Special Gift Week for Chest Drive Will Begin October 19

Committeemen of the United War Chest of Dawson County have designated October 19 to 26th as Special Gift Week. During this period gifts of money will be solicited from the citizens of this county to apply on the $10,000 quota which has been assigned the county for the National War Fund Drive.

Special gift donors will be those who contribute $50.00 or more to the War Chest Campaign.

Booths will be set up at M. C. Lindsey's office where contributions will be accepted. Girls from the High School will be stationed at these booths.

The proceeds derived from the Harley Sadler show amounted to $34.88. This amount was supposed to be shared between the War Chest and the local Fire Department. The Fire Department contributed their share of the proceeds to the War Chest Drive, as was announced this morning.

Contributions when the hat was passed at the Harley Sadler Show Friday and Saturday night after Stansell Clement and Judge Kilmer B. Corbin made talks relative to the War Chest Fund, amounted to $265.67.

The exact role of the United War Chest of Texas is to serve as the link between the National War Fund with its goal of $125,000,000 and this county, which has accepted its share of the American War Service to be carried by this state. It will also serve the purpose of bringing together in a single state-wide program the fund-raising activities of the national war-related agencies.

It will receive all funds collected within the state for transmittal to the national agency, and will use only the minimum funds necessary to the conduct of the campaign.

The funds collected during the drive will be divided among the 17 participating agencies by the Board of Directors of the National War Fund with the aid of the President's War Relief Control Board.

The United War Fund will render benefits to the armed forces through the USO by meeting their recreational welfare and spiritual needs in off duty hours. It will serve the United Seamen's Service by providing recreation for the valiant men of the Merchant Marine while ashore, and rest and convalescent homes for the victims of sea disaster, not only in this country, but in the major ports of the long convoy routes. It will aid the "Barbed Wire Legion," who will be returned to their homes when peace comes.

The dollars you give will fight for the oppressed and imprisoned people of the occupied countries through the relief agencies for France, Poland, Greece, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Be ready to "take a Texan's Share" during Special Gift Week.

$589,841.50 of War Bonds Sold By Sat.

The Third War Loan Drive was brought to a close Saturday, October 16, after a two weeks extension in Dawson County.

A final check reveals that the county made a total of $589,841.50 War Bond Sales and purchases during the 6 weeks period given them to raise their quota.

Tornadoes Will Meet San Angelo Friday Night

San Angelo High School Bobcats play Lamesa on McCollum Field next Friday night. The visitors are listed among the top rated eleven of Texas at this time and are in the undefeated, untied list.

A Bobcat back, Rathbone, is reputed to be the sparkplug of the prospective State Champions and holds the current season record for highest scorer on District 3 Conference AAA teams.

The problem of getting to the famous back is the subject of Coach Hill's instructions to his team members. Comparative scores give the Bobcats a decided edge over the 1943 aggregation. The ambition of the Lamesa players is to greet the Bobcats with quick and accurate tackling and to present a more determined offense when in possession of the ball.

...A Boy Died Last Night

A boy died last night. It doesn't make much difference now about his name. The important thing is that he died, in poignant and awful loneliness, out somewhere on a waste of sand, out in a starless silence, ten thousand miles from home.

"Missing in action," read an obscure line in this morning's communique. That was all. Now he lies there, crumpled beside the twisted wreckage that yesterday was his ship, riding high in the sunlit heavens. The fine head and the shining face and the broad shoulders remain only in a picture that looks out upon a quiet living room on a shaded street an eternity away.

Last night—in those agonizing hours of unspeakable isolation, he went through a thousand deaths without the one thing that might have helped a little—the sound of a familiar voice, the pat of a friendly hand. Many people died last night in their beds at home, surrounded by those who cared. Last night he died in utter desolation, in unimaginable loneliness.

The pain was terrible enough. But then there had to be that dreadful burden of thought in those endless hours. Mom and Pop. The flowers blooming again in the backyard. The good old roadster in the driveway. That last sweetheart kiss at the station. Those dances last summer. That half-finished letter in his blouse. All those plans for the future. Buddies back at the field, 500 miles across the water, wondering.

Couldn't somebody find him, please? The wrecking pain again. Too much for you, all this? But it really happened last night, just like that. If people could only understand it, if they would just grind deep into their thinking the stark, terrible reality of it, every petty, selfish interest would be swept away. They would sacrifice anything and everything just to make themselves worthy of that boy. They would hasten to forge an instrument of revenge that would wipe from the earth the traffickers in war.

