Ike Gives Congress Bulky Plan, Warns On Spending

In The Spirit

A tame mouse sips at a glass of sherry as another eager imbiber waits his turn at the foot of a ladder in their cage at a winery in Jerez de la Frontera, Spain. Tourists get a kick out of the mice with their sherry. Presumably the mice do, too.

Powers Kin Hits U.S. 'Spy' Label

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The father of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers said today he believed the United States was hurting his son's chances by constantly referring to him as a spy.

"I've got a copy of what is supposed to be my son's confession," said Oliver W. Powers on his departure for Washington, another leg of a flight from his southwest Virginia home to Moscow for his son's spy trial.

"There is nothing in there to convict that boy of spying. It looks like the biggest conviction will be by the United States with Russia doing the sentencing.

"They speak of him as a spy. I believe that's wrong."

The Pound, Va., shoe repairman sat with his frail wife, Ida, on a swimming pool patio at the home of his Richmond host, Vincent Speranza. He and Mrs. Powers were overnight guests of Speranza who is giving Powers financial assistance for the visit to the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Powers said little and dabbed at her eyes repeatedly as her husband talked of her son's chances in the Moscow spy trial. "They keep speaking of him as a spy and I believe that's wrong," Powers said.

"He's confessed to what he had to confess to and that's all. He was found inside the Soviet Union and, of course, he could only have gotten there by plane.

"My son never confessed to being an agent of the CIA (Central Intelligence Agency)."

Powers said the confession he referred to was sent to him by a man in College Park, Md. He said it was printed and the signature was in such small writing that he didn't know if it was his son's signature and was inclined to believe it was not.

Powers and his wife, Sol Cury, a Norton, Va., businessman and family friend who is serving as his adviser; Dr. Lewis K. Ingram, who is treating Mrs. Powers for a heart condition, and Carl A. MacAfee, the elder Powers' attorney, will leave New York Thursday for the flight to Moscow.

The younger Powers' U2 reconnaissance plane was downed over the Soviet Union on May 1. If convicted on the spy charges, he could be executed.

His father, a shoemaker in Norton, Va., said he won't abandon hope even if the Soviet court hands down "an adverse verdict."

In that case, said the elder Powers, "I would expect the State Department to step in and appeal."

He told newsmen that he and his family "are hoping for the best, but expecting the worst."

He said he was disappointed the Soviets had refused to grant visas to three Virginia lawyers chosen by the Virginia Bar Assn. to help in Powers' defense.

Women Pipe Smokers

Mrs. Joan B. Bergstrom, left, and Miss Ann M. Busselle, both of New York City, enjoy a morning smoke on their pipes as they prepare for the World's Championship Pipe Smoking Contest in Lancaster, Pa. Several other women were expected to be among the 57 entrants.

Senate Renews Delayed Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower laid before Congress today a bulky program ranging from foreign aid to medical help for the aged but warned against "reckless spending schemes."

"This truth we must take to heart: in good times, we must at the very least pay our way," he said in a special message sent to the Senate as it resumed its election-year session. The message also will be waiting for the House when it reconvenes a week hence.

In the face of Democratic, and some Republican, criticism that the nation's defenses are growing relatively weaker in the face of Communist threats, the President insisted U. S. military power "is second to none and will be kept that way."

Saying he was taking measures to improve the armed forces' readiness, he said these may necessitate "a modest increase" in military personnel and money. If funds are needed, he said, he will ask for them.

CONGRESS ACTION

But national security demands congressional action too, Eisenhower said, and called for appropriation of the full amount authorized for foreign aid. He noted the appropriation bill for the mutual security program, as it now stands, is half a billion dollars under this.

"The nation's security and our inescapable interest in a stable world demand that these amounts be restored," Eisenhower said.

Congress authorized appropriation of $4,086,300,000 for foreign aid and mutual security, but the House voted to hold the actual appropriation to $3,584,500,000. The Senate has not yet acted on the appropriation bill.

Eisenhower advised Congress that he had already taken some actions to strengthen this country's military posture, and that the Defense Department would carry them out "with its available resources insofar as possible."

UNFROZEN FUNDS

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's wording meant that some funds impounded by Eisenhower were being unfrozen, and that Congress would be asked for more money if needed.

Hagerty estimated the impounded amount at $1,600,000,000.

The President also asked the legislators for:

1. A 100-million-dollar increase in flexible foreign aid funds "to keep America poised for sudden developments such as those in the Congo where a U. S. airlift and other efforts were needed suddenly and critically."

The House and Senate foreign aid legislation now pending would grant Eisenhower 150 million dollars for this contingency fund.

2. A 600-million-dollar authorization by Congress for a program of aid to Latin America. He asked approval for this fund by the time the economic conference of the American republics starts in Bogota, Colombia, Sept. 5.

FOOD PLAN

3. Advance approval for a food-for-the-hungry proposal which he said will be presented to the United Nations General Assembly in September.

Eisenhower said this will be a program, "whereby we and other fortunate nations can, together, make greater use of our combined agricultural abundance to help feed the hungry of the world."

On the domestic side, Eisenhower listed upwards of a score of actions that he has said Congress should attend to now and not let them "go begging for months to come."

Eisenhower declared only 6 of 27 measures he had named last May as required by the national interest have been enacted into law so far.

He said Civil rights was the only major measure passed by Congress since his May 3 legislative message and that the civil rights bill had two major deletions which he hoped Congress would restore.

One deletion in the civil rights measure as passed by Congress, was a provision Eisenhower asked for grants by the federal government to states to help them in efforts for desegregating schools.

A second deletion was a provision for statutory authority for the Government Contracts Committee which seeks to avoid racial discrimination on work done on government contracts.

In listing again all the measures he had asked in May, and requesting action on them, Eisenhower said he had special comment on two—farm legislation and assistance to depressed areas.

As to a farm bill, particularly to deal with the wheat surplus program, Eisenhower said "The Congress has refused to accept my recommendations and insisted upon unrealistic programs which, of course, I have rejected."

HE'LL APPROVE

He repeated what he has said before—that if Congress works out some different approach from his ideas and keeps it "within the guidelines, I will unhesitatingly approve it."

"The Congress should promptly provide the constructive remedies for agriculture so long and so urgently needed," he said.

As for aid to depressed areas, Eisenhower said:

"For five years in a row I have recommended area assistance legislation. Regrettably I had no choice but to veto the legislation the Congress did pass this session. It would have frittered the taxpayers' money away in areas where it was not needed and on programs that would not have benefitted those truly in need of help.

"A new area assistance bill, with administration backing, was introduced immediately after my veto. It would channel more help directly into stricken areas than any previous measure proposed. Failure to act will deny this help for months to come. Human distress demands action now. If later we find there should be changes either in the dollar amounts or the methods used, experience will dictate the kind of adjustments to be made."

Cotton Crop Estimate Is 4,375,000 Bales

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department forecast today a Texas cotton crop of 4,375,000 bales, only slightly lower than the 4½ million bales produced last year.

The department predicted a yield of 321 pounds per acre, compared with 337 harvested in 1959.

Nationally, the agency said 14,471,000 bales are expected to be gathered.

THIS estimate, second graf d40

This estimate is 87,000 bales less than last year's crop of 14,580,000 bales. It compares also with the 10-year (1949-58) average of 13,710,000 bales.

Cotton is grown under a federal program which seeks to open up broader markets by lowering price supports, and as a result market prices, to growers. It also allows growers to overplant acreage allotments if they are willing to accept lower price guarantees.

The report estimated the acreage to be harvested this year at 15,531,000 acres compared with 15,090,000 last year and 19,969,000 for the 10-year average.

The yield per harvested acre was forecast at 447 pounds compared with 462 pounds last year and 345 for the 10-year average.

The production of American-Egyptian type—long staple—Cotton was forecast at 68,200 bales compared with 70,600 last year and 57,700 for the 10-year average.

The acreage for harvest, the yield per acre and the production, respectively, of cotton by states included:

Louisiana 500,000, 480 and 480,000; Oklahoma 640,000, 304 and 45,000; New Mexico 204,000; 706, and 300,000; Arizona 424,000; 974 and 860,000; and California 935,000 1,050 and 2,045,000.

The Agriculture Department, in its August report, also said that generally lower yield prospects more than offset the 3 per cent upturn in acreage for harvest compared with last year.

For the United States, the estimated yield per acre of 447 pounds compares with 462 in 1959, the record high of 466 pounds in 1958, and the 10-year average of 345 pounds.

The department said that many growers were unable to get stands this year after replanting one or more times. Considerable acreage was diverted to other crops in central and eastern states. For the United States, abandonment including removal for compliance was estimated at 4.8 per cent compared with 4.6 per cent in 1959.

The forecast of 14,471,000 bales of 500 gross weight is equivalent to 14,316,000 running bales.

The Bureau of Census reported that 139,779 bales were ginned until Aug. 1, 1960, compared with 150,472 bales in 1959. If the ratio of lint to cottonseed is the same as the average for the past five years, production of cottonseed would be 5,986,000 tons compared with 5,991,000 tons in 1959.

Addison Uses 2 Amendments

DALLAS (AP) — Under siege from lenders, uranium promoter John Milton Addison barricaded himself today behind the Fourth and Fifth Amendments.

This was the day the Denver and Dallas promoter, 37, was to have filed with federal bankruptcy referee Elmore Whitehurst the complete list of lenders from whom he has gotten more than a million dollars to finance his multi-state operations.

Lester May, his lawyer, said the list would not be filed. Earlier, May had suggested Addison might invoke the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination to avoid filing the list of lenders n the bankruptcy case.

Addison and his lawyer bolstered that barricade today with a Fourth Amendment defense growing out of what they called an "illegal search and seizure" by which state officials obtained some of Addison's records.

Wide Showers Seen For State

By The Associated Press

A pre-dawn thundershower fell in the Panhandle Monday and the U. S. Weather Bureau predicted widely scattered showers would dot the state during the day.

The early morning shower was reported 45 miles west of Amarillo. Skies were partly cloudy in the Amarillo area and along the coast as far inland as San Antonio and Austin. Elsewhere they were generally clear.

Showers fell at several points in Texas Sunday. Lufkin reported .83 of an inch, Galveston .28, Presidio .13, Corpus Christi .03, and Beaumont and Houston .01.

Wreck Injures Three Airmen

A one car accident in the 700 block of N. Gregg early Sunday afternoon injured three Webb AFB airmen, one of them seriously.

Charles L. Newman, Negro driver of the car, and Elvyn Blyden, one of five passengers, were treated at the base hospital. Newman suffered a fractured knee cap and Blyden, a Negro, suffered a cracked neck vertabra which was not discovered at the time of the mishap.

Another passenger, George Mazur, was flown to Lackland AFB hospital for treatment of a compound fracture of his right leg. Mazur was taken to Webb in a Nalley-Pickle ambulance. A River ambulance carried Newman to the base.

Other passengers in the car were Walter Gooden, Edd C. Spears and Benjamin Jones, all Negroes.

Patrolman Robert Dugan said Newman apparently lost control of his car on loose gravel and crashed into a concrete retaining wall at the corner of NW 7th and Gregg. A street sign was also damaged.

In a minor mishap early Sunday morning, John L. Lopez, Crain, was in collision with a city street sweeper driven by Torres Santos, Coahoma, on the east viaduct. Damage to Lopez's car was reported as light and the sweeper escaped unscathed.

THE NEW SCHOOL BUDGET

Local School Outlays Rate With The National Average

(This is the final story in a series on the 1960-61 proposed budget of the Big Spring Independent School District. Public hearing has been set for Tuesday night).

In considering a school budget, there are few criteria in determining its strengths and weaknesses. Possibly the best light for examination, and one used by schoolmen in general, is to compare the budget with what other districts are spending.

As school districts vary in size and wealth, a comparision of exact dollars expended for various purposes would not necessarily give a true picture of the relationship. Thus, school administrators usually use percentages or "cost - per - pupil" comparisons.

With these figures, it is more easily explained how the Big Spring district compares with other districts, both nationally and regionally.

Instructional costs account for the largest single portion of any school budget. This is the pay checks, and allied costs, for teachers.

In the proposed Big Spring budget, it is 76.7 per cent of the total. The national average is 72.7 per cent.

COST PER PUPIL

Figuring cost - per - pupil on this portion of the budget, it is $241.45 in Big Spring and $221.74 on the national average.

Considering actual teachers salaries, in the local budget, it is 71.2 per cent and the national average is 66.3 per cent. The cost per pupil is $224.28 and the national average is $202.21.

A Southwest region which comprises Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas has an average per pupil cost of $218, but the average of the top 10 per cent across the nation is $279.

These figures tend to indicate that the local district is not out of line with what districts are paying for instructional costs. And, if quality comes with better paid teachers, the figures may indicate that the local district has higher quality of instruction.

ADMINISTRATIVE

Looking to other sections of the budget, 5.2 per cent of the total goes to administrative costs, compared with a national average of four per cent. This cost figures $16.43 per pupil while the national average is $12.20.

Considering only salaries of professional administrators, the local budget allocates 1.9 per cent for this purpose and the national average is 2.1 per cent. The cost per pupil is $6.13 locally and $6.41 in the national average. The regional average is $3.30 per pupil, but in the top ten per cent, the average is $7.70.

For attendance and health services, the local budget calls for expenditures of 1.1 per cent, compared with .7 per cent on the national averate. The cost-per-pupil here is $3.90, while $2.14 is the national average.

The local budget is below national plant costs and regional figures in maintenance and operation of buildings.

