SOLONS DISCUSS PUBLIC HEARING QUESTION TODAY

BUT SENATE COMMITTEE ADJOURNS WITHOUT DECIDING CASE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—After a discussion of two hours, the senate judiciary committee adjourned today without deciding whether public hearings should be held on pending bills to modify the prohibition amendment. Question directed by a majority of the committee indicated they opposed hearings, and at one point Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, who has pending a modification proposal, declared that he opposed open meetings were afraid that the bills might make out a good case. Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, declared public hearings might give the impression of a weakening of congress on the prohibition question, and Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, insisted the Volstead Act could not be amended without violating the constitution. The whole thing, he added, narrowed down to proposition of amending the constitution. Senator Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, and Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, both of whom having introduced measures to modify the present law, also urged hearings. The New Jersey senator created a stir in the committee when he charged that bootleggers were contributing to the anti-alcohol league. Asked for proof, he replied: "I don't need any, it is self-evident." To enforce prohibition in New Jersey, would require one prohibition agent to each three persons, but he insisted that New Jersey was law-abiding. Urgent requests for public hearings were presented today to the senate judiciary committee by Senators Edge, Republican, and Edwards, Democrat, New Jersey, and Bruce, Democrat, Maryland. They are authors of proposals for modification of the liquor laws. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, has proposed that the measures be reported back to the senate unfavorable.

DALLAS THUGS IN BUSY WEEK-END

DALLAS, Mar. 8. (AP)—Knob-knockers, shooters and even a perfume burglar enlivened the tale of weekend activities in this vicinity and in Dallas.

The village of Caddo Mills, East of here, was visited by three yegmen who knocked the knobs in three stores, escaped with about $700.

For the third time in eight months knob-knockers last night made a profitable haul at the Dallas branch of the National Biscuit Company. Lowering themselves into the office by a rope from the skylight, they cracked off the safe dial and took about $300.

A burglar frightened from a drug store by a neighbor, dropped a bundle at the door. It was found to contain perfume which he was stealing.

C. A. Tedford, was dangerously wounded Sunday and his wife was formally charged with assault to murder. Surgeons said Tedford might not live. The shooting occurred in a vacant lot near Tedford's garage.

R. F. Breeden, 46, was wounded while scuffling in his home over a pistol. An argument is said to have preceded the shooting. A man was arrested and held pending investigation.

Money Still Gone But Bag Is Found

The ladies bag, which, containing more than $185 in small currency and silver, was stolen from a lady's coat during a dance here Saturday night, was found early today by officers in the Sheriff's department. Horace Nelms, owner of the money, told the Daily Journal this afternoon.

Mr. Nelms had turned the bulky sum over to his companion who placed it in her mesh bag and put the bag in her coat, leaving the garment lying across a chair. Sometime during the evening the bag was removed and later thrown away on West Thirtieth street after the money had been extracted.

Deserted

Josee Noctis, Sioux City, Ia, left school at the age of 14 to get married to Hocco Sells. Now, after nine days of marriage, he has left her and is suing for divorce. The case has aroused Iowa women to demand a law putting the minimum marriage age at 18.

SAN ANGELO FIRE FATAL FOR MAN

(By The Associated Press)
SAN ANGELO, Mar. 8.—J. C. Templeton, insurance man of Egypt, Texas, apparently over 50 years old, was burned to death here last night. When fire quitted a two-story frame rooming house on East Bauregard Avenue, operated by Mrs. Pat Conway, fireman stumbled on the body against a book case in the front of the hall on the second floor while tearing away the ceiling to fight the fire in the attic. Then virtually under control. Earlier they had visited all rooms without finding anyone and presumed all guests had escaped.

Alive When Found
Templeton was breathing when carried to a hospital across the street, but lived only a few minutes, being burned severely. He is survived by his widow, now visiting in Eagle Lake Texas, two sons, W. A. Templeton, Wheatland, Iowa, and J. L. Templeton, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and one sister, Mrs. C. M. Corder, Bennett, Iowa.

Several roomers had narrow escape in the burning building. The fire, of undetermined origin started in the kitchen pantry. The loss to the building and contents, estimated at fifty percent, probably will reach $3,000.

PARIS—Americans ignorant of the French slang have been applauding comedians in music halls who have been singing ditties quite impolite to the U. S. A. But a word from Ambassador Herrick has resulted in the discontinuance of such humor.

No other announcements of candidacy have yet been made.

Do The People Want the Dry Law Changed?

A LOT of leaders on both sides think they know—but do they? Of course they don't. Since the present clamor about it has arisen there has been no chance for a national expression of opinion on the question. The chance has come, however. The people of the whole nation are going to get a chance to express themselves—wet, dry or medium. Watch for the Journal's prohibition poll soon.

ADAIR FUNERAL AT 3:30 TODAY

Last Rites For Auto Dealer To Be Conducted By Rev. W. A. Bowen, At Home

Funeral services for Eugene T. Adair, owner and manager of the Plains Motor Co. here, who died in his home early Sunday morning of gunshot wounds, believed to have been self-inflicted, were held this afternoon at 3:30 from the home at 1715 14th street, and interment followed in the Lubbock cemetery. Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist church officiated.

Mr. Adair was found in a dying condition in the bathroom of his home about 5 o'clock Sunday morning following his return from El Paso, where he had been for several days on business. One shot from a .45 calibre pistol, had pierced his heart, and he died before medical attention could be summoned.

Present members of the commission are Walter S. Posey, vice-president of the First National Bank, public utility commissioner; George C. Wolffarth, retired cattlemen, fire and police commissioner; J. O. Jones, vice-president of the Lubbock National Bank, finance commissioner; and R. W. Blair, capitalist, streets and alleys commissioner. Mayor Floyd R. Friend is vice-president of the First National Bank.

