Settlement Of National Steel Strike Announced

NAILED TO CROSS FOR GAIN—Tagore, 25-year-old ventriloquist, who was voluntarily nailed to a cross in a bullring at Reynosa, Mexico, is shown on the cross where he says he hopes to remain for 15 days. The cross has not been raised and Tagore lies supine on the cross which is supported by a pair of saw horses. He says he is doing it for money and will contribute 10 per cent of what he makes to the Catholic Church.

Strike Costs Will Be Felt Across Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—The costs of the just-ended steel strike are likely to keep popping to the surface for some time to come.

The rising price of steel and the new wage scale pattern will plant some time bombs with delayed effects on the economy.

Businessmen will note them first in increased operational costs. Consumers may see them later in higher prices—if competition permits manufacturers to pass along all or part of the higher costs.

One educated guess, for example, is the expected steel price hike will add $40 to $60 to the cost of making a 1957 model car.

These hidden effects, coming to light little by little, won't be noted at first in the flurry to reopen the steel mills and catch up on unfilled orders, and in the expected rush of steel's customers to place orders to refill their depleted pipelines.

If this develops as many anticipate, it is likely to give the economy an apparent glow of health for the rest of the year. But some of the glow will be inflationary in nature—and the health questionable.

The costs will be there, either way.

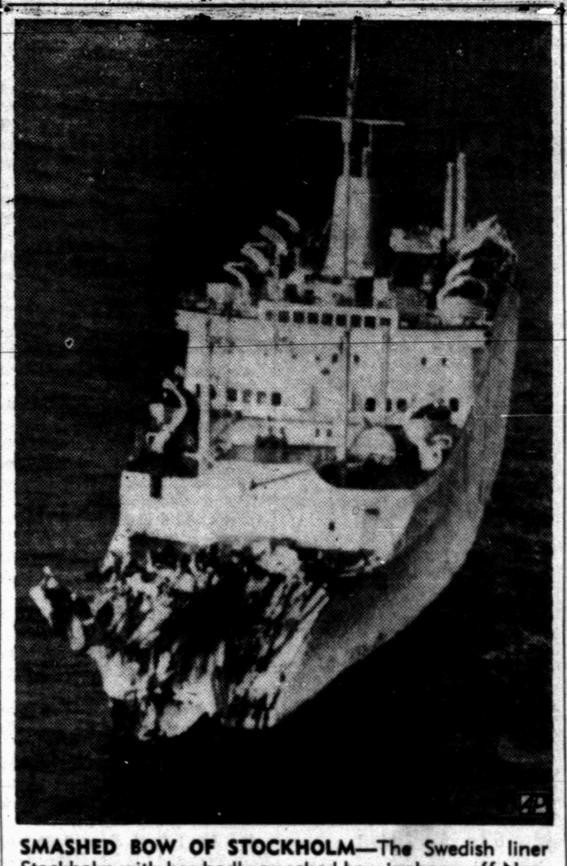

Right now you can tally the losses in paychecks, both by the 650,000 strikers and those laid off when other industries slowed down.

The steel companies and their customers can add up the lost tonnage, sales and profits. Government agencies can compute the added relief loads and the revenue to be lost through reduced income tax collections.

Sluggish retail sales in steel mill towns and in others where men were laid off because steel was short may or may not be made up in revivals later on.

In the 1952 steel strike of around seven weeks the total cost to the economy was estimated as high as four billion dollars.

But some of the losses this time are, at least partly, on paper. During the strike this year the nation's steel output dropped to 10 per cent of capacity. Theoretically this meant a weekly loss of two million tons of steel. But earlier, the summer's production was expected to drop to 85 per cent of capacity, without a strike. The total output for the year, at the expected quickened pace in coming weeks, could still be about what it would have been anyway.

End Slated Next Week

NEW YORK (AP)—A settlement of the 27-day nationwide steel strike was announced today but a formal end to the strike will not come until sometime early next week.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, announced at a news conference the settlement had been reached. John A. Stephens, chief industry negotiator, sat beside him nodding agreement.

McDonald said that it will take "several days," however, before individual contracts with the steel companies can be completed and signed.

He said a return to work of the 650,000 striking steelworkers must wait until the signing of those contracts.

No terms of the settlement were announced.

There have been incontradicted reports for the past three days that the settlement embraces a three-year contract with approximately a 50-cent an hour package spread over that period.

McDonald announced the settlement with the following brief statement:

"The eight negotiators on behalf of the United Steelworkers of America and the 12 basic steel companies at noon today reached a basis of settlement.

"Each individual company and the union negotiating group will now meet for the purpose of completing labor contracts. This will necessarily take several days."

"At the conclusion of the labor contracts the strike will terminate.

"This basis of settlement must be ratified by the International Wage Policy Committee before it is a settlement as such. We intend to work day and night to conclude all the necessary documents."

McDonald said the union's 31-man Executive Board would meet immediately to hear the settlement terms and that this meeting would be followed by one of the Wage Policy Committees.

McDonald sad the actual return to work of the steel workers cannot come until the individual contracts are signed.

Estimates of how long it will take steel mills to get started ranged from 3 to 10 days. Certain finished products, such as wire, can be turned out at once, industry sources said, while the smelting of raw ore cannot begin until furnaces are heated, a process which takes many days.

Predictions of the dollar amount of the increase range between $10 and $12 a ton above previous prices of $130.

The reported package increase would give the steel workers 20 to 25 cents an hour the first year, of which 9 cents an hour would be in direct wages, 5 cents toward a 52-week layoff pay plan and the balance in fringe benefits. Pre-strike wages averaged $2.46 an hour.

The remainder of the reported 50-cent package would be spread over the second and third years, and there also would be provisions for cost-of-living increases over and above the package benefits.

The strike halted 90 per cent of the nation's steel production, and idled more than 100,000 workers in allied industries.

Election, Precinct Conventions Slated

The polls open to voters at 8 a.m. tomorrow for one of the biggest elections here in several years as far as the number of persons in races are concerned, the first Democratic primary.

Only half the county's offices are open this time, under the law which provides four-year terms for all offices and alternates the offices to be open each election.

Local voters are interested in races in Scurry and Borden Counties, with county and district offices at stake.

Also being held tomorrow, at 2 p.m., are regular voting precinct Conventions of the Democrats party. Frank Wilson, county Democratic chairman, has announced that the conventions will be held at or near the polling places. At these conventions, those attending will elect delegates to attend the county convention to be held in the courthouse at 2 p.m. Aug. 4.

Wilson also announced that precinct chairmen will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday to canvass election returns and certify those elected or those to be in the second primary in August.

Election judges this week urged citizens to have their poll tax receipts or exemption certificates with them tomorrow when they go to the polls. The polls, after the 8 a.m. opening, will remain open until 7 p.m. Those who do not have their receipts with them must sign affidavits swearing they are qualified voters.

On their ballots, voters will make their selections for both state and local offices. Also included on the ballots are three issues for public opinion having to do with state racial laws and policies. The first will be on mixing white and Negro children in public schools, the next intermarriage between Negros and whites, and the third on interposition.

Candidates for governor, as listed on the Scurry ballot, are Price Daniel, J. Evetts Haley, J. J. Holmes, W. Lee O'Daniel, Reuben Senterfitt, and Ralph Yarbrough. For lieutenant governor are A. M. Aikin, Jr., C. T. Johnson, Ben Ramsey, and John Lee Smith.

Other state offices which have more than one candidate are associate justice of the supreme court, place 3, with James R. Norvell and Robert G. Hughes listed as candidates; judge, court of criminal appeals, with W. A. Morrison and Jesse Owens on the ballot; state treasurer, Warren G. Harding and Jesse James; commissioner of agriculture, Jim Barber, Bill Jones, and John C. White; and congressman-at-large, Martin Dies and Bill Elkins.

George Mahon is unopposed for representative to Congress from this district, and Robert R. Patterson is not opposed for state representative from this district.

The only county race which involves no competition is that of county attorney, for which George Killam is candidate.

The following are candidates for other district and county offices, as listed on the Scurry ballot:

District judge — Sterling Williams and James Rosser.

District attorney — Pat Beene, C. F. Sentell, J. Ray Martin, and Wayland G. Holt.

County sheriff — Homer Whisnand, R. L. Bolding, E. W. (Red) Green, Earl Abercrombie, and Walter Morgan.

Tax assessor-collector — Phil Burns and Geral G. Greene.

Commissioner, precinct 1 —T. B. Knight, J. W. Coffee, Clarence

ABSENTEE VOTE BIGGER THAN '52

Three hundred forty-six absentee ballots for the Democratic primary had been cast today as the deadline for receiving absentee votes, 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, neared.

Forty ballots mailed from the county clerk's office have not been returned yet, according to Dan Cotton, county clerk.

The 346 absentee votes cast are an increase of about 60 ballots over the absentee vote total in the 1952 Democratic primary. Approximately 280 ballots were cast absentee in that primary.

255 Sign Petitions To Commissioners

The county commissioners have received petitions bearing about 255 signatures requesting a change in the proposed site for the Scurry County library, it was announced today.

Consideration of the reguest will probably be taken up the first part of next week, according to one commissioner, but no definite date has been set yet.

Plans Brewing For Party Conventions

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff

All over Texas Democratic leaders are making last minute plans for precinct conventions Saturday.

Some neighborhood conventions will be in the afternoon and some at night. But no matter what the time or place, the big question is:

Can the state party faction that swept the May precinct and county convenitons and the state convention for Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn keep the whip hand over Gov. Shivers' supporters?

There was considerable talk following the state convention as to whether Johnson's followers could hold a coalition of factions which included a strong labor wing.

In some precincts Saturday the test vote for control will come in hotly contested races for the county chairmanship.

In others the test may come on resolutions aimed at throwing out the state executive commitee, named when Shivers was the state party's top man.

In the May precinct conventions an Associated Press survey showed that less than 50 counties went for Shivers. Some of these switched to Johnson in the county meets.

The hot governor's race, plus equally spirited congressional campaigns and local contests in some area, shifted voters' attention, at least temporarily, from the battle for control of the state party. Saturday may see a statewide revival of the political feuding.

"All we're going to try to do is control the conventions," a spokesman for Shivers said.

Among the liberal faction there apparently was a move under way to force retirement of the state committee before its tenure regularly ends at the September state convention.

In Harris County the only scheduled conflict was a liberal-conservative fight for selection of delegates to the county convention and a battle for the county chairmanship.

Dallas County, a conservative stronghold, featured a hot battle for the county chairmanship between Ed Drake of the conservative faction and Bill Cooper of the Liberals.

Fort Worth conservatives said there would be no controversy unless the liberals started something. Their aim merely was to get enough delegates to control the Aug. 4 county convention.

In Austin, unsigned resolutions have been circulated to ask for a new state Democratic executive committee which will pledge support to the party's nominee.

Civil Rights Battle Set

ATLANTA (AP)—Democratic leaders of 10 Southern states will meet Wednesday in Atlanta to design a plan for Southern solidarity on civil rights prior to the Democratic national convention.

Texas was not invited. The state was asked to attend an earlier Atlanta meeting but did not send a representative. The state has at least one Negro delegate and one alternate in its Democratic convention delegation. Sen. Lyndon Johnson, who won control of the Texas delegation in a battle with Gov. Shivers, said he did not know why the state was not sent an invitation.

The caucus was proposed at a meeting of seven Southern state party chairmen in Atlanta two weeks ago.

Juvenile Is Charged With Burglaries Here

A 12-year-old youth was arrested yesterday afternoon and charged with a series of burglaries which occured at the home of C. A. Detrich, 3766 Sunset Ave., according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Love.

The burglaries occurred over a three - day period, Love said. All the stolen goods have been recovered and returned to the owner.

Taken from the home were $13 in silver dollars and bills, a cigarette lighter and a billfold. Entry into the home was apparently made through an unlocked door.

The youth has been reported to the probation court.

Egypt To Take Over Suez To Finance Answan Dam Project

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt has served notice she is taking over full control of the Suez Canal and will use the revenue from the vital waterway to finance her billion-dollar Aswan dam project.

The United States and Britain last week withdrew offers to help build the giant dam.

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam," President Gamal Abdel Nasser declared last night in a speech in Alexandria's Liberal Square. "We'll build the dam ourselves and with our own money."

Minutes after Nasser announced nationalization of the internationally controlled canal, officials seized offices of the Suez Canal Co. In Cairo, Ismailia, Port Said and Suez.

Nasser accused the United States and Britain of trying to use the Aswan project as a lever to gain domination over Egypt.

He said the two Western nations — prior to withdrawal — had offered 70 million dollars toward construction of the project to harness the Nile River at Aswan.

