James Farmer Slayer Of Jeff Davis County Sheriff Given Seven Years In Pen

FORT STOCKTON, March 25. (AP)—The state today completed its prosecution for the slaying of Lee Sproul, sheriff of Jess Davis county 19 years, and the robbery of his father's ranch in the heart of the Davis mountains.

James Thomas Farmer, 19-year-old boy from Brookston, Texas, was sentenced by a jury to seven years in prison on a charge of murder in the slaying of Lee Sproul.

Paul and Albert Steinberg, who came to the Big Bend country with Farmer just before Sproul was killed a month ago, were sentenced yesterday to four years in prison for robbing the ranch of Mack Sproul of rifles, ammunition and food. The sheriff was slain while he and other officers were trailing the suspected ranch raiders through the mountains. Officers said he was shot with one of the stolen rifles.

Lee Sproul led a posse out from Fort Davis, 40 miles west of Fort Stockton, and one by one suspects were surrounded and forced to surrender. When a third was captured, he fired at the sheriff who died in less than 30 minutes.

All three were taken to Marfa for safekeeping after Fort Davis residents, who had known Lee Sproul from boyhood, became aroused over the robbery and subsequent slaying.

A benefit picture show was given on Tuesday night at the Princess Theatre with the showing of the picture, "Miss Pinkerton," proceeds from the sale of the tickets went to the piano fund of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Before the show the Sanderson High School Band played several numbers all of which were enjoyed by the large crowd that was in attendance.

The picture was donated by Mr. Wright of the Grand Theatre at Ft. Stockton, an "OK" Theatre, and who is the manager of the Princess here. A neat sum was realized.

The play will be given the latter part of April. Watch for further announcements.

Alfred Allee, former Texas Ranger but now Deputy Sheriff at Beeville was here Tuesday after a prisoner that was caught here and was wanted in Beeville for robbery.

WOOL GROWERS OPPOSE FARM RELIEF PLAN

Bill Described As "Very Injurious To Lamb Raisers"

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)—Spokesman of individual agricultural interests pressed their objections to the administration farm relief bill today in open hearings before the Senate agricultural committee, beginning with Harry W. Farr, of Greeley, Colorado, who in behalf of several producers' associations opposed inclusion of sheep in the administration plan.

Farr read a telegram from the National Wool Growers Association, which said:

"We consider the provision of the House farm bill (the Roosevelt bill) would be very injurious to lamb raisers."

Mrs. Arrington's Father Dies At Sherman Friday

For a number of days relatives and friends had anxiously awaited at the bedside of the patient, in a hospital in Sherman, hoping and praying that he might be restored to health and his old-time vigor, but it was not to be, and Friday evening as the shadows had gathered over a tired world preparing for the night, the spirit of Henry Gates, good citizen and kindly neighbor and loving father and husband, passed from the scenes of earth to the Great Beyond.

The writer prefers to call him Henry, for he had known him for many years, and it was with much regret, and sorrow that he heard of his illness, and now, as he writes these lines, he sorrows with the family in their grief over the loss of their loved one.

Henry Gates was a lovable character. He loved his family with a devotion that perhaps surpassed that of some fathers, and he truly said that he was rich, for he had his splendid children and his wife to make his life happy.

When he was taken to the hospital in Sherman he said to his faithful wife that he did not think he would come home like he was going there—he seemed to have a premonition that a transition was about to take place.

One of the beautiful traits in Henry Gate's character was his love for his old time friends, and when one of them died, Henderson, his son said that his father would say that he felt as if a part of him had gone on to that unseen world, his love for them being so great.

For many years Henry gave of his time and his best thought to the upbuilding and maintenance of the city schools, serving like many others on the school board, without money and without price, in order to try to do something to keep the schools at a high standard. His work on that body was at a time when much care had to be given school matters, just as now.

Henry was a farmer, and he had lived on Gates Hill for many years. He was born in the old homestead that used to stand right where Sid Smith's store is now, a number of years ago. Had he lived to see April 13, 1933, he would have been 70 years old.

To Mr. and Mrs. Gates were born the following children that are now living: two more of them have gone on to the other world. The living are Mrs. Mack Swope of this city; Mrs. Reed Arrington of Sanderson, Texas; Henderson Gates, of Sherman; Mrs. Othaa Lewis, MacMillan.

J. R. Blackwelder, Justice Peace R. L. Henry and Bud Stirman motored to Reagan Canyon last Saturday where they spent several days enjoying the rugged scenery and beauty of the landscape that one is afforded when they visit that region of Texas.

