ANSWERLINE

Q. I have heard that Ballinger, Sterling City and another town around San Angelo have imposed curfews on teenagers as recommended by their police departments. Are there any plans to have a curfew here in Colorado City?
A. According to Police Chief David Montgomery there are not. Montgomery said "the cities of Dallas and Ft. Worth spent a lot of money on setting up curfews only to have them ruled unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court. We would rather spend our time and money on programs that will better serve our youth than on programs that will eventually be found to be unconstitutional."

Over 200 listen to TDCJ opportunities

Colorado City was the place to be Thursday if one was looking for a job with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. TDCJ officials from Huntsville and the Price Daniel Unit in Snyder were on hand for four sessions explaining the process one must go through in order to find employment with the TDCJ at the 80-John Wallace Unit here or one of the other TDCJ units throughout the state. Over 200 people attended the four sessions.

Mitchell County Economic Development Director Nancy Sullivan organized the informative day for prospective employees. The first three sessions were held in the meeting room at City Hall and the final one held at the Colorado High School Auditorium. Ms. Sullivan said she was very excited about the turnout and felt the representatives from TDCJ were also.

Representatives from Huntsville included Jim Bush, Jan Thornton, Terry Wunderlich, Ken Johnson, Gary Clark and Hugh Bryan. Those from the Price Daniel unit included the assistant warden, Ray Villarreal plus Bob Martin and Bill Moss.

Those in attendance at the meetings heard of the many opportunities available within the Criminal Justice system due to the increase in prison construction in Texas. Besides the unit here and the proposed state jail, those in attendance inquired about opportunities in Snyder, Abilene, Lamesa and Ft. Stockton in particular.

They said positions in the unit here will probably begin to be filled in December and January. TDCJ officials outlined the basic eligibility criteria for correctional officers and they include: being a citizen of the U.S. and at least 18 years old and have a high school diploma or a state issued GED.

Other qualifications include not being on active duty in the military and one must not be under pending criminal charges or on probation for any criminal offense or have any outstanding warrants. Applicants must not have had a Class A misdemeanor conviction within the last 12 months or a Class B misdemeanor within the last 12 months.

Increase in prisons means more Parole Caseworkers needed

With the construction of the 80-John Wallace Unit and other area units, the Texas Department of Criminal Justice has seen an increase in the number of Parole Caseworkers needed. Their guidelines state that if the degree is not in criminal justice, criminology, corrections, counseling, law, social work, psychology, sociology or a related field approved by the TDCJ Pardons and Parole Division, then one year of experience in one of these fields or one year of experience in full-time casework, counseling or community or group work may be substituted. Applications must be obtained from the TDCJ's Huntsville or Austin office by contacting them by writing or telephone. Applicants who pass the first part of the process are then tested on writing, general criminal justice knowledge, grammar, spelling and detail clarity.

Deer population survey makes recommendations for antlerless deer harvest

Landowners and hunters are reminded that white-tailed deer season opens November 6, 1993 and runs through January 2, 1994. The limit is 4 deer, no more than 2 bucks. Antlerless deer and bucks must be tagged with the appropriate tag from the hunting license. Recently completed deer population surveys in Mitchell County allow the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. to issue the following deer harvest recommendations: it is recommended that no antlerless deer be taken north of I-20 due to light population densities. South of I-20 and east of Highway 208 the harvest rate is 1 antlerless deer per 200 acres. Between Highway 208 and Highway 163 the recommended harvest rate is 1 antlerless deer per 300 acres. West of Highway 163 the recommended harvest rate is 1 antlerless deer per 500 acres. Several large Mitchell County ranches such as the Renderbrook-Spade and the Maddox ranches have their own recommendations for harvesting antlerless deer. These recommendations are based on averages of randomly spaced deer census transects in Mitchell County and should be used as general guidelines in determining the proper harvest rate for your area. The actual deer population within these areas varies according to land use practices, hunting pressure and habitat conditions. For further information concerning harvest rates or wildlife management, contact wildlife biologist Bill Del Monte at 915-798-3152. Report game violations by calling game warden Randy Bullard at 915-728-2365.

