. Even freedom of the press can be restricted while a war is in progress.

PERHAPS THE FACT that there has been no legal declaration of war is mistakenly interpreted as meaning that treason can be committed without being punished. But Congress has by resolution formally authorized the use of the armed forces of the United States in Viet Nam. What is occurring in Viet Nam is manifestly a war. An enemy is actually killing Americans, and hence any "aid and comfort" given the enemy, directly or indirectly, is an act of treason.

Billy Graham

There are so many broken homes, and homes on the verge of breaking up. As a world leader in Christianity, what formula would you give for a happy home? I.C.

I have never considered myself a world leader, but I have a family of my own, and I have studied the problems of the home. Following is my recipe for a happy home.

Measure a cup of love, real old-fashioned, heart-felt love, and stir briskly into the hearts of two people, called husband and wife. Add a generous portion of dreams and hope, and when the children come along, measure out generous portions of understanding and tenderness. Add random spoonsful of gaiety and laughter, mix thoroughly with a pinch of kindness and sympathy. Fold in three cups of loving discipline, and for flavor add a good portion of paternal firmness to keep the concoction from falling apart. Then season with reverence for each other, and a tablespoon of sympathy. Sprinkle faith in Christ generously over the mixture, and moisten with tears of love—and if you have followed the recipe carefully, been patient in carefully measuring the ingredients, and will exercise Christian patience—the result will be a home blessed with the peace of God, and a serenity unknown to those who try to achieve a happy home haphazardly.

With too many of us, building a home is secondary to making a living, recreational activity, and social exercise. The parents first responsibility is to their family, and if we would accept our task joyfully and seriously, our home-life would be transformed.

How Diet Relates To Glaucoma

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What do you mean by "proper diet" for glaucoma? My doctor says that if diet affects this disease, he doesn't know about it. I would eat anything to save my eyesight.—J. M.

If I misled you, I apologize. It was not my intention to suggest that eating certain foods will prevent glaucoma. However, some things should be avoided. Other than that, an adequate, balanced diet is sufficient — common sense nutrition.

Glaucoma, as you know, involves increasing pressure inside the eyeball. Prevention depends on keeping tension or pressure down.

Caffein can increase this tension. Therefore, coffee is to be avoided, and the same is true of cola drinks which contain caffein. Likewise some headache pills which contain caffein.

Tea, although it contains some caffein, does not appear to have the same effect as coffee. Just why is not understood. (De-caffeinated coffee is acceptable.)

Imbibing large amounts of fluid also can increase tension. Indeed, one test sometimes used for glaucoma involves drinking a large amount of water in a short time to determine whether pressure increases. Please do not think that this means you should restrict fluid unnecessarily. Normal liquid is healthful, but in ordinary amounts only.

People who are habitual beer-drinkers often put away considerable amounts of fluid in a short time—so I would avoid this habit. Likewise I have known physicians who restricted glaucoma patients to no more than one or two highballs a day with seemingly good results. Whether the benefit was from restriction of alcohol or simply of excessive fluids is open to debate.

These are the dietary restrictions I had in mind, rather than intending to imply that either eating or not eating some particular food would have an effect. "Diet" involves what we eat and drink; not just what we eat.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I was exposed to venereal disease but am myself immune to it, having been told so by a doctor. My question is, if I am exposed to it, can I still pass it on to others, or would my immunity destroy the germs?—L. F. W.

I am astonished that a doctor would tell you that you are immune to venereal disease, and his opinion raises in my mind the question of whether he is a qualified physician, or is some sort of self-styled "doctor."

The only immunity to syphilis and gonorrhea would at best be temporary, while under treatment that would involve high enough levels of drugs to destroy the germs. Once the drug level subsides, you can contract —and give—the germs again. These diseases do NOT create immunity in the sense that measles, chickenpox and some other diseases do. Many people, cured of venereal diseases, have then acquired them again.

Next, The Gluttony Test

WASHINGTON—It has been discovered that automobile accidents can be caused as much by overeating as overdrinking. The torpor produced by consuming too much food makes a driver sleepy and careless.

For the moment there are no traffic laws against overeating, but I predict this state of affairs will change very soon, and you may have a scene something like this.

Siren sounds. Motorcycle cop pulls up alongside car, waves driver over to the side.

COP APPROACHES driver. "Okay, Mac. You were weaving all over the road."

Driver: "Burp. I was doing no such thing."

Cop leans in window. "Hey, what's that I smell on your breath—onions?"

"Scallions, officer. I just had one for the road. Burp."

"Is that all you had, mister?"

"I swear that's all, officer."

"Would you be willing to take a gluttony test?"

"SURE, OFFICER. What do I have to do?"

"We just want to measure the turkey content in your blood."

Cop takes blood from motorist and holds test tube up. "You have two cc's of white meat and five cc's of stuffing and six cc's of cranberry sauce in your blood stream."

"Is that bad?"

"The maximum allowed is five cc's. I'm afraid I have to run you in for torpor driving."

At the station house the sergeant says to the cop, "What did he do?"

"OVERSTUFFED while driving," the cop replies.

"See here, officer. I was just coming from a Thanksgiving dinner, and I took a couple nibbles here and there. I may be satisfied but I'm not stuffed."

"Take him down to the cafeteria and see if he can walk a straight line," the sergeant orders.

The cop takes him down to the cafeteria. When the motorist sees all the food, he starts reeling and turning green.

The cop takes him to the sergeant again. "He flunked it."

"Throw him into the torpor tank."

"I KNOW my rights," the motorist shouts. "I'm allowed to have a bicarbonate of soda."

The sergeant says, "Okay, give him one, and then throw him in the tank."

The torpor tank is filled with groaning drivers holding their stomachs and others sleeping off their Thanksgiving Day dinners.

"Where did they catch you?" the motorist asks a cell mate.

"I WAS JUST driving out of a Howard Johnson's. I stopped in for a cup of coffee, but then I had one piece of pumpkin pie and it led to another piece and then to another and that's all I remember."

"I want to see my doctor!" a man shouts.

A few hours later the cop comes by and says, "Your wife is here to pay your fine."

The wife is waiting by the sergeant's desk.

SHE SHOUTS at the motorist, "I told you to leave the car at home if you were going to eat."

"I lost my head," the motorist says.

