Aston, Gregory take oath of office

Ronnie Aston and Eddie Gregory were sworn into office Monday night at the regular meeting of the Colorado Independent School District board of trustees.

Aston and Gregory outpolled their opponents to win three-year terms on the board. Gregory was an incumbent and Aston had served on the board once before.

During the organization of the board, Billy Bruce Bridgford was re-elected president with Dwayne Harris as vice president and Kathy Bassham, secretary.

In other business, the board approved a request from Doug Chitsey who asked for the use of a school gym this summer for a girls' summer basketball program. Chitsey said UIL regulations specify that the district has to approve use of a gym for the program. The program will be July 6-31.

The board approved a building insurance proposal as presented by Bob Ratliff who along with Lovell-Carr Insurance, State Farm Insurance and Elliott-Godwin Insurance, share the insurance coverage on the school district's buildings and contents. The premium for one year will be $44,334 compared to $45,106 paid last year. The buildings and contents are valued at $16.7 million said Business Manager Geneva Findley.

The board gave permission to enter into an agreement with the West Central Texas Council of Governments in the Job Training Partnership ACT for rural pre-employment training of CISD students. The program will pay students $100 each who complete the six-week program and the teacher, Rogene Hicks, will receive an additional $50 for each student who completes the course. The course will be held once a week at night and is designed to keep students from dropping out of school. The program is being completely funded with federal money.

The board accepted the resignations of Barbara Girvin, second grade teacher at Kelley Elementary, effective May 30; Richard Steere, transportation supervisor, effective May 29; Charles Edwards, maintenance supervisor, effective Sept. 1; and Frances Godwin, high school librarian, effective May 31.

Following an executive session with school attorney Tom Rees, the board approved the contract renewal of Larry Debusk at the same salary as last year. Debusk is in charge of the school district's central computer system.

Permission was given to advertise for bids for the house built as part of the building trades class. Supt. Charlie Uselton said the house is complete except for some carpet work that is due to be finished this week.

The board was presented a list of vocational programs currently offered by the school district and the amount of local funds, if any, each is costing. Trustees have already decided to eliminate the building trades program and will look at other possible cuts in the vocational program depending upon state funding cuts.

The board instructed Uselton to interview applicants for the girls' coach replacement on the basis of having a dual athletic program with separate head coaches for boys' and girls' programs.

Sales tax checks continue down

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday sent a check totaling $12,767 in local sales tax to Colorado City as one of the 1,038 cities that levy the one-percent city tax.

State-wide, the checks totaled $47.9 million. The 1987 payments to date are down 6 percent as compared to payments to date made in April of last year.

Colorado City received a check for $14,203 for the same period last year. The 1987 payments to date total $74,434, down 12.60 percent from the 1986 payments to date of $85,164.

Loraine and Westbrook did not receive checks this period.

Loraine's 1987 payments to date total $1,370, down 33.96 percent from the 1986 payments to date of $2,075.

Westbrook's payments to date total $2,274, down 58.57 percent from the 1986 payments to date of $5,489.

County-wide, payments to date are 15.80 percent behind last year, according to Bullock.

Nolan County is running 5.65 percent behind last year and Scurry County is down 22.47 percent. Howard County is down 8.36 percent.

April checks represent taxes collected on sales made in February and reported to the comptroller by March 20.

'Arsenic' tickets on sale

There are still some tickets for the remaining three performances of "Arsenic and Old Lace" at the Colorado City Opera House, 337 Walnut.

Playhouse officials said there are just a few tickets remaining for the Thursday night performance but there are plenty of tickets left for the Friday and Saturday night performances.

Performances are 8 p.m. and the box office is open at 1 p.m. daily. Tickets are $5 each. Senior citizens will be admitted half price Thursday.

Computers eyed for JP courts

The Mitchell County Commissioners Court Monday suggested that Justices of the Peace Joan Merket and Ruby Claxton visit a JP court in Eastland to view a computer system in operation there.

The action came following a request from the two local JPs for part-time help in their offices.

Commissioner Paul Hunter said he had contacted several counties about how many JPs they have and how much, if any, clerical help.

