Schlinkman's Play, Tech's Line Shine

By JAY HARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

TEXAS Tech's fighting Red Raiders—with big Walt Schlinkman writing football history in an All-American performance—chalked up a stunning 12 to 0 triumph over Texas Christian university's fabled Frogs at Tech stadium Saturday afternoon before a homecoming crowd of 10,000 fans.

And as the record crowd thronged from the stadium after witnessing a modern chapter in the "persecution of the Christians," lights around Tech's pealing Victory bells reflected a silver lining from soggy skies for thousands of Tech fans and Exes—many of whom were watching the Crimson Tide roll to victory for the first time in three years, after armed service round the world.

Tech Outplays Frogs

The skies dripped gloom for Coach Dutch Meyer's Fort Worth team last night, however, as the tired Toads prepared to head back to Cowtown. They—and Meyer, too—must have been thinking about another dreary day back in 1936, when the Red Raiders crushed another great TCU team and passing ace—Sammy Baugh, 7 to 0.

Roundly outplaying the Frogs who had lost only two 1945 games up until Saturday—for three full quarters, the Raiders exploded in all their fury in the final frame to score two sensational touchdowns and register one of the major upsets of the day in the nation's gridiron schedule.

Tidwell Scores First Tally

The first tally—and the most spectacular—came in the first two minutes of the fourth quarter. Little Bennie Tidwell, 140-pound Tech left halfback from Sunset, came from out of nowhere to snag one of Leon Joslin's passes on the Tech 30, then roared down the sidelines, 70 yards, to paydirt.

With five minutes remaining to play in the fourth stanza, Otis Turner, Tech's big center, intercepted another Joslin heave on the TCU 35 and raced back to the Frog 20 before being hauled down.

Schlinkman Gets Next

Then in four mighty plunges, Schlinkman bulled his way to the second and clinching Tech touchdown. Both extra points failed.

A fighting line that never gave an inch without a battle and Schlinkman's almost incredible rushing performance—which netted 132 of Tech's 138 yards gained rushing—spelled defeat for the pass minded Frogs. That and the fact that Tech turned TCU's biggest threat—Leon Joslin's aerial wizardy—into both winning touchdowns.

The Raiders had threatened several times in those opening three periods when the fourth got under way. TCU had managed to threaten only once and had the ball in Tech territory only four times all afternoon. An indication of the one-sided walloping the Frogs really took is shown in the statistics which show Tech amassing 138 yards rushing to TCU's only 30. The Frogs did manage to complete 12 of 25 passes for 96 yards, but Tech intercepted four of those to gain 94 yards and picked up 20 yards of their own on two tosses.

TCU Threat Fails

Neither team threatened the first half and most of the opening two quarters were played between the 30-yard stripes, with TCU unable to get past its own 40 in the initial period. In the second quarter, the Frogs came unwound about midway the period and with Joslin, TCU's much heralded quarterback and aerial ace, tossing three in a row blasted their way to the 50 from their own 25.

But after a penalty, an incomplete pass and a setback, Joslin made the mistake of attempting another pass, Schlinkman gathering it in on the Tech 35 to stop the threat.

Tech Gets Break

The Raiders, with Schlinkman's 49-yard quick kick, put TCU in a hole then and with a 15-yard holding penalty tossed in the Frogs were shoved back to their own four. A short punt out gave the Raiders the ball on the TCU 35. Tech plowed back to the 20, just seconds before the half ended, to threaten, but bogged down.

Tech got a break on the opening kickoff of the second half when John Cooke, TCU right tackle, booted both Frog rickoffs out of bounds, giving the Raiders the ball on the TCU 40 under

MEYER IS RIGHT

Only one incident marred Saturday's Texas Tech-TCU grid relations—but, admittedly, it was "disgraceful."

An over exuberant fan walked to the TCU bus just as it was about to leave Tech field to return players to their Hilton hotel quarters. He zapped with a bottle an a window of the bus with such persistent force that the window was shattered, and pieces of glass showered Leon Joslin, TCU quarterback and ace passer, and some fragments had to be removed from his eye at Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Dutch Meyer, veteran TCU coach, made this impatient remark to The Avalanche-Journal after Joslin had left the hospital:

"You can say for me that what this town needs for a visiting football team is an escort."

Worry was evident on Meyer's face. Some of his men said he had been highly complimentary of Tech's conduct and brilliance of play during the game—but that after the incident of the mass he "just closed up."

Police informed of what had happened, were attempting to ascertain the fan's identity.

Late in the night it was learned from coaches that Joslin's eye probably will not suffer any ill effects.

Big Base Battered As Ultimatum Rejected

Thousands Said Killed, Many Flee; Indonesian Reinforcements Enroute

(By The Associated Press)

BATAVIA, Java, Sunday, Nov. 11—Indonesians reports said today that Soerabaja and vicinity had been "devastated" and "thousands" of Indonesian soldiers and civilians killed by "continued British attacks from the air, sea and land."

Reports telephoned here from a T.K.R. (Indonesian Army) captain and released by officials of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, said that "bodies are piling up in all Soerabaja and cannot be removed because of continuous British shelling from the sea."

Reports Unconfirmed

No British reports have been issued since Saturday's announcement that Maj. Gen. E. C. Mansergh had ordered the attack to protect the advancing Fifth Indian division which he said was suffering casualties in the face of growing Indonesian resistance.

The British order to blast away at the city of 500,000 inhabitants came after Indonesians rejected an ultimatum to surrender their weapons.

The telephoned report said British troops were "moving into the city using the common people as a shield" and were employing "bombs, tanks, and heavy guns in a deliberate, indiscriminate attack on the people."

"Indonesians, their spirit aflame, fight on," the report added.

An Indonesian spokesman said civilians were fleeing the city, once a large Dutch naval base, and had set fire to compounds surrounding the British perimeter in carrying out a scorched earth withdrawal.

Indonesians On March

Strong Indonesian forces were reported marching on Coerabaja from inland Jogjakarta, Nationalist stronghold 175 miles to the southwest.

British declared their initial advance met only light sniping and machinegun fire. An official statement said the shelling and bombing were ordered because Indian troops had suffered casualties from stiffened Indonesian resistance, and "stronger measures were necessary."

There were no immediate estimates of casualties on either side.

Youth Rally Breaks Up

Indonesian "President" Soekarno had gone to Jogjakarta to address a youth rally, which broke up when news of the British attack was received. Soekarno was expected to return to Batavia tomorrow.

There were no indications yet that the Soerabaja battle had set off any widespread outbreaks throughout Java, as Indonesian leaders had predicted might result.

Late tonight Allied troops used mortars in a short but severe clash with Indonesians in the Kramat sector of Batavia.

A British statement asserted that the arms in possession of the Indonesians belonged originally to the Japanese troops and sailors 20,000 of whom were still to be rounded up in the Soerabaja area.

British Cite Mandate

In a series of orders and statements before the attack, the British maintained they were only carrying out the mandate of the United Nations in rescuing prisoners of war, and internees, and in rounding up the defeated Japanese.

British Commander Maj. Gen. E. C. Mansergh had issued stringent instructions that the Indonesian police and the T.K.R. (Army) regulars could retain only rifles and 10 rounds of ammunition per man.

He warned that if fighting started, any Indonesian crowds collecting in the streets or squares would be strafed by British planes.

Broadcasts over the Indonesian controlled radio in Soerabaja urged the Indonesians not to surrender their arms, but cautioned them against starting hostilities.

Heavy Fighting Rages In China

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, Nov. 10.—Artillery and mortars thundered today along the coastal end of China's Great Wall, where the Chinese Communists' best divisions blocked the path of thousands of Nationalist troops into industrially-rich Manchuria.

The booming of heavy weapons first was heard during the night in the U. S. Marine-guarded port of Chinwangtao, Associated Press correspondent Richard Bergholz reported, signalling the first heavy fighting in the undeclared civil war.

Army Solidly Entrenched

The action began near Shanhaikwan, coastal anchor of the wall north of Chinwangtao where the Reds' crack Eighth Route Army is solidly entrenched.

Intensified fighting was reported far inland, and also flared south of Chinwangtao along the railroad to Tientsin.

An unconfirmed Chinese report said one Nationalist platoon was annihilated near a first-aid station set up to care for wounded at Nationalist - held Pehtaiho junction, 15 miles south of Chinwangtao.

Although almost encircled by the fighting fhich — until today has been sporadic, U. S. Marines had been involved in no new incidents, Bergholz said.

Tanks Getting Out

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of American forces in China, said today in his first Chungking news conference since his return from Washington that all American forces will be out of China by early spring, leaving only a 6,000-man military misison.

They will not, he emphasized, help the Nationalists reach vital Manchuria, from which the Russians are withdrawing and in which the Chinese Reds hope to build a vast, militarily and industrially powerful "base area."

Wedemeyer said Marines would remain "non-partisan," and would not make any further landings in North China or move to any other points from their present stations at Peiping, Tientsin, Tangku (near Tientsin), Chinwangtao and Tsingtao.

Intervention Complaints

Communists in Chungking, where peace talks have thus far been fruitless, reiterated complaints against American "intervention." One Red spokesman protested against any American financial, as well as military aid, declaring that any loan to the Nationalist government would "prolong this civil war."

In the North China inland province of Shansi and in Suiyuan province of Inner Mongolia fighting raged in what a semi-official dispatch called "bloody, see-saw battles."

One dispatch reported recapture by the Nationalists of the important railway junction of Shihkiachwang in Hopeh province—although the government never had previously acknowledged its loss. It is a strategic point on the north-south Peiping-Hankow railroad.

More Troops Arrive

An official dispatch also recorded the arrival of "large numbers" of Nationalist troops at Paotow, western terminus of the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad west of Kweisui, beseiged Suiyuan capital.

All the inland action involved the few transportation routes which Nationalists would take to reach North China, Inner Mongolia and Munchuria.

Trustworthy reports here indicated the Communists were trying to establish, in Inner Mongolia and Manchuria north of the Great Wall a "base area" to provide them with supplies and troops for a long war—hoping thus to obtain far greater concessions in any negotiations with Chungking.

Victory Homecoming Is Howling Success

By GEM BOB CALLEY
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Hand clapping, back slapping, reviving old acquaintships and general rejoicing was order of the day on Texas Tech campus yesterday when approximately 4,000 ex-students gathered there to hang up something of a record in the way of homecomings.

Yes, 20th annual "Victory" homecoming was a howling success—greater than any celebration ever held at Tech. In a true sense of the word it was a victorious occasion.

Victory Over TCU

Tech's victory over Texas Christian university, the event which climaxed activities, made homecoming a more mirthful and rollicking reunion—but because of the war's end and so many more exes were here to paticipate in commemorations—it was a triumphant day on the campus.

All servicemen and veterans were honored at homecoming, sponsored by the Tech Alumni association.

Welcomes Extended

Warm welcomes were extended homecomers by Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, Tech president, Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock County agent, and George Langford, chairman of homecoming committee. Gordon and Langford were in charge of homecoming arrangements.

Until game time the crowd remained at the gym, meeting friends they hadn't seen for a long time and enjoying a spirit of fellowship. At noon they were served luncheon, courtesy of the Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma coaches and the Lubbock Bus company. They were entertained by music of Buddy Arnett's orchestra.

Guests Of Clubs

Following the game alumni were guests of various campus social clubs and organizations for teas, open houses and dinners. Clubs feting former members were Las Chaparritas, Sans Souci, DFD, Casa Linda and Women's Recreational association. Open house for all students was held at the Methodist Student center.

Events of the day were concluded with an informal dance held at the gym where a capacity crowd gathered. Members of the

Most Business Houses To Close Here Monday For Quiet Armistice Day; Others Set Similar Plans

A simple observance of the first peacetime Armistice day since 1941 was due in Lubbock today and Monday.

Following the custom of closing the following day when a legal holiday falls on Sunday, most Lubbock businesses—at least, the members of the Retail Merchants association—will be shut up tight until Tuesday morning. The banks and the First Federal Savings and Loan association, the postoffice and city, county and federal offices will also be closed.

Postoffice Schedule

Amos H. Howard, postmaster, said parcel post deliveries would be made and the general delivery window would be open from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. Otherwise, there will be no mail delivery.

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will observe the occasion with their traditional joint breakfast at 7:30 o'clock this morning. Appropriate music will be furnished by the Sunshine trio, KFYO entertainers, and a Lubbock quartet. After the breakfast, those attending will be special guests of the Men's Downtown Bible class at the Lindsey theater.

Various churches were to take note the day at their services this morning.

War Trophy Display

Harve J. Kendrick and P. T. West, commanders, respectively, of the local Legion and VFW posts, announced that a display of war trophies and equipment from the last and first World wars will be on display Monday afternoon at the Legion hall. The public is invited to view the exhibit. Representatives of the local State guard unit will be on hand to explain operation of the equipment.

The two organizations' observance program began Saturday night with a dance at the Legion hall for members an dtheir guests.

TEXAS OBSERVANCE IS OVER THREE-DAY PERIOD

(By The Associated Press)

Sprawling Texas is scattering its Armistice day celebration over a three-day period with parades, speeches, barbecues, breakfasts, memorial services and closing of stores and government offices.

Observance of Armistice began yesterday in some areas.

A mammoth parade was held in Dallas despite chilly weather and a cool drizzle. Participating were thousands of men from military posts in the area, high school cadets, state guardsmen, the Red Cross, many bands and various other organizations.

Keyed To Victory Loan

The first peace-time Armistice since Pearl Harbor was keyed to the current victory loan drive.

Observance today, which is actually Armistice day, will be mild and in most instances solemn.

At Abilene, a memorial service will be held at the high school auditorium, Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith will speak. Families and friends of war dead of both World wars are honor guests.

An annual legion breakfast will be held this morning at Lubbock. A dance was held there last night for ex-service men at Legion hall.

Parade At Borger

Borger today has a parade to honor the 27th Armistice anniversary. It is to begin at 10 a. m., and will halt at 11 to pay respects to departed comrades. Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Disabled Veterans, women's auxiliaries and veterans of World

Thousands Of Japs Return To Homeland

TOKYO, Nov. 10. (AP) — Two American ships debarked 3,040 Japanese civilian repatriates from the Philippines at Uraga near Yokohama today, and the Japanese aircraft carrier Hosho docked at the same port with 1,947 Nipponese service men from Jaluit, Maloelap and Wotje islands in the Marshall group.

The senior officer among the returnees from Wotje, Rear Adm. Shinichi Yoshimi, said that when he landed on the island in July, 1943, the garrison numbered 2,300 men and officers but that it was reduced to about 1,000 at surrender time by starvation, malnutrition and 300 combat deaths.

The remainder, he said, were reduced to eating rats and bugs last spring, and were saved from death by food supplied by Americans after the surrender and another load brought in by a Japanese steamer in September.

They returned to a homeland which ended ten weeks of American occupation today.

Solons Argue Hot Questions

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—Congress didn't work today but kept some of its hottest squabbles going with arguments over an Army-Navy merger, Pearl Harbor and atomic power.

Opponents of peacetime military training said they were going to end a fuss over that in a hurry. They claimed enough votes to kill it.

President Truman has asked for a year's training for all able-bodied young men. The House Military committee is considering it.

Meets Again Tuesday

The committee meets again Tuesday. Rep. Short (R-Mo) told reporters he would renew then a motion to stop consideration until next year, or until the Senate has voted. And he said that "we have the votes to do it"—14 of the 27 committee members.

Chairman May (D-Ky) admitted the vote would be "close."

About those other squabbles:

Pearl Harbor—Two members of the Senate-House committee investigating Japan's punch at the island base were at it again.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) said in an interview he had asked that the committee thumb through the diary of former Secretary of War Stimson.

Wants Grew As Witness

Ferguson said he wanted Joseph Grew, former undersecretary of state and ambassador to Japan, to be a witness. Hearings start Thursday.

A tentative list of 48 witnesses was issued. It includes Thomas E. Dewey, 1944 GOP presidential nominee, Grew, and high ranking figures in government and military life. Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) said all facts will be made public no matter whom they may hurt.

Merger—A full day after Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle urged a merger and stirred up a letter of protest from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal to Secretary of War Patterson the rumblings still were going on.

Senator McClellan (D-Ark) told a reporter Forrestal was to be

Reds Dump Refugees On Others

BERLIN, Nov. 10—The Russians are dumping two or three thousand refugees a day into American, British and French zones.

Apparently they think there is no limit to our willingness and ability to care for them.

Not much is yet being done for these displaced persons. German welfare organizations are operating a soup line, charging those able to pay.

Poland wants to expel eight to twelve million more Germans who lived in East Prussia and Silesia, and Czechoslovakia wants to expel two million from the Sudetan.

Berlin In Ruins

The ruin and destruction in much of Berlin is almost impossible to realize, even when you see it. There is a deadening monotony to the ruins.

Some progress is being made in reconstruction, but it will take years. Most of the elevated trains are running, and some of the street-car lines and the underground are operating. Parts of the underground are still flooded and are being pumped out.

This is work strictly for the Germans. We are repairing things only for our own use.

Russians Great Enigma

The Russians are the great problem, the great enigma.

Relations between our soldiers and the Red soldiers are probably as good as can be expected, considering the difference in language and ideologies. Our boys sum it up by saying good-naturedly the Russians are "crazy."

Many Russians are very ignorant, and have they been propagandized! They think our jeeps and trucks were made in Russia, and lend-leased to us!

Higher up, they are very demanding and difficult to deal with. A short time ago they cut off our electricity, generation of which is in their zone, but when we threatened to cut off the gas, which is in our zone, they quickly turned the electricity on again.

Their attitude generally is that they won the war with some minor help from the rest of the Allies.

The opinion among correspondents is that General Eisenhower is dealing with the Russians as firmly as his instructions from Washington will permit. Correspondents think the Russians do

Death March Escapee Back Home After Years Of Torture By Japs

The war record of T/Sgt. Hugh B. McCoy Of Abernathy is about as unusual as you'll find.

In the first place, he had been in the Army about five years before the Japs hit Pearl Harbor. He was sent to the Philippines in July of 1939. He was in the infamous Bataan Death March—and escaped. He was a member of a group of American guerrilla fighters and, later, led a band of Filipino guerrillas. He was re-captured, tried and acquitted, a distinction which did not come to many Americans taken by the Japs. Not until the Japs moved him to Japan in August of 1944 was he given the status of a prisoner of war. He was confined in four different prisons. From the early months of the war to the summer of 1944 his folks back home knew only that he was missing. From the date of his capture, April 9, 1942, to last Oct. 15, when he got off a boat at San Francisco, he had had no word from his family.

Learns About Family

Through an exchange of telegrams, he found that his family was just as he had left it. His father, M. J. McCoy, and a sister, Mrs. G. G. Waits, live at Abernathy. Two other sisters live in Lubbock. They are Mrs. Tom Cannon, of 2502 Pierce Ave., and Mrs. O C. Southall, of 2622 Twenty-seventh.

Sgt. McCoy was at Fukuoa camp No. 3 when the Japs threw in the towel. After officials of the camp announced that the war was over, the prisoners at McCoy's camp "took over" and did as they pleased. He wanted to get away from the prison in a hurry, so he took a train to Tokyo. There he welcomed the first Americans to arrive in the defeated country.

Through In Good Shape

The Abernathy soldier, who is 36, came through the years of hardship in good physical shape, he believes. While in Japan, his weight dropped to around a 100 pounds from his normal 160. He now weighs 151. His joints are a little stiff with rheumatism, caused by the poor prison diet and Japan's damp weather. His eyesight was damaged but it is coming back. And for the last several days he has been visiting a dentist to get several old cavities filled.

"I haven't made up my mind yet but I think I'll stay in the Army," he said. Then he said to a reporter, "There's something I wish you'd print. We ought to help the Filipinos all we can. They're wonderful people and gave we Americans much valuable help. And universal military training. I'm for it a hundred per cent."

Death March Escape

Sgt. McCoy said he escaped from the Death March because he "couldn't stand it any longer."

"I was already suffering from malaria and a tropical ulcer," he said, "so, at one time, when the Jap guards moved down the line, I dived into the thick grass alongside the road."

He made his way into the hills and was found there by a Filipino, who took him to his home and cared and hid him from the Japs.

He joined with 65 other Americans and they organized a guerrilla outfit, wtih guns and ammunition provided by the Filipinos. They would raid Jap convoys coming into Bataan, take food and other supplies and then escape into the hills.

Food, Medicine Primary

"We tried to kill some Japs, of course," he explained, "but our main purpose was to get food and medicine so that we could live and stay out of the hands of the enemy.

The Americans' camp was raided one day and, after that, they decided to scatter, each man going his own way. Sgt. McCoy organized a band of Filipinos and they harassed the Japs from Oct. 1, 1942, to May, 1943. He was recaptured when he and three Filipinos were on their way to contact an American colonel, who had important information to pass on.

The Japs held and tortured him in a small jail in Tarlac province until Sept. 10. They sought to gain knowledge of guerrilla activity. He was taken to Bilibid prison and placed in the execution chamber. He was brought to trial and acquitted.

He was transferred to Cabantuan prison on Nov. 1 and confined until the following summer, then moved to Japan.

"The food at Bilibid and Cabantuan was awful, but not as bad as that at Fukuoa," McCoy said. "We had seaweed soup for breakfast, about a handful of barley for lunch and boiled radish for supper."

He said there were 1,195 prisoners in the camp, most of whom were made to work in a large steel mill.

"As the war neared the close, morale among the Americans was good," he declared, "but not so good among the Dutch and the Limeys."

House Shortage Is More Acute

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—At least 3,000,000 American families—including those of 1,000,000 war veterans—must "double up" with other families in order to have living accommodations in 1946.

That's the outlook John B. Blandford, jr., national housing administrator, gave in a letter to mayors of all cities of more than 25,000 population along with a warning of "a continued tight housing supply" next year.

Others Must Double Up

He said about 1,000,000 families are living doubled up now and that "preliminary estimates show that another 2,000,000 families must double up by Dec. 31, 1946, unless their plight can be relieved by a far greater volume of new housing than anyone considers possible." This would be beyond a goal of 475,000 units hoped to be completed in 1946.

Saying at least a million families of veterans "will have accomodations in the presently occupied housing supply." Blandford declared they "won't find enough homes unless cities establish some system of organizing their housing supply and of giving veterans preference in turnover.

Referral Services Urged

"The first immediate task, then, is probably the establishment of adequate housing referral services for veterans, linked closely with any established veterans' information center so that a veteran can get as much necessary information as possible at one central point."

Blandford suggested in his letter that as a step to curb inflation in prices of new and existing homes that cities establish appraisal bureaus to give estimates of fair values to all prospective buyers.

He said "the chief burden will fall on our cities" in handling the housing shortage and he asked that they plan carefully to stimulate all possibl econstruction along lines which would best meet the problem.

Consideration was $70,000. The deal was handled through C. J. Norton, local realtor.

Labor And Materials Holding Up Building

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (U.P.) — Scarcity of materials and labor is holding up Texas building since the lifting of construction restrictions, "Texas Contractor," trade publication, reported here today.

The lifting of restrictions, it said, has been followed by a "flood" of large and small structures being put under contract. Most of the work started in recent weeks has been for industrial buildings, hotels, churches and residences.

It was noted most of the contracts were for non-government jobs.

One family dwellings to cost less than $5,000 totaled $880,000 for October and the publication predicted that as soon as lumber, hardware and plumbing fixtures become more plentiful, there will be no limit to the homes built, despite increased costs to the builder.

Contract awards for October were tabulated at $23,377,316, including a high for year on engineering jobs of $7,138,098.

