Snyder has been selected as the site for an event during observance of Highway Week.

Since we are especially interested in future highway plans at this time, this will enable the community to put its best foot forward as some people in positions of responsibility in that field will be here for the event.

Plans are to hold a luncheon at the Scurry County Coliseum, with members of service clubs, the Chamber of Commerce and others interested attending. The spotlight will be on highways, and we understand this is to be the major Highway Week event in the Abilene District of the Texas Highway Department for this special week.

Charles Simon, a member of the Texas Highway Commission, is scheduled to be here, along with officials out of the district office.

Meanwhile, interests here are keeping in close touch with the highway department people just in case there should be developments in connection with the proposed extension of Interstate Highway 27.

Catching up on the mail:

Joe Christie, chairman of the State Insurance Board, has sent out warnings that some fast-talking, high-pressure operators are at work swindling elderly Texans through bogus insurance deals.

Christie said the state board will cooperate with law enforcement officials in providing technical assistance on insurance matters in the prosecution of criminal charges.

This, of course, presents an excellent opportunity to remind that you are better off dealing with people you know when buying anything like insurance. And usually if you don't know anybody personally in the business, you can be reasonably assured that an agent is on the up and up if he has been around for a while and still answers his telephone. Someone "passing through" with a red hot deal that is going to be withdrawn in a few days is not a good prospect for scrupulous dealings in insurance or anything else.

Now that the young football season is spreading its wings, the Texas Aggies report that Dave Campbell, who publishes the Texas Football Magazine, has revised his forecast and has put the Aggies right up there with Darrell Royal's Texas Longhorns. Following the recent Southwest Conference press tour, Campbell, who had the Aggies pegged third in the conference race in his magazine, now rates A&M and Texas as co-champions, the Aggie publicity office reports.

That apparently came as no surprise to a newspaper in Newport News, Va., which picked the Aggies as No. 1 in the nation. Those A&M people really do roam, once they graduate.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 10, the 253rd day of 1974. There are 112 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1813, an American naval force under Oliver Perry defeated the British in the Battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.

On this date—

In 1608, John Smith was elected governor of the James-town colony in Virginia.

In 1775, 5,000 Acadians were banished from Nova Scotia.

In 1846, Elias Howe of Spencer, Mass., received a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1898, Empress Elizabeth of Austria-Hungary was assassinated by an anarchist in Geneva.

In 1907, the British colony of New Zealand became a dominion.

In 1939, Canada declared war against Germany.

Ten years ago: Foreign ministers of the Organization of African Unity, at a meeting in Addis Ababa, approved a plan to end the rebellion and political strife in the Congo.

Five years ago: $900 million was bid for oil leases in Alaska by petroleum companies.

One year ago: The Defense Department acknowledged that U.S. fighter-bombers flew air strikes in Cambodia in 1970 and 1971, with the attacks kept secret through a system of dual reports.

FIRST BALE—R. C. Nixon (left), of Hermleigh, brought in the first bale of Scurry County Cotton this year. It was ginned this morning at the Paymaster Gin. On hand to congratulate him were D. D. Pierce (right), manager of the gin, and Ruben Hernandez (center), an employe of the gin.

Firemen's Sickout Spreads

HOUSTON (AP) — A sickout by Houston firemen spread to a second shift today but Fire Chief John Little said the large number of absentees had disrupted service very little.

About 280 firemen called in sick for the Monday night shift and from 230 to 240 did so for a second shift today. Houston has about 1,800 firefighters, about 600 per shift.

Under state law, the firemen cannot strike but the demands of the sickout group include higher pay and a shorter work week.

Little and Mayor Fred Hofheinz were to meet today to decide what to do about those taking part in the sickout.

While only one overnight fire was reported, a department spokesman said most of the city's 69 fire stations received overnight telephone calls with a general message of "If you know what's good for you, you'll go along with your brother firemen."

Tires on four cars parked at a south side station were reported slashed and rocks were thrown through two windows at a north side station.

No. 3 Man Resigns

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The third-ranking member of the Watergate prosecution force has resigned because of the pardon granted former President Richard M. Nixon.

"I would not have resigned today if my responsibility hadn't been lightened," 31-year-old Philip A. Lacovara said in an interview on Monday. "My responsibilities in the past included developing legal and policy arguments concerning the role of the President under the law and the role of the former President under the law.

"Sunday's action by President Ford disposes of the question."

Lacovara, counsel to Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, said he did not wish to go beyond that for fear that it might interfere with a fair trial for the Watergate cover-up defendants.

"I'm not saying I'm leaving because of a disagreement," Lacovara said. "It's because my own responsibilities take on a different complexion."

Lacovara had a part in all investigations conducted by Jaworski's office and was in charge of appeals, arguing part of the government's Watergate tape case before the Supreme Court.

Unhappiness with President Ford's announcement that he was absolving the former President of guilt for any federal crimes he may have committed while in office was voiced by the foreman of the grand jury that named Nixon an unindicted coconspirator in the cover-up case.

First 1974 Bale Of Cotton Is In

R. C. Nixon, 52, of Hermleigh brought in the first bale of 1974 cotton in Scurry County. It was ginned this morning at the Paymaster Gin on the Lamesa Highway.

"It's about the biggest first bale of cotton I've ever ginned," said D. P. Pierce, manager of the Paymaster Gin.

The bolls had a weight of 2,000 pounds. The bale weighed 575 pounds, and it produced 900 pounds of seed.

Nixon said he got the bale off a 4.8-acre tract at Hermleigh. However, he only pulled three acres to get the bale. He said one time in the past the tract produced six bales of cotton.

"It was a little dry this year, though," he explained.

Nixon said he has been farming all of his life, but that he was in the ministry for 20 years. His family includes his wife, Imogene, and two children, Cecil, who lives in Abilene, and Wanda, a daughter who lives at home and teaches school in Loraine.

Nixon said this is the first time that he has produced the first bale of cotton.

"It's a little bit late this year," said Pierce.

The first bale last year, brought in by Lloyd Merritt, was ginned at the Layfield Gin in Ira on Aug. 31.

WTC Receives Grant For Senior Citizens Program

Western Texas College has received a grant of $16,500 for the establishment of a Senior Citizens Program in Retirement Education, Dr. Robert Clinton, WTC president, has announced.

Dr. James Tully, Dean of Learning Resources at WTC, will serve as director of the new program.

WTC was one of the first educational institutions in Texas to establish a Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) organization on its campus. Through RSVP, the college has established ties with retired persons and has worked to make available to older residents special educational opportunities.

RSVP members have requested the college to set aside a place where the senior citizens could meet for recreation or to work on group projects. The college will make available a room in the Learning Resource Center for this purpose, Dr. Tully said. The room has served as a temporary museum in recent months, but is being vacated this week as museum displays are moved to the new museum building.

The Advisory Committee of the RSVP and Mrs. Betsy Duncan, RSVP director, will work with the college in an advisory capacity.

As a pilot project, the WTC Senior Citizens Center will be studied by various agencies interested in similar centers. The WTC project is to serve the Scurry-Borden-Fisher-Mitchell counties area. It will consider special needs in health and recreation for senior citizens along with educational opportunities.

Many of the courses offered at WTC are directed toward individualized instruction, and these "packaged" courses are especially well suited to the use of senior citizens who want to continue their education. The "packaged" courses include cassette tapes and tape players, slides and slide projectors and video tape. The "packages" can be taken to senior citizens who cannot come to the campus or can be used on campus by individuals or small groups at their convenience.

Some of the packaging is done at WTC through its Learning Resource Center, while commercially prepared materials may be used when they are available.

A total of 14 community and junior colleges across the state were awarded grants to be used in projects designed for older residents. Among these, in addition to WTC, were Midland College and Ranger Junior College.

Board OKs New WTC Personnel

Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District last night approved several personnel assignments and accepted an audit of federal funds as prepared by Buster Anderson, CPA.

During the session, the board also instructed administrators to assemble information to be used in establishing policy for use of Western Texas College facilities by religious organizations. Inquiries had been received concerning the possibility of a group of local ministers providing a counseling service for students on a regular basis, and also from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints concerning use of a room for weekly services. The board agreed that definite guidelines should be established for handling such requests.

The Rev. Henry Hartman, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, and the Rev. Charles Bowyer, vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church, said that several ministers here would cooperate in providing professional counseling dealing with personal problems of students if space is made available for them.

The board also discussed needs for storage facilities and for additional parking facilities near the physical education complex.

New personnel formally approved by the board include Franklin Pruitt, associate professor of history; Dr. Gene McClurg, professor, EMT; Lee Burke instructor, physical education, and Myron Porter, instructor in mathematics and director of the Baptist Student Union.

Resignation of Gene Robertson as dean of occupational education and technology was formally approved and Rex Hopkins approved as acting O-T director. Lynn Dyer was reassigned from O-T to the academic division of the college. The board also approved a request by James Palmer to reduce his teaching load for the fall semester so that he can complete work on his doctorate at Oklahoma State University.

The board voted unanimously to accept a grant of $16,500 from the coordinating board for a senior citizens program.

