MAYOR NELSON DEFEATS CURLEE 1602 TO 874

Road Commission Approves Entire Three-County Project On Highway 66

PAVING BIDS ORDERED IN ARCHER, JACK

Engineers Instructed to Prepare Estimates On Windthorst Route

SUCCESSFUL MEETING

Commission Agrees To Speed Construction On New Highway

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, April 5.—A delegation of Wichita, Archer, Jack and Palo Pinto county citizens Tuesday was successful in efforts to have construction speeded up on the newly designated state highway No. 66 from Wichita Falls south and southeast, leading to Mineral Wells.

Wichitans Attend

The state highway commission ordered engineers to proceed at once to prepare estimates on the portion of the route from the Wichita county line to Windthorst. That part of the project will connect with the portion Wichita county is now completing to the Archer county line. Then the highway commission ordered that bids be called for surfacing the same highway in two units, from Windthorst to the Jack county line and from the end of the present asphalt surfacing in Jack county to the Archer county line. The distance covered in the proposed surfacing project is approximately 20 miles.

The applications before the commission were submitted by County Judge John P. Marrs, Commissioner M. A. Bundy, Chairman J. S. Bridwell of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, and Manager John Boswell of the chamber, representing Wichita county.

In a good natured exchange, Judge Marrs said the state hadn't spent much on Wichita county highways. Chairman W. R. Ely replied it had spent $543,000 in federal funds and $410,000 state money in the county as compared with $1,630,000 Wichita county money.

Long, Long Ago

"How long have you been on the court?" Chairman Ely asked Judge Marrs.

"Three years," he replied.

"Well, all of that money was spent before you took office," Mr. Ely concluded.

The Wichita county group, joined by delegations of other counties seeking action on the No. 66 project, declared its program as presented before the commission had met with complete success in the orders adopted by the commission.

Stephens Contracts

Contracts awarded in Stephens county, at the hearing today, included 16.8 miles of seal coating from Breckenridge to the Stephens-Throckmorton line; 17.7 miles of seal coating from highway 1-A to Stephens-Young county line on highway 67; and 16.6 miles of double bituminous surface from Breckenridge to Eastland county line on highway 67.

Prisoner Who Attempted Suicide Will Recover

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 4. (AP)—E. R. Neagle, 37, who slashed his throat and left arm in the Levelland jail early Tuesday a short time before testimony was to have started in his trial for the ax-murder of a 74-year-old man, was lodged in the Lubbock jail this afternoon. The transient cotton picker was treated in a sanitarium here, where it was said his injuries were not believed to be serious.

Inmates of the Levelland jail told authorities Neagle cut his throat four times and his arm once while he was shaving with a safety razor.

The Men And Event That Shaped American History

WASHINGTON, April 6—The President's proclamation to the American people announcing the existence of a state of war is as follows:

A PROCLAMATION.

The fortunes of the United States were cast in with those of France and Great Britain and their allies when President Woodrow Wilson (right) on April 6, 1917, proclaimed that a state of war existed between the United States and Germany. The opening part of the proclamation, signed by the president after spirited scenes marking its adoption by the house and senate, is shown as it appeared in a newspaper. The smaller photos show Newton D. Baker (left), secretary of war, and Josephus Daniels (right), secretary of the navy, whose departments at once responded to the president's proclamation which he read to the assembled congress.

OFFICERS FIND BANDIT AUTO

Paradise Robbers Believed Near Saint Jo

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, April 5.—An automobile believed to have been used in the $1,500 robbery of the Paradise (Wise county) People's State bank today was discovered five miles south of here late today in a wooden grove.

The automobile, abandoned, contained a clip of .45 caliber cartridges which might have been used in the machine gun with which the two masked bandits threatened employes of the Paradise bank.

Other than being bare of license plates the car was unharmed.

A woman who several times drove past the spot where the car was later found was observed by Mrs. Tom Cable, whose husband owns the land on which the car was left. The mysterious action of the woman led to the belief that she was joined by the two suspected bandits after the latter had abandoned their car.

The bandits who robbed the Paradise bank leveled their guns at J. H. Nix, assistant cashier, demanded where the cash was kept. He pointed to the vault. They forced Nix into the vault, and then hastily snatched $1,500 and stuffed it into a paper sack. They overlooked $2,500 in their haste.

Rushing from the bank, the pair boarded their car, from which they trained a machine gun at the small crowd that had gathered before the bank. They fired a single shot, which missed, at a man who failed to raise his hands at their command as he ran toward the bank.

DALLAS, April 5. (AP)—The Texas Cotton Ginners association probably will formulate a definite policy on questions of tax relief and public economy at the annual convention opening here tomorrow. John C. Thompson, executive secretary, said resolutions shaping the association's attitude toward these matters had been prepared.

Approximately 2,000 ginners are expected to attend the sessions, representing virtually every state connected with the industry.

War Declaration 15 Years Ago Today Launched U. S. Into World Conflict

Anniversary of Historical Event Revives Memories of Days When America Prepared for Battle With Germany

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—"I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim, to all whom it may concern, that a state of war exists between the United States and the Imperial German govenment . . ."

On April 6 just 15 years will have elapsed since this proclamation—most momentous White House utterance since the civil war declaration—was wig-wagged from a window of the executive mansion to the navy department.

Telegraphers there passed it on to the great wireless tower at Arlington, whence it was flashed to all naval vessels and stations.

War Spirit Gripped Country

The American eagle was flapping his wings. The war spirit was gripping the country. Potential resources, which probably never had been equalled by any other nation, were to be brought into the great war under the Stars and Stripes.

A citizenry upwards of 20,000,000 capable of military duty, industrial resources incomparably the greatest in the world and the moral force of more than 100,000,000 Americans united behind their president with a patriotic fervor reincarnating the spirit of 1776.

Congress Asked for Budget

Congress was asked for $3,450,000,000 immediately for the war budget while Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, prepared for the selective draft.

Janitor Mistakes Bear's Paw for Woman's Hand

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 5. (UP)—An excited janitor called police headquarters today:

"I found the skeleton of a woman's hand in the basement here," he said. "Come right over."

Policemen and detectives rushed to the house. They investigated, said the bones were from a woman's hand and immediately started a search for her murderer.

The owner of the house explained, however, that a friend had sent him two bear's paws to be mounted, and that he had lost one in the basement.

Girl, 4, Chokes to Death On Piece of Raw Potato

SCHAGHTICOKE, N. Y., April 5. (US)—In a freak accident, 4-year-old Mary Smith choked to death on a piece of raw potato today. Her brother unintentionally slammed a door on her fingers and when she screamed the piece potato she had in her mouth lodged in her throat. She died before medical aid reached the home.

VETS PARADE FOR BONUS

War Anniversary Selected For Demonstration

Pleas of ex-service men in the Wichita Falls area for immediate cash payment of adjusted compensation certificates will be represented in the form of man-power through the medium of a parade to be staged here Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Drum Corps to Lead

Putting on their demonstration here on the 15th anniversary of the United States' declaration of war on April 6, 1917, the veterans of this region will march through the business district behind the drum and bugle corps of Pat Carrigan American Legion post.

Members of the legion, in announcing the demonstration, stressed their conviction that payment of net cash values of world war veterans' insurance certificates would alleviate materially economic distress in which many ex-soldiers now are involved, and would aid in the promotion of better general conditions.

"The public has been led to believe," said Milton J. Gaines, marshal of the parade, "that a new and additional appropriation of money by congress is being asked for this purpose. This is not true. The money for payment of world war veterans' certificates was appropriated in 1924. All that the American Legion asks is that the present cash values of those certificates be paid now, instead of being allowed to mature in 1945 with accrued interest."

Line of March

In addition to the drum and bugle corps, firing squad and color bearers of the local legion post, Wednesday night's parade will include large delegations from Electra, Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Charlie, Byers, Henrietta and from the American Legion auxiliary.

The line of march was announced by Mr. Gaines as follows: Parade forms at Seventh and Scott; south on Scott to Tenth; east on Tenth to Indiana; north on Indiana to Sixth; east on Sixth to Ohio; south on Ohio to Eighth; west on Eighth to Scott; north on Scott to Seventh.

Former Grocer Found Guilty of Knife Killing

LOCKHART, Texas, April 5. (UP)—Adam Briscoe, former Luling grocer, was found guilty of murder in the knife slaying of D. B. Kennard, oil field worker, and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary by a district court jury here today.

Kennard was slain as he sat in his automobile holding his 2-year-old son on his lap, it was testified, after an argument with Briscoe over a $6 grocery bill. He was slashed six times with a knife and bled to death on Feb. 21, 1931.

Air Of Expectancy About Lindbergh Homes Omens Safe Return Of Baby

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 5. (US)—A medley of strange activities joined tonight in a crescendo of hope that the safe return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby is only a matter of hours.

A decided air of expectancy and optimism was noticeable at the Lindbergh home.

He joined state troopers in fighting a brush fire that for a time threatened his Sourland hillside home.

Colonel Lindbergh's plane was kept in readiness at the Newark airport for a speedy get-away and two troopers on motorcycles were at the Lindbergh estate ready to escort his auto in case he makes another flight.

Whether Colonel Lindbergh's trips were linked to the continued absence from Norfolk, Va., of John Hughes Curtis, head of the three-man board of negotiators there, was carefully concealed both here and in the southern city.

Word was received here that Mrs. Curtis returned to Norfolk after a mysterious trip of her own, announced that she expected her husband back in 24 hours and added:

"I have every hope that there will be a happy conclusion."

From the wife of the Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock, another member of the trio, came this even more significant remark:

"Every thing depends on the next two days. If every one will remain quiet today and tomorrow it will all be over."

SELECTION OF JURY IMPEDED IN HAWAII CASE

Defendants 'Ought to Be Shot' Prospective Juror Says

PANEL FILLED

Prosecution and Defense To Continue With Challenges

HONOLULU, April 5. (AP)—Strong fixed opinions of prospective jurors, one of whom expressed belief the defendants "ought to be shot," impeded selection of a jury today to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three navy men, accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai, a native.

When the second day of the trial of Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, her son-in-law, and two enlisted men ended, six Anglo Saxons, three Chinese, one Japanese, one Hawaiian and one Portuguese had been temporarily accepted for service.

The expression of feeling against Massie, Mrs. Fortescue and their co-defendants, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, came from William Huihui, Hawaiian. Under questioning by Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel, he admitted he had said the four "ought to be shot."

The day also brought forth the indication the defense would plead the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, accused of attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, was an honor slaying. Mrs. Massie is the wife of the lieutenant and daughter of Mrs. Fortescue, American society matron.

Panel Filled

The jury panel was filled during the morning, but only a few of the 24 peremptory challenges, allotted each side had been used when court adjourned and a final jury was not in prospect.

Before Huihui's admission, Darrow had vigorously contested the attempt of Barry Ulrich, deputy prosecutor, to impress on prospective jurors not to consider whether the slaying of Kahahawai last Jan. 8 was right or wrong. Kahahawai was once tried for attacking Mrs. Massie last September, but the jury disagreed and he was awaiting another trial when killed.

Ulrich asked Shadford Waterhouse, prospective juror, if he would find the defendants guilty whether or not he believed they "had a right to do what they did."

"That isn't the law," Darrow interrupted.

Judge George S. Davis ruled he would settle the question later.

Friction Mentioned

Ulrich also by his questioning brought into the case talk of friction between the United States navy and residents of Hawaii. He asked prospective jurors if they had close friends in the navy. The prosecutor also asked if the fact Mrs. Fortescue was a woman would influence their verdict.

Mrs. Fortescue remained reserved and spoke only to her sister, Mrs. J. L. Ripley, New York, her brother, Robert Bell, and her attorneys.

Massie, however, relaxed somewhat from the strain he was under yesterday at the opening of the trial. He stood in the hall during intermissions and smoked cigarets as did Jones and Lord.

The prosecution and defense will continue with their peremptory challenges tomorrow.

Houston Publisher Hurt Slightly in Auto Crash

FAIRFIELD, Texas, April 5. (AP)—J. E. Josey of Houston, publisher of the Houston Post and president of the National Standard Life Insurance company, was hurt slightly today when the car in which he and three other men were en route to Dallas crashed into another driven by G. C. Parker of Waco about three miles south of here on highway 75.

Josey suffered a scalp injury and body bruises and his car was damaged so much the party left it here and proceeded to Dallas in a bus.

Parker, a hardware salesman, suffered a broken arm and severe bruises. His car was wrecked.

Churchman Suicides After 'Mercy Killing'

NEW CANAAN, Conn., April 5. (US)—A wealthy churchman decided that it was merciful to kill today, and shot his invalid wife as she lay in bed. He then turned the gun on himself.

The "mercy killing" and suicide ended the tragedy that has hung for four years over the home of Nelson Silliman, superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school.

The wife had been bedridden for four years, and worry over her condition, gradually had undermined Silliman's health, friends said.

Special Session Urged To Make Salary Cuts

AUSTIN, April 5. (UP)—J. R. Donnell of Hillsboro, member of the Texas legislature, was here today urging a special session of that body to order state salary cuts, effective next year. Unless action is taken before the regular session of the legislature in 1933, he said, state colleges and schools will make teaching contracts that will prevent the legislature making cuts in the budgets of those institutions.

Hoover Gives Sharp Reply To Criticism Of Economy Measure

WASHINGTON, April 5. (UP)—President Hoover struck back sharply at congress today for its criticism of his proposed special economy committee and got in return some fresh rebuffs from the Democratic leaders.

In a statement read with emphasis to newspaper men, the president replied to the Democratic demands for a specific program of economy that he and the departments had submitted detailed recommendations.

As this statement was going out, Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, was telling the senate that the claim made yesterday by the president of a reduction of $369,000,000 in the budget could not be substantiated by the figures.

Over in the house, Speaker Garner reiterated the Democratic demand for "something specific to bring about economy through government reorganization" and guaranteed to pass it, if submitted by the president.

Counter Offer Expected

The end of the day found Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, on his feet in the senate ready to reply to the president with what is expected to be a counter offer on economy. His speech will be made tomorrow.

The president and the congressional Democratic leaders are agreed that a saving of $200,000,000 in expenditures next year is necessary to help the new revenue bill balance the budget. The disagreement is on how to accomplish this saving.

DEMO GETS HOUSE SEAT

WASHINGTON, April 4. (US)—The house late today decided that Stanley H. Kunz, Democrat, was entitled to the seat in congress from the eighth Illinois (Chicago) district, and ejected Peter C. Granata, Republican, who was victorious over Kunz in the 1930 election.

Kunz, who held the seat for several previous terms, was immediately sworn in.

The vote to eject Granata was 189 to 170, cast on party lines. Kunz was seated by a voice vote. The action followed failure of the Granata supporters to have the contest referred again to the house elections committee.

Chinese Bandits To Execute American

SHANGHAI, April 5. (US)—Charles Baker, aged American river barge captain kidnaped near Hankow on Jan. 15, is preparing for death at the hands of his Chinese Communist captors.

