CCC JANUARY ENLISTMENT CALLED OFF

Hopes of a score of Gray county youths, who have made frequent inquiries concerning the January enlistment in the Civilian Conservation Corps, were blighted this morning when a letter was received from the district TRC office at Amarillo, stating that there would be no January enlistment.

The letter, sent from Mrs. Cornelia Patton, district TRC administrator, to Mrs. Willie Bain, Gray county case worker, said that the War department had cancelled the enlistment in the corps next month for Texas, due to the large October enlistment.

No other states were mentioned as concerning the cancellation.

Gray county had a quota of 38 in the October CCC enlistment.

A score of youths have been making frequent inquiry at the local relief office about admission into the corps. Preliminary plans had been made to have applications taken next week, and the boys to leave for either Amarillo or Memphis, examination centers, on January 18.

FRAZEE IN RACE FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

W. R. Frazee today announced his candidacy for office of District Attorney 31st Judicial District of Texas, now including the counties of Gray, Wheeler, Roberts and Lipscomb.

In connection with his announcement, Mr. Frazee says, "With the exception of four years in practice of law with Mr. Otis Truelove in Amarillo, I have for the past eighteen years been actively and continuously connected with the work of the district courts in Gray county and other counties of this and adjoining districts, in the capacity of official court reporter and as a practicing attorney, having been licensed to practice law, since 1926, in all state courts, and Federal District courts, with headquarters principally at Canadian (formerly a part of the 31st District), and at Pampa, at which latter place he has resided with his family for the past five years.

"My experience and qualifications are known to a great many of the citizens of this county, and this district, and I feel that such experience and qualifications are such as should be demanded of a candidate for an office as important as that of District Attorney."

Mr. Frazee states he expects to begin his active campaign as soon after the first of the year as practicable.

FOURTEEN SENTENCED IN NEW SOVIET PURGE

MOSCOW, Dec. 23. (AP)—Fourteen death sentences for alleged "anti-Soviet wrecking" in the lumber industry and grain storage were reported today.

Nine of the latest victims in the Soviet "purge" of its internal economy were sentenced in Archangel. They were charged with responsibility for poor living conditions of lumberjacks, causing them to leave camps, as well as wasteful cutting of timber in laying out roads through swamps.

The other five were sentenced in Georgia after purportedly pleading guilty to charges of storing new grain with old, wormy grain.

NAVIES FOR ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC ARGUED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—An assertion that the United States should have two navies—one each for the Atlantic and Pacific oceans—came today from Rep. Maas (R., Minn.), senior minority member of the house naval committee.

Maas, terming the Panama canal indefensible, declared the American battle fleet in the Pacific would be "totally inadequate" in the event of hostilities because, he said, European as well as Far Eastern powers would be involved.

'Head Tick' Hester Told To Help Self

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Charles Hester, whose head started ticking when a shell burst beside him during the World war, learned today the cure of this strange ailment virtually was a matter of practice.

The Shawnee, Okla., "head tick" has been at Hines hospital for three weeks. During that time several specialists in oral and cranial disorders have studied his peculiar affliction.

The sound of the ticking, audible a few inches from Hester's ear, travels through the eustachian tube to the middle ear and is caused by the palatal muscles, said a specialist.

"The movement is caused by an action that should not be termed voluntary, because we do not know that he wants to do it," explained the physician. "But he can control it. He is capable of starting and stopping the ticking at will."

"It is a hysterical sort of thing, and through psychological treatment at the hands of his own physician it may be possible for him to overcome the trouble."

The specialist said the ticking in Hester's head occurs when his conscious mind is off guard a moment, and that unlike a person with a muscular tick he can control it.

Hester's head ticking was stopped temporarily by passing a tube through the nose to the throat, which held the palate so he couldn't make it click.

The 43-year-old war veteran was urged by physicians to hope that psychological treatments will end the ticking and try not to worry about the eccentric ailment.

GIRL GOES AFTER RED RIBBON, NEVER RETURNS

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Nine year old Janice Peterson spent several hours nursing her sick teddy bear. It had soft spots all over and left a trail of sawdust, so he filled the depressed places with paper and sewed up some of the small openings.

But what teddy really needed was a bit of red ribbon to make him well for Christmas.

Janice took a nickel from her savings yesterday and ran to a nearby store. When three hours passed and she had not returned, her father went to police headquarters.

There he learned that Janice had run from behind a street car into the path of a truck. The truck driver said she was killed instantly.

Japan formed a new autonomous government at captured Nanking today, presumably to replace Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's nationalist government.

It was only ten days ago that a similar autonomous government, headed by Chinese, was set up by Japan at Peiping, center of the vast North China region taken by the Japanese army in its latest invasion of China.

Chiang Kai-Shek moved his government far inland, out of reach of Japanese arms, several weeks ago when he decided Nanking was indefensible.

Japs Warn Foreigners.
The Japanese army appeared today to be nowhere near the end of its conquest, as it was spreading its reaches over an ever-widening front which threatened to encompass every important coastal city and inestimable territory inland.

Foreigners were warned to evacuate Hangchow, Chekiang province capital and seaport, to escape being endangered by an imminent siege of Japanese forces. The Japanese warning also included Shaoshing, near the Gulf of Hangchow 35 miles southwest of the provincial capital.

Three hundred Americans and other foreigners fled from the threat of another Japanese attack at Hangchow. Yangtze river valley city. The foreigners boarded a special evacuation train bound for Hongkong.

Need of immediate funds to continue the Boy Scout movement in Pampa was further emphasized by Postmaster C. H. Walker, president of the Adobe Walls council, today as he revealed the startling information that Pampa had raised only $2300 of a $3,500 quota for 1937.

"Many would give if they were called upon but we don't have time to make personal solicitation," President Walker said. "Therefore I urge those persons to take their contribution to the executive in the city hall or to me."

Mr. Walker said today that salaries have not been paid, supplies received from the national office had not been paid for and that a note at the bank would be due next week.

"Unless we raise about $1,200 within a week I am afraid the Boy Scout movement in Pampa is doomed," Mr. Walker solemnly announced.

Former subscribers to its quota for 1937 and unless Pampa "comes through" there is a chance that the council office, now located here, will have to be moved to Borger.

Mr. Walker said.

Other communities have come in with subscriptions and Scouting is on the upward path but it takes money to support the movement.

RUSSIANS TO REMAIN ON FLOE UNTIL MAY

MOSCOW, Dec. 23. (AP)—Prof. Otto Schmidt, scientist in charge of Soviet polar explorations, estimated today that the four Russians camped on a drifting ice floe in the arctic would remain there until April, perhaps as late as May, before being taken off.

"We are ready if an emergency should make urgent help necessary," Schmidt added, pointing out that four planes are stationed at Rudolf's Island, pole base in the search for the missing transpolar flight. The killing occurred Dec. 14, when Hutson, Chapman, and G. L. Warren, Borger deputy sheriff, were returning to Borger from Wheeler, where they had been called as witnesses in a court trial.

All three of the men had been drinking on their return trip from Wheeler. According to Warren's

MAN ATTACKED BY 4 BULLDOGS

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Victim of a vicious attack by four bulldogs, two of which he killed with a pocketknife, L. G. Brown, 71, barely clung to life in a hospital here today.

Walking on the highway toward this city from the home of his son, Clarence Lee Brown, in the Deardale community east of the Wichita county line, Brown was rushed by the animals. Flesh was shredded from his legs. His body, arms and face were lacerated.

A farmer living at the scene of the attack rushed to Brown's aid and brought him to the hospital.

The aged man, who came from Louisiana 50 years ago and settled in Lamar county, came here about 20 years ago. He had just sold his household belongings and was preparing to leave for Phoenix, Ariz., where his wife has lived for the past month with a son, Raymond F. Brown.

Officers were enlisted to find a daughter, Mrs. Cumi Marcum, en route to Phoenix in a heavily loaded coupe. Three other daughters live in this vicinity.

CHARGES FILED IN DRUG CASES

Charges of possession and concealment of narcotics were filed in the office of the United States commissioner in Amarillo Wednesday evening against Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Kenreck and D. J. Souter, who had been arrested in Pampa Tuesday night by a group of officers led by Sheriff Earl Talley, in a raid at a downtown hotel.

Each of the men was set at $1,500 each, of the woman at $1,000. A man, a fourth person alleged to be connected with the case, is being held as a suspect in the county jail here. The man was arrested at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

The three arrested Tuesday night formerly lived in Tulsa, Okla. They had been in Pampa about six weeks.

Eni Lampe, deputy U. S. marshal, was the officer who came to Pampa yesterday afternoon, and took the trio to Amarillo.

Souter said he had served a year in the Oklahoma penitentiary for larceny, and Kenreck said he had served seven and one-half years in the same place on a charge of bank robbery, according to Lampe.

The narcotic charges await the action of the next federal grand jury in Amarillo.

LOCAL GROUP JOINS DRIVE FOR WPA CASH

Although their hopes for a Gray county government - financed lake project had been dimmed somewhat earlier this week, Gray county delegates to the first annual meeting of the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority at Canyon yesterday, returned last night firmly convinced that every effort will be exerted to get an equitable distribution of lakes and ponds throughout the Panhandle.

The Pampa delegates even went so far as to express the opinion that Gray county's chances of early action on its local lake project are splendid.

These assurances came from governmental officials in attendance at yesterday's meeting in Canyon. In the local delegation, which went to the annual PWCA meet were Postmaster C. H. Walker, County Judge Sherman White, Garnet Reeves, manager of the Board of City Development; City Manager C. L. Stine, and Tex De Wesse, editor of The News.

Darkening of the hopes of Gray and other counties, seeking lake projects, were blackened last Tuesday when it was announced from Amarillo by Carl Hinton, secretary of the PWCA that WPA had broken its pledge to the group about allocating $10,000,000 of WPA funds for lakes and ponds in the so-called five - state dust bowl area.

