EYMOUR MAN BURNED TO DEATH

Voters Will Make Their Selection at the Polls Tuesday

GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX
Democratic Candidate For President

SENATOR WARREN G. HARDING
Republican Candidate For President.

National Campaign Enters Final Stage With Both Sides Expressing Confidence

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—With the opening of the polls less than 24 hours away, both republican and democratic headquarters today took up the stride which will carry them in the final scene of the presiedtial contest tomorrow, either to victory or defeat.

Both major parties began their last day of campaigning by reasserting confidence in the election of their candidates.

"Cox and Roosevelt will win," reclared George White, democratic national chairman.

Will H. Hays, leader of the republican forces, translated his expectations into figures, expressing the conviction that Harding will have no less than 363—probably 395—electoral votes out of the possible 531. The number required to elect is 266.

Interest in the last day of the great fight centers in the final desperate attempt to bring over the "doubtful" states with large electoral votes to deliver, or to save United States senators in other doubtful states, where the electoral vote is not large enough to be indispensable. The salient example of states in the first category is Ohio, home state of the two principal candidates, with 24 votes, while the outstanding case of the second class is Nevada with only three.

Other States Contested.

Other states where the eleventh hour contest is intense with both parties sanguine of success, are Arizona, Kentucky, Maryland, New Mexico, Tennessee, North Carolina and Oklahoma. All of these, as well as the Buckeye state, are claimed by both republicans and democrats.

Second only in interest to the outcome of the voting is the subject, "what will the women do?" Leaders of both major parties disclaim possession of advance information on what is to be expected of the new class of voters, exercising their franchise in all the states for the first time.

Speculation in ordinarily well informed political circles centers about the numerical proportion of women who will vote tomorrow in comparison with the male vote, sectional distribution of the women's vote and the possibility of its being as a whole independent enough to overturn tables of election probabilities compiled over a period of years in which certain states have been "normally" inclined to one political faith or the other.

Not a Criterion.

Most of the wise acres declare that the recent Maine election, where the women's votes was well under half of that of the men, can be considered no criterion for predicting national election results. Women in states where universal suffrage has obtained for some years are expected to outdo their newly enfranchised sisters, and, on the other hand, the "experts" admit this hypothesis may be wrong.

The socialist party has made claims for the largest proportionate women's vote. With the new voters properly belonging to the party added to the non-socialists, who, they say, will vote the ticket in protest against the imprisonment of the party's presidential nominee, Eugene V. Debs, the socialists predict a vote of at least 3,000,000. In 1916, the socialist vote was less than 600,000.

If any of the six national parties start out to break electoral college records tomorrow, they must aim at those set up in the election of tickets headed by President Wilson. In 1912, his mapority of 339 was the greatest in the record of American elections.

CALIFORNIA INTERESTED IN JAPANESE MEASURE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Election campaigns in the western states were brought to a close today and in the various party headquarters confidence was expressed for the success of the national and state tickets. In California, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Idaho, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, where United States senators are to be elected the interest is particularly keen and efforts were continued up to the last minute to bring out a heavy vote.

California is interested in the fate of an anti-alien initiative measure which provides that aliens ineligible to citizenship shall not be permitted to lease agricultural lands. The present law permits them to lease farm lands for not more than three years. There has been no attempt to conceal the fact that the measure is aimed at the Japanese and its proponents have asserted that unless the activities of the Japanese are curbed by statute the control of the richest agricultural lands in the state soon will be in the hands of Orientals.

California also has a prohibition enforcement measure, which was passed by the 1919 legislature and held up by operation of the referendum. The measure is designed to keep California dry regardless of any national prohibition act. In all, California will vote on twenty special measures.

OKLAHOMA DOES NOT ELECT GOVERNOR THIS YEAR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—With eleventh hour appeals by senatorial and congressional candidates to both republican and democratic voters in Oklahoma, the political campaign in the state will close tonight. Democratic and republican state headquarters have both issued statements expressing confidence in the election of their nominees.

As this is an off year for the gubernatorial election, political interest has centered on the senatorial, congressional and state contests.

PLAN LEAGUE OF NATIONS DEMONSTRATION AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The democratic campaign committee of the District of Columbia is planning to hold a League of Nations demonstration in front of the white house tonight. It is planned to have league sympathizers, grouped by states, march up Pennsylvania avenue to the executive mansion where patriotic songs will be sung and probably several brief addresses will be made.

CLAIMS AND COUNTER CLAIMS WITH OLD TIME ENTHUSIASM

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Claims and counter-claims with desultory flashes of old time political enthusiasm marked the conclusion of the campaign in the states of the central west today.

Mystery as to the tide of the tremendous woman vote was reflected in many eleventh hour discussions of the general situation. It was stated on all sides that the woman vote, together with expected ticket scratching in numerous districts, very likely would delay returns and create uncertainty where contests were close.

Reports from the various states indicated that in practically all districts unusual steps have been taken to guard against fraud and to curb quickly any attempts to intimidate voters. In many instances the usual number of workers and watchers will be doubled or tripled.

ELECTION SOMETHING MORE THAN PERFUNCTORY AFFAIR

...EGROES APPLY TORCH TO PROPERTY OF FARMERS

...ounty Grand Jury Is Summoned To Investigate Disorders Of Saturday Night.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 1.—Officials here today expressed the opinion that white men directed the activities of "night riders" held responsible for the burning of several cotton gins and other plantation property and four negro churches in the southern and ...astern part of Montgomery county Saturday and Sunday nights.

It was said that two negroes, killed in an exchange of shots with sheriff's posse were on their way to secure help and presumably fired on the automobile containing the sheriff's posse by mistake. In the return of shots both negroes were killed.

Eleven negroes are being held in jail pending an investigation.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Nov. 1.—Two negroes are dead, the homes of two white farmers, four negro cabins, two gin houses, ten bales of cotton and much cotton seed, one saw mill, one grist mill and a quantity of corn and several barns were destroyed by fire as a result of an outbreak of night riding" in the "black belt" section of Alabama Saturday night.

Negroes variously estimated to number from twenty to fifty, most of whom were mounted, are alleged to have applied the torch simultaneously to property of white farmers in the lower part of Montgomery county Saturday night.

Early Sunday night a negro church and a barn burned on the Arrington plantation near the scene of Saturday night's fires and another gin burned. ...st fire occurring on the Moss-McConnore plantation several miles from the scene of Saturday night's outbreaks.

Contrary to the recent customs in other sections of the state, no warning was given and the countryside became panic-stricken. Appeals by telephone to the sheriff's office and police department sent automobile loads of officers to the scene, headed by Sheriff J. L. Scoggin. Upon approaching the neighborhood of the conflagrations the sheriff's car was fired upon from the roadside.

The occupants of the automobile leaped to the road and, shielded by the car, escaped injury. In an exchange of shots two negroes were killed and others put to flight.

The county grand jury was summoned to meet today to investigate the disorder.

The suspect will reach Ranger this afternoon.

H. G. WHITESIDE VICTIM OF FIRE THAT DESTROYS McLAIN HOTEL; TWO OTHER PERSONS MISSING

SEYMOUR, TEXAS, Nov. 1.—In a disastrous fire here at an early hour this morning the McLain hotel was completely destroyed and H. G. Whiteside, prominent real estate and automobile dealer is known to have been killed. Two other persons have not been accounted for and it will probably be late in the day before definite information in regard to the dead and injured will be available. Firemen and citizens were at work Monday morning searching the ruins but could make little headway until the towering walls of the hotel building had been pulled down.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a gasoline coffee urn in the Majestic cafe which occupied a room in the same building as the hotel. The flames spread rapidly and in less than fifteen minutes were shooting out of every window in the building and enveloping the entire structure. All but three rooms of the hotel were occupied and many thrilling escapes were made by the guests of the hotel. A number who were cut off from stairways and fire escapes tied sheets together and slid to the ground from upper story windows by means of these improvised ropes.

Carried From Building.

Several people were suffocated in the hotel lobby and were carried out of the building. The manager of the hotel alarmed all of the rooms and was of the belief that all occupants had escaped, but the flames gained headway so rapidly that it was impossible to render much assistance. The hotel register was lost, so it is not known whether all of the strangers who had taken lodging escaped or not.

Mr. Whiteside was evidently trapped in his room and cut off from all escape. He was a member of the real estate firm of Whiteside and Russey and has been prominent in the business development of Seymour. He was raised in Baylor county and was well known to the residents of his home city. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Whiteside of this city and by six brothers and three sisters.

Built of Stone.

The McLain hotel was one of the most elaborate buildings of its kind in west Texas. It was owned by Daugherty and Gorman and was operated by Mr. Gorman. The massive walls were hewn from native stone in the early nineties and stood for ten years before being finished. The rock work alone cost $50,000 and the loss to the owners is estimated at $75,000. It is partially covered by insurance.

The Seymour fire department worked heroically and rendered excellent service in keeping the fire from spreading to other buildings which at times were in imminent danger. The postoffice was badly damaged by water but no estimate can be made as to the loss there. The hardware store of J. Q. Word suffered also from water damage.

ESPERANTO TAKES SECOND RACE AND THE CHAMPIONSHIP

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 1.—The dashing little schooner Esperanto, out of Gloucester, today won the second international fishermen's race, and with it the championship.

It was as thrilling a race as has ever been sailed through sunshine, mist and rain squalls with never more than a dozen lengths between Esperanto and Delawana and some times with the vessels beam to beam.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 1.—Esperanto and Delawana, American and Canadian contestants for the racing championship of the international fishing fleets, romped off in the start of their second race today. Esperanto crossed the line at 9:02 a. m. (unofficial), about a length ahead and slightly to leeward of the Delawana.

At 9:15 Delawana had caught and passed Esperanto and was leading by fifty yards. Both vessels were footing at a moderate pace.

Official starting times were: Esperanto 9:01:44; Delamana 9:01:37½.

Delawana eased past Esperanto by blanketing her about five minutes after the start.

Delawana turned the first mark at 10:18:30 and Esperanto four and a quarter minutes later.

Delawana turned the second mark at 11:27:50 official time. The Gloucesterman rounded at 11:32:42 official time.

Running on a close reach to the inner automatic buoy, Delawana begun to increase her lead over the American schooner. At 1:40 the distance between the two had been increased to about eleven boat lengths.

At 2:35 when both schooners headed for the fourth mark, it was found that Esperanto again had cut down her rival's lead to six lengths. The wind had increased and heavy rain squalls drenched the racers.

At 2:30 the Gloucesterman had caught up with her rival.

At 11:40 the wind had refreshened to 11 knots and it appeared that the racers could not make Shut-In buoy. Delawana was footing faster than her rival, which, however, was pointing a trifle higher.

The official turning times were: Esperanto 3:12:47, Delawana 3:13:09.

At 3:15 with the inner automatic buoy rounded, Captain Himmelman edged the Nova Scotian schooner to windward and held the weather berth as the two crafts started tacking up the harbor.

ALL WOMEN MAY VOTE IN ELECTION IN HARRIS COUNTY

HOUSTON, Nov. 1.—District Judge J. D. Harvey today issued an injunction restraining every election officer in this (Harris) county from disqualifying women from voting in tomorrow's election. His action followed circulation of a report that County Judge Chester H. Bryan had instructed election officers that only E. V. Ley was compelled to obey a mandate granted last week by Judge Harvey allowing women to vote without payment of poll tax. Ley was the only defendant in last week's proceedings.

Judge Bryan issued a statement today declaring he had not advised any election officer to disobey the district court's order to permit women to vote without poll tax receipts.

CONDITIONS IN MEXICO ARE PROMISING ALTHOUGH TRANSPORTATION IS BAD

EAGLE PASS, TEXAS, Nov. 1.—Conditions in Mexico are very promising, but transportation facilities continue badly demoralized, according to W. M. Whitenton, chief operating officer of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, who arrived here today after a two weeks tour of Mexico. "Lack of transportation is all that is holding Mexico back," Mr. Whitenton said before leaving here for his home in Dallas.

The American railroad official was accompanied on his tour of inspection by a number of expert operating officials. In Mexico City the party was received by Provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta and President-Elect Alvaro Obregon.

Mr. Whiteton declined to comment on reports that the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road was seeking direct connections with Mexico.

M. Estabrook, Chancellor, formerly of Wooster College, Wooster, Ohio, alleged author of "an open letter" relative to the family history of Senator Warren G. Harding.

FOURTEEN OUTBREAKS OCCUR IN SOUTHERN IRELAND COINCIDENT WITH THE FUNERAL OF MACSWINEY

LONDON, November 1.—Fourteen outbreaks occurred in southern Ireland co-incidentally with the burial of Terence MacSwiney at Cork, according to reports received today.

Six policemen and one civilian were killed and eight policemen and two soldiers wounded in ambushes and street fighting.

Three soldiers were reported shot at Castle Daly. The Littleton barracks was captured by sinn feiners.

QUIET FUNERAL FOR MACSWINEY IN CORK SUNDAY

SERVICES DIFFERED ONLY IN SIZE OF CROWD AND PRESENCE OF MILITARY.

PROCESSION IS HELD WITHIN LIMIT ORDERED

Uniforms Of The Sinn Fein Were Excluded But Irish Volunteers Acted As Guard.

By RUSSEL BROWNING
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

CORK, Nov. 1.—Terence MacSwiney's career was at an end today. His remains lay in an exalted section of the beautiful Cork cemetery, the grave covered by masses of flowers.

The burial of the former lord mayor of Cork, after all the threats and fears that have been spread, took place quietly yesterday—only the thousands of spectators showed the services differed from the ordinary burial.

Today these crowds had melted away. The military still kept sharp watch against surprise attacks but much of the tension was relaxed. The spirit of all yesterday was so plainly for the avoidance of the disturbance that officials were greatly relieved.

Soldiers and police were in evidence at the funeral services. Their military equipment peeped from armored cars and from their own garments.

Soldiers weaved their way through the crowds, watching always for any suspicious act. When the casket finally was borne from the cathedral, soldiers and police sprang stiffly to attention until the body, resting on the shoulders of six pall bearers had passed.

Guards were strung all the way from the cathedral to the cemetery—three miles. In addition, the mobile forces on motorcycles and in lorries, patrolled the entire distance.

An archbishop and two bishops conducted the services over MacSwiney's body. Uniforms of the sinn fein were excluded from the services but the Irish volunteers acted as an honorary guard over the casket. A squad fired final salute over the grave after soldiers and police had disappeared. An airplane flew over the procession, dropping flowers in its patch.

EX-SERVICE MEN PARADE IN HONOR OF MAC'SWINEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Many thousands stood with bared heads while thousands of ex-service men paraded here yesterday in honor of Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney who died of starvation in Brixton prison last week after a hunger strike.

Later at a mass meeting former Governor Dunne, Senator Medill McCormick, Congressman William E. Mason and Mayer William Hale Thompson eulogized MacSwiney.

HANGED FOR COMPLICITY IN MURDER OF SOLDIERS

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—Kelvin Barry, 19-year-old student was hanged here today for alleged complicity in the murder of three British soldiers.

Barry's sentence stood despite the intercession of high sinn fein and church officials who petitioned the Irish office.

Lord Mayor O'Neill of Dublin telephoned Premier Lloyd George late last night as a final effort but the premier said he could not interfere. Archbishop Walsh joined in the petition.

Barry received communion this morning in Mountjoy prison, apparently taking great comfort from the words of the priest. He walked calmly to the scaffold without the assistance of his guards and stood unflinchingly while final preparations were made for the dropping of the trap.

GOVERNOR COX TO FIGHT UNTIL THE LAST HOUR

CAMPAIGN WILL BE CONCLUDED WITH ADDRESS AT TOLEDO TONIGHT.

HAS VISITED THIRTY-SIX STATES DURING CAMPAIGN

During Two Months Has Traveled Approximately 21,000 Miles Seeing The People.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

DAYTON, OHIO, Nav. 1.—Governor James M. Cox, determined to fight "until the last minute," will end the greatest stump campaign ever made by a presidential candidate with a speech in Toledo tonight.

It probably will be just about one hour before midnight ushers in election day when the governor gives to the American elecorate the last word of his nation-wide battle for the presidency.

Although realizing he was forced to start his campaign against big odds, he is confident of victory tomorrow, believing he will be carried over the 266 electoral vote mark by a tide for the League of Nations.

The governor has travelled approximately 21,000 miles since he accepted the nomination about twelve weeks ago. He estimates that in more than 450 speeches, he has spoken to two million people.

Since September 2 he has been traveling virtually every day, making his "home" the private car "Federal."

Visits Thirty-Six States.

Using the railroads, motor cars, trolleys and ferry boats, Cox has visited the extreme northwest and southwestern corners of the country, New England as far north as central New Hampshire, and the "solid south" as far south as Nashville. He carried his campaign into 36 states, but never seemed to lose his characteristic aggressiveness. Even his opponents admit he never stopped fighting.

Despite the strain of his extensive travels, the governor is in excellent physical condition. His voice still is strong although he has spoken in all kinds of weather. He gained slightly in weight during the campaign.

Cox is ending his campaign in Toledo, because democratic leaders have a "hunch" that to do so will place the governor under lucky omens. Three of his gubernatorial campaigns were ended there and all three times he was elected. When he failed to make his final speech for the governorship there he was defeated.

The much heralded "Cox luck" also will be given an opportunity to live to its reputation when the election returns begin to come in Tuesday night.

Returns to His Office.

