'Big Bill' Wins In Mayoralty Race

Thompson Paces Lyle And Albert By Heavy Lead

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. — "Big Bill" Thompson, invincible as ever, won his fourth mayoral nomination in the republican primary election today, defeating by a plurality estimated at 45,000 the crime-battling judge, John H. Lyle.

With less than 800 precincts missing, Chicago's cowboy mayor had corralled 200,343 votes, while Judge Lyle harvested 164,680 and Alderman Arthur F. Albert, leader of anti-administration forces in the city council and a partisan of Senator Charles S. Deneen, trailed with 70,916.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP) — A city wracked for weeks by the clamor of a vituperative political campaign withdrew into unwonted silence today to write its preference in the quadrennial mayoral primary election.

The political life of "Big Bill" Thompson, thrice mayor, hung in the balance while a tremendous outpouring of ballots weighed his administration against the appeals of a crime-fighting municipal judge,

Four Towns And "Suburb" Are Represented At Annual Dinner; A. H. Leidigh, Grady Shipp Make Talks

BY J. SAM LEWIS
(Staff Correspondent)

ABERNATHY, Feb. 24. — Four towns and a new "suburb" were represented tonight at the annual banquet of the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce when more than 175 persons sat down to a bountiful feast prapered and served by the girls of the home economics department of the high school.

Ray Pinson, vice-president of the chamber of commerce, presided as toastmaster and introduced the speakers and guests. Anton, Petersburg, Plainview and Lubbock had representatives as well as Tuco, the Texas Electric company's new power station north of town.

Visitors Welcomed

George W. Ragland, president of the chamber of commerce, welcomed the visitors. He outlined the activities of the organization the past several years, stressing the fact that the business man and the community were united in the work.

A splendid musical program was given by local talent. The Abernathy orchestra furnished music for the occasion. Mrs. Ebb Coffman sang a solo, with Mrs. Leonard Harral at the piano and Miss Margaret Thompson also sang with Miss Lucile Heggen accompanying her. Gene Brock rendered a violin solo with Mrs. Harral at the piano.

Leidigh Talks

Dean A. H. Heidigh of the School of Agriculture, Texas Technological college, Lubbock, spoke on behalf of Lubbock. Dean Leidigh pointed out that the function of the "small town is to serve the people of its community." He spoke of the "supreme, undying optimism of West Texas," and what it has accomplished in the building of towns

Admit Expenses Used For Miniature Golf Course

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 24. — Cross-examination by government counsel of the first defendant called late today in the case charging the Greater Metropolitan Marriage Endowment association with being an illegal lottery brought the admission that the company had no reserve fund defined as such and that funds designed for "expenses" were used to finance a miniature golf course.

J. D. Jones, secretary of the company and first of four defendants to take the stand testified he was a cleaner in a tailor shop prior to becoming an official of the company. He went into the business in January, 1930, he said, when he and Henry W. Spencer organized the Western Matrimonial Trust company in San Angelo. Spencer was president of the Great Metropolitan and was one of the defendants in the present case. The others charged were Roy E. Tittle and M. L. Chandler. Another defendant, Glenn H. Fairall, has not been arrested.

Had 200 Members.

Jones testified that by May, 1930, the Western company had about 200 members. These paid $15 down for a policy which had a face value of $1,000 after one year. Members were assessed $1.25 upon the marriage of any member and two semi-annual $1.25 assessments for general expenses. If a member married after three months and before six months, policy holders insured against marriage were to receive $250; if after six months and before nine, $500; after nine months and before 12, $750, and if after one year, $1,000. He testified that the company had

Prisoner, Wife Commit Suicide

SEARCY, Ark., Feb. 24. (AP)—Frank Jones, a prisoner, and his wife who had come to visit him, drank poison and died in a close embrace in his cell in the county jail here today.

Jones was 35 and his wife 25. He had been in jail since February 11 on a highway robber charge. The woman had been in the jail only 15 minutes when they killed themselves.

Both left notes addressed to Sheriff R. L. Smith, who found her dead and him dying on the cell bunk after the jailer's wife had heard moans and summoned the sheriff.

She asked the sheriff to take charge of her five-year-old daughter and place her in a good Shepherd home. Her note said they "are leaving this world together because I can't live away from him." Jones note merely thanked the sheriff for good treatment.

Warning Sounded Against Bringing Up Prohi Issue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—A new warning against the reported movement to bring up the prohibition issue at the March 5 meeting of the Democratic national committee was voiced in the senate today by Senator McKellar, Tennessee.

Predicting the best prospect for Democratic success in 1932 since the 1912 victory, McKellar protested, however, "We cannot win on a wet or high tariff platform." He believed it was not the function of the national committee to adopt a platform.

Meanwhile, no word came from Chairman Raskob, who called the special meeting, as to his reported intention of seeking an anti-prohibition stand by the committee.

Clyde Thompson Denied New Trial; Sentenced To Death

EASTLAND, Feb. 24. (AP)—Judge Elzo Been today overruled a motion for a new trial of Clyde Thompson's sanity case and sentenced Thompson to die in the electric chair, Friday, May 8.

Thompson was convicted for killing A. L. Shook in this county September 7, 1928.

State Witness Charged By Defense Counsel In Murder

PAMPA, Feb. 24. (AP)—The state's principal witness, Paul Nisbet, was accused by the defense today of the killing of C. H. Taylor, for which Charles "Chuck" Wilson is on trial here charged with murder.

The accusation was made by Mrs. Charles Wilson, wife of the accused man, in her testimony heard just before the trial recessed for the day. She said she recognized Nisbet as the man who held up herself and Taylor and shot the latter when he resisted.

Lubbock Attorney Appears As Representative Of Small Bus Companies; Says Railroads Buying Up Stock

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 24.—From the plains of West Texas came J. C. Levens of Lubbock today to charge before a joint hearing of the senate and house highway and motor traffic committees that the major motor bus companies of Texas were owned by railroad companies. He said the railroads, where they did not own the bus companies, had bought up much of the stock.

Levens, who said he represented two small bus companies, said the railroads and the motor transportation companies were waging a fight at this time. He said the fight started between the railroad companies themselves.

Heard By Committee

Levens was one of the many speakers who have appeared during the course of the hearing opened by the two committees yesterday. The hearing was continued last night. Committeemen expected the hearing to continue at least 12 hours.

J. Allison, Breckenridge, appeared in the interest of the Oil Field Motor carrier. He said there was no outspoken objection to regulatary measures from this class of carriers. He asked that these carriers be expected from proposed weight standards. He called attention to the weight of machinery moved by oil field haulers. He said the group was willing to be regulated in order that human lives and the high-

One Killed And Thirteen Are Injured When Cotton Truck Sideswipes Bus En Route To Austin From Houston

(By The Associated Press)

BRENHAM, Feb. 24. — A truck-bus accident which took one life and injured 13 persons, two seriously, was under state investigation today. Several of the passengers were University of Texas students.

W. W. Warner, advance agent for Roxy's Gang, a New York musical troupe, was killed when the bus, bound for Austin from Houston, was "sideswiped" near here last night by a cotton truck, whose driver, L. L. Fowler of Elgin, was charged with murder.

Two Seriously Hurt.

The two seriously injured were Misses Mary Elizabeth Wright of Houston, teacher of languages in the Giddings High school, whose head was crushed, and Bessie Black, principal of the high school, who suffered a broken left arm.

The two teachers were brought to Brenham for treatment, and Warner's body was held pending instructions from relatives. The showman was dead before arrival here.

Advised of the occurrence, State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, at Austin, dispatched two state highway patrolmen to investigate, and Mark Marshall, director of the state railroad commission's motor transportation division, likewise began an inquiry.

Hundred-Year-Old Groom Thinks Two Can Live As Cheaply As One; Marries

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 24. (AP)—Even though times are hard in Arkansas, two still can live as cheaply as one, thinks John Still, of Prairie Grove, 100-year-old Confederate war veteran, who today took Mrs. Mary E. White, 71, as his bride.

The aged man drove up to the Washington county courthouse with his bride-to-be, inquiring at the county clerk's office, "is that the place to get hitched?" he ordered a "pair" of licenses.

Judge J. Lona Slaughter quickly married the couple. Immediately after the ceremony, the bride took the marriage license from her husband, saying it was "her property" and they smiled and walked out together.

Changing Pact To Five-Power Treaty Looms

Italy And France May Adhere To London Naval Agreement; Conditional Accord Hailed With Satisfaction

By JOHN EVANS

ROME, Feb. 24. (AP)—Transformation of the London Naval three power pact into a five power treaty, with Italy and France adhering, appeared a distinct probability tonight.

Word the British foreign minister, Arthur Henderson and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty had left for Rome to present a conditional accord reached in Paris was hailed with satisfaction in circles conversant with Italian official views.

Settlement In Sight

In these same circles it was considered the basis of the Franco-British accord, as far as it was known in Rome, generally was acceptable to the foreign office. As R. L. Craigie, British admiralty expert, initiated the conversations and as Italy has been constantly in touch with them through diplomatic channels, it was taken for granted the British officials were coming to Rome because they knew a settlement was possible.

The accord, it was felt in circles close to the government, would not require sacrifice of Italian prestige or relinquishment of Italy's stand for parity in naval tonnage with any continental European power. Frances' paper superiority of 107,000 tons over Italy, it was observed, relatively amounts to little. Under the Washington agreement France has superiority of 100,000 tons in battleships, but Italy on the other hand has theoretical parity which it is not using.

Resolution For Abolition Of Short Sessions Passed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—After many years of controversy, the house tonight adopted a resolution to abolish the short or "lame duck" sessions of congress by the overwhelming vote of 289 to 93.

The measure goes back to the senate. It provides for an amendment to the constitution to drop the short session of congress after the biennial November elections. It also would permit a newly elected congress to be seated January 4 instead of 13 months later and a newly elected president January 24, instead of March 4.

Five Testify For State In Hawkins Case

Second Murder Trial Of Defendant Starts At Floydada; Is Charged With Slaying His Aged Father-In-Law

Sentence Reversed

State Expected To Rest Its Case Today; No New Evidence Introduced Tuesday; Given 50 Years In First Trial

FLOYDADA, Feb. 24. (Special).—Five witnesses went on the stand for the state today as taking of testimony got underway in the trial of Joe Hawkins for the murder of his father-in-law, S. M. Walker, before Judge Kenneth Bain.

The state probably will rest its case Wednesday morning, District Attorney A. J. Folley said tonight. First day's testimony, which began at 1:15 p. m., did not include any evidence new to the case, according to the district attorney.

Given 50 Years

The state criminal court of appeals recently allowed a change of venue from Crosby to Floyd county and the case was remanded for new trial. Hawkins originally was sentenced to 50 years in the state penitentiary.

Witnesses who testified Tuesday were: Dr. W. C. Snow, J. S. McCain, Floyd Brents, Eugene Brents, and Elmer Reed, sheriff of Crosby county.

Two and a half days is expected to be necessary to hear the case, for which a large number of witnesses have been subpoenaed by the defense.

Durwood Bradley of Lubbock, district attorney, is assisting Mr. Folley. Defense attorneys include R. H. Hempleton, Wellington; E. A. Watson, Crosbyton and L. G. Matthews, Floydada.

Selection of jurors was completed shortly before the noon recess. Ju-

Plan To Send Rail Protest

Chambers Of Commerce Here And In Five Other South Plains Towns Will Oppose Proposed T-P Consolidation

Following a conference with citizens of their respective municipalities, chambers of commerce of six or more South Plains towns will telegraph protests to C. V. Terrell, chairman of the state railroad commission, objecting to a proposal of the Texas and Pacific railway to consolidate two trains between Dallas and Sweetwater.

Contending that the consolidation would interfere with mail delivery schedules throughout this area, Lubbock and other South Plains towns were intervenors at a hearing Friday at Sweetwater before Chairman Terrell on the Texas and Pacific application. The hearing was continued.

Decision Reached

Lubbock, Slaton, Tahoka, Amherst, Littlefield and Plainview chamber of commerce secretaries attended a meeting here Tuesday at which decision was reached to send protests to Chairman Terrell. The reservation that such intervention would not be effected until citizens of the towns had been consulted was not expected to eliminate any of the proposed protests, as mail delivery would be delayed as much as 24 hours of the railroad's appli-

Posse Seeking Bandits After Robbery Fails

Two Bashful Bandits Give Up Robbery When Girl Refuses To Become Terrified By Their Guns; Hide In Woods

(By The Associated Press)

REDWATER, Feb. 24. — Two bashful bank robbers, who drove away in an automobile when a girl refused to be terrified by their pistols, and who later abandoned the car in a creek along a muddy country road, were hiding in wooded country six miles from Redwater late today. A posse about 100 strong, led by a state ranger and another girl, who took a shotgun and joined the chase, was hunting for the men.

Shortly before noon the pair, both about 20 years old, entered the Guaranty Bond State bank here and leveled guns at Cashier R. W. Hanks and Miss Eura Langston, 20-year-old teller. They ordered the girl to open a door leading from the lobby into the interior of the bank. Instead, she stepped into another room. The robbers hesitated a moment, then fled.

Passersby noted the number of the car. It had been stolen from Leon Missildine, New Boston merchant, a few hours before.

Ranger Ben McDuffie organized a posse of men from neighboring towns and took up the chase. The posse was joined by Miss Katherine Jones, 22-year-old daughter of the Redwater postmaster.

A few hours later the robbers' car was found mired in a shallow creek. A negro farmhand told posse members that he had seen the men running across a field about a mile from the place where the car was found. And the posse began a search of wooded country in the vicinity.

Rotary Anns Are Honor Guests At Annual Program

A George Washington motif added a holiday touch to the annual Ladies' Night program of the Lubbock Rotary club Tuesday night at the Lubbock hotel. A group of about 100 Rotarians and Rotary Anns attended the dinner affair.

Dr. W. A. Jackson, Rotary club president, presided at the dinner, which began at 7 o'clock in the ballroom of the Lubbock. General chairman was Rev. Walter P. Jennings.

"George Washington" was the subject chosen by the principal speaker, Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college. Extending the scheme of decorations in observance of Washington's birthday, the menu included cherry pie.

Invocation was delivered by Rev. Mr. Jennings, after which group singing was led by Ethridge Eagan, organizatons director of the First Methodist Episcopal church, accompanied at the piano by W. W. Rix.

Extemporaneous talks were made during the dinner program by Mrs. E. L. Robertson, Mrs. W. P. Jennings, Mrs. Charles J. Wagner, and Spencer A. Wells.

Permanent Organization Made Of The West Texas Municipal Association At Session Here

Mayor Leon Goodman Of Midland Named President Of New Group; Immediate Session To Be Requested With West Texas Gas Company Heads To Ask Slash

By CHAS. C. WATSON

REDUCED natural gas rates and an audit of books of the West Texas Gas company by a public accountant would be asked at a proposed conference between officials of the West Texas Municipal association and the gas company.

