Dems feel Whitewater jitters

Some think issue could become more than distraction

■ Many think Hillary Clinton should answer questions about her role to calm controversy.

Associated Press

CLEVELAND — Loyal Democrats defended President Clinton with vigor Friday and blamed Republicans for hyping the Whitewater controversy — but they also said the White House must put it to rest before it takes hold as an election issue.

Worried by some early evidence that Whitewater is trickling into the 1994 campaign debate, many participants at the spring Democratic National Committee meeting said one big step toward calming the controversy would be for Hillary Rodham Clinton to answer questions about her role.

"We will emerge from this temporary dilemma," Ohio party chairman Harry Meshel said. He contended Republican "merchants of malice" were smearing Clinton out of jealousy of his successful policies.

Joining that chorus, DNC Chairman David Wilhelm said Clinton was fully cooperating with the Whitewater investigation yet nonetheless being pummeled by Republicans "because they are without an issue to run on."

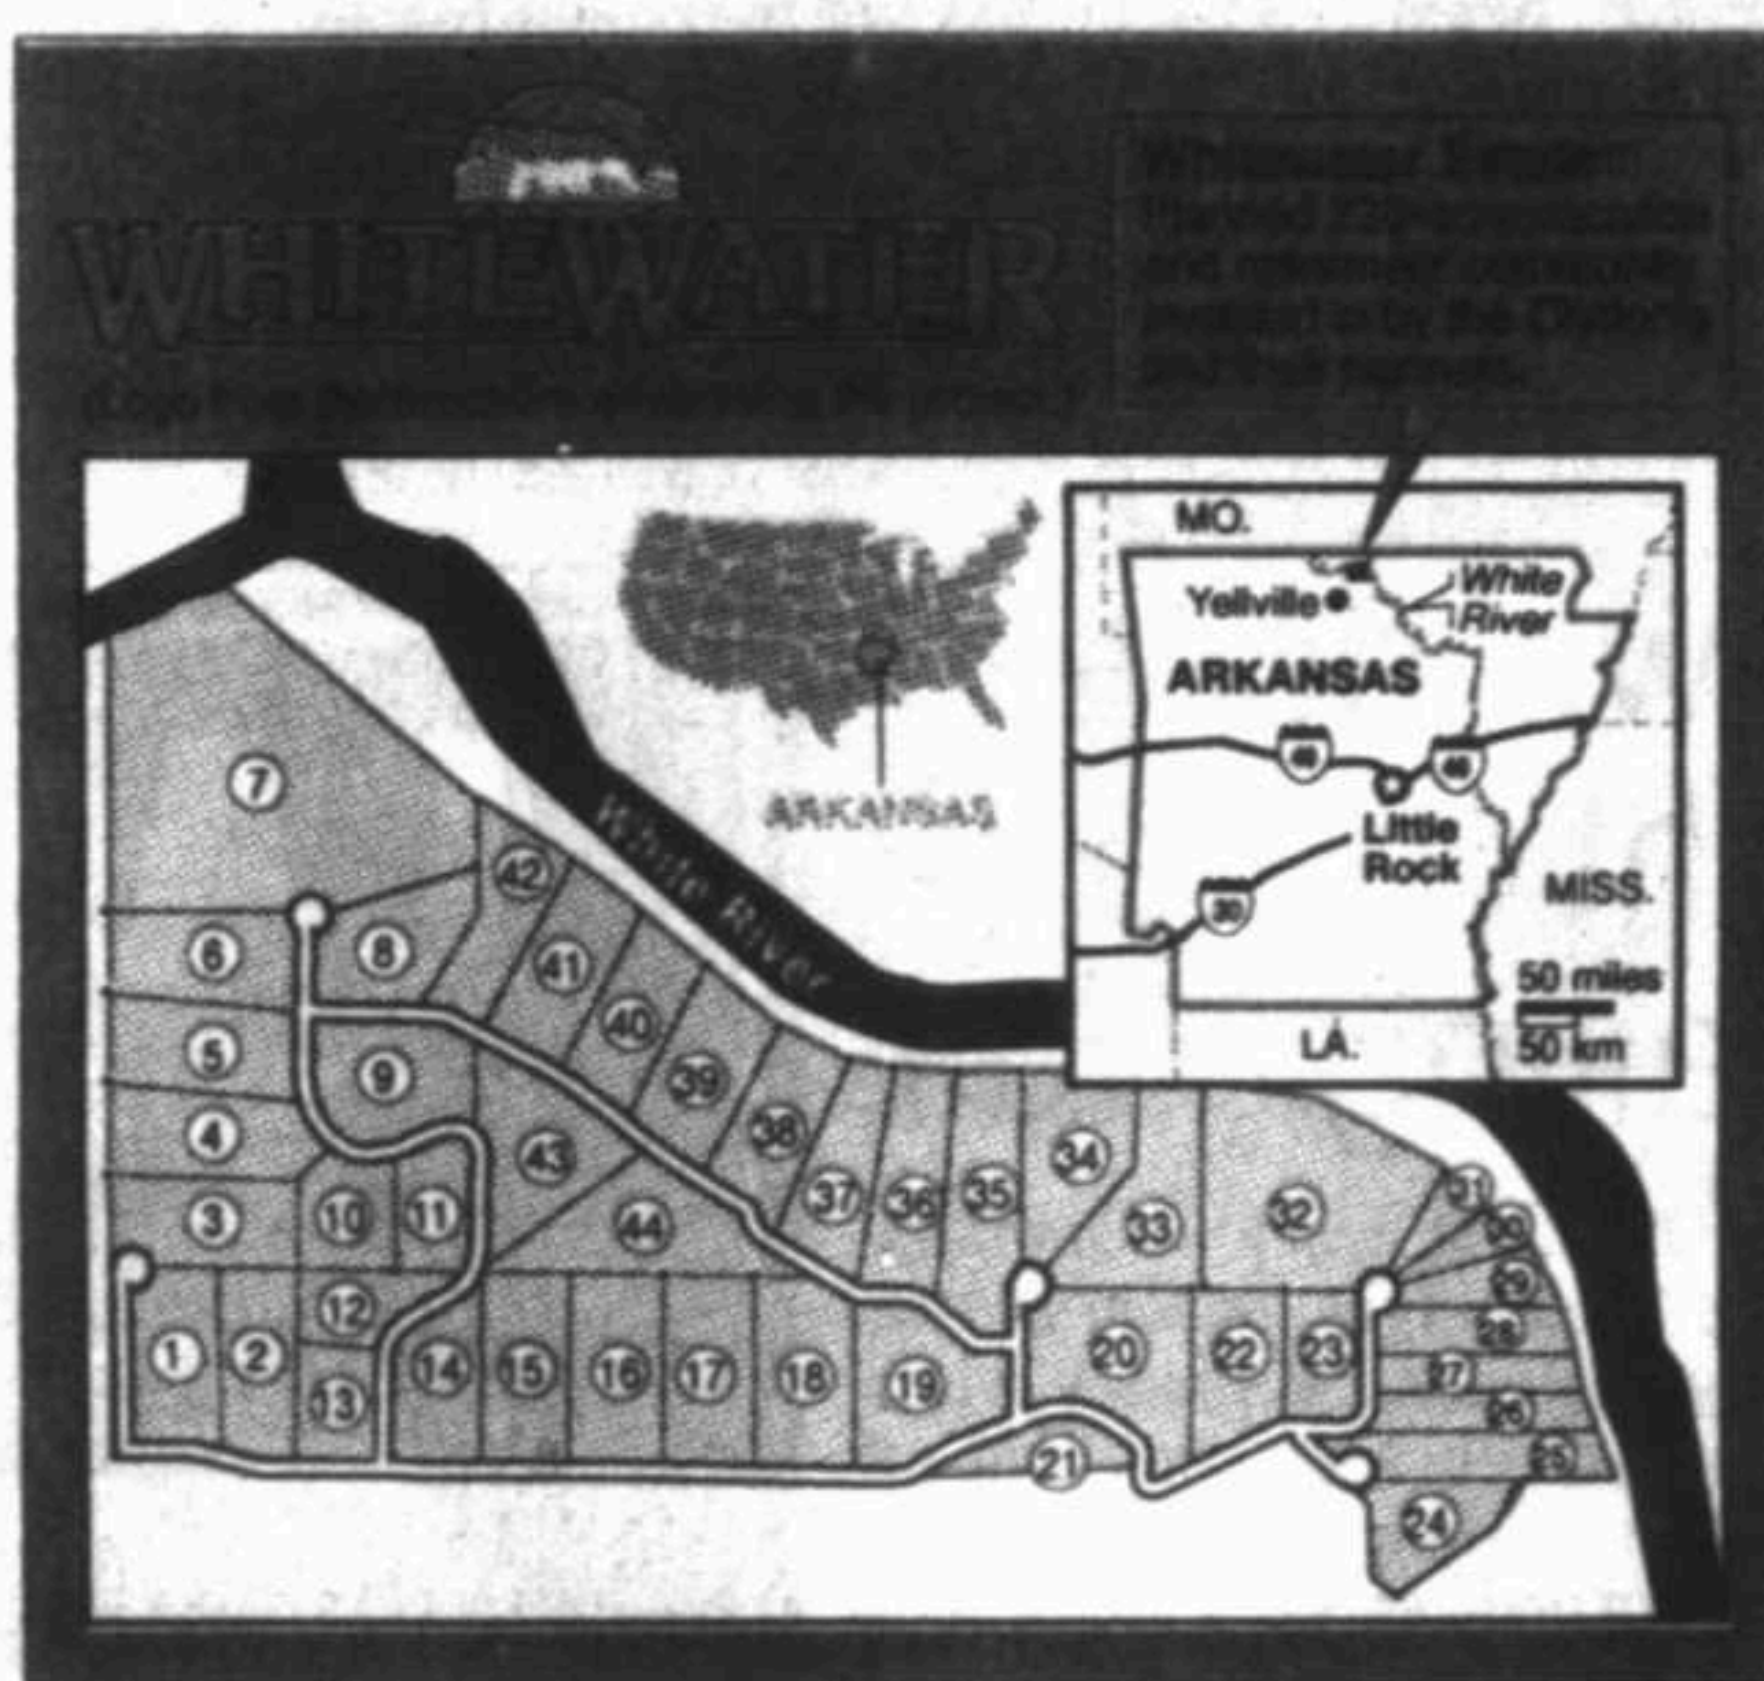

Cleveland Mayor Michael White said Republicans had launched "one of the worst onslaughts of negative politics against a sitting president that we've seen in our lifetime. . . . It's because, through it all, Bill Clinton is succeeding and he is winning America over."

The scorn and indignation aimed at Republicans, however, didn't mask the Whitewater jitters felt by many Democrats: Nearly every assertion at the meeting that Whitewater isn't a big issue ended with the same word — Yet.

Eager to make health care, welfare reform and crime the party's centerpiece issues in the fall campaign, many Democrats are increasingly worried Whitewater could prove more than just a distraction.

Gunman fires on Midlander, whips another

By Ed Todd
Staff Writer

A Midland man was shot three times in the chest and another man was pistol-whipped by the gunman after he fired six shots Friday night during an apparent quarrel at an eastside grocery store parking lot, according to police.

Wounded by gunfire was 24-year-old Lupe Magallanes, according to Midland Police Department Sgt. David Garcia. He was being treated late Friday at Memorial Hospital and Medical Center. A nursing supervisor said Magallanes was in serious condition.

Daniel Martinez, who turns 20 today, was being treated for facial cuts and bruises after he was pistol-whipped by the assailant, Garcia said.

Garcia said Magallanes and Martinez were talking with a woman on the north side of Al's Grocery No. 2 at 1203 N. Lamesa Road about 8 p.m. Friday when they were approached by three men — the suspects — Garcia said.

"It looked like an argument ensued," he said.

Garcia said the pistol-wielding assailant — who witnesses said was about 19 years old — fired six rounds from a .22-caliber handgun. Three bullets hit Magallanes and three hit the store, Garcia said.

Then the gunman attacked Martinez with the pistol and ran off with his two companions as Martinez headed for safety into the store, Garcia said.

Attorney's office in Midland joins investigation into alleged swindle

By Ed Todd
Staff Writer

An international probe into a $15 million alleged swindle involving West Texas oil fields, Canadian gold mines, and 400 European investors — mostly Germans — who lost their investment is being investigated by German officials and the U.S. attorney's office in Midland. German judicial investigators are to be in Midland next week to gather information for the criminal prosecution of three Germans who are accused of engineering a scam in the early and mid-1980s through General Allied Oil and Gas Co. (GAZ).

Their investigators are interested in Texas Railroad Commission records on drilling activities.

Texas' cities rank among fastest-growing markets

DALLAS (AP) — Several of Texas' biggest cities were among the country's fastest-growing employment markets in 1993, according to research data.

M-PF compiled statistics from the Texas Employment Commission and the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

According to the statistics, the Dallas-Fort Worth area created about 55,800 jobs, ranking it second in net employment gains to Atlanta. M-PF Research said. In 1992, when it gained about 21,000 new jobs, the D-FW area ranked fourth nationally.

The job growth came largely from the service sector, although wholesale and retail positions also grew, M-PF said. The mining and petro-

Russian: PLO's ready to resume talks

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — The Palestine Liberation Organization is ready to resume negotiations with Israel on self-rule for the West Bank and Gaza Strip, Russia's foreign minister said Friday.

PLO leader Yasser Arafat "has taken a very strong position. It is a courageous decision through his commitment to the peace process and his preparedness to resume the peace negotiations," Andrei Kozyrev, the Russian foreign minister, told reporters.

Arafat stood by Kozyrev at the news conference, but refused to answer directly when asked about returning to the talks.

"My colleagues (in the PLO) and I are waiting for guarantees and expect them to be worked out at a meeting between Mr. Kozyrev and U.S. Secretary of State Warren Christopher in Vladivostok on March 14," Arafat said.

The PLO-Israel negotiations were stalled by the Feb. 25 massacre by a Jewish settler of 30 Palestinians worshipping at a mosque in Hebron, in the occupied West Bank.

Palestinian sources said earlier Friday that Christopher apparently offered a compromise in an effort to woo Arafat back to negotiations with Israel.

The U.S. offer was made in a letter to Arafat in which Christopher urged him to resume the negotiations "without delay," they said. The letter was delivered to Arafat early Friday morning by U.S. Ambassador John McCarthy.

Arafat told McCarthy he could not respond before consulting with senior aides and other PLO leaders, according to the sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The U.N. Security Council has yet to issue a resolution condemning the mosque massacre because of U.S. and Israeli objections to references to Jerusalem as an occupied territory and to the stationing of a foreign military presence to protect Palestinians.

However, the Palestinian sources said Christopher's letter promised that the United States would support a resolution calling for a "temporary international or foreign presence in the occupied territories" in return for the PLO's resumption of talks.

The letter did not refer to a foreign military presence, they said.

Some PLO officials have suggested a compromise could mean a limited number of unarmed observers. Israel has indicated it might accept non-military international observers.

The letter made clear that the United States would still refuse a reference to Jerusalem as an occupied territory and would not back a reference to the Geneva convention, which says an occupying power must guarantee the protection of the civilians in the area it occupies, the sources said.

The U.S. delegation will abstain from the voting on these items when the resolution will be put into vote, the sources quoted the letter as saying.

The official PLO news agency Wafa reported only that Arafat had received the letter from Christopher, but gave no details.

Kozyrev said he brought a strong message of support to Arafat from the Russian leadership and that he would be presenting a Russian plan to restart the talks to Arafat and other PLO leaders.

He refused to divulge details.

But PLO officials said it included support for international protection for Palestinians and promises to upgrade the PLO's diplomatic representation in Moscow and to help establish a police force once self-rule had been negotiated.

In Israel, Kozyrev held talks with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and Foreign Minister Shimon Peres. He did not discuss the results of those meetings.

Kozyrev flew to Tunis after the talks in Israel. Russia and the United States are the co-sponsors of the Middle East peace negotiations that began in Madrid, Spain, in October 1991.

At the news conference, Kozyrev spoke in Russian. His remarks were translated into Arabic by a Russian diplomat.

Jews assert right to be at Wailing Wall

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jews asserting their right to be at the Wailing Wall danced Friday while Muslims celebrated the end of Ramadan at an adjacent holy site. Police forced settlers to check their weapons.

The end of the holy month was potentially volatile in the superheated emotional climate that followed the Hebron mosque massacre.

As a result of a massive display of police force, Arabs were allowed to enter the old walled city only through the gates leading to Al-Aqsa mosque, the third holiest in Islam.

Palestinians from the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip were barred from entering Jerusalem. A prayer leader criticized Israel, saying that only 20,000 got through for Friday prayers — about 10 percent of those who wanted to.

No violence was reported during Friday prayers but later dozens of Arab youths rioted in Arab east Jerusalem, Israel radio said.

Police fired rubber bullets to disperse the crowd and arrested one Arab, the report said. Mukassas hospital in east Jerusalem reported four injured by rubber bullets, the radio added.

Jewish right-wingers said that at least 1,000 Israelis would pray at the Wailing Wall or the remnant of the Jewish temple, just below Al-Aqsa, while Muslim prayers were underway at noon.

But, only 250 showed up to dance the traditional hora around the plaza under a downpour of hailstones.

"I feel naked with an empty holster and a piece of paper to defend myself against any kind of attack," Robby Berman told Israel television after he went through the unprecedented step of handing his weapon over to police to get into the plaza.

Last Friday, police temporarily cleared the Wailing Wall prayer area as a security precaution, prompting this week's protest.

"It is entirely inconceivable under any circumstances that the Jews will be deprived of their rights," said Jerusalem mayor Ehud Olmert, who inspected the plaza packed with riot police equipped with a water cannon and shields.

The two-week closure on the occupied territories was also tightened because Israel worried about revenge attacks by Muslim extremists during the last Friday of Ramadan. Even Palestinians with special permits were banned from entering Israel.

The closure was imposed Feb. 25 after a Jewish gunman killed 30 Palestinians at a Hebron mosque. Palestinians threaten to avenge the massacre.

Police Commissioner Rafi Peled was quoted by Israel radio as saying that after the month-long Muslim holidays were over, Israel would gradually lift the closure. Ramadan formally ends with a feast this weekend.

