Shoemake Switching Operations Claimed

AUSTIN (AP)—Some of A. B. Shoemake's manipulations of the fiscal affairs of his U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. amounted to "robbing Peter to pay Paul," a witness told Senate investigators today.

He was Charles Leslie of Houston, an insurance accountant and consultant who said his conclusion after studying the defunct Waco concern three times in 1954 was that in many cases Shoemake was simply "taking money out of one pocket and putting it in another."

Leslie said Shoemake handled the fiscal affairs of all seven companies "as one" and considered the setup that included five insurance companies as a single operation.

Leslie was the first witness as the Senate committee resumed its probe into the insurance situation, especially the factors that led to the collapse of U.S. Trust and Guaranty, a combined banking-insurance firm. Shoemake, its president, attempted suicide and is in the Veterans Hospital at McKinney with a bullet wound through the head.

Apparently unexplained boosts in the listed values of mortgage loan were among the "unusual things" he began to see on the company's books in his first examination in the spring of 1954, Leslie testified.

He said, for example, that such personal property as desks and equipment—not normally admitted as assets—had been so listed. Leslie said he had been "surprised" to see that some increases in the reported value of mortgages had not been recorded until just before his examination although they had been made a year and a half previously.

He said he had raised questions as to apparent "imperfections in the mortgage records" and that he had wondered whether the appraisal values recorded by the company could be relied upon.

"Did you consider the procedures exactly right or not?" Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple asked.

"All you could do was depend on what he (Shoemake) said," Leslie replied.

Asked if the valuations as reflected in his various examinations would have convinced him that the operation was sound, Leslie replied:

"It would not have convinced me."

Sen. William Fly of Victoria said the committee among other things would hear from the Insurance Commission in reply to the charges of fraud and corruption voiced earlier by Renne Allred Jr., discharged attorney for the insurance receiver-liquidator."

Another witness called was J. D. Wheeler, receiver-liquidator for the commission.

The collapse of the big banking-insurance firm touched off the inquiries.

The commission asked all district attorneys to join it in a search for violations of credit insurance law.

A letter invited them to attend an April 3 hearing on credit insurance policy and rate regulation. The commission said it could not regulate the loan business but that it can make sure premiums charged for credit insurance are reasonable.

Credit life insurance generally is taken out as an indirect guarantee of payment on unsecured small loans. There have been charges that in some cases credit life, health and accident insurance is used to get around the Texas Constitution's prohibition against a charge of more than 10 per cent a year on loans.

Six Injured In Reagan Wrecks

BIG LAKE (SC) — Six persons were hospitalized here this morning as a result of a car-truck accident four miles north of Stiles in the north central part of Reagan County.

Five persons in a car from Andrews and Andrews County Judge Milton Ramsey in another car were taken to the hospital here for treatment.

The five in the car were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Ramsey—no relation to the judge—and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark and their son Frank Clark Jr.

The five were in a 1955 Ford which was in collision with a B. and L. Construction Co. 'gang' truck. No one was injured in the truck, however.

Judge Ramsey was riding in a car with Andrews County Sheriff F. E. Peacock behind the other Andrews car. When the car and truck collided, the sheriff's car skidded on the ice to avoid the other vehicles, and the judge was thrown out.

The accident was investigated at the highway patrol, and reports from the sheriff's office here said that in the car were a doctor, his wife, and their son, and a real estate agent and his wife.

The incident occurred shortly after 8 a.m. today.

Damage Claim In Suit Is Dropped

HOUSTON (AP)—Members of the State Agricultural Stabilization Board were free today of a 10 million dollar liability claim growing out of a cotton acreage suit filed by four West Texas farmers.

Federal Judge Joe Ingraham approved yesterday a plaintiff's motion that the damage claim be dropped from their injunction suit.

The judge set Feb. 17 to hear oral arguments on a motion of the government to dismiss the case.

An Answer To Eisenhower

President Eisenhower, in a recent address said: "I could devoutly wish that there were some method by which the American people could, under the circumstances, point out the path of my duty."

There is one method to get an answer for the President — through the Gallup Poll.

This week's question; "Would You Like To See Eisenhower Run?" is answered in today's Gallup report.

MORE RIOTS LOOM

New Minister For Algeria Is Named

ALGIERS (AP)—Robert Lacoste arrived today to become Premier Guy Mollet's resident minister in violence-torn Algeria. Fresh rioting was threatened both here and in France as Nationalists and colonials planned new demonstrations.

As Moslems flocked to their mosques to observe their Sabbath, French settlers defied an official ban and ordered a huge rally later in the day in the main city square. It was aimed at discouraging both French government peace efforts and Arab Nationalist aspirations in the 15-months-old insurrection.

Officials had prohibited any parades or demonstrations but foes of Mollet—inflamed French war veterans, students and local mayors—formed an unofficial "Committee of Public Safety" and voted to hold a five-hour protest strike and march on the center of the divided capital.

While Lacoste was flying here, the French government Interior Ministry banned two scheduled Algerian protest demonstrations in Paris, one by French war veterans at the Arc de Triomphe tomorrow and another by leftist groups at the Place de la Republique Sunday.

Foreign Legionnaires and mobile guardsmen were in reserve in an effort to prevent a repetition of last Monday's rioting, when a mob hurled stones, eggs and garbage at Mollet.

The violence forced him to withdraw the appointment of Gen. Georges Catroux as resident minister and to name Lacoste as his substitute even before Catroux took office.

Behind the Algerian demonstrations was a movement obviously aimed at unseating Mollet's new regime.

Jean Baptiste Biaggi, Paris lawyer who leads a group of Algerian war veterans, took over two public meetings here yesterday and turned them into political rallies.

Enlisting the support of the war veterans, mayors and the powerful Public Safety Committee, Biaggi quickly touched off a popular demand for today's march.

ROBERT LaCOSTE
Gets a tough job

The outward aim of Mollet's opposition is two-fold:

1. A warning to the French government that Algeria's European community will not accept peace negotiations leading to an increase of Moslem influence in the territory.

2. A warning to the Moslems not to press their Nationalist claims too actively.

Coed Sees Riots As Official 'Stratagem'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)— A Negro coed, returning to federal court in a bid to gain readmittance to the University of Alabama, charged school officials could have halted campus rioting.

The action was one of two filed yesterday in the long legal battle of Autherine Lucy to attend classes at the university. Hearings on both petitions are scheduled Feb. 29, before U.S. Dist. Judge Hobart Grooms.

Miss Lucy petitioned Grooms to compel university authorities to readmit her to classes, and in a companion action she seeks dormitory accommodations and the right to eat in the school's dining halls.

Miss Lucy charged that members of the Board of Trustees and Dean of Admissions William F. Adams "intentionally permitted . . . acts of unidentified persons in order to assimilate an air of riot and disorder and rebellion on the campus."

Such actions, she said in her petition, were a "subterfuge for refusing to permit her to pursue courses at the university."

The 26 - year - old Birmingham secretary is the first Negro enrolled at the 125-year-old state university. She was barred Monday from attending classes after rioting crowds had stoned her and school officials.

The trustees declared that she was excluded as a measure of safety. But Miss Lucy charged in her petition that she was excluded solely because she is a Negro, in defiance of an order issued by Grooms last July. It was on this order that Miss Lucy was admitted to the school.

She called the board's action "a cunning strategem" and said adequate police protection is available.

Miss Lucy is asking $1,000 damages in the dormitory suit, and also asks that Dean of Women Sarah Healy be compelled to assign her a dormitory room, and allow her to eat in university dining halls.

In the petition seeking readmittance to classes, she is seeking $2,000 damages. She also asks that Dr. O. C. Carmichael, university president, Adams and 10 trustees be held in contempt and that they be imprisoned if they do not permit her to resume classes.

In her petition, she said her suspension was "to appease persons having no connection with the university . . ."

She accused four persons in the suit with "inciting students to parade and demonstrate and to make speeches" against her because of her race. Named as defendants in the petition, together with the school officials, are:

R. F. Chambliss, identified as a leader of a prosegregation group at Birmingham; and Earl Watts, Ed Watts and Kenneth Thompson of Tuscaloosa. The latter three face charges of disorderly conduct in Tuscaloosa City Court Monday in connection with the demonstrations.

Tuscaloosa police said none are students at the university.

Arthur D. Shores, attorney for Miss Lucy, said Miss Lucy will not return to the university until after the Feb. 29 hearing "unless the trustees rescind their suspension before that date."

The university news bureau announced last night there would be no immediate comment from school officials in connection with yesterday's court action.

Carmichael said earlier this week that what is needed is "time to find a solution." He did not elaborate.

Abbott Denies Charges In Stolen Map Case

DALLAS (AP)—Wayne Abbott, 43, charged with causing a geophysical map to be solen from Magnolia Petroleum Co., denied the charges yesterday.

The geologist, petroleum engineer and independent oilman testified in Federal Court. He also is charged with mailing a letter to get more maps.

A government witness testified Abbott made a deal to pay Bill Morgan $350 a month to supply him with copies of Magnolia's maps. Ralph Herring Fox, former Magnolia employe, said he made an extra copy of maps which came to him to be blueprinted and furnished them to Morgan. He said Morgan gave him about $1,500 in 1951 or 1952.

Abbott testified he had never made a deal with Morgan.

He said he had two Magnolia maps, but said they were in a roll of 50 or 60 maps he bought in Midland early in 1952 for $100. He said he has been unable to find the blueprint firm employe who sold him the maps.

"I never met Ralph Herring Fox. I never saw him till yesterday," said Abbott.

Abbott said Glenn Atterbury, who testified he took some of Abbott's tracings of a Magnolia map to New Mexico to buy leases for Abbott, was never an Abbott employe, although Abbott said he financed him for a year. He said Atterbury was a sort of salesman who lined up money to back oil deals.

Latest Snow May Be Last Of Moisture

By The Associated Press

A rapidly moving belt of light snow switched across Texas from west to east Friday signaling a probable end to almost two weeks of snow and rain for most of the state.

Snow fell in the South Plains and Panhandle Thursday night then sped through West Texas into East Texas.

By 8 a.m. Friday skies were clear west of Abilene and Wichita Falls. Sunshine was expected to melt more of the accumulated snow that has bound parts of the Panhandle-South Plains area for more than a week.

Light snow fell Friday in Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells, Sherman, and northward through Ardmore, Okla., to the Great Lakes region. At most points temperatures were barely freezing or a degree or so above.

Rains fell in numerous spots including College Station, Beaumont, Galveston, Houston, Palacios, Corpus Christi, Waco, Dallas and Alice.

The lowest overnight temperatures included 11 at Lubbock and 46 at Beaumont and Corpus Christi.

The new coating of snow in the Lubbock-Plainview area hampered highway traffic but all main roads were reported open although slick and hazardous.

The Thursday night snowfall halted efforts of Fort Worth and Denver workmen to free two trains stuck in huge snow drifts between Plainview and Dimmitt since Wednesday.

Little wind came with the night's wet snow in the Panhandle-Plains area.

Three Commission Seats To Be Filled In Election April 3

Three commissioners will be elected to the Big Spring City Commission April 3.

The two-year terms of three present commissioners expire this year, according to C. R. McClenny, city secretary. They are Al Goodson, Roy Bruce and Curtis Driver.

Prospective candidates for the posts must file notice with the city secretary before Mar. 3. There is no charge for filing, McClenny said. The city commissioner job pays $10 per month and the commissioners meet in regular session twice each month.

Goodson is an employe at Cosden Petroleum Corporation. Bruce operates a Texaco service station at Johnson and Third. Driver operates the Driver Truck and Implement Company on Lamesa Drive.

All three men are finishing their first terms in office. They have not indicated whether they will ask for re-election, McClenny said.

Texan In Crew Of Missing Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Texan was in the crew of a B26 patrol bomber forced down in the North Atlantic Wednesday. He was Sgt. William Guffy, radio operator, of Peaster in Parker County.

The plane was last heard from Wednesday when it reported icing conditions off Iceland's southwest coast.

Case Testifies At Money Offer Probe

The Play's The Thing

Sir Laurence Olivier was all ears for newsmen's questions but it is still a cinch all eyes were on his shapely co-star, Marilyn Monroe, at their press conference in New York. The titled British actor and Marilyn announced plans to team up in a film production of "The Sleeping Prince," to be made in England which will feature Miss Monroe in a straight dramatic role.

'Abnormal Interest' In Gas Vote Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Case (R-SD) told a Senate investigating committee today that he rejected a $2,500 campaign fund contribution because it seemed to suggest an "abnormal interest" in his vote on the natural gas bill.

Case was the first witness at public hearings by the special committee set up to investigate whether the proferred contribution from Nebraska lawyer John M. Neff was intended to influence Case's vote.

Neff, of Lexington, Neb., has said he favored passage of the gass bill but has denied the $2,500 was intended to influence Case's vote. Neff was registered with the Nebraska Legislature last year as a lobbyist for Superior Oil Co., Austin, Tex.

Asked by newsmen about the source of the $2,500, Neff has declined to say. He said he had been able to raise the money "as a campaign contribution without any strings attached."

Case told the Senate committee the offer of $2,500 from a man he regarded as a stranger "sort of took my breath away" but that he does not accuse Neff of trying to bribe him.

Case said the investigation ordered by the Senate after he publicly denounced the offer, is "not an investigation of a bribe, because no such allegation has been made."

The question, he said, as he understands it, is whether the proffered campaign contribution involved an effort "to influence my decision" in the voting on the natural gas bill.

"There was nothing proposed to me in this matter," Case said. "There was nothing promised."

He said Neff himself has said there were "no strings attached" to the offer, and added that "all I have heard or read about it would indicate there were no strings."

The question of whether the offer was designed to influence his vote, he said, is for the committee to decide.

The four-member committee was called to order by Chairman George (D-Ga) in the Senate's big caucus room.

At the outset, George had the committee's counsel, Charles W. Steadman, read into the record the resolution adopted 90-0 by the Senate creating the special committee.

The resolution directs the committee to look into "the circumstances involving an alleged improper attempt through political contributions to influence the vote" of Case on the natural gas bill.

Under its terms, the committee is required to report its findings to the Senate not later than March 1.

The four-member committee is divided equally between Republicans and Democrats.

Case voted against the bill when the Senate passed it last Monday after a long debate in which opponents contended—and proponents denied—that it would mean billions of dollars to big oil companies. The measure, if signed by President Eisenhower, will lift direct federal price controls from producers of natural gas.

After saying the campaign offer "sort of took my breath away," Case swung into a detailed account of the circumstances under which he said he learned of it.

He got a telephone call from Ernest J. Kahler, business manager of the Sioux Falls, S.D. Argus-Leader, Case related, on Jan. 25—"a day of badly wrecked schedules."

He said two friends were present but he did not immediately name them.

Case said Kahler told him: "I have something here that was left for your campaign."

Case said he told Kahler to turn the money over to John Griffin, a Sioux Falls druggist who helps to handle campaign fund matters, then asked Kahler from whom the contribution came and how big it was.

"It's an envelope with 25 $100 bills," he said Kahler replied.

Case quoted Kahler as saying the money came from "the fellow who was down to see you recently" about campaign funds and whose name was "Mr. Neff."

"I couldn't recall the name," Case said, adding that he immediately started an inquiry as to whether Neff had been in to see him.

Case said this was in the late afternoon, about 6 p.m. Washington time. His office was about to close and the few staffers present could not remember any visit from Neff, Case added.

