Nazi U-Boat Crews Mutiny

Reports Say Officers Join Men In Refusing To Embark

By JOHN COLBURN
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, June 26.—Six German submarine crews in Norway have mutinied and refused to reimbark in in the underseas boats, it was reported in Norwegian circles here today.

Usually reliable sources were said to have relayed rumors that officers and men alike had jointly decided to mutiny, and that all were sent to a military prison in Oslo. The sources cannot be identified by name.

The report, capping a series of stories of discontent and weakening morale among German forces in Norway, recalled the mutiny of sailors of the German high sea fleet in October, 1918, in one of the major steps of the German collapse in World war one.

Sent To Oslo Prison

A considerable number of men and officers from submarines have been sent to Akershus prison in Oslo, now employed by the Germans as a military prison, the reports from Norway said.

The base where the reported disaffection occurred was not disclosed, but Norwegian circles said it might be Tronheim, or in the Trondheim area, where the Nazis had based much of their fleet this spring to prey upon convoys moving to Soviet Russia.

It was at Tronheim that Admiral Otto Ciliax, commander in chief of German naval forces in Norway, was reported to have warned 2,000 Nazi Marines that Norway would be invaded "within a short time."

Norwegian sources with reliable connections with the efficient underground in their home country said that "recent reports from northern Norway say that remarkably many German warships are always lying in harbors for repairs of some small damage which they sustained only a short time after they put to sea. People (Norwegians) cannot help thinking that most of these damages were intentional to enable the Marines to come ashore as soon as possible."

Many Reports Of Poor Morale

There have been many reports of poor morale and arrests among Germany Army troops in Norway, and recently German Marines—the best of Nazi forces in Norway—also were pictured as affected. Observers said any extensive mutiny in the ranks of Marines would have widespread effects.

(In the first World war, the German high sea fleet mutinied on Oct. 29, 1918, when the order was given to prepare for sea for a last raid into the English Channel. There were incidents among other units. Most of the crews of destroyer and submarine flotillas, however, remained loyal to the end.)

Soviet Bombers Pound Germans

Reds Report Little Activity On Ground

LONDON, Sunday, June 27 (AP)—Russian bombers pounded rear German airfields and rail installations at Bryansk Friday night, and other Red Army fliers dealt new blows to the enemy's sea and air units yesterday, but the Soviet midnight communique reported little ground activity along the sprawling Russian front.

A Moscow broadcast, recorded early today by the Soviet monitor in advance of the midnight communique, said Russian bombers started large fiers at the station and rail junction of Bryansk, behind the Orel front. Several German planes were destroyed in the attacks on enemy airfields, the announcement said, and the Russians lost two planes. The midnight was bulletin said Soviet airmen sank an enemy patrol ship and damaged a minesweeper in attacks yesterday in the Gulf of Finland.

Five Nazi Planes Downed

Aerial combats developed in the Belgorod area, the communique said. In these, five German planes were said to have been downed without the loss of a single Russian craft.

The principal ground activity was on a sector of the central front west of Moscow where Russian scouts were said to have broken through barbed wire defenses into German trenches, killing a number of the enemy and taking some prisoners.

"The Germans brought up reinforcements and tried to surround the Soviet scout detachments but were unsuccessful," the communique said. "The scouts beat off two consecutive counterattacks and the Germans retired to their initial positions under the cover of machine gun fire."

The communique added that the scouts obtained "important information."

Leningrad Front

On the Leningrad front snipers were reported to have killed 90 German soldiers and Russian artillerymen were credited with destroying eight blockhouses and six dugouts.

One Russian battery west of Rostov was said to have wiped out about a company of German

Hatchet Man Sought In Mystery Attacks

WALTERS, Okla., June 26. (AP)—Lieut. W. D. Hamilton of the highway patrol said tonight it appeared a "hatchet man" was loose in Cotton county after mysterious attacks left two teen-age youths critically injured. One of the injured was identified as a Texan.

Hamilton said Leman Eugene Turner, 15, Randlett, was still unconscious in a hospital here several hours after he was found beaten and mutilated on a highway southwest of Walters. The officer said the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Turner, had not heard from him since Sunday when he left home to enroll in a NYA school at Chickasha.

Hamilton and Sheriff Tom Jackson said they believed the attack on Turner was related to one on a second youth identified by papers in his pocket as Joel Eugene McDonald, 17, Maytown, Tex.

Hamilton said the youth identified as McDonald was found beaten and cut last night on a highway 11 miles south of the spot where Turner was discovered. He was taken to a Wichita Falls hospital, where his condition was reported as critical.

FEWER BUT BETTER

AUSTIN, June 26. (AP)—There won't be as many cantaloups in Texas this summer, but they will be good. The United States department of agriculture today announced that while probable production is indicated at 34 per cent under last year's conditions are right for quality.

Educators Ask NYA Liquidation

AUSTIN, June 26. (AP)—Texas schoolmen attending a statewide education for victory conference here today unanimously expressed themselves as favoring liquidation of the NYA.

They authorized a committee consisting of M. P. Baker of Corpus Christi, I. B. Carruth of Bonham, R. L. Speer of Sherman, H. D. Fillers of Wichita Falls, R. H. Brister of Waco to the following telegram to Senators Tom Connally and W. Lee O'Daniel:

"200 leading Texas school administrators in conference unanimously approve the action of Senate appropriation committee in recommending the liquidation of the National Youth administration."

Fear Federalized System

Advocates of the anti-NYA movement characterized the agency as being a step toward a federalized school system. William P. Galligan, superintendent of Laredo schools said:

"The public schools not only have all facilities necessary for training, but they can do the job more economically."

The conference also passed a resolution calling for appointment of committees of Texas teachers on consumer education, food production, housing and other wartime activities, to work with the curriculum division of

Dub Comer Dies In Plane Crash

Two Others Die In Florida Accident

W. D. (Dub) Comer, 27, one of the 46 Avalanche-Journal staff members on leave in the armed services of their country, will never return to his job in this newspaper's classified advertising department. Instead, upon the office's honor roll plaque next his name will be placed a gold star—a star indicating that he has made the supreme sacrifice while in the line of duty in the U. S. Navy Air corps.

Petty Officer Comer was killed in the crash of a Naval plane at 9 a.m. Saturday morning on a routine flight five miles off Fort Laudredale, Fla. Notice of his death was received by his wife, Mrs. Oleta Comer of Lubbock, Saturday from J. P. Ratt, commanding officer of the Naval Air Station at Fort Lauderdale.

Comer was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Comer who reside east of Lubbock. He had lived in Lubbock 14 years. Besides his parents, his wife and an infant son, W. D. Comer, jr., he is survived by a brother, Bobby Comer of Los Angeles, Calif., and two sisters, Mrs. T. E. Prince of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Lucian Moore of Acuff.

Memorial Services Planned

Memorial services for Petty Officer Comer and two companions who died in the crash will be conducted at the Naval station Tuesday morning at 11:30 o'clock, the commanding officer's telegram informed Mrs. Comer.

According to the telegram the crash occurred in water 600 feet deep and the plane in which Comer and two others were riding sank immediately. Extensive search by boats and planes at the spot found no trace of the wreckage or bodies and diving operations were impossible due to the depth of the water. The officer said search was continuing for the bodies but no hope for recover can be held, the telegram said. A letter containing further details will follow, it was said.

Mrs. Comer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. DuBose of Brownfield, left last night to go to Fort Lauderdale to attend the memorial services for her husband Tuesday. She had only recently returned to

Crew, Four Civilians Die In Plane Crash

CARIBOU, Me., June 26. (AP)—A U. S. Army pilot, members of his crew and four civilians were killed today in the crash of an Army plane on a farm at Parkhurst siding near here. The civilians were working on the farm when the plane plummeted into them.

The pilot was identified by residents as Firt Lt. Bert Robertson, 28, of Sherman.

The plane reportedly carried a crew of four in addition to the pilot.

The civilian dead were:

Alfred Winters, 38, Alfred Winters, jr., his son, 9, Elouise Newton, 19, and Annie Therriault, 25.

Observers said the plane flew low over the field and was close to the ground when it apparently went out of control.

Nearly Normal Coal Output Is Believed Near

Workers Returning To Pits In Most Of Producing Areas

PITTSBURGH, June 26. (AP)—Mounting signs came from the Appalachian coal fields tonight that nearly normal production might be resumed next week although the situation in Pennsylvania remained uncertain after a day which saw the closing of more mines, even though anti-strike legislation has become law.

Foremost in the back-to-work movement were reports that more thousands of miners returned to their jobs in West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia.

Most Due Back Monday

Coupled with this development were the almost general predictions by United Mine Worker (UMW) district leaders that most of the men would be back in the mines Monday, even in Pennsylvania.

As against this, a large proportion of the men continued to remain away from work today in large producing states like Pennsylvania, Alabama and Ohio.

Although absenteeism at many working mines preevnted an accurate estimate of how many men were back on the job, information from union and operator sources indicated that a larger number worked today than yesterday, despite the additional walkouts in Pennsylvania. Roughly, the number of idle appeared to be around 210,000, most of them in Pennsylvania. This would mean that a majority of the men—over 300,000—were back in the mines.

Some Taking Vacations

A late development in Kentucky sent 4,500 UMW members in district 23 on "vacation." District President Ed Morgan announced they left their jobs and will be off 10 days because they received only $20 instead of $50 vacation pay as stipulated in their contract. Morgan emphasized the action did not constitute a strie. It affected mines in five counties.

Nearly 10,000 more miners left the Pennsylvania pits and, although four days have passed since the policy committee of the United Mine Workers (UMW) issued its back-to-work order, estimates from coal producing states indicated production still far below normal.

By contrast, the back-to-work movement gained big headway in West Virginia and prospects appeared bright there for a general resumption among the 130,000 miners in the biggest bituminous coal producing state. Similar signs come from other producing states.

The new walkouts came unexpectedly in both the anthracite and

Breaks Seen In Oil Price Dike

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff

Two breaks in the dike of government opposition to a crude price hike appeared this week.

Responsible of the naval affairs committee's petroleum investigating sub-committee to testimony advocating a price increase, more materials and manpower and less governmental interference with oil industry operations was acclaimed by Texas oil men.

In Washington, economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson began consideration of Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes' recommendation that crude prices be increased 35 cents a barrel to stimulate exploration for new reserves.

Committee Praised

Remarked one witness, who asked not to be named, following the sub-committee two-day inquiry in Dallas into Texas' oil production and supply program:

"This committee is an independent oil man's dream. I've testified at various times before five congressional committees studying oil prices and this is the best-informed and fairest of all. If this group can't persuade Congress to give the oil industry a break—and I definitely believe that they can and will—then we may as well give up and close shop."

Pennsylvania Meeting

Texas' views on oil problems were carried to the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Grade

Two South Plains Men Are Jap Prisoners

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—The War department announced today the names of 132 United States soldiers held as prisoners of war in Germany, Italy and Japan. The list included:

Ingley, Pvt. Lawrence P.—Mrs. Mary C. Ingley, mother, route 6, Lubbock.

BELIEVED PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Approximately 50 per cent of the bomber crews reported missing over Europe are assumed to be alive in enemy prison camps, Major General Davenport Johnson, commander of the Second Air force estimated today.

ITALY'S CAPTURE WOULD AID SHUTTLE PLAN — The RAAF's revolutionary new plan of "shuttle bombing" back and forth from Britain to Africa as demonstrated this week, would be aided greatly if Italy should be knocked out of the war and her northern plains used as a southern terminus, as shown by distances on this map. Solid curves represent bomber distances from London; broken curves from the Italian city of Milan. The Milan bases also would place German-occupied territory within easier bombing range.

Anti-Strike Passage Brings Bitter Words, But Leaders Renew "No Strike" Pledge

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Congressional enactment of the labor disputes bill over President Roosevelt's veto brought bitter words from labor spokesmen today—but also a renewal of the "no strike" pledge by heads of the AFL and CIO.

It brought some confusion, too, to the affected government agencies which were not ready, pending further study of the measure, to say what steps they would have to take in shaping their organizations to administer it.

WLB Crisis Vanishes

The threat of an immediate crisis for the War Labor board (WLB) through resignation of its labor members vanished. While their possibility had been suggested, prior to enactment of the bill, the labor members said individually today that they intended to stick by the board.

A question to be resolved, however, is the extent of the restrictions placed on them by the act's prohibition against a WLB member's taking part in consideration of a case in which he has an interest. It must be decided, for instance, whether this means an AFL member may not consider any AFL case or may consider an AFL case if it does not affect his particular union.

In the forefront of speculation here was whether the act might be applied in the coal controversy if any considerable number of miners continues the work stoppage next week.

The act forbids anyone from aiding or promoting a strike in a war plant or mine which has been taken over by the government, though it contains no barrier against an individual's stoppage work of his own accord.

Some Picketing Reported

Thus it might be invoked against pickets in the coal fields or against anyone who publicly urged continuance of the work stoppages.

Some picketing was reported today when the strike spread to additional mines in Pennsylvania. Throughout the coal producing area, however, the situation appeared to be little changed from Friday with about half the 521,00 miners working.

Monday morning was expected to provide the big test of whether normal operations could be restored.

Under the act, enforcement of the ban against aiding or promoting a strike falls on the justice department. Violations are subject to fines of up to $5,000 or imprisonment of up to one year.

Subsidies Voted Down By Senate

Operation Of OPA Faces New Crisis

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—The Senate joined the House today in repudiating OPA's food subsidy rollback, and voted besides to transfer future subsidy operations from the Office of Price administration to the War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis.

Thus the administration suffered its second major setback in two days, the anti-subsidy action following Congress' overriding of President Roosevelt's veto of the anti-strike bill.

In no mood for extended debate, the Senate voted 46 to 29 to kill the rollback, which Price Administrator Prentiss Brown has said is essential to hold the line against inflation. It then swiftly adopted, without a record vote, an amendment by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) transferring subsidy authority to the food administrator.

New Crisis For OPA

The actions brought OPA operations to a fresh crisis. Brown has put the subsidy into effect on meat and butter and declared it necessary "to roll back the cost of living to the level to which we are committed (Sept. 15, 1942) and to hold it there." OPA also faces a financial crisis, the House having slashed 26 per cent from the $177,000,000 recommended for the agency's operations in the next fiscal year. Brown said this week that price control will be "crippled into uselessness" if the Senate agrees with the House on the money issue.

LONDON, Sunday, June 27. (AP)—Premier Stalin of Russia thanked President Roosevelt for his "high estimation of the determination and bravery of the Soviet people" in a special message broadcast by the Moscow radio early today and said that conditions have been created for the final defeat of the common enemy.

"The sooner we strike our joint united blows against the enemy from the east and from the west," the sooner final victory will come, said Stalin's message, recorded here by the Soviet monitor.

Stalin's statement was in reply to a message which President Roosevelt sent to the premier last Tuesday on the second anniversary of the German attack of Russia.

Coal Stock Piles Are Decreased Two-Thirds

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Loss of bituminous soft coal production due to strikes last month has knocked down the hoped-for increase in consumers' stock piles by more than two-thirds, Solid Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes said today.

Revealing that these reserves grew only 838,000 tons last month, Ickes declared, "we should have increased stock piles by more than 3,000,000 tons during May. We are still losing ground in June."

Labor-Recruiting Act Stopped By Officials

PORTLAND, Ore., June 26. (AP) A War Manpower commission (WMC) labor-recruiting act in the show window of a downtown store backfired when the Office of War information (OWI) protested.

Two WMC recruiters dressed as Uncle Sam exhorted passersby to volunteer for cannery work.

Said Portland's OWI director, Ben Titus, "they shouted 'hey, you, why aren't you working?' It was a cheap sideshow trick and scared away more women than it signed up."

The WMC stopped the act.

Blows End Busiest Week In Mighty Air Offensive

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sunday, June 27.—A large force of American heavy bombers attacked airfields and industrial targets in France by daylight yesterday, winding up the biggest week yet seen in the mighty Allied aerial offensive which has devastated the German war cradle in the Ruhr valley and woven a pattern of destruction along Hitler's coastal wall.

A communique issued jointly by the U. S. Army's European theater headquarters and the British Air ministry said supporting Thunderbolts destroyed three enemy fighters and that some unescorted bombers shot down a "considerable number."

Five bombers and seven fighters were lost in the daylight assaults, which were accompanied by British fighter sweeps over the continent and followed Friday night's RAF attack on the heart of the Ruhr coal and steel belt.

Many Squadrons Involved

Many squadrons of RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters took part in the daylight operations.

The precise objectives of the American heavyweights were not announced in the communique, which described the sky fleet as a "large formation" and said it included some light bombers of the RAF.

One returning flier said however that "we really smacked those factories. I could see the bombs dropped by the formations behind us still exploding all over the target area."

The communique said "adverse weather conditions were encountered by some of the heavy bombers and those which were unable to identify clearly their targets dropped no bombs."

Most of the heavy bombers, including Flying Fortresses, flew unescorted and engaged in numerous combats with enemy fighters.

An earlier air ministry communique had told of the raid on Bernay airfield, 40 miles south of Le Havre.

Parked Aircraft Hit

One bomb fell squarely on a large concentration of parked aircraft. Others burst near twin-engined planes, it was said, and the raiders returned safely despite anti-aircraft fire which fighter pilots described as "considerable."

Other Typhoons scored hits on the station and freight yards near Le Treport in a raid during which not a single enemy fighter was sighted.

Boston bombers, meanwhile attacked the oft-blasted airfield at Abbeville.

Bombers Pound Japs At Rabaul

Two Planes Lost In Allied Foray

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Sunday, June 27.—Liberators and Flying Fortress bombers blasted Rabaul, New Britain, with 20 tons of bombs yesterday on the strength of reports that the Japanese had 170 planes and considerable shipping, included a converted aircraft carrier, concentrated there.

In three successive waves they swept over the base in a high level attack before dawn, roaring through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire so intense that later two of the American-manned bombers were reported missing.

Hit Airdrome And Docks

They unloaded their incendiaries and high explosive bombs on one of three Rabaul airdromes and on the docks.

The bomb tonnage brought to 196 the amount dropped in seven raids on Rabaul dating back to June 10.

On New Guinea, Mitchell medium bombers gave Lae on the Huon Gulf one of the heaviest poundings ever directed at that enemy base.

"Our medium units in a concentrated attack upon the airdrome at midday bombed and strafed revetments, hangars, barracks, buildings and ground defenses," the noon communique said of the raid.

"Dense clouds of smoke over the target area prevented assessment of damage. Intense anti-aircraft fire was encountered. All our planes returned.

At Rabaul, the bombers attacked Vunakanau airdrome and installations in the harbor before dawn. Both incendiaries and high explosives rained down.

The raiders encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire and two of the big bombers were reported missing.

Northwest of Australia, medium bombers made a night raid on the airdromes at Penfoei and Dili on Timor, starting fires.

Invasion Anxiety Centers On Italy

(By The Associated Press)

Axis invasion anxiety, while still centered chiefly on Italy and her island outposts, turned again to the Balkans today following Thursday's raid by American bombers on an airbase near Salonika, Greece, and German radio reports that the British Eighth army is poised in Syria for action.

"There are signs that an Allied attack on the Balkans is imminent," said the German-controlled Vichy radio last night in a broadcast recorded by Reuters.

From within the Balkans themselves came reports of new defense measures. A Swiss telegraphic agency dispatch from Sofia said that Bulgarian police had arrested a number of persons and barricades were erected after "suspicious persons" were seen near the waterworks.

Discovery of a Bulgarian espionage agency and the arrest of five of its members was reported in dispatches from Budapest.

Even London observers entered the Balkan guessing game by pointing out that the most likely reason for air raids on Greece would be to knock out bases from which German planes might operate against an Allied invasion of the island stepping stones to Greece.

German guesses on the invasion,

Anti-Strike Law's Provisions Given

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Salient provisions of the anti-strike bill passed by Congress over President Roosevelt's veto:

Prohibits any strike in a government-held plant, with fines up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to one year for persons instigating or aiding such a work stoppage.

Provides for 30 days notice and a secret ballot by workers before a strike is called in any war plant.

Gives statutory authority and subpoena power to the War Labor board (WLB).

Gives specific authority to the President to sieze war facilities.

Provides for maintenance of existing terms and conditions of employment except as directed by the WLB.

Many Restrictions Due To Go Out In 1944 Farm Program

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Food Administrator Chester C. Davis is expected to announce soon the general outline of an "all-out" food production program for 1944 removing virtually all acreage and marketing restrictions, even perhaps abolishing AAA allotments.

The program will call for a record of about 380,000,000 acres for cultivated food, feed, fiber, and tobacco crops. This compared with 350,000,000 acres used for such crops in 1942. Accurate figures of this year's crop acreage are not yet available, but they may not be far different than last yeag, due to unfavorable weather conditions and labor shortages during the past planting season.

Wheat, which a year ago was looked upon as a surplus crop, will come in for the largest increase in acreage, because supplies have declined rather sharply under the impact of a livestock feeding program which required use of extra heavy amounts of the bread grain.

The 1944 goal for wheat is expected to be between 65,000,000 and 70,000,000 acres compared with about 52,000,000 seeded for this year's crop.

Increases are planned for such other protein and vegetable oil crops as dry beans and peas, soybeans, peanuts, flaxseed, and such direct crops as potatoes, sweet potatoes, and vegetables for both fresh markets and processing, and corn and other livestock feed crops.

Definite acreage goals for these crops will be announced after food

Japs Left In China Believed Too Weak For New Offensive

By J. REILLY O'SULLIVAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

ENSHIH, On the Upper Yangtze Front, China, June 26.—Japanese forces in China proper are not strong enough to begin another offensive unless they draw reinforcements from Burma, the southwest Pacific, or the northern provinces, Gen. Chen Cheng, who turned back the recent Japanese thrust toward Chungking, declared today.

Whether the Japanese will weaken other fronts to renew the assault in China "remains to be seen," he said in an interview.

Up to now, Chen explained, the enemy has been able to pull together enough troops from various fronts within China itself to launch an offensive, but now the number that can be taken from garrison duty in occupied areas is limited.

Chen, 47, and one of China's best generals, was recalled from Yunnan province to halt the Japanese advance up to Yangtze in a threat to the Chinese capital. He is commander-in-chief of Chinese expeditionary forces facing Burma from both Yunnan and India.

Asserting that the Chinese "have fought nearly six years on morale," Chen declared that a "bigger air force and more heavy guns" are needed to push the Japanese out of China completely. He said one per cent of the United States' estimated airplane production of 84,000 planes a year "would be enough," but doubted China would get that number.

He said the Chinese "didn't ful-

STOCKS SHOW GAIN

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP) — The stock market emerged from a good recovery week with prices generally higher today notwithstanding profit cashing casualties suffered by a number of recent climbers.

The Associated Press 60-stock average finished with a new gain of .3 of a point at 51.7 where it was only .5 under its highest level since Nov. 6, 1939, established June 5, last. It was the fifth successive upturn. On the week the barometer was ahead 1.3 points. Transfers of 553,500 shares compared with 302,930 last Saturday.

In today's proceedings new tops for the year or longer were posted for such stocks as Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney, International Harvester and Willys-Overland. Leading in the front ranks were Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, J. I. Case, Standard Oil (NJ), Santa Fe, American Telephone, American Smelting, Goodyear and Oliver Farm.

Minus marks were attached to U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, North America, International Nickel, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft and Caterpillar Tractor.

Tilting forward in the curb were Axton-Fisher "A", American Cyanamid "B," American Gas and Carrier Corp.

Soldiers' Illness Laid To Box From Home

CAMP MAXEY, June 26. (AP) — The Maxey Times, Camp newspaper, reported that a number of soldiers were hospitalized there recently after sharing the contents of "a box of delicious food from home."

Lt. Col. Albert W. Sweet, camp sanitary inspector, advised senders to omit such items as fried chicken, cream puffs and custard-filled cakes."

The best precaution, added the Times, is "to discourage the folks at home from sending food items.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, June 26 (AP) — A firm undertone prevailed in grain pits today as trading sentiment continued to be dominated by rumors the ceiling price on corn would be raised in an effort to get more of the maize moving from the country into terminal markets.

Advances generally were confined to less than a cent, however, and considerable profit-taking was noticeable after yesterday's sharp run-up. There was a little hedging in wheat. Oats, which had the sharpest advance yesterday, tended to lag behind wheat and rye.

At the close wheat was ¼-1 cent higher, July $1.44⅝, September $1.45⅛-¼, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher and rye was ½-⅞ higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Thompson Urges Oil Price Hike

PITTSBURGH, June 26. (AP) — An increase in price rather than the wildcatting subsidy proposed by Price Administrator Prentiss Brown is needed to produce new oil, declared Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission.

Addressing the Pennsylvania grade crude oil association, which ends its 20th annual meeting here today, Thompson joined other oil men in urging the OPA to sanction an increase of 50 to 75 cents a barrel in the price of crude oil.

Profit Is Motive

"I hope the powers that be will come to realize shortly that profit is a motive," he said. "Just turn this price incentive loose a little and all the Texas oil men who sold out their holdings and bought cattle farms will come back a-runnin'."

Thompson asserted it would require discovery each week of one major oil field — capable of producing 20,000,000 barrels a day to "keep us going."

Immediate Steps Needed

Rep. Leon H. Gavin of Oil City, Pa., told the delegates immediate steps must be taken to prevent a shortage in high-grade lubricating oils. He declared:

"It will be a terrible catastrophe and a responsibility I would not care to be charged with if within a few months from now, by reason of the shortsighted policy of the OPA, we find ourselves without sufficient oil to fully man the machines of war."

Governor Andrew Schoeppel of Kansas, chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, described the interstate compact as a "harmonious working agreement" among the men who produce 80 per cent of the oil in the United States. He said it is a democratic institution, neither regulatory nor restrictive.

CACTUS DISTRIBUTED

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—Distribution of the 1943 Cactus, yearbook of the University of Texas, was begun today. The volume is dedicated to 120 "fighting Texas-exes" who have given their lives in the present war, and lists 4,500 university ex-students now in the armed forces.

FLOOR PRICE ANNOUNCED ON BLACKEYES AND BEANS

The Agriculture Adjustment Administration has announced a floor price of $5.75 per hundred pounds on BLACKEYES and $6.50 per hundred on PINTOS, GREAT NORTHERNS and other varieties of beans. This floor price is based on U. S. One grade, F.O.B. car, at country shipping point.

This of course means that the expense necessary for concentrating, recleaning, sacking, and fumigating will have to be deducted from the above prices, but this floor price will insure the grower in getting the maximum prices for his products.

Our recleaning and fumigating plant at 1906 Ave. G, Lubbock, will be in operation during the entire harvest season.

Mass Output Was Climax For Radar

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The first 20 sets of radar — radio "eyes" of the Army and Navy — went into the American fleet less than three years ago. Discovered and developed at the Naval Research laboratory, it has contributed to many an American triumph in this global war. The account of its coming-of-age in mass production is told in this final installment of John M. Hightower's story).

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(Copyright, 1943, by the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Arrangements were made for mass production of radar in August, 1940, when Admiral Harold G. Bowen realized that the nation was faced with limited production facilities and war was threatening on every hand.

Bowen had lunch one day with Charles E. Wilson, the president of the General Electric company, now vice chairman of the War Production board. The two men were good friends and Bowen felt he could be blunt about it.

"Charlie," he said. "One of us is a damn fool. Either I am a damn fool for visualizing such great possibilities for radar or else you are, for failing to get in on it. I've been laughed at for a long time, but I think it is a billion-dollar industry. Now I believe I can prove it to you."

Sent 20 Scientists

Two weeks later Wilson sent 20 scientists from the GE laboratory at Schenectady to inspect the Navy's radar equipment at the Naval Research laboratory and, in the restrained phrase of an official report, they were "most enthusiastic." Another two weeks and Wilson himself came back to Washington for a demonstration.

He was so impressed with what he saw and heard that he directed Dr. Walter R. Baker, head of GE's radio division, to do whatever was necessary to enable GE to catch up with the Naval laboratory's work on radar. He also reorganized the company's radio division, making Baker a vice-president and starting the installation of radar manufacturing facilities.

In October, 1940, Bowen sold Westinghouse Electric company on the Navy's radar program through conversations with A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, and George Bucher, president. After a visit to NRL, Westinghouse reorganized its radio division and got a large Navy contract.

British Mission In U. S.

While this work was going forward, a British technical mission showed up in the United States for an exchange of ideas with American scientists. The British conferred with Navy department and Naval Research laboratory men.

A Navy report says of these conferences:

"Members of the British mission stated that the British development had resulted from articles reporting the preliminary work between 1926 and 1930 of Dr. (Albrt Hoyt) Taylor and Mr. (Leo C.) Young of the Naval Research laboratory, and Dr. (Gregory) Breit and Dr. (Merle A.) Tuye of the Carnegie institute, studying the height of the Kennelly-Heaviside layer (the world's electric roof, 150 miles up.

Study Used As Base

"With this preliminary study as a base, the British had developed their radar system and had arrived at frequencies and circuits very similar to those developed in this country."

British development actually was the work of Sir Robert A. Watson-Watt, 51-year-old Scottish physicist. He began his research some years before the war, using as headquarters a hut and a truck near Daventry, the headquarters of the British Broadcasting corporation. His wife was his first assistant. His work was carried out behind a screen of secrecy as great as that which prevailed in this country and under the impulse of war dangers far greater than the United States then faced.

Watson-Watt's equipment provided his country with the radio wave wall around its coasts when the German air force tried to blitz England out of the war. Other equipment he made went into British night-fighter planes which helped greatly in the end to break the back of the Nazi aerial offensive.

Germans, Japs Have Systems

While it is generally accepted as a fact today that both British and American radio detection equipment were and are superior to those of Germany and Japan, the Germans had sets in use early in the war. It is believed that the accuracy with which the German battleship laid its first devastating salvo on the British cruiser Hood in May, 1941 resulted from the use of radio devices.

Further evidence of the use of such devices on the Bismarck is found in the fact that a British plane which subsequently located the battleship and guided British warships and aircraft in for the destruction of the big new German capital ship was fired at and hit while it was still out of sight above the clouds.

Allied authorities could not be sure, however, just how much the enemy knew about this equipment and how far his researches had gone. They therefore maintained absolute secrecy about their own versions of the new weapon to prevent any chance detail from providing the foe with a needed bit of valuable information.

Bowen Was Coordinator

Once Radar went into commercial production in the United States, Rear Admiral Bowen was designated coordinator of all phases of the Navy's program. That was in October, 1940.

By the beginning of 1941, General Electric, Westinghouse, Bell Telephone and RCA were carving on research and undertaking manufacturing operations simultaneously. Today every manufacturer of any size in the American electronics industry is in the program, Admiral Bowen reports.

Radar had progressed a long way from the original rude detection equipment used by Page and his naval research associates in creating the first modern instrument. Admiral Bowen sums up what was accomplished in these words:

"This is the only time in the history of technology that any art was prosecuted in three dimensions at once—research, development and production. The men at the laboratory did a great job. They made an inestimable contribution to victory."

Lubbock's Bond Work Publicized

Fourteen pages of the June 23 news letter issued by Frank Scofield of Austin, state administrator of war bond and stamp sales, are devoted to Lubbock city and county and to their war bond activities. Copies of the letter were received at the chamber of commerce.

The news letter starts with an explanatory paragraph which reads: "Below is a summary of facts and figures of the city of Lubbock, a typical American city, where the citizens are investing their funds in war savings bonds and stamps to the limit of their ability to help finance the winning of this great war."

The pamphlet contains information about the city and county, lists the members of the county war bond committee, includes the total sales by months since May, 1941, of war bonds in the county, and presents paragraphs explaining how Lubbock county exceeded its quota by 50 per cent in the recent Second War Loan drive.

May Help Others

This information has been passed along in the nationally circulated news letter, it was explained, in the belief that it may contain suggestions that might be used to advantage in similar drives in other counties and communities.

The news letter reveals that a total of $11,195,045 were sold in Lubbock county from May 1, 1941, through last May 31. This record included $810,917.65 worth of bonds in 1941, $3,536,654.72 in 1942, and $6,847,473.25 up until June 1, 1943. Quota comparisons were not listed for 1941.

However, in 1942, the county exceeded its quota by 5.44 per cent. Sales up to June 1 placed the county more than $2,000,000 ahead of its 1943 quota to that time. The quota for the first five months of 1943 totaled $4,843,100.

Col. Holmes Wishes Class 'Good Hunting'

"Now that you have received your official hunting licenses, and wings on your chest—good hunting, good luck and happy landings."

Col. Ralph E. Holmes, commanding officer at Lubbock Army Air field, thus tersely summed up an address Saturday morning when the 14th class to be graduated since LAAF began turning out twin-engine bomber and transport pilots last year was given its wings.

The class was designated 43-F.

Other on the program were: Lt. Randall T. Miller, Protestant chaplain ;Capt. Russell D. Shively; Cadet Russell E. Hodge of Milwaukee, Wis., honor student of the class; Capt. Gordon J. Mott, director of the LAAF ground school; Capt. Alvin L. Smith, commander of the 495th two-engine flying training squadron, and Capt. Robert M. Frazier, operations officer of the 72nd two-engine flying training group.

Manpower For Pacific Plant Sought Here

Additional manpower for Pacific coast war industry, this time by the Aluminum Co. of America, for its big new plant in Vancouver, Wash., will be drained from the South Plains area this week.

Here under auspices of the War Manpower commission's employment service, are C. V. Wilhoit of Vancouver, and H. S. White of Los Angeles, both of whom will interview unskilled laboring men daily through next Saturday at the office of M. W. Waldron, district head of the USES, 1207 Thirteenth St.

Wilhoit said Vancouver is only 15 miles from Portland, Ore., and the plant there is new. It refines the aluminum ore and ships the metal to fabricating plants elsewhere. The aluminum plants at Troutdale, Ore., and Los Angeles are older, and are much better manned, Wilhoit said. He indicated that 150 laborers from the Lubbock area are desired at once, and all might be put to work tomorrow in the Vancouver plant.

Uncle Sam's grocery bill for feeding enlisted men runs to $2,800,000 a day, at the rate of 56 cents a day for each Army man.

Irrigation Needed For Shrubs, Trees

Shrubs and trees set out during the past two years need special care during the coming hot, dry weather says Miss Helen Edwards, assistant county home demonstration agent. They require the extra attention to help them live through the summer. Even the native and hardy introduced plants should have an additional supply of moisture until they can establish a root system. Afterward, most of the native and well adapted plants will get along with normal rainfall.

Where irrigation is not possible, extra moisture may be supplied to the plants by contours and depressions which will hold the rain water in spots where it is needed. The moisture may be conserved by frequent shallow cultivations of surrounding soil, or by applying mulches. Mulches may be made of well decayed vegetable matter such as leaves, grass clippings, straw, or barnyard fertilizer. On tight soils an inch or two of sand sometimes is used for mulch. When worked into the soil next year the mulches will improve its texture and water holding capacity.

Here are other summertime safeguards: Plants which compete with growing shrubs and trees should be removed. Flowers, as well as weeds, absorb a great deal of moisture which might be used by shrubs for increasing growth, fruit or blooms. If it is necessary to water plants it should be done slowly so that the water will soak into the soil several inches. A light watering which moistens only the top crust is injurious to plants.

Lucille Turner Is Sergeant's Bride

In a Tuesday evening ceremony, Miss Lucille Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Turner of Idalou, became the bride of S-Sgt. Robert C. Hedlund of Pampa Army Air field and Minnesota, with Rev. Stephens reading the single ring ceremony on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents south of Idalou.