Cox was elected governor every time he spent the night in his newspaper office here and defeated only when he remained at his home. He will receive the returns from special press association wires in the same room of his newspaper office where he was informed of his nomination by the San Francisco convention. A "lucky telegraph instrument" will be relied on to bring only the "good news" it brought to Grover Cleveland, William H. Taft, and President Wilson, the news of their elections.

Whenever its owner, a New York man, has loaned it to a presidential candidate, he has won.

Cox today expressed himself as "highly pleased" with word that a "big swing" toward his candidacy is on in the west because of his stand on the League of Nations.

"I am thoroughly convinced," he said, "that the sentiment in America is overwhelmingly in favor of the League and of our entrance into it.

"I am in favor of going in; Senator Harding is in favor of staying out. The verdict of November 2 means joy or despair, world wide."

Palmolive is sold by all dealers and supplied in guest-room size by America's most popular hotels.

SOAP and water has a most important mission in preserving the beauty and fineness of the complexion. It removes the coating of dirt, perspiration and excess oil secretions which, with all traces of rouge and powder, must be washed away every day.

Neglect this daily cleansing and you invite trouble. The tiny pores and minute glands which make up the surface of the skin quickly become clogged and irritated. This clogging, this irritation, causes enlargement. This is the reason so many skins are coarse. Then when the coarsened pores fill with dirt, blackheads result. Soon they inflame and disfiguring blotches follow.

Do your washing with Palmolive

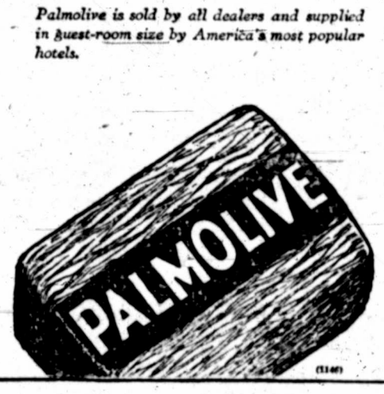

Why it can't irritate

Because Palmolive contains Palm and Olive oils discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt.

Cleopatra knew their value—they served her both as cleanser and cosmetic. Today their scientific combination in Palmolive Soap achieves the finest toilet luxury.

Don't say soap doesn't agree with your skin but go get a cake of Palmolive. Its pure, mild lather is so gentle in its action that it soothes while it cleanses.

If your complexion is excessively dry, apply Palmolive Cold Cream both before and after washing. This supplies the lacking natural oil and keeps it soft and smooth.

LITTLE GIRL FINDS HAPPY HOME IN WICHITA COUNTY

"VIRGINIA."

Through the work of the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society, of which Miss Katherine Henricle is Wichita district superintendent, "Virginia" found a wonderful home in Wichita county several weeks ago. She is, however, only one of a score or more children who have been happily placed by the society within the past six months.

Miss Henricle states that she is not playing the part of the Piped Piper to Wichita county. "We are not working only to take the children away," she stated last week. "We are working to help children back here. Many of the society's brightest, most interesting children have been placed in wonderful homes in Wichita county—a number right here in Wichita Falls. There is money here, and homes with every comfort and convenience. Where these homes are without children we want to interest them in taking ours. There is nothing in the world with greater possibilities for happiness than child bearing, and there is no more reason why one should shut the heart to children born of other parents than there would be to shut the heart to a flower whose growth was started by other hands. It is the most wonderful opportunity in the world to do one's part in straightening the social situation.

"I believe the man and woman who give true and Christianly consideration to the matter, and who take a little child into their hearts from the midst of poverty, suffering, orphanage, or other unhappiness—from which the Children's Home can provide only temporary relief and shelter—and give them the opportunity to grow and develop in clean surroundings with even only ordinary advantages are performing the biggest and most beautiful service to humanity which can be performed."

Miss Henricle is considering bringing several children from the society's boarding homes here at an early date to arrange for adoption.

INFORMAL TEA AT CHARLOTTE KEMP HALL SUNDAY, 4 TO 6

From 4 to 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mrs. S. J. Coyne, very gracefully assisted by the seventeen young ladies in Charlotte Kemp Hall, Mesdames E. Stoecker, T. B. Smock and W. W. Silk, and Misses M. R. Kerr and Florence Jackson, served tea informally to a hundred and fifty guests at the hall, 1200 Indiana street.

The guests included gentlemen and ladies, and All Hallows' Eve furnished the suggestion for the tea table appointments and house decorations, which were very attractive. Mrs. Coyne was assisted in receiving by the young ladies of the house party, who included Misses Oro Stallings, Gertrude Goff, Eunice Head, Winnie Davis, Florence Davis, Hilda Masters, Lelia Thomas, Willie Monk, Billie Veasey, Hucie Ellis, Henriettta Pyle, Mary Dickson, Genevieve Goff, Dorothy and Rose Boddie Bishop, Helen Hood, and Valois House. Mrs. Silk invited the guests into the dining room, where Mesdames Stoecker and Smock presided at either end of the tea table, and Miss Kerr and Miss Jackson, assisted by different members of the house party, served the tea, sandwiches and cakes. Hallowe'en "fortunes" were presented to each guest, inscribed inside yellow paper pumpkins, and their reading aloud in different groups added to the informality and enjoyment of the tea.

"THE LOVE FLOWER" TO BE FEATURE AT OLYMPIC

D. W. Griffith's latest picture of the South Sea islands is being offered at the Olympic theatre for Monday and Tuesday of this week. This film, "The Love Flower," combines all the elements of excitement, suspense, humor and romance that are to be found in all of the Griffith pictures and the setting afforded by the picturesque islands of the South Seas give it a scenic value far above that of the ordinary film. The pot of the story centers around the pursuit of a man accused of murder by a member of the United States secret service any of the many events which lead up to the capture. Richard Barthelmess, Carol Dempster and George MacQuarrie have the leading parts of the play and handle them with rare skill. The work of Miss Dempster, as the heroine of the play, is of especial interest and stands out as one of the high lights of the play.

"BEHOLD MY WIFE" TO BE PRESENTED AT MAJESTIC

"Behold My Wife," the Paramount screen version of Sir Gilbert Parker's famous novel, is being shown at the Majestic theater today and Tuesday. This film has been advertised as being in a class with "Humoresque" and other of the big hits of the year. The story, as written by Sir Gilbert Parker, is recognized over the world as being one of the best novels that this author has ever produced and is really an entertaining and exciting story. In the picture, Mabel Jullene Scott, Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter and many other screen artists have been used in the filming and have evolved a veritable triumph by their splendid acting.

LEW CODY AT THE EMPRESS IN "THE BELOVED CHEATER"

Lew Cody, the gay Lothario of the moving picture world, is being featured at the Empress theatre for the first two days of this week in his latest Coles-Robertson production "The Beloved Cheater." The plot of this story gives Cody an opportunity to display his talents along the "social butterfly" line, at which he is an adept. As a "masher" Cody has no equals on the screen and "The Beloved Cheater" is replete with scenes wherein he assails the hearts of fair ladies utterly unmindful of the consequences.

JOHNSON IS REQUESTED TO SERVE AS CHAIRMAN FOR DRIVE FOR EUROPEAN FUND

E. A. Peden, chairman of the Texas division of the American relief administration, has asked B. F. Johnson of this city, to serve as chairman of a Wichita county committee to raise funds to provide food for 3,500,000 children in eastern Europe. The national campaign is under the direction of Herbert Hoover.

"It is not our idea to put on a drive," a part of Peden's letter states. "We know the public is heartily tired of drives. We want, instead, to appeal to men like yourself to contribute and to go out among your friends, business men, members of churches, lodges, clubs, civic organizations and ask them to contribute, without calling on the general public at all."

"Your duties as direct food administrator for district 11 were so efficiently performed and your association with me as state food administrator was so pleasant that I feel emboldened to call on you to assist me in a new public duty.

If you are, however, unable to undertake this for the A. R. A." and for me, will you be good enough to send me at once the name of a man of the timber as yourself who would serve as county chairman?"

It is doubtful if Johnson will accept the position. Answering the letter, he called attention to the close of the recent Salvation Army and school fund campaigns; the work he will find it necessary to do in connection with his election to the state legislature and expressed doubt whether he would be able to find time to handle the proposed campaign of the American relief administration.

REPORTS FOUR PEACH TREES HAVE BURST INTO BLOOM

Nature has given evidence of one of its freakish and unexplainable pranks in Wichita Falls. Deputy Sheriff Jack Miller reports that in the yard of his residence, 1511 Seventeenth street, he has four peach trees which burst into bloom Sunday. New leaves also are appearing on the branches.

The trees bore fruit this summer but for some reason the green chlorophyll awakened from the slumber they entered in after their work was concluded this summer and have caused the blossoms to come forth and the leaves to appear.

PASTOR CHURCH OF SACRED HEART PAYS TRIBUTE TO MACSWINEY AT A SPECIAL FUNERAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Special funeral services for the late Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, were held in the Church of the Sacred Heart yesterday by Rev. P. Boniface, pastor of the church. A high mass of requiem was celebrated and a special sermon on MacSwiney's act and the cause of Ireland was given by Fr. Boniface.

The sanctuary was attractively decorated in the orange, white and green colors of the Irish Republic.

Fr. Boniface said in part:

MacSwiney Not a Suicide.

"How can a Catholic priest from a Catholic pulpit speak word of praise over the grave of a suicide, a man who has deliberately taken his own life by refusing to eat? I admit that any priest who would speak these words over a suicide's grave should be deprived of his jurisdiction as dangerous to the moral of his flock, but I deny most emphaticaly deny an, trace of suicide in the case of Terence MacSwiney. But has not a jury found that Fitzgerald, the first hunger-striker to die, had felonously taken his own life? Yes, indeed, but what, I do not say of an English jury, but I say, what of a jury appointed by the British government? What about another jury appointed by the British government that passed the sentence on a heroic patriotic maiden that she was a sorceress and should die by the fire? Joan of Arc, in this very year in which other juries appointed by the British government to pass judgment on the hunger striking Irish patriots, has been canonized. Why my dear friends, the verdict of guilt by a jury appointed by the British government will soon be considered prima facie evidence of sainthood.

England's Murder.

"The question, my dear friends, is not: Was it murder or was it suicide? The fact is it was murder whether suicide or no suicide. It is the duty of every civilized government not only to punish felony but to prevent felony. If any man attempted suicide the law would take such a one and forcibly prevent him from committing suicide, not as a humanitarian act but as duty. Has England prevented what she is pleased to call suicide? If not, then she is guilty of murder.

"But one will say, even though admitted that MacSwiney was not a suicide, you will have to admit that he acted the fool in acting as he did. Well, my dear friend, I am not going to judge in this case. You see the sublime is so near to the ridiculous that I might fall into the error of ridiculing the sublime. I will have to leave you to judge in this case by an example. I have in my mind a fool, as you say, of this kind. This man had a grand estate and beautiful mansion at Mt. Vernon overlooking the charming Potomac and this fool of a man, as you call him, bled and starved and froze with a bunch like himself at Valley Forge. His name was George Washington, vererated in spite of all his follies as the father of our country. The same spirit that prompted Washington, prompted MacSwiney and what you call one you should call the other.

Irish Version.

"In less than four years the military forces of England, according to the Irish version, are charged with the following outrages: Murder, 62; deportations, 2,162; armed assaults on unarmed citizens, 600; raids on private houses, 19,423; arrests, 6,157; sentences, 2,107; proclamations and suppressions, 380; suppression of newspapers, 53; court martials, 519.

"These murders were passed upon by coroners' juries. All are found to be wilful murders of the English forces. Not to make the tale too long I will give the verdict in the cases of Thomas Ashe, devoted to the revival of Gaelic music.

"We find that Thomas Ashe, according to the medical evidence of Professor McWeeney, Sir Arthur Chance and Sir Thomas Myles, died of heart failure and congestion of the lungs on the 25th of September, 1917, caused by the punishment of taking away from his cell in Mount Joy jail the bed, bedding and boots and being left to lie on the cold floor for fifty hours, and then subjected to forcible feeding in his weak condition after a hunger strike of five or six days—that the hunger strike was directed against the inhuman punishment inflicted and as a protest against being treated as criminals when demanding to be treated as political prisoners."

American Commission's Version.

"The report of the conditions in Ireland" by the American commission has this to say:

'Hundreds of men and women have been confined for months in the vilest prisons without any charge being preferred against them.

'At least five men have died as the result of atrocities perpetrated upon them while in prison.

'Prisoners are confined in narrow cells with hands handcuffed behind them day and night. In this condition they are fed by jail attendants. They are permitted no opportunity of answering the calls of nature, and are compelled to lie in their clothing, befouled by human excrements for days at a time.

'Solitary confinement in most horrible form is generally practiced. Numbers of prisoners have been taken directly from jails to insane asylums, rendered maniacs by their treatment."

British Version.

"The report of the commission of the British parliamentary labor party says: 'In a word, every institution of which we as British citizens are so proud—a free press, freedom of speech, liberty of the subject and trial by jury—are things of the past in a large part of Ireland, and rule by military force, which we sought to destroy when resorted to by Germany, is an established fact in south and southeast Ireland today. These facts are fatal to our reputation for national good faith, and cannot fail to prepudice our national standing in the eyes of our self-governing dominions and dependencies.'

"If the evidence of the history of the past shows us that never did England treat Ireland as an equal, if the evidence of the Irish, the Americans and the British themselves shows us that the Irish are treated by England today worse than the Armenians by the Turks, that they are bearing a yoke now for over 700 years worse by far than our forefathers ever bore, when the lesson of the past teaches the Irish that their children and children's children for ages will be the subject race as they are and their fathers have been before them, that England will not permit them to enjoy the rights God Almighty has given them, then I would ask: Where is the man so lowly bred that will preach to the Irish 'humble submission?'

"In the Declaration of Independence is the most eloquent defense of the Irish patriots of today and MacSwiney in particular that ever was uttered. If you subscribe to these utterances of our forefathers, then you are a real citizen of these United States. If you reject them, then go and hide your face in shame and dare not assume the glorious title of such a citizen. Our forefathers could not point to such a long and gruesome list of tyranical acts against them as can the Irish people. Our forefathers could not point to so many years, nay centuries of oppression as can the people of Ireland.

Not an English Question.

"The Irish question definitely passed out of the hands of England when she begged for and obtained our assistance in the last war. This country must be honest with its citizens. This country has plighted its honor to its citizens and England has subscribed to this pledge, that every people shall be accorded the unalienable rights, the right of self-determination. Look at the army that was sent over to fight under the Stars and Stripes. Study its makeup. There are some Bohemians, there are some Poles, there are some Italians. They are all aflame with enthusiasm because this war is to free the country of their origin from the foreign oppressor. They all have seen their dreams realized, yes realized beyond all natural bounds. But look at that army again. What per cent of that army of Irish extraction? Between 30 and 40 per cent. All these young men were aflame with a double fire, the love for America and the love for Ireland. Ireland, that country of their tenderest sympathies was to emerge from this war free and untrammeled, this thought put the enthusiasm into the Irish contingent of our armies. Shall this great part of our army be robbed of their rights? Shall these who have given more receive less than the Bohemians, Poles and Italians? Do you know that when in 1917 the English mission came to this country begging us to join in the war it was just 700 years since England had begun its discriminatory laws against the Irish. England was on the verge of destruction and would have been forced to relinquish her hold on Ireland. We jumped in and saved her from destruction and we have perhaps also crossed the divine design. If England will refuse to abide by the laws of God then it is our duty to see that these laws are observed.

From the late war on we are responsible for Ireland being under the heel of England. Ireland has a right to demand her freedom from America if England withholds that freedom and America has the duty to free Ireland because she is the cause of Ireland still being under English control. Ireland cries to America today, MacSwiney appeals to us for help.

International Question.

Woe to America if she does not heed the words of our forefathers, if she does not heed the appeal of humanity if she does not heed the demands of duty. Ireland calls in her agony, MacSwiney appeals in his heroism. Shall America turn a deaf ear, shall America be recreant to her duty I cannot believe it. The Irishman and the Orangeman have buried their differences, they are joined together in the great sinn fein movement for the liberation of Ireland and today are kneeling at the grave of Ireland's hero, Terence MacSwiney, they raise their tearful eyes to the far west whence they look for deliverance. The death of Terence MacSwiney more than anything else has made the Irish question an international question and especially an American question. Over the grave of MasSwiney I see the dawn of Ireland's freedom break through the terrible night of English oppression and I believe that the most appropriate conclusion of this funeral service will be to raise our hearts to God Almighty in heartfelt thanks for the great things he is about to do, to put down the proud from their throne of oppression and raise the humble to the position which he holds in store for them.

RETAIL TRADE HAS BENEFITED BY THE "SLUMP" IN PRICES

SITUATION THUS SUMMARIZED IN REPORT OF FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD.

COLLECTIONS GENERALLY ARE REPORTED IMPROVED

Downward Trend Of Cotton Market Has Depressing Effect On Business In General.

DALLAS, TEXAS, Nov. 1.—The price cutting movement which has swept the entire country resulted in a slump in wholesale business, particularly dry goods and groceries, during September in the eleventh federal district, according the the monthly report of the federal reserve bank of Dallas, made public today.

On the other hand retail trade was benefited and retail collections were reported improved, and a gratifying increase was reported in the volume of bank clearings, building permits and postoffice receipts.

