Sgt. Perez returns after six months in desert

After almost 6 months of living in the desert, Sgt. Daniel Perez of Lockney returned home for a short visit before going back to his base in Ft. Sheridan, Illinois.

Perez, the son of Joe. S. and Georgia Perez, left for Saudi Arabia on October 14, 1990. He was detached to the 44th Medical Brigade, 714th Medical Detachment.

A 17-year veteran of the army, Perez spent his first three years in infantry as a rappelling instructor. He then went into the field of preventive medicine, training at the Academy of Health Science in Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio. He is now a Preventive Medicine Sgt.

As a Sgt. of preventive medicine Perez, and men like him, were responsible for surveys of the areas that the soldiers were living in. "We had to make the sure the living conditions of the soldiers were suitable," said Perez.

"We would inspect the water sources, make sure the food sources were approved, do mosquito surveys and advise them how to control the flies and rats."

After the soldiers began the march into Iraq, then Perez's priorities changed slightly to processing and care of prisoners. "We would de-louse the prisoners," said Perez, "and instruct the military police how to set up units around the prison sights. We advised on the sanitary landfills, water sights, food sights, and how to dispose of human waste and kitchen waste."

"Control of insects and rodents was also a concern at the prison sights and around the camps."

"We also tested the air after the oil wells were set on fire, so we could monitor if there was anything in the air that was harmful to the soldiers."

Perez believes that the polluted air would be harmful to anyone who was exposed to it for a long period of time. "It would be like living in Los Angeles," said Perez. "If you stayed for a long time the pollution would probably hurt your lungs."

When asked what condition the prisoners were in, Perez said, "They were malnourished and glad to be captured. We fed them lamb chops, chicken and rice and beans."

"You could tell most of them didn't want to be there. Some of them were wearing regular clothing when they were captured."

"They were afraid of Hussein and us, but once we received them and started treating them according to the Geneva Convention, they relaxed. They would write letters home and they were paid for jobs they would do."

Having trained in the Mojave Desert in California, the Saudi Arabia desert did not bother Perez. "I just compared it to my training sight, although the wind was rougher. The worst part was the heat and sandstorms."

"The sandstorms were a lot worse than West Texas. For one thing the dust is real fine (like talcum powder). We called it moon dust."

"The flies were also real bad. There are dead carcasses throughout Saudi Arabia. When livestock dies, the animal is just left where it lays, which causes the flies."

Even though 80 miles behind the front lines, Perez came pretty close to some SCUD missiles. "On the 13th of February, about five miles from camp, one

Reservist visits parents following mission

By Alice Gilroy

Clay Hamilton, a Floydada native, has been "given a 5 day vacation by Pres. Bush". He used the time to stop and visit his parents, Charles and Bobbie Hamilton, on his way home to Arlington, Virginia, from his mission in Saudi Arabia.

A '78 Floydada graduate, Capt. Hamilton, 31, has been part of the Army Reserve since 1982. He left his work with the Foreign Agriculture Service (part of USDA), in Washington D.C. when he was activated January 3.

He was first sent to Ft. Bragg, N.C., before being deployed to Saudi Arabia on Feb. 6, as a member of the 414th Civil Affairs Company.

The 414th unit was attached to COSCOM (Corps Support Command) which was a support command for the 7th Corp.

CIVIL AFFAIRS TEAMS

"From COSCOM we were broken down into smaller groups," said Hamilton. "I led a civil affairs team that was attached to the 7th Corp Support Group. The support groups are responsible for arranging for supplies and making sure they get to the right people."

As part of the civil affairs teams, Hamilton, and men like him, were responsible for advising military on civilian matters and vice-versa. "We arbitrate between the army and civilians," said Hamilton.

Capt. Hamilton explained that civil affairs people are responsible for three different stages during wartime. "Before the war breaks out we act as advisors on civil matters. We try and keep problems from happening between civilians and the military. For instance, while in Saudi Arabia we arranged for the use of civilian wells for the military."

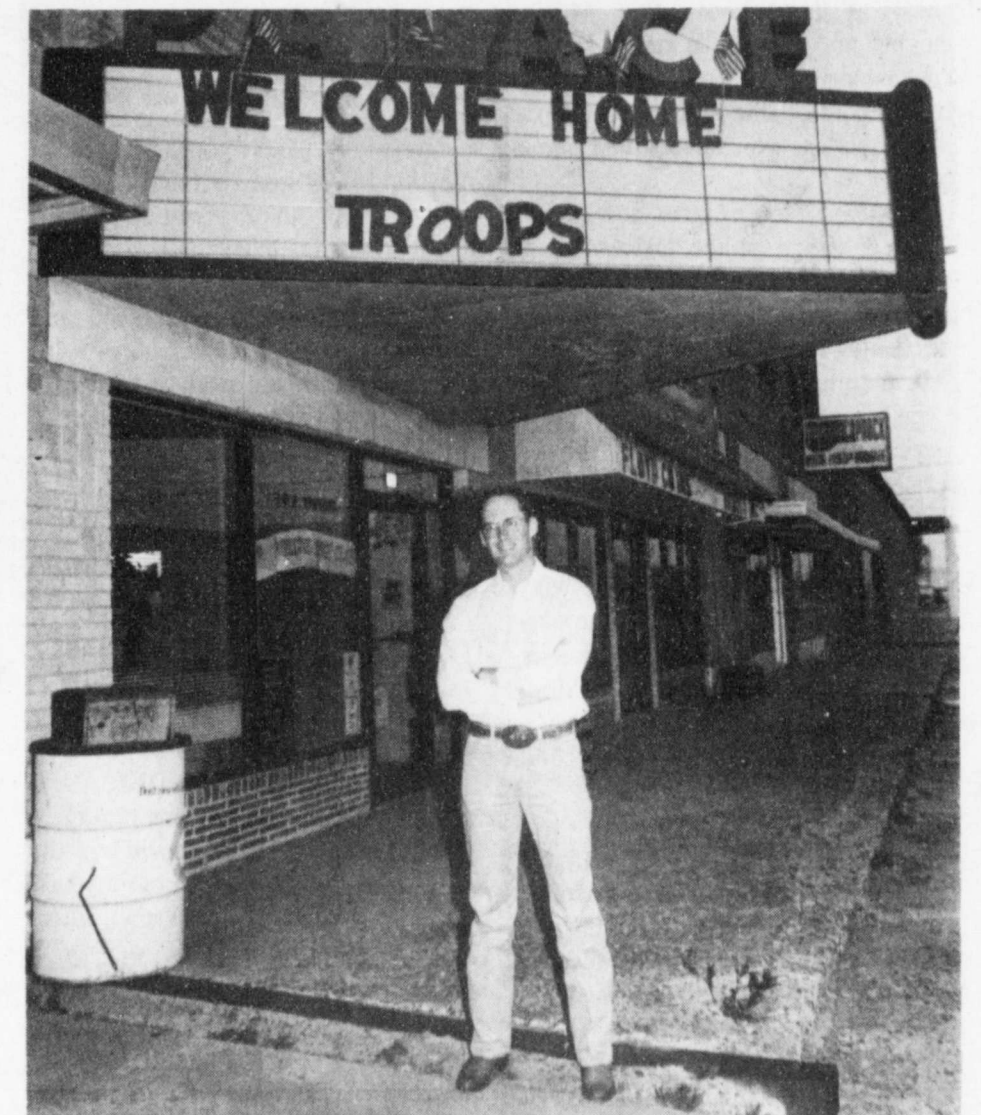

Civil affairs men are expected to study the culture of the people in the area and advise the military how to handle citizens of the particular area. When asked if Civil Affairs companies handled the mass of news media that was in the area, Hamilton replied that they are handled by the Army Public Relations Division.

"We were called on one occasion said Hamilton. "There were a couple of newsmen in Saudi Arabia that were taking a bunch of pictures in a town. The constable told them to stop and the

Pedestrian injured in accident

Norma Martin, a Floydada resident, was injured in an accident last Friday, April 12. Martin was walking west on the roadway of West Georgia Street for exercise, a practice she follows daily, when she was struck by a 1983 Buick. The accident occurred at about 7:30 p.m.

The driver of the vehicle, a 17 year-old white female, told investigating officers that she was blinded by the sun and did not see the pedestrian until she had already hit her.

Martin was transported to Caprock Hospital by Floydada EMS personnel and later transferred to Lubbock. According to a hospital spokesperson, Martin was suffering from possible head and internal injuries and required monitoring not available at Caprock.

Floydada sophomore wins second at State Science Fair

By Bill Gray

Floydada High School sophomore Michael Gilliland competed in the State Science Fair in Austin on April 12 and 13, and captured second place honors with his biology project. The award was significant because the competition in the division was for grades 9-12. The state contest is sponsored in part by General Telephone Electronics in cooperation with the University of Texas.

Michael is the son of Bobby and Barbara Gilliland. He is enrolled in the Gifted and Talented program at F.H.S., where his mentor and advisor is Mrs. Teresa Hollums.

Gilliland qualified for the state contest as a result of placing first overall in 10th grade biology and first place in zoology at the Regional Science Fair at Texas Tech University earlier this Spring. Gilliland gave this explanation of his award winning project:

"The purpose of the project was to determine if chlorella (a type of algae) could be fed to a hydra (a small organism that inhabits local ponds) and develop a symbiotic relationship. A symbiotic relationship is one in which both partners benefit by living together."

Michael added, "In nature, the hydra is found in three species - white hydra, brown hydra and green hydra. The green and the brown hydra have a natural algae living in them. My concept was to observe if the white hydra, fed chlorella, would gain the ability to live during starvation and regrow a cut tentacle faster and healthier."

In summation, he said, "The results were outstanding. The fed hydra not only lived during a period of starvation, but also regrew their tentacles at a much faster rate."

Gilliland added, "My intentions for this project are to submit my findings as an essay to a scientific journal and continue my experiments."

Mrs. Hollums confirmed that several of the judges and instructors in Austin have encouraged Michael to continue his work and submit his data for publication. Mrs. Hollums also noted how busy Michael is in his other activities. He did much of the research for the project last summer because one school started he was involved in band and Whirlwind football, basketball and track.

Also a talented musician, Gilliland returns to Austin in June to compete in U.I.L. solo on the contrabass clarinet.

By The Way

By Alice Gilroy

I have really enjoyed interviewing all the returning servicemen. Every one of them has been different with different responsibilities while they were in Saudi Arabia.

If you are waiting to see the story in the paper of your family member and it hasn't run yet, just be patient. We are having to space them out to get everybody in.

One of the things I have really enjoyed about these men is how polite they have all been. It might not be a bad idea to send all our teenagers into the service for about a year. They could learn to shake your hand firmly, look you in the eye when they are talking, say Yes Ma'am and No Ma'am (even though it makes me feel old), and appreciate what they have at home.