The bride wore a navy blue marquisette dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Jack Shelton of San Diego, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, and W. F. Pruitt, jr., brother-in-law of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, honoring members of the wedding party, relatives and close friends of the couple. Miss Lucille and Gerry Cocanougher presided at a lace-covered table centered with a two-tiered wedding cake surrounded by sweet peas and fern. The house was decorated with pink and white dahlias, sweet peas and phlox.

The couple is at home in Pampa, where Sgt. Hedlund is stationed.

"Name" Singers Said Agreeing On Request

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP) — James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, says he has asked "name" singers not to make recordings without instrumental accompaniment.

In issuing this announcement yesterday, Petrillo listed Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Connee Boswell, Barry Wood, Dick Haymes and Perro Como as among those agreeing to cooperate with his request.

Changing Fortunes Of Soldiers Form, Break Song-Writing Team

Soldiers' changing fortunes first brought together the song-writing team of Levi and Henriques, and recent transfers at Lubbock Army Air field have now brought about its dissolution.

Pfc. Burt Levi of Chicago, who wrote the lyrics for their popular joint efforts, has been sent to navigators' school, while Pfc. Dudley Henriques of New York City, responsible for the music, is now enrolled in the anti-aircraft artillery OCS at Camp Davis, N. C.

The pair first met as aviation cadets at San Antonio and at once began combining talents. Both were assigned to the twin-engine base here after elimination from pilot training at Vernon last fall, and continued their composing efforts while at work in the special service department at LAAF.

The duo teamed up on nine original compositions for the highly-popular LAAF musical comedy of last December, "Anything Can Happen." Critics who reviewed the presentation adjudged at least four of the tunes to be worthy of national distribution.

Levi, formerly a Chicago free-lance writer, has in recent months been turning out four original radio shows weekly for presentation by the LAAF special service department, headed by Capt. William A. Murphy. He also wrote and directed "Anything Can Happen."

High Schools Urged To Lay Groundwork

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP) — What the Army needs is more soldiers who can repair a tank on the battlefield with bailing wire, Texas school men were informed yesterday by Lt. Col. Jay Dykhouse of the Eighth Service command's pre-induction training division.

He was a speaker before the education for victory conference sponsored by the department of education, teacher traininig institutions and public schools in cooperation with federal agencies.

Col. Dykhouse said the Army wanted high schools to give future soldiers the groundwork, and that it could finish the job. He urged school men not to buy expensive laboratory equipment for the necessary pre-induction classes, but to utilize what they had at hand.

Mary Helen Lindsey Of Memphis Marries Cpl. Norman Heath In Home Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony performed Sunday, June 20, at 6 o'clock, Miss Mary Helen Lindsey of Memphis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lindsey of Memphis, became the bride of Cpl. Norman Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Heath of Lubbock.

The Rev. E. L. Yeats, pastor of the First Methodist church performed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Mary Ruth Johnson sang "Until" and "I Love You .Turly." Miss Gertrude Rasco played the accompaniment and other pre-nuptial music including "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and Wagner's "Bridal Chorus." "Liebestraum" was played during the ceremony.

The background for the service was an improvised altar intwined with huckleberry, Boston fern, and palms with double wrought iron candelabra bearing tall white tapers. In the foreground were large baskets of pink gladioli and blue delphiumuim, the bride's chosen colors. A profusion of spring flowers was arranged throughout the house.

Sister Is Attendant

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Betty Sue Lindsey who wore a pink linen dress trimmed in white all-over embroidery with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

James Nivens of Lubbock served as best man. Gene Lindsey, brother of the bride, lighted the candles and acted as usher.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two piece street length dress of blue aristocrat crepe that buttoned down the back with matching covered buttons. The trimming was of self colored lace. Her accessories were white and she wore a coronet of white fever few.

Carries Prayer Book

She carried a white bound prayer book topped with a shower of glameli with streamers of white satin ribbons. For "something old" and "something borrowed," she wore a clip of pink, blue, and crystal cut stones belonging to Mrs. Claud Johnson.

Mrs. Lindsey wore a white linen dress complimented with a corsage of pink gladioli.

Assist At Reception

After the bride and groom cut the first piece of cake, Mrs Gene Lindsey cut the cake, assisted with Miss Betty Lindsey and Miss Mary Ruth Johnson serving. From the serving table at the other end of the dining room, Mrs. James Nivens served blue punch from a cut-glass bowl. Mrs. Bill Hamm of McPhearson, Kan., presided at the guest book.

The couple left immediately for Lubbock where they will make their home. For travel, the bride chose a white two-piece suit with linen skirt and trim with a white all-over lace blouse and white accessories. Her off the face hat was of white felt with a bow and brief veil across the back. Her corsage was of gladioli.

Mrs. Heath is a graduate of Memphis high school and attended West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon. Cpl. Heath is a graduate of Lubbock high school and Texas Technological college, receiving a B. A. degree. He is stationed with the Army air forces at Lubbock with the South Plains Army Air Field band.

Attending the wedding were close friends and relatives of the couple.

Dallas Citizens Afraid Of Women Motormen

DALLAS, June 26 (U.P.)—A Dallas citizen stood on a street corner and let two streetcars go by before he finally had the courage to board one, Mrs. L. B. Bates said today.

The man told her that he was afraid to board the cars because women were driving them, Mrs. Bates, one of Dallas' first motorwomen, said.

Mrs. Bates said she spent the day without mishap, while A. E. Harris, employment superintendent of the street railway company, said he was "thrilled" with the motorwomen's performances. Three were at work yesterday.

Hello Peoples:

Yup, Alma got home all in one piece, but Fredda's skipped out on us this time. She just hopped up on the spur of the minute and went to New York to see what she could buy up there. Alma's still talking about all those lovely things she bought, and part of them have already started coming in. The Studio should be well equipped with yard things, too, when all she ordered comes in.

On the list of things that came in during the past week are a lot of new crockery pieces in brown and turquoise including large bowls with handles (nice for chili, beans, etc.), pitchers, salt and peppers, and coolers that will do for water, lemonade, or your stronger drinks. Then, too, they already had some beer mugs that go with these coolers perfectly.

Our three seamstresses are really turning out the slip covers and draperies up in the work-room. They have so much booked up, though, that sometimes they're a little longer finishing a job than they would like to be, but, Nosey knows you'll be patient because, from what the girls say, you always are. When we stop to think that there's a war on, and everyone is just as rushed and short of helpers as we are, there aren't many of us that mind waiting then.

Until next week, Good-bye,
Nosey III.

Profitable Potato Crop Seen In Area

By DEWITT LAMB
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

South Plains farmers who planted commercial crops of Irish potatoes have two weeks to go before the harvest "digging" will begin, but most of them are extremely optimistic over their chances of a profitable season.

Lubbock county growers will harvest between 7,000 and 9,000 acres of spuds. The yields are estimated at from 80 to 200 sacks of 100 pounds each per acre, depending on the care given and the amount of fertilizer used.

Both the commercial potato crop and the local gardens have grown extraordinary amounts of spuds, found here now in virtually all varieties and breeds, with the white cobbler predominating. Both for home consumption and the market, the local potato crop is a handsome one in dollars and cents value.

Some of the Lubbock county commercial potato growers include J. B. McCauley, jr., with about 60 acres; Ralph D. Derrup, with 35 to 40 acres; Theil brothers, with 150 acres; Floyd H. Cannon of the Idalou community, with three acres; and quite an acreage on the Huffaker land and another large planting on the W. B. Gregory farm.

Frank Hafner, farming as a renter on the V. B. Oldham land, about six miles west and a little north of Lubbock, is a typical Lubbock county potato grower. His faith in the land and his unusual industry have attracted the interest of several of his neighbors who also are growing potatoes, and all of them are watching Hafner's methods of irrigating, fertilizing, and his other practices. Hafner came to the high plains of Texas three years ago from Idaho, and is supposed to know something of how to grow potatoes in a potato country. He insists this, too, will be a potato country. This year's 40-acre crop is Hafner's second venture in potato farming in Lubbock county.

Ready By July 4

The crop will be mature, and ready to dig by July 4, less than two weeks hence. The most conservative estimate now is that Hafner will get a yield of 200 sacks an acre. That will be 20,000 pounds of spuds to the acre, or 800,000 pounds of potatoes on the 40 acres. At $2.70 a hundred the crop should gross $540 an acre, or $21,600 for the field.

Hafner paid more than $3.50 a hundred for seed. He used 400 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, drilling 200 pounds an acre as he planted his seed and an additional 200 pounds later as a side dressing. He planted and cultivated the corp with a new tractor. With two more waterings, he will have irrigated the 40-acre field 12 times in the 92 days—that is the span of a potato crop from planting to harvest. His principal variety is the cobbler, although he is experimenting with another variety which he liks better because it is a smoother potato and just as prolific, he said, being also a white potato.

Costs $155 An Acre

Hafner figures the cost of producing the crop at $155 an acre, or $6,200 for the field. Some other growers who hired more labor and paid as much as $6 a hundred for planting seed, estimate their costs as high as $173 an acre for this year crop. Virtually all growers figure on 12 waterings, or not less than 10. No one grows potatoes on the South Plains without water, for spuds require a great deal of moisture.

From the $21,600 gross, Hafner will pay one-fifth rent, or another $4,320. This should leave his net profit at $11,080. He said he would be happy if it is $10,000. Everyone believes Hafner will net that much.

The most interesting phase of Hafner's potato crop is the manner in which he financed himself. Last year he farmed on the halves, known in the Southeast as "share cropping." The landlord furnished everything and Hafner and his wife and children furnished the labor. This year, Hafner borrowed $2,350 from the Farm Security administration. He bought a tractor, his seed and fertilizer, and made his crop on borrowed money.

Last year the landlord furnished everything and took half. This year, with his government loan money made last year, Hafner is furnishing everything, and the landlord is taking one-fifth of the spuds.

Operates Irrigation Well

An irrigation well is operated with a V-8 motor. The entire farm is watered from this one well. The lift is 120 feet. Hafner not only has 40 acres of potatoes, he has a cotton field, several acres in onions, and another several acres in tomatoes. Weeds and grass have been his one great worry. Hand labor has been necessary, because of much rain and irrigating.

This Idaho man wants to buy a farm of his own. He probably will. He believes in the land here, and qhite "off the record," he said without boasting, "I am going to keep on fertilizing and building this land up to its maximum, if I stay on this farm, and if someone doesn't watch me I'll be grossing $1,000 an acre." He will do better than half that well this year, others who know say. Hafner believes the native soil, without fertilizer, will produce almost anything, and produce bounteously, but he believes in getting the maximum, he says, and the maximum comes after putting something back into the soil, putting more in than one takes out, he says.

Hafner said if he couldn't make $1,000 an acre with potatoes, he surely can with onions, which also are quite profitable.

Beauticians' School Here Set July 4-5

Twelth annual beautician's show sponsored by Russell Morrison company of Lubbock has been set for Sunday and Monday, July 4 and 5, in Hilton hotel, according to announcement Saturday.

Because of war conditions, the show has been cut from the usual three days to two days, according to the announcement. No equipment will be shown, but a full program of lectures and demonstrations by visiting artisis has been arranged. These will include demonstrations of the new "wella cold wave" by George Scoggins of Abilene.

First event on the program will be the annual "get together" in Hilton hotel Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The closing and featured event of the entire show will be the annual ball Monday night. Preparations will be made for an attendance of approximately 400 beauticians from West Texas and New Mexico, the sponsors announced.

Objectives Of Council Given

The objectives of camp and hospital councils like one formed in Lubbock several days ago were explained to Lubbock audiences Saturday afternoon and Friday night by Miss Helen Drew of St. Louis, representative of this activity for the American Red Cross.

The meeting Saturday afternoon was held in the courthouse and was attended by women from areas of the county outside of Lubbock. A similar meeting in Seaman hall Friday night was attended by representatives of labor, civic, church, women's and other organiation within the city.

Council To Fill Needs

Miss Drew explained that the first of these councils was organized about two years ago in an effort to fill a pressing need which had become apparent by that time. It is the purpose of the councils, she explained, to discover the wants and needs of men in military establihsments like Lubbock and South Plains Army Air fields, and then to try to fill them. These were described as being wants and needs of the type which must be supplied through organizations like the council if they are to be supplied at all.

The council formed here last week was the 145th such group to be organized within the two years, Miss Drew related. The organization, which was formed at a meeting at SPAAF, was named "Llana Estacado Camp and Hospital councils," and will be active in 14 counties of this area in behalf of SPAAF and LAAF.

In the effort to supply the requested needs of men in the bases, officials related, production committees are to be named in each of the 14 counties. Mrs. C. P. Carlock was announced as production chairman for Lubbock county, with Mrs. Morley Jennings and C. D. Doggett are co-chairen.

Mrs. Carlock reported that men at SPAAF already have listed some of their needs which the production committees will attempt to supply. A similar list is to be prepared for LAAF.

Scores of items are included on the first SPAAF list. The requested items range from paint and lawnmowers to radios and pianos. They include overbed tables for hospital wards, books and magazines, games of many kinds, floor ash trays, floor and table lamps, couches and chairs, lawn tables and chairs, magazine racks, writing desks, reading tables, rugs, record players, flower containers, curtains and shades, bugles and many others.

Members of the production committee are to make every effort to supply the requested items, Mrs. Carlock said. She suggested, however, that anyone willing to donate any of the articles mentioned telephone her, Mrs. Jennings or Doggett.

Coal Crisis Popular Topic With Soldiers

The main topic of conversation among American fighting men on at least one front is the coal situation, according to a letter received here Friday by Mrs. W. O. McAteer, 308 Avenue H, from her son, Sgt. Earl T. Ateer, with the U. S. Army at an unnamed foreign post.

According to Sergeant McAteer, who gets "mad" every time he hears about home front labor disturbances, strikes of all forms and descriptions "should be put in the Army and sent off to some place like this" (meaning where he is serving.) "Then," his letter continues, "they'd be glad to work at home. The longer they sit down, the longer we're going to stay over here."

Army Efficiency Is Boosted By Thorough Job Placement

One of these days whistles will shriek, sirens will scream, bands will play and people will laugh and shout again. The war will be over. The Allies will have won.

And when the "news behind the news" of the United Nations victory is written, it may be that the big story will be the methodical thoroughness in which this government placed its personnel in the jobs for which they were best suited.

The method for selecting men for certain jobs is now a minute process in the Army. The method of training those who need further polishing is just as minute.

Parallel Civilian Job

The practice is to place a man in a position parallel to the job he was doing in civilian life. There are many such positions in the Army. In many cases, officers and enlisted men placed in certain jobs require further training. A large number of specialized schools from the Adjutant General's school at Fort Washington, Md., to the schools teaching courses in dehydrated foods at Randolph Field and other such schools over the nation, are set up for this purpose.

South Plains Army Air field is playing its part in this program, both in placing men in jobs in which they have been trained in civilian life and in giving others additional training.

Hitler claims it takes two years to train a soldier. This nation slashes nine months from that time by placing the right man in the job he is best trained for, a job which he knows.

Hold Key Posts

Officers at SPAAF who have attended courses at these schools now hold key posts at the field. Major George Wray of San Antonio, and Capt. John F. Zubrod of Evansville, Ind., have been to the Administrative Inspectors school at Fort Logan, Colo. Major Wray is executive officer at the post, Capt. Zubrod the administrative inspector.

Lt. James C. Eldredge of Whitesboro, N. Y., assistant adjutant, is a graduate of the Adjutant's General's school at Fort Washington.

Among those who have studied at the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field are Capt. Thomas L. Morgan of Hobbs, N. M., of the post hospital, and Lt. Joseph F. Cavaliere of the post hospital.

Included among those who have been to Tech Inspection school at Chanute Field, Ill., is Capt. Joseph Severance, jr., of Louisville, Ky. Lt. Ben H. Settles has studied at the All American Runways Company, Inc., at Wilmington, Del. These men hold posts in which their training comes into use 24 hours a day.

The same is true of Lt. Clarence A. Moyer of Clairton, Pa., engineering officer of a squadron at the post, who studied at Wright Aero corporation at Paterson, N. J. Several officers have been given special training in Chemical Warfare school at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. It was there that Lt. Benjamin Lowengard of Harrisburg, Pa., post chemical warfare officer, received his commission Lt. Raymond Denzer and Lt. Cecil E. Damron, jr., of Miami Beach, Fla., chemical warfare officers, also studied at the school. Lt. Frank D. Corwin of Minneapolis, Minn., also was a student officer at the school.

Lt. Richard C. Elliott, police and prisons officer, studied in the Special Services school in Baltimore, Md.

Several officers are now attending special schools and courses. Major Dudley R. Berwick of Bogalusa, La., post materiel officer, has just completed a course of study at the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Capt. John Svarny, commanding officer of the guard squadron, soon will begin a course at Fort Custer, Mich., in the Provost Marshal General Training Center.

These examples are only a few of the opportunities offered officers to polish themselves for better service. The men named are possibly only a small number of those at SPAAF who have been to some sort of special school or have received training in a specialized course because every officer is highly trained for his particular job.

The same thing is true in the case of the enlisted men. There are special mechanics schools, glider maintenance schools, chemical warfare courses, motor maintenance classes, tech inspecion courses, radio and code schools, and all types of instruction in which men who qualify may learn how to become experts.

That is the system which is bringing victory closer home.

Mystery Man Enters Probe Of Oil Deal

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—A mystery man described as an oil lobbyist who entertained lavishly in the capital, appeared in the House investigation of the now-cancelled Elk Hills oil contract today. Indications are that he will be summoned for questioning before the public lands committee.

The man was referred to by both Assistant Attorney General Norman Littell and Rep. Elliott (D-Calif) at yesterday's hearings which spread to the naval affairs committee.

First mention of the unidentified man came from Littell who said "a lobbyist of the Standard Oil company of California" sat "smiling and smirking" in the committee room as he testified.

Littell said the man had questioned his qualifications to study the Elk Hills contract.

A demand to bring the man before the committee for questioning was voiced by Elliott, a member, who called him a "lobbyist."

Committee members meanwhile disclosed they were reliably informed the person in question had often entertained government officials. They declined to identify him before making more extensive inquiries.

Packing Houses May Be Closed

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—Hundreds of the nation's meat markets, including one-half of the approximate 6,000 in Chicago, world's livestock center, may be forced to close within the next 10 days because of the beef shortage, a spokesman for the retail dealers predicted today.

John A. Kotal, executive secretary of the national association of retail meat dealers, said the beef shortage, threatening requirements to the armed forces, resulted from Office of Price administration regulations.

Price Ceiling Blamed

Kotal said the beef shortage, becoming acute within the last two weeks, was the stopping point for hundreds of retailers whose business, he said, has been restricted by price regulations and curtailment of meat supplies for six months.

Kotal attributed the beef shortage to the OPA price ceiling policy of cutting the margin of profit to the point of freezing out cattle feeders for a subsequent loss of thousands of pounds of meat as lean, stringy beef goes to slaughter houses. This practice, which he said reduced potential beef supplies 20 per cent, plus the requirements for the armed forces, is forcing the closing of butcher shops, Kotal declared.

Buffalo Replaces Beef In Robstown Market

ROBSTOWN, Texas, June 26. (AP)—Don't kill your hoss, pardner—thar's buffalo meat on the table here today.

The 750-pound calf, born in Brackenridge park zoo at San Antonio, was raised on the Ben Peters farm near here.

Tom Patillo, butcher, said "we had already slaughtered our quota of beef for June and we were beginning to worry about taking care of our customers when we struck the bargain with Peters to buy the 18-month-old buffalo."

City Meat Checking Activity Expanded

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Complete reorganization of the city meat inspections department and a doubling of the inspecting personnel, to be put into effect about July 1, was announced Saturday by Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

The announcement followed long study of the problem by members of the city commission, City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., Dr. Rollo, and others, including some of the local meat packers who were described by officials as being "most cooperative."

At the present time, Dr. Rollo explained, the meat inspections personnel consists of two veterinarians, Drs. I. E. Barr and Clyde N. James. Dr. Barr, who was "drafted" into his present job more than a year ago despite unfavorable health, has advised officials that he must resign.

Personnel Named

Under the new setup, the personnel will consist of a chief veterinarian, at a salary of $285 per month; an assistant veterinarian, at $250; and two "lay" inspectors, at $185 each. In addition to the salary, each will receive the city's "cost-of-living bonus" which amounts to approximately $15 per month. Each of the employes is to supply and maintain his own automobile.

Already appointed chief veterinarian is Dr. K. H. Hoyme, a graduate of Texas A. & M. college, a practicioner of long and successful experience and now employed by the Department of Agriculture with headquarters in Lubbock. He is to assume his duties at the end of notice of resignation to his present employer.

Several applications are being considered for the post of assistant veterinarian, but the position has not yet been filled, Dr. Rollo said.

Harrist, Reiger Inspectors

The "lay" inspectors are to be Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff for many years here and a former policeman, and Joe B. Rieger, former deputy sheriff and policeman, who now operates a dairy. Both men have been farmers and stockmen, and thus have gained experiences which should be of peculiar value to them in their new positions, city officials believe.

Under the new plan of operation, as outlined by Dr. J. W. Rollo, the chief duties of the vteerinarians will be the inspections of the meat which is slaughtered and prepared in local packing plants. The law requires, officials explained, that this phase of the inspection must be made by a licensed veterinarian.

To Check Sanitation

The chief duties of the "lay" inspectors will be to look after the sanitary conditions of the plants in which meat is slaughtered and prepared for public consumption.

Several circumstances led to the commission's decision to enlarge the meat inspections department, according to Mayor Carl E. Slaton.

Chief among them, he said, has been the growth of Lubbock and, more particularly, the steadily increasing importance of the meat industry, in all its phases, in this city. He pointed out that, within the past few years, Lubbock has become one of the most important meat industry centers—when size of the city is considered—in the entire nation.

Unusual Problems Created

Another circumstance cited by mayor has been the fact that the emergency and the resulting meat shortages have created unusual problems which demand that plants, meat and meat animals be inspected more closely than normally would be necessary.

"Added protection is needed now, and the city commission is undertaking to provide it," Mayor Slaton commented.

Officials said also that they have not been entirely satisfied with the handling of this particular problem in the past. They have heard a good many criticisms—some of them justified and some not. But most of the conditions to which objections have been raised have resulted directly from problems of the emergency.

Members of the commission concluded, the mayor said, that the only possible solution of various problems is through enlargement of the inspections personnel so as to handle a bigger and constantly growing job and to provide the added protection that are demanded by present emergency conditions.

20 ACRES—$11,500

Edinburg, June 26. (AP)—A price of $11,500 was paid for a 20-acre citrus tract in the Shary subdivision near Mission by John F. Colianni, who purchased the acreage from George H. Bridges.

For doing this 25 times, more than 20 officers and enlisted men of the Army's Fifth Air Force have been awarded the Air Medal for 'meritorious achievement" in participating in aerial missions in the southwest Pacific.

The citations through which Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Allied air forces in this area, announced the awards noted that during the missions "hostile contact was probable and expected."

Throughout thes flights, outstanding ability and devotion to duty were demonstrated," the citation said.

Cpl. Herbert G. Smith, Tahoka, March 1 to March 26, 1943; Pfc. Jessie H. Hubbard, Wills Point, March 1 to March 24, 1943; 2nd Lt. David C. Vaughter, Amherst.

Clearing Vacant Lots Of Weeds Is Started

The job of cutting weeds on vacant lots within the city was started Saturday in obedience to instructions given by the city committee Thursday, according to information given at the city hall.

The first work is being done in the vicinity of Avenue Q "lake." From there, officials said, the cutting machinery will be moved to the northwest part of the city and then, moving from west to east, will take the vacant lots as they come until the whole job is finished.

Officials estimate that six weeks to two months will be required to cover the entire city. They emphasized that lots will not be cleared out of turn. The work is being done with equipment rented at a cost of $1.75 per hour. Officials estimate that the total cost of the job will be around $700.

SPAAF Motor Transportation Corps Copies Battle Conditions In Intensive Training On Keeping Army Truck Convoys Rolling

A snaky convoy of big Army trucks wound over steep hills, through lakes, over ditches and on just level highways of the South Plains this week. The motor transportation corps was keeping in shape to keep 'em rolling.

Keeping that order in mind, members of the motor transportation corps at South Plains Army Air field have just climaxed an intensive course of several weeks by taking the "obstacle course" for big Army trucks.

Under the direction of Lt. Col. Frederick W. Franke, quartermaster officer at SPAAF, the truck drivers herded their convoy over the hills, lakes with mud up to the engines, over rock roads and on highways. The men came tarough the final tests with flying colors, Lt. Col. Franke said.

All Kinds of Conditions

"The course is designed to acquaint the men with all types of driving and handling heavy motor equipment under all conditions, much of it under simulated war front conditions," Lt. Col. Franke explained. "The course includes 115 hours of driving instructions, training films, upkeep and other essentials of keeping a big truck on the road and delivering the goods. A man who finishes the course satisfactorily is a qualified truck driver."

The "obstacle course" included the steep inclines just north of the railroad underpass near Meadowbrook on the Plainview highway, the highway north of the city, lakes in the area and ditches serving as "trenches." In charge of the men was Sgt. Raymond Piatti of Los Angeles. He was assisted by Cpl. Marcel Dorethy of Hamilton, Iowa, and Cpl. David Jeffery of Carpenter, S. D.

Many Driving Hazards

Lt. Col. Franke explained that the job of keeping 'em rolling often meant crashing over trees, trenches and through shell holes and over hat burning sands. Of course, such conditions are not faced over here but the job of the motor transportation corps at SPAAF is to deliver a large amount of the goods used throughout the day by personnel of the post. This means food, clothing and equipment.

Transportation is the backbone of getting the men and weapons of war to their objectives. The running of this system is well planned and timed to the second. When big convoys move through large cities, trucks travelling through the city move at certain intedvals, thus making it impossible to determine the size of the convoy. On the battlefronts, the trucks move far apart to escape bombs. They park under camouflage at night. Everything is a set pattern which is designed to confound the enemy and get the convoy through to its destination.

Travelling kitchens accompany the convoys, serving the food right on the spot.

Trucks before they start on a long convoy trips must be in shape to continue heavy duty for 19 months at least. Drivers must be able to handle their trucks under shell fire and any kind of weather.

In the recent victories in North Africa it was the Allied truck convoys which played a major part in stopping Rommel. Long and torturous drives over hot sands, mountains and plains had to be conquered.

And when the Allies invade the continent it will be the truck convoys which will help deliver the goods.

The height of the human body is about 19 times the length of the middle finger.

Two Trainmen Injured In Head-On Collision

BIG CABIN, Okla., June 26. (AP)—Two enginemen were injured early today in a head-on collision between Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad passenger trains near here.

Both were in the engine of a heavily filled South bound train, St. Louis to Dallas. The other train, bound from San Antonio to Kansas City, also was carrying a capacity load of travelers, many of them service men.

No passengers were injured, railroad men here reported. They were unable immediately to give the cause for the crash which occurred about 1:20 a.m.

Rail officials estimated that it would take several hours to clear the single-track main line for traffic.

Advice Given On Victory Gardens

Green beans, head lettuce, Irish potatoes, and tomatoes all came in for honorable mention among victory gardeners in the Lubbock area this week, and some additional valuable and authentic advice came from Dr. W. W. Yocum, associate professor of plant industry at Texas Technological college.

Dr. Yocum has appeared before luncheon club audiences and in other prominent ways during the year with a helpful program of gardening advice, especially for new and inexperienced vegetable growers. His department has worked whole-heartedly with A. H. Leidigh, dean of agriculture at the college, in encouraging the planting, production, and saving of fruits and vegetables for the war effort throughout the Lubbock area. Dean Leidigh's efforts were initiated through the Kiwanis club's agriculture committee, of which the dean is chairman.

Dr. Yocum said many gardeners recently have been worried because their bean vines have showed brown leaves near the ground. He said this is not due to a disease or a parasite, but very likely is due to the vines being watered during the heat of the day, and probably is caused by "scalding." He advised watering at nights, or late in the afternoons. He added, however, that bean vines should neither be cultivated, nor should the green beans be gathered or the vines molested in any way while wet. This invariably causes rust and reduces yield, he said.

Big Crop Of Beans

String beans are one of the topmost garden vegetables in this area, and there has been a big crop produced almost every place.

Other gardeners are reporting bounteous yields of head lettuce. Lettuce is a most valuable green food, healthful, easily grown, and used in almost every salad and sandwich. It is not top-ranking, like tomatoes, potatoes, and green beans, but it is a favorite. Some among the inexperienced have learned that head lettuce is not confined to California fields. If the right variety is planted and the right spacing of plants in the row is practiced, lettuce will head in Lubbock as well as in California. It is highly perishable in the field, however, and must be cut promptly after heading and before going to seed, and refrigerated if its quality is to remain high, Dr. Yocum said. One commercial gardener in Hale county is supplying the local food store trade with head lettuce in large quantities.

Dr. Yocum said as the result of a recent article in the Avalanche-Journal he has been called upon by numerous gardeners asking how to stake tomatoes. He advises stakes not less than six feet tall after driven into the ground, and if the vines then show inclination to spread at the top after reaching the height of the stakes, to add supports in the way of lateral wires or slats, giving them an opportunity "umbrella" much as a grapevine does when it begins to spread out instead of upward.

South Plains Army Air Field Celebrates First Birthday

One year ago Saturday "tent city" was occupied by soldiers at South Plains Army Air field, and Lubbock's second big Army air base began to live.

Today, SPAAF is nationally known as the only advanced glider pilot training center in the nation, the "Home of the Winged Commandos."

Back during those sometimes torrid, sometimes slushy months of June, July and August of last summer when the sand, wind and rain really got in the boys' hair, the training program at SPAAF consisted of light sailplane and small power plane training. The only gliders available were two and three-place.

Program Stepped Up

Today, big 15-place cargo and troop-carrying gliders soar over the South Plains behind two-engined transport planes. An accelerated training program possibly without parallel in the Air Forces is under way. A class of glider pilots receives wings every two weeks.

The growth of this field has been remarkable and a decided asset to the city of Lubbock, both in a monetary view and a publicity standpoint.

Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer, has directed the activities of the field almost from its beginning. Credit for the progress made is due him and his capable staff and the personnel of the field working as a team.

Sergeant Reminisces

But back to a year ago . . .

"The adjutant's office then was just a bedroom in the small residence which, with a brick hanger, a tin one and a few tents, was all there was to this field a year ago. To make a real air field out of what we had to work with might have seemed almost impossible then, but it seems a short year since then, even though the impossible is supposed to 'take a little longer' than 'doing the difficult' . . . Col. James W. Andrew, then commanding officer at the field, had the other bedroom in the little house and Major W. H. Leach, the executive officer, had one too.

Rained Sometimes

"The kitchen housed the switchboard; it was a complicated affair that was run by everyone on the field although nobody seemed to be able to do it right. Finally, Colonel Olsen, who was then director of training, came in one day and explained to the operator that if it was run right four lines could be used at the same time.

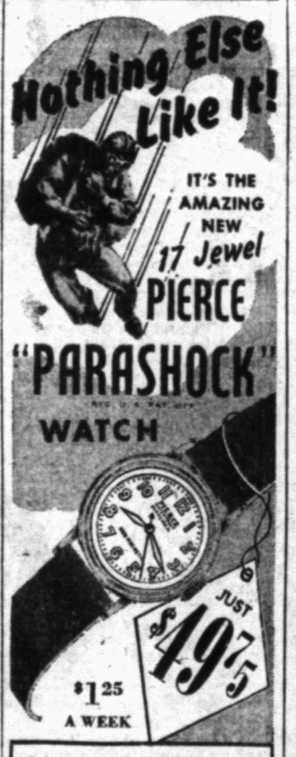

"During that hot June the sand didn't always blow and the sun wasn't always hot. No, sometimes it rained instead. When it did, it was not unusual to wake up in the morning and find the rain trickling down on your face and the clothes you meant to wear soaked through. But you didn't hear many complaints . . ."

That was SPAAF a year ago Saturday.

Today, millions of dollars and hours of labor have converted the old Municipal airport, acres of prairie and a dream into another link of all out war effort.

Mrs. Green City's First Policewoman

* * *

MRS. NANCY E. GREEN

Appointment of Mrs. Nancy E. Green, 37, as curfew enforcement officer of the police department was announced Saturday by Police Chief Don Reeder.

As a fully accredited member of the department with full police powers, Mrs. Green becomes the city's first policewoman.

The appointment was made with city commission approval as being perhaps the best method of getting unaccompanied 'teen age boys and girls off the street and out of the "night spots" within reasonable hours each night.

On Duty Last Week

Actually, the chief disclosed, Mrs. Green has been on duty the past week. This fact was not announced sooner because of the desire to give Mrs. Green an opportunity to observe conditions with which she must cope as a policewoman. She related Saturday that her observations have convinced her that "entirely too many" young boys and girls have been frequenting the downtown streets and night spots in the late hours of the night.

Officials explained that the job to which Mrs. Green is assigned is entirely new so far as Lubbock is concerned.

The curfew problem is one to which members of the city commission and the police department have given a great deal of study, especially during recent months. Citizen's committees have assisted at the request of the commission.

The first plan considered was the passage of an ordinance requiring unaccompanied boys and girls to be off the streets by a fixed hour each night. This plan was abandoned for several reasons. One was the question as to whether a valid ordinance of that kind could be devised. Another was recognition that, with an ordinance, it would be difficult to make allowance for the fact that one juvenile might have a legitimate reason for being on the street after hours, while another might not.

Special Officer Decided Upon

The officials finally reached the conclusion that the best approach to the problem would be the selection of an officer assigned specifically to the duty of looking after boys and girls who are on the streets too late at night. Members of the commission emphasized at the time that only a person of very special qualifications should fill such a post. Several weeks were devoted to the search for a person considered by officials to be suitable before Mrs. Green was agreed upon.

As officials explained, Mrs. Green will have full authority to make arrests—exactly the same authority as any policeman.

But officials emphasized that they don't expect her to make many arrests. Her specific duty requires her to do all she can to keep boys and girls out of trouble—to protect them against themselves.

If young boys and girls are discovered frequenting the downtown streets or nightspots late at night, Mrs. Green is to endeavor to find out why. If the youths, whether boys or girls, do not have a satisfactory explanation, Mrs. Green will endeavor to see that they leave the streets.

May Notify Parents

If the offending boys and girls prove non-cooperative, Mrs. Green will call the matter to the attention of the parents. With the cooperation of the parents, Mrs. Green expressed the belief that any problem which now exists can be solved. Without such cooperation, she admitted, the whole plan is likely to fail.

At least temporarily, she said Saturday, 11 o'clock will be set as the unofficial "curfew hour." Unaccompanied girls under the age of 18 and unaccompanied boys under the age of 17 will be expected to be off the streets by that hour unless they have a good reason for remaining out later.

If such boys and girls are on the streets after 11 o'clock, they need not be surprised if they are questioned by the new officer. This same statement also may apply to young girls who are in the sort of company which tends to arouse suspicion.

Prevention Is Aim

"In this work, I won't be trying to get boys and girls into trouble," Mrs. Green commented Saturday. "I am going to do everything I can to try to keep them out of trouble. I sincerely hope that they, and parents generally, will cooperate with me in this effort."

Mrs. Green was born in Marlin and graduated from high school there. She attended Texas Woman's college in Fort Worth two years and then transferred to Southwestern university, Georgetown, where she received her B. A. degree in sociology. She has done graduate work in the University of Colorado and Texas Technological college.

