Federal Reserve District Reports Trade Is Improving

SALES UP,
BUYING IS STILL SLOWReport on Livestock
Good; Planting
Going on

DALLAS, April 30. (UP).—The trade situation in the 11th federal reserve district showed improvement in March, the Monthly Business Review of the federal reserve bank of Dallas said today.

Department store sales increased 17 per cent over February but buying was below normal.

Planting of corn and other row crops was nearing completion in southern Texas and had well advanced in the eastern half of the state but was delayed in other portions due to cold and wet weather and late freezes that damaged the fruit. The crop condition was reported 45 per cent below normal. Livestock was reported to be in good condition.

Sweetwater Asks
For 1932 WTCC

SWEETWATER, April 30. (UP).—Sweetwater has outlined a definite campaign to bring next year's convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce to this city.

One of the first steps in this direction is to make arrangements for establishment of convention headquarters in Lubbock, which are to be in charge of John Hendrix, secretary of the Sweetwater board of city development, and Miss Orleans Sanger, assistant secretary of the board, and recently chosen as this city's sponsor to the social affairs of the convention.

Setting up of the headquarters is to be completed before the opening of the convention, Mr. Hendrix said. Another step taken is the sending of official representatives throughout West Texas, where possible, to meet with chambers of commerce in asking for their support.

Philo Baker, chairman of the committee asking chambers of commerce for their support, is on a business trip to El Paso and Roswell, N. M., this week, stopping in each city en route to seek support. Other members of the committee are to visit other cities during the coming week in various parts of the state.

Woo Dak San
Cheats Chair

SANTA FE, N. M., Apr. 30. (UP).—For more than five years, Woo Dak San has been under a death sentence—and yet he lives.

One of the factors delaying his execution, or a reversal of the case by the supreme court, is that in 1929 the legislature changed the mode of execution from hanging to electrocution.

But since Woo Dak San was convicted and condemned March 6, 1926, when hanging was the mode of punishment, Alvan N. White, his attorney, contends that to apply the new law of electrocution to his client would be an ex post facto proceeding.

The new death house at the state penitentiary here, was remodeled at a cost of $20,000 to install an electric chair after the 1929 law became effective.

The Chinaman was slated to be the chair's first victim, but his long court fight has left the chair still unoccupied.

Now his court fight is nearing an end, and a final decision by the supreme court may be given in three months. He is convicted of killing Yee N. Pung.

Ex-Convict Begins Life Anew

"We're beginning life all over," say Mr. and Mrs. Frank Preston, of St. Louis, shown here with the pardon that Governor White of Ohio granted him because he led a successful and exemplary life during the 12 years between the time he escaped from an Ohio prison and was recaptured in St. Louis. After his escape, Preston married, reared a family, lived respectably and prospered.

Six Fall 70 Feet;
No One Is Killed

BEAUMONT, April 30. (UP).—Six men were injured, two seriously, when a scaffold collapsed today and plunged them 70 feet to the ground in a shower of brick timber. The men were raising an old building and overloaded the scaffold. Four of the injured were negroes.

NEW PRORATION
ORDER EFFECTIVE
IN E-T FRIDAY

AUSTIN, April 30. (UP).—Effective tomorrow the allowable flow of the East Texas oil wells will be 160,000 barrels daily.

The allowable flow is divided as follows: Henderson, 65,000; Kilgore area, 60,000 and Longview, 35,000.

Scouts Need Work;
Want to Make Camp

Boy scouts of Midland are now looking forward to the summer camp to be held in June. Many of the boys are saving their dimes and quarters. They are looking for odd jobs and regular jobs in order to earn enough money to pay their expenses to camp. They are willing to do most anything in order to get there. They will clean yards, wash windows, wash and polish cars, run errands or deliver circulars in order to get the seven dollars necessary for camp expenses.

The Rev. Edwin Calhoun, district chairman of scout activities, is busy trying to find men and women who will employ these scouts and assist them in earning the money. Any person in Midland desiring to help a scout help himself is asked to get in touch with Mr. Calhoun, and he will have a boy ready for the job.

There are four troops in Midland, and each troop should have a good representation in the summer camp. These troops brought publicity to Midland last Saturday in the spring rally held in Big Spring. "Midland people should feel proud of the boys and want to do everything possible to encourage the scout movement in the city," Mr. Calhoun said.

CINCINNATI, April 30. (UP).—Breaking its leash during a lecture and exhibition at the Whittier school here today, a young lion leaped upon Vivian Leichter, 7, and injured her critically before she could be rescued.

China Disrupted as Five
Anti-Government States
Announce as Separatists

SHANGHAI, April 30. (UP).—Proclamation of independence was issued today by the anti-government leaders in behalf of the Chinese provinces of Kwangtung, Fokien, Kweichow, Hunan and Kwangsi.

It was announced that a provisional revolutionary government in South China will be established. Political and military situations confused with alignment for and against nationalist government were reported hourly.

HIGH SCHOOL TO MAKE EXTENSIVE
GOODWILL TRIP

The most ambitious goodwill trip ever undertaken by the high school of Midland will wind through Odessa, Crane City, McCamey and Rankin Friday, the band, glee club and choral club giving programs along the route.

A chamber of commerce speaker will accompany the motorcade, making a three-minute speech in each place.

More than 100 students will be in the entourage, and 30 or 35 cars.