The Big Spring budget lists 11.8 per cent of the total for these purposes. The national average is 13 per cent. On a per pupil basis, the local budget is $37.39, the national average is $39.65, the regional average is $30.01 and the top 10 per cent maintain an average of $53.10.

For capital outlay and debt service, the local district is also below comparable statistics. It accounts for 14 per cent of the budget compared with a national average of 15 per cent.

In the current budget, the per pupil cost is $44.13, the national average is $42., the regional average is $46, and the top ten per cent allocate $111.

Comparing the total proposed operating budget with the national average, Big Spring will spend about six dollars more per pupil on education. The costs are $312.83 locally and $305. on nationally.

As the preceding figures indicate, most of this additional money is used to pay teachers and purchase teaching equipment and supplies.

School Attendance Areas Corrected

FORSAN — Information reports concerning attendance areas for Lockhart Addition students was in error, school officials said today.

Elementary pupils residing on the two northernmost streets in Lockhart addition, south of Big Spring, will attend the Forsan school. Those residing on the southernmost street will attend the Elbow school.

Junior and senior high pupils will attend Forsan.

The earlier report had erroneously reversed the schools as pertains to elementary pupils.

Classes will start on Sept. 6 for the Forsan School District, which this year consolidated with Elbow.

Work Started On New Road

Work on the service road to the new carbon black plant has begun as county workers started tearing down fences in preparation for building the road.

Next week, Cosden Petroleum Company will lower pipe lines and help remove telephone poles in the area. Within two weeks, actual building of the road should be under way, according to Walter Parks, county engineer.

The first half mile of the industrial road will probably be made passable by the first week in September, Parks reported.

All right-of-way for the road road has been obtained from Cosden and from private owners in the area.

Fatal Skirmish

Dag Warns Of War Danger, Calls On Belgians To Leave The Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. AP) — U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, warning that the world faces the issue of peace or war, called today for immediate and unconditional withdrawal of Belgian forces from the Congo, including secessionist Katanga province.

He delivered the warning in a hard-hitting speech at the opening of an urgent meeting of the 11-nation U. N. Security Council on the Congo crisis. He had asked for the meeting.

"I would even say that the immediate conclusion of the Congo problem is a question of peace or war," he declared.

He called on the Council to spell out in a resolution that the withdrawal should apply to Katanga "and to all parts of Katanga."

"I do not hesitate to say that the speediest possible — I would even say immediate—achievement of such a solution of the Congo problem is a question of peace or war, and when saying peace or war I do not limit my perspective to the Congo," he said.

"A delay now, hesitation now, efforts to safeguard national or group interests now in a way that would hamper the U.N. effort, would risk values immeasurably greater than any of those which such action may be intended to protect.

"This applies to all parties, first of all to the one which the Security Council has addressed its appeal."

Hammarskjold's personal report to the Council was delivered as various proposals were under consideration aimed at getting a U.N. force into Katanga province.

Premier Patrice Lumumba asked the Council to send a 10-nation observer team into the Congo to ensure withdrawal of Belgian forces.

Diplomatic sources said Ceylon and Tunisia probably would introduce a resolution specifying that the 12,000-man U.N. force in the Congo will not intervene in internal conflicts.

The aim would be to assure Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe, who says his own troops will fight if the U.N. force tries to come in, that the U.N. force will not try to bring the province under the control of Premier Patrice Lumumba's central Congo government.

The resolution by Ceylon and Tunisia also was expected to call for withdrawal of Belgian troops from all the Congo.

Indications were that the Soviet Union might introduce a resolution of its own, or amendments to the Ceylon-Tunisia resolution, to authorize U.N. units to use any force necessary to get into Katanga.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov told a reporter Sunday he had not yet decided whether to submit a proposal But in Moscow the Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda said the Congolese wanted the Security Council to "issue an order to the U.N. forces for the immediate liberation of Katanga from the Belgian occupiers."

The council meeting was postponed until noon today so that a delegation from Lumumba's government could attend. Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga was expected to demand that the council send U.N. troops into Katanga immediately.

A three-man delegation from the Katanga government flew in Sunday night. Finance Minister Jean Kibwe told newsmen he would ask the United Nations to "declare a moratorium" in the dispute over Katanga's future, await the withdrawal of Belgian troops and then supervise a provincial referendum on independence from, or unity with, the Congo.

Carload Of Concrete

Joe Nelson of Denver examines his automobile which was filled with wet concrete in front of the Nelson home. Nelson had ordered the concrete for a driveway and patio at his home but claims he cancelled the order two hours before delivery. Bob Porter of Denver, driver of the concrete truck, found the Nelsons gone when he arrived with the delivery. Exasperated by their absence, he dumped the load of concrete into the Nelson family car. Harsh words have been exchanged since but reconciliation is in the offing.

This picture, far from showing Dallas being invaded by monsters, is the artful work of John Mazziotta, Dallas Times Herald photographer using a stuffed dinosaur mother and her baby with Southland Life Tower as the background. The big dinosaur is actually just two feet tall, typical of the kind that stores can't keep in stock because of the current monster mania in the toy business. The Tower is 42 stories tall.

Rail Trouble Ran Into Him

SEMINOLE, Tex. (AP)— Johnny Clifford Jones didn't want to walk along the highway because of heavy traffic, so he trod along the railroad tracks—and was hit by a car.

Jones, 53, who operates a skating rink at nearby Seagraves and lives half a mile from town, found his car out of gas last night. He thought walking on the tracks was his best bet in getting safely to town.

He hadn't figured on three teenagers, who had deflated the tires of their old car and were riding the rails at about 15 miles an hour.

Highway Patrolman Jean Pate said Jones had just stopped to remove burrs from his pants cuff when the car hit him—and not headon.

The boys backed away, got onto the highway and went to town for officers, who found Jones still lying beside the tracks with ribs broken and a lung possibly punctured.

Pate said the accident was on private property so he turned the case over to the Sante Fe's investigators at Slaton.

Jones was listed as in a serious but not critical condition.

Trucks Begin New Garbage Routes Today

City garbage trucks began driving over new routes today as the new pickup system was put into effect, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

"Pickup days throughout the city have, in most instances, changed under the new plan, and residents should not become distressed if their garbage is not picked up on the days they are accustomed to," Dunn said.

The drivers of the trucks spent Saturday and Sunday familiarizing themselves with the new routes and by the end of this week should be fully acquainted with them, he added.

Schedules have been set up so that in some areas garbage is picked up on Mondays and Thursdays, in others on Tuesdays and Fridays and in still others on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Dunn said that residents with questions concerning the new pickup schedule may call the sanitation department at AM 4-8141.

Counseling Workshop Concluded

The YMCA counseling workshop ended Saturday and was termed "very satisfactory" by Program Secretary Everett Taylor.

"We hope to set up similar programs for future volunteer leaders so they will be able to detect special areas of needs," he said.

Ten YMCA staff members and lay leaders participated in the workshop. It was designed to make the individual leaders more skilled in recognizing disturbances and enable them to counsel and make referrals in some instances.

The workshop opened Monday with a talk by Dr. Floyd Mayes on Physical Defects That Cause Emotional Problems. Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the state hospital talked on counseling the second day and Tolford Durham, a social service worker at the VA Hospital, spoke the third day on Techniques of Counseling. Dr. Paul Young, psychologist from the state hospital, spoke the final three days on counseling processes.

Damage Suit Goes To Trial

Only one case went to trial out of the 16 listed on the civil docket which was called this morning at 10 a.m. in 118th District Court.

The case was a damage suit brought by Gentry Construction Co., Inc., against A. P. Kasch Co. Gentry, represented by Pat M. Baskin, is asking for damages of $4,148.68, balance due on a bill, plus attorney's fees of $1,250 and a 6 per cent interest fee per annum.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant agreed on Aug. 1, 1958, to a contract in which the plaintiff was to provide and deliver 3,800 yards of fill dirt on a proposed football field at a junior high school in Snyder. After investigation, the plaintiff claims that additional dirt would have to be provided and the defendant agreed to pay 70 cents for each additional square foot of dirt provided.

The Gentry Co. further alleges that a bill amounting to $4,148.68 was submitted to the Kasch Co. in accordance with the agreement, but that this balance was never paid.

The case went to trial at 1:30 p.m. today in 118th District Court. John A. Coffee is attorney for the defense.

All other cases listed on the docket were either continued or settled out of court.

Lawyer Secretes Rape Suspect

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The attorney for the Rev. John Feit, charged with the attempted rape of a college coed, said Sunday he knows exactly the whereabouts of the missing 27-year-old Roman Catholic priest.

Fred Semaan told the San Antonio Express by telephone from La Jolla, Calif., "I'll produce him when I get ready."

Semaan, on vacation, declined to say where Feit is.

The priest was charged with assault with intent to rape at Edinburg last week. The complaint was filed by a girl, 20, a student at Pan-American College in Edinburg.

Rio Grande Valley deputies, searching for Feit in San Antonio, were told Saturday by Father Albert Kippes at Demazenod Scholastic Seminary here that the missing priest had left the state.

25 Local Scouts, Scouters Take Arrow Order Ordeal

More than two score men and boys from the Lone Star district returned Sunday from the Order of Arrow ordeal (initiation) and induction ceremonies held at Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

There were 25 members of the various units who became members of the Order of Arrow, a camping fraternity for Scouts and Scouters. In addition, six unit leaders were inducted along with three district officials.

They ran into an unexpected ordeal when a vicious thunderstorm broke over the upper reaches of the mountains Saturday afternoon. The normally dry creek which runs past the camp went on a rampage, rising suddenly to 12 feet deep and delaying departure for about 12 hours.

Boys who were inducted were: Troop No. 1, Robert Goodlett, Mike Gilbert, Arthur Dellinger; troop No. 2, James Beckham, Butch Vaughn; troop No. 4, Teddy Dietz, Neil Henry, Sammy Sims; troop No. 5, Robert Compton, Chip Sweeney; troop No. 8, Windell Anderson, Tommy Marvin.

Cuba Seizes Most U. S. Holdings, Lines With Reds

HAVANA (AP) — Armed Cuban militiamen were in full control of most of the American property in Cuba today following its nationalization by Fidel Castro's regime.

The revolutionary government's new retaliation against the United States came only a few hours before the island's Roman Catholic hierarchy warned against "the increasing advance of communism in our country."

It was the church's first official criticism of the steadily increasing influence of the Communist bloc on the Castro regime.

Prime Minister Castro and his ministers made plain that they stood firmly with the Soviet Union as an economic and military ally, regardless of what other Latin American governments might think.

NOT INTERFERENCE

Foreign Minister Raul Roa declared that Cuba would reject any resolution the Organization of American States, at its meeting opening Aug. 16, might adopt protesting Soviet interference in the Western Hemisphere. He asserted the Soviet Union's offer to defend Cuba against aggression could not be interference in the hemisphere's internal affairs.

Castro got out of a sick bed dratically to announce the seizure of $770 million worth of American-owned property before a cheering crowd of 50,000 at the Red-tinged Latin American Youth Congress early Sunday morning.

Within hours armed militiamen began moving into the plants that included the Cuban Electric Co., the 300-million-dollar subsidiary of the American and Foreign Power Co. of New York and the largest single investment in the island.

A ranking official of the firm told a reporter "we don't have access to the building."

OTHER FIRMS

Other major American businesses nationalized were the Cuban Telephone Co., in which the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., has a 27½-million-dollar equity; the Standard Oil (New Jersey) refinery, about $70 million; Texaco refinery, $45 to $50 million; Sinclair Oil Co. operations in Cuba, worth about $5 million and 36 American-owned sugar mills worth about $200 million.

Some of these plants had been under Cuban government control for some time but had not been formally expropriated.

Castro said that the seizures were in retaliation for "economic aggression" by the United States —and made plain he meant President Eisenhower's slash in U. S. imports of Cuban sugar.

However, the seizure decree did not extend to American banks, the 75-million-dollar Moa Bay Mining Co., the Nicaro Nickel Processing Corporation, and other smaller American enterprises worth about 300 million in all. But Castro indicated these may be taken over, declaring "we can still take a few things more away from them (the Americans)."

PAYMENT PROMISED

The expropriated property will be paid for with 50-year bonds at 2 per cent interest, the decree said, but there was doubt whether any payments will ever be made.

With sarcasm, Castro repeated an earlier announcement that the money would come from one-fourth of the value of all Cuban sugar bought by the United States in excess of 3 million tons yearly at a premium price of 5.4 cents a pound. Eisenhower's cut dropped U.S. sugar purchases from Cuba below 3 million tons for this year, and continuation of this policy would leave empty the reimbursement fund for American property owners.

Another American property so far untouched is the big naval base at Guantanamo, which the United States holds by a 1934 treaty. But Castro delivered a veiled threat of an attempt to oust the Americans from there. He told the cheering throng at the Havana Baseball Stadium: "Cuba does not consider itself tied to the United States by any commitment, including warlike and military pacts."

NO REACTION

There was no immediate reaction from Castro's government to the church's anti-Communist pastoral letter, which was signed by Manuel Cardinal Arteaga, the church's highest authority in Cuba, and eight other archbishops. It was read in most churches at masses Sunday.

"Social reforms that respect legitimate rights of all citizens, that tend to improve legitimate cultural, social and economic rights of the humble have now and always will have the most decisive moral support of the church," the letter said.

It singled out for praise, among other things, the agrarian reform program. But it protested that some "measures of social character have not been carried out with rightful respect to the rights of all citizens," an obvious reference to the failure so far of the government to provide compensation for the properties it has seized.

