HST Calls For Federal Aids To Education

By ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

WINTER PARK, Fla., March 8 — President Truman today called for a program of federal scholarship aid "as a bulwark against the acids of Fascism and Communism."

"Neither of these totalitarian forms of government," the President declared, "can survive examination by educated men and women."

Mr. Truman addressed a special convocation of Rollins college at which he received an honorary degree of doctor of humanities.

Democracy Defended

The Chief Executive returned by plane to his vacation retreat at the Key West submarine base where he arrived at 4:20 p.m.

The President said that "some people make a travesty" of the word "democracy." He added:

"That is one of the greatest words in the history of the English language, and it should stand for just exactly what we mean when we say democracy, and not for a counterfeit."

Mr. Truman declared that "the intelligence of the people in the embattled democracies of Europe, who live in the front of the iron curtain, is the world's best hope for peace." He said:

"We are working for peace. We want peace. We pray for peace—all the time in the world.

Calls For Federal Aid

"And to attain that peace, we must all learn how to live together peaceably, and do to our neighbors as we would have our neighbors do to us.

"Then we will have a happy world."

The President called for federal "steps" to assure the citizens of the United States the finest possible education by providing scholarships in the country's institutions of higher learning.

"Education," the President said, "is our first line of defense." He added:

"In the conflict of principle and policy which divides the world today America's hope—and the hope of the world—is in education.

"Through education alone can we combat the tenets of Communism. The unfettered soul of free men offers a spiritual deffense unconquered and unconquerable."

Mr. Truman said that "Con-

Second Bill For Roads Approved

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—The second rural roads bill within 24 hours was recommended for House passage tonight.

By unanimous voice vote, the House Highways and Roads committee approved Senator Neveille H. Colson's bill providing $15 million a year for hard-surface secondary roads.

Only House endorsement is now needed to send the measure to the governor. He is for the bill.

No Opposition Voiced

The action came close on the heels of committee blessing for a gas tax bill to build the "last mile" type of rural road.

Mrs. Colson's plan—substituted for consideration in place of a similar bill by Rep. Dolph Briscoe—would expand the present farm-to-market road building program.

There was no opposition voiced against the proposal. Briscoe recommended substitution of the Senate version to speed the construction program into effect.

The bill calls for creation of a special rural roads fund. Monthly allotments of $1,250,000 would be made to the fund from the state's unallocated clearance fund for the exclusive purpose of building ru-

British Monarch To Undergo Operation For Arterial Ailment

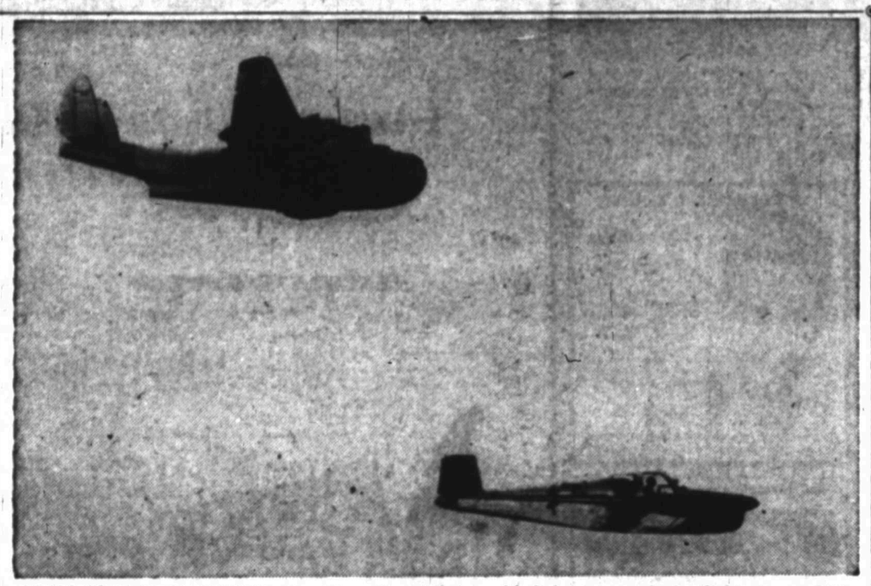

LONDON, March 8 (AP)—King George VI will undergo an operation soon in the hope of relieving an arterial ailment of the legs.

Buckingham palace said the operation will be a lumbar sympathectomy, or the severing of certain nerves to improve the blood supply to the king's right foot.

The operation is not regarded as serious and the decision to perform it does not indicate any sudden development in the king's condition, court correspondents were told. The news was announced tonight in a palace bulletin signed by six doctors. They said the king's general health is excellent.

By LEONARD LEDDINGTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

TETERBORO, N. J., March 8 — Lanky Bill Odom broke the world's non-stop distance record for light planes today by stretching $75 worth of gasoline from Honolulu to Teterboro—a distance of 5,000 miles.

"It was easy," the clean shaven, immaculately dressed Odom said. He made the remark as he stepped from his single-engined plane for the first time after leaving Hickam field, Oahu, T. H., 36 hours before.

The 29-year-old former World War II ferry pilot glided his tiny plane onto a runway at Teterboro airport at 11:06 a.m. (CST). A minute earlier he had soared past the control tower to record the official end of the flight.

Second Try Successful

Teterboro is four miles west of New York City, across the Hudson river.

It was Odom's second attempt to come non-stop from Honolulu to Teterboro in his 185-horsepower Beechcraft Bonanza, "Waikiki Beech."

Bad weather forced an end to that first flight in January. Odom landed at Oakland, Calif., some 3,000 miles short of his goal but still bettering the old record set by two Russians in 1937.

Odom's distance on the first flight was 2,401 statue miles.

Worried Only Twice

"I feel just like a business man coming home on an easy trip," he told the crowd as he stepped from his plane.

Senate Group Okays Final Draft Of Pact

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations committee gave informal approval today to the final draft of the North Atlantic security pact.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said the treaty will be signed by the participating nations in about two weeks and the text will be made public at that time.

Nations expected to sign, in addition to the United States, are Canada, Britain, France, Norway, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Other countries, particularly Denmark, may come into the negotiations before the final signing. The Danish foreign minister is due to leave tomorrow for Washington. A draft of the pact had been sent earlier to the sponsoring governments.

Methods Used To Obtain Secret Papers From U.S. Given Probers

A SOMEWHAT better idea than jumping out of a window occurred to me on the day we were told by an Eastman Kodak official that our micro-filmed "pumpkin papers" had not been made by his company until 1946. Our entire case was built around our contention (verified by the dates on the secret documents we suspected had been stolen) that the documents had been taken and photographed by a Red spy ring in the late 1930's.

No. 27

The better idea, I figured, was to sit down and think. I urged that Rep. Nixon do the same. "We've got to gather our wits before we face that mob," I said. I was referring to the 300 reporters who were waiting for us to reveal the microfilms and their contents.

Then I got downright mad at Whittaker Chambers, who had given us the "pumpkin papers" several nights before, and whose testimony in the espionage case had led us to this sorry climax.

WAA Gives Final Approval To Move

Pantex Transfer To Texas Tech Okayed

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 8 — Transfer of the huge Pantex Ordnance plant properties near Amarillo to Texas Technological college at Lubbock was given final approval here today by the War Assets administration, officials of the WAA announced this afternoon.

The transfer of the project was given final approval by Jess Larson, War Assets administrator. Announcement of the transfer also was made by Sen. Tom Connally, who worked with the WAA officials to effect the transaction.

Huge Area Included

The transfer will make available to Texas Tech the $8,500,000 Pantex properties, developed by the government during world war II as a bomb storage and weapons center, as a "100 percent public benefit"—in other words, with no costs involved. The properties, however, will be subject to WAA's national security clause, which provides that the government may reclaim them at any time during the next 20 years in event of a national emergency.

Actually, the plant and its properties cost the government more than $24,000,000 to build, but its fair market value now is set at $8,500,000.

The government also reserves the rights to all sub-surface minerals and extraction thereof.

Texas Tech proposes to use the former Pantex holdings, which include 16,093 acres of land with 600 buildings, for advance and graduate work in industry and agriculture with emphasis on experimentation and research. The college already is co-operating with Texas A. and M. college in making a study of wheat poison in an effort to aid Panhandle - South Plains stockmen.

DR. WIGGINS EXPRESSES SATISFACTION ON MOVE

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, said he was pleased that approval of the project had gone through but that he could make no comment on the approval until he had received a copy of the official contract.

Copies of the contract are expected to arrive at the college later this week.

Application for the huge 16,000-acre project, located from 12 to 20 miles northeast of Amarillo, has been "in the mill" since November, 1945, when the acquisition

Stabilization Of Economy Is Seen

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 8.—A government spokesman predicted today that U. S. employment will stabilize at a high level soon, but with more persons remaining jobless than there were a year ago.

In testimony made public by a House Appropriations subcommittee, Director Robert C. Goodwin of the Bureau of Employment Security said the recent rise in unemployment may be expected to stop shortly. Goodwin added:

"It seems to us that on an overall basis we are likely to continue to enjoy high-level production and employment for the next 12 to 16 months.

Employment To Be Good

"There is a strong likelihood that employment may not achieve the record-breaking levels of this past year, but, measured by most standards, will be relatively good."

At the same time, Goodwin warned that unemployment may rise above the present 3,200,000 total. He foresaw increased spending for employment services and unemployment benefits because of rapid job turnovers. He said:

"We must recognize that while overall national employment levels may remain relatively high, the situation will differ markedly be-

London Newspapers Report Plan For Truman-Molotov Meeting

LONDON, March 8. (INS)—Two London newspapers printed entirely unconfirmed reports today that Deputy Soviet Premier Molotov may journey to the United States to meet President Truman.

The Evening News attributed its information to "Austrian sources" and said the report was "inspired from behind the iron curtain and probably intended as an indirect means of sounding out Washington."

The Daily Graphic said Molotov, as Premier Stalin's personal envoy would be "prepared" to go to Washington "to maneuver President Truman onto a two-power basis for settling differences."

Gabfest, GOP Foes May Kill Rent Controls

By MORAN REYNOLDS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 8—A 15-month rent control extension bill today was cleared for House action later this week. But it was an open question whether the curbs will be renewed before their expiration March 31.

The showdown battle in the House is slated to open Thursday, with a final vote on the controversial measure likely Friday. This was the legislative procedure approved today by the rules committee.

But the ultimate fate of the rent control law hinges on the Senate's legislative timetable—now far behind schedule as a result of the filibuster by southern Democrats against a proposed rules change to bar filibusters.

GOPs Oppose Curbs

Until that fight is settled, the senate can't get around to the rent dispute which is still stalled in a Senate Banking subcommittee.

House Republican leaders meanwhile, sought to line up support for a proposal of the GOP policy committee to continue rent controls for only 90 days.

Rep. Martin (R-Mass.), the GOP leader, said the temporary extension plan was backed overwhelmingly at a mass meeting of all Republican House members late today. He told a reporter that the 90-day plan was to give Congress more time to see where the nation's economic machine is headed and to determine then whether any further controls are needed.

Martin also said that some GOP members advocated letting the control law expire March 31 and then turning the rent question over to the states. Others favored handing the problem to the states on June 30. Martin reported that seven states now have rent control laws of their own ready "to put into effect the moment federal controls are dropped."

Although he would not predict whether the Republicans can muster enough Democratic support to put their ideas across, Martin said he thinks most of his party members will vote against the 15-month bill unless it is changed further to eliminate provisions "making the controls more rigid."

Martin said some of the Repub-

Two Charged In Burglary Here

A Monday night burglary of Wilke Iron and Metal company, at 2501 Ave. F, has been "broken" with recovery of approximately $1,500 worth of property and the charging of two suspects, one of whom was under arrest, police, the sheriff's department and the district attorney's office announced Tuesday.

A truck loaded with 5,000 pounds of soft lead, a barrel of babbit and 53 automobile batteries was driven out of the iron and metal company after two locks had been sawed off a gate and a door to the building.

The property was located approximately four miles southeast of Lubbock, off the Tahoka highway. Part of it was scattered in a ground silo, some in a shed, officials said. Tracks of the truck leading into the proprerty outside Lubbock had been obliterated, probably by sweeping, it was said.

Admitted Part In Case

Arrested was Bill Homer, 20, a negro.

Homer admitted his complicity, officials said.

He related that he had intended going to the place where the stolen truck was driven, but that he was arrested by the police within four or five blocks of the iron and metal company. At the

By EARL SCUDDAY

BROWNFIELD, March 8 — Eighty-four years have passed since Stephen Dupuis, who will observe his 104th birthday here Wednesday, served as a dispatch carrier with the Confederate Army, but his memories of the war between the states remain as bright as ever.

Dupuis, who resides here with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Worsham, enlisted with the southern forces near his Center Point, La., home at the age of 16, then went into active service two years later. He was assigned to "B" company of Gen. Taylor's escort and was stationed at posts throughout the Louisiana area.

As a dispatch carrier, Dupuis was sent on lengthy trips across rough country under great hard-

Colder Weather Forecast For South Plains Section Today

COLDER weather—with the mercury dipping near freezing this morning and below freezing tonight — was scheduled to move over Lubbock and the South Plains today on the heels of high winds which whipped up some dust over the area last night.

The new front, whipping out of the Midwest and northern states, is not expected to be anything approaching previous winter blasts this year. However, the sudden change in temperatures will make the mercury plunge seem somewhat sharper, the Weather station said late last night.

Northwest winds ranging up to 35 and 40 miles an hour in strong gusts battered the section Tuesday night and were expected to continue as the cold front moved in early this morning, moderating somewhat during the afternoon. The winds were expected to shift to the north as the cold front arrived.

Some light rain and drizzle was expected over the South Plains early today, the Wea-

PLAINVIEW BACKING PLAN

Other Plains Cities Show Interest In River Project

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

OTHER Plainview city and civic officials took vigorous but friendly issue Tuesday with the statement of their mayor, Capt. Winfield Holbrook, that their city is "not interested" in a proposed Canadian river reservoir as a possible source of domestic water supply.

Plainview definitely is interested in the proposed development, according to other members of the city council and spokesmen for the chamber of commerce and the board of city development.

These officials said Mayor Holbrook spoke his "personal convictions," and not theirs, when he declared in an inter-city water conference there Monday that Plainview would not be interested in a surface reservoir on the Canadian as a possible source of supply.

Others Show Interest

Two others of the larger and most rapidly growing cities of the South Plains also were added Tuesday to the communities expressing a keen interest in the possibility of obtaining water from the Canadian. The other cities were Lamesa and Brownfield, neither of which was in position to send representation to the Plainview area conference with Harry T. Burleigh, engineer for Texas of the U. S. Reclamation Service.

Tentative estimates were that the three cities—Plainview, Lamesa and Brownfield—now use a total of about 5,000 acre feet of water a year (about 1,625,000,000 gallons) and by 1955—the earliest possible completion date of the project—would nearly double that usage.

Are Growing Rapidly

All are growing rapidly and such barometers as surveys of future telephone, gas and other utility needs indicate the expectation of continued growth. The utility companies are backing their expectation of continuing growth with large cash investments in expansions.

Reports from these three cities increased to nearly 70,000 acre feet initially the possible demand now, visible per year for water from cities for domestic and industrial uses if it should be available through pipelines tapping a giant reservoir created by a huge dam on the Canadian.

The consensus of experts appeared unanimous Tuesday that

Slot Machines That Pay Off In Marital Freedom Proposed

(By The Associated Press)

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 8. — Divorce by slot machine? A veteran legislator has proposed exactly that, so lawyers could be returned to the sphere of "useful citizens."

Assemblyman C. C. Boak, Nye county Republican, didn't crack a smile when he introduced his bill. He said it would not only boost the Nevada divorce business—which isn't bad—but would increase the slot machine take and boom the silver industry.

It would work like this:

Divorce seekers, for a $5 fee would be given special keys to a combination juke box, time clock and slot machine.

Lights Would Flash

They would be required to use their keys on the machines for 42 consecutive days—as proof they had spent the statutory six weeks in the state.

On the 42nd day the divorce seeker would insert in his machine 200 specially coined dollars, minted of Nevada silver.

Lights would flash. Wheels would spin. The juke box section would give forth the first two lines of "America."

As the music died away, a pretty divorce decree would pop out of a slot. It would be complete with multi-colored ribbons, the imprint of the great seal of Nevada, and the signature of the district judge.

Moscow Radio Reports New Change In Soviet High Command

LONDON, March 9. (Wednesday) (INS)—Radio Moscow announced today that Alexander I. Yefremov has been released from his post as minister for machine tools and the building industry and appointed a deputy Soviet premier.

It was the third switch in the Soviet top command since early last Saturday when Vyacheslav M. Molotov was replaced by Andrei Vishinsky as foreign minister. Later Andrei Gromyko was moved up to become first deputy foreign minister, Vishinsky's old post.

Radio Moscow, as quoted by the Soviet monitor in London, said Yefremov's appointment was made by the presidium of the Supreme Soviet (parliament.)

RAIL TALKS ADVANCE

CHICAGO, March 8 (INS)—Definite progress was reported tonight toward settlement of the dispute between 16 non-operating railroad unions and the nation's rail lines. A spokesman said the parties had agreed to meet tomorrow with the recalled presidential fact-finding board and have the latter rule on disputed points of interpretation and application of the board's proposals.

Demo Leader Claims GOP Aiding South

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 8—Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, charged tonight that "Republicans have joined with southern Democrats in a filibuster."

Lucas made the assertion to newsmen after Senator Cain (R-Wash), completed a nearly seven-hour attack on President Truman's appointment of Mon C. Wallgren as chairman of the National Security Resources board.

To Map Strategy

Lucas commented that Cain and Senator Watkins (R-Utah) had held the Senate floor since noon, and he added that "shows how interested the Republican leadership is in civil rights."

"They have joined the southern Democrats in a filibuster," Lucas declared. "I hope the people of the country take note of the fact that two Republicans have talked for more than nine hours about matters that are not even before the Senate."

Lucas said he will meet tomorrow with northern and western Democrats who favor the civil rights program to discuss further strategy.

Southerners Pleased

In his speech, Watkins demanded speedy publication of the text of the proposed North Atlantic security pact.

The two speeches delayed for the eighth day Senate action on a motion by Lucas to take up a filibuster-crippling change in the Senate's rules. The rule change is aimed at clearing the way for action on the President's civil rights program.

The southerners were obviously pleased by the help they received from the two western Republicans. It gave them a chance to rest their vocal chords.

The filibuster may delay final action on a 15-month rent control extension bill which was cleared today for House action later this week. The curbs are due to expire March 31.

Publication Demanded

The Senate situation wasn't the only obstacle to action on rent controls. House Republicans sought support for a GOP policy committee proposal to continue rent controls for only 90 days.

The southern filibuster is aimed at blocking an administration attempt to change the Senate rules so that filibusters can be curbed. Under the proposed change, a two-thirds vote could limit debate on any subject. Southerners oppose the change because they want to use the filibuster weapon to defeat the Truman civil rights bills.

Senator Watkins spent nearly two hours on the floor before Cain took over. The Utah senator renewed a demand that the text of the proposed North Atlantic treaty be made available

Final Form Of Labor Law Still Uncertain; House Opens Hearings

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 8—The new labor law? It's still like an unhatched egg that's being bounced around. And nobody knows what kind of bird is going to come out.

We're still quite a distance from having a new labor law. We may not have one for a couple of months. And no one at this minute can predict what it will look like.