Majority In U. S. Supports Idea Of Peacetime Military Training

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Repeatedly for the past three years public opinion surveys have found a substantial majority of the American people favoring peacetime military training of young men. In the latest test of public sentiment the vote runs approximately 7-to-3 for the adoption of this much-discussed measure now before Congress

The principle of compulsory peacetime training is one on which there has been a remarkable stability of public sentiment in recent years. The vote in favor has always ranged between 63 per cent and 70 per cent in eight Institute surveys made during the period December, 1942 through late October, 1945.

The trend, including the latest figures, is shown below. The wording of the question in the most recent test was the same as that used in earlier years, with two exceptions. The phrase 'in the future" has been substituted for "after the war", and the question concerns military or naval training for one year rather than one year in the army or navy. The latest poll was completed just before President Truman's message to Congress advocating passage of a peacetime military training bill.

"In the future, do you think every able-bodied young man should be required to take military and naval training for one year?"

	Yes	No	No Op
Dec., 1942	66%	27%	7%
Nov., 1943	63	29	8
Sept., 1944	63	23	14
Dec., 1944	70	25	5
Feb., 1945	69	22	9
May, 1945	70	24	6
July, 1945	69	24	7
Oct., 1945	70	24	6

A new survey is now in progress to test public reaction following President Truman's message to Congress on military training, in which he proposed that all young men, except those completely incapacitated physically, should start a one-year's training course before reaching their twentieth birthday.

The peacetime training issue is a good illustration of the fact that there are often differences in the intensity of public opinion for and against a proposal.

Congress has been hearing, by mail and by telegram, from groups in the population who are opposed to the bill. The same thing happened in 1940, during debate on the bill for the selective service draft. Congressional mail at that time was overwhelmingly against passage of the act, because more of the people opposed to it took more trouble to bombard Congress by mail and postcard than did the people in favor.

Yet the views of the group with the more outspoken opinions were not a reliable index of the views of the whole country.

Junction Man Named Bank Commissioner

AUSTIN Nov. 10 (U.P.)—State Banking Commissioner H. A. Jamison today announced his resignation to be effective Dec. 1, and appointment of Laurence S. Johnson of Junction by the state banking commission to be his successor.

Johnson, now a deputy commissioner, will be succeeded by George Seaborn Vann of Dallas. Vann now is department liquidating agent with other assigned duties.

No other department change is contemplated, Jamison said.

Jamison will become vice-president of Victoria Bank and Trust company, it was announced. He has been with the state banking department since Oct. 28, 1935.

Johnson was born at Menard, Tex. His banking experience includes connections with the Junction State bank, Junction National bank, First State bank, Camp Wood; First National bank, Rock Springs, and Home State bank of Marble Falls. He has been with the state banking department since May 1942. Since 1944 he has been a deputy commissioner.

Vann, before joining the department staff, was an employe of the Federal Reserve bank, Dallas, and an officer of State Trust and Savings bank, Dallas.

Inquiry Is Concluded In LSU Resignations

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Five supervisors of Louisiana State university last night concluded an inquiry here into the resignations of 27 from the LSU medical faculty and expressed a hope that the end of the controversy "is not too far away."

Preparing to report to the supervisory board's full membership, the investigating group Chairman E. Monnot Lanier of Baton Rouge said:

"We have every reason to believe that with the assurances of cooperative effort by the faculty, the solution of our troubles is not too far away."

W-O Crenshaw Here For Visit Before Assignment Abroad

Warrant Officer C. C. Crenshaw, jr., is shaking hands with himself as often as he does with his friends, while here on 60-day recuperation leave before reporting for duty with the Second Continental Air force.

On Oct. 5, 100 miles north of Bordeaux, he had to jump from a C-46—and the occasion was the first in his six and a half months of African and European flying he happened to have a parachute.

Crenshaw and 26 other airmen were at 5,000 feet when the large twin-engine aircraft ran out of gasoline. Only the day before had orders been posted required C-46 crews and passengers to wear chutes.

Only One Mishap

The 27 men got overboard in two minutes. All chutes opened and there was only one mishap, one airman suffering a broken ankle. In Paris, the men were informed the incident was a record for mass parachute jumping.

Crenshaw, sixteenth to jump, was first to the ground. He dropped 1,000 feet before jerking the rip cord.

Just before he dived out the hatch, he stuck an unopened pack of cigarets in one of his pockets. When he landed in a farmer's vinyard he began walking up a patch toward a public road. Three-quarters mile from where he landed he found the package of cigarets in the path.

Saw Other Lubbock Men

While flying with the Air Transport command, the Lubbock officer bumped into other Lubbock servicemen occasionally, among them Capt. Frank Maddox and Flight Officer Gene Greer, both at Cairo, and First Lt. Johnnie Pierce and Capt. Charles Cobb, both in London.

Crenshaw instructed before going overseas. When he will be discharged he could not "even guess."

He will be associated with the law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree & Milam upon his return to civil life.

Bids Close On 9,100 Surplus Army Jeeps

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (U.P.)—Books closed last night on bids for 9,100 surplus Army jeeps and informed sources hinted there might be a handful left for veterans.

Earlier it had appeared that federal, state and local governments, which had priorities ahead of veterans, would gobble up the entire first offering.

Who gets them, and whether any are left will be known next week when the Consumer Goods division of RFC winds up its allocations.

So far, no more jeeps are in sight as surplus property. Thousands more however, will inevitably reach the auction block.

Top prices were set this time at $782 for substantially new jeeps of 1945, 1944 and 1943 vintage. For 1942 models in good shape the price was $695 and for 41's, $598. Those in poor condition sold for less.

Government To Cancel Subsidies

MANHATTAN, Kas., Nov. 10. (AP)—Cancellation next year of the government's $1,798,000,000 annual food subsity program should not bring an overall increase in the cost of living, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson believes.

In an interview last night, Anderson said removal of subsidies on some products, such as meat and dairy products, might increase prices, but lowered costs of other important food items would keep the index of living costs from rising.

Among the latter, Anderson listed fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes and eggs, costs of which he said would probably fall by next spring.

The government has announced it intended to cancel the subsidy program, with the possible exception of subsidies on sugar, flour and flax, by next June 30.

Subsidies have been paid to maintain prices to the producer without corresponding increases in consumer costs.

He said that in the case of beef he had recommended cost of the subsidy cancellation amounting to about $575,000,000 yearly, be shared by both producer and consumer. Packers now are paid an average of around $2 a hundred pounds for slaughtering cattle of certain grades. Approximately half that amount may be allowed in an increase in ceiling prices. The other half will be a roll-back in prices paid the producers.

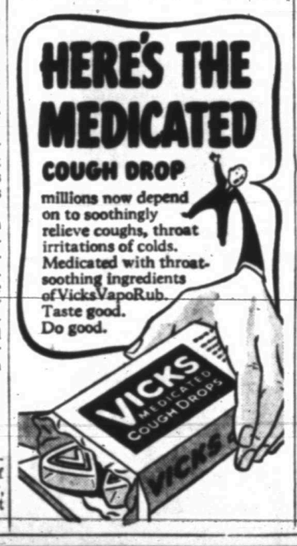

Prominent Oil Man Dies In Pennsylvania

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—William J. Sloan, 64, prominent oil man and a director of the Independent Oil Producers association of America, died of a heart attack yesterday in the office of Sloan & Zook Co., of which he was vice-president.

In partnership with Ralph T. Zook, also a well known figure in the oil world, Sloan had bought oil lands, drilled wells and operated refineries in western Pennsylvania since 1917.

In recent years, they extended their holdings to include oil properties in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana.

World Youth Group Sidesteps Palestine

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The two-week conference of delegates from 63 countries who organized the World Federation of Democratic Youth ended today with delegates sidestepping the thorny problem of Palestine.

A two-man Palestine delegation tried in vain to get the organization to go on record favoring help in establishing a Jewish state in Palestine.

The final session closed with a standing tribute to the late President Roosevelt and a manifesto supporting the United Nations organization. Guy De Boisson, head of the French delegation, was elected chairman of the executive council, which will have headquarters in Paris.

Texas Farms Getting Larger, Says Survey

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Texas farms are getting even larger.

Statistics released today by the Commerce department show that cultivated lands in the state increased by 5,538,238 acres during the past five years. The number of separate farms decreased by 19,819.

The average increase per farm was 9.2 per cent, from 329.4 acres in 1940 to 359.7 acres in 1945. The number of farms dropped 4.7 per cent, from 418,002 to 298,183.

Hudspeth county in West Texas showed the greatest gain in farmland with an increase of 700,000 acres. Webb county, along the Rio Grande south of San Antonio, showed a loss of 382,000 acres and 165 farms.

Hidalgo county in the fertile Rio Grande valley showed the greatest gain in the number of farms, an increase of 1,979; the total acreage, however, showed a negligible drop. Harris county, which includes Houston, showed the great loss in the number of farms, a drop of 1,866.

It's Big—It's Beautiful—It's BUICK

THIS, we reasoned, is no time to offer folks a car that stops with artful face-lifting.

It has been nearly four years since our last new Buick was built—it wouldn't be shooting square now to give you less than our honor-bright best.

So we overhauled our whole factory to advantage it with the latest in war-developed machines and processes.

We scoured the country for the stoutest metals anyone can buy today.

We set ourselves precisions that in some cases exceed those of aircraft engine production.

And we eagle-eyed every one of this Buick's 12,000 parts to see if it could be bettered in any way, big or little.

The result is that through every stunning inch of this bright new honey runs solid, dependable Buick character, honest and uncompromised.

It's in swift clean lines. In seats that are three-persons wide. In stout, time-defying frames and underpinning. Above all—in the lift and life of a Fireball straight-eight that's even livelier than in 1942.

The cars your Buick dealer will have are big. They're beautiful. They're Buicks.

In fact—the best Buicks yet!

Phillips Says Oil Industry To Cushion Shock Of Reconversion

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP)—The giant oil industry generally will be able to cushion the reconversion shock and retain its employes, Frank Phillips, head of the Phillips Petroleum company, believes.

Only possible stumbling blocks, Phillips, one of the recognized leaders in the oil industry, said in an interview, would be "interruptions of operations, strikes and other major differences between labor and management."

Shorter Schedules

"Any reductions in needs for workers created by the shift from war to peacetime production probably can be compensated by the return to shorter working schedules," he continued.

"This assumes, of course, that all employee-veterans who should desire will be reinstated."

Reconversion, Phillips believes, will not be hard for plants devoted to turning out high octane gasoline for airplanes during the war.

"Some of the high octane fuel plants in this country," he said, "will continue in operation with suitable revisions to fit them into the motor fuel economy.

Few On High Octane

"A few will probably continue to manufacture high octane aviation fuel.

"It is doubtful if many will be converted to production of specialized synthetic materials since their capacities are disproportionately large.

"A more likely development is that synthetic production will help support their continued operation on motor and aviation fuels.

Marketing Facilities

A trend toward postwar construction of marketing facilities for the industry was foreseen by Phillips.

"During the war period, production, manufacturing and transportation facilities were greatly expanded and all construction of distribution facilities was deferred," he explained.

"Consequently, there will be proportionately less of the former types of buildings and facilities constructed in the immediate postwar years and greater emphasis will be placed on marketing and distribution facilities.

"Also, office and research buildings will need to be built to accommodate growth during the past four or five years."

Less sugar is needed to sweeten cooked fruit if sugar is added after instead of before cooking.

Hitching Items Outnumber The Unhitching Ones In Hollywood During The Past Week

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10. — This town's marriage and divorce news is so voluminous that the trade paper, Daily Variety, has a special department titled "The Hitching Post." This week, oddly enough, the "hitching" items outnumbered the "unhitching" ones.

Outstanding news in the hitching division was the announcement by Ergar Bergen that he married former model Frances Westerman in Mexico last June. The ventriloquist failed to explain why the wedding was kept secret and Charlie McCarthy, for once in his young life, wasn't talking.

Hornblow And Schinasi

Producer Arthur Hornblow and Heiress Bubbles Schinasi, former mates of Myrna Loy and Wayne Morris, were wed in New York. Director Charles Vidor and Doris Warner Leroy, Warner brothers heiress, divorced this year from Evelyn Keyes and Mervyn Leroy, married in Beverly Hills.

Marjorie Riordan, Washington, D. C., actress, and Marine Maj. George Lumpkin announced they were married last summer, as did Grace Nichols, former wife of Director Gregory La Cava, and Earl "Curly" Lambeau of the Green Bay Packers. How do they keep those things secret?

And Ruth Favor Davis, mother of Bette, announced her own engagement to Robert Woodbury Palmer, retired Boston businessman.

Missouri ranked ninth among the states in the number of fishing licenses issued during the 1943-44 fiscal year, and 12th in hunting licenses, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service reports.

Sole item in the unhitching column was the divorce of Mrs. Benny Baker from the rotund comic. "It was a question of a few things," she testified—liquor, horses and women.

Hazel Scott Cancels Press Club Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (U.P.)—Hazel Scott, negro pianist recently denied the use of Constitutional hall by the Daughters of the American Revolution, has cancelled an appearance next Tuesday before a dinner to be given by the National Press club for President Truman and other high ranking government officials.

Word of the cancellation was disclosed by the Capital Press club of Washington, an organization of negro newsmen. The organization earlier was bitterly criticized by Miss Scott's scheduled appearance at a dinner sponsored by a club which does not admit negroes to membership.

The organization also released a copy of a telegram which Miss Scott sent to the press club from Grand Rapids, Mich. The telegram said she was canceling the engagement because negroes are barred from the National Press club and the House and Senate press galleries.

Edward Jamieson, president of the National Press club, confirmed receipt of the telegram. He said he was notified originally of the cancellation in a telephone call by Miss Scott's manager in New York. He declined to comment.

In her telegram, Miss Scott said that "I am sure you will understand my position. I trust that the day will soon come when qualified journalists of my race will be accepted without distinction."

She said she "would like to have played for you and for President Truman" and that she had cancelled a profitable engagement in Columbus, O., so she could be present.

Quiz In Newsprint Situation Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — Senators Butler (R-Neb) and Willis (R-Ind) called today for an immediate congressional investigation of the newsprint situation.

In a joint statement the two Republicans said legislators should look into reports that the production of American paper mills already is 6,000 tons less than the estimated rate for the fourth quarter of this year.

As a result, they said, the Office of Price administration is considering lifting ceilings $5 per ton, an action they said would cost newsprint consumers about $16,000,000 a year.

Butler and Willis authored a resolution for an investigation of the shortage. They said the resolution was approved by the Senate but is being held up in the audit and control committee, which passes on expenditures for such inquiries.

The senators said it may be necessary to develop new soures of supply in Alaska, as well as to spur the industry in this country.

Truck Strikes Hole, Japs Lose Heavily

TOKYO, Nov. 10 (AP)—A truck struck a hole in a road today and the Japanese government lost a million and a half yen.

The truck was transporting 2,000,000 yen in nice new 100-yen notes in a box. The jolt threw the box out and scurring throngs, including housewives and children, did the rest.

Police finally rounded up half a million yen of the notes.

Aid Asked In Tracing Lost Lidice Children

BERLIN, Nov. 10. (AP) — The Berliner Zeitung called upon all Germans today to help trace the lost children of Lidice, who were scattered after the SS destroyed that Czechoslovak town in revenge for the death of hangman Heinrich Heydrich.

Czechoslovak authorities have provided the names of 93 children dispersed throughout Germany after the Nazis slew all men of Lidice over the age of 15 and put the women in a concentration camp.

The Berliner Zeitung, organ of the Berlin city government, urged that the children's names be posted in all public buildings and that every individual aid in the search as "a work of atonement," with a special effort to restore them to their mothers for Christmas.

The laying of the Atlantic cable was completed July 27, 1866.

Dancing partners for the graduate trainees will come from Fort Worth, Weatherford, Mineral Wells and other nearby communities. Music will be played by the 254th Army Ground forces band.

Highlight of Miss Presly's visit to Camp Wolters will be a tour of the installation in an Army jeep.

Shidehara Lauds MacArthur Moves In "Fair And Effective Manner"

TOKYO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara believes General MacArthur is moving "in fair and effective manner" to carry out his program of ending militarism and establishing Democracy in Japan.

Many Japanese, he added, hope the American supreme commander will succeed in bringing freedom, and lasting peace to Japan.

This 73-year-old statesman, called from a 14-year retirement to lead his conquered country through the ordeal of occupation and dictated revolutionary change, is among the few declared optimists in Japan.

Admit Japs Bitter

"When we contemplate the American occupation as the result of disastrous defeat, we can't help some feeling of bitterness," he told me. "But we can also hope it will prove a blessing in disguise."

"There is a terribly dark time ahead, but far in the future perhaps we can see the light and hope for better days. I'm trying to instigate in my people courage to face the future and now I believe there is some revival of our spirits from utter despair. This defeat was a terrible calamity, but that's war. We can only hope it will prove a lesson that will lead us to a better future."

In Liberal Cabinets

Shidehara was ambassador to Washington in the early 1920s and then gained fame as foreign minister in a series of liberal cabinets. He went into eclipse in December, 1931, after the militarists, having begun the conquest of Manchuria, toppled the last such governments from power.

Shidehara made it obvious that he still thinks largely in terms of the liberalism of the 1920s when facing the task of carrying out the revolutionary changes MacArthur dictated when Shidehara assumed office. On Oct. 11 the Allied commander handed him a list of sweeping changes in the fabric of Japanese life and demanded that the premier effectuate them.

Has Little Backing

Whether Shidehara is capable of holding together a cabinet composed largely of revived liberals like himself and civil servants with little political background through such changes and face post-surrender ferments is a widely debated question. He made clear, however, that he hopes to retain the office at least until elections for a new parliament, probably early in 1946. The consensus of Americans and Japanese is that he is not likely to survive the elections if he lasts that long. The Japanese say he has been too long out of public life and lacks any important political support. The Americans say that the demands of the occupation program are likely to prove too much for his physical and political strength.

Speaks English Easily

If great revolutionary changes are imminent, as most believe, it seems likely that Shidehara is slated to be the Kerensky of the new era. Not its Lenin.

Despite his long isolation from English-speaking people, his English remains as fluent and incisive as it was when I knew him as foreign minister two decades ago. He still loves to quote Shakespeare and other English classics to make a point. To illustrate his concept of current relations between the United States and Japan, he told me this story:

The premier's barber formed a friendship with an American soldier. One day the barber brought Shidehara a Japanese flag which he had obtained with a request that the premier autograph it.

"This is refused, because I considered it wrong to so use our national flag," Shidehara said. "But I sent the American soldier a fan whereon I had written Portia's speech from the Merchant of Venice, which begins: 'The quality of mercy is not strained . . .'."

"You give us a chance to hope," he said.

Reports On Romania Riot Cause Differ

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—A foreign office spokesman declared today that information received by the British government was contrary to a statement by the Romanian government that Thursday's riots before the royal palace in Bucharest were stirred up by anarchists to promote violence.

The spokesman said the British government must disassaciate itself in the most categorical terms from the statement made by the regime of Premier Petru Groza.

He said information received here was that the demonstration was "peaceful, with a carnival-like atmosphere," and, had it been allowed to proceed, would have done much toward improving the Romanian situation.

Thirteen persons were killed and 80 wounded, Associated Press dispatches from Bucharest said, when Romanian troops fired into a crowd of 50,000.

Peace In Capital? Wotta Laugh! Everybody Is Mad At Everybody About Everything In General; They Even Snarl At Each Other

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — As a wearer of rose-colored glasses, charter member of the Optimists' club, silver-lining specialist, rainbow watcher, and a cheerful fellow generally, I thought the end of the war would bring peace to the capital, too.

Wotta mistake that was; everybody's mad at everybody about everything.

So tomorrow's Armistice day, the president and the prime minister are about to consider history's hottest potato, the atom bomb, and no congressional atom expert agrees with any other expert what should be done.

Snarl At Each Other

The peace conference between labor and industry finished the week at the gold-trimmed federal auditorium with the labor leaders snarling at each other. In the midst of it the street car motormen called a strike which lasted a day and a half, or long enough to make sore a million feet. The taxi drivers said there were too many taxis and demanded a hoist in fares.

Three sisters picketed the Supreme court because the jurists wouldn't consider their charges against the mayor of Altoona, Pa. The charges: The mayor jailed one of the sisters because she put a sign on her house, saying the mayor was a bum. The chief of police, too.

The Soviet embassy celebrated the Russian revolution with a party. But this time there was no caviar.

Dope Is Captured

Post office officials looked into a full-page advertisement in the journal of the American Medical association, extolling a particular brand of contraceptive. Narcotics agents raided joint after joint, mostly within easy walking distance of the Justice department, arrested 250 men and women and captured $50,000 worth of dope.

The auto dealers forced the OPA to hold up its price lists on 1946-model sedans by the sheer weight of their telegrams to Congress. They claimed the OPA was trying to ruin 'em. Chester Bowles said if he wanted to get rich (he's a millionaire) he'd like nothing better than to run an auto agency under his own rules.

Ringworm infection broke out on juvenile scalps; the health department said no youngster suffering from same could attend school unless he wore a skull cap.

Howls From Soldiers

Howls kept coming wholesale from soldiers who claimed the Army had forgotten they were alive. Rep. Wright Patman charged the real estate dealers with lobbying for still higher prices of scarce houses. The realty men said the gentleman from Texas was talking through his big black hat.

President Truman signed the tax bill; many an economist said he shouldn't have; many another said the bill was a big step toward putting America back on its feet.

But I'm still an optimist. I intend to close this dispatch with some cheerful news. Or at least I think it's cheerful: The OPA has removed all controls from corset strings.

RED CROSS SETS FUNDS

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—The American Red Cross will spend $25,000,000 in American-occupied Germany, France, Holland and Belgium during the 1945-46 fiscal year, Chairman Basil O'Connor said today. Of the total, $10,000,000 will be spent for civilian relief.

Uncle Sam Pays Out Plenty For Damage To His Citizens

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — You read a couple of days ago, maybe, how the House of Representatives appropriated $100 to Rastus Davis of Winona, Tex., for watermelons swiped by the Army.

That's only the beginning, taxpayers. This government's always smashing people's houses with airplanes and their legs with trucks, letting 'em fall down steps and causing 'em to stumble over waste paper baskets. It is amazing how much damage the government manages to do and if I were boss I think I'd take out an insurance policy covering every possible kind of loss.

Solons Okay Funds

As it is Congress has to spend one day every month passing out cash as fast as it can to folks run down by postal trucks and shot by mistake by federal cops. The lawmakers hand over dough to those whose steam boats were smashed because of government carelessness and pay for patching street cars wrecked by navy buses.

Take Rastus and his 300 watermelons getting sweet in the sun; some soldiers from Camp Fannin moved in on a moonless night. The Army laughed when Rastus tried to collect; he sent his bill to Congress and got his money after a minimum of debate.

Cases Are Cited

Mrs. Minnie A. Beltz of Seattle, Wash., received $5,000 for being smashed by a Navy station wagon. Charlie Tyson of Aberdeen, N. C., got $1,500 for being mistaken by a military policeman for a safe cracker. Charlie wasn't insulted; he was shot.

Mrs. Lillian Epstein took in $5,000 for being belted by a mail truck in New York; a couple of dozen other people also collected for being hit by federal automobiles. I hate to say it but the government obviously is a reckless driver.

How this one came about nobody seems to know exactly, but a bomb went boom when it shouldn't and left Marine Lt. Jack Sanders standing at Camp Lejeune, N. C., clad solely in goosepimples.

The wastepaper basket did the damage in the Albany, N. Y., postoffice, by getting in the way of Francis A. Handley, a clerk with an armful of mail. Congress passed a special bill authorizing him to collect for damage done to himself.

Boat Firm Collects

There was the sad case of Miss Sybil Georgette Townsend, freshly enlisted in the Army's female air corps. She was on the way from Chicago to Sweetwater, Tex., for training when the Army decided it didn't need any lady airplane pilots. "Who's going to pay for my railroad ticket?" Sybil asked. "Search us," the Army said. Congress forked up the $59.

