Government 'Exiled'

'Martial Law' Called In Test

EMERGENCY U.S. NEWS CENTER —UP— President Eisenhower, leading a government exiled to the countryside by a mock atomic blitz, Thursday declared a mock state of martial law across the nation.

After conferences Wednesday night with top officials on the paper war in the "Operation Alert" civil defense exercise, Mr. Eisenhower decided that mounting "casualties" in the millions made it "essential" that the armed services police the nation.

The theoretical martial law would be in effect until congress could come into session and the government could pull the country back on its feet from a simulated enemy attack with nuclear bombs from coast to coast.

Tackle Relief Problems

Meanwhile, from 31 scattered secret sites, top government officials tackled such problems as relief for the "stricken" cities, and restoration of communications, transportation and industrial production in the wake of the mock attack.

At 6 a.m. est Thursday, this center placed the imaginary casualty figures at 7,636,000 "dead," and 5,002,000 "injured" in the simulated attacks on 61 cities across the nation.

The Civil Defense said 10 million "dead" was its conservative estimate of those who would have died had the populace been trapped in all of the target cities.

Talks to Security Council

Mr. Eisenhower, who spent the night at a rock-ribbed mountain hideaway heavily guarded by troops, summoned members of the National Security Council to met with him Thursday morning to survey the imaginary "damage" — and perhaps to take up some real problems of government.

While the "casualties" and "mobilization problems" existed only on paper, the President and the 15,000 key officials who fled with him from Washington Wednesday were treating them with dead seriousness. And there was nothing imaginary about the highly dramatic circumstances under which the federal government was functioning.

Thursday's Security Council meeting, for example, was set in an underground military headquarters some miles away from the President's own overnight quarters.

Oklahoma City Hit By Rain, 107-mph Wind

OKLAHOMA CITY —UP— A torrential rainstorm with winds officially clocked at 107 miles per hour swept across Oklahoma City early Thursday, knocking out power to thousands of homes, flooding hundreds of automobiles and forcing several families to flee their homes.

Police and fire department spokesmen said no one was believed injured, but Fire Chief G. R. Mc' Alpine said damage would run into "thousands of dollars."

Severe lightning knocked out power at Will Rogers municipal airport, and all telephone and electrical circuits to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

3.53 Inches in 20 Minutes

Weather Bureau Chief John Hamilton said 3.53 inches of rain fell in 20 minutes before power went out. The storm hit at about midnight.

Water flooded the driveway parking area at the airport, and a spokesman there said it reached "headlight level" on about 50 automobiles, many of which had been parked by air travelers while they were out of town. Water rolled through the doors on another 40 to 50 automobiles.

Firemen and police were out from midnight until dawn with boats to assist in evacuation and rescue.

Many Families Leave Homes

McAlpine said dozens of families left their homes in water up to waist deep.

The water receded in a few hours and most were able to move back in by 6 a. m.

The highway patrol said Oklahoma City apparently was the worst hit in a band of thunderstorms that moved across the state during the day. Several tornado funnnels were spotted in the northwest in the Arnett-Shattuck area, but no injuries were reported. However, damage was heavy to farm outbuildings.

The table was covered with a cloth and Hope could not see that it was glass. It broke under his weight and he fell through.

Vatican Expels Peron

Action Follows Attack On Church

VATICAN CITY -- UP -- The Vatican Thursday formally excommunicated Argentine President Juan D. Perón and all others connected with the arrest and deportation of two high Roman Catholic Church dignitaries.

The formal excommunication decree was signed by Adeodato Giovanni Cardinal Piazza, secretary of the Sacred Consistorial Congregation.

It was published in the Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano.

The congregation drafted its decree without awaiting the first-hand testimony of the expelled prelates, Msgr. Manuel Tato and Ramon Carlos Novoa.

They are scheduled to arrive in Rome aboard a government operated Argentine airlines plane at about midnight (4 p.m. cst) Thursday. The Vatican's official decree excommunicated all those connected in any way with the arrest and deportation of the two prelates. It said:

"Be they (excommunicated), those of all type and rank, who gave the orders, be they the necessary accomplices, be they those who induced the accomplishment of the crimes which would not have been committed without their participation."

The official Vatican City newspaper Observatore Romano said Wednesday that the arrest and expulsion of Catholic priests is a matter which incurs automatic excommunication of all persons involved.

It is up to the Consistorial Congregation to write such excommunication into the formal record. As in all sacred congregation rulings, the pontiff gives the ultimate sanction to any important Vatican decree.

The pope was reported particularly concerned over the Argentine situation since it is a nation that has been regarded as 90 per cent Catholic. Catholicism has been the state religion of Argentina for nearly 150 years.

Strong-Man Juan Peron's Church Attacks Backfire

BUENOS AIRES -- UP -- A radio announcement said Thursday that the three armed services of Argentina were taking over the government of Argentina "together with the people."

The announcement said the revolutionary movement had taken possession of Government House.

The revolution broke out in the midst of President Juan D. Peron's campaign against the Catholic Church. The Vatican excommunicated Peron and all others involved in violence against the church Thursday.

Arrests Continue

Even as the revolution was reported, arrests and raids on parish houses and offices of the lay organization Catholic Action were continuing in Buenos Aires.

The revolutionary announcement, over a radio channel normally controlled by the government of Peron, came at 1:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m., cst).

Almost as the announcement was being made, at least three bombs exploded near the government palace in the heart of the city.

Fires could be seen burning in the area from the United Press building a half mile away.

The CGT union, a Peronist labor organization and the nation's largest, broadcast an order for all its members to come to the Plaza de Mayo.

'Kill the Drivers'

The plaza is faced on one side by the government palace, and on the other by the Metropolitan Cathedral; scene of violent clashes in the last few days between the Peronistas and Roman Catholics.

The CGT order told members to get to the plaza by whatever means possible.

They were told to seize buses and private automobiles and to kill the drivers if necessary.

Three airplanes circled low over the government palace. It was not clear whether they dropped the

Wind Storm Hits Follett, None Hurt

A twisting wind rolled into Follett, Lipscomb County, late yesterday afternoon completely demolishing a barn and granary, and causing considerable property damage. No one was injured.

According to County Sheriff Everett Tarbox, who resides in Follett, about one-half of the town watched the dark clouds moving in from the north, accompanied by heavy blowing dust, but no funnel was reported.

Preceding the storm, heavy currents of wind, alternately hot and cold, were quite strong. Hail falling on wheat crops in the area caused considerable damage, the heavy hail and wind later moved north and east of Follett — into Oklahoma.

The storm began at 6:15 p.m. and lasted about 15 minutes, before the wind shifted into the east.

Heaviest property damage was reported in the north part of town. At the Wesley Harris home, the wind blew out two windows and a door, demolished a granary, and scattered the fragments of his barn over an area of about three blocks. The Leland Bruce home, 12 miles east of Follett, received slight damages.

At the home of Mrs. Lydia Becker, the front porch was blown off and a garage was demolished.

Trees were twisted and damaged all over town and several outbuildings were damaged.

Hail fell for around an hour at Shamrock, beginning with a light rain about 5:30 p.m. While most of the hail was light, some larger stones were reported in the area. Neon tubing and glass in a greenhouse were damaged, and damage to the crops in the area is believed to be considerable.

The storm later hit the Schultz ranch, 10 miles west of Arnett, Okla., accompanied by a heavy hail storm. The Oklahoma highway patrol reported that the funnel destroyed a barn on the ranch.

Heavy hail the size of golf-balls hit Shamrock yesterday afternoon at 6 p.m. causing considerable damage. The Shamrock Floral Co. reported that 75 per cent of the glass on the greenhouse was broken and the plants damaged. Neon signs and flat roofs were damaged on stores all over town.

Light hail and a loud roar preceded the storm at 5:45 p.m. Lasting 15 or 20 minutes, the heavy stones fell while the sun was shining brightly.

According to Mrs. H. W. Coffman of Shamrock, the stones were the same size of a half-dollar and bounced about five feet when they hit the concrete. No crop damage was reported, since the storm was confined to the city limits.

Rain following the hail measured one-half inch, in Shamrock. Scattered local down-pours were reported in the area.

British Sub Sinks; 13 Men Missing

PORTLAND, Eng. —UP— The British submarine Sidon blew up in a mushroom geyser of yellow smoke Thursday and sank in 35 feet of water. The admiralty announced that 13 officers and men were missing.

Divers went down in an attempt to determine if any living men were trapped in the blasted hull of the submarine lying on the murky bottom of Portland harbor.

Seven survivors were injured in the violent blast that ripped open the 217-foot submarine, according to the admiralty.

The admiralty, in announcing that three officers and 10 crewmen were missing, added:

"It is not possible at present to express any firm opinion of the chances of survival of those who did not clear before she sank."

Every submarine salvage vessel in Britain was ordered to the scene at once.

Witnesses said they saw crewmen leap into the sea shortly before the submarine plunged under the water.

A witness said the Sidon lay on the surface for "several minutes" after the blast. "A mushroom cloud of yellow smoke" rose from the stricken ship before it plunged under the water, the witness said.

Surface craft picked up crewmen who were able to abandon the ship. Two were reported hospitalized.

It was not believed that the Sidon was carrying its normal complement of 44.

Oil Workers, Sinclair In Accord

NEW YORK —UP — The Sinclair Oil Co. Thursday reached a new contract agreement with some 10,000 members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, CIO.

In a joint statement issued early Thursday Millard C. Stone, director of industrial relations for Sinclair, and Ben J. Schafer, vice president of the OCAW-CIO said agreement had been reached on a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour retroactive to March 1 and substantial increases in sickness and accident benefits in addition to other contract improvements.

The contract must now be submitted to union membership for ratification in accordance with the union's constitution.

The old contract was to expire at midnight Wednesday night.

Supplemental agreements must now be reached with six Sinclair refineries at Marcus Hook, Pa., East Chicago, Ind.; Wellesville, N. Y., Houston and Corpus Christi, Tex., and Sinclair, Wyo.

Agreements also must be reached at the company's pipeline headquarters, Tulsa, Okla., and the Sinclair Research Laboratories, Harvey, Ill.

Agreement is expected to be reached shortly on hospitalization, group life insurance and pensions, a spokesman said.

If it comes from a Hardware store, we have it. Lewis Hardware.

Plane Falls In Paraguay

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 16 — UP— A Panair do Brasil Constellation passenger plane with 24 aboard crashed near Asuncion, Paraguay Thursday. Seven persons survived.

The airline said the fate of seventeen other passengers and crewmen was not known.

The plane was en route from Rio de Janeiro to Buenos Aires with 14 aboard.

The airlines announcement said five passenger and two crewmen were known to have survived and have been hospitalized at Asuncion.

Reports received here said the plane was destroyed. Airlines officials said other details were lacking.

600 Ships Tied Up In Labor Dispute

NEW YORK —UP— Negotiations between the CIO National Maritime Union and 62 tanker, dry cargo and passenger ship companies broke down early Thursday, tying up more than 600 ships.

A spokesman for 22 tanker companies reported talks were suspended when the union persisted in demanding unemployment insurance benefits for seamen who voluntarily leave their employment. Negotiations with 40 other companies collapsed a few hours later.

The current contract expired at midnight.

Joseph Curran, NMU president, warned earlier that once the midnight deadline was passed the "no-contract, no-work" policy would hold.

The tanker groups operate some 218 Atlantic and Gulf port tankers.

In addition to the NMU, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the American Radio Association, both CIO and the AFL International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots were involved in negotiations.

Even if the other three unions reach agreements the ships could not be sailed without NMU seamen which number almost 20,000.

The tanker spokesman said the companies were willing to guarantee $40 a week for 26 weeks on a nationwide scale for eligible seamen whose employment was not terminated for misconduct.

The deadlock was caused by NMU insistence on the same guarantee for seamen who quit.

The other two CIO unions, the MEBA and the ARA, are also negotiating with tanker, freighter and passenger lines.

He drew up his own complaint and filed it with Peoria County circuit court. He sued a coal company on charges it drilled into coal deposits on his land without permittion.

States May Halt UAW Contracts

By UNITED PRESS

A loophole in the Ford and General Motors guaranteed wage plan covering 515,000 auto workers could cause a political battle in state legislatures which might even prevent the plan from going into effect.

The loophole is a provision that no payments are to be made from the Ford and General Motors "job security" funds during layoffs until state officials authorize the plan for company benefits as a supplement to the state unemployment benefits.

The contracts provide that the company benefits will not start before favorable rulings have been obtained in states in which Ford and General Motors have two-thirds of their employes.

Must Get State Rulings

If favorable state rulings are not given before June, 1957, the whole plan is to be terminated.

A United Press survey to determine what state legislatures are doing to amend unemployment laws which are in conflict with the GAW plan revealed that most states are "confused" about many legal questions and it may be a long time before solutions are found.

Ohio tried to solve the problem in its state Senate this week, but Republicans and Democrats squared off in a two-hour verbal slugfest and the bill died with no decision being reached. The Republicans were against passing the bill and the Democrats were for it.

Now a special Ohio legislative committee will have to study the law and a decision will have to wait until the legislature meets again in 1957.

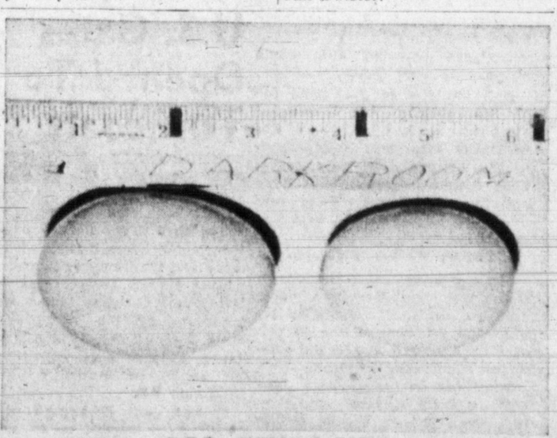

Would Become Effective in 1946

If Michigan and Ohio, for example, gave the green light to the GAW plan, it could go into effect in June, 1956. Both General Motors and Ford have two-thirds of their employes in these two states.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said he would urge the legislature to pass an unemployment law which would make GAW work when it convenes again in 1956.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, said the plan could work without legislative action if state attorney generals hand down favorable rulings.

The big problem of the guaranteed annual wage arises from the fact that workers receiving this pay would lose all or part of their unemployment compensation benefits in at least 26 states.

bombs or whether the explosions were set off on the ground.

One of the bombs was believed to have hit a trolley bus and several persons were believed killed.

People Fill Streets

The streets were filled with people, but most of them seemed to be attempting to make their way home.

There had been no clashes reported early Thursday afternoon, but observers said the calling of the mass union meeting indicated there may be opposition to the armed forces taking over the government.

The radio announcement said the aim of the revolt was to "restore the freedom of the press and democratic movement which had been smothered by the present government."

None of the people in the present revolt has any political aspirations, the announcement said. None of them will be candidates for president.

Cables Are Refused

The only person identified in the movement was a Gen. Bengoa.

The announcement charged that officials in Peron's government had been enriching themselves with public funds.

A helicopter flew over Plaza Peron, which is near the Plaza de Mayo and Government House, and apparently attempted unsuccessfully to land.

All the cable companies in Buenos Aires refused to take messages and there were delays in obtaining telephone calls to foreign cities.

It was reported that a total of seven bombs exploded in Buenos Aires.