But this time maybe you're confused on the whole subject because so much already has been said and written about it and a good many people get foggy on the difference between a bill and a law.

So here's a review on what's happened and what lies ahead.

Wagner Act Passed

In 1935 the Democrats, then in control of Congress, passed the Wagner Labor act. Labor liked it. Employers didn't. Came 1947 when the Republicans controlled Congress.

They passed the Taft-Hartley Labor act, almost completely changing the old Wagner act. Employers liked the new one. Labor didn't. Then came the elections in November, 1948.

Getting the support of labor, which was sore at the Republicans, the Democrats promised to wipe out the Taft-Hartley act and restore the old Wagner act if they won. They won. Which meant they controlled Congress.

After this new, 81st Congress opened up in January, President Truman's Democratic advisers offered a bill to knock out Taft-Hartley and bring back the Wagner act.

This is where the difference between a bill and law comes in.

When a bill is offered in Congress, it goes to one committee in the House, another in the Senate. The committees can kill the bill by doing nothing about it. They do that with many bills.

Or they hold hearings on a bill, letting friends and foes testify. Then the committee approves the bill, with or without changes of its own in the measure.

After that the bill goes to the full House and Senate for debate and vote. Even a bill already changed by committee may be changed some more during debate on the floor of both houses.

Further Action Necessary

A bill can't become law unless both houses approve. Even then it can't be law unless:

1. The President approves and signs it into law.

2. Or, if he disapproves and vetoes the bill by refusing to sign it, both houses re-pass it over his veto.

Now return to the present labor bill. As soon at it was introduced it went to the Senate and House Labor committees.

Almost at once the Senate committee began hearings. These lasted for weeks. And on Friday the committee approved the Democrat's labor bill, unchanged. This was easy to do.

The Democrats outnumber the Republicans on the committee, 8 to 5. The Democrats, having control of Congress, can say how many men each party has on a committee.

The Democrats on the committee voted solidly for the bill. The Republicans voted solidly against it. They wanted to make changes in it. The Democrats wouldn't let them.

Today the House Labor committee, where Democrats outnumber the Republicans, 16 to 9, began hearings on the bill. The result there probably will be the same as in the Senate committee.

Sunday School Class Planned For Cerebral Palsy Victims

A special Sunday school class for children with cerebral palsy will be opened Sunday morning at Asbury Methodist church for children from all denominations, Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor, announced Tuesday.

Only one other such school in the nation operates, as far as is known here. Local persons have received information that such a Sunday school is operated in Los Angeles, Calif.

The Asbury Methodist pastor recently spoke at the Special School for Exceptional Children at Dupre school, and later, after conferring with persons who work with cerebral palsied children, began making plans for a special Sunday school.

Persons from several denominations will cooperate in the school. Mrs. A. E. Jones, president of the West Texas Cerebral Palsy club, is to teach the class and Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, teacher in the Special School for Exceptional Children, is cooperating in plans.

Funeral arrangements are pending arrival of relatives. Interment will be in a local cemetery under direction of Bryan McDonald & Sons Funeral home.

Survivors, in addition to the widow, include five sons, E. L. of Happy, N. J. and A. L. of Lubbock, Robert, who is stationed with the Army in Germany, and Clifford of Arizona; and one daughter, Miss Dorothy Gouge, also of Arizona.

VA To Expand Dallas Hospital Instead Of Building New Setup

WASHINGTON, March 8 (U.P.)—The Veterans administration disclosed today that it will add 50 beds to its present general medical hospital at Dallas, instead of building a new hospital in another section of the city.

Original plans had called for a new 500-bed hospital, VA officials said. It was decided this week, however, to build a major addition to the present 270-bed plant, giving it a capacity of 770 beds.

Michigan Agrees To Send Murder Suspects To New York For Trial

LANSING, Mich., March 8 (INS)—Michigan agreed to relinquish custody of the "lonely hearts" killers today, but only on condition they be returned if not convicted of first degree murder in the Empire state.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams told New York authorities they must present a written agreement that the slayers, Raymond Fernandez and Mrs. Martha Beck, would not be placed beyond the reach of Michigan if acquitted in New York.

Would Risk Death

(In Albany, Lawrence Walsh, assistant counsel to Gov. Dewey, said that the state will not grant this assurance until a written request is received from Michigan authorities. Walsh added that no steps will be taken pending the receipt of such a request.

(However, it is recalled that heretofore the governor usually authorizes these assurances as a matter of formality.)

The lovelorn-preying pair would risk death in the electric chair in Nassau county, N. Y., for the admitted slaying of the romance-seeking Mrs. Janet Fay of Albany.

Michigan has no capital punishment and Clark J. Adams, governor Williams' legal advisor, said:

"We do not want to serve as a sanctuary state for wholesale killers. Our only concern is that they be properly punished."

Philip Huntington and Edward Robinson, Jr., of the Nassau county, N. Y., district attorney's office replied:

"In this case, regardless of opinions of states, the exaction of the supreme penalty would be in accordance with the offense committed.

"These were sordid, mercenary killings, and the supreme penalty must be exacted if justice is to be served."

The rotund Mrs. Beck said at the hearing's conclusion:

"I'd like to stay in Michigan."

Fernandez and Mrs. Beck were returned to Kent county jail immediately and will continue to be held on a charge of slaying Mrs. Deliphene Downing and her two-year-old daughter, Rainell, until Governor Dewey signs the special pact.

Fernandez and Mrs. Beck would be thrust into the shadow of the electric chair if New York wins their custody.

They would be liable to a maximum sentence of life imprisonment for the Michigan murders, however, since this state has no capital punishment.

Mexico Announces $5 Million Sale Of Gold To Saudi Arabia

MEXICO CITY, March 8 (U.P.)—The Bank of Mexico today announced the purchase of $5,000,000 worth of Mexican gold by Saudi Arabia.

The gold, some 7,000,000 ounces, will be coined into 20,000,000 Arab reales in the Mexican and Philadelphia, Pa., mints. Each will coin 10,000,000 reales.

Bank officials said Saudi Arabia is expected to make other large Mexican purchases. It was learned the Saudi Arabian government plans to have 1,500,000 ounces coined monthly. Informed sources assumed Mexico would get the contract for sale and coining.

Official circles were jubilant over the large sale.

Bankers pointed out the sale, largest in recent years, should give Mexico's sadly flagging mining industry a needed shot in the arm.

Final papers were signed last Saturday in Washington by Saudi Arabian and Mexican diplomats, the Bank of Mexico said.

Oklahoman Jokes About Fall In Well

WHEATLAND, Okla., March 8 (U.P.) — Ninety-year-old Charlie Weiche, who fell 20 feet into the bottom of a well and clung to a pipe an hour and 20 minutes to keep from drowning, felt good enough after his experience to joke about it.

"It'll probably cure everything that's wrong with me," said the white-haired Weiche. His wife noted that he had heart trouble, a lame back and a head-cold before he fell into the eight feet of water in the well.

Weiche was working in his garden late yesterday when he stepped through some rotten boards covering the well.

"I guess I was lucky at that," he said later. "I fell straight down and didn't hit the sides of the well or the pipe."

The Weiches had put a pipe into the well to pump water for their plumbing system. That pipe saved the aged man's life, for he held onto it as he fought to keep his head above water.

"I kept yelling all the time," he said. "I was about out of breath when they finally heard me."

It was a schoolboy, Orville Blevins, 9, who first located the cries. He dashed to a telephone and called "central" for help. The operator, Mrs. Opal Martin, began calling downtown business houses in this little community just southwest of Oklahoma City for help.

As townspeople began to arrive on the run, grocer James Johnson crawled down the pipe and fixed a rope saddle so Weiche could be pulled up.

Moscow Newspaper Prints Text Of U.S. Reds' Letter To HST

MOSCOW, March 8 (AP)—The official Communist newspaper Pravda today printed the entire text of the letter sent yesterday to President Truman by American Communist leaders William Z. Foster and Eugene Dennis. Pravda did not comment on the letter.

Foster, national chairman of the Communist party, and Dennis, general secretary, told the President he had misinterpreted their "patriotic" reasons for fighting alleged pro-war activities in the United States.

(The letter from the Communist leaders followed a statement from the President calling the Communists "traitors." His statement came after the American Communists followed the pattern set by European Communist leaders who said they would side with the Soviet Union in the event of a war).

Navarro County Officers Hold Milwaukee Boy In Burglaries

CORSICANA, March 8 (AP)—An 18-year-old Milwaukee, Wis., boy was held in the Navarro county jail today on charges of burglarizing three church parsonages and one church Sunday during worship hours.

Richard Dennis Grainger is held under $5,000 bond. His case probably will go before the grand jury here March 17.

Officers said all of the loot taken in the burglaries, less than $5 in cash, was recovered, except for a silver dollar.

Man-Made 'Frost' Will Benefit Cotton Farmers In Harvest

LOS ANGELES, March 8 (AP)—Out of chemical laboratories has come man-made "frost" to aid the cotton farmer.

Defoliants which cause the leaves to drop from the cotton plant, facilitating the harvest, were described to the National Cotton council's eleventh annual meeting yesterday by Elwood H. Smith, Casa Grande, Ariz., grower.

In many cotton growing areas the harvest is well along or completed by the time real frost can be expected to defoliate the plants, Smith said. Defoliation by chemicals enables machines to harvest a higher percentage of cotton with less leaf trash, considerably improving the grade of the lint cotton.

The chemical procedure also reduces the amount of boll rot in wet years or in rank cotton, reduces the amount of plant area for late broods of boll weevil to prey upon and allows a higher percentage of total crop to be harvested at the first picking, Smith said. Other advantages he cited are the elimination of green leaf stain in mechanically harvested cotton, and prevention of army worm damage.

Irrigation, bringing high yields to California fields, also is making "bale-to-the-acre" cotton a realty for farmers in other sections of the cotton belt, said Ransom E. Aldrich of Michigan City, Miss., chairman of the councils production and marketing committee.

One fourth of the 2,000,000 cotton acres in the High Plains of Texas was irrigated in 1948, and growers are putting down more wells, he said. The yield on some of this land increased from 150 pounds to a bale (500 pounds) per acre, he said.

NATCHEZ PILGRIMAGE

LUBBOCKITES who have gone on the Natchez, Miss., pilgrimage are lavish in praise of the beauty of the homes and gardens in the city located high on picturesque bluffs, overlooking the tawny flowing flood of the mighty Mississippi river. Added to the list who will take the pilgrimage this year are Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McManus of 2118 Thirty-first, who will leave Saturday. Mrs. McManus grew up in nearby Brookhaven, Miss.

An interesting history of the pilgrimage was supplied by Mrs. McManus. Once the pride of a great cotton empire and the center of romantic life during the steamboat era, Natchez was left off the main line with the coming of the railroad and for 58 years the town slipped into a decline. A sort of oblivion overtook it and people forgot that once it had held a position of wealth and influence. The Civil war came and left it crippled but fortunately the old mansions were preserved.

NATCHEZ came into the limelight again through fame of its mansions which were used for motion pictures seeking realistic atmosphere. Likewise newspaper feature writers found a treasure trove. But it is to the women of the town on the Mississippi that credit goes for the idea of the pilgrimages for it was through their Garden club that the idea sprang of opening homes and gardens to the public. Each month since 1932, the anti-bellum homes are shown and from every state in the union come visitors to the pilgrimage. This year from March 5 to April 3, six different tours are conducted where 31 beautiful time-mellowed homes are visited. Costumed belles welcome callers to the old-fashioned gardens and white-columned mansions that perpetuate the splendor of the old South. Costume balls, showboat performances, pageants and negro spirituals lend color and authenticity to this unique revival of a vanished era.

JEFF DAVIS PIE

WE seem to be going in for the Deep South today and here are two recipes for Jeff Davis pie, supplied by Mrs. Lokey and by a reader who asks that we do not use her name. Since she is a good friend, we can vouch for the goodness of the pie.

Here is Mrs. Lokey's recipe: One cup sugar, one-fourth cup butter, three eggs, one teaspoon flour, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon lemon flavoring, one-third cup milk.

Mix sugar and butter and add beaten eggs. Add other ingredients and bake in uncooked pie shell in moderate oven. This makes one large pie.

The other recipe for Jeff Davis pie: One tablespoon flour, two-thirds cup sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, pinch of salt, two eggs, one tablespoon melted butter, two cups sweet milk.

Mix dry ingredients. Add well beaten eggs and milk. Bake in uncooked pie crust.

Howard Hughes Visits Houston To Exhibit Giant Plane To Friend

HOUSTON, March 8 (U.P.) — The hush-hush lifted today to reveal that millionaire aviator-industrialist Howard Hughes paid one of his rare visits to Houston yesterday, mainly to exhibit his million-dollar, four-engine stratoliner to his friend, Glenn McCarthy.

McCarthy and Hughes flew in from the West Coast together, landing here at 9 a.m. after a five-hour flight.

Hughes left at 2:30 p.m. for California in a plane belonging to the Hughes Tool company leaving the luxurious stratoliner here for further observation by McCarthy and a possible sale.

Noah Dietrich, executive vice president of Hughes Tool company said Hughes just decided to give McCarthy a personal exhibition of the giant Boeing airplane.

While here, Hughes got one of the first complete tours of McCarthy's new fabulous Shamrock hotel, scheduled to open March 17 in a blaze of splendor new to the Southwest. He also "talked business" with Dietrich, and reportedly is still considering disposing of his multi-million-dollar firm here.

Rich Ex-Brewer Asks 'White Collar' Union

MILWAUKEE, March 8 (AP)—A senior member of one of the nation's wealthiest brewery families said today he planned to devote his full time "to encouraging the organization of white collar workers."

He is 73-year old Joseph E. Uihlein, former vice president and manager of the vast Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company one of America's largest beer producers.

"I believe five to six million Americans can better their lot by joining white collar unions," declared Uihlein, who said his brewery stock, now distributed among his children, earned more than $1,200,000 last year.

Scorns Personal Honors

"I hope to do what I can to encourage this. I am not in it for any honor for myself, but only through a desire to help the working class."

The elder Uihlein said today he was resigning immediately as a director of the First Wisconsin National bank so that no one connected with the institution would be "embarrassed" by his actions. He no longer is an officer of the brewery, of which his father, August, was president for many years.

A year ago, Uihlein said, he tried to join the Brewery Workers union "but I was turned down." He said he had discussed the need for a white collar union with such national labor leaders as William Green of the AFL and John L. Lewis of the United Mine workers and that he hoped soon to see Philip Murray of the CIO.

Joseph and his brother Erwin, now president of Schlitz, have been at odds recently over Joseph's suggestion that the brewery establish a $1,000,000 annual welfare fund for its employees by contributing 25 cents for each barrel of beer sold.

Bids Opened On Completion Of San Angelo Dam Project

GALVESTON, March 8 (AP)—Bids for a multi-million dollar contract were opened today by Col. B. L. Robinson, Galveston district engineer, U. S. Army engineers.

The contract will be for the completion of the embankment and construction of a service bridge and spillway at the San Angelo dam and reservoir, at San Angelo, in the Colorado river basin.

Winston Bros. and the Taylor-Wheless Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., submitted the apparent low bid, $5,644,874. The firm's bid on an alternate contract was $5,590,270.

The government estimate for the regular contract was $6,775,255.90; for the alternate contract, $6,777,075.90.

Construction of the San Angelo project, which is estimated to cost $18,525,000, began in May, 1947, and is scheduled for completion by 1952. It will consist of a dam about 37,540 feet long and 128 feet high. The reservoir normally will cover approximately 8.5 square miles.

Also opened this afternoon were four bids on the turfing of the initial embankment of the Whitney Dam and Reservoir.

E. R. Peel of Tyler submitted the apparent low bid of the four received, $6,666. The government estimate on the project was $8,954.43.

THE HIDE HUNT
AN HISTORICAL EPISODE OF LIFE IN THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

BY J. EVETTS HALEY
ILLUSTRATED BY H. D. BUGBEE

IN THE ENTIRE story of the chase—in all the annals of hunting—there is nothing to compare with the slaughter of the American buffalo. In the scope of territory involved, in the number of men engaged, in the systematic destruction of millions of great beasts, and in its economic significance, the hide hunt stands alone.

It drew its devotees from around the world, especially English sportsmen and European explorers, and artists and writers to depict and record its vivid life and wild appeal. But in its final and efficient stages, it drew its hosts of hunters from the rough and rugged, aggressive and adventurous men of the American frontier. In this period it attracted the active interest of the great fur and hide companies as big, if bloody, business — employing thousands of hunters, skinners, freighters and camp men.

Its rise was sounded by the roar of the Sharps' rifles from the Canadian border to the lower breaks of the Staked Plains. While the robe business had engaged the northwestern Indian traders for decades, the real hunt boomed and practically passed with the decade of the seventies. It was a matter of genuine historic significance. For the passing of the buffalo and the destruction of the Indians' larder meant the passing of the Indian problem on the western plains, and the opening of this vast region to ranching.

At one time this hardy animal—this shaggy mountain of beef—ranged from the Atlantic tideland into the Rocky Mountains, and from the great Slave Lake in the Arctic clear down into Mexico. Its range had been slowly beaten back by the inroads of the settlers until, at the end of the Civil War, it was fairly restricted to the Great Plains area, reaching from just below the Conchos to well above the Canadian border.

Seasonally, it moved, in keeping with that strange but elemental urge; migrating north with the rise of grass in the spring, and back south with the subtlest suggestion of approaching fall. The building of the transcontinental rail lines in the late sixties and early seventies cut the herd in two. With convenient points of supply and transportation thus provided, the business of hunting buffalo for their hides almost immediately came to life.

In 1872, the village of Dodge City, in western Kansas, became the center of this incipient trade in the Southwest. Below there, clear to the Colorado and the Conchos, grazed the greatest concentration of big game ever witnessed by the eye of man. East, among the settlements, existed a demand for fine and finished robes. Here was the supply; back there the demand. Still hostile Indians, extremely jealous of further inroads upon their wild game, made the hunt a hazardous pursuit.

It did not matter to those with the hardihood to venture! Rugged men made up their outfits along the railroads. With bar lead, kegs of powder and scant supplies — for wild meat was their fare—they headed out in every direction from Dodge City. With genuine knowledge of animal nature, they got their stands on the individual groups that made up this vast herd, and with guns mounted on their rest-sticks, killed them off in bunches. Meanwhile, they lived high on rich roasts of buffalo hump, boiled tongue, and roasted marrow bones while their outfits skinned their kill by the thousands, pegged the green hides on the ground to dry, baled the flint hides high on their wagons, and freighted them back across the seas of buffalo grass for shipment east from Dodge City.

Thus harassed by a continual hunt, the main southern herd drifted to the south. The hunters followed in the spring of 1874, and met them on their migration north, on and below the Canadian, in the Panhandle of Texas, in the heart of the Indians' hunting range. And here the Comanches and Kiowas — supposedly held on reserves in The Territory—fell on the hunters in wrath to wreak their terrible vengance. Many scattered hunters were killed, but the fight at the trading post of Adobe Walls, on the Canadian, taught the Indians the power of the Sharps' rifles and the accuracy of the hunters' eyes.

And so the slaughter went on with concentrated fury around Fort Griffin and the foot of the Plains down through 1878, when the bulk of the southern herd, estimated in excess of three million animals, was killed off. Then the Indians, with insufficient food to sustain them, were forced back on the paternalism of the federal government.

And thus, at last peace came to the far-flung frontier settler while the good tight turf of the buffalo grass—nature's richest cover for these wind-swept Plains—beckoned to the bow-legged men who made their livings in the dust of cattle.

