Soviet Armies Set Trap For German Forces

Telling Blow Hits Nazi Supply Lines Below Leningrad

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 25. — Russian forces have severed the principal German escape railway leading west from the Leningrad sector and today a Nazi army estimated to number at least 250,000 was facing possible entrapment by two Soviet armies south of Russia's second city.

The Germans were being herded west and southwest toward the Estonian border by Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad front forces and Gen. A.K.A. Meretskov's Volkhov army based on Novogorod, 100 miles to the south. Junction of these two armies, effected last week, forms a semi-circle around the enemy which is constantly being squeezed tighter according to advices from Moscow.

Nazi Supply Lines Hit

Most telling blow against the elaborate Nazi communication supply system below Leningrad was struck yesterday by Govorov's forces. They stormed down to cut the Krasnogvardeisk - Narva trunk line near the village of Smolkovo, 40 miles southwest of Leningrad and 16 miles west-southwest of Krasnogvardeisk. A Soviet communique said the Russians killed 1,500 Germans on the way and captured 10 tanks, 27 guns and other valuable war material. Soviet vanguards were reported but two miles from Krasnogvardeisk itself.

Further to the east other units of Govorov's army battled their way through 40 towns and villages, including historic Pushkin (Tsarkoye Selo) and Pavlovsk (Slutsk) important rail junctions 14 and 18 miles south of Leningrad. Eight hundred Nazis were slain in this drive, said the Russian communique, and a sizeable bag of prisoners was counted as Govorov swept on to capture Ulianovka on the Leningrad-Moscow trunk railway.

Meretskov, meanwhile, sent columns west from Novgorod to within 20 and 30 miles, respectively, of Batetskaya and Luca, secondary rail hubs on lines leading

Sen. Van Nuys Dies Today

Brief Illness Is Fatal To Indianan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 —Senator Frederick Van Nuys, 69-year-old chairman of the judiciary committee, died early today at his home near Vienna, Va., after a brief illness.

He had served in the Senate since March 4, 1933, taking an active part in legislative affairs and leading Democratic opposition to some New Deal measures.

Last fall the Indianan started a sweeping investigation of the liquor industry, introducing a resolution calling for a probe into the shortage of whisky and alleged monopoly of supply. His committee had scheduled a hearing in this investigation for today.

In addition to the judiciary chairmanship, Van Nuys also was a member of the Senate committees on foreign relations, Indian affairs and executive expenditures.

Frequent Administration Foe

Frequently at odds with the administration, Van Nuys fought President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan in 1937 and was aligned against the administration on many other issues.

However, he was a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt's foreign policies even in the controversial period before the war. His announcement that he would support repeal of the arms embargo in 1939 assured that administration measure majority support within the foreign relations committee which had been almost evenly divided.

Van Nuys was the Senate sponsor for the controversial anti-lynching bill, which still is pending before the judiciary committee. He made several attempts to force Senate action on the measure, always being balked by a southern filibuster. He also advocated federal legislation to out-

Training Units May Be Closed

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The House military affairs committee may recommend that the Army and Navy scrap their student training programs to slow down the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers by making some 200,000 younger men available for combat, it was revealed today.

The committee is now nearing the end of secret sessions to hear military officials explain the schools, and a poll of members showed they favored abandoning all training programs except those pertaining to medicine, dentistry and government of occupied areas.

Approximately 150,000 men are now enrolled in the Army schools, about 15,000 of them studying medicine and dentistry, while an additional 60,000 students are in Navy schools.

Committee members hoped the hearings could be concluded in the very near future, perhaps even before Congress completes action on the mustering out pay bill. House-Senate conferees agreed on a pay bill yesterday and it will be presented to the House for concurrence tomorrow.

On member of the military affairs committee said the entire student training program "stinks to heaven."

"These students generally are fine, able-bodied, young men who are just the type needed for combat duty," he said. "We found that in some cases there are four different Army programs teaching these boys foreign languages and tying them up where they

Annual Fund Asked To Promote Cotton

MEMPHIS, Jan. 25 (AP)—President Oscar Johnston of the National Cotton council today called on the cotton industry for an annual fund of $2,000,000 to promote postwar consumption of cotton products.

Said Johnston, in an address prepared for delivery to the council's annual convention here:

'If the industry is to prosper, if it even is to continue its existence, it is essential that we expand substantially two major activities"—the sales promotion and research programs.

Of the latter program, he added: "If cotton is to maintain its place in postwar markets . . . it is absolutely essential that it keep pace scientifically with competing industries."

Johnston proposed the fund be raised in 1944, expenditure beginning in January, 1945.

He also urged immediate establishment of a Washington office of the council.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 25. (AP) — An Illinois not-for-profit corporation charter has been granted the "Henry J. Kaiser for president clubs" of Chicago, it was announced today. The announced purpose is "to carry on all activity directed to the object of securing the nomination of Henry J. Kaiser as a candidate for the Republican party for president of the United States."

Bond Drive In Full Swing In Rural Areas

Campaign Slated To Open In City Next Tuesday

While important progress was reported this morning in preparations for the Fourth War Loan drive opening in the city next Tuesday, the campaign already is in full swing in the rural areas.

Organization for the rural campaign was completed last Thursday. District committees named at that time have been busy since, according to reports to Roy Boyd, rural chairman.

Chairman Boyd announced that the first of a series of bond rallies will be held in the Becton school tonight with Durwood H. Bradley the principal speaker. Becton is in the Idalou district which has been assigned a quota of $98,550. Bailey Guess is district chairman.

Rally At Roosevelt School

Roosevelt school will be the scene of a rally Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock at which South Plains Army Air field band will play. Bradley will be the speaker. The Roosevelt committee is composed of Douglas Pounds, Joe Alspaugh, Charles Sherrod and J. F. Proctor. Quota is $58,050.

A program also is being arranged for Friday night in New Deal school, which has a quota of $77,325. A. L. Faubion, superintendent, and W. O. Fortenberry, area chairman, are arranging the program. Boyd was advised that a basketball game probably will be arranged.

In preparation for the drive in Lubbock, C. E. Maedgen and M. B. Hilburn announced that they have selected the majors who will serve in the divisions of which they are colonels.

Majors Re-Appointed

Maedgen, who heads the big subscriptions division which will seek investments of $5,000 and more, reported he has re-appointed the majors of the Third Loan drive. They are Sam C. Arnett, Homer D. Grant, Walter S. Posey, George A. Simmons, W. F. Eisenberg and Hubert L. Allen.

Hilburn, new colonel of the general solicitations division, announced he has received acceptances from Earl B. Collins, J. Ben Cole, Bob Fuller, J. A. Raley, jr., and J. C. Reynolds as majors.

Each colonel announced that

Barrow Family Back In Crime Spotlight

DALLAS, Jan. 25 (U.P.) — The Barrow family was back in the crime spotlight today.

L. C. Barrow, a brother of the male member of the notorious Clyde Barrow-Bonnie Parker crime wave, was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury for theft of $17,168 worth of liquor —some 500 cases of it — from a trucking company truck last Nov. 15.

Barrow and James Duance Smith were charged with the actual theft, while Smith and six others were indicted for receiving the stolen goods.

Negro Hijacker Is Bested By Waitress

HOUSTON, Jan. 25. (U.P.) — A negro hijacker whose specialty is victimizing city bus drivers was bested last night by a 120-pound waitress who took his sawed-off shotgun and zoot hat.

The waitress, Lucille Willis, told police she was angered to action when the negro approached her at a bus stop and hijacked her of a dollar. In a scuffle that followed, she took the hijacker's gun and zoot hat. The negro, who has hijacked seven city buses within the past two weeks without difficulty, fled.

French Coast Pounded Third Successive Day

Twenty-One Nazi Planes Destroyed In U. S. Attacks Monday On West Germany

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Thundering out across the English channel for the third successive day, strong formations of Allied bombers hammered the French coast from Dunkirk to Boulogne today as fine flying weather suceeded a windy and turbulent night.

Observers on the English coast reported large groups of both bombers and fighters launched the new assaults shortly after dawn, and soon the raiders were shuttling back and forth over the channel.

Twenty-one German planes were destroyed yesterday in aerial battles which developed when escorted U. S. Flying Fortresses and

AIRMEN STRIKE TWICE

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Strong formations of Allied bombers struck twice at enemy installations across the channel in daylight today, returning in the afternoon after a morning operation.

Liberators braved bad weather to blast unspecified objectives in western Germany, a communique announced last night.

Nineteen Nazis Downed

Nineteen of the Nazi ships were shot down by Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustang fighters and the others were bagged by the heavy bombers.

The weather was so unfavorable that part of the bomber force which had been sent out was recalled.

The communique said two heavy bombers, one fighter-bomber and 10 fighters were missing from the day's operations, which included Allied sweeps against the French invasion coast, the 23rd foray against targets in this region in 25 days. Both American and British planes participated in these sweeps.

Three additional Nazi planes were shot down yesterday morn-

Farm Agent To Be Named

Lubbock county will have a new county farm agent to succeed C. C. Jobson, resigned, "in two or three weeks," it was promised by K. J. Edwards, district county agent, but there has been no indication who will be selected.

Jobson's resignation was presented Monday to a semi-monthly meeting of Lubbock county commissioners court.

The names of two persons most persistently crowded into public attention, however, opposing blocs having put forward Jason O. Gordon, graduate of Texas Technological college and present farm agent of Floyd county, and Monroe U. May, Castro county farm agent.

Gordon's Backers Emphatic

Those favoring Gordon were especially emphatic.

"Texas Tech, as well as Texas A. & M. college, trains men for becoming county agricultural agents but, despite Tech's widely-known qualifications in that direction, Lubbock county never has employed a Tech graduate for its county agent," it was pointed out. "If Lubbock county won't hire one of 'its own' then who could be expected to?"

The commissioners court, not presuming to claim the right to name an agent to succeed Jobson, a function exclusively belonging to Edwards, nevertheless informed Edwards of the tug-of-war being waged over the county, and requested that he use his best offices to insure a "fortunate choice."

Jobson, a veteran of World war I, had recently returned here after several months of medical care in a Kerrville veterans hospital had failed to alleviate appreciably a serious physical condition. His condition was basis of his resignation.

Otherwise, the county commissioners authorized Joe Boyd, county auditor, to invest $74,000 in surpluses from county funds into war bonds of approximately $100,000 maturity value. The county already owns $192,000 (maturity value) in bonds.

Adequate Per Capita School Expenditure Placed At $75

AUSTIN, Jan. 25 (U.P.)—Dr. L. A. Woods, state school superintendent, today told a legislative committee planning to rewrite school laws, that an adequate annual expenditure for education of a pupil in Texas is about $75.

In oil-rich districts of the state, he said, some schools spend more than that per pupil but the average for the state is about $60.

Woods said a higher educational rating for Texas is retarded by lack of equal opportunity to negroes and to Latin-American children. Money available is also a factor, Dr. Woods told the committee.

Asked about adequacy of the maximum school tax rate of 35 cents on $100 valuation, the state superintendent said it should be adequate provided other sources of school income remain unimpaired. He mentioned among these oil and gasoline and cigaret taxes. The state ad valorem school tax rate, he said, has at times been used as a political football, but he considered that possibility had been cured by present statutes requiring a levy sufficient to meet the school aid apportionment set by a state board of education. Federal Aid Involved In Dispute On Eudaly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (U.P.)—Disagreement between the U. S. Extension service and the Texas A. and M. college board of directors over appointment of E. R. Eudaly as Texas extension service director threatened today to involve $1,200,000 in federal aid to the state service.