The Golden Eagle, one of the last of the old side-wheelers plying the Mississippi out of St. Louis, stove herself in on some hidden piles, which showed on no government chart. More trouble; Congress said it would pay whatever was right to the Eagle Packet Co.

Payments In Thousands

Esther L. Berg fell down the slippery front steps of the Veteran's hospital in Portland, Ore., fracturing her fibula. Congress gave her $2,472.54. Mrs. Lionel Comeau, riding on a New Orleans street car when hit by a Navy bus, received $2,570.97. The street car company $1,570.79 to patch its street car.

An Army airplane fell on the house of Harriett Townsend Bottomley at old Brookville, N. Y. This did her home no good; Congress handed her $8,500 to rebuild it.

The Postoffice department refused to pay the toll every day over the Eagle Point bridge at Dubuque, Ia., for one of its rural mail carriers. He kept on crossing the bridge; he also kept on not paying. Congress received a bill of $481.67 for accumulated bridge tolls.

You see how it is, taxpayers.

U. S. Army Pressing Search To Identify Unknown Soldiers

PARIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—The U. S. Army is pressing a determined search to recover and identify the bodies of 22,000 unknown American soldiers who lie in nameless graves between the littered beaches of Normandy and the wreckage of Berlin.

As Armistice day draws near and soldiers and civilians prepare to do homage to America's war dead, men of the U. S. graves registration service are redoubling their efforts to solve the riddles of the fighting men who died in anonymity.

Scattered Over World

They lie, these men, beneath shallow mounds along the death-trap hedgerows of Normandy, beside woodland streams of the Marne where their fathers fell before them, in the still forests of the Ardennes hills where the snows that covered warm bodies will fall again soon.

In other theatres there are other thousands—among the minefields of Anzio and the raw crags of the Appenines in Italy; on shrapnel-laced Pacific islands and in green Burmese jungles.

Nearly half of the unidentified dead in the European theatre flew with the USAAF in planes that never returned. Their graves are scattered even more widely—from England's coast to the Swiss Alps and beyond Berlin to the Oder river.

Bodies Still In Foxholes

The tiny mounds cared for by French, Dutch or Belgian families on their farms are hardest to find.

Some bodies are discovered still crouched in foxholes. More are found in graves where the men were buried unofficially, usually by farmers or townspeople after the fighting swirled on.

Identified or not, each body is removed to one of the 37 permanent U. S. military cemeteries in the European theatre. So careful has been the identification check that there are only 3,362 unidentified dead in the cemeteries at present, in addition to the 22,000 unlocated dead.

Except for the few whose families make arrangements for return of their bodies to the U. S., the soldier dead will remain in those cemeteries, under perpetual care arranged by the Army.

No soldiers will remain buried in German soil.

Program For Aid Of Cotton Farmer Set

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 10. (AP)—A seven-point program, aimed at aiding cotton farmers in their fight to maintain cotton's economic position, was announced today following a meeting of cotton leaders and specialists from six states.

The cotton-producing states of Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee Missouri, Kentucky and Louisiana were represented at the meeting. Similar meetings will be held at Dallas Monday and at Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.

The government-sponsored plan, to be presented to county agents and extension workers, is designed to help the cotton industry combat mounting problems posed by foreign cotton, the rise of synthetics such as rayon and paper, and an over-abundance of low grade cotton.

The plan recommends:

1. Fit cotton into balanced farming. Plant only on land suited for cotton and consider the amount of land needed for other crops.
2. Take care of the soil. Rotate the crops, use cover crops, drain wet land and prevent top soil from washing.
3. Use the best local seed variety.
4. Use labor-saving methods.
5. Utilize better insect-control methods.
6. Pick and gin cotton for high grade. Eliminate all trash and see that correct ginning methods are used.
7. Sell for grade and staple value. Watch market prices, have cotton graded and know its value.

Bulldozers, Scrapers, Said In Production

Cable-controlled bulldozers and scrapers, announced as an addition to Caterpillar Tractor company's line of products more than a year ago, are now in production as the result of lifting of restrictions, R. B. George company, 602 Texas, local distributor, announced Saturday.

Delivery of bulldozers for "Caterpillar" Diesel D8, D7 and D6 track-type tractors is scheduled late this year, with delivery of the scrapers in several sizes scheduled for early 1946.

Manufacture of the bulldozers and scrapers marks "Caterpillar's" entry into this field of industry. Matched in capacity to the power of the tracter and matched in design, materials and workmanship to the high quality of other company products, they are priced in keeping with "Caterpillar's" policy of building the best possible machines to be sold to the user at reasonable prices.

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Operations On Strictly Routine Basis During Past Week; No Unusual Developments Reported In Area

THE oil activity on the South Plains was strictly on a routine basis during the past week. No unusual developments were reported.

Barnsdall Oil company No. 1 Williams, west Lynn county wildcat, in section 2, block 8, EL survey, drilled to a total depth of 7,509 feet, in the lower Permian lime, and failed to encounter any possibilities of commercial production in the bottom of the hole.

It is now plugged-back, and preparing to run a drillstem test on the interval in the San Andres-Permian at 4,460-4,615 feet, where some oil stains and some porosity were encountered.

That section also recorded an interesting "kick" on an electrical log survey, and the owners are undertaking to determine the full possibilities of that show.

Begin To Find Lime

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1-B Humble fee, located 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-24, psl survey, on the west side of the proven section of the Doss field, in south Gaines county, had cored at 7,020-36 feet, and at last report was coming out with the specimen.

This project is approaching the level at which the discovery well of the field for production from the Clear Fork, began to find its oil bearing lime.

Humble No. 1-B Humble fee-Eubank, in southwest Gaines, and 8,300 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 6, block AX, C. H. Eubank survey, had progressed below 9,516 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead toward its contract of 10,000 feet, or pay above that level.

In Course Of Completion

Amerada petroleum corporation, section 3, block A-6, psl survey, extreme northwest Gaines county discovery for flowing production in the Devanian, had squeezed off all perforations in the basal Permian between 9,075-9,103 feet, and had drilled out the hole to 11,422 feet in the Devonian and was in course of completing the well from that section.

Shell Oil company, No. 2 Cox, at center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 452, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, and about one-third of a mile north of the nearest producer on the northeast side of the Russell field, in northwest Gaines, had reached 7,633 feet, in lime, and was slated to drill ahead.

It had already tested for flowing oil of sufficient quantity to make it a paying producer.

Shutdown For Orders

King, Warren and Dye No. 1 Stewart, northeast Yoakum county exploration, in northwest quarter of section 382, block D, John H. Gibson survey, had reached a total depth of 5,510 feet, in lime, without developing production, and was shutdown for orders.

Corrigan and Crump No. 1 Nystel, southeast Terry county prospector, in section 8, block 38, psl survey, had taken a core from 4,916 feet, in lime, and were coming out of the hole with the sample at last report.

A core at 4,898-4,916 feet, had some signs of oil and some porosity, but also had some water, source of which had not been officially reported.

Other Tests Drilling Ahead

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Brown, southwest Cochran county prospector which is trying to find the same pay as the discovery well of the Landon field, had reached 4,200 feet, in anhydrite and lime, and was going ahead.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 2-A-8 Hudshon, in northeast quarter of section 8, block P, psl survey, in the undeveloped section on southeast Cochran county, southwest of the Slaughter field, had reached 4,792 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead.

Honolulu No. 24 Fraser, southwest Hockley county wildcat to 7,500 feet, in section 10, block X, psl survey, had progressed below 5,914 feet, in lime.

Honolulu No. 8 Hovenkamp, south Yoakum county deep exploration, was making hole below 4,165 feet, in lime.

Surfacing Casing Cemented

Drilling & Exploration company No. 1-D Davis, slated 12,000-foot wildcat, in southwest Yoakum, had drilled past 2,798 feet, in anhydrite and salt, and was continuing. It had cemented surface casing at 324 feet, with 400 sacks of cement.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Coble, west-central Hockley county exploration, in northwest corner of tract 34, league 68, Hardeman county school land survey, and two miles south of closest production on the west side of the Levelland field, had swabbed seven hours, and recovered 18.5 barrels of fluid—cut with from two to 38 per cent basic sediment, and from five to 25 per cent acid water and swabbed dry.

To Continue Swabbing

The project had been treated with 1,500 gallons of acid, in the section above the plugged-back total depth of 4,867 feet. Operator was to continue swabbing to test.

Humble No. 1 Campbell, northeast Hockley county prospector, was still bottomed at 6,075 feet, in dolomite, and was still rigging up a larger rotary to drill to 10,000 feet.

Humble No. 1 Arnold, in southeast Lamb county, and one mile west of the discovery well in the Anton field, was on a bottom of 6,022 feet, in dolomite, with 4,585 feet of fluid in the hole.

Of that fluid 350 feet was water and the remaiined was oil. Operator was swabbing to try to remove the water and allow testing the oil possibilitie of the project.

Hale Project Continuing

Globe Oil & Refining company No. 1 Downs, west Hale county exploration to 5,500 feet, in section 5, block JK, TT survey, had reached 2,869 feet, in anhydrite, and was continuing.

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Krause-Humble, southwest Floyd county wildcat to 10,000 feet, had penetrated under 3,279 feet, in lime ,and was drilling ahead.

Humble No. 3-B Matador, northwest Dickens county prospector, had drilled under 3,819 feet, in dolomite and shale, and was going ahead toward 7,500 feet.

Sohio Petroleum company No. 1 Wallace, in section 55, block 98 H&TC survey, in north Kent county, was reported to have reached a total depth of 7,278 feet, in dolomite, and was shut down for orders. It had taken an electrical log survey.

Scurry Test Abandoned

The Texas company No. 1 Mitchell, northwest Scurry county wildcat, in section 301, block 97, H&TC survey, has been abandoned on a total depth of 8,400 feet, in Ellenburger dolomite, after developing sulphur water in that formation. It had no indications of oil or gas production of a worthwhile quantity.

Union Oil company of California No. 1-C Post estate, northeast Garza county wildcat, in section 29, block 4, K. Aycock survey, about five miles northeast of Post ,had drilled to 3,348 feet, in lime, and was running a string of 7-inch casing to that point, and after it is in will resume drilling.

No Shows Reported

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Altman, northwest Garza county wildcat, in section 1255, TT survey, had made hole past 9,559 feet in lime, said to be Ellenburger. No shows of oil or gas have been reported from the formation.

M. Staniforth, Wichita Falls, has filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 2 Post estate, in the Garza field district.

The location is 330 feet from north and west lines of the south half of an 80-acre lease in the west side of the south part of section 5, block 5, K. Aycock survey. The lease is on the east side of the field. The project will drill to the Garza pay around 3,000 feet.

Herman and George R. Brown, and Comache Corporation, had made location for their No. 12 Post estate, to be 934 feet northeast of well No. 11, and in west half of southwest quarter of section 1229, D&SE survey, abstract 426. It is to start to 3,050 feet, immediately.

Alex McCutchen No. 1 Grisham-Hunter fee, 2,310 feet from south and west lines of lease in section 1229, D&SE survey, has been completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 197 barrels of 35.6 gravity oil from pay section at 2,760-2,895 feet, where 6,000 gallons of acid had been injected. The lease is the east half of the southwest quarter of the section, and is on the north side of production, in Garza field.

Well Makes 206.82 Barrels

Kenneth Murchison No. 1-B Post estate, located 330 feet from north and west lines of northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 7, block 5, K. Aycock survey, treated with 4,000 gallons of acid, and made a daily pumping potential of 206.82 barrels of 35.7 gravity oil.

They pay section at 2,872-2,917 feet, had been treated with 4,000 gallons of acid.

H. A. Hedberg, of Fort Worth, has filed application to drill No. 1 J. E. Caudle, et al, in northwest Dawson county, on the east side of the Welch field.

Foster and Coats No. 1 Cole, in southeast quarter of southwest quarter of section 49, block M, EL survey, and on the northwest side of the Welch field, had reached 4,679 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead.

SENATOR JOHN THOMAS

Idaho Senator Dies In Capital Hospital

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Senator John Thomas, Republican, of Idaho, died today after an extended illness. He was 71 years old.

Death occurred in a Washington hospital, where he had been a patient for the last week.

Former Senator D. Worth Clark of Odaho, announced the death at Thomas' home. He said the senator died at about 3:15 p. m.

Thomas, a native of Phillips county, Kansas, was appointed to the Senate for a second time in January, 1940, to succeed the late Senator William E. Borah. He was elected to fill the balance of Borah's unexpired term the following November and re-elected for a full 6-year term in 1942.

Thomas went to Idaho in 1909 and for many years was engaged in the livestock business and in banking. He served as director of the First Security corporation of Ogden, Utah, and also on the board of the Federal Reserve bank at Salt Lake City.

His first appointment to the Senate came in 1928 and he was elected in the same year to succeed the late Senator Frank P. Gooding, serving until 1933.

Thomas was chairman of the Idaho Republican state central committee for four years and served as a member of the Republican National committee two terms.

Improvements For State Fair Ordered

DALLAS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Directors of the State Fair of Texas have authorized issuance of $600,000 in bonds to cover costs of construction and rehabilitation work.

A new exhibits building in Fair park is planned to replace one destroyed by fire. Improvements for the auditorium and Cotton bowl were also authorized by the board.

Stassen Urges World Air Force For Peace

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (U.P.) — Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota proposes that world order be kept by a United Nations Air Force of five bomber squadrons based around the world and equipped with five atomic bombs to each equadron.

Stassen, now a Naval reserve captain attached to the Office of the Secretary of the Navy, told the annual dinner meeting of the Academy of Political Science last night that the only basis for real hope for future peace and progress was "placing the control of the atomic bomb definitely on the world level."

Plan Explained

Under his plan, the United States would manufacture the number of bombs required for the United Nations Air Force and then stop production. Manufacture of atomic bombs would then be a crime under amended United Nations law. But atomic research would be permitted by any scientist registered with the world organization.

Stassen said he knew that such specific proposals would be attacked as visionary but asked whether "to fail to seek some such method would not be blindness."

Stassen suggested that the United States propose an amendment to Article 43 of the United Nations charter providing that "no nation shall manufacture an atomic bomb, and that the manufacture or possession of such a bomb would be a crime against mankind. The present plants would manufacture the number required for the world stabilization force, and then stop."

Legislative Act On Property Held Illegal

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—All provisions of an act of the last state legislature to prohibit use of public property for private purposes were held invalid today in an opinion of the attorney general's department.

The ruling was that the entire act fails because the legislature failed to state the apparent purpose in the title of the act.

The title of the act relates only to use of county property, while the body of the bill applies also to private use of state or municipal property.

The ruling was furnished to Sam B. Hall Marshall county attorney of Harrison county.

Another opinion of the department today held that trucks being market road being built between used to haul material to a ranch-Andrews, Tex. and New Mexico, must have registration in Texas and at full gross weight.

Football Boosted As Aid To Education

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18. (U.P.) — Football, said Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, is a valuable part of education.

Walters said the sport will be 'especially valuable in the postwar era."

He said it "will keep courage and sternness in the characters of our young men and it will guard against any tendency to softness and indolence in our nation."

As a further boost for the sport and its players, Walters said everyone knows that football players have proved themselves on battlefields in all parts of the world and in all branches of service.

Culture Is Added To Art Of Dishwashing

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. Oct. 20. (U.P.) — A young man walked into a Harvard Square restaurant here and in a cultured voice asked manager Frank Cardullo:

"Would it be possible that you have an opening in this establishment for a student who desires to devote his evenings to massaging your china and restoring the sheen to your cutlery?"

"You mean you want a job as a dishwasher?" inquired Cardullo.

The man nodded and he was promptly hired.

Dad Didn't Come Back, But Peter Rides In Parade

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 10. (AP)—A sturdy little figure in an Uncle Sam uniform rode proudly last night in Miami's first victory parade.

Three-year-old Peter Kane, of Miami, didn't march with his dad who fought overseas, but he sat in the lap of Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, who led the parade.

Months ago when Peter's father, Maj. Edward Kane, was fighting with the Eighth Air force, he was thinking of home, and that first victory parade. He wanted to march in it with Peter.

Maj. Kane wanted to duplicate that victory march in 1918 when he walked proudly beside his own father who had come home from World war I.

He wrote this to his wife. "And if I don't come back," he added, "I want Peter to march for me."

Peace came, but the major didn't live to come back.

Bravely, Mrs. Kane arranged for Peter's Uncle Sam suit of red, white and blue . . . like the one the major had worn 27 years ago.

When V-J day arrived, there was only cheering in Miami, no parade. But Mrs. Kane kept the little suit.

Gen. Eaker heard the story on his arrival here today, and so tonight Peter rode in the anti-inflation parade beside the man who commanded his daddy's air force.

MARKETS TO CLOSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Major security and commodity markets throughout the country will be closed on Monday, Nov. 12, for Armistice day celebrations.

Organized Thuggery Charged To Mills

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach has been asked by CIO textile workers to halt "organized thuggery" at three Texas textile mills.

The union said the returning strikers were being greeted by violence.

Schwellenbach was asked in a letter written by John W. Edelman, Washington representative of the union, to "take extraordinary and immediate action to enlist cooperation of law enforcement agencies of the United States government to halt organized thuggery now rampant in three Texas cotton mills."

The mills are at Hillsboro, Mexia and Itasca.

Stricter Radio Control Sought

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—Legislation providing for stricter supervision of radio broadcasters took shape and encountered opposition simultaneously today.

Erpest Adamson, counsel of the House committee investigating un-American activities, told a reporter he is preparing for committee consideration a bill specifying that:

1. Radio stations must clearly identify commentators, including an announcement whether they are reporting news or opinions.

2. Radio stations must have a legal agent in each state, so they can be prosecuted through the courts of the state by any person damaged by their broadcasts.

Called Unconstitutional

Rep. Ellis E. Patterson (D-Calif) promptly issued a statement terming the proposal "an unconstitutional attempt . . . to control the airways."

Adamson denied this. He said in an interview "we do not want to control or gag anyone. We just desire to provide for closer regulation of wild, irresponsible analysts and to make a clear distinction between news and prejudiced viewpoints."

Adamson added that in reply to letters he had written, the lawyers of "all but one" national radio network had agreed "there is room for improvement in the broadcasting of news and news analysis."

Adamson said the lawyers urged that stations be allowed to work out improvement through self-regulation ,but remarked he doubted this would work satisfactorily without federal supervision.

Three Conditions Set Toward Recognition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—The United States offered today to recognize the provisional government of Albania under three conditions, one of which is news freedom for American reporters in that country.

The reporters would have to be assured of an opportunity to cover forthcoming elections and the constituent assembly to follow.

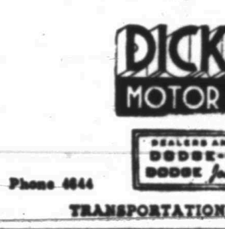

London announced its recognition of Premier Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha's regime with the understanding that Hoxha intended to hold free elections at an early date.

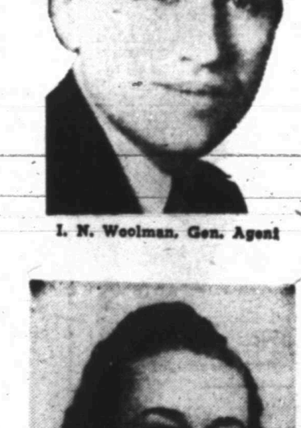

The two other assurances required by the United States are that the elections "shall be held on a genuinely free basis, with secret ballot and with no threats or intimidations," and that "all democratic individuals and groups in Albania shall enjoy freedom of speech and the right lawfully to present and support their candidates."

The American note to Hoxha was delivered in Tirana today, the State department said.

Many Complications At Stake In War Reparations Parley At Paris

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The reparations conference just opened in Paris is the beginning of long and complicated discussions which will have an important bearing on Europe's economic future.

The powers well remember the bungling of German reparations after the first World war—the Dawes plan, the Young plan and subsequent efforts. Astronomical sums in money were set which Germany could not have paid if she intended trying. The Young plan scaled it down to an annual payment of $500,000,000 for 37 years, thn about $425,000,000 until the 59th year. The final result was that Germany defaulted successfully on just about the entire reparations bill.

Different Type Payments

This time, no specific sums of money are being demanded. Reparations are to be paid in industrial equipment, tools, processes and patents; foreign assets, and perhaps raw material such as coal and ore.

The big question to be solved is how much of this stuff can be taken away from Germany and still leave her self-sufficient economically, with a maximum living standard no greater than her neighbors, as required by the Potsdam terms.

If this is not done; if Germany is so stripped of productive capacity that she is unable to buy food abroad and export good to pay for them, it is feared she will become an economic vacuum in the heart of Europe. In that case, she would be a drag on her neighbors instead of a potential asset.

Must Continue To Exist

The chief consideration in exacting reparations is that justice demands the victims of German aggression be compensated to the maximum extent for their grievous losses. The amount exacted is limited, however, by the fact that the losers must be left enough to exist. Otherwise, reparations are likely to defeat their purpose in the long run.

As it is, some 70,000,000 Germans must be fed this winter and kept from freezing to death or being exterminated by starvation. It is obvious that a large part of the food will have to be shipped in by the Allies, and arrangements are being made to do so.

The Allies are anxious that the food be paid for as far as possible out of current German assets. Thus, while France wants coal from the Ruhr as reparations, the coal at present is being paid for so that Germany in turn can pay for the food she receives. The French may insist that the arrangement be only temporary.

Ohio Man's Chicken Said To Be Oldest In World At 31

"Nettie" is known to be at least 31 years old. She is a cross between a Rhode Island red and a bantam. For at least 28 years she hatched out two settings of eggs a year.

Then came the fatal day, according to her owner. Three years ago a neighbor's dog found the hen on her nest beneath a rose bush and attacked her. Nettie fought a losing fight and the dog destroyed all her eggs.

The incident nearly broke the poor hen's heart and she almost died of grief, her owner said. Nettie fully recovered, but she has never laid another egg.

Since she quit laying, her appearance has changed drastically. Every day she looks more like a rooster. She still cackles, though, and Johnson doubts if she will ever learn to crow.

Nettie has been retired and her owner "wouldn't take a million dollars for her."

Report Says Stalin's Successor Selected

There was no confirmation of the report.

Japs Spur Production Of Art; Seek Export And Tourist Trade

By HAZEL HARTZOG
United Press Staff Writer

KYOTO, Japan, Oct. — (U.P.) — While most of Japan was busy with the manufacturing of war goods, the nation's art workers continued to keep alive the nucleus of her luxury art industry.

Production of silks, brocades and other textiles was limited along with that of crockeries and lacquer ware, but Japan was careful that the techniques of these industries did not die. Now that she is returning to peacetime production, such industries are being spurred by government and individuals to regain a position in export and tourist trade.

Kyoto Center of Industry

Kyoto, shrine city and longtime capital of Japan, is considered the center of the art industry of Japan and it is here that much of the industry was kept alive during the war.

I visited the city the day before the American occupation forces entered and it was evident that the city is strengthening its efforts to regain its prewar popularity—for native beauty and for its products.

Wartime restrictions on production of industrial art works have been relaxed by the Commerce and Industry Ministry. The ministry, in addition to this move, has indicated willingness to assist manufacturers in obtaining materials for their production. With key workers who have continued their trade during the war, it is expected that manpower soon will be poured into these industries to build up a backlog of merchandise for sale to occupation forces and export.

Surpass Prewar Level

Within the next year, the Japan Industrial Art Works association has predicted that production of industrial art works in Japan will be increased several times that of the war period. Their goal for this year is 50,000,000 yen and officials expressed the view that the prewar level of export of 200,000,000 yen will be far surpassed in two or three years.

