Officials From Many Colleges Are Expected

Program Will Be Held In Stadium; Public Is Invited

Texas Technological college's fifth president, Dr. Dossie Marion Wiggins, tonight will formally take office as the climax to a highly impressive inauguration ceremony.

Installation of Dr. Wiggins as president will be made by Charles C. Thompson, chairman of the Tech Board of Directors, at 8 o'clock tonight in Jones stadium.

Dr. Campbell To Speak

Principal speaker at the inauguration ceremonies tonight will be Dr. Doak S. Campbell, noted educator and president of Florida State university.

A crowd of several thousand persons, including high officials representing a majority of the outstanding colleges of the nation, is expected for the inauguration service.

Dean James G. Allen, dean of men at the college and chairman of the inaugural committee, has issued a cordial invitation to the public to attend tonight's program.

"It will be one of the most solemn and impressive ceremonies ever conducted in Lubbock," Dean Allen said Monday. "Everyone should make an effort to attend." he added. Should inclement weather prevail, the ceremonies will be moved to the Senior High school auditorium.

Transportation Furnished

Transportation was being furnished for inaugural visitors today through arrangements made by Hurley Carpenter, president of the Ex-Students association, and D. M. McElroy, secretary. Automobile dealers in Lubbock were providing drivers for the cars.

Up to 11 o'clock this morning, 122 delegates had been registered, according to a count made at the registration and transportation desk in the administration building.

Events of the day began at 12:30 p. m. at the Lubbock Country club with a luncheon for delegates and the board of directors. The board of directors opened a two-day meeting here Monday in connection with the inauguration.

Among the special guests at the luncheon was Gov. Beauford Jester who flew here from Austin. In a brief talk he paid personal

Cuban Is Hurt In Train Leap

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 10 (U.P.)—A 34-year-old Cuban teacher remained in a semi-conscious, critical condition in a hospital here today, following his leap from a speeding Santa Fe streamliner here yesterday.

The train was roaring at more than 60 miles an hour, headed for the Kansas City, Mo., union station when Ardelio Hernandez Jimenez kicked out a double rear window of a coach and made his leap.

Railroad workmen found Jimenez and he was rushed to St. Margaret's hospital where attendants said he had suffered a compound fracture of the right ankle, internal injuries and multiple scratches and bruises.

Good Chance To Recover

Authorities said he had a good chance to recover if infection does not develop in scalp lacerations.

Detectives, after an investigation, said they believed the leap was "an attempt at suicide."

Government Spending Slash Gains Support In Congress

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Democrats and Republicans alike in Congress threw support today behind a reported recommendation by President Truman's council of economic advisers for a cut in government spending.

The council was said to have held that because of unsettled business conditions it would be safer to trim spending than to try any sharp tax increase.

Responsible officials said the economists went even further—to suggest the possibility of cutting some excise taxes and of delaying six months a social security payroll tax boost scheduled for July 1.

Each of these proposals got considerable backing from the lawmakers.

Final Decision Awaited

But the final decision on which way to turn in the face of obviously increasing financial pressure on the nation's economy rests with Mr. Truman. Thus far he has refused to back down on his repeated demands for $4,000,000,000 in new taxes.

The economic advisers were said to have urged the President to accept a "lesser goal" than this.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate finance committee said the advisory report—delivered to the White House last week but not yet formally made public—confirms the position he has taken.

"If the national income is shrinking because business is shrinking, it would be nonsense to clap more taxes on a falling economy," George told a reporter. "Our only hope is to cut expenditures."

Similarly, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the tax-writing House ways and means committee, said he is "encouraged" by the advisory report.

"We should cut expenses all possible," he said, adding: "I agree that a big tax increase might have a harmful effect on business."

No Serious Trouble

Commenting on the report, Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath observed:

"I'm the kind who thinks that when you hire a doctor you ought to pay pretty close attention to his advice."

The economic advisers were reported to have found that no major part of the nation's economy is in serious trouble now, but that there are hazards ahead which must be watched closely—particularly the possibility of fourth round wage increases and top-heavy crop surpluses.

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind) kicked up a brief House flurry on the subject of economic conditions yesterday. He said there's too much government spending and "no amount of buck-passing or alibiing can hide Truman administration responsibility" if a depression comes.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill) retorted that there will be no recession, "notwithstanding that the gentleman from Indiana would like to bring

Grease Blob Leads To Big Bank Roll

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—A big blob of grease fell on the windshield of a police car from an el track today forcing Patrolman Gilbert Orr to get out in the rain.

He spotted a pink rag in a gutter and picked it up to use to wipe off the grease. He noticed the rag was knotted at four corners and felt heavy.

He took it to the car and opened it. Out spilled an even $12,000 in cash. There were seventy-eight $100 bills, seventy-five 50's, and many smaller ones.

Police higher-ups were mystified. No such loss had been reported anywhere in the metropolis recently.

Bitter Grief Still Following Refugee

WINDSOR, Ont., May 10 (AP) — Bitter grief is still at the side of Mrs. Emelia Mlynarczyk.

Her husband, Frank, 40, died yesterday in Grace hospital after having been struck by an automobile.

He had been visiting her in the hospital. She gave birth to a girl recently.

The couple, Polish refugees, came to Canada as displaced persons six months ago. Three previous children died of starvation in World War II.

The driver of the car was released by police pending further investigation.

Landis Resigns, Thompson To Be Manager Of KFYO

DeWitt "Judge" Landis, manager of The Avalanche-Journal's Radio Station KFYO for the past 13 years, has resigned his position, effective May 15, and will be succeeded by his assistant, Gordon Thompson.

Landis, in the announcement of his resignation, said he has no plans for the immediate future, but hopes to remain in Lubbock. He and Mrs. Landis have only recently moved into a new home they built at 3106 Twenty-third.

Thompson has been KFYO's assistant manager since his return from three years of Navy service in January of 1946. Prior to his naval service he was a coach and teacher in both junior and senior high schools here.

No Change In Station Policy

Thompson said there will be no changes in the policies or over-all operation of KFYO, South Plains outlet for the American Broadcasting company and the pioneer radio station of this area. He said staff re-arrangements necessary under the change in managers will be made and announced at a later date.

Landis said he leaves the management of KFYO with regret and that his resignation was prompted only by his plans to expand his personal radio investments. He is principal owner of Station KTCA in Clovis and expects to become interested in other stations in the near future. He and Mrs. Landis have two sons, DeWitt, jr., 10, and Charlie, 9.

The Thompsons live at 2604 Twenty-fourth street. They have twin sons, Jerry and Terry, five years old.

Both Widely Known

Both Landis and Thompson are widely known in Lubbock and both have been active in civic circles. Landis is a member of the Kiwanis club, of which he is a past president, Thompson is a member of the American Business club. Both are members of the Lubbock Country club.

Landis also has been active in Masonic circles, is a Shriner and a past president of the South Plains Scottish Rite club.

Bonus Hope In Texas Is Dim

AUSTIN, May 9 (U.P.)—Veterans' hopes for a Texas soldier's bonus grew dim today.

A proposed constitutonal amendment, by Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie, to pay $300,000,000 in bonuses to Texas veterans of three wars was sent to subcommittee last night by the House state affairs committee. Benton would raise funds by a bond issue.

Time Limit Is Set

A "two-week" time limit was set for the subcommittee to report back, which virtually sounded the death knell for the bonus, as far as the 51st legislature is concerned.

Under Benton's plan veterans of the Spanish-American war and two world wars would have received $10 for each month's domestic service and $15 for overseas service, or a maximum of $500, whereas prisoners of war and dependents of deceased veterans would have received up to $750.

An amendment by Rep. John Crosthwait of Dallas to put an additional three-cent tax per package of cigarets was approved before the legislation was sent to subcommittee.

Rep. Davis Clifton of Farmersville suggested limiting payments to enlisted men, but his amendment was voted down 10 to 6.

SHANGHAI, May 10. (AP)—Public executions by police of more than 20 men in the past week have heightened tension in Communist threatened Shanghai.

In various parts of the city the sharp bark of pistol and the heavier thud of tommygun have ended the lives of men charged with espionage or violation of economic measures.

Electricity To West Section Now Flowing

First Trains Will Start Rolling Into Area On Thursday

(By The United Press)

BERLIN, May 10.—Russian authorities began lifting the Berlin blockade 40 hours before the deadline today when they restored electric power to parts of the western sectors.

The Soviet action gave American sector housewives unrationed electricity in the middle of the morning for the first time since power rationing was forced upon western Berlin by the Soviet blockade last July 9.

Power Starts Flowing

Radios played and electric stoves glowed as the power flowed into American sector lines from the Soviet sector. All of Berlin's major power generating stations are in the Soviet sector.

German electric power authorities said the restoration of electricity to the western sectors would take place gradually.

Full service, such as existed before the Russians cut off the power during the first weeks of their blockade, will not be affected until some time Thursday, they said.

Restoration of power was started 40 hours before the official time set for ending the blockade—12:01 a. m. Thursday (6:01 p. m. EDT Wednesday).

16 Trains Daily

At that minute the first of 16 Allied trains a day will begin to roll into Berlin for the first time since the Russians cut off all surface transportation 11 months ago.

The number of trains a day was set under an order by Gen. Vassily C. Chuikov, new Soviet military commander, providing that traffic regulations between the East and West zones return to the status of March 1, 1948.

The 16 trains will supply the western sectors with about 10,000 tons a day, somewhat less than the Anglo-American airlift achieved at its highest point.

Without Restrictions

All freight and passengers on the trains will be passed without restriction. However, the Russians still will retain the privilege of licensing freight shipments going westward out of Berlin.

Western authorities meanwhile instructed Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter to lift Allied counter-blockade measures against the Soviet zone at the same time.

The directive was issued in the name of the Berlin kommandatura. The Soviet Berlin commandant walked out of the kommandatura July 1, 1948, leaving only the American, British and French commanders in Berlin represented.

Miss Gilbert said she would seek either a divorce or an annulment soon.

Man Is 'Eating Himself Out Of World'

World Of Tomorrow Will Be Without Ice Cream Or Meat

(By The Associated Press)

NEWARK, N. J., May 10—There'll be no hot dogs and ice cream in the world of tomorrow.

They are too expensive on a "geochemical" basis.

That's the prediction of Prof. Eugene G. Rochow of Harvard.

But there will be compensations. There may be machines that build your house with earthenware bricks as it digs out the foundation.

When you wake up in your new adobe house, you'll pull off your pajamas and eat them for breakfast.

The professor was awarded a $1,000 prize Monday for his research in sand derivatives. The ban on hot dogs and ice cream must come, he said, because the world is eating up its resources too fast.

Prof. Rochow said meat and eggs must disappear from man's diet because the animals producing them consume too much food.

So that leaves tenderloin steak out of the picture too in Prof. Rochow's bright new

College Financing Plan Will Provide For $4 Million New Building Projects

By C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

Texas Tech's board of directors contracted with a Dallas investment company this morning to arrange for sale of between $2,600,000 and $2,900,000 worth of bonds for the college under the College Building Amendment program.

Central Investment company of Dallas, represented by Fred R. Deaton, was awarded the contract for preparation of the bond issue for sale at a rate of $1.35 per thousand dollars.

The Dallas firm will arrange for attorneys' opinions, perspectus of the bonds, bidding forms, advertising, registration, printing and delivery of the bonds on a turn-key basis. Preparations are expected to be completed within 20 days and notice of bidding is expected to be issued so that the bonds can be marketed within 30 days.

Contract was awarded the Dallas firm this morning after a two-hour breakfast board meeting.

The bonds will provide financing for a projected $4,000,000 building program on the Tech campus, $2,000,000 worth of building having been authorized by the board in its day-long meeting Monday.

Additional building plans will be acted on at a May 30 meeting of the board here.

Contract for preparation of the bonds was awarded the Dallas firm this morning after a two-hour breakfast meeting of the board at which five representatives of bond firms appeared before the board.

LAFB PROBLEMS TO BE TALKED

"Town Meeting" Is Set On Wednesday

A "town meeting" open to everyone will be held in the ballroom of the Hilton Hotel at 3 p. m. Wednesday to discuss the approaching reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base, the chamber of commerce said today.

The primary purpose of the meeting will be to recruit manpower for committees needed to perform the many tasks which are necessary to the reactivation, according to Spencer A. Wells, chairman of the chamber's LAFB steering committee.

Must Be Enlarged

The present committee must be enlarged and numerous subcommittees appointed and assigned to specific duties, he explained.

One of the most pressing of the immediate tasks, he said, is the provision of the additional housing which will be needed because of the reactivation.

It is important, therefore, that persons attend who might help solve this problem, Wells added. These include building contractors, materials dealers, owners and others interested in the development of residence additions and real estate men.

Create Many Problems

The housing needs include dwelling places for GI families who must be moved from the base by Aug. 1 and for the civilian and commissioned personnel of LAFB.

The reactivation also will create many other problems which, if solved, will require the cooperation of the citizenship as a whole, Wells said. These are related to many phases of business, such public improvements as the pavement of Fourth street to the base and many others.

The requirements which must be met in order to go ahead with the reactivation will be explained in detail, he added. The progress

Rainy Weather Still In State

(By The Associated Press)

Thunderclouds gathered over much of Texas today. Only in the Panhandle and extreme North Texas were skies clear this morning.

The weather bureau said scattered thundershowers are expected in the southwest and extreme south portions of East Texas today and tonight, and in west and central portions tomorrow. For West Texas, scattered thundershowers were expected in the Panhandle today and tonight and throughout the area tomorrow.

Cool In Panhandle

Cold weather hung on in the Panhandle. Clarendon reported a 46 reading early today, in contrast to yesterday's Texas high of 100 at Presidio.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. was topped by 1.70 inches at Galveston. Other totals: San Antonio .70 of an inch, Laredo .47, Del Rio .22, Houston .18, Marfa .12, Austin .09, Junction .07 and El Paso .05.

Heavy hail was reported ten miles west of Marfa in Southwest Texas yesterday and light hail fell in the Austin area, the weather bureau said.

Rain Reported

A mild cold front was moving south through the state last night. It followed a line south of Lufkin and Bryan, north of Austin, and westward through Junction and Marfa.

Winds increased yesterday in West Texas and Junction, Austin and Marfa all reported rain.

Sunday night, a heavy hailstorm did damage estimated at $200,000 in the rich farm area northeast of Electra.

Fisher Claims Plane Exploded In The Air

MANILA, May 10 (AP) — The possibility that a missing Philippine air line plane exploded Saturday over Basiad bay was being investigated today.

A fisherman on the bay off the eastern Luzon coast said he heard two loud explosions in the air. He said smoke hung in the air afterwards.

The report was relayed by police from Capalonga, 100 miles southeast of Manila.

The plane had 13 persons aboard and was enroute from Daet to Manila on a routine flight.

Ex-Football Star At Amarillo High Also Is Killed

(Special To The Journal)

HAPPY, May 10.—Two persons died and one was injured when a car and a truck crashed headon and burst into flames on U. S. Highway 87 on a curve within Happy city limits at 5:40 o'clock this morning.

Killed were:

James Thermon Graham, 58, of Amarillo.

Mrs. Hattie Roby, 71, sister of Graham, of McLean.

Injured was:

Preston Seifers, 27, of Amarillo, who was taken to Neblitt hospital in Canyon, where his injuries were announced as a fractured leg and lacerations; condition not considered critical early this afternoon.

En Route To Dallas

Graham, accompanied by Mrs. Roby, was driving a coupe southward. He had been to McLean to get Mrs. Roby and they were en route to Dallas, planning to stop in Quitaque first, according to reports.

Seifers, driver of a Curry Motor Freight van, had been to Odessa and was returning to Amarillo. In the van was a light load, an investigating highway patrolman learned.

Cause of the flames had not been determined at noon today. Vehicles were on the west side of the highway following the accident, Patrolman James Kirkwood learned. Both vehicles were demolished.