Dr. Robert Clinton, president of WTC, said enrollment for the fall term is running ahead of last year, but not quite up to earlier forecasts. However, registration for the term is continuing and is expected to increase during the week.

Dr. Ben Brock, vice president, reported that dormitories are "at 102 per cent of capacity" and now have a waiting list.

Other Watergate Pardons Loom

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford announced through a spokesman today that the possibility of pardons for everyone convicted or accused of crimes in the Watergate scandals "is now under study."

The surprise announcement came from Acting White House Press Secretary John W. Hushen, who said Ford had authorized the statement. "I can give you no further guidance," Hushen told a White House briefing.

All told, 48 individuals have now been accused of crimes related to the series of cases broadly called Watergate, and 39 of them have pleaded guilty or have been convicted by juries.

In addition, 14 corporations have pleaded guilty to violations of campaign finance laws. All were sentenced to fines.

Hushen made clear that possible pardons were being considered for those already convicted of Watergate-related crimes as well as those who face trial in the future.

The disclosure came two days after President Ford announced an unconditional pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon. White House Counsel Philip Buchen had said Sunday that no thought had been given to a broader pardon covering others in the case.

Hushen said he did not know whether the study was launched before Ford's Sunday announcement of unconditional pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon.

Hushen was asked by a reporter if he understood the likely consequences of his announcement and its impact on the American people.

"I think those factors have been taken into account," he replied, adding that the initiation of a study did not mean pardons would be granted.

Asked if he felt the scheduled Sept. 30 trial of six key Watergate defendants could go forward in the wake of the White House announcement, Hushen said, "I believe it can."

In first disclosing the study, Hushen gave no indication of who had authorized the statement. Later, in response to a question, he said, "The President authorized me to make that."

There was no immediate reaction from the office of Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

A spokesman for the office of U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica said no comment was expected from the judge.

Sirica presided over the trial of the original seven Watergate break-in defendants and is scheduled to try six former Nixon White House, administration and campaign aides in the Watergate cover-up case starting Sept. 30. Nixon was named by a federal grand jury as an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up case.

Questioned at the news briefing about Ford's motivation for pardoning Nixon Hushen said he could not say what importance the President had attached to the question of Nixon's physical and emotional health because he could not put himself inside Ford's "thinking processes."

Utilities Rate Action Pushed

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and other federal officials reportedly plan to urge state public utility commissioners Wednesday to speed up action on rate increase requests from electric utilities.

The gist of the message from federal officials will be that electric utilities need higher rates to cover their increased costs, a Treasury Department source said.

A Treasury spokesman said nearly 100 state public utility commissioners would attend. He said the meeting was scheduled to coincide with a conference of the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners being held this week in Hershey, Pa.

Although the Treasury first said the meeting would be closed to the press and public, it reversed itself today and decided to admit the press and some consumer representatives.

The reversal came after several consumer groups criticized a closed meeting on an issue that could result in higher electric rates for consumers.

The Treasury had not made any public announcement on the meeting, although it was mentioned in a calendar of events at the federal Power Commission where the meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon.

"The decision to close the meeting was never really finalized," said a Treasury spokesman, although he acknowledged the decision to open the meeting was not made until after protests were received.

Administration officials, led by Simon, have said repeatedly that the nation's electrical utilities are unable to get rate increases fast enough from state public utilities commissions to cover their rising costs of operation.

Simon has said that as a result, public utilities are short of investment capital to meet future energy needs.

Crime Curbing Action Urged

CLEVELAND (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe urged the nation's courts and police today to devote greater energy to putting career criminals behind bars.

"We must bring every possible resource to bear on the violent offender, the serious offender, the repeated offender," Saxbe said in a speech prepared for the Ohio Realtors Association.

He urged state and local authorities to develop programs "to identify the career criminal and to make certain that apprehension is rapid."

Such action, he said, could be a first step toward curbing an ever-rising national crime rate.

Nixon Plans To Resign Bar

By STEVE LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's lawyer says the former president is ready to write an end to 35 years as an attorney.

Nixon's lawyer, Dean Butler of Los Angeles, told newsmen on Monday that Nixon would resign soon from the California bar, which is gathering evidence on Nixon's role in Watergate for possible disciplinary action.

Nixon is also a member of the New York bar, and Butler said Nixon also plans to resign from that organization.

Nixon's decision probably means the California bar will not pursue its investigation of the former president. Bar President Seth Hufstedler said the bar seldom recommends that the state Supreme Court reject a resignation.

Butler's announcement came two hours before the California bar's House of Delegates overwhelmingly condemned President Ford's pardon of Nixon for crimes he may have committed in the White House.

Butler denied that Nixon's pending action is designed to avoid disbarment or suspension from the practice of law in California.

"It is a decision he made some time ago — that he would not engage in the practice of law," Butler told newsmen.

Butler did not say when the resignations would be submitted, but Hufstedler said Nixon was preparing a resignation from the California bar and "it would be submitted promptly."

Delegates to the California bar's annual convention approved, 347 to 169, a resolution condemning the pardon announced by Ford on Sunday.

It said in part, "This action violates the principle that all persons stand equal before the law and presents a substantial threat that the confidence of our citizens in the American system of justice will be undermined."

The bar's board of governors refused to allow delegates to vote on a portion of the resolution which urged that the investigation of Nixon continue.

Nixon spent Monday at the Palm Springs estate of Walter H. Annenberg, U.S. ambassador to Britain. The former president's valet said Nixon was in good spirits and was working on his papers.

Travel, Tourism Help Requested

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Southern governors called on Washington today for more help to the states for travel and tourism.

By unanimous vote, the Southern Governors' Conference adopted a report urging their respective U.S. senators to support changes in the Federal Mass Transportation Act that would let states share in all funds of the bill.

"Rural mass transit is essential if we are to bring opportunity for jobs and prosperity to the people of our rural areas and small towns," said North Carolina Gov. James E. Holshouser, head of the conference Transportation and Commerce Committee.

He was supported by South Carolina Gov. John C. West who said that "for too long, the states—and particularly the less populated areas of our states—have been generally overlooked in the transportation planning at the national level."

The adopted conference report also calls for continued financing of the Airport and Airways Development Act of 1970, particularly to help airports in small towns and rural areas.

The governors also accepted a committee report recommending a policy statement on federal help or in tourist development. A final vote on the issue will come Wednesday.

"During the fuel crisis we have found our whole economy can be damaged by anything that damages the travel and tourism industry," said West.

The policy statement would urge "a national tourism policy", West said, to coordinate the 50 federal agencies that administer about 100 programs affecting tourism. It also will recommend complete financing the U.S. Travel Service, and it urges that more gateway cities be developed in the South for overseas air service.

Mississippi Gov. William Waller told the governors in a statement that inflation and energy shortages are teaching Southern States be more efficient in using their natural resources.

Waller was one of a number of governors appearing on a Southern Governors' Conference panel on transportation, tourism and natural resources of the South.

Motel Assn. Will Have Fair Booth

Plans for a booth at the Scurry County Fair highlighted discussion at a meeting of the Snyder Motel Association on Sunday. Hector Melgar was host at the American Motor Inn.

Mrs. Ford Caperton of Beacon Lodge presented a poster she sketched for the fair booth with the slogan, "The Snyder Motel Association invites your guests to be our guests," created to remind area residents that accommodations are available for their out-of town visitors.

Members examined a brochure titled "Wonderful West Texas," which will be one of many given away at the fair. Catherine Williams of TraveLodge noted that, while 19 colleges and universities are mentioned, Western Texas College is not. Mrs. Arthur Feinsod of Purple Sage Motel was delegated to write West Texas Chamber of Commerce and see if Snyder and WTC can be given greater prominence in the leaflet.

Mr. and Mrs. David Smelser, new owners of Ponderosa Motel, were welcomed as new members of the association. He also works for Halliburton.

Although two "welcome" signs are now greeting visitors who travel U.S. Highway 84, association members still expressed concern about attracting visitors to Snyder. Ford Caperton reminded members that two more signs are to be painted. They already have been purchased by the city. Also, Art Feinsod is to contact the Texas Highway Dept. again on the project to properly identify entrances to the city.

Final plans for the fair booth will be discussed at a short meeting set for Sept. 22 at the American Restaurant.

Unwelcome Passenger

Snyder Police officer Michael Elkins discovered an unwelcome passenger in his patrol car yesterday.

According to City Police, Elkins was in his patrol car in the 300 block of the East Highway at 6:32 p.m. yesterday when he decided to clean out his car. While cleaning it out, he discovered a small rattlesnake on the floor board on the driver's side of the car.

Joint Space Mission Still On

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The chief of Russian cosmonaut training says the shortened Soyuz 15 mission last month will not affect in any way the planned 1975 joint American-Russian mission.

Vladimir Shatalov said Monday a fully automatic and remotely controlled rendezvous and docking system failed to work on the Soyuz 15. However, he emphasized that the systems tested during the Soyuz mission were different from those to be used on the joint mission.

The Soyuz flight was terminated after the failure to dock and this had prompted speculation it had encountered problems that might affect the joint flight.

It had carried two cosmonauts who were scheduled to dock with the Soviet's Aalyut 3 space station Aug. 27.

