Suspicion Of Police Swings Back To John Hughes Curtis In Ransom Fraud

BOAT BUILDER IN NEW YORK DAY OF DEAL

'Known Gangster' Sought With Information Of Baby's Murder

GRAND JURY MEETS

'Jafsie' Spends Hours In Courthouse Telling Of His Negotiations

By FRANCIS A. JAMIESON

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 20. (AP)—The police searchlight unexpectedly swung back today to the whereabouts of John Hughes Curtis, confessed hoax negotiator, on the night of April 2 when Dr. John F. Condon paid a futile $50,000 ransom for the Lindbergh baby in the murky stillness of a New York City cemetery.

"Investigation of the movements of Curtis on the night of April 2 still under way," said Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, state police head, in a surprise statement, "this will not be completed and corroborated until the early part of next week."

Was There Same Day

The coincidence that Curtis flew to New York on the morning of April 2 was believed yesterday to have been disposed of when police said "there is nothing that would in any way link him with the actual kidnaping and the collection of the ransom money."

Further scrutiny of the activity of Curtis was only one of the multifarious tasks undertaken during the day by authorities. Salient among the others were these:

1. "Gladly" signing a waiver of immunity, Dr. Condon spent two hours and a quarter telling a Bronx (New York City) grand jury, a detailed story of his entire connection with the fantastic drama.

Two Clues Pursued

2. Two mystery clues were pursued from the police headquarters here. One was the statement of a "known gangster while passing through Maryland" that he had information about the kidnaping and his further assertion just before the child's body was found that the infant was dead. The second clue was a possible connection between the abduction and another case described vaguely as the "attempted king kidnaping."

3. An official offer, immediately rejected, to reimburse Dean H. Dobson-Peacock for traveling expenses if he would come here from Norfolk, Va., to confront Curtis, his one-time associate. The clergyman said he would stand on his willingness to meet in Norfolk any accredited police representative.

Mayor Walker Involved

4. A police disclaimer of any significance in an advertisement in a New York morning newspaper saying: "Citizen—guarantee absolute confidence. Jimmy." The New York Evening Post said it had learned Mayor James J. Walker had received a letter promising

Beer-For-Revenue. Vote Assured For House On Monday

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—A house vote on beer-for-revenue legislation next Monday was assured today when anti-prohibitionists insisted on a Saturday session to meet parliamentary requirements.

The rules required that the discharge petition through which 145 members could force the vote on the O'Connor-Hull bill for a three cents a pint tax on 2.75 per cent beer must be recorded on the calendar for seven legislative days before a vote would be in order. This rule made the Saturday meeting necessary for a vote Monday.

Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, prohibitionist, suggested adjournment over the week-end but Tammany members forced the Saturday meeting.

DALLAS ROBBERY

DALLAS, May 20. (AP)—The Grande Lodge Service station was robbed of $240 this afternoon by a man who held up the manager, E. Millsap. The robber fled in the direction of the Trinity river bottoms.

Five years to the day after Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off on his epochal flight to Paris, Amelia Earhart piloted her big plane east from Harbor Grace, N. F., with Paris her goal.

Texas Dry Leaders Launch Desperate Effort To Head Off Wet Declaration

Stand for Repeal at State Demo Convention to Split Party And May Result in Republican Governor, Is Claim

AUSTIN, May 20. (UP)—Prominent dry leaders in Texas were making desperate efforts here tonight to head off a threatened "wet" declaration at the Texas state Democratic convention to be held in Houston Tuesday.

Wets, admittedly in control of the convention, have said they will endorse repeal of prohibition.

"If they do, they will split the Democratic party in Texas wide open," said former Gov. Dan Moody, a dry leader.

May Abandon Party

"I will vote for a wet candidate on a dry platform," said former Atty. Gen. W. A. Keeling. "I do not think I could vote for a wet candidate on a wet platform. I believe many people feel so strongly on the prohibition question that they would give up their party before following it on a wet platform."

"The state convention should leave all instructions to the national convention at Chicago," said Gov. Ross S. Sterling.

Though the majority of the delegates at the state convention may be wet, Keeling says, they do not reflect the sentiment of the state. Their control, he says, was largely due to drys refusing to go into the precinct and county conventions and pledge themselves in advance to support the party presidential ticket regardless of the liquor issue.

Garner Chance Cited

Numerous telephone communications have been had between Austin and Houston since the wets have announced an intention to declare for repeal.

Practical arguments being urged against the declaration for repeal are:

A declaration will hamper Speaker John Garner's chances of winning a presidential nomination at Chicago.

A declaration for repeal will be a slap at Texas Senator Morris Sheppard, author of the 18th amendment.

A split between wet and drys may

FIRE DAMAGES RAIL BRIDGE

Huge Span at Wellington Swept by Flames

WELLINGTON, Texas, May 20. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin this morning damaged the Fort Worth and Denver Northern railroad bridge spanning Buck creek, nine miles south of Wellington. Flames spread over about half of the 700-foot span and it is believed at least one-fourth of the structure will have to be rebuilt.

The fire departments of Wellington and Childress worked more than three hours in extinguishing the blaze.

Damage to the bridge may delay construction on the Denver's extension to Pampa several days.

Socialists Study Plan To Make U. S. Socialistic

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 20. (AP)—The national executive committee of the Socialist party today studied a plan to make America Socialistic through a 20th amendment to the constitution.

The suggestion was presented as the committee weighed a great volume of material for a platform for the party, which will hold its national convention here tomorrow, Sunday and Monday. The form of the proposed amendment was tentative, but it is designed to confer on the government constitutional authority for ownership of mines, transportation systems and all public utilities.

League Council Would Give Liberia Manager

GENEVA, May 20. (AP)—A scheme for reorganizing the Liberian government, which would provide for an international manager to whom full authority would be delegated, was adopted today by the council of the League of Nations.

Laemmle to Undergo Operation at John Hopkins

BALTIMORE, Md., May 20. (US)—Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Pictures corporation who has been under observation at Johns Hopkins hospital several days, will undergo an operation within the next few days, Dr. Hugh Young, head of the urological institute, said today.

Dr. Young said the operation, which is not serious, might be performed tomorrow or Monday.

Jackrabbit Roping Controversy Goes Into Court On Plea For Injunction

ODESSA, Texas, May 20. (UP)—The controversy over wild jackrabbit roping started by 22 Denver citizens went into the court today, for judicial determination whether such sport is "inhumane and degrading."

Counsel for the Odessa post, American Legion, which is sponsoring the Memorial day rodeo in which the rabbit roping was one event, applied for an injunction to keep Sheriff Reeder Webb from interfering with the event. The application will be heard May 23.

Meantime, the town and all Ector county continued upset over the order Sheriff Webb issued at behest of the Denver citizens and against his own inclinations. The popular feeling was one of indignation at "dictation from outsiders" as to treatment of the county's jackrabbits.

The legion counsel, however, kept all emotion from the plea for injunction, basing it on strictly legal grounds. The plea recited, first, that the event would not be inhumane, as alleged by the Coloradoans; and further, that the rabbits are the property of the legion which can rope them if it wants to do so.

WOMAN FLIER ATTEMPTS TO SPAN ATLANTIC

Aviatrix Selects Date On Which Lindy Crossed Five Years Ago

BOUND FOR PARIS

Giant Airliner DO-X Will Follow in Wake When Weather Permits

HARBOR GRACE, May 20. (US)—Following the trail blazed to Paris just five years ago today by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, who hopes to be the first woman to fly the Atlantic, roared off into the Atlantic at 7:20 p. m. (3:50 p. m. Wichita Falls time) today.

Just before she stepped into the single-motored red and gold monoplane on which she pins her hopes, Mrs. Putnam announced that Paris is her destination. Previously she had dismissed all questions concerning her goal with a nonchalant "oh, anywhere."

Mrs. Putnam's plane soared out on the great adventure three hours and 20 minutes after she had landed it here on a hop from St. John, Newfoundland.

Balchen Confident

From the ground Bernt Balchen, Admiral Richard E. Byrd's pilot on his Atlantic and South Pole flights, who accompanied Mrs. Putnam here with a mechanic, waved her farewell.

"She'll make it." This was Balchen's only comment.

The speedy monoplane rose easily from the airport here and pointed out to sea where a gathering mist quickly hid it from view.

Behind her Mrs. Putnam leaves the 50-ton, 12 motored German flying boat, DO-X which will carry a crew of 13 men and one woman out to sea in her wake as soon as Captain Christiansen deems the weather favorable enough for his giant airliner.

Amelia Keeps Calm

Mrs. Putnam was just as calm and matter-of-fact about her takeoff as she has been since the beginning of her daring venture. At the last moment she injected an element of surprise by revealing Paris—the Paris that Lindbergh dropped into on May 21—as her goal.

Previously it had been reported that Mrs. Putnam planned to fly to Rome to attend the first international congress of transoceanic flyers, opening Sunday. Other reports said that she was aiming for a new long-distance flight record and would continue on across Europe until her gasoline tanks were drained.

Commander Impatient

Captain Christiansen, commander of the mammoth German airliner, is not secretive about his goal. Landing his ship at Holyrood, Conception bay, this morning after a 39 minute flight from Dildo, Trinity bay, Christiansen said he wants to get back to Altenrhein, Switzerland, as quickly as weather and sea permit a take-off.

The DO-X soared off from Altenrhein for its voyage to New York via South America, 18 months ago.

The DO-X made a 12-hour flight from Manhasset bay, Long Island, to Trinity bay yesterday.

State to Let Contract On Oil Under Sabine

AUSTIN, May 20. (UP)—Texas will receive $3,285,725 from the oil under the Sabine river in the East Texas oil field, the state board of mineral development estimated today. A list of 11 high bids upon which an award may be made tomorrow was issued by the board.

Rhodes Drilling company, of Fort Worth appeared to be high for the entire eight tracts, it was announced. Combination of bids for less than the whole river bed may prove more advantageous. Board members said. Those listed as high bidders were; Rhodes Drilling company, Massigill & Balew, Whitmore & Co., Blue Star Oil company, Canadian Oil Production company, K. M. March, Earl Callaway, Anderson-Pritchard Oil corporation, Dean Flitch, Karl Flitch and P. N. Rawson.

Pilot Finds Trio Lost On Mt. McKinley

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 20. (US)—Three men lost on the icy wastes around Mt. McKinley were found late today by a plane piloted above them by Jerry Jones, one of the ace flyers of the Alaskan Airways.

Two of the men found are Percy T. Olton Jr., of New Jersey, and Nicholas Spadevecchia, members of the ill-fated University of Chicago "cosmic ray" expedition in which two other members lost their lives.

The third man is Pilot S. E. Robins who flew out yesterday searching for them, but who was unable to return when the ski of his airplane was shattered in landing.

In lampblack on the snow, the story of their discovery was written as Jerry Jones floated above them today unable to land because his plane was equipped with wheels instead of skiis.

Jones left Fairbanks late this afternoon on his second trip in search of Robbins. He spotted Robbins and his plane on Muldrow glacier. Unable to land, he dropped a can of lampblack down to Robbins.

The latter spelled out on the snow the fact that he not only had found Olton, but that the two of them had set out upon the glacier and found Spadevecchia. The latter, when Allen Carpe and Theodore Koven, were killed by a fall in a

MURRAY TALKS IN HUDSON, N. Y.

Governor Hints Withdrawal From Demo Race

HUDSON, N. Y., May 20. (US)—William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, governor of Oklahoma, made an address here today which was construed by some of his hearers as indicating his withdrawal as a candidate for the presidency. He said:

"I am not kidding myself that I will ever hold an office within the gift of the American people.

"A candidate can never get anywhere unless he has a large campaign fund and he can't get those funds unless he sells himself, body and soul. That I decline to do."

Governor Murray, whose speech at the Hudson Valley Apple Blossom festival was broadcast over a national hook-up, although he did not mention President Hoover by name, characterized him as "the richest man who ever sat in the president's chair" and added:

"He has given this country a business administration but what has it got us? Trying to run this country on a business basis has brought us where we are today. 'Business' means to make a profit at the expense of the little man, but 'government' means to be just, not to a few, but to all.

"I am at present engaged in a campaign against corrupt capital and wealth.

"We are faced with the danger today of having this country controlled by corrupt capital and wealth."

Governor Murray also indignantly denied reports "circulated by one of my enemies" to the effect that he is a "women-hater."

"The best answer to that," he said, "is that I have four women colonels on my military staff, and a woman prison warden, the only one in the country. But I haven't but one wife—at home or elsewhere."

Atlantic Fleet To Remain In Pacific For Gun Practice

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—The scouting force of the United States fleet, comprising what is known as the Atlantic fleet, will be kept in the Pacific until Oct. 1.

Announcement of the navy's decision was made today by Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations. The reason given in his statement for the decision referred to economies "of steaming" and gunnery practice.

The decision, however, is in line with a request made to the navy recently by the state department that the scouting force be kept in the Pacific.

Tokyo Flier Awaits Jap Landing Permit

SEATTLE, May 20. (AP)—Official permission for a landing in Japan was awaited today by Nathan C. Browne, New York flier, who hopes to fly to Tokyo. He said he expected to have everything in readiness to take off Sunday.

Mexicans to Be Deported After Arrest at Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas, May 20. (AP)—Fifteen alien Mexicans arrested by the sheriff's department here today were turned over to O. S. Norling of Lubbock, inspector for the United States immigration service, for deportation.

BURNS LIFTS MARTIAL LAW IN OKLAHOMA

Acting Governor Waits For Murray to Get Out Of State, Then Acts

BILL HAS COMMENT

Troops Ordered Withdrawn Despite Executive's Firm Stance

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 20. (UP)—Gov. William H. Murray's martial law control of the Oklahoma oil fields was ended today by a political enemy.

Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns issued an order lifting the governor's martial law declaration, set forth almost a year ago to bolster falling crude oil prices. For months, the two have been at political swordpoints.

Burns waited until Governor Murray had gone to Hudson, N. Y., to speak in behalf of his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination to take the action. It came in the face of Murray's recent statement that martial law would remain in effect.

Murray Ired

"I am under oath to uphold the constitution and the laws," Burns said as he filed a copy of his order with the secretary of state. "I cannot sit by and see a condition exist that is unconstitutional."

"Burns is just a damned fool," said Murray when informed in New York of the acting governor's action.

Burns' order directly affects two members of Murray's own family. The governor's cousin and right-hand man, Cicero, was a lieutenant-colonel in the Oklahoma national guard, in charge of oil field troop mobilizations. The executive's son, Messina, has held a lieutenant's commission for several months.

Called Troops Last Year

Three thousand oil wells were shut down last Aug. 4, when Governor Murray mobilized troops of guardsmen and sent them into the oil fields. Crude oil was selling from 10 to 22 cents a barrel. Producers were operating at a loss. Cheap oil from East Texas was flooding the market.

"I'll prevent production of a single drop of oil until major companies pay $1 a barrel," Murray said.

For 65 days, every flush well in the state was shut in. The price of oil gradually rose to 65 cents.

The governor ordered his troops from the fields on Oct. 10, but did not withdraw his martial law order. Oil now is selling at a $1 top.

Doesn't Dare Withdraw

The decision of the supreme court last week holding constitutional Oklahoma's production curb laws was expected by many oil men to end Murray's military rule.

"I'll not withdraw my martial law order now," he said. "I don't dare do it. Some of these minor federal courts would get out an injunction against our proration act, and then we'd have the same thing to do all over again."

No Use, Says Burns

"There's no use in having martial law now," Burns said. "The supreme court has upheld the state's right to limit production, so I'm lifting it.

"Civil authorities are entirely adequate to enforce the statutes of this state, and in all instances affecting the production and marketing of oil."

Political sources close to the governor predicted he would re-issue his martial law declaration upon his return to the state early next week.

Hoover Opposes Creation Of Economic Council

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Various suggestions from different sections of the country that President Hoover create a new economic council have met with no favor at the White House and the chief executive has decided emphatically against such a move.

