RANGERS ARE TO REPLACE GUARD

NEW YORK HERALD POLL IS FAVORABLE TO SENATOR HARDING

STRAW VOTE IS TAKEN IN STATES OF NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS REPORTED LEADING ISSUE

German-American And Irish-American Vote Is Largely Against Democratic Ticket.

Copyright, 1920, New York Evening Telegram (New York Herald Comp'y.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The democracy of New York and New Jersey threatened by a tidal wave of republicanism.

The League of Nations the big issue of the campaign.

The "wet" issue apparently of little importance, except in cases.

These are the important deductions drawn by the straw man from the results of last week's canvass of New York and New Jersey.

The straw vote on the presidential race has obtained sufficient headway to make it fairly representative of the campaign. More than 5,500 votes have been taken of which 4,000 were taken in New York and 1,583 in New Jersey.

Despite the fact that most of the votes taken last week were from territory that is normally democratic, the result has been to increase the lead that Harding has over Cox. The Cox percentage in New York has dropped from 40.3 per cent last week to 36.5 per cent this week, while Harding's has arisen from 46.7 per cent last week to 55.1 per cent this week. The same ratio of decreases and increase has been shown in New Jersey where all the votes were taken. The Cox percentage in New Jersey is now 34.6 per cent, while Harding's is 57.2.

The "wet" strength which Cox was supposed to have developed in New Jersey is not yet in evidence, although it may appear later in the week. There are two explanations for this change in percentages during the week. One is the fact that scores of democrats of Irish decent have voted for the republican nominee because they oppose the League of Nations. Another is that many democrats who ordinarily participate in the straw vote have refused to do so, saying that they don't intend to vote at all in the election this fall. In nearly every case where such a statement is made the citizen states emphatically that he is opposed to the league. He usually is a man whose association with the democracy makes him refrain from voting against his party. So he adopts the expedient of staying at home.

Among business men the sentiment as shown by the straw vote is strongly for Harding. This includes many men who voted for Wilson in 1916 and who have now "switched" to Harding. The "drift" of business seems overwhelmingly towards Harding. To offset these losses Cox gets few changes in his favor, even in New Jersey. The feeling against the league among the Irish-Americans and the German-Americans seemed to have swamped the adherents which his supporters expected to obtain for him on the "wet" issue. New Jersey is "wet" but in order to carry that state, the Ohio governor must not only have "wet" votes, but also the regular democratic votes which in years past have always gone for the democratic ticket without question. The outcry against the league among the Americans of Irish descent in Jersey City and Newark and among the German-Americans in Hoboken seems to make that possibility rather remote.

A poll taken among longshoremen on the Hoboken water front illustrates what has happened there. This is a section that usually is a democratic Gibraltar. Out of 183 votes taken in the poll, 81 are for Cox, 91 for Harding, seven for Debs and three for Christensen. In 1916 95 of these men voted for Wilson and only 87 for Hughes.

This showing in New Jersey is symptomatic of what has happened to the democratic organization in New York city. Careful estimates by prominent Tammany hall leaders place the Irish-American and German-American strength in the organization at about 50 per cent of its total strength. It is evident, therefore, that any issues like the League of Nations which alienates any considerable number of these voters ca ses a grave situation in Tammany hall. Tammany leaders are fully aware of the danger that confronts them. They are preparing to conduct a hard campaign to hold their cohorts in line. On the extent of their success will depend the success of the local and state tickets and Tammany is not accustomed to allowing local elections go by default. If these are successful it is inevitable that the national ticket will benefit also and the result would be another "drift," this time toward Cox. The Tammany campaign has not yet begun, but will probably be "geared to the road" early in September. The straw man will watch this situation and will take straw votes in the defaulting districts all through the campaign to observe any change in the sentiment of the anti-league democrats.

One of the noticeable feature of the poll has been the pronounced "shifts" in favor of Harding. In the New York vote the total shift from Wilson to Harding is 446. The total shift to Cox was only 41 votes, or one more than went to Debs. In the New Jersey vote, the "shift" from Wilson to Harding was 167, while the "shift" for Hughes to Cox was only 16. Here again Debs comes to the front in the "shifts." He gets as many as Cox. In the polls taken in Yonkers the "shifts" are not so pronounced in favor of Harding. There Cox may be able to duplicate the Wilson v of 1916. This may be due to the fact that Yonkers is regarded as a "wet" town.

So far the straw man has taken only one poll each in Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. The delay there has been caused by the strike of the employes of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. Now that conditions in those boroughs are becoming normal other polls will be taken during the next week. The straw votes on these boroughs have been taken exclusively among men of business connections, although they

ITALIAN YOUTH SHOT AS RESULT OF FEUD

Follows Trouble That Has Existed In Kansas City And Dallas For Nearly Two Years.

DALLAS, Sept. 18.—Vito Campinelli Jr., 24 years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded in Dallas this morning, as a result, according to police, of a feud between two Italian families which has existed in Kansas City and Dallas for nearly two years, and which also was responsible for the killing in Kansas City about a month ago of Anthony Restiva by the man shot this morning.

Joe Ruggero, 36 years old, surrendered to the police this morning immediately after the shooting, with the statement that he had fired the shot which wounded Campinelli.

The trouble, according to Dallas police authorities, grew out of the killing in Dallas in January, 1919, by Campinelli of Sam Restiva, a relative of the man killed in Kansas City recently, and also a relative of the wife of Ruggero, the man held by the police for this morning's affray.

Campinelli now is under bond for the Kansas City killing as well as for the killing of Sam Restiva in 1919.

The shooting this morning occurred in a meat market operated by Ruggero. According to statements by him and his wife, Campinelli, with his father, came into his shop and threatened him with pistols. He said he grabbed a shotgun close at hand and fired at young Campinelli, the entire charge of buckshot and slugs taking effect in the latter's left side and face.

The wounded man was rushed to the hospital where it was said his chances for recovery were very slight.

Peculiar Accident Deprives Farmer of His Cotton Money

PARIS, Sept. 18.—A peculiar accident at a gin near Enloe today cost a young farmer nearly all the money he received for the first cotton he sold this year.

Going to the bank, he cashed his check, which amounted to about $200, and instead of depositing it, he placed it in his pocket.

He then went to the gin with the bills safely tucked away, as he thought, and climbed into his wagon. Then he leaned over, the suction far took the money from his pocket and by the time he was able to get the gin stopped the saws had so badly cut up the roll of bills that only about $35 was recovered in such shape that it was impossible to send it to the treasury for redemption.

BELIEVE DISASTER CAUSED BY A-BOMB THAT WAS PLANTED

THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN WORK OF ANARCHISTS INVOLVED IN FORMER PLOT.

SEEK TO IDENTIFY THE AUTHOR OF CIRCULARS

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Investigation of the explosion in Wall street Thursday noon which cost 35 lives and did property damage exceeding $1,000,000 divided itself tonight into two channels.

Firm in their belief that the disaster was caused by a time bomb planted by a band of anarchists, who were also implicated in the mail bomb plots of June, 1919, department of justice investigators, headed by Attorney General Palmer and William J. Flynn, chief of the department's bureau of investigation, have centered their efforts on identifying the person or persons who deposited five radical circulars in a mail box near the scene just a few minutes before the explosion.

Threatens Death.

These circulars, signed, "American Anarchist Fighters," threatened "sure death for all of you" unless the "political prisoners" were freed. They resemble, Chief Flynn said, those found in June, 1919.

Police investigators were concentrating on trying to establish the identity of the dilapidated wagon, which was abandoned near the J. P. Morgan & Co. building a few minutes before the explosion.

Experts in the police bomb squad, who have pieced together metal fragments believed to have been part of the bomb, declared the missle apparently weighed about 500 pounds, 200 of which was explosive.

Department of justice agents late today arrested an Italian stowaway on the outgoing steamship Cedric on suspicion but he later was released. Police detectives also questioned a foreign journalist late today.

One Man Detained.

The only other man being detained is Edwin Fischer, a lawyer and former employe of the French high commission here, who sent postcard warnings to friends in the financial district. He was turned over to the police of Hamilton, Ontario, yesterday by his brother-in-law, Robert Pope, who said he was acting queerly. Fischer was later adjudged mentally incompetent by a lunacy commission and temporarily confined in the Hamilton jail.

Local police investigators have been sent to question him and if he has direct knowledge of the explosion, to bring him back to New York if possible. Fischer claims to have received notice of the impending disaster by "mental telepathy."

One blacksmith told the police he might throw light on the identity of the horse and its owner. At noon he went to look at the badly dismebered carcass, but when he left the police said, "there was nothing new to report."

The writer of the anonymous letter informed the police that he saw Brailovsky and three other men talking at the corner of Pine and Nassau streets, near the scene of the explosion, about twenty minutes after the detonation took place. The writer declared the three men seemed to be in a jubilant mood.

Brailovsky, the police said, admitted being at the place mentioned, but placed his presence there an hour later than the letter charged. He denied all knowledge of the explosion. He explained his presence in the financial district by stating that he wished to dispose of some jewelry boxes there.

Brailovsky further admitted, the police say, that he talked to three men there. He said he knew only one of them, but the man he knew was acquainted with the other two.

At first he refused absolutely, the police declared, to divulge the name of his companions.

"My race," he is quoted as saying, "never divulges the name of another person without that person's consent and I cannot enlighten you."

In order to guard against a renewal of bomb outrages over the week-end, 400 extra policemen were placed on guard duty late today.

Police headquarters sent orders to all police precincts of the city tonight to watch closely and arrest, if necessary, all persons seen acting suspiciously around public buildings, elevated railway structures and subway stations, particularly those of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, whose employes are on strike.

RUSSIAN JOURNALIST IS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Alexander J. Brailovsky, a Russian journalist, who was taken into custody late this afternoon after the police had received an anonymous letter that he was seen in the financial district a short time before the Wall street explosion Thursday noon, was formally placed under arrest just before midnight on a charge of being an undesirable alien. He will be turned over to department of justice agents, the police said, while a check is being made of his movements.

Brailovsky was seized in a small stationery store on East Seventh street in the rear of which is a printing shop where the "Russy Golos" (Russian Voice), is described by the authorities as a radical Russian magazine, is published.

SPECIAL LEGISLATURE CAN'T LEVY POLL TAX AGAINST THE WOMEN

OPINION IS HANDED TO GOVERNOR BY ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE STATE.

HOBBY IS OF OPINION WAY CAN BE FOUND

Will Ask Legislature To Provide Restrictions To Prevent Irregularities.

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—The Texas legislature which is called to convene in special session September 21, would not have the power to levy a poll tax upon women, which under the constitution would become a voting prerequisite in the coming November election, according to an opinion handed to the governor by the attorney general today.

The opinion stated that the legislature has the power to impose a poll tax upon all persons, male and female, subject to the constitutional provisions which require that the issuance of poll tax receipts be prior to the first of February next preceding elections in which they shall be deemed a prerequisite for voting and continued in effect that the time for which poll tax receipts may be issued for use in connection with the general election on November 2 has passed.

Governor Hobby stated that the opinion would not alter his intention of asking the legislature to provide restriction to prevent possible irregularities in the November election, and said that in his opinion some system of registration of voters may be provided by the legislature without conflicting with the constitution. The attorney general in a former opinion had held that the woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution in effect nullified portions of the Texas poll tax law, which was the basis of the voter registration system of the state.

JONNART AND PERET LEADING CANDIDATES

Thought One Or The Other Will Succeed Deschanel As President Of France.

PARIS, Sept. 18.—Senator Charles Jonnart and Raol Peret were regarded today as leading possibilities for the French presidency to succeed Paul Deschanel.

Premier Millerand was the general favorite for the office, and it was conceded generally he would be the choice if he will consent to accept. Thus far he has declined vigorously to be nominated.

At the cabinet session yesterday in which Deschanel's resignation was read and calls issued for convening the national assembly, it was reported Millerand's colleagues applied great pressure to the premier, but he remained obdurate.

A change in dates to Thursday for the session of the national assembly has been made to permit the chambers to hear the new president's address Saturday. Adjournment on that date would permit the members to attend departmental and general council meetings Monday.

Senator Jonnart today announced his candidacy for the presidency in even Premier Millerand will not accept the nomination.

Senators and deputies arriving here today for the national assembly session said they will make a concerted move Monday to induce Millerand to accept the presidency.

Texas Woman Backs Ponzi Off of Board With Profit Offer

BUTTE, MONT., Sept. 18.—...fers of 100 per cent profit per month, alleged to have been made by Mrs. Mary E. Phillips of Fort Worth, Texas, resulted in her detention today by Butte police, according to Police Chief Murphy.

Mrs. Phillips admitted, the officer said, that she had told a Melstone, Mont., woman that she was a member of a prominent detective agency seeking counterfeiters. She said, according to Chief Murphy, that she was selling valuable oil royalties to locate the counterfeiters. The Melstone woman came to Butte today to assist her in the work. She failed to locate Mrs. Phillips and reported the offers to the police, whose subsequent investigation resulted in Mrs. Phillips' arrest.

"She makes Ponzi, the Boston financier, look like a 'piker,'" Chief Murphy said. "Ponzi only offered 50 per cent profit in 90 days."

GOV. COX OUTLINES FIVE CONCRETE AND DEFINITE MEASURES

PROPOSED TO REDUCE COST OF LIVING AND ELIMINATE THE PROFITEER.

SCORES THE REPUBLICAN "SENATORIAL OLIGARCHY"

Charges It With Protecting "The Most Shameless Profiteers In History."

By HERBERT W. WALKER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Governor James M. Cox, after charging in speeches here today that the "republican senatorial oligarchy" protected "the most shameless profiteers in history," outlined five "practical, concrete and definite measures," which, he said, will reduce the cost of living and elminiate the profiteer. They were:

Congress should grant the president a permanent revolving fund to purchase as much of the sugar crop as is necessary to prevent profiteering.

A law limiting the period durwhich goods may be kept in cold storage.

A law requiring that the price at which goods were placed in storage be marked upon them.

A statute requiring all goods destined for interstate commerce be marked with the price at which they left the hands of the producer.

A law licensing and regulating those engaged in interstate commerce to prevent unconscionable profiteering.

Cox then charged the profiteers are backing the republican campaign fund. "It must be more than a coincidence," he said, "that the many profiteers who were protected by the senate oligarchy in the present congress are paying their share in the republican fund, which I charge will not be less than $15,000,000."

Cox said he appealed to the congress to adopt measures to reduce the cost of living.

WOULD APPOINT HOOVER A MEMBER OF CABINET

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Governor Cox, in an address here today before a luncheon of business men, referred to Herbert Hoover as the type of trained mind he would like to have in his cabinet if elected.

The democratic candidate rested this morning, made two luncheon speeches, made a brief talk at a reception in his honor, and then left for Oakland to visit wounded soldiers and to make a formal address tonight.

"Mr. Hoover's effective service in the war was largely due to his thorough training as an engineer," he said, "and if I can induce him, one of the best engineers in the country will sit in my cabinet."

The governor also favored in this speech the abolishing of the excess profits tax and the substitution for it of a tax of one or one and one-half per cent on the volume of business of a firm.

At a luncheon by the San Francisco Center, a woman's organiastion, he declared that the country would have had a much better idea of conditions in Russia of a group of women of the character of Jane Addams of the heads of American educational institutions had been included in the Root mission to Russia.

A rotary fund by which the president would buy up an entire sugar crop or in any other way meet a food crisis when congress was not in session was proposed in both his talks. He said the government should have inventories of all food supplies to foretell alarm over the possibilities of food shortage.

STATE CONVENTION OF DEMOCRATS REQUEST THE RELEASE OF MACSWINEY

SURINGFIELD, MASS., Sept. 18.—The league of nations was endorsed, with the recommendation that the United States take up under ith the question of the status of Ireland, in the platform adopted by the democratic state convention here today. The plank was adopted as submitted by the committee on resolutions after a bitter fight in behalf of substitute planks which demanded a repudiation of the league and a recommendation that the United States recognize the "Irish republic."

The final vote found a substantial majority of the convention supporting the league.

The convention by a rising vote adopted a motion to cable the English government requesting the release of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, now on hunger strike.

DOUBLE HEADER WILL END WESTERN SEASON

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18.—Double headers at Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Joplin and Wichita tomorrow will bring to a close the Western league 1920 season. Tulsa needs only to split even with Sioux City to win the pennant. If Wichita wins both from Omaha and Tulsa drops the two to Sioux City, however, Wichita Will be the league champion.

RECALL OF STATE TROOPS FROM GALVESTON ORDERED BY HOBBY; CAPT. BROOKS TO BE IN CHARGE

GALVESTON, Sept. 18.—"Recall" will be blown at Camp Hutchings at midnight September 20 and martial law in Galveston formally will come to an end, Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters told men of the first brigade of Texas cavalry here tonight.

Troops will be withdrawn from the city as soon thereafter as affairs at Camp Hutchings can be wound up, General Wolters stated.

When he learned that an agreement had been reached, General Wolters made the following statement:

"Good. I am very happy over the outcome. The majesty of the law has been upheld. The port, now open, will continue open, workers will be protected in their rights to labor and, with the city authorities co-operating, the task will be easy.

"I shall turn the police department over to Captain Brooks and Chief of Police Sedgwich at midnight, September 20. At that time the troops will be withdrawn from police duty. They will remain at Camp Hutchings until date of departure."

AUSTIN, Sept. 18.—"I expect to have all troops out of Galvesfon not earlier than October 5 and not later than October 10," said Governor Hobby late today in a formal statement.

The governor's statement follows:

"The agreement on the part of city officials of Galveston to place the police department of Galveston in the hands of a state ranger captain designated by me, and to give police protection through rangers and a local police force, working under his direction, will, in my judgment, afford that safety for workers and that protection to property which will, for the first time since military forces have been in Galveston, justify their withdrawal.

Relieves Congestion.

"The presence of the militia has relieved the congestion in the movement of commerce through the port of Galveston and has guaranteed the right of the individual to work undisturbed and unmolested. The state, through its government, can perform no higher service. Those employed at the port will be given the same protection as heretofore because if the agreement is not carried out in good faith, and if there is any hindrance or interference with the rangers, through local authorities, I will mimediately take the necessary steps to give protection, even if the restoration of martial law is necessary, and the soldiers shall be returned.

"The laws of the state will be strictly enforced and those arteries of trade essential to the business and prosperity of Texas will be kept open while the free and uninterrupted movement of freight is assured.

Pleased With Agreement.

"I am very much pleased that an agreement has been reached so the troops of the national guard of Texas may be withdrawn. I am thankful to them for the splendid service they have rendered the state. I am thankful to General Jacob F. Wolters who has brought great credit to himself as the commanding officer. I am especially thankful to my secretary, Mr. Ralph Soape, who, as my personal representative, has so ably conducted the negotiations which brought about agreement with the committee of Galveston citizens and the mayor and the members of the board of city commissioners. I appreciate, too, the spirit of co-operation now manifested on the part of the local authorities.'

The plan for the government of Galveston agreed upon by the city and state authorities was outlined by the governor.

It is in substance as follows:

Plan Is Outlined.

The citizens' committee and board of commissioners recommend and request that the governor place at the disposal of the city government and the committee an experienced ranger captain who will be placed at the head of the police department and we have and now authorize to exercise complete authority and control over all peace officers, both regular and special.

The ranger captain herein referred to, to direct all operations of the police department through the regularly appointed chief of police. To carry out the spirit of this instrument, the board of commissioners pledge themselves to suspend temporarily and remove from office permanently in such manner as will not conflict with the city charter of Galveston, any officer of the city of Galveston who attempts in any way to impede, obstruct, or interfere with the protection of workers and the enforcement of the law by the ranger captain placed at the head of the police department as request herein.

Provide For Special Officers.

That the board of commissioners appoint as special officers such number of men as the captain of the rangers referred to may deem advisable to assist them in enforcing the laws in the event of any emergency.

That the government order to Galveston such number of rangers, as special rangers, as the ranger captain referred to may deem advisable to act in co-operation with the citizens' committee and the police force, and board of commissioners of said city in suppressing any disorder that may arise and in the enforcement of the laws of the state.

For the purpose of securing co-operation of the citizenship with the board of commissioners in the maintenance of law and order in the city, the committee of citizens above named, exclusive of the members of the board of commissioners, are to continue as a committee in an advisory capacity to this end, and also for the purpose of endeavoring to bring about a more amicable understanding between employers and employes to the city of Galveston, and to that end, it is requested that the governor lend his aid and influence.

The plans herein detailed shall be operative so long as a necessity for same shall exist, the necessity to be determined by all the parties hereto.

HUGHES VIGOROUSLY ATTACKS THE LEAGUE IN TRENTON ADDRESS

FORMER NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT ENTERS CAMPAIGN FOR G. O. P. TICKET.

DECLARES ARTICLE TEN IS A MISCHIEF MAKER

Says It Will Serve To Make Disputes Rather Than To Settle Them.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 18.—In a speech vigorously attacking the League of Nations covenant as it stands, particularly article 10, Chas. E. Hughes, former supreme court justice and candidate for the presidency in 1916, today signalized his entrance into the campaign for Harding and Coolidge.

"Article 10 is a mischief maker," Hughes said, in addressing the New Jersey republican state convention. "It belongs to the category of alliances to make war and is opposed to American principle. It will serve to make disputes and not to heal them. Article 10 is really the vice of the covenant."

Judge Hughes contended this article imposes an obligation upon the signatories of the treaty that is perfectly clear.