"While the downward course of the cotton market has had a depressing effect upon that industry and has somewhat checked the free course of fall trade, it is worthy of note that a goodly portion of the South Texas crop was picked and sold before the heavy decline in the market occurred, while an encouraging development in the northern part of the belt is the fact that the 1920 crop is grading much higher and therefore promises much smaller proportion of unmarketable staple than was the case last year," says the report.

Downward Trend.

Prices on sugar, beans, coffee and a few other staples continue to trend downward, and dealers handling these products at wholesale report that buying is slow. Groceries and dry goods bore the brunt of the price cutting wave which set in about the first of September and retailers in general are restricting their orders to present necessities due, it is indicated, says the report, to the unsettled condition of the markets.

While wholesalers report that as a whole collections are slower, it is reported that collections of retailers were more satisfactory in September than during the previous month.

A decrease both in the district's oil production for the month and the daily average yield is shown by the record of September as compared with that of August. In Texas the September daily average was 290,448 barrels, compared with the August average of 299,729 barrels, while in North Louisiana the daily flow decreased from 96,460 barrels in August to 92,538 barrels in September. The district's total production in September was 11,498,510 barrels or 854,376 barrels less than the total for the month before.

Drilling Less Fruitful.

Both Texas and North Louisiana drilling results for the month were less fruitful than those for August, says the report. Wildcat operations produced little results of value during the month, as all activities in unproven territory have for some time felt the restraining influence of financial conditions and the scarcity of material, the report continues.

Corn harvesting is progressing well in Texas, the yield being large and the quality good, most of it grading No. 1, says the report regarding crops other than cotton. In Arizona prospects have improved, though much of late corn in the dry lands will not mature before frost. Hail storms are reported to have destroyed a considerable portion of the corn crop in New Mexico, during the early part of September. In southern Oklahoma the harvesting of early corn, favored by good weather, is making excellent progress, and the late crop is now safe from the danger of early frosts.

Threshing of wheat in the Panhandle has made slow progress, due to delays caused by August rains. Elsewhere in the district the movement of the 1920 crop is well under way, and fall seeding for the next crop has begun, though a late start will be made in some sections of the district owing to the lack of sufficient moisture in the soil to produce proper germination.

Harvesting of rice, hay, peanuts, sweet potatoes and feed crops is making good headway, with yields reported to be satisfactory.

Range Conditions.

Since the last report was issued, the September report notes, there has been some deterioration in range conditions in certain sections of the district. As a result of continued dry weather in New Mexico the condition of the ranges in that state is estimated to have declined from 90 per cent of normal on September 1 to 80 per cent on October 1, and observers report that unless more general rains are received in the state before frost deterioration will ensue. "Our Arizona correspondents report that the ranges in that state have partly recovered from the August drought as a result of September rainfall, which, however, was comparatively light. Locally, there is also need of rain in the pastures of west and south Texas," says the report. "With the exceptions noted, conditions throughout the district were generally favorable to livestock during the past month, particularly in the process of range curing. In fact on the whole, it may be said those engaged in the livestock industry in this district are well equipped to carry their cattle through the winter, having, as a rule, an adequate supply of stock water and an abundance of feed."

Good progress during the month by eleventh district carriers in the matter of expediting the handling and increasing the supply of freight cars, was noted.

"Systematic efforts, initiated some months ago, to induce consignees to unload cars promptly are now bearing fruit," says the report, "and during most of the month of September a number of lines were able to handle all freight offered for shipment and to complete deliveries on schedule time. The rapid movement of the wheat crop by the railways of the district is a striking illustration of the recent improvement in traffic conditions generally. This improvement is likewise reflected in the increasing volume of merchandise and livestock now being handled by southwestern roads."

At present the most serious feature of the district's transportation problem is the fuel shortage in west Texas, where carriers have been unable to supply the requisite number of coal cars to provide that section with coal for the coming winter, the report continues.

FIGURES FROM EL PASO VALLEY GIVE SOME IDEA OF WHAT MAY BE PRODUCED WITH IRRIGATION

In connection with the recent trip of business men of this city to inspect the irrigated lands of the El Paso Valley, it may be of interest to farmers of Wichita county to learn some of the exact values of the various crops that valley produces. The Times prints below the 1919 crop report prepared by the United States reclamation service, which furnishes an accurate index of land values.

The report gives the average value of the land per acre with reference to the kinds of crops raised. It should be understood, however, tha under irrigation thousands of acres of these El Paso Valley lands have produced crops far more valuable than the average shown. Frequently the general average has been lowered materially by the carelessness shown by some farmers in developing their properties. As an illustration of this attention might be called particularly to the report on the pear crop, wherein the average value of the land is shown to be $114 per acre. Yet on the recent trip the Wichita Falls men visited one orchard which was returning to its owner a financial yield of close to $500 per acre.

JACK CULBERTSON TO CONCLUDE CAMPAIGN WITH SPEECH TONIGHT

The last lap of a campaign that has carried him over 3,500 miles will be trotted by Jack Culbertson, republican candidate for governor at the Wichita theatre tonight. At every place where Culbertson has spoken he has been received most courteously and at no place has he met with the slightest affront. He is said to have made the first republican speech ever heard in about forty court houses in this state and at no time has he ever indulged in personalities.

In many ways the campaign of Culbertson has been a remarkable one. For one thing, the candidacy of of a republican candidate for a state office has been taken more seriously and the press comments have totaled hundreds of columns of news matter, with over 500 editorial statements concerning his candidacy.

Culbertson weighs more now than he did when he started his campaign. He is in good voice and in good spirits. He has developed considerably as a public speaker and he has a happy way of catching the spirit of the crowds that have heard him.

Grateful to Public.

"I certainly feel grateful to the good people of Texas who have given me such a patient hearing in every part of the state," stated Culbertson Monday. "I have not sought to inject my candidacy into the campaign any more than was absolutely necessary, but I have endeavored to impress upon the people the necessity for competition in politics if we are to have the best possible government in Texas. I have told about the rottenness of Pennsylvania, under one party rule and I believe that it was a good thing for Pennsylvania to elect a democratic administration when that state did, just as I believe that it would profit Texas to elect a republican ticket in the election tomorrow. If half the people who have informed me they will vote for the republican ticket tomorrow go to the polls a new high water mark in numbers will be recorded in Texas as to the total votes the republican ticket will receive in this state."

The speaking at the Wichita theatre will start at 8 o'clock. Col. George Griffith, who has been making republican speeches in north central Texas, will also make an address.

WESTERN PETROLEUM REFINERS ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD MEETING

A meeting of the Western Petroleum Refiners association will be held next Friday morning in Oklahoma City in the Lee-Huckins hotel. Several changes in the constitution of the association will be brought up at the meeting relative to the admission of the Texas Independent refiners.

Among the topics that will come up for consideration are the enlargement of the executive committee, the provision for a second vice-president, the adoption of a special scale of dues for Texas members and the provision for an assistant or field secretary.

All Texas refiners have been invited to be present at the meeting and several have signified their intentions of going. The Texas refiners recently elected to the new board of directors met in Dallas Saturday and discussed the coming union with the Western association.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Pioneer Lodge No. 49 Knights of Pythias will have their regular weekly meeting Tuesday night at their castle hall, 603 Scott avenue, beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. There will be balloting on applications, and a class will be initiated in the rank of Page.

A tentative date had been agreed upon for having Azotos Temple No. 175 Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, of Fort Worth, visit his city and put on a Dokey ceremony, but several things have occurred that has prevented a definite date being set for this ceremony, and, in order to get this matter properly adjusted, and a definite date fixed for this ceremony, Dr. J. W. Duval, who is Chancellor Commander of the local lodge, will go to Fort Worth Wednesday morning for a final conference. Therefore it is quite necessary for every Dokey to be present at the meeting of the lodge tomorrow night, wearing their Fezes, so that something tangible may be developed relative to this ceremonial.

SAYS IT SURPASSED HIS EXPECTATIONS

Port Tampa Man Says Tanlac Has Put Him in the Very Pink of Condition.

"I am satisfied Tanlac is a great medicine, for I have given it a fair trial and it has proved in my case that it will do the work" declared Robert Greene, of Port Tampa, Fla.

"For ten months before I got hold of Tanlac I had been in an awful rundown condition. My nerves seemed to be on edge all the time and just kept me restless and upset. My appetite went back on me, my stomach was all out of order and several times I had acute attacks of indigestion, and my liver was sluggish. I was simply all in and just felt that I didn't have any energy left.

"One of my friends recommended Tanlac to me about a month ago, and it has done everything I expected and even more, and today I call myself in the very pink of condition. I want to be eating all the time now, and everything my appetite calls for digests properly without any bad effects at all. My nerves are good and strong and I sleep sound all night long. My strength and energy have come back and I can put in full time at work now. Tanlac has put me in fine shape and I believe it will do the same for any man that give sit a fair trial."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Co., and in Electra by the Tarleton Drug store.—adv.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE CO-OPERATIVE FIRE PREVENTION WORK

A meeting of city officials and prominent business men, including all the fire insurance agents of Wichita Falls, will be held here Thursday to organize for permanent co-operative fire prevention work. The meeting will be called by Fire Marshal J. L. McClure, who has been requested to take this action by S. W. Inglish, secretary of the Texas conservation and fire prevention committee of the national board of fire underwriters. In his letter to Chief McClure, Inglish states:

"Mr. Eugene Bullock, chairman of the Fort Worth conservation district, in which your city is located, has asked that I request you, if it suits your convenience, to arrange for him a meeting with a representative body of your actice business men on the morning of November 4, in order that he may lay before them the purposes of our committee, with the view of securing the appointment of a local committee to co-operate with him hereafter in conservation and fire prevention work.

"Accompanying Mr. Bullock will be a number of insurance company field men, who will also want to join you in an inspection of the business and manufacturing districts of the city."

The inspection trip, it is understood, will probably be made on November 5. Chief McClure is going ahead with plans for as large a gathering of representative men on November 4 as possible and it is hoped the meeting will produce a mass of data and information that will be of value in reducing fire losses in this city.

Notice.

All delegates to the Trades and Labor Council are earnestly requested to be present at the regular meeting on Monday, November 1st. Meeting called to order promptly at 7:30 p. m. F. D. Egan, president. 171-2tp

INCREASE FACILITIES FOR HANDLING COTTON DIRECT FROM FARMS

At a meeting on August 13 held by the stockholders of the Farmers Cotton Exchange of Houston, which had a paid up capital stock of $25,000, the board of directors were authorized to increase the capital stock to $50,000 or more. On Monday, October 25, the directors met at Houston and finding that the sum of $50,000 was oversubscribed, they increased the capitalization to $80,000.

Through this association the farmers will handle their cotton from the field to the ship, thus saving the profits to themselves that now go to the speculator and the middleman. As one Wichita Falls citizen who is prominent in cotton circles suggested, this will tend to relieve the shortage of cotton pickers, as many who are now cotton speculators can then be spared to help gather the crop.

J. L. McConkey, who until recently has been connected with the Farmers Cotton Oil Co., is an active member of the American Cotton association, which he says is composed of farmers, merchants and bankers and which he believes is doing a more important work just now than any other cotton organization, in sending a commission to Europe for the negotiation of the sale of Texas cotton and sending with this commission a shipment of 5,000 bales of the best cotton that can be obtained in the state.

Wanted Kemp to Make Trip.

It was hoped that J. A. Kemp could be prevailed upon to make this trip, but he has stated that for business reasons he cannot go. An effort is being made to induce Judge Ramsey of Dallas to undertake it and there is some prospect that he will do so. Heretofore when such emissaries have been sent to Europe to find market for the cotton of Texas, they have been unable to assure the buyers that they could make delivery of cotton and when asked if they could furnish bond to deliver have been obliged to say that they could not do so. The orders therefore were not forthcoming. The present commission should encounter no such difficulties.

Of the 5,000-bale shipment Wichita county is furnishing 100 bales.

The American Cotton association, Mr. McConkey says, is drafting a bill to be presented to the next legislature, providing for the state warehouses to be operated much as state banks are now run, in which cotton may be deposited, the warehouse receipts to be negotiable.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

PEACE, PROGRESS, PROSPERITY VS. REJECTION AND RE-ACTION

There never were greater issues submitted to a people than those involved in tomorrow's election. How are you going to vote, with the peace makers or the munition makers? Are you going to vote to finsh the job of "making the world safe for democracy," or vote to quit, and by quitting say to the world, we were only camouflaging, only talking big to catch the ear of our young men to get them to go to war and lay down their lives for their country

Are you going to vote with a united democracy, standing for universal peace, progress and prosperity, a party that has done more for the elevation of mankind in eight years than the republican party has done in half a century, or will you vote with the republican party that stands for rejection, reaction and stagnation.?

Are you going to vote for a party of boosters or a party of knockers?

Are you going to vote to sustain and maintain our prohibition laws, our woman suffrage laws and to ratify the only League of Nations possible, a league that contains not only the best that President Wilson and the brains of Europe could devise, but also every thought, every paragraph and line suggested by ex-President Taft and Elihu Root?

If Lodge and Borah really wanted to prevent war and do something for the peace of the world, why did they not offer some suggestions to President Wilson and the peace commission at Versailles when they were invited to do so? Why did they wait until it was finished and then begin their campaign of abuse and villification and repudiation?

Can it be possible that the gunmakers of New England and the powdermakers of New York and Pennslyvania, like the Du Ponts, who made six hundred millions out of the last war, prevailed upon these political high-browns to stay the hand of Wilson, else there would be no more fat contracts to supply this machinery of destruction? No war, no more big war contracts and excessive profits.

Of course, every one expected all the munition makers and cannon manufacturers to support a no-league policy. Why shouldn't they? All they have ever made is tied up in mandestroying machines. No wonder the Du Ponts are spending their tens of thousands for Harding. What do these fellows care for humanity? What is it to them how many widows and orphans are made in the world, so long as they are getting the money?

Do you want to vote with these powder makers, these New England gunmakers, with the German sympathizers, the anarchists, the Wilson haters, the negroes and bolshevists? All intelligent voters know how these several classes are going to vote. Choose ye this day whom ye will serve.

Whatever shortcomings democratic governors of Texas may have had, all she has and all she is has been accomplished by the great democratic party. The only republican governor we know anything about was Edmond J. Davis who ruled Texas with negro policemen and an iron rod. It was the carpet bag days when white men could vote only by marching to the polls between two rows of negro soldiers. But this republican governor was soon supplanted by a scholarly gentleman and lawyer from Waco, born and bred in the old south. He was Richard Coke, the lion-hearted, whose splendid record as a citizen, a legislator, a judge, a statesman, is well known to every boy and girl in Texas. On tomorrow we expect to elect another gentleman and scholar from Waco, a son of the new south, who knows her history and her needs and who loves her intistutions and her laws. He will grace the governor's office and we will never be ashamed to introduce him as "our governor." And last but not least, this gallant Texan will be accompanied to Austin by a splendid family who would do honor to any governor's mansion.

INDEPENDENT OIL REFINERS INTERESTED IN KNOWING WHY THE PRACTICE IS PERMITTED

The independent oil refiners of the country are now up in arms as a result of the Standard Oil company's recent declaration of a 150 per cent stock dividend and are demanding an investigation of the Standard Oil company of Indiana on the charge of profiteering to the restraint of trade, not only hurting the petroleum industry, but the automobile, truck and tractor industry and their allied industries.

It has been stated that the earnings this year of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana are running in excess of any previous year because of the big expansion in the gasoline business and the independent refiners are wondering where the federal government profiteer investigator is and why the Standard Oil Co. is apparently immune.

In a letter which has been received by some of the independent refiners in Wichita county mention is made of the fact that a little garage dealer in Albany, N. Y., was indicted because he made 1.8 cents net on gasoline or seven per cent on his money. Still, the letter goes on, "The Standard Oil Co. of Indiana can pay two extra dividends in one quarter. They are allowed to declare 150 per cent stock dividend on which no tax will be paid and they are allowed to add from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year to surplus after paying income tax, excess profit tax and dividend regular and extra."

The letter also claims that the price of gasoline wholesale by going down will enable the Standard to pick up a few million gallons at their own figure this fall and rate all stock in storage at that low price which they have forced.

Those independent refiners who have been furnishing the gasoline at so low a cost that they can expand in a season like the one just past and who are forcing the small jobber out of business and indirectly helping the Standard to expand its gasoline business, are held as responsible.

The letter urges the independent refiners to sell the production at a price that will allow him a fair profit during the whole season and stop pushing the price up in the spring and summer so the jobber can not live and being forced to sell to the Standard in the fall at such a low price.

Copies of the letter which demand an investigation of the profiteering will be mailed to each senator and member of congress. They mean to find out why the government will indict a small dealer for making 30 to 50 per cent and allow a large company to make extra dividends and 150 per cent extra profit.

LOCAL METHODIST PASTORS RETURNED BY THE CONFERENCE

All of the local Methodist preachers and assistants have been returned to their old charges for coming year by the action of the 1920 Methodist conference which closed its sessions in McKinney Sunday. Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker has been returned to First Church and Rev. J. D. Pinkston will be returned as junior preacher. Rev. W. L. Tittle, pastor of the Floral Heights church and C. B. Garret, supply pastor, both received their old assignments.

No changes of any kind were made in the Wichita Falls district, according to reports brought back by local people who attended the conference. The assignments for the coming year in this district are as follows:

Local Brevities

Work on the new ornamental lighting system being installed in the downtown section of the city is proceeding rapidly. The Martin Wright Electrical company of Dallas has a large force of men busy installing the concrete bases for the lighting standards and in laying the cables. Practically all of the bases on the west side of Ohio street have been placed and the men are now at work on the south side of Seventh.

