Warnings Are Given Texans

WPA Activities Said Menaced

More Adequate Financial Aid For Public Schools Also Is Needed, Officials Are Told

(By The Associated Press)

NEW BRAUNFELS, Oct. 6.—Warnings that WPA activities in Texas were threatened with extinction for lack of legislative action and that democracy might crumble before dictatorship unless public schools were adequately financed were given 600 members of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners' association here today.

Assembled for the first of a three-day annual convention in this beautiful city at the foot of the hill country, officials heard problems they face jointly with state and federal authorities discussed and analyzed.

Funds Almost Exhausted

H. P. Drought of San Antonio, state director of the WPA, informed delegates the greatest danger to their "joint enterprise" in this state was that funds of the Texas relief commission, federally-approved agency to pass on eligibility of WPA workers, were almost exhausted.

The director, who lashed critics of the government work program, said it was essential the legislature provide for the continuance of the commission's work so that 90,000 able-bodied persons which industry and agriculture had been unable to absorb, might earn an existence.

Lose Two Months

L. A. Woods, state superintendent of education, lamented shortage of funds forced many rural school children to forego two months of school each year.

"Education is the life blood of democracy," he said, "and when it fails to teach the fundamentals of democracy, our American civilization will collapse."

State Comptroller George H. Sheppard appealed to the officials to collect delinquent taxes to reduce rates and not penalize those paying the levies by increasing the load.

Scolding officials for what he said was their "looking toward the government for aid," the comptroller said the major portion of back taxes could be collected if proper efforts were made.

"Your delinquent taxes reflect

Couple Facing Federal Count

Mrs. Evelyn D. Miller, 29, and her husband, Clifton W. Miller, about 35, both of Clairemont, Thursday were arraigned here before the United States commissioner on charges of embezzling funds belonging to the United States postoffice at Clairemont.

Both entered pleas of guilty, said Mrs. Olive Fluke, commissioner and bonds of $1,500 each were set. Miller was transferred to the Dallas county jail by C. E. Luce, U. S. deputy marshal.

Woman Was Postmaster

Until late last month Mrs. Miller was postmaster of the Clairemont postoffice and was assisted by her husband.

Because she is the mother of a 9-months-old baby, Mrs. Miller was released and given until 2 o'clock today to post bond, said Mrs. Fluke.

The complaint, sworn to by W. M. McMillan, postoffice inspector, alleged the funds were taken between April 1 and the last of September of this year. McMillan said a total of approximately $550 was involved.

Replaced In Office

Mrs. Miller was replaced Sept. 29 by Delmer C. Scogin as postmaster of the Clairemont postoffice, authorities said. Scogin will be acting postmaster until a postmaster is appointed.

The couple was arrested about 10 o'clock Thursday morning at Clairemont by Luce and transferred here about 2 o'clock that afternoon for arraignment.

Mrs. Fluke, commissioner in the Lubbock division of the northern district of Texas, prepared the complaint.

Stringent Laws Authorized For Italian Jews

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Oct. 7. (Friday) — The fascist grand council ended a midnight session early today by issuing a sweeping series of regulations limiting the participation of Jews in Italy's national life.

After a four and a half hour session devoted largely to racial questions, fascism's supreme policy-making body banned all marriages between Italians and "African, semitic and other races."

Must Have Permission

Civilian and military employes of the state were forbidden to marry "foreign women of whatever race," and other Italians were required to have the interior ministry's permission before contracting any foreign marriage.

The council declared "world Hebrewism, especially after the abolition of Masonry, has been the inspirer of anti-fascism in all fields.

"Hebrewism abroad or among Italian exiles has been in some periods like 1924 and 1925 and during the Ethiopian war unanimously hostile to fascism."

Rules Are Laid Down

The grand council prohibited Italian Jews from:

1. Enrollment in the fascist party.
2. Owning or managing business firms of any sort employing more than 100 persons.
3. Owning more than 50 hectares (123.5 acres) of land.
4. Entering Italy's military services in peace or wartime.

Mr. Bear Makes Mistake When He Forgets This Deadly Aim

WEBSTER SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 6. (AP)—A 300-pound bear that figured today to lunch on fresh pork failed to take into consideration the deadly aim and coolness of Mrs. Jessie Mills Ware.

The Mills mountain woman heard a pig squeal in the pen near her home and went to investigate—taking along her husband's shotgun.

She found the reason—Mr. Bear. The animal, annoyed at the interruption, rose on its hind feet and started for the housewife.

One blast from the gun felled the huge animal.

Dizzy Pitches Heart Out As Yankees Win

Superb Comeback Is Blasted By Murderous Slugging Of Champs In 6-3 Victory

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 6.—Dizzy Dean, pitching his heart and arm out with every curve ball he threw, had one foot in the hall of World series immortality today when the almost stark reality of the most murderous home run bats in baseball history wiped him and his gallant effort from glory to crushing defeat.

Only four outs away from scoring as superb and glamorous a comeback as the game ever produced, the gallant Dizzy man was denied an unforgettable triumph when the home run bats of first Frank Crosetti and then great Joe DiMaggio arched balls out of the lot.

Take Second Straight

The two crushing blows dropped Dizzy and his Cub mates to the brink of series elimination, giving the New York Yankees their second straight game, 6 to 3.

This was the story book picture that 42,108 shivering fans never will forget:

So complete a master was Diz and his "nothing" ball that he reached the start of the eighth inning with only two singles and a cheap double, caused by a Cub infield mixup, against him. The Cubs had given him a 3-2 lead over Lefty Gomez, the Yankee southpaw who never had lost a World series game.

Looked Like Diz Was In

The first man up, George Selkirk, singled to right field for the fourth Yankee hit but Joe Gordon forced him at second, and in turn, was forced by Myrll Hoag, pinch hitting for the apparently beaten Gomez. It looked like Diz was in.

Then, up stepped the man who had robbed the Cubs in yesterday's opener with his plays around second—Frank Crosetti. Not much cause for alarm. He had hit only nine home runs all year.

Frankie, probably, had no idea of a homer, but he wanted to get on base—anyway. Crosetti picked and pecked away, hitting five fouls and running the count to 3 and 2. Diz, though his arm ached, put everything he had on that last pitch. It came in fast and chest high and then—bang! The ball arched like a harmless fly to Leftfielder Carl Reynolds but on it went barely to clear the brick wall for a home run.

That was the big story, but there was still another home run blow—by DiMaggio—to seal the doom of Leaving El Paso Monday night O'Daniel will spend Tuesday in Marfa, meeting there with a group of West Texas cattlemen.

Gas Dealer Believes Public Likes Being Made A Sucker

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 6 (AP)—There's one gasoline dealer in Mississippi who firmly believes that the public likes being made a sucker.

This particular fellow, reports Joe Keith of the motor vehicle commissioner's office, was charged with selling the same grade of gasoline from two pumps at different prices.

On one pump, the price was marked 20 cents a gallon, the other 19.

"What did you tell people about this gasoline and the 'difference' in grades?" Keith asked.

"I told them they were exactly the same," was the reply, "and in nine cases of ten, the customers asked for the 20-cent gas anyway."

Young Burglar Embarrassed As Lady Of House Arrives

AMARILLO, Oct. 6. (AP) — When Mrs. W. E. Sturdivant returned to her home today she embarrassed a young burglar by walking in on him while he was combing the house for valuables.

Mrs. Sturdivant hurriedly called police; and the youth, who gave his name as Ray Mills and his home as Dallas, was arrested.

Mills, who gave his age as 18 years, carried two watches and seven diamonds. He also had on his person a list of street addresses, and the Sturdivant address was the first on the list.

Tonight Mills' address is the county jail. He is charged with burglary and is under $750 bond.

Scout Drive Is Short Of Goal

Attending a victory dinner Thursday night in Hilton hotel, participants in the Boy Scout sustaining club membership drive learned that $2,099 had been assured according to incomplete reports.

The total in pledges still was expected to reach the objective of $3,500.

Shirt Tail Is Clipped

The competition between the Horse Fly and Mosquito Bar ranches, rival teams participating in the drive, reached its culmination with the clipping of the Mosquito Bar foreman's shirt tail.

The Horse Fly ranch won by a margin of only $1.50, collecting $579.50. J. C. Reynolds, Horse Fly foreman, clipped the shirt tail of Foreman C. H. (Brownie) Hamilton and, with the signatures of straw bosses, will frame it.

Other Reports Given

The woman's group, led by Mrs. Marvin McLarty, reported $107.50 collected. Earl Hunt of the Advance Gifts committee reported $834. School and community committees had not yet reported. Approximately one-third of the advance gifts committee returns were thought not yet reported, as well as some of the women's committee results. Several teams had not reported, said Earl M. McClure, scout executive.

Marion Sanford served as general chairman. Reminder was offered for those not seen Thursday that a "cleanup" drive will be conducted. The goal of $3,500 is expected to be reached in four or five days.

Seventy-two persons had attended a kick-off breakfast that morning and about 40 attended the dinner.

Sudetens Again Are Promised Mighty German Protection

RUMBURG, Sudetenland, Oct. 5 (AP)—Adolf Hitler came into the second Sudetenland zone today, to a reception which rivalled his previous two grand entries into his newly acquired territory.

Tolling bells and roars of "hail our liberator," greeted the fuehrer who proceeded to a grandstand in the market square for a brief speech.

"Our vow," he said, "in this hour is that every foot of German soil on which the flag of the German reich has once been planted would remain German forever."

Drastic Change In Agriculture Setup Ordered

Secretary Wallace Says That Reorganization Is Planned To Give Greater Efficiency

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Secretary Wallace ordered drastic reorganization of the agriculture department today in an effort, he said, to promote greater efficiency in its far-flung activities.

Department officials said the shakeup would not require congressional action but would carry out, insofar that department was concerned, major objectives of President Roosevelt's reorganization program.

Consolidated Into One

All planning and policy-forming activities of the department, heretofore divided among more than a dozen bureaus and agencies, will be placed under the bureau of agricultural economics, headed by H. R. Tolley, present Agricultural Adjustment administrator, who will be responsible to Wallace only.

Officials forecast the changes would result in greater emphasis being placed on the search for new domestic markets and new industrial uses for farm products.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, an emergency agency created in 1933 by presidential order, was given a bureau rating.

Directed By Tapp

The corporation will be directed by Jesse W. Tapp, now assistant AAA administrator.

If the department undertakes a program of subsidizing consumption of surplus cotton by relief and low-income families, that program would be directed by the surplus corporation.

Formulation of crop control programs, heretofore done by the Agricultural Adjustment administration, will be transferred to the bureau of agricultural economics. The AAA, which will be headed by R. M. Evans, will administer programs designed by the bureau of agricultural economics.

Four General Lines

Wallace said the changes, which would become effective October 16, would unify the work of the department along four general lines:

(1) Formulation of all plans and policies by the bureau of agricultural economics.

(2) Coordination of all marketing activities, including regulation of markets, under a division of marketing and regulation, directed by Dr. A. G. Black, heretofore chief of the bureau of agricultural economics.

(3) Placing of all research work in the field of agricultural and industrial technology under a bureau headed by Dr. H. G. Knight, present chief of the bureau of chemistry and soils.

(4) Execution of all conservation, land use, flood control and farm forestry programs by the soil conservation service, now headed by H. H. Bennett.

Woman Suffers Serious Injury In Fall At Estacado Home

Because she was paralyzed in the left side, Mrs. H. V. Carr, 74, of Estacado did not realize the seriousness of a leg injury in a fall Wednesday night.

On taking x-ray examination at West Texas hospital Thursday afternoon, she learned she had suffered a comminuted fracture of the left thigh. She was released later that day.

She went to a physician in Ralls Thursday morning for examination, then was transferred here, said a son, D. H. Carr of Ralls.

She recently had suffered an attack of pneumonia and fell in the yard at the home of a son, W. P. Carr of Estacado, with whom she is living. Relatives said her side had been paralyzed several years.

Efforts To Force Names On Election Ballots In Texas Being Launched In Court

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—Efforts to compel Secretary of State Edward Clark to place names of Laverne Somerville and Arlon B. Cyclone Davis on the general election ballot as candidates for governor were started here today.

The supreme court was asked to permit mandamus proceedings which would enforce certification of Somerville as the candidate of the Independent American party and Davis as the candidate of the Peoples Pension party.

Received By Clerk

The petitions were received by the clerk of the supreme court, which presumably will set them down for hearing or dismiss them, at an early date.

Secretary of State Clark recently denied applications of both Somerville and Davis for places on the ballot.

Somerville, he said, was a candidate for congress in the first Democratic primary, the party's nominating convention, in Dallas Sept. 1, should have been held not later than the second Tuesday in August, and the statutory procedure for making the nomination had not been followed.

Got On Through Mistake

Somerville's petition asserted he had intended to run for congress, but had filed his first account of expenses with the secretary of state after the legal date, and thereupon had abandoned the intention. His name got on the primary ballot through mistake, he said.

Clark refused Davis' application for ballot listing on grounds it was filed Oct. 1 whereas the legal deadline was Sept. 26, and for the further reason he did not agree the procedure for organization of the Peoples Pension party and the method of nomination were "reasonable."

Davis' petition contended the application had been filed within the statutory time limit and that the convention in San Antonio Sept. 7 and procedure in connection with the party organization and the nomination were legal.

Slaton Girl Is Elected Queen

Balloting Thursday, students of Texas Technological college selected Minnie Will Wootton of Slaton as queen of La Remuda, Block and Bridle club celebration to be conducted the night of Oct. 15.

Miss Wootton represented Sans Souci club. She is a junior arts and sciences student.

Other Rankings Given

James Huffman, president of the student body, said other candidates ranked in the following order: Gloriadel Bowen, Sterling City, representing Las Chaparritas club; Annie Rooney of Fort Stockton, Las Vivarachas club; Ella Norene Moreman, Post, Ko Shafi club; and Estelle Hodel, Lockney, DFD club.

Harlan J. Wills from Eola is director of this year's La Remuda. The entertainment has been offered several years in place of the rodeo formerly conducted annually. The program will include a bicycle derby in which faculty members will participate, a milking contest, a livestock exhibit, and other features.

Theme Song Of Next Session Of Legislature Is Economy

AMARILLO, Oct. 6. (AP)—The next legislature will "take a stab, anyway" at W. Lee O'Daniel's pension program but the theme song of the session which opens in January will be economy, Rep. Emmett Morse of Houston, probable next speaker of the Texas house, said here tonight.

Morse and his wife visited here with Rep. and Mrs. Jack Little of Amarillo and Rep. and Mrs. Max Boyer of Perryton.

The Houston legislator said there is little doubt that economy moves "which will prove fruitful" will be launched in the legislature.

Intense Rivalry Is In Prospect

Special Assessment For Work To Be Continued; Fund Of $500,000 Will Be Raised

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 6—Delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention, facing prospect of more intense rivalry with the C. I. O. in the industrial field, voted animously today to retain for other year a special assessment expanded organization work.

Recommendation of the executive council that the federation continue the levy of one cent a member month, was endorsed.

To Raise Half Million

Federation officials estimated the levy would raise close to $500,000 to finance the extension of the A. F. of L. organizing drive, not only in the craft unions, but in fields where industrial unionism is suitable, such as cement, aluminum manufacturing, textiles, chemical, lumber and agriculture.

Applauding the federation's organization drive in the past 12 months which cost the A. F. of L. $1,171,014, President William Green assured the delegates they could "look forward to even greater gains in the next year."

Credentials Approved

The convention leaders brought the special assessment matter to a vote after the convention agreed earlier in the day to conditionally approve the disputed credentials of the International Typographical union delegates, whose organization had refused to pay the assessment.

Responding to the plea of A. F. of L. President William Green not to force the printers' union out of the federation, the convention voted unanimously to seat the I. T. U. delegates "on probation" until they decided by a membership referendum whether they pay up a special assessment levied a year ago as an aftermath of the split with CIO.

The A. F. of L. constitution provides that any affiliated union three months or more in arrears on dues or assessment payments "shall become suspended from membership."

Appeals To Convention

To avoid an arbitrary setting aside of the constitutional provision, Green and Claude G. Baker, new president of the ITU, appealed to the convention to seat the delegates until the referendum recently initiated by the Chicago ITU local settles the long standing controversy over payment of the special assessment.

The credentials committee recommended seating the ITU delegation,

It Was A Long, Hard Pull But The Taylors Made It---1,365 Miles On Bicycles With Soap-Box Trailers And Five Children

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 6.—It was a long, hard pull but the Taylors made it—1,365 miles on bicycles and soap-box trailers from Omaha, Neb., to Dallas in 32 days.

The heroes of this uncovered-wagon saga are Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, who set out July 7 with their five children heading for a new home, a job and a look at the state fair here. The parents hooked up two-wheeled home-made trailers (about the size of a child's wagon) to their bicycles, put the children in and headed for Denver.

At night the family piled out, rolled up in blankets and slept till dawn. Two pairs of tires wore out. The family lived on about 40 cents a day.

From the bicycling Taylors' standpoint, Colorado's mountains had their ups and downs—a hard pull uphill meant an easy ride down. The "toughest going" of all came in the Panhandle down to Amarillo, Tex., where the seemingly endless plains stretched for long miles between towns.

Artists Of Rare Talent Will Be Presented In Recital Here Saturday

The Woman's Angle

By Mildred Tipps

LUBBOCK will be host to hundreds of visitors Saturday with Mothers' and Dads' day being observed at Texas Technological college and members of the South Plains Music Teachers association attending a fall meeting and fine arts program.

A complete program for the Tech observance is being published elsewhere in today's paper. The visitors are being asked to come to the lounge of the women's dormitory on the campus to register between 10 a.m. and noon Saturday. We liked the letter Doctor Kent and student council President Huffman sent which described the occasion as being an opportunity for a closer association between the parents, the student body and the faculty. We hope the parents will not disappoint them; sons and daughters in not going when so much has been planned for their enjoyment.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR MISS TURNER: Here is your pickle recipe. Sorry to have waited so long as I enjoy your column so much but just kept thinking some one there in Lubbock would call you and give it to you.

This one is good as I have tried it myself, 1 gallon vinegar, 1 pound sugar (more if preferred), 1 pound salt, 1 pound black pepper, 1 pound ground mustard, a small amount of alum.

Mix, put in a keg. Pack cucumbers in and weigh down with plate or something heavy. Cucumbers may be added every day. Keep them covered with the solution and they will keep nicely. If you wish you may boil the ingredients so they will dissolve better but let it cool before pouring over cucumbers. Thank you, Mrs. D. D. Thornhill, Crosbyton.

Thank you Mrs. Thornhill for your nice letter and for the pickle recipe.

THE ROSE FESTIVAL

WE HAVE A LETTER from a friend who attended the rose festival in Tyler and was slightly disappointed. Quoting, "The parade was nice and the floats were pretty. The town was decorated with flags and big artificial roses but the roses were artificial on the floats too and so it ruined the effect for many people. I walked over to see the rose exhibit but they had only one tent and as the admission charge was 25 cents I didn't go in."