A lot of these guys have been asked to speak at the schools. One Marine laughed and said all the kids at Duncan kept asking him if he had shot anybody. It was kind of like—you aren't a real soldier unless you have killed someone.

I told him I sort of knew how he felt. When I was a police officer people would always ask me if I had ever had to shoot anybody. But these were grown ups asking me that.

Sometimes I felt like they didn't think I was a real cop unless I shot someone weekly like they do on the TV shows.

People didn't seem to understand that in real life cops don't shoot people everyday. All cops do is put on a uniform and make themselves a target everyday.

Soldiers in Saudi Arabia did the same thing. They may not have all "seen action". They just all put on the uniform and made themselves a target, ready to die for this country and foreign countries, because we asked them to.

Do We Have As Much Sense As A Goose

This fall when you see geese heading south for the winter flying along in "V" formation, you might be interested in knowing what science has discovered about why they fly that way. It has been learned that as each bird flaps its wings, it creates an uplift for the bird immediately following.

By flying in a "V" formation, the whole flock adds at least 71% greater flying range than if the bird flew on its own. (People who share a common direction and sense of community can get where they are going quicker and easier, because they are traveling on the thrust of one another).

Whenever a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of trying to go it alone, and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the lifting power of the bird immediately in front. (If we have as much sense as a goose, we will stay in formation with those who are headed the same way we are going.) When the lead goose gets tired, he rotates back in the wing and another goose flies point. (It pays to take turns doing hard jobs—with people or with geese flying south.) The geese honk from behind to encourage those up front to keep up their speed. (What do we say when we honk from behind?)

And finally, when a goose gets sick, or is wounded by gun shot and falls out, two geese fall out of formation and follow it down to help and protect it. They stay with the goose until it is either able to fly again or until it is dead, and then they launch out on their own or with another formation to catch up with their group. (If we have the sense of a goose, we will stand by each other like that.)

Have A Good Week!

The Floyd County Historical Museum has a special display to educate the public on the importance of realizing the need to preserve our prehistoric and historic heritage. The display of artifacts will stay on display through the month of April.

The history of Floyd County is generally thought of as going back a little over 100 years. Actually our history goes back to about 11,000 years when our people hunted the mammoth and prehistoric buffalo. This time period is called the Paleo Period (Paleo means ancient).

As time went by changes in the environment resulted in weather changes. The mammoth became extinct about 9,000 years ago and the ancestor of our modern buffalo became extinct about 5,000 years ago.

This caused our native Americans (Indians) to change their life patterns. The Indians were still hunters as there was an abundant supply of modern buffalo, but they also harvested various types of plant life such as wild plums, grapes, and plant to supplement their diet. They used all parts of the buffalo besides buffalo meat.

They tanned the hides for shelters and clothing. Since refrigeration was not available at that time, they dried meat to preserve it. The bones were made into tools and ornaments.

The men did the hunting and the women harvested wild plant life, and we believe the women did the butchering. This period is called the Archaic Period (Archaic means old) and started about 5,000 years ago. They did not have the bow, so they used a throwing stick called the atlatl with a short spear called a dart with large flint points.

The next time period is called the Prehistoric Period from about 1,000 to 1,500 A.D. The bow was invented and the atlatl was no longer used. Instead the arrow shaft was used with small projectile points. During this time corn, beans, and squash were developed and pottery was made.

Many of the Indian tribes became settled and built villages such as the Puebloans in New Mexico and East Texas Mound Builders. Our Indians were still hunters, but they traded dried meat and hides for the crops the farming Indians were growing and pottery.

Earliest contact with European people (Spanish) was in 1,541 A.D. when Coronado crossed our area in search for "The Seven Cities of Gold". This time period is called the Historic Period.

The lifestyle of the native Americans changed drastically as European explorers introduced the horse and metal. These new things were the cause of a new lifestyle. Trade for metal was active during this time. The early explorers offered them things they particularly wanted such as glass beads to keep the Indians peaceful.

When the pioneer settlers started invading the Indian's land, the Indians tried to destroy their homes in order to force the settlers out of their homeland. The Indians did not want to be forced onto the reservations in Oklahoma.

The earliest known tribe occupying Floyd County were the Apaches and Teyas. Coronado's records describe what were the Apaches when he explored this part of Texas in 1541. He also described a people he called the Teyas who were of East Texas extraction, but they just came to hunt.

We don't know the names of the tribes that lived in our area before the Apaches and Teyas. The Comanches invaded the South Plains and were successful in driving out the Apaches. By 1746 A.D. the Comanches dominated our area until General Randle S. Mackenzie was successful in defeating the Comanches in the Battle of Palo Duro Canyon in 1874.

We know a lot about the Indians from 11,000 years ago until 1874, but we don't know the whole story. In order to preserve Indian sites for intensive study, it is important our Indian sites be preserved. When sites are vandalized, important facts about the lifestyles of our Indian predecessors are lost.

If you should find an arrow point and other flint tools and pieces of metal associated with an Indian site, please report it to the Floyd County Historical Museum or the Texas Tech Museum so the information from the site can be preserved.

Remember, you can help in recovering the history and life patterns of our predecessors. We still have a lot to learn, and we hope you with your help can fill the gaps in our prehistoric and historic history. Don't destroy or vandalize the places where the Indians lived. Some day with your help we can fill in the things we don't know about the Indian's way they lived and their customs.

Letter to the Editor

Friday, April 12, 1991:
Dear Editor,

Three weeks ago tonight I was broke down in Floydada at the Dairy Queen. I had been to Matador to pick my son up and was on my way back home to Canyon. I just wanted to say Thank You again to four very nice people. The two girls who were working at the Dairy Queen that night, we thank you. I didn't get their names. Two guys helped us with our car until my husband got to us. Their names were Roy and David. They were brothers and worked for Poole Well Service. All 4 were terrific. We still have a broke down car, but we got home finally about 2 a.m. safely. We had sat for about 2 hrs. when Roy and David asked if they could help me. It took me by surprise. There's not many neighborly people left in this world. We appreciate them. Again - Thank You Folks!

Council authorizes diving board at Floydada City Pool

By Juanita Stepp

Floydada pool patrons will be able to enjoy the use of a one meter diving board this summer at the local swimming facility. A unanimous vote of the Floydada City Council on April 15 approved the purchase and installation of a one meter board before the proposed opening of the pool on May 25. The board will cost $1600.00 plus installation.

Commissioners hear annual audit

By Juanita Stepp

Meeting in special session on Tuesday, April 16, the Floyd County Commissioners Court heard the annual audit report from Davis, Kinard & Company. The report, given by Kate Nutter of the Abilene firm, detailed the financial actions of the county for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1990.

The report was accepted as presented on a motion by Commissioner Floyd Jackson with a second by Commissioner Connie Bearden. The vote was unanimous.

Farm work contracts were approved for Mark McCormick, Jerry Battey, Drew Lloyd, Floyd Jackson, and two for J. A. Welch.

Present for the Tuesday afternoon session were County Judge Bill Hardin, Commissioners Bearden, Jackson, George Taylor and Howard Bishop, Kate Nutter, Jane McAnally, Margaret Herrera, J.M. (Jimmie) Willson, and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

Cyndiann Williams buys Pat Walker's Figure Salon

Effective May 1, Cyndiann Williams, of Floydada, will be the new owner and manager of Pat Walker's Figure Salon.

The salon, which has been located in the back of the Lamplighter Inn will be moved into the same building as Williams Florist, 128 W. California.

Cyndiann and her husband James have owned and operated Williams Florist for nine years. "We are remodeling the storage room," said Cyndiann. "We want to get it set up right away so there won't be a break in the service for the customers. We also hope to expand the hours of the salon a little, for people tion.

There will be no increase in liability insurance costs due to the board according to city manager Gary Brown. Councilman Leroy Burns expressed his reluctance to approve the diving board because of the possibility of injury to divers, but voted with remaining councilmen on a motion by councilman Amado Morales, seconded by councilman Eric Cornelius.

The same motion approved installation of indoor-outdoor carpet to cut down on slippery areas around the pool and the installation of permanent steps to facilitate entry and exits from the pool by small children at the request of operator John Ballew.

Ballew indicated that he intends to charge $2.00 per day per swimmer over age 6. Swimmers 6 and under will pay $1.00. A season pass is being considered, but no price has been set according to Ballew.

Councilman Ruben Barrientos voiced his disapproval of the proposed $2.00 charge, saying, "I feel like that is too much in the case of a family with several children." Barrientos indicated that he would like to see the pool operated by someone concerned more with the entertainment of the children than with making money.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

The city council of Floydada held two public hearings during the Monday evening session. The first concerned a request by Mike Bishop for a variance of a city ordinance concerning the size of a structure he proposes to build on his residential site at the corner of Texas Avenue and California Street. The ordinance would allow a structure of no more than 300 square feet while the proposed building measures 468 square feet.

Bishop has already appeared before the zoning board and received approval pending council action. Due to the fact that the entire structure would be within the confines of Bishop's fenced in property and be architecturally compatible with the existing home, no opposition was heard from the council. As no adjacent residents appeared to protest the variance, the council approved the request on a motion by Cornelius, seconded by Morales.

The second public hearing was in regard to the presentation of a final report detailing the completion of activities on the 1989 water improvement

Trustees briefed on funding bill

Lockney Superintendent Dub Hallmark, briefed school trustees on the recent funding bill passed by the legislature, at the LISD School Board meeting, April 11.

"The House and Senate did pass a compromise funding bill which will have to pass the judge's criteria for equitable funding," said Hallmark. "The judge's ruling is expected Monday morning. We will know more about it after that."

"Simply said, the funding bill sets the minimum tax rate at 72¢. This is misleading, because 72¢ won't fund schools. However, the bill states that the rich school districts must fund at least 72¢.

"The bill also combined some counties into taxing entities, for funding purposes only. There are 254 counties in the state and the legislature created 183 taxing entities. Some of the wealth will be combined and shared.

"Floyd County was not combined with any other county," continued Hallmark. "We don't know all the complete figures yet, but we do know that we won't go in the hole as a result of this funding bill. We will be able to keep our heads above water."

LISD also called for bids for the remodeling of classrooms at Lockney High School. There will be a minimum of three rooms remodeled and possibly as many as six rooms. The bid specifications

Fair board holds regular meeting

By Carol Huggins

The Floyd County Fair Board recently held their regular meeting in the ag building in Lockney. The schedule is shaping up; however there are still some spaces that need to be filled in. The board welcomes ideas from anyone for fun activities.

Another officer change was necessary due to Candace Wauson moving. Betty Hayes was moved to vice-president and Kana Kennedy was elected as secretary. It is hoped that this will be the last change for this year.

Annabel Bramlet has finished piecing the quilt and is making plans to quilt it (please see related story elsewhere in the paper). Beth Bramlet has finalized plans for Ladies Day on Friday during the Fair. The schedule will be published later.

