So she got a court order today to make her husband, Joseph Albro, move back into the house from the horse's stall.

Mrs. Albro, incidentally, charged that Joseph did not support her and their six children.

STUDY REVENUE LAW CHANGES

Tax Committee to Report Next Week

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—While it was being reiterated at the White House today that President Coolidge would support the treasury recommendations for tax reduction, the joint congressional tax committee gave its attention to suggested changes in administrative features of the present revenue law.

The report of the joint committee will be presentd to the house ways and means committee the first of the week, and Representative Green of Iowa, who heads both groups, said it probably would be made public tomorrow.

The White House announcements was somewhat similar to that earlier in the week, and it was emphasized again that Mr. Coolidge believed that it would be unwise for congress to attempt a reduction in revenue greater than the limiting figure of $225,000,000 set by Secretary Mellon.

It also was stressed at the White House that the prospective treasury revenue for future fiscal years alone could be considered in effecting tax reduction, as the source of much current revenue was of a non-recurring nature.

At the capitol, Mr. Green said that he hoped it would be possible for congress to obtain more information concerning activities of the American taxpayers' league before it took action upon the treasury suggestion to repeal the federal inheritance tax.

BASH SPEAKS AT ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM

War Sacrifices Deserve Observance, He Declares

VETS HOLD BANQUET

County Offices Closed On Anniversary Of Victory

Armistice day should be devoted to a day of remembrance of those who gave the supreme sacrifice during the World war and be dedicated to carrying out the things for which they fought. This was the sentiment expressed by The Rev. Floyd Allan Bash, principal speaker at the American Legion services held at the Olympic theater Friday morning.

Besides the legion service in the morning and the ex-service men's banquet at night the day was observed in the city schools with short programs and at Junior college. The court house was closed for the day and all city offices during the memorial service. Flags were displayed on the streets although few of the buildings in the city had them on the masts.

COLLETT RAPS OIL CONTROL

Jno. F. O'Donohoe Heads Oil and Gas Assn.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11. (AP)—Opposition to any form of government control of the oil industry was voiced by J. D. Collett of Fort Worth, retiring president at the one-day meeting here today of the Texas division, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association. While no official action was taken, Collett's speech was roundly applauded.

Discussion of various phases of the oil industry and election of officers consumed the business sessions, after which the meeting was adjourned and the 200 delegates retired to the golf links, theaters and other places of amusement. The annual dinner this evening rounded out the day.

O'Donohoe Elected

The following officers were named: John F. O'Donohoe, Wichita Falls, president; J. P. Laney, Dallas, secretary; W. M. Massie, Fort Worth, treasurer; and L. J. Black, Beaumont, W. A. Moncrief, Fort Worth, E. T. Moore, Dallas, J. R. Suman, Houston, H. E. Bell, Abilene, and Levi Smith, Texon, vice presidents.

Collett, who retired today after five terms as president, was the principal speaker of the day. In his address he expressed the feeling that the oil industry had been built from nothing to its position as one of the largest industries of the world "through individual initiative, and government control, which has been urged by some in the industry, would throttle its further development."

Hamilton Speaks

Among other speakers were W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls, Walter B. Pyron of Houston, and W. A. Moncrief, Fort Worth.

The significance of armistice day was observed by a minute's silent mediation and prayer at 11 o'clock.

SENSATION IN TEAPOT FRAUD CASE DUE SOON

U. S. Counsel Asserts He Has Collected Amazing Data in Probe

DETECTIVES SCANNED

Jurors Unable to Tell Which Men Shadowed Their Steps

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The government today failed in its effort to show that William J. Burns detectives actually tampered directly with the Fall-Sinclair trial jury.

The 16 Burns "shadowers" hired by Harry F. Sinclair, oil multimillionaire, were paraded before the 12 jurors at the courthouse, but none could identify the Burns men as the individuals who had approached them with regard to the guilt or innocence of Fall or Sinclair while the Teapot Dome trial was in progress.

Detectives Unrecognized

Each detective was carefully examined by each juror. The result was the same in every case. "I can't recognize any of them," was the universal chant of the two women and ten men chosen to pass judgment on the defendants in the naval oil conspiracy trial.

While this examination was in progress, District Attorney Peyton Gordon and Neil Burkinshaw, his young assistant, laid plans to bring the investigation of alleged jury tampering to a conclusion.

Gordon promised a new and "amazing development" in the famous case within a few days. He said the new turn would come about through testimony of an unidentified and mysterious "important" witness who will be called before the grand jury tomorrow or Monday.

Sensation Predicted

The developments will cause an explosion "even greater than the original Teapot Dome scandal itself," according to the district attorney. He refused to shed any additional light on the mysterious development which is to come.

As many as five or six indictments are expected to be returned by the grand jury some time next week.

Already Harry F. Sinclair and two of his chief aides, Henry Mason Day and Sheldon Clark, have been formally charged with conspiracy to tamper with the trial jury, in an information sworn out by Burkinshaw.

Exactly what names will be included in any indictments is problematical, it was explained.

Burns Paces Floor.

William J. Burns and his son W. Sherman Burns were present at the jury investigation today.

They paced the court house corridors while the jury's scrutiny of the 16 Burns detectives was in progress.

Each of the Burns operatives was asked to give his name and address and tell which juror he had been asked to shadow.

This information was given generally to the entire membership of the trial jury after which each juror carefully examined his own "shadower" in an effort to recognize him.

Harry Jeffreys, confidential chief clerk to Sinclair, who yesterday admitted that he had ordered the Burns agency in New York to have its operatives report to shadow the jurors will not be recalled to testify, Prosecuter Gordon said today.

Order by Telephone.

Jeffreys said the order had come to him over the long distance telephone from Sinclair's apartment at the Mayflower hotel here.

No fee was fixed in advance for the shadowing work, according to executives of the Burns agency.

"We knew that a call from the Sinclair office would result in our being properly and promptly paid," was all the comment the Burns executives would make to questioners who asked concerning the size of the fee.

The bill has not yet been submitted to Sinclair, W. Sherman Burns said today.

REV. DATSON'S FUNERAL HELD

Bishop Moore, Assisted By Rectors, Officiates

With an absence of pomp in the brief ceremonies, the Right Rev. Harry T. Moore, Bishop of the Diocese of Dallas, officiated at the solemn ritual of burial for the Rev. Fred T. Datson, beloved rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, which was observed Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the church auditorium.

Others Assist Bishop

The eulogy over the body of the Rev. Mr. Datson dealt but briefly with the life of the rector. "If there was ever a time when death was a triumph over the life on earth, here, dear people, you see it today," Bishop Moore said. Assisting in the services at the church were several rectors of the diocese from different sections of the state, among them the Rev. C. E. Snowden of Dallas, the Rev. Frederick W. Golden-Howes of Fort Worth, the Rev. E. H. Eckel, of Fort Worth, and the Rev. H. L. Virden of Dallas.

Scores of people were in attendance at the services in addition to the regular membership of the church. Floral offerings covered the chancel of the church. The body was in place before the church altar one hour before the service, lying in state amongst the profusion of floral tributes. Large groups of friends of the rector, members of the church, and a delegation of the Kiwanis club passed before the altar to view the body before the hour of services.

Rectors Are Pallbearers

The Rev. H. J. Elliss of Corsicana and the Rev. E. S. Whitlow of Weatherford were in charge of the short services conducted at the place of burial, in the Masonic section of the Rosemont burial park. Active pallbearers, selected from rectors of the diocese, were the Rev. H. G. Hennessy of Paris, the Rev. E. H. Eckel of Fort Worth, the Rev. E. S. Barlow of Weatherford, the Rev. H. J. Ellis of Corsicana, the Rev. H. L. Virden of Dallas, and the Rev. C. E. Snowden of Dallas.

Among other rectors who attended the services were the Rev. Walter L. Loflin of Gainesville, the Rev. Ira Day Lang of Fort Worth, and the Rev. Charles Harris of Denison.

Here Fourteen Years

Since coming to Wichita Falls 14 years ago from churches in the east of which he was in charge, the Rev. Mr. Datson has been associated with the Church of the Good Shepherd, except for a brief period spent in Fort Worth. He was identified with many civic enterprises here, was one time president of the Kiwanis club, was a member of the Masonic bodies, and had devoted the greater part of his time to the cultural accomplishments of his parish and his friends.

He is survived by his widow, one son, Fred T. Datson, Jr., and two daughters, Misses Florence and Gertrude Datson.

Japanese Women Know Something of Dress

By Universal Service.

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 11.—Women of the occidental world do not know all in the womanly art of dress, declared Chiura Obata, a recent lecturer at the University of California. Japanese women, he declared, know much more about the art than they are given credit. In Japan, he hastened to add, every little obi has a meaning of its own. The obi, incidentally, is the long sash which ties the kimona.

BOWIE WOMAN WINS IN RACE AT EL PASO

Mrs. J. U. Field Named As Biennial Chairman For Texas

CONVENTION CLOSES

Harmony Urged as Text For New Year's Work Of Federation

BY MRS. J. C. BERNEY.
Representative of The Record News

EL PASO, Nov. 11.—Two Wichita Falls women were noticeable in the club house conference. Mrs. A. R. Willgus presided in the absence of the state chairman, Mrs. P. P. Langford.

Mrs. Ben Oneal's report on Wichita Falls Womans Forum was an excellent resume of its inception, history and progress. Her description of the exterior, interior and furnishings of the building was given clearly and forcibly, the recounting of past and coming attractions, privileges accorded to members and various departments elicited much favorable camment from a national club director present.

Our Forum was conceded to have given more to its members for their dues, than any other known similar organization in the United States.

Prize for Best Story.

A prize for best short story among federation members was awarded to Mrs. L. A. Wells, Amarillo.

Mrs. Mark Henry of Crowell, state chairman industrial art, gave an interesting talk on various phases of that subject. She will be remembered as president of first district in a meeting at Wichita Falls. She also presented a plan for redistricting the state.

An outline of plans for biennial were presented by San Antonio, that should be in accordance with Texas atmosphere. All Texas club women were urged to come three days before convention to assist in planning for their duties as joint hostesses.

The polls opened early and voting continued until noon. Excitement became suspense, when 4 o'clock in afternoon arrived without a report from election committee. The locked ballot box was handed to president by chairman, Mrs. J. I. McDowell of Big Spring at 4.05 o'clock, with the report that with 320 eligible voters, 317 votes were cast.

President Mrs. W. B. Potter, Bowie, 177, Mrs. M. H. Hagaman, Ranger, 51, Mrs. D. L. Stephens, Anson 85.

Texas director to general federation, Mrs. Maggie Barry, College Station, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank Thompkins, Corpus Christi; second vice-president, Mrs. Frank Friend, Ozona; recording secretary Mrs. Fred Flemming, Corsicana; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Hunt, Bowie; treasurer, Miss. Ollie Bird, Denton.

Mrs. Field Honored.

The nomination of Mrs. J. U. Field as general biennial chairman for Texas was confirmed by unanimous vote of convention.

The new state and district officers were then installed. In presenting the gavel to Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Fields made an appropriate and pleasing address, pledging her loyalty and co-operation.

Immediately afterwards, Mrs. Walter Coffield of Bowie, read a telegram from the mayor and several business men, testifying to their appreciation of Mrs. Potter's worth.

The whole convention was marked by differences that were presented with kindness and decorum. Mrs. Field, in presiding over so large and differing a body of club women, ruled with a fine regard for parliamentary procedure, and governed with a firm hand and charming smile.

The new president's speech of acceptance was concluded by request that the federation should go home, remembering only those fine things that bind and forget those that tend to mar a harmonious organized body of women, banded together for service.

ICE MEN END 3-DAY MEETING

Fred Rayzor Elected To Presidency of Body

Selection of Fort Worth as the 1929 convention city was the last official act of the 38th annual convention of the Southwestern Ice Manufacturers' association which adjourned at noon Friday, following a morning program devoted to election of officers and other association business.

J. Fred Rayzor of Denton was elected president for the ensuing year, succeeding President J. C. Mitchell of Temple. Mr. Rayzor, who had served as vice president of the association during the last year, presided at the final sesion when the next convention city was selected.

By vote of the delegates the constitution was amended so that the annual convention will be held hereafter in February instead of November. As a result, the next meeting will be in February, 1929.

Five Cities Compete

Five cities asked for the 1929 convention. Laredo, El Paso, Fort Worth, Abilene and Texarkana were nominated in the order named. Laredo and Fort Worth survived the first vote, and in the run-off Fort Worth won over the border city. When the result was announced, A. J. Neff then served notice on the association that he would be back in 1929 and ask for the 1930 convention.

Adjournment followed the selection of Fort Worth, and many of the delegates left for their homes on the Denver train which left here at 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. This train had been held from the regular departing time at 11:55 o'clock so that delegates going east may catch it.

Other Officers Named

In the election of officers, Lester Dawley of Dallas was named vice president; P. A. Weatherred of Houston was re-elected secretary-counsel, and W. F. Losch of Dallas was re-elected sergeant at arms.

The following compose the new executive committee: T. E. Laubscher, San Antonio; J. R. Barry, Aransas Pass; Carl Nessler, Texas City; R. J. Irvine, Wichita Falls; Price Campbell, Abilene; A. F. Engle, Houston; C. A. Brann, Navasota; Grider Lee, Brownwood; Knox Lee, Marshall, and James Marley, Fort Worth. Mr. Laubscher was elected chairman of the committee at a meeting held immediately after adjournment of the convention. The committee will meet again in Houston on December 12.

Committee Designated

Legislative: C. L. Wakefield, Dallas; C. P. Couch, Dallas; G. H. Sapper, Galveston, and Harry Allen, Belton.

Condolence:

E. A. Kelley, Big Spring, and S. Eastland, Kerrville.

Auditing: Frank Ostermiller, Fort Worth.

The delegates were unanimous in their expressions complimentary of Wichita Falls and the 1927 convention, which many termed the best and most educational meeting which the association has held since it was formed 39 years ago. All visitors praised the work of the entertainment and arrangements committee, headed by Arthur C. Rayzor of Wichita Falls as chairman. Other members of the committee were R. J. Irvine of Wichita Falls and Eunice Wilson of Vernon.

All members of the association who are Rotarians were entertained as the guests of Mr. Rayzor at breakfast at the Wichita club at 7:30 o'clock Friday morning in an adjourned meeting of the Rotary club.

Frederick Boy Slightly Hurt In Accident Here

Orlan Brandenburg, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Brandenburg of Frederick, Okla., left the Hargrave-Walker hospital late Friday morning after receiving treatment for minor bruises received when he fell from an automobile in which he was riding with a group of friends. The boy was a high school student of Frederick and was here for Armistice day.

He returned to his home with his parents, who arrived here after notification of his injury.

Epworth Leagues of District Convene Here Saturday Night

A two-day session of the second quarterly conference of the Wichita Falls district of the Epworth league is to convene here Saturday night at 7 o'clock at the First Methodist church with an aggregate attendance of about 200 members, it has been announced.

The conference will be opened with a banquet and entertainment, at which the Rev. J. D. F. Williams, field secretary of the Central Texas conference, will be the principal speaker. J. W. Thorne, past president of the North Texas Epworth league, is to be toastmaster for the occasion.

The welcoming address is to be given by M. O. Albritton, with response from one of the delegates.

Included in the entertainment program will be a piano trio, by Mesdames J. W. Thorne, M. P. Albritton and Hilda Masters; a vocal solo by Modena Howell; a talk by H. W. Gray; a piano solo by James Youngblood, and a series of stunts led by L. E. McWhirter of Fort worth.

The program committee in charge of the affair, headed by M. P. Albritton, is composed of J. W. Thorne, Milton Price, Mrs. R. E. Carter and Miss Edith Crunt.

The meeting will continue Sunday morning, at the Sunday school exercises of the church, and the business session, in charge of Ira B. Lynn, district secretary, will be held Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Bell Bruised When Thrown From Auto

Mrs. J. A. Bell, 1208 Bluff street, was painfully injured about 8 o'clock Friday morning when the automobile in which she was riding collided with another driven by a negro at the intersection of Ninth street and Scott avenue. Mrs. Bell was thrown from the car, sustaining severe bruises and lacerations. She was taken to her home in a Merkle ambulance. Her condition is not regarded as serious, it was reported.

The negro is being held in the city jail pending an investigation of the accident.

Automobile Destroyed By Fire Friday Night

A Franklin sedan belonging to L. E. Willis, 1518 14th street, was destroyed by fire a few miles from Wichita Falls near the Kemp dairy early Friday night, according to a report made by Police Officers McKelvy and Wright who visited the scene of the blaze. Willis told officers the car caught fire from a short circuit in the ignition system. Efforts to extinguish the flames by throwing dirt over the car were useless.

Mr. Willis, mechanic at the Lloyd Weaver company, was driving with his family at the time of the mishap. None of the party was burned or injured.

Man, Wife and Son Found Shot to Death

KING CITY, Mo., Nov. 11. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Tete Allen and their son Lloyd, 25, were found shot to death today in their farm house six miles north of here. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Allen were in bed downstairs and that of their son was found in an upstairs bedroom. Mr. Allen was 50 years old and his wife 45.

A. & M. WIDENS HOME SERVICE

Rural Housewives To Have New Aid

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 11.—Science will be brought to the aid of the housewife in selecting the clothing for her family through an increase, just announced, in the scope of the rural home research work of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, A. and M. college of Texas. This new service for the housewife will be conducted by Miss Mamie Grimes, from Greenwood, Mo., who has been appointed textile and clothing specialist in the station's division of rural home research of which Dr. Jessie Whitacre is the chief. Announcement of the appointment was made by A. B. Conner, acting director of the experiment station.

Miss Grimes will conduct researches in textiles and clothing looking to the development of new knowledge on the nature and usefulness of the various textiles and their better utilization in the making of clothing for the family. The immediate studies will include, for instance, the effect of the sunlight and moisture on the durability and color of cotton fabrics. This involves the best methods for drying clothes not only from the standpoint of color but as concerns durability. What colors are fast when exposed to Texas sunlight and the best methods of storing and caring for cotton clothing are to be studied. It is believed this work will develop knowledge that will make possible substantial increases in the durability of cotton fabrics and will be of much value to the entire cotton industry.

Miss Grimes is a graduate of Kansas State Agricultural college where she took the degree of B. S. in home economics and M. S. degree in clothing and textiles. She has done graduate work at the University of Chicago and has taught in high schools of Kansas and at the Iowa State Teachers college.

Remus Candy Found Not Poison in Test

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11. (AP)—The candy which was sent to George Remus, now waiting trial in jail here for the killing of his wife, Imogene Holmes Remus, did not contain poison, but merely quinine, city chemists reported today. The candy, received through the mail, and eaten by a jail guard was at first thought to have been poisoned.

Beaumont Postpones Cotton Inauguration

BEAUMONT, Nov. 11. (AP)—"Cotton day" which was to have inaguarated the first shipment of cotton from this port has been postponed from November 14 to November 17, due to the delay in the arrival of the steamship West Coha. FIFTY-FIFTY MARRIAGES

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Is There a Leader In Every Happy Marriage?

By Beatrice Fairfax,
An Authority on the Problems of Love and Marriage.

"ALL men and women would marry if they could," declared Mrs. Eva Wilcox at the recent national convention of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. "It is a question of romance, which some never find and others do."

BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Is this statement true in every case? Or does it apply merely to the majority of modern women?

Are there not numbers of so-called "emancipated women" who would hesitate to exchange their so-called freedom by "selling themselves," as they might term it, "in the bondage of marriage"?

The fact that man is generally regarded as leader in the marriage partnership is distasteful to a certain extreme type of feminist. Feeling that marriage is unjust in assigning woman a secondary position, she disdains the institution and elects to remain single.

This extreme type of feminist may forego marriage. Or, if she marries, she may choose a subservient helpmate and flaunt her leadership in the face of the world.

There must be a leader, a recognized head, to every organization, every partnership, every nation, every marriage. Even in ordinary ballroom dancing a leader is essential. If both partners try to lead a two-step, results are disastrous.

In marriage, either husband or wife must be recognized as leader as a matter of convenience. Which shall it be?

I believe, if a vote of women were taken, the overwhelming majority of wives would prefer to have the marriage partnership represented before the world by Friend Husband as nominal head and protector, even as it has been these thousands of years.

Men are physically stronger than women. No feminine tennis champion tries to compete with a man who is a recognized champion.

Mentally, men are at least the equal of women. Masculine understanding of business and world affairs in general is at present superior to the knowledge of the average woman in that direction. Does it not seem sensible, under all these circumstances, that the husband should continue to perform the service of representing both marriage-partners as protector or leader?

On the other hand, woman is a born home-maker, because of her natural capacity for "mothering." To many men, home means just the woman. Home is a woman's kingdom. So perhaps there is reason in the old arrangement which recognizes man as leader in marriage, woman as leader in home-making.

This does not imply that modern woman should confine her activities to home. The liberation of woman and her entrance on careers is equipping her perhaps better than ever before to govern wisely and charmingly her home, the center but not limit of her interests and activities. Modern legislators are slowly but surely righting ancient injustice to wives in matters of property-holding and law.

"Ours is a fifty-fifty marriage," announced a radiant friend of mine, wife of a man who is rapidly rising to national recognition as a statesman.

There is no dispute in that family as to who leads. I doubt whether this question of leadership ever arises in a marriage of deep mutual love and service. My friend manages her beautiful home harmoniously and is a leader in club and welfare work, finding time also for the bright social life she loves.

Who is the real leader in marriage? It would be hard to say. There is often a power behind the throne. The subtle influence of whichever partner is mentally stronger and more capable probably guides. But "every woman" knows that a wife likes to let her husband feel he is nominal leader and protector. Perhaps in most cases a gentle, capable, adored wife is the real power behind the throne, because men lean on the inspiration of love.

Woman looks to man for physical, protective strength and courage, and for mental strength and moral courage, while woman sways through spiritual leadership and tender love.

Thus, without any question of superiority or inferiority, man is natural leader in marriage, as a matter of convenience and order, while woman naturally guides in all that pertains to home. Each complements the other in that deeply satisfying self fulfillment, successful marriage.

An Oriental Flower -:- But Still the Chrysanthemum Is Queen of Football Days -:- Drawn By Dorothy Flack

AUTUMN'S flaunting banner of victory—the chrysanthemum! The story goes that this loveliest of flowers was originally cultivated to please the capricious fancy of a jaded king, and for centuries it was raised in tenderest care solely for the pleasure of royalty.

But those days are long past and now in all its shaggy loveliness it graces the fairest of the fair. Why, a football game wouldn't be a real game, if one couldn't have this queen of flowers nestling close to the vivid eagerness of scores of lovely faces. Can you picture a game without a single "mum?"

And, too, for the Autumn bride the stately glory of this glorious flower sheds a beauty and dignity on this day of days that casts a golden glow down her life path.

How many questions have been asked and answered by means of its tawny beauty? How many hearts have been brought together for a life of happiness and love over the shaggy petals of Autumn's favorite?

The last flower of the season, but the first in the hearts of Autumn's children. Originally designed to grace the dusky loveliness of a forgotten Oriental queen, it now is the prized adornment of blonde and Titian and brunette beauty and is equally becoming to all. But its message of Love and Happiness is the same now as it was thousands of years ago when it thrilled the heart of that little Oriental queen.

Artificial Immunization Against Diphtheria

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOU learned from my article yesterday how a certain "natural" immunity against diphtheria may be realized, and how, by the wonderful Schick test, we may know whether or not a person actually is immune. If one is found susceptible one may be artificially immunized. It may be explained in this way:

CHARLES A.L. REED, M.D.

When diphtheria toxin is injected into an animal, antitoxin appears later in the blood. Toxin, in other words, stimulates the formation of antitoxin. If a non-immune animal is injected, it takes a long time, about three weeks for the antitoxin to appear. This is called primary stimulation. An immune animal, however, starts producing antitoxin much more rapidly and much more plentifully than the non-immune: this is called a secondary stimulation.

An injection of toxin has two effects. It causes the system to produce antitoxin, and it also increases its power of producing antitoxin. The antitoxin soon disappears from the blood, but the power to produce it remains for life. This means that, whenever diphtheria toxin enters the blood, the animal will at once produce antitoxin in large quantities and protect itself against the disease.

Moreover, stimulating as the toxin is, a neutral mixture of toxin and antitoxin is more stimulating still. If the toxin is treated with formalin it loses the power of giving the disease, but keeps all its powers of producing immunity. This means that there is absolutely no risk whatever in the immunizing process as carried on today.

For most persons a dose of one c. c. of prophylactic weekly for three weeks is enough to give them immunity, to make them "Schick negative." Some are more obstinate, but few require more than six doses. But three weeks is too long to wait for immunity if there is an epidemic of diphtheria raging, and all wise communities immunize themselves before an outbreak comes to frighten the people into doing it.