Of course that's only the opinion of one person but we're sure there's truth in it. We wonder if it wouldn't be possible for the South Plains Dahlia society to sponsor a similar show, except exhibiting dahlias, next fall, and make it real flowers and free. People would come for miles around to see these large plate-sized flowers we believe, if the interest manifested at the exhibit of the recent fair is any indication.

South Plains CMA Members Invited To Attend SPMTA Meeting Concerts

Feature of the afternoon program of the annual fall meeting of the South Plains Music Teachers association in Lubbock Saturday will be two hours of rare musical entertainment.

Frank Mannheimer, American born London pianist who is touring the United States; Julien Paul Blitz, cellist; Mrs. Blitz, piano accompanist, and Carl Wiesemann, accomplished organist and member of the Texas State College for Women, Denton, music faculty, will be presented in recital.

Members of the South Plains Civic Music association will be admitted to the recitals upon presentation of their membership cards. Others interested in attending may procure tickets at 50 cents each from Mrs. T. W. Waddill of 2306 Jefferson street or at the South Plains Music store. Members of the MacDowell club will serve as ushers at the recitals, which begin at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist church auditorium. Miss Mary Dunn, program chairman, has announced.

Mr. Mannheimer is the only American pianist on the London staff of the famous Tobias Matthay school of music; he is the only pianist invited to participate in the first Festival of American Music ever held in Europe, and he was the only American pianist ever invited to play more than once at the annual music festivals of the International Society for Contemporary Music, which meets annually in a different country. He has played before it in Vienna, Italy and Oxford, England.

He has appeared in all of the musical centers of Europe — Paris, Rome, Berlin, The Hague, Amsterdam, Glasgow, London—and in this country, according to information sent by his American representative.

Well-Known Here

Mr. and Mrs. Blitz need no recommendation to Lubbock music lovers. They will play a sonata recital which will include: Allegro agitato, sonata, Op. 36 (Grieg 1843-1907); andante, sonata, Op. 6 (Strauss) and allegretto poco mosso, violin sonata (Franck, 1822-1890).

Mr. Wiesemann, whose organ recital in Lubbock two years ago was enthusiastically received, will play choral preludes.

The S. P. M. T. A. session will be opened for registration at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning in the Senior high school auditorium, with Miss Gertrude Rasco of Brownfield presiding.

NIGHT COUGHING CAN OFTEN BE PREVENTED

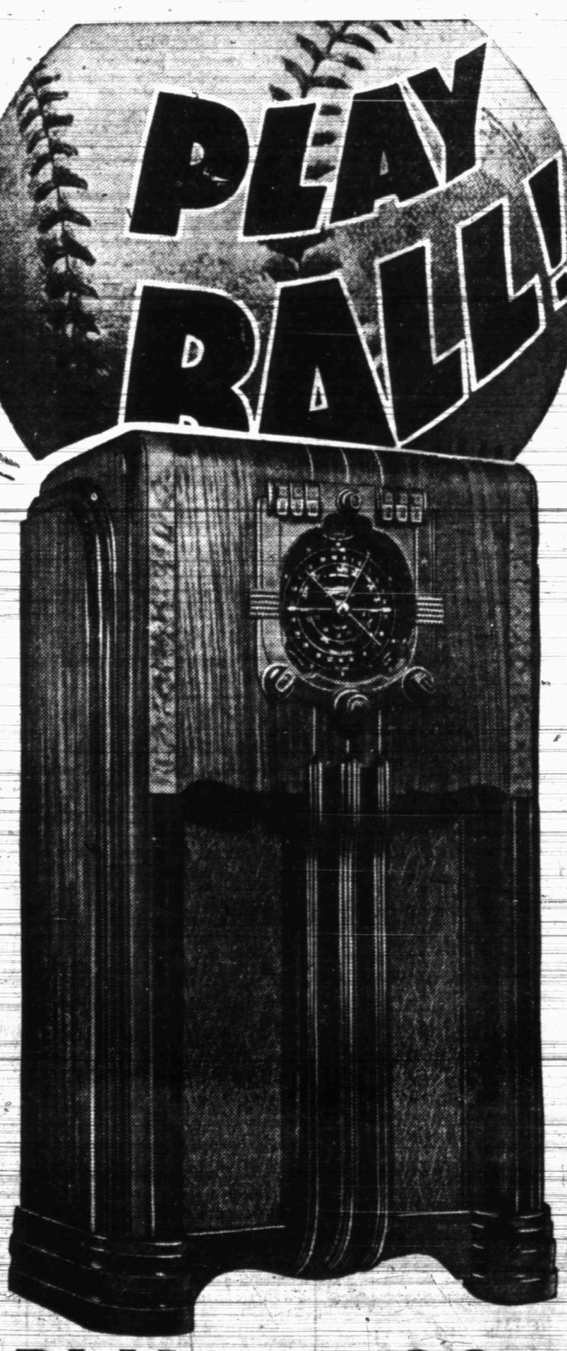

If your child often coughs at night because of even a slight cold—do this at bedtime: Thoroughly massage Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action tends to keep the air-passages clear, helping to maintain normal breathing through the nose, and so reducing mouth-breathing (the frequent cause of night coughs). Try it tonight—learn for yourself another reason why VapoRub is a family standby in more homes than all other medications of its kind put together.

THANKS TO Syrup of BLACK-DRAUGHT

WHEN your child becomes less keen and lively than usual, it may be a warning signal of constipation. If so, try Syrup of Black-Draught. He won't mind taking it—the taste is pleasant! And there is nothing in it that can harm a child's delicate intestinal system when given according to directions. The most active ingredient—medically known as "an intestinal tonic laxative"—has been approved in medicine for centuries. Remember Syrup of Black-Draught and keep it handy.

Political Acts Being Probed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee told Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today he was wrong in approving political activity by the internal revenue collector at Baltimore. The committee added that it would ask the senate to act on the case.

The collector, M. Hampton Magruder, has acknowledged telling non-civil service employes in his office he intended to support Representative David J. Lewis, later defeated for the Democratic senatorial nomination by Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Action Had Approval

Morgenthau recently said the collector's action was proper and had his approval.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) replied today:

"On the contrary, the committee believes the action of the collector of internal revenue was a violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the law; . . . that no excuse is to be found for it, and that the action of the collector is to be severely condemned."

The committee also announced it would report to the senate its findings in an investigation of charges that Homer M. Adkins, Arkansas collector of internal revenue, was guilty of undue political activity in the senate campaign in that state.

It dismissed political fraud charges made by Representative Gomer Smith (D-Okla), defeated in the senatorial primary, and said there was no basis to reports HOLC employes were assessed for political purposes in South Dakota.

Professor Discovers There's Logic Behind Many Names

URBANA, Ill., Oct. 6. (AP)—A search for the origin of names led Prof. H. G. Paul of the University of Illinois into some odd discoveries.

He found, for instance, that different nationalities have their own way of designating "the son of" somebody. Thus, Johnson and Peterson mean "son of John" and "son of Peter" in Scandinavian names.

"Ston," as in Johnston, has the same meaning in Northern England, while the prefix "O" means the same thing in Ireland, as in O'Malley and O'Brien.

In Scotland "Mac" was prefixed to a name for the same reason. In Poland they added "ski" and in Russia the ending "vitz" was used.

Sometimes people adopted names designating occupations, such as Smith, which in Germany became Schmidt, meaning that class of artisans. Then, too, there were bankers, bakers, shoemakers, fishers, etc.

Names often indicated places of origin such as Ingalls, meaning English; Scott, meaning Scottish; Dennis, meaning Danish. Sometimes they revealed a bit of vanity concerning personal characteristics, such as strong, bright or swift.

Birth Rate Of Bears In Park Increasing; Rangers Puzzled

ESTES PARK, Colo., Oct. 6 (AP)—A sudden increase in the birth rate among bears of Rocky Mountain national park has rangers and naturalists puzzled.

Until last year there were believed to be only about 30 bears in the entire park. This year reports from innkeepers and summer residents indicated the number has been doubled.

In two widely separated places mother bears with triplet cubs have been seen frequently.

Spotting Spies Is Special Course Taught In Russia

MOSCOW, Oct. 6. (AP)—Detection of spies is being taught to red army officers and political commissars, the latter the communist party's "eyes and ears" among the troops.

A new course in their training classes is entitled, "Methods of the struggle against spying, wrecking diversion and terrorist activity of the intelligence services of capitalist countries and of their Trotskyist-Bukharinite agents."

Another indication of the interest in secret police activities was the announcement that a detachment of troops in Middle Asia would climb, as part of their training a mountain in Tajikistan named "Mount Red Intelligence Service."

Investigating, she was able to pick more than 50 turkeys out of the shells. The young birds are now thriving on her acres.

The eggs lay on some warm ashes and Mrs. Garrett believes the heat helped hatch them.

Catfish Takes Summer Of Heat Better Than Pair Of Galoshes But He Is Barely Alive

TULSA, Oct. 6. (AP)—A catfish can take a summer of heat better than a pair of galoshes.

When school closed last spring everybody forgot all about Arsenic, a catfish placed in a small aquarium so high school science students could observe his habits.

Arsenic has just been rescued, barely alive, with little more than some damp sand to support him. A pair of galoshes, also forgotten in the room, had melted into a gooey mess.

Arsenic had enough vigor left to jab a fin into his rescuer's hand. He's to go back to the pond he came from.

South American Animals Are Placed Together; No Fights

CHICAGO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Brookfield zoo, Chicago, is trying a new experiment by throwing together all of its South American animals, birds and reptiles. So far everything has been peaceful—just one large happy family.

Director Edward Bean hopes there will be no fights between the snakes, rheas, alpacas, anteaters, storks and tortoises, although the creatures never lived this close together in their natural habitat.

Bean says this is the first time a zoo has tried putting such mammals, birds and reptiles together and that if it works he will try establishing a North American colony next.

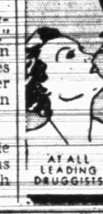

"While we have no barriers between the South American species," he said, "we would have hidden moats separating bears and wolves and possibly snakes from the other animals in the North American group."

Owner Of Lion Faces Charges

WILDWOOD, N. J., Oct. 6. (AP)—A boardwalk side show operator, whose circus lion escaped, killed a man and terrorized this resort city for nearly three hours before a policeman's bullet killed it, was released under $5,000 bail today on a charge of manslaughter.

Joseph Dobis, 51, the lion's owner, was arraigned before Recorder Leonard Byrne in connection with the death last night of Thomas Saito, 37, of Philadelphia, a Japanese auction room employe whose mangled body was found under the oceanfront boardwalk.

Police said they had not yet learned how the beast, one of two owned by Dobis, had escaped from the cage.

Was Strapped To Motorcycle

Until five weeks ago the 300 pound killer known as "Tuffy" was one of two lions strapped to a motorcycle side car while the driver roared around a steep-walled bowl called the "wall of death." Since then "Tuffy" had been inactive.

Sometime last night in a manner as yet undertermined "Tuffy" escaped from the cage and roamed the nearby boardwalk. Seven weeks ago he broke loose also and at that time was forced back into his cage, but not before scratching his owner.

Screen Of Balloons For Paris Rejected

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—The French government rejected today the suggestion of the Paris city fathers that this capital be protected by an eight-mile screen of captive balloons linked with cables and wire all around the metropolitan area and extending to a height of 2,000 feet.

The government's reply, signed by Vice Premier Camille Chautemps, said 3,000 baloons and a ground crew of 40,000 men, with an initial cost of 2,000,000,000 francs (about $52,000,000), would be necessary to carry out such a scheme.

Furthermore, the government reply said, "it might be possible for an enemy to equip its planes to cut the wires and cables."

Government officials said it would be far more practical and cheaper to evacuate the whole capital in the event of war.

Hold To All That Is Good Is The Advice Given By Pastor

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6. (AP)—"Hold to everything that is good; fight against all evil," was the theme of an address made here today by Rev. T. J. Wilbanks, Presbyterian pastor of Texarkana. Dr. Wilbanks spoke at the Kiwanis club luncheon, where members of the Dallas club were special guests.

"During these days when a state of uneasiness envelops the United States over foreign conditions, citizens must maintain their balance," Dr. Wilbanks said. "We are not dodging issues nor are we cowards but let us be sure before we fight that we know we are fighting for something worthwhile."

Sliver Of Glazed Carbon Used To Conquer One Of The Worst Hazards Of Aviation

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

EAST HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 6.—Using a sliver of glazed carbon worth less than a nickel, research engineers after eight years have conquered one of the worst hazards of flying—breakage of propellers under vibration.

Eric Martin, chief engineer for the Hamilton standard propeller division of United Aircraft Corp., announced the answer to whipping vibration, similar to the "shimmy" in the front wheels of an automobile, is a piece of carbon two inches long, a quarter of an inch wide and one-sixteenth of an inch thick.

Cemented To Blade

It is cemented to a blade and connected by two fine wires to an electrical measuring device inside the plane's cabin. The carbon strip behaves peculiarly. As it bends under stress it can "carry" less electrical current.

The propeller blade vibrates as the motor starts, the carbon strip vibrates with it, and a picture of the motion is written on a drum similar to those used to record earthquake movements.

By reading the drum, engineers can tell where the vibration—which is transmitted to the propeller—originates and correct it.

LOCAL ENGAGEMENTS

HENDAYE, France — (At The Spanish Frontier)—Oct. 6. (AP)—Dispatches from both government and insurgent factions today indicated that fighting in the Spanish civil war, although some of the bitterest yet seen, was being confined to local engagements on the Ebro river front.

Spry
The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening
TRIPLE-CREAMED!

CHOCO-MALLOW CAKE

½ cup Spry
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 ounces chocolate, melted
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup milk
24 marshmallows

Combine Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. (Done in no time with smooth, creamy Spry!) Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add melted chocolate and blend well.

Add baking powder and soda to flour and sift 3 times. Add small amounts of flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Pour batter into two 8-inch layer pans greased with Spry. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. (See what fine, even grain Spry cakes have. Use Spry in this recipe to be sure of best results!)

Cut marshmallows in halves with scissors. Pressing cut sides against cake, arrange on top of each layer. Spread Choco-mallow Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

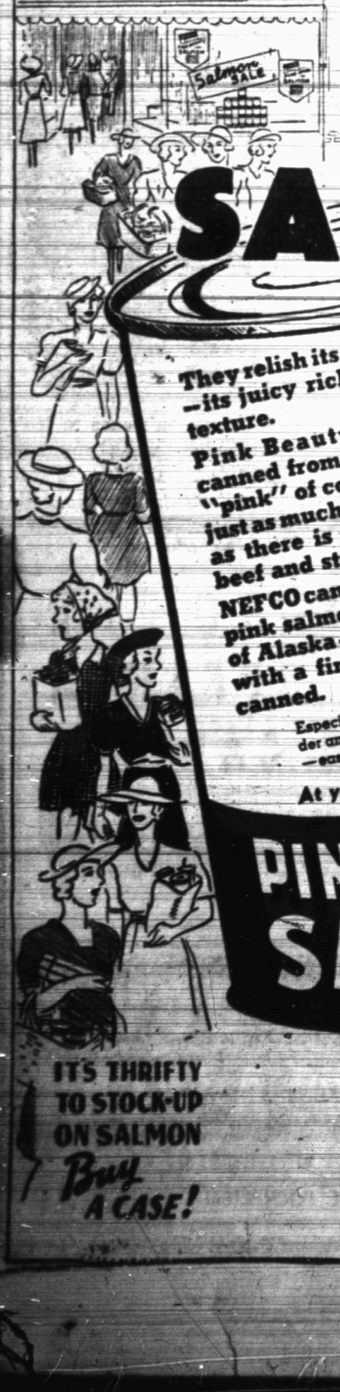

CHOCO-MALLOW FROSTING

3 tablespoons Spry
1½ tablespoons butter
4 ounces chocolate
7 tablespoons hot milk
2¼ cups sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon vanilla

Melt Spry, butter and chocolate together over hot water. (Spry makes frostings deliciously creamy, beautifully glossy.) Pour hot milk over combined sugar and salt and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add vanilla. Add chocolate mixture and beat until smooth and thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to put between layers and on top and sides of Choco-mallow Cake.

Congress Elections In November May Provide Clue To Campaign For 1940

Crowd Estimated At Over 1,000 On Hand For Tire Demonstration Here Thursday

A crowd estimated at more than 1,000 witnessed four tests of tires and tubes in a demonstration sponsored by Gunn-Hinerman, agents for Goodyear Life Guard tubes yesterday afternoon on Avenue Q between Eighth and Ninth streets. Three tests were for tires to be blown out by a dynamite cap and the fourth to run over spikes 3½ inches tall.

Fred C. Recer of Akron, Ohio, Life Guard demonstrator, drove the car. In three demonstrations three men were asked to ride in the machine to see how much vibration there was. First test was the explosion of a cap in the right front tire. Horace Hawkins, Jack Douglas and J. Sam Lewis were in the car. Second test was with an ordinary tire and Recer drove alone.

On the third test L. L. Massey, G. A. Ditmore and Carl Maxey accompanied Recer and the right rear tire was tested. On the fourth trip, when a plate with nine spikes fastened to it was placed on the street and crossed by both front and rear left tires, J. R. Evans, W. E. Lavender and W. W. Rix were in the party.

After the close of the demonstrations Douglas was presented with a bronze plaque for having had a tire blowout without any damage of any kind. C. M. Hines of Oklahoma City, district Life Guard representative made the presentation.

Most of the cars and the crowd were stationed between Eighth and Ninth streets, although there was an overflow for a block or more on either side of the test block. Recer drove to Main and Avenue Q as a starting point. On three of the tests he attained a speed of over 60 miles an hour when he exploded the dynamite. He drove the car to Sixth street, turned and returned to the starting point, arriving before the air had completely left the inner tubes.

Officers Handle Traffic

Traffic Officer Lewis Kittrell of the city police force and two of his men, with several state highway patrolmen, handled the traffic problem. Scheduled to start at 5:15 o'clock, the test got under way about 5:30.

Recer said he had been engaged in this testing work for four and a half years and that he "guessed I have exploded 10,000 detonator caps in as many tubes and I have never had an accident." The company, he added, had made many improvements in that time, each seeking to better conditions.

Varied Guesses Being Offered

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—A novel yardstick for measuring election day results in November is developing while the 1938 campaign thunders toward an end.

It is based on the expressed belief of observers, including both Republican and Democratic leaders, that there will be more Republicans in the next house of representatives. Their estimates range from inside Democratic calculations of not more than 25 to predictions of Republican optimists that the party will pick up 100 house seats. That establishes something approaching a consensus as to where to look in the November election returns for a guide to what voters of the nation are thinking now and what they may do in 1940 when another presidential election comes.

The Greatest Surprise

Aside from President Roosevelt's re-election sweep of all but two states in the 1936 campaign, the fact that the Democrats increased their ranks in the house was the greatest political surprise of that year. A majority of objective political analysts expected party decreases in the house then, even while anticipating victory for the president. Such reactions have usually occurred within two years of a presidential sweep. Democratic increases in both houses and senate in 1934 and 1936 set a new precedent.

