Mrs. Pierce had been in failing health for several months and had been hospitalized since June 13 of this year. She remained in a hospital in Lubbock for several weeks prior to being moved to Lamesa on July 6.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 3 p. m., at the First Methodist Church in this city with the Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor, and the Rev. E. D. Landreth, former Lamesa pastor, officiating. Burial will be made in the Lamesa cemetery.

Pallbearers at the funeral service will be Grover Futrell, M. E. Boren, Dr. J. M. Harrington, Bill Roberts, C. A. Hollingsworth, Swanson Hurt, Ray Williams, and J. F. Barkhurst.

Born December 24, 1889 in Vernon, Mrs. Pierce was Lou Ella Duff prior to her marriage. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Duff, she made her home in Vernon until eight years of age when she moved with her family to Hobart, Oklahoma, where she received her education. She married Joe H. Pierce on March 20, 1912 in Hobart.

The couple moved to Wichita Falls and later to Dawson County, coming here in 1914. After farming in the county for two years they moved to Lamesa and put in a millinery shop.

The couple next set up a dry goods store here which operated under the name of Pierce Toggery. They were engaged in this business for a period of 28 years, after which they retired for a time.

They next purchased a variety store, later selling it and buying the Pierce Beauty Shop in September of 1943. Mr. Pierce passed away January 5, 1944 and Mrs. Pierce continued operating the beauty shop until April 11, 1945, after which she retired.

City Wide Paper Drive Slated For August 31st

Mrs. C. F. Gowen of the Central Home Demonstration Club and chairman of the local paper drive, estimates that approximately 1-2 of a carload of waste paper has been collected here and is now ready to be shipped to the paper factories.

Dawson County residents are reminded of the fact that they may leave their paper collections at the fair ground building on Friday afternoon from 5:30 to 6 p. m., on Saturday from 2 to 6 p. m., and on Tuesday from 5:30 to 6 p. m. It is announced that on Friday, August 31, a city wide drive will be conducted and members of the home demonstration council will stage a campaign to gather all collections of paper which are left for them. Detailed announcements of the city wide drive will be made later.

Mrs. Gowen reports that a large part of the paper which has already been collected is comprised of corrugated cardboard which doesn't weight as heavily as newspapers and magazines. In order to have a full 43,000 pound load of paper, she thinks the remainder of the load should be composed mainly of tightly tied bundles of newspaper and magazines.

She states that she is of the opinion that there is more than a carload of this type of paper stacked in various homes over the county, and urges everyone who possibly can to bring their paper to the trailer on the courthouse lawn Saturday, August 25, or to leave it inside the fair ground building on the designated dates.

The need for waste paper is acute and immediate, even though the war has closed. Local officials have received telegrams and other communications telling of the need for the paper.

Save all your waste paper and help with the drive.

NO SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE ACCEPTED FOR MORE THAN 2 YEARS AT BARGAIN RATES

Due to the unusually low "get acquainted" offer of $1.50 per year, no subscriptions will be accepted for more than a period of 2 years. The price for a 2 year subscription will be only $3.00. No subscriptions will be accepted at the bargain rate for less time than one year.

ATTENTION DISCHARGED VETERANS

Your discharges are recorded at the County Clerk's Office, free of charge as provided by law. You should attend to such recordings at once. Several men have lost their discharges before having them recorded, and others have carried them folded in their pocket and they had become torn, worn or soiled so that parts of them could not be read and recorded properly. This could happen to you. By recording your discharges, you will have a permanent record of it, and can always obtain a certified copy of it, which you will need if you desire to obtain any of the benefits due you as a discharged veteran. Such certified copies are likewise furnished free.

HOWARD HUMPHREY, County Clerk

CICERO SMITH LUMBER CO.

THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU.

Rom. 16:16

Don't Be A Victim Of Error

"IF THE BLIND GUIDE THE BLIND, BOTH SHALL FALL INTO A PIT" Matt. 15:14.

There are some religious people, who attend their services regularly, but who have not been baptized by Christ's authority, nor have they been added to the church. They are members of nothing but a man-made church that they have the right to join without the aid of the Lord. They are victims of ERROR, suffering from spiritual blindness, and separated from the Lord.