Removed The Bodies

The Swisher county sheriff's department and Kirkwood investigated the accident.

Seifers managed to remove bodies of Graham and Mrs. Roby from their car, despite his broken leg.

The bodies were taken to Griggs-Warren Funeral home in Canyon.

Winter Wheat Crop To Be Near Record

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — The Agriculture department today forecast this year's winter wheat crop at 1,021,476,000 bushels as of May 1.

This is 1,790,000 bushels more than the 1,019,686,000 forecast a month ago. It compares also with last year's crop of 990,098,000 and with a ten-year (1938-47) average of 726,553,000 bushels.

No forecast was given on spring wheat. But if this class of wheat turns out at last year's size of about 300,000,000 bushels, the combined winter and spring crop would be 1,321,476,000 bushels.

The largest wheat crop of record was 1,367,186,000 bushels, grown in 1947. Last year's crop was 1,288,406,000 bushels and the ten-year average is 942,623,000 bushels.

Doctor's Body Is Discovered

HOUSTON, May 10. (U.P.)—The body of Dr. Oscar M. Plotkin, 36-year-old psychiatrist missing since yesterday, was found today in a tourist cabin that reeked of cyanide fumes.

George Lloyd, a clerk at the court, found the body after another employe, night clerk J. P. Jordan, recalled renting a cabin last night to the doctor, sought in a state-wide police broadcast.

Lloyd entered the unlocked cabin door and reeled from the stifling fumes.

Found On Floor

Dr. Plotkin was lying face down on the bathroom floor, clad only in his underwear. On a shelf was an empty bottle of a cyanide gas preparation, normally used as a pest exterminator. All windows in the cabin were tightly closed, Lloyd said.

The doctor had apparently dumped the contents of the bottle into the bathroom lavatory, where mixed with water, it produced the deadly cyanide gas.

Police Are Notified

Dr. Plotkin, who came here last August from Chicago, was last seen yesterday at 4 p.m. when he left his office, presumably to drive home.

Mrs. Evelyn Plotkin notified police last night of her husband's disappearance.

She explained he had suffered "a terrific strain" recently because of illness in the family and because of over-work.

FBI DUTIES HAVE MULTIPLIED

J. Edgar Hoover Took Over Crime Bureau 25 Years Ago

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 10—Twenty-five years ago today a young government worker named J. Edgar Hoover took charge of a little known government agency.

The agency was 16 years old—13 years younger than its new boss—and of such small renown that its full name had to be spelled out: the federal bureau of investigation.

Both have grown considerably since, in stature and in girth.

The FBI has gone from 657 employes to 9,500. (It had 14,000 during the war). The fingerprint file soared from none to 111,000,000). A national crime laboratory was built up, and the FBI national academy, which trains not only "G-men" but local police officers as well.

Couldn't Carry Guns

Hoover, too, has expanded. The once slender young man of 1924 has become huskier. But, like the FBI, he once was even bigger than he is now. A near fatal bout with bronchial pneumonia cut down his weight last year.

Still, mere bigness is no novelty in Washington. The FBI has grown in other directions, too.

When Hoover took charge, the FBI's chief job was to study corporation files, hoping to catch anti-trust violaters.

An FBI man couldn't carry a gun in those days. Congress didn't supply him with an automobile, so he tracked his man by streetcar.

Shocked by the Lindbergh kidnaping in 1932, Congress started remodeling the nation's crime laws. Federal men were given more and more power in crimes with interstate implications.

New Tasks Grow

They moved in on bootleggers, gangsters and plain oldfashioned hoodlums. The government man became the last word in law enforcement.

And Hoover became that Washington rarity: a public figure who rarely is criticized.

Yet he holds the job which should make him an ideal target. What official in your town, for instance, comes in for the most censure? Quite often it's the police chief. Gilbert and Sullivan noticed long ago that "a policeman's lot is not a happy one."

And Hoover is moving into a field more and more removed from the old cops' and robbers' chase. Rooting out Communists, Hoover's men think, gives the FBI its biggest job.

Here they run into the danger of interfering with civil liberties. (Only last month, two Yale men accused the FBI of being, in effect, a secret police. Hoover retorted that their report was full of inaccuracies and misstatements.

Never Married

Yet oldtimers who cover the Senate and House say they can't remember the last speaker who lit into Hoover. Nay, it's more than that. It isn't just that he isn't blamed; usually lawmakers pour on the praise.

Hoover's father was a government employe (he worked for the Commerce department), and Hoover has spent his entire life in government service, ever since he got out of law school.

He has never married, and he leads such a quiet life that few anecdotes are circulated concerning him.

The one I like best was told by a reporter who ran across Hoover one morning. The FBI chief looked tired, upon being urged, explained why.

The night before he had planned to listen to a broadcast program of symphony music. He had the station all nicely tuned in when a horror story started.

"It was horrible," said the man who directs the men who have caught the nation's meanest criminals. "I couldn't sleep all night."

Boy 'Brought Back To Life' Is Holding Own

PASADENA, Calif., May 10 (AP)—Larry K. Page, four, "brought back to life" after he had stopped breathing 10 minutes, is holding his own, although critical, hospital attendants said today.

The youth, who suffered probable skull fractures when struck by a car Saturday, was given artificial respiration by doctors who said he had died. The treatment, plus injection of a heart stimulant, started him breathing again.

Physicians explained the boy stopped breathing because of extreme shock and fat embolism escaping from bone marrow. They added it has been unsafe to move him for X-rays.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mack Page of Mojave, Calif., have been at his bedside constantly.

Truman Once Saw Family Farm Auctioned For Lack Of Money To Pay Off Mortgage

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—President Truman once saw his family farm go for lack of money to cover the mortgage. But, in the best American tradition he has been able to buy back part of the old homestead.

The story is told in "Missouri Lawyer" written by John T. Barker, now special assistant to the attorney general. Barker is an old friend of the President and was formerly attorney general of Missouri.

He recounts in his book that prior to the depression Mr. Truman's mother, a widow, owned 360 acres about 10 miles from Kansas City. In the early 30's she mortgaged the farm for $30,000. But she couldn't pay it off. Mr. Truman was then a senator.

Loan Renewals Available

"Truman saw the farm . . . put up at auction, and sold for the price of the mortgage," Barker says. "A hundred banks in Missouri would have renewed the loan for him if he had asked them to do so. He did not ask . . . because he did not want to be under obligation to anybody while he was occupying the responsible position of a senator of the United States."

Later the President was able to buy back part of the old farm.

Conviction Of Japs Approved

TOKYO, May 10. (AP)—Conviction of 23 Japanese for the vivisection murder of eight American fliers was upheld today by Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. Eighth army.

Walker's review was final for all the cases except five calling for the death penalty. These now go to General MacArthur.

Four of the 18 convicted Japanese who now have no further recourse received life imprisonment. Prison terms for the remaining 14 averaged almost 13 years each. One is a woman.

All 23 were convicted at Yokohama last August after a six-month trial—longest before an American commission in the Far East. Five of the original 28 defendants were acquitted.

Two Japs Dead

They were charged with vivisecting captured B-29 crewmen in medical experiments at Kyushu Imperial university late in the war. The actual operations reportedly were performed by two Japanese now dead. One committed suicide, the other was killed in an air raid.

Those under death sentence, whose cases will be reviewed by MacArthur, are Lt. Gen. Isamu Yokoyama, commanding general of Japan's western army, and four doctors—Kenichi Hirao, Yoshio Mori, Taro Torisuwa and Yoshinao Sato.

The woman—only one sentenced by a P. S. commission in the Orient—is Shizuko Tsutsui, chief nurse who assisted in the experiments. She was sentenced to five years.

Water-Happy Beaver Keeps 'Em Guessing

HOUGHTON, Mich., May 10 (AP)—An ambitious beaver is perplexing people here.

Two fishermen found the animal floundering in Lake Superior.

Beavers usually don't stray far from their dams, but this one was five miles from the nearest land.

He swam right up to their boat, and the fishermen lifted him in. He showed signs of being exhausted.

When they returned to land, they put him in a fish box. But he escaped. He no doubt went for another swim, they say.

Oil Is Developed In Drillstem Test Of Southwest Gaines Well

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Cunningham-Shell, possible Pennsylvanian discovery in southwest Gaines county, 10 miles southwest of Seminole, on the west side of the Doss field, and 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 4, block A-24, psl survey, developed more oil in a drillstem test.

That investigation was at 9,242-9,307 feet in a lime formation. The tool was open five hours. Recovery was 225 feet of drilling mud, 225 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud and 50 feet of free oil. No formation water was reported.

The prospector is making hole below 9,384 feet in lime.

Well Is Plugged

M. E. Davis and Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Bert Wallace, central Kent county wildcat, five miles southeast of Clairemont, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 57, block 98, H&TC survey, has been plugged and abandoned as a dry hole on a total depth of 7,135 feet in Ellenburger.

Top of that formation was called at 7,084 feet. Elevation is 2,037 feet. No indications of production were developed in that horizon or any other which was penetrated.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 18-B Cowden, southwest Andrews county discovery from the Devonian and a possible discovery from the Fusselman section of the Silurian, developed the water in that formation.

A drillstem test was run at 11,025-121 feet. The tester was open five hours. Gas showed at the surface in three and one-half hours.

Free Oil Shown

Recovery was the 2,250-foot water blanket, 1,275 feet of free oil and 1,275 feet of sulphur water and drilling mud.

Higher sections of the Fusselman showed considerable free oil without any water. The project is making hole below 11,174 feet in lime and shale. It is due to continue until the Ellenburger is reached and tested.

The exploration is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey, and two miles east and a little south of the nearest proven production in the Dollarhide field.

The Ellenburger possibly has come in at Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 15 American Warehouse, deep wildcat in the Cedar Lake area of northeast Gaines county.

The formation has not been identified officially but is thought by most observers to be the deep zone. No tentative top has been picked. There has been no estimate made as to how far the venture is into the current horizon.

Drilling Is Continued

Drilling was continuing from 13,130 feet in lime. A drillstem test is due when a soft section is encountered.

Location is 1,650 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-E Cowden, outpost to the Dollarhide field of southwest Andrews county, has developed water on the first attempt at production tests in the Fusselman section of the Silurian.

The venture drilled to 8,708 feet in the Fusselman, logging considerable oil shows in the formation. Perforations were shot into the section of casing at 8,784-89 feet and tubing was run to 8,750 feet.

Swabbing recovered 100 per cent water. In two hours, the well swabbed 50 barrels of sulphur water, with no signs of oil or gas.

Operator pulled tubing and squeezed perforations. On last report, perforations were to be resqueezed prior to plugging back and perforating at a lesser depth in the Fusselman. Completion is to be attempted in the present horizon. Top of the Fusselman was called on 8,655 feet.

This development is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block A-52, psl survey.

Hearings May 17 On Gas Act Amendment

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10 (Special)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, chairman of the natural gas sub-committee of the Senate interstate and foreign commerce committees, said today hearings on Sen. Bob Kerr's bill to amend the natural gas act will start May 17.

As yet, no definite list of witnesses has been compiled, but it is expected that some witnesses will come from gas-producing states of the southwest.

The Kerr bill, companion to the one offered in the House by Rep. John Lyle, Corpus Christi, seeks to write into the statute the assumption that intra-state gas producing operations are not subject to regulations of the federal power commission.

Camp Plans Are Made At Troop 3 Meeting

Troop 3 of the Lubbock Boy Scouts held a regular bi-monthly meeting last night in the annex of First Baptist church to make plans for their annual outing at Camp Post from May 29 through June 4.

Seventy-five persons were present at the meeting which was under the direction of S. C. McCarty, troop chairman, and a chicken pie supper was served to the group by the Bat patrol of the troop.

Members of the troop are financing the trip by selling house numbers which shine in the dark when illuminated by automobile headlights, and by selling tickets to a movie version of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnapped." The movie plays at the State theater on May 17, 18 and 19.

Two physicians were present at last night's meeting to give physical examinations to those members of the troop planning to attend the Camp Post outing.

Psychology Pupil Thinks Comparatively Uneducated Wives Suit All Types Of Men

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Recently our psychology class was discussing factors essential to a happy marriage. Ouh teacher said that intelligence is one of the four top factors necessary.

Now some people think that "intelligence" means a college education; and I have heard than an ambitious man would tire of a homebody wife who had only a high school education. But I don't agree with those views.

My theory is that if a girl would concentrate more of her time and interest in the home, attending to the things that make a better home, then the men—both the ambitious types and the ordinary workers—would be better satisfied than if she had gone through college.

SHE DOUBTS VALUE OF COLLEGE STUDY

A PROFESSIONAL man wants his wife to help him, of course, not only with problems he has to meet, but also to be able to soothe his nerves when he has had a difficult day. This kind of help takes intelligence, yes; but not a college degree!

When a man comes home from work he is too tired to have to clean rooms and cook supper while his cute little college graduate is busy at the office working overtime. If a girl is going to be married, she might as well make up her mind to adjust herself to home life, I say. What do you think? Should a girl have college training or just plain intelligence to be a good housewife?

Signed: O. P.

CONSIDER MEANING OF "INTELLIGENCE"

DEAR O. P.: My dictionary defines intelligense thus: "The power of understanding. The power of meeting any situation, especially any new situation, successfully by proper behavor adjustments. The ability to recognize the inter-relationships of existing facts, so as to guide action to a desired goal."

Also intelligence is described as "the faculty of knowing, reasoning, judging, etc., as distinguished from the faculty of feeling."

You say some people confuse intelligence with a college education. Well, maybe. In such case, the foregoing definitions of intelligence should help them realize their mistake; for it seems they are expressing a "feeling" instead of recognizing the individual as he is. It appears that they themselves lack the faculty of grasping facts; of knowing, reasoning, judging, etc.

COLLEGE TRAINING ALERTS INTELLIGENCE

IN THEORY, a college is a society of scholars incorporated for study or instruction, especially in the higher branches of knowledge; or an educational institution that aims to provide professional instruction, as in medicine, engineering, theology, etc.

Also, in theory, an applicant for college training is supposed to bring the native intelligence to grasp the teaching offered. But actually a good many inferior intellects manage to infiltrate colleges and get a degree, without manifesting any "power of understanding" then or later. Ergo, college experience doesn't necessarily equate intelligence.

However, an intelligent person given a college education may be readier for successful adjustments to life than an intelligent person who hasn't had higher teaching. He has a backlog of knowledge to guide him that the intelligent person without college training may lack to start. So let's not sniff at college education per se.

Now about the kind of "housewives" men want—it's idle to theorize. In general a man's environment determines his choice—indeed his range of choice—of wife. College men tend to marry college girls—or girls of comparable social rank—due to propinquinty; just as men of high school education or less usually marry in their accustomed walk of life. And the "larger" the mind of the man, the less dogmatic is he about how his wife should adapt herself to him.—M. H.

Truck Crops Damaged By Hail But Only Small Loss Is Seen

A survey of Lubbock county truck crops Monday by Jack Caruthers, assistant county agent, disclosed that while there was considerable hail damage to crops, actual loss would be very slight.

"Where loss may occur," Caruthers said, "is in the delay of the harvest. Most county truck producers arranged their planting so as to hit the markets early when prices are at the peak."

P. L. Payne and son have 30 acres of onions on their farm west of Texas Tech. A visit to the farm Monday disclosed that hail had beaten the tops from every onion. There are more than 100,000 plants to the acre.

Harvest Delayed

Payne estimates his harvest will now be delayed at least two weeks. Even though onions are hardy and can stand a lot of rough treatment from the elements, a two-weeks delay could find a grower on the tag end of the market, Payne believes. He is planning to fertilize this week by adding chemicals to irrigation water.

One experiment watched closely and with interest by Lubbock county agriculturists is the 60 acres of spring lettuce planted by Harry Sumida on the Thiel farms east of Monroe.

Sumida, a young Japanese-American, came from Colorado early this year to make the finest attempt at growing spring lettuce in this area. Shortly before he began to block out the heads last month a brief dry spell had caused some crusting of the earth. Sumida took this in his stride.