It was not known how many persons were injured, but hospitals reported "many" casualties had been received for treatment.

It was understood that President Peron was in Government House when the planes flew over. But he was seen later in his car, near the Plaza Petire.

At 1 p. m. a group of marchers passed the United Press bureau chanting "Peron, Peron, Peron."

Gunshot in Background

The radio announcement that the military services were taking over was on the air for a period of about 20 minutes.

It stopped suddenly, immediately after the sound of a gunshot had been heard in the background.

About 45 minutes after the bombings, bursts of machinegun fire were heard and an armed column of some 200 men was seen marching toward Government House.

They were carrying heavy machineguns and several trucks of ammunition were following in their wake.

Ki-o-Wah Has Record Attendance

The largest crowd of boys scouts and leaders in the history of Camp Ki-o-Wah are encamped at the camp site, near Canadian, this week.

There are 237 boys at the camp this week, setting a new record for number of boys using the camp and facilities. There were 227 scouts there last week.

This is the third week of camping for this summer and there were 178 boys encamped there the first week, bringing the total so far to 643 campers.

Only 700 boys, in all, used the camp last summer. Approximately 400 boys have made their reservations for the two weeks of camping remaining this year so this it appears that a new record in total number for the year will be possible for the camp.

Violent Storms Hit Wide Texas Area

By UNITED PRESS

More vicious storms battered Texas and Oklahoma Wednesday night and early Thursday and the Brown county emergency corps stood by in case floods imperiled Brownwood, Tex.

In addition to two tornadoes in Texas, a straight wind of 107 miles per hour was recorded at the Oklahoma City Weather Bureau before power lines were torn down.

Lake Brownwood, one of the state's biggest, nine miles north of Brownwood, was full after rain totaling five inches in two days fell over its watershed. The surplus was pouring 2.8 feet over the spillway.

Pecan Bayou, which lakes water away from the spillway, was running bankful through the business district of Brownwood. It was feared that any more rain in the lake's watershed will cause the bayou to flood out low points in the northern part of Brownwood.

Tornadoes struck near Gladewater, in East Texas, and at Follett, in the Texas Panhandle. Sheriff Deputy Dewey Dawn said he saw "five or six" tornado funnels dip into fields near Arnett, Okla., which is 20 miles east of Follett.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said six inches of hail fell in Crescent, Okla. Baseballs the size of baseballs fell for about 30 minutes at Eastland, Tex., 67 miles southwest of Fort Worth.

Heavy Damage at DeLeon.

At DeLeon, 20 miles southwest of Eastland, a tornado and hailstorm caused heavy damage. Constable Charles Rich said plate glass windows in several downtown stores were blown out.

Roofs were blown down, telephone and gas service was disrupted and graduation exercises were postponed. Three inches of rain accompanying the storm pushed the Leon and Armstrong Rivers to their highest level this year.

The weather bureau said there was an unconfirmed report that a tornado was sighted at Garmat, between Eastland and DeLeon, but it did no damage. Forecasters said the storm activity will die out during the day but may start up again late this afternoon or tonight.

Eastland County Sheriff J. B. Williams said the hail at Eastland followed a hard windstorm and was accompanied by a light rain. Plate glass windows were knocked out, trees uprooted, and others stripped of their limbs.

Hail the size of golf balls fell at Breckenridge, and there was also hail at Ranger, where 2.30 inches of rain fell. Four creeks in the Abilene area were out of their banks—Elm, Cedar, Lytle and Deadman Creek. Water rose into some houses on the west side of Abilene.

Twister Strikes Nightclub.

The twister at Gladewater struck a nightclub with a dozen persons inside. It damaged the nightclub but none of the 12 persons were injured. It also did other minor damage in the area.

The tornado at Follett blew away a grain elevator and knocked over a barn on the Schultz ranch just east of Follett in Oklahoma.

U.S. Gates Opened To Turncoats

GENEVA (U.S. NEWS CENTER) — The government Thursday told the 21 American soldiers who chose communism in Korea that this country would let them come home if they want but it warned they may be prosecuted.

The announcement was contained in a release issued simultaneously by the White House, State, Defense and Justice Departments at 2:32 a.m. est, through the secret information center of Operation Alert.

It said that if anyone of the group gives himself up to a U.S. military authority, he will be turned over to the nearest U.S. consular official.

The procedure apparently is designed to forestall fears by the former GIs that they might be immediately placed under military guard.

Reach Settlement In British Rail Strike

LONDON — UP — The government and union negotiators settled the nation's costly 17-day-old railway strike Tuesday.

The agreement will start trains moving soon, but officials said it will require days to restore the nationalized railroad system to normal, because of mountainous backlogs of freight.

The settlement, ending the disastrous transport chaos, was negotiated between the government's transport commission, which operates the nationalized railways, and union representatives.

Government and industrial leaders said it will be months before the full economic loss from the strike can be computed.

The strike forced many of Britain's key industrial plants to close, put nearly 1 million men onto the nation's unemployment rolls and seriously weakened the nation's drive to balance its imports with exports.

Losses to the nationalized railways alone approximate $42 million.

With the announcement that the long dispute over wage differntials had been settled, there was tired jubilation in the ranks of the 70,000 striking members of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen (ASLEF).

The strike left the new government of Prime Minister Anthony Eden a major political headache.

The opposition Labor party is attempting to label Eden as the anti-union proponent of a restrictive "new doctrine" that strikes must end before negotiations can begin.

The settlement assures the striking engineers and firemen that their demands for wage increases will be considered.

The ASLEF demanded increases that would raise enginemen's top wages to $28.07 per week. They now average $24.50 to $25.90 per week. British Transport Commission offered wage increases ranging to a top of 77 cents per week.

ASLEF strikers went home to their families and started living on weekly union fund grants of $5.60 per week, plus 56 cents extra for each child, until settlement could be reached.

The union's wage demands would result in a greater differential between amounts paid to enginemen and to unskilled railway workers.

The government has promised a post-strike review of egineers' wages and has conceded the union's point on differentials.

'Un-American' Valedictory Speech Upheld

DUNDEE, Ill. —UP— The Dundee school board Monday night backed up a "brightest student's" right to criticize extreme patriotism and urge world federalism in his valedictorian speech.

The class night speech given by Willard Miller, 17, May 26 had been criticized as "un-American" by the mother of a graduating student.

The mother, Mrs. Benjamin Covert, walked out on the speech and was quoted by school Board President Clark Melms as saying the address was "comunistic and Red all the way through."

But the school board decided Monday night that Miller had a right to express his own opinion and it was not the faculty's duty to impose censorship unless his speech "transcends the recognized limits of freedom of speech."

"The speech did not transcend those limits," the board decided.

Three hundred persons, including Mrs. Covert and young Miller, attended the meeting.

The boy who touched off the controversy was described as the "brightest" member of his graduating class. His valedictorian speech included statements that:

"Excessive patriotism has been a contributing cause of most of the great wars... nationalism often changes the dove of peace into a mocking bird.

"The attainment of a federation of all humanity with sufficient measure of social justice... would mean such an increase in human energy as to open a new phase in history.

"In the United States, our monetary system is unstable. Every few years it oscillates from boom to depression."

Life expectancy in the United States has increased from 47 to 69 years since 1900.

"I'm going along with the one-world idea, Susie—from now on just boys!"

This Is My Dish

Mrs. Charles Hoover Likes Mexican Dishes

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

Mexican dishes are a specialty of Mrs. Charles Hoover, 422 N. Somerville, especially enchilados.

Pampa newcomers, Mrs. Hoover and her family have lived here 1½ months, but are not strangers to the Panhandle. Mr. Hoover is a native of Amarillo, where the Hoovers lived for seven years before going to Washington, D.C., where Mr. Hoover served as confidential assistant to the assistant postmaster general in charge of transportation for one year. They then moved to Pampa.

Mrs. Hoover cooks for her husband and their two children, Jane, 12, and Tom, 2.

Her household duties and taking care of her family take up most of Mrs. Hoover's time. The family attends the First Christian Church here. Although Mrs. Hoover hasn't been here long enough to join any organizations, she is a member of the Junior Antique Club and the Junior League of Amarillo.

Here is Mrs. Hoover's recipe for enchilados, which she serves with cucumbers in a sweet-sour cream sauce.

ENCHILADOS

1½ lbs. ground beef
½ tsp. salt
pepper to taste
2 garlic pods, chopped fine
1 small white onion, chopped fine
1½ dozen tortillas
2 cans enchilado sauce
1 cup chopped cheese
½ cup chopped onions
1 green pepper, chopped

Saute the chopped onion and garlic. Drain grease. Slowly cook ground beef. At the same time, lightly fry tortillas in another skillet. When meat is done, add 1 Tbsp. meat, 1 tsp. chopped cheese, and onion to a tortilla. Roll together. Make as many as needed to fill casserole. Pour heated enchilado sauce over tortillas in casserole. Sprinkle generously with cheese, chopped onion and green pepper. Cook slowly in moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Government studies show that Americans waste more than 20 per cent of their food through spoilage and over-generous portions which are not eaten.

You can buy crayon sticks to fill in and stain small scratches on mahogany or walnut woods. Apply the crayon, then rub with an oiled pad. After you've finished the spot repairing, go over the entire surface of the furniture with your regular wax or polish.

New Cereal Stars Sugar-Coated Raisins

A brand new cereal is on the march . . . and it's different from any other in the world. It is Raisin Bran with sugar-coated raisins, a new fruit and cereal combination that has already proven its appeal among adults and children.

Of course, youngsters, like this one, particularly go for those tender frosted raisins that have been dipped in honey and rolled in sugar, then scattered generously throughout the extra crisp bran flakes.

While Mrs. Homemaker enjoys this new Raisin Bran at breakfast, she has discovered that it has other possibilities too. For instance, in these delicious Tea Biscuits that are a sure-fire breakfast treat as well as a tea-time delicacy.

Raisin Bran Tea Biscuits

Sift 1-1/3 cups flour once, measure, and sift again with 2-1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 3/4 teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons sugar. Cut in 1/3 cup shortening; add 1 cup raisin bran and mix well. Combine 1 slightly beaten egg, with 1/2 cup milk; add to flour mixture, stirring until soft dough is formed. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds, or enough to shape. Roll 1/2 inch thick and cut with floured 2-inch biscuit cutter. Brush tops with milk. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 12 minutes, or until done. Makes 15 small biscuits.

Sardine Puff Gives A Tangy Main Dish

Here's an interesting and tangy sardine main dish. This delicately flavored sardine oven dish is actually a souffle, but a short cut eliminates making a white sauce.

DOWN EAST SARDINE PUFF
Hot Buttered Green Beans
Tossed Vegetable Salad
Prune Pie A La Mode

INGREDIENTS:

1 cup uncooked white rice
1 teapoon salt
2 cups water
¼ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
½ cup mayonnaise
¾ cup milk
1, 3¼ oz. can sardines in mustard, drained and chopped fine
¼ cup chopped stuffed green olives
1 cup grated American cheese
3 egg whites, beaten stif

METHOD: Put the rice, 1 teaspoon salt and water in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks, gently stir the flour, ½ teaspoon salt and pepper into the mayonnaise. (Beating or overmixing will cause curdling but will not affect the final product.) Slowly add the milk. Stir in the sardines, olives, cheese and the cooked rice. Mix well. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry. Add the sardine - rice mixture. Gently mix together. Pour into a non-greased 2-quart baking dish. Bake in a preheated 325 degrees F. oven for 45 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve at once. This recipe makes 8 servings.

Storage Schedule For Frozen Meats

A question many homemakers ask is, "How long can I store frozen meat?"

For best results, says meat expert Reba Staggs, meat should be wrapped in moisture - vaporproof materials, frozen quickly and stored at 0 degrees F. or colder. Each package should be labeled and dated just before freezing. Then the meat should be used within the recommended maximum storage periods.

The recommended periods for storage are:

Sausage and ground meat—1 to 3 months
Fresh pork — 3 to 6 months
Lamb and veal — 6 to 9 months
Beef — 6 to 12 months

Woo Appetites with Soups, Salads

LUNCHING under sunny skies, by the shade of a lacy willow tree. From such happy times come the fond memories of June, so dear to us all.

Spread the table with simple fare. Summer appetites are wooed by appetizing plain "vittles"—like hot savory soup; and makings for greenly-cool salads.

When you eat out on the porch or in the yard, you're eager to keep it easy. What could be easier than a kettle of soup? Next to it a tray of sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, green onions, radishes, cottage cheese and/or ham strips. Then it's every man for himself; fix and mix your salad any way you like. And there's oil and vinegar to dress it. Take some potato chips to crunch with soup and salad.

The pitcher is brimful of clinking ice cubes and amber-clear tea. Just a reach-away is dessert; the glass dish heaped with sliced peaches and strawberries. Around it, chewy nut brownies.

Stir up a memorable soup to match the memorable day. Start with the good, ever-faithful soups from cans. Add one to another—for extra specials like these:

Garden Gumbo

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of asparagus soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken gumbo soup
1 soup-can water

Pour asparagus soup into pan; stir in gumbo and water. Blend and heat well. Pour into 2 or 3 bowls.

1-2-3 Chicken Soup

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken gumbo soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken noodle soup
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed chicken with rice soup
2 soup-cane water

Pour soups into pan; stir to blend. (For extra flavor, you may like to sprinkle in some sweet marjoram or basil.) Simmer till good and hot. Ladle into 4 or 5 bowls.

Thrifty Dish Made From Pork Chops

Here's another idea for serving pork chops. A thrifty dish and one that's tops in good eating.

According to meat expert Reba Staggs, there are many pork chops from which to choose. Shoulder, rib and loin chops, for example, offer great variety for luncheon, dinner and supper dishes.

This one-dish meal proves that interesting, varied meals can be thrifty, too.

Pork Chop Favorites

4 pork shoulder chops, cut to 1 inch thick
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 medium onion, grated
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk

Brown the chops slowly in frying-pan. Place in casserole or baking dish. Combine cracker crumbs, onion, chopped egg, salt and ½ cup milk to make dressing. Place a mound of dressing on each chop. Add remaining milk. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer. 4 servings.

The Fort Peck Indian Reservation in Montana is as large as the combined states of Rhode Island and Delaware.

Stuffing Enhances Pork Chop Flavor

Rich-flavored pork chops are a year-round favorite. Serve them in May or December and they get the same welcome. There's something satisfying about a deeply-browned chop and when it reveals a savory stuffing there's even added goodness, says Reba Staggs, home economist.

A corn stuffing goes particularly well with the flavor of pork. For stuffing select thick rib chops. Rib chops can be cut and stuffed in a way that insures that the opening will close automatically as the chop cooks — this keeps the stuffing from drying.

Make the cavity by cutting along the rib bone, rather than the outside of the chops. For a corn stuffing (sufficient for 6 chops) combine 1 cup of whole kernel corn with ½ cup of cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper and ¼ teaspoon of salt. Mix well and stuff the chops, then brown them on both sides. Cover and finish cooking either on top of the range or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour.

Use a minimum of water when cleaning the kitchen range, to prevent water from dripping into burners and running down stove sides to cause rust or streaks.

This Party Has Punch

Those cups and that pretty bowl hold a mighty delicious party beverage. A festive punch like this, blended of orange soft drink powder, and tangy juices, sweetened, iced and served in style ought to keep birthday revellers happy and out of mischief. And, although there's usually plenty of action at a small fry "affair," this drink will keep 'em cool!