After the Hebron killings, the Palestine Liberation Organization broke off negotiations with Israel on implementing the Sept. 13 autonomy pact over the Jericho region of the West Bank and the Gaza.

Jury hears confession on tape

By Ron Word
Associated Press

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — A serial killer buried his murder weapon and gloves after five slayings, deciding he had killed enough, according to a tape recording played Friday for his jury.

"He was through. He decided to quit what he was doing," death-row inmate Bobby Lewis, an intermediary in the confession by Danny Harold Rolling, told investigators. "That was to be the last victims. He was finished."

Rolling, 39, pleaded guilty Feb. 15 to five murders, three rapes and three armed burglaries in attacks on the Gainesville college students at off-campus apartments. The jury must recommend either a death sentence or life in prison to Circuit Judge Stan R. Morris, who makes the final decision.

"He just snapped," Lewis said of Rolling on the three-hour tape, which was recorded Jan. 31, 1993.

Reading from notes for investigators, Lewis outlined each of the murders in graphic detail. He said he was given the complete descriptions by Rolling, then recopied them in his own handwriting before destroying Rolling's notes.

"The major problem he has is dealing with the things he has done," Lewis told the investigators.

Lewis, the only inmate to escape from Florida's death row, answered questions with Rolling sitting beside him, but Rolling would verify each answer and often expand on the answers.

"Bobby is my mouthpiece. Bobby is my confessor," Rolling told investigators.

Also Friday, Russell Binstead, an inmate at Florida State Prison where Rolling is being held, testified that Rolling recounted the murders to him, including verbal exchanges some of the victims had with the killer.

Binstead also said Rolling gave him a letter outlining the murder of one of the victims and a poem entitled "Gemini."

On a tape played for the jury Thursday, Rolling asked for forgiveness from the victims' families, pleaded to his parents and brother for love and forgiveness and soulfully sang foreboding lyrics. The tape was made at a campsite used by Rolling as a base for his deadly forays in August 1990.

In interviews with investigators, Rolling said he had multiple personalities, including a Jesse James-type personality called Enad, a childlike Danny and the evil Gemini.

"Gemini was who you would have found at the five murder scenes," Lewis said.

POLICE REPORTS

Crane death

CRANE — Robert Moya, 57, of Crane has been charged in the death of his 31-year-old ex-son-in-law, Fidel Banuelos, 31, of Roswell, N.M., according to Crane County Sheriff's Department officials.

Moya is accused of shooting Banuelos in the head with a high-powered hunting rifle at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday, said Crane County Chief Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Cox.

Banuelos was sitting alone in his car outside Moya's southeast Crane home when the incident occurred, Cox said.

Cox said Banuelos only recently had been released from jail in Roswell after serving a six-month term for the criminal sexual contact of a minor — Banuelos's 8-year-old daughter and Moya's granddaughter.

Banuelos had been sentenced to three years in prison for that offense in 1993, but the sentence was suspended and Banuelos was ordered to serve six months in jail, Cox said.

The shooting was investigated by the Crane County Sheriff's Department and the Crane Police Department.

Hit-and-run

Midland police are looking for a red and gray pickup truck that was involved in a hit-and-run accident about 8:30 a.m. Thursday morning in the 3600 block of Andrews Highway.

The truck hit a green 1992 Honda Accord, causing the driver to lose control and flip over, police said. The driver, who wore a seat belt, sustained only minor injuries, they said.

The red/grey/red truck had a rack on the bed and was carrying a ladder and/or pipes, according to witnesses. Damage to the truck should be on the left front quarter panel and should have green paint transfer, police said.

Anyone with information about the truck is asked to notify the Police Department.

Judge refuses to dismiss charges against Hollywood madam, sets trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge rejected arguments that alleged Hollywood madam Heidi Fleiss was the victim of discriminatory prosecution and ordered her to stand trial on May 26.

Superior Court Judge Judith Champagne said Friday there was no evidence to support Fleiss' lawyer's argument that prostitution laws were administered unfairly against women.

Fleiss' attorney, Anthony Brooklier, argued that no male client of a prostitute had ever been prosecuted under the state's felony statute. He said he would appeal.

Brooklier waved a binder containing the names of men identified to a grand jury as Fleiss customers. None of them, he said, were charged with wrongdoing.

"This is a boys club operation," he said. "They don't prosecute men of substance who ... come from all walks of life, including the film business, ever."

Fleiss, 27, is accused of operating a pricey call girl ring that catered to wealthy men, including movie industry bigshots. She did not attend Friday's hearing.

Champagne said the felony statute was enacted in the late 19th century to combat white slavery.

It states that "every person who purchases, or pays any money, or other valuable thing, for any person for the purpose of prostitution ... or the purpose of placing such person, for immoral purposes, in any house or place against his or her will, is guilty of a felony."

"I do not feel," the judge said, "that you have demonstrated that the police policies were motivated by an attempt to discriminate against women."

WEATHER WATCH

Look for showers, thunderstorms

Staff Report

Scattered rain showers and a few thunderstorms may fall to refresh the dry Midland countryside this weekend.

The forecaster at the National Weather Service at Midland International Airport is predicting a 50 percent chance of showers and thunderstorms today and Sunday.

The high temperature today is to be in the mid-50s. Winds are to be southeasterly at 10 to 20 mph.

There is a 50 percent chance of showers or thunderstorms tonight, when the temperature is to drop into the upper 30s.

The high temperature on Sunday will be near 50.

Friday's peak temperature was 68 degrees, and the overnight low was 32 degrees.

The record high temperature for March 11 is 91 in 1989. The record low temperature for March 12 is 15 degrees in 1948.

STATE

A mostly dry day in Texas Friday is expected to give way to showers on today.

A few showers were reported in parts of West Texas on Friday, although most of the precipitation didn't reach the ground. Skies were partly to mostly cloudy otherwise. Afternoon temperatures ranged from 56 degrees at Amarillo and Dalhart to 74 degrees at El Paso. Winds were southeast to south at 10 to 20 mph with occasional gusts.

Today, most of West Texas will see partly to mostly cloudy skies with a chance of showers and thunderstorms. Precipitation may change to snow over the Panhandle. Highs will range from the 40s in the north to the 60s in the south as a cold front moves into the region. Lows will be in the 20s in the north and 40s in the south.

In South Texas, skies were clear to partly cloudy on Friday with afternoon temperatures in the 60s and 70s. Winds were southeasterly from 10 to 15 mph with frequent gusts to near 30 mph in some areas.

Today's South Texas forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies with a chance for showers or thunderstorms. Highs will be in the upper 60s to mid 70s.

Southerly winds warmed North Texas into the 60s in most places.

Today, cloudiness will be on the increase in North Texas as a storm system approaches Texas from the southwest. Rain and few showers will be increasing in number and intensity. Daytime highs will be in the 50s and 60s with lows in the 30s and 40s.

NATION

A combination of thunderstorms, showers and snow stretched from California to the Rockies on Friday, while the Northeast dried out from its latest winter storm. Much of the rest of the nation was also dry and fairly mild.

The Western storm brought 6 to 8 inches of snow to ski areas around Lake Tahoe on the California-Nevada line. Six inches fell southwest of Reno, Nev., in the Galena Forest area.

Strong thunderstorms rumbled across portions of northern and central California during the afternoon, producing high winds and also some snow in the mountains.

Winds also gusted across parts of Southern California, reaching 58 mph in the desert town of Mojave, 90 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

As the storm front rumbled east, winter storm watches were posted through today for the mountains of New Mexico and the southern mountains of Colorado.

Meanwhile, temperatures were mild in the Plains, although it was windy. In Kansas, wind gusts reached 48 mph in Russell and 44 mph at Dodge City.

The southerly winds and the sunshine boosted temperatures into the 60s and 70s Friday afternoon across much of the southern and central Plains.

Precipitation in the eastern half of the country was generally limited to a few lingering showers and flurries over the Northeast. They were produced by a lingering storm system that brought snow, sleet and heavy rain to the region the day before.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

STATE: Texas cities rank high in growing job market

leum sector and the finance, insurance and real estate category continued to lose jobs.

The Dallas area accounted for most of the new employment in the region, with 40,600 new jobs compared with 15,200 in the Fort Worth area.

Several other Texas cities also posted strong growth.

Austin was seventh nationally with 26,900 new jobs, while San Antonio was 11th with 21,900 new positions. Houston, which lost jobs in 1992 as energy companies continued to cut back, added 19,000 new ones last year, for a ranking of 14th.

The statewide employment growth revisions were large enough to give Texas a total 1993 job gain of about three percent, said Tamara Plaut, chief economist in the Texas Comptrollers Office.

"Three percent is a big number," Ms. Plaut said. "The employment growth confirms what we have been seeing in the real estate business, where we have had very strong growth in housing starts and apartment construction."

Along with the Texas cities, the biggest job gains in 1993 were in the Midwest, Rocky Mountain states, the desert Southwest and Florida.

California cities continued to suffer the greatest job losses in 1993. Los Angeles led the decliners, losing 76,100 jobs.

Dissident arrests sour trade talks

BEIJING (AP) — The mood of his trip soured by a fresh crack-down on dissidents, Secretary of State Warren Christopher sought Saturday to convince China's leaders the United States won't back down from its demands for human rights reform.

Reflecting the somber moods of the visit, Christopher canceled plans for a sightseeing trip Sunday to the Forbidden City, the former imperial palace grounds that is one of Beijing's leading tourist attractions.

"He is in a down-to-business mode," said an aide, speaking only on condition of anonymity. Asked if the change in plans reflected unhappiness over the action of the Chinese government, the aide replied, "There aren't many smiles in the Christopher camp."

Several of Christopher's top Russian advisers are flying to Beijing for a session Sunday to help him prepare for his meeting in Vladivostok with Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Kozyrev.

The secretary of state will stop in Vladivostok on Monday and then continue on to Washington.

Only hours before Christopher's arrival on Friday, police arrested another dissident, the 15th detained in the past 10 days. And the day before, Premier Li Peng told the National People's Congress that China would not bow to outside pressure on human rights.

"China opposes hegemony in any form," he said.

In Washington, White House press secretary Dee Dee Myers said, "I think the action of the Chinese government in this regard creates a very unfortunate setting for Christopher's visit."

"There is no change in our position. We continue to insist there be progress on human rights if we are to renew most favored nation trading status for China in June," she said.

Christopher has repeatedly criticized the detentions, and he said that "China seems to be going in the wrong direction."

His visit is seen as a last chance in face-to-face meetings to tell the Chinese that time is running out for renewal of most favored nation trade status.

China's eligibility for the lowest available tariffs on exports to the United States expires in early June. China currently has a $23 billion trade surplus with the United States, second only to that of Japan.

Winston Lord, assistant secretary of state for East Asian affairs, said Christopher intended to "make very clear what it required" for the trade status to be renewed.

Christopher's schedule included a meeting with Foreign Minister Qian Qichen, followed by sessions with President Jiang Zemin and Premier Li.

An unusually large police presence was obvious in the neighborhood of the U.S. Embassy. Police prevented cars and bicycles from getting close to the embassy.

John Shattuck, assistant secretary of state for human rights, who was in China last week, said his understanding was that "most of the individuals who were detained have been released."

But just hours before Christopher's plane landed, Chinese authorities detained dissident Wang Fuchen, leader of a Shanghai human rights group. Sources in Shanghai suggested police would hold him for several days in a hotel.

Shattuck said that in his meetings with Chinese leaders they "generally indicated they will do what they can within the framework of Chinese law." He said he responded that basic human rights standards were "the appropriate standards to use."

Three other dissidents left Beijing Friday, apparently to avoid controversy with authorities during Christopher's visit.

Gunfire erupts on Texas beach, injures two

GALVESTON (AP) — Two people were injured Friday afternoon when gunfire erupted on a beach where about 200 high-schoolers had gathered, police said.

Galveston police Sgt. M. Stanich said he believes the shooting was gang-related. Stanich said he does not consider the shooting related to Spring Break, which officially kicks off here on Saturday, because of the ages of those involved.

No suspects have been arrested in connection with the 1:45 p.m. shooting on East Beach, where a crowd of about 200 mostly high-school-age youths had gathered, Stanich said. There also were reports that members of several different gangs were present, he said.

"At some point, someone just started indiscriminately firing into the crowd," Stanich said.

Ruben Alvarado, 17, of Houston was shot in the right leg, Stanich said. Alvarado was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where he was treated and released, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Alex Flores, 20, of Houston suffered a gunshot wound to the left thigh and a graze wound to the right forehead, Stanich said. A hospital spokeswoman at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston confirmed Flores was a patient but said she could not release any other information.

Both men told police they heard gunshots and tried to flee, but were shot, Stanich said.

"These would not be your typical spring-breakers; they are not college kids or anything," Stanich said.

He said that Galveston police have planned to beef up patrols during Spring Break.

"We're usually ready on the weekend," Stanich said. "We have extra patrols."

SCAM: Officials in Midland join investigation

(From 1A)

U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Buntan appointed Assistant U.S. Attorney Janet Bonner of Midland as commissioner of federal court to assist the German government in prosecuting the case. Ms. Bonner has the power to issue subpoenas in gathering records and other information.

"It is a courtesy more than anything else," Ms. Bonner said Friday. "I'm just delighted to do this."

The German defendants in the case are Norbert Bozon, 43; Doctor Wolfgang Munch, 44; and Karl-Heinz Spodig, 39. They are under suspicion of fraud and breach of trust through General Allied Oil and Gas Co., and Euro Petroleum Corp. (EPC). Bozon was General Allied's president, and Munch and Spodig were company directors.

General Allied Oil and Gas, which was founded in 1979 in West Virginia by James W. St. Clair, had the Midland address of 10 Desta Drive, according to court records.

The company's object was to purchase, explore and develop mineral, oil and gas properties.

West Texas drilling sites involved in the scheme were in Dawson, Howard, Irion, Reagan, Sterling, Terry and Winkler counties, according to court documents.

Court records said that GAZ, EPC, Tiburon Petroleum Corp., and others entered into an agreement to carry out the Tiburon 83-X Development drilling program in the Spraberry Trend in West Texas.

The German investigators suspect that the developers "highly exaggerated" to the investors the value of the oil wells in question.

The first of the many drilling projects was "productive," and the second was "occasionally" productive, according to court records.

"All the other drilling sites did either not produce anything or only small quantities of oil or gas," according to court records.

"After good results in the beginning, the output of the producing wells usually decreased to zero in the long run," according to the documents.

It is "doubtful whether the joint-venture partners were actually in possession of the respective leases and whether the joint-venture partners complied with their payment obligations under the joint venture," according to the documents.

Of the Canadian gold mine Bozon acquired on Vancouver Island in British Columbia, the court records stated "it is doubtful whether any quantity of gold worth speaking of" was actually produced.

The defendants are suspected of embezzling money from EPC, according to the documents.

If convicted of fraud and breach of trust in Germany, each of the defendants could be sentenced up to 10 years in prison.

JITTERS: Dems defend Clinton, blame GOP

(From 1A)

"people are not going to be voting about Whitewater when they are voting for the U.S. Senate and U.S. Congress." Still, he adds, "I'd haul all you press guys in and hand you every piece of paper I had on Whitewater."

Others go further. Roaming the halls of the Democratic meeting, where Whitewater is a frequent subject, longtime party activist Lynn Cutler was handing out "Don't pillory Hillary" stickers.

But while accusing Republicans of taking cheap shots at the first lady, Cutler also said Mrs. Clinton could play a big role in calming the controversy.

"It is time for her to find the right venue in which to talk to the American people about a lot of this stuff," she said. Cutler said Mrs. Clinton — and the Democratic Party — have much more at stake than just convincing people she did nothing wrong in handling the family's investments, or in representing a Little Rock savings and loan involved in the controversy.

"Her integrity and effectiveness are at stake," Cutler said. "They are peeling away her ability to be what she is, which is our leader on the health care reform issue."

There is widespread agreement here that Mrs. Clinton needs to hold some forum to answer Whitewater questions, although the party leaders stress that the venue must be "very limited and dignified" to use Slagle's words.

"If you spend too much time prattling about your innocence people start asking why an innocent person would be so worked up," Slagle said.

Also, many of the Democrats want the issue of whether there will be a congressional investigation resolved quickly, and most in this group believe hearings are inevitable.

Already, a handful of Republicans are using the issue against Democrats in House and Senate races, equating opposition to a congressional investigation with acquiescence in a cover-up, making it potentially risky for Democrats to oppose hearings.

"If I were in that position I probably would not do that," Cutler said.

WIN: Record sweeps Texans into Lotto frenzy

vine said.

The sixth was the Town and Country store in McAllen, on the Mexican border, which adds a twist to boost its ticket sales: Any jackpot winner who buys the lucky ticket there is guaranteed a new car or truck.

The store already has paid off once, to a $7.8 million lotto winner who got a red truck in addition to his jackpot prize. Town and Country got $78,000 as its 1 percent bonus for selling the prize-winning ticket.

Town and Country owner Alvin Potter said it was "super-busy" Friday, with long lines on the street.

"We've had to hire McAllen police officers to direct traffic... The police have to hold up the left turn lane until two or three cars get out of the parking lot, so they can let two or three more in," he said. "I've got three lotto machines, and they're all going nonstop."

Although many other stores also sell lotto tickets, Potter said, customers "consider us a lucky store, and we're the only ones that are giving away a vehicle. They figure they get something extra."

The lotto jackpot reached $50 million twice last year, on May 1 and July 7. Fourteen people split the prize the first time, and three the second.

Whether there is more than one winner "really depends on what the numbers are," Levine said.

Multiple winners are more likely if the jackpot numbers are on the low end of the 1-50 range, because players tend to choose such low numbers as birthdays.

If just one person does win, the prize would be about $2.75 million a year for 20 years. If no one wins, the jackpot rolls over again.

Still, Texas has a way to go to meet the nation's jackpot record. It's held by California, which offered an $118.8 million pot on April 17, 1991.

Bloodshed spurs black leader to take part in S. African election

MMABATHO, South Africa (AP) — The leader of a black homeland caved in under the weight of a bloody civil uprising Friday and agreed to take part in South Africa's April election. At least 22 people died in fighting.

Bophuthatswana ruler Lucas Mangope buckled after five days of protests by African National Congress supporters, culminating in the public execution Friday of two right-wing whites among the hundreds who came to support Mangope.