The Soviet explanation was given by Shatalov as he and eight other cosmonauts were welcomed to Johnson Space Center for three weeks of training for the 1975 joint mission.

The automatic system had been utilized earlier but not within 500 feet of a rendezvous target vehicle, Shatalov said.

More about schnozz-size stereotypes

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have been saddened and amused by the number of letters in your column from people who were upset by the size of their noses. The mother who couldn't love her baby because of its big schnozz hit me hard.

To me, a prominent nose is beautiful. Look at Cleopatra. A little button-nose may be "cute," but give me the beauty and character of a nose that is proud and prominent!

We are all entitled to our own standards of beauty. Why should we let Madison Avenue sterotypes lead us around by the nose?
KNOWS NOSES

DEAR KNOWS: We shouldn't. Which inspires the following limerick:

There once was a beauty named Rose,
A Puritan life-style she chose.
Lechers galore she would show to the door,
Would you say she was saved by her NO'S?
(Edgar Allen Po-Po)

DEAR ABBY: I would like to say something about that young mother who was depressed because she thought her infant daughter was too homely to take out in public.

I'm glad you sent that mother to a psychiatrist because she is desperately in need of treatment. If she doesn't take your advice and go, I'm afraid her daughter will be the one to end up on a psychiatrist's couch, getting treated for her inferiority complex.

That is what happened to me. When I was a little girl, my mother drummed into me that I was homely. I grew up believing it. I let myself get fat and sloppy. I never cared how I looked because I thought that I was so hopelessly ugly, nobody could care for me. I also became very promiscuous. That was the only way I could get a boy to pay any attention to me. My self-esteem was about as low as it could get.

At age 17, I had had three abortions, so my mother sent me to a psychiatrist. Meanwhile, she sobbed, "I'll never understand that child. I gave her everything."

My psychiatrist explained that small children believe everything their parents tell them and that my problems began when my mother convinced me that I was homely.
"TWENTY TWO AND NOT HOMELY ANYMORE"

DEAR ABBY: That disturbed young mother who couldn't "love" her baby because it had such a homely nose prompts me to write this.

I recently visited a young (and very handsome) couple who have a nine-month-old baby. No one warned me, so I wasn't prepared for what I saw when they brought her out.

She was positively the homeliest baby I had ever seen. Unusually homely!

I was at a loss for what to say, so I just said, "Hi, darling baby!" She smiled, her eyes twinkled and her homely little face lit up as she held out her arms to welcome me as a new friend.

Within minutes I knew the secret of that baby's charm. Her parents treated her as though she were an exquisitely beautiful and beloved treasure by letting her know what a loved baby she was. Consequently, she is exactly what they hold her to be—a beautiful treasure.

Within minutes one forgets that she is not a very pretty baby, because it doesn't really matter. Her personality is sunny, lovable and responsive.

Parents of "homely" babies can learn a lot from this couple. I did.
A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: And I'll wager so did many others.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the mother who was so "depressed" because her baby had such a large nose.

Our first baby was a beautiful little girl. There was only one problem. She was born with "spina bifida"—an open spine.

Our baby is only four months old and she has had, to date, surgery five times.

Abby, instead of this mother looking at her baby and crying because of her large nose, she should be crying for joy and thanking God for having blessed her with a healthy baby. She doesn't know how lucky she is.

Hotline Is Success

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe told Southern governors today that Texas' toll-free telephone service to put runaway children in touch with their parents is a big success.

"During this first year of operation, we have received more than 4,000 calls and nearly half of these calls have involved relaying one or more messages between runaways and their parents—giving those parents 'peace of mind' of knowing that their son or daughter is alive and well," Briscoe told a session of the Southern Governors' Conference.

The telephone hotline, based in Houston, operates 24 hours a day nationwide.

Briscoe said the Florida legislature appropriated $20,000 to help publicize the "Peace of Mind" telephone number. He said other states helping get word to the runaways include Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma and Alabama.

Briscoe offered a resolution for conference consideration that would call on each state of the conference to help publicize the "Peace of Mind" hotline to runaways.

Prince Learning To Fly Helicopter

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, already a qualified aircraft pilot, has begun a 3½-month course to learn to fly a helicopter.

The 25-year-old heir to the British throne was up for a half-hour flight Monday at the fleet air arm's headquarters at Yeovilton in southwest England.

The helicopter course includes 38 hours of dual flying, 15 hours solo and 53 hours of ground training. The ground training includes a dunking in a simulated cockpit during which Prince Charles will have to free himself from a harness and escape through a window.

Insurance For Pupils Available

The Snyder Public Schools offers a student accident insurance policy. All students and school personnel are eligible. This policy is developed by INSURNATIONAL, and underwritten by United Fidelity Life Insurance Company. Two plans are offered. Plan I—Maximum Coverage, includes full payment for all reasonable, necessary and customary charges up to $50, regardless of the benefits you receive from other insurance. Full payment is made for all reasonable, necessary and customary charges in excess of $50 that are not paid or payable by other insurance. Maximum payment for each accident is $10,000. Cost per student is: for elementary students, $20 for 24-hour coverage and $10 for "At School" coverage. For Grades 7-12 and employes it is $26 for 24-hour coverage and $12 for "At School" coverage.

Plan II—Basic Coverage, includes all benefits as listed in Plan I except you pay half of the first $50 charged for medical treatment. Your share of the first $50 will be reduced by any payment made by other insurance. Cost per student is, for elementary students, $15 for 24-hour coverage, and $5 for "At School," and for 7-12 grades and employes, $21 for 24-hour and $7 At School.

Full time coverage provides coverage 24 hours a day, every day, including weekends and during the summer vacation period.

At-School or part time coverage provides coverage on school premises during the hours and on the days when school is in session; or during the hours or on the days when school is not in session, provided the insured is attending or participating in any school supervised activity.

Traveling for regular school sessions, directly to or from the insured's home premises and the school premises, or as a group traveling under school supervision to or from a school supervised activity, also is covered.

This policy also includes $2,000 for loss of life, $7,500 for loss of both hands, feet or eyes and $3,750 for loss of either hand, foot or sight of either eye.

Information concerning this policy and envelopes for payment of premiums have been distributed to each child attending school. If for some reason you did not receive this information you may do so by contacting your school principal. Coverage begins with the first day of school for those enrolling before September 16. Anyone who desires to take the policy later in the school year, may do so but the student is not covered until the premium reaches the company office in Dallas, and the cost will be the same. The coverage is transferable to any school.

High school students from the West Texas area have been invited to a yearbook workshop at Western Texas College on Thursday Sept. 12, Mike McBride, WTC publications advisor, said.

Between 50 to 75 students are expected to attend the meeting, which is sponsored by the Taylor Publishing Co. Norman Dowdy, regional manager, and Hairston Muse will direct the workshop.

Students are to register in the Student Center starting at 9 a.m. and are invited to eat lunch there at noon. Workshop sessions will be held in the Fine Arts Theatre during the morning and afternoon until 3 p.m.

NEVER PUNISHED

Nixon Could Be Tried, Convicted

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leading Supreme Court case on presidential pardons suggests that Richard M. Nixon, although pardoned by President Ford, could still be tried and even convicted in the Watergate case but could never be punished.

Both the Constitution and the court decisions on the subject acknowledge a President's broad powers of pardon in all cases except impeachment but treat the punishment and not the trial and conviction.

An 1867 Supreme Court decision, written by Justice Stephen J. Field, is the guiding law on the scope and effect of a presidential pardon and recognizes a President's right to grant one either before or after conviction. The case was titled Ex Parte Garland.

In discussing a pardon before conviction and the situation which would arise after conviction, Field clearly raised the possibility of trying someone who could not be punished.

Field wrote, "If granted before conviction, it prevents any of the penalties and disabilities consequent upon conviction from attaching (thereto)."

The decision spoke only of the penalties and not the trial, and nothing in this or other court rulings appears to bar the judicial process leading up to the point of punishment.

There are no known cases, however, of a person having been pardoned and then tried anyway. Prosecution traditionally has been dismissed at that point as moot.

Also, the principle that a pardon spares only the punishment and not the side effects of the judicial process is found in a 1914 Supreme Court decision upholding the conviction of a New York man as a second offender.

Although a presidential pardon had prevented any punishment for the first offense, the court said the conviction and its legal implications were not wiped out by the pardon.

A penalty-free trial would appear to be one of the last avenues for publicly resolving the question of whether Nixon had committed any illegal actions.

Impeachment also remains a legitimate route to that end even now, but past Congresses had been averse to using it once the official involved has left office. And House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has said he will not reopen the Nixon impeachment case.

23 State Attorneys Disapprove

Twenty-three of the 50 state attorneys general disapprove of President Ford's unconditional pardon of Richard M. Nixon, saying it was precipitous and establishes a double standard of justice. Seven attorneys general approve.

"This action repudiates the basic American belief that no man is above the law," said Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, a Democrat, in a statement echoed by many of his colleagues.

The Associated Press attempted to contact all 50 chief state legal officers for their views on the pardon Ford issued Sunday and what it means. Seven were unreachable. Of the 43 attorneys general who answered, 18 Democrats and five Republicans said they disapproved; six Republicans and one Democrat, approved; five declined to comment; and eight said they had mixed feelings.