According to police officials no cases of vandalism were reported on either Saturday or Sunday nights as being made by Hallowe'en celebrants. The only case requiring the intervention of the law was the fist fight staged by two over-enthusiastic revellers in front of an Indiana street cafe, and the only damage resulting from this was to the physiognomies of the two participants.

A small touring car of popular make came to grief late Sunday night when it attempted to negotiate a sharp turn at the corner of Ninth and Austin. Slippery pavements caused the driver to lose control of his machine and after describing a graceful parbolic curve in the center of the street it came to a stop against the curbing, minus one rear wheel. The tire on the other rear wheel was torn off but escaped further damage.

Over 1,000 people attended the midnight matinee given by the Olympic theater Sunday evening. This was the largest crowd that has ever turned out for one of these nocturnal performances and the theater management responded by offering the best program that has yet been given.

Miss Ruth Calvert, deputy collector of internal revenue, has returned to the local office of the internal revenue department after spending a month in the Dallas office of Collector Scott Read. Her work in the main office consisted largely of arranging tables and lists of all the taxpayers of the state.

Mayor W. D. Cline left for Dallas Sunday night, to attend a meeting today of the directors of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, Texas-Louisiana Division. It is assumed here that officers of the division for the coming year will be elected at today's meeting.

Sheriff Bob McFall, who has been on the sick list for the past week, appeared on duty Monday morning at his office in the court house. He reports feeling some better but not entirely well.

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court, who attended the Methodist conference at McKinney, Texas, last week, resumed his duties on the bench Monday morning. He reports that the conference was a most interesting one. Work for him while there was plentiful, he states.

Judge Guy Rogers of the county court of law, returned from Amarillo where he went on Friday night to bring back his baby daughter who had been visiting with her grandparents for several weeks.

Attorney J. A. Hughes, of the law firm of Clark & Hughes, returned from Amarillo where he assisted in the defense of a murder case in the 47th district court and also appeared before the court of civil appeals in a habeas corpus proceedings.

Prompt work on the part of the local fire department prevented serious damage in the new residence of J. W. Stone on Grant avenue yesterday morning. Fire broke out in the rear of the house due to a defective flue, but the firemen arrived on the scene in time to prevent any great loss.

MAN IS SERIOUSLY INJURED SUNDAY IN BOILER EXPLOSION

A steam boiler explosion at Bridgetown late Sunday night resulted in injuries to an oil field worker named Burgess that will probably prove fatal. But very few details were available in regard to the accident as no one in this city had received information regarding it and wire trouble between Iere and Bridgetown prevented reports being received from the scene of the catastrophe.

It was learned that the boiler of an oil drilling outfit had exploded from some unknown cause and that Burgess, who was employed as attendant had been injured. He was brought to a local hospital in the Merkle and Lann ambulance and reports from the attending physician stated he had little chance for recovery. Burgess suffered a compound fracture of the jaw, a broken hip, a fractured skull and internal injuries. He was too weak to undergo an operation Monday and was unable to give any account of the accident.

Miss Grace Tancred has returned from the State University in Austin for a few weeks to attend her mother who is ill.

CITY PLANS TO TAKE DRASTIC MEASURES TO REGULATE CARS

Drastic measures are soon to be taken in regard to the service car situation in Wichita Falls, according to George Thorburn, city clerk. The hearing which was to have been given the injunction issued by Judge Edgar Scurry restraining the city from enforcing amendments recently made to the service car ordinance was not brought up Saturday and it will be dropped entirely by the city. In its place a new series of amendments have been drafted by Mr. Thorburn and will be placed before the city council for adoption Monday evening.

The new provisions will admittedly be hard on a number of the service car drivers now operating in this city, but this condition is now regarded as necessary by the city officials. Two amendments have been passed within the last year which would have regulated the work of the taxi men, but injunctions granted local auto companies have restrained the city from enforcing either of them.

The city did not fight the cases, for they were not deemed of sufficient importance to warrant legal action, but these latest amendments have been made stringent and the city officials are preparing to fight to the last ditch with the service car companies to see that they are permitted to be enforced.

The latest amendments, which were drafted Saturday, provide that any service car driver causing injury to pedestrains or passengers will be required to furnish bond in the sum of $5,000 regardless of the circumstances pertaining to the accident. They will necessarily face trial. A $1,000 bond will be required in case of property damage. Several new clauses have been added regarding the stands to be taken by the service cars and there is a possibility that the machines may be entirely excluded from Eighth street.

In case these new rulings are ratified by the council, Monday night they will be placed in effect Tuesday morning and any attempts of service car companies to restrain their enforcement will be vigorously fought by the city. Mr. Thorburn stated that "the service car companies have held us up twice now, but we have an ordinance this time that we know can be enforced and we are ready to go to the bat with them if they want to fight."

Why the Money Goes

"President Wilson has appointed a new United States Shipping Board, that is, five members, with two to be added. Admiral William S. Benson, chief of naval operations during the war, was reappointed chairman. The other four members named are: Frederick I. Thompson, a newspaper publisher of Mobile; Gavin McNab, an attorney of San Francisco; Martin J. Clilon, an attorney of Wisconsin, and Theodore Marburg, a publicist of Baltimore.

"This looks like a mighty good board, a fighting man, two lawyers and two publishers—to build a merchant marine!

"With the trained shipping interests of Great Britain, having the knowledge of a thousand years of successful rate-making, this new board will undoubtedly cope successfully, particularly because two publishers are included. Newspaper men must stand together.

"We have confidence in Admiral Benson. In a sea fight he can maneuver his ship like the best of them. No one challenges his Americanism, and with the aid and assistance he is to receive from the other members our merchant marine and its policies are safe(?)"

The above quotation does more than explain why our merchant marine should be at a disadvantage in coping with the trained shipping interests of our competing nations. It adds another to the long list of appointments of unsuited men which has been characteristic of the democratic administration. It is another point in explanation of why of the thirty billions spent for the war, half was thrown away without benefit in the prosecution of the war. It partially explains why the administration has spent or is spending ten billions, a third of the cost of the war, for the ordinary expenses of government in 1920 and 1921—certainly not due to the war. But it is an appointment typical of an administration which has so often appointed to places of trust men whose chief political distinction has been enormous contributions to democratic campaign funs—which named a pacifist (Baker described himself as such during the administration opposition to the preparedness, which if it had been allowed and not kept us out of war, would have ended the war months sooner and saved thousands of lives) a newspaper man to run our navy, and a college professor to manage our coal output—a vital factor during the war. The fondness of the Wilson administration for appointing newspaper men to office also is typical, and largely explains, at the same time why the democrats have been able to run their campaign so cheaply, and why the people of the country have read so much doctored news matter which placed a favorable light on Wilson and democratic policies.

NEW YORK—Mrs. Ella T. Boole, Prohibition.
—Miss Rose Schneiderman, Farmer-Labor.

Among the dozen or more women who are running for membership in the national House of Representatives, the following are the most prominent:

In New Jersey, where women vote for the first time this year, Mrs. Clara M. Browne is a candidate for the mayoralty of Roselle and Miss Caroline Brookfield is Republican candidate for the state Senate.

RECORD OF JACK CULBERTSON, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR, ONE OF SUCCESSFUL ACHIEVEMENT

Although still a young man, a remarkable record for successful and solid achievement is presented in the record of Jack G. Culbertson, the Wichita Falls business man who is the Republican candidate for governor, and who will close his campaign at the Wichita Theater Monday night. This record is all the more remarkable in that it has been achieved by a business man of Mr. Culbertson's age—he is now only thirty-seven years of age. It is the record of a successful business man—a clean man personally—a man who does things—all certainly qualifications which are necessary in a man who is to be the chief magistrate of a big state.

Culbertson was born in Pennsylvania in 1883. His father was an oil man. Jack was born in an oil field. The shack in which he was born has long since been removed. He attended the public schools at Clarion and finished the grammar school. Then he went to work as a "roughneck" in the oil fields. He worked for four years and then decided that he wanted an education. He attempted to matriculate at the Penn State College, the agricultural and mechanical college of Pennsylvania. On account of a lack of schooling he was denied admittance. But he was insistent. After dogging the faculty he was finally given an admittance card "good for one day only." He remained at school probationally at first and finally mastered sufficient units to remain there until he graduated. And in four years he earney two degrees, one mining engineer and one mechanical engineer. That shows the kind of pluck he has.

After his graduation Culbertson roved about for some time. He was with the Westinghouse Company at the World's Fair in St. Louis. He mined a bit in Arizona and he set up irrigation and drainage plants in Florida. He also worked a bit in California and the Northwest. In 1910 he came to Texas. He has been a Texan ever since. He never had a legal residence since he has been of age outside of Texas.

CULBERTSON, THE BUILDER

When Culbertson reached Texas he found an "infant" enterprise under way at Wichita Falls to make motor trucks. Culbertson was induced to become identified with the project. At that time about $80,000 in cash was available.

Culbertson soon was vested with the management of the Wichita Motors Company. Under his direction it has grown from a dream with a scant capitalization to a healthy, vigorous, going concern, with a paid-up capital of $1,800,000 and about two and a half millions of assets.

Under Culbertson's direction the trade of this company has grown until today it is world-wide. It exports Wichita trucks to 83 foreign countries, by far the widest distribution of any motor truck made anywhere on earth. It has never been reorganized financially and has ever been under Culbertson's management.

Culbertson has never had the vestige of labor trouble at his plant. He has worked at the bench and he knows the angle of the working men. When conditions got strained at Wichita Falls, due to the oil boom, Culbertson purchased homes for his men to live in. These homes he rents to them from $2.50 to $4.50 a week and the sizes of houses range from three to six rooms. Similar houses elsewhere in Wichita Falls are renting from $60 to $200 per month. In addition to non-profiteering house rent, Culbertson maintains a commissary, where employes buy supplies at wholesale cost. Single men live in a huge barrack, with hot and cold water, for $2 per week. Meals are served at a cafeteria—and Culbertson eats there every day—for 35 cents. Each employe of the company automatically enjoys life insurance from $500 to $2,000 each, depending on the length of time in employ of Culbertson.

CULBERTSON, THE CITIZEN

Culbertson stands high as a citizen. He is an officer of the Presbyterian church. He is an active member of the Chamber of Commerce. He is an Elk and a Shriner. He is intensely interested in the Young Women's Christian Association and appreciates its immense service. He is ever and always for better schooling and better schools. He is for better roads, better homes and better living conditions and he has contributed a generous share toward bringing about better conditions in his home town.

The leading citizens of Wichita Falls, of all political parties, are willing to vouch for Jack Culbertson as being worthy and well qualified to make Texas a splendid governor. He has the respect of his neighbors, the love of his friends, and the affection of the many children with whom he has been thrown.

Culbertson is essentially a business man, but he has never taken a narrow view of what constitutes business. He demands nothing of the men he employs that he cannot and will not do himself. He has never regarded his business as a means solely of making money; rather as the medium of assisting others to enjoy the benefits of continuous and profitable employment, and perhaps this is one of the secrets of his success. The door of his office is open to every employe of his plant, and when he advises one of his men to build himself a home, he doesn't stop with merely giving advice. He stands behind that advice financially. The matter of payments is a detail that never bothers either Culbertson or his men. Incidentally, he is a believer in men owning their own homes. He is opposed to "factory districts." He wants his men to share with him the responsibilities of citizenship and he wants them to feel they are a part of, not men apart from, their city.

No man in Texas commands greater attention from financial men than Culbertson. He is as well known in the banking circles of the North and East as he is at home. He has repeatedly turned down attractive offers that would take him out of Texas.

Culbertson's greatest hobby in life is training boys to become executives in his company. Many of the heads of departments at his factory started with him as boys and received their training under his guidance.

CULBERTSON, THE MAN

He has lived a clean life. Every banker, every merchant, every minister in Wichita Falls will bear testimony to this fact.

With it all he is red-blooded. He knows where the fishes bite, and when. He knows when the game season opens and he is a splendid shot. He can sail a boat, can run an automobile, can play ball and can root like a true bleacher. In short, he is a successful business man who has never lost touch with his fellows and who still finds time to play as hard as he works.

WE KNOW WHERE CULBERTSON STANDS

In choosing a governor it is absolutely essential that we know what to expect from him after election We know where Mr. Culbertson stands on practically every question before the people in this campaign.

We do not know where Mr. Neff stands.

Mr. Culbertson's policy is positive, Mr. Neff's wavering.

Mr. Culbertson is for the open shop, Mr. Neff apparently does not know whether he is for or against it. Some of his friends say he is for it, the labor unions say he is against it.

Mr. Culbertson endorses Governor Hobby's action in sending troops to Galveston during the longshoremen's strike. Mr. Neff has never publicly either endorsed or criticized the governor for this action.

Mr. Culbertson endorses the open port bill; Mr. Neff has neither endorsed or opposed this measure.

Mr. Culbertson endorses an A. & M college for West Texas; Mr. Neff has never expressed himself for or against it. The Democratic Convention at Fort Worth refused to endorce this proposition. Mr. Neff, a participant in that convention and its nominee for Governor, by his silence has practically endorsed its action. Therefore, we assume that Mr. Neff is opposed to an A. & M. College for West Texas.

Mr. Neff became very much mixed as to the date of his birth, which in itself would ordinarily be immaterial but it became an issue in the primary campaign just closed, and the people were therefore entitled to know the date eof his birth. The question of his patriotism was at stake. Not until 7 o'clock on the evening of the election, aftr the polls had closed, did he make a statement "telling the truth" to his friends, according to press reports.

The policy followed by Mr. Neff in leaving the people in doubt as to where he stands on the issues of the coming election, certainly does not entitle him to their votes. While on the contrary, Mr. Culbertson's open, frank position on every question is such as to insill confidence among the people and should bring him their unanimous support.

Mr. Neff, throughout his entire campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor, pledged to the people his every effort to secure the adoption of what was known as "Neff's land plank." At the Democratic State Convention at Fort Worth no effort was made by Mr. Neff to have this plank incorporated in the platform, either by appearance before the platform committee or by presenting his ideas to the convention from the floor. If Mr. Neff was really in earnest with the people in his proposal for the adoption of this land plank, why didn't he have the courage to make a fight for it at the convention? If he really believed in his land plank he owed it to every man who voted for him in the run-off primary to make a fight for its inclusion in the platform of the party, even though he knew he was going to be defeated in the attempt. It would seem that Mr. Neff's policy is one of vacillation and expendiency, "Anything to get the nomination."

Mr. Bryan fought for his propositions at San Francisco and went down in defeat covered with glory, although defeated.

Where was Mr. Neff's courage?

Certainly the people of Texas have the right to know the policies of their Governor!

Tammany

And its chieftain, Charles Murphy, Nugent of New Jersey, Tom Taggart of Indiana and the boss of Sullivans old Illinois machine, the boss-directed cohorts whose stubborn stand resulted in the nomination of Candidate Cox at San Francisco, are not the only ones to whose hearts this nomination brought joy unconfined—witness the following letters which show that this nomination was joyously hailed by the leaders of the outlawed organized liquor traffic, whose president declares Cox's nomination a big victory for their cause. And, in passing, it might be said that few people can bring themselves to believe that the bosses above named who enthusiastically supported Cox—"men who make a business of the corruption of politics" as Bryan called them, were supporting the nomination of Cox from either disinterested or patriotic motives—"for their health" to use the vernacular. Whatever it is that they want they are satisfied that Cox, if elected, will give them. This certain to be opposed to the interests of decent citizenm everywhere. Whether it is for the same reasons as those advanced by the organized liquor interests or not, does not matter—either will be equally opposed to the interests of good citizenship.

The revelations contained in the letter given below will probably go a long way to explain why Cox has so assidiously stuck to the League of Nations as a dominant issue—to the exclusion of everything else. It might have been embarrassing for the candidate to have allowed the interest of his hearers leave Europe and Asia and get to the United States, they might have found out something interesting in connection with the letters below. It is only at the last minute of the campaign when Cox, seeing that the advocacy of the surrender of American Independence and the setting up of a super government, such as is proposed in the Wilson draft of the League of Nations, would lose him the race, and he has flopped over to the "League with Senate Reservations" policy, one for which he villified the republicans up and down the land at the beginning of the campaign, that attention is drawn to other issues.

The following statement and the two letters, from one of which is quoted, should be illuminating to Texans, upon whom an attempt is being made to betray into supporting this man:

The nomination of Governor Cox for the Presidency by the Democrats is a big victory for our interests, and it can be attributed, to a great degree to the activity of our trade organization here in New Jersey and throughout the Nation. —President National Liquor Dealers Association.

Following is the appeal being sent out by George T. Carroll, President of the National Liquor Dealers' Association, and President of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' Association.

Office of The President.

849 Broad St., Newark, N. J.
CABAIN BROS., July 22, 1920.

Dear Sir and Brother:—

The organized liquor trade of New Jersey has set out to do its part toward the election of James M. Cox as the next President of the United States and it becomes my duty to call upon you for help. More than that we are going to fight as we never fought before to keep the hirelings of the Anti-Saloon League out of office; to elect Congressmen in the twelve Congressional districts of the state who will vote to amend the Volstead Act so as to permit the sale of high wine and beer; to elect Assemblymen and state senators who will keep New Jersey from ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment and prevent the passage of any law concurring in the Volstead Act in its present form.