Believing that the improvements started here by the present board of commissioners should be completed by those who started them, members of the citizens' committee, composed of some of the leading business and professional leaders of the city, made the request individually and collectively to the officials that they again submit their names to the voters. After thinking the matter over and discussing it among themselves, the officials decided to accede to the request of the committee.

When it is taken into consideration that the job of a city official in Lubbock nets practically nothing from a financial standpoint and demands much time and thought away from personal affairs, the action of the officials, all of whom are leaders in business and civic circles, is nothing short of unselfishness, the citizens committee believes. With the exception of Mayor Friend and Commissioner Blair all of the men have served two or more terms as city officials.

In the election to be held on April 6, an election board, consisting of Harry D. Woods, W. S. Clark and R. E. Penney, has been appointed to super-see the balloting. Official notices of the election have already been posted.

Funeral Services Held

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Mar. 8.—To the lift of gay music including strains from the "Merry Widow Waltz," the coffin of Alexander M. Carlie, famous ship builder and friend of "Barley" D. Woods, W. S. Clark and R. E. Penney, was taken from the chapel of the Golden's Green Crematorium today into the furnace chamber for cremation.

The ceremony was arranged by Mr. Carlisle himself, a few weeks ago, when he knew the end was near. He paid for his own cremation and had the certificate framed.

"I have no fear of death," he said. "I want nobody to grieve, therefore I have paid and instructed the organist to play the waltz from the 'Merry Widow'."

In the midst of the unusual ceremony his daughter collapsed.

Five Room House Is Destroyed By Fire

A loss of $2,000, insurance protection unknown, was sustained here early this morning when the five room furnished house, the property of C. C. Richards, of Dallas, and rented by J. D. McShane, Lubbock transportation company official, was demolished by fire. The house was located at 1618 Fifteenth street and the conflagration was caused by a defective fuse.

According to Mr. McShane the seat of the flame was in a clothes closet and the fire had gained a headway before its discovery, shortly after 6:30 o'clock. Both the house and all its furnishings were damaged beyond repair.

LARGE CROWD IS ON HAND AS BIG SESSION STARTS

(By The Associated Press)
GENEVA, Switzerland, Mar. 8.—The special session of the League of Nations assembly was opened at 3:10 o'clock this p. m., with Viscount Ishib in the chair. The galleries were crowded.

The hum of conversation in the corridors became so deafening after the opening of the session that Viscount Ishib sent out a messenger calling for silence, declaring the noise prevented the delegates from hearing one another as they sat around the table.

A mass of rumors touching on the crisis occupied the crowd, which was composed of diplomats, delegates to the league assembly, newspapermen and members of the general public. These rumors ranged from predictions that the situation was hopeless, and the league doomed, to rosy forecasts that the whole matter would soon be clarified.

One certainty is the exchange of views among the leaders is continuing unceasingly, though there is not much hope of achieving concord before the return from Paris of M. Briand.

The British foreign secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain, bid a long conversation with Foreign Minister Vandervelde, of Belgium, before proceeding to the league palace, while M. Uden, of Sweden, who is looming as the possible intermediary between the extreme positions of France and Germany, was button-holed by many of the statesmen, for Sweden must be won around before any place on the council can be given to others except Germany.

"We are opposed to any additional increase in the council," said the Swedish delegate to the correspondent, "because it means the loss of the right influence of the smaller powers and the formation of a powerful sub-group within the council, which would attempt to dominate all league activities."

TO CHASE LIQUOR IN AUTOMOBILES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8. (AP)—Confident that the government will obtain the upper hand on the source of bootleg liquor, Assistant Secretary Angleton of the treasury, in the charge of prohibition enforcement, today began mopping up a campaign against wine and beer through the establishment of a mobile squad to give particular attention to those beverages.

The machinery to be set up will be in addition to that announced last week aimed at checking the illicit diversion of industrial alcohol through a separate enforcement squad.

Creation of a tax on cereal beverages by the new revenue law opens all breweries in the country to inspection by national agents, and with this as a wedge, Mr. Angleton is optimistic that he can control future supplies of beer.

College Students Married At Station In Double Wedding

A double wedding among Tech students came as a surprise to their friends Saturday evening when Miss Marion Barham and T. M. Binnion and Ave Lee Moseley and Roy Ashbell were married at the Station Methodist Church with the ring ceremony by the pastor, Rev. Davidson. All four of the young people will continue their studies at the college.

Miss Barham is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Barham, 2113 15th Street. The family moved here from Dublin in September and Mrs. Binnion entered school as a freshman. She is a graduate of the Dublin high school. Mr. Binnion is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Binnion of Sherman. He is a sophomore at the college and is a student assistant in chemistry. The couple will live with her parents.

Miss Moseley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moseley, 1915 7th Street. She is a graduate of the Lubbock high school and is a freshman at the Tech. The parents of Mr. Ashbell also a freshman, live in Winstonsboro. He is employed by a local filling station. The couple will live with her parents.

Menus for the Family

Breakfast—Canned apricots, cereal, thin cream, eggs poached in milk, toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee, Lanchester—Barley and mushroom soup, croissants, whole wheat peanut butter bread, apple and celery salad, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stew of mutton and vegetables with rice, beet greens with lemon sauce, grapefruit pie, graham bread, milk, coffee. This recipe for whole wheat peanut butter bread is a little out of the ordinary and quite delicious. It's worth keeping in mind for picnic use as well as the school lunch box. A filling is not needed in sandwiches as the bread has a rich, nutty taste all by itself.