The legal experts who disapproved of the pardon gave several basic reasons:

—It was ill-timed and Ford should have waited until Nixon was accused or convicted of something in the courts before he issued any pardon.

—The action sets a double standard of justice — one for the former president and another for everyone else.

—Pardoning Nixon raises questions about pending Watergate trials.

SHS Teacher Is Chosen For Honor

Mrs. Dorothy Rosson, Snyder High School English teacher, has been chosen an Outstanding Secondary Educator of America for 1974.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional services, achievements and leadership in the field of secondary education. Each year, the biographies of those honored are featured in the awards volume, "Outstanding Secondary Educators in America."

Those selected are now eligible to receive the Outstanding Secondary Educator of the Year Award trophy. Five $500 unrestricted grants will be awarded to the schools represented by America's five outstanding secondary educators. Distinguished judges, along with the board of advisors, will select the five individual secondary teachers to be honored. In this way, the program thanks the teacher and the school for contributions to the continuing excellence in American education.

Dr. V. Gilbert Beers, director of the Outstanding Secondary Educators of America program said, in announcing award winners, "The men and women chosen for this high honor have explored new paths, developed new insights and effectively communicated their knowledge to their students and colleagues. They are exceptional teachers."

Guidelines for selection include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

County Fair Is Near

By Ruby Butts
County Extension Agent

Scurry County Fair is coming close and we would like to remind you to bring your canned foods to the fair. Entries will be accepted at the Coliseum on Wednesday, September 25, from 1p.m till 9 p.m. You do not need to pre-register. Just bring your jars of food and other entries.

All canned foods should be in standard quart or pint jars. No fancy pack. Jelly should be in a standard jelly jar or glass.

All canned foods are to remain in place till Sunday, September 29 from 2:00 p.m. till 5:00 p.m.

Kerr jar Company will offer nine dozen wide mouth quart jars and three dozen half pints to the two best products in the fruit, vegetables, pickles and relishes, and jam and jellies packed in Kerr jars and sealed with Kerr lids. Foods canned in other standard jars are eligible for ribbons, but not for the Kerr awards of jars and canning books.

There sill be a senior division and also a junior division, so bring in your canned foods and win some ribbons, and maybe even some jars and canning books.

Due to the greatly increased demand for jars and lids, the companies manufacturing them have not been able to meet the demand. If you have not used the certificates you got last year they will still be good when the stores have jars again. But you will need to take them to the store when you see jars there, probably in the spring.

Here are the items listed in the fair catalog. If you have other food products you'd like to enter, bring them out to the coliseum on Wednesday, September 25, between 1 and 9 p.m.

Pickles and relishes class 1 Green tomato pickles, Class 2 Pickled cucumbers (sour), Class 3 Pickled cucumbers (sweet), Class 4 Dill Pickles, Class 5 Bread & Butter Pickles, Class 6 Pickled Beets, Class 7 Pickled Peaches, Class 8 Pickled Pears, Class 9 Chow chow, Class 10 Ripe tomato catsup, Class 11 Pepper relish, Class 12 Pickled peppers, Class 13 Pickled Okra, Class 14 Watermelon Pickles, Class 15 Vegetable relish, Class 16 Tomato relish, Class 17 Cucumber relish.

CANNED FRUIT— Class 1 Grapes, Class 2 Apples, Class 3 Pears, Class 4 Peaches, Class 5 Apricots, Class 6 Dewberries, Class 7 Plums, Class 8 Cherries.

PRESERVES AND JELLIES—Class 1 Pear Preserves, Class 2 Tomato Preserves, Class 3 Fig Preserves, Class 4 Watermelon Preserves, Class 5 Peach Preserves, Class 6 Strawberry Preserves, Class 7 Plum Jam, Class 8 Peach Jam, Class 9 Apple Jelly, Class 10 Plum Jelly, Class 11 Crab Apple Jelly, Class 12 Grape Jelly, Class 13 Peach Jelly, Class 14 Cherry Jelly, Class 15 Pear Butter, Class 16 Apple Butter, Class 17 Peach Butter, Class 18 Pear Honey.

CANNED VEGETABLES— Class 1 Green Beans, Class 2 Butter Beans, Class 3 Golden Wax Beans, Class 4 Green Shelled Beans, Class 5 Blackeyed Peas, Class 6 Tomato Juice, Class 7 Okra, Class 8 Corn, Class 9 Potatoes, Class 10 Squash, Class 11 Vegetable Gumbo, Class 12 Green Beans& Potatoes Mixed, Class 13 Tomatoes.

FASHIONS PRESENTED—Presenting these fashions from Glover's are Lois Paige and Gay Idom, who will model for the Newcomer's Style Show at the Scurry County Coliseum on Thursday, September 12 at 10 a.m. The show is free and everyone is urged to attend.

Snyderite Studies On Sea Campus

KAREN SEARS

Karen A. Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Sears, 3818 Highland Dr., Snyder, a senior, is currently enrolled in the World Campus Afloat program of Chapman College for the fall 1974 semester at sea.

Miss Sears among 550 college students representing 200 colleges and universities on World Campus Afloat. The study-voyage departed Sept. 4, from Los Angeles, Cal. for ports in Peru, Chile, Argentina. Brazil, Senegal, Morocco, Turkey, Greece, Italy, and Spain, terminating Dec. 23 in Port Everglades, Florida.

Students carry a regular semester's units and attend classes at sea between ports on the shipboard campus which is equipped with the classrooms, laboratories, library, studio, theater, bookstore and offices necessary to the educational program offered. Campus for the program is the 18,000-gross-ton S.S. Universe Campus, operated for the college by Orient Overseas Line.

Ashore the academic program continues with lectures, research projects, and field trips directly related to course work. Overnight homestays with families often are arranged, as are social events with local university students.

Now in its ninth year, World Campus Afloat has completed consecutive semesters of its unique program in international higher education. Chapman College is one of California's oldest liberal arts institutions, located in Orange, California.

Consequences Of Capital Shortage Incalculable

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans aren't saving enough to finance the nation's future and the consequences could be absolutely appalling, "literally incalculable," according to the findings of a study just released.

It could lead to further urban congestion and decay, say the researchers who put the study together. It could mean failures of small-and medium-size businesses, the encouragement of industrial oligarchy, and more power shortages.

The dismal tale gets grimmer. It could very well mean that ecological and environmental programs will be aborted for lack of funds. It could mean high unemployment. It might mean chronically depressed stock prices.

Millions of Americans dependent upon private pension plans might find their resources drained away. Health and educational services might have to be curtailed. Living standards might fall.

These, says the New York Stock Exchange, are some of the implications of a developing capital shortage, a shortage that already is forcing business to curtail expansion.

In fact, all these consequences are to some extent already with us.

"A capital shortage is no longer merely a threat for the future but a fact of the present," said James J. Needham, chairman of the Big Board, where prices of stocks are at their lowest in four years.

This is how the situation stacks up between now and 1985, say the economists and researchers at the exchange:

Sources of funds: business savings, $2.923 trillion, personal savings, $1.109 trillion, for a total capital resource of $4.032 trillion.

Uses of funds: gross private domestic investment, consisting mainly of spending for industrial plant and equipment, and residential construction, $4.503 trillion; federal deficit financing, $42 billion; state and local government financing, $30 billion; federal credit agency borrowing, $103 billion.

A quick calculation shows a need for $4.678 trillion of capital and a likely availability, under present attitudes and laws, of only $4.032 trillion, or a shortage of $646 billion. And that's conservative, the exchange maintains.

The detailed report, which was the basis of a speech Needham prepared Monday for the Economic Club of Detroit, is the big gun in an exchange offensive to defeat the capital shortage problem.

As Needham said in his prepared remarks, "We have become literally obsessed by the need for identifying the scope and implications of this problem before it becomes too late to do anything about it."

Junior Editors' Quiz on WILD MUSTANGS

QUESTION: Where did the wild mustang originate?

* * *

ANSWER: The mustang was a small semi-wild horse of the western United States and Mexico. It descended from the Spanish horses brought into the New World by Cortez and the other Spanish conquerors.

The Spanish horses were the first horses to be seen on the mainland of the New World for hundreds of thousands of years. They were horses of European and Arabian stock. Many of these horses escaped from the Spaniards and roamed the plains. They were small and swift and hardy horses, adapted to living under rugged conditions. These wild horses were called mustangs, from the Spanish mestengo, meaning stranger. The Indians recognized the value of these horses and learned how to capture and tame them. The Cayuse Indians of Oregon and Washington became famous breeders of mustangs. The hunting of buffalo was more successful with the use of mustangs, and cowboys and cavalrymen preferred the mustang for use on the Plains.

People's Lobby Eyes Consititution

By EVANS WITT
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Buoyed by its successful drive for a strict California campaign reform law, the People's Lobby is now talking about amending the U.S. Constitution so citizens can propose laws through petitions.

Joyce Koupal, director of the Los Angeles-based activist organization formed in 1968, says an office is being opened in Washington, D.C., to contact congressmen and to coordinate efforts in other states.