PRACTICING: Cretia Carpenter, feature twirler for the Colorado High School Band, practices on the sidelines before a half-time performance at a recent Wolf home game. Cretia was scheduled to compete in the UIL Twirling Contest in San Angelo on Saturday. The CHS Band was also scheduled to march in competition at 5 p.m. Saturday at San Angelo's stadium.

Conard to chair drug task force

The agency is located in Abilene and citizens are urged to call 915-675-6964 if they have any knowledge of drug trafficking.

Mayors to discuss landfill problems

Mayor Gary D. McCaleb of Abilene, as president of the Texas Municipal League (TML), has invited mayors of surrounding Big Country towns to join him on Tuesday, October 26 at 10:00 a.m. at the BFI Regional Landfill located on FM 3034 in Abilene.

Mayor McCaleb and mayors from 18 counties will announce their support for the national campaign to stop cities and towns TDCJ last six months and no convictions for DWI within the last two years.

Candidates must be able to perform the essential functions of a correctional officer and must pass a TDCJ pre-employment test.

Applicants may pick up an application from the Texas Employment Commission office here in Colorado City or may apply for the Correctional Officer Training School at Western Texas College in Snyder.

The next class in which application may be made is scheduled to start March 21, 1994 with applications taken January 3-14.

WTC officials have also indicated they may have a special class in Colorado City prior to the opening of the 80-John Wallace Unit.

Basic eligibility criteria for non-correctional employment positions are essentially the same as those for correctional officers and these positions are posted at each individual unit or may be obtained from Huntsville.

Basic benefits for these positions include group life and health insurance availability for which the state pays a portion of the employees' premium, the state pays a portion of the employees' Social Security deduction, meals are furnished free of charge while on duty, vacation time is earned based on length of service, sick leave is earned at the rate of eight hours per month and employees are members of the Employees Retirement System of Texas.

having to pay for the cost of expensive federal programs without the funding for them and without a voice in the decision making. The result of the existing situation is "spending without representation" and hidden taxes for everyone living in cities. As fees for refuse, water and sewer go up to pay the bill, other community needs are put on hold.

Mayor McCaleb stated, "We want to make it clear that we support the national goals to assure clean air, water and a healthy and safe environment. What concerns us is that these good intentions are not being followed through with the dollars that are needed. Washington is not acting in partnership with the citizens of the cities and towns they represent and these mandates do not demonstrate the best of our democratic process."

October 27th will be observed as "National Unfunded Mandates Day" in cities, counties, towns and villages across the United States through a coordinated joint effort organized by the National League of Cities, state municipal leagues and several other public interest groups representing local governments.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor and Parents/Students of CISD:

Below are listed some of the numerous questions we believe need to be answered by our School Board since they have contracted with ARA Food Service Company:

1. Why is an excessive amount spent on equipment and media purchases? Why isn't this money put into the quality of food and maybe larger portions instead of the bare minimum?
2. Why was a "gag" order placed on the cafeteria employees with the implied threat of losing their jobs?
3. Why is overtime worked by the cafeteria employees not being paid?
4. Why is there higher pricing of snack bar items between Middle School and High School? Why are our Middle School students paying more just because they have a "closed campus?" (ex: a corn dog is $1 at the middle school; at the high school it is 70¢.

5. Why is the current Cafeteria Director receiving MUCH MORE pay than the former director? If he is making MORE MONEY, why is he getting an office manager? Is CISD going to pay their salary, too? How much? CISD is paying the current director $30,000 a year but during this same time he is also working for Loraine and Roscoe school systems.
6. Why did our school system pay the current director's (an ARA employee) moving expenses? Should CISD be responsible because "their" employee did not live in our area?
7. How much has been spent by ARA which CISD has reimbursed since they were contracted? Are total monthly expenditures of ARA being reviewed by our school board members?
8. What good, if any, has ARA food service program brought to our school system?

