Civil rights bill wins OK

Pact ends job quota fight

■ Democratic senators unanimously lined up behind a rights plan endorsed by Bush.

N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — Senate Democrats unanimously backed a compromise civil rights bill Friday, but President Bush staked the first claim for major credit in shaping the legislation, which makes it easier to sue in job-discrimination cases.

In a morning news conference, Bush insisted that the bill validated him as a supporter of real civil rights without sacrificing his opposition to hiring quotas.

The bill, which was hammered out in 12 hours of meetings at the Capitol on Thursday, "does not resort to quotas and it strengthens the cause of equality in the workplace," he said.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who is his party's leader on civil rights, said the quota issue was always a "phony charge." But Kennedy praised Bush backhandedly, saying, "I think President Bush deserves credit for rejecting at long last the advice of those who have been urging him to divide the nation over race."

WASHINGTON — President Bush, embracing a civil rights compromise, has given up what many analysts had believed would be a major re-election campaign issue — opposition to racial quotas.

But with his salvo against Congress for its handling of the confirmation hearings for Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas, the president showed he is more than willing to kick around another popular target, the legislative branch.

Israelis threaten walkout

■ Prime Minister Shamir selected hardliners for the peace talks delegation.

Associated Press

JERUSALEM — Israel named a hardline delegation Friday to next week's Middle East peace conference and warned it may still pull out of the talks over participation of a Palestinian delegate who spoke of links with the PLO.

But Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir said on Israel TV he was hopeful about the conference.

"It's an unprecedented attempt to negotiate with several Arab leaders at once. We have always demanded it and wanted it and should do it. This time, we will start a process that maybe has a chance," Shamir said Friday.

In a TV interview from Tunisia, PLO leader Yasser Arafat also tried to avoid confrontation five days before the start of the Madrid negotiations, the first broad peace discussions on the region since 1983.

Asked if he would communicate with the delegation at the conference, Arafat told interviewers Phil Donahue and Vladimir Pozner: "They are not in need of me now. They have all the probabilities and capabilities and everything."

He said he would accept any decisions reached at the conference.

President Bush noted to reporters in Washington that while the United States would be a "committed and active partner" in the negotiations, "The United States cannot make peace, only the parties themselves can do that."

As Arab and Jewish leaders shored up their positions Friday, Secretary of State James A. Baker III tried to reduce expectations of a quick breakthrough.

"I think it would be very, very long odds to expect that between now and next Wednesday ... that the parties would begin to make unilateral concessions before they've even sat down at the conference table," Baker told CNN. He reiterated Washington's position that Israel should trade land for peace.

The Arabs want to regain the West Bank, Gaza Strip and Golan Heights — seized by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war. Shamir's governing Likud bloc has rejected a land-for-peace formula.

Oilman capitalizes on politics

By Chris Van Wagenen
Staff Writer

Like it or not, domestic oil and gas producers are part of a geo-political scene — a scene that is rapidly changing both at home and abroad.

For Tulsa-based Parking Drilling Co., some of those changes are starting to pay dividends, despite industry woes at home.

That's not the case abroad.

And certainly not the case at Partech, the company's Odessa drilling subsidiary, which these days is busier than ever.

"I know there's some gloom and doom in this part of the world, but Partech is the busiest place we have in the world," said Robert L. Parker, chairman and chief executive officer of the company that bears his name.

Senator apologizes for past misdeeds

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (NYT) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy went to the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University on Friday to discuss his future in politics, and to do so he stepped back and tried to address the hurdle of his past.

He apologized to his constituents in Massachusetts without specifying what he had done wrong in his private life, but he suggested that in the future he would mend his ways.

"I am painfully aware that the criticism directed at me in recent months involves far more than honest disagreements with my positions, or the usual criticism from the far right," he said steadily, looking up from his prepared text, over the heads of 800

Morales pushes prison proposal

By Debbie Lincecum

Approval of Proposition 4 Nov. 5 would be a "critical step" toward regaining state control of the prison system, Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said Friday.

At a Midland press conference, Morales urged voter support for the measure, one of 13 proposed constitutional amendments to be decided by the election. Early voting will continue next week at the Elections Administration Office, 709 W. Washington Ave. from 8 a.m.

United Way drive

The Allied Forces of the United Way's fall campaign will descend on Midland Park Mall today, with an agency fair in the former Peck & Peck storefront location in the west end of the mall. United Way-funded agencies will talk about the battles they fight against hunger, homelessness, abuse, illiteracy and the risks facing youths. The fair is designed to give people with questions about the United Way and the agencies it funds an opportunity to speak with representatives and to pick up pledge cards.

Call for calm

WARSAW, Poland — President Lech Walesa Friday accused the former Communists of trying to destabilize the country, and he called for calm ahead of the nation's first free parliamentary elections since 1947. About 70 parties are vying for the support of Poland's 27.6 million voters in Sunday's elections, and many voters are clearly confused by the choices. Despair about the slow pace of economic reform could lead many to stay home, according to some polls.

Hostage home

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesse Turner, held captive in the Middle East for 4½ years, returned to American soil with his family on Friday, still striving to maintain privacy in the most public of homecomings. The 44-year-old mathematics professor landed at O'Hare International Airport with his Lebanese-born wife, Badr, and their 4-year-old daughter, Joanne, on a flight from Frankfurt, Germany. Because Turner had requested privacy, he and his family were taken from the United Airlines flight to an undisclosed location to await their evening flight home to Boise, Idaho, airline spokesman Joe Hopkins said. Hours later, the Turners boarded a United flight to Boise. They were driven to the plane in a van, while reporters were kept inside the terminal. /9c

WEATHER SUMMARY

Chance of rain threatens

Staff Report

October may see its first precipitation during the final weekend of the month. Forecasters at the National Weather Service at Midland International Airport call for less than a 20 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms today and a 20 percent of rainfall on a cloudy Sunday.

The high temperature today is to be in the upper 70s, with winds southerly at 5 to 15 mph.

The low tonight is forecast near 50 degrees.

The high temperature Sunday should be in the mid-70s, NWS said.

The high on Friday was 81, after an overnight low of 58. The record high for Oct. 25 of 90 was set in 1950. The record low for today was set in 1932 when the mercury dipped to 33.

Average October rainfall is 1.41 inches.

STATE

It was cloudy and warm across Texas Friday, with thunderstorms forming in the north.

The activity developed in part due to warm moist air overrunning the relatively drier and cooler air north of a cold front across the northwest portion of the state.

Forecasters issued a severe thunderstorm watch for Friday night across the northwestern third of North Texas.

Winds ahead of the front were from the south and breezes were northerly behind the system. Speeds were 5 to 10 miles an hour.

Temperatures climbed into the 70s and 80s, but it was cooler behind the front. Readings at 3 p.m. ranged from 60 degrees at Dalhart to 64 degrees at Wichita Falls to 86 in Lufkin and 93 degrees at Harlingen and Laredo.

The forecast for North Texas was for continued cloudiness through Sunday with scattered showers and thunderstorms. Highs both days were to be in the upper 70s to mid 80s with lows in the mid 50s in the northwest to near 70 in the southeast.

West Texas was expected to have widely scattered afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms through Sunday over the South Plains, Permian Basin and Edwards Plateau. The Far West was to be mostly fair. Highs were expected in the 70s with lows mostly in the 50s.

Forecasters said South Texas would continue cloudy with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms. Highs will be in the 80s and 90s with lows in the 60s and 70s, officials said.

NATION

Heavy rainfall from thunderstorms dumped up to 10 inches of rain Friday on Oklahoma. Rainshowers were scattered over parts of the Midwest, the Plains and the Southeast.

Thunderstorms in the southeast corner of Oklahoma produced one-inch diameter hail and strong gusts near Battiest, Okla. There were reports of minor flooding near Calera, Okla.

Heavier overnight rainfall in the area included 10.5 inches near Clayton, Okla., and 9.6 inches the nearby southeastern Oklahoma town Broken Bow, Okla.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

Midland statistics

Tonight: Increasing cloudiness, 20 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms, low near 50.

Sunday: Mostly cloudy, 20 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms, high in the mid-70s.

REUNION: Oilman uses world change

(From 1A)

union at the Holiday Inn Country Villa Friday, said on most given days Partech crews can be seen constructing rigs for worldwide delivery.

Parker said when his company isn't flying rigs deep into the jungles of New Guinea, it's busy at home training everyone from the Soviets to the Chinese on well safety and drilling techniques at its Highway 80 plant site.

"And that's where we do it ... in Odessa," said Parker, whose business employs 1,700 workers and operates 123 rigs around the globe.

Although the pace at Partech is hectic, the same cannot be said for other oil and gas-related companies in West Texas and other areas of the U.S. where business has tailed off in recent months.

Parker suggested that George Bush should not be held totally accountable for the industry's headaches, noting there are other forces at work which the president has no control over.

He said Washington's so-called energy policy is one that embraces "cheap imports" in return for low inflation rates, "which keeps our weak economy as strong as it is."

Parker said that point became fairly evident following the decision to go to war with Iraq. "Energy has a real cost attached to it," he said. "The Arab world still calls the shots."

And that's why his drilling company and other larger corporations are engaged in foreign exploration and production.

Parker said the search is now on for those few remaining "elephants" or large fields that have yet been discovered outside the Middle East in order to give the U.S. other available energy options.

One example is a Parker rig drilling in Burma on a site the company's chairman described as Amoco Production Co.'s largest prospect in 18 years.

But Parker also is busy in other parts of the world.

In Western Siberia, the company now has three rigs up and running, with a contract with the Russian Republic to drill 500 oil and gas development wells. "We're replacing all the Soviet rigs and running them ... we're the only ones in the Soviet Union doing that at this time," he said.

While that's been beneficial for Parker, the same cannot be said for the Soviets, whose own oil and gas industry lags 40 years behind U.S. drilling technology.

That fact alone will mean more work for companies like Parker and the service sector, which could benefit from it in the long run.

Of course, much of that will depend on the political climate — a climate not even Parker, himself, was willing to speculate on.

MORALES: Prison needs top official's concern to 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

(From 1A)

Proposition 4 would approve issuance of $1.1 billion in bonds to build prisons with a total 25,300-bed capacity.

"I'm of the opinion none of the (propositions) is more important or more critical for the long-term interests of our state," Morales said. "We've got to attempt to do something to reduce and ultimately eliminate the early release problem we've been experiencing in our prisons."

Additionally, passage of the amendment would put the state in "the strongest legal posture" to remove federal control of state prisons, Morales said. A federal judge charged with supervision of state prisons imposed a 95 percent capacity limit on the facilities.

"I think 19 years (of federal control) is long enough," he said. "The state is fully prepared to take back control and operation of our prisons and restore that responsibility to the elected officials."

Morales' office is currently pursuing legal action to terminate the control of federal judges in the Texas prison system. He said voter support for Proposition 4 would strengthen the case of that motion.

"It will also put us in a place to begin establishing a corrections and criminal justice system that has greater regard for the rights of victims than those accused of crimes," he said.

State prisons are currently so overcrowded that felons often serve 10 or 20 percent of their sentences, according to the Texas Criminal Justice Policy Council. The council reports if no new prisons are authorized beyond those included in previous bond issues, the state will be 35,000 beds short in 1997.

But the proposition would build only 25,000 beds. Morales described it as a "first step."

"Once we have the opportunity to address the immediate crisis, the process can begin to discriminate between younger, first-time offenders and the more violent criminals who need to serve substantial portions of their sentences," he said. "There's no way we can begin that process without passage of this amendment."

Midland County Judge Charles W. "Bro" Seltzer said the Commissioner's Court has passed a resolution in support of the proposition, which would give relief to local prisons that are now housing state inmates.

"We've been housing TDC prisoners for which we haven't been paid, and at the same time, we've been unable to find space for federal prisoners, for which we would have been paid $40 a day," Seltzer said. "That situation has created a $1.4 million shortfall because the state's not been doing its job. The local taxpayers ended up paying for what the state wasn't doing."

Proposition 4 would authorize payment of $20 a day to county prisons for each state inmate held, Seltzer said.

Included in the provision is 12,000 beds designated for drug and alcohol abusers, a feature Morales said is designed to begin a new focus on rehabilitation.

"We need a recognition on the part of the state that rehabilitation efforts are necessary," he said. "It's not illegal to be addicted to drugs. But possession or distrubution is against the law and I won't support the decriminalization those offenses.

"We need to work with at-risk youth to reduce ... drug abuse," he said. "At-risk youth — that really is the next generation, and it's up to us to determine if they become productive, tax-paying members of society, or a drain on society."

The proposition has been criticized for its price tag, which would double to $2.2 billion over the 25-year bond repayment period. Operating the prisons is expected to cost $1 million a day as well.

"I know prisons are expensive, we all know prisons are very expensive," Morales said. "But I believe early release of criminals is even more costly."

Morales said if the amendment passes, he expects construction to begin immediately, with "some relief" for overcrowding available in 18 to 24 months. He said he expects keen competition for the prison sites throughout the state.

"As you know, the site location competition is vigorous," Morales said. "But I believe West Texas has much to offer."

Included in the plan is the purchase of abandoned military bases for prison sites.

