Victim of Affray Seriously Cut; Order To Leave Farm Given As Reason For Near-Fatal Cutting Scrape

LEE RUSSELL, 30-year-old Cochran country farmer, is being held in jail at Morton following the filing of charges Tuesday afternoon of assault with intent to murder as an aftermath to a cutting affray which occurred Monday night at 8 o'clock at his home, one and one-half miles south of Morton.

F. L. Jones, 28, was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium yesterday morning suffering severe cuts received in the affray. His condition was reported last night by sanitarium attendants to be very grave cut in the abdomen, another across but that some hopes were held for his recovery. He received a deep the chest and several lascerations about the head and arms.

Jones, until recently, had been an employe on the Russell farm and according to a statement made by Russell, the trouble arose when Jones resented an order to leave the farm. "My wife told me to have him leave," the farmer said. "After I did so he called me out and the fight started."

Pastor Charged With Insulting His Country and Churches of America in Capital Lenten Sermon Against War

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A lenten sermon against war reacted today to bring against the pastor who delivered it the charge that he had insulted his country, the churches of America and chaplains of the army and navy.

Speaking from the pulpit of a war chaplain, with the chief of chaplains of the United States army seated in a pew just below him, the Rev. Peter Ainslie, pastor of the Christian Temple at Baltimore, delivered the sermon here yesterday. He was quoted as saying that "there is no more justification for being a chaplain in the army or navy than there is for being a chaplain in a speakeasy."

Letter Made Public

The Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, pastor of the First Congregational church, in which the sermon was delivered today made public a letter that he had written to the Baltimore pastor. In it he called attention to his own service in the World War as chaplain, and to the attendance at the meeting of Colonel Julian E. Yates, chief of army chaplains, and many members of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Dr. Pierce, who was President Coolidge's pastor, styled the utterances as "insulting your country, insulting the churches of the United States, and insulting en masse the chaplains of the army and navy."

No Statement To Make

In Baltimore, Dr. Ainslie said he had not received the letter and probably would not care to make any statement.

"What I said about war in my sermon in Washington, I have said again and again, not only in my own pulpit, but from other pulpits, he added.

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 15.—The supreme court will take submission tomorrow of the suit brought by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas to compel the state democratic executive committee to place his name on the 1930 primary ballots as a candidate for governor.

The committee has barred as candidates all persons who did not vote for the democratic presidential electoris in 1928.

In applying for a place on the ballots, Senator Love declared he had not voted for Alfred E. Smith, the democratic presidential nominee of 1928, also that he had not voted for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, democratic nominee for governor in 1924.

Attorneys for D. W. Wilcox, chairman and the state democratic executive committee, filed a motion to dismiss Senator Love's application for mandamus for want of jurisdiction.

In the event the court overrules the motion to dismiss for want of jurisdiction it will pass directly on merits of the application.

Testimony Is Under Way In Ku Klux Suit

Humorous Arguments Consume Most of Time In $150,000 Libel Suit of Dr. Evans Against Newspaper

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 15.—Introduction of testimony started today in the trial of the $150,000 libel suit of Dr. Hiram K. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, against the Austin American, but frequent and sometimes humorous arguments among counsel consumed most of the time.

Dr. Evans testified he was "horrified, and outraged and felt the different emotions of anguish, indignation and amazement" when he saw the publication which brought on the suit. The address which resulted in the alleged libel of Dr. Evans was made during the state democratic convention of 1924 by M. M. Crane of Dallas, the keynote speaker. It referred to the Klan's settlement with William Joseph Simmons, former head of the order, who demanded payment for the constitution, ritual, paraphernalia and the like.

The chief executive of the invisible empire asserted that he did not have any personal interest in the settlement and that he did not handle any of the money.

Contract Is Expected To Be Awarded Next December; Completion of Work Announced by Surveyor

THE first step toward actual work on Lubbock's proposed new $335,000 federal building was completed Tuesday when A. L. Harris county surveyor, announced that a soil and topographical survey of the building site, had been finished. The site is located on the southeast corner of the court house square.

The survey, which required several days for completion, included mapping of the site and taking soil tests together with actual photographs. The photographs were made by Arthur Brown, and two shots were taken for use by the government officials.

It has been pointed out that such procedure as soil and topographical surveys is required in all projects of similar nature by the government for use by architects in Washington in figuring costs and the amount of labor required for excavation work in foreign soil.

Information received in Lubbock from Washington states that contract for the new building probably will be let in December.

American Mining, Oil Man Arrives At El Paso After Release; Says Six States Controlled by Fanatics

(By Associated Press)

EL PASO, April 15.—J. E. Bristow, American mining and oil man who arrived in El Paso, today, after being released by bandits, said six states of Mexico are virtually under control of a powerful secret organization dominated by religious fanatics directly opposed to the existing form of government.

"This barbaric organization, dominated by leaders who are intensely ignorant of anything but the provincial lives which they know, have two policies which they express in the form of banditry and destruction of property," Mr. Bristow said.

To Harass Government

"The first is to harass the Mexican government whenever possible. The second is to interfere with development of Mexican industry and resources of foreigners, especially Americans.

"Known as 'Cristeros,' they sprang into prominence in 1926 when the Mexican government enacted stringent regulations against the Catholic church. Their organization is phenomenal in its structure. Seemingly loose and disjointed, it gains surprising results.

Johnson, when taken to the Lubbock sanitarium last night shortly before midnight, was suffering from loss of blood and intense pain caused by large gashes from a keen-bladed knife. Physicians stated that when brought in his pulse was very weak.

Started to Run

The affray occurred on 21st street in the 2500 block after Johnson and Young had met in an alley. According to the story told by the injured man as he lay on the operating table, he was on his way to visit a sick friend, Ike Smith, who lived in that neighborhood, when he met Young. Suspension Of Students Seen

University Strikers Appear Undismayed At Action Of Court; Only Fifty Attend Classes Tuesday

HARROGATE, April 15. (AP)—Apparently undismayed by court actions, striking students at Lincoln Memorial University today faced suspension as a penalty for failure to return to school work. It was said only about 50 of the 415 enrolled were attending classes.

Judge J. H. S. Morison, acting president, told the strikers he would suspend all who failed to return to classes today.

A temporary injunction obtained by a university trustee has forbidden Clay McCarroll, president of the student body, and M. G. Miller and E. Vann Diller, two discharged professors, and the instructors' wives, from aiding the strikers. McCarroll is under $1,500 bond to answer rioting charges.