9. Why is a "guessing game" between what is on the menu and what is actually being served on the plate?
10. Why is it when you want to talk with the cafeteria director it seems "he is not in at the time, may I take a message?"

Change is not the problem here. All change has controversy. Remember, ARA is a "professional food service company;" they are here to make a "profit" or they wouldn't be doing it. The whole purpose of contracting with ARA was to SAVE tax dollars. With this excessive spending on "Other" how can we truly believe that the cost cutting isn't in the nutritional value of the food served to our kids?

Talk to your child or a fellow school employee or attend a school board meeting or talk to one or all of your school board members for the answers to these questions. Couldn't our tax money be spent in a better and more productive matter? THIS CONCERNS ALL THE STUDENTS OF COLORADO ISD.

Mitchell Co. AARP meets October 18th

Mitchell County Chapter #1461, A.A.R.P. met Monday, October 18 in the C.C. Thompson Room at 11:45 a.m. A covered dish luncheon was served. Margaret Oyler introduced Junior Sadler as guest speaker. ## To Fight Crime!

PROPOSITION 14:

Overcrowded prisons threaten the safety of our families and our communities. Because we don't have enough prison cells, violent criminals get put back on our streets years before they complete their sentences.

On Tuesday, November 2nd, we have the chance to keep violent criminals behind bars by voting for Proposition 14: Texas' commitment to break the cycle of crime.

Proposition 14 will authorize the building of at least 8 new jail/prison facilities. Voters across the state will have to approve Constitutional Amendment 14 on November 2 for issuing $1 billion in general obligation bonds to pay for the construction of these facilities.

One of these facilities is to be constructed in Mitchell County.

SUMMARY: The proposed amendment to Article III of the Texas Constitution adds Subsection (e) to Section 49-h authorizing the legislature to provide for the issuance of up to $1 billion in general obligation bonds.

The proceeds from the bond sale will be used for acquiring, constructing or equipping new corrections institutions, including youth corrections institutions and mental health and mental retardation institutions and for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of those institutions.

I urge you to vote for Proposition 14.

Last year's show drew over 60 exhibitors, including national companies as well as local suppliers and agribusinesses.

The show is sponsored and produced by Southern Livestock Publishing, producers of Southern Livestock Standard, a bimonthly livestock and agribusiness newspaper and Entre Gaderos, an annual magazine for Mexican cattlemen, headquartered in San Antonio.

8th grade Wolves beat Kermit Yellowjackets, 20-12

The Wolves eight grade captured another victory Thursday night in Kermit by the score of 20 to 12.

Kermit received the kickoff and fumbled on their own 12 as Perry Noblett recovered the ball.

Aaron Emerson received the hand off and ran the ball 30 yards bringing up first and goal at the 10 yard line. On the next play Emerson again took the ball and ran it into the end zone for the touchdown.

After the kick to Kermit, they came back and answered the Wolves with a 40 yard touchdown. This time the Wolves held the extra point attempt, making the first quarter score Wolves 6, Kermit 6.

Highlighting the second quarter was a pass to Adam Molina, who broke tackles for a 55 yard gain to the fifteen yard line. The Wolves then fumbled, giving the ball back to Kermit. It was a defensive battle for the rest of the period, which did not allow either team to score, ending the half 6 to 6.

The Wolves received the second half kickoff and the offense took control. Chris Fambro took a hand off from Justin Sparkman and ran for a 52 yard gain to Kermit's 6 yard line. After penalties on the Wolves brought the ball back to the 18 yard line, Aaron Emerson ran it back to the one yard line, bringing up third down and goal.