The feeling that normal ebbing of the Democratic tide of 1932, '34 and '36 overdue now has more to do with present estimates by party forecasters than any actual check-up on prababilities in the 400-odd inter-party contests for house seats.

Whether Republican increases in the next house prove nearer 25 or 100 seems likely to provide the chief foot-rule used by political students to test 1940 probabilities by 1938 results.

Ghost City In Florida Gets Ready For Religions Meet

INTERCESSION CITY, Fla., Oct. 6. (AP)—The Household of Faith, a non-denominational Christian sect, has taken over Interocean City, once a ghost town, and is converting it into a vocational training center for young men and women.

Promoters spent nearly a million dollars during the boom days of 1925 in developing the new city, by building a hotel, an apartment house, stores, a factory and residences.

The boom collapsed and only 12 persons were living here three years ago when J. W. Wile, Indianapolis philanthropist, gave the town and 5,000 acres of land to the Household of Faith.

Miss Osie English, leader of the movement, said persons from 19 states are now living and studying in the community. Old buildings have been renovated and new ones erected.

"What Have I Done To Deserve This?" Are Killer's Last Words Before Own Death

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 7 (AP) (Friday)—Sardonic Adam Richetti, a forgotten man of the big time public enemies, died in Missouri's lethal gas chamber early today for the part he played in Kansas City's union station massacre of 1933.

"What have I done to deserve this?" he murmured as authorities strapped him into the chair at six minutes after midnight. Eight minutes later he was dead.

Last Of Floyd Gang

The convict, last remnant of "Pretty Boy" Floyd's outlaw band, was condemned as one of the trigger men in the Kansas City union station massacre of 1933.

Four officers and their prisoner were killed in the bungled attempt to free Frank Nash, an escaped convict, from authorities returning him to prison. A burst of gunfire greeted officers as they transferred Nash from a train to an automobile in front of the Kansas City station.

Killed were Otto Reid, McAlister, Okla., police chief; Federal Agent R. J. Caffrey; two Kansas City policemen, William J. Grooms and Frank E. Hermanson, and the prisoner Nash.

A check of long distance telephone calls and a smeared thumb print on an empty beer bottle finally led officers to the names of three notorious gunmen — "Miller, Floyd, and Richetti." Only Richetti lived to face a jury.

ADAM RICHETTI

Verne Miller was killed in a gang feud near Detroit.

Charles Arthur Floyd, the "pretty boy" bank robber, was slain by Ohio officers as he fled from the trap in which his pal, Richetti, was captured. That was almost four years ago.

Six months later Richetti was convicted of killing Hermanson and sentenced to die.

Three New Departments Added To Nazi Propaganda In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP) — Arnold Gingrich, editor of Ken magazine, told the house committee investigating "un-American" activities today the German gestapo service section No. 2, nazi propaganda organization, had added three new departments in the last year, all devoted to espionage in the United States.

Gingrich testified that department 23 specialized in obtaining American manufacturing and industrial secrets; department 24 in military intelligence and department 25 in nazi propaganda.

Radio Gives Indians Ideas; They Strike

JUNEAU, Alaska, Oct. 6. (AP)—Harper Reed, dominion Indian agent for northern British Columbia, is wondering whether installing a radio at the Telegraph Creek winter school for Indian women was such a good idea.

All went well, Reed reported, until a score of Indians mushed into Telegraph Creek two weeks before the end of the beaver trapping season, and relaxed.

Ordered back to their trap lines, the leaders replied: "We sit. We get what we want. Him city man all same—talking box say so."

Then Reed realized what had happened. The radio he had given the Indians had informed them of sit-down strikes in metropolitan centers. There was a peaceful settlement when Reed explained government rations wouldn't be continued without work.

It has been the theory of some scientists that the earth's continents were much nearer to each other in past ages than they are now. South America, Antarctica, Australia, and India can be fitted around Africa like pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. According to the men holding to this theory, the continents actually floated away.

Additional Funds For Mapping Texas' Watersheds To Be Sought By Delegates

Water Control Plan Outlined

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—Delegates attending a conference here today sought additional funds for mapping Texas' watersheds and gathering other hydrographical data in an attempt to broaden the scope of water conservation and utilization.

Under sponsorship of the Texas Watershed association, the conferees adopted resolutions asking:

Would Extend Life

The legislature to extend the life of the Texas planning board which expires March 16, 1939.

State and federal agencies to conduct further experiments looking to the replenishments of underground water reservoirs.

The legislature to adopt measures which will properly control surface and underground water supplies.

The Texas delegation in congress to urge continued financial aid for water and soil conservation.

Tom Connally Speaks

At a final session Sen. Tom Connally said Texas could expect "cheerful cooperation" from the federal government in whatever the state might do by way of appropriations or measures to stimulate interest in preserving natural resources.

"Texas is just beginning to wake up to the idea our resources are not boundless and that we must preserve what we have," Connally said.

Annual Report For Governor

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—Expansion of the field of permissible investments for life insurance companies was recommended today by R. L. Daniel, Texas life insurance commissioner.

In an annual report to Governor James V. Allred, Daniel said large investments made by governmental agencies, as well as other agencies, at low interest rates had compelled insurance companies to invest in low interest bearing securities, in some instances lower than the rate required to maintain reserves.

Daniel said the net earnings of insurance companies had dropped from an average of 5.15 per cent in 1930 to 3.83 per cent in 1937.

Should Use Caution

He warned, however, expansion of the scope of authorized investments should be effected cautiously and legislation along that line "should be safeguarded against the possibility of opening the way for speculative or unsafe investments . . ."

Daniel asserted insurance departments of some states had been disposed in some instances not to license Texas companies, nothwithstanding that those states have companies doing business in Texas.

He suggested the board of insurance commissioners be given authority to refuse or cancel licenses of companies domiciled in another state where "such unfair and illegal treatment is accorded insurance companies domiciled in this state."

Man Blows His Own Horn Every Time He Pays Visit To Bank; It's Just Habit

George H. Neureuther makes pay day an even bigger occasion by tooting his home-made bugle when he arrives at the bank. He uses the extra funnel in his right hand to step up the volume.

★ ★ ★

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Regularly, twice a month, the martial notes of a bugle sound on the doorstep of a downtown bank here.

Customers look surprised, but bank clerks know it's George H. Neureuther coming to deposit his latest pay check. He's been doing it for 28 years.

"It's just a habit," he explains.

Neureuther is a Lehigh Valley railroad switchman, his bugle is home-made, and besides playing it at the bank he toots it on his way downtown.

"The cops all know me and if I don't play when I go down Main Street they all say, 'What's the matter? Give us a tune,'" he said.

"So I play 'Taps,' 'Reveille' or 'Pay Day.' But usually I play 'pay day.'"

His bugle consists of a mouthpiece, a five-foot rubber hose and a funnel. The music comes out of the funnel, and by using a larger funnel he gets louder notes.

"I call it 'trench horn,'" he said. "If you stand in a trench and blow one of those regular bugles, someone will bean you.

"But you can put one end of this outside, and blow your calls from a dugcut and be perfectly safe."

Nippon Cafe Girl Rewarded, Fined For Honest Deed

TOKYO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Being a good girl after being a bad girl turned out to be poor business for Sumiko Terada, beautiful Tokyo cafe hostess.

Not long ago, a patron came to the bar where Miss Terada entertains. He flourished a healthy roll, bought drinks for the house, presented her with a huge bouquet of flowers. Then he suggested she accompany him to a restaurant after the bar closed at midnight.

She did. There, she learned he had stolen the money. While he slept, she notified the police. They arrested the man, praised her for her civic virtue, gave her a reward, three yen.

Then, with typical Japanese justice, they fined her 10 yen for violating the ordinance that prohibits cafe girls from accompanying patrons after midnight.

Net loss—seven yen.

Pleistocene Bison Is Found Intact Near Alaskan City

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Oct. 6. (AP)—Unlike fossil remains, which ordinarily consist only of bones, a baby bison of the pleistocene age has been discovered near here by workers under the University of Alsaka.

Much of the flesh structure of the ancient animal is intact. It was preserved in the frozen muck of a creek bed.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast may give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonic, vitamin B_1. All-Bran is not a drug, not a medicine. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Special Labor Study Urged

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 6. (AP)—A recommendation for the appointment of a special commission to investigate domestic labor conditions in the hope of bringing peace to labor's factions was made today to President Roosevelt by Heywood Broun and Morris Watson of the American Newspaper guild, who reported he was giving the matter consideration.

Broun said the commission might make a study of labor conditions at home similar to that made recently by a special fact-finding committee in Great Britain and Sweden.

Like that which investigated abroad, the proposed new group would make no recommendations, Broun said, but it might contribute materially to labor peace by making known facts on the present situation.

Broun added that creation of a special commission would avoid the necessity for a peace gesture by either the American Federation of

Ten Fliers Jump To Safety When Two Airplanes Fall

LONDON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Ten fliers, the crews of two Royal Airforce planes, parachuted to safety today when their planes crashed. One fell over Yorkshire, the other over the English channel. Both were believed to have been struck by lightning.

The air ministry reported that a third Royal Airforce plane, also with a crew of five, had been missing since last midnight.

Late-Inning Home Runs Of Yankees Spoil Dean's Great Pitching Exhibition

DiMag, Crosetti Hit For Circuit In Second Win

courageous Dizzy and his mates. In the ninth, Tommy Henrich singled to right.

Then DiMaggio smashed Dean's first pitch over the left field wall. It cleared the 35-foot barrier by 15 feet.

As the Yankee bench went wild, Manager Gabby Hartnett and Dean knew the curtain to a great drama had fallen. Dean was taken out and he trudged off the field, head down.

Senor Gomez Is Happy

In the Yanks clubhouse was another picture—an almost delirious skinny pitcher—Senor Gomez. Although relieved by Johnny Murphy at the start of the eighth, the happy senor was the game winner and the first pitcher in history to win six World series games without a defeat.

The day started as it ended for Dizzy, who missed his chance to pay back Owner P. K. Wrigley for the $185,000 he paid the Cardinals for his contract last spring.

His Cub mates, led by Joe Marty, gave him a one-run lead in the first on singles by Stanley Hack and Frank Demaree, the first of two errors by Red Rolfe and a drive to centerfield by Marty. But in the second they threw it away.

But Dean Tightens Up

DiMaggio singled to left and took second as Lou Gehrig worked Dean for the only walk Diz gave. Here Diz tightened, forcing dangerous Bill Dickey to pop to Bill Jurges and Selkirk to loft to centerfield.

Joe Gordon, next up, got just a piece of the ball and it hopped toward shortstop, apparently a simple out. But Hack and Jurges rushed in, scrambled for the ball and collided as the pellet rolled out to short left field, letting DiMaggio and Gehrig score.

But Cub groans turned to cheers as the team, again led by Marty, drove two runs across to take the lead. Hack beat out a single to deep short and took second as Billy Herman beat out another on a hit and run play to short. Frank Demaree sacrificed and Marty slammed a liner between DiMaggio and Henrich for a double to send them home.

Gomez In Trouble

Gomez was in trouble thereafter as Dean set the Yankees down in order over four of the next five innings. Not once did the senor go on a single inning without a man getting on base. Once Rolfe's second error of the game put a runner on the paths.

Murphy also failed to set the Cubs down in order the two innings he worked and was threatened with a desperate Cub rally in the ninth when Jurges walked and Phil Cavarretta, pinch hitting for Larry French, Dean's successor, singled. But Hack ended the rally by popping to Crosetti.

The hilarious Yankees hustled off for their train back to New York where the series resumes Saturday at Yankee stadium. Manager Joe McCarthy, a bit breathless after the victory, said he planned to start Monte Pearson, the club's no-hit pitcher, in the New York opener. Manager Gabby Hartnett had only one choice, Clay Bryant.

Somehow, the downcast Cubs didn't seem to care much if they went to New York or not. Their task now of keeping the Yankees from becoming the first club to win three World series in succession appears as hopeless as Dizzy Dean at that tragic moment he saw Crosetti's home run drop into the seats.

Praise Is Lavished On Diz For Stout-Hearted Display

CHICAGO, Oct. 6. (AP)—"I throwed myself out."

With these four words Dizzy Dean told the story of his gallant pitching in the chill of Wrigley field today with the Yankees lambasting him for two home runs, after he had them in check with his marvelous cunning until the eighth inning.

Dean appeared to be crushed. His face had a weary expression. He was tired. He complained that his right arm pained him severely from the sixth inning and said it felt as if a piece of bone was sticking out of his shoulder.

Says Yanks Were Lucky

Larry French, Cub lefthander, came to the clubhouse, walked silently across the room to where Dean was standing and threw his arms around him. No word was spoken; none was needed.

"I throwed myself out," Dean moaned. "I had them beat 2 to 2 until Crosetti hit his homer. Those things just happen and you can't help it. Those first two runs should never have scored. The Yankees were the luckiest ball club in the last two days that I ever saw."

"I gave them all I had—that's all I could do."

The Cubs, with Manager Gabby Hartnett, were silent, downcast and all but crushed when they entered the clubhouse. No words were spoken at first.

Gabby Praises Great One

Hartnett appeared to be tremendously upset. After resting a few minutes, he launched into praise of Dean's pitching performance.

"Dean pitched his heart out," Hartnett said. "Even with a bad arm, he still gave me the best he had. What he couldn't do with a good arm. I'm praying that his arm comes back next season. What a guy, what a guy."

Hartnett said he would start Clay Bryant, big raw-boned right-hander, against the Yankees in New York Saturday and would present the same line-up that started today.

Dickey Says Dagoes Did It

The Yankees' dressing room rang with whoops and cries of victory.

"The Dagoes did it," shouted Big Bill Dickey.

Joe DiMaggio and Frank Crosetti, the home run heroes of the day, grinned their appreciation.

"East side, west side," chanted the venerable Art Fletcher.

Asked what was on the ball he had driven over the left field wall, DiMaggio replied:

"It was a fairly fast one — the same sort of thing he got me on before."

McCarthy Praises Dean's Heart

Manager Joe McCarthy obviously elated, paid frank tribute to "Dizzy" Dean.

"He's got one of those things," he said, patting his heart. "He's a good pitcher. No question about that. The boys were not used to his motion, but they really hit that ball when they got started."

Lefty Gomez, who established a new World series pitching record of six victories in a row, although he was taken out of today's game to make way for a pinch-hitter, commented:

"I shouldn't take that one, the way I pitched. They ought to give that one to Crosetti and DiMaggio and to McCarthy, too, for letting me stay in as long as he did."

Frank Crosetti And His Circuit Swing

Texas Schoolboy Grid Chase Warms Up This Week-End As Undefeated Teams Scrimmage

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Little Conroe, which crashed into the semi-finals of the state race last year only to take a walloping from the Champion Longview Lobos, bounced back off the ropes tonight for another fling at Texas schoolboy gridiron glory.

Conroe's team was practically wrecked with departure of Powder Harrell and other stars but has come back with a vim to gain the select circle of the state's 22 undefeated, untied teams. This week, however, the Tigers meet probably their greatest test in the District 13 race, taking on Austin of Houston at Conroe.

Austin is also unbeaten and untied and counts among its victims the Brackenridge team that is rated favorite in the San Antonio district.

The Austin-Conroe game headlines a week-end of important battles in which 12 districts swing into the conference grind. There are also 23 interdistrict battles on the card, featured by the clash of the Cleburne Yellow Jackets and the Wichita Falls Coyotes at Wichita Falls tonight. Both are undefeated but Wichita Falls, state runner-up last season, has one tie on its record.

Things loo loose in the turbulent Oil Belt with the Sweetwater-Abilene game at Abilene today and the Brownwood-Ranger struggle at Ranger tonight. Sweetwater has become the favorite in the western division and Ranger, running up a fine record after years of being a doormat of the district, hopes to make a real showing in the eastern division.

Complete card for the week-end follows:

Childress vs. Arlington Heights (Fort Worth); Sweetwater vs. Abilene; Cisco vs. Mineral Wells, Ysleta vs. Austin (El Paso), Gainesville vs. Denton, McKinney vs. Denison, Tyler vs. Kilgore, Lufkin vs. Orange, Corsicana vs. Hillsboro, Waco vs. Waxahachie, Goose Creek vs. Milby (Houston), Robstown vs. San Benito, Mission vs. Raymondville, Sam Houston (Houston) vs. Davis (Houston).

The other teams with perfect records—Graham and Livingston—have open dates. Abilene plays Sweetwater in what may be the deciding game of the western division of the oil belt.

This week's schedule by districts:

District 1—Friday: Lawton, Okla., at Pampa, Borger at Plainview (conference). Saturday: Capitol Hill (Oklahoma City) at Amarillo.

District 2—Friday: Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) at Childress, Electra at Vernon (conference); Cleburne at Wichita Falls, Memphis at Quanah.

District 3—Friday: San Angelo at Big Spring (conference), Sweetwater at Abilene (conference), Olney at Breckenridge, Fort Worth Tech at Eastland, Brownwood at Ranger (conference), Mineral Wells at Cisco (conference), Austin Deaf and Dumb school at Stephenville.

District 4—Friday: Austin (El Paso) at Ysleta (conference), Pabens at Odessa (conference), Albuquerque, N. M., at El Paso high; Saturday: Lamesa at Bowie (El Paso).

District 5—Friday: Sulphur Springs at Paris, McKinney at Denison; Denton at Gainesville.

District 6—Friday: Longview at Highland Park (Dallas).

District 7—Thursday: Masonic Home (Fort Worth) vs. North Side (Fort Worth), (conference); Friday: Marshall at Riverside (Fort Worth).

District 8—Friday: Forest (Dallas) vs. Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), (conference); Saturday: Adamson (Dallas) vs. Dallas Tech (conference).

District 9 — Friday: Kilgore at Tyler (conference), Texarkana at Fair Park (Shreveport).

District 10—Friday: Mexia at Nacogdoches (conference), Athens at Palestine, Orange at Lufkin, Gaston at Henderson (conference).

District 11—Friday: Temple at Bryan (conference), Hillsboro at Corsicana (conference), Waxahachie at Waco (conference).

District 13—Friday: Junction at Kerrville, Harlandale (San Antonio) at Austin (conference), Corpus Christi at Brackenridge (San Antonio); Saturday: Gladewater at Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio).

District 13—Thursday: Davis (Houston) vs. Sam Houston (Houston), (conference); Friday: Austin (Houston) at Conroe (conference); San Jacinto (Houston) vs. Lamar (Houston), (conference); Saturday: North Dallas at Reagan (Houston).

District 14—Friday: San Antonio Tech at Galveston, Byrd (Shreveport) at Port Arthur, French (Beaumont) vs. South Park (Beaumont), Milby (Houston) at Goose Creek; Saturday: Sunset (Dallas) at Beaumont.

District 15—Friday: Mexico City at Laredo, Edinburg at Kingsville.