Another Aid Plan Offered

WASHINGTON, May 20. (US)—A $2,300,000 public works and unemployment relief program was announced today by senate Democrats.

Drafted by a subcommittee of the Democratic steering committee, the measure, which will be presented in bill form within a few days, provides:

1. Loans to states, through the Reconstruction Finance corporation, for direct unemployment relief, $300,000,000.

2. Loans to states, cities and private industry, through the reconstruction corporation, for self-liquidating and income-producing projects, $1,500,000,00, of which $40,000,000 is earmarked to finance agricultural exports.

3. Federal bond issue for construction of previously authorized public works, $500,000,000.

The program represents a compromise between proposals advanced by President Hoover, Speaker Garner, Senate Democratic Leader Robinson and Senator Wagner, Democrat, of New York.

Speaker Garner, however, advocated a $1,000,000,000 public works bond issue.

Meanwhile in the house, Democrats and Republicans alike demanded an expansion of the Garner program to a total of $5,000,000,000, as plans went forward for a congressional mass meeting on the subject.

BANDIT CAR FOUND HERE

Police Continue Search For Petrolia Robbers

Recovery of a brown Ford coupe, believed to be the one used by two bandits who looted the Continental State bank at Petrolia at noon Wednesday, was reported by police here Friday. The car was located by Patrol Officers Frank Warfield and J. B. Flenniken on Barwise at Lake street at 2:25 o'clock Friday morning.

The car carried the same license number as reported to officers by a filling station operator at the Dean community one hour prior to the bank hijacking and kidnaping of Miss Mary Frazier, cashier. The loot netted the two men about $1,000. Miss Frazier was released Wednesday afternoon southwest of Petrolia. No check on the license number was made at Petrolia.

The number was stolen from the machine of J. C. Medford Tuesday morning and the car was stolen Monday night at 8:30 o'clock from Bob Nelson, 1406 Burnett, when he parked for a short time in front of his home. The car was apparently unharmed, officers said.

Detectives failed to locate any trace of the bank bandits in an extensive search Friday and Police Chief Dick Morris advanced a theory that the bandits might have hired some one to drive the car to Wichita Falls and abandon it in order to better cover their escape.

Governors Asked To Set Up Committees To Broaden Credit

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—President Hoover today called upon the governors of all federal reserve districts to set up committees of business men and bankers similar to that created in New York in an effort to pump new credit into business channels.

Expressing gratification at the action announced by George L. Harrison, governor of the federal reserve bank in New York, the president told newspaper men that if other governors would follow this lead he would call all of the chairmen of such committees into conference in Washington.

This, he said, would place the whole program 'on a national basis."

President Hoover today sent Secretary Mills to New York and the first meeting of the New York committee, headed by Owen D. Young, was held in Mills' New York home at his invitation.

Katy Asks Permission To Discontinue Two Trains Between Wichita-Dallas

Two passenger trains now operating in and out of Wichita Falls by the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad may be discontinued, according to an Associated Press dispatch Friday afternoon.

Should the application be approved by the rail commission the Katy service in and out of Wichita Falls will be cut in half. The railroad's application stated it was operating the trains at a loss of $2,000 per month.

The application for authority from the Texas Railroad commission to discontinue passenger trains 50-37 and 36-49 between Dallas and Wichita Falls has been set for hearing May 31 in Austin.

Train 50-37 arrives in Wichita Falls at 6:15 a. m. and 36-49 leaves at 11 p. m. under the present schedule.

What action the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce will take on the matter will be determined by the traffic committee and the board of directors, officials said Friday.

Present service here offers two trains each way daily. No. 31 arriving in Wichita at 2:10 p. m. and No. 32 leaving at 4 p. m., making connections at Whitesboro with Texas Special service north and south are not mentioned in the application for cutting the service.

IMPORT DUTY VOTED ON COAL AT NIGHT MEET

Tydings Offers 500 Items For Consideration To Wreck Bill

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—The tariff coalition retained the oil import tax in the billion dollar revenue bill today in the first and probably decisive test of the bitter tariff dispute.

The aroused opposition replied promptly with a filibuster threat against the budget-balancing legislation. Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, offered 500 tariff amendments to the tax bill.

The half-cent a gallon duty on oil was kept in the bill by 43 to 37 after a debate of two days filled with charges and threats and culminating in a demand for a lobby investigation by one of the tariff advocates.

Approve Coal Duty

Elated by the victory on oil, the closely-knit tariff coalition plunged ahead tonight to beat down attacks on the coal, copper and lumber taxes carried by the compromise tax measure. By a vote of 39 to 34 the coal tariff was retained.

The full effect of Tydings' threat could not be determined, but leaders were optimistic that once the tariff advocates had shown their strength, any extended fight against the revenue legislation could be met. They had word from President Hoover to stay in session, through the political conventions if necessary, to settle the issue.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, who made the motion to eliminate the oil schedule, followed Tydings' 500 amendments with one proposing addition to the bill of the controversial export debenture plan of farm relief.

Party Lines Break

Party lines broke on the oil roll call. Eighteen Democrats and 25 Republicans supported the tax, while 20 Democrats, 16 Republicans and the Farmer-Labor opposed it.

The issue throughout was one principally of tariff protection rather than revenue. Estimates varied on the amount of revenue the oil tax would produce, but the treasury figure was $5,000,000. Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, led the fight for the oil duty.

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, supported it and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, opposed it.

The actual roll call was 42 to 38. The senate went ahead with debate on the coal tax.

The Roll Call

The roll call on the oil tariff follows:

For: Republicans—Austin, Vermont; Bingham, Connecticut; Capper, Kansas; Carey, Wyomnig; Couzens, Michigan; Cutting, New Mexico; Dickinson, Iowa; Frazier, North Dakota; Hale, Maine; Hatfield, West Virginia; Johnson, California; Jones, Washington; McNary, Oregon; Metcalf, Rhode Island; Oddie, Nevada; Reed, Pennsylvania; Robinson, Indiana; Shortridge, California; Smoot, Utah; Steiwer, Oregon; Thomas, Idaho; Vandenberg, Michigan; Walcott, Connecticut; Watson, Indiana; White, Maine—25.

For: Democrats—Ashurst, Arizona; Barkley, Kentucky; Bratton, New Mexico; Broussard, Louisiana; Connally, Texas; Dill, Washington; Gore, Oklahoma; Hayden, Arizona; Kendrick, Wyoming; Long, Louisiana; McGill, Kansas; Neely, West Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Sheppard, Texas; Thomas, Oklahoma; Tydings, Maryland; Walsh, Montana; Wheeler, Montana—18.

Against: Republicans — Barbour, New Jersey; Blaine, Wisconsin; Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Fess, Ohio; Goldsborough, Maryland; Hebert, Rhode Island; Howell, Nebraska; Kean, New Jersey; Keyes, New Hampshire; LaFollette, Wisconsin; Moses, New Hampshire; Norbeck, South Dakota; Norris, Nebraska; Nye, North Dakota; Schall, Minnesota—16.

Against: Farmer Labor—Shipstead, Minnesota—1.

League Council Hears Of Cannibalism in Liberia

GENEVA, May 20. (UP)—Indications that canabalism exists in the hinterlands of the negro state of Liberia, on the west African coast, were presented to the League of Nations council today in the report of its Liberian committee.

The report suggested severe punishment for "cannibalism, which still appears to exist among tribes in the hinterlands of Maryland and Sinoe counties."

In addition the report went into the other troubles of Liberia, which recently has been the center of trouble arising from enslavement of the natives and frontier police methods which led to the burning alive of native men, women and children.

NAMED HOOVER AID

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Capt. W. H. Vernou, commander of the U. S. S. Northampton, was chosen today as naval aide to President Hoover, succeeding Capt. Charles Russell Train.

CLUES FOUND IN LINDY CASE

Police Hear of Attempt To Change Currency

Lindbergh information if a guarantee of safety would be made to the writer.

Apparently the continued check regarding Curtis was proceeding without further questioning of the boat-builder, himself. Curtis, held in default of $10,000 bail on a charge of obstructing justice and furnishing false information, sat along in Flemington, N. J., jail while the warden took extra precautions against the possibility he might attempt to take his own life.

Movements Traced

The best information available thus far has placed the time of Curtis' arrival in New York City on April 2 at 10 a. m. After spending four days in the metropolis, authorities were told, he motored to Philadelphia from where he was taken in a plane back to Norfolk by Lieut. George L. Richard, naval aviator, who acted frequently as his pilot.

In Norfolk, Commonwealth's Attorney John Arnold, who has been conducting an exhaustive inquiry there into Curtis' movements, said he planned to question the lieutenant.

It became known during the day Lieutenant Richard had been ordered transferred to a flying squadron aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington effective as soon as the Lexington arrives on the east coast. She is now at the Puget Sound navy yard.

Jafsie to View Photos

His grand jury appearance was only a small part of the day's work for Dr. Condon, aged educator, who treated with the supposed kidnapers partly through newspaper advertisements signed "Jafsie."

Police said they expected to take him to large rogues galleries in New Jersey and Philadelphia. He already has viewed the likenesses of several thousand criminals in New York City and Westchester county, New York, in the hope of identifying the Scandinavian named "John" with whom he dealt in the ransom payment.

Inquiry was being made direct from Hopewell regarding the New York taxi driver who delivered to "Jafsie" a note from the supposed kidnapers.

Condon in Argument

Dr. Condon motored from New York City grand jury chamber to police headquarters at New Rochelle, N. Y., where he engaged in a heated argument with James Curley, director of public safety there.

He refused to answer several of Curley's questions and merely shook his head when asked if the man he sought to identify was connected with the Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Fleigen-Heimer gang.

To other questions Dr. Condon replied in a loud tone by asking "who are you?"

Finally Curley said:

"Never mind who I am. You'll find out soon enough."

Wanted to Exchange Money

He departed for a New Rochelle school to conduct an examination of the teachers.

Another of the day's ramifications was a statement to Waterliet, N. Y., police by Frank Rebel, 35, a tailor, that two strangers had approached him there and made an unsuccessful attempt to have him exchange large amounts of United States currency for Spanish currency. Inquiry was being made to determine whether the pair might have been attempting to dispose of Lindbergh ransom money.

Flood Waters Strike At Hoover Dam Base

LAS VEGAS, May 20. (UP)—The battle between men and flood waters was enacted at Hoover dam on the Colorado river here today as a river swollen by melting snows in the mountains roared toward its outlet in the Pacific.

A huge trestle used for transportation of concrete from the Nevada side of the Black canyon to the state of Arizona bore the brunt of the flood.

Twenty feet of water was eating at the foot of the trestle and debris jammed the pilings during the day. A locomotive crane was employed to dislodge the debris. A three-inch steel cable locked in concrete blocks on either side of the river aided in relieving tension on the trestle. Operations on the structure were abandoned as enough material was stored on each bank of the river to permit construction proper.

Statistics Show Yield Of Cotton Per Acre

WASHINGTON, May 20. (US)—Revised figures on the 1931 cotton crop, issued today show that 17,097,000 bales were produced. The yield per acre was 201.2 pounds. The area under cultivation last July was 41,189,000 acres, while the area picked was 40,693,000.

On April 30 of this year there were 31,945,750 cotton spinning spindles in place in the United States, of which 23,409,246 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 24,818,008 in March and 26,668,536 in April of last year.

Woman Admits Shooting Husband as He Slept

LOS ANGELES, May 20. (US)—"I shot him!" Mrs. Jacob H. Maymon exclaimed after six hours of questioning, and, according to police, cleared the mystery surrounding the critical wounding of her wealthy husband as he slept today. Previously, she had insisted he was wounded by a prowler. Mrs. Maymon told questioners she had suspected her husband, a paint distributor, of giving large sums of money to "other women" and had "worried so much I just seemed to go crazy."

Nebraskan Sets New Big Six Shot Put Record

LINCOLN, Neb., May 20. (AP)—Hugh Rhea, of Nebraska, this afternoon set a new Big Six record in the shot put with his throw of 49 feet 11¾ inches at the conference meet here. The old record 49 feet 10½ inches, was established in 1930, by Jim Bausch, of Kansas.

Background and Works of Masonry Presented in Program at Faith Lodge

The background and works of Masonry were presented before members of the Faith lodge Friday night at an educational meeting at the hall, 813½ Scott, with Worshipful Master C. B. Wininger presiding. Mr. Wininger declared Masonry to be the true science of morals in opening the program.

Tiler G. W. L. Spencer read from an old manuscript, in old English of the 16th century, a historical background of Masonry presented as answers to questions by King Henry VI. The paper revealed "Masonry began with the first man in the East and was brought from the East by Phoenecians and later to England by Peter Gower. Gower was a Greek who had traveled in the East but settled in England, establishing the first lodge there."

"Phoenicians transmit their teachings to the world as people need them and can use," the paper continued. "Some Phoenicians are better than other men and some are worse but in the main due to Masonry they are better than other men."

"Lodge administration depends on the cooperation of the elected officers and it is the duty of every Mason to support government officials as well as lodge officers," H. J. Bruce said in a short address. The principal purpose of lodge administration is the development of upright manhood, desire to help less fortunate people, Mr. Bruce said. The need of cultivation of the Masonic spirit in churches now was pointed out.

"Masonry teaches confidence in one another, has a common language, by which Masons of any nationality can meet and identify another Mason." The democracy of Masonry was pointed out with an illustration about President Roosevelt attending a lodge where his gardner was worshipful master. Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, related a personal incident of Masonic identification.

Ensign Schultz of the Salvation Army pointed out the assistance of Masonry in philanthropic work and declared many Salvation Army leaders to be high in Masonry.

R. J. Flechtner declared a young man in Masonry should know the highest ethics, honesty, honor, reverence and have personal integrity and the ability to study.

"Masonry should show its best in times of depression and every true Mason should do all he can to aid other Masons and non-Masons. In all former periods of distress Masonry has carried a load," T. A. Hicks said.

R. E. Shepherd presented vocal selections in opening the program with Mrs. Shepherd accompanying on the piano and Mr. Shepherd conducted a singsong.

Electra Woman Pays For Using Commissioner As 'Spit' Target

ELECTRA, Texas, May 20.—An Electra woman will probably be more careful whom she "spits" on in the future. She was fined $5 and costs which will amount to approximately $30 in the justice of the peace court Thursday after being found guilty by a jury of spitting on a local commissioner and using abusive language.

Otis Nelson, assistant county attorney, served as prosecutor, and the woman pleaded her own case. During the trial she stated that she was a "widow" and upon being questioned admitted that she was an "oil field widow," her husband being employed in the East Texas oil fields. A large crowd attended the trial which was brought before Judge W. H. Coffman.

RECTOR USES NIGHT GOWNS

Accused Cleric Denies He Lived Immorally

LONDON, May 20. (UP)—The Rev. Harold F. Davidson, a short, stout man with red face and white hair, sat in the witness box in Norwich consistory court today and denied that his social service work in London was a cloak for immoral relations with many girls.

"No," said the rector in a firm voice. "Absolutely, no!"

It is untrue that he ever lived in immorality with any woman, the 60-year-old rector of Stiffkey said, adding that the story told on the witness stand by 18-year-old Barbara Harris, who said the rector wore a pajama coat to bed, was false.

The rector wears only old-fashioned night gowns, the court was informed. Charges that he importuned women with immoral intentions were canard, the rector declared.

It is true that he accompanied Miss Rose Ellis to Paris, but there was nothing immoral in that.

Goes to Find Jobs

"I merely attempted find her a job as a domestic servant in a French school," Dr. Davidson said.

The chancellor, near whom the rector sat when he entered the witness box, leaned over and looked hard at the witness.

"Take your hands out of your pockets," the chancellor said, adjusting his wig. "Sit up and talk plainly. Then we can hear you better."

All of his work among girls, the rector continued, had been in an attempt to save unfortunates from lives of sin.

"I have founded various clubs for them, including one club from the Folies Bergeres dancing girls in Paris," he said.

"I've been to bed only three times in the last six weeks. I usually sleep only two or three hours a night, either in an armchair or a railroad carriage."