In addition to the manufacture of luxury art objects, Japan apparently is intent upon increasing her production of "souvenir" items to be sold at home and abroad. While supplies of the more expensive and more intricate works of lacquer, silk and silk garments are limited on the markets, amazing stores of imitations and mass-produced items have appeared on counters for souvenir-hungry occupation forces.

Kyoto's merchants were given a two-day holiday to prepare their stores for the first occupation forces—to obtain interpreters and prepare English signs as well as, presumably, to get their stocks in order. Police said the holiday was to prevent "confusion" and to avoid misunderstandings among salespeople and occupation forces

But in Nara, a pre-war tourist city, I found much evidence that merchants had saved pre-war stocks or had obtained at least limited supplies of new stocks for sale. I walked through a shopping district with a group of Allied correspondents and military personnel one afternoon and by the next morning at least a dozen shops had opened their doors with larger displays in hopes of attracting business.

Made During War

Here we saw boxes of miniature carvings, ivory chopsticks, dolls, hair ornaments and fans. Other stores featured lacquer ware — much of it apparently a wartime production lacking in the quality of pre-war luxury export.

While every serviceman in Japan probably is interested in buying a kimono, he is finding the task difficult and expensive. The slim wartime supplies are being exhausted and increased production will take some time to satisfy the demand.

In Tokyo, where stocks are much lower than such cities as Kyoto and Nara, merchants say that brooches are the most popular article being purchased. This is probably due to the lack of other suitable souvenirs, since the brooch is not among the typical articles of Japan. Servicemen are also buying colored prints.

But in the cities damaged by bombings, in general, the servicemen are finding a shortage of souvenirs of the type associated with Japan. Until the nation's art industries get rolling, this condition will continue, and despite all plans for expanding their export, it appears there will be some lapse in time before Japan's art objects are on the foreign markets.

Schlinkman stunned the Froggies then by plunging 14 yards to the TCU 26. The All American candidate then plowed through the entire Frog team for 12 more to the TCU 14. Big Walt then hit center to the 10 and added another yard on another try. But on the nine the offensive bogged down, and coupled with a penalty and loss the Frogs took over on the Tech 16.

Gus Bierman, sub back who came back to TCU this week after duty in the service, then got off a sizzling 70-yard quick kick to Tech's 14, Turner coming back to the 21. But the Raiders were unable to gain and Schlinkman booted a short one that bounced back to the Tech 48.

TCU Opens Up In Third

That was midway the third. And TCU made the most of it.

With Joslin hitting one pass to Bierman and two to Back Harry Mullins and tossing in a couple of nice plunges to boot the Froggies battled down to the Raider 17 before a penalty and Tech's line stopped the threat. The Frogs never threatened after that although uncorking another aerial offensive that backfired.

With two minutes of the fourth quarter gone, TCU took over on the 46 after a punt exchange. A plunge netted four. On the second play, Norman Cox, TCU's fine fullback, rifled one to Left Half Jesse Mason, who turned in a good game, on the Tech 40. Then Joslin made his mistake. He tried a short heave to the right flat. A Tech man and TCU player were battling for the ball when from out of nowhere, the midget Tidwell shot down the field, gathered in the ball on the Tech 30 and raced down the sidelines, neatly throwing the hip that wasn't there at Joslin on the TCU 30 when the Frog back raced back to head him off.

Schlinkman's attempted conversion was no good and the score stood 6 to 0.

A bit of fancy ball handling on the kickoff put TCU in a hole instead of gaining as Joslin attempted to pick up yardage by lateralling to Mason after receiving the kickoff. However, a 15-yard penalty for clipping put the Froggies on their 11 and unable to gain much, they kicked. Tech, after being unable to start rolling, promptly punted back to Joslin on the TCU 21, the Frog back racing back then passing to Mason to bring the ball to the 34. Joslin missed on an attempted pass.

Then he tried another, again a short flat one. Tech's Otis Turner gathered it in on the TCU 35 and ran back to the 20 before being hauled in.

Schlinkman Explodes Again

A five yard penalty set the Raiders back to the 25. Schlinkman then powered between guard and tackle for five. Wild Walter then blasted through the left side of the line clear down to the TCU five on a 15-yard plunge with two Froggies on his neck. Another plunge by Schlinkman carried one yard to the four.

Then on second down and with goal to go, Schlinkman blasted through guard and tackle again with a whole host of Froggies hanging on but unable to stop him.

Sub Back Tommie Dutton's attempted kick was low and blocked.

Schlinkman left the game after his touchdown and received a great ovation for his last appearance on the Tech grid this season —a fitting climax to one of the greatest performances ever unreeled on Tech's turf.

It would be impossible to name any one outstanding player, other than Schlinkman, for the Raiders because the entire team played like veterans on defense and opened gaping holes for Schlinkman on offense. The Tech forward wall fought the favored Froggies to a standstill, often rushed Joslin and Cox off their feet and tossed them for good losses. The play of R. W. Moyers, left end, Bernie Winkler, left tackle, Floyd Lawhorn, guard, Turner at center, Russell Birdwell at guard, Douglas McSwane at tackle, and Billy Kelly at right end, as well as that of the substitutes was outstanding. Cecil Norris, Tech's right half also turned in a fine game as did the other Tech backs.

And although the crowd was said to be the largest of the season by Morley Jennings, Tech athletic director, the widely publicized sellout did not develop, possibly because many fans who otherwise would have went to the game figured they couldn't get seats.

Army Roars To Win Over Irish

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Army's touchdown twins, Glenn Davis and Felix (Doc) Blanchard, ran wild for five touchdowns between them as the Cadets' great eleven overpowered Notre Dame, 48 to 0, for its 16th consecutive victory today.

It was the first time in their gridiron rivalry that Army won two straight games from the Fighting Irish. The score might have mounted higher than last year's 59 to 0 had not both Blanchard and Davis been yanked midway of the third period and the second and third cadet teams been permitted to play out the contest.

Davis Chalks Up Three

Davis, wing-footed halfback of the Cadets, reeled off three touchdowns on beautiful runs and Blanchard, pile-driving fullback, bounced across for a pair before Coach Earl Blaik decided the throng of 76,000 had seen enough of his twin beauties.

The Army seconds wobbled across for two more scores in the final quarter, the last one in the closing seconds of play. Blanchard and Davis each ran his total touchdowns for the season to 13.

Irish Rally In Third

Notre Dame's scrapping youngsters lost their one great chance to score on a fumble late in the third quarter after they had marched 58 yards down to the cadets' one yard line. Bill Gompers trying desperately to dive that final yard, let the ball pop from his grasp into the waiting arms of Bob Stuart, who ran it out to the 27.

Army's great first team forward wall wound up its seventh game of the year without having yielded a touchdown by rushing, though the Irish made them take a couple of times out in the first period today to talk matters over as the sell-out crowd watched in Yankee stadium.

Cadets Score Early

The Cadets, as usual, chilled their adversaries right at the start and left no doubt in anyone's mind that they were the bosses. On the second play from scrimmage after they had recovered a fumble deep in Irish ground, Davis broke to his left, cut back and raced 26 yards for his first score. Dick Walterhouse placekick the first of his six extra points, and Notre Dame headed for its first defeat since the Cadets turned the trick a year ago.

Utah Wins 21 To 20 Tussle Over Loboes

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 10. (AP)—A fighting tribe of University of Utah Indians knocked New Mexico university out of the ranks of the nation's undefeated football teams here today by plunging and passing to a 21-20 victory.

Illinois Wins 48-7 Contest Over Iowa

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 11. (AP)—Illinois scored its first 1945 Western conference victory and buried Iowa in the Big Ten cellar today by crushing the hapless Hawkeyes 48-7, before a slim Dad's Day crowd of 14,000.

Even the referee took a beating as the Illini, paced by Willowy Jack Pierce who unreeled touchdown runs of 82 and 57 yards, exploded for 26 points in the second period and coasted to an easy victory.

TCU Coaches Have Praise For Fine Line Play Of Tech Team

Coach Dutch Meyer and his line coach, Mike Brumbelow, had this post mortem diagnosis to offer after their TCU Horned Frogs had absorbed a surprising 12 to 0 drubbing Saturday afternoon at the hands of a hard-charging Texas Tech line and an alert, crashing bunch of linebackers.

Said Meyer:

"Tech's line play was magnificent. It charged us off balance right from the first, whipped us all afternoon."

What about Schlinkman?

"One of the best. A hard man to pull down. Dangerous at all times."

(Meyer was disturbed over the eye injury of his passing ace, Quarterback Leon Joslin, who was taken to a hospital for emergency attention after an exuberant fan shattered a glass of the TCU bus with a bottle—and he did not have much to say.)

Here is the way Brumbelow described the difference in the two teams.

"That big Tech line whipped us all afternoon. Line backers kept crashing in on us, play after play, and Tech apparently had a defense for everything we offered. Result: TCU became confused. We

Texas Cops 21 To 14 Thriller Over Bears

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. — Held in check during the first half and forced to come from behind twice, the Texas Longhorns came surging back for two quick third-period touchdowns to eke out a thrilling 21-14 victory over Baylor's heavy Bears before 30,000 fans here today.

Baylor's burly line, which had shackled its opponents on the ground all season, was out played by the hard-charging Texas forward wall and yielded 149 yards rushing—but the Longhorns still had to rely on Bobby Layne's passes to set up their scores. Even then, Baylor outgained the Steers 181 yards to 88 through the air with big Jack Price doing most of the tossing.

The Bears struck for their first tally when the game was only five minutes old, Bobby Griffin passing 38 yards to end Stuart Gordon. Louis Leal converted. Texas tied the score in the second quarter when End Dale Schwartzkopf blocked Price's punt on the Boylor 9 and Layne passed over the goal line to All-American Hubert Bechtol. Layne converted, and the score was 7-7 at half time.

Baylor went ahead again early in the third period when Price shot a 45-yard pass to the speedy

Texas Aggies Edge Out SMU, 3 To 0, In Crucial Contest

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 10.—Chunky John Ballentine, whose service with the Texas Aggies is measured in minutes this season, got in for just 30 seconds today but it was enough to bring A. and M. a 3-0 victory over Southern Methodist in a glittering Southwest conference gridiron duel.

From the SMU 24-yard line, Ballentine, 20-year-old married freshman, plunked the ball through the goal posts in the first play of the second period and that was the ball game although the Methodists virtually camped on the Cadet goal line throughout the second half.

Aggies Move Up

His day's work done, Ballentine trotted to the sidelines and a rugged battle raged between two fighting teams the rest of the way. Ballentine, 185-pounder from Ysleta, Tex., hasn't played more than three minutes all season.

A crowd of 10,000 shivered games ever turned in on Kyle through one of the most interesting Field. The result eliminated Southern Methodist from the conference race except for a mathematical chance and pushed A. and M. into a virtual tie for the lead.

Goode Also Stars

A 52-yard dash — the longest run of the day — by big Bob Goode, freshman halfback and conference scoring leader, set up the field goal.

Preston Smith, who played sparingly today, recovered a fumble on the Aggie 31-yard line late in the first period. Gene Wilson had taken a throw from Doak Walker, SMU's top offensive threat, and the ball squirted out of his arms when he was tackled.

On the first play, Goode swung wide around right end and raced down the sidelines, Walker finally knocking him out on the Mustang 17.

Mustangs Try Field Goals

Three Aggie plays netted only a couple of yards as the period ended but opening the second quarter Ballentine went in and kicked the field goal. The ball barely skimmed the cross-bar.

SMU twice advanced close enough to try for field goals but both were short.

TENNESSEE WINS

MEMPHIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers, bidding for bowl recognition with tank-like power, ground out five touchdowns in Crump stadium's mud today to overwhelm a hapless University of Mississippi team, 34 to 0.

Owls Drop Hogs For 26-7 Win

HOUSTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Rice Owls, fragile as a new-born babe in the early days of the season, came to full maturity at their Homecoming celebration today, defeating Arkansas 26-7 with an ease which should sound the toc-sin for its remaining Southwest conference opponents.

Paced by a skinny 17-year-old freshman from Mount Pleasant, Tex.—Huey Keeney—the feathered flock rolled along in unbeatable fashion.

Owl Ground Game Clicks

Despite the fact it was heavily favored to flatten the Razorbacks, who have been wallowing all season, Rice demonstrated a crushing ground game. It showed no startling passing offense, because it didn't need to.

The Owls rolled up 346 yards along the ground, compared with a modest 61 by air. The Hogs garnered 123 yards with their ground offense, which occasionally showed flashes of power, but their passing attack, famed in the past, fizzled to a total of 13 yards.

Keeny Turns In Top Play

Young Keeney burst through the Arkansas line twice for touchdown runs, had a 58-yard touchdown run called back, set up a score with a 54-yard quick-kick, and otherwise comported himself with an ability belying his tender age and lank figure.

In only six tries from scrimmage, Keeney racked up 79 yards.

The Owls scored one touchdown in the first period, one in the second and exploded in the final quarter for two. Arkansas mustered enough strength for its single score in the third period.

Walmsley, Nemir Shine

Kenney found able assistance in the persons of little George Walmsley, all-conference back of last year; Halfback Bob Nemir, Naval ensign whose eligibility was declared inviolable today by James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest conference; and George Oprea, guard, and Dick Hoerster, back, who performed nobly on the defensive side.

John Hoffman and Eugene Canada, Arkansas backs, were outstanding for their team, riddled by injuries and the loss of Alton Baldwin, star back who was dropped from the squad a few days ago.

Amarillo Edges Out Plainview In District 1-AA Tilt, 7 To 0

Sandies Score Early In Game

By MACK TURNER
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 10—A few brief moments of jitters reduced the schoolboy field of undefeated, untied teams to six here this afternoon before a packed crowd of 7,500 fans, and the Amarillo Golden Sandies blew out the Plainview Bulldogs, 7 to 0.

Amarillo took the opening kickoff and blew straight down the field to a touchdown before ever giving up the ball, and Student Manager Farmer rushed into the ball game, and kicked the extra point, and that was the ball game.

Bulldogs Top Penetrations

Amarillo held a wide margin in first downs and rushing, rolling up 15 first downs to five for the Bulldogs, and amassing 273 yards rushing to 77 for the Plainview eleven. But not until the next to last play of the ball game did Amarillo ever threaten again.

Plainview led in penetrations, three and two, and with just a little luck might have repeated Pampa's penetration victory over Lubbock of Friday, for the golden opportunity for the Bulldogs came in the early stages of the second quarter when Graham dropped Jack Williams' long pass in the end zone, after seeming to have caught the ball.

Sandies Score Quickly

Amarillo retained possession of the ball through most of the first half, but could click on only the one opening drive when the Sandies marched 73 yards on a sustained march.

Taking the kickoff, Amarillo put the ball in play on its 32, and Bauman gave a taste of what was coming when he romped to the Plainview 39 on a reverse, but the ball was called back, and Amarillo penalized five yards for

Oklahoma Aggies Nose Out Tulsa

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP)—All American Bob Fenimore's speed and passing overcame a superior University of Tulsa line today and the Oklahoma Aggies edged the Golden Hurricane 12-6 for the Missouri Valley football championship before a record crowd of 18,000 persons.

The blond Fenimore, playing almost all of the bitterly fought game, passed for one touchdown and lateralled to end Neill Armstrong for the other.

In addition he did most of the Cowboy kicking, carried the ball on almost every play and was the edge that gave the Aggies their sixth consecutive victory of the season and kept them in the ranks of the undefeated.

Tulsa scored first with six minutes gone in the first period when Bob Smith ran 22 yards on a double reverse.

Fenimore's running game began to click early in the second period. Fenimore passed from his 36 to Freshman Bill Grimes who scored after taking the toss on the Tulsa 40.

A few moments later Fenimore took a Tulsa punt on his own 42, shook off a half dozen tacklers and sailed through the Hurricane to the seven yard line where he lateralled to Armstrong and the Cowboy end ran over.

Mississippi State Upsets Louisiana State, 27 To 20

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 10. (AP)—Mississippi State upset a favored Louisiana State team 27-20 tonight, in a game that left 35,000 fans uncertain up to the last few seconds.

Scoring was zig-zag throughout the game, with each marker putting one or the other team in the lead in nearly every period. Five minutes from game-end the score was tied at 20-20. An alert Stater grabbed a Bengal pass and State took the final lead.

The entire game was marked by frequent fumbles by both sides, but the Mississippians matched Louisiana in every department, including the vaunted Louisiana State running attack.

Tourney Set At Country Club

The Lubbock Country club dinner tournament will get underway Saturday, continue through Sunday, with the dinner scheduled for 6:30 o'clock at the club on Monday, Nov. 19, it was announced Saturday by Chick Trout.

The battle will be between the Hookers and the Slicers, with a total of 85 golfers named on each contesting team. The Hookers will be captained by H. T. "Buck" Luther and Don Mitchell, with the Slicers headed by Jack Henry and Fenner Tubbs.

Matched play will govern the tournament play, with one point given for the first nine holes, one for the second nine, and one for the 18 hole total. This will make it possible to win three points on each match.

The winning team will be guest of the losing team at the dinner on Monday night.

Much enthusiasm has been shown in the coming matches, and the brags of players on both the Hookers and Slicers have been putting the individuals on the spot.

The pairings have been posted at the club. It was also announced that players will be permitted to make up their own foursomes for play of the matches.

Sooners Score Late To Beat Iowa State

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP)—With less than two minutes to go and the score tied at seven all, the University of Oklahoma football team came through with a thrilling 49-yard touchdown play today to beat Iowa State 14 to 7.

The game was Oklahoma's 17th straight Big Six victory without a defeat.

Johnny West, flashy Oklahoma back, came through with a long pass to Aubrey McCall, six-foot-five-inch end to set up the winning tally.

McCall took the ball after jumping high in the air and ran nine yards to the goal. The play warmed 12,000 shivering fans who had sat through 58 minutes of mediocre football.

MARQUETTE TRIUMPHS

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 10. (AP)—Marquette's Hill-Toppers hauled themselves together in the last half today, punched out two earned touchdowns and took advantage of Kansas mistakes for two more to whip the Jayhawkers, 26 to 0.

Navy Measures Michigan, 33-7

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Navy's remarkable opportunist answered some of their critics today by crushing Michigan's spirited Wolverines 33 to 7.

Thus the Middies surpassed mighty Army's 28-7 victory over Michigan by a margin of five points.

Again the Middies capitalized on the opposition's mistakes, but there was nothing indecisive in the way they went after scores on almost every opportunity.

Navy Shows Improvement

They ran more like a big league club than in any previous game. Made few mistakes and wasted no time in going over for each of their five touchdowns.

Still alertly hawking the ball, as they have all season, the Middies went on their scoring sprees after picking up a wild Michigan lateral. Blocking one punt and causing another to be kicked only eight yards, intercepting a pass and picking up a fumble.

For a half, Michigan made a close game of it, holding Navy to a 13-7 advantage, but the Middies broke things wide open in the third period by scoring twice in the last three minutes.

Lateral Pays Off For Navy

A mistake by Michigan put the Middies in position to drive home well along in the opening period. Henry Fonde made a wild pitch to Pete Elliott on an attempted lateral on Michigan's 21. Navy's Dick Duden touching the ball just before it went out of bounds.

Title Grid Game At Tech Stadium

The chips will be down, and the battling will be for keeps, Thursday night at Tech stadium when the Meadow Bronchos and the Hale Center Owls battle for the right to go as far as Interscholastic League rules will allow a Class B team to go, the bi-district play. The kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

The bi-district play is nothing new to the Bronchos. Meadow went to the finals last season, losing to Leuders in the playoff game.

Both the Bronchos and Owls were undefeated in conference play, and oddly enough, the only loss charged to either club came on their last time out, and both at the hands of the same club.

The Petersburg Buffalos nosed out the Meadow club 14-13 in a thriller, and came back last week, and eked out a 7-0 win over the Owls.

The Meadow club is one of the outstanding Class B clubs in West Texas, and ,boasts of a season's scoring record of 215 points to 55 for their opponents. The only other mar on the Bronchos record is a 7-7 tie with the Class A Morton club.

A complete record of the Owls is not available, but the team has been one of the strongest teams in this area's Class B circles, and a consistent winner. The Hale Center club won the north half of District 1-B, and Meador won the south half.

Reports from District 2-B indicates that Rochester will be the winner of that district, and will meet the winner of the game here Thursday for the Class B title in West Texas.

BIG WALT PLOWS THROUGH—Texas Tech's All-American candidate, Walt Schlinkman, note arrow, is shown adding more yardage to his amazing total in the Tech-TCU game as he plows 15 yards straight through the whole Frog team late in the fourth frame. Schlinkman had just picked up four from the TCU 25 then plunged through from the 20 to the Frog five before being hauled down by Leon Joslin, No. 45, TCU's ace passer. Schlinkman then picked up a yard through the line, then bulled his way four yards over guard and tackle to paydirt.

Westerners To Bear Down In Drills For Amarillo Tussle

The schoolboy grid schedule in the South Plains area will be rather slim this week, but everybody is looking ahead to the Turkey Day classics that will be reeled off the following week, when district titles will be on the line in a big way.

The Lubbock Westerners are idle this week, getting ready for the traditional battle with the Amarillo Golden Sandies, scheduled for sacred Butler field for Nov. 22. The Sandies, too, rest this week, and will spend time getting ready for the Lubbock battle, and the Pampa duel to follow. Both teams will bear down for the annual classic.

Plainview Plays Cubs

The District 1-AA championship will not be decided until Dec. 1, when the big Sandies will invade Pampa to play the just as big Harvesters. Only these two remaining unbeaten in the conference race.

There are two games on the District 1-AA schedule this week, both involving teams retaining a hope for at least a share in the title at the end of the season.

The Plainview Bulldogs, beaten Saturday by the Amarillo Sandies, 7-0, will go to Brownfield Friday, seeking to keep alive the spark of hope that in some manner both the Sandies and Harvesters will be knocked off between now and Dec. 1.

Pampa Meets Borger

A fast improving, and threatening Borger eleven, will be the next test for the Pampa Harvesters, and will entertain the Harvesters at the Borger kennel Friday.

Another Class AA game in the area will bring to Lamesa one of the state's six undefeated, untied elevens, when the Odessa Broncho move into Lamesa for a District 3-AA conference tilt.

Headlining the Class A program over the area will be the battle at Floydada on Friday that will send the two remaining unbeaten teams of conference play into battle with each other. The Crosbyton Chiefs, the surprise team of the race, will roll into Floydada to battle the Whirlwinds, long a power in District 4-A.

Other Games On Menu

Another conference game on the slate will send Matador to Lockney, while the other two teams in the conference will take on non-league foes. Ralls takes on Petersburg at Ralls, while the Spur Bulldogs will be host to the Slaton Tigers from District 6-A.

The Sudan Hornets, undefeated and untied, and marking time until their clash with the Littlefield Wildcats on Turkey Day, will be hosts to the Olton club Friday in a league battle. Another league scrap will send Morton to Muleshoe.

District 6-A Busy

District 6-A will have a busy schedule, playing games on three days over the span of the week. Action will be started Monday afternoon at Post, with the Denver City Mustangs facing the Post Antelopes in the next to last hurdle in the path to a district title.

On Friday, the fast improving Tahoka Bulldogs will move into Andrews, where the home club will be making a last ditch stand to stay in the race for district honors.

Post will be back on action on Saturday afternoon, facing the fast improving Seminole Indians. The Indians, counted on heavily early in the season to be a threat, started slow, but have been gaining speed. Last week, Seminole knocked the Sundown Roughnecks from the running.

