Somebody Fooled Mother Nature

Red River County Deputy Sheriff Doug Jackson looked suspiciously at the slender man who approached him as he ticketed a motorist on a Farm Road North of Bagwell.

"Honest, officer," the man said, "I haven't been drinking. A tornado just took the carport off my house!"

Jackson looked up at a clear blue sky and then back at the man, and shook his head.

A few minutes later, Jackson was on his police radio trying to convince the Red River County dispatcher, Mary Wilburn, that he had not gone a little crazy himself, and that a freak wind of some description had struck out of the clear blue, taking the carport off the J.L. Stansberry home three miles north of Bagwell.

It was a frightening experience for Mrs. Stansberry, who was at home alone with two small children. The only

Red River

4-H Council

To Plan Fair

The Red River County 4-H Council will hold its regular meeting on Monday, August 21. The meeting will be held in the conference room of the Extension Office and begin at 7:00 p.m.

All council delegates and presidents are urged to attend. The purpose of the meeting is to make preparations for the annual Red River County fair.

All extension activities serve people of all ages, regardless of socio-economic level, sex, race, color, religion or national origin.

warning was wind in the trees outside the house, then the carport came straight up and blew over the house and into the back yard. The 8" posts were four feet in the ground, and took the TV antenna and a power line with them. A car parked under the carport was undamaged, and flower baskets hanging from the structure were scattered in the woods behind the home.

Also visibly shaken was Stansberry, who received a phone call at work from his hysterical wife, telling him a tornado had struck the house. Stansberry said thunderclouds were in the area when he arrived home from Clarksville, but quickly dissipated.

Makes you wonder if someone, somewhere, wasn't nice to Mother Nature.

FREAK WIND—The home of Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Stansberry was struck by a freak wind at 3:50 p.m. Friday afternoon, causing the carport to fly up and over the house and into the back yard. The wind uprooted an 8" post and carried the post over the house, knocking over the television antenna. (Staff Photo)

Furnishes

Teachers Guides

By Charles VanDeaver
The Red River County Soil and Water Conservation District is currently furnishing Teachers' Curriculum Guides on Conservation Education to schools. The set of curriculum guides consist of six books ranging from first through ninth grade level. A book of ten minute field trips is also included.

Mrs. Evelyn McCulloch, Curriculum Coordinator of Clarksville Schools, received a set at the district board meeting last Monday. "This material will certainly be used in our school," stated Mrs. McCulloch as she received the books. Mrs. McCulloch expressed her appreciation to the directors as Chairman James Pearce presented the materials. Pearce stated that if the books are used and more is needed, the directors of the district board will consider purchasing them.

The local conservation district carries on several educational activities. Booklets and teaching outlines are furnished fifth grade students each spring. The district also conducts a conservation essay contest each winter. Several teachers have enjoyed the conservation teachers workshop at Wilkes Lodge sponsored by the district.

Mrs. McCulloch has been very effective in teaching environmental education. She has attended the teachers workshop at Wilkes Lodge twice. She has also used teaching materials furnished by the district.

Other teachers in the district wanting to attend the workshop or use teaching materials should contact James Pearce or the Soil Conservation Service office, phone 427-2975.