Immediatey after graduation she became counsellor of Camp Kiwanis camp for girls at Dallas. She taught in Roosevelt Rural High school for seven years and was a case worker with Lubbock City-County Welfare association about two years.

Her husband, Dick Green, now is a pharmacist mate in the Navy, stationed at Beeville. Until his enlistment in the Navy, he was employed as pharmacist in drug stores here.

New Juvenile Law Explained

Legislation affecting methods of controlling juvenile delinquency impose different procedure in the courts beginning July 1.

The new juvenile court law of Texas, Senate bill 44, and House bill 630, which deals with support by parents of children who have been declared dependent and neglected, is termed by the State Department of Public Welfare "a great step forward for Texas, and we are gratified. The more modern juvenile court law affords protection for children and youth, and legally directs that hereafter their problems will be handled on a realistic basis of their individual needs, rather than on the basis of what they have done."

The Senate bill changes the procedure for handling delinquent children from one which is criminal to a civil guardianship proceeding. A new legal philosophy is established by the act wherein the mandate is imposed upon the courts, police, probation officers welfare agencies and the entire public to recognize that delinquency is caused by certain contributing factors and that society is expected to ascertain these causes insofar as possible and from them to meet the needs of the individual child.

May Touch Parents

Responsibility of parents can be enforced in certain circumstances through the order of the court under provisions of the bill.

The House bill already is in effect. It amends article 2337 of the revised civil statutes of Texas, 1925. An emergency, created by a rising juvenile delinquency wave in Texas, was recognized by both houses, resulting in suspension of the rules of procedure.

The Senate bill, far sweeping, seeks to serve the child's welfare and the best interests of the state; provides for a juvenile court in each county of the state in the county or district courts already established! provides for the procedure in cases of delinquent children, manner of hearing, disposition power of the court, selection of custodial agency; prescribes that records of the court shall be confidential; permits physical and mental examinations of children upon order of the court; prescribes places of detention, court sessions, penalties for contempt, methods of appeal, a saving clause, and the like.

Cooperation Authorized

It sets out that "the court is authorized to seek cooperation of all societies or organizations having for their objects the protection or aid of all children who come within the meaning of the act."

County Judge G. V. Pardue took cognizance of that provision of the bill last week when he called upon 25 civic, educational, church and professional men and women to gather and organize themselves into a permanent organization that would seek to curb juvenile delinquency by methods its committees would recommend to the body at a later meeting.

Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, was elected president of the gathering. Mrs. J. W. Day was appointed chairman of a constitution and bylaws committee that will draft recommepdations to the group.

Plains Pioneer Taken By Death

PLAINVIEW, June 26. (Special) —Funeral services for Heinrich Eberhard Sammann, 85, a native of Germany, who died Thursday at his home in the Whitefield community, will be conducted at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Earl Moehring will officiate.

Sammann, who came to the United States in 1892, and Mrs. Sammann had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last April 27.

He had been ill about four months.

Sammann is survived by his wife; four sons, Carl, Lockney, Henry, Comanche, Texas, Fred, Amarillo; five daughters, Mrs. Annie Janner, Comanche, Texas, Mrs. Lydia Todd, Sweetwater, Mrs. Ella Godbold, Las Vegas, Nev.; four step-sons, Otto Newman, Satis, Texas, Edd, McGregor, Texas, Reinhold, Brenham, Texas, Sam, Kress; 46 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Helped Organize Church

He was a member of the Trinity Lutheran church, which he helped found and organize.

Sammann had been a resident of the Whitefield community only six months, moving there from the Providence community in Floyd county, where he had lived since 1911. After his arrival in the United States Sammann settled first in Washington county, Texas.

Burial will be in Plainview cemetery under direction of Roy Wood Funeral home.

Pallbearers will be Ben Quebe, Bill Schmidt, Theo Boedicer, Henry Ratjen, all of Lockney, and Otto Schreiber and Albert Kelm of Plainview. Flower bearers will be Clara Sammann, Laura Sammann, Louise Sammann, all of Plainview, Nadine Boedecker, Kress, Johanna Boartz and Otero Brown, both of Lockney.

Opinion Series Issued By Mann

AUSTIN, June 26 (U.P) — In a series of opinions Friday, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann's department advised inquiring state agencies of the effect of several acts of the recent session of the Texas legislature.

The board of regents of the University of Texas was advised that the act for extension or renewal of oil and gas leases on university land where drilling has been prevented by federal war restrictions is mandatory rather than permissive; that the extension or renewal can be made without public auction and bidding, and that the regents and and state land commissioner have broad discretion in fixing the consideration. The opinion held that their decision would be final unless a clear case of abuse of discretion were shown. The department ruled, also, that the provisions for one-eighth royalty and an acreage minimum rental as required in original sales of leases would not be necessary in extensions or renewals.

Act Not Limited

State Labor Commissioner John D. Reed was advised that the act permitting variation from women's hours of work during the war was not limited exclusively to occupations named in a section of the act but that additional work hours could be permitted where the added hours would not injure health or morals, would not add to hazards of the occupation and were in the public interest.

A form was approved for use under the act by which foreign corporations may designate an agent for service of legal process.

Travis county commissioners were advised they may not contribute county funds to support of Austin community nursery school and Waller county commissioners were advised they can not act for farmers complaining that their lands are flooded by a rice dike but can enjoin flooding of county roads.

When stenographers and deputies in county offices take vacations it is discretionary with the county commissioners whether extra help shall be paid to perform the duties of absentees, Mann advised Bowie county.

Prohibited Gaming Device

The district attorney of Collin county was advised that a combination of marble machine and music box by which a selected tune is played when a high number is recorded on the marble board constitutes a prohibited gaming device.

The Texas unemployment compensation commission was furnished a construction of the "waiting period" provided in the law with a holding that the commission may designate the first week immediately following unemployment as a waiting period before payment of idleness benefits.

Bruce Rites Set At Littlefield Monday

PLAINVIEW, June 26. (Special) —Funeral services for Lee Bruce, 59-year-old Hale county farmer who was killed in a train-truck accident Thursday near Plainview, will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Methodist church at Littlefield.

The body will lie in state at the Roy Wood Funeral home here until 12 o'clock Monday, then will be taken to Littlefield.

Rev. York, pastor of the Littlefield church, will officiate.

Bruce, who had recently moved to a farm north of Plainview from the Spade community in Lamb county, was killed along with his 12-year-old grandson, Bill Tolbert, jr., of Vega, TTex., when the truck in which they were riding was hit by a south-bound Santa Fe passenger train as they neared Bruce's home, about 100 yards away.

Death Takes Mother Of Morley Jennings

Brief Bits Of Local News

Fine of $100 and court costs were assessed Saturday against George Brown, who pleaded guilty of liquor law violation, in county court.

M. N. Davidson, night sergeant of police, received a letter Saturday from his son Sgt. Orville L. Davidson from somewhere in England. The son, who had been stationed several months at Lubbock Army Air field, said the English were "specially hospitable; the country side is beautiful and, if I can get used to drinking tea, I'll enjoy life very much." He is in the Air corps.

A bicycle was reported Saturday to police as having been stolen from Jimmie Bowling of 2705 Ruby street.

C. E. Luce, deputy U. S. marshal, returned Saturday from a 9,000-mile automobile trip to the Pacific Northwest. During the 10 days he was absent from the Lubbock office, Luce delivered two federal prisoners, one to Denver and another to a federal penal institution in the state of Washington. In Idaho, on the return trip, Luce picked up Cpl. Emmett Moore, who now is home for a furlough visit with friends and relatives. Moore is in the Army Air corps, stationed in Idaho, and received his training at Lubbock Army Air field before he was sent west.

Rusty Johnston, formerly of Lubbock, who has been attending Marquette university at Milwaukee, Wis., the last two years and who has been a Marine reservist the last year, is spending a few days in Dallas with his parents prior to reporting to Notre Dame university to continue his training.

Condition of Cpl. James Bowlden Johnston, son of Mrs. J. S. Johnson of 2002 Broadway, is improving slowly and he is able to be up, although still confined to his room, the Red Cross learned from his attending physician. Cpl. Johnson, who served in Guadalcanal, has been in the naval hospital at San Diego with malaria since April 2.

Mrs. Marvin A. Fann, 2103 Thirty-first street, is leaving early this morning for Wichita Falls to join her sister, Mrs. James R. Fanning, and the two are going to Austin where their mother, Mrs. O. H. Cline ,was reported late Saturday to be in critical condition at Seton hospital. Mrs. Cline is a former Lubbock resident.

Lt. and Mrs. Mark Miles are expected to arrive today for a visit with her aunt, Miss Ethel Crawford, 1606 Twenty-second street. Lt. Miles received his wings Saturday at Frederick Army Air field. Mrs. Miles is the former Miss Annabel Wood of Lubbock.

June Lock, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Lock of Lorenzo, appeared to be in satisfactory condition Saturday in Lubbock General hospital after having been bitten on the eyelid by a dog when playing the day before.

Police Saturday had an unusually quiet day. They finded a 28-year-old woman $15 for violation of city health ordinances; held a 57-year-old man for mooching, and arrested two drunks before nightfall.

Walter Davies, business agent of the Lubbock carpenters' union No. 1884, and Cecil Turner, secretary-treasurer of the Lubbock central labor union and barbers' local, left Saturday afternoon for Corpus Christi to attend a convention of the Texas state federation of labor. Turner also will attend the Texas barbers' convention.

Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview, presiding judge of the 64th judicial district, Saturday heard a divorce action in 72nd district court in Lubbock. Special Judge J. E. Vickers of the 72nd had disqualified himself.

Passengers in a [illegible]-bound bus from Levelland were shaken up late Saturday afternoon when the bus and a truck loaded with fence posts contacted at Fifteenth street and Avenue X. The front of the bus was damaged and more than a dozen posts were knocked from the truck. No injuries were reported.

City police Saturday night sought a 11-year-old Wolfforth girl who disappeared Saturday afternoon in Lubbock. Her father reported she had intended to see a picture at a College Avenue theater. She was described as being of slender build and with brown hair and eyes.

G. J. Stearns of Melrose, N. M., told police of the loss Saturday afternoon of his wallet containing two twenty dollar bills and several one dollar bills, T gasoline rationing coupons and several personal papers.

Military funeral services for Marvin Wright, 23, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at Rix Chapel and burial will be in Lubbock cemetery, Rix Funeral home officiating. Wright was killed in an explosion at Alliance, Neb., last week. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Della Hannefield of Lubbock, his paternal grandfother, and his stepfather, Edward Hannefield of Lubbock.

Mrs. Sally Shuman, 80-year-old resident who has lived in Lubbock county about 25 years, was reported in grave condition Saturday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Glen Thrush, of three miles east of the city, following a paralytic stroke Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Griffin, 210 Hub Homes, Saturday received word from their son, Tech. Sgt. William L. Griffin that he had landed safely overseas with an Army Air Forces contingent. A former student of Lubbock High school, Sgt. Griffin was an employe of Western Union here before enlisting in the Air Corps. He trained at Sheppard field, New York City and Jersey City.

B. S. Bibb, route one, Lubbock has received word from his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Davis of Elsinora, Calif., that the Red Cross had informed her that her brother, Lonnis Lloyd Bibb, a civilan employe with a Naval construction unit, is reported safe somewhere in the Pacific. He was last known to have been in Honolulu. He had been in the work since April of 1941.

WHEAT HARVEST ON

CROSBYTON—A canning center has been opened. The Crosbyton fire department has lost five trained men to the armed services. The weather man has been good to farmers for two weeks. Cotton is up to a good stand and growing, although it is weedy. The wheat harvest is in full swing. County commissioners have raised the taxable value of farm lands from $7 to $9 an acre. The two wheat elevators here reported 25 carloads of grain received during the first two days after the harvest began. The first load came from C. C. Smith, northwest of Crosbyton. The grain is said by elevator men to be of fine quality, and mostly tests 63. The yield is running from 20 to 35 bushels an acre, which is much better than first expected. The local storage facilities for the present are expected to be ample. Railroad cars and shipping facilities, however, are something else, and this situation is looked upon with some feeling of apprehension. About 75 per cent of the local wheat crop is expected to go into government loan, understood to be set at $1.22 a bushel.

CANNERY IS OPENED

LOCKNEY — Glenn Mitchell is Lockney High school's first Lone Star farmer. The L. M. Honea home in Lockney was damaged by fire Monday, the roof suffering most of the loss. The government-sponsored cannery opened last Tuesday.

More Opposition To Price Pegging Seen

AUSTIN, June 26 (U.P)—Growing resistance to pegging prices on consumer goods at present levels was predicted today by Dr. F. A. Buechel of the University of Texas Bureau of Business research.

With most plants now operating at capacity, a further increase in war production, as scheduled by the War Production board, must mean a decline in output for civilian uses, Dr. Buechel said.

"The effort, therefore, which is now being made to stabilize prices of consumer goods at present levels may be expected to meet with growing resistance," he said.

May war expenditures were nearly $7,400,000,000, or 18 per cent more than in January and 93 per cent above May, 1942. War materials are being turned out at the rate of 66 per cent of the nation's productive capacity, Dr. Buechel said.

"Some effective means must be found soon of diverting a substantial part of the current buying power to future buying power when more consumer goods again become available and when markets for these goods will be urgently needed," Dr. Buechel said.

Draft Action On Dads In Muddle

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Despite public and Congressional pressure, don't expect the official cards to be laid on the table any time soon as far as drafting the nation's pre-Pearl Harbor fathers is concerned.

That was the comment today of D. C. Speaker, unofficial but well informed capital news source, who noted the demand of the House military committee that the country's dads be relieved of their uncertainty.

"Of course, I'm no official," said D. C., mythical District of Columbia observer who represents authentic but unquotable sources, "and personally, I stand by my prediction last week that, barring a major military upset, the general drafting of fathers will be postponed again and again—and perhaps indefinitely."

Hershey's Hands Tied?

Speaker explained, "most of the demands have been aimed at Selective Service Director Hersey, and, despite his authoritative position, his hands are tied."

He stressed that Hershey is answerable to the Army and Navy, and that their attitude on the subject is one of traditional reticence.

"Much as Hershey might like to relieve the minds of the dads as to their status, he can't speak out of turn. If the quotas are to be lowered, as reported, that's up to the Army and Navy to say, not him.

Hesitate To Announce Plans

"The military leaders hesitate to announce any plans for lowered quotas or indefinite delays in father-drafting for fear a wave of over-optimism might sweep the country," Speaker continued. "They also are afraid pressure blocs might seek to prevent continued drafting of new 18-year-olds, who they consider much better fighters than the fathers —and all of whom probably will be needed for replacements.

"In addition, the truth, of course, is that even the military men can't be sure present plans will work out. A drastic setback on any front—ours or our allies' —might bring a wave of casualties and call for increased draft quotas, and general induction of fathers."

"So," concluded Speaker, "much as they might like to tell the whole story and set the dads' minds at ease—for many reasons—don't look for any flat and definite official assurances now on what's in store for fathers."

BEW's Generals Help On Targets

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Behind the strange immunity of the Board of Economic warfare from the House fund-slashing knife is the semi-secret story of how a handful of desk-bound experts, thousands of miles from any front, help pick targets for tonight and make plans to save countless lives in the late stages of battle.

That was the reply today of D. C. Speaker, mychical District of Columbia observer, to the question of why BEW—which asked and got $13,000,000 more than it had last year—was almost the only war agency to emerge financially unscathed from the recent House ripsawing rampage which whacked off federal funds right and life.

"BEW Boss Milo Perkins played smart," said D. C., the unofficial spokesman who represents unquotable but authentic sources. "Instead of emphasizing the dull statistical sides of his agency, he told the Congressmen a story which had what the boys call 'military sex appeal.'

Doesn't Pick Targets

"Not wanting to irk the Army and Navy men for whom he works", Speaker said, "Milo modestly denied, during private hearings, that the BEW picks the bomb targets—but, under questioning, he showed how his agency was able to put its finger on targets where the fewest bombs would deal the most paralyzing blows to enemy war production.

"Bottleneck bombing they call it. Instead of striking at the obvious points—which often are to vast and easily-repaired for really effective blows—the BEW charts of enemy economic weaknesses show where allied bombers can paralyze scores of big factories by blasting a few small, out-of-the-way plants whose products are essential. The same thing is true of transportation. By one of the most intricate international economic espionage systems ever created, BEW learns, for instance, that locomotives are lacking in a certain section of Europe. A few planes strike swiftly at railroad centers there, and chaos results."

Keeps Charts Of Enemy

Speaker said BEW also keep charts of the overall economic picture of our enemies in order to prevent needless attacks.

"They remember that when Germany's internal economy setup collapsed at the close of the last war, even the best-informed of the Allies were amazed—and realized that the war could have been won near the end by a simple holding maneuver. Should that time come in this war, BEW believes its charts will show it, and expensive attacks can be held in abeyance until the enemy collapses."

The Army now has its version of the Navy's Helldiver which is said to possess unusual speed, range and striking power.

Guerrillas Big Worry To Nazis

STOCKHOLM, June 26 (AP) — Sea-going Greek guerrillas have given the invasion-conscious Axis new cause for worry in the Balkans, it was disclosed today.

Photographs published in Hitler's own newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, and the German magazine Die Woche illustrated how the Axis is combatting guerrillas whom the Germans described as "pirates" operating in small sailing and motor boats against Axis merchant ships in the Aegean.

For more than a year well-organized Greek and Yugoslav patriots, striking from hideouts in the wild Balkan mountains, have been reported steadily draining Axis resources by land, but this was the first indication they had taken to the sea."

Heavily Armed Boats

The Nazis employ heavily armed patrol boats and reconnaissance seaplanes to hunt the sea guerrillas, the German papers disclose.

The photographs purported to show Axis retribution against one "pirates' nest"—a small village bordering the Aegean. One picture showed a seaside village alight with fires set by incendiary and explosive shells.

Native vessels that attempt to elude the Axis patrol boats are shelled, it was asserted.

The situation thus revealed was viewed here as testifying to increasing nervousness of the Axis in seeking to detect and guard against any Allied invasion thrust against the Balkans.

Axis Reinforcing Area

Too, the Axis has been reinforcing troops and fortifications throughout the Balkans.

Berlin reports this week said large contingents of troops had been transferred from Russia to that area.

(In London, an unofficial source said yesterday that the Axis was pulling back some of its Mediterranean island garrisons. At the same time Ankara dispatches quoted Balkan sources as saying the Axis had 75 divisions, or approximately 1,125,000 troops, stationed in Yugoslavia, Greece, Crete and some of the larger Aegean islands.

(Reports reaching Cairo indicated that Italian Fascists are disturbed by increasing Soviet influence in the Balkans, a recent editorial in the newspaper Il Messagero declaring that "the Slavs are preparing to resume their imperialistic push to the west."

The Greek guerrillas were reported to have nearly doubled their forces after the Allied north African victory and were said to be organized on a nation-wide scale.

Mme. Chiang Arrives In Georgia For Visit

ATLANTA, June 26. (AP)—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, petite wife of China's generalissimo, returned to Georgia today for the first time since she was a schoolgirl in Macon 30 years ago.

She was carefully guarded by U. S. Secret Service agents and railroad policemen.

At Wesleyan in Macon this afternoon, the first lady of China also received degrees for her two sisters, Madame H. H. Kung and Madame Sun Yat Sen, who attended Wesleyan with her more than a quarter of a century ago.

CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENTS
FOR ALL

A few months ago a gentleman came to me for an examination. He complained of his back and shoulder hurting so bad he was unable to do any work. He told me of passing a kidney stone the day previous. . . We traced the cause of the stone to sinus trouble, poisons settling in the shoulder contracting the muscles, pulling a vertebrae and pinching a nerve to the liver therefore the liver could not purify the blood.
Just a few adjustment for the sinus trouble, and his symptoms all subsided. . . . For further information on this or other cases please call at this office. . . .

Allied Air Attacks Reach New Peaks

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

The Allied aerial offensive against the Axis reached new peaks of destruction this week in night and day attacks that smashed at enemy defenses and war production centers in preparation for invasion of the continent.

Germany's industrial Ruhr reeled under the blows. Sicily and Sardinia were plastered with bombs and the attacks extended eastward in the Mediterranean to the air center at Salonika, Greece. There was still no sign of where or when the invasion blow would fall and the Axis tried frantically to muster its defense forces to meet a threat that might develop anywhere from northwestern Europe to the Balkans.

Russia, renewing its plea for an immediate second front, kept the greater part of the German army and much of its air force tied down in the east. A major German summer offensive against Russia appeared increasingly doubtful.

Japs' Plane Losses Heavy

In the Pacific the Japanese suffered further heavy air losses in engagements which held out the prospect of early Allied air mastery in the island area north and north east of Australia.

Developments of the week included:

On Sunday, the British announced heavy damage had been done in a night raid on the important Schneider armament works at Le Creusot, in central France. Other planes bombed the Ruhr and Rhineland targets in northwestern France. Southernmost Italy and Sicily took heavy blows in the week-end operations. The Russians reported inflicting considerable damage in air attacks on the central front south of Moscow. Allied fliers destroyed or damaged 22 of 48 Japanese planes that tried to attack Port Darwin, Australia.

On Monday, it was disclosed that British bombers during the night had made an effective attack on the German radio location plant at Friedrichshafen. Other raids were made on northwestern Germany and on Sicily and southern Italy. Moscow, observing the second anniversary of the German invasion, called on the Allies to open a second front while Germany was ripe for defeat. In the Pacific, Allied fliers raided the Japanese in the Gilbert islands and shot down 23 of 36 Japanese planes in an engagement over New Guinea.

'Forts' Strike In Ruhr

On Tuesday, American Flying Fortresses made a mass attack on German installations at Huls, in the Ruhr, in the wake of a combined night assault on Krefeld. Both raids spread wide destruction but the Americans lost 20 bombers and the British 44. Naples and other points in southern Italy were widely bombed by day and night, while Sicily came in for its customery pounding. An outbreak of land fighting was reported in the Mubo area of New Guinea, the first in months.

On Wednesday, the British announced another devastating night raid on the Ruhr, this time on the steel center of Muelheim. Thirty-five bombers were lost. The African command reported extensive destruction in raids on Italian and Sicilian rail and port centers in the past 48 hours. The British indicated that Rome may not be immune from bombing unless it is declared an open city. In the Pacific, Allied planes made a 2,000-mile flight from Australia to bomb Macassar, on Selebes in the Dutch Indies.

Shuttle Raids Inaugurated

Thursday, a large flight of British bombers returned to its base in England, revealing that the raid on Friedrichshafen earlier in the week had been part of the first "shuttle bombing" experiment between England and Africa. On the return flight, the planes plastered the Italian naval base at Spezia. Allied planes made extensive daylight raids on the French, Belgian and Netherlands coasts. London announced that British submarines had added 13 more Axis vessels to their toll in the Mediterranean.

On Friday and Saturday, British bombers made a devastating attack on the Cochum-Gelsenkirchen district of the Ruhr, the seventh straight night raid on that stricken district. It was estimated that the British and American Air forces had sent at least 4,000 bombers on 14 main raids against Axis objectives during the week, with the loss of 184 planes. It was disclosed that American bombers had made a long flight from Africa to blast the air base near Selonika in Greece. African headquarters announced that more than 100 American Flying Fortresses had smashed the ferry and rail center at Messina, Sicily. The Russians reported an outbursts of heavy fighting on the Donets river front, where German attacks were repulsed.

SAL Drum And Bugle Corps To Be Enlarged

Announcement that the drum and bugle corps of the Sons of the American Legion is to be enlarged to 40 members was made Saturday by Walter F. Smith, squadron leader.

He invited those interested in becoming members to attend a meeting in headquarters building of Texas State guard at the fairgrounds Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Smith also reported that musicians are needed for a band now being organized under the direction of Z. D. Davis, an experienced instructor and conductor.

"Head Cop" In North Africa Has Big Job

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 25. (Delayed) (AP) — Uncle Sam's "head cop" in North Africa is a square-jawed former West Point law professor who believes the military police today are a better breed than the men who kept the troops in line in 1917-18 and will come out of this war with a banner reputation.

"They are picked more for brains than for brawn and they know you can do more with a man by reasoning with him than by clubbing him," said Brig. Gen. Joseph V. Dillon who as provost marshal general for the North African theater has one of the largest beats to patrol of any policeman in history.

In addition to superintending the military police in the American armed forces, General Dillon has two other important jobs—he is responsible for the care, guarding and evacuation of 260,000 German and Italian prisoners, and as chief of criminal investigation he is the main watch dog of all government property.

Youths To Visit Army Air Fields

Plans are being made to give every 17 and 18-year-old youth in this area not yet in service an opportunity to visit Lubbock's two Army air fields Sunday, July 4, as Uncle Sam throws open the doors for a day to these young men.

The details are yet to be worked out but tentative plans call for all 17 and 18-year-old youths of Lubbock and the South Plains to meet at a central point in downtown Lubbock Sunday morning. The group then will be transported to Lubbock Army Air field and South Plains Army Air field in Army trucks.

Visit SPAF In Evening

Present plans call for the group to visit LAAF earlier in the day and SPAAF about 7 o'clock that evening. Major David L. Hopkins, air inspector, will be in charge of the program at SPAAF.

At the two fields the young men will be given an opportunity to visit on the flying line, watching routine training activities in big two-engined planes at LAAF and the big gliders and tow planes at SPAAF. The program is being arranged in cooperation with the West Texas Recruiting and Induction center.

July 4 fireworks displays are out this summer, but personnel at SPAAF will have an opportunity along with the visiting young men of watching the big demonstration of wartime incendiaries that may rival any Independence Day show yet seen on the South Plains.

To Start At 9 O'clock

Presented as an educational as well as entertainment feature, the demonstration is planned for 9 o'clock at Kanne Field at SPAAF. The band under the direction of Warrant Officer Harry Dunham will play for the event.

The display will be opened with a big barrage of whistling artillery shells and tracers. Next on the night's menu will be the demonstration of the British "calling cards," the small pieces of cardboard or paper which the RAF dropped on the grain fields of Germany to burn up the crops of the Nazis. The "incendiary pencil," used by the Germans in the first World War and known as the "blue cross" will be demonstrated, as well as the effect of water and gas on thermite grenades. Also to be shown is a colorful display of a series of white phosphorus bursts, one of the best screening smokes the Army has, and incendiary bombs. A "house" will be set on fire with the bombs and the best methods of combatting the bombs is to be demonstrated.

Returning from the famous raid of April 18, 1942, the former staff sergeant in Major William Greening's crew under General Jimmy Doolittle, Birch decided to switch his bombardier wings for those of a pilot last summer. He had pre-flight at Kelly Field, primary at Stamford and basic at Sherman, Texas, before he came to Lubbock two months ago. His father, a Laguna Beach, Cal., butcher and veteran of the Spanish American war in the Philippines, was on hand to see Lt. Birch graduated

"Book Larnin'" Has Big Role In Flying Training At LAAF

In fact about half of their time is spent in the classrooms of the ground school, headed by Capt. Gordon J. Mott, former Woodward, Okla., school teacher. Captain Mott is assisted by a staff of twelve officers, four enlisted men and three civilian personnel.

The men find that the ground scheol is just like their high schools and colleges — only the curriculum is changed and they now are taught armament, bombardment, navigation, code, pilot's information, naval and aircraft identification, instrument procedure and in addition they have transition, medical, theoretical maintenance and other lectures. The ground school operates both day and night classes.

Latest Techniques Used

All of the latest techniques are taken advantage of in covering the courses as quickly and thoroughly as is possible. All kinds Two practices of high school and sound and silent films, airplane, ship and other models and actual demonstrations are used.

Two praices of high school and college days are "not being done" at LAAF — cutting classes and flunking courses.

Officer personnel in addition to Captain Mott are Lt. George D. Stout, St. Louis, Mo., an instructor for 17 years in Washington University and in "Who's Who In American Education"; Lt. Richard L. Brenner of Cleveland Heights, O., a former life insurance man; Lt. Fred J. Barton, former ACC speech instructor at Abilene; Lt. Roland F. Orr, coach and math instructor at Highland Park in Dallas; Lt. Rufus T. Logan, professor and head of the department of economics at Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter, Minn., and Lt. Fred Brown, former clinical psychologist at Minneapolis, Minn.

Former School Men

Lt. Hiram E. Patton, former superintendent of the Addicks, Harris county, school; Lt. William B. Gardner, English instructor at the University of Texas; Lt. Roy B. Carnes, Whitharral, Texas, school superintendent and Lt. William H. Blaine, Jr., former Raton, N.M., auditor. Warrant Officer Leonard G. McDonald, Colorado City high school teacher and coach, and Warrant Officer Baron H. Smith, also a Colorado City high school instructor, complete the faculty. Both were recently promoted from staff sergeants.

Enlisted personnel include Cpl. Glenn W. Blair of Hay Springs, Neb., who is a supply sergeant; Pvt. Elmer L. Farnsworth of Anson, assistant supply sergeant; Cpl. Willie R. Headstream of Roby, chief projectionist and Pvt. Olis C. Arnett of Coyle, Okla., assistant projectionist.

Miss Mary M. Pickett, El Paso high school teacher is secretary to Captain Mott; Miss Jeffie M. Powell of Seymour, former Clyde teacher, and Miss Wilma M. Robbins of Lubbock, a former teacher at Beeville, comprise the civilian personnel.

A well equipped library is maintained in the ground school. Among the numerous properties are models of all the planes of the various countries of the world, as well as model naval craft and tanks. These enable the cadets and students to properly identify the various ships and planes that they will be coming in contact with in the future in their roles as fighting fliers.

Refugees Joining Up With Fighting French

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Fighting French delegation here says that 885 out of 957 soldiers, sailors and merchant seamen who escaped from th Vichy-controlled islands of Guadeloupe and Martinique have elected to join the Fighting French.

They made this announcement yesterday as, together with Fighting French officials in Washington, they told how the refugees individually or in small groups escaped from the islands controlled by Admiral Georges Robert—with whom the United States has broken relations because of his pro-Vichy policies—and made their way to various Caribbean islands belonging to the United Nations.

Valley Acts To Keep Workers

EDINBURG, June 26. (AP) — In an effort to keep the none too plentiful farm labor supply at home, the Hidalgo county farm transportation committee has warned that truck drivers caught taking farm workers out of the Rio Grande valley on gasoline secured for local use will lose their certificates of war necessity.

I. S. Knops of McAllen, chairman of the committee, said many truckers apparently are moving to San Antonio and other upstate cities on rations secured for use in the valley, then securing additional rations there to travel to northern fields. Once in the latter areas, he said, they evidently are obtaining enough gasoline to work in the vicinities, and then get back to the valley by appealing for additional fuel.

Truckers Warned

Flatly warning that certificates will be cancelled if improper use is made of their rations, Knops asserted that truckers without certificates can secure no more fuel and will be able to do nothing but "sell their trucks to people who will stick to the regulations."

In a letter to local leaders interest in farm labor supplies, Rep. Milton West of Brownsville this week wrote that the State department, Department of Agriculture and Immigration service at Washington are making new efforts to obtain Mexican cooperation in easing Mexico's present rules restricting emigration of farm workers in that republic to the U. S. West also cited a statement by Chester C. Davis, food administrator, saying recent efforts of Ambassador George Messersmith at Mexico City to obtain easier regulations had been unavailing.

Aged Woman Fails To Attain Goal She Set

SAN ANTONIO, June 26. (AP) — Mrs. Martha Moore, who died here yesterday at the age of 108, failed to achieve the goal she had set by 30 years. She had wanted to live to be as old as her grandmother, who died at the age of 138. Mrs. Moore, a native of Quincy, Ill., came to San Antonio from Rock Springs five years ago.

Burlington Asks For Helicopter Service

CHICAGO, June 26. (AP)—Application for authority to operate 6,380 route-miles of helicopter or similar aircraft service, was filed today in Washington by the Burlington Transportation service, I. B. James, president, announced.

Burlington, James said, contemplates serving 13 western states with planes coordinated with its trucks and bus operations. The company is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.

Corn Order Said Stop-Gap Action

WASHINGTON, June 26. (U.P.)— The order requisitioning privately-owned corn in 96 midwestern elevators is only a stop-gap action and War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis already has asked White House officials to decide the next government step to end the corn shortage.

Actually there is lots of corn, but because of dissatisfaction with prices, it is being held on farms for feed purposes.

Davis, it was learned, asked Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson to make the difficult decision on the next move to force corn off mid-western farms and onto the market. Vinson is expected to make a decision within a few days.

Unable To Agree

Grain and livestock men meeting here this week with food officials were unable to agree upon a program for breaking corn loose from farm storage. The supply of corn on farms is larger than normal, but so are the numbers of livestock.

The failure of corn to move from farms was attributed by food officials to the high price of hogs in relation to corn. With corn selling at parity, hogs are bringing 127 per cent of parity.

Farmers are holding corn to feed the largest hog crop on record. The Agriculture department reported prospects for a total pig crop this year of 127,000,000 compared with 105,000,000 last year, and a 1932-41 average of 73,146,000 head.

FBI Has Arrested 779 For Draft Evasion

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)— Arrest of 779 men on charges of violating the Selective Service law was announced today by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in the second report in six weeks on nationwide enforcement of the act.

The largest number of arrests, most of which occurred yesterday, was 161 in New York City, Hoover said.

He listed these figures for Texas: Houston 9; El Paso, 7.

CHIROPRACTOR IS HERO OF HONG KONG
HAD MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK AS PATIENT

The No. 1 American Hero at the historic fall of Hong Kong was the prosperous and socially prominent Chiropractor, Dr. Frank J. Molthen.

An account of Dr. Molthen's bravery under trying conditions was revealed by F. W. Kendall, an American engineer, and the only citizen of the United States known to have escaped from the Crown Colony since its capture by the Japanese.

Dr. Molthen won considerable renown in this country and much prestige in China from the fact that he numbered among his patients Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the great Chinese Generalissimo. Madame Chiang had long been a patient of the versatile Doctor who went from Los Angeles to the Orient to establish a practice.

Through Madame Chiang's influence, the Generalissimo himself became a firm convert to Chiropractic, and a frequent patient. Shortly before the siege of Hong Kong, Dr. Molthen had written to his wife, who was in Los Angeles with their six children, telling her that the Generalissimo and Mme. Chiang had invited him to Chungking to treat them. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Molthen (who is also a practicing Chiropractor) assumed that her husband was in the Chinese capitol at the time of the Japanese attack on Hong Kong, and only learned of his presence in the Crown Colony from Mr. Kendall's account, which was widely printed in American newspapers and magazines.

Dr. Molthen's patients included the two other "famous Soongs"—sisters of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, as well as many other persons prominent in the political, social and business life of modern China. He enjoyed a splendid practice and was reported, incidentally, to have had a large sum of money on deposit in Hong Kong banks, which it is feared has been lost to the enemy.

MADAME CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Mr. Kendall, the escaping engineer, who eventually made his way to Chungking, related to audiences there how the strapping 6 ft. 2 in. Chiropractor loaded a motorcycle sidecar with guncotton and roared off to the waterfront, at the height of the excitement and panic, where, singlehanded and with rare presence of mind, he blew up two large ships to blockade a strategic inlet in the harbor. "There is no question," says Mr. Kendall, "but that this action delayed the Japanese attack, and thus indirectly, cost many enemy lives."

Dr. Molthen's next step, according to published accounts, was to scuttle some thiry or forty other small craft, which might have been utilized by the invaders. When last seen by Kendall, Dr. Molthen was busily engaged in untangling traffic at a busy street intersection in the Crown Colony. "Hong Kong centainly needed men like Molthen!" was the Kendall comment.