Committee Revealed Top U.S. Secrets Were Given Communist Agents; Probers Clash With Jury Group

In fact, I was too mad at him to trust myself on the phone, so when he answered, I asked Nixon to do the talking.

Not Calling Off Meet

"Mr. Chambers," Nixon said, controlling his voice well. "We've just had an expert look over the microfilm and he tells us it was not manufactured until 1946."

"Impossible," Chambers answered, quietly.

"What IS this?" Nixon demanded of him. "What do you have to say?"

"I have nothing to say except that Fate is just against us," Chambers replied. This was, to my mind, the greatest understatement of 1948.

Nixon hung up and wearily suggested that we call off the press conference.

"No, damn it, we won't." I said. "We'll go down and face the music. We'll tell them that we were sold a bill of goods . . . that we were all wet."

I spoke with more heart than I really had. I knew full well the tremendous (and deserved) blast we'd get, and the jubilation of anti-Committee forces. I sent word that we'd meet the reporters in a few minutes.

WE WERE just heading out of Nixon's office to face the grueling ordeal when his phone rang. It was for me.

"Mr. Stripling, this is Mr. Lewis of Eastman," the voice said. "I checked with Rochester after I got back to the office, and it seems we have made a little mistake. Those films you showed me were made in 1937."

I let out a Texas yell and leaped on Nixon's couch.

"Poor Chambers," was Nixon's reaction. "Nobody ever believes him at first."

Now we could face the press, and did. But it wasn't a long conference. We rattled off what we knew, and could tell, and jogged out of the building, hopped in cabs I had arranged for, and rushed to Union Station in time to catch the 4 o'clock train to New York. We wanted to get Chambers under oath again and have him tell everything he knew about those documents.

Would Halt Hearings

We were met on the platform at the Penn Station in New York by the Justice Department, mainly in the person of John F. X. McGohey, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York. He and his staff accompanied us to the Commodore Hotel, where they strongly urged that the Committee hold no more public hearings in the Hiss-Chambers case.

We were the one agency of the Government which had produced the most important documentary evidence, papers still considered so important after a decade that their publication might endanger the nation's security. We said we did not think it just to toss us aside at this time, especially in view of the fact that the Justice Department had been reported earlier as favoring the dropping of the case. Justice later accused us of ruining one roll of micro-film, which was not true.

A stiff argument developed in the suite, but McGohey and the others shook hands as they left. Then Chambers was brought in.

"You mistrusted me for a time today," he remarked, as he put down his hat and coat.

I kept him a long time that night, going over everything he had ever told us, getting his explanation of what had happened to the "pumpkin papers" during the ten years that intervened, and I kept repeating, "Look me in the eye. Are you sure you have nothing else to show us? I am quitting this work and I don't want to leave anything undone."

HE had nothing else, he said. The "pumpkin papers" represented only one week's supply of the stolen and copied Government documents he had aided in transmitting to the U.S.S.R. from the early part of 1935 until April, to that earlier date, he had worked on the New York end of the document transmission, he repeated.

During part of the 1935-1938 period his routine was this, we subsequently revealed in our report:

"The source would bring the documents out of the State Department in a briefcase and take them home. There, Chambers would take over the briefcase and documents to a laboratory in Baltimore, put the documents on film, and would return the briefcase and contents to Chambers that same night.

Document Needed For Ransom

"Sometimes Chambers stated it would be as late as one o'clock in the morning before he got the briefcase back. He would then proceed to the home of his source, deliver the briefcase, and then the documents would be returned to the State Department files.

"Chambers would then pick up the microfilms in Baltimore, place them in a tobacco pouch, and carry them to Ney York, where he would deliver them to a Colonel Bykov, of the Soviet espionage system, who was at that time known to Chambers only as Peter."

Chambers had hidden the "pumpkin papers" on top of an abandoned dumbwaiter in the home of Nathan Levine, a Brooklyn attorney who is a nephew of Mrs. Chambers, he told us. It was subsequently testified by Levine that Chambers lived in "mortal fear" of being liquidated after quitting the Communist Party. Isaac Don Levine, anti-Communist editor who knew Chambers in 1938 and attempted to help him reveal his story to Government officials a year later, told the Committee later that Chambers had retained the film all those years for possible use as ransom in case he or his family were abducted by U. S. Reds.

AMPLIFYING on earlier testimony, he told us on this illuminating night in New York that the rug which he gave Hiss (Hiss had testified that Chambers had gotten it from a "rich patron") had been presented to him by Col. Bykov for transmission to Hiss "for unusual service to the Soviet Union."

He named the recipients of three additional rugs—they were expensive Bokharas, he said—but the Committee has not as yet revealed their names. I understand that one of these men, formerly in the Government, has confessed before Federal authorities and, presumably, still is in the act of telling what he knows about other members of the spy rings.

The State Department, Chambers pointed out, had been an important source for him but not the only one. As we said in our report:

"Chambers testified that between 1932 and 1938 he obtained documents from the State Department, the Bureau of Standards the Aberdeen Proving Ground, and certain information from the Navy; also that the same ring with which he worked got vital information from key United States industries."

From Official Files

But all of the matter on the microfilms was from State Department files, the most important of which came from the office of Francis Sayre, who later identified them as such.

"Four people had access to these documents once they arrived at Mr. Sayre's office," we reported. We named them as Sayre, Alger Hiss, his first assistant; Eunice Lincoln, his administrative assistant, and Anna Belle Newcomb, secretary and stenographer for the office. Sayre, and the Misses Lincoln and Newcomb, emphatically denied under oath that they had ever turned any documents over to any unauthorized person. The information contained in the documents was so secret, all three pointed out, that the data was delivered to Sayre's office from the code room of the State Department in a locked black metal box. Documents were sometimes kept in Sayre's office, presumably in locked file cases, for "several days" at a time, they declared. Hiss, they said, made a practice of taking home a briefcase filled with "work" at the close of working days, both women said. So did Sayre, they added.

IT was Chambers contention that sometimes copies of the documents from the State Department were made on a typewriter in Hiss's home. We later uncovered several bits of typewriter matter from the Equitable Life Insurance Company which experts said was produced by the same machine, and the F. B. I. obtained considerable more.

An expert in such matters, known to the F. B. I., later identified our samples of the product of that typewriter as having been typed by the same machine which retyped some of the secret papers retrieved from Chambers.

We were able to call comparatively few witnesses to the Committee's witness stand after our startling disclosure. The ones we did manage to hear —the New York Grand Jury had claimed prior rights to Chambers, Alger and Donald Hiss, Henry Julian Wadleigh, former State Department official, William Ward Pigman, formerly of the Bureau of Standards, and others — brought the scope of the alleged conspiracy into a little sharper focus.

We divulged after their testimony that information on the Norden bombsight (which had been such a secret that even the U. S. Air Force had difficulty getting it from the U. S. Navy), data on the Navy's self-sealing aviation tank, and information about U. S. tanks and other materiel being tested at Aberdeen had filtered to Russia. We revealed that State Department codes probably had been cracked.

MUCH of what we learned we kept to ourselves, so as not to impede or influence the Grand Jury hearings running simultaneously in New York. I still believe we conducted our hearings with fine discretion. But when Rep. Nixon took microfilms to New York to show to the Grand Jury, he was served with a subpoena as he carried them toward the jury room. And despite the fact that he had unearthed and revealed the "pumpkin papers," and brought attention to the 65 documents which the Justice Department had obtained earlier and apparently ignored, our activities were branded again by Mr. Truman as a "red herring."

Hiss, as you know, was indicted.

I have no way of knowing what took place behind the closed doors of the Grand Jury hearing Hiss, beyond the bare announcement that it considered him a liar, a charge which he will now be given every opportunity to disprove in court.

Drew Pearson, who once helped put men in the Army, for which I am physically grateful, has subsequently said on the air (and it has not been denied) that in the final stages of his long appearance on the Grand Jury's witness stand Hiss accused Chambers of being a rejected pervert out for revenge. That, to me, seems like the most outlandish charge imaginable — and I believe I know Chambers as well as any other man in the country.

As for Hiss and the others, we must await the verdict of their peers.

Burglars Believe In Signs, Miss $400 In Cash In Dallas Safe

DALLAS, March 8 (AP)—Burglars last night took for granted a sign over the safe in Bob Littlefield's loan office.

The combination figures were attached.

They departed with three packs of cigarettes and some old keys taken from desk drawers.

Inside the safe was $400 in cash.

REORGANIZATION IS SNAGGED

Changes In Corps Of Engineers To Interior Department Seen

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 8 — The Hoover commission has agreed to recommend to Congress that the civil functions of the Corps of Army Engineers be transferred to the Interior department.

This was learned on definite authority today as behind-the-scenes preparations moved forward for a major battle in the Senate on the administration reorganization bill.

Sen. McClellan (D) Ark., a member of the Hoover group, said a fight will be made to amend the measure to protect the engineers from the proposed transfer. McClellan dissented from the commission's recommendation.

Other Changes Talked

The Hoover commission, it was learned, would leave only the military engineering functions of the Corps of Engineers in the Army.

All the river and harbor, flood control and navigation survey and construction work would go over to the Interior department under the plan to be outlined by the 12-man group.

McClellan, who heads the Senate Expenditures committee, said this would mean that the civil functions of the engineers would go to the Interior Department Bureau of Reclamation. The expenditures committee is handling the reorganization bill.

The commission is reported ready to recommend that other public construction activities be transferred to the Interior department.

Halted By Dispute

The reorganization bill, already passed by the House, is one of the measures currently stymied by the southern filibuster against President Truman's move to "gag" filibusters.

McClellan, one of the leaders in the filibuster battle, made it clear that the legislative slowdown already announced by the southerners applies to the reorganization measure also. He said:

"As long as the administration regards this matter (the proposed gag on filibusters) as the most important question facing the country, I think we might as well give our undivided attention to it."

Extension of rent control and a host of other measures are also blocked by the shutdown which the President has ordered on filibusters.

The expectation, however, is that administration leaders will drop their filibuster gag effort about the middle of the month and go on with other measures unless they can rally enough votes to gag the southerners by htat time.

The delay, however, admittedly is cutting into chances for success of the reorganization program, which started out early in the year with fairer prospects than at any time in the past.

President Truman and former President Hoover are said to be in full accord on the overall aims of reorganization. But it was agreed that the program would have to start rolling early to have the best chances of success.

The program cannot get into motion, however, until the reorganization legislation becomes law. As passed by the House, the bill provides that reorganization plans submitted by the President shall go into effect unless disapproved by both Houses in 60 days.

Atom Tests Against British Ship Planned

LONDON, March 8 (AP) — The Admiralty disclosed today plans to bombard a Royal Navy cruiser with atomic rays to test the British Navy's atom bomb defenses.

The tests are planned this summer in the English channel.

Navy scientists on pontoon rafts will shoot gamma rays at the cruiser Arethusa to see what is needed to defend a warship in an atomic bomb attack. Commercial shipping will be barred from the area.

Admiralty Secretary John Dugdale referred to the atom tests in Parliament, where he asked approval of the Navy's 1949-50 budget estimate of $189,250,000 pounds ($757 million).

At the same time he said Britain is carrying on "highly secret" work in development of better submarines. The results, he added, "are quite spectacular and most satisfactory."

Students who are interested in an interview should drop by the placement office on the second floor of the administration building and make an appointment.

John Wayne's Success In 'He-Man' Roles Leads To Contract With Warner Brothers

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 8—John Wayne will soon be divided more ways than Gregory Peck who puts Gaul, of Caesar fame, in the shade. John goes to Warner brothers on a seven year deal signed with Jack Warner for one picture a year. Charlie Feldman of Famous Artists, is the bright boy who brought Wayne to Warners.

I would like to hazard a guess that the first Wayne picture will be C. S. Forester's "Captain Hornblower," the coveted sea story owned by the Warner brethren.

The signing of the handsome Mr. Wayne, whose "Long Voyage Home" and "Red River" are among the screen's he-man classics, shows the trend of the Warner studio. In the past big money was made with dramas starring fighting heroes — and there will be plenty of this type film fare this coming year.

Blind Hitchhiker Tells Story

One of the greatest human interest stories ever written is "Blind Hitchhiker" in Cosmopolitan this month. It's the true story of a blind man named Clarence Peddigor, who hitchhiked from Oregon to New York — 3000 miles —to be operated on by a specialist. He did it all on $7.

Reporter Morton Sontheimer, who was General MacArthur's staff historian, is the author. It had no more than hit the stands than it was bought by producer Allen Miner as a semi-documentary with Sontheimer doing the screenplay.

Actors Ex-Wife Ill

Word from Paris is that the health of Brian Donlevy's ex-wife isn't good. She has had a severe virus infection.

I can't believe Ava Gardner and Peter Lawford are serious, even though they act the part. They have been out together practically every night.

Judy Canova went straight to the Macambo from her radio show wearing the same hillbilly braids she wears on the stage. But she had orchids in her hair given her, no doubt, by her escort, Dr. Robert Thompson.

When Jimmy Savo opens at Charley Foys he will be seen in Hollywood for the first time since his leg amputation. Jimmy, who still jigs, gets the all time high in salary paid by Foy.

Elsa Maxwell writes that she is only staying two weeks in Hollywood and will divide her time between Virginia and Darryl Zanuck and Ann and Jack Warner. She is coming for a rest and to see all her old friends.

Estelle Taylor and Ken Duncan, handsome western actor, at a table for two at Ciro's.

Anniversary Celebrated

Betty and Bob Young celebrated their wedding anniversary at the Coconut Grove, and Carmen Cavallaro played all their favorite tunes.

Mrs. Cole Porter, her friends will be happy to hear, is so improved in health that Cole will drive her here from Arizona in two weeks.

Lenore Coffee and Wilham Joyce Cowen, husband and wife writers, have sold their play, "Everard," to Jed Harris and are very happy about it.

Utah's Governor J. Bracken Lee has invited a favorite daughter, Loretta Young, to open the national cancer control drive. Loretta was born in Salt Lake City.

Congratulations to the Victor Jorys celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary at the Kings.

Resort Residents Plan Meet

Next Sunday the winter visitors and residents of Palm Springs will hold a mass meeting at the Desert inn. This is in protest of religious persecution in countries now dominated by Russia.

Amarillo Court Hears Union Plea To Set Aside Picket Ban

AMARILLO, March 8 (AP)—The Seventh Court of Civil Appeals took under advisement today a union plea to set aside a district court injunction barring picketing of work on Amarillo's $120,000 livestock building.

Oral arguments in the case were heard yesterday, but no decision was expected for perhaps 10 days.

Union attorneys attacked the injunction on the ground it violated the constitution by limiting the "sacred right to free speech," while an attorney for the original petitioners argued that the picketing was in violation of the law prohibiting secondary picketing.

BARGAIN NO BARGAIN

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The manager of a drug store here couldn't figure out why people weren't snapping up his bargain on two packs of cigarettes. Then he found the answer. The special offer had been: "18 cents a pack —two for 37."

Raiders Drop Western Montana, 79-43, In NAIB Tilt

Tech Meets University Of North Dakota In Second Round Tussle

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 8 (AP)—The big Red Raiders of Texas Tech had a breeze in their first round game of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament today, rolling over Western Montana College of Education 79-43.

The last game of the afternoon program, played before an estimated 3,500 fans, Texas Tech completely outclassed the Dillon, Mont., club and they used very little energy doing it.

Tech will meet the University of North Dakota Grand Forks quintet in a second round game for both teams here tomorrow night at 9:00.

The North Dakota basketball crew had little trouble getting past the University of Hawaii club 70-53 here tonight.

Tech Controls Ball

With Don Grove controlling the rebounds, Tech had possession of the ball throughout and used its size advantage to build up a substantial lead early in the game.

Ahead 25-18 with 16 minutes of playing time gone, Tech spurted on field goals by Wayne Bowles, Wimpy Hill and Charlie Pinnell and free throwing by Jiggs Jackson to run up a 35-18 halftime lead.

Leading 64-36 in the second half, Tech hit four successive field shots to make the count 70-36. Coach Polk Robison substituted freely and nine of the 10 players figured in the well-balanced scoring attack.

Grove had seven field goals and four free throws for 18 points. Whistle Banks chipped in 13 and Pinnell and Jackson four apiece.

Western Montana, a game but outclassed foe, never quit trying. Center Allen Weeks got four field goals, all of them from long range, and four free points.

Hawaii Five Upset By Next Tech NAIB Foe

KANSAS CITY, March 8 (AP) — The University of North Dakota Grand Forks eliminated the colorful University of Hawaii Rainbows 70-53 in first round play of the NAIB tournament tonight.

The towering rangers of Regis college, Denver, Colo., advanced to the second round of the NAIB tournament tonight by beating Erskine, of Due West, S. C., 71 to 47.

Texas Tech trimmed Western Montana College of Education, 79 to 43, in the finale of the afternoon program.

Tech had no trouble in advancing to the second round. The Texans quickly moved into a substantial lead and were in front 35-18 at half time. The Montana club obtained its quota of shots, but was cold as zero.

Preceding Tech into the second round today were Northwestern Louisiana State Teachers, Iowa State Teachers, and Beloit, Wis., college.

The Louisiana club eliminated College of Puget Sound, 70-56; Iowa Teachers captured a thrilling 65-64 decision over River Falls, Wis., Teachers and Beloit overwhelmed Waynesburg, Pa. college, 96-56.

Ron Bontemps of Beloit netted 32 points, two under the 1949 tourney's best individual performance by Tom Katsimpalis of Eastern Illinois.

Bloom will be buried Thursday at Mount Eden cemetery in Westchester Hills, New York. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. (EST), that day at the West Side Institutional synagogue.

(AP) — The House Criminal Jurisprudence committee tonight postponed action for one week on a bill to set up a commission to study and recommend revision of the state's laws on crime and punishment. The decision followed more than two hours of testimony by attorneys, judges and teachers on needs for the revision of the state's laws on crime and punishment.

Jimmy Crawford, Mississippi football player, plans to raise and sell bees for a vocation after graduation.

Westerner Track Teams Hold Meet

An intra-squad track and field meet was held Tuesday afternoon at Chapman field between two teams of Westerner trackmen.

Purpose of the meet was to select the outstanding boys for participation in the Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet in Fort Worth March 18-19, and Coach Fred Brown said Tuesday night that nine men and the manager would make the trip. Those making the trip will be announced this afternoon.

The Gold team defeated the Blacks, 65-52, in the 13-event meet, and the times were rather slow, indicating that lots of practice is necessary between now and the time of the Fort Worth meet. If the weather holds up the boys should be in good shape.

The time in the various events were not available, but the winners were named.

Songs and yells by the pep squad opened the program, following a buffet dinner served cafeteria style. B. H. Baldwin, high school principal, gave a talk of welcome, with responses by Mary Helen Bruce, girls basketball captain, and John B. Allen, for the football squad.

A skit "Granny's First Football Game" was presented, after which coaches were introduced. Miss Margaret Heinrich followed with a piano selection.

TECH BACKS PICK UP POINTERS—This picture of the backfield candidates at Texas Tech shows why the Red Raiders aren't worried too much about the strength behind the line. Layne Joins Raider Staff

Texas Tech's large football squad went through its second day of conditioning drills without much fuss yesterday, but under the expert eyes of a new assistant coach.

The addition to Tech's spring training program is Bobby Layne, former University of Texas quarterback and more recently quarterback for the Chicago Bears of the National Football League. Layne, who last week helped his alma mater in spring training, will work primarily with the quarterbacks, while assisting with the backs generally.