Case said the "first thing in the morning" of the next day he asked the rest of the staff if they knew Neff. Mrs. Mabel O. Connell, his receptionist, he said, told him she thought someone had been in the office "who identified himself as knowing Mr. Kahler" and might have talked with Opal Van Horn, Case's legislative clerk. The latter, Case said, was in South Dakota at that time to attend the funeral of her mother.

Case said he telephoned Griffin and "I told him I want to know more about the background of the contribution." He said he instructed Griffin to keep the money "intact" in whatever form it was received.

Case gave his testimony uninterrupted to that point.

Steadman had started the questioning by asking Case "to tell the committee of the circumstances that precipitated your making the speech" in which Case first disclosed the offer to the Senate.

George and Sen. Thye (R-Minn) were recorded against the bill when the Senate passed it Monday 53-38. Senators Hayden (D-Ariz) and Bridges (R-NH) voted for it.

George said he hopes the hearings can be completed in two days.

The Senate unanimously authorized the inquiry after Case, just a week ago, told his colleagues that a lawyer who first asked about his stand on the gas bill had left $2,500 in cash with a friend as a contribution to his re-election campaign. Case voted against the bill.

Neff of Lexington, Neb., has disclosed he is the lawyer who left $2,500 in $100 bills with a friend of Case's in South Dakota. He said he had been able to raise the money "as a campaign contribution without any strings attached."

George said he thinks Neff, a key witness in the inquiry, could be required to disclose the source of the money. Thus far Neff has declined to do so, citing a confidential relationship with a client.

Sterilized Heiress Dies In Mexico

FORT WORTH (AP)—Ann Cooper Hewitt, 40, sterilized heiress whose marriages and troubles made headlines more than ten years, died yesterday in Monterrey, Mexico.

Her fourth husband, Frank Nicholson, and the heiress had been living on a "Ranchito" 12 miles from Monterrey for six years.

Nicholson told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram by telephone today his wife complained of a headache yesterday and died eight hours later at about 5 p.m.

She was willed millions by her father, Peter Cooper Hewitt, a New York inventor. He died when his only daughter was small.

Her first three marriages ended in divorce and near the end of her mother's life, the heiress was suing the mother as a creditor.

In about 1936 Miss Hewitt charged her mother and two San Francisco doctors with conspiring to have her sterilized so she would have no heirs to the fortune of her father.

The trial was stopped by a judge and the charges dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Her first marriage was to an Oakland garage foreman, Ronald Gay. That lasted about three months.

Next she was married to Gene Bradstreet, once a San Francisco bar steward.

Her third husband was John Whitaker, Nevada mining man. He divorced her in 1947.

That same year she and Frank Nicholson were married in a matter of hours after they had attended the funeral for his wife who died from an overdose of a headache remedy.

Nicholson said then he and the heiress "got married so quickly it would make your head swim." Nicholson was a radio disk jockey known as "Rodeo Roy."

In 1938 Ann Cooper Hewitt's mother, Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt, filed a bankruptcy petition which named the daughter a creditor.

Tindol Exhibits Best Angus Calf

COAHOMA — Another top honor earned by Coahoma FFA boys at the El Paso livestock show was that of the best Angus calf in the exposition.

The classy black calf was fed and exhibited by Bill Tindol, under the direction of the late Wayne White, agriculture teacher at Coahoma.

Bill is to go to Houston within about two weeks to enter his scramble calf in that division of the show. He caught the calf in last year's big scramble event, and under rules of the show he was to feed it out a year and then enter it in competition.

Club To Wash Cars For MOD

The YMCA Aces Auto Club will be washing cars for the March of Dimes during the weekend.

The auto club will be operating at the Conoco Service Station at 3rd and Gregg starting at 1 p.m. Saturday. No definite amount has been set for the wash jobs, and each person asking for the service can make whatever contribution he wishes to the March of Dimes. All proceeds will go to that purpose.

Members are furnishing the labor and the station is providing the facilities.

Pick up and delivery service will be provided for those who will call telephone No. 4-9227 and request it. For those who need transportation in the interim, club members will provide their own cars.

They intend to keep washing cars so long as people will call.

Meantime the MOD total eased upwards, reaching $9,500. Rad Ware, chapter chairman, said mail contributions were being received, but that the tempo was all too slow. He appealed for greater response.

Sinclair, Texas Co. Boost Gas Prices

DALLAS (AP)— Sinclair and the Texas Company boosted their tank prices to filling stations yesterday to 22.3 per gallon for regular and 24.8 for premium gasoline.

Continental Oil started the price raise and Humble followed.

Harold Giddens, president of the Dallas Service Station Assn., said operators would raise their prices .7 of a cent a gallon.

4 Hurt In Accidents On Slick Highways

Four persons received minor injuries early today in a flurry of automobile mishaps on ice-coated highways.

Two of the wrecks occurred on the icy railway overpass on U. S. 80 four miles west of Big Spring. Another occurred on Highway 80 some nine miles east of Coahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Mancha of Big Spring were brought to the Big Spring Hospital in a Highway Patrol car about 3 a.m. The car in which they were traveling slid out of control on the overpass, and struck guard posts at the end of the structure. Hermenejildo Orosco, Big Spring, driver of the car, received a bruise on his leg. Mr. and Mrs. Mancha were treated at the hospital for bruises and cuts.

About an hour after that wreck, Jerry Gordon Wilson of Peoria, Ill., also hit the icy overpass and his 1955 Ford skidded into the railing at the end of the long bridge. He was not hurt.

Rosie Rameriz, Hobbs, N. M., was brought toBig Spring Hospital for observation after her 1955 Ford skidded and turned over in Mitchell County 8.7 miles east of Coahoma. She wasnt believed to be hurt seriously.

All three of the highway crashes occurred between 2:30 and 3:40 a.m. today.

A car driven by Alvin C. Massingill, 2006 W. 2nd, overturned on Highway 80 a half mile west of the city limits Thursday evening. Deputy Sheriff Fred Taylor said the car turned over after striking the rear of another car, driven by Willie E. Dodd, 1506 Chicasaw.

Massingill was attempting to pass Dodd when it became necessary to apply the brakes to avoid the U. S. 80 center island, Taylor said.

City police investigated two accidents in the last 24 hours.

Marvin Lucy Kuhn, 3404 W. 80, and Willie Nations Goodman, 907 W. 8th, ran together at Johnson and Fourth. Joe Chavarria, 109 NE 3rd, and Arthur H. Miramontes, 511 NE 9th, were involved in a mishap in the 600 block of North Goliad.

Weather Fair For Most Of U. S.

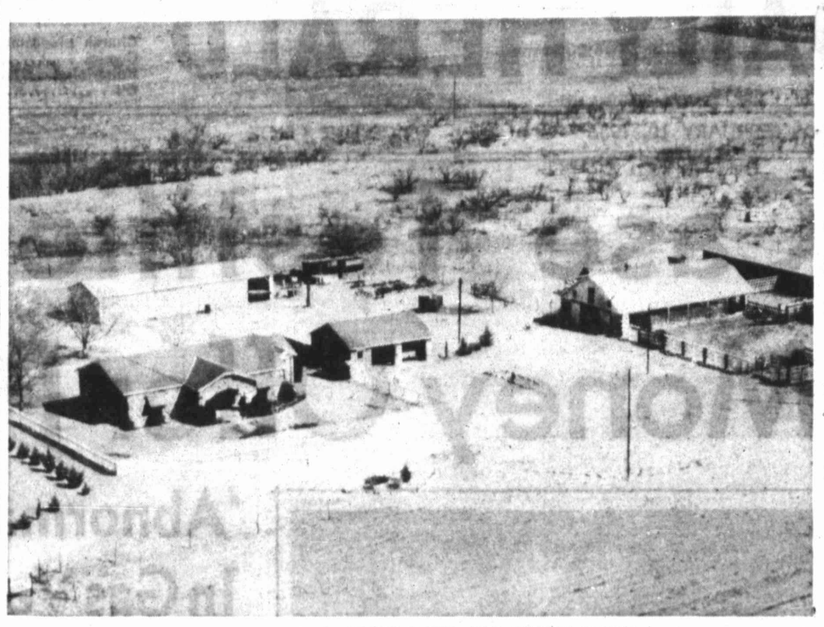

By The Associated Press

There were some wet spots in the East and South but generally fair weather appeared in prospect for most of the country today.

Main belts of precipitation were in Texas, the western Gulf Coast and in the Mid-Atlantic Coast states as far west as southern Lake Ontario.

Fresh falls of snow measured 2 inches at Lubbock, Tex.

Springlike weather was the outlook for wide areas in the eastern half of the nation except in New England.

EIGHTY ACRES GREW INTO BIG STOCK FARM
Last week's Mystery Farm—The place of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Wallace

Wallaces Believe Work Will Still Bring 'Living' On Farm

Leland Wallace, one of the county's leading young stock-farmers, was, by his own admission, a lot smarter at 15 than he has ever been since.

"I quit school then," he said, "and it was one of my biggest mistakes."

Wallace has been doing a lot of study and hard work since then to make up, and he has achieved an outstanding record. Anyone with less determination and energy wouldn't have made it.

His home place nine miles northeast of Big Spring, just three-quarters of a mile north of the Snyder highway, was last week's Mystery Farm.

Wallace was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dock Wallace on a farm not two miles removed from the place he now owns and operates. Interestingly, Gerald Marie Buchanan, who became Mrs. Wallace in 1940, was born within four miles of their place.

When Leland attained the ninth grade and 15 years of age, he decided he wanted to go to work. Dock Wallace saw to that, all right, but later Leland worked out on the farm for the handsome sum of $1 a day. In the meantime, when the old Morgan school was closed, Gerald Marie went on to graduate from Coahoma High School. They decided to get married. After buying 80 acres from his father, getting a little furniture, providing for his one and her four cows, and establishing a flock of 20 hens, they had $8 in the bank. He picked up $3 cash a week working out half the time, they sold enough eggs to buy gasoline on Saturday, and raised the rest of their requirements at home.

It wasn't easy but they were getting a foothold the next year when weather conditions turned off almost ideally for crops. Off 28 acres allotted to cotton, they made 34 bales, and were able to clear the 80 acres of debt.

"We turned right around and got in debt again," Wallace recalled. "We bought 30 acres adjoining out of the old Jim Martin place and off of R. E. Martin."

That was the start of spreading their holdings. In 1944 they bought a quarter section from E. H. McCloud, who had moved to New Mexico, then 106 acres in 1946 off the Edens place, and finally 480 acres in 1951 from Alex Walker. All of this was together. They also had bought 80 acres northwest of Coahoma from Mrs. E. H. Ricker in 1947. With the advent of their breeding cattle program, they leased 1,200 acres of grass, principally from J. C. Waits.

They learned a lot about the vagaries of farming in West Texas. For instance, the first three years they had the Coahoma place it averaged three-quarters of a bale to the acre; during the last five it has aggregated only about 10 bales.

Not long after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace sold their cattle and bought 10 registered Hereford heifers from R. T. Shafer, Vincent, and J. N. Dulaney, Sweetwater. These were straight breed Anxiety 4th cattle, and except for occasionally infusing some new blood to develop some characteristics he desired, Wallace has stayed with straight line breeding. He gives the late I. B. (Doc) Cauble credit for teaching that lesson: "He was a lot smarter than most realized—looked a lot further ahead."

The Wallaces had champion bull for two straight years at Big Spring (the Howard County Hereford) show, the reserve for three straight years, the top female one year; reserve bull and female one year at Sweetwater; among the top three at San Angelo, Odessa and Fort Worth; and in the top bracket at Amarillo and North Platte, Neb.

More than anyone, perhaps, Leland Wallace was responsible for organization of the Howard County Hereford Breeders Association in 1942. Eventually it became the Howard County-South Plains unit. He served it four years as secretary, two as vice president, one as president. He is a director in the West Texas and Texas associations.

He raises all feed, mostly bundles and ensilage, needed except the pretein supplement. He tries to put up about 20 tons of grain, which is fed mostly to the little bulls, and keeps a 150-ton trench silo packed with ensilage of mixed hegira and cane. He tried sudan but it gave too much bulk and no weight.

Mrs. Wallace puts up a lot of peas, corn, okra, beans, etc. in the locker each year, and they keep plenty of good meat. He converts the least promising into young steers which are fed out for market or home use.

He has two 4-row tractor units and one 2-row outfit and has only one hand now that 280 acres have been rented out. That's still enough to get him up long before dawn and keep him bounding down the rows long after dark at certain seasons.

All the place has been terraced and is contoured. He does some strip cropping and has tried some grass seeding, although not too successfully. He believes in conservation but is no dreamy theorist on the subject. Resting his grassland, he saw the sod come back pretty well last year. He also made about half a bale to the acre on his cotton on the whole.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace are members of the First Methodist Church in Coahoma and she teaches a Sunday School class. They have no children.

They believe there is a good living—perhaps not wealth but a good living—still to be had on the farm. But you've got to work for it. . .And they do, cheerfully and successfully.

COLD WAVE

U. S. Joins In Aid Airlift In Europe

LONDON (AP) — Giant U.S. Air Force Flying Boxcars joined in an emergency airlift today carrying food and fuel to villages snowbound in Europe's worst winter of the century.

The weather death toll soared to 210 in 11 days as a new Siberian cold wave turned a 2,500-mile front from the far north to Turkey and Italy into a deep freeze.

Icy east winds whipped up big seas in the English Channel. The seven-man crew of the 216-ton British coaster Conlea abandoned ship off the Channel Islands. One man died of exposure and a freighter picked up the rest.

Royal Air Force rescue planes flew out to the Bay of Biscay to stand guard over the 100-ton motor yacht Episode. Rescue vessels ploughed through rough seas to take off the crew of five.

Three U.S. Air Force transports roared over the frozen wastes of southern Greece, dropping supplies to desperate villagers.

The usually sunny south of France shivered in its worst freeze since 1887. Thunder and lightning rattled over the playground resorts of Nice and Cannes, then came a blizzard.

Germany reported record low temperatures. Weissenburg, near Nuernberg, hit 29 below zero, lowest there since 1855.

Southern Italy expected warmer weather, but blizzards still raged over Milan in the industrial North.

Thick clouds helped keep Britain slightly warmer than expected. London's temperature stood steady at 26 degrees. The dawn brought snow.

This was the death tally:

France 51, Britain 40, Italy 35, Germany 18, Greece 14, Turkey 12, Denmark 11, Holland 10 Austria 6, Switzerland 4, Sweden 4, Yugoslavia 2, Spain 2 and Belgium 1.

Mitchell County Highway Needs Are Outlined

COLORADO CITY—Present and future highway needs in Mitchell County were studied by the Highway Committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce in a Thursday afternoon meeting, said Chairman Gus D. Chesney, vice president of the City National Bank.

The committee's program of work—aimed principally at extensions of farm-to-market roads, called for the extension of FM 1229 to and past Lake Thomas in the southwest corner of Scurry County. FM 1229 now connects highways US 80 and State 350 through Cuthbert.

Other extensions and new work which will be part of the committee's 1956 project, include an extension of the airstrip spur at Buford to connect with FM 1229 near Cuthbert;

(2) An extension of FM 644 from a point south of Loraine to the Colorado City - Silver highway (State 208).

(3) A new road from Highway 208 into the ranchlands in the southeastern part of the county, and

(4) To continue FM 1982, which now haits at the Loraine—Hermleigh farm to market road, east to Highway 84 at Wastella.