RIGHTS: Senate, Bush reach jobs agreement

(From 1A)

result of a struggle that has been going on for two years, ever since decisions by the Supreme Court narrowed the rights of employees to sue in job discrimination cases.

Throughout, Bush has been at odds with congressional Democrats and some Republicans, including this year's leader in the compromise efforts, Sen. John C. Danforth of Missouri. Last year Bush vetoed a similar but stronger bill and has frequently attacked previous versions of the current measure as a "quota bill."

Last year's veto was upheld by a single vote in the Senate. Sen. George J. Mitchell, D-Maine, the majority leader, offered a blunt explanation Friday for Bush's acceptance of the compromise. "They were afraid of losing on a veto override," he said after the Democratic Caucus unanimously backed the bill.

John H. Sununu, Bush's chief of staff, disagreed sharply with Mitchell. He said in an interview that the administration's aim all along had been to avoid creating new legal definitions.

He said the administration negotiators had successfully avoided definitions that "would drive people into a quota mentality" and force employers to play it safe and impose racial quotas in an effort to avoid lawsuits over hiring and promotions.

The instant partisan sharpshooting suggested that it would be some time before the realization of the hope of many politicians that the agreement would cool the passions the bill had stirred over the last two years.

Senate passage is expected Monday or Tuesday. A tougher version passed the House in June, but with the president's support, the representatives are expected to accept the Senate bill.

The quota issue dominated arguments between the administration and Congress. They have fought over when businesses can impose hiring conditions that appear fair but discriminate in practice, as a height requirement that might discriminate against women.

The negotiators finally agreed that employment requirements must be "job related for the position in question and consistent with business necessity" without defining those terms further. Instead, they told the courts to interpret the law as they had before 1989, when the Supreme Court, in Wards Cove Packing vs. Atonio, it made it much easier for employers to defend such practices.

Both sides thus could claim a victory of sorts on the issue. But the result was a clear message that Congress wanted tougher standards than in Wards Cove — a message the Bush administration had never previously endorsed.

Under the compromise measure, cash damages would be allowed for the first time in cases of job discrimination based on sex. They are now available in cases of racial discrimination.

There would be no limits on damages for back pay and past out-of-pocket expenses like medical bills. But damages for pain and suffering and punitive damages would be limited, depending on how big an employer's work force was, $50,000 for small companies and $300,000 for large ones.

Democrats and a few Republicans had opposed the limits and threatened to try to amend the Danforth bill to eliminate them.

BUSH: President hopes for election benefits

(From 1A)

What GOP insiders have only half jokingly called Bush's "KKK strategy" for re-election next year — crime, quotas and Kuwait — will have to be readjusted.

Now, it's crime, Congress and Kuwait that may be used to counter a Democratic offensive over the economy.

"The quota issue is dead," said Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., after the White House agreed to a civil rights compromise Thursday night.

William Schneider, political analyst at the American Enterprise Institute, said the White House surrendered on the issue. "There ain't going to be a quota debate," he said.

GOP strategist Kevin Phillips said the administration "sees Congress bashing and scapegoating as pivotal to the strategy next year."

In an unusually harsh speech Thursday, Bush criticized the Senate for staging a "burlesque show" with the Thomas confirmation hearings that centered on lurid sexual harassment allegations against the black jurist.

He called on Congress to stop exempting itself from civil rights and other laws it passes and lit into the House and Senate as a "privileged class of rulers who stand above the law."

Friday, however, Bush was conciliatory during a news conference in accepting a compromise on long-stalled civil rights legislation that would make it easier for complaining workers to win discrimination lawsuits.

Just last year, Bush vetoed another version of the legislation because he said it would coerce employers into adopting racial quotas in order to escape expensive litigation brought by workers.

"I will not sign a quota bill," Bush has said repeatedly in recent months, tapping into what analysts believe is widespread resentment among white voters about affirmative action programs that have promoted racial minorities.

But recent events may have caused the White House to have second thoughts.

The Thomas nomination galvanized the nation's attention and raised White House hopes of making inroads next year among the black voters who backed the Thomas nomination. Analysts had said expected gains among black voters were threatened by the prospect of another Bush civil rights veto.

Bush has also been put into an uncomfortable position by the success of ex-Ku Klux Klan grand wizard David Duke, a Republican who made opposition to racial quotas a central campaign theme in the Oct. 19 Louisiana gubernatorial primary.

The White House has sought to disown Duke because of his "blatant racism" and Bush backed Gov. Buddy Roemer, a Democrat-turned-Republican who was elbowed by Duke out of next month's runoff with former Democratic Gov. Edwin Edwards.

There were also reports that Bush might lack the votes to prevail in another veto fight with Congress over the civil rights legislation that was backed by the president's chief ally in the Thomas nomination fight, Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo.

PEACE: Talks hit snags

(From 1A)

Another potential snag is Israel's call to move later rounds of talks to the Middle East, rather than keeping them in Madrid, as Syria wants.

Some in Israel, including prominent right-wing politician Benjamin Begin, have raised fears that the sponsors of the conference would try to impose solutions on the negotiators.

"For a peace to be permanent and durable, it must ensue from the region," said Begin, 48, a Parliament member from Shamir's hard-line Likud bloc.

The 14 Israeli delegates appointed by Shamir included close allies in Likud. Shamir asked the opposition Labor Party to appoint one representative to broaden the delegation, but Israel radio said he turned down the choice, reserve Gen. Binyamin Ben-Eliezer, as too liberal.

Shamir's office said the specific negotiating teams would not be named until Sunday, when a list of advisers also was expected to be announced.

Shamir spokesman Yossi Ahimeir said Israel would consider pulling out of the discussions if Palestinian delegates included Saeb Erekat, who said in an interview Thursday that his delegation "was chosen by the PLO."

Israel considers the Palestine Liberation Organization a terrorist group and refuses to deal with it. "We will not sit next to people we don't want to sit with, PLO people," Shamir's spokesman said. "We will consider our steps."

In a conciliatory move, Palestinian leader Faisal Husseini issued a statement complaining about unauthorized comments by Palestinian delegates, saying they were neither binding nor official.

Husseini, however, also renewed a demand repeatedly rebuffed by Israel — a freeze on settlements in the occupied lands.

"We cannot go to Madrid and keep the sword of settlements hanging over us," he told reporters as the 14 Palestinian delegates and 14 advisers left by bus to Jordan en route to the talks. In a traditional gesture, refugee women sprinkled departing delegates with rosewater.

In southern Lebanon, a rebel PLO faction on Thursday took over a key refugee camp outside Sidon to protest Arafat's acceptance of the peace talks. Palestinian sources said Friday that Arafat apparently would offer a pay hike to guerrillas of his mainstream Fatah faction to end the revolt.

KENNEDY: Senator discusses future

(From 1A)

members of the audience and straight into a bank of television cameras.

"It also involves the disappointment of friends and many others who rely on me to fight the good fight.

"To them I say: I recognize my own shortcomings — the faults in the conduct of my private life. I realize that I alone am responsible for them, and I am the one who must confront them." He added, "I believe that each of us as individuals must not only struggle to make a better world, but to make ourselves better, too."

It was the senator's first and only allusion to the damage his reputation had sustained in the wake of the Palm Beach scandal involving an accusation of rape against his nephew — and the way that reputation blunted his performance in the Judiciary Committee hearings on Prof. Anita F. Hill's accusations of sexual harassment against the Supreme Court nominee, Clarence Thomas.

Kennedy had been widely criticized and mocked by Republican adversaries and even fellow liberals. Even his closest friend across the aisle, Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, made a crack about the Chappiquiddick accident on the Senate floor, although he later apologized for it.

Kennedy received a 22 percent approval rating in a national Gallup Poll after the hearings adjourned — the lowest rating of any senator on the committee.

"He knew people had concerns and he felt it was important to address these concerns," said Paul Donovan, a spokesman for the senator. "He felt he owed it to the people of Massachusetts."

Kennedy's admission of "shortcomings" was tersely worded and unemotionally expressed, and had an entirely different ring than the pained, personal and uncertain speech he gave immediately after the accident at Chappiquiddick in 1969.

LOCAL/AREA REPORTS

Fatal injuries

Staff Report

ODESSA — An 18-year-old Odessan, Balvino Rodriquez, was fatally injured late Thursday night when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a van in the 2300 block of North West County Road, according to an Odessa Police Department spokesman.

Rodriquez, who suffered massive internal injuries, later died in Medical Center Hospital's emergency room.

Tammy Bernal, 17, a passenger on the motorcycle, was listed in critical condition late Friday night in the hospital's Intensive Care Unit.

Both were wearing helmets in the 11:30 p.m. Thursday accident.

Sandra Lara Lucero, the 34-year-old driver of the van, was not injured, police said.

The north-bound Lucero van was making a left-hand turn from West County Road when the south-bound Rodriquez motorcycle struck the van. Police said that the van driver failed to yield the right of way to the motorcyclist.

Man arrested

Dr. Howard Gregory Cooper, a 40-year-old Midland chiropractor, was arrested Friday for fraud following a six-month investigation by the Intelligence Unit of the Texas Department of Public Safety and by Midland special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He was released under bond later Friday following a hearing before U.S. Magistrate Robert Sykes.

Cooper, who operates Cooper Chiropractic Clinic at 4411 W. Illinois Ave., in Midland, has been charged by a federal grand jury on a six-count indictment for allegedly devising a scheme to defraud health insurance companies by submitting false medical claims through the mail.

Each count of the indictment carries a maximum five-year prison sentence and a $250,000 fine.

The indictment had been sealed until Friday afternoon.

Panhandle couple keep busy buying up used Levi's 501s

DALHART, Texas (AP) — A couple from this tiny Panhandle town has no interest in the shirt off your back — but they would gladly take your pants.

Deri and Mary Cribbs pay up to $10 a pair for used Levi's "501" Button-Fly Jeans and then sell the jeans to a West Coast exporter.

The Cribbs shut down their cattle business and sold their Dalhart home last summer for a life on the road purchasing used Levi's 501s.

The button-fly jeans are popular overseas, especially among European and Japanese youth, Mrs. Cribbs said.

"It's the mystique of the Old West," Mrs. Cribbs told the Amarillo Daily News.

Cribbs said the couple looks for jeans without tears or stains.

"We want a good, wearable jean. We don't mind the fade as much as we do the tears and the stains," he said.

"If we don't get them cleaned up, they just go to be recycled. Some of them just won't come clean."

John Pachtner, manager of corporate communications for Levi Strauss & Co. in San Francisco, said many entrepreneurs have entered the used jeans business. Pachtner added that 501s have attained almost a cult status in Japan.

"In some sense, it's flattering," he said. "We would hope every customer who sells a pair of used jeans goes out and buys a pair of new jeans — Levi's, of course."

Levi's sells a lot of new jeans through its European and Japanese subsidiary companies, Pachtner said.

"Our international business last year provided more than 50 percent of our profits."

The Cribbs set up shop in Luskey's Western Store in Amarillo earlier this week. They plan to keep moving throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico to collect as many 501s as they can.

Mrs. Cribbs said she has purchased everything from a pair of 48-inch waist, 34-inch inseam 501s to a 27-by-40-inch pair sold by a basketball player.

The couple paid one Amarillo man $171 for 42 pairs of 501 jeans, she said.

Niki Bulla of Amarillo sold five pairs of 501 jeans to the Cribbs for $20.

Insurance commissioner is resigning

AUSTIN (AP) — Philip Barnes on Friday submitted his resignation as Texas insurance commissioner, less than 10 months after being sworn in.

Barnes, 49, told the three-member State Insurance Board his resignation would take effect "at any date of the board's choosing" but no later than Dec. 31."

He said he wished to return to private business.

Barnes, who was hired as commissioner in December 1990, was sworn in Jan. 7, 1991. He replaced A.W. "Woody" Pogue, who asked to be reassigned for health reasons.

Barnes had been a principal in the Austin office of KPMG Peat Marwick, an international public accounting and management consulting firm which he joined in 1978. Previously, he was with Barnes & Co., a governmental consulting firm, and also had served as executive director of the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

"When I accepted this job last December, it was understood that I did not intend to make a career at the Texas Department of Insurance," Barnes said in a statement.

Claire Korioth, board chairwoman, said Barnes would be difficult to replace.

"Phil has made tremendous contributions to the agency and to the cause of strong, forceful regulation of the insurance industry," Ms. Korioth said. "His presence was crucial in reshaping the insurance laws of Texas."

"He has been a vital force in the development of the Texas Department of Insurance, including the strengthening of its Early Warning System," which identifies insurance companies with potential problems, she said.

Students stage walkout to show principal support

AUSTIN (AP) — About 100 Anderson High School students gathered outside the school district's central office Friday, the second day of protests over the resignation of the school's principal.

Ron Beauford, who was principal for nine years, left after disagreeing with assistant Austin Independent School District superintendent David Hill about a change in the school's International Baccalaureate curriculum, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

The program, based in Geneva, is being used at 430 schools throughout the world and became part of the Anderson honors curriculum this year.

"We want him to come back," said Sam Standley, a senior who gathered 71 signatures on a petition for Beauford's return.

Sgt. Sam Ballard of the AISD police said that the students were cooperative during the demonstration.

About 200 to 300 of the school's 1,340 students also staged a brief walkout Thursday, said acting principal Darrel Baker.

