The SDN COLUMN

I got a letter Wednesday from Anita Bryant. That in itself may appear very exciting, but it was a serious letter.

It was a "cover letter" promoting "Freedom's Roll-Call 1968," by Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

A couple of paragraphs from Miss Bryant's letter, aside from the "roll call" itself, are worth repeating:

"In the face of today's headlines on hippies, LSD, defiance of authority and all the rest, it seems to me that our citizens, especially our youth, should realize that each of us has an individual responsibility in helping to preserve our wonderful way of life.

"Despite the seeming depressing state of affairs we find more interest than at any time in recent years in things American — in our history, in our ideals, in our freedom."

This is encouraging, and I trust that the efforts of patriotic groups will eventually produce, among other things, a clear definition of the word "freedom," which apparently is misinterpreted by those who account for many of the headlines referred to by Miss Bryant. All are champions of their own "freedom," even if it encroaches upon the freedom of someone else. They demand to be heard, but are unwilling to grant others the same privilege.

That recalls to mind the young man who had just been accepted for employment by a small town business concern. The employer went to great lengths to enlighten the new employe on all things that would be expected of him in his new job.

In conclusion the employer volunteered the information that he was not opposed to social drinking.

"But," he cautioned, "I do all of the drinking for this company. So there is no need for the employes to drink at all."

That's a true story. —WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Feb. 1; the 32nd day of 1968. There are 334 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1790, the Supreme Court held its first session, meeting in the Royal Exchange building in New York City.

On this date:

In 1861, Texas voted to secede from the Union.

In 1862, Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was published for the first time in the Atlantic Monthly.

In 1892, Mrs. William Astor gave a ball at her New York town house. It was limited to 400 guests, the beginning of the social term "The 400."

In 1898, an insurance policy covering the driver of an automobile, the first such policy in the world, was issued by the Travelers Insurance Co. to Dr. Thomas Martin of Buffalo, N. Y.

In 1956, Autherine Lucy, a 26-year-old Negro student, became the first Negro to be admitted to the University of Alabama — on orders issued by a federal court.

LBJ Warns Economy 'Running Too Fast'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called Thursday for a temporary no-strike truce between industry and labor, a tax increase "in the next few weeks" and a study of possible new wage-price guideposts.

In his annual Economic Report, Johnson warned Congress the business advance is running "too fast for safety." The nation must choose quickly, he said, whether it wants to avoid a "feverish boom" leading to "a possible financial crisis, and perhaps ultimately a recession."

The expansion can be moderated—by prompt enactment of his proposed 10 per cent tax surcharge—to a high but healthy production gain of $61 billion he said. That would bring 1968 output to a record $846 billion.

"Damage already has been done to interest rates, to our trade surplus, and to the level of prices by the failure of Congress to act last fall," Johnson said, and added:

"But it is still not too late to avoid far more serious problems if action is taken in the next few weeks."

He endorsed a voluntary moratorium on strikes in major industries to keep American goods available and competitive in world markets and prevent further balance-of-payments trouble.

"We must," Johnson said, "exert every effort to avoid the possible destructive effects on our trade surplus of strikes or the threat of strikes in key industries.

"I urge business and labor to cooperate with the Secretaries of Labor and Commerce in dealing with this danger to our export surplus."

The President also announced establishment of a Cabinet Committee on Price Stability directed to develop means of fostering price and wage stability. Among other devices the committee will try to draft a formula for voluntary restraint in wage and price decisions.

The panel will not intervene "in specific current wage or price matters," Johnson said. But he indicated it will seek some guidelines device to replace the virtually defunct wage-price guideposts promulgated under President John F. Kennedy.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers—whose new chairman, Arthur M. Okun, will head the Cabinet committee—said in its own report, transmitted to Congress along with Johnson's, that a series of conferences will be started shortly with representatives of labor, business and the public.

The aim, said the council, will be "to attempt to reach some consensus on appropriate general standards to guide private price and wage decisions."

IN HANOI'S MASTER PLAN

Red Do-Or-Die-Offensive Seen

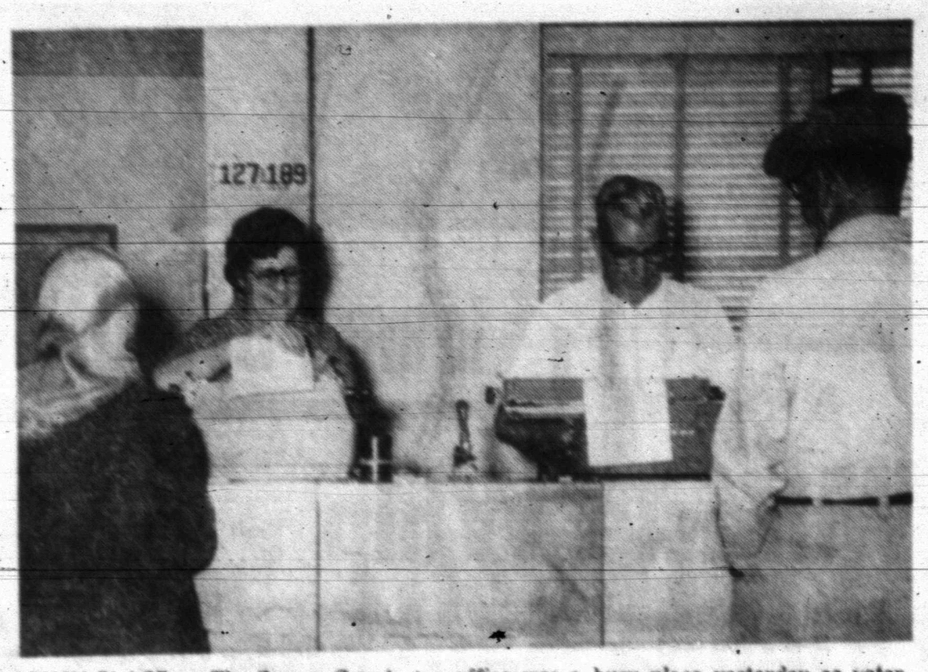
Red Diehards Continue Fierce Fight

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantry and armored units battled diehard Communist forces in Saigon again today as the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese pushed their biggest offensive of the Vietnam war up and down South Vietnam for the third day.

As fighting continued to rage in South Vietnam's capital, the Communists rampaged through other key government cities and took control of important areas in some of them. The situation appeared critical at many points.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, predicted the Communists would follow the current drive with a still bigger campaign against South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces, Quang Tri and Thua Thien, where the U.S. Marines are on guard below the demilitarized zone.

The Communists were paying a heavy price in their current offensive. Westmoreland said 5,800 enemy troops had been killed across the country, more than the toll usually reported for two or three weeks of fighting.



BUSY PLACE — The Scurry County tax office was a busy place yesterday as voter registration came to a close. Here, Louetta Herring and Don Adams fill out papers for applicants. There were a total of 7,125 voters to register in the county. Late applications by mail could boost the figure to 7,300. The tax office will continue to be a busy place since car tags went on sale there today.

Drive From North End

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland predicted today that the Communists will follow up their current campaign against key cities of South Vietnam with their biggest offensive of the war, a drive in the northern end of the country.

It will be the enemy's "main effort," said the commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam, and "it could come at any time."

The four-star commander told a crowded news conference this would be the third phase of a three-phase plan hatched in Hanoi last September by the North Vietnamese leadership.

The current wave of attacks on Saigon, provincial capitals and other key cities and towns, which began Monday, is the second phase of Hanoi's master plan and "marks a change in strategy by the enemy," Westmoreland continued.

"He is using North Vietnamese army forces to spearhead his terrorist attacks."

Westmoreland said the current Communist drive was a "go for broke proposition."

"It was all or nothing," he said. "He has put forth his maximum effort. He will be very badly hurt. It will take him many, many weeks to recover, and in some areas many months.

"I give him the capability of continuing this phase of the campaign for several more days. There is evidence to suggest he is about to run out of steam. He has, however, some reserves yet to be committed. We are watching this."

Asked if he was surprised by the sudden, widespread offensive, Westmoreland replied: "Not completely. I felt there would be fireworks during the (Tet lunar new year) period."

In anticipation of this, Westmoreland continued, allied troops were redeployed in certain populated areas.

Westmoreland said the third-phase offensive would be waged in South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces, Quang Tri and Thua Thien, just below the demilitarized zone.

"This will be his main effort and will involve the largest number of troops ever committed by the enemy to date. He has prepared himself for the campaign. He has been moving unprecedented quantities of supplies into Laos by truck and other means."

NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY

Nixon Is Candidate

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon announced today in an open letter to the citizens of New Hampshire that he would be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The former vice president told the people of that state "the choices we face are larger than any diffrences among Republicans or among Democrats, larger even than the differences between the parties. They are beyond politics.