The came back telling the usual fish stories in an entirely different way as thus: the more they fished the larger they caught and decided it was best to return home before they were burdened down with fish and would not be able to travel over the good road? That one finds in that section of the State.

SLOVER TALKS OF LATIN RELATIONS

Four chief points in the relations of the United States with Latin-American countries since 1920 were discussed by Melvin P. Slover of Alpine before 25 members and guests of the International Relations group of A. A. U. W. which met Saturday at the St. Angelus Hotel.

Mr. Slover is head of the demonstration department at Sul Ross College but his interests are wide and many in the countries that lie south of the United States. He was introduced to the group by Miss Rose Sharp Brewer.

As an initial point, Mr. Slover discussed the Tacna-Arica dispute that lasted more than 50 years over the boundary between Peru and Chile and that was finally settled by our assistance. He discussed also Cuba's case against the Platt amendment and conditions in Haiti since 1910. As the Latin-American grievance, he said that those people feel that the Monroe Doctrine has proved detrimental to the best interest south of the United States. He also pointed out interesting details in each question.

Following the lecture, Mr. Slover met with the Sul Ross Club at the home of Miss Clara Hamblen.

Mrs. M. E. Sedberry announced that Milton M. Heath will deliver the next address for the International Relations group on April 26. He will outline the relations with Europe since 1920.

The above item was taken from the Sunday issue of the San Angelo Standard-Times. Mr. Slover is well known in this city, being a graduate of this school and his parents were early settlers in this county.

AUSTIN, March 27. (AP)—The House state affairs committee voted a favorable report tonight on the bill to legalize 3.2 per cent beer in Texas. A roll call vote was not taken, committeemen who voted "aye" outnumbering those voting "no" on an oral expression.

Representative John M. Mathis of Houston declared the bill would be reported favorably.

The committee's action came after a hearing at which proponents and opponents of the bill appeared.

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—The House committee on revenue and taxation tonight voted an unfavorable report to the administration bill to levy a sales tax, the action being taken despite the plea of James E. Ferguson, husband of governor Miriam A. Ferguson, that the bill was the only solution he could perceive that would lead the state out of financial distress.

The vote was ten to eight.

The committee followed this action by voting unfavorable reports to two additional sales tax proposals.

A fourth sales tax bill, however, remains before the committee and will be considered at some future date. It provides for a tax only on retail sales and for refunds to counties and cities to reduce the ad valorem tax rate.

The administration bill will be brought out on minority report.

Ferguson appeared before the committee at the request of Rep. J. C. Duvall of Fort Worth.

The former governor and chief advisor of the present governor asserted that by law the chief executive was the chief budget officer of the state, and that it was the duty of the executive office to do all in its power to balance the state's income and expenses.

Ferguson asserted that reliance for state revenue could not be placed in the present ad valorem tax and that this form of taxation had proven a failure.

He estimated that unless the sales tax was approved, the deficit by the end of the next fiscal year would be more than $15,000,000 and that attempts to raise revenue from the tax on real property would fall ten million short of needs.

Ferguson attributed the present condition mainly to a breakdown of agriculture and said passage of the sales tax would enhance farm values and cause a revival of interest in, and stabilization of, the agricultural industry.

"This would be an incentive to give agriculture another chance," he said. "Unless we take off the tax on real estate and make it attractive for persons to return to the country we are not going to get any relief. Under present conditions there is no home for the man who lives in the country."

He predicted that unless steps were taken to meet the state deficit and current expenses that state warrants would not be worth more than 40 cents on the dollar on January 1, next.

"The minute you pass this sales tax bill, it will add one billion dollars to the value of real estate in this state," he declared. "Now boys, come clean. I want to see this committee send a clean cut bill to the House. The condition of the state is too serious and the questions involved are too momentous to permit of this bill being killed in committee."

WHAT DOES THE AVERAGE MAN READ?

What does the average man read?

Attempting to answer this question The American Newspaper Publishers' Association canvassed the reading habits of a representative group.

The results indicated that men average forty-five minutes a day reading newspapers, twenty-five minutes a day on magazines and one-half of the men average less than one book a month.

In other words men spend twice as much time on magazines as on books and five times as much on newspapers. This ought to be interesting to those who advertise.

From the standpoint of culture the radio may be deplored, but in the present day of better newspapers the columns contain much that is neither trivial or ephemeral. —News, Heron Lake, Minnesota.

How times do change! A few years ago the business man with a ragged suit found little patronage. "he's not a success, we can't do business with him." Today, we're a bit skeptical of the too-well-dressed man and the raggedy-merchant is the one we can trust for good values. There's a happy medium, how ever don't be deceived.—Chronicle, Weston, Missouri.