Residents Warned To Store Water

Residents in the Douglas and Lockhart additions were reminded today that they will be without water service from 10 p.m. Tuesday until 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Bruce Dunn, director for public works, said that residents living south of Wasson Rd. and west of the City Park, should store as much water as they think necessary to tide them over during the nine-hour period.

The water is being cut off while a new line is connected. The new line replaces an old line which ran across Suburban Hts., and is a 14-inch feeder line from the O'Barr well field.

Paving Program Begins This Week

A work order to begin the assessment paving program is to be issued sometime this week to contractors W. D. Caldwell and H. G. Counts, according to Bruce Dunn, director of public works.

Dunn said the contractors have indicated a desire to start paving the 6th St. area next week, possibly Monday. Relocation of utility lines in the area has been completed, Dunn said.

Bataan Survivors Slate Reunion

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Memories of the Bataan death march never will fade for its survivors.

Dan C. Irwin, one of four Fort Myers veterans of the ordeal, said some survivors are expected to journey from as far as California to attend a reunion in Fort Myers Aug. 12-13.

"I think we'd have a tremendous turnout if we knew where they all were and could get word to them," Irwin said.

Irwin and his comrades were among 10,000 U.S. servicemen on Bataan, Philippine Islands, who were surrendered to the Japanese in 1942. Many died en route to prison camps and only 4,500 were alive at the end of the war.

The new cars recommended for purchase are to replace two 1959 models which will have been driven 80,000 miles by the time bids are taken and the replacements actually made, according to City Manager A. K. Steinheimer.

An ordinance calling for the refunding of $80,000 in water improvement bonds remaining from a 1938 issue will be read Tuesday.

By refunding the bonds at this time, Steinheimer said a favorable interest rate is available which will save the city $1,443.60 in interest during the eight years remaining until the bonds mature.

Ordinances re-zoning the Sands Restaurant and Coronado Hills subdivision properties will be given first readings, along with the final ordinance annexing 100 acres of Kentwood Addition.

A city owned building at Webb AFB will be officially turned over to the base for disposal as called for in an agreement made with the city commission two months ago.

Mystery Cargoes From Russia To Cuba Are Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The magazine U.S. News & World Report said today Soviet ships have been delivering mysterious cargoes to Havana since June 28.

In a copyright article, it added that since June 18 certain areas of the interior, such as the large Zapata swamp on the south coast, have been put off limits.

The number of identified Soviet technicians who have reached Cuba through normal channels has doubled in the past six weeks, the article added, and at least 200 technicians and advisers known to be from the Soviet bloc are now in Cuba.

Crates delivered by the ships, the article said, are large enough to hold parts for airplanes or rockets and "get very special care."

"Cuban longshoremen are not allowed to handle them. They are unloaded by the Russian crews."

DEAR ABBY

BOOST HIS EGO

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that is putting gray hair in my head. I have been married 13 years. We have four children. My husband is a collector and is out of town a lot.

Last night he came home and told me he made a date with another woman, but he didn't keep it.

I asked him why he made the date and he said he just wanted to see if he could still get a date. It had been so long since he tried.

I feel terrible about this. How can I ever trust him again? Do you think he told me the whole truth?

GRAY HAIR

DEAR GRAY: Probably. The man who never says anything is the one you have to watch. Pump up your husband's self-confidence and he won't have to test his power as a Romeo. Every woman knows that all a man needs to get a date is a little time, the right place and some long green in his pocket (but don't tell him I said so).

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Why do people bother to come to church if they can't stay awake during the sermon? We are faithful church-goers and I have noticed several people who fall asleep regularly the minute they sit down in church. One man snores a little and it is a mystery to me why his wife does not give him a shove. Don't you think it is the duty of those sitting near people like that to wake them up?

CHURCH-GOER

DEAR GOER: When people fall asleep in church, someone should wake up the preacher.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband's brother, Duane, works and lives in a city 1,000 miles from here. Next month he is marrying a girl from there. We sent them a rather expensive present. We are people of modest means and cannot afford to make the trip for the wedding, but we are pitching in so that Duane's mother and father can fly there and back.

Duane knows all this. Last week we received a SHOWER invitation ("Something for the kitchen, please?") from the bride's friends. My husband really blew his top! He absolutely forbids me to send a gift, which I can understand. However, I don't want her people to think we are as ignorant as they are. What would you do, Abby?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: If my husband had "forbidden" me to send a gift—that would settle it. It is poor taste to send a shower invitation to someone 1,000 miles away. But perhaps the bride's friends might have been thoughtfully trying to include the groom's family in on everything. Acknowledge the invitation with appreciation, best wishes—and regrets.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DON'S DARLING": You can be saved by the bell—the wedding bell—if you hurry.

* * *

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of the Big Spring Herald and enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

Army Assn. Pushing For Ground Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The association of the United States Army, convening in the midst of a campaign year in which defense is a major issue, is beating the drums for a bigger role and more money for the ground forces.

The AUSA begins today its three-day annual convention with an expected 3,000 persons—including retired high ranking officers now able to speak out their personal views in a forum designed to advance the Army's cause.

The basic idea of these conventions, says the AUSA frankly, "is to dramatize and publicize the aims and objectives of the association."

This year the emphasis is on what it calls "the vital need for faster modernization of the Army."

Two years ago the Army asked the Defense Department to include in the military budget a program to start a 15-billion-dollar, five-year Army modernization program. The budget funds provided since then have been substantially short of that goal. With a new administration coming next January, the AUSA is pushing the modernization effort in speeches, round-table discussions and hardware exhibits.

The speakers' list includes Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, who retired to a private industry post from which he is free to wage his campaign for modernization, airlift and changes in the military high command method of administration.

Also on the list is Wilber M. Brucker, who has been secretary of the Army for more than five years. Brucker has supported the campaign, but in more restrained fashion than some of the professional zealots.

Harris County (Houston) Among 'Million' Counties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harris County in Texas is among the 16 counties in the United States now having a population of more than one million.

The Census Bureau says the Texas county, of which Houston is the county seat, now ranks 12th with a population of 1,234,868. Ten years ago Harris county stood 18th with a count of 806,701.

Los Angeles County, Calif., is first with 5,979,293, followed by Cook County, Ill., with 5,086,924.

The census bureau's tabulation, released Sunday, shows sharp climbs by other big Texas counties.

Dallas county rose to 17th place from the 28th spot in 1950 with a present population of 942,563. Ten years ago the count was 614,799.

Bexar County, of which San Antonio is the county seat, climbed from 42nd place to 33rd place with a population of 683,262, compared with 500,460 in 1950.

Tarrant County, of which Fort Worth is the county seat, rose from 62nd to 52nd place on a count of 534,072. The 1950 population was 361,253.

Guard Prank Ends In Officer's Death

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Military and civil authorities were to decide today who has jurisdiction in a prank which resulted in the drowning of an Indiana National Guardsman.

Police said five Guardsmen had admitted throwing Spl. 4.C. Walter R. Van Vickle, 34, Sharpsville, into the St. Joseph River behind South Bend's National Guard Armory Saturday night.

Van Vickle, a Korean veteran and father of four, screamed "I can't swim" as he was dragged to the river, witnesses said. Three Guardsmen, including one of those being held, received hospital treatment after a vain rescue attempt.

The five told police they carried Van Vickle from his Jeep in the bivouac area, stripped him of his clothes and tossed him into what they thought was two feet of water. Police said they were told dunking ceremonies for new officers are a tradition Guardsmen indulge in on the last night of summer training.

Two new second lieutenants were also thrown into the river, but there was no further explanation why Van Vickle, an enlisted man, was so treated.

Deputy prosecutor Theodore E. Prekowitz said he would decide after consultation with military authorities whether to file formal manslaughter charges. Col. Howard S. Wilkox, assistant commander of the parent 38th Division, said he had asked police to waive jurisdiction and turn the investigation over to military authorities.

The five men in custody are Ralph E. Burt, 23, and Harold E. Shuppers, 20, both of Tipton; William S. Dowdy, 20, North Salem; Robert K. Vannice, 19, Danville, and Arnold G. Bell, 22, Indianapolis.

Van Vickle's body, which landed in eight feet of water, was recovered by a skin diver.

The men, all members of company E, 2nd Battle Group, 293rd Infantry, were in a group of 900 en route home after two weeks training at Camp Grayling, Mich.

Official Claims Astronaut Program Still On Schedule

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top space agency official said today that the Project Mercury manned satellite program is "essentially along the same time schedule" as was initially planned.

Despite some published reports of serious lags in the program, "no major problems" have developed, Dr. Abe Silverstein said in an interview. He is director of space flight programs for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Silverstein reported that everything inside the Mercury capsule fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., July 29, worked properly even though the Atlas launching vehicle failed.

The agency still plans to launch Mercury astronauts into suborbital flights this year and into orbits around the earth next year, as nearly on schedule as is possible in any ambitious research and development program, Silverstein said.

Seven men are being trained for orbital flights of 17,500 miles an hour, three or more times around the earth, at altitudes of 120 miles. These full-scale Atlas-launched missions will be preceded by suborbital test hops, in Redstone rocket-launched capsules, to an altitude of 125 miles and a distance of 200 miles down range from Cape Canaveral.

Dr. Homer Joe Stewart, NASA's director of program planning, told a National Rocket Club luncheon July 28 that the Mercury program, under way now for 18 months, has had "some small slippage."

Stewart said a suborbital manned flight "is still technically possible by the end of this year, but the margin is getting a little small."

What might have been a major step forward in the Mercury program—the first attempt at an Atlas-launched ballistic flight of a Mercury capsule — turned into a sharp setback when the rocket exploded 65 seconds after launching July 29.

Silverstein said the reason for the Atlas failure was still a mystery.

"But we recovered 95 per cent of the capsule—from 50 feet of water—and got good information on it," he said.

"We recovered all the instrumented data—information on temperatures, acceleration forces and the like. Everything worked inside the capsule, but it did not reach flight conditions."

Silverstein said the whole Mercury program is on an accelerated scale.

"In such a program you have to anticipate failures. We expected some failures and designed the program for them."

6 Persons Die In Plane Crash

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Six persons died in the crash of a light, private plane in a violent storm Saturday night near Chester.

One victim, William Pilkington, 30, of Tujunga, Calif., was a group supervisor in a communications section of California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion laboratory. He was credited with the development of circuits in the radio transmitter of the Explorer space satellite.

Another victim was the pilot, Jack Dinerstein, 30, a former jet propulsion lab employe who recently had been operating Pacific Air Service at Van Nuys, Calif.

Also killed were Pilkington's wife, Rosella, 31, and their children, Kari 4; Glenn, 3; and Dale, 20 months. Glenn's body, hurled about 300 yards from the wreckage, wasn't found until Sunday.

Coroner Lester C. Walker theorized the plane had been struck by lightning. Two persons saw the plane intact just before a lightning flash.

Area residents who saw the single-engine plane falling said one of its wings was gone.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Emmett McKenzie, the local football mentor, said at the Texas Coaches Association school in Dallas last week that the District 2-AAAA titlist may lose one game within the conference.

He also expressed the possibility that the winner of the Abilene-Odessa High contest would emerge as the titlist.

Odessa Permian is being rated higher around the state than Odessa High, but not in Odessa. Spec Gammon, the Odessa scribe, for one, said last spring that he thought Odessa High would be the stronger of the two teams.

Everybody may be overlooking San Angelo, however. The Bobcats beat Abilene last year and could be tough.

San Angelo may dominate 2-AAAA in the early '60s like Abilene did in the late '50s.

* * *

A special invitation will go to Abilene's veteran Ed Hopkins to play in the 29th annual Big Spring Coronado Hills Invitational Golf tournament Sept. 2-5.

Hopkins doesn't play in many tournaments but he's a great player. He was tempted to turn pro a few years ago but reasoned he could do better in the oil business.

Ed makes it a point to play in the Broadmoor Invitational in Colorado every year.

The tournament committee here is hopeful of getting a big turnout for this year's meet, then taking as many players as possible on a tour of the new Country Club site. Such a maneuver would pay dividends for the course later.

Many area players have passed up the local tournament in recent years because it has been held on a nine-hole course. That shortcoming will be corrected after this year.

* * *

Pampa, opening football foe of the Big Spring Steers this fall, was relegated to the next-to-last spot among the District 3-AAAA teams by Gene Mayfield, the Borger coach, last week. The conference has eight teams.

Mayfield foresaw Lubbock Monterey as the conference winner and rated Amarillo High, Amarillo Palo Duro, Borger, Plainview, Amarillo Tascosa, Pampa and Tom S. Lubbock behind the Plainsmen, in that order.

Borger is ranked third in the state by some observers but Mayfield says that is too high, that he was hit hard by graduation. Like Midland of District 2-AAAA, however, Borger returns a splendid B team.

* * *

That probation handed down to Indiana University by the Big Ten for allegedly illegal recruiting recently will hurt the Hoosiers in more ways than one.

The Indianans will be a sure loser of $85,000 in TV revenue alone as a result of the sentence.

* * *

Don Hoak and Gino Camoli are the only two members of the Pittsburgh Pirates' baseball club who have ever played in a World Series. Both made the classic when wearing Brooklyn flannels.

It's beginning to look as if the Corsairs will qualify for this year's series. Many fans around the country are rooting for a set between Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

* * *

This year's Sweetwater Little League baseball champions, which participated in the same Sectional tournament with Big Spring at Wichita Falls last week, progressed farther than any Sweetwater team in history by winning its district title.

Cheek, Lovelady Share Laurels

Bill Cheek and Donald Lovelady shared medalist honors in the 1960 City Golf tournament, each with a two-under par 71.