Practice yesterday began to show signs of becoming rough, with a good amount of unscheduled head-knocking. Players wore helmets and pads, a wise move, for many of the over-enthusiastic threw blocks that were designed to stick.

There has been no tackling and no blocking to speak of so far, but that will come almost any day now. As Coach Dell Morgan said during the winter, "There's a lot of work to get done in spring training this year and we don't plan to waste a minute. I have an idea that things might get rough."

Linemen were getting instruction from Coach Morgan and Line Coach G. B. Morris, both of whom spent the majority of their time with only the experienced players. Freshmen and other newcomers to the Red Raider squad were given indoctrination in fundamentals by Ends Bill Kelley and Frank Ottmers, both graduating players, as well as Guard Don Orr.

Backs were getting instructions from Coaches Tipp Mooney and Layne, while the inexperienced backs picked up instruction from Glenn Lewis, graduating halfback.

A generous portion of the afternoon was spent on perfecting plays that will be used next fall, with emphasis on players learning their assignments and getting the timing correct.

Ticket Sale To Open Monday

Tickets for the exhibition game here April 5 between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians will go on sale next Monday at the Hub Clothiers.

Only general admission tickets will be placed on sale, with box seat holders and holders of reserved seats last year being given first choice on obtaining the same seats for this game.

Mrs. Sam Rosenthal, Hubber owner, said that 8,000 general admission tickets would be placed on sale at a cost of $1.20 each. This is 20 cents higher than last year, but the price was set by the visiting clubs, who share the profits on a 40-40-20 basis with the host park.

Mrs. Rosenthal also announced that paid up box seat holders could pick up their box seat reservations for the Hubber games at the new Hubber office, Room 208 of the Shaw building. Reserved seat ticket holders also may pick up their books, providing they have paid for them.

Manager Jackie Sullivan is making plans to leave Lubbock Saturday for Greenville, where he will work with the managers of Greenville and Corpus Christi in operating a baseball tryout camp. The camp will last a week, after which Sullivan will join the Hubber squad to open spring training on March 20 in Greenville.

Two additional contracts were received over the weekend, bringing the total number of Hubbers under contract to 11, with 11 remaining to be signed.

Arizona Meets Baylor Tonight

Bears, Rice Favored To Win NCAA Tussles

DALLAS, March 8 (AP) — Baylor and Rice have been installed as narrow favorites to win opening games tomorrow night in a play-off that will determine this section's representative in the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional basketball tournament.

Baylor, which tied Rice and Arkansas for the Southwest Conference championship, meets Arizona, title team of the Border Conference, at 7:30 p.m. Rice and Arkansas get together at 9 o'clock. The winners will battle Thursday night for the NCAA spot at Kansas City March 18 and 19.

There is little comparison between Baylor and Arizona. The latter split with Texas Tech which beat Rice 46-39 in early season play. Baylor licked Rice twice.

Rice downed Arkansas twice during the Southwest Conference campaign.

Baylor is the defending district representative in the NCAA. Last year the Bears not only won the Western Regional at Kansas City but went to the finals of the national play-off at New York. In order to get to Kansas City the Bears beat Arizona in a play-off here.

The four teams have somewhat similar records although Baylor's is slightly the best. The Bears show a 14-9 season mark. Arizona won 16 while losing 10, Rice took 13 and dropped 10 and Arkansas had a 12-10 record. In conference play each lost three games.

The play-off will be at the Fair Park recreation court where 5,000 fans can be accommodated.

Wayland Quint Drops Guadalajara, 48-33

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Mar. 8—Wayland college's touring basketball team took the Guadalajara university quintet in stride here Monday night, winning easily 48-33.

Guadalajara took an early lead and held a 22-19 margin at the half, but could not make this advantage stand up in the final 20-minute stanza. The home town team had to be content with long shots, as Ed Billings, Bill Knighton and D. W. Harkins found the range close in.

Guadalajara played rough, hard ball and was given numerous fouls. Contrary to Wayland expectations, the officiating was beyond question fair. Crowd reaction was excellent, despite admissions from many in the crowd that the local fans had laid much money on the home team.

The Guadalajara team marched on the court dressed in sombreros, white plantation suits with broad red sashes. Mexican string band played for a typical dance. The hotel sponsored a serenade before Wayland left for the game.

The Pioneers plan a one-day trip to Mexico City Wednesday, returning here that night and leaving by way of Mexico's West Coast on return Thursday.

Danny Litwhiler, outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, passes the off season as a high school teacher in his native Ringtown, Pa.

Double Main Go Slated At Arena

A double main even will feature the wrestling card tonight at Sled Allen's arena, and good matches are expected in all events.

In the second main event Pat O'Dowdy, who last week expected to use Billy Goelz as a stepping stone, meets Monte LaDue in a non-title bout, for two out of three falls with an hour time limit.

Rowdy O'Dowdy needs no introduction to wrestling fans in Lubbock, and he is expected to give his all in defeating, or attempting to subdue, LaDue.

Each man claims to be the best and the roughest grappler in these parts, and both will be out to prove it in the headliner tonight. Both men are capable of wrestling scientifically or otherwise, but getting them to leave out the rough stuff is hard to do.

In the first main event Buck Weaver is scheduled to go against Dory Funk of Hammond, Indiana. This is the first appearance for Funk in these parts in a good while, and he has been vacationing in Florida.

Weaver made his first showing here last week since 1934 and put Gorilla Poggi through wringers. These two men are fast, scientific, and well-versed in the tricks of the ring and should put on a good show.

George Overhauls will meet Balk Estes in the first event, which is scheduled for two out of three falls with a 45-minute time limit. Overhauls has been appearing regularly in the preliminary events, and he has picked up lots of experience and is strong and rugged.

Estes is another comparatively newcomer and is expected to go a long way in the professional ranks. Estes has more experience than Overhauls, but each man is capable of winning.

Tickets are on sale at Wylies Drug store. The doors open at 7 o'clock with the first match at 8.

Lanier, Martin Open $2,500,000 Damage Suits Against Baseball

Reserve Clause Attacked By Pair

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—Max Lanier and Fred Martin, who once pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals, sued organized baseball for damages totaling $2,500,000 today in an effort to break the five-year suspensions imposed on them for jumping to the Mexican league.

They also obtained a federal court order directing organized baseball to show cause on March 15 why it should not be temporarily restrained from barring them and from demanding that players sign contracts containing "either a reserve or a termination clause."

The reserve clause—often called the backbone of professional baseball — was attacked as a violation of the anti-trust laws in the suits filed in federal court here by John L. Flynn, New York attorney.

Named as defendants were A. B. (Happy) Chandler, baseball commissioner; Ford C. Frick, president of the National league; William Harridge, president of the American league; George M. Trautmann, president of the National Association of minor leagues, and all 16 major league clubs.

Seeking triple damages under the Sherman and Clayton Anti-Trust laws, Lanier sought $1,500,000 and Martin an even $1,000,000.

Mickey Owen, former Brooklyn catcher, has been attempting to enlist support for his theory that Chandler might lift the suspensions if officials of organized baseball were not faced with court action.

Lanier made a sworn statement today, however, that Chandler informed him on Feb. 26 that there were no "present plans for my reinstatement in professional baseball."

Plans For Operating Oil Belt League To Be Completed Sunday

Plans for operating the Oil Belt baseball league will be completed Sunday, March 13, at a meeting of team representatives at the Hilton hotel.

President Joe Holmes said Tuesday that several teams have asked to be admitted to the league, but that nothing definite has been decided. Denver City, Seagraves, Levelland, Post, Slaton, Sundown, and perhaps Littlefield and Brownfield will be in the league. In addition other teams may be admitted.

The meeting Sunday will be to decide how many teams will be admitted and if new teams will be allowed.

FREE THROW RECORD BROKEN

Four Records Broken In Junior College Basketball Tournament

COLLEGE STATION, March 8 (AP)—Four records remained unmatched and four others were broken in the second annual Texas A. & M. state Junior College Basketball Tournament held here last week.

Only one mark in individual scoring of those established in the inaugural meet last March was replaced, and that was for the most free throws made in one game. Roy Burroughs, stellar forward for the third-place Lon Morris Bearcats of Jacksonville, flipped in nine charity tosses against San Angelo to break the old record of eight set by Sydon Hrachovy, then on Blinn Junior college and now at A. & M.

Weldon Duncan of Henderson County Junior college of Athens hung up a new high for the best tournament scoring average when he totaled 41 points in two contests for a 20.5 average. This topped the 20-point average of Charles Whitten of Paris, made last year.

The tournament champions—the Tyler Apaches—severed their own highest single-game team score twice last week. They popped in 93 points against Frank Phillips of Borger and 95 in the semifinals against Lon Morris. The Apaches' top talley in 1948 was 79.

One other record fell by the wayside when a total of 63 personal fouls were called in the first-round battle between John Tarleton of Stephenville and Allen Academy of Bryan.

Whitten's 30 points and 15 field goals in one game which spotlighted the 1948 event stood up under last week's onslaught. So did the 72-point tournament total of Hrachovy. Louis Wills, sharpshooting Allen Academy forward, threatened Hrachovy's mark seriously with 68 points in his four appearances.

Armed Captures Seven Furlong Coral Gables Purse By Length

MIAMI, Fla., March 8 (AP) — Armed drew the loudest applause of the Florida turf season today when, in the third attempt of his winter come-back campaign, he scored his first triumph since his victory at this Gulf Stream track on Jan. 2, 1948.

Calumet farm's eight-year-old golden gelding captured the seven furlong Coral Gables purse in 1:23 2/5 and was well in hand while registering by a good length. The Sandy Strand Stable's Manna H. was second, a half length before Dan Chappel's Control, with Roi Rouge fourth.

Ex-Hurler Bill Whittaker Dies

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 8 (AP) — William H. (Buzzer Bill) Whittaker, 60, one of the pitching greats of Fort Worth's mighty league and Dixie Series march of the twenties, is dead.

Whittaker succumbed yesterday at a hospital here from what was attributed as cancer, dying less than three months after one of his mound colleagues of the old championship Cats, Joe Pate, had passed on at Fort Worth.

Funeral services will be held here Thursday in the Little Church of The Flowers with interment in Forest Lawn memorial park at Glendale. He is survived by his widow, Ruth.

Whittaker, who played in the American Association and the Central and Three-I leagues before coming to Texas, was in professional baseball from 1907 to 1927. He went to Los Angeles to live more than 20 years ago and had been employed as an electrician at the R-K-O studios.

Whittaker's first season with Fort Worth was 1918 and his last was 1922.

Commissioner Favors Elimination Tourney

Eagan Refuses To Okay Louis Sponsored Heavyweight Fight

NEW YORK, March 8 (INS)—Eddie Eagan, New York State's boxing overlord, read his lines as anticipated today in refusing his blessing to Joe Louis' proposed heavyweight "title" fight between Ezzard Charles and Joe Walcott.

Louis said after a conference with Eagan that the Athletic Commission chairman indicated he favored an elimination tournament to decide a successor to the Louis-vacated heavyweight throne.

The former champion said Eagan told him he would not be willing to recognize the winner of any single bout as titleholder.

Louis also was denied a New York promotional license until he obtains a site for staging fights and until his International Boxing Club is incorporated under New York law.

In his first meeting with Eagan since he abdicated his title, Louis was informed that he must show a year's valid lease on a stadium or indoor arena, and that any such site must be approved by the New York fire department.

Talking to newsmen after the Eagan conference, Louis said he had told the Commission chairman that he held valid contracts for the services of Charles and Walcott and had an agreement with Lee Savold for a meeting with the Charles-Walcott victor.

Louis denied the legality of a he had attempted to reach Eagan by phone but was unable to do so.

Louis, whose retirement last week was announced to the NBA but not to Eagan, told newsmen contract the 20th Century Sporting Club claims it has with Charles. Louis repeated previous claims by his representatives that Charles' signature does not appear on the 20th Century document.

The former champion indicated that he feels his Charles-Walcott proposal parallels the naming of Ray Robinson as welterweight champion after Marty Servo vacated that title in 1946.

On that occasion, Robinson defeated Tommy Bell and was recognized as champ by both the New York Commission and the National Boxing Association.

NBA commissioner Abe Greene already has sanctioned the Walcott-Charles bout as a "title" fight.

Longhorns Hold Intra-Squad Tilt

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP) — The first string line and second string backfield of the Texas football squad combined today to win an intrasquad game 21-14 on the last day of spring practice for the Longhorns.

Bill Allen and Bubba Shands were outstanding in the backfield for the winners, the Whites. They played against the Orange composed of the first string backfield and second string line.

White touchdowns were made on a pass from Allen to Shands for 17 yards, on a pass from Allen to Ray Stone for eight yards and a run by Carl Mayes from the one-yard line.

Orange touchdowns were made on a 3-yard run by Randall Clay after Billy Pyle had reutrned a kickoff 80 yards and a 3-yard run by Newell Cane after Paul Campbell had passed to Ben Procter for 20 yards.

Interest Mounts In River Project

such a potential demand — and most observers considered estimates exceedingly conservative — would be more than enough as a guarantee that the project would be self-liquidating if the government advanced money to build it.

However, more definite financial estimates—and they still will be tentative— as to probable costs of construction and of water from a reservoir will be available when Burleigh completes around June 1 a preliminary report on the proposed project.

Comparison Is Made

The magnitude of a possible 70,000 acre feet of water sales per year initially — with the logical assumption that demand would increase from year to year — can be grasped more readily if a little simple mathematics is applied.

The 70,000 acre feet approximates 22 billion, 750 million gallons of water. The present production cost of water used by towns and cities on the South Plains probably averages close to 10 cents per 1,000 gallons. Some produce for less (the Lubbock average is closer to 9 cents) but in other localities the cost is a good deal higher.

But, applying the rate of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons to 70,000 acre feet, the result would be a gross revenue of about $2,250,000 a year from water sales. That would be enough to make the proposed dam, reservoir and pipelines pay for themselves in considerably less than the 40 years allowed by the government unless construction and operating costs are fantastically higher than expert opinion now supposes.

Also Favors Project

Developments in Plainview Tuesday as the speedy aftermath to Monday's inter-city conference were accepted merely as another evidence of the intense interest prevailing in the entire area in a project which offers promise of solving long-range water problems.

Mayor Holbrook was one among the spokesmen of 14 cities of the South Plains and Panhandle to voice an attitude toward the proposed Canadian project Monday. All others said, with varying emphasis, that they are interested in the possibilities. Mayor Holbrook said Plainview would not be interested in a surface reservoir on the Canadian as a source of supply. But he said later he would like to see the dam built.

A rebuttal to his opinion was expressed Tuesday in telegrams by other Plainview city and civic officials to The Morning Avalanche, Lubbock Mayor W. H. Rodgers, John McCarty as president of the Panhandle Water Conservation authority at Amarillo and the reclamation service.

Telegram Is Quoted

The telegram to The Morning Avalanche read:

"The undersigned city councilmen, the board of city development and chamber of commerce (are) intensely interested in possibilities of proposed Canadian river dam project. Mayor Winfield Holbrook's statements at Plainview meeting March 7th misleading and without constituted authority and only his personal convictions. Please indicate when and how we shall act further in support of water conservation in the great Panhandle-South Plains region."

Signers of the telegram were Dr. Joe E. Webb, city councilman and chamber of commerce director; J. Ray Pritchett, councilman and chamber of commerce president; and C. P. Elliott, Bryan Hood and Sam Langford, all city councilmen.

Plainview chamber directors also met in called session to emphasize their interest in the project, according to information here.

It was the consensus in Plainview, however, that the controversy is more apparent than real —that there is considerably less difference in attitudes toward the proposed project than was indicated on the surface.

Seen As Insurance

It was pointed out that Mayor Holbrook said he was interested in doing what he could to get the Canadian project built and believes the cost would be justified by many benefits—flood control, wild life preserves, recreational advantages and to help communities with water problems.

But he has voiced confidence on many occasions, based on more than 30 years of close study and observation, that Plainview can get all the water it needs, at lower cost and of better quality, from present underground sources than it could obtain from a Canadian reservoir.

Other officials of the city either did not share Mayor Holbrook's confidence as to the permanency of sufficient underground supplies or they look upon the possiblity of abundant water from the Canadian as necessary insurance for continuing growth.

"I, for one, am completely confident in the future of Plainview," Dr. Webb commented. "I believe we are going to build a large and splendid city here, and before too long. I don't want to take any avoidable chance that our growth might be checked or retarded for lack of water. It will be good insurance to have it available even if we never have use for it."

Estimates Are Given

According to estimates reported at the conference Monday, Plainview now uses about 2,500 acre feet of water a year (approximately 812,500,000 gallons).

Lamesa officials estimated their average daily water consumption at about 1,250,000 gallons — or about 1,500 acre feet a year. Brownfield City Manager E. D. Jones estimated average daily usage there at around 750,000 gallons—close to 1,000 acre feet a year. Requirements in each of the cities will more than double by 1955 if they maintain the rate of increase of the past few years.

Officials of both Lamesa and Brownfield said they have ample supplies in sight for an indefinite period of years from wells. But all said also they are interested in supplies in which they would feel greater confidence as to permanency than underground sources.

"I'm interested in the Canadian river development because I don't want to overlook any bets," Brownfield Manager Jones remarked.

HST's Proposal

gress should enact legislation authorizing federal grants to the states to assist in meeting the operating expenses of elementary and secondary schools."

"There is general agreement," he said, "that such aid can be given without interference with state responsibility for the scope and content of teaching."

The President asserted that "if our country is to retain its freedom in a world of conflicting political philosophies, we must take steps to assure that every American youth shall receive the highest level of training by which he can profit." He added:

"A soundly conceived federal scholarship program in our colleges and universities is a necessary step in attaining this goal."

Governor Speaks

Before the honorary degree was conferred upon him by President Hamilton Holt of Rollins college, the President heard Governor Fuller Warren of Florida speak of the need for settlement of the issues of race, economy and peace.

The governor said:

"President Truman is a liberal. What are the great liberal issues now before our people and all peoples that must engage the attention of statesmen?

"At least three of these are transcendent, and in each one of them President Truman has already played the role of leader. They are, in brief, the race issue, the economic issue and the peace issue.

"They are all fundamentally issues of justice.

Dedicates Causeway

"The race issue is the issue of how to substitute helpfulness for hatefulness and despair in those regions here and abroad where two or more races live together in the same proximate territories."

The President spoke to a packed audience in a stately gothic chapel on the college campus. He wore robes of black, faced with purple velvet.

The President flew to Orlando this morning from Key West, landing at the Army base there. He then dedicated a causeway between Orlando and Winter Park to the late Sen. Charles O. Andrews, of Florida.

He drove the eight miles to Winter Park along streets and highways lined with tens of thousands of Floridians who had motored from miles away to see and cheer him.

Road Bill Okayed

ral roads.

The Highway department would be required to build the roads in rural sections where they are most needed. However, the funds could not be used to develop roads planned as primary state or federal highways.

The idea of a continuing rural road program was approved by Gov. Beauford H. Jester in a recent message to the legislature, but he has offered no objection to the $15 million figure.

Earlier today, Gov. Beauford H. Jester rebuked Rep. C. S. McLellan's idea of spending state money on gravel or caliche feeder roads leading to secondary highways. He said the plan is a poor one because the type of road suggested in the natural gas tax measure "won't last."