Representatives of about 20 cities of this section assembled here Tuesday announced that the gas company would be asked to grant such a conference. Attitude of the company at the meeting probably would determine the future course of action by the municipal association.

Organization Perfected

Permanent organization of the association was perfected at Tuesday's meeting, which got underway with a luncheon session at the Lubbock hotel. Mayor Leon Goodman of Midland was elected as president of the association.

Other officers named included:

First vice-president, Mayor J. J. Clements of Lubbock; second vice-president, Mayor J. B. Cardwell of Plainview, and third vice-president, Mayor E. D. Ireland of Hereford. A secretary-treasurer will be appointed by President Goodman.

Invitations to membership in the association soon will be mailed to all cities in the area commonly known as West Texas. The by-laws provide that an initial fee of $25 shall be paid by each city and that the fee must be in the hands of the president by April 1.

Controversy Taken Up

The controversy between West Texas city governments and gas companies regarding allegedly excessive rates held a major share of the association's attention at Tuesday's session.

A number of resolutions were adopted regarding the gas situation. All resolutions were referred to the executive committee for final action.

To Seek Competition

One of the principal resolutions proposed and approved was for efforts on the part of West Texas cities in obtaining competition in the distribution and sale of natural gas. "The cities should band together and grant franchises to in-

Supreme Court Sustains Law

Validity Of 18th Amendment Unanimously Upheld Against Contention Of Judge Clark Of New Jersey

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—With vigor and emphasis, the supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the Eighteenth amendment.

In a clearly worded and unanimous opinion, it sustained the validity of the amendment against the contention of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey who ruled it had been improperly ratified.

Battle Transferred

The decision, announced by the court's youngest member in years and service, Associate Justice Roberts, transferred the perennial battle over the liquor laws to the field of revision or repeal.

It placed the entire question upon the shoulders of congress and lent an added significance to the much discussed and much disputed report of the Wickersham commission.

The Clark decision was based upon a contention the amendment to be valid should have been ratified by state popular conventions rather than by the state legislatures.

Counsel supporting Judge Clark's position argued the fifth article of the constitution differentiated between amendments making changes in governmental machinery and those affecting the liberties of the people. Amendments of the latter category, it was contended, must be submitted by congress to state conventions.

Huge Gas Well Is Burning Unchecked As Crowds Watch

WEWOKA, Okla. Feb. 24. (AP)—With flames shooting 200 feet into the air, a big gas well of the Deep Rock Oil Company was burning unchecked tonight, one mile south of here.

The fire lighted up the countryside for miles, and hundreds of people watched the spectacle.

An explosion in a separator attached to an oil well 25 yards from the gasser, set both the gas and the oil well on fire.

Public Utility Bill Taken Up By Committee

City Pitted Against City In Hearing On Petsch Measure To Regulate Utilities In Texas; Opposition Made

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 24.—City was pitted against city today when the house committee on state affairs started consideration of the bill by Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg to provide for establishment of a state commission to regulate public utilities.

Several city representatives opposed the bill, claiming it would be too great an expense for the good it would accomplish. Other city representatives denounced the public utility companies and claimed a crying need existed for a commission that would have power to investigate them fully and determine the charges that were legitimate.

Utility Heads Silent.

No representatives of a public utility took the floor, although several score were scattered around the house.

R. E. Hughes, city attorney of San Angelo, said numerous indignation meetings had been held in San Angelo to protest against rates charged. "Enactment of the Petsch bill will be a start toward an end that should have been realized several years ago," Hughes stated.

V. Earl Earp, city attorney of Sweetwater declared that although spring flowers and fruit trees had bloomed near Sweetwater last month residents were forced to pay the highest gas bills in years.

Proposal Opposed.

Resolutions opposing establishment of a state commission were adopted at a meeting of representatives of 26 cities and towns, among those opposing the bill were R. L. Wheelock, mayor of Corsicana; John C. Harris, finance commissioner of Dallas; S. M. Ward, Mayor of Decatur; Dr. J. Bert Thomas, mayor of Sulphur Springs; H. G. Towle, mayor of Snyder; C. A. Burke, mayor of Lufkin; T. O. Cheatham, mayor of Waxahachie; M. Gilchrist, mayor of Wills Point, and R. D. Albaugh, Waco city commissioner.

Most of those speaking against the bill declared opposition on the ground that its cost would be excessive and would further centralize

Ten-Gallon Hats Turned Awry As Old Timers Swap Yarns Of Pioneer Days

BY CHAS. A. GUY
Avalanche Staff Writer.

POST, Feb. 24. — Ten-gallon hats were turned awry and far-fetched stories of pioneer days were cast about with abandon here tonight as 125 men from a radius of 165 miles gathered at the annual Old Settlers dinner as guests of the Post Rotary club.

The affair was held in Rotary club hall. Bob Warren, president of the Post Rotary club, presided as toastmaster. Lubbock men at the dinner were C. A. Sheffield, S. K. Gilkerson, Ross Edwards, S. K. Bynum and Charles A. Guy.

Mr. Warren made the address of welcome. Mrs. A. W. Bouchier's five-piece orchestra played popular numbers during the dinner, which was interspersed by "speech making" and an assortment of proposals ranging from the noble to the nonsensical.

Invocation was by Rev. C. A. Jones of Post.

Mr. Bynum, who settled in West Texas in 1881, proposed that the Post Rotary club adopt a plan for erection of monuments over graves of pioneers during the 1931 encampment at Two-Draw lake of South Plains Area Council Boy Scouts. Rotarians accepted the plan unanimously and announced that they would confer with officials of the Boy Scout council in connection with a suggestion that scouts erect the monuments. First pledge of money to aid in the project was for $10 and was made by Mr. Sheffield.

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

AS MORE women in Russia take jobs, there are fewer divorces in that country, a dispatch from there says.

There are now more than 3,000,000 women at work in industrial plants and offices and during 1931 it is expected that 1,600,000 more will go to work to help relieve the labor shortage. Russian women are allowed to do anything that men are, with exception of a few hazardous occupations such as underground mining. Women are sea captains, they serve as members of the army general staff, they attend military academies, command regiments and divisions and pilot military airplanes. They go in for engineering, railroad building, are at the head of schools and assume high political positions.

They work for equal wages with men, a woman can earn more than her husband and in some instances the men stay home and care for the children while the women work. However, in more instances the children are placed in special nurseries, existing now in almost every factory, during the day and return home with the mother in the evening. These nurseries are prepared to give scientific care to the children.

There is another equity, too. If there is a divorce and the wife is working, while the husband is not, she must pay him alimony for six months.

And with all these things divorces are less frequent in Russia than they formerly were.

However little we may approve of a lot of things in Russia, the country is probably finding relief for one of the great troubles in matrimony when the women were given work to do. A lot of married women wouldn't think of getting a divorce if they did not have so much time on their hands. And if alimony paying worked for women as well as men it might make some difference, too, in our country.

I'm not offering a panacea for the great number of divorces—and they are all too frequent—but some of them could be avoided if there were less idleness among women. All the work in the world isn't done in offices either.

FOR THE UNLOVELY

CECIL BEATON, British artist, is offering balm to the unlovely ladies by telling them that they can all "knock 'em dead" if they use the right method. That's encouraging.

The secret of beauty, this man says, is to stress the right lines. If you have a wide mouth, you need never deride it for it may be accentuated to have the proper effect. A mole is a jewel, so don't try to hide it, he admonishes. The cue for a woman with a scrambled map is to flout it, he says.

That's a refreshing theory. The old one was to hide the unconventional nose or overpower the watery eyes with something else—that is, accentuate the one good feature with which everyone is, theoretically, blest.

This new method is so much more simple. I know because I've tried to hide my map and its eccentricities and it was hard. Now, I can join this new school and simply let the features take care of themselves while I believe that I'm "knocking 'em cold."

Wasn't it Woodrow Wilson who said that he didn't worry about his face because he was behind it; that the man in front who had to look at him could do the worrying?

MALE GOLD DIGGERS

ALL THE gold diggers in the world aren't women. There is, for instance, the Indian woman, who recently made a lot of money down in the Joinerville oil field in Texas who has been beseiged with proposals since then.

No wonder she was disgusted. There is an old saying that any woman can get married and there should be some sort of axiom about anyone with money can get married.

People are funny, but that is what makes life interesting.

HAIL AND FAREWELL:

ONE OF the last of the West Texas Indian fighters, Sam De Long, died the other day down at San Angelo, closing another life of colorful and adventursome era which marked the settling of this section of Texas a few score years ago.

T. A. "Dot" Babb, 79-year-old Amarillo and Texas pioneer, who was at one time an adopted member of the Comanche Indian tribe, has been seriously ill in Amarillo during the last few days and physicians have said that his chances of recovery are slight.

Those hardy pioneers who ventured to push civilization Westward to leave us a heritage of cotton fields and bustling towns are nearing the end of a long journey. Many have already gone to their rest and others are spending these mellow times in reminiscences of the stirring and romantic days of their youth. These old soldiers are marching past; soon we shall salute the last of them, but their histories shall live on in our West.

If you set your alarm clock when it is time to start dinner, you can settle down to reading or sleeping with an entirely free and quiet mind.

Crime, World Unification And Famous Author Studied

Twentieth Century, Sorosis And Athenaeum Clubs Are In Session Yesterday In Afternoon Hours

Interesting programs were given at meetings of three culture clubs of the city Tuesday afternoon. The Athenaeum club met to study crime and members of the Twentieth Century club in meeting at the First Methodist church heard a lecture by Dr. Cunningham, professor of Texas Technological college. Sorosis members reviewed the life of William Allen White and studied two of his novels.

Crime Is Subject For Hour At Athenaeum Club

Mrs. T. A. Rhodes was hostess to the Athenaeum club in her home at 2114 20th street.

"The Present Day Penitentiary Situation," was discussed by Mrs. W. L. Baugh and Mrs. C. A. Bickley told of a proposed solution. "Our Jails" was the subject of a talk made by Mrs. F. V. Brown.

There was a good attendance at the meeting.

Dr. A. B. Cunningham Is Lecturer For Club

Members of the Twentieth Century club met at 3 o'clock and conducted a brief business session.

The subject of Dr. Cunningham's address was "World Unification and the Conflict of Economic Forces."

Life Of Great Author Is Studied By Sorosis Club

The lift of William Allen White was told of by Mrs. J. T. Powell when members of the Sorosis club gathered in the home of Mrs. C. E. Roberts, 1924 29th street.

Mrs. J. C. Reynolds was leader of the program and Mrs. R. T. Campbell discussed "Elements of Folk Lore in the "King of Boyville." "The Literary Value of Folk Lore" was the subject of a talk made by Mrs. R. S. Williams. Mrs. E. L. Banks spoke on "Comparison of the Stories With Respect to Structure."

"The King of Boyville" and "The Real Issue" were the books discussed.

New Scarf Collars Possess Distinction; Coats Reach Bottom Of Frocks; Colors Are Imortant In Fashions

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. — Last Spring's revolt against standardization of clothes for women reaches its gorgeous peak in the new Spring things just being shown everywhere.

If a woman can't find her own type of clothes this year, she not only lacks personality but she has no imagination whatsoever.

The silhouette is changed only slightly, the fitted and flared line still being the preferred one, only many of the new spring coats and frocks affect a high waistline to their fittedness and no belt.

The ubiquity of the little jacket runs through the day, from the morning pajama to the silk frock or sheer wool crepe, the chiffon or lace afternoon dress and the evening gown.

When it comes to separate coats, they are very different from jackets in one respect. They always are full-length; that is, they reach to the bottom of the frocks or suits worn under them. They may be fitted line, they may have bloused waist portions and flaring skirt portions, they may be the polo coat model, and belted. But if they are separate coats, designed to be worn over any number of different things, they are to the bottom of your skirts.

Fabric contrast is outstanding in the new mode. Silks in lovely new crepey effects and semi-sheer woolens, are used together. Plaid or striped wools are used with silks. Daytime, casual designs in prints are apt to be striped, plaided, checked and small all-over patterns.

This contrast is part and parcel of the Spring mode. You can use two or three materials and two or three colors together.

Colors Spell Chic

Colors are tremendously important this spring time. Blues lead in importance, with a lighter and somewhat brighter than navy in the van. Blacks are a strong second, with greens, greys, beige and browns running along with quite a following. But with all of these colors, contrasts are used. Greens and browns appear, soft, lovely greens and medium browns. Greens and darker greens are seen, but not so many.

A new three-color combination in a whole costume is a brown flannel skit, a tomato red jacket and a beige crepe blouse and hat.

Necklines and sleeve cuffs are very feminine, and most coats, whether they use fur or not, have scarf collars of one kind or another, some fastening on the shoulder, Russian fashion, others in the back, Parisian fashion, others knotting under the chin, English Ascot fashion.

A gray congella cloth coat exploits the one-sided lapel idea, with the other end of the lapel pulling through a slit in the long lapel. Gray fox fur edges the outer edge of the lapels. This gathered effect right at the throat is a far cry from the collarless line of two seasons ago. The coat is only mildly fitted and has a slightly flaring coat, though it is much more straightline than many of this spring's. The hat is a gray felt bandeau with a lacquered quill band.

High Waistline Is Belted

A black soft wool coat is fitted to a high waistline, with a decided flare to the skirt portion of it. There is a black moire galyak closing that fastens on the shoulder, giving a cowl neckline. Open, it forms a wide one-sided lapel. The cuffs are gauntlet, stitched in row after row of stitching. A chic little black toyo hat has an amusing white feather wishbone on one side.

A suit for early spring that is tremendously smart shows the fabric contrast and the color contrast that spring encourages. There is a plaid skirt, box-pleated at intervals, of loose-woven homespun in beige, brown and rust red. There is an Ascot scarf of the same material, with fringed ends. The belted and fitted jacket is a plain tweed in beige and brown mixture and the hat of beige felt has a rust red and a beige feather in it.

She's "Miss Greece"

Greek met Greek in a beauty contest in Athens, and state Chryssoula Rozi, above, emerged as "Miss Greece." Famed as a swimmer and all-around athlete, she also has vanquished the beautiful-but-dumb theory by earning a degree at a French lyceum recently. She is to compete for the title of "Miss Europe" at Paris.

Because stoppage of construction of the Zamora-Orense-Coruna Railway in Spain had an adverse effect on the unemployment situation, the government has allotted funds for continuance of the work.

Mrs. McCrummen Is WMS Hostess

Members of the Calvary Baptist Women's Missionary society combined a business and social gathering Monday afternoon in meeting with Mrs. L. S. McCrummen, 1614 Avenue N. Mrs. Q. E. Early, the president, was in charge of the meeting, which was attended by 25 members. Mrs. A. A. Bratcher talked on "Stewardship."