Ethelyn Vernon-Wood is in charge of the "Design A Cover" contest. Everyone elementary through high school age in Floyd County is reminded that the deadline for entering is May 1. The winner will receive a $50 savings bond.

Everyone is also reminded of the May 1 deadline to get your name on the "Friends of the Fair" page in the catalog.

Lake Mackenzie Fishing Report

Ten crappie weighing 5 pounds 14 ounces were caught on chrome minnnowtraps at Tule Creek by Jonathon Espinosa of Tula on Saturday, April 13.

Elbert Bosquv of Plainview caught a 4 pound black bass on spinner bait at Tule Creek on Sunday, April 14.

According to lake authorities, crappie are still being caught in all creeks at a depth of about 6 feet on minnows, worms, jigs and rattletails. The water temperature is 57 degrees and the lake depth is 100.2 feet at the dam.

Contact any Fair Board member to arrange this. All money raised through this project will be put into the air conditioner fund.

There is still a need for someone to organize the parade on Saturday. Kana Kennedy has agreed to contact all of last year's participants but will not be able to work with the parade on Saturday. If anyone is interested in helping with this, please contact Betty Hayes.

Focus on the Environment was the subject of the program for members of 1956 Study Club as they met April 9 in the home of Ruth Crump.

Sharon Henderson, Conservation Department Chairman, presented ways to protect the community and environment in Floyd County. She distributed handouts "The Difference Starts Here" and "Waste Watch" which included lists of items that are recyclable and recycling centers in the Lubbock area.

Members answered roll call by sharing something that had been brought to their attention as a result of focus on the environment.

During the business session President Judy Schacht called for action in the following areas: TFWC Clubhouse, Hugh O'Brian Leadership Seminar, Cal Farley's Boys Ranch and Girlstown, Scholarship to local high school senior, and observance of National Library Week and Teacher Appreciation. Donations were made to each.

Plans for Old Settlers included decorating a downtown window and decorating the pavilion.

Items made and auctioned were a cake by Sharon Rainwater, tamales by Kathy Becker and a Santa stitchery by Jenni Smith.

News from Caprock Hospital

By Jo Bryant

Hi, from the residents and staff of the Floydada Nursing Home. Do hope this finds all well and about.

Monday started the week as usual with morning coffee, juice and cookies. We had a good turn out. Bro. Wright came and shared the devotional with us, we sang some songs, and listened to some songs on tape. In the afternoon the residents painted ceramics.

Tuesday, Bro. Neeley came and shared the word with them, and sang some songs. He also brought the residents some bananas. They always look forward to that. I was gone for the day to Lubbock to the Area Activity Director's Association meeting in Lubbock at the Shepherd King Lutheran Church. Raymond Wolfe, Chaplain from Methodist Hospital spoke on "Death & Dying" where he has worked for the past nine years. Also, Jan Jewell, District Manager of Nova Care spoke on "tips for communicating with nursing home residents." We all ate lunch, then toured three nursing homes. Bender Terrace, Colonial Manor and Pioneer Hotel.

Wednesday, was the regular Bingo day. Linnie Willis had the first Bingo. Mary Alice Davis came and assisted the residents. Bananas, cheese balls and angel food cake were the treats. In the evening, the 1956 Study Club came and brought the residents fruit, juice and crackers. Thanks, that was really a treat.

Thursday, the residents had exercise and music. Then in the evening, we had current events, talked about the depression days, jobs and the new president. They had some popcorn too.

Friday, Fay Benson, Evelyn Latta, ladies from the First Baptist Church came and gave the devotional and sang some songs. Then on to Plainview at 1:30 for the bus ride. McDonalds treated them to some ice cream. Some went shopping at Wal-Mart. It was a nice day, for a ride, we came back by way of the country.

We have two residents in the hospital, they are Kermit Glover and Maureen Gregg. We wish them a speedy recovery. Also out thoughts and prayers go out to Laura Taylor, Don's mother, Mary Ann Stephens, who is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Visitors were: Frances Wallace, Gladys Fitch, Yuma, Ariz.; Ola Smith, Rena Turner, Edna Patton, Evelyn Pierce, Ivola Walters, Irene Wexler, Charles Bradford, Linda Dady, Mel and Marjorie Holcomb, Bob Jameson, Matador; Frances Hambricht, Ruth Hammonds, Lucille Custer, Dolores Cannon, Lloyd McCray, Sylvia Fogerson, Silverton; Roberta Hardin, Mildred Haile.

All of us are born for a reason, but all of us don't discover why. Success in life has nothing to do with what you gain in life or accomplish for yourself. It's what you do for others.

Fair sponsors "Quilting Day"

The Floyd County Fair quilt is now pieced and ready to be quilted. The Fair Board would like for this to be a community effort and has set Monday, April 22, as "Quilting Day."

The red, white and blue quilt will be framed and ready to quilt starting at 10:00 a.m. at the Senior Citizens Center in Lockney. Everyone is welcome to participate.

If you don't know how to quilt, come out anyway and learn. You can quilt all day or any part of the day that fits into your schedule.

Anyone who wishes to may eat lunch at the center on that day. Those wanting lunch should call Annabel Bramlet, 652-3441, or Carol Huggins, 652-3115, by Friday so that arrangements can be made for extra meals.

When the quilt is finished, tickets will be sold for a chance to win it. The money raised from this project will be put into the air conditioner fund. The more money raised, the more cool air everyone can enjoy during the Fair in August.

Sponsors add, "Everyone come out on Monday and put your own special stitches in a very special quilt."

The Look of the Sun Without the Harmful Rays

If you are not a sun person because of:
1. Don't want to look old.
2. Don't want leathery, dry skin.
3. Don't have enough leisure time.
4. Fear of skin cancer.
Here are some tricks to try:

1. Use a pressed powder one or two shades darker than your foundation. Dust lightly across the nose, cheeks and hairline... right after powder and before your blush... to get a touch of tan.

2. Dust across the shoulders and collarbones when wearing a sundress or tank top.

Go Darker With A Tan —
1. Use a light shade when you start to get a little sun.

2. Then use two shades together as you darken.

3. Use the darkest shade all alone to match the mid to late summer tan.

The young ladies and their mothers were treated to a dinner in the home of Katherine Ball on Wednesday, April 10. Following the meal Kathleen Thornton asked those present to introduce themselves and she expressed her pride, and that of the study club, in the young ladies for being selected as the 1991 honorees.

A brief history of the Citizenship Girls was given. The selections were started in 1953 by the Business and Professional Womens Club. That organization disbanded in 1987 and the El Progreso Study Club chose to continue the tradition of honoring four outstanding members of the graduating class. This tradition has continued for thirty seven years. One hundred and fifty two girls, including the 1991 inductees, have been honored.

Several of the members of the El Progreso Study Club have had daughters who were honored in the past. These include Arla Copeland's daughter, Frances, who was among the first honorees in 1953. Alice Mitchell and Faye Ferguson's daughters, Shirley and Debra, were honored in 1959.

Dimon Schacht's daughter, Nancy, was chosen in 1961. Fay Ferguson's second daughter, Jonita, was selected in 1964. Kathleen Thornton's daughter, Patricia, was honored in 1965. Merle Mooney's daughter, Debby, was selected in 1968 and in 1969 her stepdaughter, Debbie, was chosen.

The girls names will be inscribed on a plaque that will hang in the library at Lockney High School. The plaque contains the names of all the girls that have been recognized.

The following excerpts were written by the girls about each other:

ERIN ADRIAN

"Erin is the type of person who naturally attracts people. She has an electric

Before it gets too hot,
Before the old one turns to rot,
Better now than not,
Champion Air Coolers we got!

personality. We've known each other since kindergarten and even then Erin had something that set her apart from everyone, and it wasn't her flaming red hair. It was her way of standing up for herself. Her stubbornness and her good upbringing kept her from following everyone else. I always have and always will admire her for being able to say no and not being ashamed of it. Erin has always been there with a hug and the words, 'yes you can'.

Erin has friends everywhere she has ever been. She is the type that makes you sit there in awe. She is so ladylike when the time is right but the tomboy in her comes out whenever it can. It is amazing to me that she can do that. She never tries to be anyone else. No matter the time or place she is always Erin Elizabeth Adrian.

TANDI GANT

I honestly do not know exactly where to begin. Tandi has been a very special person to me ever since our younger days in kindergarten. She is an honest, hardworking person who never lets a challenge defeat a successful accomplishment.

Along with having fun with friends she has become very active in school. She has played basketball all four years and has earned several awards. She has been named Honorable Mention All District. Tandi has been on the Student Council and a helpful leader in FCA, FHA, Track and other organizations I have probably left out.

Twirling has brought happiness and awards throughout her high school and earlier years. She has been voted Most Attractive, Most Dependable, Most Studious and Class Favorite by her classmates over the years. She has also received the honor of being named Miss L.H.S.

Tandi is a person who always has something positive to say and maintains a good attitude. She is a friend and I have always been able to depend on her.

ROBIN MARKS

As I was thinking about what to say about Robin Marks a funny incident came to my mind. It was about time her dad ran over her in the pick-up. Robin was pretty small and she was helping her dad in the field. She was sitting on the tailgate while the pickup moved slowly down the muddy road. I suppose Ed, Robin's dad, hit a bump because Robin fell off of the tailgate in the mud. Robin's little brother yelled at his dad. Ed stopped the pickup and started backing up. He backed right over Robin.

Since it was muddy, she squashed right down in the mud which I think utterly saved her life!

Now Robin has grown up and has become a very dear friend. She is crazy and bubbly. Sometimes you just want to tie her down. She is warm and compassionate in serious times. She most always has a smile on her face. Robin can bring you up when you are down.

And we should all remember that there are times when we should be thankful for the mud.

AIMEE GREEN

Aimee is the kind of a friend and person who is "one of a kind". I have seen Aimee grow up and mature beautifully since we were 5 years old.

Aimee's friendship is one that will never fail. Sure, we have had our arguments and share of fights, but if I ever needed anything all I had to do was find Aimee. Her friendship is overwhelming, not overbearing, for as we grow older she always gave me space. Although our interests began to differ we seemed to know we would be there for each other just as before. This didn't hinder our friendship, it merely grew into something even more beautiful.

As a person Aimee is like a super woman. She cheered the Longhorns on for six fun-filled years, acted with the best crew in the district for four years, lifted a helping hand in the FHA four years and prospered academically all of her years in school. Most of all Aimee is a great Christian who tries to live as God would want her to live.

I have always admired Aimee because she goes after what she wants and she never lets things get her down.

You are going to make it Aimee, because you are "one of a kind".