The group will leave Midland high school at 8:20 a. m., arrive in Odessa at 9, give a program in the Odessa high school; thence drive to Crane for a program, present a band and song concert in McCamey; leave McCamey after lunch and drive to Rankin for a program.

Students will be fed at lunch in the McCamey school cafeteria. Midland people accompanying the group will eat "out in town," because of limited table space.

The chamber of commerce indicated it would recruit 10 automobiles for the journey, and it was expected that the Lions and Rotary clubs would sponsor five each. The school will be responsible for about 15 cars.

The group will return to Midland about 3:30 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The band is composed of 50 students and 44 students each make up the glee and choral clubs.

More cars are wanted, likewise more people to make the trip with the students. Cars must be in good condition to make the trip.

Boy Scouts to
Swimming Place

A hike that is more specialized in purpose than any other that Midland scouts have planned, is to be made Friday afternoon to Santa Rosa lake in northern Pecos county by Troop 53.

The boys will seek to find a good swimming place for the summer. They will go by cars, leaving immediately after school and carry food for two meals and bedding.

Written permission must be brought by scouts, signifying whether they may swim if the scoutmaster decides the weather is sufficiently warm. They are asked to take flashlights along.

Several unique features will result from the trek, in the nature of surprises to scouts. All patrols have been asked to get in touch with leaders for additional information.

The next board of review date was announced in a letter from L. O. Smith, chairman. It will be held May 11, at 7 o'clock, in the scout hall.

Producers Meet
This Afternoon

Industrial producers of Midland will meet at 5:30 this afternoon at the chamber of commerce to plan the industrial exhibit plan for next week, it was announced by chamber officials.

MOSCOW, April 30. (UP).—The death toll in the Transcaucasian earthquake region was estimated at 536 today.

The earthquake covers an area of several hundred miles. Shocks which began Monday night continued adding terror to the inhabitants.

Contest Debunks
Attendance Theory

Ablene draws some philosophical solace from losing the recent Sunday school contest to Midland. An editorial in the Abilene Morning News reads:

"Somehow or other, before we accept any off-hand statistics regarding the decadence of religion and the decline of the church, we'd like to get a final report from Midland, Texas—or from Merkel, Texas, either."

"Last Sunday, A. D. 1931, more than one-tenth of the entire population of Midland crowded into one Sunday school class. The class was organized about 10 weeks ago with a membership of 88. It is interdenominational, or nondenominational, as you prefer. No women are allowed, even as visitors. Men dress as they please and sing only the old-time songs."

"The Midland Men's Sunday School class—such is its name—entered into a contest with the Victory men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, Abilene. The Midlanders piled up a lead of 226 in the month's contest. On the final Sunday there were 521 in attendance at Midland, out of a population of 5,000, while the Victory people mustered only 303. The Victory men need not feel 'downhearted' about being licked by a live bunch like the Midlanders."

"The Merkel Mail last week said more than 800 people were in Sunday school there the preceding Sunday—about 40 per cent of the total population, we believe. Abilene has a good record in Sunday school attendance, herself; but it would have to have more than 10,000 in Sunday school to equal Merkel's record."

"It seems to us that the reported collapse of the churches has been gravely exaggerated."

CATSKILL, N. Y., April 30. (UP).—A move to put Jack Diamond in prison for life in event of his recovery and a drive to learn whether county officials are involved in racketeering here started today.

An indictment will be asked, charging that Diamond, shot by enemies here Sunday night, with violation of the Sullivan anti-firearm law and kidnapping. It is alleged that Diamond kidnapped two men.

The attorney general said if two charges fail, Diamond would be sent to jail for life under the Baumes habitual criminal law.

TRADES DAY TO BE OBSERVED ON SATURDAY, MAY 2

Plans have been completed for the great Trades day event to be held in Midland Saturday of this week at 2 o'clock. Attention is particularly called to the fact that the hour for the main event has been moved up to 2 o'clock. Business houses participating in the event are expected to be ready at the gathering place, corner Main and Texas, not later than 1:45.

Hundreds of out-of-town people are expected. Over 6,500 circulars telling about the big Midland event have been distributed over a wide area. Interest in trading in Midland has been greatly increased through the campaign, business men say. Local people are also feeling a new sense of loyalty to Midland.

"Women and men who used to go away from home are now ashamed to confess they didn't try to buy in Midland first. They recognize that trading at home is good common horse sense, as it is to the selfish interest of all of them to spend their money at home if at all possible to make better schools, churches, streets, and water system," one business man said.

E. F. Cowden Test
Remains Shut Down

Penn and Galt Brown No. 1 E. F. Cowden, Ector county wildcat test, remained shut down at 3,860 feet today after encountering brown lime Tuesday at 3,852. Reasons for the halt in drilling had not been made public. The test is 12 miles south and west of the Southern Crude, Dick Cowden producers and seven miles north of the Penn pool.

Ingram Guilty;
Gets Five Years

EASTLAND, April 30. (UP).—Tom Ingram was given a five-year sentence by a jury in district court here today.

The jury deliberated 42 hours in the trial which charges Ingram with robbery with firearms in connection with the robbery of D. L. Allen, postmaster and merchant of Nimrod of $50.

PRISONER HURT

EL PASO, April 30.—Wilhelm Berg, 60, retired army sergeant, was confined to his bed Wednesday with multiple injuries on his head and face as a result of a terrific beating he received from two prisoners in city jail.

D. A. Shell, 24, who was arrested with Berg by Policeman H. Cashman on charges of being intoxicated, was treated at city jail Wednesday morning for a blackened eye and cuts on his face that he received when he tried to protect Berg. He was released after paying a $5 fine in police court.