On Friday, students attending a pep rally stayed in the gymnasium for about 10 minutes after it ended to show their feelings, then went on to class, he said.

The students will not be punished for this week's demonstrations, although they will have to bear any consequences for absences, Baker said. For example, he said, a student with more than five absences loses credit for coursework and must petition to have the credit restored.

"We're not being heavy-handed ... Of course the kids miss him (Beauford), and they're upset," Baker said.

Steven DePaz, 17, was among the students who left school Thursday in protest of Beauford's resignation.

"He's more than a principal, he's like a friend," DePaz said.

Hill said that Beauford's resignation after 35 years with the district surprised him.

The controversy was sparked when some parents complained that the tough courses were causing their ninth-graders to get poor grades, the American-Statesman reported.

The parents also were concerned that in the new program, students would take world history and physical science in the ninth grade instead of world geography and biology.

Beauford's solution was to allow students to transfer to the courses they wanted, the newspaper reported. He said the solution was the result of collaboration among administrators, teachers and parents.

Hill said he at first agreed to the idea, but later decided it would not be wise to allow the switch.

On Thursday, Superintendent Jim Hensley announced that he had appointed an interim principal at Anderson, Jacqueline McGee.

Ex-chief protected murder suspect

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A former Norman police detective says his boss in 1970 tried to protect another police officer who had become a suspect in a double murder case.

Floyd Nash, former chief of Norman's detectives, testified Friday in the murder trial of Frank Edward Gilley, another former Norman officer charged with killing two young people on a rural lover's lane in 1970.

Nash told the jury he began to suspect Gilley a month after Sheryl Benham, 19, and David Sloan, 21, were found shot to death in the trunk of Sloan's car.

He said Gilley had been assigned to patrol in the area where the students were killed, and had failed to report Sloan's missing car, which could be seen easily from the road.

But he said he encountered immediate resistance from then police Chief Bill Henslee.

"Henslee told me to lay off and that he (Gilley) had nothing to do with the crime," Nash said.

"I think Bill Henslee was trying to divert the direction of the investigation," Nash testified.

Nash told the jury he burglarized the chief's office in search of Gilley's personnel information but found only Gilley's fingerprint card. He said attempts to match Gilley's prints to prints in Sloan's car failed.

Henslee, now a police chief in Spencer, also will testify in the trial.

Gilley worked as a deputy sheriff in Potter County, Texas, during the 1960s. Henslee, a former Texas Ranger in the Amarillo area, had known Gilley then.

Texan pleads guilty to oil investment scam

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A Texas man pleaded guilty Friday in federal court in Biloxi to securities fraud involving a multi-million dollar oil and gas investment scam.

Ronald T. Burks, 45, of Houston entered th plea before U.S. District Judge Walter J. Gex III. Gex deferred sentencing until January 1992 pending completion of a presentence report.

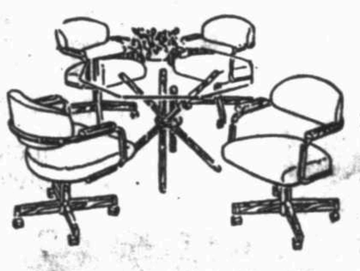

Burks faces a maximum of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Burks were among four men indicted for operating the investment scam along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Federal prosecutors said the investments involved oil and gas wells in Nevada, Texas, Oklahoma and Mississippi.

Richards calls for Texas-Mexico high tech venture

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Texas and Mexico should become an important high technology team under a North American Free Trade pact, Texas Gov. Ann Richards told reporters Friday after meeting with Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari.

"We can make Texas and Mexico on the cutting edge of goods not currently being produced anywhere else," Richards told reporters at Los Pinos, the presidential residence.

Richards, who is travelling with a delegation of Texas government and business officials, said Texas and Mexico should develop industrial corridors linking Mexico's northern industrial center of Monterrey to San Antonio in south Texas.

A corridor filled with plants producing copper, steel, glass and ceramics "will allow us to use our historic strengths" to produce superconductive materials that will be in great demand in the future, Richards said.

The governor said such cross-border industrial regions would be strategically located in the center of the largest trading bloc in the world under the free trade pact now being negotiated.

She said two days of talks with top government officials and businessmen "have provided a good framework of future relations with Mexico." The governor also spoke on the need to integrate and improve education and environmental efforts on both sides of the border.

She said the free trade agreement is an opportunity to resolve serious air, water and soil pollution along the border caused by rapid industrial expansion that has outpaced sewage, housing, transport and other services.

"The border highways that lead to Mexico will be a priority during my administration," said Richards.

Richards praised the Mexican government for "making specific commitments both in projects and dollars for the environment" along the border. She said she hoped the Mexican initiative will prompt the U.S. government to make an equal commitment.

In a meeting this morning with Salinas, the governor said she talked about possible collaboration between Texas academics and professionals with Mexican institutions and industry.

Richards will also visit the important industrial cities of Guadalajara and Monterrey before returning home.

Commissioner's arrest handling angers residents

SPUR, Texas (AP) — Residents of this West Texas ranching community are outraged over the handling of the arrest of a Dickens County Commissioner who has been charged in the hit-and-run death of a 14-year-old boy.

Dickens County Commissioner Vernon Wright, 74, has been charged with one count of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Jesse Land on Oct. 13.

Police reports indicate Wright was under the influence of alcohol when his pickup truck allegedly struck Land.

Residents were alarmed to learn that Spur police chief Woody Woodward pulled Wright over immediately after the accident because the commissioner was swerving across the road.

But after concluding that Wright was under the influence of alcohol, Woodward did not administer any sobriety tests and simply had an officer drive Wright home, according to a sworn statement by Woodward.

Woodward found out later that Wright was a suspect in Land's death.

Asked if Wright's position as a county commissioner may have influenced his decision to release Wright, Woodward replied, "Possibly."

"As far as preferential treatment, I will say this, we have a mess in Dickens County," said Spur area resident Coy Overstreet. "We have got a little clique going in this arrest. And the clique needs to be gotten rid of."

Residents were also upset that Wright was given only a $3,000 bond and was allowed to turn himself into authorities in Plainview.

Senate begins hearing testimony on psychiatric hospitals

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A 74-year-old man whose wife spent a month in a North Texas psychiatric hospital said Friday that she would have died if he hadn't removed her from the institute.

Major Harper told a Texas Senate panel investigating psychiatric hospital care that a staff member at Psychiatric Institute of Fort Worth threatened him that the facility would get a court order to keep the woman extra days when he demanded her release. Harper says he was billed more than $30,000 for his wife's stay.

"I wouldn't put a dog in that place if it's still run the way it was when my wife was there. My wife would have died within a week if I hadn't gotten her out," Harper said.

An invoice Harper showed Sen. Chris Harris, a member of the Senate Interim Committee on Health and Human Services, showed a total of $93,584.16 for all charges related to the 31-day stay at the institute. Harper had earlier produced a bill for the hospital stay totaling 38,714.18.

Harris told Harper that the financial statements he provided would be referred to the FBI for review.

Harper said his wife, who was billed $575 daily for her hospital stay, developed painful shingles while at the institute. He also said he could only find one compassionate nurse to help at the facility, and she worked only weekends.

"No one believes the hurt that she went through," he said. "But she almost had to crawl up the hallway to get medication."

But the psychiatric hospital chain accused of subjecting patients to unnecessary treatment told the state Senate panel investigating the industry Friday that it has been providing quality care.

Washington, D.C.-based Psychiatric Institutes of America, the parent company of the Fort Worth facility, called the allegations unfair.

"PIA has been hurt by these allegations. Our reputation has been damaged unfairly. We have been hurt in terms of lost patients but also because professionals and agencies who have referred patients to us in the past are now afraid to do so," the company said in a seven-page statement.

"We do not wish anyone who sought services at one of our facilities to feel victimized," PIA said in the statement. "However, there are other potential victims out there who also deserve our concern.

"We refer to those people in critical need of mental health services who will not seek them because of the publicity surrounding the various allegations. In the best of times, the still-pervasive stigma of mental illness inhibits these people from obtaining needed care."

The company said it was conducting its own internal investigation.

In the committee's opening statements, Harris detailed reasons for the hearings.

In September, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock "appointed us to conduct a study of psychiatric care facilities in response to a number of allegations, including reports of apprehension and detention of individuals, along with their treatment and its cost," Harris said.

Another of the 58 witnesses who registered to testify at the hearing, Juanita Strange of Longview, said her son Mickey was hospitalized 23 days at a San Antonio psychiatric hospital at a total cost of more than $20,000.

Mrs. Strange and her husband, Art, said their son's treatment was neglected at the hospital, and it almost destroyed their family.

The couple sidestepped a Tyler doctor's recommendation to treat their son for three months at the hospital. Mrs. Strange said every time her son telephoned her, he said he wanted to come home.

Florida teenager returned to parents

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Florida teen-ager reported missing after having crossed the border into Mexico has been returned to his parents, authorities said Friday.

The boy and a companion, both 15, arrived in Brownsville on Wednesday afternoon following a drive from their hometown of Tampa, Fla., said Cameron County Sheriff's Sgt. Luis Martinez.

The boys had taken a car without permission.

"They drove to the mouth of the river, parked the car and swam across the river," Martinez said. "One decided to come back, the other one kept going."

The boys identities were being withheld because they are juveniles, Martinez said. Their motive for the trip is not entirely clear, he added.

Authorities picked up the boy who stayed behind late Wednesday. The other boy was taken in by a Mexican fisherman late Wednesday night and turned over to Mexican authorities sometime Thursday.

Texas town kicks off Columbus celebration

N.Y. Times News Service

In fourteen hundred and ninety-two, when Columbus sailed the ocean blue, history records that the hull of his ship dropped anchor many miles from Columbus, Texas.

Nevertheless, that's where the state's first official celebration of the 500th anniversary of Christopher Columbus' encounter with the New World will be held this weekend.

And if tours of historic sites and stage performances of a melodrama don't bring to mind the explorer, keep in mind that this celebration in Columbus — about 75 miles west of Houston — is more for the town than for the man whose name it bears.

It doesn't even matter that historians argue over whether Columbus was the first to cry "Land, ho!" in America, an organizer of the Quincentennial event said this week.

"His life and the fact that he made this journey actually touched all parts of the world," said Lil Stallman, co-chairwoman of the Columbus Texas Quincentennial Commission. "So it all depends on which side of the fence you want to be."

And most of the 5,000 residents of Columbus and its surrounding trade area definitely sit on the side of Columbus, Stallman said.

"Whether people have accepted it or not, how can you look at something that's generally accepted as the man who came in here and changed a lot, and question it?" she asked.

The Quincentennial Commission has invited about 200 dignitaries, many of them from the town's 18 international sister cities, and some from other cities and towns also named Columbus.

Organizers of the so-called "New World Weekend" this weekend hope it will attract about 2,000 visitors. They also hope that reporters will discover the town and its prospects for tourism.

"That's our main purpose, is to let the news media see what we're trying to do," Stallman said.

The events began Friday night at the newly restored 105-year-old Opera House with a performance of "Run Into the Roundhouse, Nellie! He Can't Corner You There," a melodrama by Neil Badders. The play also runs at 8 p.m Saturday with ticket prices at $8 for adults and $4 for school-age children.

Saturday's offerings also include a walking tour of historic sites from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., including the Alley Log Cabin Museum, the 1870s-period Gant House, the United Daughters of the Confederacy Museum and the second largest registered live oak tree in the nation. The tour will be held again at the same time Sunday.

The state's oldest stagecoach and other antique wagons and surreys will be available for photographs throughout the afternoon.

At 3 p.m. Saturday, Columbus' Texas Army Campsite Park will be dedicated in a ceremony featuring musket and cannon fire by the Texas Army and the Black Powder Group, whose members re-create pre-1840s life, with costumes, weapons and gear.

Sunday's events include a 9 a.m. parade, with participants in 19th-century garb, and a "New World Inaugural Ceremony," featuring the raising of the six flags of Texas.

Attorney kept on MHMR case by federal judge

DALLAS (AP) — An attorney will continue to represent about 2,000 mentally retarded state school residents despite a protest from a client's family, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders ruled Thursday that Philadelphia attorney David Ferleger will remain the plaintiffs' attorney in a 17-year-old lawsuit concerning inadequate care for the retarded.

The request to remove Ferleger came two weeks ago from John and Ruth Lelsz, parents of one of the plaintiffs Ferleger represents.

John Lelsz Jr., now an adult who lives at Richmond State School near Houston, is the chief plaintiff in the 1974 class-action lawsuit known as Lelsz v. Kavanagh.

Lelsz's parents wanted Ferleger removed because they said the attorney "no longer speaks for or represents" their interests.

The couple has criticized Ferleger for his role in negotiations for a proposed settlement scheduled to be heard by Sanders Nov. 25.

The case against the Texas Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation charges the agency with providing inadequate care for mentally retarded residents in Texas' 13 state schools.

Ferleger, who represents about 2,000 of the more than 7,000 mentally retarded residents in state schools, has worked on the case for the past 10 years.

A settlement was reached in August by Ferleger, MHMR and Advocacy Inc., an activist group.

If approved by Sanders, the settlement would call for the closing of two of the 13 state schools. Residents in the closed facilities would be moved into the community or transferred to other state schools.