ORANGE KOOL-AID PUNCH

1 package orange soft drink powder
1 cup sugar
2 cups pineapple juice
¼ cup lemon juice
Water and ice cubes to make 2 quarts

Combine all ingredients. Stir until soft drink powder and sugar are dissolved. Makes about 2½ quarts, or about 20 servings.

Frosted cupcakes with individual candles and forget-me-nots add a novel twist to the birthday theme.

Exotic Turkish Dish Is Delectable Treat

To make "Sahanda Pflic" to serve four, first prepare the white sauce. Melt 4 tablespoons butter or margarine and blend in 4 tablespoons flour. Add 1½ cups milk all at once. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened throughout. Season to taste.

Then combine 1-2 cup of the white sauce with 1 cup cooked, diced chicken. Place in bottom of a 1-quart shallow casserole. Spread 1 cup cooked peas over the chicken layer, circle 12 cooked prunes around edge of dish.

Top casserole with remaining white sauce and ½ cup peas mixed together. Sprinkle generously with paprika. Heat thoroughly in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes.

CARVING MEAT CUTS

Leg of Lamb

Place the leg of lamb before the carver so that the shank bone is to his right and the thick meaty section (cushion) is on the far side of the platter.

Using a standard carving set, insert the fork firmly in the large end of the leg. Carve two or three lengthwise slices from the near thin side.

Turn the roast so that it rests on the surface just cut. The shank bone will point up from the platter. Insert the fork in the left end of the roast. Starting at the shank end, slice down to the leg bone. Make ¼ to ⅜-inch parallel slices until the aitch bone is reached.

With the fork still in place, run the knife along the leg bone releasing all the slices. Because of the difference in right and left legs, the same surface will not always be uppermost. But the carving method is the same for right and left legs (this one is a right leg).

Efforts Continue To Move Veterans Land Fraud Trial

CUERO, Tex. —UP— Attorneys for Cletus P. Ernster, who is named in 53 indictments in the veterans land scandals, were expected to call more witnesses Wednesday in their efforts to get the trial moved elsewhere.

Arguments for the change of venue have been going on for two days and there was no end in sight. District Judge Howard P. Green told the jury Tuesday it could go home until 9 a.m. Friday.

Subpenas were issued for four Yorktown veterans whom defense attorney Everett Looney wants to question about a February veterans' meeting held in Yorktown.

Named in the subpenas were Oswald Jonischkies, Alvin Migura, George Morisse and Loren Craig, all of Yorktown. They were expected to testify Wednesday, plus another probable witness, F. M. Pieper of the Yorktown weekly news.

Under 53 Indictments

Ernster, a short heavy-set Air Force veteran, was brought to trial on one of the 53 indictments against him, this one charging false misrepresentation of a written instrument.

A tape recording, made by a disgruntled group of Yorktown veterans at this February meeting, was played back in court Tuesday. The meeting was called so the veterans could voice their dissatisfaction over the land scandals.

District Attorney Wayne Hartman appeared before the group and reassured the veterans that the investigation would continue and the guilty would be punished.

As the tape recorded Hartman's words, frequent bursts of cheers interrupted him, and he told the veterans group:

"I hope that when the trial comes up I will be able to pick my jury from this group."

Opinion Claimed

Looney said the recording showed that a sizeable group of people had already formulated an opinion in the case and that Ernster couldn't get a fair trial in Cuero.

The tape recording was played after editor R. K. Towery of the Cuero Record completed some 10 1-2 hours on the stand.

Towery was credited with smoking out the land irregularities in the Cuero area and Looney sought to establish that his editorials and stories formulated opinion that would be detrimental to his client.

Towery and Looney also frequently engaged in hassles because the newspaperman wouldn't divulge his sources of information.

State Will Advise Local Racial Action

AUSTIN —UP— State level recommendations on how local authorities should comply with the U.S. Supreme Court order banning segregation in public schools will probably be released in less than a month under plans in process Tuesday.

In an earlier letter to school superintendents, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar pointed out the board of education will meet July 4.

"We plan to advise you immediately thereafter" with respect to policies for the 1955-1956 school year, Edgar wrote.

Meantime, a seven-member subcommittee of the board of education will meet Saturday at Fort Worth for an initial airing of the segregation problems.

The committee, headed by Cecil Morgan, Fort Worth attorney, will report to the board July 4.

At its June 4 meeting, the board adopted a resolution requesting Edgar to "begin immediately a study of the Supreme Court's decision in terms of the responsibilibility of the Texas Education agency," authorized appointment of the seven-member study committee, and called to the attention of local authorities the Supreme Court's instruction that a study of "appropriate methods" for complying with the court's order in the light of local conditions begin immediately.

V Audience May Force Conventions To Clean Up

ASHINGTON — UP — If Republ- n party bosses have the wit ollow and improve on a Demo- ic lead, it may not be neces- after all to refer to next 's national conventions as "the arities of 1956."

he sample of convention proc- s served up to the TV public 1952 was a shocker and eye- ner. The viewing public did not a lot of the awful goings on which political parties select r presidential tickets.

Convention processes had been bad. TV made them worse by inviting political nobodies to various strategies to get their faces and names on the air.

Now, Democrats have made a tiny start toward reform, knowing that insulting adult intelligence is no way to make votes for a party candidate.

Approves Change

Democratic Party Chairman Paul M. Butler has approved a suggested regulation of the process of polling state delegations. Hereafter the poll will be taken privately by a representative of the convention chairman who would appear among the polled delegation and take down the names.

Meanwhile, convention business would proceed. The old system which so offended those present and the television viewers in 1952 was to conduct the poll from the rostrum in full view and hearing of all.

But, for resolute vulgarity, there is no match for the so-called demonstration in behalf of an individual just proposed for nomination as president or vice president.

These sweaty parades usually are phoney.

Some Real Demonstrations

There have been demonstrations of real political impact, such as the bedlam which helped stampede the 1940 Republican convention to nominate Wendell L. Willkie.

There was nothing phoney about the rival demonstrations in 1924 when Alfred E. Smith and William G. MacAdoo knocked each other out after 103 ballots and left the worthless Democratic presidential nomination to John W. Davis. That was a blood feud.

But most of them are fakes and a nosy voter could look into the wings or back alley during any of the more recent political clambakes and see the stooges lining up with their banners for the next parade.

The stooges usually number 200 or so and they are non-partisan, appearing in all demonstrations just for the hell of it or, maybe, for five bucks.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH

Read Psalm 93

Good religion makes use of spiritual law. Good religion has always made use of spiritual laws even though such use may have often been an unconscious use. Nowhere in any of life's interests do we get any results except as we cooperate with God's law, and in the realm of man's spiritual nature there is no exception to the rule.

Man may have been unaware of the existence of many laws but he has been governed by them just the same. The Hebrews in the wilderness knew little or nothing about dietetics, but they felt certain instinctive hungers. In Egypt, while they were in bondage, they fed on the vegetables so easily grown in the rich soil of the Nile Valley, and their digestive systems became accustomed to such a diet. When they had to live for a few weeks on an exclusive diet of concentrated manna, even though it was providentially provided, they became restive and sighed for the leeks and onions of Egypt (Num. 11:5). In similar fashion man has become conscious of certain spiritual hungers without being able to explain them, and has sought satisfactions he could not define.

Many of the practices of the evangelists of long ago are now recognized as having had profound significance as well as great spiritual value. The insistence that the sinner "confess all" is now paralleled by the psychological advice that the guilty shall undergo a mental catharsis. When the preacher insisted that the new convert should testify as to his conversion, it was a part of a process now regarded as being scientific. The impression of forgiveness is deepened by action. We must act upon our urges to save them.

I will accept my disappointments as challenges to study and know thy will, O God; I will accept my difficulties as opportunities to develop strength; I will accept the blows of life as the oak accepts the storms and profits by them. All this because I trust thee. Amen.

Look back over your day and pick out the hour when you felt you had reached the highest level of life at any time during the period. Study it. What made you great or good at that moment? Can you duplicate it? Did it come from inside or outside of yourself?

One out of every eight persons in the United States is hospitalized each year.

Adenauer Predicts Meeting Soon With Soviet Premier

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

WASHINGTON —UP— West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer believes a meeting between him and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin may be possible late this summer or in the early fall, a high diplomatic source disclosed Wednesday.

That would be after the Big Four "summit" conference in Geneva in July. It also would give the West German government time to sound out the real intentions behind the Soviet invitation.

Adenauer is not convinced that the meeting necessarily would be in Moscow, the source said. He may propose that the Soviet leaders come to meet him in some other city after preliminary behind-the-scenes contacts between West German and Soviet officials during the Geneva parley.

Adenauer Wednesday wound up a two-day visit to Washington during which he discussed the Soviet invitation with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

In answer to a question at a press reception Tuesday evening whether he would go to Moscow, the 79-year-old chancellor replied:

"Probably, but if such a trip is to have any point at all it must be carefully prepared and time is necessary for that."

But the chancellor took pains to stress that in no circumstances would he accept a Soviet offer of German reunification in exchange for cold war neutralization of 70 million Germans.

A joint statement issued by Adenauer and the president after they conferred Tuesday ruled out neutralization as being "in no way applicable to Germany," and added that "only in collective security arrangements can Germany assure its independence."

Rotary Club Hears Talk By Ex-POW

James Hart, Korean war veteran and ex-prisoner of war, told the Pampa Rotary Club Wednesday that if and when Russia would conquer the United States, the Communists would undoubtedly use the same practices which worked so well in adapting the Communist system to China.

First, Hart said, the Communists would declare martial law to lend the necessary stability while maintaining the same basic legal structure.

Then by degrees, the Communists would take over the heavy industry, smaller manufacturing units and eventually the wholesale and retail trade of the country.

The idea that conditions would immediately be turned upside down is fallacious, Hart declared, for a gradual process would definitely work to the Communists advantage. Hart also warned of the various Communists front groups operating in the United States and cautioned everyone to be careful as to the petitions they signed and organizations they joined.

During the course of the meeting Mark Heath and O. B. Souther were inducted into the club as new members.

Visitors for the day were Frank Grisham, Audie Morgan, R. E. Whitten and Cliff Beard.

Committee To Study Race Issue

FORT WORTH —UP— The problem of ending segregation in Texas schools will come before a Texas Board of Education committee at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Fort Worth office of Cecil Morgan.

Morgan, state trustee and Fort Worth attorney, heads a committee to study ways and means of ending the dual school system. His group will go over suggested ways of handling the problem.

The committee will report to the state board at its July 4 meeting in Austin, Morgan said Tuesday. It is expected that the board will issue a policy statement to the school districts. However, he explained, ending segregation is a local school board problem and the state body cannot do more than give suggestions and guidance.

No Summit Conference Seen Unless Khrushchev Attends

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

It looks as if the Big Four meeting to be held in Geneva will not be a "conference at the summit."

Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, as the head of the Soviet government, will lead the Russian delegation officially.

As of now, however, it is uncertain whether Nikita S. Khrushchev, the first secretary of the Communist party, will even be there.

If Bulganin goes to Geneva without Khrushchev it will be a meeting of heads of government all right, but it will not be the "conference at the summit" which has so long been discussed.

If there is any real "summit" in the Kremlin right now — which is somewhat doubtful — it is Khrushchev.

Dates Accepted

Russia has accepted the Allied proposal for a four-day meeting — July 18 through July 21 inclusive.

It is not proposed that the four governments shall make any decisions on world problems. They are to hold an exchange of views and define issues on which the Big Four foreign ministers will negotiate afterward.

But Bulganin is unlikely to be able even to engage in any authoritative "exchange of views" unless Khrushchev is at his elbow.

When Krushchev and Bulganin went to Belgrade to see President Tito of Yugoslavia, Khrushchev went out of his way to show he was the head man on the Russian side.

There is no real comparison, of course, between the Belgrade and Geneva meetings.

The Soviet leaders went to Belgrade to see a man who was not only head of his government but leader of his own Communist party.

It looked then, however, as if Khrushchev certainly would be the real No. 1 delegate at any Big Four conference — not officially but actually.

But Khrushchev won himself a lot of bad publicity in Belgrade by his lack of tact and his loose talk.

Attendance Questionable

That made it seem questionable whether he would attend the Big Four meeting even as the power behind the scenes.

If Krushchev does not go to Geneva, presumably Bulganin will have to refer back to Moscow for instructions whenever he is confronted by any unexpected development. A lot of time could be lost in that way in a meeting of limited duration.

Western diplomats have no disposition to belittle Bulganin. He is a man of great ability, with a friendly manner. He is 60 years old. He is recognizable at once, in his pictures, by his goatee. He started out as Communist organizer way back in 1917. He became an able government administrator. In World War II he became a political marshal in the armed forces. He succeeded Georgi M. Malenkov as premier last Feb. 8.

The trouble with the situation in the Kremlin now is that Khrushchev has succeeded Josef Stalin as Communist leader and Bulganin has succeeded him as premier. There is no longer any real summit.

Cleburne Girl Named Beauty

CLEBURNE, Tex. —UP— Cleburne produced "Miss Whitney" for the third time since the three-year-old beauty pageant was organized.

Brown-haired Gaylynn Baker, 18, of Cleburne won the title Wednesday night at Lake Whitney. Jenna Beth Shafer, 18, of Whitney was runnerup.

The Lake Whitney contest this year feeds into the Texas elimination of the Miss Universe contest, which will be held next Thursday at Lake Whitney.

Cleburne has become known as the home of beauty. The first Miss Whitney, Paula Lane of Cleburne, became Miss Texas and participated in the Miss America contest. Margaret Preston of Cleburne, who won the Miss Whitney title last year, was runnerup in Miss Texas competition.

Flu Sidelines Noel Coward

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —UP—British playwright-composer Noel Coward was expected to recover fully from an attack of flu which sent him to bed with a temperature of 102 degrees.

Coward, who has been performing here for more than a week in his American nightclub debut, was unable to appear Tuesday night at the Desert Inn Hotel. Singer Gordon MacRae replaced him on the first show and Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy substituted for the second performance.

Cadet 'Happy' A Victim Of Davy Crockett Splash

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD —UP— One of the victims Davy Crockett mowed down with his coonskin cap is a bright-faced young man who every Friday stands in line to collect his $30 unemployment insurance.

Until Davy began grinning bears to death on television, Lyn Osborn was Cadet Happy on "Space Patrol" and one of TV's biggest idols to children.

But "Space Patrol's" fickle fans decided to change headgear. The small fry junked their space helmets in favor of coonskin caps.

Today Cadet Happy's rocket ship, Terra V, stands dusty and unwanted in a scenery shed at ABC-TV studios — a symbol to the short loyalties of pint-sized TV viewers.

And Osborn, who was making $40,000 a year, is jobless.

"But at the unemployment insurance office I stand behind some 'Ramar of the Jungle' actors so I'm in good company," cracked Osborn.

"And the line is loaded with old 'Space Patrol' heavies — villains from Jupiter and Saturn."

"Space Patrol" bit the dust 14 weeks ago because the sponsor wanted another type of show. Osborn thinks this had nothing to do with the switch to coonskin caps, but insiders at ABC-TV say otherwise.

Now Osborn is making the rounds of movie and TV producers to convice them he can do something else besides fly through space.

"I'd like to play heavies, psychopathic killers, maybe," he reflected. "I don't know whether to take advantage of my space character in getting jobs, or try to get away from it.