The Chiropractic profession is proud of its practitioners who are so ably playing their roles in our national emergency. Few, perhaps, can match the spectacular opportunities which came to Dr. Molthen, but each, in his particular sphere, is willing and eager to serve. For that is the universal American spirit.

Cubs Shave Card Lead 5-2; Yanks Humbled By Red Sox

Redbirds' League Lead Is Reduced To A Half Game

CHICAGO, June 26. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, self-designated stumbling blocks in the St. Louis Cardinals' plans for a repeat title, humbled the World champions for the third straight time within a week and reduced the Redbird's league lead to a half-game a sthey converted Paul Derringer's six-hit pitching into a 5 to 2 victory today.

A three-run sixth inning into which they clustered three of their eight hits off Howie Pollet and in which Lou Novikoff poled the key double to break his four-game slump gave the Cubs their seventh victory over the Redbirds in 12 meetings this year.

Derringer, turning in his third straight winning start in ten days for his season's fifth victory, finished with a flourish, retiring the last 13 batters in succession after Stan Musial was nipped by Catcher Clyde McCullough trying to steal third base for the second out in the fifth inning.

CAUSE OF DISPUTE—"Prince" Henry K. Oana (above), former Fort Worth Panther pitcher is the center of a controversy between Manager Roger Hornsby of Fort Worth and the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association. Oana was sold to Milwaukee for $4,500 by Fort Worth but Milwaukee released him after his draft classification was changed to 1-A and refused to pay the purchase price. Detroit picked up Oana on a waiver. Hornsby is appealing his case to the National Association of Minor Leagues. Oana was born, reared and introduced to baseball on the Hawaiian islands.

Hughson Conquers American Champs For Third Time

BOSTON, June 26 (AP) — Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the New York Yankees No. 1 jinx, beat the American league champions for his third straight time this year and his eighth in-a-row over two seasons today as the Boston Red Sox took a 4-to-1 decision.

In hanging up his ninth victory of 1943 as compared with three setbacks, the Sox' ace right-hander tossed a seven-hitter and fanned six to bring his total strikeouts for the season to 62. When he whiffed Joe Gordon in the ninth inning, it marked the 44th time that the Yankee second baseman had struck out in 56 games.

Nick Etten drove in the Yanks only run with a single, on top of a pass to Charley Keller and a single by Johnny Lindell, in the first inning. That gave the champs a lead they held until the fifth when Bill Conroy walked, moved up on a sacrifice, and came home on Pete Fox's double.

The Sox went ahead in the sixth when Bobby Doerr tripled and Babe Barna walked and stole second. A walk by Atley Donald allowed Doerr to score and Eddie Lake's double accounted for Barna. Successive singles by Fox, Lupien and Tabor in the eighth gave the Sox their final run.

Distance Of Ryder Cup Tilts Reduced

DETROIT, June 26. (AP) — A major change in the conduct of the Ryder cup challenge golf matches scheduled here Aug. 7 and 8 was announced today in establishing the distance of best ball matches at 18 holes instead of the customary 36.

Frank Sprogell of Grand Rapids, National PGA secretary, said the shorter distance would permit the best ball play to be confined to the afternoon of the first day for the convenience of war workers.

Boudreau Picks Star Players

CLEVELAND, June 26. (AP) — Lou Boudreau disclosed today he had nominated five (or perhaps six) of his Cleveland Indians for the American league team in the all-star game at Philadelphia July 13.

He listed his Cleveland choices as Pitcher Jim Bagby, Outfielders Roy Cullenbine and Oris Hockett, Third Baseman Ken Keltner and Catcher Buddy Rosar. Asked if he had selected himself as a nominee for the shortstop spot, the Tribe manager replied:

Stephens Gets Orders

"No—except in a footnote. I picked Stephens as the shortstop, and beside his name I placed an asterisk. At the bottom of the page, I noted that if Stephens were out with injuries, or if he were drafted before the game, then Boudreau would be my candidate."

Boudreau is likely to be the man, for Stephens today received orders to report for induction next Tuesday, providing he passes his physical examination.

The Cleveland manager's other pitching selections were Hal Newhouser and Virgil Trucks of Detroit, Tex Hughson of Boston, Alex Carrasquel of Washington, Spurgeon Chandler of New York and Jesse Flores of the Athletics.

"I sent in my list," he explained, "before Milo Candini started beating everybody in sight. He'll be on the team sure."

Each American league manager submits a slate of nominees.

SPAAF Softball Team Defeats Federals 4-3

South Plains Army Air field's sub-depot team won its eighth consecutive victory Friday night in beating the Federals 4 to 3 in a B. and P. softball tilt.

The depot team scored its winning run in the seventh after the participants had been deadlocked for several innings. Batteries for SPAAF were O. L. Beach and Ray Higgins. "Red" Yeager poled a homer for SPAAF in the second frame.

Collegiate Golf Play Is To Open On Monday

CHICAGO, June 26. (AP) — The names of 75 college golfers from 21 schools and universities were chalked upon the Olympia Fields Country club's big scoreboard today as many of the players toured the course tuning up for the National Collegiate Athletic association meet which opens Monday.

Because of various war-time difficulties, the tournament will be held only three days instead of the customary six, but the field is considered nearly as good as those of other years. The individual champion will be determined on a match play basis, starting Monday afternoon after 18 holes of qualifying Monday morning.

The team championship will be settled Monday afternoon over 36 holes. Players qualifying for the match competition who still want to represent their schools in the team action will play their first round matches under medal play rules and will continue through 36 holes eventhough their match might end on the 15th or 16th hole.

The University of Michigan, Big Ten team champion, will have nine players on the course, including the conference's co-champion, Ben Smith, who tied with Minnesota's Jim Teale for the title a month ago. Teale will be part of a seven-man squad from Minnesota.

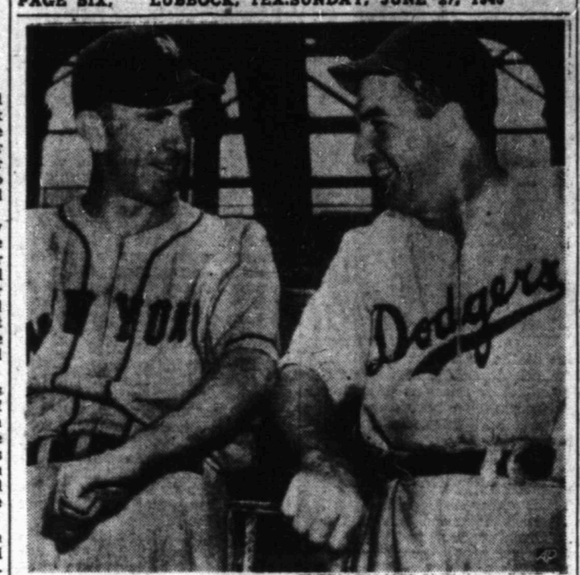

All parts of the country will be represented in the starting field.

Louisiana State will send Dale Morey, James Wittenberg, Sonny Ellis and Marvin Wolff. The University of Texas will be represented by William Roden, Claude Wild, Tyrrell Carth and James Moore. Ernie Jacobs of Washington is the only far West entry.

Jack Gray Is Leaving For Naval Sea Duty

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 26 (AP) Jack Gray, who coached the Corpus Christi Naval air station basketball team to 23 straight triumps and the unofficial championship of the Southwest last winter, is leaving for sea duty.

Gray, former University of Texas mentor, entered the service last year as a lieutenant.

War Has Humanized Tommy Farr; He's Proving Regular Fellow Entertaining Yanks

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 26—The incredulous inhabitants of Punch Promenade give credit to the war for the reported transformation of Heavyweight Tommy Farr from "heel" to "swell fellow."

Farr returned from New York to his native British isles in 1939 after losing five consecutive bouts in the United States. His departure was punctuated with Bronx cheers along Jacobs Beach, because the Welsh scrapper had become thoroughly disliked by nearly everyone connected closely with boxing in America.

Regarded As Braggart

In the argot of Cauliflower Canyon, Farr seemed to be a "heel" —a "wrongo." Despite the ruggedness and gameness he displayed against Louis, Braddock, Max Baer, Nova and Burman, he was regarded as an egotistical braggart and an undependable tightwad.

Hence the surprise in Gladiators' Gulch during the past few days at the tributes paid to Farr by Freddy Corcoran, who returned recently from war work in the British Isles.

"Who is this guy Corcoron?"—the guys around Stillman's gym wanted to know.

Never Gave a Bum Steer

They were told that Corcoran was the former tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' association and more recently Red Cross club director in the British Isles. They were informed that Freddy Corcoran never gave a sports writer a bum steer.

So the men of the "fancy" had to credit the transformation to the war.

Corcoran reported that Farr was "giving his all" for the entertainment of American and British troops. Farr, who was in the Royal Air Force already in the war but who was ousted because of impaired sight, now operates a hotel and pub at Brigkton, Eng. His "jernt" makes money while Tommy is on the scene, personally. But Farr leaves his money spot again and again to entertain the boys.

War Humanizes Farr

For example, he made a lengthy tour with Freddy, visiting more than 20 camps. "I merely asked him to come, and he came," said Freddy. "He asked no questions. He's a great fellow. No one has done more for our troops over there than Farr. The boys love him."

It seems that the war has humanized—has mellowed the self-centered bully-boy from Tonypandy, Wales. Far different was the scarified, cauliflowered, sandy-haired toughie whom we met on the boat when he first came to the United States in 1937 to fight Joe Louis. Far different was the antagonizing screwball of that training camp at Long Branch, N. Y.—a camp called "Goofycrest-By-The-Sea" because it was a modified madhouse in which the Tonypandy terror was fighting with his manager and with the correspondents, and in which the correspondents were battling constantly among themselves.

Farr, who had changed managers and rubbed everyone the wrong way during the rest of his American campaign as he tried irritatingly to mix penny-pinching and playing the night spots, now is a different guy.

Punch prado gives much credit to the war.

Roundup Of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP) — There's been a lot of moaning along Jacobs Beach the last couple of weeks because there wasn't an important fight on the program and very few good fighters on hand. Then somebody got out the record books and showed that last year the 20th Century club didn't stage a brawl from May 28 until July 23 and what followed was the most successful season—financially—since Mike Jacobs moved into the Garden in 1937 . . . Vernon Trucks, age 49, whose son Virgil Pitches for the Tigers, still can do a pretty fair country job of flinging in the Industrial Service league in Alabama. . . . Eight "small" Ohio colleges that will have Navy V-12 delegations this year are talking about forming a sports league. . . . Fritzie Zivic has joined the American Guild of Variety Actors—and he insists it's because of his night club M. C. activities and has nothing to do with his coming return bout with Jake LaMotta.

LIGHT EXERCISE

Ol' Dazzy Vance, whose pitching kept the Dodgers from earning the nickname of "Bums" several years sooner than they did, reports that he's head porter, porter, clerk, waiter, blackberry picker, Chambermaid, gardener and assistant chef around his hotel at Homosassa Springs, Fla., and is so busy he can't do a thing about those bass that are just begging to becaught. . . . And Clarence Clark, who retired from pro golf to a war job in his home town of Hutchinson, Kas., puts in his spare time looking after a large garden and redesigning the local golf course after 8-10 hours a day in the plant. . . . "You can understand," Clark wites Eastern pals, "why I dropped 50 pounds."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Carl L. Hogden Dorn, North English (Iowa) Record; "After only a few days in this country, Gunder Haegg, the scrampering Swede, has added rice to his menu as one of his favorite dishes."

SPORTS MENTION

Ossie bluege claims he didn't call umpire George Pipgras any names when he was tossed out of a ball game recently. What he said was: "You know what Stanley Harris called you last summer? Well, that goes for me, too."

LOCAL COLOR

After watching a style show staged by Clark Shaughnessy, a committee decided that Pitt's football team next fall will be decked out in red and white uniforms instead of the traditional blue and gold. The combination is supposed to make the athletes look bigger—which may be a good idea when you consider 1943 grid material—but Charlie Landolf of the New Castle, Pa., News suggests they omitted blue on the theory that the Panthers will acquire that color on the field.

SERVICE DEPT.

Pvt. Bill Korns, former Utah State golf champ, had to use borrowed clubs to reach the semi-finals of a tournament at Camp Roberts, Calif. Then his dad heard about it and rushed his own clubs by air from Salt Lake City. Bill then went out and walloped the defending champ, 14 and 12, in the finals.

RACE SITE PROPOSED

ALBANY, N. Y., June 26. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey approved a report suggesting a 30-day harness racing program and the holding of the Hambletonian at Empire City today, but at Goshen, N. Y., William H. Cane, sponsor of the rich race, said he still was hopeful of holding the event at his own Good Time park.

Dahlgren Forges Ahead In Hitting

Stephens Is Still American Leader

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Babe Dahlgren, Philadelphia Phillies' third baseman, took over the major league batting lead the past week with an average of .356 for 56 games, official averages revealed today.

The National league pace-setter, who boosted his average from .347 during the week, stepped ahead of Vern Stephens of the St. Louis Browns. The St. Louis shortstop meanwhile had a .355 mark to keep the lead in the American league.

Senior Circuit Leads

The senior circuit also led both in club hitting and fielding. The St. Louis Cardinals ousted the Dodgers in team batting with a .265 mark and the Cincinnati Reds remained at the top of the fielding column with a .982 average. Cleveland's Indians supplanted the New York Yankees in American club batting with a .234 record and the Chicago White Sox stayed on top with a .978 club fielding average.

Milo Candini of the Senators, a Yankee castoff, led both circuits in pitching with seven victories and no setbacks. Second in the American league was Orval Grove of Chicago with a 4-0 record. Tex Hughson of Boston and Jess Flores of the A's had the most victories, eight each, against three and five defeats respectively.

National Pitching Close

Murry Dickson of the Cardinals, Johnny Allen of the Dodgers and Carl Hubbell of the Giants had 3-0 National league records. Mort Cooper of the Cards and Rip Sewell of the Pirates had the most victories with 9-4 and 9-2 records respectively.

Navy To Send 3,000 Trainees To Colleges

HOUSTON, June 26 (AP)—More than 3,000 trainees in the Navy's V-12 program — through which Texas colleges hope to get material for football teams — will be assigned to ten schools now having contracts, the Navy announced today.

The University of Texas will get 1,111 trainees, Rice will draw 530, Southern Methodist university 220 and Texas Christian university 242.

There are the only Southwest conference schools getting the trainees in V-12. Baylor has an Army contingent and Texas A. and M. has trainees from other branches of the service.

Outside the Southwest conference the University of Texas medical branch at Galveston will get 107 trainees, Baylor College of Medicine at Houston 51, Texas Dental college of Houston 61, Baylor college of Dentistry at Dallas 6, North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington 332 and Southwestern university 384.

Texas Christian checked up today and found that if the naval training program allows time for practice and play, it will have a pretty fair football team this fall with at least eleven men who have had college or junior college experience. Included in the list are Wayne (Red) Shaw and Ray Rasor, regulars last fall with Southern Methodist. The only T. C. U. returning letterman is Clyde Flowers, a tackle.

The programs begin operation July 1.

RUSSELL CHANGES MIND

LOS ANGELES, June 26. (AP)—Rip Russell, first basemn who refused to report to the Chicago Cubs last spring, has changed his mind about playing baseball and probably will sign a contract with the Los Angeles club tomorrow or Monday.

Camacho Presented Texas Gift Horse

FORTH WORTH, June 26. (AP)—J. O. Hart, Fort WWorth thoroughbred breeder, today displayed a telegram from President Manuel Camacho of Mexico, which acknowledgedo a gift of a three-year-old.

Hart, hearing that the Mexican president had expressed admiration for the grey coated topstrippin a Royal Ford-Apprecrasy colt, notified his trainer to present the thoroughbred to Camacho. The colt had been racing at the hippodrome de Las Americas at Mexico City.

Hart has been informed the president will use the colt as his personal charger and later as a sire for Mexican cavalry mounts.

Roswell Nine Wins Opener From LAAF

Bombardiers To Play Commandos

Big Spring Team At SPAAF Today

South Plains Army Air field's baseball team plays host to the Big Spring Bombardiers at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Kanne field at the post.

The contest will be the first between the two teams and will mark the first game of the season for Big Spring. The Commandos will return the contest in Big Spring, Saturday, July 17.

Full Schedule In July

In addition to that game and today's tussle, Lt. Nathan B. Eubank, athletic officer and coach, has announced that SPAAF has scheduled three more features attractions for the month of July.

Expected to handle the starting mound chores for today's tilt is Staff Sgt. Guy Anderson, the mainstay of the Commandos' pitching staff. The SPAAF lineup for today's game essentially will be the same as that which plastered Kirtland field, 12 to 6, last week-end in Albuquerque. The batting order likely will include Staff Sgt. Spencer Skogstad, catcher, Lt. Ray Cagni, second baseman, Pvt. Doug Wakeland, first baseman, Pvt. Joe Eager, shortstop, First Sgt. Tex Lawrence, third baseman, Staff Sgt. John W. Owens, right field, Sgt. George S. Cullom, centerfield, Sgt. John Vanusek, leftfielder. On hand to handle pitching chores if needed will be Staff Sgt. Pinder and Staff Sgt. Kenneth W. Young.

Play LAAF On July 4

The month of July will be a big one for the Commandos.

Sunday, July 4, SPAAF and Lubbock Army Air field will tangle in a big Independence Day tilt, offering the city's baseball fans a chance to watch their favorite pastime on the national holiday. Saturday and Sunday, July 10 and 11, Lt. Eubank's squad journeys to Carlsbad for a two-game series. The New Mexico team likely will return the favor later in the summer. Then comes the July 17 tussle with Big Spring.

Saturday and Sunday, July 24 and 25, the strong Kirtland field nine invades the city to seek revenge for the defeat SPAAF chalked up in Albuquerque last weekend.

That's the menu for the month of July. But today it's the Bombardiers at SPAAF.

Two Air Fields To Battle Again Today At Hubber Park

Lt. Pete Christy, former Montreal hurler, won his bars and wings as a flying officer at Lubbock Army Air field Saturday but he failed by one run to win his final game for LAAF before he leaves for active duty with the Air Forces. Lt. M. C. Kreutz's Roswell Army Air field 'Stratofliers 'Stratofighters' won the first game of the week-end series, 8 to 7, at Hubber park Saturday afternoon.

The two teams play again this afternoon at the same park starting at 3 o'clock with Sgt. W. G. Hardwick starting on the mound for LAAF. Officers and civilians may see the game for 25 cents; enlisted men are admitted free.

Dellacono was the winning pitcher for Roswell. He relieved Sam Schoesler, RAAF's ace hurler from Walla Walla, Washington, in the eighth after the local fliers scored four runs on as many hits in the seventh.

Tankersley Hits 2 Homers

Lt. Ralph Tankerley, playing his first regular game of the season in left field, hit two homers to the left field scorboard and slugged out a double and single. His twin brother, Lt. James Tankersley, also an LAAF flying instructor, had played in previous games.

Roswell started well in the second, when four errors in a row placed three men on base and Corp. Ernie Cox stretched a long double into three bases. Lt. Tankersley's homer in the third found nobody on base. His second one in the fifth inning scored two.

McDonald Hits Triple

Aviation Cadet McDonald, who moved from second to third sack to replace Holes who was hurt, scored three men in the seventh with a three-bagger stretched to four on a wild throw. LAA scored four that inning to pull ahead by two runs.

Wes Haack's homer with one runner on for Roswell evened the score in the eighth frame. Haack's single which scored Baranowski from second after Christy intentionally walked Cox proved to be the winning run in the first half of the ninth.

S/Sgt. Micky Campbell of LAAF made some sensational catches in center field.

Several times Christy pitched himself out of bad holes, but costly errors kept Roswell ahead most of the game.

The score by innings:

LAAF	001	020	400—	7

Westerner Sweaters For Trackmen Here

Lubbock High school Westerner track sweaters for members of the team who earned letters in the past season have arrived and are ready for distribution, Coach E. J. (Pinky) Lowrey, business manager of athletics, announced Saturday.

Those winning the letters may have them by calling at the principal's office in Senior High any morning next week between 9 and 12 o'clock, Lowrey said.

Segura Is Easy Net Title Winner

EVANSTON, Ill., June 26. (AP)—Francisco (Pancho) Segura, as he had said he would be, was a better tennis player today than he was yesterday—when he was sensational. Consequently, he had little trouble in beating Tom Brown, jr., of California to become the Greek ed reminds city in the Progra

The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 6-3, and don't think that Brown himself wasn't an excellent and game performer today—but he wasn't good enough.

Wins In Straight Sets

Colorful little Pancho, who came to the United States two years ago from his native Ecuador and now attends the University of Miami, won this championship match today as he had all his other four contests in this six day meet—in straight sets. And in all of them his opponent never won more than three games. Segura was that much better than the others in the meet.

Brown, seeded No. 2 behind Segura by the tournament committee, played a smarter game than any of his predecessors at the Segura chopping block.

Texas Team Wins

When Pancho dropped those bloody little chop shots over the net, Brown came in and hit them back, only to se Pancho smack them back again where Brown wasn't. Point after point went into Segura's side of the score card from that manipulation.

John Hickman and Walter Driver of Texas won the doubles championship in five sets from Brown and his partner, Harry Buttimer, 8-6, 4-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-4.

The Texas doubles team, which yesterday eliminated the No. 1 seeded combination of Earl Cochell and Bob Kimbrell from Southern California, really got into a scrap when they attempted to put over the clinching sets in today's championship match.

They had to work overtime to win the first set, 8-6, lost the second, 4-6, and won the third by the same count. The fourth set was the longest, going 16 games before the Californians won, 9-7.

But Brown, worn out by his busy day of competing in both the singles and doubles, and Buttimer finally weakened in the final set enough for Driver and Hickman to force through a 6-4 decision and win the match.

Californian Is Elected Head Of Sportsmen

RENO, Nev., June 26. (AP)—Edwin L. Carty, Oxnard, former California fish and game commissioner, was chosen president of the newly-created Western Federated sportsman, an organization formed to coordinate sportsmen's activities in the 11 Western states, is was announced here today.

Nominations for member from the 11 Western states included:

Deep South Schools Get The Green Light For Grid Play

ATLANTA, June 26. (AP) — Members of the football-conscious Southeastern conference got a green light today to continue intercollegiate athletics in the Deep South—if they can.

Following the lead of the Western conference, the Southeastern executive committee granted unlimited athletic eligibility to all men assigned to member institutions by the armed services. At the same time, however, the conference retained transfer rules and other limitations on civilian students as a guard against migrant athletes.

To Continue Commissioner

Continued at least until the December meeting of the conference is the $10,000-a-year office of Athletic Commissioner Mike Conner, set up two years ago to police subsidization of football players under the federation's legalized scholarship plan.

The executive committee rejected informal suggestions by President Rufus Harris of Tulane and others that the conference "freeze" its organization for the duration, and leave to individual schools the responsibility for carrying on athletics. Instead, the group adopted a limited play-as-you-go plan, under which each institution will operate with a minimum of control by the conference.

Four schools — Florida, Mississippi State, the University of Mississippi and Vanderbilt—have suspended intercollegiate competition. Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State and Tulane have indicated determination to carry on if possible. Auburn, Tennessee and Kentucky are listed as doubtful football contenders, but both Tennessee and Kentucky hope to compete in basketball.

To allow withdrawal of those schools desiring to do so, the conference ruled that any institution may cancel athletic contracts without penalty, provided notice is given the other party concerned not later than July 15, 1943.

Under eligibility regulations as now adopted, any athlete in armed service may compete it permitted to do so by his commanding officer. Such eligibility would extend even to athletes who had completed their regular three years of varsity competition, or who might have engaged in professional athletics.

Plans Shaping Up For Army 'Olympics' Here, Sept. 4-6

Plans for the big service "Olympics" set for Sept. 4, 5 and 6 at Texas Tech stadium are shaping up at South Plains Army Air field as replies to invitations are received almost daily.

Thus far about half of the fields asked to participate in the big event have indicated they would attempt to have teams or contestants in some events here. More than 75 Army camps in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma and other states of the greater Southwest have been invited. With that in mind a field of more than 25 teams may be expected.

Conditions A Factor

However, officials pointed out that conditions at the time possibly will decide which fields will participate more than any other one factor.

The "Olympics" will bring to Lubbock one of the most impressive galaxies of track and field stars in the city's sports history. Most of the college track and field stars of the past few seasons are now in service and possibly many of them would be on hand. Should everything proceed as expected the "Olympics" likely would attract one of the largest sports gatherings in the city's history.

Officials have okayed the "Olympics" in line with emphasis on athletics and keeping men in shape in the Army. Participants will have a chance to enter all regular individual track and field events as well as compete in team events.

An "obstacle course" event and others which coincide with training in the Army may be included in the program, it was announced.

Fields which have indicated they may participate include Lubbock Army Air field, Laredo Army Air field, Laughlin Army Air field at Del Rio, Lamesa Liaison Flying school at Lamesa and Camp Barkeley at Abilene, the later possibly being able to send one of the strongest teams in the entire Southwest.

Lt. Nathan B. Eubank, athletic officer at SPAAF, is working on further plans for the "Olympics" and in the meantime is looking over his own prospects. It is too early yet to select any representatives but because SPAAF has been emphasizing an all out athletic program for several months it is believed that the Commandos will be able to place one of the strongest teams in the entire show.

Week Brings Vast Damage To Nazis

By GLENN BABB

Associated Press War Analyst

Summer's first week-end finds the world still waiting for the curtain to rise on the main show, the anticipated titanic clashes of the armies and navies in the fateful campaign of 1943. Meantime, its attention was gripped by the blazing prologue in the skies.

GLENN BABB

Any morning may see the Allied landing barges sweeping toward the enemy's coasts, probably in the Mediterranean.

The British and American air fleets had their most tremendous week of the war. The "neutralization" of the Ruhr, heart of German war production, was virtually completed and the sapping of Italy's power and will to resist made good progress.

The anniversary of Hitler's attack on Russia passed with his armies still mobilized along the whole length of the eastern front. The Japanese continued to give ground in China. In the south and southwest Pacific Japan still was waiting for something, meanwhile suffering heavy attrition in the air.

Time Short For Offensive

With June almost gone it seemed the time was fast running out in which an Axis offensive could be expected.

A week of attack cost the Allies 184 multi-engined bombers, many of them carrying ten or more men. The RAF, out every night, lost 147, the Americans 37. To show for this they had the crippling devastation of Krefeld, Muelheim, Wuppertal, Huls, Bochum and Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr, the great Chineider arsenal at Le Creusot in France, the German "radar" factory at Friedrichshafen, the Italian naval base at La Spezia. Reliable reports said between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 civilians already had been evacuated from the stricken Ruhr, above which the accustomed industrial haze from factory chimneys was reported many degrees lighter.

Nazis Sorely Wounded

There was no doubt that Germany was sorely wounded in a vital spot. The reaction of Goebbel's propaganda reinforced this conclusion. It was a combined attempt to appeal to the soft-hearted Allied countries by vivid accounts of civilian suffering and to the hatred in German hearts by stories of alleged destruction wrought by the American barbarians to the cultural monuments of the old world.

In the Mediterranean the Allies, ranged along the North African shore, obviously were well along with the job of softening up Sicily, and to a lesser extent Sardinia, for invasion. Naples and its industrial environs, on the nearby mainland, also were heavily blasted. On Sicily the week began and ended with shattering attacks on Messina, chief port for communications with the mainland.

One new figure in the pattern of the Mediterranean war was a long-range raid Thursday by more than 50 American Liberators on the Greek port of Salonika, pointed reminder of the role of that city in the first World war.

Program Moves Ahead

In the words of 14 successive Moscow communiques, there were no significant changes on the long Russian battle line. But Moscow took occasion of the second anniversary of Hitler's attack on the Soviet Union to remind the western Allies of the imperative necessity of a second front in Europe if Hitler's Germany is to be destroyed. The Allied answer was to plough ahead with the Casablanca-Washington program which none doubted called for an invasion of the continent as soon as possible.

The aspect of the war in the south and southwest Pacific saw little change, although the Japanese air force continued to lose heavily in its new attempts to challenge Allied rule of the air.

The trend toward Allied victory in the battle of the Atlantic persisted. There was nothing to dispute the growing belief that the curve of Allied ship losses, declining sharply since March, would dip even lower in June. German propaganda prepared its people for this setback.

American Major Given Distinguished Flying Cross By King George

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 26. (AP) — Maj. James S. Coward of Natchitoches, La., and Erwin, Tenn., commander of an American Spitfire fighter squadron, was prepared to meet the king of England but he wasn't ready for what happened when the moment came.

He thought he would merely be introduced along with the other members of his Spitfire group at a Tunisian air base during the king's visit to North Africa.

The king came sowly along the line, shaking hands with each man. Finally he stopped in front of Coward, who saluted smartly and held out his hand.

But the king didn't take it.

Instead, he turned around and one of his aides handed him a small object. The major, holding a rigid position, didn't see what it was, and the next thing he knew the king was pinning something on his tunic.

He looked down and saw Britain's prized Distinguished Flying Cross.

"I didn't have any idea I was going to get it," he said. "I guess my eyes must have popped, because the king laughed and then began questioning me about what we've been doing out here."

Coward's group has knocked down 96 enemy planes in Africa, and he got the first one himself.

Coward himself had so many medals and ribbons the king pinned this one above his wings instead of below.

Public Asked To Buy Soap Only As Needed

An appeal to the public to buy no more soap than actually needed was made by district OPA officials Saturday following reports of increased sales in Lubbock stores.

Rumors that soap would be rationed caused minor "runs" in some stores, while others reported no increase in sales.

One store reported selling approximately $40 in soap within two hours Friday night, with customers saying that they had heard soap rationing would open at midnight. Another store which had sold considerably more soap than normally quoted numerous customers as saying "someone told me soap is going to be rationed." Another store reported customers were discussing rumors that sales were to be frozen, but were refraining from purchasing large supplies.

"We have no information concerning prospects for soap rationing," said Howard R. Gholson, district OPA director. "At any rate, it is important that we conserve present supplies in stores and buy no more than is actually needed."

Guinea pig population of the United States amounts to 500,000, according to estimates of experts.

Penalty Suits Filed On Gas Tax Refunds

AUSTIN, Jones 26. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann today filed penalty shits totaling $64,640 in a Travis county district court against 13 motor fuel tax refund claimants.

The petitions allege that each of the claimants, who reside now or formerly lived in Hidalgo county, filed false claims with the state comptroller for tax paid on motor fuel.

Mann asks for return of the refund paid to the claimants, together with a penalty of $500 for each purported false invoice or exemption and a penalty of $500 for each purported false claim filed.

A Fannin county man also named in a penalty suit for $500 on a petition of alleged false claims on refunds.

Goebbels Moans Of Lost Culture

LONDON, June 26. (AP) — In his horror and hate campaign designed to stir German morale dented by contiuued heavy Allied aerial attacks, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Germany's propaganda minister, lashed out today to call Americans cultural vandals and military barbarians.

Speaking at Munich, at the opening of the seventh German art exhibolitn, he said "British and American terror planes" were destroying "in a short hour, cultural possessions which the centuries have built" and to which the United States and Britain "made very slight contribution."

His address was broadcast by the German radio and recorded by the Associated Press.

Towns Said Destroyed

"The Americans destroy towns of the European continent with their cultural institutions of which there are no equals in Chicago or San Francisco. What they cannot buy of European art and culture shall become victim of their terror bombers."

"Humanity should blush in shame that, say, a 20-year-old American, Canadian or Australian terror flier can and is allowed to destroy a picture by Duerer or Titian."

The German propaganda line consistently has been the assertion that cultural objects, hospitals and schools were bombed by the Allied fliers, without a mention of the military targets caught under RAF saturation raids and wiped out by precision bombing of the American Air Forces.

Goebbels now has a new propaganda policy of sending war reporters to the ruined Ruhr to make "horror" broadcasts, a move seen here as an attempt to arouse symapthy in Allied countries.

Four FW's Shot Down By American Fighters

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP) — An Army Air forces fighter group flying Republic P-47 Thunderbolts and commanded by Colonel Hubert Zemke of Missoula, Mont., recently shot down four of Germany's vaunted Focke-Wulf 190 fighters and damaged two others without loss, the army reports.

The report on the combat experience of this group, said the Army, indicated that the Thunderbolt, newest, heaviest and fastest of Army fighters "will outmatch the much publicized Focke-Wulf 190 of the Nazis."

One of the two damaged was credited to Lieutenant Joseph E. Curtis, Houston, Tex., Zemke's right wing man.

Hester Awaiting Packer For Test

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1 Guy Hester, prospective one-mile northeast extension to the Stennett pool east of the city, still was shut down Saturday awaiting a packer that will be set on tubing for preliminary testing.

The well is bottomed at 4,768 feet, plugged back from a total depth of 4,838 feet in dolomite. It topped the clear fork pay in dolomite at 4,710 feet. Acidizing of the pay section is probable.

Wildcat Near Anton

A proposed 6,200-foot wildcat five miles south of Anton in Northeastern Hockley county, Woodley Petroleum Co. No. 1 J. H. Howard, is drilling at 1,400 feet in red beds. Goerge P. Liveromer, Inc., of Lubbock, is the contractor.

Amerada Petroleum corporation's No. 1 W. W. Kurfees, scheduled 11,000-foot ordovician wildcat 10 miles southeast of Plainview in Hale county, is drilling at 4,500 feet in dolomite and anhydrite.

In the Wasson field of southern company's No. 3-C Bennett flowed 176.64 barrels of 34-gravity oil per day after acidizing pay lime from 5,215-95 feet, the total depth, with 8,000 gallons. Its gas-oil ratiou is 489 to 1.

Northeastern Gaines

Stanolind's No. 15 American Warehouse company, 11,000-foot wildcat in the Cedar Lake field of northeastern Gaines county, is drilling at 9,726 feet in lime.

A scheduled deep wildcat in extreme northwestern Gainer, Conoco's No. 1-A Dr. E. H. Jones, is preparing to run 9⅝-inch casing, bottomed at 4,575 feet in lime. The owner will test the regular San Andres zone of the Permian, then will deepen in event it proves non-productive. Solid lime was topped at 4,560 feet.

Birthday Party Set Today For Soldiers

A birthday party for men stationed at Lubbock and South Plains Army Flying schools whose anniversaries occur during June will be the featured attraction at Lubbock Soldier's center, 1211 Thirteenth street, from 3 until 6 o'clock this afternoon; according to Miss Leona Gelin, project supervisor.

Refreshments and hostesses are to be supplied by the Jewish women's auxiliary. Members of the committee in charge are Mesdames L. Freed, Morris Levine, F. Finberg, I. Garsek, H. J. Jarrett and A. I. Glassman.

Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, general chairman of the birthday parties committee, said that host organizations are needed for the parties during July and August.

Other activities scheduled at the cenetr this week were announced by Miss Gelin as follows:

Monday night, 8 o'clock, meeting of the secretarial bloc of Hubeties to elect new officers; Tuesday night, 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock, formal dance for enlisted men in Hilton hotel under sponsorship of Business and Professional Women's club; Wednesday afternoon, 1:30 o'clock, meeting of the Glider Pilots Wives club; and Friday night, 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock, weekly dance in the center with music furnished by the Cascaders.