"The obligation is immediate," he declared. "It awaits no action of the league to impose it. It is of no avail to call the obligation a moral one. If such an undertaking, to respect and preserve against external aggression the political independence of all members of the league, has validity, it would create just as legal and just as binding an obligation as any obligation under international law, or any treaty obligation can be."

Objects to Argument.

Combatting the argument that under the constitution, congress alone can declare war, Hughes said:

"If the treaty were made without reservation the nation would be bound to all the other contracting powers to use the proper organs of government to accomplish whatever is necessary to make good the engagement."

He contended the president might, under article 10, plunge the country int. war without waiting for congress, "but," he continued, "it has been urged that the league council might not advise the use of military force. 'There is no security for this, for plainly the council might so advise and force might be plainly needed if the guaranty was to be made good."

He characterized the provision regarding the Monroe doctrine as both inaccurate and ambiguous.

"If it was intended to reserve the Monroe doctrine unimpaired," he asked, "why not say so? Why should the American representatives have failed to secu clear and adequate provisions upon this point?"

Asserting that President Wilson could readily have secured assent to an association or league organized on the proper basis, Hughes continued:

Termed the Wrong Way.

"He could have easily obtained ratification had he been willing to accept adequate reservations necessary for our protection but he wanted his own way—an attitude to be excused had it been the right way but it was the wrong way. The candidate of the democratic party has chosen, and is bound to travel in the same wrong path."

A considerable portion of Judge Hughes' speech was devoted to censure of the present administration. He dwelt on the alleged "lack of preparation for war, the grievous extravagance in the hurried effort to make amends," and the present heavy burden of taxation, he said, was largely responsible for the present high cost of living. He charged the administration also with "flagrant disregard of the fundamental principles of liberty," and retention of war powers, "wholly inadmissable i. peace, on the fiction of a continued prosecution of war and disregard of the plainest facts."

With regard to the president's part in negotiating the treaty of Versailles, he said:

"It was wrong for him to give to foreign powers the impression of an authority which did not exist. It was a highly dangerous role for an American president to appeal to foreign powers or their governments. It was still more dangerous to excite hopes which could not be satisfied, and to give rise to a general sentiment in Europe that, by reason of expectations created by our representative and unfulfilled, we had been guilty of a breach of faith."

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE AT CORNER 7TH AND SCOTT, WOMAN SLIGHTLY INJURED

Two Fords had a run-in at Seventh and Scott streets, at 8:15 o'clock Saturday night. A lady occupant of one of the machines was slightly injured.

One of the machines, a runabout driven by a Mr. Turner, was coming west on Seventh and started to turn the corner going south on Scott. The other, a Ford touring car, driven by E. D. Patton, was going east on Seventh.

The two machines collided about 10 feet north of the edge of the curbings at the southeast corner of the intersection of the streets.

Both machines were damaged to the extent that they could not be driven from the scene of the accident. The front axles of both cars were badly bent and both machines had one of the head lights broken.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Sunday Health Talk No. 1.
By P. L. Myers, D. C.

Health turns the Clock Backward

Bronchial asthma only differs from other forms in the fact that it appears localized in the chest rather than higher up. There is a spasmodic struggle for breath that often amounts to real agony. The breath is short and painful.

The cause is pressure upon spinal nerves in the dorsal, or upper back between the shoulders, and adjusting at this point is the only means of getting at and removing the nerve pressure which is the cause of this disease. Those suffering from this ailment frequently have a humped curve in the back-bone in the neck and upper shoulder region. Adjusting has been responsible for the restoration of thousands who thought themselves doomed to a life time of suffering from this disease.

POSTMASTER MAKES TRIP OVER ROUTES

Says Drags And Scrapers Are Needed To Put Roads In Passable Shape.

That drags and scrapers are needed on the roads in this territory more than repeated engineering surveys without practical results was declared Saturday by Postmaster Ed Howard, after spending four days going over rural mail routes in Wichita, Clay and Archer counties.

Postmaster Howard's wanderings led him over route No. 5 into Archer county; north into Clay county to Thornberry and back; east over route No. 2 to Dean and return, and then over route No. 6 into Clay county as far as the Dale ranch.

"The roads were in awful condition," he said. "In wet weather they are impassable, that is all. They need to be worked. I am heartily in favor of concrete highways, but it does seem as though there is a tremendous waste of engineering effort at present, with little or no practical work being done."

The crop conditions were never better, the postmaster added. The farmers have more stuff than they can save, and a great deal of it will probably be wasted this year.

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR WORLD'S SERIES AT THE OLYMPIC THEATER

With the world's series but a scant three weeks off the management of the Olympic theater is making preparations for the installation of the big electric score board on which they will show the games, play play.

Added information has been received in regard to the board and from the reports and statement of leading ball players it is evident that what the board can't do in the baseball line isn't worth doing. Pop flies, home runs, sacrifice hits, double steals, wild pitches and tip fouls are all shown plainly almost as soon as they are made on the playing dismond. Ten expert operators, headed by a professional baseball player chosen from some team in the Texas league will operate the board in the local theater. A leased wire will run directly from the Olympic stage to the two parks of the contending teams, thus assuring complete returns instantly and a detailed summary at the conclusion of each contest will give the final tabulations of runs, hits, errors and all the other information in regard to the big contests.

There are but five of these electric score boards in the state of Texas, the other four being scattered throughout the larger cities of the state. The local theater was fortunate in securing for their use the services of one of the mechanical affairs and they are anticipating a good attendance at the matinee performances.

COTTON PICKERS TO BE MANUFACTURED HERE

Pronounced Success Says Mr. Kemp After Witnessing a Demonstration Of It's Work.

J. A. Kemp has returned from Dallas where he witnessed a demonstration last week of the Price cotton picking machine. Mr. Kemp was very enthusiastic over the demonstration and believes that the machine will be an unqualified success. Arrangements have been made to build a number of these machines at the Wichita Motor company's plant here, Mr. Kemp announced. A demonstration of the machine is to be made here in the near future, he said.

A model of the Price patent was made several years ago and demonstrations were given. Since that time the machine has been perfected and, after the demonstration last week, Mr. Kemp said he could give the machine his unqualified approval.

Mr. Stark was accompanied by Mrs. Stark. They were on their way to their home at Beaumont after a vacation spent in Colorado.

Governor Stark, while here, discussed with local Rotarians the institution of Rotary clubs at Vernon and Stamford. The institution of a Rotary club at Vernon has already been approved and the Wichita Falls club which made the survey at Vernon has been assigned to institute the new club. The institution will take place in about three weeks. The prospects are also excellent for the institution of a club at Stamford at an early date.

MASTER OIL & GAS CO. SUCCEEDS SHAMROCK

Is Organized At Amarillo With Capital Of Three Hundred Thousand Dollars.

AMARILLO, TEXAS, Sept. 18.—As successor to the Shamrock Oil company, an association, the Master Oil and Gas company with $300,000 fully paid up capital is to be incorporated. This was the decision reached at a meeting of the Shamrock shareholders held in the office of L. A. Wells Thursday afternoon. The stock was fully subscribed at the meeting and the directors and officers were elected as follows:

R. B. Masterson, president; C. H. Clark of Wichita Falls, former president of the Shamrock company, vice-president; C. E. Weymouth, secretary; W. O'Brien, treasurer; Roy B. Jones of Dallas, president of the Panhandle Refining company; Reece S. Allen of Wichita Falls, local refinery head; W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls, L. A. Wells and Terry Thompson, directors. All not otherwise designated are local people.

While the Master well has increased its flow of its accord to 20,000,000 cubic feet, it was the decision of the company to continue drilling for oil as long as possible, and to develop holdings for oil. These holdings consist of about 8,000 acres in proven gas territory, in Moore, Potter and Carson counties.

DEMAND FOR RESIDENCE PROPERTY STRONG AND PRICES HOLDING UP

Despite the tight money situation the demand for residence property is strengthening and there is a better tone in the realty market. Realty dealers say that there is a disposition among buyers now to search for bargains but there has been little recession in prices.

The re-opening of school has brought the usual number of families to town. A number of folks who sold their residences at the heighth of the high prices and who went on trips, are returning to find that prices of residence property are about as high as when they sold.

Eight sales of residence property reported by Moore & Blacklock last week are typical of the prices now prevailing for the residence property. These sales were as follows:

1905	Pear street, B. H. Rankins	$44,500
1805	Eleventh St., R. M. Johnson	8,350
1213	Filmore St., C. C. McDonald	8,000
1515,	Fifteenth St., M. F. Parker	5,300
1805	Eeleventh St., J. C. Winfrey	9,000
1109	Taylor St., H. D. Bishop	6,500
1415	Giddings St., W. H. Sanford	4,800
1801	Grant St., E. S. Morris	4,000

While Prices of residence property remain high a downward tendency has been noted in rents. Many houses are now renting at prices reduced from 20 to 50 per cent from the rates charged six months ago.

STORM THREATENED ON GULF OF MEXICO

Caution Is Advised All Vessels In East Gulf And South Atlantic Waters.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Conditions are becoming threatening over the western Caribbean sea and the southeast Gulf of Mexico and there are strong indications of a disturbance in an early stage of development east of Yucatan moving toward the Yucatan channel, the weather bureau announced tonight.

Caution was advised all vessels in east gulf, northwestern Caribbean sea and south Atlantic waters.

Further advices will be issued Sunday morning, the bureau said.

NEW YORK HERALD POLL FAVORS HARDING

were taken in democratic territory. The result in each case gives Harding a good lead. During the next week polls representing other sections of the population will be obtained.

Among the women who have voted the sentiment seems to be even more pronounced for Harding than in the case of the men. This is doubtless explained by the fact that the great majority of the women as yet reached by the canvass are women of the business type who believe that Harding means prosperity. If there is any pronounced sentiment among women for the League of Nations it ought to be found in matinee crowds. The straw man expects to take polls of some theaters and motion picture houses at an early date and will await the result with interest.

There is a belief in labor circles that in the end Christensen will get more votes than the polls so far indicate. Those who say this believe that the discontented democrats who refuse to vote the republican ticket will finally compromise by voting for the farmer-labor candidate as a matter of protest. If Christensen conducts a campaign in this section he may get many votes by it; but as yet few people seem to know that he is running. At any rate, the Christensen vote in the east will come almost wholly from the democrats.

Debs also is a disturbing element for the democrats. In the New York poll he gets 50 of the Wilson votes and only 10 of the Hughes votes. If he maintains this proposition all through the campaign it will cut a considerable figure in the result in New York.

ADDITIONAL POPULATION FIGURES ARE REPORTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Census reports today include:

State of California, 3,426,536; increase, 1,045,987, or 44.1 per cent.

San Benito, Texas, 5,070; no comparison available.

Denton, Texas, 7,626; increase, 2,894, or 61.2.

Victoria, Texas, 5,957; increase, 2,284, or 62.2.

Counties reported:

Carter, Oklahoma, 40,247; increase, 14,889, or 58.7 per cent.

Cameron, Texas, 36,662; increase 9,504, or 35 per cent.

Parker, Texas, 23,482; decrease, 2,849, or 10.8 per cent.

A mistake in the make-up of article headed "Requirements of City Outlined," on Page 12 of Part Two renders it unintelligible unless read as follows: Begin with second column and read down to break on word "sup-" at paragraph marked "II,' then to the beginning of first column, continuing to bottom of column and jumping to paragraph "II" in second column where you quit off previously, the remainder of the article reading continuously. The mistake is regretted but was discovered too late to make correction, practically all of the section having been printed.

URGES IMPORTANCE OF PROPOSED HOME FOR WORKING GIRLS

NEED FOR INSTITUTION IS URGED BY "PA" BURDICK OF SALVATION ARMY.

CAMPAIGN FOR FUND TO BE CONDUCTED SOON

Effort Will Be Made To Raise $50,000, Of Which $43,000 Will Be For Home.

Within a few weeks the Salvation Army, aided and backed by the Wichita county advisory board, will launch a campaign to obtain $50,000, of which amount $43,000 will be used to guarantee the construction of a home for working girls in this city. Some men and women will give generously to this fund, others will not give at all and will base their refusals on the ground that they have been "dunned to death."

But the 55 years of service of the Salvation Army have been based on the theory that no human being ever sinks below salvation—and with that thought in mind, "Pa" Burdick earnestly declared Saturday that the people of Wichita Falls should feel also that they are never being asked too often to contribute as long as the causes continue to be worthy of support.

"Prohibition has relieved the Salvation Army of the great bulk of its work among men who had wrecked their lives in saloons," Burdick said, "and we have enjoyed a greater freedom to perform worthy work along many other lines. Here in Wichita Falls we have no problem of drunkenness, nor are we over-burdened with the care of men and women addicted to the use of drugs. Our work is spread over the great field of men and women who have been injured morally and financiany by sickness, poverty and discouragement with life arising from thousands of sources.

Army Is Interested.

"The problem of helping the working girls is one in which the Army is keenly interested, and one wherein we humbly believe we can be of help. It is very, very hard for the girl away from home, or the girl without a home, to support herself today in decency and comfort. She must pay more than ever before for her room, her clothes, her food and even her amusements; she must pay more than is morally fair and just to ask her to pay, even though those who sell rooms, clothing, food and amusements feel that they also are caught in the wheel of high costs and must charge more. No matter what their reasons may be, the fact remains, viewed simply from a moral viewpoint, that the girl has to pay too much.

"She cannot pay the price and do more than barely exist. In fact, I might have avoided mention of amusements, for thousands of girls have none. Under such conditions, there is always present the danger that the girl will take the one false step; a step she would never take if she could only live in comfort and have a little left over for happiness.

Will Aid 50 Girls.

"The home that the Salvation Army hopes to build in Wichita Falls we believe will make it possible for at least 50 girls to find that comfort and happiness. We are not dreaming, but are basing all our figures on known facts; on results obtained in similar Army homes throughout the country. We can furnish room and board for a working girl at from $5 to $6 a week; a good room, and good, wholesome food.

"We will have a laundry in the basement equipped with electrical appliances, so that the girls can, with very little extra work, save practically all their laundry bills. A charge of 10 cents a week to each girl will adequately cover the cost of the electrical current.

"We will have good books, a gymnasium and rooms where the girls can rest and read in comfort. Every chance will be given to them to make the most of their opportunities."

And then "Pa" Burdick, feeling that he had "sold" the reporter on the subject, (and he had) spoke of several other dreams that he hopes to see realized in this city:

Mentions Other Plans.

"There are other things we want to do. The young man in the war grew to like us and trust us. We are going to keep that liking and that trust. The man in civvies is not different from the man in khaki, and if we appealed to him in the trenches there is no reason why we cannot appeal to him in his office.

"The boy problem is another one to be tackled. If it is a good thing to save an old man, it certainly is a worth-while thing to save a child. We have always wanted to stretch out into his branch of service.

"The building of hospitals, relief centers, of meeting houses, of units, all of these things are being contemplated by the Salvation Army. Wichita Falls should get its share. And the day of the meeting room in the steamy room above a Chinese laundry is past. We are not building cathedrals, perhaps, but we are bulding clean, hygenic houses and homes."

And then "Pa" Burdick grinned a cheerful grin, patted a passing youngster on the head and cheerily went on his way down the street.

STEHLIK & BABER REPORT LARGE SALES LAST WEEK

Real estate sales aggregating more than $50,000 are reported for last week by Stehlik & Baber, well known local real estate firm, including a 247-acre Wichita valley farm, owned by H. T. Moore, to B. C. Cochran of this city. While the total consideration in this transaction is not made public, it is understood that the farm was sold for a better price than has been paid for strictly agricultural land for some time in this part of the state, being one of the best farms in Wichita county. All livestock, farm implements and feed stuff were included in the sale. Mr. Moore's intention being to retire and to make his residence in the city. He has already purchased a residence, through the agency of Stehlik & Baber, and will move his family to Wichita Falls within a short time.

The sale of a six-room duplex home on Denver street is included in last week's sales.

The Foreign Exchange Department of the City National Bank of Commerce is prepared to issue Travellers' Cheques and in other ways to assist those preparing for domestic or foreign travel. For safeguarding their valuables during their absence the bank maintains a very complete Safe Deposit Vault system. 129-1tc

SCHOOLS ADVISED TO DISCONTINUE USE OF CITY WATER SUPPLY

AUTHORITIES ARE SO ADVISED BY THE COUNTY HEALTH OFFICIALS.

CROWDED CONDITION IN ALL OF THE BUILDINGS

Lunch Rooms At High School And Austin Building Are Proving Quite Popular.

Saturday afternon the school authorities received a report from Drs. West and Walker, county health officials, advising that the use of city water in the public schools be discontinued. In making their recommendation the physicians stated that the situation in the schols was no worse than in any other part of the city, but that the water now in the mains was unsafe for drinking purposes.

Just what action will be taken by the schol board in regard to the water is not known. In commenting on the situation one authority intimated that the board was considering the complaints made by parents of school children but that nothing definite would be decided upon until the next meeting of the board. He also stated that it was the wish of the members of the board to improve the situation but that the expense of installing a private filter system in each building would be entirely prohibitive. Supplying any of the commercial waters now on the market was also thought to be out of the question. Authoritative information as to just what the result of the health officers report would be was unknown but the matter will no doubt be given careful attention within a short time.

Schools Crowded.

The latest figures available in regard to the attendance in the school system indicated that the enrollment now was far greater than it had been at the close of the school period last June. The general impression has been that the attendance record this year would be much smaller than that of last but this is not the case. The unexpected influx of pupils has caused an acute shortage of room and is directly responsible for the half day sessions that are being held in all of the buildings. There appears to have been some complaint from various sources in regard to these half day sessions but it is merely a matter of placing 75 or 80 students in one class for all day sessions or placing 35 or 40 in a class for half day sessions. A single class of 80 pupils under one teacher would be little more than an excuse so far as educational purposes is concerned so it was decided, that the half day sessions for children in the primary grades would be the most effective remedy. By utilizing the equipment and teaching force of the first, second and third grades it will be possible to relieve the crowded condition in the upper grades and the more advanced pupils are in greater need of continuous periods than are the younger ones. This crowded condition exists at present in every building of the school system and there is no immediate prospect of relief.

Night School Started.

The night school which is to be operated this year in connection with the public schools was opened last week with an attendance of something over 40. According to W. W. Brown, business manager of the schools, a great deal of interest is being shown in the night sessions and that a representative gathering from all of the business houses of the city has already been enrolled in classes. Recitations are being held three times a week in the high schol building, the regular instructors being in charge of the classes. Any subject included in the school curicula will be taught when 10 or more pupils enroll for the subject. At present commercial subjects are the most largely attended but it is the opinion of the teachers that liberal arts subjects, language, English and mathematics would soon be added.

Lunch Rooms Are Popular.

The school lunch roms located in the Austin and high school buildings were opened last Tuesday and were heavily patronized by teachers and pupils. These are under the supervision of the board of education but are in charge of Mrs. S. Myers. An efficient corps of cooks are employed and wholesome food is served at the lowest possible cost.

STATEMENT OF COST OF COUNTRY SCHOOLS

Total Of $62,724.43 Was Spent In Maintenance During 1919 and 1920.

During the year of 1919-1920, the country schools of Wichita county were operated at a cost of $62,724.43 according to the annual report which County Treasurer T. W. McHam is submitting to the state department of education at Austin.

Of the total amount expended for the schools of the county, $39,730.25 was for the payment of salaries of the teachers employed while the remainder, $22,994.18 was expended for maintenance, new buildings and repairs.

This amount of money was spent in maintaining 26 schools in the county and paying salaries for 49 teachers.

It is believed that the total amount to be expended this coming year will be smaller, despite the fact that teachers' salaries have advanced from 25 per cent to 35 per cent over that of last year. The opinion that the cost will be smaller is based on the fact that the county will have to bear the expense of but one new building and in view of the fact that coal has been supplied all the schools for the winter season.

It is recited that last year, due to the bad weather and nearly impassable roads, that coal cost $22 a ton to get it into the schools. Of this amount $16 was spent for the cost of the fuel while the remaining $16 was spent in getting the coal hauled.

This year, however, better judgment was used and all the coal has been placed. Trucks that came into Iowa Park with loads and were preparing to go back empty were employed in taking the coal out and in this manner the cost of transporting it from the railroad was nominal with that of last year.

STRAW VOTE OF HERALD.

Of course, it cannot be predicted that the poll this year will follow that of four years ago but it may be pointed out that the polls so far taken have been mostly among elements that are naturally expected to be hostile to the administration, namely, the Irish and German elements, at least those elements of these nationalities which are Irish or German before they are Americans, and which were strongly opposed to the war. They adopted the motto: "God punish Wilson," and they are seeking to be the agents of the Almighty in this punishment through opposition to the democratic ticket.

Installments of the poll are to be published each Sunday until the election and will, of course, be watched with inferest by all who have interest in the outcome of the election.

IMPRESSED WITH SUGGESTION.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram is favorably impressed with Governor Hobby's informal suggestion in connection with his call for a special session of the legislature, that a period of fifteen days between now and the date of the general election be designated in which those men and women who did not pay their poll taxes prior to February 1 be permitted to quality by paying a registration fee equal to the poll tax. "In this way," notes our Fort Worth contemporary, "no citizen of Texas, man or woman, will be discriminated against, full opportunity being given to all to qualify as a voter and the franchise being withheld from all who have not paid a sum equivalent to the poll tax into the state treasury."

So to do means the removal of "what would have been a very unfair discrimination against the men and women who have paid their poll taxes, and of providing additional revenue to the state, which in all probability would offset the amount which will be expended on the special session of the legislature. Unless there is some constitutional inhibition against such a measure—and we know of no such inhibition off-hand—it should be passed promptly by the legislature, with the required two-thirds vote to give it immediate effect."