Cheek toured the front nine in an even par 36 and picked up birdies on the 13th and 18th holes on the back side to finish with his 71.

Lovelady was out in 37 but sizzled with a three-under par 34 to tie Cheek.

But for a bogie five on the 17th, Lovelady would have been in even better shape. He sank birdies on the 13th, 14th and 15th holes, then finished with a one-under par three on 18.

Their scores:

Par out	444	453	444—36
Cheek out	353	453	445—36
Lovelady out	444	544	444—37
Par in	344	435	444—37—73
Cheek in	445	344	453—35—71
Lovelady in	344	344	453—34—71

In all, 80 players qualified for the meet, which means that 35 got in under the wire on the final day.

It took a 77 or better to rate the 16-player championship flight.

Jimmy Newsom finished one off the medalists' pace with a 72.

R. S. McCullah, the defending titlist, faces rugged Bernard Rains in his first match. Rains qualified with a 65. McCullah, of course, was not required to qualify.

John Pipes, the loser to McCullah in last year's finals, takes on Bobby Wright in his first test. Wright is a past champion of the meet.

Cheek's first foe will be Joe Connally, who consistently shoots good golf. Connally qualified with a 75.

Lovelady will be favored to topple Pat Patterson in his first match. Patterson rated the title flight with a 76.

Match play in the tournament gets under way tomorrow and continues through next Sunday.

The flight winners get merchandise awards.

O's Getting Needed Punch On Road Trip

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

And now they've got hitting, too. The main rap against the Baltimore Orioles was their almost total lack of power.

The experts last spring conceded Paul Richards' kiddie crew had speed, defense and pitching. But who besides Gus Triandos and Gene Woodling were capable of providing the long ball?

Richards showed 'em Sunday. The supposedly weak-hitting Orioles banged out 30 hits, including six home runs and two doubles in their 8-6 and 9-2 sweep of a doubleheader from Cleveland. They slammed five home runs in the first game to set a club record. Woodling hit one. The others were made by Jim Gentile (2), Jackie Brandt and pitcher Jack Fisher.

Fisher, who won his seventh game, in relief, cracked his in a two-run rally in the eighth that snapped a 6-6 tie. Brandt added another homer, his ninth, in the nightcap as Milt Pappas spaced seven hits for his 10th victory. Gentile's homers were his 13th and 14th.

The double triumph boosted the third-place Orioles to within a half-game of second and two games of the top.

The runner-up Chicago White Sox whittled New York's first-place lead down to 1½ games by winning a pair from Washington 9-7 and 3-2 while Kansas City was holding the Yankees to a split in their twin bill. The Athletics won the second game 13-3 after New York had won the opener 3-2. Detroit and Boston divided a pair, the Tigers winning the first game 7-2 and the Red Sox taking the second 1-0.

Ninth inning clutch hits by Gene Freese and Minnie Minoso provided relief ace Gerry Staley with both White Sox victories. Freese slammed a two-run homer in the first game to break a 7-7 tie. Minoso cracked a run-scoring single with two out in the final inning of the second game to break a 2-2 tie.

Staley, in winning his 10th and 11th victories, worked 3 1-3 innings in the first game and relieved starter Buck Shaw in the ninth of the nightcap when Washington tied the score on Reno Bertoia's sacrifice fly.

Bud Daley scattered eight Yankee hits and finally posted his 13th victory—after five consecutive defeats. His Kansas City mates supported him with 14 hits. They shelled Ralph Terry from the mound in the first as the first four batters hit safely.

Bill Skowron won the opener for the Yankees with a two-run homer in the ninth that spoiled Ray Herbert's bid for his fifth straight triumph. Skowron drove in two runs in the nightcap, too.

A crowd of 31,384—largest of the season at Municipal Stadium — brought joy to the Kansas City businessmen seeking to assure a season total of 850,000, the minimum needed to make sure the franchise remains in the city under a contract which has three years to run. The A's have drawn 524,763 in 50 home appearances so far.

Billy Muffett not only pitched a four-hit shutout for Boston but made three hits himself and scored the only run of the game as the Red Sox gained a split with the Tigers. Jim Bunning fanned 11 to win his seventh for the Tigers in the opener. Rocky Colavito cracked three of the Tigers' 11 hits and Coot Veal drove in two runs. The opener was Detroit's first victory in four games since Joe Gordon started running the club Friday.

Tigers Split Two Contests

Piedras Negras, Mexico, gained an even split in two baseball games played with the Big Spring Tigers here Sunday afternoon, coming back to capture the second game, 13-5, after the locals had copped the opener, 13-7.

Chubby Moser was on the hill for Big Spring in the opener. He parceled out eight hits to the Mexicans, fanned eight and walked only one.

Sonny Dutchover clubbed a second inning home run for the Bengals with one on, while Pidge Daniels duplicated the feat with a mate aboard in the sixth.

Jackie Thomas drove out three hits for Big Spring, as did Pat Martinez and Dutchover.

In the second go, Jesus Lira shaded Bobby Suggs in the mound duel. Suggs took his second defeat, compared to six wins.

Gomez slugged a home run with one on in the third for Piedras Negras while Billy Weatherall hit one with a mate aboard for Big Spring in the fifth.

Lira fanned seven, walked two and scattered 13 hits effectively for Piedras Negras.

Daniels accounted for three of Big Spring's hits while Thomas, Tito Arencibia and Martinez each collected two.

The split left Big Spring with an impressive 21-3 won-lost record.

Arnold Palmer Playoff Winner

By LOU BLACK
WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Is Palmer finish going to replace a Garrison finish among sports fans?

Time was when a solid way to describe a fantastic, heart-pumping, come-from-behind victory was to call it a garrison finish, after famed jockey Snapper Garrison of another day.

But the way Arnold Palmer has been winning golf prizes this year, he may be the Garrison of today's generation of sports fans.

Palmer, he of the strong jaw and rugged muscles, staged a spectacular finish again Sunday to win the Insurance City Open. It was almost identical to the finishes that brought him the Masters and U.S. Open titles earlier this year and established him as the No. 1 golfer.

Five strokes behind Jack Fleck, and three behind Bill Collins, with 18 holes left to play in the 72-hole grind, Arnie caught the 1955 National Open champ on the 70th with a birdie, Collins joined them in a triple tie on the 71st with a sub-par. They went on to tie at 270, 14-under par, necessitating a sudden death playoff for the $3,500 top prize.

Fleck and Palmer birdied the 73rd. A par eliminated Collins. The two survivors battled the long 74th on even terms. Then Arnie set up the kill.

He hit the green 18 feet from the cup on the par-3, 183-yard 75th. Fleck was short, but approached within four feet. But while iron-nerved Palmer holed out in regulation, Fleck's putter failed the veteran.

The Palmer finish brought his official earnings this season to $68,466, and brought joy to most of the gallery of 12,000. Arnie first won this tournament on the par-71, 6,548-yard Wethersfield Country Club course in 1956. It was his first major American prize and the start on his road to riches.

Greenbelt Bowl Celebration Gets Under Way Thursday

American Netters Win In Doubles

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The closest American Zone Davis Cup eliminations ever played between Mexico and the United States winds up today with Barry MacKay tangling with Mario Llamas and Earl Buchholz meeting Rafael Osuna.

The United States leads 2-1 after a narrow doubles victory Sunday which was not decided until the eleventh game of the fifth and final set.

In opening singles, MacKay, badly off form, was beaten by Osuna, only Mexican ever to win a Wimbledon doubles title.

Buchholtz upset Mexico's top Mario Llamas.

MacKay will start today's play against Osuna, the pressure lifted by the doubles victory Sunday in which Buchholz and Chuck McKinley defeated Osuna and Antonio Palafox, 2-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-4, 7-5.

Groat A Candidate For MVP Laurels

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Groat may not hit a home run or steal a base all year but today, with the National League season two-thirds over, he must be rated a leading candidate for most valuable player honors.

The slow-of-foot, light-on-power shortstop is the spark plug of the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates, the glue that holds the team together.

A brainy player—the kind the late John McGraw would have loved — Groat makes up for his lack of speed and power by his alertness, aggressiveness, ability to figure out situations and inspirational leadership.

The 29-year-old Duke alumnus gave an example of his ingenuity as the Pirates swept a doubleheader from San Francisco Sunday 4-1 and 7-5 to pull away to their biggest lead of the season — 5½ games over Milwaukee and St. Louis.

It happened in the eighth inning of the nightcap. The score was tied 5-5 and Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski was on third following his single and bunts by pitcher Elroy Face and Joe Christopher.

Groat did the last thing the Giant defense expected. He bunted —the Pirates' third straight bunt. There wasn't even a play on Mazeroski at the plate and when Orlando Cepeda threw wildly to first, Christopher also scored.

Groat also played an important role in the opener, with three hits and one run batted in. His five hits in the two games gave him a league-leading total of 137 and boosted his batting average to .312, fourth high in the circuit.

The Braves regained second place from St. Louis, eking out a 5-4 victory over Chicago's Cubs while the Cards were held to a split by Cincinnati. The Redbirds won the nightcap 4-2 after the Reds had amassed 21 hits for 18-4 victory in the opener. Los Angeles's fourth-place Dodgers climbed to within a game of second, taking two from Philadelphia 8-7 and 2-1.

Bob Friend scattered seven hits, struck out six and coasted to his 12th Pittsburgh victory in the opener. A seventh-inning home run by the Giants' Hobie Landrith cost him a shutout.

Pittsburgh overcame a 5-0 deficit in the nightcap. After pecking away at Billy O'Dell for single runs in the second and fourth, they tied it in the fifth on a three-run homer by Christopher, his first in the majors. Elroy Face, in relief, picked up his sixth triumph.

Johnny Roseboro, Tommy Davis, Maury Wills and pitchers Larry Sherry and Sandy Koufax were the stars of the Dodgers' double triumph. Roseboro doubled Davis home in the ninth to break a 7-7 tie in the opener. Sherry, who finished with six scoreless innings after a shaky start, received credit for his ninth victory.

Koufax struck out 11 and allowed only four hits in the nightcap. Davis provided what proved to be the winning tally with a home run in the fourth. Wills had seven hits in the two games.

Kenny Boyer's bases-loaded single in the seventh of the nightcap drove in the winning runs as the Cards overcame a 2-1 deficit. Cincinnati's attack in the opener included a grand slammer by Jerry Lynch, three doubles by Wally Post and five hits by rookie third baseman Cliff Cook.

Warren Spahn registered his 12th triumph of the year for the Braves and raised his lifetime victory total to 279 but he had to survive an eighth-inning rally. The Cubs shelled him from the mound with a four-run attack that included Frank Thomas' three-run homer.

Firpo Died Sure He Was Titlist

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Luis Angel Firpo died of a heart attack Sunday at 65 still convinced that he won the heavyweight championship from Jack Dempsey almost four decades ago.

It was on Sept. 14, 1923 that Firpo stepped in the ring at the Polo Grounds to battle Dempsey for the title. The fight lasted less than two rounds but it was one of the most vicious in history.

Seven times in little more than two minutes, Dempsey knocked Firpo to the canvas. Then, with less than a minute left, Firpo caught Dempsey with a lethal right to the head.

The champion toppled through the ring ropes and onto the typewriters of reporters covering the fight. He climbed back into the ring, covered up for the rest of the round and came out fighting again in the second.

Again he caught Firpo and the Wild Bull of the Pampas, as he had become known, toppled twice more. Each time he got up. Then at the 57-second mark, Dempsey again connected and this time Firpo didn't get up.

The fight established Firpo as a national idol here. After meeting Dempsey, Firpo fought only twice more in the United States. He lost both bouts. Then he came back to Argentina, fought a few times and quit the ring.

He fought only once more—in 1936 when he took a bout with Arturo Godoy. Firpo was 42. Godoy knocked him down seven times before putting him away for good in the third round.

"There were four times when I should have been declared the champion in that fight with Dempsey," Firpo recalled recently.

LUIS FIRPO

"Dempsey fouled me three times and should have been disqualified. Once he hit me when I was getting up and once he hit me when I was talking to the referee.

"After I knocked him out of the ring, I figured it took him at least 16 seconds to get back."

Firpo never was bitter about the outcome, though.

He earned about a half-million dollars fighting and invested it in an automobile agency here when he retired. Then he expanded his interests to cattle ranching. He recently estimated his fortune as several million dollars.

Dempsey was shocked at Firpo's death.

"He was the most dangerous man I ever fought," said Dempsey. "His punch, ruggedness and raw courage gave boxing one of its greatest boosts.

"He not only knocked me out of the ring, but he had me out on my feet. I don't remember even climbing back into the ring. The next thing I remembered was sitting on my stool in the corner. I thought I had been knocked out."

Man Sought In 4 Slayings Surrenders

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Richard Henry Dare, 27, sought for questioning about the slayings of his estranged wife, her parents and her nephew, surrendered Sunday night.

Dare, object of a 100-man armed posse, handed over his pistol to McClain County Sheriff Joe Huddleston at a farmhouse about 30 miles south of here near Dare, a small community named for his relatives.

"I'm hungry," he told the sheriff. That was his only statement.

The bodies of his estranged wife Patricia, 24; her father, Ted Albert, 60; mother, Virgie, 58; and nephew William McCormick, 17, were found by police in their neat frame house here late Saturday.

Oklahoma City police said they were killed off one-by-one over a 7-hour period Friday. Mrs. Dare was beaten to death. Mrs. Albert was strangled with a window cord. Albert and young McCormick were shot in the head at close range.