District 16—Friday: Robstown at San Benito, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Donna (conference), Raymondville at Mission, Harlingen at Weslaco, Mercedes at Brownsville.

Local Negroes Play Abilene

Dunbar, Lubbock's colored high school, eleven faces Abilene colored high school in a return meeting of the two at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Hubbert baseball field.

The locals absorbed a 26-6 defeat at Abilene last week and are anxious to acquit themselves. They figure they took the opponents too lightly and that they can outplay them on Lubbock soil.

Field Is Being Prepared

The baseball field is being shaped up for the grid encounter, with a playing field laid out so fans may witness the game from the grandstand.

Admittance price will be 25 and 35 cents.

Coach D. H. Hill of the Lubbock team plans to start the following lineup:

R. Knox and O. Leggons, ends; C. Jimmerson and H. C. Barnes, tackles; E. Moore and T. Douglas, guards; J. Tennyson, center; B. Thomas, quarter; B. Okra and L. Elderidge, halves; and H. Moore, full.

Motorcycle And Junk Car To Stage Duel This Afternoon

An issue that has been argued pro and con for weeks will be settled this afternoon.

A motorcycle will be matched against a regular junk car derby entry on the circus grounds tracks. If they prove equally matched a special event will pit motors and cars Sunday afternoon.

Beginning at 6 o'clock this afternoon trial runs will be made over the track, with the duel match as an added attraction.

The public may view today's race free.

NARCISSUS IN SIX DAYS

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. (AP)—Experimenting at forcing plant growth with chemicals, students of the local high school have succeeded in getting full-blown narcissus blossoms six days after the bulbs were planted.

Tom Harmon, Michigan's star sophomore halfback from Gary, Ind., says the buildup for a gridiron star is like perfume—to be inhaled but not swallowed.

Post Antelopes Spoil Tahoka's Football Party

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

TAHOKA, Oct. 6 — A valiant, scrapping kennel of Tahoka Bulldogs tried hard here tonight to make a complete success of Tahoka's celebration of its new football lighting system, but the main event of a five-hour dedicatory party was won by the more powerful and skillful Post Antelopes.

Coach John Dibrell's golden-clad Antelopes scampered away with a 24-7 victory in a District 5, Class B conference game after being held by the plucky Bulldogs to no score in the first half.

Approximately 2,000 fans, including bands and school men from more than half the schools in the district, greeted the switching on of Tahoka's new lighting plant, made possible through the campaigning of Superintendent W. T. Hanes and the fine cooperation of the Tahoka Rotary club members and many other Tahoka business men.

Slaton Band Wins

Five high school bands paraded in all their colorful uniforms and high-stepping styles in a pre-game ceremony. The crimson-club Slaton band, of about 80 pieces, took first prize in the band contest, with Post's smartly stepping musicians taking second place. Other bands competing represented Levelland, Littlefield and Lamesa.

Senator G. H. Nelson was principal speaker in the dedicatory service conducted in mid-field before the game. He followed Head Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech, who brought greetings from Lubbock and the college, on the program. Superintendent Hanes introduced various other special guests, including Jay Slaughter of Post and Frank Hill, presidents of school boards; superintendents of other district schools, and Judge Tom Garrard, who introduced Senator Nelson.

Previously Superintendent Hanes had been host at a big banquet served in the new gymnasium, during which Raymond Weathers, president of the Rotary club here, Judge Garrard and Superintendent M. L. H. Baze of Brownfield were speakers. More than 300 attended the banquet.

The Post and Tahoka grid teams fought to a standoff in the first half, although the bigger Antelopes carried the offensive battle. They were stopped twice near the Tahoka 30-yard line on their most dangerous threats in the first period. In the second, Tahoka threatened twice, scored one touchdown which was called back. Taking the ball on their own 17, the Bulldogs marched to the Antelope 18, Max Minor, quarterback, and J. H. Dyer, halfback, leading the attack. On the 18, Dyer threw a pass to Minor for touchdown, but both sides were offside, and the play ruled out.

Justice Leads Antelopes

The Post power, featuring the running of Mason Justice, Charlie Jenkins and Lawrence Carr, found itself in the third period. The Antelopes drove 80 yards for the first touchdown. Satterwhite carrying over from the 10-yard line on a wide end sweep. Later in the period, Carr went over from the 10 on the same kind of play.

Tahoka battled back early in the fourth, opened up with a forward passing attack with Dyer on the throwing end, Mason and Harrison receiving. A 50-yard drive ended on the 1-yard line when a pass was intercepted. Justice of Post got off a sensational punt from behind his goal line, batting it out of bounds on the Tahoka 40. Two plays later, Dyer drifted through tackle and raced 59 yards for Tahoka's only touchdown. Dyer kicked goal.

Satterwhite got loose for a 33-yard run for Post's third touchdown, and Carr took a pass from the 24 for the final counter late in the game. Post failed to convert any extra points.

Raider Coaches Put Stress On Defensive Work; Team Plays Goldbugs Saturday

A long round of defensive work, the coaches felt necessary for better team play, was the dose for Texas Tech's Red Raiders Thursday afternoon.

Pass defense was given its stress in a hard workout, but stopping of running plays primarily is of concern to the Raiders. Duquesne had slightly the edge in that department Friday night at Buffalo.

Reserves looked especially good in yesterday's session. The front-line troop is not yet completely recovered from the pummeling given them by the Dukes.

Plan Light Drill Today

Also on the practice card was smoothing up on new plays given out this week. Those plays feature plenty of ball changes, including lateral and forward passes, and are well adapted to Tech's faster backs.

A lighter drill is planned for this afternoon.

Those Oklahoma City university Goldbugs will be in town and ready for the kickoff at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night with their pesky offensive that always has proved dangerous to the Raiders. Close scores have been the order each time of their meetings.

Although the Goldbugs took a lacing at the hands of Texas Wesleyan Rams last week, they are considered good enough to upset a Tech applecart that may have lost some momentum in the hard fracas last week.

Guzick, Davis Out

Only Capt. Guzick and Big Bill Davis will be out of the lineup this week. Guzick is favoring a bad knee. Davis is confident that he will be ready to go in the next week or two although his knee also took a bad battering in Buffalo.

Tickets are on sale at all usual downtown places. They are selling at $1.65 a throw for reserved seats and $1.10 for general admission, both prices including taxes.

Parents pastboards may be reserved any time up to the kickoff Saturday night at the girls' dormitory on the college campus. Price for parents is $1.15 for especially reserved seats.

For kiddies under 12—there are no tickets. The Tech athletic department is setting aside a section in the north stands especially for all children who fall within that category on the South Plains. And to that section the kids will be given free admittance.

District 1 Elevens In Action Tonight

Smarting under a general letdown, featuring upsets, last week, District 1 clubs hit the rebound trail tonight and tomorrow to attempt proof that it isn't so.

Heading the week's schedule and of primary interest to fans of this section is the Borger-Plainview brush at Plainview. Both teams have been given loads of praise during early stages of the campaign and now comes the time for each to prove it.

Plainview has a head-start on other district members with a victory over Lamesa to its credit. Coach Vernon Hilliard supposedly has done wonders with the club and has it ready.

Coach Catfish Smith always has a fighting crew—witness, the 1937 Westerners—and plans to make this a Bulldog year.

Rivalling the battle of canines will be Pampa and Amarillo scraps with Oklahoma teams and Lamesa battle with Bowie High of El Paso.

The Harvesters recoil from a poor exhibition at Lamesa last week to face Lawton at Pampa tonight. Capitol Hill, the team that eked out on Lubbock, plays at Amarillo Saturday night.

The Golden Tornadoes play in the border city.

The Westerners bide their time until they meet Vernon here next week. They are getting a necessary rest this week.

Coaches Weldon Chapman and Goober Keyes chased their proteges through a light workout Thursday afternoon.

Lobo-Chief Tilt Heads B Slate

Over in Levelland tonight probably will be played the outstanding gridiron engagement absorbing District 5, Class B, teams with the Crosbyton Chiefs offering opposition to the Lobos.

Considerably weakened by loss of three players from the starting lineup, Coach Bill Stevens must resort to a patched up Lobo starting eleven.

Lobos On Injured List

H. B. Wright, fullback, and Larson Crawford, tackle, are favoring injuries sustained in a recent motorcycle accident and neither may get into the game. Eligibility of Millard Bradley, all-district passing star of the 1937 Lobo club, is being questioned.

Loss of any or all of those players will greatly handicap the Levelland crew.

Coach Stumpy Hamilton also is singing the blues as his Tigers face an outsider, White Deer, at Slaton.

Four Title Games In 4B

Brownfield will pay its respects to Jal, N. M., and Ralls plays at McCamey. The Lubbock Cowhands meet Olton Saturday night at Olton.

Four conference games are scheduled in District 4B.

Matador plays at Silverton, Floydada journeys to Estelline, Lockney goes to Turkey, and Paducah will be Flomot's guest. Spur stays home to play a mixture of Lubbock Cowhands and second string players from the Westerner squad.

Cowboys Romp Over Littlefield, 49-0

Starting with a 30-yard pass for a touchdown in the first three minutes of play, the Junior High Cowboys steamrolled over Littlefield Juniors here Thursday afternoon, 49 to 0.

Walter Glaze rifled a pass to John Houk for that first marker, then added the extra point. After the starting eleven had amassed a big majority, Coaches Mule Davis and Lovic Liston shoved in their second string, which carried the fight almost as well.

Besides Houk, scorers of touchdowns were Glaze 2, Pete Chopelas 2, Ven White, and J. L. Thomas. Glaze scored three extra points, Chopelas three, and White one.

Starters, left end through fullback, were: Sowder, J. D. Wynn, James Reese, Thurman Parks, Ross Hensley, Leroy Holly, Joe Billy Baumgardner, Houk, Thomas, John A. Raley, and Glaze.

Replacements, in the same order, were: Douglas McCurry, Bill Hunt, Cotton Hendricks, Johnny Garnett, Wilson Belt, Mac Elston, Wesley Hamilton, Sidney Keeton, R. L. Laxson, Chopelas, and White.

Nation Watches Southwest Card This Week-End

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Intersectional glamor still held the edge over actual Southwest conference competition as the circuit's seven clubs dipped into a weekend schedule that drew the nation's interest.

Dotted around over the country were conference clubs, but none drew the attention that a gang of maroon-jerseyed Texas Aggies commanded for their Saturday afternoon romp at San Francisco against one of the finest Santa Clara teams on record.

Aggies Have Done Okeh

No later than last Saturday the Broncos, Sugar Bowl champions the past two years, humbled mighty Stanford, 22-0. But the Texans were doing alright for themselves also, dropping Tulsa's Golden Hurricane, 20-0. The Aggies, with 72 points against a large enemy zero in two games, saved fleet Dick Todd in the Tulsa game and were rated a very dangerous underdog.

At Philadelphia, a great Texas Christian team looking for its third straight victory was favored over Pop Warner's Temple Owls—the Owls that took a lesson from Pittsburgh last week. The Christians featuring Davey O'Brien and Connie Sparks, trampled Arkansas 21-14, being considerably the better despite the one-touchdown edge.

The Christians' passing attack and its, big, 210-pound line that won't be punctured, was expected to be too potent for the easterners.

Methodists Play Marquette

Over at Chicago's Soldiers field in another Friday night game, Matty Bell's Southern Methodists, a team that could do almost anything it wished—from being bad to very good—will be favored over Marquette's Golden Avalanche. The Methodists, its heartbeat comprised of a bunch of hustling sophomores, shook down Arizona easily last week, 29-7, in preparing for the Avalanche.

Some of its wind knocked out by a canny Oklahoma team last week, Rice institute lumbered towards Baton Rouge and a Saturday game with powerful Louisiana State at no worse than even choice. Big Ernie Lain and Ollie Cordill didn't commit arson against the Sooners last week, but both are expected to shoulder a much heavier burden than on that 100-degree afternoon. Gloom had the Owls, however, for Scat Sullivan, the 150-pound scooter who ripped Oklahoma's line for the only score, was out with an injured ankle. LSU took Texas, 20-0, last week.

Bruins, Porkers Meet

The same Oklahoma team that whipped Rice—not an injury being listed—will meet Texas in their annual classic at Dallas in a feature of the State fair. Two great Oklahoma ends stopped Lain and his playmates, and the rushing type of play probably won't be changed against passing Texas.

In the only conference game of the day, Baylor's Bruins invade Fayetteville for a tussle with Arkansas. The Razorbacks fell victim to TCU last week while Baylor was chalking up its second win, a 20-6 decision over Oklahoma A. and M.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet Declares France Wants Russia As Friend

Cooperation Of Soviets Sought

PARIS, Oct. 6. (AP) — Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet intimated tonight before the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies that France still wants the Soviet union's big army on her side despite any agreement she may reach with Germany.

Bonnet said he "hoped" Russia would join the projected international guarantee of what is to be left of Czechoslovakia. Committee members said he expressed the stand of the French government.

Hitler Opposed To Russia

Reichsfuehrer Hitler has been reported insistently opposed to Russian participation in the guarantee.

It appeared, however, the French and British governments had ruled against exclusion of Russia.

Another development in the crisis aftermath was a move by Premier Edouard Daladier to demobilize French armed forces by next Tuesday despite little indication that Germany was taking similar steps.

Reservists Are Returning

The premier's office announced reservists called to the colors during the war would be out of uniform within four days.

An estimated 1,500,000 soldiers had been arrayed along the Maginot line facing Germany and at other strategic centers when the crisis reached its height last week before the four-power conference at Munich and dismemberment of Czechoslovakia to appease Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Not all of the estimated 1,500,000 men under arms will return to civilian life, for that figure included France's standing army. (For 1937-38 the home defense forces numbered 415,909 men.)

Looks To Russia

GEORGES BONNET

Decrees Are Drafted

Daladier, granted virtual dictatorial power over the nation's economic and financial life until Nov. 15, worked today with his ministers to draft the first set of decrees designed to "rebuild" France before expiration of the decree power.

The first of the decrees, expected at the start of next week, are likely to be purely financial measures. It was believed one would call for revaluation of gold held by the Bank of France to give the government 30,000,000,000 francs (about $810,000,000) for use in the "breathing spell."

Another measure was expected to reestablish a turnover tax on business and a huge "peace" loan was known to be under consideration.

Ugly Crocodile-Like Animals Once Basked In Sun Or Dipped In Waters Of Crosby County---But That Was Many Years Ago

About 180,000,000 years ago, ugly crocodile-like animals basked in the sunshine or dipped into the water in Crosby county—a vastly different Crosby county from that of today.

The appearance of those animals need not be a matter solely for speculation.

Prepared For Exhibit

Being prepared for exhibit in West Texas museum on Texas Technological college campus are specimens of two phytosaurs and an amphibian.

There is a wide head with holes showing location of two eyes and one higher and midway between marking position of a third, so-called pineal eye.

There is a horn that might have been taken from a Texas longhorn—except that it has a wide flat base attachment.

Bone Armor Plates

There are bone armor plates given by nature as protection from the enemy for these Upper Triassic age animals.

Parts of the three animals were found on the Swenson ranch about 15 miles south of Crosbyton and about 20 west of Spur by Porter Montgomery, museum assistant, and E. M. Booth of Spur, amateur paleontologist.

Probably the rarest of the three specimens is that of the amphibian, of a group of the name Stegocephalia, now extinct. The amphibian was broader and flatter than the crocodile-like phytosaurs. The skull, that in which the three holes are located, a few fragments of ribs and vertebrae and armor plates were found. The bones were eroding from a hill when Montgomery found them. It is not known that the animal could see through the third eye. The plates were located on the breast.

Had Broad Heads

The amphibians had broad heads with eyes directed upward, wide mouths, short weak legs, more or less well-developed tails, laterally flattened so that they aided in swimming.

First specimens of amphibians were found by paleontologists about 1925.

Names of the two phytosaur specimens indicate relation to this area. E. C. Case of the University of Michigan found the first specimens in 1920 in vicinity of Crosbyton and Spur.

One horn about 12 inches long and a smaller one, body plates, vertebrae, and ribs of a Desmatosuchus Spurensis are being prepared for exhibit.

The skull of an animal tentatively identified as Leptosuchus Crosbiensis also is being restored.

The phytosaurs and the amphibian all were about 10 to 11 feet long.

Lubbock Man Arrested After Girl Was Hurt Released

A 35-year-old Lubbock man arrested Wednesday night for investigation into the injury of Maralyn Cantelou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lenwood Cantelou of 2207 Twenty-second street, was released Thursday to re-appear in corporation court at 9 o'clock this morning.

The injured girl Thursday night was reported in satisfactory condition. She had been run down at Twentieth street and Avenue V, Wednesday night, authorities said.

It was not indicated by officers what action would be taken.

Tech Activities Are Discussed

Conducting its first official meeting of the year, the student council of Texas Technological college Thursday night discussed plans for Parents' day, for the annual Homecoming celebration, and the possibility of a special train.

The council declared Harold Huffman officially the business manager, since Huffman was the only student nominated for the position in a recent convocation. Oath of office was administered to new council members.

Plans Are Complete

James Huffman, president of the student body, presided. Huffman said plans were completed for the council's part in entertainment of parents Saturday. Parents of all students have been invited to visit the campus. They will register from 10 to 12 o'clock Saturday morning in the lounge of the men's dormitory, where members of the administrative council, faculty members, and members of the student council will be present to receive them; will be conducted on a tour of the campus from 2 to 4 o'clock that afternoon; and will attend the Tech-Oklahoma City university football game at reduced admission charge at 8:30 o'clock that night.

Possibility of a chartered train to Albuquerque, N. M., to take fans to the Tech-New Mexico university game Nov. 19 was discussed. Clark Wicks, James Snyder and John Berger were appointed to investigate rates. Should the council favor a chartered train, it would present a petition to the administrative council.

Preliminary discussion of a bonfire in connection with Homecoming on Armistice day was held. Administrative permission also would be necessary before a bonfire celebration could be conducted.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Indian Women Form Monogamy Brigade To Eliminate Harems

CALCUTTA, Oct. 6. (AP)—A number of women of Sadhaura, in the Punjab, have decided that one wife's enough for their husbands.

They have formed themselves into a "monogamy brigade" to force their husbands not to take second wives.

Should moral persuasion fail, peaceful picketing of the "pandal"—the tent where the second marriage takes place—will be resorted to.

Finally, the weapon of social boycott will be used.

MARKET IS JOLTED

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—The stock market was jolted by profit taking today after a strong forenoon buying wave had swept most leaders into new high territory for the past year with gains running to more than 3 points.

While small improvement predominated at the close, many stocks still holding at peaks for the past 12 months, a number of steels, motors, rubbers and rails were behind minor minus signs.

Traders were still optimistic brokers said, as signs of improving business continued and the move for greater cooperation between government and industry acquired headway.

The Associated Press average managed to emerge with an advance of .1 of a point at 51.1. This was a new top since Oct. 9, last year. Transfers amounted to 2,451,060 shares against 2,235,910 yesterday. The first hour's turnover accounted for 880,000 shares.