Black soldiers from Bophuthatswana's military shot and wounded the men in a street clash, then let them lie pleading for medical care before a man in a police uniform finished them off with shots fired at point-blank range.

Mangope gave in shortly afterward, his authority destroyed by unprecedented unrest in the homeland that declared itself independent from South Africa 17 years ago. Only South Africa has recognized its independence.

Looters swarmed through stores, offices and banks, carrying off everything from beer to bicycles. President F.W. de Klerk said he would send South African troops to help control unrest.

Mangope's decision to take part in the election was a major victory for the ANC. For months it has tried to involve all factions into the election and end Mangope's iron-fisted rule of Bophuthatswana.

But ANC President Nelson Mandela said it was not enough. He said Mangope's loss of control in Mmabatho showed he should be ousted from office. Mangope has not been seen since Thursday.

Looters take everything from beer to bicycles while swarming through stores, offices and banks.

De Klerk, however, said he was satisfied. He and Mandela held an emergency meeting after the situation in Bophuthatswana spiraled out of control, leaving the homeland's capital a virtual war zone.

At least 20 South African troop carriers filled with soldiers rolled into central Mmabatho late Friday, army spokesmen said. Their orders were to work with Bophuthatswana troops to steady the situation.

Gunfire could be heard after nightfall from a hotel in downtown Mmabatho.

News photographers reported seeing a long convoy of right-wing vehicles moving in the city's outskirts and encountering Bophuthatswana troops.

The photographers said they toll might be much higher.

Bophuthatswana had allied itself with pro-apartheid whites and the Zulu nationalist Inkatha Freedom Party in rejecting the election, set for April 26-28. The ANC is favored to win. Mangope's capitulation weakens the anti-election alliance.

Mangope's authority collapsed Thursday when some of his security forces joined protesters. On Friday, thousands of homeland residents poured into the streets, dancing and tearing through the city's main shopping mall in a frenzy of looting and destruction.

Soldiers watched as laughing men, women and children carried out armloads of carpets and clothes, baskets of food and groceries or struggled with refrigerators, bedroom sets, mattresses and chairs. Occasional warning shots and tear gas failed to deter them.

By nightfall, thick brown smoke billowed from the roof of the complex in central Mmabatho as people carried their spoils along the dirt roads leading to their township homes.

Bophuthatswana forces had appeared to regain control of the streets earlier Friday, but the arrival of neo-Nazi whites to bolster Mangope added a new dimension. Mangope put out a statement saying he didn't want help from the racist Afrikaner Resistance Movement, or AWR, known for its beligerent rhetoric and swastika-like insignia.

Hundreds of hooded AWR members began cruising Mmabatho, brandishing shotguns. Witnesses accused them of shooting wildly at homes and said they killed at least one woman.

Late in the morning, a convoy of dozens of vehicles carrying AWR members confronted a crowd of blacks being prevented from entering Mafeking.

Nixon advisor tries to mend Russian rift

MOSCOW (AP) — An advisor to Richard Nixon offered an apology of sorts on Friday for the ex-president's meeting with a rebellious Russian opposition leader, saying Nixon never meant to offend the Kremlin.

"Regardless of how you assess Richard Nixon's activities in Moscow, he never tried to offend the honor and dignity of the Russian state," said Dmitry Simes, a Russian and Soviet scholar who helped organize Nixon's trip.

On Friday, events surrounding the visit took another unlikely turn when ultranationalist Vladimir Zhirinovskiy echoed the government's refusal to meet with Nixon.

Speaking to reporters at the State Duma, the parliament's lower house, Zhirinovskiy said Nixon only sought Moscow's downfall when he was in office.

The United States nearly "impeached Nixon and now Russia is impeaching him, too," Zhirinovskiy said.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking member of President Boris Yeltsin's administration and a senior member of the Duma met with Nixon at his Moscow hotel to discuss how to end the flap with him, Simes told a news conference.

He said the officials, who requested anonymity, "raised various ideas, interesting ideas."

On the U.S. side, President Clinton asked his ambassador in Moscow, Thomas Pickering, to help "resolve the situation," Simes said.

And Nixon toasted Yeltsin at a reception Thursday evening at Pickering's home, calling Yeltsin and Clinton "partners not just in peace, but partners for freedom."

Yeltsin and other top Russian officials have shunned Nixon since Monday, when he met with Alexander Rutskoi, the former vice president who led an armed uprising against Yeltsin last fall.

IRA mortar rounds fall at busy airport

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of police, some on horseback and others with dogs, hacked through brush around Heathrow airport looking for IRA mortars following two attacks on one of the world's busiest airports.

Four shells were fired before dawn Friday, just hours after Queen Elizabeth II landed at Heathrow to end a visit to the Caribbean and Bermuda. They did not explode, nor did those that were fired Wednesday.

There were no injuries or damage, but the attacks may have done much harm to the Anglo-Irish initiative for peace in Northern Ireland.

Parliament member Sir Nicholas Fairbairn called on officials to explain why the plane carrying the queen was allowed to land even though news agencies had been warned of an impending attack several hours earlier.

The shells landed 50 yards from a Boeing 747 parked near a terminal.

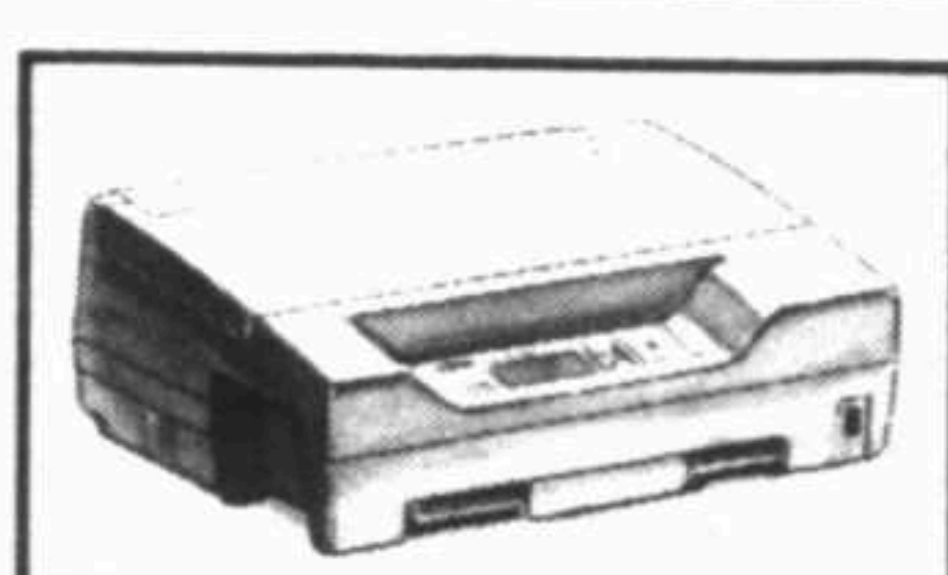

"To allow the Queen to land here and not divert her to another airport was not just foolish, it was reckless," said Fairbairn. "We should find out exactly who was responsible for this — and heads should roll."

Buckingham Palace said it never comments on security questions.

Inspectors focused in particular Friday on a wooded area two-thirds of a mile from the airport's southern runway, where they discovered a launching device that fired four mortar shells.

No one immediately claimed responsibility for the attack but police said the mortars were identical to those which the Irish Republican Army admitted firing at the airport Wednesday.

World banks agree to slash Polish debt

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Commercial banks have agreed to cut by more than 40 percent the $12 billion owed to them by Poland, through a debt restructuring announced by bank officials and Polish leaders on Friday.

The accord marks Poland's emergence from a debt crisis similar to the one that plagued Latin American countries in the 1980s. In resuming payment on its debt, Poland is hoping to gain increased credibility in financial markets and more foreign investment for its economy.

Poland and the banks reached the agreement in Frankfurt, Germany on Thursday after "intensive negotiations," said Bernhard Walter, a member of the Dresdner Bank board of directors, at a news conference there. Dresdner headed the committee representing Poland's commercial creditors.

"Thanks to the agreement, Poland's economic development will have a solid basis," Poland's prime minister, Waldemar Pawlak, said at a news conference.

Tomasz Uchman, spokesman for the National Bank of Poland, said he hoped the deal would encourage foreign investment and new Western credits.

Poland's chief debt negotiator, Krzysztof Krowacki, told the PAP news agency that the total reduction in principal and interest is expected to exceed 45 percent. Dresdner officials said it would amount to around 42 percent.

Creditor nations agreed in 1991 to write off 50 percent of the $30 billion debt that Poland owed them.

Dresdner Bank's Ernst-Moritz Lipp, who headed the bank advisory committee in the talks, said debt service payments on principal and interest will increase over a period of 15 years. He estimated the payments would amount to 2 percent to 3 percent of Poland's gross domestic product, or economic output.

Poland stopped repaying its bank debt in 1989, then resumed partial payment last year as talks progressed.

The creditor banks will exchange the medium- and long-term debt for various kinds of bonds. They include two kinds of 30-year bonds backed by zero-coupon U.S. Treasury bonds. One type has a 45 percent discount off face value. The other is exchanged at full face value but carries a fixed interest rate below market levels.

Money shortage threatens atomic plants in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — In Russia's frozen far north, workers at the Bilibino nuclear power plant haven't been paid for three months and the reactor's director desperately needs funds for fuel and repairs.

Several thousand miles away in densely populated central Russia, the Kursk nuclear power plant has slashed output for lack of fuel and a long-planned reconstruction of an older reactor has been delayed.

Across the country, Russia's nuclear power plants face a serious shortfall in revenue. The result, say nuclear regulatory officials and environmentalists, is that safety is in jeopardy, especially at Chernobyl-type reactors.

Nuclear power plants account for only 12 percent of Russia's electricity, and generate no hard currency like oil or natural gas. So far the government hasn't listened to the industry's pleas for extra funds.

"The government has forgotten what a nuclear accident is and they really don't understand the impact of a market economy," said Sergei Adamchik, who oversees nuclear power plant safety at the Atomic Industry Inspectorate.

Last year the Atomic Industry Inspectorate recorded about 20,000 violations of safety rules and claims many of those incidents are due to the funding crisis that developed when Russia began market reforms in 1992.

Under the old Soviet economic system, nuclear power plants, like the electricity system and every other enterprise, were funded by the government. Managers turned to the state if they needed extra money.

Everything changed in 1992, when the government freed most prices, began privatizing state property and stopped exercising centralized control over the economy.

Mexican peace envoy might run for president

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government's envoy in peace talks with rebels indicated on Friday he might run for president as an independent if his efforts to achieve democratic reform fail.

An election bid by Manuel Camacho Solis could pose a daunting challenge to Luis Donaldo Colosio, the nominee of the governing Institutional Revolutionary Party, or PRI. Interest in Colosio had been overshadowed by news of Camacho, who has been featured in front-page photos at talks with ski-masked rebels.

In an interview published Friday in the Mexico City newspaper Reforma, the rebels warned that the government must negotiate seriously with them on their 34 demands, especially a revamping of election laws to allow a fair ballot.

Camacho said the government should support electoral reforms before the Aug. 21 presidential vote, a key demand of rebels in Chiapas state as a condition for peace.

He told a crowded room of reporters, "If there is no democratic advance, if there is polarization instead of an accord... then after fulfilling my mission in Chiapas I would have to take the necessary political decision for the advance of democracy."

Camacho signaled that if the current administration does not back authentic democratic reforms soon, "I cannot cancel my life in politics."

The official deadline for registering presidential candidates is Tuesday. But if any of the candidates from a number of small parties drop out, Camacho could fill their spot up until July 21, analysts have said.

Charles Mathis

PURCELL, Okla. — Memorial services for Charles Kelly Mathis, 43, of Purcell and formerly of Odessa are to be at 4 p.m. today in Asbury United Methodist Church Chapel in Tulsa, Okla. Arrangements are being handled by Moore Funeral Homes of Tulsa, Okla.

Mathis died Thursday in Purcell following a lengthy illness.

He was a senior claims adjuster.

Eufemio De La Cruz

Eufemio (Gene) De La Cruz, 78, died Thursday at a local hospital following a brief illness.

He was a retired farm and ranch manager.

Services are pending at Bill C. Thomas Funeral Home.

Corene Watlington

Graveside services for Corene Watlington of Midland have been set for 3 p.m. today at Fairview Cemetery with Rev. Robert Kirk of St. Paul's United Methodist Church officiating. Ellis Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Watlington died Thursday at a Midland hospital.

She was born Nov. 1, 1911, in Mitchell County. She was raised on a farm there until 1923, when she moved to Midland. A short time later she moved to Andrews.

She returned to Midland in 1929 and married David Brooks "Tot" Watlington in 1931. Her husband operated Tot's Gulf Station in Midland for many years.

Mrs. Watlington was a homemaker and a member of North "A" Street Church of Christ.

Mrs. Watlington was preceded in death by her husband in 1965, and by a brother, Wayne Hart, in 1988.

Survivors include one son, David E. "Bud" Watlington of Richmond; two daughters, Jeanelle Jonz of Las Cruces, N.M. and JoAnn Livingston of Megargal; four brothers, Sid Hart, Jay Hart and Davis Hart, all of Midland, and Jess Hart of Alpine; three sisters, Rosie Hart and Iva Stanley, both of Midland, and Christine Hunter of Moncks, S.C.; 11 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Honorary pallbearers will be her grandchildren: Allen Redford, David Redford, Linda Harmon, Brenda Livingston, Harold Livingston, Troy Joe Livingston, Vicki Laughlin, Becky Young, Eugene Livingston and Clifford Watlington.

The family requests memorials be directed to the American Lung Association, P.O. Box 26460, Austin, 78755.

Charles Neuhardt

Services for Charles Neuhardt of Midland have been set for 9 a.m.

Saturday at First Baptist Church of Midland with Dr. James Denison, pastor, officiating. Burial will follow at Highland Cemetery in Iowa Park. Ellis Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Iowa Park arrangements are with Dutton Funeral Home.

Neuhardt died Wednesday at a Midland hospital following a brief illness.

Pallbearers will be William B. Johnston, Clifford Hogue, Charles Stough, Corky Bosworth, E.W. Babb, Jr., John W. Cooper, IV, Trim Rhodes and James Mims.

Honorary pallbearers will be Frank Shepard, Bill Ivy, Martin Neill, Jim Rogers, Chessley McKenzie, members of the Midland Rotary Club, and members of the Midland Chapter of American Institute of Architects.

Floyd Lewis

Graveside services for Floyd Lewis of Midland were held Friday at Fairview Cemetery with the Rev. Bob Porterfield of West Kentucky Baptist Church officiating. Ellis Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Lewis died Wednesday at a Midland hospital.

He was born Aug. 14, 1916, in Cleburne. He came to Midland in 1941. He worked in the oilfields of West Texas most of his life. He was a member of West Kentucky Baptist Church.

Survivors include one son, Floyd

Raye Lewis of Houston; one sister, Delma Tucker of Sweetwater; two grandchildren and one niece.

Lessie Greer

Funeral services for Lessie L. Greer, 83, of Midland are to be at 2 p.m. Sunday at Kimbrough Funeral Home Chapel in Cisco with the Rev. Bill Carroll of First Baptist Church of Cisco officiating. Burial will follow at Oakwood cemetery in Cisco. Local arrangements are under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Mrs. Greer died Friday at a local hospital.

She was born May 8, 1910, in Wood County and was reared and educated in Snyder.

She married R.I. Greer on May 27, 1928, in Snyder.

The couple lived in several West Texas towns before retiring in Cisco in 1973. In 1990, Mrs. Greer moved to Midland to be near her family.

She was a member of the Eastern Star and was a member of the First Baptist Church of Cisco.

She was preceded in death by her husband in 1989.

Survivors include her son, R.L. Greer of Spring; two daughters, Bobbie Jean Kizer of Midland and Monzelle Bailey of Garland; five grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

The family requests that memorials be sent to Oakwood Cemetery Fund in Cisco or a favorite charity.

Police arrest four officers

BARRE, Vt. (AP) — A small central Vermont town was left without two-thirds of its full-time police force when the chief and an officer were charged Friday in connection with an unprovoked shooting and an assault on a prisoner.

Two part-time officers for the town of Northfield, population 5,500, were also charged.

"It's a tragic day for Northfield," said the city's municipal manager, Kevin O'Donnell.

O'Donnell said he placed Chief Michael O'Neill and Officer Timothy Trono on paid administrative leave. The part-time officers, Brian Elwell and Kenneth Falcone, will not be given any hours until their cases are resolved.

In addition to its one remaining full-time officer, Northfield has about a dozen part-timers to carry on its police work. State police and a nearby sheriff's department agreed to help out until the situation is resolved.

Nancy skates in new rink

Kerrigan on 'Saturday Night Live' tonight

Nancy Kerrigan

By Frazier Moore
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK — Nancy Kerrigan! You won a silver medal at the Winter Olympics and grumbled about the skater who took the gold! You went to Disney World and seemed to call the parade they threw for you "the most corny thing I've ever done!"

What will you do now?
You'll host "Saturday Night Live," of course!
For what could prove a triple lutz in Nancy's long program to establish herself as not just a great skater but a good skate, she will take a whirl at comedy at 10:30 p.m. CST tonight on NBC (KWES-Ch. 9).

The musical guest is Aretha Franklin — "that is, if she can get her skates on in time," Kerrigan jokes in a promo already airing.

Not exactly a knee-slapper (oops, strike that reference), but this 10-second spot confirms that Nancy is the most re-freshly quirky choice to host "Saturday Night" in many moons.

Of course, "SNL" through the years has been a useful forum for notables of all stripes to show they can laugh at their own eminence — or at least pretend to in a drive to further enhance it.

Among the program's earliest, and unluckiest, hosts were otherwise cheerless consumer advocate Ralph Nader and presidential press secretary Ron Nessen, who in one skit played himself in service to a doltish Gerald Ford portrayed, as usual, by Chevy Chase.

If THEY could get laughs — and they did — then Kerrigan ought to glide through her hosting chores in Studio 8-H.

The rewards are obvious. A good "SNL" showing will

'Fugitive' hits home

■ It's fast-paced adventure, it's up for an Oscar for Best Picture — and it can now be viewed on the small screen.

By Max McQueen
N.Y. Times News Service

The Fugitive didn't do much for me when it was on ABC from '63 to '67.