The negro center, 2101 East Avenue C, also will be the scene of a monthly birthday party at 4 o'clock this afternoon. A box supper is scheduled there next Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Japs Said Seeking Soviet-Nazi Peace

By HUBERT UXKULL
United Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, June 26. — Responsible sources today sought the truth behind persistent reports that Japan had vainly attempted to promote a peace settlement between Germany and Russia over fears that an Allied victory in Europe would make Japan's position hopeless in the far eastern war.

Noting that Axis sources repeatedly have used Stockholm as a city in which to float propaganda rumors and attempted to sow dissension among the Allied nations, these trustworthy sources said that it was reported from Kuibyshev that Japanese Ambassador Naotaka Sato for the past six months had been promoting peace efforts but has been wholly unsuccessful.

Fear Russian Action

It was asserted that Sato's efforts were motivated partly by Japanese fears that eventually Russia would permit the Americans to use Siberian air bases for raids on Tokyo. In addition, it was said that the Japanese would like to see the Russian-German war ended or "frozen" to permit Germany to turn greater strength against Britain and the United States.

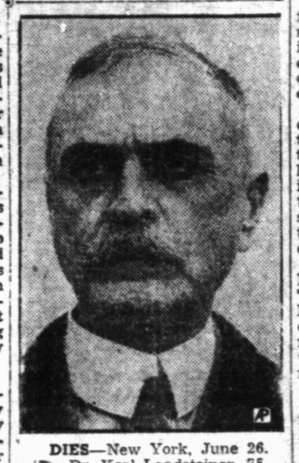

Sato was said to have made his greatest effort to inaugurate a peace move in April. At that time a public reply from Premier Josef V. Stalin—in his May 1st speech—proclaimed Russian adherence to the Casablanca conference formula of "unconditional surrender."

Efforts Continuing

The Japanese ambassador, however, was reported to have continued his efforts in the face of what was regarded here as hopeless odds.

These reports emphasized the contention that the Japanese were pushing their efforts desperately because of realization that the defeat of the European Axis would also destroy Japan.

Observers believed that recent false reports published here of German-Russian peace talks may have arisen from the Japanese efforts at Kuibyshev or might have been a Nazi plant designed to cover up the Jap efforts as well as to stir up distrust among the Allies.

DIES—New York, June 26. (AP)—Dr. Karl Landsteiner, 75, noted medical research expert whose discovery of human blood groups won him the Nobel prize in 1930, died today.

Yanks Lash Nazis

bomb-pitted valley of spreading ruin after this week of assault — the mightiest ever loosed against a similar area.

After last night's blow at Bochum and Gelsenkirchen by a great force of RAF heavyweights, one military observer estimated that 30,000 tons of explosives had ripped into the compact German industrial valley since the Allies opened their intensive aerial bombardment three and one-half months ago and declared that the task of neutralizing the Ruhr was nearing completion.

100 Nazi Fighters Downed

The observer, who could not be identified by name, said that even the most concentrated anti-aircraft and fighter defenses the Nazis were able to muster had failed to check the onslaught, capped by the destruction of nearly 100 German fighters in the last two daylight raids by American Flying Fortresses and last night's telling punch by the RAF.

The customary haze of smoke from the Ruhr's armament factories was reported to have thinned out appreciably in recent weeks and in some points to have disappeared entirely.

In last night's attack the British smashed through swarms of Nazi fighters to strike at the core of the valley's coal and steel production. It was the seventh straight night that the RAF poured flaming destruction on Hitler's war plants, and the cost was 30 big bombers. Pilots said they dropped their loads on assigned targets despite the intense opposition and poor weather conditions.

There was a definite feeling here, supported by Paul Joseph Goebbel's own propaganda, that the ruin now has been spread over such a huge area of the Ruhr that traffic and utilities are disrupted, morale seriously disturbed and production definitely impaired.

Turn To Smaller Cities

Recent massive raids have not been directed at the main centers of the Ruhr, such as Essen, Duesseldorf and Portmund, but at a smaller towns on the perimeter of the great arsenal area. One commentator said it could be assumed that the large cities had received a "sufficient dose" for the moment and that the experiment to see whether Germany could be bombed from the war was approaching its climax.

Last night's RAF attack came as a thundering follow-up to yesterday's pounding of unspecified targets in northwest Germany by American heavyweights, estimated by the Germans to number 200. The Nazis seized on the second American raid within a week to cut loose with bitter new tirades in which they called American airmen cultural vandals and military barbarians.

"The Americans destroy towns of the European continent with their cultural institutions of which there are no equals in Chicago or San Francisco. What they cannot buy of European art and culture shall become victim of their terrior bombers.

"Humanity should blush in shame that, say, a 20-year-old American, Canadian or Australian terror flier can and is allowed to destroy a picture by Duerer or Titian."

Nazis Blow Off Again

All day the Nazi radio blared exaggerated accounts of recent American losses. It began by asserting that 17 Flying Fortresses were shot down yesterday, then raised the number to 28. By nightfall, according to Berlin, the Allies had lost 55 planes over Germany in the past 24 hours. The Allies acknowledged the loss of 47.

American fliers described yesterday's fighter opposition as terrific, with Focke-Wulf and Messerschmitt pilots pressing home their attacks with suicidal ferocity.

"They would come at us two and three abreast and barrel roll through our entire formation with their guns going like hell," one crewman said.

The U. S. fliers lost 17 planes in their unescorted sweep, but their gunners took a heavy toll of Nazi fighters. Fortresses from one station alone destroyed 24 enemy craft, probably destroyed 14 more and damaged five. U. S. Army headquarters reported that American heavy bombers had shot down nearly 100 enemy fighters in their last two raids on the Reich.

bituminous fields in Pennsylvania, where the trend against return has been strikingly strong among the state's 200,000 miners during the week.

Some Quit In Pennsylvania

About 7,600 hard coal workers in eastern Pennsylvania revolted against the back-to-work order this morning and approximately 1,200 quit work at soft coal mines around Pittsburgh, some of them under the urge of picketing.

Several district leaders of the UMW have predicted a prompt return of the majority of the miners Monday. In West Virginia, the trend gained such momentum that estimates indicated not more than 2,000 men were idle in wholly closed mines and the rate of absenteeism at working pits improved sharply.

The UMW district office at Charleston, W.Va., reported more and more mines operating during the day and predicted near-capacity production next week.

In Ohio workers at one pit voted unanimously to return Monday, an action which Adolph Pacifico, vice president of the UMW district No. 6, interpreted as a forerunner for similar action by other local union units in Ohio over the weekend.

Status Of City Officials Asked

AUSTIN, June 26. (AP)—The office of the attorney general announced today that a new effort is being made before the Supreme court to determine the status of civil officers in certain branches of the armed forces.

Atty. Gen. Gerald C. Mann declined to furnish an opinion on the status of Gean B. Turner, district attorney at Cleburne, should he enter the naval reserve; pending the high court's final disposition of a quo warranto proceeding seeking the ouster of Paul A. Martineau as special judge of 94th district court in Nueces county.

The Supreme court held recently that District Attorney J. P. Todd, jr., of Nueces, Kleberg, Kenedy, Willacy and Cameron counties had no authority to represent the state in an original quo warranto action seeking Martineau's removal.

Motion Is Filed

Mann has filed a motion for reinstatement of the ouster suit, holding that the appointment of the duly elected judge of the 94th court, Allen Wood, to the naval reserve, caused the office to be vacated on Feb. 23, and that it could be filled only by gubernatorial appointment.

Martineau was named special judge of the court by election of officers practicing before it.

Mann's motion for re-opening the case set forth that the opinion by Associate Justice John H. Sharp implied that the attorney general is the only person having the authority to represent the state in the proceeding. The court has not yet acted on Mann's motion.

Due to poor visibility results of the Kiska raids, which were made Thursday, could not be observed, a Navy communique said. The raiding forces consisted of Liberator heavy bombers and Mitchell and Ventura medium bombers.

That the action was made possible by modification of the fog and storms characteristic of the western Aleutians at this season was generally accepted as a fact here since Secretary Knox had said only a few days ago that weather alone was responsible for a let-up in the aerial campaign against the lone remaining position of the enemy in the American island chain.

Mopping up of Japanese stragglers on reconquered Attu island continued, the Navy communique saying that Army patrols had killed 15 more Japanese soldiers. The enemy known dead on Attu now totals more than 1,800 with only about two dozen reported captured.

Enlisted Last September

Petty Officer Comer enlisted in the Naval Air corps Sept. 18, 1942, and was transferred to Fort Lauderdale from Norman. He had been practicing as an aerial gunner. He was a former student of Lubbock High school and a member of the First Baptist church.

Although at least two dozen of the 46 Avalanche-Journal staffers in the Army, Navy and Marine corps are fighting on land, sea, under the sea and in the air, Petty Officer Comer is the first to be reported either dead or missing.

As a tribute to him, the flag atop the Avalanche-Journal building will fly at half staff Tuesday during the memorial services for Comer.

Former Student At Tech Awarded DFC

Capt. Robert M. Livingston, 24, of Dallas, former Texas Technological college student and employe of West Texas hospital, Saturday night was awarded to the Distinguished Flying Cross on a nation-wide radio program originating in San Diego, Calif.

Capt. Livingston, who was known in Lubbock as "Doc," and another flier are credited with the sinking of a Japanese destroyer off Guadalcanal last Nov. 7.

About two weeks ago he visited in Lubbock and in Ralls with Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Snow.

Capt. Livingston attended Tech in 1941 and worked five or six months at the hospital.

A Democratic chieftain promptly retorted that it will have no bearing on the President's political future as, in his opinion, that would turn on his foreign policies and his conduct of the war.

Began On Salary Issue

The coalition revolt began several months ago with the rescinding of the chief executive's order banning salaries above $25,000 after taxes and reached a peak yesterday with the quick overriding of his veto of the anti-strike bill. It was seen by both Republicans and Democrats as a mirroring of public sentiment back home.

What it might hold for the future, as far as the anti-inflation battle is concerned, no one was prepared to predict today.

Chairman Harrison E. Spangler of the Republican National committee made the informal statement that the series of anti-administration votes in the Senate and House was a "manifestation of the President's increasing weakness in the country."

Rep. Ramspeck of Georgia, Democratic whip, agreed that the protesting home front balloting reflects what the "people back home" are thinking, but said "it has no connection with the 1944 campaign."

The educators, who met here for two days planning all phases of participation of schools in the war program, heard Dr. R. L. Sutherland of the Hogg Foundation advise that education is "now being challenged to train for group living."

officials have obtained a more definite line on this year's production prospects.

Decreases in goals for cotton, tobacco and sugar beets and sugar cane are under consideration.

The program will seek to bring livestock production more nearly in line with the feed supply. In view of the fact that feed is limited, emphasis will be given to types of livestock that will yield the largest returns of critical food nutrients for the feed and labor involved.

British Ambassador Harrassed By Nazis

LONDON, June 26. (AP) — Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain, said in a letter to his Chelsia parliamentary constituents that Germans in Spain had tried to get him out of the country by "gunman" methods, it was disclosed today.

"Ever since I have been in Madrid the Germans have done everything in their power to make my position as difficult as possible with the view of getting rid of me from Spain," the ambassador wrote.

He declared that his Spanish friend, Count Alvaro De Romanones, had been falsely quoted by Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels in "Das Reich" to the effect that an Allied victory would mean a communist uprising in Spain.

Production Of Buses Is Approved By WPB

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — Production of 7,300 buses and 11,000 bus bodies in 1944 to insure against "breakdown in the overburdened local and inter-city bus services" was approved by the War Production board today.

Lesser numbers of street cars, trailer buses and passenger car conversion jobs were provided for.

Transit companies having an actual shortage of equipment may obtain the new vehicles by applying to the Office of Defense transportation and stating fully the reasons for their need, WPB said.

Little Credit Taken For One Nazi Plane

PAMPA, June 26 (AP)—First Lt. Edwin R. Crane of Wichita, Kans., downed three German fighters over North Africa, but he doesn't claim much credit for one of them.

"The darned fool flew right in front of me," he explained today while here to pin the wings on his brother, Larry, at the Pampa Army Air field graduation exercises.

WAGE REVIEW SET

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—The War Labor board (WLB) today agreed to review the wages of 1,000,000 shipyard workers throughout the nation, and scheduled a hearing for July 7.

DeGAULLE IN TUNIS

LONDON, June 26. (AP) — The Algiers radio reported the arrival of Gen. Charles De Gaulle in Tunis at 5 p. m. today. The broadcast, recorded here by the Associated Press, said the Fighting French leader, who now serves as co-president of the French committee of national liberation, was greeted with enthusiasm by the population.

Officers Installed By Lorenzo Masons

LORENZO, June 26 (Special)—Lorenzo Lodge No. 1144 installed the following officers for the ensuing Masonic year at a called meeting of the Lodge: B. B. Railsback, worshipful master; Bert Moore, Senior Warden; J. M. Kirksey, jr., junior warden; Fred Weise, Treasurer; J. F. Proctor, Secretary; B. C. Askew, Chaplain; Joe Siegler, Senior Deacon; John Hunter, Junior Deacon; G. T. O'Rear, Senior Stewart; O. L. McElroy, Junior Deacon, and O. B. Landman, Tiler. H. B. Bryan of Yellowhouse Lodge, Lubbock, was installing officer and M. T. Darden, a past master of Lorenzo lodge was marshall.

Japs Weakened

fill expectations completely" in the Yangtze defeat of the Japanese, whose casualties were placed officially at 40,000 troops. The strategy, he explained, was to draw the enemy father into the mountains where they could more easily be trapped, but the Japanese retreated before they met the full strength of the Chinese armies.

With their present arms and equipment he added, the Chinese are unable to recapture Ichang, Japanese-held stronghold on the Langtze at the lower end of the river gorges. Ichang is a key to any Chinese advance on Hankow from the west, and a base for Japanese attacks in the Chungking direction.

China, Chen said, is fighting a hard enemy and poverty at the same time, but "we will never surrender and we firmly believe that the final victory is with us."

Heavy Concentration Of Planes Reported

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, June 26. (AP)—More and more Japanese planes are appearing on the airfields ringing Rabaul, New Britain, and there is considerable shipping, including a converted aircraft carrier, in its huge harbor, Allied reconnaissance fliers report.

Rabaul lies roughly 700 miles northwest of the Allied base on Guadalcanal in the Solomons and about 500 miles northeast of the ground front below Salamaua, New Guinea. In six raids recently, General Douglas MacArthur's bombers have dropped 176 tons of bombs on Rabaul's airdromes of Lakuani, Rapopo and Vunakanau. Some of the resultant fires were reported to be burning planes.

Today it was disclosed at headquarters that Allied fliers on reconnaissance over Rabaul had counted 170 enemy bombers and fighters on its fields, a slight increase over previous reported totals.

Steelworkers Cease Five-Hour Walk-Out

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 26. (AP)—Heeding requests of union officials, workers at the Buffalo Forge company, a war industry, ended today a five-hour unauthorized walkout which started about 15 hours after enactment by Congress of the anti-strike bill.

About 500 employes participated in the stoppage. They started to return to their jobs at noon after Joseph T. McNichols, district director of the CIO United Steelworkers of America, said he had "earnestly requested" that they do so. He added the case has been referred to the War Labor board.

Oil Probe Moves To Louisiana

DALLAS, June 26 (U.P) — Members of a House naval affairs subcommittee went to Louisiana today for the next phase of their investigation into the nation's threatened oil shortage and what can be done about it.

The investigation, which included two days of hearing here, will be continued next week in New Orleans.

During the hearings at Dallas a parade of independent oil operators told the committee that the prime need in meeting the threatened oil shortage was an increase in the price of oil. This, they said, would make it possible for operators to take on the expense of wildcatting in the search for new fields.

Other Wrongs Charged

The oil men also found other things wrong with the picture, many of them laying the nation's petroleum problems at the feet of Washington bureaucrats who have surrounded themselves and the industry with red tape.

"They're all tangled up—fooling with a horse they don't know anything about," M. T. Flanagan of Longview expressed it.

The Texas Railroad commission, in a formal statement presented to the committee by Chairman Beauford Jester, also advocated an increase in the price of oil, suggesting the increase should be 35 cents a barrel.

Paxton Funeral Set Today At Abernathy

ABERNATHY, June 26. (Special)—Funeral services for E. B. Paxton, 59, of Abernathy will be held here Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Nazarine church. Burial in Abernathy cemetery will be directed by Rix Funeral home of Lubbock.

Paxton, who died Friday, is survived by his wife, six sons, three daughters, and seven sisters.

Invasion Anxiety

meanwhile, ranged all the way to Norway, where a German admiral was reported to have told Nazi marines in a speech at Tronheim that Allies would invade Norway "within a short time."

Italy In Spotlight

The one place on which both German and Italian speculation coincided was Italy herself, where unofficial London reports said the Nazis were massing about 10 divisions—150,000 troops—to guard the Brenner pass in case of an Italian collapse.

The newspaper Popolo Di Roma was quoted in a Rome broadcast as saying editorially: "today the Italian front is the most important and the most logical of the war between Europe and Anti-Europe."

LUBBOCK NATIONAL DEFENSE SCHOOL
Free Training For War Jobs

The Government urges every person who is not now employed in essential war work to prepare to do a vital job in the production of war weapons. No experience is required.

Persons sixteen years of age or over who are physically able to work and are not in high school, are eligible for War Industry Training. A short training course of 4-6 weeks will insure the average person of a good paying job in war work.

The greatest need for workers at the present time is in aircraft factories and shipyards. Avail yourself of the opportunity to be trained in Aircraft Sheet Metal or Ship Welding at the Lubbock National Defense School. Classes are operating both day and night. Persons who are now holding non-essential jobs, should plan to take training while still working on their present job. Class schedules will be arranged to suit the convenience of the individual. Contact the Lubbock National Defense School, located on the Senior High School campus, immediately. Write Box 748, Call 8631.

Informal Parties Are Courtesies For Brides-Elect And Summer Visitors

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

WHO says there isn't money in the writing profession? Marion Hargrove, author of this war's best seller, "See Here, Private Hargrove," has already received in publisher's royalties and for Hollywood film rights an amount greater than four-star General MacArthur's soldierly salary for the next five years.

TODAY'S ADVICE

The Chinese actress Soo Yong who appeared at Tech recently said something about just as uncut jade hides the beauty of the real stone, even so an educated man cannot be a leader. In these hectic days we should remember the advice of Marcus Aurelius, "Find time still to be learning somewhat good."

Outstanding contributions to the sale promotion of War Bonds were made by women. Elizabeth R. Mrs. Wayne Sprague, a Des Moines newspaper woman, suggested the Ten Percent club plan, the giving of ten per cent of salary or income to the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps. Her suggestion came to the attention of Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau who adopted it and thus it became a national slogan.

THOSE signs about town, "Boy of 17 be a Marine," remind one of the leading character of that novel of a few years ago who said when he was left with full responsibility of his life, "Oh, Lord, I ain't nothing but a boy but I got to act like a man now!" . . . There's a beautiful garden of roses at the filling station on Broadway and Avenue O . . . And a V-shaped plot of beans is doing all right at a station on Main and Avenue M . . . Lt. N. E. We are thinking of the young woman who told us she and her bridegroom-to-be forgot all about the flowers until they were ready to start down the aisle and in recalling it she was laughing about it. Imagine a girl in peace times thinking it was all right if no one thought of the flowers! . . . When a certain Lubbock bride-elect left for the Western states to be married she took along a cook book to read away the hours . . . A cook got mad, so today we have potato chips: George Crum cook at a Saratoga, N. Y., hotel in 1853 became irritated when a diner sent back an order for french fried potatoes because they weren't cut thin enough. Sarcastically, Crum cut some paper-thin slices and dropped them in a pan of hot fat; the resulting golden crisp chips met instant favor and the fame of Saratoga chips spread to menus over the country . . . After hearing Frank Sinatra sing over radio one evening recently we decided we discovered the secret of his success: his perfect diction. There have been singers who drooled their words or crooned them in such a manner that only they knew what they were singing; each word Sinatra sings is as distinct as a clear note on the piano. It's rather nice to hear a vocalist and to understand him at the same time.

Thalia Joiner Weds Ensign

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Joiner of 1514 Nineteenth street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Thalia Joiner, to Ensign Melvin L. Burks, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Burks of Ralls which took place recently in Ocean View Baptist church in Norfolk, Va., with Rev. Mr. Johnson, pastor, officiating.

The bride wore a white tailored suit with brown and white accessories and a corsage of orchids. For something old she wore an old-fashioned ruby and pearl ring belonging to her mother.

Ensign and Mrs. L. N. Baker attended the couple and other guests included Navy officers and their wives.

Mrs. Burks is a graduate of Lorenzo High school and a former student at Texas State College for Women, Denton.

Ensign Burks is a graduate of Ralls High school and of Texas A. and M. college. He received his commission from the midshipman school at Columbia university, New York City.

After a wedding trip to New York, the couple will be at home in Norfolk.

F-O Jerry Pair, Wife Live In San Angelo

Flight Officer and Mrs. Jerry Pair are at home in San Angelo following their marriage June 8 in the home of Rev. Fred J. Brucks, pastor of the San Angelo Trinity Methodist church.

Mrs. Pair is the former Miss Mildred Harden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harden of Iraan and Kerrville. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Pair of Slaton, is a graduate of Wilson High school. He received his primary training at Stamford and basic at Brady Air field. He graduated from pilot training school in Lubbock and is now stationed at SAAAF.

Miss Sellers Reports For Dietician's Duty

Merle Sellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Sellers of Rising Star, who was graduated from the Tech home economics division in 1941, has reported for duty as a dietitian in the station hospital at Fort Bliss, near El Paso. She was commissioned a second lieutenant in the medical corps last week.

For the last year, Miss Sellers has served on the dietary staff of the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Spotters Club Is Organized

"Spotters," an organization to welcome Army wives to Lubbock and help them to find a place in war work, has been organized here with Mesdames Norman B. Olsen and E. V. Robnett as co-chairmen.

Officers wives have been divided in small groups with a captain for each. Plans have been discussed for semi-monthly meetings, according to Mrs. Olsen.

Purpose of the organization is to help people to become adjusted to life here, to meet other Army and Navy wives, to provide them social interests and to keep on file permanent addresses of the women.

Mrs. Henry H. Arnold, wife of the Air Force general, is urging Army women to become "Spotters," Mrs. Olsen said.

Announcement Made Of June 1 Wedding

Announcement was made here yesterday of the June 1 marriage of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Culey, of Onida, S. D., and Glenn B. Marcy, of Ropesville, in Vancouver, Washington. Mrs. Marcy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Culey, and Mr. Marcy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J .M. Marcy, jr.

After a brief wedding trip through the state of Washington, the couple returned to Portland, Ore., where both previously were employed in the Kaiser shipyards. They will continue their work in the yards.

MILDRED KUYKENDALL

Party Is For Bride-Elect

To honor Miss Mildred Kuykendall, bride-elect of Sgt. Jack Grant of Savannah, Ga., Miss G. P. Cunningham, 2610 Jefferson avenue, will entertain with a miscellaneous shower Monday evening from 8 until 9 o'clock.

Mrs. W. J. Dalmasso will preside at a table centered with an arrangement of sweet peas. Favors will be white napkins engraved in gold, "Mildred and Jack." She will be assisted in the dining room by Mrs. J. R. Simmonds and Mrs. J. C. Powell.

Miss Viola Hammonds will preside at the bride's book. Others in the houseparty will include Mrs. E. C. Kuykendall, Miss Myrtle Ewell, and Miss Anetta Gibson of Guthrie.

Miss Kuykendall's engagement and approaching marriage to Sgt. Grant was announced by her mother, Mrs. E. C. Kuykendall, at an informal reception Thursday evening at her home, 2408 Twentieth street.

Miss Pratt Discusses Canning Pineapple

Only pineapple from which spines may be pulled out readily are ripe enough for canning, Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, told members of the Sunshine Home Demonstration club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. H. Hawkins. Cut pineapple in slices and peel each slice. The cores and trimmings may be cooked in water to make juice for canning the pineapple. The fruit is processed in water bath after being pre-cooked and steamed to heat the food.

Miss Kate Adele Hill, district agent, and Mrs. Etta Mann were visitors. Members attending were Mesdames J. D. Cannon, Hub Hicks, Charles Hicks, T. C. Scott, Lewis Simmons, C. S. Tramel, M. B. Aiken, I. F. Kennedy, and J. H. Chastian.

Luncheon Is Courtesy For Friday Needlers

Friday Needle club members met for a luncheon Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. C. Bryan, 1904 Main street.

Attending were Mesdames A. L. Hawkins, J. A. Fortenberry, W. E. Twitty, A. T. Cocanougher, W. C. Barnett, F. K. Mitchell, W. B. Sides, J. A. Goodwin, H. V. Bigham, A. L. Harris, W. H. Trice, J. W. Cannon, J. C. Stansell, and Minnie Fickas.

Rue, Royce Copeland Hosts At Lawn Party

Their guests were Marijane Grace, Gerald (Worm) West, Patsy Felty, Walter Bumpass, Gypsy Cooper, Durwood Woffard, Billie Akers, Bill Holman, Jeanie Fry, Sam Henley, Dorothy Bogart, John Curtis, Jean McKinzie, Jack Grady, Frances Hawn, Jane Gordon, Margaret Hawkins and Bayless Martin.

JUNE BRIDE — Pictured above is Mrs. C. Jack Scoggins, who until her marriage June 13, was Miss Helen Neal, daughter of Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, 2212 Seventh street. The ceremony was read in the Normandy wedding chapel in Long Beach, Calif. The couple is at home in Long Beach.

ATTENDS GRADUATION

Mrs. H. D. Tippit of 1705 Avenue T left last week for Selma, Ala., to attend the graduation of her son, A/C Jack D. Tippit, from the Army air corps.

WEDS HERE — Pictured is Mrs. Henry Neil Lawson, who until her marriage was Miss Mary Lou Scoggin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Scoggin, 2207 Sixteenth street. The ceremony was read Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Methodist Church with G. C. Brewer officiating. Lt. Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Lawson, 1602 Avenue X, received his commission at Corpus Christi June 19, and was assigned to Miami Beach, Fla., where the couple is at home.

Handsome Yard Is Grown By Mesdames Needles

A MOTHER and daughter-in-law have pooled their knowledge of flowers, shrubs and vegetables to develop one of the most beautiful yards in Lubbock. The mother is Mrs. B. E. Needles; the daughter-in-law Mrs. Belverd Needles; the addresses, 1807 and 1811 Eighth street.

The two homes are separated by a full-sized lot, which is completely covered with ground covering grass, flowers, trees, and shrubs. In the back yard of the mother's home a trellis is covered with silver lace vines, and an almost identical trellis adorns the back yard of the daughter. Between the trellis and the huge fireplace, an assortment of hollyhocks, pansies, oriental poppies are in bloom, planted in and around a victory garden.

The Chinese elms, scattered over the yard, are covered with Boston ivy. It is not unusual to find a scattering of radishes, beans, tomatoes or parsnips amid a bed of blue flax, four o'clocks, and dahlias.

Likes Flowering Shrubs

The group planting of evergreens and shrubs, some native, that are used for background greenery, add to the naturalness of the scene. Mrs. Needles is particularly interested in flowering shrubs, and vitex, spiraea and pyracantha are among those to be found in her yard.

At this time of the year, the dominant colors of blooming flowers in the garden are yellow, white, and pink, shading into deeper richer colors, since morning glories, Canterberry bells, zinnias daisies and pansies are in bloom. Petuniae, violets, iris, perennial phlox, and sweet peas are there, too, though not in bloom.

But of all the beautiful flowers, Mrs. Needles insisted that her "most beautiful flower" is her nine-months- old grandson, Belverd, jr. Mrs Needles was apologetic about the condition of the garden because of the lack of help, but it will take more than one season's neglect to destroy the charm of the design and the exquisite plantings.

NAMED "GOODFELLOW"

AUSTIN, June 26 — "Goodfellows" pictured in the 1943 Cactus, student yearbook at the University of Texas, just off the press, include Charles Hvass, law student from Lubbock.

These students are named by editors of the yearbook for their all-around popularity with their fellow students.

MRS. J. M. GOLDWATER

* * *

Goldwaters Are On Trip

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Marcillee Bowers of 2409 Twenty-seventh street to Cpl. Johnnie M. Goldwater, son of Mrs. Ora Goldwater of 1604 Twenty-third street, which took place Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parks, with the Rev. C. J. McCarty officiating.

Preceeding the ceremony Mrs. Boyd Crooks played a medley of love songs and the traditional wedding marches were offered.

Couple Is Unattended

Mrs. Goldwater wore a black suit with rose accessories and held a bouquet of white carnations on a white Bible. The couple was unattended. The bride is a graduate of Texas Technological college where she was a major in home economics edueation. She is now the homemaking teacher at Cooper Rural High school. Cpl. Goldwater is stationed at LAAF and was formerly with the Lubbock fire department.

Following the ceremony a wedding cake was served from a table laid with a lace cloth and centered with pink candles. Mrs. S. A. Bowers, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl, assisted by Mrs. Parks, sister of the bride.

Twenty-two guests, including Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simmons and son, Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Crooks, Burl Ham, and Pvt. Howard N. Hays, were present.

The couple left Saturday for a short trip to Ruidoso, N. M. They will be at home at 2409 Twenty-seventh street.

Goeths Are Hosts For Merry Twelve Club

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Goeth, 1920 Sixth street, were hosts for members of Merry Twelve Forty-Two club Friday evening.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lively, Mr. and Mrs. M. Agan, and Mrs. B. H. Whitworth. Members attending were Messrs. and Mesdames J. J. Rozzell, Hugh Slagle, A. E. Quest, Paul Williams and Mrs. Jack Melton.

The club will meet July 30 with Mr. and Mrs. Williams, 2004 Twenty-sixth street.

B-PW Club Dance Will Be For Enlisted Men

Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club will entertain enlisted men of South Plains Army Air field with a formal dance Tuesday night at the Hilton hotel at 8:30 o'clock, with the SPAAF band furnishing music for dancing.

HALCYON STAGNER

Vows To Be Read Tonight

In a double ring ceremony to be solemnized this evening at 7 o'clock in the St. John's Methodist church at Stamford, Miss Halcyon Stagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stagner of Stamford, will become the bride of Lt. Chester A. Slingerland, Lubbock Army Air field, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Slingerland, of Chicago, Ill., with Rev. Calvin C. Wright officiating.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. R. R. Baird will play "O Promise Me," and Miss Wanda Watson will sing "Because." "O Perfect Love" will be offered during the ceremony, and the traditional wedding marches will be played. White lattice work covered with flowers and white candelabra will decorate the altar.

The bride, to be given in marriage by her father, will wear a white satin dress with long sleeves ending in a point over the hand, fitted bodice, and full skirt ending in a train, and a full length veil of white illusion. Her hand bouquet will be of gardenias and stephanotis, with the latter tied in the white satin streamers. For something old, she will wear a ruby and pearl ring, and for something borrowed, a string of pearls.

Feminine Attendants

Miss Nell Stagner, sister of the bride, will serve as maid of honor, and Misses Betty Jane Blackwell, Janice Baird, Ann Bunkley, all of Stamford, Laverne Buchanan of Hobart, Okla., and Jean Martin and Betty Ann Gilbert of Lubbock will serve Miss Stagner as bridesmaids. They are to wear similar dresses of rainbow colors in net. They are to wear headdresses of gladioli and carry bouquets of the same flowers.

The mother of the bride is to wear a pale green suit with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a reception is to be given in the home of the bride for members of the wedding party and friends and relatives of the couple. The house will be decorated with gladioli and stephanotis, and a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, will adorn the table.

The couple will leave for a ten-day visit in Chicago at the home of Lt. Slingerland's parents. For traveling the bride will wear a powder blue suit with black and white accessories. The couple will be at home in Lubbock.

Miss Stagner is a graduate of Stamford High school, and attended Abilene Christian college. She has been employed at Lubbock Army Air field for the past several months. Lt. Slingerland is a former student at the University of Michigan. He was sent to Lubbock from Goodfellow field in San Angelo, and received his wings and commission with the class of 42-E in May, 1942. He is a flying instructor at LAAF.

GUESTS OF CLUB

Six members of Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club will attend the Crosbyton monthly dinner meeting Monday at noon.

MRS. TOMMY NOVAK

Couple Making Home In City

Miss Dorothy Rose Schwantz, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ball of 1907 Twenty-fifth street, and Tommy Novak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Novak of Catawissa, Pa., exchanged marriage vows in a service read Friday in Clovis, N. M.

The bride wore a white linen suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Novak is a former student at Texas Technological college and is employed at Southwestern Associated Telephone company. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ball of Hale Center.

Mr. Novak is employed at Dalby Motor Freight company.

Officers were elected when members of First Methodist Fidelis class met at Mackenzie State park Friday night for a picnic. Mrs. Sam McMillin's group was hostess.

Officers elected were teacher, Mrs. T. C. Delaney; assistant teacher, Mrs. Fred Adkins; president, Mrs. Sam McMillan; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Hardberger; reporter, Mrs. Earl Lockhart.

Others attending were Mesdames E. F. Dawkins, J. L. Badley, W. K. Holeyfield, Jack Ray, O. C. Monk, C. J. Vanbeekum, Paul Warren, B. W. Scarbrough, I. F. Kennedy, Charles Morrison, R. O. Kirshner, Sue Valliant, and a visitor Earl Nail.

Tommy Jo Gooch Is To Wed Lt. Truett Nance

From Winters comes word of the engagement of Miss Tommy Jo Gooch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gooch, and Lt. Truett Nance, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Nance, all of that city. A date for the wedding has not been set.

Miss Gooch is a former student at Tech college. Lt. Nance was employed at the Winters State bank before going into service a year and half ago.

Gift Parties Given Here On Friday

AS June, traditional month of weddings, draws to a close, parties are continuing for brides-elect. A number of weddings is scheduled for the next three days.

Visitors in Lubbock are being entertained at informal affairs such as picnics, yard suppers or coke parties.

Miss Studer To Wed

As a compliment to Miss Laura Louise Studer, who is to marry Cpl. Jay Harris of South Plains Army Air field, July 21, Mrs. Elmo Wall and Miss Mary Sue Spiller entertained with a miscellaneous shower Friday night in the home of the former, 2211 Broadway.

A gold and white color scheme was carried out in the chrysanthemums centering the table, and the announcement was made on white cakes lettered in gold, "TJ and LL, July 21." Corsages were plate favors for guests.

The guest list included Mesdames Chuck Connelly, W. J. Spikes, Chas. C. Watson, Earl Marie Brown, Edward Allen, Joreta Bardwell, Gus Collett, J. D. Harris, Miss Lenora Roberts and Miss Marguerite Harris.

Those sending gifts were Mesdames Jack Stansell, Cecil Kelsy, O. R. Justiss, and Misses Margaret Turner, Opal McMahon, Frances Dobbins, and Willie Watkins.

For Mrs. Morrison

To honor Mrs. John Foch Morrison, the former Miss Maxine Roush of Oakland, Calif., five hostesses entertained with a tea and shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John R. Hall, 2020 Main street. Other hostesses were Mesdames L. H. Shelton, B. A. Adkins, Loyd A. Johnson, and John R. Hall, jr. Mr. Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, 2021 Tenth street, is an aviation radioman, and has been serving overseas for the past two years.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Nina Ruth Newell gave piano selections, and accompanied Tommy Hall in singing "Indian Love Call" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Miss Dolores Johnson presided at the bride's book.

Guests were served refreshments from a lace covered table centered with daises. Corsages of sweet peas were plate favors.