"Unfortunately, many producers don't think of me as an actor, but a space man. It's the influence of their kids."

Osborn started "Space Patrol" fresh from dramatic school, and quickly rose to fame. He received a cut of "Space Patrol" space suits, helmets, ray guns and other items sold to kiddies.

"But the merchandising business is gone," he said.

He was a star of outer space for five years on TV and four on radio. Film stars begged for his autograph, children trailed him down the street.

Thursday as we strolled through Beverly Hills not one moppet besieged him.

Three Texas Cities Get Defense Tests

AUSTIN —UP— Four cities in civil defense region five were alerted as potential targets of a simulated attack in the two-day nationwide defense exercise opening Wednesday.

The exercises end at noon Thursday.

Three-fourths of the critical target areas are in Texas — Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth.

The fourth is New Orleans, La.

The fifth region embraces, in addition to Texas and Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

William L. McGill, state director of civil defense and disaster relief, said Texas' disaster-control center —housed in a subterranean bomb shelter at the Department of Public Safety—will operate continuously for 26 hours.

The 16 district disaster control centers within the state will also be manned. The major objective of the operation, McGill said, is to test the statewide communications system.

However, personnel were waiting for the alert that could signal a simulated attack on one of Texas three designated critical target areas.

If a simulated attack is directed at Texas, warning to the state control center will come through one of five key-point warning centers —Austin, Boerne, Arlington, Houston and El Paso.

In addition, various areas plan local defense tests.

McGill said these include:

Houston — Evacuation of downtown area.

Dallas — Mobilization of home emergency corps.

El Paso — Evacuation of a portion of the city.

Brazos county —Civil defense exercise and demonstration by the state rescue team located at College Station.

Nederland (Jefferson county) — Evacuation of entire city.

Bay City — Civil defense exercise.

Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin — Evacuation to Bastrop State Park of dependents of base personnel.

Texas Reservoir Bill Approved

WASHINGTON —UP— The Senate Public Works committee approved a bill to enlarge the storage capacity of the Ferrell's bridge reservoir to provide water for 12 Texas towns.

The measure would add 250,000-acre-feet of storage capacity to the reservoir. The increase cost would be borne by local interests.

The measure would provide additional water supplies for Marshall, Longview, Jefferson and other Texas cities.

Two Teen-Age Girls Slain

HYATTSVILLE, Md. — UP — Two teen-aged high school girl students were slain Wednesday in a park near here.

One girl had been stabbed to death. Police did not say immediately how the other had died.

The girls left home Wednesday morning for the last day of school to receive their report cards. Their bodies were found at 10:24 p. m. cst.

The park is near the University of Maryland. The girls were Michael Ann Ryan, 14-year-old daughter of a Washington, D. C., policeman, and Nancy Marie Shomete of Lane Manor, Md.

Police broadcast a look-out for a 1941 dark green Packard, but did not say why a search was being made for the automobile.

SPOKANE, WASH. — UP— George Crispin put out a rubbish fire that threatened his garage and congratulted himself for having saved the fire department a run. But a few minutes later he called firemen. He had hung the sweater used to smother the rubbish fire in the garage. Sparks from the sweater set the building ablaze.

Jackets For Sheep To Be Used In Mountain Areas

LAS CRUCES, N. M. —UP— Okay, so you're too smart to fall for a wolf in sheep's clothing. But how about a sheep in duck clothing? With a zipper up the front?

That's what the well-dressed sheep is wearing this year — a casual slip-on jacket made of the canvas-like cotton material commonly known as duck. By next winter, an estimated 500,000 sheep are going to be grazing on western mountainsides in neat duck jackets.

Specialists at New Mexico A&M College came up with the idea. The jacket keeps a sheep's wool clean. Ranchers are enthusiastic. Everybody seems to like the jackets except maybe the sheep. They just look at each other and say "baa."

Putting a cotton coat on a sheep has such obvious advantages it's a wonder no one thought of it until now.

During winter and spring, before shearing time, the wind blows sand and dust into a sheep's natural coat of wool. The wool is oily and the grit sticks fast. A pair of shearing clippers wears out in no time grinding through the stuff.

And when the sheepman sends his clip to market he pays freight on an estimated four to six pounds of dirt per animal. Freight rates being what they are between the Rockies and New England, that's expensive dirt.

This spring New Mexico A&M's sheep and wool expert, J. Richard Stauder, pulled up at the Victor Perez Ranch at Encino, N. M., with a trial wardrobe of duck jackets. For an experiment, he put the jackets on one group of sheep, sprayed some others with a plastic solution that is also supposed to keep wool clean, and left some others untouched.

At shearing time recently Stauder found the sheep with jackets on had four pounds less dirt in their wool than the ones with the plastic coat and those with their bare wool exposed.

Stauder said this means a reduction of 25 cents a head in the marketing cost of the wool. The jackets had been on only two and a half months, and if a sheep were bundled in early in the fall the saving in early in the fall the saving would be all the greater.

The jackets cost a rancher 75 cents apiece, and awning manufactureres who make them already have orders for 50,000. Stauder estimates as many as 500,00 may be in use by fall.

A sheep will get about four years' wear out of a jacket, depending on whether it grazes in open plains or on brush-studded mountainsides.

One other thing, Stauder pointed out — the wintertime death rate among cotton - protected sheep will be lower than that for sheep clothed only in wool. The cotton textile industry ought to go wild over a statistic like that.

Charles Pritchard, assistant railroad gang foreman, makes one of eight unsuccessful attempts to get his unconventional plane into the air at Emporia, Va. The ship features short, stubby fins instead of wings, and Pritchard, who has no formal training in aero-dynamics, says he'll make "repairs" and try again.

BY DICK KLEINER

TV STAGE RADIO RECORDS PEOPLE

The Record Shop: Bill Hayes, king of the wild juke-box, won't sing on his next record. He'll read selections from Davy Crockett's autobiography for Folkways' coming "The Real Davy Crockett."

Short Playing: Rev. Peter Marshall's sermons, delivered when the Man Called Peter was chaplain of the U. S. Senate, will be issued by Caedmon Records. His widow just released the tapes . . . Alan Dale, who never got too far because he sounded just like the late Russ Columbo, has suddenly overcome that handicap — he's had two hits in three months. Nobody can explain it . . . Kitty Kallen is honorary president of the New York Dinah Shore Fan Club, which is like Leo Durocher rooting for the Dodgers . . . Cab Calloway back making records, this time for Bell . . . Leonard Warren of the Met, who owns a cabin cruiser called "The Troubador," has recorded "Sea Shanties" on the other side of opera arias for RCA. Yo ho ho, and a bottle of Boheme.

Sonny Graham was going to make her first solo record. She'd come down from the Bronx to RCA's big recording studio. She peeked inside. There was a full orchestra tuning up, waiting for her. There was famed conductor Hugo Winterhalter checking the arrangement, waiting for her. There was RCA's top A & R man, Joe Carlton, in the control booth, waiting for her. There were a battery of engineers, fiddling with their equipment, waiting for her.

"I said to myself," Sonny remembers, " 'Let's just walk right out of here, Sonny.' But I didn't. I walked in and sang."

It was quite an experience for the "m, pretty brunette. It's been quite a spring, since she decided to go back to work.

Sonny started singing when she was 17. First with a trio, then a duet, she sang on the cocktail lounge circuit. She was also going to Hunter College studying (of all unmusical things) physics. Then she got married, had her first child and quit both cocktail lounges and physics.

One more child and one separation later, she decided she'd have to go to work. There was a good reason for this — "We needed to survive," Sonny says. And so she came down from the Bronx to look for a singing job. She didn't find one, but she did cut a demonstration record of the old song, "I've Got a Crush On You," which a friend submitted to the Miss Juke Box Contest.

And she got into the finals, which were held in Chicago with the Juke Box Operators voting on the three finalists.

"I went to Chicago," Sonny says, "and met the other two girls. They were both beautiful blondes. I told myself, 'Well, at least you got a trip to Chicago out of this.' "

But she won easily. Her voice—which she says improved during her non-singing-six-years-retirement — is a lovely one, and she has a pleasant way with a song. Her prize was an RCA recording contract. Which brings us back to that recording session which almost frightened her into running away. It turned out fine—judge for yourself with her lovely version of the old song, "I Don't See Me In Your Eyes Anymore."

Her chances of survival look pretty good these days.

Dick's Picks: Kay Starr's "Good and Lonesome" should be her first hit with RCA. Others: "Pass the Plate of Happiness Around" (The DeJohn Sisters, Eipc); "Go On By" (The Cowboy Church Sunday School, Decca); "A Little You" (Sunny Gale, RCA). "Learnin' the Blues" (Cab Calloway, Bell); "Dream Boy" (Micki Marlo, Capitol); "Jungle Drums" (Ilse Werner, Columbia); "Wrong Again" (The Ames Brothers, RCA).

There are some fine sound-track albums of new movies: Columbia's "Love Me Or Leave Me" has Doris Day with some great old songs; MGM's "Interrupted Melody," the Eleanor Parker film of Marjorie Lawrence's life, features the voice of Eileen Farrell with good operatic arias; RCA has Bob Hope in "The 7 Little Foys."

Symphonies worthy of your best diamond needle: Borodin Symphony No. 2 in B-Minor, Op. 5 (Kletzki and the Philharmonia Orchestra, Angel); Mozart's Symphony No. 39 and Haydn's Symphony No. 95 (Gui and the Glyndebourne Festival Orchestra, HMV); Schubert's Symphony No. 9 (Barbirolli and the Halle Orchestra, RCA); Mahler's Symphonies Nos. 1 and 9 on two separate albums (Kletzki and the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra, Angel).

Museum Director's Home Looks Like A Paper Office

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —UP— I walked into what Laurence Vail Coleman calls his "hovel" and there he was.

A distinguished looking gentleman with the eye-brows of John L. Lewis and the hair-do of the lovable Ernie Pyle — meaning no hair in the middle and poking out each way fringe-wise.

Coleman happens, by no accident at all, to be director of the American Association of Museums. A very important, non-profit organization, which looks around to see that the 500 museums in the country get copies of all of the dinosaur tracks found around the sections of the world. Not to mention a lot of other things.

I had heard much about Lawrence Coleman, and told him I was happy and proud to greet him. But I was a little shocked to see the house he kept in the dignified Smithsonian Institution. It looked like a cross between a country weekly office, no stranger to me, and something out of R. Goldberg. Hanging overhead were the tired old, flea-tested bones of something out of the old west. A relic, the great man said.

Papers and documents were scattered yon and hither. I'm a great man to worry about those things, because I generally scatter them hither and yon, too.

"Don't worry, man," said Coleman, "my confusion is well - organized."

What the museum man wanted to tell me was that during this month the museum association is celebrating its 50th birthday. Directors comes in from all over — leaders of art, history and industrial museums in the United States and Canada.

That's fine, and I learned that the important work of museums is nothing new to Coleman. He was, as they say, born to it. He was brought up in New York City among the heirlooms that looked back across nine generation.

"My earliest recollections," said the dignified old gentleman, "have to do with collecting bugs. Want to see some of my dandies?" I had a look and indeed, and for sure, they were dandies.

Coleman went to public schools in New York, then to City College and did some graduate work in bugs and collection at both Yale and Harvard.

Coleman said that collecting things for museums is something of an art.

"When you are ... thing old," he said, "you have to know where it can be found 10 years before it can be."

That sounded a little confusing to me, and I asked him about it, but he said it was something of a trade secret.

Coleman has written a lot of real serious books on museums. Once he visited 500 universities and looked into their back houses to find things of interest to students of the very old. He had a lot of luck and turned out three fat volumes, which are on file at the Library of Congress; in fact on file wherever they are interested in that sort of thing. Posterity will benefit.

I asked Coleman if I could meet his staff — we were all alone at the time.

He said: "I would like to have you meet my secretary, Bessy, here."

"Bessy" turned out to be a 1919 Royal typewriter, in pretty fine shape for her age. His only "staff."

36 Transports To Be Made

FORT WORTH —UP— A new multi-million dollar Air Force contract calling for conversion of 36 C-54 transport planes into air rescue craft was announced Wednesday by the Fort Worth Convair plant.

August C. Esenwein, Convair vice president and Fort Worth plant manager, said the first of the C-54s already has been delivered to the plant and that work on the conversion program will begin immedfately.

The converted planes will be designated SC-54, the "S" designating "search." The planes will be used by the air rescue service of Military Air Transport Service (MATS).

Esenwein said they would be equipped for day or night all-weather search and rescue operations over land or water. He said larger fuel tanks would be installed to give greater range. Other equipment will include the latest electronic devices for navigation and search, blister type windows for greater visibility, and equipment to perform resue work when the plane arrives at the scene.

Delivery of the first converted plane is scheduled in the fall.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

POTPOURRI IS WHAT YOU MIGHT CALL today's column . . . a combination of unrelated things. It begins with an amusing account of the history of Parker House rolls, showing that occasionally, a fit of temper can produce constructive results. I then went into a recipe for graham quick bread and on to how to remove stains from plastic dishes.

INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS Parker House rolls had their origin quite by accident, the product of a romantic but enraged assistant baker, it is reported in a recent issue of Institutions Magazine.

Legend says that in the Parker House in Boston the baker's sweetheart was one of the chambermaids. She was accused of pilfering a valuable string of pearls by one of the women guests.

When news of the accusation reached the baker he was engaged in making rolls. He became so incensed that he seized the dough and with clenched fists threw it onto the baking platters. He then rushed off to defend his beloved.

Upon his return to the kitchen he found that he had folded rolls instead of rounded ones. Crisp and well-browned on the outside, soft and tender on the inside -- these rolls became a sensation among the guests overnight. And thus was born the Parker House roll.

And as with most legends, this one too had a happy ending. The aggrieved woman guest found that she had neglected to bring her necklace from home; the chambermaid was declared innocent; she soon married her assistant baker sweetheart; and they probably lived happily ever after on Parker House rolls.

HERE IS A RECIPE for Graham Quick Bread. To make a loaf that will give you from four to six servings, sift together three-quarters cup sifted all-purpose flour, one-half teaspoon salt and three-quarter teaspoon baking soda. Add two cups graham or whole wheat flour and one-half cup firmly packed brown sugar. Mix well. Beat one egg. Melt one-quarter cup shortening. Combine egg, shortening and one and one-half cups buttermilk. Add to dry ingredients. Mix only until ingredients are blended. Turn into greased eight-inch square pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) forty-five minutes, or until bread tests done.

REMOVING STAINS from plastic dishes mystifies many of us. Here is a method someone suggested to me. It's simple and doesn't harm the dish.

Combine 3-4 cup laundry bleach with ¼ cup baking soda and 1 cup vinegar. This is the ratio for larger or smaller amounts of the solution. Soak dish for five minutes and wash as usual.

It doesn't harm the plastic dish and can be repeated as often as needed. It is really quite effective. Most of us have the ingredients on hand, and as you can see, it doesn't take long and is not a lot of work.

King-size treats—jumbo chocolate chip cookies—are whipped up by Jane Tupper, Brooklyn, N. Y., for a teen-age snack feast.

COOK'S NOOK

King-Size Chocolate Chip Cookies Rate With Teens

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Let's ask a teen-ager what her crowd likes at a get-together. Jane Tupper, attractive and popular senior at Friends School in Brooklyn, N. Y., suggests that, to cap the climax at a party, you make giant-size chocolate chip cookies. It saves passing the cookie platter. Quarts and quarts of milk go with every teen-age party, by the guests' own choice. When Jane is serving more substantial refreshments, she features baby pizzas.

