Liberal Demo Captures California Nomination

By The Associated Press
California voters will choose between the liberal son of a past governor and a Princeton-educated former college government professor when they elect a governor in November.

Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr., the 36-year-old son and namesake of the man defeated by Ronald Reagan in 1966, and Republican Houston I. Flournoy won party nominations in California's primary election Tuesday.

POLITICAL REFORM
Voters in the nation's most populous state also approved a tough and far-reaching political reform law.

There were these other election day highlights:

—Liberal Republican Rep.

Paul N. McCloskey of California, who has called for the impeachment of President Nixon, was locked in a tight primary fight with conservative Gordon Knapp.

—South Dakota Republicans nominated former prisoner of war Leo Thorsness to challenge Sen. George McGovern's bid for a third term.

—James H. Meredith, who broke down racial barriers at the University of Mississippi a decade ago, was a surprise leader in a five-way Democratic congressional primary in Mississippi. He faces a run-off election June 25.

—Congressmen seeking reelection in the eight states holding primaries Tuesday had little difficulty securing nomination by their parties. Many faced no—or token—primary opposition.

PERJURY CHARGE

Flournoy, 44, now state controller and a former state legislator, won the GOP gubernatorial nomination in a landslide victory over Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke. Flournoy, who holds a Ph.D. from Princeton, is considered a moderate Republican.

Reinecke, once considered a favorite, suffered a blow April 3 when a Watergate grand jury indicted him on a perjury charge in the ITT case.

Brown, 36, was one of 18 Democrats, including San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and State Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, who sought the Democratic nomination.

He had based his campaign on support for Proposition 9, a Watergate-inspired initiative that would reform campaign practices. The proposition was approved.

SPECIAL ELECTION

In a special congressional election to fill a vacant seat until the fall elections, Democrat John L. Burton was a runaway leader in a field of eight candidates. The seat was vacated by California's senior Republican congressman, William S. Mailard, named U.S. envoy to the Organization of American States.

In South Dakota, Thorsness, 42, who spent six years in a North Vietnam prison camp and who holds the Medal of Honor, said he did not see the war as a major election issue. Thorsness, who had announced his intentions to seek McGovern's seat shortly after returning to the United States last year, said, "The war is over. I hope we've learned our lesson. I hope we don't have to re-fight that war in this campaign."

APODACA WINS

NEW MEXICO — State Sen. Jerry Apodaca of Las Cruces, at 39 the youngest candidate in a six-man field, won New Mexico's Democratic gubernatorial primary election. He will oppose Republican Joseph Skeen, a 47-year-old rancher and former state senator, in the November general election. The current governor, Democrat Bruce King, is unable to succeed himself.

BEATS RICH MAN

ALABAMA—Lt. Gov. Jerry Beasley, who ran behind millionaire Charles Woods in the first primary May 7, fought back to win renomination in the Democratic runoff. Beasley offered a helping hand to Gov. George C. Wallace, who was renominated for an unprecedented third in the first primary four weeks ago.

MISSISSIPPI — Meredith's opponent in the June 25 runoff with Jackson television executive Kenneth Dean. In other primary highlights, the state's five congressmen won party endorsements for new terms.

IOWA—State Rep. David Stanley won the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Harold E. Hughes. Stanley, who lost a bid for the Senate to Hughes by 6,415 votes in 1968, will be matched against Rep. John Culver, D-Iowa, in the general election. Culver was unopposed. James Schaben, state senate minority leader, won the three-man Democratic primary for governor and will face incumbent Republican Gov. Robert D. Ray, who was unopposed.

VICTORY SMILES — Jerry Apodaca and his wife, Clara, smile for supporters as Tuesday's primary election results gave the Las Cruces insurance executive a solid victory as the Democratic nominee for governor in New Mexico.

Three Gunmen Grab Irish Peer, Wife

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Police spokesmen speculated today that the kidnapers of an elderly Irish peer and his wife were holding them hostage for five members of the Irish Republican Army on hunger strikes in British jails.

SHOT FIRED

Three gunmen seized the 71-year-old Earl of Donoughmore and his wife early today when they returned to their 600-acre estate in County Tipperary after a visit to friends. The kidnapers bundled the couple into a car and drove off in the direction of Dublin, 120 miles to the northeast.

Police today said they had rounded up three men for questioning. But they were released after several hours.

A senior police officer said Lord Donoughmore may have been wounded. A fresh bloodstain was found on the driveway, and the son of the earl's chauffeur said he heard a shot fired.

The police launched a search and set up roadblocks for a 30-mile radius.

Police speculated that the kidnapers were spurred by the death Monday night in a British jail of IRA member Michael Gaughan, who had been on a hunger strike since March 31 demanding that he be classified a political prisoner and transferred to a jail in Northern Ireland.

BANK ROBBERY
Gaughan was serving a seven-year term for bank robbery. Five other IRA members serving life terms in British jail for bombings in London also are fasting to press the same demands Gaughan made.

If the kidnaping of the Donoughmores was politically motivated, it was not apparent why they were the targets. The earl was a Conservative member of the British House of Commons from 1943 to 1945 but has not been active politically since then. He is grand master of the Free Masonic Grand Lodge of Ireland and a prominent owner and breeder of race horses.

MARJI WALLACE

OVERDOSE Beauty In Critical Condition

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Doctors say former Miss World, Marji Wallace, is in critical condition, suffering from a potentially lethal dosage of a sleep-inducing drug, Dordien.

The doctors, who asked not to be named, said Miss Wallace was placed on a kidney dialysis machine to flush the drug out of her system. The Indianapolis model is in intensive care.

Miss Wallace, 20, a close friend of the late race driver Peter Revson, was described by one doctor as "comatose and in pretty bad shape."

Asked if Marji might have intentionally taken an overdose of the drug, her father, Dell Wallace, said, "I'd be surprised if she would do anything like that."

Miss Wallace was crowned last November in London, but World pageant organizers revoked her title after publicity about her relationship with British soccer star George Best.

BAD ODDS
Odds of rain continuing to be slight, 20 per cent through Thursday. High today and Thursday in the 90s. Low tonight, upper 60s. Southerly and southwesterly winds 8-18 m.p.h. through tonight.

Art Missing, But Results Count

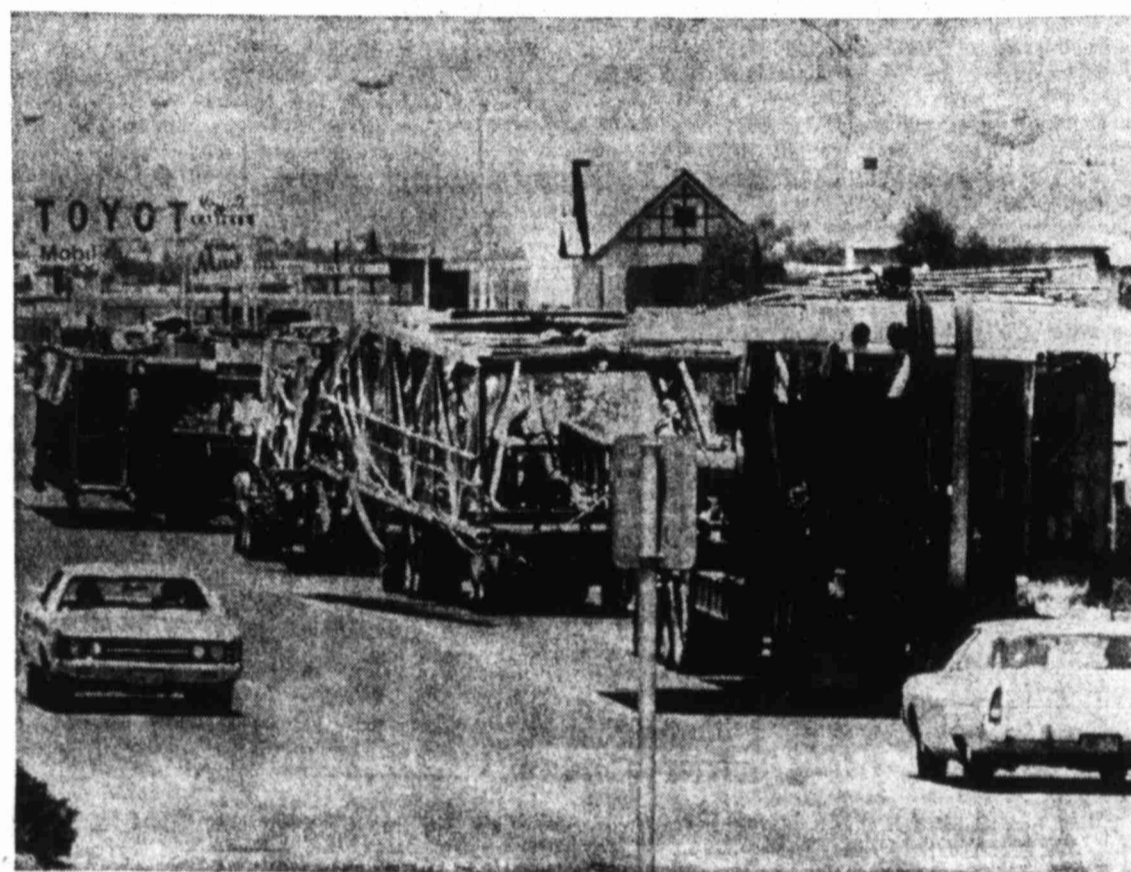

It took three police officers to round up three cows in "the last round-up" on IS 20 in the early hours Wednesday.

Three steers loped down the trail from about Rips' Truck Stop to the Ramada Inn where the three officers cornered them and put them in pens behind the Ramada.

All of this occurred at 4:31 a.m. today. There were no wrecks connected with the incident but the three police officers, Don Stewart, Merv Hayner, and James Van Hess, decided that cowboying was a lost art.

Coup Attempt

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Two colonels reportedly led a military revolt against President Hugo Banzer Suarez late Tuesday night, but the government claimed today that the attempt had been smashed.

STREET SCENE — If Gregg Street reminds one of a Los Angeles freeway at times, this is a contributing reason. Four trucks heavily laden with oil field equipment, travel north on the thoroughfare, escorted by police cars back and front. The movement of such equipment reflects a booming oil business in West Texas.

B1 Bomber Faces Senate Challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force B1 bomber is facing the next challenge in the Senate continuing debate on the $21.8-billion military weapons procurement bill.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., called for a Senate vote today on his amendment to slow down B1 development by cutting funding to $200 million from the $499 million the Defense Department requested.