The most dangerous age for a child is between two and five, and the ideal to aim at is to immunize all children between these ages. Compared with the cost of treating diphtheria, the cost of immunization is trifling. For a beggarly few dollars a child can be made immune probably for life, whereas, if it gets diphtheria, its treatment will cost many times as much.

It is estimated that on the average about forty children can be immunized for the amount of money spent on a single case.

In a recent report to the London County Council, published by the Medical Research Council of Great Britain, the discovery of the Schick method is spoken of as one of the most notable advances ever made in the field of medicine. There is very little doubt that the systematic adoption of immunization would result in a great yearly saving of child life, as well as materially lightening the burden on taxpayers.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

You're Too Young.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am seventeen years old. I am engaged to a man of twenty-four. Do you think he is too old for me?

I'm sure I love him. But he bosses me too much. I am used to having my own way and we quarrel whenever I don't do as he says.

He is making thirty-five dollars a week. Do you think we can live on that? I have never worked and do not know how to cook or clean house. I am used to nice clothes and spending money. But I'm going to do without these things when I'm married. Do you think our marriage will be a success? We're going to elope.

BLONDIE.

YOU are too young, Blondie, to undertake the hard work and responsibility involved in marriage—especially a marriage in which rigid economy will be necessary. Very soon, if you were married you would long for your pretty clothes and spending money, good times and idleness. But it would be too late.

Wait until you are nineteen or twenty at least, before you marry. Meantime, learn to cook and keep house. And when you do marry, instead of eloping, have a happy, "homey" wedding, with your parents and your fiance's parents present to give their love and blessing.

DO YOU KNOW?

Crossed wires interfered with a sermon being relayed from London by telephone and broadcast by a Sheffield (England) radio station. In the midst of the sermon radio listeners heard the voice of an unknown telephone operator, saying, "Drop your sixpence, please." Then an angry woman began to upbraid her husband for not returning home. The family quarrel crowded out the sermon and was broadcast over a wide area.

Nations who wish to go to law with one another can appear before the Permanent Court of International Justice, which sits at The Hague. There are eleven regular judges and four deputies, each of a different nationality. The court gave its first verdict in August, 1922.

Passenger revenues of New Zealand railways are said to be much affected by the competition of privately owned motor services operating on parallel routes. In the neighborhood of Wellington alone some thirty cars are operating on routes from 15 to 125 miles in length the main service being from Wellington to Wanganui, ostensibly catering for intertown traffic, it actually does a little more than one-fifth interior traffic as against four-fifths through traffic. The quicker service and cheaper rates charged, added to the fact that connections with other bus lines are conveniently made, have diverted traffic from the railways.

Does a Gentleman Really Prefer Blondes?

By Lucy Lowell

A GENTLEMAN from Missouri does NOT prefer blondes. No joke intended—the place he comes from has nothing to do with the matter, but his calling has. He is a parson and he estimates the number of couples he has married at 4,500.

LUCY LOWELL

This is what he has to say about it:

"The brunette is serious and seems to take a marriage ceremony in earnest. But the dumbest bride, who always seems to wonder what it is all about, is the blonde."

It is about time, it seems to me, that some statistical expert or welfare committee or the like took up the status of the blonde in a serious way and told the truth about her.

She has been maligned for many a year now as dumb, selfish, philandering and various other things, though nobody seems to know exactly why.

The fact of the matter is that no actual reason exists. There is, however, another parallel tradition which may have something to do with it—that which insists that all beautiful women are brainless. "Beautiful and dumb" is a popular catch phrase.

If there is merit in this, one may judge it to be based upon the fact that the average woman who has beauty gives her thought to her physical appearance and lets her mind get along the best way it can.

Undoubtedly some beautiful women do just this, and some of the beautiful women are blondes. And there are many who think that a beautiful blonde is the most beautiful of all feminine creatures—and therefore the dumbest.

This may seem a logical argument on the surface; actually it is not logical at all, for an entire type of womanhood should not be judged by a few outstanding examples.

Furthermore, it seems to be the rule to refer to all women whose hair and eyes are not jet black as blondes. Red-heads, brown-heads, sandy-haired—all of them are carelessly classed as blondes. And this, too, is unfair. For the actual percentage of real blondes is not more than one in ten.

As a matter of fact, a woman's complexion has nothing whatever to do with her mind.

HOW sweet the songs on singers' lips, where notes like silver chime, and every word like honey drips in melody sublime! Entranced, their listeners hear such song that brings them rare respite from all earth's weariness and wrong; makes all the world seem bright. And dear the songs that mothers croon beside white cribs at eve; the first faint stars, the crescent moon in webs of words they weave. But there is music sweeter still than words that heaven-ward wing; you hear it on a wind-swept hill, the song the tree-tops sing! Now, like an organ, strong and deep, the mighty voices rise; now murmuring of dreamless sleep come muted harmonies. Ah, there is music rarer still than any art can bring; it lingers on a wind-swept hill, the song the tree-tops sing!

Folly's Daughter -:- A Thrilling Mystery of New York Night Life -:- By Ann Lisle

Tony's Proposal.

"YOU'RE as gay as a funeral," Tony Savelli complained when Jill came across the Jardina di Napoli at nine o'clock of a Wednesday evening and slipped her cigarette tray off her shoulders after a careful inspection of the restaurant to be sure she hadn't overlooked a potential customer. "But you're also as solemn as an owl when it comes to tending to business."

ANN LISLE

"I'm as cheery as a cricket," Jill protested.

"It's all right with me to see you're a good business woman, sister. For you and I are going to clean up. I can see a way for us to make a lot of nice, comfortable, pleasant money."

"What do you mean?" Jill laughed.

"Two can live cheaper than one," Tony answered lightly. Then his voice took on a sudden note of passion as he said: "Once long ago I volunteered to grow you up, sweetness. I guess you've done a lot of growing since then. But I have not lost interest in you because you're a big girl now."

You're being fresh—aren't you?" Jill asked idly. "Well I don't blame you. I'm Folly's daughter."

"You're you," he said curtly. "I always wanted you. And you look just as good to me as ever. In fact better in some ways. . . .Your not having a name don't change things any. I may decide to give you mine—if you're a good girl and do just what I tell you."

"Why, are you still interested in me?" Jill asked half bitterly, half curiously. "It's strange—"

"Not strange at all. I never handed you any bunk. I'm never going to. I never talked wedding bells to you. I ain't talking them now. You could hardly expect that—now——"

"No. I could hardly expect that now," Jill repeated.

"Not that I'm criticizing your mama, honeybunch. But if she didn't insist on the minister blessing her union so you could be called by your papa's name, you ought to be at least as free in your attitude."

"Folly was a much better woman than anybody knew," Jill said curtly, her mind reverting to the bit of paper that would have given Folly a title to many things she had apparently been content not to claim. "I think she had her own ideas about what was square—"

"She took what she wanted," Tony said. "That's the way to do. March up to life and take what you want. And when time comes to play your exit cue—go out easy like she did without even bothering folks to buy you a wreath . . But let's talk about us, dearie. I've an idea that if you wanted a nice little stake you could get it easy from your charming double, Vivian Scarlett. I guess Beppo can tell you why you and her look so much alike—"

"No more than everybody knows already," Jill said quietly.

"Aren't you a mind to collect a thing from her? You could buy yourself a kind of trousseau—"

"No," Jill replied still more curtly. "I haven't even any money to bring, Tony. No money. No name. Nothing."

"You've got yourself!" he cried, with sudden passion. "I'm crazy about you, cutie. I can hardly keep my hands off you now. I guess some fellows would think I was kind of a fool mixing in with a girl that's had such a funny history and that's so mum about it——"

"You're not mixing," Jill said severely. "You're just talking. Words don't hurt anybody—or get you anywhere"——

"But I want them to get me somewhere—to you, Jill. I want you more than any girl I ever saw. Don't you love me a little——"

"A little, maybe. But not enough," she said simply.

"I like you, and I want you, and I'm blasted if I think you ought to be hanging around Beppo's neck much longer," Tony said irritably. "He don't say a word. But——"

"I'm a liability and not an asset," Jill laughed bitterly. "I'm that to almost everybody."

"Not to me. Not to the man who wants you"——

"If he wants me enough," she sighed. "But I'm beginning to think that nobody cares much for a girl whose—family history isn't any better than mine."

"You're you," Tony insisted, more wisely than he knew. "To Beppo and Conchetta you're just so much added expense, an obligation, maybe. To me you're—about everything. I'd rather have you than any girl I ever saw. I'm proud to love you, honeybunch."

"Knowing who I am and everything?"

Tony laughed with a flash of his white teeth. "Don't be so humble about my girl. Maybe Ames did give you a raw deal. Maybe a few of your rich friends quit you. I'm not like that. I stand by the people I care for when they're down and out . . . And I care a terrible lot for you, cutie. I'll teach you the meaning of love."

"Don't!" Jill said in sudden terror. She had a vision that Folly's daughter might easily enough be the victim of her hereditary desires. She got a glimpse of the force that had destroyed Folly and all who came between her and the gratification of her longings.

Again Tony stopped abruptly. He was clever enough to know when he had trespassed on Jill's reserves. "Listen," he said abruptly. "You ought to get out of here pronto and stop costing Beppo and Conchetta money. She told me it was a strain having you here. Come to me tomorrow . . . And if a marriage license is going to add any to your happiness, I'll give you one for a honeymoon present."

"Why not?" Jill chattered.

She sighed and relaxed. She was glad the battle was over, but she had always believed that life had something better in store for her than Tony Savelli could offer.

A Well Set Table

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Would you be kind enough to help me by answering the following:

1. Where should the bread and butter plate be placed, on the left or right of the dinner plate?

2. Should the napkin be placed on top of the plate or on the side of it?

3. After a meal should the host pass cigars to the guests?

4. Would you tell me if this stationery is proper to use when writing formal letters?

A READER.

THE bread and butter plate is always placed at the left of the dinner plate, just above the tips of the forks, and on a line with the water glass, which is on the right of the plate.

2. Most table-setters place the napkin on the service plate, but to my mind this is a mistake. If we have lovely service or dinner plates, it seems an artistic waste to have the beauty of the china concealed by the napkin.

When setting a table, I try to have every detail on the table reveal its own loveliness. That is, every piece of silver should be placed carefully in order. The glass should not be touching the silver, the bread and butter plate should not be touching the forks. Therefore, the napkin should be placed so that it reveals the beauty of the linen, on the left of the plate.

3. If there is a waitress, she usually passes the cigars, but if there isn't, it is correct for the host to pass them.

4. No, it isn't. We should never use ruled letter-paper. It is better to have the plain white double-sheet paper, a bit larger in size, to be in proportion to your handwriting.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.)

MODISH MITZI — Mitzi Was Right, As Usual — By JAY V. JAY

No, Mitzi won't change her mind. She isn't going to the football game. Mitzi is going to sit home and enjoy a very slight headache and a new pair of lounging pajamas. Most superior pajamas of satin with a metal brocade three-quarter length coat. Eleanor and Polly and Adelaide have expended their eloquence all in vain.

They all three want to go because they all three have new spot coats of fur. Eleanor's is leopard with its shawn collar and patch pockets edged with narrow strips of nurita. Polly's is of brown calfskin trimmed in a new fashion with appliques of brown suede. The standing collar flares out like a ruff—one of the new stylee tricks.

Adelaide's coat is of mole with wide cuffbans of seal. The tight skirt of the coat is seal also and it is cut up in a point in front—you can just see the top of it. With as smart a coat as this to wear Adelaide is not going to stay home—and besides it's a particularly important football game. Won't Mitzi change her mind and come?

No, Mitzi prefers to stay at home. The jacket of her pajama negligee has a flaring collar and wide corded cuffs. Mitzi enjoys the feeling of it and the look of it, and Mitzi enjoys it more than ever when she turns the radio on to the game and hears a voice from the stadium announcing sadly: "It is now starting to rain."

Unhappy Husband Advised to Divorce Wife Who Is Unfaithful to Her Home

Advice to a Heartbroken Husband and Father Whose Wife Is Unfaithful—A Hero-Mother Who Has Won Her Own Way in the World—Problem of an Unmarried Mother.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married for fifteen years to a woman whom I have loved as a sweetheart, and to whom I have given every reasonable comfort and indulgence. We have three fine children. In the past year I have found out that my wife has had criminal affairs with the family doctor, traveling men, and a former sweetheart. She professes to be devoted to her children, yet she does not love them enough to keep her character and name clean. Her mother, who lives with us, aids and abets her in her immoral life. I am crushed and it seems impossible for me to pull myself together and face the future. I can not be at home all the time and while I am away there is a constant gnawing at my heart that I simply can not stand. What is best for me to do?

WORRIED HUSBAND.

Answer—It seems to me that the only thing that you can do under the circumstances is to divorce your wife and take your children away from her. You should do this more for the childrens' sake than for your own. You have to consider their good even before your own.

In many cases it is best for the children if the wife forgives an unfaithful husband, because if she separates from him, she has no way of providing for them and giving them the education, and the start in the world that they would have if the family were kept together and the man continued to support it.

But the status of the unfaithful wife and the unfaithful husband are not the same, nor is their effect upon the children the same. A man's immoralities take place outside of his own home. They are not brought directly under the children's observation. In fact, the children are often kept in ignorance of them, so that their father's example does not necessarily affect them.

But an immoral mother is a foul bird that defiles her own nest. Her loose living is brought immediately under her children's observation, and her evil example is set before them at the most impressionable time of their lives.

The woman who is married to a dissolute man may bring up her children to have the highest principles and ideals, and the nicest sense of right and wrong, because it is the mother, far more than the father, who forms the characters of the children and who puts her own stamp upon them.

But no matter how fine a man the father is, he can do nothing to save his children if they have a dissolute mother.

Nothing short of a miracle can save girls from following in their mother's footsteps if they see her having lovers, deceiving their father, leading a life of easy virtue. The very atmosphere of such a home reeks with sensuality and their minds are poisoned with it as with a deadly miasma. Certainly it is your duty to remove your children from such an environment while there is yet time to save them.

You have forgiven your wife and given her a chance to reform. She has refused it. Therefore, you may be sure that she will never change. Perhaps she can not. There are women in whom the call of the flesh is the only voice they ever hear. But you will never have any peace of mind with such a wife. She will never reform. So all you can do is to take your children and leave her and make your life over on another plane.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—At 14 I married a rich man to please my parents. In four years I had four babies, then my husband deserted me just before the twins were born. Not one penny did he or my family ever give us. I started a little restaurant. Have worked like a dog for ten years. Now I have a nice, growing, paying business. Have paid for my home, have a car, and money in the bank, and the children in a good school.

Two of my sisters have married "society." My parents are "new rich" and they sneer at my little restaurant and feel that it reflects upon them that I keep it, so that they are using every means to make me give it up. But this is the only thing I know how to do, and they do not offer me a penny. Do you think I should give it up? And do you think I can ever get anywhere by patient work and study.

MRS. DALLAS.

Answer—I want to take off my hat to you, Mrs. Dallas. I think your account of what you have done is as fine and brave and inspiring a story as I have ever heard.

And I hope that many of the women who read this column will profit by your example, and when miserable and worthless husbands desert them that they will get up and go to work, and make something of themselves and their lives, instead of sitting down and wringing their hands and bemoaning the loss of men they are better off without.

You have taken the brave attitude toward life. You set your hand to doing the thing you knew how to do and you have made a success of it, as a woman always can do of any work that she puts her heart and her back into. Most women in your position would have gone back crying to their parents, and would have been an unwelcome burden on them, and made to eat the bitter bread of dependence.

You have saved your pride and your dignity by striking out for yourself, and have found the happiness that we all find in work and in standing on our own feet. You are an honor to your sex and you deserve a hero's medal to boot.

But you will throw away all that you have won if you let your parents persuade you to give up your restaurant. I implore you not to weaken, and not to accede to their foolish demands. Stick to your means of livelihood and don't let any one coerce you into becoming dependent upon their charity.

As fo rtheir silly pride, snap your fingers at it. No business is more respectable than keeping a restaurant. There is nothing for anybody to be ashamed of in it. And, anyway, nobody looks down on a woman who can carry on a money-making business. They look up to her.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 18, the mother of a 5-months-old fatherless child. I want to go to the Salvation Army and get it to help me to begin anew, but my parents say that if I do they will disown me. They are poor people with a large crowd of children, and I do not want my child brought up as we have been brought up. They want me to stay at home and just do the housework, and my mother says that she can never trust me. But, Miss Dix, I am not bad. I just loved too much and I wanted to go about like other girls did. Can you tell me anything about the Salvation Army?

A CRUSHED BLOSSOM.

Answer—The Salvation Army is the door of hope, and a temple of refuge to such as you. There is no finer or more helpful institution in the world, and you can do nothing better than to go to it for assistance. It will take care of your child, and help you to get work so that you can support it.

Your mother and father are wrong in their advice. There is no hope for you in doing housework. You will just be a family drudge. But it is good for a girl who has made a slip, as you have, to go away from the place where she is known.

Write to the nearest Salvation Army headquarters and ask them to take you into the fold.

FELT SHAKY, JUST TOTTERING AROUND

Alabama Lady Says She Did Not Get Any Real Relief Until She Took Cardui.

DOTHAN, Ala.—"I read about Cardui and it occurred to me that it was just what I needed for my trouble," says Mrs. Ella Scarborough, of this city. "I was in a bad state of health. Several different things were recommended to me. First one and then another would suggest remedies, but I did not get any real relief until I began to take Cardui.

"I was as weak as I could be. My legs were shaky, and often I would just totter around the house. I finally got so bad that I was in bed for several weeks.

"It was then that I began to take Cardui. I kept it up for quite a while, and at last I regained my health. Cardui was certainly a friend to me in time of need. I was much better after taking it, and I have recommended it to others who suffer as I did.

"My health is splendid now, and I seldom have to use medicine, but I gladly say a word about Cardui whenever I find a friend going through the same suffering which I endured."

Thousands of others have come out with praise for Cardui after long suffering due to weakness.

Cardui is a harmless extract of mild-acting medicinal herbs.

FIFTY-FIFTY MARRIAGES

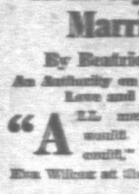

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Is There a Leader In Every Happy Marriage?

By Beatrice Fairfax.

An Authority on the Problems of Love and Marriage.

"ALL men and women would marry if they could," declared Mrs. Eva Wilcox at the recent national convention of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. "It is a question of romance, which some never find and others do."

BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Is this statement true in every case? Or does it apply mainly to the majority of modern women?

Are there not numbers of so-called "emancipated women" who would hesitate to exchange their so-called freedom by "selling themselves," as they might term it, "in the bondage of marriage"?

The fact that man is generally regarded as leader in the marriage partnership is distasteful to a certain extreme type of feminist. Feeling that marriage is unjust in assigning woman a secondary position, she dislikes the institution and elects to remain single.

This extreme type of feminist may forego marriage. Or, if she marries, she may choose a subservient helpmate and flaunt her leadership in the face of the world.

There must be a leader, a recognized head, in every organization, every partnership, every nation, every marriage. Even in ordinary ballroom dancing a leader is essential. If both partners try to lead a two-step, results are disastrous.

In marriage, either husband or wife must be recognized as leader as a matter of convenience. Which shall it be?

I believe, if a vote of women were taken, the overwhelming majority of wives would prefer to have the marriage partnership represented before the world by Friend Husband as nominal head and protector, even as it has been these thousands of years.

Men are physically stronger than women. No feminine tennis champion likes to compete with a man who is a recognized champion.

Mentally, men are at least the equal of women. Masculine understanding of business and world affairs in general is at present superior to the knowledge of the average woman in that direction. Does it not seem sensible, under all these circumstances, that the husband should continue to perform the service of representing both marriage-partners as protector or leader?

On the other hand, woman is a born home-maker, because of her natural capacity for "mother age." To many men, home means just the woman. Home is a woman's kingdom. So perhaps there is reason in the old arrangement which recognizes man as leader in marriage, woman as leader in homemaking.

This does not imply that modern woman should confine her activities to home. The liberation of woman and her entrance on careers is equipping her perhaps better than ever before to govern wisely and charmingly her home, the center but not limit of her interests and activities. Modern legislators are slowly but surely righting ancient injustice to wives in matters of property-building and law.

"Ours is a fifty-fifty marriage," announced a radiant friend of mine, wife of a man who is rapidly riding to national recognition as a statesman.

There is no dispute in that family as to who leads. I doubt whether this question of leadership ever arises in a marriage of deep mutual love and service. My friend manages her beautiful home harmoniously and is a leader in club and welfare work, finding time also for the bright social life she loves.

Who is the real leader in marriage? It would be hard to say. There is often a power behind the throne. The subtle influence of whichever partner is mentally stronger and more capable probably guides. But "every woman" knows that a wife likes to let her husband feel he is nominal leader and protector. Perhaps in most cases a gentle, capable, adored wife is the real power behind the throne, because men lean on the inspiration of love.

Woman looks to man for physical, protective strength and courage, and for mental strength and moral courage, while woman sways through spiritual leadership and tender love.

Thus, without any question of superiority or inferiority, man is natural leader in marriage, as a matter of convenience and order, while woman naturally guides in all that pertains to home. Each complements the other in that deeply satisfying self fulfillment, successful marriage.

An Oriental Flower -:- But Still the Chrysanthemum Is Queen of Football Days -:- Drawn By Dorothy Flack

AUTUMN'S flaunting banner of victory—the chrysanthemum! The story goes that this loveliest of flowers was originally cultivated to please the capricious fancy of a jaded king, and for centuries it was raised in tenderest care solely for the pleasure of royalty.

But those days are long past and now in all its shaggy loveliness it graces the fairest of the fair. Why, a football game wouldn't be a real game, if one couldn't have this queen of flowers nestling close to the vivid eagerness of scores of lovely faces. Can you picture a game without a single "mum?"

And, too, for the Autumn bride the stately glory of this glorious flower sheds a beauty and dignity on this day of days that casts a golden glow down her life path.

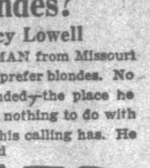

How many questions have been asked and answered by means of its tawny beauty? How many hearts have been brought together for a life of happiness and love over the shaggy petals of Autumn's favorite?

The last flower of the season, but the first in the hearts of Autumn's children. Originally designed to grace the dusky loveliness of a forgotten Oriental queen, it now is the prized adornment of blonde and Titian and brunette beauty and is equally becoming to all. But its message of Love and Happiness is the same now as it was thousands of years ago when it thrilled the heart of that little Oriental queen.

Does a Gentleman Really Prefer Blondes?

By Lucy Lowell

A GENTLEMAN from Missouri does NOT prefer blondes. No joke intended—the place he comes from has nothing to do with the matter, but his calling has. He is a parson and he estimates the number of couples he has married at 4,500.

LUCY LOWELL.

This is what he has to say about it:

"The brunette is serious and seems to take a marriage ceremony in earnest. But the dumbest bride, who always seems to wonder what it is all about, is the blonde."

It is about time, it seems to me, that some statistical expert or welfare committee or the like took up the status of the blonde in a serious way and told the truth about her.

She has been maligned for many a year now as dumb, selfish, philandering and various other things, though nobody seems to know exactly why.

The fact of the matter is that no actual reason exists. There is, however, another parallel tradition which may have something to do with it—that which insists that all beautiful women are brainless. "Beautiful and dumb" is a popular catch phrase.

If there is merit in this, one may judge it to be based upon the fact that the average woman who has beauty gives her thought to her physical appearance and lets her mind get along the best way it can.

Undoubtedly some beautiful women do just this, and some of the beautiful women are blondes. And there are many who think that a beautiful blonde is the most beautiful of all feminine creatures—and therefore the dumbest.

This may seem a logical argument on the surface; actually it is not logical at all, for an entire type of womanhood should not be judged by a few outstanding examples.

Furthermore, it seems to be the rule to refer to all women whose hair and eyes are not jet black as blondes. Red-heads, brown-heads, sandy-haired—all of them are carelessly classed as blondes. And this, too, is unfair. For the actual percentage of real blondes is not more than one in ten.

As a matter of fact, a woman's complexion has nothing whatever to do with her mind.

Artificial Immunization Against Diphtheria

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D., Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOU learned from my article yesterday how a certain "natural" immunity against diphtheria may be realized, and how, by the wonderful Schick test, we may know whether or not a person actually is immune. If one is found susceptible one may be artificially immunized. It may be explained in this way:

CHARLES A.L. REED, M.D.