For Marion Turner

Honoring Miss Marion Turner, bride-elect of Lt. Robert H. Tiernan of Midland Army Air field, Mesdames Clinton Kirkpatrick and Jack Patton entertained with a party and miscellaneous shower Friday night in the home of the former, 1912-A Fifteenth street.

Camping Days For Girl Scouts Present Interesting Schedule

SECOND session of Intermediate Girl Scouts camp ended Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock, and the next session is to begin Monday morning and extend through Thursday.

Thirty-six girls attended the second session, and were divided into units of 12 girls each, Pioneers, Indians, and Flowers.

7-8 a. m., cook breakfast out; 8-9 a. m., hike to Tumble-N; 9-10, swimming; 10-11 a. m., hike back to camp and nature study; 11-12 a. m., camp clean-up; 12-1 p. m., eat lunch, group singing; 1-2 p. m., rest period; 2-3 p. m., camp craft work; 3-4 p. m., hand craft; 4-5 p. m., free hour; 5-6 p. m., hiking trip or cook supper out; 6-7 p. m., eat; 7-8 p. m., activities presented by different groups; 8-10 p. m., folk dancing, baseball, scout activities.

Tuesday night was official Stunt night, and a program was presented by the three units at the camp. On Wednesday night, following an hour of skating at the rink near the park, one unit made the trail for a treasure hunt, and the other two units followed the trail. Members of the Girl scout council were guests at a campfire Thursday night.

Assisting in this session were Mesdames L. F. Bookman, Fred Assadourian, Jack Morris, A. F. Jobe, F. C. Stanley, George Langford, Lindsey Thompson and Misses Sallie McCrummen, Erma Teal, Mary Alice Hooten, Effie Lou Keaster and Elizabeth Harper.

School Girls Plan To Have Hayride Picnic

After meeting at Junior High school at 6:45 o'clock Friday night, the Grace Noll Crowell chapter, Future Homemakers of Texas, will go to Mackenzie State park for a hayride picnic.

LSO Hostesses Are Called On To Settle Many Problems

By MAXINE BEASLEY
Of The Woman's Staff

HOSTESSES at Lubbock Service Organization had quite an exciting week, with boys from Switzerland, Guadalcanal, the Aleutians, and almost all the United States dropping in to spend a few spare hours at the recreation center.

"I'm especially glad to see the sun in Texas," said one Army corporal who has been in service in the Aleutians for the past several months, and had seen quite a bit of foggy and cold weather. He was en route to a hospital in Galveston, and had a few hours between buses.

• • •

A Marine corporal, having seen service in Guadalcanal, Pango Pango, American Samoa, and other overseas stations, compared the unbelievable hospitality of Texas people with residents in other states. He was wearing the Southern cross, presented by the Australian government, and several service ribbons.

• • •

It seems that almost any type of problem can fall on the shoulders of the LSO hostesses. Charles F. Zeola, a staff sergeant, stationed at South Plains Army Air field, couldn't get a pass to leave the post, and dumped the matter of making arrangements for his marriage in to the laps of the hostesses. They found out all the necessary information, and when he finally got the pass, it was easy enough. His bride-to-be was met in an unusual way. His best friend, a Texan (and incidentally the boy hails from Yonkers, N.J.), told him of a friend of a friend who "could go for him," and so a correspondence began, followed by picturer, a formal introduction, and love at first sight. He called her recently, proposed, and they are to be married soon. He is of Polish descent, was in defense work before joining the glider program, and has

Irrigation Needed For Shrubs, Trees

Shrubs and trees set out during the past two years need special care during the coming hot, dry weather says Miss Helen Edwards, assistant county home demonstration agent. They require the extra attention to help them live through the summer. Even the native and hardy introduced plants should have an additional supply of moisture until they can establish a root system. Afterward, most of the native and well adapted plants will get along with normal rainfall.

Where irrigation is not possible, extra moisture may be supplied to the plants by contours and depressions which will hold the rain water in spots where it is needed. The moisture may be conserved by frequent shallow cultivations of surrounding soil, or by applying mulches. Mulches may be made of well decayed vegetable matter such as leaves, grass clippings, straw, or barnyard fertilizer. On tight soils an inch or two of sand sometimes is used for mulch. When worked into the soil next year the mulches will improve its texture and water holding capacity.

Here are other summertime safeguards: Plants which compete with growing shrubs and trees should be removed. Flowers, as well as weeds, absorb a great deal of moisture which might be used by shrubs for increasing growth, fruit or blooms. If it is necessary to water plants it should be done slowly so that the water will soak into the soil several inches. A light watering which moistens only the top crust is injurious to plants.

Lucille Turner Is Sergeant's Bride

In a Tuesday evening ceremony, Miss Lucille Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Turner of Idalou, became the bride of S-Sgt. Robert C. Hedlund of Pampa Army Air field and Minnesota, with Rev. Stephens reading the single ring ceremony on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents south of Idalou.

The bride wore a navy blue marquisette dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Jack Shelton of San Diego, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, and W. F. Pruitt, jr., brother-in-law of the bride, attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, honoring members of the wedding party, relatives and close friends of the couple. Miss Lucille and Gerry Cocanougher presided at a lace-covered table centered with a two-tiered wedding cake surrounded by sweet peas and fern. The house was decorated with pink and white dahlias, sweet peas and phlox.

The couple is at home in Pampa, where Sgt. Hedlund is stationed.

"Name" Singers Said Agreeing On Request

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP) — James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, says he has asked "name" singers not to make recordings without instrumental accompaniment.

In issuing this announcement yesterday, Petrillo listed Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Connee Boswell, Barry Wood, Dick Haymes and Perro Como as among those agreeing to cooperate with his request.

Changing Fortunes Of Soldiers Form, Break Song-Writing Team

Soldiers' changing fortunes first brought together the song-writing team of Levi and Henriques, and recent transfers at Lubbock Army Air field have now brought about its dissolution.

Pfc. Burt Levi of Chicago, who wrote the lyrics for their popular joint efforts, has been sent to navigators' school, while Pfc. Dudley Henriques of New York City, responsible for the music, is now enrolled in the anti-aircraft artillery OCS at Camp Davis, N. C.

The pair first met as aviation cadets at San Antonio and at once began combining talents. Both were assigned to the twin-engine base here after elimination from pilot training at Vernon last fall, and continued their composing efforts while at work in the special service department at LAAF.

The duo teamed up on nine original compositions for the highly-popular LAAF musical comedy of last December, "Anything Can Happen." Critics who reviewed the presentation adjudged at least four of the tunes to be worthy of national distribution.

Levi, formerly a Chicago free-lance writer, has in recent months been turning out four original radio shows weekly for presentation by the LAAF special service department, headed by Capt. William A. Murphy. He also wrote and directed "Anything Can Happen."

High Schools Urged To Lay Groundwork

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP) — What the Army needs is more soldiers who can repair a tank on the battlefield with bailing wire, Texas school men were informed yesterday by Lt. Col. Jay Dykhouse of the Eighth Service command's pre-induction training division.

He was a speaker before the education for victory conference sponsored by the department of education, teacher traininig institutions and public schools in cooperation with federal agencies.

Col. Dykhouse said the Army wanted high schools to give future soldiers the groundwork, and that it could finish the job. He urged school men not to buy expensive laboratory equipment for the necessary pre-induction classes, but to utilize what they had at hand.

Mary Helen Lindsey Of Memphis Marries Cpl. Norman Heath In Home Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony performed Sunday, June 20, at 6 o'clock, Miss Mary Helen Lindsey of Memphis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lindsey of Memphis, became the bride of Cpl. Norman Heath, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Heath of Lubbock.

The Rev. E. L. Yeats, pastor of the First Methodist church performed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Mary Ruth Johnson sang "Until" and "I Love You .Turly." Miss Gertrude Rasco played the accompaniment and other pre-nuptial music including "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and Wagner's "Bridal Chorus." "Liebestraum" was played during the ceremony.

The background for the service was an improvised altar intwined with huckleberry, Boston fern, and palms with double wrought iron candelabra bearing tall white tapers. In the foreground were large baskets of pink gladioli and blue delphiumuim, the bride's chosen colors. A profusion of spring flowers was arranged throughout the house.

Sister Is Attendant

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Betty Sue Lindsey who wore a pink linen dress trimmed in white all-over embroidery with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

James Nivens of Lubbock served as best man. Gene Lindsey, brother of the bride, lighted the candles and acted as usher.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a two piece street length dress of blue aristocrat crepe that buttoned down the back with matching covered buttons. The trimming was of self colored lace. Her accessories were white and she wore a coronet of white fever few.

Carries Prayer Book

She carried a white bound prayer book topped with a shower of glameli with streamers of white satin ribbons. For "something old" and "something borrowed," she wore a clip of pink, blue, and crystal cut stones belonging to Mrs. Claud Johnson.

Mrs. Lindsey wore a white linen dress complimented with a corsage of pink gladioli.

Assist At Reception

After the bride and groom cut the first piece of cake, Mrs Gene Lindsey cut the cake, assisted with Miss Betty Lindsey and Miss Mary Ruth Johnson serving. From the serving table at the other end of the dining room, Mrs. James Nivens served blue punch from a cut-glass bowl. Mrs. Bill Hamm of McPhearson, Kan., presided at the guest book.

The couple left immediately for Lubbock where they will make their home. For travel, the bride chose a white two-piece suit with linen skirt and trim with a white all-over lace blouse and white accessories. Her off the face hat was of white felt with a bow and brief veil across the back. Her corsage was of gladioli.

Mrs. Heath is a graduate of Memphis high school and attended West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon. Cpl. Heath is a graduate of Lubbock high school and Texas Technological college, receiving a B. A. degree. He is stationed with the Army air forces at Lubbock with the South Plains Army Air Field band.

Dallas Citizens Afraid Of Women Motormen

DALLAS, June 26 (U.P.)—A Dallas citizen stood on a street corner and let two streetcars go by before he finally had the courage to board one, Mrs. L. B. Bates said today.

The man told her that he was afraid to board the cars because women were driving them, Mrs. Bates, one of Dallas' first motorwomen, said.

Mrs. Bates said she spent the day without mishap, while A. E. Harris, employment superintendent of the street railway company, said he was "thrilled" with the motorwomen's performances. Three were at work yesterday.

Hello Peoples:

Yup, Alma got home all in one piece, but Fredda's skipped out on us this time. She just hopped up on the spur of the minute and went to New York to see what she could buy up there. Alma's still talking about all those lovely things she bought, and part of them have already started coming in. The Studio should be well equipped with yard things, too, when all she ordered comes in.

On the list of things that came in during the past week are a lot of new crockery pieces in brown and turquoise including large bowls with handles (nice for chili, beans, etc.), pitchers, salt and peppers, and coolers that will do for water, lemonade, or your stronger drinks. Then, too, they already had some beer mugs that go with these coolers perfectly.

Our three seamstresses are really turning out the slip covers and draperies up in the work-room. They have so much booked up, though, that sometimes they're a little longer finishing a job than they would like to be, but, Nosey knows you'll be patient because, from what the girls say, you always are. When we stop to think that there's a war on, and everyone is just as rushed and short of helpers as we are, there aren't many of us that mind waiting then.

Until next week, Good-bye,
Nosey III.

Shuttle Bombing Is New Allied Threat

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 26—There are ominous portents for the Axis in the British experiment in round-trip shuttle bombing flights between England and North Africa.

It raises a question whether the whole weight of Allied air power, in England and Africa, may suddenly be concentrated to blast invasion bridgeheads through the western or southern walls of the Axis European fortress when the moment comes.

That possibility must double the strain under which the Axis high command is laboring in deploying its defensive forces to guard three fronts simultaneously. It cannot hope to match the awe-inspiring air power that could be thus massed virtually overnight. What happened to Pantelleria well could prove a mild foretaste of what might happen to any selected continental invasion bridgehead.

The shuttle-bombing experiment, if that is what it was, brought two enemy targets, Friedrichshafen in southwestern Germany and Spezia in northwestern Italy, under fire. The big ships flew their bomb loads some 500 miles to the target in each case, then 700 miles more to Tunisia outward bound and to England on the return trip.

A substantial part of both British and American plane and personnel losses in recent raids on Germany have been incurred on the way home. Nazi fighter fleets apparently have hovered over the return route when they failed to intercept the bombers on their approach. That seems to be well established by the fact that the shuttle planes encountered little or no opposition when they kept on toward bases in Tunisia or England beyond their targets and did not turn back as the enemy had expected.

One immediate result must be greater dispersion of Nazi fighter strength. The defenders will never know hereafter when a bomber raid moves in from the west anywhere along the 1,200 mile pathway across the continent from England to Tunisia whether it will turn back after dropping its eggs or go on. That of itself should tend to keep Allied losses down.

Loss Of Submarine Announced By Navy

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — Recent loss of the small submarine R-12 and part of her crew during training operations has been announced by the Navy. The statement, giving no details, attributed the loss "probably" to accident and not to enemy action.

How many of the normal complement of 28 were lost, the Navy did not say, but it attributed the indications of accident to "survivors."

The scene of the sinking was not given beyond the statement that it was off the East coast, nor was the date given.

"A number of officers and men were unable to escape from the vessel before it sank," the Navy said. "The depth of water makes it impossible to salvage the submarine and hope has been abandoned for recovery of the bodies of the missing personnel."

The R-12 had a displacement of 530 tons on the surface and 680 submerged. Commissioned in 1919, the R-12 was the ninth American submarine announced as lost since Pearl Harbor.

Sponsorship Of Tax Bill Argued

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — With pay-as-you-go taxation effective less than a week hence—July 1—neither Republicans nor Democrats in Congress were disposed today to claim credit as the authors.

During a House debate yesterday, Rep. Patman (D-Tex) said pay-as-you-go was a Republican bill, and House G. O. P. Leader Martin, of Massachusetts, leaped to his feet immediately with a denial.

Patman said the Republicans were trying to put "the monkey" on somebody else's back.

"Much has been said by our good friends on the Republican side, commented the Texan, "that they could do much better running this war and running our domestic government if they just had charge of it.

"There is one bill that passed the Congress a while back that is a Republican bill—strictly, solely and purely a Republican bill. That was the tax bill. The Republicans wrote that bill, they are entitled to the credit, and I am willing to give them credit."

Martin shot back:

"The compromise which passed came from a distinguished senator, the senator from Georgia, Mr. George." The Texan replied:

"Of course, in placing the monkey around on different backs (I am sure the gentleman would like to place it on somebody else's back) but the fact remains that the gentleman boasted he got his amendment (the modified Ruml skip-a-year plan), substantially his amendment, written into law."

"The gentleman knew that our amendment was rejected by this House on three occasions returned Martin. "There was the one part of the tax bill which the people will object to rather strenuously—the proposal by the Treasury department, which was supported by the Democrats, and that is the withholding part of the bill."

Patman closed off the debate:

"You had to have the withholding tax to pay what you were forgiving the war millionaires. We forgave under that bill the millionaires seven or eight billion dollars and you had to put this 20 per cent withholding tax on in order to pay that. So on July 1, when that tax bill goes into effect, it can be pointed to as an example of legislative clarity on the part of our Republican friends."

LANA TURNER: looks lovely in new low necklines

Cream Massage And Active Participation In Sports Will Banish Scrawny Necks

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

This year's new lows in necklines are making it more important than ever that you keep your throatline lovely. Sweetheart, drawstring and square-cut necklines are not at all flattering to a neck with hollows, jutting collar bones and noticeable cords.

But these faults can readily be remedied in most cases, if a strict exercise and massage routine is followed.

"Sports is the best formula I know for filling out a thin neck," advises luscious Lana Turner, the number one pin-up girl of service men all over the world, and star of the current film "Slightly Dangerous."

"Go in for tennis, golf and particularly swimming—sports which bring all of the neck and shoulder muscles into play. Naturally," she added, "massage with a rich, nourishing cream in gentle, upward and outward strokes, is very important too."

Such a nightly treatment, the star finds, not only nourishes the tissues, but improves the color and texture of the skin because it promotes circulation.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: On the first of July, the Navy will welcome several Tech boys, for Billy Boston and John Keffer will leave for Columbia university, New York; Lehmer Graham, J. D. Milner, Marion Fox and others will leave for Pittsburgh, Kans. And it's rumored that Roy Williams also is to leave for the Navy in July . . . We saw Ruth Castle eating an orange in a local theater recently. Now we've seen everything! . . . Bob Weddle, Tech journalist, left recently for the Navy . . . Remember Wylma Ruth Turner, attractive coed from San Angelo? She and Linn Cooper, popular ed from Houston, tied the familiar knot recently . . . Billie Hightower, Army dietician at Texas Technological college, is to report to Seattle, Wash., Monday, as dietician at a Navy dormitory . . . We've never seen anyone who seems to get as much fun out of life as Leona Gelin, supervisor at the recreation center . . . Can anyone tell us what has happened to handsome Jack Green, former student at Tech? Has he joined the growing list of khaki-clads?

Mostly Khaki

Lt. Jamie P. Luttrell, company commander of WAACs at Lubbock Army Air field, made a quick hit in Lubbock. We've heard nothing but complimentary remarks! Miss Luttrell hails from Frankfort, Ky. . . . We hear that Glider Pilot Howard Johnson, SPAAF and Rock Island, Ill., never dates the same girl twice. Quite a Casanova, doncha think? . . . S/Sgt. Jack Grant and Mildred Kuykendall have reached that familiar decision, and plan to exchange vows in August . . . Is the front-row sax player in the South Plains band from Abilene? . . . We wonder whether Sgt. Charles "Chuck" Brown, SPAAF and North Carolina, knows a certain li'l gal thinks he's plenty okay? For that matter, who doesn't? . . . We never see Sgt. and Mrs. Walter S. Reiter any more. And what's more, we really miss 'em! . . . Beuna Burress has that far away look in her eyes these days. Could it be because of her new excitement, Glider Pilot Bill Berlin? Could be! . . . Remember James Green, better known as "Slime" Green? We saw him in Lubbock the other day. He's in the Marine corps, and says there's nothing like it. James has been on overseas duty for some time, and when we saw him, he was on his way to Norman, Okla. . . . A certain very likeable and very attractive Lubbock girl receives an almost daily letter from Aviation Cadet Wayland Freeman, now stationed in Austin . . . Bob Cope, younger brother of Marjorie Cope, is taking pre-flight training in California.

* * *

BARBARA FORREST, Mary McKinney, Francine Young and Bettie Jo Wolfe were among Tech coeds attending the recent Wrangler reunion in Dallas . . . Lubbock girls will agree when we nominate J. C. Powell for one of the cutest ever! . . . Charles Steed, Tech photographer, has been seen frequently with one of Tech's most attractive coeds . . . Orchids to our two all-time favorites, Dean and Mrs. James G. Allen . . . We can't say enough about "Random Harvest," so we'll say nothing at all other than nominate it for the Academy Award of 1943 . . . Preflighter Ken Wheeler, who hails from Michigan, has been seen on numerous occasions with one of Tech's most charming beauties. We are referring to Gladys Ruth McNamara, and we'd say he's really a lucky boy.

HERE 'N THERE

Lt. Chester Slingerland and Halcyon Stagner are to take their vows at a Stamford church today . . . We like to—hear the LAAF band vocalist give out with "Pass the Biscuits Mirandy;" watch the changing facial expressions of Mrs. George Lemon, for her very vital personality is reflected there; see Cadet George Kalb dance; talk to Mrs. John Cox, who has the friendliest voice ever! . . . At a recent cadet dance, two Southern belles and two Yankee cadets were re-fighting the Civil war, and one of the girls made the remark, "I still think Lee was framed!" And the other girl, paying no particular attention to the conversation, and a great deal of attention to the cadet, chimed in, "Lee who?" G'bye now.

Love,
Lou.

President's Veto Brings Criticism

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — The whirlwind enactment of the anti-strike bill over President Roosevelt's veto today prompted Republican assertions that there would be no fourth term and counter contentions that the action should not be considered a reflection on the executive.

Elated at the result of Senate and House votes overriding the veto, Senator Wherry (R-Neb) told reporters:

"This is the first concrete evidence that there will be no fourth term."

The President's veto of the measure also provoked sharp criticism from members of his own party, with Senator Byrd (D-Va) asserting that the action was laden with politics.

"The veto was not the act of Franklin Roosevelt, commander in chief of the Army and Navy in time of a desperate war," Byrd declared. "It was the act of Franklin Roosevelt, candidate for re-election to a fourth term as president of the United States."

On the other hand, Senator Pepper (D-Fla), who voted to override the veto in the Senate, said he thought Congress' action expressed only a bi-partican determination to prevent further strikes in war industries such as the coal walkouts.

Pressure Is Used

Pepper said pressure from members of the armed forces and their relatives had a hand in congressional determination to take action on the strike question.

Chairman Van Nuys (D-Ind) of the conference committee which whipped the anti-strike bill into final form, expressed the opinion that the passage over the presidential veto "demonstrated a reassertion of the independence of the legislative department of the government."

Aching Feet Get Amazing Relief

Buy-A-Jeep Week Is To Be Held At Parks

"Buy-a-jeep week" will be observed, starting Monday, by participants in the summer parks recreation program, according to announcement Saturday by Miss Effie Lou Keaster, supervisor.

Square dances also are planned in four of the parks during the week, she reported.

The objective of the buy-a-jeep observance will be to sell enough war stamps to buy one of these vehicles, Miss Keaster said. This will require the sale of $900 worth of stamps.

Applications also are to be taken for the purchase of war bonds which will be delivered to the homes of the buyers.

A contest is to be staged in connection with the stamp sales, with the following quotas for the parks: Pioneer, $200; Rollie Burns and Carlisle, $225 each; Mackenzie, $100; and Booker T. Washington, $150. Free refreshments and entertainment will be arranged next week in the winning park.

Square dances in Rollie Burns park Monday night, in Pioneer Tuesday night, in Carlisle Thursday night and in Mackenzie Friday night, each from 8:30 until 10 o'clock; and a variety program in Booker T. Washington negro park Wednesday night from 8:30 until 10.

Other activities will be carried on daily in all the parks, including craft instructions, games, tournaments, story-telling, dramatics and various others, Miss Keaster said.

East Coast Is Facing New Gasoline Crisis

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — The east coast faced a new crisis in gasoline today, and it was anybody's guess whether passenger gasoline rations would have to be cut again in July.

Talk was revived of suspending all A cards, and an Office of Price administration spokesman admitted this was a possibility.

Suspension of the A coupons, it was said, would be a "last resort."

The civilian allotment, made yesterday, was 328,000 barrels a day for all civilian use throughout July, August and September — the months that used to find eastern America hitting the tourist and vacation highways.

The allotment was 2,000 barrels higher than that for June but some OPA officials estimated that the season gain in commercial use would result in a net loss to passenger cars of about 7,000 barrels a day in July.

There was some indication OPA would appeal to Ickes for increased supplies entering the East, but a spokesman for the Petroleum Administration for War shrugged off this report with the comment: "There just isn't any more gasoline available."

This Thief Finds Out Turnabout Fair Play

DALLAS, June 26 (AP)—It's a mean thief who'll steal a man's shoes off him, William Ralston, 24, of Dallas, said today.

After a robber took Ralston's ring and watch, he forced him to take off his shoes. Ralston went home barefoot.

Shortly afterward, the thief was arrested in front of a downtown pawnshop. Police made him take off the shoes. He went to jail barefoot.

Wheat Growers Face Storage, Car Problem

PLAINVIEW, June 26 (Special)—Wheat growers outside Hale county are besieging the Plainview elevators for storage space for their wheat.

Elevator owners here say available space will be given over first to those farmers who have been regular patrons of the local storage facilities through the past years. This policy has been adopted by all of the Plainview elevator men, it is announced.

John Lucas, Santa Fe railroad agent, joined elevator men in warning that a shortage of available cars is imminent. Elevators in the territory west of Plainview were closed down because of this during the last week-end. A trainload of empty freight cars did move, however, over the Fort Worth and Denver road Monday, giving some relief.

Lucas said there are a large number of freight cars which would be available if there were sufficient locomotives to move them. Local requisitions for cars all have been met but the situation may grow more acute, he said.

D. P. Everett, Fort Worth and Denver agent, said that on Monday of this week his road was able to furnish about one-half the cars demanded, and since then there have been few cars available and now there are no more available in sight.

BARRYMORE WARDROBE

HOLLYWOOD, June 26. (AP)—Dozens of shirts, colorful pajamas, cravats, shoes, shirts, socks and one girdle—comprising John Barrymore's $10,000 wardrobe—will be auctioned next week to settle the late actor's estate.

Dolly Madison's former home, in Guilford, N. C., now rents for $30 a month.

Steel capacity of the United States has increased more than 40 per cent since 1918.

Church Notes

Revival services will begin Tuesday evening at the First Church of God, Avenue G and Seventeenth street, conducted by Rev. and Mrs. Joe Rountree, West Plains, Mo. Starting at 8:15 p. m., services will be held each evening from Tuesday, June 29th through Saturday, July 11th.

The regular fourth Sunday singing at the Foursquare Gospel church at Avenue Q and Eighth street will be conducted from 2 to 4 o'clock this afternoon, P. O. Brock, chairman, announced. Several quartets are expected. The public is invited to attend, he said.

"The Weapon of Our Warfare" will be the subject of Chaplain R. T. Miller of the Lubbock Army Air field on Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Chaplain Miller will also conduct a special hospital service and one for the colored soldiers. Chaplain J. F. McKenna will conduct Mass at 8:30 a. m. at LAAF and at 11 a. m. at SPAAF.

Stevenson Reaffirms Good Neighbor Policy

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP) — The good neighbor policy has been reaffirmed by Gov. Coke Stevenson as the public policy of Texas.

In a proclamation issued yesterday, he directed "all citizens of the state to observe the principles of said good neighbor policy, and to abide by it to the fullest extent in both spirit and letter."

The policy set up by resolution of the House during the last session of the Legislature, extending "full and equal accommodations, advantages, and privileges of all public places of business or amusement" to Mexicans and other Latin-Americans resident or visiting in Texas was re-stated by the governor in the document, which was issued with this explanation in its text:

"The cordial relations between the Republic of Mexico and the United States of America are vulnerable to injury or sabotage on the part of a few irresponsible or malicious persons who may make unjust distinctions against Mexicans or the descendants of Mexicans, and in so doing may succeed in hampering the prompt and full utilization of all resources in this great emergency."

Navy Patrol Blimp Christening Is Held

AKRON, Ohio, June 26. (AP)—Ranking naval officers joined executives and employes of the Goodyear Aircraft Corp. today in christening a Navy blimp destined for anti-submarine patrol over the Atlantic or Pacific.

The christening is the first since 1931, when the U. S. S. Macon was introduced.

Black

Cool as Shadow...

There's nothing like black! You've heard smart women say it over and over, year after year. And here are this year's best blacks, all in a dress-up mood; enlivened with the gleam of satin, the fragility of lace, the gaiety of flowers. Their silhouettes are new, conforming to the best interests of the war effort with slimmed lines and everything at a minimum — except their good looks!

Food Supply Seems To Be Sufficient

BY MAX HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

There is so much loose talk now about shortages of food, and of the cost of various products, that a comparison with what the rest of the world is eating may be worthwhile.

I am convinced after several personal shopping trips that the food situation — at least in New York — is being exaggerated. We are not hungry now, nor are we likely to be hungry in the future.

It is quite obvious that we may have to change some of our fancy eating habits, but that is about all.

Food Is Wasted

Ever since I returned from Japan in the exchange ship Gripsholm in the autumn of 1942 I have been astonished and more than a little worried by our waste of food. Our garbage pails contain enough scraps to feed either Germany or Italy or Japan in far better fashion than they eat now.

And as for prices, what would you say should a merchant demand $5 for a melon something like a canteloupe, or if you had to stand in line four hours every day for a skimpy portion of rationed rice or fish? In Japan, food shortages are accepted as an inevitable result of the war.

Midwest Has Supply

I recently returned from a tour through the midwest, and nowhere did I find an area where people couldn't buy more than they needed to eat.

Mayor LaGuardia summed the situation up very well after his return yesterday from Washington, where he had been conferring with officials on ways to relieve the meat shortage in New York. He said:

"I have been promised direct action. But I don't want anyone to think they are going to have luscious juicy steaks on their tables Sunday." But he virtually promised other types of meat.

Should Be Realistic

What would our soldiers in Africa, on Attu, on Guadalcanal and in New Guinea think of such an unbearable hardship? Or the hungry millions of occupied Holland, where they have less than fifty per cent of the food eaten before the war? Or a Japanese housewife who for years hasn't been able to buy even the usual one-third pint bottle of blue skim milk for her son or daughter?

Let us be realistic about the war. We cannot have the luxury and ease we have had in the past. The Axis is fighting an all-out, 24-hour-a-day battle against us. We must do the same. To say the least, we will suffer less and enjoy more than any other nation in the world.

Farm Labor Shortage Acute In Plainview

PLAINVIEW, June 26 (Special) —C. B. Martin, county extension agent, in a mass meeting called to review the farm labor situation, asked all urban citizens to join a volunteer corps to aid farmers in their acute manpower shortage.

County officials joined in the meeting. The farms offer many jobs; wheat harvesting needs men; farm hauling needs men; row crops need hoeing and cultivating; farm jobs are not easy, but are easier than dodging bullets if the food is not forthcoming, Martin warned.

Townspeople who are available even for a part of a day are being mobilized. There was some talk that persons not working at all should be made to work, with vagrancy charges considered as a recourse. Those in non-essential jobs and industry also are being appealed to.

County Judge Frank Day and County Agent Martin told the crowd the chances of obtaining a sub-camp of war prisoners from the internment camp in Castro county are found to be slim, almost hopeless.

It developed at the meeting that at this time the kind of labor most needed is hand labor, a kind of work almost any person can do. The chamber of commerce and service clubs have undertaken the task of making a survey and compiling a census of available men and women and young persons who would fill the crops corps.

Shortage Of Rubber In U. S. Is Denied

HOUSTON, June 26. (AP)—Although the OPA has slowed down the distribution of passenger car tires, there has never been a shortage of rubber in the United States, William O'Neil, president of the General Tire and Rubber company, said here.

"Passenger car tires, made from reclaimed rubber and good for 7,500 to 10,000 miles, in quantities which can meet civilian demands can be released today," the executive said last night.

"The rubber industry has twice as much reclaimed rubber as can be reclaimed in any one year."

O'Neil and other rubber officials will attend the formal opening of the General Tire and Rubber company's synthetic rubber plant at Baytown Monday.

O'Neil said Germany was not ahead of the United States in the making of synthetic rubber.

Discussing the postwar prospects of synthetic rubber plants in Texas, O'Neil said these plants together with natural rubber would continue to exist after the war.

Pipe In White House To Be Replaced Soon

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP) — President Roosevelt came up with a new Coolidge story today — he said the 30th president, noted for his New England thrift, had second-hand pipe used for a White House steam line.

It was a worthwhile economy, Mr. Roosevelt remarked, but after about 20 years service the line is giving out and will be replaced very shortly.

Mr. Roosevelt said the new line would cost about $25,000 and that fortunately the pipe was available in stock piles.

"Lifeboat" Action Is Crammed Into 26-Foot Lifeboat

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 — The other day we said that Alfred Hitchcock's next picture, "Lifeboat," sounded like a talkie to end all talkies. After all, we figured, there isn't much chance for action when you film an entire picture in a 26-foot lifeboat with a cast of seven men and two not-so-attractive, middle-aged women. But today we take it all back. With a promise not to reveal the story, Hitchcock entrusted us with the plot. It's just as suspenseful as Hitchcock's other memorable movie, "Rebecca." It's a honey. We can't reveal the big punch, but we can tell you that one of those seven men, whose fate motivates the plot, is the captain of the Nazi sub which sunk their ship; that a mother commits suicide after holding her dead baby for three days and that there's a psychological twist that should make it one of the year's most-talked-about films.

Hitchcock

"After all," says Hitchcock, commenting on his one set, "the backgrounds in films usually are out of focus anyway. My characters may not be able to move as freely, but I can still move my camera." And when Hitchcock moves his camera, as you'll remember in "Rebecca," plenty can happen.

PENNY-PINCHING

IT'S SAM JAFFE'S story about the quickie producer who was told by his art director that they would need eight gondolas for a sequence in their next film. "Why eight gondolas?" asked the producer, blankly. "Well," explained the art director, "they'll make the scenes authentic, floating in the background." "Look," said the penny-pinching, not-so-bright producer, "this picture doesn't start for a month. Can't we just get two gondolas, put 'em in the water and let them multiply?"

COMEDY CURSE

JACK OAKIE'S first venture into serious screen drama will be his last. Script of "Winter Time" called for Jack to propose marriage to sonja Henie. The studio thought it would be unusual and provocative for the comedian to play the scene straight. The camera started, Oakie got down on his knees and went through the lines without a smile. The result was a howl of laughter from cast and crew. The script has been changed. When Oakie proposes to Sonja, he plays the scene for laughs.

"Air Force," Story Of Saviors Of Sky, Is Story Of Flying Fortress At The Lindsey

Except for a couple of incidental roles, the cast of "Air Force" is composed of the bomber's crew, featuring John Garfield, Gig Young, Harry Carey, George Tobias, Arthur Kennedy, James Brown, John Ridgely, Ray Montgomery and Ward Wood.

Caught Above Pearl Harbor

Made with the cooperation of the United States government, the story is concerned with the trials and tribulations of one "Mary Ann," a B-17, caught unprepared above the embattled waters of the south Pacific during the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor.

Starting when the "Mary Ann" and its crew of nine leave on a peace-time mission to Honolulu, the story tells of the emergency landing when the crew learns of the attack. With their destination Wake island, they arrive there only to learn that they must take off at once for Manila. Encountering difficulties on the way, the fliers make a hazardous landing at Clark field, where they are attacked while loading ammunition.

"Desperadoes" At Tower

Starting the week at the Tower is the western adventure film, "The Desperadoes," which features Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford, Claire Trevor, Evelyn Keyes and Edgar Buchanan.

The story is concerned with Cheyenne Rogers (Ford), manhunted killed who rides into Red Valley and discovers that he knows the town's sheriff (Scott) and that the Countess (Miss Trevor), who runs a gambling hall, is a former childhood sweetheart. Rogers falls in love with a girl and learns that her father is the man for whom he played to rob the town's bank. He tries to go straight but is caught in a mesh of romance and intrigue which leads him to a legal hanging. He escapes, with the aid of the sheriff, and returns to rid Sun Valley of its supposedly "better" citizens.

"Casablanca," which portrays the dangerous existence of refugees stranded in that north African city, is on the menu at the Broadway today through Tuesday. The film stars Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman and Paul Henreid, with a featured supported cast headed by Claude Rains, Conrad Veidt, Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre.

Slated at the Lyric today through Tuesday is "Once Upon a Honeymoon," a comedy film with Ginger Rogers and Cary Grant.

John Garfield, George Tobias and Harry Carey in a scene from "Air Force," a story of the saviors of the sky, showing at the Lindsey today through Wednesday.

The film reports a fascinating trip through five Latin-American countries as seen through the eyes of Mr. Duck, and records the madcap adventures of the popular Goofy as a gaucho. Combined with the colorful impressions of the peoples, customs, and scenery of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Bolivia depicted in animation and with the stirring music of these countries, are "live" shots of the 20,000-mile air trip made by Disney artists to get material for the film.

Sequence Is Colorful

Fred MacMurray And Paulette Goddard Are Stars Of "The Forest Rangers" At Tech

The supporting cast includes Lynne Overman, Eugene Pallette, Albert Dekker, Regis Toomey and Rod Cameron.