This, he declared, was an attempt at "economic domination as a prelude to political domination."

He predicted that by taking over the great Suez waterway linking the Mediterranean to the Red Sea, Egypt could derive 100 million dollars in annual revenue.

"This money is ours," he declared. "The Suez Canal belongs to us. The Suez Canal was built by Egyptians and 120,000 Egyptians died building it. Thus we shall build the high dam our own way. We shall rely on our own strength, our own muscle, our own funds."

It has been estimated that the dam would cost $1,130,000,000.

Nasser announced the canal seizure after disclosing that Egypt's arms-for-cotton deal last fall had been concluded with Russia, not Czechoslovakia. This linked the Russians for the first time with the deal which rocked the Middle East.

Touching on Egypt's relations with the Kremlin, Nasser disclosed that Daniel Solod, former Soviet ambassador to Egypt, told him last December that Russia was ready to finance the Aswan dam. He said he replied that Egypt was still discussing the World Bank.

ELECTION RETURNS TO BE TABULATED

Counting and tabulating votes in a primary election usually is an arduous process; but Scurry County residents will be able to keep up with the returns Saturday night as rapidly as they are compiled.

The Snyder Jaycees plan to operate an election return board on the south side of the courthouse Saturday night. Jaycettes will be on hand to serve coffee. At the same time, returns will be distributed rapidly by radio and TV.

The Daily News, of course, will be compiling returns on all local and state races on Saturday night and the latest figures available will appear in Sunday's issue. The Daily News staff will be on duty until final unofficial returns are available on all county and precinct races, and throughout the night will receive tabulations on state races from the Texas Election Bureau, of which the newspaper is a member. Nobody will have later figures on the races than these which will appear in the Sunday issue of The Daily News.

Investigation Of Sea Tragedy Set

NEW YORK (AP)—Four investigations were mapped today in quest of the answer to this question — what caused the disastrous collision which sank the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria and severely damaged the Swedish liner Stockholm?

That question echoed around the world as the last 533 survivors from the sunken vessel arrived in New York aboard the Stockholm. Her bow was shredded by the crash.

Planning probes were the Swedish and Italian consulates of New York. In addition, the House Merchant Marine Committee announced it would ask the Coast Guard to make its own study.

Perhaps the foremost point in the mystery was:

How could two such ships — each equipped with the finest navigational equipment, including radar—fail to detect each other's presence in time?

But there were other puzzles, too:

Was the Andrea Doria or the Stockholm, off course?

Responsible officers of the two ships and their companies shed no immediate light on any of these matters.

The Andrea Doria's skipper, Capt. Piero Calamai, who arrived last night with many other survivors, remained silent on all of the questions.

Haggard and worn, he read a brief statement largely confined to a commendation of the sweeping rescue efforts by other ships.

The only other comment from the ship's crewmen was a statement by one that he saw the vessel's radar screen in operation after the collision.

Earlier, 1,137 of the Andrea Doria's passengers had been brought into New York by other ships. Of these, 49 were in hospitals. Thirty-one others had left after treatment.

The death toll remained at six.

The Coast Guard said it had determined that the exact number of passengers and crewmen aboard the Andrea Doria was 1,706 —1,134 passengers and 572 crew members. Earlier figures were slightly higher.

The Coast Guard said approximately 26 of those aboard still were unaccounted for. It added, however, that there always was the possibility of errors in the confusion surrounding the mishap and the figure did not necessarily mean that many were actually missing.

Salvage experts voiced great doubt that a vessel of the 30,000-ton Andrea Doria's size could be raised. It sank in water 222 feet deep.

Confidence Vote Asked

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet asked the National Assembly today for a vote of confidence on a plan to help pay for France's campaign against rebels in Algeria by floating a loan and boosting taxes.

Dividend Declared By Texas Company

NEW YORK (AP)—The Texas Co. declared today a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on common, payable Sept. 10 to holders of record Aug. 10.

This is equivalent to $1 on the basis of shares held prior to the 2-for-1 stock split in May. The previous regular dividend was 90 cents.

The big oil company estimated its first-half net income at $138,088,709 equal to $2.25 a share compared to $124,834,043 or $2.28 a share for the first six months of 1955.

Net earnings for the first half included dividends received from domestic and foreign non-subsidiary companies totaling $49,625,133. Comparable dividends for the year ago period amounted to $41,433,309.

Texas Project Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Texas watershed protection and flood prevention project was among such projects authorized yesterday by the Department of Agriculture. It is the Turkey Creek watershed, covering 18,80 acres in Fort Bend county. The project cost is $453,360, with local sponsors paying $386,112.

Housing Measure Holds Key To Adjournment Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wrangle over omnibus housing legislation was called the key to adjournment as the Senate and House began today what most legislators said would be the final day of the Congress session.

"We should be able to quit today, possibly earlier than many believe," Senate Republican leader Knowland of California told newsmen.

Sen. Clements (Ky), assistant Senate Democratic leader, said he hoped for the end "today or tonight."

A possible factor for delay was a plan by Senate advocates of civil rights legislation to make a final effort to call this measure up for passage.

A Senate-House committee met to try to compromise differences over the housing bill, but the session broke up when House members were called to the House chamber.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said Senate conferees were opposing a House-passed provision "that would bail out Wherry housing, perhaps at a cost of several hundred million dollars and is a complete steal."

Under the Wherry housing program, he said, some 700 million dollars worth of housing was constructed near military installations by private investors and contractors under a government insurance program. The program was named for the late Sen. Wherry (R-Neb).

In the closing days of a session the House speeds up actions by calling up bills and passing them by unanimous consent. Cole promptly objected to consideration of a Senate bill setting up a special administrator to handle the highway program.

The two bills in which he is interested would provide a half billion dollar government insurance program for private industry entering the atomic power field and exempt private industry from some provisions of the utilities laws.

Also in controversy between the Senate and House is the final big money bill of the session.

Marine Hero Asked To Appear At Trial

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—A crusty, old-time Marine Hero, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. "Chesty" Puller, was asked today to appear as a witness in the trial of S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

From his home at Saluda, Va., Puller said: "I know nothing about it. If I go down there, the Marine Corps will order me there."

Puller, now retired, is the only Marine ever to hold five Navy Crosses and a Distinguished Service Cross.

Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York City asked the Marines to order Puller to active duty and bring him here as a defense witness.

"I think he is an authority on training methods," Berman said.

How Marines are trained has become an issue in the McKeon trial, especially whether night disciplinary marches are a common practice.

McKeon is facing a seven-man court-martial on charges growing out of a march he led into tide-swept Ribbon Creek last April 8 on which six recruits drowned.

As a result, McKeon is charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty.

Puller is a veteran of Korea, four campaigns in World War II, China, Nicaragua and Haiti. He holds 14 personal decorations for combat.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Completion Try Slated In Fisher

Completion attempt will be made in Cisco section in Miami Operating Co., Inc., No. 1 Goolsby, Central Fisher County project.

The indicated gas-distillate discovery is bottomed at 3,887 feet in Cisco sand, topped at 3,865 feet.

Drillstem test from 3,864 to 3,871 feet, open four hours, surfaced gas in 1½ minutes at estimated rate 2,300,000 cubic feet daily, with a fine spray of distillate coming out with the gas. Recovery was five feet of distillate.

One-hour test from 3,869 to 3,874 feet surfaced gas in one minute, estimated 4,700,000 cubic feet daily, and recovered two feet of distillate.

Two-hour test at 3,871-3,874 feet recovered two feet of distillate, while a test of the same length at 3,874-3,878 feet surfaced gas in two minutes, estimated at 4,450,000 cubic feet a day, and recovered 1½ feet of oil and 1½ feet of salt water.

Four-hour test at 3,878-3,882 feet surfaced gas in three minutes, a spray of mud in 2½ hours and oil in three hours. Recovery was 135 feet of oil and 15 feet of salt water. Test of the same length from 3,880 to 3,887 feet surfaced gas in four minutes and recovered 1,040 feet of oil, 25 feet of oil-cut mud and 455 feet of salt water.

Location is ¾ mile southeast of the Roby (Canyon sand) field, 330 feet from south and east lines of lot No. 15, Bastrop County School Land survey No. 314, one mile north of Roby.

Dave P. Harris No. 1 Urey May Ussery is a 7,000-foot dry Cambrain wildcat two and one-half miles northwest of Nolan in East Nolan County.

Location was 660 feet from north and 1,900 feet from east lines of section [illegible] X, T&P survey, and six miles southwest of the abandoned Urey (Palo Pinto) field.

Eds Drilling Co. of Idessa No. 2 Otis Chalk is a 2,300-foot cable tool wildcat in Southwest Mitchell County, two and one-quarter miles southwest of the Albaugh (Fuselman) field.

Drillsite is one location west of the same operator's No. 1 Chalk, 330 feet from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 91, block 29, W&HW survey and nine miles northeast of Otis Chalk.

Ard Drilling Co. and Ray Oil Co. both of Abilene No. 1 Cora McKee is to be a 6,400-foot test in East Nolan County, one mile south of Nolan.

It is five-eighths of a mile northwest of Canyon reef production in the EA pool and 660 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 3, block Z, T&P survey.

Miami Operating Co., Inc., of Abilene will drill its recently staked wildcat in East Mitchell County as No. 1-A K. D. Adams and not as No. 1-A K. C. McKenna as previously reported.

The 7,500-foot project is 10 miles south of Loraine, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 56, block 12, H&TC survey.

This location supercedes one tentatively staked as No. 1 T. C. Richardson.

A 6,700-foot Cambrian wildcat will be drilled seven miles northwest of Nolan in Northeast Nolan County by Skelly Oil Co.

It is No. 1 D. M. Pace, 2,110 feet from west and 990 feet from south lines of section 3, block X, T&P survey.

The Superior Oil Co. No. 1 Barnes-McBrayer, Southwest Dawson County wildcat failed to log any shows of possible production in a one hour drillstem test in the Levonian at 12,250-290 feet.

Recovery was the 1,500-foot water blanket and 15 feet of drilling mud. The operation is coring deeper.

The section covered by the test logged slight shows of oil and gas in a core. The zone at 12,201-251 feet recovered 60 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud during a one hour test.

It is seven miles northwest of Patricia and 330 feet from south and west lines of labor 24, league 271, Loving County School Land survey.

The Wolfcamp section at 10,250-319 feet recovered 3,200 feet of gas and 530 feet of oil in a one hour drillstem test.

Jones' Money Goes Mostly For Charity

HOUSTON (AP)—Jesse H. Jones, secretary of commerce, left the bulk of his great fortue to charity.

The will of the former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. set aside $300,000 for gifts to the 2,500 employes of his three principal Texas corporations.

Jones, 82, publisher of the Houston Chronicle, died June 1.

Special bequests to relatives and friends approximated $800,000. Another $1,000,000 was given for improvement of the San Jacinto monument and museum.

Jones owned 35 multi-story buildings and built 33 of them. No estimate of the estate was included in today's document. Unofficial estimates have exceeded 250 million dollars.

In 1937, Mr. and Mrs. Jones founded their philanthropic organization, Houston Endowment Inc., with original assets of 10 million dollars. Gifts later increased the endowment's value above 50 million dollars.

Under the will, 5,000 shares of Jones' Commerce Co. go to the endowment corporation.

The rest of the estate was set up in trust for Houston Endowment with Mrs. Jones to receive most of the trust income during her lifetime. Later, the trust will revert to the Houston Endowment.

Sharing the $300,000 gifts will be regular employes of the Commerce Co., the National Bank of Commerce, and Commercial and Industrial Life Insurance Co. Individual gifts will range from $100 to $150.

The Commerce Co. is the parent firm of the Jones interests. It includes the Chronicle, Radio KTRH, several large hotels, office buildings, Bankers Mortgage Co., Jones Lumber Co., Rice Hotel laundry and garage, Houston industries and properties owned in Fort Worth.

Lost 40 Pounds With Barcentrate

Mrs. Dora Amos, 3420 G, Galveston, Texas, wrote us as follows: "After trying several reducing medicines without success, I decided to try Barcentrate. In seven weeks' time I lost 40 pounds."

—and Mrs. Sue Arms, 3233 S. Adams, Fort Worth, Texas, states that she lost 15 pounds taking Barcentrate. Just get four ounces of liquid Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix and take according to directions. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, without starvation diet, return the empty bottle for your money back.

A TRIBUTE

TO OUR INSURANCE MEN!