"Last Mile" Sought

Backers of the McLellan measure told the revenue and taxation committee that all-weather roads, not necessarily of the "black-top" type, are essential to give farmers every-day access to the secondary roads advocated by Colson, Briscoe and others.

Bill Recommended

It is the gravel and caliche roads that farmers say are needed for the "last mile" between their farms and secondary roads.

McLellan's bill was recommended for House passage by a committee vote of 15 to 4. A majority of the 2,500 to 3,000 farmers, ranchers, and small-town business men who sat through the five-hour hearing cheered and clapped as the last member called his vote.

Levying a production tax of one cent per 1,000 feet of natural gas, the bill is the first major money-raising measure to be approved by the revenue and taxation committee since 1941.

Mexican Newspapermen Honor Laredo Publisher With Medal

MEXICO CITY, March 8 (AP)—A gold medal "in recognition of his work for friendly relations between the U. S. and Mexico" was presented to William Prescott Allen of Laredo, by Mexican newspapermen tonight.

Efrain Hidalgo, head of the Mexican division of "United American journalists," made the presentation. As he cited Allen's work, Hidalgo spoke into a telephone so that Mrs. Allen, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, could hear the presentation.

Erazo Macias Avila, a Guanajuato, Mexican editor, praised the publisher of the Laredo Times on behalf of "the small papers of the provinces where the newspaperman does everything and the newsmen are close to the people." He expressed to Allen "the gratiturde of newspapers and thanks for his understanding."

ther station said. The temperature is expected to drop to or very near the freezing mark, rising during the day to an expected high of 45 degrees, the Weatherman added. Tonight the mercury likely will plunge even lower, possibly into the mid-twenties before Thursday morning, the station forecast.

However, a slight upward trend was expected to set in by Thursday afternoon and no additional severe weather was in sight immediately.

Tuesday, the mercury ranged up to a comparatively warm 74 degrees, continuing the recent spring like trend. Freezing temperatures have been recorded at the Weather station twice this month so far on March 1 and 2.

FLOODS CONTINUE TO CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

(By The Associated Press)

Floods, an annual spring menace, were serious Tuesday in parts of Nebraska but elsewhere the threat was fading.

Waters were on a rampage in scattered sections of Nebraska. At Crete, Neb., the situation was "extremely critical."

The Missouri river, which flows through eight states from northern Montana downward to southern Illinois, was harnessed by sudden, freezing cold.

The government weather station at Chicago said the freeze would last several days, permitting a gradual runoff in tributaries.

River Invades Town

Scattered sections were inundated, however by waters of suddenly wild tributaries of the main, large rivers.

The Big Blue river in Nebraska overflowed several city blocks at Crete. Scores of families were driven from homes as water covered a two-mile area. Emergency preparations were being made at Beatrice, Neb.

Crippling floods over the weekend still kept scores of persons from reaching their homes in the Missouri Valley, Iowa area. Utilities services were cut off, and drinking water rationed. One thousand persons have been evacuated.

Ice Jams Stream

Tracing the Missouri's course from Montana, this was the picture:

Favorable weather has reduced the flood threat, "Big Muddy" and smaller tributaries frozen. Some small creeks and rivers slightly flooded.

In the Dakotas, through which the Missouri flows southward, there was no immediate flood threat. Heavy ice still controlled the river.

In Nebraska, the Missouri was mostly ice-jammed, some flooding and some run-off. The Platte and Elkhorn were over flood stage at several points, but not seriously threatening communities.

Missouri Drops Steadily

No material damage was expected in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois where the "Big Muddy" ends.

The Missouri was steadily dropping in Kansas and in Missouri, but some points reported still above flood stage.

In Minnesota, the snow cover has nearly disappeared in the southern and central portions.

Wisconsin river levels were falling, but floods were expected in low areas after snow and ice thaws.

No floods threaten Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky, though in these states rivers and tributaries rise in early April.

The well-behaved Arkansas, Grand, Verdigris and Caney rivers in northeastern Oklahoma presented no flood threat.

There was no serious threat of heavy water in Arkansas, where the White river was slightly above flood stage.

In the west no immediate flood danger was seen.

No flood threatened Colorado, Oregon, Utah or Idaho. The Big Horn in Wyoming was normal.

Rent Curbs In Doubt

licans also plan to make a floor fight for an amendment proposed by Rep. Brown (D-Ga.), to assure landlords a "reasonable return on fair value" of their rental holdings so far as is practicable.

Woods Is Assailed

The Brown amendment was defeated by a close vote in the House Banking committee which drafted the pending 15-month extension bill.

On that point, Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods has testified that he approves of the "fair return" principle but that he has found no method of administering it.

Woods, who urged both the House and Senate committees to approve a two year extension of the controls with greater enforcement powers, came under new fire today at a Senate hearing.

Mrs. Joseille Rhodes, president of the Arizona Property Owners association, told the committee it should pass a law to "fine Mr. Tighe Woods and put him in jail when he flagrantly violates the truth and execution of the law."

She asserted that Woods had decontrolled the "sheep ranches, the canyons and the desert" in parts of Arizona, but said he has done nothing about removing controls in urban areas as recommended by local advisory boards.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

CARLSBAD, N. M., March 8 (INS)—Dalton Smith was arraigned on a murder charge in Carlsbad today in connection with the death of his wife, Evelyn Smith. Smith entered a plea of innocent. He is being held without bond. Mrs. Smith was found apparently choked to death Sunday night. This was the fifth murder in Carlsbad in less than a year.

time he had started away at high speed in a truck he and the other suspect allegedly had driven to near the place burglarized, he said.

Truck Is Found

The complaints, sworn to by City Detective Lee Rice, jr., and L. W. Forrester, were filed in the courts of D. W. Robertson and C. E. Lynn, justices of peace, for investigation by the next grand jury. Bond of $1,500 was set. Lynn said a warrant for the arrest of the other person had been issued and sent to the sheriff's department.

In the meantime, investigators said they had found the truck taken from the Wilk place, abandoned.

Other Thefts Reported

Theft of two girl's bikes were reported to police by Mrs. V. E. Gamblin of 2206 Fifteenth and Jimmie Whitesides of 2320 Fourteenth.

C. B. Berry, who operates Berry's motel two miles from Lubbock on the Slaton highway, informed the sheriff's department that a cottage unit south of the main building had been burglarized.

Someone, he said, cut a north window open, entered and removed 12 sheets and 30 towels. Deps. Sheriff Tom Cannon and Frank Mitchell investigated.

City police last night were searching for the hit-and-run driver of a car which struck three other vehicles parked at Tabernacle Baptist church, at Fifteenth and Ave. N.

The driver of the light convertible abandoned his auto at the scene of the wreck, fleeing with a woman companion. Property damage to the other vehicles involved was heavy, an investigating patrolman said.

Safe Is Opened

Safe burglars knocked the knob and punched the pin of a new safe Monday night or this morning in the office of John Lockhart's wrecking yard about four and a half miles from Lubbock on the Idalou highway, the sheriff's department was informed Tuesday morning.

Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank and Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton said the safe burglars had crawled over a fence bordering the northwest limits of Lockhart's wrecking yard, had pried facing off the back door, had entered the place, pushed the safe from the office to the back of the building and there had neatly opened it. Approximately $100 was reported missing.

A 17-year-old Lubbock youth who was in possession of two pistols, a blackjack ,a "slapper," a camera, photographic equipment and other property when caught speeding early Monday night was released from custody after paying speeding and five overparking tickets this morning.

Cleaned Out Lockers

Detectives, assisted by relatives of the youth, worked together on the investigation and found that the suspect, terminating his employment at a downtown place, had "cleaned out his lockers" and was taking the property home. He had been paying $5 a week for the pistols, one of which was loaded and was in the glove compartment of his car. A brother who could vouch for the youth's ownership of the properties "severely lectured" the youth and asked the police to investigate the youngster further if he doesn't attend school regularly, drive carefully and refrain from collection of firearms and blackjacks.

Fines collected in the case totaled $25, corporation court officials said.

Board Must Okay Contract

Next step will be the approval of the contract with the War Assets Administration by the college board of directors. Next meeting of the board is set for April 11 in Austin.

Tech has been operating its wheat poisoning of cattle experiment on the project for the past year in cooperation with Texas A. & M. college. Several hundred head of cattle will be fed out each year in conducting the experiment.

Tech is handling the operating end of the project and Texas A. & M. is directing the research and laboratory phases of the experiment.

Senate Group Okays Bills Affecting Police, Firemen

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP) — The Senate State Affairs committee recommended today the passage of two bills changing state laws governing Texas firemen and policemen.

Substitute measures offered by subcommittees were approved for Senator Walter Tynan's minimum pay bill and Senator Kyle Vick's civil service proposal—both affecting firemen and policemen only.

The committee sent to a subcommittee a bill which would take the issuance of motor vehicle licenses out of the hands of county tax assessor-collectors.

Tynan said the substitute for his bill would give firemen and policemen in cities of 40,000 population and over a 10 percent pay raise. The raise would be optional in cities of 10,000 to 40,000 population.

Vick said the substitute for his bill made all the provisions permissive instead of mandatory.

DRUG WARNING GIVEN

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—The Food and Drug administration warned the public today against the use of syrup of urethane as a cough medicine. The agency said its use in quantity may cause a dangerous lowering of the white blood cell count, leaving the patient more vulnerable to infection.

The Romans had developed some form of oyster culture as early as 100 B.C.

ly nothing to eat for three days.

On another trip Dupuis served as the escort for a cotton buyer, who rewarded the youthful soldier with a cash payment of $25 when the journey was completed. "That was one of the few times during the war that I received pay," Dupuis remarks with a smile.

After the close of the war Dupuis chopped cord wood for the river boats, but a severe injury to his left foot forced him back into farming. He farmed in the Center Point area until about 1920, when he retired. He has lived at Brownfield since 1941.

Dupuis has five living children, but none are expected to be here Wednesday for the quiet birthday celebration. The children include J. L. Dupuis of Center Point, La.; S. T. Dupuis of Alexandria, La.; J. W. Dupuis of Algiers, La.; Mrs. Belle Eden of San Francisco, Calif.; and Mrs. C. B. Worsham of Brownfield.

Two of Dupuis' grandsons and their family are expected here, however. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hayes of Lakeside, Ariz., are scheduled to arrive Wednesday, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and a daughter Sandra, all of Lakeside.

Friends and relatives of the family will be guests at the Worsham home Wednesday night.

CHILD RESTING WELL

Lindsey Webb, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Webb of Abernathy, was reported by his family to be resting well in West Texas hospital last night. The child received a fractured leg when he slipped on a grain elevator warehouse floor about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

tween different industries and localities.

"As a consequence, there is every likelihood that we will continue to have a high volume of labor turnover and considerable job shifting."

He asserted that the impact will be felt mainly by women and older workers, who "will probably find it somewhat more difficult to obtain jobs after layoffs."

At the same time, Goodwin forecast that the volume of unemployment claims and the number of job seekers will be approximately 25 per cent higher between now and next June 30 than was estimated a year ago.

Fund Request Cut

He said the November-December total for job requests showed an increase of more than a million over the period for the previous year.

Goodwin reported that the social security trust fund for unemployment benefits has been increasing in recent years, and now totals about $7.5 billion.

His appropriations request for operation of federal employment and unemployment services and aid to the states during fiscal 1950 is $135,000,000. It was pared $24,000,000 by the Budget bureau, and is $5,000,000 more than was granted for fiscal 1949.

Job Requests Climbing

But a $5,000,000 deficiency appropriations request for 1949 is already before Congress, and Goodwin warned that a second deficiency request will be submitted in three or four weeks because of the sharp increase in unemployment since October.

He said claims for unemployment benefits increased by more than a million, to slightly over 3 million, during the last quarter of 1948. Benefit payments totaled 10 million, an increase of 1.75 million.

Goodwin said it was necessary to shift personnel to unemployment services to the detriment of employment placements. He reported:

"Employment counseling interviews have been steadily declining, despite increased job requests, during the last two months, and were some 50,000 a month less than a year ago.

"It seems clear to me that in times like these employment offices should be redoubling their efforts to place workers."

GREENVILLE WOMAN DIES

GREENVILLE, March 8. (AP)—Mrs. Will N. Harrison, 85, pioneer Greenville teacher, clubwoman and church worker, died tonight. She was the mother of Hubert M. Harrison of Longview, manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. Other survivors include another son, W. Walworth Harrison of Greenville.

The Lincoln Cathedral Ringers, England, have rung a peal they claim is a record—lasting 2 hours and 54 minutes and consisting of 22 spliced surprise major methods.

to the Senate immediately.

Administration leaders thus suffered a setback in their none-too-hopeful plan to wear down the filibuster forces with night sessions, starting tonight.

There were reports that the leaders, convinced they can't win, are looking for a graceful way to bring up some other measure on Mr. Truman's legislative program.

In any event, southern orators showed no signs of dismay over the prospect of long after-dark sessions.

No Real Test So Far

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), captain of the filibuster team, promptly lined up his battery of speakers —at least 19—and instructed them to load ammunition for a day's firing each. Since each senator can speak twice, the Dixie bloc could keep the debate rolling along well into April, at least.

So far there has been no real test of the southerners' forensic stamina. They have talked leisurely, in short relays punctuated by repeated interruptions, and several of them have professed amiably that they haven't even begun to filibuster yet.

SEN. CAIN FINALLY ENDS BLAST AGAINST WALLGREN

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Senator Cain (R-Wash) ended his Senate attack on the nomination of Mon Wallgren to be chairman of the National Security Resources board at 8 p. m., CST.

He had spoken continuously for six hours and 45 minutes—far short of his announced 16 hours.

It was, however, the longest continuous speech which the Senate has heard so far this year.

400 In Gallery

Cain, who did not leave the floor after he started his talk at 1:15 p. m. (CST) looked tired and haggard at the wind-up. But his voice still was in fairly good shape.

An estimated 400 persons were in the gallery for the windup of the longest session of the 81st Congress.

When Cain finished, fewer than 20 senators were in their seats.

The Senate promptly recessed until noon Wednesday.

Cain, giving southern Democrats a welcome rest in their long filibuster to preserve the right to filibuster, has been fighting for several weeks against the nomination of Wallgren, former Washington governor and fishing companion of President Truman.

Finally Yields Floor

He sought today to convince his colleagues that Wallgren should be consigned to "the limbo of forgotten politicians" instead of being confirmed to the high defense post.

He finally yielded the floor after noting that a senator has the right to speak twice on the same subject during any legislative day.

Cain, who is 43 and who was a paratrooper in the last war, had previously told Democratic floor leader Lucas (Ill) that "I will attempt to conclude, strength permitting, before the night is over."

Lucas then said the Senate would remain in session until Cain had finished.

Cain began his 70,000-word-plus prepared speech at 1:15 p. m. Occasionally he sipped water, milk and hot black coffee as he told the senators Wallgren is unqualified for the job.

At one point in his speech, an aide helped Cain change a shoe while he talked on without a letup.

From time to time he was given an opportunity to rest his voice while other senators asked him questions about specific parts of his speech.

olds., said he was interested in a new global flight — this time touching at both the north and south poles.

The career pilot said he was worried only twice during his grueling solo flight from Honolulu. Once was when he found ice forming on his wings over the Rocky mountains. The second time was when his engine suddenly went dead over Chicago.

Switches Gas Tanks

The Chicago incident, he said, was the result of an exhausted gas tank. He said he was talking into his microphone at the time and didn't notice that one tank had run dry.

He said he switched tanks quickly but not until the red and silver plane had dropped into a cloud bank. "I had a helluva time finding an opening again," he said.

Odom landed with 14 gallons of the original 288 gallons of gas still in his tank. Three extra tanks had been fitted to the plane. Odom said that was the only extra equipment the sleek monoplane needed.

"Anybody could do it," he said. "It's as easy as driving an automobile."

Carried "Special Diet"

The tall, balding, airman had no automatic pilot in the plane. He said he needed none. He was able to eat, shave and change his shirt merely by letting go of the controls and depending on the plane's own stabilization.

Odom said he had a "special diet" which he depended on to carry him through long-distance flights. It consisted mainly of chicken sandwiches, bouillon, chocolate bars, orange juice and water.

Miss Evelyn Thompson of Manhasset, N. Y., who Odom identified as his fiancee, was at the airport to meet him but remained in a waiting room until the reception on the field was ended.

Odom was divorced from his wife last Sept. 28. They have two children. Odom said he intended to visit them at their home in Long Island, N. Y., during the next few days.

European Picture Brightened By Increasing Evidence Of Recovery

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The many halting steps which have been taken since the war to produce unity and recovery in Western Europe seem to be coming to a head this spring in a great upsurge.

The days of extreme austerity are coming to a close. Emergency measures are giving way to long range planning.

Last year's questions as to whether the Marshall plan would work have resolved themselves into the question of how to continue its effects after 1951.

European Council Formed

A European council, hailed as the first step toward a European parliament, is getting under way.

The executive committee of the organization for European economic co-operation, recently raised to cabinet level, has worked out a long-term recovery plan designed to further co-ordinate Marshall plan projects. It is mapping steps to project the European part of the plan into the indefinite future.

It apparently has decided that austerity programs such as Britain adopted are no longer required for the continent.

Britain's own austerity program is being relaxed. The British Press association reports that all clothes rationing will end in the next fortnight. Food rations are being increased. There is even talk that Britons will soon be allowed to buy part of the 75 per cent of their automobile production which is now earmarked for export.

British exports in January were 60 per cent higher in quantity than in 1938, 50 per cent higher in December, and for all of 1948 were 36 per cent higher, showing the recent acceleration of recovery.

At the January rate Britain's overall exports just about balance her imports—her great objective. But she is still buying more from Canada and the United States—about $1,500,000,000 more in 1948—than she is sending to them.

Some American observers are actually expressing concern over the way self-help is progressing in Europe. They are wondering if the effort to become independent of dollar imports may become a permanent thing.

Another great boost for industry on both sides of the Atlantic is involved in the contemplated rearmament program connected with the North Atlantic alliance.

This production of non-consumer goods is admittedly inflationary, and its long-range effect may not be healthy. But as a part of the economic picture it is important now.

The individual parts of the picture, however, are less meaningful than the overall effect. That is the apparent co-ordination this spring, in one surge of power, of all the effort which has gone into postwar recovery since 1945.

Sitdown Strike In Mine Finally Ends

GALITZIN, Pa., March 8 (AP)—A sitdown strike of 21 miners who remained underground in an unheated and unlighted mine shaft 32 hours ended late today. Shivering and hungry, the grimy holdouts emerged from the pit at 3:05 P. M. (EST).

The mass exodus from the mine came unexpectedly. The men previously had refused the entreaties of United Mine Worker officials urging them to submit their dispute through regular channels.

Originally 60 miners engaged in the sitdown at the Bennington B pit of the Argyle Coal Co. in this Western Pennsylvania town yesterday. Thirty came to the surface last night. Nine more shivering and grimy diggers straggled out today. Their reasons were the same:

"I was cold and hungry."

The dispute arose over division of work between the Bennington B and the smaller NU mine operated by the company. Thomas Knee, committeeman of Local 1056, said the Bennington workers took issue when the nine NU mine employes were called to work Friday, supposedly an idle day for both mines.

Stockholders File $5 Million Suit Against Tulsa Theater Man

TULSA, March 8 (AP)—Three women, minority stockholders in local theatre companies, today asked $5,000,000 damages from Tulsa theatre owner Ralph Talbot and officials of the Griffith Amusement co.