Dirigible Akron Carries News Men on Cruise

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20. (US)—Riding a rain storm that swept down upon northern California, the navy dirigible Akron carried a party of newspaper publishers to Sacramento and return today and nosed to her berth at Sunnyvale fresh and glistening after her bath.

Before mooring the giant air cruiser took aboard five fighting pursuit planes, a spectacle which the newspaper guests watched with bated breath, while hundreds of feet in the air.

Former County Official Charged With Shortage

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, May 10. (INS)—C. Irvin Jones, former deputy in charge of the highway department of the county tax collector's office, today was charged in three grand jury indictments with misapplication of funds. The bills were returned after auditors reported a $26,000 shortage.

PROWLERS REPORTED

Prowlers failed to accomplish results early Friday night in two raids in residential Wichita Falls. G. L. War Time Admiral Succumbs Suddenly

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Admiral William Sheperd Benson, 76, retired, whom President Wilson chose to guide the navy through the world war in the post of chief of naval operations, died suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage today at his home here.

The admiral had been active in social affairs until the time of his death. A native of Macon, Ga., Benson, on the recommendation of former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, was chosen chief of naval operations when that post was created in May, 1915. He was then only a captain and was elevated over a number of higher ranking officers.

As war time operations chief, Benson organized and carried out most of the fundamental practices of the navy's modern organization.

Oil Companies File Exceptions in Ouster

AUSTIN, May 20. (UP)—Nine of the 15 major oil companied sued by Atty. Gen. James V. Allred in his antitrust action, have filed exceptions to his amended petition in the case.

Arguments over the pleadings are to be heard next Thursday.

The exceptions claim that the state has failed to allege an actionable case, that promised specified violations of law are not presented, that the petition attempts to charge two violations in one suit, and that the pleadings are the "rankest conclusions of the pleader." Many of the defendants renew their pleas of misjoinder which they presented when the case was first taken up by District Judge J. D. Moore.

BONDS NOT RACE ISSUE

Sterling Disapproves Plan To Reimburse Counties

AUSTIN, May 20. (AP)—A proposal to amend the state constitution to permit issuance of state highway bonds apparently will not be an issue in the Texas gubernatorial campaign this year.

Gov. R. S. Sterling, who as chairman of the state highway commission and later as a candidate for governor in 1930 advocated the plan as a means to reimburse counties for expenditures made in constructing roads now on the state highway system, has decided that the present time is not propitious for creating new debts.

Advocate Gas Tax

The governor said he would advocate diversion of a part of the 4-cent gasoline tax to a fund that would be used to pay interest and retire the principal on debts incurred by counties to build state highways.

He said during these stringent times it was the administration's duty to help relieve the tax burden.

It was proposed in the state bond issue plan that the gasoline tax would be pledged to pay interest and create a sinking fund for retirement of the bonds, advocates of the idea arguing that it would not increase the property tax rate.

Amendment Necessary

"The taxpayers are being called on to pay more taxes than they can afford and we must cooperate to make this burden lighter," Governor Sterling said. "This is not a time for the issuance of new obligations by any branch of the government, state, national or local."

He said he had been advised, however, that it would be necessary to amend the state constitution even before a part of the gasoline tax proceeds can be used to help the counties retire their road bond indebtedness.

The governor said he had vetoed the Brooks bill, proposing an allotment of one cent of the gasoline tax to a fund to pay off county road bonds, because such action would be in violation of the constitution and also because it would have provided for "hoarding" a large amount of the money over a considerable period. He said that the bill provided the one cent portion allotted to counties should be held in a "suspense account" in the treasury until a plan of prorating the proceeds to the counties could be consummated.

Disfavors Increase

Of the present four-cent gasoline tax, three cents go to the highway department and one cent to the schools.

The governor indicated he would not favor an increase in the gasoline tax.

The proposal to amend the constitution never was submitted by the legislature to a vote of the people, although efforts were made in both the Moody and Sterling administrations to get the two thirds majority favorable vote in both legislative branches necessary to let the electorate pass on the proposition. During both administrations only a few votes were lacking in the house to submit it.

Governor Sterling enthusiastically advocated the bond issue plan during his successful campaign for governor. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, former governor, who went into the run-off with Sterling, opposed the idea.

But anyway, trough or tank, the one that was constructed here years ago has been repaired and, as of days of yore, again is filled with water.

HOUSE STARTS MOVE TO CONTROL COTTON

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—A movement to keep stabilization cotton off the market began in the house today almost coincidental with authorization of lower freight rates for cotton in the South and the disclosure Massachusetts had yielded the leadership in cotton manufacture to North Carolina.

Representative Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, introduced a resolution directing the farm board to impound the 1,300,000 bales controlled by it until the season's total supply falls below the average for the preceding 10 years. He believes this would not be for two or three years.

The board has authoried the sale of 650,000 bales beginning Aug. 1.

Called Disastrous

"To do so in view of the already large carry-over," the Georgian said, "would be disastrous and it would break the market, perhaps as much as a cent a pound.'"

The freight rate reduction—approximately 20 per cent for southern railroads—was authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The census bureau made known that North Carolina had toppled Massachusetts from her dominance in the number of spindles operating her mills.

The rate cut affecting cotton in bales, either compressed or uncompressed, in any quantity—is expected to go into effect June 1 and May be retained until Aug. 1.

It applies to cotton to and from points in the Mississippi valley, southeastern and Carolina territories, including gulf and South Atlantic ports, Ohio river crossings, St. Louis, Mo., district and certain points in Southern Virginia.

Hampton to Resume Operation of Taxis

J. C. Hampton, owner of Hamp's taxi service, announced Friday night that he will resume operation of his cabs Saturday morning.

"We have purchased license to operate, we believe we are entitled to continue in business and we shall resume our runs Saturday," said Mr. Hampton. The taxi service will charge 15 cents.

Mr. Hampton Thursday was refused a federal court injunction against a new city ordinance which sets a minimum taxi fare at 25 cents. Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that he did not have jurisdiction in the case.

METROPOLITAN DROPS STARS

Well Known Singers to Be Replaced by Americans

NEW YORK, May 20. (US)—Maria Jeritza and 27 other well-known artists have been dropped from the Metropolitan Opera company, it was disclosed tonight by director Gatti-Casazza, as he sailed for Europe.

The list of missing includes Benjamin Gigli and Clarence Whitehill, who had announced their withdrawal earlier.

Jeritza is expected to join the Philadelphia Opera company.

The announcement revealed that she declined to sign a new contract at reduced rates.

The 1932-33 prospectus issued by the directors shows that American music and American singers will occupy a prominent place in the Metropolitan's plans.

Contracts have been signed by Richard Bonelli, American baritone, who appeared for several seasons with the Chicago Civic opera; rose Bampton, contralto, recently of the Philadelphia company; and Richard Crooks, popular native tenor.

Lucrezia Bori, who is resting in Europe before returning in two months for a stay in the Adirondacks, continues as a leading soprano after nearly two decades with the Metropolitan.

Nov. 21 has been selected as the opening date of the 16-week season.

Unique Art Show Bait For Police, But Cops Ignore

CHICAGO, May 20. (UP)—When and if the police get there, Gilbert Roche's painting of a skyscraper should cause them to pause. From the windows citizens are hurtling to their deaths. On the street automobiles are mangling their passengers against lamp posts. Street cars are bumping into bodies on the tracks and on the top of the skyscraper is an electric sign which says "you can do it better with gas."

This masterpiece in oil, entitled "Aw What the Hell," has been given the place of honor in Chicago's famous no-jury art show which opens tomorrow and which the artists hope will prove a magnet for the gendarmes.

"It is a fine show," explained James Hannell, artist in Windsor necktie and flannel slacks, "but we are terribly disappointed because the police haven't raided us. Here we've assembled all our nudes and so forth and still the police haven't nibbled. If we don't get a raid pretty soon, nobody will come to see the show and then we'll be in a pretty pickle."

Such an appetite and actions on the part of her husband caused Superior Judge Joseph L. Call to grant the divorce.

Wichita Newsies Enjoy Party At Lakeside Resort

Eighty-seven newsboys of The Record News and Daily Times were guests of Art LeMan, manager of Lakeside park, at Lake Wichita Friday afternoon.

They were transported to the park in a huge bus late in the afternoon, returning to the city at 10 o'clock after several hours of fun.

Youngsters thoroughly "took in" the various attractions at the park. Entertainment furnished free to them included rides on park equipment, swimming, and the stage show.

Four of the youths added an impromptu number to the stage show, and sang several numbers. The four, known as the "Newsboy's' Quartet," are Fred Moore, Loren Keys, J. T. Phillips and Tommie Wisdon.

Free drinks were furnished by the Dr. Pepper Bottling company. The group of "newsies" were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Gray. Mr. Gray is city sales agent in charge of street distribution.

LOVE DOESN'T PLAN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

DALLAS, May 20. (UP)—Tom Love laughed tonight when asked whether he would hold a proxy vote at the state Democratic convention in Houston next Tuesday.

"Why I don't suppose I'll go to Houston, I wasn't chosen as a delegate from anywhere," he replied. Pressed for an answer as to whether he had a proxy, he said:

"I have no present plan to attend the convention at all."

Love, ultra-dry leader and 1928 bolter, was not given his usual place on the Dallas county delegation when regulars and liberals controlled the recent county convention.

If he fails to attend on a proxy, it will be the first time a state convention has been held without his presence in nearly three decades.

Wichitans Invited to Rail Celebration

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce has been invited to send representatives to Pampa in June to take part in a celebration marking completion of the new Fort Worth and Denver City railway line from Childress to Pampa. The line offers a new direct connection with Wichita Falls, placing local manufacturers and jobbers on a par in serving Pampa with Kansas City and Chicago firms.

The chamber of commerce also has been invited to send representatives to Elk City, Okla., June 11-12, for an airport dedication ceremony and aviation show.

Camera Doesn't Lie

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Municipal Judge Clifton Cameron was confronted with some evidence that couldn't lie if it wanted to. Mrs. Eloise Walton was the one who produced it. She was one of 12 persons arrested and hailed into court for disregarding a traffic stop sign. When asked if she plead guilty, she said no. "And why?" asked the prosecutor. "Because of these," she replied—and produced two photos which showed that the sign was so bent and twisted as to be illegible. She and the other defendants were freed.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eady, formerly of this county but who left here 15 years ago for Dallas.

Hard Boiled Discipline Of Jobless Vets Amazes St. Louis Police

ST. LOUIS, May 20. (INS)—Thirty St. Louis policemen assigned to meet the box cars bearing an army of unemployed world war veterans and to maintain order were given a big surprise today.

The order in the ranks of the itinerant army and the discipline with which the band of former soldiers were handled by their "officers" made the well trained cops sit up and take notice.

The veterans are on their way to Washington, D. C. to urge the passage of a $2,000,000,000 cash bonus bill, and are traveling in the most economical way possible.

Shortly after the "troops cars" pulled into the local freight yards the crisp military order of "fall in" was barked. The men lined up in squads, platoons and companies and were dispatched to various tasks.

The army arrived from Council Bluffs, Iowa and will leave St. Louis on the first available freight train.

Wet Groups Plan Search For Somebody 'Saved' By Prohibition

NEW YORK, May 20. (INS)—Wanted: one man, woman or child who has been "reclaimed" by prohibition.

This is the object of a 10-week search to be undertaken beginning June 1 by a committee of the Crusaders and the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. The investigators don't believe a single inebriate has been reclaimed through the expenditure of $24,000,000,000 by the government in the last 14 years—but they are looking.

FIRE CLAIMS WOMAN, CHILD

Babe's Aunt Attempts To Effect Rescue

COMMERCE, Texas, May 20. (INS)—Mrs. Hugh Carver, 40, lost her life here today in a vain attempt to rescue the baby daughter of her nephew, J. W. Fife.

The woman was in the yard at her home when she discovered the building in flames. She rushed into the house for the infant but was overcome with smoke. The bodies of both the woman and child were found later.

The fire was believed to have started from an oil stove.

Appellate Court Upholds Conviction of Bankers

NEW YORK, May 20. (US)—Convictions of Bernard K. Marcus, president of the defunct bank of United States, Saul Singer, executive vice president, and the latter's son, Herbert, for wilful misapplication of funds in a $8,000,000 indebtedness to the bank of the Affiliated Bankus corporation, were upheld today by the appellate division of the supreme court.

Meanwhile testimony in the trial of state banking superintendent Joseph A. Broderick, charged with neglect in the failure of the same bank, was completed today when Gov. George L. Harrison of the federal reserve bank of New York told of Broderick's efforts to save the institution. Summation will begin Monday.

MARKET QUERY BARES 'INSIDE'

Norbeck Sounds Warning Of Needed Reform

WASHINGTON, May 20. (UP)—Senator Peter Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, warned today congress will be compelled to consider corrective stock market legislation unless the New York stock exchange itself moves firmly and sincerely to remedy present evils.

Chairman of the banking and currency committee, Norbeck is presiding over the stock market inquiry at which new revelations of the inside of Wall street trading were made today.

One witness told how a $40,000 patent became a $23,500,000 corporation, half of whose stock eventually was written on the books as worth $1.

Made Money Without Risk

Another described his neighborly friendship for a New York financial writer, which led him to guarantee a stock market account in which the writer made nearly $20,000 without incurring any risk. The writer, incidentally, used his column to boost stocks in which the witness was trading.

A third witness described the manner in which the stock of a desperately hard-up corporation was marketed at advanced prices.

Harry Warner, of Warner Brothers Pictures, will be the witness at a brief session tomorrow. He will be asked whether he made approximately $9,000,000 by trading in Warner Brothers stock.

Gather New Witnesses

Then the public hearings will be adjourned until committee experts gather enough new material to bring another set of witnesses to Washington to tell the public how things were operated in Wall street during the hectic days before the crash, when every one was buying stocks and it seemed that there was no end to the financial boom.

After today's hearing, Norbeck said his view had been confirmed that substantial and prompt action was necessary to protect the public in stock market dealings. He believes the stock exchange itself can tighten up its rules, and enforce them strictly. If it does not, he said, congress must consider the problem.

Goldman Sachs & Co., investment company whose losses in the 1929 crash became a subject of comic paper jokes, was represented at today's hearing by Walter E. Sachs, president of the subsidiary Goldman Sachs Trading corporation.

William A. Gray, special counsel for the committee, took Sachs through a bewildering maze of buyings and sellings.

It was John J. Levinson, a free lance Wall street trader, who befriended the financial writer—Raleigh T. Curtis, then writing as "Trader" in the New York Daily News. His testimony was supplemented by that of Richard J. Cornell, who investigated the incident for the bureau of securities of New York state.

It was brought out that as soon as the Daily News learned the facts—which, it should be said, were regarded by Levinson and Curtis as disclosing an entirely legitimate friendship—Curtis ceased to be "Trader" and the Daily News ceased to give specific "tips" on stocks in the "Trader" column.

Era High School Graduate Dies on Class Picnic

GAINESVILLE, Texas, May 20. (AP)—D. E. Vann Jr., 18, was drowned in Clear creek, 25 miles southwest of Gainesville, while attending a high school graduating class picnic this afternoon. Van was a member of the graduating class at Era High school. His body had not been recovered.

Peruvian Workers Believed Drowned in Tunnel

TEMUCA, Chile, May 20. (US)—A rescue shaft was today driven into the dead end of the Las Racies tunnel, but shouts of encouragement brought no responses from the 45 men entombed Wednesday by a landslide.

Workmen peering down the shaft saw that the tunnel was flooded and all of the 45, among them a Danish engineer, are feared to have been drowned.

Renewed slides of dirt and rock endangered work of widening the shaft so that workmen can worm their way into the tunnel. Definite confirmation of the fate of the trapped men may not be had until tomorrow.

One soap you do not have to wear

You wash cottons, woolens and linens to get the dirt out and to keep the color in—if possible. Yet you've noticed those freshly laundered wash dresses that looked faded and smelled soapy. You've seen those white frocks greyed and yellowed after ironing. You've wept over the linens that the hot iron stuck to and streaked.