The man who "writes you up" for insurance is one of the most human of all salesmen. He deals in human nature. He must keep a myriad of facts and figures at his finger tips. He must be persistent, persuasive and personable. The sincere Insurance Man offers you something you owe to yourself and your family. He insures your life, with ample protection for your loved ones. He insures your home, your car, your personal possessions. He sells accident insurance and, ofttimes, special kinds of protection covering other personal or business assets. You're doing yourself a favor when you buy well planned insurance. Consider him one of your most needed friends!

Here's How To Get A New Ceiling

By VIVIAN BROWN

IF THERE WERE a Society to Prevent Cruelty to Husbands it probably would bar any working man from menial labor on his vacation. But no organization exists because the men wouldn't tolerate it. Not for a minute.

Dad has been looking at cracked walls and damaged ceiling for months now, and he's itching to get into the handyman act. The roof didn't have a good winter either, and he might even give that a look-see. What better time than vacation to take it easy and do some necessary chores at the same time.

One easy way to do over a ceiling is with the same plastic coated fabric that is used on walls.

This material hides unsightly cracks and defects as well as spots and discolorations. This type of ceiling decoration is particularly popular in small homes where expansion attics with sloping ceilings are being transformed into rooms to accommodate growing families.

HERE'S HOW to make the job proceed with professional smoothness...

The entire ceiling should be sized with discolorations and spots sanded down and given extra sizing. The required number of strips for the ceiling should be measured and cut. Strips handle easily if rolled over a cardboard mailing tube or shade roller.

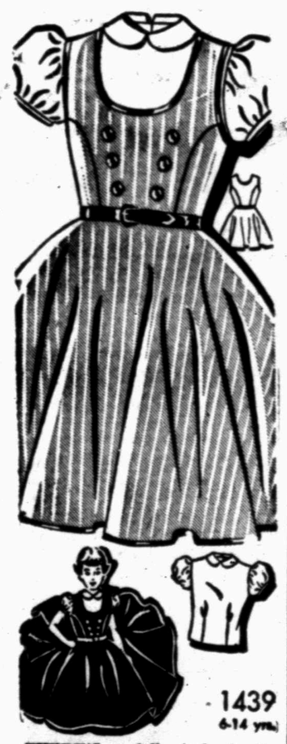

Each strip should be numbered. This is important, especially with solid colors as every other strip should be reversed to insure color uniformity.

Before hanging, snap a chalked string to make a line 24 inches out from the wall to provide a starting point for hanging the material which comes pre-trimmed 24 inches wide. Then apply the paste directly to the ceiling. This is the secret of successful ceiling decoration, experts say.

Then take the rolled strip, unroll it against the ceiling while you smooth behind it with a still brush.

Any pattern should be matched on the ceiling and the seams butted. Material should be trimmed with a razor blade at the edge of the ceiling. Roll the seams to make them fit tight. Wash down each strip with a damp cloth to work out air bubbles and remove excess paste.

Reunion Of Ira Senior Class Held

The Ira Senior Class of 1931 met for a class reunion in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Brooks, Ira, recently.

Entertainment consisted of reviewing old class memories and bringing each other up-to-date on mutual acquaintances. Letter were read from the members of the class that were unable to attend and pictures, old and new, were admired.

Refreshments of chicken sandwiches, angel food cake and punch were served.

Members of the class that attended were Mrs. Henry Flournoy, Fluvanna; Mrs. L. D. Franks, Snyder; Loyd Webb, Snyder; Crockett Brown, Lamesa; Mrs. A. P. Brooks, Ira; School Superintendent of 1931, Elmer L. Taylor, Snyder and Class sponsor, Mrs. M. W. Pilcher.

Visitors were Henry Flournoy and Silas Ray, Fluvanna; L. D. Franks, Snyder Mrs. Loyd Webb and Jerry, Snyder; Mrs. Crockett Brown, Lamesa; A. P. Brooks, Arlen, Billy, and Johnny, Ira, Mr. and Mrs. Jacky James, Knapp; and Mayme Giddens, Ira, a graduate of the 1929 class.

How About Lunar Trip?

DETROIT (AP) — A trip to the moon? That might do it — and then again it might not.

That is the perplexing problem facing Milton C. Wagner, managing director of 20 acres of ingenious man - made amusement park gimmicks.

A trip to the moon, if it was hovering over his park, might bring in the crowds. As Wagner says, "A moon might do it. The only trouble is that by the time we could get it, that sort of thing might be old hat."

What do teen-agers want? Wagner isn't sure, but he believes TV and automobiles are competing strongly for the average teenager's time. Prosperity has given them much more spending money, and they seek different and more expensive thrills.

"The youngsters are livelier today," said Wagner. "Holding hands on a moonlight ride on the ferris wheel appeals to a few. But too many others get a greater thrill holding hands at a jam session."

Storing leftover food in a small bowl in the refrigerator? Place the bowl in the center of a good-sized piece of waxed paper. Bring up edges of paper so they meet; make a drugstore fold. Fold remaining ends of waxed paper under the bowl. Neat package!

Bathroom Is Most Expensive To Build

The most expensive room to build is the bathroom, says the Review of the Society of Residental Appraisers. To build a bathroom measuring 7 by 8 feet including foundations, walls, roof tiling and fixtures, the cost runs to $2,000, or about $35 per square foot.

A kitchen is second in costliness. A 9 by 10 - foot, fully equipped kitchen costs about $1,750, bringing the total cost of those two rooms to $3,750, or $25 per square foot.

The Rev. Lennol Hester, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will leave the opening devotional. The business meeting will follow with discussion on the vacation church school for colored children to be held in August.

THE HOLY SPIRIT LEADS

A DISTINCTION SHOULD BE MADE between the miraculous and the ordinary leading of the Holy Spirit. In some miraculous way the Holy Spirit led Jesus (Matt.4;1: Luke 4:1). Paul was led by the Holy Spirit (Acts 16:6,7); Peter was led by the Holy Spirit to the house of Cornelis (Acts 10)—these were miraculous leadings. The miraculous leading of the Holy Spirit ceased when the New Testament was completed (2Tim.3:16,17; 1Cor. 13:8-13).

IN AN ORDINARY WAY, GOD LED NOAH to build the ark; God led Noah by speaking to him the language he understood and Noah did it (Heb.11:7; Gen.6:13-15; 7:5). Similarly, God led Abraham (Heb.11:8,9; Rom.10:17; Gen.12:1-4). Too, Jesus led people in an ordinary way; He spoke their language; He taught them; those who learned and loved Him obeyed (John 1:43; 6:44,45).

THE HOLY SPIRIT LEADS PEOPLE BY SPEAKING TO THEM (Rom.8:14). He no longer speaks in a miraculous way but He speaks through the words of the New Testament (1Tim.4:1,2). He leads people to become Christians (Matt.28:18-20; Ats 2:36-42,47). What the Holy Spirit says to one, He says to everyone in that condition. He leads everyone the same way.

AFTER PEOPLE HAVE BECOME CHRISTIANS THE HOLY SPIRIT LEADS THEM the same way (Matt.28:18-20). They are led to wear the same name, to worship the same way, and to develop into the likeness of Christ. All who believe and obey the teaching of the New Testament are led by the Holy Spirit (Rom.8:4). There is nothing miraculous in this leadership but it is powerful to the saving of the soul!

"THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU." (Rom. 16:16). Nineteen hundred years ago the church you read about in the New Testament was established. Today, she is referred to by the same terms revealed in the New Testament, has the same worship, organization, doctrine, and life!

PRICE DANIEL

OF LIBERTY COUNTY

for Governor

Judge the future by his record of the past . . .

★ For honesty and integrity in government. Author of the only announced plan to clean up misconduct in the State Government without partisanship or politics . . . Proposed a Citizens' Law Enforcement Commission created from county grand juries, to search out the truth and punish the guilty.

★ As Attorney General fought organized crime and gambling syndicates, ran the slot machines out of Texas and closed the horserace gambling wires. Author of the strongest narcotic control law ever written in the U.S. to fight the dope racketeers . . . Will sponsor Texas laws to whip the dope traffic.

★ Has fought for Texas and the rights of the States as opposed to Federal encroachment . . . Has consistently battled for local self-government.

★ Fought without compromise for six years to prevent Federal seizure of the Tidelands . . . Co-author of the bill restoring State ownership, a move that has already netted $60 million for the Texas school fund.

★ A dedicated public servant for 16 years, respected in Texas and across the Nation for his honesty, fairness and personal integrity.

★ A clean campaigner who has refrained from name-calling and mud-slinging . . . Has advocated a program of progress for all Texans.

The PRICE DANIEL record

Confusing Place Names

Our biennial Democratic primaries serve to acquaint Texans with Texas geography and place names in a way and to an extent that no other occasion or method ever could. State candidates are numerous and ubiquitous. They go into every nook and cranny of the state and the newspapers follow them wherever they go. As a result, the names of cities, towns, villages and counties pop up constantly in the news for weeks on end every two years, and in that way Texans are made acquainted with places they never heard of or could not recall offhand.

There are 13 "forts" in Texas, starting with Fort Bliss at El Paso and ending with Fort Worth, the seat of Tarrant County, but only one county bearing that prefix—Fort Bend.

Many of the counties and their seats bear the same name, but in numerous cases the seat of a county will bear the name of some other county. An outstanding example of this confusion of names is that Rusk is the county seat of Cherokee County, Henderson is the seat of Rusk County, and Athens is the seat of Henderson County.

If you looked for the capital of Pecos County, you'd be looking for Fort Stockton, not Pecos, for Pecos is the seat of Reeves. Houston is the county seat of Harris County, but the seat of Houston County is Crockett. And if you'd like to visit the county named for old Davey Crockett himself, you find the seat to be Ozona.

There is a Dimmit County and its capital is Carrizo Springs; but the town of Dimmitt is the capital of Castro County.

Texas has two Smith counties—just plain Smith, of which Tyler is the seat of government, and Deaf Smith, whose capital is Hereford. There is a Tyler County, whose capital, Woodville, is Allan Shivers' home town but the City of Tyler is the capital of Smith County. There is a Taylor County of which Abilene is the hub but the town of Taylor is in Williamson County. The names of four Texas counties sound pretty much alike—Kinney, Kenedy, Kendall and Kimble.

And there really is a community called Bug Tussle—in Fannin County.

Senate Stands Pat

To all intents and purposes the administration's civil rights legislation is dead for this session in the Senate, although it passed the House Monday after a week of debate by a top-heavy majority.

What may well have been the last serious effort of its Senate proponents to bring the issue to the floor met over-whelming defeat Tuesday with the Senate majority and minority leaders teaming up to make the kill.

Senate rules proved the advocates' Waterloo. If the Senate merely recesses instead of adjourns at the close of each day's business, the rule is that no new matter may be brought before it for consideration at a subsequent session without unanimous consent. The Senate had agreed previously that at the close of business Tuesday it would recess until 10:30 a.m. Wdnesday.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), strong supporter of the civil rights bill, proposed near the end of Tuesday's session that the Senate adjourn for five minutes to permit him to propose a resolution which would pry the bill out of the Judiciary Committee.

If successful, as Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson pointed out, the Douglas maneuver would result in throwing the Senate into a snarl which would block any hope of passing vital measures still pending before the July 31 adjournment date.

After the Douglas group had tried every legislative maneuver to crack the roadblock, Johnson demanded that the Douglas resolution be put to a vote. He said he would like to see if the Senate would like Douglas to take ever the Senate leedership. In this he was backed by Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif), who insisted that either the Senate must have "orderly procedure" or "jeopardize the entire legislative program."

On the showdown vote the Johnson-Knowland coalition got 76 votes to only six in support of the Douglas maneuver.

Stassen Acts Vague In Reference To His Cohorts In 'Stop Nixon' Campaign

By JAMES MAROW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Harold E. Stassen gambled his own political future by opposing renomination of Vice President Nixon, he linked other Republicans with him.

Stassen, special assistant on disarmament to President Eisenhower, denied he was acting as "front man" for anyone in trying to keep Nixon off the ticket.

But he said in an interview at his home last night a group of "Republican leaders" — whom he wouldn't identify — had collaborated with him in using professional pollsters to test public sentiment on the vice presidency.

Stassen said he was not speaking for these "leaders" and that they would speak out and identify themselves in due time. But he said he had consulted with them before making his statement.

Now the question becomes, Who are they? And how influential are they?

The polls, Stassen said, had been made repeatedly over the past month. Among whom? Republicans, laborites and others. What questions were asked? A number about possible running mates for Eisenhower.

He said the polls showed the re-election chances of Eisenhower would be 6 per cent better with Gov. Christian A. Herter as his vice presidential running mate than with Nixon on the ticket.

There can be no doubt the statement did the Republican party no good if its convention in August picks Nixon again. Stassen, in calling for Nixon to step aside, angered many professional Republican politicians.