The nomination of Governor Cox of Ohio for the presidency by the Democrats is a big victory for our interests and it can be attributed to a great degree to the activity of our trade organizations here in New Jersey and throughout the nation. Governor Cox is a pronounced "wet" and he can be relied upon to approve an amendment to the Volstead Act as suggested above. It is now up to our trade organizations to stand unitedly behind the ticket of Cox and Roosevelt and roll up such a majority as will show convincingly that the public well is in our favor. Are you going to help? Of course you are.

This is going to be the greatest political fight in the history of the United States. Your liberty and mine has been taken from us. Our business has been unjustly confiscated. The rights of the people have been seized and they are lined up with us in the mighty struggle that is soon to be decided by the battle of the ballot.

The recent decision of the United States supreme court p[illegible] the question of prohibition squarely into politics. It is the vi[illegible]sue in the campaign that is now under way. The prohibitionists tried to keep the question out of the campaign. They feared the vote of an outraged and indignant public. It is up to us—members of the organized liquor trade—to force the fight. That is just what we are doing.

SECOND LETTER—JUST AS A REMINDER

We have issued the challenge. The Anti-Saloon League is forced to fight. It has made an appeal for a 220,000 fund to elect dry Congressmen who will uphold the Volstead Act and dry candidates to the State Senate and Assembly to force ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment on New Jersey. There is no question about the Anti-Saloon League's ability to raise the amount asked. How much can we raise?

We must have money at once to carry on the work that we have planned. Do not think for a moment that there is plenty of time to give between now and election. The fall will be too late. Money must be had immediately if we are to maintain our headquarters and continue the propaganda that is necessary in the drive to win public opinion. This is the second appeal that I have sent you. The first you evidently overlooked. I would not bother you now if it were not for the fact that your own interests hang in the balance just as much as mine. Let me beg of you to remain loyal to the cause to the finish. Make this your last contribution if you will, but give—give something.

Your record on the roster of your local associations and also on that of the State League shows that you have been loyal and regular in the past. Do keep that record unsullied to the very end. I have always had your co-operation in the past; please let me have it now, for the Federation is to put up a bigger fight than it ever made before.

So that we may know at once just what our resources are, may we not ask you to promptly return the enclosed card filled out with your remittance.

Jump in and help us fight. Give as much as you can afford. This is not merely a battle to save your business but one to preserve something more sacred, namely, your personal liberty.

Yours fraternally,
GEO. T. CONOLL,
President.

WILSON AS HE IS.

It is a very human person that Secretary Tumulty portrays when, breaking an eight-year silence as to the personal characteristics of President Wilson, he tells an audience in a capital suburb that the President is "intensely human, shy by nature, a lonely man longing for the love of his fellow-man and saddened because he does not know how to obtain it." Reading his speech because, as he explained, he did not dare permit himself to speak unrestrainedly, Tumulty compared the loneliness of Wilson with that of Lincoln and added:

"He would love to feel the familiar touch of the ordinary camaraderie of life, but it cannot be so. The knowledge that it cannot be saddened him from the outset. It is known to his nearest friends, but not guessed by the public at large, that this aggressive fighting man is in his own nature a very shy man, too sincere to pose, too shy to make advances. He has not been generally understood. People see his dignity, his reserve, but they cannot see his great heart yearning for the love of his fellow-men, the slap-you-on-the-back easy familiarity."

And the President's private secretary, than whom none has been closer to the personal side of Wilson during the past twelve years, is correct, we believe, when he declares that "vindication will come." Indeed, we believe that if recognition of the greatness of his soul and mind be vindication, it already has come outside of the partisan few, and they, too, will come to appreciate his greatness and his unselfishness, his desire to serve the American people, when the bitterness engendered by partisanship lies down, as inevitably it will.

"I don't believe in his heart President Wilson regrets his wounds," Tumulty told his audience in contrasting the lithe, youthful Wilson of sixty, who pronounced that immortal war message to the American congress in 1917 with the Wilson of three and a half years later, "broken in health, but still alert in mind;" his hair white, his shoulders bowed, his figure bent. "I fancy he realizes that no man could die in a greater cause; but I do sometimes wonder if it ever seems to him strange that when a man has been seriously wounded in his country's service he should be met with sneers and calumnies from his countrymen. I think already the better nature of America is awakening. Those who have joined the chorus of calumnies begin to grow ashamed of their unchivalrous conduct, begin to resent the tricks of politicians which beguiled them into base ingratitude."

The perspective is too short, the world happenings in which he played the dominant role are too recent, for the world generally to estimate Wilson's contributions to the welfare of humanity. But we sincerely believe that when the history of the world from 1913 to 1920 shall have been finally written, the name of Woodrow Wilson will be writ largely on the page as one of the few really great presidents who have guided the destinies of the American people.

Early recognition of Mexico is expected generally now, based on Secretary Colby's fairly conclusive statement, and the Obregon government, which has established itself more firmly than any since that of Porfirio Diaz, will have that much more help toward permanence. News from Mexico is that General Obregon is already taking a firmer grip on Mexican affairs, and observers over on this side of the border deduce from his declaration before the Mexican congress on the pending agrarian bill that he purposes taking the reins of government over himself, actually, if not openly. There are preliminaries to be got out of the way before American recognition is finally and formally extended, but there is every reason to believe that it is only a matter of comparatively short time until it is accomplished, and both Mexico and the United States will be benefited thereby. Mexico in that the permanence of a stable government will be helped and the United States in that it will advantage materially from peace below the Rio Grande.

It might be called another "drive," and most "drives" aren't coming in for any extraordinary enthusiastic welcome these days, but the Red Cross membership campaign—its fourth annual "roll call"—starting November 11 and continuing through the 25th is different from most and citizens generally will be glad to respond to so deserving a purpose. In the first place, the campaign is for renewal of memberships only and most of them are only a dollar each, the money to be devoted to home service such as this great organization extended at home and overseas during the world war. Home nursing, home sanitation, prevention of disease through making expert instruction and advice available—these are the things to which the Red Cross is devoting its time and attention now that peace has come, and they are just as essential, just as deserving, as the great labors to which the great organization consecrated itself during the war. The Red Cross membership should embrace everybody; its unselfishness of purpose warrants that. It is not only a duty, we think, but an honor to belong and to help it in the achievement of its purposes.

That future generations of humanity will have hoofs instead of feet is the prediction of a Western savant, Professor Martin of Drake University, Des Moines, and he backs up his prediction with some declarations that constitute, in his opinion, proof. The little toe is becoming littler, he points out, from the wearing of shoes that more or less cramp the feet. That is fact, so far. He proceeds with the theory that it will not be many years, as time goes, before the little toe will have disappeared completely. Then will come the disappearance by evolution of the other toes in order, with the foot's "thumb," otherwise the big toe, the last; the hoof stage will be the next. There are those with congenital ingrowing toe-nails, we suspect, who wish the physiological change could be brought about sooner.

Alongside the Los Angeles announcement of a return to the "two-bit" haircut and the 15-cent shave is to be placed the item from Chicago that the Master Barbers' association has decided that a dollar for a haircut and 35c for a shave are little enough. The excuse for the raise is that laundering of towels now costs $2 per 100 and hair tonic has gone to $9 a gallon, which certainly is a reasonable explanation in view of the fact that at least one towel is necessary to every shave and that hair tonic is used neither in shaving nor hair-cutting. No wonder the safety razor business in Chicago is growing!

Texas may be thirty-ninth in educational standing of its public schools—this is written before the results of the "better school" amendments are known—but in point of endowment it must rank up near the top. The permanent school fund of Texas on August 31, 1920, included $217,074 in cash, $23,156,893 in school, county and city bonds, and $1,603,317 in railroad bonds. Land notes on school lands added $45,915,674 to the fund, bringing its total to $81,892,959 in liquid securities with many million dollars worth of land in addition.

RIPPLING RHYMES

The Consumer.

I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my eyes are full of tears, for I've carried all the burdens of the world, a thousand years, and I'm doomed to pack those burdens till this planet is no more, so my eyes are full of sorrow, and my heart is sick and sore. I've a right to groan and grumple and deplore my many ills, for I'm paying all the taxes, and I'm footing all the bills; to defray the world's expenses I am always sweating blood; I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and my given name is Mud. Oh, the farmer gets a rake-off when he sells a load of wheat, and the miller, white and dutsy, gets a rake-off and repeat, and the jobber gets a rake-off when he sells a sack of flour, and the dealer gets a rake-off, or you'd see him looking sour; and the Ultimate Consumer, when he buys a dinky sack, has to pay these divers rake-offs, while pink pains run up his back. And they tax the woolens maker, who in commerce cuts a swat, and he hands along the taxes to the gent who buys his cloth, and this gent just hands the taxes to the fellow lower down, till they reach the busy tailor in our little country town. And the Ultimate Consumer pays the taxes in the end, when he buys a suit of raiment with a stylish Grecian Bend. I'm the Ultimate Consumer, and I sound a plaintive note; I'm the guy who pays the fiddler, I'm the universal goat.

FIRST TOUCH OF WINTER HAS REAWAKENED VIENNA

VIENNA, Oct. 31.—The first touch of winter has reawakened Vienna and other Austrian cities to the food and fuel situation, which President Seitz today described as "most unfavorable."

While various charities are doing much to relieve conditions, the American child feeding fund with its perfected organization and two years' experience now is feeding daily 300,000 children under 16 years of age and also is supplying 100,000 children with overcoats, shoes, stockings and flannel underwear. The Austrian government is co-operating with the fund.

Some idea of the extent of the work of the relief association may be gained by the fact that sixty-eight million free eals have been distributed to under-nourished Austrian children in sixteen months. The extension of the Aerican Relief association's charities to include clothing was due to the fact that thousands of families had insufficient gorents to permit even one child at a time to go to the kitchens of the fund for food.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

Just Folks
By EDGAR A. GUEST

Make a Success Of Yourself.

Make a success of yourself.
Don't worry too much about fame
Or power in the struggle for pelf,
Just make a success of your name;
Be one that is rated at par
In the markets of men every day,
Be all that the good fellows are,
Don't live in a slovenly way.

Men judge by the work that you do
The skill of your brain and your hand,
But your real task's to fashion a "you"
That is fit with the highest to stand;
You may toil to the top of your bent
And succeed in that one-sided way,
But your glory will bring discontent
If you let yourself wander astray.

Make yourself live as you should,
Make yourself carry a smile,
Be sure that your character's good,
Be sure that your word is worth while;
Play fair though you win or you lose,
Be kindly and true to the end,
Be the same sort of a man that you'd choose
To have as a comrade and friend.

The battle of life's not so hard
If only you'll fight as a man;
There are many to stand by and guard
And help you as much as they can;
But it's you that you offer for sale,
With your traits ranged like goods on a shelf,
And the first thing to do, without fail,
Is to make a success of yourself.

Side Talks
By RUTH CAMERON

Are You a Coward?

A friend of mine who was staying at the same little inn at which I spent some weeks last fall, had a dearly beloved sister who was seriously ill.

News of her condition came by telephone. And whenever the telephone rang, if my friend were near it she would glance toward it apprehensively and watch the clerk anxiously to see if the call was to be for her.

One day I was in her own room with her when a sudden shock came. She turned deadly pale and swayed as she stood up to answer it. It was only the chambermaid to bring some fresh towels. After she had gone my friend explained, "I was so afraid it was a message from mysister."

"Is that the way every knock affects you?"

"Yes," she said. "Sometimes it seems as if my heart would stop beating altogether."

"That's dreadful," I said. "You must stop it."

"How can I help it?" she said.

"Wouldn't you think you had to help it if you were doing work that put such a strain on your heart that it almost stopped beating?" I said. "Don't you know that fear like that makes the same drain on your health that greatly overtaxes your strength?"

"But how can I help it?" she persisted.

"Cultivate courage," I said.

"Yes," she said, "that's easy enough to say, but I don't believe you could do it any better than I can."

And therewith she dismissed the whole subject.

As if whether I could do it or not had anything to do with the fact that unless she tried to cultivate courage she was menacing her own health!

She can't tell me anything about how hard it is to cultivate courage. I know. And I know, too, just how serious a drain is this kind of cowardice.

We think of cowardice as fear of physical danger and courage as indifference to it, but there are many other forms of courage that play a bigger part in daily life.

And one of these is the courage of the heart, the courage that will not be afraid of life!

I do not see how anyone can live a life which does not give opportunity for fear. If we love onyone there is always the fear that harm will come to them; if we have possessions there is always the chance of loss. The solitary who cares for no one and has no possessions can fear that he will not get his next meal, or fear for his own health. It is impossible to control the conditions of life—the only control that we can exercise is in our reaction to them.

Shall we permit ourselves to have the fear habit or shall we strive for courage?

Courage will make us happier, of course. People have long realized that and they are coming to realize more and more that it will also make us healthier.

The strain that fear puts upon us, even the little gloomy fears, as well as the big heart-catching fears, has a definite physical effect. A courageous attitude, on the other hand, actually helps our digestion, improves our circulation. "Courage," says the life extension people, "is a foe to constipation."

Of course you cannot have courage all in a minute, but you can make up your mind all in a minute to cultivate it. You can promise yourself that the next time fear attacks you—either in the form of a nervous apprehension that the landlord is going to raise your rent or an agonized picturing of dreadful things that might have happened when your husband doesn't get back at the usual hour, or just a spell of the blues—you will straighten up, throw out your chest, smile—these outward manifestations help, "assume a virtue if you have it not"—and fight for courage.

WHY?—

Do We Celebrate Hallowe'en?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The eve of vigil of All Saints' or All Hallows Day (November 1), is a curious mixture of classic mythology, Druidic beliefs and Christian traditions. On November 1 the Romans celebrated a feast in honor of Pomona, the goddess of fruits and seeds, and it was then that the stores laid up in the summer for use in the winter were opened—which accounts for the use of apples and nuts at this time.

November 1 was also the date of the great autumn festival to the sun, which the Druids celebrated in thanksgiving for their harvest, lighting bonfires and cooking many delicacies out-of-doors in honor of Baal.

At the time of the advent of Christianity, these pagan practices were frowned upon by the church, and in order to supplant them, other customs were introduced. October 31 was made the feast of All Souls and the following day was proclaimed as the feast of All Saints, from which we obtain the name "Hallowe'en."

The antiquity of the rites followed on this night when witches were supposed to prowl abroad, is apparent from a quotation found in a book written by Vallancey in the fifteenth century: "The peasants go from house to house, collecting money, butter, eggs, and cakes, etc., for the feast. The good women are employed in making griddle-cakes. Apples and nuts are devoured in abundance. The nut shells are burnt, and from the ashes many strange things are foretold. Maidens believe that if they but glance over their shoulder they will see the apparition of the man intended for their future spouse. They dip for apples with their mouths in a tub of water, and they suspend an apple from a cord and endeavor to catch it, while it is in circular motion, in the mouth." At the time when Vallancey wrote, these customs were already centuries old—but they have changed very little in the years that have intervened.

Tomorrow—Why do some people have dimples?

O boys, boys, its sinfill to tawk like that, youll never be rich if you scorn pennies, sed the man.

I ment it wouldent be mutch for you, sed Puds, and I sed, thats wat I ment, too. Wich the man jest kepp on looking as if he didnt know a hint wen he herd once, and after a wile he sed, Well I gess its no use, boys. And he wawked away, Puds saying, Aw heck, I bet he wasted so mutch time looking for that sent I bet he lost about 100 dollars werth of bizniss.

Gosh, I hope so, I sed.

Proving if people ixpect something different you dont get mutch gratitude.

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline but do not compel
(Copyright, 1919, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Monday, November 1, 1920.

The Sun and Jupiter are in benefic aspect early today, according to astrology, but Mars is adverse.

The rule seems to encourage all persons who seek high office and thus it is read that uncertainty will mark the political situation on the eve of election more decidedly even than during the campaign.

This should be a fortunate sway under which to push ambitious designs of any sort.

It is an auspicious time to seek positions or new business connections.

Judges and lawyers of all degrees of successfulness should be active, while this configuration prevails, for profit is at hand for them.

There is a forecast of great honors for a man prominent in university work. He will render public service at a critical moment.

Strangely enough at this time, the seers foretell that women who vote will be disappointed in the results.

Intrigues and trades that are confusing and perplexing are indicated by the planetary government that will dominate election day.

Mars is in a place that is read as foreshadowing dissentions and quarrels among leaders of political factions. Both the great parties will be affected by this direction of the stars.

Mercury gives warning of personal attacks in the press that will have but slight effect on candidates.

Gossip of the most misleading sort will be increasingly prevalent until the beginning of the year, for it will not cease when the ballots have been cast.

The seers foretell a drop in wages that will affect many trades and demoralize certain lines of business, but readjustments are indicated as likely to be rapid.

Suffering among the unemployed is forecast, and the seers declare that there will be many without work before the spring comes. This may be due to strikes which have been indicated as continual and numerous.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the forecast of a successful and prosperous year, but they must avoid quarrels of all sorts.

Children born on this day may be quick tempered, but gifted. These subjects of Scorpio usually are keen and alert. They prosper greatly. Girls have the augury of happy marriage.

"The Jew the Wonder of History"

Sermon delivered by the Rev. Dr. Samuel W. Purvis and published in The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Texts: And I will bless them that bless thee and curse them that curseth thee; and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed. Gen. 12:3. What advantage then hath the Jew? Much every way. Rom. 3:12.

Our Jewish friends are now observing their New Year—the 5,681st. The period includes the fast of Guadaliah and culminates in Yom Kippur, the most solemn Day of Atonement, next Wednesday.