August Birthdays

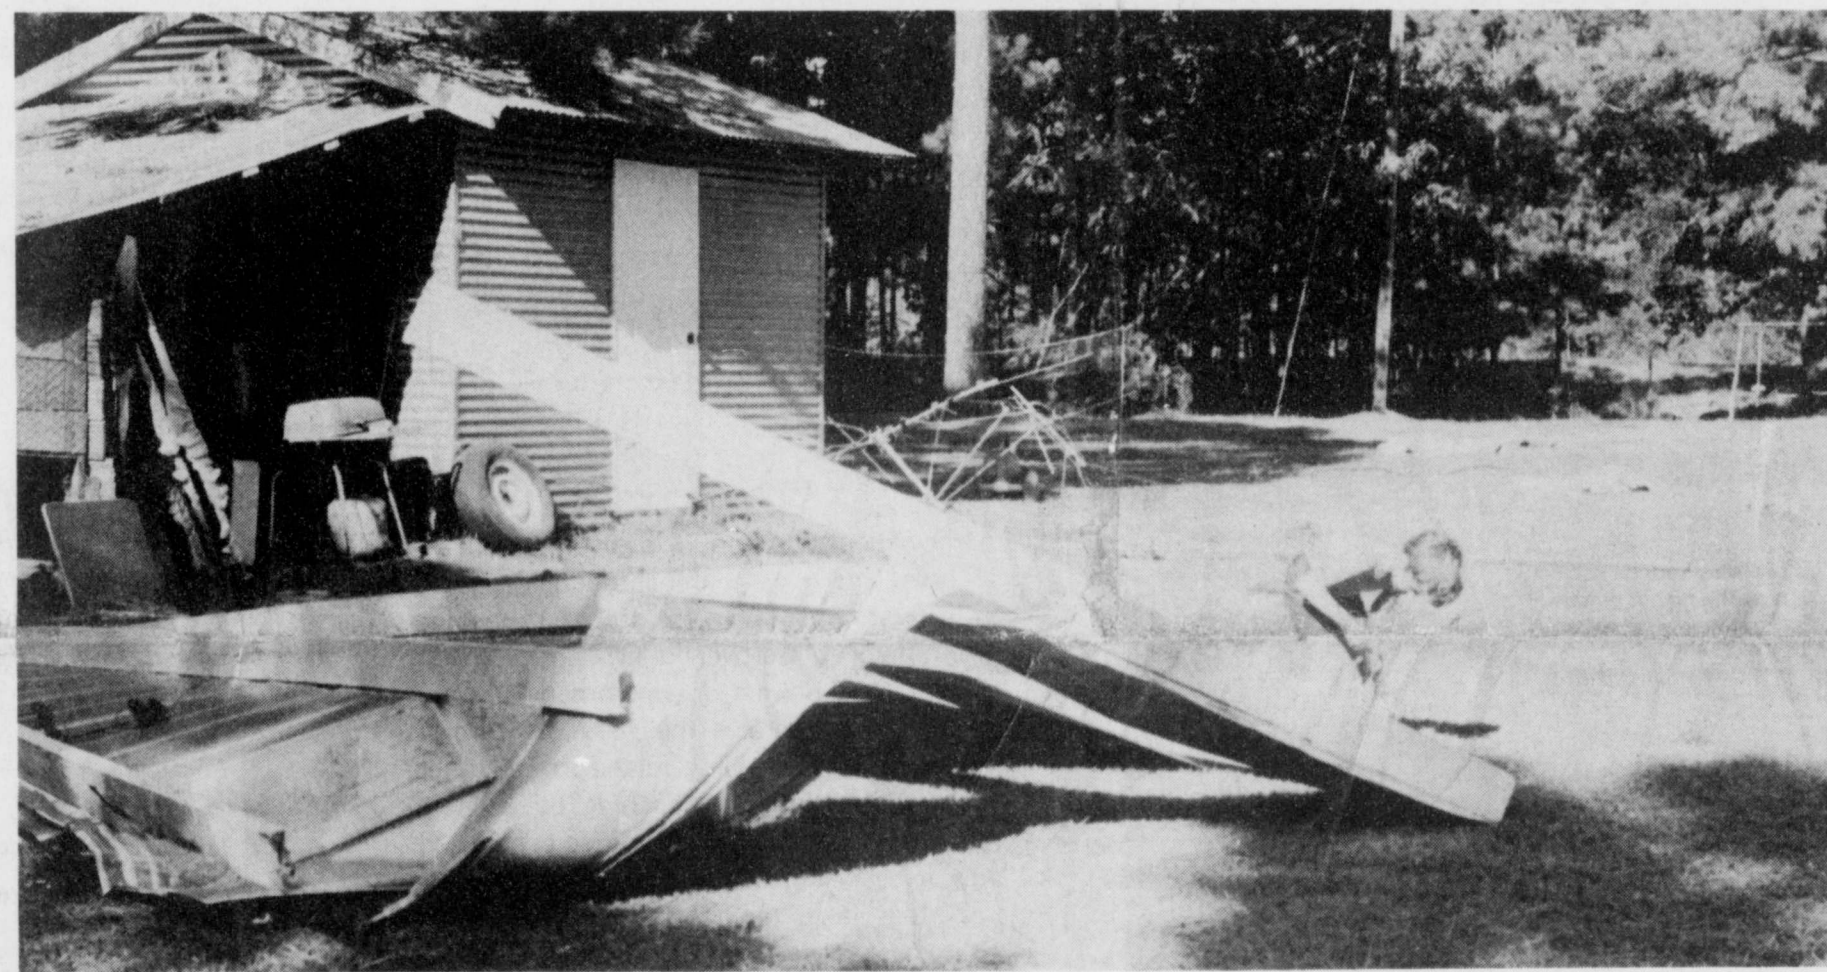

Celebrated

At Red River Haven

The August birthday party was celebrated at Red River Haven on Tuesday the 15th. There are 14 residents who celebrate their birthdays in August. They are James Hancock, Hester Mathena, Flora Sales, Linda Hancock, Pearl Dinwiddie, Walter Bond, Lora Suggs, Myrtle Thedford, Vera Vaughn, Cecil Fleming, Lula Quinton, Grover Keith, Emmons Abernathy and Robert Hunter. There were three who were honored as the oldest, being 92 this month. They were Linda Hancock, Myrtle Thedford and Lula Quinton.