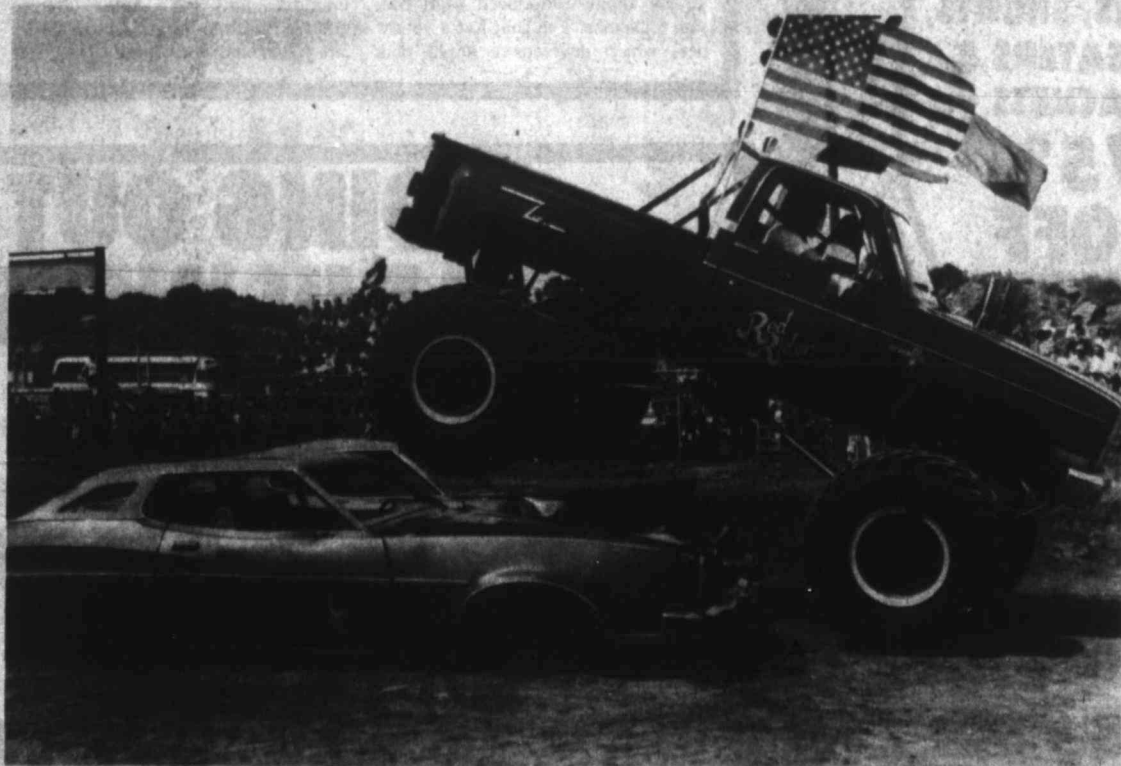

"It's such a variation," said Hunter of the other counties, "that it makes me lean toward consideration of going on computer." Mrs. Merket, precinct 1 JP, said she and Mrs. Claxton need help in preparing reports and putting cases in the docket books. She said part-time help would be able to keep the office open when she or Mrs. Claxton have to leave the courthouse.

"A clerk would enable the office to be open all the time," said Mrs. Merket. "It would be a convenience to the taxpayers."

Hunter said that by going computer, the two justices would have more time for preparing reports and keeping the docket books up to date.

Club hears drug program

The Self Culture Club met April 3 at the Housing Authority Building at 3 p.m.

Jewell Tiller led the members in the club collect and the pledge to the U.S. Flag.

Crime Prevention Officer Vince Ariaz of the Colorado City Police Department spoke to the members.

He said one cannot achieve strung out on alcohol and other drugs. Alcoholism is a terminal disease as are other drugs, if not given up. They usually cannot be given up without much expense and determination. Marijuana lingers in the brain and body for 30 days after a hit, he stated. If one continues on drugs, there is one way to go, skid row or death. Drugs in great quantity have been confiscated in our town and county. Ariaz stated that education should deter the use of drugs.

The users are making the pushers rich. Due to the federal deficit, funds have been cut by the government to the states.

Refreshments were served to Officer Ariaz, Eddie Barclay, Fannie Beeman, Joy Culwell, Jewell Tiller, Linnie Williams and the hostesses, Dona Reed, Fannie Beeman and Pearl Watson.

Eggs: nutritionally dense

COLLEGE STATION—One of Nature's most nutritionally dense foods may be hiding in your Easter basket, disguised as an egg.

"Eggs are a good source of iron, vitamin A, and riboflavin which are part of the Recommended Dietary Allowance," says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Marilyn Haggard.