Efforts of the Nanking government to effect his release for $10,000 after the Reds demanded $200,000 were double-crossed, and action taken by Nelson Johnson, American minister has been in vain.

Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul-general here, tonight received a pathetic letter from Baker, forwarded through emissaries of the Red bandits. He made no further appeal for ransom or help, but asked that his small bank balance and his personal effects be sent to his family in Oakland, Calif.

It was as if Baker had no more hope of returning alive to safety, according to Cunningham, who added:

"I felt all broke up after reading that letter."

WICHITA AREA TOWNS ELECT

Spirited Contests Bring Heavy Vote

Towns in the Wichita Falls area, in common with many other Texas cities, named new city officials Tuesday in the annual April elections. Unusual interest in the elections was shown in several towns, including Munday, where the entire administration ticket was upset; Electra, Newcastle, Chillicothe, Holliday, Iowa Park, Bowie, and others. Newcastle reported the heaviest vote in years and big votes also were polled in Electra and Vernon.

The aldermanic race at Henrietta proved a hot contest, but Seymour's election was the strangest of all. The city polled 576 votes with only 553 poll taxes listed and gave victory to the "administration" ticket.

NEWCASTLE, Texas, April 5.—In the most exciting city election in the history of Newcastle, J. W. Bullock, Tom Burch and R. J. Johnson were chosen Tuesday as aldermen from a field of seven candidates. The total vote of about 300 was the largest ever polled here.

Newfoundland Government Resigns After Rioters Storm Parliament

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, April 5. (UP)—The government of Prime Minister Sir Richard Squires resigned tonight after a mob of thousands of persons had stormed the house of assembly, besieged the cabinet members and wrecked part of the building.

The premier and his ministers, together with virtually the entire St. Johns police force, were barricaded inside the wrecked building for hours while the mob demonstrated wildly outside, shouting for the cabinet's resignation.

About 15,000 persons took part in the demonstration, but the mob dwindled to 4,000 after the attack on the parliament buildings. The outbreak arose out of demands that the assembly investigate charges that the prime minister had falsified minutes of the executive council.

The police were helpless in the hands of the rioters, who smashed windows, tore down doors and battered furniture before they retired from the building.

At sundown the crowd paraded wildly around the grounds, shouting threats against the cabinet members. After darkness set in there were threats to set fire to the building unless the prime minister resigned.

"The government must resign! The government must resign!" the mob shouted, keeping up a terrific din.

2,400 BALLOTS RECORDED IN CITY ELECTION

Bridwell Polls 2,338 Votes And Prothro 2,316 For Re-Election

ONE BOX FOR CURLEE

Nelson's Majority Nearly Two to One in Race For Mayor

Receiving 1,602 votes to 874 for his opponet, Mayor Walter Nelson was returned for another two-year term in the municipal election Tuesday.

Names Written In

Walter Curlee, former councilman, Nelson's opponent, carried but one box, that in North Wichita.

J. S. Bridwell, with 2,338 votes, and J. N. Prothro, with 2,316, were re-elected councilmen without opposition.

The election climaxed a campaign which aroused little interest until just a day or two ago. Nearly 2,500 votes were cast, or about one-fourth of the city's voting strength.

The vote for aldermen ran slightly below that in the mayoralty contest. Scattering votes were cast for several citizens by writing their names on the ballot. Among those receiving one or more votes of this nature were Frank Kell, W. E. Derden, B. D. Sartin, P. B. Curd, O. B. Kelly, C. A. Rogers, Tom Hunter, Big Bill Thompson, L. W. Cook, Walter Caldwell and Ed Peterson.

Statements Issued

Appreciation for a "vote of confidence" was expressed Tuesday night by Mayor Walter Nelson after the day's voting had returned him to office for another two years along with Aldermen Prothro and Bridwell.

"I am grateful to my friends and to all friends of the present administration," Mr. Nelson said, "for the decisive support which they gave us at the polls Tuesday. I regard their decision as nothing short of a vote of confidence in our efforts to promote the welfare of our city and its every citizen. The same conscientious effort which Wichita Falls approved decisively Tuesday will be continued during the next two years."

W. S. Curlee, defeated candidate for mayor, was among the first to congratulate Mayor Nelson upon his re-election.

"I sincerely congratulate Mr. Nelson upon his success," said Mr. Curlee to The Record News. "Defeat in any contest is never pleasant at the moment; but this is the first really lucky break I've had in six years, for a man needs all his time for business endeavor nowadays. I want to thank my loyal friends, however, for their hearty support."

WISCONSIN TO BACK NORRIS

Roosevelt Takes Lead For Demo Preference

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 5. (AP)—Progressive Republicans pledged to the candidacy of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska as president, and Roosevelt Democrats took the lead over other factions of their parties as 51 out of 2,845 precincts in the state reported results of today's election of delegates-at-large to the national conventions in Chicago next June.

The delegates pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for president polled 14,722 votes against 3,550 for another faction of their party, unpledged but friendly toward former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York.

The Progressives, steered by Gov. Philip F. La Follette and his brother, Senator Robert M. La Follette, obtained 9,109 votes for their slate, compared with 8,421 for the Conservatives. The vote was scattered but represented both urban and rural sections.

CAPONE STRONGHOLD GOES DEMOCRATIC

CICERO, Ill., April 5. (AP)—The Republican administration which has dominated Cicero, once known as the haunt of "Scarface" Al Capone, for the last 16 years was overthrown today in a municipal election conducted under the eyes of heavily armed squads of police.

Joseph Z. Klenha, village president, was voted out of office and Joseph G. Cerny, Democrat, was named to succeed him. The vote was: Klenha, 10,817; Cerny, 16,216.

The election was the quietest and most orderly held for many years in this large village bordering Chicago to the west.

HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT CHOSEN IN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., April 5. (AP)—Hoover delegates to the national Republican convention, among them Secretary Ogden L. Mills of the treasury, decisively defeated supporters of the presidential candidacy of Joseph I. France of Maryland, in one of the few primary contests in New York state today.

In the sole Democratic contest in the state, acknowledged, although unpledged supporters of the candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt set up a three to one lead on the basis of early returns from the 41st (Buffalo) district.

Simeon J. Beckerman and Dr. Bernard Lazarus of the France camp were defeated by approximately 10 to 1 in the 20th congressional district, where they had entered in a fight against Secretary Mills and Herbert M. Straus.

Budget Omits War Payments

Germany Makes No Plans For More Reparations

BERLIN, April 5. (AP)—The German government is going ahead with its financing plans on the theory that there will be no more reparations payments.

The budget for the fiscal year 1932-33, now in preparation, makes no provision whatever for war reparations, it was learned today. It is the first time since the end of the conflict that this item has not bulked large in the reich's financial plans.

This development in Germany's foreign affairs shared interest today with a domestic political sensation—the publication of documents seized from Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party headquarters which, officials declared, showed the Nazis had been ready to take power by force and to plunge the nation into civil war in the event Hitler was successful in the initial presidential election held on March 13.

These documents told of tapping government wires and of exact statistics on available arms and trained men, armored trains, fliers and other instruments of warfare.

The action of the federal government in ignoring reparations requirements in budget plans is in accordance with the declaration of Chancellor Heinrich Bruening last January that continuation of such payments was impossible and any attempt to maintain them "must lead to disaster not only for Germany but for the whole world."

The whole problem is to be discussed at impending international conference. As matters stand at present, however, Germany has no authority to forego her payments after the conclusion of the Hoover moratorium this summer.

The government is trying to balance the budget at 8,500,000,000 marks. It is understood that the present budget year will show a deficit of 550,000,000 marks (about $132,000,000). About the middle of the month the new budget will be discussed in the reichstag.

RHEUMATISM

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY

Poisons settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new medicine now sold by all druggists; that acts directly on the liver, kidneys and blood, and helps expel through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic misery.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is one rheumatism remedy guaranteed to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness, swelling and lameness, or nothing to pay.

Allison's Drug store has so much confidence in Ru-Ma that they want every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee money-back if it does not stop all your rheumatic suffering.—Adv.

JAPS SUGGEST ISLAND TREATY

Nation 'Not Interested' In Taking Philippines

TOKYO, April 5. (AP)—Japan would willingly sign a treaty with the United States guaranteeing perpetually the independence of the Philippine islands in the event they are freed, a government spokesman said today.

This statement was the official comment on the adoption yesterday of the house of representatives in Washington of the Hare bill, which would make possible complete independence for the islands by 1940.

The action of the house caused considerable surprise in official circles here and newspapers treated it as an event of first importance. News articles were accompanied by pictures of Secretary of State Stimson, who opposed independence for the Philippines at this time, saying that American withdrawal would be followed by domination "by some foreign power, probably either China or Japan."

Regarding this question, the Japanese government spokesman asserted that Philippine domination "would be as great a liability to Japan as it has been to the United States."

"We have declared for many years past and we reiterate now that Japan has no desire to acquire the Philippines," the spokesman said.

"We are unable to see any advantage to Japan if America grants their independence. We are chiefly interested in the islands as a profitable market near home, but we doubt whether independence would improve that market. Probably the reverse would happen."

Japan has been unable to "fully digest Formosa," he added. Formosa, the large island to the north of the Philippines, was ceded by China to Japan after the Sino-Japanese war of 1894.

Expert Presents Cancer Lecture

Dr. Charles H. Harris of Fort Worth presented moving pictures and lantern slides in a graphic program dealing with causes and cures of cancer Tuesday night at the Junior college auditorium. Dr. Harris, appearing in Wichita Falls under the joint auspices of the Texas Medical association and the Wichita County Medical society, accompanied a discussion of various causes of death from cancer with statistics presented by slides.

The address, heard by more than 150 persons, the majority of whom were laymen, gave detailed information on the kinds of cancer as developed in different parts of the body.

Two scientific reels of motion pictures presented detailed cell development of cancer and the effect of the use of radium and x-ray. A flourishing cancer cell was seen to shrivel up and die on application of radium.

The final reel, dealing with hazards and ill effects of quack cancer cures, was presented as a romantic story. The reel presented the fact that the public should protect itself from quack appeals seeking to get money, while no scientific member of the medical profession is out for money only.

CHINESE WIPE OUT GARRISON

Rebels Win Bloody Victory In Manchuria

HARBIN, Manchuria, April 5.—Fighting ferociously, Chinese Rebels today recaptured Ninguta, wiping out an entire brigade of the Chinese garrison that defended the city for Japan.

The garrison of 1,000 men put up but feeble resistance and those killed were cut down in their flight. Gen. Li Wen-Po, their commander, escaped to Muling.

The collapse of Henry Pu-Yi's newly organized army forces harrassed Japanese commanders to take over the defense of Changchun, Pu-Yi's menaced capital. The rebels are now a bare 35 miles north of the city and Japanese troops are pouring southward out of North Manchuria to the defense of Pu-Yi's tottering throne.

The Japanese are moving swiftly to drive the Rebels northward into the arms of the Japanese expedition that today poured over the Korean border into the mountainous, wooded regions, southwest of the Siberian border and Vladivostok. This expedition will cope with the united Chinese and Korean Rebels.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TOASTED ON BOTH SIDES

Extra Crispness Just One of Many Improvements Developed for Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

In line with its policy of constant improvement, the Kellogg Company some time ago introduced a new shredded whole wheat biscuit which offers several outstanding improvements in this type of cereal.

The new Kellogg biscuit is "pressure-cooked" by a special process that retains the full food value of the whole wheat. At the same time it produces a delicious mellow flavor and makes the biscuit very easy to digest.

The biscuits are also much crisper and crunchier, for they are toasted on both top and bottom—not just one side. Incidentally they are also a new, convenient size to fit the cereal bowl without crumbling. And you get 15 to the package instead of the usual dozen.

As evidence of the high food value of the Kellogg biscuit, the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia made a careful analysis and certify every package.

Grocers say Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuits are winning wide favor. Healthful and delightful for any meal. Especially good with hot milk. Identify this improved food product by the name Kellogg's and the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DEVICE AIDS AGAINST CRIME

Ultra-Violet Rays to Give Scientific Protection

By GOBIND BEHARI LAL

NEW YORK, April 5, (US)—Burglars and kidnapers have a new enemy, an ultra-violet rays protector just designed at the Westinghouse research laboratories.

This was demonstrated by Dr. Harvey C. Rentschler, director Westinghouse research department, at a meeting of the illuminating engineering society in Detroit.

The audience heard, in the darkened auditorium, a burglar shot, and later on saw his photograph just before he was fired at, during the attempt to steal a jewel box from the table. Of course, the burglar in this case was a fake one, Dr. Rentschler himself.

Lights Blazed

The room was totally darkened. But a hidden ultra-violet lamp was sending out rays upon a photo-electric cell, an electric eye, that controlled a number of anti-burglar instruments and weapons. Ultra-violet rays are invisible, but very effective. Just as Dr. Rentschler, impersonating the thief, approached the jewel box, the ultra-violet beam was interrupted.

Immediately, the photo-cell changed its operation, and there was a sudden blaze of lights. At the same time an alarm was sounded, a gun aimed at the box was discharged, and also a flashlight bulb was set off, while a camera hidden in the wall, synchronized with the bulb, took a picture of the whole affair. Tear gas bombs could be exploded by the same system.

Infra-red or heat rays enabled the taking of pictures in the dark, and in 20 minutes the photograph of the attempted burglary was projected upon the screen before an enthralled audience.

Girl Student's Suicide Caused by Insanity

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5. (UP)—Evelyn B. Chapman was "mentally deranged" when she committed suicide in the bed of James Cary, fellow medical student at Stanford Medical school, a coroner's jury decided today.

Mrs. E. O. Chapman, the dead girl's mother, revealed she had attempted suicide once before.

The girl had promised to consult some older persons should she feel tempted again, the mother said.

"I believe she went to James Cary's room to consult him, hoping to find a way out."

Despite the unusual circumstances of the girl's suicide, her mother and father both said they believed her visit to Cary's room was "merely indiscreet."

Dallas Needs Policewoman But Can't Make Choice

DALLAS, April 5. (UP)—The Dallas city civil service commission is in a quandary because it has 46 applicants for the new position of policewoman and can accept only one.

There are a lot of questions to be considered besides those usually asked of applicants for city jobs, it appeared tonight, on the eve of the final commission meeting to outline qualifications for the job.

It was understood the commission was trying to decide, among other things, whether the policewoman should be svelte or portly and whether she should be middle-aged and motherly, or young and saucy.

State Seeks To Recover $10,000 Paid To Sheriff For Fee Claims

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Suit to recover $10,000 allegedly paid from the state treasury more than five years ago in error was filed by the state today.

The petition, filed by Henry Brooks, Travis county district attorney, who has been assisting a senate committee investigating alleged irregularities in collection of fees of office by county and district officials, alleged that a warrant for $11,171.05 was issued and paid to satisfy claims aggregating $1,171.05 made by R. W. Weatherby, a former sheriff of Reagan county. The warrant was paid on Dec. 2, 1926, the petition alleged.

