Reds Stage New Terror Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist forces staged a nationwide terror attack today, hitting 11 cities, towns and allied bases in South Vietnam. In one raid North Vietnamese troops killed 16 villagers including two children who had refused to betray their chief.

The Communist attacks from the southern Mekong Delta to the northern border jungles killed at least 17 South Vietnamese and wounded 93 others in what allied spokesmen called the bloodiest Red terror assault since President Johnson halted U.S. bombing of North Vietnam Nov. 1 to cool down the war.

Mideast Borders Quiet But Alert For New Battles

By United Press International
Israeli farmers along the Jordan frontier returned to their fields today but remained alert for more border battling. Diplomats in Arab capitals and in the United Nations reported no progress toward cooling down the Middle East crisis.

From Sunday through Wednesday the border blazed, with artillery fire from Jordan and Israeli air strikes in return—the heaviest frontier fighting since the 1967 Middle East war, military observers said.

In the United Nations, UPI correspondent David L. Dugas reported talks by Secretary General Thant plus U.S. and British diplomats failed to get no-shooting pledges from Israeli and Jordanian representatives. In Cairo, Egyptian foreign minister Mahmoud Riad told newsmen after a 90-minute talk with U.N. peace envoy Gunnar Jarring that the movement toward a Middle East settlement is going "backwards."

Riad said the Israelis' claim to land seized from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the 1967 war balked progress. "We are not ready to bargain on Arab land and will not give up an inch," he said.

Hong Kong Flu Attack On Increase in U. S.

ATLANTA (UPI)—A Philadelphia lawyer broke up a trial with a fit of coughing this week in the Pennsylvania city.

"Excuse me, your honor," apologized attorney Michael Hillgrass, "it must be the Hong Kong flu."

"If it is, you'd better get out of here," replied Judge Frank J. Montemuro Jr.

The case became one of many postponed in Philadelphia County Court as a result of a new influenza outbreak that has touched at least 25 states; the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Called A-2-Hong Kong-68, influenza by the National Communicable Disease Center (CDC) in Atlanta, the flu has spread faster and earlier than normal respiratory ailments and already is a major health problem in some areas.

And it's only beginning, according to a CDC spokesman.

Musician Leaves East Germany By Homemade Sub

BERLIN (UPI)—A young musician today said he escaped from Communist East Germany in a homemade submarine.

West German refugee officials said Bernd Boettger, 23, was telling the truth about his undersea flight from the East German Baltic Sea coast to a Danish lightship.

Boettger told newsmen he piloted his self-made U-boat 15 1/2 miles, part of it under water, at a speed of 3 miles an hour Sept. 8.

"I was dressed in a frogman's outfit sent by my aunt in West Germany. I wore a belt with 12 pounds of lead in it to keep deep under water until I got past the searchlights, watchtowers and police patrol boats along the East German coast," Boettger said.

Proudly he showed newsmen the tiny craft he built at cost $50.

"My next trip will be across the English Channel next year," he said.

His getaway machine consisted of a 22-pound motor enclosed in a watertight cylinder with a two-foot snorkel attached. The snorkel kept the underwater motor supplied with air from the surface as Boettger steered it away from communism to the Danish lightship Gedser.

"The whole coast is heavily guarded and it would have been impossible to escape in a rowboat or sailboat that could be seen on the surface," he said.

He tied a 10-foot long rope to the motor and was towed to the west.

"This is a new invention and I have applied for three patents on it in West Germany," he said. "Right now the U-boat must keep close to the surface so the snorkel can get air but soon I will be able to really dive."

Officials Study Proposed Zoning

A meeting of the City Planning and Zoning Commission was scheduled for 3 p.m. today in City Hall for further study of Pampa's Master Plan and proposed city zoning ordinance.

Marvin Springer, Dallas consultant planning engineer, was to attend the meeting and discuss any proposed changes in his recently presented report on a comprehensive plan for Pampa relating to the city's economic base and projections for the future in population growth, land use, thoroughfares and housing.

Members of the commission are Luke McClelland, chairman; Waldon Haynes, John Lee Bell, Jim Brown and Bill Duncan.

Also attending today's discussion with Springer and commission members were City Manager Charles Hill and City Engineer Mac Wofford.

Following today's session, the planning commission will make its recommendations to the Pampa City Commission for action on the Master Plan.

Also scheduled at today's meeting was study of maps and proposed provisions of a new city zoning ordinance. After planning commission recommendations are made on the zoning ordinance, the city commission will consider the legislation and set a date for a public hearing at which time any dissenting property owner would have an opportunity to voice objections.

SANTA CLAUS VISIT — In town for the annual Santa Day Parade in Pampa tomorrow, the red-clad gentleman from the North Pole here inspects a Christmas tree in the Coronado Center. Santa will be the top attraction in the parade which starts at 10 a.m. Saturday and will go through the downtown and Coronado Center areas. Santa will be passing out free candy to children in both areas.

Santa Claus to Visit Children After Tour in Yuletide Parade

You better watch out, and floats from clubs, churches, businesses and other organizations, and everyone's will be in the parade.

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce will sponsor cash prizes and plaques for winners in the four divisions.

First place winners in the non-commercial and commercial division will receive $50 cash prizes, with first, second and third place winners receiving plaques.

Cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded in the pet section and the decorated bicycle section.

No entry blanks or fees are required for participation, according to chamber manager E.O. Wedgeworth.

Two Young Girls Facing Trial For Strangling Deaths of Boys

NEWCASTLE, England (UPI)—According to the prosecutor, Mary Bell, 11, and Norma Bell, 13, strangled Brian Howe, 3, and Martin Brown, 4, for "pleasure and excitement."

"I have probably said sufficient to indicate that this case is of a very exceptional nature, possibly one without precedent," prosecutor Rudolph Lyons said in opening the trial Thursday. It continued today.

"These girls are charged with two murders within the space of just over two months, murders committed by asphyxiation solely for the pleasure and excitement afforded by killing," Lyons said.

Diplomats to Discuss Two-Side Conference

PARIS (UPI)—South Vietnam's ambassador to Washington and its spokesmen for expanded war talks flew in today for urgent meetings with U.S. negotiators on how to get the delayed conference going.

Diplomats said Washington and Hanoi already agreed on a meeting place in the French Foreign Ministry with two doors indicating the Communists may yield to allied demands for two-sided talks.

Saigon's Bui Diem, the ambassador to Washington, scheduled an urgent meeting later today with Cyrus R. Vance, deputy U.S. negotiator on how to break the procedural dogma blocking the beginning of talks.

"We believe that our consultations will be very useful," a high American official said. "We are still hopeful that the conference will get under way next week."

Diem and Dan Duc Khoi, spokesman for and special assistant to Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam, arrived on separate flights with 16 assistants and secretaries to pave the way for the arrival of the full Saigon delegation Sunday.

Khoi told newsmen that Pnam Dang Lam, Saigon's observer to the preliminary U.S.-Hanoi talks, would be South Vietnam's chief negotiator. But Ky will be calling the shots, probably from a luxury villa on Boulevard Maillot of the Boulogne Woods.

In Saigon today, Ky told a nationwide television and radio hookup the South Vietnamese delegation in Paris would show both its "desire for peace and its readiness to fight to the end any aggression by colonialists and Communists alike."

Ky said he "saw no reason to let Communist domination come through the gates of negotiation" and warned his country that success in Paris was dependent on stability and unity

Czechs Dismiss Press Defender

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovak journalists found themselves without a champion today in a new government crackdown to make the press an "instrument" of the Communist party.

The government Thursday announced the dismissal of Deputy Premier Peter Colotka, whose policies gave newsmen room for political writing and a campaign against the interior ministry.

At the same time, Party First Secretary Alexander Dubcek told a crowd in the town that steps will be taken to make the press into "an instrument which will... help to implement the policy of the party." The reason, he said, was to prevent "deeper upheaval."

The two developments occurred as members of the Union of Czech Journalists met at a recreation castle near Prague to celebrate Colotka's partial loosening of limits on political writing.

The celebration was short-lived. Colotka had lifted a ban against the union magazine. Reporter, and had permitted the news media to accuse the interior ministry of laxity in suppressing a Soviet propaganda sheet which he had declared "illegal."

The government announcement gave no reason for Colotka's dismissal as chairman of the Committee for Press and Information. It said Deputy Education Minister Jaroslav Havelka, a political unknown, would succeed him.

Rome Recovering From Paralyzing Workers Strikes

ROME (UPI)—Rome sprang back to life today from a paralysis caused by a million striking workers and demonstrations by thousands of students, whose anger ran more to speeches and slogans than to violence.

Almost every kind of worker in the Eternal City struck Thursday, closing shops, theaters and restaurants, halting trains, buses and taxis and halting mail delivery and disrupting telephone service.

The workers struck in demands for social reforms they contend the government has long ago promised but failed to deliver. Students have demanded modernization of universities and more scholarships.

Thousands of students joined strikers to form a crowd of 50,000 persons that marched five miles through the heart of Rome, chanting, singing and shouting insults at police. Some of the students hurled rocks and bottles at police who

Yule Tree Adds Holiday Spirit At City Hall

The Christmas holiday season has arrived at City Hall.

The annual Christmas tree was put in place in the central lobby yesterday by Frank Christian, City Hall custodian. Visitors to city offices today were given an added bit of the yuletide spirit by the multi-colored lighted Christmas tree.

Putting up the yule tree and decorating it has been one of Christmas projects for several years.

Department heads are working on plans for the annual Christmas Party of city employees set for Dec. 17 at the Sportman's Club.

AMA Sees Need for Death Ruling

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The American Medical Association wants heart transplant teams to get a death ruling from an outside physician before removing the heart of a donor.

The precautionary measure was urged in a resolution adopted by the AMA's policy-making house of delegates at the close of a four-day convention this week.

"The cause of death must be evident and of an irreversible type," the resolution said. "The fact of death must be established and must be demonstrated by adequate current and acceptable scientific evidence in the opinion of the physicians making the determination."

The resolution, which the AMA explained is not binding but serves more as a guideline, adds "the determination of death in organ donors must be made by no less than the physicians not associated with the surgical team performing the transplant."

Another recommendation was that a "uniform anatomical gift act" be adopted in all states, to help eliminate confusion of prospective donors.