When diphtheria toxin is injected into an animal, antitoxin appears later in the blood. Toxin, in other words, stimulates the formation of antitoxin. If a non-immune animal is injected, it takes a long time, about three weeks for the antitoxin to appear. This is called primary stimulation. An immune animal, however, starts producing antitoxin much more rapidly and much more plentifully than the non-immune; this is called a secondary stimulation.

An injection of toxin has two effects. It causes the system to produce antitoxin, and it also increases its power of producing antitoxin. The antitoxin soon disappears from the blood, but the power to produce it remains for life. This means that, whenever diphtheria toxin enters the blood, the animal will at once produce antitoxin in large quantities and protect itself against the disease.

Moreover, stimulating as the toxin is, a neutral mixture of toxin and antitoxin is more stimulating still. If the toxin is treated with formalin it loses the power of giving the disease, but keeps all its powers of producing immunity. This means that there is absolutely no risk whatever in the immunizing process as carried on today.

For most persons a dose of one c. c. of prophylactic weekly for three weeks is enough to give them immunity, to make them "Schick negative." Some are more obstinate, but few require more than six doses. But three weeks is too long to wait for immunity if there is an epidemic of diphtheria raging, and all wise communities immunize themselves before an outbreak comes to frighten the people into doing it.

The most dangerous age for a child is between two and five, and the ideal to aim at is to immunize all children between these ages. Compared with the cost of treating diphtheria, the cost of immunization is trifling. For a beggarly few dollars a child can be made immune probably for life, whereas, if it gets diphtheria, its treatment will cost many times as much.

It is estimated that on the average about forty children can be immunized for the amount of money spent on a single case.

In a recent report to the London County Council, published by the Medical Research Council of Great Britain, the discovery of the Schick method is spoken of as one of the most notable advances ever made in the field of medicine. There is very little doubt that the systematic adoption of immunization would result in a great yearly saving of child life, as well as materially lightening the burden on taxpayers.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

You're Too Young.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am seventeen years old. I am engaged to a man of twenty-four. Do you think he is too old for me?

I'm sure I love him. But he bosses me too much. I am used to having my own way and we quarrel whenever I don't do as he says.

He is making thirty-five dollars a week. Do you think we can live on that? I have never worked and do not know how to cook or clean house. I am used to nice clothes and spending money. But I'm going to do without these things when I'm married. Do you think our marriage will be a success? We're going to elope.

BLONDIE.

YOU are too young, Blondie, to undertake the hard work and responsibility involved in marriage—especially a marriage in which rigid economy will be necessary. Very soon, if you were married you would long for your pretty clothes and spending money, good times and idleness. But it would be too late.

Wait until you are nineteen or twenty at least, before you marry. Meantime, learn to cook and keep house. And when you do marry, instead of eloping, have a happy, "homey" wedding, with your parents and your fiance's parents present to give their love and blessing.

DO YOU KNOW?

Crossed wires interfered with a sermon being relayed from London by telephone and broadcast by a Sheffield (England) radio station. In the midst of the sermon radio listeners heard the voice of an unknown telephone operator, saying, "Drop your sixpence, please." Then an angry woman began to upbraid her husband for not returning home. The family quarrel crowded out the sermon and was broadcast over a wide area.

Nations who wish to go to law with one another can appear before the Permanent Court of International Justice, which sits at The Hague. There are eleven regular judges and four deputies, each of a different nationality. The court gave its first verdict in August, 1922.

Passenger revenues of New Zealand railways are said to be much affected by the competition of privately owned motor services operating on parallel routes. In the neighborhood of Wellington alone some thirty cars are operating on routes from 15 to 125 miles in length the main service being from Wellington to Wanganui, ostensibly catering for intertown traffic, it actually does a little more than one-fifth interior traffic as against four-fifths through traffic. The quicker service and cheaper rates charged, added to the fact that connections with other bus lines are conveniently made, have diverted traffic from the railways.

Our Rhyming OPTIMIST

HOW sweet the songs on singers' lips, where notes like silver chime, and every word like honey drips in melody sublime! Entranced, their listeners hear such song that brings them rare respite from all earth's weariness and wrong; makes all the world seem bright. And dear the songs that mothers croon beside white cribs at eve; the first faint stars, the crescent moon in webs of words they weave. But there is music sweeter still than words that heaven-ward wing; you hear it on a wind-swept hill, the song the tree-tops sing! Now, like an organ, strong and deep, the mighty voices rise; now murmuring of dreamless sleep come muted harmonies. Ah, there is music rarer still than any art can bring; it lingers on a wind-swept hill, the song the tree-tops sing!

Folly's Daughter -:- A Thrilling Mystery of New York Night Life -:- By Ann Lisle

Tony's Proposal

"YOU'RE as gay as a funeral," Tony Savelli complained when Jill came across the Basilica di Napoli at nine o'clock of a Wednesday evening and slipped her cigarette case off her shoulders after a careful inspection of the restaurant to be sure she hadn't overlooked a potential customer. "But you're also as solemn as an owl when it comes to settling to business."

ANN LISLE.

"I'm as cheery as a cricket," Jill protested.

"It's all right with me to see you're a good business woman, sister. For you and I are going to clean up. I can see a way for us to make a lot of nice, comfortable, pleasant money."

"What do you mean?" Jill breathed.

"Two can live cheaper than one," Tony answered lightly. Then his voice took on a sudden note of passion as he said: "Once long ago I volunteered to grow you up, sweetness. I guess you've done a lot of growing since then. But I have not lost interest in you because you're a big girl now."

You're being fresh—aren't you?" Jill asked idly. "Well I don't blame you. I'm Folly's daughter."

"You're you!" he said curtly. "I always wanted you. And you look just as good to me as ever. In fact better in some ways. . . . Your not having a name don't change things any. I may decide to give you mine—if you're a good girl and do just what I tell you."

"Why, are you still interested in me?" Jill asked half bitterly, half curiously. "It's strange—"

"Not strange at all. I never handed you any bunk. I'm never going to. I never talked wedding bells to you. I ain't talking them now. You could hardly expect that—now——"

"No. I could hardly expect that now," Jill repeated.

"Not that I'm criticizing your mama, honeybunch. But if she didn't insist on the minister blessing her union so you could be called by your papa's name, you ought to be at least as free in your attitude."

"Folly was a much better woman than anybody knew," Jill said curtly, her mind reverting to the bit of paper that would have given Folly a title to many things she had apparently been content not to claim. "I think she had her own ideas about what was square—"

"She took what she wanted," Tony said. "That's the way to do. March up to life and take what you want. And when time comes to play your exit cue—go out easy like she did without even bothering folks to buy you a wreath . . . But let's talk about us, dearie. I've an idea that if you wanted a nice little stake you could get it easy from your charming double, Vivian Scarlett. I guess Beppo can tell you why you and her look so much alike—"

"No more than everybody knows already," Jill said quietly.

"Aren't you a mind to collect a thing from her? You could buy yourself a kind of trousseau—"

"No," Jill replied still more curtly. "I haven't even any money to bring, Tony. No money. No name. Nothing."

"You've got yourself!" he cried, with sudden passion. "I'm crazy about you, cutie. I can hardly keep my hands off you now. I guess some fellows would think I was kind of a fool mixing in with a girl that's had such a funny history and that's so mum about it——"

"You're not mixing," Jill said severely. "You're just talking. Words don't hurt anybody—or get you anywhere"——

"But I want them to get me somewhere—to you, Jill. I want you more than any girl I ever saw. Don't you love me a little——"

"A little, maybe. But not enough," she said simply.

"I like you, and I want you, and I'm blasted if I think you ought to be hanging around Beppo's neck much longer," Tony said irritably. "He don't say a word. But——"

"I'm a liability and not an asset," Jill laughed bitterly. "I'm that to almost everybody."

"Not to me. Not to the man who wants you"——

"If he wants me enough," she sighed. "But I'm beginning to think that nobody cares much for a girl whose—family history isn't any better than mine."

"You're you," Tony insisted, more wisely than he knew. "To Beppo and Conchetta you're just so much added expense, an obligation, maybe. To me you're—about everything. I'd rather have you than any girl I ever saw. I'm proud to love you, honeybunch."

"Knowing who I am and everything?"

"Why not?" Jill chattered.

She sighed and relaxed. She was glad the battle was over, but she had always believed that life had something better in store for her than Tony Savelli could offer.

When Manners Are Correct

A Well Set Table

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Would you be kind enough to help me by answering the following:

1. Where should the bread and butter plate be placed, on the left or right of the dinner plate?

2. Should the napkin be placed on top of the plate or on the side of it?

3. After a meal should the host pass cigars to the guests?

4. Would you tell me if this stationery is proper to use when writing formal letters?

A READER.

THE bread and butter plate is always placed at the left of the dinner plate, just above the tips of the forks, and on a line with the water glass, which is on the right of the plate.

2. Most table-setters place the napkin on the service plate, but to my mind this is a mistake. If we have lovely service or dinner plates, it seems an artistic waste to have the beauty of the china concealed by the napkin.

When setting a table, I try to have every detail on the table reveal its own loveliness. That is, every piece of silver should be placed carefully in order. The glass should not be touching the silver, the bread and butter plate should not be touching the forks. Therefore, the napkin should be placed so that it reveals the beauty of the linen, on the left of the plate.

3. If there is a waitress, she usually passes the cigars, but if there isn't, it is correct for the host to pass them.

4. No, it isn't. We should never use ruled letter-paper. It is better to have the plain white double-sheet paper, a bit larger in size, to be in proportion to your handwriting.

(Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.)

MODISH MITZI Mitzi Was Right, As Usual By JAY V. JAY

No, Mitzi won't change her mind. She isn't going to the football game. Mitzi is going to sit home and enjoy a very slight headache and a new pair of lounging pajamas. Most superior pajamas of satin with a metal brocade three-quarter length coat. Eleanor and Polly and Adelaide have expended their eloquence all in vain.

They all three want to go because they all three have new spot coats of fur. Eleanor's is leopard with its shawn collar and patch pockets edged with narrow strips of nurita. Polly's is of brown calfskin trimmed in a new fashion with appliques of brown suede. The standing collar flares out like a ruff—one of the new stylee tricks.

Adelaide's coat is of mole with wide cuffbans of seal. The tight skirt of the coat is seal also and it is cut up in a point in front—you can just see the top of it. With as smart a coat as this to wear Adelaide is not going to stay home—and besides it's a particularly important football game. Won't Mitzi change her mind and come?

No, Mitzi prefers to stay at home. The jacket of her pajama negligee has a flaring collar and wide corded cuffs. Mitzi enjoys the feeling of it and the look of it, and Mitzi enjoys it more than ever when she turns the radio on to the game and hears a voice from the stadium announcing sadly: "It is now starting to rain."

Unhappy Husband Advised to Divorce Wife Who Is Unfaithful to Her Home

Advice to a Heartbroken Husband and Father Whose Wife Is Unfaithful—A Hero-Mother Who Has Won Her Own Way in the World—Problem of an Unmarried Mother.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have been married for fifteen years to a woman whom I have loved as a sweetheart, and to whom I have given every reasonable comfort and indulgence. We have three fine children. In the past year I have found out that my wife has had criminal affairs with the family doctor, traveling men, and a former sweetheart. She professes to be devoted to her children, yet she does not love them enough to keep her character and name clean. Her mother, who lives with us, aids and abets her in her immoral life. I am crushed and it seems impossible for me to pull myself together and face the future. I can not be at home all the time and while I am away there is a constant gnawing at my heart that I simply can not stand. What is best for me to do?

WORRIED HUSBAND.

Answer—It seems to me that the only thing that you can do under the circumstances is to divorce your wife and take your children away from her. You should do this more for the childrens' sake than for your own. You have to consider their good even before your own.

In many cases it is best for the children if the wife forgives an unfaithful husband, because if she separates from him, she has no way of providing for them and giving them the education, and the start in the world that they would have if the family were kept together and the man continued to support it.

But the status of the unfaithful wife and the unfaithful husband are not the same, nor is their effect upon the children the same. A man's immoralities take place outside of his own home. They are not brought directly under the children's observation. In fact, the children are often kept in ignorance of them, so that their father's example does not necessarily affect them.

But an immoral mother is a foul bird that defiles her own nest. Her loose living is brought immediately under her children's observation, and her evil example is set before them at the most impressionable time of their lives.

The woman who is married to a dissolute man may bring up her children to have the highest principles and ideals, and the nicest sense of right and wrong, because it is the mother, far more than the father, who forms the characters of the children and who puts her own stamp upon them.

But no matter how fine a man the father is, he can do nothing to save his children if they have a dissolute mother.

Nothing short of a miracle can save girls from following in their mother's footsteps if they see her having lovers, deceiving their father, leading a life of easy virtue. The very atmosphere of such a home reeks with sensuality and their minds are poisoned with it as with a deadly miasma. Certainly it is your duty to remove your children from such an environment while there is yet time to save them.

You have forgiven your wife and given her a chance to reform. She has refused it. Therefore, you may be sure that she will never change. Perhaps she can not. There are women in whom the call of the flesh is the only voice they ever hear. But you will never have any peace of mind with such a wife. She will never reform. So all you can do is to take your children and leave her and make your life over on another plane.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—At 14 I married a rich man to please my parents. In four years I had four babies, then my husband deserted me just before the twins were born. Not one penny did he or my family ever give us. I started a little restaurant. Have worked like a dog for ten years. Now I have a nice, growing, paying business. Have paid for my home, have a car, and money in the bank, and the children in a good school.

Two of my sisters have married "society." My parents are "new rich" and they sneer at my little restaurant and feel that it reflects upon them that I keep it, so that they are using every means to make me give it up. But this is the only thing I know how to do, and they do not offer me a penny. Do you think I should give it up? And do you think I can ever get anywhere by patient work and study.

MRS. DALLAS.

Answer—I want to take off my hat to you, Mrs. Dallas. I think your account of what you have done is as fine and brave and inspiring a story as I have ever heard.

And I hope that many of the women who read this column will profit by your example, and when miserable and worthless husbands desert them that they will get up and go to work, and make something of themselves and their lives, instead of sitting down and wringing their hands and bemoaning the loss of men they are better off without.

You have taken the brave attitude toward life. You set your hand to doing the thing you knew how to do and you have made a success of it, as a woman always can do of any work that she puts her heart and her back into. Most women in your position would have gone back crying to their parents, and would have been an unwelcome burden on them, and made to eat the bitter bread of dependence.

You have saved your pride and your dignity by striking out for yourself, and have found the happiness that we all find in work and in standing on our own feet. You are an honor to your sex and you deserve a hero's medal to boot.

But you will throw away all that you have won if you let your parents persuade you to give up your restaurant. I implore you not to weaken, and not to accede to their foolish demands. Stick to your means of livelihood and don't let any one coerce you into becoming dependent upon their charity.

As fo rtheir silly pride, snap your fingers at it. No business is more respectable than keeping a restaurant. There is nothing for anybody to be ashamed of in it. And, anyway, nobody looks down on a woman who can carry on a money-making business. They look up to her.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl of 18, the mother of a 5-months-old fatherless child. I want to go to the Salvation Army and get it to help me to begin anew, but my parents say that if I do they will disown me. They are poor people with a large crowd of children, and I do not want my child brought up as we have been brought up. They want me to stay at home and just do the housework, and my mother says that she can never trust me. But, Miss Dix, I am not bad. I just loved too much and I wanted to go about like other girls did. Can you tell me anything about the Salvation Army?

A CRUSHED BLOSSOM.

Answer—The Salvation Army is the door of hope, and a temple of refuge to such as you. There is no finer or more helpful institution in the world, and you can do nothing better than to go to it for assistance. It will take care of your child, and help you to get work so that you can support it.

Your mother and father are wrong in their advice. There is no hope for you in doing housework. You will just be a family drudge. But it is good for a girl who has made a slip, as you have, to go away from the place where she is known.

Write to the nearest Salvation Army headquarters and ask them to take you into the fold.

FELT SHAKY, JUST TOTTERING AROUND

Alabama Lady Says She Did Not Get Any Real Relief Until She Took Cardui.

DOTHAN, Ala.—"I read about Cardui and it occurred to me that it was just what I needed for my trouble," says Mrs. Ella Scarborough, of this city. "I was in a bad state of health. Several different things were recommended to me. First one and then another would suggest remedies, but I did not get any real relief until I began to take Cardui.

"I was as weak as I could be. My legs were shaky, and often I would just totter around the house. I finally got so bad that I was in bed for several weeks.

"It was then that I began to take Cardui. I kept it up for quite a while, and at last I regained my health. Cardui was certainly a friend to me in time of need. I was much better after taking it, and I have recommended it to others who suffer as I did.

"My health is splendid now, and I seldom have to use medicine, but I gladly say a word about Cardui whenever I find a friend going through the same suffering which I endured."

Thousands of others have come out with praise for Cardui after long suffering due to weakness.

Cardui is a harmless extract of mild-acting medicinal herbs.

Results of the November Elections

THERE will be a mighty battle of the ballots in November of next year. A president and vice president and a new congress will be elected by the American voters who care to go to the polling places. This is what is known as an off year, and yet, the practical politicians carefully scan the results of the ballotings in off years in the states or important cities where elections are held.

New York is the empire state of the union. Alfred E. Smith is its governor and Democratic leader. Ten important amendments were submitted to the people by the legislature of that state. One provided that the term of office of governor should be four years and another provided that the first election should take place in 1928, presidential year, and every four years thereafter on presidential election day.

Governor Smith campaigned the state against this amendment. Col. Theodore Roosevelt campaigned the state urging the adoption of the amendment. He was defeated for governor by Smith in the not remote past.

Returns from Greater New York and the upstate election districts show that the amendment opposed by Smith was defeated by more than 500,000 majority, and the nine amendments whose adoption the governor advocated carried by majorities equally as great as that given against the only one of the amendments submitted which went down in defeat.

Hereafter the governor of New York will receive $25,000 a year salary; the lieutenant governor $10,000 a year and members of the legislature a larger increase over the present salary. According to the wire reports it was a great day and a great victory for the Democrats of the empire state.

In old Kentucky the Republicans elected their governor and entire state ticket. Former Governor and former Senator J. W. C. Beckham was the Democratic nominee. Beckham made his race for the nomination on a platform declaring against the betting system.

Judge Fiem D. Sampson, the Republican nominee and winner, declared this betting system was not an issue in the campaign. Beckham lost the state to the Democrats.

In the blue grass district, overwhelmingly Democratic, thousands of liberal Democrats voted against Beckham and brought about his defeat. Kentucky is the home of the thoroughbreds. In Kentucky are many of the largest and most aristocratic racing associations and race tracks in America.

Beckham declared he would destroy betting and the friends of racing declared that Beckham's election meant the destruction of racing in Kentucky and the closing of the tracks and the great stud farms and stables of the commonwealth.

Louisville went overwhelmingly Republican and in two congressional districts the Democratic deserters on the issue are said to have numbered more than 15,000.

Kentucky is no longer a Democratic Gibraltar. Kentucky has returned to the Republican column of states. Kentucky may be classed as a doubtful state in the presidential contest to come next year.

Ohio is the home of the Anti-Saloon League of America. A decision of the supreme court of the United States early in 1927 nullified the system where justices of the peace and judges of minor courts collected their salaries out of the fees of office. This decision was rendered on a case carried from Ohio to the court of last resort.

An amendment backed by the Anti-Saloon League and the pro leaders was submitted to the voters of Ohio by the legislature of that state. All the automobile associations fought it. Many powerful organizations opposed to the fee system fought the adoption of the amendment.

It was a bitter campaign from start to finish, and the amendment was defeated by a majority that may reach the half million mark. This is the first defeat sustained by the Anti-Saloon league in Ohio in many years.

On the other hand, the drys of the country may rejoice over the returns from the city of Detroit, where Mayor John Smith, a wet Republican, who said that the prohibition laws could not be enforced in a large city, was defeated for re-election by Joseph C. Lodge, a grand uncle of Eagle Lindbergh, a candidate who never made a speech, never placed an advertisement in a newspaper, never asked a voter to cast a ballot for him and whose slogan was "the office should seek the man."

Mayor Smith has been a power in the politics of Detroit, former Republican postmaster and the principal backer of Fred W. Greene, elected governor of Michigan last year.

In the city of Philadelphia the Vare machine elected its ticket from top to bottom by a majority of 160,000. Not a single independent or anti-Vare candidate made a successful landing.

Theodore G. Bilbo was elected governor of Mississippi without opposition. He is another stormy petrel of American politics and cordially detested by the conservative or business Democrats of his state.

James Rolph was re-elected mayor of San Francisco for the tenth term. He is a Republican, ran as a Democrat and defeated a Republican who resigned the office of postmaster to "save the city from the "rule of Rolph." Rolph is said to be worth $40,000,000. He loves office for office sake.

Indianapolis has a Democratic mayor by appointment of a Republican city council and Cleveland, the leading city of Ohio, refused to repeal the city manager plan of government charter.

New York appears to be more Democratic than ever and the blue grass Democrats of Kentucky have shown by their election of a Republican governor that they are not hide bound Democrats when the nominee of their party promises to destroy the racing industry and the historic breeding farms of kings and queens of the American turf.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Sometime ago in this column I spoke of an obnoxious class of retail merchants; those eager gentry who stand in front of their shops and try to drag pedestrians inside by main force. They have been as much a public nuisance as prohibition agents. Yesterday, I was informed that the scurvy fellows were at last getting their due. Five of them, brought into Jefferson Market court, were given jail sentences ranging from two to ten days. Perhaps this will have a salutary effect on this class of merchants, whom the police piquantly term "body snathcers."

* * *

A story which I recently read in manuscript form was one of the worst examples of spelling, punctuation and typographical errors that I have ever encountered. It was covered with unintelligible corrections in pencil. The story, I learnt, was written by a lady, who was said to be the best copy reader of her sex on a metropolitan newspaper.

* * *

An aged couple together with a young woman, apparently a daughter, approached an entrance to a train in Grand Central. Following, was a red cap, bearing three heavy-looking bags. At the gate, the porter put the bags down for a moment and the old man tipped him, saying, "We can manage these now." Both wife and daughter protested vehemently that the bags were entirely too heavy for papa, but the latter stubbornly refused to yield and walked to a nearby newsstand. The women said to the porter, "You'd better stay" and stay he did. Nothing undaunted, the old man came back and insisted that he himself carry the luggage. In fact he was so determined that he actually tore his property from the porter by main force and rushed through the gate, with his embarrassed wife and daughter following. Now there was a man who was master in his own home, in fact as well as in theory. There was a man who is probably unique in this city, which, as has been pointed out before, is ruled principally by women.

A young woman, according to an editor, came to New York, with the avowed intention of becoming a "journalist." When asked about her experience, she said that she had run the society notes on her home town paper and that she thought she would like to do the same thing in New York.

"Of course," she explained, "it would probably take me a few days to get to know the society people here."

The editor agreed that it would.

Hitherto, the New York Times has purchased the stories of trans-Atlantic fliers. The flight of Ruth Elder broke this succession. After Phillip Payne, the editor of the Mirror, was lost in "Old Glory," Victor Watson was appointed to succeed him. And one of the first editorial gestures by the new editor was the purchase of Ruth Elder's exclusive story for thirty-five thousand dollars cash—whether she fell into the ocean or not. It appears that it would be a profitable venture to announce a trip by air to Paris, contract to sell your story at a fabulous price and then start out in any old crate. After all, one could land at the nearest ship that came into sight.

HATTIE

A STORY OF LOVE AND SACRIFICE

By SAMUEL MERWIN

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, works in the mailing room of a printing and book-binding establishment. A former fellow employe

LUCILLE OVERMAN, takes her to the Earthwide Picture studio where she is seen by

ARMAND DE BRISSAC, famous director. He makes a screen test of Hattie and takes her to California with him to make a picture, "Bagdad." With her go

ALICE, Hattie's married sister and her baby, all dependent on Hattie. Hattie becomes engaged to

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man, although she is fascinated by the director, De Brissac wants her to go with him on his yatch for a week's cruise, when the picture is finished, but Hattie refuses and leaves the Earthwide studio to work for Plantagenet. She finds she can not work without De Brissac, however. She meets Lucille who advises her to go back to De Brissac. Alice's husband,

ARTHUR, has deserted her several years before, but he comes back and adds himself to Hattie's responsibilities. Hattie and Henry go to a private showing of the finished picture which is a great success. De Brissac is to form his own company and wants her to work with him.

He offers her a contract at $1000 a week.

She meets Henry for dinner that night and tries to tell him how she hates pictures and about De Brissac; that she wants to get married and settle modestly in a little home of her own. He can not understand and when she realizes it she leaves him and goes to De Brissac.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE.