The suit was filed by Mary Katherine Castle Steinway, of New York but formerly of Tulsa, Julia Lexus and Kathleen Dieffenbach, both of Tulsa.

They charged the defendants made secret agreements meant to lessen their — the plaintiff's share of the profits from certain theatre companies.

Wichita Falls State Hospital Attendants Face Murder Charge

WICHITA FALLS, March 8 (AP)—Two attendants at Wichita Falls State hospital were charged today with murder with malice in connection with the death of a patient.

District Attorney Clyde Filmore filed the charges with Justice of the Peace H. M. Newman. The complaint names T. C. Saucier, 33, and David Beck, 40, both of Wichita Falls.

Thomas Houston Gibbons, 46, of Como (Hopkins county), died shortly after he was admitted to the hospital March 4. The coroner's inquest returned a verdict of death due to natural causes, blaming coronary thrombosis.

Filmore said hospital doctors and other staff members co-operated in an investigation which eventually turned up evidence warranting the charges against Saucier and Beck.

Bulgarian Court Convicts 15 Protestant Ministers

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 8—A Bulgarian court convicted 15 Protestant ministers today on charges ranging from treason to rumormongering and sentenced four of them to life imprisonment.

Prison terms of from one to 15 years were assigned the others.

Fines were levied against all 15 and several defendants were sentenced to loss of their political and civil rights.

None appealed, so the sentences took effect immediately.

The Moscow-trained prosecutor, Dimiter Georgiev, declared himself satisfied. He had demanded hanging for the four leaders of the group, members of the Supreme Council of the United Evangelical churches of Bulgaria, but the court did not agree.

Accused Man "Content"

One of the four, the Rev. Vassil Ziapkov, 48, drew four individual prison sentences, including two for life. However, these and other multiple sentences in the case are to be served concurrently and the average Bulgarian lifer, with time off for good behavior, is freed after 15 years.

As a motion picture crew filmed the scene, Ziapkov burst into tears and declared:

"I am content. I promise to work with all my strength to build the new man in myself and to help in the construction of our socialist republic."

The others made similar declarations. One, the Rev. Ladin Popov, thanked the court heartily "for the mercy you showed me."

Sentences Assailed

Presiding judge, 38-year-old Constantine Undjiev, read the sentences in a 55-minute session.

(The sentences were declared "a travesty on justice" by Bishop Paul Garber of the Geneva area of the Methodist church, who has previously denied Bulgarian government charges that foreign church contacts were used for espionage purposes. Bishop Garber said "the Christian church will live on long after Communism has passed into the discard.")

Undjiev pronounced life sentences for the following chief defendants:

Ziapkov, head of the Congregational church, accused of heading a spy net for Britain and the United States, also given 15 years for incitement against the government and five years for spreading rumors.

The Rev. Yanko Ivanov, 48, head of the Methodist church.

The Rev. Nikola Naumov, 49, head of the Baptist church.

The Rev. Georgi Chernev, 46, head of the Pentecost church.

Each was fined 1,000,000 leva ($3,570) and sentenced to confiscation of all property and loss of civil rights.

Residents Of Country Club Addition Plan For Eventual Incorporation In City Limits

The Country Club addition on the Plainview highway is looking forward to eventual incorporation within the city limits by solidly planning ahead of time.

Several meetings have been held by residents, with C. G. Grizzle presiding.

J. V. Crow, C. L. Adams and E. F. Buck were appointed to a committee charged with having a re-survey made of the entire addition, and all streets and alleys have been opened up and graded by county equipment.

To Meet With Officials

G. E. Godby, Grizzle and E. D. Dickey were appointed to a committee to confer with city officials and arrange re-naming of streets. All north-south streets will remain as they are—extensions of present city streets. All east-west streets will be named after colleges.

A contract was awarded to O. B. Chitty for garbage disposal service to be afforded twice monthly. A cleanup campaign is under way.

There are approximately 50 residences in the addition, which is north of the Plainview-Clovis roads cutoff and on both sides of the new highway.

Restriction of the costs of residences in certain areas of the addition is being studied, it was said.

Business Calls Speeded Up Under New System

New Phone Numbers Now In Use

Memory is a marvelous thing indeed, but Lubbockites who currently are relying on memory to furnish the telephone number of a local store or business house may find that it also produces wasted effort.

The reason is, of course, that numbers which long have served many of the city's stores and firms, and which, by reason of long use, have been dialed by rote by local residents, just aren't there any more.

On Feb. 26, a new series of telephone numbers beginning with the digit "3", was put into use. There simply was no other direction for telephone service to be expanded.

Most of the numbers of the new "3" series (which is similar to the familiar "2" series which has been in use here for the past several years) have been assigned to business houses which have "felt the pinch" of increased business and non-expandable telephone facilities assures improved service.

Assures Improved Service

"With the new listings and additional outside lines given them, they will be able to give better service to their customers. The customers will be able to call in an receive a prompt answer without consistently getting a busy signal," C. H. Cale, local manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., said.

Thus, one local department store which had but six outside lines and could get no more lines and still use its old telephone number, received a new "3" number listing and now has 10 outside lines. The same holds true with other local offices and businesses.

These "additional outside lines" are in reality additional outside numbers. For example, the Veterans administration, whose new number is 3-3401, has a total of eight outside lines or numbers, beginning with the above listed number and continuing through 3-3408.

System is Automatic

If the listed number is busy when a person calls in, his call is automatically switched to 3-3402 or to the first line which does not have a call on it. Its all done with nary a hitch, however, and most callers think they're talking over the number they dialed when actually their call may be several numbers distant. Such a system is known as a "rotary number system."

Now, rightfully, you may ask what has become of the old numbers which were discarded and replaced by the "3" system. Troopers to the last, they are given idle or inactive status for awhile until the volume of calls coming in on them diminishes; then they are re-assigned as active numbers.

Incidentally, while these numbers are on the inactive list, they are connected with a special operator at the telephone company who receives the incoming calls and refers the caller to the new number of the firm or office he is attempting to contact.

Other Expansion Seen

After several weeks or months lapse, a study is made by telephone company officials to determine the number of calls still coming in on the old numbers, and if traffic on a number is non-existant or sufficiently diminished, the number is re-activated.

The new "3" series(or station as telephone people call it) has been in the planning stages for well over a year, Cale said. Business houses were assigned new numbers weeks ago, in advance of publication time for the new Lubbock telephone directory, stated.

Higher Pension Ceiling Approved

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 8 — Two proposed constitutional amendments aimed at improving the state's assistance for its aged and needy were voted by the House and sent to the Senate today.

Two other constitutional amendments — one to raise legislators' pay and another to authorize creation of rural fire prevention districts — also won one-house approval. All purposed changes in the constitution must have two-thirds approval in each house before they go to the polls for a vote of the people.

Pension Ceiling Lifted

The House voted 109 to 20 to lift the 35 million dollars annual ceiling on state expenditures for old age pensions and grants to dependent children and the blind.

A proposal to require liens on property owned by old folks receiving state pensions set off a storm of debate. It was turned down by a 96-to-45 vote.

A voice vote approved a provision limiting state payments to $25 a person per month. Coupled with federal aid, this would permit a maximum $55 monthly old age pension, $5 more than at present.

Needy Assistance Approved

Another proposed constitutional amendment by A. R. Henderson of Groesbeck to extend welfare assistance to needy handicapped persons between the ages of 16 and 65 won House approval, 106 to 15.

The legislators pay raise amendment by Rep. Vernon McDaniel of Wichita Falls would provide an annual $2,700 salary plus an additional $10 a day personal expense account for 120 days of regular sessions every two years. The House vote was 115 to 15.

Action on the other proposed constitutional amendment was in the Senate. By Senator Warren McDonald of Tyler, it would empower the legislature to establish fire prevention districts outside of city limits and to levy a tax within the district for its maintenance and upkeep. Approval was 27 to 0.

Bill Sent To Governor

Finally passed in the Senate and sent to the governor for signature was a bill to prohibit sale of horse meat for human consumption. By Rep. Jeff Woodruff of Pasadena, the bill carries a maximum fine of $1,000 or a two year jail sentence for violations. It won unanimous Senate approval.

The property lien proposed for old age pension recipients had been hung on the welfare ceiling legislation by the House's committee on constitutional amend-

THIRD TALK SET TODAY

Social Attitudes Of Students Discussed By Noted Speaker

Dr. Louis Hadley Evans L.L.D. will present the third address of the curent Willson lecture series that are being held at Texas Tech in the college gym this morning at 11 a.m.

Dr. Evans, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Hollywood, Calif., has chosen "Love, Marriage and the Home" as his topic for today's lecture.

Tuesday Dr. Evans spoke to a large group of students on "Collegians and Their Social Attitudes." He told his listeners that "you cannot expect nations to get along if people themselves do not get along."

He asked students and young people not to be too caustic in their attitude toward their elders, for, he said, their (the students') time is coming up soon.

Speaking of indifference, Dr. Evans declared that "indifference is the first step on the road to hatred." He said that present-day indifference to concern and curiosity is wrong. "Are we honestly concerned with religion and the world or are we just curious about it?" he asked.

Prime Cause Of War

Turning to prejudice, Dr. Evans observed that racial prejudice has been the prime cause of many of the wars through the centuries, and went on to say that while most people have their prejudices they really have nothing to be prejudiced about.

"The best thing to do with the family tree is to spray it to keep off the bugs of conceit and prejudice."

He commented that racial prejudice is indeed a very explosive thing. He said that it must be guarded against carefully. "All of us have racial hayfever," he declared. "All through history one race has been allergic to another. What we need is a good inoculation of Christianity to overcome this allergy.

"There Is No Limit"

"There is no limit to the heights any race can climb if you expose it to God," he emphatically declared.

Of social problems, Dr. Evans observed that "with every social problem must go a knowledge of God."

He declared that today people are more interested in where you live rather than WHY you live.

New Mexico Legislature Okays Bill To Hike Gasoline Taxes

SANTA FE, N. M., March 8 (INS)—The lower House of the New Mexico legislature today passed by a 31-to-18 vote a measure to increase gasoline taxes two cents a gallon.

The bill was sent to the governor for his signature, but lacked by two votes the two-thirds majority necessary to put it into immediate effect.

A two-hour heated debate preceding the vote taking was marked by threats of a referendum and violent attacks on the highway department. Sergeants-at-arms stood guard during recesses to prevent any members from leaving the floor.

Charges Are Made

Rep. Morgan Nelson, D., Chaves county, called the increase "a monument to inefficiency and graft." He said the Highway department is bankrupt, but "the same people are running it and the department has no policy except the governor's whim."

Nelson said that $7,000,000 in debentures issued in recent years should with federal aid have produced $21,000,000 in highway construction. Instead, he said, the state had gotten only $12,800,000. The representative asked where the "other $8,000,000 had gone."

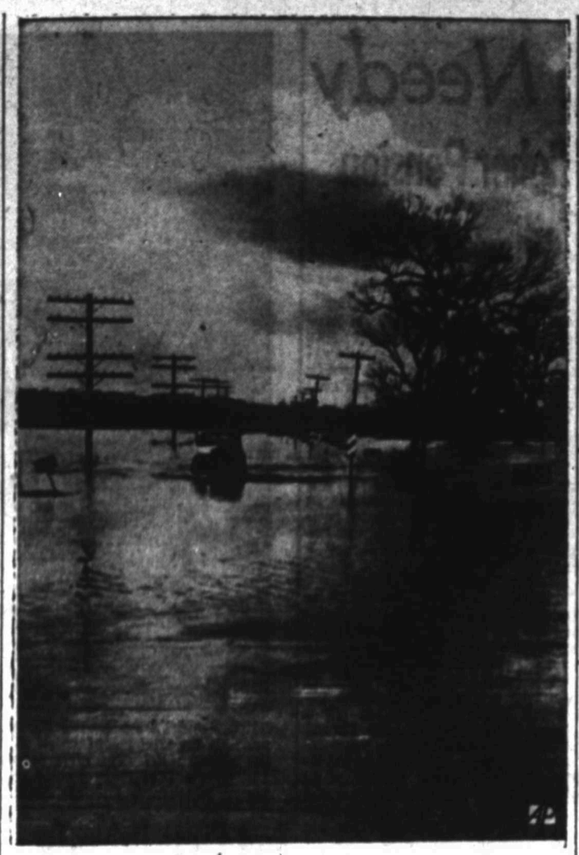

Efforts by Rep. Calvin Horn, D., Bernalillo county, to reduce the increase to one cent, then one and a half cents, failed. He said that a one cent tax added to the present five cent levy would enable the Highway department to liquidate its $23,000,000 bonded debt, putting it on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Republican Leader Lilburn Homan accused Democratic Leader F. C. Gonzales of trying to prevent referendum with an amendment declaring that the health and safety of the traveling public was at stake. Gonzales denied the charges.

Senate Group Okays Plan To Change Name Of Texas Mines

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—The Senate State Affairs committee today approved a bill which would allow the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy at El Paso to change its name.

The new name, as proposed by Senator Hill D. Hudson of Pecos, would be "The Texas College of Mines and Arts."

Price Daniel Points To Christianity As Block To Red Threat

RALLS, March 8. (Special) — "Communists know their lessons better than we know ours here tonight," Attorney General Price Daniel last night told 500 Baptist ministers and laymen of the District Nine Baptist association meeting in convention here.

"Communists are sincere people who believe in what they are doing," he continued, "but they cannot sell Communism where Christianity exists."

Church Has Obligation

Daniel traced the workings of the hand of God in this nation from the time of the signing of the Declaration of Independence to Nagasaki, and warned the group that lasting peace, whether obtained through the United Nations organization, by treaties or by pacts, will be achieved only after all nations agree on the fundamental principles of Christianity.

On this premise, he charged the church to seize every method of selling Christianity to the world and insisted that governmental recognition is necessary to Christian action.

"We believe in separation of the church and state," Daniel concluded, "but not in separation of church and statesmen."

The convention will continue through Wednesday night. A talk by Rev. R. S. Sparkman of Levelland at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday will highlight the morning session. Business matters will be discussed during the afternoon, and Dr. Bill Marshall, president of Wayland college, will talk at the night meeting. Dr. Marshall will introduce Wayland students from China, Chile, Hawaii and Cuba.

Oilmen See Possibility Of New Field In Texas Panhandle Area

AMARILLO, March 8 (AP)—Oil men today saw the possibility of a new deep oil, gas and distillate field in the Northeast Texas Panhandle with the completion of a second well in that area.

The new well is the No. 1 Kathryn wildcat of the Phillips Petroleum Company near the southeast corner of Sherman county and in the western part of the Anadarko basin.

The well, in a test, produced an estimated 10 million feet of gas with an undetermined amount of distillate in the bottom of the hole.

Production came below 5,300 feet in the Pennsylvania formation, the same formation where gas and distillate were found in the No. 1 Lepps well of Sinclair-Prairie, 40 miles east and ten miles south in Roberts county.

U. S. Daily Crude Production Average Falls 151,350 Barrels

TULSA, March 8 (AP)—The nation's production of crude oil averaged 5,179,800 barrels daily during the week ended March 5, a loss of 151,350 barrels from the previous week, the Oil and Gas journal reported today. Texas accounted for most of the decrease, falling off 137,875 barrels daily to 2,183,075 as the result of additional cuts in the state's allowables.

Reduced allowables also cut into Oklahoma's production, which dropped 10,900 barrels to 405,750.

Other sizeable declines were reported in Louisiana, down 11,900 barrels to 493,950; Mississippi off 800 to 102,700; Illinois, 1,400 to 177,000, and Wyoming, 1,850 to 122,100.

Increased production was reported in the eastern area, up 700 barrels to 62,800 barrels; Kansas, up 10,350 to 286,900, and California, up 800 to 948,800. Arkansas was up to 82,500.

Lecture Series

"What are you living for is one of the biggest questions," the speaker said.

"The trouble with men's hearts today is that they are selfish," Dr. Evans said. "Industry, capital, and labor today need a conversion not of machines but of men."

Self-Control Discussed

The final attitude to be discussed by Dr. Evans was that of self-control.

People must not run from life today, he said, and added that the greatest problem in the world is people themselves. He commented that if students cannot hold their tempers on the college campus, they should not expect nations to hold their tempers in the world.

In closing, he said that "Americans must be too big for shame."

At Tuesday's gathering, the invocation was asked by Rev. Abe Hester, jr., pastor of College Avenue Baptist church. The Tech band and Men's Glee club presented musical selections.

Introduced By Adams

Dean O. V. Adams introduced Dr. Evans. In his introduction he said that "he (Dr. Evans) has reduced backsliding to a lost art in the Presbyterian church, especially in his own church."

The benediction was given by Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church here.

ments over author Phil Willis' bitter objections.

Willis carried his fight against the committee change to the floor where he was joined by Rep. Lamar Zively of Temple and others.

"Let's keep the promise we made to the old people in our campaigns last summer," Zively proposed. "If we remove the ceiling and then put in the lien law, we're taking out one restriction and putting in another."

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas contended that the lien would take some people off the rolls "who shouldn't be there." Rep. Douglas Bergman of Dallas said it would "eliminate the leeches and parasites and protect the deserving."

bring greetings. Shop talk will follow.

C. W. Ratliff of the Avalanche-Journal, a director of the association, will preside at the Saturday noon awards luncheon. A short musical program is being planned.

Officers and directors for 1950 will be elected and time and location of the next convention will be chosen to climax the two-day meeting.

New Phone Numbers

although the new series of numbers were put into operation less than two weeks back.

Lubbock's growth indicates that a "4" five-digit series will be necessary for Lubbock by late 1950, Cale said. Eventually, "5", "6", and on up to "9" five-digit telephone numbers will have to be installed, he said.

Solon Claims Foreign Agents Entered U.S. Through UN Setup

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 8—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), said today he will soon give Congress information on "out and out" foreign Communist agents who have entered the United States through the United Nations.

McCarran, chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, made this disclosure as bills with "teeth" aimed at smashing Red activities in this country were introduced in both House and Senate.

Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich.), and Mundt (R-S.D.), introduced measures in the Senate and Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), placed the bill written jointly with Mundt before the House.

Control Needed Now

Mundt predicted that the Mundt-Nixon measure, a weaker version of which was passed by the House last year, would be approved by the lower chamber. He forecast an excellent chance for passage in the Senate.

McCarran said his committee has already received a volume of testimony about an "influx of people who were out and out Communist agents abroad" who have entered the United States through the U. N. and other international agencies. He declared:

"There is more reason and more ground for Communist control legislation now than ever before.

"When people who are receiving the protection of our laws and the benefits of our mode of life stand up and say they will fight for Communism if this country is threatened it is time to make those people stand to one side so we can get a good look at them.

Would Enforce Law

"It is time that they be made to declare themselves for the United States and if they will not do so they are out and out traitors and it is time to deal with them by law."

McCarran was referring to recent statements by U. S. Communist leaders that they would support "forces of Democracy" against American "imperialism" if "Wall Street should plunge the world into war."

Both the Mundt-Nixon and Ferguson bills would require official Communist organizations to register with the government. The Mundt-Nixon measure would force Communist groups to sever all ties with Russia or refrain from trying to establish totalitarianism in this country.

Backing Claimed Pledged

Mundt said "an overwhelming majority of the present membership of the House" voted for last year's version. He added:

"More than a dozen senators have asked me in the last two months if I was going to re-introduce the bill. They have encouraged me to do so and promised their support."