"What this means is that we want to put the initiative (petition) process and the vote of confidence process into the Constitution," she said. "We want to make potential presidential candidates understand it could be an exciting solution they could offer.

"We can successfully put this into the presidential campaign," said Mrs. Koupal, whose husband is the group's executive director. "We will put a president into the White House on this issue."

The initiative petition long has been used as a tool for the citizens to propose legislation or amendments to the state constitution

To make the ballot, a proposed constitutional amendment requires the signatures of 8 per cent of the number of voters casting ballots in the last election for governor or 520,806 until after this November. An initiative drive to put a new law into the statutes takes 5 per cent of the last gubernatorial vote, 325,504.

The legislature also can put proposed constitutional amendments to the voters by a two-thirds vote of each house.

The controversial campaign reform measure was Proposition 9 on the June 4 ballot in California and passed by more than 2 to 1. It imposes campaign spending limits, restricts lobbying activities and sets up a commission to oversee campaign practices.

"Keep controversy at a minimum — never debate" and "Your organization does not have to be visible to be effective" are two pieces of the advice the People's Lobby gives other groups in a recently published booklet.

"Debate only gives a platform to your opposition and causes confusion in the minds of people who are listening," Mrs. Koupal said. "If people are confused, they tend to vote no. Of course, with a candidate, It's different."

Asked if people should be kept ignorant of the issues so they will vote blindly for an initiative, Mrs. Koupal said:

"That's the way the professionals do it and we studied the professionals. That's the way we win right now. As initiatives are used more and more and the educational process gets going so that people aren't fooled by a slick public relations firm, that won't hold water. That's what we're waiting for.

"We're winning because we're not stupid."

She also said work with persons who influence community opinion is more important than sending out press releases.

Vikings Favored In NFC Central

By BERT ROSNTHAL
AP Sports Writer

The National Football Conference's Central Division has been known as the "Black and Blue" Division. A more appropriate name would be "Purple and White," the colors of the Minnesota Vikings.

Since the merger of the National and American Football Leagues in 1970 and the formation of the NFC, the Vikings have won three of the four division titles. Prior to that, they won two straight division championships, giving them five titles in the last six years.

This season, they should continue that domination, with the Green Bay Packers second, the Detroit Lions third and the Chicago Bears fourth.

Last season, the Vikings went about as far as they could go without winning the Super Bowl. They beat Washington 27-20 in the opening round of the playoffs and captured the NFC championship with a 27-10 victory over Dallas before losing to Miami 24-7 in Super Bowl VIII.

It was the second time they had failed miserably in the Super Bowl. In Super Bowl IV, they were upset by Kansas City 23-7.

In other years, they met disappointment even earlier, being bumped from the playoffs before reaching the Super Bowl.

Whatever has been lacking in the Vikings to make them NFL champions, Coach Bud Grant hopes to rectify this season.

Minnesota Vikings

"We're going into the 1974 season with the same formula as a year ago," says Grant. "We hope we're as successful and get back into the Super Bowl."

The Vikings' formula includes an offense considered one of the most varied and unpredictable in the league and a rock-ribbed defense dubbed "The Purple Gang."

Fran Tarkenton, one of the game's all-time leading passers — and scramblers — but never a winner until last season, is the guiding force of the offense. His daring, darting tactics continually keep opposing defenses on edge. "I think he's the best quarterback in football," says Grant.

That evaluation is open for argument, but there was no room for argument about the league's offensive rookie of the year last season. He was the Vikings' slithery running back, Chuck Foreman.

Foreman, also a sure-handed receiver coming out of the backfield, will have young Ed Marinaro and Brent McClanahan, plus veterans Oscar Reed, Bill Brown and Dave Osborn as running mates.

Elusive John Gilliam heads the receiving corps, and the offensive line is first-rate with tackles Ron Yary and Grady Alderman, guards Ed White and Milt Sunde, and center Mick Tingelhoff.

The defensive front four is experienced and tough. It includes Alan Page, Carl Eller, Jim Marshall and Gary Larsen. Rapidly improving Jeff Siemon is a fine roving middle linebacker and is flanked by knowledgeable Roy Winston and Wally Hilgenberg. Safety Paul Krause and cornerback Bobby Bryant are the cornerstones of the defensive backfield.

Green Bay Packers

The Packers' tumble from a 1972 divisional championship to a dismal 5-7-2 finish last year triggered reports of dissatisfaction with Coach Dan Devine in Green Bay. The Packers probably will need a winning record to preserve Devine's job.

They could do it ... if Jerry Tagge becomes a leader at quarterback. Tagge, who shared the job last season with Jim Del Gaizo and the now departed Scott Hunter, now has been installed as the starter, and his performance — particularly his passing effectiveness — will greatly determine the Packers' fortunes this season.

If Tagge is able to hit his receivers regularly, it will give greater impetus to the running game, led by bulldozers John Brockington and MacArthur Lane. Rookie Barty Smith, a blockbuster, should provide added running strength.

Jon Staggers, Rich McGeorge and Barry Smith likely will be Tagge's favorite receivers.

Defensively, the front four has much muscle, with Aaron Brown and Mike McCoy the most muscular. Fred Carr and Ted Hendricks, acquired from Baltimore, are proven linebackers, and Ken Ellis and Willie Buchanon, who missed eight games last season because of a broken leg, are first-class defensive backs.

Detroit Lions

Stunned by the death of Coach Don McCafferty on July 28, the Lions are trying to regroup under self-disciplined Rick Forzano, the man given the job of trying to coach a troubled team.

Forzano, the choice of owner William Clay Ford to replace McCafferty, has attempted to gain more authority in running the club. In the past, many important decisions concerning personnel were made by the front office.

"I have some thoughts about how to improve the team," said Forzano about the Lions, who were a disappointing 6-7-1 last season and were verbally chastised by Ford. "I think the team can be improved offensively. We didn't have the total concentration we should have had last year."

Greg Landry again is the quarterback, with Bill Munson in reserve. Steve Owens and Altie Taylor form a formidable inside-outside running combination. Ron Jessie is a standout wide receiver and Charlie Sanders is regarded as one of the best tight ends in the game.

The offensive line, anchored by center Ed Flanagan, is experienced, as is the entire defense, headed by linemen Herb Orvis and Larry Hand and cornerback Lem Barney. However, middle linebacker Mike Lucci, who retired, will be sorely missed.

Chicago Bears

Like the Lions, the Bears were a troubled team last season, finishing with a dismal 3-11 record. Prospects for improvment are dim.

No longer do the Bears have their inspirational leader, Dick Butkus, one of the greatest middle linebackers in the game's history. Butkus, after persistent leg and knee injuries that limited his play and performances in recent years, finally retired and then sued the Bears for $1.6 million.

U.S. CAGERS BEAT SOVIETS

By BOB CULLEN
Associated Press Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — If Alexander Belov never sees another American basketball official, it may be too soon.

The husky blonde from Leningrad led his team to the brink of victory over the United States Monday night only to have his frustration with the officials get the better of him.

He threw the ball at the ceiling with 57 seconds left, earning a technical foul. It was his fifth infraction of the night, and it forced him to sit on the bench and watch the American collegians hang on for a 67-66 victory.

It was the fourth win in five games for the Americans. The six-game tour ends in Largo, Md., tonight.

Belov was the leader as the Soviets whittled away a seven-point American lead in the second half.

The Russians say he is 6-foot-6 and weighs 209 pounds. He looks bigger. He has deft inside moves; he rebounds, and he brought the ball up court against the Americans.

A Belov lay-up with two minutes left gave the Soviets their final lead at 65-63. Then David Thomspon tied the score for the Americans with a pair of free throws.

Thirty seconds later Belov stole the ball from American Phil Spence and was about to shoot a lay-up when the whistle blew. The two American officials said Yuri Pavlov was pushing against Thompson.

Belov blew up and whipped the ball toward the Greensboro Coliseum ceiling. Referee Irv Brown was making the "T" sign before the ball hit the ground. The call sent everyone scurrying for the international rule books.

While the teams waited on their benches, it was decided that Belov was out of the game with five fouls, but Thompson would shoot only the two free throws coming to him under international rules for Pavlov's foul.

Thompson sunk both, to give the Americans their final points. Pavlov managed a free throw with 34 seconds left but missed the second which might have tied the game.

Thompson was the game's high scorer with 24 points. Belov had 20.

In the locker room afterward, Belov was still fuming. Asked if he spoke English, he replied "No."

Teammate Ivan Yedeshko spoke a little. Using all his diplomacy, he said he thought the officials did a good job. But, he added, they shouldn't have called that foul on Pavlov. "Everyone makes mistakes," he said.

Indians Move Up

CINCINNATI (AP) — Five players from the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association were scheduled to report to the Cincinnati Reds today prior to the game with the San Diego Padres.

The Reds recalled outfielder Ed Armbrister, who batted .290, and pitchers Pat Darcy and Rawly Eastwick.

Also reporting are third baseman Ray Knight and first baseman-outfielder Roger Freed.