So I had no reason to expect Andrew Davis' film of "The Fugitive" would change my opinion on this variation of Les Miserables' innocent man on the run from one lone determined detective.

It didn't. But I was in the minority. An itchy-bitsy one.

With Harrison Ford strongarming his way as Dr. Richard Kimble, "The Fugitive: The Movie" was the second-most popular film of '93. Right after "Jurassic Park."

In pumping up the TV series to film-size, Davis added much more action and a bit more mystery as to who killed Kimble's wife. The result? Seven Oscar nominations, including an inexplicable one for best picture and a fully deserved one for best supporting actor for Tommy Lee Jones.

Of this year's top Oscar crop, "The Fugitive" is the only one that will be on video before the March 21 Academy Awards.

"Angie" is a well-intentioned but confused film that spirals into so many different directions and assumes so many personalities that it might better be called "Sybil."

Just who is Angie? Is she an strong-willed woman facing matrimony and maternity (and not necessarily in that order)? Is she an abandoned girl searching for her long-lost, free-spirit mother? Is she a romantic looking for love in all the wrong places? Is she a new mother facing the tragedy of a baby born with severe medical problems?

Director Martha Coolidge ("Rambling Rose") just doesn't seem to know what sort of film she wants. As a result, this effort chugs along in an odd, episodic fashion. It's so stewed in melodramatic mush and cheap bathos that when you walk

'Guarding Tess': Shirley, you jest

By Yarden Arar
N.Y. Times News Service

LOS ANGELES — If they gave an Academy Award for casting, "Guarding Tess" would be the year's early front-runner.

That's how good Shirley MacLaine and Nicolas Cage are in director and co-writer Hugh Wilson's tale of a crotchety former first lady and the long-suffering chief of her Secret Service detail. It's impossible to imagine this amiable but slight comedy — essentially a sort of "Driving Miss Daisy" without the Southern froufrou — working nearly as well with any lesser lights.

MacLaine plays Tess Carlisle, who since her beloved husband's sudden demise has been living in relative seclusion in her quiet Ohio hometown. Her companions at her spacious home include a rotund personal nurse (Richard out of the theater, you'll feel like you've seen four half-hour soap opera episodes instead of one movie.

Just what is this story supposed to be about? For simple plot purposes, it's the adventures — and misadventures — of Angie (Geena Davis), an Italian woman brought up in Brooklyn, an only child, "which, in a Catholic neighborhood like Bensonhurst, made me feel like a martian."

But she finds safety and comfort with her best friend, the ever-tacky Tina (Aida Turturro). When Angie learns she's pregnant, all would seem joyous except that she suddenly starts to question her relationship with boyfriend-lunk Vinnie

John Malkovich a convincing nut case

This, that and the other...

■ John Candy didn't have many memorable comedy movies out, but "Armed & Dangerous" and "Planes, Trains and Automobiles" are loaded with laughs. It is Candy's work on SCTV for which he will be most appreciated and remembered. He was particularly funny when teamed with Eugene Levy, either as the accordion-happy Schmunge Brothers, or as the bumbling security guards in "Armed & Dangerous," a film in which they co-starred with young up-and-comer Meg Ryan.

■ As crazed lunatics go, they don't get much better than John Malkovich in "In the Line of Fire." It'd be a difficult choice to have to decide on who's better in a supporting role, Malkovich, or Tommy Lee Jones, for his phenomenal portrayal of Detective Gerard in "The Fugitive."

■ Note to Barry Sykes, p.a. guy at Angels Stadium. If you don't already know, and I'm sure you do, there's a huge baseball park hit waiting to happen with Alabama's "Cheap Seats." It's a natural for minor league between-innings music.

■ You want dumb country-western lyrics? Try on Chris LeDoux's, "For Your Love," in which the singer proclaims, "For your love, I'd rope the moon/And put it in a blender/Mix up a concoction/And make you surrender." ... and, "Your love ain't just the cover, it's the whole magazine." I'm not sure, but I don't think they get much worse than that.

■ The People's Choice Awards are all the proof we need that stars and starlets everywhere will get together at the drop of a hat simply to pat themselves on the pat. Or as they prefer, to let others do the patting.

■ What works: Stephen Bochco's new family drama, "Byrds of Paradise." It's corny to an extent, and is reminiscent of a "Harts of the West" set in Hawaii. Not all of it works, but it's just quirky enough to be above average TV.

■ What doesn't work: "Thunder Alley," a new vehicle for Ed Asner. You remember Ed. He was great as the grumpy Lou Grant on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show." He's essentially the same character in "Thunder Alley," but his supporting cast is so weak (a bunch of little kids and a rough-around-the-edges divorced daughter) and the writing so bad that this show shouldn't be around to bug us for very long. It's a shame to see such a talent like Asner stoop to something so forgettable after so many memorable years in "Mary" and "Lou Grant."

Costello — the shrewd, pop pro — still angry

By Ken Tucker
N.Y. Times News Service

"I'm having the time of my life/Or something quite like it." Elvis Costello sings on his raucous, caustic new album, "Brutal Youth."

The couplet reminds a listener that this British rocker is incapable of anything less than intense ambivalence. Even as the first line offers what is for Costello a rare display of happiness, the second casts doubt on whether the feeling is genuine.

While most of the album's lyrics are filled with more typical expressions of anger, sarcasm and frustration, the melodies include some of Costello's airiest, most intricate and witty compositions.

"Brutal Youth" (Warner Brothers 9 45535-2; CD and cassette) reunites Costello with the Attractions, the crack three-man band with whom he recorded a series of ferocious albums in the late 70s and early 80s.

And coming after his most dramatic stylistic departure — the fussy pop chamber music he made with the Brodsky Quartet on last year's "The Juliet Letters" — "Brutal Youth" sounds like a strategic retreat, a return to Costello's earliest, rawest method of record making.

But rather than echoing punk-era rebelliousness, "Brutal Youth" is very much the shrewd creation of a pop pro pushing 40. If Costello has exhausted or outgrown the great theme he announced at the start of his career — the notion that he was motivated primarily by "revenge and guilt" — he is also no longer so youthful and self-absorbed.

His new goal is to achieve a paradox: exhilarating songs about the misery of others. Most of "Brutal Youth" is a collection of sketches about unhappy lovers, lying husbands, bitter wives and sullen offspring. There is little joy in these lives; pleasure comes only in Costello's pointed descriptions and the dialogue he creates for them.

In the album's opening cut, "Pony St.," a mother and daughter trade contemptuous verses: the girl finds the older woman's sunny, aging-hippie ways mortifying; her mother is annoyed by the girl's hostile, Generation X an-

mie. "Kinder Murder" tells the story of a rape committed by a young soldier, set to a chipper melody.

In "Sulky Girl," one of a number of clever rock pastiches on "Brutal Youth," the Attractions appropriate the keyboard and percussion hook of the Zombies' 1969 hit, "Time of the Season," to tell the story of a heartless flirt. And, most nervily, "London's Brilliant Parade" crosses a whimsical Kinks song like "Waterloo Sunset" with some Beatle-y psychedelia, as Costello offers a rambling, impressionistic walking tour of London.

But Costello, a prolific composer, has long been capable of turning out scores of such knowing, above-average tunes. He buries the best song on "Brutal Youth" — one of his finest ever — deep into the album: "Just About Glad," a vehemently simple rant with a pummeling beat that denies all the thoughtless hedonism rock-and-roll is supposed to be about.

In "Just About Glad," a narrator tries in vain to convince himself that it was a good idea not to have an affair with a woman he's obviously still crazy about. He's "just about glad" — but not quite — that they never "did the thing that we were going to do."

His plaintive voice reduced to a hoarse creak, Costello's pent-up lover explodes in a fury laced with despair. He knows it's too late to persuade this woman all over again that they should be together, that he's blown the great romance of his life. An irresistibly catchy song about a terrible failure of nerve, "Just About Glad" is an utterly original rock song.

The standard line on Costello is that he's a master rock lyricist with a limited voice, but the strengths of "Brutal Youth" contradict this. If anything, the intricate wordplay here is often facile, occasionally lazy, sometimes unforgivable ("the murmuring brooks had better speak up").

Costello's singing, however, is superlative throughout, frequently investing a song with complex emotions nowhere to be found in its lyric. Like all great rock vocalists, Costello can use his voice — though it is a thin moan, alternately reedy and nasal — to convey all the subtleties of speech.

TESS: MacLaine's character a 'national treasure'

(From 1B)

Griffiths), a wimpy chauffeur (Austin Pendleton) and a mousey secretary (Susan Blommaert).

But she seems to derive the most enjoyment from Secret Service agent Doug Chesnic (Cage), a holdover from her White House days who clearly resents his semi-servant status in Tess' household.

As the film begins, Doug happily is winding up a three-year tour of duty as her chief guardian and looking forward to an assignment more on the order of Clint Eastwood's in "In the Line of Fire." But on his arrival in Washington, D.C., his superior informs him that Tess has requested his continued services from the new president.

Chesnic is the ultimate company man, a guy who not only plays by the rules but has memorized the rule book. He is not happy to be back at Tess' beck and call, but whenever he tries to wriggle free, he gets tugged back into line by the president, whose minions have an uncanny ability to track Doug down in the most unlikely places.

But Chesnic isn't the only frustrated character here — Tess doesn't have it that great, either. Her health is failing, she misses her husband dreadfully, she resents the constant supervision by Doug and his colleagues, and her only son (Edward Albert) wants her to compromise her integrity for his financial benefit. If she torments Doug, it's because he's the only person around worthy of the pastime.

Ultimately, Tess and Doug come to an accommodation, but not before both have let off a good measure of comic steam. It takes genuine catastrophe for Doug to appreciate Tess as the "national treasure" everyone else sees her as.

Wilson is a TV veteran best known for such classy, character-driven sitcoms as "WKRP in Cincinnati," "The Famous Teddy Z" and "Frank's Place," and the sensibility shows in the smooth, straightforward direction and the consistently funny dialogue in the screenplay he co-wrote with Peter Torokvei. (The film isn't terribly political, but there is a wonderful bit in which one of Cage's fellow agents imagines a boxing match between Tess and Nancy Reagan).

Not too much happens in "Guarding Tess," but the little that does is exploited fully by the blue-chip cast. The on-screen chemistry between Cage and MacLaine is as good as chemistry gets without romance; this is one film where the cast's the thing.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Midland YMCA 1994 Corporate Cup Challenge is to "Promote health, physical fitness and a sense of community through the spirit of friendly competition." Toward this end, measures are being taken to assure fair and equitable competition for all participants. Specific rules have been developed for each of the events: these rules will be enclosed in your team packet. Eligibility requirements governing the competition are provided below.

ELIGIBILITY

1. Team members must be at least 18 years of age.
2. Team members must be employed by the sponsoring company or agency at the time of the competition or, if laid off, must still be covered under the company's health insurance plan. In addition, contract labor that is on site full time at a facility where they are supplying a required service of that company, may also participate for that company. A written request to the Registration Committee listing these participants must be made.
3. Up to five companies/businesses of the same or similar professions having 25 or less than 25 employees may combine to enter a team. They must make a written request to the Registration Committee in order to be officially entered.
4. In the division categories, spouse participation will be allowed based on the number of company employees. This scale is listed below:

| # of Employees | # of Spouses |
|----------------|--------------|
| 99-75          | 9            |
| 74-50          | 14           |
| 49-25          | 19           |
| 24-lower       | 24           |

In order to insure participation in the Cup by Division I and II, these teams will be individually evaluated when lacking enough participants of one sex to competitively participate. Rulings allowing additional spouses for these companies and businesses will be made by the Registration Committee and each case treated accordingly upon a written request.

5. Team members must be employed within Midland or one of its reporting district offices.
6. Team members must sign the Midland YMCA Corporate Cup waiver prior to competition; this must be submitted with the team roster.
7. Individuals not employed by a corporation, company or agency may enter the competition provided they form teams as representatives of their professional group(s). Examples are as follows: Midland Medical Society, Midland Bar Association, etc. Groups needing special assistance, may submit a written request.
8. The Midland YMCA Corporate Cup Registration Committee reserves the right to review all team entries relative to eligibility.

TEAM COMPOSITION

1. A team shall consist of no more than 30 members and no less than 20 members; each team must have identifying uniforms consisting of, at the minimum, matching T-shirts. A 1994 Corporate Cup Challenge t-shirt will be provided to team members prior to the event with the intention that teams will have the backs of these shirts screened with their own logos.
2. Team rosters are due by April 15th, 1994. It is assumed that each team's roster is final as of that date. Rosters must be typed and all information included. Failure to do so may result in ineligibility for those events.
3. Each team member may participate in up to five events. The Banner and Spirit events will not be counted as part of these five events as we would like everyone to participate in these two.
4. Corporations that enter more than one team may not share or cross-enter members between teams. Each team scores its own points. No points will be shared or split.
5. Protests affecting the eligibility of any team member to compete or represent any agency, company or corporation in any event shall be made in writing to the Corporate Cup Registration Committee before the event is held.

Dem-led House OKs new $1.51 trillion budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic-led House approved a $1.51 trillion budget Friday embracing most of President Clinton's plan. It would help schools and the homeless, trim defense and scores of domestic programs and levy no new taxes.

By a 223-175 roll call that included a unanimous "no" vote by Republicans, lawmakers accepted a 1995 spending plan that claims to drive next year's deficit down to $175.3 billion, the least red ink in six years. The Senate Budget Committee begins work on the plan next week.

Democrats said the measure's shifts of funds from low- to high-priority programs would keep the economy moving in the right direction.

The economy is on a path, said House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., "that's brought more new hope, more family investments, and more consumer confidence than we've seen in a long, long time."

Debate came with the air in the House chamber thick with election-year politics.

Just before final passage, lawmakers rejected a Republican alternative pointedly bearing an echo of a campaign promise Clinton never delivered: a broad tax cut in the form of a new $500 credit for most children.

"We want to put families first," said Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill. "Putting families first means first and foremost keeping more of what they earn. It means recognizing that the people who do the most important work in this country are not congressmen, they're mothers and fathers raising kids."

Democrats countered that the GOP's proposed tax break would go to families making up to $200,000 yearly, but not to millions earning less than $16,000, who pay no income taxes.

"If that is the idea on the other side of what is fairness to American families, then I am perplexed," said House Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash., before the 243-165 vote defeating the Republican plan.

The Democrats' measure was supported by 222 Democrats and one independent, but no Republicans; 11 Democrats and 164 Republicans voted against it.

The spending plan covers the fiscal year that starts on Oct. 1.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By Jeane Dixon

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE:

Uneasiness over a troublesome business or personal matter will disappear. Your self-confidence returns as tensions slip away. A patient, analytical approach helps you deal with any setbacks. You are on the right track and certain to accomplish great things! Be careful in July. An ill-considered romantic interlude could interfere with your career. Common sense will play a key role in improving a parent-child relationship. Stick close to home as 1994 draws to a close.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE:

singer Liza Minnelli, baseball player Darryl Strawberry, singer Al Jarreau, "Get Smart" actress Barbara Feldon.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Tend to the needs of someone you may have neglected recently. Visiting nearby attractions can be both stimulating and informative. Be a good citizen. Show increased interest in topics of national importance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Today is an excellent time to conduct financial transactions, stock up on essentials and launch a new line of merchandise. Make use of a talent not usually called upon. Romance progresses nicely.

SATURDAY, MARCH 12, 1994

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A good day for taking another look at something you dismissed earlier. Display your well-known resourcefulness. Learn about other people's methods; you may want to try some of them now and then.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Travel or study raises your consciousness to a new level. You become much more concerned with helping mankind. Seek support from influential friends if determined to turn things around.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Family members are the best companions today. Take care of your health. Eat sparingly and avoid taking unnecessary physical risks. Traveling with an unpredictable friend would be a mistake.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A difference of opinion with mate or partner could lead to a confrontation. Curb your temper. A new budget should reflect your business expectations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take your partner's advice when it comes to investing, lending or using joint resources. Shop carefully and read labels. Do not pin your hopes on friendship or chance to bring what you desire.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Self-confidence is a wonderful asset as long as you don't get reckless. Conserve your energy as well as your money. Allow your intuition to guide your intellect.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Political opposition or economic restrictions could complicate your plans. Let your allies decide what to do next. Later today, leave the city lights for the countryside.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A partner offers excellent advice regarding a financial decision. You may be falling in love with someone who has special gifts. Understand what lies ahead before saying "yes."

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take a crash course in etiquette. Good manners will win you new friends. Adding some artistic flourishes to your home will boost your spirits. Listen to the helpful advice of close associates.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Do not allow yourself to fall into a financial black hole. Reckless moves could lead to disaster. Return to traditional guidelines and values. Emphasize the need for clear communication with loved ones.

Country star Black accepts writer-artist of year award

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Country star Clint Black took a break from recording to accept the songwriter-artist of the year award from the Nashville Songwriters Association International.

Black was also given a special "Pegasus" award Thursday night for his contributions to NSAI. Black raised more than $60,000 for the organization with concerts at the Tennessee Performing Arts Center and at Starwood Amphitheater.

"I hoped I would set an example with the concerts that I did," Black said. "It's a worthy cause."

His hits include "No Time to Kill" and "We Tell Ourselves."

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Garrett Morris swears he would have given the robber who shot him whatever he wanted — if only he knew what it was.

But the thief just "mumbled something," then shot Morris in the arm and the abdomen.

"If the guy had just said clearly in English 'Give me your money,' I would have given him my money," Morris told "Entertainment Tonight" in an interview that aired Thursday. "I would have given him my clothes on my back, I would have given him the car, I would've gone home naked."

Morris spoke from his hospital bed, where he is recovering from the Feb. 24 shooting.

The 57-year-old comedian, an original cast member of "Saturday Night Live," plays Stan on the Fox TV show "Martin."

NORCROSS, Ga. — Princess Caroline almost got stuck holding the bag for a $1,000 handbag.

Someone ordered the handbag from Fendi Inc., an Italian fashion house in New York City, and charged it to the Princess of Monaco. The bag was shipped to Norcross, a suburb of Atlanta; the bill was sent to the Grimaldi's mailbox in Paris.

Dan Ferrita, security officer for Fendi, said they discovered the error when Caroline called to say she never ordered the purse. The fashion house notified police in Georgia, who are investigating.

NEW DELHI, India — Ravi Shankar, the man who taught George Harrison how to play the sitar, has taught his homeland a lesson in hard bargaining.