That would defer a production decision on the B1 from the fall of 1976 to 1980.

BUDGET PADDED

Meanwhile, the McGovern amendment would require an independent study of less expensive alternatives, such as modified versions of the existing B52 and FB111 bombers, or the complete reliance on land and sea-launched ballistic missiles without manned bombers. The Senate agreed to consider on Thursday amendments by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and others to require reductions in U.S. military forces overseas.

By voice vote Tuesday, the Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., declaring that defense budgets should not be padded to stimulate the domestic economy.

HUGE GRANT

Rejected by a 55-27 vote was a McGovern amendment to authorize a $100 million grant and loan fund to help defense contractors convert their plants and labor force to high-priority civilian production in such fields as transportation and housing when they lose substantial defense business.

Isolationism Danger Cited

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — President Nixon told graduating Naval Academy midshipmen today that "a new wave of isolationism" poses one of the greatest dangers facing America.

Defending his policy of detente, the President said: "In our era, American isolation could easily lead to global destruction."

Nixon said that the United States cannot retreat into isolation from world responsibilities because, he said, the alternative to detente is a runaway arms race, a return to constant confrontation and a "shattering setback to our hopes for building a new structure of peace in the world."

But he cautioned that detente does not mean the United States should become involved in the domestic affairs of other countries.

Martin Installed As MOD Chairman

Vaughn Martin was installed Tuesday evening as chairman of the Cap Rock Chapter of March of Dimes, succeeding Ronnie Smith. The ceremonies took place at Holiday Inn where three other officers and a dozen new directors were inducted.

Among highlights of the program were the presentation of awards by Ronnie Smith, also the division chairman; Mrs. Ronnie Reeves, Mother's March; Eli Guinn, Walkathon; Martin, a flight; Smith, Basketball; Mrs. W. A. Mann, Tennessean.

Smith was installed as co-chairman of the chapter. Mrs. Ruby Phillips, treasurer; Edith Gay, secretary. New board members were Mrs. Gary Turner, Mel Prather, John Seitzler, Mrs. Marion Finch, Willie F. Lane Jr., Lt. Jim McCain, Craig Fischer, Vanessa Mancill, Kathy Perry, Bubba Stripling, Dennis Knight, Steve Hughes and Jim Brooks.

Introducing a film, "Exploring Inner Space," Anne Lane, executive secretary, observed that "everyone has heard of the March of Dimes, but they too often don't know what we're really doing now."

Until 15 years ago, she said, few knew much about the 250,000 children born with birth defects in the United States each year. MOD is battling to lessen the effects of these defects, and now is turning to prevention of birth defects.

"What better way can you find than to take a part in helping assure every child of his right to a healthy life?" she asked.

She also praised Smith for his work as chapter chairman.

The new chairman is a native of Dallas, who entered the Air Force after two years in the University of Texas at Arlington, later getting his degree at the University of Omaha (Neb.). He served 20 years in the U.S. Air Force, 12 of them in different assignments at Webb AFB where he retired in 1973 as a lieutenant colonel. He is now a safety inspector for Cosden, and he and his wife, Helen, and four children reside in Silver Heels.

Committee Checking Nixon's Decision To Raise Milk Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is turning to President Nixon's 1971 decision to raise milk prices to see if it was linked to a $2 million campaign pledge from dairy co-ops.

BRIBERY
The investigation, to start today, involves bribery, which the Constitution lists as an impeachable offense.

Moving more swiftly now that it has passed the tangled Watergate scandal, the committee completed on Tuesday the presentation of evidence on the settlement of antitrust litigation against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

It also decided to have its staff question Charles W. Colson but postponed a decision on whether the former White House counsel would be called as a witness before the committee.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who overrode strong objections from members who want Colson called now, said he would wait for the staff's report on what Colson says before deciding whether to have him as a witness.

MAJOR ROLE

Colson played a major role in the White House's dealings with the dairy industry, outlined in a summary prepared by the Judiciary Committee's staff of the case it will present.

The staff memorandum identifies Colson as the White House contact for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., and says in the spring or summer of 1970 AMPI promised him $2 million for Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

On March 12, 1971, former Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin set milk price supports lower than the dairy industry wanted. Industry representatives called on Colson and other administration officials to set Hardin's order aside and fix a higher support level, the memorandum says.

PRICE SUPPORT

The crucial part of the staff's presentation centers on March 23, 1971, when Nixon, who had previously been informed of the $2 million pledge, met at the White House with industry representatives and thanked them for their support.

Later that afternoon, says the memorandum, Nixon met with key advisers and decided to increase milk price supports. Nixon has said his decision was influenced by heavy pressure from Congress for an increase.

The committee memorandum says no announcement of Nixon's decision was made and that immediately after the meeting Colson got in touch with the late Murray M. Chotiner. He had left the White House a few weeks earlier after serving as an aide to Nixon, and was then representing the dairy industry.

"Later in the night of March 23, AMPI officials and other dairy representatives engaged in all night meetings ... at which they agreed to make political contributions to the President's re-election campaign and to contribute $25,000 by the evening of March 24," the memorandum says.

During the evening of March 24 Chotiner told several dairymen that former White House aide John D. Ehrlichman expected the dairy industry to reaffirm its $2 million commitment in light of the forthcoming increase in milk prices, which they did, the memorandum says.

PROFIT

"Thereafter an increase in the price support level for milk ... was officially announced." The increase reportedly added hundreds of millions of dollars to dairy industry profits.

Most of the evidence bearing on the dairy industry phase of the inquiry came from the Senate Watergate Committee, but the Judiciary Committee also has tapes of some of the key White House conversations around March 23, 1971.

SUSPECT ARRAIGNED — Freddie D. Smith shielded his face from cameramen as he was taken for arraignment on an extortion charge in connection with the kidnaping Monday of Tulsa business executive Walter H. Helmerich III. He was escorted by a deputy marshal, right, and was handcuffed to an unidentified federal prisoner. Bond was set at $1 million for Smith.

Oil Field Supplier Faces Kidnap Count

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A 45-year-old self-employed oil field supplier was arrested by FBI agents Tuesday in the kidnaping of a millionaire Tulsa businessman Walter H. Helmerich.

An FBI spokesman said Freddie D. Smith was arrested at his home in Tulsa Tuesday morning on a charge of violating the Hobbs Act, a federal act relating to extortionate demands affecting interstate commerce.

Helmerich, 51, president of Helmerich and Payne, Inc., a worldwide oil drilling company and a director of numerous other firms, was kidnaped while on his way to work Monday morning. He was released unharmed after payment of $700,000 in ransom.

"I put myself in the hands of the Lord, and I was never afraid," Helmerich said after his eight-hour ordeal.

The FBI spokesman said Smith was arrested after several hours of surveillance and on the basis of a warrant issued here.

The spokesman said he had no immediate information on whether the ransom had been recovered.

Guadalupe National Park Area Blackened By Flames

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Weary fire fighters began the monotonous task of mopping up today after controlling two fires that charred some 750 acres of federal recreation land in southeast New Mexico and far West Texas.

Both fires were controlled late Tuesday, a U.S. Forest Service spokesman said. They were started by lightning Monday afternoon, he said.

The spokesman said fire damage mostly was confined to watersheds, with mostly piñon and juniper fueling the blazes through the rugged, canyon-slashed countryside.

He said, "Only very slight amounts of ponderosa pine were destroyed."

No damage estimates were available.

The larger fire, dubbed the PX Fire, blackened about 500 acres on the southwest fringes of Guadalupe National Park just south of the Texas-New Mexico state line, officials said.

The New Mexico fire blazed through about 250 acres of a roadless section of the Lincoln National Forest some 12 miles southwest of Carlsbad, the spokesman said. The area, about 10 miles north of the PX Fire, is being considered by Congress for federal wilderness area designation.

Remote, steep-walled canyons, coupled with stiff breezes and tinder-dry vegetation, hampered the 140 fire fighters battling the Black Canyon Fire in the national forest. They were unable to get motorized equipment to the site and had to walk more than a mile to fight the blaze.

Fire fighters, supported by six bomber aircraft dropping fire-retardant chemicals, had to cut fire lines with handtools, the spokesman said.

Baseball-Size Hail At Merkel

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms dumping rain at rates up to four inches per hour and giant hailstones staged another of their most nightly assaults on much of Texas but apparently inflicted surprisingly little damage.

As usual there were a few tornadoes but no word of harm from them. Sightings were reported in Fisher County near Remy, where hail up to the size of baseballs pounded the countryside, about 15 miles northwest of Abilene, and in the Panhandle close to Turkey. There also was baseball-size hail at Merkel, just west of Abilene.

The latest round of thunderstorms surged from the east part of the South Plains into North Central and Northeast Texas, dying down last from near Wichita Falls eastward. They prompted a nightlong succession of severe weather warnings.

Renewed rainfall caused a flash flood watch until early morning in and near Plainview, where Running Water Draw threatened to rise again into some homes and business places. Near dawn, however, police reported the water level was dropping.

Hail the size of golf balls pelted Girard, near Lubbock on the South Plains, and an area on the opposite side of the state around Karnack, which is close to Marshall. Winds gusting to 50 miles per hour drove hail like marbles through Paris.

Outside the storm belt skies were mostly clear over West Texas and cloudy to partly cloudy in the central and east parts of the state.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 60 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 80 at Corpus Christi and Galveston on the coast. Tuesday afternoon's top marks went as high as 102 at Wink in West Texas.

Sterling Well Reopens Field

I. W. Lovelady No. 1 Humble has reopened the Crandell (San Angelo) field 11 miles southeast of Sterling City. Plugged back to 1582 after unsuccessfully testing perforations from 1,613-32, the venture pumped 21 barrels of oil and no water from perforations at 1,466-72. The field was opened originally with a 72-barrel producer in 1953.

Location of the new producer is 2,310 from the south and 990 from the east line section 30-11-SPRR.

Operator took a drillstem test from 9,700-833 feet with recovery of a 1,000 water blanket and 2,000 feet of fluid cut 10 per cent oil, 10 per cent drilling mud, and 80 per cent salt water. The hole was abandoned temporarily at 9,833 feet.

In Sterling County, Amoco No. 1-A Foster was drilling below 3,030 feet and Dorchester No. 1 Mahaffey below 1,970.

Pastor Is Returning $600,000 To Church

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas says he will return "every penny" he has taken in salary since becoming his pastor 30 years ago. The amount he plans to return is in excess of $600,000, the 65-year-old pastor noted.

