No tract of less than 200 acres will be accepted for consideration, the committee decided, placing 640 acres as a section, as the maximum amount of land needed for the project.

Hope To Make Cash Purchase. Chairman Benson announced immediately after the meeting that it is the wish of the committee that as many sites as are available be offered. After a site is selected it is the plan of the committee to call a special election to afford funds for the purchase.

FAIR EDITION WILL COME OUT SUNDAY

Just one week from today, The Avalanche-Journal will issue its annual Fair and Property edition--the "Mirror of Life On The South Plains."

The edition will be approximately 150 pages in size, with 24 pages of photographs--dramatic pictures of scenes in Lubbock and over this territory.

Anticipating a record sale of extra copies, The Avalanche-Journal requests that orders for additional copies be made by subscribers and readers during the first part of this week.

The edition will not only advertise the annual Panhandle Fair but will include a survey of agricultural, oil, business and industrial activities of the section.

REWARD OFFERED FOR PROWLERS

Activities of prowlers, peepers, toms and pants burglars in Lubbock have gone about as far as they should be permitted to go and with most of the wives, mothers and children in the city apprehensive concerning the sneaking activities of that type of varmint, the Avalanche-Journal offers a $50 reward for the arrest and conviction of any such persons.

Believing that the peace officers of the city have done all in their power to detect such misdoers without aid from citizens who may know of their activities, The Avalanche-Journal is making the reward offer in the hopes that the disgraceful proceedings may thus be cut short.

Twelve homes were entered by sneak thieves here last week. While two residents reported two cases each of prowlers on their premises and men peering into sleeping room windows, The Avalanche-Journal believes it's time that the offenders are turned in.

Storm Believed Moving Toward Cuba and Florida

May Hit Gulf States Unless Course Is Changed or Its Fury Ended; Death Toll In States Mounts.

The tropical hurricane that has spread desolation across Porto Rico, the eastern shore of Santo Domingo and the Virgin Islands, leaving the threat of famine and disease in its wake, was making the Bahamas today and was close, unless it should change its course or blow itself out, to strike the Florida coast tomorrow.

May Hit Gulf States. The weather bureau expected that such a change of course, in either direction, might occur today when the storm was due to reach Nassau. A swing to the west would send the hurricane hurtling between Cuba and the southern tip of Florida, with possible damage to the Gulf states, and a curve eastward would point it upward toward the Virginia Capes or completely out into the Atlantic where it would menace crowded maritime traffic to the Panama Canal.

Virgin Islands Hit. WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The navy department received tonight from an amateur station in New York City the following communication said to be from the naval radio station at St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands:

Deaths Now Total Nineteen. The death toll in tornado torn sections of Illinois, south Dakota, Nebraska and Wisconsin rose to nineteen tonight as workers reduced the number of missing to six at Rockford, hardest hit of the Illinois cities.

Offers $2000 Reward. Italian Father Searches To Police In Report. CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (AP)—With police in a fruitless search and his own efforts to rescue a kidnapped son proving equally futile, A. Frank Ranieri today abandoned his lone game and offered a reward to any one who would bring home his ten-year-old boy, Billy.

Matadors Show Improvement After Week's Training

Westerners Prepare For First Game With Post Here Friday Afternoon

Coaches Pleased With Progress of Te During Week

Rough Work Starts Monday When Tackling Dummy and Crazing Sled Will Be Brought Into Use

BY ALI CARNEY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor
Matadors of Texas Tech worked up their first week's training Saturday morning with the squad going through the usual round of lumbering-up exercises and grass drill. In view of the hard week ahead the gridsters were given Saturday afternoon off to rest up after a full week of steady work and drill.

The coaches are well pleased with the progress made by the squad in the preliminary training period and plan to put the candidates through a much harder grind this week. With a few exceptions, the most any introduced into form with unusual rapidity. Hill, Carpenter, Dallas and Tadlock, have been hard hit by sore muscles, foot trouble and minor injuries. Carpenter has been out with knee infection but nothing serious is expected to result from the tacker's troubles.

Hard Road Ahead
While the past week has been given over to grass drill, skill practice and general football fundamentals, Coach Payne will start Monday on a different program for the gridsters. A tackling dummy and charging sled will be brought out to toughen the candidates for the scrimmage sessions which are to follow. The coaches have given the squad very few plays during the past week but will add to this number enough plays to carry the team through the first game. Scrimmage will probably get under way by the middle of the week.

In dummy scrimmage during the first week of training, almost every candidate for the team has been worked in the various positions. Letter men of proven ability have shown their places with the untethered material and a natural grower of the variety squad is becoming more and more sure. In some instances there are five or six working for the same position.

Fleets of Backs
Coach Payne has a wealth of material from which to pick his first string backfield this year. Nothing short of disaster can keep the matadors from having a plunging, passing and field kicking backfield that will carry the Tech colors far into the enemy territory. At the halfback positions, a half-dozen or more men of marked ability are working out daily. These include Captain Walker, Levi Walker, Brothers, Smythe, Dallas, Emison and Fisher.

A hard fight looms for the quarterback positions with Arribald, Lassiter, Walker and Marr showing their wares as field position. Woodruff and Chas. Woodruff will furnish the beef for the fullback position.

For the line positions, Coach Freeman has a host of candidates and especially well the competition is keen for the extremely costly. Harlow, Lockhart, Payne, Tadlock, Smeant, Hemple and Pickett are working hard to become regulars at end. Although Red Carpenter and Ed Knowles will be hard to displace from their tackle positions, several other candidates for the plugging duty show promise. Copage, Pike, Castleberry and Langford will have to be reckoned with before any picking is done.

Wesley Westerman is expected to be here for training tomorrow when the Matadors start their second week. Wesley is a fourth year man who has been a mainstay in the Matador line for three seasons past and is coded a sure chance for a position in the line this year.

All no position will the Matadors as better fortified than at the guards. Heading the list of veterans and candidates are "Ox" Reed and Shubby Dewitt, neither of whom have a chance to reach a position in the line this year.

DALLAS, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Dallas Lone Star Gamers, North Central Texas champions, pounded four techers to defeat the Light and over company team of Houston, both Texas winners, 19 to 2 in the Texas Amateur championship game here today.

A double header here tomorrow will decide the title.

Perryton—A new two-story fifteen room hotel has recently been constructed in Perryton.

Alpine—A new lumber company has been incorporated for $25,000, and business here.

Aggie Offensive Hopes Rest On These Backfield Stars

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 15.—The fight for backfield positions on the 1928 grid team of the Texas Aggies, champions of the Southwest Conference last fall, promises to be one of the hottest in many years with four lettermen and an imposing array of material from the varsity and freshman team of last season back to put in bids for positions.

R. E. Burgess, Hale Center, seeking his third football letter at A. and M. is one of the outstanding backs of the conference and is a most likely contender for conference honors this fall. The battle for quarterback, the position left vacant by Joel Hunt, all-American last year, will probably be the most interesting of the season. R. R. Dorsey, Port Worth, a letterman last season, and Frank Ish, Waco, a squadman last fall, will probably take the lead in the fight. Brooks Conover, of Dallas, a sensation until he was injured at midseason last fall, is expected to come back with all his speed and fight this year and is one of the most promising contenders for a halfback position.

Interest In Polo Grows In Section
San Angelo Wins Championship of District One; Wichita and Abilene May Enter Tourney.

COLEMAN, Texas, Sept. 15.—Although Coleman was outplayed and out-scored in two polo games here this week 19-1 and 6-2, the contests served the purpose of greatly stimulating local interest in the game that is making rapid inroads to popularity in West Texas.

By virtue of defeating Coleman, San Angelo advanced to the championship of District 1 of the West Texas Polo Association, which is composed of three districts. The winners in the other two district will compete for the championship during the All-West Texas Exposition September 17-22.

Abilene and Wichita Falls are not regularly affiliated with the West Texas Polo Association, but it is possible that the former city may be given an opportunity to compete with San Angelo before the opening of the fair on September 17. However, numerous Abilene star riders are at present performing in Wichita, Kan. in an army tourney and may not return in time for an elimination game.

Wichita May Compete.
Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 15.—There was a time when Purdue football teams were not such respected members of the Western Conference, but that time is gone forever. And the case is Jimmy Phelan. It is true that Purdue hasn't won any championship under Phelan, but he eleven enjoyed a successful season last year, beating Harvard, Northwestern and Indiana and losing only to Wisconsin and Chicago by close scores, and it is respected now in every game it plays.

And you might add that Phelan has held his job longer than any previous Bollermaker coach. The Purdue mentor is a product of Knute Rockne. He played quarterback on the Irish eleven for three years, capturing the team in 1916. After serving two years in the army during the World War, he took over the coaching job at Missouri where he stayed until he changed to Purdue in 1922.

Harry S. Olson will be field captain for the Bollermakers. He plays center and is one of the quickest defensive men in the conference. He is not bulky, but his alertness and ability to analyze plays makes up for any deficiency in that line. He is 25 years old, lives at Ravinia, Ill., and is a senior this year.

Prospects at Purdue are very bright this fall. A number of veterans who were sophomores last year are back, and the freshman squad sent up a nice gang of youngsters. The schedule is not too hard.

Many Weak Spots Revealed In First Scrimmage To Be Worked Out During Few Days Preceding Friday Contest

Drill On Offensive Play To Be Given Special Time; Plays To Be Worked Out For Opening Game.

With the first scrimmage of the year history, the Lubbock high school Westerners are booked for the hardest training grind of the year during the next four days in which Coach Friska and Morgan hope to whip the team into shape for the coming battle with Post Friday afternoon.

Although the scrimmage practice revealed a number of weak spots on the 1928 grid hopes for Lubbock High, the mentors now have the opportunity to remedy the mistakes made in the practice till. The lack of co-ordination on offensive play and inapt handling of the pigskin will be so worked out in the next few days that the Westerners should go on the field against their class B foes Friday in much better playing condition physically and mentally than they have been this season.

Plan Offensive
Special attention will be given to drill on the plays on hand, working toward a greater perfection in the field generalship and interference. Although more than two complete backfields saw action in the scrimmage Friday, a first string backfield will probably be picked out during the early part of the week and worked together for the rest of the week in order to obtain that harmony so necessary in a smooth working backfield.

The Westerners will probably see scrimmage practice every afternoon this week until Thursday afternoon when a lighter session will be held to round off the team for the tilt the following day. Taken as a whole, the physical condition of the squad is nearing at its topmost peak, and several days of good hard practice should put the gridsters on edge for the opening fray.

Although the coaches have not yet picked their starting men for the first game, by Monday or Tuesday night the outstanding men should be known. However, the names of the starting players may not be announced until the game starts Friday.

Post High School Ready For Battle With Westerners

First Foe For Local Team Boasts Strong Class B Eleven; Backfield Will Be Fast.

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)
POST, Sept. 15.—The Post High school Antelope will close their two weeks training camp this week and according to Coaches Harry Taylor and Gene Taylor, the boys are in perfect shape for their first game with Lubbock next Friday.

While Lubbock is Class A, the Post boys are planning to shoot the works against them and it will be no great surprise to local fans if the team comes home with the game under their belt.

Thirty five huskies reported to the camp and Coach Taylor found most of them in pretty good shape and those that played Post last year will vouch for the fact that this two hundred pound ram can certainly plow the line.

There was let to this year's squad only four last year letter men and of these three of them were in the backfield, however, Preacher Rea from Lockney has clinched one of the half back positions and is setting the pace for the old man. He seems to be the find of the season. Pud Luman will play quarterback this year and as this is his third year on the team, he should be able to give the team confidence on the field. Bill Cray will play full again this year and those that played Post last year will vouch for the fact that this two hundred pound ram can certainly plow the line.

Simmons Coach To Push Squad Hard For Stiff Season

Frank Bridges Making All Practice Sessions Count In Effort To Cope With Strenuous Schedule.

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)
ABILENE, Sept. 15.—With forty-eight men reporting twice daily at Simmons University, Coach Frank Bridges is making every effort to whip into shape a football machine to cope with the strenuous schedule of thirteen, perhaps fourteen games, which faces the Cowboys this season. Only a week remains until the Cowboys meet Deatur Haggett College here in the first game, September 22.

Twelve letter men faced Bridges at the initial practice Monday. They are: Captain "Red" Moore, end; Smith, Pearce, Ribble, tackles; Daniel, C. Daniel, and Jennings, guards; Deavenport and Sanders, halves; Hyde and Walter, quarters; Promising new material is showing up in the daily grinds. Houston, formerly of John Tarleton, of Tuxarkana, Clarke, of Rhodes of Port Arthur and M. shall of Floydada come highly touted as backs. Some of the promising line men are: Thilo, M. left; Calpepper, Cleburne, and B. net, Slason. Many other freshmen are listed who may possibly see a letter with the Cowboys this year.

Some of those who showed nice strength in spring training who have reported are: Goughly, Martin, center; Little, Seymour, half; Allen Abilene, center; Harvey, De Leon half and Sims, 190 pound backfield man, formerly of the San Francisco Olympic club.

The Cowboys face their first very heavy assignment at Breckenridge on October 6 when they meet the T. C. U. Horned Frogs. The following week they meet S. M. U. at Wichita Falls.