Selective Service Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th St., Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—Why do I have to request a student deferment in writing when my college already has furnished my local board evidence of my satisfactory academic progress?

A—You have to do this because the Selective Service law provides that you do it. Your local board has no authority to defer you in class II-S unless you do. You have to do this only once; you don't have to do it each year you are in college. The information provided by your college that you are a full-time, satisfactory student each fall is done by the college as a courtesy to you. Actually it is your responsibility to do it.

Q—I was married and the father of two children. Currently I am classified in class III-A for the dependent children. This week I was divorced, and my wife was given the custody of the children. Will this development have a bearing on my III-A classification?

A—Yes. The Selective Service law places upon you the responsibility of reporting to your board in writing any fact that might result in your being placed in a different classification. You must do this within 10 days after the change occurs.

Tech Considering Computer System

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—Registration officials, seeking a faster and more efficient means of registering students at Texas Tech, are studying the possibility of using computers to expedite the enrollment process.

Speed is becoming more important as Tech plans to enter a new semester system next fall. Students will find their summer vacations shortened by three weeks but can go home for Christmas holidays without the worry of final examinations when they return.

The long semester classes will let out in the spring some three weeks earlier. Thus Tech's 1969 fall term will start Aug. 26 and conclude Dec. 20 before the Christmas holidays begin.

Registrar James A. Watkins and three men from Tech computer services—Don Aspromonte, George Wood and Gary Orren—have begun a series of tours of computer registration to determine the feasibility of automation at Tech.

Orren and Aspromonte compared the present system with the computerized process on a basis of time per student. A student registering under the present system can expect to spend from 20 minutes to four or five hours in registration, but under a computerized method the complete process could be completed in five to 10 minutes per student.

MADE FOR REPAIRS

WASHINGTON — Norman Bennett, member of the Society of Automotive Engineers, charging before a Senate subcommittee that automakers go to extremes to place easily damaged auto components in vulnerable positions.

"This type of design is not only unnecessary but inexcusable, except for one reason—it results in expensive repairs."

The Los Angeles Rams defeated the Cleveland Browns 24-17 in 1961 for the club's first and only National Football League championship.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Scheinman Timing Forecasts says it will continue to make "long" recommendations while stock prices are going up. Still, the analyst says, such an approach means investors should be completely aware of the high-risk nature of the market and protect themselves with "short" positions and acceptance of profits all along the way.

Hayden, Stone Inc. says that while most basic factors influencing market price action seem to lean in a bullish direction, this is no time "to throw caution to the winds and initiate extensive buying programs." The company says investors should remember that a "rather formidable barrier of technical and psychological resistance looms just ahead" around the 1,000 level of the Dow Jones industrial average.

Thomson & McKinnon says it feels that markets "some what overbought" on a near term basis and that the Dow Jones Industrial average should meet with increases resistance as it nears its former highs. The analyst says that overall "the evidence remains bullish, and continuation of the existing uptrend appears likely."

Diplomats said secret meetings between the U.S. and North Vietnamese deputy negotiators — Cyrus R. Vance and Col. Ha Van Lau — chose a room with two doors in the French Foreign Ministry's International Conference Center for the talks.

It indicated, they said, that the negotiators would arrive in two groups and that the North Vietnamese might give up demands for four-sided talks and settle for two sides — the biggest stumbling block left to the beginning of expanded negotiations.

But a Hanoi spokesman repeated Thursday the demand for four-sided talks to include the Viet Cong, Hanoi, Saigon and the United States as separate parties.

Under the U.S. two-sides plan, the Viet Cong would sit in the Hanoi delegation, with Saigon's representatives seated in the U.S. delegation.

Diplomats predicted that once Ky and the full Saigon delegation arrive Sunday, there will be quick progress on solving the remaining procedural blocks, including the two-sides, four-sides question.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese Supreme Court met today to decide whether the nation's Senate and House of Representatives should meet jointly or separately to approve South Vietnam's presence at the talks as required by the constitution.

Vance and Col. Lau also agreed on a language formula for the expanded negotiations identical to that used in the preliminary talks, diplomats said.

then into the second official languages will be English and Vietnamese, with each negotiator speaking in his native tongue. All speeches will be translated first into French and then into the second official

He was a member of Groom First Baptist Church and was a routeman for a dairy company.

Survivors are his wife, Joyce; a son, Ransom Lee Everson, Boulder Creek, Calif.; two daughters, Tommie Everson and Donna Everson, both of the home; six brothers, Warren Everson and Dayton Everson, both of Crowell; Roy Everson and Dale Everson, both of Pampa; Eugene Everson, San Diego, Calif.; and Melvin Everson, San Francisco, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. Meda Hudgins, Pampa; Mrs. Bessie Wright, Compton, Calif.; and Mrs. Lois Boren, Crowell.

Rome (Continued From Page 1) refused to be provoked. Police retaliate unless circumstances were under orders not to retaliate unless circumstances became extreme.

It was no more than 30 minutes after the marchers halted to listen to speeches that the demonstrators rapidly began drifting away, bored with the speakers.

Thousands of police had been mobilized in case of violence. But none on any significant scale developed. Three days of rioting and violent demonstrations preceded the 24-hour strike and two persons were killed and 200 injured in the past week of disorders throughout Italy.

The crisis began Nov. 19 when Premier Giovanni Leone and his minority government resigned. Leone and the Christian Democrats had been unable to start any economic, social or educational reforms since they took office last June.

Premier-designate Mariano Rumor conferred with his own Christian Democrats and Socialists today in redoubled efforts to form a new center-left coalition government. Political sources said they were expected to come to terms shortly on a plan to give workers higher pensions.

Pampan Named To Teach New Day Care Unit

Mrs. Marvin Holman, 1812 N. Dwight, was selected Thursday afternoon as teacher for the Post-School Day Care Satellite Center for older children. The Day Center will start here Jan. 13 with 10 students ages 13 and older.

Burtis Hollis, director of education for Amarillo Center for Human Development, interviewed teacher applicants Thursday and announced the Day Care Units for Retarded Children will open with 25 volunteer aides, but more are needed to operate the units effectively.

Mrs. Holman was home service advisor for Southwestern Public Service from 1958 to 1962 and taught home economics at Miami Independent School District from 1964 until 1966.

She has a B.S. degree from Oklahoma College for Women and has done graduate work in guidance and counseling at Oklahoma State University.

She will have in-service training at the Amarillo center the week of Jan. 6. A workshop for volunteer aides will be held from 10 a.m. until noon Jan. 6 in the First Presbyterian Church Educational Bldg. Auditorium.

The first day care unit operated for pre-school children opened in January this year and has eight students in the daily classes. Both units will be open all year, with classes Monday through Friday in the First Presbyterian Church Educational Bldg.

Mrs. Jean Roots is teacher for the pre-school classes, which are sponsored locally by Gray County Association for Retarded Children.

He said Mary went to Martin's house four days after the boy's death and asked Martin's mother to see Martin.

"I'm sorry, pet, Martin is dead," Mrs. Brown had said.

"Oh, I know he's dead. I want to see him lying dead in his coffin, Mary replied according to the prosecutor.

In Our Time

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday was our ninth anniversary and my husband didn't remember it. I was heart sick all day. I suppose I should have gotten over it by now, but I still feel very hurt about it.

He is a good provider and otherwise a good husband and father, but he's very serious-minded and isn't given to sentimentality. He just doesn't have any "soul." Birthdays, anniversaries and most holidays are overlooked. If the children didn't make such a big fuss about Christmas, I'm sure he's forgot that, too.

Last year I tried giving him a taste of his own medicine and I "forgot" his birthday, but it didn't work because he forgot it, too. I am so hurt, Abby, I have even considered leaving him. Any suggestions?

HURT AGAIN

DEAR HURT: Yes. Create a festive mood by planning in advance to celebrate "occasions." On his birthday, bake him a cake and invite some friends in. Or arrange to go out to celebrate. On yours, do

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

SATURDAY, DEC. 7
YOUR BIRTHDAY tomorrow: The coming year will see a peak in growth of your psychic powers. There is no known system for learning or forcing such talents; one meditates, prays, and becomes sufficiently whole to permit the light to come through. You will need a great deal of privacy. Learn to use it. Today's natives are of every conceivable physical type, but all have latent intuitions beyond the norm.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Again you have the opportunity to learn just where your limitations are. Moderate your drive to avoid fatigue. Give other people time to redirect themselves.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Gather your confidence and proceed, despite slippage of current schedules. Long-range goals should be kept in mind.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your money escapes your custody — or so your associates say. The best course is your regular weekend routine. Don't join in escapades you can't afford!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Travel and the use of heavy equipment become hazardous. Home conditions are unsettled; squabbling improves nothing. Distinguish between straight programs and psychological games.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Gather family and neighbors around you; strengthen relationships. Tense, critical problems nobody planned arise over jobs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Decline to lend. Spending brings less satisfaction than usual. Your stewardship of older family members or traditions may need your attention.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The day is not difficult but takes more energy and patience than you are ready for at the moment. Bickering around you will need your conciliatory services.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): If you have any desperate competitor, or have unwittingly spoiled anybody's fun, you will notice the reaction now. Face the stress directly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Evade new burdens. Leave your money safely put away. Pursue romantic interests this afternoon and evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your schedules are superseded by the complications in the lives of those you love. Get additional advice. For every move, think twice.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your associates are not sure what they want (and are not willing to admit it). Let them resolve their own decisions. Meanwhile, go about your own affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Special caution in all financial matters is strongly urged! Accept social invitations; pursue sentimental and romantic interests.

Pastor Addresses Council of Clubs On Christmas

The Council of Clubs met Thursday morning in the City Club Room for its regularly scheduled December meeting as President Virginia McDonald presided and started the meeting with an inspirational poem, "Let Us Smile."

She introduced the speaker Rev. J. W. Duke, of First Christian Church, who spoke on his "Thoughts on Christmas." He stressed the "great need to put Christ back in Christmas, beginning with actually writing the word, Christmas, instead of the shortened Xmas, thoughtlessly used by many persons."

"Our hearts become so hardened by circumstances that we forget what Christmas is really about. We need a spiritual operation to recover our sense of joy and to cultivate the singing soul. Love is the only real hope for the world. We should make more use of this most powerful force," he said.