If people who have basked and prospered and walked in a land that has felt no more than the shock of a Fourth of July firecracker since 1865 would understand about this boy, they would wait no longer for government promulgations and the urging of rallies. There would be no one left to think any more about what the war might do to his mere personal interest tomorrow or the next day.

People would rise up, and demand that their government take anything, exact everything needed, make them walk, feed them the commonest fare, blackout every city, take away every last penny of profit, render uncertain every complacent comfort and easy security—just to avenge that boy.

He died last night, you see. There's no way to get around that.

Pointers On How To Clean Sewing Machine Offered

"How do you clean a sewing machine?" is one of the "fifty-dollar" questions women are asking county home demonstration agents of A. and M. Extension Service every day. Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, Extension clothing specialist who helps agents supply the answers, says it's much easier to show than to tell, and consequently machine cleaning demonstrations have been in great demand.

Naturally, some implements are necessary . . . beginning with a pair of pliers and some screw drivers. A half-inch paint brush is handy, although a feather could be substituted. Among the other useful items are tweezers and a crochet hook to pull out lint, an old tooth brush for cleaning the teeth of the feed dog, an adjustable wrench, an ice pick and razor blade, a shallow tin bread pan, an oil can with a long spout and some good gum-free oil.

A quart and a half of gasoline or kerosene and some soft cloths and newspapers should complete the tools for the job. Most of these can be found in any home, Mrs. Barnes points out.

It is advisable to clean a machine on a table of comfortable height and beneath a good light. Some papers should be placed beneath the machine to absorb oil. The bread pan, containing kerosene, is used for soaking the parts that need cleaning, and this solvent works miraculously, Mrs. Barnes says. By placing the parts in line as they are removed from the machine, one can clean and reassemble the mechanism with a minimum of difficulty.

A bulletin entitled "Sewing Machine Cleaning and Adjusting," F. B. 1944 and other helps are available from county home demonstration agents. However, Mrs. Barnes suggests that the average homemaker would profit from observing a demonstration before she attempts to clean her machine "by book."

CHEAP AT TWICE THE PRICE!

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Business was slow. A salesman wanted to move his berries from the market place in a hurry. He yelled loudly:

"Huckleberries 15 cents a box—three boxes for 50 cents!"

A bargain hunter stopped, asked: "You say three boxes for 50 cents?"

"Yup. Fifteen cents a box; three for 50 cents," he told the woman shopper.

"Give me three," said the woman plunking down half a dollar for the "bargain."

Poultry Checking Should Be Done Before Winter

If the poultry flock was neglected during the busy harvest season the fall should not be allowed to pass without a complete check upon the health and sanitation of the birds.

According to Dr. W. A. Boney, poultry veterinarian for the A. and M. College Extension Service, a thorough cleaning and spraying of the houses would be the initial step, followed by examination of hens for vermin, culling inferior specimens and adopting some health precautions for young birds. Worming should be done before the houses are cleaned.

After cleaning, the houses should be sprayed with a substance containing anthracene oil, such as carbolineum one part, and kerosene four to five parts. This will control blue bugs, fleas, lice and mites, and even help repel flies and mosquitoes. Two or three inches of dirt floors should be removed and replaced with clean earth. Litter, such as corn or ground bundle feed, makes excellent floor covering.

If examination reveals lice, dust birds with sodium fluoride and place some where they dust themselves. In case of considerable infestation use a dip in the proportions of one ounce of sodium fluoride to each gallon of warm water. Sulphur, dusted in the nests and on floors, also will help. A mixture of sulphur, ten parts and rotenone or derris, one part, dusted on the birds will help repel lice, blue bugs, fleas, mosquitoes, red bugs and mites.

Under most conditions, Dr. Boney says, young birds approaching production should be vaccinated for fowl pox. He believes better results will be had by using the feather-follicle method, which is done by plucking two or three feathers on the thigh and swabbing the spot with vaccine. Meanwhile, cull birds light in weight and those having gray eyes. They probably are affected with range paralysis or leucosis.

Green feed, which furnishes vitamin A and other essential foods, should be plentifully supplied, along with some good granite grit and oyster shell. The latter helps make egg shells thicker.