All those things were wearing soap—the very soap that you tried to clean them with.

Some soaps simply will not wash things white. Some soaps fade the colors. Some soaps simply will not rinse out completely.

These are the soaps with a tallow base—that yellow and grey and ruined colors came from tallow. These are the soaps compounded with a silicate of soda*—that stickiness and streaky whiteness was put there by it.

Quit wearing soap—quit wearing yourself out trying to get that kind of soap into and out of your clothes—quit wearing out clothes by eternal rubbing—quit cooking up clothes by needless boiling. Boiling would kill anything—let alone delicate fabrics.

Use White King Granulated Soap. It is made of pure, sweet, fresh vegetable and nut oils—the kind you eat. It contains no tallow base—no silicate of soda—no free alkali—no useless water—it is all soap—all soap that cleans.

It makes a rich suds in luke-warm—even cold water—it goes farther—does the work quicker—omits all the rubbing and boiling and drudgery—it saves clothes half the unnecessary wearing out.

Quit being seen wearing washed-in soap on washed-out clothes. Keep clothes fresh and clean and sweet with White King Granulated. It costs less because it all works.

*Silicate of soda serves only as a weight maker in soap—it has no cleaning value

CALUMET NUT BREAD

IT'S SURE TO BE PERFECT WITH CALUMET'S DOUBLE-ACTION!

You can make this grand nut bread? . . . you bet you can! It's easy! Easy as mixing up muffins! Just use the recipe given here—and use Calumet Baking Powder.

Then slice your loaf! Serve it! And when the crowd starts flattering you, remember this—to get such marvelous nut bread—to get that fragrant brownness—that lovely, even-grained texture—you must use Calumet.

For Calumet acts twice—and there's the secret! In the mixing bowl, Calumet's first action begins. It starts the leavening. Then, in the oven, Calumet's second action gets on the job. Slowly, steadily, this new fresh rising lifts the batter, holding it high and light until your loaf is tenderly baked. And thanks to this same Double-Action, all your Calumet cakes and quick breads are bound to be perfectly leavened—beautifully baked!

EXTRA THRIFTY, TOO!—The simple tested recipe given here is a Calumet recipe—specially designed for the Calumet proportion—only one level teaspoon to a cup of sifted flour. A splendid economy for you—thanks to the perfect efficiency of Calumet's Double-Action!

Yes, Calumet is a real baking powder bargain. Try it! Calumet is a product of General Foods Corporation.

CALUMET NUT BREAD

3 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup nut meats, chopped
3 tablespoons butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1¼ cups milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add nuts. Cream shortening, add sugar; then add egg, milk, and flour. Stir only until smooth. Bake in greased loaf pan, 9 x 4 x 3 inches, in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour and 10 minutes. One cup raisins may be used instead of nuts. (All measurements are level.)

GET PROOF! See Calumet act TWICE! These pictures illustrate the famous Calumet Double-Action Test. Try it! Full, easy directions inside every can.

FREE! WHILE THEY LAST!

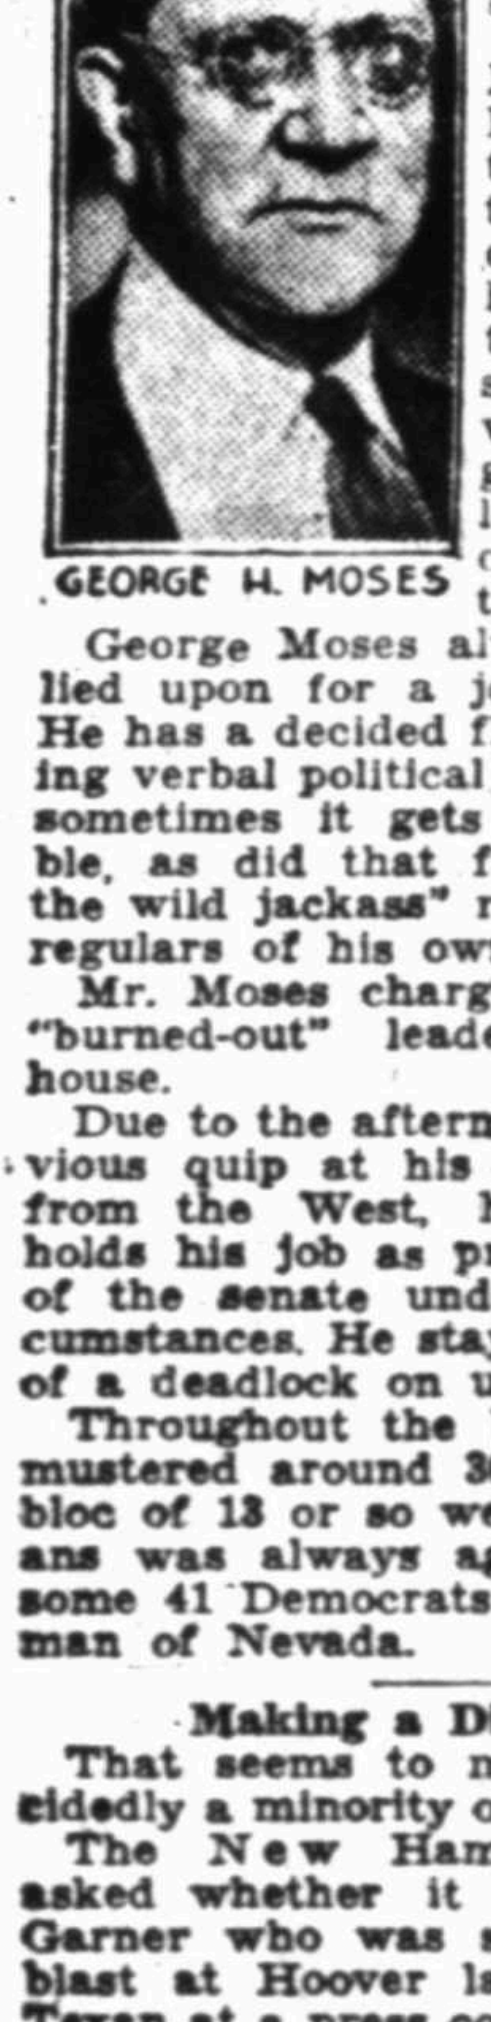
A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Speaker Garner could not have expected his peppery attack on President Hoover's propensity for issuing statements to pass unnoticed by the Republican old guard.



GEORGE H. MOSES

As Senator Moses of New Hampshire has the most stinging tongue among the old guardsmen, his assumption of the duty of answering Garner, whether by suggestion of party leaders or on his own motion, was to be expected.

George Moses always can be relied upon for a job of that sort. He has a decided flair for exchanging verbal political brick-bats. Only sometimes it gets him into trouble, as did that famous "sons of the wild jackass" remark about irregulars of his own party.

Mr. Moses charged Garner with "burned-out" leadership in the house.

Due to the aftermath of that previous quip at his fellow senators from the West, however, Moses holds his job as president pro tem of the senate under unusual circumstances. He stayed in by virtue of a deadlock on unseating him.

Throughout the balloting Moses mustered around 30 votes while a bloc of 13 or so western Republicans was always against him and some 41 Democrats voted for Pittman of Nevada.

Making a Distinction

That seems to make Moses decidedly a minority officeholder.

The New Hampshire senator asked whether it was Candidate Garner who was speaking in the blast at Hoover launched by the Texan at a press conference. Moses assumes it was Candidate Garner.

One of the Hoover statements to which Mr. Garner took exception, no doubt, was that in which the president, according to White House versions, was carrying to the people his case about the wrecking job done in the house on the government economy bill.

If Speaker Garner was moved by considerations of his own candidacy to open fire on Mr. Hoover, it might be argued that the president's appeal to the folks back home had got results not otherwise apparent.

But just how Garner could have expected to better his prospects for the nomination in that way is not quite clear.

It is to be noted that the whole corps of Democratic presidential aspirants has been slow about direct assaults on the president. There is so much cry for nonpartisan action in the economic crisis that it would be difficult to indulge in pure partisan warfare.

One Conclusion

The Bystander rather felt that the Garner shot at Hoover implied that the speaker was not thinking forward to the campaign which is to follow the conventions. He has been too utterly silent as to his own status as a nominee to have barged out along that line.

If the Garner remarks about Hoover are of any significance at all as to Garner's candidacy, it appears likely that they must imply that the speaker doubts that he is to be the Democratic nominee.

Wheat Harvest to Begin In Hardeman About June 5

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, May 20.—Wheat harvest in Hardeman county will be started about June 5, and should be in full swing by the 10th, according to leading wheat growers. The yield is variously estimated to average from 12 to 20 bushels, and some fields reported will thresh out 25 or 30 bushels per acre.

Many combines will be used, although several threshing outfits are contracting fields in advance. Many farmers state they prefer paying the additional charge for threshing over the combine price and have the straw, and are planning to do their own cutting and shocking and use own labor on the threshers.

◆

Well, you can't say the Democrats aren't for normalcy. Just look at their pre-campaign fights.

Robbery in the Spring

THIS is the time of year when the average city resident devotes his Sunday afternoons to arousing the farmer's bitter and enduring enmity.

A warm Sunday in the spring jams all country roads with automobiles. And every orchard along the way has to pay its toll. Motorists climb fences with a blithe disregard of property rights and rip off blossom-laden branches in serene ignorance of the fact that they are inflicting a direct monetary loss on the man who owns them.

In many parts of the country farmers have to spend the greater part of each spring Sunday out in their orchards to see to it that empty-headed drivers from the cities do not rob them.

Something seems to come over the city man, these days, to make him lose sight of the ordinary rules of conduct.

He wouldn't dream of sauntering into a grocery store and pocketing such merchandise as he could grab while the grocer's back was turned. Nor would he invade his neighbor's flower garden and root up all the blooms that took his fancy.

But set him driving along a country road and he will park beside the first orchard he sees and rip off a branch full of blossoms; and he will do it, usually, with a perfectly clear conscience.

The truth of the matter seems to be that in the spring the city man realizes, deep in his heart, that a city is not and cannot be a fit place for a human being to live. The sight of a blossoming apple tree suddenly jabs him where he lives, and reminds him that that sort of thing is his heritage, his birthright, which he has somehow managed to sell.

So, forgetting that he is supposed to be a law-abiding citizen, he waddles across the road and commits robbery; not because he is more callous or light-fingered than other men, but simply because he has been smitten with a deep homesickness for the country.

Shadow Boxing at Geneva

THE men who are attending the disarmament conference at Geneva seem to be having their troubles.

United Press cables the other day reported that the delegates are utterly unable to agree on what caliber guns should be classed as "offensive" weapons. They are trying to make such a classification because of the American proposal that "offensive" weapons be abolished or internationalized.

Italy and Russia want every gun whose bore has a greater diameter than 100 millimeters (about four inches) classed in the "offensive" list. Germany wants a limit of 77 millimeters. The United States, France, Japan and Great Britain are sticking for a limit of 155 millimeters.

Naturally, since there is such a divergence of views, the boys are having a hard time getting together. But they need not despair. Their efforts, after all, are not being wasted. For, in spite of themselves, they are demonstrating to the world how unutterably futile and worthless a disarmament conference can be if it is based, as this one is, on faulty foundations.

Suppose that complete and perfect agreement could be reached about the guns. What then? Would the possibility of future war be made one hair's breadth more remote? Would the horrors of such a war be in the slightest degree lessened?

The answer, in each case, is "No"—very obviously.

For this conference seems to be not so much a disarmament conference as a despairing effort by world statesmen to maintain the status quo, with all of its seeds of international strife, while at the same time giving an appearance of working for world peace. It is not going to result in disarmament because nobody who is taking part in it really wants it to. It is an excellent display of shadow boxing, but as far as that hypothetical "next war" is concerned it has about as much effect as a meeting of the high school debating society.

Only the Strong—

THE death of the two scientists on the high slopes of Mount McKinley is a tragic reminder that the climbing of lofty mountains is one of the most perilous sports that the world offers to adventuresome men.

It isn't a sport that draws a great many adherents, since most of us do not live close enough to high mountain peaks to be able to indulge in it. But in all countries—in the United States, in England, in Germany, in Canada and elsewhere—there are little groups of men to whom mountain climbing is the sport of sports.

To climb far above timberline, drained of bodily strength by the rarefied air, hewing paths out of solid ice, crossing glacier crevasses on bridges of snow and struggling up an unblazed trail to heights that only two or three other human beings have ever visited—it is a thrilling and venturesome game. Only the strong dare attempt it.

SO THEY SAY!

We have had no cooperation in the true sense of the word. Such measures as the Glass-Steagall credit bill, which had its foundation in legislation frequently sought by the Democrats and as frequently vetoed by the then Republican majorities, are claimed as triumphs for the administration.—John N. Garner, speaker of the house.

I take this step (presidential candidacy) only out of consideration of a profound sense of duty to the great middle class and the little man.—Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BELL OF THE MAIDEN—This bell was cast in the days of Emperor Young Lo, but the artisan failed in his mission as the metal refused to flow. On the third attempt the beautiful daughter of the bell maker darted forward to the brink of the roaring crucible and hurled herself among the bronze and gold, which at that moment began to flow. Her fiance, who tried to check her, just barely succeeded in grabbing her slipper. To this day, when the great bell has been struck and its booming harmonies die away, there rises an after wail which is a perfect echo of the Chinese word "hsie" (slipper), and men know that Kuan Yu's daughter, whose virgin soul is dwelling in the metal of the bell, is calling for her lost shoe.

JAPAN'S EMOTIONAL SAFETY VALVE—The Japanese language was singularly free of expletives until 1904. In that year the Russo-Japanese war causes the Japanese to feel this want very keenly. To provide an emotional safety valve for the people, a committee of scientists met at the solicitation of the government and created the word "Zanzai" (ten thousand years). The word is an equivalent of our "hurray" and only Japanese swear word at the same time.

Wanted—Love! The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA BEDFORD Author of "BROADWAY BRIDE"

CHAPTER LIX

Barry Carlton steered his roadster through late afternoon traffic in the fifties. The electric signs were just beginning to flash on and the crowds on the streets buzzed louder in their enthusiasm over the beginning of another Manhattan night.

It was that hour when a fellow tries to put the office out of his thoughts and begins to look forward to the events of the evening.

But since Lillian's brown eyes had smiled into Barry's gray ones there had been no one else who could make an evening seem anything near an event to him.

That had been two months ago—that evening Lillian had sat in the roadster beside him and he had asked: "Must you go home?" And she had answered, as lightly as if she really had had a home to go to—"No, I mustn't." And he had believed that her way of telling him she approved of him and would accept his invitation to dine. . . .

And, thinking of Lillian and their dinner in the little speakeasy in the fifties Barry unconsciously drove his car around there.

Several youths, who looked as though they might have been college chums of Barry's hailed him as he came into the room. They stood against the lobster red bar.

"Hey, Barry," one called, "join us."

"Hi, boy! How's New York's newest and youngest publisher?" another called.

"Yes, tell us what's the news?"

"Hullo, Barry greeted them, jovially.

"So, you're giving the newspaper guys competition. Congratulations, old boy!"

"Thanks," Barry said.

"Good looking paper, Barry. Swell sporting page, all right."

"I like the comics."

"What'll you have, Barry?"

Barry did not come up to the bar, quite. He moved toward the end of the room where the tables were.

"Thanks," he said. "I'm going to listen in on the news bulletin. I'll just have mine over here in the corner," he signaled a waiter as he walked over to the radio at the far end of the room.

"Did you hear what the wiseacres are saying about him?" one of the group asked as Barry walked away.

"They say he went Broadway but now he's gone serious about this newspaper business."

"I clipped it out of a Broadway column," one said reaching into his pocket and producing a clipping which he passed to the group. It read: "Just when everybody thought Barrey (Money) Carlton was going to ankle to the altar what does he do but turn publisher. His money must be a burden to him. Hehehhheh!"

"Hasn't been about Lina Donald in blows," one offered. "She told me so herself. I told her I had troubles of my own."