As a man of affairs, I want to stop and take notice of one of the most remarkable phenomena of the centuries—the preservation and indestructibility of the Jewish race. Here is a marvelous thing—a bush burning and is not consumed! "Show me a miracle," said Frederick the Great to his chaplain. "Sire, it is the Jews," answered the man of God. As an ambassador of God, I, too, in a labor of love, would stop and pay a tribute of appreciative recognition to this wonderful people to whom you and I are indebted for so many things, not the least of which is the fundamentals of our own Christian religion.

All the world's a stage whereon not only individuals but nations and races are players. Every nation has played some part, great or small. Each one has had its message for the centuries in which it lived. Rome gave government; Greece, culture; Phoenicia, commerce; the Jew has carried monotheism, the worship of a single God, through the ages. He has played his part and played it well. Where he has faltered or blundered he always paid a fearful penalty. I know of no other that has suffered so much and survived.

When the temple in Jerusalem was destroyed the Jew became a wanderer, a man without a country. There isn't a continent, there isn't a nation upon the face of the earth of which he is not an inhabitant. Innumerable forces of history through many ages have helped to form his destiny. His story is at once the miracle and the romance of human history. None can blot him out, Babylonian captivity, Roman domination, Grecian absorption, medieval persecution, modern massacre, have been in vain. Talk about the splendid line of Roman pontiffs on the banks of the yellow Tiber—the Jew has outlived Egypt, Chaldea, Assyria, Persia and the dynasties of the past. While our fathers were savages living on roots in the forest or gnawing a bone in a cave his were princes in the house of King David. He of today is nothing more or less than a child of his great yesterday. Though removed from his Asiatic origin well night 2,000 years, there's a queer dualism which makes him a creature old and new. He has one foot on the soil of antiquity, the other rests on the foreground of today. His profile is that of Ur of Chaldees, but in Russia his features are Russian, in Italy Italian, in Spain Spanish. There are 50,000 black Jews in Abyssinia, negro Hebrews, while there are even Chinese Jews who observe all the Jewish religious rites and all their dietary laws—yet they have the almond eyes, the flat noses and the yellow skin of Mongolians.

In the Fiery Furnace.

The three Hebrew children in the fiery furnace were forerunners.

In the sixteenth century in Venice was begun the concentration camp known as the Ghetto. Back of the old ghetto, or iron foundry, the Jew had to live in a restricted district. The name was gradually applied to the Jewish quarter of every city. In each ghetto he developed a life of his own—religion, custom, literature, tradition, song, pleasure all his own.

During those middle ages he was persecuted relentlessly, bitterly. It wouldn't surprise me if that medieval life had not left an indelible impress on him. That past, indeed his any past, is not a mere memory to be cherished and revered, but a hideous, living, ever-present experience, burned on his consciousness. Is he "peculiar?" If he is, circumstances have made him so. Suppose we had taken a few hundred thousand people of any nation 2,000 years ago, set them apart to live in restricted districts, forced them to wear a distinctive garb, forbidden them to engage in agriculture, limited their usefulness to particular trades, only in rarest cases allowed to own property, many other things prohibited under pain of death—wouldn't any people become "peculiar?" Would it be wondered at if long-continued persecution would leave them suspicious? The constant menace of the proselyter would make them no less fearsome than the torture chamber itself—they would soon fear the Greeks when bearing gifts. Each period of oppression would send him back decades, grieved and bewildered.

In spite of all this, he has developed a marvelous love for his stepmotherlands. The Jew has always been a patriot. He quickly adapts himself to the country that gives him food and shelter. He soon finds himself. Given the opportunity, he perfects himself in science, music, painting, sculpture, literature, philosophy, sociology, philanthropy, medicine, mathematics, history, astronomy. In all he gave his best, frequently in return he was refused civil privilege, political office, military honor. Their hands were tied and they were blamed for not using them! Persecution, fire, sword, rack and dungeon were his reward. Captive children, murdered men, ravished women were considered his birthright.

How loyal he is may be seen in the strife of the great war. In England 8 per cent of the Jews enlisted to 6 per cent of non-Jews. America sent between 200,000 and 225,000 into all branches of the service. Their quota, being about 3 per cent of the population, they exceeded by one-third. Of the 800 citations for valor, 174 won the croix de guerre, 130 the distinguished service cross, three the U. S. congressional medal of honor, our highest gift, and two the rare French medaille militaire. Their casualties were about 18,000. Three thousand five hundred laid down their lives by the side of their non-Jewish comrades under the popples of Flanders. They, too, had a rendezvous with death. Honor to them! In the great conflict on all sides one-twentieth of the Jews of the world fought with nothing to gain but the opportunity of killing their own martyred race!

The Melting Pot.

America spells opportunity for the Jew.

Some one has said: "In this melting pot the Jew will be lost—he is losing rapidly through intermarriage, modernism and infidelity."

No. He will not be lost. If he will only be true to his ancient landmarks he will find himself. You see, he belongs here as surely as the rest of us. He came with Columbus. There were five Jews in the fleet. Rodrigo Sanchez was the overseer of the crew. Luis de Torres was the interpreter. They were of the first to behold and set foot on the new promised land. Abraham and Columbus were men who pioneered westward, not knowing whither. If, as it said, Columbus' mother was Suzanne Fonterosa, a Jewess, then Columbus was a fine successor to Abraham. There is no discovery without faith—both were men of faith. Who can tell whether the hand that has guided the Jew westward, from the Euphrates to the Jordan, from the Jordan to the Nile, from the Nile to the Tiber, from the Tiber to the Guadalquivir, did not also lead him across the Atlantic that he might, under God's sun, in a land of freedom, live where he choose, worship as he desires; no ghetto to wall in him, no restriction to fetter his feet, no tribunal to cow his spirit; free to develop his highest faculties, and in return give the best that is in him to make America the hope of a struggling world? I believe America's noble treatment of the Jews is graven on his heart. He is of a race capable of splendid sentiment and great gratitude. Time will never efface it.

The Jewish Old Testament literature molded Puritan though. It was the Jew who loaned Washington $600,000 to finance the Valley Forge campaign. The inscription on the Liberty Bell in our fair city is taken from the Jewish Bible. Lincoln's addresses show his inspiration from the Jewish Elijah. What a coincidence from the Lincoln penny, the coin of the little child and the common people, is a product of a Jewish designer—Victor D. Brenner. In America the Jew is a patriot without a hyphen. They have never tried to form a "Jewish vote" at election time. He is the average citizen, reaching the heights and depths of human possibility. He is as rich as Dives or as poor as Lazarus. He is Karl Marx the socialist or Rothschild the capitalist. He is Felix Adler the law-abiding or "Ikey the Gunman." He is a Shylock or Baron de Hirsch. He is a wanderer, and yet he clings to the pale. He is homeless, yet he owns Broadway. The Jew at the lowest was Judas—at the highest he was Jesus.

An American Jerusalem.

Not in Judea, but in New York, is the real Jerusalem.

If there are 15,000,000 Jews in the world America has about 3,000,000, of which about 1,500,000 are in and about Greater New York. In that city every sixth person you meet is a son of Israel, while on Manhattan Island the proportion is one to four. About one-third of the student body of Columbia University is Jewish, the City College is nearly 97 per cent. New York has the largest high school in the world—the Washington Irving—practically all of its 6,000 pupils are Jewish. The New York telephone director shows sixteen columns of Cohens and but fourteen of Smiths. In Philadelphia there are two and one-half columns of Cohens to eleven of Smiths. There was a time, a generation ago, when New York was Roman Catholic—today it is Jewish! There is not a Christian church on the east side, but there are 360 synagogs!

Will the Jews go back to Jerusalem? Never, except as a tourist. America is the Jew's Palestine, and Washington, D. C., his Zion. I suspect that if you plant the blue and white flag of Zionism on one side and the red, white and blue of the United States on the other and demand of the Jew, "Choose ye this day which you will serve," there will be but one answer.

This is his country. He is on the bench of the supreme court of the United States, he is in the senate and house of representatives, he is governor in three states, he is mayor of several cities. Two of New York's most successful newspapers, the World and the Times, are works of Jewish proprietors. The business manager of the Hearst newspapers is Jewish. The banking house that stands next to J. P. Morgan company is Jewish. A Jewish engineer built the Pennsylvania tunnels under the East river.

Will the Jew intermarry? I do not know of the future—but he has and does! August Belmont married a daughter of Commander Perry. The distinguished Dr. Abraham Jacobi married Mary Putnam, Walter Damrosch married the daughter of James G. Blaine, Ossip Gabrilowitch, the musician, married Mark Twain's daughter. Do you know any of the fruit of Christian Jewish marriage? Let me refresh your memory. Did you know that Bret Harte was one? A few others are Sir John Herschel, the astronomer; Francis Turner Palgrave, the critic; Sir John Millais, the artist; Leon Gambetta, the statesman; Sir Arthur Sullivan, the composer, and—now hold your breath!—the mother of General William Booth, the youthful pawnbroker's assistant, the glorious Christian saint of Salvation Army fame, was a Miss Moss, a Jewess! Take a look at his picture and see how she bequeathed to him that magnaficent Old Testament physiognomy which was such a valuable asset in his public appearance.

Hath Not the Jew a Soul?

Will the Jew become a Christian? I rather think not. Not in appreciable numbers. Do we have grapes of thorns and figs of thistles? Not in this year of our Lord, 1920.

The young Jew is causing his elders considerable anxiety religiously. As in all other religious bodies there is much drifting in these days of transition. The young Jew is making money, he is getting an education, he is intense on social problems, many are pronounced socialists—but he isn't becoming a Christian. Not Christianity but Christians stagger the Jew. What he has undergone at the hands of Christians in Europe would stagger us if the condition were reversed.

America is not yet perfect in its tolerance—humanity never will be. But thank God for the American spirit of fair play and a chance. It is ten thousand times better than Russia or central Europe from which many of the Jews have fled. Give the Jew a Gentile's chance, give the negro a white man's chance, give the woman a man's chance, give the poor the rich man's chance, and they will make good. America spells that chance!

You and I, Christians, worship the Jehovah of the Jews—as Christ came to interpret Him. The Jewish scriptures, the Old Testament, begins with the story of Man, not with a history of the Jews. Our religion, the Christian religion, was founded on Jews and Judaism. Every book of our New Testaments was written by a Jew, with the possible exception of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles. My text was written by a little Jewish tentmaker, he, who next to Moses, has cut the greatest swath in human history.

It was Simon Peter, a Jew, to whom Christ said: "On this rock I will build My church." Our very calendar is based on the birthday of a Jew, and our greatest, sweetest holiday centers around the manger-cradle of a little Jewish babe! Of the Christians of the world 500,000,000 worship Jesus, a Jew. And 200,000,000 venerate Mary, a Jewess!

But, say, Christian preacher, you haven't told the faults of the Jew. No. That is not now the subject of my story. I know the Jew's faults—I know his virtues—they are both surprisingly like the Christian's — and when I weigh them in the balance I am glad to extend my hand to my intensely human neighbor—the Jew.—Published in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"Stomach Trouble of 30 Years Standing Relieved in a Week"

New Ulm woman writes that Ware's Black Powder gave prompt relief after other remedies failed.

"My mother had stomach trouble for over 30 years and used all kinds of medicines, but never got relief. Then I heard of Ware's Black Powder and got some. Mother took the medicine according to directions and in less than a week she was well."

So writes Paula Wotipka of New Ulm, Texas, on May 11th, 1920. And her mother's case is but one more link in the ever-growing chain of evidence which proves the power of Ware's Black Powder in the treatment of stomach and bowel troubles. Sold by druggists everywhere for 40 years. Not a purgative. Contains no harmful drugs. 60c and $1.20 the package. Send for Dr. Ware's booklet—free.

SOMETHING OF THE HISTORY OF TWO GREAT POLITICAL PARTIES AND SIGNIFICANCE OF NAMES

By JOHN GOULD.

Most of us are willing to classify ourselves, readily enough, when asked what our politics is, or are; we declare frankly enough that we are democrats, if we are, and the time seems to have come when folks admit downright openly, in Texas, that they are republicans; formerly such admission affected one's standing in the church and one's credit in the bank, but that time is gone.

Such classification, of republican or democrat, is sufficient for the majority; true, there have been plenty of other parties, such as populists, greenbackers, knownothings, prohibitionists and the like, but the two main parties have held their leadership, with the exception of the progressive defection from the republican ranks in 1912.

Republicans and democrats are supposed to differ as to certain fundamentals of government, and the names given the major parties were affixed when such differences first arose. A foreigner familiar with our language but not with our politics might assume that all Americans would be republicans, as believing in a republic, and he might with equal ease assume that all would be democrats, as being opposed to aristocracy. Webster's definitions would not help him much.

Webster's Definition.

Democrat—(1)an adherent or advocate of democracy; opposed to aristocrat; (2) a member of the democratic party; (3) a light uncovered wagon with two or more seats.

Republican—(1) one who favors or supports a republican form of government; (2) a member of the republican party.

In the absence of any more illuminative definition from Noah Webster's volume, it may prove a timely diversion to look somewhat deeper into the origins of these party names. The writer would like to know for his own enlightenment just what he means when he declares himself to be a democrat; he is willing to know the worst about himself although up to now, the knowledge that a democrat is a member of the democratic party has sufficed.

At the start of this republic, one finds democrats and republicans, so-called, working together as one party. Their object was to defeat the faction of which Alexander Hamilton was a conspicuous member, the federalists, who believed in a strongly centralized government, and who not only would have conferred little power upon the states, but would have restricted suffrage in such a way as to bar the great body of voters.

Jefferson and Madison, opposing the centralized government of Hamilton, yet believing the republic should be something more than a loosely-bound group of smaller state republics, headed the anti-federalist party, and their faction was given the name of republicans.

That was in 1792, when France was passing through revolutionary throes and the First Republic had come into being. Ardent sympathizers of the French people formed in this country what were called "democratic clubs," which advocated extremes of liberty for the individual pretty much the same as the French were then trying to enjoy. The word democratic is coined of two Greek words, meanings "people" and "strength," and the French used it as opposed to aristocratic, which comes of Greek words meaning "best" and "strength."

These early democrats were not altogether in accord with the republicans of that day, but they joined forces with them in order to encompass the downfall of the federalists. The combined party is known by most historians as democratic-republican, though the tenets of its faith are those generally accepted today as being the fundamental principles of the democratic party. The republican party of today cannot claim such ancient and honorable lineage, for although the name republican was used almost from the beginning of the republic, the present organization dates back to 1854.

There was also, at one time, a "national republican" party, founded in 1829, and absorbed five years later into the new whig party; it was never a great factor.

When the whig party broke up in 1850 its southern members became democrats and its northern adherents joined the know-nothing and free soil parties. In 1854, a number of opponents of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, a slavery controversy measure, met at Ripon, Wisconsin, and threatened to form a new party if the bill was passed and signed. The threat materialized, and the name of republicans was adopted. The free soil party joined the new faction almost solidly and it immediately began that accession of strength in the western states that culminated in 1860 in the nomination and election of Lincoln.

The initial doctrine of the democratic party was that of state's rights, and adherence to that doctrine is considered, above all else, the distinguishing characteristic of the party today. Next in importance, probably, is the tariff question, though that was not an issue when the party came into being. The question of state's rights has not troubled the republican party greatly since the civil war, but its members are supposed to be more federalistic than the democrats. On the tariff, on the question of bi-metalism, on "imperialism" and the many other issues that has figured in one campaign or another, the parties have been diametrically opposite in their platforms.

Lines Raggedly Drawn.

So far as beliefs and principles are concerned, however, party lines are very raggedly drawn. There are men high in democratic councils whose belief in state's rights is greatly modified; there are republicans who oppose protective tariff rates, and democrats who favor them. There were a few republicans who were for free silver coinage, and a good many democrats who stuck to the gold standard. And there are lots of voters in both parties to whom party fealty is a habit rather than an expression of beliefs or principles.

Whatever the past may have meant in the faith or the methods of the two parties, the best definition today is that given by Webster, that republicans and democrats are members, respectively, of the republican and democratic parties. Statesmanship has suffered some, since Jefferson's day, when you have to look in the dictionary for your politics.

NEW DEVICE REGULATES THE HEAT ON COOK STOVES

Housewives everywhere have for years desired some means of heat regulation for their cook stoves. Poor quality of heat has been responsible for many burned dishes and countless quantities of food underdone as it leaves the oven.

Noble-Little Hardware company, during the past week demonstrated for the women of this city that cooking heat can be regulated and that food can be properly prepared with a minimum amount of effort.

Charles Loeffler, a special demonstrator spent three days in Wichita Falls showing the features of the Lorain Oven Heat Regulator, which he says, promises to revolutionize all cookery. From fireside to the coal range was the first forward step in cooking. Then came the modern gas stove, an even more wonderful achievement. Now comes the final improvement that women have longed for.

He explains as follows:

It is a device that will bake, cook and boil and stew all at the same time, with the one gas, and without any need of watching on the part of the housewife.

By eliminating guess-work from cooking and baking, this device renders a service that every women using gas will be eager to get. Most of them realize that one thing is missing in the best recipe. That missing feature is measured heat.

The Lorain regulator solves this difficulty. This and other modern inventions like kitchen cabinet, the electric vacuum cleaner, power washing machine and sewing machines are making life more comfortable for the housewife. They permit her to devote more of her time to social life, mental improvement and all of the latest problems that are becoming of interest to women.