Among stocks ahead at the end were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Boeing, American Telephone, Great Northern, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, and Sears Roebuck. Lagging were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Santa Fe, Goodyear, Du Pont, Monsanto Chemical, Philip Morris and Standard Oil of N. J.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Hedge selling and profit-taking by recent buyers whittled down early advances in the cotton market here today and final prices were steady, net unchanged to 4 points higher.

Favorable textile reports, higher outside markets and continued holding of cotton by producers in the interior prompted fair trade and investment buying. The demand was supplied at gains of 4 to 7 points and the subsequent selling movement carried the market near the lows.

Oct. contracts closed at 8.35-bid, Dec. at 8.83, Jan. at 8.32, March at 8.33, May at 8.25, July at 8.23 and Oct. (new) at 8.03-bid. Spot cotton closed steady with middling 4 points higher at 8.43. Sales totaled 7,119 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Cotton moved irregularly today after meeting resistance on early moderate gains into further new high ground. December reacted from 8.30 @8.24 and closed at 8.29, with final prices 1 to 6 points net higher.

The market opened 2 to 4 points higher on moderate trade and foreign buying which encountered a little more realizing and hedge selling. Scattered demand caused prices to advance to net gains of 6 to 7 points but when December touched 8.30, or the price at which growers can place cotton in the loan, buyers became hesitant. The market reacted to around the previous close in the late afternoon, but toward the close encountered trade buying against larger cotton goods sales.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 6 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 4 points higher at 8.51 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 8.20 cents a pound.

upon the credit of the state," he said.

Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission, advocated economy in government and commended a sub-group of the state senate finance committee for its efforts in recommending appropriations to departments be reduced to effect a saving of more than $6,000,000 a year.

"We've got to stop this excessive spending," he said "and we can do it with your support. The state can pay off its bonded indebtedness and we can get back on a 'pay as you go' basis."

O'Daniel Speaks Today

Governor-Nominate W. Lee O'Daniel's scheduled address tomorrow was awaited by the officials to learn his attitude, if any, on proposals the state old age pension administration be abolished and county commissioners courts take over distribution in the interests of economy.

The convention will conclude Saturday noon with election of officials, adoption of resolutions and choice of next year's convention city. Waco, Galveston, Mineral Wells and Fort Worth are bidding for the meeting.

Football Players Lowest In Classes, Survey Discloses

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—John S. Windell, who examined the scholastic records of 1,287 athletes, reports that football players are the poorest students.

Windell studied the records of athletes of seven southwestern schools for information to incorporate in a thesis at Southern Methodist university.

He divided the athletes into those who took part only in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis or golf and those who lettered in two, three, four or five sports.

For single sports, the tennis players had the highest average grades. The order for remaining sports was track, golf, baseball, basketball and football.

Windell decided that students participating in sports requiring individual effort outrank those who compete in sports involving team play.

The one man of the 1,287 who made letters in five sports made the highest grades of them all; but Windell did not consider this conclusive evidence that five-sport men are the best athletes.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP) — Wheat tended downward in the final dealings here today, more than wiping out fractional price advances that had resulted largely from widespread domestic drouth southwest.

Complete dearth of export demand for United States wheat served to pull values down. European takings of well above 500,000 bushels from Canada were of no effect as a stimulus in the Chicago market.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅛ to ½ lower compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 63¾@63⅞, May 64⅝@64¾, corn ⅜ to ⅝ down, Dec. 45⅜@45½, May 48⅜@48½, oats unchanged to ⅛ off, rye showing ⅛ to ⅜ drop, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to 10 cents bulge.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 6. (AP)—Demand for grain was slow here today. Estimated receipts for the day were: wheat 58 cars, corn 4, and sorghums 3. Cars manifested Wednesday were: wheat 28, corn 4, and sorghums 1.

She Baled Shucks To Become Heralded As Model Farmerette

LaGRANGE, Oct. 6. (AP)—Because Mrs. Will M. Walchor isn't afraid of work, the farm security administration has singled her out as an example of why farmers in this area are prompt in repaying loans.

The administration took the trouble of printing an account of Mrs. Walchor's economies and distributing it to other Texas farm families.

It related that the farm wife used leisure moments between housework to bale corn shucks, which she sold for $35. She spent the $35 to improve her poultry flocks.

In other "leisure moments" Mrs. Walchor went down into a 12-foot well and brought up bricks to line a new well. Then her husband grew tobacco and traded part of it to neighbors for improved seed.

"It is thrifty management of this kind that has enabled borrowers from farm security funds in this area to repay 85 per cent of their 1937 loans," said the farm security statement. Under FSA rules the farmers might have taken five years for repayment.

Only Resident Becomes Peeved If Engineer Doesn't Whistle

NANCY, Alaska, Oct. 6. (AP) — When J. E. Wilson left town this week for a trip to Anchorage, no one was left to record the event. Wilson is Nancy's lone resident.

While in Anchorage, he requested Alaska railroad officials to have their engineers blow their whistles when nearing Nancy, so the baggageman or mail clerk will be reminded to throw off the mail.

"Mr. Brayford always whistles when he is on the run during the winter, but during the summers there are different engineers and some of them don't know anyone lives at Nancy.

"It gets my goat to have the trains run by without the baggageman even taking a gander over to the door to wave."

Raising cobras once was a paying industry in India, where snakes cause about 20,000 deaths annually.

Can't You Just See Edgar's Red Face?

SEATTLE, Oct. 6. (AP)—Edgar Rice Burroughs, creator of Tarzan of the Apes, sat around his hotel room today waiting for a valet to bring back his trousers.

While waiting, he told interviewers he went into a New York City bar not long ago with a friend. The friend asked the bartender:

"Did you ever hear of Tarzan?"

"No," the bartender said.

"Do you mean to tell me you never heard of Tarzan of the Apes?" the friend demanded.

"Oh, him?" said the bartender. "Sure."

"You see this guy?" the friend said, indicating Burroughs. "He writes the stuff."

"Gee," said the bartender, "is THAT guy Johnny Weissmuller?"

Daane Family In Pretty Good Shape Now But Things Looked Mighty Bad For Them

SHEBOYGAN FALLS, Wis., Oct. 6. (AP)—The Daane family is in pretty good shape today, but there were moments yesterday when things looked bad.

James Daane jumped off a farm wagon and landed on a moving silo filler belt. It broke and threw him against a tractor. He suffered severe head injuries.

His son, Howard, seeing the accident from the silo, began to descend. A ladder rung broke and he fell, suffering a bruised shoulder.

The flapping of the broken filler belt frightened the horses. They ran away, jumped a fence, and broke the harness. Howard got up and headed them off.

Mrs. James Daane, who underwent an operation recently for appendicitis, hurried out. Her condition was aggravated.

British Policy Is Approved In Vote

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The house of commons today overwhelmingly ratified the government's peace policy which Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain said saved "Czechoslovakia from destruction and Europe from Armageddon."

Even as he wound up the four-day debate on settlement of the German-Czechoslovak crisis with a call to legislators to recognize that he had saved peace, Chamberlain announced further preparation for war.

Large Vote Is Given

The house by a vote of 366 to 144 registered its confidence in his policy, after it had rejected, 369 to 150, a labor motion for disapproval, and then adjourned until Nov. 1.

In his final speech, the 69-year-old prime minister rejected proposals for an immediate general election, for conscription of the nation's man-power and for a world politico-economic conference.

He disclosed the government already had "ordered that a prompt and thorough inquiry should be made into the whole of our preparations, military and civil, in order to see, no matter what happens during these hectic days, what other steps may be necessary to make good our defenses in the shortest possible time."

Leaves For Rest

Defending his policy in the weeks of crisis which ended with the four-power Munich accord, Chamberlain told the legislators:

"I have been charged with cowardice, weakness, presumption and stupidity . . .

"When a man gets to my age and fills my position, I think he tends to feel that criticism and even abuse matters little to him. It is his conscience that matters."

Convinced He Was Right

He said he felt convinced his action had averted war.

He said war today was a different thing from what it used to be and that in the very first hour it would strike the man in the street and his wife and children at home.

Then he declared:

"You cannot ask people to accept such a prospect unless you feel yourself, and can make them feel, that the cause for which they are going to fight is a vital cause—a cause that transcends all ordinary human values and a cause to which you can point, if some day you win a victory, and say that cause is safe."

He said that when the British government was convinced Sudetenland could not possibly be kept within Czechoslovakia it strongly urged the Prague government to agree to cede the territory to Germany.

"To accuse me of having by that advice betrayed Czechoslovakia is simply preposterous," he said. "What we did was to save her from annihilation and gave her a chance for a new life."

She's Smiling Now

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6 (AP)—The wide mouth of actress Martha Raye parted in a big smile today (to replace the frown shown above) as she announced she and Dave Rose, composer, will motor to Ensenada, Baja California, to be married Saturday.

If You're Hunting An Easy Job, You Should Be Star

By ROBBIN COONS
AP Feature Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6.—One way of looking at it, movie starring is as simple as sipping a mint julep in the cool shade.

To be a star, you don't have to do anything—much. Practically everything is done for you.

You'll have to slip on your own clothes but you won't have to buy them. Studio designers, seamstresses and wardrobe mistresses will provide all you need—with duplicates in case you rip a seam or spill soup on your vest.

No Trouble To Cry

You may be asked, in course of your daily stint, to do what is known as running the gamut. But if that's too much bother, don't worry.

Can't you cry? Well, that's why they make glycerine. Are you afraid to smile, because your teeth aren't pretty, even and tooth-pasty? Shucks, forget it. They'll provide you with the nicest, whitest, brightest set you ever saw in a dental ad. They'll "cap" your incisors so neatly you'll soon forget you weren't born with those perfect pearls.

Earn your living by the sweat of your brow? That's a good one. You can work yourself into a lather without leaving your chair. A fellow with a squirt gun and mineral oil will dew your brow with refined perspiration or cover your whole torso with old-fashioned sweat, to order while you wait.

Sit Back And Relax

You don't even have to do your own bleeding. They'll "bleed" for you with sweet, perfumed blood. The make-up man will give you a painless scar as eagerly as he'll highlight and shade you to bring out your best features and hide your worst. Is your hair funny? They make the nicest wigs out here. If you insist on using your own crop, they'll have a hairdresser popping at it every two minutes. You should worry!

If you've got to be athletic—do something risky like diving off a cliff, riding a rapids, rassling with a tiger—just stay home that day and catch up on your sleep. They'll hire a stunt man for you.

There'll be a dialogue director to tell you how to talk, and a director to tell you where to stand, where to walk, what to do. If you have to dance or sing, the dance director and voice coach will show you. The cameraman—if you're at all pleasant—will take care of your angles so you'll look better than you really do. And he'll mark off the floor so you won't step out of bounds when in the throes of acting.

You'll Just Love It

Writers will think up bright things for you to say so that film fans will think you're clever. Publicity men will think up equally bright things for you to say for publication, and—if need be—they'll protect you from interviewers who might find out you aren't so bright after all. But unless you're different, you won't thank them. You'll think you did it all yourself.

You may have to learn a few lines of dialogue, but not too much at a time. If you forget, the script clerk will prompt you. And if you can't remember at all, they'll write the lines on a blackboard out of camera range. When you say the lines, the sound men will take care of your voice for you, if they think you're worth it.

And everything in the studio will be run for your comfort and delight. Nice, isn't it?

So come on out, and be a star. And heaven help you if you think it's easy!

War Pictures In Cigarettes Capture Fancies Of Nazis

BERLIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—Cards inserted in packs of cigarettes are catching the fancy of German youths now.

At first the cards were on such innocent subjects as flags, automobiles, and sports; but now the favorite pictures are of a military character.

These cards started with warships and war planes of all nations, Germany army uniforms and later centered on military action itself. One series of these cards pictures the World war from beginning to end. Captions on the back of the cards describe the pictures.

With the scene shifting from the front in France to Russia, from the Italian front to the Balkans and to Palestine, the series touches—if vaguely—on all phases of the war.

The part played by the Germans is glorified, and the grim aspects of the war are not shown. Only a small number of pictures give a hint of the realities of modern war. All gory features appear to be taboo.

Texas' Largest City Now Is Planning To Go Blue Blood

HOUSTON, Oct. 6. (AP) — Texas' largest city, founded by tobacco-chewing men in buckskin who herded longhorn steers and ran rafts up and down the bayous, is going "blue blood."

To 1,200 "upper crusters" went engraved invitations to submit information for incorporation in a blue book of "select society."

Royal Dixon, daddy of the book, will handpick the 1,200 with the aid of an anonymous committee of four.

"Money won't mean anything," said a representative of the blue book. "It will take blood and breeding to get into the social register. There'll be lots of rich old men for instance, who won't get in."

AFL Votes To Renew Battle

and Green threw his force behind temporary settlement by shouting to the convention:

"We are not so foolish in these days when a dual secession movement is facing us, as to drive the ITU out of the American Federation of Labor. By extending a helping hand to the ITU we will confound our enemies.

Would Please Enemies

"Those who are against us would be more than pleased if we said to the typographical union, 'you cannot sit with us.'"

Daniel Tobin, the boss of the powerful A. F. of L. teamsters union, warned the convention that if it set aside the constitution to seat the ITU delegates "we throw the door open for every other organization to ask the same privileges."

The rank and file of the ITU, he added, "was not so dumb that it did not know what it was voting on" when they voted against paying the assessment.

He agreed however, that the delegates could be seated "as a courtesy."

Will Be Definitely Out

Green said if the "unexpected happened"; if the ITU voted again payment of its obligations to the A. F. of L. in another referendum, the the printers' union is "definitely out" of the federation.

Cheered by the avoidance of a break that might have threatened another unity crisis at a time when the CIO is planning to set up a permanent rival organization, the convention swung around to the impending fight to revise the Wagner act.

The speech of Joseph A. Padway, A. F. of L. general counsel, reviewing all the federation's criticism of the labor board's administration of the Wagner act, probably will be given to the convention tomorrow. Program changes already have delayed it two days.

Senator James J. Davis (R-Pa.), in a speech to the convention today, decried what he called "political domination" of labor through laws piled on the statute books.

Indian Jam Sessions Attract Tourists

HARBOR SPRINGS, Mich., Oct. 6 (AP)—The tom-toms of the Ottawas, which once caused hardy explorers and pioneers to finger their flintlocks nervously, are rumbling once more in Northern Michigan.

Today—just as in that earlier time—the tribe is on the defensive (and on the warpath), but today there will be no scalpings or massacres. The Indians are executing a neat change of pace.

Spearhead of the modern Indian campaign is MIDA—The Michigan Indian Defense Association—whose avowed purpose is to improve the economic status of the red man, expose entertainers who fraudulently pose as real Indians and protect the Indians from exploitation.

Under Chief Ettawageshik's direction, the Ottawas have got into the Northern Michigan tourist picture by staging an annual ceremonial here at which thousands of visitors are shown the traditional tribal dances. The Indians who participate in this event are full-blooded Ottawas and their costumes and dances are authentic. Besides proving a great tourist attraction, the event has educational value and is considered pretty shrewd business by leaders of the tribe.

It gives the Indians an opportunity to plead their case with wordless eloquence and furnishes a rallying point for members of the race who are backing legislative reforms in behalf of their people.

Tricky Winds Force Canadians To Buy Bees In California

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Oct. 6. (AP)—California honey bees are transported to Canada and then executed after doing a summer's work of honey production.

The variable winter climate in southern parts of the Canadian provinces is said to be responsible for the strange traffic.

Chinook winds sweep the provinces and lead the dormant bees to believe spring has come and flowers are about to bloom. The bees bestir themselves and attempt to fly out of the hives, only to discover winter has returned. After this occurs several times the bees are exhausted and are worthless for the summer.

So each spring colonies of bees are imported from California. After they produce honey all summer they are killed in the late fall. The queen is saved and she is sent by mail to California to live throughout the winter and to become the nucleus for a new colony.

Gland Study Produces Boom For Catchers Of Monkeys

SINGAPORE, Oct. 6. (AP)—Hundreds of itinerant monkey-catchers in British Malaya are getting employment through the rapid increase in gland research activities in the United States.

These catchers receive nearly 7 dollars for a good "Rhesus," the most salable type of animal.

Every steamer leaving Singapore for eastern ports in the United States is carrying several crates of fat, healthy monkeys.

Papa And Mama DiMaggio Too Busy Celebrating Joe's Big Hit To Answer Telephone

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6. (AP)—A tiny voice answered the telephone at the home of Joe DiMaggio's parents in the North Beach Latin quarter.

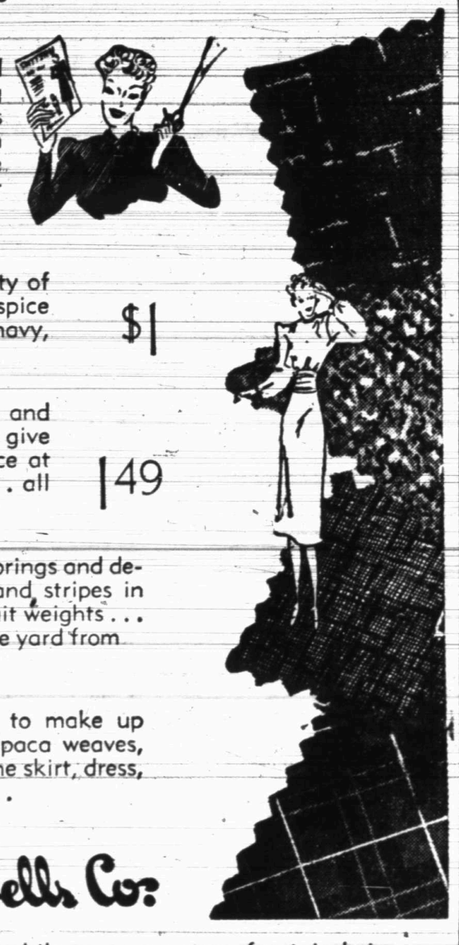

"Papa and mama are out in the front room." It was Betty Kron, niece of the Yankees' star outfielder and home run buster, talking. "Papa has mama and they are dancing around the room. Papa is shouting, 'hooray, he hit a big one.'"

Betty explained "Papa" and "Mama" DiMaggio were too busy celebrating Joe's mighty hit to answer telephone calls.

There were no answers to calls to Frankie Crosetti's home.

Prosecution In Cases Resumed

TYLER, Oct. 6. (AP)—The federal tender board of Kilgore resumed its prosecution today in false affidavit oil cases against certain East Texas operators.

Yesterday a jury acquitted M. C. Batey of Tyler and J. F. Bauer of Overton of false affidavit charges. Batey, bookkeeper for the Wynne Drilling company, was charged with signing company production reports on information furnished by Bauer, employe of the New Century Pipeline company. Batey testified he did not know the well in litigation in state court had been ordered closed by his employer.