The settlement also would gradually eliminate court-ordered monitoring of state schools.

The couple contends the state will not honor its obligations to the mentally retarded without active court involvement and say Ferleger has shown "consistent indifference" to their concerns.

Rebs ice playoff berth

Lee's 39-14 win over OHS assures another trip to postseason

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

The District 4-5A football race may still have some unfinished business in the order of official finish, but the race for state playoff berths ended Friday night with two weeks still left to play in the season.

Midland Lee's Rebels vaulted into the playoffs for the ninth consecutive season with a 39-14 win over Odessa High's Bronchos. San Angelo also landed the Big School berth with a 34-0 victory over Abilene Cooper. Unbeaten Odessa Permian at 4-0 in league play, the same as San Angelo, will join Lee in the Small School bracket.

"This is just a tribute to these players and my coaches," said Lee coach Earl Miller, who is in his sixth season at the Rebel helm. "Who would ever believe that we would have six playoff berths in a row. It's really something special."

The Lee players, too, knew the importance of victory number seven on the year.

"It's really great to come out and win a game when you don't know how it's going to come out," said Lee tight end Jeb Honeyman. "It's a great feeling to keep the tradition alive."

Linebacker James Ward also felt the tradition aspect was the important factor in the victory.

"We're just proud to keep up the tradition. We're expected to make the playoffs," Ward said.

Offensive center K.C. Jones kept it simple and to the point, "We're going."

The game was somewhat closer than the score would indicate, but Lee vaulted to a 25-0 lead after a slow start only to see the scrappy Bronchos jump back into the game with back-to-back touchdowns in the third and fourth periods of play to cut the lead to 25-14.

After a scoreless first period, Sherman Dedrick gained 47 yards in a 90-yard drive for a 6-0 lead. Then fullback Scott McLeod busted a 55-yard run to set up Dedrick's six-yard TD, his second of the night. McLeod didn't score, but was the only back of the night to break 100 yards with 104 in only eight carries.

Fullback Roy Robinson got two third period TDs with a 16-yard run and turned in a short flat pass from Jimmy Patton into a 65-yard TD and a 25-0 lead.

The key to beating Odessa was limiting 4-5A's leading rusher Brad Givens to a meager 10 yards rushing. OHS quarterback Erik Hartman took up some of the slack with 301 passing yards, including a 61-yard scoring strike to Davorick Taylor.

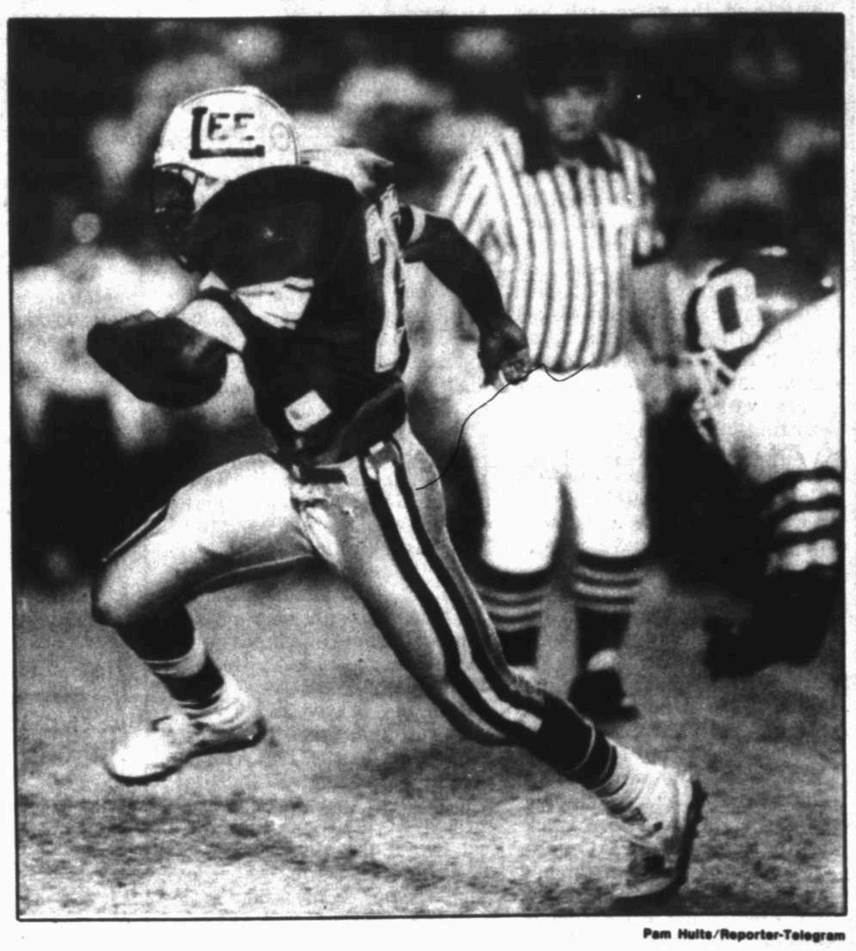

"We planned to have more of an inside game and pass the ball, but we couldn't run inside and that gave Lee a monster advantage," said Broncho first year head coach Bill Barron.

"We broke down some on the passing game, but we were ready for the run," said Lee linebacker Ward while defensive lineman Thomas Boyce added, "They hurt us on some trick plays."

And one trick was a 75-yard, fourth down TD romp by Eric McDaniel with 7:20 left in the third quarter.

"At that point, we felt we were in striking distance," Barron said. "We needed one more big defensive play and

'Dogs prevent Mojo rout

■ Midland High may be 0-8, but it accomplished Friday what no other District 4-5A team has been able to do when it scored the first two offensive touchdowns of the season against playoff-bound Permian.

ODESSA — Depending on your perspective, it was either Midland High's best football game of the year or Odessa Permian's worst. Or maybe a combination of both.

No. 3 Permian clinched one of District 4-5A's three postseason berth's with a 38-13 win over the still winless Bulldogs here Friday at Ratliff Stadium, but MHS (0-8) came away with at least some consolation.

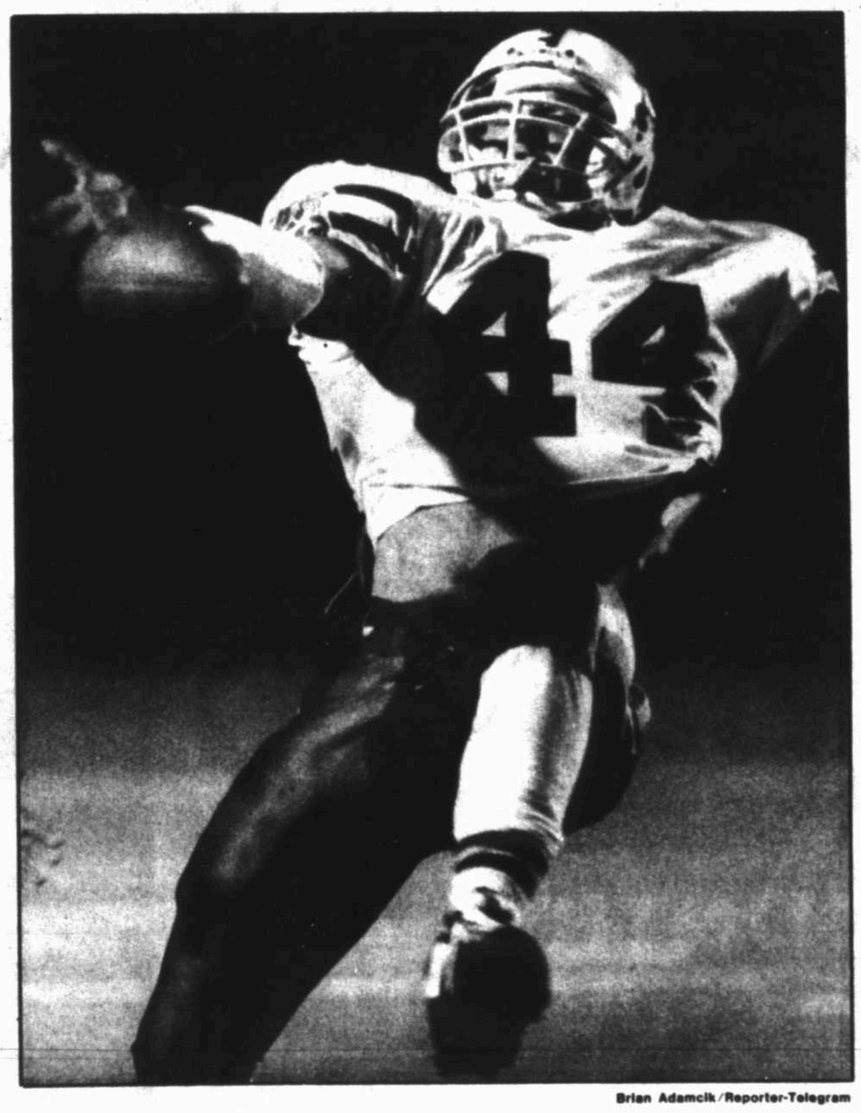

The 'Dogs scored the only two offensive touchdowns in district play against 8-0 Permian, and increased their season TD total from three to five. They also amassed 255 yards total offense, and the 25-point margin is closest anyone has played Mojo this season.

The previous closest game against the Panthers was a 35-6 Permian win against Tyler John Tyler, the last team to score an offensive TD against Permian.

Granted, MHS accomplished most of those feats in the fourth quarter against a constant stream of replacements from the Permian sideline, but at this point the 'Dogs will take what they can get.

"The kids played hard the whole game, and they haven't scored just a whole lot of points this year (now 40)," said MHS head coach Davis Corley in explanation the 'Dogs' postgame jubilation.

No. 5 Rotan topples Bearkats

By Joe Wyatt
Staff Writer

GARDEN CITY — It was as much a meeting of the minds as it was a collision between two Class A powerhouses, as the fifth-ranked Rotan Yellowhammers rose up and struck No. 1 Garden City a 27-13 blow before a crowd of nearly 3,000 standing-room-only fans here Friday night.

While Rotan head coach Pat Ward used one fleet-footed running back to lure the Bearkats away from another, Garden City became its own worst enemy, committing 10 penalties — several on mental errors at the line of scrimmage — for 64 yards.

And while two second-half fumbles by the Bearkats hurt their cause even more, it was Ward's use of his speedsters that may have been the difference as Garden City suffered its first loss since last year's state quarterfinals.

With the Bearkats zeroing in on Rotan halfback David Daniel, Yellowhammer quarterback Eric Smith got loose for 135 yards on 15 carries, including touchdowns of 67 and 15 yards. By the time Garden City found a way to stop Smith, Daniel burst out of the gates for 141 yards and second half TD runs of three and 38 yards.

"We'd been holding Eric (Smith) down and not running him in preparation for this ball game because we knew they were going to be keying on David Daniel," said Ward after his Yellowhammers upped their record to 8-0, 4-0 in District 9A.

"They (Bearkats) manhandled us in the first half, but we felt like they were giving us off tackle and our speed finally got loose in the second half."

In fact, had this one ended at the half, Garden City would still be undefeated. The Bearkats grabbed a 7-6 lead on James Soles' first of two TDs with seven seconds left to play in the second quarter.

But high school football calls for four full quarters and the third one was a crusher for Garden City.

Smith scored on a 15-yard scramble to cap Rotan's first drive of the second half, and Daniel added a three-yard scoring run with just over a minute left in the third quarter as the Yellowhammers mounted a 21-7 advantage that the Bearkats were unable to match.

"We just made too many mistakes and they killed us offensively," said Scott, whose Bearkats dropped to 6-1 and 2-1 in District 9A. "We made mistakes we're not accustomed to making.

"But I've never been more proud of a bunch of players than I am of this

Sweetwater stops Steers cold

Big Spring sees 14 game district win streak halted

By Tom Ruiz
MRT Correspondent

BIG SPRING — The Big Spring Steers went from District 3-4A leader to playoff hopeful with its 35-7 loss to the Sweetwater Mustangs Friday night.

The loss also snapped the Steers' 14-game district winning streak which had stretched over two seasons.

Because Sweetwater has already beaten Monahans, the win over the Steers put them in a great position for a playoff spot. Their only loss in loop play has been to Andrews.

Mustangs coach Tom Ritchey credited his players for making a great comeback after their heartbreaking loss to Andrews two weeks ago. Since that loss the Mustangs have allowed only one touchdown and have scored 80 points in two outings.

"After we lost the tough one (game) to Andrews our kids responded by working harder. They wanted to get back into this race, this is all their doing," he said.

The key to the Mustang win was taking advantage of great field position and making impact plays. Big Spring was in trouble early when the Mustangs went on a swift 57-yard scoring drive to open the game.

Quarterback David Ritchey finished off the drive on nifty 22-yard touchdown pass to James Moore.

Moore would also pass for a 39-yard TD pass early in the third quarter.

After the game's initial score, however, both defenses dug in.

The Big Spring defense held Sweetwater's top three backs to a combined 51 yards through the first half.

But it was Moore who was a thorn in the Steers's side all night long. Midway through the second period, he returned a punt 61 yards for a SW 14-0 lead.

One possession later, the Mustangs were knocking on the Big Spring door again as fullback Pete Ortega bulled in from one-yard out for a 21-0 halftime lead.