The sergeant says, "Okay, lady, just pay the fine. It's $50 for the turkey dinner and $25 for burping at a police officer. And the next time you get the urge to stuff yourself, stay off the roads."

Africa Provides Set For Ritz Feature

"Sands of the Kalahari," opening Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre in Technicolor and Panavision, further supports the theory that Africa is an endless source of provocative and exciting entertainment.

Africa remains an exotic and mysterious continent in the minds of most people, despite the newspaper headlines which cry out about its turmoil and newly emerging nations, and the many articles which ponder its sociological and economic importance. In the rest of the world's imagination, it is a land of diamonds and ivory, witchcraft and jungle rites.

"Sands of the Kalahari," a story of six survivors of a desert air crash, starring Stanley Baker, Stuart Whitman and Susannah York, is set in the vast Southwest. The locale is the Kahn River Canyon, a wasteland rimmed by the oldest mountain in the world, where the cast and crew spent 11 weeks.

In a commando-style operation, sixty-five tons of equipment were brought in from Cape Town and unit headquarters were set up in the little seaside town of Swakopmund. Apart from the port of Walvis Bay 25 miles away, the oasis is entirely surrounded by—nothing! To the north and to the south the desolate Skeleton and Diamond coasts stretch for thousands of miles. Inland lies the parched desert and shifting sand dunes.

The local people call the area "The End Of The World," and it is easily understood why. Only the comparatively cool breezes from the South Atlantic each night bring mild relief from temperatures which hover daily between 110 and 130 degrees.

As the lovely Miss York, lone woman in the cast, commented while nursing a severe sunburn, "Every time I open an oven door in the future, I shall think of the time I spent out on those sunbaked waterless wastes. You know that great waft of heat which comes out at you from the oven? Imagine working in that for twelve hours a day, with the sun beating down and no real relief from the heat even if you can find a spot of shade, which isn't likely."

Yule Concert Program Set

Christmas concerts are planned for Permian Basin residents by the Midland - Odessa Symphony Monday and Tuesday.

Guest soloists will join the orchestra and chorale to usher in the holiday season with an array of traditional music.

The concert will begin with the prelude and chorale excerpts from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger," followed by Shubert's "Mass in G." The Shubert Mass will be given as a memorial to Pearl Harbor and will feature Sheila Thompson of Midland, Ira Schantz of Fort Worth and formerly of Big Spring, and Charles Roe of Lubbock as guest soloists.

Schantz, a former member of the chorale, is now assistant professor of voice at Texas Christian University. Roe is voice instructor at Texas Tech.

The second half of the concert will feature Christmas favorites, beginning with "A Christmas Fanfare" and "Fantasia on the Tune 'Greensleeves.'" These will be followed by "Do You Hear What I Hear?", "'Twas the Night Before Christmas," and "The Twelve Days of Christmas," the latter being a special arrangement by Dr. Lara Hoggard, conductor.

The concert will conclude with the suite from the Ballet "The Nutcracker" by Tchaikowsky.

The Christmas concert is already becoming a tradition for Permian Basin residents with its program planned each year to embrace the religious, as well as fun and exciting aspects of the season. The Monday program, will be in Ector Auditorium at Odessa, at 8 p.m. Tuesday's Concert will be given in Lee Auditorium at Midland, also at 8 p.m.

Admission for Midland and Odessa residents is by season membership only. However, individual admission tickets for out-of-town residents will be available at the door the evenings of the concerts at a cost of $2.50.

Big Springers in the chorale are Joyce Bradley, Susan Cupp, Sylvia Shaw and Hubert Murphrey. Local residents in the orchestra are R. E. McKiski, Charles Rainwater, Don Turner, Bill Davis and Ted James.

Comic To Life

LONDON (AP)—British actors Terrence Stamp and Dirk Bogarde have been cast for leading roles opposite Italian actress Monica Viti in the movie "Modesty Blaise," based on a British comic strip character. The movie is being made on locations in Italy (Sicily and Naples) and Holland as well as in British studios.

'Mousetrap' In Final Week Of Rehearsal

Those close to the production of "The Mousetrap," little theatre production now in rehearsal, say the hit mystery thriller by Agatha Christie may be one of the best ever produced by the local dramatists.

Tickets for the play may be purchased from any board member — adults, $1.50, students and airmen, 75 cents. Season tickets may still be had too, of course.

The final week of rehearsals will move from the Prairie Playhouse to the City Auditorium, where the public will see it next Friday and Saturday evenings.

Miss Christie wrote scores of novels, in addition to the stage plays "Alibi," "Ten Little Indians," and "Witness for the Prosecution." "The Mousetrap," however, has been her most spectacular success. It has had the longest run in the history of the London stage.

The Little Theatre of Big Spring has called on some of its best talent to produce, direct, and act in this production. Those who have had an advance peek at rehearsals, predict it will be a memorable performance.

EMPEROR'S DELIGHT
Children's play coming

Washington P-TA Plans Two Children's Plays

The Washington Place P-TA will again sponsor two children's plays presented by the National Children's Theatre Association from Dallas.

Hans Christian Andersen's "The Chinese Nightingale" is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 13, at 4 p.m. in the city auditorium. The fairy tale involves the Emperor of China and his enchantment with a marvelous mechanical nightingale.

Mary Mapes Dodge's "Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates" will be presented next April 27. This well-known Dutch story concerns a poor peasant boy named Hans Brinker and his family.

Season tickets covering both plays will be available at any school Thursday and Friday, Dec. 9-10. The cost of the season ticket is $1. Single tickets will be sold at the door at 75 cents each.

BOOKS

Plea To Share Nature

THE SENSE OF WONDER. By Rachel Carson. Harper. $4.95

The late author of "The Sea Around Us," "Silent Spring" and other books wrote this essay about a decade ago. It is a persuasive plea for adults and children to share the marvels of nature together.

Now it has been turned into a picture book. Most of the photographs, in black and white and in color, are by Charles Pratt. Some of them are literal illustrations of subjects mentioned in the text; others are less literal, but still in the spirit of the message. Many were taken along the Maine seacoast where Miss Carson spent her summers.

Text and pictures are combined in a very felicitous manner, and the result is inspiring.

ALMOST QUARTER-MILLION DOLLARS

Represents A Big Investment

The Dora Roberts Health Center, housing the Howard County Rehabilitation Center and the Big Spring - Howard County Health unit, represents a cash investment of close to a quarter of a million dollars.