The Rev. Dr. Criswell, former president of the Southern Baptist Convention, said he already has begun to return the money and will fulfill his total pledge upon his death. "I have consummated my pledge in my will."

Vote Recount View Voiced

HOUSTON (AP) — The loser Saturday in a race for Harris County treasurer said here he will ask for a recount, but has little hopes it will be successful.

H. M. McElroy trailed incumbent Hartsell Gray by 289 votes out of 42,451 cast in the Democratic primary. McElroy said he was not optimistic about the request and added he was not making any allegations of fraud. "It's still within the realm of possibility some errors could be found," he said.

(AP WIREPHOTO) MAYOR BROKE — Friends of cancer stricken Miami Metro Mayor Jack Orr have pledged $50,000 to help defray expenses incurred by the treatment in hospitals. A benefit soccer game at Miami's Orange Bowl will be held June 28, at which time friends hope to raise $50,000 or more.

back to the church everything that it has given to me so that when I meet the Lord I can say I did all of my work freely.

PRIVATE GIFTS

The Rev. Dr. Criswell first mentioned his plan to his congregation in a recent Sunday sermon.

The pastor of the world's largest Southern Baptist church is the first to acknowledge that not all of his money has come from his salary at First Baptist. The Rev. Dr. Criswell has received substantial income from the sale of his more than 15 books, numerous speaking engagements and some private gifts.

He said his financial commitment to the church would not jeopardize the security and well-being of his family. "They are well taken care of."

These students, who are residents of the hospital, attended classes at the Big Spring Independent School District branch located on the hospital campus.

Diplomas were given out by Dr. Harry Davis, chief clinical psychologist at BSSH, and Roy Southard, teacher. The commencement address was delivered by hospital superintendent, Dr. Preston E. Harrison. The Food Service Class served refreshments following the ceremony.

Also eligible are service members separated from service because of service-connected disabilities, as well as widows of eligible veterans and spouses of service members missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days.

The increase in interest rates does not apply to mobile home loans for veterans.

Higher Interest Rate Revealed For GI Loans

The Veterans Administration recently announced a higher interest rate on homes and purchased with GI loans.

On May 13, the maximum allowable interest rate on mortgages was increased from 8.5 to 8.75 per cent, under a joint agreement by the Veterans Administration and the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

VA spokesmen said that had the interest rate remained at 8.5 per cent during the current housing market situation, veterans would have found it difficult, if not impossible, to obtain VA-backed loans from private lenders.

The reason, said VA officials, is because the 8.5 per cent rate was not competitive. Private lenders were therefore reluctant to finance homes for veterans without payment of points. The VA guarantees 60 per cent up to a maximum of $12,500

The quarantine had been imposed because of outbreaks of the highly contagious Newcastle disease. USDA officials said there have been no reports of new outbreaks of the disease in 30 days.

The disease hit the area in February causing the deaths of nearly 190,000 fowl, valued at $400,000.

Quarantines will remain in effect for at least 90 days on individual premises where infected or exposed flocks had been destroyed.

Stepping Stone Of Hope

A skeptical world clings to the notion that single robin does not a Spring mean, and thus, it is natural to be cautious in a firm assessment of the achievement of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in negotiating a cease fire and pull-back between Israel and Syria.

No matter what the final turn of events may be in the quest of some sort of Middle East accommodation, if not peace, it would be difficult to minimize the achievement of Secretary Kissinger. It is impossible to enumerate the endless obstacles in the way of restoring some sort of dialogue, even though second hand, between the adversaries whose differences are rooted in antiquity.

While the world may breathe easier, as one might when a child has left off his playing with matches near a powder keg, the greater contribution by Secretary Kissinger may be in establishing once again that there is such a thing as effective diplomacy. This is not an easy course, as the exacting toll on the patience and physical resources of the Secretary will reflect, but it is a possible and a practical course if there is great enough urgency and a determined spirit to pursue it.

As a result, what few felt could be done has been done. Because of it, other possibilities are now open, and although they carry no guarantee of success, they are within the realm of sane and dispassionate dialogue. What Secretary Kissinger has achieved is a demonstrable stepping stone of hope. He deserves the gratitude of his fellow countrymen and the world.

Be Careful There

One can hardly blame Sen. William Scott, Virginia Republican, for taking exception to a recent issue of the New Times bi-weekly magazine which described him as the "dumbest" member of Congress. That may be the worst rating an individual could get, considering some of the blunders Congresses have voted in the past.

Describing the article as "unwarranted criticism," Scott said at a news conference he is considering the filing of a libel suit against the magazine. But he also said he is exploring all possibilities and keeping his options open.

"I don't want to bring a suit that I don't win," Scott said. "It might make people think the story was true."

Or, in the words of an earlier day writer-radio commentator: Be careful about suing for libel; it's liable to be proven.

Blue Front Store

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Ever hear of the Borden Citizen? It's been appearing regularly now for almost 10 years as the product of the Borden County Historical Survey Committee. Not surprisingly, it has won many top awards, including best historical newsletter in the state. And deservedly, so.

YOU MIGHT think that after a decade the historical mines of Borden County, one of the smallest in the state from point of population, would have been exhausted, or that those who produce the quarterly report would have long since worn out of the new and wearied in well doing.

Not so. The latest issue (Vol. IX, No. 3) has all the freshness and newness as Vol. I, No. 1). Right on the front page, using type contemporary to 80 years ago, is a copy of an ad from the Blue Front Store, Gail. "We lead, Others Follow," boasted J. W. Chandler, proprietor. "Our Spring and Summer Line of Men's Suits and Ladies Dress Goods are now on display."

WINNIE CHANDLER Miller recalls that her father's first store was "on the west side of the courthouse square. It was a small one-room building with a slide room on the south side . . . where he kept grain and hay to sell."

But it didn't stay small for long, because he rebuilt on the north side of the square, six-foot letters proclaiming the store's name. There was an air of expectancy in the frontier boom town, and it was agreed that a railroad was a certainty. Business increased, more clerks had to be hired.

CHANDLER had his own teams and kept a man to "freight" the supplies from Colorado City and later Big Spring. Harris Chandler, his nephew, helped with this, and sometimes private freighters were required to keep up the stock.

Chandler had a cotton yard back of the store and did a brisk trade in buying cotton from Gail's gin and freighting it on the return trip to railroad at Big Spring. One could find about anything needed from farming and ranching equipment and supplies down to guns or wearing apparel and the latest in millinery brought in periodically by Mrs. Gene Moon from Big Spring. Merchandising was informal: once a big box of boots was opened out front and left for men to rummage through until they found a fit.

OF THIS STORE, John Johnson said "Uncle Jim Chandler had everything. At one time his stock was valued at $80,000 to $100,000. (Imagine what that would be at today's prices.) He brought the first fine Spaulding hacks to the country. He sold buggies and Peter Shuttler wagons. Uncle Jimmy Kincaid delivered groceries and other items all over town in a one-horse rig."

BY 1918, drought and a devastating blizzard, coupled with World War I, wrought havoc on the busy city of Gail. Perhaps the "Red Sentries," a one-gallon gasoline pump out front signalled a new era. Other towns sprung up in the area and would increasingly bleed off the trade of this once-thriving center.

Workers Are Back

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Obscured by incessant Democratic National Committee propaganda claims of the regulars reassuming party command is this hard ominous fact: the McGovernites firmly control essentially the same areas today that they did in 1972.

IN EARLY selection for the first Democratic midterm convention at Kansas City in December, New Politics activists have displayed skills used two years ago to nominate Sen. George McGovern. Virtually unnoticed, they have won control of the Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota delegations and picked up impressive minorities elsewhere. The projection is for Kansas City to be only slightly right of the 1972 Miami Beach madhouse and will to the left of pre-1972 Democratic conventions.

That prospect casts a long dark shadow toward 1976, suggesting that the McGovernite takeover at Miami Beach was no aberration. Rather, just as the Republican party shifted right after Sen. Barry Goldwater's nomination in 1964, the leftward Democratic slide may well be permanent. If so, the 1976 presidential nomination cannot possibly go to a genuine centrist.

That means Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss is falling short in his grand design: to nudge the party back toward the center without alienating the left. In fact, his centrist critics (especially in the AFL-CIO hierarchy) believe Strauss had inadvertently aided New Politics forces by lulling party regulars into complacency.

STRAUSS AND HIS TOP lieutenants long have claimed the regulars would solidly control at Kansas City and that the real threat would come from Gov. George Wallace. So far, however, Wallace's delegate search has proved a fiasco, while impressive successes have been scored by McGovernites, as follows:

Wisconsin: practically a clean sweep for the New Politics. Even Democratic national committeeman Don Peterson, a national founder of the old dump-LBJ movement, was denied a delegate's seat because he had voted for Strauss as national chairman. As in 1972, Gov. Patrick

J. Lucey did not become involved. Iowa: Helped by New Politics paid professional Alan Baron (a native Iowan), McGovernites won 17 out of 20 seats. The left-of-center Communications Workers of America and United Auto Workers helped dominate precinct caucuses while AFL-CIO forces took a licking.

Minnesota: New Politics delegates associated with Rep. Donald Fraser won up to 18 seats against 10 for party leaders linked with Gov. Wendell Anderson. Not wishing to rile the left while seeking reelection, Anderson kept a low profile in delegate selection.

In conservative Wyoming, McGovernites won 6 of 12 seats. In even more conservative Kansas, they won 6 of 16 seats. Ultra-conservative Mississippi remained under domination of a white liberal-black coalition after the national Wallace organization shied away from a confrontation.

THE MOST striking example of New Politics staying power can be found in Maine. All eight delegates are controlled by national committeeman George Mitchell, unsuccessful McGovernite candidate for national chairman after the 1972 convention session May 17; proposing unconditional amnesty for Vietnam draft-dodgers, advocating civil rights for homosexuals, censuring Chairman Strauss.

Even some victories claimed by the regulars are doubtful. In Ohio, McGovernites won only 15 to 18 delegates compared to 25 regulars; but another 20 to 23 liberal delegates are aligned with Gov. John J. Gilligan, viewed by the regulars as an uncertain trump. The McGovernites were wiped out in Massachusetts by a coalition of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's and Boston Mayor Kevin White's forces, but the Kennedysites are viewed with deepest suspicion by party centrists. Last week's primary in Pennsylvania gave the regulars clear-cut domination of the delegation — an important victory. Other indisputable gains by the regulars have come in Tennessee and Texas. The regulars have kept South Carolina, and Wallace retains Alabama.