Mrs. Roy Kretzmeyer announced services of Mrs. R. O. Linville, registered nurse, may be obtained to assist elderly persons with their personal needs. She also reported on services available for cancer patients.

Club representatives attending were Mrs. Fidelity Yoder (Pampa Music Teachers Association); Mrs. Libby Shotwell (Altura); J. W. Duke and Mrs. Roy Kretzmeyer (Red Cross); Mrs. Clara Quay (American Business Women); Mrs. Clara Lee Rhoades, Mrs. Pearl Castka and Mrs. Neil Tinnin (Business and Professional Women); and Mrs. J. M. Turner (American Legion Auxiliary).

More American Families Favor Permanent Holiday Tree

NEW YORK (Sp)—Is this the year you're thinking about replacing the natural Christmas tree in your home with a store-bought permanent tree? More families are doing it than ever before. And there are several reasons for their decision.

First, the so-called permanent trees can be reused year after year if given reasonable care. Second, they offer the advantage of greater uniformity in shape. And, last but by no means least, they provide a greater margin of safety against fire.

The run on aluminum Christmas trees has been heightened by the added variety in color, sizes and styles. Manufacturers are offering trees in gold, green, blue and red in addition to the natural silvery color. Sizes begin with table-top models and range up to seven feet in height. Styles vary from the basic tree to those where the branches end in a flower-like tassel.

Setting up an aluminum tree is not difficult. A center pole is set into the stand and tightened. Then the branches are put into the factory drilled holes. It's best to work from top to bottom. A seven-foot tree can be assembled and ready for decorating in about an hour.

A word about decorating the tree—it's best not to put electric lights directly on a tree, aluminum or otherwise. A better approach is to use spotlight or color wheels.

Making Bead Flowers Is Painstaking Task

DEAR POLLY — Someone asked sometime ago about directions for making bead flowers. I hope the attached directions will help her. I had to unearth them, as I am a regular pack rat. It's often hard to say where things are put away. I enjoy our daily visit and learn a lot, too.

—MRS. E.W.D.
DEAR GIRLS — I know we all appreciate Mrs. E. W. D.'s trouble in hunting up the lengthy and detailed instructions she sent. I have tried to shorten and simplify them for you. The procedure is fairly simple but it's a slow, painstaking job, well worth the trouble, as these flowers are very expensive.

The beads can be bought in a tube or on strands. They are slipped onto a No. 30 wire, which is used to make the petals and leaves. I found that one of the thin wires from picture-hanging wire also worked quite well for this. Heavier No. 18 wire is used to strengthen the stems. If you are making a leaf, slip green beads on the wire until there is a sufficient number to bend into the desired shape and size of leaf wanted. Then tightly twist one end of the wire around the other so the beads do not slip but stay closed together. Clip wire, with at least a couple of inches extending beyond the leaf. Take heavier wire, cut to the desired length, and twist this fine wire around it so the stem will stand erect. Wrap each stem with green floral tape. Put it around on the bias and keep pulling so it goes on smooth and uncrinkled.

Flower heads follow the same general method, but before the wire is clipped as many petals as needed can be formed. Firmly twist the wires after each petal is made. Looking at a picture of a floral bouquet would be a rather difficult procedure to follow. Select simple flower drawings such as might be in a child's coloring book to get the basic patterns for different flowers. The leaves could be left with the cut wires and added along the stiff stems as the flowers are wired to it and there are not so many stems. Practice will make perfect. More elaborate flowers can eventually be made after the simpler basic ones are mastered.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — The door in my built-in oven is a double thickness of glass. I hope someone can tell me how to clean this glass door without taking it apart. I have already tried this and it will not work because of the insulation.

Designers Unveil Swimwear for 1969 As Demure Dairing

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The beachgoer can be demure, or daring, or both next summer thanks to California swimwear designers, who unveiled their lines recently at the California Fashion Creators' press week here.

Demure in a delicately pleated tunic or swimdress, such as Sirena's sheer voile pastel print that was a burst of pleats from an empire waist.

Daring in a one-piece maillot with bow cutouts in strategic spots, for instance, Serena's lycra spandex one-piecer with scoop neck and cut out floral motif in front.

Or both in a brief Jersey Bikini by Elisabeth Stewart with matching navy over-tunic trimmed in orange for the more modest swimmer.

Dainty swimdresses, body suits, tunics, tank suits, bikinis, and one piece suits that look like two, all had their fans among the designers, who turned also to the tennis dress and the sweater for inspiration. Designers turned tennis dresses into swimming suits. A California "sweater girl" suit was a one piece cable knit with turtleneck.

As for color, black and white, either alone or paired, were big; and there were browns, navys, yellows, azures and a fruit bowl of other colors—apricot, peach, lime, tangerine, lemon, mint and orange.

Materials included stretch lace, jersey, knits, crepe, sheer voile, cotton alone or in combination with dacron, or simulated lizard, alligator or leather. Suits were trimmed with lace, ruffles, chains and bows.

BEAUTY'S ASSET

Beauty's greatest asset is cleanliness. A daily tub or shower — night or morning — gets rid of grime and keeps your skin free of excess oil. Always follow your bath with an effective deodorant. Bath oil, body lotion and powder help make you feel sort of special.