The committee also made tentative plans to study the possibility of highway signs advertising Colorado City on adjacent highways.

Members of the committee include M. N. Caddell, N. H. White, Pat Bullock and Hollis Webb.

West Seeks Peace Plan For Mid-East

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France were said today to be working against a March 1 deadline to develop deterrents to renewed fighting in Palestine.

The focal point of Western concern, officials said, is an area in a demilitarized zone between Syria and Israel on the Jordan River. The spot, on the Israel side of the river, is called Jisr Bnat Yacov.

An Israeli canal at that point is separated from the Jordan River waters by a few hundred feet of unexcavated earth.

Israeli officials have maintained they have a right to enter the demilitarized zone, finish the excavation and tap the Jordan waters for use in the canal. Syria has told the United States it fears a military incident if the Israelis try to do so.

Officials here speak of March 1 as a kind of deadline because after that time, they say, the weather would be favorable for whatever operations Israel might undertake.

The full resources of American and British diplomacy are being used to try to dissuade Israel from any move which would set off a clash with Syria. Such a clash might bring Egypt in on the side of Syria.

President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Eden last week directed a new study of steps which might be taken to prevent an outbreak of open warfare in Palestine. British, American and French officials started the study here Wednesday.

At the Wednesday meeting, it is understood, the United States and Britain advanced several suggestions if fighting occurs. They include an immediate appeal to the United Nations to order the fighting to stop, sanctions to cut off money from the outside, an economic embargo to shut off supplies, and a naval blockade.

U.S. and British officials are seeking quick French agreement to such measures because they would like to confront Israel and the Arab states with their decisions before the potential crisis at Jisr Bnat Yacov has a chance to develop.

Oilfield Worker Held After Traffic Death

MIDLAND (AP)—Police arrested an oilfield worker, 31, after Roy Martinez, 33, Midland construction worker was killed by a car yesterday.

Last Words In Court

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is the first time I ever got a traffic ticket," an 80-year-old retired bookbinder told a judge. They were his last words. Herman Weinberg, on trial in Brooklyn on a charge of parking near a fireplug, collapsed in the witness chair. He died en route to a hospital.

Uncle Ray:

Red Snow Is Made By Tiny Animals

By RAMON COFFMAN

Most of us never have seen a "red snow," but there are times when a field of snow looks red, indeed. Some persons who see such a sight suppose that it has been stained by blood.

The truth is that the red color comes from tiny animals which form colonies in the snow. These animals are known by a name which means "bloodberries." They are so small that 500 of them, side by side, would measure only an inch.

Without a microscope, our eyes would fail to see one of them. They become plain enough, however, when several million occupy an area of a few square yards. The colonies form after the snow has fallen.

The same little objects explain the so-called "rains of blood" which have been reported from time to time. They exist on rocks and elsewhere, and sometimes color rain water which fills hollows. A person who sees the red water after a rain may exlaim:

"Look at the red water! Blood has come down with the rain!"

That mistake is of the same kind as is made by persons who speak of "blood-filled" seas or rivers. The red color seen in some bodies of water is due to billions or trillions of tiny forms of plant or animal life.

Among the very small "animals" which float on salt water are the so-called "night lights." Their name is explained by the fact that they glow in the dark. Their light is blue at times, and green at other times. The blue color ("a sudden flashing light") is observed when the sea is wavy, or when the water is broken by the passage of a vessel.

A night light. (Greatly enlarged).

Twenty-five night lights, close together, would cover one square inch. A square mile, covered that thickly, would contain about 3,700 million of them.

The coloring of a night light changes in the daytime. Then it becomes orange or red. When a vessel passes through a daytime mass, the water looks something like tomato soup.

DATE DATA

The Boy Chaser

Dear Miss Brandow:

It seems to me that we have progressed in many ways, but our etiquette is antique. Please tell me why, in this day of equality where women share the limelight with men, a girl still cannot correctly phone a boy for dates?

Dianne

* * *

Etiquette is now, as it has always been, a system devised mainly for politeness sake and to flatter the fair feminine gender.

I can't imagine any girl, modern or Victorian, who would like it announced to her boy friend that she is not popular but rather that she is such a wallflower she must scare up her own dates as best she can.

Boys reason, and rightly so, that when a girl has something to offer, and I'm not talking about a better mousetrap, boys will beat a path to her door.

A boy concludes that the girl who is busier dialing the telephone than answering it had bettee be avoided. She is advertising herself as a social reject and if no other boy wants her, neither does he.

* * *

Dear Miss Brandow:

Most of the parties in our school are sponsored by girls' clubs. Since they plan them, it is the girls who do the inviting. I am new in school and so far haven't been invited to anything. I guess this is because in small towns girls and boys grow up together and know each other pretty well by high school. Is there anything I can do?

Roland

* * *

Yes. The girls are probably shy. Pick out one or two you like and do a little research. Is she playing the field, or not a steady? What are her chief interests and what is her phone number?

Dial it, identify yourself fully, and ask her for a date. Then just wait and see if you don't have a date for the next party.

(You may write Miss Brandow in care of The Herald. A 3 cent stamp will bring a personal reply.)

2 Men Killed In Boston Shooting

BOSTON (AP) — Two men were killed and a third injured in a wild outburst of gunfire in Boston's Chinatown last night.

Police said Fum Lee, 50, former owner of a Chinese restaurant, killed Jim Chin Kai, 50, an assistant secretary of the Chinese Merchants Assn., and wounded Wong Jayne, 59, Chinatown mayor.

Lee himself was killed by police bullets.

The shootings took place on a balcony of the Chinese Mercantile Building and in one of the conference rooms, as hundreds of persons looked on from the street.

Police said the shootings began when Lee burst into a conference room filled with merchants and tried to win intercession in a Canadian deportation case in which he said he was involved.

Police said Lee went wild when informed by Jayne and Chin Kai that they could do nothing to help. He pulled out a gun. A dozen merchants fled to the street and a call was put in for the police.

Chin Kai was chased to the balcony and killed. Lee then fired through a window and creased the mayor's chest with a bullet.

Lee, shouting wildly, fled into the conference room and locked the door. Detectives fired through the door and killed him with two shots.

Kentuckians End Insurance Talks

AUSTIN (AP)—Five Kentucky legislators and an assistant attorney general left today saying they "got all the information we came for."

The Kentuckians were investigating whether political pressure had prevented investigation of General American Casualty Co. of San Antonio only five months before the Texas firm went into receivership in June, 1954.

No Decline In Use Of Lake Thomas Water

Water production from Lake J. B. Thomas has mainted its regular volume, and if anything has increased during the recent cold weather.

This is due in a large measure of increased demand by Big Spring, reflecting a substantial draw by Cosden Petroleum Corporation.

Cosden began taking raw water from Lake J. B. Thomas late in January via the line which serves Cabot Carbon Company's plant east of Cosden. So far the volume has approximated 500 gallons per minute, and the water is being used for cooling purposes.

The City of Big Spring and Cosden are negotiating a contract for use of the water on the basis of the same rate Cabot pays for water, that of 17½ cents per thousand. Ultimately, the contract likely would be with either Cabot or Cosden, so far as the city is concerned, since both are served off the same line from the Colorado River Municipal Water District's main supply line.

Cosden uses effluent from the city's disposal plant extensively for cooling purposes, but attention is being directed to the raw water as another potential source of a large volume to accommodate new processes being added by Cosden.

Mrs. Zack Gray Is TB Director

Mrs. Zack Gray was elected executive director of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association Thursday afternoon at a called meeting. The group met in the County Health Unit.

Mrs. Gray succeeds Mrs. Wayland Yates, who resigned the position due to a lack of time available for the work.

A report was given from the executive board. Date of the annual meeting was announced for March 8 at 7 p.m. at the Settles Hotel. Price per person is $1.50.

An invitation from the Midland TB Association was given to the local group. This is to be a planning session to make arrangements for the state meeting to be held in that city April 6-7. Date of the meeting is to be set later.

Blueprint For Doubling Union Strength Given At Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A coast-to-coast organizing blueprint, aimed at doubling the AFL-CIO's 15 million membership in a few years, today was proposed to the merged union organization's Executive Council.

John W. Livingston, AFL-CIO organizing director, mapped the nationwide, member - getting plan and drafted a multi-million-dollar financing fund.

Livingston, former vice president of the big United Auto Workers, said in advance of the council session that "wherever there is a need for organizing is where we will be."

The plan was prepared on a state-by-state, area-by-area and industry-by-industry basis from a survey made by 22 AFL-CIO regional directors.

Details were kept secret, but Livingston has already indicated that primary organizing targets will be "white collar" workers, including federal, state and city government workers as well as retail and office workers, and segments of the chemical, textile, building, wood, paper and shoe industries.

The AFL-CIO goal was outlined in a resolution adopted at the organization's founding convention in New York two months ago. It said the objective was to sign up at least as many as the AFL-CIO's present membership "in the years immediately ahead."

Only one out of three wage and salary workers in the nation is presently a union member.

Former CIO unions already have pledged four million dollars in organizing funds and the generally richer former AFL unions were expected to swell the kitty by at least that much more.

Livingston said there would be no advance announcement of specific groups of workers or plans ticketed for organizing efforts because "the time to blow the trumpets is after the victories."

AFL-CIO President George Meany told an outdoor mass meeting last night, attended by a crowd estimated at well over 12,000 and said to be the largest labor rally ever held in Florida, that much of the AFL-CIO organizing will be in Southern states.

"We will organize wherever we find unorganized workers who want to advance their own interests by joining unions," Meany said.

A Bible Thought For Today

Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached unto him Jesus. (Acts 8:35)

Editorial

Ahead Of The Ides Of March

President Eisenhower told his press conference Wednesday he thought he would be able to say by March 1 whether he can or cannot seek another term. He needs further information, the nature of which he did not disclose—but presumably to give his heart specialists time to digest the findings of their mid-February examination.

Two weeks before Mr. Eisenhower, in response to a question about Chief Justice Earl Warren as a possible nominee in case he doesn't seek another term, had replied that he felt politics and the Supreme Court should not get mixed up together. This was interpreted by some as meaning he was opposed to Warren, but this time he said he had no objection to the chief justice seeking the nomination if he wanted it, though he doubts if it would be proper for him to ask Warren to do so.

If Warren should decide to get his feet wet, it would put an end to the presidential ambitions of Richard Nixon—or at least postpone them. Under the Constitution a President and his second cannot come from the same state.

Any campaign to promote Warren to head of the ticket would meet with at least two obstacles. One is his announced intention to stay on the supreme bench come whay may. The other is his age. If elected, he would become 66 years old two months after he was sworn in. Ike is from October 14 to March 19 the older of the two.

We believe the probability is that Ike will renounce any thought of running again when he does finally make up his mind. There has been a very strong effort among GOP politicians and sections of the national press to twist his arm, but it seems to us this will prove ineffective. The very sense of duty to which these supplicants appeal will, it seems to us influence the President most in refusing to run. A man with a powerful sense of duty, such as Ike, would hesitate to offer anything but his fullest powers to the presidency, and he has already made it quite clear he could not settle for less with a clear conscience.

Once Upon A Sentimental Time . . .

The approach of St. Valentine's Day, which is also Shrove Tuesday (Mardi Gras, or fat Tuesday) this year must stir a good many reminiscent incidents in the minds of the elder generation.

There was the time, for instance, that you drew the outline of a heart on your slate and held it up for the scrutiny of the pig-tailed girl who occupied a seat three spaces to your rear. It was a pledge of undying fealty and love, and this state of mutual bliss lasted for the entire day. But when school let out and the girl surrendered the burden of her books to the boy who lived down the road apiece, another beautiful romance was busted.

As the boy grew older, he plunged into romance on a lavish scale. By hook or crook he acquired possession of a few pieces of scented confections, imprinted with expressions of love, and slipped them shyly into the hand of the momentary light of his life. These tidbits were usually in the form of a heart and tasted like talcum powder, but no Galahad ever swept his plumed helmet to the ground before his ladylove with more sincerity than the small boy presented his offering to his one and only.

In the old days Valentines ran largely to savage caricatures printed on shoddy paper and presented surreptiously to the victim as a joke. Happily that particular form of cruelty has about disappeared, but in its heyday it caused many a heartache. School teachers were foreordained targets for this kind of stealthy sabotage, which usually revolved around the "old maid" theme. In those days a young lady who had not solved the marriage problem by age 23 to 25 was considered an old maid, and they seemed to sort of gravitate to school teaching.

Well, times have changed, and Valentine gifts have taken on variety and dignity. Like everything else the hucksters have taken it over. But the small boy who drew a heart on a slate with a slate pencil it was an audible form of writing, similar to a typewriter for volume of sound—had more sheer joy out of Valentine than anybody else.

Walter Lippmann

Eisenhower's Answer To Bulganin

Meetings at the summit, like the one in Washington last week, arouse expectations which it is almost never possible to meet. For while there have been many such meetings since the second world war, they are still sufficiently unusual, there is still enough fanfare accompanying them, to make people suppose that great decisions are left to speculate as to whether decisions were taken about which nothing is being said or whether there have been disagreements about which nothing is being said.

What actually happened, it appears, is that the two partners made some more progress on some of their common problems than they had made through normal diplomatic channels.

But it is a fair question whether meetings at the summit would not better be limited to the signing, sealing, and publicizing of decisions and agreements which have already been reached by detailed and specific negotiations. Is it really good practice to negotiate confidentially in a pool of bright publicity, like two men standing in the ring at Madison Square Garden whispering in each other's ears about the fate of mankind? In going publicly to the summit when policies are still in the stage of exploration and discussion, the heads of governments expose themselves to a sense of anti-climax. And then in the effort to make much of the little that they can disclose, they fall back on resounding, but very tired generalities.

The Eisenhower-Eden statement, the declaration of Washington, and the two Bulganin letters are addressed to the same audience. They are addressed the peoples of North Africa and South Asia who have been, or are still, under the rule of the Western powers. Since Geneva, the winning of these peoples to the Soviet side, their detachment from alliances with the West, has been the main objective of Soviet foreign policy. The Bulganin letters, though they were sent to President Eisenhower, are directed wholly to the political leaders and to the intellectuals of Asia and Africa. One can without straining the truth go further and say that the letters which were sent to the President were meant to be read primarily by Prime Minister Nehru. The phraseology of the letters is that of the Soviet line in Asia, and every sentence in the letters is designed not to persuade the United States, but to persuade the uncommitted countries of Asia and Africa.

The letters are written for men who are already persuaded that this country may somehow blunder over, or let itself be pushed over the brink. If Bulganin can put on a show in which the United States "spurns" or "scoffs at" a treaty of friendship, peace and non-aggression, he will have done quite a day's work for the Soviet cause. There is much at stake, and Governor Stevenson was, it seems to me, very right indeed on Saturday when he warned the President to take great care about how he replied to Bulganin. For the Bulganin letter, though it will persuade few in this country, is extremely efficient propaganda in Asia.

It is a very ingenious piece of proaganda in that the Soviet government stands to gain if, by any chance, we agree to such a treaty and they stand to gain if we reject it out of hand. If we agree to the treaty, it would be taken to mean all over the world that we are entering into a gigantic deal with Moscow to divide the world. And if we reject it outright and sharply, it will enhance greatly the belief, already far advanced in Asia, that it is we who are the opponents of peace.