"He might do it anyhow," Munroe predicted.

"ORIGINATORS OF THE 10 PAY PLAN IN LUBBOCK"

We are getting a big "kick" out of selling this tire. We did not pick it blind-folded and we are not asking our customers to take our word for it, we are proving tire values to them every day. Never have we been bothered about whether we are going over or not. We can't miss.

We have had dozens of people tell us that they didn't know what to expect of automobile tires until they used MILLERS. All classes of owners—"jitneys"—large passenger cars, heavy trucks—are looking for tires that they can depend on. Some have MILLERS—some are still looking. Have you found the tire you want?

That's Why We Ask

Have You Seen The New Miller Deluxe?

We want you to remember that we do all kinds of tire repairing. A phone call will bring us "pronto." We also wash and grease cars, using the "knowhow" method.

Criminal Court Opens In 99th

Judge Mullican Has Quiet Week; No Arrests Made In Indictments Returned By Grand Jury.

Filing of a petition for divorce and hearing of a contest in another divorce case marked the only action of the 99th District court in session here yesterday.

No arrests have been made on the eighteen persons indicted by the grand jury of the 99th District, although the bills were turned over to the sheriff's department Friday.

Three of the bills indicted were already in the county jail, having failed to make bond, but the remainder were still at large last night. Eight of the indictments were for violation of the prohibition laws, six for forgery, and the others for theft, burglary, and swindling.

After the indictments had been returned to the court Thursday night the grand jury adjourned. It will again be convened early in October.

Criminal court will begin in the 99th District court tomorrow. The docket will be called in the morning by Judge Clark M. Mullican. District Attorney Durwood Bradley will represent the state in the cases.

Chicago Educator Eulogizes Plains

Dr. W. D. McMillan, Former Rancher and Now Astronomy Professor, Visits Here

"Lubbock has the best appearance of its size of any city I have ever seen," said Dr. W. D. McMillan, head of the department of mathematical astronomy at the University of Chicago, and former Lubbock county ranchman, who, as is his annual custom, has been visiting with old friends here.

Dr. McMillan, owner of the original Sunshine ranch, with headquarters six or seven miles northwest of the city, still owns between 2,500 and 3,000 acres of the old place, which was the site of the first settlement and the first well in what is now Lubbock county.

Dr. McMillan's life history known to many of the old timers of the section, reads like a story book. Moving to Lubbock from Fort Worth in 1889, he gave up operation of a grain business in the Panther City to enter the ranching industry on the Sunshine tract. Already the holder of a bachelor of arts degree from the now defunct Fort Worth Methodist university, he plunged into the business of turning calves into dollars and entered into life of the then sparsely populated section.

He went to Chicago in 1905. In 1905, however, his mother's pleas that he come to Chicago to make his home with her and his father, brought about his decision to go there and to the second largest city in the United States which he went, leaving his operations here in the hands of associates.

Upon reaching Chicago, Dr. McMillan, always interested in mathematics and astronomy, in which he dabbled while at the University of Virginia several years before, became friendly with professors on the faculty of the university with which he is now connected. He joined the mathematics department and has been with the university ever since.

Gets Two More Degrees. In 1906 he finished his work on his master's degree and two years later received his doctor of philosophy degree, both from the University of Chicago and both based upon advance study of mathematics and astronomy. Regarded now as a foremost authority on his subject, Dr. McMillan is called upon to travel extensively, giving lectures on mathematical astronomy. Recently he has been delivering lectures over radio stations of the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago News.

The next time he comes to Lubbock Dr. McMillan may bring with him some stereopticon slides and deliver an illustrated lecture for members of the Tech faculty and others in the city who may be interested. Dr. McMillan said he would give the lecture, and then modestly modified his statement with the qualifying clause, "of course if anyone wants me to do it."

Praises This Section. "I have never seen anything like the marvelous transformation of Lubbock and this section," Dr. McMillan said, "and incidentally I also notice the same transfiguration in The Avalanche since I was the paper's first subscriber and have been a subscriber for the past 23 years.

The Avalanche, Dr. McMillan said, compares very favorably with any paper he has every read in cities of Lubbock's size.

Texas Tech, according to the visiting educator, has advanced in a wonderful way since its founding; and he has never heard of a new school making such a record. The Tech faculty, he said, is representative of the older and larger schools of the north and east and the salaries paid instructors here are in line with those of other sections.

Hopes To Come Back. Dr. McMillan intends to leave today for Chicago but when he returns, which probably won't be many years away, hopes to return to make his home here.

"I have never seen such a wonderful climate," he said, "and I hope to return some day to make my home here again."

Dr. McMillan's Sunshine ranch headquarters were located on what was originally the Joe Lang place, settled in the early '30's. The first well dug in Lubbock county is still there and although deepened and equipped with a windmill now, a well giving plenty of water.

Conditions in Chicago are "just like the newspapers say they are," Dr. McMillan says and he blames illicit rum rings as responsible for the lawless situation although he says the average Chicagoan never comes into contact with the slaying and bombings. He is frank in his declarations that in his opinion prohibition is a failure and that he favors the election of Governor Smith. He does not think Governor Smith will be elected, however, but believes it will be the religious issue which, "although unfortunate will defeat him" rather than the New Yorker's outspoken insistence of the prohibition laws.

Dr. McMillan, a bachelor when residing on the Sunshine ranch, is still a bachelor and always intends to be, he says.

DAILY MARKETS

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK. (By Associated Press)

Kansas City, Sept. 15.—(U. S. D. A.)—Considerable unevenness featured the week's cattle trade around the 11 market circuit. Most points showed a 25 to 50c price advance on the better grade of native fed steers and yearlings. At Chicago and St. Louis the in-between grades of steers showed a decline of 25 to 50c but these markets were relatively high last week on such offerings; stocker and feeder trade was steady to 25c higher at most centers with finishers continuing to purchase freely of weighty western grasser; choice medium weight steers at Chicago scored 18.60, a new high level for the year; total receipts were estimated at 200,550 as against 228,221 a week ago and 257,307 a year ago.

Heavy consignments of range lambs swelled the week's sheep supply to 851,850, an increase of 130,700 over last week and 157,000 more than the same period a year ago; fat lambs received a price job of $1 to $1.50 with a late lot in Chicago at 14.35 on range offerings, quality at Kansas City was improved and the late lot at this point on choice Utah lambs was 14.25; aged stock ruled 15 to 35c lower.

Hogs are closing the week unevenly steady to 35c higher; heavy butchers generally 19 to 35c higher. Chicago on Thursday had a top of 13.50 but on the close a comparable grade top at 12.85; aggregate offerings approximated 350,000 as compared with 316,922 last week and 304,061 the corresponding period a year ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK. (By Associated Press)

Fort Worth, Sept. 15.—The hog market today was steady to 10c lower. The top was $12.00 with the bulk selling from $11.50 to $11.85. Sows were 15c to 20c lower at $9.25 to $9.50. Pigs brought from $2.50 to $9.00. The cattle and sheep trades were nominal affairs.

NEW YORK STOCKS. (Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, Sept. 15.—Strong buying support was provided in today's stock market, which rallied in impressive fashion under the leadership of the railroad shares. Week-end profit-taking sales were well absorbed and there was an absence of any concerted "bear" selling such as unsettled the amusement shares in yesterday's late trading. Although the observance of the Jewish religious holiday kept many traders away from the market, trading was fairly heavy for a half holiday session, the day's sales aggregating 1,829,100 shares.

Bullish enthusiasm was created by the statement of President Walter C. Tagle of Standard Oil of New Jersey concerning a world curtailment of production, by the advance in copper prices to 15 cents a pound and by the prospect of easier call money rates next week. Sterling exchange continued to hover around the point where further gold imports would be profitable, arousing hopes of additional shipments from London to New York next week.

Railroad shares, which have taken relatively little part in the advance this month, were under accumulation on the prospect of a sharp increase in freight traffic in the last quarter of the year. St. Louis Southwestern common, which has never paid a dividend, was a strong feature, touching a new high price for the year at 119 1/4, a rise of 7 1/2 points; Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Erie common, New Haven common, Missouri Pacific common, Kansas City Southern, Wabash, St. Louis, San Francisco and Chicago Northwestern also recorded substantial gains.

Motor products was the spectacular individual feature, soaring 21 points to a new high record at 100 as against a low of 54 in July.

Warner Bros. issues, which broke nearly 30 points and unsettled yesterday's market, snapped back briefly by when large buying orders made their appearance, the common showing a net gain of 10 points and the A stock closing 8 points higher. Fox Film and Stanley Company of America also made good recoveries.

New high records for the year, on longer, were established by Columbia Carbon, Electric Auto. Lite, Fleischmann, Granby Mining, Mid-Continent Petroleum and a few others.

WHIRLWIND

BY ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SYBIL THORNE, who knows a good deal about men, meets RICHARD EUSTIS, an astonishing person, who proceeds to make immediate and passionate love. They are on their way to Cuba, where Sybil has planned to meditate quietly concerning her problematical marriage with CRAIG NEWMALL.

Craig is very much in love with her and possesses all the qualifications of an ideal husband, but Sybil has been haunted for years by the specter of her first young romance, JOHN LAWRENCE, whom she adored when she was 18, went to France with the A. E. F. and never returned. ... Sybil has sought to forget her heartbreak through various light affairs and countless indiscretions.

Following the death of her father and the marriage of her brother TAD to VALERIE WEST, a frivolous creature, Sybil sails for Havana with MABEL BLAKE, a good natured young woman, who is determined to get married. It was Mabel who saved Richard Eustis first and looked upon him longingly, but Eustis has not seen anyone but Sybil.

The first night they are together he tells her that he is crazy about her and proposes to make her love him. He kisses her and she promises to meet him every night on deck. Fearfully excited and a little frightened, she awaits developments. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII

Next morning Richard Eustis breakfasted in the saloon, and that day he began his conquest of Sybil. "Morning, noon and night!" complained Mabel, two days later. "And he won't give me a second!" Mabel became a social creature. She chatted with Father Finn and the minister. She studied Spanish with the Corrales and knit a baby jacket for Mrs. Perkins. She sympathized with the Joneses in all their troubles, and listened patiently to the lady from Wellesley.

"Anything," she explained, "to get away from Arnold. I wouldn't marry him, Sib, if he was the last man on earth—and happened to ask me. Now you know how I hate him."

"I suppose," hazarded Sybil, "if he hadn't grabbed you off that first evening Rich would never have fallen to my lot."

"You never can tell. Anyhow, I'll never forgive him for it."

Eustis was making frantic love to Sybil, and everyone aboard was watching the progress of the affair with the avid interest of people who have nothing else to do.

"Don't think," thought Mabel, "that it's just a case of sour grapes—but, honestly, Sib, I think you'd be an awful chump if you threw Craig over."

"Who said I was going to? Anyhow, you thought Rich was pretty special yourself."

"I know I did, dear. And I do think he's absolutely fascinating. But he hasn't Craig's stability, Sybil. He's a sort of ditherer. He pleases me, but he doesn't please me. I think as a lover he's a perfect knockout. But as a husband—well, you know yourself, Sybil, how perfectly wonderful Craig would be. Do you think Richard would be as dependable?"

"If you think Craig's so wonderful why don't you try and get him yourself?"

Mabel flushed darkly and instantly Sybil was contrite.

"Oh, Mabel, I didn't mean that. Please forgive me. You're not angry, are you?"

"Yes, I am. I'm darn good and sore. But you needn't worry. I'll mind my own business after this."

Mabel picked up a book and stalked from their stateroom in outraged dignity.

"There's one thing certain," she reflected grimly, "I'm in for a devil of a trip. Serve me right, running around with Eustis. A loveless kid on my knees—God help me!"

Eustis knocked on Sybil's door. "Come in," she called. And when he opened the door—"Well, if it isn't God's little gift to women! And here's my blue-eyed baby this morning!"

"Sybil, be serious. Where's Mabel?"

"Out on the deck, with a book and a glass."

"May I come in? I want to talk to you, away from all the good ladies and holy men."

She raised her eye lashes lazily. "Go read your little book on etiquette. Don't you know gentlemen never invade a lady's boudoir? Besides, I haven't much to say on yet."

"There—that's better for them than a lip stick. How much longer are you going to kid me along, Sybil?"

"How inelegantly the gentleman talked!"

She nestled against his shoulder. "If Mabel comes in she'll have a fit. If the steward shows up, you'll have to tip him. This is outrageous."

"You like it, don't you?" he held her very close.

"Love it. Oh, my dear, you'll choke me!"

Always from love and kisses, their conversation turned to marriage. Richard, in laughing, modest fashion, condemned it soundly.

"But, my darling," he told her now, releasing her lips longingly, "I almost marry you—I swear I would."

"I suppose," she hazarded lightly, "if it was the only way you could save me, you might be induced to consider it."

"Exactly," he agreed. "A man will do anything if he wants a woman badly enough."

"And you want me that bad?"

"I want you," he told her solemnly, "so much that it's an ache in my bones. A hungry gnaw eats me night and day."