Archie Gibbs, Marine, Tells How He Spent Four Days On Nazi U-Boat

EDITOR'S NOTE: How is life on a German U-Boat? Archie Gibbs of the American Merchant Marine was an involuntary guest on one for four days after his freighter was torpedoed off Trinidad. In diary form, he described that experience. Gibbs has recently written a book, "U-Boat Prisoner" (Houghton Mifflin).

By ARCHIE GIBBS

Written Exclusively for AP Features
JUNE 14

Still on our little cruise. Everyone is happy that we will be in port tomorrow—or will we?

7 P. M. Got two tin fish in our side. They don't give a damn who gets hit. Looks like a swim.

JUNE 15

A nice pleasure trip during the night with 12 other men and a black cat in a life boat.

8 A. M. Went over to the other boat. Also took seven men off a raft. Five men are missing. A plane flew over — looking for the sub, I hope.

3 P. M. Just went aboard another old rust pot (ship). The food was O. K. So was the water.

9. P. M. A ship just got hit in the distance astern.

9:20 P. M. A tin fish just got us. It looks like another swim for some of us as one life boat can't hold 111 men. So here goes it.

9:50 P. M. Am I in hot water! From the sea into a U-Boat. Got to smell the business end of a gun. Didn't like the smell. Had a question and answer hour. Didn't win a $64 question but got a shot of Three Star Hennessy—not bad.

JUNE 16

Well, for a German sub the crew is not treating me so bad. The food is lousy though. Black bread made of wood, some kind of grease and horrible coffee. Talked to some of the crew. Most were ex-merchant seamen. The sub has been out since March 17.

NOON. The dinner was bad—canned cabbage, the same kind of bread and tea. The whole works were cold. If they have to eat like this, then we have won the war. Gave away my pipe and tobacco. Don't think I will need them any more.

5 P. M. They are taking us the floor plates in the torpedo room. One man just got knocked down for helling Hitler.

8 P. M. The crew just sang "Deep in the Heart of Texas" in German.

JUNE 17

1 A. M. Was taken to the control room. Had a hot time with the Nazi party man. He came out second best, and is he sore; The crew is tickled. They don't seem to like the Nazi.

3 P. M. Oh, oh, what's going on?

Gun fire on deck. Explosions just behind me. Must have been bombed. Yep, here comes a man down the ladder. We were bombed, but they missed. Was rushed into the torpedo room. Crew is working like mad to get a tin fish bedded down so we can crash dive. I don't like it at all. We are way down deep. Nothing moving. The only noise is the air blower. Got knocked down for trying to blow air bubbles to the surface on the sanitary lines.

LATE P. M. Surfacing at last.

JUNE 18

1 A. M. Back in the control room. Everything is as before. Looks like daylight will catch us on the surface. Back in the torpedo room. Looks like they picked up three more tin fish during the night. Well it looks like they don't trust me. Here I am in the after torpedo room. We got a treat, cheese for breakfast. Boy! What cheese. It's alive. The crew is burned up about the cheese. Are they mad! Got my papers back this morning.

JUNE 19

EARLY in the morning. Got a chance to go on deck for some fresh air. Was warned not to go to sea any more. Also had to answer more questions but didn't win any prizes.

9 A. M. A crew member came into the torpedo room. He tells me: "You are lucky. You go a shore see America again." So back into the control room. A wait for a couple of minutes. Shots sounded. Was told to go up ladder. Coming alongside was a small boat. Was told to jump over the side and swim to her, with a final warning not to go back to sea.

3 P. M. Landed at Curacao, Dutch West Indies. Well, here I go back to New York and another ship.

Penalties Set On Draft Neglect

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP) — Draft-age men who haven't kept up with their selective service obligations — including the fellow who forgot to notify his local board of a change of address—are to be tossed into class 1-A after Nov. 1 and ordered to report for induction.

Selective service, announcing this today, said delinquents who do not respond to such orders will be reported for prosecution which could lead to a sentence of five years in prison, $10,000 fine or both.

Most men become delinquent for failure to do one of the following:

Register, return a completed questionnaire within ten days, fill questionnaires truthfully, keep the local board advised of an address where mail will always reach the registrant, or report for induction.

By Sept. 1 about 95,000 delinquency cases were pending, about half of which had been reported to United States attorneys.

Selective service said manpower demands and fairness to men in the armed forces make it impossible to put up even with carelessness any longer.

When classifying delinquents into 1-A, local boards are to disregard their order numbers or occupational or dependency status. However, the man so classified may request a personal appearance before his local board or reopening of the case, or he may appeal.