Whole Wheat Peanut Butter Bread Three cups whole wheat flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup peanut butter, 1 1/2 cups sour milk, 3/4 teaspoon soda, 1 egg. Mix salt, sugar, flour and baking powder. Work in peanut butter. Add egg well beaten. Dissolve soda in 2 teaspoons cold water and stir into sour milk. Add to first mixture and beat until smooth and thoroughly blended. Pour into a greased and floured bread pan. Cover and let stand 20 minutes in a warm place. Bake 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven. The milk should be "clabbered," that is soured until thick.

Around The Lot In Major Leagues Training Camps In South And West

(By The Associated Press) Braves Forget Baseball In St. Petersburg, the Braves forgot about baseball and watched Walter Hagen finish Bobby Jones.

Collins Hits The Ball CHICAGO, Mar. 8. (AP)—Pilot Eddie Collins of the Chicago White Sox is setting the pace for his team. In an exhibition game yesterday Eddie poked out a two-bagger that drove two men home and clinched victory for the regulars. Scribes who watched the set-to, said the boss' footwork was as speedy as ever, but they groaned when he dropped a pop fly.

The Cubs mixed with Hollywood nine at Los Angeles and came out of the affair with the large end of a 10 to 5 score while 4,000 pre-season fans looked over the mid-Western visitors.

Cleveland Ready To Go CLEVELAND, Ohio, Mar. 8. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians were set for their first real batting practice at Lakeland today. The battery men, sixteen strong, arrived last night from Hot Springs, and not a sore arm was reported. Prior to their arrival George Uhle and Joe Shaute were the only pitchers at Lakeland.

The end of the first week finds all of the men in good shape except outfielder Homer Summa and infielder Guy Lacey, who are suffering from colds.

Donohue To Start CINCINNATI, Mar. 8. (AP)—Manager Jack Hendricks of the Cincinnati Reds announced yesterday, that barring accident, Pete Donohue would be his choice to pitch the opening championship game against the Chicago Cubs and that Carl Mays would work in the second game of the season. He also predicted that Epps Rixey would join the team in time to pitch the third game of the series. Rixey has been holding out for an increase in salary, but both Hendricks and President Herrmann expect him to be with the club shortly.

Infielders Worry Gotham NEW YORK, Mar. 8. (AP)—The greatest problems facing the managers of Greater New York's major league baseball teams in their Florida training camps appears to be the Brooklyn infield. Johnny Butler, expensive acquisition from the American Association, probably will play third base when he recovers from his attack of indigestion. Fournier will be at first, Marandile at short and probably Standaert at second.

Miller Huggins believes that his 1926 Yankees will equal his team of 1925 when nothing special expected and much happened. The players all like the new infielders Lazzeri and Koenig. Development of the Giants awaits arrival of the California luminaries, Lou George Kelly and Emil (Irish) Meusel.

New Plan For Senators WASHINGTON, Mar. 8. (AP)—The regular-Yanigan training games that give a player only a few chances, at best in each, are to be discarded in favor of regular swatting drill at the Tampa camp of the Washington Senators. Manager Harris thinks his hitters will profit more by the drill that gives each man a score or more of raps at the ball, and more fielding chances. The team will choose sides only occasionally to vary the routine. What has become an annual event of the Senators' training grind, was "on tap" today at Ybor City, Fla., with the rookies taking on a Cuban nine.

Pirates Work On Defense PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 8. (AP)—The building up of a strong secondary defense appears to be the aim of the chiefstains at the spring training camp of the world champion Pirates at Paso Robles.

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 8. (AP)—It is regarded as improbable that Hauser, injured first baseman of the Athletics, will do much playing this season. Jim Poole, who covered the initial sack last year, will again be seen in that position, with Hauser playing a game now and then. The A's are training at Fort Myers, Fla.

Manager Fletcher, of the Phillies, training at Bradenton, has sent word that Fred Leach, who was believed to have been a holdout, will arrive in camp late this week.

Detroit Batterymen Ready DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 8. (AP)—With other members of the squad scheduled to begin arriving today, batterymen of the Detroit Americans, who have put in a week at their Augusta training camp, feel in shape to begin giving their teammates the workouts necessary to condition them for the coming season. One foursome of golf was all that interrupted the rest of the pitchers and catchers yesterday.

Saint Louis Report ST. LOUIS, Mar. 8. (AP)—After winning their first two exhibition games of the season, played Saturday and Sunday with the Waco, Texas Leaguers, at Waco, the Cardinals returned last night to their San Antonio training camp to go into the third week of training.

The Cardinals bagged the two games to the tune of 8 to 2 and 13 to 6, collecting a total of thirty hits, including five homers, five doubles and two trips. Hafey and Squadron drove out homers yesterday.

The Browns' squad of thirty-two players was made complete yesterday at the Tarpon Springs camp with the arrival of Cedric Durst, outfielder. It was an idle day and many of the players went fishing, golfing or on bus trips.

RED SOX ACTIVE BOSTON, Mar. 8. (AP)—If the Red Sox can keep the pace they have set, the rest of the teams in the American League will have to watch out. The Sox opened their training camp exhibition series yesterday by downing New Orleans, 10 to 4. The Sox made 16 hits. Commissioner Landis threw the opening ball.

Billy Evans Says

Cy Young's Great Pitching Records Eclipse More Modern Crop The late Christy Mathewson was a remarkable pitcher. Walter Johnson is really the most famous of the modern crop of pitchers. Yet the record of Cy Young is dotted with many extraordinary feats of pitching that will probably never be equaled, even by the great Johnson.