Manicure Foundation

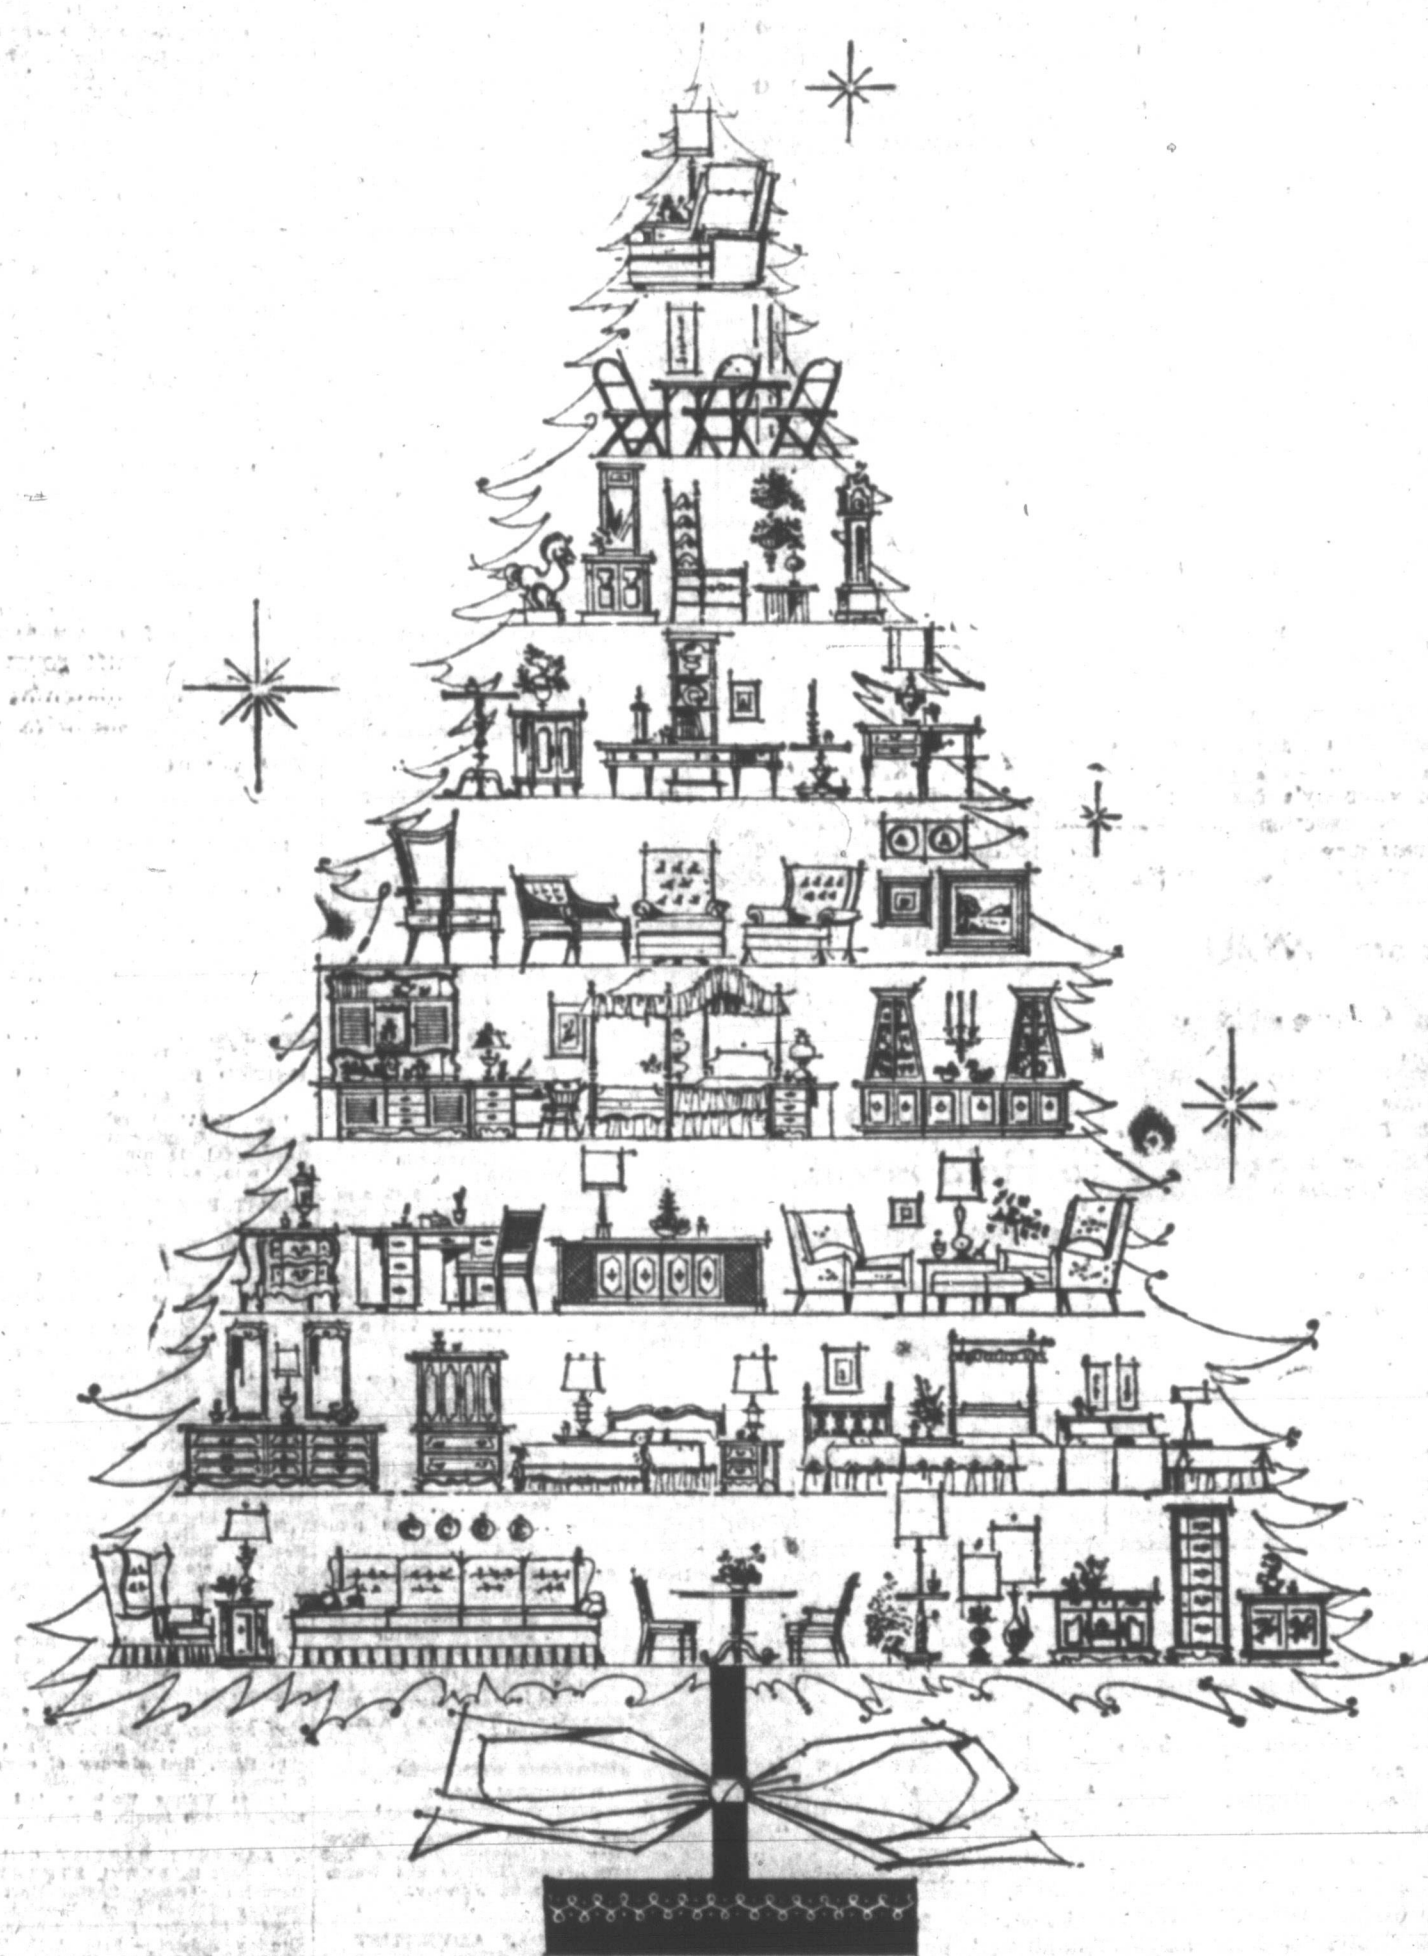

Use a base coat to provide a foundation to help your manicure last longer and to protect a damaged, scratched or overly porous nail from the possibility of becoming discolored by polish pigments.

Personal Items

Change wash cloths and towels often, and always use personal items! If you wear face powder, be sure your puff is immaculately clean at all times.

A copycat is right at home when doing an inexpensive co-ordinating job with a liquid embroidery set. Basically, the art work starts with specially formulated points that are permanent and washable. There are sets available with an embroidery hoop with cushioned back. Once a budding artist learns the principle, it is easy to create individualistic designs. The technique proves popular, for example, in repeating a pattern such as the Franciscan Apple dinnerware shown here. The design is applied by the liquid embroidery method to a hostess apron or to tablemats made of Pellon or another suitable fabric. The special ballpoint tubes of color make it easy for children to help trace, copy or create patterns for pillows, slipcovers, napkins or even bibs for a new brother.

Scientists Slate 'God, the Cause' Topic on Sunday

"For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else."

These words of Isaiah are part of the scriptural readings in the Bible lesson-sermon titled "God the Only Cause and Creator" to be read at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 901 N. Frost.

A correlative passage from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, includes:

"Spiritual causation is the one question to be considered, for more than all others spiritual causation relates to human progress. The age seems ready to approach this subject, to ponder somewhat the supremacy of Spirit, and at least to touch the hem of Truth's garment."

Churches Must Heed Calls For Direction, Leadership

By DAVID POLING
When a war is concluded new energy is released for creative, imaginative projects. International conflict saps the artistic spirit, smothering the mood for reform, post-pones normal ambition and a desire for accomplishment.

A great burst of optimism followed the armistice in 1918. The editor of Scientific American wrote:

"The wave of hysterical rejoicing that swept over the United States when our president announced the signing of a truce had many impulses, but none was stronger than the conviction that, with the death of German militarism, there had died also the very present threat of war and ever-accumulating burden of naval and military armaments."

"In view of these conditions, we learn with astonishment that Mr. Daniels, secretary of the Navy, wishes to commence the immediate construction of 156 new war vessels, including 10 superdreadnaughts and six battle cruisers, and that in addition to all this he is asking the debt-ridden people of the United States a further sum of $600 million for the construction of yet another lot of 156 vessels, which will duplicate the first lot. Verily, the ways of some men are past finding out."

We are so heavily committed to military thinking and military hardware that it will take a massive shove by the most influential members of the religious community to advance any new strategy for peace. I notice that one group on the West Coast has proposed a cabinet office for a Secretary of Peace. This might not be a bad idea for our major urban areas as well.

A change in direction of our national life, with time and money and emotion to spend, will focus on urban problems. This means housing, transportation, schools and hope, an imaginative look at the welfare system.

On every count the churches are involved—except one—prison reform. In so many communities local congregations couldn't care less about the prisoner, his family and his rehabilitation.

We can blame ignorance and apathy. We can plead lack of experience or the fact that no major institutions are in our locality. But this is ducking the issue and it is never hidden in the New Testament.

Unhappily, the churches are concerned about their own members—their "people." In too many situations this has excluded the poor, the black, the uneducated. Now is the time to channel the boundless energies and noble sentiments of young and old to the positive side of law and order—reform and rehabilitation.

A third major contribution that the religious community can produce—and one that is special in the teachings of Christian theology—is a revival of excellence in work. From the days of the early church and its craftsmen-disciples to the contribution of the monasteries, work has been cherished as a holy calling. Calvin and Luther gave new emphasis to the dignity of toil and labor. Holiness was experienced in the carpenter shop as well as the cathedral.

So much of this is absent in our time-carer society. Having an auto serviced today can be a treacherous experience. Forgetfulness, thoughtlessness have permeated so many crafts. Millions have no pride in their work because they don't believe in what they are doing. Yet there is no greater joy than satisfaction in one's labor.

This can be recovered because it has been lost and then regained in other centuries. And when people again find joy in their work they will find greater meaning in their worship.

FOR BIRTH CONTROL

Catholics Funding Research To Secure Natural Rhythm

By LOUIS CASSELL
United Press International
In his July 25 encyclical condemning artificial contraception, Pope Paul VI voiced hope that medical science will "succeed in providing a sufficiently secure basis for a regulation of birth founded on the observance of natural rhythms."

American Catholic bishops are preparing to invest $2 million in bringing that hope to fulfillment.

The money will be contributed by dioceses across the nation—a non-profit, non-sectarian foundation which will sponsor research aimed at improving the reliability of the so-called rhythm method of birth control.

The rhythm method, expressly approved by the Pope as a "legitimate use of a natural disposition," requires a couple to limit sex relations to the portions of each menstrual cycle when a woman is naturally infertile.

The rhythm method has acquired the wry nickname "vatican roulette" among some Catholic couples who have found it an unreliable way of preventing pregnancy. Its chances derives from the difficulty of pinpointing the "safe period" before and after ovulation in which a woman is unable to conceive.

Various means, such as temperature charts and urine tests, have been developed in the past to assist couples in determining the "safe period." They are considerably more trustworthy than the mere use of a calendar—particularly for women whose menstrual cycles are irregular. But doctors agree that there is a great need for simpler, more foolproof methods.

Perfecting such methods will be one of the principal aims of the proposed research foundation, according to Dr. Germaine Grisez, associate professor of ethics at Georgetown University. Grisez is assisting Cardinal Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, who was designated by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops to oversee establishment of the foundation.

Another possible research goal, Grisez said in an interview with UPI, is to find ways in which ovulation may be triggered by hormones or other medicines. This would have the advantage of fixing the time of ovulation beyond question, thus making the rhythm method "secure."

The contraceptive pills now in wide use act by suppressing ovulation. This was condemned by the Pope as an unlawful intervention in a natural process. Grisez suggested that hormonal triggering of ovulation would not meet the same theological objections as suppression.

Area Baptists Schedule Rally

Baptists in the four associations of the Top of Texas Area will have a Missions Rally Monday at the First Baptist Church in Borger.

Dr. W.H. Jackson, former missionary to Japan, will be the guest speaker.

A dinner will start at 7 p.m., with the program following. Advance reservations for the catered dinner are not necessary.

This is the first area-wide Missions Rally for the Top of Texas Area of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The Palo Duro Association of Baptist Men is the sponsoring organization.

Dr. Jackson was formerly director of the Japan New Life Movement, a nation-wide evangelistic effort of Texas Baptists in 1963. He is presently director of the World Evangelism Center at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

Born in Fort Worth, Dr. Jackson has served as pastor of several churches in Texas and in Japan. He is serving as coordinating secretary for the Baptist World Congress preparation committee for the 1970 Tokyo Baptist World Congress.