John R. Neal, Knoxville attorney retained by the two professors and McCarroll, has announced he will contest both the injunction and an eviction notice ordering the professors to leave their homes on the campus.

The strikers have protested against the dismissal of faculty members and have demanded an investigation to determine why the school has not been recognized by Southern and National Educational bodies.

Nationalists and Police In Clash Around Burning Of Tram Cars In India; Armed Cars On Patrol

CALCUTTA, BENGAL, India, April 15. —(AP)—Nineteen persons were injured seriously in heavy fighting between nationalists and police around burning tram cars in the Bohowanipore Sikh quarter today. A mob, demonstrating against arrest and imprisonment of Mayor J. M. Sen Gupta, stoned a fire brigade attempting to subdue the flames.

Six European officers were among the injured, and one man named Durant was one of the 19 sent to hospitals. A European woman cycling in the district was forced to dismount and abandon her machine when she was stoned by the crowd. She received gashes. Ten Khalasis were injured.

There were reports of firing in North Calcutta. Armed police were on duty throughout the affected area, and armored cars were active. Although the disturbances were quelled somewhat, there was considerable unrest in the area with occasional rushes by the crowd.

The shells of the tram cars this afternoon still remained on the tracks in the streets, which were littered with brick bats, road metal, sheet iron and broken weapons.

The general strike continued strictly observed in the Indian quarters. Armored cars, called upon to aid in breaking up the fighting, patrolled the streets, and heavily armed police patrols were on duty at all important points.

Two Wounded

In South Calcutta a European police sergeant opened fire on the mob to save an injured fellow sergeant who was being attacked. Two members of the mob were wounded.

A European fire brigade officer's skull was fractured. The crowd attacked him and his fellow firemen, stoning them savagely. Thirteen Sikhs, two of whom were wounded, were arrested.

It was the first time in Calcutta's history that a fire brigade had been attacked. In North Calcutta students held up tram cars and cut their trolley-ropes.

CONOCO Gasoline is actually tested dozens of times in the process of refining--but it is called Triple Tested Gasoline because all of these tests converge into three main tests--for starting--acceleration--power!
These are the things that motorists want--and are entitled to get--from the gasoline they use. A gasoline may be ever so powerful--but if it is not volatile enough to start the motor quickly and give rapid acceleration in traffic--it will not satisfy today's demands. And easy starting, swift acceleration, are mere snares if they are not backed up with power for every need--economical power!
CONOCO Gasoline meets all three of these important practical tests--that's the reason so many people insist on Triple Tested--

Bean Talks On Bond Election

Need For Criminal Courts Building and New Jail Is Stressed by County Judge In Lions Club Address

County Judge Robert H. Bean yesterday was the principal speaker at the regular weekly session of the Lubbock Lions club, stressing the need in his address for a new criminal courts and jail building for the county.

Judge Bean illustrated that capacity of the present jail is 28 prisoners while during past six months the average number of prisoners has been more than 40. "This need for a new jail is not one that has come within the past few months," said Judge Bean, "but it was recommended as far back as in 1920.

Action Imperative

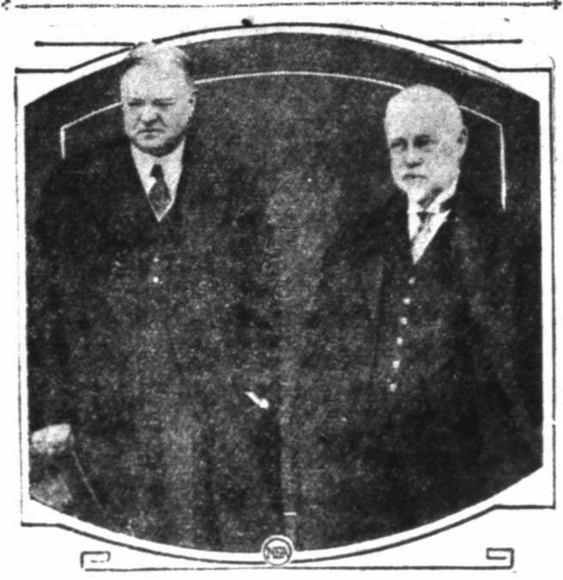

"The $250,000 bond issue to be voted on April 26 represents the very least we can do at this time in solving the problem of overcrowded jail and court house buildings. It is imperative that we make some provision for the future, at this time, as well as provide adequate facilities for handling county prisoners."

Clerad Wren also appeared before the club and made a short talk on the clean-up campaign to be conducted April 28 to May 10.

Announcement was made that the club would not meet on schedule next Tuesday but would have a joint gathering with the Kiwanis club on Thursday of the coming week for a program on Clean Up week.

Burial Plot Awaits Body

Nick Wright To Be Buried In Ground Purchased By Mother Day Before Fatal Duel At Brady Monday

BRADY, April 15. —(AP)—A burial plot which Nick Wright and his mother purchased yesterday awaited Wright's body today.

Wright was one of the victims of a duel which ended a quarrel friends said grew out of a petty domestic misunderstanding several months ago.

Wright and his mother yesterday went to the cemetery to inspect the plot they had purchased. They walked down town, and on the stairway of a downtown building met Arthur Laughlin.

Without a word both men started firing. After several shots, Laughlin ran from the stairway and took refuge behind a car on the street. Wright stopped on the other side, and they shot it out. Wright apparently was first to feel his wounds. He staggered to the rear of the car and slumped to the road. Laughlin followed, leaning heavily against the car and leaving a trail of blood. He dropped dead alongside Wright's body. Several bullets entered each man's body, and 19 shots were known to have been fired.

Laughlin was free on $7,500 bond on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Wright's brother, John.

Champion Athletics And Cubs Capture Season Openers

Macks Off On Big Start In 1930 Campaign

Lefty Grove Masters Yanks As Mates Slug Way To Impressive Win; Simmons Gets Homer to Start Season

PHILADELPHIA, April 15. (AP)—Picking up the winning habit where they left off last October, Connie Mack's Athletics started their 1930 American league campaign impressively today and to the complete satisfaction of 33,000 fans by trouncing the New York Yankees 6 to 2.

Al Simmons celebrated the last-minute signing of his contract by clouting a home run on his first turn at bat. Robert Moses Grove southpawed the metropolitan clan into an almost complete state of subjection and the A's collectively displayed every intention of going places and doing things this season. The Mackmen looked and acted the part of the world's champions they are.