The building, comprising 10,000 square feet of floor space, is centered on half a block of land, between Second and Third Streets on Lancaster.

LAND, BUILDING

The land was acquired for $40,000. The building was erected at a cost of $133,000. Furnishings, which have come from the county, the city, and from donations by the public, will bring the total cost of the project to nearly $225,000.

Gary and Hohertz, Big Spring architects, designed the Center. It was provided through the facilities of the Dora Roberts Foundation.

The one story structure which faces on both Second and Third streets, is about equally shared by the two agencies which are housed in it. Possibly the Rehabilitation Center has a little more of the floor area.

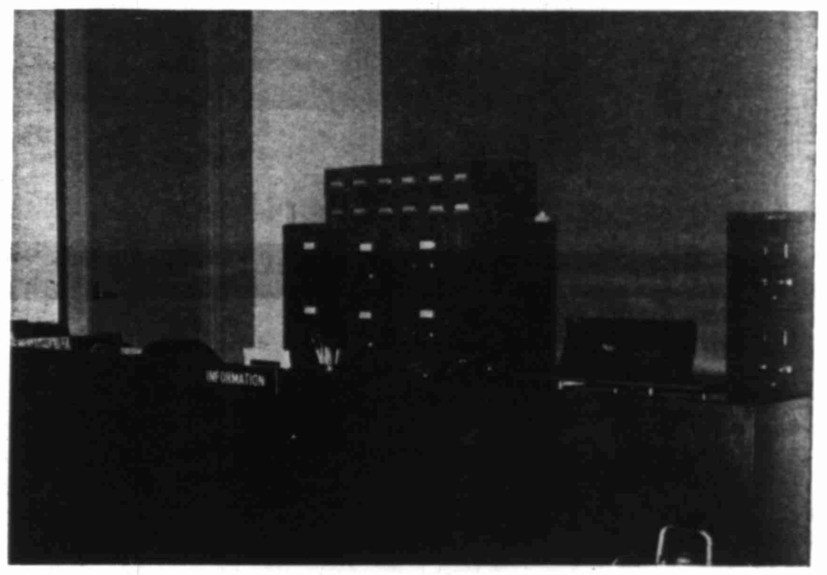

The two agencies share a common meeting room, centered on the Lancaster Street side, and they likewise benefit from the same air conditioning-heating installation and from the general electrical facilities in the building.

A. P. Kash and Sons of Big Spring were the general contractors. The work began Dec. 21, 1964, and it was completed in September of this year.

The structure is one floor, steel frame pre-fab, exposed aggregate construction. The effective outer walls owe their color to the inclusion of San Saba white quartz. The walls were precast by Clyde McMahon.

FIRE-PROOF

The entire building is as nearly fire-proof as it can be. The flooring is covered with vinyl asbestos tile. The roof is built-up poured gypsum.

CITY-COUNTY HEALTH UNIT ENTRANCE
Modern styling accentuates design

The building is "T" shaped with the tail of the "T" the shorter and extending east. The north wing of the Center is occupied by the Health Unit. The south section is the home of the Rehabilitation Center.

The design is such that persons coming to the building can leave their cars and step under a canopy which permits them to evade exposure to the weather.

The extreme east portion of the building houses the air conditioning and heating installation which is handled through eight zones of control in the main building proper. The hot water heaters, controls and other mechanical elements are in this wing.

Partitions on the inside of the structure are ceiling high and fire-proofed.

The south wing which is the home of the Rehabilitation Center features an enclosed patio. There is a large reception room and lounge at the extreme south end. There are two major areas provided for physical therapy and hydrotherapy. These occupy a considerable share of the Rehabilitation Center's quarters.

The hydrotherapy area includes wading pool, full body tanks, overhead hoist and other permanently installed equipment.

TREATMENT AREA

Six treatment cubicles are provided, as well as functional therapy and speech therapy rooms. There are two offices, and the Center has equal use with the Health Unit of the common meeting room. This area is 24 by 24 feet in area.

The Rehabilitation area includes five rest-rooms.

The entrance to the Health Unit portion of the Center is similar to that of the Rehabilitation Center. A covered canopy leads to the glassed-in patio which opens into reception and lounge rooms. Office for the doctor is provided, as well as an office for the nurse and another for the city sanitarian. There are adjacent treatment rooms as well as a clinic area with a treatment room attached.

Quarters are provided for state health personnel who work out of the Unit.

Special rooms include one for dental work, an X-ray and a laboratory. There are a number of rest rooms in this section of the building.

The Unit, like the Rehabilitation Center, has access to the common room.

Fluorescent lighting is employed throughout the building.

While some needed equipment is still lacking, much has already been provided and installed. The city and county governments bought all new furniture for the offices in the Health Unit. The dental room equipment is yet to be acquired.

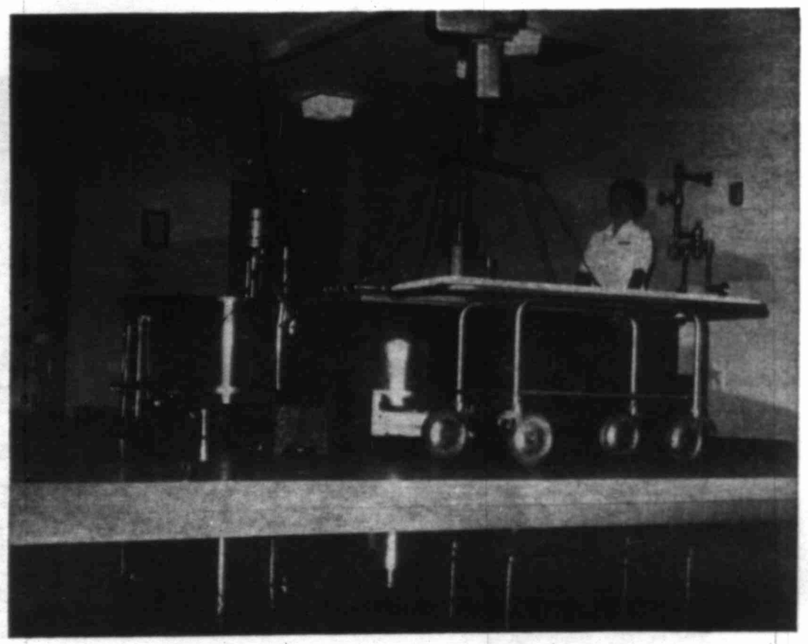

MANY GIFTS

Gifts from hundreds of well-wishers provided more than $13,000 to pay for needed equipment in the Rehabilitation Center. Most of these articles have been purchased and are in place and being used daily.