News From Caprock Hospital

By Molly Stringer

The board met in special session last week to select the order of names to be placed on the ballot for the upcoming election. The names of the eight people who are seeking a position on the board of directors were put in a hat and were drawn out in the following order: Bob Ross, Carmel Eastham, Sherre Cannon, Jim Word, Patti Miller, Joy Assiter, Jerry Thompson and Kenneth Pitts. We have had some good candidates on the board and running for the board. Folks who seek election to the board tend to be folks who care about what goes on in our community. They are optimistic and never lose sight of their responsibility to provide health care for our community.

We encourage everyone to get out and vote for the candidates of your choice. Absentee voting is at the school superintendent's office. The election will be held May 4, at the Massie Activity Center.

The board met in special session with the physicians Monday, April 15. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be April 25, at 7:00 a.m.

Some of the employees at Caprock Hospital will be helping with the health fair at Lighthouse Electric, April 20. Those doing this will be Molly Stringer, Elena Hopper, Frances Miller, Helen Teeple, Rhonda Stovall and Jean Jarrett.

Employee of the month for April is Nadine Harvey. Nadine lives on a ranch near Matador. Her husband, Davis, is the foreman. Nadine works the 11-7 shift and is an LVN. She has worked at the hospital about six years. Congratulations Nadine!

We have had some folks call us and ask if the hospital is closing. This is rumor that often plagues both hospitals in Floyd County and is one that certainly is not true for either at this time. We feel that our hospital is in better financial condition than we have been in several years. As a usual rule we must obtain financing every year in January to help us make it until October. We have not had to do that this year until the present. We are at present seeking financing to help us until October. We have been able to pay some bills and clear up some of our accounts payable. Our patient census has dropped some since Dr. Lopez left, but we are in the process of locating and securing another physician to add to our staff.

We have a good hospital, an excellent administrator, a good staff and good physicians. We all want to continue to serve in this community. We at the hospital intend to be working and serving in this community for many years to come.

Thought for today

God gave us two ears but only one mouth. Some people say that's because he wanted us to spend twice as much time listening as talking. Others claim it's because he knew listening was twice as hard as talking.

RULES OF COMPREHENSION

Part 2

Knowing that "...among you also there shall be false teachers" (2 Peter 2:1) necessitates these next two rules of comprehension.

3). Mark 4:24 - "Take heed what you hear:" Those who talk the smoothest and seem the most truthful might be devilish deceivers (Roman 16:17-18; 2 Corinthians 11:18). Therefore caution is warranted whenever anyone preaches or teaches from the Bible.

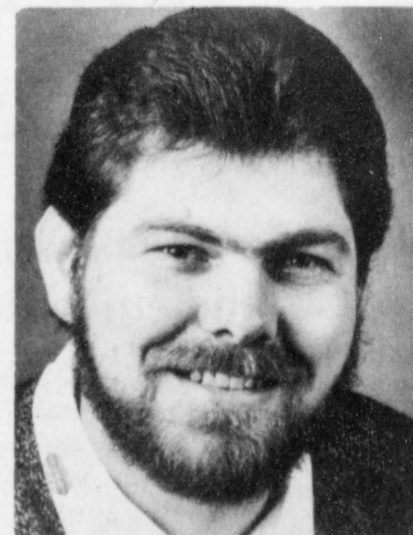

4). Acts 17:11 - "...they searched the Scripture daily to see if these things were so..." We can avoid being led astray by false teachers if we are such good Bible students that we immediately recognize doctrinal error when we hear it. Let us study carefully every Bible message we read or hear.

All verses used must be studied in their context; Bible subjects must be examined in light of all that the Bible says on that subject before drawing conclusions or making applications.

ALAN DANIELS, a dynamic artist sharing contemporary Christian music will be in concert at 7:00 p.m., April 26, at the First Baptist Church in Floydada. A concert with Alan Daniels is one that you will not soon forget. His ability to communicate, combined with pleasure of experiencing quality music, enables him to captivate an audience as he moves from crazy and fun songs, to praise singalongs, to uplifting worship music. The music is fresh and contemporary but filled with warmth and praise that comes from a deep and personal relationship with Jesus Christ. Alan's performance will include songs from each of the four albums he has recorded. His audiences continue to grow as he travels around the country sharing the true purpose in life.

Gospel lectures are scheduled at West Side Church of Christ

Houston Green, who will be delivering a series of gospel lectures at the West Side Church of Christ in Floydada beginning April 24, comes from Bayfield, Colorado, where for some 15 years he was employed as counselor and assistant coach at Bayfield High School.

Green, a native of Texas, grew up in Breckenridge and later received a degree from A&M College. Before moving to Colorado, he was with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Association headquartered at Paducah.

Upon moving to Colorado, Green was with the Colorado State Employment Agency at Ignacio for several years, but becoming aware of the increasing needs of counseling among the youth, he studied at Colorado universities in preparation for counseling duties.

Having recently retired from teaching, Green is devoting much of his time as an evangelist for the Church of Christ, offering both private counseling and public lectures. All, especially the youth, are invited to attend.

Liberty Rock Church in Cone to host Steve Davis

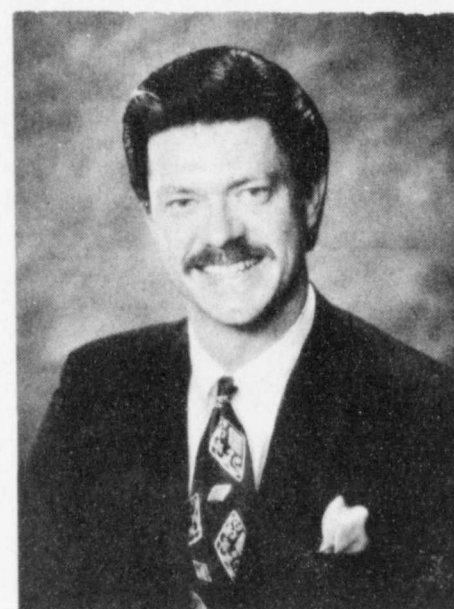

Steve Davis, an inter-denominational minister and member of the television news media, will speak at Liberty Rock Church in Cone, located seven miles north of Ralls, on April 21-24. Dr. Joe Stettheimer, pastor, says Davis interjects world events and contemporary social issues uniquely.

Although Mr. Davis takes a non-traditional approach to contemporary Christianity that may be new to many church-goers, he blends tough issues with his own style of humor. Through subjects like "Fuzzbuster Christianity - Living Victoriously in the Fast Lane", Davis shows how the Bible can solve any human crisis.

Davis has worked as a minister since 1972, speaking in hundreds of churches and schools throughout the United States. Davis has also worked in religious and secular media since 1977. He now lives in Lubbock with his wife, Bridget and their two children. In addition to his profession as a local television news anchor, he is pastor of Philadelphia Church, a non-denominational fellowship in Lubbock.

Pastor Stettheimer invites the public to attend this special series of services, Sunday through Wednesday. Services are Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. and Monday through Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

Ralls First Baptist Church selects centennial theme

First Baptist Church, Ralls, has chosen "Fulfilling Our Mission - Past, Present, Future" as the theme for its year-long centennial celebration which began with a kick-off banquet on Jan. 13, 1991, with Bro. Gene Hawkins as guest speaker, and the theme and logo for the year was revealed to the membership. The theme was chosen because of the church's dedication to and involvement in missions through the years.

An "exciting and challenging year" has been planned with monthly emphasis and/or activities celebrating the church's 100th year. The church is focusing on celebration, thanksgiving and renewal during its centennial year.

The big event for the year will be the church's Centennial Homecoming which is set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 26, 27 and 28. Registration begins at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, April 26, and a finger-food meal will be served at 7:00 p.m. with fellowship and renewing of friendships at that time.

Registration will resume on Saturday at 9:00 a.m. with coffee time. From 10:00 a.m. until approximately 4:00 p.m., former pastors will be speaking and former music directors will provide music. A covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

A salad supper will be served at 6:00 p.m. with a very special event at 7:00 p.m., being a drama presentation of the church's history written by Brett Cooper, a student at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, and presented by the University Drama Department of Indiana Avenue Baptist Church in Lubbock and directed by Roy McClung, a Tech student and former member of First Baptist Church, Ralls.

On Sunday, the 28th, Sunday School will be at 9:45 a.m. followed by morning worship at 11:00 a.m. with the morning message brought by Charles Lee Williamson from the state office. The weekend's activities will conclude with a catered lunch following the morning worship.

All former members and friends of the church are invited to attend any and/or all events of the Centennial Homecoming Weekend. The church's only request is that you call or write the church if you plan to be in attendance at any meal time so that preparation can be made.

For more information, write First Baptist Church, Box 667, Ralls, Texas 79357 or call (806) 253-2714.

Records fall at District 2-3A Tulia meet

By Bill Gray

Floydada's Tian Younger established a new district record with the time of 47.49 in the 300 hurdles at the 2-3A track and field meet. The Lady 'Wind sophomore's performance bettered the old record of 48.15 by .66 of a second. Four other records were shattered in the girls' division at Tulia on April 12 and 13.

The Tulia Hornets handily won the District 2-3A team championship on their home track with 213 total points. The Floydada Whirlwinds finished a distant second with 105 points. Other results were: 3. Dimmitt 75; 4. Friona 67; 5. Littlefield 56; and 6. Muleshoe 36.

As expected, Tulia's All-State footballer Hugh Farmer won the shot put with a 50'-7-3/4" toss. Another senior, Muleshoe's Mike Friend, was runner-up at 48'-9-1/4". Whirlwind freshman Adam Gonzales failed to reach the shot put finals, but finished sixth in discus with a throw of 137 feet.

Whirlwind junior Aaron Harbin earned a ticket to regionals in pole vault with an unexpected second-place effort of 12 feet. Dimmitt's Ken Heller continued his season-long form and won the pole vault at 12'-6". Floydada sophomore Jason Pyle placed fifth in the vault at 10'-6".

within an inch of registering another Floydada regional entry as he edged out of second place in the high jump by Friona's Chad Herring. Davis cleared the bar at 6'-2" for third place. It was his best competitive jump of the year.

Michael Henderson soared to a new Floydada school record of 43'-4-1/2" in the triple jump finals to finish second behind Tulia's Mike Smith (44'-4"). Smith also posted a 23'-0" in the long jump to claim first in that event. Whirlwind Chad Williams took fifth in the long jump.

Senior Brad Emert broke the FHS school record with a 10.73 sprint in a 100 meter preliminary. The old mark of 10.8 was shared by several former Whirlwinds. In the 100 meter finals, Emert earned a regional berth by running the second-best time of 11.20 to Littlefield's Marcus Huey's winning judgement of 11.17. Floydada's Freddie Portee took sixth in the 100 with an 11.40.