But for some sloppy fielding by himself and Jimmy Foxx in the third inning, Grove might have had a shutout, in spite of a tremendous clout by Babe Ruth that was kept from going over the fence by striking the loud-speaking device in deep center. The amplifying device was silent at the time, but Ruth had plenty to say when he found his prospective round trip of the bases cut in half.

FROM TEE TO GREEN

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Sports Writer

We know Jones by his backswing and his finish. His form between these two points is history. If one could get that straight arm as shown by Jones he would elliminate many of the little worrying details of the game, the details being covered by the two important straight-arm points.

If you should have the occasion to care to see Jones in action—note how the left arm is paralleled with the club at the top of the swing and also you will find the same condition at the finish of the stroke.

That easy follow through, so typical of Jones, is also reflected in his smooth footwork. Note in (C) how he steps lightly on his toe and rolls over with ease on the right foot, taking all the weight as in (D). There is no evidence of forced action here.

In the smaller illustration we see how Jones pulls the right shoulder back to his head and the left arm will parallel itself with the shaft of the club before he starts the down swing.

Keeling Added To High Staff

San Antonio Coach Named To Succeed Del Morgan At Lubbock High School; Will Coach Backfield

Another former Austin college athlete became a member of the Lubbock high school coaching staff yesterday when Superintendent M. H. Duncan announced the selection of W. A. Keeling, assistant coach at Harlandale High school, San Antonio, to the position recently vacated by J. O. Morgan.

The present coach of the San Antonio school came to terms with local school officials yesterday following several days of negotiating. He will take up his new duties here when the Westerner football squad opens its pre-season training camp in late August.

To Coach Backfield

A teammate of both Coaches Frnka and Morgan at the Kangaroo institution, Keeling comes here in the capacity of backfield coach and basketball mentor. At Austin college he played both halfback and quarterback.

Election of Keeling to the second ranking position on the high school coaching staff completes the entire corps for the school year 1930. Henry Frnka remains as director of athletics and head coach; Keeling comes as assistant football coach and basketball mentor; Swede McMurry has been employed to handle the high school reserve squad and Mule Davis will continue to command the junior high school forces.

Three Sport Man

Keeling won four letters in football at Austin college and also won recognition in basketball and track, gaining eight letters in all. In his second year he ousted an all-T. I. A. A. quarterback and became the regular Kangaroo field general. From that time on until he graduated he did all the kicking and passing for the team. In 1926 and '27 he was voted all-Texas Conference quarterback, the latter year being captain of the club. At basketball he played regularly at forward and in track was a crack hurdler.

For the past two years he has been assistant football coach and basketball mentor at Harlendale High school, San Antonio. His football teams have been runners-up both years in the district race and his basketball quintets went to the finals in the district both seasons.

National League Champions Take First Game Of Campaign Despite St. Louis Rally In Ninth

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 15. —(AP)—The slugging Chicago Cubs, champions of the National league, pounded five St. Louis Cardinal pitchers for 15 hits and won the opening game of the season here today, 9 to 8, despite a ninth inning Cardinal rally which threatened to turn the tide. Official attendance was 14,000.

The Cub attack included six doubles and a triple. Flint Rhem, who started on the mound for the locals, was knocked out in the third inning, after he had allowed five doubles and three singles.

Parade Of Pitchers

Then followed a parade of Cardinal pitchers — Hill, Grabowski, Haid and Sherdel. The veteran Hill, who was released by the Pirates last year via the waiver route, proved the most effective, allowing only three hits and one run in five innings. He struck out four men, including Rogers Hornsby and Hack Wilson in succession in the seventh inning.

Westerners In Light Training

Lubbock Tracksters Expect Stiff Competition In District Meet Here Friday And Saturday

Anticipating keen competition in the district track and field meet here Friday and Saturday, Coach E. J. Lowrey called a halt to the strenuous training grind for the Lubbock high tracksters Tuesday afternoon and sent the Westerner forces through a light workout on the Tech practice field.

The local track squad, with a few exceptions, is in the best of condition, mentally and physically, for the annual scramble for points. A perusal of the prospective entry list indicates the Westerners will be hard pushed to retain their district cinder supremacy against the onslaught of such strong teams as Slaton, Plainview and Olton.

Lowrey Pessimistic

Coach Lowrey last night appeared pessimistic over the outlook for Lubbock in the coming district meet.

"There's not a man on our squad who appears certain to take a first place in the district. I anticipate stiff competition in all running events, especially, and if the Westerners win again, it will be done by making every available point count."

Light training will continue through the remaining two days of practice, the local track coach announced.

Preliminaries in all field events and a majority of the track events will be held Friday afternoon, according to E. Y. Freeland, director of athletics in the district. Finals will start Saturday morning. The largest list of contestants in the history of the interscholastic league organization is expected here for the two-day event.

Late Entry Of Bracey Puts 2 Stars In Race

Annual Event Next Saturday At Lawrence To Find Both Rivals At Starting Line; Leland Gains This Year

LAWRENCE, Kans., April 15. (AP) —A continuation of the sprinting duel between Cy Leland and Claude Bracey of Texas was assured today when University of Kansas officials announced the late entry of Bracey in the 100 yard dash at the eighth annual Kansas Relays here next Saturday.

Bracey from Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, was the sensation of the southwest a year ago. He was timed in 9:5 seconds at the Texas Relays and in 9:4 seconds the day following at the Southern Methodist relays, running with the wind at his back.

Leland Comes to Front

This year, Leland, representing Texas Christian University stole his thunder, defeating him four consecutive times before Bracey managed to win a race. At the Texas Relays, Leland was timed in 9:7 seconds in beating Bracey and the next day at the S. M. U. games was clocked in 9 6 seconds after being set back one yard for a false start. Bracey again was second. In both meets this season the sprinters fought the wind and in the Texas games the track was heavy from recent rain.

Camp Fire Girls Of Country Celebrate "Indian Year"

The 210,000 Camp Fire Girls will this year celebrate Indian Year as their 1930 project. The Camp Fire Girls are observing their eighteenth birthday as a national organization, and this year will be devoted to acquainting the American people with the deep debt which we owe to the Indians, the original Americans.

"Lamentably little is known of the American Indian by the people of this country," said Lester F. Scott, Executive Secretary of the Camp Fire Girls. "Our groups have for years made a study of the habits of the Indians, which study has culminated in our birthday project.