NO SECTARIAN CAN FACE THESE STATEMENTS

1. Show where a SAVED person was ever afterwards baptized. (Please search for the Passage)
2. Show where a BAPTIZED person ever failed to be saved from his past sins.
3. Show where a SAVED person was ever left out of the church as long as ONE MINUTE.
4. Show where any inspired man ever pronounced a man SAVED BEFORE BAPTISM.
5. Show where, since the resurrection of Christ, a man was ever SAVED OUT OF CHRIST.
6. Show where an inspired man ever offered salvation to anyone OUT OF CHRIST.
7. Show where a man ever ENTERED INTO CHRIST without baptism.

The Sektarian who faces these statements will only show that they DO NOT BELIEVE THE TRUTH, and that will prove that people are NOT SAVED through the teaching of Sektarian churches. They will show that such churches do not connect sinners with the salvation that Christ promised, but rather STAND between Christ and the sinner, thus preventing the salvation of the sinner. That is the real work of Sektarian Denominations: they exist solely to KEEP MEN OUT of Christ and away from the SALVATION HE PROMISED while telling them that they are SAVED.

COLOMBIA MAY MAKE VOTING COMPULSORY

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The dominant Liberal party has proposed a compulsory voting law with tax increases of 25 per cent for non-voters.

The measure, offered in the national congress, fixes a one-peso (58 cents) fine for failing to vote and also provides that tax bills, national, city and state, will be increased 25 per cent for non-voters for a year after the election.

Government employees can be removed from office for not voting and non-voters cannot hold office for a year after their failure to ballot.

Whisky? That's Just An Old Wheeze, Judge

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — City Judge Paul C. West has found, he says, the first defendant ever to tell the truth about whisky.

The defendant, charged with public drunkenness, admitted he was drunk and said, he'd bought the whisky because he has asthma.

"Yes," said the judge, "I know now good whisky is for asthma."

"No sir, judge. Whisky's no good for asthma. I just drank it in a moment of weakness."

The judge let the defendant off with the court costs.

Marine Sgt. C. E. Lauderdale Is Given Navy Cross

Editor's Note: The following article which concerns Marine Platoon Sergeant Claude E. Lauderdale of Ackerly, was written by S-Sgt. Tony Smith, a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent.

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC ("Delayed")—Marine Platoon Sergeant Claude E. Lauderdale of Ackerly, has been awarded the Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism" during the battle for Iwo Jima.

It was presented at a battalion ceremony by Major General Thomas E. Bourke, commanding general of the Fifth Marine Division.

Lauderdale, who landed in the fourth assault wave as a platoon guide, is credited with "capable and courageous leadership of his platoon and supporting tanks against an enemy last stand position which had resisted attack for seven days." His work pushed the front lines 300 yards into enemy territory.

The incident was one of many which distinguished Lauderdale during the 32 days his battalion fought for the tiny island fortress. On countless occasions, he narrowly escaped death while leading an attack or helping evacuate wounded. Lauderdale also fought with the 2nd Marine Parachute Battalion on Chosin and Vella La Vella, in the Solomon Islands.

The citation, which accompanied Lauderdale's award, follows:

"For extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy while serving as an acting platoon leader with a Marine infantry battalion on Iwo Jima, Volcano Islands, on 22 March, 1945. By capable and courageous leadership of his platoon and supporting tanks against an enemy last stand position which had resisted attack for seven days, Sergeant Lauderdale pushed the front lines 300 yards into enemy territory. The advance was made along the rocky bottom of a deep canyon, the walls of which were infested with enemy firing down from caves and crevices.

"Requesting tank support, he with complete disregard for his own safety, and in the face of the accurate enemy fire, moved ahead of the front lines to reconnoiter routes of approach for the tanks and to direct their fire against the dug-in enemy. On six different occasions during the advance, he exposed himself to enemy fire in front of the lines to direct the firing of flamethrowing tanks. By his heroic action and his cool, capable leadership, he kept casualties among his own men to a minimum while accomplishing his mission. His conduct throughout was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

HERE'S SOMETHING:

Fruits which lose their natural color are also known to lose part of their food value. Here's a new way to prevent peaches, apples, pears and apricots from darkening when they are canned. Add 125 milligrams of vitamin C or ascorbic acid to the jar of fruit just before it is sealed. Cook fruit in water bath canner according to the latest directions in your bulletin, B-85, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

Vitamin C tablets can be bought at any drug store in 25, 50 and 100 milligram potency. It is not a preservative and it does not affect the taste. The tablets are not harmful in any way. Their use does not take the place of canning carefully and correctly. They have only one function and that is to preserve the color, and thus more of the food value of the fruit they are used in.