It may cost Stassen his job. If that happens, his political future looks dark indeed—although he said at his home he didn't think he'd be fired or pressured out. He said he has no intention of resigning.

What he did, Stassen said, was to "fulfill my duty and responsibility as I see it to the President and to our country and to our Republican party." He told Eisenhower Friday what he was going to do yesterday.

Although Stassen last night called Nixon a "burden" on the Republican ticket, he would not say precisely why he was so opposed to Nixon. He referred to his statement earlier in the day but that was full of generalities.

It is possible Stassen still retains some presidential ambitions —if he manages to survive this turmoil he caused among Republican politicians.

In a July 9 broadcast—while Eisenhower was still recovering from his operation and before it was announced he would run again—Stassen said that if Eisenhower didn't run he thought the Republicans could win with their Chief Justice Earl Warren or himself as head of the ticket.

Asked last night if he still felt that way — if anything now happened which caused Eisenhower to withdraw — Stassen said he would not discuss this possibility since the party was operating now on the assumption Eisenhower would run.

He was asked flatly if he would say he would not run. But he did not give a direct answer.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE MARBLE ORCHARD. By Margaret Boylem. Random House.

The orchard of this novel's title is the graveyard where, bless the Lord, they at last lay away Granny, the old goof, and where, also bless the Lord, Robber Jim is to be found.

These are the opinions of lovely Claypoole, whose arresting and pungent opinions fill this book and constitute its primary, and very considerable, virtue. Lovey is the daughter of a sort of fancy-minded mother and a sort of shiftless father reduced to fiddling for a living. But every now and then, thanks to a hankering to invent, he breaks out in some experiment and one of his inventions itself breaks out and blows up right in Lovey's face and blinds her.

But like other things he does, this invention isn't very good, isn't good enough, thst is, to blind her permanently, and Lovey keeps the recovery of her eyesight a secret while she wonders about a lot of questions. A teenager, she wonders in particular about Robber Jim and how he's made and what identifies him as a young man and her as a girl — it is then she thinks of her blindness as nothing but "the abscence of something really worth seeing." Floods sweep in on the Iowa town where Lovey, always longing for the farm, has been living, and climax her adventure.

This is the bristling record of a girl's deadly sparring with age, authority and discretion all wrapped up in a tight thorny bundle called Granny. Once in a while you think this may be accused of straining, but on the whole Miss Boylen has the exuberance of Wolfe and some of his vocabulary, and some of his attitudes — and that is high praise.

Marriage To A Millionaire No Cure For All Problems

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Many young girls have the Cinderella dream of marrying a milionaire, but they rarely think much about what would happen if their dream came true.

They have a rather vague idea that this would solve all their problems—that they'd simply float happily on through life aboard golden cloud No. 9.

But Marjorie Steele, a girl who did meet and marry a milionaire, says the world isn't that simple.

"Money doesn't change your life so much," she said. "You do not possess anything really unless you earn it yourself."

From childhood, Marjorie had wanted to become an actress. She was studying acting in Hollywood and working as a cigarette girl in a night club when she first met her husband, Huntington Hartford, the grocery store heir.

Before that she had held a lot of other odd jobs. She had delivered dog biscuits, sold shoes, filed bills for the telephone company, worked as a movie usherette and a waitress.

In Hollywood, a tall skinny kid of 17 "with knobby knees," she was down to her last $5 when the night club gave her employment.

Marriage and motherhood—she and Hartford have two children—interrupted her career, but didn't halt it. The idea of a life of idle wealth appalled her.

"To me the only real comfort in life lies in the feeling of accomplishment," she remarked. "Too many people with money get bored young. They become afraid for fear of being hurt.

"But how can you get any real joy out of living unless you do something to earn your own way in the world?"

Two years ago Marjorie began to make her mark in the theater in a starring role in the London production of "Sabrina Fair."

But her biggest girlhood dream came true only recently when her name went up in lights on Broadway. She succeeded Barbara Bel Geddes in the hit play, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

To her it has meant a greater sense of security than can be found in money.

"One reason I wanted to be an actress is that as a kid I had a feeling of insecurity and inferiority," she said. "I think that's why many people turn to the theater for a career. To do a good job in it helps you forget that feeing. It's a live and exciting world, full of exciting people.

"But I have been lucky, because my husband likes the idea of my acting. He has encouraged me."

There's A Lull In Demilitarized Zone Of Korea, But Evidence Of War Lingers

By JIM CARY

DEMILITARIZED ZONE, Korea (AP)—Across the fertile green waist of Korea a strange and deadly twilight zone of suspended war stretches from coast to coast.

Beneath its tangled stands of rice, growing wild on abandoned farms, the rusted debris of war lies scattered. The undergrowth hides jagged foundations of villages and a vicious maze of uncharted mine fields, booby traps and unexploded shells.

Three years ago today, this 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone was created by the Korean armistice as a buffer against friction between Communist and United Nations armies.

Superficially it is a peaceful, never-never land that crackles with undertones of tension. In theory, it belongs to no one, but in a sense it is the property of both the Communist and Western nations who fought in the Korean War because it is under their jurisdiction.

Troops of both sides still eye each other suspiciously across the buffer zone and move their patrols along its 200-mile length. And from its high points, every foot of ground is under continuous surveillance.

"It's always been a ticklish situation," admits Capt. Jack A. Youngblood of Unadilla, Ga., "but it is particularly so now that truce inspection teams have been pulled out of both the North and South."

The commander of the 24th Police Company says the Communists never miss a chance to remind his more than 100 volunteer troopers that they are near.

"This is North Korea calling," says a strange voice, breaking into the 24th's communications net.

"We're going to play a record for you. It's called, 'GI, Why Don't You Go Home?' "

A propaganda leaflet for unwary characters is found pinned to a bush. Translated it reads, "Go home, Yankee. You're the reason we're in Korea."

And sometimes Communist and United Nations patrols make contact, particularly at one point where they use different sides of the same road.

The Commies yell and try to attract attention if they are quite a distance away. If close, their usual line is, "Come on over to our side," or, "Let me see that map you have." Frequently they read a GI's name off his blouse nameplate and speak to him by name.

The Americans are under strict orders never to answer.

Sometimes the days drop off into a dull routine, but the luff season lasts.

Last February fire broke out in the nearby Samichon River Valley. Winds of a rising blizzard whipped the flames into the demilitarized zone. Mines began to explode. The ground shook with repeated, thunderous explosions. Small arms ammunition scattered through the brush crackled like firecrackers. Tracer bullets arched across the sky in weird trails of fire. Old dud mortar shells erupted and the sharp crack of discarded hand grenades and booby traps added to the din.

Soon it sounded like a full-fledged battle was under way as geysers of flame spewed upward. Soldiers of both sides watched in amazement as the fire swept 10 miles up the neutral zone.

"It didn't look like we were ever going to get it stopped," Youngblood said. "But finally heavy snow began to fall and put it out."

More recently a strange nighttime mystery has arisen to occupy the soldiers' attention. A series of flashing lights have been seen on several occasions near the center demarcation line. When a patrol comes racing to the scene, they are always gone.

Are the Communists up to something? No one knows. The most acceptable theory is the lights are pure Communist harassment.

During the more uneventful periods you can follow a patrol leisurely up the slopes of Outpost Ohio and look across the broad flat valley to the towering wall of mountains where the Communists are watching from their intricate array of dug-in gun positions and observation points.

The constant flow of patrols in and out of the neutral zone leaves the men little time to worry about their own problems.

Almost all are lean, hard field soldiers who catch two four-hour patrols daily. It is a company truism that "only the mese sergeant is allowed to be overweight."

In their spare time the GIs of these special police units train for the more specialized jobs of warfare, pause to see a movie at their outdoor "CinemaScope" theater or try their hand at a game of softball or volleyball.

A Little Learning Can Be Dangerous Thing, Indeed

By INEZ ROBB

Just in the nick of time, a book is about to hit the market on how-not-to-do-it yourself.

This follows on the heels of a sinister announcement of a do-it-yourself Voodoo Kit, enabling the public to put the evil eye or double whammy on any individual who falls from grace and favor.

In this kit, sticking pins in a wax image of an enemy or old meany to cause this untimely demise was just kid's or beginner's stuff. So an antidote was certainly indicated, in view of the fact that the Voodoo Kit was to have been followed by a do-it-yourself witch doctor outfit priced at $59.98.

(The high price of the proposed witch doctor outfit was traceable to the inflated cost of dried dragons blood since the retreat of China behind the Iron Curtain.)

As I survey the landscape, it is at once obvious that I am one of the few Americans who has escaped unscathed from the do-it-yourself craze. My thumbs are intact. I show no ill effects from power tools, ladders or tack hammers for the simple reason that I never touch the stuff.

In fact, in Chez Robb there is a fixed policy to pay me both time and a half and overtime for not doing anything that requires tools or mechanical skills. There exists between myself and inanimate objects a deep ingrained suspicion and hostility.

The treachery and spite inherent in all such objects culminated many years ago in an unprovoked attack upon me by a vicious electric sewing maching. It was the true killer type, and but for the timely action of a companin who have been maimed for life, if not murdered.

A few years later, when a new typewriter ribbon made a dastardely attempt to strangle me, it became a fixed policy in this household that I was to keep out of all entangling alliances with inanimate objects, or treachery incarnate.

Some persons find it difficult to leave the stuff alone, which accounts for Inanimate Objects Anonymous. But because of conditioning in extreme youth, I have found it easy to take the pledge and leave the struggle to others.

A good many pearls of wisdom flowed my way during my youth, but no pearl of greater price than Mama's sage observation that "if you never learn to milk a cow, you never have to milk a cow." I observed that Mama was er Papa or Dan, the hired man, or constantly proved right when eithboth were unavailable to milk the Jersey.

Mama was also unavailable, and a fourth party had to be brought in to do the chore. It was at Mama's knee that I ascertained that a little learning is, indeed, a dangerous thing and can lead to a lot of hard work. This do-it-yourself bubble was bound to blow up as soon as the first sucker rediscovered how much oliss there is in ignorance.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Cupid Mixes Up Plans Of Exchange Student

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Siti Hadijah hopes she will soon be able to put into practice, in a home of her own, the theories she's been preching in her home economics classes at school in Jogjakarta, Java.

Pretty doll-like Siti came to this country a year ago under the sponsorship of the International Cooperation Administration and like all foreign exchange students is expected to acknowledge this privilege by returning to work at least three years in her homeland.

But Cupid has mixed up Siti's plans. She had been here only a few months when she met young Raden Isa at the Indonesian consulate in New York and they were married.

Siti and Raden are trying to get a posponement of her return in the hope that Raden can be transferred to Java and they can return together.

"I didn't know I was going to fall in love," Siti said plaintively on a visit to Washington.

Since last August she has traveled about this country studying American methods of cosmetology.

Indonesian women, especially the younger ones, want to know all the new tricks in modern make-up.

They would like to be able to buy lipstick, make-up for the eyes, nail polishes facial creams preparations for the hair — shampoos, dyes, permanent wave aids — such as are available in this country.

The imported items are beyond the means of the average Indonesian. The other primitive home-made make-up aids passed on from generation to generation are no longer practical.

"You can't take this stuff to the office," Siti says. "We have the makings for many fine cosmetics at home, but we haven't learned how to put them together and package them for convenience and efficiency.

"Take the lip coloring still used by many of the older women. It's a complicated concoction made with sirih leaf, chalk mixed with water and another substance called gambi. The women chew this mainly to conserve their teeth, but it also makes their lips a pretty red.

Eyebrows and grey hairs are touched up with burnt cloves. Face powders are made from ground rice tinted with roots used in making curry. Crushed fresh cucumbers, or lemons, are used to freshen facial tissues. A red dye extracted from the patjar leaf and other ingredients made into a paste are used for finger nails. It stays on till the gails grow out. Siti says it takes two hours to prepare this.

Census Could Be Finished In A Day

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Nose-counting in the 1960 U.S. census might be completed in one day, says a Census Bureau official, if all his workers had to do was count noses.

Conrad Taeuber, assistant director of the census, said the bureau is considering a short form questionnaire that would drastically cut the time required to count the nation's population.

He said much of the information now sought on a universal basis could be acquired in subsequent sampling.

Machine Age Too Much For Woman

HOUSTON (AP)—The machine age was too much for one woman, obviously the good-housewife type. She put her coin in a drink dispensing machine and punched the button for coffee. Out came the cup, then the liquid. But the machine wouldn't stop. It popped out another cup and started pouring.

She couldn't bear the thought of all that liquid on a clean floor, and before someone pulled out the electric plug, she had 15 cups lined up on the floor.