Jumbo Chip Cookies

One-half cup butter or shortening, 6 tablespoons granulated sugar, 6 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 1-8 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, few drops hot water, ½ cup chopped nuts, 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Blend butter with sugars. Add egg, beat thoroughly. Sift together flour, baking soda and salt; add to mixture; mix well. Add a few drops of hot water and mix together until well blended. Stir in nuts, semi-sweet chocolate morsels and vanilla.

For 6 extra-large jumbo cookies from this batch, use about ½ cup batter for each cookie. Place on baking sheet; flatten with back of spoon to about ½-inch thick. Bake 3 cookies at a time in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. For 12 smaller jumbo cookies, use about ¼ cup batter, baking 4 cookies at a time. Bake 10 to 12 minutes.

Party Pizzas
(16 pizzas)

Eight English muffins, 1 stick butter or margarine (8 tablespoons), melted; 2 cans (8 ounces) tomato sauce, ½ pound American or Mozzarella cheese, grated Parmesan cheese, oregano.

Cut English muffins in half and brush with melted butter or margarine, then toast until golden brown. Spread each muffin with a tablespoon of tomato sauce. Cover with slices of American or Mozzarella cheese. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and oregano.

Spoon a teaspoon of melted butter or margarine on each pizza before putting in oven. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 15 minutes.

Two Pampa Women Serve As Delegates To National Meet

Two Pampa women attended the recent sixth annual convention of the National Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority in Little Rock, Ark. They were Miss Alma Wilson, past president of the local conclave, and Mrs. C. W. Stowell, 4th vice president of the national organization.

The Pampa chapter, consisting of about 45 teachers, chose Miss Wilson to represent it at the convention as an official delegate. Mrs. Stowell, a national board member for the past three years, served as parliamentarian for one term and 4th vice president for the past two years. She presided as chairman of the good-of-the-order committee for the convention.

During the convention's business meeting, Mrs. Stowell was elected social correspondent for the organization. There are 91 conclaves in 12 states with a total membership of 2,606. Its membership includes many noted women educators, such as Miss Maurine Walker of Austin, president of the National Education Association.

Mrs. Myra Ann Wallace, well-known Lubbock teacher, was elected first vice president of the national organization at the convention. She was founder of the Texas organization and initiated the Pampa chapter in 1950.

Rice Needed Now As Energy Food

There is always a lot more doing around the home this time of year than any season. Home gardening, do-it-yourself jobs and sports of all kinds make a heavy drain on your energies!

That's why thoughtful homemakers are careful to include plenty of high-energy foods in their meals. And rice is just such a food, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Rice has a versatility not found in many foods. It goes equally well with meat, fish and fowl. It's great for casseroles, for extending meats and in soups. It's a natural teammate for fruits, vegetables and dairy products. Also it's wonderful for desserts.

Rice is easy on the pocketbook, too. Supplies of rice are at a record high, so prices are the most favorable since the war, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

For the amount of money spent, rice gives fantastically high returns in food values. Along with carbohydrates, it furnishes iron, calcium, vitamins B1, B2 and G.

In fact, a pound of rice has more than five times the food energy of a pound of potatoes, more than 20 times the food energy of fresh cabbage.

No wonder rice alone can keep a human alive!

Yellowstone National Park was called "Coulter's Hell" by early settlers in the West.

IT'S THE LAW ★ IN TEXAS ★

One of the cardinal principles of American law is that a man is considered innocent until proven guilty by proper legal proceedings. Practically everyone pays lip service to this ideal, but many fail to realize that the right to be represented by counsel is a logical and essential corollary of that theory of jutice. There is a good deal of criticism of attorneys representing defendants in criminal cases. Much of this criticism is unjust.

Should lawyers defend in court persons whom they know or have good reason to believe are guilty of the crimes charged against them? A recent scientific sampling of the attitude of the public in Texas toward lawyers and law problems shows that more than half of all persons interviewed thought it was wrong for a lawyer to defend such a person.

Such an attitude is rather startling to thinking citizens and members of the Bar. Surely the guiltiest criminal has a right to a fair trial by the law of the land. Such a trial he cannot have without a competent attorney to see that a fair jury is selected and that only lawful evidence is introduced against him.

With refernce to this telling on the part of a sizeable portion of the public, a certain District Judge who tries many crimial cases, and who served eighteen years as a prosecuting attorney before his election to the Bench, recently offered the following comments:

"The result of this survey is no surprise to me, in that during my eighteen years of prosecuting, this feeling has been made known to me by hundreds of persons.

"The feeling on the part of the general public in this regard is brought about to a great extent by the sincere efforts on he part of the defense counsel to see that his client receives the benefit of every legal safeguard to which he is entitled. These legal maneuvers are often misunderstood by the layman as an unethical effort to defeat justice, by delay of the trial, and by taking advantage of certain defenses that to the layman appear to be trivial technicalities.

"Attorneys are the only ones who can correct the erroneous feeling of the general public regarding the defense of one who appears to be guilty as charged. We attorneys should emphatically state to the inquiring person that it is one of the cardinal rights of the individual in a democratic society to be considered innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt by legal and competent evidence.

"The public must be brought to the realization that all who are charged with crime are entitled to the expert counsel and aid of an attorney, and that the sworn duty of such attorney is to see that each protective legal right, to which the accused is entitled, is afforded him."

Now and then a lawyer will overstep the bounds of his duty in defending those charged with crime. When that happens, the legal profession is even more indignant than the public generally, and appropriate disciplinary proceedings are instituted where warranted.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.

Airline Hires General Who Quit Army

FORT WORTH —UP— Maj. Gen. John B. Montgomery, who reigned last Thursday as chief of the Eighth Air Force because of "family and medical expenses," Wednesday was named an assistant vice president in the operations department of American Airlines.

Announcement of Montgomery's appointment was made in New York by M. M. Mosier, senior vice president in the operations department, and was released in Fort Worth — where Montgomery foremerly commanded tthe Eighth Air Force at Carswell Air Base.

The salary of Montgomery in his new post was not announced. However, as a major general in the Air Force, he made $14,000 a year.

When he announced his resignation from the air force, Montgomery said he was refusing to apply for retirement and a pension because he wanted to support himself.

There were rumors at the time of his announced resignation that he would become a vice president of a big commercial airline, but he refused to comment.

Montgomery, with 21 years' service in the air force at the age of 43, was regarded as one of its most brilliant young leaders. He was a brigadier general at the age of 35, and was named Eighth Air Force commander in May of 1953.

Maternity Problem Speeds Production On '1984' Film

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON —UP— The interesting task of turning George Orwell's "1984" into a motion picture became even more interesting recently when Jan Sterling discovered she had miscaluculated the date on which she expects to become a mother.

The blonde beauty, on sound advice, was anticipating the arrival of Adams Douglas (that's the name, boy or girl) in November when suddenly she was made to realize that the date must be wrong.

"Now," she said, "the new date is the end of September or early in October and if anything happens to delay this film, they'll have to shoot me all in closeups, head and shoulders only. And I won't mind that at all."

The off-screen wife of actor Paul Douglas said an alternative suggestion was that she speak her lines over her shoulder, back to camera.

"End printable suggestions," she laughed, as happy a mother-to-be as one could hope to see even though on her arm there was a brassard inscribed:

"Anti-Sex League."

"You should," said the co-star Edmund O'Brien, "have joined the league a few months earlier so we wouldn't have to hurry this way."

There is an air of excitement around Columbia Pictures studios where Orwell's grim classic of life under a dictatorship is nearing the screen. This may be due to the fact that for the first time a movie company has the benefit of previous nationwide television performances on both sides of the Atlantic.

"We know exactly how Europeans as well as Americans reacted to what they saw on their screens," said Producer N. Peter Rathvon, "and this has enabled us to concentrate the impact of the story. For one thing, we have discovered that the love interest is more important than might have been guessed from the book alone."

O'Brien play "Winston Smith" who revolts against the totalitarian regime. Miss Sterling is "Julia," his girl friend. Their doomed love story begins over bowls of bean soup while, at the next table, a girl is explaining the aims of the Anti-Sex League — a group that exists only in "1984."

"Sex is a waste of good energy," the girl says.

"I almost choked on my soup," Miss Sterling confided later.

Resolution Condemns Israel

CAIRO —UP— The United Nations Egyptian - Israeli Armistice Commission, in one of its most bitter censures to date, Wednesday condemned Israel for "deliberate, brutal aggression" against Egyptian defense positions May 18 in the Gaza Strip. The resolution followed a six-hour meeting Wednesday over an Egyptian complaint.

Ramsey Loses Bid To Bar Probe Of Campaign Funds

AUSTIN —UP— The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday made final its ruling denying Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey's plea for an order barring the taking of testimony in connection with his campaign expenses last summer.

The court denied a motion for rehearing of its opinion of May 4 ruling against Ramsey. Associate Jutice Clyde E. Smith dissented from Wedneday's holding.

The legal action was brought by C. T. Johnson, Austin businessman and defeated opponent of Ramsey in last summer's Democratic primary. Johnson sought an order making admissible in possible later legal action a depoition he asked to be taken from Vernon T. Sanford, executive secretary of the Texas Press Asociation.

Smith said Johnson's petition was "extremely vague" about what kind of lawsuit he intends to bring, "and an attorney for the prospective defendant is forced to shoot in the dark at a moving target in examining the witnesses, without anything more than inferences concerning the issue which will be raised therein."

The dissent said Johnson should be required to make a "clear showing of good and sufficient reazons why he cannot immediately institute suit and utilize ordinary deposition procedure."

Ramsey's attorneys, Smith said, "literally will have to 'cover the waterfront'."

Johnson's legal action, Smith added, doesn't provide a clue as to whether a suit will be brought against Ramsey, against his campaign manager or assistants, or against a third party who contributed to Ramsey's campaign, perhaps without Ramsey's knowledge.

"If such a prospective litigant can be forced to take a deposition under such conditions, the door is wide open to the rankest of 'fishing' expeditions," Smith said.

Smith also said venue of the case should not lie in Travis county, pointing out Ramsey is a resident of San Augustine county.

If Johnson can bring suit against Ramsey in Travis county, Smith said, "he can, with equal reason, proceed against relator in Dallam county, in El Paso county, in Orange county, in Bowie county, or in any other county from one corner to the other in this state."

IF PAMPA FANS WANT to be assured of seeing ball games such as those two at Oiler Park last night, we urge all who can to help the Oilers over the hump financially by securing season books.

It is virtually a must for the local fans to get behind the "emergency ticket drive" to keep the Oilers in business.

You'll recall that the Pampa Oilers Community Baseball Association said before the season that if 2,000 season books could be sold that the Oilers could operate for the entire season in the black.

But the season ticket drive fell some 700 short of that figure as 1,300 were sold.

By cutting corners here and there, the POCBA has been able to cut down the 2,000 goal by 200 books which would be 1,800.

But even at that we're still 500 shy of that figure, thus the emergency ticket drive.

These season books are still selling at $20 per book and each book contains 70 tickets.

You might say "there aren't 70 games left so why buy a season book?"

Well, it's true that there aren't 70 games left but you can still save money by using only one ticket per game for rest of the season. But, in all probability, you'll be taking guests now and then and before you know it you will be using up your season book.

We urge one and all to get behind the ticket drive. Just contact any member of the POCBA or pick up the books at the ticket booth at Oiler Park during the current homestand.

EL PASO, WHO MOVES IN for a two-game series with the Oilers tomorrow is travelling in style these days.

Owner Dick Azar is equipping a bus with sleeping facilities. It will have pullman seats that can be made into beds.

In addition to sleeping accomodations the bus will have individual reading lights, soft music, built in card tables and ice water.

Designed primarily to furnish the players with safe and comfortable transportation on trips in the far-flung league, Azar and Manager Syd Cohen figure the bus can well win a dozen games for them over the season by getting the players to the parks rested and ready to play baseball.

The bus was bought in an Army surplus sale. The seats were ripped out and pullman seats installed. It will accommodate 18 players and Manager Cohen.

Phillips Thumps Conoco, 11 To 2

James Shew pitched Phillips to an 11-2 victory over Conoco in an Industrial League softball game last night.

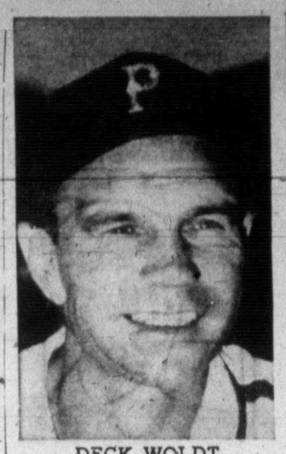

Shew blanked Conoco the first five innings before gliving up his two runs.

Phillips backed Shew with three home runs. Eugene Beaty hit one in the fourth inning; Harold Lewis and Alvin Ward each connected for the circuit in the sixth.

Herbert Lippe absorbed the loss for Conoco.

Retired Player Returns

MONTREAL — UP — Gerry (Vestpocket) McNeil, a goal-tender for the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League for four seasons before his retirement last season, has agreed to return to the Montreal nets next season. McNeil will have to battle Jacques Plante for the first string job.

DECK WOLDT
. . . back in Oiler lineup

Martin Hurt; Woldt Signs; Seitz Returns

Jim Martin, regular Oiler catcher, was lost to the Oilers for 10 days last night when he was hit on a finger by a foul tip in the second game of the doubleheader with the Albuquerque Dukes.

X-rays revealed that the middle finger on Martin's hand was dislocated and a chipped bone on the upper part of the finger. Martin went into the game with a badly bruised hand.

Deck Woldt, recently signed as the Oiler business manager, will be inserted on the Oiler playing roster during Martin's absence. Woldt will be in centerfield tonight.

Paul Halter, who took over Martin's catching duties last night, will handle the backstop duties until Martin returns.

Tonight will also mark the reappearance of Oiler manager Grover Seitz. The Oiler skipper ended a five-day suspension last night following last Friday's rhubarbs at Clovis.

Seitz met with league president Hal Sayles and the umpires involved in last Friday's ruckus, John Petrock and Warren Helkie, at Amarillo this afternoon.

Seitz will return in time to direct the Oilers in tonight's series finale with the Dukes.

Hardaway Bats Oilers To Double Win

Oilers Hike Lead With Twin Wins

By UNITED PRESS

Pampa stretched its West Texas-New Mexico League lead to two full games Wednesday night.

Pampa dropped Albuquerque by identical 4 to 3 scores in both ends of a doubleheader. Second place Plainview had to settle for a split with Amarillo, losing the first 2 to 0 and taking the second 3 to 0.

Abilene and Clovis also split a twin bill. The Blue Sox won the opener 5 to 1, but dropped the nightcap 9 to 7.

In the only single game played Lubbock edged El Paso 12 to 11.

Thursday night the teams continue the series with El Paso at Lubbock, Clovis at Abilene, Albuquerque at Pampa and Plainview at Amarillo.

Abilene won its first game on the three-hit pitching of Edd Kapp. The Blue Sox got six hits off loser Tom Gallegher.

Clovis scored a tie-breaking run in the ninth on Lincoln Boyd's single and then added another on an error to win the second game.

Bob Pascal hit a three-run homer for Abilene in the fourth.