BUT THIS DOES NOT add up to the centrist movement both Strauss and his AFL-CIO critics believe is essential. Nearly inevitable New Politics victories in the nation's two most populous states, New York (in September) and California (in December) will insure a left-loaded midterm convention. Even if Strauss uses his considerable skill to keep the lid on at Kansas City, the resiliency of grass roots McGovernism will be manifest.

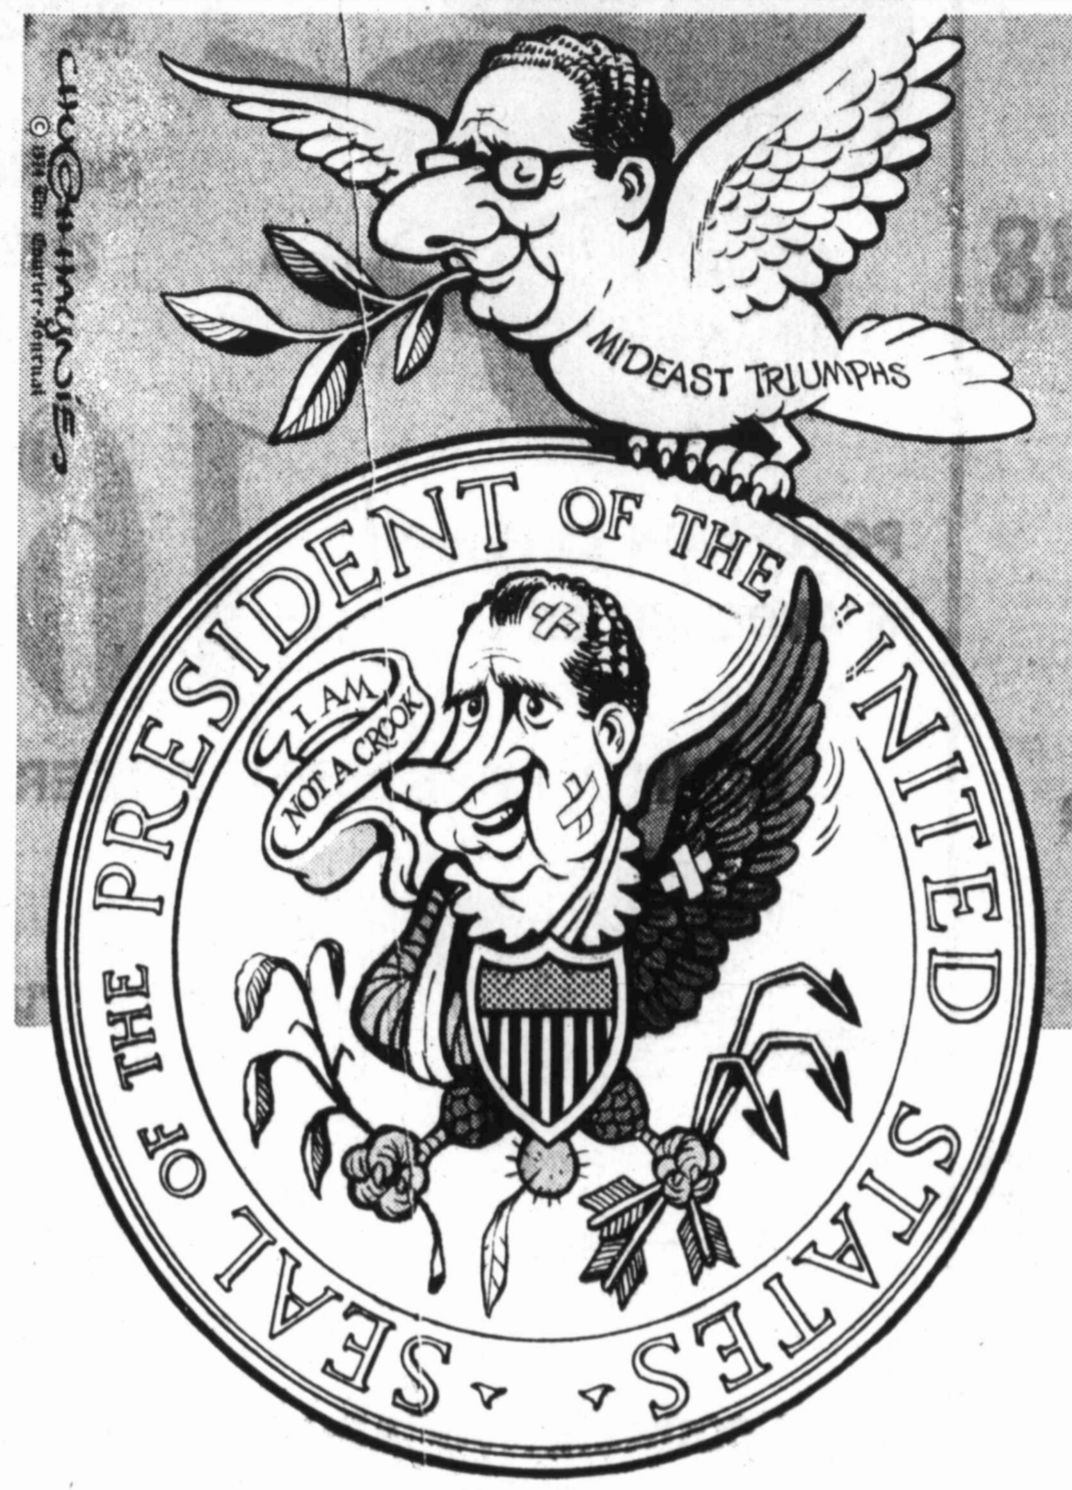

He Had Hard Time Sleeping

WASHINGTON WASHINGTON (AP) — George Washington slept here and there across America, but records show he seldom enjoyed a decent night's rest.

Fleas tormented Washington in a frontier cabin. His straw mattress once caught fire. He paid "extravagantly dear" rent at a West Indian resort, then came down with smallpox. He endured a cramped bunk aboard a crowded ferry.

Eyesore Erased

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The developers of Crown Center, a 50-building urban redevelopment project, cured this city's worst eyesore — a monstrosity known as "signboard Hill" — by draping an elegant hotel on the slope where a forest of billboards once flourished. The hill is now considered one of Kansas City's best tourist sights.

"Yoo-hoo, everybody! Watch the birdie . . . no, no . . . the other birdie up there!"

Is All This Too Much?

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — There exists that ancient argument over just when and at what figure debt becomes excessive.

At the extremes, proponents of one point of view insist that credit is a right to be used freely in quest of a better life, while advocates of the other view maintain it is a sin that leads to financial hell and damnation.

The extremes would agree on one thing—public and private debt in the United States amounts to an almost incomprehensible figure. At the end of 1973 it totaled $2,325 trillion.

On a per capita basis that amounts to roughly $12,000. The net public debt, made up of the obligations of the federal government and its agencies, plus those of state and local governments, rose 6.4 per cent last year to a total of $593 billion, but was far exceeded by private debt.

In that latter category, corporations alone accounted for $1.1 billion of the $1.93 billion total, with the remainder divided among individuals and corporate enterprises. Corporate debt rose 13.6 per cent, individual debt by 11.6.

Consumer debt, mainly of the kind that is paid back in installments, now exceeds $130 billion, compared with $157 billion in 1972 and $138 billion in 1971. But don't forget that inflation alone makes figures look larger.

The biggest load of any individual debt category is accounted for by home mortgages, which amounted to $374 billion at the close of 1973, up $35 billion in a year. But don't forget that the population keeps rising too.

Is all this too much? Those who most enthusiastically defend the present debt position maintain it is still within bounds, that much of it is backed by collateral and earning power, and that borrowers are more sophisticated in using credit.

A good many critics, many informed financial people, are growing more fearful that both families and corporations are borrowing too far into the future.

Bad Taste In Mouth

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Have never seen in your column any explanation for a bad taste in the mouth or throat during the night or early morning. I know this occurs from drinking, but my wife is not a drinker, and I have not had any liquor for 25 years. She is 73 and I am 77.

A rich dessert causes both of us to have this trouble. Sometimes the taste is so strong there is a stinging sensation in the throat. A glass or two of water during the night gives relief, sometimes complete. — W.R.A.

Some abnormalities of taste are not unusual at your age, and it is not unusual either for sweet foods and items like milk and ice cream to leave an after-taste for some folks.

It is significant that you get relief from a glass of water, and that may be one clue to your discomfort. While there can be changes in our "tasting surfaces" as the years go by, there is also the consideration that our bodily functions slow down generally.

The surfaces of our mouths and adjacent tissues are not as physically active and no longer carry away as rapidly any little particles of food which have lodged on them. Remnants of these particles can give you that "dark brown taste."

So get rid of them! Dental floss to clean between teeth as well as the toothbrush at night can help a lot. If you use dentures, clean them well at night.

Remember as well, the tongue's surface is made up of countless tiny crevices in which food particles can lurk, but scraping your tongue with the tooth brush will remove many of them.

they are dry, food particles just stay where they are. They only move along when they are on a moist surface.

Keeping a glass of water on the night stand, so you can take a sip when you rouse up now and then, should help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was taking the pill for four months and stopped. I am not pregnant after 10 more months. Shouldn't I be? My husband had a double hernia about five years ago. Could he be sterile? We're both afraid to go to the doctor to find out what's wrong. Can you help us? — Mrs. B.N.

Nature doesn't necessarily arrange a pregnancy at the drop of a hat. Or should I say at the drooping of the pill? So nothing may be the matter.

The double hernia wouldn't cause sterility — but if you are afraid to go to a doctor for some tests, there's not much more I can say to help you.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

Many words have a variety of meanings. Even the word "faith" which you use so often gets applied to different things. Just what does "faith" mean — as you see it?

It was the philosopher Kant who said, "There is a limit where the intellect fails and breaks down, and this limit is where the questions concerning God, and free will and immortality arise."

I would add, however, that faith is not contrary to our intellect, because Jesus said we were to love God with all our heart, soul and mind. (Matthew 22:37.)

While the dictionary defines faith as an allegiance or fidelity, the Bible lifts the word to higher meaning. Hebrews 11 puts it this way, "Faith . . . is the certainty that what we hope for is waiting for us, even though we cannot see it up ahead."

Paul uses the noun "faith" and the verb "believe" almost 200 times. By it he means that act of man's will which produces a union with God through Christ (Galatians 5:6) — by profession of sin (Romans 10:9) and a commitment to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord (John 3:16).