The woman, whose name no one obtained, then decided to have her drink.

It wans't coffee. It was chocolate.

Late Early Mail

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP)—On a sunny day last May, Postmaster Frank Sweeney, an advocate of early posting of Christmas mail, found in his filing cabinet 84 cards his wife had given him to mail last Christmas. The shamefaced postmaster "promptly" mailed them.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you ever noticed how well cast television dramas are? Brothers so often seem to bear resemblances. Aristocratic old dames seem to have come straight to the studio from Park Avenue. Drunks surely came up from the Bowery.

Quite apart from the great acting talent involved, there is a lesser known but most important talent in the business of casting. The major dramatic shows and directors, gentlemen who combine phenomenal memory and prodigious patience wtih a flair for negotiating.

Take Martin Begley, casting director for NBC, a veteran of 33 years in show business. Here's a pleasant fellow who has spent so many hours munching peanuts while watching all the TV dramas on the air that he's had to go on a diet. He also attends all Broadway shows.

When a show's script is set there's a huddle of producer, director and casting director. Each may have different ideas on who should be cast. They iron out their differences, then the casting director obtains the actors and actresses. While Begley's memory for names and talent is enormous, he reinforces it with a careful index filing system.

Among other memory aids Begley possesses a big looseleaf book containing the names of and important statistics concerning 10,000 actors and actresses. They are indexed under fascinating categories. Here are only a few: tall men, tall women, artist-poet types, old blowsers, aristocratic old dames, animal imitators, gossipy women, fast talgers, drunks, girls for color programs, dizzy dames, butlers, baby criers . . . On and on.

Begley recalls being stuck for talent only once — though only briefly. Martha Raye wanted a man at least seven feet tall for one of her programs. The only seven-foot actor in Begley's book was employed elsewhere. So Begley got an amateur — a seven-foot college basketball player.

Every year thousands of hopeful youngsters from all sections of the country come to New York and knock on NBC's door for acting jobs. The most talented are given auditions. And the most talented in auditions are filed for possible future roles. But these hopeful youngsters worry Begley.

"For every one who succeeds," he says, "thousands are knocking themselves out against a stone wall. Naturally we need and always shal need new talent. But does a good high school baseball player try to sign up with the Yankees? He needs seasoning. So do young would-be actors. My advice would be to get training — in summer stock or anywhere possible. If you have talent it's bound to be recognized eventually."

New Tropic Storm Heads For Mexico

By The Associated Press

A tropical storm that appeared headed for Texas veered into Mexico Thursday, eliminating a promise of much needed moisture and a threat that rain would reduce voting Saturday.

The forecast for election day calls for generally fair weather with only a few isolated thundershowers.

The Gulf storm, named Anna by the Weather Bureau, blew into Tampico at 60 miles an hour and was expected to dissipate in the mountains west of that city.

The storm brought scattered showers along the Texas coast Thursday. A small craft warning continued in force. Tides south of Corpus Christi were to rise two to three feet.

Overnight showers were reported at Cotulla, Junction, Laredo and El Paso.

Early Friday skies were clear in West Texas and partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere. Early morning temperatures ranged from 69 at Lubbock and Dalhart to 81 at Galveston.

Mineral Wells with 103 reported the highest reading Thursday.

It was warm over the major part of the nation today.

Escaping the heat were areas along the Pacific Coast and the northern tier of states.

Showers and thunderstorms were expected for most of the country during the day, with a possibility of temporary relief to the broad heat belt.

The cooler air which moved south and eastward across the upper Mississippi Valley last night brought relief from the hot weather across parts of the northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest, which had temperatures in the 90s and 100s for several days.

But readings hit above 100 in sections of the Midwest yesterday. The hottest weather was through most of the Great Plains from South Dakota to Texas and eastward into the Mississippi Valley. It was 107 at Salina, Kan., and up to 106 in parts of Iowa.

The warming extended over the Great Lakes and through the Ohio Valley and the middle Mississippi Valley. Temperatures also were headed for higher levels in the Mid-Atlantic Coast states, the Central Plains and Northern Plains.

Fewer Civilians Are Government Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government ended the 1956 fiscal year last month with fewer civilian employes than a year earlier. But the federal work force has been growing steadily for the past six months.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va) reported this today as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

Byrd said that at the end of fiscal 1956, on June 30, there were 2,382,276 civilians working for the government. This was 2,012 fewer than the previous year.

Byrd said the June total represented an increase of 14,867 over May and was the sixth monthly rise in a row.

Girl Electrocuted

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (AP) — Thirteen-year-old Andrea Lee King was electrocuted, apparently when an electric fan fell into the tub while she was taking a bath.

Home Folks Cheer For Yarborough

ATHENS (AP)—His home folk shouted their regard for Ralph Yarborough last night as the candidate for governor hit hard at his opponents in his final outdoor rally before the democratic primary.

There was frequent applause and yells of "You tell them Ralph." At one time, near the end of the 30-minute radio portion of his speech, the applause drowned out his words.

Yarborough spoke in front of the courthouse at this black eyed pea capital of East Texas. He was born and reared near Chandler where he reminded the audience that his 91-year-old father still lives. He added: "Nine of us are still living out of a family of 11 children, all born and raised here in Henderson County."

The crowd nearly filled one side of the courthouse square and others were in parked autos who sounded horns at times. Estimates ran as high as 1,000. Caravans came from nearby counties.

Sticks with signs bearing the names of various counties were carried through the crowd by little girls.

Yarborough looked fit and if he was worn out by the tough campaign it didn't show through his heavy tan.

The crowd seemed to love his jibes at his opponents. The oldsters especially perked up when he got onto the subject of old age pensions.

One toothless and white haired man who had brought a folding chair didn't seem to get much out of Yarborough's reference to Walter Reuther of the CIO. But he gleefully slapped his leg and appeared to enjoy thoroughly the old age portion of the speech. Dug down in his pocket for a contribution, too.

Yarborough explained that he'd appreciate anything his friends could give to help pay for his statewide telecast originating at 8 p.m. from Dallas Station KRLD-TV.

The Cass County Coon Hunters —a hillbilly outfit—took up the collection. One volunteer picked up a hatful of folding money as carefully-tucked dollar bills were drawn from snap purses.

Walruses got their name from Norse sailors, who called them "hvalross," whale horse.

TO RETIRE FROM SENATE — Senator Eugene Millikin (R-Colo) is shown in Washington as he announced that ill health prevents him from being a candidate for reelection. His term expires next January. A Senator Since 1941, Millikin, has suffered from arthritis and high blood pressure and has been forced to attend sessions of congress in recent weeks in a wheelchair.

Big Cancer Role Started

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Two years ago Sandra Gayle Kirton starred in a film showing the medical fight against cancer. She's in a real life role now.

In that film produced by the American Cancer Society, Sandra played the role of a cured cancer patient. The object was to show that early examination and detection of cancer could cut down on deaths from cancer.

Sandra, 14, had been cured of cancer before that movie role. Then she contracted it again after five years. A second operation and she appeared to be the winner again.

Now for the third time she's undergoing treatment. She's being treated at the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) Institute of Nuclear Studies.

This is Sandra's biggest role.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleaningest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as ½ gallon of consentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Haley Says Defy US Court

DALLAS (AP)— While an electric organ played "Dixie" and television cameras ground away, J. Dvetts Haley told a cheering crowd of 400 here last night that Texas should defy the U. S. Supreme Court.

"I guess I'm just against most everything that isn't in the Constitution or the 10 Commandments," the historian-cowboy who wants to be Texas' next governor told those who paid $6 each for a "Haley Victory Dinner."

For more than three hours the dinner crowd, including many smartly dressed couples, heard pep talks, then Haley's explanations of interposition.

"There's a big upset in the making," a Haley worker whispered to almost everyone who entered the hotel ballroom.

"Texas needs three things," said Tom Hickman, former Texas Ranger. "First, a cattleman's hat should have a sweat band that won't fade on grey hair like mine; second, we need 40 days and nights of rain, and third, we need J. Evetts Haley for governor."

Haley was introduced by Dan Smoot, former moderator of the radio and TV discussion program, Facts Forum.

"The federal government has no more right to set the price of gas at the well head than to set the price of milk at the cow's udders," Haley said in his TV talk. "If we sit around mumbling namby-pamby nonsense about conservative moderation, the federal government will soon be telling what we have to charge for milk and bread."

Haley said interposition was "just as simple, just as honest, just as American and just as constitutional as ham and eggs."

"I'll tell you one thing, "he said in remarks after the formal TV talk, "If I am elected governor, here's one governor who will remember the oath he took to uphold the state laws and Constitution.

"With all this talk about integration in schools no one yet has pointed out that any school board member who votes to desegregate is breaking the oath he took to uphold state laws and the Constitution and he ought to be impeached."

Strawberry Schools To Be Discontinued

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Changing times finally caught up with Hillsborough County's strawberry schools.

These are the schools where children do farm work in the peak winter months and go to school in the summer.

Hillsborough County school board members voted last night to discontinue the schools. The cost of operation was too great, they said.

Spokesmen for parents said that making the children go to school at regular terms will wreck the economy of eastern Hillsborough County which brags it is the largest winter strawberry producing area in the world.

Elk Pushes Woman Into Missouri River

MALTA, Mont. (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Swan says an elk pushed her into the Missouri River.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan of Lewistown stopped to fish southwest of Malta. Mrs. Swan, who is secretary of the Landless Indians of Montana, said she was sitting on a camp stool, awaiting a bite on her fish hook when an elk slipped up behind her and nudged her into the water.

Mrs. Swan said she does not know whether the elk was being playful or was displaying more than ordinary curiosity.

Some super markets are now carrying a unique type of canner goods. They are canned long-playing hi-fi records of Tschaikowsky and Beethoven music.

Cows Finally Found In Haystack On Farm

HARRODSBURG, Ky. (AP) —, It may not have been as difficult as finding a needle in a haystack but it took Owen Terhune too long to find his two cows in a straw stack.

The animals disappeared Sunday. They apparently pushed their way into the center of the stack and were unable to free themselves.

By the time Terhune found them yesterday, one had suffocated.

Relative Of Local Resident Is Dead

Mrs. Earnest D. Smith, 60, aunt of Mrs. W. G. Herring, 3006 Forty-first Street, died Wednesday in Houston.

Funeral services were to be held today at 2 p.m. in Houston.

She is also survived by her husband, Earnest D. Smtih.

Phone Talk Given Here

George Boswell of Abilene, a district communications supervisor for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., discussed new inventions developed by Bell laboratories yesterday in a talk here before the Rotary Club.

Boswell, during his talk, demonstrated how Bell's solar battery, a recently developed instrument, works in harnessing the heat of the sun and putting it to work. The battery, now in the experimental stage, converts sunlight into electrical energy.

Supplementing the instrument when in use are storage batteries, from which energy is taken on cloudy days.

Boswell also told of various other instruments being developed and those planned by the company. Among those is a small transistor which is gradually replacing the vacuum tube in telephone equipment.

Son Of Comedian Is Charged On Battery

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Eddie (Rochester) Anderson's son, Billy Anderson, is at liberty on $500 bail on a battery charge brought by a secretary, Mrs. Louise L. Lockwood, who said he attempted to harm her in her car.

Officers also charged Anderson, a garage attendant, with possessing bookmaking equipment. He was ordered to appear Aug. 20 for a hearing.

Anderson was convicted recently of possessing and selling marijuana and is at liberty on $5,000 bail in that case pending a probation-sentence hearing Aug. 6.

THE MAN TO DO THE JOB

(Paid Political Adv.)

To The Voters Of Scurry County . . .

I wish to thank the voters of Scurry County for the support and cooperation they have given me in this and past elections and during my term as your sheriff, also, I wish to thank my opponents for the clean campaign they have conducted.

Your sheriff's department, in the past 3½ years, while enforcing the law, has filed approximately 175 felony cases and at the same time apprehended many felonies for other areas.

There has been hundreds of apprehensions and convictions in the county and justice courts.
In the action of our civil courts we have promptly served all citations, court orders, etc., that have come to the Sheriff's office.

While trying to keep our county clean we have battled crime in all respects in scurry county. We have not allowed thieving carnivals and other organizations of this nature to stop in Scurry County.

WE HAVE CLOSED ALL HONKY-TONK DANCE HALLS, BAWDY HOUSES, and there is no professional gambling in Snyder.

We have constantly been on the alert to keep bootlegging at a minimum.

The Sheriff's department has spent many hours in improving the jail and its premises and making it clean and liveable.

During the past 3½ years I have not struck, abused or mistreated any prisoner.

Your sheriff's department has never been too busy to help anyone in time of need, whatever the case might be.