Dare was taken to Purcell, Okla., by Huddleston, then brought here by State Crime Bureau agents.

Huddleston said Dare apparently hid in the woods near the farmhouse of his brother-in-law, Orbie Carter, Sunday.

TALKED OF SLAYING

Carter told officers Dare had come to visit him early Sunday morning and had talked about the slayings. Huddleston said Carter told him he was not aware Dare was in the woods.

Huddleston said about 9:30 he saw Dare duck out of the woods and make for the farmhouse.

The sheriff drove alone to the house. Dare walked out and surrendered.

An autopsy showed the four slayings occurred between noon and 7:30 p.m. Friday. Detectives crawled through a window at the Albert residence late Saturday when a relative said she had been unable to arouse anyone in the house.

They found the bodies of Mrs. Dare and her mother in a front bedroom, the bodies of the man and youth in a rear room. All were covered with sheets or bedspreads.

Lt. Hilton Geer said it appeared Mrs. Dare had been slain first by a vicious beating. The detective theorized her mother was next and that McCormick and Albert were killed singly as they entered the house.

Police records show Dare was arrested for assault and battery June 12 after his wife said he threatened her life. Soon after Mrs. Dare started divorce proceedings.

Dallas Votes 4-1 Against Integration

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas residents have voted 4 to 1 against integration of public schools. The election is conceded to be meaningless.

The Dallas schools are under federal court order to integrate. The referendum Saturday was held under a Texas law, untested as yet in the courts, which would deprive state aid to schools desegregating without a favorable vote.

U. S. Dist. Judge Whitfield Davidson, who has ordered limited integration to begin in September, 1961, has said that he believes the federal courts will hold the state law unconstitutional.

Mansfield Suggests Latin Tour For Next President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next U.S. president should tour Latin America before taking office and call a meeting of all the hemisphere's presidents after his inauguration, Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) said today.

The object of the early 1961 meeting, he said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, would be to ratify a new inter-American plan for economic development, if one can be devised by then.

But he indicated he would oppose—as a "new gesture in the old pattern"—President Eisenhower's recently announced aid program for Latin America. The President is expected to ask a program involving up to 500 million dollars.

"I would strongly urge the administration not to try to ram through an aid program for Latin America of a specified amount during the few remaining days of this Congress," he said.

The presentation of a new aid program at this time, he contended, "looks like a callous attempt to purchase favor in Latin America at a time when we are especially desirous of obtaining it."

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States should "exercise restraint" in dealing with the situation created by the Cuban crisis.

But if the Organization of American States "concludes that the actions of any particular government outrages the conscience or threatens the tranquility and security of all the Americas," he said, "we should follow whatever course of hemispheric action the OAS may prescribe."

THE FRONT ROW

By Bob Smith

Maj. Brophy drops by and tells us there won't be any plays on the agenda for the Concert Association season.

Nothing new in this, or that the reason is lack of funds. We had enough to pay for the programs we will have, but it just couldn't be stretched to include dramatics.

What is new is that the board almost caught an off - Broadway tryout of "Love and Death," featuring scenes of same from stories by Hemingway. The play is to tour the provinces and if it clicks, goes to the Great White Way in time for the fall season. That would have given us an opening sometime in the early autumn.

The play, at last reports, was still being put together. Frank Corsaro wrote the script, and E. Hotchner is producer with Hemingway himself as co-producer. This would be the Great Man's first time on the boards.

The case under consideration was reported to include Robert Ryan, Eleanor Parker, Ben Gazzara, Lauren Bacall, Anthony Franciosa and Piper Laurie.

It will be interesting to watch "Love and Death" to see how it fares in the boondocks—and possibly later on Broadway.

And, maybe, next season we can latch onto a good play for Big Spring.

* * *

Just heard from Bill Evans up at North Texas State.

Seems he gave his senior recital —he's graduating this year —and forgot to let us know. He thought Jack Hendrix had taken care of it, and . . . oh, well.

Anyway, Bill had the NTSC stage all to himself Tuesday night, and the reports are that he did right nicely, proving once again that his is a steadily growing talent on the piano.

There were four parts ot his program: Czerny's "La Ricordanza," Beethoven's Sonata in F minor, three numbers by Chopin, and four of the Paganini-Liszt etudes.

Bill's graduating in August; he will be back in Big Spring and I'll try to catch him to find out where he's headed next.

Princess, Playboy Netted In Hotel Raid

By CHARLES H. GUPTILL

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Millionaire playboy Francisco (Baby) Pignatari pleaded with police that he was just an "old family friend" after being seized in a pre-dawn raid on the hotel suite of beautiful Princess Ira von Furstenburg Hohenlohe, 20.

But no judge could be found on Sunday to free the darling of beautiful women on three continents, and baby spent the night in a police station.

Prince Alfonso Hohenlohe, 43, estranged husband of the Italian-born princess, believed he had won a round in his suit for divorce and custody of their two sons, Cristobal, 4, and Alfonso, 16 months.

The sloe-eyed princess, who married at 16, said of her Spanish-born husband: "I am disappointed. I never believed he would do anything like this. He has not conducted himself like a nobleman. He is the one who provoked the public scandal."

Pignatari and 11 men he had hired to guard the young princess and her children were picked up at 3 a.m. Sunday by police who fought their way into the well-guarded Cristobal Colon Hotel.

Forcing the door of the princess' swank sixth-floor suite, the police said they were confronted by Pignatari, in trousers and shirt.

The international playboy from Brazil protested that he had rushed to the suite from his own room on the seventh floor when Ira phoned him that she was alarmed by the uproar in the lobby.

The police report said the princess was in the suite but they did not see her.

Pignatari resisted removal from the hotel for two hours before he was—in his words—"dragged off by force."

Given time to don a smart tropical suit, neatly starched shirt and necktie, Pignatari denied to newsmen at the 6th Precinct police station that he was surprised in any state of undress.

The Brazilian protested that though he and the princess had often been seen together, there was no romantic interest.

"Our families are old friends," he said, adding that he has power of attorney to represent her in her legal problems as she is a minor.

The police raid was made on the complaint of Prince Hohenlohe that Pignatari and his wife were sharing quarters in the hotel. The prince said that "Baby" was paying the bills and had hired the bodyguards to prevent him from recovering his sons.

Pignatari claimed he was in Mexico on an official mission and charged his seizure was a violation of diplomatic immunity. He said it might create a diplomatic incident.

Negro Boycott Is Called Off

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Oklahoma City's quiet battle over segregated eating facilities continues today between poised Negroes and polite restaurant owners.

But a proposed boycott of all downtown businesses was called off by the local chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People.

A spokesman for the Negro organization said the boycott was being delayed at least a week at the request of the Oklahoma City retail merchants assn.

Focus of the struggle Sunday was Adair's Cafeteria on a busy thoroughfare a few blocks from the state Capitol.

Some 25 Negroes in their Sunday best stood patiently under a broiling sun chatting with each each other and occasionally with white patrons as the latter walked past a doorman to dine.

Ralph Adair, owner of the cafeteria, made sure the demonstrators stayed outside. He also furnished them icewater and said "I think I have more patience than they do."

Oklahoma, a border state between the South and West, has failed to show violent emotion the Negro demonstrations which started here in August 1958. The initial "sit-ins" slacked off after several lunch counters and cafes dropped their color bar.

The demonstrations were renewed Saturday by the NAACP Youth Council after failure of a special committee formed by Gov. J. Howard Edmondson to reach agreement with some restaurant owners who refused to admit Negroes.

Pay Raise

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas Transit Co. bus drivers and shopmen have voted by a 10-1 margin to accept an 18-cents-an-hour pay raise as company officials reiterated the new pact would precipitate another effort to get a fare increase.

Ocean Floor Next For Video Chases

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television series-makers, always hunting new places to hold the same old chases and fights, are looking at the ocean's floor.

One result is that a tourist attraction called Marineland, a few miles south of here, has become one of TV's busiest sets. During one recent week, a dozen television shows were clamoring for a chance to shoot underwater sequences through special portholes built into the sides of the tanks.

Although a number of the action series occasionally go underwater, one half-hour series, "Sea Hunt," specializes in skin-diving. It has been so successful that CBS is planning an hour's adventure show "Aquanauts," along the same lines. It's not fair to call producer Ivan Tors a copycat; he also dreamed up and produces "Seal Hunt."

"Aquanauts" hero Keith Larsen is a lean and bronzed young man who in the past few weeks has become more at home two fathoms deep than a TV cow town marshal in bushwack country. His working costume, however, leaves something to be desired in the way of creature comforts. He usually wears something called a "scuba outfit," skin-hugging rubber tights, jacket and helmet, flippers plus 45 pounds of tanks and breathing gear strapped to his back. Under water this is weightless and comfortable. But in the studio shots, he's literally a fish out of water—gasping from the heat.

"It's worth it," Larsen exclaimed breathlessly, staggering and sweating under his load of costume. "There's not a horse in the whole show."

The three major networks have now totaled up their hours of political convention coverage, and it comes out around the 00-hour mark — about 100 hours per network. Somehow, to this speech-tired, eyeweary viewer, it seemed longer than that. Now that "Father Knows Best" has retired into re-runs, all the new TV family comedies are being talked about as "like 'Father Knows Best' but there's a switch." The principal switch is that mother knows best, as usual in TV.

George Gobel, without a show of his own next season, will co-star with pal Fred MacMurray in one episode of MacMurray's forthcoming "My Three Sons" series on ABC. William Frawley, once Fred Mertz in "I Love Lucy" plays Fred's father-in-law.

MacMurray, incidentally, is so tied up with movie commitments that they've had to go ahead shooting the scenes in the series without him.

Food Poisoning At Church Picnic

DALLAS (AP)—About 100 persons of the 250 who attended a Catholic Church picnic Sunday had to go to hospitals after being stricken with food poisoning.

A stream of ambulances carried many of those stricken to emergency wards from the park where members of Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Chatholic Church held an outing and picnic.

Samples of the food — potato salad, barbecued beef and red beans—were analyzed. Investigators said the potato salad had been left in the sun for several hours before the picnic.

Attendants said none of those stricken was seriously ill.

Candy People Aren't Worried By Diets—The Kids Are Here

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The candy people are very much conscious that the American people are weight conscious.

But the popular drive to trim off fat isn't hurting business too much, in the opinion of a member of industry men interviewed at the National Candy Wholesalers Assn. convention here.

"It's a factor, but I believe the industry is combatting it," said an exhibitor of chocolate candy. "We're not directly suffering."

A colleague said he had lost 10 pounds in five years of working for the company and he ate candy twice a day—right after dinner and just before breakfast.

An importer of hard candies said his company's sales had increased and he believed the American manufacturer was doing more business than he ever did before.

"Diet is only will power," said the importer, Jack M. Kurshan of New York City. "I'm on a diet myself and I have a piece of candy every night." He claimed he had lost 7 pounds in 3½ days.

Increased sales or not, a pamphlet distributed at the convention urged the candy men to get behind a new public relations drive to tell the candy, chocolate and confectionery story.

"Candy consumption has increased slightly in recent years," the brochure said. "But this increase has been far below that of almost all other food products. It has lagged frighteningly behind the growth in population."

It said the American public should be told "the facts about the wholesomeness of candy, chocolate and other confections, and the importance of these foods as highly nutritious and pleasurable components of the American diet."

An exhibitor of dietetic candy and sugarless chewing gum reported sales had increased "something enormous" over the past six years.

The bubble gum men were all smiles.

"Our sales grow as the child population grows," said one. "We have a rotating market."

Farmer Makes Use Of Beaver

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) —David Monteith is a farmer who has put the dam-building instincts of the beaver to use for years with notable success.

Nineteen years ago when farmers in the Mt. Nebo district of west-central Saskatchewan faced a serious water shortage, Monteith was authorized to construct a dam across the Shell River to raise water levels.

"I've got a better, easier, cheaper way. All I need is a supply of poplar," he told officials.

Two wagon loads of poplar were dropped into the river at the Monteith farm. The few existing beaver in the dwindling stream took over, converted the pile of poplar with mud and rocks into a strong barrier and an appreciable rise in water level was soon noted.

Today two main dams and a series of support dams on the river along the Monteith property assure a plentiful supply of water. Drinking water for 80 head of Hereford cattle is available the year around from reservoirs created by beaver dams.

The river is a vital source of supply of water for many other cattle owners in the area.

Each fall Monteith carries out a beaver census and sets a trapping quota. Not a trapper himself, he permits Knute Larson, a neighbor, to harvest the beaver.

To obtain maximum benefit from his beaver ponds and prevent flooding, Monteith watches and regulates water levels in the river. In late June each year he dynamites support dams in places where high water threatens damage to low-lying land. As the water drains away it leaves a rich deposit of fertile silt. Last year Monteith cut 50 tons of hay from beaver meadows along the river.

Now Her Father Can Proudly Say 'She's A Mess'

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)— An Army truck, its brakes failing, crashed into a drive-in restaurant Sunday.

Sharon Evon Hein, 9, daughter of the proprietor, was knocked to the floor with these gooey items dumped on her:

Orange and grape drinks from broken 9-gallon dispensers; root beer and a cola drink from 2½-gallon containers; cherry and chocolate sirup from ¾-gallon dispensers.

Worst of all was a gallon of chocolate fudge which covered her hair and face and got into her eyes.

"There was so much syrup we didn't know how badly she was hurt," said Sharon's father, Lester Hein.

The Independence Hospital emergency staff swabbed the mess off Sharon.