Associates of M. L. Wilson, U. S. Extension service director, said he had withheld approval of Eudaly, who was recommended by the A. and M. board of directorss, pending an investigation of his fitness for the office.

"We need an outstanding man for the job," W. H. Conway, assistant to Wilson, said. "We are not certain that Eudaly fills the bill."

Under the extension service law state extension service directors are selected by the state A. and M. colleges with the approval of U. S. director of the extension. Appointment cannot become final without approval of the director.

Extension service officials said the Texas A. and M. board has given no indication that it is willing to offer anyone else for the job. The board appointed J. D. Prewit acting director until Feb. 15.

Wilson is expected to announce acceptance or rejection of Eudaly within the next 15 to 20 days.

Allied Airmen Down 57-77 Jap Planes

Ground Troops Push Forward In Two Areas

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

Allied planes flying the invasion route in the Pacific blasted 57 to 77 Japanese aircraft from the sky while ground troops pushed forward into enemy territory on two battlefronts.

Raids announced today by Allied headquarters not only raised the Nipponese losses for January alone to well over 300 planes in the southwest and central Pacific, but heaped new devastation at enemy holdings where assault forces may strike next.

The inland drive toward the big Japanese base of Madang, northeastern New Guinea, showed progress as Australian infantrymen occupied all enemy positions in the shaggy ridge area in Dumpu valley some 32 miles from the coastal strongpoint. Other Allied troops command strategic points on the coast south of Madang.

Ground Forces Advance

On New Britain, Borgen bay units of American forces who landed at Capt Gloucester last Dec. 26, moved into Japanese territory with effective air cover. The Japanese caused some casualties in a six-plane bombing and strafing attack on American-held Arawe on the southwest coast.

The Nipponese lost 33 planes for certain and 12 probables over Wewak, north of Madang; 18 certain and two probable over Rabaul, their key New Britain base; and six certain and six probable in the 18th consecutive American blow at the Marshall islands.

A total of 13 Allied planes were announced as missing in the southwestern attacks, and a "small" number failed to return from the most widespread strike at the Marshalls since the air offensive

Jury Indicts George Briggs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP) — George N. Briggs, suspended assistant to Interior Secretary Ickes, was indicted by a federal grand jury today in connection with the celebrated "Hopkins letter affair."

The 55-year-old Briggs, a former newspaperman, was charged with forgery, false pretense and use of the mails to defraud.

The grand jury said Harry L. Hopkins, presidential adviser; Dr. Umphrey Lee and Frank Phillips, prominent members of the mystery thriller's cast, had no knowledge of the letter.

Three Indictments Returned

Three indictments containing a total of 11 counts were returned against Briggs, who was suspended from his position in Ickes' office when his name was brought into the case recently.

The maximum possible penalty upon conviction of all counts is 53 years imprisonment and a fine of $8,000.

The letter in question, purporting to be from Hopkins to Dr. Lee, president of Southern Methodist university, Dallas, Texas, predicted Wendell Willkie's renomination by the Republicans again this year and broadly implied that some sort of cooperative understanding existed between the writer and Willkie.

Invaders Holding 30-Mile Coastal Area Near Rome

Allies Meeting Hastily Organized Nazi Battle Units, But Opposition Continues Light; Enemy Counterattacking In South

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Jan. 25 — Allied troops have driven 12 miles inland from their Nettuno-Anzio beachhead and patrols are pushing deeper, headquarters announced today, with no "formidable" German opposition yet encountered.

The famous Appian Way to Rome and the main coastal rail line are about 12 miles inland from the landing area, but it was not specificially stated that the invasion forces had reached them. It is obvious, however, that they are at least under Allied domination.

(The Geneva newspaper La Suisse quoted the Fascist press today as announcing that Allied forces now had occupied the entire 30-mile coastal stretch from Nettuno to the mouth of the Tiber, and were threatening Ostia, the port of Rome, three miles up the river. OWI reported this dispatch).

ROME PATRIOTS AID ALLIES

MADRID, Jan. 25 (U.P.) — Italian patriot groups near Rome have established radio contact with Allied invasion forces and are signaling the extent and direction of "frantic" German troop and materiel movements within the city, reports from German-held Italy said today.

The patriots, operating from hideouts in the city's suburbs, were understood to have reported forceful German defense measures in the face of the advancing Fifth army.

(The United Nations radio at Algiers said the troops striking inland were within almost a mile of the double-track Rome-Naples electric rail line. The broadcast was recorded by the OWI).

Fierce Fighting raged on the American sector along the Rapido river near Cassino with heavy fire by all kinds of weapons.

Enemy Defenses Probed

U. S. patrols recrossed the stream to probe enemy defenses, but no counteroffensive was launched by the Americans to keep a force on the western bank. The Germans, who on Sunday hurled the Americans back across the river, made no attempts to cross to the eastern bank.

French troops in the northernmost area beat back several more enemy counterattacks, and a hot

'State's Rights' Issue Up Again

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — The "state's rights" issue which blocked the Senate's first attempt to set up a uniform absentee voting system for the armed forces came back today to harass backers of a revived federal war ballot plan.

And it was only one of a score of objections standing in the path of a new service vote bill which

VOTE ON PLAN DELAYED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (U.P.)—Adjournment of the Senate today out of respect to the memory of Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, (D., Ind.), who died last night, delayed for another 24 hours the showdown vote on the Controversial federal-state soldier vote plan.

sponsors hurried onto the Senate floor in an effort to undo an earlier decision leaving it up to the states to collect their own votes from the fighting forces.

The new bill retains a federal ballot form for president, vice president and Congress and sets up a bi-partisan federal ballot commission. But it gives local election officials complete authority to pass on the validity of ballots cast under the plan.

Southerners Back Revision

A group of southern Democrats —among them some of the senators who beat down the original service voting bill—got behind an amendment today, however ,which provides:

"Nothing herein does in fact or shall be construed to violate, repeal, abrogate, nullify, or change in any form or manner the election laws, rules and regulations, or the voting requirements of any state."

"That might jeopardize the entire ballot plan," said Senator Lucas (D-Ill) one of the authors of the revived measure.

Other senators said not only would it put a possible cloud on any federal war ballot cast, but also would revive the requirements of local registration and poll tax payment in some states—requirements which were waived for the armed forces two years ago.

Southerners Start Campaign To Place No. 2 Man On Ticket

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP) — Southern members of Congress and of the Democratic national committee have started a campaign to put a southerner in second place on a ticket they now nearly all believe will carry President's name—as a candidate for reelection in November.

The groundwork for the drive was laid at informal conferences last week but Senator Maybank (D-SC) said today there is as yet no agreement on who the southern candidate should be.

"We all want to see a southerner nominated but we can't agree on the man," Maybank said.

From other sources it was learned that some southern governors have been talking about Gov. J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina as a possibility. Broughton's name was not written on any of the ballots cast in an Associated Press poll of national committee members to learn their vice presidential preferences but Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia received one vote.

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Wilson R. Wood of Chico, Tex., who enlisted as a buck private in the regular U. S. Army five years ago was promoted today to a full colonel at the age of 25.

As a lieutenant colonel Wood has been commanding a group of B-25 Marauder medium bombers and will continue to lead them in their frequent sweeps over occupied France.

Wood is not only one of the youngest colonels of the U. S. Army Air Force, but has a record for a spectacular rise through the ranks.

He participated in the first Marauder attack in the European theater last July when a fleet of twin-engined bombers raided the Abbeville freight yards in France.

Before he entered the Army he was a football and basketball player at Baylor university.

Evangelist Is Guest Speaker

Rev. Gipsy Smith, jr., evangelist conducting a series of services at First Baptist church in a city-wide revival, was guest speaker Monday afternoon at a luncheon meeting of First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary and Men-of-the-Church at Fellowship hall. One hundred 25 persons attended.

W. L. Hester, president of the men's organization, presided.

Mr. Smith pointed out three couplets of words that have been main philosophies through the ages: The Greek's counsel, "Know thyself;" the Roman's "Control thyself" and the Jew's "Deny thyself," which was advocated and practiced by Jesus and which Mr. Smith described as the "highest type of philosophy which man can practice."

Rev. W. H. Foster, jr., sang "Temper My Spirit, O, Lord." He was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Weiss.

Police Hunt Driver Of Overturned Car

Police said an automobile was overturned at a culvert near the north limits of Lubbock just before midnight, and that two quarts of rum, a purse and a woman's hat were found.

They indicated the driver was a woman who was "picked up by a truck driver" and driven into Lubbock.

Police said they were investigating.

Other mishaps, all in the city, reported by police Monday included a collision between C. G. Spicer, 45, a taxicab driver, and C. J. Levey, at Sixteenth street and Avenue S; Mrs. F. L. Lindsey, 43, of 3114 Twentieth street and Sarah Jane Strange, 17, of 2603 Twenty-fourth street, at Twentieth street and Adams avenue.

Drivers in other mishaps Monday were reported as: Homer A. Brogdon, 26, whose address was given as Simms hatchery on East Broadway, and Ray Lafay Bryant, 26, "Camp Carson," at Main street and Avenue E; C. C. Chandler, 34, 115 Avenue U, and Mrs. C. L. Thomas, 40, Shallowater route 1, Avenue J and Seventh street.

Meretskov also smashed down the west shore of Lake Ilmen to capture Borok, 14 miles north of Shimsk, another rail junction leading to the rear of German troops based at Staraya Russa just below the lake. More than 3,000 Nazis were killed in these operations, the communique said.

Moscow made no mention of fighting in the White Russian or Crimean sectors but reported savage German counter-attacks in the lower Ukraine near Vinnitsa, where Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's first Ukrainian army was pushing down toward the Rumanian frontier. All these attacks were repulsed, Moscow said.

law the poll tax as a qualification for voting.

His death reduced the Democratic-held seats in the Senate to 57, with the Republicans holding 37 and the Progressive party one.

However, Indiana's Democratic governor, Henry F. Schricker, doubtlessly will appoint a Democrat to serve out the year remaining of Van Nuys' term.

Employes in Senator Van Nuys' office said he had not complained of illness, but remained away from the Senate yesterday with a slight cold.

Body Found At 5 A. M.

V. H. Sparks, an employe at Van Nuys' Vienna home, found the senator's body at 5 a. m., and immediately notified Mrs. Van Nuys' mother, Mrs. Louise Krug, who is visiting here. Mrs. Van Nuys is in Arizona.

A heart attack was believed the cause of death.

The senator's only son, William, is a Naval Air Corps lieutenant serving overseas.

Friends said funeral arrangements would be made after Mrs. Van Nuys is contacted.

Senator Willis was designated to announce Van Nuys' death to the Senate, which plans to adjourn out of respect to his memory.

W. D. Benson, Missing Monday, Found Safe

W. D. Benson, sr., 78, who moved to Lubbock in 1902 and begun practice of law and who had retired in 1932, is safe at the 2810 Twenty-first street residence of his attorney son, W. D. Benson, jr., it was announced early this morning.

Appeals had gone out from family members and police Monday asking that the elder Benson's whereabouts be reported. He had walked away from his room at 1502 Avenue K early Monday.