I am proud to have associated with myself four clean, conscientious, hard working deputies. If I am reelected your Sheriff, I will continue to do my best to keep this county clean and make it a better place in which to live.

Nine Congress Places To Be Decided In Saturday Voting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nine Congress places will be decided Saturday but only three or four races have aroused much voter interest.

Several congressmen with opponents staying in Washington while friends carried on their campaigns.

Fifteen representatives from Texas are either unopposed or heavily favored for renomination. Among them is Speaker Sam Rayburn of District 4 who drew two opponents early in the campaign. Both dropped out.

One of the hottest campaigns is in District 3 of East Texas where Lindley Beckworth, former congressman, and R. E. Blount, former state legislator, are fighting for the seat vacated by Rep. Brady Gentry of Tyler.

Both have been conducting a rural door-to-door campaing in the eight county area.

Beckworth was 14 years in Congress but resigned in 1952 to be beaten for the Senate by Price Daniel. Beckworth tried to unseat Gentry two years ago.

Blount served six years in the Legislature from Big Spring. He has never been defeated in a political race. He is now an attorney in Tyler.

In the 11 counties of District 1, Rep. Wright Patman, has a hard race with Kenneth Simmons, former [illegible] campaigned extensively and recently have staged several tepevision appearances.

A bitter issue has been Patman's criticism of Simmons' activities in selling insurance to servicemen. Simmons contends Patman made unfounded allegations to a committee of Congress which later cleared Simmons of all charges.

In South Texas, Nueces County Judge John Young is challenging Rep. John Bell of Cuero in the 14th District. Young has referred numerous times to Bell's alleged connections with the state veterans land deals. Bell has replied he served his district "honestly and honorably" and stressed his efforts to get federal projects for his district.

In West Texas, Rep. J. T. Rutherford is opposed by former County Judge William Blanton, son of the Thomas Blanton who had a 20 years in Congress.

Although Blanton has campaigned extensively, Rutherford has not returned to District 16 for formal campaigning. His wife has been busy shaking hands and speaking at political rallies.

In the 17th Distric, Rep. Omar Burleson returned to Texas to campaign against Dan Kralis, Abilene oil man. At a recent rally Kralis criticized Burleson's stand on the soil bank program and on oil imports. Burleson replied that the soil bank program was "just the best we could do," and said he had introduced legislation to [illegible]

Bill Elkins, Dallas attorney, has traveled extensively in opposing Rep. Martin Dies of Lufkin as congressman - at - large. He said he had visited all 254 counties and driven 18,629 miles in a pickup truck. Recently he flew to some areas for a second visit.

In his latest campaign expense report Dies said his spending covered his filing fee and stationery and postage for campaign literature mailed from Washington.

The other contested races are: District 2, Rep. Jack Brooks and Judge Melvin Combs, both of Beaumont. District 7, Rep. John Dowdy of Athens and State Rep. Gilbert Spring of Apple Springs. District 9, Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston and Jerome Korenek, a Fayette County farmer.

Man On Cross Has Occassional Smoke

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP)—Tagore, the 25-year-old ventriloquist who was nailed to a cross in Reynosa's bull ring Sunday before a paid crowd of 5,000 persons, still has the nails in his hands and feet but he detaches himself from the cross for an occasional cigarette.

In a surprise visit yesterday to the small room he rented near the bull ring, I found Tagore lying on the cross, smoking a cigarette.

Both hands were free of the cross.

Lucio Medina, the promoter who acts as Tagore's manager, explained that it was necessary to free his hands from the wood of the cross because they had become pinched.

"Sunday when the doctor, he said he was a doctor, drove the nails into Tagore's hands, the doctor did not do a good job," Medina said through an interpreter. "Part of the back of the hand and the feet were pinched on the wood."

Medna said that the doctor told them later that if they did not take Tagore's hands and feet off the cross every day or two and place them in alcohol the man might die.

I looked at the wounds closely and could see a crust of dried blood and jagged flesh around the nails. Both feet are swollen.

Late last night another visit found Tagore nailed back on the cross wth the nails all the way through the wood.

Medina said he had seen his lawyer and that he was sure they would be able to get a permit that would enable them to resume charging 25 cents amissi on to the small room.

The admission charge was being collected at the door until the mayor of Reynosa several days ago cancelled ther permit.

Medina said they would have a big show either in the bull ring or someplace else when they take the nails out of Tagore's hands and feet a week from Sunday.

Medina estimated that he had made about $40 from the show in the bull ring Sunday and about $80 from persons visiting the room. He said he had agreed to give Tagore half of the money after all the bills were paid.

Tagore has said he will give 10 per cent of his earnings from the exhibition to the church. The local Catholic priest has said that the church has nothing to do with the exhibition and as far as he knows will not receive any money from it.

Tagore, who still wears the white silk suit, was nailed to the cross whle it lay on the ground. The ross has never been in an upright position.

Asked what he would do when he gets up, Tagore replied:

"I will go to the church and tell my Lord thanks for savng my life, if I can still walk when I get up."

QUALIFIED BY EXPERIENCE

Re-Elect
JESSE JAMES
State Treasurer
• Proven Honesty
• Proven Efficiency
• Proven Ability

PROVEN HONESTY— Jesse James has handled over $8 Billion of the people's money without loss of so much as one cent. The State Auditor's annual report and continuous audit repeatedly verify this fact.

PROVEN EFFICIENCY— Jesse James, through efficient administration during a period of constantly rising prices, has reduced costs per dollar handled by 46.9%.

PROVEN ABILITY— Jesse James has increased income on depository interest earned on current State Funds by almost 2,000%. This income was $105,000 annually when Jesse James became Treasurer, and now is over seven times the cost of operating the State Treasury—resulting in a profit of almost $2 Million annually for the people of Texas. A $30 Million deficit in the General Fund existed when Jesse James became Treasurer. Today, there is no deficit.

PROVEN RESPONSIBILITY— Jesse James learned financing the hard way. When his father died, he helped his mother rear and educate nine brothers and sisters on a meager income. He worked first as a cotton farmer near Thorndale, then as a merchant in Cameron. He also worked his way through college where he studied business and finance. He was elected three times to the Texas Legislature, where he worked conscientiously to improve the financial condition of the State of Texas.

PROVEN RESULTS, NOT PROMISES— Jesse James made no elaborate promises when he first asked voters to elect him State Treasurer. His campaign for re-election advances his proven record of service, experience and accomplishment; his platform is economy, efficiency and courtesy, based on a proven record of honesty, integrity and fairness to all.

FIRST OLD AGE PENSION MONEY— Jesse James, as a legislator, authored and sponsored Texas' first omnibus tax bill, a measure which provided the first money paid to old age pensioners.

JESSE JAMES sincerely solicits your vote and active support.

Duties Taken Over Slowly By Johnson

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — No one watching Lyndon B. Johnson perform in the whirlwind windup of this congressional session would suspect that a heart ailment struck him down a year ago.

The "moderately severe" attack which hit the Senate Democratic leader July 2, 1955, caused Johnson's friends to fear that his active career in the Senate and in politics had ended.

Instead, slowly at first, he has returned to the demanding chores of his position and in the final month of Congress has been carrying them out with full vigor.

The majority leader always has been the pivot on whom senate business turns. Johnson, acclaimed by many of his colleagues as one of the greatest technicians to occupy the post in modern times, has added some extra touches of his own.

The 47-year-old Texan eased into his old role in the early weeks of the 1956 session after getting clearance from his doctors in December to continue as majority leader.

He has taken a few breaks at his Texas ranch. One trip home involved a short but intense battle with Gov. Allan Shivers in which Johnson overwhelmingly won control of the Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

Since his last respite at the ranch early this month, Johnson has worked at the same pace he maintained before his illness.

He has scheduled many Senate sessions running 11, 12, or 13 hours and has restlessly prowled the floor throughout. He becomes so impatient at delays that he will leap ahead of a pageboy to rush a senator's amendment to the will leap ahead of a page boy to rush a senator's amendment to the clerk's desk if it will expedite business.

The moment one amendment is disposed of, he is on his feet reminding a colleague who has another to offer.

If the sponsor of a bill is not on hand when an opportunity offers to bring it up, Johnson often will handle it himself, reading the committee report, answering questions, and sometimes getting the measure passed before its author can get to the floor.

He has a complete set of hand signals to direct the work of Senate clerks.

If things are going well and the votes are at hand, he twirls his finger rapidly in a circular motion and the roll call proceeds at a fast clip.

If his aides are out looking for a Democratic senator needed in an important vote, Johnson pushes the palm of his hand gently downward, and the senators' names are called at a slow pace.

He also has resumed in this session a tradition he started in 1955 — winning the close votes from his opposition, even though he is operating with only a two-vote majority.

Perhaps his greatest triumph this year was his behind-the-scenes work in securing adoption of the amendment putting a disability payments program into the Social Security bill. On this one, he faced a strong coalition of almost all Republicans and some conservative Democrats led by Sen. Byrd (D-Va).

But the amendment, sponsored by the retiring Sen. George (D-Ga) as "the most important question I have ever presented to the Senate," was put over 47-45 even though its foes were confident up to the final moment they had it beaten.

"Lyndon wins the close ones," sadly commented a senator who battled him on this. "He knows where the votes are, and he knows how to get them."

Ike Is Not Expected To Fire Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described by several congressional Republicans today as irritated by Harold E. Stassen's continuing efforts to dump Vice President Nixon.

However, GOP lawmakers who said he expects Stassen to retain about the President's attitude toward his disarmament aide's anti-Nixon campaign said they do not expect Stassen to be fired.

One senator said the President was determined not to make a political "martyr" out of Stassen by dismissing him. This legislator said he expects Stassen to retan his White House job until after the election but not much longer.

A second GOP senator said he understands the President has said he did not sanction in advance Stassen's proposal that Nixon be supplanted by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Two other Republicans said they do not think Eisenhoer will speak out on the matter until an expected White House news conference next week.

If Eisenhower follows his usual course then, they said they expect him to reaffirm his confidence in Nixon with little more than an implied rebuke to Stassen.

Nixon smilingly declined comment on Stassen's announced move to take a new professional poll of public sentiment in potential vice presidential nominees.

Until the new poll is completed about a week hence, Stassen said, he will "make no adverse com[illegible]

He named Adolph Toigo, president of Lennen and Newell of New York, as one of five Republicans he said are helping to finance the newest poll. He said Toigo will supervise the work, to be done by professional pollsters.

The other four he named, all delegates to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco, are H. F. Johnson of Racine, Wis., president of the Johnson Wax Co.; Bailie Vinson, Tulsa businessman and Oklahoma Republican national committeeman; Elroy W. Bromwich, Missouri committeeman; and Carl Stifel, a St. Louis businessman.

In St. Louis, Stifel said he had contributed $1,000 to the new poll to see how Nixon "stands with the voters." Johnson declined to comment.

McKEON BROTHERS GIVE MORAL SUPPORT—S/Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon (second from left), had added moral support at his court martial in Parris Island, S. C., when two brothers arrived. From left, they are: Edward, Matthew, Francis X., and Jim who has been with his brother since the trial began. They are all from Worcester, Mass. The sergeant is charged with the deaths of six Marine recruits that drowned when he led a platoon into marshes and waters of Ribbon Creek April 8.

Death Ends Long Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Death has ended the career of John Henry Mears, a theatrical producer who twice set records for circling the globe.

Mears, 78, died yesterday in a hospital.

He managed the John Drew Theatrical Company for eight years and was in stage ventures with Florenz Ziegfeld and Morris Gest. He was a lyricist for such composers as George Gershwin and Harry Tierney.

Mears circled the globe in 35 days in 1913, traveling 21,068 miles. This time was beaten later, but Mears recaptured the record in 1928, when he flew with Capt. Charles B. D. Collyer over the same route in 23 days. This mark stood for five years, until Wiley Post beat it in 1933.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THERE REALLY ISN'T no need in us urging one and all to lend support to the Snyder American Little League All-Stars in their championship game tonight at Big Spring.

When you consider Snyder's opponent tonight is a Sweetwater team, then that should be 'nuff said.

At any rate, I feel sure that local fans won't let the Snyder Americans down tonight.

This is the most important game the Snyder nine has been confronted with this season and some loyal support is urgently needed.

It has paid off the past two nights by having a large delegation of Snyderites on hand for the tournament.

BIG SPRING OFFICIALS were somewhat amazed over the turnout of Snyder fans at Wednesday's game at Big Spring.

The director of the tournament at Big Spring bellowed over the loud speaker during the proceedings Wednesday:

"Wonder if we have any Snyder fans with us? Will all Snyder fans please stand."