There is no question but it would be a most unfair discrimination against the 750,000 men and women who paid their poll taxes to put on an equal footing at the ballot box with them the other 750,000 or more men and women of the state who did not pay their poll taxes without a cent of cost. The Nineteenth amendment merely provides that there shall be no sex discrimination in the right of franchise. The levy of a registration fee against the newly enfranchised is certainly no discrimination, and the importance of its levy is tremendously increased by the Attorney General's ruling that all men and women, regardless of poll taxes, will be qualified to vote in November as the law now stands, to the end that there shall be no unjust discrimination against those who have paid their poll taxes prior to February 1 last.

As to the poll tax payment as a prerequisite to the right of suffrage, there is a very considerable difference of opinion, and there are very many citizens who sincerely believe that the tax should be collected, but without making its payment a necessity to obtain the right to vote. But there can be no reasonable difference, we think, regarding the injustice of collecting the tax from 750,000 voters and then permitting 750,000 other voters, who were equally liable for the tax, to come into the polls without a cent's cost.

The inspired "dope" that Charlie Chaplin was under contract at $1,000,000 a year seems to have been publicity propaganda, because, since no man ever yet has been able to delude his wife materially about the size of his income, his wife, Mildred, says Charlie is earning $13,000 a week, which is something over $750,000 a year. Mildred says, however, that Charlie is not enamored of work; that if he weren't lazy he could just as easily make $25,000 a week, which would put him well past the million-dollar mark. Mildred doesn't seem longer to be an admirer of the loitering Charles. In the first place, she says, he is a tight-wad, "so tight with his money that you couldn't separate him from a cent with a vacuum cleaner"; in the second, he refused either to give or lend her $5,000 to make a trip East to get medical treatment. He offered her $25,000 if she would get a divorce and later boosted the offer to $45,000, which she also, she says, refused. Now she wants only one-half of his profits from his latest picture and to that end has withdrawn her divorce suit and instituted instead an action for a money-settlement. What with easy time and fat salaries, many of the movie stars, both masculine and feminine, are getting in the bad graces of the general public, which includes the movie-going public, and we know of some picture fans who have marked certain actors and actresses off their schedules simply because of disgust at their actions in private life.

Illinois is normally republican by a big majority and good judges of elections are content usually to put the Illinois vote in the republican column without question. It may continue that way in November, but in the bitterness of the Thompson-Lowden faction is to be seen at least a faint reason for democratic hopes. There has never been waged a more bitter factional fight than that between the Thompson and Lowden elements in the republican party. There was nothing too bitter to say, feeling ran high, lines were sharply and tensely drawn from the top to the bottom of the ticket. The Thompson element won, largely through the Mayor's, firm control in Chicago and Cook county, and the Lowden element lost out completely. There are bitter sores left. The democrats may advantage from their existence.

During-the-war predictions that it would be many years before there would be much European immigration to the United States are daily being proved erroneous, and Ellis Island, which was sufficiently equipped to handle any normal number of immigrants, is swamped by arrivals to such an extent that transatlantic schedules are being badly disrupted owing to the delay in passing on the qualifications of the would-be citizens. And it is also worthy of remark that during-the-war talk about restrictions on immigrants, to the end that only those capable of future assimilation into the American body politic should be admitted, is also apparently forgotten, for while perhaps they are more strictly enforced, there are really no more legal limitations upon the entry of foreigners now than there were before the war.

The action of Daughters and Sons organizations in Wichita Falls in providing for the trip of Confederate veterans to the reunion at Houston in new uniforms and each accompanied by a boy scout has attracted attention throughout the South. Many expressions of commendation are being received. It is a genuine delight to do honor and service to these old veterans and the Daughters and Sons of Wichita Falls have adopted a very fine way of doing an honr.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

Just Folks
By EDGAR A. GUEST

Nothing to Laugh At.

'Tain't nothin' to laff at as I can see!
If you'd been stung by a bumble bee,
An' your nose was swelled an' it smarted, too,
You wouldn't want people to laff at you.

If you had a lump that 'us bull of fire
Like you'd been touched by a red hot wire
An' your nose spread out like a load of hay
You wouldn't want strangers who come your way
To ask you to let 'em see the place
An' laff at you right before your face.

What's funny about it, I'd like to know?
It isn't a joke to be hurted so!
An' how wus I ever on earth to tell
'At the pretty flower which I stooped to smell
In our back yard wus the very one
Which a bee wus busily working on?
An' jus' as I got my nose down there
He lifted his foot an' kicked for fair
An' he planted his stinger right into me,
But it's nothin' to laff at as I can see.

I let our a yell an' my Maw came out
To see what the trouble was all about.
She says from my shriek she wus sure 'at I
Had been struck by a motor car passin' by
But when she found what the matter wus
She laffed jus' like ever'body does
An' she made me stand while she poked about
To pull his 'urrible stinger out.
An' my Pa laffed, too, when he looked at me,
But it's nothin' to laff at, as I can see.

My Maw put witch hazel on the spot
To take down the swellin' but it has not.
It seems to git bigger as time goes by
An' I can't see good out o' this one eye
An' it hurts clean down to my very toes
Whenever I've got to blow my nose.
An' all I can say is when this gits well
There ain't any flowers 'at I'll stoop to smell,
I'm through disturbin' a bumble bee,
But it's nothin' to laff at, as I can see.

Side Talks
By RUTH CAMERON

People We Don't Forget.

I heard the other day of the death of a woman who used to do dressmaking for me some years ago.

I cannot tell you how many times the sense of the loss has come crowding up to the surface of my thoughts since then.

I can't think of that woman as dead. It doesn't seem possible that she isn't somewhere on the earth making garments and gayety in somebody's home.

Several people nearer to me have gone away in the last few years, but not one passing has so filled my thoughts as this one. Why is it? I asked myself that question when that sense of loss came over me again at the mention of Miss H.'s name, and I answered my own question—because she was one of those people with the vital spark in her.

Do you know the sort of people I mean—the people whose coming into the house seems to fill the house with life and interest, the people who are always having little interesting things happen to them, whether they go for a trip abroad or just walk down town, the people who are always keenly interested in and intelligently sympathetic about the things you are doing, and who (as a natural corollary if you stop to think of it) are always full of interesting tales of the doings of other people.

Of course I realize that all this is not a proper definition of the type, but just sign posts by which you may recognize the sort of people I mean.

And don't you? Don't you look over your own circle of friends and say, "Yes, that's just the sort of person Jane is," or, "Isn't that just the way Win makes you feel?"

And don't you feel a warmth in your heart as you think of Jane or Win and a wish that you might see him or her right now, and be lifted out of yourself by contact with that vital spark.

I once lived for a summer in a boarding house in which were seven or eight other boarders. I passed that house the other day for the first time since I lived there and when I looked at the house my mind's eye saw, not the house, but the face of a woman who had been one of the boarders. She had been the one personality with that vital spark and so she had left her stamp indelibly on that place to me.

Of course there are times when people like this become tiresome—no, I mean tiring—it is the opposite type that is tiresome. The strain of being keyed up to their vitality is too much for one and one wants to relax. But just the same we could ill spare them out of our lives, and I'm glad the Lord sees fit to make them (you see I don't say that the vital spark can be cultivated, I think it's inborn) just as I'm glad He saw fit to make spice and olives and cheese as well as bread and butter.

It Can't Be Done

WHY?—

Do People Who Cannot Write Make a Cross-mark?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The mark which persons who are unable to write are required to make instead of their signature is in the form of a cross, because, on account of its sacred associations, it was considered to be an oath or an attestation that what they were doing was correct. It is from the same belief that we obtain the expression "God save the mark" as an ejaculation approaching the character of an oath.

But, while the "making of one's mark" is now confined to those who cannot write, the use of this shorthand signature was not always so limited. Among the Saxons the mark of the cross, as an attestation of the good faith of the person signing a document, was required to be attached to the signature of those who could write, as well as to stand for the name of those who could not. In those days, if a man could write, or even read, his knowledge was considered as proof that he was in holy orders, for the clericus—or clerk—was synonomous with "penman" and the laiety, or the persons who were not clerks, did not see that it was necessary for them to read or write. The ancient use of the cross wak, therefore, practically universal, and it is only in comparatively modern times that its use has been limited to the illiterate.

HOROSCOPE
The stars incline but do not compel
(Copyright, 1919, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Sunday, September 19, 1920.

While Saturn exercises sinister power this day, Venus is in benefic aspect, according to astrology.

Under this planetary government old doctrines and ancient creeds may be often attacked, since Saturn is in evil place. Religious controversies will be numerous during the winter months.

During this sway of the stars the mind may be turgid and disturbed so that the thoughts will destroy hope rather than nourish it.

The churches will find new work to do at this time, the seers declare, and there will be unity of action in large undertakings.

Venus is in an aspect today which is read as threatening to women who will be subject to severe criticism and to increased responsibilities.

A new leader is prophesied for the new voters of the land. She will not belong to any political party, but will supersede the pioneers who won place in anti-suffrage days.

Just as the prophesy that old leaders of men could not retain their power has been fulfilled, so will the prediction that women will follow new standard-bearers come true, the seers declare.

Surprises appear to be foreshadowed principally in the reading of political horoscopes. The seers again give warning that in the new era there is no place for worn-out traditions or reactionary ideas.

The Moon is in a sign making for the upsetting of ancient faiths, whether they be religious, social or political.

Ancient lore foretold that under this sway fishermen would have exceedingly bad luck.

Next month is likely to be a time when earthquakes will be numerous. Shocks will be felt in regions seldom affected. After the total eclipse of the Moon on the 27th the most severe shocks are forecast.

Persons whose birthday it is have the augury of a successful year in business as well as in all other ambitious enterprises. They should proceed with caution, however.

Children born on this day may be rather fond of pleasure and opposed to hard work. They are likely to be exceedingly lovable and brilliant, but they may be inclined to spend money lavishly.

HALF INTEREST IN TWO CASING HEAD PLANTS

Also Includes Thirty-Five Acres Of Production In The Waggoner District.

A deal involving, according to report, more than $2,000,000 was closed Saturday, when the Western Oil Corporation sold to the Tidal Gasoline Company, of Tulsa, a one-half interest in a casing head gasoline plant in Burkburnett, another in the northwest extension field and 35 acres of production also in the Waggoner district.

The casing head plants are two of the largest in this territory. The Western Oil Corporation, which consists of a partnership of Walter K. Campbell, George W. Sneddon and J. F. Darby, with offices in 1016 American National bank building, was one of the first companies in this section of Texas to enter the casing head gasoline business. The Tidal company is a subsidiary of the Tidewater Oil Co., of New York, one of the oldest and largest independent companies in the United States. It was further stated Saturday that the acquisition of a half interest in the two plants here will make the Tidal company the largest manufacturer of casing head gasoline in the world. The company already owns numerous plants in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Officials of the Western Oil Corporation, while confirming all the facts of the sale, refused to make public the amount involved. It was rumored among oil men, however, that fully $2,000,000 figured in the deal.

The statement was made at the Western's office that the new association will at once take steps to buy or build a refinery in this section for the supplying of their blending materials.

PROGRESS IS MADE ON MONTAGUE WELL

Considerable Importance Attached To Test Being Drilled On The Dunn Farm.

NOCONA, TEXAS, Sept. 18.—Progress is being made at the Dunn farm well, commonly known as the Big Six, though the men have been working under considerable difficulty in getting under way. Spudding-in started Tuesday. An effort is to be made to drill this well in record time. It is a cable-tool test. There is perhaps no well drilling in new territory in any locality in the Red river district that is so important as this test. It is likely to prove for Nocona and Montague county what the Fowler well did at Burkburnett for that place and Wichita county. The best geological dope, and there are several reports in the hands of prominent oil companies, would indicate such a result is more than probable. This dome is said to have all the possibilities of Wichita county development. It might be noted here that S. L. Fowler, who opened the Burkburnett field, has purchased a large tract of land, about 1,200 acres in fee, which is said to be very well located in connection with Big Six well. It looks like Mr. Fowler would hit it all over again here.

Working on Derrick.

Rig builders are at work on the derrick for the Anchor, Green and others' test on the Crenshaw ranch, the location being about two miles north and a little west of Belcherville. It is the intention to make this a deep test. Gas is said to be still bubbling up in a well drilled a few years ago, about two miles west of this location. This showing and the favorable condition of the locality has attracted the attention of the well known oil men who are back of this project. Mr. Anchor is said to have been the drilling contractor on the old well just noted. Across Red river to the north, the Simms company had a very good showing of oil and gas at 2,190 feet. This well is being drilled deeper for general results, when, if nothing further develops, it will likely plug back and shoot the sand, which is about seven feet thick. It is reported, but not confirmed, the Simms people will drill another test in the vicinity of the present well.

The Nocona Oil company will probably soon be in position to announce definite plans for drilling another test out north. It is the intention to try for the shallow sands in which good showings of oil and gas are said to have been found in the well on the Lemon farm, but to start with casing large enough for a deep test. The impression in the Nocona Oil and Gas company well was near to something worth while, and it is believed that further drilling will find it.

WEATHER BEATEN, WIND-BLOWN AFFIDAVIT CLEARS WHITE MEN

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 18. — Soaked by the rains, buried beneath the snows and blown about the prairies by the winds of thirty-five years, a document which settles a point that history leaves in doubt has just been found near Regina.

It is an affidavit sworn to by Corporal Hugh J. A. Davidson of the Royal Northwest mounted police and affirms that the first shot of Louis 1 ll's second rebellion in 1885 was fired by half-breed followers. Some write have contended that the whites precipitated the conflict that drenched western Canada in blood.

The first battle of the war fought at Duck Lake, a village near the North Saskatchewan river at the northern limit of the lands which were left by Canada to the Hudson's Bay company in 1870 and are now being closed out to farm settlers. Major Crozier in command of eighty settlers and Northwest mounted police fell in near the little settlement with a greatly superior force of rebels. While a parley was being held between leaders, firing began. The fight lasted an hour. The half-breeds fled on their horses, carrying away seven wounded but leaving twelve dead on the field.

Riel's victory caused the Indians to join the insurrection. But it also sounded his own death knell. The settlers rose in defense of their homes, troops hurried from the east and the rebellion was crushed. Riel was hanged at Regina.

Speaking like a voice from the grave, Corporal Davidson swears in his affidavit that the first shot came from one of Riel's half-breeds crouching in the wolf willows and whistled past his head. "Until Major Crozier gave the order," he says, "no shot was fired by any of our party."

The weather-beaten old affidavit was sworn to before Stephen Brewster, a notary public at Prince Albert May 30, 1885. Despite wind and weather, it is still quite legible. If, as is supposed, it was lost at Prince Albert, it had traveled 250 miles when its wind-blown journeyings ended at Regina.

NEW RULE AFFECTING HEALTH OF CHILDREN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Under a new ruling, all children who are found upon examination by Dr. A. W. West and his assistants to be suffering from scabies (itch), Pediculosis Capitis and trachoma will be excluded from school during the period of illness and will not be re-admitted until a certificate has been secured either from Dr. West or Dr. M. M. Walker, health officers.

Last year the plan used was found to be lax in certain respects and under the new system it is believed this condition will be remedied. Last year the teachers notified the parents of the children who were found inflicted and some of the children were kept out of school as long as 30 days when they could have been re-admitted in from three to five days.

Under the new system, parents will be notified if their children are found to be suffering from any of these ailments by a personal letter from Dr. West or the Red Cross nurse, Miss Quinn, who will call on the parents personally.

Parents will be urged to consult their family physician for treatment immediately after they are excluded from school. After they have been treated by the physician, the children are to report to either Dr. West or Dr. Walker for a certificate of re-admission.

In cases where it is found they are suffering from trachoma, the children will be excluded from school unless they are under constant care and strict supervision of a competent physician and provided they hold a certificate from the physician to the effect that active inflammation has subsided. This certificate is also to be counter-signed by Dr. West.

The examination of all school children will begin probably the first of the month and will be more rigid and more thorough than the one conducted last year.

HELP TO WIN A PENNANT

By Wood Cowan

Claude Williams, the White Sox's crack left-hander, got his first real start in the major leagues with Detroit in 1913, and was sold the following year to the Sacramento club. He was with Salt Lake City in 1915 and went to the White Sox the following year.

Williams is built on the same lines as his famous teammate, Cicotte; though he is a little higher than Cicotte, he is a wonder for endurance. In past seasons his pitching has been very streaky, hurling a shutout game followed by a very poor brand of pitching and a hurried shower. This season, however, he has been a great deal more consistent and it is due to his efficient work as much as to any other factor that the Chicago team is among the leaders in the pennant race.

His stock in trade is a fast ball with a very sharp, breaking curve. He lacks control and steadiness. His one aim in pitching is to get the batter in a hole rather than to try to study the batter's weakness and pitch to it.

"Take Babe Ruth for example," says Williams. "Off-hand you would say that left-handed pitchers would bother Ruth, and they do. But he can hit home runs off left-handers just the same. We had a consultation of war over Ruth this summer. We noticed, or thought we did, that Ruth lifted the ball when he hit it and, therefore, must thrive on low balls. With this information one of our twirlers decided he would feed Babe a nice ball high and on the outside, where he couldn't possibly lift it. Ruth met the ball fairly and drove it into the left field bleachers.

"Well, you learn by experience, so I tried one on the inside and high the next time I faced Ruth, and he hit it over the right field wall. It is my opinion that when a slugger like Ruth with a natural eye and a pair of shoulders like a gorilla, hits the ball, it's going to travel."

THORPE CHOSEN HEAD OF AMERICAN PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION

CANTON, OHIO, Sept. 18. — Jim Thorpe, famous Indian football player and coach of the Canton Bull Dog, a local professional team, has been chosen head of the American Professional Football association, the only professional football organization in the country, according to announcement here today. Representatives of 11 cities were present, including practically all of the strong professional teams in the country.

TEXAS COMPANY SLUGS WAY TO 15 TO 7 WIN OVER GULF

The Texas Company turned the tables on the Gulf Production Company yesterday afternoon at Athletic Park and slugged its way to a 15 to 7 victory. Hassler of the Texas Company allowed only six hits, but errors behind him enabled his opponents to secure their runs. Errors also aided materially in the Texaco's tallies. Hassler twirled the full game for the victors while the receiving end was taken care of by Hayes and Killingsworth. Foster and Sinclair worked for the Gulf. A home run by Sinclair featured.

Several threatened uprisings on the part of the players were quickly squelched by Umpire "Squeak" Johnson who handled the indicator in faultless style. Score:

SUPERBAS' LEAD CUT BY REDS BUT INDIANS GO MERRILY ONWARD

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Brooklyn's lead in the National League pennant race was cut to five games today when Cincinnati won from the Superbas and New York defeated Pittsburgh. The Cleveland Americans made it three straight from Washington and are one and a half games ahead of Chicago, who ousted New York from second place.

Brooklyn can clinch first place by winning seven of its nine remaining games. The New York Giants have 13 games to play and the Cincinnati Reds 16.

If Cleveland breaks even in their 14 remaining games, in order to tie them, Chicago would have to win seven out of 11, and New York seven out of 10 in the American.

JOHNSON IS REFUSED LIBERTY UNDER BOND AND DROPS APPEAL

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—John Arthur (Jack) Johnson, former world's champion heavyweight, failed today to appeal for his sentence of one year and a day in Leavenworth and a fine of $1,000 for violation of the Mann act.

Johnson, in custody of a deputy marshall, will leave Chicago tonight for the Kansas penitentiary to begin his sentence.

The former champion and his attorney appeared before Judge George A. Carpenter this morning to file a writ of error and appeal the case to the appelate court but when assured by the court that Johnson would be refused his liberty under bond pending hearing of the appeal, Johnson decided to drop the fight and go to prison.

PELICANS WIN TWO AND CINCH SECOND PLACE

MEMPHIS, Sept. 18.—By defeating Mobile in both games of today's double header New Orleans won the position of runner-up to Little Rock, winner of the pennant in the Southern association for the season ending today. The Pelicans' double victory gave that team a lead of three points over Atlanta, according to unofficial figures.

One big reason for the Panthers' overwhelming victory in the Texas League is that practically the same team that took the field on the opening day played the final game and the team was intact throughout the season. They suffered less than any other club from injuries, Haley's injury received at the local park being the worst suffered by any Panther.

Al Nixon gave Red Josefson a tough battle but the Spudder was never headed after he once reached the top of the heap. Eddie Brown, however, was the only player to pass the 200 mark in base hits.

Did baseball pay in Wichita Falls this year? Figures lately compiled show that there were 130,434 paid admissions at Athletic Park while between 2,500 and 3,000 deadheads attended the games. Guess Salm made a poor move when he brought his franchise to Wichita Falls.

Local betting on the Panther-Traveler series is rather light, but the odds seem to be in the Arkansas team's favor. The prevailing odds yesterday were 10 to 8 on Little Rock for the series, but the Panthers are the favorites for the first game.

If the Spudders had had consistent box work all year, it is easy to see where they would have finished. They led the league in hitting but all the hitting in the world won't win, unless the opponents are kept off the paths.

The Yankees are in exactly the same predicament. The Huggins clan is in a class by itself when it comes to slugging, but its pitching staff has been wabbly all year. Bob Shawkey cannot win them all.

Jimmy Zinn received his bumps at the hands of the Giants yesterday and was derricked in the seventh chapter. It was Jimmy's first start in a championship game. The erstwhile Spudder ace is a corking good minor league ball player, but we've got a hunch he's not big league timber yet. He will undoubtedly be on Salm's roster next year.