Although Emert knocked down the last hurdle in the 300 highs, he finished second with a 40.85 and will run the event in two weeks at regionals. Jason Pyle ran fifth in the 110 highs and finished sixth in the 300 hurdles with a clocking of 44.65. Michael Henderson carried the Green and White to victory in the 200 meter dash with a time of 22.53, barely edging Tulia's Ricky White's 22.54. Whirlwind Freddie Portee finished fifth in the 200 at 23.2. Larry Galvan ran sixth in the 800 meters; Kenneth Davis and Brian Teeple came in fifth and sixth, respectively, in the 400 meter dash.

Jaime Suarez moved from fifth in the last 25 meters to finish third in the 1600 with a 4:54 time. Suarez however qualified for region with his second-place finish in the metric two mile. He completed the 3200 in 10:40.89 to Tulia's Darin Via's winning mark of 10:36.53. Floydada sophomore Ronnie Hernandez garnered sixth place finishes in both the 1600 and 3200.

Floydada's mile relay team of Michael Henderson, Chad Williams, Kenneth Davis and Brian Teeple ran the 1600 in 3:39.03 for fourth place. In one of the closest contested events of the meet, the Whirlwind 400 relay team of Brian Teeple, Brad Emert, Freddie Portee and Michael Henderson gave the favored Tulia Hornets all they could handle. Tulia prevailed with a time of 43.00 to Floydada's 43.61. Both teams will continue their rivalry at the regional level.

Whirlwind track coach David Carr stated, "About our season... I couldn't have asked for any better effort from our kids than what they gave. We have a very young team, and I feel they did all they could. I also want to thank all the Floydada coaches for their assistance in preparing our team. Without their help and the dedication of the team we wouldn't have come this far."

Tulia's Lady Hornets also wrapped up the district girl's team championship with 181 points. Muleshoe was runner-up with 134 points, followed by Dimmitt (116), Floydada (66), Littlefield (44) and Friona (41).

Floydada's Lady 'Winds also fielded a very young team this year. The team had only two juniors, with the remainder composed of sophomores and freshmen. Coach Deanna Logan remarked, "We had a young team; but the kids were very competitive. They improved each week and I couldn't be prouder of them."

Zora Woody placed sixth in both shot put and discus, and freshman Crystal Sanders finished fifth in the long jump. Elisa Suarez and Lesha Black finished fifth and sixth, respectively, in the triple jump, with their best efforts of the year.

Elisa Suarez won the 3200 meters in 13:19.84 for her first trip to regionals in the event. The 1600 relay team of Tian Younger, Angie Maldonado, Black and Suarez ran a 4:16.76 third place, beating their best time of the year by five seconds.

Gabina Suarez ran sixth in the 1600 meters and Angie Maldonado finished fourth in the quarter-mile sprint. The Lady Winds made a good effort in the 400 meter relay, finishing fifth while Tulia won, setting a new district record in the event.

Tian Younger joined Elisa Suarez as the only Lady 'Wind regional qualifier. Younger battled Nikki Altman of Tulia for honors in the hurdles all season. Altman won the 100 at the district meet, with Tian finishing third. But it was a Younger-Altman finish in the 300.

Floydada's boys and girls regional qualifiers will have a warm up this week at Abernathy. The regional meet will be held at Odessa on April 26 and 27.

YOUNGER SOARS TO RECORD -- Lady 'Wind Tian Younger set a new district record of 47.49 with her victory in the 300 hurdles at the 2-3A track meet in Tulia on April 13. The FHA sophomore earned a trip to the regionals at Odessa next week with the victory.

Mrs. Rainer has a total of 25 years teaching experience. She attended Floydada schools, grades first through ninth and was Valedictorian in the eighth grade. She attended grades 10th through 12th at Pryor High School in Pryor, Oklahoma and was Valedictorian for her class. She received her BA in Speech and Drama from Hardin-Simmons University and her MED in Special Education from Texas Tech.

Mrs. Rainer likes to read, sew, crochet, travel, play the handbells and piano. She also enjoys helping with plays and attending plays and concerts. She is a member of the R.C. Andrews PTA, the First United Methodist Church, Iota Tau Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International Women's Teacher Organization, and the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Rainer's philosophy is "All children have the right to be taught in their learning style. All children need the opportunity to be successful in something."

Mr. Rainer teaches music at R.C. Andrews. He has taught fourth, fifth, and sixth grade general music for the past 12 years in Floydada. Before starting his teaching career, Mr. Rainer worked at the First National Bank of Floydada, and at the Citizens National Bank of Abilene. He also worked for a dry cleaning company before moving back to Floydada. He worked for his dad at Western Auto until 1976, at which time he decided that if he was ever going to do what he really wanted he would have to go back to school. He attended

Wayland Baptist College and received a BA in Music Education in 1979. Before that he had attended Hardin-Simmons University. While at Hardin-Simmons he was very active in the Cowboy Band and the drama department.

He is the music director at the First United Methodist Church and a member of the Floydada Masonic Lodge, the Order of the Eastern Star, and the R.C. Andrews PTA.

Mr. Rainer's philosophy is "I believe that all children can learn if given the opportunity. I also believe that the only thing that some children can excel in is fine arts, and I don't believe that they should be deprived of that chance just because they can't do their other work."

The Rainer's have two daughters, Mrs. Kay Lyn Young of Kress, and Mary Ann Rainer of Dallas.

The two parents recognized as "Parent Volunteers of the Month" were Patty McHam and Polly Campbell. These ladies have served as officers of the R.C. Andrews PTA for the 1990-91 school

41st pre-school clinic slated

The 41st annual pre-school clinic, sponsored by Athena Study of Lockney, will be held on Wednesday, April 24, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Lockney Elementary School cafeteria.

The purpose of the annual event is to pre-register youngsters who will enter the Lockney school system for the first time in September 1991. Included in this category are children who will reach their fifth birthday on or before September 1, 1991, and who are attending school for the first time. Also children who are six years old and have never attended school previously should be at this clinic.

As in years past, children will receive a physical examination, vision screening, dental exam and speech screening. Conducting the check-ups will be Drs. W.J. Mangold, Gary Mangold, and Kevin Stennett. Dr. Stewart Webb will conduct the vision screening and Dr. Ricky Cross will examine teeth. Karen Quebe will hold the speech screening.

It is expected that regular immunizations will be available.

The entire clinic is free to all those who have children who will be entering Lockney schools in September 1991.

"It is very important that the parent bring the child's birth certificate and immunization records", stated Joyce Evans, principal at Lockney Elementary School.

"In addition to being screened for health, vision, dental and speech problems, children will also be pre-enrolled in kindergarten. Pre-registration of children saves time for both parents and school officials in that youngsters may come to their first day of school with a minimum of fuss since all but the usual first day of school paper work is filled out," she continued.

Also by pre-registering, school officials will know the approximate number of kindergartners to plan for.

Cub Scouts plan cake bake

Cub Scout Pack 259 and the Lockney Baseball Association will join forces Tuesday night for the 1991 "Dads and Kids" cake bake auction. The event is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 23, in the Lockney Elementary School cafeteria. The public is invited.

Last year's Cub Scout "Father-Son" cake bake and auction raised about $1,400, which the Cub Pack shared with the local youth baseball group. If this year's auction is as successful, it could serve as the main fundraiser for both organizations in 1991.

Young baseball players - both boys and girls - and their dads have been invited to join the Cubs for the fun this year. Rules state that the youngsters and their fathers must make and decorate a cake or other baked item "from scratch" - no mixes or ready-made pie crusts allowed. Moms and sisters are banned from the kitchen during the mixing, baking, decorating and even the cleanup phase of the operation. Brothers, uncles, or other male relatives or guardians are OK if fathers aren't available.

Generous Lockneyites and local businesses made the 1990 auction the surprising financial success it turned out to be. Bill Turner and Donnie Bybee, the "mountain men" of Sam Fortenberry Auctioneers, contributed to the success and provided an entertaining evening for everyone present. They'll be doing the honors again Tuesday night.

VA offers toll free number

Al Poteet, Director of the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Regional Office in Waco, announced a new toll-free telephone number for veterans and dependents. "Beginning April 19, 1991, people living outside the local Waco calling area can call the VA Regional Office by dialing toll-free 1-800-827-2012, while veterans and dependents living in the local Waco calling area can still reach VA by dialing 772-3060."

According to Poteet, there are 1.75 million veterans living in Texas. The Waco Regional Office handles VA-related claims for benefits by veterans, their dependents, and their survivors living in the state.

VA wants to make this new number widely known because there will be a delay before it is published in local telephone directories, as telephone companies publish new directories times photographers wouldn't - so the constable threw them in jail.

"We were called to mediate and to get them out. The film was taken from the cameras by the constable and they were released with the understanding that they would abide by local customs. The Muslims consider it very bad form to take pictures of certain things."

The second stage that the Civil Affairs division is involved in would be their activities during the war itself. "We try and keep the civilians out of the way of the army," said Hamilton. "Again, we act only in an advisory capacity. We show the commander the way we feel it is best to move from point A to point B. That is—the way they will encounter the least civilians."

"We basically act as the conscience of the military. The commander then chooses to accept our advice or disregard it, depending on the total picture. Our job is to facilitate the commander in accomplishing his mission."

After the war is over the men of civil affairs are expected to aid the civilians and possible act as the government of an occupied country.

"We were prepared to be the acting government of Iraq if needed and for a short time we (the civil affairs division) assisted Kuwait," said Hamilton.

"But in this war, there was no occupation and we did not have to fulfill that need. The idea is to turn the area back over to civilians as fast as possible. You don't want to have to run the country any longer than necessary."

"A civil affairs unit is made up of trained men and women from all areas of life. It is like a small city. In each unit there are doctors, bankers, lawyers, economists, fire fighters, policemen, veterinarians, sanitation engineers, etc. We are supposed to be prepared for anything."

Fortunately, Hamilton, and thousands of other soldiers were not needed in these capacities. "There were a whole lot of us there," said Hamilton. "Of course no one knew what to expect, so there was more of us than was needed. As a matter of fact, there was more of everything than was needed."

IDEAL CONDITIONS

Asked if the civil affairs units and the military commanders ever came into conflict with each other over how to handle a situation, Hamilton smiled and said, "I imagine there have been problems at one time or another, but I noticed a difference in this army. This was an all volunteer army. They were there doing a job because they wanted to, not because someone was making them. People were much easier to work with. 'Besides,' laughed Hamilton, 'where I was there were no civilians within 120 miles. Of course no one knew how far north we would have to go. Fortunately we did not have to go into Basra.'

"It was ideal conditions for a battle. The terrain was flat, there was plenty of fuel and very little civilians to get in the way."

After the ground war started, Hamilton moved with his unit into Iraq February 24. We followed the maneuver elements of the 7th Corps," explained Hamilton. "We were behind them (with a 500 vehicle convoy) and they would relay to us what they needed. We would relay to Saudi Arabia and then get them the supplies."

"The war was over so quickly that we had to send back lots of ammunition and re-think the type of supplies that we were going to need."