Two resolutions were passed by the delegates at yesterday's meeting, presided over by John McGarry, president of the organization. One urged WPA to speed fulfillment of the $10,000,000 pledge, and the other was aimed to support Congressman Marvin Jones' policy of working for the lakes projects, and of urging an appropriation under the basic law contained in Mr. Jones' soil conservation bill.

Delegates at yesterday's meeting were pretty well convinced that strings tied to WPA funds may cause a monkey-wrench to be thrown into the lake projects program unless different arrangements are made for financing the various projects.

WPA Rules Rigid
A. A. Meredith, district WPA supervisor at Amarillo, told delegates that the federal agency is not in a rigid rule and must be taken into consideration. Any money allocated for WPA must be spent before the end of the WPA fiscal year on June 30.

If a project, for example, should be started in February and is not completed before June 30, WPA financial support would be immediately withdrawn and would be up to the local sponsor of the project to finish the job at its own expense. All allotments of funds not spent by WPA by the June 30 deadline, automatically go back into the government's general fund, according to Mr. Meredith.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART.

Do something about your minor beauty problems and you probably never will have major ones. The girl who refuses to admit the presence of the single extra pound or the tiny blemish which mars her beauty is the one most likely eventually to find herself pounds and pounds overweight or with a complexion generally unattractive.

The day you notice that your hair doesn't glisten when the sun shines on it or that there are a few tiny flecks on your shoulders, start right away to brush each and every night. If you have been doing that all along, then you probably need a few extra special scalp treatments, more thorough shampoos. Or maybe your diet doesn't include nearly enough hair health foods.

Foods which contain quantities of iodine and sulphur make the hair more luxuriant. Oysters, clams, cod liver oil, pineapple, artichokes, strawberries, asparagus, cucumbers, cabbage, radishes, onions, carrots and apples are among the best hair health foods.

"Graying hair that comes with age appears because, as we grow older, the arteries get tougher and slow up the blood supply," says Benjamin Gayelord Hauser. "Less blood means less nourishment. So when the blood vessels of the scalp grow smaller, one of the first things that happens is that the hair begins to lose its color. It grows gray and becomes thin, because it is starving. And finally it falls out. Like all advancements of age, the coming of gray hairs can be held back with attention to food, especially those rich in iodine, silicon and sulphur. And, according to Mr. Hauser, the foods richest in silicon are: whole barley, steel-cut oats, wild rice, beech nuts. Also strawberries, horseradish, cucumbers, asparagus, whole wheat. And figs, cabbage, lettuce, spinach.

Never wash berries until it is time to use them. This added moisture is likely to cause a mold to form even when the berries are stored in the refrigerator. Berries should be loosely sprinkled over a strainer or colander and stored in a very cold place to prevent mold. For extra protection, add one-third cup sugar to each quart of berries and boil 5 minutes. This sauce will keep a long time.

VIOLENCE IN TEXAS TAKES TWELVE LIVES

(By The Associated Press)

Pre-Christmas violence, including traffic accidents, had claimed 12 lives in Texas today (Thursday). Eight deaths were due to automobile accidents, some of them caused by rainy weather. Gunshot wounds brought three deaths. Box cars took the other victim.

Funeral arrangements were made today for F. N. Sockwell, mayor of Greenville, who died in a Belton hospital yesterday of injuries received in an automobile accident Monday.

J. W. Jones, 63, of Amarillo, was killed yesterday when his automobile overturned near Memphis, Tex.

John L. Logan, about 50, of Houston, was killed near Cleburne when his car went over an embankment.

W. H. Boswell of Putnam died in a Cisco hospital of injuries received Tuesday night when he stopped to repair the lights. Another machine struck his automobile, driving his automobile over him.

John Sweeney, 62, of Olney, died of pneumonia which followed injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by an automobile.

Fort Worth counted two traffic victims last night. Charles A. Guttendorf, 59, painter, of Eagle Mountain Lake, was killed when he was struck by an automobile as he was repairing a flat tire on his machine. Ed Roan, 31, Fort Worth negro, was killed by a bus at a suburban intersection.

At Galveston, Robert F. Lee, 18, negro, was crushed to death between two freight cars.

Roy Grimland, 36, will be buried at Sanora today, the victim of a crash near Kerrville yesterday when his automobile overturned.

Julian Gonzales, San Antonio bartender, was wounded fatally with a .25-caliber automatic pistol in his hotel room. His wife, Orville Gonzales, who told officers they scuffled over the gun, was under $1,000 bond on a charge of murder.

A woman was questioned at Jasper in connection with the fatal shooting of Gordon Dickerson, 27. He died yesterday of a pistol-bullet wound received at the home of a relative Tuesday.

At Houston officers were investigating the death of A. F. Teachout, 45, Galena Park refinery worker, who died of a .45-caliber pistol bullet wound in his temple. Relatives told authorities the weapon was found nearby.

60 MEN EMPLOYED ON BORGER ROAD PROJECT

By Christmas day, a mile strip of the Pampa-Borger road at Spring creek location, four miles west of Skellytown, will have grading completed.

A total of 35,000 cubic yards of earth had been moved at that location up to today.

Employed on the project are three-score men, including a dozen men employed in the construction of the Spring creek bridge. Workmen yesterday poured the first of the concrete piers for the bridge. The piers measure 15-inches square at the top, and are 40 feet in length.

Grading is being done by All-hands and Davis, while the bridges are being built by the Austin Bridge company.

MINNESOTANS HONOR MOST EMINENT CITIZEN

ST. PAUL, Dec. 23 (AP)—Minnesotans from all walks of life bade farewell at funeral services today to the state's most eminent citizen, Frank Billings Kellogg.

Simple Episcopal services in the Church of St. John the Evangelist preceded removal of the body of the former diplomat, World Court jurist, and Secretary of State to the Capitol where Minnesota national guardsmen and naval reserves were ordered on guard until 9 p. m.

William Dawson, American Minister to Uruguay and a native of St. Paul, was the representative of Secretary Cordell Hull at the funeral services.

Burial will be in the sepulcher of the national cathedral in Washington. Mrs. Kellogg will accompany the body to Washington, leaving Saturday night.

Driver Was 'Slightly Hurt'

"I'm all right, but get me out!" was the plaintive plea that greeted astonished rescuers and trainmen as they rushed to extricate the body of the "dead" motorist from the wreckage of the automobile pictured above. E. R. Beckendorf, of Houston, Tex., who tried unsuccessfully near there to avoid the collision with the interurban train by turning his car to the left, escaped with a cut over his eye.

HEALY DEATH NOT DUE TO ANY FIGHT BLOWS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23 (AP)—Official inquiry into the death last Tuesday of Ted Healy, film comedian, was ended today, with a report of the county autopsy surgeon listing the cause as acute toxic nephritis, induced by acute and chronic alcoholism.

Police officials said they learned that Healy struck at Albert Broccoli, 29-year-old son of a wealthy Long Island family, at the Trocadero cafe in Hollywood Sunday night. Broccoli said he pushed and did not strike back at the comedian.

Since the autopsy surgeon's report concluded Healy's death was not caused by any blows he might have suffered in an altercation, police announced there would be no further inquiry.

Funeral services for Healy were to be held at 10 a. m. today from St. Augustin's church, Culver City, Father John O'Donnell officiating.

JAMES ROOSEVELT HAS 30TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—James Roosevelt—who missed being a Christmas present to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt by two days—was 30 years old today.

His parents are giving him a birthday dinner tonight, with a cake topped by 21 candles—a family custom.

The tall, slim son of the President and the First Lady, has gone a long way since his last birthday—from an ex-Boston insurance salesman to a post as a presidential secretary.

Twice a week he listens now to the problems of 18 of the government's important officials. Thus he helps coordinate for his father the work of independent federal agencies.

HAPPY DAY.

KITTANNING, Pa.—Christmas will be a day of rejoicing for the Tobias Meyers family—140 members.

It will be the seventy-first wedding anniversary of Meyers, 94-year-old Civil war veteran, and his wife, Alvilda, 90.

Celebrating with them will be nine children, 43 grandchildren, 85 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

FLYING 'SANTA CLAUS' KILLED

BOSTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Army planes and police boats searched Boston harbor today for the body of U. S. Army Corporal Harold J. Kraner, 35, of Winthrop, whose parachute descent as a flying Santa Claus turned to tragedy last night over Boston's Oceanside airport when a freshening wind blew him into the water.

Veteran of more than 100 successful jumps within eight years, Kraner plunged to his death while his young wife and their eighteen-month-old son looked on in the midst of a group of army wives and children to whose Christmas party he was making his annual contribution.

Investigations were launched by the federal bureau of air commerce, airport officials, the army and Boston police.

Kraner bailed out over the airport administration building at 1,500 feet, from a plane piloted by Captain Richard E. Cobb. Carried seaward by the wind, Kraner side-slipped his chute desperately, but only a few spectators realized he was in danger.

The Christmas party's gaiety changed to horror when Cobb suddenly released flares, first indication the jumper had landed not at the airport's edge beyond its floodlights, but in the water.

Two enlisted men of the airport detachment, Richard Miller and Earl Jordan, commandeered a skiff at the water's edge, but in their feverish haste the craft capsized and they were almost drowned before a coast guard crew pulled them from the water.

GREAT WRITER URGES PENSIONS FOR POETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Pensions for poets were urged today by Edgar Lee Masters, who accused the United States of treating its "great literary minds and artists like bootblacks."

The 66-year-old author of "Spoon River Anthology," a landmark in American poetry, said poets in this country "hardly made postage."

He said he had asked Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin to aid in establishing governmental pensions, similar to the Order of Merit in England, for American writers and artists.

QUAKE SHAKES MEXICO CITY

By JOHN P. MCKNIGHT.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23 (AP)—A strong earthquake varying in duration from nine seconds to two minutes, shook Mexico City and a wide-spread area southeast and southwest of the capital today.

At least two persons were killed here and a number of outlying adobe homes were crushed.