Texas Stops Bears

Baylor's Aerials Click

Texas immediately drove 74 yards for a touchdown, with Layne passing and running to the Baylor 4 and George Graham plunging over. Layne's conversion deadlocked the count again at 14-14.

Baylor fumbled on the next kick off and Texas recovered on the 31. A penalty set the Bears back to their 16, and after Baylor had held twice for three downs, Graham finally drove across from the 5 and Layne kicked goal.

The Longhorns spent most of the fourth quarter staving off Baylor's long passes.

Texas Line Shines

The Texas line played by far its best game of the season, holding Baylor's dangerous T-formation to a net gain of 12 yards rushing. Four Longhorn ends—starters Bechtol and Schwartzkopf and reserves Charley Tatom and Peppy Blount — and Freshman Center Dick Harris were outstanding.

For Baylor, 250-pound Center Bull Johnson and Backs Billy Kimbrough and Sammy Pierce tackled fiercely on defense, and the two speedy pass-receivers, back Stoney Cotton and End Joe Joiner, were continually slipping into the clear and snagging aerials away from Texas' supposedly strong pass defense.

Steers Tied For Lead

Layne, Graham, Joe Baumgardner, and Byron Gillory were Texas' top offensive backs, who cut loose harder and faster than they have all season.

Texas' victory puts the Longhorns into a tie for the Southwest conference lead with the Texas Aggies, who downed SMU, 3-0. Both Texas and A and M have three victories and one loss. It was Texas' seventh triumph in eight games this season.

Ralls And Crosbyton To Play On Nov. 30

RALLS, Nov. 10. (Special) — The scheduled grid battle between the traditional rivals of Crosby county, the Ralls Jackrabbits and the Crosbyton Chiefs, has been rescheduled for Nov. 30 at Crosbyton, it was announced today by Mrs. Jeff Martin.

The game was postponed Friday night because of bad weather, and announced that it would be played Monday. But this new date was changed today, and will be played Nov. 30.

Lubbock Boys Club's Fight Night Is Set

Nov. 23 has been set for the first round preliminaries of the regular fight night programs at the Lubbock Boys club, it was announced Saturday by Director John Wilson.

Interest has been high at the club in the ring sport, and Wilson said that 26 boys have been working out every night at the club from 7 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock under the supervision of L. L. Taylor, athletic director of the club.

This number of boys assures the club of enough fighters to stage the two preliminary nights, and a final.

R. F. Stinnett comes in each Tuesday night, and gives the boys special help, and Taylor carries on the work on the other nights. Stinnett has been working at several other centers during the week, under the direction of the City Recreation Department, and said he would furnish the card with a few boys from his classes at the Corral and Community Center.

Word has also been received from the Wichita Falls Boys club that fight nights have been started there, and Wilson expressed a hope that some matches could be arranged with the Wichitans.

West Texas Teachers Look To Cage Season

CANYON, Nov. 10.—A basketball schedule which includes an appearance in a series of double-headers in the 1946 National Intercollegiate Tournament at Kansas City is being arranged by Coach W. A. (Gus) Miller of West Texas State Teachers.

The Kansas City games will be played on December 21 and 22. Previously, the Buffaloes will have met the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys in Abilene on Dec. 7 and 8 and the Sky Giants of Amarillo Army Air Field in Amarillo and Canyon on December 14 and 15.

The Buffs, famed in pre-war years as the "World's Tallest Basketball Team," also will play in the Oklahoma City tournament on December 28 and 29. Many of their later games will be with member teams of the Border Conference.

Coach Miller will build the 1946-47 cage team hot around one of his tall Texans, but about the 5 foot 9 inch frame of his All-American guard, J. W. Malone of Stratford. Another regular is Don Leach of Wellington, 6 foot 4 inch center. And from the Army Air Forces comes Lieut. Borden Price of Springlake, former letterman guard back in 1940. Price was picked up from the Pacific 40 miles off the coast of Japan last June by a U. S. submarine after he was forced to bail out of a crippled B-29. Most of the other Buff cagers are talented young freshmen.

The Kansas City tournament is managed by E. S. Liston, athletic director at Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas. Coach Miller is a director of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball, sponsor of the tournament.

Navy Stops Michigan and Notre Dame games for Navy, caught Michigan's defense flat-footed with a left handed pass to Leon Bramlett for the score.

Just before the period ended, Jack Weisenberger's punt into a brisk north wind was good for only eight yards, going out of bounds on Michigan's 31.

Again Navy took to the air with Bruce Smith throwing to Duden for 16 yards and then tossing to Clyde Scott from the 11 for the touchdown on the first play of the second period.

Michigan made its bid during the remainder of that quarter, pulling up to a 7-13 status and failing on two additional scoring chances.

The fleet Fonde ran a punt back 25 yards to Navy's 13, then took a 9-yard pass from Elliott to set up the Wolverines' only score with Weisenburger smashing over from the 2.

Mike Prashaw blocked a punt on Navy's 30 and the Wolverines pushed to the 16 before the big Middie line rose up and took charge of the situation.

Then time played the Wolverines an unkind trick by running out at half time with Michigan on the 7-yard line after a 50-yard march.

With 30 seconds left, the Wolverines were on the 4-yard line but Bramlett dropped Weisenburger for a 3 yard loss and Michigan never was in the game thereafter.

Newbold Smith blocked Weisenburger's punt on Michigan's 13 late in the third period. Minisi immediately scampered all the way on the old Statue of Liberty play to score.

Joe Bartos ran 24 yards through tackle after a pass interception and Smith passed to "Pistol Pete" Williams from eight yards out for the last two scores.

A crowd of 59,114 witnessed the game.

PRINCETON, DARTMOUTH TIE

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10. (AP)—Princeton and Dartmouth provided a lot of excitement and entertainment for about 15,000 fans today but they failed in what looked like an effort to to give each other the football game as they wound up in a 13-13 tie.

Schoolboy Play Cops Spotlight

(By The Associated Press)

Milby of Houston is the first district champion of Texas Schoolboy football. The Buffs crushed Austin (Houston) 39-6 Friday night to clinch honors in District 13 and now await determination of the title of District 14 to know their opponents in the state playoff first round.

Paris took over undisputed first place in District 5, Highland Park (Dallas) did the same in District 6, Marshall went out in front in District 11 and Brownsville rolled into top spot in District 16 in other games last night.

Highland Park Wins

Paris beat Denison 26-6, Highland Park downed Denton 31-0, Marshall swept over Texarkana 38-7 and Brownsville beat Edinburg 28-7.

The undefeated, untied list in the state was cut to six as Pampa was held to a scoreless tie by Lubbock and Amarillo edged past Plainview 7 to 0 Saturday. This left Odessa, Paris, Brownwood, Lufkin, Milby and Brownsville with perfect records but Monday Odessa clashes with Sweetwater and Brownwood tackles Breckenridge.

Pampa, although deadlocked by Lubbock, won the game on penetrations and it counted a victory in the District 1 race, thus the Harvesters still are tied with Amarillo for the lead.

Borger Bests Childress

Other results last night:

backfield in motion. On the next play Amarillo's ace back, Dale Collins, broke into the clear and roamed to the Plainview 30. By sheer power, the Sandies moved down to the four, and Seale smashed over standing up.

Bulldogs Threaten Often

Plainview marched to midfield, then Williams kicked dead to the one foot line, and Amarillo was never able to really come out of the hole after that.

The next time Plainview had the ball, it marched down to the Amarillo 13, and it was there that Graham dropped the fourth down pass over the goal line, early in the second quarter.

Amarillo then marched from its 13 to the Plainview 23, but a clipping penalty set them back, and Williams intercepted a pass to kill this mid threat. Another Plainview drive died on the ten when Weldon fumbled, and the Sandies recovered.

Williams Slowed Up

Just before the game ended, Bauman intercepted a pass by Williams on the Plainview 48, and ran it back to the Bulldog 30. Flanigan smashed through to the 19 for the second Sandie penetration, and Collins drove to the 15 as the game ended.

Amarillo successfully bottled the passing might of Jack Williams, and kept the running of Jack Weldon well cornered. Williams was well rushed, and lost lots of yardage trying to find receivers in the open.

Penn Blasts Columbia, 32-7 In Show Of Gridiron Power

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10. (AP)—Columbia's "Fancy Dan" football Lions were toppled from the nation's undefeated ranks today by a shifty Penn outfit that has been beaten only by Navy.

Outmanned and overpowered by a horde of enemy material, the underdog Lions scored the first time they got their hands on the ball with Gene Rossides passing Penn dizzy, but after that never had a chance and the Quakers rolled to a 32-7 victory to end Columbia's winning run at six straight, for the entertainment of some 63,000 fans in Franklin field.

Behind 7-0 in the first six minutes of play after Rossides heaved 6 for 6 for 63-yards and the touchdown, the Quakers started to go, George Savitsky, a great tackle and ball hawk, broke through three times to recover two fumbles and block a kick, and each time the Quakers capitalized on the break to roll up a 20-7 half-time lead.

Cashing in on these opportunities, as well as a couple of other assorted chances, Bob Evans, who learned his aerial technique as a GI bomber gunner over Eufope during the war, completed eight out of 16 overhead tries for 116 yards. Three of his pitches chalked up the first half tallies and the fourth produced a fourth touchdown early in the third quarter. Three of the touchdown throws went to his special battery mate, Frank Jenkins.

couldn't get blocking on our passing. That failure was just another result of Tech's defense that we could not solve.

"Schlinkman? You've seen a tank in action, haven't you? He hits low and hard and the longer he runs the more power he generates.

"Here's what happened: Dell Morgan (Tech coach) had us well scouted and prepared a masterful defense that we couldn't figure out well enough to do anything about it."

Flem Hall, sports writer of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, pointed out the line play of Tech as the decisive factor in Tech's winning. He virtually told Brumbelow that it was out of this world.

"Wrinkler and Lawhorn and Moyers handled their assignments with special power," he said, "but mention of them must not be allowed to detract from the work of anybody in that Tech line."

Hall said that sportswriters in the middle west, who had seen Schlinkman in the all star game, still say the Tech fullback was the best of the fullbacks assembled there—including one All-America back.

Quarterback Club To Meet Tuesday Night

The regular weekly session of the Quarterback club has been changed to Tuesday night this week, it was announced Saturday by Stumpy Hamilton. The meeting will be held at the same place, the Lubbock hotel ballroom, at the usual time, 7:30 o'clock, Hamilton added.

Hamilton also urged that the coaches and officials be on hand for their regular weekly meeting at 6:30 p. m., and will conclude their meeting before the Quarterback club goes into session.

Stoney Wall, who was elected as the quarterback to sit on the Tech bench for the Tech-TCU game Saturday, will be in charge of the meeting. Films of the Baylor Bear-Texas Tech Red Raider game played here Oct. 20 will be shown.

The club presented the Red Raiders with a crate of oranges after the Horned Frogs battle Saturday. The same kind of gift was presented to the Westerners last week.

Georgia Tech Takes Tulane Club Easily

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Georgia Tech's rugged football team manhandled a bungling Tulane eleven, 41 to 7, today, taking command from the start and giving 30,000 spectators little suspense for their money.

The hard-hitting Engineers scored a touchdown each in the first three periods, then poured over three in the fourth quarter against the out-classed and somewhat demoralized Greenies.

Tulane's best showing in the fumble-filled contest came shortly after the third period kickoff when Ed Holtsinger dropped the ball and James Lasseiter recovered for the home team on the Tech 33. Dick Hoot smacked through the middle for the final 22 yards of the touchdown drive.

Wrestling Program For Week Announced

The Hood, the masked grappler, and George Hackenschmidt, twice a winner on the first two cards here, are both back this week for the main attraction on Promoter Pete Hallas' weekly grunt and groan show at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena.

Only strangle holds and eye gouging will be barred, and the two mat villians will be turned loose for 90 minutes, or the best two out of three falls. This will leave little to do for Referee Babe Ritchie, except to judge the falls.

Two more familiar faces will be back on the semi-final of the card, pairing Johnny Atkins and Milt Olsen for a best two out of three fall match, with a 45 minute time limit paced on the brawl.

The opening event, a one fall, or 30 minute time limit match, pairs Tony Ross, the popular "ladies choice," against Charley Trejo, two more returning matsters from past cards.

Indiana Romps Over Minnesota, 49 To 0

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Indiana dealt the Minnesota Gophers their worst trouncing in history today by combining a smooth running attack with passing to pile up a 49 to 0 score.

The Hoosiers, leading the Western conference, had little trouble keeping their record clear of defeat.

It was the third drubbing administered Minnesota by a Big Ten team this year and the first time that a Bernie Bierman-coached team had been defeated in three consecutive games.

George Taliaferro, the great Indiana back who galloped 94 yards on the opening kickoff, staked the Hoosiers to a substantial lead in the first half and then left the game as Coach Bo McMillin substituted liberally.

New Deal Wins 32-0 Contest Over Anton

New Deal turned on a powerful ground attack at New Deal Friday afternoon to take an easy 32 to 0 decision over Anton in a Conference 1-B contest with Quarterback James Utley counting up three of the winners' tallies.

It was Utley who started the scoring early in the first frame with a six-yard plunge to paydirt, Halfback James Jordan running over the extra point. In the same stanza, Utley went through center for eight and the second New Deal touchdown.

A 50-yard pass play, Jordan's 30-yard heave to End Verlin Anglin, who raced another 20 to count, added up the third tally in the second quarter to make it 19 to 0 at halftime.

The third period was scoreless. Then in the fourth frame New Deal opened up again with Utley running seven to count early in the quarter. He also ran over the point to make it 26 to 0. Late in the game with only three minutes to play, Halfback Bob Myers went off tackle and raced 25 yards to score to make it 32 to 0. The point went awry.

Penn State Upsets Temple, 27 To 0, In Show Of Power

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—With the scent of Orange bowl blossoms in their nostrils a power laden Penn State football team crushed Temple today, 27-0, to send the Owls toppling from the ranks of the nation's unbeaten grid teams.

The Nittany Lions completely outplayed the hapless visitors, with three of the four touchdowns being scored by linemen, who took advantage of every possible break.

Brown Upsets Yale Before 15,000 Fans

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10 (AP)— A Brown football team that hardly anybody figured had even a remote chance to lick Yale rallied today after a poor start to completely outplay the Blue, 20-7, in the golden anniversary fracas between these Ivy League rivals as 15,000 fans looked on in bewilderment.

Long after the game had ended, amazed observers were asking "what happened?" and were rubbing their eyes. It was that kind of an upset.

The Bruins thwarted highly favored Yale's bid to become the nation's first winner of 300 intercollegiate football contests.

Oregon State Defeats Washington, 7 To 6

SEATTLE, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Beavers of Oregon State college crushed the Rose bowl hopes of the University of Washington today, fighting back from the deep shadow of their own goal posts and a 6 to 0 deficit to smash over a fourth quarter touchdown and conversion for a 7 to 6 victory.

Both tallies came in the final quarter. Washington's Huskies, who had dominated the play all afternoon, reached the Oregon State two yard stripe for the third time and had four plays to smash over. Joe Stone rammed over on the third play on a quarterback sneak and the placement attempt by Wally Dash was blocked by the Beaver right end, Bud Gibbs.

Oregon State received the kickoff then and slashed all the way to victory, going from their own 31 to the goal line with three first downs.

Trojans Beat Bears To Keep In Running

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Southern California Trojans, fighting to stay in the running for the Rose Bowl, today defeated the California Bears, 14 to 0, before 35,000 spectators in the coliseum.

Scoring their third Pacific Coast Conference victory against one defeat, the Trojans tallied in the first quarter when Fullback Roy Cole intercepted Ted Kenfield's pass and ran 26 yards for a touchdown.

They added another by marching 37 yards in the third quarter after Quarterback Verl Lillywhite returned a punt 20 yards. Lillywhite sneaked over for the touchdown from the Bear's six-yard line. Lillywhite place kicked both Trojan extra points.

Petersburg Defeats Hale Center, 7 To 0

PETERSBURG, Nov. 10 (Special)—Dominating the game all the way, the Petersburg Buffaloes punched over a third quarter touchdown to down the Hale Center Owls here Friday before a crowd of 800 fans by a 7-0 count.

The first half was scoreless, but about midway in the third quarter, Ralph White broke off tackle and romped 55 yards to the Hale Center 18 yard line. A series of line plays by White and Leroy Kelly pushed down to the Owl three, from where White plunged over to pay dirt. Kelly plunged over the extra point.

Petersburg offered the only threat of the first half, a drive being killed on the Owl two yard line by a fumble. Petersburg threatened several times in the last quarter, but Hale Center never offered a serious threat.

Petersburg rolled up 11 first downs to three for the Owls, and piled up 230 yards rushing to 59 yards for the Owls.

Hale Center, grid champions of the north half of District 1-B, will play Meadow, south half winner next Thursday night at Tech stadium in Lubbock for the district title. Petersburg defeated Meadow last week, and Hale Center this week, but was not in the conference, dropping out when the club was voted into District 4-A, starting with basketball play this season.

Abernathy Runs Over Idalou For 45-0 Win

ABERNATHY, Nov. 10 (Special)—Abernathy's Antelopes scored in every stanza Friday afternoon to chalk up a convincing 45 to 0 triumph over an outclassed Idalou team in a Conference 1-B north half grid tussle.

The Antelopes struck in the first two minutes of play with Fullback Harold D. Rhodes plunging four yards to climax a long drive. A few seconds later Halfback Bob Riley picked up nine yards and the second Abernathy tally after the Antelopes had taken over on an interception. Both extra points failed and the first quarter ended 13 to 0.

In the second, Right Halfback Lester Brown plunged five to score, a few minutes later went around right end for eight and another counter. Rhodes then galloped 18 to count and Brown ran over the extra point to make it 31 to 0 at the half.

In the third, Brown again counted on an eight-yard run and End Harvey Lutrick caught Rhodes' pass for the point to make it 38 to 0 as the fourth started. Late in the game, Rhodes rambled six yards to paydirt and Brown kicked the point to end scoring.

Three-Way Parley On Atomic Bomb Opens

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—While Russian leaders watched from afar, President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee of Britain and Mackenzie King of Canada pulled up easy chairs in the White House this afternoon and began discussing what to do about the atomic bomb.

This presented a speed-up in the schedule. As late as last night it had called for the talks to start Sunday.

But Attlee arrived early this morning by plane from London. Mackenzie King came in from the same capital by ship and train and the decision was made to start the conference at once.

Diplomatic officials inclined to agree, in private talks to reporters, with a Russian newspaper assertion that relations between the Western powers and Russia would be under serious test until the Russians find out (1) Anglo-American plan for international handling of the bomb, and (2) what part—if any—Russia has in them.

Stalin's Condition Is Still A Mystery

MOSCOW, Nov. 10 (AP)—A foreign diplomatic source said today a high Soviet official had indicated that Generalissimo Stalin was expected to return to active duty about the middle of November.

He said that when he inquired why Stalin did not appear at the Red Square parade on the 28th anniversary of the Russian revolution Nov. 7 he was told that it would have been very risky for anyone coming from the warm climate of the south, where the generalissimo spent his recent vacation, expose himself several hours to the frigid temperatures of Moscow's streets.

The whereabouts of Stalin are still a subject of considerable speculation.

Congress Argues

commended for placing the merger row on a high plane, that the issue "should not be settled on a basis of personalities."

Senator Hill (D-Ala) said in an interview that the Forrestal letter "tends to show that division between the Army and Navy about which we heard so much at the time of Pearl Harbor" and emphasizes the need for a single defense department.

This is why they spoke up:

1. The Army is for a merger, the Navy against.

2. Doolittle, who took the first bombers over Tokyo, backed a single department yesterday before the Senate Military committee.

3. Hill asked his opinion of statements of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz that sea power made Japan surrender and of Admiral Marc Mitscher that carrier planes won the air war.

4. Doolittle said the two were fine commanders but that teamwork won the war and that "our B-29 boys are resting uneasily in their graves as a result of those two comments."

5. Forrestal told Patterson a disagreement over principles shouldn't be allowed to "degenerate into an exchange of personalities," that death in service and grief at home shouldn't be used in advancing "any individual point of view."

Atomic Commission

Atomic—Nine members of the House Military committee said in a formal report:

A measure to set up permanent federal atomic energy commission would "undermine the very foundation upon which our national life is built." The commission should be temporary and its powers reduced to allow congressional control.

Earlier, a majority of the committee had urged speedy action on the bill to create a nine-member commission with broad authority over development of atomic energy.

The House may debate the legislation soon.

Demands For Texas Crude Said Lower

AUSTIN, Nov. 10 (AP)—The U. S. bureau of mines today notified the Texas Railroad commission that estimated market demand for Texas crude in December will be 1,900,000 barrels daily.

This was 50,000 barrels under the bureau's estimate for November. Commenting on this, Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson said:

"The actual demand is just as strong as it ever was. I would say this drop in estimated market demand comes because of imports, but there is nothing in the bureau's telegram to indicate this."

The railroad commission will hear testimony at a hearing Wednesday on which to base its December oil order. Current daily allowable in Texas is 2,026,572 barrels daily.

Bishop Denies Hamblen Charge

ABILENE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Bishop C. C. Selecman in an address before the Northwest Texas Methodist conference today defended the church's literature which earlier in the week was denounced by Dr. J. H. Hamblen, a Methodist pastor for 40 years.

Dr. Hamblen withdrew from the denomination after saying the church had been swallowed up by modernism and that he could not be "sincere to Sunday school literature that says my Saviour is not divine." He said he would open an independent Methodist church in Abilene.

Divinity Not Questioned

Bishop Selecman told the conference that the church literature did not contain a single line denying the divinity of Christ. The old-time gospel has been preached at the sessions here, he said. "There has not been a single line appearing in our Sunday school literature challenging the fundamentals of our church," he continued.

He urged preachers to stand behind the old-time faith in the deity of Christ and the Resurrection. "We're not a body of disbelievers, but we must be revitalized and reactivated. Let's not forget to preach the great doctrine of the Holy Spirit.

"We have the atomic bomb age. We are not afraid of the atomic bomb. There is a power greater than any man. That's the power of God."

Pampa Next Host

Pampa was voted as the 1946 meeting place of the conference.

Elected to full conference membership and deacon's orders were E. N. Goode, Woodson; Aubrey White, Caps; and to deacon's order, one year man, Lester V. Taylor of Dumont.

McMurry college maintenance was set at $20,000, an increase of $4,000 over last year. The wind-up campaign for the Abilene college was set for May through July. A total of $1,750,000 is sought for an endowment-building fund.

TROUBLESOME TWISTS TO WAGE PLAN—How a flat wage increase will affect various industries in different ways is suggested by chart above, showing percentage of increase in straight-time pay. Flat wage raise will hit industries which have greatly increased wage rates during war harder than it will those in which increase was slight. Another problem in equitable wage increases is presented by the difference in working hours, as indicated on inset. Maintenance of take-home pay will be harder where hours were increased, with resultant overtime pay.

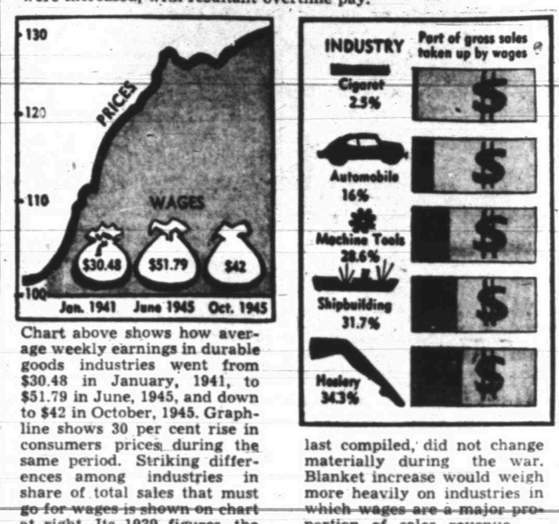

Chart above shows how average weekly earnings in durable goods industries went from $30.48 in January, 1941, to $51.79 in June, 1945, and down to $42 in October, 1945. Graph-line shows 30 per cent rise in consumers prices during the same period. Striking differences among industries in share of total sales that must go for wages is shown on chart at right. Its 1939 figures, the last compiled, did not change materially during the war. Blanket increase would weigh more heavily on industries in which wages are a major proportion of sales revenue.