The government promised to provide Shankar with cheap land for a music academy after he threatened to take his project to the United States.

"Given Ravi Shankar's stature and the nature of his project, the government decided to reduce the price by a sixth of the original offer," K. Dharmarajan, a government housing official, said Friday.

The school will stock Shankar's recordings, instruments, books and memorabilia, and will train students in Indian classical music.

Shankar's next project is creating a national radio channel broadcasting only classical and folk music.

LOS ANGELES — Jack Nicholson has struck a deal with the man who claimed Nicholson struck his car with a golf club.

Nicholson settled a lawsuit filed by Robert Scott Blank, who accused the actor of bashing his car's hood and windshield while he was stopped at a red light Feb. 8.

Blank said Nicholson apparently thought he had been cut off in traffic.

Details of the settlement were not available. Nicholson, 57, still faces arraignment March 31 on misdemeanor charges of vandalism and assault.

LOS ANGELES — Vegas must have given her heart: Barbra Streisand is going on tour.

She'll play two shows in London next month and some 20 others in North America, a spokesman said. The tour itinerary is not yet set.

"We knew it was going to be a short tour because Barbra has some films she wants to do as soon as possible, which meant we were working within a narrow time frame in putting the tour together," Marty Erlichman said Thursday.

Miss Streisand returned to the concert stage Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 in Las Vegas after taking a 22-year break from live shows.

In a soul-searching interview broadcast on "PrimeTime Live," Donald Trump and his blushing Ivana-replacement, the lovely Maria, talked about their prenuptial agreement. Actually, it's The Donald who was doing most of the talking.

He said the new Mrs. Trump just had to sign the thing, "just from my standpoint. I built this empire, and I did it myself. ... And I think that because somebody marries somebody that built something huge doesn't necessarily mean that just because they get a divorce that they should end up like the queen of Sheba."

There are a lot of perks in being married to a man like himself, he noted. "I create stars. ... I mean, I have really given a lot of women great opportunity. Unfortunately, after they are a star, the fun is over for me. It's like a creation process. It's like creating a beautiful building. It's sad."

Speaking of Trump sadness: Naturally, the newlyweds registered at Tiffany — it's the cornerstone of The Donald's Trump Tower.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

■ Day of Prayer set ■ Missionary to speak

St. Ann's Altar Society Day of Prayer and Reflection, which is open to all denominations, is to be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. March 23 at 204 N. M St.

The presenter will be the Rev. Richard Houlihan, OMI, from San Antonio, a member of the Congregation of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. He is director of Oblate Missions.

This year, the day of prayer and reflection will revolve around the historical development of Lent.

Lunch is to be served at noon.

■ Festival planned

BIG LAKE — A festival of Faith is planned here for March 20-23 at the Reagan County Community Center.

Emphasis is on youth. Guest speaker for the festival is the Rev. Richard Jackson of Phoenix, Ariz. Music director is M. Andrus of Lubbock.

Hours are 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. March 20 and 7 p.m. March 21-23.

■ Missionary to speak

Missionary Andres Garcia is to speak at the 8:30 and 10:55 a.m. services Sunday at Trinity Presbyterian Church, Andrews Highway at Louisiana Avenue.

Garcia, a missionary to Costa Rica, also will speak and show slides of his work during the 9:30 a.m. Sunday School in the Boomer's Adult Class, Room 14.

The public is invited to attend.

■ Bible series set

First United Methodist Church, 305 N. Baird St., is starting a short-term Serendipity Bible Series entitled "Women."

The series runs Mondays between March 21 and April 25. The class is to be at Room 103 from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Cost is $5.

To register call the church office, 682-3701.

■ Service scheduled

The Alexander Temple Church of God in Christ, 200 N. Tyler St., is holding an Appreciation Service for Elder and Mrs. Joe Parks Sunday.

The service is set for 3 p.m. All are welcome to attend.

■ More religion/4C

■ Seminar planned

"Families are Forever" is the theme for the 1994 Genealogy Seminar being presented by the Midland Family History Center of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The seminar is to be presented from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. March 19 at the Gateway Chapel, 4805 gateway.

Both the beginner and the professional will have the opportunity to choose four of the following classes — "Getting Started," "Canadian Research," "Military Records," "Problems That Shouldn't Be Problems," "Using 'Family Search'" (computer software) and "Using 'Personal Ancestral Files,' version 2.3.

All who are interested in genealogy are invited to attend the free seminar. For more information call 682-1428 or 697-6755.

■ Fall Bazaar set

The Women's Guild of Holy Cross Lutheran Church is planning its annual Fall Bazaar set for Sept. 10 at the Midland County Exhibit Building.

Reservations are being accepted for booth rental. Booths will be 10 by 10 feet and rent for $20 a space. Contact Karen Riff, 570-1110, or Thelma Leek, 520-8716, for more information.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

■ Pastor to minister

The Revs. Levoy and Cleon Dewey will be ministering in word and song at First Assembly of God, 100 W. Wadley Ave., at 6 p.m. Sunday.

In the past two decades, the Deweys have toured the globe, taking their ministry to such places as Central and South America, Europe, Asia and Africa.

Tapes will be available following the service.

■ Sunday study starts

Members of the Adult Bible Class of Holy Cross Lutheran Church have started a Sunday study of the Beatitudes.

The class is examining "Blessings in Disguise." Although Christ's "Sermon on the Mount" is well known, his "Sermon on the Plain" is not as familiar. Also at the church, Lenten services are being held at 7 p.m. Tuesdays. The Rev. Guy Bergenthal's theme for Lent is "Christian Graces and Disgraces."

The Tuesday evening Bible study, taught by Bergenthal, is focusing on "What's Going on Among the Lutherans." And, the Lutheran Youth Fellowship meets at 2 p.m. Sunday at the church, 5400 N. Big Spring St. All youth in junior and senior high are invited to attend.

■ Lunch hour continues

The Lunch Hour Music for Lent Series at First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas Ave., continues this week with a concert of music for jazz choir by VocalPoint, a performing ensemble of the Music Department at Midland College.

The 30-minute Wednesday concert at 12:05 p.m. is the fifth in the series of six mid-day concerts given during Lent. Lunch is available for a nominal fee a half hour before and after each program.

The church's Lunch Hour Music for Lent Series is now in its fifth year.

Child care is available with reservations made to the nursery coordinator, 684-7821. All concerts are free and open to the public.

■ Free concert set

First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas Ave., is offering a free concert of sacred choral music presented by the Bruce Nehring Consort at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Consort, a group of 36 professional singers, will be accompanied by the Quintessential Brass Quintet of El Paso and Lester Ackerman, organist and director of music ministries at First Presbyterian Church. Guest soloist will be tenor Joseph Duerksen of Crane.

In addition, the Consort and the brass quintet will provide the music leadership for the 8:15 and 11 a.m. services Sunday.

■ Reports read

The Youth Sunday School Class of Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will hear reports at 9:45 a.m. Sunday of their attendance earlier this month at the Dawson McAllister Youth Conference held in Amarillo.

Local youth who attended included Michelle Lewis, Jennifer Matney, John Chandler, Josh Graham and Michael Chandler.

Nehring

Topic of the conference was "Pack Your Bag-Jesus is Coming." David and Melinda McCreynolds, minister of youth at Ranchland Heights, accompanied the group.

For more information on activities at the church call 697-4471.

■ Seminar scheduled

The Family Ministry of Golf Course Road Church of Christ will present a grief-recovery seminar entitled "Living Through Loss" from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday at the church's Family Center.

The presenter will be Ron Ellison of Samaritan Counseling Center, who has worked in the area of grief and healing from loss.

To further help seminar participants, small groups will be provided to help participants more through the healing process with those who are in similar circumstances. Workbooks and trained facilitators will be part of the seminar.

These groups will be conducted either Sunday or Monday evenings beginning March 20 and will continue for several weeks. Participation in the seminar is not a prerequisite for attendance at the meetings.

For more information call Tom Vermillion, the church's family minister, 694-8836.

■ AIDS seminar set

First United Methodist Church, Main Street at Illinois Avenue, is presenting seminars on the subject of AIDS at 6:15 p.m. Wednesdays in Room 102.

The remaining speakers include the following:

—Wednesday, Cathryn Jackson, of the Permian Basin AIDS Coalition will present a program outlining the coalition's work with "Persons Living with AIDS";

—March 23, Pat McClain, of the American Red Cross, will speak on "Facts and Figures" concerning the AIDS crisis locally, nationally and worldwide; —and March 30 Judy Warren, executive director of Midland Area AIDS Support, will discuss why she founded MAAS, describe the functions of this local organization and answer questions.

All presentations will be from 6:15 to 7:15 p.m. For more information call the church. All are invited to attend.

■ Church observes Lent

Hope Lutheran Church, 2003 N. "A" Street, will observe the church season of Lent with special mid-week worship services from 6:15 to 7:00 p.m. the next three Wednesdays.

Sermon titles will be based on the seven last words Christ spoke during the six hours he hung on the cross.

All are welcome to attend. For more information, contact the church office at 683-1936.

■ Study conducted

A Spanish Bible study is being conducted at Victory Family Christian Center, 5200 W. Illinois Ave., at 9 a.m. Sundays.

Joe Tercero, a long-time Midlander is teaching the class, which covers biblical principles and beliefs.

All interested parties are invited to attend.

■ Video conference set

Fannin Terrace Baptist Church, 2800 Mogford, is sponsoring the video conference "Dad, The Family Shepherd" Friday and March 19.

The conference is a ministry dedicated to equipping men to be champions in the home. Cost is $35 and includes a manual, a snack supper, a light breakfast and lunch.

For more information call the church, 682-5272.

■ Program planned

The Goodwill Baptist Church and Mount Rose Baptist Church will join for a program at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Couple sues U.S. over Big Bend ministry

WASHINGTON (AP) — A couple sued the government March 3 saying a lodge employee at Big Bend National Park walked into their room while they lay in bed unclothed and invited them to a Christian service.

Karl and Rita Girshman asked a federal judge here to order the National Park Service to back away from what they contend is an improper relationship with Christian Ministry, a group that has been holding worship services at dozens of national parks for 40 years.

The Brookeville, Md., couple accused parks officials of endorsing and supporting the ministry, permitting the group to advertise and conduct religious services without permits, providing rent-free or subsidized housing to the group's staff and reserving park service jobs for the group's ministers.

Park service spokesman John Quinley declined comment saying the agency had not yet seen the suit.

After receiving a written complaint from the Girshmans, who are Jewish, the park service maintained it does not directly or indirectly support the ministry's activities, said the couple's attorney, Thomas Starnes.

In their suit, the Girshmans claimed the park service uses government parks, money, employees and prestige to advance a religion in violation of the Constitution's separation of church and state.

Named as defendants were Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt and park service Director Roger Kennedy. No money damages were demanded, but the couple is seeking to have the defendants pay attorney's fees and costs, Starnes said.

The head of the New York-based Christian Ministry said the couple's allegations are not true.

Group staff who are employed by the park system don't proselytize on the job, and the park service has nothing to do with the governance of the ministry, Director Warren Ost said.

"Our mission is to give people an opportunity to worship while they are in the national parks if they wish and to allow them to do so with leadership that is well organized and has some background."

■ The strange events leading up to Midland High's state semifinal basketball game with Willowridge didn't deter the Eagles from routing MHS, 86-51.

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

AUSTIN — The Midland High Bulldogs were blindsided by a Class 5A semifinal dump truck from Sugar Land Willowridge here Friday in the state basketball tournament while coaches, fans and writers were working harder on scoring playing minutes than keeping up with the score.

And while eyes were on watches, the score got away in a hurry as the 37-1 Eagles routed MHS 86-51, leading by a 79-27, 52-point margin with 7:26 left in the game. The Eagles now set their ball-hawking sights on Plano East for the state championship at 8 p.m. today at the Frank Erwin Center, the site of this carnage.

The game drew a lot of attention this week across the state as one Willowridge player (Jason Williams) was shot by the father who found Williams in bed with his 14-year-old daughter. Williams had to miss the game.

In addition, MHS had four players who did not pass all courses in the previous six-week study period and could only play until 3:40 p.m. Cornelius Mitchell didn't come to Austin with the team. Tannis Perkins didn't play. Lavius Taylor, who could be considered MHS' sixth man, scored two points. Donald Carter, the starter and the one

MHS, Lee land 2 on all-loop squad

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

Midland High and Midland Lee each landed two players on the huge 12-player 1993-94 District 4-5A All-District basketball team.

The team consisted of 10 first-team selections, a most valuable player and a sophomore of the year. There were also 10 second team selections and 18 more honorable mention choices on the team picked by the league coaches.

In all, 40 players were cited in the league of seven teams. There were only 35 starters in 4-5A.

All four first-team selections from Midland had outstanding seasons. MHS landed 6-1 Donald Carter, the heart of the Bulldogs, and 6-0 Jumon Hailey on the first team while Lee placed 6-2 Sean Low and 6-0 Michael Nunn on the first team. Low was one of three district players to average over 20 points per game.

Hailey and Abilene Cooper's 6-5 Jason Pillion were the only juniors on the first team selections.

It came as no surprise that Cooper's 6-8 giant Andrae Patterson was named as the league's MVP after averaging 28 points per game and double figures in rebounds. Patterson became the first three-time MVP in the history of District 4-5A. He has already signed with

Tech women make finals

■ The Lady Raiders will play Texas in the SWC women's final. Texas and Texas A&M decide the men's championship today in Dallas.

Associated Press

DALLAS — With only one game left before Texas Tech begins its national title defense in the NCAA tournament, the No. 6 Lady Raiders appear ready for the challenge.

Tech easily put away Southern Methodist 99-78 Friday, winning its ninth straight to advance to Saturday's championship game against Texas.

The Lady Raiders (26-3) were led by Connie Robinson, Michi Atkins and Noel Johnson. They combined for 65 points against the Lady Mustangs (18-8) and had the game put away by halftime.

Odessa girls take early lead

By Amy Wolfenbarger
Staff Writer

ODESSA — District 4-5A can add another name to its bevy of talented girls high jumpers after Odessa High's Donelle Jones broke the record in that event here Friday at the 50th West Texas Relays at Ratliff Stadium.

Jones, a 6-0 junior, cleared a personal best 5 feet, 6 inches to win and easily break the old record of 5-4 set by Sweetwater's Nikki Heath in 1990.

Jones also finished second in the long jump with a leap of 16-5½ to score 18 of Odessa High's division-leading 24 points.

Four divisions competed in field event finals and running preliminaries Friday and will wrap up the meet today at 10 a.m. with the remaining field events and the running finals.

around, though, because 4-5A qualified two high jumpers to the state meet last year, including state champ Vanessa Garcia of San Angelo Central, and she and teammate Mary Newkirk both return this year to defend their positions.

Garcia and Newkirk have already beaten Jones once, last weekend at the Concho Belle Relays in San Angelo. Garcia has also cleared a personal best 5-11 at the Tall City Relays last year. Jones, however, is making great strides and improved on her 5-2 performance last week by four inches and her coach, Charlie White, feels she has nowhere to go but up.

"She's got the potential of getting up there and staying in the thick of it (district race)," White said. "We've seen

Midland Christian is in its second year of baseball and it learned a valuable lesson in the world of baseball on Friday night.

Speed kills.

Van Horn used its speed on the base paths to swipe six bases in the first three innings and force Midland Christian into six errors as the Eagles raced to a 9-6 come from behind win over the Mustangs in the semifinals of the West Texas March Baseball Classic at Angels Stadium.

Van Horn will now face Alpine in the finals today at 4:30 p.m.

Daly slips at Honda

Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — John Daly slipped four shots off the pace as a couple of non-winners went into the lead Friday at the halfway point of the Honda Classic.

Ed Dougherty, 46, scored seven birdies in a 6-under-par 65 to share the 36-hole lead with Brandell Chamblee at 135, 7 under par on the windswept Weston Hills Country Club course.

Golf Roundup

Chamblee, a member of the inaugural Ben Hogan Tour in 1990, shot 68 in the gusty winds and, like Dougherty, said he is trying to put out of his mind the possibility of scoring his first PGA Tour victory. Daly, playing his first tournament after a four-month suspension, had to rally for a round of 70 and remained in a highly credited international pack in close pursuit of the longshot leaders.

Chief among them were 1993 Player of the Year Nick Price of Zimbabwe, two-time U.S. Open winner Curtis Strange, Bruce Lietzke, Daly, Masters title-holder Bernhard Langer of Germany and English ace Nick Faldo.

Lietzke, a winner of 12 titles and almost $5 million in career earnings, had a share of the top spot until he recorded his first bogey of the tournament on the 16th hole of the second round.

He was a shot back at 136 after a second 68. Price followed at 67-135. Strange, who hasn't won in this country since taking the 1989 U.S. Open, was 67-138.

Daly, Langer and Faldo, winner of five major tournament titles, were in a group at 139 that also included Scott Hoch and American Ryder Cup players Jim Gallagher and Davis Love III.

Langer, who shared the first-round lead, dropped back with a 73. Faldo shot 69. Hoch, Love and Gallagher carded 71s.

PGA Seniors
SAN ANTONIO — Jim Albus of New York shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday to take the first-round lead at the $650,000 Vantage at The Dominion PGA Seniors.

Albus took the lead with an eagle on the par-5, 488-yard ninth hole. He also had five birdies in the opening round.

"I hit shots in close on the front nine," said the 53-year-old Albus, who tied for 18th place last year with a 6-over-par 222. "I was happy with the round. I have hit the ball well all season but my putting has not been great."

Albus, who won the GTE Suncoast Classic last year, earned the eagle with a 5-foot putt after hitting an 8-iron downwind.

One stroke behind Albus, with a 3-under 69, are Dave Stockton of Pamilla Los Cabos, Mexico, and George Archer of Honolulu.

Stockton, the 1993 Senior Tour player of the year, made five birdies on Friday.

"I've been having putting troubles and I am pleased with the way I putted today," said the 52-year-old Stockton, who finished last year's tournament in fourth.

LPGA Ping-Welch's
TUCSON, Ariz. — Donna Andrews atoned for an early bogey with her second eagle in as many rounds and took a two-shot lead halfway through the Ping-Welch's tournament.

Her 25-yard chip for eagle on No. 13, a 470-yard par-5 which was the fourth hole of her round, followed a bogey-5 on No. 12.