Another jury is considering the affidavit case of James V. Wright of Dallas and Gladewater, secretary of the Ypsilanti Oil company. His father, V. O. E. Wright, indicted with him, was freed of charges on instruction of Federal Judge Randolph Bryant. The elder Wright formerly was operator of a Gladewater refinery.

Testimony Is Heard

A jury is also hearing testimony in the trial of G. L. Grant, superintendent of the Rancho Oil company, involving reports from Grant on shallow wells existing alongside deep wells on the Molly Fenn "A" lease in Gregg county.

False affidavit cases against H. D. Vickery and H. P. Taylor, oil company employes, have been dismissed. R. F. Powell was fined $500 and sentenced to 30 days in jail, both being suspended. J. Wiley Stone, formerly an employe of Gladewater operators, was fined $200. A false affidavit charge against A. B. Foshee, banker and oil operator, was dismissed, but Foshee paid a $2,000 fine after pleading guilty to transporting 500 barrels of contraband oil.

Service On Railroad Resumed Thursday

CHICAGO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Service on the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad was resumed today for the first time since Aug. 16 when a strike caused suspension of operations.

The electric line employs 1,300 persons.

Operating employes quit work in protest against a 15 per cent wage cut, but returned to their jobs today under terms of a contract calling for restoration of the old wage scale for employes in the lower wage brackets. Others will be paid partly in cash and partly in receiver's certificates for 90 days, after which a new wage scale will be established.

Building Permits To Go Over $2,500,000

Lubbock city building permit total for 1938 will, in all probability, climb above the $2,500,000-mark today, continuing the most amazing year's building record in the history of Lubbock thus far.

Total for the year was boosted to $2,497,471 with new permits for construction to cost $10,185. City Building Inspector Jim Reid said that other pending applications, likely to be granted during the day, would push the figure beyond the two and one-half million dollar total.

Total for the whole of last year was $2,046,268. The only entire years with construction costing more than the nine and fraction months of 1938 thus far were 1929, with $3,337,306, and 1928, with $3,136,975.

Aggregate new construction for October thus far was increased to $50,965.

New permits included: H. M. Jones, owner, and G. A. Browne, contractor, residence, 2423 Twenty-first street, $4,000; D. J. Tilson, owner, and J. E. Ligon, contractor, residence, 2413 Twenty-sixth street, $3,000; and M. E. Tew, owner, and Ligon, contractor, residence, 2407 Twenty-sixth street, $2,800.

Cattlemen's Dance Held For Pioneers

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Members of the Old Trail Drivers association rounded out the opening day of their annual convention here with a cattlemen's dance Thursday night.

An old fiddlers contest and a grand ball will engage the interest of association Friday following speeches by prominent men.

Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the Texas highway commission, speaking at the Thursday afternoon session, expressed appreciation to the old trail drivers for the heritage they had handed down to later generations.

Among the speakers scheduled Friday are Sen. Tom Connally, T. C. Richardson of Dallas, Tad Moses and Amon G. Carter, both of Fort Worth, George B. Black, president of the Texas Ex-Rangers association, and H. F. McGill, former president of Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers association. Following elections in the afternoon, Judge W. O. Murray, fourth court of civil appeals, will address the association.

The convention will close Saturday with a barbecue and a dance at Pioneer Memorial hall.

Man Charged For Drunk Driving After Entering Safety Lane

It was not the condition of his automobile that kept S. M. J. Benson, Lubbock resident, from passing satisfactorily through the traffic safety lane on Avenue Q conducted by a corps of Texas Highway patrolmen from Austin, several others from the Lubbock office, and police traffic officers.

Officers whisked him away to the county jail and filed a charge of driving when intoxicated against him.

He was expected to post bond of $750 which was set by S. E. McMillan, justice of peace with whom the complaint had been filed.

Gly-Cas Gave Him Astounding Results

Had Been Unable To Work Health Was In Such Poor Condition; Gly-Cas Gave Him New Outlook On Life

"It is a pleasure for me to tell other sufferers of such a medicine of merit as I have found Gly-Cas to be," said Mr. W. S. Roberts, 17 McKinley St, Brownsville, Texas. "For ten years I had suffered from chronic constipation until my stomach was affected and refused to digest my foods properly for I endured awful attacks of indigestion after each meal. To add to my suffering, too, frequent bladder action caused night risings as often as ten times each night. I lost so much sleep and being unable to eat the nourishing foods that I should have, I lost weight and strength. I had just about given up all hope of recovery when Gly-Cas was recommended to me as being different—and I found it just that."

"I would not take a thousand dollars for the benefit I have received from the use of Gly-Cas," continued Mr. Roberts. "My bowels have been wonderfully regulated and my stomach s in good condition again. I no longer have those awful attacks of indigestion, eat and enjoy my foods, sleep good all night long since my bladder has been regulated and have gained seven pounds in weight. I cannot begin to praise Gly-Cas as it deserves for the remarkable change it brought about in my condition."

Czechs Launching Determined Program To Build A More Unified Republic

Autonomy For Slovaks Seen

PRAGUE, Oct. 6. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government launched a determined program today to build a more unified republic by binding together Czechs and Slovaks remaining within its narrowed borders.

The first step was appointment of Dr. Joseph Tisot, vice president of the Slovak people's party, as "prime minister for Slovakia" in the new Prague government.

Appointment Requested

His appointment, granting the Slovaks autonomy within the framework of the Czechoslovak government, was requested by the Slovak people's party which formed a coalition with two other Slovak political groups—the nationalists and agrarians.

Dr. Tisot, moving to obtain equal representation of his followers in Prague as promised by Premier Jan Syrovy, nominated two members of his party for Slovak ministerial posts.

The Czech half of the republic—the old kingdom of Bohemia—meanwhile was almost in a state of siege from slowly encircling German domination.

These Prospects Faced

The prospects faced tonight by Bohemia, as a result of a decision of the international Sudetenland commission at Berlin last night, were:

1. The occupation of a fifth zone which gave to the Germans a major portion of the famed Moravian gateway fortifications once pronounced by a French military commission as "stronger than the Maginot line."

2. Virtual isolation, since rail communications and highways would be barred by German control under the commission plan.

3. Loss of many coal mines and industries under the fifth zone agreement which the Czechs characterized as "summarily approved without asking us."

4. The loss of telephone connections with the outside world. Telegraph and radio would be the only communications left.

Predicament Serious

The predicament of thousands of non-nazi Germans, social democrats and communists who fled Sudetenland to the interior of Czechoslovakia was growing serious.

Scenes bordering on panic were enacted in Prague as the German circle drew slowly around the capital.

Jews were striving to leave the country but were afraid of being caught in the Sudeten areas.

"We were sold out once; we are now being sold out again," Czechoslovaks cried when they heard about the fifth zone division.

Model For British Poster Creates An Exciting Stir

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON, Oct. 6—The Women's Air Raid Precautions Organization found itself in a pickle the other day.

The job of the Women's Voluntary Services for A. R. P., as it is officially known, is to recruit women workers for the various services which will function during air raids.

To spur recruiting it flooded the country with a prize-winning poster bearing a girl's head under the admonition "ARP Looks To You."

Horrible Possibility

This was the typical English girl. This was the girl for whom Tommy Atkins would shoulder a machine gun.

The poster had been selected after a nationwide campaign with a tremendous build-up.

Suddenly—as Britain drew closer to war with Germany than at any other time since 1914 — there came the awful whisper that perhaps the girl wasn't British. Perhaps she was GERMAN!

Immediately the posters were called in and a frantic search begun for a substitute girl about whose nationality there would be no doubt.

Officials culled through 2,000 photographs before they found what they wanted. They didn't disclose the other girl's name. But they did the new one's.

Basically British

They outlined her history from A to Z. They were making no mistake this time. They wanted the world to know that Miss Barbara Kershaw came from Yorkshire, England (the home county, incidentally of Anthony Eden and Lord Halifax) and that she is "typically British with hair that is not too dark and not too light, blue eyes, and an open, direct expression."

Miss Kershaw is a 25-year-old mannequin now working in a London fashion house. Some old fuss budgets didn't think that make-up and brightly tinted fingernails went with the typical British girl. But officials replied that her face is basically very British — "whatever she may do to it superficially."

"She is essentially a sensible type of girl," they went on. "Also, she is not too provocative."

Barbara Kershaw, the new model, has what it takes to convince folks she's British.

Criminals Seldom "Fight It Out" With Good Marksmen

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 6. (AP)—If you are a "dead shot," rarely will you have to "shoot it out" with a desperate criminal.

That is the theory of Maj. W. H. Drane Lester, assistant director of the federal bureau of investigation under J. Edgar Hoover.

"We have had to kill only nine criminals out of 12,000 captured in the last three years," he says. "The criminal, knowing we are capable of protecting our own lives, rarely chooses to shoot it out with us."

CLAIMED BY DEATH

LAREDO, Oct. 6. (AP)—Edwin A. Atlee, 59, attorney and son of the late State Senator E. A. Atlee, died at midnight last night after a long illness. He was a native of Corpus Christi. A brother, Tom G. Atlee of the land office in Austin, survives.

Family "Rows" Give Children Insight To Life Problems

DENVER, Oct. 6. (AP)—Mild family "rows" are a beneficial factor in rearing children, in the opinion of Sidonie M. Gruenberg, child specialist.

"I can think of nothing more discouraging than a home in which the mother and father never disagree," she told parents at a Denver University institute.

"Healthy family argument," she said, "gives children an insight into the problems of life."

Safety Talk Is Given At Club

Kiwanians yesterday received first hand information about the state's safety lane from Sgt. W. M. King, one of the patrol officers in charge of the lanes, in a talk before the club on safety.

Since early June, when the lanes were first set up, over 140,000 cars have passed through the lanes he is operating, King said. "At least 65 per cent of the cars have one or more of the six defects, alignment, lights, horn, vision, muffler and brakes. At least half of the drivers don't know that fact."

Legge Also Speaks

Capt. W. W. Legge, district officer of the patrol, spoke briefly and then introduced King. Legge said that through the cooperation of Texans this year the number of traffic deaths monthly has been cut 33, or from 168 to 135. "Texas is the only state in the United States to show a decrease in highway fatalities," he added. "We have been able to do it because we have gotten the cooperation of the public and peace officers."

President O. W. English called on B. Sherrod of the inter-club relations committee for a report on the number going to Ardmore Sunday for the Texas-Oklahoma convention. A dozen will make the trip, he said.

Sgt. King said that many schools over the state were introducing safety courses and that they were giving credit for the work done. High schools and colleges are cooperating.

Have Wrong Idea

"Some people have the wrong idea about the safety lane," he added. "We are not there to force you to do a thing. We do not even ask you to smile at us. All we ask is that you cooperate and have your car checked. The rest is up to you."

The two lanes have a capacity of about 2,000 cars per day. Largest number checked in one day is over 1,800, King added. At the close of his talk several Kiwanians spoke on the work, including W. C. Wood, G. C. Brewer, T. C. Meinecke and Claude Hurlbut. Jennings Lewis and Hurlbut were co-chairmen, the former presiding.

Since Depression Hunters Of Gold Dwindling In Number

AUBURN, Calif., Oct. 6. (AP)—The army of gold hunters who went into the hills during the depression, partly because gold was $35 an ounce and partly because they had no other jobs, is gradually dwindling.

So says Stuart Schwab, Iowa Hill storekeeper, who used to buy $500 worth of gold dust a week. Now his weekly trade is less than $100.

A Wish Fathers A Thought

STATEMENT by a British labor leader to the American Federation of Labor convention in Houston that the future of the United States is "irrevocably bound up with the destinies of Europe" would sound more convincing if there was not so much cause to suspect that the speaker's wish fathered his thought.

He accompanied his statement with the plea that American labor "think and act internationally."

Now, just what would American labor do if it should heed his plea to "act internationally?" The term, "internationally," so far as American labor is concerned, means Europe and nothing else. Thus, if our labor "acts internationally," it is sticking its nose and trying to stick our collective national noses into European affairs.

That would mean we would be butting in on the side of Britain and her allies, because certainly no considerable portion of our people will become bound in any fashion to the dictatorships. And with our people pledged in any manner to the British-French alliance, we are apt to discover they are most willing to burn our paw pulling their chestnuts out of the fire. That would be a fine thing for Britain. It would be foolish of us if we should do it.

His statement that we are "irrevocably bound up with the destinies of Europe" is correct—to a degree. It is correct to the degree that prosperity there adds to prosperity here; that misfortune there hurts us also. But, he is wholly and completely in error if he attempts to suggest that, because they may have war, we also must have war. We still can get along quite well without them if we will, no matter how much they fight among themselves.

People of the United States, taken as a whole, seem pretty well sold on the idea of staying out of Europe's squabbles. The laboring man will do well to follow that lead.

Opportunity Is Fleeting

ONLY two days remain during which motorists of Lubbock will have opportunity to avail themselves without cost of a special traffic safety service provided by the Texas Highway Patrol.

Reference is made to the safety lane which will complete a week of operation Saturday on Avenue Q between Broadway and Main. Those who drive through that lane are given advantage of the equipment which tests the safety factors of their motor vehicles—the lights, brakes, wheel alignment and the like.

If the vehicle is without defect, the motorist is given credentials so stating. Those credentials might become of great value should the driver later become involved in accident. If the car is defective, the driver is advised just what repairs should be made for his own safety and for the safety of others. Some drivers, of course, may object to having defects corrected. That, however, doesn't mean that the repairs shouldn't be made.

The wise motorist, for his own safety and his own peace of mind, will take advantage of this opportunity while it still is offered. He then will have the satisfaction of knowing as positively as law enforcement agencies can tell him just what his chances are when he drives his car.

From Lubbock, the test crew will go to other towns and cities of the South Plains. For the information of residents of those towns, the itinerary follows, the dates in each instance being inclusive: Oct. 10-12, Littlefield; Oct. 13-15, Brownfield; Oct. 17-19, Lamesa; Oct. 20-22, Tahoka; Oct. 24-26, Post; and Oct. 27-29, Snyder.

The One-Minute Sermon

Then said I, Wisdom is better than strength: nevertheless the poor man's wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard.

The words of wise men are heard in quiet more than the cry of him that ruleth among fools.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

ALL ITEMS SELF-EXPLANATORY

"The Clouded Moon"

By Max Saltmarsh
Copyright, 1938, By Associated Press

The Characters

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.

Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.

Yesterday: We trail Geiss to a bathing place where we see an American heiress, Ottilie Wills, who looks just like Eve Monet.

Chapter 12

Another Penny

The girl stood in the doorway, looking down the room. She had stripped off her bathing-cap, loosing a mass of curling hair as tawny as a ripe chestnut, and seen thus the likeness to the dead Eve had lessened considerably.

She came slowly towards the bar, her face thoughtful, her dark eyes remote. It was obvious that something quite other than the immediate question of drinks occupied her mind, but as she halted a yard away from us, and the barman hurried to meet her, a sudden gay and charming smile lit her face. I caught my breath again. The likeness, when it came, was almost painful.

"Grapefruit juice for me, please, Charles," she said. "And rye as usual for Mr. Wills, only go slow with the angostura this time." She paused, hesitating. "Perhaps, on the whole, I'd better mix it myself."

"Very please', Miss Wills," Charles agreed affably, and as he set the bottles on the counter before her the girl rolled up her sleeves in a workmanlike manner. She was so near that the soft, creamy stuff brushed my arm, and I stepped back a pace to make room for her. As I did so, my elbow caught Hugo's wrist, in the act of raising his glass to his lips, and sent the best part of a drink cascading down his shirt.

He gave an angry grunt and whipped out his handkerchief and in doing so he flicked from his pocket something which fell with a tinkle on the floor and rolled straight to the feet of the girl.

She had watched the accident with an amused, impersonal little smile, but as she sighted the small brown object the smile faded, giving way to a look of sheer amazement. She stooped, quick as a flash, and snatched it up. "My lucky centpiece!" she said. "Now, how in the world did you come to pick it up? I didn't know I had lost it."

"Neither did I," said Hugo dryly. He took a step forward so that they were facing each other, and so tall was she that their eyes were almost on a level, wide, soft, dark ones staring into chilly blue. He held out his hand with an unmistakable request. "Actually," said he, "it's my lucky cent. It was given me only this morning."

The girl looked from him to the little coin lying on her open palm. "I could have sworn there wasn't another cent in the world bored that way, except—" She paused and caught her breath, and a second time her expression changed. The rounded chin hardened, the red lips shut firmly.

"Just a minute," she said. "We'll look into this matter, if you please."

'A Matter Of Life And Death'

She snatched up her big beach bag, rummaged in its interior, and drew out a smaller one of white kid. She felt in this and drew out, with a look of surprise that was almost comical, what might have been the very twin of the coin that lay on the counter.

"Well," she said, "isn't that the queerest thing!"

She looked up at Hugo with a shamefaced smile. "I'm terribly sorry! But you see—there was some excuse. You'd never know them apart, except that mine is a little bit superior. You see, it has my name engraved on it—one letter on each oof the Redksin's feathers, but they're so small you want a microscope to see." She picked up one coin, holding it against the light. "Look!" she said. "There it is."

She stopped abruptly, and for an instant stood immovable, her eyes riveted on the coin in her hand. Then slowly she turned to us, and it seemed to me that every tinge of color had been wiped from her face. "Tell me," she said harshly, "This isn't a time for joking. Tell me at once where you got this coin."

Hugo gave her one long, slow look, then deliberately picked up the other one-cent piece and examined it.

"Ottilie Wills," he read out slowly, and then, half to himself: "Yes, you picked up the wrong coin. They're so alike you didn't know your own." He straightened up and deliberately gave her back the coin he held, taking the other and thrusting it into his own pocket. "This one-cent piece, Miss Wills," he said, and as he spoke his eyes never left her face, "was the property of a young lady named Eve Monet."

She stared at him, her face showing no sign of recognition at the name. "But where did you get it?" she demanded. "Quickly, you've got to tell me! Don't you understand—" her voice quivered and almost broke—"it's a matter of life and death."

They were so intently engaged with each other that neither had eyes for anything else, but I was standing facing the door, and in that instant I saw two silhouettes darken the glass. "Careful!" I whispered to Hugo, and he glanced up quickly.

"Miss Wills," he said urgently, "we can't discuss this here. I'll tell you all you want to know about this coin, if you will meet me tomorrow at—" He hesitated. "Say on the beach at Juan-les-Pins at midday. Have you a car here?"

She nodded.

He gave a short sigh of relief. "That's fine. May I suggest that you drive yourself and make a slight detour, to insure that you're not being followed? And may I suggest too that you don't mention this matter to your uncle or anyone else? Don't think I'm mad," he added with the ghost of a smile, "but this matter may be more serious than you think."

"I don't think you're mad," she answered very low, her great dark eyes still on his face. "Only I can know how serious this matter may be! Yes, surely, I'll be there. On the board-walk at twelve."

"That's fine!" said Hugo again. He looked over her shoulder; the door was opening and the tall form of Mr. Virgoe Wills filled the aperture, with a smaller, stockier shape close behind him. "Come on, Archie," he said, "we'll be going."