"The Indian woman," continued Mr. Scott, "utilized the idea of beauty in the kitchen hundreds of years before her twentieth century sisters discovered it. She made many of her kitchen utensils and dyed them in brilliant hues. Her baskets are world famous. She had the background of woods, prairies and deserts for her kitchen walls, completing a color scheme of unrivaled beauty.

"Incidentally, in many tribes she held a very high position. The Iroquois Indians in New York State had the first league of nations and, so far as we know, the first woman's suffrage. So highly did they regard their women that their government was distinctly a matriarchy.

"The characteristics of the Indian are admiable. He is absolutely truthful unless his white brothers have taught him to lie. He never whines. He is loyal, frank and honest. He is straightforward.

"The Indian's faculties are sharpened by listening to the voices of the woods and the winds. He understands woodcraft, the signs of the weather, the habits of plant and animal life. He glorifies health and walks erect. He is happy. The Indian woman glorifies work and elevates it to a ritual, enriching it with symbols and rites.

"We of the Camp Fire Girls' organization feel that these qualities deserve emulation by our young people, and that is why we have set aside this year as 'Indian Year.'"

One of the chief requirements for the attainment of a special birthday honor is that the girl who secures it must have a thorough knowledge of the history and culture of the tribe which inhabited the section of the country where she lives. Each Indian tribe differed in language, customs and laws. She must also make a handcraft article, using Indian symbols in its decoration. The lines and color schemes of these articles will differ widely because of the diversity in Indian symbolism. The Indians in the eastern part of the United States had a symbolism full of curves and graceful lines. Because they lived in the forest they chose their symbols from plants and the leaves of the trees. The symbolism of the Navajos and Hopi Indians, on the other hand, was angular and geometric because the rocks gave them their inspiration for color and line.

Camp Fire Girls Building Tepee and Indian Bed

In each group each girl who fulfils the requirements in Indian lore will receive a special birthday honor, which consists of the right to wear the Thunder Bird and other symbols. The Thunder Bird is chosen as a symbol because it is known to practically all Indian tribes, though used in different forms. Above it and below it are two thought symbols. The upper thought symbol is to be painted blue, the Thunder Bird red and the lower thought symbol white, making the red, white and blue, thus indicating the Indian as a citizen of the United States.

Lubbock Home Is Entered by Yeggs

Entering through the front door, key to which had been left in the lock, prowlers Tuesday afternoon ransacked the home of Dr. W. E. Cravens, 1909 Broadway, while members of the household were away.

Practically every drawer in the home was left open while contents were scattered about the rooms or hastily shoved back after a futile search.

Dr. Cravens reported last night to the Morning Avalanche that nothing had been taken from the house and that the thieves probably were looking only for money, refusing to molest any jewelry or other articles.

This marks the second daylight burglary in Lubbock within a week, thieves escaping with about $335 worth of jewelry last Friday from the home of Dr. C. J. Wagner.

Talkies in German were recently shown in Helsingfors, Finland, with some success.

Identity of New Astral Body Found By Lowell Astronomers Is Challenged

BERKELEY, Calif., April 15. (AP)—Identity of the new astral body discovered by Lowell observatory astronomers in Arizona last January as the long-sought trans-Neptunian planet, was challenged today by Director A. O. Leuschner of the University of California student observatory.

While agreeing with the discoveries that the object is beyond Neptune, Professor Leuschner declined to accept it as the ninth member of the planetary family, and further orbit computation received from Swarthmore University observatory and preliminary computations of mass just completed at the student observatory here."

May Be Asteroid

Professor Leuschner said the new sky-wanderer might be a large asteroid, a long-period planetary object, or possibly a comet, adding, however, that its discovery was "of great significance because it extends the limits of the solar system."

"The computations of mass made there," Prof. Leuschner explained, "indicate the object is too small to have caused the deviation in Neptune's orbit which originally led to the suspicion that a trans-Neptunian planet exists.

"Upon its stellar magnitude and its unknown albedo and density depends the mass of the object. Such an albedo and the magnitude of 15 would give a mass four-tenths that of the object for the object, providing its density is the same as that of the earth.

Size Undetermined

"Lowell predicted that 'Planet X' would prove to be seven times as large as the earth. It is highly improbable that the newly-discovered object can be anywhere near this size."

Prof. Leuschner said the Swarthmore observatory computations indicated the orbit of the object had an eccentricity of .0909. This means, Prof. Leuschner explained, that the orbit is a flattened ellipse with one end 20 times as distant from the sun as the other.

The Swathmore University and the University of California observatories agreed in placing the body at its greatest distance some 40 billion miles from the sun, Prof. Leuschner pointed out. He said no other planetary bodies but comets ever get that far away, and if the object is not a comet, it is the first planetary body ever discovered with such an eccentric orbit.

Kelvinator now actually doubles the convenience and usefulness of electric refrigeration in the home

KELVINATOR now adds to its previous accomplishments a new discovery—Iso-Thermic Tubes—the fastest-freezing automatic device on the market. By means of it, ice cubes and desserts are frozen in a special compartment at twice the normal speed.

It presents in its de luxe models, four distinct temperatures—each designed for a specific task of refrigeration. From first to last the new Kelvinators are entirely automatic—nothing for the housewife to regulate, nothing to trouble her memory.

In combination with these new automatic features, it retains the Kelvinator Cold-Keeper—a quality feature of the first Kelvinator, which has always been one of its great economy factors.

Acting as a constant reservoir of cold, this equipment cuts down the number of operating periods fully one-third.

See the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators, note the wide margin by which they increase Kelvinator's reputation for reliable, wholly automatic service.

You need not delay your enjoyment of Kelvinator's new automatic features a day longer. A small sum down with easy monthly payments installs a Kelvinator in your home. Let us tell you about Kelvinator's attractive ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

Collin County Deputy Helps Dallas County Officers

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—Sheriff Ed Blakeman of Collin county was here today to aid Dallas county officers in an investigation of a man arrested yesterday as a suspect in the slaying of J. R. Cotner, city marshal of Nevada, shot down by burglars March 14.

Officers said the man was identified through finger prints as an escaped convict and an escaped prisoner from the Amarillo jail where he was held on a charge of robbery. He also was identified as a robber who held up a drug store here Sunday.