The warrant had been issued to take up deficiency certificates for fees of office claimed by Weatherby while serving as sheriff.

In addition to Weatherby, S. H. Terrell, former state comptroller; W. Gregory Hatcher, former state treasurer; Robert Goodfellow, former employe of the comptroller's department and their respective bondsmen were made parties to the suit.

Interest on the principal was asked from Dec. 2, 1926. The petition alleged that Weatherby deposited the warrant in the First State bank of Big Lake.

Information on which the suit was based was obtained by the senate investigating committee. That group has been checking fee records over a long period, and supplied evidence on which a number of indictments alleging irregularities were based.

Trial of Sheriff A. J. Remmert of Austin county, charged with extortion, was called in district court today but postponed until April 25.

A new grand jury was convened today to continue work of considering alleged fee irregularities evidence furnished by the senate committee.

The hearing may be held tomorrow.

RADIUM CASES BRING CHARGES

U. S. Public Health Service Drafts Regulations

WASHINGTON, April 5. (US)—Five radium concerns in addition to the suspended Radithor corporation, whose "tonic" was held responsible for the death of Eben M. Byers, Pittsburgh steel magnate, are the target of prosecution by the federal trade commission, it was revealed tonight.

Meanwhile it was learned that the public health service has drafted stringent regulations to end the menace of radium poisoning to industrial workers as the result of a four-year survey of all factories using radium.

Although the report has been completed and discussed with industrialists, Dr. L. R. Thompson, in charge of scientific research of the service, refused to show it to the press. He said to reveal the precise number of workers infected with the deadly radium rays "would stir up a mess and alarm the workers."

Fancy Prices Paid

The concerns named by the federal trade commission against three of which complaints were issued two years ago, are still doing business. Thousands of persons have paid fancy prices for their radium flavored soaps and radium waters, the commission said.

Those against which complaints have been filed are Radium-Active Remedies, Pittsburgh; Radium Ore Revigorator company, San Francisco, and American Radium Products company, Los Angeles.

The commission concluded:

"Such acts and practices of the respondents are all to the prejudice of the public and of competitors, and constitute unfair methods of competition in commerce."

Insulin Advanced For Tuberculosis

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—A plea to the medical profession to experiment with the fattening powers of insulin for tubercular patients was made tonight by Frederick M. Allen, M. D., of the Physiatric institute of Morristown, N. J., at a meeting of the Clinical society of the Polyclinic hospital, New York City.

Dr. Allen, also medical director of the Diabetic Hospital association, said his experiments began in 1922.

"Though a slight gain in weight has always been attainable in our experience thus far, the impression is that gain of strength is the important primary accomplishment, and that any attempt at large gain in weight should be deferred until the fever has been reduced by the customary measures," he said.

As for final effects Dr. Allen said: "The strongest warning should be given that this is only a hope and no quick magic cure is possible. Insulin can evidently be harmful when wrongly used but no contradiction to its right use has yet been found."

FARM LANDS SOLD FOR TAX

60,000 Families Lose Homes in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., April 5. (UP)—Sixty thousand Mississippi farm families watched their lands and homes sold at public auction today in sheriff's sales for taxes.

The lands that were sold embraced 7,000,000 acres, one-fourth the total area of this sovereign state. Eighty-two sheriffs conducted the sales throughout the state.

The farmers, impoverished by a low cotton market and crop failures, will not be evicted from their homes, but will be given two years in which to redeem their lands. Today's buyers were given tax title certificates.

Townsfolk were sharing the distress. It was estimated that 10 per cent of the urban property, in the hundreds of municipalities, would be sold for ad valorem tax delinquencies.

College Boys Howl At Co-Eds' Methods

LOS ANGELES, April 5. (US)—Revolt against asserted "apple polishing" of co-eds to obtain higher grades was voiced today by distraught and college lads at the University of California at Los Angeles.

In an editorial in the California Daily Bruin, campus paper, one of the male writers charges that women students were using their wiles to no good to snatch high scholastic honors. Blaming the asserted condition to competitive grading, The Bruin makes a plea for "more women professors."

"If the sexes are to be placed on an even basis in the classroom, either the co-eds or the professors will have to reform," the editorial says.

"As long as there remains the competitive grade system it will be next to impossible to force women to change their ways. And as long as co-eds sit in front rows, the instructor will find it difficult to immunize themselves against feminine charms.

"Perhaps the solution is more women professors."

WHEN YOU OVER-INDULGE

THERE are times when we all are tempted to take a holiday from the usual prudence.

Where is the person who wants to be discreet in diet every day in the year? It isn't human!

And it isn't necessary!

Your stomach won't be poisoned by every little indiscretion if you will just remember to give it the friendly aid of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It will sweeten the sour system and put things to rights.

Suppose you do overload your stomach with those things that bring on acidity? Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will neutralize many times its volume in acid. Just take two spoonfuls before and after such over-indulgence. It's a very simple way to prevent those miserable mornings which follow too much to eat and drink.

When you over-indulge—eating, drinking, smoking—don't suffer for hours! Nature will restore a proper alkaline balance in time, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts immediately. A creamy, pleasant-tasting emulsion that sweetens the stomach, dispels that sour gas, and relieves the nausea and headache, and feeling of biliousness due to overdoing. (Phillips' milk laxative properties always help the bowels at such times.)

Make sure it's genuine. The signature of Chas. H. Phillips on the wrapper and bottle will tell you it's the real product endorsed by the medical profession. Less perfect preparations do not act the same.

For a Healthy Mouth

Use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as a mouthwash every evening before retiring. Use Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth paste, to keep the teeth clean and white.

Q.—How large is the island of Guernsey?—F. C.

A.—It is 12 miles long and from 4 to 7 miles wide, with an area of about 45 square miles.

Q.—If part of a ship's cargo is thrown overboard to save the vessel when it is in distress, does the owner of that part of the cargo have to stand the loss himself?—E. R. T.

A.—The individual owner of jettisoned cargo is reimbursed by a general contribution levied upon the owners of the remaining cargo, freight and ship, for whose benefit the merchandise was sacrificed.

Q.—What is the date of publishing a book in the sense the word is used in the copyright law and regulations?—L. K. J.

A.—The date on which the book is placed on sale or otherwise made available to the public.

Q.—Are silver dollars still being coined?—E. B.

A.—They are not being coined at the present time.

Q.—What is the origin of the term Nasby, often applied to postmasters?—C. D.

A.—It appears to have been from the writings of David Ross Locke, who in 1860 to 1880 under the pseudonym of Petroleum V. Nasby, wrote many political satires upon many subjects including the political appointment of postmasters.

Q.—What heavenly bodies are included in the solar system?—V. B.

A.—The solar system is the sun, with the group of celestial bodies, which, held by its attraction, revolve around it. This group comprises so far as is known nine major planets attended by 26 satellites, about 700 minor planets or asteroids, also comets and meteors.

Q.—Where is the Kara sea?—B. N. H.

A.—The Kara sea is an arm of the Arctic ocean indenting the coast of northern Siberia between Nova Zembla and Yalmal Peninsula. It is about 300 miles long and 170 miles wide.

Q.—How many millionaires were there in the United States when the civil war began?—J. P. H.

A.—Various opinions are held. One writer says that there were but three. Others estimate that there were about 50.

Q.—How heavy was the armor of the knights of the Middle Ages?—T. V.

A.—The lightest suit of armor in common use, says W. S. Davis, weighed at least 55 pounds. Powerful knights often wore much heavier.

Q.—Can a person tell that water is poisonous merely by looking at it?—M. G. G.

A.—It is not possible. Water may appear perfectly clear and yet be polluted. A sample should be analyzed by a commercial chemist or by the local pure health service.

Q.—What are the nearest substitutes for ethyl alcohol?—W. C. P.

A.—The bureau of standards says that chemically, and in their general solvent power, methanol and propanol (methyl and propyl alcohols) are nearest to ethyl alcohol. Acetone is an equally good solvent for many substances. Other excellent solvents are isopropyl alcohol, the butyl alcohols, ethylacetate and related, acetates, and some of the ethers and esters of ethylene glycol and diethylene glycol.

A.—They should be washed and soaked overnight, then parboiled in boiling water containing one-fourth teaspoon of soda and one teaspoon of salt to the quart of water. Drain and proceed to cook according to any recipe preferred.

Al Capone is weary of prison life already, a news item says. Maybe he's just learning that the hardest thing to kill is time.

Traffic Tags and Bank Holdups

ONE of the odd angles of the recent $200,000 Minneapolis bank holdup illustrates perfectly the tangled problem which this complicated age has tossed in the laps of the police.

Armed heavily enough to resemble a world war trench raiding squad, the bandits boldly marched into a bank in a busy section of the city, in broad daylight, held up the 24 people who were in the bank, and got away with their loot unmolested.

Meanwhile, less than a block away, two policemen who might have done something to stop them were peacefully putting traffic tickets on improperly parked automobiles, in blissful ignorance of the holdup.

This, of course, does not mean that the policemen were asleep. They were doing precisely what they had been paid to do. Guardians of law and order, they were devoting themselves to the dreary, never-ending job of seeing to it that a big city's traffic didn't tie itself into hard knots.

As a result, the bandits who went out to commit an insolently bold robbery got away unmolested.

That is the sort of thing the police in every city are up against nowadays.

A police department exists primarily to protect the lives and property of the citizens. Keeping down crime is its first job. If it fails in that, it fails to justify its existence.

But we have permitted our city civilization to grow so complicated that the police often find the war on crime a relatively minor part of their schedule.

They have traffic to superintend—a man's-sized job in itself. They have a host of minor city ordinances to enforce. They must also keep down bootlegging, check up on gamblers, see to it that street peddlers have licenses, cast an occasional eye at theatrical performances, look for missing persons, and so on. They are too busy with their incidental jobs to give the war on crime the attention that it must have.

A $2,000,000 Prison

THE newspapers have had a good deal to say recently about the "luxurious" new $2,000,000 prison for women which was opened in New York City the other day. Since, in that adjective, there is an implication that the prisoners are to be coddled, it is worth while to see just what sort of accommodations this new prison actually provides.

It has a nice chapel in which Catholic, Jewish and Protestant religious services can be held. It has a fully equipped hospital, with a psychiatrist on the staff. It has a modern, electrically-equipped laundry. Its cells are provided with hot and cold running water and mirrors, the cots have mattresses, and there are shower baths which the inmates may use as often as they like.

This is luxurious by contrast with some prisons, of course. But, after all, it provides nothing more than simple decency in the way of living conditions. We ought to realize that this is just about the level which all prisons, for men and women alike, ought to reach.

Why This Business Is Good

THE magazine Variety reports that fortune tellers, crystal gazers and other psychic wonder-workers are finding business better during the depression than ever before. This is especially true in the theater; whereas in ordinary times there are seldom more than 25 active fortune tellers on the stage in the United States, there are now more than 100—and they are drawing crowds, too.

This, of course, isn't as puzzling as it seems at first glance. When times are good, the ordinary citizen is content to let tomorrow take care of itself. It is when times are bad that he wants to look into the future. He wants to know if he is going to lose his job, or if he is going to get a new one, or if any one is going to leave him any money; and no matter how hard up he is, he can usually dig up half a dollar or so for the man who professes to be able to tell him.

The Bonus Plan

IT IS rather hard to quarrel with President Hoover's stand in opposition to the passage of additional soldiers' bonus legislation by the present congress.

To pay the bonus now, in the way generally proposed, would cost around $2,000,000,000. Just how the strained federal treasury would bear an additional load of that size is not at all clear. A time when every branch of the government is being called on for the strictest economizing is certainly no time for expenditures of such proportions.

If Uncle Sam is to dig down for $2,000,000,000 worth of cash awards, would it not be better to make it a straight unemployment relief proposition? There are plenty of men besides war veterans who could use federal assistance right now.

SO THEY SAY!

Failure to meet our deficits will inevitably precipitate the withdrawal of a vast amount of foreign credits in this country.—Silas H. Strawn, president, United States Chamber of Commerce.

WALTER WINCHELL

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking To Himself

The numerous free attractions along Broadway—make for an engaging evening—at that . . . John Public and his lady friend are falling for teasers offered by the Coney Island showmen—and come to be awed . . . Of course, for a dime or 15 cents or even a quarter—you may be startled, if you like . . . Best of them all, however, is the lass who lectures on sex . . . Over on 6th avenue in the 40s . . . Hers is usually a stag audience—and she has books to sell—but you needn't buy . . . But most of her listeners, who come night after night, buy a book . . . The pictures are worth the tariff . . . She isn't a bad looker, this sex-speller—and her face never gets red when she hits her most stirring passages . . . And if she is heckled by a prude—her sassy snappers are delightful . . . Rousseau was one of the first men to publish a plea for sexual life . . . Richard Aldington's "The Hero" outdoes Rousseau for frankness on the same subject . . . But this newcomer to New York, with the contagious tones and manner, outdoes them both . . . Refreshing you might say—for there is little left to lift you out of your chair . . . Most interesting about her "show" and her knowledge about love—is that she has never been a bride . . . Oh, she must have been.

Those hospital attaches in Harlem were so indifferent . . . You probably get that way, I suppose, but it was among the minor thrills to snap them out of it the other stormy dawn . . . The blinding rain storm was responsible for that accident, of course . . . But if it weren't for those reporters passing by, the poor woman might have been stranded there in the gutter by the motorist who felled her . . . And so they helped lift her into a car and sped her to the hospital to be told: "You came in the wrong entrance" . . . Of all things! . . . "Get a doctor in a hurry please!" one of us breathlessly urged the clerks . . . "Not our job to do that" was the response . . . So it remained for the newspaper men to lift her onto the stretcher and do everything but operate . . . The pay-off came a few minutes later . . . When a typical 2nd lieutenant, later identified as an executive at the hospital, put on his sassiest tones and disciplined: "Take off your hats!" . . . As if that mattered! . . . Even the sepia cop, who was discovered long after, agreed that the major point was that the reporters remove their hats . . . Which, of course, they didn't—but proceeded to make notes—and then left the victim to whatever mercy could be found there.

Too bad about Nan Britton—having such a tough time of it . . . Her book "The President's Daughter" brought on more misery . . . Her second book, they keep saying, justifies her first . . . So Cagney is here to get acquainted with his next role in the magic lantern? . . . He will give it the wallop it lacks in spots . . . Clever boy, Cagney . . . And now a plague among his executives, who tried the trick of talking Yiddish, so he wouldn't understand — until he recently opened up on them all in their own tongue . . . You never can tell about the man next to you . . . Hoover's ace, frixample, in New York state . . . "Billy" Hill of Binghamton, who was his campaign manager in '28—and the only member of the staff never to ask the president for a favor—which is why he remains the only man who can enter the White House at will . . . Jimmy Walker aged because of his friends . . . Well, I learn as I go along . . . That "orange" is not the only word in the language that can't be rhymed . . . The dictionary includes "Sporange" . . . And that "pagan" means one who lives in a village . . . Most interesting editorial of the month, I think, is the movie editorial by Delight Evans—on Garbo and her Barnuming with the press . . . Wonder what Jimmy Quirk really thinks about that situation? . . . He has debunked so many of them—and always sanely . . . But right or wrong—GG remains immune.