Letter From A Lady

We climbed the stairway, crossed the upper floor, and came out into the road. Hugo had said never a word, but as he started up the engine of the Hispano he turned to me, and his face was very grave. "Archie," he said, "I wish tomorrow's interview war over. Take a look at that," and he tossed the one-cent piece into my lap. I picked it up and scrutinized it, and there, finely scrolled on the Indian's feathers, one letter to each plume, I saw a name. "Melanie Wills," I read out slowly, and turned to him. "Hugo, what the devil does this mean?"

"It means," said he, "that tomorrow I must tell that girl that her sister has been foully murdered."

There was a long pause. I had known, in a sense, what he was going to say, but spoken baldly aloud it sounded infinitely more shocking.

"And what of the Eve Monet name?" I asked.

He shook his head wearily. "I can't tell. I can think of a dozen likely explanations. The Wills girls are well known in New York. I heard a lot about them while I was there, though I never met them. The old man is a bachelor, and wealthy, even by American standards. These girls are orphans—his brother's children—and he adopted them—legally, I mean, as his co-heiresses—and brought 'em up."

We drove back to Cannes in silence. Queer thoughts jostled in my brain; names that droned insistently like angry bees. Ottilie Wills, Melanie Wills—if Hugo was right, the uncanny likeness was well explained—Rene Geiss, Virgoe Wills; and again that sinister refrain: Venner, the banker, Vladimir Rakovsky, Baron Stahl.

We found a corner table at the Carlton Bar and, while Hugo settled himself and hailed a passing waiter, I went inside to the office, for my money was running short and I wanted to cash a traveler's check.

When I told the man at the desk my name he raised his eyebrows. "But, monsieur," said he, "there is a letter for you."

I thanked him, pocketed the letter, and transacted my business, but as I halted in the entry I saw that my place at the table was already filled. Dr. Riquet sat there, talking eagerly to Hugo, and from the intent expression on my friend's face I judged that he was hearing something interesting.

It would be, I felt, injudicious, to say the least, to interrupt them, so I perched myself on the stone balustrade of the ramp and pulled out the letter. It was addressed fully, in a big, flowing hand, to Mr. Archibald Lumsden. I had never seen the writing before, and as I slit the envelope and pulled out the couple of flimsy sheets that it contained, I wondered who in the world my correspondent could be. And then, as I saw the signature at the foot of the page, I stiffened and a queer, prickly chill stole over me, "Eve Monet." The words stared up at me, scrawled in that big, spreading hand, and for an instant it seemed that she was there beside me, a pale phantom, leaning on my shoulder.

"Do you remember me?" she wrote without preamble. "I spoke to you half an hour ago in the Carlton Bar. I am in dreadful trouble. No one to turn to. I beg you to help me. Buy the Grimoire astrologique (L'Amourne is the old name). Look at the page for August. You will see what I mean. August 30th is the day. Warn him if you can. Beg

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

HENRY MORGENTHAU may not get around to figuring out the nationwide cost of the $30-every-Thursday plan before the California elections, but other government experts aren't so shy. When you peek at their estimates, you understand why the Secretary of the Treasury is taking so long about it.

Under the Olsen-Downey scheme everybody who retires from the labor market at 50 becomes eligible for the Thursday tip, which amounts roughly to $1,500 a year. In other states the proposed stipend ranges from $30 to $100 a month, so you can calculate the cost of the various proposals for yourself, on the basis of the California schedules. Based on U. S. census population tables, the $30-every-Thursday Utopia would cost $41,590,450,000 annually if the retiring age were set at 50—$17,423,850,000 if the sit-back-and-enjoy-it deadline were 60—and $11,247,000,000 if you didn't collect until you were 65.

If those calculations haven't wearied your brain, please remember that the national income for 1938 won't top $60,000,000,000—that the 1929 peak was $81,000,000,000. After that, sit down and hope you grow old fast. On the basis of the present working population of approximately forty million, the per capita cost of the California idea would range from $1,000-plus for the after-50 endowment to about $281 for the after-65 payment.

ROSY: The Grand Old Party has a long, long way to come back. But after almost a decade of wandering in the wilderness, the boys are making a pioneer start at the right jumping-off points—the state governorships of key commonwealths.

For the G.O.P. to increase its House or Senate membership so long as the New Dealers retain executive control and dish out the money won't mean a thing. It doesn't furnish patronage, get them on the first pages or win the gratitude of the folks receiving W.P.A. and A.A.A. checks. They're lost and forgotten at Washington. But when they begin to take over courthouses and city halls and state capitals, they're making hay where the sun shines. They're rebuilding their organization from the ground up.

There is no assurance, of course, that the G.O.P. will recapture key posts and state machinery. But, come November, they seem to have a better chance for winning front line positions than since 1928—with Dewey in New York, James in Pennsylvania, Bricker in Ohio, etc.

* * *

LUCKY: Undaunted by domestic reverses, F.D.R. has informed his advisers that he will submit another batch of provocative legislation to the Congress next winter. He is eager for a legislative showdown between Democratic liberals and conservatives on Capitol Hill.

He will again demand action on the reorganization measure that Rep. John J. O'Connor, the purge's only victim, defeated almost single-handedly last spring. F.D.R. will also insist on stiffer and broader taxes (duties on state salaries and securities), fatter appropriations for W.P.A. and A.A.A., measures to ameliorate the condition of the railroads, probably a first move for revising and modernizing the anti-monopoly laws. Such problems as neutrality and R.F.C. extension will arise naturally, for statutes affecting those issues will expire during the session.

F.D.R. realizes that he will go before a recalcitrant and embittered body of legislators—unless the November elections warn them finally and conclusively that the people are willing to have him write his own ticket. But he has snatched so many victories from seemingly certain defeats—the court fight, for instance—that he thinks his luck will hold. So does almost everybody else who has followed his career from 1911 through the signing of the Munich agreement. He's quicker than Calvin Coolidge.

* * *

CLEAN: A pathetic but forgotten phase of Czechoslovakian dismemberment is the financial loss which sacrifice of Sudetenland will entail. They will pay a high price for the efficiency and honesty with which they have met the costs of military, industrial and public improvements in that area.

Had they unloaded their bonds on other nations' investors—French, British or Russian—the latter powers might have negotiated a stiffer bargain with Herr Hitler; they would have demanded that their nationals be repaid. But under the Masaryk and Benes regimes the Czech government redeemed most of the securities held outside its borders, and financed most of their new construction from internal funds. Thus there is no outside power to yelp and insist that Hitler make compensation for the factories and fortifications which he will seize—estimated to have cost a minimum of several billion.

The Czechs have never defaulted on their bonds except with the City of Carlsbad issue—and even during the recent crisis their securities bounced back from a low of 50 to between 70 and 80. The external debt of 24 million meant nothing to the nations that helped to carve her into a predominantly agricultural state.

* * *

ADMISSION: James A. Farley recently broke down and confessed thot the New Deal had frequently given him many bad moments.

While attending the funeral of a statesman whom he once helped to defeat for high office, and whom he frequently opposed on Capitol Hill, big-hearted Jim met a relative of his deceased enemy. He held out his hand and said:

"I think that—(mentioning the dead politician) knew that I liked and admired him personally, though we often differed. I also think he knew—and I want you to know—that in recent years I have had to do many things which I did not approve."

The interesting news is, not that Jim did it—but that he admits it.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE anti-Soviet aspects of the Four Power agreement have escaped general attention (except in Russia) in the world-wide surge of relief that war has been averted. But the reorientation of Europe under fascist leadership will become apparent before many months have passed.

New York insiders will be watching France closely as this realization dawns. Left wing forces are strong in that country and are likely to be very resentful when they discover the extent to which France has been subtly drawn into the fascist orbit. It is already clear that Czechoslovakia will be forced to cancel her pact with Russia in exchange for the Four Power "guarantee" that her shrunken frontiers will not be violated. It will become clear in due course that France is likewise expected to call off her military alliance with Moscow.

As we have previously reported, the tension between French radicals and conservatives is acute. The implications of France's role in the Four Power setup might easily touch off a terrific internal explosion. An astute observer puts it: "Premier Daladier is a hero today, but I would certainly hate to be in his shoes six months from now."

* * *

ELIMINATION: Some of District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's most loyal friends are privately perturbed at his acceptance of the Republican nomination for governor of New York. They pleaded with him up to the last minute to turn it down. They fear he has been led into a quicksand that may ruin his promising political future.

The enthusiasm and determination of the draft-Dewey crowd swept the young D. A. off his feet. They assured him—and believed it—that Lehman would not accept the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, and that he was a cinch to win against anyone else. By the time he found out otherwise it was too late for him to withdraw.

There's no doubt that New York Republican leaders are really excited about Dewey. They are showing more life than they have in years. Dewey should make a colorful and effective campaigner, but Lehman figures to beat him unless some unforeseen factor enters the situation between now and November. If he does, it will eliminate—at least temporarily—a G.O.P. menace who has had the Democratic chiefs genuinely worried.

"We haven't been to a dance since the baby was born. Harvey's afraid she'll kick her cover off."

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—A constitutional amendment authorizing an appropriation to advertise Texas probably will be introduced again at the session of the legislature which begins in January.

Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Woodul, who claims to have originated the idea of a state advertising program for Texas, said recently the proposal had too much merit to drop, and, despite its lack of progress in the legislature last year, would be placed before the lawmakers once more.

As sponsored by Senator Houghton Brownlee of Austin in cooperation with Woodul, the amendment would have allowed an appropriation of up to $3,000,000 to be spent over a period of five years. In Woodul's opinion, this amount, or $600,000 a year, is the minimum with which Texas should attempt to advertise itself nationally.

"The one outstanding thing Texas needs is to advertise," Woodul said. "Other states are doing it. Why not Texas? Several Texas cities have tried it and are deriving real benefits."

He emphasized one point:

"If Texas does adopt an advertising program," he said, "it should not be just for a day. It should be continuous."

He suggested that any state advertising could well be supplemented by Texas cities.

On Air-Conditioning

Air-conditioning hasn't helped people's health but might if it can be properly operated, says Dean W. R. Woolrich of the College of Engineering at the University of Texas.

He was commenting on a reported increase in the use of electrical power in Austin this year attributed by city officials largely to the greater distribution of air conditioning apparatus.

"Air conditioning is far from perfect," Woolrich said. "Many places are overcooled. One entering such places after a brisk walk may take cold."

THERE seems to be a growing feeling in official state quarters that if Texas should decide to give pensions to all over 65 state and federal cooperation in old age assistance would not be as difficult to work out as some had thought.

No one who has any real information on the subject thinks for a minute that the federal government is going to reverse its announced policy of basing its aid on need. This policy was re-asserted in Dallas the other day by Arthur J. Altmeyer of Washington, D. C., chairman of the Social Security board, who said federal aid would be available only to those who had been investigated and found in need.

The opinion is evident in circles which have been studying the matter that federal authorities would not oppose a dual plan whereby the state would pay pensions to those who could not qualify on a basis of need and state and federal government would cooperate in aiding persons actually in need.

U. S. Stands Firm

One authoritative source said the federal attitude was that if the state wanted to give away money just because someone was 65 years old it could do so, but no federal money would go to that person. On the other hand this source expressed the belief that federal authorities would be glad to help the state assist another person whose need had been plainly established by investigation.

"A system of classification might be set up," it was said, "a system which would start with the application for a pension. Many persons now are rejected because they are found not to be in need. These might receive pensions because they were 65. They would constitute one group.

* * *

"THE NEEDY would be the other classification and the federal government would assist in providing for them. There would be extra efforts to get in this classification because the assistance would be larger than payments in the other group.

"The maximum to the non-needy group under the present constitution would be $15 monthly. What the state paid to the needy would be matched by federal money.

"It would be a sorting process."

The cost of old age assistance in Texas this year will be about $18,000,000, divided equally between state and federal governments. Between 112,000 and 113,000 currently are on the pension rolls.

O'Daniel Talks With Press

W. Lee O'Daniel, Democratic nominee for governor, was interviewed by a room-full of newspapermen in Dallas when he was a guest of the alumni chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, but there was not a reporter present.

All his remarks were "off the record" by advance agreement, and not even Daughter Molly, herself a reporter, was privileged to write what was said.

O'Daniel and the newspapermen, some from daily papers, press services and magazines, discussed state problems frankly.

Mexican Ends Life In Jail

Officers and a funeral home here continued late into Thursday night to try to find relatives of a despondent Mexican cotton picker who, after three unsuccessful attempts, succeeded in killing himself.

His body was taken to Sanders Funeral home but early today no arrangements for funeral services had been made, pending communications with relatives or steps by the county.

His fourth attempt to die was successful. His body was found about 8 o'clock Thursday morning grotesquely twisted against the latticed wall of a cell in the county jail.

Used Trousers Leg

One leg of a pair of cotton trousers had been knotted about the steel lattice-work of the wall. The other leg was slip-noosed about his neck. His toes dug against a metal bunk with such pressure the nail was broken and blood flowed. His knees swung clear of the bed of the bunk by not more than an inch or two.

In the pocket of one of his garments was found a small mirror in a round frame. The glass was newly broken, squarely across the middle.

Came Here Sunday

The man was tentatively identified by city and county officers who participated in the investigation as Pantaleon Tenorio, about 35, an unemployed barber who came here from Austin Sunday in search of work as a cotton picker.

The routine finding by Justice of the Peace S. E. McMillan after an inquest was that the man committed suicide, death being due to strangulation. Police Chief Don Reeder is attempting to locate survivors. The chief and Aubrey Sawyer, assistant police identification officer, made fingerprints from the body.

Case Without Parallel

As an example of perseverance to self destruction, the case was described by Reeder and Sheriff Tom Abel as being without parallel in their experience.

Police first were called about 4:30 by the crew of a Santa Fe switch engine who reported they discovered the man stretched upon the track, his neck across one rail, his arms stoically folded, in the path of the approaching locomotive. Policemen H. B. Brown and Carl Francis took him to the city jail where he was booked for investigation and locked up.

The change of police shifts occurred soon after, City Recorder B. T. Millsap taking over the day record desk.

Not long after, Millsap responded to the cry of prisoners and discovered, he related, that Tenorio had attempted to hang himself with a leather belt. The belt broke, however.

A few minutes later the city recorder heard repeated heavy blows against the steel walls of the cells. Millsap said that Tenorio was leaping head first against the metal.

The transfer to the county jail followed and the suspect was confined as a city prisoner under a business arrangement with the county. Jailer Jim Robinson said the man seemed to have quieted and he left him in a second floor cell—one of the largest in the jail. Robinson discovered the suicide while distributing the morning meal to prisoners.

All officers who came in contact with Tenorio said he refused any explanation for the attempts he had made on his life. Although he responded to questions, reports said, he answered them tersely.

Deputy Sheriff Parum Posey reported, however, that he found in Tenario's clothing a 1938 barber's license and a divorce decree from the district court of Refugio county, dated April 8, 1936. The document related that the divorce had been granted to Pantalion Tenorio from Viola Tenorio.

Chief Reeder later was told by J. M. Carmona, a barber who came to Lubbock from Austin several days ago and has opened a shop at 223 Avenue K, that he had known Tenorio as a barber in Austin for several years. He added that he had seen the man here at various times since Sunday, including Wednesday night, and that Tenorio seemed moody.

The chief said that copies of the fingerprints will be mailed to the state bureau of investigation in Austin at once.

Sheriff Abel recalled that the suicide was only the second to occur in the jail in more than six years. A man accused of the slaying of a woman slashed his wrists with fatal results in the hospital ward of the jail about three years ago.

She Was Wed In Wheel-Chair; Honeymoon To Be Spent In Hospital; She Is Happy

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6. (AP)—She was wed in a wheel-chair. Her honeymoon will be spent in a hospital. But Marie Nogaim, 26, of El Paso, Tex., was a cheery bride today.

Two weeks ago she hurt her back in a train crash at Niland, Calif., in which several other passengers were killed.

Last night she was wheeled to an improvised hospital altar, where a minister married her to John Kabbas, 35, of Los Angeles.

Drastic Steps To Prevent Grass Fires In Mackenzie State Park Are To Be Taken

Drastic steps to prevent grass fires in Mackenzie park were planned by park officials Thursday after two within a week had caused serious damage to trees.

One of the fires swept Wednesday night over part of a 60-acre tract which was planted in trees and shrubs last fall, according to Kelso D. Vernor, superintendent.

Last Friday night, he added, a fire which started in grass on the adjoining Meadowbrook golf course spread into the same forested area.

Each fire, he added, destroyed 40 or 50 trees planted at considerable expense and tended carefully since.

The first of the fires, he said, was brought under control only after scores of volunteers had fought it more than two hours. Assisting in the fire fighting were enrollees of Lubbock Civilian Conservation Corps camp.

The last fire burned itself out and was not discovered until daybreak.

How the fires may have started is problematical, the superintendent said. Supposition is that the first resulted from a golfer's carelessly tossed match or cigaret. The second probably was caused, he believed, by carelessness on the part of "neckers."

Police, however, have been investigating reports that boys have deliberately set a number of grass fires within the city. Officers have been instructed to watch for and arrest any such pranksters.

Vernor urged that those using the golf course or the park be careful with their matches and cigarets. Fires are particularly dangerous now because of the long lack of rain, he added.

Meanwhile, he said, park workers are watching for such carelessness and arrests will be made where violations are discovered.

He asked particularly that anyone seeing a grass fire in the park report it immediately so as to ease the task of bringing it under control.

Special guests will be Master Masons planning to take Scottish Rite work in El Paso week after next and every Scottish Rite Mason in this area, regardless of whether or not he is a member of the club, is urged to attend, Grant said.

Philadelphia Inquirer Said To Be In Contempt Of Court

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6. (AP)—The state supreme court today warned the Philadelphia Inquirer it was in contempt of court for the publication of a story forecasting the court's decision on laws affecting a proposed grand jury investigation of campaign charges against Governor George H. Earle and 13 others.

The court, acting under a century-old law regarding the publication of stories about courts, announced it would certify the records of today's proceedings to the district attorney of Philadelphia county "for such criminal or other action as he may see fit to take."

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 6. (AP)—The top members of the Pennsylvania Democratic ticket had a political talk today with President Roosevelt, and reported they had told him the party would win by 200,000 in that state in the November elections.

Foreign Agents Are Registered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—A flood of last-minute registrations of agents of foreign governments poured into the state department today as the deadline—midnight tonight—approached for complying with the law passed at the last session of congress.

Under the law, foreign agents must register with the state department. They are required to give their compensation, the nature of their employment, the name of the foreign principal employing them, and to supply copies of their contracts or articles of incorporation.

Penalty Is Heavy

The penalty for non-compliance is a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

Joseph Green, chief of the division which is taking the registrations, said so many had come in at the last minute that he had had to increase his staff to handle them.

Despite this rush, officials said indications were that the deadline would arrive with many persons who should have registered not having done so.

Toward the end of the week, or early next week, the state department will begin making the registrations open to the public, as the law requires.