The party was sponsored by the Bogata Assembly of God Church. For the program, several gospel selections were sung by a trio consisting of Mary Holden, Elaine Graham and Reba Clark, accompanied on the piano by Penny Graham.

After the program homemade cakes, provided by ladies of Bogata Assembly, and punch were served to the residents for an enjoyable birthday party.

CHAD STANSBERRY holds up one of the hanging baskets which was attached to the carport of his home. The freak wind destroyed the carport of the home, located three miles north of Bagwell, but no one was injured. Hardly a cloud was in the sky when the incident occurred, and there was no warning. 271 Texaco

Opens Under

New Management

Carl and Blanch Childres are now operating the 271 Texaco Self-Serv Station at the intersection of 271 and 37 in Bogata.

They would like for you to come by, and would appreciate your patronage.

Talco-Bogata Schools Will Open August 28th

The Talco-Bogata Schools will hold the first day of classes for the 1978-79 school year on Monday, August 28th. Buses will make their regular runs on Monday morning with students remaining in school the entire day. Lunches will be served in the cafeterias.

All students entering Kindergarten must be five years of age on or before September 1 of the current year. Students entering the first grade must be six years of age on or before September 1. Kindergarten students must furnish a birth certificate before being enrolled as well as first grade students who did not attend Kindergarten the previous year, or who are enrolling for the first time in the district.

Parents are also reminded that all children entering Elementary and Secondary Schools in Texas must have met the required State immunizations of diphtheria, tetanus, polio, measles, and rubella. All students new to the district who have not already registered should do so beginning August 21.

The early schedule of activities features home football games of the Rivercrest Rebels vs. Hawkins and Cooper at 8:00 p.m. on September 8 and 15, respectively.

Superintendent Talmadge Morgan also announced the calendar for the 1978-79 school year as follows:

Kahl Head Of Door-To-Door March

Patty Kahl has been named to head the 1978 door-to-door march for St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Talco.

William J. Kirwen, St. Jude's Development Director, made the announcement and said other key positions for the march will soon be filled.

"We are proud to find such a dedicated person for this important task," Kirwen said. "St. Jude Children's Research Hospital offers hope to stricken children everywhere that would not be possible without such volunteers."

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is the only research center dedicated exclusively to the study and conquest of catastrophic diseases of children. Its work, particularly in leukemia and other childhood cancers, has been internationally acclaimed and cited as a leading example for basic and clinical research.

Accident Causes

Power Failure

Thursday evening, August 17, at 8:45 p.m., the lights in Bogata were knocked out temporarily due to an accident on Highway 271, south of Bogata, at Johtown.

The break in power was caused by a set of dual truck wheels, which came loose from the truck, knocked down several mail boxes, bounced and struck a service pole some 20 feet off the ground. The truck was owned by the Hardy Oil Company in Paris.

A grass fire ignited under the pole, caused by the break, but was quickly extinguished by the Bogata Volunteer Fire Department.

Power was restored to Bogata residents at approximately 9:10 p.m.

Lunch Guidelines Set For Talco-Bogata

The Talco-Bogata Schools serve nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for $.60 per day if they purchase a weekly ticket or $.65 by the day. Students in grades K-8 may buy breakfast for $.25 and high school students may buy breakfast for $.35. Extra milk may be purchased for $.10.

Children from families whose income is at or below levels shown on the attached scale are eligible for free or reduced-price meals. If the children are eligible for free meals they are also eligible for free extra milk. The reduced price for lunch is $.20 and for breakfast, $.10. If your income is greater than those shown, but you have unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of your income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty losses, your children may still be eligible.

The school children of parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced-price meals and free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income causes the family income during the period of unemployment to be at or below the levels shown on the scale.