Legislative News Service Of The Texas Press Association, Austin

AUSTIN—The Senate has started toward final adoption a constitutional amendment which purports to arbitrarily limit the expenditures of the State government to $10 per capita per year. The basis of calculating the maximum of expenditures for any given year is the preceding United States census. This would mean that increases could be made only each ten years. The 1930 census gave Texas a population of 3,800,000 plus. The adoption of the amendment would limit State government expenditures to approximately $38,000,000 annually.

The adoption of this amendment would bring expenditures back to the level of 1927. Doubtless some amendments will be made before final action is taken.

Another amendment has been introduced in the House that would lower the limit of State ad valorem (property) tax to 57 cents on the $100 valuation. At present the limit is 77 cents, divided as follows: 35 cents for schools, 35 cents for general revenue purpose and 7 cents confederate pension tax. This amendment would leave the school and Confederate pensions levies as they are now and would reduce the amount of levy for general purposes to 15 cents, instead of the present figure of 35 cents.

These two amendments, with others are under consideration, providing for reorganization of county government together with legislation proposing a reorganization of the common school system, constitute the major items in an economy program intended to extend beyond the period of the present emergency.

Public school reorganization is provided in Senate bill No. 387, reported favorably to the Senate. Its principal feature is that it makes the county the unit for administrative purposes. Existing districts will continue to function so far as taxes, bond issues, etc., are concerned. Administration of schools would be vested in a county board of seven trustees, elected by popular vote for terms of six years, and a county superintendent, elected by the trustees.

This county board would exercise the function now required of district trustees. District school taxes would continue to be levied, collected and expended, as at present. Bond issues would remain as obligations of the district. There would be no pooling of finances or of outstanding bond issues.

Essentially the measure is one for county unit administration and is intended to co-ordinate and reduce the cost of supervision and administration of the public schools. At present there are approximately 7800 school districts in Texas, with 28,000 trustees, employing 46,000 teachers and expending $80,000,000 of the taxpayers' money.

That there is unavoidable waste in a business of such magnitude that is as loosely organized as the public school system of Texas cannot be doubted. Savings as a result of co-ordinated administration would be considerable. It is claimed that salaries of teachers could be increased and better schools would result from the adoption of this bill. Most of the saving would accrue from elimination of much needless cost of supervision as a result of the duplication of staffs in the vast majority of the 7800 school districts. The measure contemplates a greater portion of school funds shall go into the actual business of teaching and less of it to non-teaching attaches and employees

In addition, the change would provide for more uniform school privileges for all children in the State.

Analyses of school finances, together with the machinery of administration, furnish convincing evidence that what Texas needs is wise expenditure of money already available rather than an increase in financial support. Texas ranks well among states of the union in support of schools and value of property. Based on income Texas is almost exactly where she should be in these respects, being ninth in earnings, ninth in schools expenditures and eighth in school property values. Yet, in attendance, teachers' salaries, literacy and other standards of measurement she ranks from 35th to 42nd among the State of the union.

RECIPES AND MENUS

By Department of Home Economics
Texas State College for Women
(CLA)

DENTON, MAR. 30—During war days every housewife in the nation was trying new food materials and new recipes, serving her homelinks peanut loaf and potato bread. Today we are facing an emergency no less tremendous than that which we faced during the world war.

Money, our medium of exchange, has almost vanished into safety deposit vaults and other hiding places. Most of us have such a limited supply that we must resort to purchase only the least expensive foods or resort to barter. Even when our expenditure must be the very minimum, however, we must not fail to provide our families daily with milk in some form, fruits and vegetables and bread, or some kind of cereal.

The least expensive of each of these may be used, if necessary, skim-milk is better than none at all, a potato better than no fruit or vegetable. If there is a plot of ground available, it may be wise to raise fruit and vegetables and purchase only the other necessary foods. A milk, fruit or vegetables and cereal will leave no permanent injury, but a diet that lacks these three will leave plenty of ills for years to come.

Breakfast: Stewed apricots, oatmeal with milk, French toast, scrambled eggs, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Lamb stew with dumplings, cabbage-carrot-pineapple salad, mayonnaise, hot biscuits, honey, milk.

Dinner: Cubed steak, mashed potatoes, gravy, candied parsnip, lettuce salad, hot rolls, butter, uncooked lemon pie, coffee.

Breakfast: Chilled orange juice with mint, wholewheat cereal with milk, bacon, eggs, toast, butter, coffee, milk.

Lunch: Cream of spinach soup, croquettes, scalloped cauliflower and hard cooked eggs, mashed sweet potato balls, buttered beets, hot ginger bread, tea, cocoa.