The quake broke the springs of both seismographs in the National Observatory, but its director determined that the tremor must have been exceedingly heavy at its central and strongest points.

This center was not definitely determined. Communications with the interior were disrupted. It is thought heavy damage may have resulted in some of the unreported areas of the southeast and southwest.

First reports from Cordoba, Veracruz, Michoacan, and Puebla indicated that damage, if any, was slight there.

One report was that Toluca was damaged, Puebla and Cuernavaca were among the cities from which no reports could be obtained.

One aged woman was fatally injured here when the roof of her adobe home collapsed, and a man was electrocuted by a broken high tension wire.

A number of adobe huts at the edge of the city collapsed. The people were calm, however, an occasional Indian praying in the middle of the street being the only sign of alarm.

A few rock walls also tumbled under the tremor which began at 7:18 a. m. (6:18 a. m. EST) and lasted one minute. There was no damage to the business section.

cent Japanese military activities still remained grave. Great Britain and the United States awaited formal answers to notes protesting Japanese attacks on their ships.

Great Britain was taking measures to insure quick movement of elements of her Mediterranean fleet to China waters in an emergency.

In Spain, the Spanish government was jubilant over its capture of Teruel, insurgent strong point at the southern tip of the Aragon front. The government gleefully proclaimed this victory the first move toward "reconquest of Spain."

Rebels Grim.
The insurgents, however, were battling grimly to regain lost ground around Teruel. Advances reaching Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish frontier, said a column of insurgent troops, supported by artillery, broke through government siege lines at Teruel in a counter offensive.

The report said the Teruel garrison, aided by some of the civilian population, still was resisting government efforts to completely dominate the beleaguered city. Insurgent troops barricaded in a seminary overlooking Teruel were making a strong stand, harassing government forces with machine gun fire and defying capture.

A government communique told of "steady advances," aided by the government's new tank corps, as troops fought for "full possession" of Teruel.

Japs Admit Firing.
In Tokyo, the Japanese army today admitted for the first time the machine-gunning of Americans in the Yangtze river Panay incident, but did not mention firing on the United States gunboat itself.

Lieut. Col. Yoshiaki Nishi, former assistant Japanese military attaché in Washington, described at length the incident in which the Panay and three other American vessels were attacked. He had just returned from an investigation held at Pukow, across the Yangtze from Nanking.

Heavily emphasizing Japanese troops' humanitarian actions when they were said to have discovered the Panay and launches evacuating its crew carried Americans, Nishi declared the entire incident resulted from efforts to cut off Chinese troops fleeing Nanking.

He stated positively that the Japanese troops had failed to see identification or flags of any kind.

testimony, Warren was driving. He said he was ordered to stop the car by Chapman and get out, Chapman declaring "I'm going to kill you both," according to Warren. Hutson was shot as he alighted from the car.

Scene of the killing was on a dirt road in Carson county between White Deer and Borger.

GAS PRICE HIKED

"I'll show them a woman can be a good judge," says comely, 39-year-old Jessie Sumner, above, as she prepares to take office at Milford, Ill., as Illinois' first woman judge. Miss Sumner, a Republican and a practicing attorney for 14 years, conducted a vigorous campaign and won a 2-to-1 victory over her Democratic opponent.

Hill's Swinging Coaches Get Trial Run of Six Miles

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23 (AP)—Courtland T. Hill, grandson of railroad's "empire builder," saw his dream of a faster, more economical streamlined train coming true today.

Two pendulum coaches James J. Hill's grandson built especially for lightness and freedom from side-sway made a successful six-mile trial run here yesterday before 100 railroad executives and engineers.

Young Hill borrowed his ideas from airplane and stage coach construction. The outer shell of the car body serves as a supporting structure; the body hangs by soft coils from towering trucks.

Hill claims added comfort and 60 to 80 per cent greater economy, through increased speed on less expensive roadbeds, for his coaches.

Maine is the only state in the union in which state elections are not held in November.

Enough to Make Santa Late

What a break Santa Claus gets in Miami Beach, Fla. It's enough to make him forget how hot his costume is in the tropical sunshine when lovely Elaine Caraway, left, and Virginia Crawford perch on his knees. And if you suspect that's a press agent behind those whiskers, you're an old meany who doesn't believe in Santa Claus.

HAZELTON FUNERAL TO BE HELD HERE TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. George P. Hazelton, 25, were conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon in McCullough Memorial with the Rev. Hubert H. Bratcher, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Mrs. Hazelton, resident of LeFors, died in a local hospital yesterday morning following an illness of two weeks. She formerly resided at Skellytown.

Survivors are her husband, her parents, six brothers and two sisters.

Snow Scarcity at Nome May Put Old Santa on Wheels

NOME, ALASKA, Dec. 23 (AP)—Santa Claus might as well turn in his sleigh for a late model sedan for his visit to Nome this Christmas.

Embarrassed sourdoughs blush to explain that there just isn't enough snow around these usually frigid shores to support a pair of snow shoes, let alone a toy-laden sled.

But Nome's St. Nicholas welcoming committee planned to usher Santa down Nome's main street in the traditional ceremony even if his sleigh has to be jacked up on wheels. Reindeer—bona fide ones—will draw it.

Though only a measly inch of snow covers the ground instead of the usual huge drifts, it will be a notable Christmas for Nome's 500 children, white and Eskimo.

The children thrilled today at the sight of imported Christmas trees, many of them seeing a tree for the first time.

A few hours before his arrival in Nome, Santa will drive into Barrow, Alaska's northernmost settlement, in a sled pulled by a team of dogs.

HOUSE GROUP PLANS FOR BUDGET CAUCUS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Representative Dies (D-Tex.) told President Roosevelt in a letter today that a House group would call a caucus, or conference, to "agree upon a definite program to balance the budget," immediately after Congress reassembles.

Dies said an attempt would be made to place organized House support behind the executive's budget balancing program. He predicted there are "at least 100 democrats who will join in this movement," but warned that some opposition could be expected from most of the liberals in the House.

The meeting, Dies wrote, would undertake to name a committee to draw up a "definite and concrete program leading to an early balancing of the budget."

He added that he had noted with "profound pleasure" a letter in which the President told Representative Cartwright (D-Okla.) that Congress alone must take the responsibility if it appropriates beyond budget estimates.

MRS. ROOSEVELT WILL VISIT DAUGHTER XMAS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was enroute to Seattle by airplane today for a surprise Christmas visit with her daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, and family.

This was announced last night by White House aides who said Mrs. Roosevelt's trip west was decided upon last night by the President and the first lady.

Most of the Roosevelt family was scheduled to come to Washington for a White House Christmas, but Mrs. Boettiger was unable to travel here because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt decided, therefore, that they would "divide" themselves between the two family groups.

lake program, Gray county PWCA officials also plan to confer with Congressman Marvin Jones during the Christmas holidays, when he returns to his home in Amarillo from Washington. At that time they plan to explain to Mr. Jones just how far plans for the Gray county lake have proceeded.

They will urge, too, that Mr. Jones take steps to rain an appropriation under his basic law contained in his soil conservation bill.

Delegates to yesterday's meeting which was held in the county courtroom at Canyon were guests of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce at a noonday luncheon and then took a trip to the Terra Blanca lake site in the afternoon where they saw the first shovelful of dirt turned on the first project to be launched under the Panhandle program.

Hempill county's project is next in line, and Gray county officials expressed the hope last night that Gray county's project will be next on the program, inasmuch as the Gray county dam is to be one of the largest of the major dam-building projects, and because of the fact that the application has been in and that the government engineers already have made a survey of the proposed site at Beaver Dam on McClellan Creek.

The morning session yesterday was taken up for the most part with a question and answer forum in which Mr. Hinton answered questions about the PWCA and its procedure from various delegates.

As a result of the "cards on the table" policy several stupifying blocks and uncertainties were cleared up at the session.

YULE SEALS STIR HEARTS

The following story is by the executive secretary of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, with which the Gray County Tuberculosis association, of which W. B. Weathered, is president, is affiliated.

Christmas seals sold by the Gray County Tuberculosis association aid in the campaign of the national, state, and local organizations, wage against the White Plague.

GIFTS AND GIVERS.

By Pansy Nichols.

Today, as I opened mail containing contributions in the annual sale of Christmas Seals, I was reminded of "The Vision of Sir Launfal."

"Not what we give, but what we share."

For the gift without the giver is bare.

"Here, indeed, is sharing," I thought, as I read a pencilled note from the proprietor of a little tin shop in a West Texas town. "I am enclosing a dollar bill," he said, "and returning one sheet of seals. Wish I could pay for both but I am not able. Am too old to do much work—eighty-four—and my work is my only income."

A business man wrote: "I haven't two dollars to spare, but I am cutting to the bone to spare it anyway."

Another letter read: "Please find check enclosed. While money matters are still tight, there are always a few dollars to spare for good things like that."

Sharing, too, are those who can afford to make larger gifts, as one man who wrote: "You sent me two hundred seals which are all I can use, but I am enclosing my check for ten dollars to aid in your work."

A Catholic priest thought the seals especially pretty and appealing, and with his gift, he sent his compliments to the artist who designed this year's Christmas Seal.

"In memory of my mother," wrote a recently bereaved daughter, enclosing her contribution to aid in the fight against tuberculosis.

A business firm, making a substantial contribution, said: "If there was ever an institution doing the country a worthwhile service, it is your outfit. We wish we could help you a great deal more."

The next letter speaks for itself: "It is with sore regret that I am forced to return all the seals this year, but owing to the fact that I am one of the unfortunate ones suffering from tuberculosis, and have recently had to give up my job, I cannot afford to buy them. Keep up your good work."

No less beautiful than the gifts which they share with those less fortunate than themselves, is the spirit of the givers—the spirit of service, and unselfishness which is helping to conquer tuberculosis in our state and nation.

FOR READY FOR ROUGH BATTLE NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (P)—Evidence accumulated today that President Roosevelt, forewarned by his experience at the special session of congress, was preparing for a rough and tumble battle with administration foes in the forthcoming election-year session.