The late first half TD by Sweetwater took some of the bite out of the Steers, but Moore's early third quarter score flattened the Steers for good.

"I felt like that those two scores were the ones that really

Series shifts to Metrodome for wild finale

Associated Press

■ Atlanta Braves at Minnesota Twins, 7 p.m., CBS.

MINNEAPOLIS — A day after one of the bigger routs ever in the World Series, the Atlanta Braves and Minnesota Twins dismissed the mismatch and said it meant nothing.

At least, that's what they said.

"I really believe my players, after five to seven minutes, forget about the games," Twins manager Tom Kelly said during Friday's off day. "You ask them what the score was and they don't know. I even lost count."

Well, in case he needs reminding, here's what happened Thursday night: the Braves set a record for most runs by an NL team in a World Series game and established another mark with 34 total bases in blasting Minnesota 14-5.

The Braves rolled up the biggest Series score since the New York Yankees trounced Pittsburgh 16-3 in 1960 and, more importantly, took a 3-2 edge in games.

"Whenever we lose, we try to forget about it, too," David Justice, who homered and drove in five runs for Atlanta, said Friday. "I think that's a good thing to do. But we hope the game carries over."

Steve Avery, the NL playoff MVP, will try to win Atlanta's first World Series championship when he faces Scott Erickson in Game 6 Saturday night.

Avery and Erickson pitched against each other in Game 3, and neither got a decision in Atlanta's 5-4 victory in 12 innings. Avery gave up four hits in seven innings, while Erickson was knocked out in the fifth inning.

"These people have pitched an awful lot of innings," Kelly said. "You can't be surprised when they get tired."

Kelly's bullpen is also a little fatigued. Since Rick Aguilera gave up the winning run in Game 3, ending a streak of 27 2-3 Series innings without an earned run given up by Twins relievers since 1987, Minnesota's bullpen has allowed 13 earned runs and 15 hits in 7 1-3 innings.

To win this weekend, the Braves will need to overcome Twin peaks: they'll be playing at the Metrodome, and against history.

The Twins are 6-0 in World Series games in the dome, including two victories last week.

"I think we improved a lot over the first game we played there," Avery said.

Justice agreed, saying some of the horror stories the Braves had heard simply weren't so.

"When we first came here, we were told that you can't take your eye off the ball and that you can't hear," Justice said. "It's true, you can't hear. But you can take your eye off the ball for a moment when it's on the way down. Just don't do it when the ball is going up."

Justice and second baseman Mark Lemke botched the first ball of Game 2 when Lemke couldn't see it, then couldn't hear Justice calling for it.

But the teams seemed to reverse roles in Atlanta, where the Braves won two close games before ending their home season with Thursday night's bash.

Both the Braves and Twins are aware that this is the same scenario as in the 1987 World Series. That time, Minnesota won the first two at home, lost three at St. Louis and took the last two at the Metrodome.

"It's the only thing I've got to fall back on," Kelly said.

Justice said he had talked earlier in the day with Terry Pendleton, who played for St. Louis in that World Series, about what happened.

"He mentioned it," Justice said. "But to me, that's a negative focus.

"I think the Twins are a better team at home. We know that. But I think — no, I know we can win one of the last two."

Besides, the Braves have been through this before.

Last week, they went into Pittsburgh facing a 3-2 deficit in the NL playoffs. Avery won Game 6 and John Smoltz shut out the Pirates in Game 7 to bring Atlanta its first pennant.

"Since we've already done it, we know we can do it again," Justice said.

Klingler returns against A&M

Associated Press

SWC Report

The Slinger is back and he'll be needed Saturday when the University of Houston tries to crack the Texas Aggies' Kyle Field stranglehold over the Cougars.

David "The Slinger" Klingler will return as Houston's starting quarterback after missing a game and a half because of an inner-ear infection that affected his equilibrium.

But Klingler's return won't insure a victory over the Aggies (4-1, 2-0), one of only two remaining unbeaten teams in SWC play. Arkansas (5-2, 4-0) has an open date this week.

The No. 13 Aggies have an 11-1-2 record against the Cougars at Kyle Field. The last time Houston beat the Aggies in College Station was 1979 en route to the Cotton Bowl.

The Aggie defense has been adept at gumming up the Cougars' run-and-shoot machinery.

"The things that we do for this game are part of our regular package," Texas A&M coach R.C. Slocum said. "It's true, you can't hear. But you can take your eye off the ball for a moment when it's on the way down. Just don't do it when the ball is going up."

In other games: Rice (3-3, 1-2) is at Texas Tech (2-4, 1-2); Texas (2-3, 1-1) is at Southern Methodist (1-5, 0-4) and Texas Christian (5-1, 2-1) is at Baylor (5-2, 2-2).

Houston leads the nation in passing offense, averaging 363.8 yards per game, but the Aggie defenders have been able to shut down the passing attack. Houston won last year's game 36-31 in the Astrodome.

"The significance of this game is such that a victory could throw us back into the SWC picture and put everything back in doubt throughout the rest of the league," Houston coach John Jenkins said.

Houston's Roman Anderson is tied with Indiana running back Anthony Thompson for the NCAA career scoring lead with 394 points. A&M quarterback Bucky Richardson needed 160 yards to break the SWC quarterback rushing record of 1,974 yards by Texas' Marty Akins, 1972-75.

Houston's Freddie Gilbert leads the nation in receiving with an average of 10 per game, and Marcus Grant is tied for ninth with an average of six catches per game.

TCU coach Jim Wacker anticipates a rugged time against Baylor's rushing attack, which ranks 12th nationally, averaging 250.7 yards per game. TCU leads the SWC in defense against the rush with a 98.3 per game average.

"We haven't seen a strong running attack like Baylor has," Wacker said. "So team stats can be misleading. We've got our work cut out for us."

The Bears have lost two straight games against Rice and Texas A&M.

"There'll be a bunch of angry Bears in Waco," Wacker said.

Baylor's J.J. Joe ranks eighth nationally in passing with an average of 153.7 yards per game.

CLASH: Rotan backs hard for the Bearkats to contain

ɔunch, they way they kept battling back even in the fourth quarter. These kids have character. They'll cry all night and hurt, but Monday they'll hold their heads up and get back to work."

The Bearkats never gave up. They forced Rotan to punt with five minutes left in the game, and Soles — who led the offense with 136 yards on 26 totes — finished off an eight-play, 55-yard drive with a five-yard TD run that narrowed the lead to 21-13 with 2:30 to play.

"I'll tell you this," Ward said, "Garden City is a great team. I don't want to see them again. Let somebody else play them."

But when Garden City's onside kick was recovered by a Yellowhammer, Daniel covered 57 yards in just two plays to put it out of reach. The senior sprinter picked up 19 yards on first down, then scored on a 38-yard burst down the left sideline.

Yellowjackets rock Greenwood, 18-12

By Doug Stewart
MRT Correspondent

GREENWOOD — The Kermit Yellowjackets sprinted to a three-touchdown lead and held off a late fourth quarter drive to upset Greenwood 18-12 in a tough District 6-3A battle Friday night.

The victory is the first in seven attempts for Kermit as they improve to 1-5-1 overall and 1-1-1 in district play. The Rangers take a disheartening loss for the second week in a row as they fall to 4-4 with just one district win.

Quarterback Brandon Heiser took advantage of a Greenwood team that came out flat in the first half as he threw for touchdown strikes of 13 and 72 yards and also scrambled eight yards for a third TD. Despite being heavily penalized and constantly yielding good field position, the Yellowjacket defense would come up with the big play as they stopped Greenwood on four out of five fourth down attempts. Heiser twice burned the Ranger secondary on deep passes of 66 and 72 yards

Senior Nathan Moore twice pushed the ball into Yellowjacket territory with kick returns of 23 and 58 yards. The Greenwood offense, however, could only take advantage of one of several opportunities as Joe Kilgore scored on a fourth and goal from the one with just 1:47 left in the half.

"They got after us and beat us on the key plays," said a frustrated Greenwood head coach Bob Purser.

Moore led the Rangers in a spirited second half comeback attempt as he sacked Heiser on the first two plays of the third quarter and ripped the ball away from running back Ray Carrasco on the Yellowjackets' second possession of the half to give Greenwood the ball at the Kermit 25. The ensuing drive would come up one yard short as wide receiver Ted Flowers' diving catch of a low throw from QB Irvin Welch was not be enough to break the plane of the goal line and make it a tie game. Welch, who did not complete a pass in the first half, finished with 4-14 passing for 68 yards while throwing one costly interception at the Kermit 13 yard line with 1:01 left in the game.

Kermit head coach Bruce Mitchell saw his squad play well in a 6-6 tie against Colorado City last week. "You think a winless team would be happy to settle for a tie, but our guys we're really disappointed last week. We felt we should have won that game and we were determined to bounce back and play well this week," said Mitchell.

Mitchell anticipated the second-half barrage by the Rangers. "Greenwood is coached extremely well and I knew Bob would have his team playing tougher than ever in the second half so I told my guys that they would have to respond and they did, they made things happen."

Kermit allowed the Rangers to stay in the game by not adding a PAT or two-point conversion on any of the three touchdowns, fumbling the ball away twice, and putting a 12 yard punt out of bounds to give the ball back to Greenwood at its own 37 with 1:10 left to play. In the end, however, it would be the Yellowjackets that would hold on to spoil Greenwood's homecoming.

Dodgers release three veterans

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will not make an effort to re-sign second baseman Juan Samuel, shortstop Alfredo Griffin or catcher Gary Carter for the next season, Dodgers vice president Fred Claire said.

Claire said Wednesday he has informed all three potential free agents that they will not be offered contracts.

"We have spent a lot of time talking about the direction of the club, and we feel this is the way to go," said Claire, who attended last weekend's organizational meetings in Mesa, Ariz.

"Young players have emerged through our system, and we feel we should give them a chance. Players like Alfredo, Juan and Gary have been very valuable to our organization. None of the calls are easy. But we have to set a course for where we are going."

Griffin, who will be replaced by Jose Offerman, battled injuries during the season to hit .243. Carter, who will be replaced as backup catcher by Carlos Hernandez, batted .246 with six homers and 26 RBIs.

Samuel's position will most likely be taken by a combination of Lenny Harris and Mike Sharperson.

Samuel was the club's best player in the first half of the season with a .313 average, nine homers and 43 RBIs. But in the second half, he batted .223, hit three homers and 15 RBIs.

STEERS: Mustangs win a big one broke Big Spring," Ritchey said.

The touchdowns also frustrated the Steers. On three occasions during Sweetwaters's last scoring drive, Big Spring was called for three personal fouls. Those 45 yards helped Sweetwater's 62 yard scoring march.

Big Spring did find some consolation in this game. On the Steers' final possession of the game, they went 71 yards for their lone score. The final 46 of those yards came on a spinning run by Darius Hill.

On the run, Hill spun in and out of the arms of three Sweetwater defenders before finally crossing into the endzone.

The loss leaves the Steers at 6-1, 2-1. Sweetwater goes to 6-1, 3-1.

The Steers will be at Pecos next week, Sweetwater entertains San Angelo Lakeview.

MHS: Hamilton's 90 yards leads all rushers

(From 1B)

While MHS left the artificial turf at Ratliff feeling better about itself, Permian fans may have been a little disappointed that Mojo's defense was no longer perfect in district.

"It was a game that was hard to get motivated for early and Midland High played extra hard. They were more physical than we thought they were going to be," said Permian head coach Tam Hollingshead.

Despite MHS' unwillingness to bow down to the third-ranked team in the state, the Bulldogs were outmatched from the start.

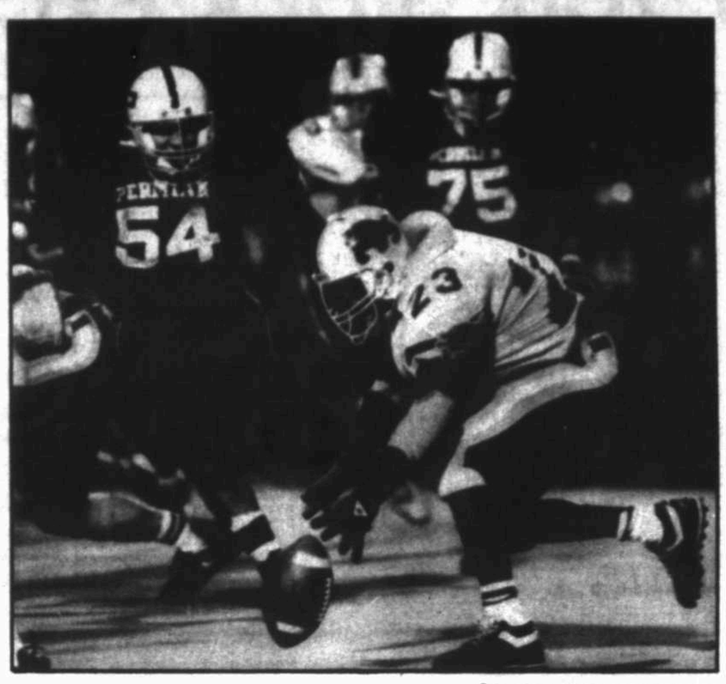

Shane Wells got the Panther scoring started with 8:13 on the first-quarter clock, kicking a 32-yard field goal. Touchdown runs of nine and five yards by Permian tailback Malcolm Hamilton, who was the games leading rusher with 90 yards, saw the first quarter end with the Panthers ahead 17-0.