Police Chief L. T. Robey and Police Capt. Mike Snider are investigating the affair. Robey said he is trying to find out why police and jailers did not know of the fight.

Slew Sandino Aide

Civilian hero of bandit strife on the northern coast of Nicaragua was A. R. Beardsley, above, wharf superintendent at Logtown. He was credited with shooting and killing Pedro Blandon, chief lieutenant of General Sandino.

CAPTAIN EAKER
BREAKS OLD MARK
IN FLYING HERE

Captain Ira C. Eaker, whose "hard luck" in attempts to beat air records during the past 18 months have caused him to be mentioned internationally, lost another record Wednesday, when his time from Tucson to Midland was broken.

But Captain Eaker was the one who threw the old record into the discard. He established a new record, of two hours and fifty minutes, shaving off approximately nine minutes. He averaged almost 200 miles an hour, airport attaches said.

The captain, whose home is at Eden, near San Angelo, was flying a low wing Lockheed, the Sirius model with retractable landing gear. It is General Fechet's plane and will be delivered to him in Washington Friday. Captain Eaker landed here at 7:30 Wednesday and spent the night. He took off for Dallas at 6 o'clock. He will land in Midland next week with Assistant War Secretary Davison, who has been in Midland before.

The visit was Captain Eaker's marks the sixth one in Midland. He flew the Question Mark, first endurance craft; piloted a new Boeing plane in an attempt to set a dawn-to-dusk flight to Panama from Texas, and has attempted several inter-coastal records.

Will Supervise
Plane Fueling

Lieut. W. A. Maxwell of the Seventh Bombardment group from March field, Riverside, Calif., will be here May 8 to make preliminary arrangements for the refueling of 40 planes here on May 12. This will be the largest contingent of planes ever to land at Midland. The aeronautics committee of the chamber of commerce headed by K. E. Ambrose is arranging a field reception for the 80 men who will land here about noon.

Annual Juarez
Whoopee Expensive

JUAREZ, Mex., Apr. 30. (UP).—The Americans' "whoopee" bill in Juarez is estimated to be $350,000 annually.

Juarez citizens, meanwhile spend $500,000 annually in El Paso. The figures are released by the Juarez and El Paso Chambers of Commerce. The figures are based on an average age of $10 per person being spent by tourists and El Pasoans, including gambling, when they visit Juarez. Canada estimates that Americans spend on the average of $13 each when in Canada for a day.

ACQUITTED
BY A JURY
HERE TODAYEmotion Registered
First Time in The Trial

Leah Bailey was acquitted this morning on charges of murdering Dan Horn, peace officer in Monahans.

For the first time since 1928, when the machinery of the law began revolving in a case that was destined to clutter up the records of two counties and those of the court of criminal appeals, the defendant showed emotion.

"We the jury find the defendant not guilty," District Clerk—Romer read, and Mrs. Bailey could not fight back her feelings.

The woman who had stolidly refused to show reaction on two former jury verdicts that resulted in 99-year sentences, blinked her eyes several times, then became tearful.

For a moment she tried to hide this from curious court spectators then, suddenly changing, put a small lace handkerchief back in her purse and, in complete abandonment, embraced women and shook hands with counsel, jurors, state's attorneys and jailers.

The jury brought in the verdict early this morning, after getting the case after 11 o'clock at a night session Wednesday. Arguments began late Wednesday afternoon, after a long recess had been granted to prepare the charge following closing of defense testimony. Sides were limited to two hours each, by mutual agreement.

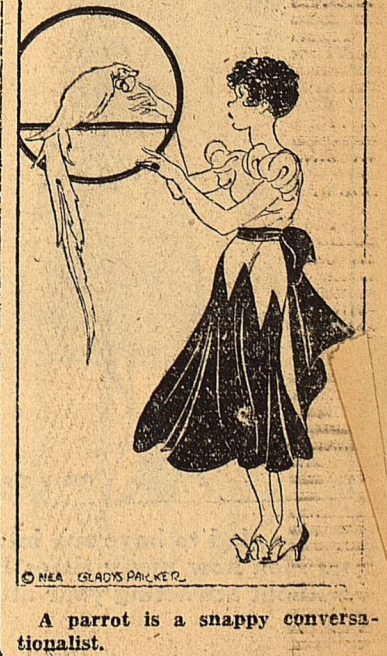

Strangely enough, three district prosecuting attorneys were arrayed on the state's side: the present district attorney, W. R. Smith Jr., former District Attorney Roy I. Biggs who preceded Smith, and Henry Russell who preceded Biggs. Biggs opened the arguments for the state, reviewing the case against Leah Bailey and asking that the jury weigh the evidence carefully and give the defendant the same justice the state asked "for the protection of society."

Defense Counsel G. W. Dunaway spoke for more than an hour. He told the jury Leah Bailey shot in defense of her life, that the state had never introduced sufficient evidence to prove otherwise. He reminded the jury that the burden of proof rested on the state and that the state had failed to do much more than build up a "hypothetical case."

District Attorney Smith made a strong argument, speaking quietly and employing sarcasm as he answered Dunaway's argument. He said he was employed to see that justice was "meted out" to the defendant as well as the state, but that he was convinced the defendant was guilty of murder, with malice.

Tom Ridgell, who had conducted the case for the defense, disputed the arguments of state attorneys who preceded him, reviewed the evidence and explained minutely to (See LEAH BAILEY page 4).