Chuck Thomas drew a walk with the bases loaded with two out in the bottom of the ninth to force in the winning run as Amarillo won the first game against Plainview.

Taft Wright of the Gold Sox sent the game into extra innings with a tying homer in the seventh. David Schleich was the winner on a three-hitter.

In the seven-inning second game Jim Lemon pitched a four-hit shutout to win for Plainview.

Curtis Hardaway's clutch hitting helped Pampa to its sweep. In the first game he hit a winning home run in the seventh, and in the second, he punched a single in the ninth which broke up a contest.

Tom Pollet hurled a five-hitter to win the first game. Reliefer Dean Higgins received credit for the second contest.

Bob Galey singled home the tying and winning runs in the last of the ninth inning to wind up a four-run rally as Lubbock nipped El Paso.

Reliefer Darrell Thacker was the winner. Kenny Yoke took the loss.

PWGA Schedules 3-Hole Tourney

The Pampa Women's Golf Association will stage a three-hole golf tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the Pampa Country Club course.

Entry fee for the tournament will be 25 cents. The entry deadline is at noon Friday.

There will be three flights, including one for the beginners. Those who have never played golf will play in the beginners flight.

Anyone wishing to enter the 3-hole tournament this week end are asked to contact Mrs. Scott (Lil) Hall or register at the Country Club pro shop.

The PWGA has also scheduled a Scotch Foursome tournament for July 4.

Ags Ousted From NCAA

OMAHA, Neb. —UP— Well-rested Western Michigan sends its ace left-hander, Gary Graham, against Wake Forest's right-handed sophomore, Buck Fichter, Thursday night in the championship game of the NCAA college world series.

Wake Forest won a berth in the finals Wednesday night by blanking Oklahoma A&M 2-0 behind the four-hit pitching of John Stokoe. Western Michigan drew a bye Wednesday night because it was the last team to lose in the double-elimination tournament.

Thursday night's battle will be the third meeting between Wake Forest and Western Michigan. The Michigan team won the first game 9-0, while the Deacons took the second 10-7.

Wake Forest got a masterful pitching performance from Stokoe in its win over Oklahoma A&M. Stokoe fanned nine batters and proved cool in the clutch as he retired the side after two men had reached base in each of the first, fourth, sixth and seventh innings.

Aggie hurler Bob Garrett allowed only three hits but walked six.

Third baseman Bill Barnes figured in both of Wake Forest's runs. He singled home the first run in the third and then scored in the sixth after reaching base on an error.

Bell Softball Tournament Starts Tonight

The Bell Telephone Invitational Tournament, postponed from last week, will be played this week end, starting tonight.

Only one game was played last week before cold and rain halted activity in the first annual tournament.

Plains Chevrolet of Amarillo defeated Phillips of Pampa in the lone game. This game remains as part of the tournament as the Amarilloans are already in the semi-finals.

Phillips, however, will play an exhibition game in tonight's opener of a doubleheader. The Oilers will meet a team from Amarillo Air Base.

In the second game of tonight's twinbill, Philblack of Borger will meet the Memphis All-Stars.

The first game tonight will start at 7:30.

Only one change was necessary in the tournament line-up as a result of the postponement of the tournament. Phillips Men's Club of Borger was unable to come back this week for the tournament but the Borger team is being replaced by another top notch team of the Panhandle area, K. C. Steakhouse of Shamrock.

K. C. Steakhouse will meet Plains Machinery of Amarillo in tomorrow's first game while Bell Telephone and Hawbaker of Amarillo meet in the second game, concluding the first round of play.

Semi - finals and finals will be played Saturday night.

The tournament is being unreeled on the Phillips diamond in Bowers City, seven miles south of Pampa.

Admission prices each night have been set at 25 cents.

'Buddy's Night' In Series Finale

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

In two story-book finishes, the Pampa Oilers treated a paid crowd of 1,101 fans to a double victory over the Albuquerque Dukes last night at Oiler Park, the locals winning both games by identical 4-3 scores.

Third Baseman Curtis Hardway was the "man of the hour" for the Oilers in the twin triumphs. Hardaway delivered the winning blow in each game, both coming in the final inning.

Hardaway smashed a home run in the bottom of the seventh inning in the first game to snap a 3-3 tie and break up the contest. And if that wasn't enough, Hardaway finished off a brilliant night's work in the nightcap when he singled with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to score two runs and erase a 3-2 deficit, giving the Oilers a complete sweep of the twinbill.

The Oilers and Dukes will conclude their four-game series tonight. Jack Venable, who is sporting an 8-3 record, will handle tonight's mound duties for the Oilers, Manager Eddie Bockman may call upon a former Oiler, Jose Valesquez, to go for the Dukes in tonight's finale.

Pollet, Higgins Win

Tom Pollet and Dean Higgins picked up the wins in last night's twinbill. The win gave Pollet an 8-2 record for the season while Higgins drew even with the board at 2-2.

Tonight will be "Buddy's Super Market Night" at Oiler Park as the Oilers and Dukes complete a four-game series.

Buddy's will give away three certificates good for $5 worth of groceries.

The drawings will be held tonight in the third, fifth and seventh innings.

Pampa Coca Cola gave away six picnic packs last night. Winners of the packs were Mrs. Ken McGuire, Jerry Fulton, E. W. Meadows, Hilton King, DeLea Vicars and Joy Thomas.

The Oilers opened up the lid lifter with three-run spree in the first inning, coming on three hits.

Little Rach Slider led with a double to right center and promptly scored on a single through the box by Hardaway. Paul Halter was hit by a pitched ball, moving Hardaway to second, and Dick Hairston singled down the right field line to send Hardaway across with run No. 2. Halter going to third on the play.

Halter then scored the third run of the inning when Duke pitcher Bud Bauhofer uncorked a wild pitch.

Buddy Woods of the Oilers and Ted Shandor of the Dukes hooked up in a brilliant mound duel in the nightcap. Woods blanked the Dukes seven innings while Shandor held the Oilers runless on two hits the first six frames.

The Oilers then reached Shandor for three hits and two runs in the seventh to take a 2-0 lead. Acting manager Joe Fortin opened the Oiler seventh with a single and came all the way home on a double to left center by Hairston. Hairston then scored on a single by Carmona to make it 2-0.

Dukes Battle Back

Albuquerque battled back to tie the count at 2-2 in the eighth and drove Woods from the hill.

Pollet got into trouble in the ninth when he walked the first two Dukes to face him and Higgins was summoned to his rescue. Higgins gave up a bunt single to Santiago and Felix Guzman of the Dukes attempted to score all the way from second but was thrown out at the plate by Hardaway.

Shandor moved to third on the play and scored the lead run when relief catcher Paul Halter threw wild at third. That was the end of the Duke rally, a double play executed by Pete Carmona choking off further damage.

In the Oiler ninth, Carmona singled with one away, moved to second on a base on balls to Sonny Tims. Both moved up on a passed ball while pinch-hitter Jack Venable was at bat. Venable eventually struck out but Slider kept the Oiler hopes alive by drawing a free pass to first base to load the bases.

Then Hardaway came through with his timely single to the left field corner and Carmona and Tims raced across with the tieing and winning runs.

Fox Goes On Hit Rampage As Chisox Gain On Yanks

By UNITED PRESS

Nelson Fox weighs in at a mere 142 pounds, tobacco chaw and all, but he's swinging the big stick in the Chicago White Sox' June drive to wrest the American League lead from the New York Yankees.

Fox, called "the greatest player pound for pound in the game today" by White Sox General Manager Frank Lane, slashed a homer and two singles in each game Wednesday night as Chicago divided a doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles. The split moved the White Sox to within two games of the Yankees and gave them a one-game lead over the third-place Cleveland Indians.

Fox' six hits in eight tries raised his batting average to .323 and the two homers gave him a total of five for the season — a personal single season high. He's driven in 25 runs this year and has 20 extra base blows among his 71 hits.

Bobby Young's eighth-inning single drove in Gol Coan and negated Fox' first-game heroics as the Orioles scored a 6-5 victory. But Nellie homered in the third inning and also delivered a single when the White Sox scored their second run to a 2-0 nightcap victory.

Another Shut-Out

Mike Fornieles, Billy Pierce and Sandy Consuegra all pitched in the nightcap as White Sox pitchers achieved their fourth shutout in their last six games.

Billy Hoeft gained credit for his sixth victory with relief aid from Werner Birrer in the ninth as the 8-6. Jim Delsing and Frank House homered for the Tigers while sub first-baseman Ed Robinson hit Nos. 12 and 13 for the Yankees.

Southpaw Dean Stone limited the Indians to three singles in piloting the Washington Senators to a 7-0 triumph. The Senators, who snapped a seven-game losing streak as well as Cleveland's five-game winning skein, knocked out Bob Feller in a six-run fourth frame.

Mel Parnell yielded three homers and needed Tom Hurd's help in the ninth inning but registered his first win of 1955 as the Boston Red Sox beat the Kansas City Athletics 9-6 in the other American League game.

Dodgers Maintain Lead

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers bowed to the Cincinnati Redlegs 5-2, but maintained their 11 1-2 game hold on first place when the New York Giants beat the second-place Chicago Cubs 7-2. The Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Milwaukee Braves 4-0 and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3 in other games.

Rookie Rudy Minarcin, who pitched a one-hitter in his previous start, limited the Dodgers to four hits and had a shutout until the ninth when Junior Gilliam hit a two-run homer.

Paul Giel, $45,000 bonus pitcher and former Minnesota football star, won his first big league game for the Giants.

Wednesday's Star

Nelson Fox of the White Sox, who had six hits in eight at-bats during a doubleheader with the Orioles.

National Open Begins Today

SAN FRANCISCO —UP— It's the oldtimers versus the youngsters, with old man par in between, as the 55th annual National Open golf tournament got underway Thursday on the Olympic Club lakewide course that has been dubbed "the monster."

The names of Dr. Gary Middlecoff, Sam Snead and Ben Hogan, among the veteran campaigners, are listed as the choices to win this most-coveted of all crowns.

But it is a gruelling test on an exacting course and for that reason such brilliant young shot-makers as Gene Littler, Dick Mayer, Bob Rosburg and Mike Souchak also are given a good chance to cop the big prize.

Kist Bottlers Hand First National Bank First Loss Of Season In Pony Loop 8-1

First National Bank suffered its first loss of the season yesterday when the Kist Bottlers staged an 8-1 upset in the Pony League tilt.

In other games, Cabot and Spokesman moved a notch closer to the Little League titles in yesterday's activity. Both teams clinched ties for the first half crowns.

Cabo downed Tom Rose, 9-3, for its sixth win in seven starts in the Eastern LL and the Spokesman edged Jeffries Trucking, 5-4, to also win its sixth tilt against one loss.

Both Tom Rose and Jeffries, yesterday's losers, were eliminated from the first half championship running. The only challengers left now in the Little League are Utility Oil in the Western and Hoffman Oil in the Eastern.

Hoffman meets Cabot today as a makeup of a previous postponed game. Should Cabot win, she would win the title outright. In the event Hoffman should win, each would have a make up game still to be played before the first half title is passed out.

Hoffman is dormie at this point with a 4-3 record.

Utility Oil plays Jeffries today in the Western. The Oilers have a 4-3 record and can still tie the Spokesman for the first half crown providing the Spokesman loses both of its remaining games, both of which will be against Your Laundry.

Pampa Druggists moved into contention for the first half crown in Pony as result of yesterday's upset of First National Bank.

The Druggists meet Kist today and a victory would still keep the Druggist title hopes alive.

First National meets Elmer's tomorrow to wind up the first half in the Pony League race. In the event Pampa Druggists win today and First National triumphs tomorrow, the 1-1 tie game between the Bankers and Druggists will be played over at a date not yet determined.

Hoover Nips News, 6-4,

In the play-off yesterday evening of a game originally scheduled for June 9th, the Hoover Oil Company defeated the Pampa Daily News, 6-4, i na Teen-Age League game at Harvester Park.

Jimmy Parrish never allowed more than one hit in an inning except the third, when the News got to him for three, but a fine throw from Gene Brown, Hoover right fielder, to cut down Cecil Reynolds at the plate, limited the News to one run in that inning.

Gene Brown also made another fine throw to the plate to complete a double play in the second inning, when, after catching Bill Fullenwider's fly for the second out, he caught Dickie Mauldin trying to score after the catch.

Cecil Reynolds struck out ten Oilers, but he also walked the same number. In fact, the first two Oiler runs were scored without the aid of a base hit.

Jimmy Parrish led the victors with three hits out of four tries. Johnny Claunch and Bill Brown each collected doubles for the Oilers.

A good catch in left field by Procter, and Claunch's clean steal of home for the Oilers first run in the second inning, featured the game.

Peacock KOs Macias In 3rd

LOS ANGELES —UP— Rugged Bill (Sweetpea) Peacock sought a crack at France's Robert Cohen Thursday after knocking out Raul (Raton) Macias, the National Boxweight champion, in a non-title bout.

Peacock, who broke Macias' jaw with his smashing knockout punch in Wednesday night's nationally-televised fight said he feels ready for Cohen, who France claims as the world bantam king.

The scrappy Negro boxer upset his pre-ring rating as a 3-1 underdog when he sent Macias reeling to the canvas with a hard left to the head at two minutes and 29 seconds of the third heat of the scheduled 10-rounder before more than 8,000 fans at Olympic auditorium.

Macias was rushed to Georgia Street receiving hospital where doctors said he suffered a broken right jaw and a broken lower left jaw. He was transferred to Good Samaritan Hospital soon afterward. His condition was described as "satisfactory."

Attendants said he would be hospitalized "for about two days."

It was the first defeat in 15 professional fights for the Mexico City battler.

His manager, Joe Stanley, said Macias would give the Los Angeles fighter a shot at the title, but "the bout will have to be at 118 pounds for Macias and in Mexico City." Macias weighed in Wednesday at 122 3-4, while Peacock, formerly of Philadelphia, hit the scales at 121 1-2.

Macias led the scoring going into the ill-fated third when Peacock stepped in for a toe-to-toe slugfest and kept up a barrage of hard lefts and rights until the crucial blow that put the NBA champ away.

Hairston Was An All-Around Athlete In H-School, College

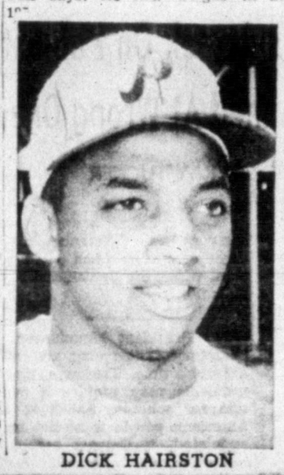

(This is the first of a series of thumbnail sketches of members of the 1955 Pampa Oilers).

Dick Hairston, Oiler rightfielder, was an all-around athlete in high school and college.

Hairston lettered in four sports at Wendell Phillips High School in Chicago, Ill., football, basketball, track and baseball. He played fullback in football, forward in basketball, third base in baseball and ran the 100 and 220-yard dashes in track.

From high school Hairston played three seasons of football at Tennessee State. He made the all-Midwestern Conference team as a halfback in 1952-53 while playing with Tennessee State.

Hairston tipped the scales at 172 pounds during his college football days. He now weighs in at 1[illegible]

DICK HAIRSTON

Following the 1953 football season, Hairston left college to seek a professional baseball career.

He played with the Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League in 1953.