I hope you've had that experience.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." (Matthew 4:19)

PRAYER: Dear Master, make us instruments for finding those who are in the throes of a real storm and lead them to Thee. Rebuke their turbulence and grant them Thy peace. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

Monopolistic Practices Manipulated Milk Prices?

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer

SILOAM SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The brightly colored milk carton beckons from the supermarket shelf.

Milk is a prime source of nutrition for Americans and most shoppers are not in a position to pass it up like a steak when the price isn't right.

RAW DEAL

And, that price depends on what the dairy farmer is paid for his raw milk.

The federal government and others, who have filed antitrust suits against Associated Milk Producers, Inc. (AMPI) the nation's largest milk cooperative, are seeking evidence about its alleged attempts to manipulate prices.

In this small agriculture center hard by the Oklahoma border, lawyers took testimony from former co-op secretary Dwight L. Morris.

Morris, 55, testified under subpoena last week and explained subsequently in an interview in the presence of his lawyer, that AMPI "overpaid" dairy farmers for manufacturing grade milk in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The co-op, which controls about 12 percent of the nation's milk supply, also "hid" the price of cheese on a key exchange in Green Bay, Wis., to influence federal milk price supports, Morris said.

INFLUENCE

AMPI's moves were made in 1970, he said. In the interview, Morris said

AMPI's maneuvering to increase milk prices was in his opinion within the bounds of federal laws governing cooperatives and federal antitrust statutes. AMPI's court opponents, charging monopolistic practices, are certain to contest this.

Dr. George Mehren, who became AMPI's general manager in 1972, has testified he has no direct knowledge of manipulation of milk prices in Minnesota and Wisconsin in 1970 and, based on his career in and out of government as an agricultural economist, has said it is silly to conclude a co-op could assert such influence.

Besides the antitrust suit, AMPI is the target in Watergate milk fund investigations and, as a heavy contributor, is involved in allegations that the 1971 milk price support increase by President Nixon was a political payoff. The White House has denied the allegations, which now are being investigated by the House Judiciary Committee studying an impeachment resolution.

CAMPAIGN

It may be complicated to the grocery shopper but here is how Morris described the co-op's alleged campaign to increase prices:

AMPI was getting a premium of 50 cents per hundredweight in its southern region. The premium, paid by processors to insure a supply, could be obtained because of the heavy proportion of farmers in the southern region who used AMPI to market their milk.

In some areas in the southern region, AMPI had a complete monopoly, the Justice Department charges.

DAIRY BILL

In the nation's dairy belt in Minnesota and Wisconsin,

AMPI was not so proportionately persuasive.

It is there, however, that the U.S. Department of Agriculture computes monthly a factor called the M-W (Minnesota-Wisconsin) series, a floor price for milk from the farm which sets the trend for milk prices in the rest of the nation.

The Agriculture Department, using a sample of 110 secretly selected milk processors, calculates the average farm milk price.

"We were taking money from the South and paying money to the North to make our shippers (processors) in a better competitive situation," said Morris.

In other words, Morris said AMPI was shifting revenues from its southern region (revenues that included the premium of 50 cents per hundredweight) to its northern region so it could pay farmers there more than the market price. In the antitrust suit, that procedure has been termed "pulsing the price" in the north.

POLITICS

"If we raised the M-W series price... a nickel (per hundredweight) by sending 15 cents into this area, not only we (AMPI) but the whole nation (dairy farmers) would make a nickel," Morris testified.

Asked if the result could be "hundreds of millions of dollars" annually in such increases nationwide, Morris answered, "Yes."

Referring to amounts sent by AMPI from the south to the north to overpay farmers, Morris said: "If we spent a million, we stood to gain a hundred times that much."

"Morris said one of the purposes of influencing the M-W price series upward was political.

"The higher the M-W price series was, the easier it would be for the government to set a higher support... If we got the market price up above what the support level was, the less money the government would have to pay out in support," he said.

BENEFITS

The controversial support order by President Nixon in 1971 was $4.93 per hundredweight, or 27 cents above the prior year's $4.66 support level. Two months prior to Nixon's announcement, the M-W price series figure had risen to $4.83, passing the 1970 government support level by 17 cents.

The staff of the Senate Watergate Committee said in a special report that the Nixon decision "was apparently worth anywhere from $300 million to $700 million in extra income to dairy farmers" and added, "The cost was shared by government and American consumers." This apparently would have been in addition to any direct benefits dairy farmers received from alleged influencing of the M-W series.

Musicians Offer Church Program

The Young Musicians of College Baptist Church will present "It's Cool in the Furnace," a children's musical by Buryl Red, tonight at Midway Baptist Church at 7 p.m., and will again offer it at the Big Spring State Hospital Sunday at 4 p.m.

The group is made up of third through sixth graders. Morgan Wise plays Daniel, and Darrell Horn plays King Nebuchadnezzar. The musical is about Daniel, his three friends, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and how King Nebuchadnezzar, David Norville, minister of music, is the director.

This will be the group's third and fourth performances of the musical. They have performed it recently at Mountain View Lodge and College Baptist Church.

Careful Planning Helps Increase Gas Mileage

"A little knowledge, a bit of patience, and some thoughtful driving will save you a lot of money," said Dewey Ray, a local automobile dealer.

"Let's assume you drive an intermediate-sized car. If you cruise at 50 miles per hour (mph) rather than 70 you can save 4 miles per gallon (mpg) of gasoline. That adds up."

"Steady driving is very important too. Set your speed and stay with it as long as traffic conditions will allow. If you vary your speed by 5 miles per hour in the 50-70 range, it can reduce your economy by 7 to 9 percent."

"Don't drag race away from a corner. It's illegal in many places and it can increase your gas bill by as much as 18 percent everywhere."

"Keep your car clean too. If you have 100 pounds of unnecessary tools or other ballast in the car it will rick you for .2 mpg in city traffic and .1 on the highway."

KEEP CAR IN SHAPE
"Read your Owner's Manual and keep your tires at the correct inflation level. If they're soft they cost you in additional tire wear and 1/2 to 1 mpg of gasoline on the highway."

"Your car must be kept in tune if you expect to make the most of each gasoline dollar that you spend. If the ignition timing is retarded just 3 degrees it can cost 1/4 mile per gallon."

"There are a lot of 'Saving graces' to improve gasoline economies, and you have to remember, and observe, them all. Front wheel alignment is vital to tire life and fuel economy. If the tires have just 1/4" extra toe-in it can cost you 3 miles per gallon at highway speeds."

CHANGES COST
"You can't change the weather but you can be conscious of what it does to economy. Wet pavement can

City Slow To Recognize Value In Old Buildings

By MARI CARPENTER
Recognition of the value of a community's old buildings is a recent development in the United States.

Perhaps it is coming with age and maturity as the United States nears its 200th birthday. We all know that Europe capitalized on old castles, old churches and "old everything" as Americans save money to visit that continent and see all of the old things.

Texas has accepted historic zoning somewhat more slowly than some states, but by early this year, four Texas cities had passed historic preservation ordinances. These were San Antonio, Galveston, Dallas, and Austin. The Laredo city council is currently drafting such an ordinance.

Will Rogers once said that all towns in the United States were pretty much the same except San Francisco, New Orleans, San Antonio and your own home town. Certainly San Francisco, New Orleans and San Antonio have concentrated on preserving their history.

Sometimes, tourists prefer these cities where the history is still being utilized to cities that simply set off a fake historical section such as Williamsport.

Big Spring has preserved its real assets. Big Spring's Chamber of Commerce recently just put out a bumper sticker which reminds us, "Historical Big Spring, Texas."

We have a good museum called the Heritage but it has no authority to preserve old buildings or images of the early days here.

Who is preserving West Texas history? Actually very few. Fort Stockton has acted to protect the old Annie Riggs Hotel. Pecos has preserved an old hotel and saloon near the railroad. Kermit has a wooden oil rig in the city park. Lamesa has a museum in an old home in the north section of the city.

Colorado City has made a real effort to salvage something from its past and probably has more historical markers than other West Texas cities. Among other things, it has kept its old opera house.

How many historic homes or business buildings or old hotels or anything similar are left in historical Big Spring? And when will they be gone? Is there any way to keep them?

The answers may be slow in coming, but at least a few Texas cities are starting to try to hang on to their history and to their identity.

Otherwise, we will all become one big long row of hamburger stands, filling stations, motels and truck stops. What do we have to offer in Big Spring? Maybe, sometimes the old buildings should be considered before new ones are constructed. The future is in the past, many towns are beginning to discover.

Bobbie Gentry's Show Watched?

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS tonight is showcasing the efforts of Bobbie Gentry a fine singer; Frank Peppiatt, a skilled writer; and Jack Elliott and Allyn Ferguson, two gifted arrangers.

CBS calls their collaboration "Bobbie Gentry's Happiness Hour." Wrong title. This show is a wretched, overproduced mess that somehow manages to waste the considerable talents of all concerned.

The first of four CBS variety series scheduled this summer, it'll be with us four weeks. If tonight's sample is what Miss Gentry & Co. have in mind, July will come none too soon.

I herewith cross my fingers and hope the program improves, if only because I've always admired Miss Gentry both as a singer and as a songwriter ever since hearing her "Ode to Billy Joe" a few years ago.

She's always struck me as a good performer who'd be a great one if she'd only just consider the virtues of simplicity.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠. Some hands require a miracle if declarer is to succeed at his contract. On others not even a miracle is enough — the opposition must contribute as well.

Six hearts cannot be described as a dignified contract. North must take most of the blame, for there was no valid reason for him to continue when South could do no more than bid four hearts over the jump raise. South, too, might have been content to suppress his diamond feature in view of his weak trump holding.

West led the queen of spades, and the sight of dummy did not fill declarer's heart with joy. It seemed that two trump losers were unavoidable. After some thought, however, South devised a scheme whereby an unsuspecting defender might be lured into giving him some assistance.

Dummy's ace of spades was played at trick one, East followed with the three and South with the deuce. Declarer cashed dummy's jack of clubs, led a club to the queen and continued with the king of clubs. He was trying to create the impression that he wanted to discard dummy's spade loser, and West rose to the bait. He ruffed the king of clubs with a low trump, and this was all declarer needed. He returned to his hand with the king of diamonds and led a trump. Whether or not West rose with the ace, declarer could limit his trump losers to one.

West could have defeated the slam either by refusing to ruff the third club or by ruffing with the ace, for then East would still have a trump trick. Was there any clue to the correct play?