She took him in his arms, and whispered softly:

"It's holding you dear—like this—close enough to make me or any

Anita Page Needs No Harry Thaw To Get Into Movies

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 15.—The movies have come to San Diego and San Diego has welcomed them with open arms.

There aren't any gigantic studios being built—merely a motion picture company here on location. The presence of such an aggregation is still novel enough to hand the natives a big wallop.

Ramon Novarro heads the company that is here now making a picture at the North Island Naval Air Base. Many of the navy fliers are taking part in the picture—and they like it. It's the most excitement they have had in a long time.

The social colony at Coronado Beach, where the company is living, is all aflutter too—particularly the boys and girls of marriageable age. Whenever Novarro or his leading lady, beautiful blond Anita Page, stroll down the street there is many a backward glance and many a sigh.

It's hard to tell which is the most popular, Novarro or Miss Page. Miss Page, former protégée of Harry K. Thaw, has every available officer at the navy base trailing around after her. And the pretty girl summing at Coronado aren't a bit backward about expressing their desire to meet Novarro.

"I'm having the most fun I ever had in my life," the pretty Anita told me. "This is my first location trip and I'm all for it."

Anita no doubt will change her mind after she has been on some location trips. Staying at the fashionable Coronado Beach hotel and getting paid for it is fine. But staying on a stuffy train out in the desert where there's nothing but a glaring sun, miles and miles of sand and a temperature of about 120 degrees is something entirely different.

Says "Hello," "Goodbye," "Gold Brail," which is the picture being filmed here, is a story of naval aviation which winds up with an attempted flight to Hawaii.

About the only reason Miss Page is in the picture is because all movies must have a heroine. Just as Colleen Moore did in "Lilac Time," Anita spends most of her time saying goodbye to the fliers whenever they hop off and welcoming them upon their return. But she does it beautifully.

It's Anita's fourth picture since the "Lilac Time" a few months ago. This little girl, whom Thaw with all his millinery couldn't "put across," has attained real success entirely on her own—proving that influence isn't always necessary in Hollywood. It's a big help though.

Anita Page. . . Harry K. Thaw couldn't get her into movies, but she makes good herself.

Summary

The cotton market suffered a further decline Saturday going deeper into new low ground for the season. Since the close of the market on September 8 before the issuance of the government report, October, New York contracts have lost $9.20 a bale and December contracts have lost $8.75 a bale. New Orleans October contracts have lost $8.10 a bale and December contracts $8.20. Weather conditions over the south were reasonable and the crop is going forward to maturity. Picking is underway in all states now and the movement will be increasingly heavy with constant pressure of spot cotton on the market.

During the week some upturns were experienced but they were feeble after the long decline. After Monday the decline was less precipitous and the selling was not so great. The market is short, but to all appearances is not open to stampede. The trade demand at times was noticeable good and the very bullish textile figures for August at another time might have had some effect. It is considered a drifting market for a while, drifting downward until it gets a good head of steam from something, yet seen and swings around the other way. Such things have happened and usually when least expected. Floor opinion in New Orleans was that while the bureau report of 14,430,000 bales about confirmed average private reports, increase shown in the indicated crop would induce bearish construction but on all sharp breaks would rather buy than sell as crop indicated 12,000,000 less than last season's consumption.

At time Wall Street sold and the West covered freely. Japanese interests are supposed to have sold heavily. So did the South. The weather was considered favorable. Some had private reports were received but they got scant attention.

According to the New York Journal of Commerce the week's business in cotton goods was the best many houses have reported for some time.

Fall River week's cloth sales were 30,000 pieces.

New Orleans week end reviews of the country's general trade net increasing activity with predictions that output for 1929 will beat all records.

The first bale of cotton was sold in Brownfield Friday bringing 21.25 cents per pound.

Manchester cloth and yarns business restricted as buyers look for lower prices.

Weather—Eastern forecast: Mostly fair in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida with the exceptions of some scattered showers. Western forecast: Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and West Texas generally fair Saturday and Sunday. East Texas part cloudy with local showers near the coast.

The government report of Saturday, the 8th inst., gave indicated crop as of Sept. 1st, 1928, as follows:

State	Indicated Crop
Virginia	46,000
North Carolina	970,000
South Carolina	890,000
Georgia	1,100,000
Florida	19,000
Missouri	165,000
Tennessee	441,000
Alabama	970,000
Mississippi	1,230,000
Louisiana	540,000
Texas	5,100,000
Oklahoma	1,306,000
Arkansas	1,250,000
N. Mexico	89,000
Arizona	133,000
California	148,000
Others	10,000

The estimate of acreage abandoned since July 1st to September 1st, was 2 1/2 per cent, leaving 44,918,000 acres to be harvested.

While the figures of 14,430,000 INSIDE-MARKET estimated crop as of September 1st, may temporarily be construed bearishly in comparison with the estimate of 14,291,000, as of August 1st, it must be remembered that on the estimate of 14,291,000 August 8th the market advanced about 150 points, and the decline afterward was caused first by the rumor that the government had made an error with the intimation that the estimate of August 1st, should have been very materially higher than 14,291,000; and second, because of the knowledge that the crop had improved in condition between August 1st, the date to which the report was figured, and August 8th, the date on which the report was released.

We find the exact reverse true now. We do not think there is any doubt in the minds of the trade and well posted people who have kept in touch with crop developments during the past week, but that the crop has materially deteriorated since September 1st, to which date the report was figured, and September 8th the date of its release. For a week and longer there has been exceeding heavy rainfall in the Southeast, resulting in increased weevil activity. The crop has stopped making in Mississippi and

EDITORS CHOOSE CHIEF

GREENVILLE, Sept. 15. (P)—W. A. Brundage of Grand Prairie was elected president of the North Texas Press Association at its closing session here. The site for next year's convention will be announced later. G. W. Cross, Mount Pleasant, was elected vice president, and Carl Gallagher was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

We therefore wish to go on record in advising purchases on declines as we believe that great opportunity is offered for profits on the long side when the trade realizes that instead of a plentiful supply of cotton a scarcity will probably develop.

Opening Gun In Paved Roads Drive Fired As Association Is Organized

A two-thirds majority is necessary to carry a bond issue. The permanent organization—styled the Lubbock County Good Roads Association—has a board of directors consisting of 38 members and having representation from every school district in the county; and it has an executive committee to care for details incident to organization of the road campaign.

Enthusiasm on behalf of the movement for good roads ran high at the session. Representatives from parts of the county which would receive paved roads, as well as men from those sections who would not be benefitted directly by the bond issue, alike joined in the unanimous assertion that progress nowadays is dependent on good roads.

Six Chosen President. Jed Ris of Lubbock, was chosen president of the association. Loyd A. Wilson of Slaton was elected secretary and the following vice-presidents from the four commissioners' precincts of the county were named to complete the executive committee, with one member-at-large: Northeast precinct, E. T. Daniels, Idalou; Northwest, P. C. Calley, Shallowater; Southeast, J. T. Overby, Slaton, and Southwest, M. T. Daniels, Wolfarth. P. C. Stokes of Slaton was named member-at-large, completing an executive committee of seven.

A frank and open but aggressive campaign on behalf of the issue is to be waged, sentiment expressed by members attested.

The meeting, resulting from the general undercurrent of sentiment among county leaders that good roads are vital to future progress of the county, was started at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Outline of Plan Given. Jed Ris, acting as temporary chairman, briefly and concisely presented the matter. He stressed the point that the roads were needed now, not 20 years hence, and said that a cursory investigation of sentiment throughout the county had revealed general approval to the plan.

"We realize, however, that it will take the undivided support of good roads advocates in all parts of the county to carry this issue," he stated.

A tentative outline of the plan which has been sketched for road improvement was traced.

It showed that a paved highway from Abernathy to Lubbock; from Lubbock southeast through Slaton to the county line; from Lubbock westward toward Levelland to the county line; from Lubbock northwest through Shallowater to the county line in direction of Littlefield; from Lubbock southwest to the county line toward Brownfield; and from Lubbock northeast toward Idalou would be provided through voting of the bonds, together with state aid anticipated.

Community Links Provided.

It further showed that second class, but hard-surfaced roads suitable for all kinds of weather would be provided from Lubbock east to Canyon, Acuff and east to the county line, and from Slaton across to Woodrow.

Thirdly, the outlined plan stated that state designation of a road now linking the northeast part of the county with Slaton, through way of Acuff and Idalou would be sought and if obtained, this highway would be paved. If state aid were not obtained, the bond issue will provide a second class highway here.

The program thus advocated, leaders pointed out, would equip Lubbock county with roads equal to those of any county in the state. It would stamp this county as a community imbued with civic pride and would set an example of progress for other South Plains counties to emulate.

Delegates Favor Project. Discussion revealed sentiment of representatives at the meeting to be overwhelmingly in favor of the bond issue and of good roads as quickly as possible. Earl Davis of Acuff, P. G. Stokes of Slaton, A. C. McRae of Union, A. N. Becton of Bledsoe, E. T. Daniels of Idalou, Pat Nix of Canyon, D. H. Hatchett of Idalou, Ward Crim of Monroeville and others were outspoken in advocacy of the issue.

On motion of Mr. Overby of Slaton, the outlined plan for road improvement was adopted.

Next, A. E. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, sketched organization details of the proposed Lubbock County Good Roads association.

The directorate, of 38, will include three men from Slaton, three from Idalou and six from Lubbock, together with one representative from each school district in the county. This directorate will have charge of the campaign, with detailed work being left to the executive committee.

Local Sub-Committees. Each community representative was empowered to organize local sub-committees to attend to local details of the drive.

Committees on finance, publicity, polls, speakers and entertainment are to be appointed at a later time. The executive committee is to be called into session early next week to hear estimates from officials in the division highway office here and prepare petitions for circulation through the county.

It is planned for the secretary of the association, L. A. Wilson, to make his offices in this city during the campaign.

Rocket Airplane Outrivals Wildest Dreams of Jules Verne

Here are three drawings of the proposed rocket airplane of Max Valier, who appears at the upper left. On the right is a graphic sketch of a single rocket plane as it would appear in flight. On the left a double rocket plane. The sketch below shows the construction of a large rocket plane with parachutes under the nose, steering room and cabin—and rocket tubes in the tail.

By NEA Service

Like a fiery-comet sailing through the sky, the rocket airplane proposed by Max Valier, Austrian aeronautical inventor, would link Berlin to New York within the remarkable time of one hour. The strange outrivals the wildest dreams of Jules Verne.

Valier's proposal is an outgrowth of recent tests conducted outside Berlin in the rocket-motored automobile built by Fritz von Opel. This machine attained a speed of 230 miles an hour, but on a subsequent test it was destroyed by even faster if a body can be designed to keep to the ground.

Since Valier's rocket airplane, however, would have the entire upper regions to itself, he has designed it so that it will attain a speed up to 4000 miles an hour at an altitude of more than 35 miles. High up in this rarefied atmosphere, there could be practically no wind resistance, to retard the rocketing plane.

Valier's proposed airplane looks like a huge firecracker rocket from the back of which would belch the explosions of powerful gases that would propel the ship through the air. Charges of explosive would be fed continuously into two or four magazines, shooting the ship into the high air and over the ocean at a speed reaching 4500 miles an hour.

Within, in what is practically an air-tight cabin, would be the passengers, feeling no ill effect from the speed or the almost instantaneous propulsion into the extremely rare atmosphere 35 miles above the earth. An oxygen-supplied ventilating system would accommodate their normal breathing for the hour or so the plane would be in the air.

The height the rocket airplane is supposed to attain would be more than four times that ever reached by man. Man's altitude record so far is that of the late Captain Hawthorne C. Gray, who died on his descent in a balloon after he had reached the height of 42,470 feet—more than eight miles.

Airport Sites

Expert Advice Sought. The committee will accept submissions and when they are all in will have a representative of the Federal Department of Commerce visit the city to advise upon the site most suitable. The committee's decision will be based upon the expert advice thus afforded, Mr. Benson stated.

The committee meeting was held in the offices of Roscoe Wilson, local attorney, with Chairman Benson, Mr. Wilson, Jo Dick Slaughter and Chas. A. Guy present. John Dairymple, the other member of the committee, is out of the city.

City Has Not Discussed Plan. Just what action the City commission will take in the matter of calling a bond election to procure funds for the purchase of an airport cannot be expressed at this time because the commissioners have never discussed the matter. Mayor Harley D. Woods said last night. The Mayor stated that it would be impossible for the administration to take a stand without knowing how much money was needed for the project and what would be the financial status of the city at the time the question came up for a decision.

Although without a definite site in view, Chairman Benson is of the opinion that $50,000 will be needed for the project. "We can't expect to have a Class A port right off the bat," was his comment, "but we should start out in such a manner that we can eventually build up to a first class field."

Jo Dick Slaughter, who is interested in flying from a personal standpoint as well from the point of being a member of the committee, ventured the assumption that Lubbock could have been a fueling or over-night stop in the recent New York-Los Angeles Cross-Country Air Derby had this city offered adequate airport facilities. Mr. Benson agreed that the assumption was a logical one. Midland, Pecos, El Paso and Fort Worth were the Texas points figuring in the Class B and C derbies, which ended Thursday.