This suggests that the way out of the dilemma is not to agree to the treaty and not to reject it out of hand but to draw the Kremlin into a discussion as to why, specifically why, such a treaty would make any real difference about the problem of German unification, of armaments, of the tension in the Formosa Strait and in the Middle East. Such a discussion would be hard work, and frequently exasperating. But is it avoidable? If Bulganin will not take no for an answer, and it appears from his second letter that he will not, can we afford to let him have all the limelight in Asia?

We Can All Calm Down Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Anyone with the notion today's Senate investigation of the $2,500 offered to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) might expand into an investigation of political contributions to senators in general can calm down.

It would be a rare day in Washington when the Senate embarked on an investigation of itself.

Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the special four-man committee appointed to look into Case's story about an unwelcome $2,500 contribution to his re-election campaign, says the investigation will be limited strictly to the Case matter.

There is one big point not yet clear in the Case story, although the investigation undoubtedly will bring the answer:

Did any friends of Case, without the knowledge of the senator, solicit a contribution from the man who handed over the $2,500? The man himself, John M. Neff, a Nebraska attorney, has said Case's campaign needs were mentioned to him.

Case told the Senate last Friday a stranger—whom Case didn't name until Neff later identified himself—had given the money after inquiring about Case's stand on the natural gas bill, which the Senate later passed.

Case said his first knowledge of what had happened came when a South Dakota friend called him and said Neff had left the money in an envelope. The friend turned out to be E. J. Mahler, business manager of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader.

Kahler said he had some conversations with Neff on Case's attitude toward the gas bill, designed to take direct federal controls off the prices of natural gas, producers of which include some of the biggest oil companies.

Neff, registered in Nebraska last year as an oil company lobbyist, sent an indignant telegram to Case after the senator had disclosed the $2,500 contribution.

It was a long telegram—Case read it on the Senate floor—and at one point Neff said:

"When in South Dakota in November I was informed by persons close to you that you felt as I do on government issues of the day. I was also told that you intended to run again for election and would need campaign funds.

"In January I made another trip to South Dakota and left with the man I believed to be your chairman of your campaign fund $2,500 which I had been able to raise as a campaign contribution without any strings attached."

Case then told the Senate "the gentleman with whom he (Neff) lef the money was not my campaign manager" and "I never discussed campaign funds with him." The gentleman was Kahler.

What isn't known is who were those "persons close" to Case who, Neff said, had told him of the senator's campaign needs in November? Neff did not identify them.

Russian Workers Work Harder, Get Same Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—The official Soviet economic report for 1955 shows that Russia's workers toiled harder, produced more—and got almost exactly the same pay they received in 1954.

Workers in the West call this the speedup.

This was the first fruit of the economic policy party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin laid down when they took over from Georgi Malenkov: "heavy industry first," guns and bulldozers instead of butter.

Soviet labor's prospects for 1956 aren't very pleasant either. Prices for Russia's most vital food—potatoes—are virtually certain to more than double during the year. Still more belt-tightening appears to be in order as the Kremlin drives the nation forward in new, immense strides to equip the nation by 1960 to make economic warfare on the West.

Here is the 1955 economic picture, as outlined by official Soviet statistics:

The average industrial worker produced 8 per cent more in 1954. The average construction worker did 10 per cent better.

While the total wage and salary bill of the U.S.S.R. rose about 3 per cent, the number of earners went up about the same—more than 2 per cent. Thus the average wage or salary, in money or in goods, remained in 1955 about the same as in 1954.

Industrial output rose 12 per cent National income was up 10 per cent. But retail trade climbed only 5 per cent. Out of the total production increase, only a fraction went to the population in the form of more goods they could use. The overwhelming balance was left in the hands of the state for capital investment and armament.

And 1955 was the first year since 1947 that the Soviet government did not proclaim a general reduction in the retail prices it charges consumers.

Farewell To Broadway

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — This is one man's reluctant farewell to the Broadway theater world.

One of the main reasons I left a comfortable life in Kansas City 19 years ago to come to harried Manhattan was to see live actors in live plays.

The theater was my main magnet. It held an intoxicating glamour. The intoxication has departed. The hangover remains. I'll settle for television.

There are now about 30 plays on Broadway. I have seen six of them, and some under protest. Fifteen years ago I would have seen at least 25.

What happened to me, a typical theater lover? Perhaps it is the ennui of middle age that I see fewer plays. It may explain why I haven't been to an opening night in years.

But one who falls out of love usually manages to find a flaw in the object that once held him rapt. He doesn't like to admit that it is he alone who has changed. And so I pick faults in the theater, which once I loved this side of idolatry. I prefer to think it has changed more than I have.

The musty excitement, the crowding together, the waiting thrill of a curtain going up on a new world. The secret stepping off from a faded seat into a bright adventure on the state, the feeling produced by lights going down as a life situation comes up — these things I miss and miss them more as time goes by.

But going to the theater has simply become too dern much trouble.

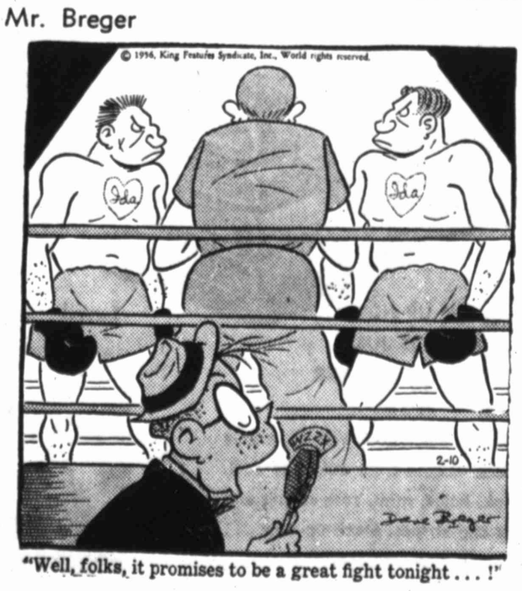

The emphasis on Broadway today is on hit shows. Those that aren't an immediate hit usually fold their tents and silently steal away.

To get to see a hit play you either have to write for the tickets weeks in advance, pay an exhorbitant price for them, or cozy up to a guy of influence.

Contrary to popular belief, a newspaperman can't walk into a Broadway show by flashing his press card. The only time I ever tried to use a press card was to borrow money from a bank, and I was turned down. Since then I have borrowed heavily from a bank across the street, hoping to drive the other bank out of business. This didn't work. While it did stir up considerable interest, I had to pay the interest.

I don't like to buy in February a seat to a play in October. I refuse to pay $25 for a quick $6.60 seat. I don't like to ask help from people of influence because they immediately expect a return favor.

Mr. Breger

"Well, folks, it promises to be a great fight tonight . . . !"

Around The Rim

Earth Not Due To Blow Up

Ever since Hiroshima and Nagasaki went up in smoke, an insidious fear has been gnawing at the world's conscience. Humanity, which cannot live forever in a state of fear, had just about got used to the ever-present menace of the uranium bomb when the U. S. exploded a hydrogen bomb, and another wave of hysteria swept the world. Pronouncements by the world's various wise men concerning the terrible power of atomic weapons merely added fuel to the fear.

Now, there is a growing fear that the human race faces extinction from atomic war. But there is a new fear spreading. It is feared that, even without atomic war, our experiments with the Unknown may start a chain reaction throughout the earth, turning our little world into a blazing sun.

Poppycock.

This fear of the Unknown has been with us since man first became aware of forces in the Universe more powerful than he. Evidence dug from prehistory indicates the first men lived in constant fear of natural forces, and evolved primitive religions to placate the spirits of the natural world. Most of humanity still thinks and acts in the same primitive way toward the Unknown. Christianity is a blessing in that it teaches us the only thing to fear is God Himself.

As for this chain reaction that would change the earth into a cauldron, let us look at the evidence. The power that keeps the sun burning consists, to put it simply, in the "solar phoenix reaction." That is, particles of hydrogen deep in the sun's interior smash into atoms of carbon, changing them into nitrogen and oxygen, and these in turn give off helium particles, turning the elements back into carbon. Each phase of the reaction gives off tremendous amounts of energy.

Pessimists like to point out the earth's atmosphere consists almost entirely of the very elements that go into the solar phoenix reaction. The air is made of oxygen and nitrogen, with carbon and hydrogen present as carbon dioxide and water vapor. Thus, say the pessimists, a hydrogen bomb of sufficient size would start the chain reaction.

Horsefeathers.

The reaction needs several things that the earth simply does not have. The reaction works in the sun only because of the tremendous heat and pressure, and it works only deep in the interior. The reaction needs plenty of hydrogen (the sun is more than 90 per cent hydrogen). The earth simply is not big enough to sustain the reaction. Even were our planet, through some magic, transformed into an incandescent ball, no solar pheonix reaction could take place, and the planet would cool back to a solid state.

Nor could all the nuclear weapons we could produce wipe out all life on the earth. True, an all-out war might reduce the world's population to a comparative handful. But, there would still be life and living, and the survivors would never slip back into savagery. Civilization is primarily knowledge and habit. Men, once civilized, never become, except temporarily, uncivilized. And there would be left sufficient books and tools, and knowledge in general, for the survivors to start out where their late brothers left off.

There is a dangerous possibility in fear of the Unknown. There may come a day when, through fear, we pass laws against further scientific research. If that day comes, we are more surely doomed than in any atomic war. Let's look at our history. Those nations that sought security inevitably ended up with the worst kind of non-security. Those nations that lived dangerously survived and grew.

Let's heed Gen. MacArthur's words: "There is no security on this earth. There is only opportunity."

Six Out Of 10 Voters Want Ike To Run

PRINCETON, N. J.—With President Eisenhower's four doctors gathering in Washington next Tuesday for the crucial medical examinations, the latest test of public opinion on the course the President should follow reveals these facts:

1. About six out of every 10 voters—61 per cent—across the country today say they would like to see Mr. Eisenhower run for a second term.

2. Virtually the same number now think that the President will seek re-election. As of today, 60 per cent express the belief that Mr. Eisenhower will be a candidate, compared to 56 per cent one month ago.

3. The President's personal popularity index is now within 2 percentage points of the highest it has ever been. More than three out of every four voters questioned in the survey said they approve of the way Mr. Eisenhower is handling his White House duties.

As might be expected, a person's views on the course the President should take depend to a great extent on political affiliation. An overwhelming proportion of Republicans would like to see the President run again, while Democrats are almost evenly divided.

The important fact, politically, is that two out of every three Independents—voters who do not consider themselves as members of either party—say they would like to see Mr. Eisenhower be a candidate.

Obviously, the President's final decision is his alone to make. The medical doctors can tell him his condition and explain the stresses and strains that he can stand.

Addressing the "Salute to Eisenhower" rallies, the President said: "I could devoutly wish that there were some method by which the American people could under the circumstances, point out the path of my true duty."

The Institute, by means of the latest sampling techniques, has attempted to answer the President's wish by assigning its interviewing staff to ask a series of questions of an accurate sample of the nation's voters.

Here is what this "x-ray" into the state of the public's mind shows:

"What's your best guess—will President Eisenhower run or not?"

Prior to his heart attack, Institute surveys found sizable majorities believing that the President would be a candidate, with a record 73 per cent holding this view in April last year.

Immediately following his heart attack, an early October survey found only 29 per cent believing that Mr. Eisenhower would run. Since that time, the figure has steadily climbed and today 60 per cent of the nation's voters think that the President will be a candidate.

The trend:

WILL IKE RUN?

	Per Cent Saying "Yes"
Feb. 1954	65
Dec. 1954	57
Apr. 1955	73
Heart Attack Sept. 1955
Oct. 1955 (Early)	29
Oct. 1955 (Late)	33
Dec. 1955	48
Jan. 1956	56
TODAY	60

Seventy-two per cent of GOP voters think Mr. Eisenhower will run, compared to 49 per cent of Democrats and 60 per cent of Independents who think so.

The next question:

"Would you like to see Eisenhower run?"

LIKE TO SEE IKE RUN?

	Per Cent
Yes, would	61
No, would not	25
No opinion	14

It is interesting to note that four out of every 10 Democratic voters say they would like to see the President run, as the following table shows:

	Rep.	Dem.	Ind.
	Per Cent
Yes, would	85	41	65
No, would not	7	43	20
No opinion	8	16	15

To measure the extent of the President's personal popularity today, Institute reporters asked voters:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Eisenhower is handling his job as President?"

EISENHOWER POPULARITY

	Per Cent
Approve	77
Disapprove	13
No opnion	10

This is the second highest popularity rating recorded by the Institute during the President's first three years in office.

The President's all-time high in popularity occurred in August last year following the "Summit meeting" in Geneva, when 79 per cent of the voters questioned in an Institute survey gave him a nod of approval.

Hos low point of 57 per cent approval came in November, 1954, following the Congressional election campaign.

The Perils Of Automatic Grinders

What a day! Woman's work is never done, and that's for sure. And one of the chief reasons is that we are but fashion's plaything.

No sooner did I have the dishwashing and dusting done this morning, than I was out in the kitchen grinding up my pearls.

It sounds so easy, but now, as the shades of night are falling fast, I am simply limp, exhausted by all this grinding, grinding, grinding. But if opalescent face powder made of pulverized pearls is to be the newest spring fashion, and that's what the slick fashion magazines predict, I cannot allow mere physical fatigue and a few broken household gadgets stand in my way.

I don't know whether they are making a better grade of pearls these days or a cheaper grade of kitchen equipment. But the meat grinder and the electric blender will never be the same again. In fact, I have put them out of sight until the Head of Clan Robb is in a really divine mood before I ask him if he can straighten them out or if it will just be the part of wisdom to abandon both and buy new ones.

First, I put the pearls through the meat grinder. Or, rather, I tried. I had every confidence in a grinder that had survived the granulation of such meat as I had been able to lay my hands on during World War II.

But it just couldn't seem to get a-hold on the pearls and they bounced around the kitchen like popcorn out of a skillet. Finally, the grinder got its teeth into a couple of pearls, went gr-r-r-r and, spewed out a half-dozen steel teeth.

Ah, well, requiescat in pace, old friend, and I hope my spouse will let me do the same when he finds out.

At this point in my labors how I envied Cleopatra, who solved her problem by dropping a pearl or pearls into wine and quaffing the resulting brew. But this year it is fashionable to be opalescent on the OUTSIDE, not the inside. So household hints from the Serpent of the Nile were useless to me.

But where there is a will, there is a way. This, obviously, was a job for the electric blender, a fearless contraption that bites through ice, gristle, hardtack and bristle.

So in went the pearls, beat up by this time but, as I was to learn to my sorrow, unintimidated. The sharp little knives of the blender, whirling like a dozen dervishes, made a pass at the pearls. But the pearls fought back and in 60 seconds earned a clearcut decision. The blender went gr-r-r-r and gave up the ghost.

So for my hard day's work—and my back is killing me—what have I got, Magnolia? Two defunct kitchen aids and a string of pock-marked pearls! And to think that all I was trying to do was to save money.

All of which explains why, the next time you see me, I shall not have that new opalescent look. Oh, when the head of the household finds the pieces, I'll have a new look, all right: browbeaten.

Mrs. Evans Describes Westside Center Work

The Westside Recreation Center was the subject of a talk given for the Altrusa Club by Mrs. D. T. Evans, Thursday noon, at the Settles Hotel.