Darcy came to the Reds from Houston in February in a trade for third baseman Dennis Menke. Freed was obtained from Cleveland for pitcher Steve Blateric.

Cavaliers Name New Trainer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers named Charlie Strasser, a minor league baseball trainer, to fill their trainer vacancy Monday.

Ron Culp had left the Cavaliers to accept the trainer position with the Portland Trail Blazers, another National Basketball Association team.

Strasser, a 24-year-old native of Buffalo, N.Y., started his career with the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball organization in 1972. He spent this season working with the Dodgers' franchise in Waterbury, Conn.

Football Ticket Policy Announced

With the change into UIL District 3-AAA this year, the prices for Snyder High School football tickets have also changed. Season tickets for five home games are now $10 and sale of season tickets close at 4 p.m., Friday, Sept. 13.

Adult tickets for single games bought pre-game or at the gate are $2.50; student tickets purchased at school are 75 cents but at the gate are $1.25; college students may buy tickets for $1.25 if they show ID cards.

Student tickets for 75 cents for out-of-town-games will be sold only at the high school office and at the Business Office in the Administration Building. These sales terminate at 1 p.m. on the day of the out-of town-games. Student tickets for 75 cents will be available at each of the schools for home games. These sales will also end at 1 p.m. on Friday of the game.

There will be no pre-game sales of college student tickets; and at home games, these tickets will be sold only at the northeast ticket booth. These tickets will be honored for seating in the east stands only-Section 6.

All ticket sales at the game will be at the north gates only. The south gates will not be open for sales or entry. Ticket holders may also use the west gate to enter the stadium.

Season ticket purchasers who have not yet picked up their tickets at the business office are urged to do so before 4 p.m. closing time on Friday of this week.

Since the south gates will not be in use and since parking south of the stadium is practically non-existent because of construction work, school officials suggest that fans use the parking facilities at the Administration Building and at Colonial Hill Baptist Church for all games at Tiger Stadium.

Notre Dame Rips Engineers, 31-7

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Ara Parseghian called it "a test for us to see how much damage was done through all our losses."

His Notre Dame team, reeling from the loss of eight potential starters, survived the test Monday night with a 31-7 nationally televised football victory over Georgia Tech, but lost two more front line players in the process.

Running back Art Best was sidelined with a broken jaw and linebacker Sherman Smith left with torn ligaments in his left knee as problems continued to mount for the defending national collegiate champions.

Despite it all, Parseghian said, "I think we're going to be a pretty solid team. We'll get better as the season progresses."

The Irish, ranked No. 3 in The Associated Press preseason poll, were forced into a comeback role when Tech methodically marched 68 yards to score after the opening kickoff.

Notre Dame cashed in a fumble recovery at the 14 for the tying touchdown, went ahead on freshman Dave Reeve's 22-yard field goal and established control with a goal line stand that closed the door on Tech's last chance to regain the lead.

Tom Clements, a brilliant quarterback, then picked apart Tech's secondary with six pass completions for 83 yards in a drive that produced a touchdown in the final minute of the half for a 17-7 Irish lead.

Notre Dame spoiled the coaching debut of Pepper Rodgers, who left UCLA last year to return to Tech, where he once played quarterback.

Rodgers had said earlier that Tech "didn't build its football reputation by beating Notre Dame." He said Monday night, "They're too good for us. I didn't schedule them. I never would have."

After Tech's 7-0 lead on an eight-yard scoring pass from Rudy Allen to Jimmy Robinson, Notre Dame drew even when Wayne Bullock slashed over from the two following a fumble recovery at the Jacket 14.

The Irish jumped ahead 10-7 on Reeve's field goal eight seconds after the second period began, and got the padded lead they needed on Clements' seven-yard scoring toss to Pete Demmerle late in the half.

Bullock got another touchdown on a one-yard plunge following a fumble recovery at Tech's 22 and Al Samuel capped an 80-yard fourth period march with an eight-yard scoring run.

Chiefs Trade Wide Receiver

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Robert West, 6-foot-4, 218-pound wide receiver from San Diego State, has been traded to the San Francisco 49ers for a future undisclosed draft choice by Kansas City, the Chiefs announced Monday night.

West, a three-year veteran of the National Football League team, played in eight games last season, catching four passes for 65 yards.

He filled in for wide receiver Elmo Wright in 1972, hauling in nine passes for 165 yards and two touchdowns.

Booster Club Meets Tonight

The Tiger Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the West Elementary Cafeteria, according to an announcement by Milton Ham, president.

Ham said members and guests will see films of last Friday night's victory at Monhans and hear scouting reports on Midland Lee, this week's opponent.

Also, the Club will elect a new secretary for the 1974 season.

Anyone interested in supporting the athletic program at Snyder High School is invited to attend. The Club is currently holding its annual membership drive.

Kids Can't Run Loose

Elementary students and parents are asked to abide by the regulations established for football games at Travis Field which state that elementary students will not be admitted unless they are accompanied by an adult.

For the safety of the children and to improve the spectators role at these games, school officials also suggest that elementary children sit with their parents during the game.

Freshman John Harris of Lubbock Christian of Texas hit 19 home runs last spring. The feat was matched by Darryl Woods of Northwestern of Louisiana.

Connors, King Unseat Australian Net Stars

By KAROL STONGER
AP Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jimmy Connors and Billie Jean King took entirely different routes to the winner's circle in wresting U.S. Open tennis championships from Australian players.

"It was the best tennis I've ever played in my life ... I did everything well. I think that's what it takes to beat Ken Rosewall," said Connors.

"I really thought Evonne was going to win there for a while. Until the last point, to be exact." said Ms. King.

Connors whipped the two-time Open winner from Australia, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1 Monday in the most lopsided men's final in the 93-year history of the grass court classic. Ms. King won her fourth trophy in an erratic comeback over Australian Evonne Goolagong, 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The victories were worth $22,500 apiece and marked the first sweep by Americans since Stan Smith and Ms. King won in 1971.

Australians John Newcombe and Margaret Court took the titles last year. Newcombe bowed to Rosewall in the semi-finals Sunday, and Mrs. Court remained in Australia to await the birth of her second child.

Connors, the 22-year-old left-hander, said he started the day so eager that it scared him.

"I was so high," he said, "that at one point I was afraid I'd come down. I tried to stay calm. I could feel my heart beating in my shirt."

Rosewall, at 39, is recognized as the classic player in the game, but Connors established himself as the current king of tennis. He won 11 straight games and took only one hour, eight minutes to win his third major title of the year and increase his season earnings to nearly $200,000.

Miss Goolagong, who at 23 was seeking her first U.S. Open crown, had turned back a determined top-seeded Chris Evert in a resumed semifinal match. But she was not so fortunate against the seasoned 30-year-old Ms. King.

"I wasn't sure I was going to play well after yesterday's match," Miss Goolagong said. "I was afraid it would be a big letdown, but I knew I was playing against an experienced player."

"I was in a daze out there during the last set," said Ms. King. "I was really lucky. I just said 'stay in there.'"

She did and won the match game at love.

"That is why I can't understand why people call her the old lady," said Evonne. "She certainly doesn't play like it."

Revolt Collapses In Mozambique

By The Associated Press

Police stormed a white settlers' rebel stronghold at the radio station in Lourenco Marques, the capital of Mozambique, today and government spokesmen announced a three-day attempt to seize power in the Portuguese southeast African colony was over.

The whereabouts of the rebel leaders was not immediately known. They had threatened to proclaim a "free Mozambique" in defiance of an agreement between Portugal and the black guerrilla movement, Frelimo, to give Mozambique independence next June. The government spokesman said the radio station was the only "active center of resistance" and once it had been occupied the revolt quickly collapsed.

The radio broadcast appeals to the white crowds in the streets to disperse and return to their homes. Earlier, the government said it had agreed to a 48-hour truce with the white rebels after meetings with two envoys from the Lisbon government. There was no indication how the "truce" was broken but government sources said the rebel movement "disintegrated" without violence.

President Antonio de Spinola signed documents in a ceremony in Lisbon today at the Belem presidential palace formally recognizing the independence of Guinea Bissau, the first of Portugal's African territories to achieve complete sovereignty.

The ceremony, broadcast by Portuguese radio and television networks, brought to an end 530 years of Portuguese colonial rule in the swampy territory near the tip of the West African bulge.

The Portuguese army fought a 12-year war against a well-organized guerrilla movement which overran two-thirds of the colony. Following secret negotiations in London and Algiers, an independence agreement was signed in Algiers on Aug. 26 granting Portuguese Guinea independence but providing for extensive economic, technical and cultural cooperation between Portugal and the new state.

Turkey Race Set Saturday

CUERO, Tex. (AP) — If Jimmy the Greek were setting odds on this Saturday's first leg of the Second Annual Great Gobbler Gallop, he would have to go with Ruby Begonia II on breeding alone.

You see, Ruby's mother won the Traveling Turkey Trophy of Tumultuous Triumph last year.

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe Monday bet Minnesota Gov. Wendell R. Anderson a smoked turkey that Ruby II could defeat Minnesota's fleetfooted fowl, Paycheck.