Justin Sparkman received the snap from Jonathan Jones and kept the ball, taking it into the end zone for 6 points. After the touchdown, Kermit's deep man received the kick from the Wolves on his own twenty yard line and ran the ball back 80 yards to tie the game at 12 to 12.

A final touchdown in the fourth quarter came from a pass from Sparkman that was deflected by a defender. Adam Molina caught the pass and ran it into the end zone to score. Aaron Emerson accounted for the 2 extra points.

Kermit made a final offensive effort to come back but were stopped by the Wolves' hard hitting defense led by Jeff Anzaldua, Jonathan Jones, Perry Noblett, Johnathan Castro, Javier Quintero, Adam Wood and Chris Fambro. Justin Sparkman, Adam Molina and Aaron Emerson knocked down pass attempts as the Yellowjackets in desperation tried to score. The "Attack Is Back" and the victory was sweet as the final score was Wolves 20, Yellowjackets 12.

"I think we played good offensively and defensively. We mainly controlled the game and continue to improve each week. We will host Greenwood next week, looking to revenge last year's tough defeat by them. We are expecting another victory for our last game," Coach Yardy Powell commented.

Wolves vs Kermit game story will be in Thursday's edition

9th girls win two in district

The Colorado High School 9th Grade volleyball team recently won two district matches against Crane and Greenwood. In the district opener against Crane, the Lady Wolves were victorious 15-10, 15-10 after losing the first game 8-15. Jessica Sanford led all scorers with 12 points, followed closely by Natalia Mays who had 9 points. Both had one ace apiece. Other scoring in the match came from Crystal Nelson with 6 points and one ace, Monica Garcia, 6 points and Patty Lara, 5 points.

In their second district match, the 9th graders walked away with a 7-15, 15-13, 15-10 victory over Greenwood. After losing the first game the Lady Wolves bounced back with a 15-13 win in the second game, highlighted by Sanford's 10 service points. In the decisive third game, Christina Oraclis led the scoring with 5 straight service points. Other scoring in the match came from Mays with 10, Garcia had 1, Rachel Foster had 1 and Nelson had 2 points. The win kept the 9th graders undefeated at 2-0 and the overall record was upped to 7-6.

7th graders fall to Kermit

Kermit's seventh grade defeated Colorado City by the score of 26-0 this week.

The first points came with twenty-one seconds left in the first quarter when Kermit scored and converted the extra points, making the score 8 to 0.

The Wolves were able to hold the Yellowjackets most of the second period, but with forty-nine seconds left in the period they again found the endzone. Another touchdown and extra points brought the halftime score to Kermit 16, Wolves 0.

The Wolves' offense came out in the second half, trying hard to put points on the board. They moved the ball down field, but were unable to find the endzone. Kermit scored again in the third quarter but the Wolves' defense did not allow the extra point attempt, making the score at the end of the quarter Kermit 22, Wolves 0.

The final Kermit touchdown came with three minutes left in the game. The defense held Kermit on the extra points, making the final score 28 to 0.

The last game will be against Midland Greenwood at Wolf Stadium with kickoff at 5:00 p.m. this Thursday.

Texas Hunting Forecast

There's good news and bad news about the upcoming 1993-94 fall and winter hunting seasons in Texas - the bad news is that, for most species, the hunting prospects will be about average, give or take a few points.

The good news is that an "average" season for Texas hunters would probably give an out-of-state hunter a heart attack. This is because Texans have long been accustomed to an abundance of game and hunting opportunities, to the point that our "average" season would probably be considered "excellent" or even "phenomenal" in many other states.

The Texas Wildlife Association is based in San Antonio, but consulted biologists in every region of the state to get a picture of the upcoming seasons. Rainfall, wildlife census counts, breeding ground surveys, browse conditions, off-spring survival, landowner management, and other important factors jointly determine whether hunters will find wildlife abundant or sparse afield this season.