Mrs. Evans, representing the United Council of Church Women, told the group of the history of the Center. It was started by members of the American Legion Auxiliary about 25 years ago, and its main use at first was as a nursery.

In 1944, the United Council took it over, assisted by the American Business Club. They have been instrumental in redecorating and landscaping it. A wading pool has been built. The Council maintains a keeper in the building at all times.

Various churches take turn about giving entertainment there; available for use are a piano, a radio, a library, a drinking fountain and a television set. The latter was donated by the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

Mrs. Evans mentioned help in entertaining given by the Modern Woman's Forum. In prospect is the gift of a movie projector, which the 1905 Hyperion Club will give in conjunction with another group.

During the business meeting, a report was heard from the executive board. Mrs. Harold Talbot's resignation was accepted. The club voted to give $25 to the Ministerial Association to help defray expenses in bringing Chaplain C. E. Thiele to Big Spring.

Announcement was made of the Trim and Fit Course to be sponsored at the YMCA.

T he local club will notify the Altrusa Club in Galveston that a member, Dr. Marjorie Kirkpatrick, is a hospital patient in that city.

Mrs. Loyd Wooten was in charge of the program, which 26 attended.

Ideas In Cafe Curtains

Cafe curtains, easy and inexpensive to make, lend an interesting fashion note to windows. Small sketches show two versions of these smart curtains. At left is detail of simple slot arrangement of pairs of buttonholes through which curtain rod is inserted. At right is detail of button-on curtains with tabs of rickrack trimmed fabric.

Button-On Cafe Curtains Give Interest To Rooms

By DOROTHY ROE

Cafe curtains can give a lift to almost any window in the house. Smart and easy to make are button-on curtains which have special fashion interest in their novel use of buttons and their gay multi-color trim.

An effective color combination is to make curtains of yellow Indianhead cotton trimmed with coral buttons and rickrack on the tabs and rows of bias binding and rickrack in brown, coral and aqua across the bottoms of the curtains. Local sewing center experts advise use of four time-saving sewing machine attachments—the buttonholer, the multi-slotted binder, the edge stitcher and the zigzagger.

To estimate the amount of material needed for a pair of the curtains, first measure the distance from the curtain rod in proper position to the window sill. Then subtract two inches from this length, to allow for the button-on tabs across top; and add four inches for the seam at top edge and the hem at bottom edge. Using fabric 36 inches wide, double the final measurement to determine the total yardage needed for each pair.

To make a pattern for the scalloped facing at top, it is suggested you cut a strip of paper 4½ inches by 36 inches. Measure in 1¾ inches from each short edge and mark, to allow for side finishes. Now divide the distance between those two marked points into five equal sections, placing a mark every 6½ inches straight across the pattern. Connect these points with a curved line, using a round bowl or plate as a guide for marking, to outline a series of scallops about two inches deep.

Using scalloped paper pattern as a guide, cut material for facings. Cut lengths of material for curtains. Turn a one-inch hem in side edges of curtains; then turn a three-inch hem in bottom edge, and stitch. Press hems. On the facing, turn under the bottom edge ½ inch. Also turn under the side edges 1¼ inches so that the facing fits curtain. Edgestitch and press.

Place the right sides of curtain and facing together and stitch ½ inch from scalloped edge. Trim this edge to within ⅛ inch of stitching and clip curves. Turn facing to wrong side and press. Slip stitch curtain and facing together at side edges.

Using the buttonholer attachment for the sewing machine, make a buttonhole in the point of each scallop, starting ½ inch below the top. Decorate the curtain with rows of bias binding and rickrack as desired. Use the edgestitcher attachment for your sewing machine to stitch the bias and rickrack together as they are being applied to the curtain.

To make the tabs on which the buttons will be sewn, cut long strips of fabric 1⅛ inches wide, allowing six inches of material for each tab. Using a double thickness of material, bind edges together with bias binding, employing the multi-slotted binder for the sewing machine. For applying the rickrack to the tab strips, use the edgestitcher or the zigzagger attachment for the sewing machine.

Cut the long trimmed strips into six-inch-long tabs. Fold each tab in half, to form a loop; sew on button, one inch from cut edges. Overcast raw edges together. Slip loops over curtain rod, and button curtains to loops.

A variation of this idea, employing the buttonholes as slots for the curtain rod rather than for use with buttons on the looped tabs, is another quick and attractive way to make cafe curtains. Make the curtains as described above, but eliminate the tabs. Then, using the buttonholer attachment, place a pair of buttonholes in the point of each scallop. Slip the rod through these openings when hanging the curtains. This method requires no buttons, rings or clips and gives the finished curtains a crisp, perky look.

Garden Club Has Program On Pruning

A program on "Pruning of Shrubs" was given by Jimmy Eason of Eason Acres for the members of the Planters Garden Club Wednesday. Sixteen were present when they met at the home of Mrs. Sonny Rose.

"Prune according to your own locality," Mr. Eason told the group.

He emphasized that you should prune the shrubs smooth and also not to prune until all the cold weather is over, especially roses. He said that you should be sure to get all the dead wood out.

"To keep roses blooming, debud them every day. The best time to prune roses is from the middle of February until the middle of March," the nurseryman said.

On the subject of figs, he said that they should be pruned now back to six inches, for figs bear fruit on the new wood.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens presided during the business session. A report was given on the Flower Show School. Mrs. G. E. Webb and Mrs. Ennis Cochran took the examinations.

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" will be the following (390:7): "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparant discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony. Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul."

Parables on Prayer

CHRIST EMPHASIZES PERSISTENCE AND HUMILITY IN OUR PETITIONS

Scripture—Luke 17:20-18:17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

OUR LESSON opens with a question from the Pharisees as to when the kingdom of God should come. Jesus answered that it came "not with observation," that is, that it would not come in such a way that we could observe it by external signs. They were not to cry out that it is here or there, for "the kingdom of God is within you." It is a present reality.

Then briefly we must mention Christ's prophesies of the time when He will return. It will not be a happy, moral time, and He refers to the time of Noah in the Old Testament when the earth was flooded. There is also reference to the time when Lot and his wife fled the wicked city of Sodom which was destroyed by fire and brimstone. Of course, we remember that Lot's wife when she looked back at the city, a thing she had been forbidden to do, was turned into a pillar of salt.

"And He spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint." Doesn't that mean to us that when we have problems that seem too difficult to solve, instead of allowing them to overcome us, we should pray for help and then have faith that our heavenly Father will help us to solve them?

Jesus then spoke a parable of an unjust judge to whom a poor widow came asking his help in obtaining justice. At first the judge would not listen to her, but then he decided that he had better help her or she would wear him out with her persistence. God never wearies, but gives His help to those who trust in Him as often as it is needed. The judge was heartless—fearing not God nor man. God is love.

For "certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others," Christ told the parable of the Pharisee and the publican who went to the temple to pray. The Pharisee thanked God that he was not sinful like others. He fasted when a fast was the order of the day; he tithed his possessions. In fact, he boasted of his virtues to the Lord, who knows all hearts.

The publican dare not lift his eyes to heaven, so, standing with bowed head, he struck himself upon his breast, saying, "God be merciful to me, a sinner."

Which man was the more worthy? Not the self-satisfied Pharisee, but the publican who confessed himself a sinner and asked God to help him.

The last verses of our lesson tell the beautiful story of the mothers bringing their little children to Christ that He might just touch them. The disciples rebuked the mothers, probably thinking that Jesus was too busy to be occupied with these little ones, but Jesus called them to Him and said, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not; for of such is the kingdom of God.

"Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child shall in no wise enter therein."

So, little children, pray to the Lord when your childish minds are troubled, and He will help you, even as He aids your parents and all the men and women who call upon Him. Jesus set us an example of prayer. He prayed often, sometimes all night.

MEMORY VERSE

"The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."—James 5:16.

Illness Takes Congress Veteran

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Chauncey W. Reed (R-Ill), who had announced plans to retire from Congress because of ill health, died yesterday at the age of 65.

Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, said a "chronic illness" caused Reed's death at the suburban Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital. Members of his family were with him at the time.

Reed, a resident of West Chicago, had served in Congress for 21 years. He had been state's attorney in Du Page County for several terms before entering Congress in 1935. He was senior Republican member and a former chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Reed is survived by his widow, two sons and a daughter. Services will be held in Illinois.

Boy Kills Himself To 'Test' Theory Of Reincarnation

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)—A newspaper carrier boy shot himself to death because, he said in a note, he wanted to investigate the theory of reincarnation.

Dick Swink, 19, was found dead in his pickup truck. By him was a note saying:

"They say that curiosity kills a cat. Well, I'm a cat and I'm very curious. I am curious about this Bridey Murphy story so I am going to investigate the theory in person. Swink."

The Bridey Murphy story is a book dealing with reincarnation.

The youth's mother is Mrs. William Wright, Harko, Ill.

Before you say your prayers, there's something I want to tell you. Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world.

On World Day of Prayer children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place.

Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it.

You are lucky children, because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darlings, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished . . . ask Him to bless everyone.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Soviet Press Plays Up Balloon Charge

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press today played up sensationally Moscow's charges that American weather balloons "captured" in the U. S. S. R. were shown to be devices for aerial reconnaissance. The press made no mention of a U. S. note promising to keep the weather balloons away from Soviet airspace.

The official Communist party newspaper, Pravda, and the government paper, Izvestia, devoted five of their six columns on their pages to yesterday's spectacular news conference at Spiridonovka Palace. At that conference the Russians displayed balloon envelopes and equipment and charged that the weather balloons were part of an American "brink of war" policy.

The space was devoted to pictures and accounts of the news conference and carried identical headlines: "About the release by American military organs of balloons into the airspace of the Soviet Union."

All the accounts, although not mentioning the U. S. reply to official Kremlin protests, used the following words:

"The U. S. government has not taken any steps at all (to halt the release of balloons). Moreover, flights of balloons, particularly those fitted with reconnaissance equipment and displayed here, have lately assumed a wide scope, creating great danger both to air traffic and population."

Another facet of the anti-American attack showed up in the trade which charged the United States was trying to use the issue of Cyprus to seek new military bases on the Greek island of Crete. Cyprus, a British colony, is headquarters for Britain's Middle East forces. Nationalists seek union with Greece.

David Wright In Youth Symphony Event At Dallas

David Wright, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Wright, 607 E. 4th, has been playing this week in the Youth Symphony Orchestra of the Texas Music Educators Association in Dallas.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wright, 1106 Amber, Wichita Falls, and he is a student in Reagan Junior High in that city. He started playing the violin when he was 10 years old and his grandfather gave him his first violin.

At first he took lessons only at school in connection with his classes but for the past three years he has taken private lessons, too. Last summer he earned enough to buy himself a new instrument, passing the original one to his brother.

He made a recording of parts of a concerto that he had studied, and judges chose him out of several hundred applicants on the basis of the recording. David is concertmaster in the junior high orchestra.

Police arrested two men for gaming. It is alleged that they were "shooting dice" at Cline's Cafe.

George Craft, 701 E. 3rd, reported his overcoat was stolen.

Ike Plans Visit To Hospital For Physical Exam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Eisenhower may go to the Army's Walter Reed Hospital tomorrow to start a new full-scale physical examination.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said however, he had no definite information on Saturday plans.

This latest medical examination is scheduled to be concluded Tuesday. The four doctors who will make it may announce their findings that same day or wait until the next morning.

The outcome could be a factor in the President's decision whether to seek re-election. However, he told a news conference Wednesday that he is more likely to base his decision on how he feels than on the doctors' report.

Atnip pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and court costs.

Science Finds Why Heart Victims Live

ROCHESTER, Minn., Feb. 4 (AP)—Heart research is revealing a reason why some children born with deformed hearts manage to live as long as they do.

The finding could improve their chances of life even more, and aid in selecting the type of surgery to overcome their defect.

It concerns the pressure under which blood is pumped to the lungs, or to the rest of the body.

In healthy people, the heart pumps blood to the whole body at higher pressure than is needed to send it only through the lungs and back to the heart.

But some children are born with only one ventricle, or lower chamber of the heart, instead of two. Or there are big holes between the two chambers, so blood flows back and forth between them.

These are the pumping chambers. One pumps blood to the lungs for new oxygen. The other pumps it on the much longer route through the entire body after the blood has returned from the lungs.

If there is only one pumping chamber, or defects so that in effect there is only one chamber, then the heart is forcing blood to the lungs and to the rest of the body at equal pressure.

Such pressure could quickly damage blood vessels of the lungs, or result in too little blood being pumped through the body. Yet many children with such defects live for a number of years.

Dr. Jesse E. Edwards, pathologist of the Mayo Foundation for medical education and research, finds that they live because the artery leading to their lungs is thicker and stronger than normal. It can stand the higher pressure, or require pressure so high that enough blood is routed to the rest of the body.

In effect, he says, these children have a pulmonary or lung artery that never grew up. Before birth, this artery is always narrower and thicker than other arteries. The unborn baby does not need to have blood circulate through his lungs, because he gets oxygen from his mother.

Humanity As Goal Stressed In Talk Before K-F Club

A preachment on the theme that it's time to talk and think about "what's right with America" was delivered to the Knife & Fork Club Thursday night.

The speaker was Betty Roadman, a character actress of the films, who preferred to talk about home-like things than about movies. She wove into her words of patriotism her recollections of a journey to the Pacific islands right after World War II, when she was a member of a touring cast sent over to entertain "stranded" military men.

Here, she reported, she found evidence of young America's basic love for home and country, of tolerance and of fortitude.

In pleading for the practice of common humanity, Mrs. Roadman said "the atom bomb can never restore it, nor can the dollar redeem it." She felt that the world will reach its continual goal of peace, only when it can be based on such cornerstones as justice, truth and fraternity.

America, she pointed out, is the leader of the world, and can lead the way toward peace provided its people keep these principles uppermost.

District Attorney Guilford Jones said he plans to initiate extradition proceedings. Dowling was arrested Thursday in Maywood. He left Big Spring Jan. 30, officers said.

Nunez Appeals For New Trial

Tiburcio Nunez, under life prison sentence following conviction on narcotics charges, has filed a motion for a new trial in district court.

Nunez claims the jury's verdict is "contrary to the weights of law and evidence." He also alleges that the district attorney, in his argument before the jury, called on the panel to consider "prior convictions and past misconduct" of Nunez in assessing punishment, contrary to instructions of the court.

Nunez was found guilty Feb. 2 of possessing marijuana last Oct. 21. The jury set the life imprisonment penalty.

His motion for a new trial was filed today by his attorney, George T. Thomas. Nunez is being held in the county jail.

Lions Getting 9th Minstrel In Shape

Orland Johnson, who is directing this year's production of the Lions Minstrel, put the chorus and specialty acts through the paces Thursday evening and pointed for another general rehearsal Monday.

Meanwhile, endmen in the 9th annual production at the City Auditorium next Thursday and Friday evenings were holding separate sessions. They get together with Gil Jones, Mr. Interlocutor, during the weekend for more work.

Johnson has several numbers for the minstrel chorus, which also is the Howard County Junior College Chorus. There will be solo numbers for Jim Cramsie, Arnold Marshall and Patty Gregory, a dance by Betty Farrar, along with novelty events by two groups of youngsters, and a selection by the Sportsmen Trio.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd is to be the barker at the traditional intermission "candy sale."

All net proceeds of the minstrel will be turned to the Club's welfare and youth work, including a contribution to the Lions League of Texas camp for cripped children at Kerrville. Last year the Big Spring Club gave more than $800 to this camp and had half a dozen crippled youngsters in the Big Spring area taking part in the camp.