Means More Work

"It just means a lot more work but I am sure I can make a good crop anyway," he said at that time.

Monday his 60 acres of lettuce presented a sad, if not discouraging, sight. The field was a solid mass of leaves. Hail had stripped down the heads although few heads were washed out or completely destroyed.

After checking the damage, Sumida estimated that although he had not lost the lettuce, he would be delayed from seven to ten days in his harvesting. After he completed his planting in March, Sumida planned to harvest about May 20. Now he believes it will be closer to the end of the month.

"I'm keeping my fingers crossed," he said. "The prices I'll be able to get for this lettuce will depend on how much is shipped to markets from other areas."

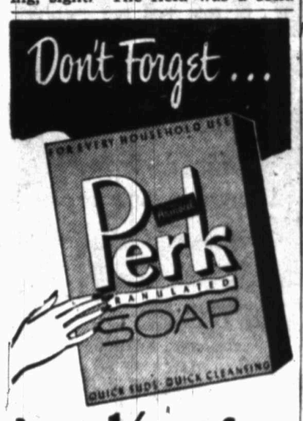

Not far from the lettuce tract the Thiel brothers have 15 acres of onions. These onions did not appear to be hurt in any way. They were planted earlier than Payne's and had been fertilized a time or two. Hail did not have any affect on their progress.

Survey Not Completed

Caruthers said he has not yet been able to cover the entire county but he made a close check of terraces built to prevent erosion on the hilly farms. He said 50 per cent of these terraces had broken down and would have to be completely rebuilt.

"This hail and rain-storm showed conclusively the value of having a cover crop and binder on terraces," Caruthers said. "Every terrace I checked that had a cover crop was in good shape. Those with wheat and legumes took the full blow without a sign of damage."

In summing up his survey, Caruthers said that at first glance the picture is pretty gloomy because of the general messy condition following the storm. However, he went on, farmers are optimistic. While they regret the delay and know that it may take dollars from their pockets, they are thankful their crops will come back all right.

Ex-Grid Star Claims Innocence In Death

LAS CRUCES, May 10 (AP) — Jerry Nuzum, 23, former Border conference football star, Monday asserted his innocence in the slaying of Ovida Coogler, Las Cruces waitress.

"I didn't kill Miss Coogler" he declared. "Lots of people are angry about the killing. The sheriff had to arrest someone . . . looks like he selected me to be the fall guy."

The body of the brunette 18-year-old waitress was found in a shallow grave southeast of Las Cruces, 17 days after she disappeared March 31.

Authorities said Nuzum, former New Mexico A. and M. and Pittsburgh Steeler football player, was the last person seen with the slaying victim.

Nuzum expressed confidence that the inquiry into her death will clear him. He returned voluntarily from Littlefield, Tex., to submit to questioning after once establishing an alibi.

He has been held without charge several days.

Farm Plan Taking Depression Angle

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 10—The Truman administration, will try to "sell" the nation on the idea that its new farm program would help prevent a depression.

It also will try to get across to the taxpayer the idea that the program would be less costly to the treasury than relief measures to overcome the effects of a depression.

The depression-prevention aspect of the new farm plan is being emphasized in material prepared by the Agriculture department for answering questions being raised in letters to the government.

The administration plan would use government "production" payments to assure farmers desired returns for perishable products. It would abandon the present method of government buying of surpluses to hold up prices. It would allow prices to drop. The consumer would get perishables at lower prices when there were surpluses.

A department "question-and-answer" document on the new plan stresses the depression angle.

"What are the main features of the proposed program? It asks.

The reply: "It is a major positive step that can be taken to prevent depression, build bigger markets for industrial goods, assure jobs for workers, maintain high-level production of farm commodities, conserve natural resources, maintain reserves for national security and strengthen the rural community and the nation as well."

The department quiz book makes a particular bid for city support.

"A fair and stabler level of income to farmers would add to the demand for the products of labor," it said. "It would make industrial jobs more secure by building a better market for manufactured goods."

The question of cost is discussed briefly. Some congressional critics have estimated it would cost the government more than $5,000,000,000 a year. Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has said such estimates are exaggerated, but he has said it is not possible to make forecasts as to the possible outlay.

"What would be the effect (of the program) on the taxpayer?" the document asks.

Its answer: "By strengthening the nation's defense against depression, the proposed program could help save the taxpayer the enormous expenses of relief and other measures to overcome the effects of depression."

"The program," it added, "is frankly on the side of preventing rather than curing a depression."

Students Featured At Optimist Club

Students of the second and third grades at K. Carter Elementary school today presented several songs and dances at the weekly Optimist club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

The students' musical selections were directed by Mrs. Roy Morris, third grade teacher at the school. The program was arranged by Mrs. Barbara Sandlin.

Also on the luncheon program was a "double feature" film shown on behalf of Lubbock Boys club. The first portion of the film, entitled "No Place to Go," illustrated the benefits of boys organizations. The second part showed features of the Boys club rodeo which is scheduled here June 8-11.

Bob Rose, of the American Business club, spoke briefly urging support of this year's rodeo. The ABC sponsors the annual event on behalf of the Boys club capital fund.

Jordon Curington, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Curington of 311 Ave. X, again presented the speech which recently won him first place in an oratorical contest sponsored by the local Optimists.

Young Curington is to compete Saturday in the district Optimist oratorical contest finals at Oklahoma City.

One transfer member to the local club, W. C. McCray, was introduced.

G. C. Stewart presided, with invocation by O. W. McGuire.

Export Cars Bought For Temporary Use

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—The government has reported that approximately 10,000 automobiles have been sold in the past 12 months for temporary use in England before shipment abroad.

This was disclosed by the Ministry of Supply in a letter responding to a question in the House of Commons recently on whether such sales are included as export sales in the Board of Trade figures.

The ministry said automobiles are not recorded as export until they are actually shipped.

Automobiles purchased in England for subsequent export are not subject to purchase tax—which runs from 33 1/3 per cent on small automobiles to 66 2/3 per cent on larger models.

Murderer Of Girl Sought

ROANOKE, Va., May 10 (AP)—Roanoke police today threw "every available resource" into the search for the murderer of Dana Marie Weaver. The 16-year-old Jefferson High school junior was found slain yesterday in the kitchen of Christ Episcopal church here.

"There's just a whole world of things we've got to check on," said E. A. Griggs, lieutenant of detectives of the Roanoke police.

"There are so many angles—we're throwing every available man, every available resource behind this case. It was a particularly brutal one."

No Clue Reported

Early today, however, there was no clue to the identity of the person who clubbed the girl in the head with pop bottle early Sunday night while the church's rector and members of the Young People's Service league attended a picnic at nearby Calloway.

Authorities worked on the theory the girl probably was attacked when she surprised an intruder in the church. She had gone to the church for the young people's meeting, unaware the group was on the outing.

Students Are Questioned

Dana Marie was last seen alive by three Virginia Polytechnic Institute students from Blacksburg, Va., with whom she and two girl friends went on an automobile ride Sunday afternoon. The boys let the two girls out at their homes and then took Dana Marie to the church.

Police questioned the students and the girls. But the victim's companions could shed no light on the killing, officers said.

Germany's New Constitution Is The Latest Thing In Democracy

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Western Germany's new republican constitution—modeled on the American and British systems of government—is one of the most remarkable documents of the kind ever drafted. It is truly the product of our new era.

This constitution provides (on paper, at least) the greatest degree of democracy the country ever has known. Indeed, one might say it provides virtually the only democracy Germany has experienced, because the short-lived Weimar republic (1919-33) died an unnatural death before it could fulfill its promise.

Outlaws War

Even more striking is the fact that Germany—twice the instigator of world wars within a generation—not only outlaws aggressive war but provides for the transfer of the Reich's proud sovereignty to a united states of Europe. And Germans who only a short time ago were bowing the neck to the Hitlerian dictatorship are given a sweeping bill of rights which declares that "the dignity of man shall be inviolable."

What a transformation! There still are knocking about plenty of us "old timers" who hark back to the days of Kaiser Wilhelm II, the "all highest" who fathered World War 1, pursuant to his policy of imperial expansion.

The kaiser was an autocrat who believed that he ruled by divine right, a fact which inspired an American to write the famous satirical poem "Me und Gott," which infuriated the emperor.

"Me Und Gott"

The old kaiser was the epitome of Prussianism. Under his "me und Gott" rule, aiming at expansion, there was a rapid rise in taxation because of the cose of armament, and a large class of the population was dissatisfied with the militaristic organization of the country. It was this period that saw the great expansion of the Krupp armament works in the Ruhr.

Then came the war which resulted in the abdication of the kaiser. The Wiemar republic tried to inaugurate democracy, only to be overtaken by the Hitlerian regime, which represented one of the most terrible dictatorships of all time.

Now we get the violent revulsion to all this in the new constitution. German political leaders claim it is the most progressive in existence.

Chance To Prove It

Well, they are going to have their chance to prove that claim. They still will be under allied supervision until such time as they have demonstrated their fitness to walk alone, but the allied purpose is to encourage them to stand on their own feet.

The constitution, of course, can only apply to the three zones of western Germany at the outset, but it has been drawn up so as to include Soviet-controlled eastern Germany as soon as a united nation can be achieved. All this is clearly specified in the preamble which says that "the entire German people is called upon to accomplish, by free self-determination, the unity and freedom of Germany."

The framers of the constitution have nailed down their bill of rights by prescribing penalties for would-be dictators who "by force or threat of force" change the constitution or deprive the head of state of his powers. Strange as it may seem, the most severe penalty is life imprisonment.

The new Germany has abolished capital punishment.

U. S. Spikes Russian Claims That Red Army Alone Routed Germans From Czechoslovakia

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Aiming to spike Communist propaganda claims, the United States today offered official wartime evidence that American troops were ready to free the capitol of Czechoslovakia, but held back at Russia's request.

The State department made public records bearing on the point because Moscow and the Czech Communists have been giving Russia all the credit for the liberation of Prague from the Nazis four years ago.

Among the documents released yesterday was a Soviet request to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to halt his fast-moving American troops at Pilsen, some 50 miles short of the Czech capital. Eisenhower complied. Four days later the Soviet army routed the last Nazis from Prague.

Avoided Confusion

In taking the U. S.-Russian messages out of storage, the State department said that the American forces were acting for military purposes—in this case to avoid confusion with the approaching Red army—not for political reasons.

In a message dated May 4, 1945, Eisenhower notified the Russian high command that his forces were ready to sweep on to the Elbe and Vltava rivres and thus enter the valley in which Prague is situated.

The next day brought this prompt letter from Gen. Antonov, chief of the Red army general staff:

"The Soviet command requests General Eisenhower to refrain from advancing the allied forces in Czechoslovakia beyond the formerly designated line." That line ran through the towns of Karlsbad, Pilsen and Budweis—and that's where the U. S. troops halted their advance.

Secret Papers Used

The State department said it published the texts—paraphrased because they were taken from secret coded documents—because of the "many false statements and interpretations" surrounding the episode.

"An examination of the documents will reveal that SHAEF (Eisenhower's headquarters) was particularly interested in maintaining the coordination of the allied and Soviet fronts as they approached each other in the last days of the war, in order to mitigate any confusion or misunderstandings," the department said.

"The decisions and actions of the allied command in this connection were purely operational, without any political implications, and were directed solely at the objective of destroying the enemy forces.

Reds Take All Credit

"A reading of these documents in the context of the events of the time will reveal the important role which both the allied and Soviet forces played in te liberation of Czechoslovakia through their part in the destruction of the enemy forces in Germany and through their coordinated action in Czechoslovakia."

Moscow has long sought to make political capital out of the claim that it was Russia which really destroyed Hitler's war machine, while the western allies set up their second front only to win a share of the spoils.

That position—that the western allies carried on only "limited operations" against Germany—was stated anew Sunday by Soviet Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky.

Ex-Actress Begins 5-To-Life Sentence

TEHACHAPI, Calif., May 10. (AP)—Madge Meredith, ex-actress, began a five-year to life sentence on kidnap-beating charges today in Tehachapi Prison for Women.

However, she said she is hopeful a group of Hollywood friends may obtain a pardon for her. Also she said she plans to study English while in prison, so she'll be better prepared for a picture career when she is released.

Miss Meredith, 27, was convicted of conspiring with three men to kidnap and beat Nick Gianaclis, her former manager. The actress and Gianaclis were involved in a dispute over possession of a home they bought jointly.

In Hollywood, actress Zazu Pitts and film producer Charles Weinstraub are circulating a petition asking Governor Earl Warren to review Miss Meredith's case.

Meadowbrook Links Closed For Repairs

Golfers had better turn to practice, or some other form of amusement if they have been playing at the Meadowbrook Publinx Golf course.

Chester Elliott, business manager for W. G. McMillan, said yesterday that the course would be closed for a few days for repairs. The week end storms did more damage than had been first believed and the course probably will not be open before Saturday or Sunday.

"We're going to do our best to have the course open by Saturday," Elliott said. "Some golfers wanted to play on it today, but for the good of everyone concerned we prefer to close the course until it is suited for play."

Total damage to the course from weekend rains came to at least $2,000, Elliott estimated.

"Five wooden bridges and one concrete bridge were destroyed," he said. "As a result, there is now no way for golfers to cross the creek which runs through the course. We plan to replace the bridges as soon as the soil in the creek bottom becomes dry enough to enable us to work there."

Elliott added that most of the course, particularly the back nine, is strewn with debris washed onto the fairways.

He expressed the hope that all necessary repairs will be made during the week, and that because of the rains fairways should be in better shape than before the storm.

RILEY IS FAVORED

FORT WORTH, May 10 (AP)—Medalist Polly Riley of Fort Worth was an easy favorite today as match play started in the 28th annual Texas Women's Golf association tournament. Miss Riley yesterday shot a par 75 over the River Crest Country club course to win medalist honors.

AMARILLO, May 10 (AP)—Bill Meier, who pitched for the Abilene Blue Sox during the 1947 and '48 seasons, has been purchased by the Amarillo Baseball club, co-owner Bob Seeds announced today.

Meier was contacted by Seeds after he refused to report to the Class D Roswell Rockets of the Longhorn League, and agreed to join the team in Clovis tomorrow.

Giants Drub Cubs, 7-2

★ ★ ★

Braves Shade Pirates, 4-1

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

One swallow doesn't make a spring and one week doesn't make a season. But during the past seven days the New York Giants have been as near perfect as a baseball club can be.

Including last night's handy 7-2 triumph over the Chicago Cubs, the Giants have won their last seven starts to take a game and a half lead in the National league race.

During that stretch, Giant pitchers have gone te route in all but one game. And in that one, Sheldon Jones, who went all the way last night was removed for a pinch hitter after allowing only one earned run in eight innings.

Uses Four Starters

The club has used a four-man rotating system on the mound throughout the season—Clint Hartung, Larry Jansen, Monte Kennedy and Jones No other pitcher has started a game. This big four has allowed only 14 runs in the last seven games.

Last night's homer hitters were Gordon (No. 7) and Marshall (No. 3). Rigney was the big gun, however. He collected a single and double and drove in three runs.

Vern Bickford pitched the Boston Braves into second place, a game and a half behind the Giants, with a three-hit 3-1 triumph over the Pirates.

The Braves got eight of their 10 hits and three runs off loser Murry Dickson, who also came back last night after failing to finish the first inning Sunday. Marv Rickert and Jimmy Russell paced Boston's attack with three and two hits, respectively.

Cards Beat Dodgers

In an afternoon affair, the St. Louis Cardinals snapped a three-game losing streak by thrashing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 14-5, to move out of the cellar. The loss dropped the Dodgers into third place, a half game behind the Braves.

A pair of rookies—Eddie Kazak and Tommy Glaviano—sparked the Redbirds' 15-hit attack against six Dodger hurlers. Kazak, the league's leading batter, rapped out a single and grand slam home run to drive in five runs. Glaviano drove in four mates with a single, double and homer.