Yes, if West trusts his partner. East followed the first trick with the lowest spade possible. If he held the king, he would have encouraged by playing a high spade. Thus, West should have realized that declarer was not trying to discard a spade and that, therefore, his play had a distinctly fishy odor.

Tighter Lids On Medical School Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says it is instituting tighter controls to prevent "unwise use" of federal aid to medical and dental students.

HEW responded Monday to a General Accounting Office report disclosing that students applying for loans were allowed to list among their needs such things as an abortion for a girl friend and fodder for a spouse's horse.

The GAO also contended that nearly $300 million in federal loans and grants under the Health Professions Student Assistance Program (HSSAP) has not significantly increased the supply of doctors and dentists.

"Although the number of students accepted by medical and dental schools has increased and the quality has improved since HSSAP began, it does not appear to have been a significant factor in these increases," the congressional watchdog agency said.

In comments appended to the report, HEW disagreed with the conclusion that the aid program hadn't achieved its objectives.

However, the department said it "accepts as valid the criticism for relying too heavily on the schools of medicine and dentistry to administer the student assistance program."

The GAO study investigated administration of the program over a nine-year period ending in 1973, when it was reorganized with more emphasis on regional control.

According to the report, a student at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Tex., "was allowed a $1,000 health profession loan to pay for his girl friend's abortion."

A footnote added: "After he discussed this loan with school officials, it was cancelled. The school awarded the student a replacement loan from a private source."

Nuptials Held Friday In Church Sanctuary

WESTBROOK (SC) — Miss Joyce Mariam McKenney and Robert Milton Chambers were married Friday at 8 p.m. in Westbrook Baptist Church with the Rev. Gene Farley officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex T. McKenney are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde M. Chambers are the bridegroom's parents.

Branched candelabra were decorated with greenery and pastel-shaded daisies; while spring flowers were placed on a gold and white pedestal.

The bride's gown was of organza with Venice, pearly lace overlaid on the empire bodice. The lace fashioned a high-rise neckline and long sleeves and was repeated in the trim of the A-line skirt and chapel train. A lace Camelot hat held her chapel-length veil. She carried a nosegay of roses, babies'-breath and daisies.

Miss Nell Shackelford and Miss Sue Pierce, vocalists, were accompanied by Mrs. Charles Ranne, pianist, and Mrs. Ozelle Miller, organist.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donnie W. Hale, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a mint green chalet over matching satin dress that featured a bodice, collar and cuffs overlaid with lace. Her nosegay was of mint green carnations and daisies.

MRS. ROBERT M. CHAMBERS

Miss Martha Sparks was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Linda Ranne, Miss Debbie Webb and Miss Kim Sullivan. Their dresses were identical to the honor matron's but in colors of blue, pink, yellow and orchid.

Clyde M. Chambers was best man, and groomsmen were Robert French, Charles Stevens, Tommy Stevens and William Bauer. Cousins of the couple, Gregg McKenney and Jackie Chambers, were ushers.

At the reception in the fellowship hall the bride's table was centered with a cake featuring flowers between the tiers. The bridegroom's table was covered with a blue gingham cloth with a floral arrangement accented with blue votive candles.

Serving refreshments were Mrs. William Bauer and Mrs. Robert French, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mrs. R. D. Hall, Miss Brenda Matlock and Miss Eva Duran.

Lubbock will be the home of the couple when they return from a trip to Del Rio and Saltillo, Mexico. The bride plans to enroll in Texas Tech to study interior design. The bridegroom is employed by Higgins Consulting Engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Chambers hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Villa Inn in Colorado City.

WWI Vets, Auxiliary Ceremony

World War I Barracks 1474 and its Auxiliary held officer installation ceremonies Saturday in the Kentwood Center. Mrs. Mary Forrest of Lubbock, district auxiliary president, installed the women's slate, and Marian Ireland, barracks commander, presided for the men.

Mrs. Allen Hull, outgoing auxiliary president, introduced guests from Lubbock, and others were Mrs. Fannie McGlaun, Mrs. Ona Tyner and Mrs. Vera Couch.

The new auxiliary leaders are Mrs. Marshall Brown, president; Mrs. Esta Lee Mullican, vice president; Mrs. Bob Wren, secretary; and Mrs. Mary Brown, treasurer. Delegates were named to the state convention in Irving July 23-26.

Plans were made to provide cakes for the Veterans Administration Hospital June 24.

A luncheon was served to approximately 75 members and guests at tables decorated with red, white and blue streamers and miniature flags. The register table was covered with a white lace cloth and accented with red and white flowers.

The next regular meeting will be July 6 at the center.

Types Of Clubwomen Viewed By Speaker

"Just as there is a pill for every age, there is a club for every woman," said Mrs. Clyde Angel as she introduced her book review, "Ladies, Please Come to Order," for Rosebud Garden Club's May meeting at Big Spring Country Club.

The book, written by Peggy Cameron King, takes a light-hearted look at women's clubs, of which there are over 100,000 in the United States. Advising her listeners to "get out of that rut, take inventory and improve your mental or physical being," Mrs. Angel described the types of clubs active in most communities, as well as pitfalls which may lie in wait for the aspiring clubwoman.

Highlighting the review were amusing capsule descriptions of typical clubwomen.

Mrs. J. W. Kuykendall, retiring president, introduced the guests, including Mrs. Angel, Mrs. Weir Musselman, Mrs. J. B. Knox, Mrs. Jo Bright and Mrs. Stanley A. Lewis.

Mrs. Knox installed officers for 1974-75, including Mrs. Neil Spencer, president; Mrs. G. P. Morrison, vice president; Mrs. Tommy Hart, secretary; Mrs. S. J. Kamm, treasurer; and Mrs. Kuykendall, parliamentarian.

Committee chairmen will be Mrs. Morrison, program and membership; Mrs. Odell Womack, yearbook;

Mrs. L. B. Edwards, scrapbook; Mrs. Kuykendall, by-laws; Mrs. J. F. Sanders, telephone; Mrs. Clyde Angel, book; Mrs. Jesse Crane, Mrs. Womack and Mrs. Kamm, garden therapy; and Mrs. Womack, civic beautification. Mrs. Tommy Hart will serve as council delegate, and delegates to the district meeting will be Mrs. Womack, Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Edwards.

The club will resume meetings in September.

Chuck Wagon Party Repeat Is Assured

"People are still commenting on what a good time they had at the first annual Chuck Wagon Party," said Mrs. Gerre Atwell, curator of the Heritage Museum. "There was Tom Castle and his western music makers, dancers from the Big Spring Squares, finger-licking barbecue and sour dough biscuits. What more could one need to have a good time?"

According to Daryl Hohertz, museum president, and Mrs. Atwell, plans are already in the making for next year's party.

Two out-of-towners (museum supporters from early pioneer families) sent regrets about not being able to attend the party. They were Miss Maydell Alderman of Ohio and Mrs. Ethel Porter Brown, Dallas.

Newest museum memberships are those of Miss Edith Hatchett and Mr. and Mrs. T. Willard Neel.

The exhibit, "Shine on Big Spring," is still drawing visitors. Before school closed, there were 19 students from Lakeview and 46 from Cedar Crest who toured the facility.

Summer tourists visiting the museum were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roley, San Antonio. She is the former Maedele Birdwell, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Birdwell, early pioneers. Also, there was T. J. Milligan of Chattanooga, Tenn., who was visiting his sister, Mrs. P. W. Malone.

Group Meets In Comanche Park

A group of friends, neighbors and relatives, all of whom are former residents of Central Texas, held a reunion and ice cream supper at Birdwell Park Saturday. Members of the group, who live here now, are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Pollie Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Brummett and her sister, Mrs. Lottie Crews; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Witte, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wright.

Grady Tindol worded the invocation, and it was announced that the 1975 reunion will be the first Saturday in June.

Who Cares?

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When Dad asked his 17-year-old daughter what size bra she wore, she told him it was none of his business. Her mother agreed with her, and you sided with both of them. Dad worked for 17 years to provide the food that went into the tissue which created his daughter's breasts, but it's none of his business what size they are. CRAZY!

I deem it impudent for the daughter and her mother to even question Dad's right to this information. As long as he's supporting her, every part of her development is his business.

Boys get too big for their britches, and girls get too big for their brassieres when they can get away with telling Dad that something is none of his business.

I'll bet you'll hear from plenty of readers on this.

FRANK IN OREGON

DEAR FRANK: You bet right. And the mail is running 20 to one against me!

Let's set the record straight, Frank. When Dad asked his budding daughter what size bra she wore, nobody told Dad it was "none of his business."

Daughter became embarrassed and declined to answer. Mother sided with Daughter saying she didn't think it was anything Dad had to know, and I took the distasteful side.

Read on for a letter from a like-minded physician who said it better than I:

DEAR ABBY: May I say that the father who felt he had a right to know his teenage daughter's bra size was out of line?

My daughters are 18 and 20, and I have no idea what size bras they wear, and I couldn't care less.

I think that father should have been more concerned with his daughter's feelings than the size of her bra.

OLD-FASHIONED FATHER

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the letter from the woman who recommends sending back "junk mail" so the company must pay the return postage and will remove her name from their mailing list.

I hope you don't agree with this policy, Abby. My husband and I started a small business, producing a high quality item, well worth its price. We can't afford national advertising, so we use direct mail advertising to inform people of our product and give them a chance to examine it before they buy.

On the few occasions when people have returned our envelopes stuffed with extra paper, I am more saddened than angry. It shows so much hostility and aggression. If the recipient isn't interested in the product, why not just throw the mail away?

I hope you feel that this is important enough for your column. It means a great deal to the small business people who rely on direct mail for their sales. Thank you.

STRUGGLING DEAR STRUGGLING: And thanks for giving me the opportunity to open a few million eyes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LEFT OUT": Don't pressure him to meet his family. Even though he is separated from his wife, he is still married. Obviously, he doesn't want his family to meet YOU.

Speaker Tells Style Trends

"The Total Look," a program on fashions, was given by Miss Sherry Mullin, county extension agent, for last week's meeting of Center Point Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. C. T. Lindley, 1405 E. 19th.

According to the speaker, less clothing is worn in this era than in earlier centuries. The trend of the fashions now is as in the early 1930's and 40's, with styles showing a repeat in color and lines. Most fabrics are of polyester or other man-made fibers, or are blended to make drip-dry fabrics.

"To be well dressed now, one looks to the accessories such as jewelry," said Miss Mullin. "The current favorite is scarves, which are worn in many different ways."