Well, it appeared that the entire stands was compsed of Snyderites after the Snyder fans stood up so the tourney director quipped back:

"My goodness, do we have any Big Spring fans present?"

I believe it would be safe to say that Snyder fans outnumbered Big Spring fans for Wednesday's doubleheaders.

'It's Been That Way All Year'

Snyderites have been that way all year, giving our local teams good support away from home as well as at home. This is good for the morale of the kids as it gives them assurance the townspeople are behind them all the way.

The Big Spring American team has a mighty slugger in this fellow Jerry Dunlap.

Dunlap pounded 15 homeruns during the regular season and going into last night's game with Snyder American (this is being written before that game) Dunlap had homered in each of the two tournament games played by his team.

Dunlap is a strapping youngster of about 135 pounds (pretty good sized lad, we might add, for a 12-year-older) and he has good coordination.

Local fans will probably be hearing more of Dunlap during the next few years.

We join with many of our sports fans here in wishing Skipper Joyce, manager of the Snyder American All-Stars, a speedy recovery from a surge of illness.

Skipper was admitted to the hospital yesterday (Cogdell Memorial) with a case of what is believed to be "summer flu."

Skipper missed his team's games Wednesday and last night in the tournament at Big Spring.

Lady Luck Frowns On Red Sox

WHAT MAKES MANAGER'S get grey?

If Pinky Higgins, Boston Red Sox manager, picked up any grey hairs after Wednesday night's game with Kansas City, he had good reason.

We picked up the play-by-play of the Red Sox-K-City game while driving home from Big Spring Wednesday with Boston holding a 3-0 lead.

The Red Sox quickly upped that margin to 6-0 with three runs in top of the seventh.

Bob Porterfield of the Red Sox had handcuffed the Athletics on just three measley hits during the first six innings. Porterfield, however, while pitching to the first Athletic batter in the bottom of the seventh, njured himself while making a delivery, catching his cleats on the mound and turning his ankle.

He had to be carried from the field.

A hurry-up call had to be made to the bull-pen since no one was warming up what with Porterfield coasting along with a comfortable lead.

But, before three relief pitchers could get the Athletics out in the bottom of the seventh, the A's had poured eight runs acorss the dish to take an 8-6 lead.

The Athletics finally won it, 9-6.

Bobby Takes Over In Braves Camp

NEW YORK (AP)—Last week Joe Adcock was spraying home runs. This week it's Bobby Thomson.

And the Milwaukee Braves roll on, adding to their first-place hold in the National League.

Thomson hit his 16th homer yesterday as the Braves mauled the last-place New York Giants 11-0.

It was Milwaukee's fifth straight victory and 14th in 16 starts. With Cincinnati losing its third straight to Brooklyn 5-3, Milwaukee stretched out to a 5½-game lead over the Redlegs and six over the third-place Dodgers.

At one stage last week, first baseman Adcock had smashed out nine homers in 11 games.

Then Thomson came off the bench at Milwaukee, where he had been parked for weak hitting. He earned the permanent left field position by belting a homer and a double that scored four runs against the Giants, his former teammates.

Sunday he closed out the homestand at Milwaukee with two homers as the Braves swept a pair from Philadelphia.

His biggest smash of the year came Wednesday in the Polo Grounds, a grand-slam homer that pulled the Braves from behind and put them on the way to a 7-4 victory.

"Believe it or not," he said, "I wasn't going for the long ball. I was just trying to get that base hit and knock home the guy on third.

Snyder American LL To Finals

Meet S'water 9 Tonite For Title

By BUCK FRANCIS

BIG SPRING, Jul. 27 — Snyder and Sweetwater American League All-Star teams from Snyder and Sweetwater will clash here tonight for the championship of the area Little League tournament.

The two teams advanced to the finals with impressive semi-final victories last night, the Sweetwater team defeating the Big Spring Texas by 14-0 and the Snyder nine besting Big Spring American, 9-1.

Tonight's championship game between Snyder American and Sweetwater American in the area Little League trounament at Big Spring will be broadcast over KSNY.

Air-time will be around 7:30. ..

Winner of tonight's game will qualify for the district tournament at a site and date yet to be determined.

Steve Free was the "man of the hour" for the Snyder Americans here Thursday night. Free took over mound duties in the second inning when started Gilbert Merritt encounted controal trouble.

Free then finished up in great style, limiting the heavy-hitting Big Springers to only three hits — all singles — and striking out nine.

Free's last strikeout was a "juicy one" it coming at the expense of Big Spring's robust slugger, Jerry Dunlap. Dunlap, who pounded 15 homers during the regular season and who had homered twice in the tournament, took a called third strike for the final out of the game.

Dunlap went hitless in two official trips. He walked once and was hit by a pitched ball on another occasion.

Dunlap, too, had a rought night on the mound. The big right hander started for the Big Springers but after giving up five hits and five walks that accounted for se... in less than two innings, ...

Snyder moved ahead 8-1 after two innings of play and with Free hurling superb ball, the winners coasted to victory.

Charles Gladson led Snyder's eight-hit attack with two hits, a single and double, and driving in three runs.

Little Jerry Guthrie of Snyder climaxed Snyder's scoring with a vicious line-drive homer over the right-centerfield wall in the fifth inning, the only roundtripper of the evening.

The Snyder Americans played a perfect game afield, committin no bobbles.

Snyder batted around in each the first and second innings, scoring three in the first and five in the second. Big Spring tallied its lone runs in the first inning without the benefit of a hit. Two walks, a hit batsman and a wild pitch led to Big Spring's lone run and putting the locals ahead, 1-0.

But Snyder quickly took the lead in the bottom of the first when Spencer Dyer walked, advanced to second and scored on a single by Ken Roach to tie the count at 1-1. After Free walked, Gladson then doubled to score Roach with the lead run and Snyder was in command the remaining distance.

Tonight's campionship game will start at 7:30.

TO '55 HOLDERS

Tiger Season Tickets Now Available

Season tickets to Snyder High School's five home football games next fall are now on sale at the school business office to the 1955 season ticket holders, according to Art Nicholas, school business manager.

Last year's season ticket holders are being given until 5 p.m., Aug. 10, to retain the same seats they held last year.

On Aug. 16, those not satisfied with their 1955 tickets may appear at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Officer to make requests for changes to seats not already assigned.

Then on Aug. 17, an attempt will be made to honor requests for one or two additional seats for those whose requirements are greater than last year. The limit of requesting additional seats is two.

The season ticket sale will then be thrown open to the general public on Aug. 20 at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce office.

Cost of each season ticket is $6.-25.

The five Snyder home games are:

Sept. 14—Borger.
Oct. 12—Brechenridge.
Oct. 19—Dumas.
Nov. 9—Lake View.
Nov. 16—Colorado City.

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Bob Goode, former Texas A&M football player who has been in professional football for six years, is quitting the game. The big fullback notified the Philadelphia Eagles yesterday that he was taking a job at Austin, Tex.

IN SECOND HALF OPENER

Snyder Furniture Nips Sun, 4-3

Snyder Furniture erupted for all their runs in the first inning last night and then held on for a 4-3 victory over Sun Oil in the opening game of the second half in the City League race.

League play continues tonight with Hermeigh, the first half champion, taking on Ira. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

After Snyder Furniture had taken a 4-0 lead in the first, Sun Oil came back with three in the fourth inning to get back in the game.

But Dwayne Prince, who relieved started Royce Pierce in the four th, blanked the Oilers the remaining distance to gain credit for the win.

James Ballard went the distance for Sun.

Snyder Furniture's big inning in the first came on three hits and three errors.

Campy 'Back' In Stride

BROOKLYN (AP)—Young catchers in the Dodgers' farm system can forget about getting a job with Brooklyn for the remainder of the season. Roy Campanella is back in stride with his big bat.

Campanella shook off his slump yesterday with a homer—good for three runs—in leading Brooklyn to a 5-3 victory over the Redlegs.

Vice President Buzzy Bavasi and Manager Walt Alston had agreed that a reserve catcher would be called up within the next few days should Campanella show that his injured thumb made him incapable of "doing the job."

But Bavasi and Alston forgot all about their idea, at least temporarily, when Campy poked Tom Acker's offerings into the left corner seats of Ebbets Field for his 12th home run.

Braves Hike Lead In National Race

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Braves never had it so good.

Since shifting their franchise from Boston in 1953, they've never enjoyed as much as a 5½-game lead in the National League. But that's what they have today, joining the Brooklyn Dodgers in a pair of five-game winning streaks that have reduced the pennant race to a two-team scrap.

There may be some dissenters among Cincinnati fans, but the Redlegs looked anything but healthy after losing three straight to the Dodgers. Brooklyn completed the sweep 5-3 yesterday, crumbling Cincinnati's hold on second place to a scant four percentage points and half a game.

That gave the Braves, who again laid the wood to the last-place New York Giants 11-0, a six-game edge over Brooklyn — with a four-game series ahead in Ebbets Field beginning Monday. In the meantime, Milwaukee goes to Philadelphia and the Dodgers are at home to the Chicago Cubs for weekend series.

The sixth-place Phillies were thumped 14-9 by St. Louis last night. The seventh-place Cubs lost to Pittsburgh 4-0.

In the American League, the New York Yankees must surely have convinced the Chicago White Sox this was another bomber year, defeating the Pale Hose 8-5 with 11 singles. In fact, about the only nonbeliever in the AL is Hank ("I expect the 1956 World Series to be played in Cleveland") Greenberg, whose second-place Indians made it six straight with a seven-inning 1-0 victory over Washington but still trail by 8½ games.

A 10th-inning home run by Ted Williams gave Boston a 5-3 decision over Kansas City. And Baltimore grabbed back a full share of fifth place from Detroit, beating the Tigers 11-6.

The Braves battered ex-bonus boy Johnny Antonelli for a 6-0 lead in two frames. Hank Aaron drove in four runs with a home run and two singles that put him in the NL batting lead again at .340. Bobby Thompson socked his 16th homer. The Braves swung for 16 hits in support of Gene Conley's fifth victory.

Roy Campanella swatted a three-run homer to trigger the Dodgers. It was his first in three weeks. The Brooks had nine hits, but Carl Furillo's hit streak was making only his second major league start as a replacement for ailing Joe Nuxhall, was the loser.

Roger Craig six-hit the Redlegs for his 10th victory. Frank Robinson tagged him for his 23rd home run and Ted Kluszewski poled his 25th, breaking a tie with Duke Snider for the NL lead.

The Cardinals routed Robin Roberts with a four-run sixth to take a 7-6 lead, then scored six in the seventh with winning reliefer Herm Wehmeier hitting a home run and two-run single in the big frame. Bob Miller lost it.

In The Administration Of This Important Judicial Position, There Can Be NO SUBSTITUTE For EXPERIENCE!

Before becoming District Judge I had had twenty years experience in the practice of law in these counties.

Two years of which I served as County Attorney of Scurry County. Cooperating with and assisting the District Attorney in the prosecution of every criminal case that was tried in Scurry and Borden Counties.

Six years of which I served as County Judge of Scurry County.

Eight of those twenty years I represented this District in the Legislature.

Before the beginning of this twenty years I had served six years as County Democratic Chairman for Borden County.

During this my first term as your District Judge I have attempted to be fair with all litigants and all attorneys and to see that everyone had equal rights in the Court.

I appreciate the courtesies that you have shown me in the past and the honors that you have bestowed upon me.

If I may be your District Judge for a second term I cannot assure you that everyone will win his case in court, for in every case tried in court, someone must lose, but I can and will assure you that I will continue to see that every one receives the same courteous, fair and impartial treatment in the court and has an equal opportunity to prove his case.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY Scurry And Borden Counties

C. F. SENTELL appreciates the people of this district and their courtesies and fine spirit during this campaign.

C. F. SENTELL has lived in this district more than half of his life. He belongs to the church and is known to be a Christian gentleman.

C. F. SENTELL has served three terms in the Legislature, he served two terms as County Attorney of Scurry County and was one of the very best, he is a member of the State and Local Bar Associations, and he is licensed to practice in all the courts.

C. F. SENTELL has had many years actual practice and experience in the trial of criminal cases as a defense attorney and also as a prosecutor.

C. F. SENTELL believes that the District Attorney's Office is too important and expensive to be used as a training school for an attorney who has had little experience.

C. F. SENTELL will give honest, fair and energetic service and will have "JUSTICE IN EVERY CASE" as the goal.

C. F. SENTELL knows that public office is a public trust; that the office belongs to the people and that the official is a public servant.

C. F. SENTELL will cooperate with all public officials and will try to have them cooperate fully with each other for the best possible service to the public.