'Wet' Snow Covers Ground, Gives .1 Inch Of Moisture

Moisture up to .1 of an inch was received here Thursday night in the form of a 'wet' snow which covered lawns and rooftops but melted on streets.

Webb AFB reported its first precipitation in the form of a slight drizzle at 4:23 p.m. Thursday and the drizzle, sleet, and snow fell intermittently until 1:57 a.m. this morning.

The weather station at Webb recorded .1 of an inch of water from a half inch of snow. The snow was falling the heaviest about 7:45, when visibility was cut to one and a half miles.

The Experiment Station on the north city limits recorded .07 of moisture from the same amount of snow.

Although the snow blanketed the ground, streets here were clear because of the moderate temperature and the warmth of the pavement. Only on overpasses and bridges were the roads iced over in the area.

Reports from Lamesa showed slightly more moisture than in Big Spring.

Sleet started falling there about 4:30 p.m. Thursday with slightly more moisture coming from the sleet and snow.

Colorado City was blanketed with one and a half inches of snow as the precipitation grew heavier eastward.

An inch of snow was reported at Garden City and was termed very wet. The same report was received from the Elbow community.

Fair and continued cold weather is forecast for this afternoon, tonight and Saturday. The mercury is expected to rise Saturday afternoon. Low tonight is expected to be around 20 degrees and up to 50 Saturday.

Mead's Bread Plant Closes

The Mead's bread baking plant at 18th and Gregg has shut down this week, and there has been no announcement on plans for the unit.

Local retail outlets are being serviced with bread produced in other area plants of Mead Bakery, Inc.

The bread plant here, operated independently of the cake shop at Sixth and Main, has been serving outlets in approximately a score of counties in this general area.

Bob Mead, who has been in charge of operations of the plant here, could make no comment Friday. Efforts to secure information on plans from John Bingham, Wichita Falls, general manager of Meads Bakery, Inc. have been unsuccessful. Bingham said last week in Oklahoma City he could not talk at that time.

The bread plant annually has turned out around seven million pounds of bread in some 20 varieties.

Pupils Illustrate Music Objectives At Kiwanis Meet

Kiwanians got a tuneful explanation of the elementary school music program Thursday.

Ten girls from the 6th grade classes at College Heights presented a program after Mrs. Bill Griese, director of the elementary music program, had explained the objectives and mechanics of music for youngsters in the lower grades.

In the first series of folk songs from Bohemia, Czechoslovakia, Wales and Chili, the girls illustrated how music is correlated with other school work—geography in this instance.

Then fo rtwo- and three-part harmony they did "Cherry Pink in Apple Blossom Time," "Big Brown Bear," and the "Lord's Prayer."

Also demonstrated were the auto harp, the mello harp and the maracas, used in the music program.

Accompanying the group was Mrs. Mickey Butts.

HCJC Registration Deadline Is Today

Deadline for registration at Howard County Junior College falls at 5 p.m. today for the spring semester, and already 630 individuals have signed for courses.

This is up about 15 per cent over the total registered for classes in the autumn semester.

In some courses, enrollment has reached such a level that class sections had to be closed, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, president.

Monaco Confusedly Readies For Nuptial

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Pastrycooks, millionaires, dressmakers and champagne merchants are running around Monaco making plans for the wedding of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier III. Since a border-to-border car trip takes hardly five minutes, many happy Monacans don't know whether they are coming or going.

There's talk that the French battleship Jean Bart will anchor off the coast to fire a 21-gun salute on the wedding day, April 18.

Shipowner Aristotle Onassis is reported to be dickering for a rare book value at $3,000 to give the couple. The president of the organization which runs the gambling casino, Pierre Rey, has obtained "full powers" to put a little diamond trinket for Miss Kelly on the expense account.

The prince's personal chef, with colleagues from the casino and swank hotels, is planning menus blending the wines and foods of the region into royal proportions.

Officials of the principality figure on a $2,500 fireworks display. The figure is being criticized by many effervescent citizens, who talk as though nothing short of burning the town can do justice to the affair.

The picturesque cathedral will be banked with flowers in red and white, the colors of the principality. A 200-yard red carpet from the church to the palace will be unrolled.

Everyone expects Miss Kelly to arrive April 16 and for the couple to leave five days later on the prince's yacht for a Mediterranean honeymoon.

After five days of celebration, including gala balls, garden parties, diplomatic receptions and a lot of spontaneous riviera festivities, the royal couple and the principality will probably be ready for a rest.

Plead Guilty In Kidnaping

LAREDO (AP)—Two Milwaukee brothers pleaded guilty yesterday to federal charges of kidnaping an Air Force lieutenant Nov. 5 after they broke jail here.

Spiro and Michael Karabelas were charged with forcing Lt. Edward McCabe and his wife to drive them to Nuevo Laredo after the jail break. Mexican officers chased them back to the Rio Grande. They swam the river back to Laredo and were arrested.

Federal Judge James Allred withheld sentences. He dismissed charges of unlawful escape from federal custody.

State Senator Reportedly Got Stock Shares In Surety Firm

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Chronicle said today state Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas had informed it he was given 500 shares of stock in a Dallas insurance company which he "helped."

The senator was vice chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee when he accepted the stock.

He said the stock was given to him "about the spring of 1953" when he became a director of the company, the Robert E. Lee Life Insurance Co.

"I sold the stock after I resigned from the board in late 1954," Parkhouse said, "and got $14 a share, or $7,000 for it."

The stock was given to him by the company president, Frank Lee, and Ben Kohen, chairman, Parkhouse said.

The senator, who is in the advertising business, said "I helped them (Lee and Kohen) on account of friendship and they wanted to show me they appreciated it."

"Lee and I had been friends for a number of years and I spent considerable time on the company," he said.

The senator said there was nothing wrong about his connection with the company, and that he had never talked about insurance legislation with the officers.

"I can represent anyone I want to when I am out of the Senate chamber," he said. "But when you enter the Senate door you are supposed to forget your other connections. That's the way I try to operate my business."

Parkhouse said he appeared before the State Insurance Commission for the company "about three or four times" on minor items.

One of these appearances was before he joined the board, he said.

Lee refused to say how many shares of stock Parkhouse received.

"He wasn't given any," Lee said. "Anything he got was for expenses or something of that kind."

Lee said Parkhouse had gone to the commission with him "once or twice."

"He was with me merely to introduce me," Lee said.

"I don't really want to get mixed up in this but no investigation would hurt us or George (Parkhouse)."

Lee said Parkhouse got a $1,200 loan from the insurance company in October, 1952.

"He was not a director at that time," Lee said, "or connected with the company. It was strictly a mortgage loan and of the same type I would make to you or anyone else."

Senate Panel Okays Rigid Supports Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—An election year farm bill which combines President Eisenhower's soil bank plan with the rigid price supports he says would nullify it was approved early today by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Brushing aside the President's contention that such action would "defeat the main object of the soil bank," the committee confirmed the 8-7 vote last Saturday by which it had tentatively approved supports at 90 per cent of parity for wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts.

Going beyond its Saturday action, it added special provisions to benefit dairymen and growers of burley and flue-cured tobacco, and voted to figure parity prices on the higher of two formulas.

Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to producers in relation to their costs. An older formula was replaced this year by a newer one which had the effect of lowering parity prices on most crops.

Chairman Ellender (D-La) said the alternative provision, adopted by a 9-6 vote, could prevent a drop of about 13 cents a bushel in wheat supports and lesser amounts on other basic crops.

The committee, which started work yesterday morning, went beyond last midnight before completing its bill, which still must be drafted into final legal language. The measure then will go to the Senate.

Ellender said he expects Senate debate to get under way about Feb. 20. And he predicts "a big fight."

A return to the higher rigid support program would knock out the flexible support program which the Eisenhower administration pushed through in 1954. Setting the levels on a flexible scale between 75 and 90 per cent, it was designed to reduce overproduction by paying farmers less when their crops were not needed.

Eisenhower proposed this year to supplement the flexible program with a soil bank plan, under which farmers would be paid to plant less of the surplus crops than their allotments under the control program.

He and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have contended that heavy government-owned surpluses acquired under the high-level support program have kept farm prices down. Once this surplus is absorbed, they said, farm prices will react to normal market conditions.

The Senate committee approved the soil bank idea, along with authorization of 750 million dollars to pay for it. Another 350 millions was authorized for a conservation reserve, under which any kind of land could be planted to grass or trees for periods of 3 to 15 years.

To the kinds of farmers Eisenhower had proposed to make eligible for the soil bank payments, the committee added growers of burley, fluecured and some types of cigar filler tobacco.

Reversing an action of last Saturday, it also approved an increase to a minimum 80 per cent of parity in support levels for milk, butter and cheese. The House already has approved such a provision. Dairy products now are supported at 75 per cent of parity.

Despite objection by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), the committee voted that the corn growers must abide by acreage restrictions to be eligible for the soil bank payments. Such a requirement now exists for price supports, but the restrictions are not mandatory on corn as they are on other basic crops.

The committee also defeated 8-7 a proposal by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) for special premium payments to farmers who market lightweight hogs of 180 to 200 pounds.

But the committee retained a special 250-million-dollar authorization to bolster market prices of pork, beef and other perishable farm products not under regular support programs.

The measure also includes a two-price plan for rice, which Ellender had proposed as an experiment.

Full support prices for wheat were limited to that of good milling quality produced in states designated as commercial wheat areas. Support levels for other wheat would be based on its value as livestock feed.

Added also, a provision would base cotton support levels on average staple length instead of the present ⅞-inch middling. Opponents contend this could lower cotton supports about 3 cents a pound.

The committee left in the bill a provision to sell surplus cotton for export at competitive world prices, but cut out a section that would have allowed domestic sales, at reduced prices, of the amount of cotton that would have been grown on retired soil bank acres.

The bill as finally drawn was ordered sent to the Senate by a 12-3 vote. Three senators—Anderson (D-NM), Williams (R-Del) and Schoeppel (R-Kan)—voted against the bill. Ellender said some others reserved the right to oppose some sections of it on the Senate floor.

Falangists Lower Boom On Students

MADRID (AP) — Spain's dominant Falange party declared today its militants will permit no further student demonstrations to spill blood in Madrid streets.

Government sources said a 19-year-old Falangist who was shot through the head in yesterday's demonstrations was still alive in an "extremely grave" state.

Twenty others were injured, four of them seriously, and 50 were arrested in the attack by several hundred students on provincial headquarters of the Falange.

Oklahoma Firm Gets AF Contract

TULSA (AP)—Harmon Construction Co. of Oklahoma City, made the apparent low bid of $646,360 on building of airmen's dormitories at Perrin Air Force Base in Grayson County, Tex., Army Engineers said yesterday. The government estimate was $665,884.

Cop's First Shooting In 30 Years Is Himself

DETROIT (AP) — Detective Inspector Charles Searle, a Detroit policeman for 36 years, is in a hospital today with an injured foot. He shot himself when a cocker spaniel puppy grabbed his leg while he was cleaning his pistol at home. "First guy I shoot in 30 years turns out to be me," he said.

Accuracy, Not Grammar, Comes First Says Expert

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—It ain't how you say it but what you say that's important, according to Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, an expert in language.

"It doesn't make any difference whether you say 'is' or 'ain't' as long as what you say is accurate," he lectured an Oklahoma A&M institute on management communications yesterday.

Dr. Hayakawa is a professor of English at San Jose (Calif.) state college.

"The most important thing," he added, "is not to make a grammatical statement but to make it accurate. Once it is accurate, you can make it grammatical later.

"As taught now, basic English courses have no connection with the communication process."

Emphasis on meticulous grammar in most American schools is in a large measure to blame for the trouble students seem to be having with their own language, Hayakawa said.

"Exercises in diagraming, paragraphing, punctuation and other things are just so much routine unrelated to life's purposes."

'Sound' Acts Could Have Saved Surety Firm, Accountant Says

DALLAS (AP)—An accountant who said he quit U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. after deciding it "was in a questionable state of solvency" expressed the opinion yesterday that "sound business practices" could have saved it "even last fall."

Felix Einsohn, certified public accountant, said his break with the Waco firm came last fall when he refused to prepare for its president, A. B. Shoemake, "certified financial statements inconsistent with my evaluation of the facts."

Einsohn, head of a leading Dallas accounting firm, said he told Shoemake he couldn't consider preparing any certified financial statement not based on his own findings.

U.S. Trust is in receivership. Shoemake is in a McKinney Veterans Hospital with a bullet wound he fired through his head in a suicide attempt.

Einsohn is under subpoena to testify before a state Senate Committee investigating Shoemake's operations.

"I want to clear the air," the husky, personable accountant said during an interview at which he issued a formal statement.

"I was retained by U.S. Trust just as I am retained by other companies. My operations were in all ways perfectly legitimate. I must point out it is nothing unusual for a firm to need the services of a certified public accountant!

Yet I note that I have even been called a man of mystery. Well, I want to let the public know I own no black cloaks. I'm just a CPA who located in Dallas after I got out of the Air Force in World War II. Like most CPA's, I am available to all who need my services."

Shoemake needed a CPA "who could examine the finances of his companies as well as contribute some sound financial advice," Einsohn continued.

"In seeking such a CPA, Mr. Shoemake consulted a Dallas insurance executive and asked if he could make a recommendation. It happens that I have had experience in curing the ailments of some financially ill companies and the insurance executive recommended me."

Einsohn said his connection with the firm began in July and ended in early September.

"We never did conclude our examination of the records of the U.S. Trust and Guaranty and its affiliated companies and withdrew during the first week in September.

"Our withdrawal was hastened because we refused to consider requests by the management to prepare certified financial statements that were inconsistent with our evaluation of the facts."

Einsohn said some of Shoemake's help was incompetent.

"In one instance I found an inadequately trained clerk in control of a million or so dollars worth of loans."

Floyd's Thunder Is Stolen By 2 Boys

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Furman's Darrell Floyd, who seldom takes a back seat in scoring, was just another guy with a jump shot in college basketball last night as George Washington's Joe Holup and NYU's little Tom DeLuca stole all the thunder.

Floyd, defending national scoring champ and one-two with Ohio State's Robin Freeman this season, packed away 32 points, but got only half from the field. DeLuca's 39 led usually inept NYU to a 100-85 upset.

Holup, a good steady man for the Colonials, broke out for 47 points, a team record, as GW shellacked Richmond 103-84 and took over first place in the Southern Conference.

Floyd, under guard first by Bill Shelley and then Ray Eplan, got off 22 shots, but sank only eight.

Richmond, which last Saturday upset former Southern Conference leader West Virginia, was in the game until shortly before the half. Then the Colonials popped in eight fast baskets for a 48-43 edge.

Elsewhere, Duke, the nation's eighth-ranked team, obtained a little more breathing room atop the Atlantic Coast Conference standings with a 74-59 decision over Virgina. Brigham Young, with Terry Tebbs canning 24, gained similar padding in the Skyline by drubbing Utah State 92-62.

Houston defeated Bradley 82-70 and moved within half a game the Missouri Valley Conference leader, St. Louis, whom the Cougars meet tomorrow night.

Columbia was knocked off its unbeaten Ivy League high horse, but not out of the lead, in a 71-70 defeat by Dartmouth.