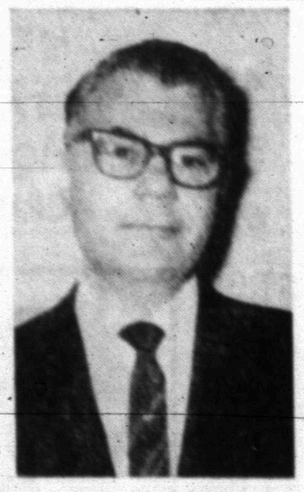
Nixon said in his long-xpected declaration: "Peace and freedom in the world, and peace and progress here at home, will depend on the decisions of the next President of the United Stats. For these critical years, America needs new leadership."

Nixon told the voters that he learned "the awesome nature of the great decisions a President faces" during his 14 years in Washington, and said he had had a chance to reflect on the lessons of public office and measure the nation's tasks and problems during the past eight years.

"I have sought to apply those lessons to the needs of the present, and to the entire sweep of this final third of the 20th century," he said. "And I believe I have found some answers."

He noted he had visited New Hampshire often in the past but said he was not asking the support of voters now "on the basis of old friendships. We have entered a new age. And I ask you to join men in helping make this an age of greatness for our people and our nations."

He plans to take off next on a six-day campaign swing through New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Oklahoma.



GEORGE KILLAM

George Killam Candidate For Re-Election

George Killam, county attorney, has announced that he is a candidate for re-election subject to action in the Democratic Primary on May 4.

Killam said he appreciated the opportunity to serve, and that he would continue to perform the duties of the office to the best of his ability if re-elected.

The county attorney served as a pilot in the China-Burma-India theater of operations during World War II with the Air Force. He met his wife, Mary, while training at Lubbock. He won several medals and citations, including the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Killam received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from North Carolina State University, and he received his law degree from the University of Texas. He is a member of several business and civic organizations, including the Scurry County Bar Association.

Schiebel In School Race

William J. Schiebel filed today for a place on the ballot in the Snyder Independent School District trustee election scheduled for April 6.

Schiebel is one of three members of the board whose terms expire this year. The other two completing terms on the board are Kenneth Wilson and Dan Cotton.

Flood Dead Counted

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Floods in central Java have killed 100 persons, washed away more than 100 homes and ruined more than 15,000 acres of rice, the official news agency Antara reported today.

Mexico To Block Invasion Of Hippies

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican authorities are moving to block an invasion of foreign hippies following rumors that a world convention of "flower children" is planned for Cuernavaca or Acapulco.

The Interior Ministry ordered immigration officials to keep the hippies out of the country.

ARKANSAS PRISON GROUNDS

Gov. Asks Bodies Exhumed

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has announced that he wants all bodies exhumed from the grassy field where three skeletons were dug up and placed in a "proper and decent" burial ground.

As demands for investigations increased, Rockefeller also said Wednesday, "I think it is better not to bring more people into an already confusing situation."

He added, "We believe the investigation should be pushed fearlessly but in an orderly manner and let the chips fall where they may."

State police now are investigating.

Meanwhile in Houston, Tex., and Fresno, Calif., former Arkansas penitentiary inmates told newsmen they watched prison guards slay 10 convicts who may be buried beneath some of the numerous depressions in the field.

The Arkansas chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has asked U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to have the Justice Department investigate. The Arkansas Legislative Council and the Lincoln County grand jury also are considering investigations.

Rockefeller said Wednesday "I think it is better not to bring more people into an already confusing situation."

He added, "We believe the investigation should be pushed fearlessly but in an orderly manner, and let the chips fall where they may."

The bones already exhumed were sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for analysis, while Arkansas State Police continued to base their investigation on the assumption that the field is a paupers' graveyard.

Maj. William Struebing, head of the criminal investigation division of the state police, took charge of the inveseigation Tuesday, the day after Burly inmate Reuben Johnson, 59, a prisoner here since 1937, led diggers to the field where he said he helped to bury 10 or 12 convicts "shot or beaten to death" by "guards and wardens."

Crash In Ship Channel

HOUSTON (AP)— A collision between the tanker Angero Petrie and a barg being pushed by the tug Rita W closed the Houston Ship Channel before dawn today near Lynchburg Ferry at Peggy Lake.

There were no injuries and no fire.

The tanker, which had loaded Toluene, a petroleum derivative, for Signal Oil at Old Manchester III, had departed Houston at 3 a.m.

The tug was inbound.

The Coast Guard reported "some sulphuric acid" was involved and it was assumed it was in one of the barges pushed by the tug.

Both vessels were underway around 8 a.m., the tanker to anchorage at Bolivar Roads and the tug to a dock at the Port of Houston.

The channel remained closed for investigation of possible leakage of combustible materials

AGGRESSIVE RED ATTACKS

Pacification Work Slowed

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today increasingly aggressive Viet Cong attacks have slowed pacification in rural areas and "heightened the feeling of insecurity" in South Vietnamese cities and towns.

He said in effect that some gains had become losses.

McNamara's somber accounting to Congress on the Vietnam war was prepared before the current wave of Viet Cong assaults on South Vietname population centers, culminating in the battle of Saigon.

Although he claimed the enemy has suffered heavy combat losses, the outgoing defense chief acknowledged over-all "progress has been uneven" in the 2½ years since the United States plunged into the war on a major scale.

McNamara's assessment was contained in a censored 219-page version of a bigger report he presented in secret to the Senate Armed Servics Committee and defense appropriations subcommitte.

The annual posture statement backing up the Johnson administration's proposed $76.7 billion military budget also summarizes current strategic forces and nuclear strategy, conventional armed strenght and global problems facing the United States.

Peppered through McNamara's report on Vietnam are blunt suggestions that "much more needs to be done by the government of South Vietnam," including a crackdown on corruption.

And while praising the South Vietnamese forces for scoring victories, McNamara expressed the U.S. hope that the draft of South Vietnamese youth "will be expanded and intensified."

"We feel very strongly that the recently announced increase in our deployments should be matched by an increase in the South Vietnamese forces," the Pentagon chief said.

McNamara said, "Our forces have won every major battle in which they have been engaged" since their commitment in South Vietnam in 1965.

New Jersey Bounces Back

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New Jersey Americans showed there is nothing like a scoring streak to end a losing streak.

New Jersey had lost four in a row entering Wednesday night's American Basketball Association game against Dallas in Teaneck, N.J., and No. 5 was on the horizon when the Americans began putting points together.

Trailing 110-103 after falling behind by 18 earlier, the Amerks rattled off 11 straight points while holding the Chaparrals scoreless for five minutes and Dallas never caught up.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh fell to Indiana 119-113 in Shelbyville, Ind., and Anaheim upset Denver 112-105 in Anaheim.

In the NBA, Baltimore beat Detroit 113-108, New York topped Cincinnati 128-126 in overtime, Boston tumbled Chicago 118-109 and Los Angeles handled St. Louis 110-102.

Search Continues For Missing Subs

TOULON, France (AP) — The search continued today for the missing French submarine Minerve and hundreds of miles away for Israel's submarine Dakar, but hope was abandoned for the 121 men aboard the two vessels.

A fleet of rescue ships still hunted in the Mediterranean off Toulon for the Minerve and her crew of 52. The submarine failed to report on schedule Saturday.

Israeli navy officers in Tel Aviv said the search for the Dakar, missing near Cyprus since Thursday, would continue "until we are certain there is no chance of finding her."

Rep. Purcell Files For Reelection

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., who is starting his seventh year in Congress, disclosed today that he has filed as a candidate for re-election in Texas' 13th District.

"There has been a great deal of speculation in recent weeks," Purcell said," about the possibility that I might become a federal district judge. I have not been, nor will I become, a candidate for such a position.

"I have not been offered such a position, and it would be presumptuous of me to comment further on the matter.

"I have never had a more meaningful experience in my life than the opportunity to try my very best to represent the views of North Texas in the Congress of the United States."

Expressing hope that he will be able to retain his office for many years, Purcell also said, "The six years I have spent in Washington, I believe, have given me an insight into federal government operations which enables me to serve more effectively with each passing day. I believe these crucial times call for calm and careful deliberation in the Congress, based on current experience and knowledge of the problems we face.

"It is on this basis that I ask the citizens of the 13th congressional district to support my candidacy for reelection."

Jail Terms Levied In County Court

Anderson Davis, Jr. was handed two judgments in County Court yesterday. Each provided for a 90-day jail term and a $200 fine plus court costs.