The son found his father in Slaton, where he had arrived before mid-afternoon Monday, talked with attendants of Tucker service station and registered at Yates hotel, where he retired early to sleep away exhaustion.

He asked hotel employes this morning to telephone the younger Benson.

"I got lost," he said.

He was sleeping at mid-morning.

Senate Okays Funds For More Farm Labor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—A Senate appropriations sub-committee has recommended expansion of the government's program of farm labor recruitment, including importation of foreign laborers, and voted to increase a House-approved appropriation to carry on the work this year from $27,000,000 to $35,000,000.

Members of the sub-committee said they were told that the larger fund which they voted yesterday would make possible the importation of about 120,000 alien farm laborers this year. This would be approximately 50,000 more than were brought into the United States in 1943 from Mexico, Jamaica and the Bahamas.

Recreation Facilities For Juveniles Urged

Two main needs to combat juvenile deliquency in Lubbock were listed at a monthly meeting of Lubbock Youth Council Monday night as: Recreation or a drop-in center in downtown Lubbock, similar to the USO building and longer day-time hours and evening hours maintained at the Lubbock County library.

The council met in the district courtroom with Dr. Doyle D. Jackson presiding in absence of Rev. John A. Winslow, chairman.

If young people could visit a recreational center after school hours they would stay off of the streets, it was pointed out in the council's findings. Others would read at the library if more convenient hours to their schedules could be arranged.

A. F. Rasor, council secretary, reported 1136 juvenile cases in Lubbock during 1943. Sam Leifeste gave a report on the adult education program.

A called meeting of the council has been set for next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the courthouse and anyone interested in youths' problems, as well as club delegates, is invited.

There is some support, particularly among southerners in the Senate, for War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, a former senator from South Carolina, who got five votes in the poll.

While the southerners have hopes of uniting behind a strong candidate before the Chicago nominating convention, they concede that President Roosevelt will have the final choice in designating his running mate if he elects to stand for a fourth term.

News Briefs

The War department announced this morning Pfc. Neal K. Hynson, son of Mrs. Oddie S. Hynson of Plainview, has been wounded in the Mediterranean area.

Applications should be filed before Feb. 7 for appointment as substitute clerk carrier in the post office, it was announced by Mrs. Lesta Boles, acting local civil service secretary, who can give further information at the postoffice.

Pfc. Howard Lee Black of South Plains Army Air field reported to police early today a $125 watch that even had a hand to tell the day of the month had been stolen from his hotel room.

Justice of Peace and Mrs. Walter Davies of 606 Avenue W returned Monday night from Austin, where they visited their son Lt. John Lennox Davies and their son's wife and two-months-old son Lennox Bradley Davies. Lt. Davies is assistant communications officer at Bergstrom field, Austin.

The following judgments were filed this morning by Judge G. V. Pardue of county court: J. G. Biffle, fined $15 and court costs after a plea of guilty of drunkenness, a charge he had appealed from corporation court; Robert Lee Cates, plea of guilty of drunk driving, a charge filed Jan. 10, and a fine of $50 and costs; H. R. Holding, fine of $150 and costs on a plea of guilty of liquor law violation. Drunk driving fines of $50 and costs were assessed Monday against L. W. Shrum and Perry Campbell. A similar complaint was filed against a woman, Helen Faye Barnett, whose case had not been disposed of. In addition, Ernest Driver pleaded guilty this morning of aggravated assault and was fined $25 and costs; Leroy Thomas was given 30 days and costs for theft, and Wade Coleman, a negro, was fined $100 and costs for unlawfully carrying a pistol, all in county court.

Members of the George R. Bean Parent-Teacher association sold $243.75 in war bonds and $393.75 in war stamps in their weekly sale in Bean school this morning, according to W. Kary Mathis, principal. Totals at the school were increased to $4,368.75 in bonds and $1,042.40 in stamps. Mrs. R. H. Seale and Mrs. R. L. Ingram conducted the sale.

First of a series of talks on the house-to-house campaign Lubbock women are to make next Tuesday on behalf of the Fourth War Loan drive will be given Wednesday morning at 8:55 o'clock over KFYO by Mrs. M. C. Overton.

"Just why should we be drafting pre-war fathers and leaving these boys in school is beyond me."

Rep. Charles H. Elston, (R., O.), said he felt personally that all but medicine, dentistry and possibly a few other technical classes could be abolished.

Describing the present program as "unfair" and "discriminating," Elston said that "men being alerted for overseas duty are not permitted to go to these schools, but those who are going to remain in this country for a while may attend.

New Night-Fighter Plane Is Powerful

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25 (U.P.)—The Army's new night-fighter, the P-61 "Black Widow," described as a literal "flying gun platform," is the largest and most powerful pursuit plane in the world, Northrop Aircraft Co., disclosed today.

In addition to its power and speed, the plane has great fire power, the company said in an Army-approved statement.

The twin-engined craft is powered with Pratt and Whitney motors and has good flight characteristics and low landing speed essential to night operations, the statement said.

Alaska has had an unprecedented number of tourists this summer.

Officers, Doughboys Felt Let Down Due To Lack Of Fight In Surprise Landing In Italy

BY REYNOLDS PACKARD
United Press War Correspondent
Representing The Combined American Press

WITH THE AMERICAN AMPHIBIOUS FORCES On The Beachhead In Italy, Jan. 23 (Delayed) — Most doughboys and officers felt let down today as result of the lack of fighting in our surprise landings behind the German line.

These landings were carried out with unprecedented speed and we were ready for an eventuality. It was a terrific psychological experience to prepare for it for several days and then when the final moment came to find no enemy.

Capt. Crowell B. Shelton, Billings, Mont., typically told me as he waded out knee deep in icy water from the Higgins boat which brought us ashore from an LST: "I never was more set for a big fight for keeps than this morning."

Soldiers Prepared To Die

It was true that every soldier and officer was prepared to die in this operation, which by this afternoon seemed to have turned anticlimactic. I spent three nights aboard the LST before the landing. There was an atmosphere of tension wherein each man faced the impending danger.

Some joked; others laughed. But there always was a determination to face the dangers with courage.

A few hours before disembarkation, special religious services were held aboard ship, which most men attended. Confession and communion were given to Catholics.

Then we clambered down landing nets into a Higgins boat for the run to shore.

Joined Floating Convoy

We pushed off and joined a floating convoy of ducks, Higgins boats and LCI's, all converging toward the beaches which blinked with red, yellow and green lights for various forces. Everybody was hushed, feeling the silence and stillness of the night ominous.

When we reached the shore there were still no broadsides or bullets, no bursts of mortar fire or shells. We slogged down the open ramp and into the icy water holding our coats up and with our luggage on our backs

Already the tanks were beginning to roll up the beach in rapid time and we were close behind the main assault force.

Everything was blurred in the starlight. When the crescent-shaped moon came out and we could see better we still wondered where the opposition was.

The LST's continued like whales to deposit their contents on the beach — tanks, jeeps, ducks, artillery — and the beachhead was won.

Combat engineers quickly cleared away the mines and built a carpet-like road composed of heavy wire matting across the sandy beach and through the marshes until they reached the regular roads, including the Anzio-Rome highway.

As the day wore on, the Germans first used sneak air raids and then started shelling, but they had been caught completely by surprise. Otherwise they would have counter-attacked before nightfall.

This operation has been the reverse of Salerno. There — after the Italian armistice — there was an expectancy of little fighting, but actually there was much fighting.

The feeling prevails here that there is a counter-attack in formation.

May Cut Off Nazis

These landings mean that the German forces between Cassino and here are in danger of being cut off. The Germans definitely were unprepared. Many prisoners have been taken, most of whom arrived in this section the day before we did and hadn't had time to dig in. Most of them had been in rest camps.

The amphibian force advanced inland fanlike, with the Germans attempting to break contact while preparing a counter-attack. The Germans used tanks as mobile observation posts along the fringes of various sectors.

There was some action for two American forces who took two coastline towns. The Americans surprised the Germans, who tried to set up a rear guard action but were mowed down in the streets by American infantry.

I saw 15 German bodies lying in the street. Thirty prisoners were taken in this town. A few old Italian men and women had come back to their homes. Furniture, mattresses and valuables had been ransacked by the Germans but the houses were mostly in good condition.

Anti-Willkie Group Leaning To Dewey

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Congressional Republican uneasiness over the persistence of Wendell L. Willkie's campaign for the party's presidential nomination was causing speculation today on the possibility of persuading Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to become an avowed candidate.

Some anti-Willkie Republicans believe it would be "hazardous" to permit Willkie to go to the Republican national convention in Chicago next June unopposed by at least one widely supported and vigorous opponent. Implicit in that line of reasoning seem to be certain doubts regarding the progress of the presidential campaign of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

No Objection To Bricker

There is no antipathy to Bricker. But before getting behind him as the stop-Willkie candidate, some party leaders would like to see more evidence of a national trend in his direction and, specifically, the appearance of Bricker-pledged delegates in a good many states. Unless there are such developments, it is not unlikely that a spring appeal will be made to Dewey to announce that he has changed his mind about the Republican nomination.

On a nod from the New York governor, a great many congressional Republicans would join right now in organized effort to obtain his nomination. Dewey has not said he would not be a candidate for president this year. What he did say most emphatically on Nov. 4, 1943, was this:

"I am not and shall not become a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1944."

That bars him from a pre-convention campaign. His own state party leaders, however, are plugging away for his nomination and many congressional Republicans believe he is the man to stop Willkie in the convention and to stop President Roosevelt in the election. When they get that far they are likely to predict that Gov. Earl Warren of California would be the ideal vice presidential running mate for the governor of New York.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R., O.), who was Willkie's strongest opponent in the 1940 Republican national convention, took himself out of the current presidential race more than a year ago, pledging his support to Bricker. In 1940 Bricker had stood aside for Taft. Otherwise his congressional colleagues might turn to Taft.

Vandenberg Backs MacArthur

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R., Mich.), who was a fourth place contender for the 1940 nomination throughout the long hours of balloting, has abandoned his presidential hopes and is backing Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The 10 others who had scattered support during early convention ballots in 1940 do not figure in the presidential picture in any way.

What keeps anti-Willkie Republicans awake at night is the memory of his relentless drive in the 1940 convention. Dewey went to Philadelphia a top heavy favorite but his weakness was that his fat bloc of delegates included scores who were ready to jump to any other candidate who showed promise.

Majority Was Obtained

On the first ballot Dewey had 360 votes, Taft 189 and Willkie 105. That was Dewey's high mark. By the fifth ballot he had been cut down to 57 votes. Taft had pulled up to 377. But Willkie had zoomed to 429, about 75 short of a majority which he soon obtained.

A deal between the Dewey and Taft leaders during any of the early 1940 ballots would have stopped Willkie cold. But neither was willing to take second place on the ticket. What the Willkie opposition wants now is a candidate who can go into the convention with a big bloc of votes and add to them. They believe Dewey could do that if he would authorize a pre-convention campaign.

Texas Apparel Sales Increase 43 Per Cent

AUSTIN, Jan. 25 (AP) — Retail sales in Texas department and apparel stores were 43 per cent greater in 1943 than 1942, the University of Texas bureau of business research reports.

LONG WAR FEARED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25 (AP) — If the Allies wait one year more to crush Japan, three more years of war may be necessary, Mme. Wei Tao-Ming, wife of the Chinese ambassador to the United States, said here.