But if he is found to have become a delinquent knowingly, he loses appeal rights and his claims to deferment on occupational or other grounds will be ignored.

Correct Feeding Of Dairy Herds Is Highly Important

Reducing the amount of protein feed needed by individual cows is not the answer to the prevailing shortage. The thing to do is to cull the number of cows to fit the available supply, according to E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the A. and M. College Extension Service. The same rule applies to the feeding of roughage (hay, silage and pasture).

Decreasing the ration would cut the milk production in the same proportion but it also would lower the dairyman's profits about twice as fast. Culling would reduce the production some but would maintain profits.

Surveying the feed outlook, Eudaly finds that the state as a whole will have as much corn and grain sorghums as last year, but distribution will be uneven. With the production of hay 12 per cent less than last year, the majority of the counties will not have enough unless there is sufficient rain and good weather this winter to grow good pastures.

The protein feed situation is even less favorable. Present indications are that the cotton belt will produce 10 per cent less cottonseed meal and cake than last year, and no increase in the amount of peanut meal and cake is promised. At the same time no increase is indicated in the amount of soybean meal and cake available to Texas farmers.

To relieve the shortage of protein and roughage, Eudaly recommends an adequate supply of wheat, oats or barley pasture which during the fall and winter will analyze about 20 per cent protein, dry basis. When grazing small grain pasture the required protein content of the grain mixture fed to dairy cows at milking time would be 12 per cent. Such mixture can be made with little cottonseed meal or other high protein feed. For example, 100 pounds of ground oats or barley, and 20 pounds of grain sorghum heads, 100 pounds of ground ear corn or 100 pounds of grain sorghum heads, 100

Patient Needs Carpenter, Not Doctor

ALAMOSA, Colo. (AP)—C. R. Ballier, city supervisor, isn't a doctor but he cured one of his employees of a broken leg in record time. The fellow called by telephone and said he wouldn't be at work because he had fractured a leg. Ballier went to his home, to offer his sympathy. He found that the leg was a wooden one. So he called a carpenter shop, arranged for repairs and ordered the employe to be on the job by noon.

pounds of oats or barley, and 20 pounds of cottonseed meal would give a mixture containing 12 per cent protein. Without small grain pasture or legume hay, this mixture would require 100 pounds of cottonseed meal.

NEW TYPE HAMBURGER

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Boar-burgers" are a new food item in North Africa. A Moroccan shiek gave a general a nicely roasted wild boar. The general gave it to the Red Cross. It ended up in a meat-grinder, and was served up to Yankee soldiers in the form of 500 boar-burgers.

WHY POLICY HOLDERS BOUGHT HIGGINBOTHAM SECURITY BURIAL POLICIES

1. Because these policies provide in advance of the ultimate need, a Pre-arranged and Pre-paid Funeral service for any member of a family from baby to grand parent.
2. Because the premiums are surprisingly low for the benefits offered.
3. Because these policies provide immediate service. A telephone call is all that is necessary to obtain the benefits. No delays or embarrassing investigations.
4. The association back of these policies is owned by the Policy Holders, and operated by Higginbotham Funeral Home. Funds are deposited in local banks. Operation of the Association is under the supervision of the Board of Insurance Commissioners of the State of Texas.
5. Policies of this association are not intended to take the place of cash insurance policies—but are a substantial protection, and leave the cash policies free to serve the purpose for which they were intended:—to provide estates.
6. The demand for these policies is reflected in the number that have been purchased since the association began operation. The association now has over a quarter of a million dollars insurance in force on Dawson County Residents.

There are other good reasons why every insurable person should avail themselves of the benefits offered by this specialized policy.

Call at the Office of the Association in the—

Big Spring Wins Over Tornadoes Friday Night 41-20

Big Spring High School Steers won over Lamesa at the annual football game in Big Spring Friday night by the score of 41 to 20. The first quarter was scoreless with Lamesa doing most of the ground gaining. Wayne Roberts scored following a 76 yard pass from himself to Hawkins early in the second quarter. Lamesa's lead was soon brought to a tie as Big Spring scored in five plays. The Steers intercepted a pass to score, and ended the scoring of the first half.

Scoring was brisk during the third quarter each team scoring twice. The Steers scored twice aided by Lamesa fumbles. Wayne Roberts got passes to working for a Lamesa tally.