Glass Blowers Call Strike

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Eighty-six plants, producing 99 per cent of the nation's glass containers, were struck early today as the Glass Bottle Blowers Association, AFL-CIO, rejected by a 62-31 vote the manufacturers' final offer.

Some 35,000 workers employed by 17 companies east of the Rocky Mountains are affected.

"This is our best offer tonight and will be our best offer tomorrow and a month from tomorrow," said J. Thomas Eimer Jr., labor relations director for the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

The union president, Lee Minton, said he recommended acceptance of the package as the "best offer we have ever had in this industry."

William Rose of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Services said he would remain in touch with both sides in the hope of arranging future meetings.

The wage and benefit package turned down included an immediate increase in base hourly rates of 17 cents, plus an additional 10 cents for skilled workers, a 4 per cent increase in the second year and a 3 per-cent increase in the last year of the three year contract. The old contract expired at midnight Wednesday.

Also included in the rejected offer was a program to achieve a uniform wage structure for similar jobs throughout the industry.

Remarkable First Novel

THE EDGE. By Page Stegner.

This remarkable first novel depicts a nihilistic young man in a nihilistic social structure.

The scene is California, and many of the characters are representative of the assorted oddballs and kooks who have been attracted to that state. Quite clearly, the author considers California to be a rootless, disordered region of shifting, shallow values — a horrible example of what might happen to our social structure all over the nation.

The young man, not yet 30, is Ryan. Nominally he is a graduate student, though he cops out of that. He avoids a commitment to anything or anyone. He complains, like a spoiled child, that "Every time you have dealings with people you become responsible for them." He doesn't want responsibility, moral or otherwise.

But life has a way of confronting those who cop out. Ryan has to face two tragedies, both of them accidental and a matter of fate, and he does not have the moral fiber to stand up to them. The first involves his friend and the friend's girl. The unwilling Ryan, shaken by guilt, is drawn into marriage with the girl. But after a son is born he cops out again and disappears. The second tragedy drives him over the edge of sanity.

The story is narrated by Ryan himself, who has become a mental patient. It is a surrealistic tale, for he wavers back and forth from small present reality to overpowering past fantasy; he often feels that he is observing himself from the outside, and he is unable to distinguish between what is reality and what is not.

This is a tremendous piece of writing. It is forceful, gripping and imaginative, full of color, masterfully vivid. In its exploration of the mind's darkest shadows it carries the frightening ring of emotional truth, yet the story is told with a cool control that amplifies the impact of what is happening.

If you decide to use wood panels to finish your attic, basement or extra room, you have the additional decision of whether to install them vertically or horizontally.

While vertical paneling is more usual, horizontal installation creates an impression of extra length or width and is therefore a wise choice where a ceiling is too high in relation to a room's other dimensions. It also is used simply as a matter of preference, either because it pleases a particular taste or so the room will have a different appearance than others which feature vertical paneling.

Panels come in lengths of 8' or thereabouts and in widths ranging from 6" to 12". Random - width paneling is popular because it has a less formal look than a project in which all panels are of the same width.

Panels can be purchased finished or unfinished. The finished cost more, but do away with the necessity of varnishing, lacquering or applying other coatings. Entirely aside from the matter of economy, the unfinished panels afford an opportunity for the huge army of wood finishing hobbyists to see what they can accomplish.

There are differences of opinion on whether it is better to do the finishing before or after the panels are installed. We don't think it makes much difference as far as the final coat is concerned, but we favor sanding ahead of time and most definitely recommend that any staining be done prior to installation.

Vertical paneling requires attaching furring strips to the stud framing. These strips — lengths of 1" by 2" or 1" by 3" wood — are nailed horizontally to the vertical studs. The panels are then attached to the strips, which should be about 20" apart. If these strips were not there, you would not be able to attach the panels properly, since the studs usually are 16" apart on center.

If the panels are to be installed horizontally, then the furring strips are unnecessary. The panels can be attached directly to the studs. However, in this type of installation, you must be extra careful to see that the suds are in line so that you will have a straight wall.

If they are not exactly in line, you may have to do a little shimming; that is, placing extra pieces of wood between certain studs and the panels.

QUESTION: Would like to attach hardboard panels with adhesive rather than nails. Is there a special kind of adhesive that will do the job and will it really hold for a period of years?

Answer: It is difficult to give a simple answer to this question because you have failed to give sufficient information. It is important to know, for instance, whether the panels will be applied to bare studding or to old walls. In the latter case, no matter now strong the adhesive, the effectiveness of the bond will depend on the solidity of the old wall.

If you are certain that it is strong enough to support what amounts to an additional wall, clean the surface to remove any dirt or grit that might interfere with the bonding. A special panel adhesive is then used.

It comes in cartridge form for use in a simple caulking gun or in a container for use with one of those notched trowels with which mastic is spread for the application of resilient floor tiles. This type of adhesive must set before it becomes effective.

The paneling, therefore, must be supported with T-braces or something similar to keep it steady until the adhesive sets, the length of time being determines by the instructions on the label. Many professional finishers use nails for this support, countersinking them or removing them after the adhesive has set.

Since you are determined not to use nails, you must find another method to keep the new wall tightly against the old for the recommended period of time. If the hardboard panels are to be attached directly to studs, you may then use contact cement, brushing all contact areas with this molasses-like material. After waiting at least 30 minutes, press the panel against the studs in the desired position.

But as is always the case with contact cement, the positioning must be exact the first time, since the bond takes place instantly. Because this is so vital to a correct installation, it is better to have a friend assist you in holding the panel and placing it on the studding properly. Don't worry; it will hold indefinitely.

Afternoon Coffee

FILBERT CRISPS

¾ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks
1½ cups unsifted regular flour (stir to aerate before measuring)
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
Filbert Mixture (see Note)

In a medium mixing bowl cream the butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in the egg yolks. Add flour; stir until blended. Cover tightly and chill. Shape i to ½-inch balls — about 1 teaspoon of mixture for each. Place balls, several inches apart, on well greased cookie sheets. Fasten a piece of damp clean white cloth over the flat bottom of a glass; use to flatten each ball of dough so that it is very thin and 2 inches in diameter. (Occasionally dip bottom of covered glass in cold water and dry on paper towel.) Beat egg white with water until foamy; brush over dough but not to edges; sprinkle each cookie with about ½ teaspoon of the Filbert Mixture. Bake in a 375-degree oven until lightly browned — about 6 to 8 minutes. With a wide spatula, remove to wire racks to cool. Makes about 8 dozen.

Note: For Filbert Mixture, stir together 1 cup finely ground toasted filberts, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg.

Will The Bar Association Revise Punishment System?

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Bar Association, once viewed generally as a Babbit-like defender of the status quo, may revolutionize the way this society deals with its criminals.

A report issued recently by an ABA study committee suggests that packing a man off to prison for a term set by legislators, instead of by the judge may not be the best way for society to protect its interests.

The judge, the committee advised, should be equipped by the law with a broad range of options, giving him a better chance to deal with the individual criminal in an individual way.

If the judge thought the convicted man would be rehabilitated best by remaining in society, he could impose a lenient sentence, or, in the case of less serious crime, put the offender on probation immediately.

By the same token, serious crimes of violence would continue to result in stiff sentences. And the judge could impose the maximum on the big-time hood finally caught and convicted.

In the main, though, the report comes down on the side of shorter prison sentences. This, in view of the nation's obsession with "crime in the streets", is at least mildly revolutionary.

More so is the recommendation to judges that, in dealing with most crimes, "the starting point for every sentence should be probation or some other sentence not involving commitment or confinment."

Even if legislators could be convinced there is wisdom in this approach, a lot of judges would have to be convinced, too.

For, the 11-member study group conceded, many judges regard incarceration as "the automatic sentencing response."

The proposed sentencing system would have cost-saving dividends. Not only does probation keep first-timers and small-time criminals, from prison and from the chance to pick up new tricks from more experienced inmates, it is less expensive for society.

For instance, federal figures show the daily cost of keeping a man on probation in 1964 was 59 cents; the cost of keeping a man in federal prison, $6.35 a day.

The ABA report reminds, also, that when a man is on probation he can be earning a salary—and keeping his family off welfare.

No serious report on current sentencing practice would be complete without a frank observation that punishment very often doesn't fit the crime—and sometimes doesn't make sense.

"If is easily demonstrable in most states," the panel said, "that the sanctions available for different offenses are utterly without any rational basis."

Among examples culled from recent studies:

In Colorado, if you destroyed a house by fire you could get up to 20 years. If you destroyed the same house with explosives the most you could get would be 10 years.

In California, a boy who broke into a car to steal the contents of the glove compartment could be sentenced to 15 years. If he stole the car itself, the maximum sentence would be 10 years.