"The girl wasn't hurt," an attendant said, "But we sure had a cleaning job to do before we found out."

Weekend Violence Claims 32 Lives

By The Associated Press

Violent deaths claimed at least 32 lives in Texas over the weekend with 19 of the fatalities blamed on traffic accidents.

Drownings accounted for eight deaths. Three persons were shot to death, one was accidentally electrocuted and one was fatally injured when struck in the head by a broken bell.

The Associated Press tabulation, which started at 6 p.m. Friday, ended at midnight Sunday.

West Texas deaths included:

Jonas Hernandez Cedillo, 19, of the Caprock community near Ralls, drowned Sunday in a stock tank on a ranch 13 miles northeast of Post.

Camilo Funtez, 22, of Sweetwater, an airman stationed at Dyess AFB at Abilene, was killed and Arturo Cerda, 48, of San Angelo was injured Sunday night when their pickup truck overturned 16 miles south of Sweetwater.

Two men, who were not identified immediately, were drowned in Lake Imperial near Imperial in Far West Texas Sunday. A search continued Monday for their bodies.

A Devotional For Today

I will sing unto the Lord as long as I live: I will sing praise to my God while I have my being. (Psalm 104:33.)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, Father, that our efforts done in Thy name are acceptable to Thee. We are grateful for Thy never-failing love and understanding. Use us in Thy service, for Christ's sake. In his holy name we pray. Amen.

Canada Passes A Bill Of Rights

After debate that began July 1, the Canadian House of Commons last week approved a Canadian bill of rights which Prime Minister Diefenbaker said brings about "a major change for freedom in this country."

The premier declared it is now up to all Canadians to see that fundamental freedoms and human rights are never allowed to erode.

Many features of the new rights bill are reminiscent of those which have been part and parcel of the United States Constitution since the firsf ten amendments were adopted in the early 1790s.

Included in the bill's provisions is recognition that in Canada there have existed and shall continue to exist without discrimination by reason of race, national origin, color, religion or sex, "the following freedoms, namely"—and then recites them:

(a) The right of the individual to life, liberty, security of the person and enjoyment of property, and the right not to be deprived thereof except by due process of law; (b) The right of the individual to equality before the law and the protection of the law; (c) Freedom of religion; (d) Freedom of speech; (e) Freedom of assembly and association; and (f) Freedom of the press.

The vote for adoption was unanimous.

The fact that our good friend and neighbor, Canada, has borrowed the spirit and the almost exact letter of our own Bill of Rights is proof of the soundness of their basic principles; many another nation has borrowed the same general theme.

Sound And Fury In The Senate

The man who runs the United States Senate with greater power and efficiency than any majority leader in history—a verdict not rendered exclusively by Democratic press and spokesmen, but participated in by many of the opposite party—completed final details governing the special session opening Monday at his vacation desk in Johnson City, Texas.

The Democratic Senate majority leader flew Friday to Oklahoma City and on to Washington Saturday.

The "bobtail" Congressional session to be opened by the Senate Monday (the House convenes a week later) is an "iffy" proposition. Both parties will be on the anxious seat, to prevent if possible the other party from capitalizing on it. Many Republican leaders opposed a recess when it was taken a month ago, saying the Congress should drive ahead and get its work out of the way while it was at it.

But that was strictly for the record. Many members of both Houses had hot primary battles on the fire (such as Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, which he won handily on Thursday), and a break was clearly in order.

The new session promises to be unusual in several ways. In the first place the two standard bearers will be present in the Senate, Jack Kennedy as a member and Dick Nixon as its presiding officer. And, of course, the ring master, Lyndon Johnson, will be there as large as life.

It is the declared purpose of some of the Senate Republicans to sabotage the short special session, by tying up legislation tight as a drum. This is easier said than done. 1. Lyndon Johnson has forgotten more Senate shenanigans than most of his GOP opponents ever knew; and 2. If they go an inch too far with their obstructionism, the Republicans would inherit the blame for blocking what might be considered vital legislation. The party leaders—and that includes of course Richard Nixon—are far too smart to pull as clumsy a political blunder as that.

Conclusion: More sound and fury than actual storm.

Many Problems In Foreign Relations

WASHINGTON — When will the American people be given the complete story to supplement the diplomatically and tactfully phrased versions of just how their foreign relations have to be conducted in operating within an alliance? Will the critics, including Senator Kennedy, concede that the President of the United States does not alone make our foreign policy? Or would those who have been pounding away at the administration—as, for instance, Adlai Stevenson, who may be Secretary of State if Kennedy is elected—ignore the allies of the United States in making decisions?

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER made a significant speech on this very point at a breakfast held in Chicago during the Republican convention. He spoke off-the-cuff. But this speech of July 27 is of historic importance in outlining some aspects of the process of making foreign policy in these difficult times. Mr. Eisenhower said in part:

"Now here is a point: There is no such thing almost as a bilateral arrangement with two nations—just as your platform makers have to take me into account in a small way (laughter), so does every diplomatic interchange—let us say between Arabia and the United States, or Britain and the United States, or Japan and the United States—it always affects other nations.

"AND THIS IS the thing that makes it so difficult to get these nice, clean-cut decisions that so many of our experts—who are not carrying responsibility as some of us do—can develop.

"Just as all international trade is almost invariably a multilateral affair—like when we develop our food-for-peace plan—we have to think how it affects Canada, Australia, the Argentine, and any other wheat or surplus-wheat producing country, or any country that produces the same surplus as we do.

"This is a serious matter. So it is not merely a matter of saying we have so many bushels we would like to get rid of. Of course, there has to be an exponent on that. But if we do it in unwise ways, we have damaged very fine friends who want to stay in the very same corner we are fighting and working for—the freedom of men and the independence of their own countries—and the safety of their own countries.

"IN HUMAN AFFAIRS there is no such thing in vast organisms, at least in human affairs, as nice, clean-cut 'two and two is four' (decisions), and setting it aside and forgetting that one. These are matters of judgment, of long study, of experienced conclusions, and finally, readiness to make the particular decision, no matter though it might be only the least harmful of three or four that are possible."

The Democratic party strategy of blaming President Eisenhower for every decision of foreign policy shows an unfamiliarity with the difficulties of operating within an alliance. An alliance will at times be as strong as the strongest member of the group, but it often is as weak as the weakest member.

THERE HAS, for instance, been a good deal of criticism voiced in this country from time to time about attendance by the President at "summit" conference. The point has repeatedly been made that these meetings should not be convened unless adequate preparations have been made in advance and a basis for agreement reached beforehand at another level that is, between foreign secretaries. The truth is this is exactly what the Washington government all along favored, but the American people have never been told just why our position was altered. Delicate relations with our Allies were involved. The policy was changed because Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain came back from a visit to Moscow urging that Mr. Eisenhower go to such a "summit" conference, even though preliminary agreements had not been reached.

IT WAS IMPORTANT for Mr. Macmillan to get the President to go to the "summit" conference. Inside Great Britain the Socialists were hammering away politically at the Prime Minister. The Socialist leaders were opposing the use of American military bases in Britain, which made it look as if Moscow might benefit through a change of government in London.

Whatever the reasons for acceding to the Macmillan request, the President found it desirable to work with the Allies of the United States. If Mr. Kennedy were elected, he would also find that he himself would not be a free agent in determining our foreign policy and that considerations raised by our Allies are often a decisive factor.

That World Court Amendment

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is slim chance the Senate will act at its current short session to strengthen U.S. support for the World Court.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, as well as President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, has advocated repeal of a U.S. veto over the court's jurisdiction.

But the 1960 Republican platform on which Nixon is seeking the presidency avoids mention of the bitter and highly emotional controversy the issue has stirred up.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential standard bearer, supports repeal, and his course is backed by a provision in the Democratic platform.

But Democrats—among whom many Southerners are opposed to giving the court further power—are doubtful they can muster the necessary two-thirds majority to effect a change.

THE MAJOR DISPUTE is over proposals to repeal what is known as the Connally reservation, sponsored by former Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex) and adopted by the Senate as a reservation when it ratified U.S. membership in the International Court of Justice created under the United Nations.

The rider says, in effect, that the United States shall be the sole judge of whether an international dispute in which it is involved can be brought before the World Court.

The reservation's supporters—who bombard the Senate Foreign Relations committee with letters and telegrams every time the issue comes up—contend the veto is necessary to prevent a surrender to an international court of U.S. sovereignty.

The committee decided, in view of the emotions stirred up by the repealer, to keep it off the floor in an election-year session. The decision was reinforced by doubts it could muster a two-thirds majority.

But the committee did approve, and sent to the floor, four treaties governing the rights and duties of signatories and their vessels on the seas—along with a protocol providing that disputes under these treaties would be referred to the World Court for settlement. This in effect would waive the Connally reservation as it applies to these treaties.

THE FOUR TREATIES and the protocol along with them were ratified in one vote May 26. But Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La) and others insisted on a separate vote on the protocol and it was rejected. It got a 49-30 vote of approval, but that was short of the necessary two-thirds.

A motion to reconsider that rejection is pending on the calendar.

Also pending is a treaty to prevent pollution of the sea by oil. Under this treaty, too, the United States would waive the application of the Connally reservation insofar as disputes arising under it are concerned.

The committee took the position it was an academic question in this case, anyway, since the treaty covered oil pollution on the high seas by ships, and disputes under could not be construed in any way as being within U. S. domestic jurisdiction.

College Education Pays Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nearly two million American families now have not one home but two. The second home, in most cases, being used as a vacation or weekend retreat.

What's a college education worth in terms of money? It is estimated to add between $100,000 and $150,000 in lifetime earnings. By 1975 some 10 per cent of the U. S. population will hold college degrees.

Cows laugh at diets. The average milk cow eats her own weight (1,300 pounds) in hay and grain every month.

A depressing statistic: Safety experts say that probably half of the six million cars produced in 1960 will be involved in injury-or-death producing crashes during their normal eight-year life span.

If your daughter has a marked love of pets, perhaps a career as a veterinarian might interest her. The United States now has nearly 300 lady animal doctors.

Worst pun of the week: "When a chorus girl starts going out with a millionaire," says Robert Q. Lewis, "it's usually a buy-ological attraction."

Rats may lack many virtues but they are great homebodies. They rarely go more than 100 feet from their nesting or hiding places for food or water.

It was barbed wire—not the six-gun—that really tamed the Wild West. Until Joseph Glidden invented this cheap form of fencing in 1874 few homesteaders could adequately protect their crops from being eaten by wandering range cattle.

Ever wake up at night wondering who was the first left-handed U. S. president? Well, here's the cure for your insomnia: He was James A. Garfield.

Literary note: Blanche Sercombe, chambermaid at the Hotel Edison here, has just written a book called "I've had my tuppence." Incidentally, women are far more thoughtful than men men about leaving tips for chambermaids.

You can tell a black widow spider by the red hourglass on her abdomen. Some 1,500 people are bitten each year by this kind of spider, whose venom (although it rarely kills) is drop for drop more deadly than that of the rattlesnake.

Our quotable notables "I'm not denyin' the women are foolish," said George Eliot, "God Almighty made 'em to match the men."

How strong is your wife? Some doctors say 25 pounds is the greatest weight a normal healthy woman should try to lift.

How strong is your coffee? The average housewife gets 64 cups from a pound. And the average coffee lover now gulps down 19 pounds a year.

An ulcer is sometimes called "the executive's merit badge," but ulcers remain a great health problem. They take 10,000 lives annually in America.

Surgery For Parkinson's Disease Studied

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

As you know, I try to move from one topic to another in this column, so I can report, at reasonable intervals, what is known and what is new about various problems that afflict us.

Today I'm going to return to a topic that I discussed not very long ago, because some new information has just been made public relating to Parkinson's disease.

The new thing involved is the fact that the Veterans Administration is starting a study of surgical treatment of this affliction.

In my last article, I pointed out that brain surgery is being used, in selected cases, to ease the trembling of patients who have Parkinson's disease—or "shaking palsy," as it is often called.

Readers who are personally interested in this will remember that my suggestion was to use milder treatments (drugs, avoiding undue tension, getting adequate rest, refusing to be unduly upset by moderate tremors, etc.) before considering surgery.

The VA has excellent physicians, treating large numbers of patients. In the case of Parkinsonism, the VA is beginning a study of such cases in seven of its hospitals.

Dr. Lyndon E. Lee Jr., Washington, is coordinator of this study, and he said this summer that the brain operation "is expected to be acceptable for only a small number of the some 2,000 veterans treated at the agency's hospitals each year."

His reason (he added) is that the operation involves the destruction of a certain small area in the brain, and once this is done, it can't be undone. This is a serious step, you see, and not one that should be taken without good reason. If the patient's distress is considerable, and if his age and general condition warrant the strain of the operation, then it may be done. But the risk is not warranted if the distress is moderate, or if the operation itself is going to be too strenuous on the patient. It's a case of balancing the need against the possible results, and weighing both against the strain involved.

In short, the relatively few years that this operation has been possible at all have not yet given us as much data as we want to have in regard to the pros and cons of when to use it. I am sure that the VA will let us know, possibly a year or so from now, what added information has been compiled. It's part of the painstaking but priceless accumulation of knowledge by which we learn more about caring for ourselves.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have had hemorrhoids for about 20 years and have been treated by injection six or seven times, resulting in some shrinkage which did not remain perfianent. About two years ago the hemorrhoids became external but are not painful. My question: Is an operation necessary?—G. F."

Well, you're ahead of the game by having gotten by this long with the repeated injections, but the trouble keeps coming back. And now, since the hemorrhoids have become external, you have evidence that you are gradually losing your struggle to make a makeshift do as well as an operation.