The body will be taken to Abilene for services and burial.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 10 (AP)—The military government decided today to hold the national election sooner than the original date of April 7, 1946—a decision which supporters of Col. Juan Peron said would favor the presidential chances of that "Argentine strong man."

The new date will be announced next week.

"First GI In Europe" Receives Discharge

HUTCHINSON, Minn., Nov. 8 (U.P.)—Sgt. Milburn Henke, 27, the first American soldier to land in Europe during World War II, has been discharged and plans to enter the restaurant business.

Henke, who fought through the North African and European campaigns, recently was discharged from Camp McCoy, Wis., and planned to assume management of his parents' restaurant here after a short vacation.

Menus in the restaurant feature the famous news photograph of Henke as he walked down the gangplank Jan. 26, 1942, in Northern Ireland to lead the parade of American soldiers entering Europe. Two pictures of the Hutchinson soldier decorate the restaurant walls, sharing the spotlight with pictures of Presidents Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Missouri's imposing white stone capitol was completed in 1918, after being in construction for four years. It cost $4,215,000, including $250,000 for furnishings and $190,000 for the three-acre site atop limestone bluffs on the south bank of the Missouri River.

SPECULATIVE DEMAND

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — Speculative demand for a low-quoted utilities, some of which came out in blocks running to 10,000 shares at peaks for almost nine years, again high-lighted today's stock market and tended to obscure declining tendencies displayed by many pivotals.

Optimism over tax relief and reported plans of some companies to seek amendments to recapitalization programs which would benefit holders of common stocks still served as a spur for the "penny" performers in the power group.

Registering in the "new high" section were Commonwealth & Southern, once more the fastest mover; American Water Works, American Power & Light, United Corp., Republic Aviation and Childs Co. Support was accorded Standard Gas $4 preferred, American Telephone, Electric Power & Light and Santa Fe. Bonds were narrow.

Thefts Of Pants In Public Bath Seen As Jap Social Revolution

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10—A major news item out of Japan this week was a brief item noting that it's no longer safe to leave your clothes lying around in the bath house.

If this condition is general it represents a revolution—distinctly for the worse—in Japanese social behavior.

WHITE

The Japanese bath house was a place where you left your clothes lying around as did everyone else, without a thought that they might be disturbed.

The bath house was more than that. It was a club for the common man, about his only indulgence, and about the only place he could get away from it all.

Unwritten Rules

There were rules, unwritten but strictly observed. You scrubbed and rinsed, and when you were clean you dunked yourself in water that would blister if you weren't used to it. Then you soaked, dissolved and emerged a new man. Foreigners who entered the big tank without first washing thoroughly were regarded as ignorant or anti-social.

So it is that stealing a man's pants while he's simmering, in Japan, represents not only a spread of thievery, but the invasion of one of the most stable of Japanese institutions.

There are reasons for it. One, of course, is the poverty of a country which has waged and lost a war.

Pants are stolen from the bath because there are not enough to go around and because hungry people need them enough—or the money they will bring on the black market.

Tough Black Market

There was a black market in Japan before American troops arrived, so U. S. Army goods reaching the black market merely increase the supply.

This raises the question of what the net impact of American occupation is to be, and what it may be blamed for, rightly or wrongly, in the end.

Only this week came the first instance of active Japanese resentment. A Japanese sailor slugged a girl who was waiting for her GI date. Then a couple of ex-kamikaze's tried to assassinate Home Minister Horikiri because they had been sleeping outside in the rain.

As unbeaten Japanese fighting men return to civilian life, swelling the unemployment and the hungry, such signs of unrest may multiply and become a tide.

Then it may be that the most crucial stage of American occupation will arrive, when many Japanese will look for something on which to blame their hardships. Right now they are acknowledging their share of the blame, but they may not always do so.

BARNEY'S BEAUTY — Wife of Barney Ross, hero of Guadalcanal and former boxing champion, comely Cathy Ross, above, is a featured dancer in the new filmusical, "Bamboo Blonde." The former Catherine Howlett of New York, she married the famed Jap-scrapper in 1942.

In one area of Shensi Province in north China, primitive oil wells produce four or five barrels a day by pumps entirely hand operated.

Funds Run Out And Girl's Trip Leads To Parental Home

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10 (U.P.)—Helen Johnson, 13, was held in the Jackson county parental home today after her trip with her four year old niece ended in Albuquerque when their funds ran out.

Lt. Doral Denison, head of the police youth bureau, said the girl told him she did not like to go to school. She didn't show any sorrow over the worry she caused her relatives and those of the niece, Janice Harrison, Denison said.

"She hadn't attended school for a month before she ran away," Denison said.

Janice was none the worse for her long trip when the pair returned here last night. The child was tired but happy to see her parents.

Denison told Helen that, if she were older, she would have faced a charge of kidnaping. It didn't seem to frighten Helen, who looks much older than her 13 years.

She broke into tears, however, when her mother, Mrs. Harry Johnson, left her last night. Denison said the mother could return today to see the girl.

Birthplace Of Little Theater Torn Down

BOSTON, Oct. 20. (U.P.) — The beautiful home on Calf Island in Boston Harbor where the little theater movement in America was begun has been torn down.

The building was the home of actress Julia Arthur and her husband, Benjamin P. Cheney. The only part left standing was a stone chimney on which the initials "J.A." and "B.C." still are visible They are worked in colored stone above the mantel of a great fireplace.

HOUSING SHORTAGE ACUTE

DENISON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Transfer of large numbers of officers and enlisted men to Perrin field from other posts that are being closed has precipitated another acute housing shortage here and at Sherman.

STAMP DEDICATED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10, (AP)—The new special Coast Guard postage stamp designed to commemorate the Coast Guard's war contribution was dedicated today in services on the steps of the U. S. sub-treasury on Wall street.

Host Gives Wet Band Dry Suits For Game

LIMA, O., Oct. 00 (U.P.)—High school students and officials saved a desperate situation and showed a new type of sportsmanship at a football game here.

Bandsmen from the visiting Cincinnati Walnut Hills school were parading before the game. They went through their snappy maneuvers, dressed in brilliant uniforms—then it rained.

But the band was back at half time in dry clothing, supplied by Lima citizens—and wearing old but dry uniforms proudly sporting the letter "L."

DRIVE MOVES AHEAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—War finance officials predicted today that 25 per cent of the individual and E-bond quotas for the $11,000,000,000 Victory Loan woud be reached by the end of the Armistice day week-end.

Out-Of-Towners Get Parking Courtesies

McMINNVILLE, Ore. (U.P.)—The city of McMinnville has designed "courtesy cards" for regular out-of-town customers which will free them from parking restrictions on the town's main streets while they shop.

Cars displaying the cards will be granted four hours immunity from the parking restrictions. Designed especially for farm customers, the cards will have the name, address, car number, operator's license number and automobile model as identification for police officers. Residents of the city or rural route residents who work in the city will not be eligible for the courtesy cards.

Unknown Salutes Each House With Gold Star

CINCINNATI, Oct. 00 (U.P.) — There was something in his bearing that suggested an ex-soldier—a certain briskness in his walk. But suddenly he stopped, swept off his hat and bowed toward a little house, then moved on.

A little farther down the street, he repeated the strange procedure. Onlookers wondered — until they noticed that each of the houses had something in common.

Each had in its window a gold star.

Crutch Is Discarded In Burlesque Show

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18. (U.P.) — Physicians might look in on the burlesque shows—for purely therapeutic reasons.

What puzzles him is—if the patron needed the crutch to get into the theater, why didn't he need it to get out?

Dallas Woman Dies After Heart Attack

DALLAS, Nov. 10. (AP) — Mrs. Tom W. Davis, widely known in the entertainment field for her handling of large-scale ticket sales to virtually all outstanding events held in Dallas the past two decades, died late yesterday of a heart attack.

She died in her car as she was returning to her home at Irving, a few miles west of Dallas. Her body was found in the car, parked on the highway, early today. She had been in ill health for some time.

Her husband is connected with the Associated Press in Fort Worth. Previously, he was head of the AP's traffic department in Texas, stationed in Dallas.

Returned Soldier On Alert For Jap Planes

VINCENNES, Ind. Oct. 20 (U.P.) — A Japanese airplane flew over Vincennes the week before the surrender, but nobody was startled except a returned soldier, whose keen ears detected its motor.

He dashed into the police station and declared that plane made by "the sons of heaven" was flying over the city.

ARMISTICE, 1945

IF a soldier who died in combat in World War I could speak today, what would he say of the condition in which the world is plunged? Would he be proud of the way in which those accepted the challenge of the thrown torch? Would he accuse us of breaking faith? We wonder.

The late Arthur Brisbane once wrote:

"We may sweep the world clean of militarism. We may scrub the earth white of autocracy. We may carpet it with democracy, and drape it with flags of republicanism. We may hang on the walls the thrilling pictures of freedom—here the signing of America's independence, there the thrilling portrait of Joan of Arc, yonder the Magna Charta, and on this side the inspiring picture of Garibaldi. We may spend effort and energy to make the world Paradise itself, where the lion of capitalism can lie down with the proletariat lamb. But if we turn into that splendid room mankind with the same old heart, 'deceitful' and 'desperately wicked,' we may expect to clean house again not many days hence."

"What we need is a peace conference with the Prince of Peace."

SCATTERINGS

A GLOSSY print of Charles Boyer and Lauren (Baby, Look) Bacall, taken during the making of their new movie, "Confidential Agent," that has been drifting from desk to desk the past week, is a trifle disillusioning. The picture has not been retouched and shows plainly that Monsieur Boyer's natural coiffure is supplemented with a number of hairs, carefully, if revealingly, pasted on. He seems at ease in his role which is planting a kiss on Miss B's forehead. She, on the other hand, is looking as if she had rather be somewhere eating an apple. Incidentally her long, graceful nails are free of polish.

Errol Flynn is being discussed for the film version of John Barrymore in the film version of Gene Fowler's "Good Night, Sweet Prince." . . . Estelle Taylor and her publishers are battling over the title of her book, based in great part on the life of Jack Dempsey, her ex-husband. They want to call it "Light Heart and Heavy Weight." She favors "Pillow Slips." . . . Latest Texas beauty to hit the headlines in show busineess is Miss Ann Lee, daughter of Jim Lee, Amarillo rancher. She has signed for one of the leading roles in "Oh Mistress Mine," and will play Alfred Lunt's wife. Miss Lee, a beautiful blonde, has played with Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady in the Dark," with Zazu Pitts in "Ramshackle Inn" and with Franchot Tone in "Hope For The Best." She also has appeared on radio.

HOMECOMING — As swell as we think Tech college reunions are, we are in a panic each year for fear there will be those who take a particular delight in coming up to us, grabbing our hand and then giving that searching look with a "You don't know who I am, do you?" We would give a hundred dollars to call them by name. There are some familiar characteristics in the face that we are looking at and we go back 15 years ago and try to remember the name. It simply won't come . . . We can't blame our memory entirely. Faces change. Heads that had hair a few years ago are bald now. Teeth that come out at night have taken the place of natural ones. Skins that had the freshness of youth now have lines. Shapes change, too. How well we know that!

FEMININE sportswear still borrows from the military with the Eisenhower-inspired "battle jacket." But the women are wearing it in a bright wool plaid with a cinched-in waist and single-button, snugly-fitting cuffs . . . Guests at the DAR tea Wednesday afternoon heard Mrs. Frederick Brewster Ingram, state regent, tell of the national society's purchase of an organ for the Bon Homme Richard, a carrier. Today we read that men aboard the carrier were asked to select their favorite song and singer for a nation-wide radio program and one ballot gave as favorite song, "Empty Saddles" and favorite singer, "Bull" Halsey . . . There's no gardener in Lubbock who is more successful in growing chrysanthemums than Mrs. W. L. Baugh . . . Wouldn't it be wonderful if Civic Music association could be revived here next season and Jose Iturbi could be secured as one of the artists?

LIP LASHING—A general indictment against women is delivered by Thomas D. Horton in his recently published book, "What Men Don't Like About Women." Mrs. J. A. Humphries, Lubbock county librarian, says she has ordered the book, if you're interested in seeing it. . . . According to Mr. H, men don't like our "special telephone voices," our "sugary-giggly" telephone voices, or lack of form. Trying to trap a man by calling him up and saying: "Hello, darling," hoping he'll mention someone else's name in reply. They don't like embarrassing telephone messages left with a business co-worker, nor the women who leave them . . . Some of his accusations are comical, some absurd. Thought you might like to get the book, if you are looking for laughs this season.

Houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Miller, 3022 Twenty-first, are Mr. Miller's aunt, Mrs. Alice H. Creel of San Diego and his sister, Miss Gladys Cleveland of Hamilton, Mont., who are spending the winter here.

Hello People:

I've always heard that June was the month for brides but after visiting the Decorators Studio, 1302 Ave N, I have decided November must be the month. Packages were piled every place. Wedding gifts, shower gifts for the many brides and brides-to-be were segregated here and there. Girls who are not to marry for several months yet have been wise and already made their selections in order to be assured of having their choice.

Early Christmas shoppers have been busy, too. The girls have begun their traditional attractive Christmas wrappings. Go in now and do your shopping and avoid the last minute rush.

Margie Edwards who used to be with the Studio has been in lately. Her husband has received his discharge from the Navy and they with their son, Tommy, will make their home in West Texas — we're in hopes it will be Lubbock. Kaye has always called Tommy, "Little Brother," and since she has taken the name of Edwards it becomes official, in a way.

Monday will be a holiday for the Studio in celebration of the Eleventh which comes on Sunday. Josie Lee says she is staying in town and we know Mary Ellis is head over heels in social engagements for the week-end. Fredda plans to go out of town for a little peace and quietude. Alma and Kaye will go to the ranch to help Pete with his round-up and house building. H. A. seems to like to go north and he may take off for Amarillo. I suspect Lillie and Lena will spend their holiday resting.

The new leather goods that I mentioned last week are in red and green and there are tan desk sets that would be handsome on a man's desk.

Miss Sims Is Bride Of Lt. E. J. Carter

Miss Ethelbert Sims, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sims of San Angelo and 1st Lt. E. J. Carter, son of Mrs. Cora L. Carter of Lubbock, were married Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Norman, 2119 Fourteenth. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. L. L. Richardson of the College Avenue Baptist church.

"Because" was sung before the vows were taken and "Always" was played during the ceremony.

The candlelight service was read in front of the fire place which was decorated with baskets of lilies of the valley.

Given in marriage by Marvin Botlinger, the bride wore a suit of ice blue wool with matching hat and black accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Miss Betty Wynn, maid of honor wore a moss green wool dress with brown accessories and gardenias.

Lt. Ralph Alexander was best man.

A reception was held following the ceremonw. Mrs. Marvin Botlinger of Lubbock served the three-tiered wedding cake which was topped with miniature bride and groom. Miss Pat Smoot was at the bride's book assisted by Miss Skipper Cloud.

After a week's wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 2513 Twenty-eighth.

Mrs. Carter is a graduate of San Angelo High school and attended Texas Tech where she was a member of Las Chaparritas social club. Lt. Carter, Lubbock High school graduate, has been in the Army for eight years and has been in five major campaigns.

Chicory growing began in this country in 1885.

At The USO

EVEN as the USO is smiling and making welcome the many, many new faces from SPAAF, our hearts are heavy with saying goodbye to friends from LAAF who are leaving us. This week we are saying farewell to Chaplain Arlyn Conard, one of our best friends and valued helpers, whose interest in the boys he served has been outstanding. All those who come to the USO will miss him, and of him the boys have said, "He is truly a living example of the religion he represents." Ever ready to listen to their troubles, he was always willing to help where he could. We wish him smooth sailing—the success we know he will have—to those foreign ports he will see. Mrs. Conard, also a valued volunteer, will make her home in Lubbock until he returns.

Goodbyes, too, are being said to two of our most faithful USOers: T/Sgt. Harlan F. Fisk and S/Sgt. Dana Robertson, both from the Link trainer division. They are to return to civilian life—Fisk to Winfield, Kas. and his music store, and Laddie" to West Virginia.

Orchids are voted to Mrs. J. A. Lindsey who takes such excellent care of the overflow of boys, not only on Saturday and Sunday nights, but also during the week. When the total of boys desperate for a room gets up to six or more, Mrs. Lindsey gives up her own room and sleeps on the couch.

For week end visitors, the USO has Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Hogan of El Paso. Hogan is associate regional executive for USO and has the western half of region X.

Any uninitiated bystander would have thought the staff and some of the boys were taking training for being bloodhounds Thursday. The reason for their behavior was that they smelled smoke, but after going around all day sniffing, gave up and called the fire department. Thus three more sniffers were added to the game. Finally a cushion to one of the chairs was located that had previously been burned by a cigaret, so the whole thing was called off. That is, until around 10 a.m. someone rushed into the office shouting that we had a cushion on fire — he had found it—he sat down on it! Same cushion, but the blaze had increased inside.

The latest mystery at the USO is the new, very blonde, ex-Powers model type who is to hold the secretarial job. 'Tis said that one Sgt. Henry Coburn of LAAF is very interested in the description and is looking forward to seeing her at her desk.

One of the newest members of the USO family is "Don" Joe B. Snook, jr., of New Hampshire, who says that Don is the best part of his name. We can't figure out how he gets his name turned around in such a manner as to come out Don, but anywhy, we prefer to call him, "the Irishman from New Hampshire."

The new building of the East Side Church of Christ, Sixth and Ave. D, was recently completed and a new pastor, Wayne Mickey, formerly of Monahans, begins preaching at the church today.

The new building was estimated to have cost approximatey $11,000. First services were conducted there Sept. 2 and a meeting was conducted by Marshall Patton there in September.

Attendance at Bible school averages 80 persons per Sunday with 103 attending the last Sunday in October. The church roll has 55 regular members.

Mysterious "Lady In Black" At Tomb Of Rudolph Valentino Revealed As Former Follies Beauty And Wife Of Film Star

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10 — A onetimes Follies beauty, near death from an overdose of sleeping tablets, kept secret for 20 years her marriage in France to screen lover Rudolph Valentino a year before he died in 1926, a relative said today.

The woman, identified as Marion E. Wilson, 39, known on the musical comedy stage as Marion Benda, was in critical condition in Santa Monica hospital. Police said she took an overdose of the pills "because she was despondent about the past."

Cousin Reveals Marriage

Perry Combs, cousin of the former stage beauty, revealed the secret marriage and identified Miss Wilson as the mysterious original "lady in black" who every year after Valentino's death left roses at his Hollywood tomb. She was also, Combs said, the mother of the actor's child.

The late great lover's last marriage was not generally known "except to the very high in the motion picture industry, and then but to a few," Combs said.

The marriage was not disclosed, he said his cousin told him, because of fear that disclosure would hurt the Italian screen star's romantic appeal.

Child Is In England

"After Valentino died," Combs said, "she told me to just continue to keep it a secret."

Combs said Miss Wilson also disclosed to her family that a child had been born in Europe as a result of the union. He said the girl, now 19, was in England and was trying to get to the United States to visit her mother.

The mysterious "lady in black" repeatedly appeared at Valentino's tomb after his death in 1926 and was followed during the 1930's by as many as half a dozen other black-gowned women, heavily veiled in ebony tulle, who also left flowers.

First Payment On Bragging Tax Made

FORT WORTH, Nov. 10 (U.P.)—A Fort Worth attorney admits he has bragged about Texas, and is more than happy to pay that one dollar "bragging tax" to help berth the battleship Texas.

Frank L. Bender sent his dollar bill to a Fort Worth newspaper and urged his fellow Texans to "get started" on the suggestion that every resident who has bragged about the Lone Star state donate a greenback toward establishing a permanent resting place for a veteran of two wars—the battleship Texas.

It was Major J. B. Hughes of Denison who first suggested to Gov. Coke R. Stevenson that a "bragging tax" would be one means of financing such an undertaking.

The proposed "docking" site for the famous warship is the Houston ship channel near the San Jacinto battleground.

Fabric Samples Are Received At College

Fabric samples which demonstrate new finishes applied to cotton materials, ot be available in post-war fabrics, were received recently at Texas Tech by Miss Lucille Finley, cotton technologist.

The samples were sent by the merchandising division of the Cotton Textile institute. All have been indorsed by the institute and "have proved to be quite successful," Miss Finley said.

Among materials received by Tech is a plastic coated cotton, known as fabricoid, which can be made to simulate leather for shoes and pocketbooks or can be used for upholstery. Another is a tear proof and water repellent sateen, developed for mountain trooper uniforms.

Associate Editor Of Toreador Is Chosen

Garden Notes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of articles on gardening to be submitted by members of the Lubbock Garden club. Subsequent articles will follow monthly. Today's subject is fall planting and transplanting).

TOO often gardners feel that the season is over when fall comes, when actually it is just beginning. There is no better time to plant trees, shrubs, roses, bulbs, perennials and hardy annuals; because the soil is warm and the roots will take hold immediately and become firmly established during the winter months and ready for strong growth when the first warm days do come. It insures stronger and better plants and more abundant blossoms for the following season.

Roses should be planted in the fall; because if planted in the spring, the first warm days cause top growth without root support which results in heavy losses. In planting the roses dig a large hole, form a cone shape mound in the center. Place the roots around this cone; pack the soil about the roots and water well. Hill the soil for six or eight inches on each bush and remove by degrees in the spring.

For the first year they need very little food, but the second year about ten pounds of sulphur should be fed in the fall. To work well, push the spading fork into the soil as far as it will go. Work back and forth to loosen the soil.

On Renovating Bed

Probably the most common way of renovating the perennial bed is by dividing each clump and planting the individual plants in the bed just as it stands, but the best method is to completely work over the bed. To do this properly take everything out of it and cover it with three or four inches of barnyard fertilizer. Work the soil thoroughly by digging at least ten inches deep. Divide the clumps and replant. Be sure to leave good root systems on each plant, because weak plants might not survive the cold months, and don't forget to keep the plants moist during the cold weather. Mulch slightly.

Almost any perennial that is not in bloom can be transplanted in the fall quite successfully. A few cannot but a good catalogue is a fair guide in such cases. Peonies and oriental poppies should by all means be divided and transplanted during the fall months. Iris should be planted before cold weather as well as day lilies, perennial phlox, false dragonhead and various other hardy perennials.

The sooner pansies are put out, the more blossoms one can expect. They will bloom from December on up through the summer months if properly planted. If possible plant pansies in two separate beds: one on the north for spring and summer blooms, and one on the south for winter and spring blooms. They like very rich soil, and an abundance of water and should be transplanted to their permanent place very soon in order to give the most and the best blossoms.

If hardy annuals have not already been planted, they should be at the earliest possible time. Carnation poppy, cornflower, larkspur, sweet sultan, California poppies, baby-blue-eyes and many others could well be planted now. If they are hot planted until spring, very often the hot weather comes and checks their growth before they have reached maturity thereby causing inferior plants.

If this planting and transplanting is done during the fall, a better garden can be expected the following season; because the plants have a better and earlier start, and the gardner has more time to spend doing the more pressing duties that confront him.