It probably will inspire the reporters to jot down clown stories when it gets to court this or next week . . . The story about the Ziegfeld charmer in "Rosalie" . . . That was 3 years ago . . . And because she gave him so much prairie, he demanded she pay back what he spent on gifts for her . . . Being a good sport, she had him itemize the gifts, which came to $125—so she handed him an I. O. U. for that sum, promising to pay it when she could . . . But he wearied of marking time . . . So he is suing for the $125—plus interest of three years! . . . What a ribbing he'll get . . . Wonder what a customer thinks about in that Greensboro, N. C., barber shop, manned by women? . . . What waste of money that is—I mean in the "Hotel Continental" flicker . . . In which they used, for only a few seconds, such players as Hal Skelly, Taylor Holmes, Roy Atwell, Jefferson De Angelis, Wilton Lackaye and Frank Conlan, all of whom were well paid, but not mentioned . . . Most persons who object to the mumbling style of the crooners do the same thing themselves when they attempt "The Star-Spangled Banner" . . . Odd name for an eat-and-run place—"The Sip 'n' Snack."

It reads like a gang, but it actually happened, according to E. Phocian Howard, the publisher. Phocian tells of the big-time comedian who is notorious for being a miser. He was sitting in his club the other noon and after everybody had bought a round of fun-milk, he pushed the buzzer to summon a waiter.

He buzzed three times without result. Finally he turned to the chairman of the house committee and roared: "This service is rotten. Here I rang three times and I can't buy a drink!"

"The waiters," squelched one of the party, "don't believe you."

Clarence Darrow, the foremost agnostic in the country, has his downtown office in Chicago in a church! . . . "Love in Manhattan" by Don Wahn is going fine . . . I explained to Judge Hartman . . . I heard today that there are more racehorses and U. S. warships first initialed "B" than any other letter . . . That will do for a Satdee item . . . Jas. B. Clendenin of your Huntington, W. Va., paper came in to see you today . . . Herman Stark phoned to tell you Cab Calloway will be back in town Sunday! . . . I had one of those types, again, today—on the phone . . . I was assured that the end of the world would positively come on March 28—so goodbye!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE CHAMPION CANNIBAL OF ALL TIME—The Fiji Islands are the famous Cannibal Islands of History. They had food of every kind in abundance and yet exceeded every other people in their lust for human flesh. They were prompted to cannibalism by revenge, by religion, pride or appetite. Strong men would kill their own wives and eat them. Strangely enough, they had an aversion to the flesh of a white man, saying it was too salty. The champion cannibal of all time was Udrane of Rakeruki, whose full name was Ra Udriudri. This monster extraordinary no less than 1,872 "long pigs" (human beings), permitting no one to share them with him. He gloried in the multitude of men he had eaten and kept an accurate record of their number by adding a stone to a fence which he erected for the purpose of this tabulation. But cannibalism is a thing of the past now. Outside of a short revival of this habit in 1892, it has been abolished for about 70 years. Yet as I walked the streets of Suva today I spoke to many adult Fijians whose fathers had eaten "many men."

A VISIT TO UMBRELLA-LAND—Pago Pago, the American naval harbor on Tutuila Island, is the country of rain. Across the bay is a flat-topped mountain called the rainmaker. Clouds constantly come up behind the rainmaker and bump its sides. The result is a torrential downpour which keeps up for days at a stretch. As you watch the rainmaker it is possible to see the shower coming towards you. Samoa is umbrella land. There are more umbrellas sold here per capita than in any other country on the globe.

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA BEDFORD Author of "BROADWAY BRIDE"

READ THIS FIRST

Lillian Abbott, who will inherit Cyrus Abbott's millions some day, runs away to New York in search of a job. She doesn't want to make her debut into New England society as her family has planned. She wants to be a working girl with definite things to do. She puts up at a hotel near Broadway and believes she is to train to become a movie star under the direction of handsome Thomas Blane. But Blane is a slicker. He persuaded Lillian to come to New York, and after she is there he realizes she is not nearly as dumb as he had imagined an 18-year-old sheltered beauty to be. He decides to give her the "go-by," steals her money and disappears. Lillian thinks being on her own, with plenty of nerve, will get her by. She is confident she will find a job. And Howard Marsh, the dapper manager of the hotel, takes her in tow. They go to a dine and dance place. Lillian is attracted to him but he does not respond to her.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XVIII

Howard Marsh had many friends. They came over to his corner table. It was obvious that they came to be introduced to Lillian—and it was obvious that Howard enjoyed presenting them to her.

Every man who came over asked Lillian for a dance.

And after receiving a nod from Howard several times when asked she began accepting their invitations without looking over at her escort.

Most of them danced well. Some of them held her too tight. Some of them smelled of liquor.

One named Donald asked: "What's your phone number, baby?"

She pretended not to hear.

"Got a late date tonight?" he persisted.

"No!" snapped Lillian.

"Well, you have now. We'll step out—after you're through here."

What did he mean? After she was through?

"Don't spill it to Howard Marsh. You're his date, I know. But when he takes you home I'll telephone you, see?"

The music stopped then and Lillian was grateful.

She hurried back to the table where Howard Marsh sat. She didn't wait for her partner to pull out her chair. She loathed him and the familiar way he held her while they danced.

Lillian busied herself with the delicious lobster on her plate. She kept her face averted. She didn't want Howard to see that she was angry, humiliated. He couldn't see the twist of her red lips and the angry, thoughtful expression in her dark eyes.

"Are you enjoying yourself?" he asked pleasantly.

"The music is wonderful. I'm having a grand time," she forced enthusiasm into her voice.

It wasn't exactly forced. She was having a grand time, there with him. She liked him. She was drawn to him. She felt there was something likable about him—and the woman in her craved for more proof that he also was attracted.

Lillian was not yet aware of her power. She had no idea of how to employ the vast power of her dark beauty.

But this was a novelty to Howard Marsh.

His air of worldiness, his handsome wholesomeness had brought girls clustering about him. His winning personality had done much to make him a success as a New York hotel manager.

Here was a girl who liked him but had no cunning. He eyes were fresh and clear. Her attitude something entirely different. Howard Marsh didn't quite know what to do about a girl like that.

He had decided he was going to give her a chance. Anyway, it was a job and jobs were hard for a girl to find in New York.

There had been one thing worrying him. Could she take care of herself?

He had watched young Donald dancing with her. He had a fairly accurate idea of what had been said.

"I liked the way you handled Don," he said to Lillian out of a clear sky.

Lillian looked her surprise.

"I liked the way you held your poise. Everything under control."

"I—I didn't think you noticed—"

"I noticed."

She felt somehow rewarded.

"Would you like some wine?" he asked.

"No—but don't let me stop you. I never drink."

"Good," he said.

"Why do you say that?" Lillian asked. "You said that when I refused your cigarets, too."

"It's a good thing you don't smoke or drink. I think so, anyway. I wouldn't want you to work for me if you did either. You're too young for that sort of thing."

"What kind of work could I ever do for you, Mr. Marsh?" Lillian wondered.

"Ah—never mind that."

"But I'm terribly curious—"

He looked at her through partly closed eyes, as if he were thinking things he would not say.

"What do you think when you look at me like that?" she asked, smiling across at him.

"That you shouldn't have come—" he answered, strangely serious.

"I don't understand—"

"You shouldn't have come to New York. You're too young. Too fresh. You don't know what life in a big city means for a girl—alone."

"Oh, I say—" Lillian scolded. "I'm not a child. You make me feel as if you were my meanest uncle putting me on the carpet."

"When I called you this morning to come to my office I had an idea that was what you needed—to be put on the carpet. Rather, on the train and sent home. Or—"

"Or back to school, is that it?" [illegible]

"Yes, that's it. But—well, a man doesn't always do what he believes [illegible] when a girl is pretty—"

"I almost thanked you."

"A friend of mine is coming over. I'd like for you to dance with him," he said in a low voice.

The friend came. He was a clean cut looking chap. Blonde and medium height.

Lillian danced with him. They didn't talk much. The music was fast and the floor was crowded.

Lillian wished that Howard Marsh would dance with her instead of making her feel she must dance with all of his friends. She was much more interested in him than his friends.

She observed the girls dancing around her. They were made up like actresses. Their eyes were hard and bold. Their mouths were like gaudy bits of painted cardboard.

They danced close to their partners. Too close, Lillian thought.

The blonde young man with whom she danced drew her a little closer. Lillian pulled back. He didn't say anything but he looked at her with questioning eyes. Then he smiled. A bored sort of smile.

Neither of them said anything then. Lillian thought how strange everything seemed in New York.

The people were so wise, so bored. They weren't really having a good time. They just pretended. They just went through the motions of a good time.

But somehow when she returned to the presence of Howard Marsh there seemed to be merriment in the place.

She accepted thanks from the blonde young man, who soon departed, going to another table near them and asking another girl for a dance.

"You aren't having a good time, are you?" she asked Howard, who had been sipping wine, looking over the crowd indifferently while she danced.

"Why don't you think so?"

"Well, you aren't dancing—and you sit here alone while I dance with your friends."

He reached across the table and patted her hand.

"Shall we go, then?" he asked.

"Yes—if you like."

As they were leaving and Howard was getting his overcoat from the check girl Sherron, the manager, came over. "Tomorrow night," he said, his eyes taking in both Howard and Lillian.

"All right," Howard Marsh answered. Then, to Lillian he said, as Sherron turned to go. "You'd like to come again tomorrow night, wouldn't you?"

Lillian said she would. There didn't seem to be any reason not to come. But she sensed something she could not understand.

She couldn't exactly term it fear. But it was strange. Maybe it was just New York . . . maybe it was because Howard had danced only once with her and her vanity was a little nicked. But he had asked her to come again the next night.

"You aren't having a good time, are you?"

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 4.—In an hour when wise-cracking at congress is a popular sport arises Dr. George W. Calver, physician-in-waiting to that body, to testify in its defense.

It is, he says, too hard worked for its health.

Unless some way to let down nerve strain on house members, incident to the present session, is found, the navy doctor says, "catastrophes" may result among the large group of representatives who are "mulling over their worries."

Obviously it is the economic crisis that makes this congress, in his judgment "of greater complexity than those of war time."

Adding to Worries

Coupled with that, for party chiefs, is the fact that the senate is Republican, the house Democratic by a very slender majority, and a presidential election is in the offing, its preliminary thunders sounding daily in the ears of congress as primary results come in.

Every such report gives a group on the hill something new to worry about. More than a third of the senators and all house members will be up for re-election in November.

There are 76 who came in by election for the first time in November, 1930, or in the case of a dozen or so, at special elections subsequent to that date to fill vacancies caused by death.

The transfer of party power in the house from Republican to Democratic hands grows out of those fatalities on the rolls.

Before the 72nd congress met less than four months ago, more than half of the terms for which the bulk of these newcomers was elected had expired.

All their political spade work in Washington to retain their seats must be condensed into the period up to election day next November. Yet Dr. Calver testifies that for all members at this session mail from their constituents which must be dealt with has about doubled; visitors who must be seen are more numerous; committee sessions longer and more trying.

Tightening Their Hold

Most old-timers have so strong a grip that nothing but a political tidal wave in November could unseat them.

For the freshmen, the newcomers, however, with congressional records yet to make, there is no such reassuring thought.

And they know, too, that $10,000 government jobs probably would appeal this year to men at home who would have scorned them two years ago.

Aged Man Jailed To Prevent Suicide

SOMERVILLE, Tenn., April 5. (UP)—Will Gwinn of Moscow, Tenn., lone derelict of a once wealthy and famous Tennessee family, was held in the jail here tonight to prevent his threatened suicide.

All over this section, the tradition remained of the glamorous entertainments the Gwinn family, with its great retinue of servants, used to give before the civil war. The Gwinns were slave owners and immensely wealthy.

After this the family fortunes began to wane. As Will Gwinn grew to manhood he saw the wealth slip rapidly away and he was unable to recoup any of it. Tragedy followed tragedy in the family affairs.

Lately the aged Gwinn had been living with his 40-year-old son, Van Gwinn, in a hovel. Last Friday night the son's life was crushed out beneath the wheels of a passenger train.

This was the final tragic chapter. The aged father attempted today to take his own life, but failed. He was brought to the jail raving of his misfortunes.

Altrusan Meeting Marks Organization's Birthday

Miss Ruth Downing, president of the local chapter of National Altrusans, was hostess to the group at her home on Speedway Monday evening. As April 11 is the 15th anniversary of the organization of Altrusa, the oldest organization of business and professional women, with classifications reaching into the home as well, Miss Downing gave a national quiz and Miss Juanita Kinsey, who has been signally honored as district representative in Wichita Falls, won the honor in the responses.

In the short business meeting, resolutions were passed on the constitutional amendments and the organization decided to stress more vigorously in the coming year their project of vocational guidance. With the close of the current year, 16 new local Altrusa chapters have been organized.

The program, named as a "Come and Go" entertainment, was a pleasant innovation. The doorbell would ring, some one walk in, perform the part promised, and walk out again.

Nita McDowell, dressed in overalls and looking like an adorable ragamuffin, gave two clever readings. Bobbie Honea came next and accompanied by Helen Smith, played exquisite violin selections. He is one of the splendid pupils of Stanley J. Raub. Readings in dialect by Inez Terrell closed the entertainment.

The birthday cake, decorated beautifully in pink was cut by Miss Kinsey as a specially honored guest; the green plates and orchid doilies used in the refreshment course completed the dainty colors chosen by the Altrusans.

Among the members present were Misses Juanita Kinsey, Anna Belle Farquahar, Ethel Luise Webb, Pearl Rorabaugh, Mineola Harding, Lucia Powell, Mary McIlheran, Ruth Downing, Susie Downing, Frances Brooks; Mesdames D. G. Whitney and Cathleen Nelms; guests included Miss Judie Mann and Mrs. W. H. Downing.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Some connections the past few days with people who believe in one doctrine only, have us all muddled. Of course we know that there are a few churches who are positive that only members of their own church are eligible for salvation; but that doesn't effect our own belief.

◇ ◇ ◇

So far as religions go, there are so few, relatively, who choose their religions. They are born into a certain church or a certain community and fall into the habit of following the doctrines they are taught. Those are indiscriminating people.

◇ ◇ ◇

We know people who have read all the philosophers and who, in the inscrutable depths of their brains, have not been able to choose what they think is real religion.

◇ ◇ ◇

Being what is known as a Christian is a peculiar thing in this day and time, any way. The world as a general thing has grown so much broader minded than in the past; even the Catholic church, which has dignity and authority back of it, looks kindly on other believers.