Barry turned the dial of the radio, discarding various pleasant voices and tunes, casting about for something that would hold his interest. And then he caught a girl's voice. . . .

". . . a girl hasn't a lot of pride left when she gets that far—when she approaches the bread line. I know, I understand what it means to be hungry, cold, and not know where I would sleep at night."

It was a soft, warm voice. Familiar . . . sweet, throaty. Barry had not even tasted his cocktail yet. So he knew he wasn't just imagining he heard Lillian's voice. . . .

". . . just as hundreds of other girls are tonight. I speak of the white collar girl, who comes from respectable parents, who has been educated, and through no fault of her own is jobless. . . ."

That was Lillian's voice! He would know it anywhere any time he heard it . . . he knew it then . . . but it was hard to believe his ears.

". . . Such a girl doesn't want sympathy, charity. She wants help. But help in the form of work. She will do any kind of work to earn a living. Pride doesn't stand in the way. . . ."

Barry's mind began to fasten on the words, their meaning. . . .

". . . are you listening to her side of this problem? Are you thinking about her? I've listened, I've studied. And I've lived in various places throughout New York City with the jobless. I've been one of these girls. Have you ever imagined standing in the bread line? Have you ever wondered how it would feel? If you knew what it means to accept charity in the form of thin soup and cold, unclean beds you would wonder why more jobless girls haven't sought the easier way—because anything would seem preferable to charity in this common form."

Barry leaned over the radio intently, fearful he would miss a word.

". . . under the name of Lillian Blane I sought employment and as a girl combating the problems of the jobless I found that even the necessities of life are beyond the reach of thousands of girls.

". . . employment agencies made me feel I had committed a crime to ask that they find me work. Unless I paid a registration fee many told me I had no chance of securing employment through them. I said I could not pay in advance, since I had not worked in so long. They told me there were thousands of girls in my predicament—and left me to do something about that.

". . . what is to become of the army of unemployed girls? Are you thinking of them? I refer to the girl compelled to earn her own way and who does not want charity. Heaven may help the working girl, But who helps the girl out of work? . . ."

". . . ladies and gentlemen, you have just listened to Miss Lillian Abbott, popularly known as the modern Joan of Arc. Joan of the unemployed. During the past two months hundreds of girls unable to help themselves have been aided by Miss Abbott through her club houses and free employment bureaus.

". . . Miss Abbott is the daughter of Cyrus Abbott, chain store king of Massachusetts. Miss Abbott lives in Salem, but her work in the interest of unemployed girls extends over two states. . . ."

Barry Carlton did not wait until the announced finished. He didn't even stop to finish his cocktail. He pulled on his hat and coat and bolted for the door.

"Hey, Barry!" his friends called.

"Want to make the first edition," he said over his shoulder, "with that unemployment story that just came over the air!"

The group at the bar laughed. The radio was still going. The announcer was saying something about helping the unemployed. The boys ordered another round of drinks. They wanted to forget about the unemployed.

One fellow said: "I'm like Eddie Cantor. I don't want to hear any more about the depression. They've given it so much publicity already it's becoming a success."

A little later one of the group suggested that they run down to Barry's office. It seemed a good idea. They sauntered out of the speakeasy and hailed a taxi.

But at Barry's office they were informed by an office boy that: "Mr. Carlton caught a train for Salem tonight."

"Salem?" one asked. "That's where they used to have witches, or maybe they still do."

"I heard him tell some one over the phone just before he left," said the mischievous-eyed office boy, "that there was a witch in Salem he was going to see. She would be swell copy for the paper he said. I think he was talking to his mother."

The boys thought they might as well go back to the bar.

Q.—How long does it take a ball to reach the plate when the pitcher releases it?—M. B.

A.—Frank G. Menke says that Mark Koenig, while with the New York Yankees, went to West Point, New York, and, in making a speed test with a baseball, before army officers, threw it at the rate of 150 feet per second on May 23, 1930. Based on this, a pitcher can throw a ball from the mound to the plate (60 feet 6 inches) in about 2-5 of a second.

Q.—What do the dates, 1792-1902, in a circle of stars means? They are in the floor at the White House.—L. P. T.

A.—They designate that the White House was built in 1792 and was remodeled in 1902. These dates are circumscribed by the seal of the president of the United States.

Q.—Please settle the question as to whether a salad plate goes to the right or left of the dinner plate.—B. W.

A.—There is no arbitrary rule in regard to the matter. In fact, certain well established writers on etiquette say that it is quite permissible to shift the salad plate from one side to another if the side at which it is served does not prove to be as convenient to the person dining as the other side.

Q.—Please give the history of Admiral Byrd's ship, the City of New York.—C. S. M.

A.—Admiral Byrd in the National Geographic says: "We searched the world for the best ship, and located the stocky bark, which we renamed the City of New York, in Norway. Since 1885 this 512-ton vessel has been weathering rough seas and the polar regions. Her hull is wedge-shaped, enabling her to rise when the ice clutches her in its tremendous pressure. It is reinforced with timbers 34 inches thick. I know of no other ship with sides that thick."

Q.—What was the date of the eruption of Mt. Pelee early in this century?—T. W. K.

A.—There were two eruptions of Mt. Pelee in 1902, on May 8 and on Aug. 30.

Q.—Are joint accounts permitted for postal savings?—E. D.

A.—The postoffice department says that postal savings can only be placed under one name. Joint accounts are not permitted.

Q.—What part of the taxation receipts of Great Britain is derived from customs receipts?—C. R.

A.—British customs duties provide over 16 per cent, averaging about $562,000,000 at par yearly over the past 10 years.

Q.—Is George Washington university a denominational institution?—R. S.

A.—It is no longer. The old Columbian college was under control of the Baptists.

Q.—How long did it take to carry President Lincoln's inaugural address to California by pony express?—I. T.

A.—It was carried from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Calif., in seven days, 17 hours.

Q.—Are jack rabbits able to live without water to drink?—A. L. P.

A.—Desert animals such as the type of jack rabbit common in the Southwest are accustomed to deriving their necessary water supply from such desert plants as they consume, and some of them never actually drink water.

Q.—Is it legal for a mint to refuse silver for coinage?—C. M.

A.—The office of the director of the mint says that the law provides that any owner of silver may take it to a mint and receive in return an equivalent in silver bars. The silver does not have to be purchased.

Q.—What states do most of the canning of shrimp?—C. P.

A.—Louisiana furnishes about one-fourth of all shrimp packed in the United States. Mississippi, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Alabama supply almost all of the remainder.

Q.—Under how many different sets of laws do people in this country live?—B. A. P.

A.—The varieties of law may be classified as follows: Common law and principles of equity; city ordinances and town, township, and county regulations; statute laws of the state; state constitution; federal statutes; national constitution; and treaties made by the United States with foreign countries.

J. T. NUCKLES OF SEYMOUR SHOOTS 72 TO TAKE GOLF LEAD

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Notice to All Amateur League Presidents in This Section

Will you please mail at once to the Rambler, care of this newspaper, the date of the last games of your league's playing schedule.

This applies to Southwestern Oklahoma league presidents as well as those in Northwest Texas.

It has been suggested that the Amateur Baseball tournament be held during Wichita Falls' golden anniversary celebration starting Sept. 26.

This plan would be okay only if the teams didn't have to wait too long for the tournament after their respective races had ended. Your promptness in giving us this information will be appreciated.

All-Stars Are for It

Alex Herrington of Burkburnett writes:

"Dear Fred:

"Why didn't you come out to Katy park Wednesday and see the Burkburnett All-Stars play the hard-hitting Red and White stores baseball nine to a 3 to 3 count? Our umpire certainly got a razzing.

"The Burkburnett team also thinks your suggestion as to a baseball tournament for the amateur leagues of Northwest Texas is a good one. All teams around here are for your suggestion."

A Problem

Sike Smith, manager of the Burk All-Stars, pens this:

"We think the idea of a baseball tournament is a fine thing and would help amateur baseball a lot in this section. I'm wondering if this tournament is held if it will be necessary for a club to be a league member and winner. We have a strong club here and are not a member of any league. At present we have won six games and lost two and have tied the Red and White stores team of your City league.

"If this tournament is held we would like to enter it.

"Would appreciate it if you would announce that we play Olney at Olney Sunday.

"If I can cooperate with you in any way towards holding the tournament will be only too glad to do so. Thanking you for any information and for the many courtesies shown our club."

Whether non-league members would be eligible to enter would have to be worked out later. At present it seems that if we allow one non-league winner to enter, every other similar team in the section would have the same right; and that, of course, would not do as too many teams would be burdensome to handle. However, this point will receive further attention from the men who will be in charge of the tournament.

Incidentally, the tournament idea has been completely sold to Bill Huff, former Spudder president, and John Boswell, chamber of commerce secretary here. With their cooperation, something ought to be accomplished.

From Spanish Fort

J. E. Brasier, manager of the Spanish Fort baseball team, writes:

"Keep the good work going for the tournament. We think it keen and sure want to be the team from the Red River Valley league of Montague county.

"We are on top now and are going to try hard to stay there.

"Keep the Rambler's corner hot for this tournament."

From Local Amateurs

Paul Whatley, skipper of a Commercial league club in this city gives enthusiastic support to the idea of a Northwest Texas Baseball tournament here next fall, and adds the valuable suggestion that Southwest Oklahoma teams also be invited to enter. Whatley writes as follows:

"Dea Fred:

"Just a word Fred in regard to your idea of a North Texas Amateur Baseball tournament. I agree with 'Phooey IV' of Electra, that this would be a mighty good thing for amateur baseball in this section, because in the last two or three years, interest hasn't been as good as it once was and I believe that a tournament would revive this interest. It would also give the teams something to look forward to and something to play for throughout the season besides just winning the ball game for the fun of it.

"You suggested a North Texas tournament. Why not make it a North Texas and Southern Oklahoma tournament, because you know Southern Oklahoma is considered in this trade territory and are our neighbors, so why not let them have a chance, also by including them you would be able to have more team compete and I believe, make a better tournament of it. What do you think?

"When you put this tournament over Fred, for the sake of the amateur please see that it is kept amateur and does not get to be the joke that the Texas Amateur association is, because you know what kind of competition the boys have been having in the last two years when they met Dallas and Fort Worth in the playoff.

"So Fred, the Commercial league is for you 100 per cent, and anything we can do to help you out please do not fail to call on us."

About Dizzy Dean

An interesting picture of Dizzy Dean's activities in the big show is given by Martin J. Haley of the St. Louis Globe Democrat. His story, which came to us via Andy Anderson's column in The Houston Press, follows:

"No ball player in years has struck the popular fancy as has Dizzy Dean, one-man show of the Cardinals. He had 23,000 fans at Sportsmans park applauding him at every turn as he pitched and batted the Birds to a 6 to 5 victory over the Giants in the second game of the double-header. His versatility brought about an even division of the day's sports, as New York had won the first game 4 to 1 in a pitching duel between Southpaw Carl Hubbell and Sylvester Johnson.

Dean, known for his first-person vocabulary, can talk himself hoarse and he would still have thousands of listeners. He's that kind of a showman, for he certainly supports his verbal barrage on the field.

He did not shut out the Giants as he did Cincinnati last Tuesday, but he pitched brilliantly, even so, sweeping back the Giants inning after inning in the pinches and finally striking out their captain, Travis Jackson, to end the spectacular performance with the tying run on second base.

"Dean yielded 13 hits, but he would have had a far easier game had his outfielders, who were troubled by the sun, given him tighter support. Dizzy, however, gave himself a "sinking fund" to work on early in the game through his own batting efforts, and that held him in good stead to the finish.

After Jimmy Collins gave him a 2-0 lead with a home run with first base leased in the first inning, Dis put himself ahead 4 to 0 by driving in two runs on a double against the left field wall in the second. Then came the piece de resistance of the afternoon.

"The Giants, after three scoreless rounds, counted two runs in their fourth to cut the Card's lead in half. Then Dis panicked them in the last half of the fourth, his brainy play so confusing them that he got a double on a bunt, which resulted in two runs.

Gelbert led off the inning with a single. Dean, next up, drew the New York infielders in for a bunt, but instead of bunting easily, he slashed a hard line drive bunt over Third Baseman Vergez' head and past Shortstop Jackson to left field. The Giants' infield was thrown into general disorder. Vergez had moved over to cover third and Second Baseman Crits had shifted to cover first base.

"That left second base wide open. Dizzy, who is as keen a baseball thinker as he is a talker, pitcher and batter, sized up the situation in a hurry and he promptly raced for second base, which was unprotected. Critz simultaneously raced with Dean to second and when Left Fielder Koenecke threw the ball high to second, trying for Dean, nobody was at first to retrieve the ball.

"As a result of that mess, Gelbert not only scored but so did Dean. Catcher Hogan finally caught up with the loose ball, but even he was so excited by the sudden turn of events that he threw the ball wildly to the plate. However, he could not have nailed Dean even with a perfect throw. The play was ruled a double for Dean and an error for Koenecke."

STAR SINKS THREE BIRDIES

Qualifying Round Comes To End Today

The Wichita Falls Junior chamber of commerce invitation golf tournament gave indications of turning into the hardest fought battle of linksmen in years yesterday as J. T. Nuckles of Seymour, undaunted by the splendid scores theretofore turned in, sailed around the Weeks park course in 72 strokes, one over par.

This remarkable performance took the leadership of the field away from Jack Parr of Electra, flashy youth who only Thursday stroked his way around the links in 74 to take what appeared to be an overwhelming lead. Previously L. T. Burns of this city had held the lead with a 77.

Shoots Three Birdies

Nuckles crashed out three birdies in the 18-hole route, two of them coming in the first nine to give him a 35, one under par. On the back nine he shot a 37, two over par, for the total of 72.

His card:

Par, out	444	435	534	36
Nuckles, out	444	525	434	35
Par, in	334	445	535	35
Nuckles, in	334	536	535	37

Nuckles' score probably assures him of medal honors for the qualifying round.

His score yesterday testified to a vast improvement in Nuckle's game, as last spring in the Greenbelt Golf association tournament at Clarendon he fell into the second flight and there was eliminated in the quarterfinals. Nuckles until recently lived in Vernon. He moved to Seymour about three months ago, and shortly after won the Seymour city championship.

24 More Qualify

In all, 24 golfers qualified yesterday. John Marriott of Electra with a 76 had the next best score, with James Bridges of Wichita Falls running a close third with 77 strokes.

About 115 golfers qualified Thursday and Friday, and Professional Bill Strachan, tournament starter and referee, said 133 had registered. The remainder of the qualifying scores will be posted late today, and the final 36 holes of medal play in both individual and team events will be reeled off Sunday.

The tournament is probably the largest ever held in this city.

Golfers this evening will be guests at a banquet at the Weeks park clubhouse. Thereafter, they will be invited to attend the annual Junior chamber of commerce dance at the Wichita club.

The complete list of qualifying scores turned in yesterday follows:

72—J. T. Nuckles, Seymour.
76—John Marriott, Electra.
77—James Bridges, Wichita Falls.
82—H. W. Myers, Electra.
87—W. H. Caskey, Quanah.
91—Jack Judd, Electra; W. R. Harper, Frederick, Okla.
92—Saxon Judd, Electra; Neal Hall, Burkburnett; C. D. Whitley, Wichita Falls; Whitney Anderson, Vernon.
93—Roy LeBus, Electra; J. A. Koch, Quanah; Otto Lambert, Electra.
94—C. F. O'Hara, Wichita Falls.
95—J. Edgar Johnson, Vernon; M. L. Tyson, Frederick, Okla.
97—R. R. Gilliland, Quanah; C. H. Dillingham, Frederick, Okla.
98—Roy S. Lankford, Seymour.
103—A. D. Beck, Wichita Falls; D. W. Covington, Wichita Falls.
112—W. W. Walker, Wichita Falls.

Wichitans Named Envoys To Recreation Congress

Walter S. Curlee and C. C. Bunnenberg of Wichita Falls were included in a list of 36 delegates appointed by Gov. R. S. Sterling yesterday to represent Texas at the first international recreation congress to be held in Los Angeles July 23 to 29, prior to the Olympic games, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Record News. Delegates from 27 nations will participate in the congress.