"The 7th Corp were going after the Republican Guard. That was their only mission, but the guard got pinned in so fast that we didn't have to go."

Asked if he was also expected to fight instead of just advise on civilian matters, Hamilton said, "We didn't have noncombatant status, but we obviously weren't trained in that area. A commander wouldn't want to send us into a frontal assault when he had soldiers that knew how to do those things, but of course we would have to fight if it came to that."

DEALING WITH PRISONERS

Though not directly responsible for the guarding of prisoners the Civil Affairs units did "identify collection points for prisoners." Simply said, Hamilton and others like him told the soldiers where to take the prisoners.

"We did not have any prisoners where I was," said Hamilton. We saw many pass by but my group was not needed in that area. We try and have a one week turnaround of turning prisoners over to the Saudis. The Saudis were responsible then for caring for them and then sending them back to Iraq."

Hamilton echoed the sentiments heard by most returning soldiers. "Most of the prisoners who surrendered were reserves. They didn't want to be there. I heard of several cases of people studying in America that went home to visit that were drafted by the Iraqi Army."

"There was one American soldier out on the desert all by himself. His jeep (Humvee) got stuck. While he was trying to pull out the jeep 60 Iraqis with several tanks came up on him. All he had was an M-16. They got out of their tanks, pulled out his jeep and then surrendered to him."

STAYING PREPARED

Asked how he dealt with the fear of combat, Hamilton replied, "I had other things to think about. Being a Captain I was supposed to be there for others who may be anxious (and rightly so). Also, I was never shot at. I was always far enough away that I could deal with it."

"I made lots of plans and was very cautious. I always knew where my gas mask and flak jacket were."

"I was more afraid to travel on the road from Dharhan to north Saudi Arabia," laughed Hamilton. "That was a two lane highway (like the road to Cedar Hill). It was crammed full of army vehicles driven mostly by Saudi's - who are less inhibited drivers than the Americans," said Hamilton diplomatically.

"We were so tense when we went over the border. There was so much adrenalin that when the war was over so quickly we didn't know what to do with ourselves. It was too easy, too good to be true - we kept waiting for the bomb to hit."

FINDING LIFE ON THE DESERT

Asked if the weather was hard to deal with, Hamilton said that it was cool when he got there so the weather wasn't bad. "But the desert was so desolate. I thought being from West Texas I wouldn't mind the flatness. When I first arrived, I didn't think it was so bad, but there was no color anywhere. We never saw anything living. There were no trees, grass, or even animals."

"One day we were unloading a truck and saw a beetle. We hadn't seen anything living in three weeks, and we got so excited that we picked up the beetle and moved him away so he wouldn't get hurt."

"The one thing I did like about the desert were the stars at night. They were beautiful."

AGREES WITH BUSH

Asked if he agreed with President Bush's decision not to go on in to Basra, Hamilton said that he did. "I was impressed with the way Bush handled it. There were only two things that he wanted to have a say in - when to start the air attack and when to start the ground way (and of course when to stop it). Other than that he stayed out of it."

"I also think Bush was good at getting other countries involved."

"I would not have wanted to try and stabilize Iraq. It would have been disastrous. They (the Iraqis) think so different from us. On the one hand they will like the Americans for rescuing them and then hate America itself. If we had occupied them it would have been terrible. As it is the Kurds hate us."

SUPPORT FOR THE SOLDIERS

Hamilton said once he got to Saudi Arabia he didn't get any of his mail until near the day he left and then he got 5 packages in 6 days. "I wasn't really aware of the support we were getting because I didn't receive any of my mail, but I saw everybody else getting mail."

"We appreciated all the support we got. It was overwhelming. Our first stop in the states was at the airport in Bangor, Maine. They told us on the plane that there would probably be some people there to greet us."

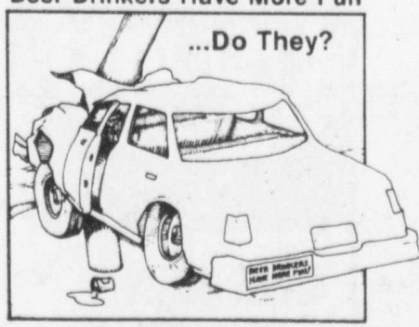

"When we got off the plane into the terminal, there were about five people right there to shake our hands. We thought that was really nice."

"Then we started walking down a hall and when we came around a corner there were 300-400 people there to cheer. They even had the high school marching band there."

"I told them I thought it was great of them to go to so much trouble, and a woman told me - 'this ain't nothing - we've been doing this for three weeks.' There was a hot line that people could call and find out when the planes were coming in."

"It was amazing to me that there were some Vietnam vets that had spent years at war and they said that they had never gotten any kind of welcome like that. They said the welcome home from the last three or four months of this war made it all worthwhile."

grant secured through the Texas Department of Commerce. The final report was accepted and approved as presented and will be forwarded to TDC as required.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

A pair of resolutions were on the agenda of the regular April session. The first, regarding attempts by a Texas Municipal League coalition to obtain relief from stringent EPA regulations, was unanimously approved on a motion by Cornelius and seconded by Morales. The resolution joins the City of Floydada with other government entities seeking to reduce EPA restrictions on city operations.

A resolution concerning city participation in a telephone franchise steering committee seeking to increase franchise payments to cities from telephone companies. At present, there is no financial obligation on those participating and the city agreed to join the group on a motion from Burns, seconded by Morales.

OTHER MATTERS

Among other matters addressed by the council was the certification of the seal coting project at the airport. The council accepted the joint project with Childress being administered by the Texas Aeronautics Commission. Appian Corporation of Hereford will be doing the work and as bids were lower than anticipated, change orders are being prepared to allow not only seal coating and restriping, but renovation of the wind indicator at the Floydada Municipal Airport. Acceptance of the project was unanimous on a motion from Morales, seconded by Barrientoz.

A request by Jesse Delgado, who lives east of Floydada Iron and Metal, asked that he receive city water services. Delgado will have to bring his line to a city meter set within the city limits and will be required to pay the out of city limits rate for water service according to a motion by Burns, seconded by Cornelius and approved by unanimous vote.

Three proposals concerning tax title lots were considered at the session. Each was approved by the council. The first requested that the taxing entities donate lots at North 11th Street and Grover to the Mt. Zion Baptist Church. The church wants to move their building from 9th and Jackson to a location on paved streets and has applied for grant money to pay for the move. Approval of the request was made on a motion by Morales, seconded by Barrientoz following the presentation of the request by Reverend Ralph Jackson.

Manuel Barrientos Jr. offered $250 for the Lot 14, Block 117 in Floydada. The sale was approved on a motion by Barrientoz, seconded by Cornelius.

The third lot, located between the First National Bank of Floydada's drive-in lane and Script Printing, will be used as a community beautification project by the recently formed Floydada Jaycees organization. The group asked to be allowed to turn the area into a downtown park for the enjoyment of local residents. Approval was made on a motion by Burns with a second by Morales.

Each of the tax title lot actions approved by the council are subject to approval by all other taxing entities involved in the supervision of the lots.

The council set two special meetings during their regular session. The first meeting scheduled is necessitated by regulations requiring the canvassing of election votes before May 10 in the May 4 Municipal Election. The council will meet to canvass votes on Tuesday, May 7. Newly elected council members will be sworn in at the regular May 20 session.

An additional special meeting will be an executive session to discuss two complaints against the Floydada Police Department. Local resident Linda Ratliff appeared before the council to make the complaint even though she was not on the posted agenda. The council heard her complaint but held no discussion and took no action beyond setting a special meeting to discuss the personnel matter in executive session.

Ratliff's complaints concerned two officers, Police Chief James Hale and Officer Earnest Back. She stated that Hale was rude and vulgar in asking her to leave when she intervened in a situation at the request of a neighbor. The second complaint centered on rumored non-payment of child support by Officer Back. Ratliff asked that the council address the two matters and take action to see that both were cleared up.

Council members approved the minutes of the previous meeting and authorized payment of monthly bills prior to hearing the city manager's report.

Brown told the council that the concession stand is in place at Annie Taylor Park and was used last weekend at a tournament. He also indicated that the Friday test of the storm sirens found one inoperative. It has been repaired and an additional siren is being installed.

The landfill survey now being conducted has shown that more than 100 loads a week come into the landfill by private vehicle. The first week of the survey, 116 loads were catalogued, 43 percent from Floydada, 10 percent from Lockney, 44 percent from other county locations and three percent from outside the county. The second week logged 128 loads with 55 percent coming from Floydada, eight percent from Lockney, 35 percent from other county locations and two percent from outside the county.

Brown also reported that a visit from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is scheduled for April 18. The representative will look at the city parks in general and will in particular, look at Napoleon Park and the proposed changes and improvements to be made if the department authorizes a park grant for that site.

According to Brown, the RV Park usage is increasing with the warmer weather. This past weekend brought in $175 in revenue for parking fees as well as the money the RV'ers spent at local businesses.

Sharon Quisenberry has attended and passed another school on the road to being certified as a city secretary. Brown told the council that she has now passed three exams and has another to go before she can be certified as a city secretary.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Wayne Russell, councilmen Burns, Morales, Barrientoz and Cornelius, city manager Brown, city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart, city attorney Karen Houchin, Police Chief James Hale, Sharon Quisenberry, Karen Lawson, John Ballew, Linda Ratliff, Margaret Cuba, Ralph Jackson, Mike Bishop, Joe Stepp and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

SCUD missile disintegrated before it hit the ground.

"Then on the 21st, a SCUD blew up directly over our heads. It was intercepted by a Patriot. We were in our jeep and we pulled over immediately and put on our gas masks. Then we saw three more Patriots take off and they shot down a SCUD about a mile away."

The scariest part of the war for Perez however, was not the SCUD missiles. "The scariest I remember being was when I first got there," said Perez. "When you get off the plane and everywhere you look at anytime, all you see is military moving back and forth."

"This was very different than what I was used to on the streets of Lockney. It really got me thinking."

"Nighttime was the worst. There were about 4000 people crammed into one area and at night you could hear a murmuring. It reminded me of what my father (who is an evangelist) would preach on - 'the grinding of teeth'."

"I got through it with a lot of prayer. I also had to be strong for the people I led. Talking with other soldiers I could see the fear in their eyes and I would reassure them."

"You know you're there for a reason and I told myself that I was going to do the best that I could regardless of the situation."

Perez will have to report back to Ft. Sheridan April 25, but for now he is enjoying his visit with his family and children. Perez is a single parent to four children: Daniel Jr. 16; Timothy, 15; Jeremiah, 13; and Bonnie 9 - 1/2 years old.

"I appreciate all the support I have gotten," said Perez. "When we were flying home our first stop in the states, where we could get off the plane, was in Ft. Bragg, N.C."

"There were about 1,000 people there at the airport that greeted us cheering. All the support helped me while I was over there."