John Gikas, deacon in the First Baptist Church of Pampa, will preside. Gikas, former District Brotherhood president, is a member of the Panhandle of Texas Baptist Men.

Rev. Carroll Ray, area missionary for the Top of Texas Area, invites all Baptists in the surrounding area to attend.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

CURT WALLIS
Minister of Education Central Baptist Church
GOD'S LOVE

Probably the greatest truth in all the Bible is that we are the object of God's great love. Yes, God's divine love is proclaimed repeatedly through the Scriptures that reflects our unworthiness so vividly. "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23, is an indictment that includes you and me and everybody. This sin, or failure to please God, must be condemned by a perfect and just God, as He tells us in Romans 6:23, "The wages of sin is death (or eternal separation from God). This is a very sobering fact, to know that you and I have chosen to sin and to displease our Creator. And by doing so, we also choose to spend eternity in condemnation, deservin' never to be in the presence of our Divine Maker.

But wait, this 23rd verse also tells us that "the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." God's divine love prompted Him to give His only Son "to bear our sins in His own body on the cross" that we may have "eternal life." The familiar 16th verse in the 3rd chapter of John says, "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." The magnitude of this divine gift is further stressed in the 18th verse. "He that believeth on Christ, is not condemned: he that believeth not is condemned already."

Yes, God loves us in spite of our unworthiness of His divine love! The Scriptures are quite clear that God's supreme gift of love, his only begotten Son for the propitiation for our sins, is a gift for anyone that will accept His love and eternal salvation.

If one will only accept God's Gift; If one will accept Christ as his personal Saviour, the Heavenly Father promises life eternal.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Those Campus Outbreaks

With campus outbreaks all over the nation, there is increasing demand that the legislatures of the states pass strong laws which would throw the rebels off the campus or set up some sort of police protection for the majority of students who want to learn.

One of our readers suggested that if the state officials in charge of the colleges and universities fail to act, legislation be passed to "put these institutions under the authority of state and local police forces for the protection of the taxpayer-owned property; also to dismiss any teacher or official who tends to encourage the disruption of the education of those students who go to college to learn."

Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state college system out in California, showed an awareness of the situation in an interview in U.S. News & World Report. He was quoted as saying that if college faculties cannot supply the answer to campus violence, "an answer will come — either from an outraged citizenry, the state legislature, or through administrative edict."

Dr. Dumke stated that "a number of legislators have said flatly that they will not tolerate outrages to the public decency." When he was asked if "outrages to the public decency" take over, he answered: "Absolutely. They're getting very impatient with the academic community's reluctance to face up to the implications of continued disorder."

The head of the California state colleges said citizens were not going to tolerate transformation of the campus into "a staging area for violent social change or revolution." He added that the "silent majority" of faculty and students had little chance to study and reflect in an atmosphere of turbulence, and that if a majority was going to continue to throw the colleges into turmoil, it was inevitable that "society is going to restructure higher education."

Obviously, Dr. Dumke and other state school men can see the writing on the wall. Dumke has taken stern measures in the turbulence at San Francisco State College, to his credit. Whether he and the state college trustees can regain full control of the campus remains to be seen. If they do not, Dr. Dumke's prediction that the people are going to step in and demand a change will be borne out.

An irate public may demand, and the legislature may adopt, regulations to throw out all they deem to be troublemakers, whether they are students, professors or their fellow-travelers. They may send police officers to protect the students and the taxpayer's property. They may even go further and dictate to the college people just about every phase of college life.

And those who have used the false cry of academic freedom to coerce others and who have denied freedom to the majority of students and to their parents and the tax payers will save another example of the truism: He who would deny freedom to others is abandoning his own freedom.

U.S. Business Steps In

There's a new trend in American business that could prove to be at least part of solution to the growing problems in our densely populated cities. More and more businesses are becoming involved in some of the problems of urban America. The insurance industry has pledged $1 billion dollars to help re-build "blighted" areas of the nation's major cities. More and more companies are now offering on-the-job training to thousands of heretofore unemployed and supposedly unemployable persons, all at company expense.

According to a recent survey by the National Industrial Conference Board, 80 per cent of the companies polled favored involvement in the field of urban affairs. The feeling is that it is better to fuel the flame of hope with confidence born of productivity and progress than with the feelings of futility and idleness.

Some companies have discovered to their surprise, and their delight, that there are many unexpected benefits to be derived from such ambitious programs as are now being undertaken. Some of these benefits are new sources of labor, new consumers, renewed faith in American business and the feeling of having done something worthwhile for a fellow human being.

We wish the business sector well in this new approach and hope that the precedent they are setting will make government welfare programs as obsolete as button hooks and butter churns.

The Auto Accident Bill

It is probably impossible to measure the full extent of the economic benefits which the automobile has brought to this country. It is equally as impossible to measure its costs, particularly such intangible and elusive ones as those in the social and psychological realm.

But we have a good idea of the monetary price of being a nation on wheels.

According to the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, automobile accidents in 1967 cost Americans $34 million a day—nearly half the daily cost of the Vietnam war and the equivalent of a yearly bill for $2.14 presented to every man, woman and child in the nation.

Vast as are the beneficial economic effects of the automobile, they are considerably less when this huge—and needless—expense is subtracted from them.

Don't Open and Return

In a short editorial recently "Don't Be A Pigeon," we quoted Consumer Union as advising readers who received unordered merchandise through the mail that they could return it to the sender by marking it "refused" and handing it to the postman.

This is true if it has not been opened. The Post Office Department says if a package has been opened and ressealed, additional postage will be necessary to return it.

The rest of the advice still stands: Anyone receiving unwanted merchandise through the mail is under no obligation either to return it or to pay for it, as long as he does not use it.

The Cracker Barrel

By JACK MOFFITT

EAGLE ROCK — "Wanted — A Jewish Committee Against Jewish Defamation" is the headline on a column by Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, in the Passover edition of "American Judaism." He writes: "It's not a Jewish committee against defamation of Jews that I'm seeking. Goodness knows we have enough of that — and at the cost of millions of dollars plucked from the common American Jewish purse. . . . Such is a further penalty of the growing secularization of our American Jewish life and our continuing to condone organizational avarice and carelessness. . . . What I am suggesting is some decent and dignified coordination of our efforts to live as Jews, in freedom, in a pluralistic society, and to end that altogether indecent and disgraceful competition for 'spoils' and 'headlines' which, in the name of anti-defamation, does more to defame the designation of Jew than most anti-Semites have been able to achieve. I have in mind some kind of Jewish self-protection from the kind of frenzied scramble for organizational coups such as provided the basis for the recent repugnant article in 'Look' magazine, 'How the Jews Changed Catholic Thinking.'"

"Granted that this was grossly exaggerated, that it rehearsed but one side of the picture and indulged in misleading and false emphasis. Still, none can deny that there was at least a spark of fire beneath all that smoke, that the American Jewish community — as far as it has any semblance to solidarity — did authorize the kind of anarchic, disunited, competitive and extravagant lobbying that did take place in Rome. . . . As one reads between the lines of this article, one cannot avoid a sense of indignation over the implicit denigration of those Catholic prelates, particularly of the American hierarchy, who, in genuine sincerity, strove for the strongest possible statement on the Jews. Such liberal and devoted clergymen must be justifiably incensed by the unwritten though clear implications that they needed the 'behind the scenes' help of the American Jewish Committee, the B'nai B'rith, and the World Jewish Congress to effectuate a more favorable document. . . . I sympathize fully with the view of Cardinal Cushing when he said that the only people who might beat the Jewish lobbyists. . . . It was precisely this apprehension which encouraged the Jewish religious community to refrain from interjecting itself. We felt then that what the Council decided vis-a-vis the Jews was a matter of Roman Catholic theology, while not as strong as its previous drafts, contains a spirit and trust which makes possible a deepening and strengthening of Catholic-Jewish relation throughout the world."

Obviously, Dr. Dumke and other state school men can see the writing on the wall. Dumke has taken stern measures in the turbulence at San Francisco State College, to his credit. Whether he and the state college trustees can regain full control of the campus remains to be seen. 5-Point Ultimatum For DeGaulle Proposed by Hartke

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President de Gaulle's crisis-induced gestures to refurbish his severely strained ties with the NATO allies should be viewed with utmost caution and restraint.

Before France is restored to full NATO membership, explicit and categorical commitments and guarantees must be required of De Gaulle on a number of key problems and issues. The imperious French leader must remove beyond any question of doubt the possibility of resuming his cold-war antics against the Western allies once his economic and fiscal difficulties have been eased.

That's the blunt opinion of Senator Vance Hartke, D-Ind., influential member of the Finance Committee who is considering offering legislation to implement this view in the new Congress that convenes Jan. 3.

As enumerated by Hartke, the pressing matters on which De Gaulle should be compelled to take unequivocal stands are as follows: —Britain's admittance to the Common Market — which De Gaulle has blocked with haughty persistence. Hartke thinks that if Britain were a member of the Common Market, the French crisis might have been averted, or at least considerably moderated.

—Specific pledge to abandon widely reported plans to renounce the North Atlantic Treaty next year. After kicking all NATO military installations out of France, De Gaulle indicated intention to withdraw from the North Atlantic Treaty participation came up in 1969. Hartke wants De Gaulle to declare himself flatly and explicitly on this vital issue.

—Payment by France of its fair and proper share of the heavy cost of removing NATO headquarters and scores of military installations and re-establishing them in adjoining countries. Similarly, payment by France for the installations left in that country — ranging from airfields and pipelines to hospitals, schools, printing plants and numerous other costly properties with an estimated value of more than $2 billion. France is required to pay, but has not done so yet. The matter is still under negotiation.

—Renewed official acknowledgment of the approximately $7 billion in World War I debts owed the U.S., and an agreement to be worked out on a definite schedule of repayment. Hartke has long demanded this be done, and considers it particularly important.

What? You ain't heard of the "Reverse Peace Corps?" That is another phase of the Corps that gets volunteers who have worked at similar jobs in their home countries to come over here.

If this confuses you, send for a new pamphlet put out by the ComAct agency, Send to the Center for Community Studies, Temple Univ., Philadelphia, Pa. The title is "The Care & Feeding of Volunteers."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functioning of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: I am wondering. When a college president shuts down a college without sufficient cause, who pays the salaries of the professors and other workers? Who pays for the loss to students in housing, subsistence and other costs while their schooling is interrupted? Could they join together, hire a lawyer, and sue the college president for damages?