W. C. Klinger of Plainview and Mrs. B. F. Cheatham of Panhandle also were included in the delegates appointed.

Longview Makes Texas League Debut By Taking 17-2 Licking From Shippers

Special to The Record News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 20.—School boy Rowe's fourth start and fourth victory in organized baseball was an easy 17 to 2 triumph for Beaumont over the newly christened Longview Cannibals today, the tall right-hander striking out 12 of the erstwhile Wichita Falls Spudders. He allowed six hits, four of which were bunched in the sixth for Longview's two tallies. He fanned Green four times. At bat he got three hits out of five trips to the platter and drove in two runs.

Pressnell, Taylor and Ferrell were slammed by the league leaders for 21 hits. Fox hit a single, triple and home run. In the sixth the Exporters scored eight times on eight hits. A ladies' day crowd of 2,500 attended.

How They Did It

In the first after the visitors had gone out in order the Exporters filled the bases on singles by Clifton and Tauby and a walk to Jones. Greenberg was out on an infield fly to Scharein and Easterling flew out to right, Clifton scoring after the catch. Fox forced Jones at second.

Schoolboy struck out the side in the second with his blinding speed. In the home half Holley led off with a double to left, went to third as Reiber grounded out and scored on Rowe's high twister back of second. Clifton singled to left and Tauby beat out a bunt filling the bases. Jones beat out a slow roller to first, scoring Rowe. Greenberg rifled a single to center scoring Clifton and Tauby. Easterling flew out to deep center, Jones scoring after the catch. Fox flew out to center. The score was 6 to 0.

LONGVIEW GETS WILTSE

LONGVIEW, Texas, May 20. (AP)—President L. C. McEvoy of the Longview Cannibals announced tonight that Pitcher Hal Wiltse, star southpaw with Wichita Falls in 1930, would join the Longview club within the next few days. McEvoy said that Wiltse, now with Milwaukee of the American association, would leave for Texas immediately.

Taylor Walks in Two

Taylor went in to pitch in the third. In the fourth he filled bases on two singles, a force out and a walk, and then walked in two.

The enemy got their first runs in the sixth and incidentally their first hit. Taylor led off with a double to left and went to third on Garms scratch hit to the box Bejma singled past second scoring Taylor. Fuss lined out to center. Badgro singled to center scoring Garms and then Rowe struck out Green and Owens. This gave him nine strikeouts.

In the home half Easterling opened with a double to center and scored on Fox's triple which bounced over Badgro. Holley grounded out but Reiber singled to left counting Fox. Reiber stole second and scored on Rowe's scorcher to short. Clifton dropped a single back of first, Rowe going to second. Scharein kicked Tauby's roller filling the bases. Jones lined a single off Taylor's shins and two scored when the ball bounced into right field. Ferrell replaced Taylor. Greenberg lined a single to left scoring Tauby. Easterling, up for the second time, walked filling the bases. Fox grounded out to third, Jones scoring. Holley scratched a hit to third, Greenberg scoring. Reiber grounded out to the box.

The score:

Longview—	Ab	R	H	Po	A	E
Garms, cf	4	1	1	4	0	0

Cyclone Fox Wins Over Dude Chick

Cyclone Fox came back strong after losing the first fall to Dude Chick Friday night in the main event of the regular weekly mat card, and won the second and third falls for a victory. The last fall was a thriller, with the two men starting mixing it freely from the signal to start.

After two preliminary draws, Silent Condell used the Japanese toe hold to win two falls after his opponent, Jimmy Lindsey, a substitute for Hicks, had won the first fall.

Yanks Retain League Lead As Gomez Subdues Washington Senators, 6-3

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—Vernon Gomez, the Yankees' sterling southpaw, kept his club on top of the American league standing today by holding the Washington batters in check to win the third game of their "crucial" series, 6 to 3.

Gomez allowed nine hits in winning his sixth victory of the season but he was usually able to "bear down" when he got into difficulties.

Altogether the tall Castilian curver fanned eight opponents, bringing his total for the season to 44.

Tony Lazzeri set the pace for the Yankees, smacking a triple, a double and a single in four times up. Babe Ruth drove in the first two runs, one with a fly and the other with a single. Score:

Tribute Paid Former Electra Grid Coach

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 19.—A special tribute was paid to Harvey Stanford, Tiger football coach the past five years, during assembly exercises at the high school Wednesday morning. Stanford recently accepted a coaching position at Matador. B. M. Dinsmore, superintendent of the Electra schools, in a brief eulogy spoke of the work done by Harvey the past five years. E. E. Rogers, high school principal, told of the splendid athletic record made by the coach during the high school days in Electra and during his college days at Howard Payne.

Stanford made a brief talk in which he expressed his appreciation for the cooperation given him. He stated that he hoped to attend games to see the "Tigers down their old rivals, the Wichita Falls Coyotes and the Vernon Lions."

Summry of Good Combination Rules

We studied some of the different types of food combinations in the articles appearing on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The menus given on Friday are always arranged according to the rules of good food combinations, giving my views in a simplified form. I might have made these food combination rules a great deal more complicated if I had written them 20 years ago, but I have found that good food combinations can be understood with very simple rules and there are few exceptions.

Protein Combinations—Any one protein may be used with one or more of the cooked or raw nonstarchy vegetables with the addition of one kind of fruit either cooked or raw if desired.

Here is a list of good protein foods: Lean beef, mutton, chicken, rabbit, turkey, sole, halibut, sea bass, pickerel, fresh cod, perch, black bass, tuna, eggs, cottage cheese, gelatin, frogs' legs and turtle.

Starch Combinations—Any one starch may be used with one or more of the cooked or raw nonstarchy vegetables. No fruit should be used with this meal.

Here is a list of the good starchy foods: Potatoes, green corn, macaroni, spaghetti, vermicelli, noodles, Hubbard squash, rice, cornbread, corn meal, wheat flour biscuits, whole wheat flour, whole wheat, gluten bread, shredded wheat, barley, canned corn, water crackers, carrots, turnips, parsnips and beets.

Nonstarchy Combinations—One or more nonstarchy vegetables either cooked or raw may be used with either one starch or one protein or with any one other article of food, such as milk, toast or fruit.

Here is a list of the nonstarchy vegetables: Celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, cucumbers, summer squash, eggplant, beet tops, turnip tops, small beets, small parsnips, small carrots, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, chayotes, oyster plant, mallow, kale, zucchini, vegetable marrow.

Fruit Combinations—One kind of fruit either cooked or raw may be used with a protein meal or with milk or with any one of the nonstarchy vegetables. Fruit should never be used at a meal containing a highly starchy food; this includes tomatoes.

Toast Combinations—Thoroughly toasted food may be used with any other article of food or with any combination.

Milk Combinations—Milk may be used by itself or with any one kind of fruit or with one or more nonstarchy vegetables. Never use raw milk at meals containing protein or starch.

Dessert Combinations — Desserts such as gelatin, stewed or raw fruit may be used in combination with one nonstarchy vegetable or in addition to a protein meal but never with a starchy meal.

Salad and Soup Combinations—All kinds of foods are used for salads but the same combination rules should be followed as with the preparation of any of the other dishes served at the meal. Good combinations should also be observed in the preparation of soups.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Radium and X-Ray Treatments

Question—Miss Hortense Q. writes: "I wish you would explain to me about radium treatments. Of what benefit are they? Also, what benefit is derived from an x-ray treatment where you lie on a couch with your clothing on?"

Answer—Radium and x-ray treatments are given in an attempt to cure abnormal growths, such as tumors and cancers. Such treatments have not been highly successful and, in fact, results have been very disappointing. The x-ray treatment can be given through the clothing but this is seldom done.

Lemon Juice in the Morning

Question—Miss Nanene says: "Will you explain in the health column the effect of lemon juice the first thing in the morning?"

Answer—Many people find it advantageous to take a small amount of lemon juice in a glass of water each morning upon arising. Breakfast should not be taken for at least a half hour. The lemon juice stimulates the digestive juices of the stomach and produces a better appetite for breakfast.

Marking Unborn Child

Question—Mrs. Elva R. asks: "Is there such a thing as marking a child? I am two months pregnant and saw something which frightened me very much and I am worried."

Answer—The consensus of opinion today is that such marking is purely coincidence. Just forget about the incident and develop a happy attitude of mind. Keep yourself in every way up to the highest point of efficiency and your child will be healthier for it. Send for my special series of articles for an expectant mother, which is called "The Motherhood Series."

Dentists Of Texas Elect Officers

DALLAS, May 20. (AP)—Dr. W. P. Delafield of Dallas was chosen as president-elect of the Texas State Dental society at the closing session of the 52nd annual convention today. He will assume office in 1933.

San Antonio was designated as the next convention city.

Other officers elected included Dr. J. F. Clark of Beaumont, vice president; Dr. J. G. Fife of Dallas, secretary-treasurer; Dr. A. L. Nygard of Dallas, assistant secretary; Dr. W. B. McCall of Temple, chairman of the executive committee; C. G. Kirkpatrick of Marshall, and Dr. J. T. Edwards of Fort Worth, executive committee members.

Delegates named to attend the national convention were Dr. J. O. Hall of Waco, Dr. Fife and Dr. Walter Scherer of Houston.

A committee will be appointed by Dr. R. L. Rogers of Amarillo, president-elect who took office today, to study the dental legislation question in Texas.

Archer Seniors To Hear Baccalaureate

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 20.—The final exercise in the graduation of Archer City High school seniors will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when the Rev. Mauflett B. Moon, pastor, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the First Baptist church.

After an opening song by 200 mixed voices of the high school chorus, graduates will form the processional in caps and gowns.

Other features of the program include a vocal solo by Mrs. Harry A. Hollister, accompanied by Harry V. Pearston at the piano; a special musical service under the direction of Rich F. Burnett; and benediction by Roy Heard.

The program will close with a song by the entire congregation.

Oklaunion to Be Host To Baptist Conference

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, May 20.—The monthly session of the workers' conference of the Wilbarger-Foard Baptist association will be held at the Oklaunion Baptist church Tuesday. The program will open at 9:45 a. m. and will continue through the early part of the afternoon. The song service is to be conducted by A. T. Lemon and the general theme of the program will be "Soul Conquest."

Approximately 150 Baptist workers from Wilbarger and Foard counties are expected to attend.

The program follows:

Devotional, J. O. Doss; "The Value of the Soul to Be Conquested," Clyde Price; "The Use of the Redeemed in the Conquest," F. D. Pearson; "The Weapons Usable in the Conquest," C. F. Brown; "The Essential Preparation for the Conquest," Rev. E. F. Lyon of Vernon; sermon, A. C. Turner; devotional, Walter Bell; "Conserving the Results of the Conquest," W. W. Smith; "Reaching Our Association With Revivals," E. M. Agee.

Osage Indian Racing Driver Dies in Denver

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., May 20. (UP)—Andrew (Cokey) Fuller, 32, automobile racing driver and Osage Indian, died today in Denver, according to word received here.

Fuller held headrights in the Osage tribe and had used most of his large income in buying specially built automobiles. The body will be brought here.