Kotex protects longer
... because it absorbs away from the surface

THE secret of Kotex superiority is really very simple. It absorbs five times more than cotton and it absorbs laterally, away from the surface, leaving the protective edges dry and comfortable. That's very important.

Because both sides are equally absorbent, there's no danger of possible embarrassment by wrong adjustment. Wear it on either side with equal protection, equal comfort.

Kotex is adjustable. You can remove layers of filler as your needs change. It deodorizes thoroughly by a special process perfected in the Kotex laboratories.

And, as you know, it is so easily disposable that millions of women would not think of returning to old-fashioned methods of sanitary protection.

"The Show Must Go On"

MOTOR car dealers of Lubbock, realizing that their products are of first hand interest to the public, are planning to hold their annual show during the first week on March.

It is no secret that 1930 was a poor year in the automobile industry. Furthermore, there is no gainsaying that sales in Lubbock were little, if any better than sales throughout the country as a whole. But the motor dealers here have their faces to the fore. They refuse to let one disappointing year shake their faith in the stability of their business.

They know that the motor car is here to stay—is everywhere to stay. They know that every business sees a bad year occasionally and that it is a law of life to accept a share of the bitter along with the sweet.

So they're going ahead, like nothing has happened, and intend to show their various products to the South Plains public through the automobile show which has been made a yearly feature here.

The Morning Avalanche can do nothing less than express admiration for the motor car dealers of Lubbock; cannot help but forecast better times and an increased business.

Whenever a group of men refuses to take to cover until the business sun sines again, that group of men is going to promote new business—is going to keep the wheels turning by sheer determination.

There will be many automobiles purchased in Lubbock this year and having the show is going to stimulate the sales of that necessity of transportation.

Dates of the automobile show, March 6 and 7, at the Uptown Dance Palace, should be "marked on the cuff" of auto users and admirers all over the South Plains.

Action of the dealers certainly merits the public's support.

THE OLDEST INHABITANT

It might be worth while if those persons who are always looking for the "oldest man or woman living" were to give a little thought as to what it means when they find such an individual.

Merely as an object of interest the oldest inhabitant deserves no more comment than the tallest man, the stingiest woman or the most mischievous boy. These are traits or characteristics which bring little credit to the possessor or to the community.

It is fullness of life that is desirable; not mere length. Fortunate indeed is he whose years cover a long span of life; but more fortunate still is he who can make these years count for something in service to his fellowmen. We do not begrudge the oldest inhabitant the years he has accumulated. But the individuals who seek to enlist our interest in him could more easily get it, if we could feel that they were not unmindful of the words of the poet:

"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on the dial."

Practical Health Problems

MODERN REMEDIES ARE AIMED CHIEFLY AT CAUSE OF DISEASE

(This is the last of a series of three articles by Dr. Fishbein on prescriptions.)

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The physician has drugs which will act to stimulate the nervous system, to increase or diminish the rate of breathing, to hasten or slow the heart beat, to cause vomiting or perspiration, and in fact, to modify every activity of the human body.

It is interesting to suggest to those who feel that the mind is always superior to the body that they submit themselves to the action of some of the drugs which are known to cause vomiting invariably and to see whether or not it will be possible for them by the action of the mind alone to prevent the action of the drug. No case has yet been noted of any mind sufficiently strong to secure such a result.

There are other drugs which will increase the action of the kidney, some which will stimulate the action of certain glands within the body, and others which will substitute for these glands when these glands are disabled.

There are drugs which will prevent itching or which will soothe the skin when irritated. There are drugs which have been shown to affect certain sections of the gastro-intestinal tract, so that a physician by a proper choice can stimulate any action.

Even a small list of the drugs most commonly used by the competent physician includes very nearly 500 preparations. Thus there goes into the writing of the prescription a vast amount of study and knowledge. The research investigation of thousands of students who have worked in laboratories throughout the world behind the prescription is indeed the whole history of modern medicine.

The old-time physician used to write what the modern physician calls a "shotgun" prescription. He would inquire carefully of the patient as to each one of the symptoms concerned and prt something in the prescription to cover every indication. Thus a presiription written 50 or 60 years ago might have 10 or even more different ingredients.

The modern physician is much more concerned with the cause of disease because of the knowledge that has been developed in the pas. 50 years. Hence he is likely to recognize that as soon as the actual cause of the disease is brought under control many of the minor symptoms will be taken care of by the ordinary process of nature.

The modern prescription is, therefore, likely to be directed first to getting at the cause of the condition concerned. Additional remedies will be used to alleviate the patient's pain in order to permit him to sleep, to empty his intestinal tract, or to soothe his skin. It is not likely, however, that all of these will be combined in one prescription.

The most modern scientific method is to put into each prescription onyl the drugs necessary for some specific purpose, so that the modern prescription is likely to contain only two or three ingredients with perhaps a flavoring substance or a pleasant tasting solution to hold the ingredients together.

GOP May Not Win In 1932

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — What Vice President Charles Curtis thinks of the G. O. P.'s national chance in 1932 will be manifested in due season in a fashion there can be no mistaking.

If he considers the Republican ticket practically certain to win, he will be a candidate for renomination.

If the prospects strike him as strongly Democratic, he will ask Kansas to return him to his old senate seat—not the one on the presiding officer's platform, but behind the desk at which he formerly sat among the 96 working, voting, every-day members of the chamber.

OF COURSE all good Republicans will predict victory for their party next year just as long as there is even a theoretical possibility of it—that is to say, until the ballots have been counted, when, if the G. O. P. is beaten, they reluctantly will have to admit as much.

Thus their words (for publication) may or may not reflect their real judgment.

Curtis will make the same partisan claims as the rest of them, but in his particular case everyone will know what his honest-to-goodness opinion is—if he is running for the vice presidency, his confidence will be genuine; if for the senate, there will be no question that a streak of profound skepticism modifies it.

CURTIS EVIDENTLY enjoys the vice presidency. It probably was something of a disappointment to him at first; he wanted to be the Kansas City convention's presidential choice. However, it seems unlikely, as experienced a politician as he is, that he did not realize he stood little chance of it.

Still, the post of understudy to the chief executive carries plenty of distinction with it. Curtis, after all, is a naive old man, and quite obviously he likes it. Besides, despite its votelessness, his complete familiarity with senatorial proceedere has enabled him to develop it into a position of considerable influence—much more, for instance, than General Dawes ever possessed as vice president.

Nevertheless, the Kansan needs a job. At 70 he is a poor man, entirely dependent on his official salary. A defeat at the polls would be a serious matter for him.

THE VICE PRESIDENT'S pay is $15,000; a senator's only $10,000.

Yet the vice president has necessary expenses which are not incumbent upon a senator. The latter can entertain as much or as little as he pleases, and Curtis as a senator lived simply. The vice president's duties are largely social, and there is no escaping them.

Undoubtedly, as a plain solon, the present vice president's $10,000 went farther than his $15,000 since his promotion.

A SENATORSHIP is not such a bad berth, anyway.

Curtis appears to feel not the slightest doubt that he can have Kansas' next vacancy if he requests it—and neither does anyone else.

In fact, it virtually has been saved for him.

When he resigned, to accept the vice presidepcy, it was supposed to have been the understanding that anyone but Henry J. Allen, with whom he was on extremely bad political terms, would be appointed to succeed him. Otherwise he need not have resigned quite so soon—not until after Governor Clyde M. Reed, a friend of Allen, was out of office.

But directly he had done so Governor Reed did appoint Allen.

Subsequently a most unusual thing (for Kansas) occurred.

The Sunflower State went Democratic. It did not go Democratic enough to beat the Republican Senator Capper, who was triumphantly re-elected, but it went Democratic enough to defeat Allen and to wipe Reed off the political map.

Many folk surmise that Curtis attended to it.

ANYHOW, KANSAS, normally strongly Republican, now has one Democratic senator, in George McGill of Wichita, whose two-year term expires in 1933, leaving an opening, unless George can win again. If he can, it will be a wonder—provided the Republicans do not give Allen another run, which would be still more wonderful.

Should Curtis speak for that place, it is safe to say he can have it.

In case he does so it will be equivalent to a prophecy, but phophets make mistakes occasionally.

HUMAN FACTOR IN FLYING

The general public is only too willing to be convinced that the airplane is a relatively safe mode of travel, but it seems that each time the point of conversion is reached some disaster or series of disasters of the air occurs to undo all the work that has been done.

Considering the large number of planes in the air and the miles flown, the accident rate for planes is probably little higher, if any, than that among motorists and pedestrians. It is the publicity and public interest given the novelty that magnifies the air accident rate.

Public confidence in the safety of aircraft has reached that point, however, where responsibility for accidents is placed on the pilot oftener than on the plane. In other words, the laity places greater trust in the plane, at its present stage of development, than in the pilot.

A significant fact in this connection is the rarity of accidents in the transport and mail service. The planes are no better but the pilots are. In other fields of aviation there are too many accidents attributable to inexpertness, recklessness and carelessness of pilots.

One magnificently successful flight such as Lindbergh's transatlantic hop may advance aviation, but that gain and more is lost by the loss of another transoceanic ship. Endurance and other record-making and record-breaking flights probably prove more of aviation's shortcomings than its accomplishments and possibilities.

If the best words in our language are "Enclosed find check" then the worst are "Please remit."

The fellow who goes through life afraid of making a fool out of himself is one.

There being nothing new under the sun, tear gas may date back to Alexander the Great. For is it not written that he wept for more worlds to conquer?

Tomorrow: "A HORSE DOCTOR PUT THE HORSE OUT OF BUSINESS."

For GINGER'S SAKE

by ETHEL HUESTON

© 1930 THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Life was never dull with GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER around. Whenever there was a threat of it Ginger got a new idea. Thus she suggested a Junior Country Club to save the younger set of Red Thrush, Iowa, from utter boredom. It was to be exclusive—no parents, no babies. Accordingly Ginger, whose father was a minister but whose stepmother, the former PHIL VAN DOORN, was both wealthy and indulgent, purchased the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old house on it, which she proceeded, with the assistance of her friends, to overhaul and furnish.

Red Thrush seized the idea with enthusiasm. The younger set would paint Iowa nights a deep rose red. One day, while the rehabilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the Tolliver kitchen and offered to do a portrait of Ginger in exchange for a meal. After he had shaved off his beard, Ginger found to her amazement that he was both young and good looking. And he had talent. He had studied in Pris, and his name was BARD HOLLOWAY.

Ginger, never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be a good one if Bard remained a while in Red Thrush. She would see that he got enough commissions for portraits, which would be better than hoboing through the country, and he could do the mural decorations at the new club house. So very cleverly, she got her stepmother to prevail on Bard to accept an invatation to stay at the Tollivers', and with this accomplished she took him to Mill Rush and got him started on the decorations.

Bard thought "Joie de Viere" would be a good name for the club. It was adopted. And he thought it would be splendid if they could import NCOLO CALLENO from Chicago. For Nicolo was handsome and he could cook and sing and strum a guitar. He would make a picturesque adidtion to the club. So he sent for Nicolo. But on the morning of the opening dance there arrived at the Tollivers not one Latin youth but what seemed an army of them. Little ANGELO was a musician, and PIETRO could cook. And BENITO could sing. And how! Nicolo could not come, it seemed, and they had come in his place. They would work for their board. So they were installed at the club.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

"Phil, tell me, what shall I wear?" Ginger demanded. "That gold gown is the most expensive thing I have, but is it the most becoming?"

"No, it isn't. And it is entirely too formal for a dance like this. I would wear the ivory chiffon with your sapphire chain and bracelets."

"Oh, but it is so—simple. It is just school-girlish. It doesn't begin to live up to what it cost. The red one is much more striking."

"It is not so becoming."

"But the other girls will be so much—brighter."

"They will not be more attractive."

"Oh, dear," mourned Ginger.

She carried the investigation further.

"Father, which do I look nicest in—the white dress or the red one?"

"Which one do you mean?"

"The ivory one that Phil brought me from New York—the one I wear with the sapphires."

"I don't seem to remember it," he said, frowningly anxious to assist with his very best judgment. "What is the red one like?"

"Oh, father, you must remember the red one—that trails just a wee bit in the back".

"I can't seem to place it," he admitted.

"You come right upstairs," she said sternly. "You can't get out of this by quibbling. I'll try them on for you."

She regaled him with a private showing: the gold gown, the red, the ivory white. He studied them all anxiously, frowning over the rim of his glasses.

"They're just beautiful, every one of them," he decided cheerfully. "What difference does it make which you wear when they're all so nice?"

"Oh, father," she protested, "it makes ever and ever so much difference. Now look especially at these two. Here, I'll put the red one on again."

"It's very pretty," he smiled approval. "I like red."

"Is it prettier than the white?"

"Well, no, I can't say that it is any prettier."

"Well, is the white prettier than the red?"

"Well, maybe in some ways it is. I like the blue beads."

"Oh, dear!"

"Why don't you ask Bard? He's an artist. He ought to be a good judge of clothes."

"Oh, father, I can't ask him. I want to show him."

That was entirely too deep for her father.

But in the end, for her confidence in Phil was very great, Ginger got into the ivory white that melted at the throat into a delicate lace that was like her own skin in its velvety softness.

She put the sapphire chain about her throat, slipped the bracelet upon her white arms, and put on her silken slippers with the high blue heels. And again and again she changed the arrangement of her hair, puffed it here, patted it there—started all over again.

"Do I need more rouge, Phil?"

"No indeed, Ginger. You are just right. You have never been so lovely."

"My hair is terrible," mourned Ginger.

Minstrel Of Tech "T" Club Tonight

Tonight is a night of blackface comedians, end-men negro dialect songs and scenes reminiscent of plantation days.

The first minstrel show sponsored by the T club of Texas Technological college will be staged tonight in the Lubbock high school auditorium. More than 75 students comprise the cast.

Rehearsals have been completed and officials state that the affair will offer citizens of Lubbock an evening of amusing entertainment.

Tap dancers, a girls' chorus and blackface comedians will be featured, with Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the Texas Tech department of government, serving as interlocutor. Dr. Jackson will be the only performer not in black face makeup. Proceeds from the minstrel will be used by the "T" club to furnish and redecorate its club room located in the school gymnasium.

Crosby County Schools Are Lauded By Two Inspectors

CROSBYTON, Feb. 24. (Special.)—High compliments were paid the management of the Crosbyton schools by two inspectors here recently.

Miss Isora Clark, of Amarillo, district home economics inspector after looking over the home economics department of the local high school, said it was one of the best she had in her district.