Developments since the house sidetracked the administration's wage-hour bill have convinced many observers the chief executive will abandon the "hands-off" attitude he assumed during the recent session and will take aggressive leadership of the legislative program.

One bit of evidence they cited was Mr. Roosevelt's letter yesterday to Chairman Cartwright (D., Okla.) of the house roads committee, reiterating his demand for curtailment of federal appropriations.

Another was an appeal by Secretary Wallace for farmer support of wage-hour legislation in return for labor support of the farm bill. The labor measure, he said, was needed to promote a "more constructive balance" between labor and agriculture.

But most convincing to some political observers was word that emanated from a secret White House conference with liberal senators Monday night that the chief executive was going to fight for his legislative recommendations, rather than compromise.

YOUTHS TO GET JOBS AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 23. (P)—J. C. Kellam, state director for the National Youth Administration, said today preliminary reports for December indicated a large number of Texas youths would receive a private job for their Christmas gift.

Through a joint program of the Texas State Unemployment Service and the NYA, 900 youths between the ages of 18 and 20 were given private employment during November, Kellam said. Indications were December would be no exception, as he explained this represented approximately the usual job replacement.

SHORTEST WILL GIVES 'MY WIFE MY MONEY'

AURORA, Ill., Dec. 23. (P)—One of the shortest ever filed in Kane county courts disposed of the $2,500 estate of the late Joseph Horvath, of Aurora.

The document, scribbled on the back of a sales slip, read: "Give my wife my money."

Mail Rush Swamps Postoffice Workers

Confronted by an avalanche of Christmas packages, these clerks in Chicago's main post office work steadily on, doing their part in distributing millions of parcels during the holiday rush. As fast as the packages are handled—or perhaps a bit faster—bundles slide down this ramp from a chute above.

554 PAROLED BY ALABAMA'S BIBB GRAVES

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. (P)—Santa Claus had a tough time this year cracking penitentiaries with Christmas pardons and paroles for the boys—and girls, too—who were good.

The federal bureau of prisons and the federal parole board, as its custom, granted no Christmas favors.

Result: participation in the annual holiday trek from jails numbered only hundreds instead of the several thousands in some past years.

Alabama prison gates swung open Dec. 16 for the first of 544 prisoners, including 50 women, who received a two weeks' parole from Gov. Bibb Graves as a Christmas present upon their promise to return. The custom was started ten years ago by Graves as an incentive to good behavior. The convicts were free to return to their homes, even beyond state borders.

Arkansas gave 10 to 30-day probationary releases to some 60 convicts for Christmas. In Florida 105 prisoners received paroles and conditional pardons.

But in New Jersey the Christmas vacation list was the smallest in years, following criticism of recent parole of a slayer. Only 14 of 470 petitioners received paroles and only six were good for a Christmas holiday. In Massachusetts only three were given, all under parole conditions.

In Oklahoma 72 first and second terms with good records were recommended to Gov. E. W. Marshall for Christmas commutation of sentences. Gov. Homer A. Holt of West Virginia granted 29 paroles.

Gov. Martin L. Davel of Ohio granted 30-day reprieves to two condemned killers, William Gardner and "Teddy" Hines, both of whom were scheduled to have been electrocuted Dec. 18. The Governor said he did not wish to have the sentences executed before the holidays.

Governors who refused to let the Yule season temper justice, and their stands, included:

Henry H. Blood of Utah: "We never recognized Christmas as a season in which to grant special privileges."

Peiler Ammons of Colorado: "If a man serving time in one of our penal institutions deserves to be freed, he should be freed, whether it's Christmas or the Fourth of July."

HOLLYWOOD APPLAUDS SNOW WHITE, 7 DWARFS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 23 (AP)—A crowd of blase Hollywoodites accustomed to the realism of conventional motion pictures, applauded and cheered a fairy tale fantasy last night that presented, for the first time, an animated cartoon in feature length.

They saw the world premiere of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the eight-reel cartoon on which Walt Disney spent three years and $1,500,000.

The simple story is adapted from the Grimm classic about the princess who is fairer than her stepmother, the queen. The princess escapes the wrath of the envious queen, and is befriended by seven dwarfs, as strange a collection of characters as ever were created.

than pay taxes to be spent on armaments. Ade refused to pay income taxes amounting to about $5 ($25) which was the proportion of his total assessment; he estimated would be spent on war materials. He paid the balance of his taxes, but refused to heed a court order to pay the remainder.

Magistrates sentenced him to 21 days imprisonment and then reduced the sentence to seven days.

San Francisco's birth rate in 1937 was the highest in nine years.

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Christmas Candy Can be Made and Rolled at Home

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

AP Feature Service Writer

Cherished recipes for holiday cookies and confections are handed through generations in many families.

Modern shops are full of alluring sweets but home-made goodies have a special Christmas touch. If you're going to make some sweets yourself, begin at least two weeks ahead of the holiday season. Many delicacies need to "ripen" a little to be at their best. And not a few boxes will have to be mailed.

Candied Citruses

As soon as your confections and cookies are thoroughly cooled after cooking put them into air-tight boxes, and store them in the coolest part of the cupboard or pantry. (The refrigerator is usually too cold.)

Candied grapefruits make tasty containers for confections. Use grapefruit halves from which the pulp has been removed. Wash them, put them in a kettle and cover them with cold water, so it comes four inches above the level of the rinds. Add half a teaspoonful of salt for each four cups of water. Cover the kettle and simmer the halves for an hour, changing the water three times to remove any bitter flavor.

Then measure two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for each six halves. Boil sugar and water together three minutes, and then put the rinds into this syrup. Simmer about 30 minutes or until the rinds are well candied. Remove the rinds and sprinkle them with granulated sugar. Let them cool, then heap them full with assorted confections.

How To Salt Nuts

Candied raisins, prunes, apricots, dates and currants make fine fillers for boxes. Prepare them by mixing two cups of granulated sugar, one cup of water and one teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. Boil the ingredients together four minutes, then add two cups of fruit. Cook slowly until a fine thread forms when some of the syrup is poured from a spoon. Pour into a shallow pan and, when slightly cool, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.

You will need salt nuts for dividing lines or corner fillers in boxes. Sprinkle a cup of blanched nuts in a thin layer over a shallow pan. Add one tablespoon of olive oil or butter. Bake slowly and stir frequently with a fork until the nuts are evenly browned. (About 20 minutes.) Then sprinkle half a teaspoonful of salt over them and pour the nuts, while warm, onto a cloth. Wipe off surplus salt and fat. Store them in air-tight jars. If they need refreshing later, heat them five minutes in a moderate oven.

To blanch nuts, cover a cupful with boiling water. Put a lid over them and, after five minutes, remove the brown skins with your fingers. Then dry them five minutes or so in a slow oven.

Dipping Mixtures

Stuff dates, prunes or figs with cream candies or fudges, peanut butter, cheese, toasted nuts, candied fruits or coconut. Then roll some in plain or toasted coconut, granulated or brown sugar or chopped nuts. Dip others in melted fondant or chocolate. (Dried prunes must be washed well and steamed for 15 minutes before they are ready for stuffing.)

Keep chocolate or fondant for dipping over hot—not boiling—water.

If your fondant is too thick, thin it with cream. But if your dipping chocolate needs thinning, melt into it a few shavings of paraffin. Never let water get into dipping chocolate; it stiffens the mixture.

To soften fondant wrap it in a damp cloth and, after an hour, knead it with your hands and shape it for dipping. (Fudges may also be shaped into balls and dipped.) Place bits of candied fruits, coconut and nuts in the centers of several of the balls—as surprises.

Double decker fudges and fondants make unusual treats. Put a layer of white fudge in a shallow, buttered pan and cover it with a layer of penoche or chocolate fudge. When it is firm cut it into bars. Put a layer of nuts, chopped candied fruits, marshmallows or coconut in between for triple deppers.

CHRISTMAS COCONUT SNOWBALLS

(Makes two dozen)

1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour

1/2 cup butter or other shortening

1 cup granulated sugar

2 eggs, well beaten

1/2 cup milk

1 teaspoon lemon or vanilla extract

1 can moist, sweetened coconut

Sift flour once. Measure. Add baking powder and sift together three times.

Cream butter thoroughly. Add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, then flour, alternating with milk, a small amount at a time, and beating after each addition until smooth.

Add flavoring. Turn into greased cupcake pans, filling them two-thirds full. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool. Cover each cake with seven-minute frosting and sprinkle thickly with moist, sweetened coconut. Arrange on large platter and insert a small twig of evergreen or candle holder with tiny red candle in each cake.

(Light candles just before serving.)

SEVEN-MINUTE FROSTING

3/4 cups granulated sugar

2 tablespoons water

1/2 teaspoon light corn syrup

1 teaspoon vanilla

TODAY'S SERMONETTE

On that first Christmas day, nearly 2,000 years ago, there was rejoicing in heaven and on earth, for it was the occasion of the greatest event since the creation of the world; and the message which the angels brought and which sent the Shepherds and the wise men to Bethlehem was: "Unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ, the Lord."—Chivers.

A SAFE CHRISTMAS TO YOU!

Here's wishing you a Merry Christmas—and a safe Christmas.

This year, if past precedents prevail, many a Christmas that starts out merrily will end in tragedy—because of fire. A dead child, a seriously burned parent, a destroyed home—these are the fruits of carelessness and ignorance in regard to fire hazards.

The danger of fire always exists, and with the holiday season a number of especially grave hazards appear. One of the worst of these is the use of real candles on Christmas trees. As the tree dries, it will very easily catch fire from even the slightest flame. And even though a tree is green enough to resist candle flame, the danger of clothing and decorations igniting is extremely great. Use electric tree candles—and buy outfits of good quality to reduce the hazard of short-circuits.

Christmas costumes, of paper and flimsy cloth, are another important danger, especially to children too young to be properly careful. Such costumes should never be worn in the presence of open flame of any kind, such as a fireplace.