The former member of the spy-probing house unAmerican activities committee predicted that President Truman would not repeat his "red herring" criticism of that committee's work in connection with the new legislation. He said:

"I don't think the President will use the term again in view of Saturday's developments."

He was referring to arrest in New York on espionage charges of Valentin Gubitchev, Russian engineer with the United Nations, and Judith Coplon, Justice department employe.

Mundt said that Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), chairman of the Judiciary subcommittee which probably will handle the Mundt-Nixon bill, has expressed support for the measure.

IRRIGATION PROFITABLE

BERKELEY, Cal. (U.P.)—Irrigated pastures are an economical source of livestock feed, farm managers at the University of California report. A four-year study of irrigated pastures in California found that the nutritional value of hay is provided at about one-fourth the cost of hay.

Los Angeles Man Is Claimed On Eve Of Dinner In His Honor

LOS ANGELES, March 8 (AP)—Stanton Carr, 55-year-old janitor at the University Methodist church, was an amazing man.

The tall, white-haired man took the job at the church ten years ago. Little was known of his past except that he was a captain of Marines in the first world war.

But he soon became an outstanding figure in the congregation. Especially, among the 2,000 University of Southern California students who attend the church. A brilliant scholar, he helped them with their studies from calculus to physics. He also was a linguist.

Kept Church 'Shipshape'

Skilled in every trade, he kept the huge campus church shipshape. His greatest skill, though, was quieting the babies in the nursery.

"He was," says Dr. Wendell Miller, pastor, "the most popular man in the church."

For that reason, he was to be honored Friday night at a testimonial banquet. Dr. Miller said it was to have been the biggest event of the church year.

The Los Angeles Times heard about the banquet and carried a story about it—and Carr.

Parishioners who read the story good-naturedly kidded the janitor about his "fame." He kidded back, then gasped and slumped to the floor. He died in a few minutes.

There will be no banquet Friday night. On Sunday afternoon, there will be a memorial service for him instead.

Death Terminates Hockley County Negro's Appeal From Sentence

Death has automatically terminated the appeal of Willie Williams, about 45, a Hockley county negro, from a three-year conviction for operating a gambling house.

The information was given to the district attorney's office here by Hockley County Attorney Bill Boedeker, it was announced Tuesday. Williams was fatally injured in an automobile mishap, it was related.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr said the appeal had been set for submission on brief before the court of criminal appeals in Austin.

The conviction was last year, in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court of Hockley county.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (U.P.)—Judge James Duncan ordered 14 prisoners evicted from the city jail when police complained that the jail was too crowded.

Dallas Man Scuffles With Police Following Arrest For Fighting

DALLAS, March 8 (U.P.) — City policeman W. D. Saunders arrested a 25-year-old man for fighting today, but the culprit hadn't lost his fistcuffing urge.

Before he was safely lodged behind bars, the arrested man struck Saunders in the face with his fist, kicked him in the stomach twice, hit him in the face three more times and clubbed fellow-officer C. E. Talbert over the head with a floor lamp, carrying on a running scuffle between blows.

'IMPROPER' REMARK SCORED

Judge Excuses 86 Prospective Jurors From Duty In Red Trial

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 8—Eighty-six prospective jurors in the Communist conspiracy trial were excused today from duty, including one person whose reason was "my contempt for the individuals here accused."

With three others excused yesterday, Federal Judge Harold R. Medina now has dismissed 89 of the first 170 talesmen brought into the courtroom for interrogation.

Most of those excused said that the indicated length of service would be a financial hardship to them. Judge Medina had warned them the trial might last from several weeks to two months.

Judge Displeased

Judge Medina was displeased by the expression of "contempt" by the prospective juror of the 11 top Communist party leaders charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force.

He characterized the remark "improper" and unfair to both the defense and prosecution and warned other talesmen not to express bias in any form. He told the other jurors to erase the remark from their minds.

Other talesmen gave ill health as an excuse. One man said he was to be married soon.

Among those excused were four housewives and two negroes. The defense had argued unsuccessfully for seven weeks that the jury selection system in the southern district of New York was illegal because it discriminated against negroes and other minorities.

Questioning To Begin

When court is reconvened at 11 a. m. tomorrow, Judge Medina will start questioning the 81 prospective jurors who passed up the chance to be excused on general grounds.

His interrogation then will become more specific, based on suggested questions from the defense and prosecution.

Questioning of prospective jurors —usually the chore of prosecution and defense in state courts—customarily is done by the judge in federal courts.

India Urged To Stay Clear Of Power Blocs

NEW DELHI, India, March 8 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today India can help prevent another world war by avoiding lineup with any world power or power bloc.

"The only possible (Indian) foreign policy . . . in the interests of world peace," Nehru told the legislative assembly, "is not to get entangled, militarily or otherwise, with any power or groups of powers."

(More than a year before India obtained dominion status Aug. 15, 1947, British Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons that, "In our view, she has the right" to choose full independence. He said "The British Commonwealth and empire is not bound together by the chains of external compulsion.")

Nehru, whose government has deployed troops to combat a Communist- inspired railway, mail and telegraph strike scheduled to start tomorrow, told the assembly "the various isms that threaten conflict are legacies of Europe's power politics."

"There is no reason why India should borrow any ideology in toto or join any power or group," he said.

Lubbock Bicycle Club's Safety Plan Adopted By National Group

The safety program designed and put into operation in 1948 by the Lubbock Bicycle club has been adopted on a nation-wide scale by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Gene Quest, safety chairman of the local Jaycees, said Tuesday that he had been informed that the national organization plans to distribute bicycle safety regulations, modelled after those of the local club, throughout the United States.

The Jaycees, he said, propose to organize similar bicycle clubs across the country, with all based on the 10 membership requirements listed by the Lubbock club.

Last year the local club, which has a membership of about 2,000, conducted a year-round safety campaign, and staged a two-day parade and racing program.

Services Set For Wreck Victim

Funeral services for James C. Howe, 26, 3203 Ave. H, who was killed in an automobile accident near Hale Center at 8:45 p. m. Monday, will be held at 3 p. m. today in the First Baptist church, Anson. Burial will follow at Mount Hope cemetery, Anson.

A former resident of Lubbock, Howe had been employed by the firm of Price and Hawk, consulting engineers here, since April, 1946.

Has Served In Army

The Lubbock man was en route to Lubbock when his automobile overturned on the Lubbock-Plainview highway about three miles south of Hale Center, according to Noel Newberry and John Strother, highway patrolmen from Plainview. The body was shipped overland early Tuesday from the Roy Woods Funeral home, Plainview, to Lawrence Funeral home, Anson.

Howe had worked for Cecil M. Hawk, one of the partners in the Price and Hawks firm, for about nine years. He also had been an employe of a firm of Fort Worth consulting engineers. He served in the Army from June, 1943, until April, 1946, and was stationed in Germany part of the time. After his discharge, he became associated with the Lubbock engineering firm.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Ruth Howe; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Howe of Anson, a brother, William T. Howe of Abilene; and a sister, Miss Athylene Howe of Lawton, Okla.

RED "DESERTERS"

Refugees, Or Spies?

EXTENSIVE publicity has been given recently to numerous self-styled deserters from the Russian armed forces who have sought the protection of American military establishments.

Some of the desertions doubtless have been on the up-and-up. Others have looked more than slightly phoney. Some of the gate-crashers have conducted themselves more like spies than refugees. One said blandly he regarded himself as a "guest" of the U. S. government. He implied with unmistakable clarity he expects only the finest in the way of hospitality with freedom to go and come as he pleased.

It is conceivable the Russian mind might imagine that the U. S. would accept pretended deserters for what they claim to be. Many Russians, and Europeans generally, look upon Americans as being rather stupidly unsophisticated in such matters.

The more widespread this supposition may prevail in the Soviet, the better it is for the U. S. The greater will be the surprise when those who underestimate American realism are awakened to the realization that Uncle Sam will be deceived by few spies disguised as refugees.

Americans are justified in confidence to the point of certainty that those entrusted with safeguarding our security secrets won't expose them to anyone who conceivably might be here on a mission from Moscow.

Unselfish Service

THE 80-YEAR old Rep. S. J. Isaaks of El Paso, long has been the best loved and one of the most highly esteemed members of the Texas Legislature, in which he has served 14 years. An incident the other day helped to explain why this should be.

The House was considering a bill to provide pensions for retired judges. Rep. Doyle Willis, of Fort Worth, proposed an amendment, which would have enabled Judge Isaaks to qualify for a pension by virtue of eight years' service on the bench before his election to the Legislature. The first and only objection to the proposal came from Judge Isaaks.

"This is not a proper amendment," he was quoted as saying. "The State has paid me for my services and I don't want any other payment."

Judge Isaaks is not a man of wealth. Doubtless he could make good use of the pension proposed. The amendment, however, was withdrawn amid applause.

The amendment should have been withdrawn. It was of questionable legality. A more serious objection was the precedent involved by a proposal to make a general law fit one individual. That sort of thing, once started, could —and probably would—be flagrantly abused.

But it was a fine tribute to an outstanding career of public service that such an honor should be suggested. It was splendid, but in keeping with that career, that Judge Isaaks should block it.

He and his actions exemplify in highest degree the finer qualities of the men and women to whom Texas owes a large part of whatever it possesses of greatness. Texas—nor any state or nation—ever could have enough such citizens and public servants.

The hardest thing to satisfy is a creditor.

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover win an expense-paid vacation at a swank California resort after a successful appearance on a quiz program. Their arrival seems to draw unusual interest from Gayner, the hotel clerk, and Miss Thelma Loomis, a gossip columnist. Later, as the Conovers dress for dinner, Homer Anglin, wounded in the shoulder, enters their cottage, apparently expecting to meet someone. When Anglin finds he's made a mistake, he leaves, warning the Conovers to say nothing of his visit. Then Mr. Trim, who introduces himself as a representative of the quiz show sponsor, appears. After wishing the Conovers a pleasant stay, he departs. As he goes he sees the cottage wall beside the door. "Say," he remarks, "that looks like blood. "Sure does," says John Henry, closing the door.)

IV

THEY went to the Ship of the Desert for dinner. Just a block east from the Las Dunas, it catered to the hotel's wealthy clientele, a set that could pay four dollars for steak without expecting stock in the restaurant.

With sincere heartiness, the Conovers ate at a candle-lit table near the bandstand where a small waterfall rippled over neon-illuminated rocks. To the left of the waterfall, contorted ironwork stairs led to a small balcony that ran across the north wall and commanded a view of the entire establishment.

Atmosphere was rampant—even the waitress wore vivid Arab burnooses—but the management had underwritten the lushness with excellent cuisine.

Sin pushed back her plate with a contented noise. "Now if I can just have some coffee—"

John Henry reconnoitered after their waiter and then craned his neck still farther. "Odd," he said softly.

"Um?"

"I thought for a minute I saw—him. Our friend with the gun."

Sin's laugh blanketed her exasperation but John Henry looked defensive.

"That was the first time anybody ever drew a gun on me," he said, almost complainingly.

Now that he had tasted excitement, John Henry was reluctant to spit it out.

"Well, as a matter of record, the whole thing happened mainly to me," Sin pointed out.

"Uh-huh. But it was me he was talking about."

"I don't know why you don't go ahead and report it to the police then."

"Sin—I don't think you have any lust for adventure. A mysterious stranger with a gun, a bloody handprint on our own front porch—"

"Oh, I wouldn't say that. Just because I don't think there's a mad doctor hiding under our table or—or—"

JOHN HENRY looked sideways quickly and hunched closer to his wife. "That's the strange thing, Sin," he murmured. "I've had a kind of a feeling that we're being watched." Her green eyes didn't change expression but he straightened and flushed, anyway. "All right, all right—I know it sounds funny."

The waiter, plump even in the loose burnoose, was at his elbow. Conover flinched and Sin asked sweetly, "You having desert, dear?"

"No, I guess not." Dourly, John Henry ordered two coffees. "Black. And the check too, please."

After the waiter had hustled off, Sin regarded her husband with gentle amusement. "I suppose you think our Arab's been spying on us, too."

"I wouldn't be surprised. He's been at my elbow all through the meal."

"You're just not used to good service, honey. People who eat here expect attention."

"Well, I still think something's going on behind our backs. Something big." Johnny nodded and locked his fingers under his chin. "Something that involves a transfer of something from someone to someone. Didn't the man say he had 'it' for me?"

"It could be anything."

"I'd like to meet that fellow again. Next time, you can bet your life I'll find out just what's going on."

THE rounded Arab-gowned waiter returned with coffee in the rough pottery jug that the Ship of the Desert affected. He poured quickly and skillfully, deposited a woven salver containing the bill on the table and journeyed back toward the mecca of the kitchen.

"I won't be surprised next time." John Henry stared balefully at his coffee. "Just let anybody make a suspicious move."

Sin sipped in some of the steaming black liquid. "Good coffee," she murmured. "But I still think your imagination's running away with you." She jumped and screamed, "Johnny!"

John Henry had knocked over his coffee cup. All around chairs scrapped and customers craned toward the commotion. Curious eyes saw a young man with a white face staring at the bill as it lay on the woven salver.

Sin reddened, semi-angry at being part of the floor show. She looked at the spreading brown stain. "Honey, you've certainly ruined their tablecloth—"

But her husband's white face was curiously triumphant. "There!" he whispered.

"What? I can't hear you."

"There, Sin—that ought to prove what I said. Look at that!"

His forefinger stabbed toward the salver. Sin indulgently looked at it, at the bill lying across it. Then she stared, awestruck.

It wasn't a bill at all but it was just an ordinary playing card. The Queen of Diamonds. And across the queen's face someone had written in a bold hand: "Your deal."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

IF I were 10 years younger and had the ambition I had 10 years ago, I would go into a business which I think could be made into a most lucrative venture.

It would be lucrative because there is a great need for it and because I don't know of any competition.

BRANDEIS

It is the business of unremodeling.

Now please don't look into the dictionary for the word unremodeling. You won't find it. I just coined it, and the next edition of the Brandeis International Dictionary of Non-Dictionary Words won't be out for a long time yet.

Unremodeling means remodeling in reverse; bringing things back to where they used to be when they were what they are supposed to be.

Don't think that any kid can go into the unremodeling business and make a success of it.

It takes years and years of experience to be a good unremodeler.

Because, before you can decide what is good and sensible you must first learn, by personal experience, what is bad and foolish.

Let us take a house, for instance.

Everybody wants a house of his own sooner or later, and thousands of people are remodeling old houses to give them all the modern conveniences without which life is supposed to be unlivable nowadays.

I, on the other hand, would take a modern house that has all the latest gadgets in it and unremodel it into the semblance of a home.

I would take out all the chromium and the aluminum and the plastic tiles and the neon lights and unremodel it into a place where you can tell your children about Alice in Wonderland and Little Snow White and all those other things of yore, without having the kids call you an old fuddy-duddy who doesn't know the first thing about radar and atom bombs.

I WOULD unremodel the place into something where you can dream and wish and remember.

I wouldn't go so far as to reinstall outhouses and kerosene lamps. But I would make it the kind of home where if the electricity went off for a while you wouldn't be sitting in a complete void.

There are hundreds of other things into which I would unremodel the modern home, but space does not permit to go into them.

I would unremodel the modern automobile into something that makes driving safe and enjoyable as it used to be, that would let you see the scenery rather than just smell it in whizzing by.

I would unremodel a lot of females I know and take the red off their fingernails and toenails, scrape the smear off their cheeks, undye their hair to its natural color, and otherwise make them females again.

I would—but I am not going to tell you ALL my trade secrets.

OVER RECENT TRENDS

Labor On Hot Spot

By ROGER WARREN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—As the date for final showdown on the Taft-Hartley bill is postponed again and again by Congress, labor leaders are getting cold creeps. As always happens when their gizzards are scared out of them, they blame someone else.

Of course, Senator Taft, who comes up for reelection in 1950, is their first target. And they are predicting that they will swamp Ohio with outside labor orators and money dipped from their bulging political war chests.

But they are also peeved at Senator Thomas of Utah, Chairman of the Senate Labor committee, and even President Truman for lacking the power to deliver on his campaign pledges. These demonstrations of the jitters are an indication that Green, Murray and the rest anticipate a labor bill far short of demands.

TEMPERATURE: Even a greater reason for their goose pimples is that union top dogs must have something tangible to show their disgruntled followers if they hope to keep their jobs as labor bosses. The rise in unemployment is frightening workers. Jobless men expect their officials to assure them with something better than hopeful promises.

Worried workers feel local injuries and impulsively hunt for the cause.

For example west coast dock workers have been laid off owing to lack of cargo for China. Republicans have cleverly poured kerosene on the flames by pointing out that this job decline is the result of the Truman policy of stopping shipment of goods to Chiang Kai-Shek's crowd, whereas the GOP is pledged to give more aid to Nationalist China.

Textile workers also are running a temperature. Recent wage increases in Northern mills have been rejected by arbitrators of the union's own choosing. Some plants are shutting down or running in low gear. Adroit Republicans have capitalized on this issue, too.

MOVE: In New England they are warning workers that Dixie mills, by offering such inducements as mild climate, ample manpower, weak labor unions, local subsidies and tax exemptions, are attracting Northern management.

When the goose flies South, say the Republicans, it lays no more golden eggs in Northern pay envelopes. Southern Democrats who have such power in Congress, therefore are destroying the jobs of Northern Democratic labor.

Artful Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, chairman of a subcommittee investigating textile problems, caused more trouble for Democrats by releasing an official report in which the Puerto Rican government is accused of tempting both Northern and Southern mill owners to move their businesses to the island, which offers a tax exemption to new industries until June 30, 1959.

The provocative Yankee explains to anxious mill hands that the Democratic National Administration and Congress have the legal power to set aside an act of the subordinate island government—but the Trumanites have done nothing to stop this new competition.

FISHERIES: Workers in textiles, fishing, watch manufacturing and other industries, in line for stiff competition from the Reciprocal Trade measures, also are told that Truman trade policies are endangering their jobs.

The Atlantic fisheries are the worst hit so far. Despite the mild weather, craft is tied up everywhere because of over supply.

In 1938 groundfish fillets import were nine and a half million pounds. In 1948 foreign arrivals were 53 and a half million pounds—a jump of more than 400 per cent. This January's figures showed an increase of 20 per cent above last January's.

West coast fishermen also maintain that they are harmed by government trade policies, especially in regard to tuna fish. In 1933 Japanese imports equalled 44 per cent of domestic production. The trade estimates that in two years Japan will regain her eminence as a tuna producing nation.

The chief threat today is from South and Central America. Before the war only four countries canned tuna. Now 18 are exporting it to America, threatening the livelihood of fishermen and cannery workers from Seattle to San Diego.

Spearhead in the drive to protect fishermen is Congressman George Bates of Massachusetts, who lives in a fishing district. He is supported by others who point out to workers that Democratic Congressmen have deserted them to follow the Administration's trade policies.

BILL: Sometimes it looks as if the only labor bill that will get through Congress will be the one written by GOP Senators Morse of Oregon and Ives of New York. And then the Republicans will inform workers that Truman let them down but Republicans got them a reasonable compromise.

The President picked former Governor Maurice J. Tobin of Massachusetts to prove to labor that he was true to them. The new Secretary of Labor has done both great good and harm to the cause, according to those close to union bigwigs.

He is an excellent speaker, not only reading everything which Administration ghost writers hand him without ever questioning it but also reading it well and with plenty of applause-rousing emphasis. His atractive wife is a political asset of high value and the Secretary himself is a handsome man. He looks good on paper, especially on photographic paper.