H. O. Smith, state inspector, complimented Superintendent Weatherby on the work of the local system.

Funds For Street Grading At O'Donnell Are Collected

O'DONNELL, Feb. 24. (Special.)—When the city fathers were unable to pay for the grading of the downtown business streets, because the city wa. "broke", several of the city staff decided to try and raise the necessary money by subscription.

Enough was obtained by Morris and Haskell McIlroy, Red DeBusk and Mayor Proctor to grade the business section and most of the residential parts of town also.

CONTEST FILED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP) — Formal contest was filed in the senate today by Senator Heflin of Alabama, against the election of John H. Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, to the seat now held by Heflin. He offered a new resolution providing for the impounding of ballot boxes in the last election. Both the petition and resolution were referred to the senate elections committee.

"WAS NERVOUS, HAD THE BLUES"

Lady Says Cardui "Helped a Lot," And Her Strength Came Back.

Greenville, Tex.—When she was fifteen years old, Mrs. Bessie Lee Pennington, of 2708 South Johnson Street, this city, "was a thin, weak girl," she writes in her interesting account of how her health improved after she had taken Cardui. "I grew too fast and my strength gave out. I lost my appetite, and did not feel like keeping up with the other girls because I did not have the physical strength.

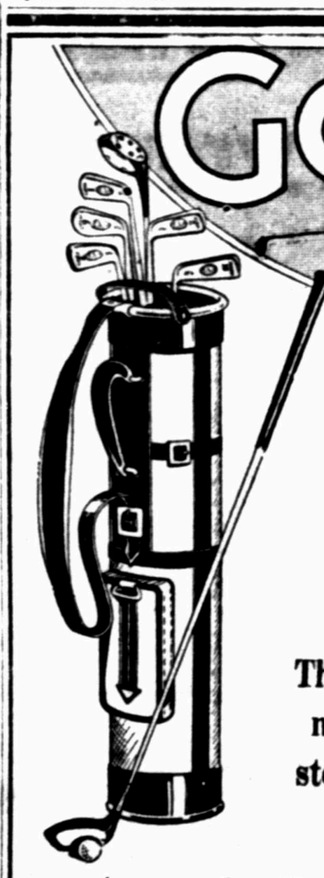

"I was nervous and had the blues when nothing suited me.

"My aunt had taken Cardui and had been greatly benefited by it, so she started giving it to me. It helped me a lot and brought me right out. I picked up in weight and my strength came back, so I could do all the things I wanted to do.

"Not long ago, I was run-down and got to feeling bad. I began taking Cardui as soon as I realized my condition. I took three bottles and soon was feeling fine."

Thousands of other women have taken Cardui and reported benefit from its use. E-424

Expect Replies On Loan Pleas

Consideration Of Requests From Lubbock County Farmers Made At Sectional Office At St. Louis

Replies pertaining to applications of Lubbock county farmers for federal crop loans are expected this week from the sectional drouth relief office at St. Louis, where consideration of the Lubbock county requests began last Wednesday, according to J. B. Shannon, who is in charge of the applications office here.

The St. Louis office was burdened heavily by applications, which were considered in order, according to Mr. Shannon, who said checks were expected with some replies this week.

Lubbock county sent about 200 applications to St. Louis. Most of these were made out in the Lubbock office. At Slaton, F. C. Rector, in charge of the work, handled about as many applications but the major part of his papers were sent to other counties than Lubbock.

"I think we had a total of around $40,000 for our applications," Mr. Shannon said. "The average amount of the 200 was probably $200 or a little more.

"The last time I figured up the total, we had between $35,000 and $40,000 but I think that now we have passed that figure."

"One reason why Garza county has been able to secure earlier action on some of its applications was the fact that there were a number that reached St. Louis shortly after the office opened," Mr. Shannon added.

Authority To Judge At Show

Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm, Representative Of U. S. Department Of Agriculture, Will Be Here For Meat Show

An international authority on canned meats, Mrs. Ola Powell Malcolm, field representative of the United States department of agriculture, of Washington, D. C., will judge canned meats at the first annual meat show here, March 27 and 28.

That announcement was made late Tuesday by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, joint-sponsor of the Fat Calf, Pig and Meat show with the Panhandle-South Plains Fair association.

Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, of College Station, notified the chamber of commerce that Mrs. Malcolm would judge canned meats here.

Mrs. Malcolm is the author os "Canning, Pickeling and Preserving," which Miss Murray described as an "accepted authority on canning used as a text by home economics departments in colleges and universities here and a broad."

Immediately after the world war, the United States department of agriculture sent Mrs. Malcolm to France to organize food preservation program there.

ARMY INCREASE ASKED

ALTONA, Germany, Feb. 24. (AP)—Theodore Duesterberg, leader of the nationalist "steel helmets," said today that his organization stands for a German demand at the 1932 disarmament conference for increase of her army of 100,000 to 300,000, "to enable the nation at least to maintain armed neutrality." Equipping such an army, he said, would incidentally solve the unemployment problem.

Harding Tomb Awaits Dedication

Residents of Marion, O., are preparing for the dedication of the memorial to former President Warren G. Harding, in the near future, after a delay of several years. Reluctance of Calvin Coolidge and President Hoover to participate in the dedicatory ceremonies has been given, at Marion, as the reason for the delay. Citizens believe only a president or a former president should make the address. Recently President Hoover accepted the invitation to speak at the ceremony. It is understood that former President Coolidge also will come. This is an excellent aerial photo of the tomb in which lie the remains of both President and Mrs. Harding.

Jackson Talks On Communism

Danger Of Reds In U. S. Is Discussed By President Of Rotary Club At Lions Club Luncheon Tuesday

Danger of communism in the United States was the subject treated by Dr. W. A. Jackson, president of the Rotary club, as principal speaker at the weekly Lions club luncheon Tuesday noon at the Hilton hotel.

Using data compiled in a congressional investigation and in other inquiries, Doctor Jackson said that communism was at least 200 per cent stronger in the United States now than it was two years ago. Investigation has shown that aliens compose 80 per cent of the communist membership in the United States, according to Doctor Jackson.

The speaker also declared that an organized group of communists existed in Lubbock.

Dr. S. S. McKay, Lion club president, presided at the luncheon-meeting, at which the principal discussion centered about plans for development of Lions club park.

A piano number and a report from the club athletic committee on the city volleyball league completed the program.

Lion volleyballers will meet another service club aggregation in a practice game Thursday night and will engage in a practice session Monday night at the Texas Technological college gymnasium, the club athletic committee announced.

Assessment Of Property In Lubbock Is Under Way

Assessment of property has been started by A. B. Ellis, tax assessor, and his deputies.

Already approximately 1,000 renditions have been made, the greater part of them being from the Slaton precinct.

"J. T. Clinton in precinct 1 and T. W. Covington in precinct 2, have had splendid results so far," Mr Ellis said. "They have both turned in a number of renditions.

"J. T. Lee has just begun his work in precinct 3 and J. C. Shaw is to start this week in precinct 4."

Mr. Ellis is also doing some assessing work himself. E. B. Holland is the office deputy and a number of people have reported to the office and have made their renditions to Mr. Holland.

County Cattle Breeders To Exhibit At Amarillo Show

Lubbock county cattle breeders will be among those showing herds either at the Panhandle Fat Stock show at Amarillo, March 2 to 5, or the Fort Worth Fat Stock show, which follows the Amarillo exposition, according to D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county agent.

The agricultural department of Texas Tech will probably have a herd at Plainview in April, Mr. Eaton said. He added that he was not certain whether there would be a full county herd or not, for the expositions.

More attention is being given to the Plainview show than to either of the others, because it is more of a regional affair than the Amarillo or Fort Worth events.

Besides the animals to be shown, it is probable that there will be a good attendance of dairymen and breeders from over the South Plains and the county, at both expositions.

Hungary is trying to arrange better commercial relations with Austria.

American Cigar Co.
111 Fifth Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

I am very glad to endorse your advertising campaign which so effectively cooperates with many non-commercial organizations seeking to fight disease.

Your advertisements warn against the danger to health in the "Spit-tipping" method of cigar manufacture and the affront to decency in such methods. You are thus helping awaken the public to the ever existent danger in spitting wherever this nuisance may occur.

Public health organizations have for years felt the need of such cooperation a commercial institutions may give in stressing the danger to health in such practices.

If publication of this letter will be of any use to you please be assured of my full permission to so use it over my signature.

Very truly yours,
Earl Musselman
Health Commissioner

Jimmy Phelan, Wallace Wade To Conduct School Here

Popular Grid Men Here For August School

Coaches In West Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado Signify Intention To Come Here For School

Largely through the efforts of P. W. Cawthon, head coach of Texas Technological College, West Texas' first big school for coaches will be held here during the first two weeks of August. Jimmy Phelan, head coach at the University of Washington, and Wallace Wade, Duke University mentor, will head the school.

The formal and official announcement of the school was made yesterday upon the receipt of messages of confirmation by Phelan and Wade.

Coach Cawthon has aspired to bring one or two of the nation's leading coaches here since taking office last Spring as head coach of the Matador school. He has corresponded with the best coaches of the United States and at the same time carefully analyzed conditions in this section. As a result of his soundings, at home and abroad, he has procured the services of two of the nation's most popular and most capable mentors and the cooperation and encouragement of coaches in Texas.

Other States Represented

Large in its scope, the proposed school will be open to coaches of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Oklahoma. Already letters mailed to high school and college coaches in these states have been answered in pleasing numbers and tones. The coaches, especially of West Texas, are interested and it is probable that the school here will draw a large number. Due to the fact that Dallas has become one of the coaching school centers of the state, with an annual course, it is not expected that coaches south and east of that metropolis will be deeply concerned with the Lubbock school, but preparations will be made to care for a large assembly of West Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma tutors.

A list of potential landers of the Lubbock school was submitted to coaches of the states mentioned with the suggestion that choices be checked. The result was in favor of Phelan and Wade. The two will arrive here on the first day of August prepared to impart football knowledge to the best of their ability for the following two weeks.

Wallace Wade has become one of the most popular coaches of football by his outstanding work at the University of Alabama during the last several years. Three times his teams have entered and won the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena, champions of the south. Phelan became a national figure in 1929 when he coached the Purdue eleven to a Big Ten championship. He is one of the youngest men in the business, and left Purdue to take advantage of a big contract at the University of Washington. Wade leaves Alabama this year to fulfill a big contract as head coach at Duke.

Simmons Cowboys Cinch T. C. Rag

GEORGETOWN, Feb. 24. (AP) — Simmons University tonight won back the undisputed basketball championship of the Texas Conference after sharing it for a year with the Southwestern Pirates. The Pirates lost by a two-point margin in Abilene a month ago, but the Cowboys left no doubt of their superiority tonight as they won by a score of 40 to 19.

Tonight's game, the last of the season for both teams, gave Simmons a record of 10 victories and no defeats. Southwestern finished with eight wins and no losses.

Capt. Bob McCollum of Simmons, in his last college game, led the scorers with 17 points to win the conference scoring title with a total of 123. Jim Neely, also of Simmons, was second for the night with nine points.

Galveston Club Gets One More Saturday On Card

GALVESTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—Because of the latest schedule revision Galveston will receive one more Saturday date this season than any other club in the Texas League.

This revision became necessary when Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, picked April 28 and 29 as the most suitable dates to visit Texas and dedicate the Beaumont and Galveston ball parks. Originally both of these dates had been allotted to the Bucanneers with the Exporters as their guests but a shift was effected with the locals giving up April 28 for Decoration day, May 30, which this season falls on Saturday.

Galveston Pirates May Meet State Soccer Team

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24. (AP) — A soccer match between the local Mexico club, unbeaten state champions last year, and the Galveston Pirates may be booked in Galveston for March 8, it was announced here today.

Manager Olguin of Mexico club, asked that the game, originally arranged for next Sunday, be played within two weeks. The south Texas title of the Southwestern Association will be at stake in the contest.

A "tailplane" system, consisting of dirigible-shaped cars driven by propellers fore and aft and running on a single rail, has been tested in Scotland. The cars have a rated speed of 120 miles an hour.

Tech Cagers Drop Close Opener To University Of New Mexico

Horned Frogs Win Over Aggie Five

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 24.(AP) The failure of the Texas Aggies to make free throws count proved costly tonight when the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs nosed out the Aggies, 30 to 26, in a bitterly fought contest.

The Aggies played neck-and-neck with the Frogs, each team scoring 11 field goals, but made only four of 10 gift shots good, while the Horned Frogs counted eight.

Capt. Shiro Hoke, Aggie pivot man, easily was the outstanding man on the floor, sinking eight field goals and one free shot to score 17 points and capture scoring honors. Dietzel, Frog center, was second with 16.

Matadors Give Lobos Trouble In First Game

Golightly's Men Tired After Travel But Put Up Strong Fight In Opener Of Series; Play Again Tonight

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 24. (Special) — The University of New Mexico, opening its athletic relations with Texas Tech, won a close decision over the Tech Matadors in the first of a series of two games here tonight, 32 to 29.

The Matadors showed signs of weariness after travelling all day over bad roads, but they put up one of the best scraps seen in local parts this season.

The teams meet again tomorrow night in what promises to be a feature attraction.

Miami Fight Card Knocked Out By Rain

Walker And Risko To Meet In Feature Program Tonight; Stribling And Schmeling Appear In Ring

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24. (AP) — The first of Florida's winter heavyweight steeplechasers stumbled over the last hurdle—old man weather—today and promptly took the count.

The flttic festival, featuring a ten-round bout between Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko, and scheduled for tonight at the Madison Square Garden arena, was washed out by a heavy rain and postponed until tomorrow night.

Promoter "Pa" Stribling announced the postponement after the weather man furnishing assurances the rain could be expected to continue most of the night. Most of the prediction was fulfilled, but the forecast was for clearing weather by tomorrow afternoon. Even the moon may stage a comeback for the benefit of the customers tomorrow evening.

It was a busy day for the Stribling, father as well as Son— Young W. L.—who put in a workout at the box office in a downtown hotel today to keep in condition for the exhibition part of the program he will share with his forthcoming title rival, Max Schmeling.

"The postponement may help business," the elder Stribling declared optimistically.

"We have plenty of tickets on hand and with another 24 hours of ballyhoo, perhaps we can go considerably over the $50,000. I feel sure we will take in."

Rain Halts Play In Miami Tennis

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 24. (AP) —Rain halted play in the Pan-American tennis championships here today after two matches of the first round of doubles and two singles events had been played.

Carrol Turner and Gus Feur, Miamians, teamed together today to defeat Bob Gifford, New York, and W. R. Bragaw, Providence, R. I., 6-0, 6-0, and Alex Sullivan, Albany, N. Y., and Dick Perle, Albany, N. Y., paired to defeat Joe Whalen and Dick Howell, Miami, 6-3, 6-2.