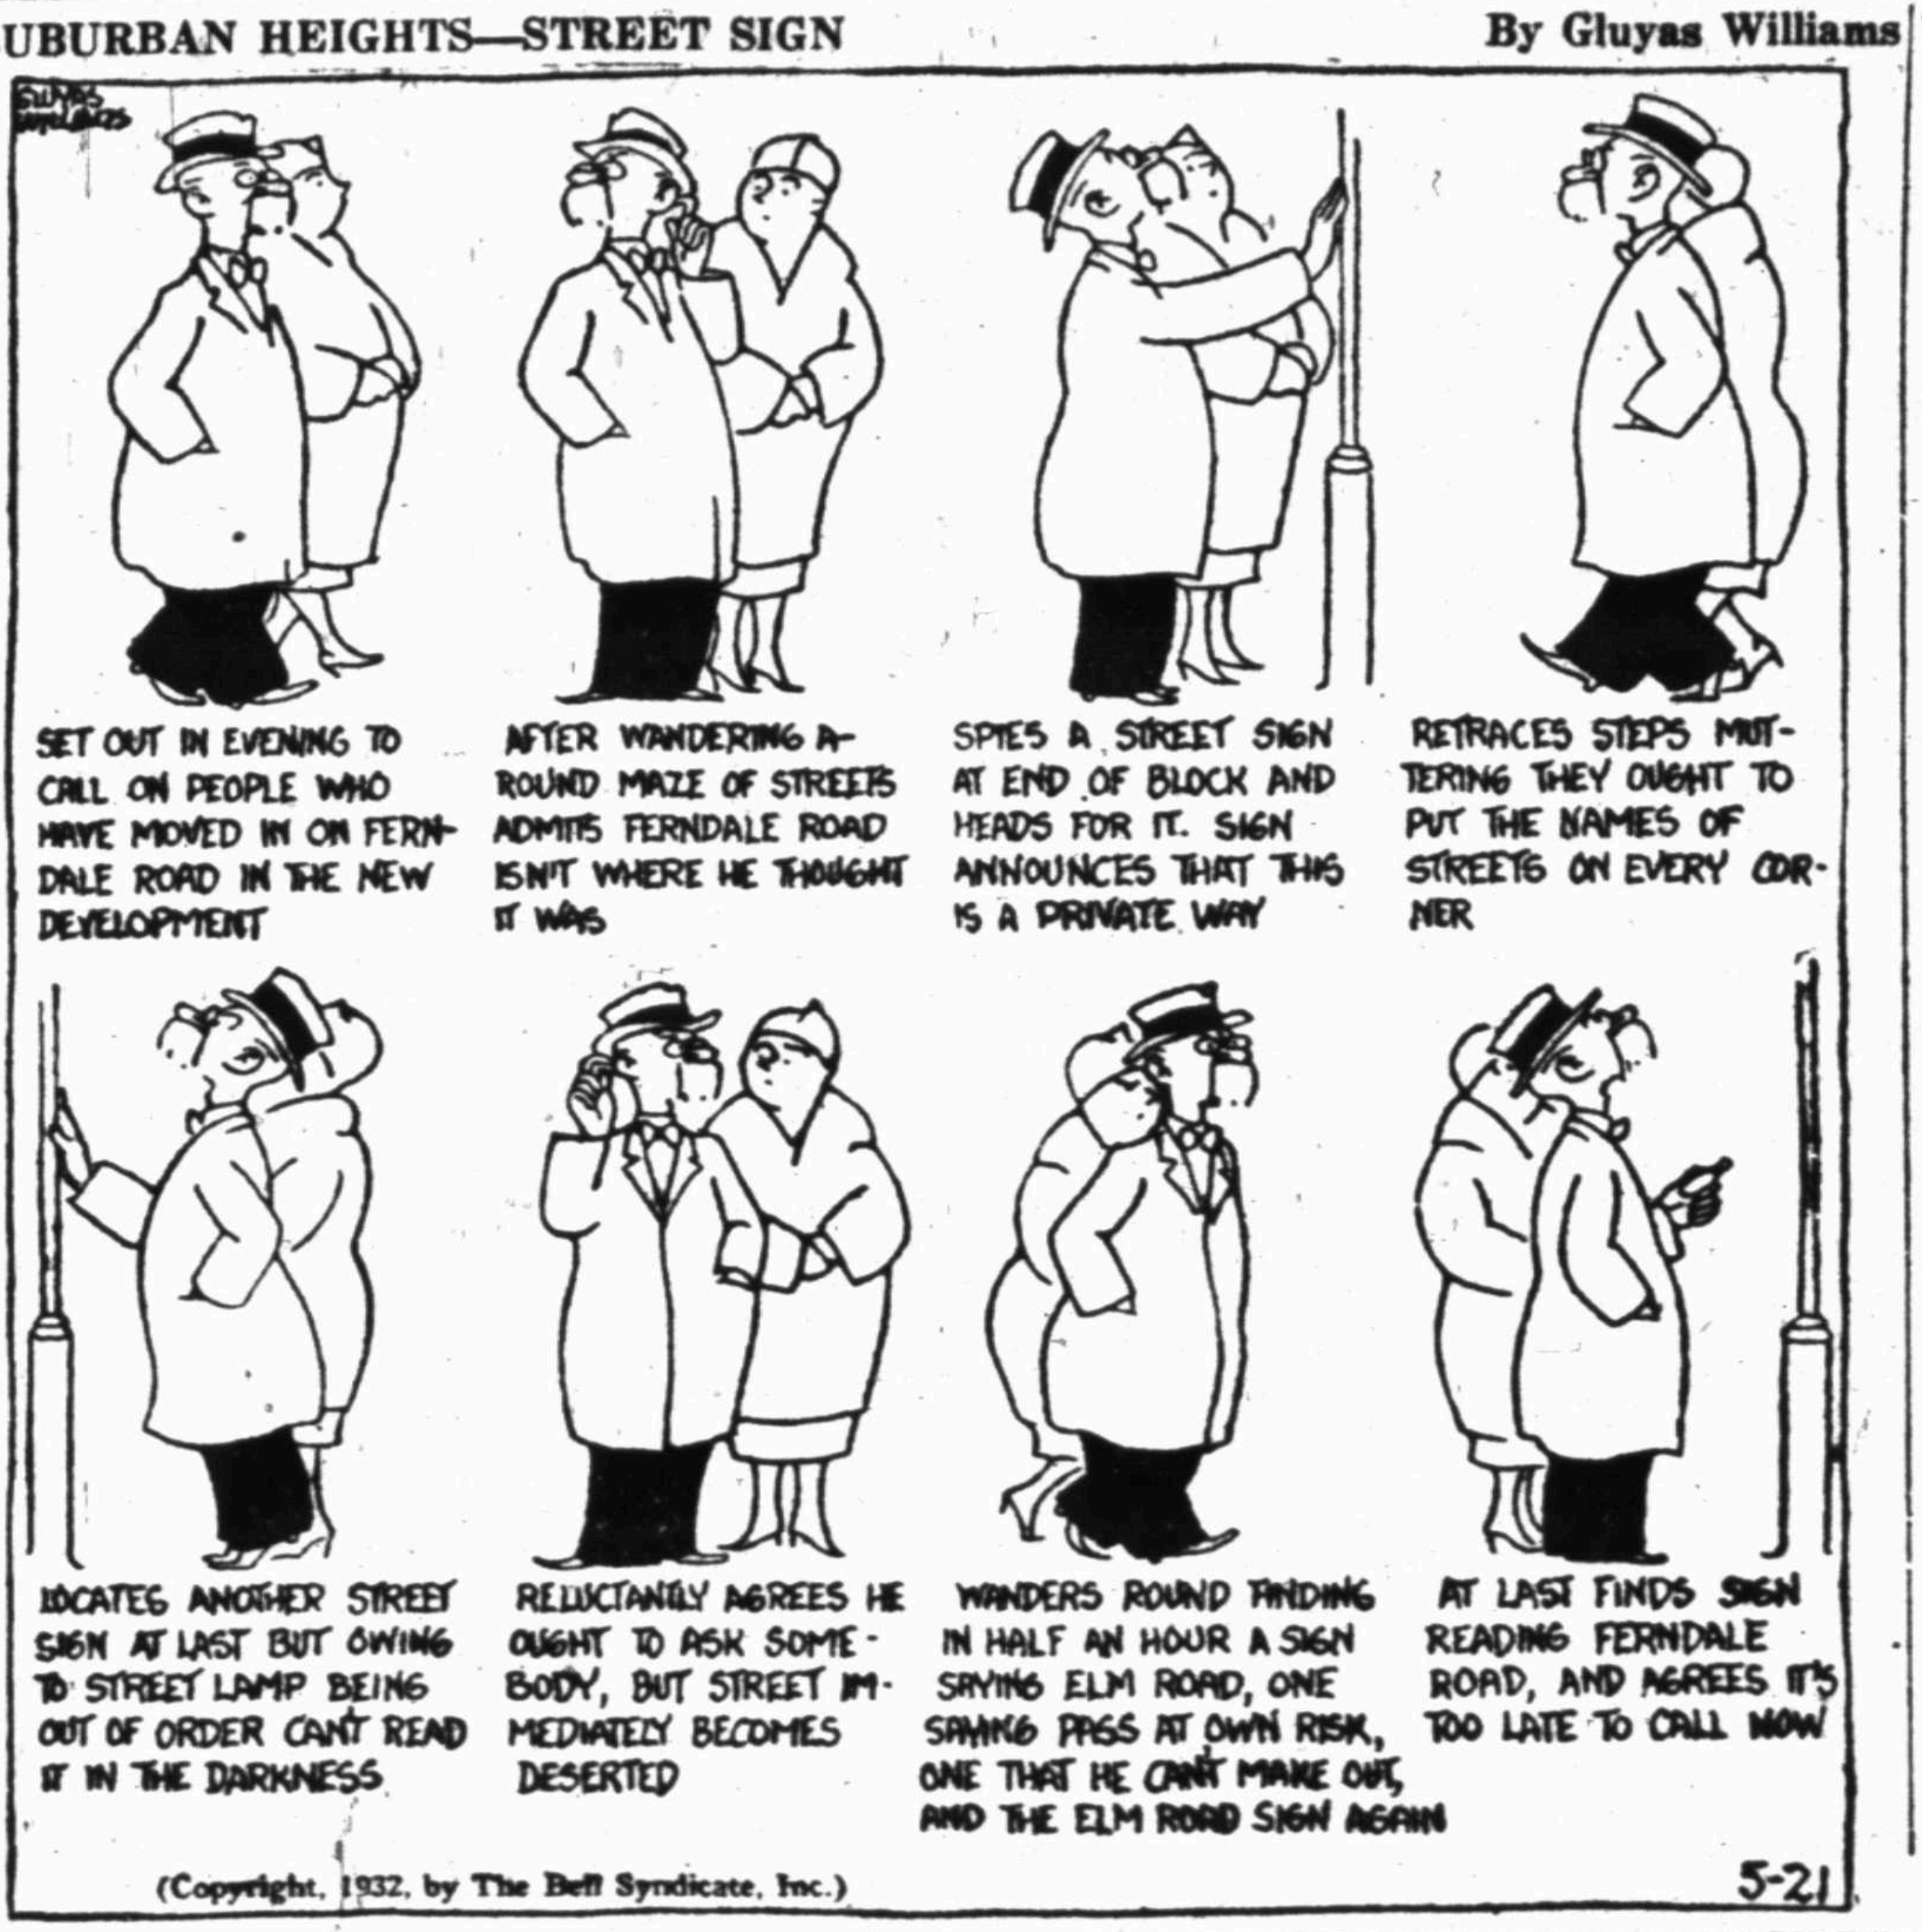
SUBURBAN HEIGHTS—STREET SIGN By Gluyas Williams



SET OUT IN EVENING TO CALL ON PEOPLE WHO HAVE MOVED IN ON FERNDALE ROAD IN THE NEW DEVELOPMENT
AFTER WANDERING AROUND MAZE OF STREETS ADMITS FERNDALE ROAD ISN'T WHERE HE THOUGHT IT WAS
SPIES A STREET SIGN AT END OF BLOCK AND HEADS FOR IT. SIGN ANNOUNCES THAT THIS IS A PRIVATE WAY
RETRACES STEPS MUTTERING THEY OUGHT TO PUT THE NAMES OF STREETS ON EVERY CORNER
LOCATES ANOTHER STREET SIGN AT LAST BUT OWING TO STREET LAMP BEING OUT OF ORDER CAN'T READ IT IN THE DARKNESS
RELUCTANTLY AGREES HE OUGHT TO ASK SOMEBODY, BUT STREET IMMEDIATELY BECOMES DESERTED
WANDERS ROUND FINDING IN HALF AN HOUR A SIGN SAYING ELM ROAD, ONE SAYING PASS AT OWN RISK, ONE THAT HE CAN'T MAKE OUT, AND THE ELM ROAD SIGN AGAIN
AT LAST FINDS SIGN READING FERNDALE ROAD, AND AGREES IT'S TOO LATE TO CALL NOW

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 20. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Today's trade in cattle developed nothing of importance with arrivals at most markets too meager to adequately test quotations. Steers and yearlings ranged largely with a spread of $4.75@6.00 with a few loads and odd lots at $6.10@6.50.

Receipts for the week at 11 markets totaled 132,309, as compared with 139,215 last week and 182,249 the same period a year ago.

Hogs were considered steady to 10c higher as compared with Thursday's average, Chicago scoring a top of $3.60.

Lamb values continued to drop consistently. On the close current levels line up about $1.00 under the close of last week. The decline is more or less of a seasonable character which occurs as summer approaches and consumers turn to the plentiful supply of relatively low priced poultry. Today's trade was conducted on a steady at $4.00@4.75, while springers made $5.00 to 25c lower level with fed lambs quotable @6.00.

CHICAGO, May 20. (INS)—Hogs—Receipts, 16,000; 10c higher; top, $3.60; bulk, $3@3.50; heavy, $3@3.40; medium, $3.35@3.60; lights, $3.40@3.60; light lights, $3.25@3.50; packing sows, $2.50@2.90; pigs, $2.85@3.35; holdovers, 6,000.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

L. R.—What is the outlook for Colgate-Palmolive-Peet common stock?

Answer — Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company operating factories in 23 foreign countries, in addition to six units in the United States, is the second largest domestic soap enterprise. Output includes numerous nationally advertised cleansing agents, dentifrices, shaving creams and talcum powders. Sales in first two months of 1932 were lower than those of corresponding 1931 months, but March and early April marked a reversal of this trend. Since price stabilization of the necessary raw materials has been partially effected, small competitors are losing the advantage (in a declining market) of limited purchases and low inventories. Foreign business is being well sustained. Should the proposed 10 per cent excise tax on the company's products become law, the impost likely would be shifted largely to the consumer. Longer term prospects indicate moderate expansion of sales and profits with any increase in general business activity. Net income equaled $3.12 a common share in 1931, against $3.76 in 1930. While a further moderate decline in earnings is expected over the next few months, the company's strong financial position and its ability thus far to earn a good margin above the regular $2.50 common dividend rate assure at least medium term maintenance of present dividends.

Mrs. B. Y., Wichita Falls—Would greatly appreciate your opinion of the continuance of the present dividend on Great Western Sugar preferred.

Answer—Primarily as a result of low sugar prices, a deficit equal to $5.78 per share on the preferred and $1.15 on the common was reported by Great Western Sugar company in the fiscal year ended Feb. 29, 1932. With recovery in the sugar trade strictly a long term prospect, little improvement in results is anticipated for some time, and preferred dividends are not considered secure.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 20. (AP)—Cotton was affected only slightly by the overnight news of the formation of a committee of bankers and industrialists to aid in making credit available to business.

July stiffened up in late trading on renewed covering and closed at 5.78 with the general market closing steady at net advances of 4 to 5 points.

Houses with Liverpool, continental and Japanese connections, were said to be among the early buyers, while there was local buying on the action of the stock market and the announcement of the banking committee.

Prices eased during the middle of the day under realizing combined with a little southern selling. The failure of the stock market to hold its early gains and of demand to broaden on the upturn in cotton, was probably a disappointment to early buyers, which contributed to the reactions to about or a shade below yesterday's closing quotations. The market rallied 5 or 6 points in the late trading on renewed covering.

The government report giving the final figures on last year's acreage and yield per acre showed very little change from the December estimates. They placed the area under cultivation, July 1, last year at 41,189,000 acres, the acreage picked at 40,693,000 and the average yield of lint cotton per acre at 201.2 pounds. Reports of further rains in the eastern belt were considered favorable, but attention seemed to center on the Washington news and the action of the stock market.

It was a holiday in Liverpool which remains closed until Monday morning. Exports today 12,326 making 7,817,210 so far this season.

Futures closed steady, 4 to 5 points higher. Spot, quiet; middling, 5.90.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 20. (AP)—The cotton market was somewhat more active today and prices developed a slight upward trend. The close was at or near the top and the market closed steady at net advances for the day of 5 to 7 points.

July closed at 5.80 and Oct. at 5.99, or 7 to 5 points respectively net higher for the day.

A final revision of last year's crop by the government made acreage in cultivation July 1, 41,189,000 acres and the final ginning total 17,096,000 bales.

Port receipts 12,361, for week 37,536, for season 9,607,416, last season 8,795,169. Exports 12,326, for week 119,410, for season 7,844,819, last season 6,077,157. Port stock 3,926,668, last year 3,565,695. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 77,581, last year 63,173. Spot sales at southern markets 4,189; last year 5,249.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 5 to 7 points.

All Markets Rally In Response To Action To Bring Depression To End

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 20. (US)—Brisk rally in all markets today was the response to the overnight announcement of the formation of a bankers-industrialists committee which will seek ways and means for terminating the depression. In stocks, the initial trading plainly reflected the speculative community's satisfaction with what had been done, and this interpretation of the market's action held despite a subsequent reaction in prices which cancelled most of the early gains.

The bond market closed virtually unchanged, but this was comparatively a favorable response, since the bond list had previously, especially on Thursday, shown distinct weakness. Commodity markets almost without exception showed net gains on the day. This was not surprising in view of the very apparent objective of the new organization with respect to strengthening of the price level.

The new prosperity group's formation was especially influential in the grain markets, where wheat and other prices rose a cent a bushel and more. As previously stated here, the position of wheat is considered by competent authorities to be unusually bullish, but the pressure of general pessimism has been preventing proper reflection of actualities. The sentimental relief already afforded by the prosperity groups formation was immediately noticeable in the lifting of wheat and other grain quotations.

It is hardly fair to expect startling immediate developments from the new prosperity group. It is known that its members have definite conceptions of promising plans, but these, in view of the intensity of the depression, naturally will require extensive preparation and in any event plenty of time in which to make them effective.

The fact, however, that leadership finally is developing in the drive for revival in itself should create improved sentiment throughout the nation. This at the moment is the most tangible result of the overnight news.

The stock list quite plainly was again demonstrating how easily it responds even to fair-sized shift in buying or selling. Recoveries of one and two points were scored in numerous issues in the first hour, after which the market developed a softness which probably reflected a temporarily overbought position.

Only veteran Wall streeters appreciate the true influence of the current Washington "exposures" on the price level. No bull operation or, for that matter, no bear operation, is being undertaken while the investigation is under way. The stock market in bullish movements almost invariably reflects concentrated bull activities, described as pools or any similar operation. When it declines, in large measure it is reflecting an oversupply of stock. At the moment, concentrated bull operations are entirely extinct. This makes the market appear less secure than it really is.

Another factor, of course, is the disclosure at Washington of the extreme gullibility of the public in the last great upswing, and also the unwise actions of managements. Disclosure, for example, that $23,000,000 was paid for a property with tangible assets of little over $1,000,000, makes investors wary.

In any event, it would seem that too many people are watching the stock market for signs of a turn, to the exclusion of other markets, particularly bonds and commodities. When these two markets become stabilized, then investment interest will first be attracted to stocks. While high yields are available on bonds, many of them seemingly well secured or at least speculatively attractive, the investor naturally steers clear of stocks. The latter will first have to undergo a period of stability, during which reaccumulation and investment buying can be conducted without undue influence from rapidly fluctuating prices.

The stock exchange took another step toward eliminating disturbing factors by forbidding its members to "guarantee" options running for periods of less than six days. These options recently have been abused, to the injury of the market.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 20. (AP)—Wheat traders showed ardor today in taking at face value reports of a concerted new effort by financial and industrial leaders to energize business revival.

A maximum upturn of 1⅜c a bushel for wheat took place, lifting the market to the highest point since April 27. Increased complaint of crop damage to domestic winter, especially in states east of the Missouri river, were a contributing bullish factor.

Wheat closed unsettled 1¼@1⅜c above yesterday's finish, corn ⅝@⅞c up, oats ⅜@⅝c advanced, and provisions at a rise of 2 to 12c.