If you want a few thousand words on the whys and wherefores, send 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Big Spring Herald and ask for the booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids."

Old-Fashioned Names Are Fading

THIS AND THAT:

In another 30 to 40 years, old-fashioned first names like John and Charley may become as extinct as the dodo bird.

Nowadays, people are prone to stick fancier handles on their offsprings. Even if they decide upon John, chances are they spell it without the H.

A check of the last graduating class at Big Spring High School shows that, among 211 students who went forward to get their sheepskins, only two went by the name of John.

THERE WERE TEN Jameses in the group, along with three lads who answered to the name of Charles, three Richards. Monikers like Millard, Nick, Ross, Warren, Leslie, Stanley, Mitchell, Douglass, Arlen, and Wesley were also prominent in the group.

Of the 47 people who graduated from HCJC, assuming that half were young men, none went by the name of John. The same held true at Coahoma High School, where nine boys were listed among the graduates.

Most of the high school boys graduating this year are anywhere from 16 to 19 years of age. The trend away from the "old-fashioned names is even more pronounced with the modern parent.

IF YOU REASON you can break some kind of law just by walking out the front door, chances are you are correct.

Authorities on the matter say man has made more than 32,725,000 laws, since he first decided his neighbors were doing tthings he didn't approve of.

Yet our legislatures can hardly wait to convene and pass more statutes that will tighten the strait jackets in which we are encased.

IF YOU WALKED out of a store and found a cashier had given you too much money, would you return it?

The manager of a large variety store in a south city decided to test the public not long ago.

He gave the cashiers at each entrance to his place of business some extra money.

The first cashier was to short-change the customers by a dollar when they gave her a five or ten, and the second was to give them a dollar more than they were due.

HE INSTRUCTED the first to call back the customers if they didn't catch the errors. Every short-changed customer caught the error.

Not a single customer, given a dollar too much, called the cashier's attention to it.

"It surprised me," sighed the manager, "I though the ratio would run about 60-40 in favor of dishonesty. I did not know it would run 100 per cent.

Where Ike Fits Into The Campaign

WASHINGTON—Anybody able to utter a familiar monosyllable can name the major issue of 1960. It is—Ike.

THE SIMPLICITY stops here. The Democrats are required to run against the Eisenhower record—but how? It is going to be very difficult for the Kennedy-Johnson Democratic ticket to attack President Eisenhower and his works.

For one thing, Senator Kennedy has been absent more often than not in the past year or so of Congress. He may turn out to be a good President, but he has not been much of a Senator. The Kennedy Labor bills have come to naught. On agriculture, the Massachusetts Senator has been more pro-Benson than most Republicans.

NOT MORE THAN three times in the Eisenhower years had Kennedy, to my knowledge, enunciated anything like a foreign policy. He favored the secession of Algeria from France—a proposal which fell as flat as a dropped egg upon international awareness. Another proposal by Kennedy, which got plenty of Republican support, called for sending aid into Poland and other East Europe satellites, in the hope of separating them from the Soviet Empire.

In addition, Kennedy has favored long-term socializing plans for India with taxpayers' money. In this, he offered nothing that the Modern Republicans found inimical.

BUT HOW DOES such a foreign policy take issue against Eisenhower? How does it condemn an Administration which the Democrats are trying to throw out of there? The answer—it doesn't. Kennedy's running mate, Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, has been even softer-on-Ike. In the Stevenson years of the Democratic exile from national office, the consistent complaint against Johnson—the opposition leader—was that he refused to oppose.

Indeed, if you looked for anti-Eisenhower Democrats in 1955-60, you wouldn't find them on the Democratic ticket. For established Ike-baiters you would have to name Senators Paul ("Doom and Gloom") Douglas, Wayne ("Grant-like corruption") Morse, Hubert ("Plowing Under the Farmers") Humphrey, Stuart ("Second-class military power") Symington and Joe ("Liberalissimo") Clark. By no stretch of meaning, could either Kennedy or Johnson be named as down-with-Eisenhower Democrats.

ON THE REPUBLICAN side is a similar lack of passion. There are some true Ike-lovers in the party, but they didn't make the ticket. Everett Dirksen has torn the Senate air to tatters in his ardent defense of Eisenhower veto messages. For unswerving loyalty, Tom Kuchel and Leverett Saltonstall in the Senate, and Charlie Halleck in the House, deserve the palm. Even Javits on the Left and Goldwater on the Right, have stood up and fought impressively for their leader, and Governor Hatfield of Oregon is a political child of the Ike era.

But the men on the ticket? Well they are Ike-backers, but it is out of self-interest rather than any proven conviction. Lodge was a lame-duck Senator, with no political following, when the President rescued him from oblivion and named him to the consolation post of Ambassador to the U.N. For eight years, Lodge has owed his only political identity to the man in the White House. Richard Nixon is no less in debt to the President.

IN FINE, Nixon and Lodge are beneficiaries, not disciples. They are for Ike out of gratitude and necessity, and could hardly be otherwise. Their bona fide positions as Ike-likers are those of faithful retainers for the lord of the manor on the avenue. It is not an ardent, typically American relationship—the more so because the Republican ticket, while giving lip service to the President, will also have to break with him in order to offer something new and better to the country.

It's a strange election, and may be unpredictable.

Time For Conventions Anonymous

This nation embraces a rather pitiful group of persons who are badly in need of help, and I am one of them.

As a public service, I have formed a group called Conventions Anonymous. Its sole purpose is to help us addicts kick the habit of rushing off every four years to national political conventions, thereby endangering health and sanity.

AS THE CONCLUSION of the Republican convention neared, I realized that something had to be done, and not just for the G.O.P. It is the political buff, drawn to conventions as the moth to the candle, who needs succor, and Conventions Anonymous is designed to do just that.

I have sworn off conventions a number of times in the past, as I limped home physically and mentally exhausted and not, truth to tell, much the wiser. It is easy enough to swear off conventions and take the pledge immediately after a brace of them.

FOR EXAMPLE, it does not seem possible at the moment that I could ever again be mad enough to be overwhelmed by an irresistible urge to attend a political convention, and never mind which.

As of now, the very thought of the millinery madness that seizes women delegates of both parties every four years is enough to send me to a darkened room with cold compresses on my forehead. Incredible as it may seem, there is invariably at every Democratic and Republican convention a half-dozen female delegates wearing hats deliberately tortured into the likeness of a donkey or an elephant head.

DEVOTION to a political cause is great, just great, but in one woman's opinion it seems misguided in the form of chapeaux trimmed with friezes of miniature donkeys or elephants, or of turbans in whose foliage these same animals nestle.

Doubtless by the time Richard Nixon was confirmed at the Republican gathering, I was in a weakened condition from conventionitis. Still I required first aid at the Internatonal Amphitheatre when I encountered a woman in a huge cape made of alternate sections of red and white velvet, with a great blue velvet bill across which marched in glittering procession ten rhinestone elephants.

BUT WOMEN delegates do not, by any means, have a monopoly on sartorial insanity. Right now I quiver like an aspen when I think of male delegates who solidly plaster the front and even the back of their respective jackets, if they are the formal type, or their sports shirts with buttons.

It is not the fault of television that it brings out the impressive percentage of ham in politicians. But who would willingly subject himself again to the mugging and the endless Chamber of Commerce speeches that the head of each state delegation feels is his prerogative, once he faces the nation, when all he is asked to do is to say how his delegation votes?

IT STILL DOESN'T seem germane, for example, or even awfully important, that Mississippi is the home of the last two Miss Americas and Utah the abiding place of Miss Universe.

As for demonstrating teen-agers, carrying placards first for one candidate and then the other, perish forbid that I should ever encounter their like again.

But though I am strong in my resolve now to kick the convention habit, I fear that I may weaken as 1964 approaches. Hence, Conventions Anonymous, where we addicts can bear witness together, strengthen our purpose and encourage each other to lay off the strong stuff in political perpetuity.

Caught: A Mermaid

MADISON, Conn. (AP) — Fisherman George M. Smith caught a mermaid the other day.

He says he and a friend were casting into Long Island Sound from shore when Smith got a big strike.

He reeled in a female skin diver, who had swum out of range of her diver warning flag. The line had wound around her waist.

Smith let her go. Wrong species.

Peach Thieves

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — Employes at the Nogales water pumping station planted a peach tree near the plant. They built a small fence to protect it from harm and watered it each day.

Finally, the employes scheduled a peach-picking day. The night before the special event someone sneaked into the area and stripped the tree of every peach.

How To Be The Perfect Guest

So you are going to be a guest again. For a weekend? A week? A short summer? If you weren't aware of the guest mistakes you made last year, do some soul-searching now to see whether you were a good guest or a bad guest. It'll not only prove beneficial to your hostess, but perhaps she'll ask you back again. Here's a refresher list to determine your guest quotient:

1. Arrive on time or notify your hostess in plenty of time that you have been delayed. Don't wait until she's meeting the train you missed to get in touch with her.

2. Wait until the family tells you how the home schedule runs before you tell them of any plans you have in mind. If you have a friend who lives near, visit a while before you dash off to visit her.

3. Be prompt for meals. If there isn't any help in the house, ask how you can be of assistance, particularly at meal time. If you are delegated as table setter, be there in plenty of time to do the job.

4. Be cheerful. Nobody wants a sourpuss around. A gloomy type will not be invited back. And don't giggle yourself into guest oblivion.

5. Keep your room tidy. Make the bed, dust and remove any powder that has spilled on bureau or rug. Be easy on the towels.

6. Be aware of the little things. Don't take over the living room. If you want to read past a reasonable time, do it in your room. If there is a radio in your room, do not play it while others sleep, if it can be heard out of your room.

7. If the hostess expects you to observe a curfew, don't sulk. She is responsible for you during your stay.

8. Be prepared clothes-wise. Establish beforehand what clothes you should carry with you. Don't expect your hostess to have extra umbrellas, rain hats, sweaters. If you don't have these things on hand, borrow them from friends or buy them before you go on your trip.

9. Be diplomatic. If your hostess is the mother of your good friend and they have a squabble, ignore it. Don't assume that you must side with your friend.

10. Leave on the day appointed. Extend your leave if you are persuaded to do so in a sincere fashion. But don't put your hostess in the position of having to ask you to stay because you are reluctant to leave. If you leave as a good guest, she will be anxious to have you come again.

For More Travel Fun Plan Light Packing

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Travel is a fatiguing experience. It makes no difference whether we travel by plane, train or car, the mere effort to travel can exhaust us.

We must be armed with items, quickly available, that add to our comfort en route, yet take up a minimum of space in our traveling cases.

Practically everything now is touted as basin-washable. Soap comes in tiny handy packages for use when traveling.

Cosmetics should be kept to a minimum. You don't need an every-hour-of-the-day face cream when you are on a holiday. There should be one all-purpose type cream that can see you through your trip. This can be taken from your train case and dabbed on the face in your sleeping compartment. It can soak into your skin while you relax with a good book or give yourself a manicure.

Handy items for travel include packages of cleansing towels available in foil envelopes, small plastic individual containers of hair shampoo and bubble bath. The individual travel pack has become a rage with coffee, cream and sugar packed in the same little envelopes.

Size up your vanity table before you pack your vacation or weekend bag. Don't dump the contents of trays and drawers into your bag on the chance you'll be needing something. It should be easy to determine exactly what you will need, if you have a make-up plan that you employ for average occasions.

Such items as eyebrow tweezers, leg razor, nail file are essential and should be included first. Then come hair curlers, nail polish, lip stick, cleansing cream, powder. Do you use foundation cream? Eyeshadow? Eye liner? Be sure to include the necessary aids to your glamor. After that add the extras if you have room.

You don't absolutely need a bubble bath on your vacation. False eyelashes are probably not essential to your charm. A bucket of costume jewelry won't get you more dates than a few choice pieces.

It's a good idea to make the vacation list long in advance, so that you will have the items you absolutely need and will skip those that are excess baggage.

Delta Kappa Gamma To Hold Florida Convention

Over 2,000 educators are expected to meet in Bal Harbour, Fla., Tuesday through Saturday, at the Americana Hotel for the international convention of Delta Kappa Gamma, international honor society for women teachers.

Highlight of the convention will be the awarding of 56 scholarships for advanced study valued at $2,500 each. Dr. Carolyn Guss of Indiana University, chairman of the special scholarship committee will make the presentation at the birthday luncheon Thursday.

Contributions from the nearly 75,000 members in the Society have made the scholarship possible. One scholarship will be awarded in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the five Canadian provinces in which the society was organized when the project was undertaken in 1958.

Chapters in many states award scholarships and grants-in-aid to future teachers. Last year, the local group, Beta Kappa, awarded a grant to Camille Hefley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, 804 W. 14th.

Numbers of scholarships given by various states and by the international society have brought women educators from other countries to the United States to study and have sent members overseas for similar experiences.

The Educator's Award—a gift of $1,000 for the most significant contribution to education written by a woman between April 1, 1958 and April 1, 1960—will be presented at the luncheon.

Featured speakers for the convention will be Mrs. Margaret Konantz of Winnipeg, Manitoba, national vice president of the United Nations Association, and Dr. Anne Gary Pannell, president of Sweet Briar College, Va.

Don't Follow Same Route In Mowing

A mowing tip — don't follow the same old routine. When you mow your lawn, make a mental note of the pattern you followed, including which corner you started in. Next time you mow, reverse the procedure, for a smoother, more even surface.