Young has over 500 major league victories to his credit. Johnson is the only pitcher with a chance to equal it and he is still about 100 games away. Young pitched two no-hit games. One in 1904 against the Philadelphia Athletics, the other against the New York Americans in 1908. In the Philadelphia no-hit affair not a player reached first base.

On June 24, 1892, pitching for Cleveland against St. Louis, he held the Browns to a 18-inning 2-2 tie, allowing only five hits.

The great Waddell beat him in a memorable 20-inning game on July 4, 1905. The score was 4-2. Waddell was with Philadelphia at the time. Young with the Boston Red Sox.

Rube Waddell was always a jinx for Cy Young. The big southpaw invariably beat him.

GREAT RECORD

In the season of 1904, pitching for the Red Sox, he beat Ed Killian, working for Detroit, 1-6, in 15 innings.

During five seasons of his career Young won 30 or more games. His best mark being 36 in 1892, when he was a member of the Cleveland club, then in the National League.

In the six seasons of his remarkable major league record he won 25 or more games; in four, 20 or more games; making 15 years of big league pitching in which he won from 20 to 25 games annually.

Star pitchers are easy to umpire for. There never were three fairer men to call balls and strikes for than Cy, Christy and Walter.

IDEAL TEMPERAMENT

Well, do I recall an incident that came up in an important game at Boston some 15 years back and how Young got me out of an embarrassing situation.

In those days Detroit and Boston were bitter rivals. With the bases filled and Sam Crawford, the Babe Ruth of those days, up, I erred on a perfect strike that would have retired the side, instead of making the count three and two.

Lou Criger, catching Young, made a strenuous protest. I knew that I had missed it but remained silent while Criger got the venom out of his system. Before he finished Young walked up to the plate and yelled at Criger:

"We can't get the side out with con- variations; give me the ball; I think Evans was right, the ball was too low for a strike." That silenced Criger.

SELDOM KICKED The next pitch was right through the heart of the plate. Crawford hit a terrific drive to deep center that looked good for a home run. Imagine my feeling of satisfaction when the late Chick Saahli made one of the greatest running one-handed catches I have ever seen.

As Cy Young walked past me he smilingly remarked: "Bill, I am not so good I can spot batters like Sam Crawford an extra strike."

That was the only way he made it known to me that he thought I had mis'ed one, and I certainly had.

BEEVILLE MAN IS GOOD LONGHORN PROSPECT

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—Jesse N. Walker of Beeville, one of the most brilliant of a large number of likely candidates out for the Texas university freshmen baseball team, is a brother of Curtis Walker, regular Cincinnati Red outfielder. Like his brother, young Walker swings from the left side of the plate and plays the outfield.

From his brother, young Walker is a ball tosser, he is not the most brilliant aspirant among the host of diamond performers, many of whom next year will come under the direct tutelage of Billy Ditch, veteran Texas Longhorn mentor, considered by close baseball followers to be one of the ablest college coaches in the country. Coach Ditch, himself, says the most likely aspirant is Merleth Hopkins, a Fort Worth lad, who just now can play third base or shortstop in better fashion than any player eligible for the varsity nine.

Hopkins is a righthand swatter, and he steps into the ball like a veteran. His stance at the plate keeps little to be desired. Hopkins is an excellent fielder, handling the ball cleanly and getting it away without the loss of an unnecessary instance of time. Coach Ditch, who is not inclined to exaggeration in rating the talents of a player, frankly admits Hopkins is one of the "sweetest ball players to enter the university in many a day."

Walker is by no means the only promising young outfielder on the "Fish" squad. Four others rank on a parity with him. These are: Hughes, 190 pounder from Texarkana, who is astoundingly fleet for one of his bulk, and who is showing much promise as a lefthand slugger; Bill Ford from Dallas; Charlie Davis, a graduate of San Antonio Brackenridge; and Pete Edwards.

The hurler's mound is another position where the first year squad is strong. In Hallett, Frankton; Mueller, Seguin; and Douglas Hogue, Conroe, the freshmen have three righthanders of undoubted merit. All are youngsters, and of powerful build and are showing a love for the game most encouraging to their coaches.

Hogue in particular is a speed ball artist. In parlance of the diamond "he has speed to burn." Coach Ditch is authority for the statement that control is all he needs to make of him a twirler calculated to win a majority of his games against any college team.

Aubrey Walker, first-sacker from Hillaboro; Glenn Chaney, second-sacker who is a transfer from Alabama university, where he struck on the freshman team; "Holly" Brock, Beaumont, second-sacker; and "Orvil" Rhoads, a graduate of Dallas Oak Cliff high school, are among the most promising candidates for inner defense posts.

YOUTH DIES IN PRISON ESCAPE

Italian Boy, 16, Duped in New York By 'Film School,' Is Victim of Own Plot

(By The Associated Press)
 LOS ANGELES, Mar. 8.—The lure of motion pictures led first to jail and then to death for Natale Carradi, an Italian youth who came here from New York a few months ago to seek his fortune in the film. He was killed yesterday in an attempt to escape from the Los Angeles jail which occupies the top floors of the Hall of Justice. With two other prisoners, he made a rope of blankets, planning to slide from the ninth floor to a fire escape on the seventh which would lead to freedom. Before he reached the eighth floor, the improvised rope parted and the youth crashed to the pavement. He died at a hospital.

Carradi, only 16 years old, was blond and blue-eyed, the North Italian type. He told cell mates that he had taken a film acting course from an Italian in New York who said that he would make a Valentino out of anyone who had his. At the end of two weeks the screen aspirant was discharged with a letter purported to be addressed to a great director in Los Angeles.