Because Andrews lost a stroke on the previous hole, the swing was only one shot, but she its effect was big.

"I think the chip-in for eagle on 13 really got me going and got the adrenaline going, got the confidence back up," the fifth-year LPGA regular said after finishing with a 4-under-par 68 and a 36-hole.

Lee girls face district leader

By Mike Butts
Staff Writer

Midland Lee's girls are in the playoffs. Today they find out how much playoff is in them.

Lee host District 5-5A first-place Abilene Cooper at 2 p.m. on the last day of the league's regular season.

Cooper (10-1 in district, 12-4 overall) beat Lee (8-3, 12-4) in the first meeting between the teams, 4-1, in Abilene. It was the first league loss for Lee.

"It's not a must win for us but it's still an important game," Lee coach Van Gravitt said. "We feel like we're playing better than the last time we played Cooper, so it will be a good measuring stick for us."

The Lady Rebels clinched a playoff berth Tuesday when Odessa Permian fell to Cooper. They could still force a second-place playoff with San Angelo Central if they win today and San Angelo falls to Odessa Permian. That would result in a playoff Monday at Lee at 4:30 p.m.

If Cooper beats Lee today it wins the district, with Central second and Lee third. But if Lee wins and San Angelo wins, Cooper and Central would tie for first.

In other 5-5A Midland games today the district champion Midland High boys host Abilene High, the MHS girls are at Abilene High and Lee's boys play at Abilene Cooper. All games are 2 p.m.

The first and second-place teams in girls 5-5A get two bye rounds in the playoffs. But the third place team plays after only one bye. Lee coach Van Gravitt said the difference is a "tradeoff"

5-5A Soccer

because with two byes a team would not play for two weeks and that could be a disadvantage. If Lee finishes third it plays District 7-5A champ Wichita Falls High March 22. The first and second place teams don't play until March 26.

Regardless of playoff seeding, a win today for Lee's girls would give them four victories in a row.

"We talked after the Permian game and said we need to beat Cooper so we go into the playoffs winning four in a row," Gravitt said. "But at this point it's good to know we don't have any pressure Saturday."

Gravitt plans to play his starters most of the way.

"Against a team like Cooper if you went out and tried to play a bunch of people it may get ugly," Gravitt said.

Midland High's boys (10-1, 15-1) come off their only loss of the season Tuesday. The MHS boys begin their playoffs March 22 against the third-place team in District 7-5A.

The most significant thing for Lee's boys (4-7, 9-8) today is their chance to finish with an overall winning record. The Rebels lost to Cooper (3-8, 8-11) 3-0 Feb. 15. The Rebels have won three of their last four games.

Midland High's girls (1-10, 5-12) would avoid a tie for last place with a win over Abilene High (4-7, 7-9).

MHS drops 2 in Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Midland High continued to have a rough go of it at the Lubbock Baseball Tournament here Friday.

Midland dropped two games, a 5-4 setback in 11 innings to Wolfthorpe Frenship and a 4-2 decision to seventh-ranked Lubbock Monterey.

Monterey's Scott Brand struckout 15 for the Plainsmen. Midland's Sammy Alvarado went the distance in the opener as Frenship scored a run in the bottom of the seventh.

In the nightcap, Monterey scored four runs in the first two innings off starter Chad Benson to pick up the win.

Britt Cramichael hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning for Monterey.

On Thursday, Andrews erupted for six runs in the top of the 11th innings to defeat Midland High 13-7 in the first round.

There were 13 combined errors and 29 hits as Velasquez picked up the loss for MHS, now 3-8 on the year.

Midland will face Lubbock High at 11 a.m. today in the seventh place game.

Loy Allen takes top spot

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — Daytona 500 pole winner Loy Allen Jr. did it again Friday, taking the top qualifying spot for Sunday's Puroator 500 at Atlanta Motor Speedway.

This time, the 27-year-old rookie did it in style, setting a track record of 180.207 mph on the 1.522-mile oval. That broke the mark of 180.183 set in November 1992 by Rick Mast.

It was a comeback of sorts for Allen, who had to use a provisional start to make the Rockingham field two weeks ago and failed to make the lineup last week at Richmond, the two events between Daytona and Atlanta.

"This whole year's been feast or famine for us," Allen said. "Really, the whole rookie year is kind of like that. A lot of these Winston Cup guys have so much experience on all these tracks, and we have so much to learn everywhere we go.

"But this track has been real good to us," he added. "We won our first superspeedway race here (in the 1992 ARCA stock car event) and we've had quite a few laps here. Sunday, we'll just try to make all the laps. The main thing for us is to get as much experience as we can in Winston Cup racing."

The two poles by Allen match the record for a rookie set in 1987 by Davey Allison.

Allen's fast lap relegated Geoff Bodine, the Rockingham pole winner, to the outside of the front row with his lap of 179.829.

It was the best day yet for Hoosier, the small Indiana tire company that is challenging giant Goodyear in a battle of racing radials on this year's NASCAR Winston Cup stock car circuit.

Both of the Ford Thunderbirds on the front row are on Hoosiers, as are five of the top 10 qualifiers, although second-row starters Terry Labonte, 179.587, and Mark Martin, 179.405, are on Goodyears.

Although Allen qualified for Daytona on Hoosiers, he ran the race on Goodyears after drivers complained the new tires were too slow and inconsistent after a few laps. The handful of Hoosier drivers in that event switched to the older brand.

"This is a new tire for the speedway," explained Bob Newton, Hoosier's president. "We'll use this same tire at four other speedways — Charlotte, Atlanta, Dover and Michigan."

Rangers have help for Henke

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) — Tom Henke already can feel the relief.

Although he's one of the premier closers in the major leagues, Henke could have used some relief help of his own last season in closing out games for the Texas Rangers.

Henke figured in 52.3 percent of the Rangers victories with 40 saves, a career and franchise high. He appeared in 66 games and 74.1 innings and often was extended to two relief innings and twice he pitched three innings.

Management recognized the need and went out and signed relievers Rick Honeycutt and Jay Howell, meaning Henke should get more rest.

"It's not going to be a one-man bullpen by any means," Henke said. "I'm looking forward to it."

Henke didn't complain about his frequent use last season, his first with the Rangers after eight efficient seasons with the Toronto Bluejays.

"It doesn't matter, sometimes it's nice to go two innings, I don't know that I'd want to go three," Henke said. "I've got nothing against it. If I have to do it again this year, I'll do it and see what happens."

But Henke at 36 realizes it's better if he doesn't. He had a 2.91 ERA last season, his highest since 1988. In his final 45 appearances, his ERA was 3.62.

"I'm not a spring chicken any more. It's a fact. I don't bounce back quite as quickly as I used to," he said. "If I can keep it to an inning or so I can pitch three to four days in a row and be effective."

"When I was younger I could go throw three innings one day and come back and throw maybe an inning. But now, Father Time plays no favorites."

Henke pitched 91.1 and a career high 94 innings for the Bluejays in 1986 and 1987 and another 89 in 1989.

But in 1994, hopefully, a marathon three-inning performance won't be necessary.

HONORS: Forty players cited in all-district

(From 1D)

Bobby Knight and Indiana University.

The sophomore of the year award went to San Angelo's B.J. Townsend.

District champion Cooper led the team with three first-team picks. The other was 6-4 guard Chad-Hudson. Abilene High landed two players in the first team with Dan Wilson, the second leading scorer in the district behind Patterson. The other was Ryan Curtis. Permian's 5-8 Tyrone Thomas and Odessa High's Freddy Vasquez rounded out the first team.

SWC: Lady Raiders next goal to beat Texas

(From 1D)

"I think Texas Tech is playing as good right now as they have all year," SMU coach Rhonda Rompolo said. "They're very patient. They know how to make the right decisions."

The Lady Raiders' next goal is a victory over the Lady Longhorns (20-8) that could bring a No. 1 seed in the NCAA tournament. Tech split the season series with UT but has defeated Texas in the last two SWC title games.

No matter what happens Saturday, the Lady Raiders will be back in the NCAA tournament. And they'll be there with a team very different from last year's national champions.

"Last year, we had two big people on the team," said Johnson. "One of nine returning players. This year, we have 15 big people."

Johnson's being modest, but her point is that there's no Sheryl Swoopes or Krista Kirkland to rely on.

Instead, their game is divided into an inside attack led by Robinson and Atkins, both 6-foot-1, and Johnson's perimeter shooting.

Against SMU, the trio scored 20 of Tech's first 22 points and helped build a 56-31 halftime lead that grew to 68-39 early in the second half. The Lady Mustangs only got as close as 19 in the final minutes.

Tech coach Marsha Sharp credited her team for playing well from the beginning Friday and remaining with their game plan.

"We played at the level we needed to get to the championship game and to get ready for the NCAA tournament," she said. "We got the ball into the hands of the people who needed it and they knocked down their shots."

Texas 80, Texas A&M 75

DALLAS — Danielle Viglione's deadly outside shooting and the driving layups of Erica Routt rallied Texas to a comeback victory over Texas A&M Friday in the semifinals of the Southwest Conference tournament.

Texas A&M, 21-7, which finished second during the regular SWC season, will be awaiting a possible at-large bid.

The Lady Longhorns will be playing in their 11th SWC tournament final. They have won eight of them.

Freshman Viglione, the nation's leading three-point shooter, hit three three-point shots and scored 15 points for Texas. Routt scored 13 points. Nekeshia Henderson added 12 points.

Texas A&M 89, Texas Tech 85

DALLAS — David Edwards helped Texas A&M take control of a tight Southwest Conference semifinal by scoring eight straight points midway through the second half of a victory over Texas Tech Friday night.

The Aggies (19-9) advance to Saturday's championship game against Texas, a 101-89 winner over Rice.

Edwards, a 5-foot-9 senior point guard, began his roll with a three-point play that put A&M ahead 62-59 with 12:08 remaining. He added a short running jumper and a 3-pointer to give the Aggies a 67-63 lead with 8:13 to play.

Jason Sasser hit two free throws to put Tech (17-11) within 67-65, but the Red Raiders couldn't get closer mostly because they couldn't hit their free throws.

Sasser, who missed five straight foul shots as A&M began pulling away, gave Tech one last hope with a 3-pointer with 3.1 seconds left to get the Red Raiders within 88-85.

Edwards was quickly fouled after taking the inbound pass. He missed his first free throw, then secured the victory when his second free throw bounced around the rim and fell in.

He played all 40 minutes and just missed his second straight triple-double, getting 26 points, nine assists and eight rebounds. Joe Wilbert had 20 points and 15 rebounds.

Tech, the defending tournament champion, ended a seven-game winning streak. The Red Raiders were led by 25 points from Mark Davis and Koy Smith. Sasser had 15 and Lance Hughes 11.

The Aggies had a chance to put away Tech in the first half when they held the Red Raiders without a field goal for 7:19 but had to settle for a 43-39 halftime lead.

A Davis free throw during the dry spell tied the game at 23-23, then A&M rolled ahead by as much as 38-23.

Both teams were 10-4 in conference play and they split their head-to-head regular season games. The Aggies got the No. 2 seed in a tiebreaker.

SWC Men's Tournament

No. 25 Texas 101, Texas 89

DALLAS — Texas coach Tom Penders joined the 400 club Friday night.

The No. 25-ranked Longhorns gave Penders his 400th collegiate victory, overwhelming the Rice Owls 101-89 behind Albert Burditt and Terrence Rencher to charge into the finals of the Southwest Conference basketball tournament.

After the game they gave him a cake with No. 400 on it.

"I can remember when I went 4-22 at Columbia," Penders said. "I wondered if I would ever coach in 400 games let alone win 400. Maybe some day after I retire this will be real important to me. Right now, every win we get helps our NCAA seeding."

Texas, 24-7, the regular season SWC champion, will play the winner of the Texas A&M-Texas Tech game in Saturday's finals at 4:45 p.m. in Reunion Arena.

The Longhorns have been in the finals of the SWC tournament five previous times but have never won one, which produces an automatic bid into the NCAA playoffs.

Penders' record is 400-272 in his 23 seasons. At Texas, he is 130-63.

He has coached at Columbia, Tufts, Fordham, and Rhode Island.

"It was nice of the kids to chip in and buy me a cake," Penders said. "I told them they're going to have to eat it. I'm getting too hefty."

Burditt scored 24 points, Rencher 21 and B.J. Tyler added 15.

"We jumped on Rice early and it was a good thing," Penders said. "Rice played great in the second half. We had to turn up the intensity."

everyone in the district so far this season and I think she can compete."

Jones defeated Ryan Tolbert of Clovis, N.M., who has a personal best of 5-7 in the event. And after Tolbert missed on her final try at 5-6, Jones said she was not comfortable with what might have been a tie had she also missed her third attempt.

"I said to myself, 'I can do this. I can win it,'" Jones said.

Jones then skimmed over the bar at the winning height and raised her fists in the air triumphantly. She tried to up the record another inch at 5-7, but she jumped into the bar on all three attempts.

Jones' performance was just one of several strong ones in a meet laden with returning state champs and qualifiers.

The Killeen Ellison boys used depth in the field events to power to the first day lead in Division 5A with 32 points. The Eagles had three top three finishers in the three field events completed Friday. Back in a tie for fifth is Odessa Permian, Odessa High and Lubbock Monterey.

Permian and Odessa, however, should give Ellison a run for its money today. Permian looks especially strong after qualifying runners to top prelim times in the 110- and 300-meter hurdles, the 100, 200 and 400 relay and the second-best time in the 1,600 relay.

In Division 4A, Monahans made like Ellison and loaded up on the field events. The Eagles finished the day with 37 points led by Luis Leyva's first-place finishes in the discus and shot put. Canyon Randall, after finishing 1-2 in the pole vault, is second with 31.

The battle today, however, should be between San Angelo Lake View and Lubbock Estacado, which finished in fifth and sixth places respectively. Lake View posted the top qualifying times in the 100, 200, 400 and the 110 hurdles as well as in the 1,600 relay. Estacado recorded the top 400 relay time.

In the girls division, Stanton qualified two relays to the finals today including the 1,600, where the team of Laura Herm, Sande Bundas, Kristen Wyckoff and Lupe Chapa recorded the best time with a 4:10.8 clocking. The Lady Buffaloes nosed out 5A Permian which came in with 44:11.6. Stanton also qualified in the 400 relay with a time of 51.44.

The Stanton 800 relay, however, will be missing from the finals today. The Lady Buffaloes recorded their highest finish out of the three relays they qualified to the state meet last year by finishing second in the 800 relay.

The Permian girls tied for second with Amarillo High at 14 points, just 10 behind Odessa. The Lady Panthers had the best time in the 400 relay and 800. Permian's Macheic Crawford could have a chance at three gold medals today after qualifying with the best times in the 100, 200 and 400.

CLASSIC: Van Horn meets Alpine in finals

(From 1D)

Other games today will have Crane facing Presidio at 9 a.m., Colorado City meeting Greenwood at 11:30 a.m., for the consolation championship and Midland Christian against Loraine in the third place game.

"We gave that one away," said Midland coach Gordon Awtry. "We are a young baseball team and we are still learning the game of baseball."

Midland led early in the game, 6-2, after a five-run second inning. Three consecutive walks by Van Horn's Felix Reyes loaded the bases. Three straight singles by Chad Bayley, Patrick Kuzmich and Allan Awtry gave MCHS a 4-2 lead and then first baseman Kyle Jackson ripped a triple over the outfield for two RBIs and a 6-2 lead.

Then Van Horn (2-2 on the year) roared back, using both power and speed. Senior Fernie Hernandez smacked a home run over the left field wall to open the second inning and spark a four-run stanza that tied the game at 6-6.

In the third, starting pitcher Felix Reyes hit a shot down the right field line that went for an inside the park home run as Van Horn went ahead 9-6.

"We like to run," said Van Horn coach David Vega, who boarded the bus at 7 a.m. Friday enroute to Midland. "It's kind of boring if you don't. We're looking forward to playing Alpine. They beat us earlier this year."

In other action, Greenwood bounced back from a 12-5 loss to Midland Christian Thursday to take a 6-3 decision over Presidio. Greenwood scored three in the top of the seventh. Damon Cumba hit a two-run single to highlight the inning for the Rangers, now 3-6 on the year.

LOSS: Carter scores eight before leaving

who had watches tuned, played an entire half and came away with only eight points. Disturbingly, that was the high point of the Bulldog attack.

Still, MHS coach Jack Stephenson stuck with his decision to play Carter.

"This was fair for him (Carter)," Stephenson said. "He was eligible until 3:40 p.m. and he has worked for this day since the ninth grade. It would have been unfair if he hadn't played. If I had to do this 100 times, I'd do the same thing."

But Carter didn't help much as the Eagles came out with a hounding press that folded the Bulldogs' tent in a hurry. Willowridge lead by an amazing 49-14 margin at the half.

"We were just overwhelmed by the whole situation," Stephenson said. "I'll take responsibility because we didn't prepare for that type of contest. Obviously, there may be a difference of how basketball is played in Houston and West Texas. We weren't prepared for the physicalness of the game. I guess we could go scrimmage Midland College, but Coach (Steve) Green couldn't work us into his plans."

At the half over 40 writers and photographers camped outside the MHS lockerroom, waiting on Carter to respond or appear. Well after the second half had started, he was whisked away by security guards.

"You never know how Donald really feels because he keeps everything inside," Stephenson said. "I don't mind the distractions, but it has been tough seeing Donald have to go through with this. Still, he earned the right to play and he wanted to play. We talked about it."

Willowridge seemed to feel little effect from the loss of Williams, but Eagle coach Gary Nichols dropped the shooting subject in a hurry.

"The team did share with each other prior to the game, but that is a team matter and I will not discuss that with you," Nichols told the press after the game.

The Eagles stuffed Midland with its full-court pressure as the Bulldogs had 38 turnovers to 11 for Willowridge.

"We let the hype get to us and we just never played the way we are capable," said senior Chris Dearman. "Still, I got to play in this game, and I'll never forget the experience. It was worth it."

Senior Jason Kopp said, "They took us out of our game quick. We didn't get any calls and we didn't adjust our game. It really hurts to get beat like that."