There is a parking area to the east of the building.

The grounds are to be landscaped and grassed.

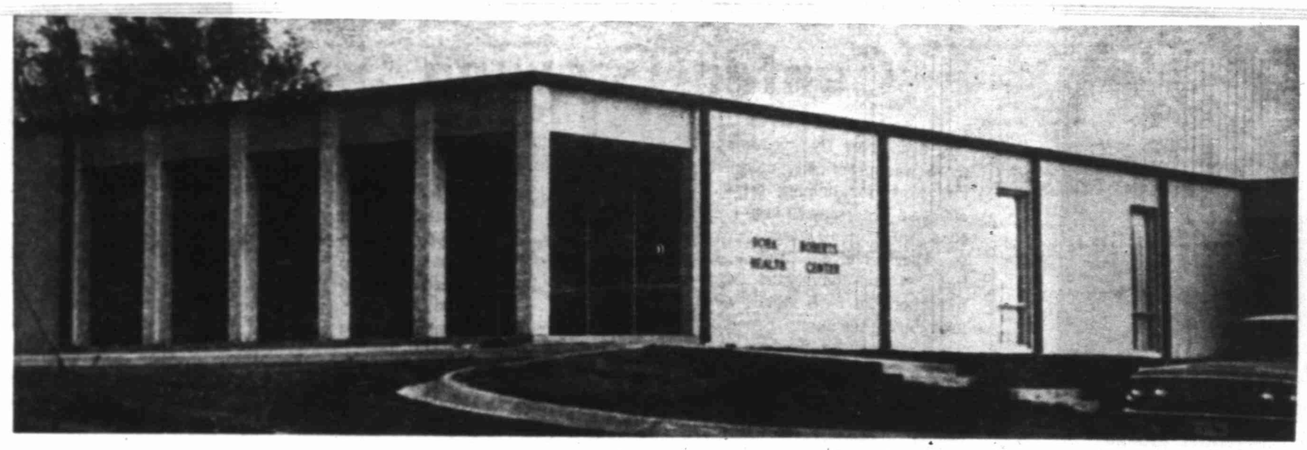

The location is relatively near to the general center of the town.

Director of the public health program in the counties of Howard, Midland and Ector is Dr. R. E. Johnson, M.D.

During the construction of the Howard County Health Center, Dr. Johnson has made weekly trips from his home in Midland for operational counselling.

Of the final results of the efforts of the community, he believes the building, personnel and functions will be an outstanding contribution to the district.

Dr. Johnson says that the good health of individuals within a nation is as vital as the state of its military defense. He stresses that the concerted efforts of health units throughout the country have written the epitaph of widespread epidemics.

JIM THOMPSON

Rehabilitation

Jim Thompson, director and chief physical therapist for the Rehabilitation Center, has worked with the crippled here 4½ years.

A Sweetwater native, Thompson graduated from Stanford High School in 1953, attended the University of Texas for a year, then Hardin-Simmons University, where he graduated in 1957 with a minor in science and a degree in physical education. He attended the Baylor University school of physical therapy in Dallas, graduating in 1958.

For six months, Thompson worked in Parkland Hospital, Dallas, then for two years was assistant chief of physical therapy at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He next came to Big Spring, where he has been chief therapist since.

RAPID PROGRESS

Center Growing

A little over five years ago, there was practically no facilities were for helping crippled children. The county nurse guided a program of taking youngsters periodically to Midland for therapy, and the heated swimming pools at local motels were used during the summer months. Some money was provided from the Easter Seal sale to carry on this program, and that just about described the total program.

Today, one of the most modern facilities for therapy obtainable is holding open house. Visitors will see the best in equipment, a trained staff, and a burgeoning program.

The community began to do something about a local crippled children's center in 1960. The local chapter of the Easter Seals Society, headed by George Zachariah, made arrangements to bring in an old house which was to be refurbished as a Center, across the street from the YMCA. The chamber of commerce committee for the annual clean-up campaign, decided this would be a good project to launch the annual effort.

During the planning discussions, some of the committee decided that volunteer labor and materials could be found to build an entirely new building. As many as 75 workers turned out to build the structure and suppliers came forth with concrete, wiring, plumbing and other needed materials.

The building went up quickly in June, 1960, and the city had its first center for the treatment of crippled children. Funds were still short for its operation, and a part-time therapist was called in once weekly from Midland.

Within a year, the present Howard County Rehabilitation Center was organized, separate from the Easter Seal organization, and plans were made to employ a full-time therapist. Jim Thompson accepted the post and came here in June, 1961.

About the same time, tragedy struck. Cracks began to appear in the walls of the new Center, and it developed that the building was constructed over an old dirt fill. In September, heavy rains washed more of the fill away and the building had to be abandoned for safety reasons. Thompson continued his work in the YMCA building.

The organization found a house on Edwards Boulevard for a Center. Soon after, the Dora Roberts Foundation announced plans for a modern new Center, to house the city-county health unit and the rehabilitation center. This building was completed in late summer of this year, and the equipment moved in recent weeks.

The need for the new facility is indicated by the growth of the patient load. Thompson had 16 patients and was giving between 4-5 treatments per day when he first came here. Now, he has some 90 patients and gives an average of 25 treatments per day.

In addition, he has a part-time therapist who assists him three days per week, plus a part-time speech therapist. The new Center provides ample facilities for an even greater patient load, but the small staff has just about reached the maximum number it can serve.

LARRY BRISTO

Speech Therapist

Larry Bristo, school district speech therapist, puts in an additional 12½ hour per week working with Rehabilitation Center patients with speech defects —from 4 to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

He has been working with speech defects at the Center since he came to Big Spring 10 months ago, and with the opening of the Center's new building, has been named assistant director.

The Lamesa native came here from Pontatoc, Miss., where he was a Church of Christ minister. He still practices ministry in the Knott Community when he has time.