The $6.75 million federal pavilion at HemisFair '68 will feature a specially commissioned movie dramatizing the United States' rich cultural heritage from all nations.

The Confluence Theater at HemisFair '68 federal pavilion will feature separating walls and screens growing increasingly larger until a single panoramic screen fills the viewer's field of vision.

The five - story tophouse to the Tower of the Americas at HemisFair '68 was constructed at ground level and raised to the top of the 622-foot structure after completion of basic construction.

Work Desk Is Testimonial To Living

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) From where sit I can see a fellow white collar lave cleaning off his desk.

He has thrown all the papers that were on it into a wastebasket. He is mopping the top with a moist dust cloth, and his face is flushed with a rapth expression of self-virtue.

And I know that in a few moments, dust cloth still in hand, he will stroll over here, look at me accusingly and demand:

"Why don't you clean off your desk? You've got it so cluttered you're giving the city dump a bad name."

He thinks I will look guilty and make excuses for the fact that, over the years, my desk has come to look something like the Augean stables during a tornado. But I'm not going to apologize to him at all. I'm going to make a speech to him.

And this is what I am going to say:

"Friend, half the troubles in this world are caused by people who insist on trying to lead other people's lives for them.

"Because you have just finished cleaning off your desk, you smugly assume that I should clean off my desk, too. I don't feel that way at all.

"To keep a clean desk doesn't require any special skill or indicate any particular merit. By rewarding him with a free banana now and then, you could teach a chimpanzee to do it.

"In my opinion a clean desk is often the sign of a frightened mind. By massaging your desk top you are perhaps trying to wash away your own feelings of inferiority or seeking to get another gold star on your office report card. Now that you have cleaned off your desk, why don't you complete the job by jumping into the wastebasket yourself, thus giving your desk a chance to start life over with a new pilot?

"His work should be a man's monument. Your desk right now is like a tombstone without an inscription on it. It could belong to anybody. It has no character, no identity.

"My desk, on the other hand, is a testimonial to 30 or more years of fruitful living. This pile—be careful, it may topple over and suffocate you—may look like mere debris to you. To me, however, layer by lovely layer, it represents the geological strata of a happy work life.

"Every time you polish your desk you throw away part of your life. Well, I love life, and I think no part of it should be carelessly discarded. Who is to say, after all, what is important? The paper or pamphlet I might consider throwing away today—such as this one on the odd courtship habits of the porcupine—may turn out tomorrow to be the one I most desperately need.

"Now, please stuff that dust cloth into your mouth and go back to your neat and empty desk. I've got to start earning my daily bread."

A Junior Editors Quiz About FASHIONS

QUESTION: How did man change his appearance during the centuries?

* * * *

ANSWER: The physical structure of people has changed little since civilization began, but their appearance has changed a great deal because of fashions and clothes. The Egyptians (1) with a warm climate, wore but few and light clothes, though they went in for enormous wigs. Long, elaborate skirts were a feature of the Medieval woman's costume (2). The men wore long stockings or tights, and both sexes liked to wear very long sleeves. By the 1700's (3), clothes had become extremely elaborate; notice the man's curls and ruffled boots. With the French Revolution (1789-1795), clothes became much simpler and men began to wear trousers. During the 1800's, women took to hoopskirts, shown even in a girl's costume in (4). By 1945, women's skirts were shorter but still loose, with a graceful flare (5). Men's trousers were comfortably loose and wide with a high waistline. They trimmed their hair short. Now, some young men seem to be growing long hair again. The girls' miniskirts and long stockings resemble Medieval men's styles in (2). It's your guess what will happen next.

Tickets Still On Sale For Annual All-Sports Banquet

Tickets are still on sale for the All-Sports banquet to be held at 7 p.m. Saturday in the high school cafeteria.

Featured speaker will be Chena Gilstrap, athletic director and former head football coach of the University of Texas at Arlington.

During his coaching tenure, Gilstrap was one of the most successful football coaches in America. Twice his Rebel teams won the Junior Rose Bowl prior to Arlington's elevation to 4-year status. The Rebels' only loss last season was a narrow one to West Texas State.

Billy Stewart and Jim Marcum, Snyder High exes, both are members of the Rebel team.

One widely circulated sports story concerning Gilstrap concerns the first time he took the Rebels to the West Coast prior to the Junior Rose Bowl game. At a Lions Club banquet prior to the game, he pictured himself and his team as "just a bunch of country boys" who enjoy playing the game. It may have been true, but his team proceeded to wax the California representative in the grid classic, although the Compton Coach had predicted victory.

Tickets can be purchased at Red Faver's Fina station on the Big Spring Highway, at Bullard's Athletic Center on Avenue S south of the square, or from parents of Snyder athletes.

All athletes in the school system will be honored guests at the banquet.

Wednesday's competition trimmed to 64 the number of players still in the eight flights of the tournament.

Spartans Move Into Top Cage 10

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Norfolk, Va., State Spartans, unbeaten in 13 games and averaging 110 points, have finally taken over a rated position in The Associated Press small-college basketball poll.

The Spartans' rise to ninth place was one of the few changes in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday.

Undefeated Long Island University held first place followed by Evansville and Kentucky Wesleyan.

The Blackbirds drew seven first-place votes and 141 points in the balloting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters.

Evansville was named the top team on three ballots and accumulated 136 points. Kentucky Wesleyan, which remained third, had 113 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

LIU was idle last week while Evansville and Kentucky Wesleyan each won two games.

Southwest Missouri State and Southwestern Louisiana switched positions, SW Missouri State advancing one position to fourth while the Lafayette, La., team slipped to fifth.

There were no changes in the No. 6 through No. 8 spots held by Indiana State, Trinity Tex., and Guilford in that order.

However, Pan American, which lost to Tennessee A&I, and Lincoln, Mo., not scheduled last week, both lost ground. Pan American dropped from ninth to 10th and Lincoln, Mo., which occupied the last ranked position a week ago, feel from the Top Ten altogether.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, through games of Sat. Jan. 27 and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1.	Long Island (7)	141
2.	Evansville (3)	136
3.	Kentucy, Wesleyan (1)	113
4.	SW Missouri St. (1)	80
5.	SW Louisiana	75

Charles Just Sporty Guy?

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Gen. Charles DeGaulle may appear aloof and stern to most Americans but he has one thing in common with most Yanks, A French official disclosed today.

"You can hardly tear him away from the television set when a good game or sports event is on," said Michel Pericard, technical advisor for the winter Olympic Games, opening here next Tuesday.

"He's by far the most sports-minded of all French presidents. He loves a good sporting event. He is the only president to award the Legion of Merit an athlete—figure skater Almain Calmat, among others.

"Sometimes after a ministerial meeting, the general will sit around for hours and discuss some sports contest or controversy with his aides."

So it is pleasure as well as state duty which is bringing the general to Grenoble next week for the official opening of the Games and later—Feb. 14—for the men's giant slalom ski race.

This bustling Alpine community is popping with excitement over the visit—only the third for DeGaulle since he became president ten years ago.

Hines Hangs Up Cleats

HOUSTON (AP) — Jim Hines, who shares two world sprint records, apparently will bid farwell to a dream of competing in the Olympics and sign a professional football contract.

The Texas Southern University student blames money problems.

Hines, who has done 9.1 seconds in the 100-yard dash and 10 flat for 100 meters, is expected to sign for a fancy bonus with the Miami Dolphins, who selected him in the sixth round of the professional football draft Wednesday.

"I'm too flat broke to pass this up and may sign for enough money to stay in school," he said. "I deeply regret having to pass up the Olympics, but that's the way it must be. My finances wouldn't let me do otherwise.

"I have a wife and baby to support. I want to finish my college education and I'm not on scholarship, and my whole family at home (in Oakland, Calif.) was in a car accident last October. Both my father and mother still are unable to work. So I have pressures on all sides."

BLACK WINS POWDER PUFF

The Black beat the Gold 24-0 in the annual "Powder Puff" football game, held Wednesday afternoon at Tiger Stadium.

Roann Cobb and Helen Rios led the Black forces. Roann tallied two touchdowns on long runs of about 50 and 70 yards while Helen crossed the goal on a 20-yard gambol.

The three trys for bonus points were successful.

Proceeds from the game will go to the March of Dimes, according to team spokesmen.

70-B Cage Programs In Coliseum Tonight

Another attractive District 70-B basketball program is on tap tonight at the spacious, comfortable Scurry County Coliseum.

The program again features a clash between Hermleigh's Cardinals and Fluvanna's Buffaloes. In an earlier collision on the same court, the Cards won the girls' game by about 10 points and the boys tilt by 20. Both teams were hampered in that first meeting by the flu sickness. Now, however, both squads are in top shape physically.