Then, in 1954, Hairston came to Pampa to enter organized baseball for the first time. He was named on the All-West Texas-New Mexico League rookie team last summer.

Hairston hit .347 last year in his first year in organized baseball. Included among his 166 hits last season were 46 doubles, four triples and 20 homeruns. In addition, Hairston drove in 105 runs, drew 80 bases on balls and scored 119 runs.

Hairston, who bats left but throws right, is 23 years of age. He was born in Columbus, Miss., April 28, 1932.

Hairston married while attending Tennessee State. His wife attended school there last spring. She has joined her husband here.

Dick lists hunting and fishing as his hobbies.

In the off season last winter, Hairston did maintenance work at Tennessee State.

Hairston plans to play winter ball next winter.

Braves Get Kid Hurler

MILWAUKEE —UP— Bob Lee, Kenosha, Wis., high school pitcher Wednesday became the second hurler from that school to sign a contract with the Milwaukee Braves within two days. Lee, who had a 6-1 won-lost record, will report to Corpus Christi. The Braves signed Bob Hartman on Tuesday and sent him to Toledo of the American Association.

Labor Boss Collusion

Collusion is an ugly word. It indicates that two or more persons or groups have secretly plotted to deprive an individual or another group of property or rights normally theirs.

After the revelation in the Editor and Publisher magazine for May 21, 1955, there can be no doubt that the government and the unions have entered into a collusive effort to deprive individuals of their rights as guaranteed by the Constitution.

The case in point is provided by a decision of Justice Francis Bergan of Albany, New York, serving there with the Appellate Division, Third Department. Justice Bergan has ruled that a machinist who lost his job in a union shop because he exercised his right of choice and refused to join the union, was properly disqualified thereby from receiving unemployment payments.

In short, the government, through its immoral compulsory insurance program, is now going to back up the unions and compel people to join unions or forfeit their unemployment insurance payments. The results of this decision could be far-reaching. It has been a long time since we have seen anything quite as flagrantly wrong and improper as this.

Justice Bergan has used as his reason for this opinion the statement that unions form one of the realities of the existing industrial scene and it is futile to try to arrive at a decision without taking them into account. If the same reasoning is to guide Bergan or other judges in the future, he, or they might just as logically rule that murder is a fact, therefore, unpleasant thought it may be, we may as well take into consideration while we are judging a murderer and concede that he had certain rights in the matter.

If this is the depth to which an egg-head jurist can descend, then we would certainly be better off without a court of law. The unions may be a fact . . . no one is denying their existence . . . but to assume that merely because they exist, they must be right to some degree is to abuse and abose the cburts and to abandon man's normal and customary code of morals and ethics.

Certainly, the individual machinist had a perfect right not to join a union. Perhaps such membership to him would have been immoral, as indeed it should be to any right-thinking individual. By refusing to join this compulsory group of extortionists he was exercising his rights as an individual, and all the rules by all the judges in the world will not alter those rights.
judges in the world will not altar those rights.
union right, and that therefore the machinist was not entitled to any unemployment coverage is to place a weapon in the hands of the labor boss, backed by the government, which leaves few avenues of escape for the man who wants to maintain his individuality.

We hope that someone will come forward to assist this dis-employed machinist so that he can fight the battle right up to the highest court in the land. However, with indications being what they are from the supreme body, it is already doubtful if justice can ever be his. This is, indeed, a sad state of affairs. There can now be no question but that collusion exists between the labor bosses and certain branches of the government.

THE NATION'S PRESS

(The Chicago Tribune)

Coal, ground up and suspended in water, will be moved 108 miles thru a pipe line from Ohio mines to the generating plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company, under a plan announced by that company and Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal company, the nation's biggest independent producer.

The pipe line, an experimental venture, will transmit a little more than a million tons of coal a year. It is the second project proposed in Ohio to provide cheaper transportation for coal. The legislature refused to give permission for construction of a belt transmission system across the state a few years ago, largely because of opposition by coal hauling railroads.

The pipe line will cost only 8 to 10 million dollars, less than a tenth of the estimated cost of the belt scheme. This time some of the coal roads are joining in the financing. It occurs that this might also provide an investment opportunity for John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers.

Altho Mr. Lewis has sometimes been called the best oil salesman in the country, he has been in many respects an enlightened union boss. It is greatly to his credit that he has never placed any barriers in the way of mechanization of mines, with the result that the American coal miner produces more than seven times as much coal per day as the British miner.

Their productivity does a good deal to offset the high hourly wage of the American miners. But coal at the minehead is worth only about half as much as coal in the storage pile of the average big industrial user. The difference in price represents the cost of hauling it to market.

Few mines find it profitable to ship coal more than 200 miles by rail into a competitive market. Industries which use large quantities of fuel have to stay reasonably close to mines. It isn't the beautiful view of Lake Michigan that makes Chicago a great industrial center. It is the coal mines of Illinois, Indiana, and western Kentucky.

The Ohio pipe line, some skeptics say, may run into difficulties in cold weather. Chicago, however has, as it were, a free, year 'round pipe line that does much to reduce its fuel and power costs. Half of the coal used by the Commonwealth Edison company makes most of its trip from central Illinois in river barges some of which will hold as many tons as 30 railroad gondolas. Other Chicago industries also get their coal by barge, and millions of tons are transshipped here from rail to lake carriers.

Any improvement in the efficiency of carrying coal is going to make more jobs for miners and permit expansion of industry farther from the mines. The effect on railroads, would they lose a substantial part of the rich coal traffic, would be another and quite vexing problem.

Pity The Poor High School Graduates

Now that millions of the youth of the land are graduating from government high schools we should take stock and see whether they should be pitied or congratulated.

These young people have been conscripted for 12 years and have come in contact with teachers who do not believe they need to teach well enough that people will voluntarily pay them for their services. They have come in contact with teachers who cannot tell the difference between their beliefs in government than those of Karl Marx other than degrees. They have come in contact with teachers who are not enough interested themselves in education that they are willing to answer certain questions on human relations. They are coming in contact with teachers who are not practicing the Golden Rule in their occupation — nor are they obeying the Coveting Commandment or the Stealing Commandment. They are coming in contact with teachers who are practicing that the state is master rather than the servant of the individual. They are coming in contact with teachers who are worshiping the Golden Calf of the majority — who have to contend that the majority has an ethical right to do things that would be unethical and unjust if done by an individual.

And these youths are told repeatedly, time and time again, that these teachers are educators instead of what they really are — propagandists for a bigger and bigger government and that individuals must give up some of their liberties that our Founding Fathers pledged their lives, their fortunes and sacred honor to preserve. They want the youth to give up this liberty which is simply the absence of aggressive force or the threats of it. They have to teach by example that some aggressive force is good.

These youths are being subjected in their 12 years of schooling to what Rose Wilder Lane calls "the primary tyranny" and Isabel Paterson calls "tyranny naked." Both of these ladies will answer questions about what they are advocating, while the teachers the youths are subjected to will not.

Besides this, the youths are lead to believe by their government "educators" that they are greatly in debt to mankind for their "education." The fact of the matter is that having the youths subjected to 12 years of this kind of environment makes it infinitely more difficult for them ever to get a real education. An education that teaches the youth that each individual and every group should respect human initiative.

These graduates will come out of school owing on an average, including government guarantees, of $4,000 a piece. This is due to the "educators" who have been "educating" them by running the children in debt to the extent of $4,000 each.

One wonders what kind of a Declaration of Independence would have been written had the signers of the Declaration of Independence been subjected to the same kind of collectivism and statism that the present youths are subjected to. Remember not a single one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence went to state controlled schools.

So instead of congratulating the youth of the land for getting their diplomas, we should bow our heads in shame that they have been obliged to largely waste 12 years of their lives — and that it has been made harder for them to get an understanding of God's laws than it would have been had they never been exposed to this kind of Collectivism. It makes it infinitely more difficult for them ever to come to know that reverence for the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. Instead they have been taught that reverence for the state is the beginning of wisdom. The big problem is to get them to outgrow that.

Yes, we should have pity and patience for the graduates who have been subjected to this kind of tyranny.

The columns are open to refute the above.

I think one of the reasons the new West German Republic is making such progress is that its legislators have so little to distract them. Bonn, the capital, is a very quiet town.

One politician looked around, as he got off the train and asked, "Where's the night life around here?"

"She went home half hour ago," replied the station master.

Nixon's Attack On Publicity Men Aimed At Wrong Ones

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon recently accused the whole batch of government press agents of "falling down on the job" at a special session called to consider the Administration's "unfortunate public relations." This has been a sore point with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., who used to operate Tom Dewey's highly efficient advertising bureau at Albany.

Nixon charged that many of his listeners, who are "hangovers" from the Truman regime, were not sympathetic to Ike's policies. He said that he did not think they exerted themselves sufficiently to "put the President's best foot forward."

It was a rough session. Nixon singled out individuals by name, and cited specific incidents of what he regarded as "fumbling the ball" and "headline dragging." When several veteran publicists in his audience ventured to explain that they were "technicians" rather than partisan propagandists, his reply was short but not soft.

Nixon should have leveled his criticism at the Administration's top officials and policy-makers instead of at the public relations group, in the opinion of some of his victims, who have been around Washington far longer than he has.

After a slow and sometimes wobbly start, the "technicians" are doing a good job, especially at State, Treasury, Internal Revenue and Commerce. They hand out whatever news or information their superiors permit them to disclose, and that is their sole responsibility.

And the experience of the President's brother — Milton Eisenhower — justifies retention of "hangovers." Although brought to Washington to publicize Coolidge's ultraconservative farm policies, he became a sympathetic propagandist for Hnery A. Wallace and Rex Tugwell, who advocated, respectively, "a quart of American milk every day for every Hottentot" and "rolling up our sleeves to remake the world."

Nixon, of course, gave no chance to the government press agents to present their grievances, even if they had dared to do so. But they could have told him that it is impossible for them to fulfill their responsibilities when their bosses cannot agree on basic policy, or when their chiefs talk too much and too inconsistently. There can be no agreement on publicity at the bottom, if there is no unity on policy at the top.

Nixon, for instance, is the prize example of copywriters' predicament. He has portrayed the July Conference of the "Big Four" powers at Geneva as last chance to save civilization from atomic destruction. It will be calamitous, he says, if the two worlds cannot compose basic differences in a few days of conversation — a viewpoint which the British and French ridicule.

But President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles sing an entirely different tune. Ike says that the problems may require a generation for solution, and that the American people must not be disappointed, if Geneva results are comparatively barren. Dulles writes off the affair with diplomatic deprecation.

Under such circumstances, which "Eisenhower foot" should the publicists try to "putforward"?

Nor is Nixon the only offender. Secretary Ezra Taft Benson fires a man on the ground that he is an alleged security risk, and Harold E. Stassen immediately hires the man. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson minimizes Russia's new aerial advances on a Monday, and the next week he asks Congress for $5,000,000 in order to catch up with the Reds.

If there is to be any improvement in the Administration's public relations, and old-time correspondents agree that they need it, Ike himself must assume the task of reform.

He cannot delegate it to Nixon, or to Sherman Adams, his deeply disliked White House Chief of Staff. It is up to Eisenhower himself, nobody else. But, for some strange reason, he neglects it completely.

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

Harold E. Stassen is reported as having said the other day: "The fact is that the United States has changed capitalism. The conservative, nineteenth century capitalism has evolved into a people's capitalism in which the people are reaping the benefits of a prosperous economy."

As an exercise in political double talk, this is a fairly creditable effort; but, as an explanation of economics, it is a complete fiasco.

The truth is that there is just as much possibility of having a "changed capitalism" as there is of having a changed multiplication table. The fact that we used to be multiplying, say, two by three and that we are now multiplying, mayhap, five by six doesn't mean that we have "evolved" the nineteen century multiplication table into a new "people's" system of mathematics.

It simply means that, over the years, we have invested our minds and our money in more efficient means of making new and better products. And, were it not for the fact that government siphons off a huge percentage of potential additional investment, we should now be even higher than we are on our economic multiplication table.

But it is the same table — and always will be — Stassen's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding.

A woman driver upon making an illegal left turn was motioned to pull over to the curb by a traffic officer.

After having written out a ticket, the officer inquired,

Officer — May I ask how old you are?

Trying to be smart, the woman retorted,

Woman — I'm 95 to you! (as she drove off).

Shortly afterward she received a notice from the state license bureau which read, "Dear Madam — will you please report at this office and explain why you are driving an automobile at the age of 95 years?"

Fair Enough

Juvenile Delinquency Gets Assist From Union Crimes

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

"Juvenile delinquecy" is a fake term used to pretend that young criminals are not criminals. It is a fact that these people got a very bad example from government, national and local, in the riotous actions of unions. They may reasonably plead that this criminal conduct under the patronage of the Roosevelt-Truman regime and local subsidiaries gave them an impression that they could get away with violent crime including wanton murder. However, notwithstanding psychiatric fakers, they all know that their crimes are crimes and they commit their crimes of their free will.

"Compulsion neurosis," another item in the jargon of the fakers, does not exist except in their jargon and in a small minority of these criminals who actually are crazy. If a young criminal actually is so crazy that he cannot refrain from kicking some person to death, he ought to be put away forever. Others should be killed by the state. The law-abiding majority of our people should not be required to continue the daily risk of attack or burglary by this very small minority who have no value whatever.

The newspapers hide most of the truth of such crimes. This is censorship in the general run of cases, but there are some acts so horrible that delicacy has been the motive for suppression of facts. A New York detective rounded up a group of absolutely worthless rogues who had ambushed a woman in a park and ruined her life by an all-night program of unspeakable crimes. His accout is unprintable by present standards. They ought to be put to death, but wealthy organizations will defend them and probably get them out of prison after a few years. The Scottsboro "boys" included one specimen who waged a further career of crime after he was "vindicated." Anyone who takes credit to himself for the fruustration of justice is very hard up for creditable achievement.

I may be deceived, but it appears to me that many of the teeners of this generation are much bigger than the average of, say, 30 years ago. Perhaps it was the spinach. Anyway, many of them are giants and when they organize into gangs and go storming through the streets they are a menace which should be met with plenty of force.

During World War II a colonel working at the Pentagon argued that Ireally ought to holler-up the army's desire for a minimum draft age of 16 years. The army had its eye on strong, husky kids with the precious brashness of youth. Hitler was taking them and they were deadly in battle. The colonel came up with statistics showing that an enormous proportion of the union army in the war of secession were only 16. There were many younger than that. It is embarrassing to realize that we can draft boys to fight who have not yet had a chance to vote, but of course we overvalue the individual's vote to a large extent. What loss would any citizen suffer from denial of a vote for a county judge who probably is a booze-fighting bum chosen by the bosses of the two parties and the bums already on the bench?

Yet, a serious proposal to draft kids of 16 would arouse less protest than a proposal to get rid of young murderers permanently.

These kids do not recall the riots of the United Auto Workers and the steel workers which put down local government, including the government of Michigan, when Roosevelt was imposing union membership on millions of our workers. They were not yet born. Nevertheless, that is where they got their pattern, and they certainly do know about the crimes done in southern states last winter in the L and N railroad strike and the telephone strike. They know the FBI could break some of those cases and that federal district attorneys could get convictions that would stick. But they also know that union crimials are privileged and they may "feel" that if union murderers and train-wreckers can get away with it, they have the same privilege.