Prior to his ministry in Mississippi, Bristo was a speech therapist for Abilene public schools.

A graduate of Lamesa High School, Bristo took his bachelor of science degree in speech and hearing therapy at Abilene Christian College, Abilene, where he minored in psychology.

MRS. LILLIAN STAGGS

Center Receptionist

Mrs. Lillian Staggs, receptionist at the Rehabilitation Center, began working with the crippled almost by accident.

A secretary before she married, Mrs. Staggs had not worked for 20 years until one day she volunteered to do some work at the Center.

"I really liked it," she said, "and in January this year, I went to work as receptionist." Mrs. Staggs also helps the therapists with patients at the center whenever and wherever she is needed.

Wife of Martin Staggs, of the Veterans Administration Hospital, the Staggs have three children—Tindall, 19, a student at Howard County Junior College; Richard, 17, a Big Spring High School senior; and Marcia, 12, a sixth-grader. All five reside on the Sterling City Route.

Gives Help To All

The Howard County Rehabilitation Center is a chartered nonprofit corporation whose purpose is to provide direct services to crippled children and adults regardless of race, color, or creed, that will improve their health, welfare, education, rehabilitation, employment, and recreational facilities and opportunities.

The Center's services are available to all persons regardless of age, financial circumstances, or location of residence. The only requirements for admission are that the patient be referred to the Center by their physician and that their physical handicap can be benefitted by treatments.

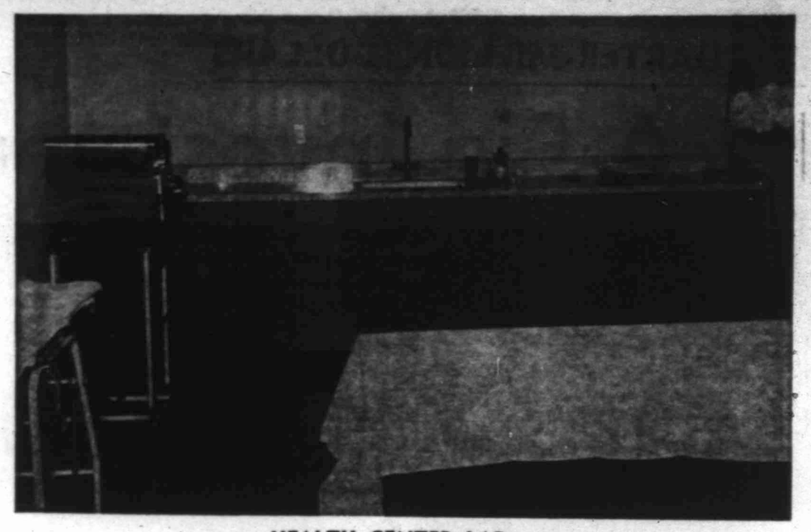

The Center is not tax supported in any way and receives its support entirely from donations of individuals and organizations, and from fees for services rendered from those patients that are able to pay. Fees for treatments are handled on a voluntary basis and each patient is asked to pay whatever he can afford.

HEALTH CENTER LAB
. . . Equipped for Health Unit nurse

FIRST ONE IN 1932

Health Office Has Long History

Big Spring had a city health office as far back as 1932, but the combined county-city health unit operation did not make its debut on the scene until 1945.

In 1932, H. W. Leeper was the city health officer. His office was in the city hall. He issued health cards, inspected food services and worked with state inspectors when they showed up on their periodic rounds.

Mrs. Horace Reagan was his lab technician. Her principal task was running tests on the milk sold to residents.

Mrs. Reagan said that she worked in the office only a short time.

"Actually," she said, "we concerned ourselves almost wholly with milk inspections. The office was really just an agency to safeguard the city milk supply.

"When I left the office to take a position with a hospital, Mr. Leeper performed all of the tests himself. I do not think they hired anyone to replace me."

She said that Mr. Leeper died some years ago. She had no occasion to renew her contacts with the office and has had no connection with the health unit except for her brief tenure in 1932.

In 1942, the war stirred the need for a broadened sort of health center operation and probably the basic start of the present highly effective agency dates from that year.

Apparently the combined county-city project made its appearance three years later. The first health officer to serve the unit was a Dr. Olean. It was at this time the three-county unit—the same structure which now functions—was set up. Dr. Olean, like other directors who followed, made his home in Midland.

The Big Spring unit moved from its crowded city hall quarters to the Read Hotel Building on East Second. From 1945 until the Health Unit moved to its new home in the Health Unit—Rehabilitation Center building, its operations were out of the location in the Read building.

A number of directors have served the three-county health agency. Dr. F. E. Sadler, succeeded Dr. Olean. He was followed by Dr. C. A. Pigford, Dr. Robert A. Hale was next and Dr. R. E. Johnson, the present director, succeeded Hale.

Fully Equipped

The health center section of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center building is fully equipped for its purposes, which are mostly immunization and health checks for the indigent.

The immunization clinic has a new sterilizer in the room where immunizations are given. Children of the indigent are the main users of the service, and many of them come in for diphtheria, smallpox and polio shots, according to Ethel Sherrill, public health nurse.

A room has been prepared for a future dental clinic, but no equipment has yet been purchased to furnish it.

There are other rooms for the director and the state officer who checks venereal diseases. Blood can be drawn at the center for testing for the disease, but it is sent to the state laboratory in Midland.

An ante-room is available for those waiting for treatment or information, as well as a desk near the north door to the unit. The director's office is just off the main desk, to the east.

HAROLD KNAPP

Sanitation Inspector

Harold G. Knapp, city-county sanitation inspector, retired Sept. 1 from the Air Force with almost 29 years service during which he served in the Philippines, Okinawa, and had two tours of duty in Germany.

Born in Bellefonte, Penn., he is a graduate of Bellefonte High School and was married in 1940. He and Mrs. Knapp reside at 2403 Alabama and have two children. Their daughter, Gloria Jean, is now Mrs. Loyd Sasser of Leisure City, Fla., and their son, Harold Jr., is a senior at the local high school.

In 1959, Knapp, under the ROTC program, took a course at the University of Mississippi in personal and community health. Much of his work with the Air Force was in a related field and helped qualify him for the position he now holds.

He is a member of the West Texas Chapter of the Texas Association of Sanitarians, the Texas Association of Sanitarians and the National Association of Sanitarians.