"I especially want to thank everyone for their prayers. That was very important to me."

Total crop management provided through agriculture consultation service

By Gilianne Carter
Texas Tech Journalism Student
C-AGRI, Inc. offers a new total crop management program in field consulting to the West Texas area through Kellison Fertilizer and Spraying of Lockney.

The program, C-AGRI, is a computerized weather-driven crop growth and development program that provides information used for scheduled irrigation, fertilization, growth regulation and insecticide application and crop termination for harvest.

Brent Crossland, an agriculture consultant for C-AGRI, strongly believes in the computer program.

"The program, designed for West Texas, helps farmers get the most yields and returns out of their input costs," Crossland said.

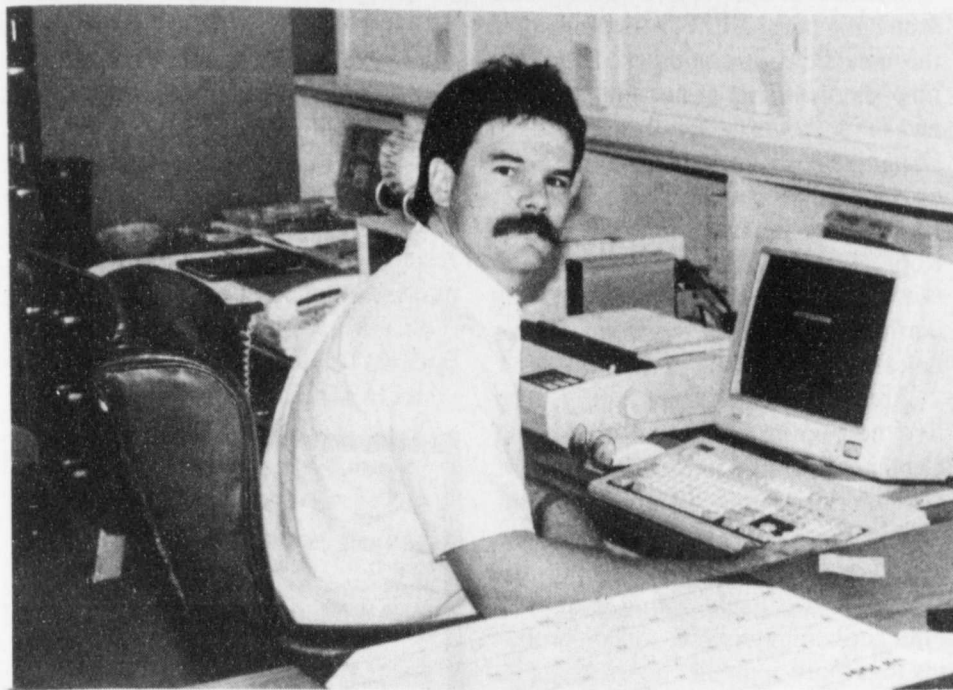

Kellison began offering the total management program in 1986.

"The program is unique in the fact that we do a lot of computer work," Crossland said.

"We have six strategically located weather stations throughout Floyd, Hale, Slaton/Lubbock, Crosby, Lamb and Lynn counties," Crossland said.

"The weather stations, polled everyday, give weather data used to determine heat unit accumulation and potential evapotranspiration, critical to crop development," Crossland said. Weekly reports are sent and visits are made to each farmer involved in the program, throughout the growing season.

"The program is user-friendly and more useful in the West Texas area and continues to grow with success," Crossland said.

Depth-to-water measurements indicate a drop in groundwater levels in Floyd County

Floyd County groundwater levels declined an average 0.62 of a foot in 1990 in 98 privately-owned wells measured by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in its 579,400 acre service area within the county. This decline indicates a reduction of 53,884 acre-feet of water from storage in the Ogallala Aquifer last year in the portion of Floyd County within the Water District boundaries.

Groundwater levels within the Water District's Floyd County service area decreased 0.50 of a foot during the 10-year period from 1981 to 1991. An average decrease of 0.38 of a foot was recorded during the five year period from 1986 to 1991.

Groundwater depletion can be compared to the credits and debits in a checking account. For example, recently-updated computer models operated by the Texas Water Development Board in Austin show a "balance" of about 9.37 million acre feet of water in storage within Floyd County as of January 1, 1999. "Withdrawals," or the groundwater depletion during 1990 in the portion of Floyd County served by the Water District, totaled 53,884 acre-feet. This depletion gives producers an idea of the "ending balance" in the Floyd County groundwater "account."

With this information, Floyd County producers can better understand the rate of water depletion within their county and can work toward implementing more efficient irrigation practices.

Groundwater levels in the Ogallala Aquifer within the 5.5 million acre Water District service area had an average decline of 1.06 feet from January 1990 to January 1991. This is a net reduction of about 872,795 acre-feet of groundwater from storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the Water District service area.

Groundwater levels stabilized for the first time in the Water District's history in 1985. Depth-to-water measurements revealed an average groundwater level increase of 0.50 of a foot in 1986; an average rise of 0.90 of a foot in 1987; an average decline of 0.51 of a foot in 1988; and a decline of one foot in 1989.

A network of 1,030 privately-owned observation water wells is used to determine the annual change in the quantity of water in storage in the Ogallala Aquifer within the High Plains Water District. The depth-to-water measurements are taken in January and February of each year in order to allow water levels to stabilize from the pumping during the previous growing season.

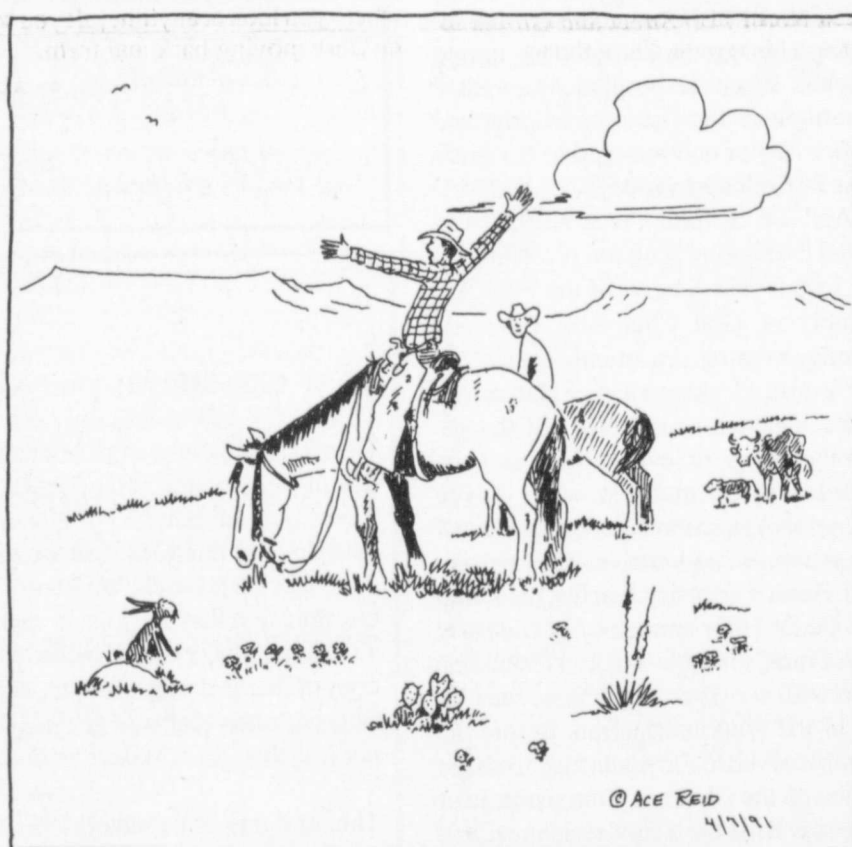

By comparing the current depth-to-water measurements with those taken the previous year, Water District Technical Division staff members can determine what changes have occurred in the groundwater levels.

Of the 15 counties or portions of counties making up the High Plains Water District, 14 showed an average decline in the depth-to-water measurements. These counties are Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Potter and Randall.

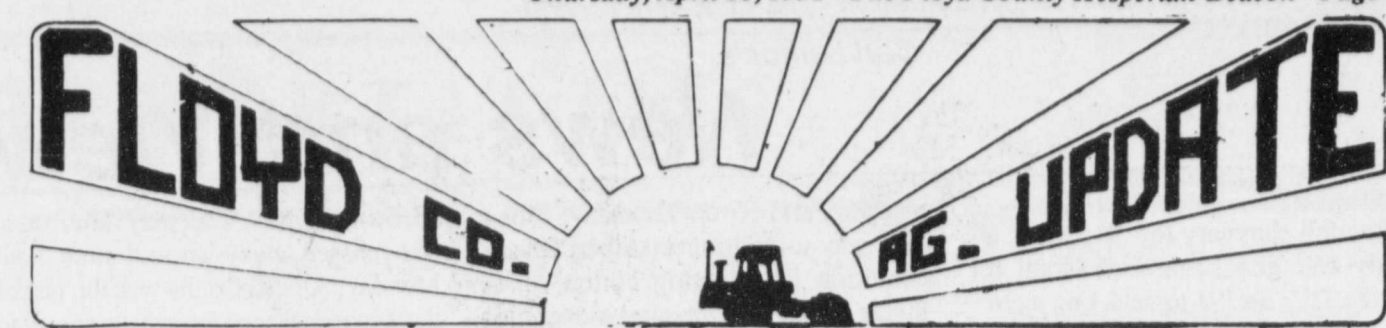

Crosby County recorded a groundwater level increase of 0.09 of a foot from 1990 to 1991.

ton analyst Patricia Sheikh of Washington, D.C., John Forrest of Moree, Australia, Jonathan Dychua of Manila, The Phillipine Islands, Steve Becker of Floydada, Jose Perez of Torreon, Mexico; (seated) Thomas Griessmayer of Vienna, Austria, Kathy, Mason and Madison Becker of Floydada, Marlou and Louise Perez of Torreon, Mexico, Jose Perez Jr. of Torreon, Mexico, and (with back to camera) Jamie Ellison of Lubbock. ## Beckers host international students

By Bill Gray

The Steve Becker family hosted a backyard cookout on April 6, for a number of students currently attending the Texas International Cotton School in Lubbock. The school is sponsored by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange.

The Exchange was founded in 1947 to promote trade and commercial transactions in the cotton industry. Exchange members share in educating the schools participants about the cotton marketing system. An estimated three million bales of cotton are produced annually in the Lubbock area, with 95 percent of the regions production merchandised by Exchange members.

Various seminars, workshops and field trips to area cotton farms are part of the yearly agenda of the school. Russell Ellison of Lubbock is the Executive Coordinator for the school. She accompanied the students and some of their families to the Becker farm for a tour of the operation.