Eggs are considered nutritionally dense because of the large amount of nutrients they provide per calorie. This makes them popular with weight-conscious consumers.

According to Haggard, they are also light on the budget. By government standards, one dozen large eggs weigh 24 ounces which makes it easy to figure out their cost efficiency. For example, if one dozen large eggs cost 90 cents, that means they are 60 cents a pound, compared to over one dollar a pound for meat and other sources of protein.

"Cholesterol levels should also be considered," cautions Haggard. "Eggs are high in cholesterol, which has been linked to heart disease. If your doctor has put you on a low cholesterol diet, just eat the whites as all the fat and cholesterol are contained in the yolk."

To hard cook eggs, place them in a pan and cover them with an inch of tap water. Bring them to a boil, simmer for 20 minutes, then cool immediately. Haggard says to make sure the eggs are hard after boiling, but that over-boiling causes the whites to become rubbery.

Hard cooked Easter eggs will last, unpeeled in the refrigerator, up to a week, Haggard entions. Don't keep them in your basket too long though, they'll only last 2 or 3 days at room temperature.

Cox wins

Monty Cox, a student at Colorado Middle School, took first place in bull riding during an Abilene rodeo, April 9-11.

TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

Selecting the correct varieties of fruit crops adapted for your area is one of the most important steps for fruit production.

Apple varieties are mostly self-unfruitful and require at least two other varieties to ensure good fruit set. The following varieties are just a few of the many available through local garden centers or regional mail order nurseries.

Anna is a low-chilling yellow apple with a slight red blush. Introduced from Israel in 1965, Anna is a large apple with a sweet, mild flavor. The fruit ripens in early June, softens fast and should be handled carefully. Optimum harvest is before one-third of the peel develops the red blush. It is suggested as a pollinator for Dorsett Golden.

Dorsett Golden is a low-chilling yellow apple introduced from Nassau, Bahamas. The fruit has a yellow peel which develops a slight pink requires 180 days from bloom until harvest to develop full varietal flavor. A dual purpose apple, it is good for cooking or for fresh eating.

Holland is a very large, lightly colored red apple discovered at Weatherford in the 1920s. It is an important market variety which matures mid-July in Montague. It is good fresh, or as a cooking apple. Quality declines rapidly after optimum maturity is reached, and the fruit bruises easily. Trees are vigorous and good annual producers.

Jerseymac is an early, McIntosh type apple. The fruit develops about 80 percent red peel, has good size and firm texture, but bruises easily. Jerseymac was released by the New Jersey Experiment Station in 1972.

Granny Smith is a green, waxy apple that was originally discovered in 1868 in Sydney, Australia. Recently imported into the United States, Granny Smith has a good crisp flesh, tart flavor and keeps well. The fruit

Classification approved for Texas

COLLEGE STATION—Texas was approved for a Class B brucellosis classification on April 1 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, notes Dr. F. C. "Buddy" Faries, Jr., veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Texas has been classified as both a Class C and Class B state since 1980. With the Class B status, the B-C line will be eliminated, and the B designation will mean less restriction on interstate movement of cattle for Texas producers, Faries explains.

Increased efforts will be needed in the future, however, to reach the state's eradication goal, the veterinarian says.

Currently, six states now have Class B status, 19 others have Class A status and 23 have a designated Free status. In addition, one has a B-C status and one is designated as a C state.

"The next step for Texas is to meet the Class A status as mandated by the USDA," said Faries. The target date for this is Oct. 1, 1990. He also notes that other states are putting pressure on Texas producers to increase efforts to control and eradicate brucellosis.

Faries said that the approval changing Texas to a Class B state resulted from the reduced herd infection rate, the increasing number of certified free herds and the strong continuation of the calfhood vaccination program for heifers.

The 1600 meter relay team of Lisa Gale, Marlene Tucker, Angie Williams and Bridgett Bridgford completed an undefeated season Saturday and led the eighth grade girls to a second place at the 5AAA junior track and field meet at Ballinger.

The foursome ran a 4:29.00 and in the process of staying undefeated beat a previously undefeated Merkel team.

Bridgford added victories in the high jump (4'8") and long jump (15'5") and took second in the 800 (2:40.66).

The 1600 meter relay team also took second in the 800 relay with a 1:57.40.

Williams won third in the 200 with a 29.54 and Tucker won fifth with a 29.76. Other fifth were Bea Rivera's 29'7½" triple jump with Kerre Hulme's 72'6" discus throw.