When he arrived here on a freight train he found no such person and Italians to whom he told the story only laughed. He went to Hollywood and obtained a job in the line of work he knew, that of washing dishes—but was arrested a short time later when his employer charged that the lad stole money from him.

TO TELL WORK OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK, Mar. 8. (AP)—The work of the 8,000 men and women who gather and distribute news for The Associated Press will be explained tonight from broadcasting stations throughout the country by executives and editors of the cooperative news gathering organization.

A growing interest among newspaper readers in the manner in which news of the world is gathered and brought to their homes is responsible for this innovation. Hitherto the Associated Press has confined itself to writing current, without giving its readers any glimpse of its own workings.

The phrase "The Associated Press" or the abbreviation "AP" appears at the head of news dispatches which, it is estimated, are read every day by sixty million persons. Tonight the world wide organization identified thus and some of the stories behind the stories, that appear in print, will be explained briefly to radio listeners.

All four division headquarters, the talks will be broadcast from WJZ, New York; WMA, Chicago; WED, Atlanta; and KFO, San Francisco. The talk will be given at hours to be announced locally from other stations which include WFAA, Dallas, 7 p. m. Central time.

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 8. (AP)—In the newly created Southwest division of The Associated Press, which has headquarters at Kansas City, the radio talks will be made as follows: from WDAF, the Kansas City Star, at 8:45 p. m.; from WFAA, the Dallas News at 8:00 p. m.; and from KFJF, Oklahoma City, at 8:30 p. m.

SULPHUR CLAIMED OIL INDUSTRY NUISANCE

FORT WORTH, Texas, Mar. 8. (AP)—Sulphur, which is absolutely necessary to the needs of modern life, is a nuisance to the oil industry, Dr. C. K. Francis, petroleum technologist, declared in an address prepared for delivery here today before the convention of the Western Petroleum Refiners' association.

"Sulphur is found in a great variety of products, from the yellow of an egg to the finest dyes in the most delicate of fabrics, but in the production of oil it must be controlled or damage results," the speaker said. He treated the subject as a contributing cause of corrosion.

"The element sulphur," he said, "is absolutely essential to the needs of our daily life, when in its proper place, often gets into the wrong company and then it creates so much havoc that it becomes worse than an annoyance. To attempt to illustrate here the remarkable value of sulphur in modern civilization would be needlessly confusing. It is used to make many dyes and medicines. Many of the finest dyes used to produce the beautifully colored fabrics would not be possible without sulphur."

"If sulphuric acid, which contains a large quantity of sulphur, were removed from commerce and the arts, many necessities of life would become very expensive and numerous things which would be impossible. Sulphur is found to some extent in plants, but in much larger proportion in animal substances. It often changes form, possibly good to bad. It is present in the yellow of an egg and is largely responsible, through change of form, for the odor when the same egg is kept around too long."

"The first petroleum to be marketed did not contain sufficient sulphur to cause damage or to prevent a serious refinery problem. However, when the Northern Ohio oil was discovered it brought a sulphur trouble which has been with the industry since. There can be no doubt that the development would have been long delayed had the Ohio oil been brought in ahead of the Drake well. The report by Professor Silliman drew attention to the commercial possibilities of the Pennsylvania oil. While he was a quarter-back for Paul was the finest embodiment of fair play the world has ever known."

THE TEXAS CAPITOL

In recalling incidents in the career of Colonel E. M. Johnston, veteran Texas publisher who died at Houston
the other day, former State Senator E. G. Senter gives some interesting sidelights on the construction of the State Capitol at Austin. Colonel Johnston and Senator Senter both had a hand in the long controversy which preceded the actual construction of the capitol.

Some wanted to use Texas limestone, which was objected to on the ground
it would be crushed by the enormous weight of the dome. Finally a railroad was built into Burnet and Llano counties; over which was hauled the Texas granite which went into the walls.

Senator Senter asserts that the building cost much more than is generally supposed. In spite of the cheap labor of the time, in addition to the large amount of convict labor used on the job, the building actually cost the contractors over six million dollars, the senator declares. He asserted that he saw the capitol syndicate's books, and knows that the building cost that sum. The state gave 3,000-000 acres of West Texas land to the syndicate for the building. At that time the land was worth a dollar or two per acre, but today it is worth many times that.

PROGRESS IN AIR

For various reasons aviation and its development have been subjects of general discussion throughout the country for a year and longer. Public interest was stirred up by the Mitchell trial, the investigation of the Shenandash disaster and periodic debates in congress on appropriation for the air service. Out of it all the public has become convinced that military aviation is doing fairly well here but that this nation has lagged far behind several European countries in the development of commercial air lines.

It is not merely national pride that has caused Americans to regret that commercial flying has progressed so little here. The average citizen feels the country has failed to take advantage of a valuable adjunct to its transportation system. However, from two sources reassurance has come within the last few days.

There is great promise in the $2-500,000 Guggenheim endowment for research work and practical experimenting in commercial aviation and the construction of commercial planes.
This gift paves the way for the determination of the country's real need, if any, for commercial air lines and whether such lines can be operated profitably to both the owners and the public.

Of equal significance are statistics of recent compilation disclosing that Americans comprise more than two-thirds of the patrons of European air lines. If broadcasted, these figures should end these recurring reports that the people of the United States are attitude-limited and will never overcome their fear of flying.

It is respect for American institutions that has made of the new road from Dallas to Lubbock

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

OLD TIMERS EARN MEAL BY HAVING PHONE 47 YEARS

By CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON.—These four poor old Lynchburg Virginians have been slaves to the telephone since Aug. 15, 1879.