Mrs. M. R. Garrett completed the program by discussing clothing trims.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Wow, I know a world champion. I mean, a real champion days this week, according to an announcement made today in study hall at Uvalde Junior High, knocked out Koichi Wajima of Japan Tuesday and won the world junior middleweight championship. Amazing.

You might not think that's so impressive, since you probably never heard of either one before today, but I think it's great. Old Oscar: Wow.

I can remember the old days, circa 1965, when Oscar was in Golden Gloves. That's when he earned his nickname — "Shotgun" — because he was always knocking guys out. When he turned professional it was for nickels and dimes at first, fighting in bull rings in Mexico, mainly. Then he made it to San Antonio and became the most popular draw there in a hurry.

I wrote a story about Oscar for "Boxing Illustrated," a publication not exactly up to par with "Time" or "Playboy," but a definite weight-packer in boxing circles. It told all about his parents were among the thousands of migrant workers who traveled north each winter to pick beets, and along the way lived a generally miserable existence.

Oscar was so tiny when he was born his mother carried him around in a shoe box. A little over four pounds, I think. But he grew up in the fields, and decided in a hurry that a sore back and blisters all over his hands wasn't the kind of life for him.

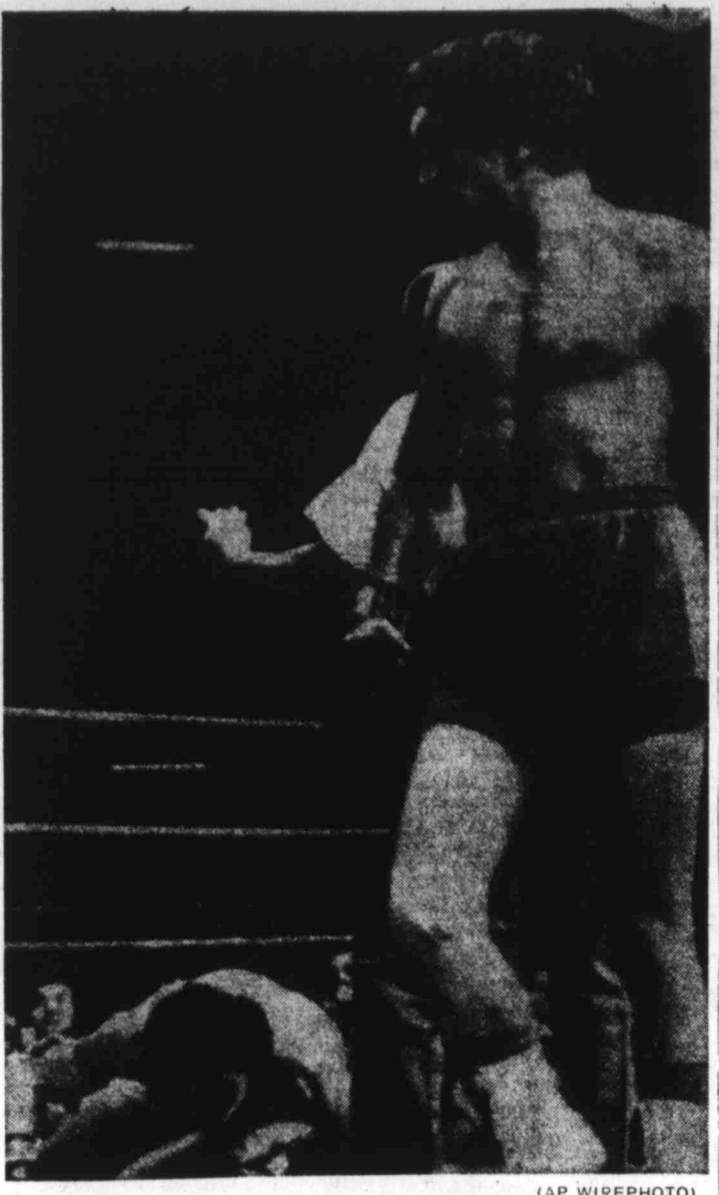

Oscar had it hard, and he overcame a lot of tough problems, but those weren't the only things that made you like him. He was always strong, but he was never mean and didn't go around picking on little guys like me. I mean he was really FRIENDLY, for Pete's sake. I also liked him because he brought a service station in Uvalde with some of his winnings, and he sold me a set of tires at a discount, although that's probably not what you'd call pertinent to this story.

Watching Oscar fight in San Antonio was really an experience. Once I was covering a fight he had, taking pictures and all, and I got so excited I forgot to take pictures. He knocked a guy over the ropes, getting him all tangled up, and I was so pumped up some guy had to punch me to remind me what a terrific picture it would make.

Everyone in Uvalde suffered with Oscar when he lost, which wasn't too often. And if there was ever anything shady about a defeat — which there was once in New Orleans — everyone became irate. Oscar just sort of took everything in stride, though, like he always knew he'd eventually be where he is today. He just knew he was too good not to make it.

The first time Oscar made the Top Ten of Ring Magazine, I had the privilege of telling him about it. Or at least I thought it would be. Oscar said something like "Oh, really?" and went back to fixing flats or putting water in radiators or something. He had just been recognized as one of the ten best fighters in his class in the world, and he got about as excited as if he'd just finished skipping his rope a hundred times.

But then, he knew it would be just a matter of time before he was No. 1. No more picking vegetables, sleeping in the back of cars and waking up hungry. World Champions don't live that way...

Aaron Home Run King; No Doubt About It

By The Associated Press

Hank Aaron has become, once and for all, major league baseball's all-time leading home run hitter.

Aaron slugged the 16th grand slam homer of his career — a National League record — against the Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday night, leading the Atlanta Braves to a 7-3 triumph.

It was the 731st home run of his career, counting regular season, post-season and All-Star games, breaking a tie with Ruth for the all-time lead.

"Jeez, I thought I broke the record last month," said Aaron, with a smile. Then he added, "Now they can start interviewing the guy who is chasing me."

CALM IS SOUGHT — The Atlanta superstar said he hoped things would calm down a little now, and he could get back to thinking about baseball.

"My concentration hasn't been good," he said. "I've been thinking about celebrations and speeches and how to talk to the politicians."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets 6-3 in 10 innings, the Montreal Expos topped the Houston Astros 5-0, the San Francisco Giants defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-0 and the San Diego Padres nipped the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

"I hit a slider, up and in," said Aaron of his grand slam off Eddie Watt, which highlighted a six-run seventh inning rally that broke the game open for Atlanta.

The homer gave Aaron the National League career grand slam record with 16, one more than Willie McCovey. However, he's still a good distance behind the Lou Gehrig's major league mark of 23.

Tuesday night's blast was Aaron's 10th homer of the season. He has only 29 hits this season but has driven in 29 runs.

Cesar Geronimo drilled a tie-breaking two-run triple in the 10th inning, sparking Cincinnati to victory over the Mets.

Expos 5, Astros 0 — Ernie McAnally pitched a five-hitter, struck out six and walked just two as Montreal stopped Houston.

Giants 5, Cards 3 — Homers by Gary Matthews and Ed Goodson and standout relief pitching by Elias Sosa carried San Francisco past St. Louis. Lou Brock and Reggie Smith homered for the Cards.

Dodgers 5, Pirates 0 — Tom Paciorek slammed a bases-loaded triple to back the five-hit pitching of Tommy John and lead Los Angeles past Pittsburgh. It was John's ninth victory in 10 decisions. The first National League pitcher to win nine games this season.

Padres 6, Cubs 5 — Pinch hitter Clarence Gaston's eighth inning homer lifted San Diego past Chicago, ending the Cubs' nine-game losing streak.

American League scores: Oakland 4-1, Detroit 0-4; Kansas City 8, Baltimore 0; Texas beat Cleveland 9-0 on a forfeit; Milwaukee 4, California 3; Boston 4, Minnesota 3 in 11 innings, and Chicago 9, New York 2.

VFD Smothers Lions By 18-12

The Volunteer Fire Department piled up all its runs in the first four innings and then turned back a Lion rally for an 18-12 Coahoma Freshman League baseball victory Monday.

Keith Kohanek, Billy Rorick and winning pitcher Gary Paige stroked three hits apiece as the VFD peppered 14 safeties off losing pitcher Ragan Brooks. Austin Hale also had two hits in the win.

For the Lions, Mike Hale and Sam Buchanan stroked two apiece and Phillip Richey had a triple. Both teams stand 2-1.

Beer Night Turns Into Drunken Riot

CLEVELAND (AP) — "It's the closest I've ever seen anybody come to getting killed in my more than 25 years in baseball," Texas Ranger Manager Billy Martin said.

The Cleveland Indians and the Rangers tried to play baseball Tuesday night, but the fans ran on the field, threw beer bottles, firecrackers, chairs, welded knives and started an uncontrollable melee in the ninth inning.

The Indians forfeited the game to the Rangers. The second game of the three-game series is scheduled for tonight.

It was 10-cent beer night at Municipal Stadium. The Rangers came to town with the memories of a player brawl that took place in Texas last Wednesday. Some 25,134 fans turned out on a warm lakefront night.

STREAKER APPEARED

Early in the game young fans started running on the field between innings and were cheered by the crowd. Occasionally a firecracker went off. In sixth inning a streaker appeared.

The number of people running on the field increased each inning, and the Indians kept narrowing the Rangers 5-1 lead.

In the sixth inning the Tribe made it 5-3, and Martin removed his bullpen crew from the right field area because of the number of missiles being thrown.

Firecrackers were thrown into the Rangers' dugout and Martin paced back and forth with rage on his face.

In the ninth inning the Indians tied the score at 5-5 and had bases loaded, when fans again poured out of the right field stands and started harassing Ranger outfielder Jeff Burroughs.

"They grabbed at my glove, took my hat," Burroughs said. "I tried to call time, but nobody heard me. I was getting scared because I felt the riot psychology."

The Rangers came off the bench brandishing baseball bats and headed for right field, led by Martin.

"I know it was silly for us to do that," Martin said. "But Jeff was out there all by himself. I saw knives and chairs and other things. We just couldn't let our teammate get beat up."

After the Rangers left the bench, the Indians came out of the dugout to help their baseball opponents.

"You have to realize that the only thing I had to defend myself with was my fists," Burroughs said. "I was happy to get some help. And I thank the Indians for coming out to help me."

There were skirmishes all over the field between ballplayers and fans.

"I'll say one thing," Martin added. "That fan we got a hold of out there got the hell kicked out of him."