Hermleigh again will be favored — on the basis of past performances. The Cardinal boys own a 17-5 season record and are 6-0 in the district. The Buffs, on the other hand, are 8-8 for the campaign and 0-4 in league action.

Coach W. C. Hodges listed probable starters, as follows: Ted Winter and Danny Peterson at guard, Tom Chorn at center, and Billy Joe Odstrcil and Jim Averitt at forward.

The starting alignment in Fluvanna Coach Bruce Land's double post attack are forwards Larry Patterson and Bobby White, guard Johnny Dunnam, and postmen Victor Contreras and Joe Belew.

The Hermleigh girls have an edge in height, but Fluvanna has the advantage in experience. The Cards are 13-9 for the season and 3-3 in district behind Westbrook and Ira.

Fluvanna's girls are 9-7 for the distance and 3-3 in district behind Hermleigh. Probable starters include forwards Sandra Stansell, Nanette Bruner and Charlotte Toombs; and guards Cindy Patterson, Sue Smith and June Stansell.

Hermleigh's girl starters are forwards Jane Wall, Sharon Pieper and Sherry Adams and guards Mary Hudgins, Dolores Schwarz and Jan Averitt.

Junior High teams from Ira and Fluvanna will open the program at 5:30 p.m. with a girls tilt. Junior boys vie at 6:30 p.m. Tipoff in the varsity girls tilt is set for 7:30 p.m., followed by the boys contest.

Tickets cost 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Bill Miller To Conduct Clinic Here

Bill Miller, former McMurry athlete who broad jumped over 26 feet, will lecture and give a demonstration on starting and broad jumping at a track clinic to be held here Saturday morning.

Host Coach Bill Hartsfield said admission is free, and he emphasized that everyone interested in the clinic is invited to attend, including all athletes in the school system, area coaches and athletes, and fans.

"You don't have to be in high school to attend," said Hartsfield. "We'd like to see some Junior High athletes in attendance."

Registration begins at 9 a.m. The lecture will begin at 10 a.m. in the gym. Demonstrations will be given on the field.

Hartsfield estimated the program would "last an hour and a half."

Miller currently teaches in the A[illegible] School System. He has hopes of being named to the American Olympic team.

Pan Am Loses Two Starters

EDINBURG, Tex. (A) — Pan America's basketball team, currently rated 10th in the nation by the Associated Press small college poll, has lost two starters because of scholatic ineligibility.

However, the loss of Howard Fuller and Ed Mathis, both of Houston, didn't bother the Broncs Wednesday night as they ran away from the University of North Dakota 83-61.

Fuller had been averaging 12.3 points a game and the 6-foot-5 Mathis 9.7 points.

Seven Pan American athletes were declared ineligible because of their fall semester grades. Four were on the baseball squad and one was a tennis player.

The baseball players are Casey Sanchez and Frank Tondre, both of San Antonio, Ronnie Watts of Wichita, Kan., and David Ritchey of Bryan. The tennis player is Kenneth McMillian of Fort Worth.

Old Guard Leads At Palm Springs

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) - The Old Guard, so to speak, was in at least temporary control today as Bob Rosburg, 41, and long Bill Collins, 39, led the way into the second round of the $122,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Rosburg, now listed from St. Louis, whose last tournament triumph was in the 1961 Bing Crosby National, and Collins, whose last big one was the 1962 Buick Open, went into play five strokes under par and one ahead of their nearest rival, Lee Trevino.

Collins won top money of $2,970 in the pro-amateur phase of the Hope last year. But both he and Rosburg finished out of the money in individual scoring, each with 366.

Trailing the leaders were Billy Casper, who had a first-round 70 and Arnold Palmer, with 72.

The top three players found the Indian Wells course to their liking, but from now on out the going may be rougher. Most of the pros rank Indian Wells as the easiest of the four in action.

Par is 36-36—72 on all the club tests—Eldorado, Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta and Indian Wells. Indian Wells is the shortest, 6,711 yards, and Bermuda Dunes the longest at 6,910.

Tom Nieporte, last year's winner, shot a first-round 76 at La Quinta. A year ago Nieporte started out with an identical 76 and followed with 68-68-68-69 for 349.

Thirty-nine of the 136 pros broke par in the first round. Palmer and Casper played La Quinta, which with Eldorado is regarded as the more demanding.

The first round found other old timers breaking par. Former U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol had a 69, as did Paul Harney, Julius Boros, playing in his first tournament of the year, had a 71, as did Manuel de la Torre and Doug Ford.

BALTIMORE BULLETS "CASH IN" WITH PEARL

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earl Monroe is in a rut, and nothing so wonderfully monotonous has happened to the Baltimore Bullets in a long time.

The Pearl topped the 30-point mark for the seventh straight game Wednesday night in leading Baltimore to a 113-108 National Basketball Association victory over Detroit.

During Monroe's hot streak, the Bullets have looked like anything but the Eastern Division cellar dwellars, winning six times.

In other NBA action, New York edged Cincinnati 128-126, Boston topped Chicago 118-109 and Los Angeles took St. Louis 110-102.

New Jersey downed Dallas 119-111, Indiana outlasted Pittsburgh 119-113 and Anaheim whipped Denver 112-105 in the ABA.

Monroe, who got 35 points in his latest 30-plus effort, nalled down Baltimore's victory by scoring five straight points after Detroit had closed to within 101-99 with 4½ minutes left. Dave Bing scored 41 points in bringing Detroit back from a 19-point deficit to make it close.

Cazzie Russell's jump shot at the buzzer gave New York its overtime victory. Cincinati had sent the game into overtime at 118-all on Adrian Smith's layup with seven seconds left.

Oscar Robertson of the Royals, who fouled out late in the fourth quarter, topped all scoring with 42 points. Walt Bellamy got 23 and Russell 21 for New York.

John Havlicek poured in 10 points and Bailey Howell five as Boston scored 15 straight points to clinch its victory in the fourth quarter.

Howell finished with 27 and Havlicek with 25. Flynn Robinson paced Chicago with 24.

Los Angeles' victory was the sixth straight over the Western Division leading Hawks. Elgin Baylor and Jerry West showed the way with 33 and 27 points, respectively. Zelmo Beatty collected 28 and Bill Bridges 26 for St. Louis.

ALL-STAR TILT SET MONDAY

The annual Travis-Lamar basketball battle will feature a special tilt between All-Stars in the 7th grade.

The program begins at 4:30 p.m. Monday in the high school gym with All-Star teams (7th graders) from Travis and Lamar meeting in the first game. The 8th grade teams of both schools will vie at about 5:45 p.m., and the 9th graders will tangle at 7 p.m.

Bengals Return To Coliseum Friday

Snyder's Tigers return to the Scurry County Coliseum Friday to continue their quest for the District 3-AAA basketball title.

The Bengals were thwarted 69-67, at Levelland Tuesday following the "B" battle at 6:15 p.m.

The loss evened their second round record at 1-1. Littlefield was beaten by Brownfield 46-48 and by Sweetwater 57-71 in its second round tilts, leaving the Wildcats with an 0-2 record the second time around.

"We've got to win the remainder of our games to stay in the running," declared Snyder Coach Ned Underwood Wednesday as he prepared to send his squad through a drill. The team was to workout on the Coliseum court this afternoon prior to the program featuring Fluvanna and Hermleigh.

The Tigers have two of the top scorers in the district in senior guards Tommy Bullard and Mickey Almond, although the team lacks a really tall boy. Tommy is hitting at about a 25 point per tilt clip while Mickey's average is close to 20 per game. Leading scorer for the Wildcats is Kevin Hutson. He's 10th in the district and averages 14.4 points per tilt.

"We ought to beat them," Underwood conceded, "but you never can tell what will happen."

He said that, although the loss at Levelland was discouraging, "we can't afford to let ourselves get down—we've got to win the rest of them."

Tipoff is set for 8 p.m. Friday in Scurry County Coliseum, following the "B" battle at 6:15 p.m.

Mesquite Lures Gray

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Gray, who built Plano into a state grid power, has been named head football coach at suburban Mesquite High School.

His Plano teams won four district titles and a state championship from 1959 through 1965. He moved to Amarillo Palo Duro in 1966 and last year produced a 6-4 record at Irving High School.

Gray succeeds Don Barton, whose contract was not renewed after two years at Mesquite.

US Civilians Join Viet Battles

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The tall young American civilian crouched behind the high concrete wall, a pistol strapped to his thigh and a high-powered rifle in his hands. His clothes were dirty and he hadn't shaved for two days.

Ron Fleming, 26, a Harvard graduate, was defending his Saigon home. Like scores of other Americans in the embattled Vietnamese capital, he had discovered that law and order had broken down in many places and it was every man for himself.