General Public Wants Meeting Of Big Three To Ease Troubles

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The London press reported yesterday that it was likely there would be another meeting of the big three chiefs of state after the conference in Washington this week-end of President Truman, British Premier Attlee and Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

There not only is no confirmation of this report, but a spokesman for Mr. Attlee in London said that "as far as we know there is nothing in that report at all." Still, even if the story has no foundation I think it's of great importance. It's important because it registers a general public desire—a belief that a meeting of the big three would ease the numerous crisis which are bedeviling Europe and Asia.

Look To United Nations

Mr. Attlee himself, speaking just before setting out for America, made a declaration which is the key to public sentiment in this matter. He said it was his view that people must look to the United Nations and their close unity of purpose, "especially that between Britain, the United States and Russia," as a foundation of peace.

That's what the public believes, too, and to the man-in-the-street these three paramount powers are personified by Messrs. Truman, Stalin and Attlee. The little man-in-the-street believes this trio of great executives possesses the magic to pull the world out of its tail spin. He believes in the old adage that too many cooks spoil the broth. He thinks that the three heads of state by themselves can achieve what couldn't be accomplished by a dozen assistants who have to keep referring questions back to headquarters, and can't bargain on their own responsibility.

The biggest Allied decisions of the war were made in conferences of the big three.

The big three had their differences then.

Naturally the exigencies of war made speedy cooperation vital. Delays might spell disaster. Today this urgency may not be so apparent—but it's there just the same. In Europe and in Asia there are development dangers every bit as bad as many of those in the actual battlefield.

The worst of it is that the big three themselves recently have developed severe differences of view. They lie mainly between Russia on the one hand and the American-British Allies on the other.

That's why what may be wishful thinking causes reports that Stalin, Truman and Attlee are going to meet. And that's why the man-in-the-street anxiously hopes that the reports are true. Speed is essential in dealing with the many crises.

Frolic Night To Be Staged Here Friday

Father and son frolic night will be held Friday, beginning at 7:45 p. m., at the Lubbock Boys' club, John W. Wilson, manager, announced.

As special guests, fathers will compete against boys to determine who excels at sports. Games such as pool, ping-pong, shuffleboard, darts, and checkers will be played.

Prizes will be given high-scoring father and son.

Members of the American Business club, as members of the Boys' club, will be present to direct games and assist in program arrangements. They will act as adopted fathers to fatherless boys, bringing them to the club and giving the boy an opportunity to have a father for one night.

Mothers who want ABC members to "adopt" their son for one night are requested to make arrangements with the Boys' club. They are urged to call Wilson at 5021 before Thursday.

Coughs That Cause Restless Sleepless Nights

Resulting from Colds

But adults can't expect real results from the same sweet syrupy concoctions that you'd give to a child. When you want to throw off a bothersome cough from a cold you've just got to have a real cough medicine; then you should ask your druggist for a bottle of good old Bron-chu-line Emulsion.

Bron-chu-line isn't a cheap cough syrup mind you, for first-raters are never cheap. But if you want relief and are willing to pay a little more for real results, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and gives you real relief from the coughing and soreness.

Don't ignore a cough—get relief as quick as you can. Ask any progressive druggist for a 65 cent bottle of Bron-chu-line Emulsion and keep this in mind—if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

James Vineyard, Kress and Swisher county contestant, has been named the achievement winner for his year's work. No prize has been announced as Vineyard must compete in a national contest.

Ray Adams, also of Kress, is first-place winner in the field crops contest. He will receive a trip to Chicago for the national 4-H club congress at the expense of the International Harvester company.

Jackie Gene Brock, Floydada and Floyd county boy, was state winner of the leadership contest and will compete on a national basis before prizes are awarded.

No Details Available

No details as to the work or achievements of these boys were available, Gordon said. The contests are an annual affair of 4-H club work through the Texas A. and M. college Extension service.

This gives District Two, or South Plains more than 20 winners in recent 4-H club activities conducted on a statewide basis. Seven boys were named winners of free trips to Chicago and the national congress and several boys and girls were announced winners in the garden contests. Articles of these contests have appeared recently.

Cop Bitten Twice By Sleeping Man

HOUSTON, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Bitten twice by a man in a hotel lobby, Patrolman G. W. Melvin today received two shots of antitetanus serum as a precaution against blood poisoning.

The officer tried to wake the man who pulled his hat over his eyes at midnight and settled down for a snooze in a soft hotel chair.

Foreigners Returning To China Since War Ended Are Finding A New Vehicle In Use

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, (AP) — Foreigners returning to China since the war ended have found a new vehicle—the pedicab. The pedicab is a three-wheeler — half ricksha and bicycle.

Chinese say it was introduced by the Japanese as the Greater East Asia's co-prosperity sphere's contribution to the ricksha pullers, a sort of "get-the-boys-out-from-between-the-shafts" movement.

Must With The GIs

It is one of the few items brought by the Japanese which bids fair to last although the old-line ricksha coolies still look down their noses at it. They also view it with considerable hostility because it is a much better two-place job than the ricksha. And a two-seater is a must with the sailors and soldiers now that introductions have been completed.

There are two kinds of pedicabs, the pusher type where you ride up front in a reasonably comfortable seat while the bicyclist breathes down your neck. The other is the puller. You ride in splendor behind and enjoy the view of a bicyclist pulling you through the streets. Since neither ricksha puller or pedicab cyclist ever miss a collision by more than two inches nervous people enjoy the puller type more. They aren't quite so aware of the narrowness of their escapes.

Yanks Self-Conscious

Americans, who still are a little self-conscious and embarrassed at being pulled about by another human being, prefer the pedicab because the operator doesn't seem to be working himself to death every minute.

As one Yank remarked — "The pedicabs are all right, but when I ride in a ricksha I feel as though somebody ought to report me to the SPCA."

Actress Facing Theft Charge

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 10 (U.P.)—Actress Joan Tasch Lawrence, who came to Hollywood from New York to sign a movie contract, today was charged with grand theft.

Texas Oil Man Robert Hungerford, the plaintiff, said it cost him $2,700 when Miss Lawrence "showed him the town."

Judge Charles Griffin ordered Miss Lawrence held for trial on charges of stealing $500 during a four-day drinking party.

Hungerford, who said he owned several Texas oil wells, charged that Miss Lawrence and Frank Speers, 45, house detective at the Beverly Wilshire hotel, put him to bed at the hotel one night and that when he sobered up four days later he missed $2,700. He said he was cretain he hadn't spent that much.

The judge dismissed the charges against Speers.

Hungerford said he was "drinking quite a lot" during the four days. Speers was in his room all the time, he added, and Miss Lawrence most of the time.

"I had a friend cash a check for $1,000 and I had considerable cash which I kept in my bathrobe and my clothes," he said. "I had been drinking, but I knew what I was doing up to a certain point, and then I am sure I was doped."

Miss Lawrence, released in $3,000 bail, denied she stole "anything from anybody." She said a movie contract was awaiting her if she could clear herself of the charges.

News From The Men Serving In The Armed Forces Of Uncle Sam

315TH BOMB WING, Guam.—1st Lt. Milford A. Berry, B-29 Airplane commander in the 16th Bomb Group, has been posthumously awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, it was recently announced at the Superfort Airbase. Lt. Berry flew his B-29, "Genny Mia" on a night strike against the strategic Maruzen oil refinery on Honshu, Japan, July 6 and encountered extensive patches of severe weather along the ocean route to the mainland. "In defiance" of this hazard and "despite determined enemy night fighter opposition and anti-aircraft fire," the 23-year-old pilot "flew his aircraft expertly over the center of the target," the citation reads, in part. Post-strike photographs reveal that this target was ninety-five per cent destroyed as a result of this mission. Lt. Berry later was listed as missing in action following another mission over Japan. Mrs. Geneva Berry, his wife, and his son, Darryl C. Berry, live at 1608 Avenue N, Lubbock, Texas. His mother, Mrs. Lillian Berry, resides at the same address.

Wood of Iark, Texas, and whose wife, Mrs. Myrtle Wood, of 505 Nassau, Plainview, Texas, from corporal to sergeant was recently announced by his group commander, Col. James W. Wilson of Bowling Green, Ohio. Sgt. Wood is an electrical specialist in the 92nd Bombardment Group, oldest group in the European Theater now flying ground forces troops from Istres Airfield to Casablanca on the first leg of their flight back home to be discharged. Sgt. Wood graduated from Groom High school in 1939, and was a rancher before entering the Armed Forces in September, 1942.

ABOARD THE BATTLESHIP USS TENNESSEE, (Delayed) — Kenneth Brush, seaman, first class, USNR, Slaton, Texas, took part in the climax of this ship's role in war with Japan, a role that included virtually every major operation in the Pacific, when occupation forces were landed from "The Rebel" at Wakayama, Honshu, Japan. Damaged at Pearl Harbor, the Tennessee came back to engage in operations from the Aleutians to the home waters of Japan. She was at Okinawa, preparing for further operations, when news of Japan's acceptance of surrender terms was received.

Lt. T. B. Shakewitz, cousin of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Grollman of Lubbock, who entered the Army back in June, 1943, when he was a student at Texas Tech, was credited with aiding in the advancement of an infantry unit at Stolberg, Germany, in a recent dispatch which appeared in a Washington, D. C., paper, where his parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shakewitz now reside. The infantry unit was held up by a houseful of Nazi sharpshooters but Lt. Shakewitz and his soldiers performed a bit of sleight of hand with TNT and the house and soldiers vanished and no waving of hands or muttered incantations will bring them back, the story said. Lt. Shakewitz and his buddies crawled under cover of infantry fire into the cellar of the Wehrmacht hornets' nest and set off charges of TNT fused with primacord. Seconds later a terrific explosion rocked the countryside, the American's path was cleared and the infantry moved on, the dispatch said. Lt. Shakewitz received his commission at Fort Belvoir. He had been overseas since early July, 1944.

On the breakaway, his bomber was intercepted by more than fifteen night fighters, all of which made repeated passes at his plane." Skillful evasive action prevented his ship from being rammed by enemy fighters. Lt. Crim displayed a high standard of airmanship on this occasion, a credit on himself and the Army Air Forces. This refinery was ninety-five per cent destroyed as a result of this one raid. At a later mission, Lt. Crim was reported missing. SO GOOD FOR BREAKFAST TOAST

New Pontiac Will Be Seen Monday

Incorporating numerous advancements in appearance and engineering and backed by the largest expansion program in Pontiac's history, the new 1946 model Pontiac will be displayed by the McWilliams Pontiac Company, 902 Ave. J, beginning Monday.

Advanced styling emphasizes the Pontiac's road-hugging appearance and plane-like contours. Dominated by the famed Silver Streak, the frontal appearance commands attention with its massive, flowing beauty, enhanced by a newly designed grille, relocated parking lamps and heavier bumpers extended in a sweeping curve to protect the forward fender skirts.

Door panels are trimmed in rich, solid neutral tone fabric with a wide shadow panel below and parallel to the door trim panels.

Six And Eight Models

Both six and eight cylinder models have a 122-inch wheelbase and overall length of 210¼ inches. The six develops maximum brake horsepower of 90 and the eight 103.

Colors presently available are black, maroon, blue, gray, smoke pearl, two-toned gray and two-toned blue.

"Firsts" Are Listed

A pioneer in engineering progress, Pontiac Motor division, holder of 90 major automotive engineering "firsts", lists the following among the important engineering advances on its 1946 model:

1. Vacuum Metering Carburetor . . . added on Pontiac six cylinder engines gives, in effect, the same results as higher octane fuel. Dual carburetion, continued on eight cylinder engines, provides quick pick-up and greater power.

2. Body . . . much attention has been directed toward making bodies corrosion resistant. Sills, doors and the underside of floors are sprayed with a material which protects against rust and corrosion. Additional clip retainers secure door-bottom weather strips. Standard pre-war zinc die castings are specified. Chrome plated mouldings now have a stainless steel or brass base. Door sill plates are aluminum; and chrome plating, wherever used on bodies, has been substantially thickened and durability doubled by test.

Cooling Is Improved

3. Improved Cooling . . . in redesigning the outward appearance of the front end, Pontiac engineers obtained an extra mechanical dividend. Enlarged grille-openings further improved cooling as much as 10 degrees lower than the 1942 model by test.

4. Shot Peened Piston Pins . . . Peening the bearing surface of piston pins just prior to final grinding and lapping gives the bearing surface thousands of tiny oil pockets. Tests indicate bearing thus treated serves even longer.

Other Improvements Tested

Other mechanical improvements listed include:

Ball Bearing Clutch Release utilizing improvements in ball bearing design and self-lubricating throughout its life . . . Larger Clutch on the six cylinder model. . . . Improved Intake Manifold on the six cylinder model . . . Manifold Heat Valve Bushing assures still smoother operation by change to high-alloy, chrome-nickel, stainless steel. Intake Manifold on the eight cylinder model . . . seal improved at cylinder block port openings. Exhaust Manifold Heat Valve on eight cylinder model . . . relocated to provide even quicker warm-up.

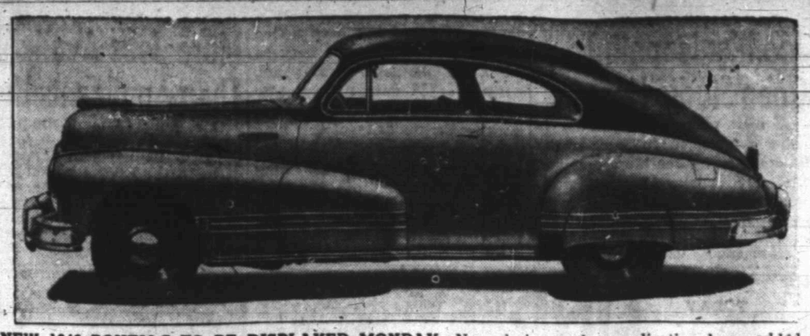

Muffler . . . longer lasting and quieter through thicker shells and re-arrangement of silencing chambers. Tailpipe . . . coated with aluminum inside and out, looks better and, by test, lasts longer. New Water Pump Slinger . . . brass, protects shaft from stray water drops; brass water distributing tube permanently resists rust.

Deeper Counterbores

Exhaust Valve Guides . . . with deeper counterbores to further decrease possibility of sticking exhaust valves. New Accelerator Pedal . . . provides still greater stability through steel hinge replacing ball-and-socket type pivot.

New Five-Inch Rim . . . better mounting or tires, spreads tire beads additional half-inch to resist "rolling." Higher air volume permitted cushions against bruises. Synthetic rubber small parts, proved superior to crude rubber in contact with oil, gas and water, are used.

Rustproofing . . . all attaching parts such as bolts, screws and nuts are zinc plated, an important service-labor saving item. Gearshift Control Shaft Bushing . . . graphite bronze, self-lubricating, assures car-life quietness. Better Horn Wire Insulation . . . eliminates possibility of horn-wire

NEW 1946 PONTIAC TO BE DISPLAYED MONDAY—New design and reapplication have added to Pontiac's lone, road-hugging appearance in the 1946 models which will be shown at McWilliams Pontiac company, 902 Ave. J, Monday. Note the curving bumpers which extend to protect fender skirts and set off the car's overall sleekness.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—It looks like Ray Milland will win an Academy award this year for the role of the dipsomaniac in the film version of Charles Jackson's novel, "The Lost Weekend."

And, brother, he deserves it. The film chronicles only five drunken days of delirium tremens but Ray had to stay "drunk" for three months—on prop department tea—while Hollywood shot the picture.

Ray Milland

Well, at least it was tea for every scene except one.

Ray confessed to us yesterday that it wasn't tea he was drinking for one difficult scene. It was the real thing—12 double shots of rye in a half hour.

"And I didn't feel a thing," he laughed. "It was the last scene of the day. I started to drive home and then it hit me. I had to stop the car and just sit there for about an hour. When I got home late my wife said, 'What happened to you?' And I said, 'I got drunk on that bloody tea'."

INTERFERENCE FROM MAMA

WHAT started it all was a studio visitor with a three-month-old baby in her arms. Ray was doing a difficult scene. Between shots, the woman rushed up to him, shoved the baby in his face and said, "Look—isn't he cute?"

"I blew higher than a kite," Ray said. "We tried it a couple of times and I muffed my lines. So Director Billy Wilder said: "Give him some real rye—a double. It took us six takes to get the shot—12 double jiggers of rye."

Playing a dipsomaniac cold sober, except for that afternoon, drove him just about nuts, Ray said.

"Wilder wouldn't even let me eat half the time, because he wanted me to lose weight. I always needed a shave and when I need a shave my face itches. Everything I had to do was nervous. I'm glad the bloody picture is finished, or I might really have got drunk for five days."

If anyone deserves an Oscar it's Ray. He's been around town for 14 years, playing in 50 pictures and turning in good performances every time. But "The Lost Weekend" is the role he was waiting for.

"It's the best part I've ever had and probably the best I ever will get," he admits.

ALL O. K. AT HOME

WE asked Ray about his recent separation and reconciliation with his wife.

"Everything is okay now," he said. "I finally got things straightened out in my mind."

Story Ray likes best to tell about himself was when he first came to Hollywood from England, where he had served in the British Household Cavalry—The Blues. He played a couple of minor roles, then somebody got the idea he might play a British cavalry officer in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer."

He tested for the part.

"I thought I was a cinch to get the part," he said. "I had just left the Blues. But what happens? The studio decides I'm not the type and gives the role to Franchot Tone, who was born at Niagara Falls."

Wooden Leg Gives Man Kick In Head

DICKINSON, N. D., Nov. 10 (AP)—Clement Frenzel was busy at work in his shoe shop when he got a kick in the head and he couldn't blame anybody but himself.

A wooden leg which was brought to the shop for repairs was placed on a shelf but it got wound up in a machine Frenzel was operating and delivered a solid kick to the shoeman's head. He suffered an inch and a half cut over his eye.

Brent Reviews Life As A Spy

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Correspondent

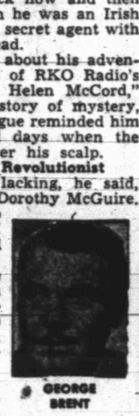

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10—George Brent, who gave up a promising career as a spy to become a movie actor, thinks back now and then to the days when he was an Irish revolutionist and secret agent with a price on his head.

He reminisced about his adventures on the set of RKO Radio's "The Silence of Helen McCord," saying that the story of mystery, murder and intrigue reminded him of the good old days when the British were after his scalp.

Meets Irish Revolutionist

All that was lacking, he said, was his co-star, Dorothy McGuire.

"I went over to Ireland when I was 18 to enroll in Dublin University. On the way I met a priest who introduced me to Michael Collins, the Irish revolutionist.

GEORGE BRENT

"Collins needed a secret service aide to carry dispatches between Dublin and Belfast. And, after I floored one of the English professors with a jab to the jaw, I needed a job. I got it."

Thousands of British troops were patrolling the Emerald Isle then, but Brent, accepted as a young American student, was free of suspicion.

"I often rode in the troop trains loaded with British soldiers," he recalled. "I ate, drank and slept with them, but I wasn't half as scared of them as I was of my Irish compatriots. They quite often sniped at the troop trains, and Irishmen are such bad shots."

British Searched Hotel Room

Brent was in Belfast when the English finally caught up with him. He had arrived too early to deliver his dispatches and, after registering at a hotel, tucked them in his pocket and went for a walk.

"When I got back to the hotel, the clerk tipped me that the British were searching my room. I took the first boat for Glasgow. In Glasgow, my landlady showed a little too much interest in me, so I had to flee again."

Brent went to England, the last place he thought his pursuers would look for him, and met a freighter captain about to sail for Canada. Brent stowed away with him.

When he landed in Montreal broke, his only resource was a few acting lessons he'd taken between spy trips at the Abbey Theater in Dublin. He got a job as an actor and, he reports, gave up spying for good.

Tribute Paid Marine Corps

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—General A. A. Vandergrift expressed hope today a statue depicting the flag-raising on Iwo Jima would "remind all who pass that we must keep the faith with the brave and the fallen."

The statue, modelled after the famous photograph taken atop Mt. Suribachi by Joe Rosenthal, Associated Press photographer, stands in front of the Navy building on Constitution avenue. It was unveiled today in observance of the Marine corps 170th anniversary.

"We in the Marine Corps," its commandant said in a prepared address, "are proud that men represented in the statue here to be dedicated are Marines. We are proud with the same pride we take in our entire 170 years of tradition, of which this deed has become an important part.

Have No Illusions

"But we have no illusions. We know that this statue commemorates much in addition to the courage of Marines, much more than the capture of a dominant height on Iwo Jima. We know that its meaning encompasses the whole effort of the people of our nation. . . .

"The five Marines and the Navy corpsman who placed the flag atop Mount Suribachi typify the unsurpassed gallantry of all men of the armed forces who won our total victory.

"Their courage was from exactly the same cloth as that which smashed the German war machine in Europe and the Japanese in every sector of the Pacific.

"The men who raised the flag symbolize the sacrifice throughout the ranks of our fighting men. Three of the six died in the bitter combat of the next several days. Thousands like them, in every theater of the war, fell in defense of their country—and in the trust that, after victory, their nation would dedicate its might to the maintenance of he peace and securiy to which they dedicated their lives."

Decline For Texas Cotton Crop Looms

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP) — Declines for cotton, corn and peanuts, with rice showing an increase and other crops generally unchanged, were noted in the general Texas crop report issued here today by the USDA crop reporting board.

Cotton, 1,880,000 bales, down 120,000 bales.

Corn, 66,048,000 bushels, drop of about 2,000,000.

Rice, 17,600,000 bushels, up 400,000.

Pecans, 32,250,000 pounds, down 1,500,000.

Combining of grain sorghums on the high plains was becoming widespread after October frosts. Grapefruit marketings to Nov. 1 were 15 per cent less and oranges 49 per cent less than a year before, but no change in last report crop total was made.

Egg production declined seasonally but maintained a high level for October. The average number of hens on farms was second highest on record in the state. October egg production was 180 million.

Most Of Scientists Who Worked On Atom Bomb Under 35; More Young Men Needed

NEW POST—Maj. Gen. Robert W. Douglass, Jr. (above) become new commanding general of the First Air Force with headquarters established at Mitchel Field, N. Y. Until recently General Douglass commanded the Seventh Air Force in the central Pacific.

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—The majority of the 2,000 scientists who worked on the atomic bomb were under 35 years of age.

One of the scientists who worked on the project says 95 per cent of them were, although this estimate may be a bit high.

But there will be an increasing need for young men coming out of school to go into the field of nuclear physics. There's a scarcity now.

Got Start In 1932

It got its start in 1932. In that same year the first cyclotron — equipment used in splitting the atom—was built in this country.

The atomic bomb—and the revealed possibilities that lie in atomic energy—has made the nuclear physics field one of tremendous importance nationally and internationally.

Research in this will be pushed by the government, by universities and by private industry.

And government will be in competition with schools and industry for scientific talent.

And industry will pay good money to lure nuclear physics scientists away from the schools. This means the government will be in sharp competition with both to get talent.

What They Want

One of the scientists who worked on the bomb—Dr. Robert Marshak, professor of physics at the University of Rochester, says that scientists who choose government work would want:

Good pay. Working locations not too far from civilization. As little secrecy as possible so their could be traditionally free exchange of information among scientists, whether they're working for the government or for schools or industry.

Warning On Heating Of Houses Is Given

"Inside temperature should be maintained at 68 to 70 degrees," he recommended. "It is not only more healthful, but more comfortable than a room with higher temperature, he said.

Education Is Needed For Peace; Allies Clash Over Germany's Future

No Lip-Service Wanted

Some Thoughts On Armistice Day

TODAY is Armistice Day.

To far too many people over the length and breadth of this nation today, the observance means little—except that their favorite football team did or did not win yesterday's big game, that Monday they will have another day of loafing.