The further Buddy Napier goes with the Reds the better he looks. He came into the fray in the nick of time yesterday and held the Superbas at bay during the last three innings of the game, thereby giving the champions their only victory over the fast traveling Brooklynites in the recent series.

Cleveland was the only contender in either circuit to play championship ball yesterday. The Indians kept right in the game all the time. Neither the White Sox nor the Yankees played ball like winners and the same can be said of the Dodgers.

LITTLE ROCK PLAYERS LEAVE FOR FT. WORTH

Will Engage The Panthers In A Post Season Series Of Seven Games.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Sept. 18.—The Little Rock baseball club left here early tonight for Fort Worth, where they will meet the Texas league champions in the first of a seven-game series. All the members of the Southern association champions were in the party except Second Baseman George Distel, who broke his leg Thursday. Second Baseman Billy Gleason of Chattanooga, who will play second base for the locals, was with the party.

SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION SEASON 1920 CLOSES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18.—With Little Rock the pennant winner and New Orleans in second place, the Southern association today concluded what baseball authorities here claim was the most successful season in its history.

Although Little Rock previously cinched the pennant, it was not until today that the race for second place was decided. New Orleans took two games from Mobile while Atlanta won one from Birmingham, giving the Pelicans second place by three points, while the Crackers went to third position. Birmingham finished fourth, Memphis, Mobile, Nashville and Chattanooga finished in the order named.

From a playing standpoint, it is pointed out that the association has probably developed more players eligible for regular berths in the major leagues in 1921 than during any other season.

The City National Bank of Commerce has taken its place rightfully with the larger banks of the South and is in a position to handle every detail of modern banking. Its facilities include a comprehensive list of correspondents which makes possible the prompt handling of either domestic or foreign collections. 129-1tc

WICHITA FALLS FINISHES SECOND IN COMPOSITE STANDING; "RED" JOSEFSON LEADS SWATSMEN

The Texas league season closed Sunday, September 12, after a 151-game pennant chase split into two campaigns, the first closing with games of June 25. Piloted by the veteran Jakey Atz, the team hand-picked by Paul LaGrave, Fort Worth proved itself the best club in the circuit by winning both halves of the split season and establishing a new league record for games won in a single campaign. The Panthers were not pressed in either half. Playing an even, consistent game, unquestionably the class of the league, the Fort Worth club also established what is probably at least a minor league record by never altering its batting order from start to finish. Remarkably free from injuries, the club went through with the personnel that began the season. Johns, a pitcher obtained to comply with the rookie rule, was the only addition after the start. When it was necessary for Phelan, the utility man, to get in the lineup, he took the place in the batting order of the man for whom he substituted.

Fort Worth led in games won both at home and abroad. It led in shutouts and was only surpassed by Wichita Falls in preventing kalsomining. Its superiority in close games was clearly apparent as the club won 35 games by a one-run margin and lost but 14. Out of 150 games, Fort Worth played 100 with nine men only engaged.

Josefson Tops Batters.

After an exciting race decide only in the closing days of the season, Godfrey Josefson of Wichita Falls won the batting honors of the league by a three-point margin over his teammate, the pitcher, Zinn, and over Al Nixon, who contested for the crown from the time he rejoined the Beaumont club. Ens, McDonald, Hoffman and Mokan at one time or another headed the averages. Brown of San Antonio, a contender all the way, finished at .325 and set a mark as the first Texas Leaguer to baste out 200 hits. Josefson's victory keeps good the tradition that a left-hander must lead the circuit, though but six of this year's 20 .300 stickers hit from the south side of the plate.

Josefson also led in run-getting with 104 tallies. The burly Brown led in total bases, 264, but Clark of Galveston and Wichita Falls hammered out the most extra bases, 83. Clark led in two-baggers, 36, while Taylor and Monroe of Beaumont and E. Brown of Shreveport led in making triples, 11. The year's leading home run hitter was Callahan of Galveston, who made 12.

Haley of Fort Worth proved the leading sacrificer with 47 suicides. Base stealing honors went to a newcomer, Silva of Shreveport who pilfered 39. Williams of Fort Worth was turned back stealing the greatest number of time, 35. Rader of Beaumont led the league in drawing bases on balls, 77. Gross of San Antonio reached first on errors 28 times. Claude Robertson of Dallas was the chief victim of the pitchers, being hit 17 times. It was kill or cure with Hoffman of Fort Worth who struck out 86 times, while to the end of the chapter, Vann, the tall Shreveport catcher, remained the most difficult to whiff, fanning but 12 times in 341 at bat. Clark of Galveston and Wichita Falls led in driving in runs with 93 scores hammered across the platter.

Wichita Falls led in club batting, beating out San Antonio by one point. The Spudders also led in run-getting, and sacrifices. San Antonio topped the field in extra base hitting, Shreveport in stolen bases, Beaumont in bases on balls, Houston in reaching first on errors and in getting men hit by pitchers, while Houston had the greatest number of men left on bases.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks, Grain and Provisions, Cotton and Livestock

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Quite a bearish average of sentiment was evident in the cotton market during today's earlier trading, but declines were followed by rallies on covering for over the week-end. December contracts, for instance, sold up from 25.44c to 25.96c or 9 points above Friday's closing figures, then reacted owing to reports of Southern hedging and closed at 25.76c with the general list closing steady at a net advance of 5 to 17 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 10 to 18 points, rallied to about last night's closing quotations and then ruled off under Southern selling, local and Wall street pressure. Reports of a less active goods demand in the West seemed a disappointment to recent buyers, while there was also selling on a less cheerful view of British labor conditions and favorable weather in the South. The latter promised to continue over Sunday and the decline here was accompanied by reports of an easier spot basis in the Southwest. October sold off to 25.30c and January to 24.27c, with active months generally showing net losses of about 23 to 43 points during the middle of the morning. The decline was then checked by the realising of recent sellers and there were sharp rallies which carried October to 27.75c.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18.—Considerable selling pressure was felt by the cotton market today because of the reported ending of the English coal miners' strike confecence in an unfavorable way and the clear and dry weather over the belt, but on the opening there were advances and again on the close the market had an upward swing to it so that final quotations were 7 points up to 5 down net for the session. The strength on the close was due to rumors received via cables to Galveston that the English coal strike had been settled. While the rumors were entirely contrary to earlier reports, they had marked effect on values.

The opening advance carried the market 10 to 16 points over the close of yesterday, but it was soon wiped out in a rather general selling movement which increased when the weather map was drawn. At the lowest levels, prices were 31 to 37 points under the finals of yesterday. October traded up to 26.92c around the opening and then fell to 26.45c.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Corn values took a downward trend today, there being considerable profit taking in wheat and liquidation in corn and oats. At the finish wheat showed a net loss of 1¢ to 2¼ cents, with December $2.40 to $2.40¾ and March $2.35. Corn was off 1¼ to 4c, oats were down ¼ to 1⅝c, while provisions showed a range of from 12½c lower to 5c higher.

Wheat started with a firm undertone, but this soon was lost because of buying by cash houses and selling by the local traders on the weakness in cash grains. Prices as a whole averaged lower; Duluth was reported to have sold 200,000 bushels Durum to the seaboard and some business was put through at the gulf.

Liquidation was on in corn and oats with the deferred deliveries of corn and all deliveries of oats at new low figures on the crop.

Packers bought October lard and cash trade in the commodity continues brisk.

STOCK MARKET.

New York Stock.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Stocks were irregular today on the usual week-end selling for profits and settlement of speculative accounts, but the trend for the most part was again higher.

Rails dominated the session, the Delaware, Lackawana & Western dissolution plan giving impetus to other roads which are believed to contemplate absolute separation from their coal properties.

Investment transcontinentals, "Nickel Plate," St. Louis & San Francisco, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico also recorded substantial advances.

Oils displayed none of their recent leadership, Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums easing moderately, but Houston Oil strengthened. Steamship issues, notably Atlantic Gulf and Mercantile Marine, were responsive to better trade conditions. Sales amounted to 400,000 shares.

An advance of 1¼ per cent in the various French municipal issues was the noteworthy feature of an active bond market, the general list, including Liberties, also showing firmness. Total sales, par value, aggregated $6,125,000. For the week old United States 2s and 4s were 1 per cent higher on call.

Market Review

New York Stocks.

NEW WYORK, Sept. 18.—The Maine election, a premium of 2¼ per cent on the French government loan and the easier tone of time and call money rates were the propelling forces of this week's more active and generally higher stock market.

Oils and rails were the strongest issues, but shippings, steels, equipment and kindred issues were variably better. Later the broader buying movement embraced such specialties as sugars, tobaccos and textiles.

For the first time in several weeks loans extending into 1921 were made at 7 per cent on all rail collateral, while loans on mixed collateral for two and three months eased to 8½ per cent. Demand loans were 6 and 7 per cent.

Moderate recovering of foreign exchange was concurrent with less tense industrial conditions in England and Italy, together with diminished offerings of grain and cotton bills.

Grain and Produce.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Severe breaks in the value of grain have taken place this week largely owing to acute weakness of sterling exchange, and to increased prospects of a huge yield of corn. Compared with a week ago, wheat this morning was down 3¢ to 4¼, corn off 6¢ to 9¢ and oats from 3c decline to 5c advance. Net differences in provisions ranged from 1¢ loss to a rise of 12.45.

The hardest single jolt on grain prices came from a collapse of 9¢ one day in quotations on wheat. This collapse accompanied a sharp fall in sterling rates and also coincided with an apparent complete halt in export business. Extensive selling at this juncture was ascribed to a leading speculator in cotton. Later, however, export business showed a revival, domestic milling demand was active and the market rallied.

"Baby Has Gone to School"—That is, 700 of Him Has; Kindergartens and Private Schools Needed for 700 More

"Baby has gone to school"—

The dent of his brown head is still softly impressed in the pillow of the white-enameled bed. The discarded socks and slippers of yesterday make a small heap in the middle of the floor with a rumpled white nightie. (The slippers this morning were shiny and new, with six buttons instead of four).

Out on the back porch Spotty, who was locked inside the screen when he offered to accompany his young master on this trip, has thumped his disconsolate tip of a tail and begged forgiveness entirely without result. It was probably intended from the foundation of time that Bobbie was to make this trip alone.

And over in Mary Jane's house, where Bobby stopped importantly to gather Mary Jane up, the scene is much the same. A wet brush on a little toilet table testifies mutely, a soiled play hat is on the floor, a frilly pink nightie is flung across an almost identical white bed. And in the corner—

Poor little lonesome teddy bear,
Chucked in the corner, all of a heap!
Once, to have seen you lying there
So, would have made Her Highness weep—

But Her Highness has a new interest. And in two houses, side by each, the first pang of parting has come into two mothers hearts. After school, they go away to college, and after college, they get married. But every mother who has watched little pink sun bonnet and sailor hat babies trudge away on that first by-path from home knows when the knife turns slowest in the heart.

But 700 Babies!

In Wichita Falls, nearly 700 pink-bonnet and sailor-hat babies trudged away on the first by-path a few days ago, and six hundred mothers turned back into the house to smooth the impressions of fittit heads out of soft pillows, and pick up discarded play suits. For play-time—the wonderful, irresponsible, golden, all-day playtime, is over for all time with six hundred Wichita Falls babies. Life is that way.

Some of the nearly 700 babies went to kindergarten. Not many of them did, because there aren't enough kindergartens, by a whole lot. An approximation of the number of children whose parents would have been glad to have had them do such preparatory work this year would be around two hundred and fifty to three hundred. Something like seventy-five are enrolled in the three kindergartens the city boasts, while the two which are best known and longest established have had to turn away half a dozen children every day since school opened. The third has room for a few more children.

Law, But No Money.

A kindergarten clause incorporated in the educational bill passed by the thirty-fifth legislature (1917), provides for the establishment of kindergarten classes as part of the regular public school system in all school districts where a petition is signed by twenty-five or more parents of children of kindergarten age (to five years), provided—which spells the local difficulty—the cost of maintaining such classes shall come out of a special school tax voted by the district. The 50-cent tax limit permitted is already assessed in Wichita Falls, so there is little likelihood of any present relief on the kindergarten question.

Two years ago Miss Farquhar, who teaches the kindergarten in the Floral Heights Baptist church building, obtained twenty-five signatures from parents of children within the kindergarten age in the Austin school district, partly as a test of the demand for such a training class, petitioning the establishment of a kindergarten. As there were no funds available, however, the best that could be done was to permit the use of a room in the Austin school for holding the class, and Miss Farquhar conducted it as a private kindergarten. This year Miss Farquhar teaches a kindergarten class in the morning and primary work in the afternoon, and has had to turn away dozens of both kindergartners and first graders. Mrs. Rhodes, at 1312 Polk street, is giving both primary and pre-primary training, and Miss Durham, who has a room in the First Church of Christ, on Twelfth and Bluff, teaches both kindergarten and first year work.

Private School Or Year Lost.

The demand for first year private school work is as great, if not greater, than the demand for kindergarten work, on account of the necessity for drawing a tight line on the birthday question in the public schools. Children must be seven years of age before the opening of school before they may enter the public schools of the city; not the day after, or the week after, or the month after. Consequently there are several hundred children whose seventh birthday falls during the school year, many of whom are well-developed for their years, who are barred from school. They must either be placed in a private school or a year's work for healthy, active children lost. And there are three small private schools in the whole city, with attendance and other facilities strictly limited. An idea of the number of children who attain school age shortly after school opens and cannot be permitted to enter the public schools, can be got by the number of children actually in the schools for first year work. This total is more than 600, not counting the kindergartners. The figures follow, by schools:

Austin school	201
San Jacinto	106
Alamo	96
Travis	70
Sam Houston	68
Fannin	48
Total	589

A new school in the stockyards district had not reported when the other totals were given, but it is known that the attendance will exceed the 11 necessary to bring the total for first-year children—that is, seven, year olds, up to more than 600. By the same token, it is reasonable to suppose that there are at least as many children between six and seven years in the city. All of these except the handful in private school, because of the crowded conditions in the seven public schols with primary grades, will be spending this year out of school.

They Need School.

And by the time a child is six years of age—even before that time with a great many—he needs to be in school. If he is healthy and active, as the majority of children are, he is developing normally and rapidly. His character of play activities is pretty well settled and he is beginning very much to need a settled character of little tasks, and concentrative work. A child between the ages of five and seven begins to respond readily to the easy discipline of directed activity, or, if the discipline is absent, begins to develop the infant outlawry which so difficult to overcome in later school years. If there is a possible

NANCY MERLE RUBOTTOM.
Little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Rubottom of Wichita Falls is "all dressed up and no place to go"—because there is no kindergarten near her. She is absolutely correct as to clothes and equipment, however, and there is a real key to her pencil-box, which nothing else under the sun but a hairpin would open.

chance he should be in school of some kind.

In the three kindergartens in Wichita Falls there are some 60 or 70 children. Their work is mostly directed play, but little fingers and minds are getting the light, concentrative training which will stand them in such splendid stead later on. A child who has been in kindergarten a year is usually a joy to the primary teacher's heart, in the midst of dozens of children who must be taught to maintain some semblance of consistent behavior before they can be taught phonetics or figures. The kindergarteners have learned to make hands and minds obey, to some extent, and to work in harmony with other children.

Sunbonnets-and-Sailors.

The sunbonnet-and-sailor babies who make up the 70-odd kindergartners this year include the following kiddies:

"It is a pearl," He said,
As His fingers touched it tenderly.
(With what grave tenderness
My heart remembers.)
"It is a pearl,"
And from His fingers into mine the jewel slipped.

But it was an opal that I wanted;
Blood red and blue fire,
And the green of deep forests,
And the yellow of Chinese lanterns in the dusk,
And the gray of mist on the mountains.
. . . An opal that I wanted.

And now that I go
Where He awaits me with an open casket,
How shall I tell Him
That I cast the pearl from me?

Girls from 16 to 20 years of age who are interested in the organization of an Associate Business Girls' club are asked to meet at the Y. W. C. A. Monday afternoon at 7:30, when the matter is to be discussed.

FIRST CHURCH WESLEY GIRLS ORGANIZE IN FOUR SECTIONS

The First Church Wesley Girls, in meeting Friday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, South, made several important changes in their "discipline," and read and adopted a constitution and by-laws previously prepared by the constitutional committee.

It was decided that since that society has grown to such proportions, it would be divided into four sections, all of which would meet for a semi-monthly business and social session on first and and third Fridays, but the separate sections of which would choose their own separate meeting and social dates. The semi-monthly meetings are to be held at 2:30 on the afternoons named, and all business of the society is to be attended to before the social session is held. A program committee was appointed to take charge of the program planning for the semi-monthly meetings.

It was also announced that a luncheon is to be held at 1:30 at the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon, and all members are urged to be present. They are asked to notify Mrs. Gordon Dean, chairman of the program committee, whose phone number is 2194, by Tuesday.

Members who were present at Friday's meeting included Mesdames H. B. White, P. S. Campbell, Overton McDowell, E. M. Evans, E. C. Huckabee, C. W. Dickey, J. W. Thorne, J. C. Russell, A. H. Drake, Gordon Dean, Horace Robbins, K. E. Bauch Jr., L. C. Tanner, J. T. Marrs, F. F. Green and Moody.

JUNIOR HIGH MOTHERS MET; YEAR'S PLANS DISCUSSED

The members of the Junior high mothers' club met Wednesday, in the opening meeting of the school year, at the home of Mrs. H. N. Pounds. There was a good attendance, and the discussion centered about plans for the coming year's work.

The treasurer reported a balance of approximately $500 in the treasury, which is available for use this year in any manner the club sees fit. No definite plans were made for any outlay of the money, but it was decided that the club will be ready to provide anything needed at the school that comes within its province.

The Junior High mothers last year bought the playground equipment, set out trees, provided a complete first aid cabinet, bought reference books and an encyclopedia set for the library, and paid the expenses of Mr. Glass, principal of the school, to the convention at Cincinnati.

A part of the discussion Wednesday centered about the need for a rest room at the school, and some suggestions were made which the club may act on later in equipping such a room.

Texas Clubs Correlating Organization Work, Says General Federation Bulletin

"The Texas women are correlating the work of their various organizations, and uniting their efforts for the welfare and upbuilding of their state," states the September General Federation Bulletin published by the national press and publicity committee at Fayetteville, Ark.

The Bulletin compliments Texas women on their work in correlation, and goes on to particularize:

"For instance, the president of each of three organizations, the Texas federation of women's clubs, the League of Women Voters and the Mothers' Congress, is on the board of directors of the other two organizations.

"The president of the Texas federation, Mrs. Florence C. Floore of Cleburne, is first vice-president of the State Conference of Social Welfare, vice-president of the Town and City Planning association, and vice-president of the bureau of information of Texas. The duty of the last named organization is to secure and route speakers throughout the state. Mrs. Floore says: 'We are hoping this feeling of together-ness will increase, and that our state will greatly profit therefrom.'

"The Texas federation annual meeting will be held next month in San Antonio. A meeting of the board will be held on the evening of the 16th; the convention will be held from the 16th to the 20th, and on the morning of the 20th there will be a joint meeting of the Texas federation and the Texas Conference of Social Welfare. Dr. George Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation is scheduled to be the chief speaker."

Several of the local study clubs are in the state federation, and will send delegates to the October state meeting in San Antonio. The civic league will be represented on the program, Mrs. J. A. Kemp having been asked to discuss a problem in city planning.

The place cards simulated Theta frat pins, and a basket of golden dahlias centered the table, tied with a black tulle bow. Thetas present included Mesdames Hatchett, Stewart, McCullough, Leslie Stringer and Brooks and Misses Lelie Belle Anderson and Willie May Kell, and the guests were Misses Ruth Barnard, Sibyl Kell, Adele Adickes and Grace Panered.

WELCOME PARTY SEPT. 24TH FOR TEACHERS PLANNED BY THE FEDERATED MISSIONS

A big welcome party will be given the teachers and board members of the eleven Wichita Falls public schools Friday evening, September 24th, at the First Presbyterian church on Tenth street.

The party, which is expected to be one of the big public events of the year, was planned at the opening meeting of the Federated Mission society board held last Wednesday, and Mrs. F. C. Barron of the board was named chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Barron is selecting assistants and making arrangements for the entertainment and it is stated that a general invitation is extended to every Wichita Falls teacher and member of the school board and the members of the Federated Mission society and their husbands.

The members of the society at Wednesday's meeting spoke of their sincere appreciation of the work of the teachers in the city and of their desire to make their stay here pleasant. It was felt that local conditions this year will permit a closer acquaintance and co-operation between the teachers and parents. It was stated that it has been ten years since an entertainment of the kind planned has been given in honor of the Wichita Falls teachers.

Invitations are being extended the teachers through the principals of each school, a member of the mission society from each school district having been appointed to see that the invitation is delivered.

OLD-WORLD WEIRDNESS IN COLORFUL NEW HATS

By "MARJORIE." (Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Although fall chapeaux have been "among those present" in the fashion world since early summer, it is the latest in-season models that are really dazzling the eyes of the populace with their bizarre, and almost wierd effects. Nothing gorgeous and eccentric is out of place upon a fall feminine "lid." Hats that would feel very much "to home" upon the coifs of a Chinese cooly woman, an Algerian coffee house girl, a modern "serpent of the Nile," or an Alsatian peasant are rakishly askew the marcelled waves of milady of Gotham.