Ruby II and Paycheck will enter the starting gates this Saturday in Worthington, Minn. The Thanksgiving specials will square off for a second heat Sept. 29 in Cuero, the alleged turkey capital of Texas.

The winner of the turkey trophy will be the bird with fastest overall time for the two races.

"I followed the turkey race last year when Ruby Begonia won the trophy for Cuero and I'm certain Ruby Begonia II will keep that trophy for Cuero and I'm certain Ruby Begonia II will keep the trophy in Texas for another year," Briscoe said.

"Knowing Texas gobblers are far superior to Minnesota turkeys, I don't see how Ruby Begonia II can lose." The Texas governor added.

Since neither governor has identified the future smoked turkey, Paycheck and Ruby II may be running as if their lives depended on it.

The event is sponsored by the Cuero Daily Record and the Worthington Daily Globe.

Spanish Words Are Traced

By ROBERT LOCKE
Associated Press Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The term "chicano" survived nearly five centuries in obscure corners of the Spanish language before becoming a symbol of pride for young Spanish-Americans, says a college professor.

"The word has been with us since the time of the Conquest of Mexico in the early 1500's," said Dr. Sabine Ulibarri, chairman of the University of New Mexico's department of modern and classical languages.

"It was never used very much because it had a sort of derogatory tinge to it," he said in an interview.

Ulibarri said the word, derived from the same Indian tribe that gave Mexico its name, the Mexicas, has been adopted by a generation of Spanish-surnamed Americans seeking a word that reflected their heritage and a new sense of nationalism.

"The Chicanos learned something from the blacks," said Ulibarri, a native of the predominantly Spanish village of Tierra Amarilla in northern New Mexico. "The blacks took the characteristic they were most criticized for having—their color—and turned it into a source of pride.

"The Chicanos did the same thing. They took a derogatory word from their own language and said, 'Chicano is beautiful.'

"In a sense, it's a fitting word. Most older-generation Spanish people in New Mexico refuse to buy that term. They prefer to be Hispanos or Spanish-Americans."

Ulibarri said the term originated with the Mexicas Indians who were found "by the Spanish when they entered the valley of Mexico. At the time the letter 'x' in the Spanish language had an 'sh' sound, so the word was pronounced Meshicas.

"The Indians called their place Mexico, so the Spaniards, in a very Spanish way, called them Mexicanos (pronounced Meshicanos)."

Over the centuries, he said, "x" was dropped from the language and the "sh" sound disappeared.

Uiibarri said, "It became very difficult for Spanish-speakers to pronounce the 'sh' sound. They often pronounce shopping as 'chopping.' So Mexicano became Mechicano in pronunciation.

"Eventually, the first syllable was dropped and it became Chicano."

TerHorst Misled By Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential Press Secretary Jerald F. terHorst says he was misled by other White House officials about Richard M. Nixon's pardon. But he insists that the misinformation was not the basic reason for his resignation.

TerHorst said Monday that he would have resigned in any event because he disagreed with President Ford's decision to pardon former President Nixon of any federal crime he may have committed while chief executive.

"It was something which my conscience wouldn't accept," said terHorst, who will return to work for the Detroit News as a columnist.

TerHorst wasn't informed of Ford's decision on Nixon until Saturday. Before then, he unknowingly misled reporters concerned with the story.

David Kraslow, Washington bureau chief for Cox Newspapers, said he stopped working on a story about discussions between the White House and Nixon over a possible pardon when terHorst assured him Friday it was not true.

Kraslow said he received a call from terHorst shortly before the pardon was announced on Sunday. "I'm sorry, Dave. If I had known on Friday what I know now I would not have guided you away from that story," Kraslow quoted terHorst as saying.

Kraslow also quoted a friend of the former press secretary as saying there were other reasons for the resignation, that terHorst "was put in a position where he was about to become another Ron Ziegler, that he had been forced to make statements to the press that were misleading." Ziegler was Nixon's press secretary.

TerHorst, however, said he could not recall that.

MOVING DAY AT MUSEUM—Saturday was moving day for the Scurry Museum, with items temporarily displayed in the Learning Resource Building at Western Texas College being moved to the new museum building. Here, David Redwine and Ernest Sears pause with the mounted buffalo head which has been part of the Indian and buffalo days display.

TRUCK GOES INSIDE—One of the advantages of the new Scurry County Museum building is that vehicles can be driven inside to be unloaded. Here, Mrs. Drew Bullard, Doug Harmon and Mrs. Danny Lunsford are finishing unloading a pickup truck in the building. A freight elevator here can take materials to the basement storage and work areas and then return them to the main floor when they are ready for display.

SADDLE LOADED—Danny Redwine and Mrs. Drew Bullard add a saddle to a load being placed on a truck moving displays into the new Scurry County Museum building.

DAY'S WORK DONE—The volunteer crew which moved museum displays into the new building stopped to survey the room when their day's work was finished. Seated is Ernest Sears, president of Scurry County Museum Association, and standing from left, are Mrs. H.P. Redwine, Mrs. Danny Lunsford, Doug Harmon, Mrs. Drew Bullard and Drew Bullard. Work will begin soon on reassembling displays and adding others. It will be some time, however, before exhibits will be ready for public viewing.

MUSCLE POWER REQUIRED—Museum display materials made an untidy jumble as they were piled outside the WTC Learning Resource Center in the bright September sunlight during the move into the new museum building. Since the LRC does not have an adjacent parking lot, the volunteers doing the moving used muscle power to carry the items to pickup trucks in the dormitory parking lot.

Crop Losses May Up Sugar Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sugar cane losses inflicted by Hurricane Carmen may further increase record-high consumer sugar prices, government experts say.

The Department of Agriculture has launched a special survey of crop damage in Louisiana, which bore the brunt of the storm. Initial loss estimates ranged up to 75 per cent of the crop.

Don Paarlberg, the department's director of economics, said the storm losses could produce a substantial further impact on sugar prices, depending on the extent of the damage. Sugar prices already have soared this year because production has not kept pace with world demand.

A five-pound bag of sugar that cost American shoppers 85 cents last January costs around $2 today.

Although the Louisiana and Florida cane-growing area had been expected to produce less than 1.8 million tons of the 12.5 million tons of raw sugar needed by U.S. refineries this year, an expected decline in sugar production from beet sources magnifies the importance of the cane-growing region hit by the hurricane.

Last month the department estimated sugar cane production for the year would increase four per cent, while, at the same time, beet production was expected to drop eight per cent.

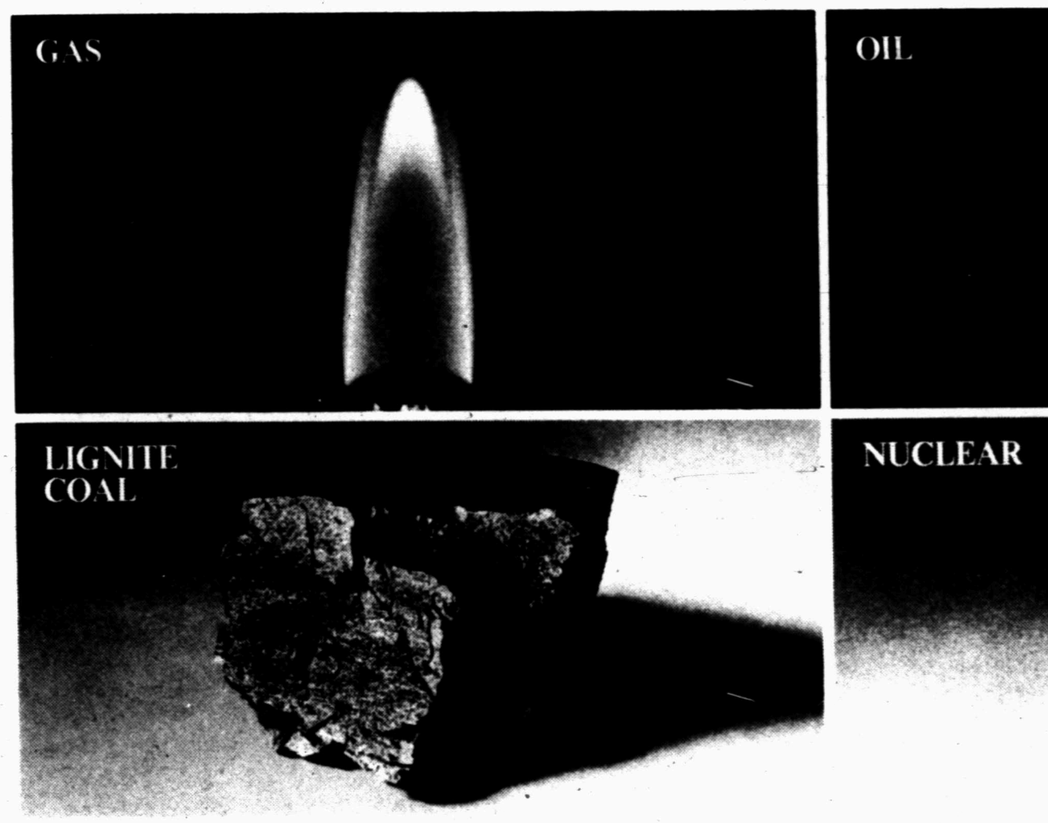

Thus, the Louisiana losses would reduce the expected rise in cane production, causing prices to rise further and providing the opponents of sugar import quotas with further arguments to suspend the restrictions.