Texas Wildlife Association president Wallace "Happy" Rogers says, "Many areas of Texas still need some rain, but good rains the first half of the year helped the habitat, and still promise pretty good hunting in most areas. Managing of whitetailed deer is changing, with LAMPS permits in East Texas and the Oak Prairie, and the new Deer Herd Management Permit just approved by the Commission. Landowners and hunters need to be aware of these new regulations."

Rogers also commented, "Landowners leasing to hunters may want to investigate Hunting Lease Liability insurance, which protects property owners against claims arising from hunting operations. This insurance has been popular with TWA members who host hunters."

MOURNING DOVES: Seasons: North zone, Sept. 1 - Nov. 9; Central zone, Sept. 1 - Oct. 31 and Dec. 26 - Jan. 3; South zone, Sept. 24 - Nov. 14 (ends Nov. 10 in the special White-Winged Dove Area) and Dec. 26 - January 12.

Bag Limits: statewide except for Lower Valley, 12 mourning, white-winged and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, to include not more than 6 whitewings and two whitetips. In the Lower Valley the limit is also 12, but not more than two whitewings and two whitetips.

Statewide prospects: Populations are about 23 percent above the 20-year average with good breeding conditions. Add this to an expected abundant food supply and you have the makings for an excellent season.

WHITEWING DOVES: Season: In the Special White-Winged Dove Hunting area along the Rio Grande the season consists of only two weekends, Sept. 4-5 and 11-12.

Bag Limits: Ten white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, to include not more than 5 mourning doves and 2 whitetips.

Prospects: Even though white-wing populations increased about 20 percent this year in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, total birds were still 12 percent below the 30 year average. Production this year has not been good in the prime nesting areas due to late spring tropical storms. The whitewings seem to be expanding their range northward, and Central Zone dove hunters should be alert to the possibility of finding whitewings in their hunting areas. They may not be taken except by hunters who have purchased the special whitewing stamp for the hunting license.

WHITE-TAILED DEER: Seasons: Beginning with a statewide archery-only season through the month of October, the general (firearms) seasons vary through the ecological regions. In general, through most of the state the season will be Nov. 6-Jan. 2.

However, many areas and even individual counties are different. Fourteen counties in South Texas will have a week-longer deer season, Nov. 13-January 16. Consult the 1993-94 Hunting Guide for the county in which you expect to hunt.

Bag Limits: Again, bag limits vary from the norm of four deer with a limit of two bucks, to one buck only, to a maximum of five deer with a limit of three buck in fourteen counties of South Texas. Again, consult the 1993-94 Texas Hunting Guide for your county.

Prospects: A slightly above-average season is expected in the Oak Prairie and South Texas areas, where good spring and early summer rainfall helped fawn production and condition. However, the area is generally dry at this time. Antler development is impressive in South Texas because of moisture earlier in the year, which should contribute to some good trophies taken this season. If the dry weather continues, deer will become more vulnerable as they are forced to move in search of food.

In the Trinity-Brazos and Pineywoods of East Texas the season should be about average. Good moisture in the spring and early summer was helpful, enhancing antler development and fawn production. However, August temperatures about 5 degrees above normal brought abnormal dryness to the area, prompting fire warnings to be issued to all who travel in the region.

The Central, Cross Timbers and Edwards Plateau regions should experience an above-average white-tailed season. Although a wetter-than-usual spring gave the deer a good start, the rains stopped in late June. This means that as the fawns are weaned they will be hard-pressed to find sustenance. There is no shortage of deer, with many areas still overpopulated.

Trans-Pecos area whitetails continue to experience a decline in numbers, leading to a "below average" hunting forecast. However, sporadic rainfall peculiar to particular areas should produce good numbers of above-average deer.

MULE DEER: Season: Archery only, October 1-31; general season Nov. 20-Dec. 5 in Panhandle and Nov. 27-Dec. 12 in the Trans-Pecos.

Bag Limit: In general, two mule deer with a limit of one buck; antlerless by permit only.