And Manhattan made a big step toward the NIT with an 83-81 victory over St. John's of Brooklyn in a driving layup by Jack Powers with just 7 seconds left in the game.

Duke rode past Virginia with ease as Ronnie Mayer scored 26 points, including 10 straight that pushed the Blue Devils into a 40-27 halftime edge.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS AT UW RESIGNS POST

SEATTLE (AP)—The man who fired four University of Washington coaches in 10 years gave himself the ax last night in a bid for harmony at the troubled institution.

Stepping out as athletic coach was Harvey Cassill, center of an ever-growing storm of protest since he gave the boot Jan. 27 to Cowboy Johnny Cherberg, the football coach.

Cassill's departure, accompanied by lengthy expressions of regret from top university officials, followed by less than a day a closed session of the university's Board of Regents.

The regents would say nothing about their night session beyond a statement they had been "brought up to date." Conferring with them were Dr. Henry Schmitz, president of the university; H. P. Everest, vice president; and Nelson Wahlstrom, comptroller.

Cassill in turn conferred with Everest yesterday, leaving the late afternoon meeting after proferring his resignation.

"In no other way that I can see," Cassill wrote, "can our program be straightened out, policy re-established and the university go ahead."

Referring to his dismissal of Cherberg, which was followed by much public discussion of university athletic policies and an investigation by a legislative subcommittee, Cassill said:

"Recently, I had a difficult decision before me with respect to John Cherberg. Whether it was John's fault or not, the facts clearly and conclusively indicated that the situation was beyond recovery as far as his problem was concerned. . . . I find myself in as untenable a position as I found Cherberg to be in."

Cherberg was fired after a player revolt in November followed by the regents ordering his rehiring for the next year in a December meeting. When he was let out it was explained Cassill felt Cherberg had failed to restore harmony as he had promised the regents.

Mickey Has Always Fared Poorly Against Yankees

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—There's another good reason beside the obvious one why Mickey McDermott shouted "whoopee" when he was told the New York Yankees had acquired him from Washington.

The lean left-handed pitcher has had little success against the Bombers, winning only four games and dropping 16. Last season he did not beat them.

Against the rest of the American League, Mickey's lifetime mark is 61-43.

The cream of Latin-American baseball, including many major leaguers from the United States, will see action in the Caribbean championship series opening in Puerto Rico tomorrow night.

Among the major leaguers are Sandy Consuegra of the Chicago White Sox, Ed Bailey of Cincinnati, Hector Lopez of Kansas City, Humberto Robinson of Milwaukee, Ron Mrozinski of Philadelphia and Daryl Spencer of the New York Giants.

Spencer, incidentally, is being touted as a top second baseman by Herman Franks, former Giants' coach and a manager in the Puerto Rican circuit this winter.

In New York yesterday, Franks said, "Spencer can do a good job at second. The kid played there for Caguas and not only did he hit, but he fielded like crazy.

"Bill Rigney may change his mind about using Foster Castleman or Wayne Terwilliger there when he sees the way Spencer handles the position."

Could be the Chicago Cubs are banking on a brother double play combination in the next few years.

Ben Banks, a second baseman, signed a Cub contract yesterday and was assigned to the Lafayette, La., team in the Evangeline League.

Brother Ernie, of course, is the solid man in the Cubs' infield at shortstop.

The Boston Red Sox already are touting three players as top candidates for American League rookie-of-the-year honors in 1956. The trio is Frank Malzone, a third baseman; Marty Keough, an outfielder; and Don Buddin, a shortstop-second baseman.

Buddin, an all-state high school football player in South Carolina, is getting a tryout at second base.

"I know one thing about him," said Boston Manager Pinky Higgins, "he won't mind it much when they take him out while he's pivoting on a double play."

Williams Gets HPC Promotion

BROWNWOOD (AP)—Bennie Williams was promoted today to head football coach and athletic director at Howard Payne College.

Williams, assistant football coach for eight years, succeeds Guy Gardner, head coach since 1953 who resigned to become head coach of Denison High School March 1.

Gardner came to Howard Payne from Borger.

Williams attended Howard Payne before World War II, then returned after combat service with the Marines in the Pacific. He was captain of the Yellow Jackets in 1947 and received honorable mention for the Little All-America Team.

Williams also was head basketball coach in 1952-53 and 1954.

Gardner's football team won 18, lost 9 and tied 2, at Howard Payne. They won the Texas conference title in 1954 and were runners-up to McMurry last year with a 6-2-2 record.

Al Aber Signs

DETROIT (AP)—Southpaw Al Aber today signed his 1956 contract with the Detroit Tigers. He is the 23rd Tiger to come to terms, leaving 19 out of the fold.

McMahon Quint Checks Garden City In Loop

Garden City gave McMahon's Concreters a run for their money by the YMCA Industrial Basketball League pace-setters finished fast to win a 56-50 decision and stay undefeated here Thursday night.

Targe Lindsey scored 25 points for Garden City while Thompson was McMahon's top man, with 16.

In other games, Tate, Bristow and Parks Insurance Company kayoed Nabors' Paint Store, 55-38, leading all the way. Dick Gilmore tossed in 12 points for the Insurors while Walker led Nabors with 12.

Mort Denton was given a first half score by prevailing over The Daily Herald, 42-21, in the final game of the night.

Renfro led the Pill Rollers to victory, counting ten points. Don Henry had the same number for the Newsmen.

Local Sextets Win And Lose

ODESSA (SC) — Big Spring High School's A team remained in the running for the Permian Basin Girls' Volley Ball Tournament crown by defeating McCamey, 15-6, 15-6, here Thursday afternoon.

The Big Spring Bees yielded to Seminole's regulars, 9-7, 10-8, and have been dropped into the consolation bracket.

The Big Spring reserves were to play again today at 12 noon. The A's vie with Kermit at 3 p.m.

Carolyn Miller led the A teamers to victory, scoring ten points. Isabelle Holquin, Evelyn Hanson and Jane Robison each counted three for the Bees.

In other games Thursday, Midland felled Grandfalls, 15-7, 15-1; Crane won over Odessa, 14-12, 14-9; Denver City turned back Andrews, 14-10, 15-3; Monahans upset Lamesa, 15-9, 13-4; and Kermit bested the Seminole B sextet, 15-4, 15-3.

The tournament draws to a close Saturday evening.

Lausse And Boyd Taking Exams

CHICAGO (AP)— Hard-hitting Eduardo Lausse, Buenos Aires, and promising Bobby Boyd of Chicago are to take their pre-fight medical examination today at the Illinois State Athletic Commission offices.

The two middleweights meet in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night with the established weight set at 160 pounds.

The fight will be the toughest test thus far for 22-year-old Boyd. He has won 37 fights, lost 6 and fought to 2 draws. Lausse is unbeaten in 32 bouts and has scored 26 knockouts. He was held to a draw by Milo Savage in his last start, Jan. 6.

Steers Invade Monterey Gym

The Big Spring Steers return to basketball action tonight, at which time they will play Monterey of Lubbock in Lubbock.

Monterey is still very much in the running for the District 1-AAA championship and cannot afford to lose to the Steers.

Big Spring led Palo Duro, the conference leader, for a half in Amarillo last week but finally lost, 93-69.

Monterey warmed up for tonight's game by defeating Lamesa in a close one.

Probable starters for the Steers tonight are Jimmy Evans, Jimmy Bice, Jan Loudermilk, Mike Musgrove and Charley Johnson.

The Steers will be seeking their fifth conference win of the campaign.

There'll be a B team game, starting at 6:15 p.m.

Ted Lepcio Signs Boston Contract

BOSTON (AP) — The signing of utility infielder Ted Lepcio for the 1956 season was announced today by the Boston Red Sox.

Milt Bolling, a veteran, and Don Buddin, a promising 21-year-old rookie, returned their signed contracts yesterday. They will battle it out with Billy Klaus for the shortstop berth.

Hawkettes Defeat Knott, 44 To 37

HCJC's Hawkettes defeated Knott, 44-37, in a girls' basketball game played here Thursday night. HC led at half time, 27-17.

The win was their sixth in seven starts.

Baseball Notables Gather For Connie Mack's Rites

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Men who rule baseball and men who have given it lustre on the field gather sorrowfully in Philadelphia today for the funeral of Connie Mack.

Mourning with them are millions, of all ages, whose deep affection for "Mr. Baseball" is expressed in a multitude of touching ways.

To all, Connie Mack's death Wednesday at 93 was a shock, for they had grown to think of him as an indestructible national institution.

"Connie was a good guy," said one man whose sentiments were overheard in a railroad terminal. "I'm pretty cynical, and there aren't many of these big wheels I trust. But Connie was okay. I talked to him once, out at the park. He was a nice guy even when he didn't know you, when he just talked to you as he did to me, a total stranger."

Everywhere, people remember.

And in that remembering are perhaps the finest tributes of all.

They may be spoken or scrawled on crude postcards and sent to the Mack family home, where messages of sympathy have been flooding in since Wednesday afternoon, or expressed in significant silence. They are, whatever their form, the measure of a man admired the world over for his very human qualities.

Tonight the body of Connie Mack will lie in the Oliver H. Bair Funeral Home in Center City and large crowds are expected for the viewing.

Tomorrow at 11 a.m., Solemn Requiem Mass will be celebrated in St. Bridget Church, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery here. The Mass too will be open to as many as can be accommodated.

Those named to be honorary pallbearers are Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick; American League President Will Harridge; National League President Warren Giles; the owners of the 16 major league clubs; George Trautman, president of the minor leagues; Pennsylvania's two Republican senators, Edward Martin and James Duff; Governors George M. Leader of Pennsylvania and Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri; Philadelphia Mayor Richards Dilworth; Pittsburgh's Mayor David Lawrence and H. Roe Bartle, mayor of Kansas City, when Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were transferred more than a year ago; and John B. Kelly Sr., father of actress Grace Kelly and formerly a neighbor of the Macks.

Slats Won't Have To Play Short

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Marty Marion of the Chicago White Sox won't have to come out of retirement to play shortstop after all.

All three of the Sox shortstop candidates yesterday returned their signed 1956 contracts in the same mail delivery at Comiskey Park.

They are Luis Aparicio, 21, the phenomenon from Venezuela; Jim Brideweser, 28, former New York Yankee and Baltimore Oriole and Carl Peterson, 30, originally a Boston Red Sox farmhand with long experience in the minors.

Welter Title Challenger Meets Fuentes Tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — It might be smart for Carmen Basilio to watch Isaac Logart tonight in his 10-round match at Madison Square Garden with Ramon Fuentes because the slashing little Cuban may be a future title opponent.

Logart's manager Eddie Mafuz already is making plans for Isaac to box the winner of the March 14 match between welterweight champion Basilio and ex-champ Johnny Saxton.

Nobody knew much about Logart a year ago, except that he had worked with Kid Gavilan as a sparring partner.

Gavilan used to watch the clock, opening with a flurry and then catching the officials' vote with another spurt in the last 30 seconds. Not Logart. He usually sets a killing pace and keeps it up all night, slamming to the body with his left hook.

"He is better fighter than Gavilan ever was," said Mafuz. Logart won't get in the argument. Several times he has refused to box Gavilan because "it would be like hitting my brother."

Fuentes, rated No. 3 to Logart's No. 5 in the latest Ring rankings, is a 2-1 underdog against his younger opponent. Fuentes has a 35-6-1 record.

Isaac, only 22, started fighting at an early age and has compiled a 40-1-5 record for 50 starts. He is seven years younger than Fuentes.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 10 p.m., EST.

Fund Is Started For Joe Louis

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Five guys who don't like to see the great Joe Louis crowded by the "revenooers" have started what they hope will turn into a nation-wide fund drive to get the ex-heavyweight champion out of his income tax jam.

The idea hasn't exactly been an immediate sensation, but the five sponsors did get eight dollars yesterday, their first day in business.

They deposited it in a special bank account they've opened under the name of the "Joe Louis Income Tax Fund." They've also rented a box at the post office.

The idea of the campaign was born in the Sunshine Barber Shop. Three of the sponsors, Alex Gross, Cecil Huling and Henry Hernandez, work there as barbers.

"If all Joe's fans who feel the same as we do will cooperate," Hernandez said, "this deal will be a cinch." Hernandez and his colleagues figure Joe is about a million dollars behind on his taxes.

Gross said the Internal Revenue Bureau has informed them that if the money collected is sent directly to the Treasury Department, and not to Louis, the gift tax won't be levied on it.

Steers Launch Spring Drills

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Longhorns baseball team, beaten out of the Southwest Conference title last year for the first time in 12 season, starts practice Wednesday anxious to make amends.

Coach Bibb Falk will get his first look at 35 candidates but on paper the Longhorns stack up already as a big threat to wrestle the title away from Texas A&M.

A big "if" in the Texas plans is the need for a second front-line pitcher to go with sophomore star Harry Taylor. Also, there are only six of 16 lettermen returning.

Sophomores and transfers will carry the burden with the brightest hope for mound success in letterman Oren Buckellew, a strong-armed righthander.

Shreveport Has 20 Men Signed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Shreveport Sports of the Texas League have 20 players on the dotted line for the 1956 season.

Latest to sign are Ray Knoblauch, a pitcher who is expected to be the ace of the Sport staff this season, and Jack Fuller, who had a 21-12 record with Alexandria last season.

Yearlings Advance In Own Tournament

Bowie Upset By Locals

Charles Caraway's resident Yearlings, defending champions in the second annual Big Spring Junior High School basketball tournament, staged perhaps the biggest upset in the first day of the meet by nudging Odessa Bowie last night, 47-44.

Bowie had twice beaten the Big Springers by 15 points during the regular season and had been favored to go to the finals.

The game was extremely close and hard fought all the way. Big Spring led at the end of the first period and again at the half but Bowie was in command, 37-35, after three periods.

A free shot of Franklin Williamson put the Yearlings out front to stay late in the fourth. The superior play of Benny McCrary around the baskets and Charles Russell's defensive work had much to do with the Big Spring victory.

In other games, Bonham of Odessa outlasted Snyder, 51-45; Midland Cowden turned back Stanton, 54-39; and Odessa Crockett upended Coahoma, 45-26.

Midland San Jacinto, Colorado City, Lamesa and Andrews—all of whom drew first round byes—see action for the first time today. Action was to be resumed at 1 p.m.

Championship finals are scheduled for 8:45 p.m. Saturday. The game for third place starts at 7:15 p.m. Consolation finals are scheduled for 6:00 p.m.

Hogs And Rice In SW Battle

By The Associated Press

Six Southwest Conference basketball teams take to the hardwood Saturday night but Arkansas and Rice have the most at stake.

The Razorbacks will be risking their No. 2 spot in the conference race when they meet the Rice Owls in the stellar loop game of the week at Houston.

The Hogs now have a 6-1 conference record but a loss to Rice, now with a 5-2 mark, would tie the two squads up for the second spot.

The Owls' two conference losses have been to the Hogs and the Southern Methodist Mustangs. The Hogs' sole loss was to the Mustangs, leading the loop with a 7-0 record. The Mustangs are idle this weekend.

Of the other four teams seeing action Saturday night, the Texas Aggies will be the only one who won't be fighting to get out of the conference cellar. The Cadets have managed to break even so far with a 3-3 record.

A&M journeys to Waco for a tilt with the Baylor Bears while Texas is host to Texas Christian at Austin.