S. Jarvis Adams, Port, Washington, L. I., and Charles Whitehead, Trenton, N. J., were leading Nat Williams, Miami, and Ray Cassini, Cincinnati, 4-3, when the downpour stopped play.

In the singles matches Paul Stagg, Chicago, defeated E. S. Stillman, New York, 6-3, 6-0, and J. S. McDermott, Miami, defeated John Nixon, Miami, 6-1, 6-3.

Howard Payne Ends Cage Season Defeating Saints

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP) — Howard Payne ended its basketball season with a 34-26 decision over St. Edwards here tonight. The game was slow and methodical for three quarters, with the Howard Payne five having a substantial lead at all times.

University Of Texas Grid Captain Presents Proof Of His Eligibility

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 24.—A faculty committee headed by Dr. W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the University of Texas athletic council today heard Grover Emerson, captain-elect for 1931 of the University of Texas football team, present a statement and proof to support it that he is eligible to compete in intercollegiate athletics next fall.

The committee recommended, Dr. Metzenthin announced, that Emerson present his case to the president of the Southwest Conference, Dr. D. A. Penick, of the University of Texas.

Newspaper reports of the 1928 Baylor-Texas game, played at Waco, listed Emerson as a substitute tackle in the play by play reports. Emerson says he did not compete in the game and that he had suffered injuries in practice which would have prevented him taking part. He participated in no other conference game that year.

A student is eligible for three years intercollegiate competition in the Southwest Conference.

Many government projects are being started in British Malaya.

White Sox Work Out At Santone; Berg Holdout

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24. (AP)—Texas produced some sunshine today, and the Chicago White Sox had their first good workout since they arrived in San Antonio, it wasn't strenuous, however, with the athletes chasing flyballs and limbering up.

Moe Berg, the lawyer-linguist who has done part of the Sox catching for several years, definitely was classed as a holdout. It was understood Berg's salary figure had been lowered and that he had not signed. Donnie Bush is in good shape for catcher, however, with Bennett Tate, Butch Henline and Frank Grube.

Van Wie Is Medalist In South Atlantic Tourney

ORMOND, Fla., Feb. 24. (AP)—Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, won the qualifying medal in the annual South Atlantic golf championship here today with a 79. Helen Hicks, Newlet, L. I., and Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, N. Y., were second with 80's.

Canyon Buffs Win First Go

East Texas Teachers Lose To West Texans By 51-33 Count In Opener Of Play-Off For TIAA Championship

(By The Associated Press)

CANYON, Feb. 24. — The West Texas State Teachers college quintet defeated the East Texas Teachers from Commerce, 51-33 here tonight in the first game of the play-off series for the championship of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association.

The game was one of the most brilliant and at the same time roughest ever seen in these parts. The first half was a lulu, with the impregnable Buffalo defense at its height and the offense a cool, calculating machine that flipped the ball through the loop at every opportunity. The Lions scored four field goals and five free shots in the initial period.

The half ended 26-to-13 for the Buffaloes who jumped into the lead on the first play and were never in any danger of losing it.

The second half turned into a rough and tumble affair in which the goal shooting ability and height of the Buffs proved too much for the hard fighting East Texas crew.

Colossus Comer, big Buff forward, was high-point man of the evening with 17, while Burk and Giant Joe Fortenberry, forward and center, respectively, for the Buffs, ranked second and third.

For the losers H. Stringer, forward, was high with nine, followed closely by Castleberry, center, with eight.

San Angelo Rainbows Win Over Fort Sam Houston

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24. (AP)—Aided by a six-goal handicap, the San Angelo Rainbows defeated the Fort Sam Houston Indians, 16 to 13, in the final game of the eighth annual southwestern circuit polo tournament played on Harrison Field today.

Although defeated, the count of goals actually scored favored the Indians, 13 to 10. Captain C. E. Boyle and Captain Craig led the scoring for Fort Sam Houston, each mallelting five balls through the uprights. Lee Aldwell made four for the Rainbows.

CONOCO

Yes, Sir, I can back up what I say about Germ-Processed Oil with actual proof, O.K'd by A·A·A·

THREE stock cars from three price classes went through six weeks of testing on Pike's Peak. Three nationally known oils were used in comparison with Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil. All of the testing was directly supervised by the American Automobile Association.

At the end of six weeks the AAA took the more than ten thousand observations, then issued a report of the outcome. The report stated that in the Pike's Peak Tests Conoco Motor Oil had shown a reduction of 76.4% in the rate of motor wear . . . that it had shown greater stability . . . had lowered frictional temperatures . . . increased compression pressures . . . reduced oil consumption . . . added to gasoline mileage . . . reduced crankcase dilution . . . lengthened motor life.

No higher authority could have been called upon to prove the merits of Germ-Processed oil. No more sweeping commendation could have been asked for. The complete story of the Pike's Peak tests is told in an attractive booklet. We'll gladly send you a copy upon your request mailed to "Conoco, Ponca City, Oklahoma" . . . or you can obtain it at stations showing the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle when you go there to change to Germ-Processed oil, as thousands of other motorists are doing every day.

Travel with a Conoco Passport! . . . Send an outline of your proposed motor trip or let us help plan your trip. Get a Conoco passport, individually marked maps and other travel helps . . . all FREE! More than 30,000 motorists used this service in the season just passed. CONOCO TRAVEL BUREAU · Denver, Colorado.

Plan To Probe Bribe Reports

Published Story That Unnamed Senator Received $100,000 To $150,000 From Domestic Sugar Company Probed

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP) — The senate's strife-torn lobby committee was summoned today to investigate published reports an unnamed senator had received from $100,000 to $150,000 from a domestic sugar company while congress was considering the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

The committee was called to meet tomorrow after Senator Davis, republican, Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, asked Chairman Caraway for an immediate investigation of the reports.

Inquiry Demanded.

A full inquiry also was demanded on the senate floor by Senators ...h, republican, Idaho; Robin... democrat, Arkansas, and Nye, ...blican, North Dakota, after ...h read a story published in a ... York newspaper.

...e, chairman of the campaign ...s committee, said his committee had made a partial investigation of the reports, but had abandoned its inquiry when it found evidence of money being contributed to the senator's campaign fund. Questioned by other senators, Nye said he had turned what evidence he found over to the lobby committee because he felt his committee had no jurisdiction and not because he felt there was nothing to investigate.

In a formal statement earlier in the day, however, Nye had said it would "not surprise" him if the lobby committee found the allegations without merit and reported it found nothing "reflecting upon the honor, honesty or integrity of the senator involved."

Ask For Probe.

Davis, a member of the Hoover, Coolidge and Harding cabinets, who was not a member of the senate when the tariff bill was being considered, told the newspapermen he had asked Caraway for an immediate investigation.

"I, for one senator, demand that the charges be gone into to the fullest extent," Davis said. "I told Senator Caraway I would get the witnesses he wanted. The sooner they get to it the better off we all will be."

Borah said he was sure the senate would want the charges investigated, pointing out that no name was mentioned.

Local Man Flies To Ohio To Study In Tire Plant

Passenger in an airplane which rose to an altitude between 8,000 and 10,000 feet to avoid storms, D. G. Hale of Lubbock arrived at Columbus, O., from Amarillo last Saturday night.

As a representative of Master Beacon Service station of Lubbock, Mr. Hale will study a month or six weeks in the Firestone Rubber company factories at Okron before returning here to assume duties at the service station.

The plane in which Mr. Hale went to Columbus left Amarillo at 9 a. m. Saturday, was forced by rain to remain at Oklahoma City for two hours, and completed the trip in about 10 hours flying time.

Lubbock Bankers Attend District Meet At Dallas

Annual conference of the seventh district of the Texas Bankers association was attended by seven Lubbock bankers Monday at Fort Worth. All three Lubbock banks were represented.

In the party were: President France Baker and S. G. Wilson of the Citizens National bank; Roy Riddel of the First National bank and President C. E. Maedgen and John D. Mitchell, Clayton Gammill and D. L. Ellis of the Lubbock National.

Mr. Maedgen went on to Austin on a business trip and Mr. Baker remained in Fort Worth and Dallas and is expected to return today.

STUDENTS IN MOVIES

At last Texas Tech students have broken into the movies!

Two students, Miss Frances Gunn and Brooks Penny will play leading rolls in a romance being filmed on the South Plains. A representative of the film company visited the campus yesterday morning and made several student group pictures at 10 o'clock.

More than two thousand persons in Lubbock and on the South Plains will take part in the film. Announcement has been made that the picture will be shown at the Lindsey theater March 4, 5 and 6.

TICKETS BEING SOLD

Tickets for the engineering banquet Saturday night have been placed on sale and more than two hundred are expected to be sold by Saturday. The tickets are selling for $1.50 which is fifty cents less than what they sold for last year.

Principal speakers for the banquet at the Hilton hotel will be John W. Carpenter, member of the Tech board of directors, and president of the Texas Power and Light Company with headquarters at Dallas, and W. T. (Tanlac) Strange, Big Spring architict, Strange spoke at the banquet two years ago and his selection met with much approval among the students who heard him then.

The event is sponsored each spring by the Tech Engineering society of which Winnifred Wardell is president. Each class will be represented by a speaker which was chosen some time ago.

Grade Books Due

All grade books are due in the registrar's office and unless they are returned one dollar will be charged for a new one, E. L. Dohoney, Tech registrar, said yesterday.

Examinations for the winter term will begin Monday, March 16, and will continue through that week. Registration for the spring term will follow the next Monday.

INTERVIEWS SENIORS

"We are well pleased with the Tech engineering graduates who are now working with our company," L. H. Means, representative of the General Electric company said yesterday. Mr. Means was here in conference with seniors in the electrical and mechanical engineering departments.

Means also will visit Texas A and M., Texas university, Rice Institute, and S. M. U. and interview seniors there. He stated that he has no idea how many new men would be added to the company's force next summer but that the number would depend on business conditions at that time.

The company is mainly interested in gradautes from mechanical and electrical departments, but occasionaly a graduate of some other department is employed. The General Electrical representative makes an annual visit here and representatives of the company interview seniors in every leading engineering company in the country.

TO COUNT VOTES

Counting of the votes in the freshman queen election at Tech which closed yesterday will be taken up this afternoon, Frank Emison, editor of The Toreador, Tech publication which sponsored the contest said. The ballot boxes closed yesterday afternoon.

Nothing has been said concerning the announcement of the winner, but it is probable that no announcement will be made for several weeks. The winner will be formally crowned at the annual freshman ball in April.

The votes will be counted by Emison, Wayne Castleberry, president of the student council, and Matt Seymour, freshman class president.

CONVOCATION CALLED

Revised music for the Texas Tech Matador fight song will be considered at a called convocation at 11 o'clock today at the college gym. The Matador song was adopted last spring by the student body, but a move has been on for some time for new music for the words. The words were written by R. C. Marshall, Hillsboro, and are original. The convocation has been called by Wayne Castleberry, student council president.

Few 11 o'clock classes are scheduled for Wednesday and it is probable that most of these will dismissed for the meeting.

CLASS WILL MEET TONIGHT

First lesson in the speech class offered to the business men and business women of Lubbock will be given tonight at 7:30 o'clock in room 202 of the administration building. At the first meeting last Wednesday night the class was organized with twelve members. Miss Annah Jo Pendelton, acting head of the speech department, is teacher.

The course, which is under the direction of the Tech extension department, is still open to the people of Lubbock. Regular college credit will be given if those taking the course desire it. Tution fee is $10.

QUARTET FEATURED

One of the main attractions at the first annual "T" club minstrel at 8 o'clock tonight at the Lubbock High school building will be the Georgian quartet. The quartet is composed of four girls who will represent the dusky race and have several special selections for the program.

Other things offered on tonight's bill are stunts, songs, and tap dancing. More than seventy-five persons including thirty-five girls are taking part in the program. Funds will be used to decorate the "T" club room and the event is being sponsored by the lettermen of the college.

Tickets have been on sale for several days for fifty cents each. A box of candy is being given the girls' club at Tech selling the most tickets.

DR. RAY SPEAKS

Dr. W. L. Ray of the Tech chemistry departments spoke at a meeting of the Tech Chemistry society last night in the chemistry building auditorium on, "Amonia Classification of Acids, Bases and Salts".

O'Brien Thompson, Abernathy, is president of the organization which is made up of students interested in the proomtion of chemistry. Plans are to adopt a seal for the solcety at a future meeting.

HORN SPEAKS AT PLAINVIEW

Dr. Paul W. Horn, Tech president, spoke yesterday to the Plainview Rotary club members at their regular weekly luncheon. He also spoke at a meeting of the American Association of University Women held in that city.

Schools Will Finish Terms

County Institutions To Be Able To Continue As Result Of Receiving State Help, Miss Murfee Announces

Lubbock county schools probably will be able to complete scheduled terms as a result of receiving state aid, according to Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent of schools.

"We have received a warrant within the past two weeks for $19,000" Miss Murfee said. "We may not have to cut any of the terms of schools in the county. I am hopeful that we will be able to get through with the full term for all of the schools."

All To Finish Year

Lubbock county has 25 rural schools, Miss Murfee said. So far all of them have been able to operate and unless there is a decided falling down on collections, it is believed that the entire number will finish the year.

"We have had a splendid type of instruction and work in Lubbock county this year," Miss Murfee added. "It seems that these times have made both teachers and pupils and parents try to get more out of their work than before.

"There has been more interest shown in the literary contests at the county meet than for a number of years. Mr. E. F. Reeves, the director of debate, tells me that he has had a large number of students of rural schools ask about the work," she said. "Our county meet will be held March 27 and 28 at Texas Technological college. All of the schools will be represented."

Sam Chatham, Idalou superintendent, is director general of the meet.

A new radio-beacon is to be established at Fowey Rocks lighthouse, to guide ships through the straits of Florida.

High School Will Be Ready April 1

Completion of Lubbock's new $650,000 high school is expected by April 1, according to D. N. Leaverton, contractor.

"The building is about all completed except the setting of the tile and marble inside," Mr. Leaverton said. "We are now pouring the sidewalks.

"I expect to be able to turn over the building to the board for them to install the equipment, about the first of April."

Lockers have been received and are in place. None of the rest of the fixtures for the structure, or the furniture, has been received, it was said.

Officials of the board have not made their plans for the formal opening. Graduation exercises may be held in the auditorium.

An extra force of men was put at work beautifying city property in Coffeyville, Kan., in a drive against unemployment.

Funeral Services Will Be Here For Mrs. Stone Today

Funeral rites will be read for Mrs. Harriet Aderena Stone, wife of J. E. Stone, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Bynum-Morgan funeral home.