Prospects: Mule deer fawn production ranged from below average in the Trans-Pecos to average in the Panhandle. Depending upon the amount of rain, mule deer hunting success is expected to be about the same as last year.

PRONGHORN: Season: Statewide, Oct. 2-10.

Bag Limits: One pronghorn by permit.

Prospects: For the Panhandle, hunter prospects are considered slightly above average, with good fawn production and good numbers of antelope on most ranges. Recent heavy rains filled playa lakes, thereby insuring at least short-term surface water.

In the Cross Timbers and Trans-Pecos areas of Central and West Texas the news is not as good, with biologists reporting "disappointing" fawn numbers and adult numbers down as well. Dry conditions have been responsible for poor body conditions, which may lead to a die-off due to lack of forage.

TURKEY: Seasons: Fall seasons are generally the same as those for white-tailed deer. Spring seasons are April 2-May 1, 1994 for Rio Grandes and April 2-17, 1994 for Eastern turkey.

Bag Limits: In general, three turkeys of either sex per license year.

Prospects: Texas has the largest turkey population in the United States, and the upcoming season should be outstanding as usual. In South Texas, turkey production was considered excellent, with the second consecutive year of good hatching conditions. Likewise, the Edwards Plateau, which has the highest turkey population in the state, is also expected to have an above average season.

In the Cross Timbers area of the state the 1993 hatch was a little below that of last year, but still considered above average. The Panhandle reported only "fair" production this summer, but the existing population is considered large enough to insure good turkey hunting.

DUCKS: Season (East of U.S. 91): A split season for ducks, mergansers and coots; Nov. 20-28 and Dec. 18-Jan. 16.

Bag Limits: Three ducks, to include no more than two mallards (only one may be a female), two wood ducks, one mottled duck, one pintail and one redhead, five mergansers (only one may be a hooded merganser) and 15 coots. Canvasbacks remain off limits.

Prospects: For the Katy Prairie area just west of Houston, duck hunting will probably be a little below average this year due to abnormally dry conditions over much of the area. However, in the spotty areas with good water conditions - and barring any fall storms to break the dry pattern - the fall duck season should be fairly decent.

In the general East Texas region, the floods along the Mississippi and Missouri rivers may have helped our area. As crops were devastated in flood areas, the ducks may overfly and enter our areas of good food production where water is available.

Season (west of U.S. 81): Season dates for the High Plains Mallard management Unit (western portion of Texas) are Nov. 20-Jan. 9.

Bag limits: The daily bag limit is the same as East Texas, except that three male mallards are allowed.

Prospects: Ample rainfall in the Panhandle regions through most of last year has improved the playa lakes' habitat. Barring an abnormally dry fall, hunting should be better this fall than last year.

GEESE: Season (east of U.S. 81): Oct. 30-Feb. 13 for snow and Ross' geese, Nov. 6-Jan. 16 for white-fronted geese and black grant and Nov. 6-Jan. 23 for Canada geese.

Bag Limits: Ten snow or Ross' geese, one Canada goose or one black brant and one white-fronted goose, except that two Canada geese are allowed Jan. 17-23, same as last year.

Prospects: On the coastal prairies the populations of snow, Canada and white-fronted geese are numerically strong. Early spring weather conditions throughout the Arctic breeding range should result in excellent production. A larger fall flight, comprised of a larger percentage of young geese, should produce improved hunting this year.

Season (west of U.S. 81): Oct. 16-Jan. 30.

Bag Limits: The daily bag limit is eight, not to include more than five snow or Ross' geese and three Canada geese or black brant or white-fronted geese.

Prospects: The populations of Canada geese that provide the bulk of hunting opportunity for the Panhandle are at high levels. Good production last year should produce the age ratios conducive to an excellent goose season.

SANDHILL CRANES: Seasons: Zone A (West Texas) Nov. 13-Feb. 13; Zone B (Central Texas) Dec. 4-Feb. 13; and Zone C (South Texas) Jan 8-Feb. 13.