Eighth girls team totals: Merkel 136, Colorado City 102, Ballinger 85, Wylie 81, Sonora 61, Coahoma 38 and Clyde 24.

Kevin Green's 60.82 for second in the 400 led the seventh grade boys. Jesse Gonzales, Scotty Shepherd and Justin Smith took third, fifth and sixth in the discus with respective throws of 106', 96' and 92'.

Demetrius Boger and Rosemary Rosas led the seventh grade girls with wins in the field events. Boger won the shot put with a 26'11" and Rosas took the discus with an 80'10" and placed fifth in the shot with a 25'3¼".

Jessamyn Holstine won third in the 1600 with a 6:41.66. Fourth were Rosas' 27'4" triple jump and Michelle Green's 14.34 in the 100. Fifths were Tracy Hoover's 4'2" high jump and the 2:08.66 run by the 800 meter relay team of Rosas, Angela Biggers, Christie Gray and Green. The same team took sixth in the 400 relay with a 58.10.

Swann hopes to finish

If Michael Swann safely clears every obstacle during the 300 meter intermediate hurdle race at today's district 5AAA track and field meet being hosted by Abilene Wylie High School it's a good bet that he'll be on his way to the regional meet.

Swann has been the district champion in the event every year since he began running track in the seventh grade. Only twice has he not been. In the eighth grade and last year as a junior Swann caught a hurdle and went tumbling down to the track.

"I think about it every track meet," said Swann.

Swann was well on his way to winning the event at last year's district meet before disaster struck. Faulters usually occur at the end of a race when a runner is most tired. For Swann both tumbles have occurred near the start.

"Last year I was ahead of everybody over the first hurdle but I wiped out over the second one."

The memory remained in his mind enough to nudge him into track for one more season—his senior season. Otherwise, he says, he wouldn't be in track this year.

"I wouldn't have ran," said Swann, "but I knew after football that I was going to be in track for sure. After falling last year I've always wondered because one hurdle can end it all. It only bothers me when I'm warming up. Once I'm in the starting blocks or during the race it doesn't bother me."

Though he says he doesn't thrive on the possibility of erasing the bad memories, something has been making Swann's last year a banner one.

"We usually do 50 second drills for distance. We run 200 yards and run down the hill on west 10th street a lot."

After finishing second "most" all of last year Swann has been second only once this year and first the other four meets.

"I'm not really worried about competition, just staying up," said Swann. "I've run against all the district teams this year and I don't think I'll be pushed this week again. Unless somebody breaks out real fast. The guy from Merkel is the only one who has given me any competition."

Leverich of Merkel took second at Saturday's Lone Wolf Relays with a 41.48 while Swann won with a personal best of 40.44. "I know I'm a lot stronger this year. Not too many people have come close to Jay Green's school record of 40.08."

The lone second place finish this year happened at the first meet of the season at Asnon. "I looked back and the guy from Roby passed me and beat me by two-hundredths of a second."

Since then no problems cropped up until Saturday's Lone Wolf Relays. "I knew I was struggling but I knew just to watch myself. I got tired but really I hadn't had anybody to push me to see what I can run. I usually lead with my left leg but I lost my steps Saturday and finished the race leading with my right. It felt alright."

There's a good chance things will be alright for a little while longer since no one else in the region has yet to break 40 seconds either.

Swann is just one of many Colorado High School students to be in Abilene for district competition today. The 5AAA track meet starts with 10 a.m. prelims. Field events begin at 1 p.m. and finals at 4 p.m.

The CHS golf team will be at the Maxwell Municipal course for its district meet at 10 a.m. Thursday and 9 a.m. Friday. Tennis players will have their district meet at the same times Thursday and Friday at the Rose Park tennis center.

MICHAEL SWANN nears the finish line for another 300 meter intermediate hurdle victory Saturday.

Final sign up scheduled

The Mitchell County United Girls Softball Association will have a final sign-up Tuesday, April 21 from 6-7 p.m. at Home-state Savings. Division I is for 7-9 year olds; II for 10-12; III for 13-15 and IV for 16-19 year olds. First time players need to bring birth certificates. Cost for the first family member is $20, $25 for the second and $10 for the third. For more information call Larry Cathey at 728-5933 or Sharon Myers at 728-8492.