The American league leading New York Yankees, who have been surging through the west in old championship style, received a surprising 4-1 setback by the Tigers in Detroit Young Ted Gary limited the Bronx Bombers to five hits to outpitch Vic Raschi.

All other American league teams enjoyed a day off The scheduled night game between Cincinnati and the Phils in Philadelphia was postponed by rain.

Special Match Set At Country Club

Joe Kirkwood Scheduled To Stage Golf Exhibition Here

Rated as the best trick shot artist in golf today, Joe Kirkwood will demonstrate his skill with a golf club today at Lubbock Country club beginning at 3 p. m. with a nine-hole match and ending with a golf exhibition and clinic.

The Australian will conduct a golf clinic after his shooting exhibition. Kirkwood is playing his way East after a tour of the West Coast. During his exhibitions he estimates that his trips have carried him one million miles.

Kirkwood began playing golf on a sheep ranch in Australia, winning his first tournament about 40 years ago after riding 25 miles to the course on a horse. Since that time he has competed in 70 countries and on approximately 4,000 golf courses.

Entertained Wounded

Shortly after winning the Australian championship during World War One, he began entertaining wounded patients at the hospitals with golf demonstrations. As the demonstrations continued he began inserting more and more trick shots into his exhibitions and finally realized how entertaining his antics were to other people. Now his bag of tricks includes everything that can be done with a golf ball and a club.

He can call hooks and slices around trees; hit balls blindfolded straight down the middle; line up seven or eight balls and without looking at them knock them one by one down the fairway; hit two balls with one stroke and make their lines of flight cross in midair; and do many other tricks with various clubs.

Local Golfers Play Too

Three local golfers will make the round with Kirkwood. They are Herb Schroeder, club pro, Raymond Marshall, and Chick Trout. After the trick shots Kirkwood will explain the correct swing, demonstrate various shots, answer questions, and assist persons with golf problems.

Tickets for the golf match, trick shot demonstration, and golf clinic will sell for $1.50 and may be obtained at the Lubbock Country club or from club members. All golfers in the area are urged to attend, whether amateur or professional.

DODGE gives you extra value

WIDER on the inside... NARROWER outside! There's extra value in the spread-out elbow room of the wide, wide seats. Yet the new Dodge is smaller on the outside . . . easy to park, easy to garage, easy to thread through crowded traffic.

LONGER on the inside . . . SHORTER outside! The new leg room in Dodge gives extra value in stretch-out comfort. Doors open wide, too . . . let you get in and out easily without squirming or twisting—and without knocking your hat off, either.

If you want extra value, you'll want DODGE!

There's extra value in Dodge beauty that flows from true functional styling . . . in the design that provides more head room, more leg room, more elbow room, greater vision for all passengers.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

This is the afternoon that Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot golf artist, will be at the Lubbock Country club. And despite the torrential rain of the past few days, a huge crowd is expected to be on hand to view his work. Kirkwood is internationally famous and securing him for Lubbock is a great step forwards. He always pleases and his demonstrations usually leave the audience gasping. There's little he can't do with golf clubs and he makes it look so simple that more people get the urge to take up the game. He's worth seeing.

Lubbock's Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers softball team returns to Lubbock this week end for its third doubleheader of the season. The team so far has won all four games it has played and is in the accustomed position of leading the league. But come Saturday night, they'll have their hands full trying to beat a Crane team that also has won four without loss, leading the Crane nine into town is Red Denham, who beat Jackie Neel and the Sunbeamers here last year in a never-to-be-forgotten extra-inning clash. There ought to be an over-flow crowd at Jumbo Webster field Saturday night.

• • •

Speaking of Neel, Saturday night he pitched the Watson softball team of Mercedes to an international victory in Mexico City, Mexico. Neel blanked the losing Double Seven team of Phoenix, Ariz., for 14 innings and finally won his game 1-0. The reward for winning was a silver bowl presented to the team.

The other day we received a letter written by Ray Littrell, who's in Colorado Springs, Colo., these days. Ray used to be one of the leading sport enthusiasts when he was living here and sponsored basketball and softball teams. They all did well, too. The letter says that he is just letting us know how his boy is doing in high school baseball. He also says "Joe, keep the Hubbers in the running." Wish we could, Ray, but it's up to them. Hal Littrell, his son, is a right-hander and the No. 1 hurler on the team. He lost a tough 4-3 decision to a Denver nine in an exhibition game, but bounced back to win his team's first league start 18 to 2. He allowed only four hits in seven innings and the newspaper report says that he looked good.

• • •

In all the write ups on Monty Stratton, who lost a leg in a hunting accident near his home in Greenville, there is never any mention of his having managed and pitched for Lubbock. The stories skip to 1946 without mentioning that this was the first club to give him a chance. The record book shows that in 1942 here he pitched nine innings, faced 45 batters officially, gave up 19 hits and 17 runs. The records also show that he went to bat four times and got two hits. Why they gloss over this comeback effort is not known, for we think that it is just as important in his life as anything else. Incidentally, the world premiere of his movie will be shown in Greenville soon.

• • •

Today may break or make the Hubbers to a certain extent, for this is the day Chris Haskins will decide whether he is going to return to baseball, or remain with the Highway Patrol. If he decides to return to the Hubbers, Chris will force one man off. Who that will be we don't know, but we'd guess that it would be Chick Fowler, despite the powerful bat he has been wielding. After all, the Hubbers are supposed to be getting a limited service outfielder and they could let Chick go all right in that case. Chris, of course, is a valuable chattel. Everyone knows how strong his arm is and how strong he is. The Hubbers need him and need him badly.

• • •

HUBBER NOTES: Al Duarte's contract was sold outright to the Hubbers by Greenville yesterday . . . Bubba Kaine, former utility man here and later optioned to Corpus Christi, has been released outright . . . Jackie Wilcox, optioned to Kilgore, has been returned. The Drillers got a limited service shortstop and peddled the veteran. The Hubbers are trying to place him again . . . Manager Jackie Sullivan feels that his shift to short will strengthen the team, which doesn't have its dauber down, despite losing four of its last five games.

• • •

Texas Tech's track squad is getting ready for the Border Conference meet to be held in Albuquerque, N. M., this week end and the Red Raiders might come home with some of the bacon. At least they have several potential first place winners and if enough other runners, jumpers and weight men will cut each other's throat, the Raiders might come home in first place. Charley Reynolds, formerly the backbone of the squad, still isn't in top shape for his best efforts, but Ed Clepper and the others should win plenty of points.

• • •

THE ROUNDUP: Tony Fiarito, former Lamesa player, has been bought from Borger by Paris. He's a veteran of 13 years in OB. . . . No truth to the story that Ray Reicheit, Greenville pitcher just obtained by that club yesterday, will be sent to Lubbock . . . Last night's game dropped the Hubber team batting average to .286 . . . The WT-NM Bowling tournament was a big success, with good scores rolled . . . Ray McNally blushed the color of a tomato when introduced by Jack Noyes during last night's game. Ray is doing the road broadcasts of the Amarillo Gold Sox over KVAI . . . Collier Parris, former sportsed here, is due in today. Where once he was pessimistic about the Blue Sox, now he's optimistic. We still think that when the Hubbers start rolling that they'll be a good bet.

Baseball Meet Set Thursday

Leading officials of the American Legion's Junior Baseball league program will be in Lubbock Thursday night for a district meeting to discuss the program for the coming year.

Commander J. R. Eagan of Allen Brothers Post, which will be host to the meeting, said that probably 50 or more officials from the 18 to 20 Legion posts in this district would be present for the meeting. Anyone interested in the Junior league program is urged to attend.

Men To Attend

Here for the one-night meeting will be Bill Cummings of Austin, state Legion Junior league program director; Joseph N. Spikes of Lamesa, department Junior baseball committeeman; and Zach Brown of Dallas, district Junior Baseball representative of the Ford company, which works with the Legion.

Joe Holmes of Lubbock, district chairman, will serve as coordinator for the meeting.

The meeting primarily is for coaches and officials who want to learn the rules for the Junior baseball program. All phases of the program will be discussed and the meeting will close with the showing of films.

The meeting will be held Thursday night at 8:15 in the Legion Hall on Texas avenue.

BASEBALL OR FOOTBALL?—Bill Goodman threw a block that would do credit to a football player when he slid into second base in the seventh inning of the first game of a double header at St. Louis between the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns. Goodman, Red Sox first-sacker, was forced out, but he kept Gerry Priddy of the Browns from completing a double play. Boston won both games. (AP Wirephoto.)

K. Carter Divides Tilts With Central

Central Ward and K. Carter schools split softball games yesterday afternoon, Central Ward girls winning 15-2 and K. Carter boys winning 8-6.

Mary Young and Margaret White were the batteries for the winning girls, while Bobbie Jo Wright and Kay Barley worked for the losers. Alfred Coronado pitched and Robert Coronado caught for the winning boys team, while James Howard and Gerald Fletcher were the batteries for the Central Ward boys.

Sir William Benjamin Gentle, retired constable of Thetford, England, who died recently, helped introduce greyhound racing in 1926 and was first chairman of the Greyhound Racing Association —but never owned a greyhound or made at bet.

Bob Feller's 177 American League victories is the highest total among active junior league hurlers.

Young Player Gives Okay To Ampulation

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP) — A rising young baseball player ended his career today with a decision made like a soldier.

Charles (Chuck) Koney, 22, a star second baseman for the Louisville Colonels, gave doctors permission to amputate his right leg, crushed in an explosion.

The operation was performed last night, it was a success, doctors said, and it saved his life.

But Koney had his heart set on rising from the American association club to the parent Boston red Sox team. When doctors first told him they must amputate, he said, "I'd rather die than lose the leg."

But Dr. Paul Patchen, his family physician, quietly left him to think it over. The doctor returned in the afternoon.

"Well," Koney told him, "if it is necessary, take it off."

"Koney made the decision like a soldier," Patchen said.

Texas Tech President Will Be Inaugurated At Services Here

tribute to Dr. Wiggins and Texas Tech.

Dr. W. H. Cowley of Stamford university also was a speaker.

At 3:30 p. m., in Drane Hall at the college, a reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. Wiggins and Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Jones was to be held. Civic leaders and institutional friends of the college have been invited.

The inauguration proper will begin with a prelude, "Petite Suite de Concert," by the Texas Tech concert band under the direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley. Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus of Texas Tech, will preside over the ceremony.

Following the prelude, the band will play for the processional. A total of 117 colleges and universities in the nation will be represented in the procession. Also in the processional will be representatives of the ex-students association, student associations, members of the board of directors and the presidential party.

The presidential party will be made up of Dr. Clifford Jones, Thompson, Dr. Wiggins, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Tech, Rev. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, Rev. Travis White, pastor of First Christian church, Dean James Allen and Dr. Campbell.

Rev. Grant will give the invocation following the processional. Dean Allen will then welcome the guests on behalf of the college. His address will be followed by Dr. Jones who will introduce the principal speaker, Dr. Campbell.

Outstanding Educator

Dr. Campbell has long been one of the leading educators of this country. A native of Arkansas, he has spent the past 40 years in the profession of education.

Dr. Wiggins To Speak

Immediately following Dr. Campbell's address, Thompson will install Dr. Wiggins as president. Dr. Wiggins will then deliver the inaugural address.

The new president of Texas Tech, also a well known educator, was born in Crowley, La., Dec. 9, 1895. At an early age he moved with his parents to Canadian where he completed both grade school and high school.

Following his graduation from Goodnight college in 1917, Dr. Wiggins was married to Miss Winnie Kinard of Memphis, Texas. Later that year he enlisted in the U. S. Army and served at the Central Officers School at Waco. After he was discharged from the service, Dr. Wiggins continued his education. In 1919, he was graduated from Simmons university, Abilene.

Attended Yale

In 1920 he returned to his home in Canadian as principal and head coach. He served in that capacity for two years and then was named superintendent, a position he held for three years.

He returned to college in 1925 and received a master's degree from Yale in 1925 and a Ph.D from the same school in 1930. In June of 1943 an LL.D. was conferred on Dr. Wiggins by Hardin-Simmons.

Dr. Wiggins served as dean of students and professor of education at Hardin-Simmons for 10 years before he became president of the Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy in El Paso. He came to Texas Tech in August of 1948 from that school.

Dr. Wiggins is a member of the Baptist church, and the Rotary club and holds membership in the National Education association, Texas State Teachers association, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Texas Curriculum Revision committee, and is listed in "Who's Who in America."

Other Events Slated

Rev. Travis White will pronounce the benediction following the inaugural address. The band will then play for the recessional.

Earlier in the day, delegates and board members will attend a luncheon at the Lubbock Country club. The main speaker at the luncheon will be Dr. W. M. Cayley of Stanford university. Thompson will act as toastmaster. A quartet from the Tech Male Glee club will provide entertainment.

The reception in Drane Hall will honor Dr. and Mrs. Wiggins and Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Jones. Also in the receiving line will be Dr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Jones, college registrar, Dean Allen, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Junell will greet guests. Junell is assistant to Dr. Wiggins.

Civic leaders and institutional friends have been invited to the reception. Acting as institutional hosts for the inauguration will be O. V. Adams, dean of engineering, R. C. Goodwin, dean of arts and science, Margaret Weeks, dean of women, W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture, Haskell Taylor, dean of business administration, W. C. Holden, dean of graduate studies, W. P. Clement, registrar, W. T. Gaston, business manager and Dean Allen, dean of men. Rep. Preston Smith and Sen. Kilmer Corbin will both be on hand for the ceremony.

Negro Suspect Is Questioned

Questioning of a 20-year-old negro, believed one of three who attempted to leave without paying for soft drinks consumed at Texas Tire company, 1801 Texas Ave., may establish him as responsible for theft of three boxes of spark plugs discovered missing there soon after the incident, police said.

Also, he had pawn tickets showing he had borrowed money on a wrist watch, and on a radio that officials said may have been stolen. A radio believed similar to that pawned was reported stolen Monday from the car of Glynn Reynolds when parked in 1100-block Ave. H.

Juvenile Also Held

No formal charge had been filed against the suspect, or a young negro placed in the juvenile ward of county jail after he had been named by the suspect as having been with him. The investigation was being continued.

Ed Forbs, not otherwise identified on police reports except that he gave as an address Lubbock general delivery and had been under a physician's care, told police Monday night that two men had held him at gun point and beaten him near the intersection of Fourteenth and Ave. G.

No Suspects Held

He said one held the gun while the other beat him.

Police were said to have been given the names of two men, but officials talked with this afternoon professed to know nothing about the case.

The county attorney's department too had heard nothing about it, newsmen were told.

Cuban Hurt

said Jimenez had acted strangely on the trip.

Dan Hourigan of Kansas City said every time the train stopped, the Cuban thought it was Kansas City, Mo., and got up to get off.

Said Acting Strange

"They had to tell him to sit down several times," Hourigan said. "He got up several times and walked back and forth. Everybody seemed to think he acted like he was sick, or not right mentally. I think he was mentally incapacitated at the time," Hourigan said.

The Cuban had a temporary visitor's permit, showing he entered the United States Oct. 10, 1948, according to detectives. He obtained an extension on January 24 to April 10 and the non April 13 obtained a second extension to July 1, 1949.

The permit was issued for "a pleasure trip."

KILLS PLAYMATE — Thirteen-year-old Diane Allen, above, admitted drowning playmate Charles Johnson, 7, in a drainage ditch near Joliet, Ill., because of an uncontrollable urge to kill. State's attorney John I. Pearce asked for delay of a recommended grand jury hearing to subject the girl to psychiatric examination.

Funeral For Lubbock Pastor Is Pending

Funeral arrangements for Rev. Albert F. Laing, 56, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene of Lubbock, today were pending arrival of relatives.

Funeral services probably will be held here Thursday, Rix Funeral home reported, after which the body will be sent to Brea, Calif., for burial there.