AUSTIN, April 15 (AP)—Bonds approved by the attorney general:

'Boy Sheriff' Faces Charge

Former Officer Charged In Slaying of District Attorney Clinton G. Price At Mauston, Wisconsin

MAUSTON, Wis., April 15. —(AP)—Juneau county's former "Boy sheriff," Lyall Wright, was charged today with the slaying of District Attorney Clinton G. Price.

As soon as a murder warrant was issued last night, an extra guard was placed about the jail where Wright had been held since a few hours after the shooting of Price Sunday night.

Trail Forms Clue

A trail, presumably of blood, was one of the circumstances that prompted the arrest of Wright. The stains began at the spot where the slayer must have stood when he fired the shotgun slugs into the district attorney's body. That was at the rear of Price's home, the slugs being fired through a screen.

The trail led to the river bank. It was picked up again in an abandoned boat on the other side of the stream. From the boat the stains led toward Wright's home where sheriff's men later found Wright, his clothing torn and one hand cut.

Shotgun Found

In the river, near the boat, officers found a shotgun. The sheriff was told Wright had been on fishing trip and drinking party with friends Sunday.

While two special prosecutors were appointed to investigate, Gov. Walter J. Kohler issued a statement asking a thorough and detailed investigation of the slaying he described as "dastardly and shocking."

The sheriff was believed to be working on theories that Price met death either to forestall a promised threat to "blow the lid off" bootlegging in Juneau county or that he was killed as the "double crosser" mentioned as responsible for Wright's sentence of eight months' imprisonment for violation of the prohibition laws. Price himself was acquitted on similar charges at a trial in which Wright was the principal witness for the prosecution.

As established in Continent-wide tests, by 5,000 New Essex Challengers

All motordom saw the amazing results of Challenger Week.

The New Essex Challenger set outstanding marks in every locality. It climbed hills seldom attempted by any car. It set new marks for acceleration. It established economy results never before associated with such performance. It made inter-city reliability and endurance runs that take place with the industry's great marks.

The really important thing is that equally fine marks were made by Essex right here in this locality. And you will find the same true no matter what city or community you visit. For these feats were established—not by just a few hand-picked specially tuned cars—but 5,000 Essex Challengers in all parts of the country, many of them owner-driven. The results speak for what any and every New Essex Challenger can do.

You will be delighted with Essex beauty. Interiors are luxuriously finished. There are eight models and a wide choice of colors at no extra cost. The New Essex Challenger has victoriously proved the most satisfactory quality car of low cost that the market affords.

BEAUTIFICATION IN LUBBOCK

HERE and there in cities and towns lovers of beauty and nature are organizing garden clubs. The idea is comparatively recent in the United States, but within the last decade it has spread with astonishing rapidity.

Garden club activities in large cities are necessarily handicapped by the space available for gardens and by the difficulty of combining many groups to achieve a particular purpose. But even in the largest centers of population two-by-four back-yard plots have been transformed into colorful flower gardens as a result of garden club agitation.

From these handicaps the smaller community, with its homes surrounded by spacious grounds, is free. There it becomes a movement in which the whole community may enter. There are fewer distractions and competition is invariably keen. The old incentive of keeping up with the Joneses produces harming results when it is directed toward growing better tulips, gladioli, narcissus, iris or making a finer display of varieties in the perennial border than the Joneses can show.

Just as a garden tends to overflow its confines, so does the garden club idea spread until a once drab and barren town becomes a fairyland of flowers, vines shrubs. It opens a way to the "city beautiful" which any community can afford.

Last year an effort was made to organize a garden club in Lubbock and it was met with some success. People were interested in the idea but after the organization meeting little was done in the way of garden work or lawn beautification.

Now that another spring and summer are upon us, The Morning Avalanche would like to see the garden club begin functioning. A better looking city would result.

For a number of years this newspaper has made an effort to interest one of the civic clubs or the chamber of commerce in sponsoring a yard beautification campaign, as is done in several South Plains cities. Thus far suggestions have been futile but we are still hoping against hope that some day some responsible organization will get its head out of the clouds long enough to lend a hand along this particular line.

DISAPPOINTING

Ruth Hanna McCormick, the first woman to win a major political battle since the adoption of the Nineteenth amendment, has not done much to purify politics. On the contrary, she is as hard-boiled as her father, the celebrated Mark Hanna, and she won her victory by precisely the same methods which made Mark successful and notorious.

Her victory came shortly after the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the ratification of the amendment granting suffrage to her sex, an amendment which was to have miraculous powers in purifying politics and creating and conserving good government.

It may be said of the workings of equal suffrage on a national scale in the decade of its existence that neither the hopes of many of its supporters nor the fears of many of its opponents have been justified. Some hoped to see the woman vote delivred in a huge block to the proponents in public life of feminist as opposed to general interests. Some hoped that public life would be speedily transformed, sweeping social reforms immediately accomplished, political machines and organizations exterminated; others feared that American political life would lose the salutary and steadying factors of large scale party organization, party responsibility, and reasonable party discipline.

But expectations have been disappointed. Women voters divide as do men in support of the established parties and of issues affecting the entire community. They have revolutionized neither politics nor elections nor the government.

THE IRASCIBLE SIMMONS

Not even first-class drys can understand why John J. Raskob should resign as chief of the democratic party by request of Senator Simmons merely because Raskob's contributions to the wet movement have been generous. No one has ever asked a politician to retire from party leadership because he has contributed to the Anti-Saloon league or other dry fund.

Simmons' indignation against Raskob dates from 1928 when the senator bolted the democratic party and led North Carolina into the Hoover fold, but the suspicion is that his latest outburst against his party chieftain was intended for home rate the latter will not take it seriously.

The ways of politicians are wonderful indeed, but not always past finding out. Senator Simmons' strategy was found out almost in the planning.

Right now his political leadership in North Carolina is being sharply challenged by Josiah William Bailey, a man who is drier than Simmons, just as pious a Protestant as Simmons and a democrat.

QUERIES PLIED BY CENSUS TAKERS WILL GIVE UNCLE SAM JUST WHAT HE WANTS TO KNOW THE MOST

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 15.—For 150 years, ever since the U. S. government made its first count of this country's inhabitants, census officials have been arriving at their latest conclusion concerning the sum total of the information which Uncle Sam most urgently requires relative to the present status and future prospects of all his nephews and nieces, young and old, great and small, good, bad and indifferent—and the strangers within their gates—for various reasons.

The questions which 100,000 enumerators have just been asking on Uncle Samuel's behalf, are the super-refined quintessence of all the interrogations believed by these experts best calculated to elicit the very nub of the information thus desired.