Mr. and Mrs. Knapp and Harold Jr. are all square dance enthusiasts and belong to the Huff and Puffers, at Webb Air Force Base, and the Big Spring Squares. He is president of the former club.

Nurse Has A Wide Scope

It was two years ago that gasoline, used to ignite charcoal for an outdoor barbecue, exploded. A small child was standing in the path of the flash fire; and in the space of a moment, 40 per cent of her body was a mass of third degree burns.

The same careless moment brought death close and left the assurance of a scarred and maimed existence.

Immediate attention from local doctors and an emergency plane trip to a specialist in Galveston saved the two-year-old's life. The doctors also prepared the first stages of plastic surgery that will, in time, erase the memories of that summer afternoon.

For a family of modest means, the initial financial burden was staggering—and the alternative unthinkable.

The case was presented to the Nursing Service of the Howard County Health Unit. A monetary appraisal of the family was made, submitted to the state board, and approved.

Now, with the state alloted funds of the Crippled Children's Program, the family has the assurance that medical expenses, concerning the many years of corrective surgery for their child, will be met.

This case, and many similar ones, are included in the public services offered by the Health Center. The Crippled Children program is within the scope of the Health Unit. It covers medical operations for children and is an avenue of help for mentally retarded children.

The city-county-state supported Health Unit can be called the 20th Century's epilogue to the ancient scourge of epidemics. Its primary function is one of preventative medicine. The basic accent is on home and individual cleanliness, and in providing medical expenses for indigents.

The sole requirement of patients is that they have a proven inability to pay for needed medical expenses.

A patient is introduced to the Health Unit through a doctors' recommendation, through school health programs, and by personal observation on behalf of the unit's staff members.

An investigation of the patient's financial background is then made. This includes the income status, the number in the family, and amount of debts accumulated.

The result is approved by the county judge and sent to a state board in Austin. If the application receives the approval of the state board, complete medical expenses for the case is assumed.

One of the most prominent features of the Health Unit is the Tuberculosis Program. Patients are sent to McKnight Sanatorium, San Angelo, for beginning treatment. Prior to their release, a nurse makes an inspection of the patient's home. She makes certain that adequate quarters for rest and privacy are provided. She also makes recommendations toward general cleaning and sanitation of the home. The required post-release medicines are also provided by the Health Unit.

The school health and immunization program is another facet of the Health Unit. This phase was established to provide pre-school inoculations of small pox and their respective booster shots. Serum for DPT, the infant diseases of diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, can also be obtained at the Health Unit.

The unit is in the process of introducing a dental service. Tentative schedule will be for a weekly two-hour clinic for expectant mothers, school, and pre-school age children.

In addition to the other services, the unit offers lecture courses on infant care in the home and on the correct blending of their formulas.

Included in the Health Unit's compass of preventing communicable diseases is the Sanitation Department. This is the group that is responsible for issuing health licenses and health certificates to restaurants and the employes. The department also makes twice yearly on-the-site inspections of public eating places, and requires each employe to have yearly physical examinations.

Of the many valuable functions offered by the Health Center, the one that effects the community as a whole is the Health Unit.

LIGE FOX

Chief Sanitarian

Lige Fox, chief sanitarian for the city-county health unit, was reared in Central Texas, graduating from Abilene High School. He attended Tarleton College at Stephenville and Texas State College at Canyon. He worked in the field of school administration for seven years in Erath County.

Fox entered public health service in Weatherford, where he remained for seven years before moving to Big Spring in 1951 as senior sanitarian with the local unit. His offices were in the old building at 209 E. 2nd until operations began in the new Center Oct. 15.

"We are happy with the new facilities," said Fox. "I feel that our morale and ability to do a better job will be improved by having this fine building and equipment."

Fox described his job as "anything that effects the environment of man," and included housing and hygiene in this category.

"We are interested in the procurement and handling of foods, milk and meat," continued Fox, "as well as water, sewage and waste disposal and sanitation in schools, nursing homes and hospitals." Besides regular inspections of these facilities, Fox conducts surveys on pollution and contamination.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox live at 1603 Stadium. They are parents of four sons. Sam and Jim, both married, live in Weatherford, and Charles, also married, makes his home in McAllen. The youngest, Bill, resides in Midland. The Foxes have seven grandchildren.

MRS. MARJORIE BARBARIE

Part Time Therapist

Mrs. Marjorie Barbarie, wife of a Webb AFB captain, has been aiding in physical therapy at the Rehabilitation Center for the past four years.

Each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 9-11 a.m., she works with crippled children, helping them to overcome the results of disease. Most of her charges are victims of cerebral palsy.

Whenever chief therapist Jim Thompson is out of town, Mrs. Barbarie treats all patients who need physical therapy.

Holder of a bachelor of science degree and a diploma in physical therapy from Simmons College, Boston, Mrs. Barbarie has been working at her profession ever since she graduated, at various places.

The Cambridge, Mass., native and her husband, Capt. Robert J. Barbarie, live in Webb Village with their three children, Fred, 7, Patricia, 4½, and Karen, 2.

"This center is a great thing for Big Spring," she said. "In the East, where this kind of therapy has been going on for a long time, therapists have to make do with what equipment they have at hand. But here, we have really a great amount of equipment, most of it new. It is a good start.

"I worked in the original Center, and in that old house we had while the present place was being built, and believe me, this is a great improvement."

ADULTS AS WELL AS CHILDREN

Varied Disabilities Are Treated

Although the Howard County Rehabilitation Center is popularly known as the "Crippled Children's Center," it treats adults as well as children.

At least 12 different types of disabilities are served by the center.

They are arthritis, cerebral palsy, C.V.A., multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, neuromuscular disability, orthopedic ills, polio, speech, cystic fibrosis, emphysema and cardiovascular diseases.

Treatment of the crippled — whether from cerebral palsy, whiplash injuries, polio or arthritis, is carried out in the south portion of the new building which houses both the center and the Howard County Health Unit.

Pre-school age children, mostly with cerebral palsy, are treated in a separate room which has stand-in tables that allow the children to stand without crutches while playing at games. Though they don't know it, the major part of their treatment at the tables would be considered work by adults. But the children think it's play, which it partially is.