Women are no longer the slaves of the household, kitchen drudges, working from morning till night. Invention has taken the sordidness from kitchen, and household necessary duties and the arduous features are now lightened and eagerly awaited by the housewife.

The matter of heat regulation for the gas cooking stove is one of the foremost of these labor-saving devices and deserves credit.

TWO LETTERS THAT TELL THEIR OWN STORIES

From a Prominent Texas Business Man

Mr. John H. Kirby, of Houston, Texas, President of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, a native of this state and an old-fashioned Democrat, who has been active in party matters more than thirty years, has acted as Chairman of State Conventions and as Delegate to National Conventions and has always contributed to the Democratic campaign funds, is not going to vote the Democratic ticket this year.

Mr. Kirby says:

1. I cannot conceive of the people showing future confidence in my party when for eight years we have constantly increased their taxes and reduced their liberties.

2. I believe in a government of laws under a written constitution and not in a government of bureaus and commissions with a constant multiplication of tax eaters.

3. I cannot subscribe to the monstrous idea that this government owes a higher duty to the people of other nations than it owes to the citizens. I believe in a nationalism which places America first and not in an internationalism which would require us to expend our taxes or sacrifice the lives of our sons in fighting wars which do not involve the honor of our country of the welfare of our people. Believing this, I am unalterably opposed to the Covenant of the League of Nations as brought back by the President.

4. The Democratic Party is honeycombed with soialism. Its continuance in power will imperil the Republic. There cannot be any compromise between the right of individuals as set up in the bill if rights under our constitution and the sophistry of socialism, however plausibly presented.

5. The success of socialism means the death of the Republic. The God of nations has set no angel of the resurrection to roll away the stone from the sepulchre of liberty. For the rights of freedom once crucified upon the cross of socialism there will be no Easter morn.

(Signed) JOHN H. KIRBY.

From a Prominent Texas Farmer

FARMERS, PROTECT YOURSELVES!

In 1907 when the panic was on and the bankers of the South were in imminent peril the Southern cotton grower dumped his cotton upon the market at whatever price he could get and relieved the money stringency.

In 1914 when the Democratic Party again refused to come to the assistance, he relieved the panic of the country by throwing his cotton on the market at an average of seven cents a pound when in ninety days it was selling for ninety cents a pound.

In 1918 when his cotton had reached thiry-five cents a pound, and the first time in history of the cotton growing states when they hoped to come into their own by a remunerative price for their cotton, Mr. Wilson, in October of that year,said it might be necessary to fix the price of cotton; it was too high. The result was that the next day the farmers suffered a decline of $10.00 a bale for his cotton. * * *

Still more damnable, Barney Baruch, a New York cotton gambler, was made chairman of the War Trade Board and also dominated the War Industries Board. Restrictions and embragoes were placed on the shipments of cotton, Baruch taking advantage of these conditions. The War Trade Board and the War Industries Board beat down the price of cotton $59.50 per bale, and today, while we are staring bankruptcy in the face, the Federal Reserve Board and the Party whose collar we have always worn have deserted us and left us the prey of England's commercial greed and piracy.

In all justice it is now time that the farmer should demand his industrial emancipation and with that high regard and love for his family, whose children are today going barefooted to school and whose wives are tired from daily toil in the fields, serve notice on the Democratic Administration that unless that relief that they can give us comes immediately, we will withhold our support from the Democratic nominee and throw our vote solidly to the man and party who has promised us his co-operation in our endeavors to secure a fair price for our commodity.

PLEDGE NOT BINDING

The farmers of the South have too long voted without regard to their own interests, and through the dictation of office-holding politicians. The farmers of Texas are not bound by any previous primary nomination for they were disfranchised by the Texas oligarchy which refused their pleading to be permitted to participate in a primary election to select their delegates to the Democratic Convention at SanFrancisco. If the producers in this country will have the same courage and patriotism to stand by their rights that they have evinced in sending their boys to the war and in going into debt to purchase the bonds that this war might be continued, and cast their votes according there will come an era of prosperity to the Southern states that will mark a new and better day agriculturally and industrially.

Personally, I have declared that I am going to cast my vote for what I believe is in the interest of the toilers of this country. (Signed) GUS H. ("Farmer") SHAW, Texarkana, Texas.

TEXAS-A. & M. SCRAP IS EXPECTED TO DRAW 15,000 FOOTBALL FANS

Turkey Day In Austin Will See Immense Gathering Of Pigskin Followers.

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS, Nov. 1.—Requests for reservations of seats at the A. & M.-Texas University game at Austin Thanksgiving are coming into the office of the department of athletic training at A. & M. every day and indications are such that James Sullivan, business manager, has already estimated the crowd that will see the game at 15,000.

He says that arrangements are being made to accommodate everybody, that the seating capacity of the grandstands at Austin will be increased, and every seat at the field will be marked and sold according to number for the purpose of assuring everyone who paid the price of admittance a seat.

Mr. Sullivan was in Austin last week and brought back to College Station reservations for seats sufficient to accommodate all who desire to see the game. However, he is not going to have any surplus, as he will return to Austin all tickets that remain unsold on the day that the team leaves College Station. Therefore, all those who intend to see the game must purchase within the specified time.

Since there are many different interests to be considered in the distribution of the tickets for the Thanksgiving game efforts are being made to make arrangements satisfactory to everybody. A. & M. and the University will divide all the seats equally, the division being the 50-yard line, the north half being the A. & M. section and the south half the University section. All tickets in the University section will be issued from Austin.

Reservations for box and reserved seat tickets in the A. & M. section will be received by James Sullivan, business manager of athletics at College Station, Texas, beginning Monday, November 8, 1920, at the price of $3 for box seats and $2 and $2.50 for reserved seats.

Reservations will be accepted by James Sullivan, business manager of athletics, at College Station, through the mail only, and must be accompanied by certified check or postoffice money order or cash, in the amount sufficient to cover the number and kind of seats wanted. Reservation for seats will be filled in the order in which they are received. The management reserves the right to refuse to issue more than four tickets under the covered stands on the west side of the field to any one person. A larger number may be purchased in the A. & M. section at the end of the field.

BOXING TEACHERS WANTED AS WELL AS MITTS IN CHI.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Boxing in public schools was advocated here today by Mrs. Clara W. Creedon, principal of the Haven public grammar school. Several days ago school officials registered approval of Miss Alice M. Hogge's theory that school boys should be allowed to fight out their troubles with each other. She declared she had been practicing this theory for some time.

Mrs. Creedon proposes to go Miss Hogge one better, she said.

"The school board ought to furnish boxing teachers as well as gloves to pupils," she said. "If I could get the services of a boxing teacher I would send in a requisition for a set of gloves at once."

Mrs. Creedon heartily approves Miss Hogge's theory that school boys should fight out their troubles with each other.

BOXING TO BE ENCOURAGED IN ALL CHICAGO SCHOOLS

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Plans to put a set of boxing gloves in every Chicago school for the use of pupils in settling their disputes are being made by George B. Arnold, chairman of the finance committee of the board of education.

Mr. Arnold announced his plan today in answer to critics of Miss Alice M. Hogge, principal of the Webster school, who refereed a bout between two of her pupils. He said that as far a she was concerned, the efforts of attorneys for Mrs. Rose Selon to have Miss Hogge discharged because she permitted the battle would prove of no avail. Mrs. Selon's son Abe was defeated in the scrap by Salvatore Sortino.

"Boxing in the schools ought to be encouraged," said Mr. Arnold.

ONLY MOST SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL SKILL CAN SAVE RED JOSEFSON

"Red" Josefson, Spudder right fielder, is lying at death's door, according to a letter received here today from his sister, and only the most scientific medical skill can pull him through. X-ray pictures recently taken revealed an abscess of the liver and his temperature has been hovering way above the 100 mark for the past week. He is at present lying in the Allegheny General hospital.

"Red" left Wichita Falls for his home in Pittsburgh, Pa., during the world series and was not feeling well at the time, though he did not know what the matter was.

RICKETTS LEADING IN NATIONAL POOL TOURNAMENT

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The last week in the national pocket billard championship tourney began today with William D. Ricketts of Flint, Mich., in the leads. Ricketts has won six games and lost none. Negro "Hobo" Owns Stocks Reported as Valued at $900,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A negro croesus came out of the west today riding a freight car. His legs were surrounded by $100,000 in stocks bound to him by cloth and his pockets held $250 in cash and an impressive bankbook.

When removed from his crude traveling berth and taken to court on a disorderly conduct charge, he described himself as a Gurley Green of Chicago, and said he expected to be a millionaire soon, telling the judge his stockholdings totalled $900,000.

Asked why he did not travel in better style, as befitted a person of wealth, he explained "there's more fun in riding freights."

There Are a Lot of Goliaths This Season — By Wood Cowan

NOTRE DAME AND PENN STATE HAVE CALL ON ALL OTHER ELEVENS

Indiana Squad Draws Praise From Football Critics All Over Country.

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—If Notre Dame and Penn State could be brought together, a national football championship would not be mythical. With the season more than half over, these two mighty elevens look by far the best roaming the gridiron.

Many think a post season game between the pair unnecessary, granting the westerners the decision by a big margin. After seeing Notre Dame wallop the army Saturday, the best critics of the east are raving about the Indiana eleven. Due to the good fortune of having an unusually large number of intersectional games, the east has seen the best of the south and middle west, and Notre Dame looks to be the class of them all. Not only are those westerners being lauded to the skies in the east, but four of the South Bend stars are being nominated for all-American honors.

George Gipp, the sensational half back who alone gained 236 yards, looks to be the best seen in the east since the days of the great Mahan. He is sure of one place on the mythical eleven.

Giley and Anderson are the best ends to appear in the east and Frank Coughlin, captain of the eleven, looks to be sure of one tackle position. With the exception of the elimination of Syracuse through one of the most surprising reversals of the season, the complexion of the eastern race remains unchanged.

Penn State, Pittsburg, Harvard and Cornell remain undefeated among the most prominent contenders.

Chicago dropped out of the western conference race by losing to Ohio. The honors among the Big Ten now lie between Ohio state and Illinois.

George town leads the pack in the south since Centre was defeated by Georgia Tech.

OLYMPIC COMMITTEE UNABLE TO ACCORD BETTER TREATMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The American Olympic committee, in a preliminary statement replying to complaints by some members of the Olympic games athletes regarding accommodation to and from Antwerp on the transport Princess Matoika, today said that unavoidable circumstances made impossible better treatment of the athletes. A more complete report of the committee will be made on December 4.

Financial handicaps and the sudden shift from the expected use of the transport Northern Pacific were given as factors in the unsatisfactory treatment.

"While, in the opinion of the army and navy officers who are members of the committee," the statement said, "the conditions alike as to food and quarters were at least equal to those afforded our soldiers and sailors during the war, they were not what were expected by the committee and were not desirable for highly trained athletes fresh from their try-outs and final contests."

Conditions were better in Belgium, the committee said.

HARDING MUCH CONCERNED OVER SENATE CONTEST

TURNS HIS ATTENTION TO FIGHT FOR CONTROL OF THAT BRANCH OF CONGRESS.

CENTER ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORTS ON WEAK SPOTS

Republican Nominee Will Receive Returns At His Newspaper Office In Marion.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

MARION, OHIO, Nov. 1.—Confident of his own state, Senator Warren G. Harding turned to assist in the election of a republican senate in the final hours of the campaign today.

Party leaders are centering eleventh hour efforts on the weak spots in the senatorial campaign, determined not only to send Harding to the White House but to give him a good working majority in the senate. They believe the house will go republican by a liberal margin. Democrats however, are putting up a stubborn fight in several senatorial contests.

Senator Harding planned to put in most of the final day before election at his office, next door to his own home. Many visitors are arriving in Marion to be present election night. Plans are made for bonfires, unlimited noise and a general celebration in event of the senator's election. The high wooden pillars of the "court of honor" that has lined Mount Vernon avenue during the campaign are likely to provide kindling for a big fire in front of Senator Harding's house.

Senator Harding will receive the election returns tomorrow night from special press wires which have been run into the newspaper building at the rear of the Christian Home, where the Harding offices are located.

Senator Harding made public a telegram sent to all republican candidates for the senate explaining why he hoped they would be elected by decisive margins.

"If the people expect to call the republican party back to power," he said, "they must make decisive their choice of those who will aid in carrying republican promise into republican performance."

Harding once more defined the issues of the campaign as he sees them in a statement made public today.

The League of Nations issue was framed by the democrats who have made it a question of "shall we enter the Paris League of Nations, assuming, among other obligations, the obligations of Article 10?" Harding said.

The answer of the democratic party to this question is "Yes" and the answer of the republican is "No," Harding asserted.

"Governor Cox, hearing this answer, has tried to change the issue and make it hinge on what we intend to do about a League of Nations."

"I have told them I would do my best to unite America behind a plan for an association of nations which we may join with safety but without selling our birthright for a mess of military pottage. I have said from the first in this campaign that I would consult the senate and consult the people. I want to consult America first and take a course which will unite America and make it possible to join a world fraternity of nations rather than a course which will divide America and make it impossible for us to do anything. A democratic victory means a continued deadlock in the senate, which has been so fruitless and would be fruitless forever."

ELECT A PRESIDENT IN ISLAND OF CUBA

Regarded As Most Bitter Campaign In Political History Of Country.

HAVANA, Nov. 1.—Cuba voted today for a new president and the outcome was awaited with apprehension. The end of the campaign, regarded as the most bitter since the island gained the right to govern its own affairs, found only party lines broken with a right-about shift in leadership.

Platform issues apparently were forgotten in the fight for control of the government by Jose Miguel Gomez, liberal nominee, and Dr. Alfred Zayas, candidate of the old conservative or coalition party. Gomez is a former president of Cuba and Zayas served under him as vice-president. Vice-presidential candidates were Miguel Arango, liberal, and Francisco Carrillo, coalition.

Zayas, founder of the liberal faction, broke away from it this year and parted company with Gomez. Backed by the Menocal administration, his reversal of political allegiance would be best understood in the United States, for example, by the spectacle of a republican national convention nominating as its candidate for president a man named by the democrats in a previous campaign.

Soldiers were on duty in all the provinces when the first voters reached the polls.

His frankness aroused the sympathy of several attorneys and two of them immediately consented to take his case and soon the defendant announced ready and work was begun in the selection of a jury.

The defendant is charged with assault with intent to murder and assault with intent to rob.

QUADRIENNIAL POLITICAL GAME REACHES "SHOW DOWN" STAGE IN MIDWEST SECTION OF THE U. S.

By J. F. BEAMAN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The quadriennial political poker game reached the "show-down" stage in the midwest today.

Party leaders and campaign managers shied additional claims of success into the "pot" and declared that they are ready to have their hands "called" by the voters tomorrow.

Republican national committee headquarters here claimed at least 340 electoral votes for Senator Harding. Victor Heintz, regional chairman, predicted a political landslide to the republican side. He confidently expects the election of a republican senate and congress and a majority of state tickets to be swung with the presidential ticket.

Frank C. Doremus, regional chairman of the democratic national committee, made equally sweeping claims today.

"The Des Moines speech of Senator Harding started a drift which has now reached a flood carrying with it the national, senatorial, congressional and state tickets by large majorities," Doremus said. "We are very confident of success."

Major party leaders, despite their confidence, admitted worries over weather, women and independents.

Claim Farmer Vote.

With the farmer vote claimed by all political parties, weather cut the biggest election figure in the middle west. Indications today were that conditions generally would permit the country to vote to reach the polls early. With the exception of Colorado and a few districts, roads were reported in good condition and rains and snow were looked for in few spots tomorrow.

Efforts today were being concentrated on getting out an early vote. With the exceptionally large number of tickets entered in Illinois and surrounding states, election officials feared jams tomorrow. Chicago officials calculated many would not be able to cast ballots within the time limits even if a constant stream was kept up, in Chicago and other large cities.

Midwest senate and congressional fights were interest-making, particularly in Indiana, with Thomas Taggart, democrat, and James Watson, republican—national leaders of their parties—fussing over a senate seat. In Wisconsin a similar squabble was offered with Senator Irvine Lenroot, republican, seeking re-election against the forces of Senator Lafollette backing James Thompson, independent. Senator Cummins, republican, was having the fight of his life" in Iowa, meeting opposition from farmers and labor because of the railroad law. Missouri, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Arizona and Colorado have close senate scraps.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN ENTERS FINAL STAGE

ever made in Texas by the republican party, as well as the campaign by the American party, have served to render the national election in Texas tomorrow something more than the perfunctory affair it has been for years past. Heretofore approximately one-fourth of the eligible voters have gone to the polls at national election time virtually only to ratify actions previously taken by democratic primaries. While it was considered possible taht the intensive republican and American party campaigns might result in close contests in some congressional districts and local elections, there was no doubt today that Texas would remain in the "solid south," and Pat M. Neff of Waco be elected governor over his four opponents on the republican, republican black and tan, American party and socialist tickets.

NEW YORK VOTE EXPECTED TO BE RECORD BREAKER

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The New York state political campaign closed today with the opposing leaders and workers reiterating confidence in victory.

Political managers declared the vote would be the largest ever recorded. Party leaders estimated today there are 3,468,000 eligible voters. Of these, they said, 1,500,000 are women.

Governor Smith, democratic candidate for re-election, expected to remain at his home here today and his opponent, Nathan L. Miller, was back at his home in Syracuse. Lieptenant-Governor Harry C. Walker, democratic candidate for United States senator, planned to end his campaign with a speech in Buffalo, while his opponent, United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, remained at his home in Genesee.