◇ ◇ ◇

Wichita Falls is peculiar in one thing. People of all denominations join in one work, that of the day nursery. Started years ago by one of the beautiful souls of the city, Mrs. J. A. Kemp, they fail to argue over who shall do this and who shall do that. The day nursery is a project of the federated missionary societies. The beautiful spirit in which it was inaugurated has continued to this day. Mrs. Kemp, doubless, has many stars in her crown, but we doubt if ever one burns more brightly than the star of her work with the nursery.

◇ ◇ ◇

We have been told we could not be saved unless we joined a church that does not belong in musical instruments; we name no names. But is not melody a part of Heaven?

◇ ◇ ◇

To us the church of England, our own Episcopal, is the most pleasing of all. The only uncomfortable thing is that it is very hard on the knees but we have been told we might stay off them so long as we were not strong.

◇ ◇ ◇

We were born an Episcopalian; there follows the old story of the religion into which one is born. But at a tender age, we were joined to the Methodist, without any say so on our own part. We followed its teachings for many years, but felt very hypocritical when we danced a dance or played with some "spot cards."

◇ ◇ ◇

When it was possible, we went back into the church of our choice and the silence, the beautiful worship and the reverence shown in the Episcopal church always moves us to betterment. So, doubtless, are other denominations moved.

◇ ◇ ◇

We have such a number of lovely friends in the Presbyterian church that it is very near to our heart. But so far as that goes, we have such very dear friends in the Methodist churches, they are also near. If however, they should for any reason kick us out of the Episcopal church we believe we would enter the Presbyterian. We might, however, become altogether irreligious.

◇ ◇ ◇

But what is religion? Each of us lives according to the best light he has—if he is worth while. "People" should not count. Charity is the nearest definition we have for real doctrine.

Garner Refuses Singer To Throw Hat in Ring

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Speaker Garner declined today to allow a singer to throw his hat into the presidential ring.

Representative Boyland, Democrat, New York, calling to present Johnnie Griffin, who was here with a theatrical troupe, suggested to the speaker that he allow Griffin to sing a song and throw the Texan's hat into the ring while photographers recorded the action.

"None of that presidential stuff for me," Garner said. "I'm glad to meet you Mr. Griffin. Good-bye."

Our Children

His Gift

We are not half as appreciative of the gifts of children as we ought to be. Unless a child shows genius we ignore his bids for our praise and applause. Yet it is by cultivating his little gifts, his powers, that a child develops. Each added grain of power enables him to gain another and another until he is as big as his bigness can be.

When a child says, "Watch me turn a somersault," and exhibits his skill for your approval, it is important that you give your attention and applause. He has acquired a gift, and slight thought it be, it must be encouraged so that he feels himself able to take the next step.

> Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

The little girl who comes to you joyously saying, "I can do a back dive. Come and see," is full of the strength that success always brings. Leave everything and go to see that dive and applaud it heartily. If you turn a cold shoulder, say you are busy, and send the child away empty, she feels empty. Her whole tone is lowered. Interest is killed and growth is checked. Praise each achievemnt. Every one of them is important because each indicates some trait of power that is coming through.

It is trying on one's patience and time to keep step with a healthy child's activity, but it must be done if we expect to keep the child growing at full speed. Growth comes in spurts. The child will grow hard and fast and then slow down. It is important that when he has a spurt of growth that we do all we can to nourish it and keep it coming. If we allow it to pass unfulfilled the child loses something that he cannot regain.

It is trying too, to keep up with a child's changing growth. He is all interest today and tomorrow he pushes the beloved work aside and yawns. Then he is off to another field. Again he is all enthusiasm. Again he demands our attention and support as he investigates and experiments with this new interest. And again we must be on hand to cheer him on his way.

The various interests he takes on may seem unrelated to you, but usually one feeds the other and power gained in following one hobby is not wasted when he reaches out for something new. Changing growth brings changing tastes and wider interests.

Sometimes children have no special gifts that we can discover. They do their daily work and grow along to maturity in normal fashion. We can discover no "ups" that are remarkable nor are there any "downs" that fall below the usual level. Yet this child will come to you to exhibit his gift, his one power. Give him the same attention and applause as you would the young genius who plays a sonata. The little stunt he performs gives him joy and joy stimulates success and gives the child a sense of well being. He feels he is a person when he has accomplished something that seemed difficult and unusual. Card tricks, magic, a new way of doing some ordinary thing, all demand our approval because they mean something to the child who discovers them.

If you remember, the juggler presented his performance to the virgin as his best gift. To him it was art, as high as that of Raphael's. And for him it was right.

Go to Jail to Gain Health?

Many notorious and wealthy men who have spent time in jail come out feeling far fitter and looking better than when they entered. From this, one might judge that to get healthy, the best thing is to go to prison. However, these men would have found it just as easy to gain health out of jail as in, if they were only willing to do for themselves what imprisonment accomplished.

About the healthiest thing a penitentiary can do for a man is to keep him away from the pursuits and pleasures of his spare time which have in the past run down his health. In prison there are no rich foods, late hours, excitement or other enervating factors but there is plain food (though not always properly balanced) and plenty of sleep.

The men who get well in jail point out the fact that it is not so much what we do while working which ruins our health as it is what we do while we are at leisure. The way you spend your spare time largely determines whether you will stay well and strong, or become flat and flabby. Do you waste your spare time or have you learned to use it? You can easily tell by your physical appearance whether you make good use of your spare time or whether you do as so many people do and just fritter it away.

Using Spare Time

One good use to make of your spare time is to use it for exercising. Many people nowadays hardly ever get any real exercise. They spend almost every waking hour slouched over, humped up, and forget that man is made largely of muscle and that muscles need work. This is a machine age and in a race between a machine and man's muscle and the machine always wins. Because of the temptation to ride instead of walk it becomes a matter of grave importance to take the trouble of seeking muscular activity. If you do not use your muscles when you work, then you must use them when you play.

We hear a lot of "hoarding" talk about money being of no value unless it is used. It seems to me equally foolish to try to hoard your leisure time instead of using it.

Don't hoard your leisure hours. An hour or a minute is if no value nuless you make it worth something. spend your time in a way that will build you up. You do not need to spend all your spare time this way—just an hour each day will give you strength and a symmetrical body. While it is advisable to spend some time on physical culture exercises, it is also a wise plan to use some time for games or sports. Take up swimming, walking, tennis, handball, ping pong, or any other recreation that appeals to you. Let it make a new man or woman out of you. Don't give up the second day because your rusty muscles cry for mercy like an old gate squeaks for oil. Keep on with your body building. Keep adding to your health and strength. I am sure that you will in time notice an improvement in a feeling of youthfulness and energy.

Exercise More

Take enough pleasant exercise and your food will taste like a banquet, a drink of fresh air sent to the bottom of your lungs will make you tingle all over with a feeling of glorious well-being. A well developed body will attract to you people who do things. Such a body inspires confidence. A well built human body gives you that look of a go-getter, the appearance of one who is able to put forth every effort to success. Most people find that as they grow healthier they grow wealthier. They increase their powers and can do bigger and better things and find larger visions pushing them on. Health itself is the highest form of wealth. Begin this very day to use your leisure to help you grow stronger.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Needs Companionship

Question—Miss F. C. writes: "I would like to know how to overcome my present state of lethargy. I am not myself. I cannot interest myself in anything, and I wish the day would never come. I live alone—no one troubles me, and I have no reason for being so perfectly useless and unhappy. I should be glad for you to tell me what I need."

Answer—It would be a good plan for you to interest yourself in a hobby or in friends, possibly joining a few clubs, where you could take part in the activities. I do not believe that it is well for one to live alone without some form of companionship.

Kidney Stones

Question—Mr. Donald E writes: "I have stones in the kidneys, which show quite plainly under the X-ray. My only symptom is slight backache."

Answer—The best advice I can give you is to repeat the fast at intervals of about a month, drink plenty of distilled water, and avoid those foods containing oxalic acid. You probably will not pass any stones, but you may notice the size of the stones becoming smaller under the X-ray in the course of time. However, you should not expect immediate results in chronic disorders of this nature. You may pass a few of the smaller calculi, or the stones may be embedded in the kidney structure so that it is not necessary to pass them and the symptoms will probably abate after the inflammation has subsided.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Why Men Get Gray

Hank Severeid tells this one with a laugh. The batter was at the plate. The pitcher started his wind-up. Just then the umpire on first base noticed a baseball near the first sack, one that had been used in infield practice before the inning started, and which had been unintentionally left on the diamond.

The first base umpire called time, but the umpire behind the plate didn't hear him. So the pitcher went ahead and threw the ball.

And the batter knocked it out of the park for a home run.

But since the first base ump had called time, the ball was dead and the homer didn't count.

So the batter went back to the plate (after the extra ball had been thrown off the field) and tried again. This time he weakly dribbled out. What a life!

Hot Spot

Severeid was with the Yankees when Ruth socked three home runs in one game during that world series with the Cards a few years back; and Mrs. Roy H. King, wife of the Wichita Falls accountant, who ordinarily paid very little attention to baseball, was a rabid fan that day!

Mrs. King was doing the family ironing and listening to the game as it filtered in via radio.

She became so interested in Babe's swatting that she neglected her ironing and burned a large hole in a garment. At any rate that's the story Mr. King tells on his wife.

Fantasia

A friend whose philosophy of life we admire very, very much writes as follows:

"Gosh, I wish I could take a week off and camp on the river, with several sacks of beer cooling in the mud, and the fish biting nicely, and plenty of food in case they didn't, and about five of the books I've been wanting to read, and a blanket to roll up in at night, and a pup tent in case of rain, and a smooth slope where the sun shines in the morning and gets shady in the afternoon, just a foot or so above the water. Omar can have his wilderness paradise."

When to Fish

Speaking of angling, Bill Parker, Associated Press sports writer, is responsible for this:

"According to the fellows who claim to know about fishing, rivers, lakes and streams will be popular from here on because the next few months will be crowded with extremely good fishing days. Days when even the poor fellow who never catchers one over six inches long will have a chance to haul in a few big ones.

"The following dates are claimed to be ones that any sort of a fish will bite any kind of bait without asking questions about the fishing reputation of the man on the other end of the line. Remember these dates and go fishing on them but don't blame us if you fail to get results:

"April 12 to 19, May 10 to 17, June 4 to 12, July 4 to 9 and July 31, Aug. 1 to 6 and 27 to 31, Sept. 1 to 3 and 24 to 30, Oct. 21 to 27, Nov. 17 to 23 and Dec. 14 to 20.

The Morning Mail

T. T. Meads of Megargel writes as follows:

"Dear Sir:

"I want to make a few remarks about the new Spudder ball team. I was badly surprised not to see a larger crowd out Sunday to see the Spudders after their victory over St. Paul on Saturday. I think the baseball fans of Wichita Falls ought to wake up to the fact that they now have as good a team as she had when the great Levey and others did their stunts for them. The only question mark to the team are the pitchers, and I believe they will come through. In my estimation it is one of the best teams ever in the Texas league. I would not trade Scharein for the great Levey. I would keep Green in preference to the able Burns and I would rather have Bejma on second than Storti. And I don't think I could compliment the three new players more than the above statement. Badgro seems to be set for a better year than last year, and Fuss and Garms will improve and give the Spudders a great outfield.

"Megargel will be glad to help the Spudders out by attending the games, especially on Sundays. All we ask of the team is to stay in there and play."

Did You Know That

Ralph Emerson, old Waldo himself, who was supposed to be very conservative, and to whom the professors like to point as a Good Example, once wrote this:

"One who wishes to refresh himself by contact with the bone and sinew of society must avoid what is called the respectable portion of his city and neighborhood."

TEAMS PLAY AGAIN TODAY

Two Errors and Bunched Hits Figure in Loss

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., April 5.—The Des Moines Western leaguers, training here, took advantage of two Wichita Falls errors in one inning and bunched their hits in other frames to defeat the Spudders here today, 9 to 7, in an exhibition game.

Davis, a recruit from the Nebraska State league, hurled the first seven frames for the Demons and although he was not hit particularly hard, his wildness kept him in trouble and helped the Spudders in the scoring of four of their seven runs. Jim Grant, a veteran, pitched the final two frames when the going began to get rough for the youngster, and saved the contest. He filled the bags with two away in the eighth, being saved when Scharein tapped to the infield for the final out.

Badgro, Euller and Owens with two blows apiece, were the hitting stars for the Spudders. The former drove in lone runs in the first and third frames with singles, the first hit following an error by Yeargin and a pass to Fuss and the second coming after walks by Bejma and Fuss. In the fourth Owens blasted a double behind a similar hit by Euller for one score and in the seventh the catcher drove home two more with another two bagger after Scharein had walked and Euller had singled. A pass to Euller, Taylor's double and Bejma's single in the sixth accounted for the Spudders' other two scores.

The visitors kept pegging at the outfield fences and gave Center Fielder Johnson a busy afternoon but could not quite get the range.

Taylor, pitching for Wichita Falls, might have won his game had it not been for two errors in the third when Owens dropped a plate throw and Scharein made a wild heave. Four runs were scored in that frame. Four singles with a pass also gave the Demons a three-run fifth frame. It was those seven runs that caused defeat.

The clubs play again Wednesday.

U. S. Davis Cup Players Named

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—H. Ellsworth Vines Jr., the national champion, Francis X. Shields, John van Ryn and Wilmer Allison today were named by the Davis cup committee to carry the United States standard against Canada in the first round of international tennis play.

The team originally selected by the committee included George M. Lott Jr., of Chicago, runner-up to Vines in the national singles last year, with Allison as alternate, but Lott yesterday announced his retirement from Davis cup play "for business reasons."

All but Vines, the lanky California youngster, played for America in Davis cup matches last year. Van Ryn and Allison also were the American doubles combination in 1929 and 1930. Allison played only against Mexico last year, Lott taking his place as Van Ryn's doubles partner in the interzone final against England. Allison and Van Ryn are the present national doubles and former Wimbledon title holders.

The team includes three of the first four ranking players in singles—Vines, Shields and Van Ryn—and the No. 1 doubles combination—Van Ryn and Allison. Allison was ranked ninth in singles.

In announcing the membership of the team, Bernon S. Prentice, chairman of the committee, said:

"Should we be fortunate enough to win the tie against Canada, other players may be given consideration for future ties based on their previous records and this season's play."

The team will gather at Pinehurst, N. C., next week and engage in the tournament starting there April 28, 29 and 30.

Tiger Track Men Go to Vernon Meet Friday

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, April 5.—The Electra Tigers will participate in a practice track meet at Vernon Friday afternoon. The Tigers have shown great improvement in the past few weeks and are expected to capture several of the events. Claude Rodawalt, who was high point man in the county meet recently and at a practice meet in Wichita Falls last Friday, is expected to cop several first places.

Other Tigers whom Coach Wilbur Presson is depending on include Cloninger, Parnell, Parr, Hogle, Smith, Lambdin, Orr, Byrd, Lane, Koerth, Ellis, and M. Stroud.