Actual Fire Is Filmed

Miss Goddard plays a society girl from the East who catches Forest Ranger MacMurray in an unguarded moment and marries him. The fight starts when the ranger brings his new wife home and she meets the girl he jilted, impersonated by Susan Hayward.

Director George Marshall is a stickle for authenticity and realism. Hearing of an actual 1250-acre fire near Lakeview, Ore., he and his camera crews flew there and covered the blaze both aerially and from the ground.

His Success Is Due To Lonely Childhood, Frank Sinatra, New Singing Idol, Believes

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer

NEW YORK, June 26.—Frank Sinatra, 25-year-old singing idol of teen-aged femininity, believes his success is due to a lonely childhood!

"As an only child, I used to sing to cheer myself," says Frank, brushing back his light-brown cowlick. "Sure I did things like other kids too—built model planes and read books—but I liked to sing.

Line Starts At Dawn

Frank still sings sentimental tunes. The line at the theater where the current "girl crush" is appearing starts at dawn. Girls sit in the audience sobbing to Sinatra tunes, some throw their arms about him when he leaves the theater, one bandaged her arm because he had brushed by it.

"You see, I understand those kids," says Frank. "Some of them must be lonesome like I was, so I sing the way I think they'll like it. I put shading into my singing—when I sing the word soft—I sing it s-o-f-t. And the same with love, moon, night or day, I try to give a song meaning."

Fans His Greatest Trouble

The admiring fans—"stage-door clippers"—are his biggest problem, he says. There are "lapel clippers"—he's had so many lapels torn off he's just ordered three corduroy jackets without lapels; "handkerchief clippers" and "tie-clip clippers" whom he believes "must practice at home on their brothers their technique is so perfect."

Girls between the ages of 15 and 25 he estimates to be his most avid admirers. Older women are bashful, he says, and even when asking for an autograph, mumble that its for a niece or nephew.

Wife Not Jealous

Fan mail, which on his birthday approximated 5,000 cards, is opened by him and his wife Nancy, whom he says "isn't the least jealous"—not even of mash notes or complaints from fans who resent his wearing a gold wedding ring.

His draft status at present is 3-A because of his wife and 3-year-old child. He has sold over $2,000,000 in bonds auctioning off tunes—"Black Magic" brought $50,000—and has been singing in camps and hospitals for service men.

But success hasn't surprised Frank because he "always knew it would happen." His first real notice, he recalls, occurred when he was with Harry James at the Roseland, singing "Day In Day Out" which he would break-up (put over) every time. He had spent days playing the records of Colombo, Downey and Crosby and had decided it was their individual style that put them over. Then he thought—"well there's never been a Sinatra before."

Summer Band Concert To Be Held Monday

A concert will be presented at 8:30 o'clock Monday night on the lawn of the textile engineering building at Texas Technological college by musicians of the summer band school and the Army pre-flight detachment on the campus, D. O. Wiley, band school director, announced.

The program will be free to the public.

A Frangesa (Mario Costa), Spanish march; Prelude to Third Act of Kunihild (Kistler); Tarantella (G. E. Holmes); An Excerpt from The Magic Flute (Mozart); Vistas (Gillette); Saltarello (Gounod); Old Refrain (Kreisler); Slavonic Serenade (Shadwell); The Texas Plains (A. L. Casseday); and The Star Spangled Banner (Key).

W. G. Skipworth, band director of Kosoiusko, Miss., and a student in the band school, will direct Tarantella, An Excerpt from The Magic Flute and Vistas. Wiley will direct remainder of the concert.

Approximately 70 or 80 musicians will take part.

Negro Preacher Held For Draft Evasion

"Gentleman Jim" And "Wake Island" Are Double Feature Attractions At The Arcadia

TWO excellent pictures are slated today and Monday at the Arcadia. They are "Wake Island," with Brian Donlevy and Robert Preston, and "Gentleman Jim," with Errol Flynn and Alan Hale.

"Wake Island" depicts the courage of the marines in their 14-day stand against the Japs. While it is an authentic reenactment of the battle, the film tells the thrilling stories of the men as they fought it for their loved ones left behind.

Filmed With Marines

It was filmed with the help of the U. S. Marine corps. The leading players went through a preliminary training period to prepare them for their Marine roles.

Other players are MacDonald Carey, Albert Dekker and Walter Abel.

Plot of the second attraction is the life of James J. Corbett, former heavyweight ring champion. The film picks up Corbett as an obscure bank clerk, possessed of all the traits and tricks of today's social-climbers ,whose business throws him in contact with a wealthy girl who accidentally provides the opportunity for meeting people in the upper strata. His fistic prowess gets him a sponsored membership in the exclusive Olympic club of San Francisco's post gold rush days, then is forced into professional ranks in which he climbs to the peak and wrests the championship from John L. Sullivan.

Other players are Jack Carson, Alexis Smith, John Loder and Ward Bond, who plays Sullivan.

"Pre-Airities Of 1943" To Be Given Tuesday Night At Tech Gym By Pre-Flighters

Talented and versatile young college men from all sections of the United States will be featured Tuesday night at Texas Tech gymnasium when the 309th College Training Detachment presents "Pre-Airities of 1943", an original musical revue.

For several weeks the future pilots, navigators and bombardiers have been giving their spare time to produce a hit production. Pvts. Arthur B. Sweetser of Geneva, Switzerland and Joseph Ruffner III of Philadelphia, Pa., wrote the original script for the production and will be featured as masters of ceremonies.

Raskin Is Supervisor

The entire production is under the supervision of Pvt. Melvin Raskin. Chorus direction of the show is by Pvt. Robert Prather, assisted by Pvt. Louis Stommel, both of Hollywood. Pvt. Prather, who sings the solo number, "This Is Worth Fighting For," formerly was associated with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The show will be presented at 8 p. m. Music will be furnished by the Detachment Dance Band under the direction of Pvt. Bob Andrzejewski of Milwaukee, Wis.

Post-War $400 Car Planned By Kaiser

DETROIT, June 26 (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser plans a $400 post-war automobile.

The pacific coast shipbuilder unveiled a prototype of the car here today and announced he would market it in every gasoline station in the country.

"My principal concern now is war production," he said, "but war production and production for after the war go hand-in-hand."

Kaiser predicted that 10,000,000 persons in this country could pay cash for a $400 car. His statement that he planned to merchandise it through gas stations was in answer to query about plans for a dealer organization.

"Every gasoline station can sell this car," he declared, "and they can sell it for cash, eliminating the financing charges and much merchandising overhead. We'll sell it without turn-ins."

"Affectionately Yours" Is At Midway With Oberon, Morgan, Hayworth And Bellamy

A SPRIGHTLY movie chock-full of inanities—"Affectionately Yours"—begins at the Midway today for a three-day engagement. The capable cast includes Merle Oberon, Dennis Morgan, Rita Hayworth, Ralph Bellamy, George Tobias, James Gleason and Hattie McDaniel.

The plot has Morgan, a foreign correspondent, returning hurriedly from Lisbon when he hears his wife, Miss Oberon, is divorcing him to marry Bellamy. His frantic efforts to get her to reconsider are unavailing, even when he uses Miss Hayworth as a foil. But finally, by feigning injury in an accident, he literally takes her from the altar.

Stephens CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

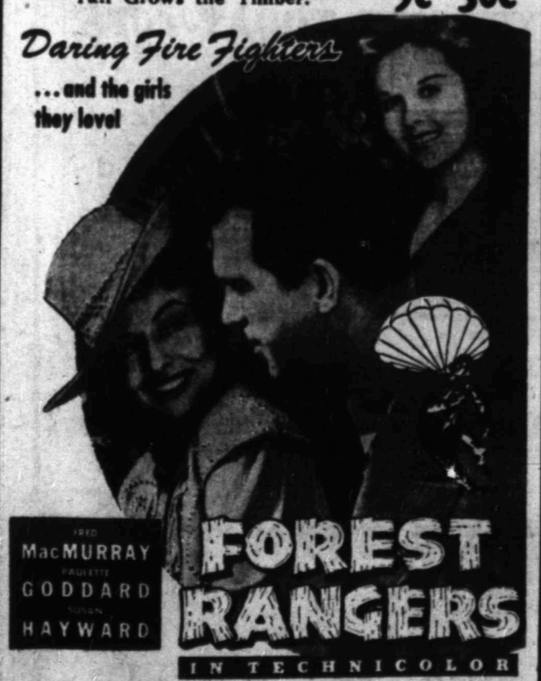

CASE HISTORY No. 1430 — Lady, age 40, who had arthritis, constipation, intense pain in the shoulder, knees, and almost all joints in the body were swollen and she had much pain. She also had headaches. She was carried into my office in November of 1942. At this time she was unable to walk, turn in bed, or take care of herself in any way. She began the chiropractic service and after six months she is walking, sometimes several blocks, driving her car, and is so much better that she feels she has been saved from a life time of suffering and misery. Her constipation is better, and she seldom has a headache.

CASE HISTORY NO. 378 — Lady age 34 who before coming to a chiropractor had almost died with heart trouble. She was extremely nervous, had indigestion, stomach trouble, leakage of the heart, numbness all over the body, could not sleep, and was losing much weight. She began taking Chiropractic services and almost all the above symptoms disappeared and she feels like a different person.

CHIROPRACTIC BENEFITS—There is no person, regardless of his duties, that can perform his work with the same efficiency when he has interference to nerve energy between his brain and his body as he can if there is no interference between his brain and body. If you have a vertebra out of place causing pressure upon the spinal cord within the spinal canal you have a cutting down of the quantity of nerve energy between your brain and your body. The cutting down of the quantity of nerve force between your brain and your body cuts down on the ability of your body to function. The cutting down of the nerve forces, regardless of how small, cuts down your efficiency because your ability will vary with the quality of the nerve force received from the brain. The condition may be minor now but may be serious in 10 years. An efficient chiropractor taking care of you may mean everything to your health and may have everything to do with whether you will be able to meet your everyday problems efficiently or not.

Our Buses Can Serve You Better If You Pick The Right Days And Schedules

It is all important today that you make the most patriotic use of wartime Bus transportation.

. . . you can aid by choosing mid-week rather than week-end days for travel . . . and by selecting from Texas-New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches' many daily schedules the buses on which more seats are available. Your Bus Agent will gladly tell you which these schedules are.

Due to the heavy passenger traffic on all lines, we are compelled to limit all baggage to one piece for each paid fare. May we have your cooperation!

Lt. Cobb visited his parents here last weekend. He is a former student of Texas Technological college and member of the Silver Key club. He was assigned to the U. S. Marine Corps reserve.

TO GRADUATE SOON

PAMPA ARMY AIR FIELD, PAMPA — Aviation cadet Richard I. Tubbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Clifford Tubbs, Floydada, will soon receive his silver pilot's wings here. He has had training at Muskogee, Okla., and Independence, Kans. He attended Floydada High school and Texas Tech.

HEADQUARTERS, Panama Canal department.—First Lt. Garmer G. Shaffer, of Lubbock, Tex., is one of 37 officers and 50 enlisted men to receive the Air Medal at a base in the Caribbean Area for meritorious achievement while participating in long-range ocean patrol flights. At an impressive ceremony, Col. Forrest G. Allen, commanding officer of a bombardment group, pinned the medals on the officers and enlisted men, and in a brief talk commended them all for their accomplishments. Lieut. Shaffer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Shaffer, 2007 Twenty-second st., Lubbock. He is a graduate of Lubbock Senior High school and Texas Tech. He was commissioned second lieutenant, September 6, 1942, and promoted to his present rank, May 10, 1943.

2nd Lt. William B. Jones having completed a six weeks course of military instruction and physical conditioning at the Air Forces Officer Training school at Miami Beach, Florida, was graduated with his class in the Air Forces of the Army of the United States. He is prepared to take over executive duties in Air Forces maintenance that parallel the responsible position he held in civilian life. As a civilian, Lt. Jones lived at 2402 Twenty-seventh street. His wife, Mrs. Alpha L. Jones lives at same address.

Cadet John Henry Baumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baumgardner of Wellington, is a member of a class of student officers and aviation cadets to be graduated soon from the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying school at Stockton Field, California. He will be made a full-fledged pilot and will be given the coveted silver wings. He will be placed on active duty in his rank with the Army Air Forcer. Before entering the final and advanced course at Stockton field, Cadet Baumgardner completed 18 weeks of primary and basic training at Tucson and Marana, Arizona. Cadet Baumgardner attended Texas Technological college.

AT JEFFERSON BARRACKS

JEFFERSON BARRACKS, Mo. —Rhumelous L. McClure, son of Mrs. T. A. McClure, Shallowater, Tex., has entered here as a private. He will be given a vocational aptitude test to qualify him for duties in various services attached with the Army air forces. He is a graduate of Shallowater High school.

AT KEESLER FIELD

KEESLER FIELD, Biloxi, Miss. —Pvt. Orval Pickett, son of W. I. Pickett, Brownfield, Texas, was promoted to the grade of private first class this week and enrolled in Keesler's huge B-24 Liberator mechanics school. Pvt. Pickett's promotion, and his selection for technical training, were results of the high scores he received in his Army mechanical aptitude tests. His course, directed by the Technical Training command of the Army Air Forces, will last 17 weeks and will include training in B-24 maintenance, hydraulics, fuel and electrical systems, propellers, instruments, engines and inspection. The last eight days of the course will place him in the open under simulated battle conditions where he will have an opportunity to apply in the field what he has learned in hangars and workshops.

Pvt. Otis O. Holly, son of Mrs. Ida Holly, 606-B Avenue M, who recently completed his basic training in the Marine corps base at San Diego, Calif., has been stationed at Terminal Island, where he is on guard duty at the big naval base, according to word received by his mother. Pvt. Holly recently was home for a few days, his furlough ending June 2. Before entering the service April 1, he was employed here by the Waples-Platter Grocery Co. He is 18, and attended Lubbock High school.

Second Lt. W. B. Gilbert of Flomot has completed his training at the Naval Air station, Pensacola, Fla., and has been commissioned in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve. Lt. Gilbert graduated from the Flomot High school, and attended Texas Technological college at Lubbock, where he lettered in football and boxing. Lt. Gilbert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gilbert of Flomot. He received his preflight training at Athens, Ga.

Aviation Cadet Tommy E. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis, sr., 1719 Avenue K, has completed his basic flying instruction at Waco Army Flying school, and transferred to Victoria where he will take his advanced training. Cadet Davis, a graduate of Lubbock High school, was an employe of Lubbock General hospital before entering the air corps last October. He received his training at Kelly field, San Antonio, Sweetwater and Cuero. He was recently married to Corinne Cates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cates of Los Angeles, formerly of Slaton. Mrs. Davis is residing in Victoria.

GARDEN CITY ARMY AIR FIELD, Garden City, Kans.—Eli F. McMahon, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli F. McMahon, 1926 Avenue O, Lubbock, Tex., has been promoted from private to corporal, according to announcement by his commanding officer, Col. Jergen B. Olson. At this basic Army flying school, which is fast reaching its peak in the mass training program of military pilots, Cpl. McMahon has been assigned to duty as manager of the Cadet club.

WEBB IS PROMOTED

CAMP SANTA ANITA, Calif.— Promotion of Pvt. William T. Webb of Littlefield, Tex., to the grade of corporal in the Army of the United States has been announced by the Commanding General B. W. Simpson at Camp Santa Anita. Cpl. Webb, now stationed at this ordnance training center, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Webb of Littlefield.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD L. HUNTSMAN

Mr. And Mrs. Edward L. Huntsman Have Six Sons In Uniform, Record For This Section

John Foch Morrison, aviation radioman, navigator and gunner first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, 2021 Tenth street, who has been in active overseas duty the past two years, is visiting his parents for the first time in three years. With him came his bride, the former Maxine Rousch of Oakland, Calif., whom he married June 12. Relatives who planned to be in Lubbock for a reunion were two brothers, Cpl. Elmo Morrison of Camp Shelby, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morrison and daughter of Brazoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanna and children of Quanah but plans have been changed and the family will meet Cpl. Elmo in Fort Worth for a few days due to shortening of his furlough from Camp Shelby. John Foch Morrison and his wife will return to California about July 1 and will be at home in Oakland, where he will be stationed for the present. Four campaign stars adorn service ribbons on Morrison's chest, testifying to action in the Pacific where he has been most of the time in the past two years.

COMPLETES ARMY COURSE

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Pfc. Fred R. Firestone, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Firestone, 1528 Hill street, Lubbock, Tex., recently completed an intensive Army Air forces clerical course here. He graduated from a large clerical school conducted for the Army Air Forces technical training command by the Anderson organization, private school operators in Los Angeles. The school is in the command's Los Angeles civilian schools area.

Aviation Cadet Conrad C. (Cope) Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wright, of Lubbock, is receiving his basic flight training at Goodfellow field, San Angelo. In the Air Corps since last October, Cadet Wright received training at Kelly field and at Garner field, Uvalde. A graduate of Lubbock High school and a former student of Texas Tech, Cadet Wright was formerly employed at Reeves Photo-Engraving and the Wood Printing company. His wife, the former Mildred Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis, 1719 Avenue K, is residing at San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Huntsman, 1810 Avenue M, Lubbock, have six sons in uniform in the various armed branches of service which, so far, is the record for families reported in the Lubbock area.

Four of the service men are sons of Huntsman by a former marriage, while two are sons of the elderly couple, who operate a small photographic studio at 1213 Avenue H. They moved here from Rochester three years ago.

Cpl. Leland W. Huntsman is in the Army Medical corps, serving now in Hawaii. He entered the Army in March, 1941.

Operates Signal Tower

S/Sgt. Glenn W. Huntsman is a signal tower operator in the Army Air corps, stationed at the Air base in Waco. He has been in service since August, 1942.

Pvt. Aldene Huntsman is a flying cadet, attending school at Butler university, Indianapolis, Ind. He entered the service in October, 1942.

Pvt. Bert Huntsman is a member of the Coast Artillery, received his basic training at Camp McQuaide, Calif., now assigned to Camp Hulen, near San Antonio. He entered the service three months ago.

One In Coast Guard

Pvt. Arral B. Huntsman is in the Coast Guard, stationed at Alameda, Calif., where he has been since May 1 of this year.

Seaman Third Class Lelton G. Huntsman has been at the Navy base in San Diego, Calif., since last November.

Sgt. Glenn and Pvt. Aldene Huntsman are sons of both Mr. and Mrs. Huntsman. Huntsman has three other sons and a daughter by his first marriage. They are O. J. of Rochester, Lloyd and H. P. of Knox City, and Mrs. Hollis Fisher of Roby, Mrs. C. E. Duncan, 1005 Avenue B, Lubbock, wife of C. E. Duncan, employe of Furr Food stores, is a daughter of Mrs. Huntsman. Her son, by a former marriage, Theodore Karriker, is an employe of Consolidated Aircraft Corp., and resides with his wife and their small son in California.

PROMOTED TO CORPORAL

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Pfc. Robert E. Kingsley of Lubbock, Tex., has been promoted to the grade of corporal at basic training center No. 10 of the Army Air Forces technical training command here, Col. Robert P. Glassburn, commanding officer, has announced. Cpl. Kingsley entered the service on April 5, 1941 at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., and came to Greensboro, March 2, 1943. He is the husband of Maxine Kingsley, 1409 Avenue E, Lubbock.

Aviation Cadet Milton G. Scarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Scarbrough of 1612 Sixteenth street in Lubbock, is enrolled in the class of cadets taking flight instruction at the new Army Air forces basic flying school at the Army Air field near Independence, Kas. He is slated to be graduated in June with wings and appointment as a flying officer. He has completed both pre-flight and primary phases of the aviation flight training program. At Independence basic flying school, cadets fly the 475-horsepower North American basic trainers, and instruction includes cross-country, formation, instrument and night flying —on top of a program of landings, take offs, turns, stalls, spins, acrobatics and other standard military flight maneuvers. After nine weeks, he will move to an advanced training school, his record at Independence determining which of two final stages of instruction he will receive—single engine advanced for fighter pilots or twin-engine advanced for bomber pilots.

HARLINGEN ARMY AIR FIELD—Included in another class of "aerial triggermen" to guard Army Air Forces bombers just graduated from the Harlingen Gunnery school was Omer E. Sharpe, son of G. H. Sharpe, 1508 Avenue C. Along with his diploma he received a pair of silver wings, and, having completed one other technical course, an automatic promotion to the grade of sergeant. A key man in the aerial combat crew, he will handle the deadly machine guns aboard the big U. S. Bombers soon. He was prepared for his place in America's stepped-up air offensive by an intensive six - week course in every phase of aerial warfare.

Pvt. Samuel Homer Crockett, jr., is training at Tennessee Polytechnic institute, Cookeville, Tenn., for course of instruction lasting approximately five months prior to his appointment as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces flying training command. During this period he will take academic courses, as well as elementary flying training. Upon completion of the course he will be classified as a navigator, pilot or bombardier and go to schools for training in these specialties.

LOCAL MARINE ACTOR — Pvt. George E. Gray, 23, (above) son of Mrs. Rose Gray, Lubbock, joined the Marines eight months ago and, surprisingly, started a career in motion pictures. Gray is a member of a Marine detachment at Camp Pendleton, Calif., with which a troupe from the 20th Century-Fox film company is working in the making of "Guadalcanal Diary," from Richard Tregaskis' best seller. Gray was chosen by Director Lewis Seiler to do a sequence in which a Marine volunteers to bring assistance to a beleaguered detachment on Guadalcanal by a mad dash down a beach. In the film, Gray says to Actor Anthony Quinn, "I'll take a shot at it, Sir." He runs down the beach with bullets kicking up the sand at his heels. Gray was characterized by Director Seiler as being "a perfect Marine type" and was congratulated on his performance.

M. D. COOKSEY PROMOTED

HEADQUARTERS, SIXTH AIR FORCE, Caribbean Area—Melvin D. Cooksey, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cooksey, of 2116 Twenty-sixth street, Lubbock, has been promoted from the grade of second lieutenant to first lieutenant, it is announced by the Caribbean Defense command. Lieut. Cooksey entered the army in 1941 as an aviation cadet. He attended Lubbock High school and Compton Junior college.

STUDYING AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Aviation cadet Michael S. Parrent, formerly employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Lubbock, has entered the Army air forces technical school at Yale University where he will undergo training to become a technical officer in Aircraft maintenance engineering. He will graduate as a second lieutenant. While stationed here, he will take courses in aircraft construction and operation.

Pfc. Adolph Hunt, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hunt of 901 Avenue K, is well and his thoughts are with his parents — wherever he is. So said a cablegram received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Hunt. He had been in New Caledonia, more recently in Australia. A graduate of Lubbock High school in 1937, he was employed four years by an electrical company. He enlisted in June of 1941 in the medical corps, trained at Camp Grant, Ill., and Fort Custer, Mich. He sailed in January of 1942.

STATIONED AT FREDERICK

FREDERICK ARMY AIR FIELD, Okla. — Eugene B. Herriage, 2322 Sixth street, William C. Hubbard, jr., 1009 Fifteenth street, and Eugene R. Kight, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kight, 2209 Eighteenth street, all of Lubbock, Texas, have been stationd here for the past several months. Pfc. Kight, who entered the service on Sept. 23, 1942, has been promoted to corporal. Corp. Herriage, who is a member of the 1092nd Guard squadron, has been promoted to a sergeant, and Sgt. Hubbard, who entered the service on Feb. 11, 1942, has been promoted to a staff sergeant. Hubbard is a member of the 1092nd Guard squadron, and Kight is a member of the 70th TEFT squadron.

COMPLETE PRE-FLIGHT

ATHENS, Ga. — Naval aviation cadets Lawrence David Grady, 2122 Sixth street, and Jackson Ross Turner, 2116 Twenty-first street, both of Lubbock, Tex., have completed three months of physical conditioning and ground school work here. To begin progressive flight training preparatory, Grady has been sent to Olathe, Kans., and Turner has gone to Chicago, Ill.

Bombardier Cadet Elvin E. Crow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin E. Crow, Sudan, has been named cadet squadron Adjutant of Class 43-11 to begin training at the San Angelo Army air field. Cadet Crow attended Abernathy High school and Texas Tech.

"You've already learned to fly a plane—now you're going to learn to handle real horsepower, real guns and real ships. Before you leave Brooks, you will be combat pilots and qualified aerial observers. Your training here will make you the most dangerous men in the Air corps—to the Japs and Nazis. From now on, you have but one mission—the utter destruction of every enemy of our country. Gentlemen, the rest is up to you." With those terse words, Col. Stanton T. Smith, commanding officer, welcomed a new class of aviation cadets to the famous "old Mother field" of the Air corps, where they will receive training in advanced flying and aerial reconnaissance. Included in the class was Gordon L. Lovell, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Lovell of 2017 Tenth street in Lubbock and husband of the former Miss Peggy Taylor. A former student of Texas Technological college, class of '43, Cadet Lovell was employed by a tobacco company in Abilene prior to his enlistment. He received his primary instruction at Hicks field, Fort Worth, his basic flight training at Majors field, Greenville.

IN QUARTERMASTER UNIT

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind.— 2nd Lt. Frank Stockdale Eddins, 2915 Twenty-first street (Lubbock, Texas) reported for duty at the Jeffersonville Quartermaster depot, Jeffersonville, Indiana, and has been assigned to the procurement division. Eddins, a former civilian employe at the depot, entered service October 31, 1942. He attended Officers' Candidate school at Camp Lee, Virginia, and was commissioned a second lieutenant on May 14. He is the son of Mrs. M. E. Eddins, 1008 Coleman street, Marlin, Texas. Two sisters, Mrs. Daniel A. Blair and Mrs. Dick Green reside in Lubbock.

IN THE KITCHEN, TOO--

...IT'S WISER TO SAVE THAN TO SALVAGE

Yes . . . Uncle Sam needs salvage . . . But not the salvage that represents the waste of what you save.

You'd be surprised how a little preventive care will increase the efficiency of your gas range, will add measurably to its normal life expectancy of satisfactory, economical service.

IT'S IMPORTANT TO KEEP YOUR GAS RANGE "FIT"

Uncle Sam has stressed the importance of planning nutritious meals for your family . . . and the importance of seeing that the valuable vitamins and minerals are not lost in food preparation. The flexibility and speed of gas cooking makes it easier to give your family those tasty, nutritious, health building meals they need to carry on. That's why it's important to keep your Gas Range "FIT" for the duration . . . until you can replace it with the new Gas Range of tomorrow.

News From The Boys Serving In The Armed Forces Of Uncle Sam

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde R. Burleson, 2207 Seventh street, have two sons in the U. S. Marines—Pfc. Clyde Keller Burleson and Pvt. John L. Burleson. Pfc. Clyde Burleson attended school at Hardy and Lubbock Senior High school. He was working for a machinery company at Phoenix, Ariz., before entering the Marines. He received his training at San Diego, Camp Elliott and Camp Pendleton, Calif., and was detached as a guard at the Naval fueling station at Point Loma, Calif., for a number of months. At first he volunteered for the Marines for four years and since has added two more years to his enlistment. He was one of the Marines who carried "valuables" from the Philippines and China soon after the war's outbreak. He is now supposed to be somewhere in the south Pacific. He was home on a furlough last September. Pvt. John Burleson also attended the Hardy school and Lubbock Senior high. Before going into the Marines he worked as a carpenter's helper during the construction of the South Plains Army Air field. He received his boot camp training at San Diego and is now stationed at Camp Elliott and is expecting combat duty overseas soon.

Three Lubbock young men who were recently taken into service have been sent to the Ordnance replacement training center at Aberdeen Proving ground, Md., where they will receive their basic training as ordanance soldiers. They are: Pvt. Chester Burl Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hubbard, 1815 Avenue K; Otto Nehring, 2223 Fifteenth street; and Pete Cawthon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cawthon, former residents. The elder Cawthon was head football coach at Texas Tech 11 years and was recently selected to coach the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National Professional Football league. Young Cawthon was formerly a student at the University of Oklahoma.

IN ADVANCED TRAINING

SEYMOUR, Ind. — Aviation cadet, Robert Leon Fielding, son of Mr. Robert E. Fielding of Slaton, is at Freeman Army Air field, a twin-engine advanced school, where, after a nine-week program, he will be commissioned either a second lieutenant or flight officer.

Mrs. Howard Stroud, 1501 Hill street, has been informed that her brother, Lt. E. J. Carter, who was recently reported wounded in North Africa, suffered only a slight head wound and is now back in line of duty. A graduate of Lubbock High school in 1939, Lt. Carter went through officer candidates' school at Aberdeen, Md., in May, 1942. He is an ordnance officer.

Pvt. H. B. Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Blair, 1625 Sixth street, is receiving his basic Army training in the Quartermaster Replacement Training center at Fort Francis E. Warren in Wyoming. Pvt. Blair was formerly employed by the Santa Fe railroad. His wife, the former Miss Maxine Free, is residing with Mr. Blair's parents here, but expects to join him soon.

Harry A. Bozeman, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bozeman of Idalou, graduated from the Engineer officer candidate school, Fort Belvoir, Virginia, on June 9, as a second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers. Lieut. Bozeman entered the Army on February 24, 1942. He attended Lorenzo High school and Texas Tech.

COMPLETES CANNON COURSE

LOWRY FIELD, Colo., — John Murrell Jay, son of Mrs. Herald Abels, 1314 Thirty-third street, Lubbock, Tex., has graduated here from a course of the 75mm cannon. Pfc. Jay entered the services Sept. 8th, 1942. He is a graduate of Abilene High school.

Pvt. Marshall Johnson, 1702 Avenue R, Pvt. Frank C. Jackson, 519 Avenue K, and Pvt. Oliver D. Howard, 1914 Avenue K, have been assigned at Camp Robinson, Ark., for training to the Medical replacement center there. Their training will continue for twelve weeks.

RIDGWAY PROMOTED

FORT MONROE, Va. — Patric A. Ridgway, 2008 Broadway, Lubbock, Tex., has been promoted from second lieutenant to first lieutenant here. Ridgway, who is on duty with the Coast Artillery school as supervisor of enlisted mess halls, is a graduate of Lamesa High school.

Marvin Bottlinger has been promoted from private to corporal at Lake Charles, La., where he is stationed, his wife, who is residing at 1501 Hill street, has been informed. Cpl. Bottlinger, a former Tech student, enlisted in April, 1942. He was formerly employed at the Tech and Arcadia theaters.

PLAYING IN BAND

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Aviation student William D. Knight, jr., Lubbock, Tex., took part in Flag Day ceremonies at the Tennessee state capital as a member of the 60-piece 333rd volunteeer band. He plays a French horn and holds the student rank of private in the band.

Capt. Clinton Kirkpatrick, Back From North Africa, Recalls Few Close Moments

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

ALONG the North African coastline, where there are djebels and wadis and used to be Germans and Italians, the British pilots have a habit of stalking away from a riddled "kite" and attributing their ability still to breathe and walk to "the Good Lord and John Bunyan."

Kirkpatrick

Take the case of Capt. Clinton W. Kirkpatrick, 23, Lubbock airman and former Texas Technological college student who as a member of a bomb group was attached to the Royal Air Force that gave close support in the air to the famous British Eighth army all the way from El Alamein to the Cap Bon peninsula.

Awaiting Orders Here

"By the grace of God and Co-Pilot Lt. McEune," a Riverside, Calif., man, is the way he puts it.

Here for a few days while he awaits orders on where next to report, Capt. Kirkpatrick told friends of one such close moment.

Maj. Gordon Hall, 25, squadron leader, was leading several flights of Billy Mitchell medium bombers. Capt. Kirkpatrick was flying the "Para-Dice" on the right wing. The squadron was over the bomb line 12 minutes when the ack ack commenced.

Started Back Home

The first burst caught Capt. Kirkpatrick's plane, blowing out the nacelle of the left engine; wrecking the left aileron; knocking off two rockerarms of the right engine and causing it to throw oil, "and making the sky as hot as the hinges of something or other."

"We left the formation and started home. Jerry was still shooting at us. The electric and hydraulic systems were knocked out. We decided to try salvaging our load of bombs.

Gunner's Nose Shot Off

"Patton, the navigator-bombardier of Conroe, Texas, came up front to see if everybody was all right. Tech Sgt. Cummings of Italy, Texas, gunner, reached up and found his nose had been shot off. I had been hit in the back, near the spine, and shrapnel had plowed my forehead. Lt. McEune had charge of the ship three or four minutes, and I consider that was what brought us in."

(Dispatches and other stories that have been printed about the ticklish moment quote Lt. McEune as saying later that, "I was ready to take over, but Capt. Kirkpatrick kept on flying the ship. He never relinquished control." Capt. Kirkpatrick says he cannot remember those few minutes.)

None Wanted To Jump

"Patton took off his chute so he could give first aid to the gunner. While he was back there I talked with Lt. McEune and suggested that he and the others bail out, and I would take a short cut and try to belly the ship in. I warned of the English bombs we were carrying. I didn't have to remind him the wheels wouldn't let down.

"'I don't care—we'll get—blown out of us, or we'll walk away together,' Lt. McEune said. He knew I couldn't handle the ship alone. I liked his answer. I gave no definite order, but asked over the inter-com whether the others, including Sgt. Hasselstrom, radio operator, wanted to jump. None did.

"'How the ——— you figure I can jump? My chute's up front,' Patton said.

Spitfire Strafed Convoy

"We were down to 1,500 feet when we slid over a convoy. We were wondering if it was friend or enemy, then it opened up with light stuff—looked like 20 mm. A Spitfire pilot, part of our top cover, dived on the convoy and began strafing it, then accompanied us on in.

"We crossed the bomb line at 500 feet and bellied in between two mountains in a wheat field, six to 10 miles on our side of the line. We had flown over a casualty clearance station and they saw what it was all about. They sent an ambulance, and the the gunner and I went back to the hospital."

Having short legs saved Kirkpatrick more injury that day. Lt. McEune was not so fortunate. A piece of shrapnel blasted into the side of the ship, cut the trousers on the top of Capt. Kirkpatrick's legs, and caught the co-pilot in the legs. Patton, it turned out, had taken a piece of shrapnel in the right shoulder, but hadn't said anything.

Counted 500 Holes

The ground crew, which has a habit of saying the fliers get "double pay for half working," didn't press the charge when the "Para-Dice" was inspected.

"The crew chief and his men counted 500 holes in our craft, then gave up counting," Capt. Kirkpatrick said.

An incident in which Capt. Kirkpatrick's top gunner figured gives some idea of why the Billy Mitchell pilots and crews "go for" the P-40 and Spit pilots who fly top cover for them.

"The gunner was accredited with having shot down two Me-109's in one fight," Capt. Kirkpatrick said. "There was some doubt whether he had got one of them. An American pilot in a P-40 had come diving out of the topside on the Messerschmitt, and his guns were going. 'What th' —— is the difference?' the American said. 'You can have him; you won't have another chance to shoot at anything while we're up there!'

Capt. Kirkpatrick said the story "pretty well shows the quality of those British-trained airmen, whether they were boys from the Midlands, or New Zealand or South Africa or from our States."

He has definite ideas about the value of the English methods. The flight incident related above was only one of a series that piece together to make him an authority on the subject. The raid before he brought his bombs back the flare rack of his ship, right behind the pilot's armor plating, had been shot off. It went off inside the ship. And the time before that, his windshield was shot out, and he got glass in his face from the bridge of his nose down.

Wears Many Decorations

He, a slight handsome fellow, wears the Silver Star, the Purple Heart with Cluster, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three Clusters, and the service ribbon for the North Africa theater.