A prevalent mode is the transparent crowned turban of metallic lace or chiffon, copiously embroidered in colored or irridiscent beads. The narrow brim is generally swathed in a fraved Oriental silk, or twsited strands of wools or chenille. Color schemes are an incoherent blaze of rust and emerald, cochin and aero, or something equally contracting.

A Nell Gwynne fashion period effect is given by hats which dangle at each side long, heavy plumes of various colors. The hat proper is a cavalier shape and generally of black or taupe velvet. But even of sombre color, the sweeping plume effect is too daring for many women and only a few are seen at the Ritz teas and hotel dances. Many hats harp back to period tendencies as the quaint Watteau poke bonnet with chin ribbons or the Alsatian bonnet with huge bow of suede or moire ribbon at the side-rear.

Another innovation is the use of stiff horsehair for trimming, rather than for the body of the hat as was formerly the case. One model made of crushed copper velvet is topped with little snail-like motifs wound from black horsehair. Coarse, straight feathers are in the majority such as glycerined ostrich, gay quills, or cockades. Little pompoms made of hempen rope and in a bunch of several barish hues, often flank the very front of a hat, or coyly dip over the forehead.

Dingle-dangles such as long ear-rings of jet, jade or wooden beals still abound, especially upon the darker and more conservative hats, and tassels of silks tickle the ear-buns, also. Duvetyn promises to be an all-winter fabric, although it is now dividing honors with the old standby, velvet. The latter fabric emphasizes bead and silk trimmings, while the former specializes in wool embroideries or ribbons.

Evening hats of metallic laces or rich ribbons are favorites. The paisley shawl pattern abounds in these ribbon hats, and brocades in rich tints of royal purple, deep rose, or emerald also abound. These confections of hat loveliness are very wide and droopy and are the only evidence that floral trimmings will be used.

Amusement Calendar for Coming Week

MOTION PICTURES

TRIP THROUGH WORLD'S GREATEST MOVING PICTURE STUDIO WILL BE FEATURE OF AMUSEMENT CALENDAR

The feature of this week's amusement calendar is to be the great Thomas H. Ince picture, "A Trip Through the World's Greatest Moving Picture Studio" which is to be presented at the Olympic theater on Wednesday and Thursday. The film was secured for exhibition in this city through the efforts of the Times and is being brought here in order to give moving picture fans an insight into the ways and means by which a modern picture is made.

A more complete portrayal of the life of the movie studio could not be obtained, even at the plant itself, and in fact visitors to the Ince and other companies plants have never seen some of the things that are shown in the picture. For instance the pleasure-seeking tourist has never been admitted to executive conferences of Thomas H. Ince and his directors, scenario writers and stage experts. Neither have they ever had the privilege of watching a famous star role out of bed in his own home and amble down to breakfast, but scenes like these are common occurrences in "A Trip Through the World's Greatest Moving Picture Studios."

Not a detail connected with the manufacture of a movie film has been omitted. From the time the scenario writer sits down to prepare the manuscript for a play until the finished production is flashed on the screen before the board of censors this picture is complete. The making of the scenery, the arranging of the lighting, the "make-up" of the actors, the actual "shooting" of the scenes and the developing, printing, editing, heading and finishing of the film itself is all shown just as it occurs every day at the Ince plant.

The presentation of this film at the Olympic is the first that has been made in this section of the state and it was only through the efforts of The Times that its use was secured. The film is not on the movie market and is not available to theater managers except through the agency of a local newspaper. It is rented to the paper, who in turn arranges for its presentation by a local theater, and in addition to this the exclusive right to present the picture in any city is granted the paper that first applies for the use of the film.

EVER-POPULAR TOM MOORE IS MAJESTIC ATTRACTION

Tom Moore, the ever-popular Goldwyn star, is to furnish the main attraction at the Majestic on Monday and Tuesday in "Stop Thief," a lively comedy of the life of two crooks in New York City. Mr. Moore was given an excellent vehicle for the display of his talents in this picture and he has made the most of the opportunities afforded.

The story is that of the underworld of America's greatest metropolis, but there is none of the sordiness that is usually found in the average films of this type. In fact, the picture is a comedy from first to last, for Tom Moore in the role of the light-hearted, debonair thief keeps the audience in a gale of laughter and a more engaging crook never plied his nefarious vocation in a more favorable light than does Moore and his partner.

Although comedy has the main part, there is an appeal running through the picture that keep the audience in constant suspense for, in spite of their laughter occasioned by the light-fingered activities of the leading characters, there is a constant fear lest the humoral but fascinating pair be caught in the meshes of the law. It is seldom that a farce combines sympathy and mirth to such an extent.

The photography and scenery of the production is exceptional and some fine interiors with elaborate sets are shown. The ballroom of a wealthy financier's mansion and some garden scenes of the same place give the scenic artists a chance to make the best of their talents. The direction by Harry Beaumont is also deserving of mention for the grouping effects have been handled in a deft fashion and the action has not been permitted to lag at any point.

DOUBLE-BARRELLED FEATURE BILL AT OLYMPIC THEATRE

A double-barrelled feature bill is to be offered at the Olympic theatre on Monday and Tuesday of this week, and it is a feature of distinct variety. Louise Glaum, the diminutive star of the silversheet is to be the main attraction in her latest film production, "Love's Madness," while the comedy king of the west, Harold Lloyd, is to be seen in his latest laugh producer, "High and Dizzy."

Miss Glaum's attraction is said to be one of the best emotional pictures that has been produced in a long time and since the star has enjoyed an enviable reputation for stories of this sort it is easy to believe "Love's Madness" will be a leader of its type.

The story was written by C. Gardner Sullivan, the same author who was responsible for Miss Glaum's great success of last year, "Sahara." It is flavored with tense dramatic action and the star again proves herself a supreme mistress of emotional characterization. An attractive feature which is expected to appeal to the feminine fans of the city is that of the matter of wardrobe, for a veritable fashion show of late gown creations is included in the many scenes of the picture. A strong supporting cast in which Matt Moore, Noah Berry, William Conklin, Jack Nelson and Peggy Pearce are included givt the film an added attraction.

In "High and Dizzy" the bespectacled comedian gives his audience a two-reel riot of clever stunts and hair raising thrills. How or where Mr. Lloyd thinks up his new tricks no one knows, or cares much, but the fact remains that with each new presentation he has included a wealth of new material.

In "High and Dizzy" Mr. Lloyd and his friends imbibe too freely of home brew and the adventures reach a thrilling climax when the star follows a girl along a high window ledge with the street and its teeming traffic yawning twelve stories below. Mildred Davis appears as leading lady for Mr. Lloyd and lends excellent support, as does Roy Brooks and Wallace Howe, who are the other members of the cast.

TYPES IN THE CASTING OFFICE.

The casting office forms one of the illuminating episodes in the Times-Thomas H. Ince special attraction, "A Trip Through the World's Greatest Motion Picture Studios," to be shown as an added attraction at the Olympic theatre, Thursday and Friday, September 23 and 24.

"MINIATURE REVUE" WILL FEATURE VAUDEVILLE BILL

The headliner of the week's vaudeville bill at the Wichita theatre is to be furnished by Jewell Faulkner and her "Miniature Revue." This act is said to be one of the best novelty affairs in the theatrical market and the fact that the performers are manikins does not prevent them from giving an excellent period of entertainment.

Jewell Faulkner, who bosses the tiny actors by means of a large assortment of strings and wires, has been on the vaudeville stage with her manikin act for years and is a master in the manipulation of her under-studies." The big feature of the act comes at last when eighteen manikins "take the field" and put on a real big league game of baseball.

Billy Hall, commonly known as "the Swede," and Hilda Carleson present a comedy skit called "Hilda." The events of this act are built around the life of an elevator girl in a big city skyscraper. Hilda assumes the role of the elevator chauffeur and with "Swede" as her janitor admirer gives the audience a rousing fifteen minutes of fun.

Page and Green are billed as "The Silent Funsters, and as knock-about acrobats they have few equals and no superiors. Their performance is strenuous and includes many difficult feats and many hilarious absurdities. Both men are clever pantomimists as well as athletes and they give a performance that is both fast and funny.

Lowe, Evers and Stella offer an act of song, dance and costuming that forms a clever and interesting entertainment. All of the members of this trio are veteran artists of the vaudeville stage and are warranted to please.

The bill will be closed by J. C. Nugent who offers a monologist act entitled "A Line of Talk." Nugent is a master in the art of quick repartee and has a wide assortment of jokes that are really funny.

"HOMESPUN FOLKS" WILL BE SHOWN AT OPERA HOUSE

The picture attraction to be offered at the Wichita theater on Monday and Tuesday is to be the big Thomas H. Ince production, "Homespun Folks."

With the honor of American manhood as its theme, a broiling political campaign as its plot and a locale that takes the audience back to a New England homestead, "Homespun Folks" is described as the most absorbingly wholesome drama yet contributed to the cinema.

The picture was personally supervised by Mr. Ince himself and his direction of the large star cast evolved a splendid photoplay. Lloyd Hughes, who will be remembered by his splendid work with Robart Bosworth in "Below the Surface," has the leading role and is seen as a young country lawyer who is fighting against crooked politics. His work is one of the high lights of the film but characterizations of two old farmers that is made by Al Filson and George Malles is remarkably life like.

MARY MILES MINTER TO PRESENT "SWEET LAVENDER"

Realart Pictures are presenting Mary Miles Minter in her latest film production entitled "Sweet Lavender" at the Empress theater for the two opening dates of this week. The popular star has been given what is said to be an excellent vehicle for the display of her talents and from advance reports the picture cannot fail to please the many enthusiastic admirers of Miss Minter in this city.

The story is a more or less complicated affair which deals with the life of a motherless waif. As are all stories of this type, "Sweet Lavender" may turn out to be "dud" as far as action is concerned, but its chances of failure to please are small when the cast which is included as Miss Minter's support is considered. Theodore Roberts, Milton Sills, Starke Patteson and J. M. Dumont head the supporting members.

Miss Minter is seen in the role of Lavender, a girl whose mother died at the baby's birth and who is being cared for by a sister. The daddy of the girl has the villian role of the picture and his efforts to gain possession of the girl form about the most exciting scenes of the entire film. The humor of the play is furnished by Theodore Roberts who has the part of Professor Phenyl, an absent minded collegian who has fallen madly in love with his landlady. Some of the proposals of marriage which he makes are reported to be at least unique if not altogether acceptable to the hard working business woman.

"LEAVE IT TO ME" AT PLAZA THEATER THIS WEEK

The most attractive feature of the Fox production, "Leave It to Me," which is to be shown at the Plaza this week is the costuming of the various characters. William Russell, Ellien Percy and Lucile Cavanaugh who have the three leading parts all appear attired in robes of wondrous design and the fact that all of the many gowns which a e shown are of the latest style is all that needs to be said.

A detailed account of the wardrobes which the various stars possess reads like the interior of an entire Fifth avenue toggery shop and it includes everything from the latest bathing costumes that are to be found in all their splendor on the beaches to a Parisian outfit that is not far short of sensational.

Of the cast nothing need be said. William Russell needs no introduction to local theater goers and neither does his leading lady, Ellien Percy, who is soon to appear in a feature picture of her own. "Leave It to Me" is a different style picture than the ones in which Mr. Russell has heretofore appeared, but the events narrated in the story give him ample scope for action and the display of his varied talents.

Dallas Democrats Charge Republicans Are Guilty of Plot

DALLAS, TEXAS, Sept. 18.—Local democratic leaders, trying to reassure a still trembling donkey, today charged the republicans plotted the animal's humiliation beforehand.

"Queenie," a G. O. P. elephant, was trumpeting triumphantly in Forest park zoo.

Republicans, staging a parade as an opener for the gubernatorial campaign of Jack Culbertson, Wichita Falls, borrowed "Queenie" from the zoo to lead the marchers. The procession was just about to start and "Queenie" was dreaming sleepily in front of the court house when someone appeared leading a donkey labeled "For sale—age unknown."

Business picked up.

"Queenie," viewing the world through one half-open eye, opened both squinty optics wide to see if she saw what she thought she saw.

Verifying her suspicion it was a genuine democratic donkey, "Queenie's" proboscis went in the air and with a roaring jungle trumpet cheer for Harding, Coolidge and Culbertson, started pursuit.

The donkey at first squared away, but a second trumpet sent the animal madly braying down the business street, "Queenie" lumbering in pursuit.

A nervy truck driver stopped the riot by driving his machine between the two running animals. "Queenie" thwarted, but victorious trumpeted again.

It's an omen the "solidest state of the solid South will be broken next November," republicans claim.

TRADE TERRITORY DINNER PLANNED FOR EARLY DATE BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A trade territory dinner, to which jobbers, wholesalers and travelling salesmen who make Wichita Falls their headquarters will be invited, is being planned by the chamber of commerce. Although no definite date has been fixed, it is hoped to hold the dinner next Saturday.

For some time past the chamber of commerce has been engaged in tabulating data on trade territory surrounding Wichita Falls, and the primary purpose of having Jed Morrow, secretary of the Vernon chamber of commerce, speak at last week's council luncheon was to arouse as far as possible the people of this city to a realization of opportunities along this line.

About two months ago Hubert Harrison, secretary of the local chamber, prepared for "The Better City," the chamber's monthly organ, an article giving data on markets and trade territory within reach of Wichita Falls:

"The chamber realizes," Harrison said Saturday, "that the traveling salesman is an ambassador of trade and publicity, who can be of great help in building up and harmful in tearing down, when he wishes. We want to welcome these men and we want to impress upon our own people that this is a wholesale market and is destined to become a much greater one than it is now."

P. E. M. CLUB MET LAST WEEK IN TWO DIVISIONS, SEPT. 10-16

Division One of the P. E. M. club met Friday, September 10th, and Division Two met Thursday, September 16th, with the subject for discussion at both meetings, "Principles of Retail Selling." Topics discussed under the subject included "Salesmanship as a Universal Profession," "Origin and Growth of the Retail Store," "The General Store," "The Modern Store," and a "Comparison of the General and Modern Store."

Mrs. Fine read an article on "Why Study Selling" which brought out the point that every employe of such organization is a part of the selling team. Jack Barnard read a brief sketch from Mark Twain forcibly impressing the idea, "How to Recognize the Psychological Moment of a Sale," which was very humorously illustrated.

Division One of the club meets Thursday, September 23rd, again.

ALICE JOYCE IN "DOLLARS AND THE WOMAN" AT MAJESTIC

ALICE JOYCE IN SCENE FROM VITAGRAPH'S "DOLLARS AND THE WOMAN"

They were reduced to their last dollar when a letter arrived that paved the way to a great fortune. Alice Joyce, supported by Robert Gordon and an all star cast in "Dollars and the Woman," solves the living problem today. She shows what a couple can do on a small income and pave the way to a brighter future. The feature is based on a story by Albert Payson Terhune and has one of the most timely themes in the world today.

Alice Joyce comes to the Majestic next Wednesday and Thursday in her latest screen play, "Dollars and the Woman."

INQUIRIES ABOUT WICHITA FALLS COME FROM 26 DIFFERENT CITIES IN 22 DIFFERENT STATES OF U. S.

Men and women in almost half the states in the union want to come to West Texas. To quote Bert Bean's famous slogan:

"Who Can Beat It?"

On file in the office of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce today are letters from men and women living in 26 different cities in 22 different states and every letter expresses the writer's desire to come to this country, and asks for literature and information.

These letters are the indirect result of an article, "Just Look at West Texas," that appeared in The Country Gentleman on July 10 last. The article told the truth about West Texas, its prosperity, its splendid climate, its agricultural possibilities, its schools—and a shovel of mail has fallen upon the local Chamber of Commerce since that date.

Bitten by West Texas Bug.

Why, there are folks in those grand old eastern states of Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania who even have been bitten by the West Texas bug! Listen to John C. Soulson, of Leominister, Mass., the state where Freedom first wildly waved her wings and insisted on building her nest in Faneuil hall:

"Been reading with interest 'Country Gentleman,' and want to know still more in regard to buying farm land. How much is land worth, and on what terms, etc.? Had idea for some time I would like to try farming in the west; have tried it here, but not much in it, have to work too hard for results, land too stony and poor. Have city property now and working in piano shop. Have son, 21, who is a baker, anything in that line for him? Have seven girls all the way from four to 22, what chance would they have out there?"

Shame on John C. Soulson to knock Massachusetts like that! Why every down-eastern knows that the New England states grow the finest stone walls in the world!

And they want to come here also from Mississippi—from the state, not the river. E. S. Mead, of Glendalan, Miss., even would bring a colony with him:

"Want to come to Texas this fall," he writes, "as soon as we can get crop gathered. Want to buy small farm that I can handle myself, and if I can't buy small farm first year will share crop. Let me know where you think would be the best to go to raise corn, cotton, wheat and sweet potatoes. Several families are going to leave Mississippi for two reasons first, to get away from the coco grass second to get where the landlords don't try to take their part and the share raiser's part also. About one-third of the land lies idle this year, and will next year, for this is running the labor out of the country, and we all want to get to some place where we can have a fair deal. Let me know what you think of good, honest working people coming to Texas. We do not want anything more than what belongs to us."

Bring 'Em On.

Bring on your good honest working people! Texas has room for thousands of 'em! They'll be welcome any time; the more, the merrier.

And then there is W. A. Lindsay, of Truman, Ark., who wants to quit the ministry and return to the farm.

"Have daughter in college," he says, "and boy finishing high school this year. He wants to farm in the modern way. I am only 44 and able to work and work hard. What will farm of 160 acres, near town, four to eight miles out, with some improvement cost? Might consider serving a church at the same time. Give names of few Methodist preachers, and some leading school teachers. My daughter wants to teach."

Respectfully referred to Dr. Knickerbocker.

And So It Goes.

And so it goes all down the line. They are writing from New York, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Massachusetts, Mississippi, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Nebraska, Utah, Arizona, Indiana, Missouri, Tennessee and a dozen other states—and, say, there is even one man in Paducah, Ky., who wants to come to West Texas; and there must be something attractive in West Texas when it will draw a man away from Irvin Cobb's home town!

And did you notice in the few letters quoted that no one asked about the oil opportunities? Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory today is attracting the attention of the outside world not alone because of its oil wells. The word has been noised abroad that irrigation is going to mellow this territory—and from every section of the United States comes the cry: "Tell me more about West Texas." Wichita Falls and Wichita county must prepare to care for new neighbors.

NEWS FROM THE COURTS

FEDERAL COURT TO FACE HEAVY DOCKET

Grand Jury Expected To Consider More Than One Hundred Criminal Cases.

With 30 grand jurors and 50 petit jurors summoned and hundreds of witness subpoenaed, the federal court will begin its session in Wichita Falls, Monday, September 20. Judge Robert Ervin of Mobile, Ala., will preside.

This term of court is the adjourned March term and due to the adjournment both the civil and criminal dockets are unusually large. It is believed by those in charge here that there will be over 100 cases brought before the grand jury for investigation and 65 cases appear on the civil docket.

For the benefit of the members of the bar, it is announced that during the first week the cases on the law docket will be tried and no equity cases. While the judge is busy deciding these cases the grand jury will be in session investigating those cases brought before them for their attention.

The second week will be criminal cases and all cases in which the grand jury will return true bills will be tried. It is believed that there will be but a few cases in which legal fights will be made.

It is thought that the disposition of the criminal cases will require only a portion of the second week after which equity cases will be taken up.

The federal judge has planned to hold court here for three weeks and although the dockets are extremely large it is believed that the work will all be concluded before he leaves.

The federal court will be in session in the 30th district court room.

The U. S. marshal's office here has been "snowed under" with work and although a large number of the witnesses have been summoned it is stated that it will be several days before the process in all cases will have been served.

U. S. Commissioner Lantz and Deputy U. S. Marshall Jim Allen have spent many hours of the night in preparing the cases for trial. Mr. Allen has been working under a handicap also, as his wife underwent a surgical operation Saturday morning.

ASSIGNMENT OF CASES TO BE TRIED THIS WEEK

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court has prepared a list of cases appearing on the jury civil docket, which will be tried in order as they appear below beginning September 27, 1920.

THIRTIETH DISTRICT COURT NEAR CLOSE AT GRAHAM

District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones returned to the city Saturday morning from Graham, where he has been prosecuting criminal cases for the past two weeks. He stated that he would finish his work there the first of the coming week and will then leave for Archer City. Judge H. F. JAIL BADLY CROWDED DURING IMPROVEMENTS

While workmen are engaged in the installation of the new tool-proof cells in the county jail, the county institution is crowded due to the fact that all county prisoners had to be moved to the other side of the jail, necessitating doubling up. Not only has this work caused the crowded condition but at this time the number of prisoners is very high, reaching around the seventy-five mark.

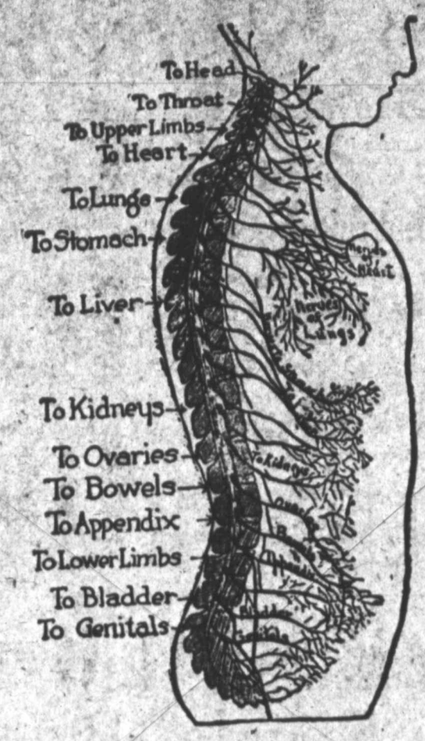
Talks On Chiropractic



Chiropractic is good and the coming profession. It is the best method of relieving disease yet known to man. It proclaims to the world that disease and its opposite, health, are conditions of organs, not objects or concrete things, and that the power which created man also placed within him, the mechanism which, if kept in perfect adjustment, would carry him from the cradle to the grave in uninterrupted ease and comfort.