Dogs were used extensively in World War I by both sides, the French alone reporting 3,500 killed and 1,500 missing.

The day you threw a party instead of buying a bond

It was the 26th of May, 1943.

To you, it was a heavenly Spring day that just had to be celebrated in some way. Besides, you were so bored with all the talk and headlines of war.

To our men on Attu, it was the fifteenth day of incessant fighting. That is, to those who had not been killed, or put out of action with wounds or frozen feet.

They hadn't slept for days; their sunburned faces ached; their heads and beards and wool-covered bodies itched; their feet were never dry. The dead lay all about them in the fog and snow—an occasional Jap, twisted grotesquely in death, over the body of an American.

But the biggest push of the battle was just ahead.

They had to attack a Jap-held plateau called the Bench, which meant scaling a steep cliff, in the face of continuous gunfire from the Japs, smugly entrenched on top. The final 25 yards were so steep, the soldiers had to drag themselves up by plunging their rifle butts into the snow.

The Japs lay quietly in wait, until our men were almost to the summit. Then, without rising from their fox holes, they rolled grenades down on them. Three times new groups of Americans scaled up the cliff—to be blown to eternity.

And suddenly—one American stood alone on the Bench. With his rifle pointed down, he walked deliberately from one fox hole to another, shooting into them with deadly accuracy. Impervious to the Jap grenades all about him, he went on, finally using his gun butt to bash the Japs as they trembled in their holes.

He was still bashing away when our troops finally reached him.

Asked later how he did it, he explained his best friend had been killed as they started up the slope and he didn't remember anything after that.

Asked by his Colonel what he wanted, he said since he'd been a Corporal so long, Sergeant's stripes would be nice.

He got his stripes and he's mighty gratified. He did not get an invitation to your party, but that's alright—he was too busy to attend.

Did you have a good time at your party?

Incidentally the price of that party would have bought an extra Bond. The 4th War Loan is now on. Every American is asked to put at least $100 extra into Bonds while this Drive is on. Not your regular Bond investing, but extra. $100 at least—or $200, $300, $500.

Political Unrest Seethes In Balkans

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The brightening Allied prospects in Italy are bound to be heavily reflected in the neighboring Balkans which already are flaming fiercely from their efforts to escape Hitler's bloody clutches and from internal political struggles which are determining the nature of future governments.

In the long run probably the political aspect is the more important, for der fuehrer's fate already is determined.

Four royal crowns—representing Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Rumania—are undergoing the acid test. I quote Dr. Stoyan Gavrilovic, native of Yugoslavia and former holder of numerous positions under his government:

Popular Rule Wanted

"The present governments of the Balkan states are on their way out, an you can be certain no one will be sorry about it," he told me the other day. "In every case they have been dictatorships, and the people are determined on establishing popular rule.

"I never could understand why King Peter of Yugoslavia—himself a young man—should have identified himself with the cause of the dictatorship. It may be that it is too late now, but the only way he could possibly reinstate himself would be to make a clean and unequivocal sweep in favor of popular rule."

So far as concerns Yugoslavia, the liberal nationalist elements have formed a provisional government known as the national council of liberation.

Marshal Tito (Josip Broz), the famous leader of the partisan army which is receiving Allied support, is chairman of the committee of national defense in this government. Tito is a communist, but his followers represent all brands of liberals.

Greece Has Two Groups

Neighboring Greece is torn between two political groups, each of which has an army in the field. There is the Elas group, which is against return of the king and is said by some to have communist leanings. Then, there is the Edes faction which stands by the monarchy.

Bulgaria has been racked with political crisis since the mysterious death of King Boris, the dictator, last summer. Here, too, there is a swing towards popular rule, and many of the people lean towards Russia.

An outstanding feature of this situation, of course, is the strong current of Russian influence running through the whole set-up. While it would be rash to try to predict the forms of government likely to be chosen by these Balkan states, it would be equally rash not to expect that Russia would play a dominant role on the peninsula after the war.

Youth Is Literally Caught By Seat Of Pants In Burglary

DALLAS, Jan. 25 (AP) — A 17-year-old youth today had an explanation for how officers caught him when he attempted to burglarize the Rochester, Haskell county, postoffice on Nov. 28.

Dist. Atty. Clyde O. Eastus told Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson that Antonio Gonzales' trousers were caught by a steel spike on top of the grill work at the postoffice building, leaving him dangling there as an easy catch for officers. It was his second offense. Antonio pleaded guilty to a charge of juvenile delinquency.

On recommendation of probation officers and the boy's promise to take a job he was offered, Judge Davidson placed him on probation for two years.

Lance Wade Is Given Award Posthumously

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Wing Commander Lance Wade, native-born Texan and former resident of Tucson, Ariz., who shot down 25 enemy planes before he was killed recently in a flying accident in southern Italy, was awarded the Distinguished Service Order posthumously today by the RAF.

The citation said "Wade's great skill, courage and devotion to duty contributed to the high efficiency attained by his squadron."

Previously Wade had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and two bars.

Colorado City Rites Set For Mrs. Wood

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 25 (Special) —Funeral services were scheduled this afternoon in Colorado City for Mrs. John Wood, wife of the state highway patrolman stationed here. Mrs. Wood died about 9 o'clock Monday night in Colorado City, where she had been ill for several weeks, according to word received here.

Mrs. Wood had been a resident of Brownfield since her husband was assigned here approximately a year ao. A young son is among the survivors.

Westerners Out To Clinch Title Tonight

Playoff Game Is Set At Plainview

The Lubbock Westerners will shoot the works tonight at Plainview with one more win over the Plainview Bulldogs needed to assure the Westerners a place in the District 1-AA basketball playoff with the north half winner.

The lads from Lubbock were given a rather rude surprise last week when Coach Finis Vaughan's youngsters refused to yell "calf rope" when Dixie White's lads had built up an early 13 to 1 lead. The Bulldogs came back to tie the score twice, but could never get the lead, and the ball game was turned into a real battle until the fading minutes.

But tonight, the Lubbock lads will be at full strength with Marion Manderson back in top shape and ready to take his place in the starting lineup. Manderson was held out last week because of illness, and not until the final minutes did he go into the game.

White announced Monday night that he planned to start Bill Cope, the lad who carried the load when Manderson was out, and Jerry Crawford at forwards, Manderson at center, with Burl Gene Moore and George Brewer manning the guard posts.

The Westerners won over Plainview on the Plainview court in the opener of the series by a 25 to 15 score, then won 40 to 34 in the second game thriller on the Lubbock court last Friday night.

The Westerners need one more win to win the title. Regardless of the outcome of the game tonight, the two teams will return to Lubbock Friday night for the fourth game of the series.

Perhaps the most famous half of the program will be the battle between the Lubbock and Plainview B teams that have played curtain raisers to the championship games. The two B teams will be battling for the lead in their series tonight, having split the first two in a pair of hair raisers.

Plainview nosed out a 24 to 23 victory in the opener and Friday night the Westerner B team won after a wild overtime scoring session by a two point margin. The Lubbock B team has played four games to date, won two of them by one point, one by two point and lost one by one point.

The B team may be without the services of Roy Grimes, one of its top scoring stars in the game tonight. Grimes was missing from practice Monday because of a bad cold and may not make the trip to Plainview.

Coach White announced that he planned to start Laxon and Price at forwards, Pressley at center, and Lindsey and Forsyth at guards for the B team.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — The Phillies are coming up with a real double-no-hit pitcher this spring —but not just like Johnny Vander Meer . . . He's Albert "Stumpy" Verdelle, who pitched two consecutive no-hitters for Bordentown military institute a few years ago and who compiled quite a record for Fort Dix before he was discharged because of a bad leg . . . Stumpy claims he once faced the Yanks for two innings without giving a hit.

A WACY GAME

When the Fort Sheridan, Ill., WAC contingent met the American College of Physical Education in a basketball game recently, the girls had plenty of fun — but not the officials . . . At half time Billy Andrews came out with a chipped tooth where someone's elbow had struck him in a scramble and a little later Lt. Grant Butler had to take time out to repair some scracthes on his hand . . . "They sure have long finger nails," he complained.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

President Ford Frick of the National league is going to bat to fill the request brought back from Alaska by Frank Frisch, Danny Litwhiler, and Co., that one major league game a day should be broadcast, either directly or by recording, to the boys in the armed forces overseas . . . Mrs. Jesse Jones, wife of the RFC boss, has a good luck sweater she wears to all the Washington Redskins' games. When the team is on the road, she dons it to sit beside the radio.

SERVICE DEPT.

When Al Popick, former Oregon cager now playing for the Camp Kearns (Utah) Eagles was tossed out of a game last week for four personal fouls, it was the first time he had suffered such a banishment in four years of basketball.

Baylor, Texas Aggies To Clash Tonight

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 25 (AP)—Baylor and Texas A. and M. clash here tonight to open the week's play in Southwest conference basketball.

It is the second game between these teams. Baylor won the first 48-43.

Raiders, LAAF Play Tonight

Two Games Set In Local Loop

The Texas Tech Red Raiders will open their play in the fast Lubbock basketball league, invading the Lubbock Army Air field gym tonight for the first of two league games for this week.

The Fliers, in second place in the league race with two wins and one loss, will be a tough assignment for the Red Raiders, but Coach Robison's hustling lads have shown a fine ability to make a game interesting, and there is always the constant threat that Don Grove and Nolan Weeks will "get hot" at the same time.

When that happens, the Red Raiders are going to deal somebody lots of trouble on the basketball floor

Grove picked up lots of ground on Weeks Saturday night as he copped the scoring honors in the New Mexico game while Weeks was idle, but Weeks is still the second place man with the Techmen. Grove boosted his season's scoring mark to 122 points to 93 for Weeks, still in the one-two order.

The Fliers are expected to be a greatly improved team from the one that took a drubbing from South Plains last week, and with the return of Reece to the Flier lineup will face the Red Raiders in top notch shape for a real battle, and are confident they can spoil the Red Raider entry into the league play.

The Red Raiders will be back again Thursday for their second league encounter, facing the Point-A-Minute boys from South Plains Army Air Field on the Tech court in the feature game of the week.

S.M.U. Mentor Sold On Arkansas Quint

DALLAS, Jan. 25 (AP) — If Arkansas is to lose another Southwest Conference basketball game this season, it will take the University of Texas Longhorns to administer the defeat, Southern Methodist Coach Jimmy Stewart said today, adding that even the Longhorns haven't much chance unless they pack more power than he thinks.

Stewart, after watching his Mustangs absorb two shellackings at the hands of the Razorbacks in Fayetteville last weekend, described the Arkansas quintet as "The biggest fast-breaking outfit I ever saw."

"Those Razorbacks have more experience than the rest of the teams. They're big and fast and they know what it's all about," Stewart continued. "I still don't see how Rice ever won a game from them."

ROUND ROBIN SCHEDULE

TEMPLE, Jan. 25 (AP) — Football District 10-AA will return to the old round robin schedule in 1944, abandoning the split district plan in effect for the past two years, Temple School Superintendent George Gentry said today.

Ike Williams Is Rated Almost Even Chance With Montgomery

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 25 (AP)—The odds on Ike Williams' chances of winning his 33rd consecutive victory when he meets Bob Montgomery in a 12-rounder at Convention Hall tonight have been hammered down to almost even money.