J.W.B.

ANSWER: It's just like any other government or union-dominated activity. The bulk of the expenses go on and the taxpayer continues to foot the bill. We doubt if there is any loss to the students in housing and subsistence. The loss is to the student in their classroom attendance hours and to the tax payers who pay for instruction the students are not receiving.

They could not "join together, hire a lawyer and sue the college president for damages," because the college president is in a political situation where he is not held financially accountable for his official acts.

In virtually all political situations, the political agents of the voters and tax payers, are not required to be responsible financially for any harm they may do to others through their mistakes or errors in judgment. If they were private operators outside the government they could be held accountable.

Editor: Let us remember Pearl Harbor tomorrow on its 27th anniversary.

When our country was attacked, the President, proceeding properly under the Constitution, asked Congress to declare a state of war with Japan. The Constitution specifically provides that such responsibility rests with Congress alone.

We are now in a de facto war with North Viet Nam involving over half a million men. It's far from over. No President has the legal right to prosecute such a war without authorization from Congress. It was never intended, in our Republic, that one man should have such power of life and death over his fellow-men.

Let us start our crusade for law and order at the top level. Let us insist that the Senate rescind the illegal, open-ended Tonkin Gulf Resolution, and let us insist that the Congress stand up and be counted as to whether a state of war exists with North Viet Nam.

And, more important, since we have 43 Messianic treaties pledging our youth and treasure to defend 43 other nations from "aggression", let us make doubly sure in the future that we have a clear-cut stand.

"He must declare positively one way or the other just where he stands on these matters so that we and the other NATO powers know what to expect and how to proceed. Unless that is done, we may have to

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

A Pimple Is Not A Pox

End the war in Vietnam and you'll resolve much home-front bitterness.

Much campus restiveness is unrelated to the grievances protesters proclaim. Psychologists call it "displacement activity." It's a "defense mechanism" operating unconsciously in which an emotion is transferred from its original object to a substitute.

It means we are substituting one frustration for another; something we can do something about for something we can't do anything about.

You shoot a bad golf score, you go home and growl at the dog.

Irritated by your boss, you vent your anger on your wife. Or on the other driver.

Today's draft-age young are bedeviled by enough grim absurdities to justify some righteous resentment.

In recent weeks two neighborhoods in Latin America were overthrown overnight. Elected governments were replaced by military dictatorships. Our White House, our State Department and our Pentagon kept hands off. "None of our business," they quite rightly decided.

Yet we persist in sending American troops to the other side of the world to try to prevent an inevitable overthrow in Vietnam.

School-agers don't understand this. I don't understand it, either.

They may have to die to try to prevent the spread of communism in Asia, but if they dare try to do something about it in Cuba they'll be thrown into jail.

Old enough to fight but too young to vote, school-agers turn their wrath on school administrators.

Unable to do anything about winless and apparently endless wars, they substitute all manner of unrelated grievances.

Further, there is an element of American youth preferring a jail record to a I-A draft classification. They compound the chronic problems of lawlessness.

Further, with no chance to invest years in a career, many don't bother to try. Some become bums.

If you're black, you can transfer your frustration to indignation over discrimination.

If you're poor, you can rant against the entrenched "establishment."

I will be accused of trying to plump myriad effects under a single cause; so be it. That's how I see it.

Visits to two and three campuses every week have convinced me that the visible restiveness is a pimple, not a pox.

But, neglected, it could become infected.

Conversely, when the United States becomes disengaged from this indefensible involvement, you will see a renaissance of respect for our own and our Flag reflected through all segments of society.

Then we will have salvaged some benefit from this blunder.

Our enlightened young are dying to have something to believe in again.

Branch Head Bill Says:

By BILL KENNEDY

It's hard on a man my age trying to bridge the generation gap. Mostly I just can't understand some of the silly notions of the 30-and-under kooks. But on one issue we agree.

If I were draft age, I, too, would refuse to fight!

I spent four years in the Army during World War II, two years on the front lines in the ETO, and was headed to the Far East when somebody dropped a couple of big bombs and ended it all.

I grumbled a lot, like most soldiers, and I never turned down a four-day pass; but so help me, never once did I flirt with the idea of refusing to fight. I even cheated on an eye test to get combat duty (my wife has never forgiven me) and I fought pretty good — even won a little medal.

But if I were that age in this age I think I would protest, destroy records, burn cards, object conscientiously, riot, grow a beard and locks, wear the bed — do just about anything to stay out of the war.

You see, the difference is: We came along back in the days when they said God and Country. . . and meant it. Patriotism came second, right after Christianity. Those were the days when the United States armed forces fought wars with only one purpose. They fought to win. Never once did it cross our minds to settle for anything less than Victory — and all the world knew it and respected us for it.

This under-30 bunch has now seen two no-win wars. They have fought wars where they were not allowed to cross borders, or rivers, or parallels; they were not allowed to bomb targets. And often, as now, they have had to fight with no air support whatsoever.

We learned just a little about forbidden territory in World War II when they stopped us at a river (George Patton's Third Army) and made us wait so the Russians could have the glory of entering Berlin first. (Our troops from the General on down were furious.) But there is another thing we know even better: without air support we could not have won in Europe.

And they can't win in Vietnam!

First, we kow-towed to the Communists in Korea; now we are doing it again. It makes little difference whether LBJ

Congress, representing all the citizens, assume its Constitutional responsibility for war involvement.

A clear strong voice from our glorious past, perhaps faintly now, still resounds: "... government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth!"

Let us see that it doesn't. K. D. Tomkinson 12 Dolphin Drive Vero Beach, Fla.

ordered the bombing halt in Vietnam to help influence the election (of which I have little doubt). The fact is that it's another surrender to the enemy, after sacrificing another 26,000 dead Americans.

Within days after military leaders in the war zone told Curtis LeMay that the bombing must be continued, or escalated, to save lives, Johnson called General Abrams home in the middle of the night and told him he was going to halt the bombing; he no doubt further informed the good General that if he did not go along and keep his mouth shut he would get the Douglas MacArthur treatment.

Whether he did this awful thing to help Humphrey or because in his ally egotistical state he wanted to be "the one" to bring peace, even at the surrender price, is beside the point. It was a spineless, treacherous move, coming on the heels of a whole series of spineless maneuvers during the lives of these youngsters (Suez, Cuba, the Berlin Wall, the Congo, South Africa, Panama, Korea and the Pueblo. Make your own list).

No, I wouldn't lay my life on the line for a Commander-in-Chief who would toy with it in such a fashion — and disgrace our country in the bargain. I would go to prison first!

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Friday, Dec. 6, the 341st day of 1968 with 25 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1917 a Belgian relief ship and a French munitions vessel exploded in the harbor at Halifax, N.S., killing 1,630 persons.

In 1941 President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent a note to Tokyo saying he hoped Emperor Hirohito was giving "thought in this definite emergency of dispelling the dark (war) clouds." Japan attacked Pearl Harbor the next day.

In 1933 Americans crowded into liquor stores and cafes to buy their first legal alcoholic beverages in 13 years.

In 1943 Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower became commander-in-chief of Operation Overlord, for the invasion of Europe.

If you make a left turn from a right-hand lane, you are probably just careless and reckless, and not at all what the driver behind called you.

Further Vigorous Growth Seen in Photography End

By The Babson Staff

Since the end of World War II, one of the most consistent growth sectors of our nation's economy has been the photographic industry. In the aftermath of the vast explosion of consumer buying power and the increase in population, sales of photographic equipment have flourished strongly. This growth trend has been aided by new products developed by the industry.

In recent years, the increase in leisure and the strong rise in personal incomes have also promoted increased travel... powerfully stimulating the purchase of photographic equipment and supplies both at home and abroad. The rapid growth of air travel especially has attracted growing numbers to vacation spots and foreign tourist meccas.

In this decade of the 1960's, the photographic industry has grown at a rate which has far outstripped the average annual growth of the nation's gross national product. At the present time, shipments of photographic excess of $3 billion annually. Moreover, the prosperity enjoyed by the domestic photographic industry is being shared by the overseas market. Last year, the value of items supplied by foreign photographic equipment producers approximated $1.5 billion, or about half the business done by domestic producers.

Looking ahead, prospects favor continuation of the industry's rapid growth. Indeed, chances are good that in the years immediately ahead, sales of photographic equipment and supplies can achieve gains of from 10 percent to 15 percent annually.

Much of this will be solid increase, but part of the gain will undoubtedly be due to price rises.

One of the most potent forces in promoting growth for this industry is the swelling tide of teenagers. These command a sizable chunk of total buying power, and will certainly add zest to the basic growth force of climbing personal income.

Studies show that much of the rising affluence of teenagers will find its way into bigger sales of cameras, film, and all kinds of photographic gadgets.

Players Want to Double Baseball Pension

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A demand that major league baseball "just about double" its present contribution of $4.1 million to the players' pension fund is at the center of the dispute that threatens to disrupt the game.

In addition, the Major League Players Association is asking that players qualify to share in the pension benefits by only four full years active service in the majors instead of five years.

The players' actual demands in the dispute came to light as calmer statements by some of the key men in the situation provided the first hope that the dispute will be solved before a players' "strike" develops.

The players also are seeking other improvements in their overall benefit program, for example, regarding health insurance. But the pension demands are the key items.

Pension Problem

The present $4.1 million yearly contribution by the major leagues to the pension program represents an increase from the previous $2.6 million. The present benefit program expires in March, 1969, and 123 major league players including Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle, Carl Yastrzemski and other stars have signed a statement that they will not sign their 1969 contracts until a new benefit program is reached.

A few tempers boiled over when the "statement of 123" was released Wednesday, but today several people were busily pouring oil on the troubled waters.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, described as "absolute drive" a statement by General Manager Paul Richards of the Atlanta Braves that the clubs might let the disputing players go home and play the season with minor league players called-up.

Cooler Heads

"If Richards thinks that the networks are going to pay the same kind of money to watch minor leaguers play he is entitled to one more think," said Miller. "And fans won't pay the same prices to watch here the owners pushed up to today the joint major-league meeting previously scheduled for Saturday."

In fact, one owner said he thought the players were "not 100 per cent wrong in some of their demands."