Rev. Laing, pastor of the local church since about 1940, died at 10 p. m. Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. He had been admitted to the hospital a short time earlier after suffering a heart attack.

Rev. and Mrs. Laing accepted the pastorate of the Lubbock church on April 21, 1940. They moved to Lubbock from Temple, and Rev. Laing began his duties as pastor of the local church on May 1 of that year. The couple had been honored with a special anniversary service at the church on May 1 of this year.

Survivors in addition to his wife include three sons, Leroy Laing, Kenneth Laing, and Keith Laing, all of California; one daughter, Mrs. Harold Ellenburger of California; a sister, Mrs. O. B. Evans of Neosho, Mo.; two half-sisters, Mrs. Lillian Hart and Miss Jinnie Laing, both of San Francisco; four half-brothers, Joe Laing, Eugene Laing, Bill Laing, and Charles Laing, all of San Francisco; and four grandchildren.

Decontrol Of Rents Scored

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 10—The rent decontrol bill was hit yesterday by the state American Legion commander as "back-door legislation."

Following House passage on second reading of the bill to abolish rent control in Texas, Legion Commander Bill McCraw demanded a public hearing before the measure is acted on further.

"Back-door legislation at the close of a legislative session is not new to Texas. The American Legion hopes to prevent this or any other vital measure being greased through the current session until the general public has had an opportunity to express itself," McCraw said in a prepared statement issued from state headquarters here.

Rules Suspension Fails

The House vote on the bill was 98 to 30. An attempt to suspend rules so the measure could be voted on for final passage failed, delaying further action at least until Friday—probably longer.

An effort by Rep. Otis Lee to halt floor debate of the bill by Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston on a point of order was overruled by the acting speaker, Rep. Jerry Stockard. Lee said the bill had not been giving a public hearing before it was reported from the state affairs committee.

Stockard said previous rulings had sustained a committee's right to act on bills without holding public hearing.

McCraw said Moore's measure "may or may not be the finest bill in the world, but if it is passed without a public hearing, it will arouse suspicions in everybody, especially veterans."

Vets Feel Mistreated

"Any matter so vital as housing should be given due and thoughtful consideration, and not be blitzed through," McCraw's statement continued.

"Many, nearly a million, Texas men and women have fought in two world wars for the principles of democracy. The action of the House in passing so important a piece of legislation without a hearing would certainly shake the confidence of those who elected its members.

"The American Legion feels that veterans have been badly mistreated in regard to housing. This feeling is not alleviated when a measure passes concerning housing and the public is not allowed to express itself.

"The American Legion hopes before this bill is acted upon further, that the public generally, the veterans organizations, and the veterans themselves, will be given an opportunity to express themselves at an open hearing.

TREATY HEARINGS ARE SPEEDED

Approval Of Pact By July 1 Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 10 — The Senate foreign relations committee opened a drive today to get Senate approval by July 1 of the North Atlantic pact and a $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program.

The stepped-up schedule followed a visit late yesterday by Secretary of State Acheson with the Senate's two top-ranking foreign affairs leaders—Senators Connally (D-Tex) and Vandenberg (R-Mich).

James P. Warburg of New York, former banker and author on international affairs, was first on the list.

Speedy End Seen

Connally, committee chairman, told reporters he hopes to telescope the remaining treaty testimony into seven days and end the pact hearings next Tuesday. He predicted debate on the 12-nation alliance will last about two weeks.

Connally stressed the importance of the pact and arms program in relation to the big four foreign ministers meeting in Paris.

There the diplomats of the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia will try to reach a settlement of the dispute over Germany—the hottest spot in the East-West cold war.

"It would be desirable to get ratification of the treaty before the foreign ministers meeting," Connally said. "But we can't do that by May 23."

Approval Is Given

However, the committee will try to end the hearings before the ministers meet. A reporter asked if a "strong report" by the committee favoring ratification of the pact would be helpful at the meeting.

"It is a well understood implication (in the discussion)," Connally replied.

He also told reporters he and Vandenberg gave their approval to the American position which Acheson will take to the Paris meeting. But he declined to say what this position will be in its details.

Both Connally and Vandenberg were invited by President Truman and Secretary Acheson to attend the Paris meeting as advisers to the American delegation. But it was agreed they should remain in Washington to direct the foreign legislation.

Phone Bill Threat Is Denied By Rep. Poage

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10. (Special)—Rep. W. R. Poage, 11th district, discounted today rumors of threats that northern Democrats and Republicans would team together to defeat his bill to provide more telephones for rural folks.

Poage said he had once been threatened with a negative vote from a California congressman because he refused to go along with him on rent control.

Poage indicated he understood the rumors of a new punitive coalition were based on the vote of southern Democrats and Republicans against Taft-Hartley repeal.

"But I'm not worried," said Poage. "In fact, I have at times tried to make bargains like that myself when I thought I could convince someone."

It is understood the Democratic leadership may want to bring up the Poage bill this week. Leaders are divided, however, as to the advantages of waiting until the smoke from the Taft-Hartley clash has vanished.

Two-Party System Is Proposed For Coming Lions Club Voting

Nomination of Lions club officers for the coming year occupied most of the meeting in Hilton hotel at noon today.

Advocating a "two party system" in a humorous talk accompanied by trumpet fanfare and spotlights, Rev. David L. Zacharias nominated a slate of officers after Bob Harvey, chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the committee's slate of officers.

Both the nominating committee and the "Knife and Forkers," as the second party called itself, nominated Groves Denman for president.

Nominees Listed

Craig, second vice-president; Thord Dockray, third vice-president; Cliff Freeman, secretary-treasurer; Bob Dennis, tailtwister; Gilmer Aycock, Lion tamer; and Ray Chapman, W. D. Travis A. White, jr., tailtwister, and George J. Young, Charlie Adams, Leon Harris and Sam Bennett, directors.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant asked invocation at the luncheon. John Austin, member of the white board of Lubbock Colored Day Nursery, and George Woods, member of the negro board, expressed thanks for the Lion club's contribution to the project.

Dr. Marshall Harvey briefly outlined details of a district convention here May 22, 23 and 24. J. William Davis was song leader and Lawrence Ivey played the piano.

True 'Gentlemen' Won't Cheat At Cards--Or Run A Red Light

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 10—"A gentleman will no more cheat a red light or stop sign than he would cheat in a game of cards."

Emily Post speaking.

"A courteous lady will not 'scold' raucously with her automobile horn any more than she would act like a 'fishwife' at a party.

"Primitive, irresponsible, discourteous and impatient behavior behind the wheel of an automobile has no place in society . . .

"The wellbred person will see courtesy and well-mannered human conduct in practically every traffic rule."

These are quotes from a traffic safety booklet, "Mator Manners," issued today by the National Highway Users conference.

Mrs. Post, whose name has been synonymous with rules of etiquette for many years, wrote the pamphlet free of charge.

It's to be distributed free to individual motorists. The grateful highway users—an organization of groups such as truck drivers and the American Automobile association—tendered Mrs. Post a luncheon at the Plaza hotel this noon.

The principal speaker was Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of the President's highway safety conference. He said:

"Mrs. Post has put her unerring finger on the very heart of this whole matter of highway safety.

"Emily Post has stated the case for traffic etiquette so fully and so persuasively that it amounts to a new technique.

"She has taken a relatively minor theme in the song of safety and built it into a moving symphony that should reach millions of hearts.

"This bluebooklet of traffic etiquette will make a unique and invaluable contribution to the cause of highway safety."

Liquor Officers Swoop Down On Whisky Load, Arrest Two

Thirty-one cases of whisky and 262 cases of beer went through the west door of the county courthouse Monday afternoon and this morning, evidence of new developments in the war against bootlegging here.

The whisky—542 pints and 109 fifths—was seized Monday afternoon at 3502 Thirtieth by Dep. Supervisor W. G. Poplin, commanding officer of the Lubbock district of the Liquor Control board, and three of his inspectors.

The beer was loaded into a van for delivery to a high bidder who had purchased it for resale in wet territory.

Another 100 cases of beer and 200 cases of whisky await inventory and sale before being moved out.

Two Are Arrested

Two arrests were made Monday afternoon, and a pickup truck in which the liquor allegedly was loaded was held.

Charged in two cases each were D. C. Turner, 31, and E. E. Sparks, 26, both of Lubbock. Each, the county attorney's department said, had been convicted of liquor law violation charges before, and those convictions were alleged in complaints asking an enhanced penalty.

Both Turner and Sparks posted two $1,000 bonds each.

County Attorney Waggoner Carr said two prior convictions were alleged in a transportation complaint filed against Sparks. The other complaint against him charged possession for purpose of sale.

Forfeiture Asked

Carr said one former conviction was alleged in a possession complaint against Turner, who also was charged with transportation of spirituous liquors.

Another action asked that the liquor and the truck be forfeited to the state. It was filed in district court.

Ironically, the truck bore a "For Sale" sign on its windshield.

The seizure was made by Poplin and three inspectors of his district office here: C. D. Matthews, Fred Prestage, and Charles A. Talley.

They said the cache amounted to 22 cases of pints, plus 14 extra pints; and nine cases of fifths, plus one fifth extra.

It included, they said, scotch whisky, bonded bourbon, a small amount of gin and, in the main, blended whisky.

Haul Valued at $2,000

Value, based on "wet" territory retail value would be not less than $48 a case for the fifths, not less than $55 a case for the pints, one inspector said. Some of the bonded fifths would sell in wet territory at $65 a case, however.

The total "package store" value of the haul would be approximately $2,000, Poplin said.

What it would sell for here was more conjectural, but would be close to $3,000, he said.

The inspectors, while not disclosing their methods of operation, said they had been keeping up "almost continuous watch" in vicinity of the raided location.

Tech Bonds

Medanich, Abilene, representing the First Southwest company, Dallas, conferred with the board and made bids on preparation of the bonds for sale.

Issue Basis Given

Deaton's bid was lowest of the group. Contract with his firm was made on the contingent that the two leading Texas bond attorneys, Dumas, Huguenin and Boothman and McCall, Parkhurst and Crowe, both of Dallas, be employed to give opinions on the bonds. The latter firm has been employed by the University of Texas and other schools to perform similar service on other bonds to be issued under the amendment plant.

The bonds are to be issued on the basis of approximately 85 per cent tax collections under the amendment 5-cent tax levy plan, thereby assuring a margin of safety for purchasers. A $150,000 surplus would be set up to insure prompt payment of interest and the bonds would be optional and callable after the fourth or fifth year.

The bond issue, plus appropriations from the college's unappropriated surplus, approximately two-thirds of which has been earmarked for buildings and other improvements, would finance the $4,000,000 building program.

Construction Approved

Approved for construction in the immediate future are two wings on the administration building, two wings on the engineering building and some sort of additional facilities for the home economics division. Further consideration of building plans, which include additional classroom and laboratory space for the sciences, the agriculture division, business administration and music will be made at the May 30 meeting of the board.

Preparations of plans and specifications for the building authorized Monday are pending concluding discussion of employing additional architects, decision on which was passed at Monday's meeting.

Other actions taken in Monday's meeting included approval of a plan for housing athletes in West hall, first men's dormitory built on the campus, and authorization of an appropriation of $12,184 to remodel the dining hall and provide kitchen facilities for a training table.

The board also approved a contract with the City of Lubbock for water service to the college at the rate of 15 cents per thousand for the first 400,000 gallons and 10½ centers per thousand thereafter.

The contract approval came after City Manager Steven Matthews, City Commissioner Clarence Whiteside and Director of Public Works R. L. Oldham had appeared at Monday afternoon's board meeting.

Texas Marketing Urged

The college had to tie into the city mains last week after a pump failure had caused a shortage on the campus. The contract was made to insure plenty of water in the future.

Deaton and Wyatt, who talked to the board Monday morning expressed opinions that the college could market the bonds at an interest rate of between 1.50 and 1.75 and 2 per cent. Deaton recommended issuance of between $2,500,000 and $2,650,000 in bonds, while Wyatt said the college could issue from $3,000,000 to $3,500,000 in bonds.

The bonds can be marketed within 20 days, Deaton said and total interest cost on the bonds over the nine-year period should not be in excess of $195,000.

Both men recommended marketing of the bonds in Texas, instead of in the East.

There would be no advantage in joining with other schools in marketing the bonds, both men declared.

Attending the meeting were: Chairman Thompson, Weymouth, Ratliff, Chas. Wooldridge Dallas; Leon Ince, Houston; A. G. (Pat) Mayse, Paris; Mark McGee, Fort Worth; Robt. B Price, El Paso; Dr. Wiggins, W. T Gaston, board secretary, Frank Junnell, assistant secretary; and Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of the college.

already made toward complying with the conditions will be reported. The information, the chairman said, will be of direct interest to thousands of Lubbock people.

Letters Sent Out

Letters announcing the meeting have been sent to about 200 chamber members, Wells said. Names of those to whom they were addressed were selected with the intent of inviting representation from every segment of Lubbock.

But the chairman emphasized that the invitations to attend are not limited to those who received letters.

"Anyone sufficiently interested to attend will be more than welcome," Wells remarked.

Homer D. Grant, chamber president, will preside.

it about."

Tax Slash Favored

Some lawmakers say they think the current price slump goes deeper than government department reports indicate.

One of these, Senator Brewster (R-Me) remarked that he believes the advisory report "kills any tax bill for this session."

Brewster, a finance committee member, has moved to repeal the 15 per cent tax on railroad, airline, bus and ship tickets. The advisory council said nothing about this levy, but suggested studying the possibility of cutting off the 3 per cent tax on air, land and water freight.

Senator George said he thinks Congress also might well postpone until next January 1 the increase in social security payroll taxes now set for July 1. The President's advisers suggested that this might be a good idea.

"Many of the excise taxes are a direct brake on business," George said. "They should be subjected to a thorough study. There also is no hurry about increasing the payroll tax, which, of course, is just as much of a drag on the economy as any other levy."

Nationalists Claim Victory Against Reds Near Shanghai

SHANGHAI, May 10 (AP)—A Nationalist garrison communique today claimed a "decisive victory" at Liuho, 30 miles northwest of Shanghai.

A government counter-offensive was started in that area Monday. Despite Nationalist claims, however, the Liuho action from this vantage point appeared small.

The communique said the "exact extent of the Nationalist victory is now being ascertained."

Liuho has not been mentioned in recent communiques. It is a hamlet on a small stream entering the Yangtze from the south bank, a short distance from Kunshan. The northern fork of a Red two pronged drive toward Shandhai has been pointed at Kunshan for a week.

Reds Drive Back

Nationalist forces also counter-attacked west of Kunshan Monday, driving back a Communist force. The garrison asserted 200 casualties were inflicted on the Reds in this action.

While these actions were going on, 1,000 Reds struck at Taichang, which is a few miles north of Kunshan. The communique said this attack was beaten back and 200 Reds were killed.

The communique did not mention the Kashing front where the Communist southern prong is moving toward Shanghai. Presumably the Reds are still in the vicinity of Kashun about five miles west of Kashing. The Communists took Kashing Sunday.

Nothing was said in the communique about the central and southern China front where the Communists have been driving westward and southward into Kiangsi province and eastward into Chekiang and toward Fukien provinces. The whole vast area is in turmoil and the situation is clouded by the fog of war.

Ships To Pull Out

The newspaper Sin Wan Pao said the Nationalist garrison at Bankow, China's Pittsburgh on the middle Yangtze, had ordered noncombatants to withdraw to Linling, far to the south on the Canton-Hankow railroad.

The same newspaper said Hankow authorities had ordered ships in that area to pull upstream about 100 miles by Thursday when a blockade will be imposed on the river south of Hankow.

Sin Wan Pao said the exodus of noncombatants had been going on for a week. Few foreigners chose to remain in Hankow. Most of them are heads of companies such as oil firms with large property holdings. About six Americans still are there.

The paper added two thirds of Hankow's shops were closed and than an "underground peace movement was afoot."