The young psychological warfare operative crept along the wall, then motioned those behind him to stop. At the corner, he put a finger to his lips for silence, then raised the M14 rifle to his shoulder.

The crack echoed around the small cluster of neat concrete homes in the compound. Fleming said: "He's not there now. Maybe I got him. That might be the end of the friendly neighborhood sniper."

A few minutes later two bullets cracked in the air. The sniper was still there. Fleming began stalking him again, as he had been doing for 36 hours.

All over Saigon, particularly in the heavily populated outer suburbs, Americans like Fleming have taken up arms to defend their homes.

"We have no choice," said missionary Richard Taylor of the Christian Missionary Alliance, who comes from Auburn, Maine. "We have bullet holes in our shutters. Men like Fleming afford some degree of protection. Without them we would have no one."

Fleming lives in a compound of five houses in the Chi Lang area, a little American community of nine men, three women and four children. Some of the heaviest fighting in the battle of Saigon has occurred within two blocks.

Most of the time the main highway alongside the compound has been deserted. Helicopters have strafed in the rear.

"We sorta look on ourselves as a frontier community," said Fleming, "and it has brought out the frontier spirit in us all. Two embassy people who hadn't spoken to each other in months because of the conflicting nature of their work are good buddies now. This siege has brought them together.

"But I found out one thing. The compound killer, a veteran of the U.S. Army who toted a gleaming Swedish K machine gun and kept bragging about how many VC he would kill if he got the chance, bugged out the moment the going got rough.

"Me and another 26-year-old took over the leadership of the compound. We are working together fine."

Fleming borrowed three M14 rifles from a nearby U.S. military unit and issued one to Don Wilson, a slightly built diplomat from Detroit's Southfield section. Wednesday night Wilson spent one three-hour watch on the driveway leading into the compound, another on the back fence of the missionary house, and a third at the rear of the compound.

The Americans have seen no Vietnamese police or troops since fighting erupted around their compound early Wednesday morning. At daylight Wednesday they decided to defend themselves.

The vigilantes keep a careful watch. They have no telephones and communication with the world outside their compound is limited to occasional visits by friends and trips to the nearby U.S. military compound to get food.

Some of the group prepared to leave today particicularly the married ones with the children. Fearing more heavy fighting around them, they thought they would move into hotels.

But Fleming and Wilson said they would stay.

"After all, this is my frontier fort," said Fleming, waving to the two-story concrete house he shares with three other Americans.

"Where else would I go? This is home," said Wilson.

SS Automatically Covers Ministers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles by Erven Fisher, manager of the Big Spring District Social Security office, concerning the new Social Security laws.)

• • •

By ERVIN FISHER
District Manager

Income recieved from the ministry will automatically be covered by social security under the new social security amendments.

Until the 1967 change in the law, a member of the clergy could be covered under social security under an individual, voluntary arrangement; if he wished social security protection he signed a form stating that he wished his income from the ministry to be covered. He then paid a portion of his salary as his social security contribution on the basis of that of a self-employed person.

As of Jan. 1, 1968, however, income from the ministry will be covered automatically on the same basis as that for other wage earners and self-employed persons, unless the clergyman has objections based on conscience or religious principle.

As under the old law, a clergyman covered by this provision reports his income and makes his tax contributions as if he were self-employed, even though he may be working as an employee. He will pay his first social security taxes on income from 1968.

The new provisions do not apply to those clergymen who elected coverage under the old law. They will continue to be covered.

If a clergyman who had not already chosen to come under social security before 1968 does not wish social security coverage he must file an application for an exemption and a statement that he is opposed to receiving social security benefits or other public insurance based on services as a clergyman, by reason of conscience or religious principle. The application must be filed with the Internal Revenue Service by April 15, 1970, unless he enters the ministry in 1969 or later; in that case he will have until April 15 of the second year after the year in which he became a clergyman to request exemption.

The new provision does not affect members of religious orders who have taken a vow of poverty. As before, they are not covered by social security. For further information about social security for clergymen, ask at your social security office for leaflet SSI-9.

Credit Cost Bill Near Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House appears on the verge of passing the most sweeping legislation ever approved by either branch of Congress to require that borrowers and buyers be told what interest and other finance charges they'll have to pay.

In a series of votes Wednesday, the House nailed in provisions that expand the Consumer Credit Protection Act well beyond the dimensions of similar legislation passed last year by the Senate.

One major question remains to be decided before the final vote expected late today: Whether the measure should contain a strict limitation on garnishment of wages to collect debts.

As it stands, the bill covers practically all forms of lending and selling on credit, requiring that customers be told—in terms of annual percentage—the finance charges.

Unlike the Senate bill, the House measure includes revolving credit plans of department and mail-order stores plus transactions in which the credit charge is less than $10 and first mortgages on real estate.

It also would require advertisements to be specific about credit charges, if they mention lending or credit in any but general terms. Responsibility is on the advertiser, not the medium.

The revolving credit issue provoked the greatest dispute, but the House voted 135 to 19 to include this form of credit in the bill. That marked a major victory for Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., who as chairman of a consumers affairs subcommittee, had battled for months for coverage of rotating credit.

An amendment aimed at loan sharks allied with organized crime was adopted at the urging of the House Republican leadership and its task force on crime.

The amendment would make it a federal crime to violate state usury statues. Penalties would range up to 25 years and $10,000 in cases involving violence or conspiracy.

MEXIA STATE SCHOOL

Retarded Take Long Step

EDITOR'S NOTE: Once it was an accepted fact that retarded persons would remain institutionalied all their years. That just isn't true, said persons in the Mexia State School and their experimental efforts indicate they are on the right road.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MEXIA, Tex. (AP) — Lifetime custody of the retarded was considered inevitable until recently. But look what the Mexia State School is doing now.

A businessman whipped out a bank book and slapped it against a hand. Inside, it showed a deposit of $50.

"My boy is retarded," he said. "We sent him to public school as long as we could. But he was twice the size of all his classmates."

The man went on about the Mexia program:

"I was skeptical at first. But the boy wasn't.

"He rides his bicycle down there every morning, and home at night, and he's earned every penny of that money, the first he's ever earned in his life.

"It's the finest thing that ever happened to him."

In this instance, the talk was about the Cen-Tex Sheltered Workshop. But it is only one of three such projects of the Mexia school in cooperation with several groups and private citizens.

Another is the Cen-Tex Rehabilitation Center for girls and the third is Edwina Manor, a so-called "halfway" house in Waco for the last step for women into useful lives.

The front doorbell rings at Edwina Manor, a beautiful old southern mansion with front and side columns, three marble fireplaces, cut glass chandeliers and leaded glass door windows.

One of the girls answers and two children, a boy about 4 and a sister a year older, swarm over her. "Let me get my things," she says, then goes out with a child swinging on each hand to a waiting car.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Adamson, supervisors at the Manor explain: "She was back on a visit on her day off. These children are wards of their grandparents and both grandparents work. They were at their rope's end when they agreed to try Mary. Now, Mary has found a whole family for her very own. She goes everywhere with them and lives with them."

A handsome, dark-haired girl swings in and lays a bank book down in front of Adamson, who is called "Papa." She has made a savings deposit and the total now is nearly $400. "She has another $300 or so in a checking account," Adamson says.

"When we get a new girl, she listens to the others brag and the first thing she wants to know is, "Papa, how much must I save to open a bank account?"

To guide them in spending, Mrs. Adamson countersigns all checks.

Edwina Manor is still in the experimental stage. J. K. Kerr, district director for vocational rehabilitation in the Waco area, put it this way: "It's a very good start. We're going to learn more about it as we go along. This intermediate stage is one of the best ways to handle any person who has been institutionalized. You just can't take them out of an institution suddenly and put them on their own. The real test, though, is whether you will be able to wean them at the end of the 12-month training period."

The state's chief mental retardation officer, Dr. Charles Bernett, estimates that the cost of caring for retarded persons through their lifetime is $100,000 per person.

Three of the persons living now at Edwina Manor are almost ready for graduation into apartments or rooms of their own. That would save the state nearly $300,000.

Twenty young women from Mexia State School are in residence at Edwina Manor. Nineteen have jobs ranging from baby sitting to sales by telephone.

Should all of them graduate, the savings to the state in the first year of operation would amount to two million dollars.

But before the halfway house of Edwina Manor comes a "quarter-way" house, the Cen-Tex Rehabilitation Center.

Each morning, 20 girls from the Mexia school board a bus and ride to the Center's two-story residence near downtown.

After greetings, they curl up in easy chairs or on divans in a large living room for an informal discussion class with Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Herrington. Herrington is director of the rehabilitation drive and Mrs. Herrington directs the center.