No. 1 Arkansas wins SEC quarterfinal

Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Corliss Williamson scored 11 of his career-high 30 points in the final 6:12 and Corey Beck took charge down the stretch as top-ranked Arkansas beat Georgia 95-83 Friday in the quarterfinals of the Southeastern Conference tournament.

Georgia (14-16) led most of the first half and the game was tied for the sixth and last time at 67-67. Beck took a charge and made two free throws to give the Razorbacks (25-2) a 71-67 lead with 8:10 to play. Beck dished to Williamson for a three-point play that made it 77-71 with 6:12 to go.

Beck's two free throws and Williamson's running hook in the lane kept the Razorbacks in front and then Georgia's Shandon Anderson fouled out with 4:16 to play. Anderson, who had 23 points against LSU on Thursday, left with 21 points and seven rebounds. Williamson immediately drove the lane, was fouled, and made two free throws. On the Razorbacks' next possession, Williamson spotted Clint McDaniel running down the line and fed him for an 84-75 advantage.

No. 2 Connecticut 97,
St. John's 77

NEW YORK — Donyell Marshall played like the Big East's player of the year.

The 6-foot-9 junior forward set the conference tournament record with 42 points Friday as Connecticut crushed St. John's in the quarterfinals, capping the Redmen's first losing season since 1962-63.

Connecticut (27-3), which has won six straight games, will play Providence in Saturday's semifinals. The Friars beat Villanova 77-66 in the quarterfinals.

Marshall, who was named the league player of the year on Thursday, bettered his 25.5 scoring average in the first half, scoring 26 as the Huskies took a 50-32 lead.

No. 3 Missouri 64, Colorado 62
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Paul O'Liney made two free throws with less than a second left, lifting Missouri over Colorado Friday in the first round of the Big Eight tournament.

It was the 19th straight Big Eight victory for Missouri (25-2), which probably clinched a No. 1 seed in the upcoming NCAA tournament.

The eighth-seeded Buffaloes (10-16) came close to upsetting the regular season champions despite losing their best player, guard Donnie Boyce, to an ankle injury in the opening minutes.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Jerry Stackhouse scored 19 points and Rasheed Wallace got 17 points and 16 rebounds night as North Carolina beat Florida State in the Atlantic Coast Conference quarterfinals.

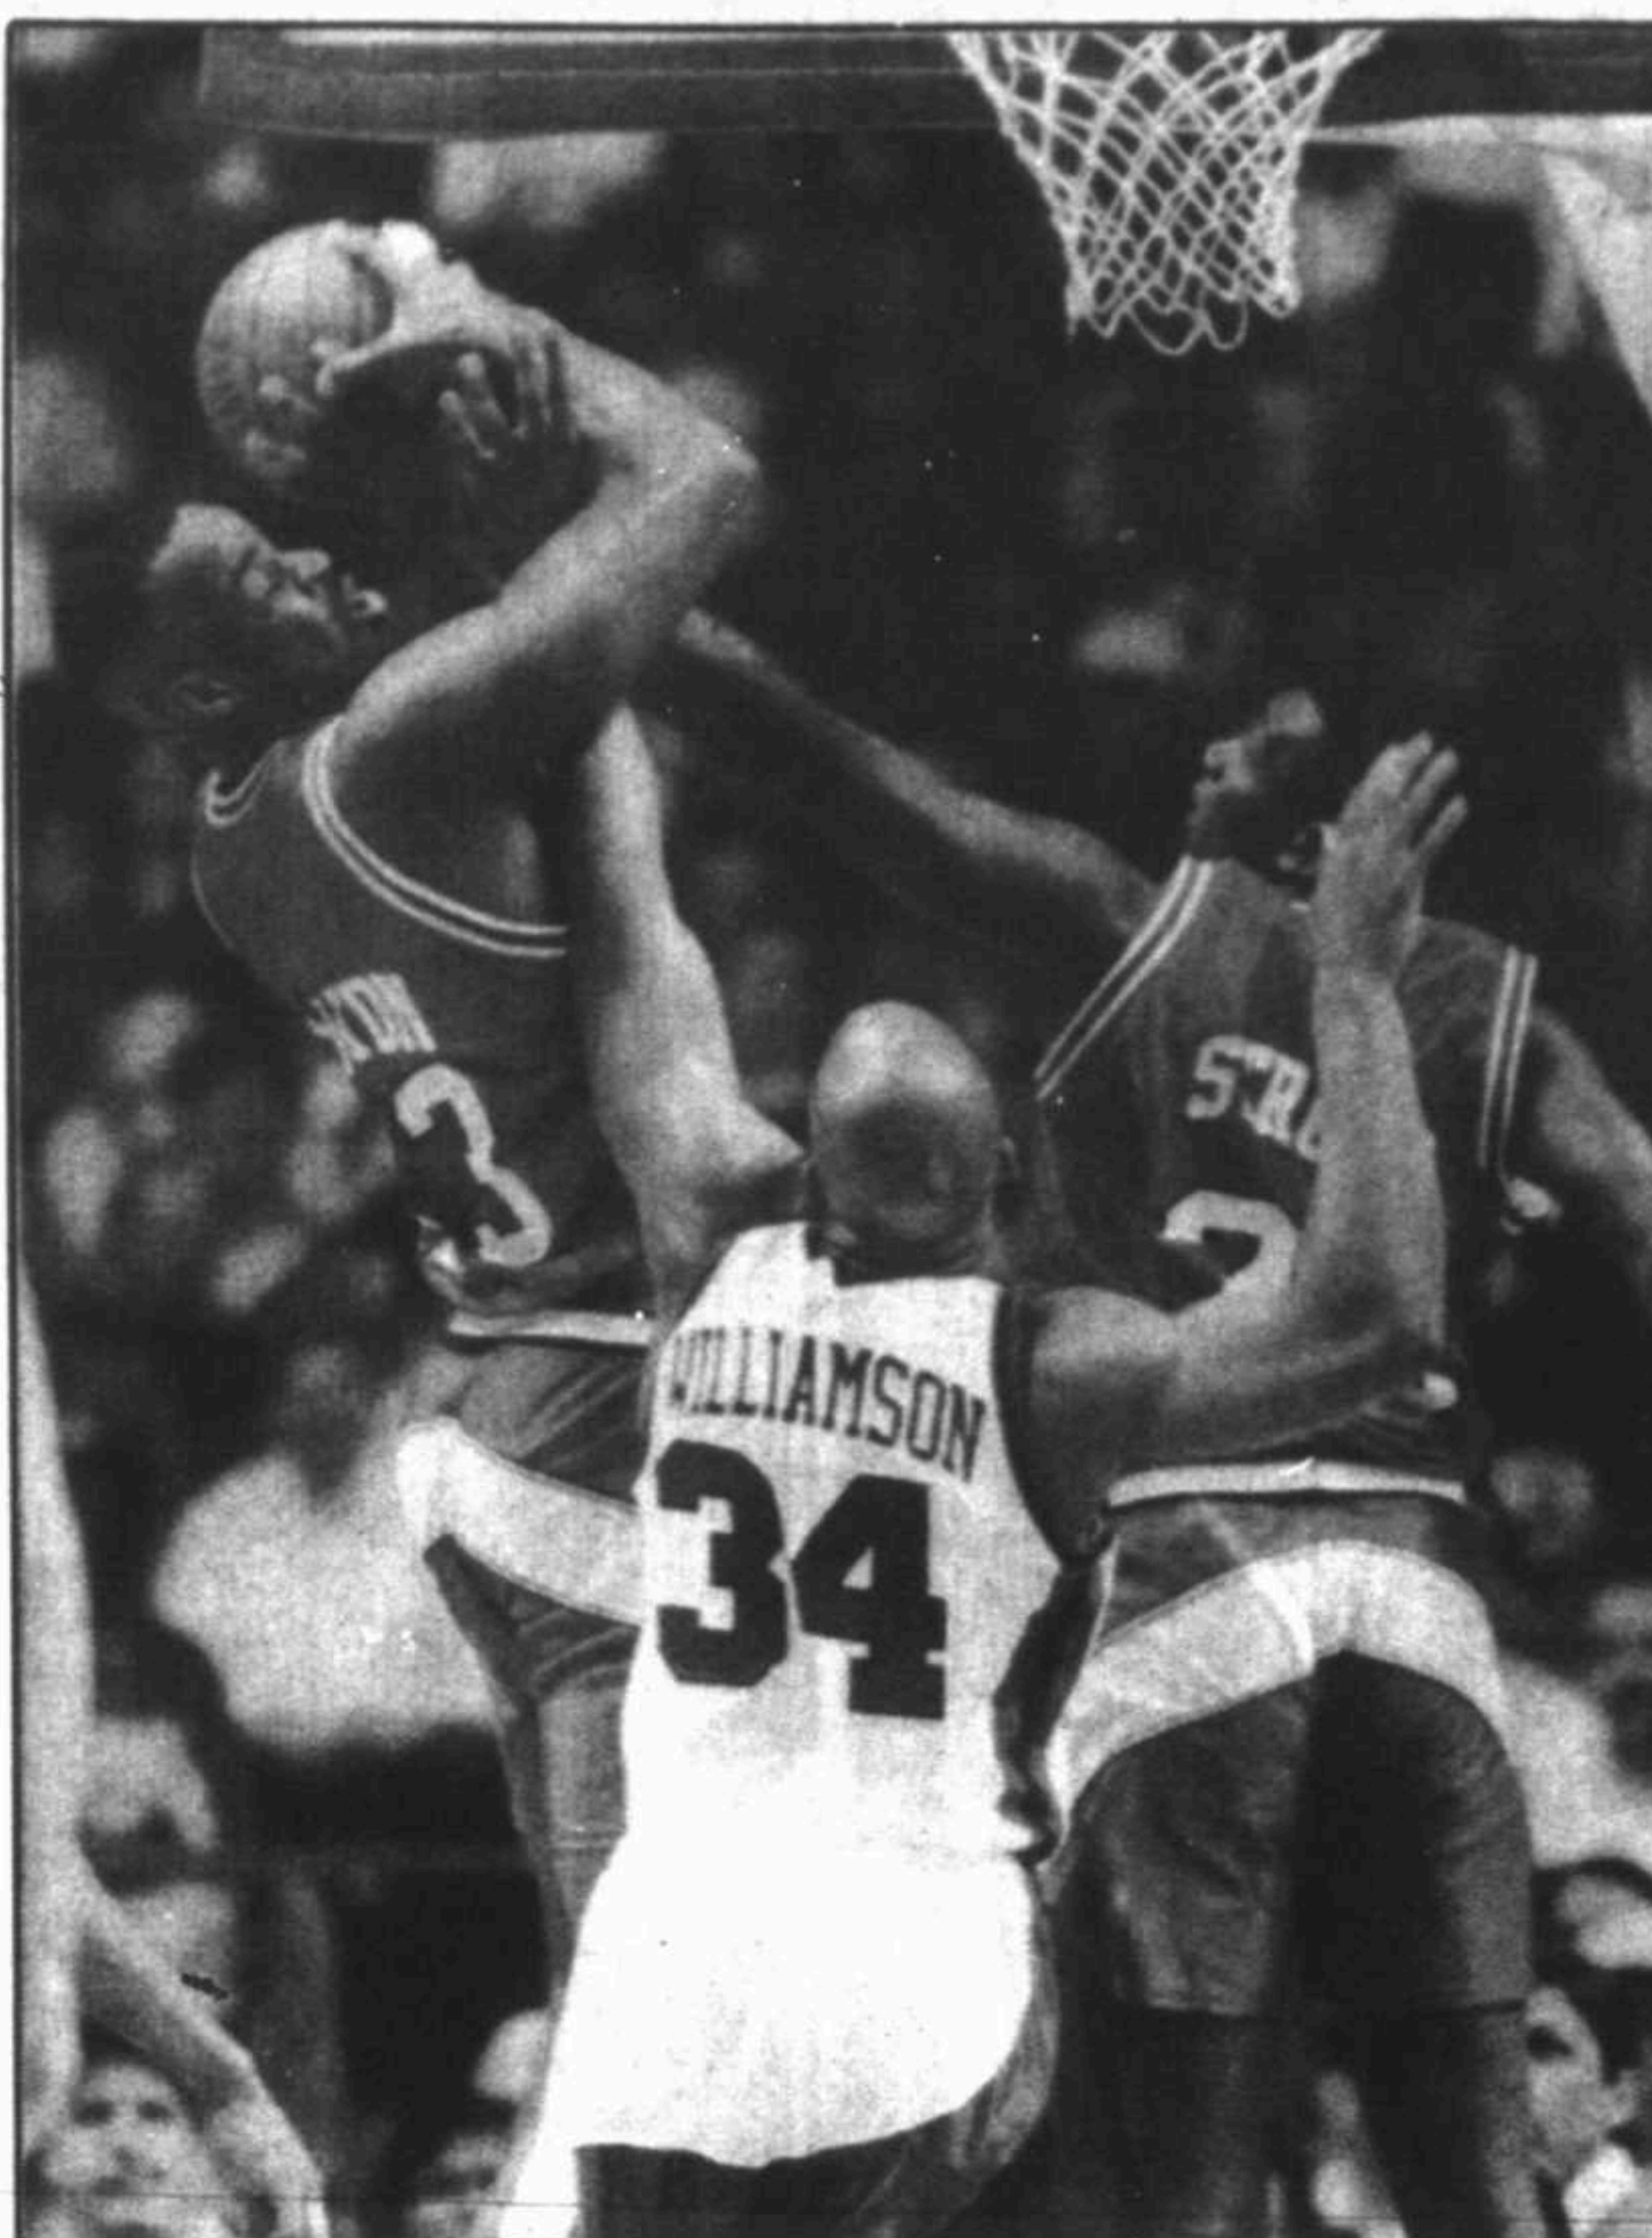

Dean Smith gained his 799th career victory as North Carolina (25-6) advanced to a semifinal Saturday against Wake Forest or Georgia Tech.

No. 5 Duke 77, Clemson 64

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Grant Hill helped Duke survive another threat from Clemson Friday, scoring 23 points in a victory in the quarterfinals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Cherokee Parks blocked a Duke record 10 shots and grabbed 10 rebounds for the Blue Devils.

Duke's triumph ended the ACC career of Clemson coach Cliff Ellis, who in January announced he would be resigning at the end of the season. He left with a 3-10 tournament record.

Arkansas' Corliss Williamson (34) lunges for a rebound with Georgia's Charles Claxton, left, and Georgia's Carlos Strong in the quarterfinal match of the SEC Tournament Friday.

No. 13 Syracuse 80, OT

NEW YORK — John Leahy made a 3-pointer with 4.1 seconds left in overtime, his only field goal of the game, leading Seton Hall over Syracuse 81-80 Friday night in the Big East Tournament.

The victory moved the Pirates into Saturday semifinals against the winner of the game between Georgetown and Boston College.

Leahy had missed three earlier 3-point attempts as Seton Hall (17-11) played bombs-away basketball. The Pirates launched nine of their first 10 shots from beyond the 3-point line and finished the game with 25 of their 59 shots from long range. They connected on eight of the attempts.

No. 17 Florida 84,
S. Carolina 57

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Craig Brown and Dan Cross combined for 31 points, including seven 3-pointers, as Florida routed South Carolina 84-57 Friday in the quarterfinals of the Southeastern Conference tournament.

Brown scored 17 points, and was 3-of-4 from 3-point range. Cross had 14 points, and was 4-for-7 on long-distance shots.

Jason Anderson added 16 points for the Gators (24-6), who beat South Carolina for the third time this season.

Memphis St. 73,
No. 21 Saint Louis 62

CINCINNATI — Memphis State, winding up its worst season in 13 years, made it to the Great Midwest Conference tournament championship for the third straight year by beating Saint Louis.

The Tigers (13-15), the second-lowest seed in the tournament, have played their two best games of the season to get back to the final. One problem: there's no automatic NCAA bid for the GMC champ, so the Tigers are playing only for pride.

No. 23 Oklahoma St. 77,
Iowa St. 67

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Bryant Reeves scored 21 points as Oklahoma State built a first-half lead against cold-shooting Iowa State and then survived a Cyclones rally to win in the first round of the Big Eight tournament.

Iowa State (14-13) trailed 64-42 with 11:25 to play, but Julius Michalik, who scored 28 points, led a rally that had the Cyclones within four at 69-65 with 2:19 to go.

Oklahoma State, which made only 13-of-28 free throws, held off the Cyclones and went led 70-65 on a three-point play by Randy Ruthertford with 1:50 to play. A dunk by Fred Burley off a pass from Reeves made it 72-67 with 28 seconds remaining for the Cowboys (22-8), who will meet the winner of the Kansas-Kansas State game played later Friday in the semifinals.

Cincinnati 72,

No. 19 Marquette 63
CINCINNATI — Cincinnati backed up its brag and made it to the Great Midwest Conference tournament championship for the third straight year by beating Marquette.

Cincinnati (21-9) will play the tournament's biggest surprise, Memphis State, for the title Saturday night. Those two teams have played in all three GMC tournament title games, with Cincinnati winning all three.

Memphis State (13-15), the tournament's second-lowest seed, beat No. 21 Saint Louis 73-62 in the other semifinal game Friday.

Freshman guard Damon Flint, who had bragged earlier Friday that the Bearcats are better than Marquette, backed up the talk by scoring 21. He kept the Bearcats close in the first half with 12 points, then hit five free throws down the stretch to clinch it.

Flint also said that Marquette (22-8), the regular-season champion, wasn't very good defensively. But defense wasn't the Warriors' problem — they couldn't get their shots to drop against UC's half-court pressure. Marquette hit just 3 of 18 from behind the 3-point arc.

The Bearcats kept up the trash talk during the game. Coach Bob Huggins and forward Dantonio Wingfield each got their second technical fouls in two nights.

Troup, Krum to meet in 2A finals

AUSTIN (AP) — Greg Austin scored 32 points, leading a punishing inside-outside attack for Troup as it moved closer to earning its third consecutive Class 2A championship with a record-breaking 97-51 victory over Shallowater Friday.

Troup (33-5), on Saturday will face Krum (36-0), winners of two state crowns and finalists six times, in a rematch of the 1992 title game, which Troup won 60-40.

Krum used swarming full-court pressure Friday to earn a 63-37 victory over Somerville (26-10), a finalist in Class 2A in 1984.

Shallowater, which was simply outsize and overwhelmed, finished the year 32-5, led by Aaron Brown and Jason Witt with 14 points each.