Situation "Urgent"

Forces of the red Manchurian chief, Lin Piao, have been at the edge of Hankow for weeks.

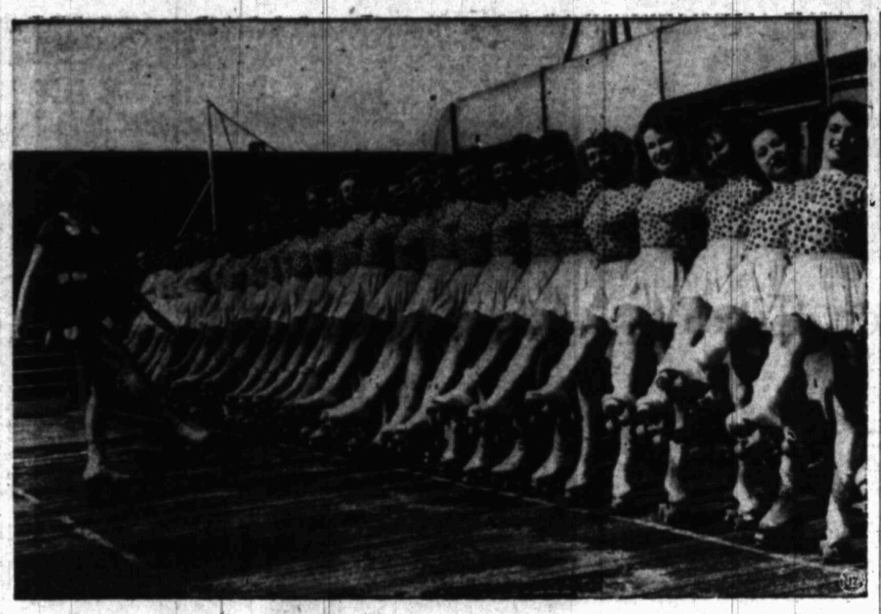

The central news agency in a Hankow dispatch said Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, Hankow commander, had advised all foreigners to leave. Pai described the situation as "urgent."

Sin Wan Pao said also that Communist forces had intensified attacks on the outer edge of Tsingtao, where the United States has had a naval base for months.

(U. S. naval ships at Tsingtao have steam up and are ready to sail the minute the reds take Tsingtao.)

Gun fire was said to be audible in Tsingtao. Gun flashes were reported seen from the roofs of tall buildings.

This may mean the reds have closed in on Tsingtao. Previous reports placed them 25-30 miles away from the north China port.

Methodists Announce Plan To Organize New Lubbock Church

Plans for organization of a Methodist church in southwest Lubbock Sunday were announced this morning by Rev. Burgin Watkins, pastor.

Mr. Watkins, a graduate with a bachelor of arts degree from Texas Technological college who received his bachelor of divinity degree from Vanderbilt university in Nashville, Tenn., in March, has been in Lubbock since early April.

Until the church builds its own structure, the congregation will meet in the Plaza theater.

Church school and the worship service will be conducted Sunday morning with the Westminster Presbyterian church congregation, which has been meeting in Plaza theater.

To Move Soon

The Westminster Presbyterian congregation plans to move soon to the first unit of its new building at Thirty-fourth and Tyler. Plans to move Sunday were changed because of last week-end's heavy rain.

The new Methodist church will be known as the Forrest Heights Methodist church. The late S. S. Forrest, chairman of the board of stewards of First Methodist church, donated a site at Thirty-third and Monroe for the church.

Mr. Watkins is the son of Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Watkins of Spearman. The father is a pastor of Spearman Methodist church.

Church school will be conducted at 10 a. m. and preaching services at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Woman Facing Murder Trial

RIVERSIDE, Calif., May 10. (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Garnier will go on trial June 2 on charges of murdering her wealthy boss, John E. Owen, president of the National Association of Apartment House owners and friend of actress Irene Rich.

Mrs. Garnier, 53, and a divorcee, pleaded innocent yesterday to a grand jury indictment accusing her of fatally shooting Owen, 68, April 22 at his lavish ranch home near here.

At the same time a transcript of the grand jury hearing was filed with the county clerk. The transcript disclosed that Pete Corrales, foreman of Owen's Jurupa Hills rancho, told the grand jury that Mrs. Garnier threatened Owen two weeks before the shooting.

Phone Calls Traced

The transcript quoted Corrales as telling the grand jury further: That Mrs. Garnier told him if she couldn't have Owen, nobody else could; that Mrs. Garnier told him she was "disappointed with the boss" and was taking a real estate course so she could leave his employ.

Mrs. Garnier managed one of Owen's Los Angeles apartment houses.

Corrales' testimony continued: "She said she traced phone calls into New York. All the calls were going back to the Waldorf-Astoria. She said, 'it's that Irene Rich'."

The transcript quoted sheriff's deputy Mel Vivion as saying Mrs. Garnier told him she and Owen discussed the prospects of Owen's marriage to the actress. Miss Rich had said that Owen had proposed only jokingly.

Mrs. Garnier told the court the gun went off accidentally as she tried to take it away from him.

Fund Drive Starts For Abilene College

DALLAS, May 10 (AP)—Abilene Christian college has launched an $8,340,000 development program here at what was described as the largest meeting of Church of Christ members ever held in the southwest.

Some 4,300 members of the church filled Fair park auditorium Monday night for the first of a series of Churches of Christ meetings over the state to assist the ACC building fund.

The drive got off to a good start with a donation of $50,000 in cash by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Birchfield of Fort Worth and a gift of around $15,000 in baled cotton by F. O. Mastin of Willington, Collingsworth county.

Masten also told the cheering throng he would also donate to the fund another 100 bales of cotton for every 1,000 bales chipped in by other farmers.

ACC President Don H. Morris said previous gifts and the $50,000 donation brought total contributions to the fund to $250,000. Morris said the development fund seeks the $8,340,000 over a 12-year period to provide endowments, additions and new buildings.

Morris said $1,037,000 is sought in the next year.

ACC has 1,689 students. Morris said the expansion program is needed to take care of a greater expected enrollment.

Program Is Stepped Up To Rid City Of Flood Health Hazards

City health officials this morning accelerated a program to protect Lubbock from health hazards as sunny skies brought drying conditions for hundreds of residents whose homes were flooded Saturday.

Both home owners and the city moved quickly to dig from under the tons of mud and debris which washed into homes, business firms and streets.

Machines In Operation

The city health department was operating three DDT fogging machines today, and one machine started on rounds of the city Monday, said Gerald E. Jarvis, director of the city-county public health and welfare program.

Hand sprays will be used where necessary on standing puddles which are likely to stagnate and become breeding places of flies, mosquitoes and other insects.

Jarvis asked local residents to empty bottles, cans and other trash containers in which water has accumulated and thus dispose of other insect breeding places.

DDT spraying will include suburban areas.

Damage Is Heavy

Water that rose as high as two and a half and three feet in Green Acres and Tech Terrace additions, as well as those on some streets opening off Ave. Q, caused inestimable damage to houses, furniture, clothing, yards and personal belongings.

Cain Terrace, a residential district on the Levelland highway, was not flooded and at no time did the water get high enough to enter any home.

Members of Lubbock Insurance exchange called attention to the fact that owners of autos suffering direct or accidental loss on which there were policies providing either "comprehensive" or "combined additional" coverage should file notice of loss with their insurance agent.

Three gasoline-operated water pumps have pumped many thousands of gallons of water from under 13 homes in Tech Terrace.

W. R. (Bud) Nichols, partner in Conley-Lott-Nichols company, took three pumps from stock of the heavy machinery company and he and W. D. Rogers, who lives in Tech Terrace, and two workers from the company, Willard Day and Jerry Shelby, began pumping water from underneath home Sunday.

Chief among such "delayed action" damages are floors which may later begin to buckle and warp, linoleum and other composition floor coverings which may curl and crack, and baseboards and other woodwork exposed to mud and water for long hours, from which the paint may eventually flake. In addition, fear has been expressed by homeowners in the flooded sections of the city that walls, and brick and stone veneers may be damaged much more than is now apparent.

Gas Service Restored

West Texas Gas company reported that its maintenance crews had cleared up most of the service interruptions in homes in southwest Lubbock by last night.

Numerous residences in the flooded sections of the city had been without gas since Friday night or early Saturday morning, due, in most cases, to entrance of water into gas lines. The gas company had machines in use Monday blowing air into the lines and forcing the water out.

Carpet cleaning firms in Lubbock have been swamped with work, since homeowners attempted to remove soaked and mudded rugs and carpet from floors with the least possible delay. At least one of the cleaning establishments has been working night and day since Saturday.

'Ike' May Get Free Life Driver License

ATLANTA, May 10. (AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower may get one of Georgia's free lifetime drivers' licenses.

The general got a regular license recently and listed his residence as Augusta, Ga., where he is resting after an illness.

Lt. F. M. Davis of the Georgia safety department wrote the general that if his legal residence is Augusta he is entitled to a free lifetime license—as a war veteran.

Ford Strike Carried To Peace Table Today

Conference Is To Be Staged

DETROIT, May 10 (AP) — The Ford strike idling 65,000 men — and threatening as many more — was carried to the peace table today.

On the sixth day of the "speed-up" deadlock management and the CIO United Auto Workers sought a solution together.

Their initial negotiations were set for 2 p. m. (EST).

In keeping with other events of this first major labor battle in a year in the auto industry, the agreement to negotiate came yesterday with dramatic suddenness.

Proposal Is Accepted

Young President Henry Ford II, acting swiftly, accepted a proposal for talks from President Walter Reuther of the union.

The two acted as strike-caused layoffs in Ford and supplier firms already were mounting into the thousands.

A full 40,000 more Ford workers face idleness within a week if the strike is not settled. Ford has warned it may have to shut down all its 49 plants.

In agreeing to negotiations Ford said his company assumed that the talks would be "continued until this strike can be brought to a close."

He declined two accompanying proposals from Reuther, however.

Ford said he would neither appear personnally at the negotiations nor would he engage in a public debate with Reuther if the dispute weren't settled by Friday.

Answer Is Deplored

The red-haired union chief, in a public statement later, deplored Ford's answer to those two counts, but he carried the matter no further.

It was only a little more than two hours after receiving Reuther's invitation to negotiate that Ford returned his formal assent.

Almost immediately the initial session was arranged—in the same Detroit building where the futile peace talks of last Thursday collapsed shortly after the strike deadline last Thursday.

Declining Reuther's proposal for a debate, Ford said "nothing useful" could be accomplished.

The union president had suggested that he and Ford meet on a rostrum in Briggs stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers baseball team, before a mass meeting of Ford workers.

"The issues," Ford said, "must be resolved on their merits and by conscientious effort at the bargaining table by both parties, and not by emotional appeals."

Reuther asked Ford's personal presence at the negotiations so that he would be "apprized of all the facts in the situation which you obviously do not have."

However, Ford said he was leaving the negotiations to John S.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

What motto or saying do you have posted in your office? Why do you think it is a good proverb to have around?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. VERA CHAPMAN, 2020 Seventeenth, public accountant: "'It's easier to do a job well than to explain why you didn't.' I think that is so very true. It's worked out just that way with me. Collecting sayings is a hobby of mine."

BILL DEAN, 2608 Twentieth, owner of Bill Dean Motor Co.: "Yours is the right to pick and choose . . . Democracy works here . . . Without a free exchange of goods you cannot have a free people.' That's a sort of national thing, that was given publicity by the Saturday Evening Post. The idea behind that was to combat a lot of this communistic thinking that is so prevalent in the country now and to try to impress the buying public with the fact we are trying to conduct our business on a democratic plane and principles—that they have the right to choose or reject any product on its merits—that they are free to pick and choose as they will."

MELVIN O. PITTMAN, officer-in-charge of U. S. Immigration and Naturalization service: "Any time you feel indispensable take a walk through a cemetery and read the headstones. Those guys were pretty hot stuff, too! I think it's good because of the fact that often many of us reach a point where we feel that we are superior to those with whom we associate and we need something to keep us on an even keel."

GEORGE BERRY, 2711 Twenty-third, partner in Berry and Ball, attorneys: "'He who whispers in a well about the goods he has to sell does not garner as many dollars as he who raises his head and hollers.' It's an Assyrian epigram. That has to do with merchandising rather than my business, but that's the one I use when speaking to a group of people about some civic project we are wanting to put over, to illustrate they should tell their neighbors about it."

W. C. RYLANDER, 1629 Fifteenth, secretary of Lubbock Kiwanis club: "'When you are down in the mouth, remember Jonah. He came out all right.' Someone gave that to me — I guess about 25 years ago. I brought it down from my home and I thought I'd show some of these guys how to get out of the dumps. Things like that keep you from getting discouraged."

K. L. RIGGS, 2123 Main, agency manager for West Texas of Great American Life Insurance Co.: "'A winner never quits and a quitter never wins.' We don't have that posted, but we talk it to the boys. There are so many people who will jump into a business and, because they don't make a rapid success, will quit."

Immigration Office Is Opened In City

A sub-office of the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization service, serving 54 counties, has been opened in Lubbock.

Melvin O. Pittman is officer in charge. Mrs. Zula F. Cochran is clerk-stenographer. Harold Ecke is patrol inspector-in-charge and Glenn Edwards is patrol inspector.

Here From Alpine

Pittman, Mrs. Cochran and Edwards were transferred here from Alpine, where the sector headquarters were located until they were moved recently to Marfa. Ecke was transferred here from Presidio.

The 54-county area served by the office here is bounded on the south by Andrews, Martin, Howard, and Nolan counties. It extends on the north to the Oklahoma line and on the west to the New Mexico line. The eastern boundary extends along the edge of the Texas Panhandle and southward to the southern boundary of Nolan county.

The sub-office headquarters are located in the Grollman building in 1300-block Broadway.

Headquarters for the district which includes Texas, New Mexico and Arizona are located in El Paso. Texas sub-offices are located at Presidio, Marfa, Ysleta, Fabens and Lubbock.

The U. S. Immigration and Naturalization service is a part of the Department of Justice.

Work Of Office

One of the principal problems of the sub-office in this area is dealing with the so-called "wet backs," or Mexicans who have crossed the border illegally. Other work deals with aliens coming under various classifications. Part of the work is connected with those who have temporary visitors status, not yet adjudicated to permanent resident's status.

All members of the staff, except the clerk-stenographer, are required to speak Epanish. An estimated 85 per cent of the work in this area is with Spanish speaking persons.

Pittman has visited in Lubbock numerous times in the last few years. He is a former resident of Big Spring and was graduated from Hardin-Simmons university, where he lettered four years in football and three in basketball. He attended Texas Technological college one summer. His wife and son, John Harvey, and daughter, Peggy Louise, are still in Alpine and will come to Lubbock about June 1. The son played football and basketball in Alpine, lettering in both sports.

Air Seeding Of Range Failure

TUCSON, Ariz. May 10 (AP)—Reseeding barren lands by airplane in Arizona has not been successful, government officials state.

They say billions of seeds sprayed from the air in pellets have failed to produce hoped-for growths of grass. In one of the experiments not a single specimen of the grass sown could be found. In another, "the results cannot be considered even partially satisfactory."

A report on airplane pellet seeding on four Indian reservations in Arizona has been prepared by Joe A. Wagner, range supervisor of the Papago Indian agency at Sells, Ariz. It was presented to the southwestern section, society of American foresters, in Tucson.

Reservations Seeded

A total of 90,000 acres on the reservation were seeded. They were the Navajo in northeastern Arizona and northwestern New Mexico; Hopi, in northeastern Arizoni; Papago in the south central and San Carlos in east central Arizona.

The pellets were made of clay from the ground to be treated, seed, rodent-insect repellent and growth promoting chemicals. It was hoped the force of the pellets striking the ground would cause them to become imbedded. It didn't. Penertation was practically nil, Wagner said.