To apply at any time during the year for free meals, and free milk or reduced-price meals for your children, get an application and return it to the school. The information given on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility for free meals and milk or reduced-price meals. Within ten days of receiving your application, the school will let you know whether or not your children are eligible. If you do not agree with the school's decision you have a right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing Talmadge Morgan at Box 125, Bogata, Texas, or by calling 632-5205.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for these benefits. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

If we can be of any further assistance or if your family size or income changes during the year, please contact us.

Red River County

Fair Begins Sept. 20

By Beth Dannhelm
The Red River County Fair is scheduled for September 20-23. According to Mrs. Beth Dannhelm, County Extension Agent, the exhibit building will be one of the main attractions at the County Fair. Exhibits will include canned goods, clothing, textiles, art work, crafts, and commercial exhibits.

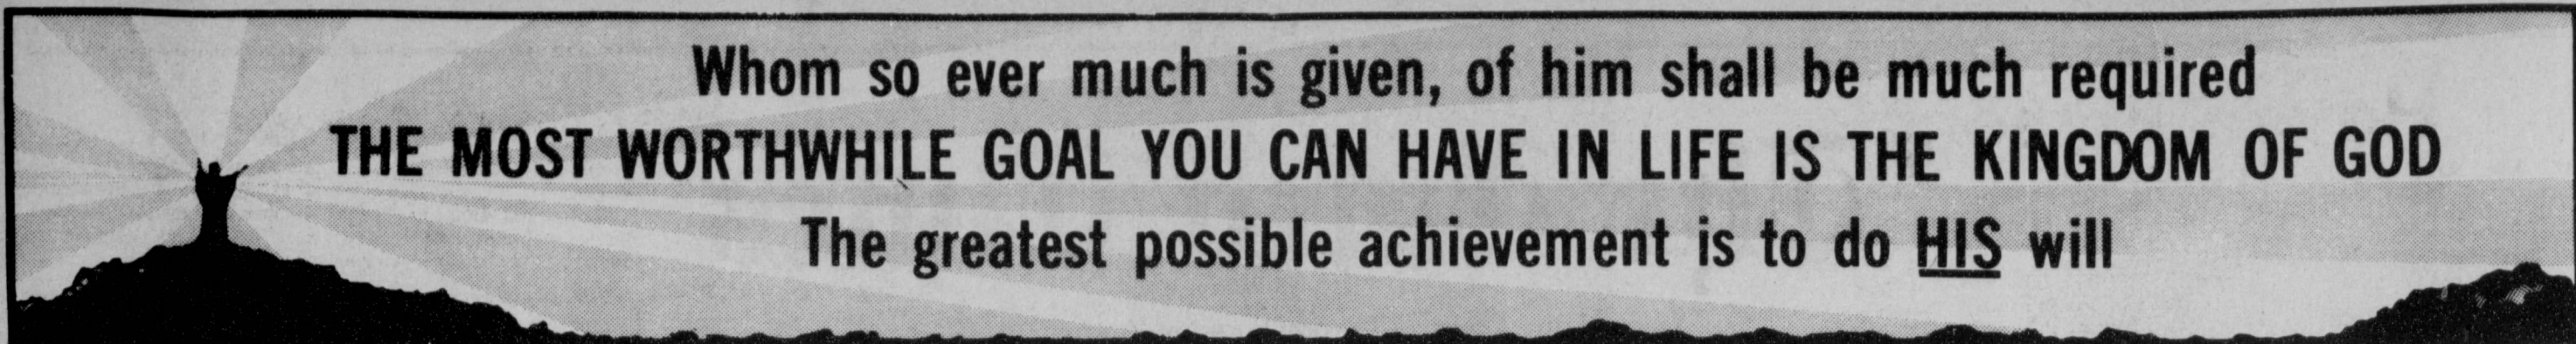

All items are to be checked in on Tuesday, September 19 between 1 and 6 p.m. Judging will take place on Wednesday morning and prize money will be awarded later in the week.

A complete list of items that can be entered and the awards given can be picked up at the County Agent's office. For additional information concerning the fair, contact the County Agent's Office at 427-2493.

If you want some special pointers on how to win a blue ribbon, call Dianah Zehetner, Chairman of the Exhibit Building; she has the "know how".

FAITH IMPELS GOOD CITIZENS TO LEARN THEIR LAWS

"Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God."
—Romans 13:1

As soon as any man says of the affairs of the State, "What does it matter to me?", the State may be given up for lost.
—Jean Jacques Rousseau

A free nation such as ours is governed by a set of laws known as a Constitution, designed chiefly to protect us from excessive government control over our lives and arranged to define the powers of government at every level. It also contains the seeds of its own improvement, by spelling out the procedure for adding, changing or abolishing these laws. However, our system will continue to succeed only if every citizen, whether native-born or imported, takes an interest and shows a willingness to act and become involved in it. Our laws are good, because they are based on the laws of God as set forth in the Bible. You will learn this by reading it and attending your Church, the choice of which is one of the very rights contained in our Constitution.