"BUSINESS COOPERATION"

"Most of us feel that the 'get together spirit' of American business men is one of the best things about them. It is one of the greatest contributions to good will, higher morale, and material betterment."

"In fact, it is one of the elements of American business strength which competent European observers look upon quite frankly with envy. The excessive individualism, the suspicion, the almost medieval cloistered secrecy that you find in many parts of Old World business life are the despair of the more ambitious leaders over there, who are outspoken in their longing for 'something comparable to American business team work.'"

"In very great measure, the commercial advance of the United States in recent years is directly due to organizations like Chambers of Commerce and Trade Associations."

"The significance of the American trade or commerce associations is profound. Its ideal of cooperation is incalculably important. The old-time notion was 'Every man for himself' (and the rest of that foolish adage). But gradually our business men came to see that in many vital respects their interests were identical with those of all the other persons engaged in their particular industry, activity, or trade, and that many pressing problems could be combated and solved only by cooperative effort. It was through a realization of these truths that trade associations and Chambers of Commerce were created and have risen vigorously to a position of power and prestige."

"Sane solidarity and mutual helpfulness are the great motivating forces of the modern American trade or commerce associations. The old-time crabbed, suspicious merchant or manufacturer who waged lone-handed guerilla warfare would, I think, be overcome with amazement if he could witness the candid interchange of opinion (even to 'ledger experience'), the manifest willingness to submerge petty self-interest in the common welfare, and all the other qualities that distinguish the deliberations of a trade association."

"I hear some trade and commerce association members talking these days about the possibility of resigning from the organization, with the object mainly of saving money. In contemplating any such move, I think they will do well to give pretty careful thought to a number of extremely vital aspects of the situation."

"I believe that the titanic developments of modern business have made such organizations practically indispensable. The requirements of commercial life are too stringent now—the problems are too far-reaching and too intricate—to be grappled with effectively by any single firm, however courageous or self-confident it may be. Mass action is imperative—and mass assaults can move mountains."

"Really remarkable results have been achieved through cooperative advertising by trade associations and chambers of commerce. Such associations spend each year more than ten million dollars on commercial advertising. Some exceedingly profitable slogans and ideas have been popularized that way. And, through such activity, industries have been made alive to the possibilities of creating business rather than merely 'swapping customers.'"

While Mr. Hoover was Secretary of Commerce, on one occasion when he was speaking about trade and commerce associations, he said: "They are the safeguards of small business and thus prevent the extinction of competition. They are the alternative to capital consolidation. The underlying purposes of the vast majority are constructive." And, referring to the broad impulses which find expression in such bodies, Mr. Hoover added with conviction: "With wisdom and devotion these voluntary forces can accomplish more for our country than any spread of the hand of government."

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

Hope for the outlaw! The Sweetwater Reporter gives an account of the marriage of Miss Hazel Hope to Mr. George Outlaw, attorney of that city.

The town of Kilgore, according to reports from East Texas, is having its troubles too in keeping a ball park. On three different occasions, lots have been bought and construction of a park started only to find that location for an oil test had been made and there wouldn't be room for both oil and baseball. Different troubles from those we are having securing a park here, but similar inasmuch as there won't be any place to play ball.

The "real Buck Jones" of the movies says that his own wild west show at one time cleaned him out to the tune of about $250,000. "But it gave me a lot of laughs," he added. I think of him as I do the laughing hyena. "What the dickens does he have to laugh at?"

Chew on this one: Wrigley spends $3,000,000 a year to promote more gum chewing, and this advertising sells enough chewing gum to wax every floor in America. Speaking of chewing gum, the way for Midland merchants to wax prosperous is to buy more advertising.

Lila Lee, Famed Star of "Covered Wagon," Coming to Ritz Friday; Strong Drama Today Shows Doug Jr. and Dove

Lila Lee started her career on the stage when four and one half years old in a Kiddie Revue, and she has been in the profession ever since. She is one of the few performers whose career has had to break from childhood to womanhood.

Gus Edwards saw her in the revue, sitting on top of a piano singing, and liked her so much that he put her under contract, naming her "Cuddles," and thereafter she toured the country with his famous show. Her education was obtained from private tutors during this time. Miss Lee was born July 25, 1903 in New York City. Her family moving to Union Hill, New Jersey, while she was still a baby.

In 1918 Jesse L. Lasky saw Lila and offered her a screen test. This was made under the direction of Cecil B. De Mille, and a contract followed. Her initial picture was "The Crusade of the Make Believe," with Mrs. Wallace Reid. Thereafter she appeared in leading parts in "Male and Female," "Blood and Sand," and "Back Home and Broke."

After completing her five year contract she married James Kirkwood. They went to New York, where she appeared in "The Bride Retires," and other plays. Later they returned to Los Angeles, where they appeared together in a number of stage plays.

They bought a ranch two hundred and fifty miles from Los Angeles, where they lived until Miss Lee was induced to return in the talkies, in which she was an instantaneous success, one of her biggest hits being in "Drag" with Richard Barthelmess. She is under contract to First National pictures.

Miss Lee who is five feet five inches in height, has black hair and hazel eyes. She has a son, James Kirkwood Jr., aged five.

Lila Lee is a great lover of outdoor sports, including riding and motor-boating. His hobby is ranch life. She prefers the quiet to the hectic round of Hollywood.