Discussions are designed to teach those who have never lived outside an institution some of life's simple facts and rules that most people need. Do you know what number to dial? How can you get along with your employer?

After this, each girl is assigned duties for the day—cleaning floors, dusting furnitude and etc. Arland Allbright, who formerly directed arts and crafts at the school. She is begging for a traveling salesman type to sell the skills and products of her charges.

The three facilities are operated by the Cen-Tex Association for Retarded Children which has legal authority to make contracts by which the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation underwrites most of the training costs. The students are selected by Hubert Austin, vocational rehabilitation counselor at the school.

The sponsors of the whole plan see it now only as a stepping stone between students at the school and the world outside but a place where others can be rehabilitated for useful, independent and self-respecting life.

Services Set For Ex-Waco Doctor

WACO (AP) — Funeral services were planned today for Dr. Lillian Gross Friedman, who gave up her medical practice to become a painter. She was 48.

Mrs. Friedman was the wife of a Waco psychiatrist, Dr. Carl Friedman. She died Wednesday of cancer.

Services were set for Temple Rodef Sholem in Waco.

She finished work at Southwestern Medical School in 1943 after having been graduated from Baylor University.

Rail Mishap Fatal

GROESBECK (AP) — Benjamin Maguirk, 27, Rt. 1, Groesbeck was killed about 12:30 a.m. half a dozen homes Wednesday today when his car collided with a train in Groesbeck.

Asks End To Diet Frauds

DALLAS (AP) — Carroll D. Brown, head of a firm which was the subject of a $1 million diet pill seizure last week, called Wednesday for an organization that would eliminate "the outright quacks" in the field of obesity control.

Brown, of Dallas, is president of Lanpar Co., from which the Food and Drug Administration seized more than $1 million worth of diet pills.

The agency said the pills had not been proven effective and danger-free. Brown vigorously protested the action at the time.

He is calling for a national council of physicians to isolate and curtail the practices of what he called "quacks" in the field.

Brown said his statement on the matter was being relayed to Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., who is conducting hearings on the use of drugs to treat obesity.

Services Offered In Birth Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Birth control services for the nation's poor will be offered—not just available on request—under policy guidelines issued by John W. Gardner, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Until this point, the department's policy was to provide family planning information only if it was requested by persons receiving federally supported health and welfare services.

But Gardner said in a Wednesday memorandum:

"Plans for comprehensive health services including maternal and child health must include consideration of the need for family planning services.

"Beneficiaries of assistance programs or other money payments should be fully informed of the availability of family planning services."

Gardner said an individual's eligibility for relief should "in no way" be dependent on the acceptance or refusal of such contraceptive advice. And, he said, family planning programs "shall guarantee freedom from coercion or pressure of mind or conscience."

President Johnson has asked Congress to provide more than twice the $28 million budgeted for birth control programs this year to extend services to about 900,000 women in the fiscal year beginning July 1, compared with about 125,000 women this fiscal year.

Gardner's policy statement was read at a ceremony in which Mrs. Katherine B. Oettinger was sworn in as the department's first deputy assistant secretary for population and family planning.

TTA Retires Last DC3

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A DC3 rated a "very forgiving airplane" by the pilot ended its commercial service Wednesday in New Mexico.

Known as 797 to Trans-Texas Airways, it was the last DC3 to be flown by a commercial airline in the state.

Built in 1940, the aircraft was the oldest plane operated by Trans-Texas in its six-state area and at one time helped in the Berlin airlift of the late 1940s.

Officials said it will be used on the air line's routes east of Dallas.

A spokesman said New Mexico and other Trans-Texas stops west of Dallas henceforth will be served by jet-powered aircraft.

Four passengers rode the plane from Albuquerque to Clovis, N.M. The flight terminated in Dallas after stops at Lubbock and Abilene.

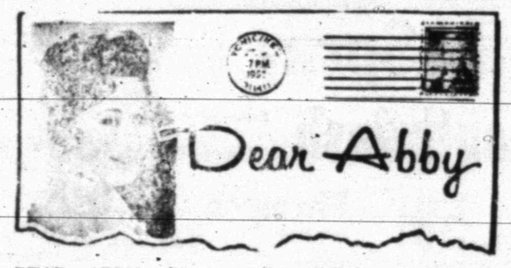
"It's a good old airplane," said R. J. Hardin, the DC3's pilot, "but today's passengers have trouble accepting them. It's too slow and too uncomfortable for today's air passenger. But the DC3 is an excellent flying machine and will handle about anything.

Sisk Is Republican Governor Candidate

HOUSTON (AP) — Wallace F. Sisk, 38, a Houston lawyer, filed Wednesday as a Republican candidate for governor.

He paid his $1,000 filing fee at Austin to Peter O'Donnell, state GOP chairman.

Sisk has lived in Houston 11 years, coming here from Waco.



DEAR ABBY: Please tell Sammy, the painter, that a painter is not the only man whose work enables him to classify the various types of agressive housewives.

I am a clergyman, and believe it or not, I have as many opportunities as the painter.

I no longer call on women at their homes unless I take my wife with me. (She sits in another room, but its good insurance against lusty ladies who would make improper overtures.)

And if a woman comes to my office in a mini-skirt, my secretary has instructions to follow her in and place a large shawl over the visitor's knees. And when my secretary departs, per my orders, she leaves the door wide open.

In bygone years, it was the man who agressively pursued the woman, but today, most women are far bolder than men.

I am a grandfather, in my early sixties, and not particularly handsome, but some of the propositions I have had from married sexpots would not be believed. Even by you, Dear Lady, who must have heard everything.

NO NAME, PLEASE

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Re. your advice to the mother who was afraid to leave her children with Grandma because Grandma was such a poor driver: You suggested that she make Grandma promise not to take the children in the car with her before leaving them. I suspect that even if Grandma were to make such a promise, she wouldn't keep it. Besides, may I point out that if Grandma is as poor a driver as the mother said she was, if matters little whether she has the children in the car with her, or if they happen to be in the car with which Grandma has an accident.

I would suggest that the mother write to the Driver's License Bureau at her State capitol, reporting Grandma's inability to drive. Grandma will then be asked to take a physical examination as well as a written examination, which includes questions with regard to judgment and traffic laws.

If Grandma passes these tests, then she is just as qualified to drive an automobile as anyone. If she fails, the reporter will have performed a public serivce by removing one more menace from the roads.

In case you are wondering why I am so familiar with this procedure, I reported my GRANDPA in this manner, and now Grandpa doesn't drive anymore.

DID THE RIGHT THING

DEAR DID: This "procedure" may apply in your state, but I doubt if it applies in all — altho I think it should.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Is there something wrong with me? People tell me I'm cute and have a good personality. I can get almost any boy I want, but the only boy I want is one who belongs to somebody else.

I know it isn't right, Abby, but that's the way it is. I have lost lots of girl friends by taking their boy friends away from them, but I can't help it. I can't get interested in a boy unless he's going with some other girl. Sometimes the boy isn't even especially cute, but I want him anyway, and once I get him I don't want him anymore. I guess I am just a born flirt. It's just my nature, so what can I do about it?

BORN FLIRT

DEAR FLIRT: You don't say how old you are, but if you are under 16, you may plead immaturity.

Hopefully, you'll soon realize that it's not the boy you want at all, it's the "challenge." Teen-age dating is a highly competitive game. But the "prize" when won on a competitive basis may turn out to be a loss instead of a victory, so grow up, and be a little more selective.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ANNIE MOUSE" IN ANDERSON: Yes, your husband's behavior is somewhat childish. But a 33-year-old man who has to sneak smokes behind his mother's back has enough problems without a wife nagging him. Lay off.

* * *

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Is Life Golden Adventure In Fast-Moving Show Biz?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Careers come—and often go—fast in show business.

Take Joey Heatherton, for example, who just turned 22. She recently rented her first bachelor girl apartment and makes so much money that she has a business manager who keeps her on an allowance.

Blonde, pert Joey, only seven years away from her professional debut as one of the children in Broadway's "The Sound of Music," already is trying to change her image.

Miss Heatherton first achieved wide public attention as the lively, indefatigable go-go dancer on display—when go-go dancers were in vogue.

Though go-go dancing may be as dated as high button shoes, Joey—who has her own spirited dancing style and a pleasant way with a song—thinks the go-go impression lingers.

"And, of course, I want to be an actress," she explained, with a valiant attempt to look pitiful and put upon.

Thus it is of note that Joey Heatherton will appear Jan. 31 in a two-hour adaptation of John Steinbeck's short novel, "Of Mice and Men," playing the part of a lonely, disillusioned young woman. Any resemblace to the cute young thing with the long, ash-blonde hair and long black eyelashes who flashes around Dean Martin's or Jerry Lewis' or Red Skelton's stage is strictly coincidental.