NEGLIGENCE CHARGED

Crew Of Ship Criticized

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of survivors of the Andrea Doria have accused the ship's personnel of "complete negligence" at the time the Italian liner collided with the Swedish motorship Stockholm.

Many other passengers had different versions and words of praise for the crew.

The accusation was made in a typewritten statement last night addressed to news media. It was signed by 90 persons brought here aboard the freighter Cape Ann, and was given to a newsman by Arthur Fisher of New York City, who is in the [illegible] business.

The statement said, "There existed a state of complete negligence on the part of the crew and officers toward its obligations and responsibilities to the safety of the passengers of the ship."

The statement further charged no proper alarm drill was held on the westbound crossing, that no alarm was sounded when the ship was struck, and that no notice was given to abandon ship.

The statement added:

"There was no indication of lifeboat stations or procedure beyond wearing of lifebelts.

"No announcement was received by public address system (which was in operating condition) or by word of mouth from the crew that danger was imminent and lifebelts should be donned.

"As a result, passengers acted on their own initiative at the reversing of the motors, the impact of the collision, the immediate listing of the ship, the fumes and water which entered some cabins and passageways, and the instant panic which broke loose."

The statement continued:

"There were a small number of crew members who worked alongside of the passengers, as individuals, in aiding the abandoning of the ship. We give these men recognition as individuals, carrying a private sense of responsibility."

An Italian Line spokesman said the line would launch an investigation of the complaint.

Santa Will Come Early This Year

INDIO, Calif. (AP)—The temperature may go up to around 110 degrees in this Southwestern hot spot today but there'll be Santa Claus and snow in the city park.

Ninety tons of ice will be powdered into 23,000 cubic feet of snow—enough to make a pile 50 feet in diameter and 20 feet high.

Santa Claus, in traditional costume will supervise a snowman-building contest for kids.

What brought on this paradoxical festivity? The ice was left over from the grape-shipping season, and recreation officials decided something ought to be done with it. Or maybe it was just the heat.

J. Evetts Haley

Candidate for GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

J. EVETTS HALEY is the ONLY candidate for Governor of Texas who is ON RECORD—.

- FOR continued segregation of the races without compromise.
- FOR unqualified use of state authority to resist federal tyranny.
- AGAINST confiscation of wages and profits by immoral graduated income taxes.
- AGAINST federal control of gas, oil, finance, marketing, medicine and any other industry or professions.

SUPPORT J. EVETTS HALEY FOR GOVERNOR!

Webb County Voting Probe Is Conducted

LAREDO (AP) — Two groups checking absentee voting in Webb County met together briefly yesterday, then adjourned until Monday when a spokesman said that a full scale probe would get underway.

Several persons testified at a session conducted by the House Investigation Committee and representatives of the attorney general's office.

Rep. Wade Spilman, committee chairman, said the hearing was not exhaustive, but was designed to get a general idea of what was going on.

Spilman said no conclusions were reached. Several city employes testified.

Manuel Jasso, an employee of the city sanitation department, testified he was not a U.S. citizen and had not voted. He said he had never been asked to secure a poll tax or pay a poll tax for anyone. He also denied that any money had been taken from his salary for political purposes.

Pedro Vela, a part time city employe, denied a statement by the Freedom Party that he delivered an application for an absentee ballot to Mrs. Bruna Casquez.

Other investigations are being held or are scheduled in Duval, Starr, apata and Jim Hogg counties, all nearby.

C. B. Dick filed suit at Rio Grande City stating there are too many election clerks to count the absentee ballots in Starr County. County Atty. F. R. Nye said the suit was politically inspired.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED, Attorneys of Scurry County, sincerely recommend to the voters of this county Judge James R. Norvell to the Supreme Court of Texas, Place Number 2.

Hot Time Is Had By All

MEXICALI, Mexico (AP) — There really was a hot time in this old town—all night—when a Chinese resident fired his gun. Here is what happened:

Two other Chinese were wounded, Sam Woo Mashos in the head, Lucky Ky Yun in the shoulder and foot:

One bullet ignited a box of powder used in making firecrackers.

The resulting fire gutted a maze of 150 rooms in a Chinese residential section, in the ruins of which an unidentified body was found a few hours later yesterday.

The fire spread to a warehouse, consuming five tons of lard and a large quantity of liquor. Then flames ignited a grocery store.

When the blaze threatened a saloon, 50 men rushed in and carried out all the bottles in sight.

Fire engines roared up, but firemen discovered a repair crew had cut off the water supply.

Officers said the pistol shooter who started it all was Lou Son Lon. He got away.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Snyder, Texas for Salvaging and Replacing of an estimated 14,600 Sq. Yds. of Flexible Base and 14,600 Sq. Yds. of Three Course Surface Treatment on 26th Street from the R.S.&P. R.O.W. east to Ave. F at the office of the City Secretary, City Hall, Snyder, Texas, until:

7:00 P.M. Aug. 6, 1956

and then publicly opened and read aloud.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or acceptable bid bond in amount of five (5) per cent of the bid as guarantee that, if awarded a contract, the Bidder will enter into a contract within ten (10) days after date of award of contract.

The Successful Bidder must furnish bond on the form attached to the Specifications in the amount of 100 per cent of the total contract price from a Surety company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the Owner.

Plans and specifications and other proposed contract documents are on file in the office of the City Engineer at the City Hall, Snyder, Texas, and may be procured from his office upon a deposit of $10.00 The full amount of the deposit will be returned to actual bona fide bidders, and to others who return the documents in good condition on or before the bidding date.

Attention is called to the fact that there must be paid on this project not less than the general prevailing rates of wages which have been established by the Owner for each classification of workmen required on the project, as set forth in the contract documents.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. No bids may be withdrawn within thirty (30) days after date on which bids are taken.

Payment will be made to the Contractor from bond funds.

DON'T DELAY BUILDING A HOME. . .

Leading authorities advise that building costs are not coming down. One leading authority states, "This is a growing country whose population and economy have expanded mightily in the past ten years. So long as it continues to grow and so long as our living standards advance, we can not expect a return to the lower price level of years gone by. Let us look ahead rather than backward and not be afraid to invest in the future of America." Better start owning your home now!

A personality home, has three bedrooms, 1 to 1½ baths, beautiful interior decorating. You will really be surprised at the closet space. A wonderful view of the park and swimming pool. They can be financed with GI or FHA Loans. Come in & let us show you what we have.

INJURED MAN REMOVED FROM COPTER—A man injured during the collision of the Italian liner Andrea Doria and the Swedish liner Stockholm is removed from a helicopter in Nantucket, Mass., after being removed from the Stockholm. The ships collided during the night in a heavy fog.

Collision Survivors Dock In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 760 of them. Most were half clad. Some were still dazed and many were numb.

Passport requirements were waived for their arrival and public health inspection was suspended. There was no need for customs; they had no baggage.

Throngs cheered or wept as they arrived last night aboard the French liner Ile de France. They had left Europe amidst comfort and splendor of the luxury liner Andrea Doria. They arrived haggard and worn out, survivors of the collision that sent the Andrea Doria to the bottom of the Atlantic and damaged the Swedish ship Stockholm.

Nearly all of the Andrea Doria's 1,600 passengers and crew members were saved in a dramatic rescue operation by the Ile de France and other vessels.

Their stories were different. Some told of nerves of steel, of heroism, of sacrifice. Others recalled screams and chaos.

There were stories of death too. Dr. T. S. Peterson of Upper Montclair, N.J., told how his wife was crushed to death in the collision and he was unable to free her.

In the next cabin, he said, he discovered the bodies of Camille M. Cianfarra, Madrid correspondent of the New York Times, and his daughter and stepdaughter. Mrs. Cianfarra had been pinned down by fallen timbers. It took hours before Peterson and crewmen could free her. She was removed to the Ile de France with injuries.

As for Peterson's wife — "She went down with the ship," Peterson said.

There were also stories of mothers and their children in the face of disaster.

"I was sure that I was going to die, that everything was all over," recalled Mrs. Rose Adragna of Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I rushed five decks below to grab my daughter (Olivia, 2) from her bed, and then it took me a quarter of an hour to get to the main deck because of the list.

"I kept thinking of my husband and my boy at home. The baby kept crying for her milk bottle that I had left behind. I remember thinking that I couldn't possibly go back for the bottle."

Actress Ruth Roman met newsmen aboard the French liner clad in an improvised costume of a white polo shirt and men's trousers—gifts of Ile de France passengers. She said she had to discard the torn and oil-stained evening dress she was wearing after the collision. She had been attending a dance that normally ends a transatlantic crossing.

"It was just like an explosion," she said. "Nobody fell but it sounded like a very big firecracker.

"I threw off my shoes because of the high heels and ran two decks below to the cabin to my son Dickie, who is only 3½. He and his nurse were barely awake.

"I pulled out three life preservers and dragged both of them to the upper deck and told them to stay near the grand staircase.

"Dickie was not crying. He thought it was terribly exciting. I kept telling him it was a picnic. I found a balloon and a rug and told him to blow it up."

The actress continued:

"Dickie was on my lap and I handed him to a sailor who strapped him to himself. They got into the boat, but it left before I could get aboard." She and her son were later reunited.

Foreign Aid Review Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A six-member headed by Sen. Green (D-RI) will start an exhaustive review of American foreign aid policy.

The bipartisan group was named yesterday by Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It will function as an executive committee of the special Senate committee on foreign aid, set up under a resolution appropriating $300,000 for the study.

Other members are Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee, Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) of the Banking Committee and Senators Bridges (R-NH), Knowland (R-Calif) and H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ).

George, in a statement, made it clear the committee will reach its own findings on the extent to which this country should continue to bolster the military and economic defenses of nations abroad, although it seeks administration cooperation in its studies.

To avoid partisanship, no hearings are contemplated before the November elections.

Oil Import Cut Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil producers, armed with plans to cut back oil imports to 1954 levels, confer today with defense mobiliser Arthur Flemming.

An official of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPA) said representatives of 15 oil and gas associations were called to a closed morning caucus to line up arguments for Flemming later in the day.

He said the oilmen would talk with Flemming about "obvious failures" of importing companies to reduce planned air imports in the July-September period "was requested by the government."

Last year, a cabinet level committee headed by Flemming recommended imports be held to the 1954 ratio.

In addition, the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (TIPRO) has drafted a petition proposing a graduated tariff or excise tax to limit imports. The tariff would become operative only when imports exceeded the 1954 ratio.

IPAA spokesmen said the 1954 ratio was 16.6 per cent of domestic production. They contend that 21.7 per cent is scheduled for the second six month period this year and that the percentage for the first six months was 19.5.

Robert Wood of Midland, Tex., IPAA president, said the morning meeting was called to discuss the TIPRO prolosal and "serious failures" of importers to "voluntarily comply with Flemming's June 26 request for import reductions in the third quarter, as shown by the latest importing company programs filed last week with the Texas Railroad Commission."

Also listed for discussion was the reactivitation now in progress of a special task force to assist in a cabinet committee restudy of import problems.

Ship's Radar Beams May Have Bounced

MILTON, Mass. (AP) — An Air Force radar expert today said an unusual fog condition might have deflected the radar beams of the ships Stockholm and Andrea Doria so that they could not detect one another before their collision.

Dr. David Atlas, director of the Blue Hills radar post, said:

"It is inconceivable that sets aboard both vessels broke down at same time.

"In normal atmospheric conditions, the radar would penetrate directly to the surface of the water. But if there is a blanket of cold, moist air below warm dry air, like the reported fog bank, the radar beams would bounce off it as though it were a mirror."

Texas Football Star Killed In Accident

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP)—Ed Hawkins, 21, fullback for the University of Texas football team, was killed in an auto accident near here late last ngiht.

Hawkins was a 1953 graduate of Lufkin High School and would sity this fall. He was the son of have been a senior at the univer-Mr. and Mrs. Clint Hawkins of Lufkin. Services will be held in Lufkin Saturday.

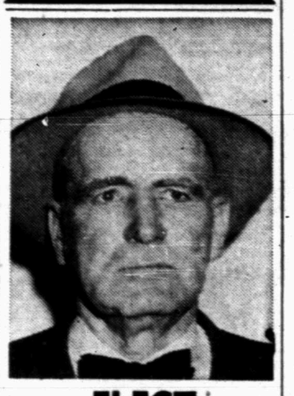

Prowler Just Wanted To Take A Cool Dip

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A prowler who broke into comedian Jack Benny's home here apparently just wanted to cool off.

Police said the intruder took a dip in the pool, turned on the air-conditioning system and made himself at home for several hours after jimmying a bedroom window yesterday. Nothing of value appeared to have been taken. The comedian's house has been closed since the winter season ended at this desert resort.