Patricia Sheikh, Senior Cotton Analyst, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. was part of the group, which included several from foreign countries. Among the countries represented at the Becker's were Peru, The Philippines, Australia, Mexico, Tiwan and Austria. It was interesting to note the comments made by the foreign producer in the difference of methods used on the South Plains.

However, John Forrest of Moree, Australia stated, "The flat plains of the Lubbock area was very similar to his homeland and that there was more machinery used in the cotton production process in America. We use a lot more manual labor than you do." Several of the foreign producers mentioned the "friendliness of West Texas people."

Water Development Board seeks assistance from water well owners

As part of a joint study with the Texas Water Commission, Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) technicians will be sampling water quality in wells in thirty-four north Texas counties during the months of April and May. In April, water samples will be taken from wells located in Archer, Wichita, Clay, Baylor, Foard, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Jones, Taylor, Shackelford, Montague, Wise, and Palo Pinto Counties.

Many of these wells are privately owned, and TWDB technicians would like well owners to know that they are in the area and will be seeking the well owner's permission to take water samples. Copies of the analysis will be sent to landowners upon request, and there is no charge to the landowner for the information.

May samplings will take place in Throckmorton, Haskell, Erath, Collingsworth, Motley, Wheeler, Dickens, Crosby, Floyd, King, Nolan, Fisher, Callahan, Eastland, Jack, and Parker Counties.

Critical area ground-water studies are being conducted in response to legislation passed in 1985 which requires the state's water agencies to identify areas in the state that are either currently experiencing or expected to experience critical ground-water problems within the next twenty years.

Questions about the water-sampling program should be directed to Texas Water Development Board, Ground Water Section, P.O. Box 13231, Austin, TX. 78711-3231, 512/445-1484.

Perry addresses PCA

Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Rick Perry will address the 1991 Farm Credit Bank of Texas (FCBT) Annual Meeting for Production Credit Associations (PCAs).

More than 250 directors and employees representing the bank's 16 PCAs in Texas and three PCAs in New Mexico are expected to attend the annual gathering April 26, at the Stouffer Hotel, in Austin.

Commissioner Perry, a farmer and rancher from Haskell and former state legislator, will discuss his goals for the Department of Agriculture and the role PCAs can play in supporting the agricultural industry, during the general session beginning at 8:30 a.m., in the hotel ballroom.

In 1990, the FCBT added New Mexico to its short-term lending operations with the reaffiliation of Albuquerque PCA, followed by the reaffiliations of the PCAs of Eastern and Southern New Mexico in early 1991. Also in 1990, the bank expanded its long-term lending operations into Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi with the establishment of six Federal Land Bank Associations there. Bank CEO Donald R. Rogge, Chairman Robert Vanwinkle and President Paul S. Day will discuss these and other 1990 results and plans for 1991. The theme of the meeting is "Stewards of the Land."

WEATHER

Rainfall summary for '91: April, already half gone, rain zero; total for March .05"; for '91 to date, one inch.

The Weather Man promised rain Monday, April 5, made it sound so certain you could hardly wait to feel that wetness. All we got was the late afternoon vision of the sun shining against some beautiful white clouds far in the distant northeast. Later that evening a thunderstorm touched western Oklahoma, made headlines in the papers, so, if we had looked, we probably could have seen flashes of lightning.

Let's be sure, the next time there is a serious forecast for rain, to all sit up and watch the night skies! We might get to see lightning flashing somewhere! Wouldn't that be nice? And if we were to get to hear thunder, hold on now, we can't have everything down here on earth, hearing it thunder again may now be one of the heavenly rewards reserved for us when we get "over there"!

It has been hot! We found and donned our old "safari helmet" the day it was pushing 90. Those helmets are probably the coolest headgear ever invented, but they are undoubtedly the noisiest. Tap one of those helmets or walk beneath low hanging branches and the bumps and scrapings are so magnified as to be painful to eardrums. The alternative was blistered and peeling ears; we chose the noise.

It has been cool! The lowest reading of the week was 38 at sunrise Tuesday. The warmest lows were 54 Monday morning, and 55 on Thursday. Still a long way to go to meet Albert Mize's condition for planting cotton; three nights in a row with the temperature holding 60 or higher. For the dryland farmer that problem remains mute in '91; the ground will be warm enough long before it is wet enough!

Last year the coldest temperature following April 15 was 37 on May 6th. It looks like the last freeze of '91 is behind us!

CROP COMMENTS

Wheat ground is rapidly approaching record dryness. In fact it is becoming so dry that electric fence controllers, which rely on soil moisture for maximum delivery of their electrical shocks, are losing their effectiveness.

BEWARE! Keep a sharp eye out for roaming cattle during these dry times!

FROM THE MINIFARM FRONT
EDNA BETH TYE says her Bill, the man she is tied to, traditionally gets his seed potatoes planted on May 17th. That way, by carefully checking the growing plants, they always find enough "new potatoes" for dinner on Father's Day. Gives Edna Beth a whole 90 days to plan the balance of that day's special meal!

It has been noticed that tiny spiders, mites, ants, and, in fact, all manner of creeping things are among us in abundance!

THE LEANING CEDARS

Apr. 11: Many from Cedar Hill attended funeral services for Goldie

(Brown) Cyper Thursday afternoon. She passed away around nine a.m. Monday, Apr. 8. Goldie was the last of the Pioneer Henry Brown family who settled at Cedar in the mid-1890s. A portion of the original Brown real estate holdings are still owned by Goldie's heirs.

Apr. 11: Her preacher father's having an apparent heart attack sent Marissa Sparks Fortenberry scurrying to his bedside in Garland, Texas, last Thursday. Reverend Sparks was pastor of the First Assembly of God Church in Lockney for a number of years back in the early 50s. By the time Marissa arrived in Garland Rev. Sparks was showing improvement.

Apr. 15: J.D. Busby's condition is such that they are able to be at home this Monday. His most recent tests indicate his next blood transfusion can be delayed for some time. J.D. is perhaps a little weaker, and Mrs. Busby a little more worn with the constant care.

Apr. 15: Suffering from unbearable chest pains, Cephus Fortenberry roused Imogene Wednesday night, Apr. 10, and had her drive him to Lockney General Hospital. Yes, heart malfunction was the diagnosis, and rest and quiet were mandated. Unfortunately it was the day of the Goldie Cyper funeral and the town was filled with out-of-town friends and relatives who were reluctant to return to their distant homes without expressing their concern and best-wishes. Soon hospital personnel were forced to assume a very firm stance, and many visitors were turned away. Happily, since then, things have gone well for Cephus, and, as related by his grandson, Terry Harris, Cephus's tentative dismissal is scheduled of Thursday, Apr. 18.

Apr. 15: Monday found Rosa Massengale Lackey and her son, Greer, still making their home in their Floydada apartment. Rosa still walks inside her home, however her wheelchair is her most constantly used place of rest. Rosa's sister and her husband, Virginia and Grady Rosenberg, still live among the red-wood trees in NW California. The Rosenbergs' home is near Eureka and when nature's acoustics are at their best the sound of huge Pacific waves can be heard crashing and breaking along the distant shore. Rosa, born in 1904, and the younger Virginia are the only survivors of the Massengale family of Cedar Hill.

Apr. 15: Edna Beth Tye said Monday that Aunt Clara Mize, making her home with her son and wife, George and Betty Mize, out near Tempe, Arizona, is doing well. She still pines for the friends and relatives left here in Floyd County where she had lived for 91 years. Maybe so the great celestial manager up in the sky will arrange for Clara to live among us again one fine day.

Apr. 15: The two out of three Fortenberry sisters still ailing a week ago have edged back into more normal activities. Ella Marie Strickland has returned to the kids in her classroom. Sister Pauline VanHoose availed herself of the opportunity to ride to Kingsville for a visit with her son, Cecil Wayne VanHoose and his family. Her ruptured knee disk should convalesce more rapidly there.

Apr. 17 is a day for memories, a time for sorrowing by the family and friends of J.B. Whitehead who passed away a year ago today. Funeral services were at FBC in Floydada on Friday, April 19, 1990, interment followed in the Lockney Cemetery.

THE DESSICATED CEDARS

Apr. 13: A cousin in trouble brought Mae Hammonds Taylor from Hollis, OK, last Saturday to comfort and encourage Imogene Fortenberry during Cephus' stay in the hospital. Mae visited overnight in the home of Martha and Junior Taylor and returned to her business in Hollis on Sunday.

Apr. 14: Several Cedar Hillians enjoyed the singing program presented by the Lighthouse Singers at the First Assembly of God Church in Floydada Sunday evening. An article on page 7 of the April 11 issue of the Hesperian-Beacon gave a short history of the all-family group of evangelistic singers. Frank Taylor and his wife, Joyce (Ferguson), who manage the itinerary of the group, are both natives of Floydada, and Frank's ancestry reaches back into the Cedar Hill community of the early 30s. Frank's mother was Lois Watkins, who with her sister Aretta were the oldest of the Watkins children. Before the family moved to Floydada they lived for a time on the Clarence Ginn place, later near the Bradley Yearly residence, and lastly on the P.T. Gentry section owned by Uncle Pete McDonald.

Apr. 15: Ruthie Bell Clark of Austin arrived in Cedar Hill Monday for an indefinite visit with her daughter Edna Gilly and numerous other relatives.

Apr. 15: A tele-visit with Lou Jean Burleson Monday evening found her deep into essential preliminaries that relate to the up-coming "Drag-A-Ranch Steer Roping" which is scheduled for April 26-27-28. Lou Jean has a new CRH computer to help with her mailing list to prospective contestants. In the beginning computers are often quite intimidating, each of your hands suddenly seem to acquire five thumbs. Lou Jean hung her share of grubs plowing in the new field of computerization, but now she has most of her fingers back, and she suspects that her beast has been beaten. Likely her ride from this point on in will be a quiet one! The steer roping will be held at the Burleson Roping Arena located mid-point between White Flat and Flomot; to the north and slightly east from Horner Lake.

Apr. The Don Warren family, who live mid-point between Liberty and Center, have also joined the ranks of computerized farmers. Their IBM compatible Tandy 1000 has been in service a little longer than one year. Hope indicates that two lively young daughters limit her computer time, so Don probably logs more computer hours than she. It has been noticed that when the Warren's computer moved in their association with exotic crops, veggie farming, moved out.

Apr. 16: In days gone by the small, one-man, cattle operations would combine their man-power when it came time to do the big jobs; the branding, castration, dehorning, and such. Now larger operators wait for dry times, or similar slack periods, and divert their regular field help to do a day or two's work with cattle; no outside help needed. Mechanization and changing times have destroyed that easy going camaraderie which was characteristic of the past. The modern method sent Edna Gilly outside county boundaries, last Tuesday, to hire professionals to come in and give her cattle their spring working. That which has increased efficiency for some has resulted in economic convulsions for others that are punier.