BROWNS 3, LOOKOUTS 1

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 5. (AP)—Rick Ferrell's home run drive into the left field bleachers in the ninth inning, scored two runs and enabled the St. Louis Browns to defeat the Chattanooga Lookouts, 3 to 1 in an exhibition game here today.

DODGERS 7, HARTFORD 5

MACON, Ga., April 5. (AP)—Roy Humphries, 19-year-old Hartford outfielder suffered a broken right leg in the ninth inning of today's game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and their Eastern league farm team. The Dodgers won, 7 to 5.

The accident, the second in as many days to a Hartford outfielder, occurred in the midst of a rally, in which the Eastern league club loaded the bases and threatened to beat the Dodgers. Charley Sheerin, a Fordham university product, received a broken right leg yesterday, also sliding into second base.

Herman Cheers Reds In New Livery—French Put Gloves On Their Hands and Box With Their Feet

Eastman Shatters '440' Record—Doll Harris Queen of Cagers—Willard Dons Gloves For 'Comeback'

Babe Herman, hope of the Reds, is shown above as he appears in his new regalia. Cincinnati got the slugging outfielder in a trade with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Manager Dan Howley claims that Herman's big bat will furnish just the punch needed to lift the Reds out of the cellar and into the thick of the National league pennant fight.

Above is a French sample of the noble art of self-defense. Just why the boys are wearing boxing gloves is not clear from the photograph, snapped in a Paris gym. The lad in white is the pupil, who is being shown by the maestro the important angle of the sport. That is to keep the whiskers from getting tangled with the shoe lace.

Photo of Ben Eastman is one for the boys who have said for years that a quarter of a mile couldn't be run under 47 seconds. The 19-year-old Stanford sensation is shown hitting the tape in 46.4 in a recent meet for a new world's record. Note his hands aren't even clinched in his drive as he clips a full second from Ted Meridith's 16-year-old record.

Doll Harris, new queen of the country's girl basket ball players, is shown above with the cup awarded the Oklahoma Presbyterian college Cardinals following victory in the national A. A. U. cage championship at Shreveport. Doll led the Cardinals to victory in the finals over the Golden Cyclones of Dallas, Texas. She was named captain of the All-America team.

A guy had to climb on a ladder to fit on the gloves of Jess Willard, former heavyweight champ, now a California business man, who hopes to pick up some coin in a series of exhibition matches. Jess, 47, weighs 300 pounds, but he doesn't figure on anything drastic. Just exhibitions, maybe a display with Jack Dempsey, but nothing like that 1919 Toledo affair.

Phar Lap, Australian Race Horse, Dies

MENLO PARK, Calif., April 5. (UP)—Phar Lap, Australian wonder horse, died suddenly late today of colic.

The horse had been quartered at the Ed Perry ranch here since winning the $50,000 Agua Caliente, Mexico, handicap on March 20. He was a 6-year-old.

Last night he was suddenly stricken with colic and all night long Dr. Walter Neilsen, Australian veterinary, who accompanied him to the United States from New Zealand four months ago, was in attendance.

Late today, the horse suddenly expired.

David J. Davis, the owner, was in Los Angeles at the time. He was notified by telephone and made immediate arrangements to fly back here by airplane.

A few days ago Phar Lap underwent a delicate operation on his hoof. A tiny crack had been bothering him and Dr. Neilsen operated to prevent an infection. He was recovering from the incision when the colic developed.

Phar Lap's victory at Agua Caliente enabled him to take second place in the list of the world's greatest money makers among race horses.

With the rich Agua Caliente purse, he had won a total of $332,750. Sun Beau, now retired, had won $376,744.

Davis had planned to take him to eastern tracks this summer for a series of special races.

Pennant Chances Of Dallas Steers Depend On Showing Young Hurlers

By JERE R. HAYES
Sports Editor, Dallas Times Herald
(Written Exclusively for The Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 5.—A cinch to land in the first division, with pennant possibilities dependent on the showing of three recruit pitching "finds," is the situation with the Dallas Steers.

Under the leadership of Happ Morse, veteran infielder and a most popular manager, the Steers are expected to be an aggressive outfit. Morse made his bow as a manager last season, and with a year's experience at piloting a club, should take a rank with the best in the Texas league.

As for Morse's ball club, it seems all set except in the pitching department.

Lena Styles, an experienced maskman who comes to the Herd from Cincinnati, is regarded as the first-string backstop. He will probably be assisted by Garrity, a youngster from the Chicago White Sox. Garrity is a husky with a lot of promise. He is a non-class man.

Zeke Bonura, the ball-buster from New Orleans, will protect first base, with either Cecil Stewart, out with a broken leg in 1931, or Byrne James, 1931 holdover, at second. Both are real class A performers. Ernie Holman will be at third, and expects to have a big year. Holman was switched about in 1931 and never hit his stride. The biggest improvement on the infield was the purchase of Lou Brower for the shortstop post. Brower is a fair hitter, a dependable defensive man, and a reliable cog on the infield. Lou was given a trial with the Detroit Tigers, and has proven himself a real class A performer. Francis Kelly, with the Steers last season and who comes under the non-class rule, may be the utility man. He plays infield and outfield.

Elton Langford, star of the 1931 crew; Rip Radcliff, Texas league batting champion of 1931, with Shreveport, and George Loepp, one of the best defensive men in the league, will probably form the outfield.

Lefty Minogue, a hold-over non-class hurler, and George Murray, veteran right-hander, are cinches on the mound staff. Grady Adkins and Oscar Fuhr are fighting for jobs. If these 1931 vets can come through with any show of stuff, they will be retained. George Dumont and George Cox are other veterans competing for jobs.

Archie Wise, John Whitehead and Otho Nitcholas, three youngsters, seem to be tagged for retention, at least for a while. They have all shown better than the veterans in exhibition games. Then there's a possibility of getting Ralph Erickson, southpaw, with Shreveport last season, back from the Sox. Erickson is a non-class man.

Thus the Steer chances depend on what happens in the pitching department. A few "ifs," but with prospects bright for the Herd coming through.

Training Camp Chatter

BEAUMONT EXPORTERS

BEAUMONT, April 5. (AP)—The Exporters gave the Importers a 13 to 4 thumping this afternoon with Lefty Sackett traveling the entire distance for the winners. Although he walked 11, he gave up only four hits. He crowned a ball over the left field fence with two aboard.

Joe Jachym pitched six innings for the losers and until he tired in the sixth showed lots of stuff.

CUBS 4, PIRATES 2

FORT WORTH, April 5. (AP)—After Larry French had held them helpless, the Chicago Cubs jumped on his successor, Bill Harris, in the late innings for a 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh here this afternoon.

French held the Cubs to only two hits in five innings. Leo Hartnett started the damage against Harris with a home run in the seventh inning with one aboard. A single by Hack and doubles by Cuyler and D. Taylor brought two more runs in the eighth.

Pat Malone, wild at the start, pitched a great game for the Cubs in late innings.

STEERS 9, SAINTS 6

DALLAS, April 5. (AP)—The Dallas Steers won their sixth consecutive game and their fifth straight against class AA competition here today by beating St. Paul, 9-6.

Power at the bat won the game for Dallas. Zeke Bonura, giant first sacker for Dallas, lifted one over the centerfield fence in the sixth with one man on. In the eighth inning with the bases full, Tom Nash, rookie outfielder, went in to pinch hit and dropped a home run in the leftfield bleachers.

INDIANS WIN

SAN ANTONIO, April 5. (AP)—The San Angelo Indians nosed out the ninth infantry of Fort Sam Houston here this afternoon, 7-6.

Beyond two solid drives by John Brewer and one by Ossie Siemer, the Tribe displayed no batting punch. The other three hits were of the scratch variety and would have been obliterated with Texas league fielding.

At the same time the Manchus popped two Indian twirlers for 10 clean cut hits, three off Tom Estell in the opening round to net three runs with the aid of an error, and five off Walter Newman in the last two rounds, good for three runs.

FORT WORTH CATS

FORT WORTH, April 5. (AP)—The Fort Worth Panthers will resume their spring exhibition schedule against the St. Paul Saints tomorrow. The veteran Lil Stoner has been named as the starting pitcher, with Clarence Pickrel scheduled to replace him.

Pittsburgh comes here Thursday for a game.

GALVESTON BUCS

GALVESTON, April 5. (AP)—Galveston pitchers were in rare form here today and the Pratts beat the Ryes in a nine-inning game 2-0, when they finally got to Ed Carroll in the eighth for two hits and two runs. Wade Wilson, rookie centerfielder, hit a home run.

Ladies Busy With Spudder Slogans

A sizeable number of Spudder slogans filtered in to The Record News sports desk yesterday, the first day of the contest. Out of this number, that of Mrs. G. A. Hamilton, 705 Bluff street, was judged the best. Its author therefore will receive from the Wichita Falls baseball club a box seat ticket for the opening game.

A similar prize is to be awarded for the best slogan submitted each day through Sunday. The contest closes at 6 p. m. Sunday. Slogans should be sent in writing to The Record News sports desk before 6 o'clock each day. They will not be taken over the telephone.

The slogans should be short and to the point. One of 10 words or less in length should suffice.

The contest is restricted to ladies only. Out of the six best slogans submitted this week, the official Spudder slogan will be selected by a committee of judges next Monday evening. The contest is designed to boost opening day attendance with a view to winning the Texas league's $250 cash award to the class B city having the biggest attendance for the season's opener.

NOBLE-LITTLE SEEKS PENNANT

Skipper Horsley Confident His Men Can Do It

(This is the first of a series of articles dealing with pennant prospects of teams in the Commercial league, local sandlot organization.)

By MACK TURNER

With the Commercial league starting date only a few days off no less than six teams have placed their claim for the pennant, and the loudest among them is the Noble-Little Hardware company team. Manager John "Babe" Horsley, one of the greatest natural hitters the league has ever turned out, is not a Dizzy Dean or an Art Shires, but he is filled with a reckless confidence in the team he has banded together for the coming race and is sure that he will repeat in turning out a winner for the second year in a row.

Horsley won the pennant last year in the Commercial league while managing the First Presbyterians by capturing the last half and then taking the playoff series with Malone's Beauty shop. This year the manager of last year's champions has brought together a team built largely around the hard-hitting club he had last year. No less than eight of the last year champions will be listed on the line-up of the hardware company nine this year. The eight holdovers are John Horsley, Larry Robertson, Big Boy Ridling, John Ross Haley, Red Thurman, Doc Allen, George Washington and Willard Hillin.

Catching Staff

The catching duties of the team this year will be cared for by Doc Allen and George Washington, both of whom are veteran Commercial league receivers. There are no two catchers in the legaue better known for their all around ability than this pair. Allen and Washington both can also be used on the infield or outfield. Allen for years was one of the best shortstops in the city.

Carroll Ridling and Willard Hillin, aces of the team last year are both back in harness this year and ready to go. They will be assisted this year by C. A. "Lefty" Taylor. Ridling last year came to the Presbyterian club from the Bankers when that team broke up shortly before mid-season and proved to be still the dependable mound star he had been the year before with the Furniture Dealers. Ridling won 10 games and lost two last year and was one of the leading pitchers in the city. His youthful assistant, Hillin, the Decatur Demon, came to the Presbyterians last year from the Dixon Sign company where he had been having an in-and-out season, only to develop into a real star.

New Infield

Horsley will present an entire new infield this year. With Cloris Keyes on first, Shorty Hicks at second, Paul Whatley on short and Dutch Chatterton on third, Horsley has one of the smoothest working inner defenses in the league.

Keyes last year was manager of the Noble-Little club. After settling on first the little fellow fairly set the league on fire with his sensational fielding. At second base Shorty Hicks is one of the smoothest fielders and best hitters in the league. Hicks is not a long distance hitter, but gets more than his share of singles and doubles. At short, Noble-Little has one of the smoothest fielding shortstops to ever grace the local amateur lots in Paul Whatley. From all advance notices this year, Whatley seems about to hit his old stride as a hitter, and should he overcome the heating weakness he had last year, he will be one of the greatest men in the game. Dutch Chatterton, the hardest hitting infielder in the league last year with Dixon Sign company, seems to be set for an even greater year this season and shows signs of improvement in his fielding.

Outfield Set

Harry Costley, John Horsley and Larry Robertson seem to hold an inside track for the outfield positions at the present time. Costley is the hard-hitting left-hander who hurled sensational ball last year for Texas Electric Service company, and was also a sensational hitter. Last year the general pick of the fans and officials for the best all-around player in the league centered about Horsley and Rabbit Gordon, of Malone's. In the other field will be another converted pitcher in Larry Robertson, the workhorse of the league pitchers last year.

Fighting for berths on the team will be Gene Costley, Red Thurman and John Ross Haley. All three of these men will be with the team, but from the present outlook will be regulated to the utility jobs this year. All three are veteran performers in the league.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—A good part of yesterday's advance in cotton was lost today under small offerings promoted by the easier tone of the stock and wheat markets and talk of a weakened technical position.

May sold off to 6.14, or 15 points net lower, and closed at 6.16, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 10@16 points.

Reports of fairly favorable weather in the South, and further reports of increased domestic mill curtailment may have been contributing factors on the decline.

Liverpool cables reported that covering and local buying there had been supplied by realizing and selling on the steadier sterling but said there was a fair cloth inquiry from India.

Futures closed barely steady, 10-16 lower. Spot quiet; middling 6.25.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 5. (AP)—Cotton was decidedly quiet today and prices showed a downward tendency nearly all session. Weakness in stocks and absence of support along with some furtherlong liquidation caused the decline. The decline was accompanied by only temporary rallies and at the lowest showed losses of 16@17 points.

A rally at the end cut this loss down 4@5 points and the close was steady, the general market showing net declines for the day of 12 points on all active months. July traded down to 6.28 and Oct. to 6.50, new lows 16 to 17 points below the previous close.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 penny points down.

Early Break Of Atchison Rail Leads Market In Downward Move

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 5. (US)—Decline in stock prices was accelerated today, while bonds were selling off less excitedly than on Monday. Nevertheless both markets seemed under terrific nervous strain induced by disturbing stories concerning individual "situations," the existence of which can hardly be overlooked.

As a matter of fact, it is very obvious from the enormous depreciation in the value of various groups of stocks allied to each other that the market has been seeking to discount the worst that might be expected.

Reorganization, even receivership, ordinarily might be discounted by prevailing prices for many securities, but apparently the market in its intense bearishness feels that nothing short of oblivion faces certain properties—a feeling, of course, that is ridiculous. However, the market has to face daily this fear and the selling thereby induced weakens other holdings, bringing a general wave of liquidation.

There should be little doubt of the character of current selling; it is either distress offerings forced by circumstances, or fear-inspired selling. In either case, the selling represents liquidation, with only a smattering of so-called professional, or short, selling.