During Christmas, more than ordinary care should be taken with matches and smoking materials. With a litter of package wrapping about, and the house in general happy disorder, carelessness with a match or cigarette may be the prelude to a conflagration.

Above all then—keep fire dangers in mind this Christmas, and be safe. It isn't hard. And it may save a life.

NATIONAL GUARD PURGE

Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York took a drastic but well-advised step recently in ordering the immediate dissolution of the "Russian Battery" of the 244th coast artillery regiment of the New York national guard.

This was an outfit sponsored by Russia, a newspaper published in New York by Russian émigrés, and composed almost entirely of "White Russians." The matter came to a head when officers and men of the unit attended a pro-Fascist ball in uniform.

Governor Lehman was quite right in declaring that an American national guard regiment should have no room for any unit bearing a foreign designation—whether it be Russian, British, or whatnot. He was also right in insisting that member of the guard must "under no circumstances employ their status as national guardsmen to further or promote any so-called nationalistic group or non-American policy or racial cause."

A national guardsman, like a soldier in the regular army, has one country to support—and only one. The moment he tries to support two, his usefulness as a guardsman ends.

ONE FOR THE BOOK

Quite the most fantastic and E. Phillips Oppenheimish of recent mysteries is the one involving "Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robinson" and their disappearance in Moscow.

It looked at first as if there were two bona fide American travelers who had come to grief somehow in the Russian capital. Knowing the little ways of the Oppu, the American State Department launched strong protests.

Then it came out that "Mr. and Mrs. Robinson" were traveling on phony passports under assumed names. Whence they came from, who they were and why they went to Russia became as mysterious as their disappearance. So far, nothing in the case makes any sense at all. If Mr. Oppenheim didn't invent these people, he should have.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The Pampa high school basketball team journeyed to Miami for their first exhibition game of the season. Miami won 23 to 16.

Six fine bucks and a large turkey gobbler were bagged by Earl Talley, L. G. Merrill, Frank Culbertson, and his father, Dr. and Mrs. Roy A. Webb and son, and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Cristy on a hunting trip in Mason county.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

It was noted that Santa Claus was of course perfectly honest, but some of the shoppers were frequenting local stores were issuing checks without having bank accounts.

Almost without exception, Pampa merchants said that they would be closed all day Christmas day to give their clerks a Christmas holiday.

Tex's Topics

The Boy Wonder out at the house—and it's only natural for me to think he's "tops"—celebrated his second birthday day before yesterday, and I forgot to mention it here yesterday. You have to put up with my references to him because his mother is keeping a scrapbook and some day it will be presented to him as a sort of an historical background of what he was doing when he didn't know what the score was. . . . No doubt he'll read it along about 1944 and figure it out that his Daddy must have been dizzy at times.

Some of the nicest little boys and girls you ever met were at the party, and they conducted themselves like little ladies and gentlemen despite their two, three, four and five years. . . . The Boy Wonder was a pretty swell host, too, they tell me—except that he missed his afternoon nap on account of the social function and along about the height of the party went to his room and crawled into bed, leaving his guests to shift for themselves.

But, his mother soon put a stop to that and finally convinced him that there was nothing in Emily Post that would excuse deportment of that kind. . . . So he went back to the festivities of the afternoon and pitched in with vim and vigor. . . . As he confided to me when I got home—how was he to know? . . . After all, it was the first party he had ever thrown for himself or anybody else. . . . He figures that he will benefit by all the social errors of this first party and will be plenty nonchalant when it comes time to celebrate his third birthday. . . . The rigors of being the perfect host got him down, though, and he was plenty pooh-ed and ready for bed at 7 p. m.

I took a day off yesterday to go to Canyon, missed two radio newscasts and didn't find time to write the rest of this column. . . . Inasmuch as this space always is filled the afternoon before publication, and I wasn't even in town yesterday afternoon—this is as far as I got before the press for time made me turn it over to Reporter Brownie Emerson who takes it from here on out. . . . Mr. Emerson writing:

Am I in a spot or am I in a spot? . . . I say too much I'll be on the carpet for sure. . . . and yet I've got to fill up this space. . . . personally, I think Tex was just too dawgone lazy to go on and wished this off on me. . . . that Canyon trip makes a swell alibi for the local Boake Carter. . . . but I'm thankful he didn't assign me to do some newscasts, too. Well, if you don't want to read any more, Tex warned you what to expect before this began. . . . After all, I'm the only one listed as a "reporter" in the whole editorial department. . . . the official list of employees rates all the rest in the department as "editors." . . . So you understand why the latter part of the column isn't so good.

We've read so many Santa Claus letters down here that we've almost decided to write the old boy ourselves. . . . just on a long chance. . . . A. Pullingim, the copy desk Stalin, has already composed his letter, or rather, had it done for him.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—To degree the earlier hue and cry for repeal of the corporate surplus and capital gains taxes have died down, and it is notable that the manifesto of the Vandenberg-Bailey-Byrd group called for revision and not for repeal.

One of the factors helping to drown the cry for outright repeal is the increasing evidence that control of agricultural production is going to cost real money. Whatever it costs must be raised by taxes if the President's wishes on that subject are to be followed.

Whatever faults the taxes may have, they have raised a certain amount of money. If they are abolished, some other shoulder must be found which can bear new ones.

The manifesto, a ten-point program advanced by a group of conservative senators, mostly Democratic, led off with a statement about taxation. The quotations are from a published text:

"The capital gains tax and the undistributed profits tax ought to be revised at once without reducing revenue so as to free funds for investment and promote the normal flow of savings into profitable and production use, not for the consequences in expanding business, larger employment and a more active consumer demand for goods."

From two other sources recently has come something of the same idea, and perhaps pointed more in a certain direction. Lamont du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and company, speaking before the national association of manufacturers, repeatedly stressed that uncertainty was perhaps a greater deterrent to business than the actual level of taxes. He agreed, of course, that a reduction also would be acceptable.

"At this juncture," he said, "the stabilization of tax rates over a definite period, plus a simplification of the tax structure, may be almost more important than the actual level of taxes. . . . The present fear that we face a rapidly ascending tax scale, as well as new taxes, the nature of which nobody can guess, stands like a wall in the path of industrial expansion."

For an almost identical statement we can go to a study made by the Twentieth Century Fund, an endowed research organization. The results of the study were published in a text called "Facing the Tax Problem." In a chapter on "Taxable Capacity" is this quotation:

"The taxes or the rates that happen to be in force at the moment are not decisive. The taxpayer looks to the future. What may be is more important to him than what is. A constant threat of a high income tax rate even if no such tax is ever levied is a stronger deterrent to the investor and promoter than the actual existence of such a tax over an extended period coupled with a constantly renewed hope of repeal."

Old Mac-Congress Had A Farm Program

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Twelve or 15 years ago Thornton Wilder wrote a novel called "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." It was a weirdly beautiful story of a group of characters wholly unrelated to one another. . . . The bridge itself was an ancient vine-twisted ladder-like affair which stretched across a bottomless cavern. . . . It had provided passage for hundreds of years. . . . One day the fates willed that all these characters should set foot upon the bridge at the same time. . . . And the bridge fell.

New York witnessed a San Luis Rey of its own the other day but nobody was hurt. . . . As a matter of record, New York officially didn't witness it at all. . . . It just happened that three writers of widely different schools of thought came back to Manhattan after long intervals of remaining away.

Max Brand was one. . . . Max is the ex-pulp fictionist who writes a million words a year. . . . He has been spinning most of his yarns against the background of a chateau on the sun-drenched Riviera. . . . Mr. Brand also owns a home on the Eastern Shore in Maryland. He has gotten away from the two-gun thrill-kill stuff that first thrilled his need for fortune. . . . Now he is doing mostly the stuff the better magazines like.

Then there was Thornton Wilder himself, who has just written many books since you first read "The Bridge." . . . But for all his success at classical prose, he has always had a hankering to write for the theater. Wilder, who in actual life professes to be lazy and who has no high regard for an excessive lot of money, is indulging his whim at the moment. . . . He has returned from far wanderings in France and India and the Orient.

In a rural retreat which is some 40 minutes from Broadway he is completing an original play which will soon go into rehearsal. . . . Phil Stong is another. He is the author of "State Fair" and at least three other novels which have been fine successes. Like Brand and Wilder, Mr. Stong has long remained away from the raucous clatter of 52nd street. He has been sequestered on a farm in Connecticut, completing two manuscripts which are now in the hands of his publisher.

Last night Mr. Brand, feeling lonely, or maybe he was just a little thirsty, put on his hat, strolled up Broadway, and sat down at the counter of a drugstore. As he ordered a confection Mr. Wilder, sauntered in through a different door. He was perhaps less than three feet from Mr. Brand when a clerk complied with his request for tobacco. . . . Neither happened to see the other, nor did they see Phil Stong, who was a few feet away browsing through a shelf of new books.

Mr. Stong presently hurried away. . . . Mr. Wilder hurried right out behind him. . . . Mr. Brand, meanwhile, has hurried out a side door. . . . It seemed odd that these three should have arrived at an identical point without seeing one another after crossing half the globe.

COUNTY TO BUILD FOR FAMILIES ON RELIEF

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (P)—Kern county plans to build its own houses for families on relief. . . . Supervisor J. A. Hinman said as much as $180 a year rental was being paid for shacks that could be duplicated for $150. In the long run, the county expects to make money on its new houses.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

Most divorces are caused by a third person who may be a sister, a brother, a mother-in-law, or some other kind of in-law, and may even be a best friend of the husband or wife. A Pampa lawyer says that in every divorce suit filed by him he has carefully investigated and found that some person other than the husband or wife originally started the dissatisfaction. Then he cited the instance of a woman here who filed for divorce on the grounds that her husband was "driving her nuts."