Nester Chylak, the chief umpire on the field, was hit on the head with a chair and had his hand cut.

"WE WERE SCARED" "We were so scared out there we had made plans for our escape," Chylak said.

"It was 500-to-one odds, and we could have gotten killed out there very easily," Chylak continued. "I saw weapons out there, and I'm sure the only other place you would see something like this happen would be in a zoo."

Chylak said he waited until all the ballplayers were off the field before calling it a forfeit so none of them would be jeopardized. The forfeit gave the Rangers a 9-0 victory, but all the records count.

"I think the police did a good job in trying to control the crowd," Chylak said. "We tried to take the path of least resistance to get out of there, but we didn't know what it was when the thing started."

Chylak was raging in the umpires' dressing room.

"I can't judge whether it was beer night or the fight in Texas that started the whole thing," Chylak said. "We didn't even know about the fight in Texas. We were in California at the time. All I know is that everything that happened here tonight will be told in full to the commissioner."

American League President Lee MacPhail said there will be no more beer nights in Cleveland in the foreseeable future.

FANS TREATED

The Indians had three more planned for the season. A meeting of Indian executives were scheduled early today to discuss the situation.

Police said five persons were arrested.

Hospitals reported seven fans were treated for minor injuries.

Frazier Says Foe Worried

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Former world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, denying complaints by Jerry Quarry that he fights dirty, claims Quarry must be getting worried about their June 17 fight at Madison Square Garden in New York.

"Imagine him talking about me hitting with my elbows and head when it was the punches that finished him off five years ago," said Frazier before a workout Tuesday at his private gym here.

"How come he brings up this foolishness now?" Frazier asked. "He never mentioned it before. No way I could fight the way he says."

Quarry, training in McAfee, N.J., had charged that films of his 1969 fight showed Frazier had used his elbows and head improperly before winning on a seventh-round knockout in a scheduled 15-rounder.

"I'll take care of it my own way," said Quarry about responding to whatever fighting style Frazier uses in the return bout.

Barber Strikes A Blow For Vets In Sectional

By The Associated Press

Former PGA champion Jerry Barber qualified Tuesday for the U.S. Open Golf championship and he had to beat his assistant to do it.

The 58-year-old Barber won the last spot in the San Francisco sectional qualifying as the final 53 spots in the Open were filled at seven sites across the nation.

Barber was one of seven pros who qualified at the par-71, 6,307-yard San Francisco Golf Club. He defeated Charles Montalban, his assistant at Los Angeles' Griffith Park Golf Club.

Barber had a par five on the first playoff hole. Montalban took a six when he three-putted.

Tom Storey, a former singer and dancer who now serves as head pro at Las Vegas' Fairway to the Stars Golf Club, shot a 36-hole total of 141 to lead the qualifying at San Francisco.

The U.S. Open will be played June 13-16 at Winged Foot Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. Twenty players in the 150-man field including defending Open champion Johnny Miller, were exempt from qualifying.

DeWitt Weaver, 34, a tour veteran whose biggest victory was in the 1971 U.S. Match Play championship, coasted to a seven-under-par 137 to pace qualifiers at Atlanta. He fired rounds of 68 and 69.

Denny Lyons turned in a second-round 70 and was the only golfer to break par as he led six qualifiers at Pittsburgh.

Lyons, who finished 20th in last year's Open, fired a 143 over the 7,006-yard, par-72 course. Also qualifying at Pittsburgh was 51-year-old former U.S. Amateur Champion William Campbell of Huntington, W.Va.

Andy Nusbaum, a former tour regular who now is club pro at Siwanoy in Bronxville, N.Y., shot a three-under-par 140 to pace sectional qualifying at Deal, N.J.

Kansas City pro Bob Stone, 43, shot a one-over par 145 to lead the sectional qualifying at St. Louis.

George Knudson, a tour player from Toronto, Canada, shot a three-under-par 138 to lead qualifiers at Wayne, Pa., near Philadelphia. Tour pro Bert Vancey of Tallahassee, Fla., finished second with 72-70-142. Mike Reaser, of Seattle; Chris Piggot, Chevy Chase, Md.; and Nate Starks, of St. Petersburg, Fla., won the last three spots in a five-man playoff.

Three Michigan golfers, led by pro Larry Mancour of Flint, qualified for Open spots in sectionals held at Birmingham, Mich.

IT'S A FORFEIT — Umpire Lester Chylak informs Texas Ranger Manager Billy Martin that the hometown Cleveland Indians will forfeit the Tuesday night baseball game because of the uncontrollable fans. The fans ran onto the field and fought with the ballplayers in the ninth inning. Chylak was hit with a chair and cut his hand during the melee. Chylak said that he and the other umpires were so scared "that we had planned an escape route."

Seattle Is Granted 28th Franchise In Pro Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle is the newest member of the growing National Football League family and Commissioner Pete Rozelle promises more action, some of it possibly in present NFL cities that also have fledgling World Football League clubs.

Seattle got the 28th NFL franchise, carrying with it the healthy initiation tab of $16 million, from the owners Tuesday, and joins Tampa, added in April. Both teams are scheduled to begin playing in 1976 although that timetable could be moved up one year, according to Rozelle.

Seattle was selected over Phoenix, Honolulu and Memphis but the losers aren't out of the NFL picture yet. The commissioner said their bids will remain under consideration.

"I wouldn't expect another city to be added this week," said Rozelle, but he added the expansion committee would explore it.

"Future expansion is a totally open deck," he said. "We are not restricting ourselves from going into any city, including current NFL cities. There are no limitations on the cities considered. New York, Chicago and Los Angeles were on our original list as NFL cities to be considered for additional franchises." "Two of those cities have franchises in the WFL and the third, Los Angeles, is home base for the WFL's Southern California club.

"Going from 28 to 30 clubs is probably the next logical step," said Rozelle. Asked if he would accept Seattle, the lone city recommended by the expansion committee, was not unanimous.

He said the Seattle and Tampa franchises might not be placed in any conference at once. "We're keeping our options open," he said. "We might float them for a year or two. Alignment is a tedious problem."

No ownership decision was announced. Like Tampa, Seattle interests may now formally apply to the league for the franchise.

State Bar Moves To Cancel License Of Duval Politico

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP) — Longtime Duval County political leader George B. Parr declined comment Tuesday on the Texas Bar Association's attempt to take away his license to practice law.

For Parr, 73, a salty-talking South Texan, the motion to suspend his license and later disbar him was the latest legal hurdle thrown his way after decades of control in county politics.

TAX EVASION

The motion was lodged against both Parr and a nephew, Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

The elder Parr was convicted in federal court at Corpus Christi earlier this year on charges of federal income tax evasion. He was sentenced to five years in prison, given five years' probation and fined $14,000.

Judge Parr was convicted last month in federal court at San Antonio on perjury charges. He was sentenced to 15 years in prison and fined $60,000 to pay the cost of his prosecution.

Both convictions are being appealed.

DON'T KNOW

The bar association complaint asks District Court Judge O. P. Carrillo to suspend law licenses of the two pending the appeals and to disbar them if the appeals fail.

"I don't know a thing on earth about it, and if I did I wouldn't comment," the elder

Parr told reporters Tuesday. Parr, wearing a straw hat over his glistening, sun-burned bald head, talked to newsmen just prior to a meeting of directors of the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District, a controversial water district prominently mentioned in both trials. George B. Parr is paid $1,000 a month as legal adviser to the district.

Leadoff Witness Might Be Sheriff

DALLAS (AP) — Sheriff Clarence Jones was due to be the leadoff witness today as a court of inquiry into bail bond operations resumes—if two other witnesses fail to appear.

The inquiry recessed last Friday after four days of testimony.

Lawyer John Coil and former bondsman Martin Tuenbow have been summoned to testify. No subpoena had been served on Tuenbow late Tuesday.

Coil appeared in court and was sworn, but refused to testify because his lawyer was not present.

NOT PRESENT

Coil holds the charter in the Methodist Religious and Educational Foundation. Testimony last week indicated Tuenbow purchased a 30-acre tract of land in Hunt County from the foundation and then had it certified by Hunt County Sheriff Wayne Green as surety for the writing of bonds in Dallas County.

Green testified he certified the land at $180,000. The deed to the land indicates Tuenbow purchased it from the foundation for "$10 and other good and valuable considerations."

Although Coil was sworn Friday, special prosecutor Whitley Sessions said attempts to reach him since had been unsuccessful. His lawyer said Coil would not appear today because he had not been notified the court was reconvened.

Registration Can Be Taken For Jamboree

Registrations for the Junior Howard College auditorium on June 27 when trophies, gold-embossed blue ribbons and diplomas will be presented to the multiple winners.

Preliminary events and judging will be scheduled to include baby health examinations, talent auditions, a baby beauty judging, and an official judging for the talent entrants.

Arraign Suspect In Kidnap Caper

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Miss Hinkel and another Oakland woman outside a restaurant in Stockton, and then releasing the other woman before making Miss Hinkel begin what authorities say was a 38-hour involuntary drive to Fort Worth.

The suspect, appearing calm but wearing the rumpled clothes he had been wearing since last weekend, told Rankin he has spent some nine years in the Army—serving much of that time in Vietnam—has not had a job since April 1, has no money or property, home address or plans for the future.

Martin faces a second hearing before Rankin at 9:30 a.m. Monday, and is expected to be extradited to California soon.

Then, Asst. U.S. Atty. Conard Florence said Martin may also be wanted in California on a burglary warrant.

Rankin asked Martin if he was aware of the warrants.

"The only one I know about is the assault ca-e," responded Martin. "I didn't know about the burglary."

Martin is accused of forcing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry P. Smith III, a New York Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, says he is seeking appointment as a congressional liaison officer with the United Nations.

Smith, who is not seeking reelection, said he has been "working gently" toward obtaining the U.N. post after he leaves Congress.

The appointment can be made either through the U.N. or through the U.S. State Department.

A WARM THANK YOU FROM MIKE EZZELL

Democratic Candidate for State Representative, Dist. 63

I am both humbled and honored by the vote given me in the Democratic runoff primary last Saturday, I certainly respect the views of those who did not, as well as those, who did support me.

Throughout my campaign, I personally have sought to conduct a positive campaign on the issues. This is what I will do as the Democratic nominee, and thus hope to merit the support not only of all Democrats, but all those voters who want a dedicated and energetic representative for all the 63rd Legislative District. To all who so kindly considered my candidacy, I express my most sincere thanks.