Elder John T. Smith of the Church of Christ, of which Mrs. Stone was a member, probably will officiate. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Mrs. Stone, who was 58 years old, died at 10:20 p. m. Monday at her home at 1503 Avenue C. She was born October 29.1877.

Besides her husband she is survived by nine children, five daughters and four sons, two sisters and four brothers. The survivors are: Mrs. E. E. Whitlock, San Angelo; Elmer E. Stone, Rollins, Wyo.; Mrs. Elva Ellington; C. R., Stella, David, Beatrice, Ruby and Preston, all of Lubbock; Mrs. Ruth Hemmingway of Fort Worth and Mrs. Hannah Pyrtle of Vernon, sisters, and John J. Gentry, Vernon, and I. K., Otto and Roy Gentry, of Oklahoma, brothers.

LET'S BRING THE WHOLE TRUTH ABOUT ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION OUT INTO THE OPEN

You can't trust "impressions" about things you buy once in a lifetime. You can't trust your judgment unless you judge everything. So we want to give you . . . in plain black and white . . . this list of questions about electric refrigeration. It's the new method of buying. They will bring out the things you SHOULD know as well as those you DO know.

Two thousand women had a hand in developing this list of vital questions. Here are the TRUE elements, and ALL the important elements. Here is a guide for the intelligent buyer who means to get her money's worth.

Study it. Clip it out. Consult it when you look at any refrigerator. Demand each and every one of these vital elements, regardless of which "make" you consider.

But we tell you frankly . . . only in Kelvinator will you find them ALL. Only in Kelvinator will you find such a combination of every essential to convenience, efficiency and long life. That's the reason we feel the more closely you investigate, the more certainly your choice will be Kelvinator.

. . . Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company?
. . . Is there plenty of shelf space?
. . . Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
. . . Is there provision for the freezing of an adequate supply of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes).
. . . Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature?
. . . Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up?
. . . Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves?
. . . Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frosted" foods or extra supply of ice cubes at a below freezing temperature indefinitely?
. . . Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained?
. . . Does the refrigerating unit operate frequently or at infrequent intervals? (The fewer the "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run).
. . . How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Should continue for 10 or 12 hours).
. . . Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?
. . . Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
. . . Can the top of the refrigerator be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being re-arranged?
. . . Is the refrigerator a thing of beauty in design and finish?
. . . Has the experience of users over a considerable period of time shown that the refrigerator is long-lived and dependable?

Meet Mrs. Rockne---and Family

The Rockne home in South Bend . . . is a charming Old English house. . . . Obviously the residence of a "substantial citizen" . . . it is also obviously a home in which children live.

Here are some new stories about Notre Dame's great football coach, revealed in this first interview ever granted by his wife

Mary Jeanne Rockne . . . a bright-eyed, golden-haired girl of 10 . . . likes to play the Notre Dame "Victory March" on the Rockne grand piano.

When Knute Rockne played end for Notre Dame . . . he also played the flute . . . and the flute became an omen of good fortune . . . because when it went along on the trips, the boys always won the ball game.

By GERTRUDE O'NEILL

VERY soon now, a man and his wife will be returning from Florida to their Indiana home. Both of them will be awfully glad to get back to the pretty house in the residential section of South Bend.

The man will have a little business matter to attend to in South Bend: spring football practice at Notre Dame. He is Knute Kenneth Rockne, and he has made what you might call a reputation by teaching Notre Dame boys how to play good football.

The woman is scarcely known to the public at all, for Mrs. Rockne is an excellent example of how completely the wife of a widely-publicized figure can avoid publicity if she wants to. Mrs. Rockne wants to.

This interview is the first she has ever authorized, and the first to be illustrated by a studio portrait of her. News cameramen, of course, have clicked their inquisitive shutters upon several occasions while she was standing at the side of her famous husband, and the resulting pictures have found their way into the public prints. But, all in all, Mrs. Rockne has been notably successful in avoiding all forms of publicity.

Talking to her, you readily understand how she has so successfully remained in the background. She doesn't attempt to avoid publicity—she merely ignores it. It isn't distasteful to her—it simply doesn't interest her.

MRS. ROCKNE'S chief interest are her home and family. She is tremendously interested, of course, in the success of the teams her husband coaches, but, like most everyone else, apparently believes that he has the situation well in hand and needs no assistance. She would not admit that she ever suggests plays or strategy to her husband, although she is generally believed to be well-informed on football.

The Rockne home is a charming Old English house, located in a beautiful new residential section of South Bend. Obviously the home of a "substantial citizen," it is, just as obviously, a home in which children live. The yard, formal in front, becomes a place in which to play as soon as its neighborhood pride will let it—just a little back of the dining room windows.

Mrs. Rockne possesses the rare ability of being able to talk about her four children without emphasizing the virtues she sees in each.

The oldest, Bill, is 15. Football and athletics in general interest him, but not so much as things mechanical. An alarm clock, in need of a major overhaul, provides him with the makings of a perfect afternoon. Automobiles interest him tremendously, and his mother believes that he will follow some phase of engineering as his life's work.

"Junior"—who has yet to grow into the name of Knute Kenneth—is 12 and already enough of an athlete to have had his prowess recorded in the newspapers and the news reels. He and Bill have been attending Pembroke School in Kansas City, and there Junior has gone in for football and track in a big way.

Two years ago he won the school track championship for his fifth grade. He scored, individually, 18 points in the low hurdle events. Last fall, he played quarterback on the Pembroke eleven and led his midget team through a highly successful season.

Mary Jeanne, only daughter of the Rocknes, is a bright-eyed, golden-haired girl of 10 who likes to lavish care upon her four-year-old brother, Jack. Jack is the heir apparent of a great deal of the Rockne wizardry with a football. Already his punting form is a study in miniature perfection. Mrs. Rockne is left-handed, and so are her sons. Only Jack, however, kicks a football left-footed.

Billy Rockne . . . is already a pebble off the old Rock . . . and also interested in taking alarm clocks apart.

Knute Kenneth Rockne . . . quarterback of the Pembroke School team . . . has already shown considerable aptitude for football . . . and also track sports, in which he has made some good schoolboy records.

Mrs. Knute Rockne. . . . Her home is her hobby, but she enjoys driving her own car. . . . Met her famous husband when he was an end on the team he now coaches.

Jack Rockne . . . is only a little past four, but already his punting style is a little miniature of perfection.

COACH ROCKNE, in a recent talk at Chicago said that "no coach is a miracle man to his own family." However much awe he might be able to inspire in the hearts of All-American fullbacks and 200-pound guards during working hours, his family is not likely to take him so seriously. For the Rockne household is characterized by a typical American-home spirit of comradship. Plenty of work and play keeps everyone too busy to feel the need of a lot of inflexible discipline.

"A great many people seem surprised that Mr. Rockne is very much a family man," Mrs. Rockne remarked. "As busy as he is, he spends a great deal of time with the children. He enjoys nothing better than getting out in the yard with them and kicking a football around."

The Rockne summer home is on Lake Michigan, at Marquette Woods, in the heart of the Indiana and Michigan sand dunes region. Rockne's favorite summer sport is playing with the children on the beach. Three or four hours every afternoon, the children get the benefit of the undivided attention of one of America's greatest coaches. Small wonder that they are as sturdy as iron! Will they be making touchdowns for Notre Dame some day? Mrs. Rockne answers: "I believe that when boys are old enough to go to college, they are old enough to decide where they want to go. I believe it is a mistake for parents to attempt to make this decision for their children.

"Mr. Rockne believes that they should not go to Notre Dame if he is still coaching there, because of the partiality he might be accused of, in case they develop into football players. But if they go to another school and play against a team coached by their father, I'll have to be on their side, of course!"

Mrs. Rockne has very decided opinions about what features of the Rockne home life are of interest to the public and what are not. One of the latter is her husband's personal tastes. She refused to commit herself on the subject of Mr. Rockne's favorite foods and laughed at the idea that his diet might have something to do with his famed abundance of energy.

"Mr. Rockne likes everything," she insists. "He thoroughly enjoys a good meal."

The wife of the coach of Notre Dame's widely traveled football teams does considerable traveling herself. In addition to accompanying her husband on many of his trips with the team, she has been abroad with him, and to Hawaii. Outside the football season, usually before they open their lake home for the summer, Mrs. Rockne enjoys long motor tours. She has driven a car for 14 years and if she could be said to have a hobby, outside of her home, it is motoring. Last spring she drove from Florida to Quebec.

BUT mostly, Mrs. Rockne enjoys the brown brick house in South Bend that is her home. And it is a home in which any woman would be happy.

The living room is large and beautifully furnished. A massive fireplace dominates one side of the room, and if the weather is at all appropriate, there is sure to be a crackling wood fire. The flames light up a large oil painting of Rockne, hanging on the wall of an adjoining room.

The picture is virtually life-sized. It shows a half-length view of Rockne, in his coaching togs, holding a football. The background is dark blue and the frame gold—a striking use of Notre Dame's school colors. The room in which this picture hangs in Rockne's "den," but this is not, as you might suppose, the place where the Irish strategy is born in the wily Scandinavian's brain.

"If Mr. Rockne plans any of his strategy at home, no one knows about it," Mrs. Rockne says. "He leaves all serious thought about football when he leaves the field."

A BEAUTIFUL grand piano is a prominent feature of the living room, and the children are being taught to play. All have inherited from their father a natural aptitude for music, Mrs. Rockne says. And there hangs a tale about Rockne's past which is little known.

Mrs. Rockne tells the story this way:

"When Knute was a student at Notre Dame and played end on the football team, he also played something less strenuous—a flute. Wherever the team went, the flute was sure to go, like Mary's little lamb, and because game after game was won, the flute became an omen of good fortune.

"Finally, on the last trip of the year, the boys arrived at their destination before learning, to their dismay, that Knute's flute had been left behind. After a brief conference, they decided to telegraph back to Notre Dame to have it sent. The flute arrived just before game time—early enough to save the game, apparently, for Notre Dame won!"

Mrs. Rockne met her now famous husband while he was playing end for Notre Dame and gaining fame for his ability to catch any and all forward passes flung in his general direction. Aerial football was an innovation in those days.

Mrs. Rockne's maiden name was Bonnie Skiles and her home was in Kenton, Ohio. She was married 16 years ago—soon after Rockne was graduated from Notre Dame with a Bachelor of Science degree. Their home has always been in South Bend, within a couple of miles of the university to which Rockne has devoted his talents.

THEIR home is a picture of peace, in marked contrast to the roar and bustle of packed stadia, the background that usually comes to mind at the mention of the name Rockne. The cheers and shouts of touchdown-hungry multitudes seem far away, indeed.

Mary Jeanne seats herself at the grand piano beside the fireplace, and picks up a piece of sheet music. You notice that its blue and gold cover contains a picture of her daddy. It's the Notre Dame "Victory March."

At the end of my interview with her, Mrs. Rockne phoned for a taxi. It arrived so quickly that both of us remarked at the amazing service.

The driver jerked his cab to a stop at the curb, sprang from his seat and raced, breathless, up to the door.

"Gee," he said, "I got the number, 1417 East Wayne Street, and thought Rock wanted to get some place in a hurry. I left a customer in the ditch and beat it over!"

Since either was correct he could never be entirely sure which to choose, black waistcoat or white. was not without a great deal interested curiosity that Hamill pted the unusual commission. uess them slippers ain't Miss 'er's now?" he said, with an pon the low heels.

No, they are mine."

Yeh? Reckon you don't wear in public, do you? Maybe them's see mules I been seein' about in papers."

"No, they are for dancing," said rd, somewhat embarrassed.

"Yeh?" Hammill rallied slowly. u e s s them Frenchmen wear thes pretty much like women," commented shrewdly.

Bard was glad to make his escape without further discussion, and the old man with one puzzled, American shake of his shaggy head set to work of polishing.

"Gosh," said Bard, as he struggled manfully with his tie, "life's just great. Joie de vivre—from henceforth you're my middle name. Guess the gods aren't holding any grudges against me! Guess I hit it just about in the jolly O. K. this time!"

Boyishly he had planned his appearance. Ginger would be ready first, waiting for him downstairs, perhaps tapping an impatient toe for his tardiness, bright eyes intent upon the broad staircase where he must presently appear.

He would run lightly down—he had seen it done a hundred times on the stage!—gloves in one hand, hat in the other—head high over the stiff collar—and she would lift up a white hand in surprised and delighted greeting from the big chair—

He opened his door softly. It was already 10 minutes past the time he had set for their departure. She was bound to be waiting. At the end of the hall he was confronted with a full-length mirror, and after the first sudden wave of satisfaction with his general appearance, he stopped for a more minute inspection.

He turned carefully from side to side, admiring the cut of his coat in the rear, drawing in his waist and straightening his shoulders, elevating his chin the least bit. He tried the gloves in the right hand, then in the left—lifted the chin a bit more.

The door beside which he had been standing for this precautionary final examination opened with great suddenness and Ginger was obliged to pull herself up sharply to avoid a genuine collision.

Her lips parted slowly, her eyes widened.

"Oh," she breathed softly, "you—look—nice."

He shook off the slight confusion her unexpected appearance had caused. "Oh, Ginger!" he said, and once again, "Oh, Ginger!" He entirely forgot the good entrance he had so carefully arranged. "Ginger—you are just lovely. Oh, you are an angel! Oh, how blue!"

"My sapphires," she stammered, laying a nervous hand upon the pendant at her throat.

"Your eyes," he said. He moved closer to her "Ginger, you—you make everything inside of me—my heart—my breath—my very soul—turn upside down. I feel that I am —almost—standing on my head. You are so beautiful."

"You—look nice," she repeated feebly, and felt for the first time the vast futility of words. "You look so nice that I'm afraid—I'm going to cry."

They both laughed a little self-consciously, and she patted her eyes with a wisp of a lace handkerchief.

"I never looked as nice as this before," he said.

"Didn't you?"

"Guess not. I never made anybody cry with it before."

She laughed at that. "I'm not crying. Not really crying! I'm just excited—and surprised — and so many things have happened. I don't see people look as nice as that very often."

"Ginger," It was Phil's cool low voice from below.

"Y-yes," was the fluttering answer. "I'm on my way."

5,000 SUSPENDED

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24. (AP) — Dispatches from Tampico to the newspaper El Universal today said 5,000 men had been thrown out of work there by cessation of operations on a hydro-electric plant under construction by engineers from the United States. The men received a month's salary but no explanation of the suspension was given.

Relief from Gas Stomach Pains Dizziness

The doctors tell us that 90 per cent of all sickness is due to stomach and bowel troubles. You can't be well if your digestion is bad; you are likely to get sick unless you relish food and digest it properly.

Tanlac has a wonderful record as a relief from digestive troubles, even those of years' standing.