"They just sort of hand them out," he said. "I don't feel like I earned any of them except the Purple Heart (attesting to his wounds) and the service ribbon.

"I don't feel that it is above and beyond the call of duty to try saving my own neck."

German Planes Good

The Me-109-G, series 4 or 5, with its pressure-sealed cabin, is a little fighter that proves the Germans have maintained their quality of material and engineering adeptness, Capt. Kirkpatrick says. He adds that, in his opinion, it is superior to Goering's yellownoses, the vaunted Focke-Wulfs.

If you want to see a "real airplane," though, he refers you to the Spitfire Mark 9.

"It will climb with the Me, or better it, and will turn inside it," he says.

The Lubbock airman is married to the former Charlotte Wheelock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wheelock of 1912-A Fifteenth street. His mother is Mrs. I. N. Hatton of Amarillo. He enlisted in Aug. 1941, trained at Hemet and Gardner fields in California and at Luke field, at Phoenix, Ariz. He became a captain at King's Cross, in an Algerian wheatfield.

Visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parr Merriman of 2414 Twenty-fifth street are Second Lt. James Merriman, who received his commission in the Marine air corps June 19, and Auxiliary Drucille McElvaney, who is in overseas postal work in New York. Lt. Merriman is to report to Cherry Point, N. C., July 11 for operational training. He is a graduate of Lubbock High school, where he was on the Westerner football squad, and a former student of Texas Technological college. Auxiliary McElvaney received her training at Fort Des Moines, attended administrative school in Des Moines six weeks and was stationed at Camp Shanks, Orangeburg, N. Y., prior to her transfer to New York recently. She is to report back for duty July 4. Her husband, William S. McElvaney, is overseas in the Seabees, naval construction corps. She also graduated from Lubbock High school and attended Texas Technological college.

GRADUATE FROM PRIMARY

CURTIS FIELD, Brady—John J. Havens, 1207 Nineteenth street, and Earl E. Crow, both of Lubbock, have graduated from the Curtis Flying school after completing a course in primary training. For basic training, Havens has been sent to Waco army flying school, and Crow has been sent to Goodfellow field, San Angelo.

Charles L. Bomar, son of Mrs. Ruby J. Bomar, 1623 Eighteenth street, Lubbock, and Robert L. McKinnon of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McKinnon of Carlsbad, N. M., have begun a course of Army air force instruction at Texas A. and M. college, College Station. The course will last approximately five months prior to their appointments as Aviation cadets in the Army air forces.

KNAPSACK PACKER — A Marine officer must go through regular recruit training at boot camp at Parris Island, S. C., and Pfc. Charles E. Benson of Hale Center is right in the middle of the process. Shown as he packs his knapsack for a long hike, Pfc. Benson is going through boot training there. He is the son of Mrs. John Benson of Hale Center and is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Ensign L. Byron George, 23, son of Mrs. C. H. Scales, 2307 Twenty-ninth street, was graduated from the U. S. Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn., June 17, with a bachelor of science in engineering and a special certificate in law. He was commissioned an ensign and before reporting for duty in New York City, July 5, will visit his mother here. He is coming by plane to Amarillo today. Ensign George, a graduate of Hereford High school and Amarillo Junior college, passed the examination for the Coast Guard academy in 1939, one of 88 out of 2,200 taking the examinations to do so. Ensign George has had 100 hours of flying and had his pilot's license at the age of 17. He has visited here during the summer for several years.

GRADUATE AS MECHANICS

SHEPPARD FIELD—Orville L. Aldrich, son of Mrs. Charlie E. Aldrich, 1810 Seventeenth street, Lubbock, Leo A. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Watson, 2508 Walnut street, Lubbock, and Gerald C. Jaquess, son of Lansdon W. Jaquess, Earth, have graduated from a course in airplane mechanics here.

The public relations office at Fort Bliss informed relatives last week that Wilbur V. Allen of Lubbock had been promoted to corporal, "in recognition of his meritorious application to duty," it was announced.

Lt. Bill Bayless Was Marooned Eight Days On Ice; Set Up Housekeeping In Fortress

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article appeared recently in the Kearney Army Air Base News at Kearney, Neb. Lt. Bill Bayless, one of the principals, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bayless, 918 Avenue K.

HERE'S a story you've never read about in your local newspaper that is routine risk and courage for a pilot.

Pilot Captain Johnston R. Staples and navigator Lt. Billie Bayless, both here at Heavy Procesing, were flifing a weather chip in the North Atlantic last summer. On July 14th, Lt. Bayless' birthday by the way, they were headed east with a few P-38's following them to a point enroute and learned that their destination was "socked in," so they turned around and came back. When they neared their original starting point, they were told that it was also "socked in."

Lt. Bayless

Captain Staples could easily have landed on instruments at either place but he had the responsibility of the pursuit ships and their pilots. He decided to cut back again to a stretch through the clouds where he could look around for a place to sit down.

Skillful handling brought the ship to rest on the icecap but not before the frightening thought of disappearing through a fast-opening hidden crevass had been overcome. There was slight damage to the undercarriage and to the propellers but no one was injured.

40 below not being unusual for that spot on the map, 14 men quickly setup light housekeeping in the B17.

Diary Something Like This

The diary of the first 3 days would run something like this if they wrote it: Ceiling zero tapeworm starving, snow makes bad water, much tired from chopping propeller, no stationery—no use writing letters, wonder what the family is thinking!

Then a C-47 flew over and dropped two parachutes of food but a 75-mile an hour wind blew one away. The other one contained "C" rations-vegetable stew, pork and beans, hash and such.

Control Tower Wanted

The fifth day a PBY flew by to tell them that a coast guard cutter was on its way. Lt. Bayless even had taken a picture of the PBY as it dropped another parachute of food. In fact, after a while, there was so much traffic over them, that the gang figured they'd set up a control tower.

On the eighth day what shows up but a dog team with a Lt. Crockett at the helm. He led the way to the one of a few spots the crew could scale down to the water from 3,000 feet.

After 12 hours of walking in flight boots and up to the knees at times, they had to wait until the cutter chopped the ice up to shore. That PBY kept hovering until all was well.

Three weeks later they were all back on duty.

Pvt. Joe Keith Williams, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Williams of 2301 Ninth street, will be graduated in mid-September from a meteorological course of the Army Air corps, in the University of New Mexico. Afterward, he will be sent to an advanced school, of which there are six in major colleges and universities of the country, and will be commissioned a second lieutenant. He almost had completed his sophomore year in Texas Technological college when he was enlisted.

Sgt. Jack B. Lovelace, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lovelace, 1709 Twenty - fourth street, is in the Army Signal corps and is now stationed somewhere in North Africa where he has been since the Allied invasion last November. Sgt. Lovelace attended Texas Technological college and was a member of the Tech varsity tennis team in 1941. He was employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company while he was in Tech. He volunteered for the Army in February, 1942.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Lt. Howard F. Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Barrett, Lubbock, has reported to Normoyle Ordnance depot, San Antonio. His wife, the former Miss Alice Marie Famuliner, is now living in Lubbock. Lt. Barrett attended North Texas Agricultural college, Arlington.

Former Local Woman In Australia With Red Cross Overseas Unit

Mrs. Louise M. McCue, former Lubbock woman, was a member of an American Red Cross contingent which arrived safely in Australia recently. Mrs. McCue is a hospital recreation worker with the Red Cross. She is the former Louise McKee, daughter of Mrs. A. W. McKee, 1812 Fourteenth street. A graduate of Texas State College for Women at Denton and Columbia university with a master's degree, Mrs. McCue was associated with the WPA in Dallas, Denton, Paris and Lubbock for seven years before going overseas with the Red Cross. Previously she had taught in the Bledsoe school in Cochran county and the public schools in Dallas.

STATIONED AT KELLY FIELD

—Edith D. Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Alexander, 417 Third street, is a member of a Women's Army Auxiliary corps unit now stationed at Kelly field near San Antonio. She went to the Army post from the first WAAC training center at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, where she received military training. The WAACS have taken over many jobs, particularly administrative jobs in the post headquarters at Kelly field, thereby releasing soldiers for combat duty. Auxiliary Alexander was an employe of the Lubbock City-County Welfare association before joining the WAACS.

For centuries Andean Indians have dried potatoes for long preservation; in this form they are called "chunos."

Marjorie E. Fleming Is Promoted To Second Officer In The WAACS

FORT DES MOINES, Ia., June 26 — Third Officer Marjorie E. Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Fleming of R. R. No. 2, Hale Center, Texas, stationed at First WAAC Training center, Fort Des Moines, Ia., has been promoted to second officer in the Women's Army Auxiliary corps, according to an announcement by WAAC headquarters at Washington, D. C. Her new rank is the WAAC equivalent of first lieutenant in the Army.

Second Officer Fleming was a member of the 10th officer candidate class graduated at First WAAC Training center at Fort Des Moines on December 24, with the rank of third officer, the WAAC equivalent of second lieutenant in the Army.

After receiving her commission in the WAAC, Second Officer Fleming was an instructor in bakers and cooks school. She worked in that capacity until March 20, when she was assigned as mess officer at the Chamberlain hotel in downtown Des Moines, where enrolled members of the WAACs are attending specialists' schools. On June 2 she was appointed mess officer at the Savery hotel in downtown Des Moines.

Before enrolling in the corps, Second Officer Fleming taught home economics at Idalou, Texas, for four years. She also taught at Peacock, Texas.

Serve and SAVE

THE HOUSEWIFE IS A FIGHTER TOO!

HER JOB may be less romantic, less adventurous, even less hazardous than many that need to be done these days. But no less essential.

She's a soldier . . . without benefit of martial music, and she wears her kitchen apron as proudly as a general wears his braid.

Her daily creed is an eight-point weapon against the Axis:

- Guardian of the family's health and welfare.
- Self-protection and self-reliance.
- Budgeted income for war savings and income taxes.
- An active interest in local government.
- Daily habits fitted to war time demands.
- Conservation and salvage.
- Dissect rumors carefully.
- Keep informed of the truth.

She keeps her courage high and her lipstick handy. No towering monuments will bear her name when the Victory is won. But she is, herself, a tower of strength that stands four-square to all the winds that blow. The lady is a fighter!

The South Has A Chance To "Cash In;" Miners Said Still In Rebellious Mood

1944 Politics Are Beckoning

Area Should Play "Hard To Get"

OPINIONS expressed the other day by Southern governors attending a national governor's conference in Columbus, Ohio, that the South will vote "traditionally Democratic" in the 1944 presidential election were not, of themselves, either surprising or significant.

But it was significant that opinions were sought in such a matter. Ordinarily, such a prediction would have slight interest. To predict, normally, that the South would vote "traditionally Democratic" in a presidential race would be about as interesting as the forecast that the sun will rise tomorrow, or that Christmas will fall on December 25 this year.

Therefore, the opinions are not significant because of what was said. Their significance lies in the fact that they imply there has been some doubt in highly authoritative circles as to whether the South will adhere to tradition. They recognize in their negative way that the Solid South is not quite the political certainty of the normal presidenital election year.

Normally, the South is safely considered "in the bag" for the Democratic party, actual or so-called. No one worries about it. All the worrying is done over the doubtful states, which get most of the favors—and the more doubtful they are, the more they get. The South gets little. The Democrats figure the South will stand hitched, regardless, so they don't waste many favors that might be used to advantage in doubtful states. The Republicans reason that, regardless of what they do, they can't win the South. So they do nothing.

Certainly, present indications are that the South will go "traditionally Democratic" next year. But present indications also support the statement that 1944 might be the year when the South jumps over the traces. Probably it won't happen. But it MIGHT happen.

This possibility is one for people of the South to encourage. They have a great deal to gain if they will act a little coy. They should play "hard to get." If they will, administration leaders will exert themselves in their effort to keep the South "in line." If Republican leaders see a hope that the South might be won, they'll get busy too. The South will cease to be the all but ignored political stepchild of the nation.

The opportunity is at hand, as evidenced by the governors' statements. The South can muff it, or make the most of it, as it may choose. It is for the South to decide whether it will remain in polticial obscurity, or will insist upon taking its rightful place in the sun.

A Harbinger Of Bad News

If ever there was an agency without excuse for further existence, it is the NYA. It was established solely as a depression measure. Whether it justified its existence then is a matter of opinion. But any needs that may have justified it then certainly do not justify it now.

On the basis of performance, it is one of the most expensive bureaus ever established. Senate investigations recently revealed it has one paid employe for each five enrollees per year. They disclosed instances of NYA instructors paid $12 to $15 per day teaching "classes" of one and two members.

Yet NYA advocates are fighting tooth and toenail to persuade the Senate to restore appropriations, refused recently in the House, so that the agency can continue. It remains to be seen whether the Senate will save the taxpayers the $50,000,000 that could be saved by abolishing the bureau.

But regardless what may be done with the NYA, recent experiences with the agency suggest disquieting thought. They suggest difficulties that lie ahead when most of present war agencies will, like the NYA, have lost their usefulness. They may be abolished in time, of course, but certainly it won't be without a fight, and probably, like the NYA, not until long after excuse for their existence has ceased.

Is Bureaucracy Strangling Food Flow From Farm To Bable?

Today's World .... By S. Burton Heath

NEW YORK state's Emergency Food commission has recommended to Governor Dewey the substitution of sprouted soy beans for meat, as a war diet. Why? Because we do not have enough grain for both humans and animals, so the commission believes that much of the animal population will have to be liquidated, and this will result in increased shortage of milk, eggs, butter, lard and meat.

Herbert Hoover, who made his international reputation as an expert on wartime food problems, predicts a 10 to 15 per cent shortage in animal feed during the next year, because 38 million arable acres are out of production as contrasted with 1942.

We think we are facing shortage realities now, when store shelves and refrigerators cannot provide even the limited quantities of many items which rationing is designed to assure for each of us.

HEATH

But the only reason we get even what we do is because, by the grace of God and the weather man, 1942 was a bumper year. It had been a poor crop year, or even normal, the granary of democracy would look as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard.

We are perplexed and bedeviled about the food situation because nine federal departments with overlapping jurisdiction either don't know the facts, won't face them or think we can't be trusted with them—or, it could be, because they would prefer that we should not draw inferences as to how the food problem has been mishandled.

• • •

BUT Mr. Hoover points out that in view of the greatest harvest and the greatest meat production in history, although only 10 per cent has gone to lend-lease and rationing is supposed to have reduced domestic civilian consumption by 30 per cent, we are eating up our surpluses and shall have less to eat next winter than we have this summer.

Acreage has been stepped up by 5 per cent. A bad spring already has wiped out this anticipated advantage. This year's crop probably will be at least 12 per cent, perhaps much more, below the 1942 production that has proved insufficient.

• • •

"IF the statistics are correct, and I do not challenge them," says Mr. Hoover, "then some bureaucracy is strangling the flow of food from the farmer to the housewife."

That would not seem overstatement, considering the eight independent bureaus — Agriculture, OPA, Lend-Lease, B. E. W., Army, Navy, Manpower Commission and WPB—bust be brought into agreement before any intelligent action on food can be taken.

TO EUROPE FOR $100

JUAN TRIPPE, president of Pan American Airways, predicts that the fleet of 153-passenger clippers planned by his company will be able to take us to London in 10 hours for $100.

That is to say—with a week's vacation and as little as perhaps $250, it will be possible to spend an entire week in Great Britain, or even, for a few dollars more, to toes in a visit to post-war Paris!

PLEASURE DRIVING

THE Automobile Club of New York is exemplifying the type of obstructionism that Adolf Hitler had in mind when he assumed that no democracy could prosecute total war successfully. Fortunately Hitler was wrong. Both the American and the British publics, with a lot of fussing and fuming, come through in the pinch — no thanks to short-sighted troublemakers.

The Automobile club protests that the OPA has a "Gestapo" at work in the eastern states, checking on pleasure driving, which is banned because there is not enough gasoline for esential motoring and even then oil-heated homes are facing critical shortages for next winter because we cannot build up a reserve of fuel.

And the club protests that "we are still awaiting a definition from the OPA as to what constitutes pleasure driving and what is essential and non-essential driving."

That is tommyrot. Every motorist knows which of his trips are essential, in view of the acute shortage. He knows not only when he is driving for pleasure, but he also knows when he is burning precious gasoline to drive somewhere that he could go by public conveyance — with less comfort, perhaps, but otherwise just as well.

• • •

IF THERE is a "Gestapo," which is the epithetical way of designating a corps of inspectors, it is justified by the utter failure of a sizable body of eastern motorists to cooperate in saving gasoline to win the war.

The desperate straits to which the east is reduced—the necessity for spreading the pleasure driving ban to Ohio, then to the Carolinas, and perhaps to Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and the Dakotas—is due in part to the fact that when OPAdministrator Brown tried the honor system, he found too little honor.

Brown has been criticized severely and justly for his unrealistic attempts to please everybody, particularly the politicians.

Now he discovere what his predecessor, Leon Henderson, knew; that total war is a very unpleasant business, which requires sacrifices; that while the majority will respond to appeals, a large minority is selfish and self-centered, and has to be whipped into line.

In a limited way, Brown has been forced to get tough. He deserves support from good citizens, not snide criticism.

SAILOR WRITES HOME

NAVY LIEUT, JAMES KRAKER told the Virginia, Minn., Kiwanis club recently about a letter he censored, written by a sailor somewhere in the far Pacific to his father, a coal miner. If the father went on strike, the son wrote that he no longer would regard "you as my father, and going out on strike could only mean that I mean nothing to you as a son."

"That boy and many like him," commented Lieutenant Kraker, "are bitter — bitter against those people within the United States who have struck and done those things which have slowed production of vital war needs."

A mortally wounded anti-aircraft crew member slips overboard, so that no time shall be taken from the battle to minister to his comforts. "Yet," says the Navy officer, "the people at home won't sacrifice a dollar."

INFLATION GAP

A PRINCIPAL reason behind our seeming inability to "close the inflation gap" by draining off some $16,000,000,000 of excess earnings is because this money is not in possession of a well-to-do minority. It belongs to the vast political majority, which must not be hurt or offended.

The rich are taxed to the limit already. The well-to-do are pressed to the wall by taxes and voluntary bond purchases. For both there classes, it has become a problem to pay the monthly bills without sacrificing lifetime savings by liquidating investments.

"The poor" have that sixteen billions. It gives them, for the first time in years, a margin above subsistence, and they aren't anxious to give it up.

Situation Could Get Worse

(The National Whirligig)

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

"THE miners believe that the War Labor board is an agency of the New Deal being used by the President and the capitalists to crush the UMWA and John L. Lewis. . . . They seem to feel that the President has used this case to settle his political grudges with Lewis. They resent the attempt of the President to continue to forget the miners and their problems and they resent his selling out to the big war industry people. As I see it, FDR is a dead duck down here."

These extraordinary statements highlight a confidential report recently submitted to Harold L. Ickes, federal operator of the coal properties, by an OWI investigator after a survey of sentiment and conditions in the West Virginia area. The amazing human document has not been published because of its brutal frankness, and especially as its findings accord with conclusions drawn by other scouts in the Pennsylvania territory.

"The main issue discussed at union meetings," it continues, "is the high cost of living, 'damn Roosevelt,' the WLB and the OPA. They have a feeling that the government has forgotten them, and, frankly, after a few days down here, I wonder if that is not true. This complex and resentment run deep, and words and promises from Washington will never cure the economic disease infecting the mine area."

The OPA is "merely another fake New Deal agency" to them, according to the prober, and food costs are described as "outrageously high." He declared that "company store practices are infested with various rackets" which keep the employes permanently in debt.

The corporation houses, writes the researcher, are broken-down shacks and medical facilities are scarce. He charges that the operators control both the rationing and draft boards and use them for their own purposes. There are no recreational outlets, he says, and liquor sells from $5 a pint up when it is available.

• • •

BREAK: The OWI inquirer discovered that the only national leaders whom the men trust are Lewis and Ickes. Although the author of this report works for Elmer Davis's bureau, he was loaned to Ickes for the purpose of making this examination.

"Many of the people I talked with here," the writer explains, "believe that Lewis knows what he is doing and their faith in him is greater than ever before. But at the same time they wish they could go out on a big strike and finish it once and for all.

"Their temper is quieter now ,but they mean business today more seriously than in the past. There is an undercover restlessness which may assume the proportions of revolutionary ferment if the situation continues to irritate the issue.

"They feel that Ickes has done a good job and they want him to continue. I was amazed to find that the Secretary of the Interior is regarded as the only man in Washington who has the full confidence of the leadership of the UMWA as well as the rank and file. The miners seem to regard Ickes as the only guy in Washington from whom they can get a break.

"They know that he is on their side, and they know that certain WLB members and Harry Hopkins are on their tails. They know that the administration has vacillated and changed positions, and they seem to know as much about the entire proceedings as any person in government concerned directly with the problems."

BITTERNESS: The men resent official and unofficial suggestions that their insistence on the right to strike for higher wages at this time is a reflection on their patriotism. They do not worry much about public opinion and outside criticism.

The OWI observer said that almost every UMW executive he met had "at least one relative in the front lines." He also records that the diggers exceeded their quotas for the Red Cross and USO drives. They have given "gallons of blood" for plasma, and movies once crowded are empty because they are putting as much money as they can into government bonds.

"The sons of the miners in the Army write home frequently, and there is a deep personal identification with the war. They are, however, quite cynical about the Four Freedoms—and frankly, an underpaid man getting little meat has a right to be cynical."

The authorized reporter stated that the men were especially bitter on the morning the Stars and Stripes was hoisted on the properties by order of the President.

"They were enraged," he exposes. "I am told that many miners cussed the government for blessing these horrible conditions with the American flag. Men who work for two weeks and get an eight cent check said they were sure that the American flag didn't protect or defend the situation. . . . To provoke this (feeling), many of the mines purchased cheap little flags and tied them atop the tipples.

"Their patriotism was obviously of the five-and-ten-cent store variety. The men noticed these little things and that further crystallizes their bitterness toward the administration."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AMERICANS, their interest quickened to fever heat by overseas dispatches, are impulsively demanding large-scale action to end the war quickly and bring the boys home. Cooler heads caution against expecting too much too soon. According to leaders in close touch with what is really being planned, headquarters may very wisely be waiting to see which way the Axis cat jumps before the Allies move in force.

Hitler, they explain, has three choices: 1. Attack Russia and win. 2. Attack Russia and lose. 3. Assume the defensive. Signs indicate that he will follow the third course.

So long as he keeps 190 German and 28 satellite divisions mobilized on the Soviet line or held nearby in reserve, there is always the possibility that he will attempt an all-out thrust. And it is quite probable that in any case he will essay local blows.

But the risk in gambling everything that he possesses is so great that it may give pause even to the reckless adventurers of Berlin. They too remember what happened when Hindenburg and Ludendorff succumbed to that madness in 1918.

Should they settle down to holding their gains, it would be because they'd count on a prolonged stalemate in Europe and the needs of a Japanese campaign sapping the morale of our home front. Already disheartening weaknesses are being exposed in U. S. labor and food fields. Two, three, four more years of fighting and internal discord, reason the Nazis, might wear us down to the quitting point.

• • •

ATTRITION: Certain outstanding Americans, familiar with both statesmanship and military direction, insist that the way to thwart Hitler is to wait three monthes before launching decisive ground assaults. That will be the fall season and no major undertaking can be mounted by the Wehrmacht until after next Winter.

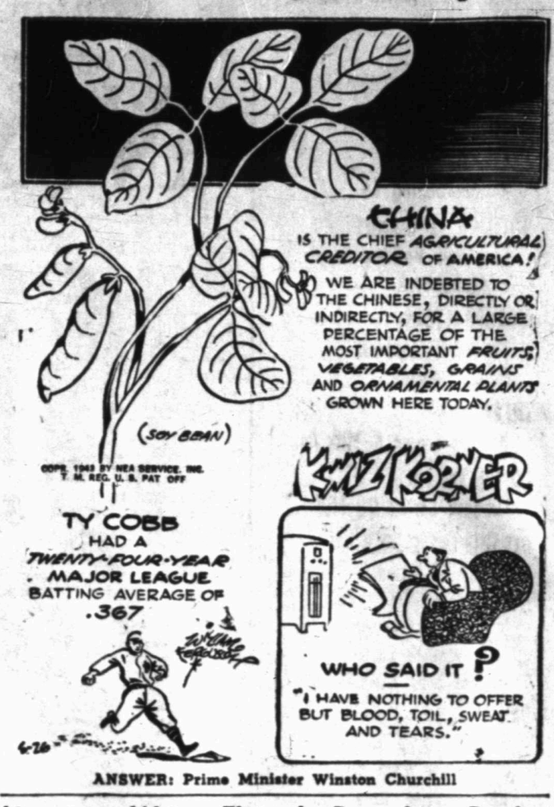

By spring we should be completely prepared for waging a war of staggering proportions and our national house should be set in order. In the meantime we would continue our aerial offensive and preliminary sparring.

Study of intelligence reports makes plain that Italy and Germany are like patients in the last stages of tuberculosis. Nothing can save them. They are doomed to die. Some of the world's best economists believe that a modern industrial state cannot concentrate on guns and neglect butter for six years without cracking. And Germany transformed her whole plant into a war machine two years before September, 1939.

Our Curious World---By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Prime Minister Winston Churchill

Lippmann Writes Thought-Provoking Book

"U. S. Foreign Policy" Probes Deep, Critical Problems

BACK in 1940, after the Nazi onrush through Holland and France, many were still saying, "This is not our problem." Not so Walter Lippmann, columnist and political analyst. At that time he wrote, eloquently exhorting Americans to arouse from their "sleepwalking" to the desperate peril that overhung our nation.

Walter Lippmann has long been a fearless fighter for causes in which he believes. In his nine years on the New York World, he was able to rouse public opinion and guide it in many matters of social reform. In recent years, as columnist for one of the largest syndicates, his opinions and beliefs have influenced a nationwide audience.

LIPPMANN

His new book, "U. S. Foreign Policy," which is a Book-of-the-Month club selection for July, is a thought-provoking work that probes deep into one of the most critical problems affecting this nation. Mr. Lippmann's thesis is that the United States has had no unified and effective foreign policy since 1900. That, he says, is why we blundered into the First World war, why the attempted world settlement afterward was bungled, why we were unable to prevent a second war. The future security of the United States, Mr. Lippmann argues, rests on an alliance between this country, Great Britain and Russia.

You may or may not agree with the thesis advocated by the author of "U. S. Foreign Policy." Nevertheless, this is a book sure to arouse extensive controversy and to be widely read and discussed.

REPORT ON ALEUTIANS

COREY Ford, in "Short Cut to Tokyo," a first-hand report of what our boys are doing in the Aleutians, tells this sad story about a little bombardier named Sammy, from New York's East Side. It seems that after Sammy won his bombardier's wings, he got engaged to a girl and he went downtown to buy her a ring. "It costs five hundred smackers," Sammy explains, "but when I tell the jeweler I'm a bombardier, he claps me on the back and says, 'My boy, I'll knock off a hundred bucks for every bomb you drop on Germany.' So what happens?" Sammy sighed. "So I get sent to Alaska."

CHURCHILL'S MOTHER

ONE of the many famous anecdotes about George Bernard Shaw tells of the time he was invited to a luncheon party by Lady Randolph. In response to the invitation, Shaw sent a telegram saying: "Certainly not. What have I done to provoke such an attack on my well-known habit?" To which Lady Randolph replied in another telegram: "Know nothing of your habits; hope they are not as bad as your manners." Instantly, a long and apologetic letter from the great dramatist arrived, and he himself appeared at the luncheon. Lady Randolph of this story was an American girl named Jennie Jerome. Her husband was Lord Randolph Churchill, her son, Winston Churchill. Rene Kraus has written the story of her life in the entertaining biography, "Young Lady Randolph."

Next time you get sore--

Next time you're sore at the Nazis or Japs, just sit down for a minute. And if there's a pencil handy, do a little figuring—something like this . . .

Sure, taxes are higher. You're paying more than you used to. And the cost of living hasn't gone down any either. That's costing you more. But . . .

Chances are, you're making more, too. And maybe somebody else in the family's working. Maybe one of the girls is bringing home a pay envelope every week—and pretty good pay at that. Chances are, there's more cash coming into your home right now than there has been for a long, long time. What's more . . .

Maybe you were going to get a new bus this year. Every year, you know, millions of people did get new ones. Or radios. Or refrigerators. Anyway, it's a cinch you'd have spent some money this year on things you can't buy now.

So what?

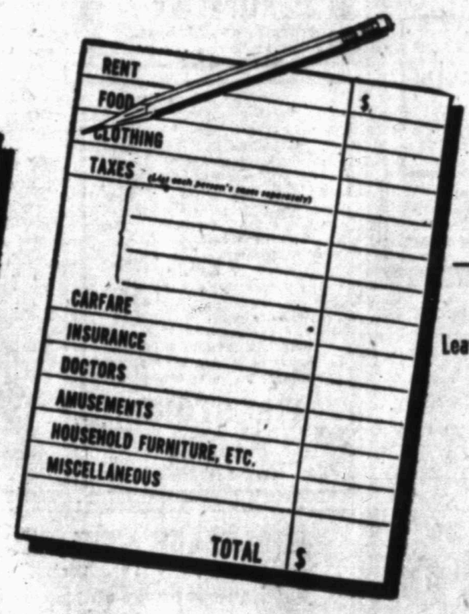

So maybe you can put more of your family earnings into War Bonds! Not 10% or 12% or 15% or 20% — but all you can! If you and every other American who has an income will sharpen up your pencils and figure out how you can save an extra dollar here and another there that can go into War Bonds—if you'll keep on figuring and saving—you'll provide a weight of metal that will snap the Axis' spine like a rotten stick!

Let's pour it on! And keep pouring it on till the murderous fools who have defiled our soil, butchered our sons, broken up our homes—who have refused to let us live and work in peace—are smashed utterly to dust!

Leaves $ for U. S. WAR BONDS

After all, U. S. War Bonds are the safest investment the world has ever known—return you $4 for every $3 invested at the end of 10 years. Use that pencil to help yourself—as well as Uncle Sam!

LAAF Broadcast Will Feature Noted Singer, Lt. Charles Prescott

One treat-of-the-week for Lubbock music lovers will be the appearance of First Lt. Charles E. Prescott, jr., as baritone soloist on the regular Wednesday night broadcast by the Lubbock Army Air field band over KFYO.

The 25-year-old flying officer, who was an MGM actor from 1939 to 1941, will sing two selections: Eugene Cowles' "Forgotten" and the newly-composed Shostakovitch number, "United Nations." Time of the Wednesday broadcast, which will originate in the band room at th twin-engine base, will be 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Made Other Appearances

Besides appearing in two of Nelson Eddy's pictures and making road tours with the celebrated baritone, Lt. Prescott took minor parts in Warner Bros. pictures and sang professionally for CBS. Hailed by the California press as "the top ranking singer with the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera company for several seasons," he launched a new career as a pilot in late 1941 and won his wings and commission at LAAF last July. Since then, he has been a flying instructor here.

Ever since his arrival at LAAF as an aviation cadet more than a year ago, the Santa Monica singer-flier has been in demand as a vocalist, and local music circles rate him as unquestionably the No. 1 singer in the area.

Band members, directed by Chief Warrant Officer George P. Attridge, will accompany Lt. Prescott and will also play Lillya's "Latin-American Fantasy" and Weinberger's Polka and Fugue from "Schwanda." A saxaphone sextet will present the popular Hoagy Carmichael tune, "Star Dust."

Bad Dream Turns Out To Be True Happening

HOUSTON, June 26. (U.P.)—It turned out to be something worse than a bad dream.

Early today nine-year-old Leotoldine Garza awakened her mother and father and told them she saw a burglar walk out of their home. Her father, M. D. Garza, told her to "go back to sleep, you're having a bad dream."

When he prepared to go to work later, he discovered that his pocketbook, containing $35, had been stolen.

Texas' Great Role In Synthetic Is Cited

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—In connection with Texas Governor Coke R. Stevenson's proclamation designating next Monday "rubber day in Texas," the office of rubber director today pointed out the important role played by Texas in synthetic rubber production.

The 15 plants located in that state are making 36 per cent of the country's buna S and 44 per cent of the butyl, the two major synthetics, the office said.

Texas also accounts for 38 per cent of the butadiene and 52 per cent of the styrene, the raw materials used in the making of buna S, said the statement.

Censorship Assistant Succeeded By Lockhart

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Censorship Director Byron Price announced today the resignation of N. R. Howard as assistant director—and credited him with doing more than any other individual "for the successful operation of voluntary press censorship during the past year."

Howard is resuming editorship of the Cleveland News. Jack Lockhart, who has supervised night operations of censorship's press division, succeeds Howard as assistant director in charge of the division. Lockhart is on leave as managing editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal.

WORK IS SLOWED

PLAINVIEW — C. A. Robinson, head of the local Soil Conservation service office, says that while the wheat harvest has slowed down, temporarily, the work of running contours and terrace lines, this will be greatly increased after the harvest. Interest in soil conservation, he said, was shown during the first six months of 1943 when 50 applications from farmers were received in Hale county. Work has been done on only 32 of the 50, or about 11,244 acres. About 2,000 acres of sloping land has been terraced this year, he said.

BOOKS BEING RECEIVED

POST — Wallace Kimbrough, Garza county farm agent, says he is doing his best to properly handle the farm labor problem, both for the employers and the laborers. Consumers are beginning to receive Ration Book No. 3 in the mails. Women are taking an active part in food gardens. Lee Byrd was rendered unconscious Saturday night by a bolt of lightning which "splattered" all around him while he was in his yard. He has recovered. The Southland school board elected J. P. Hewlett of San Benito, superintendent. Measures have been taken by county commissioners, in the form of a $2 bounty, to rid Garza county of coyotes and bobcats. Lee Bynum of Lubbock has bought the Adams shoe shop and moved his family here.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

SPUR — Ophelia, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Cherry, nine miles east of Spur, is recovering from the bite of a rattler. Jack Christian, as president, and other officers of the Rotary club, were inducted last Thursday. State exams for second grade state certificates will be given teachers July 2 and 3.

THREE RECEIVES DEGREE

LITTLEFIELD,—Mayor Homer Hall has asked conservation of city water and it may be that water will be turned off at certain periods of the day to allow the pressure tanks to be re-filled. The local FFA chapter has placed fifth in the state. Carrol Wilson, D. H. Brewster, jr., and John Estle Willingham were awarded the Lone Star farmer degree.

VICKERS ENDORCED

LEVELLAND — The Hockley county bar has endorsed J. E. Vickers of Lubbock for special district judge. The new star mail route out of Levelland is due to start July 1, according to Postmaster Mrs. H. H. Mann. Stores here will observe July 4-5 by closing.

QUOTA IS REACHED

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—Texas is the first state to reach its Red Cross quota of nurses inducted into the armed services—with 1,314 assigned to posts, it was announced today by Gov. Coke Stevenson.

The average price of a jeep is $900, which means 48 people must buy $25 war bonds to pay for one.

CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENTS

FOR ALL

This young man 27 years old came to this office with sugar diabetis. He had been on insulin for one year and seven months. Xray pictures were taken and adjustments started. At the end of the second month we reduced the unitage of insulin from 40 to 30. At the end of five months he no longer had to take insulin for the pancreas was manufacturing and secreting its own. Chiropractors release the nerve energy to the pancrease and all function is restored. The longer a patient has taken insulin the longer it will take to get well ... For further information please call at this office . . .