Tony Kincade opened the game with a 3-pointer, then Austin, who is a hulking, 6-6 senior, scored nine consecutive points, including a 3-pointer and a monstrous dunk as Troup jumped out to a 20-7 lead to open the game.

Austin was 15 of 16 from the field and grabbed 11 rebounds as Troup broke the state tournament team scoring record of 92 set by Sweeney in 1954 and matched by Lorenzo in 1967.

Brown hit four early 3-pointers for Shallowater, but that was no match for Troup's press and fast-break offense. Troup, a state finalist six times, including the past five years, converted 10 Shallowater turnovers into 15 points in the first half as it built a 46-27 lead at intermission.

The Tigers sizzled from 3-point range, hitting 10 of 23, while Shallowater, which relied on the 3-point shot all season, was 6 of 27 from behind the arc.

Kincade scored 14 points, Clay Cover had 12 points on four 3-pointers and Jamie Kendrick added 11 for Troup.

In the first 2A semifinal, Bryan Hamm scored 18 points and Jason Martin and Barry Kemp each added 16 as Krum's pressing and trapping took Somerville out of the game early.

The Bobcats turned 16 first-half Somerville turnovers into 24 points and held the Yeguas to just 6-of-18 shooting in the first two quarters on their way to a 38-14 lead at halftime.

While Hamm and Martin provided the outside threat, Kemp, a 6-6 senior with a massive wingspan, was an intimidating force inside, swatting away shots and hanging on the rim after two monster dunks.

Krum led by as many as 30 in the second half and then began liberal substitutions.

Aaron Flencher added 11 points for Somerville.

Payton's J tops Spurs

Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO — Gary Payton's 18-foot jumper with 1.2 seconds left boosted the Seattle SuperSonics to a 100-99 victory over the San Antonio Spurs on Friday night.

The victory was Seattle's eighth in its last 10 games and enabled the Sonics to gain a split in a two-day swing through Texas against the top two teams in the Midwest Division — Houston and San Antonio.

Kings 108, Bucks 100

MILWAUKEE — Mitch Richmond scored 23 of his 25 points in the second half, including 12 in the fourth quarter, to lead Sacramento to a comeback victory over Milwaukee.

Magic 112, 76ers 105

ORLANDO, Fla. — Shaquille O'Neal scored 28 points and grabbed 21 rebounds Friday night as the Orlando Magic beat Philadelphia 112-105 to extend the 76ers' losing streak to 15 games.

Suns 122, Heat 107

MIAMI — Cedric Ceballos had 28 points and 12 rebounds and sparked a key second-quarter rally that allowed Phoenix to coast past Miami.

NBA Roundup

December.

Nicks 90, Celtics 83

BOSTON — Patrick Ewing scored 28 points and Hubert Davis had a career-high 25, including five 3-pointers, as New York ran its win streak to five games.

Davis' 3-pointer with 3:28 left put New York ahead 76-74, but Sherman Douglas followed with two free throws to tie it. Ewing then put New York ahead for good with two free throws. The Knicks outscored the Celtics 12-7 in the final three minutes.

Hornets 97, Timberwolves 91

MINNEAPOLIS — Alonzo Mourning, playing alongside Larry Johnson for the first time since December, had 20 points and 14 rebounds as Charlotte sent the Timberwolves to their seventh straight loss.

Bullets 100, Nuggets 93

LANDOVER, Md. — Brent Price hit a 3-pointer with 1:18 remaining to snap a 91-91 tie and spark the Washington Bullets past Denver 100-93 Friday night as the Nuggets finished a three-game road trip without a victory.

Rodman among NBA bad boys

HOUSTON — Their names make the hair on the back of your neck stand up.

Bill Laimbeer, Rick Mahorn, Maurice Lucas, Dennis Rodman. These are the NBA's villains, past and present. The guys fans love to hate. The fire-starters. Thugs in short pants.

So when Rodman struts onto the court Saturday night when San Antonio takes on the Rockets here, he'll get the customary slew of boos that rain on him every time the Spurs play outside their city limits.

It is an exclusive club, this bevy of bad boys. Others qualify, but not many. The Rockets' wild child Vernon Maxwell, a wannabe next to Rodman, is the closest thing Houston has to a card-carrying member of the Villains' Club.

But there's one big difference. Laimbeer, Mahorn, Lucas and Rodman all have championship rings. Rodman won his in Detroit with Mahorn and Laimbeer. Some say he has a chance to win another with the Spurs this season.

If it comes down to attitude, you have to like his chances. Just four days ago, he and the Spurs put the Rockets in their place with a run away victory. In that game, Rodman, Willie Anderson and Sleepy Floyd taunted the Rockets relentlessly. Rodman's antics got him ejected after the game was decided.

Now, he brings his act to Houston. And the Rockets, with Tuesday's whipping fresh in their minds and a revived vigor after Thursday's 87-82 win over Seattle, vow they will fight Rodman's fire with ... Water?

"What happened in San Antonio is a ghetto style of basketball," Hakeem Olajuwon said.

Gesek close to leaving Dallas

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Offensive lineman John Gesek is likely to be the next member of the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys to take the big free-agent bucks and run.

Gesek has met with four different teams and said the Washington Redskins and San Francisco 49ers top his list.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Friday that the Redskins offered him a multi-million dollar contract "that I would sign right now if the structure was a little different. The numbers are good. We just need to do a little playing with some details and it can be done today."

Gesek is seeking a $1.4 million-a-year deal.

The need to sign Gesek became even greater this week when Redskins center Jeff Bostic announced his retirement. New Washington coach Norv Turner wants Gesek to step in and play center, while other teams view him primarily as a guard.

Meanwhile, The Cowboys have prioritized their list of free agents, placing their focus on re-signing fullback Daryl Johnston and at least three of their top four offensive linemen, team sources told the newspaper.

Johnston is reportedly seeking a deal that would pay him about $1.4 million per season.

Coach Jimmy Johnson has said he wants to keep three of his top four offensive linemen: Gesek, Nate Newton, Kevin Gogan and Mark Stepnoski.

Newton visited Thursday with the Philadelphia Eagles, who reportedly are ready to spend $1.5 million on the two-time Pro Bowler. However, they want to first sign home-grown defensive stars Seth Joyner and Clyde Simmons.

The Cowboys fell short of promising Newton his desired four-year, $6-million contract but told Newton they want to negotiate a way to retain him, the Star-Telegram said.

Center Mark Stepnoski also apparently is without a big-money offer. So if Gesek departs, the Cowboys will concentrate on retaining guard Kevin Gogan, who wants more than $1.2 million annually.

If they are successful, the front five that guided Emmitt Smith to a third consecutive rushing title and the team to consecutive Super Bowl victories essentially will remain intact.

Johnston has serious interest in Dallas, Washington and Pittsburgh. He was leaving town Friday for a weeklong vacation, before visiting Kansas City and the Los Angeles Raiders. He said he plans to make his decision sometime by early April.

Earlier this week, linebacker Ken Norton said he had an "unofficial" offer from the 49ers and "was leaning that way."

Defensive tackle Tony Casillas indicated he's preparing to take a $1.5 million-a-year deal from the Chicago Bears. They would join defensive tackle Jimmie Jones, now with the Los Angeles Rams, as free-agent defectors from Dallas.

In other news, safety Thomas Everett and the Cowboys are split on whether he should have knee surgery. The Cowboys staff doctors have told Everett that surgery for a degenerative knee condition could potentially force him out of pro football. But he has scheduled the surgery for next Wednesday with Dr. Steve O'Brien at New York Hospital.

Dallas: no to World Cup drinking ban

DALLAS (AP) — Mayor Steve Bartlett said Friday he will politely decline a request by World Cup organizers to consider a community-wide alcohol prohibition on game days this summer.

Alan I. Rothenberg, chairman of the World Cup's organizing committee, last month asked for the ban in a letter to the nine cities hosting 52 games involving 24 countries.

Bartlett said Friday that "banning alcohol on game day for the whole city is very impractical and is not necessary."

However, Bartlett said the city will ban the sale of alcohol on game days at the Fair Park grounds around the Cotton Bowl, which will hold six games between June 17 and July 9.

Dallas also will strictly enforce public-intoxication laws throughout the city, and beef up police presence at tourist areas during the games.

World Cup spokesman John Griffin said he was unaware of any host city formally responding to the proposal.

"It was just an idea we were floating," Griffin said.

The request for an alcohol ban has a precedent: No alcohol was sold in Italian cities with games in the 1990 World Cup, said Dallas deputy police chief Rick Hatler, who heads Dallas' World Cup planning.

Even if Dallas favored an alcohol ban, Texas law would prohibit it, said Allen Johnson, supervisor of marketing practices for the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission in Austin.

"Once the alcohol permit is issued, the licensee is free to use it as he sees fit," Johnson said. "The city can't be any more restrictive than the state law already is, and that would be more restrictive."

Bartlett and police officials, buoyed by last year's successful police crackdown during Texas-Oklahoma football weekend, and an incident-free Super Bowl parade a month ago, vowed the city will be ready for any World Cup eventuality.

HSU bounced from tourney

MONMOUTH, Ore. (AP) — Robin Bugg scored 28 points for Shawnee State, Ohio, Friday as the Shawnee State Bears ousted fifth-seeded Hardin-Simmons, Texas, 77-64 in the second round of the NAIA Division II women's basketball tournament.

Shawnee State (20-11), the 16th seed in the 24-team field, advances to a quarterfinal matchup against Concordia, Wis.

The Bears outrebounded Hardin-Simmons 38-28.

Annie Mains scored 15 points and Tiffany Clayton 12 for Shawnee. Hardin-Simmons (24-4), which was playing for the first time in 10 days, was led by Missy Davis with 27 points.

Air Force 5 who

By Jeff Nesmith
Cox News Service

WASHINGTON — Three months before graduate from the Air Force Academy, five students whose academic records qualified them for Air Force officers' commissions were recommended for expulsion because they lack "military" training.

An academy spokesman said the students "didn't do the right stuff," but an attorney representing them said the action was "morally wrong."

One cadet said he was stunned because the pending expulsions they found in envelopes had thought contained assignments as academy officers.

Recommendations "disenrolled" are approved by Lt. Gen. Bradley Perinent, superintendent of the Colorado Springs, Colo., academy.

An Air Force spokesman declined to reveal specifics for the actions, citing privacy laws.

But an Air Force spokesman serves as lawyer for five, charged that the academy's actions were based on "double standards, instead of proper standards."

The captain said he pursued the action "despite any concept of due process" and "the conscience."

The pending expulsions were denounced by Wilson, D-Texas, who has been unable to get from the Air Force. The district includes the five cadets, said in asking a House hearing on the matter.

"This is something new," Wilson said. "It's a program where subjective where charge a cadet with."

"It is particularly that they would tell has been a good career, nine-and-a-half years, nine-and-a-half his grades are good, committed no breaches regulations but he be graduated," he said.

When asked about Will Ketterson, director of relations at the academy, he said he knew nothing of it and you say indicates that they don't have

House panel toughens 3-strikes

WASHINGTON — A House panel on Wednesday took a step Friday as a House version stronger than the Clinton administration's.

The House Judiciary Committee on crime measures creating death penalty state juveniles 13 and older as adults for violent offenses, authorizing billion-dollar prevention.

The panel sent 10 Judiciary Committee action next week, a House panel Chairman Charles D-N.Y., said he expected committee to approve.

However, he anticipated the House floor "valve" that allows violent, low-level delinquents to avoid stiff mandatory sentences. It passed the committee on an 8-5 vote.

The three-strikes provision proved 10-3 by the House Judiciary Committee out as the Justice Department proposal, mandating for those convicted felonies if the third in federal court.

But by a 7-6 vote, proved an amendment even Schiff, R-N.M., of the two prior congressional serious drug felonies would still be in offense bringing them to a life term be a court and subject to a life term be a

Air Force wants to expel 5 who 'lack right stuff'

By Jeff Nesmith
Cox News Service

WASHINGTON — Less than three months before they were to graduate from the U.S. Air Force Academy, five senior cadets whose academic and performance records qualified them to become Air Force officers have been recommended for expulsion because they lack "military aptitude."

An academy spokesman suggested the cadets may not have "the right stuff," but an Air Force attorney representing the cadets said the action was "legally and morally wrong."

One cadet said he and the others were stunned recently to learn of the pending expulsion from notices they found in envelopes which they had thought contained their first assignments as active duty Air Force officers.

Recommendations that they be "disenrolled" are awaiting review by Lt. Gen. Bradley Hosmer, superintendent of the academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

An Air Force spokesman declined to reveal specific reasons for the actions, citing federal privacy laws.

But an Air Force captain, who serves as lawyer for three of the five, charged that the action was based on "double secret" standards, instead of published criteria cadets know they must meet. The captain said the academy pursued the action in a way that "defies any concept of fairness or due process" and "simply shocks the conscience."

The pending disenrollments also were denounced by Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, who said he had been unable to get an explanation from the Air Force. Wilson, whose district includes the home of one of the five cadets, said he is considering asking a House panel to hold hearings on the matter.

"This is something absolutely new," Wilson said. "They have instituted a program that is entirely subjective where they can discharge a cadet without cause."

"It is particularly disturbing that they would tell a man that he has been a good cadet for three years, nine-and-a-half months and his grades are good and he has committed no breach of academy regulations but he is not going to be graduated," he added.

When asked about the matter, Will Ketterson, director of media relations at the academy, said he knew nothing of it but that "what you say indicates to me generally that they don't have the right stuff."

The action against them began recently when 27 senior cadets were called before a military review committee and questioned about alleged deficiencies reported by their active duty military commanders, according to Col. Joe Burka, the academy's public affairs director.

Five of the 27 have been formally disenrolled because they had "gotten into trouble" and have left the academy, Burka said. Eleven were cleared and six placed on probation, he said.

Burka confirmed that the reviews were part of a new system that had not been previously pursued so close to graduation.

Capt. John P. Taft, military counsel for three of the five cadets, appealed for disapproval of the recommendation they be expelled.

"In making its disenrollment recommendation, the Military Review Committee (MRC) concluded these cadets lack the aptitude to serve as commissioned officers," Taft wrote in his March 8 memorandum. "After reviewing the MRC records for these three cadets and the various published standards used to assess 'aptitude,' I find the recommendation lacks a basis in fact and is of questionable legality."

"More disconcerting, it appears the Academy created new, unpublished and unquantified standards regarding commissionability and applied them retroactively to these three cadets, thereby second guessing all prior assessments of their fitness for commissioned service," Taft added.

Reviewing records of the three cadets, he noted that they had "Military Performance Averages" that range from 2.33 to 2.4, all above 2.0, the minimum required for graduation from the academy.

The Military Performance Averages are supposed to include a reflection of military aptitude, he said.

House panel toughens, OKs 3-strikes bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal three-strikes and life imprisonment bill took a step closer to law Friday as a House panel approved a version stronger than one sought by the Clinton administration.

The House Judiciary subcommittee on crime also approved measures creating 50 new federal death penalty statutes, allowing juveniles 13 and older to be tried as adults for violent crimes, and authorizing billions for crime prevention.

The panel sent 10 bills to the full Judiciary Committee for expected action next week, and subcommittee Chairman Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., said he expected the full committee to approve them all.

However, he anticipates trouble on the House floor for an "escape valve" that allows first-time, non-violent, low-level drug offenders to avoid stiff mandatory minimum sentences. It passed the subcommittee on an 8-5 vote.

The three-strikes provision, approved 10-3 by the panel, started out as the Justice Department's proposal, mandating a life term for those convicted of three violent felonies if the third conviction was in federal court.

But by a 7-6 vote, the panel approved an amendment by Rep. Steven Schiff, R-N.M., allowing one of the two prior convictions to be a serious drug felony. The amendment would still require that the offense bring the case to federal court and subjecting the person to a life term be a violent felony.

Two Democrats — Reps. Romano Mazzoli of Kentucky and Dan Glickman of Kansas — and the panel's five Republicans supported the amendment.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Texas, said it amounted to "deluding the American people that we're doing something and we're not" because it will affect relatively few prisoners.

"This is helping to get members of Congress re-elected, and that's all," said Washington, whose reelection bid ended with a primary loss Tuesday.

The Senate passed several three-strikes provisions as part of a crime bill last year.

Jury clears Bledsoe of misconduct

By Peggy Fikac
Associated Press

AUSTIN — A Travis County grand jury Friday cleared former Assistant Attorney General Gary Bledsoe and Texas Supreme Court Justice Craig Enoch of official misconduct allegations.

Bledsoe heads the Texas NAACP and is a former chairman of the Travis County Democratic Party. Enoch is a Republican.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle — a Democrat who has been accused of partisan politics by GOP leaders for his ill-fated ethics case against Republican U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison — announced the grand jury decision.

He said there was no political trade-off involved in the latest action, or any other, despite GOP criticism.

"We do not have an agenda in this office, other than to see that justice is done ... I think justice was done in this case," said Earle. "The grand jury found that no crime was committed."

He then proceeded to accuse state GOP Chairman Fred Meyer "and his segment of the Republican Party" of making a scapegoat of Bledsoe in the wake of Earle's investigation of Mrs. Hutchison.

Republicans had said Bledsoe's case was being treated differently from that of Mrs. Hutchison, who was ultimately cleared by a jury when Earle refused to go forward with the case against her.

"It was in effect an ethics lynching. That's what they did to Gary Bledsoe," Earle said.

Meyer responded sharply, saying Earle's announcement involving one person from each party was "clearly orchestrated" and proved that his office "makes politics, rather than justice, its first consideration."

"We didn't think Ronnie Earle could sink any lower, but his erroneous and unwarranted attacks on the Republican Party and me as its chairman are further proof that he is unfit for public office, and unworthy of the public trust or of any response from us," Meyer said.

Earle looked into allegations that Bledsoe conducted NAACP business on state time and that Enoch, in his former post on the 5th Court of Appeals in Dallas, used his staff for campaign-related activities and to help write his master's thesis.

Enoch had acknowledged when the allegations were made that it was not appropriate to have his secretary type campaign-related thank-you notes and reimburse the appeals court.

Earle's investigation found that "there was not an extensive pattern of conduct of using government employees for political purposes," according to a statement.

"I've always maintained the charges were unfounded. I'm very pleased I've been vindicated," Enoch said.