De Brissac drove mercilessly at the first picture under his own management. It was finished within four months and released in December. This was "Pharaoh's Daughter," in which Hattie made her first appearance as a full-fledged star. The picture started well. The publicity campaign was vigorous and effective and the reviews flattering. For Hattie personally it was an even greater success than "Bagdad." Hardly more than a month earlier the release of "Little Nell" had proved depressing, but that was now over-shadowed and forgotten. Again the letters were pouring in by every post. Again the photographers and the interviewers besieged her. And in a way she rose to it, became excited and pleased as the solidity of her success came home to her. For the first time she began thinking that fame might prove a substitute for happiness. Alice and Arthur, as well, seemed to be catching at it in something of the same spirit. At home they talked of little else. All three watched the daily papers and the picture magazines, pouncing brightly on each item about Harriet John and her swiftly ascending star, looking for larger headlines, happier captions, a little disappointed when the superlatives for a moment, here and there, seemed to fail. The excitement of it really drew the family together. They even drove up into the mountains, on consecutive Sundays, to show armfuls of this stirring matter to Gran'ma.

And Arthur busied himself in the matter of caring for the correspondence and advising the publicity men. He liked to come to Hattie with that sort of thing, showing her how busy he was with her affairs. He made a great deal of preparing the income tax, too, and such things as insurance and watching De Brissac, Incorporated, to check up credits for expenses and incidentals. Alice said, indeed, that Heaven only knew where all Harriet's business would drift to without such a manager. Certainly she had no business gift herself. Which Hattie knew to be an accurate observation.

Hattie and De Brissac had their sharpest quarrel just after the release of "Pharaoh's Daughter." His desire that she share his well-earned vacation amounted, on this occasion, to a demand. And when she shook her head, just kept on shaking it and saying that she couldn't possibly do that, he grew angry. They were both tired. Nerves were near breaking. It was a critical time for the new company. He told her that she was unreasonable, even so far forgot his usual poise as to say that she wished to eat her cake and have it too. She rushed away then.

He called up, twice that afternoon and repeatedly during the evening. The first time she hung up the receiver without a word, and afterward had her maid explain that she was resting and couldn't be disturbed. In the morning, before ten, the bell rang again. At noon his secretary brought a letter — an eagerly phrased love letter that blazed with restless passion. He needed her, more at the moment than ever before or, perhaps, ever again. She mustn't fail him in this crisis. And on and on.

It was the first indication that her great De Brissac could be insistent, tempestuous. She was more than ever frightened. If so strong a man were really to lose his head there was no telling what awful thing might happen. Evil publicity. Disaster. He had said much asserting their comradeship, but this wasn't that sort of thing, he was asserting a right now, like a husband, like a—this was her confused, hurt thought—like a man. Shut in her room that day and all the next, she entertained thoughts of quitting the pictures, running away, picking up a job, doing anything that would enable her to live her own little life. It seemed to her then that she loathed all commerce with men. She thought ignorantly and vaguely of nuns; they looked very serene in their hoods with the white facings.

And she wondered in bitter reverie what the family must be thinking. Surely they knew who it was who kept the telephone ringing. Certainly they knew Miss Wilson, his secretary, who came again that second day with a letter. They could see how upset she was herself. It did seem that they must know, or at least suspect. But they avoided the subject, avoided it airily. Arthur talked more, perhaps, than usual, but on other topics.

De Brissac stopped his efforts to reach her and took the night train for San Diego; went at the last without a word. He didn't write again. This was worst of all. If he had really turned against her, it might mean the end of her amazing career. Then what would become of the family? What would become of Gran'ma? . . . These questions arose at night when the lights were out and she lay staring awake in her pretty room. They were confused with her growing fear of exposure. His anger had brought back that other time of disturbance, after the scene with the dark girl. Even now she didn't know who that girl really was or what lay behind the incredible attack. She was losing all hold of herself. If she didn't look out she'd be fainting again. And that wouldn't do. He wanted her to put on a little flesh for the next picture. She'd been taking milk and eggs and meat and potatoes just for that. He wanted a more mature beauty—this was for "The Soul of Angel Blaine"—and here she was, forlorn, thinner if anything, getting nowhere with herself.

That about eating her cake and wanting it too wasn't fair. The words rankled. She couldn't even explain, couldn't make him see that this appearance of respectability that she so desperately clung to—this perhaps absurd insistence on spending every night at home protected by the family—was her last hold on life. Once her feeling for respectability was lost, she'd go—anywhere—into the outer chaos. He fought that instinct in her, and she could only fight blindly back.

Three weeks went by. He didn't write from San Diego, or wherever he had gone. But in that time she found no peace. Tender exquisite memories arose to torture her just when she thought she was angriest, memories of evenings in his office on the quiet lot. Then would come thoughts of her own dishonesty, a hatred of living falsely. She would wake up at night and cry. Toward the end of that time puzzling little questions began stabbing at her. Had she been unfair to him—unfair and unkind? He did need her. Perhaps she had driven him to some other girl. Was she, in drawing this curious line, merely straining at a gnat? Perhaps. But she couldn't help it. She couldn't surrender her reputation.

Then he returned. They met, at first, cooly. He was himself again, and seemed, in his self-restraint, a being high above her miserable little self. On the second day—they had to discuss the new picture—after the scenario people and George had gone—he showed her the present he had brought her, a richly embroidered old Spanish shawl. He had been down in Mexico City, it appeared. She took it home and locked it up with those other things. They were a few days in wearing through their aloofness. It was like a new wooing. Then, one day, he asked her to stay with him in the evening. She inclined her head. She couldn't meet his ardent eyes. And she left herself into his office and found herself again in his arms.

And that night again she lay awake and cried. It was this furtive secrecy that seemed to be breaking her down. It seemed then that she couldn't go on much longer with it. Some awful climax must be building for the two of them, for herself. Something that would be an ending, something catastrophic. All the moral instructions of her childhood pointed to such an end, all Gran'ma's Puritan logic, the books she had read; sin must lead to catastrophe. She had no means of knowing, during this phase, that catastrophe is by no means always external. She would hear this or that young actress spoken of as "hard-boiled"—that was what the more depraved among them were called in the current slang—without knowing that Fate was speaking through the careless words, and speaking in terms of the grimmest law known to mankind.

And steadily, meanwhile, inevitably, in the swiftly rushing pace of the pictures, her fame was growing. It seemed that everybody in America now, nearly everybody in England, many on the Continent, on the China Coast, in Manila, in vast South America, knew and loved Harriet John. Yes, loved her—for the daintiness, her wistfulness, her girlish quality, for the soul they felt in her.

Arthur answered the thousands of letters now. He prided himself on a growing skill in phrasing. "My dear Friend," he would say, "I can not tell you how happy your letter has made me. I, too, not so long ago, was a poor little girl with only my dreams to cheer me on. And what beautiful dreams they were!" . . . There was a secretary now, as well, as Miss Gladys Revere who sometimes worked as an extra at the studios, and she signed all the letters and the photographs with the name, "Harriet John." Hattie thought the slanting hand impressive, and privately learned to imitate it pretty closely. In time, indeed, the imitation became her own signature, and the rest of her writing was formed on it. Gladys had temperament and might have gone far in the pictures but for a bad nose.

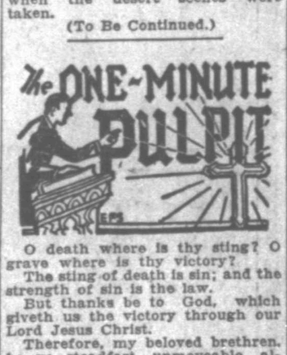

"The Soul of Angel Blaine" now filled all their lives. Hattie gave herself enthusiastically to it. She lived, indeed, at this period, from one phase of excitement to another. Anything but quiet was welcome. It was becoming important that the family have always something outside their intimate circle to talk about. Alice and Arthur were almost constantly at the studio, watching the progress of the work. And frankly to the disgust of De Brissac both went out on location when the desert scenes were taken.

While Waiting for a Divorce

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., of New York, who has nearly completed his three months' resident requirement at Reno, Nev., where he came in August to file suit for divorce, is shown here starting out from the Circle ranch, 52 miles out of Reno, for a day's jaunt in the mountains. He is mounted on Buster, a prize pony.

O death where is thy sting? O grave where is thy victory?

The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law.

But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord.—Corinthians xv, 55-58.

New Mexico Rejects Constitution Change

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 11. (AP)—New Mexico voters apparently rejected a proposed constitutional amendment to give state and county officers four year terms, at the special election held yesterday. Although a tabulation had been made on only 320 precincts out of 752 in the state the vote stood 5930 for the amendment and 13,270 against.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11. (AP)—Mrs. F. M. Brantly, 67, wife of a Fort Worth attorney, died Wednesday night in the house where she had lived since her arrival in Fort Worth in 1881. She had been music teacher, painter, writer on musical subjects and had made psychic investigations.

Infantile Paralysis Cases Show Decline

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Public health service reports on the infantile paralysis outbreak today showed there were 346 cases throughout the country as against 453 cases a week ago.

Substantial drops in the number of cases were noticed in nearly every state except California, where there are now 35 cases.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY,
Author of
"The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Dr. McCoy's Menus Suggested for the Week Beginning Sunday, Nov. 13th

SUNDAY

Breakfast: Coddled eggs, waffle (browned through,) stewed pears.

Lunch: Cooked asparagus, cooked carrots sprinkled with chopped parsley, sliced tomatoes.

Dinner: Jellied consomme (recipe given Oct. 15th), baked chicken or rabbit, baked parsnips, oyster plant, combination salad of raw string beans, cucumber and green peas, peach whip.

MONDAY

Breakfast: Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple.

Lunch: Boiled rice, cooked string beans, raw celery.

Dinner: Mushroom soup (recipe given Oct. 22nd), broiled steak, cooked spinach, salad of grated carrots and chopped celery. Minced prunes molded in gelatin, with whipped cream.

TUESDAY

Breakfast: French Omelet, Melba toast, stewed figs.

Lunch: Potato soup, cooked oyster plant, lettuce.

Dinner: Roast pork, cooked turnips, cooked okra, salad of raw spinach leaves, baked apple.

WEDNESDAY

Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins with peanut butter, pear sauce.

Lunch: Baked Hubbard squash, cooked lettuce, cucumbers.

Dinner: Celery soup, broiled lamb chops, steamed carrots, McCoy salad, apricot whip.

THURSDAY

Breakfast: Baked eggs, Melba toast, stewed raisins.

Lunch: Buttered noodles, cooked turnip tops, celery.

Dinner: Clear tomato soup(beef broth with tomato added), roast beef, cooked string beans, salad of tomato, spinach and asparagus (recipe given last week, Oct. 8th), pineapple sponge (see recipe for orange souffle).

FRIDAY

Breakfast: Coddled eggs, broiled ham waffle, apple suace.

Lunch: Shredded lettuce with chopped pecans or almonds, sandwiches of real wholewheat bread and peanut butter.

Dinner: Baked halibut, stewed tomatoes, cooked spinach, McCoy salad. No dessert.

SATURDAY

Breakfast: Cottage cheese, stewed peaches.

Lunch: Carrot loaf, cooked lettuce and parsley, ripe olives.

Dinner: Vegetable soup, Salisbury steak, buttered vegetables—carrots, turnips and beets cooked separately and diced together, head lettuce with olive oil, apple whip or ice cream.

Potato soup: Peel and dice potatoes to equal three cups, and place over fire with three or four cups of water. Cook until tender, and add about three cupfuls of milk or thin cream and two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley. Serve with thin strips of Melba toast. By using celery in place of potatoes, you have a delicious non-starchy soup.

Wholewheat Muffins: To a well beaten egg add one cupful of sweet milk. Stir in one cupful of real wholewheat flour and beat until smooth, then add a half cupful of the wholewheat flour into which has been sifted one level teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix thoroughly and bake in muffin tins in moderately hot oven until brown. The quantity makes six medium or eigh small muffins.

The pineapple sponge is made almost like the orange souffle. Shredded pineapple is combined with gelatin, and after the mixture congeals, is beaten thoroughly with an eggbeater, beating in the desired amount of whipped cream.

Those who are overweight, or who, for any reason, wish to eliminate the starches from their diet, may substitute any of the luncheons with any one kind of the following raw acid fruits or their juices: Apple, apricots, peaches, pears, grapes, oranges, grapefruit, plums, pineapple, tomato or melon.

QUESTION: Mrs. A. B. asks: "I have a place at the top of my stomach on the right side that gives me some trouble, something like the colic, every month. Can you tell me what it is and the remedy? I am a very stout woman, weighing 240 pounds. Can you tell me something to reduce my weight?"

ANSWER: The distress you have on your right side may be due to gall bladder trouble, to stomach irritation, or to colitis, in the hepatic flexure of the colon. As you are overweight, the sensible thing to do is to diet to reduce your weight, and your symptoms will no doubt disappear while on the diet which is necessary for you to take to bring about a satisfactory weight reduction. Space in this column is limited, but I will be glad to send you complete instructions on how to reduce.

QUESTION: A seeker of ealth asks: "May fruit or ice cream be eaten between meals without interfering with digestion?"

ANSWER: Fruit and ice cream must both be considered real foods and should therefore be used in place of a meal, or may be used in addition to a meal if combined with those foods with which they are harmonious.

QUESTION: M. L. asks: "Is erysipelas a blood or a skin disease? What is the cause and cure of this disease?"

ANSWER: I consider the true cause of erysipelas to be an acidosis produced through the use of wrong food. It is true there is a particular bacterium associated with this disease, but this microorganism cannot live in a body free from acidosis. Please write for further personal advice.

QUESTION: A reader asks: "What causes white spots to form on one's nails? Have been told they indicate that something is wrong with the system in a nervous form. Is that right?"

ANSWER: The person who has white spots on his nails is usually nervous due to some form of acidosis from which he is suffering, which acidosis interferes with a normal distribution of silica to his growing nails.

QUESTION: A reader asks: "What exercises and diet can a girl 18 years old take to gain in weight and development? Height is five feet, three and a half inches, weight ninety-six pounds. The chest bones are prominent due to the beginning of spinal curvature. Also have round shoulders."

ANSWER: It is not necessary for you to take any special diet except to follow the well balanced menus which I give every week in this column. Consult a physical culture expert and have him give you special exercises to correct the spinal curvature and round shoulders. I could give you some special exercises for this purpose, but I believe it would be better for you to have some private lessons given by a physical culturist who is able to study out your particular needs.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent cougs and colds, bronchal asthma, brenchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

GINNINGS TOP 50,000 BALES

Wilbarger Crop Ahead Of 1926 Yield

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 11.—Wilbarger county cotton ginnings for this season closely approached the 55,000-bale mark this week when ginners Thursday morning reported 54,828 bales ginned. This total is within 5000 bales of the total production last year.

Approximately 6800 bales were ginned during the past week, a smaller weekly total than has been reported for several weeks, indicating that picking is slowing up some.

However, gins throughout the county continue to report heavy business, many operating night and day. Ginners estimate the total production will run well over 55,000 bales for the year.

Reports of ginners follow:

ELECTRA SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Nov. 11.—Mr. George Hawley and Miss Eleanor Freear were married Wednesday afternoon in Temple, Texas, at the parsonage of the First Christian church of that city, the Rev. J. W. Heisapple, officiating.

The news of the wedding came as a complete surprise to their friends here, no one being aware of it until the couple arrived here to spend their honeymoon.

Mr. Hawley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hawley of Electra and is a graduate of the high school class of 1926. He was a student in the Texas university at Austin this year.

Mrs. Hawley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Freear of this city and is a graduate of the high school class of 1925. She was a student nurse in the Scott and White sanitarium in in Temple at the time of her marriage.

After a short visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hawley will go to Houston where Mr. Hawley will engage in business.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Will Stephens entertained Thursday afternoon at her home on Southland avenue with a party in honor of her daughter, Miss Wanda Waldine Stephens, the occasion being the fifth birthday of the little lady. Pot plants and chrysanthemums were used profusely in the decorations. The guests were entertained with games, contests and music, and Misses Mildred Hamer and Dorothy Lee Scoggins gave readings. The pretty birthday cake in pink and white, bearing five candles, centered the dining table, and, with ice cream, was served as refreshments to the small guests, Miss Wanda Waldine was the proud possessor of many pretty gifts at the close of the afternoon.

Those who enjoyed the afternoon with the honoree were: Misses Marie Berlin, Sarah Blanche Tipton, Cuba Fae Hamer, Mary Lane Berlin, Mary Frances Tapps, Irma Joe Swintz, Mildred Hamer, Dorothy Lee Scoggins and the honoree; Masters Milton Hamer, Gus Hamer Jr., Joe Richard Hubbard, Creighton Romine, Tommy Scroggins Jr., Trueman Vandeventer, J. POULTRY PLAY

"Lay of the Hen" To Be Presented At Clarendon

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Nov. 11.—The first of several community meetings to be held in this community will be held Thursday, December 1 in the auditorium of Clarendon college, when the play, "Lay of the Hen," will be given under the auspices of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with the Purina company and the local grain elevator.

Considerable interest is being shown here in the poultry industry, and many standard-bred flocks are to be found in the county whereas a year or so ago very few could be found. An effort is being made to get all poultry owners and fanciers to attend the play at which time a poultryman's organization will be formed if sufficient interest can be aroused.

Addition Planned For Grandfield Church

Special to The Record News.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., Nov. 11. Plans are being made to enlarge the Baptist church building, according to announcement made by Rev. H. E. Hitt, pastor.

The plans call for a 12 foot addition on the east side of the building, arranged so that several classes may occupy it at the same time. It is also to be used as part of the auditorium. Rapid growth of the Sunday school classes during the past year make the addition necessary.

Turkey Shipping Industry Reaches Huge Proportions In Frederick

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 11.—Over 100,000 pounds of turkeys have been bought this week by the local produce dealers, the farmers receiving checks ranging from a few dollars up to $671.10 for their gobblers. The latter amount was paid to J. H. Wilson from northwest of Frederick Wednesday for 2,237 pounds of live turkeys which brought 30 cents a pound.

A number of pickers have been employed by three of the local produce houses. Two people are employed on each turkey; one kills the bird and plucks the pin feathers. For this he is paid five cents. His assistant finishes picking the feathers and is paid ten cents. Experienced stickers make as much as $15 a day, and pickers make four or five dollars a day, depending upon their skill.

About 70 per cent of the dressed turkeys are packed into barrels and shipped immediately to Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other eastern markets. Four kinds of turkeys have been sold here, the Naragansett, the bourbon red, the bronze and the white.

Most of the turkeys marketed here are grown in the eastern part of Tillman county.

I. O. O. F. Lodges In Association

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 11.—A bi-county Odd Fellows and Rebekah's association was formed at the Odd Fellow hall Wednesday night when representatives of lodges in Wilbarger and Foard met for that purpose.

O. O. Hollingsworth of Crowell was elected president for a term of six months, and Crowell was selected as the next meeting place. Other officers elected were: Mrs. J. S. Rowland, Doans, vice-president; P. M. McKinley, Vernon, chaplain, and Mrs. Bertha A. Ross, secretary-treasurer.

A by-laws committee composed of O. H. Naylor of Vernon, Mrs. A. D. Oswalt of Crowell and Mrs. Bertha Ross was appointed to report at the Crowell meeting, February 9.

Meetings of the association are to be held every three months and lodges will take turn in entertaining.

A per capita tax of two cents was voted. Lodges included in the association are: Vernon subordinates, Rebekahs and Encampment; Rayland Odd Fellows, Elliott Odd Fellows, Doans Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, Margaret Odd Fellows and Crowell Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

West Vernon Water System to Be Started

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 11.—Installation of lines for the West Vernon water system will start the early part of next week, it is announced here at the office of the West Texas Utilities company, which is constructing the water system.

More than 30,000 feet of lines will be laid in completion of the system. Twenty-two fire hydrants will be placed to conveniently serve residences within a 500-foot radius of each hydrant.

The water tower of the company is rapidly assuming the form of a modern structure of that class, standing now at a height of 109 feet, and one seven-foot section of the 50,000-gallon water tank has been erected. In additon to the elevated tank, a ground storage tank will provide for 50,000 gallons, giving a total capacity of 100,000 gallons.

Don't miss the Gold Bond franchise if offered you.—Adv.

Memphis Judge Keeps Busy Marrying Folks

MEMPHIS, Texas, Nov. 11. (Sp) R. N. Gillis, justice of the peace, has had a very busy week as "Marrying Squire," and it is doubtful whether another town in Texas can beat his record.

Early Sunday morning he was called upon to marry George Hanegan and Miss Alice Lee Warden. Sunday afternoon he was called to marry B. L. Brackeen and Miss Susie Barrett. A double wedding Monday was officiated by the marrying justice when Riley C. Canter and Miss Pauline Bain, and Joe C. Bain and Miss Vera Glover were married.

12,749 Bales Ginned

DAVIDSON, Okla., Nov. 11.—Up to 4 p. m. Tuesday 12,749 bales of cotton were ginned this season at the five establishments at this place. The price that day of cotton was $20.50 per hundred while cotton seed sold at $41 a ton.

TURK CALLED SACRED BIRD

But This Menu Still Has Thanksgiving Motif

By MRS. S. A. COCHRAN
Winner $5 Weekly Menu Prize

Since to the average American the turkey is the Thanksgiving dish par excellence, let us not invade those sacred precincts before the festive day. Instead, let us serve chicken prepared in a new fashion, sure to find many adherents.

Brown Fricassee Chicken Pie
Curried Rice Gravy
Cranberry Sauce Stuffed Celery
White Grape Salad
Glazed Carrots
Cauliflower au Gratin
Dinner Rolls
Minced Pie with Whipped Cream
Coffee

Brown Fricassee Chicken Pie

Cut large chicken in small pieces, dust with salt, pepper and a little flour. Brown pieces lightly in three tablespoonfuls of hot fat in skillet, add one tablespoonful of flour and cook until slightly brown, then add one cup of warm water, or enough barely to cover the chicken. To this add a sprig of parsley, a bit of celery, bay leaf, onion and two pepper corns. Cover and simmer slowly until chicken is tender. Take out chicken and thicken gravy with a bit of softened flour. Fill a deep buttered dish with chicken, rejecting the larger bones, add a little gravy, and cover the dish with a rich crust about one-fourth inch thick, having it rest on the chicken and not touch the gravy. Cut a cross in the middle and turn back the points making an opening to let out the steam. Brush over with slightly beaten egg white and bake in hot oven. When ready to serve add a half cup of cream and tablespoon of butter to hot gravy and pour as much as dish will hold through a funnel into the opening.

Curried Rice

Steam the rice in the Chinese way in the top of a double boiler next to the flame. To one cup of rice add two cups of cold water and scant teaspoonful of salt. Steam ten minutes, then place kettle in lower part of boiler and cook ten minutes without removing cover. In the meantime cook in a hot skillet two tablespoonfuls of fat, one small onion diced, one tablespoon of curry powder. When brown add one cup of stewed tomatoes, cook a few moments, then press this through a sieve. When rice is done add one tablespoon of butter, stir with a fork, add one beaten egg and the tomato mixture. Turn this into a buttered mold. Let stand for a short time. When ready to serve, put in oven just long enough to reheat and turn out on a dish. Garnish with parsley and serve with chicken pie.

White Grape Salad

Skin and seed two pounds of white or Tokay grapes. Add one cupful of pineapple cubes, two sliced bananas and the pulp of two finely sliced oranges, also three dozen chopped blanched almonds. Marinate with oranges and lemon juice, garnish with candied cranberries or cherries. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise.

Glazed Carrots

Trim and cut young carrots in thin slices, barely cover with cold water, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook uncovered and slowly until liquid is nearly evaporated, basting often. Turn the carrots until well coated with sirup. Serve sprinkled with finely minced parsley.

Cauliflower au Gratin

After steaming the pared cauliflower until tender, drain and add heavy white sauce to which a cupful of grated American cheese has been added. Bake until brown (in moderate oven) in buttered baking dish at moderate temperature.

Stuffed Celery

Cut the crisp celery in two inch pieces and fill the cavity with cream cheese that has been made into a paste by working in a bit of cream. Press the half of a pecan meat into the cream cheese filling.

Minced Meat Pie

While apples are abundant and of excellent quality, one finds it an ideal time to make the winter's supply of minced meat for the most delicious of pies. The following recipe makes about fifteen pint jars of the meat, and a pint is sufficient filling for one pie.

6 pounds of lean meat
1 peck of apples
6 pounds of sugar
1 quart of water
3 pounds suet
4 pounds raisins
1 quart of vinegar
2 tablespoons of salt
1 tablespoonful ground cinnamon
1 tablespoon cloves
1 tablespoon nutmeg

Cook meat day before and grind with medium knives in food chopper. Boil together vinegar, water and sugar. When it is a sirup, add the raisins which have been washed and soaked over night. Boil ten minutes and add chopped apples. Boil until done, take off fire and add suet meat and spices while hot. Seal in sterilized pint jars. Bake a pint of this meat in the double crust pie. Serve with whipped cream.