Baylor, Texas and TCU are now keeping each other company in the conference cellar, all with the same lusterless 1-6 conference record.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

From the mailbag:

Dear Mr. Hart:

The purpose of this letter is to take friendly issue with you on a statement in "Looking 'Em Over" concerning the Steer basketball players. But first let me tell you how amazed I am at the calibre of football and basketball played by your Texas prep schools, and especially basketball, at least in this conference. I did my prep and college basketball playing in Kansas—where basketball is the most popular sport. Actually, Big Spring has a very good basketball team—in spite of its record.

But back to the issue. I understood you to mean, that Big Spring, like Lamesa, has a well balanced team without outstanding players worthy of All-Conference honors. I agree that its a well balanced team, and ten players should be selected and I would like to see you promote this idea. But let's look at the record as I have it from the area newspapers.

	Top 20 Scorers	Top 10 Scorers
Big Spring	4	2
Palo Duro	3	3
Monterey	3	2
Sweetwater	3	1
Plainview	3	1
Levelland	2	1
Lamesa	1	0

With four players in the top twenty would indicate that the Steers are high in team scoring, which they are. They have simply given up more points—the most according to the record—which also indicates that they are weak on team defense. I have seen all the games, and their best was when they used man to man. They seem to do all right individually on the zone. Back to the scoring. Reduced to the top ten scorers the Steers still place 2, Palo Duro (the best) 3 and Monterey 2. Now, Mr. Hart, I believe that a player—or players—in or near the top 10 scorers at season's end are deserving of consideration of All-Conference selection. I hope I have thrown new light on the subject and you will reconsider and back these boys. Scoring, of course, is not all-important, rebounding and floor play rank close—but the ability to score still remains the most important phase of any game. Lamesa outplayed us all over the floor and rebounded equally as much, if not more, yet Big Spring, letting up, still won the game.

In closing, I would like to say that I have enjoyed my stay in Big Spring. I have enjoyed reading your column.

Charley Gillespie, the Lubbock writer, says Bill Stages, now of W. B. Ray School in Corpus Christi, may be the man who replaces Pat Farris as head coach at Tom S. Lubbock High in Lubbock.

Farris, incidentally, was shoved. He didn't jump.

Fidel Alvarez, who hurled for Big Spring around 1951, will follow Earl Perry from Port Arthur to Roswell of the Southwestern League.

Alvarez, who couldn't get started here, was a big winner for Perry and Company two years ago.

Three more teams have joined the American Business Club Relays field.

Wayne Bonner has entered Anson High School. Lamesa and Snyder are also coming, bringing to 15 the number of teams already entered, with the big meet still nearly two months away.

Of the 20 boys who received varsity football letters at Snyder High School recently, 11 are seniors. Five of the nine reserve letter winners will also graduate in May.

The last time I heard, A. J. Green, president of the Southwestern League, was trying desperately to interest the people at Ballinger into fielding a team in the Class B circuit.

He'll probably fail there, since the town wouldn't even support a Class C team several years ago. Pecos is a bare possibility. A Longhorn League club was talked about for that circuit some time ago and some of the citizens near the site where the park was to be located, objected, so the idea was dropped.

Green has an unenviable job, trying to interest some town in the orphan franchise, the one first offered to Big Spring.

PAR BATTERED

Youth Takes Over In Tucson Play

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Youth was in command today as the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament went into the second round.

Gardiner Dickenson Jr. of Panama City Beach, Fla. and Bob Harris of Chicago, have never won a major tourney but they played like veterans yesterday. They shared the first-round lead with 32-31—63s for the 6,434-yard, par-70 El Rio course.

Don January of Abilene, Tex., carded 32-32—64, one stroke behind the leaders. This is only the second pro event in which he has played.

The three unheralded former national collegiate stars didn't go over par on a single hole. They played the best tournanent golf of their careers as pros.

The winter circuit seldoms sees such an assault on par as is going on here. Yesterday 52 pros and three amateurs bettered par. Another 11 of the field of 139 equaled it. Excellent greens are expected to keep today's scores almost as low.

Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn., last year's winner is one of half a dozen with 4-under-par 66s.

KTXC TO AIR TWO CONTESTS

Radio Station KTXC Big Spring will carry play-by-play broadcasts of both HCJC basketball games this weekend.

The Hawks meet Amarillo there tonight, then move on over to Clarendon for a Saturday night contest. The broadcasts will start at approximately 7:55 p.m. each night.

Vincel Larsen will again describe the action.

Hawks Head North For 2 Critical Zone Contests

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks head north today to play two important West Zone basketball games.

The local collegians, encouraged by a 19-point decision they scored recently against Odessa, meet Amarillo tonight and Clarendon on Saturday.

Amarillo has been spoiling for a return game with the Hawks ever since it lost to the Big Springers here in January. The Badgers are always tough on their home court, as they have proved time and again against HCJC.

The Badgers recently upset Odessa, the pre-season favorite, in a game at Amarillo.

HCJC can ill afford to lose to either team. The locals have already been defeated by Frank Phillips, which currently is leading the conference standings.

Amarillo will be without the services of Jumping Jim Hensley, one of its regular players. Hensley failed to make his grades and is ineligible. That proved quite a blow to Coach Bob Carter.

The Hawks have their work cut out for then in Clarendon. The Bulldogs field a small but mercurial club, one that recently scored 100 points against HCJC here.

The locals won that one by jumping into a lead early in the second half and simply outshooting the Bulldogs, 106-100.

Coach Harold Davis was content to run no patterns and use a straight man-to-man defense. Tomorrow night, the Hawks will probably go into a zone against the Bulldogs.

Davis will probably start his regular lineup against the Amarillo ans tonight. That means Wiley Brown, Ray Crooks, Ertis Davis, Charles Clark and Jimmy Robinson will be on deck at the starting whistle.

Al Kloven, Jimmy Castleberry, Mike Powell, Buddy Mayes, Jim Blassingame, Max McCulloch and Clint Alexander can expect to see a lot of action, however.

Bumgardner Nixes Offer From Tulsa

SAN ANGELO (SC) — Max Bumgardner, head football coach at San Angelo College, has turned down an offer to become an assistant mentor at Tulsa University to remain on his present job.

Bumgardner visited Tulsa Wednesday. He was offered the position of end coach under Bobby Dobbs.

Coahoma Girls Win Honors In South Half Of District

COAHOMA (SC) — The Coahoma High School girls won the South Half of the District 4-A basketball championship by defeating O'Donnell, 46-37, here Thursday night.

Patty Frances played a major role in the win, scoring 18 points. However, Burna Rogers of O'Donnell was top point-getter with 19.

Coahoma, which now boasts a 4-0 record in the conference, led at half time, 26-23.

Dub Behrens' Coahoma boys won their second straight 4-A game by belting O'Donnell, 40-34, in the other game.

The Bulldogs' record is now 2-3.

The Bulldogs, who play in Seagraves tonight, jumped to a 22-14 lead at half time and were never headed.

Coahoma's girls will compete in the Hermleigh Tournament tonight, meeting Trent in a first round game at 6:30 o'clock.

Stanton Loses To Seagraves

STANTON (SC) — Seagraves retained its leadership in District 4-A basketball standings by winning a 69-45 decision over Stanton here Thursday night.

Seagraves is undefeated in conference play after five starts. Stanton now has a 1-4 record.

Phillips and Middleton led Seagraves with 20 and 15 points, respectively. Corky Blocker helped keep Stanton in the game with an 11-point effort.

Seagraves also won the B game, 51-38. Reggie Myrick was Stanton's top scorer in that one, with 12 points.

Dawson County Residents Form Cotton Group

LAMESA — One hundred and 15 Dawson Countians Thursday afternoon formed the Lamesa Cotton Growers Association.

They named a board of 16, four from each commissioners precinct of the county.

Directors then elected Arthur Morris, president, D. L. Adcock Sr. vice president, and W. K. Crawley secretary-treasurer.

Directors include Pct. 1 — Jim Dunn and Bill Anderson, farmers, J. E. Griffin and E. A. Hargrave, ginners; Pct. 2—Wright G. Boyd, businessman; D. L. Adcock, ginner; A. E. Hale and F. T. King, farmers; Pct. No. 3—Moss and Frank Broyles, farmers; Hayes Walker and Clyde Branon, businessmen; Pct. No. 4—W. K. Crawley and Carlos Berry, businessmen; Carson Echols and Cecil O'Brien, farmers.

Ex officio members of the board are E. C. David and Ben Dopson, the two Dawson County representatives on the board of directors of the Plains Cotton Growers Association.

Moss named these committees: constitution and by laws, Broyles (chairman), O'Brien, Hale and Branon; membership and finance, Berry (chairman), King, Dunn, Walker, Echols and Anderson. The group decided to incorporate and empowered officers to borrow money until the permanent method of financing is developed.

In the larger meeting, over which J. M. Merrick presided, David outlined the background of the Plains organization and brought growers up to date on that organization's activities.

"If we had had an organization like this a year ago and had gone to College Station and fought we would not be taking an acreage cut this year," he said. Dopson added that "if the county doesn't fight for cotton, every man, woman and child in the county will lose." Vote for organizing was unanimous.

Pack No. 29 Cubs Feted At Banquet

Cubs of Pack No. 29, sponsored by West Ward School, and their parents held their Blue and Gold banquet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Twins Cafe.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, spoke to the group and J. L. Daughtery gave an illustrated talk on stocks. Those attending had an anniversary birthday cake, but they also regarded it as a birthday cake for Mrs. Bill McRee, wife of the Scout executive.

Among special guests were Mrs. Ruth Rutherford, principal of the West Ward school; Mr. and Mrs. McRee, and W. E. Holman, treasurer of the pack, who gave a financial report.

Cubs had prepared the place cards, the favors of snowmen for the dads and corsages for the mothers. Thirty-seven attended.

Lamesans Attend FFA Awards Dinner

LAMESA — Two Lamesa High School vocational agriculture pupils and their instructor, A. H. Essary, left Friday morning for San Antonio where they are attending the annual Houston State Future Farmers of America Awards banquet.

They are Johnny Grissom, area II vice president, and Bud Hale, last year's state vice president.

WHAT'LL IT BE . . .
CHICKEN OR CHILI?
The Herald Newsboys Will Know By Feb. 12!

Yes, the annual "Chicken or Chili" Contest between Herald Newsboys is here again! These lads—more than 50 of them who serve you – are now competing in a two-weeks friendly game of business, and then they'll get together for a big party—one they look forward to all year! At that party, the winning team will sit down to a plate heaped with fried chicken, with all the trimmings, while the losers must be satisfied with a bowl of chili and crackers. But it'll be fun, and the contest is a worthwhile enterprise for every one of them!

These Are The Boys Behind Your HERALD!

Herald Newsboys during the "Chicken or Chili" contest will be testing their mettle as little businessmen. Two teams will be in friendly competition, each out to best the other in such practices as signing up new subscribers, in making prompt delivery of papers, in giving good delivery service to all customers, in making prompt collections, so that they can be prompt in paying their own bills, and in taking active part in The Herald Newsboys' meetings and activities. It all means that the most energetic boys, and the best business boys, will get to eat good old fried chicken.

'Mad Dog' Killer Is Picked Up In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Indiana officers were coming to San Francisco today to return Leslie (Mad Dog) Irvin, velvet-voiced slayer of six who was captured quietly in a pawn shop on Market Street yesterday.

Irvin, 31-year-old Evansville pipe insulator sought throughout the nation, was picked up when he tried to unload two diamond rings he admittedly took from a home at Redondo Beach, near Los Angeles.

"I wasn't too surprised," he said in an interview. "I've been expecting to get picked up for quite a while."

His arrest was coincidental. Inspectors John O'Keefe and Leo Ferraggiaro dropped in to the Market at Third Street pawnshop routinely. Said O'Keefe:

"He acted suspiciously, as if he didn't belong to the diamond."

Irvin, who was unarmed, produced identification of Victor Davis of Los Angeles, pianist with Tex Williams' Western orchestra. He spent one night, Jan. 28, at Davis' apartment after thumbing a ride with the pianist.

Irvin had hitchhiked from Princeton, Ind., where he escaped Jan. 18 from the Gibson County Jail.

Irvin was convicted Dec. 20 of fatally shooting W. Wesley Kerr, Evansville filling station attendant. He was charged also with slaying five others: Mrs. Mary Holland; Mrs. Wilhelmina Sailer, in her country home near Solitude, Ind., and three members of the Goebel Duncan farm family, near Henderson, Ky.

He was awaiting transfer to Michigan City, Ind., for execution June 12.

Arrested here, Irvin was taken to the Hall of Justice and booked simply "en route to Los Angeles," a holding charge.

"After we told him we had talked to Victor Davis, he said, 'You want to know who I really am?' Then he said he was Leslie Irvin and wanted in Indiana for killing six people," O'Keefe said.

"I wouldn't hurt anybody," Irvin said. "All the way out here I got along fine with people and they were very nice. I was recognized twice that I'm sure of, once by a motorist outside Springfield, Mo. and by a truck driver at Cozad—that's in Nebraska. But I knew he was calling police so I left, in a hurry."

Convicted Killer Dies On Gallows

MONTREAL (AP)—Wilbert Coffin, 43-year-old backwoods handyman, died on the gallows early today for the murder of a young Pennsylvania hunter.

Maintaining his innocence until the last, Coffin went silently to his death after authorities turned down his last appeal.

He was convicted of slaying Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa. The bear-gnawed bodies of young Lindsey, his father Eugene Lindsey, 47, and Frederick Claar, 20, were found in the wild Gaspe bush country of Quebec in 1953. Police said they had been shot.

British Compromise On Hanging Develops

LONDON (AP)—The British government is standing firm for hanging murderers, but it has agreed to amend the law to make exceptions. It introduced a motion for parliamentary debate next Thursday laying the groundwork for degrees of murder, similar to U. S. law. Present British law demands the gallows for a convicted murderer.

Egypt Spurns Reds, Okays Western Aid For Big Dam

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The West and not the Soviet Union is going to help Egypt build its vast high dam on the Upper Nile River, the biggest construction project in Egyptian history.

Egypt agreed yesterday to accept a 200-million-dollar loan from the World Bank to help finance the huge construction three miles wide and 300 feet high. With that, the way was eased for the United States and Britain to supply another 200 million dollars in direct grants for the project, expected to cost $1,300,000,000.

Egypt will put up the rest.

Western diplomats hailed the agreement as an important victory over the Soviets in the battle for influence in the strategic Middle East. The Russians also had offered to help build the big dam at Aswan, 600 miles up the Nile from Cairo.

Some Egyptian officials saw the agreement as evidence of their government's determination to remain neutral in the East-West cold war.

"We bought our big arms consignment from the Communist bloc last fall," one said. "To balance that we prefer having the West build the high dam."

A joint communique announcing the preliminary agreement was issued by Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Eugene Black, American president of the World Bank, after a series of conferences.

Results of the conferences will be referred to the Egyptian Cabinet and to the 58-nation bank's Board of Directors for approval.

Informed quarters said Egypt also must reach an agreement with the newly independent Sudan on sharing the Nile waters before getting the loan.

The final agreement with the bank may not be signed for four or five years, officials said, because the U.S. and British grants will be used first.

Nasser invited Black to Cairo for talks on terms of the loan after Egypt objected to the bank's laying down certain conditions for the proposed assistance.

Informed sources said the conditions remain virtually unchanged. But to keep from appearing to "surrender" to the bank's terms, Egypt in its application for the loan will voluntarily propose to abide by the original terms.