"Regular" Campaign Planned. In reporting the Slaton meeting, Mr. Goodman, "regular" wheelhorse and the county's delegate to the Houston national convention stated that the "regular" party would stage a whirlwind campaign, probably of 30 days duration, in the interests of Governor Smith and Senator Robison, democratic standard bearers. Cullen F. Thomas, of Dallas, widely known Texas party leader, or some other man of similarly high calibre, will probably speak in this county during the 30 day drive, Mr. Goodman stated.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the whirlwind campaign came the announcement that Mrs. James H. Goodman had been appointed as a member of the state executive committee from the Thirtieth Senatorial district, composed of 24 Plains counties. Mrs. Goodman, widely known here, is the only woman member of the committee, composed of 31 members. She takes the place of Tom Carrard, Lubbock attorney, whose term expired at the time of the last week's convention in Dallas. The place was formerly held by Pink L. Parrish.

County Situation Important. Leaders of the "regular" campaign intend to carry the county for Smith, "both for the good of the party and the good of the county," they said last night. # Has Two Reasons Speaker Wants Win For G.O.P.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—There are at least two reasons why Nicholas Longworth wants to see a republican victory in November.

One of them is that he likes to see the G. O. P. in control of congress.

The other is his distinclination to part with the automobile which is a part of the equipment of the speaker of the house.

"I'd hate to see Jack Garner running around in my automobile," he said today after a call at the white house.

Representative Garner, of Texas, would be in line for speaker if the democrats should win.

Longworth said, incidentally, that his chief campaign activities would be to insure a house republican majority.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Warren E. Brown, a director of the Santa Fe railroad, who returned here today from a conference of Santa Fe directors in New York, said today shares of the Orient, sale of which has been approved by the interstate commerce commission, would be paid for by the Santa Fe by September 25.

Mr. Brown declared there would be no necessity of financing the purchase as the railroad was prepared when the offer to buy was transmitted. In the meantime, Mr. Brown said he believed there would be no announcement of the policy the railroad intended to pursue.

His Family Numbers 6744! Missouri Doctor Has Brought That Many Babies Into the World in Fifty-Six Years of Practice

Dr. J. E. Gordon and a few of his 6744 "babies" are shown as they assembled recently at his home, in Bunker, Mo. The doctor is in the center of the group and in the inset below.

(By NEA Service)
BUNKER, Mo., Sept. 15.—Some day you may be walking down the street in Heinsburg or Tokio or some place you might meet somebody who hails from Bunker, Mo.

If you do, the chances are 100 to 1 that he knows Doc (Dr. J. E.) Gordon, and the chances are 10 to 1 that Doc Gordon brought that person into the world.

For Doc Gordon, 77-year-old family doctor of this town, has officiated at the birth of 6744 babies during his 56 years of practice here. At a recent anniversary celebration, 400 of the "babies" gathered at the doctor's home.

Many of Doc Gordon's babies are grandparents now. Hundreds are parents and the others range in age from a few days to twenty-one years. Just a day before the celebration, Doc Gordon drove several miles into the country to bring a new citizen into the world.

In 1871, Doc Gordon will tell you, he helped the state at $5 per help; now he gets $25. For 26 years he rode back through woods that boasted no better highways than paths. Then he bought a horse and buggy. Now he spins over the roads in a "little car."

Messages to Doc Gordon came from every corner of the world when he marked his anniversary recently. The postmarks of African towns, South American countries and European lands were numerous.

Doctor Gordon thinks that bringing a baby into the world is one of a doctor's biggest responsibilities. He beams when he handles the tiny, flailing figures. He takes his work as a sacred duty.

"All these little fellows have a chance to be president some day, you know," says this kindly old physician, who has spent his years ministering to the needs and brightening the days of his neighbors in this little corner of the world.

Mr. O'Connell announced last night, and "Hoover for President" chairmen will be appointed in every Hockley county precinct. It was also decided that a women's organization was to be perfected in Hockley county as was done here recently.

Hockley county men joining the movement included E. R. Hiner, E. F. Simmons, T. F. Buttle, J. P. Cole, D. N. Fortner, M. K. Lindy, L. O. Lantier, J. A. Goss, M. H. Brooks, Emmet White, Ed Hofacker,

Air-Rail Service Inaugurated

Co-ordinated railroad and airplane passenger service, operating on definite schedules, was inaugurated in Chicago the other day with the first flight of a giant tri-motored Ford plane, carrying passengers from the east to St. Paul and Minneapolis. The plane trip saved a whole business day for travelers. Miss Jeanette Eckerhardt, first passenger, is shown handing her ticket to Agent Peterson at Chicago.

Beautiful Belle Bennett Is Beaten By Bashfulness—Her Career Is Blighted

Belle Bennett—strangely missing from the screen since "Stella Dallas."

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., 13.—The actress who licked herself because she is everybody's friend.

That, in a nutshell, is the story of Belle Bennett's failure on the screen. Two or three times Miss Bennett has been heralded as one of the most brilliant prospects on the celluloid horizon. But each time she slipped from the public's view.

Miss Bennett lacks showmanship. When she first rose to stardom, the actress refused to take advantage of her position. She continued to wear simple clothes and would not in any way exploit herself when around the studio.

Everybody's Friend
Belle brought happiness to many extras, electricians and stage hands because she continued to try to be one of them. But unfortunately they aren't the ones who deal out the coveted roles of importance. And Hollywood executives couldn't understand her. Movie-dom is built primarily on showmanship. And that must begin right at home.

I don't mean that any actor or actress should get "high hat" just over a little success. But at least they must maintain a certain amount of "glow" if they are to convince the producers of their worth. One might say that being a box office attraction is sufficient. But it isn't.

"Stella Dallas," Miss Bennett's last big film, caused no end of comment. It made a lot of money and still is bringing in profits. Miss Bennett's performance was outstanding. Critics predicted that there was no limit to the heights to which the actress might rise. Had Belle started using showmanship at that time and believed in her own mind that she was necessary to the film industry, she probably still would be seeing her name in glittering electric lights. But she didn't think that. She considered herself just a small cog in this great movie machine.

Happy In Her Home
But with all of her troubles and her failures just when she thought she was on the verge of success, Miss Bennett is one of the happiest women in make-believe village.

She lives in her comfortable though not large home, happy with her husband and her friends.

A DAY'S WORK

Railroads right now are having their troubles about pay, labor and unit of work. That is one trouble that is worrying every plant and every office. What is a day's work? That question was asked a dozen times at the meeting of the editors and publishers at Alexandria last week. There is no answer to that question. Edison does a hundred years' work in a few hours; others of us keep up with the day by trying to solve the problem of a day's work unit. Most trouble with men, plants and workers of all kinds, including Madame who runs the home, is that we are all afraid that we might do too much, work too hard. But as far as the records go very few people die from under-eating and overworking. There was a student in a college once in the long ago who is supposed to have died from studying too much, but the record of the cause of his death is not proved. Few of us ever work too much excepting with our mouths and that works overtime.—Minden Signal-Tribune.

NO GOLDEN KEY

A Portland man leaves $100,000 in trust to reward geniuses named Rackieff, Miller or Nelson, those being names that figure in his own genealogy. But how are the trustees to recognize genius that needs reward? And, after genius is recognized, what need for a mere $100,000? The only time that any part of $100,000 would have come in handy to Thomas A. Edison was when he was peddling papers and peanuts on railroad trains, or pounding at a telegraph key. Had he been handed a chunk of coin it would not have made him more a genius. And after he was recognized the money rolled in so fast he did not need that kind of help. Giving Edison a chunk of money would not have made him any more a genius, for a genius is not what he is because there is a prize hanging up but because he cannot help it, any more than the rain can help raining. As there is no royal road to learning, so there is no golden key to genius. It just is or isn't, and that is all there is to it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

INSECT PESTS COST COUNTRY BILLIONS

One million men work in vain each year, in the United States, because destructive insects and other pests prevent the fruition of their labors. Losses from these causes approximate $2,000,000,000 each season, according to Federal authorities engaged in this branch of endeavor. Californians may not appreciate fully the efforts of their own State Bureau of Plant Quarantine to prevent the entry of these agents of agricultural devastation. A constant fight is maintained at all borders against enemies of fruit, grain, hay, vegetables, nuts, cotton, timber, animals and other products, as well as organic materials found in the ordinary household. Humans suffer from diseases carried by flies, mosquitoes and rodents.

Hawaii was ruined for certain fruits by reason of the Mediterranean fly. This menace has been successfully barred from California, but eternal vigilance is necessary for continued immunity. The cotton-boll weevil, insects that might destroy the alfalfa fields and potato crops of the state, also have been held outside the boundaries. Mexico has a citrus pest that would play havoc with California's orange groves if it should gain a foothold.

The list could be continued indefinitely; and when one foe of farm and orchard has been conquered, others appear. The corn-borer has been giving anxiety to Central states during recent years. In addition to the tremendous losses from these parasites, many millions of dollars are spent year after year for insecticides and fungicides in efforts to prevent further damage. Experimentation looking toward new remedies, such as that which would stamp out the walnut blight, is another costly process, but it must be pursued with as much determination as that which marks the combat against insects, fungi and injurious bacteria.—Pasadena Star-News.

Old Favorites And New Finds Star In Week's Films

Barthelme and Sue Carroll Will Be Starred Here

Effect Of Returning Tech Students Is Reflected In Varied Programs Offered By Local Theatres

In keeping with the demands of the returning students and the activity of the in-coming season, Lubbock theatres are offering this week an unusually varied and interesting program of amusement. The casts of the different pictures include a number of old favorites, as well as many new stars who represent the latest finds in Hollywood. These finished actors and actresses are featured in some powerful plots, some of which have the mystery element paramount, others comedy, and still others, are predominantly tragic.

At the Palace today and tomorrow Sue Carroll will be seen in "Walking Back," a rollicking story of the young generation at its happiest. Sue Carroll is only a younger sister herself, Pale having cast her as a cinema star. She was visiting in Hollywood, after finishing at National Park Seminary for Young Ladies in Washington, D. C., and traveling with her mother in Europe, and had no intention of trying to break into the movies. However, her sparkling type of beauty caught the attention of a casting director and he insisted upon giving her a screen test. As a result, she became one of the most popular youthful actresses in a very short while. In "Walking Back," she has a role which suits her vivacious personality.

Barthelme Real Star Monday and Tuesday at the Lindsey, Richard Barthelme will appear in "Out of the Ruins," a film version of Sir Philip Gibbs' well known short story. Richard Barthelme, who created a character for all time, in his interpretation of "Tolable Avid" and "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," needs no introduction to the public. His quaint and whimsical personality is known and loved all over the civilized world.

"13 Washington Square" is the name of the picture which the Lyric will show Monday and Tuesday. It is another hair-raising drama of mystery and intrigue similar to "The Cat and the Canary" which will give the fan plenty of thrills and spine-tingling shivers. A fascinating love story is enacted, with a House of Mystery as the background and Alice Joyce as the charming victim of a sinister "under-ground" plot. Miss Joyce is an accomplished actress, and a favorite of several years' standing.

Social Problems Seen Barbara Bedford will be shown at the Palace three days, starting Tuesday, in "The Port of Missing Girls." This picture has been extensively advertised, and is said by critics to be one of the most powerful portrayals of real life ever shown. It deals with the social problem of the disappearance of young women in the large cities of every section of the country. Barbara Bedford has the vivid role of Ruth King, a modern flapper, who suddenly drops out of her little world, leaving no trace of her existence for her distracted parents and friends.

At the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday a real comedy of the air will be shown, starring Charlie Murray and George Sidney. These two

New Barthelme Is Seen On Cinema "Out Of The Ruins", Here Tomorrow

Patrons of the Lindsey Theatre are about to be introduced to a new Richard Barthelme. On Monday and Tuesday they will be presented to the First National star's newest feature production, "Out of the Ruins," a fast-moving and dramatic screen version of the well-known short story by Sir Philip Gibbs. In "Out of the Ruins," Barthelme will be seen for the first time in years in a role strictly calling for love scenes rather than character delineation. In his previous productions, the star has been noted for his extraordinary character studies, such as in "Broken Blossoms," "Tolable David," "The Patient-Lessing Kid" and "The Noose." In "Out of the Ruins," however, he is given not only excellent histrionic opportunities, but is also given a beautiful love story.

Although this story is laid in France during and after the recent World War, the story is really one concerning love and its tribulations. Barthelme in the role of a French Blue Devil deserts his regiment in order to be with his sweetheart. His court martial as a deserter, his sentence to be shot and what follows forms the unusual denouement of the Gibbs narrative.

For the first time, Marian Nixon is seen as the heroine and the combination of Barthelme-Nixon is said to be of great dramatic promise. The cast is one of the usual Barthelme standards, including such superlative players as Bodil Rosing, Eugene Pallette, Emile Chautain, and Robert Frazer.

Still unidentified STEPHENVILLE, Sept. 15 (AP)—Late tonight authorities had failed to identify the aged man shot and killed on a highway 12 miles south of here late Thursday.