She is coming to the Ritz theatre in "Woman Hungry," the first National Vitaphone all-Technicolor special which also features Sidney Blackmer, Fred Kohler, and Raymond Hatton. Clarence Badger directed. The film shows Friday and Saturday.

Today

Billie Dove goes in for powerful drama in her latest First National and Vitaphone production, "One Night at Susie's," showing at the Ritz theatre today.

The famous film beauty has never appeared in such a tense dramatic vehicle, according to her director, John Francis Dillon, who directed her in "Careers" and other pictures.

In "One Night at Susie's," Miss Dove is forced to commit murder in self-defense and to let her sweetheart go to prison in her place. The sacrifices she then makes for him more than compensates.

Eight Birthday of May Day Celebrated In Many Countries

The eighth birthday of National Child Health Day to be celebrated throughout the country tomorrow finds the spirit and observance of May Day taking on an international character, according to Miss Martha Bredemeier, county nurse.

"In addition to Canada seven foreign countries are planning to celebrate Child Health Day," said Miss Bredemeier. "Ceylon is working on a program carefully planned by a member of the Ceylon Department of Health. The Governor of Ceylon will issue a May Day proclamation and will meet with the heads of all the larger welfare organizations as well as interested and influential individuals in Colombo on May Day, when leading authorities will speak on child health, and The Children's Charter will be adopted as the program of work for the coming year."

"Other countries where May Day will be observed are South Africa, Japan, Siam, Burma, Peru and China. Cuba, Hawaii, and Porto Rico, will also celebrate," Miss Bredemeier said.

In speaking of the origin of May Day as an international institution, Miss Bredemeier said that Child Health Day had been promoted especially by the International Council of Women which represents thirty-seven countries. "From the time the idea was first presented by a representative of the American Child Health Association at the Council's meeting in Geneva three years ago until a definite resolution calling for the promotion of Child Health Day in each country was passed at the Council's meeting in Vienna last June," she said, "it has had the support of prominent women."

Recently the Executive Board of the American Federation of Labor passed a resolution asking the International Labor office at Geneva to work with the National Labor organizations in an effort to put May Day on the constructive footing of health for children and to change its character as a day for general lawlessness on the part of certain political elements in the population.

Home-made Rug Sale Brings Furniture And Shrubs

A home-made rug has brought a new kitchen sink and a yard full of shrubs to Mrs. S. H. Gwyn, Midland county home demonstration club woman. Selling a hooked rug in February for $20 she bought a good second-hand 18 by 30 sink with lead trap and brackets for $5. A neighbor furnished some discarded pipe, and Mr. Gwyn and son did the work. The total cost was $5.75, and with the balance more shrubs were bought for the yard.

Club Year Closes With Two Study Programs

Two study programs concluded the club year of the Wednesday club at a meeting with Mrs. O. B. Holt yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. J. M. White led the programs, one on "The Mechanics of Housekeeping" and the other, "Fine Arts in the Home."

"Modern Appliances — Cooking Laundry and Refrigeration" was given by the leader; "Budgeting — System of the Day's Work, and Marketing," by Mrs. Russell Lloyd; "Leisure in the Home," by Mrs. J. M. DeArmond.

On the fine arts subject these topics were discussed: "Pictures—What the Homemaker Should Know About Pictures," by Mrs. White; "Music—The Use and Abuse of the Radio—Radio, the Moulder of Public Opinion — True Musicianship—Music, the Character Builder," by Mrs. Leon Goodman; "Magazines—The Entertaining, the Cultural, the Inspirational, the Mirror of Currents Events, the Scientific, the Precognious," by Mrs. W. TUNG TREES FURNISH OIL

JACKSON, Miss., Apr. 30, (UP).—An experiment is being conducted by the Illinois Railroad in Forrest County by raising tung trees, which produce oil for the manufacture of waterproof varnishes. According to E. E. Holcomb, general superintendent for the railroad here, practically all of the oil is imported from China. Already 350,000 trees have been successfully raised, which is enough for 3,600 acres. Transplanting is now underway.

The longest village in the world is probably Kempton, near Bradford, England. It straggles along a single road for seven miles.

Pretty Spring Party Compliment to Laf-a-lot Members

Decorations in pink and yellow shades made an attractive setting for the informal bridge affair given in honor of Laf-a-lot club members at the apartment of Mrs. A. C. Francis Wednesday afternoon.

Crystal baskets of sweet peas were awarded to Mrs. John Gay and Mrs. N. W. Bigham for high table cuts. High score favor was won by Mrs. W. M. Schrock and high cut by Mrs. Aldredge Estes.

Sherbets and cakes tinted in the yellow and pink were served at tea time to Misses J. A. Tuttle, John Gay, H. B. Dunagan, W. M. Schrock, Aldredge Estes, A. Wadley and N. W. Bigham.

Train Dispatchers Suffer From Unusual Eye Disease

The railway train dispatcher is responsible for recording on a train sheet the location of trains, the orders for their movements and other factors having to do with the work of the road.

As is pointed out by Dr. Carey P. McCord, who recently investigated a peculiar disturbance of the eyes occurring particularly among such workers, the dispatcher may have as many as 200 telephone calls in an hour regarding which he must make decisions, and he must enter on the train sheet, which is constantly being moved back and fourth and up and down, decisions thus made.

Obviously this continuous motion of the eyes, the head and the sheet may produce undue strain on the mechanism of the eye, producing not only the abnormal eye movements known as nystagmus but also a twitching of the eyelids due to fatigue and defects of vision.