Every year since that wild day in 1918, when the "war to end wars" was pronounced over on paper, newspapers over the nation annually printed pictures of bugles, of graves of the Unknown Soldier, of wreaths. Then came World War II. What "couldn't happen again" did. And today, all over the world instead of in just Flanders Fields, white crosses form periods to the ends of thousands of lives — symbolize the end of an era in the belief that more war was impossible.

Today was set aside for Allied nations throughout the world in order that their peoples might pay humble respects to the men who gave their lives for victory in the first World War. No doubt a similar observance will be set aside for those of World War II.

But while such respects and observances are appropriate, they mean nothing to the dead and even less to the living if they are only lip-service. It would be impossible to count the times Armistice Day speakers of the past have said . . . "If only the dead could speak, they would say this or that . . ."

Well the dead can't speak. They have said their lines in the most eloquent way known to man. They fought, they helped win, and they died. They died not for words but a world in which deeds should be their salute, in which men, women and children everywhere would honor them in creating out of the chaos in which they died a human sphere in which understanding, faith, freedom, tolerance, Christianity, and Peace should prevail—a world in which God is ruler, a world in which His Word is law, a world in which man worships and lives by the Golden Rule and not by selfishness, greed, intolerance and ignorance.

Only through an educated world in which the masses, not the so-called intellectuals are informed, can we ever attain Peace and Brotherhood. We in America are so self centered and conceited that we think we are already too educated to need to learn any more. We won the war, to be sure. But only by the grace of God and the skin of our teeth. "The next time," if there is a "next time," could be the last time.

Therefore, this Armistice Day, if man is sincere in wanting really to pledge his faith in the cause for which men died in 1918 and for the past three years and more, then he must dedicate himself to learning as much as possible about the world in which we live, about its economics, its peoples, its laws, its governments; ambitions of all peoples, their leaders, in fact everything which goes to make up this world of ours—and which contributes to war or peace.

IGNORANCE—it hangs like a sword of Damocles over the heads of the world. All the atomic bombs in the universe cannot and have not caused the destruction to man this one thing has caused.

Tuesday morning, Lubbock Morning Avalanche begins publication of Gen. George C. Marshall's Report on the War. In it may be found one of the finest pieces of writing to come out of the most recent World War. This should be the first basic step toward reeducation of the American public. Every man, woman and child who can read should read every word of this fine article, read it and study it and understand it.

Then every day, thereafter, every man, woman and child should continue to read every piece of literature of a reliable nature which has any bearing on the world of tomorrow — because that is to be our world.

What we shall make of it we are helping shape now by our actions — not our words.

That is our Armistice Day message. The dead didn't pass it on. But the living veterans have before they join the dead—which another large segment of our population is doomed to do if we do not educate ourselves and the world now.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The foregoing editorial was written by a member of The Avalanche-Journal's staff who recently returned to his position after three years service in the Army.)

"Unless it strikes a star or planet, a light ray travels forever through space at the rate of 186,000 miles a second," says an astronomer. It must be a lonely existence.

Note to the "50 Years Ago" editor who will be scanning this yellowed file copy of the paper for items: Weren't we a goofy bunch, though?

Another thing some have wondered about for years has been explained. An eminent minister says sermons aren't supposed to be enjoyed.

The One Minute Sermon

In my distress I cried unto the Lord, and he heard me. Deliver my soul, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitful tongue. Psalm 120: 1, 2.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Alliance Between Demos, CIO Still Paying Off At Polls

Mayoralty Elections Serve Warning On GOP

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The mayoralty elections in some of the biggest eastern and midwestern cities yield some interesting political signs.

They help to explain some administration political strategy in Washington. They also hold a warning for Republicans as they map future policies to try to win their way back into power in next year's Congressional elections and in the 1948 presidential election.

STOKES

Their significance is enhanced beyond that ordinarily attached to such local contests by the fact that they were the first tests of any consequence since President Truman entered the White House and since the war ended. They were peacetime elections, fought without benefit of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Outstanding was the demonstration that the alliance between Democrats and the CIO still retains the potency exhibited so strikingly in the 1944 presidential election in metropolitan centers of the larger eastern and midwestern states, the so-called doubtful states where most elections are won or lost.

Demos, CIO Strong

Democrats and their CIO allies came back overwhelmingly into power in New York City—no good news to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. Democrats held other such big cities as Boston, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, all major contributors to election results in Massachusetts, Ohio and Pennsylvania, as is New York City in that state. The Democrats lost their grip in Buffalo in upstate New York, which is generally Republican territory.

The result in Detroit was significant chiefly in proving that labor still is hard put to win with a strictly labor candidate. The CIO was not able to do it with the personable Richard T. Frankensteen, a vice president of it United Automobile Workers. That became, in the end, almost a straight-out labor and anti-labor political fight, with all the bitterness such a battle produces.

IN the first test since last year's presidential election provided by the mayor elections, Democratic National Chairman Bob Hannegan was working in his own field and on his own ground —the big cities. He understands big city politics. It runs along orthodox pattern. It has always paid dividends to the Democrats.

At the Chicago convention last year it was the big city-southern state combination that Bob Hannegan pulled together to put over Harry Truman's nomination as vice president.

This is still the combination upon which Democrats must rely in the 1948 election despite its hybrid nature. This, despite the antagonism of the average professional southern politician to New Dealism and to the CIO, and despite resentment among such politicians and southern conservatives in Congress over Mr. Truman's espousal of New Dealism.

Explains HST's Moves

The urgent necessity of keeping this strange alliance intact explains some things that have happened here. It explains partly, for example, why the President has tried to please labor—though he has sincere convictions along those lines—and why, on the other hand, he still hesitates to offend the southern leadership in Congress which does not even give lip service to some parts of his program desired by labor. The President is proving himself quite adept at tight-rope walking. Mr. Hannegan has acquired the gift of double talk, too.

Republicans might ponder this week's elections. They must break into the big metropolitan areas to pick up enough additional Congressmen in 1946 to recapture the House, and they must break into the big cities to elect a president in 1948. To do this it is obvious that they must become more than a rural midwestern and small town

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THE Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois has upheld Dr. George D. Stoddard, newly appointed president, in his stand that he is fully committed "to keep the university free of religious controversy and prejudice."

I am happy to know that the Illinois board has had the courage of its conviction, and I would be still happier to know that all prejudice and controversy could be eliminated from religion.

BRANDEIS

Our faith and confidence in human wisdom and human institutions have been pretty well shaken up, and every day we become more dubious about human ability to keep this badly messed up world in balance and put it back in order.

How can we call ourselves civilized, how can we ever hope to attain happiness and peace, if religion, too, is made the subject of prejudice and controversy?

Religion alone is the Rock of Ages.

Blessed are those who have the faith, and happiness cannot exist where there is no faith in something more beautiful and more sublime than the mere chore of eking out a living.

What difference does it make whether you are Presbyterian or Methodist, Baptist, or Episcopalian, Catholic or Jew? Religion is decency and love, honor and the fulfillment of the soul's longing for something better than the sordid realities.

There are many roads to God. All of them are good, all lead to the same end. What right have you or I to judge the merit of the different roads?

One after the other our ideals have been taken away from us. Year after year experience makes us more sophisticated and more bitter.

Religion is something based on faith, not intellectual knowledge. Argument and discussion can never decide any religious issues. If, as we are taught, religion is truth, then we have no right to question truth. Truth is truth, that's all there is to it.

TO criticize a person because he belongs to a different denomination from your own is impudence, just as it is impudence to criticize a stranger for the clothes he wears.

What my religion is, that is my business, not yours.

If I want to travel to God on the Presbyterian road, that is no more your affair than if I want to go to California on the Santa Fe when you prefer the Union Pacific.

Take your road, let me take mine.

World Politics Blazing

British Policy Might Be Studied.

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—U. S. officials aren't in complete agreement about it, but one thing they may discuss with Prime Minister Attlee during his visit is Britain's apparent policy of building up Germany, presumably as a buffer state against Russia.

This was definitely Churchill's policy. But, though a labor government has succeeded him, secret sessions of the Allied economic directorate in Berlin continue to show significant clashes between the British and Russians over Germany's economic future.

At one recent closed-door session in Berlin, members of the economic directorate listened to a report on abolishing Germany's cartel system, a plan previously agreed on at Potsdam. But Sir Percy Mills, the British delegate, interrupted.

"By the time we decentralize Germany," he said, "there wont be anything left to liquidate."

PEARSON

Doubtless he was referring to the Russian policy of speedily tearing down and removing German industry.

Sir Percy then proposed that the committee consider again his own report on advance reparations payments. General Shabalin, the Soviet delegate, agreed, but asked the French delegate, M. Sergent, why it was that only one-third of the I. G. Farben plant at Ludwigshaven was listed for transfer to the Allies as part of reparations payments. He wanted to know what the French proposed doing with the remaining two thirds of the plant.

(The destruction or removal of the I. G. Farben plants, a prime source of Hitler's munitions, has been subject to great inter-Allied debate. State Department Representative Robert Murphy has sent several cables back to Washington urging that these munitions plants be reserved.)

The Frenchman replied that the Ludwigshaven plant was large and complex, but that the third unit, which the French had put on the list for advance reparations payments, was an independent unit and could be packed up and hauled to France immediately. The remaining two-thirds, he said, are working for the Allies and, therefore, needed in Germany.

RUSSO-BRITISH CLASH

SIR PERCY MILLS then proposed discussing a list of plants he had drawn up for the western zone of Germany.

"Why is it," asked General Shabalin, "that you don't want to discuss the report which I have prepared on this subject? May I remind you that all the members are supposed to work on the problem of advance reparations? May I also ask why the Russian report has not be included? Why do you insist on dealing with your own report?"

"I regret to say I haven't had time to read the Russian report," Sir Percy replied. "Besides, your report is written in Russian and I don't read Russian."

At this the Red Army officer hit the ceiling.

"I do not see," he remarked acidly, "how the directorate could have ignored the Russion proposal."

"I don't see that it makes much difference," countered the Britisher. "I have a pretty good idea of what the Russian proposal is, and even if I had read it, I don't think it would change the ideas of the English, French and American members."

At this point, the French delegate smoothed over the troubled waters by urging that the Russian report be translated immediately and then studied by the committee. This was agreed.

The American delegate, Gen. William H. Draper, then helped further to smooth things out by proposing that all German firms employing more than 3,000 persons or with an annual turnover of 25,000,000 reichmarks be required to report to the Allies. This pleased the Russians, who vigorously favor dismantling most German business.

General Shabalin then stated that he understood the economic directorate had the power to decide what German companies were to be put out of business. This was unanimously agreed.

Thus continues the see-saw of old-world politics for post-war position. It was Britain's balancing France off against Germany after the last war which led to a Germany too strong for France to handle.

BOSS PENDERGAST'S NEPHEW

HERE'S the inside story on the appointment of Boss Tom Pendergast's nephew as acting director of the Office of Inter-American affairs. Pendergast is the man who put Harry Truman in politics, and Harry has been forever grateful. Boss Tom also served a stretch in the federal penitentiary in connection with Missouri insurance scandal.

Now Truman was wangled Pendergast's nephew into a top-flight government job. Here is the chronological history of what happened.

When Truman was still a senator, he wrote a letter to Nelson Rockefeller, asking that Nephew Francis Pendergast be hired. Truman received a form letter in reply. No dice. When Truman became vice president, he wrote Rockefeller again. This time he got a personal note from Nelson Rockefeller, turning down Pendergast's nephew for a job.

Came the day that Harry Truman became president of the United States. This time he asked the State department to hire Pendergast. This time the state department did not hesitate. So Francis Pendergast is now a $6,200-a-year acting director of the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

NOTE—When it comes to his old friend Pendergast, Harry Truman consistently thumbs his nose at public opinion. When Pendergast died, Truman had just become vice president. But he jumped into an Army plane, flew to Kansas City for the funeral!

SOVIET-U. S. BASEBALL

WHEN members of the House foreign affairs subcommittee visited Moscow recently, they were entertained at a dinner with the chess champions of the Soviet union.

The Russian chess experts had just defeated an American team in a series of matches played over the radio, and they were gaily feted for their victory.

As the oratory ran out, Republican Representative Karl Mundt, of South Dakota asked permission of the presiding officer to say a few words—with the aid of an interpreter.

"I don't know much about chess" began Mundt with a grin, "but I hear that these matches were held at night. One match, in fact, lasted until 3 a. m., Without minimizing your triumph, gentlemen, I'd like to say that this was taking an unfair advantage of us. We Americans are at the top of our form during the daytime. We aren't good competitors in such events after midnight because we get sleepy."

The alibi drew a round of chuckles. Mundt then proposed that to foster goodwill, the Russians play the U. S. A. in baseball.

"Baseball is our national sport," said Mundt. "The only other nation that challenged our supremacy in baseball was Japan, and we know what happened to them.

"If you fellows could learn to play baseball like you can fight, we'd have to be on our toes to beat you."

"BALM OF GILEAD" IS A SMALL EVERGREEN TREE A SOOTHING BREEZE A SPRING-LIKE RAIN

Dola de Jong Writes Poignant War Story

"... And The Field Is The World" Is Story Of Refugees

THE war has left many scarred, inwardly as well as physically, particularly among the most innocent victims of all—the children. This is brought home poignantly in Dola de Jong's novel, "... And the Field Is the World," a story of refugee children in North Africa.

Dola De Jong

The setting is an arid farm on the outskirts of Tangiers. The time is 1941. In a shack live a Dutch couple, Aart and his wife, Lies, their baby, Dolf, and a group of "lost children" they had picked up on their flight to Marseilles.

They are an oddly assorted lot: 15-year-old Hans, a German boy who had been sent to France for safety by his parents active in the anti-Nazi underground; Rainer, his slightly older compatriot; two Polish girls, the highly-strung, tortured Maria, and her precocious 8-year-old sister, Luba; Berthe, the fuzzy-haired little Belgian girl. And most endearing of all, perhaps, the French boy, Pierre, an infant with an eager, hungry mind, and a dream he keeps all to himself—a dream that some day he will wake up and find that the wooden stump they have given him will change into the leg he has lost.

"... And the Field Is the World" is these children's story, their tragedies, their bravery, their gaiety, and their often uncanny resilience to experiences that might well have broken their parents.

"None So Blind"

THE psychological novel is dangerous ground for an author to tread upon. He may, by his inexpertness, earn the scorn of the experts. Or he may twist the psychological approach to meet the demands of plot and thus destroy his primary objective.

It is pleasant to report that Mitchell Wilson's first venture into the novel avoids both pitfalls. In "None So Blind" (Simon & Schuster), this mystery-story writer has achieved a fine psychological novel that impresses first with its integrity, next with its believable plot, and finally by its simple, narrative style.

He goes most of those who try this type of fiction one better—what appears to be the eternal triangle actually becomes the troublesome foursome.

Basically, "None So Blind" is the story of a wounded Coast Guardsman's attempt to regain mental peace and balance through an affair with a woman unhappily married. But the situation involving Lt. Scott Burnett and Peggy Butler is not as simple as that. In the background loom Tod Butler, Dr. O'Neill and Eve Geddes.

Tod was the famous artist Peggy had blinded during a quarrel. Eve was the girl who loved Scott, but the one he turned to only for sympathy and understanding. And O'Neill was the real man in Peggy's heart.

Burnett's affair with Peggy was disturbing, not helpful. Instead of the healing power of her affection, Scott found only greater emotional turmoil. And he began to feel that the time was fast approaching for a showdown—either Peggy would have to leave Tod or Scott would be forced to kill him.

The denouncement finally came, and it was revelatory to all save Tod. It was dramatic, unexpected and surprising, but entirely logical. It is a great emotional climax to a sensitive story.

With this short novel, Wilson very definitely has bridged the gap between mystery stories and the novel. He definitely is a man to watch, particularly when he attempts a story more ambitious than this brief one.

For Mystery Fans

THE romantic atmosphere of the Scottish Lowlands is the scene of Maurice Walsh's latest mystery story, "Nine Strings to Your Bow" (Lippincott).

Peter Falkner was tried three times and acquitted of the murder of his uncle, Mark Aitken. Lack of evidence led to the acquittal. Although he would have preferred to remain in the town of Eglintoun and run the farm left him by his uncle, he was about to return to his native Canada to avoid the finger of suspicion which he knew would be pointed at him forever. But Con Madden, junior partner of an investigating agency, convinces young Falkner that this suspicion would follow him even to Canada and persuades him to stay and try to clear himself of the crime.

Nation's Divorce Rate Soaring; Leaders Express Deep Concern

(By The United Press).

There were nearly half as many divorce suits as there were marriages in the first 10 months of this year in 30 of the nation's largest cities, a United Press survey showed today.

Judges, sociologists and psychologists expressed deep concern over the soaring divorce rate. They attributed the increase principally to wartime conditions but said the peak would not come for at least another year.

Several Reasons Cited

Some blamed divorce on "hasty war marriages blowing up." Others blamed a lack of social consciousness or the fact that large numbers of women had left their homes to take war jobs and couldn't readjust to domesticity.

An unusually large number of suits were filed by men, principally servicemen charging their wives with unfaithfulness.

Domestic Relations Judge Loy Ladd, Des Moines, Ia., summarized the situation this way:

Greedy Women Criticized

"Potential divorces, long brewing, reached the courts through increased earnings of husbands and wives," Cramer said.

Greedy women were criticized by Salt Lake City Judge J. Allen Crockett.

"Most of the war marriages were based, as far as the woman was concerned, upon the potential value of the insurance policies carried by men in service—and the glamor of being married to a potential war hero," Crockett said.

Seattle Divorce Judge William Long said the courts were partly to blame.

"The courts hold aloof until the marital appendix has burst and a major operation is necessary," Long said.

Thousands Are Filed

The survey showed that 111,000 divorce actions were taken in the 30 cities in the first 10 months of this year. This was nearly 20,000 more than in the same period in 1944.

None of the cities reported a decrease in suits filed this year. Oklahoma City and Dallas recorded more divorces than weddings.

At the same time, a total of 228,000 marriage licenses were issued. The number of weddings was expected to continue increasing, but not in proportion to the divorce rise.

Reno, which claims to be the "divorce capital of the world," recorded only 6,301 divorces. It ran behind Chicago, with 16,000; Detroit, with more than 13,000; Houston, with nearly 8,000, and Dallas, with 6,500.

New York, the nation's largest city, reported 3,000 matrimonial court cases, 1,900 of them divorce suits.

Few Possible Solutions

Few possible solutions were offered for the increasingly serious situation.

Judge Long recommended establishment of courts of domestic relations where unsolved arguments could be brought when both parties still were willing to help solve them.

He and a number of other judges and social workers suggested that special courses in home management be introduced in high schools and colleges.

Chicago Judge Edwin A. Robson urged establishment of a national organization to "combat the evil of the broken home, just as the national Safety Council combats accidents."

Other remedies were suggested. Bars and taverns should be closed, said a Minneapolis judge. Edward Strecker, Philadelphia author of a new book on divorce, said mothers should aid children in "emancipating their emotions." Salt Lake City Judge Crockett advocated "revitalization of the family unit as the foundation of the American social structure."

J. H. Bush, calendar clerk in the Atlanta, Ga., domestic relations court, said he had the best solution.

"There's only one way to stop divorces," Bush said, "and that's to stop marriages."

New Buick To Be Shown Monday

The new 1946 Buick will be on display at Scoggin-Dickey Motor company, 1009 Ave. J, Monday, J. Ray Dickey announced Saturday. The new model, a Series 50 Super 4-door sedan, is one of three eight-cylinder cars introduced this season. The others are: Series 70 Roadmaster and Series 40 Special.

All incorporate important changes in appearance, design, and performance as compared with similarly numbered models of 1942 — the latest to be introduced prior to the war.

First off the line and first to be shown are the Series 50 Super cars made in four-door sedan, two-door sedanet, convertible coupe, and estate wagon styles each having six-passenger capacity. The four-door sedan and the estate wagon are now in production with other body styles to follow shortly.

Grille Emphasizes Massiveness

Material advances in styling as well as functional design are immediately apparent in the new Buicks. An entirely new grille not only adds massiveness to the front but due to its construction provides improved air flow. All external surfaces of the new grille are capped with chrome-plated stainless steel.

Front appearance is further enhanced by a new "aiming ring" radiator ornament, new and heavier bumper design, new bumper guards and series designation. Flashway direction signals and parking lights are of larger size. The fender has been remodeled to give a true airfoil contour which is extended through the door panel on all models.

Throughout the new body structure, trim and equipment will be noted a return to materials which in many instances ceased to be available after 1941. Cushion springs are covered with Foamtex rubber tops. The body hardware, knobs and escutcheons are all chrome plated with the former plastic inserts eliminated.

Many Engine Improvements

The Buick valve-in-head Fireball engine introduced in 1941 is continued with many important refinements. In this engine Buick engineers have taken full advantage of the fundamental qualities of the valve-in-head design which permits, because of its dome-shaped head, the closest possible approach to the ideal form of combustion chamber, the sphere.

In the Fireball engine the piston head has been shaped with a mound on one side and a depression on the other. In this way, at the instant of explosion the charge is compressed into the approximate shape of a ball while at the same time the piston is provided with adequate metal surface to carry off excess heat, thus preventing ping or detonation.

Aluminum Pistons Used

Outstanding among the new Buick engine improvements is the method of fabricating the cylinder bores for superior accuracy and improved finish. After being precision bored, a new type hone is used on a surface finishing operation leaving the cylinder bores properly conditioned to recieve a Lubricate coating. This coating is a manganese phosphate treatment which provides rapid seating of the piston rings — eliminating scuffing during the break-in period of the new car.

Also contributing to better performance is the return to aluminum pistons which have not been available since 1941. The carburetor is new, being a dual down-draft type with a redesigned intake manifold. An Inconel heater tube is employed and an automatic choke, providing not only the proper mixture but also the proper throttle opening for starting when cold, is built integrally with the carburetor.

One-Piece Unit Frame

The cooling system has been refined to give maximum water circulation at all points and to provide uniform metal temperatures.

An important detail refinement has been added to the clutch for longer life. To prevent the possibility of wear between the clutch releases bearing and the clutch spring, a spring has been added. A further improvement is the use of a different material in the clutch retaining spring which will prevent this spring from taking a set after a long period of use.

Buick's all-welded, rigid, one-piece unit frame is continued as is also the torque-tube drive and all-coil spring suspension. With the torque-tube drive all driving thrust is through the tube, leaving the springs devoted entirely to suspension.

Wide rim wheels which contributed materially to the stability and handling qualities of the 1942 cars are continued in the new models while optional 18 x 6.50 wheels and tires and high springs are available to owners who require road clearance.

Many improvements are to be noted in the accessories. Experience during the war has led to the development of a superior storage battery plate compound which has been adopted, resulting in better performance. In addition the battery has been further improved with improved sealing and new ventilated filler cap. Other features of the Buick electrical system including high output generator with voltage and current regulation, automatic spark advance, sealed beam headlamps, flashway direction signalling and dual air trumpet type horns are all continued without change.

A new bumper jack has been developed with the lifting bracket so designed as to straddle the bumper back bar thereby preventing any tendency to slide sideways when in use. The front and rear bumper bars have been made of deeper section to prevent excessive deflection when the bumper jacks are used. The bumpers have also been enhanced in appearance by widely spaced guards and a newly designed tie bar carrying an ornamental plate with the series designation. Bumpers are the wrap-around type for full fender production.

SOME of their leaders are suggesting a shift to a more progressive course. In this way only, they argue, can the Republicans make any inroads into the labor vote which is so decisive a factor in the big cities.

This shift, they say, must come in the party's leadership in Congress. There are record is made. There is where the voters have been trained to look now, rather than to party platforms and pronouncements. Platforms have been on the progressive side in recent years. But party leaders in Congress seem to forget.