MARTHA WASHINGTON PIE

3-4 cup sugar
2 1-2 cups milk
6 drops flavoring
6 tablespoons flour
2 eggs

Mix flour, sugar and add egg yolks and milk. Cook until creamy. Whip up egg whites stiff and add just before taking custard from fire.

Batter
1-4 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1-2 cup milk
1 1-2 cups flour
1 1-2 level teaspoons baking powder
Speck of salt
1-2 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter, add sugar slowly. Separate eggs and add beaten yolks. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk. Add flavoring and then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in layers in a moderate over (350-375 degrees F.). Put layers together with above filling and serve with cream.

Early Morning Blaze Does $300 Damage

Fire which broke out in the J. R. Evans home, 206 Bluff street, early Friday morning caused damage estimated at about $300, according to fire officials. Firemen in answer to the call fought the flames about 30 minutes, laying hose from a plug four blocks away.

Bash Addresses Armistice Crowd

at the memorial service which was attended by the veterans of three wars, Civil, Spanish-American and World.

"It would be impertinent today," said Rev. Mr. Bash, "to voice an individual opinion, where citizens are gathered to honor those who upheld our flag, in honor of those who upheld our flag in honor. This day, is one given over to two things, remembrance and dedication.

"It seems hardly possible that nine years have passed since guns ceased their noise in Flanders and the immediate outbreak in cities that sounded almost like a war. I hope that I will never live to see the day when I shall cease to get a thrill from the memory of that day.

Debt to War Dear.

"Today is truly a red day on the calender for it is stained with blood. This day belongs to them that paid the supreme sacrifice and God grant that we may give it to them freely. Word comes from the 80,000 ward "You shall not pass." This is their special day and the move to combine it with other days should not be countenanced.

"The debt we owe to these war heroes is one of grateful remembrance. Should I ever live to see the day when there is no gratitude for the work of those doing good that would literally be hell. It will be the same for the boys.

"Recognition given to the unknown soldier in indeed unique. Formerly it was only a gesture and all the glory went to those in the high stations. Today it is a particular tribute to the common man that he is so honored. Six years ago in Arlington the head of the president was bowed as he paid tribute to the unknown soldier.

Tribute to Bravey.

"Aye, it is significant that every capital in the world today has a shrine at which the tribute of all visiting dignitaries is paid when they come in an official capacity. It is the exaltation of the common man, this tribute to the unknown soldier.

"Wherever in Europe our soldiers dead lie their graves are marked by a simple cross. They are all the same for the reason one life is all any man can give for his country. Let us stop and remember that these who now sleep over there loved the things we love in life and think of them on this day. Unless we be as dumb as brutish beasts we must let them live on in us.

"Joyce Kilmer who might have been another Tennyson lies over there and we all know his "Trees." Allan Seegar, who wrote "I have a rendezvous with death" is also there. Shall we remember these?

"This is also a day of dedication. Armistice day is a misnomener for the fight has never yet been finished. We must dedicate ourselves to carry on the fight that has just been begun. They carried on a war that was fought to end war, to free the weaker peoples and to insure democracy. Ours is to go forward and carry on this work for which they died.

"Let us not forget in this day when the war clouds are gathering and go to the altar and say God use me to aid in bringing the dawn of that sweet day of peace. Do you think the world is any closer to international peace than on Nov. 11, 1918? I am glad if you do but the seers of the world forecast another great conflict.

War Is Foolish.

"It is as silly to carry disputes to the battle field as to duel. Let us work to make so that those who we honor will not have to return from their rest but may stay in the choir invisible."

Rabbi E. J. Schwab invoked the divine blessing upon the meeting and those who are to carry on. Mr. Caldwell in a brief talk asked that all create a sentiment to close business houses next year for a fitting observance of the anniversary. Other numbers on the program included a reading by Walter Worth Tyson, a piano solo by J. S. Pitman, womens' quarter including Mmes. Phil Cordell, Ray Wilhite, C. H. Evans and M. H. Stratton, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Cole. The Rev. O. L. Powers pronounced the benediction.

More than 100 attended the banquet after which Mayor R. E. Shepherd led a singsong. Following the banquet dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Several delegations from out of the city attended the banquet.

Many Ways to Use Pears for Dessert

Since there are so many more difficulties in the cultivation, marketing and keeping qualities of pears as compared to the apple, we have not given them the prominence which we have given other fruits.

We are better acquainted with the Bartlett and Keiffer pears. The Bartlett pear is the best of the two. It is a good keeper, and it is of good appearance, size and flavor. It can be consumed very nicely in either raw or canned form. The Keiffer is more of a russet or brownish color. It is less desirable as a table fruit, but may be used either raw or canned.

If the pears are gathered when they have just begun to color but before they have started to soften they may be kept a long time in cold storage. The flavor of the pear is improved if they are gathered at this stage of growth and placed indoors to ripen.

Have you ever tried baking pears? Prepare them just as you would baked apples. You will find that they make a very appetizing dish.

If the pear seems to be rather tasteless, lemon juice will improve the flavor.

The pear has the general characteristics of the apple. The acids found in the pear are so mild that they agree with most everyone. They are good laxatives.

OAT MUFFINS

1 cup cooked rolled oats.
1 1-2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 1-2 level teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter

Mix and sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder; add one-half milk, egg well beaten, the remainder of the milk mixed with the rolled oats, and beat thoroughly. Then add butter. Bake in buttered muffin rings or buttered gem pans.

NASH EXPORTS SET NEW MARK

October Business Largest In History of Company

October was the biggest export month in the histo:) of the Nash Motors company, more Nash cars being shipped to overseas points during the past month than in any other single preceding month in the eleven years since the company was organized. Nash shipments for export last month were 82 per cent above those of October, 1926.

"This indorsement of the three new series of Nash cars introduced last summer comes from all sections of the world," said H. M. Salisbury, manager export sales of the Nash Motors company. "As in the United States, automobile buyers abroad have been outspoken in their enthusiasm over the appearance and performance of the Nash advanced six, special six and standard six models. And the fact that every model in the Nash line is equipped with a seven-bearing crankshaft motor we feel is responsible, in large measure, for the unusual performance of these cars and their consequent public favor.

"During October, Nash export shipments exceeded by over 38 per cent overseas shipments by the Nash Motors company for the entire calendar year, 1922. For the initial eleve nmonths of the 1927 fiscal year, Nash export shipments exceeded by 24 2-3 per cent Nash overseas shipments for the entire preceding fiscal year. Our export shipments of Nash cars for the 1927 fiscal year will exceed those for the combined fiscal years, 1922, 1923, 1924 and 1925."

Turkey Crop Larger In Memphis District

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 11.—Hall county has produced a large turkey crop this year, according to J. V. Jones, manager of the Memphis Produce company. Last year his company shipped eight car loads of dressed turkeys to the Thanksgiving market, but will ship 10 or 12 car loads this Thanksgiving, Mr. Jones said.

The turkeys this years are underweight, compared to last year, but the price at the present time is better than at the same time last year. With the exception of one other town in the Panhandle, Memphis is paying the highest price for turkeys for the Thanksgiving market, having reached the 30-cent mark, compared to 27 cents at this time last year. Turkeys are brought to the Memphis market a distance of 75 miles.

Pedestrians Demand Roads.

Pedestrians in England are up in arms because the authorities persist in widening and improving the roads solely for the benefit of motorists. They insist that some of the good, old-fashioned roads be left for their quiet enjoyment. They demand that every main road have a footpath or sidewalk.

Speeding Auto Hurdles Car.

DINNER FOR SIX AT 98 CENTS

Economical Menu For Sunday Meal

BY MRS. RUSSELL SCRIVNER.
Winner $2.50 Special Menu Award

The following menu provides a most economical and at the same time a most appetizing dinner:

Shoulder pot roast with potatoes and carrots.
Gravy Fresh Whole Wheat Rolls.
Cabbage and Apple Salad with Carnation Dressing.
Raisin Dressing.
Shoulder Pot Roast With Potatos and Carrots.

Have the roast cut thick and of small circumference, rather than large and flat; 3 or 4 pounds is a good size for serving six. Sear the meat in a hissing hot skillet, roaster or iron pot, preferably the last. Brown well on all sides without adding water; when browned sprinkle with 1-8 teaspoon each cloves and allspice, add about 1-2 inch of water in roaster, cover tightly and cook over a low flame until water is evaporated and grease in roaster begins to sputter. Add water as before and continue cooking 1 1-2 to 2 hours for a 4 pound roast. Add salt 3-4 hour before roast should be done and at this time add 4 to 6 medium sized potatoes pared and halved (either sweet or Irish potatoes may be used) and as many carrots, scraped and cut in halves lengthwise. Add an extra 1-2 inch of water in the roaster and cook until done. Remove to a hot platter, garnish with the smaller, tender looking carrot tops.

To the liquid in the pan add water to make 2 cups, boil 5 minutes, add thickening of 3 tablespoons flour mixed to a smooth paste with water; salt to taste and cook about 10 minutes. Serve hot.

Salad With Dressing.

Finely chop or shred 1-4 of a medium sized head of cabbage, add 3 or 4 juicy apples, diced but not peeled. Make the dressing by beating together 4 tablespoons evaporated milk, 4 tablespoons sugar and 1-4 teaspoon salt, then add gradually about 1-2 cup vinegar (less if very strong) and beat well. Pour dressing over salad, toss lightly to mix, serve on lettuce leaves, sprinkling over each serving a few pecan meats. This dressing gives a new and distinctive flavor.

Raisin Dumplings.

Boil together 1 1-2 cups seedless raisins, 3-4 to 1 cup sugar, 4 cups water and a pinch of salt, until it begins to look syrupy. Add tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon butter. Make a batter as follows: 1 1-2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-3 teaspoon soda, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons of melted butter and enough sour milk to make a thick drop batter. (Sweet milk may be used and omit the soda). Drop by the spoonful into the rapidly boiling syrup, cover tightly, turn flame low and cook without removing cover for 20 minutes. Remove lid, take from stove and cool slightly. Serve warm with the fruit and juice poured over the dumplings.

This meal was actually prepared for 98c for six people (sounds like a real bargain). By watching the "Saturday Specials," an excellent roast can be bought for between 15 and 20 cents a pound.

Fat Folks No More Healthy Than Thin

People who are too fat are no more healthy than people who are not heavy enough, according to a statement from nutrition specialists. Large, flabby people have just as little resistance to infection as people who are slender, undernourished and not in perfect health.

Resistance to infection seems to be related to the chemical composition of our bodies, which is to a certain degree dependent upon the diet, state the authorities. Diets which tend to encourage a rapid increase in weight without a responding increase in strength, especially for children, will gradually undermine all resistance to infection.

May Be Sites of Conventions of Major Parties

Hints from Republican and Democratic headquarters indicate that San Francisco and Detroit are being considered as convention cities. Detroit is hoping to entertain the Democratic party and San Francisco is eager to have the Republicans choose it as their convention site. Kitchen Hints

MENU HINT

"Cartwheel vegetable plate" is the piece de resistance in today's menu. The ingredients of this vegetable plate may vary, of course, with the tastes of your family. Sometimes toast is put between the vegetables to form the partitions. The menu may be used to reither luncheon or dinner.

Today's Recipes

Cartwheel Vegetable Plate—Starting with a small sized paper cupful of cottage cheese as the hub, arrange four-inch strips of breaded French fried egg plant spoke fashion. Fill intervening spaces with beets, spinach with hard cooked egg garnish, baked squash, creamed pearl onions, fluffy mashed potatoes, and lightly buttered carrot circles. The rich red of the beets, the cool green of the spinach, the golden squash, the ivory of the onions, flanked by the potatoes, with the white of the cottage cheese at the center and all set off in a frame of golden brown egg plant strips, lifts the plate from the world of mere vegetables into the realm of culinry art.

Moch Bavarian Cream—Seven-eighths cup sugar, three tablespoons cold water, one egg white, vanilla, ten marshmallows (optional.) One package gelatin, (any flavor.) Combine sugar, water and egg white in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, beating constantly, for seven minutes. Add to beaten gelatin (which has been prepared in the usual way.) Line mold with stale cake or lady fingers. Fill with mixture and allow to ripen in refrigerator. If marshmallows are used they are to be cut into pieces and added to the sugar mixture when it is taken from the fire.

To measure half a spoonful of anything divide lengthwise.

Inexpensive Fruit Cake

One cup sugar, one-half butter, butter and lard, mixed or butter substitute, one-quarter cup molasses, two eggs, one teaspon each cinnamon, allspice, one-half teaspoon ech cloves nd nutmeg, one cup English currants, one cup raisins one cup mixed candied peel, chopped, one-half cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two cups flour to make batter quite stiff. Bake very slowly at least an hour in loaf.

CRIPPLED BIRD

Wheeling Now Has Legless Flyer Who Would Span Atlantic

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 11. (AP)—Wheeling, the city that sent Ruth Elder forth in an attempt to conquer the Atlantic ocean by air, now has another aspirant for transoceanic honors—an aviator with no legs and but one arm.

The crippled birdman is Morris R. Daugherty, 35, of New Martinsville, near here. He has been flying for a year and is known as a fearless and competent pilot.

Now he is ready to attempt an ocean flight and to convince Wheeling he can cross the ocean.

COOLIDGE OPEN TO COMPROMISE

President Ready to Get Down to Business

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—President Coolidge is ready to talk business with farm leaders in an effort to frame a relief program which would insure passage of a bill by congress and signature by himself.

This compromise mood on the farm issue was disclosed today at the White House where it was said the president was looking hopefully to the efforts of Senator McNary of Oregon, new chairman of the senate agriculture committee, for a resolution of the agricultural legislative tangle.

No doubt was left at the White House of Mr. Coolidge's unaltered opposition to the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill which he vetoed last spring, but it was emphasized that he is of an open mind and ready to consider other proposals than those already advanced by the administration for meeting the surplus crop problems.

An agreement among the farm organizations themselves will go a long way toward bringing about legislation, in the opinion of the president, and it was said that while he had informed leaders of the major farm organizations of this view, he had not told them that they had to get together, as they attempted unsuccessfully to do at a conference here this week.

Meanwhile, the farm issue brought renewed interest at the capitol where a statement was issued by Senator Brookhart of Iowa, on behalf of the western independent republican senators, demanding that the president aid in putting through a farm relief program despite the disagreement between representatives of farm organizations in the form of a bill.

Sick Kiddies Like Drinks From Teapot

Sick children who need to drink hot milk or hot broth can often be induced to take this needed nourishment when it is served in a small individual teapot, suggests Miss Frances Fern Hoag of the Philadelphia Unit of the National Dairy Council. In drinking from the spout of a teapot there is less danger of spilling the liquid than when it takes a perilous journey in a spoon.

An added advantage of teapot service is that the little invalid does not even need to sit up in bed to eat, but can take his "teapot drink" with the head propped up by an extra pillow. Cold milk, chocolate or orangeade, as well as broths and hot milk, may be served in this way.

Four Million Children Use School Savings Bank

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — Nearly four million pupils in the schools of the United States are participating in school savings banks and deposited almost $24,000,000 during the year ended June 30, 1927, W. Espey Albig, deputy manager of the American Bankers association, reports. The number of pupils enrolled in schools having a school savings system has increased in seven years from 1,815,653 to 4,658,156.

Seek Negro After Shooting at Loveland

Special to The Record News.

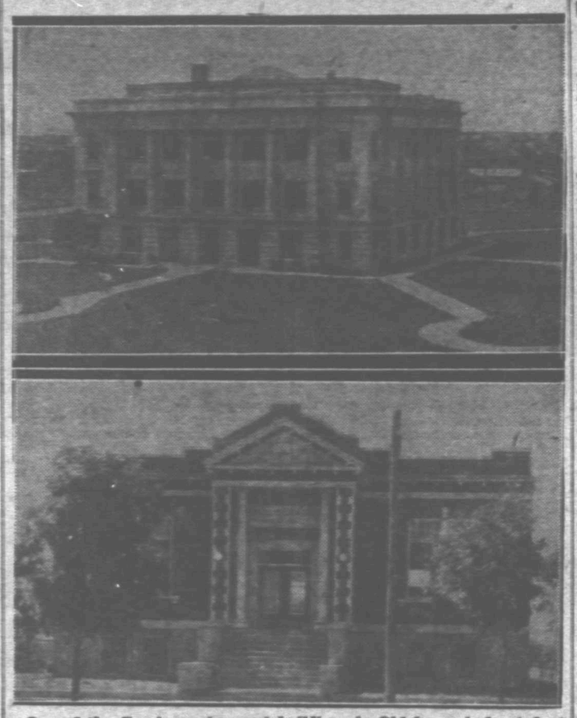

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 11.—Officers here have been searching for John Henry Howard, negro, since Sunday night when Rube Marshall, another negro, was shot in the back with a load of buckshot on a farm three miles northeast of Loveland. The shooting was said to have followed a quarrel over an automobile. Howard fled following the shooting. The injured negro's condition is serious.

In making long flights, birds usually travel at a height of 2500 feet, according to recent observations.

Apples, 1500 years old, that were discovered in the ruins of Pompeii, were served at a banquet in Brussels recently.

Texas Judging Team Sets Out To Capture Trophy at Chicago

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 11.—Members of the livestock judging team of the A. and M. college of Texas, which will compete in the International Livestock exposition at Chicago November 26-December 3, have left the college en route to the exposition. A. and M. teams have won the bronze bull trophy in this contest twice and should it be won again this year it will become the permanent possession of the college. Other states that have won the trophy twice are Indiana, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

The six members of this year's judging team are: W. S. Amend, Ideal; T. G. Greenwade, Whitney; R. R. Peoples, Tehuacana; H. E. Howard, Devine; N. G. Ryall, Jasper; J. M. Bired, Dublin. All are seniors in the animal husbandry course. They were accompanied by their coach, A. K. Mackey, of the animal husbandry department.

En route to Chicago the team will compete at the American Royal, Kansas City, and will visit Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa; Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., and the University of Illinois at Urbana, Ill.

Funds for defraying expenses of the trip were raised by the rodeo and pageant given, in accordance with annual custom, for that purpose by the Saddle and Sirloin club of the college November 4.

Provincial Mode in Sweden

Paris may, and does, decree style changes with each new season, but Parisian decrees are for cosmopolites. In the Swedish hinterland the style is ever colorful, but permanent. This young miss adheres to the traditional peasant costume of her district, and wears her hair in the age-old two-braid coiffure.

W. C. T. U. FORMS TWO GROUPS

Mrs. Akin Heads One; Mrs. Barnes Other

Mrs. J. W. Akin was appointed chairman of the Central W. C. T. U., and Mrs. S. A. Barnes was appointed chairman of the Floral Heights organization, both of which were organized under the direction of Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, state organizer, at the meeting of the membership Friday afternoon at the First Methodist church. Members of the W. C. T. U. here were divided into the two groups after consideration of the change, and several other divisions are to be made in the future, it was said.

Both divisions will operate under their chairmen until next Friday at 2:30 p. m., when a special meeting will be called at the First Methodist church for the election of officers.

In addition to the 20 members of the Wichita Falls Union who attended the meeting Friday, several representatives from the Iowa Park and Electra organizations, recently organized, were also present. Both of the latter were organized by Mrs. Bloodworth. The Iowa Park union, formed last Wednesday, chose the following officers: Mrs. M. L. Hines, president; Mrs. Frank Clark, vice president; Mrs. R. R. Brubaker, recording secretary; Miss Clara Lowrance, treasurer, and Mrs. Bud Black, corresponding secretary. The Electra union, formed Thursday, is as yet under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hortense Basham, and has not elected officers.

Plans were discussed at the meeting Friday for a district convention of the W. C. T. U. workers, to be held here the first Tuesday in December, with Mrs. Bloodworth as one of the speakers. Towns to be represented in this meeting will be Vernon, Electra, Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Decatur, Bowie, Childress and Wichita Falls, it was announced.

Navy Lets Contract For Airplane Motors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Contracts aggregating $3,147,323 have been awarded by the navy department to the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft company of Hartford, Conn., for the construction of 346 nine-cylinder air cooled airplane engines.

The engines will be used to replace engines now in use and in planes under construction as part of the five-year aviation program.

MEGARGEL SOCIETY

MEGARGEL, Nov. 11.—Mrs. A. L. Lewis was hostess to the Sewing club, Thursday. Each lady took her embroidery and was busy working while they talked. Coyotes Face Quanah At Athletic Park At 3 P. M. With Team Ready For Stiff Fray

AND—

A Column of Et Ceteras in Sport

BY VON

Waco's crackerbox baseball park has been sold for the small matter of $75,000. That sounds like good news but it isn't because the Cubs are the purchasers. Folks in this Texas league circuit had hopes that Waco would get into an orchard with enough room between the home plate and the fences to make a double look like a double instead of a home run over the sign boards.

* * *

However, it is gratifying to know that the Waco club is making money. Under terms of the deal, the Cubs are paying $15000 cash, $1000 for each of ten years and $50,000 at the end of the decade. The park was bought from the Abeel estate. Decision to make the buy came when the Cubs' owners learned that several wholesale concerns were dickering for the site as a location for warehouses. Rather than buy cheaper property farther from the business district, the Cubs decided to buy the property which they had hitherto used under a lease.

* * *

Our good friend, Jinx Tucker, takes pride in pointing out that the Waco club started out on the shoe string in 1925, being forced at that time merely to lease the franchise for the club's membership in the Texas league. Last year however the Cubs had improved their financial standing enough to pay the needed $15000 cash for the charter.

* * *

We saw an item the other day in a New York newspaper announced that Babe Ruth, the caliph of clout, had been paid the mere matter of $2000 for donning and posing in a pair of new patent overalls. Lou Gehrig, the heir apparent to the sultanate of swat, got $1700 for playing the role of a horny handed son of toil in the same kind of gear. If somebody paid us that much money we would take off our overalls. That's just what Batting Babe and Columbia Lou did. It's certainly profitable to be famous.

* * *

Incidentally, we read where Miller Huggins, the midget boss of these two behemoths of balm, takes occasion to deny that the ball crushing twins will be separated next season, rumors having reached his ears that one or the other of his home run riot squad would depart from the Yankee fold.

"I'm going to keep them both, and don't get the idea that either of them will ever go until it is necessary to strengthen the club, not weaken it," the New York Americans' pilot averred.

* * *

Speaking of baseball twins, there's an interesting note to be read about the Waner brothers, who constitute two-thirds of the Pirate outfield and five-eighths of the Buccaneers' batting power. The Waners, who hail from the Sooner domain, have signed contracts with Barney Dreyfuss, Pirate mogul, for the season of 1928. Both of the boys got fat raises, and what's more they deserved everything they got in the way of additional income.

* * *

We can't help but feel a pang of regret that there'll be no Texas-Vanderbilt game at the Dallas fair next year. We've become so accustomed to looking forward to this contest every gridiron season that we'll feel lost next fall. Vanderbilt insists that the Texas Longhorns play at Nashville every other year. That's all fine, but when the Longhorns demand that in turn the Commodores come to Austin for their biennial appearance in Texas, the Vanderbilt authorities counter with the demand that the Steers acknowledge Dallas as their home for purpose of a "home and home" contract.

* * *

Maybe it's the old game of stall however, and maybe there'll be a Texas-Vanderbilt arrangement yet. We needn't give up hope.

Thomas Glover is the new captain of the Waco Tigers. He takes the place of Weldon Mason, star of the Tiger eleven and until this week its captain, who has been ruled out of further interscholastic competition on a question of eligibility involving a basketball game he played in four years ago. Mason's loss was a severe blow to Waco but Glover is rated as an able successor to the retiring captain.

Amateur Will Try For Olympic Mat

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11—Ralph W. Hammonds of this city, amateur welterweight wrestling champion, has announced that he will retain his amateur status until after the 1928 Olympic games. Hammonds is now a student at the University of Texas.

Denying a statement, attributed to a promoter, that he contemplated turning professional shortly, Hammonds said he would be glad to meet any man near his weight in an exhibition locally, the purse to be donated to the University of Texas stadium fund.

Hammonds, who is a line candidate for the university football team and one of the best pole vaulters in the southwest conference, will compete in the Olympic try-outs and is regarded as having splendid chances for a place on the American wrestling team, which will seek world honors at Amsterdam, Holland, next summer.

Dempsey Wins Round In Jack Kearns Suit

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 11. (AP)—Federal Judges Rellstab and Bodine in the United States district court here today granted a motion by counsel for Jack Dempsey to dismiss a suit in equity brought by Jack Kearns, his former manager for one-third of a million dollars. The court's decision decreed that the case should be transferred to the law calendar of the court and that the action should be tried before a jury.