Doctor McCord examined 121 train dispatchers in widely separated sections of the country and from 17 different railroads. He found some nystagmus in 81 or 67 per cent.

There is a form of nystagmus which is related to disturbances of the internal ear, but that which appears in train dispatchers is not of this character. It is important to realize that the visual disturbance is wholly associated with the occupation.

The train dispatcher ordinarily begins this work between the ages of 30 and 35, although at present there is a tendency for younger men to go into the work. The condition tends to progress to some extent the longer the man remains at the occupation, but does not tend to go to the point of total disability as in the case of nystagmus among miners.

Another interesting observation made on the train dispatchers was the fact that many of them have

INVEST IN AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

The TOP of every FRIGIDAIRE is a porcelain-topped table

Food on its way into a Frigidaire and food on its way out need not be juggled, or tip-tilted, or inconveniently parked on the distant kitchen table . . . the flat expanse of showy porcelain atop the Frigidaire makes such a perfect serving shelf!

It is an ideal place to put piping-hot things that should be cooled off before they are exposed to low temperatures . . . a splendid permanent place to keep the few foods that need not be refrigerated.

And nothing—hot or cold, smooth or scratchy—can in any way, scar or mar the lifelong lustre of its diamond-hard Porcelain-on-steel finish.

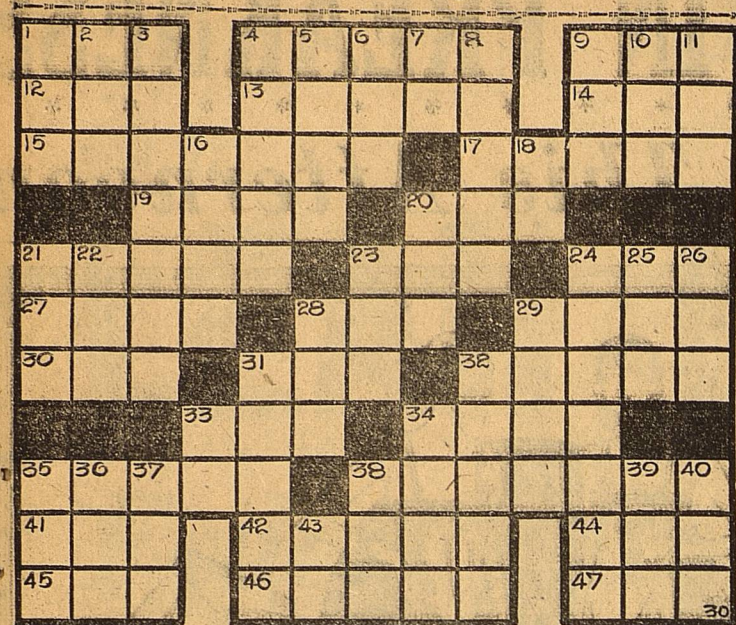

A conveniently flat, unencumbered serving table top is one of the very real advantages of Frigidaire Advanced Refrigeration. There are many others. We invite you to come in and learn all about them.

YOUNG MILLIONAIRES ARE RIVALS FOR VICTORY IN PREAKNESS

Lions and Rotarians Meet in Playground Ball Game This Afternoon

$50,000 TO FALL IN THE ARMS OF RICH

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 30.—

A rich young man is going to be richer by about $50,000 when the Preakness is run May 9 at old Pimlico. The moral would seem to be "them as has gets."

Three young millionaires have entered three horses in the 58-year-old classic of spring racing in Maryland. The horses will be favorite when they go to the post. The names (horses first) are Equipoise, Twenty Grand and Mate, and the wealthy young men who will send them to the post are, in the same order as the horses, Cornelius V. Whitney, J. H. Whitney and A. C. Bostwick.

Cornelius (Sonny) Whitney's Equipoise apparently will be the hot favorite. Months ago he was quoted in the winter books on the Kentucky Derby at 4 to 1. But Equipoise has no such field to lick as Gallant Fox lined up with last year. This year's Preakness candidates have what horsemen call class, and it should be a memorable battle.

J. H. (Doc) Whitney, son of Mrs. Payne Whitney and a cousin of Sonny, is bringing his fine 3-year-old Twenty Grand to the races. Between the two Whitney families there has always been the keenest rivalry. The boys are merely carrying on the traditions of their fathers, Harry Payne Whitney and Payne Whitney, who spent millions in battles of the turf. The boys are ready to spend some millions, too.

The battle proper is expected to be between Equipoise and Twenty Grand, but word drifts in from Maryland that Mate, the A. C. Bostwick entry, was never in better condition.

Tremendous fortunes are behind

ELEVEN YEARS OF PREAKNESS HISTORY
Year	Winner	Wt.	Jockey	Time	Value
1920	Man o' War	126	C. Kummer	1:51.6	$23,000
1921	Broomspun	114	Cottiletti	1:54.2	43,000
1922	Pillory	114	Morris	1:51.6	51,000
1923	Vigil	114	Marinelli	1:53.6	52,000
1924	Nellie Morse	121	Merimee	1:57.2	54,000
1925	Covenry	126	C. Kummer	1:59	52,700
1926	Display	126	Malben	1:59.8	53,625
1927	Bostonian	126	Abel	2:01.6	53,100
1928	Victorian	126	Workman	2:00.2	60,000
1929	Dr. Freeland	126	Schaefer	2:01.6	52,325
1930	Gallant Fox	126	Sande	2:00.6	51,925

the three young men whose horses seem to be the top choices for the first big battle of the year for 3-year-old supremacy. Great resources were left to Cornelius V. Whitney by the late Harry Payne Whitney, whose horses swept the turf from 1926 to 1930, except for a year when E. B. McLean was the leading money-winner. J. H. Whitney inherited the Payne Whitney fortune, numbering many bothersome millions. Bostwick, an heir to Standard Oil millions, is a nephew of Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, who presented young Bostwick with a cordial $4,000,000 on his 21st birthday.