A WELCOME TO ALL!

You may be assured of a hearty welcome, if you attend Sunday School, Church Services or Social and Business Activities at the church of your choice. By finding a church home, you will make your life fuller, richer with increasing contentment. You and your family are urged to attend the church of your choice regularly.

WON'T YOU PLEASE HELP?

Our churches work constantly to make our area a better place in which to live and rear our children. Our ministers and the community-minded men and women represented on this page urge you to attend the church of your choice this week and to support its good works.

DO YOU HAVE A PERSONAL OR FAMILY REAL-LIFE PROBLEM?

Our pastors are trusted and confidential friends. Counsel with them about your problems. It is possible that their guidance can help lift some of your burdens. They stand ready to do what they can to show you the way out of your dilemma.

Dollars for Defense

Washington—When I voted last week in favor of the largest defense budget—$119.2 billion—in the history of our nation, I could not help but recall with grave concern how much our military budget, as well as the rest of government spending, has grown in recent years.

But, unlike so many federal dollars, I am of the belief that allocations made to the defense of our nation are dollars essential to the very survival of our nation.

In studying this legislation and in witnessing the legislative maneuvering that took place during efforts to curtail military spending at a time when communism remains a strong threat to our nation, I feel it appropriate to also applaud Cong. George Mahon.

During this, his last year in office (he has announced his retirement) his record of understanding the necessity of a strong military, even in the face of honest opposition from those concerned with fiscal limits, is a tribute to the strength and accomplishments shown during his years as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

We have learned, through history, that a nation's security is based, not on its desire to live and let live, but only through a military capacity that is a clear message to those nations which would attempt to dominate or control others.

There will always be cause to closely scrutinize federal dollars allocated to the military because the sheer size of our defense complex opens the door for potential waste in the way of cost overruns and unnecessary weaponry.

But this budget, as gargantuan as it seems, is one I feel that is essential to the defense of not only our nation, but of the principles on which it was founded and which it seeks to preserve for all of mankind.

History, sometimes tragically, has clearly shown us that only through a capacity for strength does peace prevail.

That is why, after careful study, I voted for our defense appropriations bill without reservation and it is why I feel exceptionally strong about some of the provisions of this year's defense budget.

I worked and voted against the Yates Amendment, which would have deleted $2.1 billion for purchase of a Nimitz nuclear aircraft carrier, a carrier that will give us the sophisticated protection necessary to protect our seas.

Included in legislation for which I voted was also the Montgomery Amendment, which allocated additional funds for recruitment of military personnel.

Because our nation now relies on a voluntary force, it is more important than ever that military service offer enough incentives to attract our best young people, men and women.

Unfortunately, too many of us have not carefully studied reports showing that the calibre of soldier we train today is in grave danger of not living up to past standards and we must not allow that to occur.

Needless to say, I also opposed the Volkmer Amendment which would have cut military spending across-the-board by two per cent. In fact, earlier this year I introduced an amendment that called for across-the-board containment of costs in all federal spending areas with three notable exceptions, a principal one being military.

But voting and working for additional defense allocations is not always enough.

It is essential that representation in Washington never lose its grass roots understanding of the most basic backbone of our defense program, the presence of military bases throughout our nation.

Unfortunately, 11 military bases have been closed in Texas since 1965 and I am currently involved in several endeavors to make certain that no other bases are closed unless there is clear and undisputable evidence that, first, a base is not needed, and second, that all precautions have been taken to make certain that the severe economic impact of a closure has been negated to the extent that local businesses which have relied on a base's existence for their own are provided every possible bit of aid, hopefully negating long-range economic depression.

In years to come, there no doubt will continue to be a growth in federal government, not necessarily because our government is self-perpetuating, but because we are a growing nation, a nation enlarging not only its population, but its knowledge. And with knowledge, as John Kennedy so eloquently expressed it, comes new frontiers which must not only be confronted and dealt with but, as the challenge to man would have it, conquered.

Going Strong

Model Still Draws A Crowd

At the age of 35, most fashion models are making plans to retire or are making plans for other careers. Not Grace Moran of New York City, however: at 81 she's still enjoying her career as a professional model, a career that spans 67 years.