PACK ENVOYS VISIT VERNON

McCallum and Aides Scout Amarillo Sandstorm

Quanah today, Plainview next week and then Amarillo Thanksgiving Day. Three games for the Coyotes to play and three for them to win if the Pack wants undisputed ownership of the title to gridiron honors in District No. 1, Class A, University of Texas state interscholastic league.

Coach Bud McCallum and his young wolves are ready for the test this afternoon against Quanah's hopefuls and unless somebody punches a hole in the bottom of the dope bucket with an ice pick, the Pack ought to take the game by about four or five touchdowns. That's a lot of scoring but on paper the Coyotes hold at least that much of an edge.

McCallum and several of the Coyote players went to Vernon Friday afternoon to scout the contest between Amarillo and Vernon. Bud and his boys are leaving no stone in seclusion to learn everything that's necessary and legitimate to help them battle the Golden Sandstorm at Amarillo on Turkey Day.

Before his departure for Vernon Coach McCallum announced his probable starting lineup for the Quanah game this afternoon as follows :

Quanah's probable starting lineup:

Crawford and Frazier, ends; Ennis and Watt, tackles; Collins and Willis, guards; Smith, center; Campbell and Brinkerhoff, halfbacks; Davis, fullback, and Brooks, quarterback.

The game this afternoon will be at Athletic Park and is to be called to order promptly at 3:00 p. m. Officials for the gridiron function will be Faulkner, referee; Stone, umpire, and Chambers, head linesman.

Tickets for the Wichita Falls-Quanah embroglio are on sale at the Renfro drug company.

NAVY CONTEST TOPS INTEREST

Illinois-Chicago Battle Also Draws Fans

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—October teams have not stood the pressure of November football. That is, perhaps, because of the hard schedules that are played in early season. There are no teams in the middle west which have not either been defeated or tied.

Even the great Notre Dame eleven, which engages the Army tomorrow at the Yankee stadium was tied last Saturday by the just as great Minnesota team.

For that reason prediction of the possible winners of tomorrow's classics in this section is not easy.

Eyes On Navy Game.

The biggest game is the clash of Tad Weiman's Wolverines and the Navy at Ann Arbor. The Wolverines go into the game in perfect condition. They boast of one of the best backfields—and incidentally they have eight backfield men from whom it is hard to choose the four best—in the conference.

Gilbert, Pucklewartz and Rich, with Oosterbaan on an end, form a combination that is hard to beat. Miller's brains at the quarter back position was a large factor in defeating Chicago last Saturday. Navy Bill Ingram, however, points out that the middies stopped the whole Michigan team including the great Benny Friedman last year. Navy has a great line and that will more than offset any advantage Michigan might have in the backfield. But even so, ought to Michigan will win by a close score.

Illinois Should Win.

Illinois should defeat Father Amos Stagg's Maroons by a fairly large score. The Chicago eleven has suffered heavy casualties this year and now even the venerable old coach is in bed, with a very bad cold.

Bob Zuppke has one of the cleverest teams in the conference and with Ken Rouse, star Chicago center out of the game, there seems to be little doubt about the outcome of the game.

A second conference tilt brings together old rivals. They are Pat Page and Dick Hanley, coaches respectively of Indiana and Northwestern. They have an old grude to settle in this game. Butler, coached by Page, won and lost from Hanley's Haskell Indians. The Indians had a bit the edge in scoring in the two contests. Now the mentors meet again.

Northwestern Cripple.

Northwestern goes into the game somewhat crippled, but will win just the same, although Indiana will put up a brave battle. Gustafson, star runner for the purple will be out of the game, while the full Hoosier strength will take the field.

Wisconsin has somewhat the shade over Iowa in their game at Madison. Wisconsin has played consistently good ball all season but have bucked up against teams a little bit better. This time they go into the game the favorite.

The remainder of the conference elevens should have an easy time of it. Purdue should walk over Franklin while Minnesota is trimming Drake with ease and grace. Ohio state is taking an off day with Dennison.

Marquette Will Win.

Marquette plays Holy Cross at Milwaukee in another intersectional tilt, which Marquette will win. The Milwaukee lads have played a little more consistent and a little more brilliant football than the easterners. And the middlewest has demonstrated on numerous occasions this year that everything else being equal a Mississippi valley team can whip a team from the Atlantic sea board, viz., Purdue-Harvard; Pennsylvania-Chicago.

St. Mary's U. Rattler Wins Over Lumberjacks

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11. (AP)—St. Mary's university Rattlers were deserving of their name on League park grid Friday, striking in all directions to down the Stephen F. Austin "Lumberjacks," 19 to 0, for their initial win of the year. The game was never in doubt, the Rattlers showing an improved offense and a strong defense that gave them the game from the start.

Electra Tigers Rout Burk Bulldogs By 42-6 Score In Armistice Day Tilt

Long Broken Field Runs Feature Contest Filled With Succession of Stellar Performances

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Nov. 11.—The Electra Tigers completely outclassed the Burkburnett Bulldogs at Burkburnett Friday afternoon and came off with the long end of a 42 to 6 score. The Tigers won the game with ease, but to Gerald Goodwin, Burkburnett right end, goes the honor of being the outstanding player of the game. Little Goodwin was in many plays and time after time he would drop the fleet Tiger backs for losses. Time after time Goodwin cut men down from behind, going around the other end of the Burkburnett line.

The only Burkburnett score came from this same end. Late in the third quarter, Captain Willie Griffin tossed a short pass over the line of scrimmage to Goodwin. Goodwin twisted and stiff-armed through a broken field into a clear trail and ran the rest of the way down the field for a 79-yard gain and a touchdown.

Moore Shows Power.

Harvey Moore, human war tank of the Burkburnett eleven, came through for many nice gains through the heavy Electra line. Captain Willie Griffin and Babe Green also showed up brilliantly in the Bulldog backfield.

L. Smith, McDanald and White carried the brunt of the Electra offense while M. Brown, Browning and Henson carried the defensive battle. The stubborn Electra wall held back the attack of the Bulldogs all through the game and very little gaining was done through this section.

The Tigers uncovered a pass defense that stopped the Bulldogs from gaining through the air. Crass and L. Smith were the two men that were dealing tears to the Bulldogs when they carried the attack through the air.

Vance, Gebhart, Jarrell and Willingham did much to check the fast attack of the Tigers through the line and to aid Goodwin in his great one-man stand.

Gebhart Thrills 'em.

John Gebhart carried off a thrilling play that was called back and ruled not as a fumble. Gebhart uncorked a great 85-yard run on the play.

Burkburnett fumbles and a bad pass from center gave Electra the first two touchdowns of the game. Electra made another great effort to score in the first half but Burk held stubbornly on their own four-yard line.

McDonald broke through the Burkburnett line to twist nine and 10 yards for two respective Electra markers. Lendon Smith intercepted a pass to run 60 yards to a touchdown. A minute later Crass intercepted another and ran 55 yards to a touchdown. L. Smith then intercepted another and ran 36 yards to a touchdown.

Pedro Nelson was the feature of the game in the closing minutes of play. This little end relieved Geard Goodwin when the latter was carried from the field with an injured leg and time after time spilled the Electra backfield for impressive losses.

The Lineups.

The starting lineups: Electra—Cloninger, left end; Browning, left tackle; J. Brown, left guard; Whitesides, center; Doss, right guard; Henson, right tackle; M. Brown, right end; L. Smith, quarterback; White, left half; C. McDanald, right half; Crass, fullback. Burkburnett — Willingham, left end; Hunt, left tackle; Williams, left guard; Vance, center; Gebhart, right guard; Jarrell, right tackle; Goodwin, right end; Green, quarterback; Griffin, left half and captain; Moore, right half; Dilbeck, fullback.

GENTS DEHORN T C U FROGS, 7-3

Centenary Defeats Fourth Southwest Entry

SHREVEPORT, Nov. 11. (AP)—With the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs leading by the score of 3 to 0 as a result of a field goal kicked by Matthews in the first quarter the Centenary Gentlemen staged a comeback in the last quarter to run over the visitors for a touchdown which was followed by a successful try for point. It gave the Gents a 7 to 3 win making their fourth victory over a Southwest conference foe. It was a stubbornly fought battle all the way with both teams resorting to long passes at time.

The line-up:

Centenery	Pos.	TCU
Hamel		Matthews
	Left End.
Wills		J. Williams
Zechiedrich		Reid
	Left Guard.
Ledbetter		Mellon
	Center
Binion (c)		F. Reynolds
	Right Guard
Price		Felix Reynolds
	Right Tackle.
Jennings		Acker
	Right End.
Smith		Grant
Allday		Akers
	Left Half.
Hanna		Herring
	Right Half.
Jeffries		R. Moore
	Full Back.

Touchdown: Centenary, Hanna; point after touchdown, Smith; field goal, Matthews.

Missouri Retains Valley Race Lead

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 11. (AP)—Missouri retained its undisputed lead in the Missouri Valley conference today by defeating Iowa State college in a 13 to 6 battle.

Iowa state could not solve the Missouri offense made up of a mingling of forward passes and line plunges and the Bengals rung up two touchdowns during the two opening periods. Ames came back in the final period, however, with a like attack to score its lone touchdown the final pistol halting another drive which threatened to tie the score.

Childress Noses Out On Matador, 7 to 6

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Nov. 11.—Baffled in every preceding attempt to pound away at the defense line, the Childress Bobcats rallied in the last three minutes of play, scored a touchdown, and kicked the goal, defeating the Matador high school team by a score of 7-6 here today.

Both teams were evenly matched, and the game was harrassing in its excitement. The Matadors, boasting a stronger backfield, were put ahead in the first quarter when Johnson broke through the Bobcats' line for a touchdown. The goal was missed, however.

The Bobcats' line, noticeably stronger than the Matador defense, held successfully in the last few moments of the game while Wallace Smith, quarterback, made a fake run towards right tackle, and swerved through center for the winning touchdown.

Paducah High Defeats Crowell by 6-0 Score

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Nov. 11.—Paducah high school here today before a large Armistice day crowd by a score of 6 to 0. The first half was played on even terms. In the first quarter, Crowell made a beautiful drive almost to the goal line but was held for downs. Paducah scored on straight football in the second half with Hobbs, fullback, carrying the ball over. Try for extra point failed. In the second half, Paducah held an edge over the Wildcats.

Austin Boy May Play On Davis Cup Squad

AUSTIN, Nov. 11. (AP)—Berkeley Bell, Austin's young tennis star, may be one of the eight selected players who will try to bring the Davis cup back to America next year. Bell has received one of the 16 questionaires sent out by the American Lawn Tennis association to leading players, from which number the eight to compose the American team will be picked.

Removal of the import duty on textile machinery for a period of three years has been proposed by India.

LUBBOCK TIES PLAINVIEW, 6-6

Game Is Stubborn Fight Of Old Rivals

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Nov. 11.—Traditional gridiron rivalry between Lubbock high and Plainview high school burst into a climax here today when the Lubbock Westerners and Plainview Bulldogs battled through four thrilling quarter to a 6-6 deadlock; a game as tensely and stubbornly fought as the score indicates.

An aerial attack was used to advantage by both Lubbock and Plainview. Lubbock got away to an early start, scoring on a perfect pass across the goal, Smith to Campbell, in the first few minutes of play. Then the Plainview defensive stiffened, however, and in the second half the Bulldogs unleashed a brilliant and powerful passing and running attack, and featuring Magill and Schroeter, which made them a constant threat at Lubbock goal line.

Teams Well Matched

The teams were well matched and both gave splendid exhibitions of football. The Lubbock defensive held Plainview several times in the second half when the Bulldogs penetrated to the shadow of the goal and the Bulldogs likewise presented an impregnable front to the Westerner when they checked a fourth quarter drive on the five-yard line.

Lubbock's score came in the early part of the first quarter when a fumble by Schroeter was received on the Plainview 30-yard line. Smith then wormed over tackle for 11 yards and Doewll followed with a plunge for six yards. Then after a couple of line plunges Smith stepped back to toss a perfect pass to Campbell, who raced across the goal for a score. The kick was wide.

In the third quarter, Lubbock was pushed back to her 25-yard line due to a 52-yard punt from Sone of Plainview. Line bucks failed to make first down and the ball went over to Plainview. When the running and passing attack failed, the Plainview quarterback called a pass and a perfect 15-yard heave, Magill to Schroeter, placed the ball on Lubbock's two-foot line. From there Waddell waded across for the score. The kick for extra point was blocked.

Plainview Backs Fight

The Plainview backfield is extremely light, averaging but 133 pounds in weight. Magill and Schroeter starred consistently, both being fleet and shifty, and extremely dangerous in a broken field. Their long runs, and especially the punt returns of Magill, brought spectators to their feet time and again.

Starting lineups: Lubbock ends, Campbell and Kerr; tackles, Barton and Frazzell; guards, Dickenson and Crawford; center, Allen; quarterback, Williams; halfbacks, Dolihite and Dowell; fullback, Les Smith. Plainview: Ends, Laird and Terrell; tackles, Carter and Sone; guards, Simpson and Bonds; center, Stevens; halfbacks, Shroeter and Magill; fullback, Rucker.

Jackets Defeat Saints By Point

Howard Payne Has Just Punch Enough

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 11. (AP)—Although outplayed from start to finish, the Howard Payne Yellowjackets had the necessary punch in their game here today with St. Edwards university of Austin, and pushed over a touchdown in the third quarter to win, 7 to 6.

The Saints scored in the first quarter when O'Shaughnessy, fullback, went over the goal on a cross buck. Try for the extra point was missed.

Howard Payne then trailed until near the end of the quarter when a St. Edward back interferred with a Yellowjacket pass receiver, the ball going to Howard Payne on the Saints' 12-yard line. A pass from Gibbs to Boyd put the ball on the Saints' one-yard line, and on the third trial Boyd plunged over for the touchdown and then won the game by kicking the extra point.

Megargel High Ties Archer Rivals, 12-12

Special to The Record News.

MEGARGEL, Nov. 11.—Megargel high school battled the fast Archer City Wildcats to a 12-12 tie here today. The two teams played on practically even terms although Mergel made seven first downs to Archer City's five.

Taylor, Megargel right half, plunged over for a counter in the second period and in the third period. J. Cross recovered a fumble which resulted in another touchdown. At another stage of the third quarter Taylor lacked only six inches bucking the oval over again.

Archer City drew first blood when Wright, fullback, made a touchdown in the first period. In the second period the Wildcats blocked a punt to score their second time.

San Angelo Bobcats Trim Eastland 21-13

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 11.—The San Angelo Bobcats defeated the Eastland Mavericks, 21 to 13 in high school football before two thousand people here today. It was their first victory in the oil belt district and Eastland's second defeat, putting the Mavericks out of the running.

Anadarko Passes Way To Win Over Walters

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Nov. 11.—Anadarko high school eleven upset the dope and passed their way to a 12 to 6 victory over the Walters Purple Devils here this afternoon. The Anadarko team was out played by the locals in nearly every other point of the game.

OLNEY HALTS BOWIE 18 TO 0

Armistice Day Affair At Olney Is Fast

OLNEY, Nov. 11.—Coach Herms' Olney Cubs walloped Bowie high here Armistice day in the first of the semi-finals for district 4, class B, by defeating Bowie 18 to 0. The Cubs made two of their touchdowns in the first period, the first coming after Olney had carried the ball down the field for 60 yards and then a pass, Dunnegan to Russell, completed for 15 yards. Russell raced 23 yards for the touchdown. The second tally came immediately afterward when Olney carried the ball from their own 38-yard line through a series of line bucks until it was carried over the goal. The third touchdown came in the last minute of play when Dunnegan raced 40 yards off tackle following perfect interference.

The Cubs made 15 first downs to their opponents, two. The strength of Olney's line was readily seen for Bowie made only one first down through the line.

Dunnegan played a wonderful game at half and quarter. Russell, regular quarter, handled the team in perfect form and tore off a number of good gains but was injured and taken from the game at the first of the third period. Cosby and McKinney bucked the line for substantial gains and Anderson, taken from end, circled the ends for a number of good gains. Lawson and Eakman starred for Bowie.

The line-up:

Olney	Pos.	Bowie
Gilmore		A. Williams
	Left End.
Crane		Buck
	Left Tackle.
Lipe		McNatt
	Left Guard.
O'Brien		Phillips
—	Center.
Wells		King
	Rigt Guard.
Webb		Q. Williams
	Right Tackle.
Anderson		Woodall
	Right End.
Russell		Cummings
	Quarterback.
McKinney		Eakman
Dunnegan		Clark
	Right Half.
Cosby		Lawson
	Fullback.

Substitutions: Olney — Harvill for O'Brien, O'Brien for Webb, Dunnegan for Russell, Atchley for Dunnegan, Bowie—Moore for McNatt, McNatt for Burk, Pearce for Moore, Scott for Woodall and Reed for Clark.

Summary: First downs, Olney 15; Bowie two. Penalties, Olney 40 yards; Bowie 10 yards. Touchdowns made, Russell, Cosby and Dunnegan.

SEYMOUR VS. OLNEY NEXT

Seymour and Olney will meet Nov. 18. The game between Olney and Bowie at Olney today decided that the Seymour Panthers and the Olney Cubs will meet at Seymour next Friday. Today's game also proved that only three teams remain in the class B District four race. The three teams are Strawn, Seymour and Olney. The winners of next Fridays game will play Strawn on Thanksgiving date for district championship. The Seymour Panthers are in a strain for next week's game because of the absence of Lunsford, center, Easley, end and Jones halfback of the first string on account of injuries, while the Olney Cubs are in splendid shape. The Olney Cubs also outweigh the Panthers some 20 pounds.

Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm Has Tough Time Defeating Vernon Lions By 7-0 Score

Sports Done Brown

By NORMAN E. BROWN

What am I offered?

The gentleman at my left offers me two pitchers and an infielder.

Two pitchers and an infielder!

Going! Going! GONE!

Sold to the man in the gray derby for an outfielder, a pinch hitter and three other uniforms.

The St. Louis Browns started the ball a rolling a few weeks ago by trading Milton Gaston to Washington.

George Sisler and Wallie Gerber, veteran infielders, are mentioned as trading material in deals still pending and involving the St. Louis Americans. Sisler's work at first was all that could be desired last season, but Phil Ball wants a new shuffle of the cards as far as his Brownies are concerned, and Dan Hawley doesn't want to wade through another season with a team that hasn't even shown any ability to pull together.

Gerber is nearing the end of his playing days and Howley has Otis Miller ready to step into his shoes.

Across the road the St. Louis Cardinals are talking trades, it is said, in addition to discussing the managerial aspect of things. There has been talk for several weeks that John McGraw wants to get Lester Bell, infielder, and Flint Rhem, pitcher. That is one story. Another is that the boys want to rejoin their old boss, Rogers Hornsby, who is in line for the management of the Giants some fine day.

Of course Kiki Cuyler, Pirate outfielder who had such set views regarding his place in the line-up and scheme of things, is on the block, bound, no one knows where. The names of Johnny Morrison, Johnny Gooch and Earl Smith, also Pirates, have been dragged into the winter trading heap as well. Of course Manager Bush isn't thinking of letting both Gooch and Smith go, but there is a strong probability of his using one of them to worm a good second baseman or pitcher out of some National league ball club.

Rumors come from Chicago that the Cubs would like to make one or two trades and that Percy Jones, southpaw, may be used for that purpose. Joe McCarthy would like to add more driving power to his club to prevent the wrecking of his pennant hopes again in the closing days of another race.

The Chicago White Sox are after at least one good infielder and a couple of pitchers. There is a good chance that Johnny Mostil, brilliant outfielder, may be used as bait. It is said he desires to change his berth since the unfortunate occurrence of last spring.

The Cleveland club, going into the hands of new owners, is due to present one or two new faces, including a new manager. While it is expected that the new pilot will be chosen from outside the present playing ranks of the major leagues, it is within the range of possibilities that the new bosses may put over a deal that will give them added playing strength and a young leader at the same time.

Connie Mack has dropped Zack Wheat and Ty Cobb and is searching for one or two young batters to take their places.

All in all, the winter looms promising from the stove league point of view. The only thing that takes the joy out of life for the fans is the fact that nothing that can be pulled this winter, short of dropping them out of the league, will prevent the Yankees from cleaning up again next season.

Bruce Caldwell Case Up Again

Harvard Willing to Play Ousted Yale Star

By Universal Service

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11.—Yale alumni are unable to understand the meaning of statements made by W. M. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, who has said that Harvard is willing to waive the rule which caused Yale to bar Bruce Caldwell from football the remainder of his college course because he played football as a freshman at Brown university, while preparing for Yale.

Bingham is quoted as saying that he believes a new eligibility code will be framed within a month which will remove such cases from the ban. Yale athletic officials will not discuss Bingham's statements but graduates believe that there is no reason why Harvard should not make a formal offer of abandoning the rule before the Harvard-Yale game next week, if it wishes.

To Yale alumni it seems clear that if Harvard wants Caldwell to play, as the statements given out in Cambridge assert they have the means at hand to assume his presence in the game next week.

Trinity Comes Back To Drub Simmons, 14-6

WAXAHACHIE, Nov. 11. (AP)—After the Simmons university Cowboys had scored a touchdown in the first five minutes of play, the Trinity university Tigers reversed the order of things and crossed Simmons' goal twice to win from the Cowboys 14 to 6 for the first time since 1919.

Two passes to Rhome paved the way for the Tigers' first touchdown, and recovered by Kosehki of a blocked punt started them toward their second marker. The Cowboys made their only score after a 4-yard punt by Trinity and two penalties for off-sides.

West Texas Teachers Down N. M. M. I., 19-0

ROSWELL, N. M., Nov. 11. (AP)—The West Texas State Teachers college eleven today downed the New Mexico Military Institute Soldiers 19 to 0 in a holiday game here before a crowd of 2000.

France's tourist season this year is declared to have been a fizzle, while Germany had an unusual number of visitors.

SCORE COMES LATE IN GAME

Amarillo Puts Touchdown Over in Final Period

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 11.—Walker and Doebler, star backfield changes of Coach Butler's Amarillo Golden Sandstorm, led their mates to a hard earned victory over the Vernon Lions here this afternoon, 7 to 0 in the Armistice Day game played before 2500 people.

After being held scoreless throughout the major portion of the game, the Sandies pushed over a touchdown three minutes before the final gun.

Walker, right half, took the ball over the goal line for the only touchdown of the game after a ripping offense attack had carried it down the field to within striking distance of the goal and a pass, Walker to Travis, made it first down with only six inches to go. Travis booted the goal for the extra point.

Wind Spells Passes.

Forced to play straight football by a high wind that made passing almost impossible, both teams displayed a strong offensive attack. Led by Walker and Doebler, the Sandies gained almost at will in midfield but, with the exception of the drive which resulted in a touchdown, were unable to force the Lion defense when in Vernon territory. The Sandstorm amassed a total of twenty-one first downs, and the Lions piled up seven.

The Vernon backs gained liberally in midfield, although their gains were not as sensational as those made by Walker and Doebler. The Vernon backs seldom gained more than five yards on a play. Key was the most consistent ground gainer. He brought the fans to their feet in the second quarter when he swept around the Sandstorm left end, stiff armed the last man between him and the goal and struck out down the field with no opposition. He was called back, having stepped on the sideline in stiff arming the Amarillo player.

Few Scrambles Staged.

With straight football the order of the day sensations were few. The most sensational play of the game was made at the opening of Amarillo's drive which resulted in the touchdown, when Walker reeled off twenty-two yards around left end. The Sandstorm rooters went wild and began calling for a touchdown. Hopkins added 16 yards with three bucks. The Vernon opposition stiffened and Doebler was thrown for a four yard loss. When Hopkins recorded only a stiff gain on the next play, Walker followed it with the pass that placed the ball on Vernon's six-yard line. This was one of the two passes attempted in the game. Key's pass for Vernon after the Amarillo touchdown was intercepted, leaving the ball in Amarillo's possession when the game ended.

Vernon never threatened the Sandstorm goal, nor did the visitors seriously threaten except when the touchdown was made. Neither team's 20-yard zone was invaded until the score was made.

Coach Butler presented a mass interference that dealt the Lion tacklers a world of misery. The Sandstorm presented a much smoother appearance that the Lions. The open, passing attack that had been expected by the Lions and possibly the Sandies, was eliminated by the strong wind. No lateral pass plays were attempted and both teams backed the line for the most part.

Seven Penalties Marked.

Amarillo was penalized four times for 30 yards, Vernon three for 25 yards. Amarillo punted eight times, averaging 21 yards. Vernon punted ten times, averaging 25 yards. Amarillo fumbled four times and the Lion held the oval securely in every play.