The second quarter's scoring consisted of a 44-yard dash down the left sideline by Permian sophomore John Williams, and an 18-yard pass from Stormy Case to Will Wagner that made the Permian half-time lead 31-0.

The Panthers' last score of the game came at the 8:11 mark of the third quarter, with Case completing an eight-yarder to Kendrick Parrett.

In the fourth quarter, quarterback Brad Heidelberg began moving the Bulldogs with some consistency, and Matt Jones' 24-yard run on a fake punt kept MHS' first scoring drive alive at the Permian 23.

Heidelberg then ran for 16 yards to get the ball to the 7, and one play later Robert McKee carried it over from the five.

MHS running back Robert McKee joins Permian defenders Efrain Moreno (54) and Jerry Sims (75) in pursuit of a fumble.

MHS' other score was even less likely, as Heidelberg ran the "two-minute" offense with aplomb, completing 21- and 22-yard passes to Dewayne Culpepper before connecting with Freddie Stricklin on a 39-yard TD pass with a scant 13 second left in the game.

Dye encourages boycott of Alabama newspaper

Associated Press

AUBURN, Ala. — Coach Pat Dye suggests that Auburn supporters boycott The Montgomery Advertiser, which broke a story of alleged payments to football players in violation of NCAA rules.

"I'm going to do everything I can do to let them dry up on the vine," Dye said on his Thursday night radio show "Tiger Talk."

"I don't buy The Montgomery Advertise. If I knew where I was shopping in Montgomery ... advertised in the Advertiser, I don't think I'd shop there. ... I wouldn't do one thing that would help The Montgomery Advertiser make a dime."

Richard Amberg Jr., publisher of the daily newspaper, said Friday that Dye's comments were misdirected and that it appeared the coach was "trying to shoot the messenger."

The Advertiser disclosed Sept. 27 that a former Auburn football player, Eric Ramsey, alleged that Auburn coaches and alumni made payments to players in violation of NCAA rules and that Ramsey claimed to have secretly recorded tapes to support his story. The matter is under investigation by the NCAA, and a tape made available to The Birmingham News by Ramsey's lawyer includes an Auburn booster promising to help Ramsey with car payments, free steaks and cash for Christmas presents.

Dye, on his Thursday night said, said the controversy that erupted around the Ramsey tapes story had helped Dye "find out who is for you and who is against you. ... I don't think there's any question The Montgomery Advertiser has ... a vendetta against Auburn. ... It's not only in athletics, it's against Auburn and Dr. (James) Martin and the trustees."

"It's a cold-blooded attack on Auburn," Dye said. "If we support them, we're going to support our own destruction."

Amberg said Dye's comment about a vendetta was "absolutely preposterous." He said Dye appeared to be "saying something off the top of the head and didn't really mean it."

David Housel, sports information director for Auburn, said Dye had made no further comment on the matter while preparing the Tigers for Saturday's homecoming game against Mississippi State.

"I don't know if there are problems (at Auburn) or not," Amberg said. "Those tapes will have to speak for themselves. ...

"I think Auburn University would be concerned about running a clean, honest program. ... If it is doing so, that will come out. If it is not doing so, they will want to correct it."

Michigan lambasts Minnesota

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS — Not even blurred vision could slow Desmond Howard.

Howard caught touchdown passes of 65 and 41 yards, the second after a hard hit blurred his vision, as No. 4 Michigan beat Big Ten foe Minnesota 52-6 in a game rescheduled to Friday because of the World Series.

Ricky Powers and Tyrone Wheatley each ran for two touchdowns for Michigan (6-1 overall, 4-0 Big Ten), which has lost only to top-ranked Florida State.

Minnesota (2-5, 1-3), which is averaging a 41-year low of 9.4 points a game, has won the Little Brown Jug awarded to the winner in this border battle only twice in the last 26 years.

Howard's 65-yard scoring catch gave the Wolverines a 28-0 lead with 5:57 left in the half. On Michigan's next drive, Elvis Grbac overthrew Howard over the middle and Howard was driven to the turf.

Howard, reported to have blurred vision, didn't play the rest of the half and didn't start the second half. But he returned midway through the third quarter to catch the 41-yard TD pass.

Howard played little after that, yet managed six catches for 154 yards overall.

His two TD catches gave him 15 for the season, breaking the Big Ten record of 14 by Michigan's Anthony Carter in 1980. It was the eighth straight game that Howard has scored at least two touchdowns.

Howard has 17 touchdowns overall this season and his 102 points is 36 more than the Gophers have scored this season.

Grbac's three TD passes gave him a school-record 49 for his career, one more than Rick Leach. Grbac completed 15 of 21 passes for 242 yards before being replaced with 3:05 left in the third quarter.

The Wolverines turned two early Minnesota fumbles into scores and led 21-0 just 8:25 into the game.

Maggert leads after eagle, six birdies

Associated Press

THE WOODLANDS, Texas — Jeff Maggert spiced his second straight 7-under-par 65 with an eagle and six birdies and took a four-shot lead after two rounds of the $800,000 Independent Insurance Agent Open on Friday.

PGA

Maggert's round over his home course gave him a 36-hole tournament record of 14-under-par 130 and a comfortable lead over Duffy Waldorf and Billy Ray Brown.

Waldorf and Brown each shot 67s for the second day in a row. Mike Reid and John Wilson each had 4-under 68s and were at 135.

Eighty players made the 36-hole cut for the final two rounds at 142, two shots under par over the par-72, 7,042-yard Tournament Players Course.

Three-time tournament champion Curtis Strange and Ben Crenshaw were among those who missed the cut. Strange had set the 36-hole record of 13-under in 1980.

Barber gains share of lead at senior event

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miller Barber overcame a sudden attack of asthma on the 18th hole to save par in a round of 66 and secure a share of the lead in the Security Pacific Senior Classic on Friday.

"I have allergies and something hit me," said the 60-year-old Barber, who carried three inhalers with him and will take medication before Saturday's second round. "I couldn't breathe. I almost thought I was going to faint there for a minute. I wish I knew what it was."

Barber, the No. 3 career money leader in professional golf behind Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino, is looking for his 25th senior victory but first since 1989, when he ended a record run of nine consecutive years on the senior tour with at least one victory.

Defensive driving course teaches with laughter

HOUSTON (AP) — Traffic offenders at Comedy Speed Relief, a defensive driving school in Austin, laugh away their tickets while improving their behind-the-wheel skills.

Eight comedians who are state-certified driving safety instructors are employed to teach the students, who can get a ticket erased for completing the eight-hour course.

Owners Keith Brunson and Stephen Drury said the comedy angle gives them a marketing edge in a competitive business.

"The problem with most defensive driving schools is that the 18- to 28-year-olds who get most of the tickets are on the back row asleep with a newspaper over their heads," Drury told The Houston Post in Wednesday's editions. Comedy, he believes, is an attention-getter.

Comedy Speed Relief is in its second week under the new format, which replaced a traditional approach offered by Drury's school during the past five years. Drury won't give specific numbers, but says business has increased significantly.

Drury and Brunson scouted local comedy clubs for potential instructors. They came up with a staff that includes comedians who juggle, write songs and, according to Brunson, one who "is kind of like a little monkey.

Howard Beecher was skeptical when first approached about taking the 40-hour certification course and becoming an instructor.

"They said, 'Can you do four hours of clean material?' I said, 'No, no way,'" he joked, adding he is now glad he took the job.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

■ College presents concert

The South Pains College Concert Choir is presenting a concert of sacred choral music at 5 p.m. Sunday at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3011 W. Kansas Ave.

The choir is directed by Jon Johnson, director of choral activities and chairman of the South Plains College Fine Arts Department. Organist will be Wilma Turner, instructor of piano at the college.

The concert will begin with three works dating from the Renaissance. Following these works, the choir will perform three choruses drawn from larger choral works: "Ave Maria." from Rachmaninov's "Vesper Mass"; "Lacrymosa" from Requiem by Mozart; and, "I Waited for the Lord" from "Hymn of Praise" by Mendelssohn, with soprano soloists Amy Rice and Any Johnson.

From church anthem literature the choir will first sing "E'en So, Lord Jesus, Quickly Come" by Paul Manz. This will be followed by two anthems in which the modern composers have drawn on old texts. George Oldroyd's "Prayer to Jesus" is a setting of a 14th century text by Richard Rolle. "My Eternal Kind" by Jane Marshall utilizes an anonymous 17th century text.

The concert will conclude with two distinctly American works. "When I can Read My Title Clear" features an Isaac Watts text wedded to a stirring American folk hymn tune for the harp. "Same Train" is drawn from the Afro-American spiritual tradition. Both are arranged by Alice Parker.

■ Fall festival presented

Crestview Baptist Church, at Midkiff Street and Illinois Avenue, is holding a Fall Festival from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Thursday.

The festival features booths, including a dunking booth, face painting, a water gun shoot, a football toss, a dart throw, a basketball toss, a sponge throw, a ring toss and a cupcake walk. In addition, clowns will be on hand.

The event includes an arts and crafts display, a general store and puppet shows. Food will be available. No admission will be charged. Non-scary costumes are acceptable. For more information call 694-7701.

The material was developed by a group working with Edgar Cayce in the 1930s, said a release from Merrilyn Walker.

What evolved from a seven-year study was a small book which amounts to a 12-step program for spiritual growth, the release said. Each of the 12 chapters concerns principles which lead to the final one of Love. A second book was added after three years with another 12-step series on other topics.

For more information on the group call the church, 684-4230.

The World Community Day service is designed to bring women together as an ecumenical community to share mutual concerns about justice issues from a global perspective. This year, World Community Day commemorates the jubilee anniversary of Church Women United. It's theme "Jubilee is Justice" connects the anniversary with CWU's 50-year history of crossing boundaries of race, age, class and culture in search of peace with justice.

Police arrest Lee's father for possession of heroin

NEW YORK — Jazz musician Bill Lee, father of filmmaker Spike Lee, was arrested on charges of possessing a small amount of heroin.

Lee, 63, was among people arrested Thursday in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, according to Sgt. Tina Mohrmann, a police spokeswoman.

He was holding a glassine envelope containing about $20 worth of heroin, police said.

If convicted on misdemeanor drug-possession charges he could be sentenced to six months in jail.

Lee is a noted musician and composer whose music has been featured in some of his son's films. Spike Lee's movies include "She's Gotta Have it," "Do the Right Thing" and "Jungle Fever."

ARLINGTON — Being baseball's batting champ is an honor, to be sure, but Julio Franco takes special pride in his newest title: U.S. citizen.

"It's nice to have all those awards," the Texas Rangers second baseman said Thursday after taking the oath of citizenship, "but that's baseball. This is my life."

Franco

Franco, the American League batting champion and an All-Star, was sworn in at a mass ceremony at the University of Texas-Arlington.

"This is a privilege. It's very important to be a part of this country, this state and the city," Franco said.

U.S. Judge David Belew administered the oath to 511 immigrants representing about 60 different countries. He specifically acknowledged Franco, 30, a native of the Dominican Republic.

"He's not only the batting champion, but a champion in life," Belew said.

DALLAS — Boxer George Foreman intends to put some new punch into the "Don't Mess with Texas" anti-litter campaign.

Even though Willie Nelson, the Dallas Cowboys and Stevie Ray Vaughn have given similar anti-litter messages before, be warned: Those who trash Texas now face the wrath of a 260-pound former heavyweight champion.

But Foreman won't be wearing gloves when a video crew in Tomball begins shooting the advertisement. Instead, the Houston native will be at the pulpit of the Trinity Evangelical Church in Tomball, garbed in preacher's robes.

Foreman is a preacher who heads the George Foreman Youth and Community Center.

He is the 25th Texas celebrity to participate in the campaign. Others have included the Fabulous Thunderbirds, Little Joe and Warren Moon.

Script notes show that the 30-second spot gives Foreman four lines to be delivered "in his best fire and brimstone manner." The lines end with, "And if he ever, ever messes with Texas ... pray for him, brothers and sisters, pray for him."

SARASOTA, Fla. — A lawyer for Pee-wee Herman actor Paul Reubens says there shouldn't be anything illegal about the acts his client is charged with committing in an X-rated theater.

A hearing will be held Tuesday in Sarasota County Court to hear the arguments by attorney Ronald Dresnick, who wants the court to throw out the misdemeanor case.

Rubens

Dresnick says it's wrong to charge anyone with sexual exposure in an adult theater because it's a place where "nudity is necessarily expected."

Prosecutor Mark Maynard disagreed. He said the public "clearly expects to see nudity on the screen in an X-rated theater" — but only on the screen.

Reubens won't be attending the hearing. He's filming a new movie.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Country singer Vince Gill says he knew he had to push himself to arrive in time to sing the national anthem before Game 5 of the World Series. But he didn't know he'd be pushing his limousine.

"Our limo broke down on the way over here from the hotel," Gill told the Nashville Banner from Atlanta's Fulton County Stadium. "I was out pushing it until someone with Major League Baseball came by and picked us up. We just left it there."