Local contests are keen in several sections with the leading fight conducted by the socialists for re-election of the five ousted members of the assembly.

AVALANCHE OF POLITICAL ARGUMENTS FOR OHIO

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Nov. 1.—Ohio voters today were turning to the speculative and trying to pick the winners in tomorrow's elections in which one of two natives of the Buckeye state—Senator Harding of Marion or Governor Cox of Dayton—will be elected president. Political speeches were few, the only one of importance being that of Governor Cox at Toledo tonight. Senator Harding was scheduled to remain in Marion.

During the campaign, which practically closed last Saturday, Ohioans have received a literal avalanche of political arguments. With Senator Harding conducting many "front porch" meetings at Marion and Governor Cox delivering fifty-six speeches on his stumping tour of the state, there has been no lack of stimulus and never before has there been so much interest and stir over politics.

CONGRESSIONAL CONTESTS ATTRACTING ATTENTION

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 1.—Contests in half a dozen scattered congressional districts where the outcome is said to be in doubt continued today to stimulate interest among southern voters in tomorrow's election.

While democratic leaders in the various states expressed confidence that there would be no break in the "solid south," the republicans who have conducted an unusually vigorous campaign said they expected to make an unprecedented showing and predicted that the republican nominees in several congressional districts would be elected.

The republicans have waged a fight to capture seats in the lower house of congress with particular vigor in the third Louisiana district, the third district of Arkansas, the seventh Alabama district and in the second and ninth districts in Virginia.

Democrats claim Governor Cox will carry Tennessee by a forty thousand majority. Although republican leaders have not been claiming the state for Senator Harding, they have been predicting victory for their gubernatorial nominee.

Normal democratic majorities were claimed today for all of the party's candidates in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Mississippi.

"PEOPLE WILL GET WHAT THEY THINK THEY WANT"

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 1.—If a man may sleep peacefully while the nation's telegraph wires are clamorously chattering results of the election in which he is a candidate for election to highest office, Eugene V. Debs, socialist, will sleep tomorrow night, it was indicated today at the federal prison here where Debs is a prisoner.

No special arrangements have been made to get election returns to Debs, although Warden Zerbst said he would have such as are available transmitted to the prisoner.

"I shall not be disappointed," Debs declared in his final campaign statement. "The people will get what they think they want."

GOVERNOR WILL VOTE AND THEN MOTOR TO FARM

DAYTON, Nov. 1.—Governor and Mrs. J. M. Cox will vote tomorrow morning in a polling place which is a combination barbershop, printing shop, confectionery store and tobacco store. It is in Carrmonte, a suburb of Dayton, and about a mile from the Cox home, Trails End.

During election day the governor expects to motor to his farm near Jacksonburg, the scene of his birth and then return to his newspaper office at night to receive election returns.

ELECTION DAY COMES ON BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSY

MARION, OHIO, Nov. 1.—Senator Warren G. Harding will celebrate his 55th birthday anniversary tomorrow by voting for himself as president and possibly playing a round of golf.

Mrs. Harding will cast her first presidential vote for her husband tomorrow also. The Harding's will vote in a small brick garage two miles from their home.

PROHIBITION CANDIDATE IS NOT GOING TO BE FOOLED

CINCINNATI, OHIO, Nov. 1.—Rev. V. Watkins of Cincinnati, prohibition candidate for president, issued this pre-election statement today: "I will not be elected president."

FIUME BLOCKADE IS HAVING EFFECT.

TRIEST, Oct. 31.—Premier Giolitti's blockade is having a serious effect on Fiume, which is now without water and light, due to lack of coal.

OHIO BETTING ODDS FAVOR OF HARDING

Eight To One Said To Be Offered On General Result And Four To One On Ohio.

By HAROLD D. JACOBS.
United Press Staff Correspondents.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Nov. 1. — The human element is expected to rise above the difficulties imposed by nature in Ohio during tomorrow's elections.

The weather forecast for tomorrow in Ohio is unsettled and colder, probably rain turning to snow, but pride in the fact that the state will be the home of the next president is accepted by election authorities as certain to bring an unusually large percentage of the registered vote.

The total registration for the state is estimated at nearly 2,000,000. About 40 per cent are women.

The prevailing betting ods here are 8 to 1 that Senator Harding will be elected and 4 to 1 that he will carry Ohio by at least 150,000. Very few bets have been made.

Particularly bitter fights have been made for the governorship and United States senatorship. Harry L. Davis, republican, and Vic Donahey, democrat, are the gubernatorial aspirants. Frank B. Willis, republican, and F. A. Julian, democrat, are seeking the senatorship.

DISCUSSION OF PAVING PROGRAM IS EXPECTED TO FEATURE COUNCIL MEETING

A discussion of the paving program is expected to feature tonight's regular meeting of the city council. Although Mayor Cline is in Dallas, it is probable that the regular meeting will be held, with Acting Mayor Walter Curlee presiding.

The council anticipates several requests for the paving of streets additional to those included in the program to be presented by Curlee. Under the present plans it is hoped to relieve Tenth street of at least two-thirds of its traffic burden through the paving of Eighth, Ninth, Eleventh and Fifteenth streets. If this work is not done soon, Curlee pointed out this morning, the city may be forced to spend $250,000 to repair Tenth street. The paving of Fifteenth street is more than ordinarily important also, in view of the fact that this will accommodate practically all citizens living in the southern resident district.

It is hoped that early action may be obtained in repairing the wooden block paving in the business area. The blocks will be removed wherever necessary and reset, the traction company will be asked to waterproof its track surface and the streets will then be surfaced with asphalt. As long as leakage around the street car tracks continues it will be practically impossible to prevent the wooden blocks from swelling.

Curlee favors for the general paving program a concrete base for the city's streets, with a heavy bitulithic surface.

"Wherever the solid concrete paving becomes broken," he said this morning, "a 'sore' forms that never heals."

The street commissioner also expects to recommend to the council tonight that the city purchase a new and up-to-date street sweeper at a probable cost of $10,000. Such a sweeper is badly needed at the present time.

GOREE YOUTH IS SHOT BY RELATIVE WITH GUN SUPPOSEDLY UNLOADED

FT. WORTH, Nov. 1.—Everett Bartlett, 20, living near Goree, was shot through the jugular vein late Sunday by a relative with a supposedly unloaded gun. The latter was pointed playfully at young Bartlett and the trigger pulled in fun. The accident occurred in the relative's home. Bartlett may not recover.

EIGHT ARE ARRESTED IN RAID ON A CRAP GAME

A raid on a box car standing in the M. K. & T. freight yards Sunday night resulted in the arrest of eight men who were enjoying a game of "African marbles." The raid was made by Detectives Johnson and Bullard of the city detective force and took place shortly before midnight. The entire lot plead guilty to the charge of gaming and paid fines of $15 each.

Incidentally the $120 obtained from this source materially swelled the day's receipts for the city police court and started the month of November off auspiciously. Captain Ehlers reported that he had received over $300 in fines and bonds at noon Monday, which is an exceptionally large amount for a single day.

While all of the nine subtreasuries are to be closed under the law, there was no indication today when discontinuance of the others would be ordered. They are located at New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, St. Louis, San Francisco and Cincinnati.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks—Grain and Provisions—Cotton—Livestock

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The cotton market opened at an advance of 37 to 57 points in response to unexpectedly firm cables and unfavorable weather in the south. Liverpool and Wall street brokers were good buyers and the firmer showing of Liverpool evidently increased a disposition to cover short contracts in advance of the holiday tomorrow. The New Orleans market was closed in observance of all saints day but New Orleans was a seller here while there was also scattering selling for southern account. These offerings caused some irregularity after the call, but they were readily absorbed with December contracts, selling up to 21.50 and January to 20.95 during the early trading, or about 58 to 67 points net higher on the more active positions.

The forenoon advance extended to 21.75 for December and 21.19 for January with active months generally showing net advances of 80 to 90 points. There was a little scattered southern selling but very little pressure from that source, while Liverpool and Wall street were good buyers on the advance. The demand tapered off during the middle of the day, however, and trading was very quiet during the early afternoon with prices showing reactions of 20 to 25 points from the best. Liverpool trade advices attributed the advance there to small hedge selling and cattered buying on prospects for a renewal of trade with Russia.

Trading was very quiet during the middle of the afternoon and no fresh feature developed with December ruling around 21.47 and January 21.00, or down about 54 to 72 points net higher.

The cotton market closed steady.

STOCK MARKET.

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Although the federal reserve and clearing house statements of last Saturday indicated a strengthening of local monetary conditions, prices again were irregular and uncertain at the opening of today's stock market. Rails, steels, coppers and equipments were moderately higher under lead of Seaboard Airline, preferred, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway, Bethelehem, Middle States and General Electric, but this was balanced by the heavyiness of Royal Dutch, Sumatra Tobacco, Beet Sugar, Sears & Roebuck and several other specialties.

The tone of the market became more uncertain during the quiet mid-session. United fruit increased its loss to 5 points and Crucible steel and United States rubber remained under pressure but Mexican and Dutch oils registered further advances with transcontinental rails.

Prices attained their highest average of the session in the final hour, a division of a 100 per cent stock dividend for United Fruit exerting sentiment influence. The closing was strong.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Wheat prices moved upward at the outset, but a material decline took place later. Attention of traders continued to center largely on the chances of success of the farmers holding movement and on advices regarding the Argentine crop outlook. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 2½c higher, with December $2.09 to $2.10 and March $2.04 to $2.04½, were followed by a setback all around to well below Saturday's finish.

Corn was swayed by the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to ½c up, including December at 85 to 85½c, the market underwent a moderate general sag.

Oats started unchanged to half cent higher, December 55½ to 55¾c, and then reacted.

Higher quotations on hogs lifted provisions.

No great desire to press the selling side was shown and the market rallied in the last hour. Export clearances were large. The close was firm, one-half to 1½c net higher, with December, $2.09½ to $2.10 and March $2.03 to $2.02½.

Smallness of country offerings tended later to check weakness in the corn market somewhat. The close was easy, five-eights cent net lower to one-eighth cent advance, with December 84⅞ to 84½c.

REASSURANCES GIVEN TO JAPANESE AMBASSADOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Reassurances have been given to the Japanese ambassador by the state department, it was revealed in a formal statement today, that no anti-Japanese legislation in the state of California will be acceptable to the country at large that does not accord with existing and applicable provisions of law and with the national instinct of justice.

The department's statement was prepared by Under-Secretary Davis, it was explained in response to inquiries. It follows:

"The movement in California to recast the state laws affecting alien land tenure has been receiving since its inception the close and interested attention of the department of state. The relations of certain treaty provisions to the proposed measure is being discussed clearly and ably in California and will doubtless prove an element in the state's decision as to the adoption or rejection of the proposed measure. In the meantime, the department has had numerous discussions of the most friendly and candid nature with the ambassador of Japan and it is believed he thoroughly realizes, as we have sought to make clear, that no outcome of the California movement will be acceptable to the country at large that does not accord with existing and applicable provisions of law and, what is equally important, with the national instinct of justice."

No Political Significance.

The statement was the first issued on the California land question which long has been a matter of conversation between the department and the Japanese ambassador to Washington. The fact that it was issued on the eve of the election in California at which the proposed new state law is to be voted upon was declared by state department officials to have no political significance.

The impression was given that the chief purpose was to convey an assurance to the people of Japan that the American government would see to it that their legitimate interests would be safeguarded and would continue to have the consideration to which they were entitled.

The department's statement was made public in agreement with the Japanese government, it having been the understanding from the start of the conversations with the Japanese ambassador that neither government would issue any statement regarding the matter without the consent of the other.

HEAVYWEIGHT RIVALS STAGE FIRST BATTLE IN OPEN WITH CLUBS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Jack Dempsey and his rival for the world's championship, Georges Carpentier, have had their first battle.

It wasn't in a ring, and they didn't wear gloves. They went at it barefisted in a field with clubs. Neither one is a star golf player, but their appearance on the links of a country club yesterday drew almost as big a gallery as Ted Ray or Harry Vardon could have brought out.

It was a no-decision battle. They didn't keep score, not having sufficient paper on hand. Golf critics admitted that as golf players they were both expert fighters. Some hope was extended for their future. Dempsey walloped an even dozen balls into a faraway woods and Carpentier lost ten.

The dialogue was all a matter of sign language. However, Dempsey knew enough to say "bon" when George made a terrific shot and Carpentier gave him back 'Zat ees fine." The champion rooted up the turf like a steam shovel.

Excursion to the Rio Grande Valley

We will run our next excursion to the Valley on Sunday, November 7, and return Friday, November 12.

If interested in seeing this wonderful valley, where they grow three crops a year on the same ground, and where the flowers bloom in winter the same as in the month of May, we will be glad to meet you and talk the matter over.

We go in pullman cars and serve your meals on the train. We go by way of Galveston and spend most of the day Monday on the beach and give you a boat ride on the gulf; will arrive in the Rio Grande Valley Tuesday morning. There the party will take autos for inspection of the entire country.

You will be shown the richest farm lands in the world; lands that produce oranges, grape fruits and every other variety of citrus fruit, one to two bales of cotton per acre, 100 to 125 bushels of corn to the acre, 300 to 500 bushels of potatoes per acre, $1,000 to $1,500 an acre in tomatoes, cabbage, onions, etc.

This rich alluvial land is made to produce these tremendous crops by irrigation from the Rio Grande river and semi-tropical climate, a climate that excells southern California, cooler in summer and warmer in winter. We will spend three days in looking this valley over.

We will give a very low rate for the round trip. If interested, see me before the above date.

BOY SCOUT LOCAL NEWS

Plan Training School.

Chief Scout Executive H. E. Taylor has announced that a scout master's training school is to be opened for the benefit of those who wish to equip themselves to become scout masters, assistants, or to become connected with the scout work in any other capacity.

The first lesson will be given November 1 and will run for 12 weeks thereafter, one lesson being given every two weeks. Instructors will be local men who are versed in the subjects which are to be taught and all of the work will be under the direct supervision of Mr. Taylor. Fire Chief McClure and Drs. Lee, Parker and Pattillo have been secured to give instruction in firemanship, first aid, public health and other subjects in which these men are involved. It is also expected to have the complete list of teachers ready by the time the first class meets.

As planned now by Mr. Taylor, lesson No. 1 will take up instruction in the scout council, scout executive work, troop committee work and the duties of the court of honor. Lesson No. 2 will include the work of the scout master and the object of the scout movement. In each succeeding lesson thereafter lectures and instruction will be given on the camping programs for scouts, what scouts really are, model troop meetings, the relation of scoutmasters to his patrol leaders and scout hike methods.

The course is free to everyone and Mr. Taylor urges that any men of the city who have extra time to spare and will give some of it to the scout movement join this school and receive the beneficial training which it affords. Further information can be secured from Mr. Taylor or by calling phone number 3778.

Pass Examinations.

The following boys have successfully passed examinations during the past week: Harry Cohen, first aid and thrift; Peyton Thurman, first aid and thrift; J. L. Kellar, service, tracking and knife work; Clyde Hick, service, tracking and knife work; Orin Daniel, all second class tests; Porter Bristle, signaling, first aid, boxing the compass and thrift.

Badges Are Awarded.

At a meeting of the court of honor last Friday night the following badges were awarded boys who had passed the tests successfully: Ned McDaniel, tenderfoot; Orin Daniels, second class; Hilliard Carey, second class; Will McClure, star scout. McClure isthe highest ranking scout in Wichita Falls at the present time. It is thought that he will have attained the rank of eagle scout by the time the summer camping period arrives again.

Address of Girl Scouts.

Several requests have been received at scout headquarters lately in regard to the address of the Girl Scouts of America. It is given as "Girl Scouts, National Headquarters, New York City."

A Scout Oath.

The following poem entitled "A Scout Oath" has been writen by Father Boniface, scout master of troop No. 5 at the Sacreed Heart church. It has been designed so that it may be sung to the tune of "Home Sweet Home."

We pledge our honor to do our best,
Our duty to God we will do with our rest,
To country we'll always be loyal and true,
What scout laws demand we are ready to do.

As scouts true, our neighbor, we'll honor and love,
As children of God, our Father above.
Assistance we'll give to distressed and in need,
Our motto "A good turn a day" we will heed.

To boy scouts movement we are proud to belong,
As such we will keep ourselves physically strong.
We'll keep ourselves mentally awake
And morally right our lives we will make.

To Have Big Field Day.

Announcement has been made that the scouts of this city will hold a big field day on November 27, at which time the public will be invited. The program will be made public next week. Inter-troop contests and demonstration of scout activity will make up the larger portion of the day's events.

Troop Six Wins.

The contest between troop 6 and troop 7, which has been hanging fire for over a month, has finally been settled. The missing report of troop 6 has been located and shown that that troop has won over troop 7 by a margin of 42 points. Troop 6 will receive a $10 prize and troop 7 will be awarded a $6 prize for having won second place.

November Examinations.

November examinations will be held November 25 at the First Methodist church. All scouts in the city who wish to take the exams at that time must have their names in Mr. Taylor's hands by next Friday night.

Time Is Extended.

A new ruling by the scout executive board has extended the time in which new troops being formed may be registered at the old rate of enrollment. Under the old scale a charge of $3 for 12 boys or less was made and 25c per boy in excess of 12. The new rate will be somewhat higher and will go into effect on January 1, 1921.