Prior to the weighing in ceremonies today the odds were down to 6 to 5, still in the Bobcat's favor however. The Philadelphia lightweight held a 2 to 1 advantage in the betting two weeks ago.

Backers of the 23-year-old dark skinned Williams maintain he will take the Bobcat in his stride, even though the local fighter has a three pound weight advantage, The Trenton Terror, who is lightning fast with his fists, may take an early lead but the last half of the battle will be the deciding phase, the experts claim.

Both fighters have a great deal at stake. A win for Williams will assure him of top billing in every major fight club in the nation which would bring with it top earnings.

A win for the Bobcat would assure a top gate for his return bout with Champion Beau Jack sometime in March and a scheduled meeting with Bummy Davis next month. A loss to Williams wouldn't necessarily knock the Bobcat out of these matches but the gate would suffer.

Some 20,000 fight fans are expected to pay upwards of $50,000 to see the two lightweights in action.

Two More Detroit Players Reclassified

DETROIT, Jan. 25 (AP) — The Detroit tigers, learning over the week-end that Rudy York and Ned Harris have been reclassified 1-A by their draft boards, are getting to the point where talk about determination to play baseball so long as there are nine men left is no empty phrase.

Right now the Tigers have 25 players, including York and Harris. That should be ample, you say, to go through the 1944 American League season, but General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers doesn't figure it that way. His calculations show the Tigers have six, possibly seven players.

Since the 1943 season, Dick Wakefield, Jimmy Bloodworth, Hal White and 37-year-old Tommy Bridges have entered the armed forces. The next ones appear to be Harris and York, the latter 30 years old and father of three children.

PRACTICE GAME

HOUSTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — G. E. Evelo went down to qualify for the war bond bowling tournament. He rolled a practice game. It was a perfect 300.

Variety Is Keynote Of Three Cage Tilts In LAAF League

Both close and one sided basketball greeted the soldiers at Lubbock Army Air field Monday night in the regular squadron league basketball, with two one-sided battles, and one thriller.

One of the top games of the season was turned in as the 495th Squadron nosed out the high stepping Finance five, 34 to 32, on a last minute field goal by Jake Grieser.

The two teams started out with caution and it was some time before the 495th broke the ice to score the first basket, then the two teams opened up at a fast and furious pace. The lead changed hands fast in the first half, but the Finance department team reached the halfway mark with a 19 to 16 advantage.

In the wild second half, the 495th stormed back to take the lead, then the score was tied, then Finance took over the lead. The 495th came back to regain the lead, and a minute before the end of the game the score was again tied. Grieser then became the hero with his last minute field goal that brought the victory.

Scoring honors went to Reece of the losers who accounted for 14 points, closely pressed by Elrod of the losers who had 12.

The undefeated 84th Post Squadron five turned in a win over the Medical detachment five, going about the job with the smooth ball handling that has made them the top team in the league. The winners bounded away to an early lead and were never threatened as they coasted in with a 45 to 23 victory.

Scoring honors for the game developed in a spirited three-way scrap with Prior, the league leading scorer, nosing out with 12 points, but closely pressed by his teammate, Arnett, and Hansen of the Medics, each with 11 points.

The 498th Squadron five smothered the 1017th Guard Squadron under a 56 to 7 deluge of baskets with Harris, Sellers and Volz dividing 48 of the winner's points between them, each with 16 points for top honors of the night.

Hard luck consistently dogged the efforts of the Guardsmen to score, and time after time shots rolled off the hoop to rob them of scores.

Notre Dame To Play Dartmouth This Fall

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 25 (U.P.)—Notre Dame and Dartmouth will meet on the football field for the first time next fall in a game at Fenway Park in Boston, Dartmouth athletic officials announced today.

The schools signed an agreement for a home and home series last night with the 1944 game to be played Oct. 14. The return game at Notre Dame will be played October 13, 1945.

Coaches School Staff Named

Dell Morgan To Teach Line Play

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Coaches of teams that won two major bowl games last Jan. 1 will be head instructors at the annual Texas high school coaching school here Aug. 7-11.

Jeff Cravath, T formation specialist whose Southern California eleven downed Washington in the Rose Bowl, and Bobby Dodd, assistant to Bill Alexander at Georgia Tech, which defeated Tulsa in the Sugar Bowl, yesterday were announced by W. C. O. Harris of Fort Worth, president of the Texas High School Coaches association, to head the clinic here.

Blair Cherry, assistant coach at the University of Texas, which tied Randolph Field in the Cotton Bowl, will instruct in backfield play. Dell Morgan, coach of Texas Tech, will instruct in line play.

Sam Baugh To Appear

Sam Baugh, famed passer of the professional football, will appear as a specialist on punting and passing. Baugh, a Texas rancher, played at Texas Christian and then went to the Washington Redskins of the National professional league.

Jewell Wallace, coach of San Angelo high school which won the Texas schoolboy championship last season, will also be on the faculty of the coaching school. He will lecture on organization and administration of high school football.

"Wallace will not discuss his system because it would be unfair to him to have to give away his plays to men whose teams will be playing against him," Harris said.

Packers Sign Former New Mexico Aggie

DALLAS, Jan. 25 (AP)—Charles (Babe) Webb, former football star at New Mexico A. and M., said today he had signed a contract to play next season with the Green Bay Packers of the National professional football league.

Webb played high school football in El Paso, then went to Marshall Junior college before attending New Mexico A. and M. where he performed in 1939. He played semi-pro football in Honolulu in 1940 and 1941 and coached Roosevelt High there in 1942.

Golden Glovers To Weigh In Feb. 3

All Golden Glove entries are urged to be on hand by 6:30 p. m. on the opening day of the opening day of the tournament next week at Texas Tech gym for the weighing in and physical examination, Morley Jennings, tournament director, said Monday night.

Boys will have to weigh in only once for the tournament. Jennings also said the boys were advised to eat lunch, then little or no supper before the matches so that proper weights could be obtained for the pairings of the fighters in the correct brackets.

Doctors will be on hand to give each fighter the required physical examination at the time of the weighing in. The examination is a requirement of the Golden Gloves rules.

Jennings said Monday that he was confident that there would be at least 60 fighters listed in the tournament, and this number would assure a full card for all three nights with some jam up fights on the program for each show.

Black Market In Cab Licenses Springing Up In Washington

BY JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — A black market in taxicab licenses is reported in the capital and probably is true here and elsewhere throughout the country.

Reason behind it: the wartime limit on the number of cars permitted to operate. Here's the story:

The Office of Defense transportation (ODT) on Sept. 1, 1942, froze the number of cars then in operation everywhere to conserve rubber, gasoline, manpower.

Cities Limited Licenses

Cities, cooperating with the government, then limited the number of licenses issued for cars. In a number of cities, possibly all, those licenses are transferable.

The black market revolves around those transferred licenses which, being hard to get, bring a high asking price.

Before any car owner can operate he must obtain from ODT a certificate of war necessity and a gasoline ration book.

In such places where the need arises, a would-be taxi driver with a car may without difficulty get his city license and his government certificate and ration book.

Might Buy Operating Cab

But if there is no need for additional cabs and the maximum number of cars permitted by ODT already is operating on the streets a would-be cab driver can get neither city license nor government certificate or ration book.

The only way he could become a cabby would be to buy an operating cab from its licensed owner.

But suppose the cab itself is worth only $1,000 while the original cost of the Washington, D. C., license to operate a cab is $25 a year. That particular license is transferable.

So the cab owner sells his cab to the would-be cabby for perhaps $1,500. The new owner is actually paying $1,000 for the cab and $500 for the license.

Cab drivers have told us of deals in which those licenses cost a new owner $300 to $400. A Washington public utilities commission official told us he had heard stories of licenses selling for $600 to $800.

Venereal Hospital In Houston Area Urged

HOUSTON, Jan. 25 (U.P.)— Dr. Austin E. Hill today joined Col. W. H. Reid, commanding officer of Ellington field, in a demand for location of a venereal disease hospital in the Houston area.

Several weeks ago the Houston city council denied the Army permission to erect such a hospital in a city park. There was discussion at that time of setting up the hospital in Galveston.

It was reported today, however, that the state board of control had rejected the Army's bid for some state buildings in Galveston.

Dr. Hill, Houston health director, suggested that the hospital be located "just outside the Houston city limits" in seconding Col. Reid's demand for construction of the hospital in this city.

BEGINS 55TH YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Hugh McQuillan, who helped organize the Treasury's intelligence unit 25 years ago and who has been on the trail of tax dodgers ever since, Monday began his 55th year of continuous service with the government, and is believed to hold the tenure record for employes now on the federal payroll.

At full throttle, the Flying Fortress consumes nearly 500 gallons of gasoline an hour, about twice its consumption at cruising speed.

Modern war facilitates the spread of disease: the flu in the U. S., the jitters in Germany!

THE Plainsman was out of town all last week attending the annual conference of Texas Associated Press editors in Dalas; discussing the investigation of the Hunt murders with Chairman George Cottingham of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and personally seeing something of the workings of the Arsenal of Democracy in Texas—the great war plants at Houston.

On several counts we returned a wiser individual (do we hear muffled cheers?) and a happier one, albeit we had one disappointment.

That disappointment was in our impression of a man frequently discussed as a possible presidential nominee, Gov. John Bricker, of Ohio, who has made a fine record as chief executive of the Buckeye State and is now serving his third term in that office.

In Dallas, we had an opportunity to have breakfast with Governor Bricker, along with a dozen other souls, including the editors and political reporters of the Dallas News and Times Herald. Naturally, we seized it. We had an opportunity to listen to Governor Bricker; to study him, to talk with him.

Upshot of the brief contact of probably an hour's duration was that we left the breakfast feeling that Governor Bricker is a sort of Republican Paul McNutt.

In other words, he looks like a President, but he doesn't impress us as a gentleman who is outstanding enough to fill the office in times like these and those which the immediate future are certain to bring.

BIG, handsome, affable, impeccably turned-out, Governor Bricker never-the-less appears too cautious. Questions put forth to him by the newsmen present were met not exactly with evasion, but the Ohioan seemed to have a "yes" and a "no" answer for each question put to him—questions on vital affairs of the day.

Of course, he was "behind the 8-ball" in that any crawling out on a limb might be hurtful to him come GOP convention time next June. Yet he lacked, it seemed to us, the directness called for by present-day—and future—leadership in this country.

His personality is good, but seems to lack force. Certainly, he has none of the electric personality of President Roosevelt.

To be sure, our contact with Governor Bricker was brief and our judgment, therefore, is purely "off the elbow."

Perhaps The Plainsman is at fault—not Governor Bricker—in the fact that he was not greatly impressed by the Ohioan.

But, never-the-less, that's the way it was.

Reports have it that Hitler is in the dumps—which, of course, today could mean anywhere in Berlin!

That Man on Avenue Q says the Road to Happiness is paved with smile-stones.

Some people fail to recognize Opportunity because it usually is disguised as hard work.

INVESTIGATION into the Hunt murders, now exactly three months old, is being broadened and accelerated. That is true. The Plainsman will swear to it.

However, at the moment he can go no farther; cannot divulge either the breadth, or the acceleration involved, because to do so might weaken the case, as well as break faith with authorities.

It is the writer's prognostication that it will not be long before more information can officially be given out.

Watch The Avalanche-Journal.

From time to time in our life we have seen "mental wizards" perform on stages but we never saw anything like the performance we stumbled over in Dallas the other night.