The chief contention of Chiropractic is that disease is caused by pressure upon nervous tissue and that when this pressure is relieved, function is restablished.

"Nature, working through a normally adjusted body, has power to heal disease no matter of what nature. A body set right mechanically will speedily bring itself back to the standard Nature has set for it."

It is an established anatomical fact that the brain is the great Nerve center of the body, and that it has a prolongation, the Spinal Cord, which passes downward through a canal in the spinal column. This spinal cord also has prolongations called the spinal nerves which pass out through the intervertebral foramina (small openings between the movable bony segments or vertebrae of which the spine is built up.)

Disease is an evidence of lack of nerve energy or balance, not some diseases, but all diseases, not traceable to wounds. These broad claims are founded on experience and by years of success, out-reaching every other method.

Chiropractic is the only science that exactly locates the cause of disease, and then adjusts it by hand.

Readjustment of the physical frame, then the recuperative powers inherent in the body, is all there is to so-called cures.

When we speak of a vertebra being subluxated or displaced, we refer to its being separated more or less from the one above or below.

Chiropractors are not fighting the Medical Man, the Osteopath or the Surgeon.

The Surgeon will always be needed and as the Chiropractor does not have time to practice surgery even if he had the right, the Surgeon will in time work side by side with the Chiropractor, and many are doing so now.

As to the other two, we maintain that each person, when sick, should be allowed to call the one that he desires, whether it be a Medical Man, the Osteopath or Chiropractor, so why should there be a fight? The one that delivers the best results will survive. We are willing to put the merits of Chiropractic against that of any other method and let the people choose by the results.

Your body is likened to a great building occupied by a number of perfectly constructed machines (organs), each having a specific work to do; back of this the Cerebro Spinal nervous system which furnishes the power to enable them to do their work. If these machines are not doing their work properly better look after the power.

If the nerves are right, the man is right. If the nerves are wrong so is the man.

The Chiropractic adjustment, by restoring normal action to these nerves, supplies new life force to the weakened organs of the body.

A true Chiropractor can readily locate the point of pressure and relieve same by adjusting the vertebrae into normal position. If, when diseased conditions exist, the Chiropractor removes the pressure, the interrupted currents are set in motion again and health will follow. The Chiropractor removes the obstructions, thereby allowing Nature's restorative powers to reach the diseased parts. Chiropractors do not treat effects. They remove the cause and Nature cures the diseases.

Chiropractic is the practice or a system of adjusting the joints in the human skeletal frame, especially of the spine, by hand alone, for the purpose of removing pressure on nerves.

Chiropractic is not medicine, surgery or osteopathy or anything else; it's Chiropractic. It is a science of positive location of the cause of disease and art of removing the same by hands alone.

COMPLETE X-RAY EQUIPMENT

Our office is furnished with complete X-Ray equipment and every important case is diagnosed by the use of pictures of the spine taken with the X-Ray, which plainly illustrate to the patient, as well as to us, the exact seat and cause of any trouble. No charge is made for examination and consultation, and we invite you to call, whether you care to take adjustments or not.

ply, a city plan, a municipal auditorium and a municipal abattoir, the codifying of city ordinances, plans for public parks and playgrounds and an improved police department. The city council, without knowledge of these suggestions, has tackled every problem mentioned in the list except the abattoir and the auditorium—and even these two have been discussed and considered as important things of the future.

The prize winning papers are printed below. They will doubtless furnish a comparison of interest for the study of citizens who have watched the progress made by the city council during the last six months.

From the Business Council.

I. Wichita Falls' greatest needs are more paving, a comprehensive sanitary system, a permanent, adequate water supply, a municipal auditorium and the adoption and execution of a city plan.

The paving program should provide several more paved thoroughfares from the residential to the business section, re-paving of the downtown district, connections with the county road system, and city-wide residence street paving. Where feasible, boulevard and parking effects should be employed. Paving should proceed with preliminary attention to storm and sanitary sewers, water pipes, telephone conduits and the like.

An adequate sewer system, designed for future as well as present requirements, should be the chief feature of the sanitary plan, which should also provide for regular street-cleaning and garbage collection.

Consummation of the irrigation project should be the chief aim in solving the water problem, after the present system has become municipally owned.

A municipal auditorium should be an adjunct of a new city hall or other public structure.

A city plan, designed to direct the city's growth and expansion along sane, logical lines, facilitating future development and correcting past errors, should be adopted without delay as a guide to all that th city shall undertake.

What would you do for Wichita Falls if you were the city council?

Mayor W. D. Cline several months ago asked that question of various clubs and civic organizations of the city, and offered prizes aggregating $500 for the best answers. The prize money has been divided equally among the civic league, Rotary club and the business council of the chamber of commerce.

These three organizations almost half a year ago submitted papers with suggestions for civic improvements in Wichita Falls. Mayor Cline did not show the papers to the city council until a week ago, wishing to see what ideas the heads of the various departments might hold. It is interesting to note now that the various city commissioners have been working steadily along practically the same lines suggested by the answers in the prize contest.

The taree winning organizations asked for more paving, a new sanitary sewer system, an adequate water supply.

II. Paving is urgently necessary, not only because mud and dust are insanitary, inefficient and unsightly, but because they discourage the individual's efforts for attractive premises and limit his civic vision. Paving means better sanitation by making it easier to keep clean; it means greater safety by bringing the individual nearer, in point of time, to the agencies that protect from fire and lawlessness. A city-wide system of paved, clean streets, furthermore, would increase the civic stature of each resident and make him more favorable to the other improvements; with a mud-hole or dust-bed before his home, no resident can have that measure of civic pride and interest so essential to the success of municipal undertakings in general.

Adequate sewer facilities are vital to sanitation. Street cleaning and garbage disposal services are essential both to the public health and the city's appearance.

The big irrigation project is necessary for maintenance, protection and proper distribution of the water supply, and offers the only permanent solution.

A municipal auditorium is needed to promote public entertainment and intellectual development, which needs cannot be met otherwise.

A city plan is needed to combine, co-ordinate and efficiently solve present and future municipal problems.

III. Paving is best obtained by individual assessment, aided, through a bond issue, by the six per cent loans authorized by paragraph 2, section 75, of the charter. A million dollar short term issue would finance 100 blocks, and is supported by present valuations. The assignable certificate plan of sections 118 and 119 and the full payment plan can also be used, where feasible. Paving should be with some method requiring a minimum of concrete, and should be undertaken on a scale extensive enough to interest big, responsible contractors, bonded and under city supervision.

Regular street cleaning and garbage collection service, systematic and city-wide, can be maintain by fees until city revenues can support them. Bonds are necessary for sewer construction.

Completion of the pending water-works purchase is the first step for permanent water supply; meanwhile, consummation of the new project must be furthered by the municipality in every possible manner.

A bond issue, with sale of the present city hall property, can finance a new city hall with a public auditorium.

Execution of the city plan should begin without delay when the plan is submitted, it being essential to adopt and make a reality of each feature.

head in charge of each department, give him complete authority subject only to the city manager.

Public Health.—A director and four sub-chiefs in charge of respectively: Sanitation, public health, inspection, laboratory and office. The subdivision of sanitation in charge of sanitary officer. Under this officer a force of special sanitary policemen.

Public Safety.—Police in full regulation uniform under military discipline with rigid requirements as to qualifications.

Fire Department.—Establishment of additional stations. Improvement of water system to provide adequate pressure.

Public Improvements.—Extension and enlargement of the water system, sewer system, public parks, play grounds; the establishment of a municipal abattoir. The city authorities should insist upon the improvement of streets in a manner to promote the greatest good to the greatest number, enforcing so far as possible paving on strategic streets rather than permitting haphazard disconnected street improvement, assuming responsibility for paving intersections.

Establish a building code, and rigid enforcement of permit system.

Special attention should be devoted to sidewalk building. Full authority should be used to enforce individual property improvements for the benefit of the community.

2.—Why?

Because, Wichita Falls faces the crucial year in its history, and must lay plans for metropolitan development or retrograde as a city that did not grasp its opportunities.

Kessler Plan.—No large undertaking should be begun without a comprehensive plan therefor.

City Manager.—Successful functioning of any large undertaking requires concentrated authority and specific responsibility.

City Engineer.—The foundation of our city and the cause of many of our problems are physical conditions, necessitating expert engineering ability.

Departmental Authority.—Applying the principles of great private corporations, we believe department heads should come to the general manager with decisions for approval rather than for decisions.

Public Health.—Obviously of first importance.

Public Safety.—Uniform police to promote more wholesome respect for constituted authority, and to improve the morale of the force.

Enlarge Sewer System and Water System.—Made vitally necessary by growth of city and inseparably allied with public health and safety.

Street Improvement.—Paving streets that carry great volume of traffic benefits the whole community, while scattered blocks of pavement are of doubtful local benefit.

Building Code.—To promote permanent attractive improvements and safeguard investments and prohibit menace to public safety.

3. How.

Special taxes for garbage removal. Increase of sewer rentals and cost of water service. Increase in all fees as far as practical. Creation of reasonable fees for inspection service under health department and for building permits.

Bond Issues.—Recognizing present conditions of the bond market, two courses are open:

First: Vote enough bonds to yield required amounts after discounting, or,

Second: Float required bond issues at par among the local citizenship by intensive popular campaign, making bonds as low as $100 denominations.

Plan of the Civic League.

May 15, 1920.

Hon. W. D. Cline, Mayor,
Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Sir:

If we were the city council, we would:

Codify the city laws or ordinances, repealing obsolete, ineffectual or impractical ones, passing new ones and enforcing all, paying particular attention to those pertaining to fire and police protection and to public health.

Adopt the proposed "city plan" in its entirety, but emphasizing, particularly that part affecting public health, public safety and the beautifying of the city, and including employment of a city forester.

In the interest of public health, establish and maintain a complete and efficient department of public health, under a competent individual, directing: Sanitary officer, supervising collection and disposal of garbage, trash, night soil, dead animals, dry toilets, sewer maintenance, sanitary control of water supply and sanitary police; Health officer, supervising reportable diseases and quarantine, vital statistics and burial regulations; Inspector of dairies, dairy cattle, meat and foods; laboratory work in chemical and bacteriological food and water control and miscellaneous; office handling complaints, records and reports.

Enlarge and extend the sewer and water systems to the extent of caring properly and adequately, not only for present needs but for normal growth of the city for a reasonable period, and acquire a municipal abattoir.

We would do these things, because:

Codification of ordinances would reduce confusion; enactment of new ordinances is necessary to cover certain present and future conditions; while repeal of obsolete, ineffectual and impractical ordinances and enforcement of all effective ones creates a co-operating, law-abiding citizenship.

Adoption of the "city plan" will assist in the transformation from a town to a modern city and make this a more desirable place in which to live and rear children.

Establishment of a complete and efficient department of public health, the enlarging and extending of the sewer and water systems and the building of a municipal abattoir are so directly connected with public health as to require no explanation, and the public health is by far the most important matter demanding consideration by the city council and the public.

The proper regulation and supervision of the police and fire departments is necessary as a matter of public safety, affecting both the public health and the desirability of this city as a place in which to make a home.

We would:

Repeal, enact and codify ordinances according to present requirements; enforce them by means of an efficient police department, made self-sustaining, if possible.

After adoption of the "city plan" the carrying out of its provisions must be by means of the exercise of the city's right of eminent domain, the application of the city's right to order and enforce improvement, and, finally, by the taxing of property in improvement districts and the issuance of bonds under the provisions of the present charter.

Enlargement and extension of sewer and water systems, and the building of a municipal abattoir should be originally financed by bond issues, and each such improvement should be made as nearly self-sustaining as possible through collection of service charges sufficient to cover current expense and provide for maintenance.

The department of public health should receive a part of the return from sewer rentals, which should be increased, and should receive a revenue from fees for garbage and trash removal, scavenger service, and the testing of dairy herds, while permit fees of reasonable amount should be collected from all dairies and establishments dealing in foods where inspection is provided.

Respectfully submitted,
THE CIVIC LEAGUE.

BAPTISTS OF COUNTY HAVE A SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT ELECTRA

COUNTY ASSOCIATION MEETS IN ANNUAL SESSION ON WEDNESDAY.

OFFICERS ARE SELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR

Iowa Park Will Entertain The 1921 Meeting Of The Baptist Association.

Special to The Times.

ELECTRA, TEXAS, Sept. 15—The annual convention of the Wichita County Baptist's association was held at Electra on Wednesday and Thursday of the past week with the Baptists of that city acting as hosts. Fifty or more delegates from the various churches in Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Iowa Park, and Electra were registered with the reception committee and in addition to these a number of visitors from widely scattered sections of the country were in attendance as guests of the convention.

Visitors Registered.

The opening sessions were held on Wednesday when the Woman's Missionary Union convened with the president, Mrs. R. B. Stayton of Wichita Falls, presiding. Devotional services were conducted by Mrs. R. R. Brubaker of Iowa Park, after which the president introduced Mrs. T. T. Wetherall of Electra who gave the welcoming address. This was responded to by Mrs. R. C. Smith on behalf of the visiting ladies. Miss Faye Moore of Electra, rendered several musical selections after which short talks were made by Mesdames S. J. Ashmore, W. E. Miller, Homer McGregor, T. J. Furniss, J. W. McGuire, J. W. Penn and R. R. Brubaker. The morning session then adjourned for lunch, which was served by the ladies of the Electra Baptist church in the Sunday School room of the building.

Afternoon Meeting.

The afternoon meeting was opened with devotional services led by T. J. Furniss of Burkburnett and following this an excellent address by Mrs. A. J. Holt was given in behalf of the Woman's Missionary Training school of Fort Worth. A number of other talks of the same nature were made by various ladies representing the Baptist institutions of the state. The Baptist Memorial sanitarium of Dallas, the Baptist sanitarium at Houston, the Central Baptist sanitarium at Waco and the Baptist tuberculosis sanitarium at El Paso all received mention and the work which the various institutions were doing was outlined.

The young people's work of the church and the activity of the B. Y. P. U. was presented by Mrs. Homer McGregor of the First Baptist church of Wichita Falls. Mrs. McGregor, who is the junior leader of the First church, gave an excellent address which was thoroughly enjoyed by all those who heard it.

Short Memorial Service.

One of the features of the convention was a short memorial service held in honor of those members of the Woman's Missionary Union who had died during the year. This was conducted by Mrs. W. M. McGinnis of Wichita Falls, all delegates standing with bowed heads during the reading of the memorial.

The following officers for the coming year were nominated by the nominating committee, of which Mrs. Deaton of Electra was chairman. President, Mrs. R. R. Brubaker of Iowa Park; corresponding secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Penn of Iowa Park; recording secretary, Mrs. Martin Smith of Electra; Y. W. A. leader, Mrs. W. C. Ashford of Wichita Falls; personal service chairman, Mrs. J. W. McGuire of Burkburnett; girls' auxiliary leader, Mrs. Walter Brown of Wichita Falls; juvenile leader, Mrs. William Ferrell of Wichita Falls. On motion it was decided to have the recording secretary, Mrs. S. J. Ashmore, to cast the ballot of the body, thus electing the corps of officers by acclamation.

Home for Missionary.

During the Thursday afternoon session stress was laid on the need of enlisting Sunday schools and churches in the oil fields of Wichita county. It was pointed out the facilities now provided for services were entirely inadequate for the needs of the communities and that because of the high cost of living it was impossible to secure the services of an efficient worker to direct religious activities in the districts unprovided with churches. After deliberation, a resolution was passed which called for the purchase of a home for the county missionary, the same to be decided upon in the near future.

The convention was closed with the passing of the usual resolutions. A vote of thanks was extended the people of Electra for their generous hospitality in the entertaining of the visiting delegates and after the meeting place for the 1921 convention had been selected the sessions were officially ended. Iowa Park is to entertain the county Baptists next year.

The following visitors registered for the associational meeting: Wichita Falls: Mesdames R. B. Stayton, W. E. Miller, W. M. McGinnis, Homer McGregor, A. J. Holt, W. J. Butler, H. A. Overall, W. W. Barringer, R. C. Smith, S. J. Ashmore, Kitt Cowan; Messrs C. B. Mimms, H. A. Overall, S. J. Ashmore, Wilason Ferrel, J. W. Brazelton, Robert Farmer Kitt Cowan, J. W. Nicholson Rev. A. J. Holt, Rev. O. L. Powers, Rev. J. W. Loving, Rev. A. C. Anderson; Burkburnett: Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Furnas, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGuire, Mrs. A. G. Dunne, Miss Hattie Buchanan. Iowa Park: Messrs. and Mesdames R. R. Brubaker, W. D. Kidd, H. M. Smith, Mesdames W. C. Williams, R. E. Moyer, C. R. McGinnis, W. R. Caylor, J. W. Penn, C. E. Harris, A. E. Payne, W. E. Thompson, J. C. Watkins, W. T. LONGFELLOW'S DESCRIPTION OF THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH IS OUT OF LINE WITH THE "SMITHY" OF TODAY

By C. F. CARTER

Some three-quarters of a century ago, even before Joe Bailey was known in Texas and before men dreamed of constructing time-lock bombs to explode in public places, one Henry Wadsworth Longf llow had a brilliant idea. Hank, as his friends called him, was a pretty fair poet, not, perhaps in the class of Amy Lowell and Ella Wheeler Wilcox, but still a pretty fair poet, friends, a pretty fair poet.

Now Hank Longfellow happened to be passing the shop one day where the village blacksmith was laboring in his leather apron. We refer particularly to the leather apron, because a pair of leather shoes nowadays costs at least $20 and not even Bob Waggoner could afford an entire apron made of leather.

Well, Hank got the idea in his versifying cerebellum that the village blacksmith would be a fine subject for a poem. So Hank burst forth in poetry:

Hank Bursts Forth.

"Under a spreading chestnut tree,"
Hank began,
"The village smithy stands;
The smith a mighty man is he,
With large and sinewy hands;
And the muscles of his brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands."

That was considered a pretty snappy start in those days and Hank also got credit for telling the truth, which is so frequently ignored by us poets. Today, however, Hank's famous poem is about as truthful as Joe Bailey's statements about Pat Neff's age. Just consider Wichita Falls, f'r'instance. How many village smitheys, or Smithies, whichever is correct, are lying around loose here? We found one after an all-day search, but do you think it was under a spreading chestnut tree? It was not. It wasn't even under a spreading mulberry, sycamore, poplar or maple tree—it was between a bakery and a garage.

Wouldn't Have a Chance.

Was the smith such a mighty man? Shucks, no. He wouldn't have a chance in a rough-and-tumble fight with a husky oil field roughneck. And we hate to think what would happen to the 1920 smith if he got "heavy" with a 1920 football player!

Was the smith shoein a horse? No, no, child; don't make us laugh. He was leisurely fixing a motor truck spring.

To return again to Hank Longfellow's poem. Hank went on to say:

"His hair is crisp and black and long,
His face is like the tan;
His brow is wet with honest sweat,
He earns whate'er he can,
And looks the whole world in the face,
For he owes not any man."

Quite Different Now.

Now isn't that ridiculous? Of course, the smith's hair may be long—you know what a haircut costs now, don't you? And we don't question that he earns whatever he can. But those last two lines—tush, tush, and a couple more tushes! Just like all of us, the smith has notes overdue at the City National, the First National and the four other banks, not to mention all the department stores. Some of his oil companies blew up, you know, just as yours did.

It isn't necessary to state here that the blacksmith once was "some punkins." We all know how he used to be on the board of village selectmen, and was the best "rassler" in the town, et cetera, et ceterum. And most of us have heard our fathers speak of the days when there were horses in the United States. No, it isn't necessary to delve into ancient history. We wish merely to comment on Hank Longfellow's contribution to literature:

"And children coming home from school," declared Hank,
"Look in at the open door:
They love to see the flaming forge,
And hear the bellows roar,
And catch the burning sparks that fly
Like chaff from a threshing floor."

Just Plain Bunk.

Bunk, that's all; just plain bunk. Do the children stop after school to look in the door of the 1920 blacksmith shop? Does YOUR children do that little thing? You know he does not—he sticks his head in the door of a garage, and pipes in his childish treble:

"Say, ain't you go, that battery fixed on dad's roadster yet? The city council's going to stop us kids from driving automobiles pretty soon, maybe, and I want that car 'fore it's too late. Get a hustle on, will ya, Mister?"

And you don't hear the bellows roar any longer, either. The 1920 smith turns an electric switch; he can't be annoyed pumping a "bellus." Furthermore, if he let burning sparks "fly like chaff from a threshing floor," he'd get his good and proper from Fire Chief McClure, eh wot?

And what does the smith do in his leisure moments, on Sundays and holidays? Well, according to Hank W. Longfellow:

"He goes on Sunday to the church,
And sits among his boys;
He hears the parson pray and preach,
He hears his daughter's voice,
Singing in the village choir,
And it makes his heart rejoice."

Snaps Finger at Jazz.

Now that may be true, but we have a sneaking suspicion that on Sunday the 1920 smith goes to the Kemp library lawn and listens to a municipal band concert—snapping his fingers to the tune of jazz and popular selections, and listening to an excerpt from "Il Trovatore" with a puzzled frown, as much as to ask: "Now what in tarnation kind of music is that?"