He said that the wife got on her "nerves." Questioning by the lawyer developed that in the previous summer the best friend of the wife visited in the home. One day the friend said, "doesn't that constant hitting of the teeth with his knife get on your nerves?" It would drive her mad! The wife said she noticed it, and she hadn't. Up to that time they had been able to put up with each other. But right away she began to notice it, and like her best friend, it drove her "nuts." This is an actual divorce case that had its climax in the Gray county courthouse here.

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M.D.

The outstanding medical advance of 1937 is without doubt embodied in sulfanilamide. This chemical agent proves to be a most effective remedy in a number of germ diseases, some of which were practically incurable before.

For example, the meningitis (inflammation of the brain covering membranes) caused by the germ streptococcus hemolyticus was almost 100 per cent fatal. Since sulfanilamide has become available, the mortality rate in this type of meningitis has been reduced 80 per cent. In one series of 45 cases treated with sulfanilamide, 36 recovered. If the drug were valuable only in treating this form of meningitis, it would still be of signal worth. But its effectiveness seems widely varied.

The council on pharmacy and chemistry of the American Medical Association says sulfanilamide is of value in infections due to beta-hemolytic streptococci, especially in treating puerperal fever, erysipelas, blood infections with hemolytic streptococci, streptococci sore throat and surgical infections with hemolytic streptococci.

Present studies indicate that this drug is useful in treating gonorrheal infections. Medical literature also indicates its usefulness in meningococcal infections, and possibly in gas bacillus infections. There is some indication that it is useful in pneumonia due to type III pneumococci.

This array of germs and diseases may seem bewildering, but it includes a number of very grave and heretofore highly fatal conditions. Reports now available on the use of sulfanilamide in treating gonorrhea, indicate that in some cases this treatment yields most strikingly favorable results. In others the drug has not proved especially efficacious—just why is not as yet known.

However, even in its limited effectiveness in gonorrhea, sulfanilamide is most valuable. It shortens

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBEN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Ernest Truex came in from a golf game for lunch, and across the table opined that golf was a great game for worriers.

This five feet three inches of dapper stage fame didn't say he was worried, not in so many words. He just brought out the fact that in several cans of celluloid at three different studios his image is awaiting preview. Moreover, with a new movie contract, he has done an unprecedented thing for him—leased a home for two years, meaning he'll stay, come what may, in Hollywood.

He's Better Known on Stage. "The last time," he explained, "I think I didn't stay long enough. Made 'Whistling in the Dark' and 'The Warrior's Husband' and skipped within a week, figuring that was time for someone to speak if there were any great demand that I stay."

So the last time—and several times before that—Ernest Truex went back to the stage. At 47, although he's of the stage and scarcely known in pictures—he's a walking encyclopedia of movie history, looking over the shoulders of bottom nickelodeon days.

It was 25 years ago he played the boy lead—at 22—in David Belasco's "Good Little Devil."

"We made another picture," he recalls, "and I thought it was a great idea—but then Jack Pickford came along doing the same type of parts I was doing."

Wants To Stay This Time. "Back on the stage a while, then I got in with George Fitzmaurice. George Seitz and Ouida Bergere on our own film company. We ran out of money after three reels, so we produced a three-reeler. . . . More stage, then Vitaphone. . . . Shirley Mason, Louise Huff, Norma Talmadge. . . . And then no more pictures until 'Whistling in the Dark'."

"I'd always sidestep or just miss acceptance offers. . . . Once I went to England, stayed for four years. The stage was always so certain, pictures seemed otherwise."

"But this time—well, I want to stay. I like it. If I go over half as well as some of my friends insist I will, I'll be set."

But the drug is not entirely harmless. It is not one which may be safely self-administered. Indeed, it should never be used except under strict medical supervision. A number of communities have wisely forbidden the sale of sulfanilamide except on a physician's prescription.

The Capitol

Jigsaw

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Dec. 23 (P)—Members of the Supreme Court of the United States have a sense of humor. Former Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter is authority for the statement.

At a dinner in Austin honoring him during his recent visit, Van Devanter said the court members were as human as anyone, whatever some persons might think, and told his story to make his point.

One cold miserable day Associate Justice Harlan Stone entered the robing room and observed it was a disagreeable day. None of the other justices replied. Finally Stone went over to another Associate Justice and, pointing to him, said: "I tell you it's a miserable day."

"Well," replied the other, "it's the only one we have."

On another occasion a lawyer who was somewhat deaf was ready to argue a case before the court. His opponent concluded his argument and when the Chief Justice called the deaf lawyer, asking a question, the latter turned to the opposing lawyer and queried in a low voice:

"What did the Chief Justice say? I didn't hear him."

The opponent replied in ringing tone:

"He says the court would rather render judgment in your favor than hear your argument!"

Van Devanter said "not one man in a hundred could get away with this, but that man did."

Chief Justice C. M. Cullen of the Texas Supreme Court said he knew Van Devanter years ago when "I thought I was representing Texas before the United States Supreme Court."

As an Assistant Attorney General and later Attorney General, Cullen said he received kindly encouragement from Van Devanter. Much of the litigation which took Cullen to Washington involved land titles.

"From my experiences with the Supreme Court of the United States, both in a professional and a special way," Cullen said, "I have come to the conclusion there is no greater or nobler body of men directing the destinies of a nation."

Harry N. Graves, called upon as a "junior" member of the State Court of Criminal Appeals, said the appellation reminded him of a story.

A man traveling in Wyoming got off a train and found many Indians sitting around the station. He approached one and asked what the Indian did.

"I'm a preacher," replied the Indian.

"How much do they pay you," queried the tourist.

"Ten dollars a year," was the reply.

"That's poor pay," the traveler said.

"Me poor preacher," said the Indian.

Graves, white-haired former member of the Texas House of Representatives, became an Associate Justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals a short time ago. James V. Allred appointed him to a vacancy on Texas' last court of a resort in criminal cases caused by the death of Associate Justice O. S. Lattimore.

The day after the dinner Van Devanter visited the Capitol, going first to the office of Gov. Allred and then to those of Supreme Court members. Escorted by the Governor, he also looked over the gubernatorial mansion, one of Austin's chief points of interest.

In an impromptu press conference, he told briefly of a hunting trip in Southwest Texas, the principal reason for his coming to the state. He always has been an avid hunter, having learned as a boy in Wyoming to enjoy the sport.

"I had very good luck," he said, remarking that he had killed a deer and two javelinas, a species of small wild hog which, in the opinion of many hunters from other states, is one of Texas' outstanding game situations.

The first Theodore Roosevelt, before he was President, visited Texas specifically to hunt the javelina.

Book A Day

—By BRUCE CATTON

Some little time ago, Emil Ludwig brought out "The Nile," which was probably the best book he ever wrote. In the near future he is coming out with a life of Franklin Roosevelt, which also, apparently, is designed to be a magnum opus.

In between the two he seems to have felt the need of a breather; so now we get "Cleopatra" (Viking; $3.50) which is a superficial and somewhat hearts-and-flowers work that Mr. Ludwig, I gather, turned out with one hand.

"Cleopatra" represents popularized biography at its most popular, so to speak. That is to say, it is one of those books that reads like a cross between history and fiction; a book in which the author is never at a loss to know precisely what his character really thought at a given moment, or what exact shades of emotion were experienced, or what words were used in conversation.

That, I suppose, is fair enough. Yet it is a trick, and a poor one, hardly worthy of the man who wrote "The Nile." The reader never knows how much of what is spread him is sober fact and how much is a "reconstruction" brought about by a vivid imagination; having finished the book, he has no way of knowing whether he has been given an authentic portrait or a dream-picture bearing scant resemblance to reality.

That aside, "Cleopatra" is first-rate reading. Mr. Ludwig's prose is as vivid and as supple as his subject, and a great many people will probably get a lot of enjoyment out of the book.

ina, and bagged several in the vicinity of Uvalde, home of Vice President John N. Garner.

Asked whether javelinas were difficult to shoot, Van Devanter replied in the negative, but said they were often difficult to find, inhabiting brushy areas not easily penetrated by human beings and being exceedingly wary.

Van Devanter retired from the Supreme Court at the height of the controversy over President Roosevelt's efforts to enlarge that tribunal.

Some interpreted his action as a move to ease the situation by giving the President opportunity to appoint a man considered more liberal in views. Mr. Roosevelt appointed Senator Hugo Black.

Under act of congress, Van Devanter retired on full pay.

SANDE MARTIN EJECTED FROM GAME FOR ROUGHING AS PAMPANS WIN

HEADLOCK PUT ON HEISKELL BY GRID STAR

Whipped to a frazzle and writhing in humiliation, the Amarillo Sandies in the last quarter of a basketball game in Amarillo last night lost their temper and tried to "take it out in hide" when they were unable to stop the rampaging Harvester who won 42 to 4.

The climax of their physical attack came late in the last period of the game when Martin, star Sandie football star, threw a headlock on Heiskell and bore him to the floor, knees in his back, just as the Pampa forward started to shoot a setup under the basket. Heiskell was uninjured.

Martin apparently lost his temper when the speedy Pampa forward bounced the ball away from the Sandie and dribbled toward the goal.

The officials immediately ejected Martin from the game as Blazing Bill Thompson sat in the grandstand and booed his former grid-iron comrade. Immediately another attempt was made to "get" Heiskell, and Coach Odus Mitchell removed him from the game, explaining later that he did not want such a valuable player as Heiskell going around on crutches.

Cox Leads Scoring
The Sandies were utterly powerless to cope with either the Harvester offense or defense. The Sandies made 14 fouls and the Harvesters only three. The game was exceedingly rough.

Norman Cox, Pampa center, led the scoring for Pampa, capitalizing on numerous rebounds under the basket. Although still compelled to favor an injured knee he played his best game of the season.

Pampa B Team Wins
The Sandie B team which lost to the Harvester A team 41 to 13 Tuesday night, was defeated 18 to 14 by the Harvester B team. The Pampa boys came from behind to win. The score in the first half of this game was as follows: first—Pampa 2, Amarillo 6; second—Pampa 14, Amarillo 8. Miller led the scoring with 7 points, including one free shot. Foster was second with 5 points, one free shot. Both Foster and Cunningham were forced to leave the game on personal fouls. Two Amarillo players, Maulding and Williams also quit the game with four personal fouls each.