Best prices in the wheat market failed to hold in the face of prospects of some relief tonight from persistent dry weather that has been impairing the domestic crop outlook southwest. Except at the last, however, wheat had a pronounced upward trend. Much of the buying which accompanied the rise of values appeared to be based on belief that commodity prices would be the first to reflect improved business, and that nearly virtual failure of the domestic winter wheat crop southwest and west would make wheat the leader.

Crop news on winter wheat appeared increasingly bullish, with Kansas grain dealers estimating the season's yield in that state at only 70,000,000 to 85,000,000 bu., about one-third of last year's harvest. The tendency was also to curtail estimates of production in Oklahoma, Texas and Nebraska. A feature was augmented reports of hessian fly damage, and of lack of vigor making the wheat plant more than usually vulnerable. Milling demand for wheat showed improvement, with purchases the largest in some time.

Corn and oats borrowed strength chiefly from wheat.

SENIORS PLAN FINAL WEEK

Graduation Program To Open With Sermon

A full week of activity has been scheduled for high school students of Wichita Falls following the opening of the week with the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning at the Memorial auditorium.

Rev. J. E. Montgomery, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, will deliver the sermon and special musical numbers have been arranged.

Junior college and high school students will be busy with examinations Monday and Tuesday but several parties, picnics and other social gatherings have been carded.

The annual senior play, "In Hot Tamaleland," directed by Miss Juanita Kinsey, will be presented at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Junior college auditorium.

Commencement programs for the junior high schools have not been completed but the Zundelowitz exercise will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the school auditorium. The Reagan Junior High program will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Reagan auditorium.

College class night will be observed at the college auditorium Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock and a full program of entertainment is promised.

The final feature of the week will be the college and high school commencement at the Memorial auditorium on Friday night at 8:15 o'clock when the members of the graduating class will present a "Citizenship" program. The evening will be climaxed with a banquet and dance for the graduates at the Wichita club.

The Washington school commencement week will open with the baccalaureate sermon at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the school auditorium with the Rev. M. P. Timms of the St. John's Baptist church speaking.

The Washington commencement program will be held at the school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock Monday night, May 30.

15 Awarded Diplomas At Valley View School

Fifteen high school graduates at the Valley View school received diplomas Friday night after the commencement address had been given by Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church of Wichita Falls.

Students of the school, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Berry, pianist, presented a short program which preceded Dr. McKenney's address. Diplomas were presented by W. L. Hodges, while J. B. Golden, superintendent of the Valley View school, announced the scholarship awards.

Graduates were Della Jeter, Nina Cope, Nell Gray, Edna Erle Hudson, Ozell Laurence, Ollie Bius, Beulah Dudley, Lois McClure, Gertrude Nelson, Sayra Crutcher, Bennett Cooksey, Bill Campbell, Alfred Harmon, Lester Jones, and Clovis Childress.

The following program was given:

Processional, piano, Miss Jewelle Thompson; "Remembrance," (Davies), Mrs. C. H. Berry, pianist; salutatory, Bennett Cooksey; class history, Gertrude Nelson; valedictory, Sayra Crutcher; vocal duet, Misses Dosia and Viola Smith; address, Dr. S. S. McKenney; scholarship awards, Superintendent J. B. Golden; recessional, Miss Thompson, pianist.

Suit Involves Use of Water From Farm Tank

Suit was brought by G. A. Mogren et al against E. E. Goetzes and others in district court here Friday for an injunction restraining the latter from violating the terms of an alleged contract covering the use of water from a surface tank in this county.

A surface tank located on the defendant's land was conditioned by the plaintiff, according to the pleading, with the understanding that plaintiffs might use such water as they need for drilling purposes, etc., from the tank so long as sufficient water for the defendant's livestock was left in the reservoir.

The plaintiff charges that the defendants now are refusing to allow water for drilling purposes to pass to the plaintiff's ditch built for that purpose, and are altering the dam of the tank so that such a supply of water can not be obtained by the plaintiff.

NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT MAKING BIG HIT

Grocers Say Housewives Welcome Many Improvements in Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit

Local grocers have pronounced the new Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit one of the most up-to-date food products on the market. It offers many outstanding and popular features. For one thing, the biscuits are toasted a golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side.

The new Kellogg biscuit is also baked in a more convenient, economical size. Two biscuits just fit the cereal bowl—and you get 15 to the package instead of a dozen.

Mothers will especially be interested in the fact that every package is certified for food value by the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia. These new biscuits are considered a splendid food for both adults and children. With either hot or cold milk, you achieve a well-balanced amount of vitamins, minerals, proteins and carbohydrates.

The Kellogg Company uses a special process of "pressure-cooking" which retains all the food value of the whole wheat and makes it very easy to digest. At the same time it develops delicious flavor.

These improved biscuits can be identified by the name, Kellogg's, and the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Parade Of Beauties In Vaudeville Acts Features Junior C-C Luncheon

A parade of feminine vaudeville artists, both amateur and professional, was presented Friday at the membership luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce at the Wichita club with the program climax furnished by Vernon talent.

The entertainment opened with presentation of Miss Patricia Ward, Wichita Falls' gypsy queen by President Don T. Haynes. Announcements included plans for "aviation week" opening May 29, by Gus Hecht; details of the intercity golf tournament now under way by Mr. Haynes and the chamber dance Saturday night at the Wichita club by George Watson.

Harmony number by the Anderson Sisters duo, followed by accordian selections by Iris Tinsley, were presented through the courtesy of Manager Art LeMan of Lakeside park as initial hits of the program.

Robert K. Tabor of the Vernon junior council presided for the visiting entertainment program and introduced Louise Johnson in a vocal number with Katherine Wheatley accompanist. A vocal trio offered included Louise Johnson, Ruby Doris Johnson and Carolyn Hendrix. The program featured pupils of the Boyd Sisters studio of dancing.

A juvenile tap dance by little Miss Greta Page followed and little Miss Salina Storey offered a tap hula number with Beatrice Fowler at the piano.

Additional juvenile artists presented included Fauncine Streetman and Bernice Fowler in an acrobatic dance, Betty Jean Kinderdick in a tap dance, and Wanda Samuels in a rhythm tap. Miss Gladys Boyd, instructor, offered a solo tap and was joined in the final number by Miss Cornelia Johnson for a tap duo.

The Vernon guests included A. M. Hiatt, Dixon Boger and Hubert Sewell.

Choral Club to Sing At Methodist Services

An unusual feature of the evening service at the First Methodist church next Sunday at 8 o'clock, will be two numbers by the High School Choral club, under the direction of Mrs. Hermione S. Vaughan, "O Holy Lord" (Dett) and "O Morn of Beauty" (Sibelius) will be sung by this mixed chorus of 40 voices. Also, Leonard Baggett will be featured in a tenor solo, "Ave Maria" (Gounod). At the same hour Dr. S. Stephen McKenney will speak on "Woman, and a Lost Love," giving the sixth in a special series of sermons to young women.

The morning service at this church will be broadcast over KGKO, beginning at 10:50 o'clock. The subject of the pastor's sermon at this hour will be "The God of Books." The musical program will be of unusual interest, including an anthem by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, "Lead Kindly Light" (Stainer) with an incidental solo by Mrs. C. Y. Tully; and a violin solo, "Aria" (Gaston Dethier) by Mr. Stanley Miles Raub. Organ numbers by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., will be "A Song of Praise" (Sheldon) and "Dawn" (Nevin).

Wichitans on Trial For Postoffice Burglary

HOUSTON, May 20. (AP)—Three men today went to trial in federal court for the second time on a charge of burglarizing the postoffice at Trinity.

The defendants, C. S. Taylor, Raymond Tilghman and Lewis Tilghman, of Wichita Falls, were convicted in a previous trial on the same charges, but the judgment was set aside.

The government, unable to "place" them in the Trinity postoffice on the night of the burglary —Jan. 9—sought to link them with that offense through testimony concerning a series of events, before and after the theft of $1,000 from the postoffice safe.

Enforcement Plank in Texas Woman's Platform

SAN ANTONIO, May 20. (AP)—Mrs. Alex Adams, prominent club woman who this week announced as a candidate for congressman at large subject to the Democratic primaries, has included enforcement of the 18th amendment as a plank in her platform.

Mrs. Adams, who resigned as president of the fifth district, federation of women's clubs, to enter the congressional race, also emphasized that her first interest would be to the people in small towns and rural communities and pledged herself to legislation for the benefit of disabled war veterans, their widows and orphans, regardless of the cause of death.

Sterling Gives Parole To Hardeman Resident

AUSTIN, May 20. (AP)—Proclamations issued by Gov. R. S. Sterling authorizing issuance of general paroles for 32 inmates of the Texas penitentiary were filed with the secretary of state today.

Those paroled included:

E. B. McGinty, Hale county, theft of chickens, one year (served eight months).

John Lindsey, Hardeman and Baylor counties, theft, two years (two months to serve).

Lobbyist Investigation Demanded in Congress

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—A demand for a congressional investigation of lobbyists was laid before the senate today by Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, in the midst of debate on the tax bill.

Wheeler coupled with his demand a resolution to authorize the inquiry.

Opponents of some of the import levies in the revenue bill have charged lobbyists' influence put them there.

Four-Pounder Landed At Lake Kemp Brought To Newspaper

Bass are hitting at Lake Kemp, and some fine catches have been made in the last few days, according to word received here Friday by Mrs. N. H. Marshall, owner of the Point Breeze hotel.

Mrs. Marshall presented to J. H. Allison of the Times Publishing company a four-pound bass caught Friday morning at the hotel. She also announced that the hotel has been placed under new management, with Mrs. P. L. Poole in charge of rooms, meals and service. Jack Atnip will continue in charge of boats and other outside activities.

48 SIGN FOR SCOUT TOUR

10-Day Vacation Mapped For Wichita Scouts

Forty-eight boys already have signed up for the annual June educational tour provided by the Boy Scout organization here, which is to start this year on the morning of June 2 at 8 o'clock, according to Frank B. Creighton, scout executive.

The two buses which have been chartered for the trip to Galveston and return will accommodate six more boys, Mr. Creighton said. Applications for the six present vacancies in the buses should be made immediately, it was pointed out.

The tour will continue throughout Sunday, June 12, on the evening of which day the party will reach Wichita Falls from Dallas. The entire tour is to cost each boy $12.50, exclusive of such personal expenses as he chooses to incur. Travel and meals for the entire tour will be paid for with that amount, Mr. Creighton said.

The itinerary was outlined Friday as follows: June 2, leave Wichita Falls 8 a. m., stopping in Temple that night; Austin; visits to state capitol, governor's mansion, old settlers' museum; New Braunfels, cotton goods mill and Landa park; San Antonio, two days, visiting old missions, the Alamo, Brackenridge park, "West Point of the Air"; Galveston, three days, visit and inspection on ocean-going steamer; sleeping on the sea-wall three nights; Houston, one day and night; Huntsville, visit state penitentiary; Nacogdoches, visit oldest mission in Texas and old stone fort; Tyler, East Texas oil fields; Dallas, one day, and home.

The traveling scouts will sleep in pup tents during the trip. Mr. Creighton will have the assistance of Charles Ross, assistant scoutmaster of troop No. 12, on the tour. A negro cook will be carried.

Congress Leaders Approve Hawaii Investigation

HONOLULU, May 20. (US)—A special committee of the Hawaiian legislature, headed by Robert Shingle, president of the senate, and Roy Vitousek, speaker of the house, has voted to recommend passage of the resolution introduced in the United States house of representatives by Representative Gwinn Williams, Democrat of Texas, to send a special committee to investigate conditions in Hawaii.

"We welcome a full investigation by congress. Then the whole truth about Hawaii will come out," the committee stated.

"The committee asks that Representative Britten of Illinois be included in the committee."

Reagan Senior Classes Make Gift to School

The annual "presentation" program of the Reagan Junior High school was held Friday morning at the chapel hour with the fall and spring senior classes presenting the school with an indexed filing cabinet.

Members of the fall class returned to the building from the high school for the occasion and the president, Allen Robinson, made the presentation while Alice Ray, low eighth grade class representative, accepted. Dudley Gordon is class sponsor and Lewis Horn and Della Fay Kelley are other officials. The spring class officials are Stephen Kennedy, Ora Adelle Hagerman and Edwin Heath and A. D. Beck is sponsor.

DANCE FOR GOLFERS

Extensive preparations have been made to assure the success of the Junior chamber of commerce intercity invitation golf tournament dance at 9 o'clock Saturday night at the Wichita club. The musical background will be offered by the combined bands of Hal Hoffer and Gordon Shay. The dance is a regular membership affair and open to those not taking part in the golf tournament.

AIR SLOGAN CONTEST OPEN

Wichitans Prepare for Aviation Week

The public slogan contest as a preliminary to Wichita Falls' "aviation week" will be open Saturday after 9 o'clock when merchants are requested to notify the chamber of commerce if blanks are desired for the event. The blanks must be obtained from retail merchants and returned to the chamber offices by noon of Saturday, May 28.

The winning slogans will herald the week of "air" activity and the authors of slogans used will be awarded substantial prizes. The "aviation week" these will emphasize the practical side of flying services as offered to Wichitans and this area by connections at the municipal airport. The economy and usefulness of air lines in the business world will be stressed, General Chairman C. E. McCutchen said.

Gus Hecht will lead the Junior chamber "air mail crusaders" in a campaign during the week urging the use of air mail in Wichita Falls with new connections offering improved service both to the east and west coasts and intermediate points. Air mail leaving Wichita Falls in the afternoon will arrive in New York City by 7 o'clock the following morning, it was pointed out.

The week of activity will close with an air show at the municipal field on Sunday, June 5, with details to be announced later. Local and professional 'chute jumpers will take part.

The prizes offered for the slogan contest include a round trip ride to Oklahoma City with expenses and entertainment furnished by the hosts at the Sooner capital. The Reed air lines are offering the excursion. Other prizes are an American Airways trip to Dallas and return and a "sky-scraping" ride over Wichita Falls with Fulcher Armstrong of the municipal airport.

Standard Ends Oil Runs From Prairie

CHICAGO, May 20. (UP)—Officials of the Standard Oil company of Indiana announced today the company would discontinue on May 23 its daily purchase of 2,000 barrels of stripper oil from the Sinclair-Prairie Oil company.

The company will continue taking about 6,000 barrels a day from stripper wells in Kansas and Oklahoma to which the gathering lines of its subsidiary, Stanolind Pipe Line company, have been directly connected since they were abandoned by the Prairie company, a statement by the officials said.

SMALL FIRES

A property loss of $5 resulted from a blaze in the roof of the Michael Klemitz home, 1423 Thirty-third, at 6:15 o'clock Friday night when a fire started from an overheated flue.

Units of the fire department answered alarms to control two grass fires Friday, one at 10:45 a. m. at 1713 Lucile and the other at 3:31 p. m. in the 800 block on Jalonic.

Fort Worth C-C Leader Praises Wichita Train In Letter

Success of the Wichita Falls "golden jubilee special train" to Sweetwater last week as carrying the largest delegation at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention was the cause of a letter of congratulation received Friday by the local chamber from Manager Charles G. Cotton of Fort Worth trade extension division of the chamber of commerce.

"The spirit of determination in view of the current economic conditions as revealed by Wichitans is to be highly commended," Mr. Cotten declared.

U. T. ROYALTIES SHOW DECLINE

Oil Income for April Is $94,930

AUSTIN, May 20. (AP)—Oil royalty receipts from production on land owned by the University of Texas in April totaled $94,930, a decline of $11,176 from the amount received on March production, C. H. Cocke, treasurer of the land office, said today.

The decrease was attributed to a decline in production from university land, the slightly better prices not being sufficient to offset the drop in the quantity produced.

The Texon paid in $27,116 for April as compared to $35,438 for March and the Big Lake company paid in $49,424 compared to $50,352 for March.

The April royalties brought the total of the royalty fund to $15,259,306.78.