And since Lubbock figured in the affair, thereby hangs a tale of interest here.

AFTER the Associated Press conference was over, a group of old friends got together for a little dinner party. Frank King, chief of the AP in Texas, and Mrs. King, had secured a good table in a Dallas hotel supper club and around it, in addition to the Kings, gathered the James M. Norths and James R. Records, of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram; the Allen Merriams, of the Dallas Times Herald; Jimmie Pope, managing editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, The Plainsman and the Little Woman. The music was good; the entertainment satisfactory. That is, the entertainment was satisfactory until the mental wizards came on—and then it was a wow!

The woman in the act stood in the middle of the dance floor, blindfolded and under a spotlight. The man went from table to table, picking up items which the woman quickly described, supposedly by mental telepathy. The Plainsman wasn't particularly impressed over her describing packages of cigarets, items of jewelry, etc., offered by the audience until the woman correctly called out the serial number on a $10 bill someone held up.

We noted that the man was working toward our table, which was at the very edge of the dance floor, so we decided to do a little testing of our own. Jimmie Pope, who is on leave from his Louisville job to serve the government as assistant chief of War Censorship, was at the end of the table so we unhooked from our key chain a Lubbock police badge which local reporters carry in case they need to get close to a fire, a raid, or some news occurrence of that nature.

Passing the badge to Jimmie Pope, we said:

"When he gets to you, let's see what the 'wizard' can do with this."

A couple of minutes later, the man asked Mr. Pope for an article and Jimmie handed him the badge. Even if the woman had not been blondfolded, she couldn't have told, across the intervening distance, what the man had in his hand.

"What is this? asked the man in the act.

"It's a badge," shot back the woman.

"What sort of a badge?"

"A police badge."

"What are the words on the badge?"

Quick as a flash she shot back:

"Lubbock Police!"

Of course, The Plainsman doesn't believe the woman had occult powers. But neither does he believe she could answer such a series of questions through a pre-arranged code based upon the way the questions are asked and the inflections of the man's voice. After all, the badge offered might just as well have been from Schenectady, N. Y., or Albany, Ore., as from Lubbock and no code, or set of inflections, could possibly be broad enough to cover everything.

About the only way we can figure it out is this:

The man must have been a ventriloquist capable of talking without moving his lips, (because we were watching him four feet away and he showed no evidence of speaking) and must have had a small microphone hooked under his coat with a radio hookup with a small receiver hidden under the woman's blindfold.

What's your guess?

But no matter how the trick was worked, it was a lulu.

The Doctor's Daughters

BY FAITH BALDWIN

(Copyright, 1943, NEA Service, Inc.)

"NOT LONG . . ."

CHAPTER XXX

Late Sunday afternoon Jim and Emily sat in the small living room. In the drawing room Doctor Hall and Millicent were looking at bright resort folders. They would leave soon after the New Year. Their next door neighbors, the Evanses, were looking at the folders with them. . . .

It seemed weeks since last night. When Jim had returned with her bag and the blunt information that Nancy had gone to Boston to meet Drew Warner, Emily had been beside herself. Nancy must be stopped, someone must stop her.

"Why?" asked Jim grimly. "It's what she wants, isn't it?"

That was what Doctor Hall had decided, when shortly after three in the morning he had finally located his younger daughter.

She was of age, she could marry whom she pleased. She said, half crying, half laughing, "But don't you see, it's the first time I've been happy in months . . .? No, of course not. Yes, I'll come home, we'll both come home ... if you insist . . ."

Emily had returned when the day nurse relieved her. The Hansons were on their way from New York. The child was better.

Her mother met her, her face streaked with tears.

"Emily," she said, "Nancy has—"

"She knows all about it," said Jim, "let her alone, let her get some sleep. She's worked like a dog." He pushed Mrs. Hall aside gently. "Time enough in the morning."

Emily woke at something after noon. She lay there watching the wintry sunlight. She thought, If only she's happy.

Toward two in the afternoon Nancy telephoned. She said incoherently that everything was wonderful. She and Drew would be home for supper.

"That's that," said Doctor Hall to his older daughter. He looked tired and very grave. "If it's what she wants, I warned her, no elopement. 'You'll come home and be married properly,' I said. I talked to him, too." He added, "Well, if they love each other. . ."

Nancy wasn't afraid. They loved each other, it would be all right. Drew said, sitting there in the crowded lobby, "I tried so hard . . . but it wasn't any go. I'll make you unhappy, but that can't be helped. All day, every day, no matter where I was, what I was doing, I kept seeing your funny little face, hearing your voice, feeling your arms about my neck, your hair against my cheek . . ."

He added that her parents would despise him.

Not Drew, with his charm, and his tired good looks and his twinkling eyes. Not this new Drew with the cynicism gone, the anxiety in its place. She'd take him home and they'd like him and accept him, and she'd marry him, quietly, there in the old Hall house. And after that, it was up to them.

He said, "You'll never believe it, but before I wired you, I found a job. . . . It begins the first of the year. It isn't much, but we'll manage . . ." He added, "and —and the money . . . I mean Dorothy's . . . that will go back to her, Nancy. You'd rather, wouldn't you?"

"So much rather."

The Evanses were going home, their hands full of folders. Doctor Hall came out with his heavy tread. He would go to the station presently to meet Nancy and Drew Warner.

Emily said, after a moment, when her father had gone upstairs:

"It will be difficult for you, Jim —I mean—" she stopped, flushing "if they hadn't come home, if they'd just eloped, it would have been easier."

He said cheerfully:

"Not at all," he grinned. "It was a damned quick cure. But you know, Emily, you could have cured me long ago."

"No," she said, "I couldn't. Every word I said was true. Drew will find her all that I told you the right man would find her. You weren't the right man, Jim."

"No. And I was too hard on her. I can see that. She's done me a great favor. "I'll dance at her wedding — if she asks me. I'll wish Warner luck." He thought, He'll need it. Later, seeing them together, he was to realize that Drew Warner already had it, plenty of luck, all of it good, with a girl who loved him.

"If you go away, Emily—" he began.

"I'm not going," she said serenely.

"But—?"

"The — the reason," she said slowly, "why I thought of going . . . doesn't exist any more."

He shook his head. He said, listening to Doctor Hall's car drive out:

"I'll never understand women."

Looking at him, as he sat there, smiling at her, his blue eyes blazing bright under the shock of red hair, she thought, you'll understand this woman some day. Not yet. He was cured of Nancy but for a little while his heart would be wary. . . . He wouldn't fall into love again, she thought, gloriously confident. He would grow into it. Seeing her every day, working with her, feeling, without conscious awareness, her love around him, by day, by night. . . .

She turned to leave the room and he asked instantly:

"Where are you going?"

"Upstairs . . ." She must see her mother, talk to her, try to persuade her that Nancy must follow her own heart, try to make it easier for Nancy when she and Drew came home. . . .

"Don't be gone long," he said.

"I won't," she promised. Not long, her heart sang, as she went upstairs, not too long, never too long. I'll be back, she pledged, silently, after you have learned to miss me a little.

This Curious World

BY WILLIAM FERGUSON

ANSWER: Philadelphia.

Today's Journal Editorial

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR TOJO

Further proof that disturbances like strikes and threats of strikes in the United States almost certainly will add to the blood price that must be paid for victory was supplied by Premier Tojo in addressing the Japanese Diet the other day.

He was quoted as saying that a "golden opportunity" is at hand for the Japs to strike a "crushing blow" because of "unrest" in the United States and "increasing exhaustion" in Great Britain. About the only evidences of "unrest" that have occurred in this country have been the strikes and threats of strikes made by labor czars and organizations.

Because of such things, Tojo is attempting to inspire the Japanese to fight harder and more desperately, and to obtain greater production at home. He already has told his countrymen, repeatedly, that they are sure to win because people of the United States will "crack" when the going gets too rough. He now offers the "unrest" evidenced by strikes and threats of strikes as being proof that his earlier predictions are coming true.

Thus, it is not improbable that the Jap at home may step up their production and that those on the firing lines will fight harder. If this does happen, then more Americans, Australians and others surely will die before Japan finally is forced to acknowledge defeat. If so, the blood of those who die will be on the heads of Americans responsible for the evidences of unrest which inspire the enemy to greater effort.

Support Program On Hog Prices Extended

WASHINGTON(Jan. 25 (AP) — Extension of the government's price support program to include choice butcher hogs weighing from 300 to 330 pounds was announced today by the War Food administration.

The order, effective Jan. 27, was taken, WFA said, to protect growers currently unable to market their hogs above the upper weight limit of 300 pounds specified in the price support program.

WFA urged growers to keep hogs weighing less than 200 pounds off the market until the congestion is relieved.

Individual Bond Sales Said At 863 Million

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Individual bond sales in the Fourth War Loan hit $863,000,000 in today's treasury report, a gain of $81,000,000 over Saturday's total.

The drive thus was nearing the 16 per cent mark on the $5,500,000,000 goal set for individual sales, with reports on "big money" purchases toward the $14,000,000,000 over-all objective still being withheld for the balance of this month.

U. S. munitions output for 1943 was 85 per cent above the 1942 figure.

LOTS of things have been said about the Russkys—few of them nice in the past 25 years—but nobody can call them shilly-shalliers. When they've got a beef they spill it, take it or leave it. . . Just now they're sick of Franco's footsie game with the reeling Axis. They have called Spain's dictator a liar to his teeth and spiked his claims that he has ceased his help to the hoodlum nations that got him his job . . . The Soviets have facts to the contrary—because they've been shooting some of them . . . They also charge that Franco's ships are carrying on a brisk ferry service between South America (you can bet where in S. A.) and the supplies-hungry Nazis. . . . As usual, our State dep't wouldn't know about that. The dep't is too tickled with our progress in Spain. It seems that Franco is letting the papers print Allied communiques now . . . Goody, goody—they're printing our communiques, the perfect darlings! But, brother, what we COULD give them to print—if we just worked up the courage.

The reviews on "Lifeboat" were a study. The film surveyors got their dander up at Writer John Steinbeck and Director Hitchcock for depicting some of the scummier Americans . . . The lifeboat is full of asstriches who have paid no mind to the war, look upon it as a personal nuisance and don't lift a finger to help it along. They land in a lifeboat under the supervision of a tough Nazi who isn't kidding. Cruelty is his racket, and he works it on the American nincompoops . . . So the reviewers yell "tck" and "shame" and ring in that old one, "defeatist." In none of the reviews we eyed did there appear a denial that there are Americans like that. Oh, no. Just that it isn't nice to talk about them . . . It's a cinch that Steinbeck won't be bothered with a bad press. He's made a career of reporting on Americans one doesn't care to know, and whatever your opinion of his copy is, you can't accuse him of not knowing what he's talking about. He wouldn't have to make that concession to some of his hecklers.

IT all just goes to show that people get indignant about only a limited number of things. They see red at absenteeism and strikes (me, too), but hold their tongues like little ladies and gents when the offense is on the slicker side. . . . There have been several instances, supported by convictions of our gov't being rooked by this or that firm. They peddle shoddy material to Uncle Samson . . . Trimming a chump is a popular pastime, but when you sell your Uncle short these days you're toying with lives. A piece of bum steel may decide to fall apart in mid-Atlantic (oh, yes, some of the steel is like that), shells can go dud and fail to stop a horde of Japs closing in on American soldiers . . . Still, these offenses are never high-lighted—the way strikes and labor offenses are . . . A cagey politician could bring some of the cases into the spotlight during 1944 and get himself an office. He'd deserve it.