Vitamin C In Orange Juice
There's been an argument among food specialists for years about how and when to squeeze orange juice for breakfast. A test has been run and it is found that orange juice squeezed by a mechanical juicer the night before and stored in a covered vessel in the ice box has just as much vitamin C as if it had been squeezed by hand just before breakfast.

Brighter Outlook For Housing and Equipment

Good aluminum should appear on the market soon. The metal was released to manufacturers for the purpose of making cooking utensils about June 12.

Between July 1, and September 20, 265,000 refrigerators and 350,000 washing machines are supposed to roll off the production lines. The refrigerators are to be rationed to essential users; but the washers will be distributed through dealers to their customers on a "first come first served" basis.

Procedures For Getting Military Discharge Given

An article concerning discharges from the armed forces was submitted to this office by L. E. Eager of the local Selective Service Board.

The first topic discussed in the article pertains to the general procedure governing discharges and states: When a registrant has been inducted into military service, he is no longer subject to the jurisdiction of the Selective Service System. Whether he remains in military service or is discharged is a matter for determination by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard, as the case may be. Only in cases involving a claim of erroneous induction will the Selective Service System be requested to furnish a recommendation to the armed forces on an application for discharge.

The second topic concerns the application for discharge on grounds of dependency and states: In order for the armed forces to consider an application for discharge based on dependency the application must be submitted in writing by the enlisted man to his commanding officer. Such an application may be referred by the armed forces to the American National Red Cross for assistance in obtaining specific information needed for verification or supplementation of the application. If the Red Cross contacts a local board for information in connection with such application for discharge, the local board will cooperate with its representatives, by furnishing any available information in the local board file, but the local board will not undertake to secure any new or additional information, and will not make a recommendation either for or against discharge. Discharge based upon the enlisted man's importance to the national health, safety, or interest was discussed next. The article stated: In order for the armed forces to consider an application for discharge for the convenience of the Government based upon the enlisted man's importance to national health, safety, or interest, the application must be submitted in writing by the enlisted man to his commanding officer. Such application for discharge will not be forwarded to the Selective Service System for investigation or recommendation.

Discussed in this manner was the item concerning discharge based on claim of erroneous induction: In order for the armed forces to consider an application for discharge for the convenience of the Government based on the enlisted man's claim that, prior to induction, he was denied a procedural right under the selective service law and regulations and was, therefore, erroneously inducted, the application must be submitted in writing by the enlisted man to his commanding officer. Such application for discharge will be forwarded to the State Director of the State of the applicant's registration, together with a request for the State Director's recommendation. A State Director may in such case request the local board for information concerning the alleged erroneous induction. The local board upon receipt of such request from the State Director should promptly furnish him with all information bearing upon the enlisted man's application for discharge.

The concluding topic discussed in the article concerned other requests for information or recommendation on applications for discharge from the armed forces and stated: Inasmuch as the discharge of an individual from the armed forces is a matter coming entirely within the jurisdiction of the armed forces, local boards should not furnish written or verbal statements to any persons recommending either for or against the discharge of a member of the armed forces, except as authorized. If the local board receives a request for information in connection with an application for discharge from any source other than the American National Red Cross in the manner described above, or the State Director, it shall forward such request to the State Director and await further instructions from him.

5 Good Country Tricks for Saving More Used Fats

This year our domestic supply of fats and oils will be approximately one and one-half billion pounds less than last year. Right now, we are facing our worst fat shortage since the war began. To make up for this staggering loss, the government is depending on the women of America—and particularly women on farms and in smaller cities.

Every spoonful, every drop of fat is needed to help make battlefield and homefront essentials. So roll up your sleeves and do an all-out job, won't you? Clip this checklist and pin it up in your kitchen as a reminder.

- 1. FRIED SALT PORK—with milk gravy. Salt pork yields so much grease, you won't need it all for gravy. Pour the rest into the salvage can.
- 2. DEEP FAT FRYING—use the fat over and over, but when it's too dark and smelly to use any more, don't forget Uncle Sam wants it!
- 3. ROASTS AND CHOPS—save all trimmings (scraps from plates, too.) Keep them in a small bowl; once a week melt them down.
- 4. SAUSAGES—they're better if you parboil them first. Skim the fat off the cooking water—scrape the fat from the frying pan.
- 5. CHICKEN SOUP—chill it before you use it. Scoop off the hardened grease (soup tastes better, too!)