Ten thousands acres of Papago land were covered. The amount of moisture and distribution was very favorable during the following summer. Between 175,000 to 250,000 Lehmann lovegrass seeds per acre were planted. The average growth was only 75 plants per acre, the range supervisor says.

It is felt, however, that it is still too early to make final predictions on the outcome of the bulk of the work done on the Navajo reservation.

Bodies Of War Vets Returned

The bodies of 10 South Plains men who lost their lives during World War II, in addition to a number from the Panhandle area, have been returned to this country from Europe aboard the United States Army transport Haiti Victory, the Department of the Army has announced.

A total of 5,328 remains are aboard the transport, including armed forces dead originally interred in temporary military cemeteries in France, Holland, and Belgium. A total of 329 remains are being returned upon instruction of next of kin residing in Texas, the Army department said.

Names Are Listed

The Army stated that each next of kin would be notified in advance of the arrival of the vessel, and again after arrival of the remains at the regional distribution centers of the American Graves Registration service.

From the South Plains and surrounding area, with next of kin as listed by the Army, are:

NAME OF AREA TOWN CHANGED

Monroe To Become New Deal Under New Postoffice Ruling

Effective June 1, Monroe, farming community 12 miles north of Lubbock, will be listed in the U. S. postal guide as New Deal, Texas.

The change in the town's name was revealed in an announcement by Postmaster General J. D. Donaldson from Washington that the community would have a fourth-class post office, effective June 1.

Confusion Feared

As there are two other cities in Texas with similar names, the department decided to adopt the name of New Deal for Monroe. The consolidated rural high school in the community now bears that name.

There is a Monroe, Texas, post office in Rusk county and a Monroe City, Texas, in Chambers county, so the department decided that a third post office bearing the name would be too confusing.

Consequently the name New Deal was adopted.

Whether the name of the town would be changed by the Santa Fe railroad, which named the town originally after Monroe Abernathy, pioneer South Plains resident, was a matter of conjecture.

Santa Fe officials said the change would "have to go through channels," if made and would probably require several months.

The New Deal postoffice will only handle sale of stamps, money orders, etc., and receive mail. No mail will be distributed in the community except through carriers.

Grady Henly has been named acting postmaster and the office will be located in Henly's General Store in Monroe, beg your pardon, New Deal.

Sing Sing May Be Better Than Hotel

NEW CITY, N. Y., May 10 (AP)—The comforts of Sing Sing prison await Robert Palloy, 49, who says he had to wash with seltzer water and shave with hand soap and canned vegetable soup while a winter squatter in a summer hotel.

A sentence of from 18 to 36 months was imposed yesterday by Rockland county Judge Robert Doscher on a burglary charge.

Palloy spent two and a half months as the lone occupant of the Bader hotel, Clarkstown, N. Y., where the water supply was shut off.

Harry Bader, the hotel owner, found Palloy sleeping in a blanket under the hotel stairs. Police said Palloy, a former employe of the hotel, told them he entered the hotel through a cellar window early in January, and lingered on,

Senator Byrd And Friends Arm Selves Against Purge By HST

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 10—The reported crack by President Truman that there are too many Byrds in Congress spurred Senator Byrd (D-Va) and his friends to arm themselves today against a possible purge movement.

Asserting that "if the President wants to purge me from the Senate, I'll be around when the purging starts," Byrd said he intends to keep fighting for the slash in spending he doesn't think the President wants.

AVC Chief Quoted

Gilbert Harrison, national commander of the American Veterans committee, quoted the President after a White House conference "He told us there were too many Byrds in Congress. He wants us to see that congressmen are elected who are able to see these things in the terms of national interest, rather than local interest and to make large plans rather than small plans".

Replying, Byrd said:

"I'm going to continue to make some small money plans that the President won't like at all.

"And I've got an interest in a big plan, too. I'm going to see to it, if I can, that the Senate doesn't confirm the nomination of Mon Wallgren to head the national security resources board. He's definitely not big enough for that job."

Remarks Criticised

Byrd furnished the necessary Democratic vote when Republicans on the Senate armed services committee bottled up the Wallgren appointment weeks ago.

Since tht time, the Virginian has not been on good political terms with the President, who has said repeatedly that he wants Wallgren confirmed for the post.

The President's reputed remarks about Byrd were criticized by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader.

"The President notwithstanding," Wherry said, "we need the Harry Byrd kind of men in the United State Senate. If the fiscal policy of the President is not halted, it will lead to printing press money or to wartime taxes, one or the other."

Senator Ellender (D-La) said he doesn't agree with the President.

"I just wish we had more men of Harry Byrd's type in the Senate," Ellender said. "If we don't have some economy in government, we're going to be headed for financial bankruptcy."

May Seek Reelection

In a formal statement on the incident, Byrd said: "I owe my allegiance to my constituency in Virginia. So long as I remain in the Senate, I will vote as my conscience dictates and to represent the wishes of my constituents."

Byrd's friends said the President crack probably will make the Virginian more solid than ever with the voters of his state. They usually resent outside interference in their choice of officials.

If any serious purge attempt seemed likely, Byrd would be almost certain to seek return to the Senate when his present term expires in 1952. He has been talking of retiring at this time.

The Byrd incident was regarded as demonstrating a new irritation on the part of the President at those within his party who do not go along with his legislative program.

Rules Change Sought

Recently, Mr. Truman tried to crack the patronage whip on member of Congress who oppose his measures. His indication that those who don't go along won't have a say in doling out federal jobs seemed to have been modified later by statements of other Democratic officials.

Wherry and three other Republican senators are trying to change the Senate rules to help force economies in federal spending.

The quartet—Senators Ferguson (Mich), Bridges (NH), Wherry and Gordon (Ore)—want the Senate to permit language to be written into appropriation bills by a majority vote which would order the director of the budget to make certain deductions in the amount of money to be spent.

Under present Senate rules, no general legislation can be attached to any appropriations bill unless the Senate suspends the rule by a two-thirds vote.

The four offered a bill to change the rules. It was sent to the rules committee.

Truck Weight Law Is Weighty Problem For Highway Officers

IRWIN, Pa., May 10 (AP) — Pennsylvania state police had a weighty problem on their hands last night.

The situation developed around the weighing-in station set up by state police to check for possible violations of the commonwealth's truck weight law.

Because of the police drive more than 200 truck drivers parked their big vehicles along the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here last Wednesday night, declaring they would remain until state authorities agreed to reconsider the present truck weight limit of 45,000 pounds.

Traffic Paralyzed

Monday night traffic was paralyzed several hours on route 30—which connects with the western end of the turnpike—as scores of drivers clamored for police to weigh their trucks.

Extra police were rushed to the scene. There was no violence although state police Capt. A. J. Hudock said some truckers tried to escape weighing by fleeing to country roads.

"Everyone wanted to be weighed at once," said Capt. Hoduck, "and we're glad to accommodate them. We had two sets of scales in operation but we've added a third. The situation is under control."

Capt. Hoduck said the weight check will be continued indefinitely. Since the start of the drive nearly 100 truck drivers have been fined from $25 to $50 each, including one whose truck was found to weigh 85,000 pounds.

Jersey Ballots To Test Hague

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 10 (AP)—Frank Hague's supremacy in city and state Democratic leadership—a political reign of more than three decades—could be overthrown at the ballot box today.

The city commission slate backed by the aging Democratic leader faces the most powerful opposition he has ever fought in his long career.

John V. Kenny, formerly Hague's trusted political lieutenant, heads the strong opposition "Freedom Ticket." He's up against Hague's nephew, Frank Hague Eggers, whose slate has the full support of the regular Democratic forces.

Not Seeking Office

For the first time since Hague fought his way into Jersey City's political arena in 1913, he is on the sidelines in a city election. Hague seeks no office today. The Democratic chieftain retired as mayor in 1947 in favor of Eggers.

But the election can affect Hague's power in national Democratic circles. After carrying the state for Franklin D. Roosevelt in four presidential elections, Hague lost prestige in 1948 when Gov. Dewey soundly trounced President Truman in New Jersey.

A defeat in his own city would further undermine Hague's influence. It would probably mean his ouster as state Democratic leader.

At an election eve rally Monday night, Kenny told some 15,000 supporters in his own second ward that "this is not an election—it is a rebellion against the most corrupt political machine ever established in the United States."

Rounding out the bitterly contested campaign a day earlier, Hague admonished his followers that "the big issue in this campaign is hoodlumism against decency."

Working in favor of Hague's creaking party machinery, however, was the splitting of anti-administration forces into several camps. Kenny's effectiveness is greatly diminished by a third slate headed by John R. Longo, a popular candidate and longtime bitter Hague foe.

There is only one ticket—the regular Democratic one—on Hague's and Eggers' side of the fence.

Physician Charged In Murder Of Wife's Seducer To Testify

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 10 (AP)—A young St Louis physician charged with murdering the man who seduced his wife will take the witness stand in his own defense.

Defense attorney Walter Barngrover says he will call on Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, jr., to tell the jury details of a struggle in a hotel room "where only God and Dr. Rutledge know what took place."

Dr. Rutledge, 27-year-old specialist in children's diseases, is accused of the knife-slaying of Byron C. Hattman, 29, St. Louis aircraft instrument designer. Hattman's body was found in a room of the Roosevelt hotel here last Dec. 14.

Defense Stand Cited

The defense and prosecution yesterday presented vastly different versions of events leading to the death of Hattman.

Barngrover pictured Hattman as a man who took Dr. Rutledge's statuesque blond wife, Sydney, 23, on a party, plied her with liquor and "then took her to her apartment where by clever design he seduced and debauched her."

The defense attorney said the physician did not "knowingly inflict the wound that resulted in Hattman's death."

He asserted Dr. Rutledge came to Cedar Rapids to keep a prearranged meeting at which he was prepared to pay Hattman a "certain amount of money" and "get him out of his life."

"Only God and Dr. Rutledge know what took place in that hotel room," Barngrover said. "Dr. Rutledge will tell you his side of it when he takes the witness stand."

He said Mrs. Rutledge also would testify and give details of the "sordid chapter" of her association with Hattman.

County Attorney William Crissman told the jury the slaying took place "in the perpetration of robbery due to motives of unsuccessful blackmail and extortion, jealousy and robbery."

He said Rutledge got into the hotel room by a ruse and lay in wait more than three hours.

When Hattman entered the room, Crissman said, Rutledge pounced on him and "from the instant Hattman entered the room he had no chance for his life."

Crissman said the evidence would show that Dr. Rutledge had attempted to extort money from Hattman.

Clean-Up Campaign Underway At Lamesa

LAMESA, May 10. (Special)—Lamesa's annual clean-up campaign, which officially opened Sunday, was keynoted Monday by a parade through the business section.

The parade was led by the Lamesa High School band, followed by a city fire truck, trash truck, spraying equipment and street sweeper, members of civic clubs, the "Slumtown Symfunny" band of the Lions club, and school children carrying banners and an assortment of clean-up equipment.

Featured attraction of the parade was "Miss Trash," riding a float on which was inscribed a warning that she get out of town before the end of the clean-up drive, May 15.

The campaign will cover 311 blocks of the city, which has been divided into four zones. Daily radio broadcasts will publicize the progress of the 7-day campaign.

J. R. Earnest heads the campaign, which is sponsored by the Civic Improvement committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and other civic clubs.

Arab Civilians Riot Over Israeli Deal

DAMASCUS, Syria, May 10 (AP)—Rioting Arab civilians clashed with Trans-Jordan Arab legion forces in the so-called Nablus triangle of Palestine, according to reports today in a telephone dispatch from Trans-Jordan.

The dispatch, from Amman, said 80 of the civilians were wounded severely in the fighting, and that more trouble was feared.

The trouble was reported to have arisen from Arab resentment against the surrender by Trans-Jordan of part of the more than 100-square mile triangular tract to Israel. Previous dispatches had described the affected Arab residents as unconcerned by the surrender and friendly to the Israelis.

The Nablus triangle is an area in north central Palestine with the town of Nablus, Tulkarm and Jenin as its outermost points.

The Syrian government said in a communique last night the government of Iraq has reaffirmed that it will shut off Iraqui oil from Haifa, Israel, and throw military support to the Syrians if fighting resumes between Syria and Israel. The Syrians and Israelis still are attempting to negotiate an armistice agreement.

Buffalo Lakes Flood Damage Feared High

Flood damage at Buffalo Lakes probably will come to, or perhaps exceed, $20,000, Mayor W. H. Rodgers, co-owner with George Etz said late Monday.

Mayor Rodgers, who spent most of Monday at Buffalo Lakes checking damage, said it is too early yet to determine what course of action will be taken to repair the damage, since inspection has thus far been limited by water and deep mud. Repair costs also were not determined.

He said that the second dam there will hold satisfactorily, and that it had not been seriously damaged.

Damage to the McClung road in the canyon near Buffalo Lakes will probably exceed $5,000, George G. Green, county commissioner of precinct two, said Monday.

UNLESS all signs fail, the next attorney general of Texas will be John Ben Shepperd, of Gladewater.

Young Mr. Shepperd probably knows more people in this state than any other Texan, young or old.

He probably has appeared before more groups than any other young man in Texas.

He has a fine personality, a good platform presence and, through his outstanding service to Junior Chamber of Commerce work in Texas, the nation and the world has thousands of enthusiastic young Jaycees supporting him.

He'll be very hard to beat—even by a political veteran.

If Mr. Shepperd becomes attorney general and continues in his present paths, he'll have a great opportunity to forge into the governorship and, later, into the United States Senate.

If he doesn't stub his political toe somewhere, he'll soon be embarked on a lengthy career in state and national politics.

Over in Levelland, the folks are trying to do something about that bustling city's need for a larger, modern hotel.

Indications are now that the end of this year will see the new hostelry well on its way toward completion.

If the Levelland hotel campaign goes over, as it appears it will, look for other similarly successful hotel campaigns in other South Plains cities, nearly all of which are like Lubbock in needing added facilities for the traveling public, conventions, etc.

Good luck to the Levelland boosters. Success in their endeavors not only will mean a great deal to Levelland, but also to other communities of the area.

BECAUSE his support proposal for agricultural products is so revolutionary and has attracted world-wide attention and comment, it is too bad that U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Charlie Brannan did not speak specifically about its probable cost when he addressed the Democratic rally here Saturday night.

The Brannan support system, not yet given the go-sign by Congress, is such a departure from what we have known in the past that it cannot be chucked to one side with a sneer. Yet neither can it be safely accepted by Congress, or the American people, without more light being cast on its probable cost to the nation should it be put into operation.

In fact, the Secretary's coyness about costs has brought his plan the major part of the criticism thus far leveled against it by those both in and out of his party.

Otherwise, interest in his proposal has been sympathetic.

Unless and until Secretary Brannan can give the nation an idea of how much his plan might cost the taxpayer, skeptics are going to continue to characterize it as "just another effort to have one's cake and eat it, too."

Few not well versed in agricultural economics can figure out how any plan can give farmers a higher income for their products than supported by the law of supply and demand, and still put farm products in the hands of consumers at a lower price that the supports call for—which is the essence of the Brannan theory.

★ ★ ★

The money to hold the line against serious decreases in the prices of farm products has got to come from somewhere. So has the money to keep prices to consumers on a reasonable level.

How much money is the question still unanswered.

SECRETARY BRANNAN is very right about the necessity for keeping farmers' incomes at a reasonable level and equally right about depressions starting with the decline of farm incomes. Therefore, no suggestion of defense against these economic shifts should be written off without careful study.

Most Americans, we think, are interested in any and all suggestions aimed at warding off future economic tragedies similar to that of the early 1930's, hence are sympathetic to the Brannan philosophy.

Mr. Brannan cannot expect to secure public, support for his plan unless he can be more specific about its cost than he has been to date.

Perhaps he will become more specific sometime in the future. But in his speeches here, and in Waco, he might have missed a wonderful opportunity to state his specific ideas.

MISS HELEN WAGNER, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles J. Wagner, has gone back to her professional singing and acting work in Massachusetts and New York, but she left behind a promise to appear on the concert stage the next time she comes to Lubbock.