Things could have been worse. For a while, Gill's biggest worry was that the World Series wouldn't last five games.

"That would be my luck," he said. "To be asked to sing at the World Series and it not get to the fifth game. When we were on the road, everyone was keeping up with the games to see if I would get to sing."

Gill was the Country Music Association's male vocalist of the year. His hits include "When I Call Your Name."

Blueprint found for Iraqi bomb

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U.N. weapons inspectors have obtained the blueprints for Baghdad's atomic bomb, a weapon that would have been lighter and smaller than the Hiroshima bomb and could have been harnessed to a missile, officials said Friday.

In other developments, U.N. officials said Iraq's chemical weapons arsenal is so vast and dangerous that inspection teams will not be able to finish destroying the cache until at least 1993.

The reports underscored Baghdad's war-making potential prior to its defeat in the Persian Gulf War. Under U.N. resolutions passed since the end of the war, Iraq must destroy all weapons of mass destruction and submit to years of oversight of its industry.

After months of denials, Iraq admitted only this week to nuclear weapons research, but said it had never gone forward with building an actual bomb.

But U.N. officials confirmed this week that Baghdad had tested aspects of a nuclear bomb and could have produced a "working" weapon in as little as a year.

Officials of the U.N. Special Commission in charge of destroying Iraqi weapons said the complete plans for the Iraqi bomb showed it would have used less enriched uranium than a crude Hiroshima-style A-bomb, and therefore would have been lighter and smaller.

"You could put it on a missile," said Johan Molander, spokesman for the Special Commission, which is charged with dismantling Iraq's weapons of mass destruction under terms of the Gulf War cease-fire.

The first-generation model bombs of the type that the United States dropped on Japan are so cumbersome that they require delivery by an airplane, he said.

U.N. nuclear expert Michel St. Mleux disclosed Thursday that Iraq had gone beyond the design phase of its nuclear weapons program and was conducting test blasts of nuclear weapons components in the desert before the Gulf War.

The latest reports are part of a painstaking process by inspectors to uncover and dismantle Iraq's nuclear, chemical and biological weapons stocks against resistance by Baghdad.

Rolf Ekeus, executive chairman of the Special Commission, said inspectors from chemical weapons division of the commission would have to proceed cautiously with destroying Iraq's arsental.

"The filled munitions, that are filled with nerve agents and mustard gas and so on, as you can imagine, those are extremely dangerous to handle," he said Thursday.

About 50 U.N. inspectors are presently surveying the main chemical weapons site at the Muthanna military base outside of Baghdad.

The inspectors are reportedly checking all of the many buildings on site because Baghdad has consistently understated its weapons programs in its declarations to the United Nations.

In April, Iraq said it had about 12,000 chemical bombs, shells and missiles, but inspectors found about 46,000 loaded weapons, along with 79,000 unfilled munitions, more than 600 tons of chemical warfare agents and 3,000 tons of related chemicals.

Ekeus told reporters work on the destruction of chemicals would continue into 1993.

Yugoslav army within Dubrovnik city limits

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — Croatian defenders abandoned the old walled center of Dubrovnik on Friday as the Yugoslav army advanced to within the city limits, Croatian officials said.

Defense officials in Croatia's capital, Zagreb, said their forces retreated to nearby Gruz harbor under Yugoslav army gunfire that was in violation of a cease-fire agreed upon in Zagreb the day before.

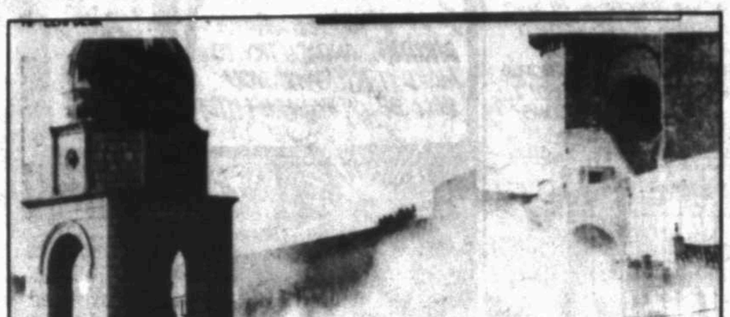

Army officers and city officials met 10 miles south of Dubrovnik at Cavtat on Friday afternoon, and the federal force renewed its cease-fire pledge at 5 p.m., according to Croatian TV.

But the station said afterwards that some explosions were heard in Dubrovnik. The army positions were outside the medieval walls that are the core of the city, but inside the greater Dubrovnik area, the report said.

According to the same TV report, the army said it would evacuate all people seeking safe passage from Dubrovnik on Saturday. The army had blocked three entrances to the Adriatic resort of 60,000 residents, and navy boats were only 100 feet from the city's ancient walls.

In Zagreb, Croats mourned the apparent loss of Dubrovnik, which has maintained its independence throughout centuries while the rest of Croatia was under the rule of Byzantine, Ottoman, Austro-Hungarian and German occupiers.

"It survived Napoleon ... it survived the Germans and it survived the Communists, and now the Yugoslav national army's destroying the city, which was never destroyed in history," said Srdjan Matic, executive vice president of Zagreb's small Jewish Community. "From a strategic military point of view it has no value."

AP Laserphoto

Smoke billows over the towers of the historic old town of Dubrovnik on the Adriatic coast after it was hit by shells shot by the Federal army.

Defense officials, reached in the northern Croatian port of Rijeka, said earlier that all telephone lines to the ancient port were cut and Dubrovnik defenders radioed distress signals that were picked up in Ancona, Italy.

"People in Dubrovnik are embittered because they feel they are being left at the mercy of the army and they are left alone by the whole world," defense officials in Dubrovnik reportedly told colleagues in Zagreb.

"We can only sit and cry because we have no weapons to shoot at them (the army)," the same officials were quoted as saying in the message.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug on Friday reported a warning from an army officer that Dubrovnik should surrender in order to ensure its preservation.

At EC-sponsored peace talks in the Netherlands, Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic rejected the latest EC peace plan, which would demilitarize and give limited autonomy to the Serbian ethnic region within secessionist Croatia.

However, Croatian President Franjo Tudjman said he had met privately with Milosevic and the Serbian president agreed to bilateral talks. Milosevic, speaking to reporters just before Tudjman, did not mention any planned talks.

Lord Carrington, the conference chairman, said the mediation effort would continue. But he criticized the federal army for its "worrying and threatening" assault on Croatia.

Tudjman also wrote to a number of world statesmen, including President Bush, calling on them to take measures against the Serbian leadership, Zagreb radio reported Friday.

Fierce battles continued Friday in other parts of the republic, particularly the war-torn eastern towns of Osijek and Vukovar, and in Karlovac and Sisak, south of Zagreb. One person was killed and 13 injured in Sisak, 25 miles southwest of Zagreb, Croatian defense officials said.

Croatia declared independence on June 25, but armed ethnic Serbs declared autonomy in regions of Croatia and have captured about one-third of the republic's territory.

In other developments certain to increase tensions in the fracturing Yugoslav federation:

—Serbs in the central republic of Bosnia-Hercegovina formed their own parliament and said late Thursday they would hold referendums in November on declaring independence from the republic.

Anti-apartheid groups unite as talks near

N.Y. Times News Service

DURBAN, South Africa — A broad array of organizations active in the struggle against apartheid convened here Friday to form a united front in preparation for negotiations on South Africa's future.

The so-called Patriotic Front conference is an effort to marshal anti-apartheid forces in anticipation of a conference of all political parties, including the ruling National Party, that would begin the process of formal constitutional talks proposed by President F.W. de Klerk. Such a conference could be held before the end of the year.

The antiapartheid conference, which is scheduled to continue to Sunday, was convened by the African National Congress and the smaller Pan-Africanist Congress.

The organizers said Friday night that 87 organizations were represented, including the South African Communist Party, black trade unions, professional, student and sports groups and small political parties from the ethnic homelands.

Walter Sisulu, the deputy president of the ANC, described the session as "the largest gathering of patriotic and antiapartheid forces in our country's history." Sisulu and other speakers urged participants to set aside their differences and together challenge the government from a position of strength.

"Our wish is that all South Africans unite, not on the basis of one race or ethnic group against the other, but into a powerful force against any form of racism or ethnic chuavinism," Sisulu said. "United in purpose, we can forge a formidable weapon for democracy in our country."

But the Inkatha Freedom Party, the ANC's main political rival among the black majority in this country, stayed away from the conference, calling it an excuse for blacks to gang up against whites.

Inkatha's leader, Mangosuthu Gatsha Buthelezi, has staked out positions more likely to make him an ally of de Klerk at the negotiating table.

Inkatha has opposed the international sanctions imposed on South Africa as well as the armed struggle once advocated by the black liberation movements and endorses a market economy.

The Azanian Peoples Organization, a small group, also boycotted the conference, having been dropped as one of the sponsors after it sent a letter to 14 organizations demanding they sever their ties with the existing political system as a condition of participation.

Despite the no-shows, a successful conference would strengthen the anti-apartheid forces. The ANC, which is the largest of the black political organizations, welcomes whites in its ranks, while the smaller Pan Africanist Congress was founded by a group that broke away from the ANC in 1959, contending that South Africa belongs to Africans and not white settlers.

"Each of us has fought our battles in different ways," Sisulu said Friday. Sisulu was representing Nelson Mandela, a prime architect of Friday's conference, who was suffering from laryngitis and was ordered by his doctor to rest for a week.

The conference organizers want to compel the government to step aside in favor of an interim government and a constituent assembly that would draft a new constitution giving political power to blacks for the first time in the country's history. De Klerk has refused to consider this, contending that negotiations must precede transitional arrangements.

But all sides see a conference of political parties as the logical next step to formal talks.

Zaire protesters burn villa; France, Belgium pull citizens

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (AP) — Belgium and France on Friday joined the United States in urging their citizens to flee the chaos in Zaire after rioters burned a villa belonging to the president and pillaged his new prime minister's home.

Belgium's foreign minister, Mark Eyskens, said Zaire, a former Belgian colony, was "sliding into a situation which is apparently uncontrollable."

But it was unclear whether President Mobutu Sese Seko had lost control of the army or — as the opposition charges — engineered the disorder to give him an excuse to impose a military government, as he did when he seized power in 1965.

France and Belgium sent about 2,000 paratroopers to Zaire last month after riots tore through Zaire's capital, Kinshasa, and other cities. They both indicated Friday they were preparing to withdraw those troops once their citizens were safely out.

The troops safeguarded the evacuation of 10,000 foreigners in September, and their arrival stopped the riots. Nguza Karl-I-Bond, a prominent opposition leader, warned Friday their withdrawal might plunge Zaire into all-out civil conflict.

"We really don't have an army anymore. Paradoxically, the French and Belgian troops that came for humanitarian reasons are beginning to be a security factor," he said in an interview with a Belgian radio station.

The latest round of violent demonstrations in the capital began Thursday after Mobutu fired opposition leader Etienne Tshisekedi as prime minister, and replaced him with Bernardin Mungul-Diaka, a minor opposition leader.

European Community ambassadors in Kinshasa presented a note to Mobutu on Friday effectively rejecting Mungul-Diaka.

"Setting up a government that does not meet the criteria of consensus and democratization we have already outlined ... will result in grave consequences on the diplomatic, political and economic fronts," it said.

On Friday, state radio said protesters in Kinshasa were barricading roads. Refugees who arrived in Brazzaville, across the Congo River from Kinshasa, said the capital was explosively tense, with troops stationed throughout the city.

Beirut papers publish letter to Anderson

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — American hostage Terry Anderson's sister sent him a letter that was published in Beirut newspapers on Friday, two days before his seventh birthday in captivity.

Freed hostages John McCarthy and Brian Keenan also broadcast messages of hope to their former cellmates Friday, including a special birthday wish to Anderson.

The greetings came four days after kidnappers released American educator Jesse Turner, who returned to the United States on Friday. Turner was freed as part of complex negotiations mediated by the United Nations that have raised hopes for the freedom soon of all the Westerdners held in Lebanon.

In her letter to Anderson, who turns 44 on Sunday, his sister Peggy Say wrote that the family was heartened by the way he looked on a videotape broadcast by Cable News Network on Oct. 6.

"The family is still basking in the glow of your robust good health, which was quite obvious on your videotape," Say wrote. "Equally apparent was the survival of your sense of humor and emotional well-being."

"We are very grateful that you were allowed to send us this wonderful (videotape) gift," she wrote.

The letter was published by Beirut's two conservative newspapers, Al-Answar and Ad-Diyar. Other Beirut dailies, including the leading An-Nahar and as-Safir, also received Mrs. Say's letter and plan to publish it Saturday.

Anderson's 6-year-old daughter, Sulome, who was born nearly three months after his capture, sent him a videotaped birthday message, saying she felt he would be out soon.

Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for the Associated Press, is the longest-held hostage. He was kidnapped on March 16, 1985.

Bush endorses electric car venture

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush endorsed a $260 million public-private venture Friday to develop batteries for electric cars, saying the project would save more energy than proposed tougher fuel-economy standards.

"The development of a competitive electronic auto industry will do more to reduce oil imports than rigid fuel-efficiency standards that risk jobs and public safety," Bush said.