On 2-year-old form, Equipoise should sweep every important 3-year-old stake of the turf season. He is an Iron Man McGinnity of the tracks. He was subjected to the most thorough kind of tests as a colt, having had 16 races last year. In some of them he was beaten, but only by a chorus-boy's whisker, because he was slow to get under way from the barrier.

Oddly, the late H. P. Whitney, who knew Equipoise only as a yearling, thought lightly of the horse. He once told Jimmy Rowe that he deemed Equipoise an ordinary runner.

"Send him to Bowie," was his advice to Rowe, "and he might win a few cheap races."

Equipoise proved to be the most sensational of the 2-year-olds, but his owner died before the colt had won his fame.

Of Twenty Grand, it may be said that he knows how to beat Equipoise, anyway. In the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes, with weights of 122 pounds, Twenty Grand beat Equipoise by a head, running the mile in 1:36. But, if it rains on Preakness Day, Twenty Grand's chances will be considerably diminished as he does not fancy the splashing. In Maryland later in the year, Equipoise paid Twenty Grand back by handing him an artistic trimming in the mire.

Mate won some good races last year. He wastes no time in starting, but there seems to be some question about his route abilities. He won eight out of 15 races as a 2-year-old, and Jim Healy says the horse never was readier than he is right now.

the jury the charge of the Court. He explained that the jury could not allow the defendant to pay with imprisonment for protecting her life from a "drunk peace officer."

Henry Russell summed up the case for the state, and was interrupted several times by Ridgell, who asked that a bill of exceptions be allowed by the court on several statements of Russell, "not borne out in the evidence."

Calhouns Attend Brady Meeting

The Rev. and Mrs. Edwin C. Calhoun are in Brady, attending a Christian education meeting. "The school is excellent and the type that should be attended by all church members as often as possible," he wrote.

The minister, pastor of the First Methodist church, expects to return Saturday.

GOLF as the STARS play it by ART KRENZ

They Build Practice Tees for You to Iron Out Your Game Before Starting to Play

HIT A FEW SHOTS WITH EACH CLUB BEFORE STARTING A ROUND OF GOLF.

© NEA

Why do most golfers need three or four holes in which to warm up?

Spectators in the 1930 National

Open at Interlachen could have seen Hagen, Jones, Smith, Sarazen and others of their favorites perform with all of their sticks without moving from the comforting shade near the practice tee. Incidentally, you may recall that the Open last year was played in one of those good old-fashioned hot spells. But getting back to business, this shows how serious the stars take their practice shots, a department neglected by 50 per cent of the duffers.

The practice tee is the place to iron out your shots and loosen your muscles for play. It won't hurt any player to hit at least five shots with each club at in his bag before stepping up to the first tee. Think back on some of your recent rounds and you probably can see a few spots where five or 10 minutes of practice would have saved you that miserable 7 or 8.

Radio Retires Song Plugger to Limbus

The tin-tinselled tenor who once leaped down alleys from one vaudeville house to another to "plug" the latest product of the jazz publishers is permanently out of employment. His stage-to-stage efforts to reach a few hundred people a day with a song have been made obsolete by a vehicle which can reach many millions a night—radio.

Today the song-plugger is unacquainted with grease paint and stage ways. He raises his voice in song only at civic clubs luncheons. Occasionally he takes a "demonstrator"—a singer—with him to visit a great orchestra leader, a radio station, a commercial sponsor, or the sponsor's advertising agency, but usually he does not. He gets his song broadcast on the basis of its suitability for a particular performer or a particular program; in the old days the plugger would furnish the largest cash inducement was given the chance to force his songs, good or bad, on the vaudeville audiences.

The business of sutting the song to the singer has made New York music publishers divide up the leading orchestras and singers on the air according to their "type." Morton Downey, Rudy Vallee and Ben Bernie are generally considered the best men for "heartbroken" songs. Ted Lewis became the leading exponent of the "sunshine" song when his Musical Clowns went out on an N. B. C. chain recently. Representatives of eight song publishers were waiting in Ted's dressing room after his first Saturday evening broadcast, although he had always been a good bet because of his phonograph record sales. Paul Whiteman, Vincent Lopez and B. A. Fiske are three of the best on "polite" dance music artists and Cab Calloway and Duke Ellington rate high, low and sweet school.

ENGAGEMENT SET FOR 6 BELLS AT H. S.

The battling behemoths of the Lions and Rotary clubs meet on the playground ball diamond of the high school this afternoon at 6 o'clock for the annual slugging bee of the service groups.

The game promises to be filled with errors, mistakes and boners, if there's any difference in the terms.

None of the players has been practicing, and the afternoon is being considered as the eve of sore joints, strained ligaments and blistered feet.

Information as to who will pitch, referee, or take other important sports offices has been withheld carefully.