We buttonholed Miss Wagner Sunday noon, just after she sang at First Presbyterian church.

"The next time you come home," we said, "how about The Avalanche-Journal presenting you in a program for benefit of the Lubbock Women's club, or some other organization? After all, the old home town ought to get a chance to hear you in a complete program."

"I'd be tickled to death," said Miss Wagner. "I'd love to sing for the home folks."

So there you are, ladies of the Women's club. Let us hear from you if you want the deal. It would help you raise some more money to use in building your clubhouse. But if the Women's club doesn't want the deal, we know of half a dozen other good organizations that will snap it up.

Miss Wagner is more than a local gal who made good in the big time, with performances in "Oklahoma," other New York productions, Summer stock and opera and other similar activities. In our book, she has as good a voice and stage presence ever heard and seen in our town.

The Avalanche-Journal will be proud to sponsor her appearance in Lubbock and we know her appearance will be a high spot in musical circles here. Her beautiful contralto voice, her easy stage presence and her platform charm are remindful of Margaret Matzenauer in her prime.

INAUGURATION of Dossie Marion Wiggins as president of Texas Tech spotlights again, as it should, the administrative "new deal" at the college.

Although Doctor Wiggins has been at his post less than one school term—and has been forced to spend much of his time on work outside of Lubbock—the benefits of his operation are blooming on every hand.

Coincidental with the Wiggins administration has come another era of better understanding and co-operation within the faculty of the college and, certainly, between the town and gown segments of Lubbock's population.

We congratulate the good doctor on his successes thus far and, along with everyone else, hope for him a long and continued productive tenure.

As the academic world gives him honor at his inauguration, he should know that the rank and file of Tech's friends outside the academic field are joining in the felicitations.

BY DREW PEARSON: ALABAMA WORKS TO IMPROVE RACE RELATIONS IN DEEP SOUTH

Wallaceite Springs Surprise On Republican Club

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — A few years ago, if anyone predicted that white and negro teachers would soon be paid the same salaries in the schools of Alabama, he would have been coffed at.

A few years ago also, no one would have believed the prediction that negro schools would become as up-to-date and modern as white schools. And if anyone had predicted that a negro would sit among twelve good men and true on a jury which decided the fate of a white man where the death sentence was involved, he would have been considered revolutionary.

PEARSON

However, all of these things have happened — in Alabama.

Furthermore, there seems to be a healthy desire in this state, which has one of the heaviest negro populations of the south, to work quietly and steadily toward improvement of race relations.

Two new negro high schools have just been finished in Montgomery, and this writer, who recently visited them, can testify to the fact that they appear more up-to-date than the older schools for white children. Alabamans admit that the negro schools were long overdue; and that it has only been recently that negro education has begun to catch up. However, the important thing is that it has improved.

Montgomery also boasts a state teachers college for negroes which has a large number of modern, new, well-equipped buildings, plus an athletic field which some Alabamans ruefully claim is better than theirs.

Montgomery's most beautiful monument to negro education, however, is St. Jude's school, built by the nickles and pennies scraped together by a Catholic priest, Father Purcell. It probably surpasses anything built by the state.

Another monument to north-south cooperation is being urged by the Blue and Gray association which has built part of a football stadium for athletic contests between the north and the south, and is now trying to raise sufficent funds to complete the project.

Eventually a monument to the two great generals of the Civil war—Lee and Grant—will stand outside this shrine to north-south friendship where already an annual football game is played between two all-star teams from the north and the south in Montgomery, the cradle of the Confederacy.

Taking a cue from the Blue and Gray association, many southern high schools invited northern school elevens to the south last winter, and the idea is spreading.

"You can't legislate or force goodwill and brotherly love," says Champ Pickens, chief organizer of the Blue and Gray memorial. "You have to encourage it."

The Blue and Gray has done a lot of encouraging and will do more down here in the heart of the deep south—if given a little help from those in the north who sometimes criticize without taking the trouble to find out how much progress the south is making on its own.

THE young Republicans club of New York staged a banquet in Manhattan the other night to announce the winner of an essay contest. It was a distinguished and important occasion.

Some of the top leaders of the Republican party, including Harold Stassen, had judged the contest and another judge, Bruce Bromley, of the New York court of appeals, was present to announce the winner.

Judge Bromley made the announcement with much dignity. He spoke of the importance of young political leaders rising to the front, and the importance of the question on which the essays were written—"Should The Senate Rules Be Changed?" He also emphasizbd that the contest had been non-partisan following which he announced the winner H. Carl Markel, a promising young man from Williams college, one of the old and blue-blooded colleges of New England.

Young Markel rose, calmly pocketed the $100 prize, and said:

"This is indeed a nonpartisan contest. In fact it isn't even bipartisan, but tripartisan. For during the last election I campaigned for Henry Wallace."

Dignified Judge Bromley looked horrified. Some of the Republicans acted as if a bombshell had struck.

"And I would like to tell you why I worked for Wallace," continued young Markel.

Whereupon Republican leaders were forced to sit in silence and listen to a political pep talk by one of Wallaces' ardent admirers.

Note — After Markel finished, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, the main speaker of the evening, made this comment on Markel's essay: "If you had asked me, I could have told you that the Wallaceites don't want to change the Senate rules, because they can spread more confusion under the present archaic rules."

Chennault On China

Newspapermen were shooed out out of the Senate armed services committee the other day in order to find out if Gen. Claire Chennault had anything confidential to say about China. He didn't.

In answer to a question from Chairman Millard Tydings of Maryland, however, Chennault estimated it would cost one million dollars a day to support the nine Chinese provinces still holding out against the Communists.

As for graft in China, Chennault snapped: "Corruption isn't confined to China. It is found in France—and even in the United States."

The Flying Tiger chief also urged that U. S. volunteers be allowed to help train Nationalist soldiers and plan their battle strategy. He warned that the Communists have a genius for organizing and will be able to hold China once they conquer it.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has told friends that he is dead serious about chopping the deadwood out of government, and will use the Hoover commission report as a blueprint to do so.

First to feel the presidential paring knife will be the agencies dealing with federal works, procurement, surplus property, contract settlements and archieves. These functions will be lumped together in a general service agency, headed by able, amiable Jess Larson—providing Congress approves.

Solon's Alarm Over Nation's Economic Picture Confusing

NEW YORK, May 10 — It seems we have now heard everything in the way of calamity howling from Capitol hill. The latest gust comes direct from the gullet of Sen. Ed Johnson of Colorado, who tells us that if the Russians decide to abandon the muscle and make friends, "there would be hell to pay economically."

RUARK

"But for the cold war," the senator tells the United States Chamber of Commerce, "the present economic situation in the U. S. would be alarming. He says that "foreign aid and military programs are maintaining an economic fools paradise."

Then he says that if the military spending spree is not drastically curtailed by next year we will be launched on the "wildest inflationary binge in history, which will result in a depression with high prices."

• • •

Depression Is Seen

By attempting to reduce this to common English I would deduce that the senator means (1) if we are forced to quit government spending to fend off the Bolsheviks we would have so much money we would go hog wild and blow it all in or (2) that unless we do quit government spending we will have so much money we will go hog wild and blow it all in or (3) if we keep spending we will have a depression and (4) if we don't keep spending we will have an inflation and/or a depression.

And finally, whatever that is, we will have a depression with high prices. This I got to see. Nobody ever saw one before.

I pretend very little knowledge of the mechanics which send bread, board and Buicks to the masses, but the kindergarten axiom used to be that wars, or threats of wars, upset the economic digestion and peace romped happily with prosperity.

• • •

BUT if a state of raised hackle with the Soviets is necessary to stabilize our economy I must have been reading the wrong primer. Evidently the common man is unfit to be trusted with the heaping horn of peace, for fear he'll blow it too loud and upset everything. International nervous prostration is vital to the balance of the budget, the man says.

If we are now living in a fool's paradise I should hate to spend much time in a smart man's purgatory. Simple, trusting little me, who once was taught that high taxes are bad, imminent war unsettling, maintenance of peak defense forces expensive, and that spending the family's savings on strangers is apt to deplete the national cupboard. Shows how stupid you can be.

But if I'm stupid, Bernard M. Baruch is stupid along the same lines. Simple, trusting Mr. Baruch has written that the threat of war is a murderer of individual economic opportunity. Mr. Baruch says nervous people don't want to build houses and sink money in business ventures. They figure it's foolish to build a house or start a business if somebody is likely to come along next week and blow it up.

• • •

Cold War "Urged"

Therefore, Mr. Baruch wrote, you can't do much business and cut government costs and plump up the national income unless there is some mild guarantee that next summer will see you unbombed. And he wrote that one of the prime requirements of prosperity is security. This does not seem to jibe with Sen. Johnson's philosophy.

Whatever will we do, now that we are threatened with peace? Can we exist without a menace of war to keep our economic ducks in a row? If we cut some taxes and pay back some debts, will that leave so much money that us irresponsible kiddies will spend it all on sodas and barber-pole candy? I dunno. Ask Ed Johnson.

Perhaps the best thing will be to just haul off and declare a permanent state of cold war. This will keep the military working, the budget in line, and thereby preserve the state we have come to know as normalcy.

Laff-A-Day

"Well, there goes all the hot water!"

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

AFTER a lecture tour around the country a New York hat designer returned to New York and confided with bitter superiority to a reporter that he had discovered what the average woman wants when she shops for a hat.

"All she wants," said he, "is a nice little hat that can go to market, is appropriate for a morning funeral, dressy enough for lunch and dinner, just right for cocktails, yet not too fussy for Sunday morning communion."

MILLETT

And then he showed exactly what he thought of the average woman's idea of the hat she'd like to be able to buy by adding, "I'm surprised women don't ask me to install plumbing too."

So instead of learning something from the average woman, he'll probably go back to designing the kind of hats he wants to design, instead of the kind of hats women would like to wear.

The hat designers grow wild-eyed when they talk about the growing tendency of American women to go bare-headed.

But it apparently never occurs to them that if they'd design some simple, becoming hats that would stay on the head and "go anywhere," women might not be so taken with the bare-headed craze.

• • •

CAN'T FIND HAT

ACTUALLY it is almost impossible for a woman to walk into a hat store or millinery department and find a simple, easy-going hat that doesn't take a lot of living up to.

I know because I've just been through the ordeal. I finally settled for a small hat that would do nicely—AFTER I ripped off half a yard of veiling; a bow half the size of the hat—and replaced it with a bit of simple trimming.

Now it can "go to market, go to church go to dinner"—or anywhere else I want to go.

It's not a creation—it's a hat—which is what I wanted in the first place. And, according to the hat designer's report, "just a hat" is what women all over the country wish they could buy.

So here's a kindly tip to the hat designers who dream up these concoctions the average woman hasn't time to dress up to or live up to.

Give us what we want at a price that isn't utterly absurd or you may discover the American woman can design her own hats.

If you don't believe it, remember the beauty salons never thought women would be giving themselves permanent waves, either.

"Try And Stop Me"

WHEN Alonzo Stagg was one of the country's outstanding football coaches, he kept substitutes on the beach constantly alert by suddenly popping questions at them while a game was in progress. One afternoon he turned to a fourth-string sub who had played the role of human tackling dummy in practice all season, but had failed to get into a single game, and demanded:

"You, Cartmell—What would you do if we had possession of the ball, one minute to play, the score nothing-to-nothing, and we had only four yards to go for a touchdown?"

"Gee, coach," stammered the substitute. "I'd slide down to the end of the beach, so I could see better."

THE BUSINESS CENSUS

Most businesses in Lubbock undoubtedly will cooperate fully with the federal enumerators who are engaged in this area in taking the first U. S. business census since 1939.

The census will take a little time and will involve some inconvenience. It will require the disclosure to the enumerators of information which operators of many establishments would not want revealed to their competitors.

But the complete census unquestionably will supply information which will be valuable in many ways to many businesses in estimating such factors as buying trends and the advisability of expansions. And the individual business men have been given unqualified assurance that their information will be treated as top secret, unavailable for examination either by private, or governmental inquirers.

With this assurance, no business man should hesitate to supply the enumerators the information they will seek

Admission Of Israel To U. N. Appears Almost A Sure Thing

LAKE SUCCESS, May 10 (AP)—Israel's admission to the United Nations appeared to be almost a sure thing today.

The new Jewish nation won the big test vote by a three-to-one majority late Monday. The general assembly's special 58-nation political committee endorsed the Israeli bid by 33-11. Thirteen countries abstained and one was absent.

If the full assembly follows the lead of its committee then the year-old eastern Mediterranean nation will become the 59th member of the world organization.

Decision Expected

The final assembly decision, requiring a two-thirds majority of the members voting is expected tomorrow or Thursday.

The test vote came on a joint resolution sponsored by the United States, Australia, Canada, Guatemala, Haiti, Panama and Uruguay. Among those voting for the proposal were: the entire Soviet bloc of six countries and Argentina, China, Cuba, Norway, New Zealand, Mexico and The Netherlands.

Afganistan, Burma, India, Iran and Pakistan joined with the Arabs in opposing Israel's admission. Among those abstaining were Britain, France, Balgium, Sweden, Greece, Turkey and Denmark.

Only a sudden reversal by several nations can keep Israel out of the U. N. The final committee vote came as a surprise since 19 countries voted a few minutes earlier in favor of a Lebanese plan to defer action on the Israeli bid until fall.

Proposal Loses Out

Lebanon's proposal lost out when 25 nations voted against it.

The same committee moves on to consideration of a new resolution in the Indonesian case today. Australia and India, original sponsors of a move to have the assembly deal with the Dutch-Indonesian conflict, proposed Monday the question be deferred until the assembly's autumn session.

The two countries acted in view of a reported agreement in Batavia during the past several days between Dutch and Indonesian representatives. Possible committee action on the new proposal was blocked when Poland and Russia insisted on additional time for studying the Indian-Austrilian recommendation.

Tech Band Concert Is Presented Here

The president's concert, by Texas Tech band and glee club, attracted approximately 1,000 persons to Senior High school auditorium Monday night.

The concert, honoring Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Tech, and Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, opened with the band's full bodied playing of Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 4 in F Minor, directed by D. O. Wiley.

The first movement of the symphony was especially arranged by George Rhoads, first trombone in Tech band, and fully reflected the poignant sorrow that sometimes is lost in transcribing Tschaikowsky's orchestral works for band.

Other numbers by the band varied from music-hall specialties by Victor Herbert to the lilting melodies of Percy Grainger. All received enthusiastic applause.

The Tech Men's glee club sang a Yugoslavian folksong, and a spiritual, "Dry Bones," then brought forth Mrs. Stuart Shafter, soprano, who gave unusually beautiful depth of feeling to the leading role of "Romany Life" by Victor Herbert, conducted by Richard Richards, glee club director.

Joe L. Haddon, assistant director of the band, brought the program to a close with his spirited conducting of the Tech school songs.

U. S., Russian Collaboration 'Desirable,' Says Red Radio

LONDON, May 10 (AP)—Moscow radio says collaboration between the American and Russian economic systems is both possible and desirable.

The broadcast won special attention since it came less than two weeks before the May 23 Big Four conference. On that date U. S. and Russia negotiators will meet—along with French and British colleagues in a new effort to settle the German question.

Vavilov, a radio Moscow commentator speaking in English, said in a broadcast heard by the Soviet monitor here:

"The anti-Hitler coalition of three great powers—the Soviet union, the U. S., and Britain—gave the nations of the world a splendid example of fruitful collaboration between different economic systems during the period of the second World War.

"And it is certainly natural that if two different systems could collaborate in war, even more can they collaborate in peacetime. Such collaborations not only are possible but desirable in the interests of maintaining a stable peace . . ."

No direct reference to the forthcoming Big Four meeting was made.

For its newly nationalized Bata shoe and leather enterprise at Zlin, Czechoslovakia has selected the name "Svit," meaning "Dawn."