Heiskell and Andis tied in the scoring with 10 points each. Andis jumped five field goals, and Heiskell hit the basket three times from the floor and four times from the free throw line. Although the rough tactics of the Sandies slowed up Andis and Heiskell somewhat they continued to show improvement. Reynolds played a great game at the guard position, bearing the brunt of the Harvester defense. Heiskell and Andis were on the defensive a great part of the time.

Dunaway Improving Fast
Dunaway looked better than he did the previous night. After an awkward start, he rallied and looked better than he has at any time this year. He is improving every game and in another month should be one of the best. His speed and ability to guard closely and ef-effectively, and his agility in recovering rebounds are all reminiscent of his brother Bill, one of the best basketball players in Harvester history.

Coach Odus Mitchell replaced the entire first string with reserves in the fading moments of the game; one of the last to go in was Grover Lee Heiskell who a few seconds later caught the ball near center and flung one through the net. The score by quarters was as follows: Pampa—7, 16, 29, 42; Amarillo—4, 4, 4, 4.

The Harvesters free shots as follows:
Miller 3, Cunningham 6, Dull 1, Heiskell 1, Tidwell 1, Claude Heiskell 4, Andis none, Cox 2, Reynolds 2, Dunaway 2, Foster 2. The Sandies missed four free shots in the A team game and 9 in the B game.

Officials were Haney (Amarillo), Burk (Perryton).

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—While agreeing that elimination of the center-jump speeds up action and appeals to spectators, many basketball coaches and officials believe the innovation involves physical hazards for the players, especially in small colleges and high schools lacking reserves.

Those coaches and officials opposing the new rule on the grounds it puts too much physical exertion on the players were the most outspoken in a nation-wide survey conducted by the Associated Press.

Supporters of the change emphasized it puts a premium on good physical condition and produces a fairer test of playing strength, besides giving spectators more action. They point to the elimination of advantages gained by a team possessing an unusually tall center and cite the better balanced competition now, with possession of the ball going to the team scored upon.

The comment of Howard Cann, coach at New York University, was typical of those opposed to the new rule because of its speed requirements.

"It's still early in the season but already two of my men are five pounds underweight," said Cann. "It simply is too strenuous for the players. I've noticed the last five minutes of a game usually are wasted because of the player's physical exhaustion."

Fisher May Be Able to Play Against Tigers
SANTA CLARA, Calif., Dec. 23 (AP)—Everett "King" Fisher, ace Santa Clara fullback who fractured a small leg bone in practice the other day, might be ready to play against Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day.

Coach Lawrence T. "Buck" Shaw said the bone does not support any weight and would not hamper Fisher in his running—but Fisher will be unable to practice while the leg is being treated for the next week.

There's just an outside chance he may play, said Shaw.

With Fisher on the sidelines Bill Gunther, 185-pound junior from San Jose, and Jim Groth, a 190-pounder, were being groomed for fullback.

COMPROMISE MADE IN COMPENSATION SUIT
A compromise settlement in the case of Clay Hubel vs. Southern Underwriters was filed Wednesday afternoon in the 31st district court, whereby the plaintiff receives $150 in discharge of claims.

The judgment cancels an Industrial Accident board award of June 12, 1936, in the case of Clay L. Hubel, employe, vs. Liano Construction Company, employer, Southern Underwriters, insurer.

Plaintiff had asked a judgment of 60 per cent of his average weekly wage of $173.1 for 40 weeks, as a result of injuries he alleged he suffered as a result of an automobile accident on March 2, 1936.

L. B. Godwin and Works and Bassett were attorneys for the plaintiff. E. A. Simpson signed the settlement as one of the defendants' attorneys of record.

DALLAS, Dec. 23 (AP)—P. C. Cobb, athletic director of Dallas schools, who has charge of the ticket sale for the Wichita Falls-Longview state schoolboy football championship game here Saturday, today forecast a crowd of between 20,000 and 25,000 if favorable weather prevails.

Cobb based his prediction on the advance ticket sale which shows around 6,000 reservations in two days.

Approximately 2,000 tickets have been purchased here, and Wichita Falls and Longview each reported a like number. More than 5,000 fans were expected from the two cities, each of which will run a special train to Dallas.

The Longview Lobos were held indoors yesterday by rain and had to be content with a lengthy "skull practice." Wichita Falls, however, had both a gymnasium drill and light scrimmage outdoors.

Wichita Falls was worried some because Harold Fleming, ace back, had an injured knee. However, it was not considered likely the injury would keep him out of Saturday's game. Longview reported no injuries.

The Cotton Bowl gridiron was covered with a heavy tarpaulin Tuesday, insuring a dry field unless rain falls during the contest.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—Michigan students home for the holidays say "hurry up" Yost's retirement as director of athletics will be announced soon. Hope these belated congratulations catch up with George Weiss, superintendent of the Yankee farm chain, now halfway to the coast with his bride.

There was no birthday cake, for Mack won't eat it these days as a result of an indigestion attack in August. But he has not idea of stepping down as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

"My principal thought now," he said, "is getting plans ready for next season. When I concentrate on baseball matters I forget that I have been ill."

LOCKED GATES HIDE WHIZZER FROM CURIOUS

PORT WORTH, Dec. 23 (AP)—Locked gates kept curious scribes from the drill of the Colorado Buffaloes today, but a little checking on the peppy squad preparing for its Cotton Bowl clash on New Year's day at Dallas against Rice Institute, revealed some facts.

Thumbnail descriptions of the eleven most likely to be named by Coach Bernard (Bunny) Oakes as his starting crew:

Left end—Leon Lavington, Flagler, Colo., senior, 28, 6 feet 1, 183 pounds. One of the most improved players in the Rocky Mountain conference. Excellent pass catcher.

Left tackle—Marty Brill, Trinidad, Colo., sophomore, 19, 6 feet 1, 183 pounds. Only sophomore in the regular starting lineup. A hard-hitting defense player, who is regarded as one of the two or three most promising young linemen in the conference.

Right guard—Louis Smith, Denver, senior, 22, 6 feet, 189 pounds, a dependable though unspectacular veteran, named to the all-conference team. A regular all three years.

Center—Gene Moore, Casper, Wyo., senior, 23, 6 feet 3, 200 pounds. The best center in university history and hated by many veteran observers as good as any the conference has seen. Backs up the line on defense and makes most of the tackles. Made only one faulty pass this season.

Right guard—Francis Stevens, Pueblo, Colo., senior, 22, 5 feet 9, 170 pounds. Light, but fast and durable punning guard. Regarded as nearly as good as Smith by his coach.

Right tackle—John Brown, Boulder, Colo., senior, 21, 6 feet 2, 187 pounds. Strong defensive player and valuable at opening the way for backfield runs off tackle.

Right end—Joe Davis, Denver, senior, 21, 5 feet 11, 168 pounds. Not in Lavington's class, but a good downfield blocker.

Quarterback—Byron (Whizzer) White, Wellington, Colo., senior, 20, 6 feet 1, 185 pounds. Handles most of the ball running, all of the punting, passing and returning punts and calls signals. A straight "A" student, except for two subjects, during his entire college career and winner of the Phi Beta Kappa key and Rhodes scholarship.

Left halfback—Joe Antonio, Junction City, Kas., junior, 22, six feet, 180 pounds. Reserve fullback last year Antonio is a steady blocker, working with the end on enemy tackles. Good pass receiver and runs on reverse plays.

Right halfback—Orville Nuttall, Boulder, Colo., junior, 20, five feet, 10 inches 174 pounds. Has carried ball but three times in two full seasons, but is a great blocker and sturdy defensive performer.

Fullback—Ervin Cheney, Lander, Wyo., 22, senior, five feet, eight inches, 175 pounds. Second leading scorer of region. Cheney has the drive to pick up three and four yards at a spurt. Great line blocker.

Overcast Skies Greet Rice Owls
HOUSTON, Dec. 23 (AP)—Overcast skies failed to daunt the spirit of the Rice Institute Owls today as they made ready for two hard scrimmage sessions before taking a three-day layoff for Christmas.

Rain forced them indoors yesterday but they spent their time at skill practice, hoping to perfect drills on new plays for the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas New Year's Day against the University of Colorado.

Practice this morning and again this afternoon was scheduled for the champions of the Southwest conference.

ALL-AMERICA 'BAMA GUARD'S EYE INJURED

(By The Associated Press)
The football party line buzzed from bowl to bowl today with bits of gossip that kept the second semester activities of a dozen football teams in the spotlight.

Chief news of the day was the injury to Leroy Monsky, all-America guard for Alabama's Crimson Tide. Monsky, captain of the "Bama team, collided with Lou Boettich in signal drill and suffered a deep cut over the eye yesterday at San Antonio, Tex. He was taken to a hospital and five stitches were made to close the wound.

Coach Frank Thomas said the injury would not keep his star lineman out of the Rose Bowl game with California, New Year's day.

Meanwhile there was plenty of activity on other fronts. Some of the leading developments were:

Rose Bowl—California's Bears went through a vigorous scrimmage session which puts ends Willard Dolman and Henry Sparks on the sidelines with leg injuries. Coach Stub Allison said he expected Dolman, a first stringer, back soon.

Sugar Bowl—Louisiana State's third stringers took a beating as the Tigers went on the offense in a long hard scrum, yesterday. Pinky Rohm, young Bussey and Art Morton punished the sub line in the drill.

Coach Buck Shaw of Santa Clara named a tentative lineup for the Sugar Bowl game with L. S. U. before dismissing the squad for a holiday until Sunday night when the Broncos will leave for New Orleans. In the Santa Clara backfield were Pavelko at quarter, Roche and Gilbert at the halves and Fisher at fullback. Shaw indicated that Fisher's injured leg would be all right for the game.