The market had hardly opened when Atchison, one of the prime rail shares even in these days, suffered a wide-open break of five points on its initial transaction. This was too much for the market and the entire list slumped. The Atchison weakness was explained when the directors at noon lowered the dividend to $1 quarterly. The reduction had been fully anticipated, but the Atchison board issued the now familiar comment: "The earning statement shows a continuing decline. Continuance of dividends on common stock must depend upon an improvement in the corporation's earnings."

Cerro de Pasco copper, one of the best of the mining properties, suspended dividends, which immediately attracted attention to the copper concerns with large bank loans, specifically Anaconda. There were many stories in the afternoon concerning this company, but its most ardent friends insist that its bank loans are not unduly large compared with the enormous resources of the enterprise.

Another disturbing development was the outbreak of renewed severe weakness in Electric Bond & Share new stock, which unsettled the entire public utility list.

Hardly a stock could stand up against the persistent offerings, and the market closely observed the performance of the Insull group. The members of this group have been under tremendous pressure and they have declined in price to levels which make the street expect almost anything.

A solution of this problem may be effected through disposition of some of the Insull valuable properties in the East, according to well-informed banking sources, but United Corporation officials, who have been mentioned in this connection, continue to deny the accuracy of such reports. Nevertheless, it is very obvious that insistent pressure is being exerted against these securities.

At one stage of the great public utility expansion, the Insull people were mighty ambitious and even after the 1929 panic they went ahead with enormous expenditures. Part of these expenditures may be laid to the president's appeal for maintenance of industrial budgets, but his appeal did not cover new acquisitions.

All over the list it was evident that forced selling was taking place. One of the most prominent banking organizations whose deficit at the commencement of this year startled Wall street was reported dumping some New York Central, Allied Chemical, American Can and Consolidated Gas.

Even more impressive to market observers were the new lows reached in such outstanding issues as Steel preferred, General Motors preferred and Atchison preferred.

The action of bonds and preferred stocks, ignoring common shares, reflects the continued unsettled state of the market, together with the race for liquidity. The banking community seems anxious to prepare itself for any shocks.

So thin has the market become in many stocks on the exchange that it is reported the "real market exists over the counter." Blocks of stock are being offered at discounts from exchange quotations if a bid can be obtained for the entire block.

However, the decline has reached such an accelerated rate that many interests while still unfriendly to the market are seeking to anticipate at least a temporary shift of the price trend. No one ventures, however, to anticipate beyond a possible rally.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP)—Rain clouds in the drought region, together with notable weakness of the stock market, led to a downward slide of grain values today.

Setbacks in wheat were in the face of Kansas and Nebraska reports forecasting much greater abandonment of acreage than normal, Nebraska the largest since 1917, when only 16 per cent was left standing. Traders also virtually ignored a decrease of 8,856,000 bushels in the world's wheat available supply, the largest reduction in many weeks, leaving the total only 9,000,000 bushels more than a year ago.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅞@1⅜c under yesterday's finish, corn ⅜@⅝c down, oats ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to 12c lower.

Adding to the bearish influence of a possible break-up in drouth conditions and to the unsettling effects of securities weakness was disappointment as to transatlantic demand for North American wheat, although some export business was done both by the United States and Canada. In some quarters, significance was attached to statements that Argentina was again getting into line for competition abroad owing to sharp advances in the United States since crop scares began.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat weakness, despite signs of a better shipping demand for corn.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 54@⅛, 57⅜; July 57½@⅝, 59⅞@60; May 59⅛@⅜, 62¼. Corn, May, 35⅛, 36@36⅛. July 38⅝, 39¼; Sept. 40⅝@½, 41⅛.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 5. (US)—Indifference of foreign markets to the United States winter wheat crop scare news took the edge off bullish sentiment today. In a normal market news such as received the past few days would have been sufficient to cause strong upturns, but in the shadow of heavy surpluses, foreign buyers refuse to become excited on early damage reports.

Continental wheat arrivals the past week were large, totaling 7,352,000 bushels, compared with 6,280,000 bushels the previous week and 6,986,000 bushels a year ago. However, since Aug. 1 exports have been 50,000,000 bushels less than a year ago.

Elevator and warehouse stocks of wheat in the seven principal towns of the United Kingdom on April 1 were 9,812,000 bushels, compared with 15,616,000 bushels three months ago, or a decrease of 5,804,000 bushels, Broomhall says. He also points out that there apparently is no accumulation of wheat in continental countries.

Tension in the coarse grain markets of Europe has been temporarily relieved by the reopening of the Danube for navigation, releasing fair quantities of corn for market. Although many traders believe it is likely export demand for United States corn will develop later in the season, under present circumstances bullish crop news from Argentina is having little influence.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 5. (AP)—(USDA)—Cattle trade was featured by a somewhat improved demand for fed steers and yearlings at firm to slightly higher prices. Well finished mature steers sold to an especially good advantage with strictly choice around 1450 pound beeves at Omaha scoring $8.25. Good to choice medium weight and heavy steers were fairly numerous at $6.50@7.50. Country demand for stocker and feeder classes was slow with prices steady to easier. Bulk of stocker and feeder steers cash from $4.25@5.75 with choice quality flashy feeders upward to $6.25. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets were estimated at 28,400 as compared with 34,631 last Tuesday.

Hogs were tendered on uneven decline of 10@25c with the practical top in Chicago at $4.25. Total offerings of around 74,500 were 6,000 short of a week ago.

Comparatively light supplies stimulated demand for fat lambs and the market ruled strong to unevenly higher, some points showing gains of 25@50c. Values on sheep were unchanged. Outsiders in Chicago paid $7.25 for several loads of fed wooled lambs while bulk of the better grades brought $6.75@7.15. Choice California springers at Omaha realized $8.00.

Demand for Cotton Suits Shows Heavy Increase

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile institute, today told the annual award meeting of the American Trade association executives that orders for cotton material for men's summer suits this year are greatly in excess of those of last year.

The improvement of cotton material for men's summer suits by eliminating shrinkage resulted in such a demand for such suits that there was a shortage at the height of the season's last year and orders this year are 50 per cent higher than last, he said.

RAIL BOARD CHANGES RULE

Deep Tests Now Spaced 660 And 330 Feet

In the interest of conservation, and to prevent waste of the petroleum and natural gas resources in the North Texas district, the railroad commission has issued an order amending rule 37 in the district composed of Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Foard, Montague, Wichita, Wilbarger and all of Young county north of a line drawn east and west through the town of Newcastle in north Young county.

This order deals only with sands from 2000 feet and below. The rule formerly allowed wells to be located 300 to 150 feet from the lines. The new rule below changes the footage to 660 and 330 feet from the property lines. The new rule does not effect operations in the shallow pays. Following is the order:

"It is ordered that effective this date rule 37 of the conservation rules and regulations of this commission, circular 14, issued March 1, 1923, and revised May 1, 1931, be, and the same is hereby amended insofar as it applies to the development of any oil or gas producing stratum or horizon deeper than 2000 (two thousand) feet below the surface of the earth in any area in the North Texas district, and that no existing well shall be deepened to such horizon so as to conflict with said rule as amended. Nothing herein shall be construed as affecting any well that has been completed or on which drilling has actually been commenced prior to this date or offsets thereto:

"Rule 37. No well for oil or gas shall hereafter be drilled nearer than six hundred and sixty (660) feet to any completed or drilling well on the same or adjoining tract or farm; and no well shall be drilled nearer than three hundred and thirty (330) feet to any property line; provided, that the commission, in order to prevent waste or to protect vested rights, will grant exceptions permitting drilling within shorter distances than as above prescribed, upon application filed fully stating the facts, notice thereof having first been given to all adjacent lessees affected thereby.

"Except as herein provided rule 37 shall apply in said district according to its original terms."

Prospectus to Tell of Wichita Oil Industry

A prospectus covering details of the oil industry in Wichita Falls is to be issued at an early date under direction of the Junior chamber of commerce oil committee, it was announced following a committee session Tuesday afternoon at the offices in the Hamilton building.

The subcommittee in charge of arrangements for the prospectus includes S. M. Gose, Gose Waggoner, J. H. Campbell and H. F. Smiley. The keynote of the committee's aims is expressed in a desire to secure wide publicity of the industry's activities in the Wichita Falls area, emphasizing that "millions of dollars in oil remains in the ground in the territory." The subcommittee on local and foreign publicity includes Carl Smith, E. W. Statton and H. F. Smiley.

J. H. Campbell was named vice chairman of the committee at the meeting, Charles B. King, chairman, said. A meeting of the group will be held on a date to be decided later at a luncheon at the Holt hotel, Mr. King said.

DRILLERS BUSY IN PANHANDLE

Increase in Price May Stir Oil Activity

PAMPA, Texas, April 5.—Two price raises in succession caused Panhandle oil men to gasp, but smile last week, and to wonder when the third would occur.

The Bartex Pipe Line company, subsidiary of Phillips Petroleum company, announced 10 cents a barrel raise for the Northwest Texas area on March 30, to be effective the next day, and April 1, the Magnolia Petroleum company went the Bartex a few cents better.

As to how much new drilling the price raise will stimulate, the Panhandle oil men are unable to forecast.

Daily production is still below the daily allowable of 55,000 barrels fixed by the Texas Railroad commission. The week just ended the five counties averaged 47,212 barrels a day.

Pulse & Shell Petroleum corporation got a real well at their No. 1 Wright, in section 13, block 3, of I. & G. N. survey, northwest of LeFors, in southeastern Gray county, and through deepening. The original total depth was 2800 feet and the drill found more pay at 2828 to 2845 feet and from 2846 to 2856 feet in granite wash. It flowed 1,552 barrels the first 23 hours and is now averaging 1,100 barrels a day, with 8,600,000 feet of gas.

Offsets are to be drilled by The Texas company and Phillips Petroleum company, but Continental Oil company has not indicated whether it will drill an offset or not.

West of Pampa, in northwestern Gray, the Prairie Oil and Gas company No. 1 Pope, in section 173, block 3, is a 125-barrel well after a 185-quart shot from 3170 to 3265 feet in the lime.

Stanolind Oil and Gas company and Miller No. 2 Wagner in the same section, was drilled to 3252 feet in lime, the pay being at 3168 to 3238 feet and it is swabbing 150 barrels a day. It will be shot.

Six locations were reported, five being in Gray, Texhoma Natural Gas company No. 1 Haiduk, a gas test, is to be drilled 2585 feet from north and 1580 feet from the west lines of section 21, block 4, of I. & G. N. survey, west of Kingsmills, in southeastern Carson county.

Shamrock Oil and Gas company No. 3 Big Gray Saunders, in the southwest corner of the northwest of section 40, block 3, of I. & G. N. survey, in the original Pampa pool, is a rig on the ground.

Conoco To Boost Kerosene Prices

TULSA, Okla., April 5.—The Continental Oil company, which April 1 raised crude oil 15 cents a barrel for Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas, and Monday advanced tank wagon and retail prices of gasoline one cent a gallon in Oklahoma and Colorado, Wednesday will raise kerosene prices in Oklahoma a cent a gallon. Oil producers are growing resentful at refusal of Stanolind Crude Oil purchasing and Carter Oil company, Standard units, to meet the price advanced and many connections are being taken away from the two concerns.

Heflin-Bankhead Case To Reopen in Senate

WASHINGTON, April 5. (INS)—The senate privileges and elections committee today decided to re-open hearings on the Heflin-Bankhead election contest.

Hearings will be held Friday when each side will be given an hour in which to state their arguments on the subcommittee reports.

The majority report of the Hastings subcommittee, recommended the 1930 Alabama senatorial contest be declared "no election" as the result of alleged disregard of election laws. A minority report, while admitting election irregularities, contended John H. Bankhead, of Jasper, should be permitted to retain his seat in the senate because he obtained a majority of the legal votes cast in his contest with former Senator Thomas J. Heflin of Lafayette.

Farm Loan Corporation Proposed in Wheeler Bill

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Creation of a $2,000,000,000 corporation similar to the reconstruction corporation for loans to refinance agriculture was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana.

The corporation would have a capitalization of $500,000,000 from the treasury and would be authorized to issue securities to bring its total up to $2,000,000,000.

Wheeler told the senate a recent investigation of conditions in the West had convinced him that the reconstruction corporation has been of no benefit to the farmer.

"The farmers need refinancing more than bankers and railroads," Wheeler said. "We are not going to have prosperity unless we begin at the bottom rather than at the top."

Stockholder Asks Receiver For Tulsa Oil Concern

TULSA, Okla., April 5. (AP)—A suit for receiver was filed in federal court here today against the Operators' Royalty and Producers company, of which Wesley E. Disney, congressman from the first Oklahoma district, is vice president.

The suit, filed by H. R. McGill of Tulsa, a stockholder, alleges that mismanagement has resulted in obligations which now exceed $1,000,000, and actual indebtedness of $500,000.

LOST EXPLORER BELIEVED SEEN

Rubber Man Tells of Talk With White in Jungle

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Telmo Araujo, who believes he saw Col. P. H. Fawcett, "lost" English explorer, in the Brazilian jungle about 1927, today said the colonel may be a voluntary exile from civilization.

A meeting in the jungle with an Englishman who said he was "not going back" to civilization was described by Araujo, son of a Brazilian rubber exporter and now a resident of Washington.

The region where he says he met the mysterious white man is near that in which Stephen Rattin, a Swiss trapper, recently reported meeting Fawcett and receiving from him a message asking to be rescued from "Indian captivity."

Araujo said he led an expedition in 1925 into the Matto Grosso jungle looking for rubber. The party traveled down the Madeira and Guapore rivers and camped at the head of a tributary of the latter, known as the River of St. John. One day, after the expedition had been in the region about two years, Araujo became lost while traveling alone.

Saw White Man

"One afternoon I was walking through the jungle," he said, "when I saw a white man coming toward me. When he saw me he stood still and waited for me to approach. He was about 50 years old, of medium height, blond, a touch of gray in his hair, with blue eyes and a long beard such as all white men grow in the jungle. His khaki shorts were tattered, his shirt falling to pieces, and on his feet were native rubber shoes.

"I went up to him and asked him who he was and if he were lost.

"'I am an Englishman' he said, 'and I am not lost.'

"I asked him whether there was a town nearby where he lived. He told me he lived with Indians at a place about 10 days away from that spot, but he would not tell me what Indians or in what direction his camp lay.

Hated Civilization

"I said to him, 'don't you want ever to go back to your home?' and he said, 'never. I hate that life.'

"I looked straight at him and said: 'Are you Colonel Fawcett?'

"'Never mind about that,' he replied. 'I am not going back.'

He carried no gun but was armed with a belt knife.

"Later he got up and walked away in the jungle. I saw he wanted no one to follow him, so I, too, went my way.

"Returning to Manaos, I told my story, and every one there said the native rumors exactly agreed with it; that the Indians believed Fawcett never wanted to reach home again."

Fawcett disappeared in the Matto Grosso region, a vast unexplored jungle area of Brazil, seven years ago. It was generally believed he was lost in the jungle or killed by Indians.