Dinner: Roast loin of lamb, mint jelly, potatoes baked around the roast, brown gravy, wilted lettuce, scalloped tomatoes, hot rolls, butter, apple squares, cheese, coffee, milk.

RECIPES

Wilted Lettuce: Cube about 4 slices of bacon and partially cook. To the bacon and hot fat add shredded lettuce and at once pour over this the following: 1-2 c cream to which has been added a beaten egg and 1-4 cup vinegar. Toss lightly to combine thoroughly, remove from fire and serve at once.

Uncooked Lemon Pie Filling: 1 1-3 c Eagle condensed milk, 1-2 c lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon or 1-4 teaspoon lemon extract.

Blend all ingredients together. The mixture will thicken right before your eyes, to a delicious custardy consistency. Pour into baked pie shell. Cover with meringue made from egg white. Brown in oven. Chill before serving.

Trade among Friends

No matter what some folks say to the contrary, there certainly is a lot of sentiment in business. Friendship, for instance, makes more satisfactory sales than all the cleverness and argument in the world.

You like to trade at a certain store—not because its counters are arranged in a scientific way, but because the folks who serve you are always friendly and helpful.

Just that very thing—FRIENDLY SERVICE—is the power that draws people together into communities like this, where everybody can enjoy the many benefits of neighborly cooperation.

And FRIENDLY SERVICE is the sentimental reason why you find it very much to your advantage to trade with our advertisers—to buy where you feel at home, where your friends will see that you are well satisfied.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES

Lubbock reports the largest number of cattle and sheep on feed there in its history with 10,400 cattle and 15,000 sheep.

The cheese plant at Abernathy has added equipment that increased its daily capacity to 20,000 pounds of milk. The cheese factory that is a part of the plant set a new high mark recently when in one day it produced 1,700 pounds of cheese.

One of the major objectives of 1933 for the San Antonio Advertising Club is to promote industrial development in the San Antonio territory. The Club recently went on record as endorsing Progressive Texans, Inc., and agreeing to help attain its objectives.

Commercial utilization of brines found in oil wells in the manufacture of iodine is a new industrial possibility in the Texas oil fields. Heretofore the important drug has been supplied largely from the nitrate deposits of Chile with some of it coming from seaweeds. Development of a satisfactory process for making it from oil well brine has taken the monopoly formerly held by Chile and has brought the price down from $4 to $3 a pound.

The Texaco Can Co., Port Arthur a subsidiary of the Texas Co., is manufacturing a full line of tin cans. Progressive Texans, Inc., is advised by H. H. Haines, manager of the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce. The Thompson Can Co., Dallas, and Southwestern Can Co., Houston, are other manufacturers of different kinds of cans.

Western Overall Co., El Paso, is a new manufacturing incorporation in Texas with $20,000 capital.

Oklahoma: Mrs. Otis Reeves, of this city.

Henry Gates was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gates, who settled in South Bonham long before the coming of the T. & P. R. R. to the city. Uncle Tommy, as many knew him, was a good man himself, one who attended to his own affairs, and the son, Henry, had the same attribute. Mrs. Gates, Henry's wife was a daughter of Uncle Bobbie Henderson and wife, and like her husband comes from a splendid family. Small wonder then that the Gates children are good citizens and an honor to their parents. Henry had a number of brothers and sisters, some of whom are yet living.

The funeral services will be held at the home on South Main Street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment at Willow Wild cemetery. The Rev. E. W. Stovall pastor of the Church of Christ, will have the services in charge, for deceased had long been a consecrated member of that congregation.

Truly a good man and good friend has wrapt the mantle of his couch about him and has lain himself down to pleasant dreams—dreams that will not be over this side of the Elysian Fields of Eternity.—Bonham Favorite.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. DARROW
Extension Service Editor

For every dollar spent last year by farmers in fighting insects and diseases attacking field crops in Texas, $12.50 was returned in increased income. A total of 166,452 acres was protected by 6669 farmers with the aid of county agents.

Plenty of home grown feed saves cash, helps the living living-at-home program, and makes possible larger livestock profits. Last year 12,674 men and boys cooperated with county agents in growing 189,838 acres of feed crop by demonstration methods from which they received for labor and investment an average of $70 apiece.

An average return of $250 for labor and investment was made by the 4397 Texas farmers and 4-H club boys who conducted demonstrations in cotton growing last year. The demonstrations averaged 28 acres.