So have some other people, off and on, but there are mighty few who have been continuous subscribers, at the same old stand, for nearly 47 years. March 10 will be the telephone's 50th birthday and the phone folk are digging up their original customers and conducting festivities in their honor.

A few days ago the Washington phone company, which does long distance business with this particular quartet, gave them a luncheon over at Lynchburg.

with 24 subscribers including—

William Hurt, publisher, now retired; W. C. Gregory, real estate, also retired, before real estate men became realtors, and the drug firm, in business for 52 years and still at it, of Lumsden & Hamner—C. H. Lumsden and E. C. Hamner.

What's more, Lumsden & Hamner keep the same telephone number today that they started with.

Hurt, Gregory and Lumsden & Hamner thought they were doing something pretty revolutionary when they put those phones in.

If they could but have known what a pest they were going to become—breaking in on 'em every time they got to the most interesting part of a conversation, interrupting 'em at meals, waking 'em up at night, never giving 'em any peace, any rest, any privacy—would they have done it? Sooner or later, yes, of course. They would have had to.

HOJ THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Henry Rand, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the yellow stub of a theater ticket.
Jimmy Rand, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to Thomas Fogarty, who says he gave it to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer.
Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell. She faints when she learns police want her for murder. Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.
Olga tells the stub and handkerchief might have come in possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives several mysterious warnings to leave Cleveland but ignores them. Later, he is attacked at night by two men. He escapes, after seeing a blackjack from one of them.
Church, out driving with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement. The next day he attempts a reconciliation at her office but fails. On the street he encounters Jimmy, who offers his hand in congratulation. Church snarls and turns away.
Lieutenant O'Day, a policeman, warns Jimmy that Olga is in love with him. He invites Jimmy to his home for dinner and there he asks him if Henry Rand came from Durbin, in New York state, and if he was the son of Thaddeus Rand.
Lieutenant O'Day, a police friend of Jimmy's, invites the latter to his house. There he tells him that he knew Henry Rand as a boy, in the town of Durbin, New York. Henry Rand, he said, had had a boyhood love affair which resulted in his elopement with a girl named Marie Real, that resulted in a break between Henry and his father, Thaddeus Rand, and in Henry's leaving home.
Jimmy goes home to his room to find Barry Colvin. Barry has with him a ring that belonged to Henry Rand.
Lieutenant O'Day, a police friend of Jimmy's, tells him of a boyhood romance between Henry Rand and a girl named Marie Real. Jimmy goes home to his room to find Barry Colvin there with a ring that belonged to Henry Rand and that is inscribed with the name "Marie."

She was looking toward the entrance. Suddenly she started, and her eyes narrowed in hate.

Barry said, as they were returning: "He may be hiding. I don't relish the idea of having him take another shot at us."
But Jimmy had no such fears. A concrete danger—something they could put their fingers on, so to speak—was not half so troublesome, he explained as the vague premonitions he had been experiencing.
In a way, Barry's comforting to Jimmy that, after all, it's a human being we're dealing with. There's been something supernatural about this watching, and the letters.
In front of the house, ironically enough, they encountered a police-wealth . . . all these things she was turning down. He had been hasty and wanted to apologize, but Mary hadn't given him the chance. He needed an ally.

This letter he read over. Then, apparently satisfied, he stamped it and left it where the butler could find it and mail it the first thing in the morning.
Again he leaned back in his chair, and again that worried frown between his eyes.
He stood before his safe, twirling the dial. Presently he swung the heavy door open and drew forth a wallet, held together with a heavy rubber band.
From this he extracted a folded paper and a letter. With a quick glance around the room, as if to assure himself that he was unobserved, he opened them and read them. . . . But he read them mechanically, as if their contents already were familiar to him.
The worried frown on his brow deepened. From time to time he glanced up from his reading. He seemed to be waiting for something. He looked at his watch again, muttered an imprecation and then very carefully replaced the papers in the wallet and put them back in the safe.
The butler entered the room quietly. "A gentleman to see you, Mr. Church."
He nodded, comprehendingly. "Show him in." Then he settled back in his chair and waited.
x x x
"I suppose," said Jimmy, as he and Barry were dressing the next morning, "I ought to go out and look for a job. But what's the use? I can't seem to hold them after I get them."
"The whole thing looks pretty suspicious to me," Barry remarked. "It looks as if your friend of the letters is conspiring to keep you out of work. Probably he realizes that if you go hungry you'll be forced to go home."
"It does look that way," agreed Jimmy. He was thoughtful for a moment. "Still, we might be dead wrong, entirely. There are such things as coincidences."
"Why don't you have the police question this man Fortier? If someone did approach him, maybe the police can get him to admit it."
"No use. He could easily say, if it came to a show down, that he was satisfied I wasn't going to fill the bill—or that I wasn't the kind that would stick."
"Will, give up the idea of working while you're here, Jim. I've got enough to tide you over a while, if you'll accept a loan."
"Nothing doing, Barry. Thanks just the same."
And nothing Barry could say would make him change his mind.
x x x
There was a letter for Jimmy downstairs. When Mrs. King handed it to him he introduced Barry.
"Your worst man? He stays with me while he's in town?" she asked. And she told him she would be glad to have any of his friends.
Jimmy broke away before she could inquire further into the affair of the previous night. "She's a good old soul, Barry, but, like all women, inquisitive. And I don't like explanations, though Lord knows she deserves one."
He tore open the letter as they walked downtown. It was from Olga Maynard, asking him to meet her at noon.
x x x
He did, in front of the Mayfair Hotel, and he thought she had never looked prettier.
"You won't mind if I treat you to lunch, will you?" she asked. "It was my idea, meeting you, and it's my invitation."
He demurred, but she was insistent. "All right," he laughed.
"You said," she began, when the head waiter had shown them to a table, "that you'd come to see me. You haven't. Are you mad with me?"
"Mad with you? Heavens, no!" He looked at her seriously. "I've been so busy. So many things have happened."