War Profiteering Is Odious to All, But---

Ack-Ack Is Constant Worry To Dive-Bombers . . .

Getting In Over Targets Is Game Of Wits

By ERNIE PYLE
Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Jan. 25. (By Wireless) —Although our dive-bomber pilots are largely spared the worry of German fighter planes, they are plenty concerned over the anti-aircraft flak and other ground fire. The German ack-ack over the front lines is smothering. Here's the way it works:

ERNIE PYLE

Suppose our planes make a big circle back of the German lines in order to approach the target from a new angle, which they do every day.

Well, the Germans may pick them up 40 miles from their target. Our men have to fly every inch of that through heavy flak.

It's a game of wits. The pilots above and the gunners on the ground know each other's actions so well by now that it's almost impossible for either side to do anything new. If our pilots do think of a new evasive maneuver one day, the Germans have it figured out by the next; and vice versa, if the German gunners shoot a different pattern one day, our pilots have it figured out before the next mission.

The planes have to fly in constant "evasive action," which means going right, going left, going up, going down, all the time they are over enemy territory. If they flew in a straight line for as long as 15 seconds, the Germans would pick them off.

A pilot sits up there and figures this way: "Right now they've got a bearing on me. In a certain number of seconds they'll shoot and in a few more seconds the shell will be up here. It's up to me to be somewhere else then."

But he also knows that the Germans know he will turn, and that consequently they will send up shells to one side or the other or above or below his present position.

Thus he must never make exactly the same move two days in a row. By constantly turning, climbing, ducking, he makes a calculated hit almost impossible. His worst danger is flying by chance right into a shell burst.

I ASKED one of the pilots, "Why wouldn't it be a good idea to fool them about once every two weeks by just flying straight ahead for a while."

He said, "Because they've got that figured out too. They always keep the air dead ahead of you full of shells, just in case."

Pilots have some freakish escapes from shell blasts. Several have had shells explode within a foot or two of their plane without getting hurt. They say it sounds as if you'd fired off a dozen shotguns in the cockpit. The concussion tosses the plane around like a cork, yet often these close bursts don't damage the plane at all.

A friend of mine, Lieut. Jimmy Groswold of Los Angeles, was thrown violently into a dive by a shell that must have exploded within a foot of the tail of his plane, yet there wasn't a mark on it when he got home.

The German gunners are canny. For instance, on a bad day when there is a high layer of clouds with just a few holes through which the bombers might dive, they'll fill up those holes with flak when they hear planes overhead. Sometimes the smoke of their gunfire forms a thick layer through which the planes must dive, and if there is a hole or two in this layer they'll put up a few shells and stop up the holes.

BUT it isn't the heavy flak up above or the medium flak on the way down that worries the pilots as much as the small-arms fire from the ground after they've finished their dive.

If you'd ever been in a raid on either side, you'd understand. I know that when German planes come over our lines the whole valley for miles and miles becomes one vast fountain of flying lead with bullets going up by the thousands. It's actually like a water spray, filling the air as far as you can see.

Our dive-bomber pilots have to fly through this every day. They "hit the deck" the minute they've pulled out of their bombing dive, for it's harder to see a plane that is close to the ground. Also, when they're almost down to earth the Germans firing at them may shoot their own troops—but even that doesn't stop them, they keep banging away.

The pilots say it's the accidental bullet they're most afraid of. They say that nine times out of ten it's some goof standing out in the field shooting wildly into the air that gets a hit.

When a big push is on, our dive-bomber pilots sometimes have to go through this sort of thing three times in a single day. So you see that, although they live well when at home base, they aren't on any picnic when they go out to work.

New Rate Reduction Hearings Not Due

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (U.P.) — The Federal Power commission, estimating that it has saved the public $34,680,000 in gas bills since 1938, told Congress today it did not expect to open new rate reduction cases against natural gas companies for the duration.

The commission said pending cases and those being investigated imposed "so heavy a burden on the commission's limited staff that it is not expected that the commission, under existing circumstances, will be able to initiate further rate cases during the war emergency."

In a lengthy report covering its first five years of operation of the natural gas act of 1938, the commission said the savings of $34,680,000 brought about for residents of 29 natural gas consuming states was more than 15 times its total annual appropriation.

One Army tank depot now prepares more military equipment for overseas duty in one day alone than was possessed by the entire Army before the war.

No fish or animal is more famous for his strength, stamina, and power than the shark. He draws his tremendous store of vitality and power from the sea in which he lives. Today, this same food-rich sea provides the animal proteins, minerals and vitamins which your poultry and livestock must have to be healthy, fast-growing and productive.

STANTON'S 18% LAYING MASH
brings these vital elements from the sea and puts them to work in your poultry yard. This fine feed, milled right here in Lubbock, contains ManAmar and B-G Plus, Blended with local-grown grains into a feed especially adapted to the needs of West Texas feeders.

B-G PLUS
is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash.

MANAMAR
in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex."

ManAmar and B-G PLUS have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have also approved the formula for Stanton's 18% Laying Mash. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

Demo Check On Funds Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Administration efforts to obtain House clearance for United States' participation in foreign relief to the extent of a possible $1,350,000,000 headed toward a Democratic halter today after throwing off some Republican checkreins.

Rep. O'Connor (D-Mont) said he would move to limit to $650,000,000 the amount this country might spend in aiding the people of Axis-conquered countries after they have been freed by Allied armies.

First Try Was Blocked

His first try at curtailing United States' spending in the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration was blocked, he said, "by some damned slick strategic" parliamentary maneuvering on the part of administration leaders who are piloting the UNRRA bill through the House.

While asserting he was not opposed to the "feeding and clothing of genuinely needy people of the various foreign countries," O'Connor called for some sound thinking about our ability to pay for such a vast relief program.

Must Not Lose Senses

"We must not lose our senses," he said. "If we consult our heart we would help everyone, but somewhere along the line we must consult our mind."

To Rep. Richards (D-SC) of the House foreign affairs committee however, the billion-plus figure—which the legislation would authorize, but not appropriate—"is just as necessary for the winning of the war and maintaining the peace," as any similar money expended."

HIGH WAC OFFICER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (UP) — The Women's Army corps had its first lieutenant colonel today. She is Betty Bandel, former Tucson, Ariz., newspaper reporter who graduated with the first WAC officer class and rose rapidly to become deputy to WAC Director Col. Oveta Culp Hobby.

SPECIALTIES IN FRONT

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — A few specialties occupied the front row in today's stock market performance while many leaders exhibited scant interest.

The course was moderately uneven at the start and indefinite trends prevailed near the close. Dealings slowed after a fairly active get-away and transfers for the full stretch were around 700,000 shares.

Earnings, dividends and individual developments bolstered favorites.

Homestake Mining hit a new 1943-44 top. American & Foreign Power preferreds pushed up 1 to around 5 points. Ahead were International Telephone, Patino Mines, Eastman Kodak, Budd Mfg., International Harvester, Goodyear, Santa Fe and Woolworth. Most steels, motors, aircrafts, coppers, oils and utilities were about unchanged to a shade lower.

Living Costs Since 1941 Increase 50%

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP) — Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial organizations, told a Senate sub-committee investigating the economic problems of white collar workers today that living costs have increased approximately 50 per cent since January, 1941.

Murray said his headquarters would issue a formal report late today to dispute estimates by the Bureau of Labor statistics showing an increase of 23.4 per cent from January, 1941, to November, 1943.

"The cost of living survey of the CIO," Murray testified, "will show most shocking revelations."

Big Super-Destroyer Is Launched Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — A 2,200-ton super-destroyer, the U. S. S. Taussig, was launched today at the Bethlehem Steel company's Staten island shipyard.

The ship, twice as heavy as a World war I sub-chaser and with the striking power of a cruiser of the last war, was named for the late Rear Admiral Edward David Taussig who served in the Navy from the Civil war through 1918 and in 1899 claimed Wake island for the United States.

TRAIN IS DERAILED

JORDAN, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP)—Derailment of a ten-car New York to Chicago passenger train near here last night, in which five sailors were slightly injured, was caused when a car of an eastbound freight train was thrown in the path of the fast-approaching Advance Water Level limited, a New York Central official said today.

Bradshaw Talks At Lions Club Meeting

W. L. Bradshaw, a member of the City Planning commission and of the City Board of Adjustment, bespoke admirable future results of the cooperative agencies of national, state, county and city groups to make a more perfect Lubbock, at today's weekly luncheon of the Lions club in Hilton hotel.

Crowding his address into three minutes, he confined his skeletonized explanation to the interrelation of affecting agencies, and said that great good had been accomplished to date.

Dr. Ewell Hunt, Pres., presided; G. R. Kennedy directed club singing; Chester Hufstedler of Childress was a guest; Ray Dickey, president of the American Business club, asked support of Crippled Children's council dances to be given in the Hilton and the Lubbock hotels the night of Jan. 31; and Arch L. King, city engineer, announced that copies of a 100-page report of O. H. Koch, city planning expert of Dallas, were available from the planning commission here to those who have need of them. It shows Lubbock's general planning trends.

Argentine Action

the German charge d'affaires, Erich Otto Meynen.

The United States non-recognition policy was announced by the State department late yesterday. The statement linked the Bolivian regime with "subversive groups hostile to the Allied cause."

Intentions Not Disclosed

No reference was made to economic sanctions or other measures and the intention of the United States and cooperating governments apparently was to await reaction in Bolivia and Argentina to the purely diplomatic step before doing anything else.

Along with issuance of the announcement a State department official disclosed that Ambassador Pierre de L. Boal, 48, who has been in La Paz since March 1942 was being ordered back home.

The next immediate action by the cooperating governments is expected to be announcements in still other American capitals that they also are adopting non-recognition policies. The United States was the fourth nation to act, being preceded by Uruguay, Cuba and Venezuela.

VENEZUELA JOINS IN REFUSING RECOGNITION

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 25 (AP) — Venezuela joined Uruguay and Cuba today in refusing to recognize the revolutionary Bolivian regime of Gualberto Villarroel and ordered the Venezuelan charge d'affaires at La Paz to come home.

The Bolivian coup d'etat of a month ago was the result of "influences inimical to the cause which the United Nations defend" the foreign ministry's announcement declared, and "places in danger continental solidarity and hinders the cooperation which the American countries lend to the defense of the hemisphere."

Argentina is the only country so far recognizing the new government.

BRAZIL HINTS SHE WILL NOT RECOGNIZE REGIME

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 25 (AP) Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha said today in a written statement that, in view of information exchanged by the American governments, he could not advise that Brazil establish diplomatic relations with the Bolivian junta.

Nazi Troops Occupy Croat Town Of Senj

LONDON, Jan. 25. (AP) — German troops have occupied the Croat coastal town of Senj, 35 miles southeast of Fiume, after fierce fighting in which Yugoslav partisans forced the invaders to pay heavily in men and equipment, Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

Fall of Senj followed a furious battle over an 18-mile-long front between the coast and Otocac. An earlier broadcast by the Hungarian news agency quoted a dispatch from Zagreb as saying that Axis troops had not only occupied Senj but had completed mopping up operations on Hvar island, farther down the coast.