He may go to church, we really don't know. In these days of soaring food prices, it's worth a fellow's while to drop in at Dr. Knickerbocker's church now and then and get a free lemon or a basket of grapes.

No, it hurts us to say it, but the fact remains that the village blacksmith is a back number. We have looked into th' matter deeply, have given it serious thought and attention. We have no hesitancy in stating that we are an authority on blacksmiths As such, we state frankly, boldly, emphatically that the village blacksmith, folks, is as rare today as uncontaminated city water.

GAS PEOPLE KEEP IN TOUCH WITH WELLS

Give Assurance Supply Will Be Made Available For City If Sufficient Output.

That the Lone Star Gas company is keeping a close watch on the gas wells northwest of Wichita Falls in the hope they will prove of sufficient commercial value to warrant the laying of a line to this city was indicated Saturday in a telegram from Fred M. Lege, Jr., general manager of the company, to Mayor Walter D. Cline.

Mayor Cline recently wired Lege in Dallas, calling attention to the new gas wells in this territory:

"I am having numerous inquiries about the gas which has been recently discovered south of Burkburnett," his telegram stated. "You doubtless know that the chamber of commerce now has a committee investigating the advisability of using this gas in Wichita Falls. I know nothing about the sand in which the gas is found, the pressure or volume. I would appreciate it if you can give me any information and advise me whether or not in your judgment there has been sufficient development to justify the claim that the gas is there in commercial quantities."

In answer Lege wired:

"We have investigated gas wells south of Burkburnett and are watching the situation very closely. Present developments would not justify assumption that gas will be discovered in sufficient quantities to warrant the building of a line. Should additional wells come in and indicate production in commercial quantities I will recommend to our directors the building of a line. Please request chamber of commerce committee to furnish me such information as they may see fit."

The scientific section of the convention will be held at the First Methodist church, South, beginning at 2 p. m., September 21. Papers covering a wide variety of medical and surgical problems will be read with general discussion of each.

The visiting M. D.s will be dined at the Wichita club at 7:30 p. m., September 21, and the gathering will later attend the Wichita theatre as guests of the county medical society. On September 22 the scientific program will be continued.

Local physicians and surgeons are keenly interested in the meeting and it is generally believed the convention will be one of the best attended gatherings ever held by the Panhandle society.

Organizations Put Advertising Schemes On the Taboo List

The chamber of commerce and the retail merchants' association have joined forces in an attempt to check the growth of advertising schemes which are of doubtful value to the business men of Wichita Falls and which take a great deal of money from this city.

The two organizations have mailed a letter to every member of the chamber of commerce calling attention to the matter, and outlining a possible remedy. The letter follows:

"The attention of this office has been called to the practice of many of our business people in allowing themselves to be imposed upon by solicitors of advertising of doubtful value. The retail merchants' association and the chamber of commerce are working together in an attempt to control such schemes and we desire to call your attention to your duty to your fellow business man in this matter.

"By simply referring these solicitors to the chamber of commerce for a permit you will relieve yourselves of the waste of a great deal of money. Most such solicitors will not face an investigation of the quality of their service. A great deal of money is being taken out of Wichita Falls which practically will result in no value to you or to the city."

Extent of Rubber Industry Revealed By Goodyear Firm

A circular issued recently by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, has given some astounding figures in regard to the extent of the rubber industry in the United States. The average layman has little or no idea of the vast amount of time and money expended in the manufacture of tires for his automobile and because of this fact the statistics quoted in the Goodyear bulletin are reproduced.

According to the figures, the sales of the Goodyear company alone during the month of August reached the total of $18,692,069.76 while in July they amounted to $17,185,113.06. Sales in August, 1919, were $17,925,193.96. Last month's gross receipts brought the total Goodyear sales for the first 10 months of the current fiscal year up to $181,115,964.39 or $12,200,951.55 in excess of the total sales for the fiscal year in 1919. Thus with two months to complete the current fiscal year, present sales indicate that the Goodyear's business will easily exceed $200,000,000.

It must be remembered that this is the report from but a single company and that there are a score or more of the same kind of rubber plants scattered through the United States. These sales include all kinds of rubber goods, garden and fire hose, rubber bands, electrical supplies, machine belting, roofing material and many others, but by far the largest amount of this revenue was derived from the manufacture and sale of automobile tires.

This may give some indication of the scope and size of the rubber tire industry and it is a safe assumption that there is no other industry which manufactures a single commodity of such value. The steel industry of course exceeds in value and size that of the rubber industry, but steel is made into a myriad of forms and is utilized in everything from skyscrapers and ocean liners to tiny pins and minute wire. The same may be said of agricultural industry and any of the others, but tires are tires and the larger part of this $200,000,000 is the revenue derived from tires alone.

JORDON MOTOR COMPANY STAGES HILL CLIMBING CONTESTS OVER COUNTRY

A report was received by the Marshall Huff Motor Company, of this city, last week of the hill climbing contests which were staged by the Jordan Motor Company, in various parts of the United States.

The Jordan distributors in localities which boasted of famous hills conducted the tests, using stock cars taken from their show rooms. In addition to the driver of the machine, an observer chosen from a local newspaper was carried on the trip.

The most remarkable record made was that of the agent at Kansas City, Mo., who drove his car up the 27.33 per cent slope of the reservoir hill at a rate of 25 miles per hour. This record was almost equalled by the dealer at Cleveland, Ohio, who climbed the Gates Mill hill at a rate of 45 miles per hour. This hill has a 10 per cent grade. At Denver, Colo., Lookout mountain was climbed at a rate of 28 miles per hour for the 10 per cent grade while in the famous Casuenga Pass near Los Angeles a Jordan machine surmounted the 7.3 per cent grade at a rate of 44.3 miles per hour. In Portland, Ore., the 29th street hill, with a grade of 26.7 per cent was climbed at the rate of 13 miles per hour, while in Boston a speed of 24 miles was obtained on the 14 per cent grade of Corey hill.

Many other reports were received of the remarkable records which Jordan cars had made in surmounting well known hills, but the ones given above are fair indications of what is to be expected of this machine in mountainous country.

TRUCKS PREVENT KIDDIES FROM PLAYING "HOOKEY"

In many sections of the middle west the path leading to education has been made smoother and more convenient for youngsters than was ever done for their cousins who live in the bigger cities. With the development of the consolidated school idea came the need for providing dependable transportation for pupils from their homes to district school houses, so that school attendance might be regular and uninterrupted. The absence of street cars or steam trains in most rural districts presented a transportation problem which was successfully met by motor trucks.

The adoption of motor transportation for hauling children from their homes to school while removing lame excuses for absence owing to inclement weather, and preventing to a great extent the occasional off day at "hookey," has done wonders in promoting attendance and study interest among the thousands of school children living in districts where the plan is being followed.

In Colorado and Utah motor bus transportation for school children has been satisfactorily conducted duting the past few years. In Macedonia, Iowa, Republic trucks are performing this service in a striking manner, according to H. K. Dyke, president of the local consolidated school board, who has been able to gather impressive motor transportation facts during the past two years while using two Republic trucks in school bus service. He found that even during the past winter when unusually heavy snows produced deep and rutty roads, the Republic trucks used in his school district remained at work every day hauling capacity loads of children back and forth between homes and school. The outstanding results indicated that in addition to helping maintain normal attendance, these trucks through their ability to cover the ground quickly, aided to a great extent in lessening cases of illness caused by exposure to bitter weather.

Excavations show that beavers have been building their dams on the same site for thousands of years.

Almost 13,000 disabled ex-service men and women are being cared for in hospitals in the United States.

Dizzy—Wrecked His Automobile.
"Two years ago my stomach trouble got so bad that I was almost constantly filled with gas. This made me very dizzy at times. Last fall I was almost overcome by one of these dizzy spells while driving my car, and ran it into a telephone pole, badly wrecking the car. A friend recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for my trouble. Since taking the first dose I have steadily improved, and feel better now than ever in my life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. adv.

WITH THE AUTO DEALERS

A carload of Hupmobiles was received by Eckman and Von Allmen, local agents for the Hupp and Peerless cars, last week. The machines have been unloaded and are on display in the salesroom.

The Marshall Muff Motor Co. received another carload of Oakland touring cars early last week. The major portion of this shipment has been sold already. D. H. Rubsam, manager of the Huff Co., reports that the demand for Oakland cars is exceptionally heavy and that he is experiencing trouble in supplying the demand at present.

A seven-passenger touring car was delivered to J. S. Nichols of this city by the Milton Motor Car Co., agents for the Case automobile, last week. A sport model machine was delivered to D. Kenny at the same time.

The Apperson Motor Co. received a a seven-passenger touring car from the Dallas agency last Thursday.

The Overland "pony jump" was successfully made at Seymour, Texas, last week under the auspices of A. J. Cooper, the Overland agent for that city. The "pony jump" consist of driving an Overland light four up an inclined plane which suddenly terminates in a gap several yards wide and many feet deep. The car, which has been driven at a rapid rate of speed flies through the air for some distance and comes down to earth with more force than grace. The jump was designed to show the qualities of the Overland three-point spring suspension.

A one and a half ton Republic truck was sold to the Boardman Oil Co. of this city by the Gaines Automobile Co. last week.

Another contract of importance has been taken over by the Gaines Automobile company, this latest one being signed with the Allied Bearing Service company of Detroit. This concern controls the sale of the three best known makes of ball bearing in existence, namely, the Timkin, Hyatt and New Departure, and the contract closed with the local company gives the Gaines people jurisdiction in all comunities and automobile centers of less than 25,000 population in northern Texas.

One of three bearings named above is standard equipment in every automobile and truck made, so the volume of business which is expected to come to the local concern will necessarily be large. The Timkin, Hyait and New Departure bearings are practically the only offers on the market today their use in automobiles is universal.

A large supply of Continental motor parts is expected to arrive for the Gaines Motor company in the near future. These parts have been ordered since the local concern took over the contract for the Continental service of this territory.

VETERANS TO BE HOUSED IN PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND IN THE SCHOOLS

HOUSTON, Sept. 18.—Veterans who come to the Confederate reunion in Houston October 5 to 8 will not be quartered in camp, instead, the plan used successfully at Tulsa in 1918 and at Memphis in 1919 will be followed and the old soldiers housed in schools and public buildings.

Refusal by the Quartermaster General of the Army to lend any equipment except tents to the U. C. V. caused the change of plan. A resolution passed by Congress in July provides for the loan of tents to veterans' organizations but does not mention other equipment. The War Department stayed by the letter of the act. Congress is not in session to change it.

Cots, and blankets enough to fit out 10,000 veterans for outdoor sleeping, would cost too much. So 5,000 double mattresses have been ordered and will be spread down in the "billets" all near the center of the city.

The mess kitchen and dining halls will be erected on city property at McKinney and Smith Streets, four blocks from the city auditorium, which is reunion headquarters. E. A. Pickens who has fed the "boys" at seven reunions is already constructing his restaurant plant.

Billeting the veterans indoors will avoid all danger of exposure should a sudden storm come up, as happened at Atlanta last year, when two inches of rain flooded the veterans out of camp.

Up to date, 1,000 places in Houston homes for the more aged and enfeebled veterans have been pledged.

Preparations are being made for a maximum of 10,000 old soldiers, and for a total of 75,000 visitors.

Organs of hearing are found only in some butterflies nd especially in those flying by day.

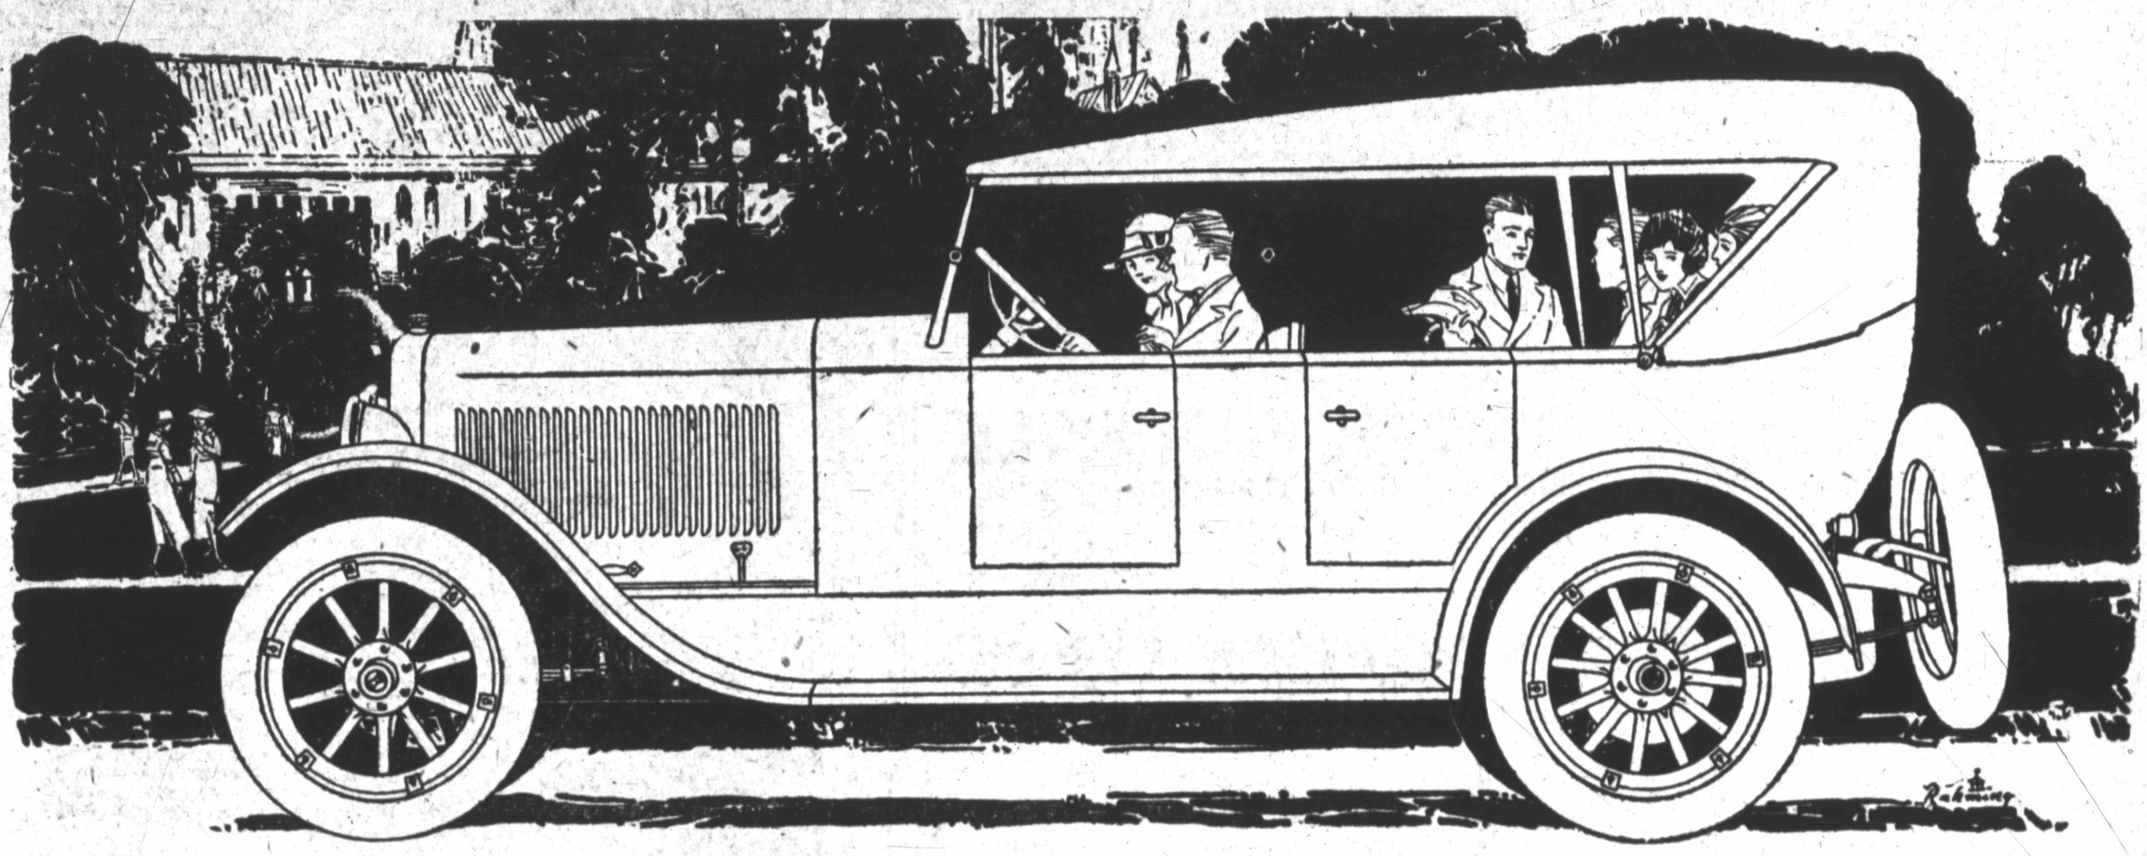
CHANDLER SIX



Chandler Leadership is Established by Its Superior Service

The Chandler is a handsome car of distinguished gracefulness in each of its models, roomy and restful in its seating arrangements, splendidly upholstered and finished. Its character and beauty appeal to the discriminating.

These qualities are an outer mark of what is underneath. Chandler leadership among all sixes is founded primarily on the excellence of the one standard chassis. The Chandler holds this leadership because of its superiority of service to its host of owners, the desired performance under all conditions and the genuine satisfaction which it gives them.

The Chandler Leads, Too, Because of the Fairness of its Price

An oversold production has never marked up the Chandler price. Cars which were competitive with the Chandler two years ago are not competitive today. You can prove this for yourself by a careful comparison.

Let us show you how the Chandler checks in essential features of construction with many of the highest priced cars, and how cars priced at hundreds of dollars more than the Chandler do not check.

THE MOTORISTS' PROBLEMS'

By WILLIAM H. STEWART, JR.

Motor Department: In refilling my storage battery I accidently filled it with very dirty water. Kindly let me know what I should do with it? Will it affect the battery in any way or not. Thanking you in advance, I am. C. M.

The sediment which will collect at the bottom of the jars may reach the plates and cause a possible short circuit between the plates. The battery should be taken to a battery service station for their attention, as it will require a thorough cleaning.

Motor Department: I have a Buick, five-passenger car and the valves were not ground for over a year and I had a little trouble in removing them. Could you please tell me what is the best and safest way to remove them? D. R.

Remove the rocker arms (the ones which push valves down). Remove bolt which holds valves in place. If fastening is screwed in there are projections for a special wrench. If such a wrench is missing use a blunt bar against the projections and drive with a hammer. If valves and cages do not lift out readily tap until they loosen. Do not tap sideways on the valve stems, as that will bend them.

Motor Department: I have a 1915 car just overhauled with new pistons and new rings, and when the engine is run a few hours the oil will gather around the spark plugs on top of the engine to a depth of one-quarter inch. Can you tell me the cause and remedy? M. S.

Probably the oil is too thin, or it may be too high in crank case. Then again, the piston rings may be gummed or possibly the cylinders are out of round or scored. New pistons in old cylinders do not always work well.

Motor Department: I am the owner of a Ford. I broke my radius rod a few days ago, and since I had a new redius rod put on my car I can hardly hold it in the road after I speed the machine up to ten or fifteen miles per hour. Will you kindly advise me whether there is a right and wrong way to put a radius rod on a Ford car? A. L.

Probably your axle has been thrown out of line. Check up the front and rear axle and note that each stands at right angles to the frame. Also see that front and rear wheels run parallel and that the front wheels are properly aligned as to foregather.

Motor Department: Is there any advantage in having the clutch connected to the emergency brake and foot brake so that setting the brake disconnects the clutch and makes it easier to stop the car. R. L.

It is not unusual to have the emergency brake attached to the clutch, so as to set one and disconnect the other, but it is not necessary. Do not have it attached to the foot brake, however, as that would make it difficult to start smoothly on a hill. When the gears are in neutral there is no need for clutch being disengaged while car is standing.

Motor Department: I have an old Chalmers car. When it is running on magneto it will jump continually and lose power, while it runs fine on the battery. Please give me the cause and remedy, which I assure you will be appreciated. READER.

Clean circuit-breaker points, file them smooth and see that they open not more than 1-64 inch. Clean distributor inside and out. Try car again. If trouble continues the magneto must be sent to a service station. Perhaps the magnets are weak and need regeneratising.

Motor Department: When my engine is running and especially when pulling it develops a knock. There is also a hissing sound, evidently a leak. Such a leak probably would cause loss of power. Am I correct? Where should I look for these troubles? E. J.

The knock may be due to a piston slap (caused by worn pistons) or to accumulation of carbon. If some working part of the engine is loose it will have to be taken down. Look for the hissing noise by injecting oil around the If the cement clogs and causes heating? caps. Any leakage would cause loss of power.

Motor Department: Having used radiator cement to stop leaks, have since had trouble with motor heating and water boiling. Will you please tell me if the cement clogs and causes heating? Is there any other way to clean it out? G. W.

Radiator cement has a tendency to close up any small openings in a radiator and so would have a slight tendency to clog. Usually this is not so serious as to cause overheating. I am inclined to think that your radiator was clogged before the cement was used. Try cleaning the cooling system with washing soda, as that is probably all it needs.