"People used to tell me that I was pretty and that I should be a model," Mrs. Moran told a writer from the National Council on the Aging. "I never really thought about it until my husband became ill and we needed the money. I had never worked before and had no business training, so I figured there was nothing to lose by trying to be a model."

She applied to a very prominent dress manufacturer in New York and was hired on the spot. She worked there for several years, learning the do's and don'ts of the modeling profession, while earning a living.

When she was 29, Mrs. Moran suffered the loss of her husband as well as her job.

"Because of the Depression, the manufacturer went out of business and I had to look for another job," Mrs. Moran said. "It wasn't easy, because good jobs were very scarce."

Eventually, she landed a job as a saleswoman in the lingerie department of a clothing store. While working there, she was discovered by a commercial photographer who encouraged her to go back to modeling. He took pictures of her and referred her to different agencies. Shortly afterwards, she began posing for fashion advertisements and as her career blossomed, she was hired for television commercials.

Mrs. Moran later went to work full time for Bergdorf Goodman of New York. In 1959, when she was 62, Bergdorf sent her to the American National Exhibition in Moscow. Understandably, Mrs. Moran calls her trip to Russia the high point of her career.

"I was there seven weeks and did two shows each day," said Mrs. Moran. "I had the chance to compete with younger women and I loved it. Even the Russian women couldn't believe that I was 62. They thought that I was 42."

Grace Moran now models dresses at a Stouffers Restaurant in New York City every Wednesday, an event that draws many of her faithful fans.

When asked to give some tips on staying youthful, Mrs. Moran said, "Don't abuse your health, think young but never regret growing old."

MAINE'S LEGISLATURE

has overridden a gubernatorial veto to enact a State statute outlawing the mandatory retirement of workers by reason of age.

Effective next July 1, the law applies to all State, county, and municipal employees. Its coverage will be extended to the private sector, provided the State Planning Commission finds no "substantial impediment" to such action.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—A study by the Council of State Governments has disclosed a mixed picture of changes in top-level state administrators throughout the 50 states.

State government still places in its top posts a preponderance of white, middle-aged males, from rural or small-town origins, the study shows. However, changes are evident and they appear to be important.

The figures indicated increased educational levels, more urban origins, and progress toward racial and sexual diversity.

This trend toward more highly trained administrators—and Texas is included in this group—has been accompanied by a rise in recruitment from state government generally and from within the particular agency that the administrator directs.

The CSG study concluded, "that in political persuasion, state agency heads are, like the public at large, increasingly likely to classify themselves as Independents rather than Democrats or Republicans." The conclusion was that these trends support the view that state bureaucracies, at least at the top, are becoming more representative and more professional.

Shifting social, economic, scientific and technological environments in which state agencies operate is assisting in this new professionalism. Increasingly complex environments usually foster more complex organizational structures, procedures and processes. These factors combine to place a premium on administrators with skills to cope with complexity and uncertainty.

An administrator with little or no experience in state government is at a distinct disadvantage when he or she attempts to function in a state capacity, the study indicates. That is one reason the novice administrator is becoming less frequent in top administrative echelons of the states.

Management is a real concern in Texas. While we are deeply engrossed with cutting costs of government, equal emphasis is placed on the efficiency and effectiveness of the more than 200 agencies. We have a large number of professionally able, experienced executives to guide the State and in the future there are going to be even more—much to the benefit of Texas.

Can I claim a tax credit for child care expense mother bought before her death, or would it all pass to my sister and me?

A: When you figure your credit, you may include payments you make to relatives who are not your dependents for the tax year, even if they are members of your household, provided the services of the relatives qualify as employment subject to social security tax. If your sister is listed as one of your dependents, then you cannot claim a credit for the child care. To otherwise qualify for the credit you must be gainfully employed or actively searching for a job during the year, your expenditures must have been necessary for you to keep your job and you must have a qualified individual, such as your child.

Q: A city police patrol car has been using a church parking lot to check traffic with a radar unit. The pastor of the church says the church has not authorized the use of their parking lot for this purpose. Is this allowed under state law?

A: There is no state law prohibiting law enforcement officers from entering a public parking lot. Any parking lot open to the general public is considered a public area regardless of whether it sits on privately or publicly-owned land.

A: A couple's land and other real estate purchases which are community property are divided, when the wife dies without a will, so that their children share one-half and the other half becomes the husband's separate property if he remarries. This separate property, if the husband dies without a will, is divided so that his children receive two-thirds and the remaining one-third passes first to the widow during her lifetime and then to his children upon her death.