HABITS: But he has brought several old habits to Washington. As a Boy State Governor he could never come to a decision. He always procrastinated and had to be pushed into finally making up his mind.

Yet when questioned on public matters he always had an answer, even though in many cases he had neither prepared nor bothered to think things through. This lack of sureness has not helped him in piloting Truman's labor program through an inquisitive and skeptical Congress.

All of these things—unemployment, delay, foreign competition and Tobin—are held against the Administration by labor bosses. They are skeery lest rival union leaders, potential candidates for their union posts, will say to union members. "Those fakers cannot get anything out of Washington. Send us there instead and we'll bring home pine-in-the-sky."

Fear for their own skins, perhaps more than any other reason, is why Green and his fellow old-time chieftains want Truman to go on the stump and arouse the country to put pressure on Congress to pass a pro-labor bill.

"The best thing to do when you are depressed is to work hard," asserts a physician. Not in our case, doc, as this would set up a vicious circle.

How does the person who thinks the world couldn't get along without him account for the fact that it did so for countless centuries before he was born?

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

END TO DEADLOCK POSSIBLE

GOP Also Blamed On Filibuster

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A lot of dust and noise and high-level constitutional confusion, mixed with ordinary political sand, has been kicked up to obscure the very simple issue involved in the current Senate battle over proposals to curb filibusters.

All that the Senate Democratic leadership is trying to do is what the Senate thought it was doing 32 years ago when it adopted the rule — Rule Twenty-Two — which permits limitation of debate by a two-thirds vote upon presentation of a cloture or closure petition signed by 16 members.

STOKES

That rule has become unworkable under a decision from the chair in the last Congress by then President protem of the Senate, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), that it did not apply to motions to take up a bill. This allows a filibuster against a mere motion to bring a bill before the Senate for consideration, so that the legislative process can be completely paralyzed. The current southern filibuster, correspondingly, is against a motion to take up a resolution reported by the Rules committee which does nothing except make rule twenty-two, adopted in 1917, applicable to filibusters against such motions.

GOP Pledged Move

The Michigan senator publicly regretted his ruling, but said it was all he saw he could do. He urged the Senate to close this loop-hole, whereupon Senator Taft (R-O.), pledged his party to do that at the first opportunity in this Congress. Democrats, in control of this Congress, have accepted that responsibility.

That is the only direct issue involved in all the uproar in the Senate. It is very simple, yet it is presented as complex. All sorts of circumstances have been exploited for politics' sake to confuse this simple issue and blow it into something titanic on which our republic might stand or fall, which is, of course, pure nonsense.

The southerners, alone, are simple and direct in purpose, which is to stave off, by any means available, the consideration of Civil Rights legislation, though if there ever was a man-date on any subject there was one on this issue in the last election. For both major parties were committed to civil rights legislation.

Republicans have been acting very strangely and very timidly, for all their bold public pronouncements. It will be to their advantage, naturally, in the congressional elections two years hence if President Truman has failed to realize at least a part of his Civil Rights program. Some of them are very much aware of this political factor and are cuddling up with the Southern Democrats, an old, familiar alliance, with the idea also of nourishing this alliance against other Truman measures later.

They sought an excuse, first, in the fact that it was a Republican, Senator Vandenberg, who made the ruling which will become the first test, and they must stand by a party man, mustn't they? Vice President Barkley is expected to reverse the Vandenberg ruling, when the issue is raised soon, and hold that the cloture rule is applicable also to motions. That will bring an appeal from the chair. A number of Republicans are planning to join Southern Democrats to overrule the vice president, despite the Taft pledge of the last Congress.

HST Faces Trouble

Republicans also have capitalized on President Truman's remark at a press conference that he favored imposing cloture by a mere majority, instead of two-thirds. That may have been impolite in the midst of a fight, but it was honest. There are only a handfull in the Senate for majority cloture, logical as a majority rule might seem in a Democracy, so Republicans are only building up a straw man here, and they know it.

President Truman deserves high commendation for ordering an all-out fight on the filibuster, which holds the blockade against his civil rights program, for he takes certain risks about the rest of his program. But it overshadows all else. Until it is settled, nothing really is settled.

There comes a time when a man must fight, and the president has recognized that clearly. The filibuster could be broken if his Senate leadership was sincere about it, hammered right through, and kept the Senate in session day and night. That is, if they are helped by Republicans, as they should be. For this is a national issue beyond party lines.

CHOICE FARM
One of the choice farms in Lubbock County. The 160 acres are perfectly level, the irrigation well is above the average. The house has five rooms, is modern and is newly decorated. Plenty barns, sheds and new tenant house. This farm is near Lubbock but the price is only $250 per acre.
LOCKER PLANT
Approximately $10,000 will handle an unusually good opportunity in a well established Locker Plant and Grocery store. Returns on this business are highly satisfactory. It has no competition in the town in which it is located. Grocery stock will invoice about $4000. 3 Years lease at $75 per mo.
BEAUTIFUL
Beauty and comfort are combined in this 3-bedroom home on 35th Street. Expensive carpets cover the living-dining room combination. Sliding doors make the 350 square feet useable, and you will love the many built-ins and double closets. Let us prove the beauty of this home. Only $10,000 with $6,850 loan which can be assumed.
OWNER TRANSFERRED
3-Bedroom home in Southwest Lubbock, because of a business transfer it is being offered at less than replacement cost. Many features not ordinarily found; plastered walls, insulated and weatherstripped, air conditioned from roof, a large garage and expensively landscaped yard. Sacrifice price $12,000 with large loan.
SAFETY A FACTOR
A home where your children will not have to cross dangerous traffic arteries going to school, and a place you will be proud to own. The rooms are large, the kitchen is conveniently arranged and elegant. A spacious living room is complemented by beautiful mantel and mirror. It is a good buy, the price is less than you would guess.

Chinese Peace Hopes Bolstered

NANKING, March 8 (INS) — The peace faction in the Chinese Nationalist government was strengthened today by the resignation of Premier Sun Fo.

Sun Fo tendered his resignation to Acting President Li Tsung-Jen two weeks ago and Li accepted it at a session of the Chinese parliament today.

The former premier, son of the late Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, Cantonese founder of the Chinese republic, was the leader of the government faction which balked at acceptance of harsh Communist peace terms.

Solidarity Seen

Observers in Nanking believe his resignation will solidify support behind Acting President Li Tsung-Jen who favors acceptance of the Red terms "as a basis for peace negotiations."

The split between the two high Nationalist officials was sharply emphasized when Sun and his cabinet fled to Canton as Communist armies advanced to within 40 miles of the capital.

Acting President Li remained in the threatened city and subsequently persuaded Sun to return to Nanking.

Successor Not Named

No successor has been named to the premiership but one strong possibility pointed out by observers was Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, former minister of national defense who is heading a military conference for reorganization of the Nationalist army.

Sun, political rival of Acting President Li in the last April elections for the vice presidency, was appointed premier by President Chiang Kai-Shek, who has "retired."

The former premier offered his resignation last January when Chiang left the government but it was refused by Li who wanted to avoid an immediate government reshuffle.

Del Rio School Board Asks Review Of Accreditation Ruling

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—State School Superintendent L. A. Woods said today that the Del Rio school board has asked him to reconsider his ruling which took away the school's accreditation.

Dr. Woods recently removed Del Rio from the acceditated list of schools because Latin-American children were not allowed to attend schools of their choice. Woods warned them beforehand that all Latin-American and Anglo-American pupils of the same grade must attend school in the same school building.

Del Rio trustees took the case to Federal Judge Ben H. Rice who refused to pass on Dr. Woods' interpretation of segregation in Texas schools. Then they appealed to the State Board of Education.

Dr. Woods office said today that the board could not act on matters of accreditation.

The Del Rio trustees filed a motion for a rehearing on Feb. 25 with Dr. Woods. The state school superintendent said today that he had not set a date for the hearing.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular in quiet trading today. Nearby March was steady on evening-up operations. There were four March transferable notices issued. The balance of the market sagged on professional selling and hedging. Some buying in the old crop deliveries was associated with export sales. Most traders awaited fresh developments in the export and crop situations.

Futures closed 30 cents a bale higher to 15 cents lower than the previous close.

MARKET TRADING UNSTEADY

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The stock market floundered around uncertainly today, with most issues moving only fractionally from the previous close. Buying was highly selective and many so-called pivotal stocks were more or less ignored.

Business was moderately active following one 100,000-share transaction and another of 17,500 shares. These two big deals helped swell the day's business to 940,000 shares, the largest since Feb. 17 and 100,000 shares above Monday.

The sale of 100,000 shares of Western Air Lines stock was a case of history repeating itself and wasting no time about it. A week ago another block of 100,000 shares of Western Air changed hands in one of the largest transactions in the recent history of the exchange. The stock was marketed by W. A. Coulter, former Western president, and it was believed the second 100,000 share block represented most of Coulter's holdings.

Second big deal was sale of 17,500 shares of Commonwealth and Southern, up ⅛ at 3½, the closing price.

On the losing side were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse Electric, International Paper, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ) United Air Lines and Paramount.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 69.4, the highest reached since Feb. 5. Of the 924 issues which appeared on the tape, 500 advanced and 348 declined.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 8. (AP)—Grains rallied late in the morning session, but the rally was not sustained, and prices drifted back to around the day's low shortly before the close.

Oats were more stubborn than other futures and held some of their gains.

At the finish wheat was 1½ to 2 cents lower than the previous close, May $2.18⅝-½. Corn was ¾ to 1¼ lower, May $1.23-23⅛. Oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, May 67⅝-¾. Rye was unchanged to 1 cent lower, May $1.32½. Soybeans were ½ to 1¾ lower, March $2.54¼, and lard was 8 cents to 15 cents a hundredweight lower, March $12.60.

Improvements Needed On New Private Planes, Group Told

FORT WORTH, March 8 (U.P.)— With "few exceptions," private planes flying today were basically designed in 1938, some 200 nonscheduled flight operators were told here in regional meeting today.

That opinion came from J. B. Hartranft, jr., general manager of the Washington, D. C., aircraft owners and pilots assn.

But Hartranft added that there is nothing wrong with private flying that the industry itself can't fix.

"It's not a research problem," he said, "but one of getting plane improvements on the production line."

Improvements such as the crosswind landing gear which allows a plane to land on one-strip fields regardless of wind direction, and the "silent" airplane, the spinproof plane, and combined use of flaps and spilers permitting short landings over high obstructions are available today, he said.

"These improvements aren't on the 1949 personal planes because aircraft manufacturers haven't the funds," he said.

Nineteen-Year-Old Mother Starts Life Prison Term

GREAT FALLS, Mont., March 8 (INS)—A 19-year-old mother, convicted for the "poison coffee" murder of a Great Falls Air Base corporal, began serving a sentence of life in prison today.

A Great Falls district court jury last week found Mrs. Dannie Sue Hughett, 19, guilty of the murder of Corp. Robert Burt, 19, of San Marcos, Tex.

During her trial, Mrs. Hughett admitted she put arsenic in a cup of coffee and gave it to Burt, but she contended that she thought the poison would only make him ill.

Her mother, step-father and grandmother were in the courtroom as District Judge C. F. Holt pronounced sentence.

Mrs. Hughett appeared calm and smiled faintly as the judge admonished her "to study the Bible" and learn the rules during her imprisonment.

Paralysis Victim To Visit In Lubbock On Tour In Wheelchair

A victim of infantile paralysis for the past 35 years, W. C. (Bill) Lebow of Atoka, Okla., is expected to arrive in Lubbock Saturday on the first leg of a trek by wheelchair from Clovis, N. M., to New York City.

Lebow expects to take about eight months on the journey, which will include a visit to Warm Springs, Ga.

Lebow's advance arrangements for lodging are being made by his cousin, F. W. Lebow of Clovis, who was here last night. The cousin expects to precede him for a few more days, and then let him make most of the trip alone.

Chair Manually Operated

He travels about 17 miles daily in his manually operated vehicle, which is equipped with a small radio, compartment for food and a miniature luggage compartment. Lebow is carrying with him only one change of clothing, shipping other bits of wardrobe ahead.

Although he has never traveled east before, he expects no trouble in getting his wheelchair up and down mountains. He grew up in southeastern Oklahoma and never had trouble traveling over the hills there, he explains. Although his legs are useless, the 43-year-old man's arms and shoulders are exceptionally powerful. He weighs 140 pounds.

If the venture proves profitable, Lebow says he will contribute to a fund for crippled children. He is selling postcards bearing his photograph.

Route for the entire journey has not yet been mapped. Lebow spent last night in Sudan, and after his stop in Lubbock, plans to go to Texarkana by way of Fort Worth and Dallas.

Good Turnout Attends Church Class In City

A record-breaking attendance of 400 persons, including guests from New Mexico, Oklahoma and Tennessee, were present at the third annual Parent-Teacher training course class last night at Broadway Church of Christ, it was reported by Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister.

Among those present was a Chickasha, Okla., woman, who made the trip despite a broken leg, in order to hear the talks, Dr. Young stated.

Speaking to parents and teachers of high school and college age students, Dr. F. W. Mattox of Searcy, Ark., discussed "The Nature of Learning."

He suggested that in order for a teacher to be effective, he must see his pupil's point of view, and tie that viewpoint in with his teachings. He suggested further that pupils can not be improved by destructive criticism alone, but that evil must be supplanted by positive ideas.

Dr. Mattox will speak again at 10 a. m. today, and sessions at 7:30 o'clock tonight will close the school. Covered dish luncheon will be served at the church at noon.

Color Expert Suggests Yellow Paint On All Police Stations

BOSTON, Feb. 24 (U.P.)—Painting police stations a glowing yellow from doorstep to rooftree would make bluecoats happier and their prisoners more co-operative, says New York color consultant Faber Birren.

Birren, who believes color has a definite effect on the emotions, had another suggestion at a regional conference of the National Council for Community Improvement here.

"Writers should get their ideas in red-decorated rooms and retire to blue-green rooms to write," he said.

SPORTSWRITERS ON SPOT

Soviet Writers Are Given Few Suggestions To Stay 'Right'

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 8 — Komsomolskaya Pravda, which is not the sound of a waiter falling with a full tray but, in truth, a Communist newspaper, has dispatched a stern rebuke to Russian sportswriters.

The knaves are accused of preaching individualism and carserism to muscular Muscovites. The paper spoke of the writers "dirty hands," called them "passportless bums" (believed to be a surly slur on the Brooklyn Dodgers) and said they'd better clean house or else.

As one who holds only the friendliest feeling toward Russian sportswriters, please let me suggest a kind of pattern to guide them back to the good graces of their commissar-editors. Pardon my back while I face east.

Well, comrades, nrst of all make no further references to the current spring training programs of the U. S. ball clubs. That is, don't mention that the boys who basely professionalized their talents are now relaxing in Florida, Arizona and California and are forced by exploiting bosses to exercise almost two hours a day in the sun.

And for heaven's sake, if you'll excuse that bourgeois obscenity, don't mention that some of these downtrodden pros who yielded to the cloying influence of individualism will make $100,000 in salaries, bonuses and endorsements during their cruelly imposed six months of work during 1949.

By no means mention that these and other U. S. athletes drive around in big cars, have homes in pleasant climes, dress their wives in furs and send their kids to good schools. It would be best, too, not to mention hereafter that any of them can squawk out loud if he feels himself underpaid or being imposed upon. And do.

On days when you are not obliged to report that one comrade has run the mile in two minutes, flat, and another has broken all existing swimming records while taking a shower bath, beware of the "think" piece.

The "think" piece is the first refuge of sportswriters on this debased corrupt side of the curtain. I know, from experience. But watch it, kids, it's contagious. And it attacks without warning. You get stuck; your deadline begins to stare bleakly at the back of your reddening neck; you can hear the boss muttering to his ulcers, "that passportless bum ain't got the sign of an idea in his head."

Then, in desperation, you reach for Frank Menke's "Encyclopedia Of Sports" or Nat Fleischer's "Ring Record Book" or a handout from Buck O'Neill, Murray Goodman, Francis Albertanti, Bob Kelley, Charley Callahan and/or Fred Purner.

"Think" pieces only will get you guys into more trouble. For, sooner or later, you'll slip up and mention that Joe Louis, who used to make $25 a week as an unskilled laborer around the Ford plant, before he deterioriated into a career, quit the ring the other day after having earned more than $4,000,000 and become a greatly loved and respected figure in our decadent society.

On a newsless day you'd better not slip and bring up the fact, either, that one of our horses, who by now might have been consigned to supply the coating on the back of postage stamps, will soon be back in racing and shooting for his millionth dollar in purses. Plug named Citation.

Don't fall into the practice of commenting on the sordid fight between the National Football league and the All-America conference over prior rights to players. For, if you do, you might accidently mention the fact that in the midst of this rambunctious bartering salaries of professional U.S. gridmen have soared, on the average, 500 per cent.

Watch out for literary boomerangs. You blokes nearly got hit with an armada of same last summer when your government almost accepted an invitation to send a team to the London Olympics. It would have been mighty embarrassing when all those Russian world record holders you've been hailing had to perform before neutral watches (Swiss) and on tracks accurately measured.

Next time one of your fellows breaks the mile record, just say he did it in a conservative three minutes. That's still a minute and a second and a few splinters of time faster than the fastest Swede has achieved.

Take heart, lads. All is not lost if you play your cards right, oop, I mean left. Why not write some pieces about U.S. sportswriters and their pitiable illusions that they live the life of Riley and that the men and women and teams they write about are the best in the world? Or, better still, why not put a blast on the weak-livered tendency of so many U.S. sportswriters to descend to the abyss of writing politics? Lot of our folks will agree with you heartily on this.

YRS. IN SPORT,
Red Considine.

Texas Women Voter's League Pushes Secret Ballot Campaign

DALLAS, March 8 (AP)—The Texas League of Women Voters is pushing its campaign for a secret ballot.

Mrs. William Penn of Midland, chairman of a league committee for the secret ballot, said in an address here last night that the only voters who now have the secret ballot are those who use voting machines.

The league is sponsoring a bill now before the legislature, providing for a new type of ballot. It would provide complete secrecy and at the same time allow checking in case of contested elections, Mrs. Penn said.

Dallas Teacher Is Defendant In Suit For Paddling Pupil

DALLAS, March 8 (AP)—Miss Nellie Golightly, a trim, blonde school teacher, testified in district court here today that when she paddled a 15-year-old ninth grader the licks were hard because that is "what a paddling is for."

The slight, bespectacled teacher is defendant in a suit brought by parents of the student, an entrant in this winter's Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

They seek to enjoin Miss Golightly from "unusually harsh and severe" punishment of students. They also ask $1,000 damages for the paddling given their son.

Miss Golightly teaches at Sidney Lanier school.

Court Cleared Of Students

She took the stand after Judge W. L. Thornton ordered the courtroom cleared of a large group of students.

"We are not going to dramatize this case," Judge Thornton remarked.

Miss Golightly said that on the day of the paddling she had gone to the school room of another teacher. The student, Edward Ray Shores, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Shores, was in the class which Miss Golightly visited.

She testified that Edward "sassed" her and remarked that the regular teacher would dismiss the class as soon as she (Miss Golightly) left.

The teacher said she asked Edward what he meant by the remark and that he replied, "Just what I said." She then took hold of the boy by his jacket and was warned that, "somebody's going to get hurt."

Miss Golightly said she then spanked the student with a seven-inch paddle. She struck the youth between seven and 10 times, she estimated.