Mr. L. B. Simmons, of 1434½ Larimer St., Denver, Colo., says: "Tanlac made me relish and digest my food fine. It also cured me of gas, dizzy spells and nervousness. Now I sleep well and can put in as good a day's work as a youngster."

If you suffer from gas, pains in the stomach or bowels, dizziness, nausea, constipation, or torpid liver; if you have no appetite, can't sleep and are nervous and all run down, you need Tanlac. It is good, pure medicine, made of roots, herbs and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

Cotton Trading Resumed In Cotton Mart — Livestock Hogs Are Slow At Weak, Lower Price — Grain Little Change In Cash Grain Market

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24. (AP)—Trading was resumed in cotton here today after the double holiday with very active business. Although it was the first March notice day and notices for 19,200 bales were issued here and for 97,000 bales in New York, it was reported the notices were being promptly stopped. Liverpool cables also were much better than due, and the stock market started off promisingly. The opening showed gains of 11 to 16 points and prices continued to advance during the morning until they showed advances of 24 to 26 points over Saturday's close.

Near noon there was considerable profit taking and prices eased off 2 to 6 points from the best, but the offerings were well absorbed, and prices rallied again almost to the highs in the early afternoon. The market became quiet active in late trading, and prices made new highs 26 to 30 points above the previous close. A very active demand was reported for cotton goods and the undertone was very firm. The close was at or near the top the general market being called steady at net advances for the day of 24 to 29 points.

"Bridge Slaying" Trial Slows Down

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 24. (AP)—Difficulty in finding veniremen who had not formed an opinion and the searching examination to which each was subjected dragged out selection of a jury today for the trial of Mrs. Myrtle Bennett, accused of killing her husband over a bridge game.

The 35-year old defendant, dressed in black and pale of face, watched the proceedings calmly.

Her counsel, headed by Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, indicated she would be placed on the stand to relate details of the shooting of her husband, John G. Bennett, wealthy representative of a perfume company, which followed a bridge game at their apartment Sept. 29, 1929.

TO CONSIDER BALDWIN

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (AP)—In executive session the senate will again tomorrow morning consider former Governor Dan Moody's appointment of Frank Baldwin, Waco newspaperman, to the state board of education. The closed session was set by Senator Pollard of Tyler, chairman of the governors' nominations committee.

MAYOR DEFEATED

VICTORIA, Feb. 24. (AP)—S. S. Sitterle, mayor of Victoria for ten years, was defeated for re-election today by E. J. Blackert, 818 to 327.

power in the hands of a few men. Several expressed the opinion that cities were able to care for themselves.

Bailey Jones, secretary of the board of development of New Braunfels, said the commission would work a hardship on the smaller towns, saying the small towns had little difficulty in satisfactorily adjusting rate disputes.

Concerned With Cost.

O. E. Carr, city manager of Fort Worth, said opponents appeared primarily concerned with the cost. He charged the Texas public utilities were "currying" favor with the press through liberal advertisements and quoted a reported statement from the Texas Public Service Bureau to M. Carmichael, of the Iowa commission on public utility information, which said Texas utilities did not have much difficulty with the newspapers due to advertising.

Bryan F. Williams, city attorney of Galveston, characterized the condition of the cities as "wholly helpless" to regulate public utilities. He said the state regulation was necessary or the cities would have to give up the fight and let the utilities do as they pleased.

Controlled In East.

Carr also claimed that a majority of the Texas utilities were controlled by New York and eastern interests with the profits going mostly to eastern stockholders. He estimated the income of Texas utilities at from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000.

L. R. Burrow of Spur, manager of the municipally owned power plant in that town, said the town was forced to municipal ownership through the unfair tactics of the West Texas Utilities company. At the time the town decided on municipal ownership, the rate was 16 cents per kilowatt hour. Shortly afterwards, the company lowered the rate to 13 cents and now is charging only two and one-half cents, Burrow said, charging it was an effort to destroy the municipal plant.

paid out about $30,000 prior to quitting business because of lack of funds in August, 1930.

Admits Using Funds.

The witness admitted that money was taken from the expense account to open a miniature golf course in San Angelo and that the expense account did not specify the nature of the expenses.

In the indictment, in which the government charged the Greater Metropolitan with illegal use of the mails in a scheme based on the "chance" of marriage, a lottery, the Greater Metropolitan was shown to be the result of a merger of seven marriage insurance organizations: The Matrimonial Mutual association of Waco; Home Builders, Inc., Waco; West Texas Marriage club, San Angelo; Western Matrimonial Trust company, San Angelo; Knights and Ladies Matrimonial Alliance club, Corsicana; North Texas Marriage club, Sherman, and Metropolitan Marriage Endowment association. The concern was alleged to have had a total of 1,148 members as of June 1, 1930.

Stocks Rise Rapidly In Most Active Session Of Exchange Since October

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (AP)—The most active market since October 10, saw stocks rise rapidly during the earlier hours today, meet heavy profit-taking in the afternoon and then close with a strong tone as bulls put support behind the utilities and specialties.

The turnover of 5,389,000 shares exceeded by a substantial margin any previous day's business this year. Sales in the first half hour totaled 900,000 shares, representing a huge accumulation of buying orders.

Final Below Top.

Generally, final prices were considerably below the top, although some of the last minute favorites got up their best head of steam just before the close. Conspicuous among these was Eastman Kodak which soared 9 3-4 points. Standard Gas and Electric, with a gain of 6, and American and Foreign Power and American Water Works, whose advances amount to 5 1-2 net, were other features. Shorts in Westinghouse Electric also suffered a severe squeezing, for the stock climbed about 7 points and finished just under the top. Case and U. S. Industrial Alcohol also were strong.

South Plains towns probably will present data showing affect of the proposed consolidation on mail delivery when the hearing is reconvened next Monday.

The chamber secretaries were guests of the local chamber at a luncheon Tuesday noon in conjunction with the West Texas City Officials association and went into session immediately afterwards. Cities invited to have representatives at the conference were: Slaton, Post, Wilson, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Meadow, Ropes, Brownfield, Seagraves, Levelland, Littlefield, Idalou, Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton, Abernathy and Hale Center.

Lubbock chamber officials contend that the convenience and necessity of the South Plains towns served by the Santa Fe is of more importance than the convenience and necessity of towns on the main line of the T. and P. from Sweetwater west, for the reason that the towns west of Sweetwater are adequately served by other T. and P. trains.

"Big Bill"

John H. Lyle, and Mayor Thompson's aldermanic enemy, Arthur F. Albert.

Quietest In Memory.

Silent, themselves, and hoarse from the shouting of the tumultuous campaign, they looked upon the quietest primary day in memory. Here and there alarms were sounded, now and again the roving fleet of detective squads raced to polling places to quell reported disorders. Yet, not one arrest of disturbers was made in the first nine hours of balloting.

Once or twice during the day an election worker was beaten, less than a handful of drunken men threatened polls officials, but there was no gunplay, and the city was steeped in a lethargy that was its reaction from the violence of the contest.

Keenness of rivalry among the republican aspirants for the world's fair term in Chicago's executive chair and the fair skies of a spring-like day were conducive of the huge primary vote, which County Judge Edmund R. Jarecki estimated might reach 925,000.

On the democratic side, save for aldermanic contests, small interest was vouchsafed, for Anton J. Cermak, president of the county commission and Sachem of Cook county democracy, was conceded the mayoral nomination.

Mayor Thompson and his challengers agreed "Big Bill" was the salient issue in the republican primary; Thompson glancing back to the achievements of his 12 years in office and pledging himself in public addresses, by radio, by street corner "talking picture" speeches and with his illustrative circus parades of jackass, mule and horse to "wear no man's halter" and work for his people "18 to 20 hours a day for the next four years."

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 24. (AP) — Hogs around the eleven market circuit were slow at weak to 25c lower prices, the most decline on weights under 230 lbs. Strong weight butchers are 25c higher than the low spot last week. The day's extreme top of 7.40 was paid in Chicago for choice 190-210 lb. weights. Total offerings were around 93,000 as compared with 118,736 a week ago and 106,846 the corresponding day last year.

After a slow start fat lamb trade at most markets closed fully steady. Outsiders in Chicago paid up to 9.00 for choice fed woolen lambs. The supply numbering around 55,000 was 4,000 heavier than last Tuesday and 4,000 short of a year ago.

Receipts Lower.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 39,500 against 38,000 a week ago and 36,765 a year ago. Although killing classes were very slow, prices were about steady with Monday's dull close. Practically all grades and classes of killing are selling at new low levels. Chicago had a top of 10.50 on heavy steers and 10.15 for medium weights. Bulk fed steers are under the 9.00 mark with well conditioned kinds at the river markets having to sell from 7.25@8.25. Two loads of fed South Texas steers in Kansas City brought 6.25.

Old-Timers

county commissioner and a Garza county resident for 28 years, and Dr. J. D. Davis of Roby were among the speakers.

Recalling experiences in the West Texas cow country, when polecat oil was a medicine and physicians went to their patients on horseback, Doctor Davis described Tom Davis as the first "dude" to come to West Texas.

Denies Charges.

Pushing his chair back from the proverbial festive board, Mr. Davis arose and denied the doctor's allegation that he had been a "dude."

Frank Parker of Roby, J. Wright Moore of Scurry county, John Mason of Post, Ed Scott and Rev. M. C. Bishop of Post were other extemporaneous speakers.

A pioneer buffalo hunter who invaded this territory in 1873, Mr. Moore spun yarns of his hunting days and announced that he had willed his white buffalo hide to the Smithsonian institute, which would receive the hide following his death. The animal from which the hide was taken was killed by Mr. Moore, who is credited with having bagged the only white buffalo in West Texas history.

After arriving in the Plains country, he had no money with which to leave and consequently now is an old settler. That was Mr. Mason's version of his pioneering. He has lived in the Post vicinity the last 50 years.

Self-styled "most crippled cowboy," Mr. Scott declared that he was ready to ride a broncho even though his legs had been broken four times.

An old fiddler, J. D. Hoffman, of Garza county, performed to be applauded by some who perceived him clearly as a fiddler and some, who merely felt that clapping of hands was appropriate.

Mr. Bynum, Mr. Mason, Charles Morrow and "Doc" Knox presented square and clog dances to the accompaniment of Ross Edwards and his "Connecticut Yankees."

like Abernathy, on the South Plains.

Grady Shipp, manager of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Shipp spoke of the obligations of a town to the community and of the citizens of a community to the rest of the group. He praised the work of community organizations such as the Abernathy group.

H. S. Hilburn, editor of the Plainview Herald and Judge L. S. Kinder, of Plainview, pioneer attorney of the South Plains, also made brief talks as did C. Martin of Petersburg.

ways would be protected. He said he believed the speed limit of trucks was excessive.

Lamar Gill of Raymondville, who said he was an attorney for a railroad company, and that his people had lived "in Texas 100 years," referred to a headline in a paper telling of a crash between a bus and a truck where one person was killed and 12 injured.

D. G. Griffin of Fort Worth said there were 206,000 trucks registered in Texas today and that 3,500 of them were regulated by the railroad commission. He said he represented the employes of these 3,500 trucks regulated companies.

Griffin said the truck and bus companies had absorbed the number of men thrown out of work by the railroad companies.

Ed Balcolm of Dallas said members of the motor transportation industry were anxious to see regulatory measures passed. He said it would aid their business, but legislators should give consideration to every angle so that no business would be crippled by legislation.

dividuals, or a group of individuals assuring them of support and cooperation," the resolutions read. "Also through this means to encourage the construction of a competitive pipe line to bring gas to the respective cities.

"In the event cities are not successful in securing competition, they should band together in the construction of a pipe line to transport the gas. In the event private interests will not construct such lines then each city immediately shall take steps toward municipal ownership of the distribution system, either by exercising franchise or charter rights in the purchase of the existing system or by the construction of another system."

Favor House Bill

The meeting had hardly been called yesterday before telegrams were speeding over the wires to Austin. These telegrams, bearing the association's signature, urged the support of Governor Ross Sterling, senators and representatives of this district and members of the house committee on state affairs in passage of house bill No. 306, providing for the establishment of a public utilities commission.

"This section of Texas has never been given proper consideration in legislation," President Goodman declared before the body. "To get this proper representation and consideration is a real job and this association will work to that end. The officers and executive committee must study the problems carefully because they represent a huge empire. As president of this body, you have but to call upon me and I'll go to Austin, to Washington or anywhere in any effort to forward the interests of West Texas."

Welcomed By Davis

Tuesday's session, the second one to be held in Lubbock, the first having been held on February 13 when a temporary organization was set up, was opened with Mayor Clements in the chair. He, however, relinquished it upon election of Mayor Goodman as president. A brief address of welcome was made by A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, who, in short but cordial words, extended this city's welcome to all visiting officials. "We of Lubbock are glad to have you here," Mr. Davis stated. "The greatest asset of this large empire is cooperation, harmony and unity on the part of its citizenship. Working together we will accomplish the things which are need for the section as a whole."

Paul T. Vickers, secretary of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, responded, declaring that "Lubbock has established a Texas-wide reputation for its hospitality. Some assemblies have even designated Lubbock as a permanent meeting place and, speaking for all visitors, we are glad indeed to avail ourselves of this splendid courtesy. The people of this great western empire will have a greater feeling of interest and sentiment will be solidified as this organization is perfected here today."

Preliminary matters were quickly relegated and those of more pertinent nature called for action.

Mayor Goodman, as chairman of a committee appointed at the first meeting to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the association, was the first to report. The recommendations, as prepared by his committee, were adopted without change.

Name of the organization was decided as the West Texas Municipal association, predicated in the theory that no private interest shall come before or in conflict with the rights of the people.

Purpose of the organization, as outlined in Article 1, shall be to act as a unit in opposing unfair legislation, unfair utility rates and to seek needed legislation and otherwise function to preserve, protect and forward the best, rightful interests in the citizens of the municipal members. It shall not be political, and shall have no paid officers.

Any mayor, city manager, city councilman, or alderman may be a member of the association whose municipality is one of the cooperating group composing this organization. The unit of membership shall be the city, and each city shall have but one vite. In the event extra monies are required above the $25 initial fee, assessments are to be made on member towns, proportionate to population, on conditoin that such cities agree to such assessments, either through the medium of a general meeting or upon written statement.

Set Meeting Date

Regular annual meetings shall be held the second Tuesday in May at a place set by the executive committee.

The executive committee of the association shall act in all minor matters, and all matters of mere detail when the calling of a general meeting, or mail balloting is unwarranted but in no case shall the executive committee have the power to act for the body in any matter which may entail additional taxation, or involve the association in any extraordinary expenditures. In any case where extraordinary expenditures are involved, or where legislation may be sought requiring additional taxes upon the people, either a general meeting or a mail ballot must be conducted to pledge to action or result in action by this association. A two-thirds majority of all cities voting shall be necessary to any action.