QUAIL: Season: Statewide, Oct. 20-Feb. 27.

Bag limits: Fifteen per day, 45 in possession.

Prospects: With 1992 one of the best quality years on record, experts are predicting this season to be just as good, if not better. A mild, wet winter combined with excellent rainfall in the spring and summer and a large breeding population carried over from the previous year promise an excellent season.

PHEASANT: Seasons: Panhandle, Dec. 11-26; Coastal, Oct. 30-Feb. 27.

Bag limits: Panhandle, two cocks per day, four in possession. Coastal, three cocks per day, six in possession.

Prospects: Above average rainfall during the spring and summer in the Panhandle resulted in a good pheasant hatch again this year. Since last year produced the best pheasant hatch since 1987, prospects are for an above average season this year. Conversely, the Gulf Coast pheasant populations remain low with very limited hunting and birds taken are normally killed incidentally by quail hunters.

SQUIRREL: Seasons: In those East Texas counties having seasons, they are May 1-31 and Oct. 1-Jan. 15.

Bag limits: Ten per day, 20 in possession.

Prospects: Squirrel hunting possibilities for the Pineywoods and Post Oak regions of South Texas are expected to be excellent this year, with good weather conditions producing excellent habitat and production in all areas.

Notes from ...

The United States faces a tremendous challenge in competing in the global economy. The creation of economic alliances in Europe and southeast Asia will provide formidable competition for American businesses. While some would have us respond by burying our heads in the sand and pursuing isolationist policies, I do not accept this defeatist attitude. Americans have always been able to rise to meet the challenges that have faced our nation. I am confident that by approaching the world economy head on we can maintain our role as the strongest and most productive economy in the world. The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) is an important part in meeting this international challenge by utilizing our economic strength and opening new markets for American businesses.

In reading a large amount of information about NAFTA from several sources, as well as the text of the NAFTA agreement, I have concluded that NAFTA clearly is in America's best interest. Over the next several weeks before the vote on NAFTA, Congress will hold numerous hearings in which all of the questions that have been raised about NAFTA can be publicly asked and answered. For example, the Agriculture Committee on which I serve already has held hearings on the impact that NAFTA will have on the agricultural sector and specifically on the safety of our food supply.

I do not take the concerns that have been raised about NAFTA lightly, nor would I support NAFTA if I believed it would have all of the negative consequences that its opponents claim. Many reasonable questions have been asked, and they deserve answers. Unfortunately, many unreasonable and unfounded assertions also have been made. In every case of both well-founded and ill-informed questions, I have pursued the issue with an open mind to ascertain the validity of the criticism. Every question that has been raised thus far has been answered to my satisfaction.

While I have read Ross Perot's book criticizing NAFTA, I found far more persuasive a 45-page response to this book prepared by the U.S. Trade Representative. This response answered in great detail every point made by Mr. Perot and identified scores of factual errors and misrepresentations in his book. I will continue to look into every criticism that is raised and will not support NAFTA if the questions that are raised are not adequately answered.

Put simply, I support NAFTA because it will level the playing field in trade between the U.S. and Mexico, granting U.S. businesses as much access to the Mexican market as Mexican businesses already have to the U.S. market. If NAFTA is defeated, we will lock in an unfair trading relationship in which Mexican barriers will continue to limit U.S. access to the Mexican market while Mexico will continue to enjoy virtually unlimited access to the U.S. Fifty percent of Mexican goods entering the United States currently enter duty-free. Given political realities and existing trade rules, their favorable trade status will continue whether or not NAFTA is enacted. NAFTA provides an opportunity for us to level the playing field and create a fair trading relationship with Mexico. By eliminating Mexico's trade barriers, NAFTA will increase the competitive advantage of U.S. industries and create jobs in the U.S.