TO MEET IN EDINBURG DALLAS, Sept. 15 (AP)—The motor bus division of the Railroad Commission today set for hearing at Edinburg September 27 ten bus applications.

MCCAMEY HAS RECORD McCAMEY, Sept. 15 (AP)—Two and one half years and not a cemetery is the record of this oil town, now making on performance as it becomes a pipeline and oil supply center.

GOOD SAILORS KIEL, Germany—The Drakes seem to be excellent navigators. There was Sir Francis, for instance. Now comes one Drake all by himself all the way from Seattle in a little schooner. He's going home the same way.

Sue Carroll Did Not Seek Career In Silent Drama

Profession Sought Star In "Walking Back," New Saga Of Youth, To Be Presented Today

While the Cinderella motif is usually conspicuous by its absence when it comes to breaking into motion pictures, there are some rare instances in which the films seek the individual who has no intentions of making a bid for screen fame.

In the favored class is Sue Carroll, who was selected by Cecil B. DeMille to play the ingenue lead in "Walking Back" which comes to the Palace Theatre on today and Monday. Richard Walling plays opposite her.

Quits School for Screen Sue Carol went to Hollywood on a visit, after she had left National Park Seminary for Young Ladies in Washington, D. C., and had spent several months accompanying her mother on a European tour. This charming nineteen year old girl was desirous of seeing the film stars at work and play, rather than becoming one of them. A casting director suggested that her sparkling, vivacious face, velvet brown eyes and frame of curly dark hair, deserved a screen test. Sue agreed because it afforded her an opportunity to visit a motion picture studio.

Test Wins Screen Role However, the test revealed this Chicago as so photographically perfect that she was at once given a part in a production and later cast for the leading role in "Slaves of Beauty." Then Douglas MacLean selected her as his leading lady for "Soft Cushions." Next she was chosen by DeMille to play opposite William Boyd in "Sky-scraper" in which she triumphed.

Rapid-Fire Melodrama Miss Carol has the role of a high school miss in "Walking Back." This is a rapid-fire melodrama of nu-to-the-minute boys and girls confronted with the modern problems of bootleggers, holdup men, wild automobile rides and gay parties. The story was written by George K. Turner and adapted for the screen by Monte Katterjohn Rupert Julian was the director.

William Walling is screen opposite Miss Carol in a strong role. The cast includes many film favorites. Among them being Robert Edson, Ivan Lebedeff, Jane Keckley, Florence Turner, James Bradbury and Arthur Rankin. The picture was produced under the supervision of Bertram Millhauser.

STARS TAKE TO AIR Murray and Sidney Fly In "Flying Rocoos" Film

Can you imagine George Sidney and Charlie Murray as intrepid trans-oceanic fliers? Although not so intrepid, perhaps that's what these popular First National comedians become in "Flying Rocoos," their latest picture, which comes to the Lindsey Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Some thrilling airplane shots are interspersed between the hilarious comedy which combines to make a highly diverting picture.

Today And Monday At The Palace

Known Richard Walling, Sue Carol and the robber in the Palace feature which is the feature of the Sunday and Monday program at the Palace theatre.

NEWSPAPER STORY "Let 'er Go Gallegher" Is Pulsing Drama

The thrill of the pulsing presses of a metropolitan newspaper, the ever watchful spirit that permeates the editorial rooms of a great daily and the ceaseless action that enlivens the life of a reporter, are elements of genuine screen entertainment in the Pathe-De Mille picture, "Let 'er Go Gallegher," which comes to the Palace Theatre on next Friday and Saturday. "Let 'er Go Gallegher" is a screen story by Elliott Clawson which has for a background a city newspaper and depicts the trials of a newspaper reporter in search of news combined with the activities of an alert copy boy, the latter portrayed by Junior Coghlan. Harrison Ford, Elinor Fair and Ivan Lebedeff have prominent roles in this charming and thrilling picture. Elmer Clifton was the director.

Dr. Justin Wilson of Edinburgh, has been elected a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, the first woman to win this honor.

Barbara Bedford Plays Sensational Role In 'The Port Of Missing Girls'

Barbara Bedford, who has achieved an enviable position as one of the leading free-lance featured players in motion pictures, has one of the most important screen roles of the year in the melodramatic success, "The Port of Missing Girls," coming to the Palace Theatre three days starting Tuesday.

The theme of this timely film production answers one of the most vital questions of modern social life, and depicts some of the temptations in the lives of countless young women whose sudden disappearance from every section of the country is an every-day occurrence. Statistics gathered by civic authorities and social service workers attest that nearly 75,000 young girls disappear from their homes each year, never to be heard of again, and one has only to read his home town newspaper for seven consecutive days to have this statement brought home to him in a vivid manner by the reported absence of some local young woman whose frantic family makes vain appeals to police and state officials.

In "The Port of Missing Girls," which was directed by Irving Cummings from an original story by Howard Eastbrook, Barbara Bedford is seen as Ruth King, a wealthy young woman, whose sudden disappearance serves to focus parental and police attention to "The Port of Missing Girls."

West Looms in Political Horizon As Speakers Start Oratorical Fight

Standard Bearers of Both Parties to Center Early Activities in Sector; Both Parties Are Bothered With Situations in South and West

BY D. FIELDING BRITTE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (AP)—The West looms now in the political horizon, drawing three of four presidential and vice presidential standard bearers to its sectors while the other fingers behind to continue the fight in the East.

Within a few days only Herbert Hoover of the quartet will be east of the Mississippi, held there by his scheduled speech in New Jersey while Alfred E. Smith will be carrying the democratic flag through the farm belt on his first drive into the country that will take him to Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado and then home through northwestern states.

Robinson Goes to Coast
Through much of the same region Senator Robinson, the governor's running mate, is to travel and make speeches on his way to the Pacific coast after a rest from his rush through the south, defending Smith as he went. The trails of both democrats may be crossed during the next ten days by those of his foe, Senator Curtis, republican vice presidential candidate.

Curtis now has turned to the west for a rapid-fire campaign in thirteen states.

Both Nealmess Active
Smith and Hoover turn to their speech-making after a week of quiet endeavor, most of which was underground activity of organization work. Both candidates drew the public's quickened interest for a space, however, Smith issuing a detailed statement that had to do with "calling a lie in the whispering campaign" while Hoover conferred at length with President Coolidge, after which it was disclosed that the executive desires to do what he can to help his former cabinet officer.

The Smith statement concerned an underground story that he was intoxicated when he recently attended the New York state fair at Syracuse. It came shortly after Chairman Work of the republican national committee denounced "whispering campaigns" as harmful to both sides and as "without the sanction or authority" of the national committee.

Farm Relief Still Question
South and west, where both parties are bothered most by continuing fires of rebellion, surpassed the east during closing week in contribution of political happenings. Below the Mason-Dixon line and west of the Mississippi, prohibition and farm relief remain sore spots, hard pressed as an issue by religion that comes more and more to the surface as November nears.

Against A's Wetness
A leadership for democrats opposed to Smith because of his wetness has been offered by a meeting of dissenters at Memphis representing 17 states. They issued a declaration that Smith had "bolted" the Houston platform on prohibition and had thereby released democrats from any obligation of support. They appealed to other Smith foes in the South to join them, but at the same time a section of Georgia was demonstrating in the state primary that it will go along with Smith supporters.

In the Atlanta congressional district, Rep. Leslie J. Wells, a Smith advocate, won re-nomination by a good margin over the very dry and anti-Smith former representative William S. Upshaw.

The religious issue remained a dominant theme in the church field at Tacoma, Wash. Methodist Episcopal bishop called on the clergy and laity to join the campaign against Smith and "Any move to bring liquor back to America" a Florida, Ill. Methodist Episcopal preacher urging his hearers to vote against the governor "because he is a drinking man," and a Sherman, Texas, judge advocating withdrawal of "patronage from pastors who circulate false standards in support of unreformed democrats. As if to offset activities of others of the cloth, five midwestern preachers offered to take the stump on behalf of Smith, and in Illinois a Catholic bishop and in Indiana a letter to all his priests that they "Leave outside the Catholic church the unholo, unjust, unwise and un-American task of dragging religion into politics."

Nebraska, where Smith will make his first western speech, has given him endorsement of its state labor federation and has given to Mr. Hoover a former anti-Hoover leader. Mark Woods, who led the Nebraska anti-unionism to the Kansas City convention, now is supporting the republican candidate on the farm relief declaration. Nearby in North Dakota, however, Governor Markdon, an independent allied with the republican, and leader of the G. O. P. declaration to Kansas City has decided to run for re-election as a democrat and the regular democratic nominee has withdrawn to facilitate matters.

Boyle's Support of Business
Leads to big business, whose support is claimed and desired by both parties, continue to announce retention or change of political identity. This week's prize stayed with the republicans, Charles L. Boyle, vice president of General Motors, endorsing Hoover and calling for a republican congress for economic reasons. Others of the general motors officials already have endorsed Smith and Hoover according to their personal dictates.

The other development on the Hoover side was the decision of officers of the national women's party to support him, although he frankly told them he could not pledge himself in advance to work for an equal rights amendment to the constitution.

As both parties dig in for the campaign that still has six weeks to run, their spokesmen are debating the importance of the Main-land election that turned up the biggest majority the republicans ever had in that republican state. After both sides had published their interpretations of the verdict they turned to the fact that the biggest chance from usual was the smallness of the democratic vote. The republicans say the democrats preferred to stay at home rather than appear to be supporting Smith, although national issues played a relatively minor part, but the democrats pressed to see nothing unusual in the situation.

Eaton Refuses To Make Forecast On Crop
For the first time in recent history, mid-September has arrived in Lubbock county without the agricultural agent's being able to give some prediction of the probable cotton yield.

County Agent D. F. Eaton yesterday admitted that the task of predicting in any way just what the crop would amount to was beyond him.

"Heretofore I have been able to forecast within 1,000 bales the total yield for the season, almost invariably," he said. "But this year I won't even venture a guess."

Many Factors Determine
He said that there were a great many factors yet in the making. First, fully 50 per cent of the crop is yet to be grown. Second, damage from pests of various descriptions, while known to be considerable, is still an unsolved issue. Furthermore, the date of frost and possible future moisture are paramount factors.

Cotton opening in many fields in the southern and western portions of the county, he said. Picking is expected to be started within a few weeks. Mr. Eaton anticipated no shortage of pickers here this year.

Farmers generally are more optimistic at this time than they were the first part of the week. Exceptionally favorable weather of the week has boosted their spirits considerably.

Murder Tale

er of the Winslow boys he was forced to slay to save his own life, and to obtain permission to leave. He said the murders took place in and around an old hen house and that the bodies were all buried. Traces of graves were found by investigators but it was apparent that any bodies they had contained had been removed, supposedly through fear of detection.

Clark was brought to juvenile hall several days ago after a sister had come from Saskatoon, Canada for a visit on the Northcott ranch. Threatened, she said, by the Northcotts, the girl feared to tell wh. she knew of the murders. On returning to Canada, however, she informed immigration authorities who brought about Clark's detention.

Influenced By Hickman Case
The youth who revealed the crimes accompanied officers to the ranch today to aid in the search for bodies. He said the first of the boys killed was the Mexican, whose headless body was found several months ago a few miles from the ranch. Clark said the Northcott boy had been influenced by reading about the Hickman case in which William Edward Hickman kidnaped and mutilated a young Los Angeles girl.

Word was received from Vancouver, B. C. this afternoon that Northcott and his mother were believed to have been there a week ago.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Officials tonight began to express doubt as to the veracity of the story of the Northcott murder ranch crimes, as told to them by fifteen year old Sanford Clark. The boy, brought to juvenile court from the Pomona chicken ranch of George Cyrus Northcott, accused Mrs. Northcott and her 21 year old son, Stuart, of kidnaping, torturing and killing with an axe four boys.

Bones which investigators today dug up on the Northcott ranch, and many of which had been burned, were declared by a sheriff's chief deputy and other officials as likely to be bones of chickens and other butchered animals as of humans. One bone, they said, might have been part of a human skull; but they were not positive.

minimized because the buildings were of a fire-proof construction. The concrete storage tank which contained the boiling sea of oil was cracked until it will be worthless for future use. Walls of the water-treating house and the reinforced ice fault which were near the storage tank will be replaced. Mr. Allen said.

Ice in the vault did not melt although the side of the vault became red hot after several hours of the fire. The fire burned from 10:30 until 4:30 yesterday morning.

Curtis Makes Plea for GOP in Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Before a rally of Kentuckians opening their state republican campaign, Senator Curtis, the party's vice-presidential nominee, today advocated higher tariff as a means of benefiting the "ailing" agricultural situation and reiterated his stand that the prohibition law "can be enforced with proper effort."

He pledged republicans to upward tariff revision. He also saw additional hopes for the farmers in the "promise" of Herbert Hoover to call agricultural conferences and in the prospect for improved marketing systems.

Escaped Texas—Convicts Wants to Leave

NUEVO LAREDO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—An escaped Texas convict decided to go back to prison today, rather than remain in the "dirty hole" here in which he was living.

J. E. White, who escaped from the Huntsville penitentiary September 8, was arrested in a hotel here today by Laredo detectives. White willingly agreed to go to the Webb county jail on the other side of the Rio Grande because he said, "I am tired of the dirty hole in which I am living."