In New York the police recently broke up two gangs of big kids, each wearing its uniform with insignia, as they were about to put on a war in a park. This is ominous, but the worst of it is that the CIO did exactly that in Detroit and other cities with Roosevelt's approval and by the treasonous connivance of Governor Frank Murphy who later was made attorney general and justice of a thoroughly degraded Supreme Court as his reward for his treachery. The UAW gangs wore uniform caps and their field combat leaders wore insignia of rank. They had combat posts of command, communications and intelligence. They were an insurrectionary army, mobbing citizens and usurping the power of government.

Twice on visits to Detroit in recent years I have studied many reels of movies of the UAW riots made by General Motors in those days. Those are terrible scenes. In New York, La Guardia disarmed the cops of their clubs and encouraged Communist rioters to defy them. Women rioters spat in their faces and the poor cops had to take it.

Roosevelt mockingly said the Michigan insurrections were only assault, malicious mischief and trespass multiplied an unknown number of times.

The motto of the New York cop used to be "treat 'em rough." It was a good system and it worked.

Memory Improvement Book Doing Wonders For Old Hank

By HENRY McLEMORE

Before I forget it, let me tell you now that the book I am studying at home to improve my almost negligible memory for names and faces is Dr. Bruno Furst's "Stop Forgetting."

I have had the book less than a week but already it has done me a lot of good. I can now identify a picture of Eisenhower four times out of five without having to look at the caption, and I haven't called Mary, my wife, Penelope, Rosalie, Pearl, or Bessie Lou for two or three days.

The trick in remembering names is association. As Dr. Furst points out, if you were introduced to a Mrs. Fulton you'd likely think of Robert Fulton and his early steamboat on the Hudson. So, to fix this lady's name in your mind forever, envision her taking a ride on a Hudson steamer.

This isn't easy at first. I happened to be introduced to a Mrs. Fulton shortly after getting the book, and her name didn't suggest Robert Fulton to me, but another Fulton — Fred Fulton, a great prize fighter of long ago. So I have catalogued Mrs. Fulton in my memory as the lady wearing black tights and having two cauliflower ears.

I hope and pray that when I meet her again I don't greet her with, "Put up your dukes, Mrs. Dempsey."

Something like this happned to me yesterday, and it was pretty embarrassing. There is a lady in our neighborhood whom I see quite often who is named Mrs. Hightower. I never have been able to remember it. So I pictured her as wearing gym suit bloomers and standing on a tall water tank. The next time I saw her I said, "Good morning, Mrs. Reservoir. You look blooming today."

Dr. Furst stresses the fact that most names have a meaning, and states that if we know the meaning it will help us to remember it. He points out that Schneidermann is a difficult name but not if you know that it is German for "a man who tailors," and that Fruchtenberg is relatively simple if one knows it is "a mountain which bears fruit." So he advises we ask the meaning of names from the people who bear them.

I have been doing this of late and have to admit that I have met with indifferent success. Sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't. Lots of people don't know what their names mean, as was the case of the first man I experimented on, a chap named Neephalter.

When I asked Neephalter what his name meant he said, "You tell me, Bud. What does it mean?"

Others seem to resent being asked to explain their names. They adopt the attitude that you think their name is funny and are making sport of them. This certainly was true of a man named Gurglewood, whom I met playing golf the other day.

"Gurglewood, eh?" I said. (Dr. Furst also recommends repeating the name.) "Gurglewood, would mind telling me what Gurglewood stands for?"

Gurglewood just stalked off, after giving me a look that indicated he would like to wrap a No. 2 iron around my neck.

The people who are glad to explain their names often are so glad that a whole afternoon is shot before they get through. I liked to have never gotten away from a chap named Felonpopper. He started with the first Felonpopper and finished with the last one. The name, it seems, was given to those men in England years ago who provided bond for felons. They "popped" them out of jail — see?

PICTURE NEWS
AROUND THE WORLD

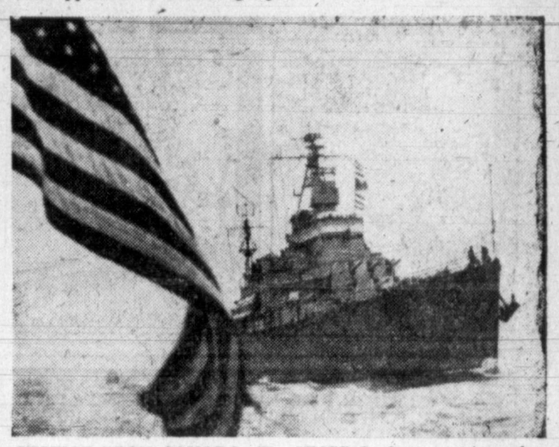

LOOK WHO'S HERE—When the folks in Lucerne, Calif., got ready for a three-day Alpine Festival, Hans, a local goat, was right in there as a star attraction. Descendants of the Swiss families who founded the town strolled the streets yodeling or just singing. The gala event took place in the Redwood country on the shores of Clear Lake where Hans usually frisks about without wearing that jaunty cap.

TASTE TEST—Lord Mayor Franz Stein, of Mainz, Germany, relies on his tongue and not his eyes to get him into the exclusive Wine Drinkers' Brotherhood. Blindfolded, he had to identify six of seven samples of wine to be admitted to the 40-member organization. Looking on are "Masters" of the brotherhood, which is about 500 years old. Strictest of the order's rules: a member must never get drunk, but must only taste, smell and enjoy the liquid sunshine.

COULD BE!—A pelican in the London Zoo may be telling a crony some sort of fish story about "the one that got away." He's a great angler, like all of his breed, and usually knows what he's talking about where fish are concerned. But he does appear to be stretching a point.

VISITOR FROM CANADA—The HMCS Quebec, a cruiser of the Royal Canadian Navy, is shown passing an American flag on her way up the Delaware River. The ship carried 200 cadets and midshipmen for a visit at the U. S. Naval Base in Philadelphia. Two Canadian destroyers were along.

SHOOTING LOW—Actor Cornel Wilde may be up in the air over his newest movie in Sun Valley, Idaho, but it's not a temperamental problem. Wilde, looking up, is on that high camera crane with film technicians as they prepare for a scene in "Storm Fear," which Wilde is directing. He's also starring in the film, thereby doing two things at once.

IN THE SWIM—Joan Faye Brown, of Cypress Gardens, Fla., went over to Clearwater Beach to have fun in the sun. Florida has a lot of natural attractions, and it's obvious to the camera lens that Joan is one of them. Her hat and bathing suit are something else worth looking at.

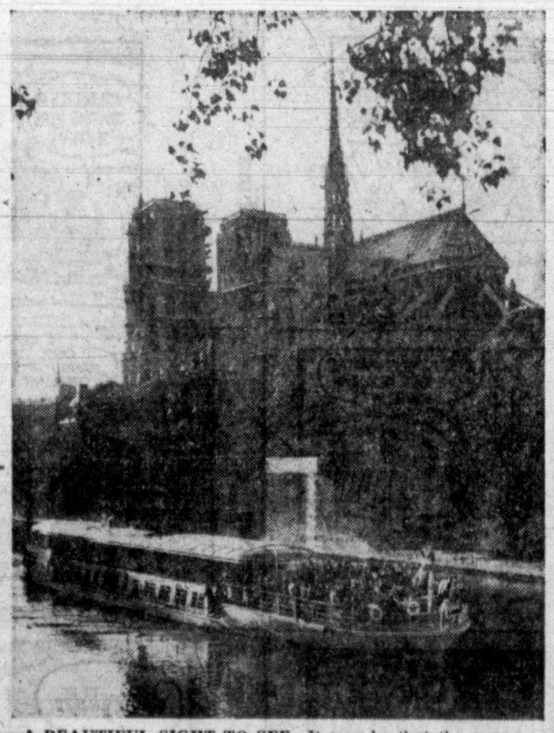

CINDER ELLA—Young Margaret Otten, 11, isn't a real chimney sweep in London, but she's certainly made up in authentic "fashion." Margaret played the part of sweep-for-a-day in a Y.W.C.A. pageant, and no one could say she didn't do her best to really live the role.

MAKE WITH A KISS—Patrice Hooper, a pretty English circus performer, is shown greeting a fellow performer in Managua, Nicaragua. The chimpanzee and Miss Hooper do an act together and there's obviously a mutual bond of affection between the two artists.

GLAMOUR GALORE—Lady lawyer Rhoda Krupka is trying to show some male members of the bar how to put some oomph into their hula at the Hotel Statler in New York. The lads were rehearsing for a frolic of the New York County Lawyers' Association.

A BEAUTIFUL SIGHT TO SEE—It may be that the passengers on that sightseeing boat are getting a fish's eye-view of Notre Dame Cathedral from the Seine River. This boat, and others like it, travel along the famed waterway through Paris for a look at familiar places.

COULD IT BE?—A hair stylist in Paris whipped up these fancy coiffures to show how the ladies "may" be wearing their hair in the year 10,000. That is, of course, if they take final and complete leave of their senses.

1 Card of Thanks 1

I cannot say and I will not say,
That she is dead, she is just away
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
She has wandered into an unknown land
And left us dreaming, how very fair
It needs must be since she lingers there
And you, O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and glad return
Think of her as faring on, as dear,
In the love of there as the love of here.
Think of her still as the same, I say;
She is not dead, she is just away,

Mrs. D. M. Whitley

Paris Sees Nude Pix Of Brando's Girl

PARIS —UP— A full-length nude portrait of Marlon Brando's fiancee looked out Thursday on the busy Place de L'Opera, mecca for foreign tourists.

The painting was put up for sale in a department store window, and French newspapers were wondering:

"Will Marlon buy it?"

The picture shows the American film star's 20-year-old girl friend, Josiane Mariani Berenger, reclining languidly on a red divan. She is wearing absolutely nothing. Displayed near her are low-neckline dresses and lingerie.

Once the undraped subject of the painting became known, large groups of curious onlookers formed in front of the store window in the bustling Boulevard des Italiens. In the crowds were many American tourists, en route to the American Express a block away, or drifting over from the Cafe de la Paix, famed gathering place of travelers.

"Will Marlon Brando buy it?" asked the newspaper L'Aurore.

The journal noted that the son of artist, Polish-born Moise Kissling, had expressed hope that the Oscar-winning actor would purchase the likeness of his loved one "despite its high price."

The price seemed adjusted to a movie star's wallet at three million francs, or $8,571. Sale of the painting is part of a charity campaign to send poor children to summer camps.

The subject of the portrait, Josiane, is the daughter of a French fisherman in the village of Bandol. She enjoyed a meteoric rise to fame last October when Brando suddenly popped up in Bandol and courted her on his motorbike.

The star of "On the Waterfront," his award-winning film, admitted last November that he had seen some of the naked pictures of his fiancee and admired them greatly.

"It's art," he said at the time. "Why should I be upset?"

The African crested porcupine is the largest living porcupine, measuring over three feet in length and weighing between 40 and 60 pounds.

Texas Growing Crops Make Comeback, Ag Experts Say

AUSTIN —UP— Growing crops over much of Texas are making a "remarkable response" to unusually favorable moisture conditions, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Wednesday.

"Crops are generally clean as the showers and rains have been well spaced," the USDA said in its weekly crop and weather bulletin.

Subsoil moisture was building up over the eastern half of Texas and good penetration was reported over much of the high and low rolling plains.

However, in sharp contrast, the Lower Rio Grande Valley and much of South Texas missed last week's showers and remained dry, the USDA said. Early dryland feed crops in that area were maturing, but yields were low and some fields were being salvaged by grazing.

Meantime, it was reported grasshoppers were causing severe damage in several blackland counties, and conditions generally favored other insect activity.

Surviving high plains wheat made good development except in local areas hit by hail. Combining of low rolling plains and cross timber wheat was interrupted at mid-week with damage in some sections from hail and heavy rain. Until rains interrupted, North Texas growers made "good progress" in harvesting small grains, the USDA said.

Except in the dry areas of South Texas, feed crops made good development and the USDA pegged the outlook as "very favorable." Corn prospects were rated as "especially promising."

Haying was active over a wide area but open weather was needed to cure the crop in some sections.

Overall prospects for the cotton crop remained "very promising." However, for best development warmer nights are needed and growers in some areas would welcome open weather for cultivating and insect poisoning, the USDA noted. Some cotton in the extreme southern low rolling plains and northern pleateau counties was damaged by a local sand storm, and heavy rains necessitated replanting in the northwest.

Rains in scattered areas of Central, East and North Texas interrupted harvest of commercial vegetables, affecting mainly the movement of tomatoes from central Texas and onions from North Texas.

However, tomatoes moved actively from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Yoakum and several East Texas points.

Active harvest of Lower Valley cantaloupes has continued a little longer than usual and supplies remained plentiful at Laredo and in the winter garden, the USDA said.

Pampa, Gray Improve Safety Rate

AUSTIN — Pampa and Gray County improved in traffic safety in 1954 while the State as a whole slipped slightly, figures of the Texas Department of Public Safety show.

Pampa suffered four traffic deaths in 1953, but none in 1954 while Gray County cut traffic fatalities from nine in 1953 to seven in 1954.

Though the number of accidents over the State decreased from 233,176 in 1953, to 208,552 in 1954, the number of fatalities climbed from 2,368 in 1953 to 2,431 in 1954.

Texas highway safety measured in the ratio of traffic deaths to total miles travelled slipped for the first time since 1950. In 1953 the rate was 6.4 fatalities per 100 million miles and the 1954 rate was 6.6 fatalities per 100 million miles.

Statisticians of the DPS figure that if the rate had remained at the 1937 level, Texas would have lost 24,313 more lives on highways than it did during the years the rate was falling. They estimate the State has saved about $826,420,000 through the increase in highway safety.

Driving too fast for conditions of the road still is the top reason for fatal accidents, the DPS experts report. They attributed 56 per cent of the fatal accidents of 1954 to that cause; while 57 per cent of the 1953 fatal accidents were so tabbed.

Other causes given for 1954 fatalities included 41 per cent driving while drinking; 13 per cent driving on the wrong side of the road; four per cent improper passing; and six per cent disregarding warning or stop signs. The percentages add up to more than 100 because several causes were often listed in the same accident.

Accused of Damaging Home

HOLLYWOOD —UP— Mario Lanza and his family were accused Thursday of doing $17,000 damages to a west Los Angeles home in the second house damage suit brought against the singer in a week. The owners charged Lanza put fences through lawns, tore out rose gardens and filled fish ponds. A judge ordered Lanza to pay $40,416 recently for damages to another home.

Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners!

162 H.P. V8
180 H.P. V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder?

You can iron it out, flat as a flounder . . . and easy as whistling!

Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire"*) . . . and pull the trigger!

Barr-r-r-r-o-o-O-O-OOM!

Mister, you got you a flat mountain!

. . . At least it feels flat. For these Chevrolet V8's gobble up the toughest grades you can ladle out. And holler for more. They love to climb, because that's just about the only time the throttle ever comes near the floorboard.

And that's a pity. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo . . . built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry, designed to gulp huge breaths of fresh air and transmute it into blazing acceleration.

So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, light and easy as a zephyr, purring out an effortless fraction of their strength.

An engineer instantly understands why these V8's are so hyper-efficient . . . how friction is held so low they need just four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more . . . how big valves let them "breathe" deeply for maximum power.

But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in, slip behind the wheel, and point the nose at the nearest hill. These V8's can do their own talking . . . and nobody argues with them!

*Optional at extra cost.