The president attended a White House ceremony at which Energy Secretary James Watkins and representatives of the nation's Big Three automakers signed an agreement to launch the four-year project. Bush said the goal was "to make electric vehicles competitive by the year 2000."

He used the occasion to urge congressional approval of a bill that incorporates much of the national energy plan he submitted earlier this year. The Senate is expected to take up the legislation shortly.

Sen. Richard Bryan, D-Nev., is expected to offer an amendment that would require new-car fleets to average about 40 miles per gallon, up from the current 27.5 mpg minimum.

The Bush administration opposes the Bryan plan, supporting the automakers' contention it would force them to stop making family-size cars, hurt sales and eliminate jobs.

"Senseless overregulation is always a one-way dead end," Bush said.

The United States Advanced Battery Consortium is one of several joint research projects recently initiated by Chrysler, General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. The Electric Power Research Institute also is a member of the consortium.

The companies and the Energy Department will split evenly the cost of the project — the first in which the government and the automakers have cooperated on research. They will share research facilities and people as well as money.

"It is a major domestic economic initiative — akin to the close cooperation between Japanese government and industry — as well as an energy and environment initiative," Chrysler Corp. President Robert Lutz said.

Only recently have the fiercely competitive Big Three cooperated on research or product development, an indication of how slumping sales and foreign competition have eroded their strength.

But Lutz said the government also had changed its attitude.

"In the old days, if we were even seen close to each other there was an assumption of collusion," he said. "We were not allowed to share any information, even for things that were for the common good such as emission control systems."

Development of an efficient, lightweight battery to power a vehicle is important to automakers because of a California law requiring that by 1998, 2 percent of an automaker's sales in that state must emit no pollutants. By 2003 that sales level rises to 10 percent.

Work on electric cars and batteries is going on worldwide, in large part because of the California law.

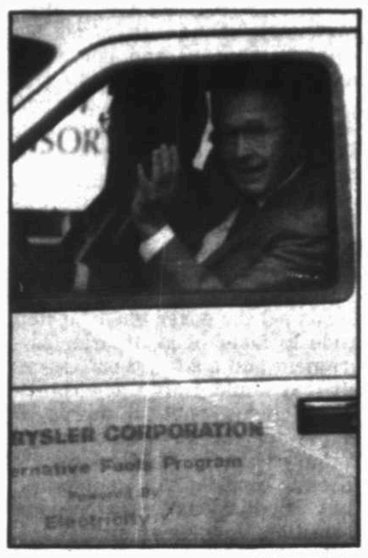

The major hurdle facing electric cars is range.

GM has shown off its Impact electric vehicle powered by conventional lead-acid batteries. The car will travel at 55 mph for about 120 miles before needing an 8-hour recharge.

Nissan Motor Co. Ltd. of Japan announced in August it had developed a car powered by a nickel-cadmium batteries with nearly the same performance characteristics as the Impact, but needing just 15 minutes to recharge.

At the White House ceremony, an Impact was parked beside a Ford electrically powered delivery truck and a Chrysler minivan. Afterward, the automakers flipped a coin to determine which Bush would sample. Chrysler won, and the president climbed inside with two senators and other officials for a quick test drive along the walkway.

"Great — nice and smooth," Bush said as he got out.

Oldest vet turns 106

PHOENIX (AP) — The last survivor of the Spanish-American War era celebrated his 106th birthday with some entertainment from a group of belly dancers.

"She doesn't have very much covering her, does she?" Nathan Cook said to one of his daughters after the first of five dancers hugged him and planted a kiss on his forehead Thursday.

Cook, who uses a wheelchair because of a bad hip, has been living at a veterans hospital in Phoenix since the 1982 death of his wife. They had been married 76 years.

Cook said his recipe for longevity is simple: "Don't drink, save your money and don't smoke."

The Department of Veterans Affairs said in 1989 that Cook was the last surviving veteran of the 1898-1902 Spanish-American War era.

Compaq Computer chief replaced

HOUSTON (AP) — Rod Canion has been fired as chief executive of Compaq Computer Corp., the personal computer-maker he helped found nine years ago, the company said Friday, just two days after announcing layoffs and a $135 million restructuring.

Canion's firing came Thursday night in a regular board of directors meeting, the company said. Officials said the move was intended to help Compaq cope in an increasingly price-competitive industry.

"Was the change related to the layoffs or anything? Absolutely not. This is a strategic difference between Rod and the board," said spokesman Mike Berman, who refused to discuss the differences.

The ouster marks a stunning change of command at the third-largest maker of personal computers, and makes Canion the first executive victim of a retrenchment in the entire industry.

The news also sent Compaq's stock tumbling $2.75 to $30.25 on the New York Stock Exchange where it was the fourth most actively traded issue, as 2.6 million shares changed hands.

Canion was replaced by Eckhard Pfeiffer, Compaq's executive vice president and chief operating officer.

Pfeiffer, 50, joined Compaq in 1983 as vice president of Compaq Europe, after working 20 years with Texas Instruments Inc., where he was head of strategic marketing.

He built sales by Compaq's international operations to more than $2 billion in six years, board chairman Benjamin Rosen said.

Rosen said the board had been considering creating a dual presidency for Canion and Pfeiffer, who effectively had been sharing management all year, as part of a corporate restructuring.

Members decided during Thursday's 14-hour board meeting that the company should have a single chief, Rosen said. Pfeiffer's successes in Europe, where Compaq does more than half of its business, and experience in other cost-sensitive industries gave him the edge, Rosen said.

"In looking at where we want to put a tremendous emphasis in the future in cost-cutting and global expansion ... I don't think it's so much perspective as experience, which tilted in (Pfeiffer's) favor," he said.

"There were some other differences, but we really don't want to characterize those publicly," Rosen said.

Canion was offered a seat on the board, but declined, Rosen said.

"I think it's disappointing to lose a founder of the company. I think it's part of the life cycle of American corporations that corporations go on, and Apple computer lost a founder, and a lot of companies have — the IBM founders are no longer there," he said.

Canion, 46, has an unlisted telephone number, and Compaq officials said he was traveling and had not told them of his future plans.

Compaq lost $70 million in the third quarter. When it announced the loss, the company also said it would idle 1,440 of its 12,000 employees worldwide. The move is part of corporate reorganization into two product divisions: personal computers and server systems.

Analysts greeted the sudden announcement of Canion's ouster with sadness.

Former hostage Jesse Turner returns home to Idaho

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesse Turner, held captive in the Middle East for 4½ years, returned to American soil with his family on Friday, still striving to maintain privacy in the most public of homecomings.

The 44-year-old mathematics professor landed at O'Hare International Airport with his Lebanese-born wife, Badr, and their 4-year-old daughter, Joanne, on a flight from Frankfurt, Germany.

"He smoked a pack of cigarettes, drank a couple beers and ate a bunch of food," said Ray Hipp, who sat in front of the Turners during the flight.

Hipp said that during the flight he told Turner, "Welcome to America," and that Turner did not respond. "He was very quiet," said Hipp, of Chicago.

Because Turner had requested privacy, he and his family were taken from the United Airlines flight to an undisclosed location to await their evening flight home to Boise, Idaho, airline spokesman Joe Hopkins said.

Hours later, the Turners boarded a United flight to Boise. They were driven to the plane in a van, while reporters were kept inside the terminal. The flight was scheduled to arrive in Boise late Friday.

Officials in Boise were completing final preparations for a welcome-home celebration.

"The community is anxious to give a heartfelt welcome home," said Boise spokesman Brian Whitlock. Turner grew up and went to school in Boise, where his mother and stepfather still live.

Workers transformed the steps of the Idaho Statehouse into a huge reception area, where Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Mayor Dirk Kempthorne were on the schedule for brief remarks before a program of music, fireworks and the ringing of church bells.

After Turner's release Tuesday, he was taken to the U.S. Air Force hospital in Wiesbaden, Germany, for a round of medical tests and State Department debriefings before being put on his way home to Idaho.

Turner made no comments to reporters on his departure from Wiesbaden, before leaving Frankfurt, or on his arrival in Chicago.

He wore a new brown jacket, smiled and looked relaxed early Friday when he left on the flight from Frankfurt to Chicago. His wife carried their daughter, whom Turner saw for the first time Wednesday at the hospital in Wiesbaden.

Joanne was born after Turner was kidnapped in Beirut on Jan. 24, 1987. He had been held captive by Shiite Moslem kidnappers in Lebanon

The joyous homecoming to America was soured by a run-in between the State Department and Turner's parents.

"I thought this would be a wonderful time, but it hasn't been," his mother, Estelle Ronneburg, said Friday after she and her husband — Turner's stepfather, Eugene Ronneburg — returned home early from Germany.

The parents left Germany abruptly Thursday after State Department officials criticized Eugene Ronneburg for having videotaped Turner's reunion with his family and then allowing CBS television to broadcast it.

After the videotape was aired, State Department officials banned Ronneburg from the hospital in Wiesbaden and the U.S.-government owned hotel where the Turner family was staying.

"One of the most basic elements of U.S. concern for any freed hostage is his or her privacy. Yesterday Mr. Ronneburg violated that policy," said State Department spokesman Joe Reap.

Fire damage estimate cut

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The fire that charred the Oakland and Berkeley hillsides and killed 24 people did about one half the monetary damage that was originally thought, city officials said Friday.

Crews scrambled under darkening skies Friday to protect the hills against another looming disaster: rains that could send tons of rock and mud sliding onto homes that survived the blaze Sunday.

"We're moving with great speed and efficiency. There's great resolve here," said Berkeley Mayor Loni Hancock as a crew of 60 workers installed 200-foot-long black fabric barriers along the barren slopes.

"The potential for mudslides is a disaster in the making," she said.

The fire stripped the vegetation from 1,800 acres in what were once the most expensive and scenic neighborhoods in the two cities. Walls of flame 100-feet-high destroyed more than 3,000 houses and apartments, killed at least 24 people and injured 148.

Oakland city officials, who earlier estimated damage at upwards of $5 billion, said the figure would end up between $1.5 billion and $2 billion — close to estimates by insurers.

Parents convicted of killing their teenage daughter

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The parents of a 16-year-old girl were convicted of first-degree murder Friday by a jury that heard gruesome, secretly recorded tapes of the daughter's killing.

Zein Isa and his wife, Maria, showed no emotion as translators relayed the jury's verdict to them in their native languages. Isa, 61, a Palestinian, is a naturalized U.S. citizen; his wife, 48, is Brazilian.

Prosecutors have said they plan to seek the death penalty against both when the penalty phase gets under way.

The seven-minute tape of Tina Isa's death, which occurred Nov. 6, 1989, was a vital part of the trial, and attorneys on both sides discussed it in their closing arguments earlier in the day.

The tape was made by the FBI, which hid electronic bugging devices in the family's home as part of an investigation reportedly into whether Isa was involved with the Palestine Liberation Organization.

"The gasps and moans of a lovely 16-year-old girl is frightening to all of us," Isa's attorney, Dan Reardon, said in closing arguments. "But the question becomes ... whether or not the horror of this recording can blind you."

Reardon insisted that his client Isa had killed his daughter in self-defense when she came at him with a knife. He said the recordings didn't reveal the times she had attacked him with a meat cleaver or kicked his bad leg.

But prosecutor Dee Joyce-Hays said the tapes not only recorded the killing but proved that Isa talked about killing his daughter and how he would do it.

Suspect caught in shooting at battery plant

BENNINGTON, Vt. (AP) — An employee went on a shooting spree at a battery plant Friday, killing the plant manager and injuring three others, police said.

Elizabeth Teague, 30, an industrial engineer for Eveready Battery Co., was arrested late Friday in Pittsburg, N.H., about 220 miles away near the Canadian border. She was stopped for speeding, Pittsburg police said.

Authorities said Teague set a small fire at the plant, apparently as a diversion, then walked through the plant and shot four people, three men and a woman.

Jonathan Perryman, manager of the plant, was shot in the head and died during surgery at Southwestern Vermont Medical Center, police said.

MOONLIGHTING!
The Midland Reporter-Telegram has several distributorships which need to be filled with responsible individuals.
OFTEN ASKED QUESTIONS:
Is it worthwhile for adults also? Yes! Our current distributor force is already 90% adult and 10% youth. Morning newspaper routes are attractive for:
• ADULTS who have full-time jobs, yet want to supplement their income with a steady part-time job.
• MOTHERS who can't justify a small job and daycare, because as a distributor, you do not need daycare!
• COLLEGE STUDENTS needing a part-time job which will work with classes!
• SENIOR CITIZENS wanting regular exercise, added income, or just want to work with people, neighbors, and friends.
How much money can I make as a distributor?
Depending on the size of the distributorship from $300 to $700 monthly! Some make even more!
How long does it take?
The actually delivery takes 1 - 2 hours Monday - Saturday, and 2 - 3 hours on Sunday, again depending on the size of the distributorship. Also, a few hours a month are needed to collect from subscribers. Many distributors choose to handle some of this by putting envelopes in subscribers' papers. Collecting in person will be necessary though!
When do papers have to be delivered by?
6 a.m. Monday - Friday and 7 a.m. on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.
Do I ever get a day off?
The job requires a 7-day a week commitment. However, distributors do take days off by finding a friend or family member to substitute for them!