He was sentenced from Cleburn, Dooly county for highway robbery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White were taken to the Webb county jail.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Wilbur Ervin, 46, shot near Pomona several days ago, returned a verdict today blaming Mrs. Ruth Swerd. Mrs. Swerd admitted the shooting, saying first that Ervin had annoyed her. Later she said she believed she had shot the wrong man. The shooting took place on a motor bus.

Police said they had evidence that Mrs. Swerd had prepared for several weeks to kill "somebody." Ervin was said to have come to California from Texas.

Record-Breaking Fair Is Presaged By Early Entries

Livestock And Agriculture Appear To Be Unusually Strong And Lists For Poultry Exhibits Are Mounting

Exposition Headquarters In C. of C. Offices, Fairly Bursting With Activities Of Fair Workers

Insistent demand for exhibit and concession space, accelerated activity in construction of new buildings and in clearing of the grounds, and steadily mounting exhibitors' lists in all departments—especially the livestock and agricultural branches—yesterday presaged a record-breaking Panhandle South Plains fair, with the opening date barely two weeks away.

The past week has been a busy one at exposition headquarters with the entire office staff being feverishly engaged in hurrying the multifarious duties connected with the staging of such an event here.

Livestock Entries Strong. Livestock entries from all over the state of Texas and from some of the best known exhibitors in the entire country; work throughout the county on community exhibits and reports from other counties of heated competition for the prizes offered in this division; and encouraging reports from representatives all over the South Plains region combine to make the prophecy for the best fair in history of the local exposition.

Famous Herds Coming. During the past week entries for the livestock division were received from the Taft ranch, at Taft, Texas, where one of the best known Jersey herds in the country is located; from the Lillard farms at Adkins; and from the best herds of the high grade ewes bred there, including Duroc-Jerseys, Poland-Chinas and Hampshires; from the John M. Oist ranch near Odessa, and from the C. M. Largent ranch at Market.

All of these exhibitors were prominent in the fair last year and all are bringing back even larger herds for the display this season.

Poultry To Be Big Department. Livestock exhibits hall insuring a record-breaking entry in the poultry department have been received during the past week.

Building Nears Completion. Swift work on the new steel livestock exhibit hall insures a certain space for exhibitors. The hall is expected to be completed early this week. It is being erected by workmen of the Braden Steel Corporation of Tulsa.

Coincidental with the activity in other lines, crews of workmen have been busy this week clearing grounds and arranging the buildings for the throng of exhibitors who will swarm to the grounds this week and the week following to arrange their displays.

Weights have been chopped, grass has been cut, roads have been smoothed, waste material has been eliminated and the grounds are ready for the crowds which are almost certain to attend.

Season tickets, already printed, are expected to be placed on sale early this week.

Offers More To Patron. Exposition officials point to the increased number of free attractions this year; to the carnival troupes who have been secured for daily entertainment of the crowds; to the valuable prizes which someone will get; to the increased mid-week program; and to the certain increase in size of all exhibits, as evidence that the visitor to the fair will receive, more than ever, full value for every cent he invests in the gate fee.

Fair May Be Flayed. Last week it was indicated that polo—a sport that has swept like wildfire in those cities where it has been given—may be added to the entertainment list here.

Track for the rabbit races has been started and it will be ready in abundant time.

In fact, exposition officials are more than satisfied.

We get letters every day from community leaders, many of whom are of increased interest in the fair," they said. "We are having better luck with our concession space. Exhibitors are asking for their allotments early. Everything is progressing smoothly."

De Leon—A sweet cream station has been installed here with the standard price for sweet cream but-ter at 80c per pound.

Coleman—The first two sales of cotton for the season came to the market at the same time here last

ORDERS EQUIPMENT Slaton Purchases New Street Equipment

Slaton, Sept. 15.—The city commission has purchased new street maintenance equipment for Slaton, including a large grader to be used in keeping the streets that are unpaved in smoother condition, says E. Barton, maintenance superintendent. There are thirty-five blocks of paved streets in the city, extending almost three miles.

HEARING CONCLUDED AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—The Railroad Commission concluded its hearing on petition of carriers to put in effect intrastate traffic rates on less than carload lots of bakery goods, candy, mattresses and earthenware.

Representatives of mattress companies argued that the railroad's proposal of the railroads would effect increased charges and that their products were so widely used that any increase in rates would indirectly place a large burden on the public. The matter was taken under advisement.

San Angelo.—Construction on a new school for Angelo Heights, Westland Park and adjoining subdivisions starts soon.

Gorman.—One mile of the main street here, south from the lumber yard to the city limits; will be paved.

Ousted Chief

Charles Beckman was suspended as chief of the Philadelphia detective department on recommendation of the grand jury which is investigating bootlegging and graft there. The grand jury is giving much attention to reputed collusion between bootleggers and the Philadelphia police.

Wichita Falls, Sept. 15.—A terrapin derby to feature the celebration of Wichita Falls' forty-sixth municipal anniversary is to be staged here the week of September 23d, according to festival directors. A prize list is to be arranged.

Amarillo Hears Home Brew Fuss From Officials

Sheriff And Prosecutor Are At Odds; Attorney Offers To Quit If His Stand Is Proven Wrong One

AMARILLO, Sept. 15.—The "home brew" controversy between District Attorney W. J. Flesher and Sheriff Wiley Polard fevered again here when the prosecutor challenged the sheriff to submit his interpretation of the law to the courts, offering to resign if not upheld, the sheriff to do so if the courts say he is correct. The two officials have disagreed over the method of handling cases filed against alleged operators of "beer joints". Flesher says the sheriff has been allowing alleged beer bootleggers to plead guilty and pay a fine, and demands that they be tried on felony indictments returned by a grand jury.

In a statement about a week ago Polard charged Flesher with "lack of cooperation."

UNDERGOES OPERATION. Eula Hilton, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hilton, 1614 Avenue M, underwent an operation for appendicitis in Abilene Friday night.

Mrs. Hilton is at the bedside of her daughter.

Deademonia.—The Armstrong and Hackberry bridges have been completed between Deademonia and Stephenville.

Baby Samson

Billy Lee, Jr., seven-month-old San Francisco baby, might well claim to be a sort of infant Samson. This picture shows him doing a little light exercise with the aid of his father. "He can chin himself by holding onto my fingers," adds the proud parent.

Marble Falls.—Burnet county was the first in Texas to hold a district fair this year. Attendance was estimated at from 4,000 to 6,000.

Pittsburgh Cops Doubt Confession Of Moron Bandit

Investigation Into Slaying Of Physician, Starts As Captured Robber, Once A Convict, Talks

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—County detectives and state police were busy making a careful check tonight of details of a story they said had been told by John F. Meckley, 24-year-old suspect in a robbery, that he had slain Dr. Harry St. Dapper, young physician on a lonely rural highway near here August 29. Meckley was quoted as having admitted he killed the doctor because he refused to pay Meckley for stolen liquor and drugs delivered at Dr. Dapper's office.

Meckley according to police, is a former inmate of an institution for the feeble-minded, and an ex-convict, and before accepting his confession, officers said an effort would be made to corroborate his claim that he sold the doctor's automobile in Detroit after the killing. The slayer escaped in Dr. Dapper's machine. Officers left for the Michigan city tonight to look for the car.

Meckley and several other young men were arrested early in the week in connection with several robberies and police said Frank Maratta, a member of the gang told them he called at the doctor's office with a brother and summoned Dr. Dapper to meet Meckley outside, on the pretext the physician was wanted to attend a sick woman in the country.

BRIDGE MADE EASY

By W.W. Wentworth

(Abbreviations: A—ace; K—king; Q—queen; J—jack; X—any card lower than 10.)

Six Allid Conventions—3
When to cover an honor with an honor and when not to do so is the subject of the following illustrations:

Dummy holds diamonds A K 10 9; declarer leads diamonds J; west holds diamonds Q 7 8 6.
West should not cover. If he does, the dummy will win every diamond trick. The lead is sure to be in the dummy after the second round and declarer may be compelled to lead up to the Queen of diamonds eventually. There is nothing to gain by covering.

Dummy holds clubs A 7 6; declarer leads clubs J; west holds clubs 5 3.
West should not cover. There is nothing to be gained thereby. It is not possible to win the King of clubs in any event. When the declarer leads a Jack up to the dummy's ace, he usually holds the King-Jack-10 in his own hand.

Dummy holds spades J; west holds spades Q 9 7 6.
West should cover on the first round. When you hold the 10 or 9 in a four card suit, cover an honor with an honor and it is probable you will establish your 10 or 9.

Dummy holds hearts A 7 6; declarer leads hearts Q; west holds hearts K 10 4 3.
West should cover for the same reason as that given in preceding illustration.

Dummy holds diamonds Q J 7; declarer leads diamonds A 4 3; east holds diamonds K 8 5 2; dummy leads diamonds Q.
East should not cover as he can gain nothing thereby. Since east holds four cards to the King of diamonds, the King of diamonds must make a trick.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

When mother and child part company for the first time on the opening day of school that is beginning for him of life's great side, too, a floral motif of exquisite colors is hand-worked. A self-sash catches this jumper above the lace peplum.

When midday lounges, she will be easily comfortable should she choose an imported set of quilted satin and crepe in a beautiful silver embroidery, outlined in black.

This suit is unusual because it has two coats, one short, the other long, both quilted for warmth. The border of white is applied in a charming modern manner, with elaborate hand-dots in silver glinting on their chateau background.

But now! On all sides of him are strange faces. They are indifferent if not exactly hostile. No one cares in the least about him or what he does. The busy teacher is concerned with other things. It is as plain as the nose on your face that he might just as well be Jimmy Green or Tommy Brown or anybody on earth for all the difference it makes to her, or to the school in general.

There is a queer sinking feeling in his stomach, such as a sailor probably has when he finds himself helpless on a raft in the middle of the ocean.

He is learning a lesson far more important than 2 plus 2 makes 4. He is having his first lesson in manhood. He is discovering that he is a unit in the great order of things—that he has to live his own life and work out things for himself.

He is learning that if the boy next to him makes faces, or the boy across the aisle trips him, or that he cannot get a drink every time he is thirsty, or the pencil won't go the way he wants it—he has to make the best of it. No one is going to take his part, or feel sorry for him.

A mother isn't helping her son by sitting in the schoolroom for the five days of the first week. She can help him more by talking over his little troubles when he comes home and encouraging him. Instead of being a hindrance to his new independence, she should help him to help himself.

A child thrust suddenly from the shelter of home into the new environment of school should be dealt with carefully and understandingly. A mother should not be too sympathetic, but on the other hand she never should scold nor punish a little child who fails to accommodate himself instantly to his strange new environment.

Williams, president of the Marmon Motor Car company, has announced the completion of the largest August volume of business in the history of the company which closed with unfilled orders on the books sufficient to maintain production at a peak season rate well into the fall season.

At the same time, Mr. Williams made public a statement showing earnings of $2,558,593 for the six months' period ending July 31 after depreciation and all other charges but before federal income tax.

New Series Introduced These indications of undiminished activity come at a time that is regarded generally as the duller season of the year in the industry. The Marmon company's report follows closely on the heels of the introduction throughout the country in August of the new series Marmon 68 and 78 which, according to reports from the company's entire distributor and dealer organization, have met with excellent acceptance by the public and automobile trade alike.

Operations Increasing Steadily increasing operations during the first eight months of the year have established the Marmon company as the leading manufacturer of straight-eight automobiles in the entire industry. The company's volume of business in that period is far ahead of the same months in 1927, the first year in which Marmon entered the quality field. Likewise, figures just compiled at the factory show that the Marmon distributor and dealer organization is 108 per cent larger than it was a year ago.

"Every indication points to the greatest fall business in our history," Mr. Williams said. "Our new series cars have been received in a manner that has exceeded every expectation and we are operating at full schedule in order to supply Marmon distributors and dealers in all parts of the country with the cars which they have ordered."

Highway Route To New York Plan Of Motorists And C-C In New Orleans

Map shows the route of the Colonial Highway advocated for more popular travel between New Orleans and New York. Three-fourths of this route, it is said, affords as good traveling as the stretch shown in the photograph, which is near New Orleans.

By NEA Service NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—A new route between New Orleans and New York is being sponsored by the New Orleans Association of Commerce as the "Main Street" of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

It is to be called the Colonial Highway and is to join the two big cities over a distance of 1533 miles. Its greatest attraction lies in the fact that it is an all-weather route, evading all the hills, so as to make it practical driving in any kind of weather and under all conditions.

Last winter a group of New Orleans enthusiasts drove to New York by this route and found no difficulty in making the trip despite the weather. The tourists found that 73 per cent of the route is already hard surfaced, that 23 per cent is improved with gravel or shell, and of the remaining four per cent a good part is under construction.

The route of the Colonial Highway includes New Orleans, Bay St. Louis, Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss.; Mobile, Selma and Montgomery, Ala.; La Grange, Atlanta and Athens, Ga.; Anderson, Greenville and Spartanburg, S. C.; Gastonia, Charlotte, Salisbury, Lexington, High Point and Greensboro, N. C.; Danville and Richmond, Va.; Washington, D. C.; Baltimore, Md.; Philadelphia, Trenton, New Brunswick, Elizabeth and Newark, N. J.; and New York City.