The issue of American jobs has received much attention in the NAFTA debate, as well it should. Although NAFTA may result in some low-wage jobs moving to Mexico, experience has taught us that NAFTA will create many more new high-wage jobs, evidenced by the 400,000 jobs which have been created in the United States as a direct result of increased trade between the U.S. and Mexico over the last five years. In fact, the total number of Americans who have jobs because of U.S.-Mexican trade has reached 700,000.

Virtually every one of the two dozen studies found that NAFTA will produce job growth and increases in real wages in the U.S. These studies are based on actual experience as U.S./Mexico trade has increased, not on undocumented speculation. The jobs that will be created by NAFTA will be high-paying jobs. In fact, export related jobs pay an average of 12 percent more than non-export related jobs. Industries that will see significant job creation include energy-related industries, automobile production, agriculture, chemical production and several service industries such as telecommunications and financial services.

There is nothing stopping U.S. companies from moving their operations to Mexico now, yet few companies have done so. The high skills and productivity of American workers, as well as factors such as better transportation and communications in the U.S., offer a greater competitive advantage than the benefit of paying low wages. For example, an automobile manufactured in Michigan can be delivered to the U.S. market for $500 less than it would cost to manufacture the same automobile in Mexico, even though American autoworkers are paid more than three times more than Mexican autoworkers.

Furthermore, NAFTA will eliminate what current incentive there is to move production to Mexico. According to the Department of Commerce, over 70 percent of the products produced by U.S. subsidiaries established in Mexico are sold in Mexico. If we enact NAFTA, which will eliminate trade barriers, a company won't have to locate in Mexico to sell its products in Mexico. Contrary to claims that Mexicans can't afford to buy U.S. products, in 1991 U.S. businesses sold over $40 billion in products to Mexicans, making Mexico the third largest purchaser of U.S. products.

In fact, the average Mexican worker spends more money buying U.S. products than the average European worker.

Charles Stenholm's office

The question that I have posed to NAFTA opponents on numerous occasions is: How will America be better off if NAFTA is defeated? Defeating NAFTA will not create jobs, control immigration, stop the flow of illegal drugs or clean the environment. On the other hand, defeating NAFTA could lead to instability and nationalism in Mexico, which would pose a serious threat to American national security, as well as our economy.

We must be bold in confronting the economic challenges that face our nation. NAFTA is the type of bold action we must take if we are to have a strong, growing economy.

What it costs to go to the game

A family of four will pay an average $173.33 to attend an NFL game in 1993, according to Team Marketing Report's Annual Fan Cost Index (FCI). The FCI is based on the average price of tickets, concessions and souvenirs a family of four might buy at a professional game.

Registration sticker will deter theft

Introducing the latest in anti-theft devices from Texas. The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) is issuing a new vehicle registration sticker for placement inside windshields instead of outside on license plates. The program begins with registrations expiring January 1994. The sticker is larger and of a different design. Its main purpose is to deter theft-bringing up another important feature. If the sticker is peeled off the windshield, the word "VOID" appears on it, making it a useless scrap of paper. It's not even worth stealing.

In 1992, 568,885 replacement license plates and stickers were issued. TxDOT estimates that 60 percent of replacement stickers issued were due to theft. At $5.30 per replacement, replacing the stickers cost the public $1.8 million and a lot of time and aggravation.

"When the word gets out that these stickers are useless when peeled off the glass, incidence of stolen stickers will drop quickly, as will the cost of replacing stolen stickers," said Jerry Dike, director of TxDOT's Division of Motor Vehicle Titles and Registration. "But the savings don't stop there. If all stolen stickers were used on vehicles that would otherwise be legally registered, state and county revenue losses could exceed $17 million. Recouping these losses could mean savings passed on for use on other projects."

The 72nd Texas Legislature passed a law in 1991 mandating the sticker change to lower vehicle registration theft. Drivers whose vehicles have no windshield will continue using the license plate stickers.