A good suggestion for a lawn that's irregular in shape —three gradually decreasing circles around the outside edge, and the remaining middle second in straight lines. Next time reverse the circles, and continue them as far as possible into the center. Don't forget to overlap each lane a third to a half of the mower width.

Barbecue Plans

A change in dates has been announced by the Sew and Chatter Club. The annual barbecue, planned for Saturday, will be held Aug. 20 at the home of Mrs. C. L. Rowe, 1300 Johnson.

Baked Fish

Cover fish fillets with a mushroom sauce, top with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until the fish is done.

Ulreys Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ulrey and daughters, Palma and Jhon Rae, have returned to Pasadena, Tex., after spending the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Ulrey. The girls have spent the week with their grandparents while John Ulrey attended coaching school in Dallas and Mrs. Ulrey enjoyed a vacation.

Past Matrons Meet

Mrs. C. R. McClenny will be hostess for the Past Matrons when they meet Tuesday evening at her home, 1011 Scurry. Cohostesses will be Mrs. O. B Hull and Mrs. Harry Lees.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Complexion Care Pays Off In Beauty

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—Helen Grayco and Spike Jones, who have three children, have been happily married for more than a dozen years.

"Why does the average marriage fail and sometimes end in divorce?" I asked.

"They say a man loves with his eyes," Helen replied. "And there is nothing that keeps the bloom on love like looking your best for your husband at all times.

"At night I always go to bed with a clean face. And I wear a light eyebrow pencil, a light eyeliner and a delicate pink lipstick.

"I am not sure that Spike is aware of my make-up but at least it will not be a shock to him to look at me in the morning. And, "Helen added, "I never have gone to bed with my hair in curlers. With all these new sprays on the market, you can put your hair up in the morning and it will dry while you're having your breakfast."

Miss Grayco, who is of Italian descent, is one of 11 children.

"I started my career as a singer when I was eight; and at 13 I had a major studio contract. So for a very long time, I've used make-up before the cameras and I've never had any trouble with my complexion until a few months ago. At one time I counted eight angry bumps on my chin.

"I took an allergy test and discovered the blemishes were caused by Roquefort cheese and tomatoes. I don't know why they should suddenly disagree with me."

"How did you clear your skin?" I wanted to know.

"With a wonderful soap," she exclaimed. "I rubbed the bar right on the sore places and by watching my diet, my skin began to clear immediately. Now I use the soap every evening before retiring. From now on I'll never be without it.

"This experience made me realize how a bad skin can desfroy a person's self-confidence. While my face was so terribly broken out, I didn't want to go anywhere or see anyone," she concluded.

FRESH FRUIT DIET

Many times a bad complexion is the result of accumulated waste in the body. Here is a diet to help you regain a glow in your skin. If you like fresh fruit, this will be a fun diet. Leaflet M-69, "Fresh Fruit Elimination Diet," allows you to eat all the fruit you want. At the end of four days, you will be lighter in weight and brighter in complexion-glow and you'll have a renewed feeling of vigor and vitality. Your copy of M-69 will be on its way when you send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Helen Grayco believes it's disillusioning to a husband to see his wife without the flattery of make-up. She is singing on CBS-TV's "Spike Jones Show."

U.S. Accuses Cuba Of Communist Drift

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, brandishing its bluntest criticism of the Fidel Castro regime, has accused Cuba of racing into a Communist-controlled dictatorship.

The accusation was further evidence that both the United States and Cuba will step into an historic meeting of Western Hemisphere foreign ministers next week in an angry, unbudging mood.

The hardening of Cuban policy was made clear over the weekend as the Castro regime, boasting of its close link with the Soviet Union, ordered the seizure of almost all American-owned property in the island.

More evidence of hardening may accumulate today as the 21-nation Council of the Organization of American States considers the agenda for the foreign ministers meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica Aug. 15.

The ministers tentatively are scheduled to discuss tensions between Venezuela and the Dominican Republic, and between the United States and Cuba.

But Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa has said, "We'll laugh at any resolution that condemns Cuba." His government has asked for a new agenda, which would feature Cuban accusations that the United States has committed economic aggression against Cuba and has interfered in her internal affairs.

The agenda change, already rejected by an OAS committee, will be considered here by the OAS Council.

The U.S. charges against Cuba came in a 78-page memorandum made public by the State Department Sunday but given to newsmen well in advance of Castro's newest charges. The memorandum had been filed earlier with the Inter-American Peace Committee, an OAS unit that will report to the foreign ministers meeting.

"Not only is Cuba under its revolutionary government being transformed into a dictatorial political state," the memorandum said, "but a state in which the reins of political control are increasingly being concentrated in the hands of the Communist party."

The document also said that the "gravest danger to the security of the Americas is to be found in the developing military relations between Cuba and the Soviet Union."

The Soviet Union and Red China, it continued, "are attempting to use the Cuban revolution as an instrument of foreign policy with the objective of increasing world tensions, undermining hemispheric solidarity, and carrying forward their aggressive attacks against the free world."

Premier Castro's brother, Raul Castro, said Friday night "we are grateful for and we accept" Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's promise of military support.

Raul Castro's speech was followed Sunday by an announcement from the ailing prime minister that he would seize almost all the remaining American-owned property in Cuba.

Russians Name Texan As Spy

MOSCOW (AP)—A Texan was named by the Russians as one of the two American and three British students the Reds accused of either trying to ferret secrets out of Russia or of carrying on anti-Communistic propaganda.

He is Stanley Krebs, an assistant professor in Baylor University's School of Music who left here in May after studying Russian music nine months.

The Communist youth newspaper Komsomol Pravda charged that Krebs spent two years with the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency before coming here to study music.

It said Krebs' background was disclosed in a story by the Waco (Tex.) Times-Herald.

At Waco, the Times-Herald said it ran a feature story some time ago on Krebs in which it related that he had studied Russian at an Army school and had been connected with the Central Intelligence Agency at one time.

Krebs is now back in the United States and is on vacation at Lake Bay, Wash.

LBJ Gets Warm Reception In Midwest GOP Stronghold

By ROBERT M. JACKSON
Editor Corpus Christi Caller-Times

The elation of Democratic leaders over Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's successful foray into the farm belt recently knew no bounds and a close examination of the circumstances appears to give the party a lot of reason for optimism.

The place: The fairgrounds at Monticello in the very heart of Iowa's most productive acres. The time: A broiling hot Sunday afternoon. The occasion: A "bean feed," similar to a Texas barbecue, to raise money for a congressman's campaign. The crowd: Certainly a fantastically large one, although the exact number is in dispute. The officials put it at 12,000 and thought they were conservative; the man in charge of the food says he served 12,000 plates and then ran out of food and that at least 2,000 more were turned away. This observer, who made a diligent effort to estimate, would place the total at somewhere around 9,000 when Johnson started to speak. The affair had been going on for hours and obviously many persons came and left. The town of Monticello, incidentally, has a total population of only about 4,000.

ROCK-RIBBED REPUBLICAN

The full significance of the meeting doesn't lie in the exact number of persons who heard the Texas senator excoriate the Republican administration, however. It could best be understood by reversing the situation and thinking of it in terms of exchanging Texas for Iowa and the Republican for the Democratic party.

If the Republican Party could draw 12,000 persons to a political rally in deep East Texas, for instance, commentators would do much more than predict a bad year for the Democrats. They would be predicting doom for the Democratic Party itself.

The Monticello area of Iowa has the same relationship to the Republican party that East Texas has to the Democratic party. These are people who have been Republicans since the Civil War. They inherited their Republicanism along with their grandmother's recipe for succotash and shoofly pie. Most of them will have in the attic the sword that grandpappy carried when he wore the blue at Shiloh or Lookout Mountain. Adherence to the Republican faith is almost in the same class as membership in a Lutheran or Presbyterian church. They aren't particularly interested in civil rights but their ancestors voted with Lincoln and marched with Sherman and Grant and their devotion to the GOP has a deep-seated emotional quality.

Their widespread belief that there is now a crisis at hand is shown by the fact that the fair park where Johnson spoke had never before been used for a political rally in its 100-year history. Four of the five commissioners who control the park are Republicans.

FRIENDLESS BENSON

The crisis they see, of course, is the plight of agriculture. Their disgust with Secretary Ezra Taft Benson is hard to believe. In wandering around on the fringes of the crowd, seeking a clue to this feeling which has epitomized one man as the symbol of all their woes, this observer asked the question, "Is everybody in this country against Mr. Benson? Doesn't he have any friends or supporters?"

Invariably the answer came, often after a pause for thought: "I don't know anybody for him."

Johnson was skillful in his at-record. He was not content simply to lambaste Secretary Benson and listen to the applause as so many other speakers did that day. Sensing perhaps the manner in which Vice President Nixon was to pull the rug out from under Benson, Johnson shouted:

"Don't blame Benson for all your troubles. No one man could have put the American farmer in the position he is in today in just seven years and seven months."

He then proceeded to tighten the connection between Benson, Nixon and Republican members of Congress.

It was an effective performance and it appeared to be a vote-getting one. A recording disclosed that Johnson talked exactly 59 minutes. During that time he was interrupted by applause 61 times.

When a Southern Democratic candidate gets that kind of a reception in a Republican stronghold, there is no telling what is going to happen during this election campaign.

Negro 'Kneel-In' Campaign Felt In Southern Churches

ATLANTA (AP)—Negro college students have initiated a new "kneel-in" campaign in the South by attending services at white Protestant Atlanta churches.

There have been sporadic visits in the past and Negroes in small numbers have attended Catholic churches in the Georgia capital for a number of years.

But Sunday's move by 25 students was the first coordinated effort to carry the 6-months-old sit-in campaign into the churches.

The Negroes were accompanied by several white students. They visited six churches: First Baptist, Druid Hills Baptist, First Presbyterian, St. Mark Methodist, Grace Methodist, and the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Philip.

No major incidents were reported. Negroes stood outside one church that was full, heard the service from the foyer of another, and were admitted after some talk at a third church.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro integration leader, said the "warm reception by clergy and layman" reported by most of the students indicated many Southerners would welcome the chance to rescue the church from its moral dilemma on the race issue.

San Angelo Man Drowns In Lake

SAN ANGELO (AP)—The body of a man identified as Bert Hardin, about 50, of San Angelo, was found floating face down in the Concho River here Sunday.

Officers estimated he had been dead about 72 hours.

Bodies Of 3 Men Found In Plane

FRASER PARK, Calif. (AP) — The bodies of three men—two of them Texans—were found Sunday in the charred wreckage of a light plane which disappeared Feb. 13.

The victims were Starling J. Layton of Dallas, George Smith Jr., about 30, of Wichita Falls, and Robert G. Rucker of Burbank, Calif.

The three men had been installing a radar station for Radio Corporation of America when their plane hit a hill, then fell into dense undergrowth about 75 miles north and west of Los Angeles. The wreckage was found by deerhunters Sunday.

Catholic Church Closes Its Eucharistic Congress

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church's 37th world eucharistic congress ended here Sunday after making three things clear:

1. The Catholic Church is urgently concerned with the necessity of improving the lot of the world's hungry, poorly clothed and inadequately sheltered. Some of its leaders see the plight of the less fortunate as grist for communism's mill and a greater peril than nuclear bombs.

2. The Church is more anxious than ever that all Christians draw closer together, minimizing their differences, emphasizing their similarities and healing the wounds of past religious conflicts.

3. The Church is more anxious than ever that all believers in God tighten ranks against atheistic, materialistic communism as the common enemy.

Speeches by cardinals, archbishops, bishops and prominent laymen brought out that the Church is convinced a true Christian life, with justice and help for the underprivileged, is the only means of combating communism.

In virtually all the speeches, whether they emphasized the needs of the poor or the peril of communism, one thing stood out starkly: The world today faces grave danger.

Pope John XXIII, in a radio-television message during the concluding ceremony of the congress, prayed that the human race be protected "from the danger of death."

"Above all," he prayed, in an obvious reference to Communist areas and the world's poor, "protect men from the death which is especially feared, the spiritual death to which innumerable souls are now exposed or by which they are crushed in wretchedness."

Gideons Hold Rally Here Over Weekend

The Gideon Rally held here during the weekend was termed a success by G. G. Morehead, president of the Texas Gideons.

During the rally, Gideons visited in 20 churches to tell the story of their organization.

"We were well received in all the churches. They were gracious and generous in their offerings," Morehead said.

Two Gideons visited each church. The 14 Big Spring members were joined by visiting Gideons from Plainview, Lamesa, Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo and Odessa.

An estimated $650 was given in offerings, Morehead said. The money will be used to place Bibles in new motels and to buy new testaments for fifth grade students when school opens.

Sixty-six persons attended the banquet held in the Settles Hotel ballroom Saturday evening. Bob Sanders, past president of the Texas Gideons, was guest speaker.

The Gideons are Christian business men banded together to place "the word" wherever people travel. They have been operating about 52 years and have distributed over 44 million Bibles. The Gideons are active in the U.S. and 54 foreign countries.

Miss Texas Is Bullfight Guest

NUEVO LAREDO, Mex. (AP)—Miss Mary Cage Moore, recently crowned Miss Texas, reigned as queen of the Fiesta Brava at the Nuevo Laredo bullring Sunday.

The Laredo beauty, dressed in Spanish costume and accompanied by a large delegation of Laredo and Dallas Jaycees, presented a bouquet of roses to Matador Alfredo Leal after he dedicated his first bull to her.

Approximately 7,000 spectators viewed the fights, which also featured Calesteros, 43-year-old veteran of the bullring, and Jaime Bravo, both of Mexico City.