Cotton Bowl—Rice, forced indoors by rain at Houston in preparation with Colorado, is due to scrimmage twice today. Then the Owls get a three-day vacation.

Colorado will have Christmas day afternoon off but that's all. The eleven held a restricted workout yesterday because of rain. Rex Tomlinson, understudy for Whizzer White, has recovered from a shoulder injury and will be able to play.

Sun Bowl—Texas Tech, which meets West Virginia in this classic at El Paso, was told "forget football, have a good time with the home folks for a few days," by Coach Pete Cawthon, yesterday. Tech will start work again Monday but Cawthon will not bear down. He fears, too much work will make the eleven stale.

Orange Bowl—Michigan State, camped at Gainesville, Fla., preparing for the tilt with Auburn at Miami, got down to hard work yesterday and expects plenty more. A 45-minute offensive scrimmage was the high spot of the workout.

East-West—Coaches Andy Kerr of Colgate and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota named two backfields for the all-East eleven after a stiff session at Berkeley, where the squad is preparing for the game with the all-West team at San Francisco in the first quad backfield were: quarterback, John Michelson, Pitt; left half, Cecil Isbell, Purdue; right half, Elmore Hackney, Duke; fullback, Corby Davis, Indiana.

Bookmaking Made Legal in Chicago
CHICAGO, Dec. 23 (AP)—An ordinance to legalize and license "brokers" handling bets on horse races away from the track needed only Mayor Edward J. Kelly's signature today to become law.

The mayor's approval was considered virtually certain inasmuch as he sponsored the measure, a $2,000,000 hope chest.

The city council passed the ordinance by a 43 to 4 vote last night amid conflicting claims as to the city's legal and moral right to clothe the multi-million dollar handbook gambling industry with respectability.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23 (AP)—With Seabiscuit definitely out of the race, Argentine bred Amor Brujo stood today as the favorite to win the $50,000 Christmas handicap at Santa Anita's inaugural program Saturday.

Charles S. Howard declared Seabiscuit out of the mile race after the California horse racing board declined to reinstate his chief rider, Red Pollard, who was suspended for a riding infraction at Tanforan.

General Public Sides With Budge's Parents

NEW YORK, Dec. 23 (AP)—J. Donald Budge's parents undoubtedly have the general public on their side when they urge their tennis-playing son to take the $50,000 and turn professional. A quick turn around town made that clear.

"Sure, he ought to take the dough," said Dominick Pistone, the oracle of Spring street. "If he don't he's crazy."

"What a sp he'd be not to grab that kind of money," agreed Tom Savigear, the barber, gesturing wickedly with his shears. "What I say is: When you're winner, go to dinner."

Of all those queried on the subject, only Walter Pate, who captained the victorious American Davis Cup team to England this year, entered a slight demur. He inferred that Budge should give the matter a powerful lot of thought before making the leap.

Pate probably could be accused of bias, because he is high in the councils of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, which wants the red-head to remain an amateur.

He and his colleagues of the U. S. L. T. A., who have urged Budge to pass up the easy money and carve out his own business career, must have reason to think he would do all right for himself. They are successful business men themselves.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA HENTON—Merlene, daughter of a famous singer.
CAPT. BARRYMORE TRENT—Hero, flying "daredevil."
MIRANDA TRENT—Barrymore's grandmother, a "strong" woman.

Yesterday, Barrymore is called to the rescue of a plane lost over the jungle. It is a bitter test for Linda to have him go. Old Miranda, despite her words, is deeply moved.

CHAPTER VII
OLD MIRANDA was serenely chatty over the coffee urn next morning. She made no reference to her grandson's leaving, but confined herself to caustic comment about some gossip of the town. Barry listened to her with an attention as absorbed and amused as if he had nothing to do but look forward to the immediate future but a lazy Christmas vacation.

"The Duchess has a most reprehensible weakness for scandal, Titania," he said. "It comes to living too much in army camps."

"I've always found," said the Duchess, "that a pinch of gossip aids digestion."

Barry spent the whole morning with his grandmother in her room—over some business matter, Linda understood.

Linda went down to lunch trembling in anticipation of the ordeal before her; but she might have spared herself.

At lunch, the old lady was seized with a violent chill, and other symptoms complicated with the quantities of sandwiches she had consumed the night before. She was put to bed, fuming with impatience, and gasping out protest which made her grandson grin appreciatively for the Duchess had a notable grasp for profane technique.

When the doctor was called, he pronounced her ailment a nervous chill.

"Too much excitement," he said. "See that she stays in bed—no matter what she says—until the symptoms have gone."

After the first rebellious few moments, old Miranda's native common sense asserted itself. Assured that if she behaved her self, she might get up to have dinner with that if she behaved herself, she the captain before he left for the airport, and she became as docile as a child, and soon fell asleep.

"I'm afraid we'll better wait till I get back to tell her," Barry said soberly as he and Linda faced each other outside Mrs. Trent's door. "The poor Duchess has had about all she ought to take for one day."

"I'd rather," Linda said. "I'd like it that way."

At the bottom of the stairway where they had sat for so long that day—was it only yesterday?—Barry turned, his eyes burning down at her.

"Listen, Titania," he said softly. "You haven't forgotten what I asked you—right here—the other day, have you? ... I said, 'I went on when she did not answer, 'suppose you knew that I had to go a way—almost at once; and might not come back for a long time. Would you marry me then—or would you still feel that we must wait until we knew each other better?'"

"And you knew then," accused Linda was fighting down tears. "All this time you've known."

"I wasn't sure, but there was a chance."

"But, oh, Barry, this isn't for— a long time. It mustn't be."

"Of course not," Barry agreed smoothly. "But anyhow, what was it you said?"

When she did not answer, he prompted. "You said, 'I would marry you if it were the last thing I did!'"

"Yes," Linda breathed. "I did say that. But—"

"And heaven help you if you were fooling me, woman ... Don't pussy-foot me, Linda. There's no little time left."

"Yes," said Linda. "I meant it isn't fair to her."

"We'll tell her as soon as I get back. It will be easier that way—and kinder ... I think you've spotted the Duchess' weakness. I've always been her exclusive property ... but during the holidays she loves giving away things—often the very things she prizes most. When I come back, she'll be so tickled that she'll hand me to you all tied up with Christmas wrappings and a string of mistletoe ... Well, was it a promise?"

"Yes," said Linda breathlessly. "It was a promise."

"I can get a license in five minutes, and we'll go to Judge Baldwin. He'll keep his mouth shut ... Be ready and waiting, darling."

But it was five when Barry knocked at Linda's door.

"I had to—use some rhetoric on Judge Baldwin," he explained, glancing at his watch. "But he understands now. He—Gosh but you look sweet, Titania!"

"If I could only have had more time, Barry," Linda said, glancing down at her dress.

She had slipped on a slim tailored frock of white wool and a small white felt hat. They were not new; they were just—white. And suddenly Linda longed for everything that made a bride lovely.

In the lower hall Barry stopped and picked up a square white box from a side table.

"Almost forgot," he said, offering it to Linda.

Opening it she found a fragrant nest of white violets. She cried a little from pleasure as she took them from the box and pinned them to her coat.

She was still wiping her eyes, with Barry's arm about her shoulders, when the front door opened abruptly behind them. Turning, they found Miss Chatham, standing as if riveted to the doorstep, her tense posture very much that of a pointing setter, her quick, pale eyes picking out every detail of the little scene—Linda's moist lids, Barry's arm about her shoulder, their air of startled conspirators.

"I didn't ring," she explained as Linda hastily detached herself from Barry's arm and turned to adjust her hat as the mirror over the wall table, "because I didn't want to disturb your grandmother, Captain Trent ... Dr. McIvor just told me she is ill. I—she hesitated as they continued to stand without speaking—"is there anything I can do?"

"Not a thing in the world, Miss Lydia. Won't you—that is"

As Barry vacillated between hospitality and irritation, Miss Chatham interrupted swiftly. "Oh, I couldn't think of staying. I just called to inquire."

She was obviously as anxious to be gone as they were to see the last of her.

"Then by the grace of God," ejaculated Barry as the door clacked behind her, "goes the best oiled tongue in 20 counties ... I say 'by the grace of God' because it's a miracle some one hadn't fed her poison long before this."

"Does it matter?" Barry laughed and kissed her.

It was almost dusk as they went out into the frosty air.

"Listen," Barry said while they were driving around the little town park. "I've arranged everything. When we get back, there'll be a telegram waiting for you, calling you away on urgent business—the best excuse I could think up at the moment of writing. The boy is on his way with it already. I'll drive you to the city. We can manage several hours together."

"You mean I'm to—see you start?"

She wondered if she could bear that.

"Not a chance! Even the Duchess can't stick that field at night ... I can't leave you, Linda—so soon," he begged.

And so it was arranged.

At the edge of the park a stream of holiday traffic held them up. From a waiting car that slid into line beside them, a drawing roomy voice called Barry's name; and Rita Blanchard's pale, narrow face, with its full red mouth and intent, avid dark eyes appeared at the nearest window.

"Don't forget you're coming over for cocktails, Barry," Rita called. Then she peered into the semi-darkness beside him, and her voice dropped to an intimate undertone. "I've just heard about—your flight. I must see you before you go ... I do pay my debts, you know."

"Sorry," said Barry. "It will have to keep. I sent a message explaining."

"Did you ever think, Barry?" Rita Blanchard's voice took on a faint edge—"that sometimes it's just as bad form not to collect your debts as not to pay them?"

"The traffic moved ahead. Linda sat very still. There had been something disturbing about that brief, enigmatic interchange. And she did so want only happiness for Barry and herself during these brief last hours.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

A SPERM WHALE CAN EAT A TON OF FOOD DAILY!

ASH TREES BELONG TO THE OLIVE FAMILY.

NOT only is the ash a relative of the Mediterranean olive, now raised extensively in California, but it is a cousin to lilacs, privets, and Forsythias. Ashes are found in the tropics, as well as in the temperate regions.