King Carol Urges Helen To Return to Throne

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 5. (INS)—The return of the Princess Helen as queen of Rumania today hinged upon whether Magda Lupescu, King Carol's former companion in exile, is banished definitely from the country without royal retainers.

This was established at a formal visit paid Helen by Carol last night at which the monarch begged his divorced wife to return. Helen, however, remained firm in demands that Mme. Lupescu give up the Chateau Beleme, near Paris, and her annuities from the royal exchequer.

GARNER WANTS SPECIFIC PLAN

Senate Starts Debate On Economy Move

will start hearings tomorrow on the revenue bill with Secretary Mills as its first witness. He is expected to name the "serious defects and discriminations" of which he complained in the measure as it passed the house although giving it his general approval.

Chairman Jones of the senate appropriations committee introduced today the presidential proposal for a joint commission to map out within 30 days the national economy program for the $200,000,000 saving, but it was sent along to committee without comment.

Hoover Gives Plan

Mr. Hoover in his statement said there were three general directions in which expenses can be reduced—through cuts in the appropriations, through reductions requiring changes in the law, and through government reorganization.

He said he had made a cut of $369,000,000 in the appropriations budget submitted to congress and he welcomed a greater slash. He added that seven departments of the government "have points out over 85 different directions for consideration which offer a possibility of very large reductions. He concluded he had asked congress seven times for presidential authority to make a wholesale government reorganization.

Senator McKellar challenged the $369,000,000 cut in the budget. Reading figures which he said came from the secretary of the appropriations committee, he said congress last year appropriated $5,178,524,967 or $28,000,000 "less than was recommended by the president."

Figures Cited

The budget for this year, he said was $4,601,479,101. Special appropriations already made by congress this year upon recommendation of the president, including the $500,000,000 for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, brought this year's budget up to $5,557,074,434, McKellar said.

"These figures show that the amount to be appropriated this year is actually $378,549,466 more than was appropriated last year," he continued. "The president may have cut down the estimates proposed by the departments but that does not count as actual reduction in the budget."

Congressional Democratic leaders are convinced they can pare down the president's budget by the necessary $200,000,000.

'Who's Who' in Liquor Compiled by Dry Agents

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—Federal prohibition agents today began a systematic compilation of a New York "Who's Who" in liquor.

The campaign, launched personally by Director Amos W. W. Woodcock and 60 agents, was foreshadowed last night when raiders of a popular night club adopted the unusual procedure of fingerprinting on the spot and tagging their suspects for police "showup."

Sent out today with sectional maps covering 10 to 20 blocks each, the agents were instructed to make itemized reports of all speakeasies, liquor-serving restaurants, cordial shops and night clubs, and told further that as soon as sufficient evidence reaches Washington every one of Gotham's speakeasies will be closed.

They were to make no arrests or seizures or raids for the present.

Patman Doubts Power Of Veto on Bonus Bill

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—A prediction that not three dozen members of congress will vote to sustain a presidential veto of cash payment of the soldiers' bonus, "if public sentiment for this proposal continues to grow," was made today by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas.

SEASON'S CLOSED

Game Warden Nabs Fifth Angler for Violating State Law

Another complaint charging a man with catching game fish out of season was filed by County Attorney L. V. Abernathy Tuesday upon information furnished by a state game warden.

The defendant is charged with catching crappie in one of the county's several "Horseshoe Lakes," the one in question being located near the Wichita river south of Iowa Park. Four similar complaints were filed Monday.

EASTLAND GAS RATES UPHELD

Customers' Petition Quashed by Federal Court

ABILENE, Texas, April 5. (AP)—Way was cleared in federal court here today for the Community Natural Gas company to replace its former Eastland domestic rate, 75 cents gross per 1,000 feet, with a sliding rate starting at $1.50 and working down to 40 cents. Judge James C. Wilson granted petition of the gas company for dismissal of proceedings attacking the new rate, brought by George Parrock, George Bryant and J. H. Cheatham, Eastland customers. The three had earlier won a temporary restraining order in the 91st district court of Eastland county, and the case had been taken into the federal court.

Community last November secured an order from Judge Wilson restraining the city council of Eastland from enforcement of an ordinance setting the domestic rate at 50 cents. Today it also secured dismissal of a suit instituted by another Eastland customer, C. F. Sheppard, who last fall won a judgment in a justice court of $1.53 against the company, on the claim he had paid that much excess on his bill. Sheppard had gotten out a writ of attachment on a water heater to satisfy his judgment, but gas company attorneys obtained a federal order removing jurisdiction to Judge Wilson's court.

The party left from the floor of McKinley park for the mountain, which rises 23,300 feet, the highest peak in North America and the third highest in the world.

WAR DECLARED 15 YEARS AGO

U. S. Recalls Conflict With German Empire

secretary of the navy department headed by Josephus Daniels, announced plans for cooperation with France and Great Britain and Herbert Hoover, director of Belgian relief, was summoned home to head the food administration.

Thirty-two thousand companies offered to turn over their plants to the president for war use, Boy Scouts in New York repulsed a mock attack on the city hall, while grownups marched with wooden guns.

"T. R." Wanted to Go

German-American societies and newspapers pledged loyalty and Theodore Roosevelt demanded that he be allowed to command a division of Yanks in France.

England proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving, French senators and deputies cried: "Vive Les Etats Unis" and Old Glory waved from a 100 flagstaffs in London.

An invasion of the national capital by a delegation of several thousand pacifists collapsed, Senators LaFollette and Stone, who voted against the war resolution, were hanged in effigy and club women assailed pacifists of their own organizations.

Wheat Takes Jump

Wheat went to the record price of $2.17 on the Chicago market, and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and a pacifist engaged in fisticuffs outside the senator's office.

Warren Harding of Ohio made the last speech in the senate in favor of the war resolution.

Senator Borah of Idaho, who voted for it, said he opposed an alliance with other countries in making war on Germany.

The house adopted the resolution at 3 o'clock Good Friday morning after 17 hours of continuous debate—four hours more of steady discussion than the senate had required when it voted for war 82 to 6 on the night of April 4.

Rankin Vote Dramatic

The vote in the house was 373 to 50. Miss Jeannette Rankin, representative from Montana and then the only woman member of congress, contributed one of the most dramatic touches during the voting.

She failed to answer as the clerk of the house twice called her name. Obviously distressed, she sat with her handkerchief pressed against her mouth, every eye turned on her slight figure sunk far back in the seat.

Finally amid raucous cries of "Vote!" "Vote!" she arose and said in a quivering voice, "I want to stand by my country, but I can't vote for war."

As she had not actually cast her vote the clerk walked to her seat and asked if she wished to say Yes or No. "I vote No," she whispered.

President of Columbia Speaks for Dry Repeal

NEW YORK, April 5. (INS)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, today stands committed to treat President Hoover or any other candidate for the Republican presidential nomination with indifference so long as they do not attempt to secure repeal of the dry laws and work for a change in economy methods.

He took this stand in a speech delivered last night before the Republican organization club of the ninth assembly district, this city. His speech was by way of accepting the designation of delegate to the Republican national convention in Chicago.

Following his speech the club adopted a resolution calling for repeal of the 18th amendment and inclusion in the Republican national platform of a wet plank.

Committee Approves Patent Law Changes

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Eleven bills to change existing patent laws were approved today by the house patents committee.

Chairman Sirovich was author of the most far-reaching of the measures, which would limit the life of a patent to 20 years from time of filing of the application.

A companion bil lof Representative Dies, Democrat, Texas, would expedite prosecution of patent applications which have been pending more than three years.

Tyler Woman Named To State Board for Blind

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Hazel H. Beckham of Tyler has been named executive secretary of the newly-created state commission for the blind.

Members of the commission are James A. Boddeker of Galveston, Ralph A. Haynes of the University of Texas, and E. Mayer of Dallas. The commission was created by the last legislature for the purpose of assisting the blind.

CAR THEFT SENTENCE

GRAND JURY FILES REPORT

11 True Bills Returned To 89th Court

Eleven true bills were returned before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the April grand jury impaneled Monday morning, and headed by W. F. George as foreman.

Pyromaniac Fires Joliet Prison

JOLIET, Ill., April 5. (AP)—An old trusted convict "tired of being shut up" and reverting to a pyromaniacal urge today set fire to the stone chapel in the state penitentiary.

Joliet fire companies and 300 convicts put out the blaze which resulted in damage estimated at $5,000.

Lyman Hall, a convict since 1897 and a trusty most of the time since 1919, walked into the deputy warden's office in the old prison this morning and calmly announced:

"I'm tired of the world. I'm tired of being shut up. I just set fire to the chapel and I hope the whole place burns up."

It was half hour before the fire department and a detail of prisoners had the blaze under control. There was no disorder.

Hall was sentenced from Will county in 1897 for the murder of Constable Francis Delong. He had been suspected previously as a "firebug."

He was placed in solitary confinement.

Wilbarger Tax Suit on Trial in U. S. Court

Judge William H. Atwell began trial Tuesday in federal district court here of the suit of the Phillips Petroleum company against Wilbarger county, in which the court is asked to restrain the defendant from collecting alleged excess tax assessments against the plaintiff.

The petition charges the commissioners court of Wilbarger county arbitrarily raised a taxable valuation which the plaintiff had placed upon extensive oil properties in that county. The Phillips Petroleum company contends that the assessment made by the county amounts almost to double the actual value of its property.

All of Wednesday will be required for completion of the case, it was predicted by court officials.

OPENING DAY PRIZE SOUGHT

Wichita Area Towns Giving Fine Support

With incomplete returns available in the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and Junior chamber campaign to place books of tickets to Spudder games, chairmen of groups working under Ralph K. Pond indicated Tuesday night that Wichitans were justifying all expectations in buying the books at $6 each. The eight tickets are good at any time during the season.

Drive Ends Saturday

Reports late Tuesday revealed members of the five senior chamber committees were surpassing their rivals of the junior group in placing tickets. The campaign will be continued through Saturday with final reports to be made at that time. Committee members are urged to make reports on progress at least daily.

The drive was launched with a breakfast Tuesday morning attended by more than 50 team members, competing for valuable awards of tickets to Spudder games. With interest in the Spudder pennant stock showing a rapid increase as a result of early season practice game victories, fans throughout the city expressed willingness to cooperate in the pre-season ticket sale.

As committeemen went about placing tickets Tuesday other groups of the chamber of commerce continued with completion of details for the opening day parade in drawing an attendance clash with the Shreveport Sports.

Sectional Contest

Wide interest throughout the local trade area was evidenced Tuesday as requests for blocks of tickets were received for opening day from Seymour, Graham, Iowa Park, Olney, Quanah and other cities, competing for valuable out-of-town attendance prizes. A scale of competitive attendance has been worked out whereby the smallest community of the area may compete on the same basis with larger cities. Wichita Falls is not taking part in the contest for community attendance records.

A schedule of speakers for clubs and other organizations in all towns taking part in the contest and for local organizations is being arranged. A wide range of publicity efforts is being directed to reach every possible fan in the city and area.

The pre-season "Support the Spudders" drive will be climaxed with a party at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday, April 11, as the Spudders prepare to leave to open the season away from home. Vaudeville acts and other features will be offered for the guests, Manager Hank Severeid and his players.

Straw Hat Day

Opening day, April 15, also has been designated "straw hat day." Other activities to boost opening day attendance will include closing of manufacturing and jobbing houses. Jean Montgomery is in charge of "straw hat" arrangements, C. H. Thompson is in charge of the manufacturers and jobbers plans and Ralph DeShong is directing cooperation of retail merchants and employes to boost attendance figures.

A feature of the parade marking a pre-game climax for opening day will include individual transportation of team members, city and county officials, participation of bands and orchestras of the Wichita Falls area, decorated floats and a wide range of stunts, which will be offered as surprise features.

MINOR THEFTS

Little criminal activity was reported to police Tuesday, Police Chief Dick Morris said. Mrs. C. W. Beavers, 2013 Huff, reported the loss of two leather cases; Dr. W. B. Whiting, 2175 Avenue I, told officers a bag of surgical instruments was taken from his car while parked at 1702 Beverly drive Monday night; and D. W. Turner, 1511 North Ninth, said two automobile tires were taken from his car while parked at his home.

General conditions relative to the Wichita Falls State hospital were described Tuesday by the superintendent, Dr. Charles W. Castner, speaking before members of the Shrine Luncheon club at the Wichita club. The local institution holds a record in the number of cures effected with 59 per cent of admitted patients discharged permanently, of which four per cent may be expected to return for additional treatment, the speaker said.

The institution has a permanent investment of $1,400,000, handling 1,800 people daily with 225 officers and employes. The products of the farming aid in bearing the cost of operation with receipts last year in excess of $53,000, Dr. Castner declared.

The Wichita Falls hospital holds a record for admitting new patients, with 420 received in the first six months of the year. The per capita cost for all patients during the same period was $17.85, slightly above the report of the Rusk institution.

Miss Marcella Martin, accompanied by Miss Lorene Tucker, offered several vocal selections at the luncheon. Athletic entertainment and business meetings were announced by Emil Hermann.

CHEESE PLANT SEEKS MARKET

Decision on Project Slated In Two Weeks

A definite decision regarding the proposed establishment of a cheese plant in Wichita Falls will be made in two weeks, members of the Valley Development association executive committee said Tuesday following a meeting at the E. F. Riley Dixie Meadow farm.

The cheese plant can be established as soon as a market for its products can be arranged, T. T. T. Reese told the committee. The association group, members of the Wichita County Dairy association, city and county officials and many friends were entertained by the Riley family with a goat barbecue at the farm, six miles northeast of Wichita Falls on the Petrolia road.

A report by Chairman Oral Jones of the valley association finance committee revealed that 750 members are now enrolled in the organization. Various projects of the association were discussed during a business meeting opening at 4 o'clock prior to the barbecue at 6 o'clock. The Dixie Meadow farm is a model dairy enterprise, members of the valley group and other guests agreed, following a tour of the Riley plant.

Transportation of livestock by truck to the 16 major livestock markets increased from 25.5 per cent in 1930 to 31.3 per cent in 1931.

OIL Gone...

He Drove from Banner to Sheridan
on the GERM PROCESSED "Hidden Quart"

The driver for the Sheridan Motor Bus Company was ready to leave Banner, Wyoming, for Sheridan with his big Reo bus loaded with passengers.

Then he made a discovery. The oil line had been accidentally broken, allowing the Conoco Germ Processed Oil to drain out; and the crankcase was empty. With all Banner closed for Thanksgiving, he could not get oil and had to drive the 16 miles to Sheridan without oil. At Sheridan, inspection showed that the "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil had saved the motor from damage!

If Conoco Germ Processed Oil can protect a heavy bus with the crankcase empty, it will certainly give you sure, safe lubrication in everyday driving. It is the only oil that actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. That's why a "Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down wear in the starting period, when other oils drain away and leave parts unprotected. It gives your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills.

Have this extra protection. Change to Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage. . . . .