U.S. needs to act on oil prices

By Lloyd Bentsen
United States Senator

The time is ripe for the United States to seize control of oil prices from the OPEC oil cartel.

Combined with a renewed effort in research and development, we could stabilize the energy industry's level of production for years into the future.

If we fail to act, Americans can expect a continuing drop in production and a repeat of energy problems we experienced in the mid-1970s.

These are the conclusions of a recent study by one of our nation's most eminent geologists, Dr. William Fisher of the University of Texas.

I wholeheartedly agreed and am deeply concerned by the Administration's continuing inaction on the energy crisis, particularly when there are obviously steps we can take to turn this situation around.

In our nation's 211 year history, we have been subjected to an effective embargo of needed imports in just one product: oil.

Our energy policy, which was so successful in reducing our dependence on foreign oil following the Arab oil embargo, is now in shambles.

By 1989, Dr. Fisher says, the United States will be importing 50 percent of the oil it consumes—considerably higher than the 33 percent we were importing when the OPEC oil embargo hit. Already our dependence on foreign oil imports has jumped from 27 percent in 1985 to nearly 40 percent by the end of 1986.

Last month, there were signs the Administration is beginning to recognize the national security threat posed by this growing dependence on oil imports—even if there is still disagreement over when we will cross that 50 percent line. The Secretary of the Interior said Americans will be standing in gasoline lines again within five years. The Secretary of Energy admitted in releasing another oil study that the nation must take steps to increase oil production and stabilize our domestic energy industry.

All this talk is a good sign, but we need action. We need an energy policy that will hold the line on our growing dependence on foreign oil.

Last month, I introduced—along with 24 cosponsors—the Energy Security Act of 1987, which is similar to legislation I developed in the 99th Congress.

The Bentsen bill would hold the line on our rising dependence on foreign oil and help reduce the risks to our national security. It would require the President to submit to Congress each year a three-year projection of U.S. oil production, demand and imports.

If oil imports are projected to exceed half of demand at any time, the President must, within 90 days, submit a plan to Congress for holding the level of dependence below 50 percent.

The bill does not dictate what actions the President may take in his plan. He could include an oil import fee, energy conservation measures, higher fuel efficiency standards for vehicles, incentives to boost domestic oil production, encouragement for using renewable energy, or any other measure.

Surely we have learned the folly of overdependence on unreliable sources of foreign oil. While we are enjoying cheap oil now, we are risking supply disruptions in the future as our oil imports increase.

Only by acting quickly to limit our dependence on foreign oil can we prevent the oil weapon from being used against us again.

THIS RABBIT was caught hiding eggs this past week in anticipation for this weekend's Easter observance.

Farmers plan to cut '87 plantings

COLLEGE STATION—Farmers intend to cut crop plantings substantially this year because of low prices and abundant supplies and to comply with the government's farm program.

According to a U.S. Department of Agriculture survey, farmers will reduce corn average by 12 percent from 1986; sorghum acreage, 23 percent; wheat acreage, 11 percent; and soybean acreage, 7 percent. However, cotton acreage is expected to be up 3 percent.

In Texas acreage cuts are expected as follows: sorghum 31 percent; wheat, 16 percent; corn, 14 percent; and cotton, 3 percent. Soybean, sunflower and rice acreage will also be less. Hay and peanut acreage, however, is expected to increase slightly, says Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Because of depressed farm income, adverse weather and the resulting financial stress, Texas farmers plan to cut acreage much more than farmers across the nation," Anderson points out.

"It is estimated that about 2,900 Texas farmers were forced out of agriculture due to financial distress during 1986," he notes. "About half of those are in the most intensified farming areas of West Texas. The financial pressure is forcing a drop in cotton acreage in Texas, where half the nation's cotton acreage is usually planted. Texas is the only state across the Cotton Belt reporting a drop in acreage."

Most farmers are participating in the government acreage reduction programs, notes the economist. The Conservation Reserve Program and the 50-92 Program also are contributing to fewer acres planted to crops.

"Despite the cutback in plantings, farm income in 1987 is expected to improve because of large government payments and slightly higher crop and livestock prices," Anderson points out.

Letter to the editor

To the editor:

Just a line to warn people to lock their doors when they leave for coffee. In 1983, March 12, on Saturday evening about 4 o'clock, a man came into my house and stole a 38 Smith and Wesson nickel plated revolver and also a little money. He went back home through the cemetery. A $150 reward for anything that will lead to it. I can identify the gun.