Fountain Drowns Huge Army Of Invading Grasshoppers

FOUNTAIN, Colo., Oct. 6. (AP)—The residents of this town and of nearby irrigated districts resorted successfully to ancient moat defenses recently to repel a threatened invasion of grasshoppers.

Hoppers, too young to fly, were moving toward the town and the rich farm lands. The problem was to exterminate them before they grew wings and could fly.

Water was turned into an old ditch that circled the city on the north, east and south sides. Poisoned bran was scattered on the side of the ditch from which the hoppers were approaching.

Healthy grasshoppers can swim, but the poison made them ill. When they tried to cross the water they were washed downstream into a nearby reservoir.

There they drowned and nearby residents reported the millions of bodies created such a stench it was "almost unbearable."

Have You Asked Your Neighbor About Our Milk?

TARZAN THE FEARLESS No. 47 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Jeff was elated when Kagundo agreed to exchange the fabulous emeralds for Tarzan, dead or alive. He believed that by trickery he could capture the ape-man. Now the witch-doctor turned to resume the fiendish ceremonies which would be climaxed by Mary's death.

Jeff's mind worked quickly. He wanted to save Mary, too, hoping that someday he might persuade her to marry him. "No, no!" he called out to Kagundo: "you must not kill the girl. She is attractive to Tarzan, the Tree-Devil. I shall use her as bait to trap him."

Kagundo nodded. He would do nothing to interfere with the capture of the elusive demon. With a lordly gesture he commanded the guards to return the girl to her companions. "I have saved you," Jeff boasted. Mary looked up eagerly, excitedly. "Are we free?"

"I've only won a delay," he said; "tonight, we'll all try to escape." But the treacherous white man turned to Kagundo and said in the native tongue: "The girl and I shall leave tonight in search of Tarzan. Tomorrow you may feed the other captives to the Tree-God."

Question Of Sudeten Areas With Mixed Populations May Not Require Vote

Settlement Is Believed Near

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Oct. 6. — Both German and Czechoslovak sources indicated tonight their countries might settle the issue of Sudetenland areas with mixed populations without resorting to a plebiscite.

The question of the mixed areas is the next to be solved in the progressive realization of the terms of the four-power Munich accord which marked out four zones in Czechoslovakia to be occupied by tomorrow by German troops—and the last of the zones was in process of occupation today.

Others To Be Determined

It also empowered the international commission to determine the remaining territory of preponderantly German character to be occupied by German soldiers by next Monday.

The commission defined this area last night and it was estimated that it and the four zones granted at Munich would give Germany approximately 5,000 square miles.

The next step under the Munich accord would be to determine territories which would vote in a plebiscite for union with Germany or for staying with Czechoslovakia.

Prospects Brighten

But so favorably have negotiations progressed since yesterday's resignation of Eduard Benes as president of Czechoslovakia that prospects brightened for settling the question of the mixed areas without the necessity of a plebiscite.

It was stated emphatically that no threat of any kind had been issued on the part of Germany to compel action by the commission favorable to her.

On the contrary, one nazi spokesman said, "We would be fools to disturb an all around European understanding now in the process of making by haggling over this or that village or this or that rural district."

Wants No Czechs

"Hitler again and again has stated he wants no Czechs," a nazi party spokesman said.

"Wherever, therefore, Czechs or other nationalities preponderate we do not propose even to ask for those sections."

It was stated authoritatively the question of the frontiers and areas to be evacuated by either side through transfers of populations already had been agreed to in principle and the international commission now was working on the economic questions of transfers of title and allied problems.

Lubbock Kiwanians To Attend Session

A dozen Kiwanians are planning to leave Lubbock Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock for Ardmore, Okla., to attend the annual Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis International district convention there Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

B. Sherrod, in charge of the "On to Ardmore" committee, announces a special South Plains bus has been chartered and it will leave the Union bus terminal at that time. Return will be Tuesday night after the convention. The club directors voted to charter a bus for the trip.

Tentative members of the party are announced as, Dr. J. W. Rollo, President O. W. English, Fred Childress, Marion F. Sanford, Charles A. Still, W. C. Rylander, secretary, Dude Buster, Robert Pace, J. C. Sanders, W. G. McMillan and Joe Wilson. Dr. J. C. Anderson and S. C. Wilson plan to make the trip if they can arrange it, Sherrod added. He will head the party.

Special Committee Meeting Is Held In City Yesterday

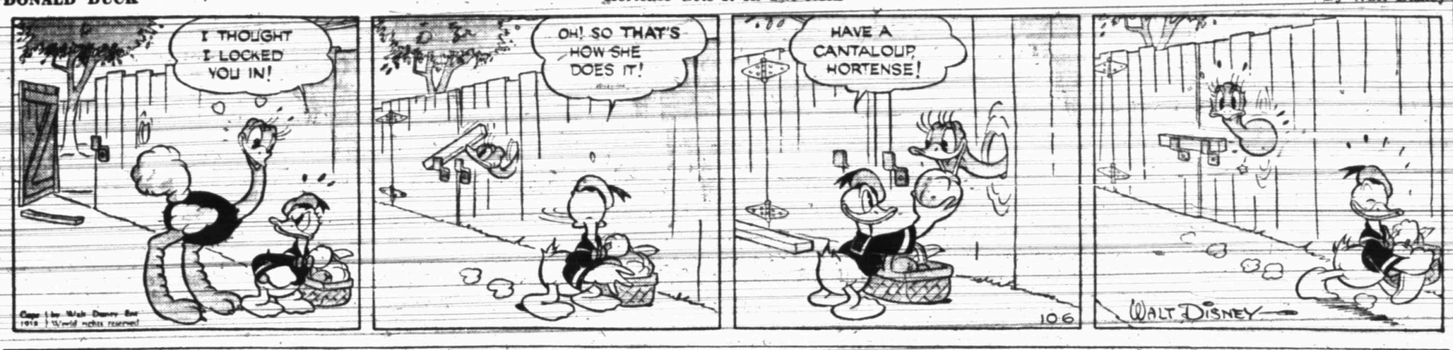

Lubbock's participation next week in national fire prevention week was planned at a special meeting of a chamber of commerce committee headed by J. E. Maisen Thursday.

Activities will include: Award of cash prizes by the Lubbock Insurance exchange of $5, $3 and seven of $1 to Senior High school pupils in a poster contest; inspections and demonstrations at schools by members of the fire department; cooperation of ministers with pulpit announcements Sunday which will mark the beginning of the week's observance; talks by Maisen and Marion Sanford before luncheon clubs; fire drills in schools; distributions of voluminous literature.

Mrs. Bruce Bryan, art teacher at Senior High school, will direct the poster contest.

Attending the committee meeting were Maisen, Sanford, Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, Fire Marshal Cecil Casey and Ed Hambright.

Record For Attendance In State Parks Is Set Up Here; Figure Put At 282,000

All records for attendance at any Texas state park within any season were broken in Mackenzie park during the past season with an aggregate of approximately 282,000.

The number is approximately 30,000 more than took advantage of recreational opportunities of the park last season, when the total of 252,000 was larger than for all other Texas state parks combined.

These facts were disclosed today as Kelso D. Vernor, park superintendent, completed his compilations of figures for the recent season. The checking period ended last Oct. 1, but several days were required to complete the tabulations.

The figure, 282,000, he explained, is the combined result of actual checking and of estimates based on that checking.

In arriving at the figures, he related men were assigned each Saturday, Sunday and holiday to the task of checking the numbers of persons who entered the park. Then one additional day of each week also was checked. The first week, the day was Monday, the second week, Tuesday, rotating in such manner throughout the season to include each week-day.

The figures showed that the aggregate attendance for various days during the season has been:

Monday, 58,089; Tuesday, 20,400; Wednesday, 27,356; Thursday, 23,749; Friday, 29,172; Saturday, 24,086; and Sunday, 99,784.

While final reports from various others of the 10 state parks have not yet become available here, the most recent statements were that their increased attendance was about the same in proportion as that shown for Mackenzie.

On the basis of those same figures, it was disclosed, the aggregate attendance here still will be far in excess of all others combined.

The short staccato sentences, the smudged, illegible scrawls, spoke only too plainly of the bitter urgency in which they had been written. It was a cry of dispair, but it was also a call for help.

Special Meeting Of Commission To Inspect Engine Is Planned

Special meeting of the city commission is planned for Friday, for final inspection and decision upon acceptance or rejection of a recently installed $130,000 Diesel engine at the city electric plant, according to information given at the city hall yesterday.

The engine, purchased more than a year ago, has been installed only a few weeks which have been devoted to tests under the supervision of J. J. Graham, plant superintendent. Original tests were made with crude oil as fuel but gas now is being used, Graham said. Gas, he explained, is cleaner and more economical.

Tests, he added, have proved "most satisfactory" and city hall belief is that acceptance will be more or less routine. The city will be permitted to pay for the engine out of revenues it earns, officials said.

Guarantee For Library Given

A conditional guarantee of a $50,000 technical library at Texas Technological college was given by directors of the chamber of commerce at a special meeting Thursday, according to Judge R. C. Hopping, president.

The guarantee, it was explained, is in connection with the effort to obtain for Lubbock one of the agricultural research laboratories now planned by the federal department of agriculture.

Should Lubbock obtain one of the laboratories, it is believed, it will be especially for cotton research.

Guarantees Are Conditioned

Guarantees are conditioned, according to the announcement, upon the research laboratory being located here, and upon the library being designated as an essential to the facility.

Just when the places of location of various of the laboratories, of which four are planned, will be announced is uncertain. However, committees representing the college, the chember and the city have been working actively on Lubbock behalf for several months.

Expectation is, it was said, that the facility will involve an investment of more than $1,000,000.

A technical library, members of the chamber were informed, is an important need of Tech under existing conditions. It will be essential if a laboratory is to function, the report continued.

Brief routine business also was transacted at the directors' meeting, Judge Hopping said.

Veteran Residents Of County Leading In Tax Payments

Those who have been in Lubbock longest have been setting an example for promptness in the payment of new poll taxes, according to H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector.

Of the six persons who obtained poll tax receipts during the forenoon, he added, none has resided in the county less than 15 years. Those qualifying to vote and their length of residence were: Mrs. L. C. Denton, 1410 Main street, 36 years; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schillings of Slaton, 24 years; Miss Elsie V. Link, 1902 Sixteenth street, 17 years; and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wain, 1711 Eighteenth street, 15 years.

Mrs. Schillings became the first property owner listed on the supplemental or unrendered roll to pay her taxes for the new payment period, Bryan said.

Drivers Who Fail To Dim Lights Are Cause Of Many Accidents

AUSTIN, Oct. 6. (AP)—Drivers who failed to dim headlights for approaching vehicles were involved in accidents which caused 73 deaths and 18 serious injuries in the first eight months of the year.

This was a prelude to a statement by Homer Garrison, jr., state police chief, that light blindness is one of the principal factors in fatal and serious highway smashups.

"Dimming lights is a mere courtesy that would save many lives," he added.

Railway Lines Suffer Losses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Even when a hurricane strikes a whole section of the country, a railroad president testified today, railroads suffer worse than their competitors.

The executive, Frederick W. Williamson of the New York Central system, was referring specifically to the recent New England storm. He told a presidential board hearing the case for and against a rail wage cut that railroads had to pay for their own storm damage, whereas governments repaired the highways over which truck and buses run.

Williamson made the point in his argument that the railroads cannot afford to pay present wage scales. The board is seeking a compromise in the deadlock between railway labor and management over a proposed 15 per cent wage reduction.

M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, told President Roosevelt's fact-finding board that the workers who have voted to strike against the proposed wage cut had failed to "see the picture of the whole."

He warned that railroad employment is "lessening and will continue to lessen, when it should be increasing—unless wage and other questions are approached and disposed of from a commonsense standpoint."

America Has Learned A Lot About Wars Since The Dark Days Back In 1914

Huge Difference In Attitude Of Entire Nation Is Very Evident

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6—America, 1938:

A nation tense, braced, and alert to the perils of a world crisis.

America, 1914:

A nation wholly unprepared for the shock of world hysteria.

At a glance, that's the difference between then and now.

During those 24 years in between, the psychologist tells you, America has come of age. Says the scientist, it's the new magic of world communications. Rather, retorts the historian, it's the World war, and its train of sad experience.

Newspapers Reveal It

Whatever it may be, the difference is clear. And the easiest place to detect it is in the daily newspapers of 1914 and today.

For months the newspapers have been aware of the dangers of a European war, and have reported development step by step.

Names of the statesmen struggling with the menace have become household words. The voices of those statesmen sound in American homes. New maps, action photographs and interpretive dispatches from every major world capital measure the fluctuating fever of crisis.

But take July 1, 1914, a few days after Archduke Ferdinand and his consort had fallen at Sarajevo, victims of a Balkan assassin's bullets.

Only three weeks later all Europe was mobilizing for war, yet American newspapers were all but silent on the assassination. Three paragraphs graced the inside pages of one metropolitan journal.

Woman Suffrage Then

The burning issue then was woman suffrage. That same day's paper devoted columns to it. The squirming of congressmen, their locked office doors, their hasty retreat from a squad of suffrage workers, were related in detail.

Interesting sidelights were suffragette plans for a carnival of dancing to raise campaign funds. Pretty young women were to dub themselves the candy kids and sell suffrage kisses.

The dancing was a popular stroke. The nation was in the throes of a craze no whit less intense than today's swing epidemic.

The hesitation waltz, Brazilian maxixe, tango, fishwalk and one-step absorbed the younger generation.

During those same weeks, a railroad strike by 55,000 workers impended in the West. On Aug. 1, two days before general warfare broke out in Europe, employers and employes met with President Wilson.

"A strike would be more serious for this country than the European war," someone suggested as they filed in.

Opera-goers were more concerned over the dismal prospect that the war would hold foreign stars in their homelands.

Prophets Get Busy

Before July passed, however, people perceived that a great war was inevitable.

On July 31 the New York Stock Exchange closed to avert a financial panic. Gold was flying to Europe. The United States was a debtor nation.

Some 300,000 Americans were trapped in the war area, with no way to cash their perfectly good checks, no ships to bring them home. Congress put up $2,500,000 in gold. Bankers matched it, and the cruiser Tennessee took the ransom to Europe. Millionaire tourists rode cattle trains. Several Americans were killed; some few killed themselves. It was months before the last travelers got home.

A ship famine threatened our foreign commerce. All but 17 per cent of our trade had moved on foreign ships that no longer were available. Cotton and wheat piled up in warehouses. John Citizen was unbelieving. European war couldn't do this to him!

There was more truth than comedy in Webster's current cartoon impression of a perplexed father trying to answer his children when they asked him, "What is a t-r-i-p-l-e e-n-t-e-n-t-e?"

Then came the deluge of discussion. Nearly everybody blossomed into a prophet or a military strategist.

A leading magazine confidently printed this when war was declared: "Our isolated position and freedom from entangling alliances inspired . . . the cheering assurance that we are in no peril of being drawn into the conflict."

Feet On The Ground

A newspaper headline read: "European War Will Be Shortest On Record, Is The Opinion Of Experts."

But the United States Army general staff had its feet on the ground. Said one of its members: "The new French field gun (which became famous as the French 75) is a remarkable advance in artillery. . . . Germany can mobilize instantly, her railway cars being designed for troop movement. . . . German organization is most efficient. . . . But the German army is sadly mistaken if it thinks it is going to dispose of France in a twinkling and turn on Russia before enemy troops know what's happened. . . . We are going to find out whether the submarine and airplane are going to revolutionize warfare."

Former President William Howard Taft lamented the cataclysm, but fished around until he found a ray of hope. He wrote:

"We have every reason to be happy we can preserve strict neutrality. . . . After the struggle . . . there will be every reason for common sense to resume its sway . . . and the opportunity and the motive for a reduction in armaments and the taking away of further temptation for further war will be greatly enchanced. . . . In the end it may be worth what it costs, if it makes this the last Great war."

He was almost right.

Mexico Is Fighting To Stop Profiteering On Foreigners

MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 6 (AP)—Mexico, keenly appreciative of its tourist trade, is moving at every turn to prevent gouging of visitors.

Recently the government press bureau published a warning to merchants that it is a violation of the law to hike prices on merchandise that tourists buy and that offenders will be prosecuted.

The government disbanded guides at the highway entrance to Mexico City because some of them represented themselves as government officials. Motorists were led to believe it was required that they hire guides to escort them into the city.

Now a special office has been established in Xochimilco, floral beauty spot near here, to prevent boatmen from over-charging visitors.

The Tartarian lamb is a plant not an animal. This Chinese fern has a "fleece" resembling that of sheep.

New Minister Will Be In City Today

Rev. John A. Winslow, accompanied by Mrs. Winslow and their baby, are scheduled to arrive in Lubbock today where he is to assume his duties as minister in charge of St. Paul's-on-the Plains Episcopal church, according to word received Thursday from Bishop E. C. Seaman of Amarillo.

The minister, who is being transferred from the diocese of southwestern Virginia, delayed his arrival here to participate there in the consecration of Rev. Dr. Henry D. Phillips as bishop.

Within a short time the Winslow family will be at home in the Episcopal rectory at 1604 Avenue Q. His first ministrations are scheduled to be at the Corporate Communion of college students at Creighton chapel in Seaman hall, 2407 Sixteenth street, at 8 o'clock Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Winslow will next appear at the church Sunday school in St. Paul's, 1609 Avenue Q, at 9:45, and at 11 o'clock will be instituted at St. Paul's as minister-in-charge by Bishop Seaman in the formal service provided for such occasions. Bishop Seaman will preach, and immediately before the benediction the newly-installed minister will give his first pastoral address.

Pre-Historic Mummy Placed On Exhibition In Cavern

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Mammoth Cave's pre-Columbian mummy, thought by archaeologists to be the most interesting relic of its kind east of the Mississippi, is now displayed in a new moisture-proof case in the cave.

It is shown a few feet from the spot in which it had lain for untold centuries before it was found, the national park service says. Suspended over the spot where the body was found is the five-ton rock which caused the death of the pre-historic miner.

Love Caused Her To Be Over-Anxious But Judge Couldn't See Excuse; Fined $5

LONDON, Oct. 6. (AP)—The limit, even for love, was reached by Kathleen Mary House of Wolseley Road, Crouch End, who was fined for exceeding the speed limit in her car. Miss House wrote the court:

"I admit I was in a hurry, but I was trying to reach my fiance before he returned to work. My enthusiasm to meet him, due to my having become engaged only a day or so before, over-rode for a moment my consideration for the 30-mile limit."

Despite her plea she was fined $5.

Some Say PWA Is Slow; But Cupid Is Quick To Reply

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 6. (AP)—When officials told Donald Butler, 22, of Omaha, he couldn't get a PWA job because he didn't have a wife, he went right out and got married—something he had wanted to do for some time.

His bride was 14-year-old Audrey Mae Eden. They had to go to Iowa to be wed as Nebrasaka law sets the feminine marriage age limit at 16 even with parents' consent.