The lineup:

Vernon:	Pos.	Amarillo:
Parker	Center.	Ballou
North	Right Guard.	Nicholas
Thomas	Left Guard.	Conklin
Waggoner	Right Tackle.	E. Larson, (C)
Stevens	Right Tackle.	Speer
Hacker	Left End.	Nunn
Brown	Right End.	W. Larson
Dodson	Quarter.	Travis
Castleberry	Right Half.	Walker
Cox	Left Half.	Gibson
Key	Fullback.	Doebler

Substitutions: Vernon, Adams for Thomas, Thomas for North, Moore for Castleberry, Nabers for Brown. Amarillo, Hopkins for Nicholas, Foster for Conklin, first half; Nicholas for Hopkins, Conklin for Foster, second half.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Sam Houston State Teachers college Bearcats and the Southwest Texas State Teachers Bobcats of San Marcos, old enemies and at present in a tie for third place in the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association standing, battled to a 6 and 6 tie on a local gridiron today.

Sul Ross Noses Out Schreiner By 28-20

DEL RIO, Tex., Nov. 11. (AP)—In an unusually rough game, the Sul Ross State Teachers college Lobos today defeated the Schreiner Institute Mountaineers of Kerrville by a score of 28 to 20 before a crowd of 2000. It was the first defeat for the Mountaineers since 1925.

Texas Longhorns Give Kansas Aggies 41 to 7 Dressing Down In Fast Tilt

Kansans' Line Outweighs Steers 20 Pounds to Man But Faster Footwork Wins For Texas

AUSTIN, Nov. 11. (AP)—Pouncing on every break of the game and turning it into a score, the University of Texas football team administered a fancy, A No. 1 licking to the Kansas Aggies from Manhattan, Friday, winning by a score of 41 to 7.

The Kansans, invincible in the line with their 20 pounds to the man heavier weight, were able to score only once, through Captain Douglas on a trick play, completing 22 yards of an 80-yard march down the field.

The Texas host seemed to take the starch out of the Aggies. Nursing memories of a sour defeat last Saturday by Baylor university, the Longhorns, on the other hand, were on their toes, cashing in on the Farmers' sporadic grugginess. A cold day might have caused a different story.

Neither side ever was able to maintain a sustained offensive, although the Aggies looked dangerous during the second quarter, when their only touchdown was registered. It was a game of opportunism, abetted by the hunt.

The Aggies, by their loss were added to Missouri, Swanees and Vanderbilt as intersectional victims of Southwestern conference teams, giving deputation some very ripe conclusions about the relative strength of the respective sections in this season's football.

Intercepted Aggie passes accounted for Texas' first two touchdown, which came in the latter part of the second quarter, Rose grabbing one and running 42 yards over the goal. Bagley did likewise shortly after, for the same distance and another counter. It was Bagley who scored a touchback for two points in the last quarter, after punting 40 yards out of bounds one yard for the Aggie goal and then downed his man behind the line on the next play. Both Rose and Sewell got away with Aggie fumbles for touchdowns. In the third period, with the Aggies gaining little by line plunges, Rees grabbed a fumble and broke away 48 yards and over, while Sewell broke through the Kansas backfield in the final period, recovered another fumble, shook off three tacklers and raced 25 yards to the goal.

Texas	Pos.	Kansas
Brown	Left Tackle.	Householder
Tigner	Left Guard.	Stover
McCullough	Center.	Pearson
Sewell	Right Guard.	Bauman
Higgins (c)	Right Tackle.	Lyons
Wray	Right End.	Finch
Bosher	Quarterback.	Anderson
Baldwin	Left Half.	Shay
Rose	Right Half.	Springer
Ford	Fullback.	Saunders

Parachute Leaper Out To Try For Longest Drop in Air

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 11. (AP)—A two mile drop from an airplane, 15000 feet in the air, before opening a parachute, will be attempted at Clover Field, Santa Monica, Sunday afternoon by Ralph S. Douglas, veteran parachute jumper.

Douglas, with a specially built "chute" wishes primarily to prove that a parachute may save life no matter at what height a jump is necessitated from a crippled plane. He also wishes to gain the parachute jumping record now held by Sergeant Bowes of the United States army air corps. Bowes fell 4,200 feet at Selfridge Field, Mount Clements, Mich., recently before opening his chute.

J. Walter Morris, Baseball Law Expert To Carry Legal Burden Texas League

Secretary of Dallas Club Expected to Lead Scrap Over Adoption of Western Clubs by Texas Loop

By FRANK BARDON
Record News Editorial Staff

Many Texas league fans are wondering who is going to carry the battle for this organization in the arguments over Oklahoma City and Tulsa leaving the Western league to join the Texas loop. President Dale Gear of the Western recently announced that Senator George Wharton Pepper will take his side of the case. President Doak Roberts has made no announcement.

The only indication was when he named Secretaries J. Walter Morris of the Dallas club and Paul A. LaGrave of the Fort Worth club to see Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

Those who have kept closely in touch with Texas league affairs have had little doubt all along that Walter Morris was the chief adviser to the league. Before he bought into the Dallas club with Tar Lupton and others, Morris was president of the Texas loop for several years. In addition to that he has been in baseball for many years.

Morris Sports Shingle.

Perhaps it is news to some that Morris is a graduate of the University of Texas law school and has practiced before the bar. He was rated as capable in this field but turned to baseball as more profitable. He succeeded well as a player and when F. M. Weaver bought the Fort Worth franchise he was made secretary.

Soon after Weaver sold to a group of wealthy young sportsmen Morris was made president of the league. He was recognized nationally by being placed on the board of directors of the National Association of Minor leagues. There are few men better versed in baseball law than is Morris. It was he who helped to battle through the new draft provisions that kept the minor league teams from being ruined each fall by the loss of too many valuable players.

Western Claims Invasion.

It is well known that the so-called "invasion" of the rights of territory of the Western league will be the center of the fight. Three years ago both of these clubs were ready to join the Roberts circuit. They were tired of almost carrying an entire league. The Texas league wanted them badly but Jack Holland and others could not convince Morris they were eligible to leave the Westerns.

Morris made a long study of it, frequently conferring with LaGrave, whose judgment he respects highly. Last year after digging through records all over the country, Morris became convinced. The way was then clear. It is well known that the club owners wanted Morris' ideas on the matter first. President Roberts had also given the matter much thought and whatever else may be said of Doak there is no doubt but that he has plenty of gray matter about baseball problems.

There are those who do not care for Morris. He is impulsive at times and his fighting blood flares quickly but those who know him well are aware that after he is cooled down he is willing to admit if in error or to carry on if right.

Texas League Ready.

When the national board of arbitration meets December 5 to settle the question, baseball men in these parts are ready to lay real cash that Morris will have baseball law on his side. Dale Gear knows Walter Morris well. Dale was both a player and manager in this loop. He handled the reins of the old Austin club and also Shreveport. This is probably the reason that such a man as Senator Pepper was engaged by the Western league.

Senator Pepper is probably more conversant with civil law than Morris, but when he meets Walter on his own ground, baseball law, it is the opinion of baseball men that the senator had better look well to his laurels and then he may lose them.

Jack Gorman Gets Best of Kid Nelson In Rough and Tumble Wrestling Match

Jack Gorman was returned the victor in the main event at the Wichita Athletic club gym Friday night over Kid Nelson in one of the fastest and most thrilling games of the year. The two welters mixed it in great style all the way and many hay-maker swings from the two "wrestlers" from close quarters, mixed in well with well aimed boots, kept the small crowd in an uproar.

Jack Gorman, the West Texas favorite, started with the rough stuff before the first minute of wrestling was up and after 25 minute sof fast work, he worked Nelson into a reverse arm scissors and took the first fall.

In the second go, Gorman made a perfect fake at being groggy and at the right minute he burst forth with a whirlwind of action that led to a 19-minute victory with a body slam.

During the second fall the fans were given additional treats when Nelson charged on the referee a couple of times with assault and battery on his mind.

The preliminary battle was another whirlwind of action with Joe Manning, San Francisco welterweight, taking two straight falls from Benny Bolt from Oklahoma City. The second fall was a close one and many of the fans failed to take the word of the referee for it and expressed the desire to see th pair rematched.

Bolt kept Manning on the defense most of the way, but after 31 minutes of wrestling Manning gave the Oklahoma Indian a body slam that gave him the first fall.

The second round laster 13 minutes before Manning won with a jack-knife that many of the fans doubted. The second fall was a fast and clean battle between the two and enjoyed by the small crowd.

ABILENE PUTS TECH OUT, 6-3

3000 See Christians In Narrow Victory

ABILENE, Texas, Nov. 11. (AP)—Abilene Christian college Wildcats, a smashing line and a brilliant backfield, conquered Texas Tech, 6 to 3, for the first time in three years of holiday meetings before a home coming crowd of more than 3000.

It was the first upset for the Matadors outside the Southwest conference this year, and the second loss of the Lubbock school to a T. I. A. A. or Texas conference representative in its three years of existence.

Although the Wildcats whipped Tech from start to finish, totaling 12 first downs against 3 by the enemy, they had to overcome a three-point lead obtained by the visitors in the second quarter when Brothers booted a field goal from placement on the 24-yard line.

Powell, Wildcat triple threat and outstanding backfield man in the T. I. A. A. finished his home career in as brilliant a game as he ever played, but was far from alone in the victory. Directing the team, he shared honors in gaining with Roland and Robinson in a 74-yard march at the opening of the third period. They followed the lighter line, led by Captain Byron Rogers, one arm strapped to his side because of a weak shoulder. Bullock and Hill, for repeated gains, and when these tactics failed to net first down, Powell passed to Colley or Hendrick.

Twenty plays for six first downs were required before Thompson hit center for the score from the one-foot line. Moyers missed the goal.

Tech line play was smothered, the Matadors compleing two of their three first downs on passes, and the other on a punt that Thompson fumbled. The line-up:

A. C. C.	Pos.	Texas Tech.
Colley	Left End.	White
Bullock	Left Tackle.	Carpenter
Hill	Center.	Corley
Trussel	Right Guard.	DeWitt
Rogers (c)	Right Tackle.	Vermillion
Hendrick	Right End.	Calloway
Adams	Quarterback.	Wooldridge
Roland	Right Half.	Hodges
Powell	Full	Nichlaus

Officials: Swain (Bucknell), referee; Bristow (Oklahoma), umpire; Scott (Texas A. & M.) head linesman.

Score by periods:

A. C. C.	0	0	0	0	0—0
Texas Tech	0	3	0	0	0—3

Scoring: Field goal, Brothers (place kick); touchdown, Thompson (sub for Adams).

Wichita Falls' Oily Golf Team Wins Cup

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11. (AP)—Wichita Falls golf team won the Mid-Continental Oil and Gas association golf tourney at Rivercrest Country club today, taking it by the scant margin of eight-tenths of a point over the Fort Worth team. Dallas was third and Houston fourth.

J. E. Williams of Dallas was medalist with 69, after his 16 handicap was allowed.

Texas Freshmen Rout Edinburg Broncs, 44-0

MISSION, Texas, Nov. 11. (AP)—Playing wonderful football in the first three quarters but weakening in the last period, the Edinburg Broncs went down in defeat here Friday at the hands of the University of Texas freshmen by the decisive score of 44 to 0. For three quarters the Ponies held the strong invaders in check, allowing not a point in the first half and only 13 points in the third quarter. The last quarter was a runaway, almost, the Texas boys scoring five touchdowns by passing the ball and vicious broken field running.

TEXAS AGGIES FORCED TO PLAY REAL FOOTBALL TO WIN OUT OVER RICE OWLS BY 14 TO 0 SCORE IN HOUSTON TEST

HOUSTON, Nov. 11. (AP) — The Texas Aggies played four quarters of real football here today apparently to prove that the Rice Institute Owls were just another team. But the Owls packed a defensive punch that surprised the Aggies and the potential Southwestern conference winners inflicted they considered themselves lucky to get away with a 14 to 0 verdict.

Joel Hunt, the boy who is making football history at College Station this year, was stopped by an institute defense the like of which the Owls have not displayed this year, and save for a lapse in the second quarter the Owls played a powerful Aggie team to a standstill.

All this in spite of the fact that only twice did Rice enter Aggie territory. Rice never got deep into A. & M.'s side of the field, for the Owl offensive was not equal to the task of making material indentures in the Aggie line.

The thing that spectators thought did Rice more harm than anything else was faulty punting. A. & M. threatened five times and scored twice, and each of these sallies was directly attributable to Rice punting that failed to give the Owls an even break with the opposition.

A. & M. played brilliant, almost perfect football, but it was not regarded as the inspired, ripping, slashing type that carried the Aggies to victories over S. M. U., Arkansas and other teams that have felt the leash which Coach Bible holds in his whip hand.

Rice, on the other hand, saved something for tradition, keeping up a steady blocking, plugging game that for the better part stopped A. & M. without argument.

Ruled Ineligible

Yale, one of the strongest teams in the east, and on the eve of the game with Princeton, in losing its star backfield ace, Bruce Caldwell, dropped quite a few notches in the football stocks.

Caldwell admitted he had played a few games as a Brown university freshman, but was unaware that it would make him ineligible at Yale. He wasn't considered such a wow at Brown, but at Yale he developed into a star, reaching the climax of his football career this fall with such an exhibition of all-around backfield work as to make him an outstanding candidate for All-American honors.

Against Brown this year he was a big star, scoring all of Yale's points.

Zundy Unable To Check Bellevue

Juniors Hold Clay Rivals To One Touchdown

Outweighed but not outfought, Zundelowitz Junior High school's midget football eleven held the powerful Bellevue team to a single touchdown which came in the closing minute of a heartbreaking contest at Wilson Field Friday afternoon.

Fighting like young wildcats, Zundy's men twice drove to within a few feet of a touchdown but fate and the powerful Bellevue forward wall intervened.

Perhaps the feature of the game was a 90-yard run which took him over the Zundy goal by Nolan, Bellevue back, in the third quarter after he had intercepted a Zundelowitz pass. However one of the Bellevue boys took occasion to rough Jack Campbell, tiny left end for Zundy, and the runner was called back and Bellevue drew a penalty on top of that.

Score In Fourth

The Bellevue touchdown in the fourth quarter came after a series of line drives and end runs with one good forward pass for good measure. The climax came when Nolan dashed 40 yards to Zundy's one-foot line. Jolley then took the ball across in two attempts, Zundy holding firm on the first stab.

The Zundelowitz backfield showed better form than at any time this season and the line displayed a charge that held back the powerful Bellevue cohorts through most of the game. The Clarke brothers, Bill at halfback and Ed at end, showed good form and worked at the two ends of several successful passes. T. Saye in the line was a tower of strength, while Harlan Ray at quarter played a good game. Barret at full and Hicks at right half, and Campbell, Daniels, Allen, Eartosch and Howell in the line extended themselves. Bob Clayton and Sparks who went into the game as substitutes performed well.

Bellevue On Top

Nolan, Jolley, Karstetter and Aulich starred for Bellevue. Bellevue now holds victories for the season over Reagan and Zundelowitz, defeating the former 19 to 0 last week and the latter 6 to 0 Friday.

Lineups for the game were:

Zundelowitz	Position	Bellevue
Campbell	Left end	Kerby
L. Daniels	Left guard	Aulich
Allen	Center	Orton
Bartosch	Right guard	Crook
Howell	Right tackle	Berry
E. Clarke	Right end	Karstitter
Ray	Quarterback	Spradling
B. Clarke	Left half	Nolan
Hicks	Right half	Hodge
Barrett	Fullback	Jolly

Score by quarters:

Bellevue	0	0	0	6	6—6

Substitutions: Zundelowitz, Sparks for Bartosch; Clayton for Barrett; Bellevue, none.

SAN SABA COPS DERBY TROPHY

Winnie May Second In Haskell Feature

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Nov. 11.—The second day of Haskell horse races was bigger and better than first. The day was featured by Wester's San Saba winning in close finish with Winnie May in the Armistice day derby.

Huge crowd braved sand storm and norther to see the ponies run. In the first race Roxey Savoy, Doss up, repeated yesterday's performance by winning easily with Red Robin, second and Gray Eagle third. Roxey Savoy is owned by H. W. Hill of Haskell.

Queen cup also won again today in the second race, with Moore up, W. E. Warren's Ruth taking second and White Child after a poor start working up to nose trigger out of third. Speck, thirteen-year-old jockey, riding Mattie S. thrilled the entire crowd with superb riding when he came from behind to win from Orphan Boy, the favorite and yesterday's winner in the third race. Paul Ragland's Starlight was third the balance of the field being outclassed.

Armistice day derby was complete upset as the favorite Winnie May won easily yesterday against practically same field, but San Saba could not be headed.

Track was in excellent shape. Extra event of Shetland pony race with only owners up was appreciated. Tomorrow the last day of meet promises to be best of all.

Reagan Loses To Iowa Park 19-0

Hawks Repeat Victory Of Early Season

Fighting hard enough but playing a loose brand of football Reagan Junior High school lost its second game of the gridiron season to the Iowa Park Hawks Friday afternoon at Wilson Field by a score of 19 to 0.

The battling Reaganites fought hard to hold the Hawks scoreless through the first three quarters of the Armistice Day contest but succumbed to the superior Iowa Park machine in the final period.

Iowa Park's scoring in the third quarter started with a touchdown by Fitzgerald, right half, who went over the goal after a series of line drives had placed the team in scoring position. The second touchdown came a minute later when after the kickoff Reagan attempted a pass which Penn, Hawk quarterback, intercepted. Penn dashed down the field for 60 yards and a touchdown. Wiggley, substituting at left half, plunged across for the extra point. The third touchdown came after a fast drive in which a forward pass figured, Wiggley going over for the final mark.

Lineups for the game were:

Reagan	Position	Iowa Park
Hubbard	Left end	Crestman
Watson	Left tackle	Wright
Skeen	Left guard	Sunday
Nichols	Center	Copeland
Parrish	Right guard	Burney
Bailey	Right tackle	Love
Smith	Right end	Cheeves
Wilson	Quarterback	Penn
Dickey	Left half	Counts
Warren	Right half	Fitzgerald
Logan	Fullback	Taylor

Score by quarters:

Reagan	0	0	0	0	0—0
Iowa Park	0	0	0	19	19—19

Substitutions: Reagan, Jackson, Warren, Corder, Smith, Webb; Iowa Park, Cowart for Burney, Wiggley for Counts, Sherwood for Taylor, Taylor for Sherwood, Counts for Taylor.

J. K. Hughes Co. Sold To Smith

CORSICANA, Nov. 11. (AP)—Sale of the J. K. Hughes development company to the E. L. Smith Oil company of Mexia, involving transfer of approximately 135,000 acres of leases including several hundred acres of producing properties, was announced in a joint statement issued here today by officials of the two companies. Money involved or other terms of the sale was not announced.

The Hughes company was capitalized five years ago at $2,000,000 and the Smith company has authorized capital of $5,000,000.

The radio is developing in the Philippines, and 20 operators are being added every six months by the bureau posts for new provincial stations.

Industrial London has only three groceterias.

Judgment Gives State $3,400,000 In Recovery of Harris Oil Land

AUSTIN, Nov. 11. (AP)—Formal judgment giving the state about $3,400,000 in its recent recovery of title to 265 acres of oil land in the San Jacinto river bottom of Harris county was entered in district court Friday after operating expenses of several oil companies, mainly the Texas company, had been deducted.

The judgment was entered by District Judge George C. Calhoun, who some weeks ago found for the state in the R. L. Blaffer suit to try title and damages, the state claiming an erroneous survey on public school lands.

The oil companies were allowed to recover their expenses of operation dating back some 12 years. This deduction from the final judgment cut the first estimate of the state's recovery considerably.

The judgment gives recovery of about $1,400,000 in cash for oil taken from the disputed tract, Assistant Attorney General Joe Brown said. The land is valued at $2,000,000.

Suit was brought in 1924 by Attorney General W. A. Keeling against about 50 defendants, of whom R. L. Blaffer of Houston, was one. The Texas company was the only concern still operating on the tract when the court found for the state.

The oil companies will appeal the case.

IOWA PARK SOCIETY

IOWA PARK, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Scott Ralston entertained a number of children at ther home Saturday afternoon in honor of the third birthday of her little daughter, Fay Marie. Marguerite Ralston, Robert Bruce Lowrance, and Evelyn Murphree assisted the hostess in the games.

The little folks enjoyed playing childish games such as drop the hankerchief, and stealing bases, and drew pictures with colored crayon. A birthday cake with its three candles, and ice cream cones furnished the refreshments for the following Katherine Murphree, Gene Leroy Lowrance, Betty Abernathy, Harry Lee Mitchell, Dorothy Morris, Malcolm Mills, Son Flahive, Robert Bruce Lowrance, Marguerite Ralston, Evelyn Murphree, and the small honoree, Fay Marie Ralston.

W. C. T. U. Organized

Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth of Fort Worth, state organizer for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, made an address Wednesday afternoon at the First Christian church in the interest of the W. C. T. U. She said that the W. C. T. U. was the first organization to raise its voice against the liquor traffic. She also discussed the efforts that the enemies of prohibition are making to defeat its cause. At the close of her talk a local W. T. C. U. was organized with the following women officers: President, Mrs. M. L. Hines; vice president, Mrs. Frank Clark; recording secretary, Mrs. R. R. Brubaker; treasurer, Miss Clara Lowrance; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Black. Twelve women gave their names for membership in the organization.

Freshman Party

About 70 freshman and their guests attended a party given at the domestic science cottage Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Belkin, Mr. and Mrs. McClendon, and Mr. Brewster acted as chaperones to the large crowd of young folks, and Mrs. Belkin and Miss Glenda Bevill arranged the games for their amusement. Each freshman was given the privilege of inviting a friend for the evening's pleasure. Refreshments of sandwiches and punch were served after the fun was over.

Lyceum Number

The Lyceum number given at the W. F. George High School auditorium last Thursday evening was one of the best that has ever been given there. Mr. ellener gave several impersanations of Bible characters, and imitated cats in the back alley, and other animal noises. Quick changes in make-up and costume, and the twenty characterizations held his audience's closest attention for the hour and a half of the program.

W. M. S. Meets

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met in their rooms at the church Monday afternoon for their regular session. Mrs. J. P. Luton led the devotional exercises, bringing out in an impressive way the service rendered in Christian Stewardship. Mrs. S. L. Denny, Mrs. Chester Zink and Mrs. J. C. Murphree gave the report from the bulletin. During the business session that followed, reports from the officers were read, announcements were made concerning the week of prayer which will be observed next Monday, and several connectional letters were read. The officers for the year 1928 were elected after the nominations made by the nominating committee were read.

Presbyterian Auxiliary

Mesdames G. C. Richards and R. F. Abernathy were joint hostesses Monday afternoon to the Presbyterian auxiliary in its meeting at the home of Mrs. Scott Ralston led the devotional exercises, reading from the 196th Psalm, and since the program dealt with the subject of home missions, she read a selection bearing on that subject, "God is Sending Now the People." In the business session plans were made for the bazaar which the auxiliary expects to have on Dec. 9. It was also decided to have a banquet at the church on the evening of Nov. 30 honoring the delegates to assembly of the Dallas Presbytery which meets here at that time.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of cake and coffee, with nuts and mints, with Halloween favors were served to Mesdames C. E. Clark, C. Birk, G. C. Richards, C. E. Birk, King Abernathy, Earl Wilson, Noel Troutman, Maggie Cobb, L. Troutman, Scott Ralston, N. L. Lowrance, R. F. Abernathy, and Miss Clara Lowrance.

Christian Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of the Christian church met in their rregular session Monday afternoon at the church, with the president, Mrs. R. B. Sisk, in charge. The opening song was "Take the Name of Jesus With You," followed by a prayer by Mrs. Frank Clark. Highsmith then took charge and led in the Bible study, and an interesting lesson followed. Those present were: Mesdames F. E. McMullen, Frank Clark, R. B. Sisk, E. B. Brown, J. Lindsey, J. B. Barbour, Curtis Sewell, O. H. Crites, R. A. Highsmith, and Miss Hazel Crites.

Athletic Club

Miss Maurine McDonald was hostess to the Athletic club Tuesday afternoon. The house was made beautiful with gorgeous chrysanthemums and other cut flowers, and the score pads and tallies carried out the autumn colors. A business meeting was held first with the vice president, Mrs. J. G. O'Donohoe in charge. Refreshments of date pie with whipped cream, and coffee were served. Then the rest of the afternoon was spent in playing "42." Those present were: Mesdames Noel McKinney, Kemper, C. J. Shumake, W. H. Bagby, J. C. Murphree, Fenton Dale, W. R. Golden, J. G. O'Donohoe, Gordon Clark, C. W. Coppick, Carroll Hester, M. L. Hines, C. J. Thurber, R. E. Brewster, and Misses Josephine Luton, Irene Lambkin, and the hostess Maurine McDonald.