SPORTS REPORTS

Bob Scruggs and his entry into the playground ball league established two things: first, that a golfer who uses a floater on the water hazards is as adaptable as a duck to playing the soft ball variety of diamond sport on a ground as flooded as a Florida sub-division; second, that the Bulck boys are out to win the second half of the league. Taking the place of the Gulf Pipeline company, Bob sent his boys against the wild Nail Sackers of Dee McCormick, and dropped a heavy hitting row, 17-16. More long pokes were taken than in any game we remember this season.

Some statistician should give us the dope on the all-time record of the Lions-Rotary annual clashes on the sports fields. This afternoon they play at 6, in a playground ball affair, on the high school diamond. A baseball game will be played in the near future between these teams.

A playground ball audience, denied seeing the sport for several days, should be out in big numbers to see the game. The ground has dried, according to all reports, and the skidding on the peddles should be as graceful as ever.

We will never hear the end of the sports cup matter that blew up in Odessa last Sunday. The cup has been removed from the trophy rack in the front office and placed on display in the job department. That's Mr. Holster's department, if you are interested in seeing the trophy.

El Paso Plans Golden Jubilee

EL PASO, Tex., Apr. 30. (UP).—The date that the first "iron horse" steamed into the "straggling little village that was El Paso" has been selected for the observance of El Paso's golden anniversary.

May 19, 1881—the first locomotive came into El Paso, and on May 19 this year, a great jubilee will be staged.

Civic clubs, railroads, banks and other business organizations that have golden anniversaries this year will participate.

More than 25,000 visitors are expected from El Paso's trade territory in contrast to the handful of 100—then considered a great crowd—that cheered the first locomotive in 1881.

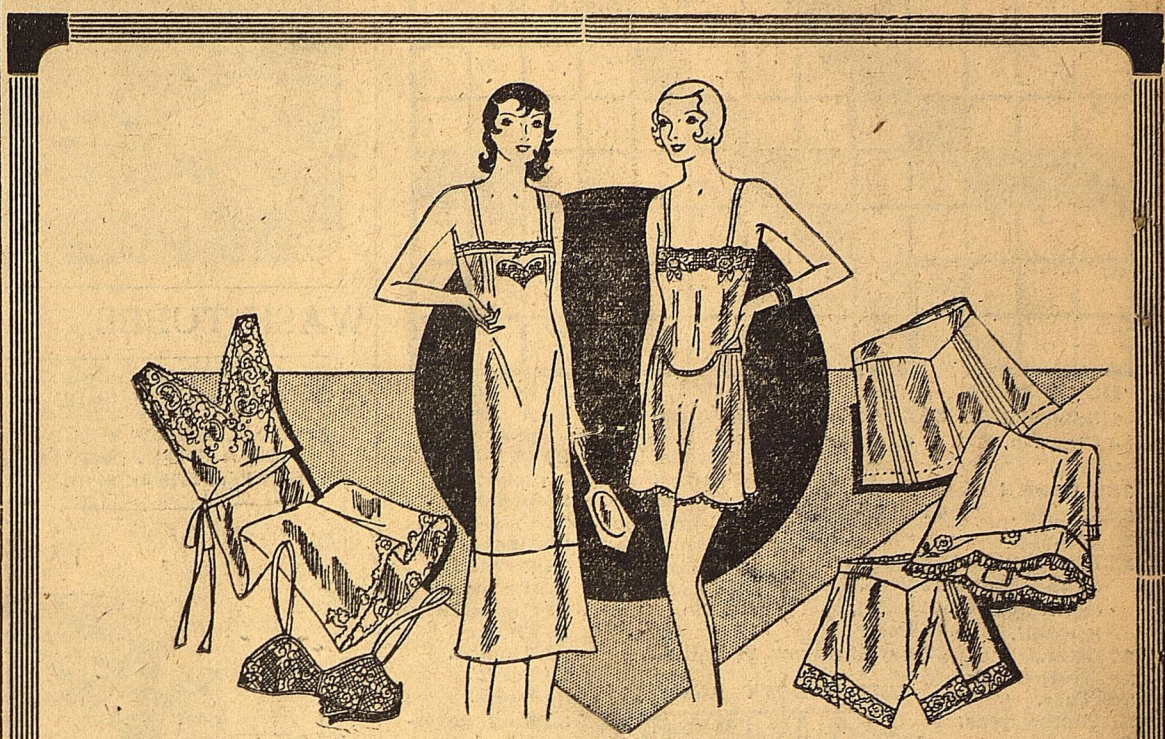

A parade that will depict the growth of El Paso in the desert from a group of adobe houses to a modern city will be one of the features. The Southern Pacific, the first railroad to enter El Paso, will have some old type trains here for the celebration. The Texas and Pacific railroad also will participate, although it did not make its rail connection with this city until 1882.

Rebekahs Hold Sale Saturday

Death Valley Scotty Ired

RENO, Apr. 30. (UP).—Death Valley Scotty has served his third warning on the United States government that unless it ceases to interfere with his plans for completing construction of his historical Grapevine ranch, that he will move out and leave the buildings and other improvements to the desert bats and owls.

Scotty is ired by "the tin soldiers of the national park system who want to use us for scenery." The government has even failed to notice Scotty's repeated warnings, and this can only be regarded as a slight. The ranch property has called for an expenditure of $2,500,000 since 1922, and would cost $1,500,000 more to complete the elaborate improvements planned.

Albert M. Johnson, Scotty's reputed partner, says that on one day recently 175 travelers visited the ranch, and proceeded to prowl through the house. A recently hired Armenian guide takes them