The possibility of quota suspension was raised several weeks ago by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, and the Louisiana storm may speed a decision on whether to open the U.S. door to more foreign sugar.

Self-actualization is one of the basic human needs, says Mrs. Jane Fleischer Moss, family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. She defines it as the need to become the most effective person one can, using the potentialities he has.

Hearings Begin On Textbooks

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette begins hearing three days of protests and replies today on textbooks proposed for adoption by the State Board of Education.

Thirteen individuals and groups are slated to make 484 separate objections to material in the textbooks.

Publishers representatives are allowed equal time to respond to criticism.

Brockette will make recommendations to the board's textbook committee, which in turn will make recommendations to the full board.

We're building power plants that use different fuels so you'll continue having the electricity you need.

Natural gas is the major fuel we use in our generating plants, and will be for several years. Oil is used on a standby basis.

But new supplies of these fuels are extremely difficult to obtain and increasingly expensive. To reduce our dependence on them, we've begun using lignite coal. We now have one lignite plant in operation, and two others under construction.

We have adequate supplies of lignite for the operating life of these plants and for some additional planned units. Even so, we will need another dependable fuel source for the future. That's why we're planning to have a nuclear-fueled plant in operation by 1980.

The use of lignite and nuclear fuels is necessary to provide enough electricity in the years ahead. Supplies of these fuels are more abundant and neither is being used extensively for any purpose other than the generation of electricity.

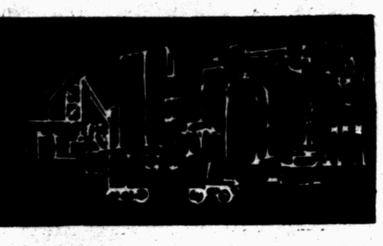

But building plants that use these fuels is a difficult and expensive job. Lignite and nuclear plants cost much more to build than gas/oil plants. While this means electricity will have to cost more in the future, the cost won't be as much with lignite and nuclear fuels as it would be with natural gas and oil, even if adequate new supplies were available.

We're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

QUASAR TELEVISIONS—H.D. Strickland and his daughter, Vickie, display a new 1975 model Quasar. They added 10 new models last week at Strickland's TV Service. The shop is located at 2413 College Avenue. For TV service, call 573-6942.

Strickland's Offers A Complete Service Center For Televisions

Strickland's T.V. Service, 2413 College Avenue, provides a complete service center with all the latest equipment to work on your television sets. Strickland makes service calls to all parts of town, and he works on all brands of television sets.

Strickland's T.V. Service sells the Quasar television sets. H.D. Strickland, the owner, said, "I have serviced all brands of televisions on the market and I believe the Quasar is by far the most reliable and easiest to service." Replacement panel boards are less costly to replace in event of service.

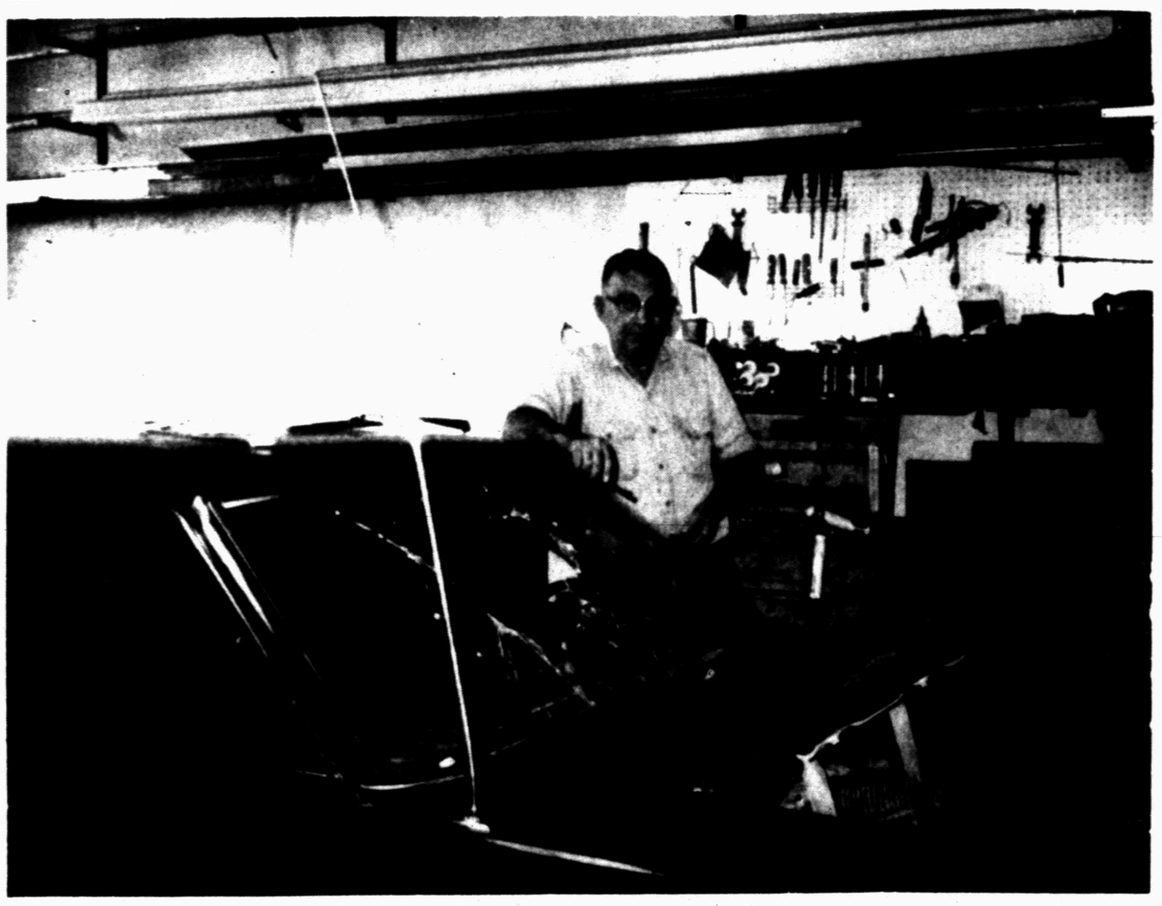

Strickland pointed out that Quasar stands behind its product with a one year in home guarantee on parts and labor and two years' guarantee on picture tubes on all console models. The portable models have a 90-day carry-in service on labor with a year guarantee on parts and two years on picture tubes.

Quasar has solid state benefits plus simplicity of service. Quasar has the instamatic one-button color tuning system that controls the critical factors that make up a color picture: hue, contrast, intensity, brightness and automatic fine tuning. The instamatic control keeps the color constant automatically when changing channels or when the signal varies. This is a feature that is on all of Quasar's television sets.

Strickland said everyone is welcome to come in and see the new 1975 models.

"We added about 10 new models last week, so if you came once and didn't see what you wanted, come again," he suggested.

Now that the new fall shows are here (and ball games, too); it's time to repair your old set, trade it for a new one, or add an extra TV to your household. Strickland's also have a good selection of used 19-inch black and white portables for only $55.

GLASS SPECIALIST— Benerd Gleastine, an employe at Snyder Glass & Mirror, has been installing auto glass here for the past 23 years. Repairing big holes in windshields is just a routine job with him.

Snyder Glass And Mirror, Inc., Provides Many Services In Area

Snyder Glass & Mirror, Inc., 1906 Thirty-third Street, is auto glass distributor for Carlite, LOF, and Pittsburgh. Roy Bailey, owner, says the firm has latest model windshields in stock and has overnight service on any they don't have in stock.

"We also have been busy installing safety glass in boats and camper trailers," he pointed out.

With winter almost here, Bailey says now is the time to get your orders in for your storm windows and storm doors to help conserve heat. Also, you may have been thinking about a carport to protect your car from the winter weather. Come by and Bailey will give you a free estimate on any size of carport.

If you're a businessman, perhaps you've been thinking of a new store front or maybe just a new store door. Bailey says come by and he will figure with you. Snyder Glass and Mirror's beautiful porcelain panels, aggregate panels, or colored metal really dress up a business.

Marble dressing table tops, marble bath tubs and marble panels have been a very good seller. And, Snyder Glass & Mirror has many colors to choose from. The firm has one day service on all formica and have several patterns in stock.

"If you need something for your car, truck, home or business, call for come by," said Bailey, "—If we don't have it, we probably can get it for you."

Employes at Snyder Glass & Mirror include Benerd Gleastine, who has been installing auto glass for the past 23 years; and office employes Sallie Bailey, Sue Harper, and partime, Trissa Bailey. Storefront men are Glenn Clarady, who is foreman, and Gus Tovar, and part time, E.B. Dennis. Glazers are Mike McCormack and Daryl Meador.

Franco Returns

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco has returned to Madrid from Santiago de Compostela, ending a 24-day summer holiday.

The 81-year-old chief of state is scheduled to preside at a meeting of his cabinet next Friday.