Q: When my husband died, our house became my homestead, although I'm not living in it at the present time. Now that his daughter by a previous marriage has reached the age of 18, can she make me sell the house in order to get cash for her share of the house?

A: So long as a widow's right to a homestead has not been abandoned by the widow, she cannot be forced to sell it to accomplish a division of the property for the benefit of a step-child. The widow's right to the homestead allows her to use it during her lifetime with the remainder passing after her death to the late husband's children or their descendants.

The Good Word from the Bible

... a weekly inspirational message for today's life-styles...

Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven. St. Luke 6:37

Those who understand life know that it is a "give-and-take" proposition. Whatever your individual aims in life, chances for success relate to the manner in which you approach person-to-person relationships.

If you give, if you help others who strive, then you may in turn expect cooperation, some reward in return. You can seldom win someone to your point of view with shouts or curses. You make a concession, receive one in return.

The golden rule is more than a slogan; it is a way of life; it is living according to God's will.

In the 19th century, "Diamond Jim" Brady presented actress Lillian Russell with a gold-plated bicycle worth $10,000. It was encrusted with chips of diamonds, emeralds and rubies, and had mother-of-pearl handlebars.

A politician who had changed his views rather radically was congratulated by a colleague. "Guess you finally saw the light," he said.

"I didn't see the light," was the terse retort. "I felt the heat."

Joe Kelsey, Kim Brooks Vows Solemnized

Miss Kim Brooks and Joe Travis Kelsey were united in marriage in a formal, candlelight ceremony at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the First United Methodist Church of Bogata. The pastor, the Rev. David W. Griffin, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E.E. Brooks of Bogata and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Sam B. Kelsey of Deport.

Mrs. Mary Claire Johnston of Paris, organist and pianist, presented prenuptial selections. She accompanied Miss Staci Brooks, sister of the bride as she sang "Let It Be Me". At the close of the ceremony, Mrs. David Griffin sang "The Lord's Prayer".

The altar featured a trio grouping of white majestic daisies and yellow fuji chrysanthemums interspersed with fresh baby's breath and summer greens. The arrangements were accented with garlands of polished foliage used to connect each on different levels. Matching oval and spiral candelabras holding Indian lime candles lighted the altar where the couple pledged their double-ring vows. The length of the aisles were marked with yellow and apricot ribbon, yellow daisies and fuji chrysanthemums.

Registering guests in the church entry were Mrs. Rusty Jones of Talco and Mrs. Bill Buckman of Bogata. The registry stands were decorated with satin roses in yellow and polished summer greens.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. For her wedding she wore a gown of silk organza styled in an empire silhouette. The moulded bodice was overlaid with scattered motifs of Alencon lace sculptured with pearls. Lace motifs encircled the empire waist. Lace and organza combined to form the short sleeves. Scattered lace motifs with pearls snowflaked the front of the A-line A-line skirt which fell to slipper length and formed a chapel train. The entire gown was framed in scalloped Venice lace. The bride wore a waltz-length mantilla of illusion applique and bordered in Alencon lace which fell from a lace-covered Camelot cap. She carried a cascade of gardenias, soft yellow sweetheart roses and stephanotis encircled with baby's breath and accented with fresh clusters of miniature English ivy.

Mrs. Morris Foster of Bogata was matron of honor and Kathy Brooks, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Staci Brooks and Miss Linda Stubblefield, both of Bogata, and Mrs. John Blair of Irving.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of soft yellow crepe overlaid with yellow organza flocked with small yellow, white and green daisy motifs. The gowns were designed peasant wrap with short puffed sleeves and a flounce ruffle at the hemline. A self-belt defined the waistlines. Each carried a bouquet of white gardenias, yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath. Their hairpieces were gardenias and baby's breath.

Miss Paige Collins of Dallas was flower girl and Brian Brown of Irving was ringbearer. Candelighters were Becky Brooks, sister of the bride, and Kelly Jeffery.

Morris Foster of Bogata served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Bill Buckman of Bogata, Neal McKinney of Fort Worth, Tom Webb of Deport and Bobby Wright of Paris.

Mrs. Joe Travis Kelsey

Jace Jeffery of Bogata were Ushers. The newlywed couple was honored with a reception at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

Presiding at the bride's table were Miss Melissa Moody of Clarksville, Mrs. Don Edwards of Commerce and Miss Kristy Gordon of Bogata. At the bridegroom's table were Miss Connie Kelsey of Paris, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Danny Black and Mrs. Bill Buckman of Bogata. Serving at the buffet table were Miss Betty Lou Geese, Miss Lori Gordon and Miss Tracie Jeffery, all of Bogata. Other houseparty members were Mrs. Kenneth Jeffery and Mrs. Rusty Jones.