If ever a set of questions were threshed and winnowed, to get the last atom of chaff out of them, the questions put by Uncle Sam's latest staff of enumerators were threshed and winnowed and then examined under a microscope, to guarantee that nothing but the absolutely indispensible remained included among them.

Of course the count automatically takes care of itself, and in turn, its classification by states takes care of the matter of congressional apportionment—which is what the original census was mainly intended to provide for. It serves numerous other purposes also, but those are details which pertain to the count; not to the questions asked.

As to the questions?—

Your name? The starting point—a peg to hang each subsequent query upon. Also a necessity, with the accompanying address, for reference, should one ever be needed—which, candidly, seems unlikely, but might be called for, for one reason or another—and is needful as a check on the enumerator, moreover.

Your relationship to your family? Married, single, widowed or divorced? Your age at first marriage? All details designed to determine questions as to the family life of the nation, perhaps the most capitally important consideration to the welfare of any country. We surely hear enough of the "divorce evil" to guess why that point is stressed. The average marriage may throw some light upon it, as upon many another social problem.

Is your home owned or rented? What is its value in the former case? or your monthly rental, in the latter? Questions to which the answers give Uncle Sam, at a glance, perhaps the most conclusive basis of any obtainable, relative to the prosperity, or otherwise, of the average of his nephews and nieces—besides, as between ownership and the rental system, enabling him to draw certain shrewd conclusions concerning their changing habits of living.

Have you a radio? Again, for one thing, a question as to prosperity. Equally important, how vital a part of home life is this new utility becoming? The regulation issue enters into the matter likewise. The query has its commercial angle. How large a proportion of the people can be reached by wireless in an emergency? Politically? socially? educationally? what does the radio mean? It is something new to Uncle Samuel, as to his nephews and nieces. He wants to analyze it.

Do you live on a farm? An urban people are radically different from an agricultural people. Their life is different. Their needs are different and their views are different. The present trend of population is cityward. It is a change the possibilities of which are hard to overestimate. Uncle Sam must watch them alertly.

Age? School for the young. Pensions, perhaps, for the aged. Insurance. Vital statistics. The opportunities and handicaps of varying times of life in the industries. Age counts in connection with all these questions. As to Uncle Sam's nephews (and to some extent as to his nieces) it is a matter also of military interest—as is the query: Are you a veteran of the U. S. military or naval forces?

Sex? As Assistant Director J. A. Hill, of the census bureau, expresses it, "Every manufacturer of razors wants to know how many grown men there are in America; every manufacturer of dresses, how many women." It is only an illustration, of course, but illuminating.

AMERICAN DIET IS MUCH LIGHTER NOW THAN IN THE OLD DAYS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN,
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

There was a time—and it is not more than a quarter of a century ago—when the vast majority of the American people subsisted on a diet which consisted largely of lean meat, potatoes, coffee, syrup and a few cereals.

As the prosperity of our country increased and as people began to give greater and greater study to the science of dist, there have been tremendous changes in the food supply. When a person has more money to spend for food, he does not buy more food, but he commences to vary his diet.

The fact of the matter is a person cannot eat more food. The most that any person can take into his body per day and get along comfortably is about 3500 calories. There was a time when practically all Americans ate 3500 calories. Today most Americans eat only 2500 calories per day.

They have changed their diet by taking what are nown as the necessary food substances, including a careful selection of protein, carbohydrates, fat, mineral salts, and the essential vitamins, and they have sophisticated their diet.

The old cereals that we used to eat, like whole wheat and oatmeal, and farina, have changed to package cereals. All sorts of queer things are done to cereals in order to make them palatable and in order to make them appeal to the human taste. They shoot them out of a cannon and mix them up in strange ways, cut them up, irradiate them and do everything in order to accommodate them to the human taste.

It is conceivable that the time will come when the American diet will be reduced by still another 1000 calories. Because of the development of machines which take the place of the muscular energy of man, because of the increase in the number of automobiles and elevators, and the general decline in physical output after one becomes of age, we are likely to need less and less energy-producing foods.

The laboratories of modern science are developing concentrated foods which are rich in vitamins, concentrated products that contain all of the necessary mineral salts and pure fats and sugars which yield much energy in comparatively small amounts.

Obviously the continuous use of such food products will interfere with the use of the teeth for chewing and of the long digestive tract necessary for digestion and assimilation. It seems likely that the man of the distant future may be entirely different in his construction from the man of today.

HUGHES AUBRIOT WAS THE FIRST PRISONER IN THE BASTILLE—Hughes Aubriot, provost and captain of Paris, was in charge of the construction of the Bastille, and laid the first stone of that redoubtable French prison on July 22, 1370. He was eventually convicted by a clerical court of having restored to their parents a number of Jewish children who were abducted forcibly for the purpose of baptism. He was sentenced "to the ditch, the bread of sadness, and the water of pain," and was imprisoned in the same Bastille, the foundation of which he had laid. CHAPTER XI

Dick Berkeley had written in pencil upon the torn back of an old envelope

"Dundee"—the note began—"Your 'trusty' has broken parole. For God's sake don't hunt me down and drag me back. I'll turn up soon enough, but by then it won't make much difference where I am. Sorry, Dick."

Dundee stared at the pencilled scrawl until the words grew enormous.

"Suicide?" he whispered. . . .

Fifteen minutes later, in the blue twilight of the late September day, the weary and shaken young detective turned the roadster's nose toward Hillcrest. Fortunately Dick had left the key in the ignition switch.

He had done all he could, Dundee argued with himself. It would have been foolish to conduct the search personally. The police department had the matter in hand, and could be relied upon to make a thorough job of it. And as Strawn had assured him callously, those who threaten to commit suicide seldom go through with it. Besides, the alarm had been given so quickly that the desperate boy had not more than 15 minutes' start on his small band of uniformed pursuers.

Yes, he had done all he could, but it was hard to meet Gigi's eyes when that ubiquitous child sprang upon the running board of the car as it passed between the open gates of Hillcrest.

"Hello!" she greeted him blithely. "I've been lonesome. The reporters have just left, the last of 'em I mean. They kept coming and coming, and Abbie gave 'em tea and let 'em take all the pictures they wanted. She wouldn't let me be interviewed. Afraid I'd spill something I shouldn't. . . . Where's Dick? I saw you and him drive off together."

"Dick deserted me," he said, as lightly as possible.