English Club

The English II-B club met with Franklin Love as chairman and Pearl Smythe the secretary. These officers are changed every week in order to give more of the club members a chance to serve. Shirley Smythe will be the chairman next week and Juanita Kildow the secretary. Reports were made on the books read since the last meeting, Edith Burney reported on "How the Other Half Lives," Lorene Craft on "If" by Rudyard Kipling, Elma Finch on "The Vision of Sir Launfel" by Lowell, Ruth Dorris on Ben Hur by Wallace, Minnie Foster on "Return of Peter Grim" by Belasco, Rosalie Keller on "Two Years Before the Mast," Dana Juanita Kildow on "The Piper" by Peabody, Maurice Monroe on Merchant of eVnice by Shakespeare, Pearl Smythe on "Roads of Destiny" by O'Henry, and Shirley Smythe on "The Merchant of Venice." Maurice Monroe's report was judged to be the most interesting, Shirley mythe'scS11Frank vbgkqj Smythe's the most inspiring, and Minnie Foster's showed the most preparation.

W. M. U. Meeting

The Woman's Missionary union of the Baptist church met in an all day meeting at the church Monday in what was one of the most interesting sessions of the year. A play entitled "Churchitis" was given in the morning with Mrs. M. B. Cain as the doctor who examined a number of patients for that very prevalent disease. She found that the symptoms proved to be serious only when the patients were called upon to do work for the church. A bountiful lunch was served at noon to the members present and a number of their husbands as guests.

In the afternoon a business session was held with the president, Mrs. A. C. Golden in charge. Plans were made for holding the annual Thanksgiving dinner.

Those present were: Mesdames A. C. Golden, M. E. Morgan, L. N. Lochridge, N. E. McKinney, Curtis Hill, C. A. Williams, M. B. Cain, Bernard Birdwell, W. H. Taylor, J. M. Baxter, W. R. Golden, R. L. Worker's Council

At the Worker's Council of the Methodist Sunday school held at the church Thursday evening plans were made for the observance of Rally Day when it is hoped to have 400 in the Sunday school, and for the observance of Children's Week which begins next Sunday and closes the third Sunday in November. On the closing night it is planned to present a play dealing with the effects of good and bad literature on children.

NOCONA SOCIETY

NOCONA, Nov. 11.—Miss Frances Bowdry was hostess to the Maids and Matrons Literary club on Tuesday afternoon.

The subject for the afternoon's study was "Ancient Civilization in the Mexican Nation," Miss Virginia Wood leading. Papers were read by Miss Virginia Hood, Mrs. Bonnie Croxton, Mrs. R. A. Choat, Miss Lelia Crain and Mrs. Foster.

A delicious salad course was served to the following members: Mesdames True Strong; J. Grover Kilgore; Ora Lemon; J. A. Montgomery; D. R. Halcombe; Clifford B. Keene; T. E. Rowland; Bonnie Croxton, H. A. Neath, H. D. Read, Olen Robinson, H. G. Halcombe, R. A. Choat, W. J. Stone. Misses Virginia Hood, Lelia Crain, Mary Nell McCall, Polly Wilkes, Virginia Wood and the hostess, Miss Bowdry.

Thursday Evening Bridge Club.

The Thursday Bridge club met with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stone. The Halloween motiff was carried out in the table markers, score pads and cards. High score prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stelzer. the cut prize going to Mrs. Hamilton and Mr. Utt.

At the conclusion of the games a lovely salad course was served to Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Utt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Grover Kilgore, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Neath, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stelzer and the host and hostess.

Wednesday Bridge.

Mrs. Howard Neath was hostess to the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club last week. High score prize, a box of dainty little handkerchiefs was won by Mrs. Freeman while the cut prize, a deck of bridge cards went to Mrs. Thompson. The Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations and tallies and refreshments of hot chocolate and pumpkin pie with whipped cream were served to the following: Mesdames Thompson, Coffman, Montgomery, Foster, Freeman, Fitzgerald, Misses Lelia Crain and Mary Nelle McCall.

Miss Ingram Hostess.

Miss Eloise Ingram entertained a large number of her school friends on Monday evening with a Halloween party in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Freeman. The house was surrounded by ghosts and all was very spooky without, while within the brightly lighted and uniquely decorated rooms were filled with the merry laughter of the many boys and girls present. Each guest was presented with a favor bearing his or her fortune and a horn or some other noise maker. The lights were turned lo wand Mrs. Freeman read a thrilling ghost story and as each character was mentioned they were imitated by several voices in the group. The familiar old contest of trying to bite the apple on the string was won by Charles Harding. During this contest little Betty Freeman, in a ballet costume, pulled a little red wagon in filled with apples and unloaded them for the guests. Pinning the hat on the pumpkin also afforded its usual amount of fun and the Misses Iverlee Flados, Tootsie Berry and Jamie Clark participated in a Charleston contest after which Miss Ester Webb gave a reading. The hostess served refreshments of lemonade and cookies.

Six O'Clock Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carson entertained on Monday evening at 6 o'clock dinner with cards following, honoring Mr. and Mrs. True Strong. Halloween motiffs with soft candle and lamp light made the dining room into a beautiful setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Strong were presented with a lovely card table and cover to match. Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Wilkes, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Fooshee, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gribbon, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cone, Mr. and Mrs. True Strong and Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Stripling.

Freshmen Class Party.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Rowland opened their lovely home to the pupils of the freshmen class for a Halloween party. Mrs. J. R. Modrall sponsor fo rthe class with Mrs. Rowland and Miss Jewell Gill, class president, very capably directed Halloween activities.

Attend Conference.

Rev. and Mrs. G. N. Stone and Mrs. Eula Shackelford and daughter, Virginia attended the annual conference of the Methodist church at Cooper, Texas from Thursday until Sunday. They spent Sunday night with Rev. Stone's sister, Mrs. Billy Scott, in Garland, Texas.

Halloween Party.

The teachers and officers of the intermediate department of Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church entertained the young people with a Halloween party in the basement of the church Thursday evening.

As the guests appeared at the foot of the stairs Mrs. O. J. McCain received them with a clamy icedhand sake. Mrs. L. A. Clark, ghost, and Mrs. Rufus L. Myrick, witch, led them through a spooky hall way to a very attractive corner where Mrs. J. A. Russell presided as the Witch of Future.

There were a number of ghost stories told and in the bobbing for apples each guest was fortunate in getting one. Slips of paper were passed out with lines from familiar songs and they were told to hum the tune until they found their partners, then in couples they marched to a large pot surrounded by autumn leaves and flowers from which Mrs. L. A. Clark served ice fruit punch.

Those who entertained the young people were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. McCain, Mrs. E. E. Hornbuckle, Mrs. J. A. Russell and Mrs. Rufus L. Myrick.

COTTON PRICE UP 50 POINTS

Market Climbs After Two Days' Slump

Cotton reached the bottom in its downward plunge Friday and immediately began a climb upward, the market closing 50 points higher than the close of Thursday.

Friday was probably the quietest day along Wichita Falls cotton row since the season opened, there being but little cotton brought to market and comparatively few farmers in the city. The few bales of cotton that were brought in sold for 18½ cents to 20 cents on a middling basis. Most of the taple coming in now is classed as snaps, although much of this is excellent snaps.

Only 26 bales were received at Wichita Falls cotton yards Friday.

Prime seed sold for $35 a ton.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—The cotton ing and covering, January contracts sell- market was higher today on trade buying up to 19.93 and closing at 19.90, compared with 19.42 at the close yesterday. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 35 to 55 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 13 to 21 points on buying influenced by relatively steady Liverpool cables and prospects of a cool wave in the southwest. This initial bulge brought in renewed liquidation and southern selling which sent prices off to 19.42 for December and 19.78 for May, or within a few points of yesterday's closing quotations. Trade buying continued in considerable volume on the decline, while the selling tapered off after initial offerings had been absorbed, and the market firmed up during mid-day.

Numerous reports were received indicating a steady spot situation in the south, while there were very few southern selling orders in evidence and the market showed the effects of a firmer technical position after the severe decline during the middle of the week. Spurts of realizing by recent buyers checked advances and caused occasional setbacks, but the highest prices of the day were reached in late trading, when December sold at 19.86 and May at 20.25 or about 48 to 56 points net higher. Last prices were within a few points of the best.

Business was comparatively quiet the greater part of the day and aside from the trade buying, presumably to fix prices, was attributed largely to evening up for over the week-end, and further switching, from near to late months. At the close December was 35 points under May compared with a difference of 34 points at the close of the previous day.

There were rumors that several thousand bales of cotton were to be shipped here from the south to add to the local stock, presumably for delivery next month.

Private cables reported Bombay buying and trade calling supplied by long liquidation influenced by bearish crop views in the Liverpool market. Buyers of cotton cloths in Manchester were said to be holding off in hope of lower cotton.

Exports today 23,545, making 2,502,970 so far this season. Port receipts 61,896. U. S. port stocks 2,492,389.

HOLIDAY AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Cotton exchange closed, holiday.

COTTON SEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—The cotton seed oil market was unusually quiet today owing partially to the holiday at leading grain centers, but despite the inactivity, the undertone was steady, with closing prices generally unchanged to 8 points higher. The steadiness was due to commission house buying in sympathy with the upturn in cotton, and covering in advance of the consumption report due Saturday morning. Sales 8100 barrels, prime crude 9.12½; prime summer yellow spot 10.70; December closed 10.85; January 10.91; March 11.10; May 11.25; June 11.30.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Bids are being made on most all grades of domestic lines and scattered sales are being reported on combing wool. The broadest activity is on combing fine territory. Greasy clothing and scoured wools are very quiet. Sales have been closed on ⅜ blood 58's combing fleeces at 47 cents in the grease and ¼ blood 48-50's at 47 to 48 cents. Dealers are freely rejecting bids not up to asking prices.

DRYGOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)— Cotton yarns were lower today with demand light. Cotton goods in the gray have sold at lower prices based on 8¼ cents for contract deliveries of 38½ inch 64x60's. Burlaps were unchanged to steady. Raw silk sold in moderate quantities. Silk goods were still quiet for spring distribution. Household linen were dull, fancy lines selling moderately.

Alfred Sloan Jr. Gives Out Optimistic Statement And Retreating Bulls Recover On Stock Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Alfred Sloan Jr., head of General Motors, was the life-saver of the bulls in the stock market today. The market was backing and filling in rather indecisive fashion when the Ship-News men sent along Sloan's views as expressed on his arrival from Europe. In as much as he confidently predicted bigger business for his corporation next year, Wall street argued that other corporations must be prosperous also and the industrials rallied strongly. Short covering had considerable to do with the rise, for there was quite heavy professional offerings late Thursday by those who expected resumption of the reaction as soon as the "good news" was out. Rails followed the "Sloan rally" in the industrials but moved in less vigorous manner.

Sterling registered a new high in a fairly active foreign exchange market. Cotton scored a technical recovery while the grain market remained dull and irregular.

With dividend action taken, the market's valuation of General Motors depends largely on the trend of its sales. Market operators, therefore, took Sloan's words quite seriously, at least for the time being. Not all motor officials feel with Sloan as to the 1928 outlock, however. Nor do they expect that they will not feel competition more than heretofore. However, the General Motors' control rests with the leading bankers and industrial magnates of the country. Therefore the words of its president are taken as the words of the business leaders and naturally have effect on the stock market immediately after they are uttered.

American Can established a new high record price for all time on buying by the prominent floor operator whose active position in inner stock market circles is due primarily to the fortune he made on the move in the stock prior to the split-up. Can is one of the few exceptions to the general rule of the market at the moment in that it is based on "hopes" as to 1928 business. The stock market as a whole for the time being is past the stage of being able to discount forward developments.

Corn Products and Montgomery Ward were two others made prominent by pool operations. This is normally the season of the year for Montgomery Ward and other companies in its group to enjoy larger sales. Naturally those who work in the stock use such good news as much as possible.

Although bullish operations in Montgomery Ward were credited to Arthur Cutten, his associates here were not near as bullish in their opinions of the market as they were a week ago.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Trade and industrial reports this week were rather less one-sided than for a month or more past. This was due to the advent of colder weather in a wide area of the northern half of the United States and to the reappearance of the railways and the pipeline companies in the steel market, mainly for rails, cars and oil country supplies. A perceptible stimulating influence was exercised by the change to lower temperatures upon retail buying of heavy apparel, and wholesalers and jobbers likewise felt the influence, either in more assured buying of this mass of material, or in re-orders to fill broken stocks.

TEXAS COTTON AT 4,300,000

Expected Crop 81 Per Cent Gathered

AUSTIN, Nov. 11. (AP)—Texas' cotton crop, according to indications, is 4,300,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, H. H. Schultz, government statistician says in his crop report issued here Friday.

"The amount ginned to November 1," the report says, "was 3,396,000 bales or 81 per cent of the expected number of equivalent 500 pound bales. Since October 18 ginnings were 509,000 bales which was at the rate of 42,000 bales per day. In 1926, 65 per cent had been ginned prior to November 1; 70 per cent in 1925; 73 per cent in 1924, and 81 per cent in 1921 and 1922 which were also bad weevil years.

Late Crop.

"But for the lateness of the crop in much of the western third of the state the ginning percentage would have been on a par with these two recent weevil years. Particularly on cap-rock which last year ginned some 400,000 bales, most of the crop was not planted until late June, yet the season since then has been so favorable that possibly 225,000 bales will be ginned from a reduced acreage. Only scattered frosts have been reported. Labor has been ample almost universally during the season, and the crop is being made at a smaller expense than usual."

Sketching conditions in the various sections of the state, Mr. Schultz finds that the northwestern distric has had almost ideal conditions for saving the crop. Most of the early cotton has been picked and the late planted is opening rapidly. Prospects are good for at least 00,000 bales of mostly high grades this season in North Texas it appears, last season's crop was not out of the way before January, but this year most fields had been picked before November. Production is placed at 400,000 bales.

In northeast Texas weevil are as numerous as ever known. Yields per acre and gin out turns have been disappointing in many instances but in several counties yields were better than expected earlier in the season.

Good Gathering Season.

In west and west central Texas the entire section "has had a wonderful fall for gathering and most of the crop is out. In the eastern part of the west central district weevil are reported even worse than in 1921. Some of the June cotton failed to make anything.

Less than 75,000 bales remain in central Texas out of a probable production of 1,000,000 bales and in east Texas another week of good weather will finish practically the entire crop which is not expected to exceed 285,000 bales. Prior to October 18, 230,000 bales had been ginned.

In south Texas the crop is practically all out. Prior to October 18, 4[illegible] bales had been ginned out of somewhat over 500,000 expected.

In southeast Texas one of the best harvest years is about over. Close to 180,000 bales are expected which compares with 169,000 bales in 1926.

THE AMERICAN THREAD COMPANY.
5-Year Record.

The American Thread company manufacture sewing, crochet, knitting, mending and other cottons, and engages also in the allied business of cotton spinning, doubling, twisting, dyeing, bleaching, polishing and spool making. The company also sells the articles manufactured by it.

The earlier subsidiaries of the company were dissolved and their property merged with the parent company in 1903.

At present the company operates a Canadian subsidiary and a Georgia subsidiary. The Georgia plant was completed in 1924 and has a capacity of 30,000 spindles. The other plants of the company are located at Willimantic, Stonington and Griswold, Connecticut, Holyoke and Fall River, Massachusetts and Milo, Maine.

Funded debt totals $6,000,000 due in 1928. Capital stock outstanding consists of $4,890,475 in 5 per cent cumulative preferred shares of $5 par and $10,800,000 in common stock of $10 par. Sole voting power is vested in the common and the majority of the common stock is owned by the English Sewing Cotton Company, Ltd.

Preferred dividends have been paid regularly at the required rate. Dividends on the common were paid at the rate of 112 1-2c in 1920, 110c in 1921, 90c in 1922, 108c in 1923 and 90c in 1924. None has been reported since.

For the year ended March 31, 1927, net profit amounted to $172,491. This compares with a deficit of $552,729 in 1926. As of March 31, 1927, total current assets were $10,747,639, current liabilities $1,216,580 and net working capital $9,531,059. Book value on the common amounted to $18.62 a share.

QUIET DAY IN WHEAT MARTS

Domestic Markets Closed; Foreign Quiet

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—With domestic grain exchange closed today in observance of Armistice day, attention of the trade was diverted to the foreign markets. There was not much activity shown at either Winnipeg or Liverpool, but the former closed a net gain of ⅜@¾c for the day, while Liverpool wheat closed ⅜ pence higher. Winnipeg oats closed ⅜c lower to ⅜c higher and rye 1⅜@1½c higher. Export sales of wheat in all positions were reported at 500,000 bushels. Holland took 200,000 bushels of rye.

Firmness of the Winnipeg market was reported as due to short covering, this evidently in preparation for the Canadian crop report. Some buying by seaboard houses was also reported. A message from Winnipeg stated that some of the leaders there think every bushel of wheat will be wanted and that higher prices will be seen, as the world over is short more or less wheat on the big Canadian crop which they consider overestimated.

Strength of the rye market at Winnipeg was due to big export business. Advices from there stated that local shippers had difficulty in getting out their hedges on Thursday night's acceptances.

Bradstreet's reports exports of 12,54-,000 bushels of wheat and flour for the week from North America, compared with 15,722,000 bushels last week and 9,315,000 bushels a year ago. Since July 1 they total 148,000,000 bushels compared with 191,707,000 bushels in same period last year. Argentine wheat shipments this week were 1,274,000 bushels compared with 902,000 bushels last week and 262,000 bushels a year ago.

Houston Evangelist To Speak Here Sunday

The Rev. L. Newman, noted evangelist of Houston, is to be in charge of a week's revival meeting of the Yale Avenue Evangelical church, which will begin Monday evening, it was announced by the pastor, the Rev. J. Harbeg. The Rev. Newman is a well known evangelist and large crowds are expected to attend the meetings.

Miss Laura Mock, foreign missionary, who has spent 13 years of her life in Japanese missionary fields, is scheduled to speak at the evening services. She is to address the congregation of the Bowman rural church at 2:30 Sunday afternoon; the First Evangelical at the 11 o'clock services, and the Scotland Evangelical church on Monday evening, it was announced.

Church Board Called For Meeting Monday

A worker's conference is announced at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church for Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m., the Rev. David Rees-Jones announced. All Sunday school officers, and teachers as well as the presidents of all organized classes constitute this council. The pastor will be in charge, and plans for Thanksgiving and Christmas will be discussed.

Young Wichita Falls

Jack is one of the several youthful Lindberghs of the city — and not even Lindbergh started his flying as early as Jack did. Jack is three and went up in an airplane last summer. And every trip his mother makes downtown means a new airplane purchased at a store if there is to be peace in the family.

You may be persuaded that Jack is a boyish boy and that his mother has never had to explain to strangers that he is a boy.

The youngster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Bryant, of 1129 Amber avenue on the Iowa Park road. They formerly lived at 1609 Collins street.

CHOIR REHEARSES FOR THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The choir of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church is preparing a special service of song entitled, "Lest We Forget." This is a Thanksgiving service and will take the place of the regular evening service November 20.

New $8,500 City Fire Truck Placed In Service in Refinery Section

The underwriters' test for the new Seagraves triple combination fire truck which arrived in Wichita Falls Thursday morning is to be held Monday at 1 o'clock with G. W. Hawley, Austin, inspector of the state fire insurance commission, conducting the examination, it was announced by Fire Chief J. L. McClure.

The new fire engine, acquired by the city at a cost of $8300, arrived here from Columbus, Ohio, late Wednesday night, and was unloaded and placed in station No. 1 Thursday morning. The engine is equipped with a 600 gallon pump, hose, and chemical, and is later to be equipped with a $500 fomite generator for use in fighting oil fires, Chief McClure said. The generator was purchased some weeks ago by order of the city council, and is expected to arrive here within theree weeks.

The new engine is to be put into service at station No. 6, across the Wichita river near the oil refineries. The larger truck now at station6 will be removed to station No. 1, Chief McClure said.

Floral Heights Church Has New Bible Class

The Adult Bible class of the Floral Heights Presbyterian Sunday school has been organized recently, it was announced to be known in the future as "The Newman Bible Class," in honor of Mr. Mike Newman, its teacher for a number of years.

The new officers of the class are: President, Mrs. Ralph Dick; vice president, Mr. Ralph Dick; secretary, Mrs. Sam Queen; treasurer, Mr. E. B. Morrow. The class meets with the main school for the opening exercises but conducts its lesson discussion in the social hall back of the church. Men and women of the community are cordially invited to the class sessions.

WELCOME FOR NEW PASTOR

The Rev. and Mrs. Ben Bell Entertained

Members of the Sibley-Taylor Methodist church met at the church tabernacle Thursday evening to welcome their new pastor, the Rev. Ben Bell, recently appointed to the Wichita Falls church by the Methodist conference at Dallas. W. A. Lynn, lay leader acted as supervisor of ceremonies, and made a short speech on the progress of the church during the two months of its organization.

After short talks by several members of the church, Harold White gave a selection of character readings, and Miss Claudine McCarty gave a violin solo accompanied by Mrs. D. Allen at the piano.

At the close of the entertainment an old-fashioned pounding was given for the pastor and his wife. Foodstuffs were heaped high on the table.

College Head Here For Baptist Services

Dr. Edgar Godbold, president of Howard Payne college at Brownwood, one of the leaders of the Baptist convention who arrived here Saturday, is to deliver an address to members of the South Side Baptist church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, it has been announced. The subject of the address has not be announced.

Stop Signals Placed On Streets of Olney

OLNEY, Nov. 11.—City officials have been busy during the past week placing stop signs at all the busy street intersections. Olney's first stop signs were set in the downtown district about two months ago on trial. The success of these few signs was readily seen and additional stops were ordered.

Cain Anderson to Trial Nov. 21 on Lash Charge

By Universal Service.

MARSHALL, Nov. 11.—Cain Anderson, charged with violation of the state anti-mask law in connection with the flogging of four tenant farmers near here last July, will go to trial November 21 in Smith county. A mistrial resulted in Anderson's first trial on these charges.

Today { At the Theaters

By Ruth Morrison

MAJESTIC: "We're in the Air," with Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton; Fables, Topics of the Day, Football Sense and Paramount News.

OLYMPIC: "Painted Ponies," with Hoot Gibson; on the stage "Dance Creations of 1927." Comedy and Fox News.

STRAND: "Camille," with Norma Talmadge and Gilbert Roland, comedy and Pathe News.

MISSION: "The Interfering Gent," with Buffalo Bill, and comedy. On the stage Al Russell's Baby Vampires in musical comedy.

GARDEN: "The Riddle Trail," with Tex Lyons, Fables, comedy and number 10 of "The Crimson Flash," serial.

GEM: "The Mystery Brand," with Ben Wilson; "Perils of the Jungle" number 4, serial, and comedy.

Only Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton could appear to advantage in such ridiculous situations as occur in "Now We're in the Air," the Paramount comedy which opens at the Majestic theater today.

Here is a comedy that has everything, good photography, good direction, capable stars, and most remarkable, a good story. The latter anomaly may be laid at the door of Monte Brice, Keene Thompson and Tom J. Geraghty. Frank Strayer directed.

It is a good thing for the Majestic theater that the laughs in this nonsense opera are so evenly spaced. Hysteria, with possible serious consequences to the patrons, would be the result if they were not. Beery and Hatton have done the impossible and topped all their previous successes. "Behind the Front," "We're in the Navy Now," and "Firemen, Save My Child."

Beery and Hatton become aviators when their clothes are blown off when they get in front of a battery of airplane propellers on the testing blocks at a flying field.

They fall in love with twin sisters, one of whom has been raised a German, the other a French girl. Many of their difficulties arise over their inability to tell their sweethearts apart, which is not surprising when it is considered that the same Louise Brooks plays both parts capably and charmingly.

The gags are new and frequent throughout the picture and will raise Beery and Hatton to a still higher plane as laugh purveyors. They have splendid support in the cast, which includes Malcolm Waite, as the German spy; Duke Martin as the top sergeant, hard-boiled as usual; Emile Chautard and Russell Simpson.

"Now We're in the Air" is good for a laugh in any language.

Wallace Beery in "Now We're in the Air," starring at the Majestic theater today.

Investment In Satisfaction

Is one of the principal attributes of home ownership. Certainly you can go and come just as well in a battered old wreck of a car but it is a little more satisfying to ride in an automobile of reasonably good appearance. In other words, an investment in satisfaction. Just so, you can live in a rented house or an apartment but if you want satisfaction there is no substitute for your own home.

This institution has millions of dollars loaned to assist people in acquiring this investment in satisfaction, a home, and will make you a loan in the same connection. See us today.