When the salvage can is full, take it to your butcher promptly. He will give you 2 red points and up to 4c for every pound of used fat you turn in.

100,000,000 More Pounds of Used Fats Are Needed This Year
Approved by WFA and OPA. Paid for by Industry.

B-29's Range Far To Become Key Air Tool

By JAMES J. STREBIG
AP Aviation Editor

The B-29 was born in gloom, but grew into one of the most terrible weapons of World War II.

United States military strategists were looking at Europe and Africa, where Hitler's armies were running wild.

Air war planners thought of a plane that would fly 7,500 miles with several tons of bombs, but as the European situation improved, the specifications were altered to fit Pacific plans.

The call went to heavy bomber designers for a warplane which could fly 5,300 miles and carry a ton of bombs. There was to be considerable interchangeability between bomb and gas load—a neat problem in wing and fuselage spaces.

Two designs — the Boeing XB-29 Superfortress and the Consolidated Vultee XB-32 Dominator — attracted interest. The XB-29 got the call and became the heart of the greatest program for a single weapon in war history. The XB-32 became the standby, readied to go when ordered.

The Superfortress should not be thought of as just a big bomber. It was the entire B-29 program — design, development, production, training, bases, supply, tactics and ordinance — that helped shatter the Japanese military machine.

The first B-29 flew in September, 1942, but the Superfort did not drop a bomb in anger until June 1944. Even that speed was possible only through the boldest kind of planning, spending and execution.

Once the design was accepted, production plans were begun even before the aircraft flew. Hundreds of millions of dollars were invested in plants. Thousands of subcontractors were involved.

Nothing was easy or simple. Training was a whole new project.

In a single problem overshadowed others, it was the power plant. The air forces settled on a new Wright engine, now called the Cyclone 18, with a rating of 2,220 horsepower for a takeoff. The engine was asked to do a lot of things that weren't in the books, but eventually it gave the correct answer almost casually, despite overloading, and flew those missions almost twice as often as smaller bombers.

The engine problem didn't look so big when the strategists turned to bases and how to supply and protect them.

But America had promised China that Japan's homeland would be bombed in June, 1944, and it was. China contributed her share — the labor of half a million men and women and thousands of acres of precious farmland. That first base cost $150,000,000 and was used less than a year.

What to hit and how to hit it, were intricate military-economic problems. The search for answers began while the B-29 was just a mess of lines on the drawing board.

A special incendiary — filled with a devilish jelly gasoline which scatters and sticks and burns even on water — was devised in New Jersey to be dropped in Japan.

Bases Move Up

The B-29 lea-frogged Japan's outer defenses much as the surface forces by-passed islands and isolated thousands of enemy troops. The Marianas gave them the first bases with an over-water approach to the target. Two Jima became a base for fighter protection and the site of emergency landing fields. And as the land offensives moved closer to the Japanese mainland, bases for Superforts went along behind them. Superforts led the parade as the air war against Japan moved into its crescendo after Germany collapsed. Greater and greater assaults were mounted against Nippon's industrial backbone. Cities were crossed out, one by one, in raids even more furious than those which had made the Nazis tremble. James T. Craddock Seaman 2-C left Monday for San Diego, California after spending a 10 day furlough here visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Craddock.

Dairymen Here Attempting To Relieve Shortage

"Each Fall season finds Lamesa short of milk which is a situation that develops because of many factors," says E. W. Renner, who is manager of the Lamesa Creamery. He has had records of the milk production from June to September in this area over a span of six years, and reports that the supply normally shrinks forty percent during the months from June to September.

Thus, when the demand for milk is greatest in Lamesa—production is the highest.

Mr. Renner says, "The outlook for the coming Fall season is not too bright, because this year during the June and July period, the creamery bought 40 per cent less milk than its usual custom."

He explains that this situation was brought on because local milk producers are not able to make a profit in this field. "The price which we pay producers for milk is fixed by the government, yet the price which the producer in turn pays for labor and feed is not fixed, and as the case is, his increased to a great extent during the current period," states Mr. Renner.