While standing at the tables, the children play at games which test their coordination, color sense and dexterity. There are cloth booklets which have little stories on each page, accompanied by zippers, ribbons to tie, shoe-laces to manipulate and pockets to put hankies in.

Another table in the room has several indentations along its ledge, allowing wheel-chaired children to sit close to the table top for other treatment games such as finger - painting and puzzles.

Mrs. Marjorie Barbarie is a part-time physical therapist, who works with the children two hours each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Jim Thompson, physical therapist and director of the center, also aids the children.

Larry Bristo, speech therapist, treats children as well as adults from 4-6 p.m. Monday through Friday each week for speech problems.

Children and adults with speech problems or who suffer from crippling disease may be treated at the center only on prescription of a doctor. Payment for services are voluntary — if the patient has money, he pays what he can, if not, that's all right. The purpose of the center is to prevent deformity, ease pain, improve coordination and rehabitate the patient, not make money.

Another area for treatment in the Howard County Rehabilitation Center is in the treatment booths, where patients with back and other problems are treated.

Five booths are available, all semi-private, with surrounding curtains, for therapy.

One of the booths is equipped with a cervical traction machine, which intermittently applies pre-set traction to patients who have whiplash or other painful back injuries.

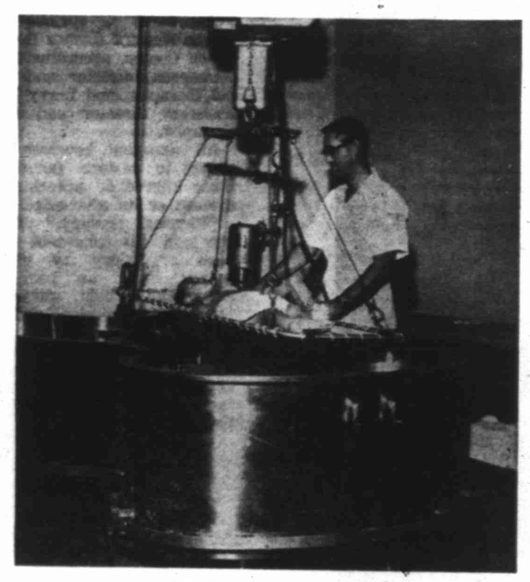

In the other four, the physical therapist can treat the patient in semi-private on the tables. Nearby is a hot-pack machine, which keeps water-soaked packs heated for moist-heat treatment.

In the gymnasium there are many devices available for treatment by massage, heat, exercise, hydro - therapy, electro - therapy, ultrasound and functional activities.

The gymnasium adjunct is equipped with three whirlpool baths, one of the large Hubbard Tank style, and a three-level swimming, or treatment pool. These devices are especially helpful to patients with rheumatoid arthritis. Treatment for arthritic hands is aided by a hot paraffin bath machine, which keeps paraffin at 126 degrees, and forms a "glove" over the arthritic hand, soothing sore and swollen joints.

Gymnastic devices such as parallel bars, exercise tables and mat, weights, stall bars, shoulder - wheel, exercise bicycle with speedometer and odometer, wrist - roller, and artificial hills and stairs, aid the crippled patient in recovering coordination, learning to walk, or re-learning, strengthening atrophied muscles, and help in the prevention of deformity.

Outside in the east patio, construction is under way on sidewalks and ground areas where the rehabilitating patient may learn how to navigate over various kinds of surface he will encounter.

Mrs. W. E. Wozencraft has been a clerk-typist with the city-county health unit since 1957. She resides at 1000 Stadium with her husband, employed with the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. They have a son, Bill, who lives with his wife and three children in New Jersey.

Mrs. Wozencraft was born in Denton and reared north of Pecos where her family ranched. A graduate of Toyah High School, she completed a business course before her marriage in 1930. The Wozencrafts moved here in 1934 and managed the Texas and Pacific Restaurant until it closed two years later. Leaving Big Spring, they operated a cafe in another city, selling it during the war and returning here in 1944.

JESSE MOON

Checks Disease

For 12 of his 20 years association with the State Health Department, Jesse A. Moon has been based in Big Spring. With the Dora Roberts Health Center as headquarters, he will continue to travel to the 13 health units in his 44-county area. Primarily, his work involves communicable diseases, their source and prevention.

Born in Minden, he was on the basketball and baseball teams of the high school there, later attending Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College at Nacogdoches.

On Dec. 23, 1939, he was married to the former Avis Burd of Henderson, who has been a medical record librarian at the Big Spring State Hospital for the past 11 years. The Moons reside at 1406 Sycamore, and are members of the Phillips Baptist Church where Moon is a deacon. In the past, he has taught classes at the church and served as superintendent.

BUT MANY OTHERS ARE AVAILABLE AND USED

Exercise Called Most Important

Therapy, for adult and child alike, takes on various forms at the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, according to Jim Thompson, director and physical therapist, and Larry Bristo, assistant director and speech therapist.

All treatment, however, is designed to restore function to those injured or suffering from disease or its after-effects.

"Physical therapy," Thompson said, "is treatment of disease or injury by physical means, such as heat, massage, water, light, ultra-sound, therapeutic exercises and electricity."

He emphasized, however, that of the treatments offered at the Center, exercise is by far the most important to the patient in regaining lost abilities.

"Other treatments (heat, light, water, and the others aid in the healing process," he said, "but properly-directed exercise helps most in strengthening atrophied muscles and restoring coordination."

Many patients know they must exercise, but don't know how to, or what exercises will be most beneficial in their cases. That's where the physical therapist comes in—he is trained to know what the patient must do to improve his condition.

The treatments offer multiple benefits to the patient—the prevention of deformities, development of strength, and coordination, restoration of function and the relief of pain.

Treatment offers help to victims of many misfortunes—accidents or disease.

For instance, there is no cure for rheumatoid arthritis, but by proper exercise and treatment, the patient can learn to live with it—and exercise aids in the prevention of deformity. Even those with emphysema (a respiratory ailment) can help themselves breathe easier through proper exercise.

Brain-injury patients who have little coordination can learn to walk better and improve their coordination at the Center, which operates on an out-patient basis only.

Speech defects may be helped at the Center also.

"Defective speech is rather hard to define in a short statement," Bristo said. "The best I've heard is this one: 'When speech draws attention to the way it is said rather than to what is said, it is defective.'"