Rice bags were distributed by Leigh Hughes and Amy Hughes.

The bride is a graduate of Rivercrest High School, attended Paris Junior College and is presently a student at East Texas State University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Deport High School, attended Henderson County Junior College and is a graduate of Texas A&M University. He is employed by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

After a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico the couple will live in Bogata.

Dr. and Mrs. Kelsey honored their son and his fiancée with a rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Fish Fry in Paris following the wedding rehearsal.

The couple presented gifts to their attendants. Fifty guests attended.

A bridesmaids luncheon honoring Miss Brooks was given Saturday at the home of Mrs. T.V. Skaggs in Deport. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Jeffery, Mrs. Ed Huddleston and Mrs. Steve Knowles of Bogata.

Twenty-five guests attended.

Johnstown Church Has Bible School

Both adult and children's Bible classes were held this week at the Johnstown Missionary Baptist Church.

Dana Anderson, Freda Jean, Brenda Lee, Arietta Hervey, Oleta McAllister, and Mildred Mayfield taught the beginner and kindergarten classes.

Gwendolyn Bowen taught the Tiny Tots class, and Mary Lou Daniels and Florence Pirtle taught the Primary Class. Directors of the Junior Class were Ruby Pirtle and Nancy Hervey, while Robbie Hawkins directed the teenagers. Vaughan Lee and Effie Oliver were in charge of refreshments.

Record $236.4 Million In Sales Tax Revenues

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday said Texas cities netted a record $236.4 million in sales tax revenues during the 1978 fiscal year, a 14.8 percent increase over the previous budget year.

Bullock said his office today mailed checks totaling $20.1 million to 903 cities as their August share of the local option, one percent sales tax.

The current state budget year ends August 31.

The city sales tax is collected by merchants along with the state sales tax and rebated monthly to the cities in which it was collected by the Comptroller's Office.

The city of Annona, Texas received $528.77 as payment for this period, making the 1978 payments to date total $3,772.89, a 21 percent increase over the total of $3,114.50 in 1977. Avery received $5,013.26 to date this year, which shows a 45 percent increase over last year's total to date of $3,450.66. Blossom's payments to date total $3,179.59, as compared to $2,675.84 in 1977, for an 18 percent increase.

Bogata received a check for $591.34, payments totaling $7,995.28 to date, as to $6,771.00 in 1977, for an 18 percent increase.

Clarksville received $5,465.22, with a 1978 total to date of $70,739.39, an eight percent increase over last year's payments to date of $65,204.33.

Report's rebate thus far in 1978 is $2,643.29, which is a four percent decrease over the 1977 figure of $2,779.49.

July Bond Sales Reported

July sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Red River County were reported today by County Bond Chairman Ben E. Black. Sales for the seventh-month period totaled $108,326 for 68 percent of the 1978 sales goal of $160,000.00.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $24,238,097, while sales for the first seven months of 1978 total $181,170,687 with 59 percent of the yearly sales goal of 306.6 million achieved.

Jack Duncan Inducted Into College Of Trial Lawyers

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Duncan of El Paso have just returned from New York City where Duncan was inducted into the American College of Trial Lawyers. This is an honorary organization of the American Bar Association whose membership includes only one percent of the attorneys in America.

Duncan is the son of Mrs. John Duncan of Clarksville, and son-in-law of Mrs. Iva Hooker of Bogata.

Cotton Season Opens At Dallas Office

Roy W. Gilbreath, Area Director of the USDA, Marketing Services Office in Dallas, said the arrival of a sample of cotton August 1 from the G and P Gin Company, Inc. at Aquilla in Hill County, marked the beginning of another cotton season at the Dallas Office. The bale belonged to Gerik Bros. The grade was 42, staple length 30 and the mike reading was 2.6. This was earlier than last season when the first samples were received August 15.

Gilbreath said there were no significant changes in provisions for classification of cotton this season compared to last. He added that although the Dallas Office was now known as a Marketing Services Office rather than "Cotton Classing Office" and he was designated as Area Director rather than "Officer in Charge," the function of the office was essentially the same as it has been in previous seasons.

Cutting Board
A cutting board is essential in a well-planned kitchen. Choose a smaller size with a handle for everyday chopping, mincing and slicing — and a larger size for carving meats.