Childless county pantries are displaying airtight boxes of cookies, peanut butter, and crackers in addition to all the other kinds of food as a result of work by the home demonstration agent. Women and girls have learned to make peanut butter, cheese straws, vanilla wafers, and butter and whole wheat crackers.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

There is a new attitude abroad in the land. This began to be seen some months ago, and came to culmination with the bank holidays and their subsequent reopening. Where the average citizen was once frankly dubious as to the future of the country, he now believes that recovery is in the process of starting that bottom actually has been reached, and that we are ready for the up-climb. Partisan politics has been forgotten. Practically unanimous support is being given the Roosevelt Administration by newspapers and individuals of all shades of political opinion.

The Administration's stand on gold hoarding is producing even better results than were anticipated. When the banks opened queues of people stood in lines at tellers' windows not to withdraw money, but to deposit gold coin and certificates. Hundred of millions of dollars of gold has been returned to circulation.

Under the present banking plan, no bank can issue gold or gold certificates without express permission from the Treasury Department. However, gold is coming out of hoarding so rapidly that it is even forecast this stipulation may be removed within a short time.

The President expects to have his $500,000,000 economy drive actually in operation by the end of March. Savings are to be as follows: $280,000,000 from reduced veterans' compensations; $120,000,000 in lowered salaries; $100,000,000 through government reorganization. Economy is the first step toward a balanced budget. Other aids, in the President's belief, will be about $125,000,000 in new revenue from beer, and $150,000,000 from a renewal of the federal gasoline tax.

The number of men who will be put to work by legalized beer and the amount of taxes accruing to the government, are moot, much-debated subjects. Even taking the lowest figures, a considerable amount of employment and taxation will be provided. One question is, what influence will legal beer have on home brewing? It was certain that if beer were overtaxed, and a price of fifteen cents or so a glass made necessary, sales would be small. Under the Administration bill, it is forecast that beer will be sold at its old price of 5 cents a glass, 15 cents a bottle unless, of course, states and municipalities overtax it on their own account.

Salient features of President Roosevelt's unemployment program are: A $500,000,000 unemployment relief appropriation to be used in internal improvements and the establishment of camps for the unemployed engaged on government work; expansion of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to permit loans at lower interest; reforestation of marginal lands in the Tennessee Valley and elsewhere, etc.

It was expected that prices—security, particularly would rise at the end of the bank moratorium, because of renewed confidence and new money in circulation. Prices did—and, to the surprise of some, are apparently holding to their new levels, an extremely encouraging sign.

Commodity prices also showed a general disposition to rise. It is difficult to present a survey of business conditions in general, because of the brief time that has elapsed since the holidays, and the fact that a period must pass before improvement even if started, is reflected in business statistics.

Late reports on major industries show: STEEL—Good resistance to banking crisis demonstrated. Operations have been downward, but not so intensely as was feared.

AUTOMOBILE—Much optimism felt. It is believed that the growing public desire to convert money into goods will be a boon to the industry. Sales strong before the moratorium—reports since too incomplete to be reliable.

OIL—Conditions still chaotic, due to excess of production over consumption, prices at low levels. Stronger measures of control over production in major producing areas anticipated.

COPPER—Production in 1932 was 294,000 tons, consumption 300,000 tons. This is indicative of the position of the industry now. Production has been regulated to demand; principal problem is surplus stocks on hand which at end of last year totaled 650,000 tons.

RETAIL TRADE—Sharp improvement occurred recently, and sentiment more hopeful than for some time past.

Prices for FARM PRODUCTS have strengthened, in accord with the general trend.

Six self-feeders for hogs were built recently by Harrison county farmers for feeding hogs by county agent methods. Hogs are allowed allowed half tankage and half cottonseed meal, and corn, free choice.

Raising 80 bushels of corn on one acre, making another acre produce 1020 pounds of cotton, raising a flock of 120 pullets which are now producing a monthly income, and on top of all this making his hogs pay him a net profit of $56—this is the accomplishment of Alvin Weidener, 4-H club boy of Long Point Community in Washington county.

You'll never get an ELECTRIC BILL like this!

WITHOUT attaching a separate meter to each appliance, we cannot itemize the daily cost of the various services that electricity performs for the individual customer. If we could, the average bill would look something like the one shown above. Most of the charges would be for one cent or less as there is scarcely a household task that electricity will not perform for pennies or fractions of pennies. One cent's worth of electricity, for example, will percolate seven cups of coffee. It will toast enough bread for a large family. It will run an electric clock twenty-four hours. It will clean several rugs or wash a large amount of dirty clothing. Although it is next to impossible for us to furnish an itemized list, the average monthly bill covers scores upon scores of such daily services, each one rendered at trifling cost.