Motor Department: My engine runs very well on level roads at moderate speed but does not seem to take the hills very well. While the car is standing the engine runs well enough throttled down, but does not respond readily to the throttle. Kindly suggest a remedy. R. K.

Look for lean mixture, caused by needle valve closed too far, auxiliary air valve spring too loose, clogged gasoline line or auxiliary air valve stuck so that it does not open readily as engine speeds up.

Motor Department: Please give me instructions for adjusting the brakes. J. W.

Jack up the rear wheels and set the emergency brake part way, tighten the bands until you cannot move the wheels Then loosen the brake lever and see if the wheels move freely, as you will lose a great deal of power if they bind. Do the same with the service brake, but have some one apply the brake for you.

Helpful Hints.

Internal trouble of a battery will often be brought about by the accumulation of sediment in the bottom of the jars, bridging the grids containing the elements and causing a short circuit between the plates. To endeavor to avoid such a condition distilled water should be used in refilling the cells.

There are three ways in which a battery may be sulphated. When not properly charged; excess of acid added to the electrolyte, or from internal short circuit of a cell by sediment, due to failure to keep filled with distilled water, or leaking of a cracked cell.

The connections of the battery should be loosened and cleaned occasionally, in order to get a good clean contact. Sometimes the terminals will become so corroded that the self-starter will not operate.

Do not test the battery with a screwdriver, as it makes too great a drain on it and does not mean anything. Use a hydrometer. If the liquid reads 1.275 to 1.300 all is well. If it gets down to 1.200 have system looked over by an expert.

The amount of current that a cell will produce on discharge is known as its capacity and is measured in ampere hours. It is impossible to receive on discharge as much current as was needed to charge it. The modern type battery when at its best, gives on discharge about 85 per cent of the charging amount.

Knowledge for Car Owners.

Carbon should be removed from the cylinders at least twice a year.

To insure perfect working condition, storage batteries should be inspected every two weeks.

Measuring the distance from wheel center to wheel center is a good check on spring condition.

A car that is driven on a fixed throttle will show lower fuel consumption than one driven on variable throttle movement.

The shackles or hangars of truck springs must be kept properly lubricated as rust often clogs up the small vents and keeps the oil from performing its functions.

Aluminum pistons of the proper design and properly fitted will give better results in engine performance than heavy iron pistons. If improperly designed or fitted there will surely be trouble.

The usual causes of overeating of the rubber hose at the top and bottom of the radiator are running too long on low gear or intermediate gear, racing engine, failure of pump, clogged radiator and leaking of water.

Under ordinary conditions choking of the engine is due to a worn needle

In Their Place— What Would You Have Done?

This was the situation:

The Overland had no serious competition at its price, and at its price it had no competition as to quality.

Overland plants were working to capacity, 600,000 Overlands had been sold, and a continent was clamoring for more.

Then the Overland organization became concerned about the price of gasoline.

Now, gasoline is not Overland business, but it becomes Overland business when the welfare of Overland owners is at stake.

The sale of an Overland is the beginning and not the end of Overland interest in the man or woman who buys it.

So Overland designers were told:

"Gasoline is continually going up. Every cent advance increases the upkeep of the Overland. Go back to your draughting boards and bring it down!"

Months and months of experiment!

Millions and millions of expense!

And then, up and out of the Valley of Dilemma, leaping into the road like a thing possessed—

A GREATER OVERLAND, built of light alloy steels, mounted on the famous Suspension Triplex Spring, and giving unheard-of mileage out of every gallon of gas in her tank!

Overland designers said: "We don't know what it cost to create, but we do know it will cost six millions to get ready to use it!"

The answer was: "The public has stood by the Overland, the Overland must stand by the public. Go ahead and equip your plants to produce it."

$6,000,000 for an ideal!

In the Overland Company's place, what would you have done?

Some organizations would have said: "The present Overland is good enough. Why quarrel with success?"

But the Overland theory is, that nothing is good enough that can conceivably be better, and that the great family of Overland owners have placed upon the Overland Company an obligation, not only to produce, but to progress!

In that spirit, the Overland was created.

In that spirit, the Overland is presented.

And now, in that spirit, let us get together!

Cole Aero-Eight

You Can Not Judge the Condition of the Tires By Their Mileage

Former automotive standards fall woefully short when applied to the Cole Aero-Eight. For example, the tires will be found in splendid condition when the mileage on the speedometer would lead one to believe that they had been worn threadbare.

By the same token, the full 80 horsepower of the Aero-Eight can be put to the greatest effort and still deliver from 12 to 14 miles per gallon of gasoline. And while it has the brute power to force its way through deepest sand or up the steepest grade, the Aero-Eight will dart from 10 to 30 miles in 10 seconds with the fleetness of a bird.

valve which allows too rich a mixture to be fed at low speeds and the correct mixture after the engine gains speed.

To test gasoline, put some of it in a bottle and add a little concentrated sulphuric acid, then shake the bottle well at intervals for three or four hours. The acid will form a distinct layer or stratum, drawing into itself all the impurities in the fuel, so that the degree of discoloration found in the acid will be the measure of the purity of the gasoline.

A squeak in one of the cylinders is a serious matter and must be attended to immediately. Lack of oil is indicated and some must be introduced through the relief valve or the spark plug opening. Never put oil in all the cylinders.

Leakage at the stuffing box may usually be stopped by tightening the nut around the pump shaft, but persistent leakage calls for repacking. This is a simple job and when properly packed it will last several months, merely requiring tightening when it leaks.

Motorists often are puzzled to know what keeps the air in the tire. It is a sensitive little mechanism commonly called the plunger and strong enough to hold back air pressure as high as 70 to 125 pounds to the square inch. This little valve, which consists of a plunger about an inch long, a bit of spring and rubber, is responsible for the well-being of the tire.

When a car is driven into a sandy spot in the road and the rear wheels spin there is no use in keeping on spinning them. The more the wheels spin the deeper the car sinks in the sand and the more difficult it will be to get it out. If no rope or burlap is available deflate the tires and with the gears in first engage the clutch slowly. If this doesn't help, secure two wooden planks and place them behind the rear wheels. Then try to reverse and pull out on the planks. Rope or burlap around the rear tires will do the trick.

In tuning up a six-cylinder engine one should be very careful to note that there is good compression in each cylinder. In a four-cylinder engine the sound of the exhaust will reveal a weak cylinder. From the exhaust of a six-cylinder engine, however, the condition of a particular cylinder is hard to detect on account of the strokes overlapping. Very often a weak cylinder is not detected and the carburetor adjustment is changed to eliminate the supposed thump in the engine. In reality the cause lies in a weak cylinder.

This is the times of the year to renew the rubber connections of the cooling system.

End play in the cam shaft or a loose cam shaft will develop a serious knock.

When coasting to a stop it saves tires considerable wear if you will employ the brakes gradually.

Every motorist should understand thoroughly everything about storage batteries in order to get the best results from them.

When there is much gas escaping it shows the compression is leaking past the pistons, causing a serious loss of power.

A loose fan-belt prevents the water from being properly cooled and it is well to look over the fan-belt occasionally to see that it is properly tightened.

"Running on a flat" not only demolishes the tires prematurely but lessens the owner's chances if he applies to the tire adjuster with a claim.

For cleaning up punctures in inner tubes it is often handy to have small flat or round sticks of wood wrapped with sandpaper.

A painters' brush that is thick and soft will be found better than waste for removing dust from the motor.

One of the causes of chronic overheating may be traced to sediment in the radiator which prevents proper radiation.

The principal points of wear in the steering gear are in the gears at the lower end of the steering column and the steering knuckles. They have little motion but it is constant and there is considerable racking.

When brakes "howl" or squeak when applied it is due to the brake linings becoming worn so that the heads of the rivets holding the linings to the bands strike the drum. Remove the bands and sink the rivet heads below the lining. If the linings are too thin, renew them.

The average motorist can test the connecting-rod bearings of his engine by tapping the bearing caps lightly with a hammer to see if there is any play. The crankshaft should run singly, but not too tightly, so that it can be rocked by hand when the compression is released by opening the petcocks.

Breakage of a taper pin on a magnetic driveshaft or similar important part frequently causes delay and annoyance to motorists, especially if it occurs on the road, when another taper pin of the right size is unavailable. If this is the case, a temporary pin may be quickly filed from a nail or similar piece of stock, which while not strong enough for permanent repair, will suffice for the time it takes to secure a new pin.

Cheap grease cups are more than likely to become worthless in a short time. It is almost impossible for the ordinary man to turn one of these cups down and even if he is able to, the operation may not bend the grease home where it is needed. The only remedy for this condition is to install really efficient grease cups, oil cups or get a lubrication system of the kind that puts grease in the bearings under high pressure.

When the crankshaft turns over with a steady and unusual resistance, it probably means that there is a deposit of gummy substance under the piston rings. This may be removed by putting an ounce or two of kerosene through the petcock of one cylinder at a time and running the engine with the spark plug wire disconnected to that cylinder for a few minutes.

Men Prize the Notable Utility of This Distinctive Hudson

TODAY one question towers above all the rest. That dominant issue is endurance—especially as it affects motor economy. It commandeers attention to the virtual exclusion of all else.

For men, who depend upon their cars for every day rapid transit, have come to know that endurance rules every phase of motor economy.

And the marked preference for Hudson that this standard of judgement made inevitable, is reflected upon every city street, upon every highway by which business men with country and suburban homes, travel to and from business.

Note the great numbers of Hudson Coupes and Cabriolets. These two types are especially favored by busy men of consequence. Because they give luxurious, rapid conveyance in all weather and conditions of travel. And because their reliability is so sure and steadfast, that not even a remote concern visits the owner as to his certainty of destination, or the dependable use of his car when he wants it.

The supply of enclosed models, which we were able to secure as a reserve for the fall demand, will be totally inadequate to prevent a recurrence of last year's shortage. But we can, for the present, assure reasonably early delivery of a limited number of Coupes, Cabriolets, Touring Limousines and Limousines, on orders that are placed promptly.

COST OF PRODUCING 1920 COTTON CROP

Committee Submits Reports As Compiled From Figures Furnished By Farmers.

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—The committee on cost of producing the 1920 cotton crop has submitted the following report:

The cost of producing the 1920 cotton crop has been kept by farmers in all parts of Texas, in co-operation with the department of agriculture of Texas, on blanks prepared for that purpose.

Important data of general character has been gathered from the reports, which is herewith given. The items of cost are reduced to the average acre basis as follows:

	Acre
Value of farm and improvements Land $57.68 and improvements $18.76	$ 7.44
Value of work stock	2.91
Value of implements	9.08
Total investment	$36.43
8 per cent on the investment ($36.43)	$ 7.71
Value of feed for work stock	7.49
Value of repairs and blacksmithing	.89
Depreciation on improvements, 10 per cent off $18.76	1.87
Depreciation on work stock, 15 per cent of $9.91	1.45
Depreciation on implements, 20 per cent of $9.08	1.81
Taxes and insurance	1.00
Farmers wages, one man at $100 per month and other permanent labor at $50 per month	28.76
Total average of cultivation, per acre, for all crops	$50.73

The reports reveal that 57 per cent of the cultivated land is in cotton and 70 per cent of the time of cultivation was devoted to cotton.

	Per Acre
This would make the cost of producing cotton	$62.36
To which is added the extra cost to cotton as follows:
Extra help cultivating coton	1.70
Seed for planting	1.46
Extra help required in picking	5.45
Ginning and wrapping	3.15
Storage, insurance and interest	4.00
Fertilizer or plant food taken from the soil	6.00
Total expense per acre for cotton	$84.12
Less 306 pounds seed at $25 per ton	3.93
Net total cost of one acre of cotton	$80.19

Cost Is 46 Cents.

Based upon the estimate of the bureau of crop estimates of the government of 174 pounds of line per acre, makes the cost per pound 46 cents.

We, the price-recommending committee appointed by Hon. Fred W. Davis, commissioner of agriculture, to find the cost of producing the 1920 cotton crop, and to recommend the minimum price therefor, having gone over the reports, find them conservative and consider the producers entitled to at least two cents per pound over cost, as profit, making 48 cents as the average price the crop should bring, and which would entitle the better grades to 50 cents or more.

Realizing that the farmers may get the above prices if those who can will withhold their cotton from market, we urge every one who can, not only in Texas but all over the south, to cease selling at once, for a fair price and co-operate with the Texas farmers in their efforts for justice and financial freedom.

The committee urges the farmers to warehouse their cotton, protect it from the weather and not to sell for less than the above prices, to sell slowly and never sell on a declining market; and to watch the market in the east as closely as the east watched the supply in the south.

The committee requests that copies of this report be sent to commissioners of agriculture in the southern states, with the request that they co-operate with Texas farmers in securing the price.

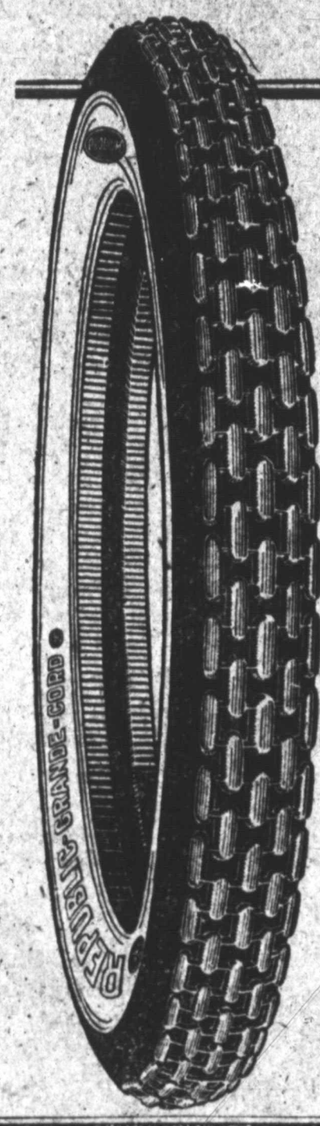
REPUBLIC
GRANDE
CORD TIRES



Everywhere the Republic Grande Cord Tire is being accepted without question—because of the good name it bears.

And people are finding that it is true to its name; that it, also, actually does last longer.

The reasons, of course, are the toughened tread of Prodium Rubber, and the rugged cord construction with specially strengthened side-walls.

REPUBLIC TIRE CO.

Gridiron Tread will not "climb" out of road ruts

KOKOMO Long Life Tires with White Gridiron Tread and Gray Side Walls literally "hug the road". No matter how deep the rut or how rough the going they run true. The Gridiron Tread accounts for this. This claim is not lightly made. It is based on thorough tests.

Kokomo "Long Life" is guaranteed by the manufacturers. We sell them on an adjustment basis of 5,000 miles, but they give much better mileage than that. Faith in the wear-resisting quality of pure white rubber for treads has been expressed by the Kokomo Rubber Company in these tires. Confidence in their road-gripping power has been evidenced in the adoption of the Gridiron Tread. The most trying tests on roads of all sorts have given sufficient proof of the all-around correctness, safety and dependability of these tires. The manufacturers of Kokomo Long Life Tires have been building tires for 25 years. They built the pneumatic tires for the first "Horseless Carriage". Their experience qualifies them to know, and they DO know. Try a set of Kokomo Long Life Tires with red or gray inner tubes, and prove their worth to yourself. The guarantee protects you.

"CATERPILLAR" TRACTORS REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Were an important factor in the winning of the World War. They traversed ground so rough and broken that no other type of vehicle could pass over it.

Road construction, the hardest of all work has been the Waterloo of many makers of tractors. "Caterpillar" Tractors have mastered this with the same speed and efficiency as they did war work. The "Caterpillar's" immense power enables the commissioners to complete the grading of a road in one round trip, pulling the two graders with all ease.

The engineers of the Holt Factory have made a close study of the oil fields; its transportation and power problems, and the "Caterpillar" has won its way with the oil men and contractors. Once used the "Caterpillar" becomes a necessity.

All through the recent rainy season "Caterpillars" were hauling their loads, quickly and efficiently, in spite of the worst road conditions this section ever experienced.

The "Caterpillar" with its trailers can haul anything, anywhere, in any kind of weather over any kind of road.

We can make immediate delivery from stock of both the five and ten ton tractors.

We also have in stock the Martin Eight wheel wagons, ten ton capacity, equipped with tractor hitch.

GAMING UNAFFECTED BY U. S. PROHIBITION

Police In Eighteen Cities Say The Situation Is Practically Unchanged By Volstead Law.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Prohibition of whiskey, wines and beer has had little or no net effect on the prevalence of gambling throughout the United States, according to reports furnished the United Press by police authorities in eighteen cities.

Replying to the question whether there was a decrease or increase of gambling—such as racetrack betting, poker playing, crap shooting and the like—nine cities showed opinions that there was a decrease, while nine said gaming had increased since the country went dry.

In nearly every city, however, officials said shooting dice was the favorite sport of a large majority of gamblers, with poker, bookmaking and baseball pools following in order.

Following is a digest of the replies from the police and local authorities:

New York.—Gambling has increased here within the last year. Police and plainclothed men have made more frequent raids and the number of arrests has been 40 per cent greater than heretofore. Craps, poker, lotteries and bookmaking have appeared to be the favorite forms of gaming. Most of the police raids have been in the former tenderloin district, where also there have been numerous raids on bootleggers.

Chicago.—There has been a decrease in gambling in Chicago, according to Chief of Police Garrity. There have been practically no complaints of poker playing or bookmaking, but "African golf" (craps) games have been discovered scores of times on the lake front.

Philadelphia.—Gambling here is on the decline, said Superintendent of Police Mills, who was inclined to credit the condition to greater police vigilance rather than to an actual falling off of the "sport." Shooting craps leads in popularity. Arrests have been few.

Boston.—There is a "slight increase" in gambling here, police say. Poker and craps appear to be running a neck and neck race for popularity. While there have not been more than a dozen main raids in a year, police assert they have encountered more gambling this year than formerly.

Cleveland.—The gambling fever has hit the old and young, the strong and the weak, police say. "Everybody" is indulging, they said, and the net result in Cleveland is there is a "tremendous" increase in gaming here. Police have been busy arresting professional gamblers, but family "affairs" have for the most part been unmolested.

Detroit.—Gambling is on the increase here. Police declare most arrests in the last year have been race track and crap gamblers.

San Francisco.—Gambling has increased "heavily" here in the past twelve months, police said. Dice, poker, Chinese lotteries and racetrack betting have been the subjects of most frequently raided "parties."

Washington.—Proximity of racetracks to Washington have made betting the chief form of gaming here, police said. Generally speaking, however, they said, gambling has shown a "marked" decrease in the past year.

Indianapolis.—Chief Jerry Kinney of the local police declared gaming has increased here in the past year. Crap shooting leads all other forms of amusement, he said. There have been few poker games raided.

Atlanta.—"Mississippi marbles," "7 come 11,' or just plain craps have furnished most of the amusement in Atlanta, where gambling has decreased in the period since prohibition, said the chief of police. Most of the "arrestees" have been negroes.

St. Paul.—There are practically no gambling "joints" in St. Paul and gambling here has "greatly" decreased, police say. Numerous raids on slot machines, poker games and the like have "cleared em all out," they declared.

Dallas.—Most of the gambling here recently has been among negroes and workers in neighboring oil fields. The "amusement" has seen quite a slack, however, police say. Police have heard reports of fabulous sums said to have been won or lost in the course of an evening's sitting around a "pair of bones," but few arrests have been made.

Columbus.—Police here have been carrying on a campaign against gambling in any form, and as a result there has been a noticeable decrease in gaming. There have been several recent raids on downtown "mushroom" joints, however.

San Antonio.—Poker and craps lead in popularity here as "ruffneck" gambling amusements, while dominoes flourish in the clubs and homes. On the whole, however, there has been a decrease in games of risk.

Oklahoma City.—Wiseacres say that gambling is increasing here. Poker for the old folks and "galloping dominoes" for the younger generation are the favorite forms.

Springfield, Ill.—Fan tan, craps and poker games abound hereabouts, police declare. There has been a "big increase' in gambling in the past year, they say.

Lincoln, Neb.—Chief Anderson said there is "little or no" gambling here.

Anniston, Ala.—Arrests for gambling have fallen off here in the last year, police said. "Rolling the bones" is the favorite form of indoor sport.

Reliability

Oil pumps are as necessary to everyday living as the heart is to the life of every man, woman and child. Oil in some form flows into the life of each family, farm and business, either as fuel or lubrication, or both. It is highly important then that the pumps which start this Oil on its useful way be run at the greatest possible capacity, that the supply may keep pace with every human need.

The volume of oil each pump produces is a matter of horse power delivered to that pump. Delivery of horse power in turn relies upon belts and so it is that belts are the equipment on which pumping capacity depends.

O & G Inner-Locked Belts have established the same unequalled record for reliability in Oil pumping that they have in drilling. Wherever increased flow was to be had, they have given it. Nor have they ever failed to stand up under the severe twists of pumping power service, and always without separating or cross cracking.

Pumps may be left for hours at a time—O & G Inner-Locked Belts will run steady on the job, because they are reliable.

In single wells, too, it is the same story. Hour after hour, week after week, month after month, O & G Inner-Locked Belts have kept each pump going at top capacity. Their hardy, tough construction, tensile strength, long life, uniform running and freedom from slipping have made them what they are—always ready for every sort of duty, no matter how hard the going.

Wherever Oil crews gather—the men who stay close to the job; the men who know by practical experience what every belt can do—their opinions are ever the same; that O & G Inner-Locked Belts always do the greatest amount of hard work, giving increased results with the least cost in time and labor; that they are, in fact, the standard of belting reliability.