SMITH AND MCADOO
It is reported that William G. McAdoo will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for president in 1928 only if Governor Al Smith of New York is a candidate. Governor Smith is said to be ready to hop into the ring against McAdoo, should the latter announce.
The country could do without this little personal quarrel among politicians. At New York in 1924 the two staged a bitter battle that was without parallel in American political annals.
By 1928, Mr. McAdoo is apt to be considered too old to make the race. He is no longer a young man. Governor Smith is impossible for the South and West will have none of him.
In the 1928 convention the democrats should select the best available man for the nomination, regardless of his attitude toward the Smith-McAdoo

TODAY'S MARKETS

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, Mar. 8. (AP)—Weakness appeared in the cotton market at the opening today as a result of poor cables, the French political situation and threatened English labor troubles. First prices were nine to 14 points lower.

Liverpool, Japanese interests and the trade bought at the opening, while the South, commission houses and Wall Street were sellers.

Reports from Dallas said the basis was weaker with absolutely no new business and that prospects of any reduction in acreage.

In the early trade here, a good deal of March liquidation was in evidence and after the opening further selling by Wall Street forced May contracts off to 18.52c and October to 17.30c, or 18 to 20 points below the previous close.

Renewal of liquidation in the afternoon resulted in lower prices, May reaching 16.98c and October 17.16c, the general market at 2 o'clock being 22 to 27 points net lower.

Before midday the price of May dropped to 18.48c or 24 points net lower, under continued liquidation and unfavorable spot advices from the South, but it rallied a few points from the lowest on evening. Spot houses were free sellers of the May position and there was moderate liquidation of March contracts, although the difference between these two months remained practically unchanged.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 8. (AP)—The cotton market opened weak owing to lower Liverpool cables than due and favorable market over the belt. First trades showed losses of 11 to 14 points and although prices rallied a point or two, they eased off again on general selling. May declined to 17.8c, July to 17.25c and October to 16.55c or 17 to 18 points under Saturday's close.

The market ruled quiet during the afternoon and prices continued to work lower owing to the good weather and the depression in spots. May and July made new lows, the former at 17.75c and the latter at 17.25c, or 25 to 27 points below the previous close.

The market continued to ease off during the morning on selling based on good weather in the belt and the poor spot demand. May traded as low as 17.78c, July at 17.28c and October at 16.54c or 22 to 24 points below Saturday's close. Near noon prices were around the low point and sentiment was generally bearish. Secretary Heister announced a minus correction in local stock based on actual count of 76,422 bales due to errors in railroad reports. This cut the stock down to 384,494 bales.

NEW YORK FUTURES NEW YORK, Mar. 8. (AP)—Cotton futures opened easy. March 19.17c; May 18.60c; July 18.00c; October 17.23c December 16.94c.

OIL PRICES CUT PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 8. (AP)—Prices of the leading grades of crude oil, quoted on the market here, were cut 25 cents a barrel today, by participating agencies. One grade was reduced 35 cents.

The new prices quoted were: Pennsylvania grade in New York transit lines and Bradford district grade in national transit lines, 33.85; Pennsylvania grade in national transit and Southwestern, Pennsylvania lines 33.85; Pennsylvania grade in Eureka lines 33.50, all down 25 cents.

Pennsylvania grade in Buckeye lines 33.50; reduced 35 cents. Gaines, Corning, Cabot, Somerset medium and light and Ragland grades, were unchanged.

WALL STREET REPORT NEW YORK, Mar. 8. (AP)—Irregularly lower prices characterized the opening of the new week in the stock market. General Electric dropped 2 1/2 points, Jordan 2, and Pierce Arrow, Daldwin Locomotive, United Fruit and Allied Chemical yielded a point or more on initial sales. On the other hand, Dupont, Schulte Stears and American Car and Foundry opened a point or so higher.

Selling pressure increased as trading progressed with offerings rather heavy for both accounts. In some quarters this was characterized as the usual "secondary reaction," which ordinarily follows the first rally after a sharp break such as the market experienced last week. Professional bear traders, encouraged by their success in unsetting prices last week, again hammered the industrial shares. McCrory Stores B broke eight points, American Can six, Foundation Company four and Hudson Motors, Coco Cola, Savage Arms, American Zinc preferred, Stromberg Carburetor, National Dairy Products and Ward Baking A and B yielded two points or more before the end of the first half

Lubbock People Found a Key to a Situation For a while things might have looked dark— But thanks to the Lubbock people—the key to the situation was found. IT'S YOURS, TOO--THE STORY Here several years ago the progressive Fathers of Lubbock determined to lower the COST of electric light and power in Lubbock. An election was called inviting the people's permission to construct and operate a plant by the people who live and pay taxes in Lubbock. Now the results are well known. Though the City of Lubbock has grown swiftly, the City Light Plant has expanded and extended its facilities to meet the situation. The hearty cooperation of the people is making the plant an outstanding success. Acclaimed by word and by the press as having one of the LOWEST electric light and power rates in all the Southwest, Lubbock's reputation has been built by the City-owned electric light and power plant! More people enjoy the comfort, cleanliness and economy of electric cooking in Lubbock—per capita —than any other city in Texas. Brighter store windows, prettier signs greet you down town. Street lighting for comfort and protection is more in use. Lubbock people enjoy the use of electricity in many ways, which, if the cost of the current was equal to that charged in many places in Texas they would not. —and, naturally, any project that would bring about such a condition in a City would receive hearty support. YES, IT'S YOUR PLANT—THE— Lubbock City Light & Power Plant

MOST ATTRACTIVE ARE THESE HATS FOR THE YOUNG MISS

The little miss is a very important person—one who likes distinction in her hats as well as do the older misses. It is for just this reason that she will appreciate Madge Evans hats—the new straw and silk combinations in the multi-colored effects that are being shown now for the first time.