"That, coupled with the summer drought has discouraged producers. The price which a producer receives from the creamery, in addition to the amount he is paid by the government, just about covers his feeding costs, and these conditions are not conducive to high production," continued Mr. Renner.

The Lamesa Creamery manager states that dairymen of this area have a request before the War Food Administration and the Office of Price Administration at the present time, asking for quick relief either in the form of price increase for milk, or an increase in subsidies. Mr. Renner says that if relief is not soon received, the county will be involved in a worse situation.

He concludes, "Despite adversity it is the expectations of the Lamesa Creamery to meet the needs as near as possible for milk in Lamesa."

Shoulder Bag Takes Paris By Storm

AP Newsfeatures
PARIS—The shoulder-sling purse like the automobile is here to stay. In Paris, unlike America, the pocketbook with the shoulder strap is universally worn, and the type which tucked under the arm is as extinct as a corset cover. The reason, of course, is purely utilitarian, as women in France need both arms free for such purposes as riding bicycles and carrying shopping bags.

Shortages of fabrics and leather have taxed the ingenuity of the designers, but they have turned out huge handbags in heavy cloth and brilliant colors, making them the smartest of all summer accessories.

Bob's Service Station Offers The Quality Of Workmanship That Keeps Cars Rolling Smoothly

Many motorists were accustomed to getting a new car every year or two prior to the war—but have been unable to do so for some time. The servicing schedule you used to follow when your cars were relatively new will not do for cars with high mileage records, as they need frequent checkups and lubrications.

Even with the war ended, it is apparent that new cars won't be on the market for some time, and you auto will need the care of skilled mechanics who have up-to-date equipment and the knowledge and experience to meet your needs. Bob's Service Station which is owned and operated by Bob Haggard, is capable of aiding you in this matter, as they offer all types of services for your cars.

They feature washing and lubrication of automobiles, providing you with 12 hour service in this field. A special unit is used for the washing and greasing jobs, and this work is supervised by James Green, experienced and capable in this type of work.

In addition Bob's Service Station which is located at 410 North Dallas has the facilities for fixing flats, as well as for waxing and polishing cars. Pick-up service on flat tires is available.

They handle Texaco gasolines for their patrons, offering it in two grades, including Sky Chief and Five Chief. Mr. Haggard states that since rationing restrictions have been lifted, the personnel at the station is hoping to be able to provide you with better and quicker service. They also stock Havoline Oil, a nationally known brand of quality oil.

The owner of the establishment is making many plans for the post war period. He states that he will carry a line of tires for his customers as soon as they are available on the markets, and an extensive line of automobile accessories when

Marines Paid Heavy Price To Win Palau

AP Newsfeatures
The small coral island of Peleliu in the Palau group went into U. S. Marine history in 1944 as the scene of some of the bloodiest battles the corps had ever fought.

Leathernecks invaded the island September 15, 1944, to clear the right side of a path for Gen. Douglas MacArthur from New Guinea to the Philippines. Before they won it they had to overcome a frenzied counterattack on the beachhead that was one of the war's most violent.

Another frightful battle was fought at "Bloody Nose" mountain, which the Marines first by-passed to secure other parts of the island. Finally, however, when the Japanese refused to come out of their mountain caves, the Marines were forced to fight up through canny defenses to exterminate the foe one by one.

While the Peleliu campaign was raging, other Yanks landed on Angaur, Ngesebus and Kongaur islands in the same chain. Although the Army's going on Angaur was fierce in a three-day campaign, the latter islands were relatively easy. But it was almost a month before Banzai charges ceased on Peleliu.

By then Marine and Navy casualties had risen to more than 6,000. The Army on Angaur lost 1,700 men. The Japanese loss in the Palau was 13,500.

ST. PETERSBURG ENJOYS A RAIN OF NEWSPAPERS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—When it rains here everyone gets an evening Independent free.

The paper's offer, made originally on Sept. 10, 1910, has stood since then, with an average of less than four and a half papers, a year being given away.

For regular paid-in-advance subscriptions a record is kept and each time the sunless days add up to six, each subscriber's credit is advanced a week.

Street "sales" on rainy days are free too. St. Petersburg, as you might have guessed, calls itself the "sunshine city."

LANDLOCKED

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—There are plenty of girls on the beaches this year but not many are swimming. A shortage of rubber swimming caps is thought responsible.