But Gigi was not deceived. She leaned over and stared into his eyes for a moment, then cried reproachfully: "Why didn't you keep an eye on him, for heaven's sake? If you hadn't rushed off without saying goodby I'd have warned you not to let him out of your sight."

"Why?" he asked, startled.

"Because all day he's been bent on getting drunk again," Gigi retorted, as if surprised at his obtuseness.

* * *

Dundee drew a sharp breath. Stopping the car abruptly, he drew Dick's note of apology from his pocket and passed it to the girl.

"It's too dark to read. Hop into the car and I'll turn the dashlight on for you."

To hold the scrap of paper under the weak little bulb she had to crouch close against him, and involuntarily he put his arm about her shoulders.

"Just as I thought! The pig!" Gigi snorted contemptuously when her quick eyes had taken in the scrawled lines. "I suppose it is worse for him than for the rest of us, because he was in love with Doris, or thought he was, but—Oh, why can't he be a man!"

"You think that's what the note means?—that he's merely sneaked off to get drunk?" Dundee asked, as casually as possible.

"Of course! What did you think? . . . O-o-o-oh! I see!" and to Dundee's amazement she laughed. "You thought that this was a sort of cryptic confession and advance notice that Dick was going to commit suicide! If you knew Dick as well as I do? Nobody loves life better than my beloved brother, and nobody has less physical courage. A month from now he'll be crazy about another girl, and—Say, did you stc the police onto him?" she broke off to demand with sudden amazing truculence.

"Yes," Dundee admitted curtly.

"Oh, dear! He'll probably be brought home dead drunk in the Black Maria, and what chance will we have then to keep Dad from knowing all about it?" she wailed. "A couple of weeks ago Dad put his foot down hard. Told Dick if he bought so much as one drink of bootleg liquor again he'd disinherit him, and he didn't mean maybe. Now—"

"Dick was drunk last night, and so far I've heard nothing about Dick's being kicked out," Dundee reminded her.

"Dad blames himself for that. The liquor was served at his own table, because Abbie insisted on the dinner being 'correct,'" she explained impatiently. "Why couldn't you have believed Dick when he said he'd turn up soon enough? He could have sneaked in and I could have helped him to bed without any fuss. . . . Detectives with vivid imaginations are an awful nuisance," she added mournfully.

Dundee was too indignant to frame a scathing enough retort, but beneath his ardent desire to spank her was an even more ardent desire to kiss her, in gratitude for the great relief she had given him. For he believed she was right in her interpretation of Dick's melodramatic note.

And she was. The summons to the library telephone came just as the young detective was about to enter the drawing room at the dinner hour.

"Hello! Dundee? Captain Strawn. . . . We've got that fine young friend of yours. . . . Yeah. Drunk. More than a little drunk. What had I better do with him? Book him on a charge of drunkenness, so we can keep an eye on him?"

Dundee chuckled with relief. "Do me a favor, Chief. Have one of the boys escort him to a Turkish bath, boil the booze out of him, and then send him home. And I'd appreciate it if his escort left him at the gates, to toddle in alone. I'll try to keep his family from knowing what he's been up to—just to preserve the peace, you know."

But the skillful half-lies with which Dundee quited George Berkeley's suspicions as to his son's absence were told for Gigi's sake, not for Dick Berkeley's.

As son as possible after the serving of coffee in the drawing room Dundee made his escape. It lay heavy upon his conscience that he had not yet finished transcribing the thick sheaf of notes he had made during that long, grueling day.

After typing steadily for an hour and a half he had finished his task, with the exception of making a summary of his discoveries leading up to the conclusion, clinched by Gigi's reluctant admissions, that Mrs. George Berkeley was a perfume addict.

Suddenly he sat back and stared at the last two condensed sentences he had typed:

"Mrs. B. purchased seven bottles perfume September. Found five empty perfume bottles concealed in Mrs. B.'s clothes closet."

Seven. Five. . . . Where were th other two bottles? Where, also, w the bottles, once filled with exp sive perfume, which Mrs. Berke had undoubtedly brought with from Europe?

"Maybe she drank it all bef landing and chucked the bottles erboard," Dundee decided. breath must have reeked with it her fellow-passenger, Crosby, wo not have got wise to her habit. —those other two bottles. If was afraid or ashamed to have chambermaid see the five I fo —" He did not finish the sente but drummed scowlingly on desk." Gigi knew. Others knew, not Dick? And Dick dared not bootleg liquor on pain of being inherited!"

He sprang to his feet, overturn the chair. He let it lie and dash through the bathroom to D Berkeley's bedroom. It took him than five minutes to find what was looking for. The boy was not ingenious at concealment as his mother.

But when his search was finish

commodate itself to your con-

Tinkham, a militant wet, today demanded that the committee summon Bishop Cannon and the records of the Southern Methodist board for an inquiry into their activities. He also charged the Anti-Saloon League with "flagrantly and audaciously" violating the federal corrupt practices act by failure to report all of its expenditures for political activities.

Previously he had urged an investigation of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Northern Methodist church and the Federal Council of Churches. His testimony was completed today and Chairman Caraway announced that all the organizations would be given an opportunity to reply.

Negro Attack

caught him in a yard at 2503 21st street and the cutting started.

At this time Nat Jordan, 21, and his younger brother, John Jordan, residents of the house in whose yard the fight was being staged, drove up in their car. One of the boys yelled at Young and asked him what he meant by cutting the other man. "He looked up at us," said John Jordan, "and answered 'Who in h—— wants to know?' With that answer he started toward us with his knife and we ran. He chased us and my brother finally got in the house and obtained a gun. When he returned the negro was not to be found."

Resists Arrest

Officers were called immediately and a thorough search of the neighborhood was instituted. A short time afterwards the man was discovered and officers gave chase when he started to run. After a spirited chase he was finally overtaken by Chief Deputy O. B. Conley who was forced to fell him with a blow from his gun barrel when the negro resisted arrest.

Young was lodged in the city jail last night after he had made a statement to officers in which he accused Johnson of "fooling with his wife." He also told officers that he "should have killed her too."

Johnson denied last night that he had ever paid attentions to Young's wife.

An examination by physicians at the sanitarium showed that the knife had been wielded with great force, the most serious wound being at the shoulder. Doctors stated that the blade had completely severed that piece of the shoulder blade which attached it to the collarbone or in medical terms the acromio-clavicular process of the scapula.
Another cut was found on the arm three inches long and extending to the bone, together with a gash close to the wrist which severed two tendons. There were several lacerations on the scalp and numerous small cuts about the shoulders and arms.