THE SMALL ROLLED BRIM Little turned-up faces will look more attractive still in one of the many styles now offered where the brim has a decided roll. In all the color ranges that would be approved in the ladies lines—these hats are just as smart as smart can be. The prices will please mother just as much as the styles will please the young lady.

THE LARGER LEGHORN POKE

In the large shapes many are made more attractive still by the addition of flowers at the band and possibly a velvet ribbon that flows off to the back or side. There is room enough in the crown, width of brim for protection and style in every line. Just as all Madge Evans hats are distinctive, so these hats are entirely in a class all their own.

ARCHER COUNTY ROAD BOND CASE REHEARING DENIED BY SUPREME COURT IN FINAL RULING TODAY

MOODY'S APPLICATION FOR REHEARING OF FAMOUS CASE WILL NOT BE GRANTED BY NATION'S HIGHEST COURT TRIBUNAL

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—A re-hearing of the Archer County, Texas, road district case was today denied by the Supreme Court.

The case, decided by the Supreme Court last January 4, attracted wide attention because of its effect upon bonds issued by road improvement districts organized under conditions similar to those in Archer County, which the court declared invalid.

Attorney General Moody, of Texas, asked for a re-hearing when John Moore, the attorney who has conducted the case for the county, refused to do so. Subsequently the latter changed his position and also submitted a motion for a re-hearing.

Several other states and individuals sought unsuccessfully to intervene in favor of re-opening the case.

AUSTIN, Mar. 8. (AP)—The Archer County road bond case, which was fought out in six courts, and which effects between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 in district road bonds in Texas, grew out of the action of E. L. Perry, et al. against Judge E. M. Hooper and the county commissioner's court. Perry contended the validity of $1,200 road bonds for district 12. This district was held constitutional in Texas under acts of the legislature, and in the other courts, except when the United States Supreme court January 4, 1925, held the issue unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court held that county districts but not sections of less than a county could issue such bonds.

Archer county fought the case practically alone, but when the Supreme Court made its ruling, Attorney General Dan Moody, and numerous bond attorneys in Texas and New York sought to intervene.

Dunn, president of the South Plains Music Teacher's Association, Duncan purchased his ticket from one of the high school teachers Monday morning shortly after nine o'clock when the tickets went on sale simultaneously all over the South Plains.

A fairly large number of student tickets were sold this morning at the high school and grammar schools according to a report from several of the teachers who are handling the sale. Sales down town are going slow, according to a check up at noon and only a few have been sold. Ten drug stores and three music stores are handling the tickets and it is expected that a large number will be sold in the next few days.

The following stores are handling the tickets: Drug Stores—City, Shepard-Smith, Bowers, Halsey Hall no. 1 and 2, Floyd Deal, Thornhill, Lubbock, E. G. Johnson, Music Stores, South Plains Music Company, Rix Furniture, and Barrier Brothers.

While he would say nothing of a definite nature in regard to the local situation "on account of his inability to speak accurately on the subject" pending further investigation, he said that he has no doubt but that the Panhandle-Plains will be the next great oil field brought in in the southwest.

Mr. Eyrd is planning trips over this section, and to the fields at Amarillo, and said that he would be prepared to make a statement in regard to the situation in a few days.

Mr. H. Duncan, superintendent of the Public Schools was the first person to purchase his season ticket to the third annual South Plains Music Festival which will be held here March 24, 25, 26, and 27, according to Miss Mary ably and the vote in the committee must first come on that proposition. Edge Tell's of Letters. Senator Edge said he had thousands of letters from every state in the union urging action by congress to end what he described as deplorable conditions resulting from the attempt to enforce prohibition.

"I am sure none of you take the position that this is not an issue," Senator Edge said. "It is a big and vital issue. Referendums are being taken all over the country."

Appointments Rapped. Senator Harvold, Republican, Oklahoma, wanted to know how it was expected that the law could be enforced when Mr. Andrews (assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition) appoints one man who has been indicted for perjury and another who has been indicted for murder.

Senator Price told the committee that "public opinion is moving so fast on this question that it is not unreasonable for me to offer an amendment." The amendment would provide for penalties for those states that desired without the government manufacturing intentions in those places where the people voted against prohibition.

"There is no moral sanction behind the law," he said. "It has not been enforced and in my judgment it never will be enforced."

TULSA ATTORNEY HERE FOR BIG OIL COMPANY

C. T. Eyrd, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, well known attorney of the Sooner State, and representative of the West Continental Oil Company is here prospecting in connection with the talk of oil development in this section of the state. The entire oil world now has its eyes on the Panhandle of Texas.

Mr. Eyrd who has been a close follower of the oil situation in the Southwest for several years, said Monday, admitting that he is here seeking to obtain lease property near this city, for the company, he represents.

All the larger oil companies of the United States have offices at Tulsa, according to Mr. Eyrd, and he said that high officials of these companies are now in the Panhandle and Plains watching the situation very closely. Many of these, he added, are gradually increasing their lease holdings, and those companies that to the present have not obtained any leases now have men in the field for this purpose.