Despite its newness for motoring, this is one of the oldest routes in the country. It was first laid out in 1804 by Thomas Briggs, a surveyor employed by President Jefferson.

The New Orleans Association of Commerce has in its possession a copy of the letter Briggs wrote to Jefferson describing this route, and giving it its name.

New Orleans citizens are now trying to resurrect the route and make it one of the main highways of the United States.

scrape at crossings. Such mishaps, the insurance company believes, may have occurred from a misunderstanding as to what constitutes the right of way.

Another bugaboo for women drivers is driving into or out of their garages, or backing out of driveways. One out of every 11 women involved in auto accidents had this item again her.

Loss of control is another cause of accident, but turning around proves to be even a harder task for women. One out of 13 of the unlucky five per cent comes in this field.

In Washington, D. C., recently it was found that 85 per cent of the auto drivers are men, but that this group is responsible for 91 per cent of the auto accidents. In San Francisco, where 20 per cent of the drivers are women, it is found they are responsible for only 3 per cent of the accidents.

But the insurance company concludes that women as a rule are not in the custom of driving during the hours of greatest traffic, when there is greatest liability for accident, and that they do not drive as many miles each year, on the average, as do men.

Owners Benefit By "Flat Rates" Tire Test Shows Products Improve

Nash Uses Uniform Rate System For Repairs And Adjustments On Its Automobiles

Service facilities for the automobile owners in thorough keeping with the advancement in motor car design and manufacture are regarded by officials of the Nash Motors company as of vital importance to the continued success of the automobile industry. What has been, perhaps, the most notable advancement in service work came with the adoption of what is known as the "flat rate" system by Nash dealers throughout America and abroad.

The owner is the chief beneficiary of the "flat rate" system of service as under this policy he may take his car to a dealer for a given adjustment or operation and learn, before work on the car has begun, exactly what the cost will be. This applies to practically all kinds of labor, from a simple adjustment of the carburetor to a complete overhauling of the automobile. In other words, the dealer after making a thorough diagnosis, eliminates "guess work" by quoting the owner the definite and established charge for the particular operation necessary.

New York Bus Men Seek To Find Out How Much Time Is Lost Due To Tire And Find It Is Small

With the huge total of 19,988,472 tire miles made by 123 buses in eleven months, a most unusual record of minimum tire trouble was made by a fleet in a large metropolitan city, according to Byron C. Dickinson, local dealer for Miller tires. Only one delay, because of tire trouble, was registered in each 19,988 tire miles. This is an average of less than one delay a month for each of the whole fleet of 123 buses. Miller tire engineers point out that this record was made possible through constant tire service by their tire service men. Also, that it reflects the universal satisfaction that motorists receive from their tires today.

During the eleven months of night and day service, in all kinds of weather, this huge fleet of buses was delayed only 1055 times because of the tires. The total mileage made by the fleet is 3,331,412 miles. With six tires to the bus, the total of 19,988,472 tire miles is made. Tire engineers point to this record as exceptional, when all the conditions that the huge buses daily encounter are considered. Miller tire service men inspect the bus tires of this fleet rigidly each day. These inspections have demonstrated the myriad pieces of destructive material that get into tires, by a collection saved for six months.

Took Careful Analysis

It required many months of careful analysis on the part of Nash service men to arrive at the exact cost of each of the scores of adjustments and minor operations by which an automobile at various times may be subjected; it required also a long system of intensive training of dealer's service managers and mechanics and standard equipment of the most efficient design before the "flat rate" system could be installed by Nash dealers on an extensive scale.

As far back as 1918 the "flat rate" plan of service was adopted by some of the Nash dealers; after it was thoroughly developed under the guidance of the factory service department the system was installed first in the large cities and later in the smaller communities; still later the "flat rate" system became operative in Canadian and overseas points.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE CHURCHES?

That is a big question but it can be answered in a very few words, however the way to apply the remedy, and get it over to the people seems beyond the reach of most people, or at least it seems to be an accomplished thing just at this time.

When the church member cannot be distinguished from those that do not claim such reputations with any church, there is never to be any thing accomplished more than any other moral agency might accomplish, and we dare say not so much, for it is nothing but natural that the people who have not relation with the church lose confidence in any church member that will do everything that they do in the way of world pleasures, and swear, and drink and gamble.

Without being obtrusive—or in the parlance, without spoiling the fun—supervised play can bring to bear upon the child those character-building forces with which his father wrestled as a pioneer lad. Thus he may be taught vitally important lessons never learned of schools.

Neither happiness, the law, nor the truth is an end to be sought, but the love of God is the end, and happiness is the effect that loving from God's love produces. Paul declared that he was determined to know nothing but Jesus. In Jesus dwelt the fullness of the Godhead bodily.

Alarmists over discord in the Caribbean countries are refuted in part by the recent statement of Miguel Abadia, president of Columbia, to the Colombian Congress, that relations with the United States were "maintained on the basis of happy cordiality" last year.

happiness that God freely gives as the self and natural desires are conquered through a spiritual victory over this world's tribulations and temptations.

CHILD LIFE

In this day and time possibly there are more things that the children come in contact with than in any age of the history of the world. So many are the avenues of entertainment that there is a great problem confronting the parents of this nation in the raising of children.

Impressions of early childhood are the deepest and most abiding. They form character and, in large measure, determine what shall be one's place in the world. Later education may alter wholly the outer course of life, but its inner nature remains unchanged.

Speaking Of "Flag-Pole" Sitting Contest

SO THINK WE

We think it may be all right for men to patronize the beauty parlors if they so desire, but we are sure it is a tremendously difficult task to accomplish much in making them beautiful. We will grant that most of us need a lot of it, but to the real "he-man" it looks mighty silly like.

We think there are not enough church pews in Lubbock to hold the people if everyone would attend who should. We however observe that there are always plenty vacant seats in any of the churches we have ever attended at the regular morning evening services. There is a reason.

We think the boy scouts will have a very interesting exhibit at the Panhandle South Plains fair this fall. They are working on the collection now, and we are sure that it will be one of the most interesting of the group that will be found on the fair grounds.

We think that Al is possibly getting acquainted with the needs of the farmer. We noticed where he dined on a farm a few days ago. We believe that the farmers were relieved of some chuck, and that is possibly about all the relief he will receive at the hands of Al.

We think all of this talk about blonds and brunettes is just a big lot of idle tongue. Men are not so particular about the color of a woman's hair or her eyes, etc., but the man that is marrying for a wife is wanting to locate some one that will be a wife, a home builder, and a home keeper. It does not make any difference about the complexion in home making, it is the disposition of the girl, and the treatment that the man gives them that makes the home, and brings happiness to those that dwell therein.

PRESS COMMENTS

WHO REPRESENTS THE DRY DEMOCRACY?

We have learned from press dispatches that Tammany's candidate for the presidency of the United States recently entertained two distinguished Southern Democrats—former Secretary of the Navy Joseph Daniels and United States Senator Carter Glass of Virginia.

Following his visit Mr. Daniels announced that, in spite of some disaffection and falling off of support as the result of Mr. Smith's telegram to the Houston convention, the South would, nevertheless, "certainly" give the ticket its full electoral strength in November.

A little later he declared that his visit was "ornamental rather than utilitarian," and concerning the candidate's nullification program he said, "Smith's proposal to amend the 18th amendment by restoring to each state the right to fix the alcoholic content is as impossible of achievement as an amendment to restore slavery." He also quoted a private letter from Woodrow Wilson which concludes, "The 18th amendment should remain unchanged. The Volstead act should remain unchanged."

One wonders whether the experiences of these distinguished "Dry" Democrats while in the executive mansion at Albany were similar to those of former Governor Sweet of Colorado. Governor Sweet visited Governor Smith before the Houston convention. As the result of that visit he reached a decision not to support the candidacy of New York's chief executive for the presidency of the United States. Since the Houston convention he has emphasized that decision by voice, pen, and political influence.

With due regard for the interests of partisan politics and the requirements of party regularity, one has difficulty to reconcile what Mr. Joseph Daniels and Senator Glass

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that a youth in the high school at Concordia Kansas was seriously if not fatally injured in a hazing performance there Friday. It seems a pity that people cannot send their children even to a high school with the assurance that some rough neck gang will not injure them for life. Hazing is one of the most uncalled for and unnecessary things on earth, and it should be abolished and anyone caught engaging in it should be punished as any other criminal.

It is reported that a Democratic Hoover club has been organized for the purpose of carrying Lubbock county for Hoover. Most of us know that the voters are not to be gotten and the regulars and all other brands of democrats, who are supporting the ticket had better look out, for there is liable to be dynamite in the camp so-to-speak.

It is reported that the good will trip managers want 100 cars for the first trip, and as many for the other three, and all who can possibly furnish a car will do a great favor on the part of the fair if they will roll them out for the trip.

It is reported that a couple jumped 5000 feet from a plane that started to cutting up in the air, and they landed unhurt on the ground after a sensational dash through space, and a lad in Lubbock dropped fifteen feet and almost crushed his skull, so that there seems to be something in knowing how to fall as well as knowing how to fly and how to climb.

YOUR HEALTH

FRESH AIR HAS HELPFUL EFFECT ON WHOLE BODY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the concluding article of a series of three on tuberculosis.

By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

In an exceedingly valuable and up-to-date manual for the tuberculosis called "Rules for Recovery from Tuberculosis," Dr. Lawson Brown considers the various questions related to climate and fresh air.

The fresh air treatment for tuberculosis was developed in the last half of the nineteenth century. It is now being realized that the fresh air is taken not primarily for the lungs, but for its general effect on the whole body.

Keeping Outdoors Doctor Brown is not convinced that sleeping outdoors materially hastens recovery, provided eight to 10 hours a day, preferably during the daylight, are spent in the open air and the night passed in a well ventilated room.

On the other hand, when a person works all day indoors, sleeping outdoors at night may be considered as a necessity. A man outdoors gets 150 times more fresh air than he could get in the best ventilated room in any given period of time.

During the summer months are kept open, fresh air is everywhere and patients with all sorts of diseases do well. With the first breath of autumn, houses are closed, except for brief daily strings.

LAUGHS

An Easy Job!

Being a nifty writer, I never liked manual labor. In fact, me and labor were vice versa, north and south, love and hate, if you get me.

So when they caught me on that check raising job I was worried. Especially when the judge gave me fifteen years off for good behavior.

Yeah, fifteen-years-on-the-Hudson! The warden was a kindly soul. His policy was to put a man on the job he was best fitted for, so he asked me what I did back yonder. I told him I was an author.

"And what do you write?" the warden inquired. "I write jokes and humor." "Jokes, eh? Well! Well! I have the very job for you. An easy job, raising one of your little jokes?"

By the way I suppose that check had! "But what is the easy job you have for me?" "Oh, yes, the warden replied. "See that man over there? He was a joke writer, too. You two will work together. All you have to do is, every five minutes you will ask him, 'Who was that lady I saw you with last night?'"

"And what does he do?" I asked. "He says, 'That was no lady, that was my stripe.'"

Our Sunday Morning Sermon

THE MEASURING-STICK OF CHRISTLIKENESS

BY REV. A. W. BEAVEN, D. D. The Lake Avenue Baptist Church Rochester, N. Y.

TEXT—"Love is never glad who's others wrong; love is gladdened by goodness, always slow to expose, always eager to believe the best, always hopeful, always patient." I Cor. 13 (Moffet Translation).

This text points out unerringly how Christian love acts when it relates itself to the action of others. It puts a test to our Christianity which we dislike to have forced upon us. The tests of the forms or beliefs of religion are so much easier to meet. This cuts right through to the quick. However, it is one of the truest measuring-sticks by which to evaluate the quality of our Christlikeness. Let us study its implications.

First, it recognizes that there is a legitimate place for real criticism. It faces the fact that we are living among our fellow beings and that their actions are universally marked by imperfections. "Others do go wrong"; at times evil actions do need "exposing," they will not always be "the best." Christian love in our hearts does not imply that we can not see things as they are. It does not deny the facts, it is not unawakened sentiment or blind credulity.

Let us frankly recognize this, for it corresponds to life. There is a necessary place for criticism. The realization that we will be criticized if we act wrongly, is one of the real incentives to right action. Suppression of criticism is a dangerous thing for government, for religion, for institutions and for life. Self-criticism holds up to higher standards.

Our severest critics are often our best friends in disguise. It is possible for any one who will be humble and keep an open mind, to salvage great values from almost every criticism that is made. Indeed, most of our progress in government, in knowledge, in aid, and in moral living, has come because some one dared to criticize the condition as it then existed and insisted on measuring it by a higher standard than the status quo. No! The Christian spirit of love allows for a legitimate attitude of criticism.

But an attitude of criticism, when directed toward others, while legitimate, has dangers that must be guarded against. We must face them if we are to indulge in this role. First, it is so easy to be critical. Extreme criticism probably follows extreme hero worship. Our present group of "Hero Smashers" probably represent the reaction to the idealism of our time. In youth the adulation of early adolescence is followed by the cynicism of the late teens. In this latter period, youth questions everything, and tears it apart just as a boy wants to take a check or automobile.