And John J. Gaherin, counsel who has represented the owners in the dickering, said he will "continue to push for a speedy conclusion of negotiations."

In their drive to conclude here the owners pushed up to today the joint major-league meeting previously scheduled for Saturday.

Among the topics to be voted on at the joint session are: a proposal to establish a set fee for players who compete in the best three-of-five division playoffs in each league which next year, for the first time, will precede the World Series; and a proposal to reduce the player limit on each major league team from 25 to 32 players.

In separate meetings Thursday: The American League okayed the Chicago White Sox' request to play 11 of their home games in Milwaukee in 1969, unanimously approved Robert E. Short as the new owner of the Washington Senators, and re-elected owner Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox as a league vice president.

Trading was bogged down, possibly for the rest of these meetings.

Hayes Wins Coach of Year Honors by UPI

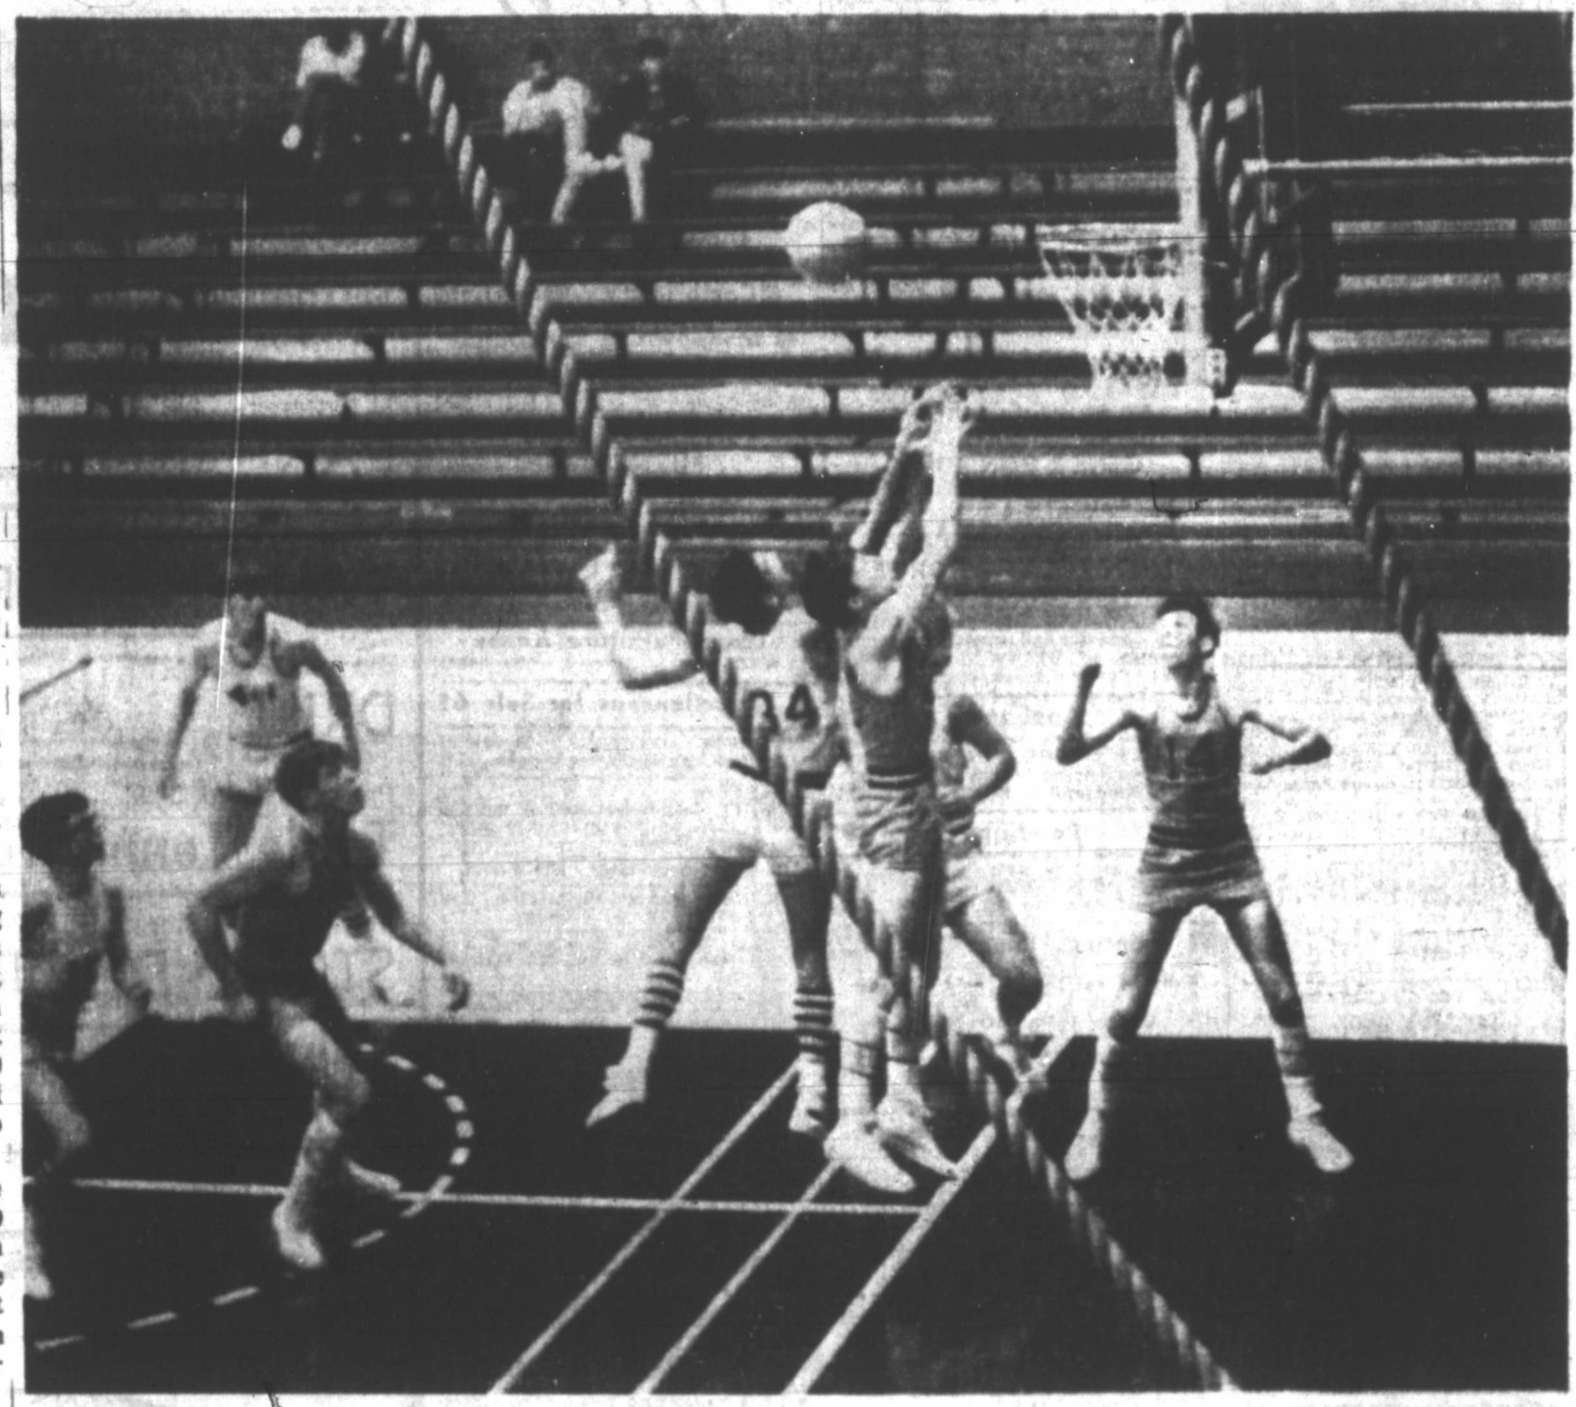

NEW YORK (UPI)—Woody Hayes, a battle-tested veteran who led Ohio State to the national championship with a platoon of inexperienced troops, today was named 1968 College Football Coach of the Year by United Press International.

Hayes, the gridiron general from Columbus who has known better times, was awarded the honor by sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the post-season balloting.

The Ohio State coach, who led the final UPI ratings, the Big Ten title and a spot in the Rose Bowl opposite Southern California, received 49 votes.

Runnerup in the balloting was Pepper Rodgers, the young Kansas coach whose Jayhawks won a share of the Big Eight Conference crown and a berth in the Orange Bowl against Penn State. Rodgers got 39 votes and edged coaching rival Joe Paterno of Penn State, who had 38 votes.

The Buckeyes wound up the regular campaign with a 9-0 record, their first unbeaten season since 1954 when the Hayes-coached Ohio State outfit was also 9-0 and wound up with a 20-7 Rose Bowl win over Southern California.

Regan Battles Wheatley Tonight

United Press International

When defending Class AAAA champion Austin Regan takes on San Antonio Wheatley in one of the top high school quarter-final playoff games this week-end, one of the interested bystanders will be Raymond Timmons.

Timmons, the coach at Austin Anterson, sent his team into combat against both Regan and Wheatley this season and lost both times by similar scores — 27-0 against Wheatley and 34-0 against Regan.

"I believe Regan will beat Wheatley," Timmons said this week. "For one thing Regan has good boys in every position. But if Wheatley can get their runners through into Regan's secondary they had better watch out."

Regan's attempt to keep its hopes alive for a second straight state title will be just one of the many interesting battles around Texas tonight and day.

Key Games Listed

Among the key games will be those involving Houston Washington and Galveston in Class AAAA, Piao and Henderson in Class AAA, Columbus and Lufkin Dunbar in Class AAA and Poth and Tidehaven in Class A.

But the Regan-Wheatley contest will be of particular interest because of the Austin's 27-game winning streak and the Raiders' bid to repeat their surprise championship of a year ago.

Timmons, for one, thinks Regan is just as strong now as it was when it upset Abilene Cooper for the 1967 title.

"I don't think they miss any of the boys who graduated," he said. "In fact, this team to me is stronger than the one last year. This one has confidence. They have more poise."