Condition Grave

Condition of the injured man was described as very grave through the loss of a large amount of blood and possibility of infection with so many wounds.

Both Young and Johnson are employed on the farm of J. E. Vickers, located five miles north of Lubbock.
John Vickers, son of J. E. Vickers, last night told the Morning Avalanche that he knew of no trouble between the two men and that they had always seemed to be on friendly terms.

No charges have been filed against Young pending further investigation by officers today.

Cotton Lower; Stock Losses Recovered

Liquidations Send Price To Lower Levels

Evening Up In Preparation For Triple Holiday At End Of Week Aids Downward Movement In Tuesday Mart

NEW ORLEANS, April 15. (AP)— Liquidation of the May position in advance of first notice day, evening up for over the triple holiday at the end of the week and lower Liverpool cables all tended to force cotton prices to lower levels today and at the lowest values showed recessions of about $1.50 a bale from the previous close. July declined to 1.53 and closed at 13.57, or 27 points net lower. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 21 to 28 points.

Liverpool cables were 4 to 5 points worse than due and influenced enough early offerings to carry initial transactions to levels 9 to 15 points below yesterday's close, with old crop months showing the baximum decline. Some covering developed right after the start and prices rallied 4 to 7 points from the initial lows.

This demand seemed satisfied at the moderate recovery and the market weakened again under liquidation of near months gradually trading off to 15.55 for May, 15.62 for July and 14.86 for October, or 18 to 22 points down from the previous close.

Cotton Lower On Scattered Selling

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under scattered selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables, and a fairly favorable view of weather conditions.
May contracts sold off to 15.81 or 34 points net lower and closed at net declines of 23 to 44 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 to 11 points in response to the relatively easy cables.

KELLOGG RESIGNS

Manager of Grain Corporation Gives Up Position

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Resignation of William G. Kellogg as general manager of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation and as vice-president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation was announced today by officials of both organizations. The resignation was immediately effective, pressure of "other affairs" was given as the reason.
Mr. Kellogg made no statement. His resignation automatically removed him from the board of directors and the executive committee of the grain stabilization corporation.

He was replaced as president of the stabilization corporation by George S. Milnor of Alton, Ill., nearly a week ago when new officers were elected by both the Farmers' National Grain corporation and the stabilization corporation.

fore the criminal court, May 15.

Sunday Schools

prepared to meet the demands of modern needs, Dr. W. Marshall Craig of Dallas, president of the State Baptist Sunday School convention addressed the three-day meeting which opened here today.
Dr. Craig declared the church was surrounded with evils on every side and threatened from every angle and that if it was to grow and prosper it must be awake to the dangers which threaten it.

The meeting was opened this morning by Governor Dan Moody tirely different objectives. In the past year the Cristeros of Nayarit alone have exacted $85,000 ransom ers who have attempted to live in that state. Through an under cover system the bandits are able to ascertain the financial status of every foreigner that enters.

"After my release I discovered captured by Cruz Delgado and his band. Foreigners who are penni-

Market Ready For Expected Axe Dropping

Brisk Recoveries In Latter Part of Session Cancel Day's Losses After Copper Prices Sell Off

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 15. —(AP)—An axe, hanging over stocks for some time, finally dropped today, but found the market well armored. The expected reduction in copper prices appeared and the market sold off substantially for a time, only to accomplish brisk recovery in the last hour, which more than cancelled the day's losses.

The cut from 18 to 14 cents a pound in copper, while reducing the red metal to the lowest level in more than a year, is expected to end the consumers' buying strike and help to reduce the heavy stocks of the metal. Wall Street had been growing increasingly certain that the 18 cent level could not be maintained.

Trading continued in moderate volue, sales aggregating 4,218,550 shares.

freight paid, ranged as follows:

LONDON, April 14. —(AP)—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, today presented his eagerly awaited laborite budget which estimated the expenditures for 1930-31 at lb781,909,000 (about $3,900,000,000)

The chancellor estimated the revenue for the year on the existing basis of taxation at lb739,645,000 (about $3,698,000,000). Thus the difference he had to make good was lb42,264,000 (about $211,000,000).

The chancellor indicated he did not anticipate a general election this year, saying he had not found it necessary to provide in this financial year for such expenses.

He informed the commons that safeguarding duties would be allowed to expire at their fixed date, not to be renewed.

Germany expects a moderate improvement in business this year.

Shorter Road To Slaton Is Recommended

Survey Started by Guy R. Johnston, Resident Engineer, On Altered Route Of Highway No. Seven

Attention of the general public yesterday was centered on a survey started by Guy R. Johnston, resident engineer, after his recommendation that Highway 7 be altered to facilitate an airline route from a point in this city to the Burrus switch location, 5 miles southeast of Lubbock.

Mr. Johnston started his survey yesterday morning.

"I am making this survey purely on merits," said Mr. Johnston. "My recommendations will be subject to action of the Lubbock County Commissioners court and the State highway department.

Stresses Advantages

"In discussing the feasibility of such a route, I would like to stress a few advantages. One-half of a mile distance between Lubbock and Slaton would be saved, and two dangerous curves would be eliminated. It would cost Lubbock county no additional funds. It would facilitate five miles of highway which would have the new standard width of 100 feet asked by the State, a matter which is impossible along the present route, due to encroachment of a pipe line.

"There is an economical feature also. One can safely estimate that 6,000 automobiles travel over the highway daily. It is conservative to say that the shortened route would save these auto owners approximately $250 daily."

The changed route would lead in a southeastern direction from a point on Avenue H, about 1,000 feet north of where the highway turns east from the avenue, and thence in a direct line to the Burrus switch. It would cross the highway about 1,200 feet from the original turn.

The blend that revolutionized smoking

THE INCOMPARABLE BLEND of Camel Cigarettes is probably the most important discovery in the history of smoking. It made cigarette smoking popular. Camel changed the smoking habits of the nation and has given pleasure to more millions of people than any other cigarette.

This exclusive blend assures in Camel a smoothness, a mildness and a mellow fragrance that cannot be imitated. It preserves all the excellent qualities of the choice tobaccos of which Camels are made and melds them all together into a delightful harmony of smoke pleasure. It sets Camel apart as a cigarette of distinctive character and provides for Camel smokers the very highest form of smoking luxury.