Other recommendations approved by the organiastion in addition to that pertaining to obtaining of competition to the gas companies include the following:

Would Require Report

"1. That all cities in this section require the gas company serving them to file immediately annual report, if they have not already done so, as required by law. If reports are not on file for the years since the company constructed the system, these also should be secured. Copies of these reports should be mailed to the executive committee.

"2. Copies of annual reports by years for the last five years, including 1930 should be secured from the pipe line company serving the cities in this district. These probably will have to be secured from the Railroad Commission at Austin. It would be better if they could be secured from the office of the pipe line company. This information should be placed in the hands of the committee also.

"3. All cities should send copies of their franchises to the committee at the earliest possible date.

"4. It has been found that pipe line companies are paying an average of one to six cents per thousand cubic feet for gas at the wells and are receiving as high as firty cents at the city gate. Consequently it is suggested that negotiations be entered into through this organization with gas pipe line company officials, that a wholesale rate at the city gate be made not to exceed 20 cents per thousand cubic feet as the cost of transporting gas to the various cities in this area has been found should not exceed six cents to 15 cents.

Await House Action

"5. In view of the fact that the legislature is now in session and legislation is being considered to the problems now being considered by this organization and since such legislation shall probably be disposed of within the next sixty days, it is suggested that no court action be taken by the cities until final disposition of such legislation.

"6. It is also suggested that this body support the bill amending corporation laws so that gas pipe line companies cannot own gas producing properties."

Those attending Tuesday's meeting were: W. O. Thomas, Tahoka; R. E. McCaskill, Littlefield; A. J. Payne, Slaton; T. I. Batson, Amherst; Brady Shipp, Plainview; W. A. Richter, Abernathy; W. F. NEWS BRIEFS

Rural schools of Lubbock county this week will observe Arbor day, according to Miss Mae Murfee, county schools superintendent. Acuff school conducted a tree planting program Tuesday afternoon and a similar one will be held Friday afternoon at Canyon school. Fifty trees around each Lubbock county school house has been fixed as a goal, and five schools planted 50 trees each last year, Miss Murfee said.

A meeting of the Chemistry society of Texas Technological college was held Tuesday night. Principal speaker was Dr. W. L. Ray, professor of organic chemistry, who gave "A Brief Discussion of the Ammonia System of Acids, Bases and Salts." Students on the program included Miss Marie Wall and Hugh Gilliam.

Total of automobile licenses issued in Lubbock county this year lacks about 500 of equalling the number which had been issued at this time last year, according to A. J. Clark, tax collector. A total of 7,024 passenger car licenses and 855 truck licenses had been issued here through Monday.

A Ford coupe owned by the sheriff's department and reported stolen late Monday afternoon was found Tuesday morning in a ditch about three miles east of Lorenzo. The automobile, which was not damaged, had been driven about 100 miles since it was taken from the courthouse square, according to county officers.

A suspect whom officers said was wanted at Brownwood in connection with a rape case was a temporary prisoner in the Lubbock city jail Tuesday night. Arrested at Seagraves, the suspect was brought here by Deputy Sheriff Hallmark of Brownwood, who was en route to Brownwood with the prisoner.

Hill Is On Trial In Bank Robbery

EASTLAND, Feb. 24. (AP) — The story of "Santa Claus" robbery of the First National bank of Cisco on Christmas eve day, 1927, was retold here today by state witnesses in the trial of Robert Hill, last of the bandit gang charged with murder for the slaying of Police Chief G. E. Bedford of Cisco, killed at the time of the holdup. Hill was recaptured recently in El Paso after he had escaped from a state prison farm several months ago.

Witnesses agreed that from 75 to 100 shots were fired inside and outside the bank during the robbery.

None of the witnesses said they saw Hill shoot Chief Bedford or shoot at anyone else. Alec Speer, cashier of the bank, testified he saw Hill shooting inside the bank. Miss Laverne Comer, one of two girls used by the bandits as shields as they raced from the bank and that he broke out the windshield with a gun.

DAWES TO CONTINUE

LONDON, Feb. 24. (AP)—General Charles G. Dawes, America's fiery ambassador to the court of St. James', who has won his way into the hearts of the British people, plans to serve his full term of two more years here, he told the Associated Press today.

AMARILLO, Feb. 24. (AP)—William Thomas Fakes, 41, president of the Fakes-Palmer Furniture company of Amarillo, died tonight at his home here. He was a son of W. T. Fakes who founded the Fakes Furniture company of Dallas and Fort Worth. Funeral services and burial will be in Dallas.

Hawkins, who is 34 years old, is charged with the murder of his 76-year-old father-in-law the afternoon of October 28, 1929, during an altercation said by witnesses to have grown out of Hawkins' refusal to stop a dog fight. Hawkins shot Walker with a shotgun, witnesses of the slaying said.

Right To Sell World Sought

Sale Of New York Newspapers Founded By Late Joseph Pulitzer To Scripps-Howard Asked In Court

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (AP)—Authorization to sell the Evening World, the Morning World and the Sunday World to the Scripps-Howard newspaper interests for consolidation with the New York Telegram, was asked in surrogate's court today by attorneys representing Ralph, Joseph and Herbert Pulitzer.

The attorneys presented to the court a contract sale under the terms of which the Scripps-Howard interests seek to take over the name, good will, the press membership and the going value of the World papers established in the 1880's by the late Joseph Pulitzer.

The Telegram is a Scripps-Howard newspaper. Roy W. Howard is its editor and publisher.

Appears In Court.

Max Steur appeared in court, representing Paul Block, publisher of a group of newspapers, after attorneys for the Pulitzers had spoken, and told Surrogate Foley Mr. Block was interested in the properties.

John G. Jackson, of Pulitzer counsel, told the court Mr. Block had offered $10,000,000 for the Morning and Sunday Worlds, then reduced it to $8,000,000, and finally had withdrawn it entirely. He said this was only one of a number of negotiations, but that only those with the Scripps-Howard, interests had proceeded to the point of sale and he asked the court again to approve the contract presented on behalf of the Pulitzers.

In the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, his three sons — Ralph, Joseph and Herbert—were made life beneficiaries of a trust composed of the New York World papers. The sons were named trustees, and the will expressed a wish that the sons and their descendants continue publication of the World papers as a public institution.

Crisis Precipitated.

This wish, according to representations made to the court by attorneys for the Pulitzers, was fulfilled until economic conditions precipitated a crisis in the affairs of the concern. Prevented under the terms of the trust from public financing, attorneys asserted, the trustees were forced to choose between discontinuing publication or selling the papers to a newspaper institution financially able to carry on, and friendly in policy to the ideals and editorial policies of the World.

Because the will gave no power of sale to the trustees, because the three sons were trustees, and because the children of the trustees and the children of the sisters of the trustees had a residuary interest, the trustees were forced to seek approval of the sale by surrogate's court.

The World and the Evening World are part of a journalistic enterprise begun in the eighties by the late Joseph Pulitzer, one of the country's most famous publishers.

Road Contract To Be Awarded

Paving Project From Lubbock To County Line At Abernathy And Crosby County Job To Be Included In Lettings

Contracts are to be let Saturday for a 17-mile concrete slab job in Lubbock county, a six-mile grading and drainage job in Crosby county and a 10-mile grade and drainage job in Hall county, by the state highway commission at its big February-March letting.

The paving job is from the city limits of Lubbock north to the Hale county line at Abernathy, a distance of 17.2 miles. By the time the concrete has reached the underpass of the Santa Fe south of Monroe, it is expected that work will be ready. It is on highway No. 9.

Crosby Road Included.

In Crosby county the contract is from between six and seven miles of grading work from the west side of the road district four miles west of Crosbyton through the town and to the top of the caprock several miles east of the county seat. Present road into Blanco canyon where a new road from the east line of the county to the middle of the canyon has been opened, will be used.

Hall county's program includes a 10.5 mile job from the east side of the road district to Hulver. This is to connect with paving from Turkey to Estelline.

At the next letting, probably late March or early April, it is planned to let the contract for paving south to Lynn county from Lubbock, a distance of about 13 miles.

Calls For Program.

In discussing the Lubbock county highway construction program, Guy R. Johnson, construction engineer for this district, pointed out that the bond issue of nearly a million dollars, as voted by Lubbock county residents, called for a specific program.

"Order of importance of the construction, as decided by the issue," said Mr. Johnston, "was to be: No. 7 southwest; No. 9 north; No. 9 south; No. 7 northwest; No. 24 east, and No. 137 southwest.

"The first No. 7 paving has been competed; we are ready to pave on the highway north; grade work is ready on the highway south and the grade and drainage work on No. 7 northwest will be completed about the middle of March."

Plans for No. 24 east are in Austin and as soon as the right-of-way is completed by the county, it is expected that the state will be ready to let bids.

Plans for No. 137 west and south can be completed by the construction engineer in a week or 10 days.

Mr. Johnston does not plan to attend the letting in Austin February 27 and 28 and March 2 and 3, he indicated.

SETTLERS SOUGHT

ESCOBEDO, Coahulla, Mexico, Feb. 24. (AP)—An invitation to persons without employment to come to Escobedo and settle on the large agricultural tracts near here was issued today by the city council. The council promised facilities would be provided the settlers to establish themselves as small farmers. The land offered for settlement belongs to the city.

Merchants Start Plans For Confab

Steering committee of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association's convention arrangements group met for the first time Tuesday morning at chamber of commerce offices. State convention of retail merchants will be held here May 25, 26 and 27.

A discussion of preliminary plans for the approaching convention featured the conference of the committee and chairmen were appointed for six sub-committees to handle separate phases of the entertainment. These chairmen were appointed from the committee personnel.

The committees, with their chairmen, are: reception and transportation—J. D. Hassell, jr.; local and state attendance—R. C. Smith; Arrangements—W. O. Daniels; entertainment for visiting ladies—W. W. Rix; registration and information—J. D. Hassell, jr.; stunts, music and entertainment—R. C. Smith and W. W. Rix.

Four-H Council To Meet Saturday

The Lubbock county Four-H club council will meet at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the district courtroom at the courthouse. Milton Davis, chairman, of Acuff, will preside.

Wayland Potts of the Canyon club is vice president; Aleen Cooksey, of the New Hope club, secretary and Irene Brown of the Shallowater club, reporter.

At the last meeting it was decided to hold sessions of the council on the fourth Saturday in each month. There were 85 boys and girls present at the last meeting.

Both D. F. Eaton, county agent and Miss Ruth Stockton, home demonstration agent, will attend.

SIX KILLED

CALCUTTA, India, Feb. 24. (AP)—Six persons were killed and 30 injured today by a storm of hail stones, some of them weighing as much as half a pound, in the Jhanbuhm district of Bengal. Scores of cattle were killed at Karakanali by the stones.

Knocks out that "knock"

Get the BEST . . . from Your Motor

Automotive engineers and motor car builders have greatly improved motor car efficiency by increasing compression. The car owner—the motorist—should maintain this efficiency by the use of proper anti-knock motor fuel.

No-Nox Ethyl Stops Knocks

. . . eliminates even the faintest click or ping. This assures a lightning getaway in traffic with a smooth fast pick up—makes traffic a pleasure. It's a great victory—a great service to the motorist.

Another desirable feature of No-Nox Ethyl is its extremely low end point which gives it an instant vaporizing quality for quick easy starting on coldest days and adds an exhilarating power.

Muleshoe Host For Farm Meet

Irrigation And General Farm Session To Be Held March 4 And 5; County Agent In Charge Of Arrangements

MULESHOE, Feb 24. (Special)—An irrigation and general farm meeting arranged by Fred S. Reynolds, county agent, will be attended by Bailey county farmers here Wednesday and Thursday, March 4 and 5.

The meeting was planned at the request of many farmers following the recent irrigation meeting held at Plainview the first week in February and the farm tour staged by D. A. Adams, Lamb county agent, in January.

Many to Speak

Irrigation, cattle feeding, alfalfa, poultry, grain sorghums, fertilizers, cotton and seed selection will be discussed by well known speakers. Tentative list of speakers as announced by Mr. Reynolds included: Captain Winfield Holbrook, Plainview, general manager of the Texas Land and Development company and an authority on irrigation on the South Plains; R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the state experiment station at Spur, who is said to have teraced more land than any other man in West Texas; Ralph Will, county agent of Portales, N. M.; Mr. Don L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock state experiment farm and an authority on grain sorghums and cotton seeds; John J. Bayles, superintendent of the experiment station at Balmorhea and an authority on irrigation; David F. Eaton, county agent at Lubbock and well known poultry and swine judge; Sterling C. Evans, College Station, veteran count agent and now county agent leader for the South Plains, and J. W. Jennings, manager of the Lockhart Demonstration farm at Plainview.

To Explain Pure Seed

A representative of the state cotton breeders association will be asked to explain how to obtain certified cotton seed.

Several local men will lead discussion of the several subjects to be heard. County agents in nearby counties: D. A. Adam, Lamb; R. B. Davis, Hale; W. C. Hale, Castro; W. T. Magee, Hockley; R. E. Shaver, Lynn; W. W. Evans, Dawson, and E. L. Tanner, Dickens, have been invited.

Vocational agriculture teachers from surrounding counties are expected to be present also, with groups from their classes.

Sessions will be held in the courthouse. Judge J. E. Adams, county judge and Jess Mitchell, editor of the Muleshoe Journal, are assisting in the program and will welcome visitors.

Wednesday—10 a. m., address by Winfield Holbrook; 11, address on terracing by R. E. Dickson; 1 p. m., address on irrigation by Ralph Will; 2 p. m., address on feeding beef cattle, by R. E. Dickson; 2 p. m., address on seed selection by Don L. Jones.

Thursday—10 a. m., address by John J. Bayless on alfalfa; 11 a. m., address by J. W. Jennings on commercial fertilizers; 11:30, address by D. F. Eaton on "Poultry and a Farm Program"; 1 p. m., address on irrigation for row crops by John J. Bayless; 2 p. m., address by Sterling C. Evans on farm survey; 3 p. m., address on pure bred cotton seed.

New Leader Of Mooney Fight

New leader of the group working for the release of Tom Mooney, California labor leader, who has been in prison since 1918 in connection with the San Francisco "Preparedness Day" bombing of pre-war days, is Walter W. Liggett (above), former newspaperman. He was recently editor of the magazine Plain Talk, and has worked on newspapers in Seattle, New York and Washington.

EN ROUTE TO MEXICO

TEMPLE, Feb. 24. (AP) — Former Governor W. B. Hobby and his bride, who before her marriage was Miss Oveta Culp of Temple, were en route to Mexico today for a short trip. At an unostentatious ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Culp, the couple were married yesterday, with no attendants and with only members of the families and close friends present.