"When we played them we made mistakes and you can't afford to make mistakes against Regan. They will take advantage of them."

The Regan-Whatley game

Green Bay Pride at Stake

By United Press International

It would be a finish with a surprise twist that would do credit to Alfred Hitchcock.

Imagine the reaction of the Philadelphia fans if they wind up without O.J. Simpson and with Joe Kuharich.

That windup is a possibility this weekend as the battle for O.J. Simpson and the Philadelphia fans' fight to oust Kuharich escalates.

The Philadelphia fans Sunday are planning the first organized boycott of an NFL game—the Eagles' contest with the New Orleans Saints.

The Eagle fans are hoping the season ticket holders will tear up their tickets and stay home in a protest against the coaching of Kuharich, who has piloted the club to a 1-12 record.

The fans are hoping that if the club gets rid of Kuharich and obtains the rights to Simpson in the draft, the club will be ready for a rebound next season.

But it'd be the ultimate irony if the Eagles, after starting the field championships, 20 more really don't wind up with the worst record in pro football—and don't get the No. 1 pick.

Philadelphia's 12-0 win over Detroit on Thanksgiving Day made it a close "race" for the worst record. Buffalo, with a 1-11 mark, is now challenging.

If the Bills lose to Houston Saturday in the Astrodom, they'll wind up with a 1-12 record.

Then if Philadelphia would win one of its final two games—and the Eagles are two points favorites over New Orleans—the rights to O.J. would go to the Bills.

While the Eagles are in the fight for the basement, there's also a lively fight going on for the top spot.

In a key nationally televised match Saturday, the Baltimore Colts are at Green Bay.

Baltimore, a touchdown favorite over the Packers and rolling along with an 11-1 record, should win by more than that under normal circumstances. But this isn't normal circumstances for the Packers. They must win this game or their reign as three-time NFL champion will be over for all practical purposes.

It's the Packers' last stand—and it'll be interesting to see how the Packer veterans, hobbled by various injuries, will react to the challenge.

The game doesn't make much difference one way or the other to the Colts—except in the pride department. Even if the Colts lose this game, they can win the Coastal Division crown by beating Los Angeles next week.

Los Angeles hosts Chicago Sunday in its last tuneup for the battle with Baltimore next week.

Players, bothered Minnesota, by the flu, have a chance to end Green Bay's supremacy—regardless of the Packers' game with Baltimore—if the vikings beat San Francisco and Philadelphia in the final two games. If the Packers lose to Baltimore, Minnesota only has to win one of the games to end the Packer title hopes.

In other games, Pittsburgh's at Dallas and Detroit is at Atlanta.

Lakers Coach Benches Chamberlain

By United Press International

It's difficult to believe a pro team can give up on Wilt Chamberlain.

That's just what happened Thursday night when Los Angeles coach Butch Van Breda Kelf benched the National Basketball Association's all-time scorer in the fourth quarter as the Lakers bowed to the Baltimore Bullets 108-90.

Chamberlain only scored 17 points and was outscored by Wes Unseld 27-21 while he played his 35 minutes. Of late, Chamberlain has been known to pick up a number of early fouls which affects his play. His scoring is way off, too. The latest NBA statistics show him No. 20 in point-making, an almost unheard of distant position for Big Wilt.

Earl Monroe led the Bullets with 26 points and moved Baltimore into a virtual first place tie with Boston in the Eastern Division. Jack Marin was the defensive giant for the Colts, holding Elgin Baylor to 16 points. Jerry West couldn't do much better as he led the Lakers with 20 points.

Houston, Aggies Up Unbeaten Cage Marks

By United Press International

Theodis Lee and Ken Spain, with 50 points between them, led the undefeated University of Houston Cougars to an 85-64 trouncing of Arizona Thursday night.

Lee socked in 26 points and Spain backed him up with a solid 24 while the pressing Cougar defense flustered Arizona into 25 turnovers, 14 of them in the first half. Houston led at that point 46-30.

The Cougars are now 3-0 while Arizona is 1-1.

A&M and TCU Win

In Southwest Conference play Texas Tech lost to Colorado 81-77 but Texas A&M beat Centenary 72-65 and TCU whipped Southwest Louisiana 75-58.

The unbeaten Buffaloes overcame an 11-point Raider lead going into the second half to take the squeaker in Lubbock. Senior guard Mickey Kern hit two free throws in the last 19 seconds to protect the slim lead.

Cliff Meely led the Buffs and the game in points with 24 and sank two key goals near the end of the game. Jerry Haggard paced Tech with 16.

In Fort Worth TCU jumped to a 7-0 early lead and never stopped running away with it. Southwest Louisiana hung on through the first half but faded near the end. The Frongs led by as much as 22 points.

Rick Wittenbraker led TCU with 20 points. High scorer was Jerry Flake of Louisiana with 21.

TCU is unbeaten in two starts. Southwest Louisiana is 1-2.

The Aggies took the lead in the final three minutes and hung on to take the game over Centenary. Mike Heitman pulled off a neat three-point play at 2:45 after the Aggies had spent most of the first half chasing the 72.2 shooting percentage of Centenary.

A&M 2-0 for Season

Larry Ward led the 1-2 Centenary with 22 points. High scorer for A&M now 2-0 was Bill Cooksey with 17.

Howard Payne College and Hardin-Simmons fought through a 97-94 tight one with Howard Payne getting the edge in the final minutes to preserve a 4-0 record for the season.

Howard Payne, under the leadership of Fred Davis with 30 points, once held a 13-point lead. Hardin-Simmons is 0-3.

Abilene Christian romped over Tarleton State 105-73 behind the 29-point output of Marion Lewis who hit 13 of 16 from the field and grabbed 15 rebounds. Steve Dean led Tarleton with 24 points.

North Texas off Speed

North Texas slid quite a bit from its 109-point per game average but whipped Samford University of Alabama anyway 86-51 to remain 3-0 so far this season.

The Eagles shot only 43.9 percent from the floor against an average of 60 per cent going into the game. Samford is 1-2 for the season.

Morehead of Kentucky ran away with the game with Pan American 119-75 and handed the Broncos their second defeat on the road. Pan Am is also 0-2 for the season while Morehead sports a 2-0.

Harvesters, Sweetwater Go In Top O' Texas Tourney

Pampa and Sweetwater close out first round action today in the 14th annual Top O' Texas basketball tournament, starting at 2 p.m.

Both teams will play a second game today, the loser playing Woodward, Okla. at 7:30 p.m. and the winner meets Canyon at 9 p.m.

Canyon ousted Woodward, 82-59 in Thursday night's final game while Enid, Okla. showed a lot of class in downing Dumas, 72-59 in the opener and Elk City clipped Monahans, 67-52.

In other games today Dumas and Monahans played a 3:30 p.m. loser's bracket game and Enid and Elk City meet at 6 p.m.

In the opening round's top feature Elk City won its second game against no losses for the season.

The Elks pushed ahead, 38-33 at halftime and owned the same five-point bulge, 51-46 after three quarters.

But Monahans hit a bad dry spell in the final period and could manage only six points while the Elks pulled steadily away.

Ronnie Jantzen paced the Elks with 27 points and Ramon Poff added 17 and Mike Ford 10. For Monahans got double figure scoring from Robert Smity with 13, Tommy Kie with 12 and Eddie Foster with 11.

Enid led Dumas by 11 at halftime, 37-28, behind the shooting of Chuck Graves who poured in 34 points, high for the night.

Tim Wright added 12 for the winners and Mike Perks scored 10. Allen Carson paced Dumas with 18. Bob Thorpe had 12 and Danny Mote 11.

Canyon soed to a 38-28 halftime margin over once-beaten Woodward and pulled steadily away in the third and fourth quarter.

Jackie Thrasher with 21 led Canyon, Steve Butler hit 17 and Lon Conner added 16 more. For Woodward Billy Hays tallied 22 and Roger Jividen hit 14.

Most State Liquor Offenses Are Credited to Minors

AUSTIN (UPI) — More than 85 per cent of all convictions for liquor law violations in Texas during October involved minors, a spokesman for the Texas Liquor Control Board said Thursday.

Of the 1,567 total convictions for the month, 1,339 involved minors and 1,120 of these were cases in which minors were convicted of possessing or consuming alcoholic beverages in a public place.

To combat the growing problem of drinking among teenagers, the TLCB has undertaken an "educational" program to inform minors of the consequences of being convicted on a liquor violation, the spokesman said.

Also, letters are being sent to the agency to the parents of every minor arrested for a liquor violation, informing them of the arrest and telling the parents what the liquor laws are and what penalties may be invoked for conviction.

During October, 212 adults were convicted for making alcoholic beverages available to minors.

The TLCB spokesman said the cases in this category often involve as many as 13 or more minors, but only one adult is charged with an offense.

"But he might have made it available to 10 or 15 teen-agers," the spokesman said.

"A lot of parents think if they give a private party and invite teen-agers other than their own, they can give them all drinks. But they're violating the law if they give alcoholic beverages to any minors other than their own children or their underage spouse," he said.

By ROY MCGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

President-elect Richard M. Nixon says one of the prime domestic aims of his administration will be to encourage a program of "black capitalism" for rehabilitating the nation's inner-city communities.

He could do worse than continue—and maybe expand—a just-blooming effort under way since last August, known as "Project Own."

The endeavor is designed to supply money and management know-how to ghetto residents for entry into the free enterprise system.

Developer and chief evangelist for Project Own is a 49-year-old industrialist transplanted in government service late in the Johnson administration.

He's H. J. Samuels, head of the Mediterranean.

When President Johnson announced Samuels' appointment as SEA administrator, he said: "I am presenting him with the challenge to take the lead in the development of minority entrepreneur programs through the available resources of the federal government and the cooperation of American business."

Samuels accepted the challenge enthusiastically. He immediately set this goal: A rate of 10,000 new minority businesses a year by June 30, 1969 (a rate that was met by Dec. 1, 1968), and 20,000 a year by June 30, 1970.

At the time he set the goals, he said: "A program of this magnitude will be a giant step toward closing the gap between black and white in the ownership and management of American business . . . a program to answer the appeal from the ghettos for a stake American capitalism can wait no longer."

Since Samuels uttered those words Aug. 13, the loan rate to minority group members wanting to go into business has risen to $100 million. "And we've done it with half as much federal money," says Samuels.