Actually, Joe has played some serious roles, but usually in context with her singing-dancing image. Over the seasons there have been dramatic guest shots on "Mr. Novak," "I Spy," "The Nurses" and "The Virginian."

One season she was a regular on "The Perry Como Show," and played a teen-ager with a crush on the show's star. She was cute and attractive but the white light of publicity did not strike until one night on NBC's "Hullaballoo," the youth-oriented variety show.

Joey was busily and actively engaging in a dance number when the television camera focused lingeringly on her gyrating back. NBC switchboards lit up like an oil tank fire and many people wrote complaining letters.

Joey was poised, but dashed and defensive about the furor.

"My parents saw it, and it didn't upset them," she said. 'And a lot of those parents who complained should go out some night and see the kind of dancing their own children were doing."

The senior Heathertons, of course, are sophisticated in the ways of show business. Ray Heatherton, her father, was a popular television performer in the early days and before that a Broadway actor. Joey's father and mother, Davnie, a dancer, met when both were appearing in Richard Rodger's "Babe in Arms." Her brother, Dick is a disc jockey.

Joey whose real name, too, is Davnie, was born and brought up on Long Island. And, until recently, her mother accompanied her on her trips to Hollywood or television and film assignments. Now, however, she has her own three-room, ultramodern apartment in a fashionable section of Manhattan—and still spends about half her time at home with the family.

It sounds as if life were a long, golden adventure for a youngster whose annual income approaches six figures these days. In point of fact, it is pretty disciplined.

"I envy those singers who can come on a show, hand out the music and run through a song once or twice" she said "With a dancer, it's hard work—well, damp work, too. When I'm on a show we have to work about a week from morning to night rehearsing. And then, there are the songs to go through, too."

In addition, Joey presides over a daily syndicated radio show for teen-agers.

"I really like that," she said. "I like to interview people and I've had some good ones, like Bob Hope and Phyllis Diller."

Hope, of course, is an old friend, since she toured Vietnam with him on his Christmas tour in 1965 and in 1966.

Joey was a great hit with the military. They like her image.

Learning English Became Necessity

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Venezuelan Alessandro Radighieri, a student at Paris Junior College, knew very little English when he arrived here.

He said learning it was largely a matter of survival.

"The only thing I knew how to order in a restaurant was 'Hamburger and Tea,'" Radighieri recalls. "After a week of nothing but 'Hamburger and Tea,' I decided I'd have to speak or starve."

FOR 7.3 MILLION WORKERS

Minimum Wages Rise Today

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal minimum wage rose to $1.60 an hour today for 33 million workers and to $1.15 for another 8.5 million job-holders.

But because most workers already are paid above the minimum, some 7.3 million people actually will get pay hikes — about $2.3 billion more a year.

"Those whose pay will rise Thursday are the working poor," said George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. And while Meany said the hikes resulted from political action by the labor movement, he stressed its goal remains a $2 hourly minimum.

That there are working poor in America, Meany said, "is an inexcusable blight on its economic system."

There was mixed reaction among operators of hotels, hospitals and restaurants, where the new minimums will have the most affect.

Some said they'll raise prices while others said prices will remain stable, at least for now. Some talked of layoffs or reducing overtime to cut labor costs but others said they already were paying at the rate of the new minimum wage.

The increases are the second step in federal wage-law changes that boosted the minimum from $1.25 to $1.40 per hour last Feb. 1 for the 33 million workers already covered by the Fair Labor Standard Act and brought 8.5 million additional workers under the law starting at a $1 hourly minimum.

The increases were enacted by Congress in 1966.

An estimated six million workers whose jobs were covered before the 1966 amendments will get more pay under the latest increase from $1.40 to $1.60.

About 1.3 million of the workers brought under the law last year will benefit from the new $1.15 minimum.

For workers previously covered by the minimum wage law, originally enacted in 1938, the effects of the 1966 amendments end with the increase to $1.60 per hour.

These are workers mainly in manufacturing, transportation, wholesale trade, large retail stores, financial, insurance and real estate firms.

The minimum for the 8.5 million more recently covered workers goes up from $1.15 to $1.30 on Feb. 1, 1969, to $1.45 a year later and finally to the $1.60 top on Feb. 1, 1971.

New categories of work brought under the law a year ago include smaller retail firms, hospitals, nursing homes, laundries, restaurants, hotels and large farms.

Overtime provisions remain the same for the 33 million previously covered workers, requiring time and a half pay after 40 hours a week.

For the more recently covered workers, time and half pay was applied after 44 hours effective last Feb. 1, applies now after 42 hours and effective Feb. 1, 1969, will apply after 40 hours.

There is no overtime provision covering some 400,000 big-farm workers brought under the law last year.

There are several exemptions for some workers and firms covered by the law, many of which require individual rulings by Labor Department officials.

Exemptions from overtime provisions apply to employes in hotels, motels and restaurants and employes of retail or service firms who work primarily in food and beverage services.

Wanted: Cook With Looks

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Wanted: Girl cook and part-time dishwasher. Must be absolute doll, with fantastic disposition and cheerleader smile. Free meals but no pay.

Think you would get an answer to an add like that? Two bachelor medical students at the University of Florida did.

Fed up with their own cooking, Harry Asch, 24, of Massapequa, N.Y., and Dave Klapper, 23, of Miami, ran an ad in the campus newspaper for a girl to cook their meals. They promptly got 33 applications for the job.

They chose Sara Leigh Wakefield, 21-year-old education major. They chose her because they liked the way she walked.

"She sort of knocked us out," Asch said. "She's a dream and a tremendous cook."

In the beginning, Asch added, "I was looking for a good cook. Dave was looking for a pretty girl. While I interviewed the girls, Dave just sat and stared.

"It looks like it will last. Dave made some passes at first but was rebuffed. Now he keeps his seat at the table."

The final decision was tough, Asch said, "but we chose Leigh when we saw her walk down the hall."

Dallas Man Is Indicted In Scheme

NEW YORK (AP) A Dallas man is one of three persons indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on charges of swindling $150,000 in a worthless paper scheme in 10 states, including Texas and Oklahoma.

Indicted were Charles W. Deaton, 42, Dallas, serving a three-year prison term for fraud; Robert J. Muller Sr., 45, Oklahoma City, appealing an embezzlement conviction; and Ivy Ridenhour, 45, who recently moved from Montclair, N.J., to Aurora, Colo.

They are accused of issuing worthless loan commitments on paper purporting to be stationary of the Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of New York. Authorities said none of the three had any connection with Hamilton Life.

McClellan Repeats Opposition To F111

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charging multi-billion dollar waste, a persistent Senate critic of the Fort Worth-built F111B aircraft has called on Congress to "prohibit further waste of the taxpayers' money" regarding the controversial weapons system.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark. cited reports Wednesday that top naval officers consider the plane not capable of performing its mission.

The F111B is the Navy version of the TFX aircraft conception, which features variable-sweep wings. The planes are built by General Dynamics in Fort Worth.

Hippies Held In Death Of Companion

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Four hippies were held today as fugitives for investigation of murder in the slaying of a companion in Texas, police said.

Officers reported three of them told of shoving a companion from a car as they drove across Texas, where the body of an unidentified man was found seven miles southeast of Greenville. It was three-fourths mile off U.S. 69 at the dead end of a rural road.

Sheriff R. D. Wood at Greenville said C. P. Rice was tending cattle in a pasture Wednesday when he came upon the body of a man who had been slashed and beaten. He said the victim, about 20, had long, dark hair "like the hippies wear it."

Wood said he had talked with Baton Rouge police and would confer with them again today before deciding to send someone here to question the persons in custody or seek extradition.

Police identified the four being held as Robert Steven Thomas Jr., 18, of San Francisco; Thomas Dunbar Headley, 21, of Oakland, Calif.; Charles Calvin Whiddow, 20, of Hialeah, Fla., and Charles Robert Perkins, 21, of Miami Beach, Fla.

They also were held for vagrancy and possession of central nervous system drugs, police said.

When detectives Ronnie Alford and Bobby Gill stopped a muddy and dusty car here Wednesday to question the quartet, they found blood-stained gloves, a butcher knife and other weapons in the bloodied rear seat.

As they were entering the police station, one of the four only as "Joe." While in Texas tried to dispose of a bag Gill said contained three kinds of nervous system drugs.

All of the group except Perkins, son of a Miami lawyer, talked to detectives. The four, all friends in San Francisco's hippie community, left California last week to go to New Orleans for Mardi Gras.

Gill quoted them as saying that while they traveled they picked up a youth they knew Monday the detective said they began arguing with "Joe," stopped the car and pushed him out.