DEMOCRACY AND THE SOUTH

The South has been solidly Democratic for a number of consecutive years. It has been the backbone of the Democratic party. It has been a great conservative force in American politics. Its statesmen have fought Democracy's battles. A sale of its loyalty to Tammany and the liquor interests is now demanded openly, defiantly and threateningly by Tammany and those daughters of the South who attempt to face them if we are to indulge in this role. First, it is so easy to be critical.

Tammany is wet. It has selected a wet presidential candidate, and he in turn has selected a wet campaign manager; it is bidding for the support of the wet element in the North, East and West. It is seeking to convert the Democratic party into a liquor party. It is basing its hope of success on the liquor votes of the cities and, at the same time, obscuring its support for the rural vote by speciously promising farm-relief.

Tammany has never heretofore exhibited any interest in the farmers. It does not know their needs. It wants their votes today simply to aid it in Tammanyizing and whiskeyizing the Democratic party. It is seeking to purchase the farmer's vote and pay for it in promises. Its methods of securing that vote and the vote of the South bear the Tammany brand.

The sole argument presented to the dry South to induce the sale of its loyalty to a wet Tammany, is that thereby the Democratic party will be preserved. Preserved for what? For the domination of Tammany. Out to the core, no other meaning can be given to the argument. Is it sound, or is it only specious and unparaded?

The public is not presently concerned with the question of the security of those in the South advancing the argument. The sincerity of some may be admitted, but the fact cannot be overlooked that others are open or secret opponents of prohibition, other prohibitionists from the mouth outward others holders of political offices to which they were elevated by prohibition votes, and others are aspirants for political offices and wish party organization to be preserved in their, and not the party's interest.

THE LITTLE CHURCH

The little church is weather-worn, the little church is old. 'Twas built a hundred years ago, or even more, I'm told. The old bell in the belfry has rusted out with time. Yet still it rings on Sunday, an ancient mellow chime.

Behind the church a row of graves are marked, each by a cross. The little tract is hidden by the tall grass and moss. I think my Father looking down could hardly help but bless. The kindly souls, those people in their earnest faithfulness.

Wear A Light Suit If You Would Prevent Accidents

By NEA Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—If you would escape the ill-fated lot of a pedestrian hit by an automobile, wear light colored clothing.

This is the expert advice of the automotive section of the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

The warning comes as the result of a series of automobile headlight tests in which dummies of children and grownups served as objects in demonstrating that pedestrians wearing light-colored clothing at night are less apt to be struck by the automobile having inadequate lighting facilities.

Due to an optical illusion, a man dressed in white appears to be of massive proportions compared to one garbed in a dark-colored suit. To a corresponding degree, light-colored automobiles, if we are to accept the results of these government tests, are visible to an appreciably greater degree than cars painted in dark hues.

These tests, of course, were conducted by the Bureau of Standards at night. In other ways, the conditions of automobile driving at night were faithfully simulated.

Headlight adequate to the needs of automobile drivers is a problem, engaging the attention of Uncle Sam, and this personal equation of suggesting additional safeguards for pedestrians is but a "detour" from the main project of this automotive engineering research.

and are still seeking its destruction by indirection; by electing officers who decline to enforce it by asserting that it could not be enforced; by claiming that it encouraged intemperance; and at the same time being every device possible to encourage its violation and to make it now easier.

Germany has led in all of these attacks and is now concentrating for a final onslaught and is demanding of the South that it join in the fight.

The candidate of its selection was trained and educated in its political methods; he breathed in its political atmosphere; he owes his several elections to public office to its votes; he is still one of its satchmen; withdraw from him its support and he will be a political pauper.

He now heralds him as one of its political offspring, but asserts that he is better than his political sire—a dubious compliment to him and a caustic criticism of itself. It is speciously asserting that the Eighteenth Amendment cannot be repealed at present, at least so that its candidate, if elected, can do no harm to its purpose nor interfere with its enforcement; but at the same time is demanding that it be weakened by congressional enactments, some of them of doubtful constitutionality—and its candidate is joining in the demand.

If he can do nothing, if elected to back the liquor interests, why is he appealing for the liquor vote? If he is candid in his assertions that he is opposed to the open saloon and favors temperance, why is he appealing to the vote that must encourage intemperance in order to profit by the dispensation of liquor, and asking that its manufacture be turned over to the several states and they converted into liquor-dispensers?

What is his real aim? Is he not at last demanding a referendum on the liquor question, so that if elected he may assert that the Eighteenth Amendment has been condemned (through by an unconstitutional method) and that his oath to obey the Constitution is of no further binding force. Is he not asking that the South sell its loyalty to the Democratic party, to Tammany and the liquor interests, to further the purpose to Temperance and, "Woe-begone, that rascal?"

He cannot be elected without the dry vote of the South, nor can he be elected without the wet vote of the cities of the North, East and West. Under what law will he serve if elected? Will he leave the enforcement of the Amendment to seek to amend it by the methods he is now advocating? Will he attempt to ride two horses while each is harnessed in a different direction? Will he keep his pre-election promise of enforcement? If not, while breaking it in actual practice?

This is a government of law. No vicious human conduct injurious to others can be inhibited or punished save by law. Narcotics may be sold unless there be a law against the sale; a private individual may strip naked and parade the crowded streets of a city unless prohibited by law; an employer may throw in a highly settled community the most dangerous disease germ if there be no law condemning the act. The Eighteenth Amendment cannot be enforced unless there be laws enacted to secure its enforcement.

The power of a President is great. The only Federal officers elected by the people are President, Vice President, Senators and members of the lower house of Congress. All others are appointed by the president or his subordinates. Some Government employes are protected from removal by the civil service law; some appointments must be

Frigidaire Are Installed On Ship

Leviathan Is Equipped With New Refrigerating Units; System Affords Pleasures To Ocean Travel

(Special to the Avalanche Journal) DAYTON, Ohio, Sept. 15.—Installation of a large amount of automobile refrigerating equipment is being made aboard the Leviathan, now in port. The installations are being made in the fore and aft sections, remote from the central refrigeration plant, which was designed to supply refrigeration for the entire vessel.

Install Small Units.
The central refrigerating system circulated cold brine to all parts of the liner through several miles of piping. Recently some of the pipes have shown deterioration, rendering it necessary either to replace them or to install small units refrigerating systems in distant parts of the ship. Engineers decided upon the latter plan as being cheaper and in other ways more desirable.

Several months ago a small household Frigidaire was placed in the private quarters of Capt. Harold A. Cunningham, who commands the flagship of U. S. Lines. An ice cream cabinet was installed in the "A" deck pantry. They functioned so satisfactorily under all sorts of sea-going conditions that it became a deciding factor in arrangements to equip other parts of the vessel with small refrigerating units of this type.

Has Circulating Water System
As a result, trans-Atlantic travelers who have been accustomed to the delights and pleasures of automatic refrigeration in their homes will now find them aboard the Leviathan. Listed in the new equipment is a circulating cold water system on "B" deck, large enough to meet the requirements of 500 first class passengers and a combination cooling box for the crew which will hold both meat and fish, each at their proper temperatures.

Other Frigidaire equipment includes an ice cream cabinet for the first class galley, two tourists pantry boxes, a collar box for the Winter Garden on "B" deck and a considerable number of other installations, both fore and aft.

HOW'S SHE HITTING

By ISRAEL KLEIN

Science Editor; NEA Service
Hot weather may not be the only cause for overheating of the motor. In fact, if the engine and all its accessories are in good condition, if the radiator is full of water, and the motorist is driving properly, there should be no cause for overheating of the motor—no matter how hot the weather.

Of course, the hotter it is, the more frequent is the necessity of refilling the radiator—but so long as the cooling system is kept fully supplied with fresh water there should be no trouble.

When overheating occurs, therefore, look rather to the motor—and the motorist—than the weather.

Overheating may result from one or more of the following causes:

1. Lack of water supply.
2. Constricted holes in the gasket where the pipe connects to the pump and water jacket.
3. Worn hose connections.
4. Rust or lime deposits on jacket walls or radiator tubes.
5. Carbon in the cylinders. This causes detonation, and detonation causes overheating.
6. Racing the engine in low gear or driving too far in low.
7. Retarding the spark too far.
8. Poor ignition, causing misfiring of the engine.
9. Poor valve timing, especially on the exhaust side.
10. Too rich a mixture.
11. Lack of oil or poor oil, causing friction between pistons and cylinder walls.
12. Clogged muffler, caused by heavy mixture or too much oil.
13. Loose and slipping fan belt.
14. Pump not working properly.
15. Brakes dragging, causing the engine to pull harder.
16. Bearings too tight.
17. Radiator clogged with mud or dirt, or an obstruction in front preventing passage of air.

Most of these causes can be prevented. Many can be cured by the driver himself. At times, however, the only way to prevent overheating is to carry an extra supply of water. This may occur on a long mountainous trip.

Slaton to Build New Fire Station

J. B. Maxey, Lubbock Man, Is Awarded Contract; New Fire Truck Expected To Arrive Soon.

(Special to The Avalanche) SLATON, Sept. 15.—Contract for the construction of a modern fire station in Slaton has been awarded by the city commission to J. B. Maxey, of Lubbock, the contract price being $14,900.00. Work is to begin within ten days and will be completed within ninety working days, the contract specifies.

The building will be fifty feet square, two stories high and of brick and tile construction. Ample space for fire apparatus will be provided, besides offices, clubrooms for firemen, and living quarters for one fireman and his family.

Bonds were voted last May for the fire station and for water system improvements. Recently a new water well was finished and added to the city's system, increasing fire protection. A new fire truck and pumper has been purchased and is expected to arrive at any time. According to Ed R. Childers, fire chief here, Slaton will soon have one of the leading fire-fighting organizations in West Texas, using equipment as good as can be had. All present equipment is being retained.

or one across the hot deserts of the west. At most of these places there are convenient water holes, where it is advisable for the motorist to stop and refill his radiator.

It should be remembered also that oil is used up more quickly on long steady runs than in city driving. The oil should be replenished more often, therefore.

Lack of oil, it has been noted is one of the causes of overheating. Therefore both oil and water should be kept at a steady level.

It may be noted, also, that much depends on the driver and his way of handling the wheel and throttle. In keeping the engine from overheating. Use of low gear, the spark lever and the brakes depend much on the motorist, and mishandling of these will cause overheating of the engine.

Hupp Continues To Smash Record

Shipments For Year Are Already Far Above The Entire Total For 1927, Facto Statement Says

All Huppobile shipments recorded for August, in both domestic and foreign business, were smashed last month, according to a statement made by R. S. Cole, general sales manager for the Hupp Motor Car corporation.

August was the seventh consecutive month, Mr. Cole stated, in which shipments during the current year exceeded any corresponding month in Huppobile history.

Detailed totals show that shipments during the month amounted to 7023 cars. This was 74 per cent greater than the highest total in any previous August—that of 1925 when 4025 cars were shipped—and marked an increase of 4410 cars, or 159 per cent, over the shipments of 2613 cars in August of last year.

Since January 1, 50,457 Huppobile cars have been shipped, by far the largest total ever recorded in any eight months of the company's history. It is not only an increase of 23,007 cars, or 84 per cent, over shipments for the corresponding period of last year, but Mr. C. pointed out that it actually exceeded the entire Huppobile production for the full twelve months of 1927 when 41,150 cars were shipped.

shipped 123 per cent of our total production for the year of 1927, and we have still four months to go," said Mr. Cole in announcing the figures.

Activity in domestic business for the month was paralleled by similar increases in business with other countries. Shipments to Canada were the largest ever reached in any August in Huppobile records and brought the total Canadian shipments thus far in 1928 to 1543 cars, or 209 more than the total reached in the entire 1927 Canadian shipments of 1334 cars.

Register Heavy Gain
Similarly, export shipments have registered a heavy gain over August of last year, and over the first eight month period of 1927. Foreign shipments in August numbered 568 cars as compared to 2520 in August of last year, a gain of 126 per cent. Export shipments during the first eight months of 1928 totaled 4,987 cars, an increase of 101 per cent over the same period of 1927 when 2,055 cars were exported.

New Buick Taxes Plant Facilities

Response To Silver Anniversary Model Causes Double Shifts To Be Employed At Detroit Factory

FLINT, Mich., Sept. 15.—Setting two new records since the announcement of the Silver Anniversary Buick on July 28, the Buick Motor company today announced the shipment of 455,215 of the new models prior to August 31 and ordered a production schedule of 1,330 cars daily during the month of September.

This enormous increase in production—the greatest in the history of the company's twenty-five years of motor car manufacture—has been made necessary by the nation wide demand for the new models, according to C. W. Churchill, general sales manager.

"The clamor throughout the nation for the Silver Anniversary Buick, which we, who have seen its development, know is the outstanding automobile of the present era has taxed to the utmost the facilities of our mill and a half long factory," Churchill declared. "However, we have been able to step up production to the present peak and we can promise that within thirty