Tito's communique, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio and recorded by the Associated Press, reported heavy fighting continuing in the Doboj-Tuzla sector of eastern Bosnia, with street fighting raging in the streets of Tuzla. Earlier Yugoslav reports said that the partisans had captured the town of Gracania and destroyed the Dobo-Tuzla railway line.

Crew Removed Before Patrol Boat Explodes

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP) — A Coast Guard patrol boat exploded after a fire a quarter of a mile off Princes bay, Staten island, today but the Third Naval district said Coast Guard fireboats and other patrol vessels removed the crew before the explosion. The vessel finally was beached.

Two members of the crew of 12 men were taken to the Marine hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

BOND RALLY GOES ON

CHICAGO, Jan. 25. (AP) — Despite an explosion which killed five persons and injured 11 others, employes of the south Chicago plant of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. went ahead with their scheduled war bond rally. The tragedy occurred yesterday afternoon when a recently-overhauled steam turbine, which had been undergoing tests, exploded.

CORSICA NOT ENEMY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. (AP)—In its first action of the kind, the Treasury today removed French Corsica from the category of enemy territory, thus permitting resumption of trade with that Mediterranean Island.

Allies Push 12 Miles Inland

battle swirled for the Mt. Cruce area.

British troops kept their bridgehead across the Garigliano river on the left flank of the Fifth army line despite new Nazi counterblows, and made some gains in the Damiano bridge area. The Germans were reported counterattacking recklessly in the Minturno and Castelforte areas.

Many Nazis Dead

A British veteran of the last war who went through the thick of the fighting in and around Minturno said:

"The German dead there exceeded the dead I saw at any time during the fiercest fighting on the Somme."

The German battle groups rushing up against the invasion forces to the northwest are formations that can be drawn rapidly from any division. They represent all branches and are in the nature of miniature defense divisions with their own commanders. Presumably such groups have been drawn from several of the divisions facing the Fifth army.

There also were indications the Germans may bring some of their forces from northern Italy to the Rome area.

Alexander Directed Landing

Headquarters disclosed that Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander of Allied forces in Italy, had personally directed the landing operations at Nettuno, and then landed himself to supervise the early operations ashore.

(An unverified German report quoted by the Morocco radio last night said Littoria had been captured. This apparently referred to a town in the Pontine marshes about 12 miles due east of captured Nettuno, which is not to be confused with the great airfield of Littorio on the outskirts of Rome).

Delayed dispatches from an invasion beachhead earlier had related the first account of small-scale German efforts to beat back the Allied threat to the Nazi rear.

Heavy bombers blasted rail yards at Vrattsa, near the Bulgarian capital of Sofia, and also struck at Skoplje in Yugoslavia yesterday.

Despite bad weather, fighters and fighter bombers maintained a cover over convoys and the invasion beaches in Italy as well as roads behind the German lines.

A number of Nazi bombers attacking Allied shipping were shot down.

Fifteen enemy planes were destroyed during the day, and 11 Allied craft were lost.

Long-Time Resident Of Slaton Buried

SLATON, Jan. 25 (Special) — Funeral services were conducted in Slaton Baptist church Monday for William Johnson, 78, a resident of the Slaton vicinity more than 32 years, who died Saturday afternoon after an illness of several months. Burial was in Slaton cemetery under direction of Williams Funeral home.

He is survived by five sons, C. B. Johnson of Perry, Ohio, Edward A. Johnson of Detroit, Mich., Dennis O. Johnson of Idalou, Walter Johnson of Slaton and Mack Johnson of Kansas City; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Allen of Oakland, Calif., seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren, two sisters, Margaret Johnson of San Diego, Calif., and Kate Johnson of Tennessee, and a nephew, Raymond Johnson of Slaton.

Mr. Johnson was born in Tennessee and came to Slaton from Knowles, New Mexico.

American Casualties Now Total 142,289

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — Latest available figures on American war casualties total 142,289, including 32,662 killed in action.

The Office of War Information announced the figures today. They cover Navy casualties through January 22 and Army losses through December 31.

Navy casualties were listed as 35,572, numbering 15,520 dead, 7,206 wounded, 8,562 missing and 4,284 captured by the enemy. (These figures include Marine corps and Coast Guard casualties).

Army casualties to the end of December totaled 106,717, with 17,142 killed, 39,917 wounded, 24,137 missing and 25,521 prisoners of war.

STAFF CHANGES SEEN

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Changes in the personnel of the staff of Gen. Douglas MacArthur "to admit of wider control" were foreseen here today by Sir Neville Pearson, member of the British newspaper proprietors delegation recently returned from a tour of Australia.

Intelligence Officer Speaks To Optimists

Sgt. Ralph Goodwin, intelligence officer at South Plains Army Air field, spoke before Optimist club members at their luncheon today noon in Lubbock hotel on political geography of international relations with emphasis on the geographic position of the United States in world politics.

"If a nation is going to survive it has to have an industrial production," Sgt. Goodwin said in emphasizing how the war has cut off from the new world raw materials and other production from the old world. He explained further that the problem of the United States is the effort to mobilize resources in the old world in preparation for attack of the enemy, and to overcome domination of the old world under one power.

The speaker was introduced by Major Frank Hangs.

Charles Tillman, member of the Optimist club in Austin, was introduced as a guest.

Double Standard Of Morality Condemned

HOUSTON, Jan. 25. (UP) — The Rev. Fred Knickrehm today told delegates of 300 Methodist churches to the crusade for a new world order conclave here that America can not condemn Hitler's methods while it "at the same time condones the virtual enslavement of economically suppressed groups."

Knickrahm, of Portland, Me., said the United States must rid itself of "the double standard of morality."

"The same ethical rules of morality must be applied to all groups," he declared.

"Ultimately there can be no class, either by race, vocation or geography. We can not condemn Hitler for his doctrine of 'herrenvolk' if we hold to the concept of a racial 'herrenvolk' ourselves."

The church plans to carry its cruside directly to Congress and military leaders by having its 8,000,000 members write 1,000,000 letters a month urging a key position at the peace table for religion.

Jap Bases Blasted

started last November.

Wewak Blasted Heavily

Wewak received the heaviest bombing—105 tons in all—as well as bringing the top bag in Japanese planes. The Rabaul raid, 27th in the past 33 days, was aimed at the Lakunai airdrome, and the defenders sent up 70 interceptors in an attempt to break up the attack.

Units of the Seventh army Air force and fleet air wing two carried out nine missions against the Marshalls over the weekend, drawing a total of 85 Japanese fighters altogether. The targets, in addition to atolls previously hit, including two new ones — Kaven, in Maloelap atoll; and Ailingiapalap, between Jaluit and Kwajalein.

While the Japanese began to feel the effects of the Allied offensive in northern Burma, the British War office announced the appointment of two veteran campaigners to Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia staff. Gen. Sir George Gifford, 57, was named to lead an army group under Mountbatten; and Lt. Gen. W. J. Slim, 52, was selected as commander of the 14th British army.

A dispatch from the 14th Army headquarters said today that British Indian troops have advanced 12 miles in Arakan, southernmost of three Allied fronts in Burma, during the last two months. They have receovered nearly a third of the territory held before retreating last April in monsoon rains.

School Committee

now is $25 per scholastic.

The committee asked advice on means to prevent school districts being lax in collection of local taxes and relying upon the state to make up the difference. A central taxing agency for each county was suggested but Woods doubted its efficacy or willingness of the people to have a central tax valuing agency for the entire state.

Late Hours, But The "Work" Is Pleasant

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 25. (AP) — Sgt. Harvey E. Larke at Camp Kohler asked for volunteers for a "detail" beginning at 6:30 p.m. and continuing to 12:30 a.m.

All but eight snickered and were too wise to raise their hands.

The eight greenhorns snickered later — when they learned their detail consisted of a downtown Sacramento party—with dates.

Rocket Plane Said Smooth, Reassuring

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 25 (AP) — The new jet-propelled (rocket) fighter plane is characterized by pilots as being smooth, simple to operate and giving a feeling of security aloft, Lawrence D. Bell, president of Bell Aircraft Corp., reported today with War department approval.

"Jet-propulsion," Bell said in a statement, "is still so new that it is against the best interests of aviation to make startling claims for a radical principle of flight whose real developmental life all lies in the future."

Bell aircraft is producing the twin-engine, propellerless plane.

Germans Strike Back At Rome

By CLARK LEE
Representing The Combined American Press
Distributed By The Associated Press

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY ON A BEACHHEAD SOUTH OF ROME, Jan. 23 (Delayed) — The Germans finally struck back against our beachhead this afternoon, attacking at several points of our lines along a canal.

Small-scale but vigorous fighting ensued, involving infantry, tanks and artillery.

The Germans gained some temporary successes as the battle seesawed back and forth across the canal, with both sides attempting to hold bridges.

Several Bridges Involved

I watched the fighting in one half-mile square area where the Germans were attacking a bridge which we had taken, lost and then regained, while simultaneously we were attacking a bridge previously lost to the enemy.

As I watched the two fights for bridges a half-mile apart, another similar action was visible, three miles away, where the Germans were attempting to come through a mine field we had laid yesterday and capture a bridge. Our artillery opened up, and our warships offshore behind us also joined in, pouring heavy concentrations of fire just across the canal.

Italians Returning

Fighting was still in progress at all three points as night fell.

With their backs to the battle, Italian families have begun returning to coastal towns which the Germans had forced them to evacuate as military zones four months ago.

The Italians since have been living in farmhouses. They appeared well-fed and enthusiastically cheered passing American troops.

The homes to which they are returning had been stripped by the Germans, but the majority of the buildings are undamaged.

Students Pledge Bond Sales To Buy Jeep

A pledge to buy enough bonds and stamps to buy a jeep, costing about $1,000, was made by students in George M. Hunt school at the start of the Fourth War Loan drive.

They already have bought enough bonds and stamps — $5,535 worth — to buy five jeeps and are well on their way toward a sixth, Principal Lennon Hill reported Monday afternoon.

Monday morning, the sales were still going strong. And that afternoon the kids got their peek—and several of them a ride—in a jeep. Two of the sturdy vehicles from South Plains Army Air field paid a visit to the school as reward for the children's efforts.

Sales promptly boomed another $2,500, Hill said, and the youngsters are out to beat last week's total after getting a good look at what they are buying.

Five SPAAF Officers Given Promotions

Promotions for five officers stationed at South Plains Army Air field were announced Monday by Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer.

Capt. Vernon McQueen of Baltic, Ohio, commanding officer of the instrument training section at the field, has been promoted from first lieutenant.

Those promoted from 2nd lieutenant to 1st lieutenant include Paul S. Kennan of Roanoke, Va., commanding officer of the 356th squadron; Robert O. Brasfield, Jr., of Lorman, Miss., Robert J. Nachwey of Fond du Lac, Wis., assistant personnel officer; and Winston H. Lewis of Birmingham, Ala., towpilot.

Community Center To Honor Service Men

PALESTINE, Jan. 25 (AP) — Palestine plans to erect a community center in memory of men and women of Anderson county who serve their country.

An organization composed of representatives of the various civic and service clubs has decided to create a trust fund, to be held in escrow until such time as building materials may be available after the war.

The drive for the community center fund will be synchronized with the Fourth War Loan drive, and citizens will be asked, in effect, to buy an extra bond and place it in the escrow fund for the community center.