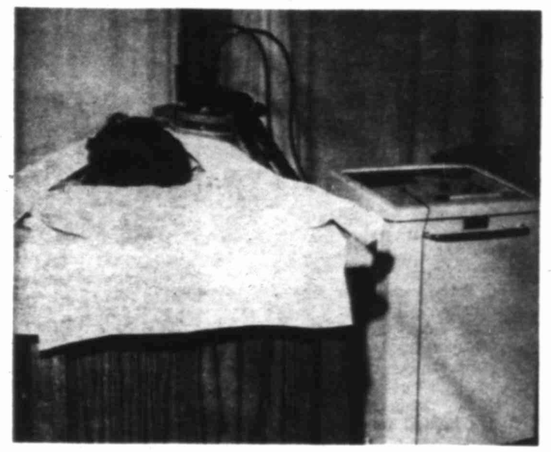

Bristo attempts to evaluate the case (most patients are children of pre-school age or school-age children from school districts which do not have speech therapists and determine where the child is in his speech development or language development relative to his age-group.

He then tries to build up the child's level of speech to a point on a level with other, "normal" children of his age-group, using complex methods.

Anyone desiring treatment or wanting information about treatment for someone, should contact Thompson. Treatment is offered only upon the prescription for treatment by a doctor, but is open to anyone, whether he can pay or not.

SPECIALIZED THERAPY
. . . from one of many units

Part Of Big Unit

Howard County Health Unit, housed in the new Rehabilitation Center-Health Unit Building, is affiliated with a three county enterprise officially titled Howard - Midland - Ector County Health Unit. Headquarters are in Midland.

In recent months, the agency has been serving a fourth county — Andrews. However, Andrews County is not officially a part of the organization.

Dr. R. E. Johnson, with his office in Midland, is director for the three county setup.

The unit here is financed through three sources. The city allocated about $10,000 per year and the county an equal amount to provide a budget of $20,000 for the local operation. Out of this is paid the salary of the nurse and the office secretary, utility bills and other incidental operational cost.

Dr. Johnson's salary, as well as that of Lige Fox, chief sanitarian, is paid by the state.

Other state health workers who are assigned to the area and who pursue specialized functions in the three counties are also paid by the state.

Community Pitched In To Provide Equipment

Thanks to the generosity of the community, which has always stepped in to help, the new Rehabilitation Center is completely outfitted with modern equipment to provide the best of therapy for the infirm children and adults of the area.

Last summer, an intensive campaign was launched to provide equipment for the new building. The community came forward with $13,835.61, which put a total of $21,269.89 in the equipment fund.

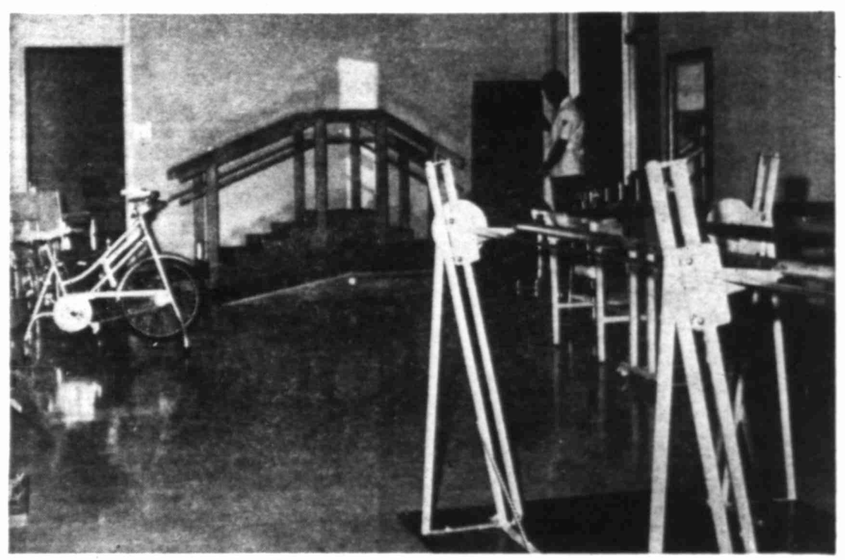

Of this, $15,042 has been spent for therapeutic equipment. Office and other equipment has reduced the fund to $2,322.91. But most of all the equipment necessary for the center has been purchased, although some of it has not yet arrived.

The biggest single item of equipment, and the most expensive, is the Full Body Hubbard Tank. It cost in excess of $5,000 and enables the therapist to fully immerse the patient's body for many treatment purposes.

There are two "whirlpools," one mobile and the other stationary. The former cost $875, and the latter $785. A universal exercise unit cost $660, a cold pack machine $400, and the parallel bars $400. A pool treatment table, for underwater exercise, costs $440, and a muscle stimulator cost $320.

These and a host of other pieces of machinery will be in place today at the Center, where those who made them possible can see them as they are used daily to help the infirm.

From toys to foot stools, crutches to walking belts, treatment, tables to ultra - violet lamps, the Center has hundreds of equipment items, all necessary to provide the best in therapy.

All Who Help Become Members

Anyone who makes a donation of any kind to the Howard County Rehabilitation Center is a member of the corporation.

During the annual meeting each fall, directors are elected from the membership, with 21 serving at a time. This board of directors elects a slate of four officers.

The new slate of officers, elected within the last month, are Bill Pollard, president; Dr. B. Broadrick, vice president; Jimmy Taylor, secretary; and Neil Hilliard, treasurer.

The directorate includes these officers, plus Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. Larry Crow, John Gary, Lloyd K. Martinson, Joe Pickle, George Thorburn, Sam Anderson, Bo Bowen, Bruce Frazier, Mrs. Ruby McNew, Lester Newton, John Richard Cofer, Don Womack, Horace Garrett, Chester Cathey and Anna Smith.

The center is financed primarily through contributions and memorials. It is also a recipient of gifts through the United Fund.

However, those who are able to pay for treatment, do so and the center receives some help from this source. Of course, no one is denied treatment at the center because of inability to pay.

In the last 12 months, ending in September, the center had receipts of $26,367.99, of which almost a fourth — $7,976.94 — was in treatment fees. The balance was in interest and contributions.

Expenses of the center include the salaries of the director and other therapists, and clerical employes. Other routine expenses account for less than one-third of the total budget — $15,666.46.
